THE NIXON ADMINISTRATION said it planned to cut gasoline production only five percent below 1972 levels and not 25 percent as its Federal Energy Office stated earlier. Copies of the proposed new fuel allocations regulations that specified a 25 percent cutback were officially released, but the error stood uncorrected for 10 hours until an administration spokesman reported the number was wrong. The reduced amount still spells hard times: Motorists may not be able to fill their tanks; homes and schools will be six degrees colder; office temperatures, 10 degrees; and the nation may have to put up with electrical brown-outs or blackouts.

Friday, December 14

THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT announced it was putting industry on a three-day work week in an attempt to cope with the country's gravest economic crisis since the 1930's depression. The crisis stems from a month-old overtime ban by 280,000 coal miners, a slowdown by locomotive engineers that has plunged the state-run railroads into chaos and the Arab oil cutbacks against Britain and other Western nations. Britain's top industrialist, Lord Keaton, said he foresees unemployment jumping to 4 or 5 million from the current 500,000.

Saturday, December 15

THE SENATE has approved a new emergency measure that would impose a 55 mile-an-hour maximum speed limit on all vehicles, including trucks and buses. The bill was approved by a voice vote and must now go on to the House where discussion on a slightly different measure has already taken place. The mandatory speed limit would go into effect within 60 days of enactment and the Department of Transportation has estimated the uniform low speed limit could save 130,000 to 165,000 barrels of gasoline a day. However fuel consumption of trucks and buses would remain much the same.

Sunday, December 16

PRESIDENT NIXON has signed legislation that puts the nation on year-round daylight savings time, beginning on January 6. Clocks will be set ahead one hour, effective at 2 a.m. and the time change will last for about two years, or until October of 1975. The President estimated the measure will save the equivalent of 150,000 barrels of oil a day during the winter. After signing the bill that puts the nation on year-round daylight savings time for the first time since World War II, he urged Congress to act swiftly on other emergency legislation before it begins Christmas recess on Friday.

Monday, December 17

GROCERY SHOPPERS have taken to the stores like never before as a result of a threatened strike by a local teamsters union. Sunday afternoon and evening saw stores all over the Detroit area jammed with shoppers stocking up in case a strike depleted supplies for the holidays. The strike, originally set for 12:01 Monday, December 17, was stayed off when Federal Judge Thomas Thornton issued a temporary injunction ordering teamsters, warehousemen and dockmen to remain at their jobs. A meeting was later to be held Monday afternoon, but picket lines went up around at least one Detroit area store. The strike had been expected to affect Kroger, Great Scott, Chatman, Wrigley and Farmer Jack chains.

Seek Vandal Who Broke Church Door

Stained Glass Window Smashed, Presumably With Butt of Gun

An unknown vandal took out his vindictiveness by smashing the front door stained-glass window of the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lake Shore road, with the butt of a .22 caliber rifle sometime between 1:30 p.m. on Sunday, December 9, and 5 p.m. on Monday, December 10. The damage was discovered by Henry Gladney, church caretaker. Farms police investigating this scandalous and malicious destruction, said they found the weapon, believed used in breaking the window, on the front steps of the church. It was identified as a Remington bolt action, Model No. 511.

The authorities said that the rifle had one spent shell in the chamber, but found an empty clip in the gun. Also at the scene, police said, they found a pocket-sized book of the New Testament, in which were written the words and an inscription stating "I've heard enough of your lies."

The stained glass, which might have been shot out, although no one heard anything unusual, could have been smashed by the butt end of the weapon. Damage was estimated at about $150, it was revealed.

Establish Fund to Honor Miss Blanche Richardson

This past summer, the buildings of Old Country Day were razed; on December 11, Miss Blanche Richardson died. It is fitting that these two events should happen in the same year, for to the many alumnae and their families the name of Miss Richardson is synonymous with that of the Grosse Pointe Country Day School.

Police Records Indicate Area Citizens Apathetic to Identification Program

To Date 659 Homeowners Have Taken Advantage of Rotarian-Donated Etchers to Mark Valuables and Personal Property

The Grosse Pointe Rotary Club donated a total of 26 electric etching machines to the various Pointe police stations for use in "The Operation Identification" program. That was back in July 1971. The purpose of "Operation Identification" is for homeowners to mark all valuables with an identification number, so that in the event their homes are burglarized, the items taken can be easily recovered and returned to their owners.

The club donated five etchers to the Park; three to The City; three to The Woods; and two to the Shores. A survey of the various police departments in the Pointe showed that only 659 homeowners have taken advantage of "Operation Identification." This has raised the eyebrows of the local authorities regarding the apathetic attitude of the population.

A survey of the Pointe law enforcement agencies revealed, that the Woods Public Safety Department recorded an even 200 homeowners have taken advantage of the program and borrowed etching instruments to mark numbers on their property. The Farms authorities have recorded 122 homeowners borrowing the tools; The Park, 110; The City, approximately 100; and the Shores, 27.

It may be, the heads of the departments said, that some of their local residents have purchased their own etchers, which are fairly inexpensive, and have marked their valuables.

Other Borrowers Not only homeowners borrow the gadgets, but they are also loaned to schools and commercial places. Even the local municipalities place identification marks on such office equipment as typewriters, adding machines and other valuable items. Too, the various police departments have taken the precaution to put numbers on their equipment. Now, with the coming of the Christmas and New Year holidays, police are hoping that citizens will wake up to the realization of the importance of using these machines. The best advice police are giving is that those using the etchers, mark their property with their driver's license numbers. The reason, it is stated, (Continued on Page 4)

Ban Lifted At Woods Parking Lot

Council Votes to Cancel Restrictions During Trial Period

The parking ban at the municipal lot on Hampton road and Mack avenue was lifted by The Woods Council on Tuesday, December 18, until the Monday, January 21, council meeting. At that time the solons will review conditions at that location and then decide whether to reinstate the ban, lift the ban entirely or continue with another trial period. This action was taken at the regular meeting Monday, December 17, by a 5-2 majority vote, (Councilmen George S. Freeman and John Sabol nixed the motion).

At that time, residents complained about "obscene language," squealing tires, the smashing of bottles "all over," harassment, drinking on public thoroughfares and the like. Two public safety officers were assigned to work overtime in that area for two weeks, (from 10:30 p.m. to 2:30 a.m.), to help curtail these reported conditions.

(In fact, resident resentment back to the regular meeting on May 15, 1972, when 17 citizens signed a petition expressing their concern over "the noise, littering, obscene language and other incidents" which they said took place at the lot).

At the December 17 meeting, William H. Palm of the Lochmoor Lounge asked the council to reconsider the ban, especially during the winter months. Mr. Palm felt the overall situation had improved in that area. In a letter to Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos, Mr. Palm said, "This past summer, it was the decision of the council to close the lot at 11 p.m. nightly. This decision was made based upon complaints received from the adjoining property owners." (Continued on Page 2)

Parents at Kerby Continue Battle Over Class Size

Delegation Again Appears Before Board to Demand Hiring of Another Teacher for Second Grade Pupils

By Kathy Duff
Kerby parents were at it again at the Monday night, December 10, School Board meeting. Parents of second graders were concerned over the number of students in the classes, since each class has 33 students.

It was the second time a delegation of Kerby parents appeared before the Board to ask the hiring of an additional teacher, Mrs. John D'Alessandro, of Tonnacour place, has vowed to continue her fight until another teacher is added.

The demands made by the group echoed those made at the Monday, October 22, meeting. The group feels that no matter how good the two teachers, their children are being cheated of a quality education because of class size. They feel that the situation is only partly alleviated by the addition of a teacher's aide who assists the teacher in the classroom.

Monday night meeting was heated and they personally attacked the integrity of the Board members. When Trustee William Huettemer made a light remark in the midst of his statement that the quality of education had not dropped drastically in the last decade, one woman called out, "That's right, make a BIG joke out of it." Other parents said that the Board had both a "patronizing" and "admonishing" attitude towards citizens who delve into school matters.

Besides discussing the class size at Kerby, the parents commented on the quality of education in the Pointe. It was the consensus that the educational standards in Grosse Pointe had dropped drastically in the last decade, and that the Kerby parents had just discovered this in their recent research. A few people said that they were sure millages would pass if the voters knew what bad strains the school system had in it.

Superintendent Theos I. Anderson attempted to answer their main concern, the student-teacher ratio. He said that they believed Grosse Pointe had an excellent staff of teachers, one of the best paid in the state, and that he was certain that they delivered a high quality of education in the classroom. He suggested to the parents that they could not judge an entire school system on the basis of student-teacher ratios or other comparative statistical data.

Board President Robert D. Warner defended the Board against the charge that it had let school standards slip. "You do not need to encourage this Board to be (Continued on Page 6)

Barnes Students Collect Gifts for Foster Children

Fight Over Proposal Continues

Council Hears Residents' Arguments; Plan Meetings

By Roger A. Waha
The Woods' proposed ordinance to provide for the regulation of the outside storage of boats, various trailers, (boat, utility, travel, house), and other recreational equipment, which has been under study for around one and a half years, will receive further scrutiny from the council and interested citizens.

For the solons at the regular meeting Monday, December 17, unanimously referred the measure to the Committee of the Whole for further study, and authorized Councilman Ronald R. Keegen, Parks and Recreation Committee chairman, to meet with concerned citizens and explore ways to improve upon the measure so resident complaints can be alleviated.

Councilman Rodger A. Graef appeared to sum up the situation best after the solons heard over a half dozen of the estimated 90-100 citizens in attendance. To Hold Meeting The councilman said, "We should avail ourselves of the talent, (referring to those residents who apparently are knowledgeable of, and interested in, recreational equipment and the law), in an attempt to develop a justifiable and meaningful ordinance for enactment sometime in the spring."

Mr. Keegen said he planned to meet with some citizens, including William W. Wilson and Cal Sandberg who were instrumental in forming the "Grosse Pointe Woods Recreational Vehicle Owners Association," next week so the ball can start rolling. This association, which was finalized Thursday, December 13, is for residents interested in getting together for camping, picnics and other recreational outings. Needless to say, all members are extremely concerned over the proposed ordinance.

In fact, the association's membership grew throughout the meeting as numerous residents signed up. By the time discussion of the measure was concluded, over 70 people had joined.

"Minus" Points City Attorney George Catlin, who said he received some letters and calls from citizens after the ordinance was published in the NEWS, began the discussion by citing some apparent "minus" points which concerned some residents.

"One matter is that the proposed ordinance has no appeal mechanism in reference to a hardship case," said Mr. Catlin. "Perhaps the council would want such a provision inserted."

A second point focused upon was the green barrier, (bushes, shrubs or trees), which would be maintained to shield a stored unit from view from the rear and both sides. "We don't discuss what is consists of in height and width. We could improve upon this," said Mr. Catlin.

And as for its legality based upon court decisions around the country, Mr. Catlin said, regarding restrictions on users and public safety aspects, that this point would depend upon specific court cases, which could go both ways based upon other decisions.

Willing to Help After Mr. Catlin discussed these points, Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos opened the floor to the residents. He asked for anyone to speak who could help the council to amend the measure in a useful way. And various citizens were most willing to help.

Mr. Wilson mentioned some points he felt should be covered more closely. One was a safety factor regarding the storage of flammable liquids in motor homes, (that this should be included), and the other was on precise defini- (Continued on Page 2)

Fight Over Woods' Boat Storage Law Continues

(Continued from Page 1) fions of parking and storage, e.g., parking, unlike storage, would mean he could move such equipment. (Mr. Wilson and the newly formed association will be holding a meeting in the very near future. After the first of the year, Mr. Keigen said he hopes to meet with all interested parties).

Dr. William H. Jevons said, "The main objective is to modify the ordinance so we all can live with it." He stated certain vehicles used for mobile living were not covered in the measure.

Too Rigid The doctor felt the location of the vehicle, as specified in the ordinance, was too rigid. (The measure says that "no such unit shall be stored within 10 feet of any dwelling or residential building nor within five feet of the side and rear lot lines and such units, when stored, shall not exceed the maximum permitted lot coverage under existing zoning ordinances applicable to such residential area").

Dr. Jevons also said the dimensions of the green barrier should be defined, along with the method of measuring the length of a boat, (from front to back, around the waterline?)

Mr. Sandberg said the city should circumvent legal questions, ("most laws are challenged by those who are unhappy"), by drafting an ordinance that is satisfactory to mostly everyone.

Inform People He also stated that it would be hard to comply with the green barrier specification during the winter, and would deny an owner to have a recreational vehicle on his property.

He suggested the council table action on the measure and appoint Mr. Wilson as chairman of an ad hoc committee, where members would take the ordinance to those in the community who are unaware of it, and find out which sections might cause undue hardship.

A Hidden lane citizen called the measure, "the most restrictive ordinance he's ever seen," and felt it was based on aesthetics.

Then, a North Brys drive resident stated the section limiting the length of a boat to 21 feet and a motorized home to 23 feet was discriminatory to boat owners.

"Eroding Freedom" A Stanhope road citizen said there are facilities for storing boats at various marinas in the Detroit area but no facilities for storing recreational vehicles. "This may force some people to sell their recreational vehicles. I'm talking in a real sense about the possibility of eroding some personal freedom."

An Anita avenue resident objected to the $5 inspection fee and called it "ridiculous." The ordinance notes that a $5 fee will be paid to the city by the property owner upon issuance of a Storage Site Approval Certificate.

Then, a Roslyn road citizen stressed the "enormous variety" of recreational vehicles, plus the "tremendous variety" in the layouts of lots, houses, et. al., in the city. "The ordinance departmentalizes all this," he said.

Instead, the man stated the measure should be written where recreational vehicles or boats could be stored in a "less obtrusive manner as possible." Some citizens agreed as they showered applause after he spoke.

Review Actions William Turnbull, former commodore of The Woods Boat Club, said he was involved in the initial council meeting last summer when this item first came up. "The problem the council has is to come up with an ordinance which is fairest to most."

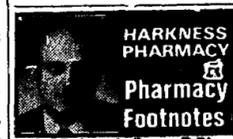

He recalled that around four meetings were held with the citizens' committee which was formed at that time to iron out problems. Mr. Turnbull said a "big goose egg" came from the meetings and felt if the council wanted another committee, the same result could happen. Councilman George S. Freeman, who chaired this citizens' advisory committee, reviewed what transpired. He said some meetings were held, suggestions were made and additional changes were made in the ordinance. The committee ultimately disbanded and the information was given to the Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Freeman noted that the committee did not approve of the ordinance as such. A copy of the measure was sent to The Woods Boat Club for their suggestions, and they said, according to Mr. Freeman, that they "could live with it." Then it came from the C-W to the council.

And now its back to the C-W.

Many people believe that tuberculosis has been conquered because the death rate has fallen to a low level. It is true that fewer people are dying of this disease than ever before, but the tuberculosis problem still exists. These are about 50,000 new cases in the United States each year. The most effective way to fight tuberculosis is through the use of tuberculin skin tests and chest X rays.

Ban Lifted at Parking Lot

"Granted, there were some incidents of excessive noise by young people in the lot, but these were mainly transients, which have since moved on and no longer stop at the Lochmoor Lounge."

"The breaking of bottles in the lot by the local property owners (verified by the Police Department), and the threat to us for trying to clear it up by these property owners, is not my interpretation of a good citizen."

"Further, one who reports a policeman for not writing a ticket after 11 p.m. without knowing the facts, or one who calls and reports their own postman to his superiors for stopping in the Lochmoor, in my opinion, is trying to cause undue trouble."

Safety Factors Mr. Palm felt he and his father, Harold, have been "unduly discriminated upon." He said "if a thorough investigation was made of the complaints, the lot would not have been closed in the first place."

He said reconsideration of the ban "would make sense to get parking off the streets during the hazardous winter months, if for no other reason than human safety. With the ban many people will be getting into cars and walking across slippery streets, which they otherwise would avoid and cause less conflict with traffic. Further, as I previously stated, the noisy transient youth group no longer frequents the Lochmoor Lounge."

Cooperating At the council he told the council that some neighbors have "accused us of selling dope to kids" which hurt him deeply. In fact, on one occasion he said a youth was caught selling pills, was grabbed and thrust from the lounge. "If anything, we are trying to cooperate," he said.

"We try to work with the police through checking ID's, and we stop-d our entertainment," stressed Mr. Palm, who added, "I police the lot as much as your police officers."

And as for complaints of litter on the lot, he said, it's not only that lot which has litter, but all lots in the city.

Mr. Palm stated, "All these things have reflected upon us as a business and as individuals, and it has hurt us."

Check Situation Councilman Conrad A. Naegel said he felt a great deal of the problem in that area had been rectified. He moved that the council approve a 30-day trial period where the lot would be open for 24 hours like other municipal parking lots. This period would give the council an opportunity to see what kind of problems may or may not develop, he said.

Mr. Naegel ultimately amended his motion to the January 21 date which extended the lifting of the ban to 35 days, (as of December 18).

Mr. Freeman said he voted "no" because he would have liked to have a Public Safety Department report on this matter before he voted. Mr. Sabol stated he voted "no" because of the different weather conditions involved regarding noise levels, i.e., in warmer weather, windows, for instance, would be open and noise would be more pronounced than during the winter.

Awaits Trial For Assault

An 18-year-old Roseville youth who is charged with assault with intent to rob and steal while armed, was arraigned in Macomb County Circuit Court Friday, December 7, Shores police said.

John Anthony Durso is out on $2,000 personal bond, and is now awaiting trial; however, no trial date has been set as yet, police added.

He was arrested Saturday evening, October 20, by Woods police in the area of Jefferson and Westbury drive, St. Clair Shores, after GP Shores police had broadcast a description of the suspect over the radio.

Police said Durso, after entering a Fairlake lane residence, (located in Macomb County), pulled a pair of scissors on two complainants in an apparent robbery attempt. The suspect left the home after one of the complainants picked up a pair of scissors from a table. At that time, he said it was a joke before walking to the front door and leaving, police reported.

Farms Council Holds Meeting

The Farms council on Monday, December 17, approved expenditures totalling approximately $17,400 for general liability and fire insurance and a donation to Grosse Pointe Farms Baseball, Incorporated.

The council had recently accepted the low bid of Michigan Mutual Liability company for a blanket insurance coverage in the amount of $13,500 for a period of three years.

Carroll Lock, city controller and assistant city manager, who was in attendance at the council session in the absence of vacationing City Manager Andrew Bremer, Jr., informed the solons that there had been a misunderstanding in the acceptance of the specifications and recommended that the city body accept an umbrella clause which would give the city fuller coverage. The additional premium amounts to $5,850, making the total premium for the next three years, $19,350, or $6,450 a year.

Lock asked for and received the authority to extend the Farms' fire insurance for an additional year with the Johnson and Higgins Insurance company. The contract still had two years to run and the assistant city manager said it would be to the advantage of the city to accept the extension at the same premium rate offered when the bid was first given out, about $7,000. The total premium for the three years amounts to about $21,000, in round figures, Lock said.

The council also authorized John DeFoe, public service director to proceed with a city-wide tree trimming program, under contract with Shock Brothers, on a time and material basis, at a cost of $12 per man hour. The firm will trim, elevate and cut limbs, with the Farms' Department of Public Works personnel taking care of all the chipping and hauling, using city-owned equipment.

Lock told the council that this program will not cost more than $4,000, which is the full amount budgeted for the fiscal year 1973-74. Expressing its willingness to cooperate with Grosse Pointe Farms Baseball, Incorporated, the solons granted the organization the sum of $550 as the city's share in the purchase of sod to resurface the major league diamond at Kerby Field.

In other business, the council agreed to accept, without reservations, the arbitration award reached by an arbitration panel, which granted the city's patrolmen a $1,000 a year raise, plus other fringe benefits. The acceptance was recommended by the city manager.

Bremer also recommended that the solons accept a negotiated settlement with the Grosse Pointe Farms Police Command Officers Association, wherein, the lieutenant receives 25 percent more above a patrolman's pay; sergeants get 14 1/4 percent and corporals, 8 1/2 percent.

WSU Professor Does Research

Wedgewood drive resident Dr. Donald Birmingham, who is professor and chairman of dermatology at Wayne State University, is trying to find out what really happens to the skin of an industrial worker who develops a rash, or the housewife who gets chapped hands.

According to Dr. Birmingham, the first step toward finding an answer requires the asking of more intelligent and appropriate questions. To come up with those questions, and finally, some conclusive answers, Dr. Birmingham and his assistant, Dr. Hermann Pinkus, also a professor of dermatology, are studying skin damage and its healing process through an electron microscope that can magnify the skin hundreds of times.

The research calls for study of skin damage by substances commonly found around the house, such as toilet bowl cleaner, lye and kerosene. It is also concerned with industrial products, many of which have an acid base. Alkaline and acid substances cause changes in the skin structure quickly and are visible through the microscope from 15 minutes to two hours later.

The team has found that some of the solvents not only dissolve oily substances on the skin's surface layers, but more importantly, they damage living cells under the protective coat. Ultimately, the doctors hope to develop skin applicants that provide better protection.

Dr. Birmingham came to WSU in 1964 after retiring as dermatology section chief in the Occupational Research and Training Facility of the U.S. Public Health Service in Cincinnati, O. He received his medical degree from St. Louis University School of Medicine in 1940 and interned at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Youngstown, O.

Meetings Probe School System

A new series of informational meetings open to the public has been announced by the Grosse Pointe Board of Education as part of its year-long program of improved communications between the school system and its many publics.

The first in the series, entitled "The Middle School Program," was set for 8 p.m. on Monday, December 17, in the Board Room at 389 St. Clair avenue.

Featured speakers at the initial meeting were the administrators of Brownell, Parcels and Pierce Middle Schools. They outlined their respective programs and discussed current problems and the long-range prospects for intermediate education in the Grosse Pointe school district.

Other subjects to be discussed at the Monday night meetings include: Department of Personnel, January 21; High School Program, January 28; Elementary Program, February 4; Administrative Services, February 18; Guidance Services, March 4; Pupil Personnel Services, March 18; and Public Library, March 25. All meetings will be held at 8 p.m. in the Board Room at 389 St. Clair avenue. Attending the meetings, besides interested citizens and staff members will be trustees of the Board of Education.

Board Passes Guidelines For Volunteer Program

Guidelines for adult volunteers were passed unanimously by the trustees at the last School Board meeting, Monday night, December 10.

Adult volunteers have long played a vital part in the school system. They serve as library aides, special secretaries and clinic staffers, among many other critical services. The new guidelines, as Assistant Superintendent Joseph Spagnoli said at the meeting, are "an attempt to standardize the use of volunteers within the schools".

One woman at the meeting asked if the volunteer program was created to phase out the professional staff. She was quickly assured that it was not, that volunteers are used strictly to supplement the teaching of professionals. Any resident having any questions on the new program may read a copy of the 12-page guidelines at the school system's central office, 389 St. Clair, or at a local school.

The guidelines are an outgrowth of discussions with citizens, school administrators and teachers on the proper role of a volunteer within the school system. The final recommendations were written by Dr. Spagnoli after receiving approval from the Grosse Pointe Education Association and the Professional Study Committee (teachers and administrators).

The guidelines say volunteers will be used "To make it possible for professional staff to use their skill and education more effectively and efficiently by utilizing the services of adult volunteers". Adult volunteers will be sought for their special skills or to perform particular assignments in the schools. Mothers often help prepare stencils, bulletin boards or stand in for school secretaries on lunch breaks. All volunteers will work under the direction of a school person such as the principal, teacher, librarian, counselor or other professional staff. A volunteer is never a substitute for a member of the school staff, but one supplying supplemental and support services.

The more closely you follow the manufacturers suggestion of greasing and changing the oil and oil filter on your car, the better and longer it will run. It turns out that a multi-viscosity oil is better and safer than a single-grade oil. This will flow freely no matter what the temperature. Hard starting in winter is many times caused by the use of the wrong grade oil. Wash the vent cap on top of the oil filter neck every 5,000 miles in kerosene, then squirt oil over it.

 that license numbers be etched on all items of value, including television sets, radios, and all furniture, as well as other valuable properties, is that in the event a burglar is apprehended and has the items in his possession, legal owners can be traced within minutes by officers calling into the station. The number is sent to Lansing over the Law Enforcement Information Network machine (LEIN) and immediately the license number is identified to the owner.

SS Takes Longer
 Property owners can etch their Social Security numbers on their valuables, but it would take time to properly identify the ownership because the number would have to be sent to and come from Washington by written message.

To those people who do not drive, or have no operator's licenses, the authorities suggest that they make up their own secret numbers, or use the Social Security numbers, if they must. If the items are stolen, give the police a description of the stolen goods and the numbers on them, so that if and when recovered, the numbers are proof of ownership.

Mark Car Wheels
 You can even etch numbers on your car's spare tire and wheel, as well as on the other wheels of the auto. Place the etched number on the inside of the rims, where it cannot easily be seen. If you borrow the etchers, police of your respective departments will be more than glad to advise you on their use and where to best place the numbers.

Along with the loan of the machines, the borrower receives a number of stickers, which can be attached to the inside of house door glass or window panes, and even on cars, with a warning that all items of value have been marked for quick identification by law enforcement agencies.

Also Have Stickers
 Police said that the warning stickers tend to make the burglar, or burglars, think twice before they break into a house, or garage, knowing that all items have been marked. The police of the Pointes are asking you to help them to help you. Stop in and borrow an etcher. All you do is sign for one and when finished, return it. It is worth a few hours of your time to etch your number on valuables, appliances, furniture, lawn mowers, snow blowers, tools, bicycles, or what have you. The etchers are very easy to use.

Theater Having 'Pointe Night'
 Through the efforts of the enterprising English Department of Grosse Pointe South High School, students, staff, parents, and friends of the schools may attend a unique theater performance on Wednesday, January 16.

Mrs. Alma Fleming, chairman of the English Department, has announced that January 16 will be "Grosse Pointe Night" for a performance of Arthur Miller's "The Crucible" at the Hilberry Class Theater.

Tickets are available in the English Resource Center, room 235 at South. Seekers of early reservations will be entitled to a discount on the $2 tickets.

Following the 8 p.m. performance, an unusual feature of the evening will be an opportunity for the Grosse Pointe group to talk with the members of the company of Wayne State's graduate repertory theater.

Mrs. Fleming says that bus service to and from South High to the theater could be provided at extra charge the evening of the performance if the demand is sufficient.

The plan to schedule a "Grosse Pointe Night" at the Hilberry was an outgrowth of the study of the Arthur Miller play by students of American literature at South. Further information on the unique educational experience may be obtained from Mrs. Fleming at South High School, 884-3200.

Lions Clubs' Goodfellow Sales Fall Short of Goals

While the Grosse Pointe Lions and Woods Lions Clubs fell short of their Goodfellow newspaper sale goals, both are, nonetheless, pleased with the results.

The sales were conducted Monday, December 10, in an effort to raise funds for the various Lion projects to aid the blind.

GP Lions, whose goal was $7,500, obtained an estimated $4,900 in street sales, and with more money still arriving, the total could be between $5,400 to $5,600, said Walter H. Breyer, Mr. Breyer and Hank Van Eckoute assisted Nick J. Leto, sale chairman.

Meanwhile, Woods Lions set a goal of $3,500, and according to Robert Carver, sale chairman, received an estimated $2,500 in donations.

Mr. Breyer reported that GP Lions will distribute some 45-50 Christmas baskets in the community, although the final number hasn't been decided upon. The specific number of Christmas baskets which will be distributed by Woods Lions also remains undecided.

Woods Lions report that $200 will be sent to the Detroit Goodfellows Organization and to the Lutheran School for the Deaf. The balance of donations, after costs, will be allocated for the following groups and activities:

Leader Dogs for the Blind; Welcome Home for the Blind, a Grand Rapids home for elderly blind persons from all over the State; The Woods Bicycle Safety Program; The Woods Little League; the Penrickton Center, Taylor Township, where pre-school children who have other physical handicaps are taught ways to lead as normal lives as possible.

Other Woods Lions donations will go to the White Cane Project, towards eyeglasses for the less fortunate in the Pointe area and to the Salvation Army.

GP Lions contribute to such organizations as The Grosse Pointe War Memorial, the Michigan Lions Eye Bank, Boy Scouts of America, CARE, the White Cane Project, Leader Dogs for the Blind, Welcome Home for the Blind, the Penrickton Center and for glasses, examinations and operations for Pointe needy.

Mr. Carver said he was "reasonably satisfied" with the sale and stressed the chilly weather conditions and seasonal economic factors in this regard. He said 22 individuals braved the cold weather to "hawk" their wares on street corners.

While noting a few people were not as generous as in the past, Mr. Carver said some potential contributors were lost due to the traffic situation, i.e. before a "good-fellow" could collect a donation, the light changed and away the driver went.

Gives Reason For Icy Walks

Grosse Pointe City Manager Thomas Kressbach was concerned that some residents may feel the City is being negligent in its snow removal program and he assured the Grosse Pointe City Council at its regular meeting on Monday, December 17, that this was not the case.

"We were trapped by the weatherman," Mr. Kressbach explained, referring to the amount of snow and ice that remained on City walks by the time the snow stopped falling on Monday. "The snow began on Friday, December 14, just before dinnertime," he continued, "and it was wet snow that didn't really stick to the walks."

But, the snow continued falling throughout the night, and the temperature dropped along with it. As a result, the next morning, the walks were too icy for the removal crew to properly get off the accumulated snow.

"Some residents may complain to you about how icy the walks are," Mr. Kressbach told the City Council.

Austin Hosts Former Mayor

Austin Prep School played host to former mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh on Thursday, December 13. Mr. Cavanagh spoke to the student body at an assembly sponsored by Austin's Political Awareness Club.

Club moderator and social studies teacher John Pazzanese introduced Mr. Cavanagh to the faculty, guests and students. Striking a hopeful note, the former mayor told students they were the leaders of the future and urged them to participate in their government and become informed citizens.

SPORTS FANS! I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Although more and more people are discovering and playing paddle tennis these days, it's really quite an old game. It was invented after World War I to provide children with the sediments of lawn tennis. The first tournament was played in New York City in 1924.

I bet you don't know what college football team has scored the most points in one season. It was Harvard with 765 points, but they had to pick on Prep Schools to do it. They demolished Exeter 158-0 and routed Andover 86-0 in 1886.

Now that the 1973 All American Team selections have been announced in the newspapers and on the radio, have you ever wondered what players would be on the All Time All American Football Team. What do you think of these selections? End—Frank Hinkley — Yale; End — Harold Muller — California; Tackle — Wilbur Henry — Washington & Jefferson; Tackle — Dick Wildung — Minnesota; Guard — William Heffelfinger — Yale; Guard — T. Truxton Hale — Pennsylvania; Center — Adolph Schultz — Michigan; Back — Bronco Nagurski — Minnesota; Back — James Thorp — Carlisle; Back — Harold (Red) Grange — Illinois; Back — Ernie Nevers — Stanford.

Testy Driver Kicks in Door

A disgruntled driver whose auto was the recipient of an errant snowball kicked in the bottom panel of a resident's front door Thursday evening, December 13.

The Hollywood avenue citizen told Woods police his son and another boy were having a snowball fight in his front yard when, by accident, a snowball hit a passing auto.

After exiting the vehicle, the driver ran up to the door and smashed the panel, causing an estimated $20 damage. He then returned to the car and drove away.

The man was described as a white male, between 20 and 23 years of age and wearing a large hat. His auto was described as a dark blue two-door Chevy, possibly a 1964.

Interact Hosts Charity Party on Dec. 19

To make the Christmas holidays more memorable, the Interact Club of Grosse Pointe North provided a Christmas party for underprivileged children at the Opportunity House in Detroit. The 32 children, ages three to four, will probably have no Christmas other than the party on December 19.

It is Interact's second year to give a Christmas party at the Opportunity House. Last year's party was so rewarding to all of the members that they wanted to return again this year and make the party even more fun for the children.

During the party, Santa Claus, (Phil Guastella), arrived with lots of presents for all of the kids. He was assisted by Christmas Carol, (Sandy Adamo).

Interact has been sponsoring bagel sales and a candy sucker sale to help provide presents. They also held a toy drive to collect more gifts. Along with receiving their presents, the children were served ice cream, punch, cookies galore and, of course, candy canes.

Again this year, Interact members played with the children and their new toys since the children seemed to enjoy it almost as much as Santa Claus' arrival last year.

Going to the party along with Interact members were their school sponsor, Paul Pierron; Mrs. Louise Tewalt, FLEC sponsor; and Fred Ollison, their new sponsor from Rotary Club.

All of the Interact members have found that sharing Christmas with others makes it more meaningful.

Club Introduces New Activities

Friday Fun Night will be for third through sixth grades at Brownell Middle School, beginning January 11 through March 22. Between the hours of 7:30 p.m. and 9 p.m., activities such as games, relays, square dancing and gym fun will be offered. Admission fee for members is 50 cents and non-members $1.

Gym activities for women will be offered Tuesday nights at Defer School. The class is designed for women wanting planned exercise and gym activities. The starting date is January 15 through March 19 from 7:30-8:30 p.m. The fee is $15 plus a $5 Neighborhood Club membership card.

Self Defense is another adult activity for women. It meets on Wednesday nights at North High School. Girls 16 and up should register soon for the class. The fee is $15 plus membership for the class which begins January 9 and ends April 3.

For further information, call the Club at 885-4600.

Battle Over Class Sizes

up the school system," he said. "You can just look at our record the past year. You are looking at a Board which has improved the student-teacher ratio, and we are constantly trying to restore many of the programs which were cut with millage defeats. This Board has done a lot to restore quality in the school system."

Pleas Is Regarded
Mr. Huettelman said that the trustees, school administrators and millage volunteers try to inform the residents of the exact situation in the schools every time there is a millage election, but that some residents still vote down millage requests.

The NEWS discussed the situation with Richard Kay, principal of Kerby School, the following day. Mr. Kay said that he had had two meetings with the Kerby parents to discuss class size.

"At the beginning of the year we received more pupils than we had expected. However, class size was more critical in the third and fourth grade, so when we received another teacher, we made up a split section of third and fourth graders.

"As far as the second grade, besides two excellent teachers, it has a full-time teacher's aide. We have also given the grade another classroom to use.

"Before I came to Kerby as principal this year, I was on the school administration staff, and before that, principal of Richard from 1962 to 1964. Of course, I notice a change in services. We have only a half day from the educational resources teacher, we no longer have any special art teachers or foreign language teachers. Less music is taught in the elementary schools and there is no longer a school nurse.

Teachers Excellent
"However, the most important services we have maintained, and that is the classroom teacher. They are still excellent teachers and some of the best paid in this part of the country. It's really damaging to say that our students are getting short-changed, because they are not."

Parents have complained that there are 16 remedial readers in the two second grade classes. Mr. Kay said that more second graders were assigned to the special class to relieve the classload. He said that they would not be receiving the special attention if the second grade were an average size.

The Kerby situation is not unique as there are over 15 elementary school classrooms with 33 or more students. Lawrence F. Kennedy, assistant superintendent, personnel, has said if another teacher is assigned to the Kerby second grade, resulting in three classes of around 22 students, all the large classes would have to receive an additional teacher. He said that the budget could not absorb the costs.

Speeder Faces Double Trouble

Jay S. Eder, 20, of 2900 Alter road, Detroit, was arraigned for examination yesterday, December 19, before Park Municipal Judge William E. Speer, on a warrant charging him with possession intent to deliver suspected marijuana. He had been held in the Park local cell under $5,000 bond since his arrest on Sunday, December 9.

According to information released by Park Lt. Gordon Duncan on Monday, December 17, Eder was stopped by Sgt. Bobby McAlister and Patrolman David Hiller at 9:15 p.m. on the December 9 date, for speeding 35 miles an hour in a 25 mile-zone in the 1400 block of Wayburn.

On being stopped, the lieutenant said, Eder volunteered the information that he was driving on a suspended operator's license and was promptly placed under arrest and taken to the station.

In a custodial search, the officers looked through a green vinyl attache case, in which they found nine bags of suspected marijuana. Also, in searching Eder, it was said, McAlister and Hiller found a brown suede pouch, containing cigaret papers, a lighter and nine rolled suspected marijuana cigs, and a small bag of suspected marijuana.

A warrant charging Eder with possession with intent to deliver was approved by the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office. If convicted of the charge, a felony, Eder can receive up to four years in prison.

Eder's troubles are not over, Lt. Duncan said. The man still must appear in municipal court on January 16, on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while his license was suspended.

Extra care in engineering...it makes a big difference in small cars.

Where's the only place in town to find a small car that...

1. ...is priced less than Volkswagen's most popular model.

You'll be surprised how little it costs to own one of our small cars. The suggested retail price is less* than Volkswagen's most popular model, believe it or not.

2. ...can go farther on a gallon of gas than Nova.

Recently published test results by Popular Science show our "Slant Six" engine can go farther on a gallon of gas than Nova, and you get a "Slant Six" engine standard in all our small cars, which means you can get more miles per gallon than comparable size small cars like Maverick, Comet, Ventura and Apollo.

3. ...has more trunk space than 3 Pintos.

Plymouth Duster and Dodge Dart Sport have the largest luggage capacity by far in the small car field. More than Nova and Maverick, twice as much as Vega and more than three times as much as Pinto.

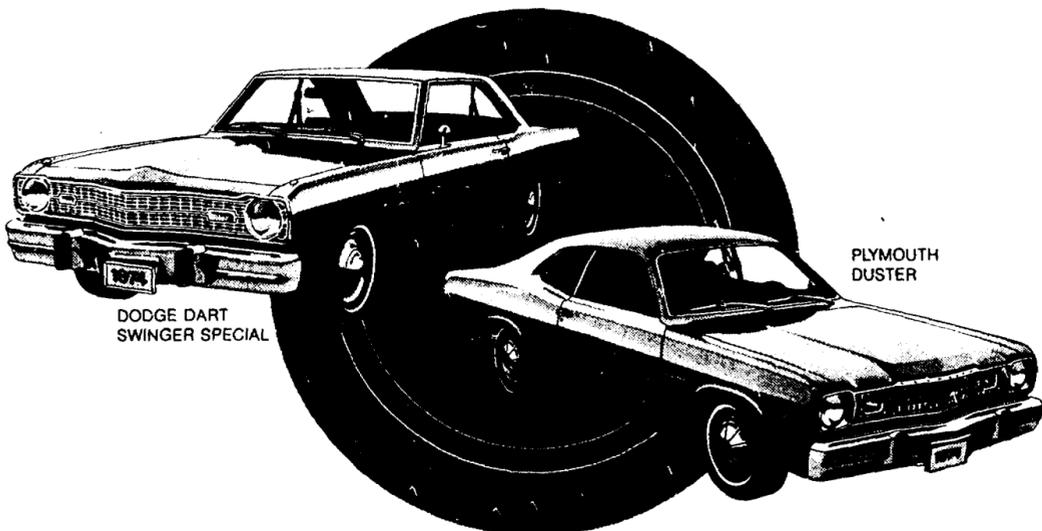

4. ...has up to 20" more total hiproom than a Maverick.

Dart Sport and Duster seat 5 comfortably. And they have more hiproom—front and rear—than Nova, Hornet and, of course, Mustang II, Gremlin, Vega and Pinto.

5. ...can save you as much as $62 in ignition maintenance alone.

Electronic Ignition is standard on all our small cars. In recommended ignition maintenance alone, you can save up to $62 every 24,000 miles over competitive 6-cylinder engines and up to $27 over competitive 4-cylinder engines.†

Study and Action Group Plans to Lobby in Lansing

The Grosse Pointe Study and Action Committee for Education, a legislative group financed and sponsored by the Grosse Pointe PTA Council, has announced preliminary plans for the 1973-74 year. These include making trips to Lansing to provide citizen input on legislative issues of the day, as well as informing local citizens of legislative matters.

Co-Chairpersons of the Study and Action Committee for 1973-74 are Mrs. Douglas Graham, Mrs. Richard Mills and John R. Cobau.

This year the group plans to hold no formal public meetings, but is working actively to recruit interested community residents to express themselves by letter or telegram, and in maintaining an active liaison with Lansing.

The group expects also to concentrate on study sessions involving only those who are truly interested in some phase of the legislative process as it affects the schools and libraries. Depending on the interest shown, study sessions could be organized around these areas of interest: (1) curriculum; (2) educational financing; (3) labor legislation.

Each of the district's PTA and PTO parent club groups has been invited to name a delegate to the Grosse Pointe Study and Action Committee.

The committee will work closely with Mrs. George Magnielse, legislative chairman of the Board of Education, and Dr. George Eddington, of the staff of the school system.

The members of the Grosse Pointe Study and Action Committee for Education are attempting currently to respond to a recent request from Senator Charles Zollar and Representative Dale Kildee, co-chairmen of the legislative Education Task Force, for input on various issues facing public education in Michigan. At the moment discussion centers on the collective bargaining process as it relates to the K-12 education community.

In a recent executive session, the leaders of the local group discussed the State Board of Education's Legislative Program for 1974, slated for introduction in the Legislature in mid-January. The group will maintain liaison with the State Board and will attend some of its meetings.

To date, members of the Study and Action Committee's Lansing Observers' Corps have made two trips to Lansing. The first, in mid-October, was for the purpose of contacting legislators. The second, in late November, was to attend a public meeting of the Legislative Education Task Force.

Since its inception in the winter of 1971, the local group has been involved in a number of activities, with its leaders appearing before legislative subcommittees in both Lansing and Washington.

During the 1972-73 school year, the Study and Action Committee played a major community role in the dissemination of information about the busing issue. The group also drafted resolutions which were presented to the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers last spring. Topics covered were financial reform, criteria for allocation of financial aid to school districts, local control of schools, deficit financing, state income tax, enrichment of local programs, financing of public libraries, the property tax suit, retention of the neighborhood concept.

Thieves Enter City Home

Grosse Pointe City police responded to a phoned report of a breaking and entering on Wednesday, December 12, at a Lincoln road home whose residents were away on a trip to South America.

When police went to the home at 917 Lincoln road, they found it completely disarranged. Bedroom dressers, nightstands and closets had been ransacked. And downstairs, books were scattered in the sunroom and shades were found crushed on the living room floor.

Known to be missing at this time are two television sets, a stereo and a statue of unknown value. Two silver lamps were removed from the living room and left just inside the rear door of the home. Police also found two empty camera cases and a woman's ring on a couch in the sunroom.

The phoned report came at 6:41 p.m. and was made by a Detroit resident who was looking after the houseplants while the residents are away. He told police that the house had been left dark with the shades drawn in the master-bedroom.

After some checking around, police found that the thief or thieves gained entry by breaking the glass in the back door and reaching inside to unlock it. Police also spoke with neighbors who said they had seen and heard nothing. A search for footprints in the area proved fruitless.

Dismiss Larceny Charge Against Vacation Travel

The charge of larceny by conversion over $100 against Vacation Travel Incorporated, formerly of 20930 Mack avenue, was dismissed by Woods Municipal Judge J. Patrick Denis at the agency's examination Wednesday, December 12.

Police reported after hearing the testimony the people were able to present, Judge Denis found there was insufficient evidence to bind the corporation over to Wayne County Circuit Court.

A key witness for the prosecution, a representative of Nordair, Montreal, Quebec, failed to appear; all efforts to have one of the Nordair members come were without success, police added. No further action is anticipated at this time as possible prosecution without the testimony of a Nordair representative would be futile, officers said.

Vacation Travel has gone out of business, and filed for bankruptcy in U.S. District Court.

This matter came to the attention of Woods police on August 4 when 25 people were found milling in front of Vacation Travel's office.

At that time, the group told police they were all booked for a charter flight on an airline out of Windsor on August 2 but were informed by Vacation Travel the flight would leave on the 4th instead. Then on August 3, they were told the flight, which was to terminate at Ostend, Belgium, was cancelled.

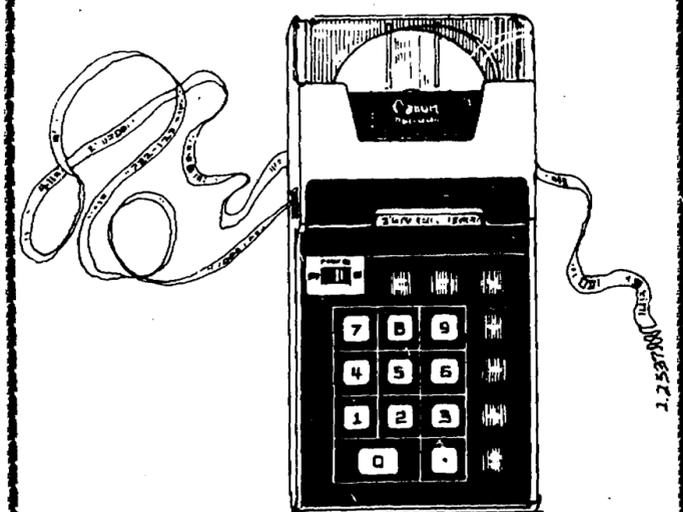

They informed police, when they called for refunds, the phones were busy and finally out of order. When the group arrived at the office the morning of the 4th, they found it closed.

The Woods Department of Public Safety had been flooded with calls from individuals filing complaints against Vacation Travel. Since early August through early October, police estimated over 100 individual complaints had been received.

Officers estimated over 600 individuals, including student tours, were involved in this matter dealing with trips to the Bahamas and Europe. Police added Vacation Travel did place the student tours somewhere else.

The agency's continuous examination began November 14, was adjourned to November 21 and was then adjourned to December 12.

 On a visit to the school Monday morning, December 17, the children could not say enough about the project. In the individual classrooms, brightly wrapped presents were stacked in corners besides Christmas trees, and all the children wanted to say what they had bought.
 In Theresa Schmidt's sixth grade class, one boy had bought a yo-yo for his gift, another girl had bought a little sewing kit. Asking how many of them had earned money for their gift, instead of asking their parents, nearly 100 percent of the hands shot up.
 The boys admitted that it had been a great week for snow shoveling, and so they earned their money that way. Another boy said that he had walked dogs, and a girl said that she had vacuumed the whole house.
 Mrs. West spoke before Barnes classes after the project was announced. She said that she was amazed how quickly the children grasped the foster care problem, how the children were placed in foster homes until their own home situation normalized.
 "The children are placed in foster homes if there is a sickness in the family," one of Miss Schmidt's boys summarized. "Sometimes there is a problem if a parent gets drunk all the time. Sometimes there is an accident like someone being hit by a car. Some of those kids have only one parent, so if something goes wrong they have to go into a foster home."
 One sixth grade girl purchased a "velvet painting" as her gift. She said that she thought a foster care child would like an art project to work on.
 On the fourth grade level, a group of five children discussed the project in Julie Stray's classroom. They said that each of them was going to buy a single gift, but that they went in groups to the store. Their selection of gifts echoed the sixth graders' choices because games, jigsaw puzzles and craft projects were popular selections. One girl said that she had bought a lunch box with a thermostat so that the foster child could keep his lunch warm. The lunch box had a

Six Guns Taken in Woods B-E

Several guns plus assorted jewelry was snatched during the burglary of a West Ida lane residence Saturday evening, December 15.
 Woods police said four rifles, a shotgun and a revolver were taken from the home. The rifles included a 30-06 bolt-action rifle, valued at around $150; a 35 caliber Remington automatic rifle, $200; a 22 bolt-action rifle, $125, and a Winchester 32 special rifle with a hole the size of a quarter on the stock's left side, of unknown value.
 The shotgun was described as a 16-60 Remington pump gun, valued at around $175, while the revolver was a Smith and Wesson model, 36, nickel plated five-shot gun, $120.
 Other articles reported missing include silver and dark blue Tuxedo pins and cuff links, $30; a gold Bulova wristwatch, $175; G-E portable 17-inch color TV set, wood grain, $300. Around $117 in assorted cash also was taken.
 Further items include an off-white vinyl jewelry box with blue flowers which contained a gold choker, two John Fitzgerald Kennedy mint coin sets, a gold chain bracelet, and a sterling silver chain bracelet and road runner pin. The estimated total value of these goods is $100. A lady's necklace, of unknown value, and a Kodak instamatic camera, valued at around $150, also were missing.
 A resident told police she left home at 8:20 p.m. with a group of friends and returned at 8:55 to discover the break-in.
 Police said entry was gained through the back porch via an unlocked door. After letting the family dog outside from the porch, the culprits pried open a storm door, broke a window in the rear door and reached inside to unlock it.

Burglars Steal Antique Rifles

Seven long guns, including a blunderbuss dating back to the early 1700s, and three other weapons were taken from the home of Truman Schneider, 840 Grand Marais, by burglars who picked off the weapons they wanted. Schneider is a collector of antique firearms.
 Information released by Park Lt. Gordon Duncan revealed that the thieves smashed the glass of the front door and reached in to turn the door lock. The burglary was committed sometime between Tuesday, December 4, and Thursday, December 13, while the family was absent from home.
 Besides taking the long guns, all antiques, the burglars, also took a modern M1 carbine rifle, and a .45 caliber pistol and a .25 caliber pistol. The monetary value of the loss was not disclosed.
 The matter is still under investigation by officers of the Detective Bureau.

Woods Police Aid 'Neighbors'

Grosse Pointe Woods Public Safety Officers came to the aid of Harper Woods police when they apprehended an armed robbery suspect early Monday morning, December 17.

While on patrol, Officers Thomas Hunke and John Albrecht monitored a Harper Woods broadcast which said a service station at Vernier road and Harper had been held up by a black male wearing a blue knit hat.

After spotting a black male in a blue Buick going south on Mack avenue, the officers gave chase and pulled the man over at Mack and Prestwick.

At this time, Harper Woods was contacted for further information and reported the suspect was wearing a blue nylon jacket with a cigarette zipper pocket on his left sleeve. The man was wearing a jacket fitting that description.

Police discovered a crumpled $5 bill on the console between the front bucket seats, several coins on the driver's seat and a blue knit stocking cap on the floor protruding from the driver's seat and the console.

A search of the 22-year-old Detroit man at the station revealed $80.27 in his left front pants pocket and $145 in his wallet. Scattered in the vehicle was $15.12, police said.

A LEIN check revealed the man had a suspended license and two Detroit traffic warrants. The suspect was issued a violation for driving while his license was suspended by Woods police and is scheduled to appear in court Wednesday, February 6, on this charge.

He was then taken to the Harper Woods station, with a hold being placed on the man for the suspended license charge.

Carpeting

You can make a pop art wall hanging to spruce up your bare wall. All you need are two 4x8 sheets of plywood. Paint the 1/2 inch thick board a bright color. Using a jig saw, cut a pattern in the 1/2 inch sheet, and glue it onto the bright colored sheet. Paint the pattern any color you wish. Need a bright spot? Just paint and cut a circle of bright yellow, and glue it wherever it seems fit. The best part of this idea is that you can cut it to whatever scale will fit your wall, and you may use whatever colors please you most!

For colors that will please and delight you visit ED MALISZEWSKI CARPETING, 21435 Mack, 776-5510. Choose from a variety of names such as Burlington House, Mohawk, and Barwick. Our own expert will install your carpeting efficiently and expertly. Wherever your winter or summer home is located in the U.S., we will be glad to take care of your carpeting needs. 'Learning Through Doing' Theme of Ferry Project

By Roger A. Waha

"Learning through doing" and "learning from each other." This is the theme of a team teaching project at Ferry School involving 57 fourth grade students in the classes of Mary Masclak and Norma Morrison.

The teachers are not only a team, but so are the students, who publish a monthly, mimeographed newspaper called the "M and M Free Press," (appropriately named after the first initial of their teachers' last names).

A five-week training period kicked off the project, which began in October, when the youngsters studied and analyzed the front page and interior of the NEWS. And before you knew it, the students published their first edition Friday, November 30, and will have other issues up to May.

Rewarding

This project has been rewarding so far to the students, their parents, the school and even the community at large, according to Mrs. Masclak. Mrs. Morrison and Ferry Principal John Rohrer. And it will undoubtedly continue to be worthwhile.

"This is a more interesting teaching device than any book. It's a 'real to their world' situation," said Mrs. Masclak, who originated this project. "There are so many things to teach within it such as many aspects of language arts," echoed Mrs. Morrison.

"I think it's great. It's a wonderful experience for the kids," said Mr. Rohrer. "Every academic area is involved including citizenship where the students learn to work together." While noting the project wasn't confined only to news, Mr. Rohrer also stressed the aspects of career education and human relationships.

Many Branches

This project is a tree that has brought forth many new branches, some of which are still being discovered by the teachers.

Under language arts, Mrs. Morrison points out the students have experienced letter writing, punctuation, spelling, interviewing and overall creativity. Mrs. Masclak cited art, working with layout and drawing cartoons; mathematics, use of the ruler in measuring column space; reading, and critical analysis of their own work and of the NEWS. (They have, for instance, discovered more than one "typo").

By studying and reading the NEWS' "Headlines of the Week," the youngsters have read more current events than they would have read at home. And they have more of an awareness and interest in the community than they might have had otherwise.

After setting up the paper's departments for the first issue, (at least one youngster from each class is in a separate department), the teachers told the kids they were on their own for succeeding issues, and had to submit letters of application for specific positions. As a result, the students had to decide the position, whether it be in sports, art, library news, et. al., for which they were best suited — enter, career awareness.

On Their Own

The teachers report many of the youngsters want to be proofreaders. As a result, they readily use a key proof-reading tool—the dictionary. And not only that, Mrs.

LITHUANIANS OF STRAW Lithuanians cover their Christmas Eve dinner table with layers of straw in memory of the night in Bethlehem.

Masclak introduced the Theasurik to the students and some of them are now using it for other subjects. Short-hand in interviewing, plus setting up questions, also have been discussed.

It's a good possibility by the time a May rolls around, the kids will become real newspaper pros. They are mainly on their own in wrapping up their second edition, which is scheduled for publication tomorrow, December 21.

"They are more self-confident this second time, and are now setting up more interviews on their own," said Mrs. Morrison. "We give them very little time now in a class situation," stated Mrs. Masclak. "They use more of their own time in class."

Motivation

As the youngsters gain experience by doing, their motivation correspondingly increases. "This project gives the children motivation to do well. They know someone else will see their work," Mrs. Morrison said.

Those who see their work are not only the school's staff and other students but also the parents, (the paper's monthly circulation is 100). "This project has motivated the children in ways in which you couldn't otherwise do," said Mrs. Morrison.

"The kids are protective of their newspaper as far as other classes are concerned," added Mrs. Masclak. "And the parents have liked the newspaper a lot. Several have said it was the cutest newspaper they have ever seen."

While the students have learned, and are learning, much from the project, the teachers also have made some discoveries. "I've found out more about the youngsters and how they operate," said Mrs. Masclak. "A child who really has a communication problem will say, 'I can do this,' and then will proceed to do it well."

On Teamwork

And as a team on this project, "M and M" work very well. In the morning, each helms her own class in reading, math, spelling, handwriting and other subjects. Then, in the afternoon, the folding partition separating the classes disappears and together they explore language arts, science, art and social studies.

The newspaper plays its big role, principally in the areas of language arts and social studies. "Every Tuesday is newspaper time for 45 minutes to an hour," said Mrs. Masclak. Here, the NEWS makes its appearance in introducing the youngsters to current events and community activities.

Both teachers feel the project has been very worthwhile for everyone in a "team" respect. "We tell the kids we work and help each other and we expect them to do the same," said Mrs. Morrison.

"The whole school must cooperate with a project like this," stressed Mrs. Masclak. "The staff of the school must be involved and be willing to help, and they have."

Mrs. Masclak and Mrs. Morrison hope to have this project put on video tape, focusing upon its background and organization along with interviews with the students and a possible critical analysis of the paper. The tape could be presented to the parents and also be used as part of a career program for elementary students. The first issue of the paper features room news, music news, office news, after school activities, world news, editorials, letters to the editor, fiction, cartoons and riddles. And the second edition will add a lost and found section.

Student Staff

The staff of prospective journalists from Mrs. Morrison's class includes Timothy Bodendistel, Paul Colombo, John Hoffmann, Kyle Kurtz, Thomas Laskarides, Christopher Lumetta, Jonathan Mager, Rolf Mammen, Robert Roney, Robert Swaney, Keith Thams, John Verona.

More are Elizabeth Barbour, Jane Beck, Rachel Chapman, Nancy Dinan, Beth Ebenhoeh, Deborah Geth, Linda a Herman, Margaret Krollkowski, Mara Loush, Michelle Massie, Laurie Moss, Natalie Saron, Karen

Thomas, Jodi Westman and Sandra Wooten.

Mrs. Masclak's students include William Beno, Nell Bock, Gerald Buckstanz, John Eger, Burke Hockett, John Koerner, David Kreutzans, Robert Luberto, Christopher Neal, Kenneth Spezia, Louis Theros, Matthew Wishart and Michael Wright.

Others are Anne Bugariu, Barbara Deman, Caroline Dereere, Marie Hendrie, Barbara Koenig, Sharon Lucier, Tammy Laramie, Linda Moore, Margaret Nichol, Elizabeth Rizzo, Robin Tallberg, Julie Thomas, Jennifer Ward, Diana Werenki and Sheila Wuerker.

Shows Interest in Parole Board

A resident contacted the NEWS last week regarding the editorial, "What's Going On Here?", which was published in the December 13 edition. He asked about the make-up of the parole board. The editorial deplored the pending release of a prolific burglar who was convicted in June 1969 of the breaking and entering of an occupied dwelling in The Shores. The man, Irving Goldfarb, is scheduled for parole on February 9, 1974, after serving over five years of a 7½-15 year prison sentence, (including credit time for 135 days spent in jail while awaiting trial, Shores police said). The investigating officer in The Shores break-in, Detective Sergeant Frank Mustazza questioned why Goldfarb was being paroled and not serving his maximum sentence considering his criminal record, (which dates back to his juvenile days in 1936, and includes convictions for breaking and entering, larceny from a building and possession of burglary tools). Sergeant Mustazza questioned why the parole board considered his minimum sentence rather than his maximum sentence. The NEWS agreed and felt the people would be the only ones to suffer, as did the sergeant. Now according to State Statute 28.2302, the parole board consists of five members who "shall be appointed by the commission, (Michigan Corrections Commission), and who shall be within the State civil service." State Statute 28.2305 also says that the release of a prisoner on parole shall be granted solely upon the initiative of the parole board, and that all decisions of the parole board shall be by majority vote. Members of the parole board include Charles Anderson, Gordon Fuller, Howard Grossman, Leonard McConnell and Donald Thurston.

Police Seeking Theft Suspects

A portable sewing machine, valued at more than $300, was reported missing from the Sears Branch Store, Mack and Moross, sometime between 8:30-9 p.m. on Wednesday, December 12. A saleswoman in the appliance department informed Farms police that she was demonstrating the item to a young black couple, who after looking at the machine, stated they were in a hurry and would return on Saturday. A short time later, the employee discovered the loss. She told the investigating officer that the machine was cream-colored and in a cream-colored case. It retails at $335.95, she said. The female suspect is described as being about five feet four inches tall, about 135 pounds and appearing to be about 23 years old. Her male companion is said to be about six feet four inches in height, weighing about 145 pounds, and also about 20 years of age. The saleswoman did not give a description of the clothing the suspects were wearing.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Edgar:
 The several years of Theos Anderson's tenure as Superintendent of Schools have been disappointing. But I can find no cause and effect relationship. Shortly after Andy arrived in Grosse Pointe two national magazines published articles listing what the authors considered to be the outstanding public school systems in this country. The Grosse Pointe System did not appear on either list. Andy was asked to comment. He expressed his opinion that the excellence of the listed school systems was not due to expenditures per pupil, to pupil-teacher ratios or to physical plants but rather that those systems encouraged, actively promoted and sponsored innovation. They were vibrant, alive and dynamic. To the contrary the Grosse Pointe system, if it accepts change, does so only after the more progressive systems have introduced procedures superior to what we adopt.

Results from innovation, failure from stagnation. Next year we will have a new Superintendent of Schools. The years of his term may be as lethargic as past years unless the Trustees, the faculty and the community create an atmosphere which sponsors, promotes and encourages innovation. We have the resources to regain our status as one of the top ten school systems. That will happen only when more positive signs of a sincere desire to move forward are given. Dr. Anderson will be remembered as the person who made an honest evaluation of the community and its school system. We should also remember that the observation fell on too many deaf ears. John J. Church Slates Yule Services

Christmas services at St. James Lutheran Church, McMillan road at Kercheval avenue, will begin with the traditional Children's Christmas Service on Christmas Eve, at 7 p.m., when the Sunday School and Tuesday School boys and girls will proclaim "The Christmas Story" in word and song. The Christmas Eve Midnight Candlelight Service starts at 11 p.m. A carol festival structured by Herman Klein and Pastor George Kurz on the theme of Joy will be presented. There will be music by the chancel choir and carol singing by the congregation, with a meditation by Pastor Kurz. The pre-service music will begin at 10:45 p.m. by assisting organist, George Taylor.

The Christmas Morning Festival Service on Christmas Day will begin at 11 a.m., with the celebration of Holy Communion. The congregation will also hold a New Year's Eve Candlelight Vesper Service on Monday December 31, at 7:30 p.m., with Holy Communion celebrated.

WANTED: BOULDERS
 The Village of Grosse Pointe Shores is looking for used boulders or rocks that residents no longer want. The Shores has built a portion of seawall in the most exposed area of its park from a number of boulders the village has collected. It could use a number of additional boulders or large stones. The village will pick up any donated rocks from the property owner after he has called the village offices.

 Dear Editor:
 This is an appeal to all your readers to help save a wild river from the ravages of miners, loggers, developers and their friends, from a private take-over of the main branch of the Salmon River in Idaho. All action must be taken before JANUARY 1, 1974. They have been packing the hearing meetings and sending mailings to support their cause and unless we show our support, the Salmon river is doomed. Please help save the Salmon River by sending your cards or letters to:

The U.S. Forest Service, Intermountain Regional Hdqts. Ogden, Utah.
 Simply say that you support the move to keep the Main Salmon River as a wild and scenic river. A note on a Christmas card will do fine. If you would like more information, call me at 885-7810. Please take a minute and a stamp to save the Salmon. Sincerely, Howard A. Lee 299 Rivard Boulevard

 Dear Sir:
 I hope you have space in your paper this week to print a sad story. Our Free Press man always delivered our paper around 5 a.m. and earlier. This morning when we didn't get our paper, I thought he may have had a little accident. When I called his wife to check, she said the police found him dead after 8 a.m. on Lakeshore road in the 200 block area. This man was crippled with arthritis and I'm sure his wife could really use all those Christmas envelopes we had planned to give him. His name was John Gaeschke and he lived at 1718 Newcastle in The Woods. A Cloverly road resident

 Reading Christmas cards reminds one that the spirit of Christmas has little to do with originality, but has much to do with feeling and attitude. With the help of BARTLETT'S FAMILIAR QUOTATIONS we send you all an un-original Christmas card, with sincere good wishes for the holiday season.

Franklin Pierce Adams (F.P.A.), who also had deadlines to meet, had some original-non-original thoughts when he wrote Lines On and From Bartlett's Familiar Quotations:

"Go, lovely Rose that lives its little hour!
 Go, little booke! and let who will be clever!"
 Roll on! From yonder ivy-mantled tower
 The moon and I could keep this up forever."
 or, from Emily Dickinson:
 "A word is dead
 When it is said,
 Some say.
 I say it just Begins to live
 That day."

The state of the nation has us grinding our teeth, and the energy crisis has those same molars chattering. Shakespeare says:
 "for greater scandal waits on greater state."
 Old Will wasn't thinking of the energy crisis, but he did say:

"Hung be the heavens with black, yield day to night."

A. E. Housman tells us:
 "Bear them we can, and if we can we must."
 Perhaps we should be philosophic about Christmas entertaining, and say with George Herbert "Unbidden guests are often welcomest when they are gone;" or disillusioned: "He would adore my gift instead of me . . ." or realistic as Theocritus c310-250 B.C.): "A great love goes here with a little gift."
 "Let sorrow, sickness and troubled mind be stranger to thee." (Francis Quarles)

Shakespeare, (a persistent man, who borrowed freely) told everyone:

"At Christmas I no more desire a rose Than wish a snow in May's new-fangled mirth."
 so, Sir Walter Scott told them:
 "Heap on more wood!—the wind is chill;
 But let it whistle as it will We'll keep our Christmas Merry still."
 for, as e. e. Cummings wrote:
 "What if a much of a which of a wind gives the truth to summer's lie."

and "Small cheer and great welcome makes a merry feast." (W.S. again!)
 In Christmas joy or sorrow we remember
 "It was the winter wild
 While the Heav'n born child
 All meanly wrapt in the rude manger lie."
 (John Milton)

for, in the Gospel according to St. Luke we read:
 "Fear not, for behold I bring you good tidings of great joy . . ."

A MERRY, MERRY CHRISTMAS FROM THE STAFF OF THE GROSSE POINTE PUBLIC LIBRARIES

RED HOLLY BERRIES
 A legend relates that on the first Christmas night, when the shepherds went to the manger, a little lamb following them was caught by the holly thorns, and the red berries are the drops of its blood that froze on the branches.

WOMEN'S PAGES

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

While most organizations are in the midst of Christmas activity, a group of women from Hutzel Hospital in the Detroit Medical Center has eyes front, looking ahead to June 1 and the Hospital's third annual benefit dinner-dance.

Mrs. James M. Pierce, Jr., of Renaud road, heads the party-planning corps of Hutzel trustees, Volunteer League members and wives of the medical staff.

First date on their New Year Calendar is January 16, when they meet at the Hospital to report progress in planning the dinner-dance. They already know where it will be: at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

Frank P. Iacobell, of North Rosedale court, Hutzel director, explains that funds raised via the benefit will go toward construction of a Hutzel addition, designed to bring the Hospital's capacity to 419 beds and including facilities for the treatment of kidney diseases and other medical specialties.

Proceeds from the previous two events were used to build and equip an enlarged emergency room, opened last July.

Mrs. Pierce is the wife of a Hutzel staff physician, chief of the Department of Urology. He is also a professor at Wayne State University School of Medicine and chairman of its Department of Urology.

In addition to her work on behalf of Hutzel Hospital, Mrs. Pierce is Friends of the Wayne State University School of Medicine membership chairman and has been active as a University Liggett trustee.

Mrs. Lucas' Christmas Poem

As always, the card bringing holiday greetings from Carolyn and Russell Lucas' lovely home in East Jefferson avenue to the homes of all their friends carries a special Carolyn Hubbard Lucas Christmas poem wish:

*If, haply, one might hear in an old house
Not creaking timbers or a squeaking mouse
But swinging branches in a high beamed room,
And see in shadow, seated by a loom
Mothers of men in other days than these —*

Attending a three-day inter-cultural conference at Central Michigan University November 30 through December 2 sponsored by the State YMCA with the 4-H Club, Youth for Understanding, People to People and the University as cooperating organizations, were Grosse Pointe South High School students SANDY and SHERYL CAVERLY, part of a local delegation sponsored by the South Macomb YMCA.

Bachelor of Business Administration degrees were conferred upon ANDREW HARMS, of Ford court, MARIUS LOKKUS, of Hawthorne road, and JAMES REINELT, of Doyle place east, during winter commencement exercises at Eastern Michigan University. MARY DAWSON, of Touraine road, received her Secondary Provisional Teaching Certificate and GRACE TOCCO, of Doyle place east, received her Elementary Provisional Certificate. MARK SCOTT, of Lenon road, was awarded a Bachelor of Music Education.

JUDITH L. PIGGINS, of Pemberton road, received a Master of Science degree in Electrical Engineering from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in September.

Recipient of an Eastern Michigan University varsity football letter for the 1973 season is Saint Paul High School graduate MIKE NALLY, an EMU junior.

LOUIS A. ROSSETTI, of Edgemont Park, will assume the presidency of the Detroit Chapter, American Institute of Architects, effective January 1.

Merry Christmas From Lawyers' Wives

MRS. THOMAS COULTER, president of the Grosse Pointe Lawyers' Wives, (left), introduced honor guests including The Honorable JAMES H. LINCOLN, Judge of the Wayne County Probate Court, (fourth from left), and MRS. HARY BURKART, president of Lawyers' Wives of Michigan, (right), at the Pointe Lawyers' Wives ninth annual Christmas tea, held Wednesday, December 13, at the Sunset lane home of MRS. ROBERT

Pediatrics is EVELYN F. BAUGH, M.D., of Lothrop road.

Performing in Antonio Vivaldi "Magnificat" with the Hillsdale Concert Choir and Chorale during its annual Christmas Concert December 9 was Hillsdale College junior KIM MENAGH, a soprano, daughter of the C. R. MENAGHS, of Blairmoor court.

JAMES HOWE, of Berkshire road, is president of the American Marketing Association Chapter at Northern Michigan University, where he is a senior.

Re-named directors of the 1.16-million member Automobile Club of Michigan at its 57th board of directors meeting were HANS GERHKE, JR., of North Deeplands road, and ROBERT VLASIC, of South Deeplands road. LOUIS J. ASMUS, of Lochmoor boulevard, was named first vice-president and RALPH THOMAS, of Merriweather road, was named treasurer. Mr. Thomas served previously as Michigan Auto Club president and National AAA president in 1952.

Recently presenting checks totaling $100,000 from the Doty Educational Fund of Detroit to GEORGE CARTMILL, of Touraine road, president of Harper Hospital, and DR. JOSEPH SCHAEFER, president and director of the Rehabilitation Institute, who accepted them on behalf of the Hospital and the Institute, was MISS JOYCE VANDERPYL, of The Pointe, a trustee of the Doty Foundation and a niece of MRS. E. M. DOTY, Foundation president. The grants of $50,000 each will aid the institution in their Heart Research programs.

SYLVIA J. SMITH, of Trombley road, has been appointed Henry Ford Hospital public relations officer.

MARK MAYNARD, son of the ROBERT A. MAYNARDS, of Bedford road, has received a Leelanau "L" for outstanding work on the soccer team at Leelanau, a co-educational college preparatory school in Glen Arbor, Mich., where he is an 11th grader.

Children To Share Pooh's Birthday

All Pointe Youngsters Invited to Join in Special Celebration Marking 20 Years of Grosse Pointe Children's Theater

It's a very special day for Winnie the Pooh and for Grosse Pointe Children's Theater Friday, December 28, for both will be celebrating their birthdays.

Pooh Bear is inviting all his friends to come to the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's William Fries Auditorium at 11 or 2 o'clock for a special holiday sharing-his-birthday-party show!

There will be free candy. All those celebrating birthdays will receive a special gift from Winnie.

Grosse Pointe Children's Theater is celebrating a birthday, too. It was 20 years ago that Mrs. Syd Reynolds presented the first play for the Children's Theater, sponsored by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial since its inception.

Sally Reynolds will be assisted by Mrs. John Mazer, the theater's musical director, in bringing a fun-filled holiday package to the community.

Appearing in "Winnie the Pooh's Birthday Party" cast are Sue and Lisa Keegan, who will portray Pooh Bear, and David Gotfredson and John Galbo, who share the role of Christopher Robin.

Grace Piku and Carl Bengtson will be seen as Rabbit. Beth Townsend and Amy Deitz as Piglet, Suzy Kappaz and Cathy Borland as Eeyore, Sue Brammer and Robin Lees as Owl and Charlotte Parks and Kathy Morosi as Kanga.

Little Roo will be played by Laura Stanzyk and Jeanne Bentley.

Lynn Pellerito, Tammy Lapo and Jennifer Sutton

In other words, this is a hairdresser that cares. He doesn't consider his clients faceless ladies in shapeless robes. He considers them interesting individuals. Which is why he studies their faces and clothes and asks about the lives they lead and the way they really see themselves. It's also why he gets the most beautiful results. This kind of hairdresser isn't easy to come by. But if you come by our place, you'll find quite a few. You see, it's the only kind of hairdresser we believe in.

'Happy Hostess' Source of Holiday Food Ideas This Year

Grosse Pointe's newest cookbook is "The Happy Hostess," a compilation of favorite recipes from members of the Assistance League to the Northeast Guidance Center, their families and friends.

It was formally introduced to the eating public Friday, November 2, at a tasting party at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Cook-contributors made and brought samples of their "Happy Hostess" dishes. Party-goers enjoyed candlelight, soft music and fine wine with their food.

And they THOROUGHLY enjoyed their food—because, by the end of the evening, there wasn't a leftover left.

Here are some holiday refreshment ideas from "The Happy Hostess," starting with the dish that was first to go at the tasting party: CRAB QUICHE LORRAINE

- Contributed by Carol Berkey
- 1 c. swiss cheese (shredded)
 - 1 9" pastry shell (unbaked)
 - 1 7 1/2 oz. can crabmeat (or frozen)
 - 2 green onions (with tops)
 - 3 beaten eggs
 - 1 c. light cream
 - 1/4 tsp. dry mustard
 - 1/2 tsp. grated lemon peel
 - 1/4 c. sliced almonds

1/2 tsp. salt dash mace (optional.) Arrange cheese evenly over bottom of pastry shell. Top with crabmeat; sprinkle with green onions. Combine eggs, cream, lemon peel, salt, dry mustard and mace. Pour evenly over crab. Top with almonds. Bake at 325° about 45 minutes, or until set. Let stand 10 minutes before serving. Serves 6.

"Happy Hostess" chairman Patty (Mrs. Roy) Greene and Ellen (Mrs. Douglas) Cooke were delighted by the response to their request for recipes. They're equally delighted by cookbook sales to date.

It's been a "fun" project—despite such minor difficulties as the trainwreck involving the boxcar carrying all the cookbook covers. The covers eventually arrived intact. They made it to Detroit the day before the tasting party, and if you don't think THAT was a mad, albeit successful, scramble, getting everything together...

Fortunately, neither Patty nor Ellen is inclined to panic. They have things under control. For instance: When we dropped by last Friday to pick up a "Happy Hostess" copy at Patty's house in Berkshire road, the Greene Christmas tree was up, and decorated, and Patty was preparing for her first 1973 holiday party. She'd decided on a Mexican dinner, built around a "Happy Hostess" entree that looks more difficult than it is. Just be sure to read the recipe COMPLETELY before beginning. And remember: It's worth it.

MEXICAN FIESTA-PAELLA

Contributed by Barbara Jay

- 1 3 to 3 1/2 lb. broiler chicken (cut up)
- 4 c. hot water
- 1 medium carrot
- 1 medium onion
- 1 stalk celery
- 2 tsp. salt

Simmer above ingredients at 225° for 1 hour or until chicken is fork tender. Remove chicken and strain broth. Save. Cool chicken and remove meat from bones. Cut into bite-size pieces. This may be done the day before and refrigerated.

- 1/2 lb. link sausage
- 1 oz. can Littleneck clams
- 1/2 c. onion (chopped)
- 4 chicken bouillon cubes

Cook link sausage cut in 1/2" slices over moderate heat (275°) until lightly browned. Add 1/2 c. chopped onion. Brown 5 minutes.

Measure broth from chicken. Add reserved clam liquid. Add 4 chicken bouillon cubes and enough boiling water to make 2 qt. of liquid. Add: 2 cloves garlic (crushed) 1 8 oz. can tomato sauce 2 tsp. paprika chicken previously cooked

Cook at 225° for 15 minutes. Add:

- 1 1/2 lb. fresh shrimp, (shelled and deveined), or 3/4 lb. frozen shrimp
- 1 c. fresh or frozen peas
- 1 9 oz. pkg. frozen artichoke hearts
- 1 4 oz. can pimientos
- 1/4 c. parsley (minced)
- 3 c. rice (uncooked)
- pinch of powdered saffron

1 1/2 tsp. salt 1/4 tsp. pepper Cover and cook 30 minutes—stirring occasionally—until most of the liquid is absorbed. Stir in clams. Cover and cook 5 minutes. Serves 12.

Pooch

will be seen as Rabbit's relatives. Story-teller will be Kevin Conley and Jamie Champion.

Admission is $1 for youngsters, $1.50 for adults. Group rates may be obtained for 20 or more.

Tickets may be purchased at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, TUXedo 1-7511, and at Punch and Judy Toyland on-the-Hill, TUXedo 1-7075.

"The Happy Hostess" is available at the Merry Mouse, Kaleidoscope and Kimberly Korner, or by calling Patty, 824-8405, or Ellen, 886-0194. It's $3.50 per copy.

Proceeds help the Northeast Guidance Center continue and expand its programs, which include providing assistance to emotionally disturbed children, adults, and families in crisis. Consultation services to schools and agencies are also available.

The Assistance League's purpose is to provide the Center with financial help, and to promote good will for the Center. Social functions are an excellent way to do both. League members tend to be accomplished hostesses, and accomplished hostesses tend to know what's what in the way of party food—and drink.

If you're planning a New Year's buffet, why not try something different in the way of liquid refreshment this year?

PARTY PUNCH Contributed by Shirley De Coopman

- 1 c. water

- 1 1/2 c. sugar
- 3 c. pineapple juice
- 1/4 c. strong tea
- 1/2 c. lime juice
- 3 1/2 c. lemon juice
- 7 c. canned orange juice
- 3 qts. Vernors ginger

- ale

Willmore-Smith Rites Revealed

Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Smith, of Nottingham road, announce the marriage of Mr. Smith's daughter, Karen Jane, 16, Mrs. Smith's son, Thomas Frederick Willmore, III, on December 11, with Grosse Pointe Park Judge William Spear presiding.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. William F. Livingston, of Detroit. The bridegroom is the son of Thomas F. Willmore, Jr., of Boynton Beach, Fla.

Karen is the granddaughter of Mrs. John Manning, of Detroit, and the late Mr. Manning, and of Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Smith, of Asbury Park, Detroit.

Tom is the grandson of Mrs. Guy C. Smith, of Grosse Pointe Farms and Southern Pines, N. C., and the late Mr. Smith, and of Mrs. Thomas F. Willmore and the late Mr. Willmore, of Indian Village and Grosse Pointe Park.

The Don Smiths entertained in the newlyweds' honor at a small family dinner at Bayview Yacht Club December 15. Among those present were Karen's sister, Patricia, and Tom's sister, Leigh, and their respective husbands, Thomas Francis Brown and David E. Woehler.

Mr and Mrs. Robert D. Williams, of Yorkshire road, are announcing the engagement of their daughter SARAH M. WILLIAMS to Stephen M. Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith A. Campbell, of Lansing. A May wedding is being planned.

Both the bride-elect and her fiance attended Central Michigan University where he is presently a senior majoring in Science and planning to be an elementary teacher. His fraternity is Phi Sigma Epsilon. Her sorority is Delta Zeta.

Willmore are at home in Wayburn road, and plan a skiing jaunt to northern Michigan during the Christmas holidays.

Home From The Sea

Two sailors are coming home to Kensington road for Christmas. United States Naval Academy Midshipman Christopher J. Spada arrives today to spend the holidays with his parents, Carol Ann and Anthony Spada.

Chris was graduated from University-Liggett last June and entered Annapolis for Plebe Summer and Plebe Year in July. He's in 4th Class Regiment, 12th Company.

He's the fourth Spada son to enlist in the Navy, and joins two brothers still on active duty in the Naval Air Corps. AZAN Paul T. Spada, stationed at the United States Naval Air Station Glenview, Ill., will be home for the holidays Saturday.

AZ 3 Stephen M. Spada can't make it back to The Pointe this year. He's serving aboard the CVW Aircraft Carrier USS Oriskany, somewhere in the Indian Ocean.

Both Naval Airmen are Grosse Pointe South High School graduates.

Holiday Field Trip

For years, the late Alfred R. Glancy, Jr., entertained his children's friends, his grandchildren's friends, his friends' children and grandchildren—and himself—at Christmas "train parties" that were as much a part of the Grosse Pointe holiday scene as the Star of Bethlehem atop the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club's campanile.

Everyone tramped down to the Train Room in the basement of the fabulous Glancy home in Lakeshore road to see a miniature world where everything worked.

July Bride

At a dinner party in their East Doyle palace home Mr. and Mrs. Peter Tocco announced the engagement of their daughter GRACE ANNE to Charles Richard Bray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie E. Bray, of Ypsilanti.

The bride-elect, a graduate of Eastern Michigan University where she affiliated with Delta Zeta sorority, is completing work for her Masters degree in Speech Correction.

Her fiance received his Bachelor of Business Administration in Marketing from Eastern Michigan University. He is presently vice-president of Kirby of Washtenaw, Inc.

A late July wedding is planned.

Holiday Fare For Children

The Detroit Institute of Arts Youtheatre continues its 10¢ Mummy Matinee this Saturday, December 22, at 11 and 2 o'clock with "The Mummy's Ghost" and chapters 4 and 5 of "The Phantom Creeps" starring Bela Lugosi.

Television's Prince St. Players return to Youtheatre with their holiday musical "Pinochio" December 26 at 2 o'clock and December 27 through 29 at 11 and 2 o'clock.

This traditional tale of a wooden marionette who longs to be a real boy is blended with a lively musical score. It is not recommended for children under five.

Tickets are available from the Institute's Ticket Office at $1.50, (groups of 10 or more at $1 each). Further information may be obtained by calling the Youtheatre at 832-2730.

Grosse Pointe North High School graduate RON ZENN is lone freshman starter for Wayne State University's 1973-74 basketball team.

Miss Walker Speaks Vows in Indiana

At a small family ceremony in the chapel of First Presbyterian Church, Fort Wayne, Ind., Saturday, December 8, Marilyn Ann Walker became the bride of Richard Everett Hart.

She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George L. Walker, of Kenwood court.

After a reception in the Church Parlors following the 2 o'clock rites at which The Reverend John Scott presided, the newlyweds left to vacation in Chicago.

They are making their home in Fort Wayne where she has been administering the Fort Wayne Chapter of the United Cerebral Palsy Society of Indiana's program. The bridegroom is also employed by United Cerebral Palsy of Indiana.

The former Miss Walker chose a princess gown of ivory silk organza and Chantilly lace for her afternoon wedding. Lace and seed pearls formed her short puffed sleeves and detailed her bodice and high neckline.

Scallops of matching lace bordered her hem and Chapel train.

She wore the heirloom veil of Chantilly and Rosepointe lace brought by her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ralph D. Williams, some years ago from Belgium, and carried a Colonial arrangement of pink roses, stephanotis, white carnations and baby's-breath.

She was attended by her sister Mrs. John C. Schniedwind, whose shell pink crepe frock was trimmed at neck, Empire waist and long sleeves with ivory Cluny lace.

Mrs. Schniedwind's Colonial bouquet was fashioned of holly, pink roses and statice.

The bridegroom, son of Warren C. Hart, of Fort Wayne, asked Norman Woodruff, also of Fort Wayne, to act as best man.

Kathleen Althaus Wed In Jackson

Speaks Vows to Michael O'Hara Leavy during Candlelight Ceremony; Arbor Hill Country Club Reception Follows Rites

Kathleen Marie Althaus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Althaus, of Yorkshire road, and Michael O'Hara Leavy, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Leavy, of Jackson, exchanged marriage vows Friday evening, December 14.

Setting for the 7:30 o'clock candlelight double ring ceremony was Jackson's Saint John's Catholic Church.

Seed pearls accented the bride's matte jersey Empire gown and a matching Camelot headpiece caught her illusion veil. She carried a spray of white roses.

Mrs. Joseph O'Grady was her sister's honor matron. Bridesmaids were Kathryn Terze, of Jackson, Mrs. James Jackson, the bridegroom's sister, and Karen Anderson, of Atlanta, Ga. Their floor length red velvet frocks featured ecru lace bodices and cropped cutaway jackets. They carried candles in cut crystal goblets accented with red and white roses. Richard Wallace, of Jackson, was best man. In the usher corps were Robert Althaus, of Philadelphia, the bride's brother, Howard Patch and Chris Colton, of Jackson, and Joseph O'Grady. The mother of the bride and the bridegroom's stepmother, Mrs. Dwight Leavy, wore long gowns, Mrs. Althaus' emerald green, Mrs. Leavy's blue. Both chose corsages of Sweetheart roses. After a reception at Arbor Hill Country Club the newlyweds left to vacation in Southern California. They will return to Jackson to make their home.

Museum Hosts Church Display

The history of St. Joseph's Church, built a century ago and listed on the National Register of Historic Places as one of Detroit's historical and architectural treasures, is now open in a distinguished new exhibit in the Urban Historical Museum.

Entitled "St. Joseph's Church—A Landmark Reaches 100," the exhibit depicts as well the development of the parish from its beginnings in 1855.

Original architectural plans, drawings and photographs together with a number of important furnishings, sacred vessels and rare antique ecclesiastical vestments are on view.

Among the latter are the cloth-of-gold cope presented to Father Johann Friedland (pastor from 1863 to 1896), in 1886, a black velvet chasuble elaborately embroidered in silver metallic thread, (formerly used as the mass vestment for funerals and days of mourning), and a magnificent satin stole adorned with hand-painted and embroidered motifs. Other treasures include:

- Medieval Gothic-style Monstrance, commissioned for the dedication of the Church in 1873, the work of Papal Court jeweler Wilhelm Rauscher, of Fulda, Germany. Made of silver overlaid with gold plate it is embellished with coral and semi-precious stones. The intricately worked decorative forms include religious figures, steeples and arches.
- Three Reliquaries, c. 19th century. Two are of polished brass containing relics of early martyrs. The third is of hand-carved wood covered with gold leaf holding relics of the Passion. All are accompanied by certificates of authenticity.
- A solid gold chalice ornamented with exquisitely detailed mosaic medallions.
- A gold-plated silver Ciborium, c. 1873, incorporating brilliant enamel medallions. The finial on the cover was modeled to echo the pinnacle of the Church.
- The Banner of the Liebesbund Society, established

Exhibit Focus Is Akhenaten

From Egypt's legendary 18th dynasty (1378-1362 B.C.), come the 170 sculptures, reliefs and rare antiquities now on display at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

This once-in-a-lifetime exhibition, "Akhenaten and Nefertiti, Art from the Age of Egypt's Sun King," opened to the public Wednesday, December 19, and will continue through February 28.

The display, drawn from museums and private collections in Europe, the Near East and the United States, is a comprehensive reunion of art from the reign of the Pharaoh Akhenaten and his Queen, the fabled Nefertiti.

Akhenaten ordained the revolutionary worship of a single god some 14 centuries before Christ. He also encouraged the artists of his kingdom to attempt less-deified presentations of royalty.

The sculptures and reliefs of his brief, potent reign are animated with the emotions of human life, and are among the first humane depictions of a mighty Pharaoh embracing his wife and six small daughters.

Crowning many of the pieces is the presence of the Aten, symbolic sun disk ending in small hands which extend the blessing of the one god on the group.

The exhibition attracted more than 100,000 visitors during its nine weeks at the Brooklyn Museum. The Detroit Institute of Arts display is the second and final presentation anywhere in the world before the objects are returned to lenders.

The Detroit showing has been underwritten by the Edsel and Eleanor Ford Exhibition Fund.

Installation was created by Stephen M. Sherer, of the Ford Motor Company Design Center, and William H. Peck, Detroit Institute of Arts curator of Ancient Art, co-organizer of the major exhibition.

"Thirty-four centuries old, these tantalizing fragments capture the spirit of a unique period in the history of man's artistic production," Mr. Peck notes.

"They chronicle the brief 16-year reign of Akhenaten, (Beloved of Aten) and his Queen Nefertiti, (The Beautiful One is Come)."

Palaces, temples and magnificent gardens were created in their capital city, Tell El Amarna, on the east bank of the Nile between Thebes and Memphis.

To match the splendor of the buildings, walls were carved and painted in the "new" tradition, depicting the ruler making offerings to the one deity, accompanied and assisted by his wife and

George Stark Hall Dedicated

The 23rd Annual Christmas Open House at the Detroit Historical Museum took place last Sunday afternoon.

In recognition of the late George W. Stark, who created a public awareness of Detroit's heritage and led in the campaign to establish the Historical Museum, the hall housing the story of Detroit's growth from its founding in 1701 was dedicated as the George Washington Stark-Detroit Hall.

Mr. Stark served as president of the Historical Commission from its beginning in 1946 until his death in 1966.

Detroit Historical Commission President Leonard N. Simons presided at the dedication ceremony, assisted in the unveiling of the commemorative plaque by George W. Stark, II, and Anne Marie Stark, 12-year old twins of Richard Campbell Stark who share their grandfather's and George Washington's birthday, February 22.

Also participating in the program was Soian W. Weeks, director of the Detroit Historical Museums, Richard W. Ingalls, rector of Mariners' Church, and William S. Schindler, vice-president of the Detroit Historical Society.

children. The domestic life of the royal family became a subject of major importance.

Commoners appear as well as courtiers. Mundane activities like farming and hunting were illustrated, along with birds, fish and beasts portrayed in their natural habitats.

Earlier Egyptian art avoided any display of feeling, but during the age of Akhenaten art becomes frankly

Pointe Pair Engaged

At a champagne reception for relatives and friends Mrs. Anthony S. Bozich, or North Brys drive, announced the engagement of her daughter BARBARA ANNE BOZICH to DENNIS JOHN MURRAY, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Murray, of Robert John road.

The bride-elect, who is also the daughter of the late Mr. Bozich, was graduated from Our Lady Star of the Sea High School and is presently working for an Oral Surgeon as a Dental Technician.

Her fiancé, a graduate of Austin Catholic Preparatory School, is finishing his internship in Respiratory Therapy at the Burns Clinic, Petoskey. A July 19 wedding is planned.

emotional. Affection and delight exist along with sorrow.

While some stylized conventions remain, a quality of realism appears—especially in the many faces of Akhenaten and Nefertiti. The first likenesses give them strangely exaggerated, virtually identical features. Later representations become more human and individualized.

With Akhenaten's death and the succession of his son-in-law, Tutankhamun, the old priesthood regained power and restored the multiple ancient gods. The capital city was abandoned.

Half a century later Ramesses II dismantled the buildings and used much of the decorated stone as fill material for his own temples and monuments across the Nile at Hermopolis.

Attitudes and intrigues surrounding this ancient political and social scene are evident by simply looking at the exhibition objects. They are described in a comprehensive catalogue by distinguished Egyptologist Cyril Aldred, Keeper of the Department of Art and Archaeology, Royal Scottish Museum, Edinburgh.

With 230 pages and 250 illustrations, the catalogue, ($5.95 at museum shops), also contains a detailed entry on each object.

Akhenaten and Nefertiti left a bequest of unanswered questions and mixed opinions among scholars. Was Akhenaten indeed a religious revolutionary, the first monotheist, the first pacifist, prophet of a religion based on love and brotherhood, champion of the people against an oppressive priesthood?

Was he a crafty politician or a dreamer whose inaction lost an empire?

Was he a genius . . . a fanatic . . . a weak-willed figurehead dominated by Nefertiti, the power behind the throne?

This special exhibition in the Main Floor-South Wing galleries is open to the public during regular museum hours, 9:30 to 5:30 o'clock Tuesday through Sunday. The Institute of Arts is closed Mondays and legal holidays.

Extended hours for this exhibition only are Tuesday evenings till 9 o'clock Jan-

Release Social Secretary 1974

The 1974 Edition of The Social Secretary has just been released by the publishers. It is the 57th consecutive annual of this original Blue Book of Detroit and Michigan families published since 1917.

Over 3,500 families are listed along with their social and cultural clubs. A continuing feature is the listing of maiden family names for the convenience of those who may have forgotten who married whom. Also, the identification of clubs by number shortens each listing for better readability. A movable book mark indexes the clubs for ready reference.

The Social Secretary has gone through content changes over the years. The early editions included among club memberships the Automobile Club of Michigan and the Aero Club of Michigan, both status clubs in the early days of the automobile and the aviation industry.

Before the emergence of Grosse Pointe and Bloomfield Hills as all-year residences, East Jefferson, Second and Woodward avenues were among preferred residential streets. It was the custom then also to include the days when the hostess was "at home" to receive close friends.

Since Wednesday and Friday were both popular days to "receive," a number of hostesses on the popular residential streets chose the same day so that friends could "do the street" virtually from house to house.

Navy Sea man Recruit DOUGLAS Y. MASIEE, son of the PHILIPPE MASIEES, of University place, has been graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

Mrs. Mark Belrose

Wedding vows were spoken in Saint Clare de Montefalco Church Friday evening, November 23, by KAREN LOUISE URTEL, daughter of the Melvin Urtels, of Bishop road, and Mr. Belrose, son of Mrs. Guy Belrose, of Muskegon, and Mr. Belrose, of Provo, Utah.

Miss Urtel Bride Of Mark Belrose

Lace and Pearl Circles Accent Ivory Peau de Soie Gown She Selects for Evening Rites; Pair Vacation in Northern Michigan

At home in Muskegon where both had been residing before their marriage are Mr. and Mrs. Mark Belrose, whose wedding Friday evening, November 23, in Saint Clare de Montefalco Church was followed by a reception at Royalty House.

The Reverend Father William Downey and Deacon John Neinstedt presided at the 6 o'clock rites for which the bride, the former Karen Louise Urtel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Urtel, of Bishop road, chose an ivory peau de soie gown.

Circles of lace and pearls accented her skirt and train. Matching lace bordered her shoulder length illusion veil.

Her bouquet was fashioned of carnations and orchids.

She was attended by honor maid Marybeth Neinstedt, Deacon John's sister. Bridesmaids were Cynthia Carter, Marilyn Urtel, sister of the bride, and Lisa Belrose, the bridegroom's sister. Junior attendants were Beverly Beddow, the bride's niece, and Diane Urtel, another sister of the bride.

The senior attendants wore deep blue velvet frocks with collars and cuffs of pale blue crepe. The junior bridesmaids' pale blue crepe dresses were sashed with deep blue velvet. They carried arrangements of pale and deep blue carnations.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Guy Belrose, of Muskegon, and Mr. Belrose, of

DKG Beta Xi's Enjoy Annual Holiday Lunch

Members of Beta Xi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma gathered at Louise TeWalt's Lincoln road home Saturday, December 8, for their annual holiday luncheon.

Refreshments were planned by Betty Brady, Bethany Tlusty and Norma Morrison, program chairmen, arranged an auction of items made and donated by members, with Helen Huber acting as auctioneer. Over $300 was netted for DKG's Scholarship Fund.

Provo, Utah, asked Thomas Pastoor, of Muskegon, to act as best man.

Ushers were Greg Urca- vich and Robert and Kenneth Urtel, the bride's brothers.

Mrs. Urtel complimented the floor length red crepe gown she chose for her daughter's wedding with gold accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother chose a long gown of white and brown over-all print, brown accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The newlyweds vacationed in northern Michigan.

Garden Club Decks Museum with Yuletide Decor

Christmas decorations appropriate to the period parlors and bedrooms of pre- Revolutionary Whitby Hall, a formal 18th century dining room and a 17th century Colonial room will be enjoyed by visitors to the Detroit Institute of Arts during the holiday season.

Members of the Flower committee of the Garden Club of Michigan created the decorations Wednesday, December 12.

The first "viewing" was a highlight of the Garden Club's Christmas luncheon meeting at the museum last Thursday, December 13, with Willis F. Woods, former Institute of Arts director, a guest speaker, discussing future plans for the Robert Hudson Tannahill Wing of American Art.

Larry Curry, curator of American Art, expressed his appreciation for the holiday decor created by the Garden Club and funded by the Associates of the American Wing of the Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts.

Mrs. Elliott H. Phillips, of Ridge road, chairman of the board of Gardeners, headed the dual event.

Mrs. Ford Ballantyne, Jr., of University place, is chairman of the Flower committee which includes the Mesdames Fred Alger, Elmer A. Clark, Charles A. DuCharme, Dexter Ferry, William C. Charles W. Kammanns Are at Home in Mount Clemens after Autumn Rites; Paula M. Florek is Her Sister's Honor Maid Annemarie Florek and Charles W. Kammann exchanged marriage vows in Old Saint Mary's Church Saturday morning, October 13. A reception in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Crystal Ballroom followed the 10 o'clock rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Florek, of Broadstone road, the bridegroom the son of the Robert E. Kammanns, of Three Mile drive, Detroit.

The newlyweds vacationed in Toronto and are at home in Mount Clemens.

The bride's chiffon gown with its bodice of appliqued lace was fashioned by Mrs. Florek, who also made the bridesmaids' dresses.

The former Miss Florek wore an Alencon lace cap holding a long lace-bordered illusion veil, and carried a cascade of white Sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

Father John E. Nader, C.S.Sp., officiated at the ceremony.

Honor maid Paula M. Florek, the bride's sister, carried a cascade of shaded bronze mums. Bridesmaids, carrying matching Colonial bouquets, were Carol Jennings, Linda Egli and Judy Kammann, of Ann Arbor, and Ellen Kammann, the bridegroom's sisters. Their mint green chiffon frocks were styled with pilgrim collars and flounced skirts. They wore matching picture hats.

Kenneth Kammann served as his brother's best man. Seating the guests were John DeVita, Dennis Johnson and Edward Kammann, another brother.

The mother of the bride wore a long gown of turquoise blue chiffon and pinned a cymbidium orchid to her matching purse. The bridegroom's mother selected a long gown of blue print chiffon and a cymbidium orchid corsage.

Former Pointers Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Neubron came from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., for their niece's wedding.

JOHN DENLER, of Pine court, has been appointed a vice-president of Burton Sohagian, Inc., a Detroit-based advertising agency. He is a veteran of over 25 years in the advertising business. He will continue to act as account executive on several accounts.

Holiday Safety Tips Offered to Prevent Winter Fires

Circle your family with fire-safe surroundings and activities this Christmas, says Richard Pfister, Extension Safety Engineer at Michigan State University.

"Several areas of concern in the home are overloaded wiring, smoking, overheated furnaces and Christmas trees. Christmas trees, ornaments and parties can spell trouble unless you give fire prevention a special thought."

When shopping for a Christmas tree, break a twig off and try to light it. If it's fresh it won't burn after the flame is taken away. The twig on a dry tree will flare up at once.

"Once you have the tree home, make it a 10- or 12-day 'Cinderella.'" Dr. Pfister urges. "This is probably the maximum time you can keep a tree fresh in your home. A tree that's put up the first part of December may be a fire hazard by Christmas morning."

To keep your tree as fresh as possible, the specialist suggests you cut the base on a diagonal so more water can be absorbed, and set it in a sturdy tree stand.

Locate the tree away from any heat source and where it doesn't block exits. Remember to check the water level daily.

"The number of lights is important," the Safety Engineer points out, "because too many will dry the tree and make it more susceptible to fire."

To figure how many lights to put on your tree, multiply the tree height in feet by the tree width in feet, and multiply the result by three.

Reducing the number of lights by one-third would not only help keep the tree fresher but would also conserve energy.

Check Christmas tree lights and replace strings with broken sockets or frayed cords. Always look for the Underwriter's Laboratory (UL) inspection label on the box containing the tree lights. Ask the retailer if he assumes liability for products not labeled.

This UL label means the lights exceed minimum electrical standards. Note that a label on the plug may mean that only the plug meets the standards.

"To help conserve energy and keep the tree fresh, have the lights on only when you're in the same room to enjoy them. When you leave, make sure the lights are off."

Make good use of noncombustible materials such as metal, glass and asbestos when decorating your home for the holiday season.

Natural evergreen decorations dry quickly and burn readily, so keep them well removed from candles, polystyrene foam decorations, the fireplace and other open flame sources unless they have been treated with fire-retardant materials.

You can help make greens fire-retardant with chemicals available in most drug stores. Dr. Pfister offers this method: Borax: 9 oz.; Boric Acid Powder: 4 oz.; Water: 1 gal. (warm).

This transparent coating may be applied by dipping or spraying. For spraying, add more water to thin the mixture. Two coats are more effective than one.

This coating isn't considered effective for large amounts of foliage or trees because of difficulty in getting complete coverage. Christmas morning, gift wrappings go in every direction—but prompt pickup and disposal out of the home is important to starve a possible fire.

Also, provide plenty of ash trays for guests, especially if you're giving a party.

ANN SCHIESSLER, daughter of the MARTIN J. SCHIESSLERS, of Birch Lane, is a member of the Kiltie Lassies, a Scottish dancing group of 11 Alma College coeds who perform traditional dances on campus and throughout Michigan. Ann, an Alma senior, was graduated from Grosse Pointe North High School in 1970.

Miss Knopf Says Vows October 13

Florida Keys is Vacation Destination of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Case Corwin, II, after their Autumn Wedding

A reception in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Crystal Ballroom followed the Saturday, October 13, wedding of Ruth Ann Knopf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Knopf, of North Brys drive, and Charles Case Corwin, II.

He is the son of Mrs. Albert Matches, of Brighton, and the late Charles C. Corwin.

Presiding at the 5:30 o'clock rites in Grosse Pointe Baptist Church was The Reverend Larry McGill.

The bride's ivory peau de soie gown featured long, full Alencon lace sleeves. Re-embroidered Alencon lace edged her long mantilla, and she carried an arrangement of white cattleya orchids and ivy.

Honor maid Janice Mitchell wore a frock of lime green chiffon styled with an ivory lace bodice. In similar frocks of moss green chiffon and ivory lace were bridesmaids Margaret Ann Ernst and Janet Craft, cousins of the bride, Sue Inrie and Karen Hahn and junior bridesmaid Beth Russell, another cousin of the bride.

Their bouquets of miniature shaggy pink carnations, green and pink strawflowers, baby-breath and white daisy mums were tied with contrasting green velvet ribbon.

Steve Wasilewski, of Ann Arbor, was best man. Bob Knopf, the bride's brother, Ted Masterson, John Deford, of Ann Arbor, and Raymond Bates, of Ypsilanti, ushered.

A floor length gown of rose chiffon featuring a knit jersey bodice and long sleeves was Mrs. Knopf's choice for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother wore a long gown printed in rose and blue on white. Both mothers selected gardenia and miniature pink rosebud corsages.

After a vacation in the Florida Keys the newlyweds are making their home in Ann Arbor.

GP Barbershop Singers Carol

Patients at Henry Ford Hospital enjoyed some holiday barbershop harmony last Sunday, December 16.

After caroling in three area nursing homes, 35 members of Grosse Pointe's Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America S.P.E.B.S.Q.S.A. made Ford Hospital their fourth stop.

Patients on eight floors listened to traditional carols and barbershop favorites. Several requested that special carols be sung outside their rooms.

The seemingly indefatigable chorus used its non-singing moments to hail patients with holiday good wishes and received many expressions of appreciation in return.

No Shortage Of Firewood

Despite nationwide shortages of many consumer goods, there is still plenty of firewood for fireplaces and wood-burning stoves — at least in Michigan.

Lester E. Bell, Michigan State University Extension Forester, says southern Michigan woodlots contain an abundance of crooked, defective trees that make excellent fuelwood.

Removal of these trees could help ease the energy crisis and would improve growing conditions in the woodlot.

"For years our Extension Forestry Program at MSU has encouraged timber stand improvement by removing logging remnants and hollow, crooked or otherwise defective trees; as well as species of low value. This leaves more growing room for healthy, straight trees of higher value," Bell explains.

Promoting these practices has been difficult however, because there has been little or no market for low-grade wood.

Now, with the nation facing an energy shortage, fuelwood is in much greater demand, and Bell feels there is an excellent opportunity to improve timber stands by removing cull trees for fuel.

Hickory, white oak, sugar maple, yellow birch, beech, ironwood* and black locust produce the greatest amount of heat per unit of volume.

Elm, soft maple, cherry and pine are of medium value. Aspen, basswood, cedar and cottonwood give the least amount of heat.

Gives Warning on Food Poisoning

Don't let food poisoning be the uninvited guest that ruins your holiday get-togethers, says Anita Dean, Extension Foods and Nutrition specialist at Michigan State University.

Bacteria cause food poisoning, Mrs. Dean explains. Careless food handling and storing set the stage for the growth of bacteria to dangerously high numbers.

"Time and temperature are the two critical factors.

Hot food should be kept hot—above 140 degrees Fahrenheit—and cold foods should be kept cold—below 40 degrees."

Take special care with protein foods such as seafood, poultry, cooked meats, egg dishes, cream pies, puddings and meat or seafood salads.

Use electric hot trays or chafing dishes to keep hot foods hot. A warming candle unit will not be enough.

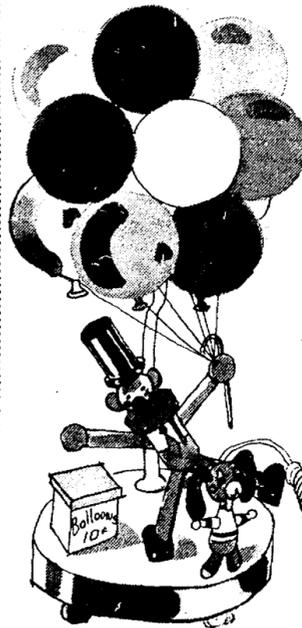

Keep cold foods refrigerated until it's time to serve them. Then bring out only what is needed.

"Never keep any of these high-risk foods at room temperature for more than two hours," Mrs. Dean cautions. "Bacteria will multiply rapidly and the food may be unsafe even though you cannot detect a bad smell or off-flavor."

When in doubt about the safety of a leftover, throw it out, Mrs. Dean urges.

Park Police Accuse Pair Of Ruining Store Window

Two Detroit men were arraigned for preliminary examinations before Park Municipal Judge William E. Spear on Thursday, December 13, on warrants charging them with malicious destruction of property over $100.

Under Michigan law, such an offense constitutes a felony, conviction of which could mean up to four years in prison.

Arrested were George D. Lozon, 30, of 14811 Vernor, and Robert F. Godall, 24, of 3663 Maryland. Lozon was released on $1,000 personal bond, two sureties; and Godall, who was unable to guarantee a similar bond, was remanded to the Wayne County Jail. Examination for both were held yesterday, December 19.

The pair were specifically charged with smashing a plate glass window of a coin collector's shop owned by Harold Wilson, located at 15126 Mack avenue. Wilson signed the complaint. Nothing was taken from the shop, according to Park Lt. Gordon Duncan, who released the information on Lozon and Godall. Replacement of the window cost $300, it was revealed.

'TWELVE NIGHTS'
In northern Europe, the Teutons observed the winter solstice, calling it Yule. As the nights were long, it was referred to as "the twelve nights."

Lozon and Godall are also believed responsible for the destruction of plate glass windows of two other Mack stores in the Park and two on the Detroit side of the avenue, the lieutenant said. Warrants were approved by the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office on Wilson's complaint because the incident was seen by several witnesses.

According to Lt. Duncan, the two men were said to have had too much to drink, and at 12:08 a.m. on December 13, kicked in the window of the Verdonck Bakery, 15046 Mack, the replacement of which cost $400; a window of a vacant store, damage $100, and the coin shop window.

Following this, it was said, the two men went across the avenue to the Detroit side and kicked in the plate glass windows of two stores. The amount of damage was not disclosed.

Park officers dispatched to the scene of destruction, were directed to Rose's Lounge, 15421 Mack, by the witnesses, who personally identified Lozon and Godall as the pair who at least broke the window of the coin shop.

Lt. Duncan said that arresting officers stated in their report that the accused men appeared to be too intoxicated to either admit, or realize what they had done.

Column Praises Chief Teetaert

Andrew Teetaert, chief of Police in Grosse Pointe City is instructing all the officers on his force that if they keep in mind that it is the holiday season, and if they're just a little nicer to people because of that, then maybe, just maybe, they'll get their names in the paper like he did.

It must have been the Christmas spirit that prompted Chief Teetaert to offer assistance to a lady in distress.

As he tells it, the Chief was waiting in line at the post office on Mack avenue with about 25 other people

Landscaping Wins Prizes

Winter months bring prizes and praises to Grosse Pointe business establishments for their landscaping decoration and maintenance during the past summer.

The Grosse Pointe and Eastern Michigan Horticultural Society has presented the Eppens-Van Deweghe Funeral Home on Cadieux with the first prize in Class A. The second prize in Class A went to the Grosse Pointe branch of the National Bank of Detroit at the corner of Rivard and Jefferson.

In Class B the first prize was presented to the Causley car dealership on Mack Avenue. The second prize in this class was presented to the American Automobile Association on Jefferson.

when the lady in front of him, who was carrying some packages she wanted to send, realized she had no cash to pay for the cost of mailing.

The length of the line and the time she had already spent waiting made her reluctant to give up her space. Chief Teetaert saw her dilemma and stepped in. "I have some cash you can borrow," he explained, "How much do you need?"

The lady, Mrs. Ferris Fitch, protested, "But you don't even know me." Chief Teetaert said that didn't matter and offered to give her a ten dollar bill. Mrs. Fitch said she would write him a check but the Chief declined saying it wouldn't be necessary. "I'm the Chief of Police in Grosse Pointe City," he explained to her, "and you can just stop by and pay me back when you're in the neighborhood."

But the lady insisted he take a check right then and there, so the Chief agreed. It wasn't until Thursday, December 13, that he realized his good deed had not gone unnoticed.

His secretary was perusing the morning Free Press when she came across the Chief's name in Marc Beltaire's daily column.

Mrs. Fitch had told her son-in-law about the nice man she encountered at the post office and he in turn passed the word along to the columnist who thought everyone should know about Grosse Pointe's benevolent Police Chief.

Chance Missed Towards Nabbing B-E Culprits

The Woods Department of Public Safety received a belated breaking and entering report from three 14-year-old youths, one of whom reported the break-in of his house, on Thursday evening, December 13.

The burglary took place around 7:15 p.m. but wasn't reported until 9:42 p.m. Police said if the youths had called the department at the time they heard someone in the home, the culprit or culprits might have been apprehended.

The youth whose home was entered told police he and a friend were watching television around 7 p.m. and then went to the basement to call another friend 15 minutes later.

While talking on the phone, the two youths heard what sounded like footsteps upstairs, told their friend and hung up. The twosome remained in the basement around 20 minutes at which time they continued to hear footsteps and the sound of the lad's bike, which is kept in the kitchen, being moved.

Then they heard a voice say, "Shh, be quiet," according to the report.

A car drove up and a knock on the front door was heard. Their friend appeared and the trio conducted a search of the home, finding no one nor any missing items.

A few moments later, they heard a noise in the attached garage. Upon checking, the young resident saw a white male, standing at a door leading from the garage to the house, holding a black and white portable television set taken from the kitchen.

When he knocked on the window, the thief dropped the set, ran from the open garage door and entered a sky blue, four-door auto occupied by another subject. The car was moving east on Edmondson drive with its lights out.

The trio returned to the residence, stayed there for about 15 minutes and then went to an Aline drive home where they conversed for some length with the mother of one of the lad's before calling the department, police said.

The culprit was described as 18 years of age, around 5'10" tall, with black medium length hair. He had a thin build and was wearing a blue police type nylon jacket.

Fire Chiefs Issue Annual Christmas Tree Warning

The five Pointe fire chiefs endorsed warnings issued by the Insurance Information Institute, whereby local residents can help to avoid carelessness with Christmas trees that can cause your Yule happiness to go up in smoke. The warning is given annually and it is felt that at this time of the year, it would be helpful if it was to be given again.

Fire kills approximately 12,600 persons a year in the United States and Canada. This means an average of 34 lives lost a day. Residential fires are responsible for about half of all fire deaths. Fatal fires in houses occur most often between midnight and 6 a.m., when burning goes unnoticed while residents are asleep. That is why a nighttime home fire escape plan is essential for everyone—in fact, plan two means of escape and have periodic practice drills, the chiefs stress.

Last year, according to the I.I.I., a compiler of data for the Christmas tree industry, more than 1,100 trees caught fire causing about $4 million dollars in property damage. "The pitch-laden tree, with highly flammable needles, usually is quite dry by the time it is set up in the home," officials of I.I.I. said. Therefore, it is imperative to be careful not to set it afire, and to avoid such a fire, the Institute offers the following suggestions:

1. Buy a fresh tree, not one that has been cut long ago. A good test is bending the branches to see if they are resilient or if they are dry and crack.

City Firemen Battle Blazes

Two separate blazes kept Grosse Pointe City firemen busy this past weekend, one on Friday, December 14 and the other on Sunday, December 16.

The firemen received a phoned alarm of a house fire at the Raymond Colby residence, 734 Washington road at 7:41 Friday night. When they reached the scene, they found the entire kitchen in flames and a considerable amount of smoke throughout the whole house.

Lieutenant Tim Champine said that at this point, all occupants had cleared out of the home. Mr. Colby had been working in the basement when one of his sons called down to him that the house was on fire. "He was very calm about getting the kids out of the house," the lieutenant further explained. "That was the first thing he did. Then he asked a neighbor to call the fire department."

Fire fighters sounded a second alarm at 7:49 p.m. to which The Farms and The Park responded with five and four men respectively. The teams were able to bring the blaze under control and extinguish it with a booster line. Mr. Colby told firemen that he had apparently forgotten about some grease on the stove and that was how the fire began. By the time he came up from the basement, the flames had already enveloped the stove and had started to spread to the cupboards above it.

"He couldn't believe how fast it spread," Sergeant John Rea commented. Firemen reported that a vast amount of smoke damage was done to the entire house and the kitchen was badly charred.

Two days later, another kitchen fire, occurring at Sandra Singlyn Jackson's residence at 468 Notre Dame, took City fire fighters out once more. A phoned report at 2:37 p.m. brought the men to the residence where they saw smoke pouring from the house. Neighbors standing on the front lawn told them there might be two or three children inside. With the possibility that lives might be endangered, a second alarm which brought five men from The Farms and The Park was sounded immediately.

Some of the firemen fought flames in the kitchen with a hose while others searched the house for any occupants. They found no one and learned later that all the residents had been away when the fire started. The blaze resulted in the complete destruction of the kitchen as well as much heat and smoke damage to the rest of the house. City Fire Chief Marshall also suffered lacerations to his left hand while battling the fire and he was subsequently taken to Bon Secours Hospital.

Fire fighters are not certain, but speculate that the blaze was caused by excessive use of electrical cords.

Mason Scouts Hold Yule Party

Mason School Cub Scout Pack #290 held its annual Christmas party in the school gym Thursday, December 13. Cubmaster Fred Minturn and Den Mother Chief Helen Minturn, of Hollywood avenue, had arranged a pinata celebration for the boys, followed by a Christmas carol sing and refreshments.

Earlier in the evening, the following Woods boys were honored: Tom Berger, of Hampton road, received his bear badge; Patrick Minturn, of Hollywood, received his gold arrow point on his wolf badge; and Matthew Reynolds, of Fleetwood road, was awarded a gold arrow point and a silver arrow point on his wolf badge.

Webelos achievement pins went to Eric Berger, of Hampton, artist and engineer; Ted Binkowski, of Hampton, athlete and engineer; Peter Dembeck, of Hampton, athlete, scholar and sportsman; Mark LaRue, of Anita avenue, citizenship; John Pamerleau, of Anita, naturalist; Glen Patterson, of Hampton, aquanaut and athlete.

Pins also went to John Patterson, of Hollywood, aquanaut, artist, citizenship and outdoorsman; Tim Reaume, of Hawthorne road, athlete, naturalist and outdoorsman; John VanGelder, of Hawthorne, athlete, craftsman, sportsman and traveler; Eric Collis, of Beaufait road, athlete; Greg Grove, of Vernier road, sportsman, athlete and artist; Lester Klose, of Hampton, athlete, and Paul Sipe, of Van Antwerp road, athlete, scientist and artist.

Take Antiques In Woods B-E

Numerous antiques and jewelry were taken from a South Oxford road residence on Saturday, December 1.

Woods police reported the break-in took place while the citizen was out of town, (she has since returned). Officers said, on Thursday, December 6, a partial list of missing articles, all of unknown value, were supplied by the resident.

These include an antique sterling candy dish, plain, with a scalloped edge, two cameras; an RCA color television set; a pair of antique sterling candlesticks, 15 inches high. More items are a four piece silver tea set and gallery tray; two antique Waterford scalloped compotes with sterling pedestal bases; two cut crystal compotes with sterling bases, eight inches in diameter.

Other articles include a sterling tray and two sterling goblets by Reed and Barton; two dozen crystal and sterling edged coasters; an antique goblet etched with leaves and flowers, seven inches high; an antique glass brandy decanter with silver overlay and stopper, 16 inches high.

Still more include antique sterling rattles for babies, one with an ivory ring and silver bear, one five-inch ornate rattle with a whistle on its end and one with an ivory ring and silver bell. The complainant also said several hundred dollars worth of jewelry was missing.

Police said the culprits completely ransacked the house, e.g., in the basement the cupboard and cabinet doors were standing open and red candle wax was found on the floor where the thieves had walked while carrying a lighted candle. Red wax was scattered through the house. In one bedroom, the wax was more prominent than anywhere else in the home, police stated. The wax had dropped into drawers that had been pulled out of a nightstand, and fell on a desk top and on the floor. White candle wax also was in evidence on the basement floor.

Perform Well In Tank Meet

The Grosse Pointe Swim Club "B" Team traveled to East Detroit for their annual AAU "B" Meet Saturday-Sunday, December 15-16. Many of the GPSC swimmers performed well for their team as three natators took firsts.

Sara McLeod was first in the girls 10 and under 50-yard breaststroke with a time of 44.5. Carol Jones, in girls 11 and 12, won the 50-yard breast with a 41.0. Mike Bernard, (13-14), took first in the 500 free with a time of 5:56.0.

Finishing among the top places was David Babcock in three events in boys eight and under. David's brother Billy Babcock placed in the boys 11 and 12, 50-yard free. Andy Scott placed in the boys eight and under 25-yard free, as did Blair Schoof.

Beth Jaskolski finished high in girls 11 and 12, 50 free, and Peter Dever and Joanne Sullivan both placed in 13 and 14 events. Other swimmers who placed include David Center, Lisa Nelson, Katie Eckel, Chris Rohrig, David Fitzsimons and Lynn Mollihan. Admirable performances came from Steve Stanford, Dean and Dan Graham and Kim Bourget. Jim Clune, George Schoof and Jamie Elsey also placed in their events.

Brothers Bob and Don Luher to won their heats as did Elizabeth Oldham, Chris Tocco and Don Trybus. Abby Frame, Tricia Richardson, Chris Truhel and Kathy Brown were heat winners. Marty Montagne was on two eight and under relays that placed along with David Babcock and Andy Scott. Team scores are not kept in AAU "B" meets but GPSC was probably the strongest performer among some 35 teams participating, it is reported.

East Detroit, North High Hand South Cage Setbacks

By Mark Emery "We won... We won. No we didn't... They did." This is a phrase which denotes the thoughts of South's players and spectators after Friday's, (December 14), EML game against East Detroit.

The Shamrocks were given a second birth after South had won, then lost Friday's home game. The odds on completing a down court pass with three seconds left on the clock, and having that pass converted into the game winning score, were virtually nonexistent. It wasn't supposed to happen but it did.

South was trailing by a single point with three seconds left on the clock. Fred Kreger took a court long pass from Tom Maranette and made an impossible shot to give South an apparent victory. Officials however discounted the score, claiming a South player had called time out before the play had started.

South's head coach Charles Hollosy commented, "Calling the time out was the intelligent thing to do. The pass to Kreger wasn't expected, it was a freak situation." South then took the ball again and completed a court long pass, this time to John Shultes. Shultes' shot had just missed the basket as the buzzer sounded, and South lost, 55-54.

The Devils trailed throughout the entire first half as East Detroit dominated every aspect of play. South played weakly defensively and trailed at the end of the first half, 30-19. South started to stage a comeback after they found themselves down by 11 points at the start of the third period. Behind the efforts of Kreger and Jim Scala, South began to mount its most substantial offensive threat of the evening, as they jumped into the lead.

Kreger sank two shots from the foul line to increase South's lead to 53-48, but East Detroit regained the momentum as they tied South with 28 seconds left. Scala gave South a slim lead as he sank one of two shots from the foul line. Then, the Shamrocks countered with two giving them the lead, 55-54. Then the pandemonium started, and South lost for the fourth straight time.

In another contest, North overcame South, 47-39, on Tuesday, December 11. The game was closer than the score indicated as South held North in check throughout the entire first half, and into the early minutes of the third quarter. Defensively, South played an outstanding game as the Devils held North's potent offensive attack to only eight points in the first quarter.

South led North 14-8 at the end of the first period. North, however, overcame the Devils as it took a 21-19 lead with four seconds remaining in the first half. Rob "Beauty is a short-lived reign." —Socrates

MONSIGNOR FRANCIS X. CANFIELD, OF SAINT PAUL'S-ON-THE-LAKE

By Janet Mueller

He is pastor of Saint Paul's, Grosse Pointe's oldest parish, still one of its largest, ministering to some 5,000 men, women and children in more than 1,500 family units.

He had spent most of his adult life in Education. Appointed to the faculty of Detroit's Sacred Heart Seminary in 1946, he became Rector in 1963, the same year he was named a Domestic Prelate by Pope Paul VI.

He'd received his Bachelor of Arts from Sacred Heart in 1941. After Theology studies at Catholic University in Washington, D.C., he had been ordained for the Archdiocese of Detroit February 24, 1945.

Then he'd spent a year-and-a-half as an assistant at Saint Theresa's before going to Sacred Heart.

Has Other Degrees
He holds a Master of Arts in English from Catholic University (1945), a Master of Arts in Library Science from the University of Michigan (1950) and a Ph.D. in English from the University of Ottawa (1951).

He'd been appointed librarian of Sacred Heart Seminary in 1948. He liked the job.

He'd served two terms (1950-1952 and 1954-1956) as chairman of the Catholic Library Association's Michigan Unit, edited the Unit's Newsletter from 1950 to 1955, served on various CLA committees — chairman of the Publications Committee, the Committee on Centralization, the Committee on Personnel, the Finance Committee — become a member of CLA's Executive Council in 1957, served as its vice-president from 1959 to 1961 and as president from 1961 to 1963.

He'd written book reviews and articles for "Critic," "America," "Catholic Library World," "Catholic Educational Review," "Catholic School World," "Catholic School Journal," "Ave Maria," "Pastoral Life" and "Michigan History."

He'd written a weekly column, "What's What in Books," for the Michigan Catholic from 1949 to 1963.

He'd contributed to Sister Regis' "Catholic Bookman's Guide" (published May, 1962), served as a member of the Editorial Selection Committee, Campus Book Club, 1960-61, and as editor of the Edward Cardinal Mooney Lecture Series publications "Philosophy and Modern Mind" (1961), "Literature and Modern Mind" (1962) and "Political Science and Modern Mind" (1963).

Was Police Chaplain
In December, 1955, he'd been named Detroit Police Department chaplain.

In 1967 he'd been appointed member of the Advisory Steering Committee, Bishops' Committee on Priestly Formation.

He'd served as chairman of the Seminary Section, National Catholic Educational Association, 1970-1971, and as Visiting Professor at Immaculate Heart College, Los Angeles, 1970.

Then on January 15, 1971, he officially became pastor of Saint Paul's Parish.

He likes the job.
"I particularly like the people and spirit of this community. Of course, my whole style of life is different, especially in terms of time. We're on call constantly."

Four on Team
"We" are the Saint Paul's team, including Monsignor Canfield and Father James F. Cronk, associate. Monsignor Frank J. McPhillips, pastor emeritus, is also in residence at Saint Paul's rectory, and is always willing to help.

Father Thomas A. Gorney served as Saint Paul's deacon until his ordination a month ago. A priest now, he's been assigned to another parish.

Father Peter Bunnak has come to Saint Paul's. And then there's Humphrey.

Humphrey is about the size of a medium-sized bear, a huge, friendly Saint Bernard who's as well-known to the people of Saint Paul's as their pastor.

Maybe MORE well-known. Monsignor Canfield recalls a certain walk, (as Humphrey's owner, he walks a lot), down Moran road, a meeting with several children who recognized Humphrey immediately, (he's not easy to miss), and immediately let him know it.
"Hi there, Humphrey!"
"Good old Humph!"
"Hello, Humphrey . . . There's a good boy . . ."

Humphrey took it all in stride — celebrities must expect a certain amount of public adulation — while Monsignor Canfield stood aside and let him take it.
Then, as they were about to continue their walk, the Monsignor questioned the children.
Mistaken Identity
"Well, I see you know who Humphrey is. Now do you know who I am?"
"Sure," said the kids. "See you later, Father Cronk!"
The whole parish followed Humphrey's progress as a patient at Michigan State University's Veterinary Hospital. Taken there because of a stubborn paw infection, he received a thorough check-up and was found to have a heart problem.

The infection was cleared up. The heart condition is chronic. Humphrey's been back to MSU four times, the first three for shock treatments. But his last visit was much more pleasant: The vet merely adjusted his medication.
Humphrey's on five pills a day now. His condition is stabilized.
Humphrey's master was born December 3, 1920, on Detroit's East Side. He grew up and went to grade school in Saint Catherine's parish.

Tennis Player, Cook
He likes a good game of tennis, indoors or outdoors. He likes to cook for other people. He has one sister, who has five children, and on Thanksgiving he had the whole clan over for dinner. Home-cooked by Canfield, of course.

He likes to read. His tastes are catholic, (sorry about that; couldn't resist), ranging from a continuing interest in medieval manuscripts, especially in illuminations, through keeping up with Theology, to mystery and detective stories.

"I've found quite a few kindred spirits in the parish," he says, apropos the mystery-detective preference, a fairly recent interest. The kindred spirits keep a pretty good whodunit exchange going on. Vacations come as they can, when they can. "Father Cronk and I play it, (the vacation schedule), pretty much by ear." Last January Monsignor Canfield spent a week in London. This past summer he was in the Upper Peninsula, following the footsteps, by car, of the missionary Bishop Baraga, who compiled the first dictionary and grammar of the Chippewa language.

Leads Busy Life
But by and large Saint Paul's pastor is in his parish. It's a busy life. Mornings begin with mass. Often there will be a morning funeral: Saint Paul's has a relatively high percentage of elderly parishioners, and therefore a relatively large number of funerals.

Morning is a time, too, for being available for the people, for being THERE, at the rectory. And often there's something going on at Saint Paul's School. Monsignor Canfield is invited/expected/anxious to participate in School events.

Afternoons offer the best chance to visit the sick. Saint Paul's priests double as Catholic chaplains for Cottage Hospital, bringing communion and visiting on a regular basis and on call for emergencies. Parishoner patients at Saint John, Bon Secours or downtown hospitals, or at home, must be visited, too.

Many Evening Meetings
Evenings are devoted largely to meetings and are the best time to see couples making arrangements for weddings.

Saint Paul's sponsors social activities for all age groups, from Cub Scouts and Brownies through the Thirty-Niners, a group of older people who meet twice a month for programs, parties and field trips. Monsignor Canfield is particularly happy that this latter group, newly-formed is coming along nicely.
"We are working toward a more careful ministry to the aging and the sick."

The Parish Council, a central organization elected by the parish at large and representing all the people of the parish, meets the second Monday of each month. Its task is to assist the pastor and clergy in the total operation of the parish.

An Administration Commission, members selected on the basis of expertise, meets the first Monday of each month to conduct the temporal business of the parish. It's a great help.

Pastor's Problem
"There's a danger every pastor runs: That of becoming just a business manager."
And that, after all, isn't precisely what one became a priest for. Even though it is part of the job.

Monsignor Canfield maintains his interest in education, seeing it as a continuing, expansive process.

"I think the School (Saint Paul's) is a very important element in the parish. It gives you another rallying point, another way people are identified with the parish."

He came to Saint Paul's just as the Parish Council was making the decision on whether or not to close or curtail classes at Saint Paul's School.

"It was one of the hardest things I've had to do. I felt the anguish as facts dictated the closing of the high school."

In the face of rising costs, an increasing financial burden, he is determined Saint Paul's will make every effort to keep its grade school open.

At the same time, he is determined Saint Paul's will continue and increase its efforts to supply religious education for parish children in public schools.

And he's anxious to assist adult lay people to keep up with the Church.

Education Program
"What we're trying to do is develop a program of continuing education for adults. We've developed a little more of an ecumenical dimension, for one thing."

Monsignor Canfield served as president of the Grosse Pointe Ministerial Association in 1971. Saint Paul's and Christ Church will celebrate their third cooperative Day of Prayer January 20, with Saint Paul's supplying the preacher, scripture scholar Addison Wright, from Balt-

CASSEROLE OF HAM AND HOMINY

Contributed by Mrs. Walter Rundle

1 can hominy
Chopped onion
Mustard
Slice of ham, 1/2 inch thick
Cream sauce
Stuffed olives

Make a heavy cream sauce and mix chopped onion in it. Spread a layer on bottom of well-buttered casserole and cover with one-half of hominy. Cut ham in individual pieces, having first spread it with prepared mustard; place on top of hominy. Cut olives in slices and dot on top of ham. Cover with another layer of cream sauce and hominy.

Bake in slow oven (250 degrees) at least an hour and a quarter. Keep covered until the last 15 minutes.

The Glancy mansion is gone now, razed for a new residential development, but the Train Party tradition continues. Mr. Glancy's legacy to everybody's children and grandchildren.

The fabulous Glancy collection is on display, for the first time on public view, at the Detroit Historical Museum, where the entire exhibit hall is devoted to Mr. Glancy's toys, trains and train accessories.

Several trains are running and many accessories are in use. Lionel and American Flyer rolling stock is on stationary display. Oil rigs are pumping, a saw mill is sawing, scale models of airplanes, automobiles and trucks add a touch of realism to landscape layouts.

The collection's toys are almost as numerous as its trains. There are lead cowboys and Indians in a complete Wild West Show, paper mache cowboys and Indians and a six-horse hitch stagecoach.

There's a complete circus Big Top with menagerie and performers next to a locomotive-powered Ferris Wheel.

The Glancy Trains remain on exhibit at the Historical Museum through February 3. They're a super Christmas Show, perfect for a what-shall-we-do-today? holiday field trip with the kids during school vacation.

Big kids, (that's you and me), will love them, too.
