HEADLINES of the WEEK

As Compiled by the Grosse Pointe News

Thursday, February 18

PRESIDENT NIXON WARNED North Vietnam Wednesday that "We are not going to make any more concessions" at the Paris peace talks and that time was running out for meaningful negotiations with the United States. Speaking at an impromptu White House news conference, he refused to speculate on whether South Vietnam might extend its Laotian offensive in North Vietnam.

THE INTEREST CEILING on government-backed home loans was cut for the third time in less than three months Wednesday, rolling back the rate to 7 percent, the lowest amount in more than two years. The move affects both new and used homes.

Friday, February 19

FORMATION OF A HIGH-level, civilian-dominated board to assume direct control of domestic investigations by military agents was announced Thursday by Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird. The secretary was concerned about indications that the military, chiefly the Army, at times had been "overzealous" in spying on thousands of anti-war and civil rights leaders while it gathered information on potential urban riots.

PRESIDENT NIXON, rejecting calls for nationalized health care, asked Congress Thursday to require that virtually all business provide comprehensive federally prescribed private health insurance for employees and their families. The employer requirement was the centerpiece of the President's $2.95 billion health care proposal.

Saturday, February 20

FERNDALE HIGH SCHOOL was the scene of racial violence Friday which forced school authorities to close the school for two hours. Two teachers and at least nine students were slightly injured. Some 50 policemen from Ferndale and four other communities were called to quell the fighting, which involved an estimated 200 students who had gathered in the student common. School superintendent, John J. Houghton blamed the outbreak on "highly inflammatory" anti-black literature distributed among white students during the previous two days.

THE BUREAU OF LABOR Statistics reported Friday that the cost of living in Detroit rose seven-tenths of one percent during January. The Detroit increase was seven times higher than that for the nation as a whole during January and 5.4 percent over the Detroit figure for January, 1970.

Sunday, February 21

A MAJOR OUTBREAK OF TORNADOES ripped Mississippi Sunday, killing at least 41 persons in the cotton-rich Delta country and six persons in Delhi, La. Mississippi Civil Defense Director Miller Dent said in Jackson the injured may number in the hundreds. Many more were missing and feared dead, he said. National Guard units were called out in the vast area and medical supplies rushed in.

Monday, February 22

DR. STEPHEN H. SPURR, vice-president and dean of the graduate school of the University of Michigan was named president of the University of Texas at Austin Sunday. Spurr's appointment was announced in a hurriedly called news conference by Chancellor Charles A. LeMaistre. LeMaistre and Spurr drove from Dallas to Austin Sunday afternoon after a meeting there at which Spurr accepted the appointment.

Don't Throw Away Those Bottles—Drop Them Off!

Volunteer MARK CARRIER is pictured in front of the student-operated Political Environmental Action Center, 17004 Kercheval, where residents are urged to drop off their bottles for recycling. The center accepts all clear, green and amber bottles. Student volunteers are at the center from 12:30 to 4 p.m. daily and from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturdays. Residents are asked to drive in back of the building to drop off bottles. If anyone has an unusually large volume of bottles call 886-2760 and a PEAC volunteer will pick them up.

Painstaking Police Work Gets Results

Barroom Robbery of Last October Finally Solved; Culprit Now Awaiting Sentence

NEWS subscribers read of crime in The Pointe, but seldom find out about the resultant investigation and law enforcement conducted by Pointe detective bureaus. The main reason for this is because much of the follow-up by investigators must necessarily be confidential until a conviction is obtained.

The story can now be told of an armed robbery investigation occurring October 22, 1970 at the Woods Lounge, 20513 Mack. The man accused of armed robbery, Robert Kalkbrenner, 10400 E. Outer Drive, has entered a guilty plea to a lesser charge of unarmed robbery, in the Wayne County Circuit Court.

Awaits Sentencing
His case has been referred to the Wayne County Probationary Department for presentence study and Kalkbrenner will appear in Circuit Court March 5, for sentencing. Woods detectives agreed to accept the lesser charge on a guilty plea because of other charges he is faced with in Detroit, which will be hard to break.

As originally reported in the NEWS, the robbery took place around 10 a.m. after the culprit finished two bottles of

Burglar-Vandals Damage Park Buildings After Theft

Thieving vandals broke into the old and new bathhouse, the gate house and the office of the recreation manager at Windmill Pointe Park, at the foot of Alter road, it was disclosed by Park Det. Sgt. James LaPratt. After leaving the room and outside area in senseless shambles, the culprits left, taking valuable equipment with them.

According to the released information, the burglary and vandalism took place after 5 p.m. on Thursday, February 18, and was discovered the following morning by Donald Guinan, director of Parks and Recreation, whose office was one of the rooms ransacked.

LaPratt said that evidence showed that two attempts were made to enter the bathhouse building by breaking a window at the rear, and another, at

Woods Ordinances Ban Non-Returnable Bottles, Phosphate Detergents

Council Passes Laws Within Minutes, Sends Resolution to Lansing Asking Legislature to Pass State Statute Affecting Same

At their regular meeting Monday, February 22, the Woods City Council unanimously passed ordinances strictly governing the sale of phosphate detergents and prohibiting the sale of non-returnable bottles in the Woods.

All that remains to be done is the publication by title of the ordinances in the NEWS and the official enactment of the ordinances at the meeting of Monday, March 15. The detergent ordinance will begin to take effect on July 1, 1971. The law prohibiting the sale of non-returnable bottles in the Woods will be enforced beginning January 1, 1972.

Both ordinances and a resolution encouraging the State Legislature for a similar statute were passed within a few short minutes of the meeting. In the weeks prior to the meeting, all of the councilmen had studied the proposals, one of which is a carbon copy of that recently enacted in the City of Detroit, and discussed them when they convened as a committee-of-the-whole Monday, February 8.

Saying that he noticed bottles often strewn about on city and resident property creating the danger of glass cuts, Councilman Benjamin Pinkos expressed his support of the ordinances.

"Glass bottles don't oxidize or burn," Pinkos said, "and I think industry should be able to come up with some kind of a substitute for the non-returnable bottle."

GP Park Given American Flag

The Park was the recipient of a beautiful American flag presented to the city by the Auxiliary of Alger Post, No. 995, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at a regular Park council meeting held on Monday, February 22. The standard was draped on a new flag stand, and is on permanent display in the lobby of the Municipal Building, 15115 East Jefferson.

Presenting the four by six-foot, gold-fringed flag to the city on behalf of the Auxiliary, was the organization's president, Mrs. Oscar Keller of 1311 Bedford, who, in a brief speech said that she was happy and proud to make the presentation, and asked if every one would rise and recite the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag, before the end of the council meeting.

Mayor Matthew Patterson accepted the flag for the Park, and thanked Mrs. Keller and the Auxiliary for a "wonderful gift, which we are proud to receive, the flag which we cherish and will always cherish."

Prior to the adjournment of the council session, the mayor called for the Pledge to the flag, and the members of the city body and people in the audience rose for the salute and recitation.

Mrs. Keller disclosed that earlier in the day, she presented the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center, 32 Lake Shore road, with a similar standard for display in the Center's lobby, on behalf of the Auxiliary.

Residents expressing support for the bottle ordinance included Mrs. Nicholas Kondak, 740 Hawthorne, who stated that she had been shopping at various places trying to buy returnable bottles, and James Freeman, 19888 Ida Lane. Freeman claimed that the ordinance could be a source

She also revealed that the Auxiliary makes an annual presentation of a flag to the Center, to be flown on the outdoor flag pole.

STEADY PULL

We all have to carry the heavy burdens of today—don't handicap yourself by adding the burden of yesterday.

Tax Demand Stirs Ire of Residents West of Wayburn

Detroit's Demand for Payment of Full Income Levy Raises Question of Park Citizenship Status and Voting Venue

Are residents living in homes on the west side of Wayburn, from Jefferson to Mack avenues, citizens of the Park or of Detroit? More than 120 of these people gathered in the gymnasium at 7:30 p.m., on Thursday, February 18, to declare themselves residents of the Park, in spite of what Detroit claims.

The controversy came about when Detroit dunned the west-side-of-Wayburn residents for Detroit income taxes, including penalties and interests, for the years 1968 through 1970. Detroit officials said that this would come to approximately $100 a family.

A majority of these residents have never paid the annual two percent Detroit income tax, although they pay property taxes based on the percentage of their property within the Detroit city limits. If they work in that city, they pay the one-half on one percent assessed non-residents.

Park City Manager Robert Slope, who was present at the meeting, said that the garbage and rubbish of westside-Wayburn residents is picked up by the Detroit Department of Public Works because the alleys are in Detroit. Nevertheless, these people vote in the Park, and their children attend Grosse Pointe schools. At the meeting, some of the people, not many, admitted that they are registered voters of Detroit, the city manager said.

Refers to Old Letter
Park City Clerk Nunzio Ortisi, who was at the meeting with Slope, produced a letter dated July 14, 1922, received from the Detroit Election Commission at the time, in which an opinion rendered by Circuit Judge Joseph A. Martin, maintains that "residents on the west side of Wayburn avenue are in the City of Detroit, and therefore entitled to vote."

Death Claims Arnold Dising

The man who helped initiate what is now a Pointe tradition, the Annual Kivans Fireworks display, Arnold L. Dising, died on Monday, February 22, in St. John Hospital at the age of 71.

Mr. Dising was past-president of Grosse Pointe Woods Kivans and a former member of the Woods Council. He also served on the Woods' City Charter Commission.

Born in Detroit, Mr. Dising was associated with the Travelers Insurance Company for 30 years. He lived in 2008 Lennox avenue.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday, February 24, in the A. H. Peters Funeral Home.

Mr. Dising is survived by his wife, Thelma; two sons, Jerry and Thomas; seven grandchildren and five sisters. Interment was in Utica Cemetery.

Plan to Coordinate Action in Environmental Program

The ad hoc committee recently established by the Garden Club Council and the Grosse Pointe Beautification Council to promote local environmental action has outlined plans for future joint community activities.

Temporary chairman of this committee is Richard Kay, director of community services for the Grosse Pointe Public School System.

Mr. Kay told the NEWS that the new organization will be called "Environmental Action Now." EAN members have organized three major committees.

A proposal committee is chaired by Thomas Candler with Sue Lambrecht, Brandon Rogers and Ernest Lamb serving as committee members. This committee will propose

Woods Stalls Construction Of Cafeteria

Action Taken for Concern of Children's Safety

In a continuing protest against the construction of a cafeteria style restaurant on Mack between Lennox and Van Antwerp, residents turned out in force at the regular meeting of the Woods City Council Monday, February 22.

The building of the restaurant, one of a chain of "Jack-in-the-Box" eating establishments, faced this most recent of a string of setbacks after the council voted to table the matter until the council meeting of March 15.

Acting on the complaints of residents in the standing-room-only meeting, councilmen expressed strong concern regarding the moral well-being of area children and the possibility of extremely heavy traffic volume generated by the restaurant business.

The meeting followed a progress report submitted by City Manager Chester Petersen on February 18 summing up the concessions and discussion that have been continuing for over a month between the city representatives and the builders of the restaurant, Foodmakers, Inc., in the wake of petitions and strong complaints from residents regarding everything from building design to the nature of the business, to litter to traffic safety.

In the report, it was disclosed that the number of customers expected to be served on a weekly basis was 4,000 and that 90 percent of the patrons will arrive in cars. Projecting from figures which Foodmaker, Inc. said were confidential information, Thomas Kalajeski, representing the company, claimed that the average number of cars expected to drive into the parking lot was 14.5 per hour.

After one resident claimed that this was not financially feasible, saying that the cost of overhead and wages would absorb all the profit, Councilman Benjamin Pinkos said he tended to agree.

Pinkos said that he somehow felt that the figure of projected traffic volume was not "quite right," and said he expected a higher volume would be needed to support a restaurant of that size.

6 Cities Seek Solution to End Crisis

Detroit's DSR and Great Lakes Transit Lines Approached for Transportation If Local Firm Folds

Three Pointe councils, at scheduled meetings held on Monday, February 22, gave top discussion priority to the threatened termination of service of the Lake Shore Coach Lines, Incorporated. The firm had sent letters to officials of the five Pointes and St. Clair Shores, the communities it services, that because of financial problems, it will discontinue operations as of February 28.

The six cities have appointed representatives to meet with bus line executives, or their representatives, to discuss a solution to the problem.

Among the suggestions discussed at the Monday night meetings, which was looked upon with little favor, was the possible subsidization of Lake Shore, as requested by Walter Schweikart, president of the system.

Schweikart had notified the communities, and the South-eastern Michigan Transit Authority, which is also interested in trying to solve the problem, that it would cost $48,000 a year, or $8,000 from each city, to subsidize the lines, if it is to keep operating.

It was brought up at the council meetings, that even if Lake Shore continued to operate beyond the February 28 deadline, Detroit has refused to issue permits for approximately 22 buses, which would allow the coaches to enter Detroit, because of the unsafe condition of the huge vehicles, and because of the extent of damage to interiors by vandals over the years. Extensive repairs would be necessary before licenses for those buses will be renewed, it was pointed out.

Also discussed was a suggestion that the six communities file a protest on the possible termination of the lines, with the Michigan Public Service Commission, or seek a court injunction to prevent stoppage of service.

It was disclosed at the council meetings, that contacts have been made with Detroit's D.S.R., and the Great Lakes Coach Lines, which services nearby Detroit suburban communities, on the possibility of extending their transportation lines to benefit the Pointe and St. Clair Shores. This is still being negotiated.

Last week, Lake Shore officials sent letters to all the communities involved, informing

Park Dog Notice A Century Late

The Park has an ordinance that requires all owners to have their dogs vaccinated at the age of six months, and licensed at the age of four months. Now, therefore, residents having such pets, be advised that your 1871 dog license should have been obtained by now.

Police have sent out notices to all dog owners of record, that new licenses are due January 1 of each year, and your 1871 tags should be purchased now.

Persons owning canine pets must present a valid vaccination certificate when making application for licenses, for dogs six months or older. Bring the certificate with you. The fee is $3 a tag.

Licenses may be secured in the Violation Bureau, on the second floor of the Municipal Building, 15115 East Jefferson, at Maryland, from Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Wednesdays to 6 p.m. Your cooperation is needed.

Please do not delay. Get your 1871 — DOGgone — 1971 tags, before a police officer comes to your home.

That is a serious warning. And please forgive the Park for being a century late with the notice.

Glass Table Top Broken by Thief

Joseph Palm, 873 Notre Dame, called City police on Saturday, February 13 to report that persons unknown had removed a tire and wheel from his '60 station wagon the previous night.

The thief also broke a large glass table top which was in the back of the station wagon. Mr. Palm told officers he heard some noises near the garage around 11:30 p.m. the previous night. Officers found fresh footprints in the snow.

Angry Wayburn Residents

ture of John Atkinson, Detroit assistant corporation counsel, at the time, stated the judge's opinion, and also:

"The law says that where a man lives he shall vote and this ruling would clearly establish all of these residents as Detroit voters. We find further that all the dwellings on the said property or properties are assessed by the City of Detroit and the taxes paid to the city."

"It is not in our province to prevent their repeating in Grosse Pointe. They have the right to vote in the City of Detroit."

Slone and Ortis said that although the homes on Wayburn face east, the boundary line is approximately 20 feet west of the sidewalk and into the Park, which means that 80 percent of each lot is within Detroit's city limits.

Many of the Wayburn residents who attended the Defer School meeting, said they purchased their properties on the assumption that they were moving into the Park, and that paying three years' back income taxes to Detroit is an unfair financial burden. Slone told these people that the matter was between them and Detroit.

The city manager said on Friday, February 19, that Ortis had dispatched a letter to Bernard J. Apol, State Director of Elections, outlining the situation, and disclosing that some of the residents involved were registered to vote in the Park. Part of the letter is as follows:

Questions Voting Rights

"Detroit has recently asserted that they should be taxed as residents of Detroit for city income tax purposes and, although this would be a matter between the individuals and Detroit, Detroit's action raises the question whether we should properly register them as Grosse Pointe Park resident voters."

"Research by our city attorney, Richard D. Rohr, revealed no pertinent Michigan statutory provision or case law, and we would be interested in obtaining your views in the matter."

Slone said that as far as he and other Park officials are concerned, the status of the people involved has not changed and will remain status quo, unless a legal opinion is to the contrary.

"The residents have elected a steering committee from each of the six blocks on the west side of Wayburn, to investigate the matter further, and if necessary, go to court," he said.

Slone said that the controversy has certainly stirred up the ire of the residents, who have been receiving mail under a Grosse Pointe Park address, and who have been receiving Park police and fire protection, and whose children attend Pointe schools. These people have always been considered, until this came up, as Park residents, and as such have been granted Park passes with guest privileges.

He pointed out that the homes have received water services from and are billed by the Park Water Department.

Taxes Proportioned

Slone said that city taxes on the approximately 20 feet of property extending in the Park's city limits, which in some cases include the front room of houses, and in most cases, the front porches, averages about $13.16 a year. Grosse Pointe School and county taxes on this section of property, averages about $34.19, for a total of $47.35. The balance of the taxes of the lots over the boundary line, of course, is paid in Detroit.

If there is a fire, the city manager said, both Park and Detroit firemen and equipment respond. Police officers of both cities respond to crime calls, with jurisdiction determined by which side, for example, a burglar entered the house or other property.

The provision of the Park City Charter which established the Park boundary line was voted on by the city electors on December 11, 1950, and became effective on December 14, 1950. A section of the paragraph, which set the entire boundary lines for the Park, and which pertains to the Wayburn controversy, reads as follows:

"Starting at a point in the center line of Mack avenue, so-called, said point being a distance of 200 feet, more or less, east of the east line of Alter road—"

The City Charter was approved and signed by Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Slone said that he, Ortis and Rohr will work with the Wayburn steering committees to resolve the matter once and for all, and will report all findings and/or legal opinions to the Park council.

beer, waiting for the other patrons to leave before placing a gun to the head of the bar maid. He got away with $200.

Within a few minutes of the report of the hold-up Woods police had already apprehended one suspect, but he was cleared immediately at the scene. Also, within the hour, police spotted a car parked near a local bar which fit the description of a hold-up car from a Farms armed robbery several weeks prior to the Woods robbery. Going inside the bar, police saw a man fitting the description of the culprit of this most recent hold-up, but he was also cleared, this time by the bar maid.

Traces All Clues

After all immediate leads had been exhausted, Woods Detective Everett Plumb set about the long and arduous task of finding and tracing all possible clues, most of which turned out to be blind alleys.

Possible fingerprint evidence was sent to the Michigan State crime lab for processing, the bar maid was shown "mug" shots of suspects, and neighbors were questioned.

One neighbor did say he saw a gray Volkswagen parked behind the bar about the time of the robbery and offered several different combinations of license numbers. All were checked, none of them fruitful.

Investigation showed the same man may have committed nine other robberies around Detroit within the last four months. There seemed to be a pattern in the robbers' methods.

One lead did look good. From 45 extra "mug" shots from Detroit police, the bar maid identified one, but only if the man was about eight years older than the picture showed. The picture had been taken about ten years ago. After having been arrested on a string of charges ranging from auto theft to armed robbery, the man was supposed to have been "serving time" in Jackson prison, but had escaped custody about a year ago and was still missing. Alas, after Plumb obtained a recent picture of the suspect, the bar maid was unable to identify him.

Suspect Identified

Finally, on December 17, 1970, Detroit police informed Plumb they had picked up a man for armed robbery in Detroit that answered the description of the one they were looking for.

In a line-up the woman made a positive identification. "It's number three, I'm positive," she said.

Since then he has waived examination, been arraigned before Woods Judge Don J. Goodrow, and faces a sentence of possibly 15 years behind bars. A conviction on the Detroit charge could mean life imprisonment.

ing them that last month, the company auditor revealed a loss of $9,880.11. At this rate, it was stated, the annual loss would be more than $100,000.

It was further stated in the letter, that February results are not improving and the loss is expected to increase because of a wage hike which became effective on February 1.

It was revealed that future meetings between officials of the six cities and the bus lines will be held, but whether they can bring about a postponement of the end of the Lake Shore service, is another matter.

"Basing my judgement only in the area of public welfare and public safety," Pinkos said, "there seems to be an area of credibility concerning this figure."

Councilman William Huettnerman also said he was not going to vote for a building permit until he was sure of the possible problem of area youngsters being exposed to bad elements. He said he would like the opportunity to discuss the situation with the Youth Service Division in concern for the health and welfare of the community.

Councilman Boutin agreed, saying that he did not want to compound any problem of teens going astray that may already exist.

BIRTHPLACE OF A DISTINGUISHED SUIT

Every suit of Oxford Clothes is born of a length of fine cloth. Here, on the cutting table, it is hand-marked, with the patterns laid straight on the fabric, so the finished suit will hold its shape. A generous allowance is made for extra-wide-seams, so that it can be let out without losing balance. Then, it is hand-cut, for absolute accuracy and perfect matching of plaids and stripes.

It takes more material to make a suit this way. And much more time and skill. It's one of the reasons why Oxford Clothes cost more... and are worth what they cost.

Pierce School Drug Study Called Highly Successful

By Pepper Whitelaw

Seventh graders at Pierce Middle School have just completed a highly successful five-day study of drugs.

The success of the program was largely due to Pierce principal Bill Mogk. Mr. Mogk is the type of administrator who is primarily interested in the education and welfare of his students. He knew, way back in November when he began planning the program, that no such session could be successful without student participation in the planning.

He visited student government representatives of the seventh grade homerooms and discussed the reasons for having such a program and elicited suggestions from the students as to what type of program would be most meaningful to them.

Then in December he asked student government representatives to survey their homerooms as to the questions which they wanted answered and from whom they would like those answers.

The survey revealed that students preferred talking with addicts or former addicts, medical people, high school students, personnel from the Youth Service Division. (Those in YSD have been a real force in bridging the communication gap between adults and teenagers in The Pointe.) The students, characteristically candid, indicated that they were least interested in talking with school people.

The questions they wanted answered were fairly basic: "What are the effects of drugs? How do you get drugs? What is it like at the high school? What happens if you get caught with drugs? If you get "hooked" how do you "kick the habit?"

Fortified with this information Mr. Mogk then arranged this five-day drug information program.

The first day Mr. Mogk acquainted the students with the general topic and presented a color movie on marijuana. Then he gave the students the opportunity to think about, or write down, any questions they might like to ask later in the week.

On the second day, the students heard a panel comprised of Mrs. Lucille McIntosh, Grosse Pointe Schools Social worker; Dr. Kenneth Schooff, Lafayette Clinic; a young addict currently going through the methadone treatment at Bon Secours Hospital; Elaine Tanay, a student at South High School; and George Fox, a former addict.

The third day the youngsters saw filmstrips relating to the drug scene, "Stimulants, Sedatives and Narcotics."

The fourth day was spent in a panel discussion with John Kendall, Youth Service

Division's liaison for the South High area, and Jeff Montgomery, president of South High School's Student Association.

Mr. Mogk told the NEWS "The unit was well received by the students and seemingly achieved its goals, which were to inform and educate the youngsters about drugs."

"We conducted a student reaction survey after the presentation and found that the vast majority of them rated the panel presentation excellent. The discussions with Mr. Kendall obtained the most positive reaction."

"The students felt the movie was good and the filmstrips only fair. Almost all of them said they felt the unit was of value to them because they did get their questions answered, they were not given the establishment line, and because they had a chance to interact with people who were directly connected in one way or another with the drug scene. Most of the students felt that the unit would have a positive effect on them in later life as a preventive for getting involved with drugs."

The fifth day was spent discussing among themselves just what they had learned.

Over 300 students participated in the program. Classes in physical education and study halls were cancelled to provide the time block for the study of this unit.

Mr. Mogk continued: "I was particularly pleased to have students indicate that after the session they were more informed and better educated about drugs, they were more certain than ever they would probably never use drugs and that they were more confident of themselves and did not have to be on drugs to be in scene."

Mr. Mogk pointed out that throughout the curriculum that has been designed for the middle schools, students are exposed to information about drugs with different emphasis at each grade level. At Pierce the sixth graders received a drug information unit through the homerooms and the eighth graders study the biological effects of drugs in their science unit on biology.

In this way drug information and education is presented each year only in different forms and with different emphasis. However, the main emphasis is at the seventh grade level.

of potential saving for the city, and used as an example the fact that Detroit spends $4,000 daily to dispose of 800 tons of glass.

Only one, William Clow, 1555 Fairholme, opposed the ordinance and asked instead for stronger enforcement of anti-litter laws.

Basics of Laws

In essence, the phosphate detergent ordinance sets July 1, 1971, as the date on which all detergent containers must label their specific phosphate content and the date on which each manufacturer must file a chemical analysis with the City Clerk.

Also the ordinance prohibits the sale of detergents containing more than 8.7 percent phosphorous by weight after July 1. Finally, the sale of any detergent containing any phosphates will be strictly prohibited in the Woods after June 30, 1972.

The penalty for breaking this ordinance will be a fine up to $500 and/or 90 days in jail.

The non-returnable bottle ordinance, containing the same penalty, refers to anything "used for the purpose of holding any mineral waters, soda waters or any other carbonated or uncarbonated beverage or any beer, ale or other malt beverage containing one-half of one percent or more of alcohol by volume."

The resolution asking for a State law prohibiting non-returnable bottles will be sent to the Governor, various committees in the Senate and House, and all Senators and Representatives in the Grosse Pointe districts.

The vote on the proposed ordinances by the city council is a direct response to a flood of form letters from the Health Education Council of Grosse Pointe sent by residents, a proposal from the City of Wayne asking for action, and widespread interest in ecology in The Pointe.

The other Pointe administrations have yet to consider any similar proposed ordinances.

the gate house, LaPratt said. The burglars cut a large hole in the door screen, reached in and snipped the wires. The phone was a direct line to the police station and is used only to summon police in an emergency, the detective added.

The thieves then took the public address system and amplifier and tape deck used to pipe music over the system. They also took a Remington typewriter from Guinan's office.

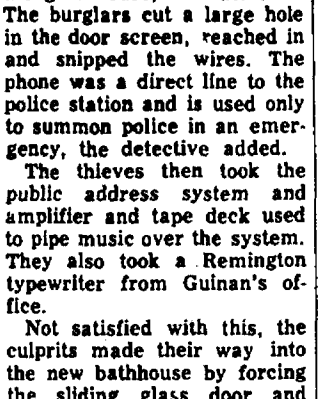

Not satisfied with this, the culprits made their way into the new bathroom by forcing the sliding glass door and breaking the lock, possibly using a heavy screw driver, LaPratt said. Once inside, they managed to rummage through several lockers, after which they went to the storage room, where cleaning equipment is kept, and removed several mops and other equipment, and tossed them into the swimming pool.

Completing this, the vandals then climbed to the roof of the concession building, and smashed the face of a 24-inch clock attached there.

"The reason for all this damage is beyond me," LaPratt said. "It was entirely senseless, and it apparently must have been done by local young adults, and I am hoping that someone might have some information regarding the matter. If so, they can call me at the police station, Valley 2-7400. Any information received, as well as the name of the informant, will be kept in the strictest confidence."

The sergeant said that the officers dispatched to the park to take a report on the incident, were utterly amazed at what they saw. They just could not believe it, he added.

Do you know why coins have a raised trim on the outer edge? . . . In the old days the metal of a coin was equivalent in value to the face value of the coin itself. Unscrupulous people would trim off some of the metal from the edges and sell the scrapings.

By raising the outer edge it became easy to see whether the coin had been trimmed.

The "milled" edges also serve to spot counterfeiters — on most bogus coins the edges are rough or are otherwise distorted.

Turned-on Lights Cheap Insurance Against Thefts

A large majority of residents carry all types of insurance, including home owners where, by citizens can recover all or part of a loss resulting from burglary of their homes. But, do these people know how to supplement this protective coverage through preventative methods?

Park Det. Sgt. James La Pratt revealed that it is the unanimous opinion of law enforcement agencies everywhere, that burglars, with an extremely few rare exceptions, hate to work where there is any light. The forte of nocturnal visitors is darkness, in which they can work almost without detection.

A burglar dreads any lighted home, or illuminated areas around houses because they can easily be spotted. They avoid these like plagues and go in search of a darkened house where they could almost be certain that no one is home.

The cheapest preventative insurance is lighting, LaPratt pointed out. He told of a Detroit police precinct commander who recommended to Detroit city officials, a plan to ask residents in a neighborhood in his precinct to turn on outside lights and leave them on during the night. Many burglaries have occurred in this neighborhood.

The police commander received authorization from the city officials to approach the residents with the plan, and the cooperation of the people was amazing, LaPratt said. Almost every home left outdoor lights burning during the night, and the number of burglaries dropped.

"Leaving indoor lights on when absent from, or outside lights during the night, is not as costly as it appears," the detective sergeant said. To prove this point, I called the Detroit Edison Company for a cost figure, and was informed that it cost only one cent to burn a 100-watt bulb during a four-hour period; a 50-watt bulb, only one cent during an eight-hour period; and a 25-watt bulb, one cent for 16 hours. What can be cheaper than that?

"It is better to spend a few pennies, or even a few dollars for items, for example a timer that turns lights on and off at set times, than suffer a burglary loss that could run into hundreds, and perhaps thousands of dollars, not to mention the heartbreak of losing priceless heirlooms or keepsakes, which of course means nothing to the thieves except what they might be able to get for them monetary-wise.

"Then, too, there is the possibility of damage to property which sometimes occurs when the intruders are searching for money and valuable," LaPratt added, "and the inconvenience of picking and cleaning up after messy ransacking."

Senior Men Hear Thomas R. Reid

A group of about 350 members of the Grosse Pointe Senior Men's Club heard about Detroit Renaissance from the group's interim president, Thomas R. Reid, at a recent luncheon meeting in the War Memorial.

Detroit Renaissance, made up of the area's top business and government leaders, came into existence late last year as a non-profit corporation devoted to the economic development of the City of Detroit. Financier Max M. Fisher is chairman of the group; Henry Ford II and Robert Surdam, president of the National Bank of Detroit, are co-chairmen. The 26-member board of directors is made up of industrialists, bankers and businessmen and includes the heads of all four automobile companies. Governor William Milliken and Mayor Roman Gribbs are honorary co-chairmen in the undertaking.

The very top leadership of our community is combining its working talents and collective influence to bring about an economic and civic renaissance or re-birth, in the city of Detroit. That goal requires concern with the long-range problems of the city as well as with immediate physical rebuilding.

Renaissance is already deeply involved in expediting a number of building projects, including the new sports stadium. Mr. Reid told the Men's Club: "In case there are those here today who still wonder where we stand on this one, let me tell you now that there will indeed be such a stadium; it will be a domed stadium; it will be on the riverfront site west of Cobo Hall; it will be built on an economically sound basis. The stadium will be designed primarily to accommodate baseball teams, but we are planning to accommodate other events including football."

Mr. Reid spoke at length of efforts the group will make to bolster civic pride and enlist widespread public support. He explained that the Renaissance conception of Detroit extends beyond the city boundaries to include the entire metropolitan complex.

"I believe," he said, "that the mother city Detroit still holds some claim to the allegiance of her suburban ex-patriots and — if you search your hearts — you will acknowledge that much of the purpose and identity of your lives — the greatest opportunities and richness of experience — came from being a part of the fifth largest city in the United States.

"Everyone of us is in some way indebted to the industrial center, Detroit. Detroit has been good to us and made possible the existence of our envied Grosse Pointe. We cannot in conscience abandon her to the despair of economic decay."

Mr. Reid is on loan from the Ford Motor Company where he is executive director of civic and governmental affairs. He lives in Shelden road.

Pair Accused Of Car Break-in

Two men were arrested by Park police, charged in warrants with theft, arraigned in the Park Municipal Court and bound over for trial in Circuit Court on Saturday, February 20, because a citizen became suspicious and called the authorities.

Arrested were Walter Thomas, 22, of 881 Lorain, and Selester King, 20, of 2130 Lyncaste, both of Detroit, and both of whom were charged in warrants approved by the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office. The pair is accused of breaking and entering an automobile and stealing property

Thomas and King, represented by counsel, were arraigned before Park Municipal Judge William E. Speer on the day of arrest. They stood mute and waived examination and were bound over for trial in Circuit Court. They were remanded to the County Jail in default of bond of $1,000 each.

Det. Sgt. James LaPratt said that the citizen, a resident of the Park, was on his way home after a late bowling match, and as he was passing Lakepointe avenue, he saw a car in the street with the motor running, alongside a parked auto. He saw two men behind the parked vehicle, one of whom appeared to be carrying something heavy.

In a few brief minutes the citizen arrived home and called police, giving the location of the suspicious activities, and Sgt. Walter Paton, and Patrolmen Michael Korlas, Larry Rice and Timothy Mink were dispatched by radio.

In their report, the officers said they arrived just as Thomas and King were driving down Lakepointe. The policemen saw the car, a 1971 Plymouth, the two men had allegedly broken into, with the trunk lid up, and noticed, after flashing a light, that the lock of the lid had been "popped," that is, the lock punched out.

While one police crew stayed at the scene, the other took up pursuit and stopped Thomas and King for investigation of breaking and entering an automobile.

Following the arrest, the policemen searched the suspects' car, and found a brand new tire, a new bumper jack, and a pair of jump cables still in its package with a bill attached, which proved that the items were from the parked auto, owned by Arthur J. Conlon, Jr., of 1428 Lakepointe.

Investigation in the matter was assigned to Dets. Charles Petrie and Robert Salfyrd, who following their probe, asked for and received approval on the warrants accusing Thomas and King.

It's too late to reform after a man reads the proofs of life.

Local Students Study Ecology

Monteith Elementary School students are currently directing their energies toward the field of ecology. Students at every grade level are organizing projects and programs.

This ecology study is a joint effort of the Parent-Teacher Organization (PTO), the staff, the children and parents. PTO representatives who are working with principal John Hammel in the development of activities are Mrs. Joy Outland and William Clow.

The school is using materials of the National Wildlife Federation, a slide program arranged by Mrs. William Klingbeil, newspaper articles and motion pictures. Governor Miliken sent one student copies of legislation recently passed relating to ecology, which the youngsters can study.

The PTO has organized a paper drive which will culminate on Saturday, April 3. Paper collected will be sent to Chicago for recycling. The PTO is also planning to compile a booklet for members which will offer guidelines on the problems of pollution. PTO has also supplied the school with a number of subscriptions to the nature magazine.

All the classroom activities will come to a head on Tuesday, March 9, when the PTO program will focus on ecology. Students will take an active part in the presentation.

Kindergarteners are melting ice and snow to observe the dirt deposits. They then discuss just what pollution is and what they can do about it. Toward this end they will clean up the playground and make litter bags for the family cars.

Students in Primary 1 are studying wildlife through class discussions, slide presentation, newspaper and magazine articles. They are presenting reports on what they have learned.

Primary II students are discussing how to prevent pollution then drawing pictures and writing stories about it. They also are studying various types of environments and animal homes. They are learning how we get our water, developing a booklet on water.

Primary III youngsters are producing two plays on pollution, making trash containers, collecting pictures for scrapbooks and making reports on ecology.

Level IV students are composing a song on pollution and drawing cartoons depicting pollution problems. The class is organizing a "litter monster" project made of "litter" they have gathered on their way to and from school. They are also giving reports in booklet form on animals, and making dioramas in shoe boxes.

Those youngsters in Level V are writing letters to individuals and businesses on pollution. To date they have received replies from Detroit Waterworks, Standard Oil, American Motors, Uniroyal and their school engineer. They are also taking pictures around the school and writing narrations to accompany them.

Level VI is viewing a series of 20 movies on the environment, ranging from land and forest conservation to the population explosion. They are also illustrating the problems of our environment through the creation of a mural, and studying special science units on air and water.

South Swimmers Face Key Meet for League Title Tie

By Deni Martin

The showdown between Royal Oak Dondero and Grosse Pointe South for the Border Cities League title will take place in South's pool Friday, February 26. Only one thing is assured. This meet will not be a laughing, as it's all or nothing for the Devils, who must win to assure a tie with Monroe, and Dondero for the BCL crown.

To earn this right to meet Dondero, the tankers had to dump Highland Park, and dump Highland Park they did behind a massive attack that included three slams, one pool record, and a 65-40 victory.

In the 200-yard freestyle the tankers took first and second, as Craig Walworth and Tom Monahan ran away from the rest of the field. Cal Norman moonlighting from his regular job as a backstroke, finished first in the 400-yard freestyle to give the tankers five more points toward a victory.

Slam number two in the meet came in the diving event, as teammates Chris Gauthier and Paul Osetek had little or no trouble in finishing first and second respectively. The 100-yard freestyle looked like a stroll in the park, as tankers Jon Watts and Bob Heels paddled their way to the Devil's third and final slam.

To add a little more spice to the meet South Coach Carl Schoessel installed his four fastest sprinters (Fred Weckler, Don Greenup, Dave Beynon, and Brad Boerner) in the 40-yard freestyle relay in an attempt to qualify for the state meet. They didn't qualify for the state meet, but they did set a Highland Park pool record as they won in 3:32.4.

The victory, however, was short lived, as the tankers met cross-town rival Grosse Pointe North on Friday and found nothing but utter frustration, as they lost 71-34. Sickness on both squads affected the outcome of the meet, as North seemed a little healthier than South. Among the ill was Devil butterfly Bob Heels, who may not return to the squad until Tuesday.

There were some bright spots, however, as Chris Gauthier won the diving competition with a good strong performance. Also on the plus side was the fact that the freestyle relay team qualified for the state meet with a time of 3:28.3.

But the ultimate in achievements was Mike Schroeder's performance in the 400-yard freestyle. Schroeder, who had been trying to break Bill Heller's varsity record of 4:13.0 all season long, finally did it, as he finished second with a time of 4:12.5.

The South JV tankers dumped their only opponent of the week, Grosse Pointe North, 53-52, behind a highly-spirited attack.

And now it comes down to one meet or 11 events. The intensity of concentration, the tension, and both squads will be important factors in this meet, for one event or one place can cost or insure a BCL championship. As Coach Schoessel pointed out, "This week is for Royal Oak. Nothing else matters"

One View From The Capitol

By William R. Bryant
State Representative
1st District

As a freshman Representative it is especially important to me to have your thoughts on all issues. I had considered mailing a questionnaire to a random 500 homes, but that is a time-consuming and expensive process. I hope you will either cut out the questionnaire below or answer it on a separate sheet and send me your thoughts.

Should the sale of non-returnable containers be either regulated or taxed? Yes ___ No ___

The 1971 Legislature adopted a "truth in water pollution" law requiring reports of matter discharged into lakes and streams. Should there be a similar "truth in air pollution" law, with use monitored paying the cost of surveillance? Yes ___ No ___

Are you willing, if necessary, to pay increased costs for goods and services resulting from reasonable environmental controls on them? Yes ___ No ___

Should the State fund an adequate level of education in all school districts and allow districts to raise additional revenue to fund a superior system? Yes ___ No ___

Should school districts have authority, with voter approval, to levy an income tax in place of an equivalent part of local property tax millage? Yes ___ No ___

Should limited abortion reform be enacted allowing a woman resident to obtain an abortion in the first three months in a licensed hospital or facility? Yes ___ No ___

Should the Open Housing

Law be amended to remove from its coverage any sale by owner of his home if not listed with a broker? Yes ___ No ___

Should the State create an environmental cleanup agency using unemployed welfare recipients? Yes ___ No ___

Should parents of an habitually delinquent juvenile be subject to criminal sanction? Yes ___ No ___

Should a portion of State taxes now restricted to use for highway construction be available for development of mass transit systems? Yes ___ No ___

Would you favor a new system of automobile insurance which requires payment of covered damages regardless of who was at fault? Yes ___ No ___

Should there be a special election to vote on giving 18-year-olds the right to vote in all elections inasmuch as they have been given the right in federal election starting in 1972? Yes ___ No ___

Should the basic "age of majority" be lowered from 21 to 18 to be consistent with the lowering of voting age? (Binding them to contracts, allowing control over person and property, drinking, etc.) Yes ___ No ___

Should Michigan have a Presidential primary, binding each party's delegates to the candidates favored by the voters? Yes ___ No ___

Now it's your turn. There ought to be a law that ___

One idea, as a novel approach to one problem would be to ___

Next week I will report on the Governor's recommended budget and his tax proposal.

The men were brought to safety after a harrowing six-hour recovery, minutes before the flood tide broke the back of their 65-foot boat against a sharp coral reef.

The Furse was preparing to get underway from the U.S. Naval Base, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, for training exercises when she was diverted to answer the distress call.

The trawler Gulf Tide was found aground on a coral reef encircling the island. A second reef interposed between the destroyer and the stranded craft.

Inside the Mothers Club

Jerry Gerich, Mothers Club Faculty Advisor, discussed the problems facing South High next Fall at the February executive board meeting. Mr. Gerich was introduced by Mrs. George Crockatt, president.

"Hopefully construction will begin by fall, with the completion of necessary demolition during the summer," said Mr. Gerich. The fence between Christ Church and the annex should be moved closer to the school property to gain access to a planned staff parking area. The school is asking the church and the Farms municipality for their cooperation.

During construction the library may be housed in the auditorium, with provision for easy access and egress. "We anticipate an unusually large freshman class," said Mr. Gerich. Due to the phasing out of St. Paul School and to the high percent of Brownell enrollees living in the South District, more than 600 freshmen will be added. This may necessitate an adjusted school schedule.

The Grosse Pointe schools are faced with the possibility of losing $441,000 in promised state aid due to the scrubbing of the Grandfather clause. That threat, together with the uncertainty of local tax ceiling limitations if Act 100 is not clarified, could result in a smaller administrative and faculty staff, Mr. Gerich said. Mr. Gerich complimented the South High student body on its excellent leadership. A Curriculum Development Process committee made up of students directed by Frances French has been meeting with department heads to review courses, and will recommend improvements to the faculty.

"The self-discipline exercise" ed at Career Conference Night and during the lunch hour in the cafeteria are testimony to the responsible behavior of our students," said Mr. Gerich.

Twelve students received Mothers Club scholarships for the 1970-71 year, totalling $5,300, reported Mrs. H. Weston Burnett, Vice-President. This includes the $500 presented to the Mothers Club by the Optimists Club at their annual dinner January 12. Mrs. Burnett announced March 19 as the deadline for 1971-72 scholarship applications. To date seven have been received.

Speaking of the Optimists Club, their members are sponsoring an Oratory Contest in March, according to President-Elect Mrs. Charles Beltz. Students under 16 are eligible to compete. For details call the school.

The Grosse Pointe Study and Action committee is planning transportation to Lansing for any citizens interested in voicing opposition to removing powers of school taxation on the local level (Act 100), and in exerting pressure on the legislators to provide adequate funds for the financing of Education. According to Mrs. Albert Dickson, chairman, sometime late in February and early in March a bus will leave each Elementary School at 8 o'clock, returning by 3:30 o'clock. For further information, contact Mrs. Dickson or one of the Elementary Schools.

According to Mrs. Cedric Richner, PTA Council Representative, Mike Ference and John Kendall, members of the Youth Service Bureau formed in August, 1970 to combat drug abuse, told the Council that the bureau is trying to build trust in the community "so the kids will seek help here rather than run away."

The bureau urges establishing a local probationary type program to avoid sending our young people to juvenile court. To date 187 contacts have been made, good rapport being established with the young people. The bureau also works with FLEC and the methadone clinic at Bon Secours Hospital.

To carry out their program the PTA's and PTO's are urged to extend financial support. Mr. Kendall added that South High Choraleers are willing to sing anti-drug songs at PTA meetings.

Mrs. Crockatt suggests that all ecology-minded citizens take bottles, flattened cans, newspapers and magazines to the Environmental Action Center in the Village for recycling in Ann Arbor. The young people masterminding the project even have a pick-up service! Call 886-2780.

For the fine contributions made to the school during the month by Mrs. Frank Bromley and Mrs. Hugh Harness and their Social committee; by Mrs. Robert B. Clarke in acknowledging the many donations to the Alice McKee Scholarship Memorial ($1,991 to date); by Mrs. Edward Foote and her usual prompt mailing committee; and to all the mothers who have helped in the cataloguing of textbooks, Mrs. Crockatt extended appreciation.

Monteith Cubs Hold Banquet

Cub Scouts of Pack 85 from Monteith Elementary School recalled some of the events which shaped the country's destiny, at their Blue and Gold banquet, on Tuesday, February 2, held at Ingra's Hall. Meaningful decorations and an inspiring program — all boy-planned — combined to effectively present the theme: Our American Heritage.

The program opened with a dramatization prepared by Dens Two and Six which defined Americanism. Boys participating in this skit were Thomas Durkin, Richard Flynn Jr., Matthew Hull, Anthony Maceri, Scott Mueller, John Sherry, Kenneth Clein, Robert Ignasiak, James Munger, Richard Threm, and George Voight.

David Greenspan then officiated for an "Institutional Thank You." He was joined on the platform by John Hammel, principal at Monteith School, who represented the organization sponsoring Pack 85. Together they extended appreciation to the pack committee which includes Russ Livermore, chairman; Ed Davey, treasurer; Bob Schwartz, membership; and Don Van DeVuurst, advancement.

Den Chiefs John Greer, Dave Smith, David Arbaugh, William Clow, Steve Van Every, Tim Mucciante, Steve Arbaugh, and Matt Howle were also thanked as well as the Den Mothers and other adults who support the pack with time and effort.

After the Advancement Ceremony, Mrs. Barbara Perkin led the group in a Patriotic Sing-a-long. Not only was Mrs. Perkin an enthusiastic song leader, but an inspiring one. She also outlined the history behind some of the patriotic songs which are part of our American heritage.

Webelos then presented an American Heritage Skit focused on the lives of some of our great leaders. Webelos in Pack 85 are James Bolda, James Calder, Peter Coutilish, Kurt Eldridge, Terry Gardner, on Hosking, Marty Howle, Russell P. Livermore III, Preston Madler, Bill Meredith, Frederick Metzler III, Greg Pulfer, Todd Remus, Bruce Robertson, Paul Schwartz, Bruce Shepherd, and M. Joseph Vier.

Bruce Shepherd was graduated from Webelos and received the Arrow of Light, the highest Cub Scout award. Tracy Clein, Pat Karry, Steve Van Every, Ed Fleck, Tim Mucciante, Dave Greenspan, and Bill Clow also received graduation certificates.

There was one note of alarm which came early in the evening. There was an announcement, shortly after the Invocation led by the Den Chiefs, stating that a group of protesters might interrupt the banquet and stage a demonstration. Soon a group of young, but mighty demonstrators entered the hall and demanded that Pack 85 commit itself to Boy Scout Project S.O.A.R. — Save Our American Resources — and to support the Monteith P.T.O. Paper Drive on April 3. Distributing protest literature and carrying picket signs were Cubs from Den Seven — William Babcock, Carl Bengtson, John Coutilish, Douglas Haelewyn, William Kraus, Keith Outland, Vincent Schwartz, Richard Taylor, and Joseph Wagner.

The banquet closed on an inspiring note as master painters from Den One — Randy Abud, Richard Aniel II, James Davey, Patrick Doran, Steven Fligge, Michael Joy, Paul Metzler, and Robert Van De Vuurst — each contributed artistly to a painting of a beautiful America. The revealed masterpiece was the proud emblem of these United States — the American Flag.

Defeated Devils Drop to Fourth

By Steve Wehying
Highland Park stunned Grosse Pointe South 68-64, Friday, February 19. The loss was South's fourth in the Border Cities League, fifth overall. With a 5-4 record they've dropped to third in the league. Friday, February 26, the Devils' take on current BCL leader Royal Oak Dondero, away.

Dondero has a 7-2 record in the league and is very tough. Grosse Pointe lost to them 67-60 in their first encounter. The Acorns are big. They have a 6'5" center Steve Prevost, a 6'5" forward Gary Collins and a good all around forward John Kirkland 6'2". South is out of the race for first, but they can, by beating Dondero, cause a tie for the championship spot.

A horrible first half ruined the Devils in the Parker contest. They just couldn't get going. The Parkers put in 34 points in that disastrous first half, while Grosse Pointe only mustered 20. South attempted a comeback in the second half scoring 44 points to Highland Park's 34, but the first half deficit was too much.

Grosse Pointe's big man P. G. Shirar had trouble throughout the game. Usually the teams leading scorer he only scored 10 points, below his season's average. He got into foul trouble early and did not play the whole game. The other Devils were cold too. South hit for 23 field goals while the Parkers, who were extremely hot, cashed in for 27.

Foul shooting was a different story. Grosse Pointe hit 18 of 28 for about 64 percent while Highland Park hit 14 for 26 for about 53 percent.

High scorers for the Devils were John Denison with 22, Dave Kennel with 15, Tim Schaafsma with 11, and P. G. Shirar with 10.

Dave Kennel led South's rebounding with 19. Shirar, despite not playing the entire game, hauled down 13.

Highland Park was led in scoring by Charles Johnson with 23 points. Greg Tarrell put in 11 and Dave Peek added 10.

Johnson also led Parker rebounding with 14. Teammate Dave Peek also grabbed 14 off the boards.

Outboard Motor Reported Stolen

Robert Hellrung, 1839 Prestwick, called Woods police Friday, February 12, to report that someone had carted away his outboard motor.

Hellrung first noticed the theft at 8:30 a.m. after seeing the engine late the night before. To get to the motor, which was in the back yard, the culprit had to cut through a chain lock and cut the steering and control cables.

Police said the thief also attempted to get into a shed adjacent to the rear of the house. Footprints were left in the snow.

School Employee Sent To Jail

Youth Service Division detective, Jim Davidson, acting on information received on January 27, that a hall monitor at South High School was selling narcotics such as hashish, marijuana and pills in the high school, interviewed Henry Domzalski, 22, of Windmill Pointe drive.

After a thorough investigation Domzalski admitted to the activity and turned over to Detective Davidson 2.45 grams of hashish.

A warrant was issued for Domzalski's arrest under the City of Grosse Pointe Park ordinance "possession of narcotics and dangerous drugs," which is a misdemeanor.

Domzalski appeared before Judge William Speer on Wednesday, February 17, and pled guilty to the charge. He was sentenced to 90 days in the Detroit House of Correction.

According to Detective Davidson, YSD detectives feel that the local city ordinances covering this type of offense are a major step in control and punishment of first offenders.

Public Schools in Focus

By Dr. Theos I. Anderson, Superintendent of Public Schools

Having begun a discussion of extremist groups, (both of the right and of the left), last week, I wish to discuss the tactics used by them.

"Front groups - Extremist groups set up front organizations with high-sounding, patriotic names to promote their views.

"Free speakers - They offer to provide free speakers in order to spread their propaganda.

"Infiltration - They infiltrate democratic organizations like the PTA and try to capture key positions like the program chairmanship. They send representatives to meetings with prepared, loaded, unanswerable questions to harass speakers whose views differ from theirs. They prolong meetings so they can make minority decisions after the worn-out majority has gone home.

"Divide and Conquer - They try to discredit state and national organizations and create distrust of their leadership in order to isolate local associations and capture control of them. They encourage irrelevant programs and debates over organizational details to disrupt the work of an organization and divert it from its own productive activities.

"Blacklisting and Labeling -

They probe into the personal history and political affiliations of educators, clergymen, and authors and label as 'subversive,' 'unAmerican,' 'radical' those whose beliefs and affiliations differ from theirs.

"Hysteria and Fear - They create fear and insecurity by highly emotional inflammatory charges of subversive influences in schools, government, and community organizations.

"Coercion and Intimidation - They threaten investigations of school administrators, teachers, librarians, and members of school and library boards who resist pressures for conformity to their views. Some groups use social ostracism, economic pressures, and even violence to silence disagreement and impose their views on a community.

"Misrepresentation - They make false charges and use quotations taken out of context. They distribute smear literature and poison pen pamphlets, usually imported from outside the community."

I am indebted to a publication of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, "Extremist Groups - A Clear and Present Danger to Freedom and Democracy," for the information on tactics in the eight areas outlined above.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

For some years now, I have been an avid reader of your excellent newspaper. One of the most interesting of your departments is the Letters to the Editor, and I feel compelled to comment on two recent letters, both of which appeared in your February 11th issue.

I had seen the advertisement placed by the Grosse Pointe Human Relations Council. Like many of your readers, I had experienced a feeling of dismay and shock, but perhaps for an entirely different reason than did Mr. Dossin, who apparently felt that the copy was an incitement to riot.

Is Mr. Dossin so naive to think that our society can train men to be killers and send them elsewhere to practice their newly-acquired art, and then expect these same men to withhold and forget their training on their repatriation? Perhaps Mr. Dossin has overlooked a fundamental rule of the human psychology—that a response, once established, is not extinguished by the wishes of others. It remains as a basic component of the learner.

It would seem that the GPHRC advertisement was in reality a warning of an objective possibility rather than a veiled threat. It is this possibility that Mr. Dossin finds so threatening, and yet there is no indication that Mr. Dossin would try to remove the underlying cause of the difficulty and simply stop training people to kill.

The following letter expressed a fear that private capitalism would be discredited at a viable economic system if the Lake Shore Coach Lines were to be purchased by the city governments. Apparently Mr. Schoenberg is very concerned with this, to the extent that he overlooks a basic tenet of capitalism, which is the existence of competition. Unless adequate competition is available, any service stands as a monopoly, with its attendant exploitation of the public. Personally, I feel that municipal ownership is the only practical alternative to the problems of the Coach line.

It is people like Mr. Schoenberg who are committed to an ideal with such fervor that they overlook the inherent flaws in that ideal. There is no perfect economic system, and I fail to see why a compromise with reality cannot be achieved in this situation. Unless someone like Mr. Schoenberg is willing to come forward with a competitive system that would not act in collusion with the existing coach lines to do such uncapitalistic things as price-fixing and coalition-formation, it would seem that municipal ownership is the only solution.

Respectfully,

John M. Mahoney

To The Editor:
 I, too, am a former resident of Grosse Pointe. I, too, have been a faithful reader of the Grosse Pointe News for three decades.

But, unlike Mr. Dossin ("Letters to the Editor," February 11), I find the advertisements of the Grosse Pointe Human Relations Council to be absolutely essential reading every week. I wouldn't miss them for the world! (And I'll bet they help sell papers, too... even to those whom they scandalize).

Keep them coming, GPHRC!

Sincerely,
 John Conley
 4418 Three Mile drive
 Detroit, Mich.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Virginia Leonard

Once again, a look at some of our new books which are currently being processed.

If French history is your bag, how about trying THE AGE OF LOUIS XIV by Pierre Gaxotte? His reign has been called a "dictatorship of work," a court of opulence, a century of progress, and a rule of paradox. The author vividly re-creates this fascinating and critical epoch of French history; a reign which hammered order from sixteenth-century chaos, engendered great pride in provincial Frenchmen, and inspired some of the greatest artists and writers France has ever known. The author is an eminent French historian and a member of the French Academy.

Are you a fisherman? Then STREAMER FLY TYING AND FISHING by Joseph D. Bates, Jr. should interest you. (Even though it is February, there are spring and summer days ahead!) In order to catch the biggest fresh and salt water fish in a sporting manner, Americans are turning increasingly to streamer flies and bucktails. And they are also turning to Joe Bates who helped introduce them to this method in his now out-of-print classic. It is certainly today's definitive authority for fly tyers, and for both new and experienced anglers receptive to new tricks and techniques that hook the big ones more often.

For you Michiganders we have ALL ABOARD by Willis F. Dunbar - a history of railroads in Michigan. Sometime in the spring or early summer of 1837 a small locomotive named the "Adrian" set off on its first run - 33 laborious miles from Port Lawrence (now Toledo, Ohio) to Adrian, Michigan. At this time the railroading had really come to the West. This is the first comprehensive history of Michigan railroading. It contains a wealth of information on every aspect of the subject - from that first struggling line, through the period of success, and on to recent years, when trackage had been abandoned and passenger service reduced to a fraction of what it once was.

If you read the papers some short time ago, I'm sure you will remember the story of Mike Grost, the genius who entered Michigan State University at the age of ten. The book, GENIUS IN RESIDENCE, by his mother, Audrey Grost, shows us Mike's development from birth, indicating all the challenges which confront a family raising a child whose I.Q. is "too high to be meaningfully measured." It is also interesting to note how Mike adapts to two younger siblings. Audrey Grost is a graduate of Michigan State University School of Journalism, where she met her husband. She has written this book in an effort to "explode the myth and legend surrounding gifted children."

Before all the snow melts, perhaps we should mention SKI Magazine's ENCYCLOPEDIA OF SKIING, which is an accurate, up-to-date book giving facts and instructions on all aspects of skiing, such as history, equipment, principles of skiing, competition results, where to ski, ski terms, a glossary, and more than 250 illustrations. You will also find fascinating stories about skiers and skiing throughout the world. Whether you are a beginner or an advanced skier who wants to improve his technique, this is the book for you.

We still continue to get books on the Civil War. THEIR TATTERED FLAGS, by Frank E. Vandiver, is an epic of the Confederacy and is certainly a first-rate contribution to this period of our history. It seems to get away from legendary stereotypes; it goes beyond the legendary heroism of the Lees and the Johnsons and the various fabled soldiers in gray, and shows how and why these men were unable to create an independent Southern nation. This book should promote a greater understanding of the sectional conflicts which are still a part of our national reality.

A unique book is Dick Mathers' WILD ANIMALS AS PETS. It is a guide to the care and feeding, as well as the habits, peculiar to some of the animals commonly adopted. Here we find a Iowa farm boy with his pet racoon, the Emperor of Ethiopia with his tame lion, as well as the adoption of other strange animals such as the ocelot, the kinkajou, the armadillo, the jaguarundi, the caecillie and the coati. Here we also find detailed information on diets, diseases, housing and similar matters. Each chapter provides an account of the natural history of the species, as well as the pleasures and rewards of raising an exotic pet, along with the problems, disappointments and obligations which go along with this sort of relationship. The author is an avid explorer and wildlife enthusiast; the photographer, Patricia Caulfield, has superbly captured the charm of these wild animals.

What's New on THE HILL

By Pat Rousseau

Touch of Elegance... was the name which seemed to come naturally and simultaneously to Pat Nicholl and Jo Mikula when they decided to be partners and open an elegant boutique. The name was apropos, and Touch of Elegance will be open three and one-half years. They chose the handsome new Colonial Federal Building for the location. They work very closely on buying, coordinating and merchandising. They search for fashions which are distinctive and wearable, for gifts which are different and useful. Jo buys the fashions, Pat buys the gifts, toys and men's ties. One of their merchandising brain children is Hands Down, a shop downstairs in the Colonial Federal Building where shoppers find elegant bargains.

The Bride... usually gets gifts she wants and can use because she registered at The Sign of the Mermaid. She usually has picked her china pattern from Lenox, Spode, Worcester, Doulton or Cerele which are on display there.

The Azuree Bath And Body Line... by Estee Lauder at Trail Apothecary, 121 Kercheval, includes Mint Pick-up Bath, Skin Softening Bubble Bath, European Mineral Bath Salts, Tender Cream Bath Oil, Sponge Bath Fresheners for travelers, Cologne Spray Concentrate, Perfume, Cologne, Bath Gel, Friction Lotion, Fresh Milk Bath, Spray Bath Powder, Dusting Powder, Body Satin Rub for dry skin.

Cast A Lovely Lucca... the brass open work hurricane candle holders at The League Shop, 98 Kercheval. They come in two sizes and have just arrived in a shipment of brass cricket large, round or square, little to large.

At The White House... you'll see arrangements of beautiful American made silk flowers. You now can pick bouquets of these flowers at The Mermaid Gallery, 88 Kercheval. We love the anemones, poppies and roses. Select your own blossoms for your own lovely arrangements.

Hamlin's Has... Brie cheese, domestic or imported. Serve with Carr's Biscuits, with cocktails or for dessert... 89 Kercheval... TU 5-8400.

Raves... for the model apartment at the Jefferson Apartments, Neff Road and East Jefferson. It was decorated by Eleanor Schneider, AID. You'll want to leave everything behind and move right in. If you're moving from a large home, you'll be glad to see the rooms are big and airy and there is plenty of closet space. Visit, as we did, the model apartment and then go next door where you will get a much better idea of the quality construction of the building. Call 882-7708 for more information.

Brighten Your Life... every Wednesday during lunch at The Bronze Door... 123 Kercheval, when Martha's Closet presents a fashion show featuring wear-now fashions, sunny styles for resort and previews the spring. Call 886-1932 for reservations.

WOMEN'S PAGES

From Another Pointe of View

By Margaret Burns

If there was ever doubt over that old adage about people making the news, it's certainly dispelled this week by noting the number of people who have "starring" roles in various activities about the community.

For an opener... Saturday evening February 27, at 8 o'clock in the South Lake High School Auditorium Mrs. Howard Lawrence, of South Brys drive, will make a rare solo appearance with the St. Clair Shores Symphony at its "Pop Concert."

Mrs. Lawrence is rather a rare person herself. She is concert mistress of the symphony... usually that title is concertmaster (Women's Lib take note). She has played in other years with the Kalamazoo, Grosse Pointe and South Oakland symphonies. Her music degrees come from Iowa State and Eastern School of Music, University of Rochester. She has studied privately with Jacques Gordon, former concertmaster of the Chicago Symphony, and the late Henri Nosco.

The evening's program will range from music written as long ago as 1695 to a new composition completed in 1970. Mrs. Lawrence will perform in "Scot-

Miss Wright Wed On February 20

Following a Wedding Trip to Hawaii and California, the new Mr. and Mrs. Conway Will Make Their Home In Grosse Pointe

St. Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore was the setting Saturday, February 20, for the marriage of Kathleen Mary Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Wright, of Kenwood court, to Michael Anthony Conway, of Beaconsfield avenue. Mr. Conway is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Conway, of Pompano Beach, Fla.

Father William Downey officiated at the 12:30 o'clock service.

The bride chose for her wedding a traditional gown of white satin trimmed with pearls. White mink cuffs matched the white mink cap from which her floor length illusion veil fell. She carried a bouquet of white roses with bachelor buttons and baby's breath.

The bride's sister Maureen Wright, was maid of honor. Other honor attendants were: Ellen Wright, another sister of the bride; Mrs. J. Patrick Wright; Mrs. George Pedley, a sister of the bride; Margaret Addison, and Nancy Hirsman, of Chicago.

Their ice blue silk faille gowns were fashioned in the Victorian style with lace and pearl appliques at the cuffs and hem. They carried multi-colored French nosegays.

Thomas J. Conway was his brother's best man. Seating the guests were: William and Patrick Conway, brothers of the bride; J. Patrick and Daniel Wright, brothers of the bride, and George Pedley.

Mrs. Wright chose a gold, rose and pink ensemble for her daughter's wedding while the bridegroom's mother selected a pink satin gown.

Following a reception at the Detroit Boat Club, the new Mr. and Mrs. Conway left on a wedding trip to Hawaii and California. Upon their return they will make their home on Vernier road.

Attending the wedding from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. Bernard O'Connor, of Chicago; Mrs. William Pridmore, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kiska, also of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Cady Bartlett of Syracuse, N.Y.

Have faith in your future, or it is bound to be a failure.

Welsh Church To Hold St. David Celebration

St. David's Day will be observed in Detroit on Saturday, February 27, evening with a dinner at the Welsh Presbyterian Church complex, West Outer drive, at 6 o'clock.

Many Welsh people and their friends from the Grosse Pointes will attend the function which honors the memory of St. David, the patron saint of Wales. Dr. J. R. Jones, medical officer of health for Windsor, will be the guest speaker.

The St. David's Society of Detroit is one of the oldest ethnic societies in this area. People from Wales were among the earliest arrivals to settle in this country, occupying vast land tracts in Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio, before moving farther west, establishing hundreds of Welsh churches and societies on the way.

The Welsh language continues to be the language of the societies, and Welsh language services are conducted at the Outer drive church every Sunday by the Reverend Aelwyn Hughes.

During recent years a tangible bond has been established between Detroit and Wales, with local university and school chorals groups competing at the International Eisteddfod at Llangollen in North Wales. These singing excursions have been reciprocated by visits to Detroit and other Michigan cities by some of the famed choirs of Wales.

St. David's Day, hailed by civic proclamation, also remembers Detroit's first mayor, John R. Williams, a Welshman, who was a member of the city's Welsh Society.

After dinner entertainment will feature Welsh music. Information on ticket reservations may be obtained by calling 881-3224.

Students Set to Enter Festival

Students of St. Paul High School are preparing entries for the annual Genesian Interpretation Festival in which all parochial schools of the archdiocese may participate. The event will take place Sunday, February 28, at Austin High School.

Linda Jurgens, senior, will present a dramatic reading, Maxwell Anderson's "Anne of a Thousand Days." Junior Keith Ensroth will present Antoine DeSaint-Exupery's "The Little Prince" in the serious prose category. Cathy Wagner, junior, will give selections from "Creatures' Choir" and "Prayers from the Ark," a special religious poetry category.

Youth Charged With Possession

A 17-year-old North High School student and employe of The Nude Shop, 20754 Mack, was charged with possession of Marijuana under the City of Grosse Pointe Woods ordinance on January 28. The youth, Stephen Craig Bahr, of Harper Woods, was observed by Youth Service Division detective, Jim Davidson, on that date sitting in a tan Dodge in back of the store with a friend, rolling what appeared to be a marijuana cigaret. Davidson was checking the area due to previous suspicious activities there. Davidson radioed for assistance to the Woods patrol force. Bahr and his passenger then left the scene. Davidson contacted patrolman Jim Fowler and asked Fowler to stop Bahr's car. The car was stopped and a search of it and the subject revealed one hash pipe, a cigaret rolling machine, a few packages of rolling papers, one marijuana cigaret and 1.6 grams of marijuana in a plastic container. Bahr was released that evening on $50 bond and appeared before Judge Don J. Goodrow on February 16. He was sentenced to six days in City Jail and fined $100. Even your friends have little time to worry on your account.

Knowles-Fredericks Nuptials Celebrated

Couple Exchanges Vows in Ecumenical Ceremony at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church; Reception Follows at Alger House of War Memorial

Kathie Ann Fredericks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Todd William Fredericks, Jr., of Vernier road, became the bride of Frederick M. Knowles, Jr. at a 2 o'clock ceremony in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church Saturday, February 20. Mr. Knowles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Knowles, of Braintree, Mass.

Dr. Raymond Kiely and the Reverend Vincent P. Brennan, S. M., of the Immaculate Seminary, Lafayette, La. and an uncle of the bridegroom, officiated at the ecumenical service.

Miss Fredericks chose a gown of white satin, trimmed with peau d'ange lace at the neckline and the bodice and also on the Bishop sleeves and full train. The high neckline and bodice were also accented with seed pearls. Her shoulder length illusion veil fell from a headpiece of lace petals and pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses, ivy and gypsophyllia.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Samuel Laviazar, a sister of the bridegroom. Her long pale pink crepe gown was fashioned with an Empire waist and a V neckline. The cuffs of its long sleeves were trimmed with fine gold braid while the waist was finished with heavy gold braid. Her flowers were a Colonial bouquet of miniature pink sweetheart roses, marguerite daisies and Scotch heather.

Bridesmaids were: Janet Parks, of Ypsilanti, and Nancy

Berger, of East Lansing. Their gowns were of deep purple crepe fashioned like that of the matron of honor and they carried flowers arranged like hers.

Samuel Laviazar, of Fort Leonardwood, Mo., was best man. Ushers were Todd Douglas Fredericks, a brother of the bride, and George L. Derecere, of Kalamazoo.

The bride's mother's choice for the wedding was an emerald green silk worsted coat dress with gold braid trim. She pinned yellow cymbidium orchids to her purse.

The bridegroom's mother wore a rose colored lace sheath gown with pink cymbidium orchids pinned to her purse.

An afternoon tea in the Alger House of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial followed the ceremony.

After a wedding trip to Bermuda, the new Mr. and Mrs. Knowles will make their home in Randolph, Mass.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Melvin Knowles of Braintree and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Laviazar, of Fort Leonardwood.

Elizabeth Cass DAR Has Luncheon Meeting

The Elizabeth Cass Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet for luncheon at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center on Monday, March 1, at 12 o'clock.

In celebration of American History Month, Mrs. Ralph Kimble will review "Music Merchants" by Milton Goldin, a history of opera and symphonic music beginning with the nineteenth century.

Mrs. Marvin Putnam, past State DAR Historian and Regent of the chapter, created an interesting display in February which included: a facsimile of Poor Richards Almanac, 1733 edition; map of the Revolutionary Battlefield; pictures of Washington and Jefferson; and one of James Madison, "father" of the Constitution. Madison's picture is quite appropriate for the Grosse Pointes since his signature appears on many of the early land patents in the area, referred to at that time as the Township of Hamtramck.

The exhibit was displayed at the Grosse Pointe Central Library.

Peggy Jo Campbell Weds Mr. Hammond

In a double ring ceremony on Friday, February 19, Peggy Jo Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Campbell, of Hawthorne road, became the bride of Stephen Kahl Hammond, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hammond, of Kenwood court. Father Harry S. Benjamin officiated at the 7 o'clock service in St. Joan of Arc Church.

The bride wore for her wedding an original white satin gown featuring a mandarin neckline beaded with pearls, stones and crystals. It was also styled with bishop sleeves and an Empire bodice. A Cathedral length veil, bordered with Alencon lace fell from a matching lace Dior bow. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and ivy.

The bride's only attendant was her sister Mrs. Steven C. Frasad, of Warren. The matron of honor's long sieved gown was fashioned with an Empire waist from tangerine crepe. Its high neckline and cuffs of the sleeves were trimmed in green and yellow. A tangerine floor length veil fell from a pearl tiara and her flowers were a bouquet of Mary Jo roses and variegated greens and trailing ivy. Mark Carr was the bridegroom's best man. Seating the guests were the bridegroom's brothers, Robert W. Hammond, of Mt. Clemens and George H. Hammond, Jr., of St. Clair Shores; and Steven C. Frasad.

A floor length gown of beige chiffon over dark brown silk was Mrs. Campbell's choice for her daughter's wedding. Her flowers were green cymbidium orchids.

The bridegroom's mother wore a yellow silk Shantung gown and pinned yellow cymbidium orchids to her purse. A reception at Alcamo Hall followed the ceremony. The new Mr. and Mrs. Hammond will make their home in Detroit after a short wedding trip.

Life consists mainly of what we haven't done, and what we are going to do tomorrow.

Legion Ladies Laud Patriotism

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary have been very concerned over the apparent lack of patriotism among some of the younger generation.

"We know," stated Mrs. Jacqueline Bomier, Americanism chairman of the Grosse Pointe Unit #303 of the American Legion Auxiliary, "that these people are in the minority those who feel it's 'the thing to do'—because we see hundreds of patriotic, country-loving youngsters in our own youth programs throughout the year."

"However, we now feel that patriotism is becoming popular again. Most people now recognize that the Stars and Stripes is a very significant flag to see waving in the breeze and that in these days of national danger we cannot have too much patriotic dedication," she explained.

"We of the American Legion Auxiliary hope that the flag which signifies America's free way of life will be flying throughout Grosse Pointe communities on the birthday of the Father of our Country and other national denoted holidays. The sight of that flag has deep meaning to all of us," Mrs. Bomier continued. "Americanism activities of the American Legion Auxiliary include study of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution, presenting Flags and Flag Codes to our schools and youth groups, conducting essay contests and encouraging the teaching of American history and American government and supporting Freedoms Foundations and The American Legion's endeavors to combat subversive influences."

Bride Claimed By Mr. Johns

St. Joan of Arc Church was the setting for the wedding of Kathleen Marie Szumilas, of Detroit, and Gary William Johns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald F. Johns of Brys drive. Father Arthur F. Oldani officiated at the 5:30 o'clock ceremony on Friday, February 12.

The bride's gown of appliqued lace of silk organza featured a full court train and her waist length veil fell from a headband of pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis, and baby's breath.

Mrs. Peter Wrobel was her sister's matron of honor. Attendees were: Pat Johns, the bridegroom's sister; and Mary Lou Tworkowski, Marie Jara, and Suzy Wadowski, all cousins of the bride.

Their gowns were fashioned with white chiffon tops and mossgreen velvet skirts and their flowers were yellow daisies nosegays which matched daisy headpieces.

The bridegroom asked his brother, Robert F. Johns to be his best man. Ushers were: Dave Neil, of Kalamazoo; Larry Avrett, of South Bend, Ind.; Bill Browncombe, of Ann Arbor, and Larry Smith, of Kalamazoo.

The bride's mother chose a floor length mint green chiffon gown with a beaded top for her daughter's wedding. Her flowers were white roses trimmed in mint green ribbon. Mrs. Johns wore a yellow peau de soie floor length gown also with a beaded top. Her white roses were trimmed with yellow ribbon.

Following a reception in Athena Hall, the couple left on a wedding trip to Montreal. They will make their home in Kalamazoo.

THE YOUTH: The Funky and the Shag Layered Scissor Cut

Bart Edmond Intercoiffure Salons Say, "It's the Cut that Counts."

"Your hair is shaped so evenly and it is left so flexible it can be combed into a totally new hair style without sitting under a hot hair dryer, there is no setting with rollers, no pins and very little and sometimes no backcombing."

"The new Funky and Shag cut can be given to any length of hair — to mini, midi, maxi, because it is graduated into more layers. Despite this the hair will retain an over all look of length and the length can be extended to 14 to 20 inches."

"It has been a long time since we saw so much enthusiasm. This fantastic haircut will give a whole new appreciation of what cutting mastery is all about. The youth are attracted to the new long cut. They don't want their hair piled high on top of their head. They want it loose in casual styles." BART EDMOND SALONS —downtown, 45 East Adams and 21316 Mack Avenue, Grosse Pointe Woods —have hundreds of new ideas. They will show you the exact perfect haircut for you. downtown: WO 2-1112 Grosse Pointe: 886-6060

On With The Show

And today, Thursday, it's a luncheon at the Detroit Boat Club honoring people . . . the glamorous ladies appearing at the Fisher Theater in "Forty Carats."

It all happened because Mrs. Frank W. Hausman, Jr., of McMillan road, received a Christmas card with a note saying "Sunny dear, we'll be at the Fisher Theater starting February 9—hope to see you, Love, Aud-

Symphony Women Honor Mrs. Jewell

MRS. THOMAS V. LOCICERO, on the left, president of the Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony, presents a corsage to MRS. WINFIELD S. JEWELL, JR., of Washington road. Mrs. Jewell was elected president emeritus of the organization at its February luncheon meeting at the Detroit Athletic Club. She served as president of the group from 1947 to 1949 and has maintained her interest and participation in its work since that time.

rey." It seems that Mrs. Hausman and Audrey Christie of the current production studied dramatic art, dancing and singing together years ago in Chicago.

What an opportunity to entertain and meet all of the women of "Forty Carats." Besides Miss Christie, the livewire grandmother of the play, who constantly wears her granddaughter's mod clothes without permission, there'll be the well-known Barbara Rush who plays Ann Stanley, the naive, youthful leading lady of the cast. "A third generation" gal in the play will also be honored by Mrs. Hausman at the party. She is Sylvia Grand who plays the granddaughter, a young lady wise beyond her years. Imogene Bliss, cast as the secretary in the play, will also lend her particular charm to this most unusual and gay party.

Mrs. Hausman had no trouble, you can be sure, in lining up friends to be hostesses for the 100 invited guests. They are: Mesdames James B. Doll, Frank H. Finney, David L. Gamble, Charles C. Hicks, John O. Montgomery and R. Sidney Sinclair. Others helping her are: Mesdames Dwight W. Edwards, Jr., Edward W. Fromm, Joseph N. Jennings, Kenneth P. Locke, Robert C. Palmer, Diamond T. Phillips and Richard S. Shannon.

People On Ecology

Lots of people . . . that is members of the Grosse Pointe Farm and Garden Club . . . will meet in the Moross road home of Mrs. Mark C. Stevens on Monday, March 1, at 2 o'clock.

Guests can look forward to hearing a fascinating panel discussion on "Ecology Picture in the Grosse Pointes," it will include information on reusing ugly things to create beautiful things . . . a technique or perhaps a habit we could all learn.

The program was arranged by Mrs. G. Mennen Williams who has asked Mrs. Leland Carter, Mrs. Walter B. Robinson, and Mrs. Chester Peterson to be on the panel.

Assisting Mrs. Stevens as hostesses will be Mrs. William J. Scott and Mrs. William McKinley.

Our hats off to people.

Clark Women's Club Meets Next Monday

Clark Women's Club will meet at Christ Methodist Church on Monday, March 1, at 1:00 o'clock, for a tea and social hour.

Mrs. Charles Dawood, of Berkshire road, chairman of the Mayor's Committee "KDB Teens for a Greater Detroit" served as a panelist on a program entitled "Youth Involvement" at the 1971 National Clean-Up Congress recently held at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Washington, D.C.

The panel, comprised of eight actively involved young people and adults from all throughout the United States, explored the role of youth in civic improvement efforts from the junior high to the college level. Other highlights of the conference included an Awards Presentation, featuring Mrs. Richard M. Nixon presenting trophies and awards to the top cities of 1970.

Mrs. Dawood, who is on the board of directors of Keep Detroit Beautiful, Inc. and Keep Michigan Beautiful, spearheaded "KDB Teens" in 1966 and has remained as its chairman as it has grown to an organization of nearly 27,000 teenagers helping to clean up Detroit. She has been instrumental to the success of ALSAC and the March of Dimes Teen Tag Day, as well as being honored as the first female recipient of a Papal Decoration in the Detroit area in 25 years.

The National Clean-Up Congress is an annual event sponsored by the National Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up Bureau, a non-profit foundation dedicated to the betterment of the nation's communities. Attended by hundreds of delegates from throughout the country, the Congress is aimed at unifying the efforts of private citizens, government and business leaders into a single force for civic improvement.

The program for the 1971 Congress was designed to educate civic leaders as to what is being successfully accomplished by volunteers across the nation today.

DAR Sponsors Library Display

The February birthdays of two of our great presidents herald the observance of American History Month. The Elizabeth Cass Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, has made timely use of nostalgic materials in a display at the Fisher Branch of the Grosse Pointe Library.

Included in the exhibit is a facsimile of Poor Richards First Almanack 1733 edited by Benjamin Franklin under the nom de plume "Richard Saunders." Appearing over a 25-year span in the early 18th Century the Almanack reached a peak of 10,000 circulation in a news-hungry era of American growth. Its aphorisms included the now well-known phrases "Never leave until tomorrow that which you can do today," "God helps them that help themselves," and the oft-repeated "Early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise."

A map of Revolutionary battlefields gives a resume of the events which led to "The Road to Revolt" from the end of the French and Indian War in 1763 to the debacle of the Boston Tea Party, the English Parliament's passage of the "Intolerable Acts," and Congress' rebuttal "Act" to stop all trade with England. A combination leading to that fateful April 19, 1775 and "the shot heard 'round the world." A chronological listing gives date by date progress of the war itself.

A replica of the Declaration of Independence is accompanied by Thomas Jefferson's solemn quote that "to the support of this Declaration with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor!" In Jefferson's words, too, appear his warm tribute to George Washington, "He was in every sense of the word, a wise, a good, a great man."

The inclusion of a portrait of James Madison, "Father of the Constitution" is appropriate for the Grosse Pointes as his signature appears on many of the early Land Patents in the area, which, by the way, was referred to as the Township of Hamtramck.

In the showcase some "old-tique" household items are used as eye-catchers and a challenge to the under 30 set. Abram Joseph Ryan (1834-1886) said, "A land without memories is a land without history." A look at the Elizabeth Cass display is bound to bring back memories. The exhibit which will appear through February 20, was compiled by Mrs. Marvin R. Putnam, past DAR State Historian. She was assisted by Mrs. Leland Engle, the chapter's historian.

BLACK VISION — WHITE VISION

"Profiles in Black," Channel 4, Monday, discussed Malcolm X's impact on Black Detroit. He had said in Detroit that Blacks were told to fight, bomb and kill the enemy in Korea but were to come home and be nonviolent in Alabama and Mississippi. These actions are history now but his ideas are still powerful. Interviewed Black teenagers said that Malcolm is more influential today among young Blacks than when he was alive, for he has articulated their feelings and clarified their vision.

And the White vision? Many deny causes of Black bitterness and label Malcolm's ideas unpatriotic.

Doesn't the conflict make you wonder what is true? Have you read the other side of the story? Try THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF MALCOLM X. It's in paperback. If you're beyond this, write for other titles to:

GP Symphony Sets March 7 Concert

Sunday Concert Will Feature Works By Mozart, Bizet and Mendelssohn; Reception, Given By Women's Committee, Will Follow

The Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra will present the third concert of this, its 18th season, on Sunday, March 7. The program will be presented at 3:30 o'clock in the Performing Arts Center, Vernier at Morningside.

Featured artists on the program are soprano Elsie Inselman, a mezzo soprano, who will perform three arias, and Frank Preuss, violinist, who will perform a concerto with the orchestra.

Miss Inselman, who resides in St. Clair Shores, is known to many Grosse Pointers as a soloist at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. At the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y., where she earned her Master of Music degree, Miss Inselman sang several leading roles. Miss Inselman continued her training in Frankfurt, Germany, under the auspices of a Fulbright Fellowship. In 1969 she won the Detroit Grand Opera Scholarship Competition. Miss Inselman is currently studying voice with Avery Crew.

Miss Inselman has made frequent oratorio, recital and concert appearances in the Detroit and Toledo areas, including four seasons with Detroit's "Overture to Opera" productions. She has appeared as a featured soloist with the Kenneth Jewell Chorale. Presently she is performing with the Piccolo Opera Company.

Miss Inselman will perform La Clemenza Di Tito "Non piu di fiori" by Mozart and two Bizet arias, "Seguidilla" and "Les tringles des sistres," more popularly known as "Gypsy Song," from Carmen.

Frank Preuss, of Southfield, assistant concertmaster of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, will perform the Concerto in B Minor for Violin and Orchestra by Mendelssohn. Although he was born in Germany, Mr. Preuss was raised in Bogota, Columbia, South America, where he received the highest degree from the Columbia Conservatory of the National University. He was concertmaster of the Columbia Symphony for ten years. Mr. Preuss has taught at the International Academy of Chamber Music in Rome and the International Center of Violin in Gstaad, Switzerland. He has concertized extensively throughout South America and Europe and

The concert will be followed by a reception at which members of the Women's Committee will serve, and the audience will have an opportunity to meet the soloists, conductor and members of the orchestra. Tickets may be obtained by calling 881-1256, or purchased at the door on the day of the concert for $2.50 for adults and $1.00 for students.

Audubon Society Offering Movie

"Saving Florida's Corkscrew Swamp," a story of successful citizen action, was presented on film, Monday, February 22, in the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church auditorium.

Sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Chapter of the Audubon Society, both the showing and the social hour following will be open to the public.

Tony Morse, of the Sign of the Mermaid Gallery, who located the film for the Audubon group, gave a brief introductory talk. Mr. Morse's enthusiasm for the film is a logical tie-in with his interests, because the drive to save the Gulf Coast wild life sanctuary from commercial exploitation was spearheaded by three nationally-known artists. The included shots of Roy Harm, Guy Gohelach and Dawn Eckelberry sketching wild life and nature scenes within the swamp areas.

Program chairman, Mrs. James M. Kasl, was hostess assisted by committee members, Miss Louise Lokeman and Mrs. David C. Gillis.

If you expect to keep your ambition in the future tense devote your time eyeing the goal.

Morton Gould With Symphony

Morton Gould will conduct the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in a program of light classics at the Symphony's annual "Thank You" concert for contributors Sunday afternoon, February 28, at 3:30.

For his program Gould has selected the "Corsair" Overture by Berlioz, the Symphony in C major by Bizet, the Overture-Fantasia "Romeo and Juliet" by Tchaikovsky and one of his own compositions, the "Fall River Legend" ballet suite.

Gould is active both as a conductor and as a composer. He first gained critical attention as a piano prodigy through his ability to improvise on a given theme. At the age of 21 he conducted and arranged a weekly series of orchestral radio programs.

He has composed works for orchestra and symphonic bands as well as motion picture scores, Broadway shows and ballets. As conductor and performer he has appeared here and abroad with major symphony orchestras. His recordings, both classical and popular, have won him a large audience.

The Symphonic Contributors Concert is an annual event for the "Impresarios" of the Symphony—those hundreds of individuals and companies whose contributions to the Detroit Symphony Maintenance Fund enable the Orchestra to maintain its services to the community.
