If you aren't sure what cheeses to serve with your wines, try these combinations. They are designed to have the wines and cheeses bring out the best flavors in each. Blue cheeses, like Roquefort and Danish, are good with Burgundies and Pinots; soft cheeses like Brie, Camembert, and Lieder Kranz go well with Red Bordeaux and Cabernet Sauvignon. Cheddars and Swiss cheeses go with Beaujolais. Zinfandel, and Gamay wines. Rieslings and roses are best with milder cheeses such as Monterey Jack. Serve the cheeses on a board near their wine partners, with a separate knife for each cheese.

Train Women To Be Adults .

A first for the eastern Detroit area will begin Thursday, February 1, at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church in Mack avenue. It is Effectiveness Training for Women-a unique course designed by the organization which has sponsored the popular Parent Effectiveness Training.

The new program is a response to women's increasing struggles to meet their own needs while remaining responsive to the needs of others.

"Many people-many women, in particular - believe that they do not have control of their own lives," observes the instructor, Dorothy Mon-goven, a Woods resident and marriage counselor, "and The bride-elect, a Grosse worse: that they can never Pointe North High School have control.

"Many women have been trained not to take responsibility for themselves, to allow others to make decisions for them, waiting for another person or an outside influence to come along and make their life better.

Effectiveness Training for Women is designed to counter this view of outside control by reinforcing a sense of internal control and personal responsibility and providing skills to expand individual freedom and ability to meet important personal life needs

"Unlike a number of ap-proaches," Ms. Mongoven notes. "Effectiveness Training for Women is not a political model. It does not advocate what role a woman should choose, (homemaker, career person, ctc.)

"The core values of the course are personal freedom and responsibility. How these values get defined and acted upon is what the course is all about."

It is a 30-hour course, involving lectures, role plays, discussions and exercises. may also be made.

The Stratford Experience

I admit to being a "Stratford Nut." Summer, for me, isn't complete without at least two trips to the Ontario Festival, (preferably three . . . would you believe four?). Once across the Blue Water Bridge, headed north through Warwick and Ailsa Craig, I am a completely happy lady.

I love it all, from the swans on the river to the trumpeters on the Festival balcony. I love the idea of an acting company. I love to see an actor/ actress as a villain in the afternoon, a buffoon in the evening.

I love to see the classics played by performers; who know how to speak and move. I like the ex-citement of the Third Stage, the pageantry of the Festival Stage, (the Festival Theatre is a show initself), the jewel box elegance of the Avon.

And I'm not alone: Grosse Pointe is full of; Stratford Nuts, (I know - I meet them picnicking; graduate of Grosse Pointe in the park before performances), all of whom will be delighted to learn that they don't have to wait until summer for a 1979 Stratford Experience. The drama of the Stratford, Ont. Shakespearean Festival returns to the Bushnell Performing Arts Series this Sunday, January 14, at 7:30, o'clock, when Nicholas Pennell and Marti Maraden; give a Recital Performance of T. S. Eliot's "Four; Quartets," plus poetry reading from the works of brilliant, contemporary Canadian writer Margaret Attwood.

Both performers received rave notices in Time. Magazine for the 1978 Stratford season, Miss Mara-: den in particular for her Sonya in "Uncle Vanya," Mr. Pennell for his Grandler in "The Devils."

Pointe Patrons of the Bushnell Series include TREFZER, of Saint Clair Dr. J. H. Graves, of Buckingham road, Dr. and Mrs. Shores, formerly of Pember Calvin E. Schorer of Redford road and Dr. and Calvin E. Schorer, of Bedford road, and Dr. and Mrs. Albert Steinbach, of Vendome court.

The brochure material and program notes were researched by T. S. Eliot scholar Dr. Eugenie Beall, of Bedford road, program coordinator for the University of Michigan Extension Service in the Rackham Building.

Admission is $6 at the door, including a meet-; the-artists post-performance reception in Fellowship Hall of Bushnell Congregational Church in-Southfield road, just south of Grand River.

It's too cold for picnicking, but there's plentyof free, lighted parking available. The number to: call for additional information is BR 2-3550.

Our Georgian Court bedroom is the perfect blending of traditional 18th century shapes and designs. The multi-paneled headboard with Queen Anne details, the ten-drawer triple dresser, the broken-scroli pediment mirror, the graceful chest and night tables are all faithfully reproduced in solid Cherry and specially-selected Cherry veneers.
