of the WEEK

As Compiled by the Grosse Pointe News

Thursday, March 15
PRESIDENT NIXON
URGED Congress to restore the death penalty for murder committed in the course of serious federal crimes such as airline hijacking or kidnapping, and for other offenses such as wartime treason or spying. The President also proposed harsh new penalties for narcotics violations and a complete overhaul of the federal criminal code to make penalties more uniform and to eliminate out-moded crimes. The White House said the death penalty bill would be sent to the House and the Senate later on this week. The death penalty was ruled unconstitutional by the Supreme Court last year.

Friday, March 16
NORTH VIETNAM WAS
WARNED by President Nixon that smuggling communist troops and supplies into South Vietnam in violation of the Vietnam peace agreement could bring serious consequences. He said he expected some cease-fire violations to occur, but he emphasized that he would not tolerate any attempt by Hanoi to strengthen its forces in the South. Although he made no direct threat, President Nixon's warning held open the possibility of a military response to the present situation, similar to his past armed intervention in Cambodia and Laos and resumption of U.S. bombings.

Saturday, March 17
THE UNITED STATES
pledged limited support of the dollar on world money markets when they open for trading on Monday. U. S. Secretary of the Treasury, George Shultz, represented the United States in the finance meeting held in Paris. Shultz did not say at what point of dollar value or gold price it would intervene to support the dollar. The United States stopped dollar support when it announced a 10 percent devaluation on February 12. Speculators were then dumping billions of dollars on the European money markets.

Sunday, March 18
WAYNE COUNTY and other parts of the state were declared in a state of emergency after the high winds, snow and rain on Saturday. The Harbor Island area of Detroit, near Alter road was under three to five feet of water. Heat and other utilities were knocked out or shut down as water flooded basements in 1,700 homes. Police blocked off sections of the neighborhood and an emergency center for food and shelter was set up. Police and firemen in rowboats rescued the elderly and invalids and took them to the evacuation center.

Monday, March 19
57 POWS RETURNED to the United States from Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines. A crowd of 1,000 was at Travis Air Force Base in California to greet them. Three of the returning men received a silent welcome. They had been accused of anti-war activity while imprisoned in North Vietnam. They were reported to have been members of an eight-man "peace committee" which made several anti-war broadcasts on Radio Hanoi and refused to obey their U.S. superior officers in the Vietnam prison camps. 17 other POWs landed at Scott Air Force Base in Illinois.

Tuesday, March 20
WHITE HOUSE ADMINISTRATORS helped International Telephone and Telegraph (ITT) settle a controversial anti-trust fight with the Department of Justice according to a congressional investigation. The department finally approved the merger after intensive lobbying by ITT executives with the highest officials in the administration.

Mustaches Sprout on City Firemen

The fire fighters in The City have been busy growing mustaches this past month. Pictured left to right are firemen JOHN ONSTWEDDER, PETER THIBIDEAU, SERGEANT JOHN REA, STEPHEN MADAR and LIEUTENANT TIM CHAMPINE. Sergeant Rea was the first to grow a mustache and the first to shave it off. The other firemen of shift two are planning to keep theirs. (See story on Page 9).

Smoke Inhalation Fatal to Brothers In GP Park Fire

Efforts by Firefighters and Doctors to Revive Victims Unsuccessful; Cause of Blaze Not Known

A Park house fire claimed the lives of two brothers on Wednesday morning, March 14, in spite of efforts of firefighters, and a medical staff at Bon Secours Hospital to revive them. Death was caused by smoke asphyxiation.

Fire Lt. William Hunt, who lives only two blocks from the scene of the tragedy, ran to the home, and as the brothers were being conveyed to the hospital, the lieutenant and firefighter Joseph Clarke tried to revive the victims, Randall, 16, and Scott Mieschle, 9.

At the hospital, Dr. Donald Sweeney, head of the emergency room, and two other doctors, a resuscitation therapist and seven nurses tried from 2:20 a.m. to 3:45 a.m., using every available facility to revive the brothers. At 3:45 a.m., the staff gave up and Dr. Sweeney pronounced the boys dead.

Mother Is Widow

The victims were the sons of Mrs. Theresa Mieschle of 1314 1/2 Maryland, a widow. Besides their mother, Randy and Scott are survived by two older brothers, Raymond, Jr. and Roger, and a sister Paulette, all of whom reside in other cities.

According to information received from Fire Chief Phillip Costa, the fire, which started in Mrs. Mieschle's bedroom, caused heavy, black smoke to penetrate through the house.

The cause of the fire, which completely destroyed the bedroom, is still not known, the chief said, and an investigation is still underway.

Mrs. Mieschle said that her sons were asleep when she left her residence, a lower flat, at about 12:30 a.m. She runs a band book agency and had gone to keep an appointment to discuss an entertainment contract. The fire broke out about a half hour after she left.

Rescue Attempt Fails

The residents of the upper flat, Mrs. Anna Weir and her son and daughter, were awakened by noise at 2 a.m. and smelled the smoke. They tried to rescue the trapped boys, but without success. They said they were driven back by the heat.

While Mrs. Weir and her daughter pounded on the front door of the Mieschle apartment to waken the occupants, Mrs. Weir's son, Richard, 18, ran to a neighbor's house to call in the alarm.

High Winds Cause Lake To Overflow

Snow Hampers Workers Trying to Protect Property from Damage by Flooding

In many ways last weekend's storm seemed an "instant replay" of the November 14 destruction as screaming winds caused flooding and damage along the lake shore from The Park to The Shores. Northeastern winds averaged 20 to 25 m.p.h. and often gusted to 45 m.p.h. before eventually subsiding.

Of all The Pointes, The Farms appeared the hardest hit. The Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Auditorium, for example, was once again filled with water, reaching the fourth row and within a foot of the stage level. But sweeping water did cover the stage, while swallowing up the orchestra pit.

Much of the story, however, doesn't rest in physical damage but in community participation as hundreds of Pointers worked long hours to contain and clean up the flooding and its excesses.

Need New Floor
John Lake, executive director of the War Memorial, said a new stage floor will definitely have to be installed. Carpeting has been removed, seats taken apart and scrubbing continues while specific damage to the auditorium remains under assessment. Nonetheless, thanks to the help of some 500 volunteers, the Tuesday, March 20, presentation of "40 Carats" would go on, he reported on Monday afternoon, March 19.

Lake swells over the sea wall covered the terrace of Alger House, said Mr. Lake. But through the work of volunteers who sandbagged and manned the pumps, the situation ultimately was controlled.

In other areas of The Farms, marina docks and catwalks were under water but suffered no damage, while water flooded the Municipal Pier-Park boathouse. The small hut, formerly used by skeet shooters, was demolished, with only one wall left standing. This was reportedly a more-or-less makeshift shack used only by the shooters. (The sport is now prohibited.)

Lake Shore Flooded
Crescent Sail Club's marina was under water, and some damage was reported. But no water entered the club building since it is on high ground. The Grosse Pointe (Little) Club was hard hit. Its front lawn was flooded and the marina was heavily damaged by the big waves.

Farms police detoured traffic from the section between Moross and Provençal road on Lake Shore, where waves were pouring over the seawall and over the concrete reinforcements.

The force of the wave action carried many of the small and large pieces of concrete onto the road. It was some time before the wind shifted and the wave action stopped so the area could be cleared of concrete. (Continued on Page 2)

Vote Wernet Member of Hall of Fame

North High Athletic Director to Receive Honor Saturday

Edward Wernet, North High School athletic director since 1968, was voted into the Michigan High School Coaches Hall of Fame in January. Along with four other coaches, Mr. Wernet will be honored between halves of the Class "A" Semi-Final Tournament game Saturday, March 24, in East Lansing.

Candidates for this honor must coach for a period of at least 25 years, part of which may be served in the capacity of athletic director. Mr. Wernet coached football, basketball and baseball at South High from 1946 to 1968.

Mr. Wernet said he received many honors in his coaching career including winning championships. "This probably, in itself, is as great an honor as it caps the whole thing off. It's the climax to my coaching career," he said. "I'll covet this more and more as I get older."

The Michigan High School Coaches Hall of Fame room, reported one of the finest in the country, is located at Central Michigan University.

Mr. Wernet served as president of the MHSCA from 1965-1969 and is presently its representative at Michigan Representative Council Meetings. He began as a representative in 1957.

School Trustees Stress Importance of Election

The trustees of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education this week made statements for the NEWS on the importance of the passage of the March 29 millage election to finance the community's public schools and public libraries.

William F. Huettnerman, president, said that the budget projection for 1973-74 and the millage renewal have taken into consideration the anticipated loss of students with a corresponding loss in State Aid.

Hundreds Join in Battle To Save Memorial Center From Huge Flood Damage

Association Leaders Express Deep Appreciation for Wide-Spread Response to Plea for Help During Weekend Storm

Self-explanatory is the following Open Letter which the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association has asked the NEWS to publish in this issue. It offers a graphic description of the great community-wide effort mounted last Friday and Saturday during Nature's murderous assault.

"To the hundreds of people and organizations who helped in so many ways to save and protect Grosse Pointe War Memorial's property during Friday night and Saturday's storm and wind whipped lake flood, the Memorial Association wants to extend its sincerest thanks and deepest gratitude.

"First on the scene were members of Grosse Pointe Theatre who cleared the flooding stage of its set for this week's play, got the piano out of the pit and helped man the auxiliary pumps. They were on the scene 'til nearly 4 a.m. and returned at 7:30 to help sandbag when it became apparent pumps alone could not handle the invading water.

"The play '40 Carats' will open as scheduled just as all other classes and activities were able to proceed at the Center throughout the weekend, thanks to the tremendous community effort in the Center's behalf.

"The Memorial has a $60,000 seawall dike and sump pump program which has been building since January; but it is still not complete and indeed, except for the community effort, might have had to be started from scratch again.

"The Youth of the community responded beautifully on the sandbagging work which went on all day though the freezing snow and floodwaters. The Center's Youth Council turned out in force. In response to calling by Mr. Bruce Feighner, Principal of High School North, the students from that end of the community turned out in great numbers to join the force of High School South telephoned by Mrs. Albert Dickson, President of South's Mothers Club.

"In response to an appeal to Admiral Leon J. Jacobi, large battalions of officers and men from Broadhead Naval Armory, the Seabees and the Coast Guard pitched in. (Continued on Page 6)

Woods Has New Public Safety Head

Henry Marchand Appointed Department Director by City Administrator

By Roger A. Waha
Henry Marchand, whose first and only police service has been with The Woods Department of Public Safety, was appointed department director by City Administrator Chester E. Petersen. The appointment became effective Monday, March 19.

Mr. Marchand succeeds Donald B. Coats, who retired in January after nearly 32 years on the force.

The new director, who joined the department in June 1947, said, "It's a nice feeling after being here 26 years." He also expressed his appreciation to Mr. Petersen and the council for "having confidence that I can do the job." Mr. Marchand added, "It's a great morale booster for the officers in the department."

"Most Valuable"

"He was the most valuable man for the position," said Mr. Petersen. "He has served as captain and assistant director for the last four years, (since February 18, 1968), and has recently completed training at the FBI Academy, (September 25-December 15, 1972). He has continuously furthered his educational activities at various metropolitan universities and colleges."

"I believe he has the respect of all the men within the department as a good disciplinarian," he continued, "and has demonstrated a fair and equitable application of law enforcement to our residents and citizens." Only applicants from within the department were considered.

With the appointment of Mr. Marchand to director, the city is considering a slight re-organization in the department's command structure, said Mr. Petersen. Mr. Marchand stated the department has just completed promotional examinations, and it probably will be some time in April before promotions are finalized and any possible re-organization takes place.

A June 1941 graduate of South High School, Mr. Marchand spent three years in the military police during World War II. This experience, he said, started on his career.

Post in Woods Not Yet Filled

Applications for the position of interim municipal judge in The Woods are still being received. At the same time, Municipal Judge Don J. Goodrow has extended his resignation date from April 1 to May 1.

The judicial selection committee is currently reviewing applications, with the selected applicant receiving $150 per month in accordance with the City Charter.

The interim post is through the November elections. While Judge Goodrow's term doesn't expire until 1975, a judge will be elected for a two-year period in November to fill that term.

Any Woods resident who wishes to serve the community should forward his resume and other pertinent information to the City Council, City of Grosse Pointe Woods, 20025 Mack avenue, zip code 48236, attention: City Administrator's office.

Pointe Churches Planning Program of Cooperation

Twenty-four ministers and laymen from churches of Grosse Pointe met at St. Paul Lutheran Church Tuesday, March 13, to continue discussion of the ways in which local congregations might meet the goals of the nationwide Key-73 program.

The goal of Key-73 is that during 1973 every person in North America be aware of how the life of Christ has made an impact on his life. In a discussion led by Rev. Paul Keppeler of First English Lutheran Church, the group studied further the proposals of the Steering Committee made up of Bob Marshall, Rev. John McCreight, Rev. Perry Thomas, Bill Arbaugh, Mrs. Betty Davidson and Frank McDonald.

It was determined that the effective way of implementing these proposals would be to form a Task Force of six committees to be made up of one member from each church in Grosse Pointe. These committees will meet on Tuesday, April 3, at St. Paul Lutheran Church.

The committees heads are: Cooperation, Rev. Charles Sandrock, St. Paul Lutheran Church; Publicity, Charles Todd, Grosse Pointe Memorial Church; Identification, John Diesing, St. Paul Lutheran Church; Worship, Rev. David Proctor, First English Lutheran Church; Education and training, Mrs. Marge Nixon, St. James Lutheran Church; Outreach, Rev. Franklin Steen, First Christian Reformed Church.

Death Follows Bar Incident

Craig Brooks, 19, a 1972 graduate of South High School, died about 11 a.m. Tuesday, March 21, at St. John Hospital after being fatally wounded in a bar incident.

Detroit police reported that Brooks, one of the five sons of George M. and Patricia Brooks, of 101 Touraine road, shot himself about 4 a.m. Tuesday after challenging a friend to play "Russian Roulette" in the deserted Priem's Bar at Mack and Nef, Detroit.

Storm Strikes Pointe, Residents 'Pitch In' to Clean Up

In The Park, diking and sandbags at the foot of Grand Marais boulevard and Trombley road had to be reinforced. Some water had overflowed onto these streets but no damage was reported.

Sandbags at Fox Creek at the foot of Alter road in Windmill Pointe Park also were reinforced. This action successfully kept the water from overflowing into the park. No damage was reported to marina docks or the catwalks.

Water flowed over the seawall into some of the front yards of Windmill Pointe drive homes along the lake. But there were no reports of damage in this area.

Waves were breaking at six-feet when the wind was coming from the northeast, but dropped when it shifted to the northwest.

Tree Elts Garage In The Shores, Village Superintendent Thomas K. Jafferis said there was some washing down in the George Ostus Park but no serious damage. A few more dock boxes, as happened during the November 14 "wind-burst," were washed into the lake.

The high winds also cut down a light pole Saturday in front of 900 Lake Shore blocking the right lane of traffic. However, Edison arrived on the scene to take charge of repairs.

Woods City Administrator Chester E. Petersen said, according to Larry Pate of Pate, Hirn and Bogue, Inc., city engineers, there was no damage along the Milk River. The storm created some erosion of soil at the Lakefront Park, Mr. Petersen said. A tree was blown over and then put back up, and water was up near the boat docks during the storm.

However, on Saturday, a tree at the rear of 1667 Littlestone fell on a garage, destroying the building and damaging the roof of a 1969 Ford trapped inside. Wires also were reported down at 1659 Littlestone with Edison again called for the repair work.

The high winds apparently blew out an eight- by 10-foot window of the Grosse Pointe Valet Cleaners, on Mack avenue, Saturday.

Thanks to Pointers
In The City, no physical damage was reported to city facilities. Some homes, however, had water in their front yards although no reports were received from residents about actual damage.

Some flooded basements were noted in The City with sump pumps doing their part to alleviate the situation. Some pumps, in fact, reportedly burned out.

Farms residents Dr. and Mrs. Robert B. Clarke, 72 Lake Shore, received many helping hands in curtailing the onslaught of water towards their home. The water was near the top of the patio stairs and without needed sandbags, it could have entered the living room.

The Clarke's wished to thank the following aids for their assistance in sandbagging around their home: Bob Striker, of McKinley avenue, Tim Hurley, of Lakeland, Tim and Mike Roberts, of Muir road, Paul Sholtz, Chris Seaver, of Charles place, Jeffrey Clarke, of University place, and the father-son "teams" of M. Jackson and Mark Sturtevant and Joe and Roger Mason, plus Bruce Blain. At the same time, Factory Optional, the Grosse Pointe based hi-performance car and motorcycle group, wanted to thank its members and the many community-minded people who helped in bagging and stacking sandbags at The City's Norbert Neff Park.

Factory Optional said, "A special thanks to the people who volunteered their vehicles to haul sandbags from the Grosse Pointe City Park to the War Memorial."

Fire Claims Brothers' Lives

Send Second Alarm
The chief said that a second alarm was sounded and City firefighters and equipment responded. There were 11 firemen on hand to battle the flames which were brought under control in 20 minutes.

On arrival of the Park personnel, several firefighters donned masks and broke into the house. They found Randy on the floor of the hallway leading to the back bedroom, and Scott in bed in his room. The brothers were carried out of the house.

Lt. Hunt, who was off duty, arrived and he and Clarke immediately began mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. En route to the hospital in the Fire Department ambulance, manned by Patrolmen Lawrence Rice and Michael Kortas, the lieutenant and Clarke applied Carbogen (a combination of carbon dioxide and oxygen) and cardio-pulmonary resuscitation in trying to revive Randy and Scott. At the hospital, the medical staff took over, but worked without success.

All Presumed Alive
"We treat all victims of tragedies such as that which took place Wednesday morning, and in other cases, on the assumption they are still alive," said Lt. Hunt. "We cannot take the chance that they are dead. The pronouncement of death must officially come from doctors of the hospital. Our job is to try to revive the victims, if possible, or keep them alive until the hospital medical staff takes over. We are not qualified to make any decision on whether a victim is alive or dead."

Chief Costa said, "I think, considering the situation, the firefighters battling the flames at the Maryland residence, did a commendable job. There was a lapse of about 11 minutes between the time the brothers were brought out of the apartment and the time the ambulance reached the hospital.

"Every effort was made to revive the boys by Lt. Hunt and Firefighter Clarke, en route to the hospital. It is a tragedy that those boys could not be revived.

Chief Offers Advice
"Perhaps many people do not believe in this safety advice but on retiring at night, or at any time, always close the bedroom door. This helps to prevent smoke and heat from entering the room in the event of a fire," the chief added.

He said that the bedroom doors in the Miechle house were open, allowing smoke and heat to enter the rooms and overcome the victims.

Funeral services for Randy and Scott were held on Saturday, March 17, from the Weintemberner Funeral Home, 13481 Gratiot avenue, and from St. Raymond Catholic Church. Burial was in Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

Investigation Continues
Chief Costa said on Tuesday, March 20, that the cause of the fire is still undetermined, but an investigation is still continuing.

A neighbor of the bereaved family said that a memorial fund is being collected to help the widowed mother pay for funeral and other expenses.

Persons interested in helping should send their donations to the Randy and Scott Miechle Memorial Fund, 1263 Lakepointe, Grosse Pointe Park, Mich. 48230. Checks should be made out to the fund, or in the name of Mrs. Miechle.

Donkeys' Game At NH Mar. 23

Donkeys are back in Grosse Pointe this weekend.

On Friday, March 23, at 8 p.m. the adult committees of the foreign exchange clubs of North and South High Schools are holding their fourth annual Donkey Basketball Game in the North High gym.

Police officers from the five Pointes and Harper Woods will be playing against a team made up of students from the exchange clubs. To even up the competition, the students will be shooting their baskets from the backs of donkeys.

Tickets are $1 and are available at the door. Proceeds go to the foreign exchange clubs to enable them to send students abroad and bring foreign students to the United States.

40 exchange students from surrounding communities who are visiting Grosse Pointe for the weekend, will be guests at the game. They come from 24 countries in Europe, Africa and South America.

The donkeys come from Ohio.

Woods Stands Against Proposed Edison Hike

By Roger A. Waha

The continuing fight of various communities to the latest Detroit Edison rate increase is well underway. And The Woods, in action taken at the regular council meeting Monday, March 19, is a ready participant.

For the body unanimously approved Councilman Rodger A. Graef's motion that the city enter an agreement in opposition to the proposed rate hike, with Mayor Pro Tem Marvin R. Boutin signing, plus the payment of $3,000 for such cooperative effort. The motion also stipulated City Attorney George Catlin to intervene in the case, (formally known as Public Service Commission Case U-4257).

Mr. Catlin briefed the council on developments at the meeting. He said this increase is a proposed $59 million hike. There's a projected 15 percent increase for the street lighting category on top of other rate increases.

"Complex" Case
He recommended the council enter into the agreement in this "complex and highly technical" case, and provide the $3,000 with the monies being managed by the Michigan Municipal League. Some of the funds, he said, would be used to pay the communities' legal representative James A. Smith of Bodman, Longley, Bogle, Armstrong and Dahling, Detroit. Funds also would be used to help provide special, expert witnesses in the case, he added.

Mr. Boutin, not without a touch of distaste, referred to a Detroit daily newspaper story in early February which reported Edison's new income for the year, (1972), bolstered by two rate increases, was up 25.4 percent and per share income was up 15.5 percent. The income per share, $2.09, was the second highest in the company's history, noted the story.

Street lighting is carrying the brunt of Edison's so-called rate increases, said City Administrator Chester E. Petersen, who noted this is the third time The Woods has participated in such rate hike opposition. He added increases are passed on to the taxpayers, an indirect tax to communities served by Edison.

Climbing Costs
Mr. Petersen traced the growing costs of street lighting charges in The Woods. Around 1963 the city's amount was $78,000, before its street lighting program was underway. After the addition of ornamental lights, underground wiring, et. al., the amount jumped to $115,000. Then some "skyrocketing" took effect.

When the first rate increase took hold, the city's budget figure in 1971-72 jumped to $172,000. However, Mr. Petersen noted the actual figure was closer to $183,000. Then came a second rate hike. So for 1972-73 the bud-et figure totalled around $238,000, and he said, "We'll come pretty close to this."

In a letter to the council urging their support, Grant B. Alberts, finance director, Highland Park, and chairman of the communities in opposition to the hike, said in 1971 and 1972 "we wrote to you to join other local governments in a unified effort to oppose the heretofore carte-blanche increases granted to the company, especially the increases in the area of street lighting."

Participation

"That expensive and successful effort was joined in by 37 local governmental units and was one of the major elements in curtailing the size of the increase by 44 percent of the amount requested," he said.

The NEWS contacted Mr. Albert, who expects many communities to participate in this fight including: Harper Woods, Ann Arbor, Highland Park, Livonia, Oak Park, Royal Oak, Madison Heights, Centerline, Ecorse, Fraser, Hazel Park, Lapeer, Pontiac, Plymouth Township, Redford Township, Dearborn Heights, Warren and others.

The agreement okayed by the council notes the city attorney will join with other cities "to engage such special legal counsel, accountants, expert witnesses and others as may be necessary or desirable to properly represent the common interest in Case U-4257." It also says the money will go toward "special counsel, accountants, expert witnesses and others."

Other Points

The Park Council at its regular meeting Monday, February 12, approved participation in the agreement, supporting opposition to the petition submitted by Edison in this case. The city is committing up to $3,000 per the agreement for its "fair and just share."

Thomas Kressbach, city manager of The City, said the council has not taken any official action as far as the agreement goes. He added The City may become involved to a limited degree.

At this time, The Farms has expressed its opposition to the Public Service Commission on the hike but has not entered into the agreement. Meanwhile, The Shores Council has taken no current action on this matter.

Vandals Visit Barnes School

Someone entered Barnes School, 20090 Morningside drive, possibly through a second story window, and then apparently shattered seven windows in the building. The Woods Department of Public Safety was told of the break-in Monday, March 12.

Principal Jack McMahon said he received a call from the custodian, who reported the open window into the teacher's lounge. A lounge telephone wire also was cut. Police said it didn't appear the culprits entered any other areas of the building, while nothing appeared missing from the lounge.

While investigating the break-in, Corporal Robert Setchell reported rocks were thrown through some building windows. Three windows were shattered on two doors at the south end hall, while two windows were broken on two doors at the north end hall.

A 24-by-48-inch window was smashed in one room, and a 36-by-48-inch window was shattered in another room. The windows are of unknown value.

We want you to come and meet Pastor Larry McGill at the Grosse Pointe Baptist Church. He has just recently come to join us from Boston, Mass. Ed Steinhart, his associate, will be joining us in March and his wife Doris will be taking her place at the organ. This will complete our team. There will be an informal welcoming reception Sunday, April 1st at 3:00 P.M. We heartily encourage you to come and meet these fine Christian folk.

Defer Conversion Cuts Water Bill 90 Percent

It recently came to our attention that Defer School has initiated an extraordinary and certainly unique water saving project.

In a letter to Mrs. William Duffield, president of Environmental Action Now, (EAN), Defer Principal Jesse Lowther described the implementation of this undertaking and the savings that occurred. A portion of that letter is quoted here.

"Six of the 15 school system buildings housing students have been in service for over 40 years and another building for 35 years. Each of these seven buildings was constructed with automatic flushing urinals in all boys' lavatories as opposed to manual flushing urinals found in the system's newer buildings.

"The old automatic flushing system in one boys' lavatory at Defer School, for example, utilized 10 gallons of water every seven and one-half minutes, 24 hours a day, each day of the year for a total utilization of 673,000 gallons of water a year.

"Multiply this figure, 673,000, by all the boys' lavatories in the seven older schools, and the water saved would exceed 15,000,000 gallons."

To execute this savings and to cut down on the extravagant use of water, Defer converted from automatic to manual flushing. So far, it is the only building to make the conversion but others are scheduled.

The change-over has reduced Defer's water use by about 90 percent. The dollar savings is also outstanding; the water bill now is $30 as opposed to the previous $300.

In fact, the men from the Department of Public Service in The Park were so shocked and baffled by the reductions that they visited Defer to make sure the school was not tampering with the water meter.

Credit for the initiation of the conversion idea should go to Defer engineer Douglas Beveridge and Grosse Pointe School System master plumber James Locke. The Department of Administrative Services should also be credited for the implementation of the project.

So if any of you have been wondering why the lake has been rising...

Camera Club Meets Tuesday

Guests and visitors are welcome to a slide presentation and talk on nature which is presented by the Grosse Pointe Camera Club.

The meeting, at the War Memorial, 32 Lake Shore road, will be held Tuesday, March 27, at 8 p.m.

Election's Importance

"The additional propositions for both the schools and the libraries are very important for good schools and good libraries. It is important for this community to show some educational leadership and to begin again to take pride in our very fine libraries and schools. The March 29 election is an opportunity to show that we want to make educational decisions here in Grosse Pointe and not have them made in Lansing for us," Mrs. Hanpeter concluded.

William J. Adams, treasurer of the Board of Education, reminds voters that "millage time is an obvious necessity."

"Aside from the amounts allocated to us by Wayne County, (8.65 mills allocated from property taxes paid to the county by local residents), there are no other revenue sources for 1973-74. All locally voted millage has expired and, based upon the most reliable information, there will be no general state aid next year," Treasurer Adams commented.

Mr. Adams, a school trustee since 1969, said that during his tenure he has witnessed a constant reduction in the quality of the Grosse Pointe educational program.

"The professional staff has been cut back annually, course offerings reduced, the middle school concept virtually abandoned, class sizes increased with only a minimal amount of counselor time available to a student. I think it is time to reverse this trend," Mr. Adams said.

The treasurer urges support of all four proposals in an attempt to begin to restore the schools and libraries to their previous standards.

"I believe the need for the RENEWAL of the millages for the schools and libraries is well understood by the electorate," Trustee Donald Semmler stated. "In spite of a forecast reduction in enrollment the schools will lose over $500,000 in State Aid while costs continue to climb," he added.

Mr. Semmler explained that, in an effort to allow the residents of the community to participate in the decision process on the level of education and library services, the Board has added two questions to the ballot.

"These small increases will cover the cost of adding top priority programs for the coming year. What these additional funds will provide for the schools and libraries have been clearly defined and outlined by the Board," Trustee Semmler concluded.

Muir B. Snow III, elected in June, urged voters to put the additional cost of Propositions No. 3 and No. 4 into proper perspective.

"I think you should remember that 0.6 of a mill means 60¢ per thousand of state equalized value (one-half the fair market value of property being taxed). On a house worth $30,000, 0.6 is assessed against $15,000 which is $9 per year of additional taxes. That is 75¢ a month. If you have a house worth $40,000, state equalized value is $20,000 and the additional 0.6 mill is $12 a year or $1 a month," Mr. Snow commented.

"Proposition No. 4 is a request for 0.14 of a mill—14¢ per $1,000 of state equalized valuation. This minimal amount will strengthen book inventories, replace equipment, and provide ADDITIONAL staff members needed by expanded public service hours at Central Library: Monday, 10-1; Tuesday, 10-1; Wednesday, 6-9; Thursday 10-1; and Friday 10-5 now provided by donation by Friends of the Library."

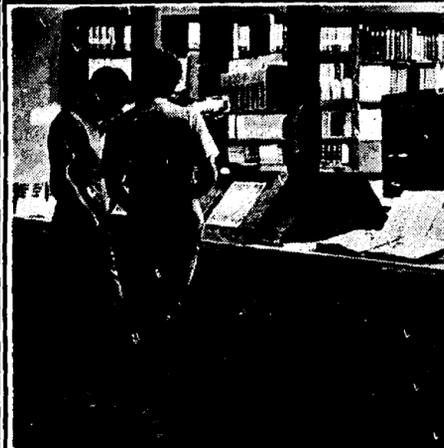

Trustee Robert D. Warner reminded voters that the passage of Proposition No. 3 for 0.6 of a mill will provide each middle school with improved counseling services as well as with three teachers for program improvement and remediation in basic subjects.

"The funds will allow the Board of Education to hire six teachers for the elementary schools, (including remedial teachers for reading and speech), plus three to be used to correct imbalances in enrollment and staff load," Mr. Warner commented.

He added that both high schools would benefit by passage of Proposition No. 3 by the hiring of two career counselors and two teachers for remedial reading and writing.

"In response to parental requests, an increase of $15,000 is planned for instructional supplies, (paper and pencils, etc. for student use as mandated by state law), throughout the district," Trustee Warner added.

Mr. Warner concluded his remarks by stating that passage of Proposition No. 3 would permit the Board of Education to finance current high school athletic intramural and athletics program. (During the 1972-73 school year parent clubs at the high schools are contributing $16,000 to finance these activities.)

Bids Taken for Further Piling Along Milk River

By Roger A. Waha
Six bids for the installation of 500 lineal feet of sheet piling on the Milk River, north of the Jefferson street bridge, were taken at a meeting of the Milk River Drain Drainage Board Wednesday, March 14.
The amounts varied from a low bid of $79,761 to the high bid of $146,089, according to Larry Pate, of Pate, Hirn and Bogue, Inc., city engineers. He added the Drainage Board was scheduled to award the bid sometime this week. After the bid is awarded, work should begin immediately.
Installation of the sheet piling will help protect and curtail the erosion of soil on the embankment of the Milk River channel.

High Level
The continued high water in the Milk River remains a source of concern in The Woods. Donald Hallmann, director of parks and recreation, said, in his February report, "A constant check has been kept on the conditions affecting the docking facilities with no improvement noted what-so-ever as far as the prevailing water level is concerned."
"It still appears that unless we are very fortunate our docking facilities are going to suffer extensive damage as the ice begins to break up and the water in the Milk River continues to rise," he continued. "At the present time it is touch and go as far as attempting to predict the degree of damage."

Assesses Dangers
The city administrator was asked to assess the dangers of flooding in specific areas of The Woods, and mentioned a danger remains regarding possible flooding of Lakefront Park grounds, (St. Clair Shores). However, he stated, the swimming pool and bath house are not in danger.
He doesn't feel the outlet of the Milk River Pumping Station to the open Milk River channel, northward to Jefferson, to the park and the lake, is in danger of flooding, according to a report from the city engineer.
As for possible flooded basements, Mr. Petersen stated "I don't think people should expect flooded basements from a high water level." However, overloaded or stop-worked sewers could play a role here.

Woods Okays Renovation Of Park Swimming Pool

The Woods Council at the regular meeting Monday, March 19, acted upon a series of recommendations stemming from a Committee of the Whole meeting Monday, March 12. Action was taken on numerous topics including the use of revenue sharing funds and renovation of the Lake Front Park swimming pool.
On revenue sharing, the council unanimously approved Councilman Benjamin W. Pinkos' motion that the body adopt a preliminary policy statement providing for the utilization of such funds in the contemplated plans for the repair and renovation of the swimming pool, and to utilize the funds for maintaining the city's low tax rate in support of the forthcoming 1973-74 city budget.
As for the pool itself, Councilman Pinkos' motion concurring in the C-W recommendation that the city engineer be authorized to proceed with the plans and specifications, and to advertise for bids on pool bottom renovations, was unanimously approved.
The bids will include a unit price schedule for the saw cutting of concrete, and removal and replacement of concrete at the bottom where necessary.

In other action, the council unanimously approved Councilman Conrad A. Naegel's motion that Robert E. Trinklein, of Centerbrook court, be appointed to the Planning Commission to fill the unexpired term of George Brown, (January 1, 1974).

Councilman George S. Freeman's motion to approve a sum not to exceed $375 for the purpose of having an actuarial evaluation and study made of recent proposed changes to the pension system was unanimously okayed.

These changes to the system were submitted by the general members and public safety members of the city. The evaluation and study also is to be in accord with a letter received from Gabriel, Roeder, Smith and Company, consulting actuaries.

Finally, Councilman Rodger A. Graef's motion on the deletion from the C-W agenda of granting a C.A.T.V. franchise was unanimously approved.

Plan Women's Volleyball Class

Something new has been added for women in sports. A class in Volleyball for Women is being offered by the Department of Community Services, Grosse Pointe Public School System. It begins Monday, April 2, for a six-week period.

The class will meet at Parcels Middle School from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. (no meeting during the Easter holiday). In addition to the exercise, this class should present a real opportunity for women to "trim up" for their summer activities. Joan Thornton will be the instructor.

Since enrollment is limited to 20 women, it is advisable to make reservations as soon as possible.

Call the department, 885-3808 or 885-0271, for further information and class reservation.

Mother of Five Students Heading Millage Effort

By Holly Angeli
Behind every successful millage campaign there is a woman. This year it's Mrs. Michael Marrs of Grayton road.

Millage campaigns are not entirely new to Mrs. Marrs. She had practice in last year's millage election. Nevertheless, each campaign has its own problems and special needs. And each campaign requires fresh ideas.

Mrs. Marrs and her husband have been residents of Grosse Pointe for over 12 years. They have five children in the public schools; a daughter at Brownell in special education, one son at Pierce and three sons at Mair.

Obviously they have a vested interest in the school system. But Mrs. Marrs said one of her primary reasons for moving to Grosse Pointe was for the excellent schools. She feels her children are receiving a fine education. Of course there is always room for improvement, but the basis of quality is there.

It is this belief in education that led Mrs. Marrs to chair the millage campaign, a position she shares with her husband. The job entails an average of six hours of work a day; sometimes it goes as high as 10. She began her work the evening of Monday, February 12, when the school board set the millage date.

As millage campaign co-head, Mrs. Marrs solicited a chairman from every school in the district and helped unify and coordinate individual efforts at the schools. Each school had specific interests in the millage proposals; it was Mrs. Marrs' duty along with the school representatives to discover these and then send the necessary information.

She finds that the school chairmen are a great help in easing her burden. They are familiar with many of the other parents and are able to round up volunteers to distribute flyers, host a coffee, organize poll workers and telephone voters. Mrs. Marrs is also in charge of printing and publicity. A steering committee plans the information that is published; Mrs. Marrs makes sure that it reaches the appropriate places. This means she is all over Grosse Pointe delivering material.

In the course of the campaign she has become an excellent public speaker. Initially she spoke at 15 PTA boards to solicit funds to finance campaign efforts. She is still speaking at regular PTA meetings and wherever her talents are needed.

Mrs. Jack Mitchell is the head of the coffees which have been scheduled prior to election day. Of course Mrs. Marrs attended a number of these and has found the parents extremely receptive.

A school board member is also in attendance to speak and answer questions. Mrs. Marrs feels that the coffees are beneficial for they clear up many myths about the millage proposals. And they are informative in other ways too. Mrs. Mitchell had a copy of a tax bill blown up to illustrate where each tax dollar goes. But despite her gargantuan efforts, Mrs. Marrs is still concerned about parents who are lax in their voting habits. "I can't imagine parents not voting. People just don't take the time to use their rights. If parents alone voted in the election, we could pass the millage."

Mrs. Marrs would like to see things stabilize later where a millage is voted in for three to five years. However, she does not think she would head another campaign for she feels it is important to have new blood in campaign efforts. "Ideas get stale after a couple of years."

Mrs. Marrs obviously believes strongly in the millage proposals. The renewal proposal is necessary to keep the schools running as they are. The additional .5 levy she feels is important in that it would reduce some class size and thus improve education.

Furthermore, the additional counselors that would result from the levy would greatly benefit the high school students. "I think there is an over-emphasis put on college." She believes there is a definite need for vocational counselors to help guide students.

Mrs. Marrs urges parents to look over the school budget and perhaps attend a few classes at the schools. They could learn first hand the kind of education their children receive and also understand the ways and means of a Grosse Pointe School.

Mrs. Marrs was at South High the other day to drop off an ad at the Tower office, the school newspaper. "The kids there were so involved. I was really impressed." And Mrs. Marrs is really impressive. By simply being a concerned parent and a concerned voter, she has become a successful millage campaign chairman.

Some can't tell right from wrong until they're found out.

Judge Speer Hears 127 Cases During February

Park Municipal Judge William E. Speer, who has made himself available at anytime he is needed day or night, continues hearing heavy dockets each month. During the month of February, the total number of cases he heard came to 127.

Of the number of persons who were sentenced in his court, after being found guilty, 66 were ordered to pay fines; eight were given varied terms in jail; 14 were found not guilty, and 17 were handed suspended sentences. Also, 13 persons were placed on probation, nine had their operator's license suspending; two cases were nolle prosequi (an entry made upon the records of the court when the plaintiff, or prosecutor, will proceed no further in a suit or action).

Further, 15 licenses of motorists convicted of serious driving violations were sent to the Secretary of State's Office in Lansing; eight persons were allowed to pay fines at the Violation Bureau; and 42 citizens who failed to appear in court to answer charges, had bench warrants signed against them for their arrests.

In addition, one person who demanded a jury trial, was found guilty of two traffic violations; one civil suit was discontinued when it was settled out of court; four persons convicted of driving while under the influence of liquor, were either sent to jail, given probation or had their license suspended for a period of time, and one violator of probation was sent to jail for five days.

The owner of The Dump Bar, Kercheval and Maryland, was found guilty of a Fire Ordinance violation, and paid a fine of $125.

Save Center

"The Grosse Pointe municipalities gave every assistance. The Farms and City of Grosse Pointe sent pumps and men. The Farms gave sand bags and the City of Grosse Pointe opened its park and made available its supply of sand.

"Monahan Construction helped supervise the pumping and bagging operations along with Mr. Gale Beardsley of the Center's Board who, with Mrs. Beardsley, worked night and day.

"In response to a broadcast made by WJR, more than five hundred citizens whose names we will never know, appeared to fill and place sandbags and clean up the mess in the Auditorium. Rex Clavola got trucks given from Kinsel and Nichols to assist in transferring sand bags from the City Park to the Memorial. Lake Shore Coach offered its busses and other citizens brought their vehicles. Some one brought cookies to add to the coffee, cocoa and food the Center's cateress, Helen Blair, was handing out. Citizens added their fans to the space heaters, fans and dehumidifiers etc. the Center rented.

"People came all through the day to help from as far away as hard pressed Harrison Township where they have been working for many weeks with their own flood problems.

"Never has there been such a heart warming evidence of people caring and doing.

"Thanks is very inadequate but oh, how we mean it!" Mark Oetting, President John W. Lake, Executive Director

Offer Students Vocational Test

Decisions are the daily fare for high school juniors and seniors. They are faced with choices not only about continuing their education, but also about careers and vocations.

The Armed Services is helping to ease the burden of decision. They are offering a free vocational aptitude test for North and South High juniors and seniors. It is scheduled for April 4 at 8:30 a.m. in the North High Cafeteria.

Entitled ASVAB (Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery), the exam will indicate the probability of success in one or more occupational fields. It takes into consideration certain skills which are frequently used in those fields.

Five areas are tested. These include electronics which measures electrical and electronic technician aptitude; general mechanical that tests the ability to visualize spatial relationships as well as knowledge of shop practices; motor mechanical which measures the aptitude of the operation, repair and maintenance of various types of engines; clerical administrative which tests ability to operate different kinds of office machines, and general technical which measures creative or precision technical aptitude such as surveying, photography, law enforcement and weather service.

U-L Defeated In Cage Finals

After dumping Waterford Our Lady of Lakes, 51-74, to advance to the Class D regional final, University-Liggett dropped a tough 54-53 decision to Ann Arbor St. Thomas Friday, March 18, after high scorer Ron Roberts suffered a sprained ankle in the opening quarter.

Roberts hurt his ankle after scoring on a layup. He came back, swelling notwithstanding, with about 90 seconds left and nearly helped U-L to a comeback victory. St. Thomas was leading 54-47 when Roberts returned. He netted two baskets while Jim Paradee popped in one. But then time ran out.

Bill Rose led U-L with 20 points and Paradee added 19. In the Waterford contest Tuesday, March 13, U-L and its opponents both reportedly shot over 50 percent from the floor and also were "hot" from the foul line. The winners were 17 of 20 while Waterford went 18 of 22. Roberts poured in 29 points, Paradee and Rose both scored 16 and Chuck Getz added 11.

BIG QUESTION
It may be true that prices are over the big bumps, but who knows when they'll level off.

Often students are unaware that they have a talent or skill in a specific area. The ASVAB will find it out. Furthermore, there are many jobs now that demand special skills not taught in a four year liberal arts college program. Vocational training usually lasts only two years and there are a great many job opportunities in the fields tested by the ASVAB.

The deadline for registering is March 28; students should see their counselors as soon as possible. Coordinating the program at North High is Mr. Cecil Vogt and at South High, Dr. Robert Hanson. There is no obligation to the army.

Students are strongly urged to take the test. It is the only vocational test offered since previous aptitude tests were dropped from the curriculum. It is also the only chance for students to discover their ability in a certain field. And it may provide necessary and important guidelines for future plans.

BOMBAST
Think twice before you speak in anger and you can make what you say twice as scathing.

Resume Board Hearing May 7

The Woods Council unanimously agreed to adjourn the Board of Appeals hearing on the request of Flowers by Kimberly, Inc., 20311 Mack avenue, for a variance in the city's off-street parking requirements in order to permit the construction of a building addition.

The action was taken at the regular meeting Monday, March 19, with the hearing resuming at the regular meeting Monday, May 7. In a letter to the council, Charles Michael Moraco, vice-president of Kimberly, noted the proposed addition was approved by the Planning Commission. He said, "A city parking lot does not exist within 50 feet of our present building; therefore, it is our considered opinion that our proposed addition shall not add any encumbrance to the present parking situation."

However, Councilmen Roger A. Graef, Benjamin W. Pinkos and Mayor Pro Tem Marvin R. Boutin wanted further information on parking needs and uses in the area. Mr. Boutin said, like Mr. Graef and Mr. Pinkos, he would vote against the variance at this time without further study. And that would defeat the request as two-thirds vote of council members is necessary for approval, (the body includes six).

A two-day survey was conducted on the availability of existing off-street parking spaces in the area, according to a communication from Henry Marchand, Director of the Department of Public Safety. The director said he had no objection to the granting of a variance, based on the survey.

But some doubts remained in the council's minds on the parking situation, and it was proposed that a six-day survey be conducted on area parking before the May 7 meeting.

So the situation boiled down to this: while a delay might cause an apparent hardship to Kimberly, it was either this or a definite "no" vote on the variance.

Youth-Parent Workshop Set

The Family Life Education Council (FLEC) has planned a Youth-Adult Communications Workshop for Saturday, March 31, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Miller's Place, (behind Christ Church).

FLEC recognizes the importance of communication between parent and teenager. Frequently, during adolescence communication channels are closed. The purpose of the workshop is to open them again and to provide deeper understanding between parent and child.

Registration for the workshop is $3 a person. Parents and their teenage children should attend the workshop together.

For more information call FLEC at 855-3510.

Police Praise Kindly Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Siriani of 15201 Charlevoix, have done so much for the community, and without any fanfare, that the Park police officers felt that the couple should at least be given some form of recognition.

Take Mr. Siriani, for example, says Patrolman Rodney Wedding, who was enthusiastic in his praise. The latest project by "this wonderful man, was the presentation of a wheelchair to the Grosse Pointe Nursing Home at 315 Fisher road.

"Lou tried very hard to raise funds to purchase a wheelchair to give to the Home," the officer explained, "but when he could not raise a sufficient amount, he made up the difference from his own pocket."

Siriani, who owns a party store at Charlevoix and Lake points, always has a soft spot in his heart for children, the policemen in the Park will testify. If a child comes into his store to make a candy purchase, and is a penny or a nickel short, rather than deprive the youngster of the goodies, Lou always tells the boy or girl, "That's all right, you owe me", knowing full well that most of the time the kid would forget about it.

At one time there was a party given at St. Clare de Montefalco Church, and there was a shortage of ice cream. Who came up with the conception? Nobody else but Lou, the police pointed out. He donated 250 Dixie cups of ice cream so that the party would not be a failure, absorbing the cost himself.

Many times Mr. and Mrs. Siriani have heard of people who were in need of help, and they made sure that help was given.

"They have done so much for so many," Wedding said, "it's surprising this wonderful man and his wife are not broke. Someone has to give them a 'pat on the back', so what better way then to let people know through the news media. You don't find very many people like this any more, who always think of helping others."

Not only the policemen have nice things to say about the Sirianis, but also Mary F. Hosteler, administrator of the Nursing Home, who wrote the following letter to the couple:

"Dear Mr. and Mrs. Siriani: Thank you for the gift of the wheelchair for the patients of our Nursing Home. We are putting it to good use. Many of our patients are on Medicaid and it is very difficult to provide wheelchairs for patients who need them occasionally, or while their chairs are being repaired.

"Thank you again for your kindness in remembering us with this gift."

Scotts Pre-Spring SALE

The time to think about improving your lawn is now, while you're still shivering.

To make your lawn sparkle this year

Simply spread a bag of Scotts TURF BUILDER on your lawn and enjoy the difference it will make. TURF BUILDER is the patented fertilizer that makes grass grow greener and sturdier. It feeds slowly, steadily, avoiding the wasteful surge growth that makes extra mowing. Keeps grass greener longer too. Pick up a bag this weekend and enjoy a lovelier lawn this year.

If your lawn needs "something extra"

You'll be pleased with Scotts SUPER TURF BUILDER. It provides even more greening power than regular Turf Builder, with no increase in weight. SUPER TURF BUILDER is just the thing for the lawn that missed its fall feeding last year. Or for the lawn you may want to green up early and get the jump on spring. A terrific bargain at these low sale prices.

To prevent crabgrass as you fertilize

If there was crabgrass in your neighborhood last year, it will likely be back this year, because its seeds are in the ground. But you can stop them before they get started in your lawn with Scotts HALTS PLUS For Established Lawns. It sets up a barrier which stops crabgrass seeds as they sprout. Fertilizers your good grass at the same time, making your lawn grow greener and sturdier.

Caught Trying To Rob Station

A citizen became suspicious of a car parked in the driveway of the Mack-Somerset Sunoco Gas Station, 15422 Mack, and notified Park police. As a result, police were able to surprise and arrest two suspects in the act of attempting to burglarize the place.

At 11:28 p.m. on Thursday, March 15, Patrolmen Andrew Meeker, Timothy Mink, Ralph Moore and Paul Konefke, were dispatched to the service station. On arrival, the officers heard a noise in the women's restroom. One officer kicked open the door of the room and surprised Roderick Cathey, 24, of 969 Mt Vernon; and William R. Ross, 27, of 18484 Standbury, both of Detroit.

The pair, using a sledge hammer and a tire iron had made a three-foot opening in the ceiling of the room. They had gone through a crawly-way in the ceiling and were punching a hole in the ceiling over the office of the station.

Cathey and Ross were placed under arrest, taken to the station, and booked on a charge of breaking and entering a building. The following morning they were formally charged in a warrant approved by the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office, and arraigned before Park Municipal Judge William E. Spear for a preliminary hearing. The judge set personal bond at $2,500 each and scheduled an examination for April 25. The suspects were released pending the hearing.

Pointers Swim in Mini-Meet March 10-11

Nine of the 19 little "sharks" the Detroit Yacht Club swim team took to the first annual Michigan Mini-Meet for eight-year-olds, and younger, were Pointe area children. Three of the swimmers were making their debut in AAU competition in Mercy Centers pool, Farmington, Saturday, March 10, and Sunday, March 11.

Those diving "off the blocks" for the first time were Kenny Baculis, 8, of Yorkshire road, Bill Hohmann, 6, of Grand Marais boulevard and Molly Riley, 8, of Audubon road.

Petite Denise DeSantis, 8, of Pemberton road, took a first place medal for her performance in the girls six and under, 25-yard breast, Jack Nelson, of Kerby road, who also is 8, won a first in the 50-yard fly for six-year-old boys and under, was fourth in the 25-yard free, and fourth in the 25-yard backstroke.

Hans Brieden, 6, of Balfour road, topped the 25-yard breast for boys six and under, and also took home a sixth place medal for his 25-yard free performance. Barry Fires, 8, of Touraine road, swam many events and was rewarded by sharing in the DYC eight and under boys 200-yard medley relay, which finished sixth.

City Firemen Give Birth To Big Crop of Mustaches

By Holly Angell

In the manner of the mod squad, mustaches have appeared on the once clean shaven upper lips of the men of the City Fire Department.

It began about a month ago when Sergeant John Rea grew a mustache for the Red Wing Old Timers hockey game. Most of the other team members grew them to provide a bit of authenticity and flavor to the old timer theme.

In that newly flamboyant world of men's fashions, mustaches are the vogue. But in the world of the City Fire Department, mustaches are still "nouveau." And as with anything innovative, Sergeant Rea's mustache was the target for endless jokes and wisecracks.

Yet there is safety in numbers and "five mustaches are less conspicuous than one." As the teasing died in the eight-year-old events and took home many heat ribbons.

down and as Rea became a daily phenomenon, four other mustaches appeared.

The firemen of shift two, Lieutenant Tim Champine, Steve Madar, John Onstwedger, and Peter Thibideau followed Rea's example with tongue-in-cheek. However, as they became accustomed to their faces, and experienced the thrill and adventure of that first mustache, they began to regard their changed appearance as permanent rather than a prank.

Now they are well-versed in mustache styling, as well as managing and maintenance. Fireman Madar is contemplating a handle bar or perhaps a Fu Manchu—depending on the direction of growth.

Since the fireman's uniforms prohibit them from indulging in fashion foibles, the head is the only area in which they can exercise any variety and creativity of appearance.

It speaks well for the flexibility of the fire department that there has been no objection from the top. Fire Chief Robert Marshall, who confesses to having been be-mustached while in the service, has no complaints "if they don't get beyond certain lengths." However, he prohibits beards, which he considers to be a fire hazard.

To date, of the original five, only Sergeant Rea has decided to take it all off. His cohorts think he should grow it back again because he looks "odd."

But his reasons were justified. "It was either a shave or a divorce."

Safety Dictates Bus Stop Shift

The Lake Shore Division of SEMTA, (Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority), has announced a bus location change as part of its newly instituted safety program.

Beginning Monday, April 2, outbound Kercheval-Deanhurst and Charlevoix buses will no longer stop on the right hand side of Jefferson at Maryland, at the city limits of The Park. Instead, the buses will stop in front of the Park Police Station, after turning from Jefferson into Maryland.

Daniel D. Morrill, operations manager, said "This change will eliminate the need for most passengers to cross Jefferson when car traffic is at a peak. We think it's just as important for Lake Shore to be concerned with the safety of their passengers when they leave the buses as well as when they're riding them."

ACID TEST
Many a fellow shivers in the cold just because he imagined he had the fire of genius.

GP Natators Take Honors in AAU Meet

The Grosse Pointe Swim Club's "A" team competed at Schoolcraft College in Clarenceville's annual AAU meet the weekend of March 10-11. Several of GPSC's older girls took the weekend off but the local club still came home with honors.

The teacher showed the pupils "how it's done" as coach Tim Kennary won the 100-yard backstroke in the men's master event, (ages 25 to 34), at 1:07.0.

Frances Shook in girls 10 and under took a clue from the coach and won the breaststroke, 50 yards in 38 seconds. Frances' time bettered her Michigan AAU fastest time by a half second.

In boys' 10 and under Billy Babcock, Dan Treder, Paul Treder and George Schoof took fifth place in the 200-yard medley relay. In boys 13 and 14, Ray Bernard took second place in the 200-yard IM in 2:18.4 and swam to a second in the 100-yard back at 1:02.6. Ray combined with Tom Hessburg, Drew Pillsbury and Scott Oberski in the medley relay, finishing second, at 1:57.1.

Then in the men's open the 200-yard relay team of Don Bernard, Drew Pillsbury, Tom Hessburg and Scott Oberski took second place at 1:57.1.

Grosse Pointe Swim Club's mini-swimmers took part in an eight and under meet at Mercy Center the same weekend. Bill McEnroe, Mark Stoyka, Jeff Colton and Jim Strong combined in the 100-yard medley relay for third place at 1:17.3, and Tom Van Pelt combined with Mark, Bill and Jeff for a sixth place in the 200-yard free relay at 2:38.6. Jeff Colton took third place in the 25-yard free at 15.8.

Sarah Bernard, 7, took a third in the 25-yard free-style, and the girl's 200-yard free relay of Chris Rohrig, Lynn Mollahan, Sarah Bernard and Rachael Krickstein took third place at 2:56.6. The same relay team with Mary Ann Hendrie replacing Chris Rohrig took fifth in the 100-yard free relay.

Sarah Bernard's 25.2 was good for fifth in the 25-yard breaststroke and Arron Krickstein's 31.1 took fifth in the 25-yard butterfly. Other mini-swimmers were David Babcock, Bob Luberto and Rene Krickstein.

The Grosse Pointe Human Relations Council has a Fair Housing Committee whose members escort minority group people who are considering a home in Grosse Pointe. We know that the state and national laws provide that every house on the market is available, based solely on ability to pay. Still, a gesture of welcome is important because of an unwelcoming past.

If you are selling your home and would like the committee to know, please send a card to our Post Office box.

BURSITIS AND ARTHRITIS

It seems that the average layman has been misinformed about bursitis, and thinks he has bursitis when he has arthritis, these two conditions are completely different except both are associated with pain in the joints. Bursitis is the inflammation of a bursa, and is usually caused by an injury. In this condition there is usually no pain except when one starts to use the joint, and the more one uses the joint the more severe the pain becomes. Rest and diathermy usually heals the bursa in a few treatments.

Arthritis is the inflammation of the articulation of a joint, caused by the gathering of uric, toxic and calcium deposits, which in turn is caused by the failure of the kidneys and the digestive tract, which in turn is caused by poor mastication and the wrong foods. To correct and to alleviate this condition one must correct his bad eating habits and the wrong foods, and with the aid of Zone, Physiotherapy, Acupuncture and exercise wonderful results may be obtained.

The above system is rarely used by your doctor or chiropractor, but can be obtained by calling 886-4010 for more information or an appointment.

Spitfires Have Tough Ice Tilts

By Sue Barrett

Jackson! The name conjures up visions of the State Prison or a visit to the Cascading Waters Fountain. But here the best Pee Wee hockey players from the whole State gathered for a tournament to determine which team would represent the State of Michigan for the National Championship.

The classes represented were Open, "A" and "B". The Grosse Pointe Hockey Association sent two teams: the Cougars from "A" division, and the Spitfires from the Open class. The Cougars lost two games against Farmington and Livonia, so they were out of contention after two days.

Meanwhile, the Spitfires drew the Blazer team as their opening opponents Friday, March 9. Both clubs came on strong and hammered away at each other throughout the game, which was won by the Blazers 5-4. Half-way in the first period, Spitfires goalie Rich Parks was felled by a shot and left the game. Cab Morris took up his position and did a magnificent job. Spitfire goals were scored by Jeff Logan, Joel Farby and two by Jeff Johnston. The Blazers scored during the last two seconds of the game for the victory.

On Saturday, March 10, the Spitfires hit the ice with determination and defeated a tough Trenton team, 4-2. Joel Farby, Bob Rahaim and Jeff Logan, with two goals, led the attack. Then, the following day, GP dumped the Port Huron Flyers, 4-2 as Bob Barrett scored twice.

The only teams left in the Open Division were the Spitfires and the Blazers. After a late start, the battle finally got under way. Cheering loudly in the stands were members of the girl's cheering squad: Betsy Barrett, Charlotte Parks, Susie Mallard, Dina Rossetti, Julie Schuster and Debbie Johnston, all led by Mrs. Schuster.

At 7:40 of the first period, the Blazers scored the lone goal against the Spitfires. Tension mounted as the clock ticked off the numbers which proved fatal for the Pointers.

When the buzzer ended the 1-0 loss, the Spitfires manfully took off their gloves to shake their opponents hands. The GP team never wavered in its efforts to achieve victory. They put every ounce of strength they had, and then some, into their battles, and came out a little more mature for their efforts. The Grosse Pointe Hockey Association is proud of the Spitfires.

St. Paul Girls Get to Finals

Championship basketball is still being played at Grosse Pointe St. Paul, though the high school has been closed for two years. On Sunday, March 12, at Bishop Borgess High School, Redford, the St. Paul Girls' High School basketball team played in the City Championship Finals. In spite of losing to Marian High School of Birmingham, the Lakers captured the runner-up trophy, High School Girls' Varsity City, "A" bracket.

The girls' team is composed of the following former students at St. Paul: seniors Donna Dziuba, Janet Ferry, Dottie Malloy, co-captain, Cyndy Rabaut and Therese Wilson; juniors Karen Bingham, Maureen Monaghan, co-captain, Marlene Pasella and Renee Piche.

Coach Mary Dube led them to an 8-2 season in regular CYO competition, and second place in the East A Division.

Therese Wilson has been on the varsity for three years; in two of those years, the team won the division championship.

Four girls, Donna Dziuba, Dottie Malloy, Karen Bingham and Maureen Monaghan played on the junior varsity City Championship Team of 1971. In 1972, Donna was an All-City player. This year, she and Therese Wilson were picked for the All-Division team.

The Laker girls defeated the team of Shrine of Royal Oak, and Lady of Good Counsel on the way to the City finals.

One Headlight Starts Trouble

Gary C. Ohlsson, 19, of 318 Rivard, was arrested by Farms police on Sunday, March 18, at about 3:10 a.m., for driving a station wagon with only one headlight. When he got out of his vehicle to search for his operator's license, the officer found what they said was a metal hashish pipe, in the accessory tray on the front door.

The officers, Patrolman Gerald DeBurghgraeve and Phillip Miglio, said they were on routine patrol, when they saw the car, with Ohlsson behind the wheel heading east on Mack. The left light of the vehicle was out. They stopped the youth at Lexington. There was a male passenger in the auto.

The policemen said that Ohlsson opened the driver side door and got out and as he was standing, looking in his wallet for his operator's license, they noticed the pipe. The youth was unable to find his license, and was informed that he was under arrest for driving with defective equipment, having no license on his person and for possession of narcotic paraphernalia.

DeBurghgraeve and Miglio took Ohlsson to the station, the passenger driving the youth's station wagon. At the station, the passenger was released after questioning, with no charges placed against him at that time.

The patrolmen searched Ohlsson and found a package of regular cigarets. Among these, they found one rolled cigaret that appeared to contain marijuana. The officers promptly informed Ohlsson that he was under arrest for violation of the Farms Controlled Substance Ordinance.

Ohlsson was issued a violation ticket for driving with defective equipment and another for having no operator's license on his person. He also was charged with illegal possession of the alleged marijuana.

Woods Dept. Hires Officer

The Woods Department of Public Safety has a new officer.

He's Patrick DeVine, 25, a former Detroit policeman. He started on the job Monday, March 5, according to Public Safety Director Henry Marchand, who added, "He's an exceptionally fine young man, very intelligent and a good, prospective career officer."

Officer DeVine, who was with The Detroit Police Detroit Police Department, first as a cadet in November 1968, and then as a full time officer starting March 1969, has received three citations and nine commendations for meritorious work with Detroit police.

The 1968 graduate of Denby High School has completed one year of study in Police Administration at Mercy College, Detroit. He's presently attending Wayne County Community College, majoring in Police Administration.

Officer DeVine, his wife, Mary Lynn, and their son Michael, 3, live in Detroit.

Pizza Parlor Robbed in City

Thomas Van Smith, manager of the Grosse Pointe Pizzeria, 17824 Mack avenue, called City police at 9 p.m. Saturday, March 17, to report that he had been robbed. City officers John Drummond and David Teolis responded to the call.

Mr. Van Smith said a black male, about 25 years old, wearing a red nylon parka and a white hospital surgical mask, entered the front door of the parlor.

He immediately pulled out a dark metal gun and announced the hold-up. He forced the three employees who were in the parlor at the time into the restroom and took their money. They were Mr. Van Smith, Danny Neych of Detroit and Robert Johns of St. Clair Shores.

The thief warned them to stay in the rest room until he left. He then took the money from the cash register. The total amount taken was $375 in small bills.

The employees were hesitant to come out of the rest room since they didn't hear the door close.

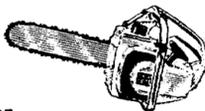

The area around the pizzeria was checked, but police could not find any footprints. The security guard at Jim Causley's Pontiac, 17677 Mack avenue, saw the man come out of the pizzeria and get into the passenger side of a light colored car, possibly an older model Ford. The car proceeded east.

The thief was described further as being heavy set, about 275 pounds and six feet, one inch tall.

One View From The Capitol

By William R. Bryant, Jr.

The record water level of Lake St. Clair is still getting worse and there are only slim hopes that levels will not continue the relentless rise.

I hope residents will continue to support sand-bagging projects like those in The City and Park, because readiness for the worst is essential. We are more fortunate than St. Clair Shores and Harrison Township in most of the Pointes.

I spent most of a recent Saturday filling sand bags out there where canal homes and shore homes are only a foot or two above lake level. Our shoreline is somewhat higher and we have concrete retaining walls along almost all the shoreline.

Evaporation

One of the biggest determinants of lake level is evaporation. The unusually high number of cloudy days in the past year has had a substantial adverse effect, keeping evaporation at a minimum.

Trying to find ways man can lower the lake levels is difficult. The biggest step taken to date is reduction of Lake Superior outflow from about 130,000 CFS to about 55,000 CFS. This is expected to have a gross effect, however, of only five-eighths of an inch on Lake St. Clair. That is, without this reduction, our level would be that much higher.

This minimal help will be more than offset by the spring. Lake levels are supposed to go down in winter and up in spring. They will go up in spring but one of the major danger signals this winter was that the normal winter drop did not occur. Levels rose from year end to the end of January.

Two Choices

What else can be done? There are only two choices, obviously. Reduce inflow or increase outflow.

Reduction of inflow to the lower lakes has been started with the reduction of outflow from Superior. Since 1945 there has been a 5,000 CFS diversion into Superior and this too has been curtailed.

But there are no other plans to reduce inflow to the lower great lakes. The more we asphalt our state the more we will increase inflow.

Divert Water

So what about increasing outflow? About the only practical way to increase outflow is to divert more water into the Illinois waterway at Chicago. Present outflow there is limited to 3,200 CFS. It could be increased to about 8,200 CFS. It is estimated, however, that it would take 15 years for full impact on Lake St. Clair and that impact would be only about a two and one-half inch gross lowering effect.

This all means that easy answers are not available. Nature and our nearly irreversible effects increasing surface water runoff are master. What we need most are a bright sunny, dry spring and summer and a lack of hard blow out of the east and northeast.

1952 was bad. 1973 will be worse. Investigate getting flood insurance, cooperate with your city officials and think sun.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir: The Board of Directors of the Grosse Pointe League of Women Voters at their March Board meeting voted unanimously to support the four millage propositions being proposed by the Grosse Pointe Board of Education.

Propositions #1 and #2 are a renewal of expiring millages. The small additional costs of #3 and #4 will restore for one year school program which has been curtailed and library services, including an extension of hours.

We urge our members and all voters in the Grosse Pointe School District to "Vote Yes For Four" on March 29th.

Yours very truly,

City Approves Permits For Buildings in Village

The Grosse Pointe City Council at its meeting on Monday, March 19 approved two requests for building permits and encroachments. The requests concern construction and renovations of buildings planned in "The Village."

A combined request was received from Al Sherman for site plan, encroachment and sign permit approvals in conjunction with the development of a proposed restaurant, in the Village, Inc., at 630 St. Clair, former National Bank of Detroit branch office.

The encroachment would be for extending the existing fascia approximately 15 inches. The band presently overhangs the City right-of-way approximately nine inches. With the extension, the total overhang would be approximately 24 inches.

In addition, permission was requested for an encroachment to place five pillars approximately 6 inches by 12 inches from the sidewalk to the fascia. These pillars would project approximately 18 inches into the existing sidewalk. The sidewalk is 12 feet wide at the proposed location, and it does not appear that the encroachment would cause any severe public safety problems.

The encroachments were approved subject to the following conditions:

• The permittee shall assume full liability for any damages sustained by the City arising by reason of the granting of permit.

• Before issuance of the permit, the permittee shall file with the City a document approved by the City Attorney which shall be in recordable form and conditioned to exempt the City from any loss or damage which may arise during the life of the encroachment.

• The permit shall be revocable at the will of the Council and at any time the permit is revoked, the permittee shall forthwith remove the encroachment at no cost to the City.

• Under no circumstances shall the encroachment be continued beyond the life of the building existing at the time of issuance of the permit.

The proposed sign facing the alley would read "Restaurant" and would be approximately 14 inches high and approximately nine feet in length. The sign facing St. Clair would read "In the Village, Inc." and would contain two rows of 14 inch letters approximately 12 feet in length in the first row and 10 feet in the second row. The proposed signs would be smaller in scope than the existing National Bank of Detroit signs and would fall within the 35 feet sign limitation.

The second request was for a building permit for an addition and alteration to the Jacobson Store, at 17030 Kercheval.

The proposed alterations would encroach on City right-of-way.

The encroachment is for overhanging copper covered entrance hoods on two doors and overhanging canopies on 10 show windows on the front of the building.

It also includes a new brick facing on the existing building which would encroach four inches on the sidewalk and seven inches at the location of 12 brick piers. The brick facing encroachment would extend approximately 225 feet west from the St. Clair building corner along the building face on Kercheval.

The Council felt the proposed alteration would make a valuable improvement to the Village and would not appear to cause any problems. It was approved subject to the conditions cited above.

An application to erect four signs was also approved. Each sign would measure 20 inches high by 12 feet in length or 20 square feet, and would read "Jacobsons."

They would consist of individually, illuminated letters.

Two signs would be on the Kercheval face of the building and one sign each on the St. Clair and Notre Dame sides.

Introduce Golf At Star of Sea

An ambitious spring sports program has been launched at Our Lady Star of the Sea High School, including the introduction of a varsity golf team for the first time in the school's history.

"With the rise in the popularity of competitive golf at the high school level and a parallel rise in the number of girls getting active in the sport, we decided to field a team this season," said Donald J. Sloan, principal of the all-girl high school. "Although few high schools now offer varsity golf for girls, we feel the number will grow remarkably within the next few years."

Mr. Sloan claimed great interest in the golfing program has been expressed by many students, and a tentative schedule of opponents has been drawn.

In addition to the new program, tennis practices will begin in the near future for members of the school's tennis club. Tennis remains on a club sport level at Star and the group this season will participate in competition against junior varsity and varsity level teams from local schools.

"We have always offered the students a full physically-oriented extracurricular program because we feel it is an essential part of the total education program," claimed Mr. Sloan.

Club Slates Cage Finale

The Neighborhood Club basketball program is rapidly closing in on its big finish Saturday, March 24, at Brownell Middle School.

"Super Saturday" will include six games starting at 9 a.m. and continuing to 3 p.m.

The first two games at 9 and 10 a.m. will be battles for the Collegiate League Championship, followed by the Collegiate All-Star game. This league consists of over 100 area fourth grade boys who will be competing for trophies and All-Star certificates.

The Pro League, consisting of fifth and sixth grade boys, vies for league championship and All-Star honors at 11 and 12 noon, respectively. This will be the culmination of four months of basketball for almost 200 area boys.

Then the Giant League, composed of seventh, eighth and ninth grade boys square off at 1 and 2 p.m. The league championship and North vs. South basketball supremacy are at stake.

All the boys and coaches have reportedly done an outstanding job this season. Parents and the public are invited to attend any or all of these championship games.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Virginia Leonard

March 29 is an important date for all voters in the Grosse Pointe School District. In just a few days now you will be asked to vote on four propositions. Proposition #1 renews for one year the school district's voted operational millage which expired with the December, 1972 tax collection. Proposition #2 renews for three years the Public Libraries' voted operational millage. Funds currently being collected will operate the Public Libraries only through June 30, 1972.

Proposition #3 increases for one year the school district's operational millage by six-tenths of one mill (0.6 mills) on each dollar of the assessed valuation, as equalized, of all property in the school district for the year 1973. Proposition #4 increases for one year the Public Libraries' operational millage by fourteen one-hundredths of one mill (0.14 mills) on each dollar of the assessed valuation, as equalized.

Each proposition is important. The two that most affect the Public Libraries are Proposition #2 and Proposition #4. To help you visualize the cost of these two propositions, let's say your home has a market value of $20,000. You are taxed at the rate of $10,000. Proposition #2 would cost $11.20 a year (the tax you are now paying). Proposition #4 would cost $1.40 (an additional tax). Total tax for the operation of three Public Libraries would be $12.60.

A home with a market value of $40,000 and taxed at a $20,000 rate would continue to pay the present tax of $22.40 plus an additional tax of $2.80.

The amount of tax increase asked for the Public Libraries is modest indeed. Several additional services would be added, as I pointed out in my March 8 column.

Take a few moments to reflect on some current prices and compare them with the increase in taxes being asked for. Dinner for two at a modest priced restaurant $22.40. A hamburger deluxe $1.40. A tank full of gas for the average car costs $5.50. A haircut for a man $3.75; a visit to the beauty shop for a woman — don't ask!

I don't mean to be facetious, I'm serious. Between now and March 29, think it over.

We were saddened last week to learn of the death of one of our most respected and well-known authors, Pearl Buck, at the age of 80. A daughter of missionaries, she won the Nobel and Pulitzer prizes for her writings on China.

Miss Buck was born in West Virginia in 1892 but was raised in China and learned to speak Chinese before she spoke English. It was that upbringing that influenced both her style and subject matter. After her first 17 years in China, she returned to the United States, made a short stay, and then returned to China as a Presbyterian missionary from 1914-1935. The Communist Chinese government refused her request to revisit their country until last October.

In 1932 she won the Pulitzer Prize for THE GOOD EARTH which I'm sure we have all read, and which I suspect will become a minor classic. In 1938 she became the first American woman to win a Nobel Prize for Literature. Special mention was made of two 1936 biographies — THE EXILE and FIGHTING ANGELO.

Much of the money she made went toward the Pearl S. Buck Foundation, an organization devoted to the support of Asian children fathered by American servicemen. The Foundation established in 1964, has helped more than 2,000 children in five countries.

Of her scores of books, THE GOOD EARTH, I believe, was the most popular, and reflected the development of modern China. It was translated into more than 30 languages, was the basis of a play and a motion picture, winning an Academy award for Lise Rainer in 1937.

Miss Buck turned out on an average of 3 books a year, writing 5 novels under the pen name of "John Sedges."

Pearl Buck is gone, but her tremendous literary contribution will remain with us always.

Jaycees' Sale Helps Retarded

The Grosse Pointe Jaycees and the Grosse Pointe Association for Retarded Children have united to raise funds for aiding retarded children of the community.

"All God's Children" was chosen as the theme for the campaign, with the emphasis being directed towards Sunday, April 1. This day has been dedicated as "Jelly Sunday" and culminates a week's activities which begin Monday, March 26.

During the week, Jaycee and association members will sell 10-ounce mugs of special jelly prepared by the group.

Project chairman Pieter Van Horne has arranged for jelly sales on a neighborhood campaign basis as well as at several shopping centers and business establishments throughout The Pointe. "We have 650 cases of jelly to sell," he said.

The association will receive the funds to provide financial support for its projects.

"The retarded children of the Grosse Pointe area are like any other children. They need the same type of activities, as well as opportunities for education and development. It is the goal of our association to bring these necessities within the reach of each child," said Sissy Pierce, of the association.

Each mug of jelly sells for $1 and is intended for reuse as a drinking mug.

Will Dedicate St. Paul Organ

St. Paul's on the Lake Church will dedicate its new pipe organ Sunday, March 25 at 4 p.m.

Kent McDoland, the organist of St. James Church in Birmingham will be the guest recitalist. Mr. McDoland is a former state chairman of the American Guild of Organists, and the head of the organ department of Oakland University. He will play a varied program of music from early baroque to modern, and will be assisted by the Mens' Choir of St. Paul's under the direction of Edward Person.

Msg. Francis X. Canfield, pastor of St. Paul's will speak and the program will close with Benediction. The organ is a gift of the Miles O'Brien family of Grosse Pointe. Finished in light oak, it was designed and built by the Nelson Organ Co. of Brighton, Mich. It is a straight two-manual organ of 18 stops and 18 ranks, totalling 1,023 pipes. With 13 couplers, it was designed primarily to accompany the choir and congregation at services.

St. Paul's is celebrating their diamond jubilee this year. The 75-year-old building has seen one pipe organ and two electronic instruments wear out.

A reception is planned from five to six p.m. The public is invited to attend.

WOMEN'S PAGES

From Another Pointe of View

By Kathy Duff

The ladies' art of decoupage has come out of the living room and into the limelight with the establishment of the National Guild of Decoupeurs. What is special about the Guild for Grosse Pointe is that four Pointe ladies played a key role in launching the newly formed guild in Chicago last week.

Matter of fact, the guild's first president is Mrs. James O. Hoyt, of St. Paul avenue. Mrs. Hoyt was singled out for this honor as she had been among 17 women who met at a design school in Louisville, Ky., last year and decided to establish a guild.

"The National Guild of Decoupeurs was formed through the interest of decoupage authorities around the country to set decoupage apart from other arts and crafts and to establish high standards of quality in the art," Mrs. Hoyt commented.

Membership in the Guild is awarded to women who have submitted a decoupage box which is judged for cutting, coloring, design, finish and lining. Members can then qualify for different levels of membership including lay, journeyman and master by submitting decoupage pieces which meet decoupage standards as researched by the Guild.

Even though decoupage came into vogue fairly recently, this art of cutting, pasting and lacquering is a revival of a 17th Century art. Although the art does date back to the 17th Century, the Europeans did not establish a guild, so Grosse Pointers on summer European pilgrimages should not look for a decoupage guild hall in Brussels' historic Grand Place.

Conventions for the Guild will be held annually, and as the Guild grows, regional chapters will be formed where interested decoupeurs can meet to exchange the various techniques which constitute the art. The Guild currently numbers 175 members.

Pointers interested in putting their decoupage art to the GREAT TEST may contact Mrs. Hoyt at 884-9231 or Mrs. W. C. Standish, another new member, at 882-0682. They are hoping for an excellent response from The Pointe.

This is a hair that used to be grey.

It didn't like being that way. So it came to us and said make me a pretty warm rich brown again. And we did. And now it looks years younger and feels years younger and is enjoying life all over again. We don't always think grey should be eliminated. Some heads turn that way magnificently. Others only seem wan and washed out. If your case is the latter, see us. We know how to make big bad grey go away. Like that.

Our Lady Queen of Peace Church was the setting for the double ring ceremony of Diana Constance Jost and Douglas Roy Barbier, Friday, March 23. The five o'clock candlelight rites, at which Father Donald MacLennan presided, was followed by a reception at the Roostertail.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jost, of Manchester boulevard. The groom is the son of Mrs. Sally Barbier, of South Maple lane, and Roy Barbier, of Touraine road.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of cameo ivory silk organza, combined with alencon lace, featuring a high lace collar, long tapered sleeves, and a cathedral length train. Scalloped lace, underscored with pink satin ribbon, accented the empire waist and extended the length of the A-line skirt.

A camelot cap caught her formal length veil, edged with Venice lace, interwoven with pink satin ribbon.

She carried a bouquet of ivory and coral Zerina rosebuds, ivory carnations and baby's breath.

Star of Sea Rites For Joan M. Black

Entire Family Participates in Church Wedding; Reception Follows at Mrs. Browe Black's Home in Lochmoor Boulevard

Joan Marie Black became the bride of Dale Carson Marjamaa, of Warren, Mich., at an early afternoon wedding in Our Lady Star of the Sea Church, Saturday, March 3.

The former Miss Black is the daughter of Mrs. Browe Black, of Lochmoor boulevard, and Thomas J. Black of Birmingham. Mr. Marjamaa is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Marjamaa, of Warren.

Following the rites, at which the Reverend Ralph V. Barton presided, a reception was held in the bride's former home.

Patricia Mary Black acted as her sister's maid of honor, assisted by Theresa Mary, another sister, serving as bridesmaid.

They were attired in floor-length Victorian gowns featuring high necklines and bishop sleeves. The dresses were of floral prints in neutral browns, oranges and blues, accented by bouquets of orange Tiger lilies.

The bride was given away by her brother, Thomas.

Mr. Marjamaa asked his half-brother, Carl Haapala, to serve as best man. Ushers were Larry Rose, his brother-in-law, and John M. and Peter J. Black, brothers of the bride.

The bride selected an ivory organza and lace gown with detachable train for the 1:30 o'clock wedding. The bodice of the scoop neck Empire gown was of peau d'Ange lace embroidered in seed pearls. Strings of seed pearls cascading down the gown finished in an eight-inch hem of peau d'Ange and seed pearls.

The small headpiece was of matching lace and pearls which held a bouffant veil of silk illusion. White roses formed a Colonial bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Black selected a street-length silver grey dress fashioned with a portrait neckline. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Mar-

TUTAG of Stratton place, MRS. LOUIS LUCHTMAN of East Jefferson, and MRS. GLEN CRITTON, of Nefi road. These friends were all members of the Detroit Yacht Club where Mr. Belanger was a commodore in 1961.

Film Premiere to Aid Hospital

A socially prominent, black-tie audience will attend the Variety Club's benefit premiere of "Lost Horizon" on Wednesday, March 28 at 8 p.m.

This stunning musical adaptation of James Hilton's famous novel, yet to be released in the United States, will also be viewed a few nights previously by Queen Elizabeth at a London command performance.

In order to facilitate travel-time and allow each side of the city to share in this glamorous event, two theaters have been selected for the exclusive showing. They are the Towne Theatre, 26300 Greenfield Road, Oak Park, and the Eastland Theatre, 19940 Vernier Road, Harper Woods.

Tickets to the Benefit Premiere and an Afterglow Party are $50 per person. Contributions are deductible from income taxes. Pointers Attend Prayer Session April 6 and 7

Christ Episcopal Church is acting as the local liaison for the conference "Focus on Prayer—Learning its Process and Experiencing its Power" to be held at Colomiere College, Clarkston, Mich. on Friday and Saturday, April 6 and 7.

Pointe residents interested in attending the conference may call Christ Church (804-4841) for further information. Already planning to attend the meeting are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Specht, of Mount Vernon road; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Goodenough, of Lothrop road; and Mrs. J. Jenness Newcomb, of Whittier road.

Co-sponsored by the Michigan Branch of the Anglican Fellowship of Prayer and the Episcopal Church Women of the Diocese of Michigan, the conference will feature small-group meetings on experimental and traditional forms of worship and will be led by laymen, women and clergy. It is open to all denominations.

Addresses by the Reverend Donald Hulstrand, formerly president of the Anglican Fellowship of Prayer and chairman of its International Executive Committee, will be the basis for discussion, study and inspiration. Inspired by what happened in England with "Fire in Coventry," the Reverend Hulstrand began a similar movement that aroused groups of praying people in the Diocese of Southern Ohio. He has continued this activity in Minnesota where he is now serving as Rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Reservations must be made by Sunday, April 1, with Christ Church.

Piano Concert Aids Retarded Children

The Grosse Pointe Association for Retarded Children, Inc., will present duo-pianists Janet Young and Sara Ladd in a benefit concert Sunday, April 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the Fries Auditorium of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

The Grosse Pointe artists are contributing their musical talents to launch the Association's fundraising drive, which coincides this April with the 10th Anniversary of the organization.

Henry P. Cope, of Fisher road, is the current Association president.

The Grosse Pointe Association for Retarded Children is dedicated to promoting the general welfare of the mentally retarded and to fostering the development of programs in their behalf.

Through this organization, parents of retarded children are given the opportunity of meeting and working together toward solutions to their problems.

The organization assists Pointe residents at state homes by contributing funds for their special needs.

One of the many programs it supports is that of the John Lee Regional Center in Detroit, where 25 Pointe trainable students are transported daily by the Grosse Pointe School District.

The regional program operates under the concept that trainable retardates can be better aided toward the goal of self-development by grouping the students into classes according to their abilities, motivating them to become as independent as their limitations permit.

Janet Young and Sara Ladd have performed with the Detroit Women's Symphony Orchestra and with the Grosse Pointe Chamber Players. They have concertized for the Tuesday Musicales of Detroit and Detroit Chamber of Music Workshop.

Last fall they performed at the home of Detroit Symphony Board Member Pierre V. Heftler at a reception honoring principal conductor-designate Aldo Ceccato and his wife, Eliana.

The evening's program will include works by Saint-Saens, Franck, Mozart, Poulenc, Brahms, Milhaud and J. S. Bach-Victor Babin.

Mrs. Young received her Bachelor of Arts degree in piano from Hastings College, Neb. She did advanced study in Denver and San Francisco. She has appeared as guest soloist with the Detroit Women's Symphony Orchestra. At present, she is the accompanist for the Grosse Pointe Community Chorus.

Mrs. Ladd has a degree in Music History from American University in Washington, D. C. While studying with Evelyn Swarthout, she appeared with the American University Orchestra, both as soloist and as a duo-pianist. She is the official pianist with the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra.

The artists will be present at a "mini-glo" in the lobby of Fries Auditorium immediately after the concert. Concertgoers are cordially invited to attend.

Eugene T. Ignasiak and Irwin A. Roberts are co-chairmen of the fund drive.

Mini-glo hostess chairman Mrs. Hal Cornelius has asked the Mesdames Henry P. Cope, Frank R. Evanski, Eugene T. Ignasiak and Caesar Zakem, all Pointers, to assist her.

Tickets for the concert are $3 for adults and $1 for students. Ticket chairmen Mrs. Joseph L. Craig and Mrs. David E. Hyde may be contacted at 882-6463 or 821-4875.

Proceeds from the event will provide summer music camp scholarships to talented student musicians.

Tickets, sold at the door, are $3 per couple. Refreshments will be served.

North High students involved in the Cabaret Party include Sue Walker and Bill Bentzen, decorations; Kim Bohlinger, publicity; Pam Treziak, service; Caroline Allen, talent; Gretchen Erce, food; Jan Frisbie, tickets; and Greg Near, clean up.

Fashionscope '73

When the houselights dim Friday evening, March 30, at 8:30, the entire Detroit Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Pierre Hetu, will be on stage in Ford Auditorium to open Fashionscope '73.

An extravaganza of fashion and music, Fashionscope is sponsored annually by the Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra as a benefit for the Symphony's Quest for Excellence Fund. Mrs. William R. Shaw, of Bloomfield Hills, is general chairman of the 1973 Fashionscope.

The fashion show is being produced by The J. L. Hudson Company. It will feature the designs of two-time Coty Award winner Kasper for Joan Leslie and Larry Kane of Raffles Men's Wear.

A nostalgic salute to Norell will spotlight some of the originals of the period. Miss Madelyn Coe, Hudson's Fashion Director and international fashion authority, will emcee the evening's festivities.

Afterglow time will find Chet Bogan and his Dixieland Jazz Group providing the music for dancing and socializing. Popular singing star Glen Campbell and the exciting Broadway celebrity Carol Channing, plus cast members from the musical "Lorelei," are expected to pop in for a visit to heighten the glamour of the occasion.

General admission tickets at $5 are available at the Ford Auditorium Box Office (961-0700) and Hudson's (CA 3-5100). Benefactor tickets are $50 each, which includes a pre-show cocktail party and dinner; and $10 Patron tickets are available by writing Mrs. Joseph Daick, 1141 Trowbridge road, Bloomfield Hills.

Grosse Pointers who have marked the Friday, March 30, date include Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Wrigley, of Bishop road, as Mrs. Wrigley is president of the Women's Association, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Semple, of University place. Mr. Semple serves as president of the Detroit Symphony Board.

Also attending Fashionscope '73 will be Dr. and Mrs. Sidney E. Chapin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Endicott, William Baer, Mr. and Mrs. David Gamble, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Girardy, Mr. and Mrs. Pierre V. Heftler, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas V. LoCicero, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold W. Lungershausen, Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. MacDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred D. Moran.

More are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Schoenith, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Simon, Mrs. Florence E. Sisman, Don Egan, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ternes, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vance and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Wetz.

Report from the Field

Last Friday and Saturday night, March 16 and 17, The Fine Arts Society of Detroit presented "The Apple Tree," a fantasy composed of three musical vignettes. I was the guest of Mrs. Thomas G. Girardy, of Vernier road, the producer of the show, on Friday night.

Polish Perform Wedding Rites

Bridegrooms bearing whips are an odd sight at a wedding, but when the Mazowsze Company gives its spectacular performance at the Masonic Auditorium soon, the troupe introduces all sorts of unusual Polish traditions to its audiences.

The group comes to the Masonic for four performances in three days, Friday and Saturday, March 23 and 24 at 8:20 p.m. and Sunday, March 25, at 1 and 5 p.m.

The 100 energetic singers, dancers and musicians from Poland are currently on their fourth tour of North America.

The whips the bridegrooms use are not some dreaded instrument of male oppression. Rather, they are used in a fast-paced movement from ceremonial wedding dances, the "Dances From Szamoty." The boisterous "Oberek," by contrast, has the women flinging the men high over their heads.

The traditional dances of the Polka, Polonaise and Mazurka are also all on the Mazowsze program.

The troupe has over 1,200 regional costumes, many hand-made by villagers who have held secret for generations certain traditions of weaving and dying. Folk instruments include the "diablskie skrzypce" or "Devil's Violin," and the primitive fiddle, the "gesliki."

Tickets for Mazowsze are available at the Masonic Auditorium box office, and all Grinnell's and J.L. Hudson ticket centers.

Rose Growers Given Advice

Annual pruning can produce better-looking roses, and now is the time to do it.

Horticulturists claim that rose pruning isn't a difficult job, especially if you use sharp pruners. Cut dead canes or branches with a fine-toothed saw, and use pruning shears for the rest of the job.

Remove all the dead wood first. Make all your cuts to a cane, to the where the branch originated, or to a strong bud. Cut about an inch or two below dark-colored areas. Remove any branches that have no live buds.

The next step is to remove weak growth and branches that are growing towards the center of the plant.

If two branches are crossed, get rid of the weaker one. Shape the plant by cutting the strong, live canes to a height of about 24 to 30 inches.

If you have tree roses, prune them heavily, removing all dead wood. Trim the live canes to a height of 8 to 12 inches.

Wait to prune shrub roses until after they bloom. These plants don't need shaping, so just thin them out and remove dead or unsightly wood.

Society News Gathered from the Pointes

Sixten Ehrling to Join Julliard Music School

Sixten Ehrling will join the Julliard School, Lincoln Center in New York City, as head of the Orchestral Department beginning in October, 1973. He will succeed Alfred Wallenstein.

Mr. Ehrling, whose debut at the Metropolitan Opera in the current revival of "Peter Grimes" is being warmly received, has been music director and conductor of the Detroit Symphony since 1963. Aldo Ceccato has been designated as the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's new conductor.

Among his responsibilities at Julliard, which has three orchestras, he will be conductor of the Concert Orchestra and will supervise the training of young student conductors. Mr. Ehrling will also return to the Metropolitan Opera in 1973-74 where he will conduct several works during the season. Born in Malmo, Sweden, Mr. Ehrling began his professional career at the Dresden State Opera, where he worked with Karl Boehm. In 1940 he began a 20-year affiliation with the Stockholm Royal Opera where he was named Chief Conductor and Music Director in 1953.

Mr. Ehrling made his United States debut conducting the Detroit Symphony in 1961, and two years later he was appointed to succeed Paul Paray as its head.

Widely known throughout Europe for his many conducting engagements with major orchestras and in the leading opera houses, Mr. Ehrling led the BBC Symphony in London in a Sibelius centenary celebration concert in 1965. He conducted performances of Verdi's "A Masked Ball" and Karl-Birger Blomdahl's "Aniara" when the Stockholm Royal Opera appeared at Expo '67 in Montreal.

In 1969, Mr. Ehrling conducted the San Francisco Opera in a widely-praised new production of "Fedelio." The following year he was knighted by the Finnish Government and was given the Order of the Commander of the White Rose for his activities on behalf of the music of Sibelius.

Mr. Ehrling has led the major symphony orchestras of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Los Angeles and San Francisco, in addition to all the major orchestras of Europe. In 1972 he made numerous guest appearances with orchestras in Japan and Australia.

Teacher Awaits Leader

Transcendental Meditation teacher LEW LEONARD, of Maumee avenue, is planning to attend a lecture given by the Maharishi Mahesh Yogi tomorrow, Friday, March 23, at the headquarters of the Engineering Society of Detroit. The Maharishi is sponsored by ESD's Young Engineers Council. For further information on the Maharishi's visit, or transcendental meditation practices, residents may call the Leonards at 882-7211.

Transcendental Meditation Gains Area Support

Increasing numbers of Pointers are investigating the benefits derived from transcendental meditation. Several courses have been offered through the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, and local teachers have been asked to give lectures at various groups, among them the Phase I Singles group at the War Memorial Church.

Upcoming events include a talk at the University-Liggett School in April, according to TM teacher Andree Leonard. She also mentioned courses geared to students at North and South High School although not a part of the high school's official curriculum. Many times, Pointers will offer their houses as a place for the two introductory lectures to be given.

The teacher mentioned that the Junior League of Detroit recently expressed interest in meditation, and many businesses are currently researching the science of creative intelligence to increase an individual's efficiency and productivity. TM is also said to increase a person's creative potential.

Marking the area's growing regard of the science is the Engineering Society of Detroit's invitation for the Maharishi Mahesh Yogi to address the society tomorrow, Friday, March 23.

The Maharishi is a native of India and has personally trained many of the TM teachers, among them Nikolai Diatchenko of Lochmoor boulevard. Nikolai has instructed many area residents in the science and looks forward to an upcoming class this spring.

Advocates of TM claim that during transcendental meditation, a person's oxygen consumption, and metabolic rate markedly decrease, indicating a deep state of rest, much greater than that derived during sleep.

Unlike other types of meditation, such as Yoga, which demand that the meditator hold his concentration on one particular object or thought while sitting in a yoga position, TM is said to be a natural process of releasing tension and fatigue that has built up in a body. In contrast to what most persons think when they hear the word "meditate," the process requires no changes in a person's religious beliefs or philosophies.

TM meditation is not considered difficult to master, as teachers will claim that anyone who can think a thought can meditate.

Meditators reserve 20 minutes in the morning and evening to relax by sitting with eyes closed, in a chair and mentally reciting their mantra. A mantra is selected and assigned by the TM instructor to each student; the word has no meaning by itself.

Instructors say when a person mentally recites the word during meditation, it has a soothing effect on the nervous system that decreases the body's metabolism rate, allowing the mind to transcend to subtler and subtler thought levels until reaching the source of thought, or the source of creative intelligence.

The last TM class started at the War Memorial Thursday, March 15. Persons wishing to inquire about upcoming classes, one will start April 5, or wish further information on the science may call Lew and Andree Leonard, of Maumee avenue, at 882-7211.

Reservations are requested by Monday, March 26. Members should notify Mrs. R. W. Kessler, by writing 728 North Shady Hollow, Bloomfield Hills, Mich., 48013, or by calling 642-5361.

James Frede Taking Bride

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Campbell, of Royal Oak, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Linda, to James R. Frede, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Richard Frede, of Oxford road.

The bride-elect is a 1969 graduate of Kimball High School, Royal Oak. She is a senior at Western Michigan University where she is a member of Alpha Phi Sorority and Kappa Delta Pi, an honorary sorority.

Her fiancé is a 1969 graduate of Grosse Pointe High School and a senior at University of Michigan. He will attend Wayne State University School of Medicine in the fall.

The couple plan an August wedding.

Of Interest to Women

Inside The Mothers' Club

Mrs. Michael Marrs, of Grayton road, chairman of the Millage Election Committee, was present at the South High Mothers Club Executive Board Meeting on Monday, March 5, to explain the four upcoming millage proposals. Mrs. Marrs also asked for support, financial as well as moral, for the campaign preceding the Thursday, March 29, election.

Following Mrs. Marrs' presentation, President Mrs. Albert Dickson, Jr., of Ridge road, reported that February had served as a "spark" for the many activities in March and April. The Mothers Club is joining forces with the Dads Club on Friday, April 13, for a Fun Night which will include a dance, millionaires party, bingo, refreshments and the presentation of a '73 Gremlin with blue denim upholstery.

Parents at Grosse Pointe North and South are working toward a joint goal of $16,000 to cover "extra pay for extra duty" at the two high schools.

With this spirit of cooperation in mind, Gremlin information is being sent to all Grosse Pointe North families, and Grosse Pointe South families will receive an order form in their next newsletter for geraniums, being sold by the North High Parents Club. It should be noted that if millage proposal #3 is passed, $13,000 of the needed amount will be covered for next year.

Treasurer Mrs. James Williams explained that the Mothers Club commercial account is not in very good shape. Out of every $2 received for Mothers Club dues, with the present number of members, $1.25 is paid for the Mothers Club calendar sent to each family in September. Since there is no master list of South High students formulated until November, duplicate mailings and waste are inevitable.

To help the board understand how grants are handled and decided upon by the Scholarship Committee, Scholarship Chairman Mrs. Donald Briggs gave a brief history of an anonymous applicant. She explained the procedure behind the scholarship program, how need is determined mathematically, the importance of personal interviews and how other scholarship awards affect the decision.

Mrs. Douglas Donald, corresponding secretary, reported that the Kentucky Fried Chicken fund-raising effort was disappointing, netting only $106.

Faculty Representative Mrs. Benson reported that college competition is not as stiff this year. College enrollments, nationally, are dropping and applications to career-oriented schools are on the upswing. While this has not yet "hit" our community, counselors are discussing careers and facts about enrollment with small groups of students. Each young person spends at least two hours with his counselor in planning sessions.

Due to a mechanical error, some report cards were incorrect for the last marking period. However, a second-run-through corrected most mistakes. Because there is no room on the computer for attendance figures, attendance will have to be reported separately at the end of each semester. It was suggested that this be done only for problem cases.

Further plans for the Spring Benefit, to be held Wednesday, March 28, at North High, were discussed by Chairman Mrs. Francis Crowley. Decorations will include pastel checked tablecloths and Flemish bouquets of fresh flowers, both items to be sold after the party. There will be table favors.

Spaghetti Supper Chairman Mrs. Jonathon Walton announced the net profit from the Family Supper was only $280 due to a poor turnout and poor publicity.

See you at the Spring Benefit on Wednesday, March 28, and at the polls on March 29!

Detroit Symphony Plans Next Season

Aldo Ceccato Assumes Baton as New Conductor; Concert Series Expands From 22 to 25 Weeks

There will be a new format for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's next concert season, opening September 20, 1973. In addition to Season 1973-74 being the debut season for Aldo Ceccato as principal conductor, the Orchestra will expand its subscription series presentations from 22 to 25 weeks, Symphony General Manager Marshall W. Turkin said.

The number of subscription performances will be increased from 44 to 50. The concerts will be given at Ford Auditorium between September 20, 1973, and April 27, 1974.

More guest soloists and conductors than ever before, including some of the most prestigious and varied talents ever to appear in Detroit, as well as a wider range of choices regarding artists, programs, prices, and time of performance will be innovative features of the new concert year.

A sampling of 53 guest soloists, conductors and special attractions, booked to date, includes the following:

Pianists include such established favorites as Rudolf Serkin and Gina Bachauer as well as such brilliant new-generation performers as Andre Watts and John Browning.

Violinists to perform in Detroit next season are two of music's all-time favorites, David Oistrakh and Isaac Stern.

Special soloists or attractions have been scheduled such as New York City Ballet star Edward Villella, the Dave Brubeck Trio, Metropolitan Opera singers Anna Reynolds and Gilda Cruz-Romo, the Detroit Severo Ballet Company, flamenco guitarist Carlos Montoya, cellist Antonio Janigro, and many other attractions.

Andre Previn will be seen in a guest conductor role as will Sixten Ehrling in a two-week visit and Pierre Hétu in a one-week engagement. Paul Freeman will conduct a pair of subscription concerts.

The Symphony also will introduce to its audiences many of the most highly regarded young conductors on the music scene today, including Samuel Jones of Rochester, Matthias Bamert of Cleveland and Niklaus Wysz of San Francisco.

Arthur Fiedler will lead one pops performance. Some of the highlights from the repertory include special programs devoted to a single theme, composer or masterpiece, such as an Ives/Schoenberg Commemorative Program, a "Faust" program that includes Wagner's Overture to "Faust" and Liszt's "Faust Symphony," a Schumann program, all-Beethoven programs, Verdi's "Requiem" and Handel's "Messiah."

"The old idea of a Thursday evening concert repeated on Saturday night is no longer adequate for Detroit's concert needs," Mr. Turkin said. "And there is no such thing as a single type of audience for symphony concerts. There are many audiences and different ideas of what a symphony should offer."

"We are adding more options to the subscription season to reflect changing audience patterns, which I am pleased to say includes increased attendance over the past few years."

A new four-program series entitled "Zodiac" Concerts, scheduled for Friday evenings, will be introduced. And the Symphony's Kresge Concerts, presented in recent seasons as five "nonsubscription" performances on Sunday afternoons, will now become a full-fledged subscription series offering of six programs to be known as Kresge "Omnibus" Concerts.

The highly successful Friday morning NBD Coffee Concerts will be expanded from four to five concerts. They include a complimentary continental breakfast and mini fashion show before each performance.

There will be some modifications in the Thursday/Saturday subscription series plans, with series of 20, 12 and 8 concerts to be offered now on each night.

There will be a total of nine adult and two Young People's subscription series in 1973-74.

Advance orders for all subscription series are now being accepted. A detailed brochure with order form is available free from the symphony office (961-0700) in Ford Auditorium.

Current Symphony subscribers are now being sent renewal forms by mail and will have an additional opportunity for season ticket renewals during concerts in April.

An improved acoustical climate at Ford Auditorium through completion of Phase I of a renovation program has been enthusiastically received and assures that the coming concert year will bring a better sound than ever.

The Orchestra's new season also will include two major tours. Rafael Prubbeck de Burgos will conduct a three-week tour in the fall that includes the Worcester (Mass.) Festival, Carnegie Hall and other points east. Andre Previn will conduct a one-week winter tour that includes a visit to Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C.

Park's 1972 Fire Losses Above Norm, Chief States

The 44th annual Park fire report, released by Chief Phillip Costa, after submitting it to City Manager Robert Stone, revealed that the city's fire loss in 1972 was above the norm. The report also revealed one fatality, that of a woman who died in a house fire at 1408 Lakepointe.

The chief explained that the large fire loss was due to the fact that two large fires occurred, one at 15021 East Jefferson and the other at 15022 Mack. The total loss for the entire year amounted to $123,803, Chief Costa noted.

In his report, the chief stated that the constant training program, to keep the departmental personnel up-to-date on the latest techniques showed its worth by the way the men and officers have reacted in times of emergencies. (at fires and in the operation of the ambulance service).

The Mutual Aid agreement with the other Pointes and Harper Woods played an important role by supplying manpower and apparatus when needed, the chief added.

The new Fire Department ambulance was received and placed in operation last July, and with the equipment it now carries, people in need of this facility are receiving more professional type care.

In fire prevention inspections, the chief stated, personnel of his department made a total of 1,317 calls, of which 698 home owners permitted their houses to be inspected; 42 refused admittance, and 577 were not at home when inspectors called. During these inspections, a total of 114 hazardous conditions were found, and the householders were informed of the proper methods to correct these conditions.

Chief Costa stated that 55 more alarms were received in 1972, a total of 767, as compared to 712 in 1971.

Of the total number of alarms received last year, 59 were to residences; four were results of garage fires; 11 to commercial buildings; 13 were in response to rubbish, grass, trees, etc.; 16 were automobile fires; seven to Edison property; and 455 were emergency ambulance calls.

Also, the department responded to 134 public service calls; 25 mutual aid to the other Pointes; two responses to Detroit fires; three to Michigan Bell Telephone property; two alarms were regarding wires down; 19 were justified false alarms, and seven were malicious; one alarm was to a school; and nine were miscellaneous alarms.

The residential building loss amounted to $29,448.79; garage loss, $2,733.82; commercial building loss, $32,369.22; content loss, $57,038.93; and automobiles, $2,213; all of which totaled the $123,803.76 reported by the chief.

He also pointed out that the total value of the buildings, contents and automobiles, came to $6,893,250, which established the fire loss per capita at $7,981, based on a population count of 15,500.

The paper drive at Defer School, 15425 Kercheval avenue, scheduled for Saturday, March 17, has been postponed to Saturday, March 24, due to the poor weather of last weekend.

BIRDS BURNED OUT

Mrs. Irma Koerner, 910 Washington road, called the City Fire Department on Wednesday, March 14, to report that the light on her porch was smoking. When the fire department arrived, the fire had gone out. However, upon further investigation, the firemen discovered that a family of birds had built a large nest around the bulb. The heat from the light had set fire to the nest. There were no casualties reported, for the birds had long since departed.

GP Park Court, Violation Bureau Fines Up in 1972

An annual report submitted to Park City Manager Robert Stone by Municipal Judge William E. Speer, revealed that the court and Violation Bureau revenue collected from fines has increased in 1972. A total of $75,793.50 was collected, as compared to $67,049 in 1971.

Fines, court costs and bonds forfeited in 1972 amounted to $29,357.50, as compared to $23,822.50 during the previous year; fines paid to the Violation Bureau, which is under the judge's jurisdiction, was $46,289, whereas, in 1971, it was $42,976; and fees paid to the city treasury on state cases handled by the court, was $147, down from 1971, which showed the figure paid, at $250.

Hockey Champs Edge Blues, 2-1

By Bill Poirier

The Grosse Pointe Blues bantam division hockey team came close to defeating the finest bantam team in Michigan, Beech Auto Electric, in the opening round of the annual Ecorse Holiday Tournament. The Sunday evening, March 18, game was won by Beech in overtime, 2-1.

The Blues' fans were excited and impressed as the boys held Beech to a scoreless game until 12 seconds remained in the second period. Most of the parents of the 13- and 14-year-olds would have been content to see this be the final score.

But the Blues came on in the third period showing an even greater determination to take the contest. Midway through the period, hard-driving Blues' center Pat Fox beat the Beech goalie after taking a pass from left-winger Kirk Purdy. Regulation time expired with the two teams deadlocked, 1-1.

A five-minute sudden-death overtime was then commenced to decide the winner and Beech Auto, Michigan's bantam hockey State champions, tallied the winner.

In other Blues' action during the past week, Grosse Pointe's Peter Poirier registered the coveted "hat-trick" as he scored three goals against the St. Clair Shores Super-Bees during a Saturday, March 17, game won by the Blues, 7-1. Other goal scorers included Mike Sandmair and Pat Fox with two goals each. Scoring goals for the Blues during two contests held last week were Sandmair, two, Fox, two, and defenseman Tom Stewart.

force in Lansing; and three persons were required to be re-examined by the SOS regarding their driving ability.

Still further, 165 persons paid fines through the violation bureau; 14 appealed their convictions to the Circuit Court; the judge issued three capias warrants (a writ requiring an officer to take a specified person into custody); 16 persons were convicted of narcotics violations under the city's ordinance; 25 were convicted on disorderly charges; two, for dog violations; and 13 were found guilty of violating city ordinances.

Defendants in felony cases, when sufficient cause was found, were bound over to the Wayne County Circuit Court for further proceedings, and/or trial, Judge Speer's report added.

Hawks Divide Tough Series

In a series of four hockey games over the weekend of March 18-19, the Stark-Hickory sponsored Grosse Pointe Hawks won the runner-up spot in the State Squire "A" Team Championship Playoffs at the Warren Arena.

The Hawks dropped their opener Friday evening against Livonia, 6-5. At one point, the Hawks were down 5-0 before getting on the scoreboard. Glen News opened the Hawks' scoring in the second period, with the club ultimately scoring four more goals — the only goals netted against Livonia in the playoffs.

Then the Hawks dumped a heavily penalized Frazer team, 4-2, on Saturday morning. Hawks scorers included Mike Eugenio, Greg Moore, Doug Rahaim and Rick Caron. Solid goaltending by Greg Foster aided the winners. Frazer received eight of the game's 11 penalties.

In the third game, the Hawks defeated Warren, 5-3. Goal scorers included Rahaim, with two, and Caron.

Then in the final series game, unbeaten Livonia dumped the Hawks, 8-0, on Sunday afternoon. Despite the score, goalies Foster and Bobby Clogg reportedly made some "super saves" against their opponents.

Other Hawks who participated in the playoffs include Phil Brykalski, Gordie Farquhar, Tom Smith, Bill Ruswick, Paul Treder, Steve Valice, Rob Mueller, John Dettlinger and Don Hiles. The club is coached by Jim Farquhar and Bud Mallard.

Pointe Counter Points

Springtime . . . is Tanner time. The collection is at Walton-Pierce. A feather-light shift of woven polyester looks like delicate silk but it's washable, wrinkle resistant and ready to travel. Bowed at the top, and belted in shiny patent it features a zipper down the front. Choose navy with gold, or navy with red ($52). Another classic Tanner is a checked polyester knit. Accented at the neck, arms and pockets with bias cut trim. A white elastic belt encircles the waist. ($56). Tanners are terrific travelers. Come see them all.

Your Best Move . . . is to the care-free good life in Grosse Pointe's newest condominium, the Jefferson Apartments, 17111 East Jefferson. Exterior maintenance, gardening and snow removal are arranged for you. A door man parks your car, receives your packages if you're not home. These apartments are larger than most suburban homes with ease and convenience built-in. The nine-foot ceilings, the maximum insulation insures a spacious quiet atmosphere. A washer-dryer is right in your kitchen as is the ice maker. There's a natural fireplace in the living room, a wet bar in the den and walk-in closets in the bedroom. You'll have all the comforts of home but few of the responsibilities. The most modern security systems guard your apartment while you are there or while traveling. Visit the model, open daily 12:00 to 5:00 except Wednesday . . . 882-7708 or 886-4880 . . . Michigan Condominium Corp.

Travel Easy . . . sports coordinates in a crease resistant polyester and rayon washable blend are found in Michelle's Boutique, 17864 Mack Avenue. The blazers come in canary yellow and beige ($45). Pants styled either with a high vamp or low rise come in black, chocolate brown or checks, and run from $22 to $30. Lots of coordinating tops, too. Michelle's is open Friday evenings until 8.

New Adventure In Cooking . . . Jenn-Air's counter top broiler. It cooks everything with the same delicious flavor as an outdoor charcoal grill . . . but none of the smoke and mess. AHMET EROZENCI, OF MOORLAND DRIVE, (LEFT), AND PETER MOLAND, OF WHITTIER ROAD, (RIGHT)

By Kathy Duff

Being an ambassador from a foreign country is a 24-hour-a-day job. However, both Peter Moland from Norway, a student at South High School, and Ahmet Eroenci from Turkey, at North High School, seem to have made a go of it, even though the two foreign exchange students are a study in opposites.

They were interviewed recently in conjunction with the exchange students big fundraiser, the Donkey Basketball Game, to be held tomorrow night, Friday, March 23, at 8 o'clock in the North High School gym. Peter, tall, blond and wearing a blue windjacket, looks as though he would be most at home on board a 24-foot sailboat. Ahmet, dark-haired and with a ready smile and response, views a career in diplomacy.

Arrived in August Both came to the United States in August 1972. As Peter is affiliated with Youth for Understanding, a Michigan-based exchange program, his soon-to-be-adopted American family, the Lionel S. Bird family of Whittier Road, was there to meet him at Detroit Metro Airport. Ahmet, however, landed in New York City as his sponsor was American Field Exchange. What followed was a 16-hour bus ride to Detroit, with the final stop gap the bus terminal in downtown Detroit. When asked if the bus terminal upset him, with its people and generally grubby surroundings, Ahmet said that only one thing had bothered him.

"When I arrived, the first Tic-Tac-Toe, Tic-Tac-Toe, Tic-Tac-Toe. Tic-Tac-Toe, Tic-Tac-Toe, Tic-Tac-Toe. Tic-Tac-Toe, Tic-Tac-Toe, Tic-Tac-Toe. Tic-Tac-Toe, Tic-Tac-Toe, Tic-Tac-Toe. One of the classic games available at The Mole Hole. Mack at Three Mile Drive.

Seventh Grade at Parcels Middle School.

Peter, the exchange student from Norway, also inherited a large American family, as the Birds have seven children.

"But it's great, because in the summer there was always someone around, always something to do," Peter said.

Baseball Casualty

It's evident that the Norwegian student likes something going on all the time, even though he is presently stilled by a broken bone in his ankle, an injury received playing a casual game of baseball a few weeks ago.

Describing his life in Norway, Peter emphasized that he could go hunting near his house even though his family lived within the city limits of Oslo. It's just that the city limits encompass such a great area of land that the outskirts are not highly developed.

As the Atlantic is only three miles from his house, he satisfied his passion for sailing last summer by buying a 28-foot ocean sailer, and going on a three-week sailing trip.

Continual Cautioning

"The boat takes a lot of upkeep as it is over 20 years old and built of mahogany. If you sail hard, the wood expands and contracts, and we have to keep filling in the cracks with a type of rubber cement."

"We sailed to the south coast of Norway. We were very lucky with the weather, as Norway has very unstable weather with it being very hot one day, and cold and rainy the next. However, we had beautiful weather with only one day of rain."

"The first day I was here, the Birds took me sailing on their boat. It was great, even though I had spent 20 hours in airports the day before."

Ahmet comes from . . . completely different environment, as his family lives in an apartment building in Istanbul, although not in the center of the city.

"Over there, everyone knows everyone as we are very friendly with our neighbors. The school I attended had only 900 students, compared to North High School with 2,500," Ahmet said.

Another Surprise

The size of the school was not the only thing which surprised Ahmet when classes began in September. Both exchange students mentioned the difference in scheduling as schools in Norway and Turkey gave students a course load of 13 to 15 subjects a year.

"In Turkey, the students don't switch classes for every subject, the teachers change classrooms. We also had to wear uniforms which makes it easier to concentrate in study hall, and not to be looking around at what everyone else is wearing. The clothes that some kids wear here!" Ahmet commented.

Besides mentioning the two different educational philosophies, how Turkish students learn by the book, while in the United States student discussion is encouraged, Ahmet said that in Turkey students go to school six days a week. When asked which system he liked better, our system of going five days straight, or their system where the students get Wednesday and Saturday off, he said, "Here I like the five-day system, in Turkey, I like that system."

Statements like that would convince anyone that Ahmet will make a great diplomat.

The Turkish youth is currently preparing for a speech contest, or a forensics competition, if anyone knows what that is, sponsored by North High's speech department.

In order to be eligible for a category, Ahmet had to write and memorize a 10-minute speech. He had a ready subject, however, as he entitled his dissertation "Friends and Brothers" on the basis of his experiences as an exchange student and his friendship with an American youth, also an AFS student, who stayed with his family in Turkey in 1971.

The Eroenci family must be strong believers in the AFS exchange program as Ahmet's older sister, now married, was an exchange in Burbank, Calif., six years ago. When Ahmet returns home and discusses his impressions of the United States with his sister and parents, they will wonder if they were in the same country!

A Mixed Blessing

In regard to social customs, Ahmet sees American freedom and mobility as a mixed blessing.

"In Turkey, it is an honor for a teenager to be seen with his parents. You can't get a car license until you are 18 years old, so you spend a great deal of time with your family."

Both Ahmet and Peter expressed surprise over the American custom of "going steady" in high school. They said that they preferred the dating habits in their own countries, where a group of friends would get together and have a party, possibly celebrating a birthday, and everyone wouldn't be expected to bring his steady date.

Another social problem that both exchange students singled out was the drug crisis.

Peter said that the drug problem was not as serious in Norway. "If you get caught, you're in for it, because you might go to jail for five or six years for having two pounds of grass."

Could Get Worse

He also mentioned the fact that Norway was about two years behind the United States in socialization, so that there was the possibility that the drug problem might get worse, even though he doubted it.

"I was shocked at the drug usage here. They told us in the AFS orientation camps that the U. S. had a drug problem, but I was still shocked," Ahmet commented.

Peter, as Ahmet, did not come to the United States as a complete stranger. His father, who owns a lumber company, has traveled to San Francisco on business. It was his father's lumber which was used to build the Molands' modern split-level house in Oslo eight years ago.

"Very few of the houses in Norway are built of anything but wood, as brick is very expensive," Peter said.

Interesting Interior

The inside of the house should be quite an amalgam as Peter's mother once owned an antique shop and is now an interior decorator. He has one brother, who is 15 years old.

While a student at South High, he is studying math, journalism, photography, and of course, U. S. history and American literature. In Norway he was an editor of his school newspaper. Currently, he does some photography for the South High newspaper, "The Tower."

Last fall, Peter made the football team even though he had never played football before. However, his job was cut out for him as he was made a specialty kicker or the player who is called in to kick field goals or extra touchdown points. His soccer background was not lost in the translation.

No Variety Sports

"There schools don't offer varsity sports, just gym classes. In order to play a certain sport, you have to join a sports club, as I joined a soccer club. I was also in a ski club, and we would practice in May by going skiing on the glaciers."

As for future plans, Peter says that he still has a year or two of secondary education to complete in Norway as he does not get complete credit for this year. He is thinking of a career in architecture or photography, but not until he gets a few years of traveling, of sailing, out of his blood.

Ahmet thought seriously of being a doctor until he realized the years of study involved. He is now considering a profession in mathematics or the Foreign Service. He will have one more year of school to complete in Turkey before going to college.

Different Cultures The students are from two totally different cultures.

In East Jefferson, provided the prelude as apple tree branches, complete with snake and red apple, hung from the ceiling. It symbolized the first playlet, "The Diary of Adam and Eve." The following two offerings, "The Lady or the Tiger" and "Passionella" were represented by a stuffed tiger and along with several pieces of art definitely suggesting Passionella.

The quality of the acting, singing and stage direction was uniformly excellent. Special mention should go to the costume committee for an ancient warrior's costume which looked right out of Caesar's Commentaries, and Passionella's totally gold-sequined gown which looked stolen from Mae West's attic.

The evening was completed with the traditional supper capped by the appearance, in order, of the evening's cast and crew to rounds of applause. The meal, consisting of Waldorf Salad and beer (customary drink of old English play-goers) was provided by Fine Arts member Diamond Phillips, owner of The Old Place, which proves that it pays to have friends and members in gourmet places.

Ladies Day in Florida

Discussing the topic of weather this spring has become as taboo as discussing baseball in the summer or politics in the fall. However, a letter came into the News office last week which reminds us that there is still sun down south and that spring is around the corner for avid golfers.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cushman, of Huntington boulevard, wrote that they were passing the Bellevue-Biltmore Country Club golf course, near Clearwater, Fla., recently on their vacation with the Stuart Micklethwaite, of Emory court.

As they passed the 15th hole, Mr. Micklethwaite stopped the car and mentioned it was the hole where his wife got a birdie last year, followed by a blow-by-blow account given by Mrs. Micklethwaite.

When the two couples, on their round of golf, came to the same hole, Mrs. Micklethwaite put her drive on the green about five feet from the cup; Mrs. Cushman drove over the trap on the right and stayed on the apron about ten feet off the green; Mr. Cushman drove over the same trap and was about 20 feet off the green while Mr. Micklethwaite landed in a trap on the left.

Mrs. Micklethwaite sank her putt for another birdie; Mrs. Cushman approached and sank her putt for a three; Mr. Cushman approached badly and two putted for a four and Mr. Micklethwaite took two strokes getting out of the trap and ended up with a five.

So next year, if the two couples are down there again, the men will have to stop to hear about the two birdies on the 15th Hole, one round after the other, one year apart, where the men were outplayed by their wives.

"We did enjoy the sunshine and the 75 degree weather that Sunday," the Cushmans wrote at the close of the letter.

Not as much as we enjoyed the mid-20 degree weather here and blizzard conditions last Saturday, March 17!

Peter admits that the American influence in Norway is great: "Cornflakes, Campbell's soup, and all that."

In contrast, when Ahmet is asked what is different between Turkey and the U. S., he replies, "Everything is different."

Even though the two students bring with them totally different cultures, their enthusiasm for being exchange students remains the same. Both appear eager to meet new people, to speak before a variety of groups. And few people realize how demanding it is to be a foreign exchange student as they are on duty 24-hours-a-day, adjusting to new situations, a new family, a foreign language.

However, both Peter and Ahmet seem to enjoy it, as Ahmet said as he described a group of fourth grade girls. "They were just great. They asked what color the blackboards were over there, if we had any wars, if my father drove a camel to work. They were so interested, they just asked about everything."
