Kercheval Revitalization Set in GP Park

However, many others opposed the plan because of the use of federal funds to finance it. Some of those speaking out against the project are associated with POP, (Proud Of The Park), a citizen organization, led by chairman Dean Brunke, which recently formed to protest The Park's use of federal funds.

POP plans to mount a petition drive this weekend to express citizen opposition to the use of "federal, state, county or any federal-related funds for residential and/or private property," according to Mr. Brunke.

But he explained the group's main opposition is the use of federal money for residential housing rehabilitation projects, which have been discussed but not approved by the Park Council. He said as a group, POP does not oppose the Kercheval in The Park project because the funds will be used to improve public property.

Another resident, John Zu-kowski of Whittier road, warned city officials that "federal money leads you down the primrose path—the path of least resistance that leads to destruction."

"Getting involved with federal programs is like getting on dope: you can't get off because it's so enticing, I'm afraid the city may get trapped," Mr. Zukowski said.

The funds will come from the department of Housing and Urban Development, (HUD), Community Development Block Grant program. The Park and City have participated in the program for four years.

The program is administered through Wayne County, which gathers specific project requests from 34 small communities in the county into one multi-million dollar bid for funds from Washington.

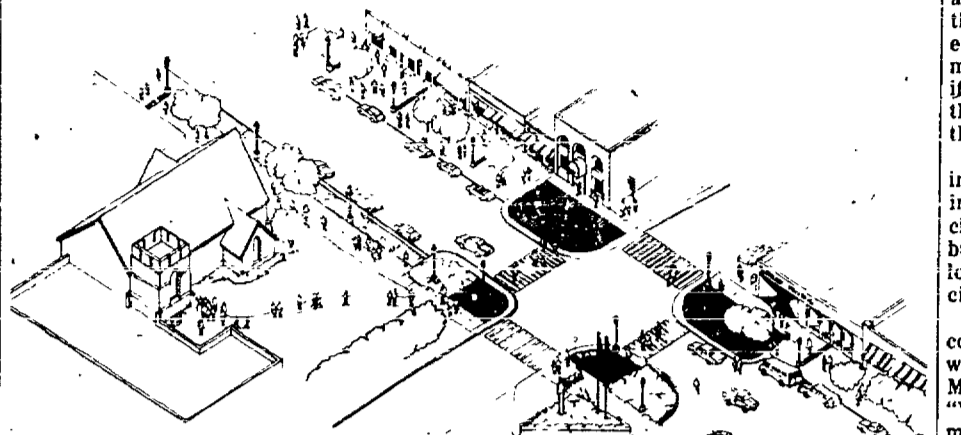

The communities must outline specific projects for funding before their request is approved. Funds are allocated on a per capita basis, with The Park's grant totaling $99,000 annually. The City's about $80,000. The Farms and Woods also are trying to get funds from the program this year.

"Shot in Arm"

Only one councilman, George Verdonck, voted against using the grant for the Kercheval project. He explained that he feels the money would be better used if it were given directly to the businessmen to fix up their buildings.

"All we're doing is planting trees and putting bricks in. These people need financial help to upgrade their buildings, like some kind of low-interest loan," the councilman said.

But the majority of the council apparently agreed with Councilwoman Ann MacDonald when she said, "We've talked about this for many, many years and up until now have done nothing. I think this project is the 'shot in the arm' this area needs."

City's Marina Fees Raised

City boaters will be paying from $20 to $80 more for boat wells in the improved Neff Park marina next summer. A new fee schedule, roughly commensurate with expected increases in the other Pointes, was approved by the City Council Monday, January 15.

The new fees will range from $310 for the largest boat well in harbor C to $100 for smaller wells in the "A" harbor.

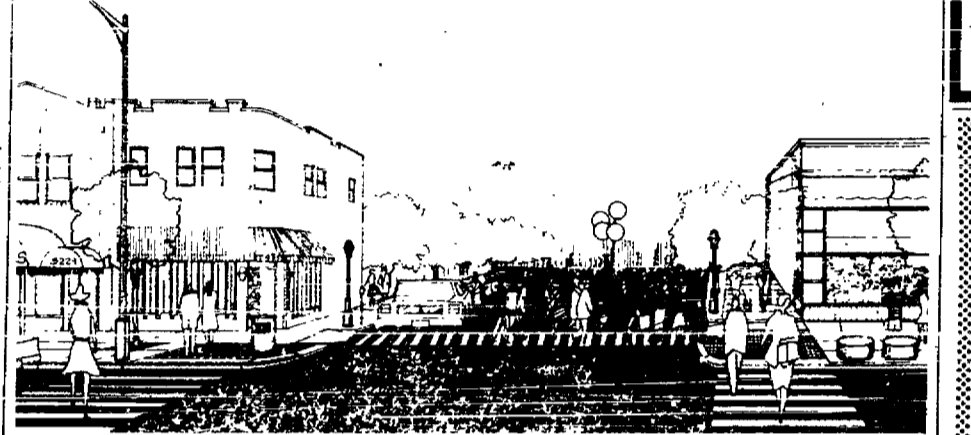

Many of the wells will have improvements made in electrical services, catwalks, pilings and sea walls. Fees for some wells may be reduced if the improvements are not completed by next summer, said City Manager Thomas Kressbach.

The well improvements are part of a complete renovation program for the park which is funded by a $225,000 bond issue approved by voters last September. Other improvements will include a new pool filter system, additional trees and renovation of park buildings.

Sail fish boat racks that will be installed as part of the renovation program will be rented for $30.

New Device Shows Heart at Work

Nuclear medicine physicians at the Harper Hospital Division of Harper-Grace Hospitals are the only ones in the country who are using a new device called a collimator to diagnose early heart attacks faster and with greater accuracy.

The heart tests are used on patients who have experienced chest pains to determine whether the pains are the result of a heart attack and, if so, how much damage has occurred to the heart.

Dr. Steven Figiel and his colleague, Dr. Jaroslaw Muz, of The Woods, both radiologists, explained the advantages of the new system:

"To obtain an image of the heart before a paralyzing heart attack occurs, the patient receives an injection of a slightly radioactive isotope, Thallium 201. This isotope collects in the patient's heart and from there emits rays that are tracked by the special camera lens."

Dr. Muz stated, "Before, only one view of the heart could be obtained at a time and each view took about 25 minutes. With the new device, not only is time saved but there also appears to be a tremendous accuracy of diagnosis."

He reported that previous studies were 66 percent accurate in detecting early heart attacks, but the new lens, in conjunction with a computer, provides 97 percent accuracy of such heart problems. That's an advantage for heart specialists who can now begin to prescribe treatment or surgical correction of defects earlier.

Presently 10 to 12 patients a week are undergoing these new heart studies at Harper.

Thallium 201 studies can compare the actual walls of the heart in both systolic, (pumping), and diastolic, (at rest), rhythms. Other tests are used to study such things as blood traveling through the heart or valve action.

Drs. Muz, Figiel and Thomas Kumpuris, MS, received an award in November at a radiology conference in Chicago for the special exhibit they designed explaining the new tests.

Dr. Muz received his undergraduate degree at the Gymnasium and Liceum in Bytoy, Poland, and his MD at the Medical Academy in Szczecin, Poland. He completed his internship, residency and a fellowship in radiology at the Grace Hospital before joining the medical staff.

Freshmen Bid To North High

The staff of North High School has invited members of the incoming freshmen class, who will be enrolling this spring to begin classes next September, and their parents to attend a special presentation to help them with orientation to the high school.

It will be held on Thursday, February 1, at 7:30 p.m., in the school auditorium, 707 Vernier road. Department heads, counselors and administrators will provide information designed to help with schedule planning and pupil adjustment.

It's true—it takes two to make a quarrel, but when one is willing it's easy to find another.

Pump Failure Stops Flow Of Water in Farms, City

By David Kramer
Farms water officials remain mystified as to the cause of the pump failure that resulted in residents of The Farms and City being without water for a half hour Saturday morning, January 20.

Farms police received numerous calls from all parts of the city between 3:40 and 7:10 a.m., as surprised residents turned on their taps and got nothing. Police called water department personnel, who were able to get another of the five large pumps located in the Moross road plant going.

As it turned out, there were actually three equipment failures involved in the outage, according to Darrel Schuurman, Farms water superintendent.

First, the pump, which is electrically run, quit. Next, the emergency power, supplied by gas engine, failed to kick in as it is automatically designed to do.

To top it all off, the low water pressure alarm located in the police station failed to go off because of a blown fuse.

So the residents were first to know about the drop in pressure, since the plant is unmanned between midnight and 7:30 a.m.

Mr. Schuurman says his department is still investigating the cause, but "we just can't pinpoint it." He speculated that electrical power may have been cut off to the plant for a period, but has no idea why the backup engine didn't function, since it had been tested the day before.

In fact, during a simulated failure conducted on the Monday after the real thing, the engine kicked in and performed "beautifully."

"Chances are we won't find out," he said, while acknowledging the department would make every attempt to be sure it didn't happen again.

While no damage to the system was expected, Mr. Schuurman acknowledged the fire department would have been without water, along with Cottage and Bon Secours Hospitals.

But whatever effects were received by The City went unnoticed, as residents apparently slept through it all. City police didn't get a single complaint.

With the shed, Mr. Petersen felt deliveries of salt can be accepted during low demand periods and safely stored until the time of use.

Although the minor home repair program will center its efforts in the "strategy area," Mr. Petersen recommended that the service be made available to needy seniors throughout the city.

Farms Also Eyes Funds

(Continued from Page 1) anything that comes from the federal government," said Russell Miller, explaining his firsthand experience in dealing with federal agencies has taught him to expect "unneeded meddling."

Councilman Lloyd Semple agreed. "It's been my observation that cities that accept these funds haven't suffered. We've monitored it very well."

"Excellent Program" Mrs. Heavner told the council that CDBG isn't expected to continue its "special needs" program next year, and it would be necessary for the city to include SOC in its list of proposals in order for them to get more funding.

Cottage Classes Help Diabetes

Diabetic diet classes will be offered again at Cottage Hospital, 159 Kercheval avenue, on the first Thursday of the month throughout the year, starting February 1.

Classes will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. in boardroom B on the lower level of the hospital. Each participant should bring a diet prescription from his physician.

While classes are free of charge, reservations should be made by calling the hospital's dietary department at 884-8600, ext. 2051, Monday through Friday between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Barbara Youngblood, RD, Cottage Hospital assistant chief dietitian, said classes will cover the patient's responsibility in controlling the diabetic condition through diet, use of the diabetic exchange list and suggestions for selection, measuring and preparing menus.

There also are tips on maintaining the diabetic diet while eating out.

Diabetic diet classes are offered as a helpful supplement and review to individuals who have been recently diagnosed as diabetic, or those who need a refresher course on maintaining a diabetic diet.

Rape Suspect Arraigned in Park

The investigation in The Park case is continuing.

The Park woman was kidnapped in front of her home in Wayburn, south of Mack avenue. Miss Asaro was kidnapped from in front of her home, also in Wayburn, but north of Mack in Detroit, only a few blocks from The Park woman's residence.

On the December 1 date, The Park woman was helping her two small children out of her car in front of her home when she was forced back into the vehicle by one of two men. The woman's auto was driven to Detroit, with the other man following in another car, which was later found to have been stolen in Detroit. At a location in Detroit, both men raped her.

Chief Coonce said because the crime originated in The Park, it was a continuing crime, and even though she had been raped in another city, his department had jurisdiction.

After the criminal assault, the woman offered to show the pair where money was hidden in her home if they promised to release her and the children unharmed. The two threw the woman and her children out of the vehicle after looking her home and taking money from her purse.

Crack homicide detectives from Detroit's Headquarters, First Precinct, Jefferson Station, Fifth Precinct, and Conner Station, 15th Precinct, came to The Park police station after the Asaro murder because a bulletin sent to all law agencies in the area regarding the rape of The Park woman bore a similar method of operation as the kidnapping of the Detroit woman.

Officers of the Park Detective Bureau, Sgt. James LaPratt and Det. Robert Saiford, had nothing to work on in regard to the local case, but for weeks they accumulated bits of information here and there. They went from one Detroit precinct to another and even to Jackson, Mich., where, Chief Coonce said, Curtis was wanted on a bank robbery warrant which he allegedly used the car stolen from Detroit.

Sgt. LaPratt and Det. Saiford finally gathered names of possible suspects and sufficient information to seek warrants, and were about to leave for the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office when the Detroit detectives came to the station, Chief Coonce said.

The policemen noted the method of operation in both cases, plus other similarities, and began working together over the past few weeks until they arrived at a conclusion, the chief said.

"The cooperation between our detectives and those of Detroit was not excellent, it was magnificent!", Chief Coonce said. "The detectives of Detroit's First, Fifth and 15th Precincts and the detectives of our department worked together in the investigation of our common crime and each department worked in total cooperation throughout."

"The information was available, the intelligence and know-how were there and there were excellent exchanges."

The chief said in regard to the rape of The Park woman, Sgt. LaPratt and Det. Saiford "did a yoeman's job" in working from nothing and building an airtight case in a bit-by-bit accumulation of evidence.

Lad Peete surrendered to Detroit authorities on Tuesday, January 16, when he learned they were looking for him.

Detroit police learned of another male suspect who was a friend of Lad and questioned him on Wednesday, January 17. The friend led police to an abandoned house at 4110 Algonquin, Detroit, where Miss Asaro's bullet riddled body was found. She was fully clothed.

An investigation is still underway to determine who actually fired the shots that killed her.

Maintenance of Village

area in future years. In the past, requests for the Village have been rejected, mainly because there are no signs of disinvestment or blight in the area, according to City Manager Thomas Kressbach.

The survey is required and paid for by the federal program. Mr. Kressbach called it a "healthy" undertaking all the way around.

"It not only lends credence to the Community Development program itself, but to local government, too. It helps us structure programs to meet very specific needs of our citizens," Mr. Kressbach said.

In addition to questions about how federal funds should be spent, the surveyors asked about income, age and family size.

The survey reached 499 out of 685 families in The City's western census tract, west of Neff road. The area has been targeted the city's "strategy area" for community development purposes because of its lower average income level.

About four percent of the people contacted refused to participate. Another 12 percent would not answer in-home demographic highlights of the survey findings follow:

• There is a very high number of renters in the area. More than 34 percent of those contacted said they rent, rather than own their homes.

• Family size is very small. Almost 40 percent of the households are made up of only one person, 75 percent have one or two persons.

• More than half of the households have at least one member who is 60 years or older. For low income families, the percentage is almost 80 percent.

All but seven of the families talked to said they regularly shop In-the-Village, but almost a quarter of them think there is not enough parking space there.

An important part of the survey, from the standpoint of the Community Development program, are the income statistics. City officials will use the data to carve out a "strategy area" with about 30 percent of the families in the low-to-moderate income category.

Mr. Kressbach said the survey confirmed the conclusions of several other recent studies which indicated The City has an aging population with low-income singles in some areas. He said the high number of renters came as some surprise.

Community Development projects being considered for this year include widening of Notre Dame avenue just north of Kercheval, housing rehabilitation grants, tree replacement, street resurfacing and parking lot lights in the Village.

Let's Talk Real Estate

by John E. Brink

Recently mirrored what I've seen in the California boom. It has ended and in fact could possibly "back up" if conditions continue as they are. It points out that inventory of houses for sale is up and houses are taking longer to sell. An important point is that many are not getting their asking price or even near what they had planned to get.

At Grosse Pointe Real Estate Co. 882-0087 we wondered all along if the rapid rise in values was due to the simple shortage of houses or inflation. We accepted that it probably was a little of both. We've also said that the mid west follows the west coast in trends. This applies in many markets such as the toy industry, giftwares, clothing as well as Real Estate.

If all this is true it could mean that we won't see houses continue to inflate at record breaking percentages such as 2% a month and the like. For the seller this poses a problem if he has set a specific date to put his house on the market with the knowledge of the California market in mind we say it's wise to list now and hope to sell at this top market. This is important for the seller because even if the market continues to increase its very possible that this year's influx of houses for sale will probably more than offset any gain. Remember competition helps keep prices down. So call us now—we're ready to go to work for you and have lots to tell you about getting the very top dollar—now.

Woods Reports One Percent Increase in Crime Last Year

(Continued from Page 1) ment was hit by daytime hubcap thefts in alleys with officials late last summer warning the business community to keep an eye out for any suspicious activity. After that time, there was a "marked decrease" in such reports, he noted.

The bulk of the larceny reports were in the $50 to $199.99 category, which rose from 189 cases in 1977 to 210 last year. Larcenies $200 or over increased from 68 to 104.

Another Part I category which showed an increase was that of auto theft, which rose from 22 to 40 last year. Lt. Patterson, in citing "the lucrative auto parts business," felt this crime was one which has to be lived with, while stressing that prevention on the part of everyone would be an important plus factor.

Cites Bright Spots - While the overall content of the Part I category has caused concern, there were some bright spots, noted Director Dankel, in relation to crimes against persons.

Robbery, for example, dropped from seven incidents in 1977 to three last year, while aggravated assaults fell from two to one, in both 1977 and 1978, no forcible rapes were reported.

Finally, one criminal homicide, (manslaughter by negligence), occurred last year, as against none in 1977. This occurred early last January when a 32-year-old Woods woman took her life and the life of her nine-year-old daughter. Asphyxiation via carbon monoxide was the apparent cause of death.

In the Part II category, the overall total of reported crime fell from 2,250 in 1977 to 2,135 last year, while clearances increased from 62 percent two years ago to 65 percent last year.

A main reason for this is seen in the decrease in dog complaints, (587 to 452), traffic complaints, (388 to 270), and parking complaints, (327 to 271).

On the other hand, "other assaults" increased from 32 to 82, with Lt. Patterson feeling that more citizens are reporting such incidents now as in the past, with many involving juveniles and, hence, the Youth Service Division.

"Symptom of Times" - Fraud reports, meanwhile, fell from 45 to 27 cases, with a big drop in property losses being occurring, down from $32,544 in 1977 to $1,728 last year.

efforts in December 1977 and January 1978, when an information program in the handling of checks was instituted alerting business persons on procedures.

A perennial pain for the community has always been the vandalism classification, with such incidents increasing from 299 to 378 last year.

This experience is suffered by all communities, said Lt. Patterson, who called such a "symptom of the times." He emphasized parental control and guidance is a main avenue toward controlling such incidents.

Sex related reports also increased, from 43 to 61 in 1978. The "all other" category, with a focus upon accounting reports, mainly accounted for this increase with seven reported incidents occurring in 1977 and 22 last year.

Both Lt. Patterson and Director Dankel felt these figures were encouraging from the standpoint that more such incidents are being reported, based upon an awareness developed through The Pointe-wide Child Safety Program. "We also had a couple of successful prosecutions with the defendants getting help," added the lieutenant.

Increase Emphasis - As for narcotic drug law violations, Lt. Patterson said the city is holding its own, which isn't bad for a community of its size. In both 1977 and 1978, 31 such cases were reported. Marijuana incidents fell from 29 to 24 last year, while "all other" cases, e.g., pills, increased from one to seven last year.

Other statistics show that 8,228 incident reports were written in 1978, 7,702 in 1977 and 7,899 last year, while a total of 437 ambulance runs occurred in 1978, 416 in 1977 and 425 last year.

Miles of streets patrolled in 1978 reached 236,282 for the community which is 3.2 square miles. Street patrolling miles in 1977 totaled 296,637.

Ordinance citation activities for the three platoons has decreased over the past three years, from 7,196 violations in 1978 to 5,846 in 1977 to 4,695 last year. On this, Director Dankel indicated he put more emphasis upon traffic enforcement late last year and said this emphasis will be increased this year.

Fire Losses Drop - No civilian deaths occurred last year, while in 1977 three citizens, (a mother and her two daughters), died in a fire which engulfed their Preakness road home. One death, (a house fire in Sunningdale drive), occurred in 1978.

Adjusted fire losses showed a hefty drop last year in comparison to 1977. The total reached $48,735 in 1978 as against $262,500 two years ago.

Pleased over these figures, Director Dankel said the department has had fewer fires with the blazes being well handled by the troops.

The bulk of the losses last year were in dwellings, incorporating structure and contents, $39,670, while the same held true in 1977 when the figure was $179,035.

The yearly total of in-service training, both fire and police, plus schooling, reached 5,075 hours last year. Director Dankel said he would like to see this total climb in 1979, while hoping to double the 883 hours in fire training recorded last year. "The fewer fires we have, the more training we need," he stated.

Gradual Rise - On the LEIN, (Law Enforcement Information Network), system, the director expressed pleasure over the 446 hits, with 350 of them coming on traffic warrants. "This shows our officers are challenging people and that they are out there working," he said.

In the early 1970's, the department's statistics showed a gradual increase in crime until the big drop in 1976.

Based on computations at departmental headquarters, crime dropped around two percent in 1972 under 1971 but rose one percent in 1973 over 1972, five percent in 1974 over 1973 and two percent in 1975 over 1974.

Disco Evening Set for Friends of Wayne

Friends of Wayne State University School of Medicine are planning their post-holiday disco dinner dance at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club for Friday, February 2. Mrs. KENNETH KRABBEHOFF (seated, right) is chairman and has announced that the Tony Dannon Trio will provide the music, with disco exhibition and instruction by the Belknaps. League Dedicates New Home for Men

Home Named in Honor of Jean Taylor Bodkin, Founder of The Junior Group of League-Goodwill

League for the Handicapped-Goodwill Industries formally dedicates its new residential facility for long term institutionalized men, the Taylor-Bodkin Home, in Nuernberg Road, Detroit, at an open house today, Thursday, January 25, from 2 to 5 o'clock.

The home is in the former convent building of the Holy Name Parish and is operated in cooperation with Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Services Board.

The facility is being named in honor of Jean Taylor Bodkin, (Mrs. Edwin O.), of Trombley road, founder of the Junior Group of League-Goodwill. In 1933, Mrs. Bodkin's mother, Grace Brown Taylor, (Mrs. J. E. Paul), founder of the Women's Association of League-Goodwill, asked her daughter to recruit a group of 12 young women to serve as ushers at a benefit concert for Goodwill Industries.

With encouragement and help from Mrs. Bodkin, these young women became interested in helping the handicapped and formed the Junior Group of League-Goodwill. The Junior Group now has over 300 members who work actively with the organization to provide volunteer help and to conduct various fund raising projects which benefit the agency.

Over the years the Junior Group has raised approximately $900,000 through its various activities. The funds have been used in a variety of ways to benefit the agency's handicapped clients.

Mrs. Bodkin is still an active member of the Junior Group and has been a leader in various other civic and charitable groups. She helped organize the Women for the United Foundation and has served on various boards and committees of the United Foundation and United Community Services.

She was the first woman to serve on the board of Boy's Republic. The Taylor-Bodkin home replaces the Howard Home, which originally opened in 1971. It closed a year ago because it no longer met the adult and foster care licensing requirements for a residence facility. Taylor-Bodkin Home is the result of a year long search for an adequate physical facility. Funds for building improvements and modifications were advanced by the Junior Group of League-Goodwill.

The 20 male residents of Taylor-Bodkin Home have all been institutionalized, some for many years. Under the terms of relatively recent legislation, they have been returned to the community.

FORECAST '79

"I predict a lot of short hair for Spring/Summer. Styles will be light, airy and casual with the ends going every conceivable way. There will also be a lot more intricate hairdressing. Conditions will be used on the hair before it's wrapped and twisted for beach wear. The 40's influence will continue to be heavy, but this will not involve setting. No one under 40 will sit under the dryer. New, faster, more efficient implements will be used to get the volume, wave or textured desired."

The Detroit Review Club will be celebrating Valentine's Day a day early, when they meet at the University Club Tuesday, February 13, for a 12 o'clock luncheon.

Mrs. Robert Kefgen, DRC president, will act as official hostess and conduct a short business meeting before the program.

Mrs. Harry Graham, artistic social activities vice-chairman, will be in charge of table decorations. Green house plants, large red hearts and old fashioned Valentines will center the speakers table.

Mrs. Aaron E. Wilcox, past president, is chairman of the day. She will introduce Esther K. Shapiro, director of Detroit's Consumer Affairs Department, as guest speaker.

This will be the second time that Mrs. Shapiro has been asked to address the Detroit Review Club. A knowledgeable, forthright, and witty speaker, Mrs. Shapiro will present "Consumer Questions — Serious to Silly."

She is past president of the Consumer Federation of America and a founder and past President of the Consumer Alliance of Michigan. She was appointed by two previous Detroit mayors to consumer advisory councils and has served on advisory boards to the FDA, the Michigan Department of Agriculture and the Federal Executive Board.

In May of 1978 she was elected Secretary of the National Association of Consumer Affairs Agencies.

Mrs. Shapiro broadcasts a daily consumer bulletin on Detroit radio station WWJ as well as weekly newscasts for other Detroit radio stations and local television talk shows.

Music For A While to Present Concert

Metropolitan Area Musicians Will Perform Variety of Music During Morning Concert at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church February 1

Music For A While offers instrumental music by romanticists and modernists in its third concert set for Thursday morning, February 1, in the music room of the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore road, at 10 o'clock.

Performers featured in the concert are metropolitan area artists, recognized professionally as soloists, accompanists and teachers.

Beginning the program is a trio whose members are Pointer Elizabeth Peterson, violin, Minka Christoff, violoncello, and Marjorie Connell Strimpel, piano. They will perform the first movement (Pezzo Elegiaco) of Tchaikovsky's Trio, Op. 50, a composition seldom heard because of its great length and technical demands.

Ms. Peterson, concertmaster of the Macomb County Community College Chamber Orchestra, is a member of the college's applied music faculty. A student of Mischa Mischakoff, she twice received the Grosse Pointe Symphony Women's Committee scholarship award.

Ms. Christoff, born in Bulgaria, is a graduate of the Bulgarian State University. Since her arrival in this country in 1970, she has earned a degree in instrumental music education from Wayne State University and performed with the Michigan Chamber Orchestra, the Michigan Opera Theater Orchestra and the Brunch with Bach series.

Ms. Strimpel has soloed with the symphony orchestras of Wayne State, South Oakland, Allen Park and St. Clair Shores plus the WJR Symphonic Band.

The holder of two degrees in Music from Wayne State University, she currently is on the Macomb County Community College faculty.

Second on the program will be two compositions for flute and piano: Hindemith's sonata for flute and klavier and George Hue's Fantasia, both performed by Deborah Kuick, principal flutist with the Michigan Opera Theater, and Fontaine Laing, recent soloist with the Pontiac-Oakland Symphony.

Ms. Kuick has soloed in recitals throughout the Detroit and New York City metropolitan areas and has performed with the Plymouth Symphony and New York City Orchestra.

Ms. Laing, a student at Flawio Varani at Oakland University, currently is working with Eugene Bossert at University of Michigan toward a Master of Music degree in Chamber Music.

She has accompanied University of Michigan faculty concerts and has been featured in the Brunch with Bach Series.

A performer in the Cranbrook Festival and the Toledo Museum Concert Series, she recently recorded Saion Music for Flute with Ervin Monroe of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. She played a series of recitals in Germany.

Pianist Mary Casteiveterre Siciliano will conclude the program with Granados' Valses Poeticos and Allegro de Concerto.

Ms. Siciliano received a Master of Music degree with high honors from the University of Michigan where she was on the piano staff and was recipient of the coveted Joseph Brinkman Award.

She has soloed and performed chamber music throughout Michigan and currently is on the piano faculty of the Detroit Community Music School.

Tickets for the concert at $3 each are available at the door or may be purchased in advance by calling 864-7815 or 885-6110.

RETRO HAIR
 Spring Summer 1979
 for the look of glamour

Mr. Vern says that, "The Retro woman always looks fashionable. If her hair is well-groomed, healthy-looking and styled Retro, the contemporary woman can have confidence in the way she looks. A woman's hair is the first element of her appearance that people notice and is a constant statement of her taste and fashion."

Mr. Vern adds that, "While Retro Hair gives a woman a soft feminine look, it is also forceful and versatile enough to declare a woman's independence, her determination to sample all of life while remaining every bit a woman."

Concert Set for February 5

The Detroit Symphony Civic Orchestra will present a concert Monday, February 5, at 8 o'clock in Ford Auditorium.

DSO assistant conductor Kenneth Jean will share the program with the DSO's conducting fellow for 1978-79 Martin Fischer-Dieskau and Civic Orchestra administrator Raymond Turner, DSO's principal trombone.

The program, with conductors for each work in parenthesis, will include Schumann's "New England Triptych" (Raymond Turner), Ravel's "Pavane For A Dead Princess" (Kenneth Jean), Dukas's "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" (Kenneth Jean) and Dvorak's Symphony No. 8 (Martin Fischer-Dieskau).

Tickets are available on a reserved seat basis at $5 at the Ford Auditorium box office.

Master Charge and VISA charge card customers may order tickets by phone at 962-5524.

Tickets will be available at the door at $3 on the night of the concert on a general admission basis.

The Detroit Symphony Civic Orchestra, sponsored by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra with the support of major funding from the J.L. Hudson Company, is a training orchestra, based in part on the Youth Orchestra which the DSO established in 1970.

Membership in the orchestra is strictly dependent upon ability, with no age restrictions. Candidates must win their positions by audition and, for those of post-college age, must be actively pursuing a career in symphonic performance.

Lodging for the Night

There sat Kevin Fitzpatrick, all of 14 years old, $40 in his pocket, (a goodly sum to a 14-year-old), in Chicago's O'Hare Airport, and the snow fell, and the winds blew, and it was obvious that Kevin wasn't going to get out of O'Hare that night.

NOBODY was going to get out of O'Hare that night.

So okay, Kevin could cope. He had $40, right? What he didn't have was a working knowledge of what to do when your plane can't fly: go to your airline and see about getting a hotel room voucher.

Kevin, who didn't know about the voucher system, did the logical thing. He headed for the nearest hotel.

And there he presented himself at the registration desk, feeling like a confident Man of the World — and was turned away, after being told that his $40 didn't cover the minimum room rate.

One strike doesn't mean you're out. Kevin, undiscouraged, took to the telephone, calling other hotels in the area. Same story. His $40 wasn't enough to cover their minimum room rates, either.

Now Kevin was beginning to get worried . . . but once again he did the logical thing. He called home, called mom, and Liz Fitzpatrick, from Rivard boulevard, gave her son the best advice of the night: go back to the airline and ask for help.

The airline reservationist was sympathetic but not too optimistic. Given the blizzard conditions, it

More People Are Visiting Art Museum

Nearly 900,000 persons visited the Detroit Institute of Arts last year, a whopping 182,000 increase over 1977.

Another 200,000 enjoyed art institute exhibitions, lectures and Youtheatre performances traveling throughout Michigan under the statewide Show on the Road program.

Frederick J. Cummings, director, ascribed the downtown Detroit increase to regular six-day — Tuesday through Sunday — open hours and the popularity of two special shows: "Henri Matisse: Paper-Cut-Outs" and "Peru's Golden Treasures." Cummings believes that 1979 will see a museum attendance of 1,000,000 and a total statewide audience of 1,400,000.

The 1978 Detroit attendance was 899,959, with 237,320 enjoying performances of Detroit Youtheatre, Detroit Film Theatre, Brunch with Bach and Thursday Night Jazz.

The 1977 local total was

The League-Goodwill staff teaches the men personal care and grooming, how to shop in a retail store or move around the city by means of public transportation and plans recreational or improvement activities for the men.

Formal dedication ceremonies of the home will be held at 2 o'clock with tours of the facility held until 5 o'clock.

League-Goodwill, a Torch Drive service, also operates the Saint Ambrose home for women in Alter road, Detroit, in cooperation with Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Services Board.

United States Army Reservist GEORGE J. KASZA, of Allard road, has been promoted to the rank of Major. He is assistant logistics officer of Headquarters, 300th Military Police Command, U.S. Army Reserve, Livonia.

Will Wed

A June 1st wedding is being planned by NANCY LYNN OLIS and Stephen Michael Rickerman whose engagement was announced Sunday, October 1, by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew F. Olis, of Edmunton drive.

A Grosse Pointe North High School 1974 graduate, the bride-elect received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Western Michigan University in 1978.

She is an assistant buyer with the J.L. Hudson Company.

Mr. Rickerman, son of Ms. Rosemarie Rickerman, of Detroit, and Jack Rickerman, of Clawson, was graduated from De LaSalle Collegiate in 1974.

He is attending Wayne State University studying Business Administration and employed by the Stroh Brewery Company.

Students Need To Plan Career

"Learn to use the placement office in your freshman year" is the advice Jack Shingleton has for freshmen at Michigan State University.

Shingleton, who directs one of the nation's largest college placement services, says students who wait until their senior year to discover the placement office may find they are not prepared well enough for the job market.

"Too often, students have very little information — or too much misinformation — concerning the job outlook in their chosen field," he maintains.

Placement officers can predict employment trends for future graduates says the placement director, and can give students the facts about employment prospects in various disciplines.

At MSU, Placement Services conducts a yearly follow-up study of June graduates in each major. Data is compiled on salaries offered and number of people hired.

Knowing which disciplines are in demand makes career counseling more "prevention-oriented and less crisis-directed," says Shingleton.

Years ago, he notes, college graduates were members of an "educated elite" who could command positions that are no longer available to many of today's college graduates. He attributes this situation to two factors.

"Today's college graduate is a member of a mass working force," Shingleton explains, "and much of the knowledge gained in college will not be applicable in a job situation."

Spring Wedding Being Planned

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon Loomis, of University place, announce the engagement of their daughter, Carrie Ellen, to Paul Pickering Spaulding, III, of San Francisco, Calif.

The bride-elect, a graduate of Grosse Pointe South High School, the honors college of the University of Michigan and George Washington University, where she earned a degree in Urban Planning, is employed as a city planner with Marik County, Calif.

The future bridegroom, son of Mrs. Joan Spaulding, of Tequesta, Fla., and Paul Spaulding, II, of Durham, Conn., is an alumnus of the Loomis School, the honors college at the University of Michigan, and Georgetown University Law School. A spring wedding is planned.

Orchestra Hall Benefit Stated by Friends

Greater Detroit area music lovers will have the opportunity to hear one of the world's most exciting and talented symphony orchestras at Orchestra Hall Wednesday, February 7, at 8 o'clock in a special performance sponsored by the Friends For Orchestra Hall.

The National Korean Symphony will be the first full-size orchestra of 105 musicians, with soloist, to appear at Orchestra Hall since 1939, when the Detroit Symphony made its last appearance there in formal concert.

Music cognoscenti have noted the recent dominance of Korean nationals in the world of western classical music.

In affirmation of this artistic distinction, the Korean National Symphony began its first transcontinental tour of the United States with an appearance in Los Angeles January 14.

The symphony is making its way across the country with major performances in Chicago, January 24; Philadelphia, January 28; Washington, January 29; and New York, February 2.

The Korean National Symphony is presenting a classical symphonic program.

The major works — The Rachmaninoff Concerto for Piano No. 1 and Brahms Symphony No. 4 — are well known to symphonic audiences and offer a basis for critical comparison with other major symphony orchestras.

The opening selection, a composition by a Korean composer especially commissioned for this tour, is Sukhi Kang's "Dahja Orchestra."

Legal Service Helps 61,000

More than 61,000 court cases were handled last year before it becomes a $100,000 problem.

Public and legal defender offices provided lawyers without charge to 21,000 juveniles, sick, elderly and indigent persons...

These are among the facts about the Michigan legal system, included in the 20-page second annual "Report to The People" issued by the State Bar of Michigan.

Activities by the state's 17,500-member Bar are reported, together with a directory of all legal aid, legal services and lawyer-referral agencies...

Among the facts disclosed in the State Bar's report to the public are the following:

• Funding from the State Bar, local Bars, United Funds, contributed services of individual attorneys, plus more than $3.8 million in federal funds...

• Working through 79 committees and sections, focusing on almost every aspect of law, Michigan attorneys were involved in public service other than legal counsel.

The Judicial Qualifications Committee, for example, conducted interviews and evaluations of 122 candidates to assist the governor in filling 18 judicial vacancies last year.

• Members of some 40 local and county Bar Associations throughout the state participated in "No Bills Day," offering free 15-to-30 minute legal consultations to the public on Law Day.
