THE ISRAELI CABINET
Wednesday approved two crucial compromises proposed by President Jimmy Carter, paving the way to the long-sought peace treaty between Israel and Egypt, possibly as early as next week. "The last two outstanding issues were resolved today," said Prime Minister Menachem Begin as he emerged from the six-hour cabinet meeting. He refused to outline the substance of the compromise. Israeli sources said they dealt with the Israeli right to buy Sinai Desert oil from Egypt and the drawing up of a detailed timetable for Israel's withdrawal from the Sinai Peninsula nine months after the treaty is signed.

THE COMMITTEE TO SELECT the site of the 1980 Democratic National Convention held its first meeting in Washington Thursday with Detroit and New York emerging as front runners. UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN officials are considering a $245 million hospital to replace the main building of University Hospital in Ann Arbor. The building, 53-years-old, is described by its director as having wiring, plumbing, elevators and steam systems "on the verge of collapse." In a letter to its medical alumni society, the university reported it had a pledge of $200 million in state funds from Gov. William Milliken, subject to legislative approval. It hopes to raise $20 to $25 million from private donations. Work on the new facility could begin in 1980.

Park Set To Consider 312 Plan

Program, Slated to Be Eyed on March 26, Would Provide Low-Interest Loans to Businessmen

By Susan McDonald
Businessmen in The Park may get some help fixing up their property in the form of low-interest loans if the council approves a proposal next week to participate in the federal government's 312 Rehabilitation program.

The proposal was presented to the council at its Monday, March 19, meeting but, because of recent sentiment against The Park's involvement in federal programs, the council postponed a decision until a comprehensive legal opinion of the plan could be obtained, according to City Manager John Crawford.

The council will consider the matter again at its Monday, March 26, meeting.

To Begin Soon
The 312 program is designed to supplement city plans to spruce up the Kercheval avenue commercial district over the next three years by planting trees, expanding parking, installing sidewalk furniture and widening sidewalks.

David Robb Selected Mayor of GP City Via Unanimous Council Vote

Former Five-Year Councilman Replaces Resigning John King, Who Expresses His Appreciation to His Colleagues; Appointment Is Expected to Fill Vacant Post

By Susan McDonald
Attorney David Robb was elected mayor of the City of Grosse Pointe to replace John King, who resigned Monday, March 19, after nine years on the job. The vote of the council for the new mayor was unanimous, with senior member George Henry and Mr. Robb absent from the meeting.

Mr. Robb is vacationing in Florida and could not be reached for comment. He indicated last week, however, that he would accept the position if elected.

He has served on the council for five years and led the ticket with the largest number of votes each time he was elected in 1973 and 1977.

Difficult to Follow
An attorney with the firm Rickel, Urco, Wekas, Earle and Robb, he and his wife, Florence, and their three children live in Washington road. Mr. Robb, 50, is a native of Grosse Pointe and a graduate of the University of Michigan. He received his law degree at the University of Virginia.

He was an officer in the U.S. Navy in the South Pacific until 1955 and later worked as a special assistant to the Secretary of Defense for Legal Affairs.

In addition to his council position, Mr. Robb serves as president of the Greater Detroit Area Hospital Council, chairman of the board of the Eastside Detroit Hospital Corporation and trustee of the Alexander Blain Memorial Hospital.

In nominating Mr. Robb for mayor, Councilman Arthur Fetters noted that Mr. King "is going to be a difficult act to follow." The council presented the former mayor with a resolution commending his "outstanding leadership" and many accomplishments in The City.

"Sentimental Time"
Mr. King announced last week that he would resign from his position because of increased demands from his legal practice. He was elected to the council 11 years ago and was appointed mayor upon the death of David E. Burgess in 1970. He was re-elected mayor four times.

"This is a sentimental time," Mr. King said when he formally tendered his resignation Monday evening. "I've enjoyed my years on the council and I must say, I've never worked with a

Sentence Rapist-Murderer To Four Life Prison Terms

A Detroit Recorder's Court judge and a Wayne County Circuit Court judge sentenced Ladd Peete, 22, of Grand street, Detroit, to a total of four life terms in prison for kidnapping, rape and murder. In addition, Peete received a prison term of from 10 to 15 years for robbery armed and another 10 to 15 year term for the breaking and entering of a dwelling.

The first two life terms were imposed by Recorder's Court Judge Dalton Roberson on Friday, March 17, when Peete pled guilty to robbing, raping and murdering Susan Asaro, 19, on January 12 in Detroit.

The woman was kidnapped from in front of her home in Waymouth, Detroit, and taken to an abandoned house

Fire Damages Kroger Store

A faulty heating unit was blamed for a fire that did minor damage to Kroger's grocery store, 16919 Kercheval avenue, on Friday, March 16, at about 9 p.m.

The store was forced to close a half hour early because of the blaze. There were no injuries and none of the store's contents was damaged, according to Kroger's Manager George Sassin.

Four City firemen were assisted by eight officers from The Park in battling the blaze. The fire broke out between the ceiling and the roof of the store, and was contained in that area.

LSD Rears Its Ugly Head in GP

Two Separate Cases of Sale of Hallucinogen, Originally Reported to Be Mescaline, Are Cited

By Roger A. Waha
Two separate cases of juveniles selling at the high schools what they thought was mescaline, but what turned out to be LSD upon a Michigan State Police crime lab analysis, has created some concern among Youth Service Division (YSD), officials as no similar cases have been reported over the past several years.

The first incident occurred Friday, February 23, at South High School and resulted in the apprehension of a 15-year-old City boy, while the second happened on Friday, March 16, at North High and resulted in the arrest of two youths after police surveillance revealed a transaction had taken place.

Both mescaline and LSD are hallucinogens, with officials indicating the latter is the more deadly because of its potency and unpredictability.

End Up in Hospital
Hallucinogens seem to affect levels of certain chemicals in the brain, and change the electrical activity of the brain. They do distort sensory impressions, increase the pulse and heart rate, blood pressure and temperature, and cause chills, nausea and irregular breathing.

Saying the division is involved in this area on a daily basis, woods E.E. Li, Jack Patterson, division supervisor, explained, "We have an objective, besides enforcement and education, the enlightenment of the public of anything which comes into the community that is potentially dangerous."

Indicating dosages vary a great deal, the lieutenant said the substance is made in "clandestine labs," while noting the entire process is frightening.

YSD Det. William Desilets, who handled the case at South High, reported that the youth was allegedly selling the microdots, (tablets, brownish pearls in color, the size of pinheads), at $3 a bit in the parking lot.

The boy was seen by a

Pointes' Officials Seeking Changes In EMT Laws

Big Concern Revolves Around Proposed Recommendation for Several Changes in Public Act Which Would Affect Communities' Ambulance Service; State Legislators in Attendance Offer Sympathetic Ear

By James J. Njaim
If the state legislature goes through with a proposed recommendation by the Michigan Health Department to make several changes in Act 368, Public Acts of 1978, Section 2031(2), at least three of the Pointes, Harper Woods, St. Clair Shores and East Detroit, will have to go out of the ambulance service furnished by their respective fire or public safety departments.

At a Tuesday, March 13, meeting, hosted by Woods Public Safety Director John Dankel, fire chiefs and officials of the cities involved met with members of the legislature representing the districts affected. No official from East Detroit attended the informal session although they had been invited.

Present to hear the complaints of the fire chiefs and city officials were Tim Jacobs of Sen. John Hertel's staff; Sen. Hertel, who arrived late from Lansing; Sen. Gilbert DiNello; Rep. William R. Bryant Jr., House minority leader; attorneys Don Kuhn of Sen. DiNello's staff; Michael Hatti of Sen. John Kelly's staff; and William Dahling of Rep. Bryant's staff.

Training Costly
Behind the proposed changes, which the eight communities object to so strenuously, is Dr. Mohammad N. Akhter, chief of the Division of the Emergency Medical Service, Department of Public Health, Bureau of Health Care Administration, Lansing.

The changes would require each community to train their firefighters or public safety officers as emergency medical technicians (EMT), which would be time consuming and very costly in money and manpower, it was brought out at the session.

The Park already has trained EMT's and has contracted its services to The City, which went out of the ambulance business several months ago.

Proposed changes in the act would require the firefighters of each community to undergo hours of training.

WSU Corrects Error in Story

The Wayne State University Theater Department corrected a report in a news release published in last week's edition of the NEWS, ("Playwriting Contest Set").

In announcing the second nationwide Nederland playwriting competition, the figure of $3,000 was incorrectly given for the first place prize. That amount is $5,000.

Jewel Thieves' Escape Try Foiled by Deputies

Two of the three women arrested by police for the Wednesday, February 28, robbery of Pongracz Jeweler, 91 Kercheval avenue, attempted to flee custody of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department on Wednesday, March 14, but were apprehended approximately 110 feet from the county jail building according to Farms Det. Earl Field.

Warrants against the pair for fleeing the confines of the jail were requested.

The detective said the fact that the duo had fled a distance from the jail building before they were captured constitutes an escape, not an attempt to escape, and warrants will go forward.

Charged with breaking from jail are Denise M. Martin, 30, and Denise Sloss, 25, no addresses known, who broke free from custody as they were about to be transferred to the Wayne County Jail Annex, a minimum security jail, located in Westland in the old Wayne County General Hospital Complex.

Det. Field said the warrants, at his request, will be issued by Robert Healy, assistant Wayne County prosecutor, assigned to the Wayne County Crime Task Force, and the two women will be taken before a sitting judge or magistrate, in Detroit's Recorder's Court to answer the charges.

Martin and Sloss, plus Linda Diane Conley, 22, were arraigned for examination before Farms Municipal

GPW Voters Nix Question 1,261 to 588

But Citizens Okay Further Investigation of Cable TV Franchise, 1,125 to 716

By Roger A. Waha
Woods voters solidly defeated a referendum question governing the issuance of two tavern licenses in the community at a special election Tuesday, March 20. The unofficial tally was 1,261 against and 588 in favor.

At the same time, citizens gave their blessing to an advisory question on cable television by a 1,125 to 716 margin.

This question asked residents if the council should proceed with an investigation and possible authorization of a cable TV franchise which would provide for installation of a cable network, at no cost to the city, and with a voluntary subscription fee to the individual user.

Moot Question
In relation to the tavern licenses question, voters considered an ordinance amendment providing that the council may approve or signify its approval of the issuance of two tavern licenses in the community. With the final result, the question becomes moot at this time.

Citizens considered the subject because of the successful initiatory petition drive of specialty restaurant owners Charles Moraco and Ronald Serba of Le Cafe Francais, 20311 Mack avenue, and Edward Barbieri and his son, Edward Jr., of Da Edoardo, 19767 Mack, who both stressed the need to be able to serve a glass of wine with their meals.

(A tavern license permits only the serving of beer and wine, not liquor, unlike a Class C license.)

May Try Again
The NEWS was unable to reach Mr. Moraco but Mr. Barbieri Sr. indicated he was prepared to accept defeat, noting many who voted were older citizens, while feeling younger residents may have voted differently.

Saying a tavern license was important to the life of his establishment, Mr. Barbieri Sr. added he would probably try again because "we can't exist without a glass of wine."

Around 13 percent of registered voters went to the polls—1,855 out of 14,202.

Donkey Cage Game Slated

The ninth annual Donkey Basketball Game on Friday, March 30, at South's gym, 11 Grosse Pointe boulevard, will be the highlight of Foreign Exchange week, March 26 to April 1, at North and South High Schools.

The Donkey Basketball game is the primary fund raising activity for the Foreign Exchange Programs at the high schools.

Nine American Field Service foreign students from Louisiana, Indiana and Ohio, will spend the week at South along with six American Short Term Exchange students from Kent, O.

Twenty Youth for Understanding Foreign Students spending this year in the Detroit area will be at North from Thursday until Sunday.

The foreign students will visit classes at the schools, go to the Detroit Art Institute, the Ford Factory and other local points of interest and, on Saturday, March 31, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Martin will host a dinner for the group at their home.

The foreign students from 12 countries will be introduced by Bob Bedell, South High School Association officer, assisted by the South High Jazz Band, and the donkey game will follow.

Tickets are $1 if purchased from a Foreign Exchange member or $1.25 at the door.

EMT Laws Subject of Meeting Hosted by GPW

ing to qualify as licensed EMT's. They also would have to take training in how to operate an ambulance, which the fire officials present considered "very asinine," since, they pointed out, all firefighters are trained to operate emergency vehicles when they join a department.

If they can operate fire trucks weighing 50,000 to 90,000 pounds and guide them through traffic during emergencies, then the men should be able to run an ambulance without going through such a training period.

Refresher Course The proposed law would require that each employee take a complete course in operating an ambulance before he can be licensed to drive one. The license would be good for a two-year period, after which personnel must undergo a 20-hour refresher course to be licensed for another two years.

Before getting the license the driver must take a physical and the respective cities must pay a $3 fee which will then qualify the man for another two years.

Sending personnel to institutions where they must train under licensed doctors can be very costly, for example, in paying the men overtime, for at least a minimum of 88 hours or a total of 240 hours of EMT training.

Personnel undertaking EMT training, especially in this area, the chiefs stressed, must go to places far out of their districts, such as Detroit General Hospital, the Cass Outreach Program, which has public schools for this type of training, Madonna College and such colleges as Macomb County Community College.

As things stand now, the fire officials said, it is difficult to get American Red Cross instructors to come to the various fire stations to teach even basic first aid.

The proposed act gives no thought to the work systems of the police, fire and public safety departments, especially firemen, who work 24 hours on and 24 hours off. Police personnel can change shifts every two weeks, or follow a similar type of schedule.

Because of the close proximity of the hospitals in the Pointes, Harper Woods, St. Clair Shores and East Detroit, ambulances can reach these places in a matter of minutes.

Firemen, public safety officers and regular police should not be forced to take EMT training, but must know advanced first aid, or better, to at least sustain the life of a stricken person until a hospital is reached where doctors and other qualified personnel can take over, many local officials feel.

City and fire officials in attendance said they asked for the meeting, coordinated by The Woods, with state legislators to give them some input toward making some changes in the proposed rules, while seeking amendments to the act.

Park Fire Chief Phillip Costa pointed out that the City Fire Department is already out of the ambulance business because it could not meet present conditions set by the State Health Department. The City has contracted with The Park to furnish ambulance service to its citizens, at a cost of $50 a run. The Park charges its citizens a maximum of $40 a run.

Extensions Received The Farms, Woods and Shores furnishes free ambulance service to their residents, while The Farms charges $25 for transporting non-residents to a hospital.

Chief Costa said his personnel are qualified EMT's and licensed ambulance drivers who are constantly undertaking refresher courses. He noted that although his ambulance does not carry everything required under the proposed change of Act 368, most of the equipment required would be no problem to obtain.

Local officials state the law changes as written say that if fire departments and public safety departments are going to operate an ambulance or EMT vehicle, they must meet standards set by the Michigan Department of Transportation and the federal government, carrying such equipment as directed by the Michigan Department of Health.

Another directive proposed under the amendment is that the ambulance must be operated by a trained licensed driver, and there must be at least one certified EMT attending the patient in the ambulance compartment at all times.

The local officials left the session with the assurance of the state legislators that as much as possible will be done to alleviate the situation.

The Farms and Shores recently were granted six months extensions in operating their ambulances, with the understanding they can get another six months if desired. The Woods asked for and gained a year's extension to December 31, 1980.

City Interest While three bids for work contracts must be obtained, the building owner has the authority to determine which firm handles the construction or repair job, said the city manager.

About $2 million has been allocated to Wayne County under the 312 program this year and, according to Mr. Crawford, the money will be distributed on a first-come, first-served basis.

Mr. Crawford said he feels there is a great deal of interest in the program among businessmen in The Park. He said he hopes it works as an incentive to property owners to improve their buildings.

While the loans would be made directly to local businessmen from the department of Housing and Urban Development, without direct city involvement, Park officials must inspect the property and assist businessmen in processing their application forms.

No one seems to have heard or seen anything at the time the theft took place. If anyone has any information, contact Farms police at 885-2100.

Police Ask Aid in Finding Dog

Park police are seeking information regarding a dog that bit Mark Madison, 16, of Buckingham road on Sunday, March 18, around 11:06 p.m. at Audubon and Charlevoix.

Young Madison was riding his bicycle at the location, when the dog, believed to be a Bouvier breed, bit him on the leg, breaking the skin. Police searching the neighborhood were unable to locate the animal.

Anyone having information as to the owner, whose pet was roaming free at about the time Mark was bitten, or any person knowing where the dog can be located, is urgently requested to contact Park police, 822-7400 as soon as possible.

If the animal is not found within the prescribed number of days, Mark will have to undertake a series of painful shots.

Those improvements will be funded by a $275,000 grant from the federal Community Development Block Grant program. Work on the project is expected to begin as soon as the weather allows, according to Mr. Crawford.

Unlike the Kercheval program, 312 grants are aimed at helping businessmen throughout The Park, including those on Mack, Charlevoix and Jefferson avenue.

Under the program, up to $100,000 may be loaned at a rate of three percent for a maximum term of 20 years. While 80 percent of the loan may be used to correct code violations, as determined by a city inspection, the remaining 20 percent may be used for building improvements.

Mr. Crawford said he expects the average Park businessman will qualify for $10,000 to $20,000 in loans. To qualify, businessmen must totally own their property, (eliminating those holding a land contract or lease), and must demonstrate their ability to repay the loan by filing a financial disclosure statement.

While three bids for work contracts must be obtained, the building owner has the authority to determine which firm handles the construction or repair job, said the city manager.

GPW Wins Legal Battle with Health Department

By Roger A. Waha
The Woods has won a victory in its legal action against the Michigan State Department of Public Health in relation to the water supply cross connection program and ensuing inspections.

City Attorney George Catlin reported that Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Neal Fitzgerald on Monday, March 19, found that the administrative rule of the Department of Health governing the cross connection program was contrary to state statute, while rendering the city a summary judgment against the department.

The actual order has to be entered, he said, with any further action in the case being up to the Attorney General's Office, which could appeal it.

With the decision, the city doesn't have to establish an ongoing inspection program of its existing facilities, noted Mr. Catlin, who felt the case was significant because it upheld the home rule concept of government.

He also indicated, on the latter point, that someone has looked at an administrative rule, felt it was out of line and the court agreed. Judge Fitzgerald issued a temporary restraining order on January 26 against the Department of Health from enforcing its administrative rule governing the cross connection program, with the injunction limited to 60 days.

As the case continued to unfold, (Mr. Catlin made other appearances in court on February 23 and March 7), the city attorney filed a motion for a summary judgment which indicated to the court there's no dispute of fact to be decided, rather a question of law. An objective was to have the court rule that the department had no authority to adopt or enforce the administrative rule in question.

A main concern of officials, when the council authorized Mr. Catlin on January 8 to institute legal action against the Department of Health, wasn't opposition to the cross connection program but to the state telling the city it would have to handle inspections, potentially at a high cost.

The council took its action after the department didn't answer a city request for a declaratory ruling within the time allowed by law.

This request viewed the legality of a department administrative rule, which requires the city to develop a comprehensive program to eliminate and prevent future cross connections in the water supply system. At that time, Mr. Catlin indicated that in order to develop such a program, the entire supply system would have to be inspected to identify and eliminate cross connections, while noting that the city's position was that the Department of Health is the party chargeable with conducting and paying for such an inspection, rather than the municipality.

He also has acknowledged, from the city's perspective, the cost, manpower and time for inspecting some 6,000 residential structures along with commercial buildings, schools and churches would be awesome.

On the subject of inspections, Mr. Catlin has said these are done on an ongoing basis with the city, for example, issuing plumbing permits with ensuing inspections and permits for the installation of lawn sprinkling systems and ensuing inspections. Cross connections are connections to the fresh water system and, if the pressure drops in a line, could prevent the sucking back of contaminated water into the system.

Central Library to Acquire New Look Gift by Friends

Grosse Pointe's Central Library will get a new look this spring, both inside and out, thanks to a $27,754 gift from the Friends of Grosse Pointe Public Libraries.

The Central Branch, at 10 Kercheval avenue, will get a bright red, gold and blue color scheme and brand new furniture for the reading room. Couches will be replaced by round reading tables and chairs to increase the total seating capacity of the room.

The interior design was conceived by the firm Library Design Associates, Inc., at a total cost of $17,754. Exterior landscaping plans are still incomplete, but the Friends are considering creating a courtyard in front of the branch along Kercheval avenue. They've allotted $10,000 for the project.

The Board of Education reviewed the plans earlier this month and accepted the gift at its Monday, March 12, meeting. "I think the community owes a great deal to the Friends for what they've done to make this a top rate library system for a city our size," said Board President Laurance Harwood.

The Friends organization is considered to be one of the largest groups of its kind in the country with some 500 members. They raise about $30,000 a year to support the libraries through dues and special gifts. This year's president is Doris Brucker.

The first part of the program will be a workshop to train elementary teachers in ways they can help handicapped children who have been "mainstreamed" into regular classrooms. About 116 staff members from elementary schools will attend the session, to be scheduled in April.

A compendium of materials and techniques for successful "mainstreaming" will be prepared and distributed as part of the $3,456 workshop. In addition to the workshop, the federal government granted the school system $7,802 to hire psychologists to cover a backlog of student cases needing re-evaluation.

The remainder of the grant was allowed for indirect costs to the school. The Board of Education accepted the funds at its Monday, March 12, meeting.

The federal government has granted Grosse Pointe Schools $11,405 for a two-part program to improve special education services this spring.

Bon Secours Highly Rated

Bon Secours Hospital recently received a full two-year accreditation from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. The two-year accreditation is the highest rating possible and followed an intensive survey of Bon Secours' services.

Independent of government, the Joint Commission is a non-profit organization sponsored by the American College of Physicians, the American College of Surgeons, the American Hospital Association and the American Medical Association. It was established more than 25 years ago to help maintain quality care in the nation's health care centers.

Bon Secours participated in the Joint Commission survey voluntarily. While Joint Commission reviews are not legally required, Bon Secours and many other hospitals rely on the surveys to help ensure high standards of patient care.

Woods Police Start Program

The Woods Department of Public Safety's Crime Prevention Program, announced earlier this year, has been launched with two presentations by Crime Prevention Officer Paul Crook, which introduced citizens to the program on Sunday, March 18, and on Monday, March 19.

On Sunday, he presented the film "Senior Power," to members of the Widowed Persons Service Club at their meeting in the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, while on Monday, he addressed seniors and presented the movie at The Pointe's Out-Wayne County Nutrition Site housed in the church.

Indicating films are only one type of visual aid which the department will utilize, Officer Crook also explored other segments of the program including home security surveys, Operation ID, wherein citizens may engrave property with their driver's license numbers, burglary prevention for homes and businesses, plus other areas.

Residents or groups who wish further information on the program should call Officer Crook at departmental headquarters, 886-2700.

Two LSD Cases Reported by YSD

(Continued from Page 1) teacher and ultimately taken to the assistant principal's office at which time the detective was called. Eleven tablets were confiscated, while the officer learned he allegedly sold eight tablets prior to his apprehension.

A girl, who purchased some microdots, subsequently traded them off at a party to two boys for a bottle of liquor, the detective reported, with the boys apparently taking one or more before ending up in the hospital.

One suffered from a temporary paralysis of the left arm and leg, while the other suffered from some paralysis of the neck and facial muscles. This occurred as a "reflash" after the initial trip, said Det. Desilets, who added both are okay now.

Suspect Stopped

The 15-year-old was charged with violation of the controlled substances act, i.e., possession of a controlled substance, LSD, and not with sale, in an application for petition filed with the Wayne County Juvenile Court.

Det. Desilets said the juvenile wasn't charged with selling the microdots because the teacher didn't witness any sale. The boy also volunteered such information.

Meanwhile, Det. James Fowler reported he received information from an informant on the planned sale at North, which was scheduled to occur at 12:30 p.m. on the 16th.

He went to the school and took a position where the sale was set to transpire. Meanwhile, Lt. Patterson and Woods Det. Thomas Podszwick stationed themselves on Vernier road in an unmarked car.

The suspect pulled into the North driveway and stopped near the curb by the flagpole, said Det. Fowler. Another youth exited the school and entered the car at which time the transaction allegedly took place. The youth then returned to the school and the driver left the school grounds. He was ultimately stopped by the waiting officers after Det. Fowler, via police radio, indicated his departure.

The 17-year-old Woods student, who allegedly was involved in the transaction at $2 a hit, was charged with violation of the controlled substances act, again more specifically possession, i.e., LSD, under local ordinance with Det. Fowler stating the youth was cooperative in the case. His court date is scheduled for April.

Gives Warning

Meanwhile, the driver, a 16-year-old Detroit youth who attends Finney High School, is being charged with the sale of narcotics, i.e., LSD, in juvenile court.

In indicating the severity of the offense, the detective said an adult could receive a minimum of 20 years in prison or a maximum of life. Ironically, he also stated the boy would turn 17 on April 24 and then could have gone through the local court and Wayne County Circuit Court process.

Saying there's no mesclaine around and that buyers are actually getting either LSD or PCP, an animal tranquilizer, Det. Fowler stressed if someone takes one microdot of LSD that person will go on a "trip which can come back on you anytime." In eying ensuing hallucinations, he called the entire situation "uncontrollable."

Lt. Patterson, while emphasizing the division is monitoring all schools, high, middle and elementary, said he was happy the surveillance case "went down" as many similar efforts often fail.

Citing the measured quantity of drugs via pharmacists' prescriptions, the lieutenant warned the street sales of substances are often misstated, (such as in the aforementioned incidents), and dosages are unknown.

He added, a substance could give a jolt—and it "could be the last jolt."

Rapist-Murderer Gets Four Life Terms

(Continued from Page 1) posed by Judge Roberson. Judge Bohm also ordered that the two 10 to 15 year terms were to be served separately.

Peete kidnapped a Park woman on December 1, as she parked in front of her house in Wayburn, about three blocks from Miss Asaro's residence. The woman's two small children were with her at the time. They also ransacked her house and took money from her purse, police said.

Park Police Lt. Gordon J. Duncan said that it was first believed that Lad's uncle, Curtiss Peete, 23, was with him at the time, but this was not so.

Curtiss, according to the lieutenant, and Lad were involved in a bank robbery in Jackson from where they had stolen a car. It was assumed that Curtiss was involved in The Park crimes because the vehicle was used in The Park incidents.

Although the rape had occurred in Detroit, the woman was kidnapped in The Park, which made it a continuing crime, thereby giving Park authorities jurisdiction.

For weeks, Park Det. Sgt. James LaPratt and Det. Robert Saifryd, with full authority from Chief Henry O. Coonce "to pull out all stops," had no clues to work with. But they gathered bits of information here and there, even from as far away as Jackson, until they had concrete evidence to seek warrants against Lad and his accomplice, if he is found.

Crack homicide detectives from Detroit's Headquarters, First Precinct, Jefferson Station, Fifth Precinct, and Conner Station, 15 Precinct, because of the similarity of kidnapping and rape between The Park case and the Detroit case, worked with the Sgt. LaPratt and Det. Saifryd.

The officers climaxed their combined investigation with the arrest of Lad and his cousin, Yancy.

Yancy was allowed to plead guilty to second degree murder in exchange for his testimony against his cousin. Yancy testified that it was Lad who fired the shots that killed Miss Asaro so that she would not be able to identify them.

The Park woman, meanwhile, called the NEWS to express her gratitude to both Sgt. LaPratt and Det. Saifryd for their method of handling the matter and for the final apprehension of Peete.

"The two officers were simply wonderful," the woman said. "They were so understanding, so gentle and so kind when they questioned me regarding my ordeal that I had no problem telling them exactly what had happened."

"Normally a woman is afraid, or ashamed to talk about such a crime as this, but these detectives showed so much concern and sympathy that whatever qualms I had at the time just vanished."

"They assured me, after they had taken down all the information, that they would do everything possible to apprehend the persons responsible. I am very grateful to these officers in handling my situation in such a delicate manner."

The woman added she only wishes that the people of The Park, or any community for that matter, would only know how hard police officers are working for them and what they must go through in order to give their utmost to serve the citizens of their respective cities.

If they could see how the police work, the citizenry would appreciate their police officers more, she felt.

Pellet Vandal's Given Warning

The vandals with the B-B guns are starting to show up again, according to Park Police Chief Henry O. Coonce, who disclosed that four car and house windows were shattered by pellets during the week of March 4.

Although the chief did not specify what types of windows, car or house, were damaged, he did say that one window was shattered in Pemberton road, two in Whittier road and one in Trombley road.

A witness told investigating officers that he had seen a dark, small compact car with a square rear driving up and down the streets one day during that week.

Chief Coonce reiterated the same warning he has made in the past — that any persons responsible for the damage of property, if identified and arrested, will face the full penalty of the law, whether they are adults or juveniles.

Not only will these persons be subject to arrest and conviction, if found guilty by the court, but they also can face civil suits brought by property owners. Vandals using these weapons can face arrest for possession of, and the firing of, the B-B guns in public within city limits.

Adults will be cited and tried in municipal court and could face a fine and/or jail sentence besides being required to make full restitution for any damages.

Parents and guardians are again warned if juveniles in their charge are convicted in juvenile court, the parents and guardians are liable for damages for up to $3,000 under a state statute.

Another thing to consider, Chief Coonce said, is that any deliberately caused single damage of $100 or more, or a combination of damages totalling $100 or more, constitutes a felony under state law.

The chief added he has instructed the officers of his department to keep a special lookout for any B-B gun vandals, or any vandals for that matter, and place them under arrest.

JC's Postpone DSA Banquet

Here parishioners precede Fr. Vay Rodriguez and Msgr. Francis Canfield, carrying the Blessed Sacrament, at the extreme right. Formal dedication of the restored church will take place sometime in the spring.

SOC's Grant Effort Fails But Group Receives Hope

By Roger A. Waha

A grant of around $12,000, sought by SOC, (Seniors Onward for Change, Inc.), for a full-time program developer and two part-time personnel, failed to materialize after the Detroit-Wayne County Area Agency on Aging recently awarded $102,139 to 13 sites throughout Detroit and Wayne County.

While missing an award, SOC co-director Mary Alej was pleased after being told if future monies become available, SOC would be given a high priority, a point echoed by Frank Strzalka of the area agency.

"SOC was considered highly but there just wasn't enough money to go around," noted Mr. Strzalka. He said 33 applications were received, with the area agency indicating requests totalling $364,000 in aid — more than triple the amount available.

via a special state allocation. Besides the program developer, Mrs. Alej said the grant request included the hiring of two part-time individuals, one to coordinate transportation within the five Pointes and Harper Woods, e.g., taking seniors to and from stores, doctors' offices, et al, and another to make a needs assessment. We felt those personnel and their jobs were in line with some of SOC's objectives such as those of transportation and a needs assessment, she said.

The area agency reported the grants were given to community and multi-purpose senior centers to provide professional staff to help older Americans more effectively at neighborhood locations.

When reviewing the applications, the area agency reports it made every effort to provide monies to high-need areas.

ULS Sponsors Trip to Spain

For the sixth consecutive year, Senor Luis Gomez of the University Liggett Upper School Spanish Department will sponsor a five-week summer program in Salamanca, Spain, open to students in the greater Detroit metropolitan area as well as to ULS students.

The program, which is limited to 20 students, offers a three-day visit to Madrid, three full-day excursions to cities of Castille, four weeks of study in Salamanca with classes only in the morning, many social and cultural activities and close personal supervision.

Seniors may earn up to six college credits during the trip.

Younger students will be housed in a student residence and more mature participants may live in private homes. The program has been designed to provide an active, rather than passive, learning experience.

Interested students and parents may contact Senor Gomez at University Liggett's Upper School, 884-4444, or at his home, 885-5763.

Based upon a 70-30 split, Detroit sites received 70 percent of the funds; while Out-Wayne County locations received 30 percent.

Nine Detroit sites received a total of $71,497 and four Out-County sites received $30,642. SOC's grant request was classified in the latter category.

Awards in the Out-Wayne County category went to the Downriver Community Multi-Purpose Center, the City of Highland Park, Department of Community Development, the City of Livonia Department of Community Resources and the Van Buren Township Senior Citizens Center.

What is a Paleontologist? What is the Michigan Court of Appeals? What does it do? Where is Chichen-Itza? Why is it there?

Children in the fourth and fifth grades at the Grosse Pointe Academy know as three guest lecturers recently addressed the children about themselves and their work.

Dr. John W. Cosgriff Jr., professor in the Department of Biology, Wayne State University, spoke to the students at the Academy about his participation in digs in Arizona, Australia and Antarctica. The children were enthralled, and question after question accompanied the slide presentation which showed how "finds" were uncovered and then re-assembled in Dr. Cosgriff's laboratory.

Dr. Cosgriff also has invited the students to visit his laboratory at Wayne State. Dorothy Comstock Riley, judge of the Michigan Court of Appeals, spoke about making dreams come true. She explained her part in our judicial system and shared with the students many good ideas about working hard to reach one's goal.

Dr. Ilse Calcagno, a native of Mexico City, helped introduce a study unit on Mexico. Slides of ancient ruins were shown.

Auto Insurance Law Adopted

An ordinance amending the city code, by adding a section requiring proof of automobile liability insurance, was unanimously adopted by the Woods Council at its regular meeting Monday, March 5.

Calling it a "housekeeping ordinance" when it was considered by the solons for a first reading on Monday, February 26, City Attorney George Catlin explained that several tickets in the past have been issued to motorists for failure to have proof of liability insurance.

State law requires such proof, he said, and to properly charge a motorist with the violation under state law, contacts would have to be made with the prosecutor's office to obtain such authority, with the fine being sent to the state.

However, with the new amendment, the city has such a law on its books and can keep the fine itself.

The new amendment says no persons shall operate a motor vehicle in the city without having in their immediate possession a certificate of liability insurance or a liability insurance policy which indicates that the vehicle is covered by such insurance.

It also notes that the certificate or policy must be exhibited to a public safety officer at his request, with failure to exhibit such evidence of liability insurance being deemed a violation of the section.

The ordinance becomes effective 20 days after its enactment date.

Jewel Thieves' Escape Try Foiled

Judge Robert H. Pytell, on Wednesday, March 14, on the robbery charge.

Martin, who has at least 38 aliases, police said, also was charged with two counts of assault with intent to do great bodily harm, less than murder and one count of larceny over $100. Sloss and Conley, both of whom have six aliases each, also were charged with larceny over $100.

Judge Pytell retained Martin's bond at $75,000, two sureties, and the other two women's bond was placed at $25,000 cash, reduced from $75,000, set by Park Municipal Judge Beverly Grobbel at a preliminary hearing at which she presided in The Farms court on Thursday, March 1, in the absence of Judge Pytell.

Unable to put up the bonds, all three were remanded to the custody of the county sheriff's office to await trial, in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Det. Field said he had informed the sheriff's office of the list of outstanding warrants against Martin, Sloss and Conley, and that they were robbery suspects and were wanted by other law enforcement agencies. But on the evening of March 14, Martin and Sloss were being transferred, with other prisoners, to the minimum security jail in Westland and attempted to flee.

At their hearing on the 14th, the trio, through their attorney, Jerrold Sherman, waived examination and stood mute to the charges made against them. A plea of innocent was entered for them by Judge Pytell.

The three are believed to be part of a large theft ring, responsible for the theft of hundreds of thousands of dollars of jewelry over a period of several months, according to police.

They were arrested by surveillance units from the State Police, Detroit, Troy and Dearborn Police Departments, who closed in on the trio after the women scooped up $9,000 worth of gems from Pongraz and tried to escape in a car, which, it was later discovered, had been stolen.

Martin, who was the driver of the getaway car, allegedly attempted to run down two police officers in scout cars, hence the second charge against her.

The robbery incident, which occurred late in the afternoon, took Farms police by surprise because the surveillance team, coordinated by State Police, had been following the three women all day and had no time to inform the local authorities.

After the excitement had somewhat ceased, Farms Det. Sgt. George Van Tiem, who was purchasing a copy of the NEWS from a stand in front of the NEWS' building at the time of the robbery, called his station and Dets. Field and Sam Cardella arrived to take the three women to the station.

Taken from the women, besides the jewelry from Pongraz, was about $8,000 worth of other jewelry, which the women's attorney said was "personal."

A witness in the incident said that one of the officers stated that the trio were suspected of being involved in thefts totalling over $1 million. Other reports indicated the figure was around $400,000 over a period of one year, in thefts ranging from Saginaw, Mich., to Toledo, O.

All three have holds placed on them by law enforcement agencies in the Detroit area and from out of state police departments. All also had prior arrest records, according to Det. Field.

Good Memory Nets Suspect In Park Holdup Incident

A real estate office secretary, who has a good memory for faces, called Park police when she thought she recognized a man who had robbed her and a sales agent the middle of last month.

On Tuesday, March 13, the woman, who requested that her name be withheld, as did the agent, called authorities when she saw a man sitting in a car in front of a restaurant next to Walker and Associates Real Estate, 15116 Mack avenue, where she is employed.

She informed police that the man looked exactly like the person who robbed her and the agent at gun point.

Dets. Robert Saiford and Rodney Wedding sped to the scene and arrested Walter McCray, 25, of Roosevelt, Detroit, and Harvey Tate, 35, of the same address. A woman, who was in the car with the two men, also was taken into custody, but was released later when no evidence was found to tie her in with the robbery. The detectives said McCray was allegedly the holdup man.

According to information released by Lt. Gordon J. Duncan at the time, a lone man armed with a long-barreled handgun entered the real estate office and held up the secretary and the agent.

He took $185 from the agent and three rings, diamond, gold and silver bands from the woman, plus 90 cents from her purse. He also took the woman's watch.

McCray was arraigned before Park Municipal Judge Beverly Grobbel on Wednesday, March 14, for a preliminary hearing. He stood mute and a plea of innocent was entered in his behalf. Judge Grobbel set bond at $75,000, two sureties, and remanded the suspect to the custody of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department when McCray was unable to post bond. Examination was set for yesterday, March 21.

Lt. Duncan also said both McCray and Tate were prime suspects in the holdup of a real estate office at East Outer Drive and Harper avenue, Detroit.

Tate was released to the custody of Detroit police for further investigation and questioning of the Detroit realty office. Detroit authorities also plan to question McCray regarding the same incident.

PWP, an international, non-profit educational organization devoted to the interests of single parents and their children, will celebrate its 22nd anniversary on Wednesday, March 21.

"We've made some difficult decisions . . . that sometimes may have seemed dictatorial, but we've tried to be fair and take into consideration the needs of all our 6,800 residents."

The council is expected to appoint a member of the community to fill the council post created by the resignation. This November a general election for three council seats will be held. Mr. Robb also will be up for election as mayor at that time.

Not only will you be able to custom order just what you want (the right colors and the right design), and get it in time to enjoy all summer, but you'll get it at 20% to 30% off. But only until March 31. Or buy later at Englander's. And have to settle for what we have in stock. (If you wait until the summer to custom order, you probably won't get it before the summer's over.) MICHIGAN BELL CONSUMER TIPS
Your children could save a life, with a little help from you and your telephone.
Michigan Bell
If you have children at home, would they know who to call in case of a fire, accident or sudden illness? Be sure you have listed near your phone the numbers of your doctor, hospital, poison control, police, fire department and other emergency numbers. Show your children how to find those numbers, how to dial them (if they don't already know), how to call the operator, let them know if 911 can be dialed for fire, medical or police help in your area. Write down your home address near these numbers, too, so your children or your baby-sitter can give it to people who need to find your home in a hurry. (But, for safety's sake, you should instruct them not to give your address or other information to strangers on the phone.) Your telephone can be a lifesaving help in an emergency. Teach your children how to use it for their protection and yours.

Kathy Jo Gives Tips to Three Annie's

Saint Clare Prepares Broadway Kaleidoscope

Broadway musicals are a form of entertainment for the whole family, and you won't have to go to New York because Saint Clare de Montefalco Church's Archconfraternity of Grosse Pointe Park is sponsoring a Broadway Kaleidoscope. They have had two such events in the past and they were complete sell outs. Parish members will offer a musical with segments from such Broadway hits as "Annie," "Hello Dolly," "Thoroughly Modern Millie," "Chicago," "Pippin," "Fiorello," "Chorus Line" and "Mame" on Friday, March 30, and Saturday, March 31, in the Parcels School auditorium, 20600 Mack avenue. Some of the leads of the segments include citizens of all professions. Judge Thomas Maher of the Wayne County Juvenile Court, who also is involved in the legal aspects of the adoption of children, will participate. He

Musicians Win High Ratings

The orchestras from Brownell and Pierce Middle Schools travelled to Ypsilanti on Saturday, March 3, for the annual District Seven Michigan School Band and Orchestra competition. "Bravo! A very strong performance! The best I've heard today!" Out of 33 possible grades, the orchestra received 33 A and A+ marks on its performances of "Contredanse" by Salleri, "Three Country Sketches" by Sontag and "Bradenburg Concerto" by Bach. Directed by Joseph Bauer, the 37-member Pierce group played "Contredanse for Strings," "French Masters Suite" and variations on a theme by Beethoven. For their efforts, they also received top ratings from the four judges.

GP Woods Studying Change in Charter

A request to consider an amendment to the city charter toward eliminating special elections via the initiatory and referendary sections of the document was recently considered by the Woods Council.

Edward D. Purdy of Kenmore road, who has previously indicated his displeasure over such requirements regarding initiatory petition drives, said he had no proposal to make but wanted to raise the question about an amendment to the charter.

Concerned over what he called the proliferation of initiatory petition drives in relation to liquor and tavern licenses, Mr. Purdy wanted the council to consider the possibility of amending the charter in relation to stipulations governing special elections.

In drawing a distinction between initiatory petitions and referendary petitions, the charter says the former must set forth in full the ordinance it proposes to initiate, (and no petition shall propose to initiate more than one ordinance), while the latter must identify the ordinance or code sections it proposes to have repealed.

On the point of submitting initiatory and referendary ordinances to voters, the charter says should the council decide to submit the proposal to the electors, it must be submitted at the next election held in the city for any other purpose, or, in the discretion of the council, at a special election called for that specific purpose.

In the case of an initiatory petition, if no election is to be held in the city for any other purpose within 150 days from the time the petition is presented to the council and the council doesn't adopt the ordinance, then the council shall call a special election within 60 days from such time for the submission of the initiative proposal.

"Why the 60 days?" asked Mr. Purdy, who wanted the council to explore why the stipulation was there, how it got there and was it a good idea.

Councilman Thomas Fahrner moved that City Attorney

Grad Returns For Workshop

George Catlin requested to look into the possibility of amending the charter regarding initiatory petitions 50, instead of taking action within 60 days, the matter could come up at the next general election. His colleagues unanimously approved the motion.

Mr. Catlin, in indicating he would explore the pros and cons of the subject, said the type of charter provision has to be specific in drawing the distinction between the initiatory and referendary petition route.

Councilman George S. Freeman also told Mr. Purdy, after Mr. Catlin's review, the matter would be studied by the council.

Tom Saunders, a Grosse Pointe High School graduate who now is a professional musician, will bring his author's Dixieland group to the North High School auditorium, 707 Vernier road, on Monday, March 26, for a student enrichment program.

Crabgrass?

It's easier to prevent now, than kill later.

Chances are if you had crabgrass last year, you'll have it again this year. But it is easier to prevent it early before it begins spreading, than to kill it later. Greenview has three specific products, one of which will meet your need.

Use when Seeding Prevents Crabgrass Prevents Crabgrass and Fertilizes

Here's a unique product that lets you apply the same day you seed. Not only will it prevent crabgrass and other grassy weeds... it also feeds your lawn to help new seedlings get off to a fast, healthy start.

This is a product to use if you have already fertilized to prevent crabgrass, goose grass and other grassy weeds.

Our most popular it prevents crabgrass, goose grass, foxtail and other annual grassy weeds. Plus it fertilizes for a quick, thick green lawn in one easy step!

WOMEN'S PAGES

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

The flowers that bloom in the spring . . . and the summer . . . and the fall were under discussion early this month as 31 ladies, representing 16 local garden clubs, gathered for tea in Mrs. Henry S. Walker's Village lane home.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. James L. Schueler, president of the Grosse Pointe Garden Center board, and members of the Trial Garden committee.

Ruth Walker, chairman, outlined plans for the Garden Center's Trial Gardens on the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's grounds, inviting the garden clubs to participate in a plan similar to that used in earlier years.

The garden, with its lovely, brick-lined, wagon wheel design, is divided into 13 separate sections.

The participating garden clubs were asked to draw numbers for their own, special plots, and to be responsible for the design, planting and maintenance of the plots throughout the growing season. Each club was requested to prepare two plans for its plot.

These plans will be submitted to the Trial Garden committee prior to April 25 when the group will meet again, at the home of Mrs. Charles A. Bigelow.

At that time, final decisions will be made regarding the overall design, and preparations for Radcliffe students have always been taught by members of the Harvard faculty and since 1943 Radcliffe students have attended classes with Harvard students.

Radcliffe women are admitted to the college by a joint Harvard-Radcliffe Admissions committee. Through their enrollment in Radcliffe, women undergraduates also are students at Harvard with the same rights and privileges as men in Harvard College.

There are now 2,225 Radcliffe undergraduates studying at Harvard.

Matina Horner became Radcliffe College's sixth president in 1972 at the age of 32. She was the youngest person ever to assume the position.

She received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Bryn Mawr and her Master of Arts and Ph.D. from the University of Michigan, where her own research studies documented a widespread fear of success among talented women.

This is a comb.

It can make bangs, waves, new little curls. It can almost anything. But first it needs hair that has been (1) properly washed, (2) skillfully cut, (3) carefully set, and (4) thoroughly brushed. We do all these things properly, skillfully, carefully, thoroughly. Then we comb. And Comb. Until we achieve just the shape and chic you want. Like to see? We'd love to show you.

L. Horner and has three children.

The Friday banquet keynote speaker, Jean Sutherland Boggs, received her Master of Arts and Ph.D. from Radcliffe College. She was professor of Fine Arts at Harvard. Previously, she was director of the National Gallery of Canada.

Ms. Boggs is one of the few women directors of a museum in the country. She has written a number of articles on Degas.

Saturday luncheon keynote speaker Mary Ingraham Bunting was president of Radcliffe from 1960 to 1972. She is currently working in the field of atomic energy.

She received her Bachelor of Science degree in Microbiology and her Master of Arts and Ph.D. from the University of Wisconsin. A Phi Beta Kappa, mother of four, she was married to Dr. Bunting of the Yale School of Medicine, who died in 1954.

In the 1960's President Bunting paid a visit to Detroit on behalf of the Radcliffe Club and stayed at the Rivard boulevard home of Dr. and Mrs. Fennessey. Anita, a Radcliffe graduate, at the time had four children at home.

Mrs. Bunting said to her hostess, "What are you going to do with the next 20 years of your life when your children are gone?"

It was food for thought... and after President Bunting's influence, Anita Fennessey got into her car, drove down to Wayne State University and registered for classes.

Today, because of President Bunting's influence, Anita is a Reading Consultant.

Helping Hands in Guatemala

Grosse Pointe North High School graduate Thomas Rousseau is back from San Lucas Toliman, Guatemala, where he was one of 20 DePauw University students and five professionals providing construction and medical services to a mission high in the country's mountains.

Seven other students worked with dentists and doctors, providing medical care for the village's indigent population.

The San Lucas group was among five contingents from DePauw, joined by medical doctors and nurses from the Mayo Clinic, dentists and DePauw professors, which went to Central America on goodwill missions during the university's winter term, carrying nearly two tons of medical supplies to the Central American work-help sites.

Children's Hospital Has A Colorful Introduction

When you're little and scared about going to the hospital, it helps if grown-ups understand your feelings and explain about what goes on in a hospital.

It's even better if they give you your own coloring book to show you what the hospital is really like.

Children's Hospital of Michigan has published a Fun and Coloring Book to familiarize incoming patients with features of the hospital and its services.

The book supplements the orientation tour children take, with their parents, a few days before they are admitted. It depicts familiar features of Children's, such as the famous elephant statue in the hospital breezeway, the play area adjacent to the admitting office and a typical hospital room.

Children can take the book home to read and color before they are admitted. It is a means of familiarizing them with strange surroundings and easing the pangs of separation from family and friends.

Children who miss the orientation tour are given the book when they enter the hospital.

Action Auction Off to Flying Start

The Grosse Pointe Academy's Action Auction '79 got off to a flying start when Captain Buckstar, alias JOHN CHRISNER, landed at the school with this year's special prizes in tow. Admiring a "biggie" are academy students AMY STANCZYK, (left), KEVIN HALSTEAD and MIMI CARDELLIO, perched on the hood. Captain Buckstar has dispatched a hord of students to sell special prize tickets, at $1 each, throughout the area. The prizes will be awarded at the auction, Friday, April 27, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

Kathy Surowiec, a nurse at Children's and mother of three, wrote the book after developing the orientation tour.

"The coloring book provides children with information as well as fun," she explains. "We believe the children are more relaxed when they come in because they know more about what to expect here at Children's."

Aimed at the two-to-twelve age group, the book is frank but not over-serious. An example:

"In the Admitting Laboratory the technician will take a sample of blood from your finger or arm. This is necessary so we can look at your blood under a microscope. This helps the doctor to know more about you to help you get better.

"The technician must prick your finger to get the sample. This will sting for just a moment, but try to hold your hand very still. You can say your ABC's or 'ouch' — or better yet, think of the Lollipop Tree waiting for you!"

The 28-page book is illustrated by Ellen Shook and her brother, Cary Gersh, in large, bold designs for easy coloring. On the cover, a winding path lined with trees leads to Children's Hospital. A large sun beams on the scene.

There is space for autographs of the child's doctor and nurse and friends made at the hospital. The inside back cover is a certificate of good behavior.

The capital letters beginning the paragraphs are small works of art in themselves. The capital T is a sailor with his arms stretched wide. Capital Y is formed from a dove with upstretched wings.

Through the pages run a devilish-looking rabbit, butterflies, a sleepy-eyed turtle and other imaginative creatures.

Mrs. Shook and her brother donated their time to design and illustrate the book.

Printing costs were paid from a memorial fund established by the family and friends of the late Rose Tierno, and by the Plastic Brotherhood Association.

Artrain Fund Drive Begins

Michigan Artrain, the nation's only touring art museum, has embarked on a two-year, $250,000 corporate fund drive to match a grant from Midland's Herbert H. and Grace A. Dow Foundation.

This announcement was made recently at a testimonial dinner dance at the Detroit Plaza Hotel for Helen W. Milliken, Michigan's First Lady and honorary chairwoman of Artrain since the museum's inception in 1971.

"Michigan has become a leader in the arts in America," Mrs. Milliken said. "The Michigan legislature has recognized the importance of the arts in our lives, and has been willing to fund support for them. I am proud to say that Michigan Artrain has contributed significantly to this progress."

Proceeds from the fund drive will enable the art museum to continue offering exhibits and community arts programs of the highest caliber. Mrs. Milliken pointed out.

The Dow Foundation has promised to match every dollar donated to Artrain over the next five years, up to a total of $1 million. The two-year corporate campaign is expected to generate 25 percent of this amount, with the balance donated by individuals and foundations.

The drive is being directed by William C. Ferguson, executive vice-president and chief operating officer, Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

Division chairmen are: Automotive: Phillip Caldwell, vice-chairman, president and chief executive officer, Ford Motor Company; Finance: Joseph Conway, executive vice-president, National Bank of Detroit; Services: M. Jane Kay, vice-president, Employee Relations, Detroit Edison; Manufacturing: Thomas F. Russell, chairman, Federal-Mogul Corporation; and Retail: Stanley J. Winkelman, chairman, Winkelman Stores, Inc.

Artrain, a traveling art museum housed in six specially designed railroad cars, brings fine art to communities in Michigan and other states, with particular emphasis on those areas not served by major museums.

All contributions, which are tax deductible, should be made payable to Michigan Artrain, Inc., 1200 Sixth avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

Official White House Photograph
LEE ANNE MILLER, OF PEMBERTON ROAD, (CENTER), WITH LOUISE NEVELSON AND PRESIDENT JIMMY CARTER

By Janet Mueller

The day before, he had hosted a reception for delegates from the People's Republic of China. Now it was time for the second "historic first" of the week. On January 30, in the Oval Office of the White House, President Jimmy Carter presented the first annual Women's Caucus for Art awards for "Outstanding Achievement in the Visual Arts" to five of America's most distinguished artists.

It was an occasion without historic precedent: the first time women in the visual arts were honored by a President of the United States.

Isabel Bishop, Selma Burke, Alice Neel and Louise Nevelson received their awards in person. The fifth recipient, 92-year-old Georgia O'Keeffe, unable to travel from New Mexico to Washington, D.C., for the ceremony, was honored in absentia.

The four women, all over 75 years of age, were introduced to the President by Lee Anne Miller, Chair, Department of Art and Art History, Wayne State University, national Women's Caucus for Art president.

A Young Organization
The WCA is a young organization. It was started in 1972, outgrowth of a meeting of the College Art Association of America, to improve the position of women in the art professions, to provide a strong network of communications among women artists and to encourage research and exhibition opportunities for women on both a regional and a national level.

Ms. Miller was all for that. She's an artist, a painter and printmaker. Her work has been exhibited in many solo and group exhibitions. She's received 40 awards since she was named Outstanding Art Student at Utah State University.

She's a teacher. She came to Wayne State last fall, from the University of Missouri-Kansas City, where she headed the Art Department and set up a printmaking workshop.

Before that, she taught at East Texas State University. Before that, after a year in England at London's Slade School of Art on a Fulbright Grant, (painting), she taught at the Cleveland Institute of Art.

Before that, she was a student. She's from a small town in Utah, halfway between Salt Lake City and Ogden, and she originally wanted to be a poet. "I've always been interested in all the impractical things."

Poet Lost... And Found
She changed her mind about that when she realized poets have to stand up and read what they've written — in front of people! (Turns out she could have done it after all. At the WCA public awards ceremony at the Embassy Row Hotel shortly af-

Talk to Focus On Polish Art

"Polish Painting of the Nineteenth Century" will be discussed by Dr. Andrew S. Ciechanowiecki in a free, illustrated lecture Monday, April 2, at 8 o'clock in the Detroit Institute of Arts Lecture/Recital Hall.

The audience is invited to meet the distinguished Polish art scholar, now director of the Heim Gallery in London, England, at a 7 o'clock reception preceding the lecture.

The evening is sponsored by the Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts and the Friends of Polish Art.

cific importance to each of the honored artists individually, but that this gesture held symbolic significance for all women in the visual arts.

At the close of the ceremony, President Carter gave the group an informal tour of the Oval Office, with specific focus on the very recent gifts offered by the People's Republic of China.

Then it was over to the Embassy Row Hotel, where Joan Mondale presented personal citations and works of art by younger women artists who have admired or were particularly influenced by the older artists' work to the honorees.

Guest speaker at the Embassy Row ceremony was Mary Ann Tighe, Deputy Chair, National Endowment for the Arts.

Immediately after that, the award recipients were guests of honor at the opening of the exhibition "Women's Caucus Honors: Bishop, Burke, Neel, Nevelson, O'Keeffe" at the Middendorf-Lane Gallery.

Women In Spotlight
This exhibition, presenting paintings from the entire working careers of Bishop and Neel, sculpture by Nevelson and Burke and selected works by O'Keeffe, was one of 40 women's exhibitions in Washington area galleries during the Women's Caucus for Art conference.

Five of them, including the fascinating "Women Artists in Washington Collections" at the University of Maryland Art Gallery, were under WCA sponsorship.

There's a telling back cover photograph on the "Women Artists in Washington Collections" catalogue. It shows paintings in storage — and much of the work in the exhibit came from storage.

"They were owned, but not being shown," explains Lee Anne Miller.

And they are GOOD... and that goes a long way toward explaining why the WCA felt it was high time the White House recognized women visual artists for their accomplishments in the arts.

Individuals in the performing arts had been so recognized. So had men in the visual arts.

It's Official Now
Now, finally, official White House recognition has come to women in the visual arts. The WCA sees this recognias a means not only to historically document the contributions the five honorees have made to American art, but to encourage and support women artists in general.

Currently, there are about 2,500 Women's Caucus for Art members. They are, for the most part, professional women in art, but men can join, and there are institutional members. "They want our Newsletter," Ms. Miller explains.

Ten years from now, she sees the Women's Caucus for Art still going strong.

"At one point I would have said that I would like to see it self-destruct out of a lack of need for its existence.

"Now, although I hope we will be able to make enough of a contribution that we obliterate a lot of the lines, I think there is a continuing place for a National Women's Caucus for Art."

Reasons for Being
Less than 10 years old, its communications network has already provided a valuable service for women artists throughout the country, making them more aware of outlets and opportunities and, through publications and exhibitions, of the worth of their own work.

The WCA has worked for general, public recognition of the worth of women's work in art.

"I think," says Lee Anne Miller, "there really is a legitimate Women's Movement in Art today." The work of many women artists has been autobiographical, stemming from their involvement in traditional women's roles. Sewing, for example: pattern, fabric... these things women knew, inspirations they naturally turned to.

"Now," says Ms. Miller, these trends are influencing mainstream art."

It will be interesting, 10 years from now, to see how far that influence has extended.

And what of Lee Anne Miller, 10 years from now? She makes no predictions, but she knows what she would like to see herself and to have others see her as.

"An artist." Note: there is no adjective, (male, female), qualifying that noun.
