ADVOCATES OF AFFIRMATIVE action programs won a victory through a Supreme Court decision that allows employers to give special preference to minorities in hiring, training and promotion. The justices, voting in a 5-2 decision, also ruled that employers with no history of racial bias must offer special treatment to minorities. The decision stemmed from a case involving a white employee of the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Co. in which the court said the company did not discriminate against the employee by adopting a plan "to eliminate traditional patterns of racial segregation."

Friday, June 29
CONSUMERS CAN EXPECT to pay at least five cents a gallon more for gasoline soon as the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, (OPEC), hiked world crude oil prices 24 percent. The biggest increase in five years, the price now stands between $18 and $23.50 per barrel. OPEC said the price boosts are designed to "bring some stability" to the gasoline situation, while Alfred Kahn, President Jimmy Carter's chief inflation fighter, called the OPEC decision "a terribly painful twist of the inflation screw."

Saturday, June 30
THE HOUSE ETHICS Committee halted its investigation of Rep. Charles C. Diggs Jr., D-Detroit, after Diggs admitted that he was guilty of kickingback about $40,000 in congressional funds for personal expenses. After apologizing to colleagues "for the misunderstanding and embarrassment my case may have caused," Diggs agreed to a censure resolution by the House of Representatives and will be subject to a $500 month deduction from his check until the full $40,013.63 is paid.

A COST-OF-LIVING allowance, a three percent annual wage hike, larger pensions and more personal paid holidays appear to be the issues of union negotiators during contract talks with the Big Three scheduled to begin Monday, July 16. The UAW, however, appears to be ignoring President Jimmy Carter's plea for wage guidelines. When wage and cost-of-living demands are added to fringe benefits, it is certain that they will exceed Mr. Carter's seven percent pay standard.

Monday, July 2
PRESIDENT JIMMY CARTER stated that the recent decision by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, (OPEC), to increase world crude oil 24 percent or between $18 and $23.50 per barrel, will "make a recession much more likely than it was before." Mr. Carter said such a situation could cost some 600,000 jobs. The President further indicated that he was less optimistic about the overall economy saying that the OPEC decision will "cost 2.5 percent in our gross national product increase" by the end of 1980.

NATIONAL GUARD TROOPS were called in to patrol Toledo, O., streets after negotiations between the city and striking municipal unions failed. A local judge later ruled that workers must return to their jobs or face a fine of $25,000 levied against the unions. A few fires were reported in the immediate area with residents using garden hoses while waiting for supervisors to arrive at the scene. The strike, curtailing police, fire and sanitation services in the city, has idled about 3,000 of Toledo's 3,800 employees.

Coats Gets New 5-Year Contract

Trustees Vote 6-1 to Extend Agreement through 1984; Approve Administrators' Pay Increases

By Susan McDonald
The Board of Education gave its sometimes controversial Superintendent Dr. William Coats a strong vote of support Monday, June 25, by extending his contract for five more years, the legal limit for superintendents in Michigan. The contract assures Dr. Coats' job in The Pointe through 1984 and raises his annual pay by seven percent to $46,000 for 1979-80. He also received a $3,000 bonus for this year's work. The agreement was approved by a 6-1 vote of the Board, with Trustee Jon Gandelot deciding against the extension.

Express Support
"I'm voting no because I believe contracts of this type are really unilateral — they protect the employee but not the Board and I think it's a bad precedent to enter," Mr. Gandelot explained. "I want to make it clear, however, that I'm impressed with the job Dr. Coats has been doing and I hope he will stay," Mr. Gandelot said. Two trustees, Laurence Harwood, Board president, and William Fleming, voted against a similar five-year contract.

Park Fights Elm Disaster With Big Injection Plan

By Joanne N. Goaleche
Just as the White Pine is distinguished as the state tree, it goes without saying that the American Elm is held in high esteem in Pointe communities. Efforts are being made to preserve the elm which is rapidly falling prey to Dutch Elm Disease, (DED). A bark beetle is responsible for carrying fungi tree to tree, which sooner or later plugs up the water-conducting system of the tree. In The Park, 35 trees are scheduled for removal from city property with more to come down shortly, according to Public Service Director James Ellison. Tree removal will cost the city about $6,000.

GPW Planners Approve New Maintenance Code, Send Document to Council

Group Okays Proposal at June 26 Meeting, Discusses Enforcement And Appeals; City Attorney Catlin Scheduled to Modify Language

By Roger A. Waha
A proposed property maintenance code for The Woods is closer to becoming a reality as the Planning Commission at its regular meeting Tuesday, June 26, unanimously approved the document, which will now be considered by the council at a future meeting. With an emphasis upon the inspection of a structure before it's occupied, the proposal establishes minimum standards for the maintenance of all buildings, structures and/or property within the city toward maintaining real property values. The commission adopted much of the proposal at a special meeting on June 12 and completed its exploration on the 26th by approving provisions governing electrical wiring and equipment, plumbing, (with the word being inserted before several inspection standards), heating and adding a provision governing smoke detectors.

Enforcement Eyed
At the same time, based upon some concerns over enforcement, City Attorney George Catlin is scheduled to modify the language of a section governing inspection standards, eliminating the term "check list" which in favor of the proposal, Mr. Gilezan questioned the amount of judgment brought into play by an inspector in (Continued on Page 6)

Board to Hold Annual Meeting

The Grosse Pointe Board of Education will meet for the first time during the 1979-80 fiscal year on Monday, July 9, at 8 p.m. The agenda for the annual organizational meeting, scheduled for the Board Room in the Administration Building, 389 St. Clair avenue, includes the public swearing-in of newly elected Trustees Ronald Dalby and Dorothy Kennel, election of officers for the year, designation of banks, continuance of funds and accounts and establishment of dates and locations for Board of Education meetings. The Board also will act on a variety of recommendations of Dr. William Coats, superintendent. Included on the agenda are textbook adoptions, a new elementary science program and business items. The meeting is open to the public.

Cable Firms Vie for 'Ripe' GP Market

War Memorial Keeps Plan Alive While Cox Cable And Mega Vision Woo City Councils

By David Kramer
There's big money in cable television. And where there's big money, you'll find more than one party scrambling to get it. That's the situation in the Grosse Pointes these days, as three firms have emerged recently to vie for cable franchises in the "ripe" region: Cox Cable Communications Inc., the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association and Mega Vision Inc. Created in the early 1950s to bring in remote television signals to isolated communities, cable has evolved into a big business as its own entertainment medium, now used to greatly expand the range of available programs to viewers.

Shores Goes Cox

While the initial outlays are great to get a system going, it seems if the system is well-managed, it is sure to be a money-maker. Cox's 1977 annual report for instance, shows a net income of $25.4 million on revenues of $189.3 million, or roughly a 15 percent profit margin. Cox, one of the nation's top five cable firms, became the first company to gain a franchise in the Pointes, gaining from The Shores last month a 15-year, non-exclusive franchise. That system, scheduled to become operational early next year, has been termed a "tack on" because it will be an extension of a Cox franchise already granted to St. Clair Shores and Fraser.

Little Difference

Both the War Memorial and Detroit-based Mega Vision Inc., the other major contender, figure they have an advantage over Cox in that they are both local firms, and their systems would be exclusively for Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods. Proponents of such a system (Continued on Page 7)

Woods Tables Action on Plan After Protests

Citizens Express Concerns over 'High Density' Designation of Northwest Area in Land Use Document for The Year 2000

By Roger A. Waha
In light of some concern over the designation of the northwest area of the city as a high density residential area, (i.e., 12.1 and above dwelling units per gross acre), the Woods Planning Commission voted to table action on the adoption of a proposed land use plan for the Year 2000 at a public hearing Tuesday, June 26. Based upon some apprehension over the designation on the part of Bruce Van Farowe of Brys drive, plus the comments of other citizens over any proliferation of multiple dwellings, Commissioner John Kennedy moved that action be tabled until the body's Tuesday, July 24, meeting. Feeling that some of the comments had merit, Mr. Kennedy said he made the motion "to let everyone have a chance to think about the meeting and to consider developing modifications to make the plan mutually acceptable to all."

May Change Plan

While personally favoring a low-medium density classification, (i.e., 5.1 to 7 dwelling units per gross acre), for the northwest area, Mr. Kennedy felt any modification was a possibility although not a certainty. On the subject of density classification, the plan also encompasses low density, (1 to 5 units per acre), and medium density residential, (7.1 to 12 units per acre). While all categories include single-family residential, medium and high density also allow two-family duplexes, terrace and garden apartments, with the high density classification including high rises. In calling the high density label for the northwest area "ridiculous," Mr. Van Farowe, who said he hasn't read the proposal prior to the meeting, expressed concerns over possible condemnation of property in the future and over potential decline in property values.

Meanwhile, Karl Standley of Aline drive, in emphasizing the single-family nature of the community, (currently around 55.4 percent, with two family at 0.4 percent and (Continued on Page 5)

Woods Delays Action On Roslyn Barricade

By Roger A. Waha
The possibility of any temporary barricade being installed at the westerly limits of The Woods to control the traffic flow along Roslyn road will have to wait until the council's Monday, July 16, meeting as the solons via a 4-2 vote decided to table any action until that date. Several Roslyn road residents attended the Monday, July 2, meeting hoping that some action would be taken to relieve the volume of traffic along their thoroughfare, placed at an average of over 1,700 vehicles within a 24-hour period according to a Public Safety Department traffic count in April, as a result of the "Brys barricades." However, inasmuch as this

GPF Okays Gas Station Swap on Hill

Residents of Radnor Circle, (whose rear yards abut the alley behind the station), were chiefly concerned about the safety of their children and declining property values they felt might be brought about by late night noise and fumes from the station. In light of the current fuel crunch, they also questioned where gas lines might form.

Radnor Residents Protest Move; Cottage Gets Approval for Conversion

By David Kramer
Despite the concerns of about 20 neighboring residents, the Farms Council unanimously okayed another step in the swap of properties between the Standard On-the-Hill station and the old Sunoco station down the street. Residents of Radnor circle, (whose rear yards abut the alley behind the station), were chiefly concerned about the safety of their children and declining property values they felt might be brought about by late night noise and fumes from the station. In light of the current fuel crunch, they also questioned where gas lines might form. Station manager Tom Pitlock assured them the station would be open no later than 9 p.m. and be closed on Sundays and holidays.

Clears The Way

The move by the council at its Monday, July 2, meeting, allowed the continued use of the location, 66 Kercheval, as a gas station. Residents were told that planned station remodeling would have to be approved by the council at later sessions, and would provide an opportunity for further citizen input. The council's action is one more step toward the planned construction of a medical and commercial office building to be built partially on land presently occupied by the Standard station.

Biggest Ever

The final legislation implementing Headlee's "rollback" provision was approved late last month and allows both tax practices. The bill, (HB 4232), is waiting the Governor's signature. The $30.7 million school budget is the biggest ever. It includes about $25.6 million for the General Fund, $3 million for Building and Site, $1 million for Libraries and $1.1 million for Debt Retirement. The General Fund calls for a 10 percent increase in (Continued on Page 2)

Headlee Is Guideline For Board

Trustees Approve $30.7 Million Budget, Join City, Farms And Woods in Tax Drop

By Susan McDonald
The Board of Education joined three Grosse Pointe cities in cutting tax rates for 1979-80 in a $30.7 million budget approved by the trustees at their Monday, June 25, meeting. The school tax rate will drop almost five percent, (1.88 mills) to 36.84 mills this year. Despite the cut, the budget includes some additions to education programs, including the creation of two athletic director posts, hiring nurses at both high schools and additional sports, language and music instruction.

The tax rate was cut by the School Board, as well as councils in The Woods, City and Farms, in response to the Headlee Tax Limitation amendment approved by Michigan voters last fall. Vote "Rollback"
The amendment was interpreted by those officials to mean that increases in citizens' tax bills should not exceed the rate of inflation after increases in property values are taken into account. Because property values jumped an average of 12 percent in The Pointe and the inflation rate was 7.7 percent, the governing bodies voted to "roll back" tax rates. The "rollbacks" amounted to 0.2 of a mill in The Farms, 0.57 of a mill in The City and 0.79 of a mill in The Woods. Officials in The Park and The Shores embraced a different interpretation of Headlee and did not cut tax rates this year. The Park rate remained the same, 19.50 mills, and The Shores rate was increased by 0.75 of a mill.

Park Woman Saves Youth

A Park woman is being recommended for a civilian award in her efforts to save the life of a 16-year-old youth, who was bleeding profusely after seriously cutting his arm, on Thursday afternoon, June 28. Police said Mrs. Beverly MacConnachie of Lakepointe road was riding her bicycle when she observed Kurt Eschenburg of Bedford road running and screaming down the street. Mrs. MacConnachie got off her bicycle and struggled with the youth pushing him to the ground and then sitting on him to contain the blood until help could arrive. Apparently the youth cut himself after he accidentally put his arm through a door window, police said. Kurt's parents were not home at the time of the incident. Fire Chief Phillip M. Costa, whose emergency unit took the youth to Bon Secours Hospital, said Mrs. MacConnachie did the right thing by applying direct pressure to the wound. The youth is listed in good condition, according to a hospital official.

Action on Roslyn Road Barricade Delayed

Mr. Sabol also cited a memo from Director Dankel, which indicated that the director would be willing to meet with both the Harper Woods and St. Clair Shores police chiefs after the St. Clair Shores police head returns from vacation in mid-July.

For his part, Councilman George S. Freeman, who offered the substitute motion to table, expressed some concern over where the barricade would be placed — at the Harper Woods city limits or in The Woods, with the latter alternative causing some inconvenience for Roslyn citizens.

He also expressed a hope that Harper Woods would still be able to accommodate necessary signage. (In the past, Harper Woods officials have been reluctant to allow

The Woods to place such advanced warning signs in their city.)

While saying he didn't want to procrastinate on the issue, Mr. Freeman felt, at the same time, that it might be "jumping the gun" to take action inasmuch as Harper Woods was considering this subject, too. He said he wanted to give their officials a chance to consider appropriate signage in their city before taking further action.

Mr. Freeman also indicated the police heads of both cities should meet again to explore the issue. On this, City Administrator Chester E. Petersen reported that such a meeting already has taken place, with no new proposals or solutions being proposed.

Director Dankel reported an AAA representative, who attended the session, suggested that "Origin and Destination" studies be taken to determine exactly where traffic comes from and where it's going. The director indicated such studies are being planned at this time.)

Two area residents who addressed the Woods Council expressed impatience with the lack of action, with one saying, "Let's do it, (erect the barricade), and let Harper Woods come back to us and talk," while another citizen, who took time off from work to attend the session, stated, "I hate to keep coming back and being chopped off."

Meanwhile, Harper Woods City Manager Ronald Bultman reported that his council considered two items on this problem at its meeting.

On a recommendation from its Planning Commission that a joint study, as proposed by Brandon M. Rogers, planning consultant in both communities, be taken of the area, (affecting the northeast part of Harper Woods), the council decided to table action on the report at this time.

Mr. Bultman said the proposal, which would find both cities entering into an agreement to hire a consultant, would focus upon land use identification and planning analysis, a traffic study and an environmental assessment.

He indicated the council wasn't in favor of any major study right now because of the number of studies which have occurred in the past.

Secondly, Mr. Bultman, in noting both police heads have been in contact, cited plans for the "Origin and Destination" studies. He hoped such studies would help officials in his community toward discovering the magnitude of the problem as it affects his community.

Voting for the motion to table were Mr. Freeman, Mr. Sabol, Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos and Councilman Thomas Cournellman. Mr. Novitke and Councilman George Cueter voted in opposition. Councilman Dan Grady was excused from the meeting.

School Tax Rate Falls

In addition to a 7.7 percent increase in local property tax revenues, extra funds will be provided by a small increase in federal revenue, (0.1 percent), the transfer of $50,000 from the Library Fund and appropriation of $166,000 of excess funds from previous budgets.

The administration expects both state and county revenue sources to decline next year by 10.7 percent and 42.4 percent, respectively.

Almost three-quarters of the increase in General Fund spending will go to "maintain" current programs, according to the administration. The remainder, about $620,000, will be used for program "improvements."

Those improvements include an extra $25,000 for more teachers in the music departments in the elementary and secondary choral and instrumental programs. The additions were recommended this spring by a music study committee made up of administrators, teachers and interested parents.

Other improvements include the creation of two athletic director posts at the cost of $11,600. The new directors, who will have no teaching or coaching duties, will be responsible for coordinating some system-wide athletic events and will be stationed at each high school.

Nurses will be hired at both high school clinics next year at a cost of $18,000. They will be responsible for consulting on district-wide health programs as well as the care of students' at their schools.

That improvement was made in response to a report by Health Education Council leader Marilyn Doyal.

Mrs. Doyal said volunteers from the council who staff the clinics were becoming unwilling to work at the high schools because of the seriousness of the illnesses they were encountering. Council volunteers will continue to man clinics at the middle and elementary schools.

Other small improvements will be made in bi-lingual, vocational and career education programs in 1979-80. A cross-country team for girls also will be added at each high school.

One of the biggest topics of discussion during several days of budget hearings by the Board of Education was the school system's lunch program, which lost several thousand dollars last year after a new state-mandated program was implemented.

The administration originally budgeted $90,000 to underwrite the cafeteria program next year, but several Board members protested the expenditure.

The budget request was subsequently lowered to $45,000 and a 15 percent increase in food prices was approved.

The 36.84 mills in taxes Pointers will pay to the schools next year breaks down to 33.87 for the General Fund, 1.37 for Libraries and 1.6 for Debt Retirement.

In all, the schools expect to collect about $24.8 million in taxes from local citizens next year. The average tax bill will increase about 7.6 percent compared to last year after increases in property values are taken into account.

A typical Pointe resident, whose home is valued at $35,000, (one half of market value), will pay $1,319.40 in local school taxes.

Thieves Enter DPW Garage

The Woods Department of Public Works garage, 1200 Parkway Drive, was entered and a DPW pick-up truck taken, according to a report received by Woods police Monday, June 30, around 12:10 a.m.

Over 40 minutes later, the truck, with its right door, quarter panel and mirror damaged, was recovered at the Elmwood Middle School, 22700 California, St. Clair Shores. It was reported to have struck a utility pole in that community.

One witness told police the truck was being driven in a reckless manner down his street, while another witness said he followed the truck to the school.

He reported two youths jumped from the truck and ran across the school property. One, the driver, was described as white, around 16 years of age, with black hair to his ears and wearing dark rim glasses and a levi jacket. The other youth was wearing a light color jacket.

The suspects entered the garage by breaking a window at the auto pound, with a large wrench and a beer bottle being found on the ledge. The locker room was then entered, with all unlocked lockers being ransacked.

In the kitchen area, the pop machine was broken into via a screwdriver, with an unknown amount of money being taken from the coin box. Meanwhile, around $5 in coffee money also was removed from a box, while portable flashers from vehicles were found missing.

THOMAS PROMOTED

Edward S. Thomas of The Park has been promoted to the newly created position of director of corporate administrative affairs at Harper-Grace Hospitals.

Park Shows Increase In Criminal Activity

The annual police report of The Park reflected an increase of 517 reports of criminal and non-criminal investigations in 1978, jumping from a 1977 figure of 7,845 to last year's 8,362.

In Part I crimes, (more serious offenses), burglary and robbery showed significant increases with burglary rising 66 percent and robbery climbing 38 percent over 1977.

In the same Part I category, larcenies over $50 rose 56 percent from 234 in 1977 to 365 in 1978, while larcen-ies under $50 decreased almost two-thirds, from 322 to 107 last year.

Other Part I crimes include homicide, rape, assaults and auto theft.

There were no reported homicides in 1978, with no homicides reported since 1967. Two cases of rape were reported last year with none reported in 1977, while auto thefts decreased by nine percent in 1978.

According to the report, last April showed the highest number of reported cases of burglary for the year, (25), with Police Chief Henry O. Coonce explaining that the cat burglar, Floyd Harris Jr., was linked to over 40 burglaries committed in 1978.

Harris is serving time on conviction of receiving and concealing stolen goods, said Chief Coonce.

The months of May, June and July of last year also revealed high incidences of larceny over $50, Chief Coonce indicated that these are months when school is out and in which bikes are stolen most frequently.

Part II offenses include vandalism, drug cases and driving under the influence of liquor, (DUIL).

Reported vandalism increased from 263 cases to 281 in 1978 with drug cases decreasing from 16 to 10 in 1978.

DUIL reports decreased from 32 to 20 and sex offenses declined from 16 in 1977 to nine in 1978.

I-F Center Sets Detroit Tour

The Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice's Youth Task Force will conduct a tour of Detroit on Wednesday, July 18, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The theme is "Detroit And Its Neighborhoods: A Community-Wide Renaissance Or Impossible Dream?"

"The purpose of the tour will be to explore how the future of Detroit and its suburbs, particularly the Grosse Pointes, are linked together," said Jere Thomas of Manchester boulevard, chairperson of the task force.

"It is an ideal activity for young and old alike, particularly teenagers and their parents. We see this type of experience as a chance to better prepare ourselves to live in a multi-racial, multi-cultural society."

To date, over 150 people have participated, including youth and adult church groups as well as high school groups from The Pointe and surrounding communities.

The tour will leave the center, 15233 Kercheval avenue, at 9 a.m. sharp. Areas to be seen and discussed include Jefferson-Chalmers, Indian Village, Elmwood Cemetery, Elmwood/Lafayette Park, Downtown, Corktown, Medical Center, Rosa Parks boulevard, (12th Street area), Harmony Village, the University District Community, (near the University of Detroit), North Central Detroit, plus many others.

A break for lunch will be taken in Greektown.

Transportation costs are $4 for non-members, $5 for members. Participants will be expected to pay for their own lunch.

Reservations for the day-tour must be made by Friday, July 13. Van capacity is 15 and spaces will be allocated on a first-come, first-served basis.

For more information or reservations, contact the center at 824-0350.

Pointe Campers Visit Ontario

The Pointe Campers, a group of over 30 families from The Pointe, spent a recent weekend in Wheatley, Ont.

Some of the families visited Minor's Bird Sanctuary a few miles away and the fishing wharf in Wheatley on Lake Erie.

Land Use Proposal Tabled in GPW

multiple family at 1.8 percent), called The Woods a "jewel" because of its single-family character and questioned, "Why change things?" in eying multiple dwellings.

James A. Mitchell of Centerbrook court objected to the high density classification of property at the rear of the Grosse Pointe Baptist Church, while saying single family dwellings are located all around it. "I can't see high rises or terrace apartments there," he stated.

For his part, Robert Kinkead of Lakeshore lane told the commission most residents weren't aware of the proposed plan and wanted more feedback from citizens who didn't attend the hearing. (An estimated 25 residents in attendance indicated some interest in the plan.)

Besides the concern over high density classifications, senior citizens housing was a subject of interest to Bert Francis, president of SOC, (Seniors Onward for Change, Inc.), and a member of the Senior Citizens Commission, and Irene Sutton, former chairman of the commission. Both expressed an interest in the plan's accommodation of a seniors' complex.

Rogers Comments
Planning consultant Brandon M. Rogers, who drafted, (and redrafted), the proposal based upon input from the Planning Commission, also spoke, exploring the content of the plan, while Doug Munro of Anita avenue, who has attended many commission meetings on the document, praised Mr. Rogers and the commission for their work while calling the proposal "comprehensive and flexible."

If a few members of the audience were surprised over the commission's tabling action, Mr. Rogers wasn't one of them. "It's not unusual after a public hearing of this nature to delay immediate action, particularly if some new views are brought to the attention of the commission," he stated.

"There's nothing wrong in deferring action. I feel it's a prudent and proper course of action to take," he continued, while noting this avenue is "normally the rule rather than the exception."

Mr. Rogers felt the hearing itself went well, in considering the main objections were only on the northwest area and the property near the Baptist Church. Based upon the availability of the plan at city offices, the attendance at the meeting and proper hearing notices, he said he had to assume the majority of the citizens were satisfied, i.e., in eying those not in the audience.

Saying he has talked with Mr. Van Farowe in the past, Mr. Rogers cited the resident's interest in city affairs, while feeling he made a "very reasoned" presentation as northwest area spokesman.

"Personally, I don't expect to see any substantial changes in the plan," he indicated, while adding the adoption of the document will help officials toward the future development of the city.

If any request is at odds with the plan, it can be referred back to the Planning Commission for modification or updating, he added, while citing the document's flexibility.

Look at Zoning
On the northwest area, Mr. Van Farowe asked if the city would condemn any private property for sale to a developer.

City Attorney George Catlin said there are no present plans for the condemnation of private property nor are any currently envisioned.

He made it clear the proposal focuses upon future land use and, to make it work, the council would have to amend existing zoning ordinances all or in part. If not, it would only be a "nice historical document," he said.

"If the council does this, a developer can look at a location and say zoning for this area permits terrace apartments or this or that."

In noting the city has the authority to set up the process for urban renewal, Mr. Catlin stressed the land use plan won't function at all unless the council amends the zoning ordinance, while the question of condemnation is separate.

The latter "is always a possibility down the road and it exists today," he said.

Possible Panic
Citing a concern over the deterioration of property values in the northwest area, Mr. Van Farowe said a scenario which he felt could occur if rezoning takes place is as follows: uncertainty among the residents, the discouragement of prospective home buyers, the possibility of a developer going in and buying up houses and, as land is bought up, potential deterioration occurring.

"Citizens in the area would feel the prospects are poor down the road and then they would move. Panic sets in and property values deteriorate. This is all the better for the developer as he won't have to pay as much," he said, while calling it a "vicious cycle."

Mr. Van Farowe also felt the northwest area was selected because the city needs a high tax base "at the expense of area residents." Saying many homes in the area sell for between $50,000 and $70,000, while calling $35,000 the "bottom dollar," he stated the area isn't a tax liability for the city, calling such a view a "myth."

Raising the tax base at the expense of the single family homeowner in the northwest area was a poor trend to establish, he continued, "because inflation is a fact and a few years down the road the city could look hypothetically at increasing its tax base again" and look at areas the other side of Mack for potential rezoning and redevelopment.

Work with HW
In responding to some citizen concerns, Mr. Rogers stated the land use proposal isn't a zoning plan but it could lead to some zoning decisions in the future.

It's a guide for day-to-day zoning decisions in support of or against the plan's provisions, said Mr. Rogers, who called it a "road map," not a "straight jacket," nor a mandate for a particular type of zoning.

He also pointed out the Planning Commission adopts the plan, not the council.

In eying the northwest area, Mr. Rogers made it clear that a wholesale change to high density isn't being proposed in eying the 12.1 plus dwelling units per acre figure. In fact he said many homes on 35' by 100' lots approach eight to nine units per acre, with the area really a high density district now.

He stressed he would be against spot zoning or precipitous action toward breaking down the neighborhood.

On Seniors' Housing
On the northwest area, the plan says, "Even though this area is nearly entirely developed with single family homes on small lots, with the exception of the Shore Pointe Condominiums at the north city limits, the through traffic problems caused by the gridiron street layout, the irregular boundary with the City of Harper Woods which divides individual properties in mid-block as occurs south of Vernier road, and the vehicular parking and circulation congestion near Mack avenue business district all point to a need to comprehensively replan this area."

"Over time, as sufficient contiguous property is assembled, new housing types at higher densities than now exist in the area can be introduced, served by an improved street system in a planned unit development."

"Such replanning must take into consideration redevelopment potential of land in the City of Harper Woods west of Harper avenue which has similar locational advantages."

In viewing the 1957 plan for the city, Mr. Rogers indicated that around 62 percent of Mack avenue hadn't developed in accordance with the plan, while saying that it was important to maintain the currently sound housing and commercial buildings in the city, which shows an increase in the aging of its population.

On seniors' housing, Mr. Francis wanted to know what the plan provides between now and the Year 2000. Stating the housing issue isn't dead, he said there's no reason for seniors to leave the city.

"We want to enjoy our friends in Grosse Pointe as long as we live. We need provisions for seniors' housing in the city. Let's think about it now," he told the commission.

Will Be "Watchdog"
Officials responded by noting medium and high density sites, as indicated in the plan, could be possible locations for seniors' housing.

"We wanted to keep the plan general and let the seniors make a proposal for such housing," commented Mr. Rogers, who felt the best locations would be near shopping areas, transportation and churches and community centers.

For her part, Mrs. Sutton questioned if the Senior Citizens Commission should be a "watchdog" in relation to any property which may become available and suited for housing.

Mr. Catlin replied in the affirmative. "If there's an available site, or one becomes available, the group might encourage a private developer to develop senior citizens housing," he said.

Grosse Pointe Farms Jeweler Receives Advanced Title From American Gem Society

Kevin E. Kiska of Kiska Jewelers, 63 Kercheval on the Hill, Grosse Pointe Farms has added the advanced title Certified Gemologist to his previously bestowed Registered Jeweler award. These two professional awards are conferred by the American Gem Society. Long hours of study in gemology and the successful completion of very comprehensive exams were required of Kiska before the Certified Gemologist title was awarded.

One of the examinations requires the correct identification of 20 difficult, little known gemstones.

The American Gem Society is an association of fine jewelers pledged to the vigilant protection of the buying public. It awards titles to member jewelers only after they have proved their skills in evaluating gemstones, grading diamonds and have been deemed as highly accomplished and ethical businessmen by their peers in the Society.

Kiska was awarded his first AGS title on May 17, 1978. He was a Registered Jeweler for one year. However, he had completed all of the required gemology courses at that time for full Society title. It was only a matter of working as an RJ for twelve months before his Certified Gemologist title became effective.

President Frank Maier, Jr. of the American Gem Society said: "I want to congratulate Kiska on achieving a level of skill reached by only some 612 retail merchants in the United States and Canada. He has qualified as a Certified Gemologist through his personal desire to increase his knowledge of gemology, and through the store's subscribing to business principles set down by the Federal Trade Commission, Better Business Bureau and the Society's own code of ethics."

Property Maintenance Code Approved by Planners

relation to accomplishing necessary enforcement. Mr. Catlin said the language could be changed, eliminating the "check list" term, and striving for a more definitive approach.

However, he stated an inspection will be made to make judgments and report any defects or violations within three working days following an inspection. A certificate will not be issued until such provisions or standards have been met to the Division of Safety Inspections "reasonable satisfaction," according to the proposal.

Related to the area of enforcement, Mr. Catlin pointed out, is an "appeal of determination" section, where an individual, who feels aggrieved by any notice of defect or with any determination made by the Division of Safety Inspections, has a right to appeal.

Handle Feedback
The individual must pay an appeal hearing fee of $25 with the Planning Commission ultimately conducting the hearing.

Mr. Glezan also expressed some concern over the commission setting an enforcement agency with Mr. Catlin saying this matter also was discussed by the property maintenance code subcommittee of Commissioners George Rinaldi, Paul Rothenburg and John Kennedy.

The subcommittee felt there should be some handling of the feedback process at the commission level regarding the upgrading of property, Mr. Catlin said. He stated there was a concern over the possibility of overly strict enforcement without any relief for an individual.

Feeling an appeal process was needed, three avenues were discussed including the process being handled at the council level, at the commission level or by an independent board.

Commission to Vote
The recommendation was to let us try the appeal process at the Planning Commission level since it's a planning and future use type of ordinance with a fairly quick hearing process, said Mr. Catlin.

Saying he didn't see the appeal board as an enforcer of the ordinance, he stated its objective was to relieve an individual who feels enforcement was too strict. Actual enforcement would be in the hands of the Division of Safety Inspections, the city attorney's office and the municipal court.

With the commission itself acting as the appeal agency, Mr. Catlin felt it would obtain "a good handle of the appeals as a result of inspections."

And at such hearings, he noted the commission and the affected individual could call in any resources either felt necessary for the presentation of the case.

According to the proposal, the commission, by a majority vote, will determine whether the notice of defect or determination made by the Division of Safety Inspections will be modified, vacated or remain as issued.

Burden on Owner
In viewing the overall area of enforcement, Mr. Catlin reported the way the proposal is designed to "operated" by a particular piece of property becoming vacant.

He indicated many similar ordinances place the burden on the property owner, who could be prosecuted if he doesn't permit an inspector inside to see any alleged violations. For his part, Mr. Catlin questioned the constitutionality of such measures, e.g., invasion of privacy, et al.

However, The Woods' proposal indicates that property cannot be occupied unless it's inspected, with the possibility an inspection could transpire while the structure is vacant.

"I hope and anticipate most of the inspections are requested by the present owner. This can be encouraged by notifying real estate firms of the ordinance's existence," he said.

Several Provisions
In citing the flexibility of the proposal, Mr. Catlin said the prospective purchaser also could be responsible for making necessary repairs.

"It encourages the seller to make repairs but, if not, the problem can be left with the purchaser who has to know about it ahead of time," he said.

On the subject of who should make needed repairs, the proposal says prior to the consummation of the sale and transfer of the premises, the owner must deliver a copy of the certificate of occupancy to the prospective purchaser and then must file an affidavit with the Division of Safety Inspections.

This sets forth that the owner has delivered a copy of the certificate to the prospective purchaser, transferee, leasee or tenant.

If the purchaser agrees to assume the duty of repairing or correcting any defects, the purchaser, on a form provided by the Division of Safety Inspections, must indicate the agreement by his signature. Upon the delivery of the agreement to the division, the owner will no longer be responsible.

The proposal, which requires a certificate of occupancy before any previously vacated premises can be occupied, with such a certificate being good for two years, also provides that a conditional certificate of occupancy may be issued by the Division of Safety Inspections.

No Safety Hazards

It may be obtained upon request prior to the complete conformance with the chapter's provisions and if the absence of such conformance doesn't constitute material health or safety hazards. One may be issued for 90 days, with the possibility of an extension of an additional 90 days being granted for good cause.

On the question of bringing property "up to code," Mr. Catlin told the commission his understanding of the proposal, based upon the subcommittee's intent, is if, for example, electrical service in a home met 1935 standards and was operating well, it wouldn't have to be brought up to current standards.

"If there was a safety hazard, no approval would be given," he stated, while indicating this was why the language on inspection standards was fairly general.

However, the commission unanimously decided to insert the word "good" between "general" and "condition" in relation to an inspection of main service cables and equipment.

On smoke detectors, the commission unanimously approved a motion to require one detector per floor of each structure. For a two-story house, three detectors would be required, including one in the basement.

Park Fights

trees may be removed quickly.

"These trees need to be removed as quickly as possible so as not to affect other trees," Mr. Crawford said.

A bid was later awarded to P. A. Blake Company of Detroit.

Mr. Crawford indicated that he anticipated all tree planting to replace those trees removed with the city purchasing about 200 trees of the Cleveland Norway Maple variety, among others.

"We desire to widen the variety of trees in The Park," Mr. Crawford stated.

Councilwoman Ann M. MacDonald, coordinator of the newly-created Beautification Commission in The Park, said she would very much like to see trees planted along Mack avenue.

The study of wine has come to college these days. At the University of California, Davis, is a wine research center where an international group of professors and students study the grape and its wine possibilities. Firms Eye 'Ripe' Market

(Continued from Page 1) tem claim it would retain a sense of community identity and ensure that community standards be met in programming. Programming by Cox, it is said, is done nationwide, with an eye to maximizing profits.

The War Memorial has yet to develop a specific proposal for the Pointes. But Mega Vision has, and its proposal actually differs very little from Cox's. One difference is in the number of community access channels available, with four available to The Shores with Cox, and nine proposed by Mega Vision for the rest of the Pointes.

Cox's proposal, however, leaves 11 channels open for lease and future use, while Mega Vision's leaves fewer.

In the Mega Vision system, five channels would be reserved for government access, one for news of the Pointes, one for educational access, one for medical access and one for a consumer report on the best buys in the Pointe. (Cox also has a consumer channel, focusing on prices in Macomb County.)

Cox and Mega Vision would carry virtually the same outside programming, including a number of news-oriented stations as well as the Christian Broadcasting Network, a station broadcasting Madison Square Garden events and two independent "superstations" — WTCC, Atlanta and WGN, Chicago.

More Accountable

Both services offer all Detroit area stations, and C-SPAN, live coverage of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Mega Vision is a subsidiary of Bernard, Wells, Loving and Co., a Detroit accounting firm, three of whose partners live in Grosse Pointe. At least two of the operating officers of Mega Vision itself are Pointe residents. Richard W. Budinger, systems director, and Kay Elen Perry, director of marketing.

Mega Vision currently operates several cable systems in northern Michigan, one each in North Carolina and Hawaii, with acquisition of another system pending in Tennessee. Total customers amount to over 20,000. Cox serves over 587,000 subscribers in 17 states.

Mr. Budinger stressed the fact the principals of Mega Vision reside in Grosse Pointe tends to make them more accountable for the system they set up.

Their proposal to the cities includes a 20 percent senior citizens discount, but makes no provision for what is known in the industry as "franchise fees" — a share in the profits of the system with the city government. Cox's deal with The Shores calls for a three percent share of gross revenues.

Mr. Budinger has indicated, however, his firm might consider such fees if it were considered necessary to get the franchise.

Security Service

The War Memorial, in its preliminary offering to the cities, said its rates would not exceed the lowest quoted commercial system price, which is $7.50 per month basic service from both Cox and Mega Vision.

Mega Vision's rate for Home Box Office, (HBO), an optional channel run by Time-Life Inc., offering commercial-free recent movies and other entertainment, is $2 higher per month, but includes in the package a young people's station not included in the Cox package.

Movies shown on the HBO include R-rated pictures. A "mini subscription" service also is available that includes only G and PG rated films. Cox charges $4, Mega Vision, $5, for that service.

Mega Vision would offer another option — a security service. For $15.95 a month, a subscriber could hook into a scanning system that would monitor a home every six seconds, for police, fire and medical alert alarms.

Whatever system The War Memorial comes up with would be similar to those of the other two firms. In fact, the association will be seeking bids from its two competitors, (along with about 30 others), to act as management firm for its system. It's target date for the choice is August 1.

The War Memorial would finance the project with industrial revenue bonds issued through the Wayne County Economic Development Corporation. The bonds would be backed by the Center's endowment fund, worth over $2 million.

Give Cottage Okay

In other Hill area action, the council conditionally approved the plans of Cottage Hospital to convert the former nurses' residence, located at 158 Ridge road, into business offices.

Hospital administrator Ralph Wilgarde was told, however, he would have to come up with a minimum of eight additional parking spaces for the office.

Mr. Wilgarde said the hospital intended to use the space freed in the hospital for additional outpatient care. He estimated an additional five to 10 outpatients could be treated in the building after the move.

Approval of a planned day care center in the old residence, however, will have to await further investigation by Mr. Wilgarde into the feasibility of using nearby school system property for the youngsters' outdoor recreation.

The second and third floors gutted for the present time. City Attorney Larry Campbell pointed out any future use of upstairs would require additional approval by the council.

The only apparent outside change to the structure would be construction of an elevator to the rear of the building. No increase in office personnel is expected in the move.

Concerns over Noise

Council members did not approve of the hospital's intention to use the front lawn of the Ridge structure for that purpose, citing noise in a residential area, and the necessity of building a fence in a front yard, as problems.

Mr. Wilgarde said the maximum number of kids at the center would be 12.

Building plans call for the utilization of the basement and first floors only, with

THIS WEEK AT Punch & Judy Theatre

21 Kercheval 343-0434

(The Punch & Judy Theatre has been under new management since June 1st this year. They are endeavoring to provide entertainment for all facets of the community with their new fare. The following is a short synopsis of this week's movies.)

RIO GRANDE

Although everyone thinks of them as a team, John Wayne and Maureen O'Hara only made three movies together. Rio Grande, made in 1950 and directed by John Ford, was the first. The movie comes at the height of Wayne's career. It followed "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon" in 1949 and is followed by "The Quiet Man" in 1952.

HIGH NOON is considered by many to be the best western ever made. Gary Cooper won the Oscar that year (1952) for best actor. The film also won best music, best song and best editing. The story of a man standing alone against the world has been repeated in dozens of westerns since but never with better effect than in this fine film.

RIO GRANDE & HIGH NOON Start Wednesday, July 4, as a double feature. High Noon - 8:15 and 9:45 Rio Grande - 7:30

Music Festival Picnics Offer Added Enjoyment

By Irene Moran
Summer picnic-fun is the greatest! Especially when a concert follows in a most beautiful and unique setting. Such is the offering this season at the Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival which opened Wednesday, June 20, featuring Maria Ewing, Metropolitan Opera star.

The traditional festival, held at the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore road, is one of the many community projects planned by the Memorial throughout the year.

Mrs. Sterling S. Sanford is heading the festival for the second year. She and her committee, the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association and its president John R. Nicholson, are extending a welcome to everyone, as well as to neighboring communities, to attend the event.

Concert-goers are invited to picnic on the Alger House terrace and grounds which open at 6 p.m. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

has provided sponsorship since. The festival's artistic director is Frederic DeHaven, organist and choirmaster of Christ Church, Grosse Pointe.

All four concerts are offered at $30 for adults and $15 for children. Refreshment supper boxes are $15 by reservation three days in advance. Each are at $4.50. Single admission is $8.50 and student single admission is $4.25. Lawn admission for the July 25 concert only is $4.50.

Advance ticket orders may be obtained by writing checks payable and mailed to the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore road, Grosse Pointe Farms 48236.

Tickets also are available from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily (except Sundays), and at the box office the night of the concert.

For further information, call the Center at 881-7511.

What Goes On at Your Library

By William T. Peters,
Director of Public Libraries

If you are satisfied with the way you are living your life, don't bother to read any of the books mentioned in this column. Every one of the books has been written by a man or woman that sincerely believes that you can be better than you are.

Art Linkletter, the eternal optimist, has written a new book, YES, YOU CAN, (Simon and Schuster, 1979). Linkletter, a multimillionaire, draws upon his own remarkable experiences to show how you too can succeed in business, pleasure and life.

His book includes chapters on developing self-confidence, tips on how to put worry to work for you, how to test your talk power, the art of selling yourself and lots of advice that can immediately apply to your own life.

Linkletter writes like a modern day Dale Carnegie and will attract many readers looking for an ego boost.

Walt Menninger, MD, a member of the famous family of psychiatric pioneers, (his father was Dr. Will Menninger), has for several years authored a news-feature column entitled INSIGHTS distributed by the Universal Press Syndicate.

His book, CAUTION: LIVING MAY BE HAZARDOUS, (Sheed, Andrews and McMeel, 1978), is made up in large part from the columns he wrote over a period of years.

The subtitle Dr. Menninger has selected, DEBUNKING THE HAPPINESS MYTH, accurately describes his approach to the problems of life. A recurring theme in this series of essays, is that life is a mixture of painful experiences and pleasure. This book is easy reading and contains lots of real down home psychiatry, (common sense).

Two years before Dr. Walt Menninger wrote his book, a Chicago priest and professor of psychology at Loyola University wrote THE TROUBLE BOOK, (Thomas More Press, 1976).

His name is Eugene Kennedy and he attempts to describe and define basic human troubles associated with health, money, relatives, children, work, grief, neighbors, depression — the whole barrage of problems great and small which assault the contemporary personality.

"People," writes Father Kennedy, "must realize that nobody has it all together. We will always be caught up in the puzzle and mystery of life itself."

Menninger and Kennedy are, I believe, ideologically very close together.

Oliver Gillie, a biologist and prize-winning medical writer for the London Sunday Times has written WHO DO YOU THINK YOU ARE? (E. P. Dutton and Co., 1976).

Man is a product of heredity and his environment and this book discusses the age old heredity-environment controversy. The author is convinced that hereditarians have manipulated scientific theory to reinforce racist, sexist and elitist prejudices.

He believes that the problems are environmental and therefore so should the solutions be, and his book analyzes in detail the ways in which an environmental approach to social and physical problems can allow us freedom from genetic tyranny: we can be who we want to be.

A man who didn't think he could change peoples' lives, he knew he could was Dale Carnegie. Over a million copies of HOW TO WIN FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE PEOPLE have been sold. He wrote the first edition in 1936. His homey techniques seemed to work for thousands, at least I never heard of an unsuccessful person who followed Dale Carnegie's advice.

To the Editor:

The Thursday, June 28, headline, "YSD Closes Doors," is a very sad sign of the times in our community.

The YSD, (Youth Service Division), provided a very valuable service to our children. It has helped my own family immensely.

Last November, a man tried to abduct our 11-year-old daughter by Kroger's parking lot in the Village at 12:20 when she was trying to go back to Maire School. No one helped her. She finally slugged the man hard enough to get out of his car and ran to school for help.

The school called the YSD. Two days later the man was caught doing the same thing to another girl. He is now in Northville.

The caring and concern of the YSD for the children in our community in need of help or (in) trouble with the

Know Your Schools

By Dr. William Coats,
Superintendent of Schools

Over three weeks ago many of our community's residents voted in the annual School Board election. With that event fresh in mind and because the 1979-80 Board of Education will begin its duties at its organizational meeting next Monday, July 3, I want to use this opportunity to expand upon my comments about the operation of boards of education from last week's column.

John Fisher, past president of Teacher's College, Columbia University, has noted, "The proper contribution of the school board member is not expertise, but wisdom; not detailed knowledge, but high values and sound judgment."

How do the trustees of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education make their "proper contribution?"

First, consider the method by which the trustees are selected and how they carry out their responsibilities. The Board is composed of seven trustees chosen by registered voters on a non-partisan ballot at annual school elections.

Members of the Board have the responsibility of seeing that programs of the school district are conducted in accordance with the Constitution of the State of Michigan, the School Code of the State, which is enacted by the State Legislature, sections of the Michigan Administrative Code pertaining to the rules and regulations of the State Board of Education and procedures established by the County Intermediate School District.

The Board appoints a superintendent as its executive officer and delegates to him the responsibility for implementing Board policy and for making decisions concerning the management of the school district.

Art Festival 'Big Success'

The annual three day Village Arts Festival held in late June was a "big success," according to organizers, with thousands of visitors viewing the works of more than 100 local and out-of-state artists.

Winning the four top awards, donated by the Village Association, were Maureen Voorheis of West Bloomfield, Charles Sizemore of Highland, Inc., Charles O'Neal of Marcellus and Dave Steele of The Pointe.

Art objects were given to four lucky winners of the association's raffle, which attracted more than 1,000 people this year. Winners were Sally Fox of Audubon road, Teresa L. Morin of Mt. Vernon road, Jane Rentz of Berkshire road and Florence Hempy of Boyne City.

Proceeds from the festival, co-sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Artists Association and Village Association, benefit the Art Wing of the War Memorial.

St. John Sets Blood Drive

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit Saint John Hospital, 22101 Moross road, on Friday, July 13, from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Persons who wish to donate blood should call 343-3984 for an appointment during blood drive hours.

Every 17 seconds, somewhere in the U.S., somebody's life depends on the availability of a blood transfusion, according to the Red Cross.

In metropolitan Detroit, the Red Cross estimates it must collect between 950 and 1,000 pints of blood a day to meet the needs of the five-county area.

Anyone between the ages of 17 and 66 and in good health is probably eligible to donate blood.

Petrík Named FOP President

Woods Officer Stephen Petrík, 51, a 25-year veteran with the Public Safety Department, was elected president of the Michigan Fraternal Order of Police, (FOP), last month.

Officer Petrík has served as a trustee, a district director and as vice president of the Michigan FOP.

Another Pointe officer also was elected to a state post. Woods Officer Patrick Fagan, a 10-year veteran of the department, was named to one of four new district director seats of the 10,000-member organization.

GPW Planners Table Request

Plans toward improving the appearance of a building at 20095-99 Mack avenue, currently housing a drapery store and a lawyer's office, were viewed by the Woods Planning Commission at its regular meeting Tuesday, June 26.

The commission, feeling the plans required more of a Colonial appearance, tabled action on the proposal until a future meeting via a 63 vote.

Clarence E. Lubber, owner of the building, said the front of the structure, consisting of large red blocks of baked enamel metal over cement, with feature strips in a cream color, is outdated.

He also felt it didn't conform to existing buildings along the thoroughfare.

While a majority of the commissioners felt the plans were an improvement, a prevailing concern focused upon the lack of a Colonial identi-

Fun Is The Focus Of French Market

War Memorial's Grounds to Be Setting for Country Fair with A Gallic Flavor Tomorrow And Saturday

The French Festival of Detroit, Inc., founded in 1973 to further the interest of the people of metropolitan Detroit in the area's French heritage, will bring its annual French Market to the Grosse Pointe War Memorial this Friday, July 6, from 11 in the morning to 10 in the evening, and Saturday, July 7, from 10 to 4 o'clock.

The event is geared to those who enjoy the casual charm of a country fair. It's an opportunity to sample French food and wine, applaud high-kicking cancan girls and a sultry-voiced chanteuse, spot a flea market bargain or choose an attractive gift item in Limoges at the bazaar.

A company of 17th Century French Marines in dashing, white uniforms will perform their drill. There'll be more than a sprinkling of foreign languages and charming accents.

Best of all: these Gallic-flavored goings-on will unfold, rain or shine, for the third year in a row in the War Memorial's picturesque setting, a really pleasant place to spend a few hours — and so conveniently located for gas-conscious Pointers.

The continuous parade of entertainment attractions has been assembled by Mrs. George A. Kappaz. As a special treat for those who like to do their own dancing, there'll be a live orchestra (playing) on Fries Ballroom Friday evening.

And here's another treat: admission to the French Market is free.

The organizations that are cooperating within the framework of the French Festival to make these festivities possible include the Alliance Francaise de Grosse Pointe, Le Club LaSalle, Inc., of Warren, Paroisse St. Joachim de Detroit and Societe St. Jean Baptiste de Detroit.

Chairman William E. Barry, who is also Festival president, did the master planning on the event, with French-born Pierre Augier as assistant and Dan Gorrell as treasurer.

Super crepe-maker Mrs. Warren S. Wilkinson reports there'll be many other foods for Market nibblers, including cheesecake with fresh strawberry topping, Quiche Lorraine, pastries, homemade preserves, French bread, a variety of cheeses, Canadian dark bread and, of course, sandwiches.

Among the inviting items concessions chairman Elmo L. Joseph has lined up for his place to spend a few hours — and so conveniently located for gas-conscious Pointers.

Others with special responsibilities for the Market's success this year are Mrs. Anthony A. Vermeulen, in charge of the bazaar, Yvette DePuma, epicurist, Mrs. George Mikhail, flea market, Mrs. Joseph, special prizes, and Mrs. R. H. Axson, who has the job of scheduling the volunteer workers.

A cap-sleeved gown of white eyelet and a matching picture hat fashioned of eyelet ruffles, with a hint of veil cascading down her back, was the costume chosen by Jane Sigrid Wood for her wedding to Charles Albert McFeely, III.

Varied Fare for Festival

Music under the stars at Meadow Brook this week begins tonight, Thursday, July 5, when Russian conductor Gennady Rozhdestvensky directs the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

He also will conduct the Saturday, July 7, concert. Rozhdestvensky, one of the USSR's outstanding conductors, is best known in this country for his guest conducting of major orchestras and his tours with the Bolshoi Ballet and Leningrad Philharmonic.

This evening's fare includes works by Scriabin and Prokofiev. Featured vocalists will be mezzo-soprano Beverly Wolff and tenor Leon Petrus, the former managing director of Meadow Brook Music Festival.

They will be accompanied by the Kenneth Jewell Chorale and the Detroit Lutheran Singers.

Conductor Rozhdestvensky will be joined Saturday evening by his wife, Soviet pianist Viktoria Postnikova. Their concert will feature works by Shostakovich, Prokofiev and Tchaikovsky.

Pavilion seats at $7, $8 and $9 and lawn tickets at $4 are available for both Thursday and Saturday.

Friday Jazz Night July 6 offers an unbeatable combination: singer Mel Torme and drummer Buddy Rich and his orchestra.

Multi-talented Torme has established himself as a composer, arranger and writer.

Buddy Rich made his mark on the jazz scene in the 1930's. He has been playing with and/or directing leading jazz bands ever since.

Rich seldom, if ever, works with a vocalist—Torme is one of his few exceptions. These two good friends recorded a highly successful album, "Together Again for the First Time," which received a Grammy nomination earlier this year.

The pavilion is sold out for this performance. Lawn tickets are available at $5.

Meadow Brook's week of entertainment closes with a toe-tapping Pops Concert Sunday, July 8. Harmonica-playing conductor Richard Hayman will lead the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in a musical adventure entitled "Duelin' Harmonicas."

His "duelin'" partner will be harmonica virtuoso Larry Adler, who has dazzled and delighted audiences throughout the world during his 50-year career.

Hayman, a favorite with Detroit-area audiences, returns to Meadow Brook annually. Adler is making his first festival appearance.

Lawn tickets are on sale at $4 each; the pavilion is completely sold out.

All concerts are held in outdoor Baldwin Pavilion on the Oakland University campus, Rochester. Performances begin at 8:30 o'clock except on Sunday evening, when the Pops Concert starts at 7:30 o'clock.

The grounds are open two and a half hours prior to concerts for picnickers and Trumbull Terrace diners.

Three types of food service are available: complete table service offering full-course meals in the Cafe Promenade, (reservations required), informal dining in the Steak House Buffet and snack food at the concessions.

Tickets may be purchased at the festival box office or any Hudson's, Sears, Grinnell's or Discount Records ticket services. Additional information may be obtained by calling 377-2010.

The Brian D. Webbs

Saint Thomas More Church, Rialto, Calif., was the setting Saturday, April 7, for the wedding of PAMELA KAY SMITH WEBB, of Rialto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brent M. Smith, of Mount Vernon road and Sarasota, Fla., and Mr. Webb, son of the Orval Webbs, of Rialto.

Brian Dale Webbs Wed in California

Pamela Kay Smith Webb is Married to Brother of Her Late Husband; Her Children Are Flower Girl and Ring Bearer

Twelve years ago, in Grosse Pointe Congregational Church, Pamela Kay Smith and Robert Webb exchanged marriage vows—and early this spring, in Saint Thomas More Church, Rialto, Calif., Pamela Kay Smith Webb was married to her late husband's brother, Brian Dale Webb.

Flower girl and ring bearer for their mother and their uncle were Christine Ann Webb and Scott Alexander Webb. Christine carried a small basket filled with daisies, carnations and ivy. Scott carried the rings on a satin pillow.

The 2 o'clock rites Saturday, April 7, were followed by a reception at the Rialto home of the bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brent M. Smith, of Mount Vernon road and Sarasota, Fla.

The bride wore a long-sleeved gown of white organza with inserts of lace, threaded with ribbon at the waist. Organza tiers with lace inserts formed her floor length skirt.

She carried white roses, baby's-breath, stephanotis and trailing ivy and wore a veil borrowed from her sister-in-law and attendant, Barbara Connelley, short and bouffant, with lace inserts, held in place by a seed pearl coronet.

Mrs. Connelley, who resides in Redondo Beach, Calif., was in a floor length gown of pale green Qiana. She carried a nosegay of pink and white carnations and ivy.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Webb, of Rialto, asked Robert Healy, also of Rialto, to act as best man.

The mother of the bride, who came from Florida with Mr. Smith for the wedding, wore a 1930's-style dress of pale pink silk with a silver mesh vest. White carnations formed her corsage.

The bridegroom's mother chose rose flowered chiffon, also floor length, and a corsage of carnations. The newlyweds vacationed at Lake Tahoe and are at home in Rialto.

Out-of-town guests included the Gilbert Roswells, of Los Angeles, and the William Igleharts, of Tucson, Ariz.

Cancel Bucket Brigade Corps

Recently, a number of local garden clubs and individuals "adopted" islands in the median along Lakeshore road where the Grosse Pointe Garden Club Council has planted a number of new trees.

The idea was this: if no other means could be found for watering the trees, a Bucket Brigade would be organized.

Now the Bucket Brigade will not be necessary, thanks to Patrick Cosgrove, superintendent of the Department of Public Works in the Farms, who has procured the necessary equipment and will schedule the watering on a weekly basis.

The Garden Club Council has already earmarked proceeds from this June's Grosse Pointe Garden Tour for the purchase of more trees, to be set out next spring.

Travel Can Still Be A Bargain

The wanderlust in all of us is apparently so strong it cannot be dampened even by inflation, gasoline curtailments, rising prices or faltering dollars. Americans are determined to go somewhere, anywhere, this summer.

Air fare bargains and the good prices in Mexico and Canada, whose dollar has taken a worse beating than ours; alluring off-season rates in the Caribbean and on many cruises; the irresistible draw of new destinations such as China, no matter what the cost; and Egypt in the wake of the Tutankhamen exhibition and the peace treaty signing.

No matter where one decides to take a break, travel has become unbelievably complex and requires advance planning to take advantage of the potential savings. Unless you or a member of your family has the time—and a great deal of time at that—to plan your summer vacation, this is the year to ask TRAVELWORLD for help. Only a fulltime expert can keep up with the changes.

You can contact Travelworld at 21127 Mack Avenue (N. of Vernier) 882-8190.

Museum Gets A Face-Wash

For the first time since it opened to the public in 1927, the Detroit Institute of Arts is washing its face.

Work is now underway to return the white Vermont marble of the Neo-Renaissance main building to the pristine beauty of 52 years ago.

Using a water wash technique utilized in experiment last fall on the backside of the museum, the facade cleaning is expected to be finished before the end of July.

Re-caulking on the main building and the two newer Minnesota grey granite wings, (1966 and 1971), is being done by other contractors.

Total cost of the exterior refurbishing is estimated at $217,000. Funds for the contracts came from the National Endowment for the Arts and the City of Detroit.

The Detroit Institute of Arts, founded in 1885, comprises some $200,000,000 of art and facilities.

The museum is not closed during the clean-up operation. Visitors are welcome Tuesday through Sunday between 9:30 and 5:30 o'clock. There is no admission charge.

From Another Pointe of View

Among those on hand for the celebrations were son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Helmut Roth, who had honored the Christies earlier in the month at a garden buffet, and grandchildren Tom, Bob and Carolyn Marie Roth, the latter with the pearl necklace given to her grandmother by her grandfather on their wedding day clasped around her neck.

Mrs. Roth baked the triple-tiered Golden Wedding cake, topped with the wedding bell ornament from the cake of 50 years ago. S. J. Christie sang "At Dawning" — the same song he had sung at his brother's wedding in 1929.

The small baskets holding flowers on the family table had been carried by the Christies' flower girls 50 years ago... and later, by the flower girls in their daughter's wedding.

The ribbon of embossed net banded in satin that decorated the table was from Mrs. Christie's original wedding bouquet.

Among those who came to town especially for the party were Mrs. Christie's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bercin, of Merritt Island, Fla., the Wayne Blows, of Grand Haven and Palm Springs, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. George Schulz, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

A Very Special Meeting

Ten years ago, Janice Lee Wedge heard Robert Goulet sing. From then on he was her idol, and Janice, a victim of Cerebral Palsy, confined to bed at the Blairmoor court home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. George Wedge, followed Goulet via radio, television, records...

She wrote to him, and he wrote back, and the correspondence continued for a decade, and this year, in mid-June, when Goulet was appearing at the Star Theatre in Flint, Dr. and Mrs. Wedge took their 29-year-old daughter to see her favorite singer.

He was delighted to see his favorite fan. For both of them, it was a very special meeting.

Happy Birthday, Marie Louise!

Now that June is over, Marie Louise Anderson can settle back in her Neff road apartment and relax.

June, you see, is Marie Louise's Birthday Month, and she celebrates it all month long. The cards begin flowing in June 1. So do the gifts. Friends keep her busy with wining and dining and luncheons.

This year, Miss Anderson was especially pleased to receive a framed tribute, "You Are Needed," written by Elizabeth Searle Lamb and presented by the president and board of trustees of the Grosse Pointe Garden Center.

The cake, with its "Happy Birthday, Marie Louise," was baked by young members of the Grosse Pointe Rose Society.

And what does the Birthday Girl think of all this? "I don't think I deserve so much," she says. Obviously, other people think otherwise.

Pointer CARSON GRUNE-WALD recently was elected to the board of directors of the Methodist Children's Home Society.
