TEACHERS TO GET BACK PAY

HEADLINES of the WEEK

As Compiled by the Grosse Pointe News

Thursday, March 23

THREE AFL-CIO LEADERS quit the Pay Board Wednesday, declaring it has been slanted against workers. The White House promptly countered that President Nixon won't let the action "sabotage" his economic controls. "It has been a device to undermine and wreck collective bargaining," said AFL-CIO President George Meany in announcing the resignation of himself, Steelworkers President I. W. Abel and Machinists' President Floyd Smith. The action was triggered by the board's recent 10-5 vote against the West Coast dock workers 20.9 percent wage increase.

Friday, March 24

A RESTRUCTURING OF THE PAY BOARD was announced Thursday as President Nixon revealed his plan to turn the Pay Board into an essentially public body as a fourth labor member, UAW President Leonard Woodcock, resigned from the board. The former 15-man Pay Board, which consisted of five members each representing business, labor and the public, will now have seven members. Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons, the one remaining labor member, is designated to serve alongside a business member selected from the five business members currently serving on the board.

THREE DETROIT STRESS POLICEMEN were charged Friday with assault with intent to murder for their role in the March 9 apartment shoot-out with Wayne County deputy sheriffs. Wayne County Prosecutor William L. Cahalan blamed the shooting on "overreaction" by the STRESS police to a possible misdemeanor offense, but said that a two-week investigation showed that no other warrants could be recommended for the five deputies and one civilian friend in the northwest Detroit apartment. The shoot-out resulted in the death of one deputy and the wounding of three others.

THE PARIS PEACE TALKS have been indefinitely suspended, it was announced Friday by President Nixon in a White House press conference. The President said that he ordered the suspension of the meetings to end a three-and-a-half-year propaganda filibuster by the communists, but emphasized that the U. S. stands ready for any serious negotiations either publicly or privately.

ITT LOBBYIST DITA D. BEARD collapsed Sunday, several hours after testifying that her boss at International Telephone & Telegraph received a phone call from an unidentified White House staffer. This staffer, she said, believed the giant company would donate $600,000 toward President Nixon's reelection. The six senators questioning Mrs. Beard immediately called a halt to the hearing involving the 53-year-old lobbyist who was testifying from her hospital bed in Denver, Colo.

THREE HOLDUP MEN beat an armored car guard senseless early Monday evening in a K-Mart store in suburban Warren and made off with $111,000. The holdup, believed to be the biggest armored car robbery in the history of the Detroit Metropolitan area, happened before a crowd of stunned shoppers. Warren police have captured two suspects and recovered $48,000, but the search continues for three other suspects.

Metropolitan Plan Favored By Judge Roth

Says Relief of Segregation in Detroit Cannot Be Accomplished Within Limits of City; Must Turn to Suburbs

By Pepper Whitelaw

Judge Stephen Roth has ruled that if a plan for desegregating the Detroit School System is ordered it will be a Metropolitan Plan involving suburban school districts rather than a desegregation plan limited solely to the City of Detroit.

It is quite obvious at this time that the court will issue some kind of desegregation plan which will involve the Grosse Pointe Public School District and its students, according to School Board attorney Douglas West.

On Tuesday, March 28, Judge Roth issued this Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law on Detroit-Only Plans for Desegregation, the conclusion under the evidence in this case, is inescapable that the relief of segregation in the public schools of the city of Detroit cannot be accomplished within the corporate geographical limits of the city. The state, however, cannot escape its constitutional duty to desegregate the public schools of the city of Detroit by pleading local authority.

"School district lines are simply matters of political convenience and may not be used to deny constitutional rights. If the boundary lines of the school districts of the city of Detroit and the surrounding suburbs were drawn today few would doubt that they could not withstand constitutional challenge. In seeking for solutions to the problem of school segregation, other federal courts have not treated as immune from intervention the administrative structure of a state's educational system, to the extent that it affects the capacity to desegregate."

"Geographically or administratively independent units have been compelled to merge or initiate or continue cooperative operation as a single system for school desegregation purposes." (Here Judge Roth is referring to the Richmond, Va. case.)

Judge Roth continued, "That the court must look beyond the limits of the Detroit Public School District for a solution to the problem of segregation in the Detroit Public Schools is obvious; that it has the authority, nay more, the duty to (under the circumstances of this case) do so appears plainly anticipated by Brown II, 17 years ago. While other school cases have not had to deal with our exact situation, the logic of their application of the command of Brown II supports our view of our duty."

What stand will, or can, The Pointe take on this decision? It can participate in objections to and criticisms of the details of the Metropolitan Plan submitted by other

Law Change Nets Victory For GPEA

President Rita Cary Says GPEA Never Intended to Claim $100,000 Requested in Law Suit

By Pepper Whitelaw

The teachers will get their retroactive pay raises. School board attorney Douglas West made the announcement at a meeting of the Board of Education on Monday, March 27. Mr. West indicated that this in no way indicates that the Grosse Pointe Education Association (GPEA) has won its suit against the school district, but was based on a change in the law itself.

The GPEA originally filed suit against the school district on November 8 in Wayne County Circuit Court. The suit asked that the court issue an order directing the board to pay the GPEA members all wage increases provided for in the 71-72 collective bargaining agreement and that pending the outcome of the suit, the school system set aside and hold in trust the wage increase which would otherwise have been paid.

At that time Mr. West said that the teachers' union was demanding wage increases, notwithstanding the applicability of the Wage-Price Freeze to Grosse Pointe although the Office of Emergency Preparedness issued a ruling on September 21, 1971, stating that the Grosse Pointe Schools shall not pay wage increases to any of the union employees except the school librarians. He added that the GPEA did not mention the ruling in its complaint filed with the court. Mr. West said at that time that violation of the Wage-Price Freeze by the board of education could possibly lead to criminal penalties.

In its suit the GPEA also asked damages of $100,000. The Wayne County Circuit Court refused the request of GPEA to order the school district to put the pay in escrow. The suit was then removed from Wayne County Circuit Court to the Federal District Court because a federal question was involved.

Phase II went into effect November 15. This permitted (Continued on Page 6)

Board Gives 18-Year-Olds Open Campus

New Privileges Take Effect April 10; Limited to Current School Year As Trial Period

By Pepper Whitelaw

Eighteen-year-old high school students have been granted Open Campus privileges by the Grosse Pointe Board of Education. Upon the recommendation of Superintendent Theos I. Anderson the board voted five to one on granting permission, President William Adams was absent and trustee Donald Semmler opposed the recommendation.

Dr. Anderson said he made the recommendation following meetings with Lawrence F. Kennedy, assistant superintendent - personnel; Dr. Joseph Spagnoli, assistant superintendent of instruction and the principals of South and North high schools, Jerry J. Gerich and G. Bruce Feighner.

The Open Campus privileges go into effect April 10, and permit 18-year-olds to leave school premises during unscheduled class periods and the noon hour if they comply with certain conditions. The conditions are that a student, when he becomes 18-years-of-age, notify his counselors and make arrangements for a change in his identification card; that the students agree to leave and re-enter the building at designated areas and that a student who fails to follow school regulations will lose the privilege.

Lee Allen, board treasurer, asked that the recommendation be amended to include a sentence which would limit the privileges to the current school year. He said in this way the board will have a good trial period in which to study Open Campus and that perhaps they could offer an even more liberal plan next year.

HRC Takes Bussing Stand

By Pepper Whitelaw

The Grosse Pointe Human Relations Council has filed a motion for permission to file an "amicus curiae" brief (friend of the court brief) which would permit it to express its views on the matter of remedies in the school desegregation issue before Judge Stephen Roth. The brief would be filed after Judge Roth has completed his current hearings on the Metropolitan Plan.

The Board of the Human Relations Council, in a policy statement, expressed the view that "bussing is one of the acceptable alternatives to combat unconstitutionally segregated schools."

The Board of Directors have also sent telegrams to legislators Lucien Nedzi, Philip A. Hart and Robert P. Griffin stating, "We oppose any legislative action which would prevent any branch of government from using the bussing option with which to combat unconstitutionally segregated schools."

President of the Human Relations Council, Bob Roney, told the NEWS, that "President Nixon has abandoned the principal of integrated education and is trying to get the country to turn around and go back to the dismal policy of separate but equal school districts. We believe that integrated education is a goal our country has to achieve and reject the President's effort to lead us away from it."

SEMTA Faces Losses Due to Lack of Riders

By Roger A. Waha

The commercial line of take the bus and "leave the driving to us" doesn't seem to be the case for SEMTA (Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority) at the moment.

For Park Councilman Douglas G. Graham, who attended a meeting of the advisory committee to SEMTA Tuesday, March 21, as The Park's representative, said ridership has fallen since the Christmas season which resulted in a February net loss of $1,407. The currently projected figures for March indicate a loss of around $5,000. And the projected net loss for this year, up to now, is around $6,400. Mr. Graham reported on the SEMTA meeting at the regular council meeting Monday, March 27. The losses will be billed to the five Pointes and St. Clair Shores, who are each providing an operating subsidy of $5,000 per month, if needed, to SEMTA.

The Park's contract with SEMTA runs until the end of 1972 with the city paying 17 percent of the subsidy. The other four Pointes and St. Clair Shores also pay a certain percentage.

Cutting Corners Mr. Graham said that SEMTA is trying to do everything they can to "cut corners" including working to fix up older buses. "I believe the answer to it is to increase charter service and build up ridership which has fallen off," he stated. He also (Continued on Page 2)

Farms Drops Two Bans On Parking

Police and Fire Departments Endorse Parking Restricted to One Side of Farms Streets

By Kathy Duff

The Farms Council recently rejected two street parking restrictions offered by the Farms administration. Both proposals—one which banned parking from 3 a.m. to 5 a.m. nightly, and one which restricted parking to one side of the street—were rejected because the Farms Council felt the inconveniences outweighed advantages.

In regard to the night parking ban, the council members pointed out the possible difficulties of families having more cars than garage space, or families who frequently entertain out-of-town guests. It was brought to the attention of the council that a small area of The Farms has no driveways at all by Farms Police Chief Robert Ferber.

The only council member in favor of the night parking ban was Farms Councilwoman Nancy Waugaman, who had spoken out frequently in favor of such a ban. The three Farms departments, which submitted reports evaluating a night parking ban, each determined that the inconvenience to residents or their department would overrule the benefits.

Chief Ferber admitted that a night parking ban would have two basic law enforcement advantages. First, a ban would allow policemen (Continued on Page 4)

Parking Problems and Jaywalking Violations Source of Dispute; Each Group Reports Deteriorating Situation

By Kathy Duff

A conflict between the Farms police department and South High students over parking problems and pedestrian violations has arisen in the past few weeks.

The students claim the police have intensified their efforts to issue parking tickets and jaywalking tickets, while Farms Police Chief Robert Ferber maintains that the students have become increasingly careless in following city ordinances.

At the source of the problem is the recent construction program of South High School. Students were urged to walk to school or get rides from parents or friends; and, as a result, "students are crossing everywhere," according to Chief Ferber.

The conflict was sparked on Friday morning, February 18, when 13 violations for jaywalking were issued by Farms police in front of South High School and Fisher road.

Since then, over 21 students were ticketed during late February and early March for jaywalking on Fisher road.

According to Gary Stephenson, a South student charged with jaywalking, he had a choice of paying a $10 fine along with $15 in court costs, working for The Farms eight hours, or spending a day in jail. He chose jail, protesting the lack of warning the police gave students who were charged with jaywalking.

One curious explanation of the jaywalking ticketing came to light in the past two weeks, that of the Farms police retaliating for a letter received from Robert Weyhing, president of South's Dads' Club. In Mr. Weyhing's letter, he asked The Farms police to increase traffic supervision during the high school's night basketball games.

The letter was prompted by a basketball game with Fordson High School. The Tower, South High's student newspaper, reported that several fights broke out and minor damage was done to school property at the game due to "insufficient" police supervision.

Some persons speculated that this incident and letter triggered the increase in ticketing, and the belief (Continued on Page 2)

Good Friday Significance Dramatized

Memorial Church to Show the Effect of the Crucifixion on the People in Four Vignettes

The traditional Good Friday services held to reflect the sorrow and bewilderment of a small band of people on a hill in Judea will be reenacted in many different ways throughout the Christian communities of the world. Two different forms of remembrance will be offered at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, Friday, March 31, from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m., and from 8:00 to 8:30 p.m.

Four half-hour segments starting at 1 p.m. will each use a different scene from Don A. Mueller's play "Eyes Upon the Cross" to dramatize the effect of the Crucifixion on the people who suddenly found themselves part of such a monumental event in history.

Mrs. Maraine Bambus, Memorial Churches' drama consultant, is directing the vignettes. Mrs. Helen Meyering is the producer. Each half-hour segment will be an abbreviated service using the Junior and Junior High choirs both as choric and singing choirs. Steve Eliason, cellist, will play solos after each act. There will be short organ interludes following each half-hour to allow people to enter and leave the church.

The cast for the four acts of "Eyes Upon the Cross" include Carl Meyering, Barbara Boyce, Joan Johns, Earl F. Kotts, Lewis Davies, Peter Nyboer, Crete Thompson, Barbara Ash, Fred Boyce, Donald Kuhn, Jeff Cornelius and Doug Kuhn. Stage manager is Bill Champion, assistant directors, Louise Lee, Tom Candler, Margaret Locke, Karen Thompson, James Sanford and Doug Rasmussen; costumes, Shirley Van Der Kar and Tola Dirksen; make-up, Ellen Probert and publicity, Tola Dirksen. Malcolm and Marian Johns are musical directors for the service, assisting Dr. Ray Kiely and the Reverend Eugene Locke.

The Good Friday evening "Tenebrae" service held from 8:00 to 8:30 p.m. is announced to the community by the "tolling" of the largest bell of the Memorial Tower Carillon in slow, even strokes. The "Tenebrae" tradition is revived from an early church custom of gradually darkening the church over the three days from Maundy Thursday through Saturday evening. To emulate this tradition, the sanc-

Climax Near On Wayburn

By Roger A. Waha

The climax seems to be finally approaching in the Wayburn boundary dispute. City Attorney Richard D. Rohr reported at The Park's regular council meeting Monday, March 27, that the Detroit Corporation Counsel will present this matter to the Detroit Common Council early next week, (possibly Tuesday, April 4, or Wednesday, April 5).

Mr. Rohr said that the Corporation Counsel is "getting it off dead center and putting it in the Common Council's lap." At that time, the facts of the situation will be presented.

If Common Council votes against the annexation, west side of Wayburn, Mr. Rohr felt that the issue would be killed. On the other hand, if the Council approves the annexation all that would remain are the "mechanics" of the boundary question, he said. Mr. Rohr added if both cities want to make the change, he couldn't imagine any basis where the state would disagree.

Councilman O. J. Williams Jr. felt that Wayburn residents should appear at Common Council chambers the day the annexation issue is before Detroit. When a specific date and time is arranged with the Detroit City Clerk at Council chambers, Wayburn residents will be notified by Mr. Rohr so they will be able to attend.

GPAC Gives Board $100 To Help With Court Costs

By Pepper Whitelaw

The Grosse Pointe Action Committee (GPAC) has donated $100 to assist the Board of Education in defraying expenses incurred in the property suit brought against the school system by Governor Milliken and Attorney General Kelley.

GPAC, a 300-member non-profit organization of the school system's personnel, was organized in the spring of 1971 to further the basic objectives of education in The Pointe school system by identifying educational issues of concern and supporting programs that enhance the goals of education.

In a formal statement to the NEWS Carl W. Lord, GPAC chairman said, "Grosse Pointe teachers, who are members of GPAC, are aware that the board of education may be required to fund the entire cost of its defense in the property suit. "House Concurrent Resolution 323 and Senate Concurrent Resolution 184 have the intent of causing the State of Michigan to defray the local board's expenses incurred as a result of State action intended to test the constitutionality of the ad valorem property tax. However, these resolutions appear to be hopelessly buried in committee. There appears to be little hope that the state will reimburse the local district for legal expenses related to the property suit. "If budgeted educational funds must be transferred to (Continued on Page 4)

Parking-Jaywalking

"An official of a parents' organization wrote the Grosse Pointe Farms police and expressed the wish that the Farms police would establish a better relationship with the students at Grosse Pointe South High School. The writer pointed out what he considered to be more ideal relationships between police and students in the other Grosse Pointe communities.

"The Farms police responded by launching a massive ticket-writing campaign against jaywalking students at South."

In checking with the Farms administrative center at 90 Kerby road, both Chief Ferber and City Manager Andrew Bremer denied any knowledge of such a letter. They only recalled Mr. Weyhing's letter which asked for more police supervision at basketball games, and contained no reference to a deteriorating relationship between students and police.

Chief Ferber expressed his concern over the traffic problems after basketball games and other nighttime events sponsored by the high school, but pointed out that it was a question of manpower, that the Farms police department did not have the men to spare for extensive police supervision.

In regard to the recent jaywalking ticketing, the chief said that the Fisher crosswalk will be enlarged due to the increased number of students walking to school.

Chief Ferber said that he regretted the first 12 tickets issued without warning, and said that he called South Principal Jerry Gerich and Youth Service Division's John Kendall to notify them of the action. There were two weeks between then and when the next 21 tickets were issued.

The police chief also wished to clarify the parking situation around the high school.

"There has been a tremendous increase in illegal parking this past month," Chief Ferber said. "And it's not because there isn't enough student parking. In fact, the Farms installed 10-hour meters along Fisher instead of two-hour meters, to facilitate student parking.

The police chief noted how the merchants along Fisher road asked The Farms to prohibit students from parking in certain areas. However, he emphasized that the Farms police department was against such restrictions. He was referring to letters sent by Mrs. Benjamin Jeffries, owner of retail and commercial property on Fisher road, who protested student parking in local metered spaces and urged a limit be placed on students who could drive to school. As a spokesman for the Fisher Road Merchants Association, she sent letters to the Farms Council, City Police Chief Andrew Teetaert, and William Adams, president of the school board.

In her letter to the Farms Council, she complained, "Student parking outside of designated areas has reached the point where tenants, employees, clients and customers of the businesses . . . can rarely find a parking space after 8:15 a.m., even at a two hour meter."

Mrs. Jeffries had a firm proposal to offer City Chief Teetaert, asking him to erect signs and enforce a "No Student Parking, School Days, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m." ban in both City metered lots in Fisher road.

Striking at the root of the problem, she asked Board President Adams to limit the number of students allowed to drive to school, such as those who live a distance from the school or those who suffer a hardship and should receive special permission.

Surprisingly enough, South's construction program has not drastically reduced the number of available parking spaces. In checking with Ben Zenn, the director of administrative services of the school system, he said that there were only 50 fewer spaces this year. He pointed out, however, that the situation was aggravated by not allowing students to park on school grounds.

Mr. Zenn referred to a letter dated December 14, 1972, to Farms City Manager Bremer, containing an agreement to hold the parking spaces at 306 units. The same letter promised that 50 more spaces could be provided in the event that difficulties arose. These additional spaces are located north of the schools tennis courts.

Meanwhile, the solution to the problem seems to lie with the students reaching an agreement with the Farms police and Fisher merchants. Farms Chief Ferber has suggested such meetings by offering to meet with South students.

Both Chief Ferber and Mr. Zenn seem assured that the situation will improve with the advent of warm weather, recalling the 700 to 800 student bikes often parked on school grounds last fall.

Good Friday Metro Plan

The individual character roles will be sung by the members of the Chancel Choir with the Festival Choir representing the reactions of the crowds. The text has been edited using the contemporary English of the New English Bible and is sung unaccompanied from the rear gallery.

Noting the many changes in recent years of Good Friday traditions Memorial Church extends an invitation to the people in our business community and to the community-at-large to attend these services. School age children are encouraged to attend with their parents. The church is located next to the Dodge Estate and there is ample parking at the rear of the church.

(Continued from Page 1) with Mr. Allen and added that it would give law enforcement officers and local merchants an opportunity to see just how well Open Campus operates on a limited basis. He added that he felt it will work well.

Mr. Semmler then asked to further amend the recommendation "to make the Open Campus privileges apply to all seniors and seniors only, providing that those under the age of 18 have parental permission. I would recommend that this policy apply for the balance of the school year as a trial period and then be reviewed by the superintendent and board."

There was no second to Mr. Semmler's suggested amendment and a vote was taken on Mr. Allen's amendment and passed by a five to one vote.

Losing Cash

One thing they're currently planning on doing, according to Mr. Graham, is to hire a part-time representative, (a local woman), who would go to civic meetings, et al., and drum up interest in riding the bus.

Mr. Graham also reported that SEMTA has reached a settlement with their employees for a new labor contract. It appeared, he said, that the increase was reasonable and within the proper framework of the President's guidelines.

The contract includes a rate hike for bus drivers from $3.64 per hour to $3.95 per hour, which is reported still 65 cents below what DSR drivers receive.

Councilman Charles S. Tompkins asked why the increase in labor if SEMTA is losing money. Mr. Graham replied, "I don't know what the answer to that is. The general feeling is that labor doesn't like to do that. They don't like to take a loss." Mayor Matthew C. Patterson felt that why should labor take a loss for operation problems — "The problem is that people are not riding buses."

Mr. Graham cited one possible "silver lining," i.e., that if the Governor's gas tax statute passed, some of the money will go to SEMTA to take care of losses that the Authority incurs.

Oldbrook Residents Near Agreement on Subdivision

By Kathy Duff
The Farms Council had some unexpected visitors at its regular council meeting on Monday night, March 20. Present were more than 15 persons involved in the Oldbrook lane redevelopment issue. They were concerned over the purchase of the John Woodhouse estate by a developer, Rudolph Palombit, who proposed to divide the old estate into three lots, leaving one for the original mansion and building two additional houses.

Since Oldbrook lane is a private street and must provide its own street paving, water and sewer facilities, all the residents must agree on any new development plan. They originally were concerned that the additional houses would overburden the secluded lane.

In particular, the three families who live at the end of the lane which abuts Lake Shore drive, were concerned over the drainage of water onto their property. Since Oldbrook lane slopes toward the lake, pools of water are evident on the lower property during periods of high precipitation.

The Oldbrook contingent's last visit to the Farms Council meeting had been on Monday, December 6. The issue was unresolved at the close of that meeting, and was still unresolved at the beginning of last Monday night's meeting. However, there was some cause for optimism because currently only three of the 10 residents disagreed, in contrast to 10 out of 10 residents disagreeing in December.

Much of the progress in the redevelopment issue can be attributed to Dexter Ferry, 43 Oldbrook lane, who had taken the responsibility of being the negotiator between the developer Palombit and the residents. With the aid of a document prepared by Farms Attorney George McKean in December 1971, Mr. Ferry had obtained the signatures of seven of the residents on a written agreement.

The agreement allowed Palombit to divide the Woodhouse estate into three lots, selling the old Woodhouse mansion with one lot, and creating two new lots. The agreement specified that all new building would have to meet the standards of The Farms building code.

However, three of the residents still felt that any development would jeopardize their property.

One of the residents, Keith Manglos, 22 Oldbrook lane, was concerned over water draining onto his property since it is located at the lower end of the lane. He questioned whether the Oldbrook sewer and water systems could handle any additional usage.

A second question raised by Mr. Manglos was whether Oldbrook lane would be made a through street. He noted that access to Lake Shore drive would be possible through a driveway on one of the proposed lots.

Mr. Ferry, speaking for the residents, verified that it was in the written agreement that Oldbrook lane would remain a dead end street. He reite-

John Emery Gets 90 Days

John Emery, 20, 564 Lakeland, who was involved in the December 1 attempted burglary of a Fair Acres residence, has been sentenced to 90 days in the Detroit House of Correction by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge George T. Martin.

Emery was allowed to plead guilty to the reduced charge of entering without permission when he appeared in circuit court on Wednesday, January 26. Present in January was Farms detective Joseph Miller who had been involved in the case since Emery's arrest on Saturday, December 4.

The combined efforts of City, Park and Farms police resulted in Emery's apprehension after a footchase in the City. Police finally located the suspect hiding beneath a clothing bag under the basement steps of his 564 Lakeland residence.

He had been wanted since December 1 by Farms police for the attempted breaking and entering of a Fair Acres residence. On that night, his attempt to break into the house had been foiled by the residents calling the Farms police.

Originally, the defendant was charged with attempted breaking and entry of an occupied dwelling.

It was not Emery's first bout with the law. He was convicted in March 1971 of a breaking and entry in The Park, after stealing two portable television sets from a house in 1038 Bishop road. For this conviction, Emery spent six months in the Detroit House of Correction, and was placed on probation for five years.

In the Bishop road breaking, Emery was with David Schulte recently sentenced for the Joseph A. Schoenith burglary.

Phil Gralewski, a resident of Oldbrook lane even though his property has a Lake Shore address, had a private complaint to air before the council.

He pointed out that he will be very affected by any redevelopment since his property carries an easement used as an access route to one of the proposed lots.

"Let the city buy it for a street, I pay taxes on it," he commented as he told the council that heavy construction trucks would be driving on his lot.

At the close of the discussion, the Farms council suggested that the developer enlist the services of an engineering firm to study the area and then propose proper sewer, water, and road facilities.

Kercheval-Deanhurst service has been modified with the second a.m. Express from St. Clair Shores now leaving two minutes earlier. The experimental Shoppers Express is being eliminated due to lack of riders.

On Saturdays, all Charlevoix trips will operate to the City Limits only, with a

Farms Parking Ban

(Continued from Page 1) makes 4,800 garbage stops each month. The second proposal, that of restricting parking to one side of each Farms street, was supported by both the Farms police and fire departments, but was voted down by the council due to the inconvenience it would cause the residents.

"I object to a blanket ruling affecting the entire city," Councilman Richard Hudson remarked. "I admit that there are a few sections where restricted parking is desirable, and I would support it for those areas."

Councilman James Mast agreed with his colleague by stating that restricted parking should "apply only in necessary situations."

The restricted parking, as analyzed by Chief Ferber in his report, would apply only to Farms streets of 26 feet or less in width. Currently, over 80 per cent of Farms streets fall in this category.

Chief Ferber said that a uniform parking ban on the odd numbered side of the street would result in less congestion from parked vehicles and would "eliminate the confusing traffic patterns we now have." Increased pedestrian and vehicle safety would result.

The fire department also recommended that Fire Lanes be made uniform for the entire street, possibly referring to Kerby road whose parking restrictions vary from one side of the street to the other.

"This would aid the vehicles in making safer response to emergency calls, especially on the narrow streets," Fire Chief Beaupre noted in his report.

The Farms council, at the close of the discussion, asked the Farms administrators to continue their program only in necessary situations. However, they reiterated their firm stand against a "blanket ruling" which would affect all Farms residents.

Woods Okays Geranium Sale

The Woods Council at the regular meeting Monday, March 20, unanimously approved a request of Duane E. Johnson, 720 Hidden Lane, who's campaign chairman of the Grosse Pointe North High's Parent's Club, to conduct the annual geranium sale from Wednesday, March 22, to Monday, May 1.

Mr. Johnson, who sent a letter to the council regarding the sale, said it would be conducted during daylight hours by North students.

Back Pay

payment of pay increases but only from that date on. Then on December 22, Congress passed an amendment to the Economic Stabilization Act in which retroactive pay could be granted only if it could be proven that the contract was executed prior to August 15. The Grosse Pointe Board of Education ratified the contract on August 16.

This amendment also gave the President broad, generalized powers to supervise the granting of pay raises, according to Mr. West. Under this broad powers the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) was authorized to issue a regulation saying that in the event that it could be proved that there had been a past history of the employer granting retroactive pay raises the retroactive pay raises must be granted.

But only when a specific ruling or determination was made by IRS. The original regulation was adopted on January 27. Some weeks later, the GPEA attorney and board attorney realized that this change in law created an all new ball game. They then agreed to seek a ruling from IRS.

Last Friday, March 24, IRS ruled that the retroactive pay be granted.

The board now has the right to appeal the IRS ruling directly to the Pay Board or go back to the lawsuit and contest the validity of the IRS decision.

This ruling by IRS appears to satisfy all the demands in the GPEA suit except the section requesting some $100,000 in damages. At Monday night's meeting the board did not indicate whether it would appeal the IRS decision.

Rita Cary, GPEA president, expressed her pleasure over the IRS decision and added that the association never intended to claim the $100,000 damages from the school system.

City Offers Free Booklet on Crime

By Pepper Whitehaw

"The police and judicial system alone can't solve the growing crime problem all over the United States. They need the help of informed, responsible citizens," according to City of Grosse Pointe Police Chief Andrew C. Teetaert.

In an effort to obtain that help Chief Teetaert has procured a number of information booklets entitled "30 Ways You Can Prevent Crime," which may be picked up by any City resident at the station.

Chief Teetaert said that the first thing an average citizen can do is make it difficult for criminals to victimize him by checking the defenses of his home. Here are some of the ways to do this: updated locks, especially when you change houses or apartments, use cylinder locks with deadlock feature (a chain latch and peephole are also good investments).

Don't leave an extra key in the mailbox, under the doormat, over the door or some other likely place. Every family member should have his own key. Don't pass out extras to tradesmen and workmen.

Remember the best lock in the world is of no value if you carelessly open your door without knowing who's there. Be wary of salesmen, solicitors, "utility" employees. Ask all of them for credentials.

Make sure your home doesn't attract burglars by making sure you have good outside lighting (this is a deterrent to prowlers). Don't leave tools, furniture and playthings in the yard overnight. Remove clothes and rugs from clothesline.

When leaving for an evening, leave at least one light burning. Don't pull shades or leave notes indicating when you will return. Close the garage door.

When planning a vacation be sure to cancel deliveries of newspapers and milk and have your mail held at the post office. Notify police when you are leaving and when you will return. They will keep a special watch on your home. Put your lights or light on a timer for automatic turn-on-at night. Check all doors and windows to make sure they are locked. Have a neighbor check your home occasionally and let him know where you will be.

You can minimize your loss to a burglar if you plan ahead by storing your valuables, keeping serial numbers of valuables, starting a buddy system with your neighbors in order to watch each other's homes. Watch for unexpected "movers" and "re-pairmen" at a house where no one is at home.

And be sure to report any suspicious actions, sounds or strangers to the police.

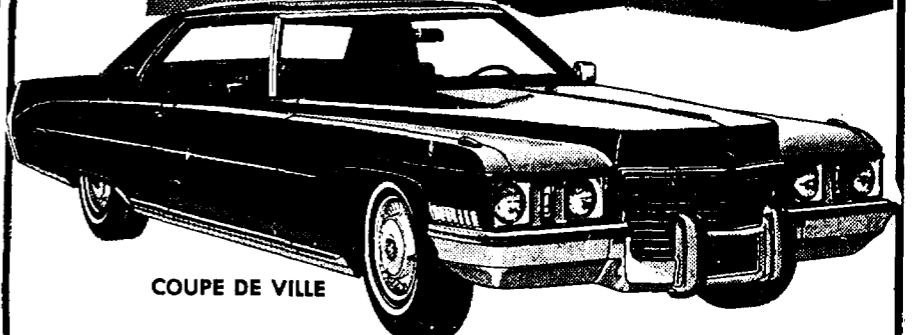

There are also sections on your personal and family crime prevention policy, how you as a motorist can play a big role in preventing crime and how you can be a partner of the police in crime prevention.

It's the kind of information everyone should have. So if you are a City resident, stop by the station today and pick up one of these booklets.

Park Nixes "X" Pics, Too

Anti-"X" rated film resolutions seem to be catching in The Pointes. Following actions by The Farms and Woods councils, The Park council at the regular meeting Monday, March 27, passed a resolution opposing generally "X" rated films.

The resolution, which incorporated the wording of The Farms', was unanimously approved. The Farms resolution, approved at the regular meeting Monday, March 8, said that the council "is in principle strongly opposed to the public showing in this City, of motion pictures which are generally rated 'X' under current rating standards of the industry." The Woods Council passed their resolution at the regular meeting Monday, March 20.

Rescue Ladies From Home

A concerned Woods resident contacted police Saturday, March 25, when she hadn't seen her two elderly neighbors for three days, and police entered the house, discovered both ladies at the foot of the basement stairs and transported them to St. John Hospital.

The ladies, Elizabeth Zumbstein and Lillian Lamb, both in their late 70's of 888 Anita avenue, were ultimately transported to Grace Hospital 18700 Meyers, and are both reported in "fair" condition, (as of Tuesday, March 28).

Lieutenant Roland Symons received a report from Mrs. Helene Buydaert, 898 Anita, who said the newspapers at the ladies' house had not been taken in for three days, and that the mail box was full of mail. She also reported that the kitchen television had been on which was unusual.

The lieutenant gained access to the home and along with another neighbor, William Landless, 874 Anita, began a search.

When the basement door was opened, Lt. Symons discovered the ladies laying at the foot of the stairs and both were very weak. It appeared that they had been on the basement floor for some time and were either too weak or too seriously injured to get to a telephone for help.

Change Drunk Driving Law

City of Grosse Pointe Police Chief Andrew Teetaert today reminded Pointe drivers that at 12:01 a.m., March 30, drinking and driving will become even more risky in Michigan. It's the date lowered blood alcohol levels will go into effect statewide.

Known as the new "Point Ten" law, the act amends Michigan's Implied Consent law to provide the following lowered blood-alcohol levels:

- The presumptive level for driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor will be reduced from 0.15% to 0.10% or more.
- The impaired driving level will be reduced from 0.10% to levels in excess 0.07% but less than the 0.10%.
- When the blood alcohol level is 0.07% or less, a defendant will be presumed not to be under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Blood alcohol levels have been verified as reliable measures of a driver's reaction to alcohol he has consumed.

Chief Teetaert explained that five average highballs or five beers, downed within an hour, will result in a blood alcohol level of approximately 0.10% in a 150 pound individual.

The new blood alcohol limits mean that a person formerly subject to the lesser "impaired" driving charge will now be charged as a drunk driver.

"How fast the drinks are consumed and whether or not food is involved during the drinking will influence the rate of alcohol absorption into the blood stream," said Chief Teetaert.

Michigan's Implied Consent law provides that drivers using Michigan highways are presumed to have given their consent to a chemical test if arrested for driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Refusal can result in loss of the driver's license. The Breathalyzer has been established as the approved instrument for making breath tests, and officers operating the instruments are especially trained and are recertified annually.

Qualifications for operators as well as operational procedures under implied consent are established by the Michigan Department of Public Health. Statewide, over 2,200 state, county and city police officers have been trained to meet the breath testing requirements of the law.

According to statistics, alcohol is believed to be a factor in as many as half of the fatal traffic accidents on our highways.

"Enforcement of our state's implied consent law must be fair. But it's also obvious from the record that enforcement must be strict if we are to keep alcohol from making our highways disaster areas," said the Chief.

Cottage Baby Hits Jackpot

The 30,000th baby to be born at Cottage Hospital of Grosse Pointe arrived Wednesday, March 22, at 12:21 p.m.

He is Derek Kent, son of Joan and Ray Myers of St. Clair Shores.

Derek weighed 7 pounds, 5 ounces at birth, and is 21 1/2 inches long. He was delivered by Dr. C. B. Riddle.

Ralph L. Willgarde, administrator of Cottage Hospital, presented Derek with a $25 savings bond and an engraved plaque marking the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers now have six children: Todd, 14; Neal, 12; Julie, 9; Dean, 8; Stacey, 5; and Derek.

Dr. Riddle also delivered Stacey.

The first four children were delivered by Dr. James Marshall who is now Derek's pediatrician.

When their oldest son was six months old, the Myers kept the first of six foster children who were to live with them.

They have had two Foreign Exchange students in their home. A boy from Finland in 1966-67 and a boy from Sweden in 1970-71.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers are youth coordinators at their church, the First United Methodist, in St. Clair Shores. Every Tuesday night 30 or more teenagers (and some young people now in college) meet at the Myers home for fun and to plan exciting canoe trips and the like.

Purse Snatcher Victimized Two

City and Park police believe two purse snatchings on Thursday, March 23, within two hours of each other, were done by the same man. He is described by both his victims as a black male, about six feet tall, 20 years of age, with an Afro haircut. Footprints in the snow at both locations appear to have been made by the same shoes.

The first incident occurred at 7:25 p.m. when a Trombley road resident and her husband were arriving home. They noticed a man leave his car and walk up the drive of their home. The subject approached the woman while her husband was parking the car and asked her where a certain address on Trombley could be found. Before she had a chance to reply, he struck her on the forehead, grabbed her purse containing personal papers and a small amount of cash, and fled. He jumped into a dark-colored, late model car and headed South on Windmill Pointe Drive. Park officers rushed to the scene and checked the area and area residents to no avail.

The second incident occurred at 8:50 p.m. on Neff road. A resident told officers that a male of the same description followed her into her driveway. As she stepped out of the garage she was rict by the culprit who grabbed her purse, struck her on the head and fled down the drive. The victim's brown leather, saddle-type purse contained $40 in cash and personal papers. Neither victim was seriously injured.

Lions Slate Open House

Something new and different will take place Sunday, April 9, when The Grosse Pointe Woods Lions, assisted by their ladies, inaugurate their first "Open House" for the public.

This event will be held at the American Legion Hall, 20916 Mack Avenue, between Hampton and Roslyn roads, from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

It's the sincere desire and hope of the Lions that area residents and the public in general will stop in and get acquainted with members, and see what this International Service Club does with donated funds. The funds enable the Lions to carry on their work for the unfortunate.

Visitors will have a chance to see a leader dog and his blind master; a film on the Leader Dog School, Rochester, between 2 and 4 p.m. and a film on the Michigan Eye Collection organization between 3 and 5 p.m. Representatives from both organizations will be on hand to answer questions.

The Lions and their ladies also will answer questions about their club and the community. Refreshments will be provided. Ample parking is available at the rear of the building.

"Gassy" Area Washed Away

A potentially dangerous situation was swiftly "washed away" by the Park Fire Department at a service station at Kercheval and Beaconsfield avenues Thursday, March 24.

Chief Phillip Costa reported that an attendant inserted a gas pumper in a Torino's tank and went to check under the hood. The pumper "popped" and about eight to 10 gallons of gas was deposited on the driveway and around the gas pumps.

Firemen washed the area down to flush away the potential fire hazard. Chief Costa emphasized the fact that attendants should stay near the dispensing equipment so a situation like this could be avoided.

Woods Backs House Bill

The Woods council unanimously passed a resolution by Councilman Benjamin W. Pinkos expressing its "concurrence and approval" of House Bill 5374 at the regular meeting Monday, March 20.

This bill amends the General Property Tax Act to exclude from the cash value of real property the following: amount paid as realtor's fees; amounts paid by the owner for obtaining financing; amounts attributable to personal property included in the purchase price; amounts paid as closing costs; and amounts paid for surveying the property. The Michigan State Legislature is currently considering this bill.

If this bill passes, there will be a seven to 10 percent reduction in assessed valuation, said City Administrator Chester E. Petersen. He added that the Woods is one of the few cities in favor of the bill.

Robert E. Fryer, director, Michigan Municipal League, in a letter to the council urged them to have Governor William Milliken veto the bill. With the seven to 10 percent reduction, the bill's "final approval will mean a reduction in assessed value and hence a like percentage reduction in property tax revenues," he said.

In his letter, Mr. Fryer noted that "it is the interpretation of the State Tax Commission that this change will have to be taken into account in this year's equalization process, resulting in a seven to 10 percent reduction in property tax revenues this year."

"Since your county and school districts will also suffer this loss, they should also be advised to ask for a veto," added Mr. Fryer.

However, Mr. Pinkos was opposed to the feeling of the Michigan Municipal League and, after the final vote, so was the council. "There will be future discussions on amendments to the property tax and we should let the Governor know how we feel," said Mr. Pinkos.

The Woods resolution stated that the council "feels that such legislation is beneficial to those communities who have demonstrated fiscal responsibility."

Cottage Gives Building Data

Cottage Hospital, at the prompting of the Farms Council, has submitted a short progress report on the development of its parking area off Muir road.

The communication, directed to the Farms Public Service Director John Defoe, reported that the new parking lot behind the hospital addition has been paved and striped. Lighting has been installed, and the size of the parking spaces conforms to the Farms parking ordinance.

The house on the corner of Muir and Ridge road is currently vacant, according to hospital administrator Ralph Wilgarde, and will be demolished in the spring to provide more parking space.

In regard to the required planting strip along Muir road, Mr. Defoe assured the council that a landscape company has designed the planting of the area, and that work will begin once weather permits.

The hospital's exit drive onto Ridge road has been closed off, and work has begun to remove the driveway and install new curbing.

The Farms council reviewed the report, with Councilman Richard Hudson offering the only suggestion. He mentioned his concern over the mechanical works at the rear of the hospital, and proposed a decorative screen to hide the mechanisms.

Farms City Manager Andrew Bremner promised Mr. Hudson that the suggestion would be brought to the attention of hospital administrators.

Thief Snatches $475 in Tools

Tools valued at $475 were taken from a sport van at the rear of Larry's Custom Plumbing, 20947 Mack Avenue, Tuesday, March 14.

Officer John Albrecht of the Woods Police Department received a report which noted that the sport van was parked from Monday, March 13, at 4:30 p.m. until March 14, at 8:45 p.m., at which time the entry was discovered.

Items taken include one grey metal tool box, 2' x 8' x 18", with assorted tools valued at $200; one one-half inch reversible electric drill in a grey metal box, 19" x 8" x 8", $50 value; one "Milwaukee" drill and assorted bits up to four inches at $170, and one "Prestolite" gas heating torch with a green handle and a small grey tank, at $55.

Further investigation revealed that entry was gained by possibly using a screwdriver and prying a vent window open on the driver's side.

Officer William Lentz and Corporal Peter Thomas, while checking buildings around 12 midnight on March 13, noticed that the driver's door of the sport van was open about eight to 10 inches. A considerable amount of tools and supplies were observed in the rear of the van. Everything, at that time, appeared in order and the door was secured.

Shores Rejects Light Change

By Kathy Duff
The Shores Village Council voted in favor of the "status quo" at their last monthly meeting held on Tuesday night, March 21.

The question was whether to convert the incandescent streetlights along Lake Shore drive to a mercury vapor system.

At an earlier Shores meeting, the trustees had voted in favor of the light switch; however, Shores Village Superintendent Thomas K. Jeffers contacted the Detroit Edison Company and was informed that "the kind of lights we have along Lake Shore road can't be replaced." The Edison official was referring to the lamp posts along Lake Shore which are vintage 1927.

It's a small price to pay for tradition, especially since the trustees were not sure if they wished to increase the lumen strength of the Lake Shore lights from 10,000 lumens, the current strength, to 15,000 lumens, the closest available mercury vapor strength. Lumens are a measure of light intensity.

"In view of all the difficulties, I recommend that we leave things the way they are," Mr. Jeffers advised the trustees. He mentioned the $5 changeover fee which would be charged by the Detroit Edison Company for late conversion to their mercury vapor system; but added that a vapor light would cost $2 a month more, so the changeover fee would be absorbed in two and a half months with the incandescent light. The Shores trustees and village government pride themselves with giving each Shores resident the most for his tax dollar.

The trustees accepted the advice of the village superintendent and agreed to retain the present lighting system along Lake Shore drive.

At the close of the discussion, an interesting sidelight to the problem was given by Mr. Jeffers. He informed the council that everytime a motorist knocks over a streetlight, Detroit Edison will replace it with a more modern pole which can be easily converted to a mercury vapor light.

The trustees previously approved a switch to mercury vapor lighting for the 200 street lights located on the Shores residential streets, since the light poles were more modern and easily converted from the incandescent system. This action was taken in the Tuesday, January 25, regular village meeting.

Thief Leaves 'Old' for 'New'

"Out with the old and in with the new" is a popular statement around New Year's time. However, Patrick Whelan, 1313 Torrey road, discovered, in the case of a thoughtless thief, that "in with the old and out with the new" is probably more appropriate.

Officer Russell Allard of the Woods Police Department received a report from Whelan Monday, March 20, who said that he parked his car at the rear of the Woods Theater and when he returned the hood was loose.

Further investigation revealed that someone had stolen a new battery and replaced it with an old one.

Park Residents Lose Friend

Some residents of The Park not only lost their postman but a friend when Robert Ream, 14616 Springarden, Detroit, died Tuesday, March 21, at Saratoga General Hospital. Mr. Ream, 44, was a Pointe postman for 16 years.

For the last several years Mr. Ream's postal route included most of Bishop road and part of Yorkshire road. He also delivered on Grayton road for a time and, many years ago, served on St. Clair avenue.

Mary Stresen-Reuter, of Bishop road, reports that "Bob was one of those people who always had a pleasant smile and a friendly word. He did the extra things like bringing out a book of stamps or taking a package in to be mailed."

"He would even bring out packages which were waiting to be picked up because the first attempt to deliver them had failed. He was always among the first to welcome new residents and went out of his way to make them feel like a part of the neighborhood."

"Bob loved fishing and did it in the winter as well as the summer."

"Friends who want to show their appreciation for Bob's services and dedication to his work are contributing to a fund for his wife and children."

Donations may be sent to: Mrs. Robert Ream, c/o Glen Adams, Kercheval Postal Station, Detroit, Michigan, 48215.

Four Convicted In City Court

City police officer Jim Croin and Corporal Edmund Benthuis answered a suspicious persons call on Monday, March 20, at 9:06 p.m. from the owner of Alger Party Store, 17320 Mack.

On arrival at the scene officers found Carl Brown, Paul M. Cuddy and Fred Moore, all of Cleveland, O., and Ben Weeks, of North Carolina, parked in front of the store.

Brown told officer's that he hired Cuddy to drive him and his friends to Detroit to purchase a car. He said they were looking for a motel and got lost.

Officers said all of the men had been drinking. An unregistered gun was in the vehicle. Brown said the gun was given to him as a gift from his grandfather.

All four were detained at a Pointe police station overnight, after being informed of their rights. They were charged with possessing a handgun and being an unregistered gun.

They appeared before Judge Douglas L. Paterson.

Burglars Hit Stroh's Again

For the second time this month, Stroh's Ice Cream Parlour was entered during the night by an unknown person.

The latest incident, which occurred on Sunday night, March 19, was discovered by Farms Patrolman F. J. Belanger making a routine check on Kercheval avenue stores at 8:20 a.m. Monday morning.

The policeman noticed the door of the restaurant located at 74 Kercheval, standing ajar and a 12 by 9 inch glass windowpane broken. It was apparent that the thief had reached inside, unlocked the door, and let himself in.

The owner of the store, Michael Van Lokeren, 34 Beverly, was contacted. Checking the store, he reported that no valuables appeared stolen, that only three cabinets were disordered.

The Sunday night break-in was very similar to the previous break-in discovered Wednesday morning, March 1, by Farms Patrolman Gerald Deburghgraeve.

A cash drawer, containing $190 in store receipts, was taken during the March 1 burglary. The thief had used glass cutters to break a glass pane located near the doorknob, to let himself inside the store.

The investigation has been turned over to the Farms detective bureau.

Police Recover Stolen Vehicle

Dapheen Guns, 371 Lake Shore drive, contacted Farms police on Friday, March 17, to report her stolen car recovered by Detroit police.

The complainant's '69 Lincoln was stolen on Saturday, March 11, in downtown Detroit. It was recovered, with different license plates, six days later by Detroit police on the corner of Stockton and Van Dyke. When police checked the new plates, they belonged on a '68 Cadillac registered to a woman living on Harned street, Detroit.

Upon recovering her car, Mrs. Guns gave the Farms police several items found inside the '69 Lincoln which did not belong to her. The items include two stereo tape cartridges, an olive pullover skirt, an ignition lock, and the transferred license plates.

The Farms police notified the Detroit Auto Squad to report the articles which could serve as evidence to locate the car thief.

Tuesday, March 21, on these charges. All were found guilty. Brown was fined $115, McCuddy was fined $90, Moore and Weeks $65 each. All were released after payment of fines.

St. Paul Uses New Approach

An excellent beginning... the term describes the new kindergarten starting in the fall, at St. Paul School.

The new kindergarten will feature experiences in growth in a Christian environment, readiness in math and reading, verbal skills, group interaction, development in physical coordination and creative expressions in art and music.

The children are treated as individuals, who share common developmental characteristics and progress at their own unique rate.

A highly individualized approach is planned. The classroom will feature separate "learning centers" where the teacher works with individual children or groups of two or three.

The emphasis is on teaching children to think, question, discover, evaluate, and learn. The goal is to help children become independent thinkers who are self-propelled and continuing learners.

Mrs. Susan Gravel, Lakeview kindergarten specialist, is organizing the kindergarten. For further information call Sister Ann Celine O'Hallaren, 885-3430.

Farms to Buy Vote Machines

The Farms council approved the purchase of two used voting machines priced at $800 each in a recent council meeting.

Under consideration were two used Shoup voting machines, vintage 1956, which have serial numbers similar to the 24 voting machines currently used by the Farms' seven precincts.

Farms City Assessor-Comptroller Carrol Lock, in recommending the purchase to the Farms councilmen, said that the city's increased population necessitated the two additional machines.

"If we have to add another precinct, we will have the equipment," he said in encouraging the councilmen to approve the purchase.

Recently enfranchised 18-year-olds also add to the voting load, and state law requires a voting machine for every 400 voters.

The city comptroller said that he personally had not seen the machines, but that a Farms administrator had seen them and said they were in good condition.

TIP TO MOTORISTS

Our highways would be much safer if fewer people insisted upon the pursuit of happiness at ninety miles per hour.

"X" Resolution Anti-Pollution

The anti-"X"-rated film resolution proposed by Woods Councilman Marvin R. Boutin and passed unanimously by the council at the regular meeting Monday, March 20, focuses upon the city's concern in "all matters relating to pollution, including conditions that pertain to our physical as well as mental well-being."

Therefore, the council, says the resolution, indicates "strong opposition to the showing of motion pictures which are generally rated 'X' under current rating standards of the industry, in this or in any other city."

A copy of the resolution is scheduled to be forwarded to each of the other Pointe communities, Harper Woods, St. Clair Shores, "the theatres involved," and to the publisher of the Detroit News, Peter B. Clark.

It's indifference, not honest difference, that places our nation in greatest jeopardy.

Stereo Items Stolen in B-E

Various pieces of stereo equipment valued around $550 was stolen during a breaking and entering Tuesday, March 21.

Officer William Desilets of the Woods Police Department received a report from Thomas Heinrichs, 1914 Hunt Club drive, who said he left home at 6:30 p.m. and, upon returning at 11:45 p.m., found the residence had been entered. The culprits appear to have gained entry through the milkhutch near the side door.

Earth Lovers Need Helpers

Earth Lovers are busily at work at their new location behind Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, Saturdays, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. This new group, which collects bottles for recycling, is a successor to the one begun by 14-year-olds in February, 1971, at Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church. It is composed of South High School student volunteers.

When a full load of glass has been collected, it is trucked to a melting plant in Charlotte, where the crushed glass is recycled into new bottles.

Mike Read, one of the group's leaders, says students need more glass and some adult supervisors who are willing to give two hours once a month on Saturdays.

He reminds residents to be sure the bottles are rinsed out and any metal parts removed before they are dropped off at the collection center.

YFU to Send Teens Abroad

Three students from The Pointe were recently accepted by the Youth For Understanding (YFU) teenage exchange program. Each student will spend the summer abroad, living with a carefully-selected European family.

Headed for Denmark in June will be Nancy Krausmann, of 201 McMillan road. Laurie Kalkman, of 252 Fisher road, will be on a plane bound for Switzerland. The third student, Constance Drake, of 296 Touraine road, will be on her way to The Netherlands.

Another program sponsored by the organization is the Youth for Understanding String Ensemble. This group will tour Southern Europe this summer, giving concerts in European Towns and cities.

Lending their talents to the ensemble are Stephen Ellason, of 1339 Balfour road, and Constance Hintzen, of 256 Ridgmont road. These students were chosen for their musical talent as well as their ability to represent their country as ambassadors.

The group will rehearse every Sunday until June when their tour begins. They will also give several Michigan concerts before their departure.

The YFU organization was founded 21 years ago by Dr. Rachel Andresen. It originated as a small alliance handling 75 students. Since then, YFU has grown to be the nation's largest international teen age program, involving over 5,000 students a year from more than 35 countries.

YFU believes that in a family atmosphere young people will learn most about a country, its people and their way of life. Sharing the day to day activities of a family has also proven to be the best way to learn a new language, since it involves language needed in daily living rather than the more formal language taught in a classroom.

Applications are still being accepted from high school students who wish to go abroad next summer as YFU exchange students.

Full information can be obtained from the YFU International Office, 2015 Washington Avenue, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48104. Students may also contact YFU's local area representative Mrs. Ed Schnell, 2750 Berry drive, Bloomfield Hills, 48013, phone: 313-338-3436.

WRONG APPROACH
It's all right to try to achieve superiority, but trying to make the other fellow feel inferior is the wrong way to do it.

Casey Leads UF Campaign

E. Paul Casey, of Rathbone place, McCord Corporation president, has accepted an appointment to a top leadership position in the United Foundation's spring Capital Fund campaign.

His appointment was announced by Lee A. Iacocca, Ford Motor Company president and general chairman of the campaign.

Casey will head a campaign group soliciting funds from companies involved in non-automotive manufacturing and the construction industry.

The Capital Fund campaign does not ask individuals to contribute. The entire $21.4 million goal will be solicited from corporations and foundations.

In contrast to the annual Torch Drive which raises money for operating budgets for 164 service agencies, the capital campaign is to raise funds for buildings, equipment and repairs for some 56 voluntary hospital, health and community oriented agencies in the tri-county area.

Iacocca said the campaign will officially begin at a kick-off meeting April 5 at the Detroit Hilton, when 300 campaign volunteers will be joined by members of the UF board and agency executives. The campaign ends with a victory celebration on June 9.

Sentence Four On Vandalism

Four youths were sentenced in the Wayne County Circuit Court last week regarding a case of malicious destruction of property in The Woods and Harper Woods November 12, 1971.

Douglas C. Louzon, 18, 19165 Woodside, Harper Woods, was sentenced to a term of up to three years in Camp Pugsley, a youth training center near Traverse City.

Receiving two years probation were Ronald W. Miller, 17, 18911 Edgefield, Detroit; Gloria Beth Pokone, 17, 20684 Parkcrest, Harper Woods, and Donn William Coppens, 18, 19436 Woodside, Harper Woods.

The youths were charged with unloading pellets into over 60 stores, houses and cars in The Woods and Harper Woods while riding in an auto.

Around $15,000 to $20,000 of damage was caused by the youths who started south of the Woods Municipal Building, 20025 Mack, to Moross road, according to the November 18, 1971, edition of the NEWS. Two of the youths, one with a BB-rifle and the other with a hand pellet gun, fired at windows.

Oceanography Course Slated

The Department of Community Services has scheduled a course in Oceanography for high school students. The six-week course will begin April 19, and will be taught from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at Grosse Pointe South High School.

David LaDuke, science department chairman at Grosse Pointe South, will be the instructor for the course.

The fee for the course is $7.00 per person. Registration information can be obtained by calling 885-3808 or 885-0271.

Public Schools in Focus

By Dr. Theos I. Anderson, Superintendent of Schools

Daniel P. Moynihan, a social scientist and former aide to President Nixon, and Frederick Mosteller, a mathematical statistician, headed a group of Harvard University researchers who re-examined the data and procedures used in the 1966 Coleman Report, the most extensive study on educational quality ever undertaken in the United States.

What does the new analysis of the Coleman Report reveal?

The Harvard study reaffirms the central finding of the original study that academic achievement depends far more on family background than on what happens in the classroom.

The analysis confirmed that the social class of a child's fellow-students had more impact on individual achievement than any other factor within the school, including equipment, class size or teacher preparation. The current report indicates that the extent of this impact on lower-class black children was "overstressed" by Coleman, a sociologist at Johns Hopkins Hospital. Although several of the writers of the Harvard study disagree on certain points, most uphold Coleman's general conclusions.

In his report and other writings Coleman emphasized that schools in which middle-class students predominate set a "tone" for academic achievement that spurs on lower-class youngsters. However, this effect is caused by social class, not by race, although proportionately more blacks than whites are in low-income facilities and therefore most racial integration also involves mixing social classes.

Although Coleman concluded that "middle class" schools raised the achievement of poor youngsters, his report did not analyze the data to find out how much of a gain the children actually made. Determination of the relatively slight degree of this gain was one of the most important results of the new study.

The Mosteller-Moynihan study suggests that the best way to deal with the educational problems of poor black or white children may be to improve the jobs and incomes of their families.

"All of this brings the argument for school integration back to where it started," Dr. Moynihan concluded. "It is a moral and social issue, not a technological one about the sources of educational achievement. They do not reside primarily in the schools."

One View From The Capitol

By William R. Bryant, Jr.

The shifting battle over petitions to change school finance by state constitutional amendment took a new turn last week.

The Michigan Education Association (MEA), the largest teacher association in the state, has started their own petition drive and the Governor now supports their drive and has withdrawn his own petitions.

The announced reason for the Governor withdrawing his petitions was the recent state Supreme Court decision casting doubt on millage limits for debt purposes. The real reason was nobody wanted to sign the petitions. After months of work, only about 5% of the signatures needed had been collected.

The Democrats have pulled their petitions back also but are unhappy with the MEA petitions because the graduated income tax would be a separate question. They may launch a new petition.

Some basic problems continue. The MEA petition still limits "enrichment millage" to six mills. This is not adequate. It provides up to four and a half mills for intermediate districts and vocational, special and compensatory education but the legislature could make these unusable for districts like Grosse Pointe.

Property tax inequities would continue. Until there is a state property tax, it appears no real reform of the

Clark Women's Club To Meet This Monday

Clark Women's Club will meet at Christ Methodist Church Monday, April 3, at 1 o'clock for a tea and social hour followed by a business session.

Mrs. Lowell Montgomery will present a demonstration of Williamburg Dried Flower Arrangements. Tea chairman Mrs. Frank Shepherd will be assisted by co-chairman Mrs. Thomas Gorton and her committee.

property tax system will take place. Also, the petition would provide little or no property tax relief for much of the state.

Local control of schools is in dire jeopardy if the state takes over the purse strings. Grosse Pointe now controls about 90% of basic expenditures by raising them locally. Under the new system, we would depend on the state for 80-90%. Quite a switch. Language can and should be added to any proposal to assure that the State Board of Education won't control all our schools.

So the battle continues. I oppose the MEA petitions.

Woods Amends New Ordinance

The Woods recent Certificate of Occupancy ordinance was amended on an emergency basis at the regular meeting Monday, March 20, on the recommendation of City Administrator Chester E. Petersen.

Mr. Petersen urged council consideration to raise the "business and professional offices" classification from 75 to 90. However, as unanimously passed, the figure was changed from 75 to 100.

When the 75 figure was originally set, Mr. Petersen mentioned that he thought there were over 60 "businesses and professional offices" and that the 75 limit would offer enough leeway. But he added that 75 businesses have already applied for the Certificates of Occupancy and nine more are pending. He felt that the 90 figure would be sufficient to cover this "growth."

Councilman Marvin R. Boutin mentioned his interest in encouraging more businesses and suggested the limit be set at 100 and the council agreed. Now, all pending applications can be processed with extra "breathing room." And because the ordinance was amended on an emergency basis, it becomes immediately effective.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Virginia Leonard

Easter is coming! And with it, all the religious thoughts, the excitement of family reunions, perhaps a new wardrobe (?), good food—and—for the kids, Easter eggs!

Have you ever wondered why we faithfully color, hide these famous eggs, and watch the children hunt? Really, what do eggs have to do with Easter, especially in its religious connotation? Actually, the egg is used in much the same way as the butterfly. The chick emerging from the shell symbolizes the Resurrection. And how did the rabbit get into the picture? The hare, according to Egyptian mythology, is a symbol of the moon. It is thought that its significance at Easter is its association with the date of the festival, for that date is determined by the moon.

Each country has its own customs, you may be sure. One quaint custom in Warwick, England, was that if a rabbit could be caught and taken to the village parson before ten o'clock on Easter morning, the parson, in return, was obligated to give the young people who caught it a hundred eggs for breakfast!

In Germany, Switzerland and Belgium, the youngsters put nests in the grass of their gardens so that the Easter bunny could fill them with eggs. If the weather should be unpleasant, then the rabbit was expected to find places inside the house to hide the eggs. In Italy, bunny-shaped pastries are baked for the Easter feast.

Even before the time of Christ, it was customary to exchange eggs. The Hebrews for hundreds of years, have included the Paschal egg at the feast of the Passover. The ancient peoples of Egypt, Persia, Greece and Rome followed the custom of exchanging eggs at their Spring festivals. In Babylonia, eggs were presented to the ancient goddess of fertility, Astarte. One very old Hindu myth tells how the world itself was created from a giant world-egg. After this mammoth egg had lain dormant for a long period of time, it finally split into two halves, thus creating the earth and sky.

To people of all ages, the egg has represented new life; thus what more appropriate sign of the Resurrection? In Ireland the fast of Lent is broken on Easter day by the eating of a meal of eggs.

We could go on and on with the extremely interesting and varied customs, and how many of them came into being. For example, before commercial dyes were available, people used onion skins, herb juices, various kinds of flowers and bits of colored cloth soaked in hot water. In Greece, Rumania and the Ukraine, the eggs are colored red to express the joy of the Easter season.

Empty eggshells are used in some European countries for decoration and display. This custom led to the making of egg trees. In Norway, empty eggshells are used for holding candles and tiny baskets. Of course, many of these customs have filtered through to our country too. I'm sure you all know about the famous egg-rolling party that is given annually on Easter Monday on the lawn of the White House.

Even before the fifteenth century there are records in Western Europe that Easter eggs were used. (The custom of coloring the eggs has been found in an African tribe once Christian but long since converted to Mohammedanism!) So eggs we have had with us for a long time, providing fun and games; their history in this connection is fascinating, and let us hope that their uses at Easter will continue for a long, long time.

Our libraries have a number of books on Easter. One of the latest and most colorful is AN EGG AT EASTER by Venetia Newall. It is a folklore study and certainly covers the subject most thoroughly with fine illustrations both in black-and-white and in color. We strongly advise you to read it. And who could discuss eggs without mentioning Faberge? We have PETER CARL FABERGE by H. C. Bainbridge—a book which discusses his life and work. He was a goldsmith and jeweler to the Russian Imperial Court and his workshops produced many rare and beautiful works of art. The gorgeous illustrations in this book include his incredibly ornate Easter eggs presented twice a year to the Czar's family, along with other examples of Faberge's craftsmanship. The book is a positive delight, even if you just examine the illustrations.

A very happy Easter to you—and may the Easter bunny find all of you!

About that crying baby at the King George Inn and Hessian's Pub in the Village of Dorneyville at the crossroads of Cedar Crest and Hamilton boulevards, Allentown, Pa.:

For 100 years now, no one's been able to find it. About the doors that open there and close there, untouched by human hands:

Who — or what — is doing the opening and closing?

About Clifford G. McDermott, and his wife, Nancy Gray McDermott, and their children, Kevin, 12, and nine-year-old Colleen, who used to live in Balfour road when Cliff used to be an Account Executive with Visual Services, Inc., and the R. L. Polk Automotive Marketing Services:

They're living rather differently now. It all began when Cliff, and his brother Jack, who used to be in sales in California, visited brother Gene in Pennsylvania and fell in love with the 216-year-old Inn. Twenty years before the American Revolution the owners of the original Inn were paying taxes to King George III of England, so, when the McDermott Brothers bought the building, known until last year as the White Horse Inn or Dorneyville Hotel, they decided two centuries was time-and-to-spare in which to bury a grudge: Why not give the place old George's name and forget about the Great Tax Inequity?

The Inn is a stone, three-story structure that used to house coach passengers between Allentown and Reading on the Old Philadelphia Road. Later it became, for several generations, the farmhouse-homestead of the Dorney family. Later it reverted to its first role, as the White Horse Inn or Dorneyville Hotel.

The McDermotts opened the Hessian's Pub, reached via a side entrance stone tunnel, in December, restoring an original old fireplace for open hearth atmosphere and installing a long, stand-up bar. They provide a church pew for very tired thirsty wayfarers.

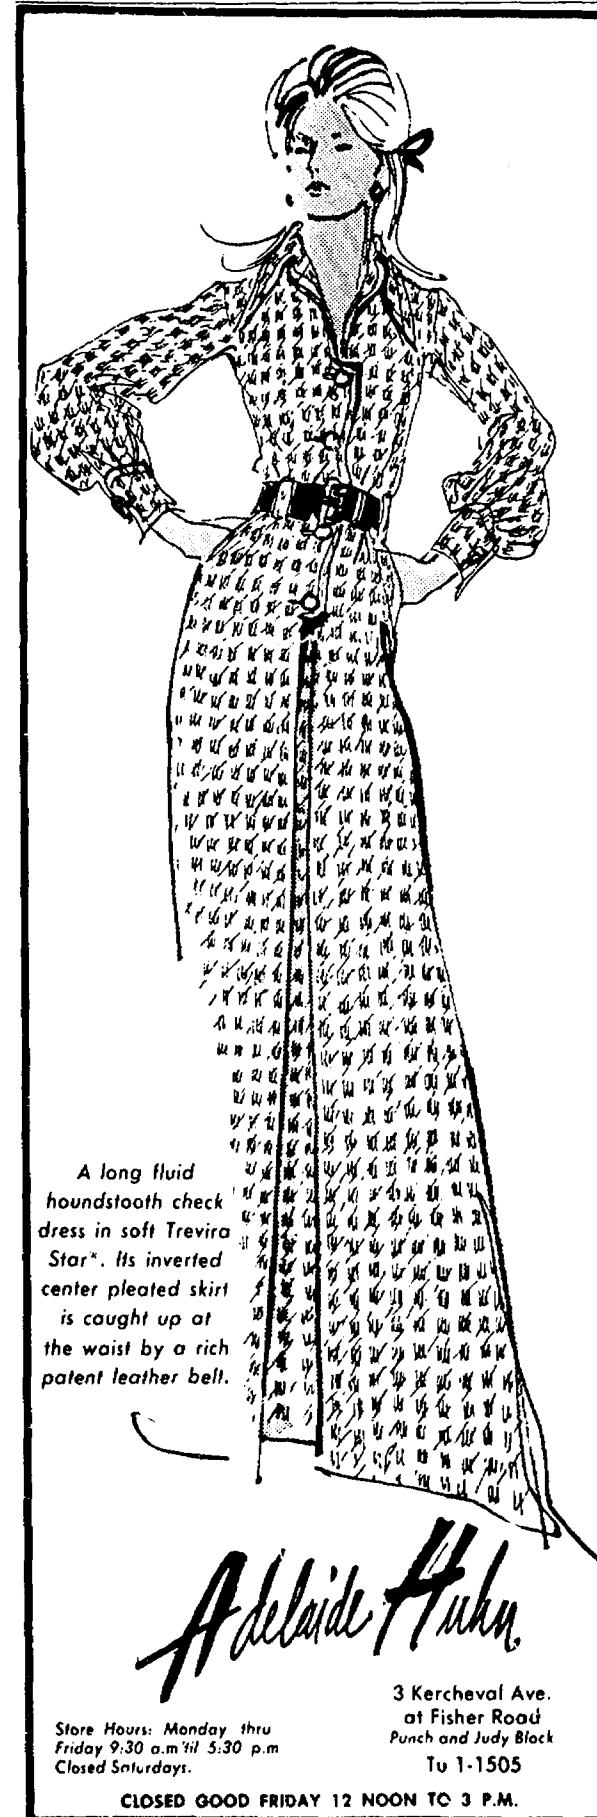

A deep well beneath the building cools their wine cellar grotto, (the pump's still on the front porch near the main Inn entrance), and they've re-done the main dining room in English decor, with shutters on the windows and candles on the tables, re-naming it the British Yorkshire Room.

There's a more informal dining room, too, the Colonial Hearth Room, and a posher-than-the-Pub beautiful old upstairs bar.

Cliff McDermott couldn't be happier. Isn't getting away from it all, after all, every advertising man's dream? . . . and what could be more getting-away-from-it than Proprietor of a Country Inn featuring luncheon sandwiches with names like "Hessian's Retreat" and "Father of Our Country"?

Nancy, brought up in The Pointe—her mother's Mrs. John Whitty, of Belanger road—is taking to the East like a duck to water. Kevin and Colleen haven't forgotten their Defer School-mates, but they've made a passel of good, new friends.

On Being On The Sahara: An Explanatory Dialogue

By Janet Mueller

It was rather like being captured by the Boy Scouts. Or marching with Montgomery toward El Alamein. Neither of which experiences I'm knocking, but there's a difference between expecting no luxuries and being faced with the elimination of two elements.

Earth and air we had. Fire and water were sometimes in short supply.

"Why," he/she/they/everbody said, "in the world do you want to go through the Sahara desert? Camping out?" "You're not used to deserts, and you're not used to camping, and when you walk it's in the north, through woods, by lakes, in company with a good friend or two, expecting, anticipating, a hot bath and a cold drink at the end of the trail."

Right. . . . But it's mid-December. It's snowing. And I'm tired: It's been a rough year. I'm fed up with cities, and I'm fed up with cold, and I'm fed up, for the moment, with people. I don't want to know the story of anybody's life.

Besides: I always wanted to go through the Sahara.

"Yes, but WHY?" "So after a while you begin to take it. "Because I'm fascinated by prehistoric art in the Tassili n'Ajjer." "Because I've read so much about Tuaregs." "Because I hope to see the rare oryx." All of which is, of course, true and utterly ridiculous. WHY won't people comprehend a "Just because . . .?"

"How," he/she/they/everbody said, "are you going? What will be your route?"

That's easy. I've got a folder to refer to on that. "By air, Detroit to Kennedy; Kennedy to Dakar, Senegal; Dakar to Bamako, Mali. Then overland from Bamako via Timbuktu, Niamey, Agadez, through the Tonere to Bilma, up into Algeria to Djanet, up from Djanet (on foot) to the Tassili, down again, into the air again, and home."

"Where the hell ARE these places?"

"Here's a map." "You might at least show me where to start looking . . ."

"You can't mean you're going alone?"

"Idiot! Of course not. I may be fed up, and tired out, but that's a long way from a Death Wish. It's a regular tour sort of thing. There'll be other people . . ."

"I'd sure like to see them."

The 18 paying members of the 1972 Lindblad Travel Trans Sahara Expedition plus their Lindblad Travel Host, Famous Photographer George Holton, (who turns out to be a cousin of Trudy Meyer, who lives over in Tonnancour place), mustered en masse for the first time the first week in February in the lobby of the Hotel Croix du Sud in downtown Dakar, and if there'd been a prize for the one who looked the most peculiarly unsuited to cross the Sahara, there'd have been an 18-way tie.

Nineteen-way. George didn't look that much like an Old Sahara Hand either.

Sixteen of us were from all over the United States, from as far west as Seattle, as far east as Wilmington. There were also a gentleman (German) from Colombia, South America, and a chemist (female) from Switzerland. We stood, assorted sizes, shapes, sexes and ages—22 on up to "She'll never make it!"—beside a pile of 19 identical brown duffle bags filled with things we weren't going to need, like safety razors, wigs and warm pajamas.

If it's cold enough for warm pajamas, it's too cold to get into them.

To bring a wig to the Sahara is just plain weird. Although Lindblad had advised "hot water for shaving is not always available," no man reading the brochure knew then that "not always" would translate on-the-track as "never." If I'd known then what I know now, I would have crammed my duffle bag with purse-size kleenex packets, tossed in a St. Christopher medal and the odd extra like a change of underwear and been done with it.

Among the 18 paying members of the 1972 Lindblad Travel Trans Sahara Expedition was a woman who had already—in Dakar!—swathed her head in veils to keep out the sand. I mean: Her head was SWATHED, wrapped up so that only her eyes peeped out.

"You're not going to like it."

"Oh yes I will."

"You're going to find the people you're traveling with a little unusual."

"I like unusual people."

In Bamako Lindblad turned us over to Minitrek, a British outfit that specializes in taking tourists to the more obscure, difficult-of-access corners of the world. Minitrek People look like Old Sahara Hands. Old Sahara Hands look like something out of a Richard Burton-before-he-got-famous Late Late Show.

Minitrek People are very capable themselves, (when it comes to deserts), so they don't realize that the first time someone tosses you a kit bag and expects you to go forth and cope, it may come as something of a shock.

Minitrek People are fond of pushing Minitrek passengers to beyond what they (the passengers) think are the limits of their endurance. This, according to the Minitrek Philosophy, gives the passengers "a feeling of accomplishment."

It does. If it doesn't kill them.

Minitrek showed up at the Bamako airport with eight Land Rovers and drivers, one of whom was also a doctor, with three cooks, one of whom, when not cooking, at home in London, was a nurse-midwife—Minitrek takes NO chances—and with on-the-track resident author-lecturer James Wellard, whose books include "The Great Sahara" and "Lost Worlds of Africa."

Each of the drivers was a Minitrek leader in his own right, each a specialist specially selected for this high class de luxe, ("For Lindblad, we put three passengers in each vehicle instead of four." And you get a chair—that breaks—to sit down on while you're eating dinner. Not breakfast. Not lunch. Just dinner.), trip.

One of the drivers had climbed Annapurna. Another knew everything there was to know about birds. Leader of the Expedition was Herbert Sylve who, since he is also the leader of Minitrek, got to drive the lead vehicle.

"Into oblivion, I'll bet."

"No. It wasn't like that, really. Oh, there's lots to laugh about, but you should have SEEN the Peuhl People dancing, with their painted faces. . . ."

"And in Gao there is a good big market to wander in, and next to the river a low stone wall that's good for sitting on and watching . . ."

"At Tallabery there's a big fort, falling to ruins. You climb into it up tumbled, cracked steps and peer into rooms falling in, falling out, and come out on a wide, flat, shadeless roof . . ."

"There's always a wind blowing, and sun IS forever . . ."

"Come on! Will the Last of the Red Hot Romantics please stand up!"

Well, I never said I wasn't.

"Seriously, what was it really like?"

"You mean physically? What did the land look like?"

"That's as good a place as any to start."

The Niger is a strip of blue, banded on either side by strips of green, and beyond that sand-dust and thorn tree savanna. Before you get to Timbuktu, there's a big swamp. Oases aren't tight, all bundled together, but stretched out: They straggle at the ends. People live in hut villages along the river and in house towns on the oases. The towns on the oases look exactly as you expect them to. Just like in the movies. The villages along the river look exactly as you expect them to, straight out of the National Geographic.

The real desert may be rocks, and may be sand, and may be rocks-and-sand, sand color of sand shading to sand-colored shadows shading to black mountains dusted with sand. It's a very long landscape. It doesn't seem to change until it has. . . . It's sort of beautiful . . .

"If you like bleak."

"If you like bleak."

Camping out tentless in a bleak landscape with 30 strangers does present certain practical problems.

Question: How do you wash yourself, in public, in a small plastic basin containing two inches of water?

Answer: First you slosh out the first half-inch carrying the basin back to where you've laid out your sleeping bag for the night. Then you start to work piecemeal, uncovering and re-covering as you work downwards. Ladies tend to kneel with their backs to the main camp during the first, wasie-up, part of this process. I found standing in the basin, the longest shirt I had pulled down to (about) the tops of my thighs, a good way to finish.

If it's too cold—it gets VERY cold at night in the desert—or there's no washing water, the whole thing becomes academic, of course. You don't wash.

Question: What do you do when the toilet tent blows over?

Answer: Since Minitrek considers that toilet tent a big joke anyway, and Minitrek has control over it, and Minitrek laughs when it falls and lets it lie, first you cease to depend on, later you come to ignore the toilet tent. After a while it just sort of disappears.

If privacy's your bag, the Sahara is no place for you.

Each of us had his own mountain to climb. I'd never possessed enough lung power to blow up a balloon. Faced with a deflated air mattress I tended to panic—but when the alternative is sleeping flat (?), on 108 sharp rocks interspersed with fallen thorn tree twigs, through which a herd of goats has just drifted, doing their thing, you huff . . . and you puff . . .

"You mean YOU did that? You! How could you stand it?"

(Note: It's not my coping with the lack of privacy that comes as a shock. It's the blowing up of the lilo.)

"I didn't think about it all that much. Actually, it wasn't very hard."

. . . .

Actually, it wasn't. Because, for doing this, you get nights in the sand sea, and at night in the sand sea the sand glows in moonlight, and the sky glows in moon and starlight, and lying on your back on the sand is being in the glowing middle of everything.

You got a day in the Air Mountains beside a rock pool, a guelta, dipping and baking.

You got an afternoon on a rooftop in Agadez, watching people in the streets below, drinking warm beer and cracking peanuts.

You got, (thanks to Jim Wellard, who found the way in), a look at the walled fortress of Fachi, where the grain is still stored in huge jars and the dates are piled on the floor and if you dig down in the center of the courtyard there's water. You can climb to the top of the tower and look out for raiders and have time to warn the mad people of Fachi to get into the fortress before the attack.

You got camel caravans still crossing the desert from the salt mines of Bilma. You got the salt mines of Bilma, and flies in your food, on your face, and broken fingernails and a sun-burned nose. You got to go to bed two hours past dark and wake up at dawn, after burrowing half the night face down in your sleeping bag because in the middle of the night a mini-storm swept by. You got shaken awake after the storm by a neighbor, (next sleeping bag down), who's saying, as he shakes, "Are you alive?"

"I think so . . ."

"You know, you've been doing that a lot lately."

"What?"

"You'll be talking, and you'll suddenly stop. Well, maybe not suddenly: It's more like running down. Then you'll stare for a while, then you'll usually begin to mumble."

"I have a Strange Tropical Disease."

"No wonder!"

"You would too if you'd blown up an air mattress every night."

"You SAY you blew up an air mattress every night . . ."

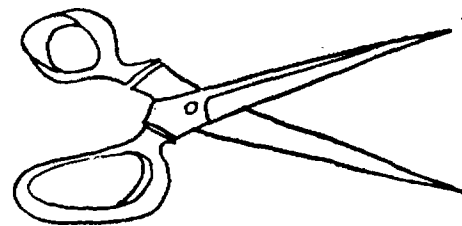

"I did so! And wait until you hear about digging out in the Tenere . . ."

This is a scissors.

It cuts hair. And how well hair is cut determines how well hair sets and how long a set lasts. A scissors must cut with your hair, never against it. A scissors must cut enough, but never too much. We use a scissors this way—skillfully and sparingly. And we get beautiful results. Like to see? We'd love to show you.

Lynn B. Engstrom Married March 25

Speaks Vows to Edward P. Welsh, Jr.; Pair Will Return to Reside in Pointe After Extended Vacation on Eastern Seaboard

Lynn Bernice Engstrom became the bride of Edward P. Welsh, Jr., Saturday evening, March 25, at a candlelight ceremony in St. James Lutheran Church. The Arthur H. Engstroms entertained at a reception and buffet in their Three Mile drive home following their daughter's 7 o'clock wedding.

After an extended trip along the Eastern seaboard the newlyweds will return to The Pointe to make their home.

The bride's ivory satin Empire gown was banded with Alencon lace. Matching lace edged her train and a Camelot cap of lace re-embroidered with seed pearls held her tiered, elbow length illusion veil.

She carried a crescent of pale pink cymbidium orchids and carnations.

She was attended by her sister, Marjorie Engstrom, as maid of honor and bridesmaids Wendy Engstrom, another sister, and Jennifer Smith, a cousin, whose floor length frocks of aqua voile were striped with bands of tiny pink and white flowers matching their narcissus and pink hyacinth bouquets.

The floral motif was repeated in the dresses worn

Easter Matinee Features 'Black Beauty'

Like James Howard in the unforgettable children's classic "Black Beauty," Rointers MIKE and ROBERTA WILLS, (left and right), and MARTHA FRUEHAUF share a love for all horses, including Bobbie's own "Black Beauty," Holly. So they don't intend to miss this year's Grosse Pointe Motion Picture and Television Council Easter Matinee, featuring "Black Beauty" at noon and again at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday, April 5, at the Esquire Theater. All tickets for the film are 75 cents. They may be obtained in advance through Pointe schools or by calling Mrs. Maurice Declercq, 882-4296, or Mrs. George Gerow, 885-8232. Tickets will also be on sale at the box office starting at 11 o'clock the day of the performance.

Children's Matinee Slated Wednesday

Two Afternoon Performances of "Black Beauty" Scheduled at Esquire Theater; Program Sponsored by Film-TV Council

The Grosse Pointe Motion Picture and Television Council will present "Black Beauty" next Wednesday, April 5, at the Esquire Theater, Jefferson avenue at Beaconsfield. There will be two performances, at noon and 2:30 o'clock. All tickets are 75 cents.

Advance tickets may be obtained through local schools or by calling Mrs. Maurice Declercq, 882-4296, or Mrs. George Gerow, 885-8232. Tickets will be on sale at the box office starting at 11 o'clock the day of the movie.

The film is a 1971 color version of the children's classic about a boy and his horse. It stars Mark Lester, alias "Oliver," and has an appeal for all age groups. Council President Eileen Declercq suggests that all parents who often complain there are no suitable films available in the community for children or for family viewing make up theater parties, fill the theater and demonstrate to theater owners that the community will support and attend "good" family films. Theaters can then afford to show films which show good attendance at the box office. Mrs. Declercq urges, "There are 940 seats in the Esquire theater. Let's fill them all for each performance. "This is the most positive way to prove Grosse Pointe will support good films."

All monies derived from the Council's matinees are returned to the community. They help defray the cost of monthly bulletins summarizing contents of motion pictures playing in area theaters.

Films, available to Pointe residents, are donated to the (Continued on Page 19)

Nancy Blackburn Wed On Saturday

Lieutenant and Mrs. Lee Miller Smithyman Will Live in Germany Where He is Stationed with United States Army

Grosse Pointe Memorial Church was the setting for the Saturday, March 25, marriage of Nancy Louise Blackburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Blackburn, Jr., of Lincoln road, and Lieutenant Lee Miller Smithyman, son of Colonel (Ret.) and Mrs. William E. Smithyman, of Shawnee, Kans.

A reception at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial followed the evening rites. After a brief wedding trip the newlyweds will return to Germany where the bridegroom is stationed with the United States Army.

For the 6:30 o'clock ceremony at which Dr. Ray Kiehl officiated the bride wore her mother's wedding gown of heavy ivory satin designed with a Sweetheart neckline, train and long sleeves.

Chantilly lace accented her bodice and skirt and bordered her Cathedral length illusion veil. She carried a Colonial arrangement of white carnations and roses with red starflowers and white streamers.

She was attended by Sydney Pool, of Kingston, Pa., her former roommate at Chatham College, whose long frock of bittersweet crepe was trimmed with white eyelet lace and chiffon.

She wore a matching crepe Dior bow in her hair and carried a Colonial bouquet of bittersweet-centered white pompons and red starflowers with ivy streamers.

Lieutenant Charles Dierker came from Fort Bragg, N.C., to act as the bridegroom's best man. Ushers were James B. Blackburn, III, brother of the bride, and Jay Smithyman, the bridegroom's brother.

A full length, vivid paisley print trimmed with bittersweet was Mrs. Blackburn's choice for her daughter's wedding. She pinned a corsage of white roses and miniature carnations to her purse.

The bridegroom's mother selected a beige peau de soie costume and a corsage of orange carnations and Zerina sweetheart roses.

Among the out-of-town guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Waddell, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Howard R. McAdam, also of Pittsburgh.

Miss Ward was graduated from the Academy of the Sacred Heart in Bloomfield Hills in June, 1970. She is presently in her second year at Goucher College, Baltimore, where her major is Religious Studies.

Midshipman Hardy was graduated from Stephen D. Lee High School in Columbus in 1968 and entered the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., where he is now in his final year, majoring in Analytical Management.

Upon graduation from the Naval Academy in June, he will be stationed in Newport, R.I.

MANY TARZAN'S
The cinema has seen many actors play the role of "Tarzan" since Elmo Lincoln filmed "Tarzan of the Apes" in 1918. Perhaps the most famous "Tarzan" is Johnny Weissmuller who played the character at least 12 times, the first being in "Tarzan the Ape Man" (1932). Other performers portraying this role include Buster Crabbe, Lex Barker, Gordon Scott and Jock Mahoney.

Top Swimmers At GP Club

The Grosse Pointe Swim Club, which has been awarded the Girls' Junior Olympic short course championship, (set for April 15-16 at the Grosse Pointe North pool), has a variety of fine swimmers who have set numerous records.

Park Firemen Save Youngster

Quick work by The Park Fire Department saved the life of a four-year-old boy according to a doctor at Bon Secours Hospital, said to Chief Phillip Costa.

Coach Roy Pouliot has had much experience "near the pool." He swam for Wayne University in the 1940's and placed seventh in the 200-yard butterfly in National Collegiate action. Pouliot's first coaching job was at the downtown YMCA and from there he went to the Detroit Turners where he had many state championship teams. He then coached the Golden Lions, went to the Michigan Marlins and finally to the GP Swim Club.

Adversity is considered a great strengthener—that is, as long as it doesn't happen to you.

Mites' Friend Now a V-P

When the Mites' All Stars met the Denby Bulldogs Wednesday, March 29, Jim Farquhar ended his four-year association with the Mites Division. He now becomes executive vice-president of the Grosse Pointe Hockey Association.

Farquhar and Harry Jewett were instrumental in founding the Mites Division in 1968. They began with four teams. In those days the Mites started their season in December, played only on outdoor ice, averaged one ice time per week with all games played on half ice.

And there was a Mites All Star team that year, too. They played in an Easter Bunny Tournament and lost, 23-0. As manager of the division, Farquhar steered the Mites through this year with seven teams, which averaged two ice times per week on full ice from September through March. After the Seals won the division, many of the house teams had the opportunity to play outside teams.

In their next to last game of the season, the Mites' All Stars trounced the Cobra Jets, 7-0. It looks as though the "long" end of 23-0 scores are past.

With the Mites well established, they will carry on with their new manager Fran Furtaw. The Mites give a "heartfelt thanks" to Farquhar and wish Furtaw the "best of luck."

Pled Guilty At Examination

Three of four youths pled guilty to the charge of possession of stolen property at a preliminary examination in the 72nd district court, St. Clair County, Thursday, March 23. One of the youths pleading guilty is Brian Michael Barney, 18, 1571 Yorktown road, who along with the others, was allegedly involved in the stripping of a 1969 Corvette.

The other youths who pled guilty are Robert Ritz, 19, 5943 Marcellus, Detroit, and Brian Cloutier, 17, 30335 Marocco, Warren. Christopher Dearbin, 19, 5918 Devonshire, Detroit, stood mute at the examination. All four youths waived the examination. The case is now turned over to the St. Clair County Probation Department for a presentencing investigation, according to Woods detective Theodore Hinz. A Pointe juvenile also was reported to be involved in the alleged theft.

Barney was arrested by Woods police Sunday, March 12, after Michigan State Police said that they had located a stripped Corvette and had traced the vehicle back to a rented garage where they had made an arrest. At that time, Ritz was arrested.

Both Woods and Detroit police were notified to arrest the subjects living in their respective areas and to recover what stolen property was evident. Woods police confiscated numerous items including two roof panels, a steering wheel, part of a black vinyl dashboard, a battery and a tire.

State Highway Map Available

The 1972 Official Highway Map of Michigan is ready for free distribution, the State Highway Commission has announced.

One of the most informative state highway maps in the nation, Michigan's 1972 map provides routing for more than 1,450 miles of freeway, all 9,251 miles of state highways, and most major country roads.

Enlarged panels on the reverse side show the major road systems for Detroit and vicinity. Battle Creek, Bay City, Flint, Grand Rapids, Holland-Zeeland (for the first time), Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Midland, Muskegon, Port Huron, Saginaw and St. Joseph-Benton Harbor.

Theme of this year's map focuses on the scenic and recreational appeal of Michigan's lakes and shoreline. A panel on the reverse side of the map includes 18 color photos, representing Michigan's lakes, rivers and streams—all four seasons of the year.

Under each photo is a single line of descriptive verse, composed by Joseph Cherwinski, editor of "Peninsula Poets," the quarterly publication of the Poetry Society of Michigan. Cherwinski, a native of Green Bay, Wis., who grew up in Muskegon, has been a reference librarian for the Michigan State Library since 1941.

Cherwinski composed the verse to fit the photos. Put together, the lines form an 18-line poem, "The Shores of Michigan."

Popular features on the 1972 map include pictures of the state flag, state bird, state fish, state flower, state tree and state stone; fare and toll information at bridges; a mileage table providing distances between most Michigan cities; listing of location and phone numbers of State Police posts as well as District Offices of the Department of State Highways; and a listing of state parks with their types of recreational and camping accommodations.

The Highway Commission authorized printing of two million 1972 maps, the same amount as last year. The maps were printed by Michigan Lithographing Co. of Grand Rapids on its bid of $112,800. That figures out to 5.64 cents a map, or slightly from last year's cost of 5.29 cents a map.

Free maps are now available at all Highway District Offices throughout the state, Highway Department Travel Information Centers, Chambers of Commerce in most cities and from area and regional tourist associations. Copies of the 1972 map also are available by writing—on a postcard please, including your return address—to: MAPS Michigan Dept. of State Highways, Lansing, Michigan 48904.

Fashion Door Like Fortress

A thief must have been frustrated in his efforts to enter Josef's Fashion Door Salon, 18546 Mack, on Saturday night, March 18, since the door and bolt lock have marks to prove it.

Josef Elias, owner of the salon, called Farms police at 8:15 a.m., Saturday morning, to report extensive damage to the entrance door.

Farms policeman Otto Glanert was dispatched to the scene, and there he determined that someone had kicked in the front door, had pulled the bolt loose from the door, and had jammed the bolt and plate wedging them into the door jam.

The outside of the door was broken away in the area of the lock, but the door held fast and no pieces fell to the ground. However, the door could not be opened since the bolt was wedged into the door jam.

No suspicious persons were seen in the area that night, and the police can only hypothesize that it was an attempted breaking and entering.

Set Tuxis Show April 21-22

Rehearsals are now in progress for the 1972 Tuxis Show, "Jesus Janov, et al," which will be presented on April 21 and 22 at Fries Auditorium.

Co-director Bill Champion, who has written most of the first act himself and is directing and producing it, reports that the humorous and satirical skits are shaping up promisingly. The result of his efforts will be five scenes, ranging in length from three minutes to 15 minutes, which are guaranteed to entertain both young and old.

Bernell Cole, who is handling the direction and production chores for the second and third acts, is equally optimistic with regard to her efforts. She is in charge of the moving, intense psychodrama that gives the show its name.

Although the Tuxis Show is a few weeks away, anyone interested in buying tickets is advised to order them in advance by calling 882-5330. Tickets may also be purchased at the door. The shows start at 8:15. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

ONASSIS B&E

Dennis Andrus, manager of Onassis Coney Island 20760 Mack avenue, contacted the Woods Police Department Monday, March 20, to report a breaking and entering of the restaurant. The thieves removed a plywood panel covering a rear window, broke the window and gained entry. The only item reported taken was a 4"x12" brown cash box containing $56 in quarter, dime and nickel rolls.

Farms Plans Plumbing Code

The Farms Council will vote on a new plumbing code ordinance in the Monday night, April 3, regular council meeting.

The ordinance was prepared by Farms City Attorney George McKean to give The Farms its own plumbing code. At present, The Farms employs the plumbing code used by the City of Detroit, dated August 1968. If passed, the Farms ordinance would adopt by reference this plumbing code.

The proposed ordinance will invest The Farms Public Service Department with the administration and enforcement of plumbing requirements. Before performing any work in The Farms, a plumber will have to be licensed by the State of Michigan and registered with the Farms city clerk. The registration fee is $1.

Farms City Manager Andrew Bremer said that the proposed plumbing ordinance would apply only to "substantial" plumbing work, such as any installations which would affect the Farms water and sewer system.

The proposed ordinance, would not apply to husbands replacing broken washers in faucets at the prompting of their wives.

MANY TARZAN'S

The cinema has seen many actors play the role of "Tarzan" since Elmo Lincoln filmed "Tarzan of the Apes" in 1918. Perhaps the most famous "Tarzan" is Johnny Weissmuller who played the character at least 12 times, the first being in "Tarzan the Ape Man" (1932). Other performers portraying this role include Buster Crabbe, Lex Barker, Gordon Scott and Jock Mahoney.

13-REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

Purdy and Associates
OFFER
OUR FIRST OFFERING — You won't believe it, but we do have it! Let's begin with the location — not in Grosse Pointe but just as good — St. Clair, Michigan. You have to picture this — an ultra, ultra modern home built by the fabulous commercial builder, Carl Fromm, on levels and right into the side of a hill. Directly in front of the residence is a swimming pool and then the lawn sweeps down to the beautiful St. Clair River. There are plenty of bedrooms with maid's quarters, extra rooms, etc., but call for details, it's the most unique, unusual and sensational home you have ever seen. Inquiries to Mr. Purdy.

A PERFECT home for a small family or smaller. Custom built by the present owner, you know the T.L.C. is there, in every detail. But, let's take Spring — you want to putt awhile — you can do it here by walking out the front door — it sure beats condominium living because the panoramic view is unsurpassed.

A CLASSIC IN ITS TIME — We know it's a fantastic buy and it's ready to be snapped up. Distinguished, foremost, paramount and prominent — that's what we have to say about 515 Lakeshore Drive. As you approach, you will notice how magnificent the grounds are — there's everything — sprinkler system, swimming pool, pool house, informal and formal gardens. Over the garage is a super special garage apartment. The house has everything including a large loge, library and spectacular recreation room. We don't have to justify this one — the opportunity of a lifetime — Please call for details.

JUST OFF LAKESHORE DRIVE — An excellent location. It's almost new and with a paneled library, stategically located family room for informal living. We offer a true family home. That's not all — there are five bedrooms on the second floor. Owner says — sell it!

GROSSE POINTE FARMS — We take pride in offering outstanding homes and here is another. Not only is this the popular colonial design, but it has the right approach — circular drive, etc. The rear yard is absolutely secluded in the summer and is graced by a swimming pool and pool house. Inside, you will find a large entrance hall with gracious living room and an extra special family room, plus a brand new kitchen and the house isn't that old. But read no more — call for further information.

TWO HOMES IN ONE — Ever wanted a real retreat and right out your back door — we have it and it's the finest we have ever seen. It's a pool house, but listen to this — How about a living room, dining area with wet bar. To top this, there are two bedrooms and full bath — it's charming. The house was built by Dick Kimbrough from Dick Kimbrough. There are so many fine details we can't begin to list them, but we will tell you that there are six bedrooms and library with super fireplace. The living room is a step down and overlooks the most beautiful yard ever. Another Purdy and Associates first. We are proud to offer it.

It's the Tanner dress . . . Walton Pierce has this marvelous summer cotton featuring bright yellow and orange flowers on a white background, sleeveless and belted. Another "must" for your wardrobe has to be the very smart slack suit featuring a white "safari" type jacket with navy slacks. In the more traditional fashion is a lovely navy and white checked jacket with white slacks.

One By One . . . that's how Dura Lashes are applied at Leon. By popular request Leon has added this beauty service. Miss Jamie who is trained by the manufacturer and who taught at a well known modeling school will place these individual lashes on your lashes in any length or thickness becoming. The colors are brown or black. They last eight weeks with a bit of care. They can last longer. You can sleep, swim, shower, sauna with them. Dialogue On the Sahara

The Tenere is the sandy desert, the erg, as opposed to the rocky desert, the reg. The Tenere is the sand sea. All sand. Nothing but sand.

The problem in the Tenere is this: There's hard sand, and there's soft sand, and there's nothing but sand, and you can't tell the hard sand from the soft sand by looking at it, so you sail along on the hard sand until you hit the soft sand and your vehicle is stuck.

Then everybody jumps out of the stuck vehicle and begins to dig out the wheels, furiously, and somebody jumps on top of the vehicle and throws down the sand ladders, and two people, (one on each side), grab the ladders and sling them in the dug-out trenches in front of the dug-out back wheels.

Then the driver gets back in the vehicle, and the passengers get behind it, and while the driver revs the engine the passengers push like crazy, and the vehicle moves—hurray!—nine feet and gets stuck again.

Then whoever's nearest the sand ladders, which have been buried because the back wheels went over them before the vehicle got stuck again, gets to dig them (the sand ladders) out while the rest of the passengers make new trenches in front of the wheels.

After six or eight tries, the vehicle REALLY moves, gathers momentum, and goes!

And goes . . .

The driver can't stop until he gets to hard sand, probably a mile further on, on top of a dune, which leaves the passengers a mile behind, at the bottom of a dune, under a blazing sun, sucking their water bottles and their thumbs. As an extra-special bonus, two of the passengers get to dig out the sand ladders and tote them along on the long march to the vehicle.

All this, of course, happens again.

And again . . .

And again . . .

"That's FUNNY. I'd like to have seen you, digging and pushing and plodding through the sand."

"I'd like The World to have seen me."

"Pity you couldn't have imported The World."

"Mostly, I didn't want to."

But I did get odd oh-world-where-are-you? cravings. For specific foods, for example. We ate out of tins, and it wasn't bad, it kept us healthy, but after a while everything tasted the same. Tinny. I wanted butter, in the worst way, (there was no way to keep it in the sun), and one evening I thought about macadamia nuts and couldn't get the thought of them out of my mind for days.

There were times when I would have paid $25 for a hot shower and $50 for a manicure.

I would have liked, in certain places, for short periods, someone from home, well-known over a long period of time, to laugh with. Really companionable laughter needs a background of mutual comprehension, knowledge not just of the person you're laughing with but of that person's proper setting, and being plopped, without props, smack in the middle of the Sahara among strangers is rather like springing full-grown from the mind of Zeus.

There were times—racing from Bilma to Dirkou and back again, chasing an elusive petrol convoy from Libya, for instance, or being faced, after a long day on the track, with the prospect of a boy-girl football game, (and THEIR football, remember, is soccer: You bounce the ball off your head. I fled.)—when I literally ached for a familiar eye to catch.

"Then you admit you were lonely?"

"Not exactly. It's just that, for a whole month, I was, basically, alone. At first that's the most restful experience you can imagine. Then you begin to realize how much you've always taken for granted comfortable sharing."

"You weren't lonely."

"I guess I couldn't have been. Because I so enjoyed the being alone. Even when I began to ache for a familiar eye to catch, it wouldn't have been worth importing the whole person."

Five hours, straight up, on foot, and you're on the Tassili. It is a huge plateau where, on cliff and cave faces, prehistoric man drew what he saw. You make camp and then you walk about for a day or two, looking at/for the drawings of what prehistoric man saw. Finding some. Missing others. It was, unexpectedly, very

From Another Point of View

The McDermotts refuse, officially, to admit to their ghosts. "The only spirits," they maintain, "at the King George Inn are sold as graceful accompaniments to the outstanding food served in the Pub and two fine dining rooms."

Oh, really? . . .

When you're dining at the King George Inn and Hessian's Pub in the Village of Dorneyville at the crossroads of Cedar Crest and Hamilton boulevards, Allentown, Pa., and a door suddenly opens, and no one's behind it, remember: There are no such things as ghosts.

And if you think you hear a baby crying, pick up the conversation, begin talking, loudly, to your dinner companion. Maybe you'll be able to drown the (unreal) sound of that (unreal) baby out.

There's A Place For Them

Children Welcome

The Women's Auxiliary of Children's Hospital of Michigan will present a Morning of Music next Wednesday, April 5, at 10 o'clock, in Ford Auditorium, featuring an Open Rehearsal of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra with pianist Gina Bachauer as guest artist. All proceeds go to the Hospital's Tumor Clinic. Tickets, at $3 general admission, $7 patron, are available to the public at the Auxiliary Office, 494-5326, from any Auxiliary member or at the door.

Because the performance falls during Easter school recess, and because this is, after all, CHILDREN'S Hospital Auxiliary, parents are encouraged to bring interested boys and girls.

cold when we were on the Tassili, so cold that whenever I wasn't moving, or eating, I'd crawl into my sleeping bag—a horizontal body catches less wind than a vertical one—and go to sleep in desperation, for warmth.

One morning, when our hands were so frozen our fingers wouldn't bend around our coffee mugs, (all fuel we found went to heat water for coffee or tea; there wasn't any left over for a people-warming fire), someone said, "This is miserable."

"Yes," countered someone else who'd survived the previous evening's meal, eaten in a cold, dark cave, featuring sand-in-the-soup, sand-in-the-meat, sand-in-the-sweet, "but it's not as miserable as last night."

He had a point. One up in the Misery Degree Scale IS one up . . .

The Tassili landscape itself is very prehistoric: Monumental red cliffs and black and sand-colored rocks and not much else. The second night up, I took my sleeping bag and moved from splendid, cold isolation to a sleeping bag commune. We bundled together under a cliff overhang while around the corner the Tuareg guides sang and up above, through a crack in the cliffs, the cold stars shone.

"You must have FELT very prehistoric."

"That's right. I did."

"Frankly, it all sounds very uncomfortable and unnecessary to me."

"That's right. It was."

"You never even saw the rare oryx."

"That's right. I didn't."

"You said you'd read so much about Tuaregs, but you barely mention them. You don't describe any of this fantastic prehistoric art in the Tassili n' Ajjer."

"Go consult a book. With pictures."

"How was Timbuktu?"

"It was a dump."

"And that's all you're going to say?"

"That's all."

That's all.

Carl's Corner

Open mouth — extract foot. That's the way I feel after last week's column when I criticized the travel ads for giving one price in the big print and the additional charge in the small print. WELL! first — our own ad in the Free Press did the same thing and for that I apologize. No matter who does it, an ad that quotes one price and then changes it in small print is wrong.

Second, I caught the Devil from my friends in the travel business in Grosse Pointe. I'm sorry I didn't explain the fact that I was referring to the Travel ads in the Sunday News entertainment section and not our fine hometown agencies, who have always been accommodating and straight forward.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Bob Quarters of Mr. Q's told me that they have been fighting this very same thing for a long time.

All of which points out one thing — you can't do better than to deal with Your Grosse Pointe people, where you can get the truth rather than being misled by the fast shuffle boys.
