THE UAW will attempt to renegotiate a section of the new annual contract with the Ford Motor Co. that led skilled tradesmen to reject the pact. Bargaining will be re-opened only to deal with a controversial clause on voluntary overtime that gives Ford the power to replace tradesmen who refused to accept overtime work. UAW president Leonard Woodcock stated that the union's executive board had ruled the issue was not a strikeable one.

Friday, November 16
THE SENATE blocked a Democratic attempt to require President Nixon to order gas rationing by January 15, and instead, adopted an amendment that might set back pollution control efforts by two years. The amendment would allow a temporary suspension of emission control standards to permit the burning of dirtier fuels. Senator Edmund Muskie, sponsor of the amendment, said the bill would assure minimum disruption of air quality programs but acknowledged it could delay, in some instances, achievement of the emission control standard goals, as outlined in the Clean Air Act, by two years. The amendment passed overwhelmingly.

RIOTING GREEK STUDENTS of the Athens Polytechnic Institute were routed by Greek army troops and hundreds of policemen, supported by armored vehicles. The students were calling for a general strike aimed at bringing down the Papadopoulos regime. On Friday night, the police were able to handle the demonstrators without army aid, but Saturday morning soldiers rolled in with armored vehicles and surrounded the campus, chasing away an estimated 15,000 protesters. The troops were allegedly called in by President Papadopoulos.

Sunday, November 18
PRESIDENT NIXON declared his innocence of any wrongdoing in the Watergate controversy before 400 Associated Press Managing Editors, as he answered questions at a convention in Orlando, Fla. Saying he regretted ever recording conversations that took place in his office, Mr. Nixon indicated that the White House would soon make public, the substance of those tapes, and thereby prove his lack of complicity in the Watergate affair.

Monday, November 19
NEITHER GENERAL MOTORS nor the U.A.W. reported any success at the bargaining table as they headed toward the 10 a.m. contract expiration deadline. The union said last Wednesday that there will be no national strike if an agreement cannot be reached, but three- and four-day local plant shut downs over local issues could result. An estimated dozen local plants have been authorized by union officials to strike, should no agreement be reached by Monday's deadline.

Tuesday, November 20
GENERAL MOTORS and the U.A.W. were able to reach an agreement on Monday, and the union immediately cancelled plans for 20 small strikes that would have taken place at various local plants. The U.A.W. disclosed that steps had been taken to avoid any confrontation with skilled tradesmen like those that were prevalent in the settlement with Ford Motor Co. The tentative three-year contract, according to U.A.W. President Woodcock, parallels with settlements reached with Ford and Chrysler. Specifics of the agreement remain unannounced, pending a U.A.W.-GM meeting scheduled for November 27.

Woods Set To Approve Storage Law

Council Can Still Make Changes in Ordinance before Adoption Date, Dec. 17

Do you remember the Woods' proposed ordinance to provide for the regulation of the outside storage of boats and various trailers which has been under study for around one and a half years?

Well, brace yourselves, recreation vehicle buffs. The measure, which was on the council agenda at the regular meeting Monday, November 19, had its first reading at this session. And the solons unanimously concurred in the recommendation of the Committee of the Whole to adopt the measure.

However, there is still time for the council to make changes in the ordinance before its second reading, and final adoption date, at the regular meeting Monday, December 17.

Name Citizens Group
It has not only been under study by the C-W but also by a citizens' advisory committee chaired by Councilman George S. Freeman. When the ordinance first came before the council last summer, some 90 residents voiced their displeasure, so the council referred the measure to the C-W, and a citizens' committee was then appointed.

The ordinance provides for the regulation of the outside storage of boats, boat trailers, utility trailers, travel trailers, house trailers, pickup campers and motorized homes. It also prescribes the

City Residents, Council Differ on Walk Repairs

By Nancy Kramer
Grosse Pointe City residents are singing the sidewalk repair blues once more, this time, under the direction of Lincoln road resident Dr. Thomas Coles, who circulated a petition among City property owners, proposing that taxpayers at large accept financial responsibility for all sidewalk repairs.

City administrators, including the members of the council and City Manager Thomas Kressbach, mistakenly believed the City's sidewalk policy had been resolved once and for all at the last regular meeting, held Monday, October 15.

At that time, responding to an estimated 60 corner lot owners who had voiced their disapproval of having to pay

Report Good Happenings Occurring with Students at North, South Highs

Less Radicalism, Reduction in Drug Problem, Greater Participation in School Activities Create Better Atmosphere

By Barbara Bruno
There's something good happening this year with the students at North and South High Schools. There's an intangible feeling among administrators, teachers and the students themselves that things are better this year than in the past few years.

But attempts to identify exactly what has changed produce a variety of responses. Some call it "less radicalism," others "a quieter atmosphere," and one sums it up by saying, "the students are now trying to work within the system."

Persons close to the situation, however, readily cite examples of how they think the student body has improved.

Student Inputs
Jerry Gerich, principal of South High, says the turnaround there started last year. He says students seem to realize now that things can get done by going through the normal channels.

"They now realize that radicalism and being anti-establishment were counterproductive," he said.

Mr. Gerich also feels that student inputs into instructional programs such as the Student Advisory Committee and student participation in developing grievance procedures and standards of behavior have been helpful.

"We are not just talking about these concepts but are implementing them," he said. "The students now can see in black and white something they had a part in developing."

More Participation
North High principal G. Bruce Feighner notes an increased participation in school activities among the students at that school. He points to a pep rally held the Friday before the North-South game as an example of growing school spirit.

"It was the first pep rally held here in the past two years," he said. "Even the sedate seniors wanted to shout the other classes."

Mr. Feighner said the administration made itself known to the student body at the start of the school year by holding class meetings. He says whether this improved student attitudes towards the administration is hard to determine but he feels it does indicate a more open approach to the student body.

Lack of Vandalism
This year's SA officers say they persist in matters they feel strongly about and won't accept "no" answers from the administration if hard work can lead to a fair compromise.

"The administration is always helping us out whenever it can because we are hard working," said Tom Mahoney, SA treasurer.

The officers have noticed a changing student attitude towards the school itself that can be seen in the absence of smashed windows.

"Last year people would

Turns Down Bid to Play Con Game

Woman Foils Pair Attempting to Make Her Victim of Ancient Pigeon Drop Trick

A pair of not-so-clever operators tried to play Mrs. Constance Gibbs for a fool on Tuesday, November 13, but they apparently picked the wrong person.

Mrs. Gibbs told City police while she was out walking on Maumee avenue, between University place and Rivard boulevard, Tuesday morning, she was approached by a girl, around 18- or 19-years-old, who asked her if she knew the location of a day care center.

As they were talking, a second girl, black, and about the same age as the first, arrived and said she had been delivering a paper for her boss, when a man came out of a house and dropped an envelope behind him.

Called Her Names
The girl claimed she tried to return the envelope, but that the man called her names and told her to go away. Mrs. Gibbs reported that she then asked what she should do with the envelope.

Mrs. Gibbs told the girl to take it to the police, but the other girl suggested they find out what it contained.

Inside the envelope was a note that Mrs. Gibbs stated said something like, "use money to pay bond won at races, cheating I.R.S.," and a sum of money that the girl approximated at $30,000.

Wants To Share Find
The girl said she would like to share her find with Mrs. Gibbs and the other young lady, and that she would take the cash to her boss' office, where there was a machine she could use to see if the money was counterfeit. She would, she added, run an ad in the local paper on Thursday, November 15, and if she got no answer, they could all divide the amount between them.

Mrs. Gibbs wisely declined any share of the money and went on to report the incident to city police. According to Lt. Robert Van Tiem Mrs. Gibbs stated, "They were looking for a pigeon, but they got a tough old bird instead."

GRANTS LICENSE
The Woods Council at the regular meeting Monday, November 19, unanimously approved the issuance of a parking lot license to Jack-in-the-Box, 20599 Mack avenue, as all provisions have been met including the inspection of the location by Building Inspector Earl Wakely.

Park Patrolmen Ratify Two-Year Salary Contract

Increase Retroactive to July 1; Salaries Upped From $12,660 to $14,500 Maximum to Be Reached on July 1, 1974

A two-year contract with the city was ratified by the Grosse Pointe Park Police Officers Association (GPPPOA), which will give patrolmen with four years seniority a total pay raise of $1,840 a year during the life of the contract, it was disclosed on Monday, November 19. The new contract is retroactive to July 1 of this year.

The Park and GPPPOA settled their wage dispute without benefit of arbitration, according to City Clerk-Comptroller Nunzio Ortesi, who released the information in the absence of vacationing City Manager Robert Stone. The city clerk was on the negotiating team representing the city.

Ortesi said that the patrolmen's pay hike will cost The Park $30,000 during the fiscal year 1973-74, and that this amount has been transferred from the Contingency Fund.

No Arbitration
He said that the settlement was reached without arbitration, when the State arbitrator, Florian Bartosic, a Wayne State University law professor, decided that the negotiation teams were so close to a settlement on the amount demanded by the Association, that the two parties should sit down again and reach an agreement themselves.

Ortesi said that under the terms of the agreement, the patrolmen's pay will be increased from $12,660 to $13,500 from July 1, 1973 to January 1, 1974. On the latter date, the pay will be hiked to $14,000, and on July 1, 1974, it will reach the maximum of $14,500. The pay hike will have a decided increase on pension benefits, it was stated.

The city clerk-comptroller said that the cost to the city during the next fiscal year, which begins July 1, 1974, will be included in the 1974-75 fiscal budget. Whether this will affect an increase in the tax levy will be determined when next year's budget is finalized, Ortesi added.

Other Benefits

Farms Solons Take Oaths; Butler Relected Mayor

The honor of swearing in four councilmen prior to the start of the Farms council meeting held on Monday, November 19, was given to Richard Solak, administrative assistant. City Manager Andrew Bremer, Jr., who is also city clerk, with the consent of city officials, voluntarily relinquished the privilege in favor of his assistant.

Administered oaths of office were reelected Councilwoman Nancy L. Waugaman, who was returned to office for another four years, and Councilman E. Rust Muirhead, who because he came in fourth in the number of votes received, will serve for two years.

The newcomers sworn in for four year-terms were Joseph L. Fromm, who re-

Teacher Pay Fight Faces Two Hurdles

Demands for No-Cut Guarantee and Curriculum Development Fund Called Unacceptable

Another bargaining session was set by the Board of Education and the teachers' association representatives for Wednesday, November 21.

Two major stumbling blocks remain to be hurdled. One is a teachers' demand for a commitment from the Board for a "no-cut" of staff through the 1975-76 school year regardless of predicted declines in enrollment. The other is a demand by the teachers' that $100,000 be earmarked by the Board for curriculum development and program enrichment during the three-year life of the agreement.

President Robert D. Warner responded to these demands at the School Board meeting on Monday, November 12. In short, Mr. Warner stated that these two demands were unacceptable. He pointed out that the taxpayers must vote the funds for school operation. He said that the Board of Education could not and would not contract with the teachers on staffing ratios without first securing voter approval through the ballot box.

Mr. Warner referred to recent successes the Board had in gaining financial support to make significant restorations and suggested that that was the way to improve the educational program in the years ahead.

Demand No Cuts
The teachers, on the other hand, stand firm in their demand that no more teachers be cut from the school program. Carl Lord, president of the Grosse Pointe Education Association (GPEA), has expressed his group's shock that the Board plans to cut between 55 and 65 teachers from the program in the next few years.

"By cutting that many teachers from the program,

Top Court Will Study Roth Ruling

Decision Considered Good News for Grosse Pointe Public School System

By Kathy Duff

It's good news for the Grosse Pointe School System. The U.S. Supreme Court has decided to review the Detroit School Desegregation Case. Attorneys for the school system, Hill, Lewis, Adams, Goodrich & Tait were notified Monday, November 19, of the Court's favorable action on their request for a hearing on the busing issue.

The Court accepted all three petitions filed in opposition to U.S. District Judge Stephen J. Roth's finding of de jure segregation in the Detroit school system and his ruling that students must be bused between Detroit schools and 52 suburban districts. Besides Grosse Pointe, petitions were filed by Attorney General Frank Kelly on behalf of the state and by William M. Saxton on behalf of Allen Park and 41 other school districts.

Opposing the Supreme Court's action is the National Association of Colored People (NAACP) which was against the granting of a hearing. The NAACP argued that the issue had not been resolved at the lower court level and that no final busing plans had been drawn up. The Association felt that it was premature for the Supreme Court to accept the case.

The suburban attorneys felt differently. They thought that the time was ripe for the Supreme Court to settle the question of the constitutionality of cross-district busing in the Detroit metropolitan area.

The Supreme Court's action is the first hopeful sign received by the suburban schools since the issue was first batted around in the lower courts. Recently, the U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals upheld Judge Stephen J. Roth's finding of de jure segregation in the Detroit school system and his ruling that students must be bused

Woods to Buy Lot for Parking

By Roger A. Waha
The pain of a sore spot with many Newcastle road residents was eased at the regular meeting of The Woods Council Monday evening, November 19.

At this time, the solons unanimously approved Councilman Conrad A. Naegel's motion that City Administrator Chester E. Petersen be authorized to purchase the vacant lot at Mack avenue and Newcastle at Chrysler Realty Corporation's stipulated price of $35,000. The monies will come from the city's parking meter fund.

The condition of the lot has caused much concern among nearby citizens for many months, (in fact, one resident recently called it "the dirtiest corner in Grosse Pointe Woods.")

When the deal with Chrysler is "signed, sealed and delivered," The Woods will use this property for a municipal parking lot. The 60 by 100-foot lot will hold 18 parking spaces, said Mr. Petersen, who added it will cost the city an estimated $10,000 to refurbish the property.

This includes plans for resurfacing, the construction of an ornamental masonry wall around the lot, lighting and landscaping. Mr. Petersen said bids will be taken in February or March, while work will begin in the spring. In the meantime, the council is scheduled to consider closing the lot in some fashion to eliminate potential traffic through the property, it is reported.

Swear in Farms Officials

(Continued from Page 1) Councilman James Dingeman was picked to serve his second two-year term as mayor pro-tem. Both were reelected because, in the words of the other solons, "they have served with distinction in their respective posts in the past and the community needs their outstanding services."

Mayor Butler has served as mayor since 1966, succeeding Mayor William E. Conolly, who resigned to assume the unexpired term of municipal judge, vacated by Grant E. Armstrong, who quit because of illness. Conolly was defeated in a special election by Robert Pytell, for the remainder of the unexpired term, as required by law.

Dingeman was first elected mayor pro-tem following the death of Councilman and Mayor Pro-Tem William G. Kirby in August 1969.

Pytell, who won re-election to his second full four-year term in the November 6 election, will be sworn in on January 1, 1974. His new term begins on that date.

After expressing his appreciation to his colleagues for retaining himself and Councilman Dingeman as mayor and mayor pro-tem, Mayor Butler informed the council that there is a lot of work that must be undertaken in the next two years, which will entail more sessions than the two regular monthly meetings now being held.

"We are faced with greater problems in the next two years, than we have had in previous years," Mayor Butler said. "We will have to meet more often to resolve these problems and I ask the cooperation of the entire council. We will have to hold special sessions because we will have to work much harder than ever before."

Following this statement, the council approved the appointment of former Councilman Hudson to replace Councilman Cudlip on the Mayor's Advisory Commission. Cudlip was appointed to the Commission in 1972. The term expires in 1975.

Hudson was picked because of his long service as city councilman and the solons felt that he was familiar with the community's problems and therefore better able to serve in this capacity.

Picked to serve on the Board of Canvassers, whose only function is to certify the vote counts after each election, held every two years, were: Mrs. Barbara McLeod, a Republican who succeeds Mrs. M. Bernice Zilly, who served eight years and whose term will expire on December 31; and Mrs. Nancy Q. Williams, Democrat, who is currently serving the unexpired term of the late Mrs. Catherine Cable. The tenure is for four years.

Councilman Fromm was picked as the city's representative on the Policemen and Firemen Retirement System Commission, to complete the unexpired term in that post vacated by Councilman Stevens. The term expires May 1974.

Outside Storage Law

As it reads now, the measure defines "stored" or "storage" to mean "the keeping or standing in any particular place or area, not within a garage or similar structure, within the limits of the City of Grosse Pointe Woods, Michigan, for a period of time exceeding 72 hours in any seven consecutive day period."

Position Designated

It notes that boats, boat trailers, utility trailers, house trailers, pickup campers or motorized homes "shall be stored behind and to the rear of the front set back line of . . . residential property."

"On corner lots, such storage shall be maintained so as to have a minimum side yard set back of 10 feet on the side yard nearest the street. No such unit shall be stored within 10 feet of any dwelling or residential building nor within five feet of the side and rear lot lines and such units, when stored, shall not exceed the maximum permitted lot coverage under existing zoning ordinances applicable to such residential area."

"A green barrier shall be maintained consisting of bushes, shrubs or trees sufficient to shield such stored unit from view from the rear and both sides."

It also provides that a special temporary permit may be obtained, upon application to the Director of Public Safety by any person, firm, corporation or registered owner of equipment, to store equipment outside for a period longer than 72 hours each seven day time period, if a necessity is shown.

The ordinance states that all property owners, upon whose lot or parcel of real property any boat, boat trailer, et. al., shall be stored, must first obtain an approval certificate for such storage from the city's building inspector. The resident will pay $5 to the city upon issuance of the certificate.

Busing

Case Sent Back

The Appeals court did, however, send the case back to Judge Roth's court for further testimony from the suburban school districts.

In arguing for a hearing before the Supreme Court, Douglas H. West, an attorney from Hill, Lewis, Adams, Goodrich & Tait, stressed the urgency for a hearing. He quoted the Court of Appeals ruling which stated, "a plan for desegregation beyond the boundaries of the Detroit School District is . . . essential to a solution of this problem."

The Supreme Court's ruling is expected before the issue is fully resolved on the lower court level. At present, Judge Roth has set no date for the resumption of hearings in district court.

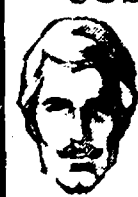

To Prepare Briefs

"We have 45 days to prepare briefs in support of our case and to file them with the Supreme Court," Mr. West said. "That brings us to January 3, 1974. The NAACP will then have 30 days to file an answer. Once the Court has received both briefs, they will set a hearing date, probably in late March or early April. Each side will have 45 minutes to present oral arguments."

Asked what it meant to the suburban schools that the Supreme Court accepted the petition, Mr. West replied, "It will settle the question of whether the buses will roll, rather than how the buses will roll, which was the question up to this point."

"In light of the fact that the Supreme Court has accepted the petition, the judges will settle once and for all the more abstract question of cross-district busing."

Mrs. Moynihan Suffers Burns

Mrs. Katherine Moynihan, wife of Circuit Court Judge Joseph A. Moynihan, Jr., was conveyed to Bon Secours Hospital on Tuesday, November 13, suffering from first, second and third degree burns about 24 percent of her body. The burns were caused when a spark from a cigaret she was lighting accidentally fell on her night gown.

Park Fire Chief Phillip Costa said that an alarm was received from the Moynihan residence, 15804 Windmill Pointe, at 5:16 p.m. and was reported as a house fire by a neighbor. All equipment was dispatched to the house, where Judge Moynihan and a woman neighbor told firefighters that Mrs. Moynihan had accidentally burned herself.

Mrs. Moynihan was conveyed to the hospital by the Fire Department emergency ambulance, and doctors treated her for first, second and third degree burns of the chest, neck, head and her right leg and foot. She will be hospitalized for some time.

Chief Costa said that the night gown was apparently made of highly combustible material and when the spark landed on the gown, it burst into flames instantly. Luckily, the judge was able to douse the flaming gown and he and the woman neighbor made Mrs. Moynihan as comfortable as possible until help arrived.

Chief Costa urged all residents purchasing any type of nightwear, or any clothing, for that matter, to check and make sure that the material of the clothing is nonflammable.

"There could be any number of items on the market, today," the chief said, "that contain material that would not take much to touch off and burst into flames. This also applies to stuffed toys.

"Fortunately, items containing highly combustible material are discovered in time and removed before they can be sold to the public. But every so often, some slip by and are bought. Check carefully the kind of material your purchases are made of before you buy it."

Chief Costa said that while on the subject of causes of burns, no one should use any hair spray, or any other aerosol can spray, while holding a lit cigarette, or near any open fire.

The contents of aerosol cans can burst into flames very easily, or cause damaging explosions. When using these cans, be extra careful.

Invite Monteith Parents To 'Mini-PTO' Meetings

By Kathy Duff
John A. Hammel, principal of Monteith Elementary School, has planned a series of "mini-PTO's" to keep parents in touch with happenings and programs at the school.

"Our regular PTO meetings, our annual Science Fair and Art Fair are always very well attended. However, we wanted to meet with some of the parents on a more informal basis, possibly to discuss one area of the curriculum," Mr. Hammel said. "On a trial basis, we asked our reading consultant, Mrs. Blanche Kefgen, to present a program on Basic Reading Skills."

The program was held in Monteith's second floor library Monday, November 12. Because the meeting was scheduled for 2:30 p.m., only the mothers of Monteith children could attend. However, come they did, some with their pre-school "helpers" in tow.

Mrs. Kefgen, who has been with the Grosse Pointe School System since 1949, described the Monteith Reading Program, which allows each child to be put in a small group according to ability. She illustrated her talk with sample readers and used a projector to display lesson plans for each of the grades.

The reading consultant, who is at the school three days a week, is responsible for testing each new child and placing him in the proper section. Besides overseeing the entire reading program at Monteith, Mrs. Kefgen is also in charge of special reading classes for children having difficulty learning to read.

"If a person has mastered reading material through Grade Four, then he can read just about any newspaper or publication," Mrs. Kefgen said as she described the thorough basis the children get in reading fundamentals.

"As far as helping your children at home, I suggest that you read to them, that you encourage them to bring home their workbooks, and that you occasionally take them to the public library. When selecting a library book, select a book one level below their current reading level since children will be reading the book independently."

After Mrs. Kefgen's presentation, the mothers were given the opportunity to ask questions of the reading teacher and Mr. Hammel, who had taken a "back seat" in the library while he watched the presentation.

"We are discussing future 'mini-PTO's' on such subjects as career education, science instruction and our speech program," Mr. Hammel commented.

"I may give a presentation on the school's record system and how a parent may make an appointment to review the child's school record. We find that there are so many myths about school records, for example, some parents believe that we will never tell a child's I.Q. We have thorough records on each child's reading ability at each level. We believe that we should be as open as possible with the parents."

"Of course, what will get top priority are any topics suggested by the parents. We were satisfied with the attendance at the Basic Reading Skills presentation."

Vandals Enter Woods Church

Someone entered The Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, 19950 Mack avenue, and vandalized several rooms, according to Woods police who received a report from Dr. John Overt Sunday morning, November 18.

The culprits threw, or overturned, objects onto the floor at various locations. In the library, for example, books were taken from the shelves and dumped onto the floor and into the halls.

In Fellowship Hall and in several restrooms, waste containers were overturned scattering papers about the room, while church bulletins were strewn over the floor in the lobby.

Papers were thrown about and windows were opened in some basement classrooms. Contents from a closet were scattered into a hallway, while paint cans were strewn about, and ash trays with sand overturned, in several other hallways.

Meanwhile, in the Chapel balcony, coat hangers were hooked together and strung over the edge. Several interior windows also were soaped.

Police reported a basement chalkboard contained the following message: "You'll never find out how we got in, we'll be back" with a reference to the building custodian, who told police he has no idea who is involved.

No signs of forced entry were visible on any doors, which were reportedly locked or on any windows, police added.

Says 'Thanks' To Neighbors

Albert Mertens, whose Maryland house sustained severe fire damage Monday, October 22, called the NEWS to express his gratitude to his neighbors. He said that they had been just great during the time of the Mertens family tragedy, and that he couldn't believe their many kindnesses.

Mrs. Mertens discovered the fire when she returned home from a shopping trip. It's believed that the fire started in the kitchen. By the time firefighters and equipment from The Park and The City arrived, flames were shooting out of the kitchen windows and smoke was pouring from the windows in the rest of the house. Damage to the house and contents is estimated at over $10,000.

In a follow-up letter to the NEWS, signed by Mr. and Mrs. Mertens, they said, "We wish to express our thanks to all our neighbors for their kindness and generosity at the time of our misfortune."

INSTALL SIGNS

Two traffic signs were installed in The Woods Tuesday, November 13, at Marter and Yorktown roads. One reads "No right turn, 6 a.m. to 9 a.m.," while the other says, "No left turn, 3 p.m. to 6 p.m."

North Pointe Rated Highly

North Pointe, the student newspaper of Grosse Pointe North High School, recently was awarded a First Class (Excellent) rating by the National Scholastic Press Association at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis.

Three thousand publications from schools in the United States and American schools abroad were evaluated. Second semester issues were judged.

Kathy Guiles, now a pre-law freshman at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, served as North Pointe's editor-in-chief. David Versical, now at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, was managing editor and the Opinion Page editor.

Helen G. Zales, N.S.P.A. official, commented: "The editorial range is very good. In-school problems and events as well as developments beyond school boundaries are discussed in direct, constructive style. Considerable research into subjects is shown. Editorial page features are timely, entertaining."

tract, the city has agreed to absorb an increase in the cost of hospitalization for the members of the Association and their families; and that life insurance policies on each patrolman have been increased from $10,000 to $13,000, to be paid for by the city.

In addition, Ortisi said, the patrolmen will receive seven paid holidays, excluding their vacation time which varies with seniority. If a patrolman works on the holiday, he will be paid time and one-half for that day only.

The police officers receive no uniform allowances, it was disclosed. All, or any part of a uniform is furnished by the city as needed, Ortisi said.

Still under negotiation is a contract with the Grosse Pointe Park Fire Fighters Association, (GPPFFA), which may, or may not, have to go through arbitration.

The Fire Fighters Association is asking for everything the GPPFA is receiving. The deadlock centers on parity, or equal pay. For the past several years the firemen have been receiving $300 a year less than the members of the Police Department.

Pay Fight

the class sizes in Grosse Pointe schools will continue to grow," Mr. Lord commented. "The other night, parents of children in Kerby School were complaining about class size. Kerby's largest class is 34 children, while Maire and Monteith, for example, have classes as large as 36 students.

Cuts Mean Saving
"If the School Board carries through with its threat to cut teachers, this situation will get worse, instead of better. Everyone knows that the more teachers that are cut, the more the school system saves. That's how the School Board can accept the fact finder's $1,627,000 three-year package, because the Board will save $1,000,000 of that by making teacher cuts.

"Moreover, the Board claims that class size should not be written into a labor contract. Well, nearly half of the school districts in Michigan have clauses in their contracts concerning class size. In the South Lake district, there cannot be over 31 students in Kindergarten through Third Grade; in Fourth through Sixth Grade, there cannot be over 32. The Fraser School district pays teachers additional money for each student they have over 33.

"It is for this reason that we are making a stand on class size and the professional-student staffing ratio," Mr. Lord said.

Thief Takes TV from Schettlers

City police received a complaint from Schettler's Drugstore, Fisher at Maumee, on Thursday, November 15, that a television had been stolen from the store.

The assistant manager, Mildred Bennway, told police the television, a Panasonic, seven-inch, color, portable, was packed in a carton behind the cigaret counter. The thief or thieves apparently took the set while the store was busy, between 5:30 and 6 p.m. She did not notice any suspicious looking people in the building, she said.

She further reported that a key to the outside storeroom was missing and that the porter of the store may have had it, but she was unable to get in touch with him at that time.

The description and serial number of the television set was entered into the LEIN (Law Enforcement Information Network).

Heroin Usage Decline Cited

A letter from the president of FLEC, (Family Life Education Council), which pointed out new council programs, was cited by Woods Mayor, (then Acting Mayor), Benjamin W. Pinkos at the regular council meeting Monday, November 5. The communication was unanimously received and placed on file.

In the letter from John H. Williams, M.D., Mr. Pinkos read aloud the following sentence to the audience, "We are very happy to report that we are receiving no new treatment requests from young heroin users, which we interpret as an indicator that heroin usage in this community is down."

The new FLEC programs, described in the letter, include a group therapy program for other than heroin drug users, ages 14-17, which started Monday, October 15. Dr. Robert Niccolini, professor of psychiatry at Wayne State University, is in charge of the program.

Dr. Niccolini will handle the group therapy for the young adult, while Stan Stanczak, psychiatric social worker, will offer group counseling for the parents.

The other new program mentioned was the formation of a community-wide Alcohol Education Study Committee to make available to community organizers accurate information on alcohol.

Dr. Williams also said, "Other activities are the Student Volunteer Program, the Methodist Withdrawal Program at Bon Secours, the Voluntary Medical Clinic at Center Point, the Center Point Crisis Intervention Center and Education Programs."

"The Voluntary Medical Clinic is increasingly in demand, and Center Point coordinators are doing more short-term family counseling. The Education Committee has reviewed a number of VD films and sponsored parent-child communications workshops."

Woods Studies Proposed Noise Ordinance Changes

The Woods Council is currently considering some proposed changes in the city's noise pollution ordinance, (No. 337), because of the interest and determination of one of its citizens. The measure is under study by the Committee of the Whole, who will report back to the council at a future date.

Joseph H. Rollins, of Doyle Place West, attended the council's regular meeting Monday, November 5, to request a progress report on the measure.

He had previously attended two other meetings to register complaints regarding the ordinance's sound level measurement, (in decibels), and on what constitutes a decibel's interpretation as against the city's. Mr. Rollins also felt the city was "deficient" in studying this subject before preparing the ordinance.

The ordinance forbids a person to cause any noise emission from any equipment including radios, phonographs, TV sets, electric motors and other mechanical and electrical devices to exceed 85 decibels in sound level, in combination with and including ambient noise.

At the time the ordinance was passed by the council, (at the December 4, 1972, meeting), it was reported that the 85 decibel limit was reached via a consensus of published Federal and State standards.

But Mr. Rollins, at an earlier meeting, expressed his displeasure with the 85 decibel limit, questioned the criteria of reaching that level and noted that Chicago passed a noise pollution ordinance which specified a 55 decibel limit in a residential area.

At the November 5 meeting, City Administrator Chester E. Petersen told Mr. Rollins that other cities outside Michigan have been contacted who "are supposed to have excellent ordinances on noise levels and noise abatement. We are in the process of acquiring these so-called 'model' ordinances for the Committee of the Whole."

Mr. Petersen mentioned information was requested from four or five cities including Palo Alto, Calif., and Fairfax, Va. He also stated that the city is in contact and has received information from the Noise Abatement Society of London, England, on this matter.

When Mr. Rollins suggested that a study be conducted by an acoustical firm, he was told the C.W. would consider hiring additional engineers if necessary after all information has been received.

Bon Secours To Host Fair

Bon Secours Hospital will host a public cost fair Monday-Tuesday, November 26-27 to inform hospital employees, physicians and the public of the costs involved in modern health care.

From accounting to x-ray, each hospital department will depict the cost of its service in artistic displays and slide presentations.

Visitors to the fair will learn the cost of sophisticated life-saving equipment and employ wages for round-the-clock staffing which results in 85 percent of the hospital's operating cost.

Interesting and generally unknown costs for hospital utilities (heat, light, water, phone), as well as the costs of bad debts, also will be featured.

This is the second time for the fair which had a one-day showing in October and is being brought back by popular response.

The displays will be open to the public on Monday, from 12 a.m. to 3 p.m., and on Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the hospital's science hall.

Free parking is available on the upper deck of the parking structure.

Name Petersen To Committee

Woods City Administrator Chester E. Petersen has been reappointed to the Michigan Municipal League's Urban Affairs Committee for a one-year term.

The council at the regular meeting Monday, November 19, unanimously voiced no objection to Mr. Petersen accepting the appointment from Walter Bezz, MML president.

Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos congratulated the city administrator on his honor.

'Blue Pointers' Get Good Start

The Grosse Pointe Hockey Association Midget "Blue Pointers" completed their pre-season exhibition game schedule with a 4-2-1 record.

Sponsored by Joe Muer's Restaurant, the "Blue Pointers" entered league play in the South East Michigan Hockey Association as a Class A travel team earlier this month.

Making a promising early showing in goals and assists were Andy Bentley, Bruce McDavitt, Dave Baskel, Steve Sicksteel, Guy Aubrey, Dave McIntyre and Charles Boyce.

On the blue line, Bob Nelson and Bob Morris have made a dependable defensive contribution while Max McKee, Dan Bakich, Kevin Rushton, John Palfy and Jim Naughton have served ably as utility players both at forward and defensive positions. Lines are juggled for the best combinations for league play.

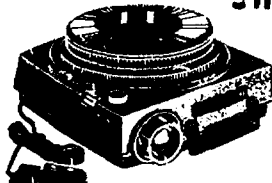

In goal, Glen Burton has one shutout and several fine games to his credit. More than once, his alert net-minding has resulted in winning games despite the fact that opponents managed more shots on goal than the "Blue Pointers."

The return of Steve Douglas, who is out with a broken wrist, is eagerly awaited by the team. The "Blue Pointers" are coached by T. K. Ketchum.

Improved Student Attitudes at NH, SH

kick out windows just for the sake of kicking them out," Tony said.

They are also aware that there are far fewer drug overdoses inside school than in past years.

"People were being carried out of classes regularly last year," Tom said. "But I can only think of two examples this year."

Less Drug Cases

Supporting this is Mike Ferrence, Youth Service Division, (YSD), liaison officer to North.

"There just aren't the number of kids coming to school obviously high or dazed on drugs this year," he said.

Admitting that "Usually the only times students see me is when there's trouble," Ferrence is finding more cooperation by the students with the YSD. He says the students are not as afraid to get involved and his office is receiving more tips on drug peddlers than previously.

John Kendall, YSD officer at South, agrees there has been a change. He says that today there is minimal heroin addiction in the Pointes as opposed to the last five years, which saw severe problems with addiction.

"Harder drugs are not supported or encouraged by the vast majority of students at South," he said, and noted this was a significant change over two years ago.

Youths Share Views

A group of about 15 seniors from North's "Age of Majority" classes generally agreed that the drug problems among youth have been over-emphasized in the community.

The "Age of Majority" class is designed to help juniors and seniors prepare for and adjust to the new responsibilities, rights, opportunities and problems they now face since the lowering of the age of majority.

They object to the frequent typecasting of students by adults and as one student said, "It's unrealistic to think that everyone would be good but people should realize that it's a small minority that is bad."

Many of the students agreed that "labels" for different types of students seem to have been eliminated by students this year. What used to be considered the "jock class" has now merged with the "freak class" because of what one student says is a new openness to the ideas of others.

One student said that there is more respect for fellow students this year and a person isn't rejected because he is too smart, too dumb or belongs to a particular organization.

They pointed to the high attendance at all the Homecoming activities, the success of the pep rally and Fifties Day as examples of a more unified student body this year.

'Get Things Done'

Most said they want to make their senior year memorable and accomplish more than what they feel last year's class did.

"Before, the SA never did anything," said one student. "But now they're at least trying to get things done."

They also are finding that the classes are more united than before. No longer are freshmen alienated, they say, and it is even possible for a senior to be dating a sophomore.

Most in this group think the teachers this year are better about letting kids accept responsibility for their own work.

One student said, "If you don't want to do an assignment you don't have to, but you pay the consequences—possibly a lower grade."

The vandalizing of a student's car this year in the school parking lot created much student outrage, and several students said that such a reaction wouldn't have occurred last year.

Reasons For Shift

What has caused this shift in attitude? No one seems to have the answer to that crucial question. However some possible contributing factors were mentioned.

Rick Berg and Mike Martin, juniors at South, say much of the credit should go to this year's SA officers. They say the new leadership is more energetic than last year's and it has generated a revival in school spirit.

Rod Scott, SA Advisor at South for the past four years, feels that the election of four girls as officers may have helped increase student participation in school activities. He cites their tremendous enthusiasm and says they are also out to prove girls can do a good job.

He feels the general attitude has improved because "some sticky thorns have been removed."

"Many of the issues that aroused students in recent years have been resolved," he said and added that the end of the Vietnam war, the elimination of the draft and the 18-year-old Age of Majority have all been contributing factors.

May Be Pride

"I don't know how to pin it down," said Mr. Feighner about the changing attitude.

But basically, he hopes the students are realizing there is nothing wrong with doing something for their school.

Tony Prano said he's not sure why students are participating in more activities this year but pride may be a part of it.

"When you do something good and get recognition for it, you want to keep it up," he observed.

Admittedly, not all problems have been solved. There's money in the North SA treasury that some students would like to see spent on worthwhile projects before they graduate.

Police-student confrontations do occur, especially at night and with large groups of kids.

A traffic situation at North by the Vernier road light frustrates many students because they feel the timing of the light needs to be shortened.

But if attitudes are better and avenues of communication are open, perhaps these and other problems can be resolved and the outlook for the future can remain bright.

As YSD Officer Ferrence said, "I don't yet know the reason for this change in attitude but I do know I just want it to continue."

They don't make 'em like they used to.

They don't price 'em like they used to, either.

Remember the '53 Kaiser . . . the '51 Studebaker . . . how about the '53 Nash Rambler . . . or the 1952 Henry J?

And remember their price tags? You could buy a lot of car back then for $2,500.

Today a $2,500 price tag is as rare as a Packard Clipper. That's why we offer MemberLoan car financing at AAA—to help you pay for your new '74.

And MemberLoan finance rates can help you save a few bucks—up to $100 on the average new car loan (compared to what most banks charge).

You've insured your cars at AAA for years. Why not start financing them here, too?

We want to do more for you...with MemberLoan car financing.

Honor Society Takes 32 More

Thirty-two South High School juniors and seniors were inducted Monday night, November 19, into the National Honor Society. They join the 33 seniors presently serving in the society.

Selection is based upon grade point average, citizenship, character, school and community service. The members are chosen by a faculty committee assessing each student's academic work and contribution to the community. Mrs. Vorita McClure is South High sponsor of the Honor Society.

Juniors elected to the National Honor Society include Julia Bartlett, Stuart Kurtz, Frederick Berg, Michael Martin, Matthew Boyse, Lilajan Miller, Randy Christofferson, Elizabeth Montague, Lisa Cunningham, Leonard Swanson, Jane Greifenstein, Colette VanAssche and Judith Kienle.

Nineteen seniors were elected to the National Honor Society. They are Elizabeth Buffa, Brian Litch, Catherine Carion, John MacFarlane, Clark Dickson, Valerie Mann, William Erwin, Therese Mageau, Marie Chrypinski, David Miller, Phyllis Crossen, Stephen Morrison, Thomas Hennes, Margaret Peterson, Jeannette Hebda, Deborah Pool, Patricia Haughton, Jonathan Walton and William Krieg.

At the induction ceremony, Frances French, assistant principal, and the school counselors awarded a pin, certificate and card to each new member.

"It is the highest honor which the school can confer upon a student," Jerry Gerich, principal of South High School, commented.

Library Holds Book Program

Mothers bringing their preschool youngsters to the story hour program at the Park Branch of the Grosse Pointe Public Libraries look forward each week to a program of their own.

Miss Gerda Bielitz, Park Branch librarian, gives a stimulating half-hour presentation of book talks and individual book reviews. The program, designed to acquaint adults with new titles published in a variety of interest areas, serves as a vehicle for joint discussion of ideas presented in books. The meeting on Monday, November 26 will feature a discussion of a book voted upon by the group. Participants will be given an opportunity to read the book in advance in order to be able to contribute actively to the discussion.

This adult program is open to the public without charge and without prior registration. Take a siesta during your busy day and return refreshed to your tasks at home or at work! Any interested adult of the Grosse Pointe community is invited. The program is offered on Monday afternoons at 1 p.m. and again at 2 p.m. until November 28. The Park Branch Library is located at 15430 Kercheval avenue in The Park.

The program begins at 8 p.m. in the Fries Auditorium of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Marshall Collins, Mrs. George Fear and Mrs. Sydney Parlington.

Election Fight Not Yet Over

Attorney Jack C. Chilingirian, who was a candidate for a four-year seat on The Woods Council, said he is still considering some legal action regarding former Councilman Kenneth W. Boerner's name being on the Tuesday, November 6, election ballot but, at this time, isn't sure what action now that the election is over.

A petition for a writ of mandamus filed by Mr. Chilingirian, Thaddeus K. Ketchum and the Citizens to Elect Jack C. Chilingirian in the plaintiff's efforts to have Mr. Boerner's name removed from the ballot, was denied after a Wayne County Circuit Court hearing Wednesday, October 31.

Mr. Chilingirian filed a lawsuit against The Woods and its city administrator clerk Friday, October 26, to have Mr. Boerner's name taken off the ballot.

Mr. Boerner, a former HUD employe, pled guilty to conspiracy to bribe in Federal Court Thursday, October 11, before Judge Cornelia Kennedy. He pled guilty to accepting kickbacks of five percent of the dollar amounts of six contracts awarded through rigged bids to three contractors in 1971.

John Sabol, with 2,618 votes, incumbent Conrad A. Naegel, with 2,595, and Ronald R. Keigen, with 1,991, won the three four-year seats. Mr. Chilingirian received 876 votes and was behind Judith Houseman, with 1,599, and Gregory Pischea, with 1,132. Mr. Boerner received 725 votes.

Before the election, Mr. Chilingirian had expressed his concern about the possibility of votes being taken away from him, and other candidates, with Mr. Boerner's name on the ballot.

Woods City Attorney George Catlin said recently that the Circuit Court's decision upheld his opinion that "the court is without authority to order Mr. Boerner's name off the ballot."

Mr. Catlin, in his opinion, said "that the state statutes do not provide for removal of an elected city official for conviction of a Federal felony nor do the state statutes preclude such a person from seeking public office on the state or local level."

The City Charter, Section 5.1, also was cited by Mr. Catlin. This section provides in part that "... the Council shall be the sole judge of the election and qualifications of its own members." If Mr. Boerner was re-elected, the "old" council could not have decided the issue but the "new" one could have, (those elected on November 6).

Mr. Chilingirian had previously stated that Mr. Catlin's decision was based on the law as it exists. In this respect, Mr. Chilingirian stressed a "gap in the law" regarding state law not covering a federal felony in this case, but a state felony.

In noting that the law still appears to be on the books and that it "doesn't meet logic," Mr. Chilingirian said he would review the law and is considering an appeal.

SPORTS FANS!
I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to you by TED EWALD
What are the odds that 2 football teams meeting 2 straight games end with the same team winning by the same score and with the same man scoring the same number of winning points in both games? Did you know this once happened to Army and Navy... Navy beat Army in 1910 and again in 1911... The score of each game was Navy 3, Army 0... And in each of those games, the scoring was done by the same man in the same way as Jack Dalton of Navy won each game by kicking a field goal for the only points in the games... Who would ever predict that 2 straight games could be so similar.
In the history of big-time pro football, there's been only one player who led the league in rushing every year he played... Know who it was?
None other than Supreme Court Justice Byron "Whizzer" White. White played his first year in the National Football League in 1938 and led the league in rushing... He left football in 1939 but came back for one more season in 1940, and again led the league in rushing as a Detroit Lion gaining 514 yards. This was the only time a Lion player ever led the league in rushing.

Sidewalk Situation Still Not Settled

meeting to hear the Council's answer, and one of them was Dr. Coles. Dr. Coles, after the Council had changed the policy, voiced his disapproval of the entire sidewalk policy. Saying that the sidewalks were public property, he felt it was only fair that the whole city pay for their maintenance.
In the month between the meetings, Dr. Coles drew up a letter that outlined his feelings and after getting a number of citizens to sign it, circulated it among city residents. He also drew up a petition and organized a group of canvassers to take the petition from door to door, gathering signatures.
Dr. Coles informed the City Council he wished to address them at the Monday, November 19, meeting and, there were nearly 70 people who attended to show their support of his action.
Once given the floor, Dr. Coles opened his remarks by commending the City Council for their continual service. "The council members are competent men," he said, "and this is shown by the fact that at most council meetings, there are so few people in attendance." But, he went on to say that he did not think the council was acting in the people's best interest on the particular matter of sidewalk repairs.
He felt that if the city was able to budget the expense over a longer period of time, rather than charging individual owners a flat rate, the financing of sidewalk maintenance would be more equitable. Dr. Coles objected to what he termed a "crisis financing" of the repairs. He concluded his remarks by presenting the petition, with 825 signatures, to the City Council.
The Council then listened to comments from about 15 members of the audience. All the speakers approved of Dr. Coles' plan for financing repairs, and most were people whose aid Dr. Coles had enlisted in gathering signatures for his petition. A few of the comments were redundant since members of the audience were asking about issues that the council had already made provisions for.

But some of the situations were unique, like that of Mrs. Edward Krull, a Rivard boulevard resident, who complained that she not only has to pay for repairs done to the walks in front of her present home, but also those in front of the house her family plans to move into, down the street.
Washington road resident William Trombley paved the way for the Council's remarks when he asked for their response to what he called, an "overwhelming support" for Dr. Coles' proposal.
Mayor John L. King presented the council's side of the problem, and as a side comment mentioned, he himself has to pay $234 for repair work on his sidewalk. He reiterated the policy as it stands, and criticized citizens for their lack of attention to the question when it was hashed out at the September and October Council meetings. He said, "Dr. Coles was the only one who objected to the policy at the October meeting... you people should have stepped forward before this."
The City Council believes that the policy stands as it is, and Mayor King cited several reasons, not the least among them being finances.
The mayor pointed out that while everyone uses the walks, that does not really contribute to their wear and tear. "The sidewalks do not crack because of the amount of people who travel on them," he said, "it is caused by many things, mainly the shifting of the earth, so amount of usage is not a valid criteria for the request that all repair money come out of taxes.
The Council also felt that condominium residents, private street dwellers, or citizens who lived on streets that have only one sidewalk, should be held financially liable for upkeep.

But the real reason for the Council's reluctance to alter the policy is financial. "The City has the highest property tax rate already," said the Mayor, "and this administration has tried to lower it."
By approximating the cost of the repairs, and pointing out to the audience exactly what would be involved in budgeting repair costs over a 20-year period, as Dr. Coles suggested, the mayor showed the impracticality of the proposal.
A mill raise would be required to maintain the City's services as they are, and to pay for the cost of repairs. "The City is within 1.87 of the maximum mill as laid down by the state of Michigan," said the Mayor, "and to cover sidewalk repair costs, we would have to raise the mill one and one half percent."
"To get the money, we must cut services," he concluded. "Which services shall we cut?" He mentioned some of the programs the city offers, like snow removal, trash and leaf pickup and tree planting. "It seems to be a matter of priorities," he said, "about where you want your money spent."
Nevertheless, Dr. Coles stood by his proposal, and still requested that the city budget the expenses over a long period of time, insisting that it was apparent residents would prefer it that way, as shown by the amount of signatures on his petition.
Councilman Henry took the floor then and pointed out that sidewalk repairs are not the only thing the City has to be concerned with. "We, (meaning Council members), don't have the luxury of seeing just this one issue," he said. "I'm not overwhelmed with 825 signatures, because the petition did not really present the facts." In Councilman Henry's opinion, the petition did not show that implementation of the proposal would necessitate the raising of taxes and the cut-back of various conveniences that residents have grown accustomed to.
"If you really want the city to pay for sidewalks," he said, "I suggest you begin by going home and making a list of all those services that you use and see which ones you would like cut."
Councilman Henry also pointed out that residents should be able to afford the repairs without extending payments over a long period of time. He estimated the average cost per home in the city at $40,000, and said, "If a man can pay $40,000 for a home, he shouldn't be relying on his children and grandchildren to pay for sidewalk repairs."
Most of the audience had trickled out during the long presentation enumerating various expenses and programs that the city was responsible for and didn't hear Councilman Henry's suggestion.
The members of the Council concluded the discussion by unanimously voting that Dr. Coles' petition be filed and kept on record.

Drop Charges Against Trio

The charges against three men, cased with furnishing beer to a minor, were dismissed by Woods Municipal Judge J. Patrick Denis last month. A 17-year-old Pontiac girl, charged with presenting false identification to a law enforcement officer, was ordered to pay $25 costs and was placed on six months probation.
The charges had stemmed from a routine bar check by Woods Sergeant Bernard Kelly and Officer Michael Giffer at the Lochmoor Lounge, 20934 Mack avenue, on Monday evening, September 3.
Mark Willats Cruttenden, of Sylvan Lake, Donald Robert Ruen, of The Woods, and lounge owner Harold Palms appeared in court Wednesday, October 17, along with Karen Marie Bell.
Cruttenden pled not guilty, and after the testimony of Sergeant Kelly, the case was moved to be dismissed on the grounds that the incident was not witnessed by the prosecuting officer. Judge Denis granted the motion and the charge was dismissed.
Ruen and Palms also pled not guilty, and for the aforementioned reasons, their cases were dismissed.

Judge Denis sentenced Miss Bell to the $25 costs and six months probation, with the case to be dismissed upon successful completion of the probationary period. She is scheduled to appear again in court on April 17, 1974.

Laminated glass is the safest material for automobile windshields, and the law requires that all new cars in North America be so equipped. The laminated glass yields and cracks more easily at this impact and the plastic core stretches. At lower speeds this elastic action reduces injury by absorbing some of the shock. Tempered glass will stand harder blows, but when it does break it shatters into thousands of pieces.
AUTO FACT
Keep your windshield clean both inside and outside. Use a good window cleaner, and be sure to avoid streaks.

The scale of the pattern on a fabric should be right for the piece of furniture or window where it is to be used. Large wallpaper designs should not be crowded into small wall surfaces. If you have a pattern on your floor, it must harmonize with the general feeling of sizes of other things in the room. Be careful about lamps. Large lamps are better than small ones, but never have them out of scale with the rest of your room furnishings.

HELPFUL HINT:
Accessories should never be too important in a room; choose them for a scale which matches the room.

Ski Patrollers Receive Arduous Training at Club

Where do all the Ski Patrollers come from? Twenty-five of them will come from the Neighborhood Club's advanced first aid class this year.

Students started their training on September 18 and are now nearing the end of a very strenuous course taught by four Pointe certified Ski Patrol instructors: Bill Bokram, Bob Bokram, Jerry Mahoney and Nancy Mahoney.

The class wound up their practical skills application this week by going through five simulated accidental injuries. Volunteer victims from the Pointe included Roy Martin, Wynn Fisher, Kim Mahoney, Mrs. Barbara Schmitz and David Summers.

These volunteers generously allowed Mrs. Mahoney to apply broken glass, burns, compound fractures and lots of blood to their persons so they could act out the accident situation many times for student groups.

Mrs. Mahoney states this type of practical work allows the students to put into practice all the theories they have learned in class. It also serves as a good instrument in training students to handle the entire accident situation as well as the individual injury.

Students will complete their first aid training Tuesday, November 27, and then begin their on-the-hill training at various ski areas. Minimum requirements set by the National Ski Patrol System are one year of on-the-hill training before candidates are allowed to take the necessary test to become a patrolman.

The Bokrams and the Mahoneys, all members of the Nub's Nob Ski Patrol, have been instructing this special first aid class for six years and have people coming to their class from as far as Pontiac and Windsor.

The Neighborhood Club also offers first aid courses in C.P.R., (cardiopulmonary resuscitation), which is a technique used to save lives and prevent irreversible brain damage by keeping oxygen and blood circulating in a victim's body until medical air arrives.

Further information regarding this class may be obtained by calling the Club at 885-4600.

"I'm sure our residents have appreciated his work and his sincerity towards making Grosse Pointe Park a better city to live in. I'm sure the new council will continue their efforts towards this objective.

The council also unanimously approved that a Certificate of Appreciation from the city be presented to Mr. Couger for his service.

This program is designed to inform parents how to protect the health of their children and what to do if serious injury occurs. Ali Rabbani, M.D., Chief of Pediatrics and moderator of the forum, said, "Many needless deaths occur, thousands of children are permanently impaired because parents did not take proper steps to safeguard the health of their children, did not recognize symptoms and did not obtain proper medical care."

"During this forum," concluded Dr. Rabbani, "we will tell parents how to safeguard the health of their children, how to recognize the symptoms of serious illness and injury, and what to do if their child is injured or becomes seriously ill."

Appearing on the program with Dr. Rabbani will be Dr. Margaret Zolliker, Dr. David Transue and Dr. Juan Alejos, all members of the hospital's pediatrics staff.

Following their presentations, these physicians will lead discussion groups to answer questions from those persons in attendance.

This forum is part of a series of nine public information programs sponsored by the Saint John Hospital Guild. In the coming months these programs include a Smoking Withdrawal Clinic, Forums on Arthritis, Strokes, Alcoholism, Health Problems of Teenagers and Ulcers and Gastrointestinal Disorders.

Two Surgeons Given Awards

More than 50 area physicians met at Bon Secours Hospital on Wednesday, November 7, to hear Dr. E. Douglas Wigle from the University of Toronto discuss the results of his research on heart disease.

Highlight of the day's program was the presentation of the Semmes Award to Dr. N. Bhadrachari, Bon Secours resident in surgery. A second piece Semmes Award went to Dr. Prem K. Gupta, also a resident in surgery.

The awards recognize a spirit of dedication and concern towards patients beyond the medical aspects of their illness. This attitude is encouraged in interns and residents for the concept of total patient care at Bon Secours.

The day's program was presented for the continuing education of area physicians in active practice. The awards are sponsored by the Prewitt and Valerie Semmes Fund.

YSD Case Load Remains Heavy; Drug Cases Drop

The Youth Service Division, (YSD), processed 63 complaints in October, the same number handled in September, but an increase of three over October 1972. The overall yearly total to date is 582, a jump of 29 cases over the same period last year.

Violation of controlled substances was the category of highest incidence as 20 cases were processed. However, this total was down seven from September 1973 and down two compared to October 1972.

"We had noted increased drug abuse cases in last month's report, (September), so this reduction in the number of cases eases the fear of substantial increased abuse," reports the YSD.

The primary substance abused was, again, marijuana as 16 cases were reported involving 15 male adults, 15 male juveniles and two female juveniles. There also were three synthetic cases involving two male juveniles and one female juvenile, while one case was classified as "all other," including synthetics and hashish, which involved three male juveniles.

The two male juveniles involved in synthetic drug abuse were considered over-doses and transported to hospitals for treatment.

Larceny/theft was the next category of highest incidence as 13 cases were processed. When considered with related categories — breaking and entering and recovered stolen property — the total of cases handled reaches 17. Two juvenile females were arrested for shoplifting, while all other cases involved 25 juvenile males.

There were 11 cases of malicious destruction of property in October. These involved mainly broken windows and egg throwing incidents.

Six runaways were reported, one of whom voluntarily returned, and five were apprehended. One 17-year-old youth was reported missing; however, her family now knows her whereabouts.

Eight applications for petition were filed with Wayne County Juvenile Court. These involved six boys and one girl, against whom two applications were filed as she was a habitual truant.

ACCEPT RESIGNATION
The Woods Council unanimously accepted the resignation of newly elected Councilman John Sabol from the Planning Commission at the regular meeting Monday, November 19. In his motion, Councilman Ronald R. Kefgen congratulated Mr. Sabol for the "fine job" he did as a commissioner.

October shows: violation of controlled substances act, 20; larceny/theft, 13; vandalism, 11; runaways/missing, seven; burglary, other assaults, stolen property laws, other criminal contacts, and suspicious persons investigated, two each, and arson and drunkenness, one apiece.

Montessori Early School Opens World to Children

By Kathy Duff

It's obvious from the start that it is no ordinary school. As a visitor approaches the brown brick building of the Montessori Early School, two four-year-old moppets are busily cleaning the second floor windows from the inside. So engrossed are they in their work that they aren't looking down on the two maintenance men working on the building, or they aren't gazing at the few leaves which linger on the Grosse Pointe Academy trees. Rather, they are intently studying the window panes, to make sure that every last speck of dust is cleared from the glass surface.

Cleaning windows is a part of the Montessori Early School program. Fully one-fifth of the program concerns Practical Life, a section which teaches children how to set a table, wash dishes, brush their teeth, comb their hair, and say a pleasant "Good Morning" to their friends.

Maria Montessori, the Italian doctor-child psychologist, believed that it was as important for a child to learn how to take care of himself at an early age as to learn the rudiments of reading and mathematics.

Upon entering a Montessori classroom, (there are four in the old building which used to belong to the Sacred Heart convent), a visitor will first be impressed by the sense of order and color which pervades the room. The children, ranging in age from three to six years, are scattered around the room, so immersed in their activities that they barely notice the intrusion of a visitor in their miniature world. Some are standing at water painting stations, some are sitting at tables with letter cards, and some are sprawled out on the carpet surrounded with number rods.

"We believe in allowing the child to develop freely," Tina Viviano, director of the Early School, commented in her office filled with Montessori newsletters and related educators' bulletins.

"The Montessori schools provide the children with instructional materials which encourage exploration and the solving of one specific problem. Children have a natural curiosity; they want to learn. If children are interested, they will prefer work to play. And the Montessori program takes advantage of this quality."

Miss Viviano has been with the school, located on the 22-acre tract which overlooks Lake St. Clair, for the past six years. The school is the oldest Montessori school in Michigan since it was started by the Sacred Heart Nuns.

In addition to Miss Viviano, who still teaches in the morning session, there are three other teachers and 12 assistants who guide the 160 students enrolled in the school. There are two three-hour sessions, one from 8:30 to 11:30 in the morning, and one from 12:30 to 3:30 in the afternoon.

Entering a Montessori classroom, it is no easy thing for a visitor to find the teachers. There is no big desk at the front of the room; there is no furniture larger than Lilliputian size. The four teachers and assistants are working with their students on an individual basis, sitting with them at their work tables or sitting on the carpet amid geometric blocks and picture cards. It's part of the Montessori method for the teachers to remain in the background since their purpose is to guide the students when they need help on a Montessori project.

Even the occasional visitor is instructed not to disturb a student who is absorbed in his project. Many of the children are sitting on brightly colored throw rugs or have a rug patch on the table beneath their project.

"This is another thing Maria Montessori discovered which is now being rediscovered by modern psychiatrists," Miss Viviano said as she looked at the rugs.

"Each person has his 'psychic area' or the area in which he doesn't wish to be disturbed. It can be the distance in which two persons talk to each other, or it can be the area in which a person wants to work independently. The rugs help define that area, and the children know that they are not to disturb another student when he is working."

Besides the Practical Life area, an area which looks much like a school lunch room in miniature, there are four other subject areas: Language, Mathematics, Geography and Sensorial.

One girl, wearing the Academy's blue plaid jumper, was sitting on the floor sorting out a series of word cards. One set of cards had pictures of a sun, a fan, a hen, etc. Another stack of cards showed printed words to correspond with the pictures. A third box held a stack of letters so that the students could spell out the words after matching the word card with the picture it described.

The girl surrounded herself with the cards and letters and spent 20 minutes systematically spelling out the words, totally oblivious to the children and noise which surrounded her.

One of the most colorful geography projects is a map of the world from which each continent can be removed by a wooden peg. Montessori, who was the first woman doctor in Italy, was interested in early co-ordination and how it related to later life skills. She chose to have the children pull out the continents by their thumb and forefinger in preparation for writing. In order to teach her young students the difference between land masses and bodies of water, her maps featured lands areas of sandpaper.

On the shelves holding the Sensorial materials, there are also blindfolds. Students may blindfold themselves so that they can better discriminate between two bells sounds, or to feel the different textures of sandpaper, felt and velvet.

"One of the questions that parents most often ask is what we do with the child who is only interested in one subject," Miss Viviano commented.

"It simply doesn't happen. A child might spend three days working with math materials, and then, on the fourth day, he will suddenly become interested in language materials. Of course, if we do think that a child is not balancing his time, we will guide him to new materials."

"We continually change the materials on the shelves so that there will always be a new project to challenge the students. Every time we introduce new materials, one of the teachers will explain the project."

It would be hard for a young student not to learn in a Montessori classroom, as every bit of shelf space, table space and wall space is used to enrich the educational environment. Even the sink, which hits an adult about knee-level, is labeled with a card reading "sink." It's definitely a school, a place for children to learn, and not a three-hour baby-sitting session.

"One of the first things I did when I came here as the new headmaster was to change the name of the Montessori school. It had been called the Pre-School, but it's not a pre-school, it's a school. It's not 'pre' anything," John Poplawski, headmaster of the Grosse Pointe Academy said in describing the Early School with more than a little bit of pride.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Virginia Leonard

*If I may turn once again somewhat Ogden Nashy. (Not flashy)
I'd like to wish you all HAPPY THANKSGIVING.
In spite of all the trials and tribulations in which the world has been recently living.
We've got to take a day off, think of football, etc. —forget out "the bird,"
Not trot our ancestors, and not forget all the words that were written to give us our government and our freedom. Do we think about it enough? It may be that we take too many things for granted, We've ranted
About so many things, clear and loud
But we have a heritage of which to be proud.
So — as we gather about the festive board
Let us give pause — reflect — thank the Lord
For what we have (I ask you, just one day)
Set aside for giving thanks (come what may).
Thus to all men
We say silently "amen."
And hope and pray
That you will all have a
HAPPY THANKSGIVING DAY.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

An increasing number of Grosse Pointe residents are becoming thoroughly fed up with the conniving efforts of the Grosse Pointe Education Association to bleed the taxpayers. The latest maneuver, designed to keep teachers on the payroll, whether or not they are needed, is blatant attempt at "featherbedding."

The Grosse Pointe teachers are among the highest paid in Michigan. In fact, many of them have higher salaries than a good many of the taxpayers who are subsidizing them . . . and for only nine months work.

In the long run, the teachers will be the victims of their shortsightedness and greed. I predict that the voters will be mindful of their tactics when the next millage election comes along.

Very truly yours,
A. J. Cutting

Dear Sir,

My husband and I would like to publicly thank all of the people, especially Dave, who work at the Grosse Pointe City Park. The park was safe and clean and a lovely place to while away the summer months.

Our children could ride their bikes and spend the day there without our worrying about them or their bikes being stolen.

So, thank you Dave, and all employees of the City Park for a lovely summer.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Hendrick W. Rivard

Being Thankful for 100 Years

When Mrs. Alice Huebner sits down to dinner on Thursday, November 22, 1973, it will be the only thing on her mind or on her tongue. She is looking forward to her birthday cake too, and if there's a candle for each year, very likely, the cake will be hidden, since there would have to be 100 of them.

Mrs. Huebner doesn't look a day over 80, nor does she act it. She's up and fully dressed every day and is able to walk unassisted. She lives at the Belmont Nursing home, now, but spent a year and a half living in Washington road with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Schultz.

While a lot of old-timers may tell you activity is the key to a long life, Mrs. Huebner's experience tends to discount that theory. According to Mrs. Schultz, who is her mother's press agent since she is unable to hear very well, "Mother was not a club-member, or a joiner; she was always a homebody."

A native Detroitier who spent most of her life on the East Side, Mrs. Huebner was busy enough raising her three children. But, "she's always been healthy, and never had many doctors," her daughter added.

She has four grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren now, and they'll all be with her to celebrate her century of life at a dinner at the Detroit Boat Club.

It should be quite a Thanksgiving for everyone.

MISSING METER

Someone apparently has a penchant for parking meters. City Police reported on Wednesday, October 3, that a meter was missing from the parking lot behind the A&P store in the Village. Both the post and the meter were taken and the wood guard rail was cracked.

Old Time Keglers Get Ready for Tournament

Prominent Grosse Pointe residents will again be a vital part of the 43rd Anniversary Old Timers Bowling Tournament Saturday, November 24, at the Thunderbowl Lanes, Allen Park.

More than 450 keglers are expected on the single squad starting at 1 p.m. with dinner following at 4:30 p.m.

Ed Heiden, of Rivard boulevard, is probably the most distinguished official of the Old Timers Association, it is reported. He is the only living charter member of the group, having served as association president for the first nine years. He continues to be active with the group.

Last January, the Greater Detroit Bowling Association recognized Mr. Heiden's lifetime of dedicated service to bowling by presenting him their Meritorious Service Award plaque for 1973.

Fred Wolf of the Lochmoor Club is the current third vice-president of the Old Timers. Mr. Wolf is a member of the Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame and also is a past champion of this tourney. A group of 40 men from the Pointe area are scheduled to be on the lanes with Mr. Wolf this year.

John Gavie is the president of the Old Timers, while Norman White, of Lexington road, a past president of the group, is general chairman for the dinner.

Frisky Friars Stand at 7-1-0

Billed as "the team to beat in Division II of the Michigan High School Hockey League," the Austin Fighting Friars have run their season record to 7-1-0 with victories over Birmingham Brother Rice and St. Clair Shores South Lake in recent action.

Austin has been led by hard skating Senior Bob Scarfone who has nine goals and seven assists for 16 points. He's the son of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Scarfone, of Thorn Tree road, in The Woods.

Last season the younger Scarfone was named to the Detroit News All City Hockey Team and his coach, Bud Newberry, thinks he is a "shoo-in" to repeat.

Austin has scored 51 goals in its first eight games and "stands alone" in first place.

"Our goal tenders, Freshmen Greg Supina and Junior Kevin Donahue, have been outstanding in allowing only 22 goals over eight games," said Coach Newberry. The coach added, "We are a good team with a lot of balance — no one knows who our first line is! We have no such animal. Our ability is spread evenly over all of our lines."

The Fighting Friars play every Wednesday night at 8 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Community Rink at Austin, and invite your attendance.

The Princeton Triangle Show's coming to town just five days before Christmas. "Future Schlock," the history of the 20th Century re-created from a 21st Century viewpoint, (rather boggles the imagination, doesn't it?), will light up Detroit's Music Hall stage Thursday evening, December 20.

The Princeton Club of Michigan is bringing the 1973 review here. Grady Avant, of Lincoln road, Nancy and Frank Camacho, of Mapleton road, and Russell MacNair, Jr., of Touraine road, are among those working especially hard on the project.

Triangle Shows are—as we're sure you know—written, directed and performed by Princeton students.

Past Triangle members—you probably know this, too—include F. Scott Fitzgerald, Jimmy Stewart, Booth Tarkington, Josh Logan and Jose Ferrer.

There's been a Triangle Show on the boards annually for 85 years. (Bet we got you on that one: You knew the Triangle Shows had been running a long time, but exactly HOW long . . . ?)

Drive to Raise Funds for Michigan Arts Council Will Get Underway at Detroit Club Cocktail Fete Next Tuesday

The Michigan Foundation for the Arts kicks off its 1973-74 fund-raising drive next Tuesday, November 27, with a special cocktail party and entertainment at the Detroit Club.

With Mrs. William G. Milliken acting as official hostess, the gathering will include a broad cross section of metropolitan Detroit's civic, financial and arts leaders.

Mrs. Edsel B. Ford, of Lakeshore road, Alfred H. Aymond, of Jackson, Philip H. Power, of Ann Arbor, and Arthur F. F. Snyder, of Pro-central road, are co-hosting the event.

Faculty members from the Detroit Community Music School will provide live entertainment at the reception which also will feature a showing of the film story on Michigan Artrain's successful tour of the Rocky Mountain states, as prepared and broadcast by CBS television news.

The Foundation's goal for 1973-74 is $150,000.

Its largest and most successful project to date was raising money for the construction of Artrain.

"We raised over $400,000 for this project, which has brought the excitement of the arts to people throughout the state of Michigan and has received unanimous critical acclaim," Mr. Power notes.

"There is still much, much more that needs to be done to enrich the cultural environment of our state," he adds. "The Foundation this year is seeking to make its approach more effective by adopting a 'people to people' method of fund raising.

"This is the reason for our gathering in Detroit, and we have high hopes that we will be successful."

The Foundation functions as the fund-raising arm of the Michigan Council for the Arts, seeking support from the private sector for the implementation and expansion of arts programs benefiting Michigan citizens.

The Council, an agency of the State headquartered in Detroit, is partially funded by a annual appropriations from the State Legislature.

Mrs. Ford is honorary chairman of the Foundation. Mr. Aymond is chairman of the Foundation's board of trustees.

In other words, this is a hairdresser that cares. He doesn't consider his clients faceless ladies in shapeless robes. He considers them interesting individuals. Which is why he studies their faces and clothes and asks about the lives they lead and the way they really see themselves. It's also why he gets the most beautiful results. This kind of hairdresser isn't easy to come by. But if you come by our place, you'll find quite a few. You see, it's the only kind of hairdresser we believe in.

Imelda Marcos Feted by Fords

Entertaining at a small dinner party in their Lakeshore road home Saturday in honor of Imelda Marcos, wife of the president of the Philippines, were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford, II.

Mrs. Marcos, on a world-wide tour, included a visit to Michigan's Interlochen Arts Academy on her itinerary. A complex similar to Interlochen is expected to be completed in the Philippines in about a year, and Mrs. Marcos was interested in seeing how the Michigan facility functions.

She flew into town last Thursday via a Ford Motor Company jet, with Mrs. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Forstmann, (she's the former Charlotte Ford), and Burt and Luciana Avedon.

It was the Forstmanns' first visit to Detroit since their wedding last May, in New York.

Thursday's intimate supper was the Fords' second party for a member of the Marcos family in less than a week. They had entertained the previous Saturday at a dinner-dance at the Pierre Hotel in New York honoring Princeton University freshman Maria Marcos.

Mrs. Ford visited President and Mrs. Marcos in Manila earlier in the fall, and the two women traveled together to Australia for the opening of Sidney's new opera house.

And Now: News Of Smith

When Mrs. Frederick F. Fordon, this year's local Smith College Alumnae president, reports next Thursday on the recent Smith Alumnae Council, she'll add a postscript description of the merry Wiggins Tavern breakfast attended by some of the Pointe girls presently at Smith.

Martha Klingbeil, daughter of the W. H. Klingbeils, of Hawthorne road, due to pick up her degree in '74, was there.

So were Jennifer Ann Dawson, daughter of the Thomas R. Dawsons, of Maumee avenue, and Cathy Stephenson, daughter of the John H. Stephensons, of Newberry place, members of the Class of '75.

And so were Lynn Fruehauf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Fruehalf, Jr., of Provencal road, and Eleonore Wotherspoon, daughter of the William W. Wotherspoons, of Tonnancour place, members of the Class of '77.

(What we'd like to know is: What happened to the Class of '76? The least some bright young Pointer could do is transfer . . .)

Mrs. Fordon will be speaking to Smith Alumnae at the Cameron place home of Mrs. Frank Parcells. The meeting begins at noon with a social hour and luncheon.

The President's Report will be followed by a rallying call from Mrs. George A. Nicholson, III, chairman for local aspects of the 1975 Smith College Centennial celebration.

Mrs. Albert Dickson, Jr., and Mrs. Charles E. Slough will be seeing to it that no alumna goes home without an ample supply of Smith College Scholarship Pecans. They're up from the south, in time for holiday fruitcake baking.

To say nothing of pre-holiday munching . . . You don't have to be a Smithie to buy and enjoy them.

Reunion For The Even Younger Set

Camp Bryn Afon begins its 57th season with the traditional showing of movies of camp activities, for Pointe area families, next Wednesday at the Country Club.

Joan Hadley Brossy, director of the Rhineland, Wis., girls' camp, will narrate the film at 7:30 o'clock.

Among Bryn Afon's current campers are Pointers Jeri Burns, Patti Burns, Ann Carey, Carolyn Chicoine, Alex Davis, Sheila Duffy, Mimi Fisher, Ashley Fletcher, Judy Hodges, Mary Howard, Kathryn Kaess, Julie Kohr, Patrice Lauri, Shelley Marks, Elizabeth Oldham, Carolyn Pingree, Heather Robbins, Lee Robinson, Molly Swantek, Chris Tolleson, Lisa Wood and Sarah Young.

Camp Movie Night is always a marvelous reunion time for them.

Also invited to the reunion are current staff members, including Emily Baker, Bryn Afon assistant director and dean of Girls at University-Liggett School, head counselor Jocelyn Scofield, of Metamora, program director Hope Ward Gee and executive secretary Mary Funk.

Pointe counselors Brandy Brossy, Evelyn Exley, Jane Whitney Gage, Pat Gage, Barbara Howard and Martha Wood are staff invitees, too, of course.

Tune In To Ronald Petersen

Tune your television sets into ABC next Tuesday, November 27, between 8 and 9 o'clock, for "The World Turned Upside Down," a re-enactment of the Battle of Yorktown, and take special note of the gentleman playing the role of the Commanding Officer of the George Washington Life Guard.

That's Ronald R. Petersen, son of Grosse Pointe Woods City Administrator and Mrs. Chester E. Petersen, up there on the screen.

Young Mr. Petersen, graduated in 1964 from Grosse Pointe South High School, currently on the staff of Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Ind., (Continued on Page 26)

DRC to Hear Frank Angelo

Frank Angelo, associate executive editor of the Detroit Free Press and writer of the column entitled "The Interesting World of Frank Angelo," will be guest speaker at a Detroit Review Club meeting next Tuesday, November 27, at the Detroit Press Club.

DRC's 82nd birthday luncheon will precede Mr. Angelo's talk.

Founded in November, 1891, DRC has been active in philanthropic projects throughout the years and was a charter member of the Detroit Press Club.

troit Federation of Women's Clubs as well as the Michigan State and General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mr. Angelo, a native Detroit, started his newspaper career as co-editor of his high school paper, the Review, and editor of the Wayne State newspaper, the Collegian.

He joined the Detroit News as a copy boy, later became a sports writer and left to join the Free Press in 1941. In 1942 he became an ensign in the United States Navy.

He was assigned to the Destroyer Escort USS Dionne and served on board that ship throughout the World War II Pacific campaign.

After discharge as a lieutenant in 1945 he returned to the Free Press and successively became copy reader, feature editor and managing editor. He was named associate executive editor April 1, 1971.

Mr. Angelo, always active in the community, was president of the Newspaper Guild of Detroit in 1949, just prior to being named feature editor and becoming part of management at the Free Press.

He has been president of the Michigan Associated Press Editorial Association, the Michigan Press Association and the Detroit Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi national professional journalism fraternity.

He is a member of the board of directors of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association and a member of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

He has been president of the Cooley School Community Council and a member of the boards of directors of the Detroit Urban League, Boy's Republic, United Community Services, Acraft Club and Detroit Press Club.

Married to the former Elizabeth Paton Stoll, he is the father of two sons, Frank, Jr., and Andrew Nicholas.

Inside The Mothers' Club

The Grosse Pointe South High School Mothers Club is composed of mothers of students at South High, quite obviously. It is therefore small wonder they enjoyed their November 5 meeting at the School when Mrs. Richard Speer, Club president, invited Youth Service Officer John Kendall and Principal Jerry Gerich to speak on the general situation at the School from their particular points of view.

For too long these reports have been discouraging in some respects, but the picture has altered remarkably.

According to Officer Kendall and Principal Gerich things are going extremely well at South High this year. The incidence of hard drug abuse is now almost nonexistent although the use of alcohol and marijuana among students continues to cause concern among school officials.

Both men noted a marked change in student attitudes. This year there is a much greater feeling of school spirit, (helped immeasurably by a winning football team!).

Spirit Week, organized by the Student Association, was a tremendous success and provided examples of this new and improved attitude. Academic excellence is popular again and peer pressure is on the side of positive behavior.

Much credit was given to this year's outstanding student leadership.

Mr. Gerich also reported on the new building addition, explaining that many small items which need completion sometimes take an unusual amount of time but work is being accomplished. Some larger problems will probably have to wait for Christmas break for correction.

Commenting on questions about the design of teaching stations he explained that these decisions were based upon forward planning and were conceived to continue to be effective over a long period of time.

Encouraged by these reports the Mothers Club board then heard from various committees involved in projects to further enrich and support School programs.

Mrs. Harold Machamer brought attention to the fact that the girls in the School orchestra need new uniforms. The School is unable to absorb all costs of the material for these uniforms, which will be made by the girls themselves and given to the School for future use.

The Mothers Club voted funds to help defray this expense. The South High Dads Club is also donating money for uniforms.

Mrs. C. J. O'Donnell reported that pre-sale of tickets for "Oklahoma," staged November 15, 16 and 17, had not gone as well as hoped. The telephone committee was busy contacting parents and everyone was encouraged to spread the word about the scholarship fund raising benefit.

According to Mrs. Robert Peterson, Ninth Grade Parents Night was a great success and plans for the November 9 Ninth Grade Party were described. These grade parties, an important means of encouraging esprit de corps, receive full support of the Mothers Club.

JOY representative Mrs. John Wood explained there is a desperate need for mothers to assist in this project. In two days time 250 youngsters were interviewed and 5,000 flyers sent home with elementary school children.

groups are filling nicely with six new groups reported. Some meet in the afternoon but one at least is meeting in the evening. This permits attendance by fathers, a definite advantage and one to be encouraged.

Interested parents may still join by calling Rae Kuhn, 886-4819.

College representatives are appearing regularly to talk with interested students according to Mrs. Benson McClure, Faculty representative, who presented information regarding the performance of South High students on college boards.

Plans are underway for the Christmas Tea to be held jointly with North High Mothers December 5. Mrs. William Race announced that a flyer will be attached to the newsletter, giving further details of this event.

Everyone is encouraged to begin the Christmas season by attending this lovely tea and Christmas concert.

Member of the Michigan State University 1973 soccer squad is Pointer PHILIP for his play last year.

HOW DOES THIS description grab you? Two bedrooms on the first floor with a family room. The cathedral ceiling living room has a loft with room for a den or additional sleeping room. There's a full basement, garage and the low price tag of $32,500. Grab it.

CENTER ENTRANCE COLONIAL with bay windows on either side of the front door, mature spruce trees flanking the front walk and a full 100 feet of front yard set this apart from other houses in its neighborhood. There are four bedrooms with two connecting baths, a large paneled family room with random width flooring, kitchen with built-ins, and two car attached garage.

A STately HOUSE located in the Farms just a few feet from the lake has become even more attractive because now it is available for purchase. Designed by Albert Kahn Associates, this petite mansion offers a large entrance foyer with marble floor, a large formal living room with magnificent fireplace; and the dining room, library and living room all face the lake. Five bedrooms and four baths comprise the second floor. This one will appeal to everyone... we wish we had more.

THAT SNAPPY little yellow house is just as classy inside, with complete remodeling throughout, and new kitchen with every built-in. We are making it available at the low price of $34,000 which includes draperies and carpeting all in brand new condition.

CHARM INSIDE AND OUT is standard equipment in this beautifully maintained three bedroom colonial on LaBelle. New carpeting and draperies throughout make this one ready to move into. Just a short hop to Mack-7 shopping, and a low interest mortgage to step into.

IMMEDIATE OCCUPANCY. Tired of run-of-the-mill over-priced stereotyped ranches? This unique plan really puts "enough" distance between master wing and the kids, combines three generous bedrooms plus den or 4th bedroom, and two full baths. Attached 2 car garage, low traffic street and a dry basement complete the picture. Priced below State Equalized Valuation, in the low $50's. Everyone likes nice surprises and we predict this won't stay long on the market.

Thieves Enter Woods Homes

Two breaking and enterings were reported to The Woods Department of Public Safety, one on Friday, November 9, and the other on Saturday, November 10. On the 9th, a Hollywood avenue resident told police the thieves took a General Electric clock-radio, valued at around $30, plus $45 to $50 cash from a purse. Investigation revealed the culprits entered through a rear basement window. Then, on the 10th, a Wedgewood road resident reported the following articles missing: a clock-radio, a stereo, both of unknown value, and three half dollars. Upon returning home, the citizen found a window shattered in a grade door. The culprits then broke the glass inside the door with a metal milk case, police said.

Plastic Trash Barrels Stolen

A 17-year-old Detroit youth was arraigned for examination yesterday, November 7, before Park Municipal Judge William E. Speer, on a charge of breaking and entering and larceny from a building. The youth is alleged to have taken two large plastic trash barrels from a window of the Pointe Hardware company, 14950 Mack avenue. Information released by Lt. Gordon Duncan disclosed that the accused teenager, David J. LaForest of 3164 Newport, smashed the front plate glass window of the store building on Thursday, November 1, reached in and took the barrels. LaForest then fled west on Mack. Patrolmen Ralph Moore and Steven Molitor, were given a description of the youth by a witness, who told the officers that LaForest was seen entering a restaurant at 14618 Mack. According to the policemen's report, LaForest was employed at "his location. The patrolmen said that they entered the place and went to the kitchen, and as they entered this part of the building, LaForest was seen tossing one of the trash barrels out the back door. The youth was arrested and taken to the station, where he was booked and charged. On Wednesday, November 7, LaForest was given an examination before Judge Speer. LaForest stood mute and a plea of innocent was entered for him. He was bound over for trial in Circuit Court and released on $1,000 personal bond until trial date.

Three Student Writers Cited Three Pointers were recently cited as outstanding student writers by the National Council of Teachers of English. Cynthia A. Ashton, of Norwood drive, Debra L. Brush, of Lee court, and David E. Graham, of Severn road, all seniors at North High, received certificates of commendation for efforts submitted in their junior year. Students were nominated last spring by English department chairman Patricia Fox. Each student was then required to send samples of his or her best writing, including an autobiographical sketch and a one-hour impromptu essay. The work was evaluated by state judging teams of qualified college and high school English teachers. As a result of their outstanding performances, the students' names have been sent to admissions officers and English department chairmen at various universities and the Council recommended them for scholarships if they are needed. The Council also announced that North's assistant principal of instruction, Robert Welch, has been asked to contribute a chapter of writing instruction to a forthcoming book the Council intends to publish. David Graham and Debra Brush already have a good idea of where they would like to go to college. "Either State or Kalamazoo, but nothing is certain," said Graham. Debra Brush hopes to attend Wayne State University where she would like to go into occupational therapy. Cindy Ashton is unsure of where she will continue her education, but she would like to major in foreign languages. All three winners may now pick their college knowing that they have been certified as outstandingly good writers. Three thousand colleges will receive a statement to this effect. This statement will then serve as a recommendation that the student be considered to receive a scholarship if the need should exist. Only two other schools in Michigan produced three N.C.T.E. winners this year. The North English Department received an award commending it "for excellence in its instructional program as revealed by its evident contribution to the high quality of writing." "These students are excellent in the usage of their writing ability and their involvement in the Achievement Awards Program has supported their enthusiasm and talent," stated Linda K. Harvey, director of the N.C.T.E. Achievement Awards.

Parents' Opinions Sought to Set School Curriculum

Industrial Arts is for boys and Homemaking is for girls, right? WRONG. An exciting and more definitive curriculum is presently being designed for the Middle Schools that will expand the offering for boys and girls in both areas. Recent experiences with boys in Homemaking and girls in Industrial Arts has been so positively rewarded and accepted by parents, students and teachers that the planned expansion is being approached with eagerness and enthusiasm. The Middle Schools have always offered students a choice. Ever since Pierce Middle School opened in 1939, (then called a junior high school), Industrial Arts and Homemaking have been vital departments in the total curriculum offerings for the students. Traditionally, shop courses were required of boys for a semester in both grades seven and eight. Girls would have the same requirement in the Homemaking department. In these grades students were exposed to general curriculum offerings which would permit small individual projects to be made and taken home. Boys would study woodworking, metalworking, plastics, graphics, printing and electricity. Girls would study cooking, sewing, grooming, hospitality, baby sitting, child care and consumer economics. Then, at the ninth grade level, courses in each department were offered on an elective basis and many boys did elect Chef's Club and a few girls enrolled in Drafting. Few, if any, boys enrolled in mainstream courses in Homemaking nor did girls participate greatly in Industrial Arts. With the opening of North

Parents' Opinions Sought to Set School Curriculum

High in 1968 and the accompanying change in grades housed in the middle schools (from 7-9 to 6-8), certain curriculum adjustments took place. Industrial Arts was required of boys for a full year in grade seven, and girls were required to study a year of Homemaking in the same grade. The eighth grade courses were elective, and there was increased enrollment by both sexes into the traditionally "opposite" area. A major innovation at this time was the involvement of sixth graders into a coed experience in both areas. This was a highly successful venture and many of the events underway can be traced directly back to that excellent program. Next came the era of cut-backs. For the past three years, Industrial Arts and Homemaking have only been required of boys and girls respectively for one semester in grade seven. Another semester could be elected by those who wanted more experiences in the required department. Grade eight courses were all elective. Grade six youngsters were prevented from participating in either area because sixth graders in the elementary schools were unable to receive the same curriculum offerings. The reduction of the required amount from one year to one-half year made these departments consistent with the requirement of other seventh grade courses such as art and physical education. During those few years several events occurred. Enrollments in Industrial Arts classes remained the same or increased, and enrollments in the Homemaking offerings reduced sharply. Teachers in Industrial Arts were able to remain assigned to one school but Homemaking teachers had to transfer to other buildings or spend some time daily in more than one building. As a result then, the Industrial Arts department has been able to expand, perfect, and implement its curriculum to a greater extent than Homemaking. But boys and girls did begin to enroll more and more into the other subject matter area, and awards have been won in local, regional and statewide competition by students in both departments. This year all seventh grade students will receive exposure in both departments. The boys will still receive more time in Industrial Arts than girls, and the reverse is true in Homemaking. The eighth grade students continue to elect offerings in both departments, and classes are sometimes scheduled on a coed basis. The immediate problem for these departments is to provide curriculum offerings which will provide common background experiences for boys and girls as they elect the eighth grade courses. Middle School principals are currently trying to resolve these questions: Should there be a required experience for all youngsters in these departments? If so, for what length of time? Ten weeks, a semester, a year? Whatever the required length, it must be the same for boys and girls in both departments. Should both departments drop the requirement altogether? Should the classes be offered coeducationally or by sexes? Is it possible or practical to keep hiring a professional staff according to the continually changing wishes of the students? Can recruiting of students by departments be done professionally or will it turn into a cut-throat nightmare? These issues must be resolved by Friday, February 1. Since the decision will determine the direction that curriculum will take in these departments for the next few years, the three Middle School principals are soliciting parents and taxpayers opinions. Two committees are set up to assess and evaluate recommendations, a Middle School Steering Committee, made up of professional staff members and a Parents Advisory Commission. They will hear information until Tuesday, November 27, then they will deliberate, making their recommendations by Friday, December 21. If you wish to have a voice in the decision-making process, contact your nearest Middle School principal. At Brownell, contact William Christofferson, 260 Chalfonte avenue, 48236, phone: 882-8940. Parcell's principal is Morris Hanzek, 20600 Mack avenue, 48236, phone: 881-8950. For Pierce, principal is William Mogk, 15430 Kercheval avenue, 48230, phone: 821-3883.

Reporter Johanna Van Horne wrote that Mrs. Near is in charge of the study center where students go when sent by their teachers. "The Math Lab is a place to finish assignments, to get help, and to play math games. The Math Lab will individualize the math program so that help can be given to those who need it," Johanna reports. Pointer of Interest

LUDWIG LAPAUW, OF KORTRIJK, BELGIUM, AND SUNNINGDALE DR.

By Janet Mueller

Call him Ludo. It says Ludwig on his passport, on his official papers, but Ludo's what he's known as. In fact, if you call up, (as I did), the home of Dr. and Mrs. John Griffin in Sunningdale drive, and get one of the Griffin sons on the other end of the line, and ask to speak to "Ludwig," you're apt to hear a minute's silence.

Then . . . "Oh, you mean LUDO."

Ludo is this year's American Field Service exchange student at Grosse Pointe North High School.

He's one more son for the Griffins.

He comes from Kortrijk, about 65 miles southwest of Brussels, where his father, Omer Lapauw, is a teacher in a Technical School. Mr. and Mrs. Lapauw, the former Lia Haemers, are both from a village near Kortrijk.

Had Seven Children

They had seven children. Their oldest son, married and the father of a daughter, teaches at the same Technical School as his father.

Their second son is a missionary in the Philippines, where he will be ordained this Christmas.

Their third son is a psychiatrist, working in Holland.

Their fourth child, only daughter, is a teacher like her father and brother. She works with the Mentally Retarded.

Their fourth son was studying Architecture when he was killed in a car accident four years ago at the age of 18.

Their fifth son is Ludo. "And my youngest brother is still in high school. He's in the 11th grade."

That's quite a family. The Griffins are a near-perfect physical match. It's almost eerie.

There are five Griffin sons, (three still at home), and one Griffin daughter.

Each family even has a dog. No wonder Ludo feels extremely comfortable, extremely lucky in his American family.

He's the first of his Belgian family to spend an AFS year abroad, but the Lapauws are used to comings and goings. Ludo's four older brothers studied away from home, at Louvain. His sister lives and works on the seashore, coming back to Kortrijk for weekends now and then, as does his psychiatrist brother who works in The Netherlands.

His missionary brother spent the summer of 1970 in Canada, working in the tobacco fields, then traveled in the United States for three weeks before returning to Belgium. He spent one of those weeks in Harper Woods, staying with Lia Haemers Lapauw's relatives.

Ludo, at that time, had no idea he'd ever be NEAR Harper Woods.

Surprised Relatives (He dropped in recently at his mother's relatives' home, unannounced — "Hello, I'm Lia Haemers' son . . ."—and had a nice visit. It's getting so those Harper Woods relatives never know when a son of Lia Haemers will turn up).

A year is a long time to be away from one's family. "I realize that more now than I'm here," Ludo admits. But he had, and still has, no qualms about the duration of his stay abroad as far as his family is concerned.

"Leaving them was quite easy. Home remains: You know you're coming back. It's harder to leave your friends."

Who knows what those friends will be doing, how their lives will have changed, where they'll be, a year from now?

Who knows how Ludo will have changed?

Likes Being Involved He has no definite career plans now. He's interested in psychology, social work and social problems.

In Belgium he was involved with a group of handicapped and non-handicapped persons who came together every two weeks for a combined program. He was a member of the sub-group which planned the larger group's activities.

He'd like to be involved in something like that here.

He's interested in good literature, books about psychology and contemporary problems such as pollution, race and class tensions and sexuality.

He likes to see good, meaty movies, films that deal honestly with social and personal situations.

He loves folk music. He plays the flute. "That, (playing a musical instrument), is typical for our family."

His two oldest brothers play the piano, his psychiatrist brother the violin, his younger brother the cello.

His sister doesn't play anything. "She says there's noise enough in the house."

Afraid of Our TV He likes to be busy. "I don't watch television. Except, of course, for news programs or documentaries, or an occasional good movie. I'm a little afraid of American TV . . ."

The possibility of addiction to a passive medium seems very real when one sees how much time one's contemporaries devote to it. Ludo would rather read good books, delve into more "serious" things, meet and interact with people.

He arrived in New York August 21 and rendezvoused with the Griffins at their summer cottage in Du Bois, Pa., August 23. He arrived in The Pointe September 3, a few days before school's opening.

Ludo had a bit of language trouble at first but he's begun to think in English.

He's Articulate Now he can understand nearly everything that's said in class. Slang terms will still confound him however, and he maintains he still has a lot of difficulty in speaking, (although, as an interviewee, we'd describe him as more than adequately articulate).

To know what you want to say and then not know the precise terms in which to say it can be frustrating.

But Ludo comes from a country where a second language is a second skin. Flemish and French are Belgium's two official languages. Although the Lapauws are a Flemish-oriented family Ludo, like everyone leaving high school in Belgium, knows how to express himself in French.

He's taking French at North High, (he'd thought he'd like to try Spanish, but the class was full), and finds his fluency a help in stimulating in-class discussion.

His other North High subjects are United States History and Orchestra. Psychology and a Media course. The latter two run for one semester only: In the second semester Ludo will replace them with courses on Art of the Film and China.

"I'm really interested in the Eastern way of living and thinking, in the Eastern religions."

Schools Vary Greatly He finds school in the United States very different from school in Belgium.

"Here you can choose your classes. Here you have a daily schedule — in Belgium it's weekly, and everyone is obliged to take all the classes, about 17 different ones in all. Here you can take a maximum of six different classes."

But the six different classes meet every day at North High, whereas classes in a Belgian high school meet once or twice a week.

"Here I go to school at 8 and come home at 2 or 3. In Belgium we have our main meal at noon, so we go to school from 8 to 12, then have a two-hour break, then go back to school for two more hours, from 2 to 4."

Ludo finds North High's facilities, its audio-visuals for example, greater than those of the average Belgian high school. He finds extracurricular activities — sports teams, orchestras, drama groups et al. — more bound up with a specific school than they are in Belgium. (It's not THE swimming team. It's the NORTH HIGH swimming team).

He finds North High really big and, perhaps because of its bigness, rather claustrophobic.

Contacts Difficult "I've had a pretty hard time making contacts. There's quite a contrast between my life out of school here and my life in Belgium. I'm a little disappointed here."

"In Belgium I was really busy. Here I try to stay after school and talk with people, as I did in Belgium, but I'm still looking for something to do in my spare time, in my free afternoons, something of social significance."

Ludo could care less about hanging around. Time, he feels, is for using, not wasting.

He's a bit put off by the mentality of the young Americans with whom he's come in contact. "I'm talking about the average. I don't mean the kids in Belgium are better. But my group of friends, the people I knew in Belgium, were interested in good movies, good literature, in discussing society and the arts from a critical point of view."

Too Materialistic "Here, most teenagers seem mostly interested in motorbikes, cars, stereos. They're quite materialistic. I have had more satisfactory contacts with older people than with younger people. "But these are first impressions. I've only been here a few months. I'm still in the beginning . . ."

His weekends are pretty busy, with parties, (don't get the idea Ludo doesn't like parties — he does, he enjoys relaxing with people: he'd just like something more, too . . .), and trips. He's been to the Cider Mill, Greentown, the International Institute, the Detroit Institute of Arts.

He thinks Grosse Pointe is beautiful, comfortable — and relatively isolated. He misses the sensation of being "in" a city.

But he couldn't have picked a greater family than the Griffins, and he wouldn't give up his year in The States.

It's been both anticipated and less than he anticipated.

From Another Pointe of View

(he lectures on interpretive history of the Revolutionary Period), was one of several Revolutionary War buffs who participated in the filming of the documentary this past summer at Washington Crossing State Park.

He was in New York City last week for the film's premier showing and press conference at the Fraunces Tavern, site of Washington's Farewell Address to his Army Officers.

Mr. Petersen wasn't just "there." An accomplished percussionist, he performed upon an authentic Revolutionary War field drum at the press luncheon.

This won't be Mr. Petersen's only contribution to America's bicentennial observances. He is director of Wabash Student Industries, engaged in the manufacture of various Colonial and Early American reproductions, and is involved in bicentennial plans and programs throughout the midwest.

Another Historical Event

Accepting trunks containing family treasures, first major gift for the Detroit Historical Society's Spring '74 Attic/Antique Sale, from Miss Ethel Flinn, of Newberry place, earlier in the week were Sale chairman Mrs. R. Alexander Wrigley, of Bishop road, and Solan Weeks, director of the Detroit Historical Museum and the Historical Society's executive director.

The April Sale will be first in a series of fundraising events the Society is sponsoring to help underwrite the restoration of Fort Wayne.

The Society has made the Fort's restoration its gift to the city for the American bicentennial celebration.

Williamsburg Yule Planned

The Grosse Pointe Chapter of Women of Wayne will present a Williamsburg Christmas in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Crystal Ballroom Wednesday, November 28, at 7:30 o'clock.

A Christmas Mini-Mart will feature items from The Book Shelf, Et Cetera, Marnie Fessenden's Crewe Studio, Healy's Health Hut, The Mole Hole, Studio Girl Cosmetics and Walton-Pierce Boutique.

Mrs. Gilbert Kurop, of Dean lane, is chairman of the event. Her committee includes:
