Crews Busy at Lake Parks

Preparation for the pool facilities is just about complete. Several guards from South High, St. Paul and one or two colleges that have an early summer recess have been working for almost two weeks. The pool has been cleaned and painted, along with the gutters. The three meter high board and the two low boards have been cleaned and painted with sand on the diving surface and the guards will be raising the face bricks on the pool deck that have fallen during the winter.

Lauer, a 22-year veteran at the Park, will be switching his guards on 15 minute intervals on a rotating basis, as is the case with all the parks. Farms guards are not allowed to read or listen to any radios while on watch.

An attraction for Farms residents will be the water polo net that has proven to be popular in past years.

The City

Park Superintendent at the City, Tom Gauerke, reports most of the work has been done on the grounds rather than just the pool. The large, heated pool and the small pool are just about ready. A private company was hired to do the acid-cleaning, and work on the entire park has been continuing since early March.

Among the improvements, residents will find nine new lights on the docks and green plastic rubber matting under the swings for attractiveness and safety. Gauerke's crew is planting new geraniums and is repainting all the picnic benches and tables. Towards the end of the summer, they hope to widen the sidewalk leading from the parking lot to the bath house.

For the pools, Gauerke will be rotating 10 guards, with six attending the large, 225,000 gallon facility. Each guard is required to have his Water Safety Instruction certificate and will be watching over the pool on shorter hours during weekdays until mid-June when all the schools are out.

The Park

Park Director of Parks and Recreation Don Guinan has his men busy painting the pool gutters before a private contractor moves in to clean pool with acid. He'll be using 24 life guards for the large, 500,000-gallon capacity pool and the two smaller wading pools. Before school lets out around mid-June, he says, the pools will be open for swimming on and after Memorial Day from noon until 10 p.m.

Guinan reports most of the work for his men has been done at the Park's Three Mile facility. New grass has been planted along with new trees and shrubbery. Also the tennis courts will be resurfaced this spring. Guinan, who is working towards a master's degree in Recreational Management from Wayne State, reports also the reconstruction of a new entrance gate at the Three Mile Park.

But the main park will still be the busiest this summer with the 217-boat capacity docking area almost completely filled.

The Shores

Shores Park Director Donald Messing has ordered new furniture for the pool deck use, along with a few new trees for the grounds. Also, new tennis volley boards will be raised on the tennis courts. The pool has been repainted, as is done every year, and is almost ready now. Messing will have a staff of five male and four female life guards watching the 25-meter pool.

All the guards are Shores residents and are either students at North High or are in college. The hours for the pool, which will open on May 29, will be from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., unless the temperature climbs over 90 degrees. Messing says in that case he'll keep it open until 10 p.m.

The divers and police said that much of the damage to the car other than the front bumper, which was smashed at impact, was done by ice hitting the car. (Surprisingly, the currents are fairly strong even this close to shore, according to the divers.)

The entire operation took 31 minutes . . . a symphony of cooperation. The vehicle was then towed to Farms Texaco service for junking.

Chief Ferber told the NEWS that the Army Corp of Engineers was originally requested to remove the car, which may have been a hazard to boaters and swimmers in the area. Early in April of this year the Corps told the Farms it had no land vehicles available to remove the automobile from the lake.

Chief Ferber, Chief Vitale and Chief Teetsert then arranged this joint exercise of cooperation with their departments and Major Robert Stillson, executive officer of the First Battalion of the Mechanized 25th Infantry-Michigan National Guard. The Guard personnel were under the command of Chief Warrant Officer

Then, Elmer Saganeck, 32, of 4817 Auburn, Utica, (his address was not available at the time of the rescue), married and the father of four children; Herbert Trute, 17, of 619 Lake Shore, a Grosse Pointe North High School student, on his way home from school; and Richard Tucker, 38, of 883 St. Clair, an off-duty Farms fireman, married and the father of one child, dove into the icy lake to rescue Mrs. Stoner and Mrs. Stoeckel.

"I am totally convinced that three lives would have been lost if it were not for the actions of these four persons, who unselfishly, and at great personal risk, responded to the aid of others in a time of extreme emergency," Chief Ferber commented in his letter. "The action of the four individuals is impressive to any citizen, but is extremely gratifying to a police officer, who all too often sees the un-concerned and noncommittal citizen."

A copy of the letter to the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission was given to City Manager Andrew Bremer, Jr., who endorsed the chief's action.

Lake Salvage Operation

(Continued from Page 1) 2835 Springle, Detroit, was being pursued north-bound on Lake Shore drive by Park police. Marble lost control of his car at Warner road, struck two light poles knocking them to the ground, then plunged over the breakwall and skidded on thin ice into the lake and sunk to the bottom.

Originally it was believed that Marble crawled through an open window to safety to solid ice, however, after recovering the car divers believe the impact threw him clear of the vehicle. He was assisted to the breakwall by Park, City and Farms police officers.

Marble was subsequently convicted in Park Municipal Court for reckless driving as a result of the high speed chase which began at Beaconsfield and Jefferson in The Park and ended with the driver in the lake in The Farms. Marble currently has a similar case of reckless driving and an additional charge of failure to appear pending in Farms Municipal Court as a result of the incident.

Poised on shore Saturday morning were divers Leon Seboyan, of Colonial road and City of Grosse Pointe Patrolman Virgil Beaupre, who volunteered to assist in the salvage operation. The pair have been assisting local police as volunteers for many years. (They also dive for weapons thrown in the lake, for various police departments.)

Virgil was president of the Detroit Aqua Divers for five years and taught for seven years. He owns Beaupre Marine Salvage Company.

Also on shore, poised with the cable which ultimately was attached to the wrecked vehicle, was a National Guard hydraulic wrecker. Just off shore, an Armored Amphibious Personnel Carrier towed the chain from the wrecker to the divers.

(The divers wear tanks which contain some 72 cubic feet of air at a pressure of 2,400 pounds and about 65 pounds of equipment.)

Upon receiving the cable they disappeared under water, (the car was some 100 feet in the lake at an approximate depth of 10 feet), to set the cable.

They first attempted to remove the vehicle by attaching the tow chain to the frame . . . the frame gave way. Then they attached the cable to the upper control arm of the front wheel . . . up it came. And now it was the National Guard towing vehicle's job to hoist the Chevrolet from the water, under the direction of the divers.

Arnold Fuchs' Statements Challenged By Glancy

By Pepper Whitelaw

The regular meeting of the Board of Education on Monday, May 10, was such a lengthy one the NEWS was unable to report all the "happenings" in last week's issue. In keeping with our policy of providing "in depth" coverage of the meetings, we take this opportunity to report trustee Alfred R. Glancy, Jr.'s rebuttal to a statement made by vice-president, Arnold Fuchs, at the April 5 meeting and later distributed under the names of Donald J. Semmler, Calvin Sandberg and Mr. Fuchs, throughout the community.

In that printed report it was stated: "Since the local press did not see fit to publish the comments of vice-president Fuchs, we have taken this opportunity to relay his comments to you."

The Fuchs-Semmler-Sandberg report referred to Dr. Theos I. Anderson's recommendation for staff reduction which Mr. Fuchs and Mr. Semmler opposed and Mr. Sandberg abstained from supporting at the April 5 meeting.

Monday evening, Mr. Glancy referred to this "co-sponsored statement" as "a carefully edited version of the actual statement made by Mr. Fuchs at the meeting of April 5 and indicated that the tapes of that meeting were proof of this. Mr. Fuchs did not respond to Mr. Glancy's remarks.

Mr. Fuchs' statement said: "Perhaps my major objection to the proposal is that it cannot be financially substantiated. In short, I feel it is based on premises that are unwarranted or unprovable. Dr. Anderson's proposal is based on the major premise that unless it is adopted by the Board . . . tonight . . . in total . . . that the school system will be in a deficit state, next year, of some 1.9 million dollars."

"The recommendation assumes that we will lose revenue from state aid in the neighborhood of one million dollars. We don't know this. I agree there are indications that the State aid will be cut to some extent, but no one, least of all the administrators making this recommendation, can assure us, at this time, that the cut will be that severe."

Mr. Glancy, Monday evening, in his rebuttal, said: "Mr. Fuchs seems to object to the fact that the administration assumes that we may lose as much as one million from state aid, at the same time offering no estimate of any amount as an alternative. As of April 5, based on all information on hand at that time, when it was necessary to make a basic decision pertaining to one of the most important, certainly one of the largest items which will be part of the new budget, the administration had to take this figure, not a more optimistic one."

Fuchs' report also stated: "The recommendation is based on the supposition that our local revenues will be increased only some eight percent by the recent raising of State Equalized Valuation rather than the 12 percent originally forecast. Right now, there are indications that the raise will be less than 12 percent but there are equally strong indications that it will be no more than eight. The area between eight and 12 percent involves many, many dollars which this system may or may not get next year. Can we take the positive act of dismissing teachers solely on the supposition that the worst might happen?"

Mr. Glancy said Monday evening that the implication in Fuchs' statement pertaining to SEV's was "altered, in the co-sponsored" printed, edited statement, from six to eight percent." Mr. Glancy said the administration's use of approximately an eight percent increase factor is confirmed by the May 4, 1971 report that SEV's in the Grosse Pointe School System will be raised only 6.338 percent (from approximately $408 million to $434 million).

Mr. Fuchs' statement further said: "The recommendation assumes that we will have a major influx of students from local private schools." He then said that miscalculation on the administration's part as to the influx of new students cost the district between one and two hundred thousand dollars in overstaffing, and said he was pointing this out not as a criticism of the administrators but only to remind the board that it cannot base a firm financial recommendation on something as nebulous as enrollment projections.

His final statement regarding the recommendation said, "It is based on the premise that there will be no further increases in voted millage forthcoming from this school district next year. The voting record of the community utterly repudiates this supposition.

Fuchs acknowledged that recent millage requests have been defeated but added "when the board trimmed those requests to more reasonable and justifiable proportions the community did support them!" He predicted that board proposals for "right and reasonable" increases, justified from every aspect would have community support.

"Obviously, voted local millage is a critical question and one that is unresolved, the prime consideration is whether a millage election is successful or not hinges on public confidence. When the confidence is there the millage passes, when it is not, the millage fails," he said.

"There must be confidence not only in the specifics of the millage, but in those making the request. 'It's pretty evident right now that confidence is not there, and all the tens of thousands of dollars we spend each year, in propaganda efforts to convince this community that we are running a tight fiscal ship is of no avail so long as there is such a preponderance of visible evidence that there has been no effort made to institute desperately needed and long overdue fiscal reform in this school system. If anything, our propaganda efforts just make this community more distrustful, not less."

Mr. Glancy said Monday night that this statement of Mr. Fuchs shocked him almost more than anything else Fuchs said. "The implication of that statement is that we do not run a tight fiscal ship, that we do not maintain an impeccably accurate single set of books, that our financial and business affairs are not under the supervision of as dedicated and competent staff as any I know in my own business affiliations." Mr. Glancy then commented on the fact that independent outside organization have confirmed this. (We reported these confirmations in last week's issue).

Mr. Glancy said "these implications will do more than anything else to completely destroy the community's confidence in the school system and in the board of trustees and any trustee, or group of trustees, who make such a charge by these implications is unworthy to hold office, and I am making this statement in public and for the record."

Mr. Fuchs suggested three amendments to the superintendent's recommendations at the April 5 meeting. Mr. Glancy commented on those at last Monday's meeting.

Mr. Fuchs first amendment was "This board will adopt the concept for zero budgeting for the '71 and '72 and all subsequent budgets."

Mr. Glancy said "this amendment which pertains to something Mr. Fuchs calls "zero budget," is a phrase I find difficult to identify with any budgetary procedures with which I am familiar. The Grosse Pointe Public School System is an ongoing business—an important part of that business is the annual process of building a budget for the ensuing year. This work usually begins about April of each year and hopefully is completed and ready for a public hearing and adoption by July or August of each year. To imply that a painstaking amount of work is not given to the preparation of that budget, to imply that careful scrutiny, consideration and documentation is not given on a line-by-line basis as that budget is created, is to do a disservice to those members of the administration charged with the responsibility of building the new budget and those members of this board who devote much effort

Challenges Statements

In reviewing the proposed new budget on a line-by-line basis before voting on approval.

Mr. Fuchs' in his written statement on his second amendment said "this system maintains more than one set of financial statements (however, according to the administration, on the tape of that meeting Mr. Fuchs said "books", not statements).

His amendment suggests the board adopt the Michigan Accounting Manual, including the revision of May '64 and all future revisions as the single and official accounting manual of the school system for '71-'72 and subsequent years.

Mr. Glancy's said "this completely false and misleading and erroneous statement was first made by Mr. Semmler when he first came on this board, who with Mr. Fuchs, offers no shred of proof for that false statement. Have you ever made a study of our bookkeeping records? Can you describe and identify the various forms of records that go to make up our single set of books? To the best of my knowledge, you have not and cannot. Then Mr. Glancy said the fact that the system had "one set of books," had been confirmed by independent source. (these confirming letters were printed in last week's NEWS).

Mr. Fuchs' third amendment was "the board should appoint an independent fiscal agent with staff reporting directly to the board to take effect at the end of the current fiscal year."

Mr. Glancy said "Mr. Fuchs' third and final amendment was contained in a pre-ished by Miglio not to open fire. Miglio dove inside the vehicle, gun in hand, and ordered Stockwell to drop his weapon.

As Miglio dove into the car and Stockwell leaped behind a tree, Winter radioed for assistance. Farms Patrolman Clarence Reichling and Shores Patrolman L. E. Frasad were dispatched by their respective stations to help. Stockwell dropped his weapon and was taken into custody by the policemen.

Chief Ferber said that Miglio recovered Stockwell's gun, a Colt government model pistol, containing a full clip of live rounds of ammunition. However, it was stated, there was no shell in the chamber, although the hammer was cocked. The gun was not registered, the chief added.

"Patrolman Miglio and Winter, under a State law, were justified to resort to serious bodily harm, including deadly force, in the circumstances they were in," Chief Ferber said. "However, at great personal risk to themselves, they chose not to and were able to arrest the man without injury to themselves, Stockwell, or several bystanders.

"The greatest service a police officer may give any community is risking his life to aid someone else. Miglio and Winter exhibited great restraint, judgment and bravery in making this arrest. I am recommending that they receive commendations of valor for a job well done."

Stockwell, the chief said, is a lucky man, in that he is still alive. If the officers had not kept their heads, and had opened fire, which they had every right to do to protect themselves, that man would possibly be dead now, he added.

The group in front of 311 Touraine, five males and two girls, ranging in age from 15 to 21 years, told police that Stockwell had threatened them, and saw he was armed, but were sure he did not point the weapon at them.

At 5 p.m. on the date of his arrests, Stockwell was brought before Farms Municipal Judge Robert Pytell, and through his attorney, Robert J. Solner, stood mute and waived examination. The judge set Wednesday, June 23, as the pre-trial date. Stockwell was released after posting $2,500 cash security bond, pending his next court appearance.

On being informed that Stockwell had fired a shotgun into the air three times, before going into his house to get the pistol, Judge Pytell ordered Solner to take custody of, and be responsible for the keeping of three shotguns owned by his client.

Rotary Club Holds Drive

The NEWS contacted the Police Chiefs of all five Pointes to get their reaction to this program. All were enthusiastic and all had consulted with Rotarians on this program.

Shores Chief Joseph Vitale said he has used this system on his own personal valuables for years, as does one of his corporals, Chester Painter. Chief Vitale said that program will be of great assistance to local police and citizens alike.

Farms Chief Robert K. Ferber said this system has even more advantages when used in Michigan than in California because Michigan drivers' license numbers never change. He added that Michigan is one of 12 states that is computerized to give this quick and efficient service. "It's one of the three best systems in the country. I think the Rotarians are doing a great service for the community with O.P."

Chief Jerard D. Kesteloot of The Park said, "The stamping and cataloging of valuable items by local citizens will not only be valuable in the identification of stolen property but will expedite the investigations of burglaries by law enforcement officers. The Rotarians are to be commended for their interest in the welfare of the citizens of their community."

City of Grosse Pointe Director of Public Safety Andrew C. Teetaert thought the plan was a good one and said it would help his department tremendously in locating owners of stolen merchandise recovered by police and eliminate the pile up of stolen, unclaimed, unidentified merchandise in the station's property room.

Director of Public Safety for Grosse Pointe Woods, Donald B. Coates said, "Anything of this nature that renders service to residents of our community is definitely a plus factor. This system will be particularly valuable in marking portable television sets, which are easily removed from homes. Rifles and shotguns too could be identified with this system, since these types Thompson, ruled Mr. Glancy out of order but Mr. Glancy continued reading his statement saying he wanted this as a matter of record. In the meantime, Mr. Sandberg realizing that Mr. Glancy was continuing despite Mrs. Thompson's admonition, tapped vigorously and persistently on the microphone in an attempt to drown out Mr. Glancy's further remarks. However, undaunted, Mr. Glancy continued. "I cannot help but feel that the Fuchs statement of April 5 will serve as a form of election platform... once again Mrs. Thompson ruled Mr. Glancy out of order and the rest of the statement could not be heard by members of the audience. However, the NEWS contacted Mr. Glancy who said his final remarks urged the community "to review the contents of those two different statements carefully in judging the qualifications of these men to continue to serve on this Board of Trustees."

Mutual Fire Aid Big Boon To Pointes, Harper Woods

By James J. Njalm

Residents of the Pointe and Harper Woods have the best fire protection, barring none, for communities of their size, through the utilization of the best fire fighting techniques and the availability of all personnel and equipment of the six departments in times of emergencies. This is the result of the Mutual Fire Aid Pact initiated and signed by the cities in the early 1950s. The Pact was devised by the fire chiefs after many months of negotiations, to give the citizens the ultimate in protection to lives and property. And, as the years passed, new and veteran firemen have been sent and are still going to schools to learn the up-to-date methods of fire fighting. New and more modern equipment has been purchased by the various departments, so that today this protection is at its peak and becoming better as time passes.

Mutual fire aid means that these communities have something to offer each other in the line of equipment and manpower. That is why residents see a number of fire trucks, bearing the name of individual cities, at the scenes of serious conflagrations. The equipment varies from aerial ladders and pumps of varied sizes, to a Snorkel (owned by the Woods), all of which operate in their unique way.

The Mutual Aid System is an asset to each of the Pointes and Harper Woods, in that it gives them big city protection at small city costs. It is interesting to note how this system works.

Each city has devised a card system, mutually agreed upon, whereby the city is divided into sections. Each card is numbered, and the cards are divided into three alarms and a fill-in, depending on the location of each community. The Police and Fire Departments of each city have copies of the others' card systems. When an alarm is received, Mutual Aid goes into effect. All fire trucks are equipped with emergency radios and all alarms are relayed over these radios. The Police Department of the city involved transmits the area card number over the Mutual Aid Radio. The card is "pulled" and any city or cities instructed by the card to answer the alarm, do so.

On arrival at the scene of the fire, the command officer in charge, if it is decided that more help is needed, radios an additional alarm, or alarms.

When this happens, the drain of protection will hit one or more of the cities responding to the alarms, and that is when the fill-in goes into effect. The numbered card instructs departments not involved to move to the unprotected cities, and to remain there until all the personnel and equipment at the conflagration return to their respective quarters.

There are cards on file on which the letter "M" follows a number. The "M" signifies multiple. By this, it is meant that certain departments respond at the same time as the department receiving the alarm. The response is automatic; no second radio call is necessary.

These cards apply to business areas, hospitals, schools, nursing homes, and other buildings or places where the public is apt to be together in large numbers.

In times of disaster or riot, all communities can call for aid from the Detroit Fire Department, and Detroit can count on the five Pointes and Harper Woods, when and if needed.

This system gives the cities a tremendous amount of protection, with as low a cost as possible to the taxpayers.

150 Dog Owners Tagged in Farm

More than 150 citizens of the approximately 300 who failed to obtain 1971 tags for their dogs, have received violation tickets, according to information released by Farms Police Chief Robert Ferber. The deadline for the licenses was May 1.

The chief said that there are about 950 dog owners in the Farms, and all had been sent cards informing them of the deadline. After that date, pet owners who failed to comply with the City Ordinance, are given a violation ticket, and must pay a fine of $2. During this week, the fine, under a new ordinance recently adopted by the city council, became $5 for the first violation.

If the owner fails to comply after the first ticket, a second violation will be issued, for which the fine is $10; and the third violation fine is $15. If these fail to stir the pet owners, a fourth violation will cost $100 and/or 30 days in jail.

Chief Ferber said that his officers are going from house to house checking to see if there are pet dogs, and if there are and the canines have no licenses, the owners will be cited as violators. He urges all citizens owning dogs, who have not yet done so obtain licenses.

The tags are purchased at the Municipal Hall, and not at the police station, the chief pointed out. Owners must submit proof that their pets have been vaccinated, and that these vaccinations are current.

He said that the tags must be good for a full calendar year, that is, from January 1 through December 31, rather than, for example, from January 1 to November 30.

The chief pointed out that under both the old and amended ordinances, all dog tags expire on December 31 of each year. Although licenses should be purchased on or before January 1, a four-month grace period is granted, which gives citizens ample time to take care of the matter.

Report Window Breaking Spree

Woods residents and visitors have been besieged by a rash of broken windows, mostly on cars and most of them occurring on Wednesday, May 5. Police suspect that the breakage in each was caused by shots from a B-B or pellet gun, possibly from a passing car.

Robert Sell, 19687 E. Kings court, called police to report the breaking of his front room window sometime between Wednesday, at 7 p.m. and the next morning just before 7. The five by six foot window had a small hole punctured in the center.

Mary Paone, 23316 Edsel Ford, in St. Clair Shores, reported the front left window of her car was shattered while the car was parked in front of 567 Robert John Wednesday evening.

Another car owned by David Gracey, in Detroit, was found to have its left window also shot through. Gracey discovered the damage around 8:50 Wednesday night while his car was parked in front of 1155 Hampton.

Mrs. Charles Begeman, 879 Hampton, stopped a Woods patrol car a few minutes before 9 p.m. Wednesday to show the patrolman the broken window on the left side of her car. The car had been parked in front of the home for less than an hour.

Woods police received a report Monday, May 3, from Susan Kadluboski, of Detroit, of the breaking of the rear left window of her VW while it was parked in front of 1850 Bourne-mouth.

Also, the rear window of a car parked in the drive of 19283 Raymond court had its left rear window shattered sometime between 10 p.m. Monday, May 3, and 8 a.m. Tuesday.

Catches Suspect In Tire Thefts

A St. Clair Shores resident has been arrested for an offense that is proving to be a real problem for many residents in The Pointe, especially the ones who own station wagons: tire and wheel thefts.

Steve McClear, 20, 23125 Socia, St. Clair Shores, was arraigned Wednesday, May 12, on a charge of committing larceny from an auto, and taken down to the Wayne County jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Shores police were first alerted to McClear Sunday, May 9, when they received a call from a resident reporting that as he was driving down Woodland Shore drive at 1:30 a.m., he saw three youths involved in a theft of a spare tire of one of the cars parked in a drive in Woodland. After one of the culprits placed the tire in their car and drove off, the duty-conscious resident took up chase.

Following the car down Lake Shore, he managed to get the license number and get a look at the driver as he pulled up alongside. The driver was identified in a line-up as McClear.

When City police heard that Shores police were interested in McClear's car as possibly

The license number obtained by the would-be victim was the same as McClear's. The examination for McClear was set for yesterday, May 19.

Obituaries

LOUIS R. MAXON
Funeral services for Louis Russell Maxon, of Lakeland avenue, Pointe advertising giant and philanthropist, were held on Wednesday, May 19, in St. James Lutheran Church. He died on Saturday, May 15, in St. John Hospital. He learned his father's trade, that of a mill mechanic, as a child in the isolated lumber town of Onaway, Mich. He came to Detroit at the age of 14. He worked for a number of small Detroit area newspapers. By the time he was 17, he was editor of the Highland Park News. Born in Marietta, Ohio, Mr. Maxon organized Maxon, Inc., when he was 27 years of age. He built it into a multi-million dollar rival of New York's most prestigious advertising agencies. The firm was disbanded shortly after his retirement eight years ago. His ties with Onaway were so strong that he returned to build a luxury summer home there.

During the depression, when Onaway could not afford to keep 110 families on welfare, he paid all their grocery bills. He bought uniforms and instruments for the high school band and paid the bills for the school's hot lunch program. On many July Fourths, he provided ice cream cones for all Onaway children. He married his second wife, Ruth Wold, in 1946. She had been his secretary. Besides his wife he is survived by two daughters, Ruth Bryn and Mrs. Marjorie Ware; three sons, Lou A., Alin A. and Frank D. and four grandchildren.

Interment was in Onaway. Memorial tributes may be made to Bon Secours Hospital.

JACOB P. VOIGHT
Funeral services for Mr. Mr. Voight, 83, of 19956 East Emory court, were held on Saturday, May 15, in the A. H. Peters Funeral Home and from St. Joan of Arc Church. He died on Wednesday, May 12, in Memorial Hospital, Warren. Born in Germany, Mr.

Voight was the husband of the late Helen. He is survived by a son, George; a daughter, Adele; five grandchildren; six great-grand children; two brothers, John, and Charles Henning; two sisters, Mrs. Celia Przytulaki and Mrs. Katherine T. Opolowski. Mr. Voight worked for the state of Michigan in the maintenance department before his retirement. Interment was in Holy Cross Cemetery.

BERNARD L. KILBRIDE
Funeral services for Mr. Kilbride, 83, of 887 Anita avenue, were held on Saturday, May 15, in the A. H. Peters Funeral Home and from St. Joan of Arc Church. He died on Thursday, May 13, in St. John Hospital.

Mr. Kilbride was born in Athy, Ireland and lived in The Pointe for over 46 years. He was active in the Catholic Youth Organization, the St. Vincent de Paul Society and the Knights of Columbus. He came to this country in 1911 to find employment as an accountant with the telephone company in Chicago. The company was decentralizing in those days, so Mr. Kilbride was sent to Detroit in 1914 to set up business offices here. He married Lillian E. Loranger on January 12, 1916. In that year, he began his long association with John King (Kunsky), President Kunsky-Trendle Theatres. His business association with Mr. King continued until the latter's death in 1952.

Mr. Kilbride started his own theater business in 1932 when he bought the Strand Theater. Over the next 16 years he acquired four other theaters, The Alhambra, Beverly, Dawn and Globe. The Alhambra, still standing, is the oldest neighborhood theater in Detroit. Mr. Kilbride sold the theaters in the late 1950's and became a real estate broker. He continued in the commercial real estate business until his retirement in 1969 at the age of 81.

He was honored by the CYO in 1965 after a quarter century of active service serving as president, treasurer and assistant treasurer of the Board of Directors during the 25 years. A new recreation center at the CYO girls camp was dedicated to him. Mr. Kilbride was the driving force behind the establishment of the highly successful CYO camps, one for boys and one for girls, on the shores of Lake Huron. He became involved in the CYO camps in the late 1930's when the late Cardinal Mooney directed the organization to explore the possibility of creating such camps. The Board of Directors named Kilbride chairman of its new camp committee. Some 25,000 youngsters enjoyed the fun at the camps in the first 20 years.

Mr. Kilbride was awarded the Catholic Youth Organization "Joe Glaser Award" on March 24, 1968, for his long and meritorious service as a member of the board. The award was presented by the then Mayor Jerome Cavanagh at a ceremony at Mercy College.

The Kilbrides were members of St. Ambrose parish for 26 years (1923-1949) and are presently members of St. Joan of Arc parish. Surviving Mr. Kilbride are his wife, Lillian, four sons, Bernard L. Jr., Thomas J., Paul V. and Terence K.; six daughters, Mrs. Kathleen Disher, Mrs. Jane Courteville, Mrs. Muriel Conlan, Mrs. Margaret Fausone, Mrs. Pauline Diederich and Mrs. Shirley Dolan; 47 grandchildren; six great-grandchildren; a brother and two sisters. Interment was in Holy Sepulchre.

Fence Addition Sought by Club

Because of an extremely high rate of vandalism on the grounds and property of the Lochmoor Club, 1018 Sunningdale, club representatives have asked the Woods for permission to put up a three-foot extension on the fence surrounding the golf course. There is a chance that there may be an additional barbed wire structure on top of that.

Clarence Bessert, director of the club, had asked the council for the variance on May 3 and the council scheduled the public hearing for the proposal at their rescheduled meeting of Friday, May 14.

After some discussion, the matter was tabled until the regular meeting of Monday, June 7, to allow the city time to notify each of the residents living adjacent to the golf course of the proposal by mail. At the meeting of May 14, a club representative told the council that beer cans and refuse are constantly being found on the golf course grounds and that vandalism is occurring much more frequently.

He said that when thieves started to take the flags from the golf greens, the club put up flags without any numbers in hopes that the souvenirs would lose their attractiveness. The flags continued to disappear, he said.

Councilman Kenneth Boerner suggested that instead of putting up a barbed wire addition, the club might consider just three wires running across the extension. The barbed wire addition would add an extra 18 inches to the three-foot fence extension, but the wire would lean in towards the golf course, raising the total height approximately eight to 12 inches. Calling the vandalism a "constant nuisance factor" Councilman Marvin Boutin voiced approval to the extra fencing request. The public hearing on the situation was expressly for the fence extension and not the barbed wire top. The club, however, said they need permission to put up the barbed wire if the extension is going to have any effectiveness. The reasoning is that any person climbing into the golf course will not be able to get out.

Councilman William Huettman said that he has long opposed any addition to the fence that would make it look like a "concentration camp." He said, however, that he would

Tuition for middle school and high school courses of two hours' duration has been set at $35, with the charge for a four-hour course of $70.

The elementary program will be housed at Kerby School, 285 Kerby road, while the middle school and high school classes will be conducted at North High School, 707 Vernier road.

Elementary activities for review and strengthening include workshops in arithmetic and reading and a course in language skills.

The computer mathematics course, for youngsters who have finished grades 5 and 6, will be taught at North High School.

The middle school program includes review courses in reading, language, and arithmetic. Enrichment classes are scheduled in typing, sewing, art, computer mathematics, science and pre-algebra.

Review courses at the high school level provide 10 hours of make-up credit for failures in English, reading, languages, mathematics, and history.

Again this year an independent study program will be offered to qualified high school students in any subject area represented in the summer school curriculum.

Information on the senior high summer program may be obtained at 886-8100.

In addition to the academic offerings, the summer basketball program will also be conducted in cooperation with the schools' Department of Community Services.

The Department of Pupil Personnel will once again conduct a Pre-School Speech and Language Development Program at Monteith School between June 21 and July 30.

Fire at Helms Home Is Costly

A fire that apparently started from a frayed lamp cord in an upstairs bedroom at the Richard Helms residence, 608 Lakeland on Saturday, May 15, resulted in well over $5,000 damage according to City Fire Captain Robert Marshall.

City firefighters responded to the call at 6:27 p.m. On arrival, they entered the second floor and found it filled with smoke. The left front bedroom was in flames.

A second alarm was sent out and City of Grosse Pointe Farms and Park firemen responded and assisted with ventilation and overhaul procedures.

Four city on-duty firefighters, two off-duty officers, Captain Marshall, City Manager Thomas Kressbach and Director of Public Safety Andrew C. Teetaert all were at the scene within minutes.

The blaze was extinguished within 40 minutes and cleanup operations finished within an hour.

Stolen Tool Box Found in Lake

A tool box, the total contents of which were priced at several hundred dollars, was found in Lake St. Clair with a line attached to it after it was reported stolen Wednesday, May 5.

Robert Benkert, 40 Willow Tree place, reported to Shores police that he found his repair box missing from his sailboat trailer. The tool box, containing items worth a total of $300, had been bolted to the boat trailer.

The next day, a Grosse Pointe Yacht Club employee spotted a line attached to the south wall of the docking area. His curiosity aroused, he went over to pull it up and found the tool box on the end of it.

The world changes so fast that a man couldn't be wrong all the time even if he tried.

Most automobile makers would like you to visit the showroom. Mercedes-Benz would rather you visit the factory.

Almost any automobile can be made to look good in the showroom. Sloppy workmanship and production shortcuts are easily glossed over amid a barrage of adjectives and the glitter of neon lights. But you can't hide anything in the factory. It's as revealing as inspecting the kitchen of a restaurant. That's why, at Mercedes-Benz, we wish everyone could visit our factory before they visit our showroom. Here are some of the things you'd discover. Some quaint notions. The work areas are clean and bright. The atmosphere orderly and unhurried. More like an Old World Guild Shop than a typical automobile factory. While some brag about assembly lines that build 100 cars an hour, we boast of building 30. We take six weeks to craft our 600 model. And we have some refreshingly quaint notions about how automobiles should be built. In our upholstery shop, over 100 former dressmakers cut, stitch and tailor each interior with the care that goes into a designer's original. A luxury to some makers, an inch of rubberized padding and 16 man-hours go into every convertible top. That's longer than it takes most manufacturers to assemble an entire convertible. Expensive? Of course. But the top of a Mercedes-Benz convertible will never billow or flutter. And it muffles road noise better than most hardtops. Cabinetmakers, not chemists. We have still another old-fashioned idea. It concerns the wood trim that goes into our automobiles. We think it should come from a tree. Not a plastic mold. So instead of chemists we have cabinetmakers. They take hours to select and match grains; highlight and accent the wood's character with artist's brushes and stain, protect its beauty with five coats of varnish; then polish it with oil and pumice. When time permits they use their cabinetmaking skills to build furniture for our executive offices. Minutes, not seconds. Even the assembly lines reflect this pace. Cars crawl along while workers spend minutes, not seconds, on their specialty. You'd find craftsmen filing, grinding, and smoothing a single roof seam for 15 minutes or more. Solidifying the body into a single rattle-thwarting unit with 8,000 to 10,000 welds. And patiently fitting doors, hoods and trunk lids to a tolerance that cannot vary more than one millimeter. A blow to time and motion experts. But a boon to some appreciative owner. If it might rust, paint it. You can't fully appreciate the 44 pounds of rust protection we apply to every car until you've exposed your Mercedes-Benz to the slush and salt of several winters. But in our factory you could begin to understand why it will resist the ravages of corrosion. You'd see workers swabbing zinc oxide paint on the back side of body panels before they are welded airtight. Spraying the underside with a resilient armor that actually "heals" itself when struck with a stone. Hand painting the front of the car with an extra coat of specially formulated enamel designed to shrug off gravel. Even the insides of the bumpers get a protective coat of paint. The car rejects 1 in 10. Wending your way through the factory, you'd notice a curious mix in our labor force. One of every ten workers is an inspector. Inspectors check vital welds by pounding away at them with a hammer and chisel. A skill so demanding they're sent back to school twice each year. Inspectors with white gauze mittens painstakingly feel every inch of the unfinished body. Because the hand is better than the eye in detecting minute burrs and ripples. And after inspectors subject rear axles to 55 mechanical and electronic checks, some to tolerances as fine as 8/10,000 of an inch, one in ten is rejected by an amazing device called the human ear. "A small basket for waste" But in checking disc brakes, our distrust goes largely unrewarded. The machines that produce the discs are adjusted after every 40 pieces. An electronic inspector measures five critical dimensions on every disc they make. A production supervisor manually re-checks the dimensions on every fifth one. And a quality controller must personally take every disc from the end of the line. Yet after all this, only one disc in a thousand fails to meet our exacting standards. As an experienced controller once told a visitor, "We have only a very small basket for waste." One man decides. But after passing thousands of quality control checks, it all comes down to one man. A sort of "ultimate inspector." He spends at least 20 minutes with each car as the world's fussiest critic. Feeling, checking and testing anything he suspects. No car can leave the factory without his approval, which he signifies by affixing a signature to the windshield. The traditional signature of Gottlieb Daimler. Only then is it ready for your approval in the showroom.

The mark of final approval is the same as it was in 1886. The signature of Gottlieb Daimler.

Fireboat Gives Skippers Peace

Spring is here and an increasing number of boats are beginning to show up at the municipal piers to be moored for the summer boating season. One of the boats being launched and readied is of prime importance to the peace of mind of all Pointe skippers. This is the relatively new fireboat supplied and staffed by Grosse Pointe Yacht Club and Shores officials.

The boat, christened last August, had originally been used as a multi-purpose service boat by the yacht club for its members. The Shores, seeing the need for more adequate fire protection than land locked facilities for the boats in the joint harbor, made an arrangement with the yacht club. The agreement was that the yacht club would supply the $4,000 craft and the municipality would finance the firefighting equipment to convert it to a fireboat.

The 31-foot boat was outfitted with $2,500 worth of equipment, including three hoses, the largest a two-inch, with a total output of 400 gallons a minute.

New this spring for the skiff is a foam-generating conductor which can be attached to one of the hoses. The main advantage of the foam is that it can't sink a boat. The anywhere from two to five men operating the craft will be able to fill the average boat with suds in two minutes flat. Sergeant Charles Wenrich, in charge of the whole operation, says that the stuff is non-corrosive, easily removed, and not damaging to the boats.

Boaters at the other municipal parks can also rest easier. Yacht club and Shores officials report that the boat's services are available to any other nearby harbor that may find a need.

FLEC Offering New Programs

The Family Life Education Council (FLEC) has had such a wonderful response from community members on its activities aimed at strengthening the family unit that it has announced three additional free programs.

The first is directed toward any community organization interested in learning more about Center Pointe, located on Notre Dame and Kercheval. FLEC's drop-in center for young adults. Four members of the staff, all young adults, will be happy to address any organization on the purposes and on-going programs held at the center. Arrangements for speakers may be made by calling the FLEC office, 885-3510 or writing FLEC, 19535 Mack avenue 48236.

The second offering is an adult volunteer training course, open to anyone in the community who wishes to devote some of his spare hours in volunteer work at the center. Leading the sessions will be Ted Schmidt, coordinator of Center Pointe. This course will begin on Tuesday, May 25, at 7:30 in the evening and be offered for four consecutive weeks.

The third program, "Your Children, Drugs and Summer," began last evening, Wednesday, May 19, and will be offered for three consecutive Wednesdays at 8 p.m. at the Board of Education office, 389 St. Clair avenue. Ted Schmidt and Lew Kirchner, who was instrumental in organizing "The Listening Bar," a hot line and counseling service at Central Michigan University, will be the instructors.

The first session was devoted to an introduction to the course, a look at "street drugs," the availability of drugs to the youth of the community and the age group we are dealing with in the drug problem.

The second session will view the drug problem through the eyes of law enforcement officers and feature a display of drugs from marijuana to LSD.

The third meeting will view the drug problem through the eyes of a doctor and the fourth session through the eyes of a psychiatrist.

Anyone wishing further information on these programs should call the FLEC office, 885-3510.

Enforces Old Rubbish Law

By Greg Boyd

Sunday, May 1, the Woods started enforcing a law that has been on the books for about three years without the city taking action.

The law, regarding rubbish pick-up for residents, says that violators can be ticketed if they don't comply with the time restrictions for setting their trash out on the street. Up until the beginning of this month, the city has only been issuing warning notices.

"Some residents have been given as many as 10 warning slips so far this year," says City Manager Chester Petersen. "Violations of this nature seem to increase every Spring."

The ordinance states that residents may not put their rubbish out on the street prior to 5 p.m. the day before the collection is due for their respective homes. The ordinance was first placed on the books by the council along with the law requiring residents to place all their trash in plastic bags.

The change came about when the city first began to receive complaints of several homeowners putting out the garbage as many as two or three days before the pick-up creating unsightliness and increasing the chance of blowing trash around the neighborhood.

May Join Fight On Phone Rates

Another rate increase may be in the making for Pointe residents and municipalities by Michigan Bell Telephone unless the Michigan Public Service Commission decides otherwise.

Pointe councilmen are presently being notified of a proposed rate increase for additional revenue for Michigan Bell in the amount of $59,663,000 including immediate "relief" of $19,854,000.

At the regular, re-scheduled Woods council meeting of Friday, May 14, Councilman Kenneth Boerner wondered if it would "pay us to put on the boxing gloves" to fight the proposed increase at the two scheduled public hearings. Boerner said that the utility companies seem to obtain their rate increases regardless of whether or not the respective city attorneys voice opposition at the hearings.

City Attorney George Catlin stated that they should have representation at each public meeting or they'll find themselves with no standing at all if the utility company increases its rates in a sub-category most important to the municipalities.

The commission has scheduled two hearings for the general public or any interested persons. The first is set for 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, May 26, in the Detroit City-County building. The second is slated for 9:30 a.m., Monday, June 14.

GROSSE POINTE CITY MAJORS

Dodgers vs. Cards, May 11: Dodger starter, Tom Birk, and reliefer, Jeff Palms, allowed the Cardinals only seven hits and four runs as their team over-powered the Cards 14-4. The Cards starter was Doug Skipp, who allowed 15 hits and 14 runs in a losing effort.

The Dodgers jumped on Skip in the bottom of the first for five runs. Dave Evenden led off with a single, followed by hits from John Cantwell, Tony Montague, a walk to Tom Birk and Larry Coughlin's sharp single to right to account for the Dodgers five runs. The Cards came back with two runs in the second on singles by Leon Bloodell and little George Conway; plus walks to Haak Peabody and Chris Pollard.

The Dodgers came back in the bottom of the second with three more runs. The Dodgers wrapped the game up in the bottom of the fifth by scoring five runs on seven hits. Tom Birk led off with a single. He scored on Larry Coughlin's double. After two strike-outs the Dodgers had five straight hits by Evenden, Jeff Palms, Rocky O'Hare, John Cantwell, and Tony Montague.

Dave Evenden and John Cantwell lead the Dodgers with three hits each. Cardinal shortstop Trip Maghiese had a perfect day with three, as did Chris Pollard with two for two.

Dodgers vs. Braves, May 12 —The Dodgers shut out the defending champion Braves 8-0. Dodger pitcher, John Cantwell, almost had his second consecutive no hitter but the Braves pitcher, Tom Lott doubled in the fourth for the only Brave hit. The only other Brave to reach base was Mike Martinez who had a hit on error.

Besides allowing only one hit, John Cantwell struck out 16 Brave batters and didn't allow a walk. The Dodgers scored in the top of the third on Dave Evenden's lead off single, followed by two outs, then John Cantwell hit a long double, scoring the first run. Catcher Tony Montague followed with a sharp single, scoring Cantwell. The Dodgers scored three more runs in the fourth on three walks, two errors and a double by Evenden.

In the fifth Dodger bats exploded with a lead off homer by Tony Montague. This was followed by hits by Tom Birk, Dave Evenden, Jeff Palms and a walk to Mark Allen accounting for three more runs. With this win the Dodgers are now in first place along with a 4-1 record.

Behind the three hit pitching of Pete Coles the Cubs were 9 to 0 winners over the Cards Thursday May 13. The Cubs' hitting attack was led by Tim Lane, John Fitzgerald, Tim Hurley, Mark Ulmer and John Beebe with two hits apiece. Sharing the Cards pitching were Tom Conway, Henry Peabody and Dan Gorenflo. Conway had two doubles and Chris Pollard a single. Gorenflo and Paul Maghiese did the Cards' catching.

The Cubs are now tied with the Braves for second place, one game behind the league leading Dodgers.

On Monday, May 10, the Cubs defeated the Braves, 6 to 3. pitcher with John Fitzgerald catching. Duncan MacEachern

Where there's a Will there's a way.

Caesar was a very busy man, conquered most of the civilized world and built one of its greatest empires. But even he took time out to make a Will.

And, when Marc Antony (perhaps the world's most famous estate administrator) announced to "friends, Romans, countrymen" that the Emperor had bequeathed 75 drachmas to each of them they knew the greatest Roman of them all had not forgotten.

Our advice: Find the time this week to finalize that Will you've been putting off. Call on Detroit Bank & Trust. Our trust specialists will work hand in hand with you and your attorney. Together we can design a trust plan that can benefit you and your heirs now and in the future. If you'd like your family to think of you as the greatest of them all.

Devils Suffering Batting Slump

By Craig Dooms

Suffering through their worst hitting slump of the season, the Blue Devil nine dropped all three of their ball games last week against Monroe, Wyandotte and Grosse Pointe North. The Devils only managed to score two runs in the three contests.

Tom Dufour was the first South hurler to feel the hitting inadequacies, as he lost to Monroe 1-0. Outfielder Bruce Kaslitz was the only Devil hitter to show authority against the Monroe pitching. Kaslitz stroked two of the five Grosse Pointe hits.

The closest the Devils could come to scoring was in the first inning when Mark Gutwald singled after one was out. He advanced to third on an infield out, but was left stranded when the next batter fanned. Altogether the Devils left six men stranded on base.

Dufour valiantly attempted to pitch over the lack of offensive support, but his one-run pitching performance wasn't enough. The only Monroe score of the game came in the fourth when a double, a single, and a sacrifice fly ruined Dufour's bid for a shutout. His pitching record is now a deceiving 1-4.

It was another one run loss for the Devils against Wyandotte as the Bears squeaked by 2-1. Bill Kendall's strong pitching exhibition went down the drain as the South hitters collected just four hits to go with their five strikeouts. Kendall struck out seven, walked only one, and yielded one earned run, a home run in the sixth. The other Wyandotte score came on a Devil fielding miscue.

The only South run of the game can be credited to the hustle of Mark Saber. Saber opened the sixth inning with a base hit. He stole second and scored on a short outfield single by Gutwald when he beat the throw to the plate.

The game with North was possibly the worst of the season for the Devils as they were drubbed 9-1. Fielding blunders hurt South as six errors figured into all nine North scores. The Devil hitting attack was the weakest of the season as a meager three hits were posted.

For the first time this year three South pitchers went to the hill. Fred Robu started the game and lasted for six innings. He was relieved by Mark Kemp in the seventh who was bounced after a third of an inning. Jim Stevens finished up the game for the Devils.

South was in the game right up until the final inning when North cashed in on four South errors and three hits. Bill Eppinga drove in the only South run in the first inning with a single.

The Devils will try and right their wrongs this week when they take on Highland Park and Royal Oak Dondero.

Second Tennis Clinic to Open

Due to the great demand for tennis instruction the Neighborhood Club is going to open an additional clinic at Grosse Pointe North.

This clinic will also be headed by Miss Stephanie Prychitko and will be held from June 28 to July 30, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

At 9 a.m., boys and girls, ages 9 and 10, will play at 10 a.m., boys and girls, ages 11 and 12, are scheduled, and at 11 a.m., boys and girls, ages 13 through 16, will play. The cost will be $5 for the clinic plus a $5 membership fee in the club. If the youngster is already a member for the 1971 season only the $5 fee is required.

Those interested may register in person at the Neighborhood Club or, if by mail, enclose name, age and a check for fees. A membership card and registration for the clinic is available at the club.

Those already signed up for a clinic at Grosse Pointe South will not be allowed to change location.

If the North clinic is successful, it may be expanded to include adult instruction in 1972.

Junior Tennis Tournament Scheduled June 12 and 13

By Greg Boyd

In an effort to provide an outlet for all Pointe youngsters and eventually adults in sanctioned tennis competition, a group just recently formed has laid the groundwork with the Grosse Pointe Jaycees for their first tennis tournament this summer.

The group, known as the East Side Tennis Club, established itself after interest was shown in The Pointe for some kind of tennis association in Grosse Pointe to sponsor its players in official competition. So the Jaycees and the Tennis Club have joined together to bring to The Pointe a Junior Center Tournament for Saturday and Sunday, June 12 and 13.

The tournament will be officially sanctioned by the United States Lawn Tennis Association and USLTA medals will be distributed to the winners plus points will be tallied toward local, regional and state rankings. The winners in each age category will be advanced to competition at the Michigan Jaycee Tennis Tournament in Jackson June 26 and 27.

The age groups for the singles competition will be for boys and girls 12 and under, 14 and under, 16 and under, and 18 and under. In the doubles competition players will compete in the 14 and under, 16 and under, and 18 and under categories. The age category for each player will be determined by their age as of January 1, 1972.

The courts at North High and all the courts at South High and the Neighborhood Club will be used. Each event must have at least eight entrants. Play at the tourney will be continuous and there will be a 15 minute default period.

All the participants must be members of the United States Lawn Tennis Association. Those whose cards have expired or never obtained one may buy one for $2 at the tournament from a Southeastern Michigan Tennis Association representative.

Entry blanks for the tournament may be picked up at the Neighborhood Club, 17150 Waterloo; Ray Senkowski's Tennis Shop, 19271 Mack; or at Gray's Sport Shop, 106 Kercheval. Applications may also be ordered through the mail by writing to the Neighborhood Club or Kirk Leighton/George Black, c/o 4060 Beaconsfield, Grosse Pointe Park, Mich., 48230.

Entries must be in by June 6 and should be accompanied by a check made out to the Neighborhood Club. The entry fee is $1.50 for the singles competition and $2 a team for the doubles. Entrants will be notified of their courts and starting times by June 10.

D'you Know That?

By Paul Schweitzer

According to the dictionary, the word CROOK has two meanings. One is defined as the "Twisted part of a thing," the other as, "Any one of the criminal class—a swindler."

The latter definition comes to us from a word coined by the Chicago Tribune in 1879. It was meant to compare a criminal to the links of twisted rail-fences, popular at that time. Since a criminal did not "follow the straight and narrow path" he was then branded "CROOKED."

The term caught on, but the meaning escaped us. Today we straighten out crooks by just letting them be. When they get rich enough — they'll straighten out on their own.

The best way to be sure of really dependable Real Estate service is to head straight for our door. Make a note of our two locations:

What Goes On at Your Library
 By Virginia Leonard

Two weeks ago, I wrote a column about the Park Branch Library, and now we give equal time to the Woods Branch, our bustling agency located in a wing of the Parcels School, at the corner of Vernier and Mack.

As you enter the building, you are greeted with a cheery display on gardening. "How Does Your Garden Grow?" is the caption, and in the case you will find books on gardening, a rake, shovel and hoe (Junior size), seeds, flower pots and daisies. As you enter the library, there is a bright, happy atmosphere noticeable almost immediately. And there are other displays, such as Audio Visual, (records and tapes), just to the right of the main desk. The public catalog also greets you, with one new cabinet recently added, to attest to the growth of this Branch.

On the Adult side of the room there is another display entitled: "Step Up to a Good Book" which zeroes in on non-fiction. Someone located a few paper footstools and these have been cleverly used on the poster. On the other side one is reminded of mysteries, which are labeled: "The Cat Creeps."

As at the other two agencies, Woods Branch also has a rack of paperbacks, with many new copies recently purchased. The Reference Collection is on the extreme left; there are separate collections of Young Adult, (fiction only), Science Fiction and Westerns. Other standard equipment includes the atlas case, the pamphlet file, (including careers), some Princeton files, and a Coronast.

The periodicals are tastefully displayed on the right of the charging desk, with business magazines and services located separately nearby. Close to this area is a truck containing travel books, and these must be constantly renewed.

In the Children's Department of the library, there is a section labeled "Remember the Old Favorites" and "Getting to Know You." The latter deals with material on various countries. There are also children's paperbacks on a separate rack. Over the Children's desk hangs a most delightful and unusual mobile, put there by Miss Paula Preuthun, the children's librarian, and originating in Denmark but purchased by Miss Preuthun in Bermuda.

Now as to the Staff of this Branch. Mrs. Betty Seifert is the Branch Librarian, and, in addition to being a very efficient librarian, she is interested in bridge, travel and reading mysteries and current literature. Mrs. Colleen Smith, a professional assistant (who always radiates warmth and cheeriness) is also interested in bridge and prefers Colorado to any other state in the Union. Miss Paula Preuthun, our children's librarian has, I think, traveled to almost every corner of the globe, but her main interest, I suspect, is children.

Mrs. Beulah York, Chief Circulation Clerk, has a great interest in rocks, Lake O'Hara and photography. (I somehow always visualize her with a camera in her hand). The other two Circulation Clerks are Mrs. Yvonne Maxon, (who claims her main penchant is her grandson, gardening, travel and golf—and undoubtedly in that order!), and Mrs. Helen Doherty, (who also leans toward grandchildren and gardening, but who also likes to read cookbooks).

When I went out to interview the personnel of this Branch and see its many facets of importance to you, the patron, I was intrigued by a few stories they had to tell. For example, they mentioned the man who ran in one day with "crisis" written on his face, asking desperately for a recipe for dandelion wine! Another emergency was a man who had a deer hanging in his garage and had to have a recipe on how to dress such an animal! They claim that one lady keeps coming in and asking plaintively: "What is that category I like so well?" (At least, I would say she is beginning to learn something about the arrangement of this library!) And finally, there is the story of the Junior High youngster who wanted some materials on "Adams." A searching in the public catalog finally brought to light the fact that it was not the Adams family that was in question; rather, he wanted something on "atoms."

I think it is well to keep in mind always that we have two fine branches at your disposal, in addition to the Central Library. If you live near one of them, we feel it might be worth your while to use their services; it might sometimes be more convenient than coming down to our Central Agency.

Public Schools in Focus
 By Dr. Theos. I. Anderson, Superintendent of Public Schools

Our mounting concern over the future of public education stems from our recent experience locally of being forced to reduce staff as a result of the March 15 millage defeat, but also from legislative proposals and news of pending bills which reach us daily.

Here in Grosse Pointe the erosion of the staff of the public schools and libraries is becoming a matter of concern about which responsible citizens must soon take concerted action. Over the last two years our school system has reduced its administrative force by 20 percent (12 percent for 1970-71 and 8 percent for the next year), its teaching force by 17 1/2 percent (4 1/2 percent last year and 13 percent this year), its plant personnel staff by 8 1/2 percent and its office force by 10 percent over the same two-year period.

Last year we curtailed expenditures amounting to $727,000 proposed for 1970-71 and as a result of the March 15 millage defeat, we are again forced to cut staff and program - this time to the extent of $1,400,000 projected for the coming year.

Readers are fully aware that if subsection 6 of section 8 b of Public Act 100 had not been amended, the public schools and libraries in Grosse Pointe would have had to cut expenditures proposed for the staff and program for 1971-72 by approximately $1 million between April 8 and April 18 of this year. As we said when the law was changed, we felt sure that the principle of limitation would reappear. Proponents of such a position are again making noises at the same time talking about the importance of "local control!"

No matter where the cuts originate - whether through millage defeats or legislative action, staff reduction cannot result in anything but a less effective educational program for our youngsters.

Currently we are virtually inundated by legislative "position papers" from various sources. How these will be translated into legislative bills is anyone's guess.

These statements are a reaction to the April 12 statement by Governor Milliken, "Excellence in Education - Equity in Taxation." What will be the eventual outcome of the Governor's proposal to substitute a personal income tax and a value-added tax for the property tax in order to "assure that revenues for educational finance will grow more in line with needs?"

The Governmental Affairs Committee of the Michigan Association of School Administrators has written that it is opposed to the Governor's position of waiting until the end of the year to find new sources of revenue. It urges action by July 1. Further, that group does not agree that the school property tax should be reduced to zero mills. It is their opinion that at least a portion of the property tax base must continue as a stable source of revenue. The Committee agrees, however, that heavier reliance should be placed on income tax.

All citizens are urged to take an interest in legislative proposals affecting public education and of operations projects.

For next year, non-teaching areas have been slashed as deeply as wisdom could possibly permit. For example, three administrative assignments are being eliminated from a school system where the ratio of students to administrators is already very high. Consideration was given to one more administrative reduction; but this was vehemently opposed by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, our accrediting agency.

A letter was sent to each teacher and public librarian in the system last month explaining in detail the Board's cuts in every item of the budget prior to establishing staff reductions. This letter, detailing reductions in such areas as instructional supplies, school libraries, the extra-curricular program, equipment repair and replacement and building maintenance can be made available to your readers if you desire it.

While it has only indirect relation to the letter in last week's News, today the Board received a note stating, "Although I know that our school system supports the tenure system it would do much greater service supporting teachers of high character and ability." Tenure is not a matter of choice; it is the law. The State Teacher Tenure Act makes almost impossible the exercising of judgmental decisions as to which teachers most deserve to be retained. Each department in the school system will suffer a share of the reductions; in most cases these are probationary teachers (those with less than two years' service).

It will be very helpful if students, and all those persons who share with us the tragedy of losing many wonderful teachers, will understand that the cuts in staff were no whim of the Board of Education. They resulted from a difficult decision made in light of the dollars available to meet next year's payroll. It should be hoped that we share with the administrators some understanding that, of all the com-

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:
 Last week's News carried a letter from a student at North High School concerning "the elimination of 101 staff positions from the Grosse Pointe public schools for next year. The questions it poses are similar to those raised in several letters I have received recently as president of the Board of Education.

Although the News has performed exemplary service in covering in detail the reasons for the staff reductions, perhaps it would be useful to some of your readers to review them briefly.

Nothing could be further from the truth than to suggest that the Board of Education is unaware that to do without 101 staff members will be a severe blow to quality education. Teaching salaries are by far the largest item in a school budget, so it follows that cuts in classroom personnel will be substantial when a reduced budget is called for.

The Board of Education, following careful estimating of next year's needs by Dr. Anderson and his staff, requested of the community a reasonable millage in a referendum held on March 15. This was defeated by the voters; since there were only 6,323 yes votes cast, it is obvious that not even the parent group gave full support.

Both Michigan law and responsible trusteeship require that we balance our budget before approving it. While over 80 percent of the money to operate our schools comes from Grosse Pointe property taxes, we do count on something from the state. Because of the business crisis this year, the state has suffered tax losses and could not meet its commitments to schools (and to other departments) this year. The Governor's budget promises a cut for next year of about $1,000,000 to the Grosse Pointe public schools. That figure buys a lot of teachers.

These cuts in state aid made the millage defeat all the more tragic. Last year's millage losses caused severe curtailment of administration and supervision, classroom program,

To The Editor:
 This letter is directed specifically at the Farms and Shores police chiefs, but I feel that other people have had the same feelings I do about this matter.

Recently I was relaxing, reading, and trying to sketch by the lake on Lake Shore, when a policeman told me to leave, which I did. I am not angry at the policeman for doing his duty, but I am angry at the law prohibiting people to relax there.

I realize why the "no swimming" sign is there, and I can somewhat understand the "no fishing" and "no completely understanding" and "no picnicking," but what I cannot understand is why a person cannot relax, read, or sketch there. I realize we have our parks, with large empty areas, but none of them has nearly the same view as is found on Lake Shore for about five miles.

If a person is not allowed to relax here and enjoy the scenery and sun, then why are people allowed to walk dogs, ride bicycles, or jog along here? City life is almost getting to the point where relaxing is only allowed in private, if even there.

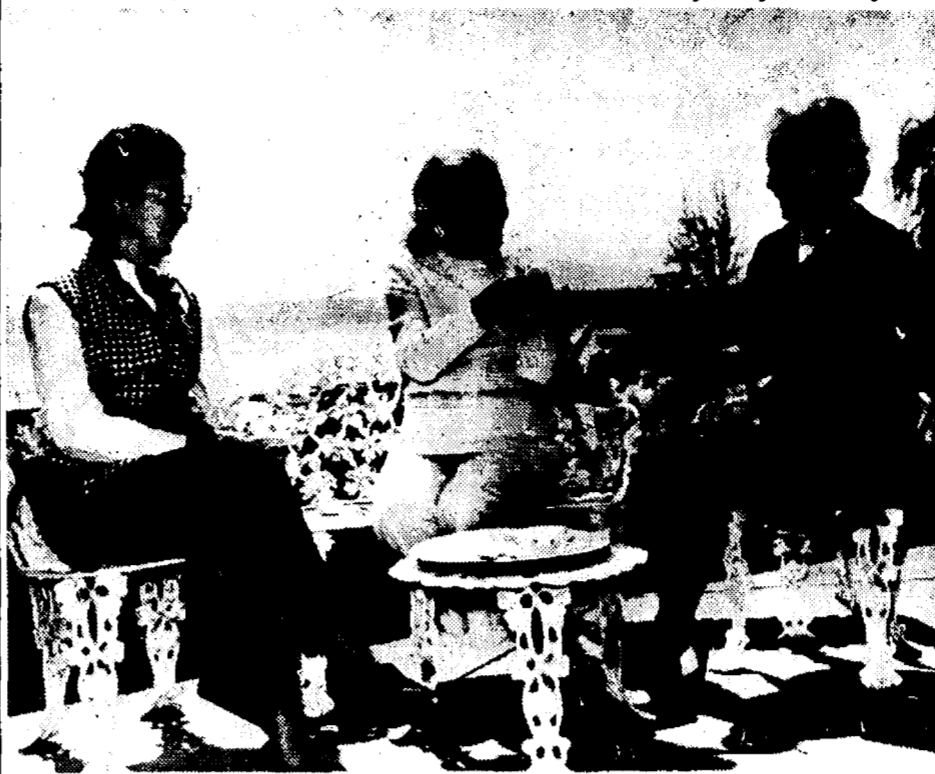

If the chiefs can give me some good reasons, I might change my mind, but I doubt they can convince me that a beautiful strip of scenic, sunny, relaxing land should be denied to me, or to any other person, by law, unless if it's God's law, for it's His land given to be used by people, not just to be looked at.

Sincerely,
 STEVE ELIASON

New Pear Tree Officers Seated

During Pear Tree Quater Chapter's final meeting of the season, a luncheon gathering held recently at the Old Place with 12 members present, a new slate of officers was elected and retiring president Mrs. John Crane handed over her gavel of office to incoming president Mrs. John McLellan. Mrs. Crane's husband had embellished the gavel with a hand-hammered engraved copper band.

Mrs. Frederick Wickland will serve as vice-president during 1971-72, Mrs. Henry Gardner as secretary, Mrs. Phillip Dexter as treasurer, Mrs. Clifford Currie as historian, Mrs. Oscar Teeg as program chairman and Mrs. A. J. Christie as publicity chairman.

The Chapter is losing two delightful ladies, including Charter member Mrs. Edward Heglin, who is moving to Florida. Mrs. Richard McCloskey has already left for Iowa.

Trio Of Garden Zone Meeting Planners

Participants in the Garden Club of America's Zone 10 meeting registered Tuesday at the Preston place home of MRS. WENDELL W. ANDERSON, JR., (standing, center), and today they're heading home — those that don't live in The Pointe, that is—after a fascinating, informative three-day session that included a lecture by Dr. John Nash Ott, director of the Environmental Health and Light Research Institute in Sarasota, Fla., master of photobiology, at yesterday's formal Zone Dinner at the Country Club. MRS. EARL I. HEENAN, JR., (left), of Torraine road, is president of the host Garden Club of Michigan. MRS. ARTHUR H. BUHL, JR., of Provincial road, is one of the Garden Club of America's directors.

South High Mothers Schedule Luncheon

Officers for 1971-72 to be Elected and Installed during Short Business Meeting; Students Will Provide Entertainment

Student talent at Grosse Pointe South High in the fields of Music, Homemaking, Art and Industrial Arts will highlight the program at the South High Mothers Club's annual luncheon Wednesday, May 26, at 12:30 o'clock in Fries Auditorium. Mrs. Robert Campbell, general chairman, extends a cordial invitation to participate to all South High Mothers.

After lunch served at small tables decorated with calico flowers in gingham-covered pots made by Mrs. Barry Cornwith and Mrs. Kenneth Goerke, Mothers Club President Mrs. George Crockatt will officiate at a short meeting when 1971-72 officers will be elected and installed.

Following the meeting the Choraleers and Towerbells, directed by Leonard Riccinto, South High Vocal Music coordinator, will sing a repertoire of popular, classical and semi-classical numbers.

Carolyn Scarborough, chairman of the Homemaking Department, assisted by Constance Kinner and Irma Mann will present a fashion show using students as models, wearing their own creations. Betty Lou Luberto will be the student commentator, with musical accompaniment by Mrs. John Mazer.

The Art Exhibit displaying students' work in watercolor, oils and chalk is being arranged by Julia Meighan, Art Department coordinator. Eugene Wolonick of the Industrial Arts Department is planning an exhibit of pieces in woodworking and metalcraft. Some of the award-winning ones will be displayed in Hickey's Menswear Shop in-the-Village later in the afternoon. Invitations have been sent to past-presidents of the Mothers Club, to the South High Office Staff, to Mrs. Theos Anderson, Mrs. Jerry Gerich and Miss Frances French.

Reservations may be made by sending a check for $3 to Mrs. Gerald Mooney, chairman, by Monday, May 24. Air travel will be a lot safer when the ride to and from the airport has been eliminated.

Society of Originalists To Present Spring Show

The Society of Originalists will present its spring Arts and Crafts Show this Saturday, May 22, from noon until 6 o'clock, and Sunday, May 23 from noon until 6 at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church in Maumee avenue.

Pointe Cadettes To Be Honored

It's their way of saying "congratulations" coupled with a day of fellowship and fun.

That's what "Swing Into Spring" holds for Grosse Pointe area Cadette Girl Scouts Saturday, May 22, at Marygrove College from 9 to 3 o'clock.

Highlight of the program—girl-planned from start to finish—is the recognition ceremony honoring 210 Cadettes of the Metropolitan Detroit Council who have achieved the rank of First Class.

Among them are 23 Pointe Scouts including two girls who played a major role in planning the day-long event.

They are Ann Anderson, Karen Bertsehringer, Stephanie Gerganoff, Dawn Hartman, Kathy Henry, Julie Jueneman, Cathy Martin, Ruth McIntosh, Mary McQueen, Nancy Severyn, Myla Study, Marty Wayland, Rita Whately and Sara Willoughby, all of Cadette Troop 327, and Andrea Claes, Marie Hogan, Maur e e n O'Keefe, Rebecca Ringwald, Malu Siero and Kathleen Young, all of Troop 886.

Leslie Nelson, Caroline Allen and Pat Fellows from Troop 1463 complete the list of local honorees. Pat and Caroline were members of a specially-chosen 34-member Cadette committee that handled all arrangements for the recognition day.

Often likened to the Male Eagle Scout rank, the 'Girl Scout First Class award culminates several years of earnest effort and achievements and is given to a girl who successfully completes four required challenges. An evaluation by a panel of her peers determines whether or not she makes the grade.

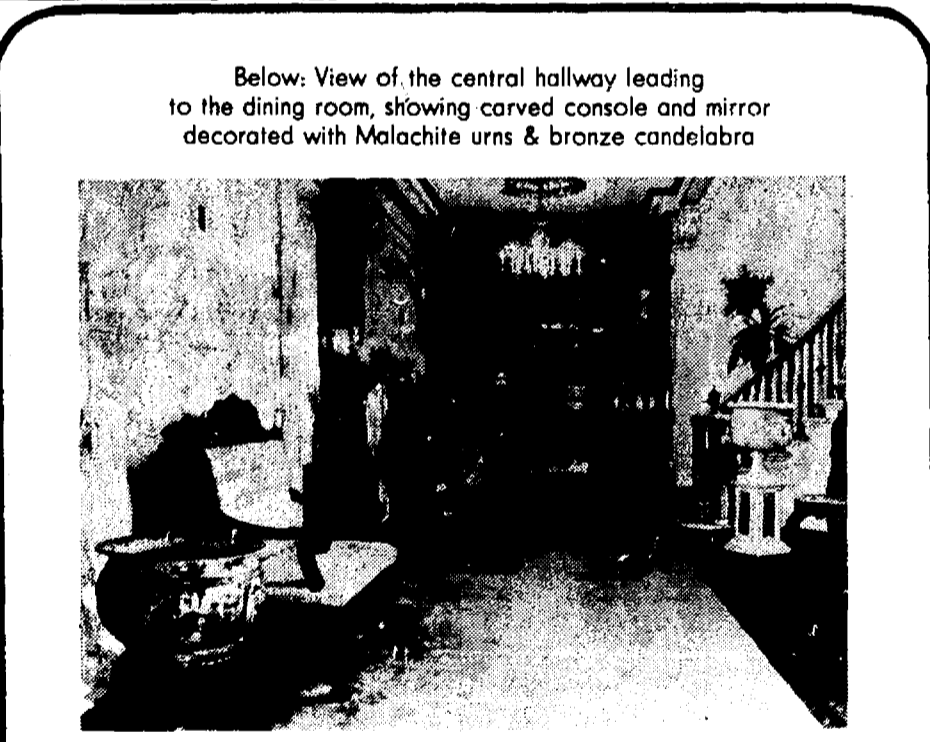

Recognition ceremonies will highlight "Swing Into Spring" but there's more on the day's agenda, including a luncheon and fashion show under the auspices of Montgomery-Ward. Cadettes will model.

Four morning seminars with the theme "Charm Go Round" open the event. The sessions, also being conducted by Montgomery-Ward, will focus on hair care, cosmetics, fashion and good grooming. Fashion coordinator and commentator will be Ward's Miss Loretta Lorian.

In addition to the charm sessions the Senior Scout Planning Board will conduct a fifth seminar to acquaint Cadettes with opportunities available as they move into Senior Scouting.

Symphony Society Meets At Banquet

Group Gathers to Celebrate Close of Successful 18th Season for Pointe Orchestra; Next Year's Soloists Are Announced

A record-breaking attendance with several prominent figures in the audience made the annual banquet-meeting of the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra Society at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club Wednesday evening, May 12, a most special occasion. Chairman of the banquet was Mrs. Winfield S. Jewell, Jr., assisted by Mrs. Sterling S. Sanford.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew C. Patterson, the Mayor of Grosse Pointe Park and his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Allen, Grosse Pointe School Board member and his wife, were also present.

Mr. and Mrs. Carol Sellenraad, of Ridgmont road, members of the Symphony Society, marked their 50th Wedding Anniversary by attending the banquet-meeting with their daughter and her husband, the Lee Allens, of Moross road, and their son and his wife, the Fred Sellenraads, of Frankenmuth.

Alex Sucek, singer and guitarist, with his wife Mariabel at the accordion provided entertainment for the evening, a collection of charming French, German and Russian songs interspersed with delightful commentary.

A lovely Viennese love song was dedicated to the 50th anniversary celebrants.

Mr. Sucek originated the Annual Grosse Pointe Music Festival at the War Memorial and has been its director for many years.

Dr. Robert Crossen, retiring president of the Symphony Society, presided at the annual meeting. He announced the establishment of the Thomas Neeter Memorial Fund honoring the founder of the Orchestra.

Mrs. Bogdan Baynert, membership chairman, reported a membership of 623 for the

Celebrate Successful GP Symphony Year

and MRS. MATTHEW C. PATTERSON, MRS. WINFIELD S. JEWELL, JR., chairman of the banquet-meeting, and DR. ROBERT CROSSEN, retiring president of the Society.

Ehrling To Stay With Symphony Next Year

Sixten Ehrling's contract as music director and conductor of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra has been renewed for the 1972-73 musical season, after which Ehrling will have completed a 10-year tenure as music director and conductor of the Orchestra. Ehrling's contract now extends to May 1973, and also assures that he will serve as conductor for the Meadow Brook Music Festival in the summer of 1972, which position he has held since the Festival's opening in 1964.

The details of Ehrling's contract renewal were announced jointly by himself and Robert B. Semple, president of the Symphony.

Semple said, "Without any question, Sixten Ehrling has contributed significantly to the building of one of the nation's great symphony orchestras for our community."

"With the 'full years' concept for major orchestras, there is a movement towards sharing of the top conductor responsibility between two or more maestros, which can add variety and interest to the season's programming.

"We wish to retain some flexibility in this regard, and obviously the Symphony Association has much planning ahead of it in relation to the pattern of the Orchestra's future artistic direction.

"We recognize that our actions will be of great importance to Detroit as well as to the members of the Orchestra."

"It is a great source of satisfaction to me to be with this fine Orchestra, Ehrling said.

Blossomtime Brunch Benefit Set May 27

Party Will Aid Building Program for Stapleton Center, New Home for Senior Citizens on Detroit's East Side

The Friends of the Aged Poor, (formerly Friends of the Sick Poor), under the leadership of The Very Reverend Monsignor W. F. Suedkamp, have been busy planning a benefit for Stapleton Center, the new home for senior citizens on Detroit's East Side.

Mrs. Charles W. Talbot, president of the Stapleton Auxiliary, welcomes members and guests to the Blossomtime Brunch next Thursday, May 27, in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Auditorium.

Mrs. Charles T. Fisher, Jr., chairman, and her co-chairman Mrs. Emmet E. Tracy head a dedicated group of women working to make this a perfect party. Brunch at 11 o'clock will be followed by an afternoon of cards.

Mrs. Michael J. Swift and Mrs. Richard Mrowczynski are in charge of invitations, mailed earlier in the month.

Prizes were collected by the Mesdames L. Verne Ansel, Harry J. Mack, Aloisius F. Power and Jerry J. Flanagan.

Monsignor Suedkamp, rector of Anunciation Parish, has found a use for the former Parish Convent. With a few alterations it has become Stapleton Center, a pleasant home under the supervision of two I.H.M. nuns.

A building program is planned during the coming year in order to increase facilities available to those in need of the Center. Blossomtime Brunch proceeds will aid this building program.

Tickets for the benefit are $6 each. Miss Rosemary Downey, 882-5915, is accepting reservations.

Also attending as members of the state board are Pointers Mrs. George J. Brown and Mrs. Carl J. Fischer, Jr.

With a focus on citizen involvement with state government, convention delegates are visiting the Department of Education, the Department of Natural Resources and the Department of Social Services for meetings with department heads.

Special events include a message from Governor William G. Milliken, a reception for all state legislators, a discussion panel with capital press correspondents and a tea at the Governor's mansion as guests of Mrs. Milliken.

Over 4,000 members of 42 local leagues throughout the state will be represented when delegates choose a state program, elect state officers and directors, adopt a budget and consider policy and by-law changes for the next two years.

The Pointe delegates will give their reports of the convention to local LWV members at a Picnic-by-the-Shore next Wednesday, May 26, at 12:30 o'clock on the lawn behind Memorial Church. Members and their guests should make reservations by Monday, May 24, with Mrs. Harold Cunningham, 881-8347.

MRS. RICHARD S. CORNWALL, OF THREE MILE DRIVE

By Pepper Whitelaw

A bucket of learning tools . . . a bucket of fun . . . have resulted in a feeling of worthiness and accomplishment for some eight kindergarten students at Defer Elementary School, who need just a little extra personal attention to set them on the right track to first grade.

The name "Bucket Brigade" evolved from the fact that all the learning tools are in gaily colored plastic buckets. They include clothespins, dot to dot designs, copy memory cards, alphabet charts and cards, bingo games with alphabet and numbers, sound charts, alphabet blends, eye movement charts, word packs, number packs for addition and subtraction, containers of nickels and dimes and pennies, MM candies used for counting, squared and printed papers, pencils, crayons and green and red pens. Most of the contents are made by the volunteers so the cost of each bucket is minimal.

The idea for the Bucket Brigade also has a Pointe connection. Barbara Thomson, a mother of four, developed the program as a masters project at Wayne State University. She was a student of Dr. Will Sosnowsky, former Grosse Pointe Public School system psychologist, who is currently assistant professor in special education at Wayne State University.

Mrs. Thomson, a perceptual development consultant to the Hazel Park School District, aroused local interest in the program when she addressed a group of parents from the local chapter of the Michigan Association of Children with Learning Disabilities (MACLD). They started this program in March with volunteers Mesdames R. H. Klieiman, Lorne S. MacDonald, Charles W. Bowerman, W. George Belanger, Wayne Anderson, Douglas Derhammer, and Edward S. Evans, III.

The teacher recommended eight youngsters out of two kindergarten classes, who could use some extra help. The volunteers spend anywhere from 15 to 30 minutes with each child outside the regular classroom, working on special skills the child finds difficult to handle in the classroom.

Currently there are six boys and two girls in this pilot program. "We hope to carry this program into other elementary schools in the area next year. If any parents are interested in this kind of program in their own elementary school, they should notify their school principal immediately," says Nancy.

"The object of this program," she continues "is to help these youngsters with learning fundamentals in a personal and painless manner. Hopefully our bucket of tools will bail them out of difficulties they may be having in fine motor control, learning the alphabet and numbers and social adjustments."

Defer principal, Jesse Lowther, told the NEWS he is enthusiastic over the progress these youngsters have made in the short time they have been working with the youngsters.

The Cornwalls moved to The Pointe some four years ago from Philadelphia. Mr. Cornwall is a vice-president of the Ford Motor Credit Company. They've been married 15 years and have four boys (count 'em), and a large Colonial style house on a lot where they grow . . . what else? . . . boys.

Father Keeps Busy Because Michigan law does not require schools to provide public programs for the handicapped, few areas have outstanding programs . . . some areas have none. For parents to find such help many are forced to change employment, sell their homes and move to other school districts. Other parents, unable to make such sacrifices, are forced to keep children at home or enroll them in programs ill-equipped for the special problems of the handicapped. Still other handicapped children and their parents needlessly suffer the agony of separation when lack of special education services forces children into institutions.

Although permissive legislation under present law has helped to stimulate the growth of special education opportunities, a survey, ordered by the Legislature, documents the fact that many thousands of handicapped youngsters in Michigan are still denied access to necessary programs.

"Above all, special education is not a frill or luxury . . . it is the only means through which the majority of the handicapped can achieve potential usefulness to themselves, the community and to the state," according to Nancy.

She urges residents to contact members of MACLD or PTA-CEC who have copies of these petitions, and sign them. It would help thousands of youngsters in our state, who otherwise have very little chance of entering adulthood prepared for the world around them, Nancy says.

"I guess I'll get off my soapbox now," she laughs, "but you know these programs; my family and handicapped children are my main interests and I just can't say enough about them."

Wednesday Book Club Will Meet Next Week Members of the Wednesday Book Club of Detroit gather next week, May 26, at the Women's City Club for their regular meeting which begins with a 12:15 o'clock luncheon and will feature a reading by Mrs. De Vere Method, of the Detroit Story League.

Involved in circulating petitions along with other MACLD and the Committee for Exceptional Children (PTA-CEC) members to make special education for every handicapped child mandatory in Michigan. There are thousands of handicapped children in Michigan who are not getting these much needed programs and services. These children include those with physical (vision, hearing, speech), and mental handicaps.

BOURBON BEANS FOR A BIG BUFFET

From the Michigan Bean Commission's Cook Book "Beans Enjoyable The World Over Grow in Michigan"

1 1/2 cups canned beans
1/2 cup bourbon
1/2 cup strong black coffee

Three to four hours before serving time, empty beans into bean pot or baking dish. Stir in bourbon and coffee and let stand, covered, at room temperature for an hour and a half. Remove cover and bake at 375 degrees for one and a half hours. Top with pineapple rings cut in half, stand them around the edge of the beans. Slide dish in oven for another 15 minutes. Serves 12.

The addition of a little dry sherry, vermouth or rum to baked beans gives a gourmet touch of flavor to any dish.
