HEADLINES of the WEEK As Compiled by the Grosse Pointe News

Thursday, February 21
GAS STATION OWNERS across the nation warned the government that a shutdown of pumps could be imminent unless stations are granted a substantial increase in retail prices. Charles Blindest, president of the National Congress of Petroleum Retailers met with deputy federal energy director John C. Sawhill to discuss means of averting the threatened uprising by station owners who demand higher prices to offset reduced supplies of gasoline.

Friday, February 22
J. REGINALD MURPHY, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, has been kidnapped by a group calling themselves the American Revolutionary Army, and a $700,000 price tag has been set for his return. A taped message was sent to the newspaper about 26 hours after the editor was abducted. A voice identified as Murphy's explained that the reason he was taken by the group was because they felt the American news media have been too leftist and too liberal. Murphy disappeared at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, after leaving his home with a man who apparently came to the door saying he wanted to discuss a news story.

Saturday, February 23
THE SYMBIONESE LIBERATION ARMY has been offered an additional $4 million in free food, if they promise to free Patricia Hearst, daughter of newspaper magnate Randolph Hearst. The pledge was offered by San Francisco Examiner publisher Charles E. Gould. As he spoke, Hearst's initial $2 million program was getting underway in four California cities, with food being distributed by People in Need (PIN), the group responsible for setting up the plan. Gould said that $2 million of his pledge would be paid upon Miss Hearst's release, and the other half would be contributed in January of 1975.

Sunday, February 24
REG MURPHY, Atlanta Constitution editor who was kidnapped and later released, identified William A. H. Williams and his wife Betty, as the members of the American Revolutionary Army responsible for his abduction. The ransom money, $700,000, was located in the pair's home. Murphy was released Friday night, 49 hours after he was tricked into leaving his home, by the claim that his help was needed to arrange for the distribution of 300,000 gallons of heating oil to Atlanta's needy.

Monday, February 25
WILLIAM SIMON, federal energy chief, said he was certain the government's new gasoline allocation program would shorten lines at stations and eliminate the necessity for rationing. Simon said that Friday's allocation of an extra 240 million gallons of gas to hard-hit states plus a two cent a gallon raise in retail prices announced Saturday would reduce the amount of inconvenience being suffered by the American people.

Tuesday, February 26
HERBERT W. KALMBACH, president Nixon's personal lawyer, pleaded guilty to two campaign finance violations after agreeing to cooperate with prosecutors in the upcoming Watergate trials. Kalmbach, in a letter released by special prosecutor Leon Jaworski, was told that a number of other possible criminal charges would be dropped against him if he agreed to offer "full and truthful disclosure" on Watergate matters. There is speculation that Kalmbach will be a key prosecution witness against former top presidential assistants, H. R. Haldeman and John Erlichman.

Troop 479 Introduces New Eagle Scouts

Annual Observance
Scheduled for 1 p.m. in Christ Church; 168
Countries Take Part

Men and women in 168 countries will be joining in a "World Day of Prayer," which always falls on the first Friday of March. This year, Pointers will attend the service at Christ Episcopal Church on March 1, at 1 p.m.

World traveler, the Reverend Herman H. Riffe, will be the speaker. His subject will be "Make us Builders of Peace." The undercroft will be where refreshments will be served afterwards.

Hundreds of Services
World Day of Prayer had its early start when a Presbyterian woman, in 1887, asked her fellow members of a "Home Mission" group to pray for the United States and the success of its opening of the West.

It was originally designated "World Community Day," and in 1944 was renamed "World Day of Prayer." It is awesome to think of the hundreds of services around the globe, all joining in devout worship in countless languages on the same day.

Local Chairmen
Chairmen for Grosse Pointe are Mrs. Ann Crouse Eaton, from Christ Church, and Mrs. Fred Schreiber, from St. Paul's Catholic Church. This day of worship was held at the Memorial Presbyterian Church last year, and will be at St. Paul's in 1975.

There will be a nursery for young children.

Pointe Police Chiefs Urge Compliance to New Law

All Pointe and other law enforcement agencies throughout the State of Michigan, have been notified that any handgun hunting and target shooting buff, apprehended with such a weapon, unloaded or taken apart, in the trunk of their cars, one minute after midnight of Friday, March 29, will be guilty of a felony, unless they have a concealed weapons permit to transport the gun to any area.

Under a newly amended statute passed by the State Legislature, beginning on the March date, a license will be mandatory even if the weapon is unloaded and/or apart and encased and carried in the trunk of a vehicle. If caught, and you have no con-

Notre Dame Residents Rap Traffic, Debris, Dirt From Hospital Project

Bon Secours Spokesman and Construction Supervisor Promise Cooperation to Eliminate Causes of Complaints

By Nancy Kramer
A pair of Notre Dame residents, irked at having to put up with the traffic, debris and dirt only construction crews can leave in their wake, attended the last regular meeting of the Grosse Pointe City Council on Thursday, February 21. The men requested the solons' assistance in alleviating difficulties related to work being conducted at Bon Secours Hospital.

The hospital is in the midst of a $19.5 million project which includes additional construction and the renovation of present facilities.

Jon B. Gandelot took the floor initially. "I'm concerned about the debris," he stated. "I've done a little homework on this and found an ordinance that requires the city or the construction crew to assume responsibility for keeping the area clean on a daily basis. We'd like this to be done."

Fears Dust Bowl
The difficulty, Mr. Gandelot went on to explain, is compounded by the workers' habit of parking their vehicles along the west side of the street, between Maumee and Caroline avenues. Trucks come and go from the site, tracking large clumps of mud into the road. If cars were not parked along the curb, Mr. Gandelot pointed out, someone would be able to sweep the street on a regular basis. "With spring coming along, the mud will dry up and we're going to have a dust bowl out there," he complained.

Mr. Gandelot felt that if workers were forced to leave their cars in the hospital's parking structure, the amount of dirt and debris could be more effectively curbed. "That structure is never full," he observed. "I don't see why workers couldn't park there and walk the extra half-block to their jobs."

Workers Warned
Once hospital officials received the letter, they, in turn, were in touch with construction company supervisors, Mr. Spero explained. Mr. Monahan, representing the general contractors in charge of construction at the hospital, was then invited to air his views.

"We've been instructed to make you happy," Mr. Monahan began. "The workers have been told to keep (Continued on Page 6)

Two white males entered the Briggs Pharmacy, 18544 Mack avenue on Monday, February 18, leaped over the counter and forced a lone female clerk to lay face down on the floor, and then took $50 from the cash register and an unknown amount of drugs.

According to Farms police, one of the hold-up men said to the woman, "Keep your face down or you will be shot — we've done this before."

After taking the money, which was in assorted bills, and the narcotics, one man told the clerk, "We did not hurt you and did not use a gun," then they fled out the front door. The method and direction of their escape is not known, the authorities said.

Both gunmen were described as being between 20 and 24 years old, between five feet, eight inches and five feet, 10 inches in height and of average build. Both were wearing dark blue jackets. Also, both were said to have dark hair, with one possibly having a mustache and the other a mustache and beard.

Two Issues In Park Stir Up Debates

Rotation of YSD Personnel and Crossing Guards Request Start Long Discussions

Two issues postponed by the Park council at its February 11 meeting for further study and discussion, until the council's next meeting, which was held on Monday, February 25, drew a group of citizens who expressed their views on the subjects.

One group spoke up against the proposed rotation of officers of the Youth Service Division, as planned by Woods City Administrator Chester E. Petersen. The Woods is the managing municipality of the Division located in its Public Safety Building. The wages of the agents are paid from funds, to which the five Pointes and the Grosse Pointe Board of Education pay their proportionate shares, since the division services the entire Pointe community.

The second matter pertained to a petition from St. Clare de Montfaleo School officials and parents of children attending the school. The solons were asked to hire crossing guards for the intersections of Audubon and Jefferson, and for Mack avenue, either at Audubon or Whittier/East Outer drive, to assure safe crossing for the children, going to and from school.

Deadend at Mack

Whittier is located in the Park, and East Outer drive in Detroit, both are staggered and deadend at Mack. The center of Mack avenue is the Park-Detroit city limits line. City Manager Robert Stone told the council members and those in the audience, that the Woods, as the managing municipality, has control of the YSD, according to an agreement signed by the Pointes and the Board of Education in August 1970, at which time the Division was organized.

Although the solons might not like the idea of the rotation system, and wanted the Park to have more say-so in the operation of the YSD, since the city contributes toward the paying of the wages of agents, Stone said that the agreement formulated in 1970, not only established the Division, but gave the Woods the authority to control its functions, since the YSD office was to be located in the Woods' Public Safety Department Building. The Division agents are considered public safety officers of the city, but while operating as agents, come under a separate pension system.

Park Policeman Shoots, Wounds Burglar Suspect

Intruder Shot in Right Shoulder When He Aims What Might Have Been a Gun Hidden in His Coat Pocket

A Park policeman shot and seriously wounded a 17-year-old burglary suspect who was surprised in the home of a rare coin collector, at 8:52 p.m. on Monday, February 18, when the intruder, his hand in his jacket pocket, appeared to be aiming a gun at the officer.

The alleged burglar, according to information released by Lt. Gordon Duncan, was identified as John Patrick Higgins, no known address. The bullet, fired by Patrolman Edward Serwach, struck the youth in the right shoulder, breaking the shoulder bone.

Higgins was transported to Bon Secours Hospital, where the bullet was extracted and his wound treated. His arm was in a sling when he appeared for a preliminary hearing before Park Municipal Judge John Urso on Tuesday, February 19. The youth stood mute and the court entered a plea of innocent for him and set examination for yesterday, February 27.

County Prisoner
Higgins was unable to post bond of $5,000, two sureties, and was taken to Detroit General Hospital as a Wayne County prisoner and held there until his examination.

Lt. Duncan said that after Higgins was arrested and searched, a five-inch long, two-inch wide container, such as used for prescribed pills, was found in the pocket in which he had his hand. The youth raised the hidden hand and pointed it at the officers, as if aiming a gun.

Higgins apparently saw Serwach's cap badge as the patrolman was peering through the front door of the house. Serwach, on seeing Higgins' raised hand in the pocket, smashed the glass of the door and fired his service revolver once. The bullet smashed the glass of a foyer door and penetrated the youth's shoulder.

The lieutenant said that the vital in Higgins' coat pocket was taken from another burglary at 1239 Audubon. The name of the person for whom the medication was prescribed was on the label of the bottle. Also in the youth's possession was a wrist watch taken from the Audubon address, which was (Continued on Page 4)

Brownell Invites Senior Citizens Back to School

By Kathy Duff

Would you believe a Girl Scout calling on you for something other than to buy Girl Scout cookies?

No? Well they are, if you are a senior citizen and living in the Brownell Middle School district. Girl Scouts in Troop #1463 have spent the last week inviting senior citizens to an open house at Brownell Thursday, March 7. The day, which will be spent giving guided tours of the school and sharing cookies and refreshments prepared by a home economics class, is called "Getting to Know Our Special Neighbors."

Two Girl Scouts and a boy on the Brownell Student Association dropped by the NEWS office on Monday,

Ask Probe Of Officer's Resignation

Woods Police Association Requests Complete Investigation by Council

By Roger A. Wahs

The resignation of a Woods public safety officer in early January, and the reasons for it, sparked the Grosse Pointe Woods Police Officers Association, (GPWPOA), to request that the city council fully investigate the allegations which were used as grounds for the termination of the officer's employment.

In a letter to the city administration, GPWPOA President Patrick Fagan said, "It is the Association's contention that these allegations made against (the officer) contain many discrepancies and misunderstandings. Hopefully an impartial investigation by the City Council will place these allegations and discrepancies in their proper context."

At the regular meeting Monday, February 25, GPWPOA Treasurer Charles Philip Hamel read a statement to the solons written by Officer Fagan, who was unable to be present because he was on duty.

Held Investigation
While requesting a council investigation, he said the GPWPOA conducted an investigation of its own into the allegations against the officer, and several of them were not told in their proper perspective to Public Safety Director Henry Marchand at a recent staff meeting.

Officer Hamel, reading the letter said, "It is the contention of the association that if the resignation was the result of unfounded allegations it would be in the interest of the municipality to investigate."

Councilwoman Joan M. Mullan asked City Administrator Chester E. Petersen if there were records kept of the investigation into the allegations against the officer. Mr. Petersen said records were kept of the entire proceedings and that the allegations can be documented.

Action Postponed
The council unanimously approved a motion that no (Continued on Page 10)

Final Tests Will Be Reinstated

Main Complaint Concerned Delay in Making Announcement of Change in Policy

By Kathy Duff
About 40 South High students attended the Monday night, February 25, meeting of the Board of Education to protest the reinstatement of final exams at mid-year.

Many of the students said that they had thrown away their first semester notes since they did not think they would be held responsible for the content in June. Other seniors said that they had chosen certain courses in their senior year because there would not be a final exam.

For the most part, the trustees remained silent on the issue. They had not been forewarned that the topic would come up, so they had not discussed the matter in executive session. The only two trustees who spoke were William Huettnerman, who felt that the students had adequate time to prepare for the exams, and Board President Robert D. Warner, who asked that the discussion be closed, after a half hour, if there were no new arguments to present before the Board.

Spagnoli Spokesman
Since Superintendent Theos I. Anderson was absent, Assistant Superintendent-Instruction Joseph Spagnoli was the official flask-catcher Monday night. He had to speak for the administration which issued the final exam order in late December.

"We want the last week of school to be as educational for seniors as they are for underclassmen," Dr. Spagnoli said. "For several years, we did not require final exams. Each department had a choice of giving a final exam or offering a comparable activity. It became very clear that the comparable activities were not satisfactory."

Dr. Spagnoli said that seniors were not included in his original recommendation on final exams. However, he said that both high schools asked that the recommendation be amended to include seniors.

Teachers Surprised
Several of the students said that their teachers were taken by surprise. They complained that the teachers had (Continued on Page 2)

Freak Mishap Ends Happily

A 31-year-old Roseville man, who works at Joseph's Service Center, 20700 Mack avenue, escaped injury during a freak accident Friday afternoon, February 22.

Walter Clark, Jr., told Woods Public Safety Officer Charles Philip Hamel he had just finished pumping gas into an auto driven by Marian Ina McCabe, of Roslyn road, collected the money and started to walk away. At the same moment, she began to pull away from the station.

Upon driving away, the bell hose got caught in the right front wheel of her car. As this was happening, Mr. Clark stepped into a coil of the hose, which quickly tightened around his ankle.

Completely unaware of what transpired, the motorist drove onto Mack and proceeded to Anita where City Corporal Edward Behrend saw the incident unfolding and successfully pulled her to the curb in front of 20792 Mack, between Anita and Hawthorne road.

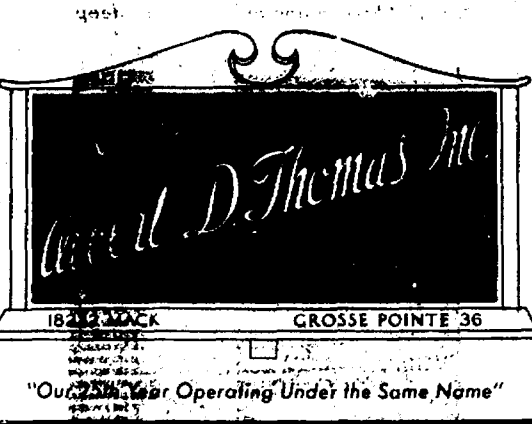

Police said Mr. Clark was hooked by the hose about 20-25 feet behind the car, with about 100 feet of hose dangling behind him.

Mr. Clark told police he wasn't hurt and declined transportation to the hospital. Later that afternoon, he was again contacted and said he was okay, only shaken.

Due to the freakishness of the accident, no violations were issued, police added.

Two Issues Debated at Park Meeting

Petersen, who drew up the original plans for the formation of the YSD, had in mind that the four agents would serve for a period of four years, after which other officers of the PS Department would then replace those who served out their period of service, so that the replacements, too, can gain experience in the work.

The Woods administrator said that the present YSD agents are receiving policemen's pay, plus an extra $900 firefighters' wages, and they should be trained, or continue their training as firemen.

A meeting of the city managers and a representative of the Board of Education, to discuss the future of the YSD, was held on Tuesday, February 26.

Under the present system, an agent and an investigative officer are assigned to Grosse Pointe North High School and another team, to Grosse Pointe South High School.

Agent Michael Ferrence and Det. Thomas Podeszwick are assigned to North, and Agent John Kendall and Det. Donald Schmalz, to South. They have established an excellent rapport with the students of their respective school assignments.

Report Awaited

After much discussion of this aspect of the meeting, the council by a 4-2 vote, tabled the matter until a report of the February 26 meeting is presented at the next council session scheduled for March 11, at 5 p.m.

Voting to table the issue were Mayor Matthew Patterson, and Councilmen Robert Hutton, Dr. Roger McNeil and Charles Tompkins. Against, were Councilwoman Camille Peterson and Douglas Graham. Councilman George Verdonck was absent.

Several persons in the audience who opposed the rotation idea, were permitted to express their views.

City Manager Slone said that he will be unable to attend the YSD parley, but that Police Chief Henry Counce would represent the Park. Councilmen Tompkins and McNeil said they, too, will attend.

At the February 11 session, Laurence G. O'Donnell, secretary of the Education Committee of St. Clare, and Sister Jeanne Brown, school principal, requested the council to consider hiring a crossing guard at the intersection of Jefferson and Audubon, for the safety of children crossing at that point. It was noted that 28 children living south of Jefferson attend the school.

Cites Safety Problem

It was also pointed out that there was a safety problem on Mack at both Audubon and East Outer drive-Whittier.

Sister Jeanne Brown said that Outer drive-Whittier is diagonal and that the traffic light is short, not allowing the children enough time to cross the avenue safely.

Mayor Patterson and the city manager pointed out that St. Clare is a Park school, and that a good number of pupils attending come from Detroit.

The council, at this meeting, approved a survey be made by Sgt. George Blair, school and traffic safety officer, at street crossings in the city, and to request Detroit to assist in a survey on Mack at Audubon, and at Outer drive, on the Detroit side.

At Monday night's meeting, Chief Counce presented the result of the survey, stating that at Jefferson-Audubon, although there are 28 students living south of Jefferson, between eight and 10 children cross the avenue.

The chief said that the survey shows no need for a crossing guard at this intersection, since a police officer is present every morning to assist the children. A policeman will be at the crossing in the morning and afternoon in the future, he added.

Will Mark Avenue

Slone said that there are no markings on the avenue, since the county finished paving in the fall, but these will be painted as soon as the weather is warm enough. There are crossing guards at Kercheval, Vernor and

Charlevoix, along Audubon, and along Cadieux, in areas where Park children cross to go to Mair School, located in the City, and that guards at these locations are paid by the City, with the Park contributing a share toward wages paid, Slone said.

As far as the Detroit Police Department is concerned, its joint survey with the Park showed that traffic lights on the Detroit side indicates that crossing guards are not needed, and Detroit will not hire any.

However, Slone pointed out, Park traffic lights have "Walk," "Don't Walk" signals, at both Audubon and Whittier. Detroit is willing to consider attaching similar signs to its traffic lights and lengthen the timing, but definitely ruled out hiring crossing guards.

A parent in the audience pointed out that there is a guard at Jefferson and Wayburn, helping 27 children who go to St. Ambrose School, which is located in Detroit.

Church in Park

Slone indicated that although the school is located in Detroit, St. Ambrose Church is within the boundaries of the Park, and the school is in a different category.

The children crossing at this intersection live south of Jefferson in the Park, and the intersection is also within the Park limits, and therefore under the city's jurisdiction.

As far as St. Clare School is concerned, the city manager said, the Park children do not have to cross Mack to go to the school, whereas, those living in Detroit, must do so. The latter is Detroit's problem, and the Park cannot force Detroit to hire someone to help the children from the Detroit side to get to that of the Park.

Protest Examinations

not enunciated the objectives of the course during the year, so they had little idea what to study for the exam.

Some of the South students went directly to their teachers and administrators when they learned of the final exam measure. One administrator told a girl that finals would help alleviate the problem with senior mischief, such as smoke bombs, at the close of the year. Another teacher told his student that he would give a "Mickey Mouse" exam to the seniors.

Since the seniors would be taking their exams before the underclassmen, two days of final review would be lost. When the seniors asked Dr. Spagnoli about this, the assistant superintendent said that the underclassmen would be getting extra review.

During the course of the discussion Monday night, it became clear that the seniors' main complaint was that the policy of final exams was announced at mid-year, and that they had planned their academic schedules without it in mind.

"If we started final exams for seniors next year, then next year's seniors would complain. We had to start sometime," Dr. Spagnoli said.

The administration made one concession. A girl suggested that the seniors' final exam be limited to counting 10 percent of their final mark. (Final exams can count between 10 and 20 percent.) Dr. Spagnoli said that they would discuss the suggestion.

Brownell

which accepted the program.

The day will begin at 10:15 a.m. when the guests are welcomed in the gym by Donna. They will then be given a list of possible activities, ranging from a short band presentation to tours of the industrial arts classes. Each tour will depend on the interests of the individual group. The day will close with coffee, tea and dessert served by the members of Mrs. Evelyn Toll's Period Four Homemaking Class.

The event was planned to enable two groups of neighbors to get to know each other. All three of the Brownell students who dropped by the office said that they know older people on the block, but that they never stopped to talk with them. Two of the students said that they would sometimes shovel snow or rake leaves for the retired persons on their block.

Another thing all three students had in common was that none of their grandparents lived in the area. Donna has grandparents in Massachusetts; Kathy has ones in California and Wisconsin. It's hoped that the morning will be spent in two groups of neighbors getting to know each other better.

Any retired person living in the Brownell district who has not been contacted should call the school for additional information.

Farms firefighters answered two alarms on Thursday, February 21, and in each case made excellent "stops," that is, kept flames from spreading and causing more damage, it was disclosed by Fire Chief Michael Beaupre.

The chief said that the first alarm, at 9:09 a.m., was to the house of John VanZile, 292 Kerby road; and the second, at 4:26 p.m., to the residence of Kathryn Moore, 425 Calvin.

The City Fire Department dispatched one fire truck and four firemen automatically under the Mutual Fire Aid Pact, but were not needed at the Moore fire.

Chief Beaupre said Mrs. VanZile informed him that she left the house to take her son to work, and when she returned, saw flames and smoke coming from her son's bedroom at the southeast corner of the building. When she entered the house, she heard the breaking of window glass and ran to a neighbor's house to phone in the alarm.

The chief said that the blaze was confined to the bedroom and to the hallway next to the bedroom door.

Mrs. VanZile said her son had been smoking in the bedroom before leaving. Chief Beaupre said that the fire could have been caused by an improperly doused cigarette, or possibly by a short in the electric blanket on the bed. The amount of damage will have to be determined by insurance adjusters, the chief said. The bedroom contents were destroyed.

At the Moore residence, Chief Beaupre said, the total amount of damage was $50 to life preserver jackets and miscellaneous items stored in the basement.

Chief Beaupre said that Mrs. Moore's son, who was in the basement, accidentally knocked over can of paint thinner, near the hot water heater. Heat from the flame of the pilot light caused a flash explosion from the thinner fumes and ignited the life preservers and the items nearby.

The quick response by the Farms firemen kept the damage to the burning items, which were destroyed. Other than smoke in the basement, there was no other damage to the building itself, the chief said.

Put your ideas into motion—talking accomplishes nothing.

Launch Children's Seal Drive

bookkeeper at St. Paul Rectory, BRIAN SHERMAN, 8, who, along with his sister, Bonnie, 16, are representing The Pointe-East side area, and Father JAMES F. CRONK, associate pastor, St. Paul's on the Lake.

Drive Underway in Area To Aid Crippled Children

The Metropolitan Society for Crippled Children and Adults launched the 1974 annual Crippled Children's Seal fund drive Friday, February 15, with a press conference at St. Paul's on the Lake Parish Home in The Farms. The drive, which will continue throughout the month of March, is headed by Father James F. Cronk in The Pointe area. Father Cronk is associate pastor, St. Paul's on the Lake.

Father Cronk emphasized that Metropolitan Society is an independent voluntary health agency. The Society seeks public support to continue services to the handicapped through the use of the purple and white Crippled Children's Seals which will be mailed this month to East side residents.

When a donation is made for the Seals, the donor is giving a "Gift of Therapy" to a handicapped individual in the tri-county area.

Presently, Father Cronk serves as Vicar of Theologian for the Detroit-Grosse Pointe Vicariate. Active in various community activities with young people and adult education, he is also a chaplain at Cottage Hospital.

The children representing The Pointe-East side area are Bonnie and Brian Sherman. Sixteen-year-old Bonnie has been receiving physical therapy at the Metropolitan Society since she was three-years-old. At present, she is a junior at a Warren public school.

Eight-year-old Brian has been receiving both physical and occupational therapy at the Metropolitan Society since he was six-months-old. He was also involved with the Society's pre-school development program. Currently, he attends Carlson Elementary School, Orthopedic Unit, in Warren.

Those acting as campaign chairmen for other Metropolitan areas are Jac Le Goff, WJBK newscaster, for the North and West Oakland County areas; William A. Penner, Jr., vice-president of Detroit Bank and Trust Company, for the South Oakland County area; Tom Strong, systems engineer, IBM Corporation, for Dearborn and Western Wayne County; and Thomas Turner, president, Metropolitan Detroit AFL-CIO Council, for the Detroit area.

Thieves Visit Gas Station

While a lone attendant was busy at the pumps, two black males made off with over $100 in bills from the Sunoco gas station located at 17450 Mack avenue, on Wednesday, February 20.

City police received a complaint from the station's owner, Gerald Watson, that two black males drove into the station around 6:25 p.m. One occupant remained in the car while the other went to the men's room and then entered the office. During this time, the attendant was occupied at the pumps.

When he returned to the office, he noticed all 20, 10 and five dollar bills were missing from the register.

identified by the owner. Both the coin dealer, because of his type of business, and the householder of the Audubon address, asked that their names not be mentioned. The dealer especially requested that his address not be given.

Lt. Duncan gave this story to the NEWS. The dealer and his wife had left the house to take their children swimming at a school pool. They drove through the neighborhood to pick up another youngster and were on their way to pick up still another child. The dealer passed his house and noticed a light on in a room of the house, which he thought had been turned off.

Lights Tell Story

After picking up the second child, the dealer drove on Kercheval, and while passing his residential street, saw a light go out and another light go on in another room. He pulled into a neighbor's driveway, and told his wife to call police from the neighbor's house.

Sgt. Thomas Martin and Patrolmen Serwach and Robert Michael were dispatched to the scene. Serwach and Michael remained at the front of the house while Martin went to the rear of the property to prevent any possible escape.

While Michael stood on one side on the front porch, Serwach peered through an 8-by-10-inch glass of the front door and saw only a light at the rear of the house, and the rest of the building in darkness.

Sees Moving Figure

Serwach then saw a male figure approaching the front door, and assumed that the figure had either seen him or the flash of his cap badge. The person in the house took about two or three steps toward the rear of the house, then turned and again started walking toward the front door, at the same time putting his hand in his coat pocket and raising it, aiming at the policeman.

Serwach, assuming that the figure, (Higgins), was going to shoot, smashed the door glass and fired one shot which shattered the foyer door glass, the bullet hitting Higgins in the right shoulder. Higgins fell backward toward the stairway. He was about eight feet away when hit.

As Higgins regained his balance and came toward the door, Serwach and Michael, their service revolvers aimed directly at him, ordered Higgins to open the door. The youth complied and was placed under arrest.

"The police officers who responded to the burglary alert, did an excellent job, following an exact procedure," Lt. Duncan said. "Patrolman Serwach is to be commended for only wounding the suspect, when he saw him pointing what might have been a gun in the suspect's pocket. The officer could have easily shot to kill, but fired only to wound this person."

"The owners of the house also acted in a proper manner and they, too, are to be commended. Instead of trying to investigate the suspicious activities in their house, they called the authorities. This is the type of cooperation we like to have between citizens and police."

Man Who Shot Thief Cleared

The first homicide in the city's history remains under investigation by The Woods Detective Bureau. The incident occurred late Sunday evening, February 17, when a 22-year-old Detroit man was shot and killed by a resident in an apparent burglary attempt at 2222 Hampton road.

In the shooting, three armed men wearing ski masks burst into the dwelling around 11 p.m. A struggle ensued between two of the culprits and a resident on the first floor, while the third man went upstairs, held a woman resident at bay and was then shot by the third resident, Robert Louis Wicks, 33, who heard the commotion.

Upon hearing the shots, the other two men were believed to have escaped by entering a vehicle on Roslyn road. Dead at the scene was Ronald Wayne Johnson, of Way-burn road. Detective Everett Plumb reported the facts of the case were presented to the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office to determine if there was sufficient evidence for a warrant for Wicks.

The Prosecutor's Office denied the warrant Friday, February 22, stressing there was insufficient evidence of criminality in this incident. "This is what we expected in the case," said Detective Plumb, regarding the specific circumstances of the matter. This presentation to the Prosecutor's Office is a matter of form in such a case.

City Approves Tree Program

The Grosse Pointe City Council has given Shock Brothers, Inc. Tree Service the go-ahead for the 1974 Dutch Elm Disease control program. In action taken at the Council's last regular meeting, on Thursday, February 21, the solons voted to issue a contract in the form of a purchase order for the price of $3.50 for each City tree.

City policy assigns financial responsibility for private elm maintenance to property owners and Shock Brothers will provide services for these elms at a fee of $7 per tree. Besides spraying approximately 2,241 elm trees located along City streets and in parks, the control program includes conducting two Dutch Elm surveys over the summer. For these, the company charges $14 per man hour.

City Manager Thomas Kressbach, in a communication issued to the council, noted the price quoted for City trees is up 50 cents from last year for service done to City elms, and $1 more for elms located on private property. However, he observed that The City's bill will be comparable to those of surrounding municipalities.

The entire program is estimated to cost $8,543.50.

All criticism is of two kinds, destructive and constructive — try to peddle the right kind.

Thieves Enter Woods Homes

Two breakings and enterings were reported to The Woods Department of Public Safety within a two-day period. One was on Thursday, February 21, and the other on Friday, February 22.

On the 21st, thieves entered a Fairford road home via breaking out a glass in the back door. At this time, it's not known if anything is missing. Police discovered footprints in the backyard snow going over a double fence to another citizen's back yard.

A Holiday road home was entered on the 22nd. The culprits broke out a screen, and a window in a bedroom door, to gain entry. Police said three rooms were ransacked and the only item discovered missing at this time was a file cabinet key. Footprints were found leading to the north and east side of the home.

ULS Promotes Tapestry Show

A group of new and interesting faces are now greeting visitors in the University Liggett School lobby. But they're definitely not the expected type. They're felt and stitchery images created by Diane Barr in tapestry themes.

Through her extensive travels, Ms. Barr has assembled an artistic vocabulary ranging from Arabian calligraphy to Tangierian designs. Admitting the influence of Picasso and Matisse, her felt figures are placed on a material background with delicately placed stitching.

Ms. Barr's art education includes Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center and the Illinois Institute of Technology in Chicago.

The exhibit will be open on school days until the beginning of March.

Troop 479 Has Court of Honor

Boy Scout Troop 479, which meets at Parcels School, held a Court of Honor on Monday, February 11, with families, friends and officials of the Detroit Area Council. The high point of the ceremony was the presentation of Eagle Scout awards to eight members of the troop. The boys receiving Scouting's highest rank included Charles Gabel, of Roslyn road; Jeffery Juenemann, of South Brys drive; James Landers, of Sunningdale drive; and Ken Maddock, of Pear Tree lane.

More are Michael Radolu, of Roslyn road; Robert Rodewig, of Roslyn road; Thomas Sullivan, of Brys drive, and John Zapytowski, of Blairmoor court.

The additional honor of Gold Palm was awarded to Eagle Scout Thomas Furlong, and Bronze Palms were given to Eagle Scouts James Amluxen and Richard Brown. Life Scout rank was achieved by Gary Patrosso and David Thomas; Star Scout, by Howard Brubaker and John Sullivan; First Class Scout, by Gregory Desdery, James Lawlis, Joseph Meehan, Michael St. Denis, Michael Villalre, and Mark Vining, and Second Class Scout, by Gustave Rener and Jerry Sullivan.

New Tenderfoot Scouts include Vito Barbaro, John Bates, Thomas Cyr, Christopher Dellinger, James Grant, Robert Grant, Michael Luber, to, Michael Prydzatek, Robbin Roddewig, David Weber and John Wooton. Twenty-six new members of Troop 479 received the rank of Scout. Service stars recognizing from one to seven years of service with the troop were given to 29 Scouts, and 44 Scouts earned a total of 133 merit badges. Special awards were presented to Scoutmaster Dennis Crooks and to other adult leaders of the troop.

Arrangements for the meeting were handled by a committee of mothers, headed by Mrs. Marian Zapytowski.

Teachers in Pointe Get State's Highest Salaries

It's well known that teachers in the Grosse Pointe School System are the best paid in the state. According to figures recently released by the State Board of Education, the average teacher's salary was $17,232 versus second-ranking Oak Park with an average teacher's salary at $16,068.

As far as expenses per pupil there are at least three districts ahead of Grosse Pointe. River Rouge spends $1,511 per pupil; Dearborn, $1,414; and Highland Park, $1,349. An average of $1,198 is spent on Pointe students.

Obviously, the situation of high teachers' pay did not arise overnight. It has been the philosophy of the school system, as pointed out by Superintendent Theos I. Anderson, to seek the highest quality teacher possible. Repeatedly, the superintendent has said that the school system is getting its money's worth.

Another factor which has kept most of the teachers in the highest pay bracket is the layoff, in the last three years, of 20 percent of the teaching staff. The layoffs came as a result of millage cutbacks and declining pupil enrollment.

As a result, the school system was left with a hard core of teaching professionals, with over 70 percent of the teachers have a Master's Degree or above. Nearly 51 percent have completed work above the Master's level.

Commenting on the situation, Carol Lord, president of the Grosse Pointe Education Association, said "To the extent possible, only teachers who possess the highest qualifications are considered for employment. Training and experience are paramount considerations in the recruitment of professional staff. Indeed, past employment practices indicate a preference for candidates with successful professional exposure."

Mr. Lord was also concerned about the charges of loose budget preparation on the part of the School Board. "These charges are illogical and irresponsible," Mr. Lord said. "Prior to the millage proposal being submitted to the Board by the Administration, the Association analyzed suggested priorities and the resulting cost factors. Costs have been realistically estimated and the Association is in general support of recommended improvements. Indeed, cost increases are far lower than general market levels."

Mr. Lord said that the staff had been reduced from 714 in 1969-70 to 570 this school year.

Bands to Battle At WM Center

Six bands will appear in concert in Fries Auditorium at Grosse Pointe War Memorial Sunday, March 10, beginning at 7 p.m. They will be competing for popular approval and prizes. Sponsored by the Youth Council, the event is open to all at $2 per person.

Bands battling for first place include Zap, Axis, Virgin Forrest, Fresh Saffron, Eastwind and Cyprus Rock. Nearly four hours of continuous music will be heard. Approval will be registered in applause.

Refreshments will be available during the breaks. Cyprus Rock will play for seventh and eighth grade students at a Junior Other Side to be held Friday, March 15, 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. Tickets for the event will be $1 in advance, $1.25 at the door.

Marriage Fee Set by Woods

The Michigan Legislature recently amended the State Statutes permitting mayors of cities to perform marriages. Part of this legislation requires a city council to establish the fee to be charged for this service, with the requirement that all such fees be remitted to the city's general fund.

This particular item was on the agenda at The Woods' regular council meeting Monday, February 25. The solons unanimously approved a resolution proposed by City Attorney George Catlin on this subject, and established a fee of $25 for the performance of marriage ceremonies within the city.

At the same time, the measure says the mayor can waive such a fee "in any case where he deems such a waiver to be appropriate," (e.g., the "financial circumstances" of a particular couple).

Mr. Catlin, in checking with other communities, discovered the following prevailing charges for performing marriage ceremonies: Mayor Orville Hubbard, Dearborn, $25; Municipal Judge, St. Clair Shores, $20; Probate Judges, $10, and the Wayne County Clerk, $10.

Shores Orders Water Meters

The Shores is embarking on a three-year program of installing outside water meters. The first meters are expected to be installed this spring.

Village Superintendent Thomas K. Jr. made the recommendation at the last meeting of the Shores trustees. He said that the residents objected to being interrupted by the meter reader and that the readers often tracked mud and snow into the homes. The superintendent also felt that outdoor meters would provide more efficient meter reading, since it would not require the residents to be home or the return of meter postcards.

Some discussion was raised by the trustees on who should pay for the meters, the residents or the village. Trustee C. Bradford Lundy, Jr., felt that the residents should be assessed a charge for the meters. The other trustees felt that the meter cost should be absorbed by the village over a three-year period.

In the past, The Shores only installed outdoor meters to a few residents who requested them. They assessed a $25 charge for each meter. Since it is now a village-wide program, the village will pick up the tab. Funds will be appropriated in the 1974 budget.

Action on the request was taken immediately since the village was faced with a 10 to 15 percent increase in meter price next month.

Do you know who holds the all-time college basketball record for getting the most rebounds in one season of play? ... It is not any of the big super stars you might think of first like Wilt Chamberlain or Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. Answer is former Piston Walter Dukes who set the record when he played for Seton Hall in the 1952-53 season with 734 rebounds.

If your favorite basketball team wins a few games in a row, you get excited ... If they win 10 in a row—that's really something ... If they would win 75 in a row—well, that seems almost unbelievable ... But what about a team winning more than that? ... 100 in a row? ... 150 in a row? ... Impossible? ... Well, do you know a basketball team once won the amazing total of 159 games in a row? That's the all-time record for any organized team in either high school, college or pro sports ... This record was set by the Passaic 'N.J.' high school basketball team ... Between 1919 and 1925 they won 159 consecutive games! That takes a little steam out of U.C.L.A.'s 88 straight!

What's a checking account without a service charge?

It's a pretty good checking account. And that's what we've got. We call it our 200/500 Checking Plan. Just maintain a $200 minimum monthly balance in your account, and there won't be a service charge. And, even if your balance goes below $200, there still won't be a service charge as long as your account averages $500 during your monthly statement period. There isn't a charge for your itemized monthly statement, either. Our 200/500 Checking Plan. Because service charges are something you can probably do without.

Compliance with Law

Instructions regarding what procedures to follow, if the applicant is cleared, is usually given at the same time the application is issued. This should be read carefully.

When and if cleared, that is, it is shown that the applicant has no criminal record, the application must be notarized and presented to the local police chief, or his authorized representative, for his signature of approval. However, this does not mean that the applicant will automatically be given a concealed weapons permit. This decision is up to the Concealed Weapons Licensing Board. Two letters attesting to the character of the applicant are also required.

The following is the new law, PA 191, 1974 Section 227, verbatim:

"Any person who shall carry a dagger, dirk, stiletto, or any other dangerous weapon except hunting knives adapted and carried as such, concealed on or about his person, or whether concealed or otherwise in any vehicle operated or occupied by him, except in his dwelling house or place of business or on other land possessed by him; and any person who shall carry a pistol concealed on or about his person, or whether concealed or otherwise, in any vehicle operated or occupied by him, except in his dwelling house or place of business or on any other land possessed by him, without a license to carry said pistol as provided by law, shall be guilty of a felony, punishable by imprisonment in the State prison for not more than 5 years, or by fine of not more than 2,500 dollars.

"Subject Act, effective 12:01 a.m., March 29, 1974, amends Section 231a of Act No. 325 of the Public Acts of 1931, as amended; Sec. 750.231a, CL 1970; MSA 28.428(1); (Penal Code) to provide the following:

1. Provides continued reciprocity to nonresidents holding concealed weapons permits issued by their state of residence, PROVIDED the handgun is not carried contrary to any restrictions imposed on the permit.

2. Deletes the former provision allowing a person to transport a pistol in the trunk of any automobile if unloaded and in a container without need for a concealed weapons permit.

This in effect, prohibits the past practice of sportsmen from transporting a handgun from their residence to locale of hunting in the trunk of their vehicle. Future transportation in a vehicle will require a concealed weapons permit, either general in nature or restricted to hunting and target shooting.

Monteith Cubs Hold Banquet

Cub Scout Pack 85, Monteith School, held its annual Blue and Gold Banquet Tuesday evening, February 12, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

The tables were brightly set with centerpieces of gay colored balloons to add to a Mardi Gras theme. The evening opened with community singing, accompanied by Tom Rockwell on his guitar.

Afterwards, the following dinner awards were presented:

Robert Bomber received the Bobcat badge; David Bruno, the Bear badge and One-Year pin; Gordon Buttery, the Craftsman award; Steve, the Wolf badge; Ted Coutillish, four Silver arrows and a One-Year pin.

Tim Couvneur, the Bear badge and Two-Year pin; Paul Flynn, the Bobcat badge; Bill Hanna, the Bear badge and One-Year pin; Pat James, the Artist award; Mike Mennella, the Gold arrow, Silver arrow, Bear badge and One-Year pin.

Tim Roberts, the One-Year pin; Chris Schaeffner, the One-Year pin; Mark Schulte, the Bear badge and One-Year pin; Greg Schwartz, the Two-Year pin, and Mike Sherry, the Bear badge and Two-Year pin.

Later in the evening Roming the Magician presented many fascinating tricks. After his performance, he permitted the children to hold Pinky the live rabbit, who was pulled from a hat during his act.

The evening concluded with the scouts, their parents and relatives joining together with the singing of "God Bless America" led by Mr. Rockwell on his guitar.

Notre Dame Residents

The City Manager and Council are pleased with the spirit of cooperation each side has demonstrated. "There has been a significant effort from both residents and workers," Mr. Kressbach noted.

"Considering the project's size and the confined area it is taking place in," he concluded, "I would say clean-up has been relatively good."

When Mr. Miller learned that wheels to solve the parking problem had already been set into motion, he expressed the opinion that stricter enforcement of the construction supervisor's directive might be in order. "They're creeping back," he said, referring to the cars along the street.

Mr. Monahan then asked the Council if it would be possible to erect signs in the area. That way, non-compliers could be penalized. The Council balked at this proposal, saying it would be impossible for law enforcement officers to ascertain which cars belonged to workers and which to residents or their visitors.

Mr. Kressbach pointed out that one major obstruction to keeping the street clean lately, has been the weather. Contacted later, he explained, "The situation there varies from day to day and it will be much improved when mechanical equipment can be brought in. Winter weather has made this impossible since all the mud and dirt is frozen to the pavement. Any work at the present time would have to be done by hand and it simply isn't as effective as a street sweeper operation could be."

Once the weather permits, City public works personnel will be able to give the area the attention it needs and things will begin looking up for Notre Dame residents.

The picture has already gotten brighter. "Right now," Mr. Kressbach elaborated, "I would say the situation has been 95 percent corrected. The hospital had already begun addressing themselves to the problem by Wednesday, February 13. A few signs are posted in the area; some that only allow two hour parking and others that prohibit parking altogether. Both City police and contractors have been keeping their eyes on the situation to see that these rules are stringently enforced. The problem seems to be definitely clearing up."

When driving is slippery, in rain, hail or snow, there are certain rules to remember. First of all, when approaching a hill, stay far enough behind the vehicle ahead, so that you will not have to slow down or stop. This extra space will also allow you to pull around the car in front, should it have to stop. On up-grades, a little extra speed at the bottom of the hill will make it easier to reach the top.

Make it a rule to see us at POINTE DODGE, INC., 18001 Mack Ave., 884-7210 for all kinds of repairs, major or minor. You can call to make an appointment for scheduling service at your convenience and don't be afraid to explain in detail what is wrong with your car. Our friendly service manager is trained, equipped and prepared to spend as much time as necessary to analyze your car's problems. Service department open from 7:30 a.m. - 6 p.m. daily, until 9 p.m. Mondays.

Thieves Visit Beauty Salon

Thieves entered the Maier and Werner Beauty Salon, located in 17670 Mack avenue, sometime before 8 a.m. Monday, February 18, and made off with goods whose worth was estimated at $316.

At 8:08 a.m., City police received a telephone call from the salon's owner, Joseph Maier, reporting the breaking and entering and requesting an officer be dispatched to the scene. When police arrived, Mr. Maier explained he had come to work and found the rear door unlocked and a hole in the roof of the front part of the building.

The inside of the salon was completely ransacked, according to police. A storage room and three small closets had been pried open as well as three storage cabinets in the front area of the building. $20 was taken from a metal cabinet that stood next to the front desk and $6 in change was missing from a soda machine. Its coin box was found on the floor.

Mr. Maier reported that two hand hairdryers, each worth $45, one $80 AM-FM Panasonic radio and another large radio, estimated to cost $120 were also stolen from the salon.

The culprits apparently attempted to break into the adjacent business establishment, the Coins and Stamps store, since police found a hole punched in the bathroom wall. The Coins and Stamps store was not entered.

Entrance to the salon was gained via the roof. The hole, where an air vent was removed and plaster board was cut away, measured about 16 square inches. Police figure the burglars utilized a 5 foot rope to lower themselves to the floor. They exited out the rear door.

Two sets of footprints in the snow revealed the culprits first climbed onto the roof behind 17624 Mack, a Chicken Basket restaurant.

Several tools were left behind: a two-foot long pipe wrench, a hammer and two other wrenches. Police also found two pairs of rubber gloves, a piece of copper pipe and an iron brake tool at the scene. All materials were turned over to Lieutenant Robert Van Tiem, who is investigating the incident.

dates was won by Steve Ciavino who was crowned "King of the Mardi Gras." Steve drew more birth dates and presented door prizes to the lucky cubs. Meanwhile, the Webelos den presented an informative program on the history of our country's flag.

Every cub scout received an "America's Bicentennial Gift" patch, earned by Pack 34 for completing five achievements during February, the anniversary month.

The Bicentennial program which ends with the 200th birthday of our country emphasizes "GIFT... Get Involved For Them." Activities are planned to give scouting a stronger meaning in the lives of the youths and encourage their parents' involvement.

Special candlelight induction ceremonies were held by Cubmaster Wishart for Bobcat Bernie Schenk and new Webelos, Mark Liebling and Daniel Setchell.

St. Clare Hosts Lecture Series

"Insight — What's it all about, Christian?" is the theme of two lecture-discussion series to be offered at St. Clare de Montefalco Church.

The program began on Wednesday, February 27, with Neil Shine, Pulitzer prize winning managing editor of the Detroit Free Press speaking on the Response of the Contemporary Christian. Mr. Shine's appearance kicked off a Wednesday evening series of six lecture discussions devoted to spiritual and moral concerns of today's adult Christian.

Other topics are: "Are Values Changing?": Fr. William X. Kenzie, editor of The Michigan Catholic, March 8; "Liturgical Change — When? How? Why?": Msgr. William Sherzer, Pastor of St. Mary's of Redford, March 13; "Youth in the Church Culture": Fr. Kelly Walker, O.P., Associate Pastor, St. Dominic, Toronto, March 20; "Mass Media or Media Mess?": Fr. Clifford F. Ruskowski, writer-producer of "Merry-Go Round" on WXYZ, March 27; "The Life of Our Every-day Prayer": Brother Joachim Sullivan, Faculty of Austin High School, April 3.

All lectures begin at 8 p.m. and are being held in the Church auditorium. Fees are $8 and $6 for senior citizens. Individual programs are $1.50 and $1 for senior citizens. All fees can be paid at the door.

Running concurrently with that series, Gerald Furi, Minister of Music at St. Clare is conducting a seven-week course entitled "Liturgy—the Community at Worship," designed to develop a greater understanding of themes, structures, and approaches to liturgical prayer. Mr. Furi will survey current liturgical innovations with particular reference to the Holy Week Liturgy.

These classes will meet in the St. Clare teen room from 8 to 10 p.m. each Tuesday, from February 26 through April 16 except the Tuesday of Holy Week. Enrollment fees for the course are $9 and $7 for senior citizens. For additional information on either program, call the St. Clare Religious Education office at 884-2110.

Storage Problem Solved by GPHA

What would you do if more than 500 youngsters stored their sports gear and damp uniforms in your basement? Mrs. Mary Cournoyer of The Pointe, faced this problem as former equipment manager for the Grosse Pointe Hockey Association (GPHA).

The expansion of the group's teams from five in the early 1950's to 35 this year, as amateur school-boy hockey rode the rising wave of popularity throughout the United States, only aggravated their storage problems.

The Cournoyers, (Mr. Cournoyer is a cousin of Yvan, the Montreal Canadiens star), and their fellow directors of the association put up a small building early in 1973 to house their valuable hockey equipment and relieve the overcrowded basement.

Because of the high humidity inside the new building, they needed shelving that was both corrosion-resistant and open construction to allow free air circulation to dry the damp uniforms.

With 500 boys from age six to 18 comprising 35 teams playing an average of 40 games each through the fall or winter season, the association wanted to retain plenty of options for rearranging the storage shelves, both in moving units about horizontally, and in adjusting shelf heights vertically to handle everything from helmets, pads and skates to pucks, score sheets and hockey sticks.

In March 1973, near the end of their busiest season ever, they solved the storage problem with versatile open wire equipment manufactured by Metropolitan Wire Goods Corporation of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

With help from Bill Lipo, Metro's regional sales manager, who also lives in The Pointe, the association measured the equipment storage room, ordered the shelving, assembled it themselves in a matter of minutes and took a big load of gear out of the Cournoyer's basement.

Mrs. Cournoyer says she's doubly pleased, both with her newly rediscovered basement room and the good serviceability and performance of the association's new equipment storage shelving.

Pied Piper Bus Theater-Bound

The Pied Piper express will leave Grosse Pointe War Memorial at 10 a.m. Saturday, March 2, for the Detroit Art Institute's Youtheatre. With a cast from New York, the historical musical "Pocahontas" will be presented.

All Pointe boys and girls, ages 6 to 14, are invited. After the show, they will meet the cast, have refreshments and return home to the Center by 1 p.m. There is supervision on the bus and at the theater.

Cost including the charter bus and performance is $3.50. Reservations should be made at the Center's office.

Strike back when adversity hits you—it's a winning policy.

"The units went up so easily and they are strong enough for the men to sit or stand on," she said. "Our next move may be to install casters so we can roll the units as needed."

"Meanwhile, the coat hanger assembly holds all the boys' shirts neatly and all the assorted odd-sized items have a well-ventilated shelf position where they dry with no trouble. We can spot them easily, thanks to the open wire and its see-through feature."

The units feature a strong "snake" or wire truss to add strength to the assembly. Rugged shelves hold up to 800 pounds of distributed weight.

In today's leisure-oriented society, it is helpful to be able to organize the equipment and uniform storage needs of sports teams as the Grosse Pointe Hockey Association has done.

Tickets Catch Up with Driver

Grosse Pointe City police officer Edward Miller stumbled upon a virtual gold mine while on patrol Saturday night, February 23. As he was driving down Maumee avenue, Officer Miller noticed a two-door 1972 Mercury whose tail lights were out.

He pulled the driver over and asked to see his license. The driver, Richard Harry Weldon, of Pine court, was unable to comply with the order.

When a LEIN, (Law Enforcement Information Network), check was made later at the station, Weldon was found to have three outstanding traffic warrants; two from Detroit and one from Birmingham. Total bond for the warrants amounted to $190. Weldon posted the bond and Officer Miller issued him another violation for having no operator's license on his person.

Theater Group Needs Children

For the first time in several years, Grosse Pointe Theatre has issued a casting call for children to fill important roles in one of its major productions, "The Music Man," to be presented on June 5-9 and 11-15. The musical will feature nine boys and girls ages 7-13 in its cast, with two of these being major parts.

Try outs will be held Saturday, March 2, from 1 to 5 p.m., at Fries Auditorium, 32 Lakeshore. Director Lawrence Marco, of Fairford road, will be looking for a boy, ages 8-12, who must be able to sing, dance, and act in the role of Winthrop Paroo. Each boy auditioning will be called on to sing "Gary Indiana," "The Wells Fargo Wagon" or "Seventy-Six Trombones."

The part of Amaryllis, a feature role with the same age range, requires a girl who is able to play the piano. She must also be able to sing, dance, and act.

The remaining seven youngsters are all involved in singing, dancing, and other bits of stage business. All will be required to sing "Seventy-Six Trombones" at auditions.

Those who would like to audition for adult roles will have general tryouts on Sunday, March 24, from 1-5 p.m. Further information is available from the producer, Mrs. Walter Maher, at 885-3575.

After stopping two 16-year-old juveniles, one of whom was charged for careless driving, Woods police discovered a variety of items, including beer and drug paraphernalia in their auto.

Both were subsequently charged with minors in possession of alcoholic beverages stemming from the Friday, February 22, incident.

While on patrol, Sergeant Peter Thomas saw the youth's car stopped on Holiday road, between Oxford and Fairholme in the middle of the street. The youths drove away and ultimately went over a curb on Fairholme grinding some grass between the side-

Action of Police Pleases Family

A Park family is pleased with the action of its police department on Valentine's Day.

South High School Junior Denis Bezaire, of 1318 Bal-four road, reports the family dog had been barking under the porch during the evening. A check revealed why.

A large cat, which Denis said had obviously been in a fight, was discovered. The cat was "almost frozen" and had a bloody nose, he stated.

Fearing it would attack because of its injuries, the family contacted police.

When the officers arrived, the family thought they would destroy the animal. But after looking the situation over, a box was requested. "Then, cautiously he, (Sergeant Thomas Martin), bent over and set the cat in the box" to take it to a veterinarian, Denis said.

The NEWS contacted police to find out what happened to the animal. Officers reported, on the way to the doctors, the cat died.

The right-of-way in highway traffic means very little — it's the safe way that counts.

GLOBETROTTER with MR. Q

by Bob Quarters

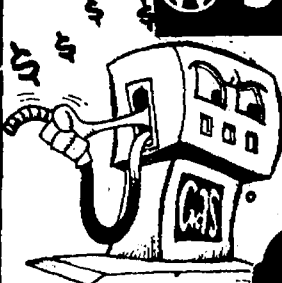

South Africa is a great place to visit. Not only is the natural beauty amazing, but the people are worth getting to know. The South Africans, rather than destroy their landscape with indiscriminate industrial development, have provided easy transportation to many beautiful cities and towns which seem, themselves, to belong to the countryside. Glorious beaches, year round holiday coastlines amounting to some 300 miles add to the natural allurements that South Africa has for travellers.

There are many areas that provide adventure throughout the world. Come to MR. Q TRAVEL, 19517 Mack Avenue when you plan your next trip. Now is the time for Africa. Yesterday was too early; it was so underdeveloped it frustrated even the most adventurous voyagers. Tomorrow will be too late; it will be so modernized all the enchantment will have disappeared. Yes, now is the time. Call 886-0500. Open daily 9-5:30. Saturday 10-3.

TRAVEL TIP: Public services are complete and comfortable in South Africa; arrangements for sight-seeing can be made easily.

Request Investigation into Officer's Resignation

(Continued from Page 1) further action be taken on the matter at this time. However, Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos said it was possible that the council could change its mind regarding a course of action in the future.

The officer, who joined the department in January 1972, was a probationary employee with the city for two years. At a meeting of command officers on January 10, the staff unanimously voted not to confirm him as they felt "he wasn't up to standards," said Director Marchand, who added he made the decision to terminate his employment.

"I told him he was all through and told him to write a letter (of resignation) and get it to me on January 11 or his employment would be terminated," the director continued.

"Approximately a dozen" allegations were brought against him, based on information from staff members, said Director Marchand.

Officer Fagan said Director Marchand told him that none of the allegations are of a major proportion individually but when grouped as a lump sum, that they were. When asked about this, the director said that statement was "basically" correct.

Parking Incident
One reported allegation focused upon a parking incident at Mack and Hampton road when the resigned officer parked his car, left wheels to curb, behind another auto parked the same way. It was alleged that the officer was "shooting the breeze" with the citizen.

But Officer Fagan said the officer was out of the car advising the motorist her car would have to be moved or a violation would be issued, and that she complied. To this, Director Marchand emphasized, "I don't like a public safety officer committing a violation to write a violation."

Another reported allegation centered upon a large, disorderly party on Edmondson road last year which the displaced policeman spotted while on patrol.

On this, the officer said "a sergeant accused me of inciting a riot," and this sergeant wasn't even at the scene. He also said when he read his own report in court on this incident that this particular sergeant wasn't present in the court room.

At this time, Officer Fagan said the objective of the association is to explore the facts of each allegation. "If we got a list of all the charges, (he claims he was read only a partial list of allegations), we could show a lot of those were out of context."

Officer Fagan felt it wasn't fair if the officer was dismissed because of "partially true" allegations. He added if some allegations remain after others are eliminated after an association investigation, the policeman's dismissal should be justified on the bases of the "true" ones remaining.

In the same vein, Officer Fagan said he only knew of "six to eight" allegations. Meanwhile, the officer said of the approximate dozen allegations stated by Director Marchand, "probably eight or 10 were not put in their proper perspective." In fact, the dismissed officer felt some were lies.

When the GPWPOA's request for information on all of the charges was mentioned to Director Marchand, he replied it was none of their business. The director stressed it was his prerogative to make a decision in such a case based on the officers' 1972-73 fiscal year contract.

Quotes Contract
Quoting from the contract, the director said, "An employee may be laid off or terminated at the discretion of the Director of Public Safety without recourse to grievance procedures during the probation period."

When asked to name prominent reasons for the officer's resignation, the director said, based on information from the officer's superiors, that he questioned "every order," plus the policy and procedures of the city, and that "he wasn't up to standards."

To this, the dismissed officer replied, "Ridiculous." He asked how can one even question every order, that it "doesn't make sense." Some things have to be done as a matter of procedure, he felt, while noting, "An intelligent person asks questions," and that this was a "healthy" thing.

At the same time, he added some of his superiors were not even asked if he questioned orders.

The officer, who has a Bachelor of Science degree in Police Administration, added, "We wanted to handle it, (the situation), internally," and the city had an opportunity to handle it within. But, the council has been asked to conduct an investigation of the allegations, the solons decided to take no further action at this time and, now, he said, further action would be up to the GPWPOA's attorney.

The NEWS explored parts of the letter that Officer Hamel read before the council with Director Marchand.

"It is the association's contention that many of the incidents (this officer) was involved in were not related to Director Marchand in their entirety. In fact, several of the incidents which were related to Director Marchand in a recent staff meeting concerning (him) were not told in their proper perspective," according to the letter.

To this, the director said, "I felt that they were. They were presented to me by other members of the staff."

The letter says, "The Grosse Pointe Woods Police Officers Association would also like to mention at this time that (the officer) while an employee with the Department of Public Safety has never had a written reprimand placed in his personnel file."

Director Marchand stated, "There are notations on his evaluation sheets from a year ago. There's not a letter per se to my knowledge."

The letter continues, "May it also be noted that not one of the allegations which were brought out at a recent staff meeting concerning (this officer) were ever written up and discussed with him."

To this, the director said, "They were not discussed by me but I believe the command officers discussed this with him."

Had Two Warnings
In checking background information, Director Marchand reported the officer was given three months to come up to the department's standards on two different occasions. One was in December 1972 and the other was in March 1973. In December, his raise was held up but this wasn't the case in March.

The letter then says, "(The officer) received his third increment in July 1973 at which time he was told that he was progressing well and to keep up the good work."

The director said no comments were recorded on his rating sheet and that nothing was on the report that he was doing good or bad. However, he was okayed in July 1973, he stated.

The letter reports, "In January 1974 (the officer) was to receive his fourth increment, but at this time he was requested to resign. During the six month period from July 1973 to January 1974 (he) continued his normal working assignments without any incidents being mentioned to him."

"Then in January he is told that his last increment is being withheld. This in itself does not seem consistent with proper management procedure."

To this, Director Marchand stated, "The command officers felt he wasn't going to make it and I agreed with them. He was given the opportunity to resign" or his employment would be terminated.

Finally, the letter stressed, "This officer has dedicated himself to becoming a professional public safety officer both on and off duty. Through the association's investigation it has been found that he has in his personnel file only letters of (appreciation) for work done both on and off duty."

The NEWS also contacted the city administrator, who was asked if he felt, as the GPWPOA apparently does according to Officer Fagan's letter, that the allegations made against the officer contain "many discrepancies and misunderstandings." To this Mr. Petersen replied, "No."

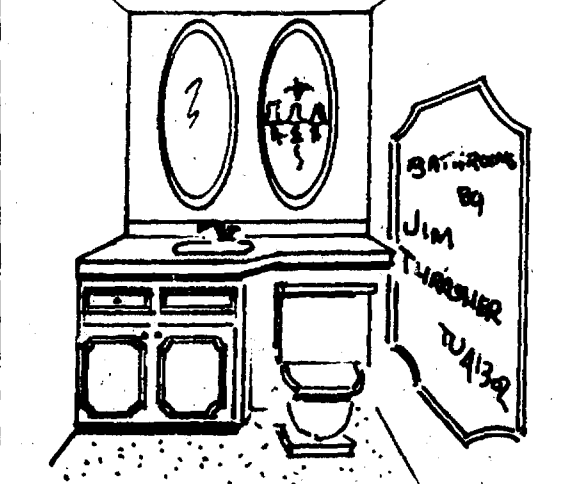

While saying he would make no comments on internal affairs regarding personnel, Mr. Petersen did say if the members of the GPWPOA wrote a letter to him authorizing association officers to pursue this matter, a meeting would probably be held between the officers and himself.

In relation to this, Mr. Petersen added, according to the terms of the contract, the association "has no jurisdiction on this matter."

Youths Swim In Class 'B' Meet

The Detroit Yacht Club's "B" team swimmers participated in the Dearborn Recreation Class B Swim Meet Saturday-Sunday, February 16-17. Many Pointe area DYC swimmers placed and, in so doing, swam fast enough to move up into Class A meets.

AAU competition is divided into three categories so swimmers can always find competition of their own caliber.

Dale Gannon, 14, placed second with a 1:20.5 in the 100-yard breast, ("A" time). Mimi Storen came on strong by placing in three events and making an "A" time in two of them, (third 50 back; fourth, 100 I.M., sixth, 50 free), all in the 10 and under girl's events.

Seven-year-old Jack Nelson placed fourth in the 50-yard fly in 10 and under boys. Chris Neros took fourth in the 100 free for 11 and 12 boys and made an "A" time. Thirteen-year-old Sue Brieden placed fourth in the tough event of 400 individual medley. Bob Brownell took a sixth in the 100 back in 13 and over boys.

Laurel Baciulis placed sixth in the 50-yard breast for girls 11 and 12 and, thus qualified for her third "A" time in the last eight days.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

My daughter, Susan Still, is 21 years old and for 15 of those years she has been professionally diagnosed as a "trainable retardate." Therefore, she is not only a quite typical "trainable" girl, but her past 12 years have been spent in the Wayne County Trainable School Program while the first three were spent at the Foundation for Exceptional Children now located in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

During all of these years I have tried to be as effective as a community-concerned parent and one seriously concerned about the welfare of the retarded. Therefore, I have many experiences and I believe, valid opinions based on valid experience.

Up until now the only "visible" so-called "trainable" or "seriously retarded" youngsters have been at the Foundation for Exceptional Children. Since school laws and funding make it possible to have good public programs for all, it is time that clarification of goals and unity behind these children and adults begins. It has been far too long for a minority group to have suffered being "hidden away," so to speak, from the understanding and awareness of the community. Out of sight, out of mind, has certainly been the story of the past years of county programming for these children.

What would it mean to me if public school programs for trainable retarded children were located in Grosse Pointe? The endless complex list of things taken for granted as basic rights for all children of taxpayers and residents of Grosse Pointe, for one thing.

At the top of the list are a few elements considered essential and the right of every Grosse Pointe child of school age:

First, education and basic life training, which is the essence of public schooling. It should be protected and developed for the well being of every child, not just the majority. Training and education for children and adults less able to speak for themselves and their individual rights and needs as citizens, is a very serious thing indeed.

Our children have been uprooted and bused all over the city of Detroit ever since the days approximately 10 years ago when the Grosse Pointe Board of Education answered to the community, the parents and most seriously to the representatives, (I was a member of this committee), of the League of Women Voters who had done a two-year study of the "Exceptional Child." They answered that public education in Grosse Pointe included the training needs of retarded boys and girls and that education did not exclude children just because reading and writing and arithmetic would not be their top skills. This acceptance was in line with Michigan School Laws which allowed for such programming in the local school district.

In those past years we have managed to keep these youngsters "out of town" in five different old, borrowed or abandoned school locations, five different administrative changes dominated by the problems and size typical of the large urban city of today.

These difficulties have never been presented to Grosse Pointe's so-called normal boys and girls and yet we have accepted them up to this point, although disruption and distance between school and community and school and parent are particularly harmful to development of handicapped children.

A few years ago, a mother of a youngster attending "special education" classes within the Grosse Pointe system, and I, representing those "outside" the system, formed the Grosse Pointe PTA Council for Exceptional Children.

We did it because we felt that we had no voice as tax-paying members of the community; we felt left out of the democratic process. We wanted to form an equal "lobby" for our children in the allotment of school funds. However, through lack of adequate communication and authoritative leadership, support was not forthcoming from the total school community.

Here again is an example of what public schooling is all about. Programming for the handicapped cannot be nor ever should have been an "extra" for the system. It must be an equal and integral part of the total programming. No family is or ever will be immune to birth defect.

The past is now behind us. We now have "mandatory" special education school laws. Why was it essential to make a new law for education when other children have been protected by such laws for several generations? We all were ignorant of the tragedy of limiting rights to only those we chose to give them. We now have a chance to make amends with the trainable retarded children and adults of our own Grosse Pointe families. They can now become proud, loved and accepted residents of our community, with a useful future to look forward to. But laws are only as good as each individual citizen implements and supports them. It is now up to each of us to do so.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Carol Still
821 Lincoln road

Dear Sir,
In response to Sis Walton's letter of February 21, I would like to give an example of two enthusiastic and law-abiding young people. They are Matt Boyse of Washington road and Marjorie Sultzman, of Vendome road, a junior and senior at South High respectively.

Matt and Marjorie are already very busy with volunteer work and jobs after school, but they have found time to help me on Wednesday afternoons with an enrichment class for second and third graders at Richard School.

They are dependable and involved young people interested in environmental education and I appreciate their help.

Sincerely,
Pat McFadden

Property Tax Relief Act Helps Four Categories

In May 1973 the Michigan Legislature passed the Property Tax Relief Act of 1973. This Act sets up four categories under which a homeowner or renter may find homestead property tax relief. They are: (1) Senior Citizens; (2) Eligible Veteran; (3) Blind person; and (4) All other homeowners or renters.

The following information was obtained from the Michigan Treasury Department, Revenue Division. Senior citizens, eligible veterans or blind persons will receive relief on their 1973 homestead property taxes in the same manner as in prior years.

They will also receive additional credit on their 1973 Michigan income tax return, filed in 1974, for property taxes actually paid on the homestead. In the event there is no income tax due or the property tax credit exceeds the income tax, a refund will be made.

All other homeowners or renters are entitled to a credit on their state income tax equal to 60% of the amount by which their property taxes exceed 3.5% of their household income. In lieu of the property taxes paid by the homeowner, the renter will base his claim on 17% of rent paid. Again, if there is no income tax due or the property tax credit exceeds the income tax, a refund will be made.

The property tax relief allowed to any claimant cannot exceed $500. The claimant must have been a resident of this state for at least six months of the calendar year prior to the year for which he files a claim. The homestead must be owned or rented and occupied by the claimant. The property taxes on which he is basing his claim must be levied after December 31, 1972, and shall not be greater than the taxes due for one year.

Many claimants will qualify for credit under more than one category. They should compare them and choose the one which is to their advantage.

Under the Act, the term "household income," needs explanation since it is a factor in determining the credit for all eligible taxpayers except disabled veterans and the blind. The Act defines household income as all income received by the claimant and spouse. It includes all income subject to Federal income taxes plus all other income. Following are some examples cited by the Department of Treasury as the type of income not subject to federal income taxes that must be included in household income: social security and railroad retirement benefits; veterans pensions and disability payments; other pensions and annuities; interest on state and local obligations; unemployment insurance benefits; workmen's compensation benefits; cash public assistance; child support payments and gifts in cash or kind in excess of $300.

Of greatest concern to Grosse Pointe residents among the first three special categories is the senior citizen relief.

A senior citizen is defined as a person 65 years or older and includes a husband and wife if either one has reached the age of 65 and the unmarried surviving spouse of a person who died after reaching the age of 65.

The senior citizen's property tax relief is that amount by which the property taxes or 17% of rent paid for a homestead exceeds a certain percentage of income computed. If a household income is not over $3,000, 0% is not refundable; if it is between $3,000 and $4,000, 1% is not refundable; if it is between $4,000 and $5,000, 2% is not refundable; if it is between $5,000 and $6,000, 3% is not refundable; if over $6,000, 3.5% is not refundable.

Computation of the credit is illustrated by the following example: Mr. and Mrs. William's household income amounted to $5,400 for 1973. They were billed $600 for 1973 property taxes. The credit is computed by multiplying the household income ($5,400) by the percentage from the above table (3%). The credit is the amount that the homestead property taxes exceed, in this case, 3% of the income as follows: 3% x $5,400 = $162. $600 - $162 = credit of $438.

A senior citizen who rents a homestead should substitute 17% of rent paid for property taxes in the above computation.

Homeowners and renters who do not qualify as a senior citizen, eligible veteran or blind person are entitled to a credit equal to 60% of the amount by which their property taxes exceed 3.5% of their household income.

The computation of the credit is illustrated by the following example: Mr. and Mrs. Tyler's household income for 1973 amounted to $15,000. The property tax on their home came to $700. The credit is computed by multiplying the household income ($15,000) by 3.5%. If the property taxes are in excess of 3.5% of the household income, the excess is multiplied by 60% to determine the credit as follows: $15,000 x 3.5% = $525. $700 - $525 = $175 x 60% = credit of $105.

If a person didn't receive the 1973 Michigan Individual Income Tax and Homestead Property Tax Credit forms, he should obtain them at his nearest bank or city government office.

Minor changes will occur for the tax year 1974 but no one will get less relief, certain unusual cases will get more relief.

Polish Art Friends To Sponsor Concert

Three Artists Will Appear in Afternoon of Music Program at War Memorial This Sunday; All Are Accomplished Performers

The Friends of Polish Art will sponsor an Afternoon of Music Sunday, March 3, at 3 o'clock in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Auditorium.

The three artists, Alicja Omiecinski, violinist, Kim Krajewski, soprano, and Andrzej Dutkiewicz, pianist, all are accomplished performers and hold Bachelors degrees in Music.

Miss Omiecinski has participated in several concerts in the community, including the Young Artists Concert sponsored by the Friends of Polish Art last November at Wayne State University.

She is a graduate of Western Michigan University and a member of the Detroit Community Music School faculty. Appearing for the first time on the Detroit concert circuit is Miss Krajewski, who holds a Masters degree in Music from the University of Michigan. In 1973 she obtained a Grinnell Brothers scholarship in a contest sponsored by the Detroit Opera Association and twice (1970 and 1973), attained first place in contests sponsored by the Saginaw Symphony.

Also a first for Detroit is the appearance of Andrzej Dutkiewicz, a graduate of the Higher School of Music in Warsaw who has appeared in recitals and as a soloist in Poland, Belgium, West Berlin and the Netherlands, where he won the Rotterdam Contemporary Music Contest. His repertoire includes classic compositions as well as avant-garde music.

This is Miss Kinkerooll.

She has a little problem. Oh, her hair looks well enough when it's just been done. As long as there's no humidity. Or rain. Or stuff like that. But let any of these things happen and—plinkety, plink, here comes the kinks. What's a girl like this to do? Easy. A girl like this comes to us and gets her hair straightened all neat and silky and then icky-poo weather will hardly ever bother her at all. If you have a friend with the aforesaid problem, be nice. Tell her about us. And how we can straighten her out. Like that.

Urban Property Problem Posed

A generally pessimistic picture of Detroit's urban land use problems was drawn by Dr. Robert Swartz at the Grosse Pointe League of Women Voters' annual guest dinner Wednesday, February 20.

Sisyphus was the Corinthian king whom Zeus doomed to Hades to spend eternity rolling a rock uphill which instantly rolls back on him. Dr. Swartz said, "I often think of him when I think of land use in the United States."

Speaking before about 70 League members and their guests Dr. Swartz, Professor of Urban Geography at Wayne State University, distilled some findings from the massive, detailed study he has participated in on declining areas of Detroit, specifically on 12 square miles in the northwest where, between January, 1965, and May, 1973, "every commercial area, every single one, experienced a decline in business."

Dr. Swartz refers to this widespread process of retrogression, declining commercial viability and deterioration as "devolution," and finds it taking place rapidly, often within a decade, in urban areas throughout the country.

He cited shopping centers as "preferred types of commercial land use," mentioning more efficient use of floor and storage space in the stores, uniform management, better lighting and surveillance and better parking.

He added however that Northland, model for many centers throughout the nation, is already beginning to encounter the very problems of parking, congestion and crime it was designed to get away from.

The speaker pointed out that office space had been dissipated in Detroit by the Fisher and General Motors Buildings and New Center. Asked if he'd care to speculate about the Renaissance Center, he replied,

"I'd love to speculate. I can't give any direct answer. Actually, there are two: one, it may cannibalize on existing businesses; two, it may have a stimulating, dynamic effect, enhance downtown and invigorate the city as a whole."

Dr. Swartz made it quite clear that there are no easy answers to urban devolution, with all its blighting side effects, but said that the report to the City of Detroit contains about 15 pages of "It is recommended that..."

Adding uncertainty to current problems in Detroit which "for several decades was the most rapidly growing center in this country with, up to the 1960s, about the highest per capita income," is what's happening to the automotive industry, the effect of which can't yet be gauged.

Mrs. Philip D'Agostino, Environmental Quality Chairman, was in charge of the program. Mrs. Paul Egan was in charge of arrangements.

From Another Pointe of View

You'll spot friends and neighbors on stage, too. Catherine Grimshaw, for instance, singing the title song. Judge Peter V. Spivak portraying Judge Augustus Woodward in an 1815 scene—which also stars John O. Peters as "Uncle Ben" Woodworth, proprietor of the old Steamboat Hotel. Soprano Mildred Avedisian dueting "Will You Remember" with Doug West in an hilarious spoof of operettas.

Ann West, Doug's wife, is also on the soloists leads roster. So are Richard Budinger, David and Carol Gaskin, George Hunt, Bert and Terry Treiber, J. Peter Smith, Sterling E. Graham, Jr., Gordon Maitland, Patti Pingree and Robert Sullivan.

Our Heroine, Dolly Detroit, is none other than Betsy (Mrs. Jack) McCormick, who claims she got the lead by osmosis because her father, Daniel H. Buell, starred in so many past Junior League follies.

Our Hero, Digby Detroit, is Ron Fredrick, Grunyon singer, past-president of Princeton Triangle, actor-director for the Grosse Pointe Theatre when he lived in The Pointe, (he's now a Birmingham resident).

Dolly and Digby Detroit... you couldn't POSSIBLY miss this show! Tickets—prices start at $7.50—are available while they last at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Garden Club Council Looks Ahead

The Grosse Pointe Garden Club Council met in mid-February to formulate plans for 1974. Mrs. Urban Boresch is current head of the group of presidents and special delegates from garden clubs within the Pointe area. The Council is a medium through which the various clubs cooperate to provide better service to the community and promote civic beautification.

Funds were voted for planting on the grounds of South High School and a full scholarship to the Environmental School at Higgins Lake for a local teacher was approved.

Last year the Council donated environmental books to Pointe schools. This year more books will be provided for elementary schools.

A committee has been appointed to make a study of the ordinances in each of the five Pointes which pertain to the maintenance and beautification of individual property, and a special summer education feature—tours of local flower and vegetable gardens maintained by their owners—is being planned.

The Council meets again April 30. Its annual meeting is scheduled for May 30.

Miss Puelo Speaks Vows January 26

Michael Joseph Monahans Have Returned from Three Weeks Vacation in Europe and Are at Home in Hampton Road

Selfridge Air Force Base Chapel was setting for the Saturday, January 26, wedding of Paula Marie Puleo, daughter of the Peppino J. Puleos, of Littlestone road, and Michael Joseph Monahan, son of the John F. Monahans, of Lakeshore road.

A reception at Hillcrest Country Club followed the 5:30 o'clock rites at which Father Thomas Hamel presided.

The newlyweds vacationed for three weeks in Europe. They are now at home in Hampton road.

The former Miss Puleo chose a gown of white satin and Alencon lace accented with pearls and beads for her late afternoon marriage. Lace formed her collar and sleeves and a lace hem edged her satin skirt.

More lace edged the Cathedral length mantilla that fell from her beaded satin Camelot headpiece, and she carried a Colonial arrangement of white roses and stephanotis, baby's-breath and hanging ivy accented with small red velvet loops.

Honor maid Betty Lynn Conover and flower girl Elizabeth Ann Puleo, the bride's sister, carried Colonial bouquets of red carnations, white roses and baby's-breath.

Bridesmaids Susan Richardson, of White Cloud, and Sally Shumway, of Tekonsho, the bride's former roommates at Central Michigan University, and Mary Beth Monahan, the bridegroom's sister, and junior bridesmaid Katie Monahan, another sister, carried white muffs with red carnations, white roses and red streamers.

The senior attendants' frocks featured long-sleeved turtleneck ribbed sweater tops of Christmas red angora and white satin skirts belted in white angora. The flower girl wore a white sweater and red skirt.

John Monahan acted as best man for his brother. Ushering were Patrick Barrett and John and Joseph Puleo, the bride's brothers. Ring bearer was Timothy Monahan, another brother of the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride wore a long-sleeved formal length gown of mint green chiffon. Iridescent pearls accented her printed bodice. Her daughter presented her with a long-stemmed red rose as she walked up the aisle.

The bridegroom's mother, in a long-sleeved long gown of apricot jersey, received a long-stemmed red rose from the bride as she walked down the aisle after the double ring ceremony.

HENRY, BRETT AND DIANE KINGSWELL, OF MUIR ROAD

By Nancy Kramer

"We live in a transient world of bar-hoppers and story-tellers," Henry Kingswell reflected. Coming straight from the horse's mouth, the statement explains a lot. At least for Henry and his wife, Diane, it does. Their son, Brett, at age one, is a bit young to be making decisions about where his head is at.

It seems Henry always had the wanderlust; an urge to explore. That, coupled with an ability to write, made him a top draft choice of editor Marty Fischhoff when it first dawned on him that Detroit and suburban dwellers needed an extra shove to get out and discover what the mother city is all about.

Developing an Idea Fischhoff's idea evolved into a book, about three-quarters of an inch thick, concisely titled, DETROIT GUIDE. Its cryptic cover, vaguely reminiscent of City Hall's own Spirit of Detroit, could constitute a warning: Readers chance wandering off the beaten path. And . . . once off . . . might never return.

Fischhoff, Henry, Diane and a cast of about 20 others shared a common notion. The city, they felt, was not getting a fair shake. "There's a lot going on here, but little said about it," Henry summarized. "That's the viewpoint from which we tried to do the book."

Detroit papers may have recognized the problem, but for one reason or another, neglected addressing themselves to it. Henry considers this a shame since, "People think the News and Free Press have the last word. They write a tired thing . . . just include all the obvious places. I don't think it's a conscious effort on their part. They just fell into a rut."

Edited WSU Paper Henry was managing editor of the South End, Wayne State University's student newspaper, when Fischhoff first approached him. "It wasn't Marty's idea completely," Henry explains. A gentleman named Sheldon Annis suffered the initial brainstorm. His ideas reached final form in a 1970 edition of DETROIT GUIDE.

Annis, after passing along the concept, title and a rough outline of what the project involved, washed his hands of the whole affair and split Detroit altogether.

Fischhoff, fully cognizant of the project's scope and aware of Henry's familiarity with Detroit, wanted to tap his talent for specific sections of the book.

There's a haze surrounding the question about who told whom to do what, after that.

Fischhoff may have commissioned or Henry could have volunteered, but eventually, write-ups on how to survive, a riverfront tour, country and jazz music, some restaurants and bars, all appeared bearing the unmistakable Kingswell mark.

Survival Section The survival section, intended for hard-core down and outs, while tainted with sympathy, is nonetheless full of concrete and practical advice for easing the pain that accompanies a lack of money.

For the more affluent, rainy Sunday afternoons might finally be good for more than just going back to bed with the publication of Henry's riverfront tour. Originally titled Grosse Isle to Grosse Pointe, it operates on the stop and go principle. Drive a ways. Hop out. Check out an interesting spot. Re-enter vehicle. Repeat the process, gradually making your way down, in this case, Jefferson Avenue. But, "This could be done on any major thoroughfare," Henry contends.

A lot more of Henry Kingswell is visible via his bar and restaurant critiques. From an irreverent "good parking" review of one of the city's more notable eateries, to a lengthy statement of purpose and atmosphere of a bar after his own heart, Henry's reviews run the gamut.

Visited 512 Bars Such diversification was bound to occur. By Henry's calculation, Detroit boasts about 2,000 bars. "I've been to 512 of them, but for the sake of space, I just couldn't include them all." Mostly, he and cohort Turk Nirkind narrowed the selection down to what was most appealing to the masses. "I tried to list what was representative and entertaining," he said. The bias was equally inevitable. For one thing, "any place can be completely different at night from the way it was in the morning," he revealed. "So much depends on the time of day it is when you drop in."

As any good critic can tell you, (and Henry qualifies for that nebulous distinction), plenty of hard feelings can stem from what's been left out. "I got a lot of calls from people who thought the reason their business wasn't mentioned was because they hadn't paid. No one paid to be included. That would have defeated the purpose of the whole thing."

Honest and Critical

The book was not meant to be an advertiser's catalogue. "I've read lots of reviews that make a restaurant or bar sound fantastic. What happened was the reviewer phoned ahead and the manager arranged a great meal or wonderful service for him. You just don't get a fair idea of what a place is really like that way. I tried to make my stuff both honest and critical."

Only Henry really knows if he made good on that attempt, but the book as a whole is a success. DETROIT GUIDE just recently went into its second printing. Major customers are corporations that buy in gross lots and distribute copies to good prospects. In effect, they're trying to arouse future businessmen's interest by pointing out that there is more to Detroit than meets the eye. In that sense, the fruits of Henry's labors have not gone unrecognized.

He's Also Jazz Freak

Being a seasoned bar-hopper and jazz freak from way back, Henry didn't find most establishments posed any great problem to re-explore and critique. More challenging was the section on country music and its outlets around town where Henry discovered a "whole different attitude" prevails.

Unfamiliarity with the gay bar scene proved equally provocative. Caution was the watchword here, as he operated mainly off of tips received by word of mouth. "I had to watch out. The spots had to be double-checked. A straight establishment really objects to being classified gay."

Where did Diane fit into all this? "He hypnotized me," she laughs. "My wife went with me to a lot of these places," Henry elaborated. "We went to singles bars together, split up, and then, at closing time, got back together and compared notes."

Labor of Love

Very likely for her, it was a labor of love. She feels exactly the same as Henry does about Detroit. "I think what makes a city interesting is its variety of ethnic groups. That's where Detroit excels." Statistician Henry, observes there are about 112 different cultures represented in Detroit's total population.

It's the ethnic quality that draws them to a place. They've had ample background to appreciate it.

Henry, a 1960 South High graduate, joined the army right out of high school. When his stint with the service ended, he headed for Mexico City and enrolled in University of the Americas to pursue studies in journalism. Formed on the G. I. bill after the Korean War, University of the Americas turned out to be a little different than your average American college. "You learned to do everything at once — the whole story — even the photograph." Not like classes he attended at Wayne, where "they have one whole journalism course that deals with the implication of writing a lead sentence."

On Similar Course

Diane, then Diane Bania, was traveling along the same lines. She graduated from Regina High School, spent a year studying at the University of Detroit, then switched over to and subsequently graduated from Wayne State University's Housing and Interior department for Home Economics. She served a year's apprenticeship and returned to school to pick up her teaching certificate.

She was a teacher when Henry met and married her. He claims, perhaps over-romantically, it was a whirlwind courtship. "I only knew her five days before we were married . . . but we dated all five days." Diane is more mysterious. When questioned about it, she simply smiles and sandwiches the occasion between a couple other incidents.

"I came back from Costa Rica . . . we got married . . . and then went back to Mexico together." She took a teaching position at a language school in Mexico while Henry completed his studies there.

Back to Detroit

Summer of 1969 saw their return to Detroit where both worked until February 1970. Then, with typewriter and tape recorder stashed in a backpack, Diane and Henry thumbed across the States, back down to Mexico, and booked passage on a boat headed for Casablanca. From Africa they criss-crossed Europe, winding up in Greece by July of 1970, with Henry hard at work on a novel and Diane teaching at an American Community School in Athens.

"I think all our travels to foreign countries have made us look for places here that have the same sort of appeal," Diane explained.

In spite of all the imported beers and ethnic cooking they have sampled, both in the line of duty and on their own, Diane and Henry still aren't satiated. "I guess we really have been to quite a few places," Diane said, "but now we'd like to go out and re-explore with the help of the book."

Parental Duties

Parental duties to a one-year-old child can tie you down though, and it's obvious that Diane and Henry genuinely enjoy spending most of their time with Brett. Incredibly wide-eyed Brett was uniquely ushered into the world by both his mother and father. "Just fantastic" is how Diane described the Lamaze method of prepared childbirth that she and Henry learned in classes conducted at Cottage Hospital.

"They teach you breathing," Diane said, "and relaxation. They explain labor

Concert in Color Set For Retired Teachers

The Detroit Retired Teachers Association meets Friday, March 8, at 1 o'clock on the fourth floor of Central United Methodist Church, Woodward Avenue at Adams. Lois Creed is program chairman.

Featured speaker Robert Kenaga, who since his retirement as audit manager of Ford Motor Company has pursued his hobby of color photography, will present slides of metropolitan area architecture, gardens, people and sailing on Lake St. Clair. Combining his musical ability with photography he uses stereo while showing slides from three projectors on two screens. Mr. Kenaga calls his program Concert in Color. All Detroit Board of Education retirees and friends are welcome.

to husbands, showing them how to recognize signs of change in it. Almost all my labor took place at home." Then, they just walked on up to the hospital. "It really gives you a feeling of power," Henry interjected, referring to the role he played in the birth of his son.

They're a Team

Diane and Henry are a team. It's been that way six years now. He waits on her considerably when her back acts up from time to time. A carryover, he teases, from their backpacking days. Good thing Diane kids easily. She's awfully handy to have around.

Works for Untroyal

For the time being, life for the Kingswells will stay pretty much the same. Henry, confirmed holder of odd jobs, including that of a shill for a Lake Tahoe gambling casino, currently is employed at Untroyal. "Have you ever seen the inside of that place?" he asks. "It's medieval." Diane doesn't exactly call it a job. "Henry drudges along," she says.

Diane as proofreader spent many months poring over the pages of DETROIT GUIDE and anticipates her hands will be similarly full, performing those duties for Henry's novel, P. M. DANGERFIELD AND FRIENDS, only recently completed and mailed off to Random House. It's kind of a cold war story in which, "P. M. Dangerfield isn't really a character, he's just the guy they all talk about."

Diane's hoping she might also land a job substitute teaching once fall rolls around. Recalling her days at Detroit's almost completely black Hutchinson School, she commented, "I just loved teaching the kids there. The little ones are so fresh and ready for this completely new experience. They're free too, but you have to give them some sort of structure and discipline. So often they don't get much at home."

Moross House Visit Planned

The Grand Marais Chapter of Quarters will gather for a noon luncheon at the University Club next Thursday, March 7, then journey across East Jefferson Avenue to visit the historic recently-restored Moross House.

Cadet CHRIS GREINER, son of the CLAUDE A. GREINERS, of Lakeshore Road, has been promoted to second lieutenant in the Reserve Officers Training Corps unit at Missouri Military Academy, Mexico, Mo.

Named to the Bucknell University first semester 1973-74 Dean's List are senior STEPHANIE SMITH, of Lincoln Road, who maintained a straight A average, and junior CAROLYN E. MACHAMER, of Moran Road.

"But, I have a pretty strong philosophy about being at home with a small baby. I'd like to stay here with Brett until he reaches school age."

At this point, the sum total of Brett's knowledge is a very vehement physical response to the question, "How big is the baby?" Oh, and he's well aware of one recently cut tooth. More than once, though, he's been seen slamming away at his father's old typewriter; one that Henry's been meaning to have fixed.

Like father, like son is a hazardous adage to suggest living up to, nowadays, but all things considered, Brett could do worse.
