Serious Crimes Decrease in GPW Last Year

By Roger A. Waha

"Cautious encouragement" was expressed over the Woods Department of Public Safety's annual crime report for last year by Public Safety Director John Dankel. While the total number of reported offenses increased from 2,790 in 1978 to 2,942 last year, a 5.4 percent hike, he found a variety of positive factors in the document.

Workers and shoppers on the Hill knew Salem Square Foods was finally leaving the area when the workers, including co-owners FRED WOLSKI, (on the roof), and MEL FERDINANDE, (atop the ladder), began removing the big red letters along the front facade. The store will be closed for several months while Perry Drug remodels, with a tentative opening date in mid-April, a Perry spokesman said.

Citizens Protest Cafe Owner Threatens To Save Shops Law Suit

By Joanne N. Gouleche

After several pleas by Farms residents to keep Salem Square open, the popular grocery store finally closed its doors three weeks ago. But local residents are determined not to let the same thing happen to the Pointe Pedlar on Fisher road.

Last November, the gourmet kitchen shop was in-formed by Detroit Bank and Trust that its lease would "A lot of people are upset Trust that its lease would expire in November 1980. But angry citizens are responding, too, with the slogan "Save Our Shops."

Although the bank's plans are not firm yet, the questionable future of the Pedlar has led citizens to mount a protest march for Saturday, February 16, to gain support throughout The

The Woods Council voted Wednesday, January 23, to endorse the restaurant Da Edoardo over Le Cafe Français as most preferred applicant for the one additional tavern license approved by voters in November. An angry Le Cafe owner, Charles Moraco, called the vote "a travesty . . . an absolute travesty" and threatened to take legal action against council members. The council took the action after an emotion-laden special hearing at which both Le Cafe and Da Edoardo

A Matter of Time

He felt such provisions were unconstitutional, forcing the home owner to permit an inspector on his or her property. In his opinion, it could be a matter of time before such provisions ware challenged and struck down.

Mr. Catlin further pointed out that The Woods' proposal provides that the present occupant may sell a home without an inspection, while not having to make any necessary repairs. Instead, they may be passed on to a prospective purchaser, with the cost of such repairs, for instance, being reflected in the price of the home, The present occupant also might have the inspection and pass off any repairs to the purchaser.

But, "What if the owner perhaps sells his home to someone from out of town who knows nothing about the code?" asked Mr. Lovelace. Is a certificate of occupancy issued?

Brokers Notified

We anticipate those kinds of sales, said Mr. Catlin, wherein an innocent person may not be told about it and may not be able to comply. Feeling such cases will be small in number, he indicated no prosecution or complaint will be authorized.

"It's not 100 percent nor will it cover 100 percent of all sales," he continued, while noting the city gets around 90 percent compliance the purpose of the ordinance would be well served.

He pointed out that when the proposal is finally approved, brokers will be noti fied, along with mortgage lending institutions and the citizenry.

nance, although they will be asked to register with The Farms for identification purposes prior to July.

In adopting the ordinance, The Farms became one of four Pointes which has some type of business license or dinance. The Shores has no business community.

Farms officials characterized the adopted ordinance as an extension of the property maintenance code, which provides minimum standards for the residential community.

"It, (the ordinance), will give us an additional tool to stave off some problems which are being encountered by other communities," said Councilman Lloyd Semple "I don't think it's over-regulation. I don't think we'd take any action that would be derogatory to the business community."

"Certainly I'm a great advocate of not over-regulating," concurred Mayor James Dingeman. "But our commercial areas are aging. If we don't do something, the changing isn't going to be good for the community."

Shep Norton, stating he represented the Hill Association, said the association. while generally agreeing with the intent of the law, felt it might give the police chief too much authority over private enterprise.

He added that perhaps the entire subject could be covered simply by adding something to the home inspection ordinance.

Cafe Owner Vows to Fight Vote

Councilman Robert Novikke declining dinner business. and supported by Council-man Dan Grady, failed, 5-2.

Those voting against it included Mayor George S. Freeman and Councilmen John Sabol, Frederick Lovelace, Thomas Fahrner and William

With that motion failing, the council then voted to cite Edoardo as the most preferred applicant by 4-3.

Again, both Mr. Freeman and Mr. Sabol voted in opposition, with Mr. Grady joining them, Voting for it were Mr. Lovelace, Mr. Fahr-ner, Mr. Wilson and Mr. No-

In explaining why he voted "yes" on both motions, Mr. Novitke said he felt the citizens, by their vote on the referendary question, indicated to the council that a tavern license should be issued.

Mr. Novitke stated he had a slight preference for Le Cafe and pointed to the reiationship of the restaurant to the Kimberly Korner of shops,

The council's action signifies its approval for the most preferred applicant to the Liquor Control Commission, (LCC). City Attorney George Catlin said a certified copy of the council resolution will be sent to the LCC and the commission will hold a hearing at which time it will probably approve issuance of the license. This process could take about 45 days.

When the tavern license is issued, the city will have five Class C liquor licenses and one tavern license. It suance and five were against. could have up to a total of 15 licenses, either Class C or tavern, pending council ap-

It was a frustrating hearing in many ways for officials and the applicants and their supporters alike. While some citizens who spoke shared their preference for one restaurant over the other, others felt both should receive a tavern license, (a feeling shared by several council members).

When the roll call vote was completed and Da Edoardo was cited, the joy expressed by that restaurant's supporters was countered by the disbelief and gloom which emanated from Le Cafe's supporters.

The owners of both restaurants said they needed the license to give them the op- Committee, Mr. Grady felt, portunity to serve a glass of were the following: the liquor wine with their specially industry wants the issuance Calling the hearing "obviously a toss-up situation and tors. very tense," Edward Bar- He bieri of Da Edoardo was thrilled with the result. His son, Edward Jr., said "We're elated and very anxious to open again." They closed their restaurant on December 31 because they felt they could no longer stay in business without a tavern license. Both indicated they plan to reopen after the LCC hearing. On the other hand, there was the letdown and dismay for the owners of Le Cafe, particularly in light of the fact that they conducted the successful initiatory petition drive which led to this question being placed on the ballot.

"The voters gave us their approval, 2-1," said owner Charles Moraco. "They did it because they consider us to be an asset to the community. The council chose to ignore the residents' vote.' As a result, he said plans are being made to take the city council to court. "We've gotten hundreds and hundreds and hundreds of calls," continued Mr. Mo-raco. "People are so irate and some are even talking about recall." Slap in Face

At the first part of the hearing, which was attended by about 90 citizens, a show of hands was taken at the request of Mr. Freeman as to who was for or against the issuance of a license. Fifty-three supported the is-

The concern shared by some officials over the entire question was explored by Mr. Grady, who offered the first and original motion which was never voted upon - to enlist the aid of Gov. William Milliken to see if both restaurants might receive a special, non-transferable, non-upgradable tavern license as indicated in Senate Bill 370,

He cited the past efforts of himself and other officials in behalf of SB 370, which apparently will never see the light of day in the form local officials had hoped it would, because efforts are underway to remove the spe. cial license provisions.

"Just Doesn't Go" Two main influences on the LCC and the Liquor Control existing restaurant tavern owners are opposed to this because of competition fac-

He also cited a third influence, which is "practically non-existent and minimal, and that's all of us."

'Citing the council's "deep interest" in providing such a special license, with no cash value and as good neighbors, not only for The Woods but for other cities with a similar interest, Mr. Grady said, "It just doesn't go. We have no strength to change our own laws."

Mr. Grady said he had great difficulty choosing between the two restaurants which have both acted in a "neighborly and decent way." He ultimately made the motion to deny citing a most preferred applicant at this time and to enlist the aid of the Governor.

Feeling two tavern licenses should be issued despite the voters' approval of only one, he said, "We should take dif-ferent than normal steps to address the problem."

He wanted the Governor to act in an emergency or special way as follows: (1) To rescind the outstanding Class C liquor license, (due to the bankruptcy of Gabby's), and return it to the city and, (2), to secure two special tavern licenses which are non-transferable and nonupgradable for both applicants. As part of the motion. such action would possibly transpire within 60 days.

Raises Question

Mr. Catiin, in responding to Mr. Wilson's question regarding the higher value of a C license and possible legal ramifications, said the city would incur no liability with such an action, i.e., appealing to the Governor by council resolution.

But Mr. Novitke ques-tioned, if this occurred, would the bankruptcy court allow the revoking of the C license?

"The bankruptcy court would probably issue an injunction against the state to prevent such a procedure," replied Mr. Catlin.

Mr. Grady tried to modify his motion to some extent to provide more flexibility, while noting that the C license was granted under the ordinance thus using up the total number permitted. A reclassification, he felt, would restore the number and two special licenses could be issued

"The two applicants are clearly far more qualified than the holder of Gabby's license or even whoever may come in at this time," he stressed, while adding the council, if such an effort ever became a reality, would still have to vote on citing both applicants.

A hobby is something stead of going crazy over something else.

Dear Grosse Pointer:

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center, a gift to our community from the Russell A. Alger family, is one of the architectural gems of the entire midwest.

But its purpose is people.

The people who use it — senior people, family-raising people, single people, teen people, little people. About 252,000 came through the doors last year.

And the people of about 6,000 families helped to support it.

Once each year, we ask for your tax-deductible support, because it is our only source of continuing funds. We are asking again — for 1980. Our goal is $160,000...just 3 percent more than our 1979 goal.

Please study our picture book — you'll see a lot of your friends in it. And please fill out your membership card now.

Steiner said he has set up meetings between the road commission and officials from The Farms and Shores "time and again." Until The Farms can meet the commission's terms, he said, the situation will remain "stale-

Stalemated is the way the situation has been since early 1976, when the road commission, in preparation for the Lakeshore repaving, asked The Farms and Shores to pay one-third of the cost of the project. Since that time, increased federal aid brought the cities' requested share down to about eight percent.

Last summer The Shores finally agreed to the road commission's terms, which included a spreading of the city's costs over a four-year period, interest-free. That decision leaves The Farms as one of the only cities left in the county to not participate in the road commission's plan, and, consequently, not to have roads paved.

Work on The Shores portion of Lakeshore should be completed this summer, according to Steiner.

The cost-sharing policy was adopted by the road commission after it claimed to be getting insufficient tax dollars from the state to do the projects alone.

Farms Council members took the discussion of the situation up once again at their January 21 meeting, with most of them agreeing they wanted to stick by their present position.

Councilwoman Nancy Waugaman, however, appeared to be having some second thoughts about the situation, saying she was concerned with the "psychological effect" The Shores' ability to get the road done for $44,000 would have on the Farms'

"How long can you hold up cause?" she asked. But Dingeman feels it is a simple question that is involved in the battle, and the city's position should be maintained.

"All that The Farms government demands is that the county road commission acknowledge and assume responsibility for those things for which it has been and is receiving tax monies. This includes the resurfacing of Lakeshore road. If there is principle involved here, then I accept the responsibility of adhering to it.'

SECTION 2. State Licensed Businesses. The fact that a license or permit has been granted to any person, partnership or corporation by the State of Michigan to engage in the operation, conduct or carrying on of any trade, profession or business shall not exempt such person, partnership or corporation from the necessity of securing a license or permit from the city if such license or permit is required by this Ordinance.

SECTION 3. License Application. Every person, partnership, or corporation required to obtain a license from the City to engage in the operation, conduct or carrying on of any trade, profession or business shall make application for said license to the Director of Public Services upon forms provided by the Director of Public Services and shall state under oath or affirmation such facts, as may be required for, or applicable to, the granting of such license. The information to be supplied on such application shall include, but not be limited to, the name and address of the applicant, the status of the proposed business entity, the address of the business premises, the name and address of the owner of such premises, the type of business, the floor plan and size of the premises (including specifically the size of storage and other non-business use areas) and the number of parking spaces on the property.

SECTION 4. Conditions for Issuance. No license shall be granted to any applicant therefor until such applicant has complied with all the provisions of this Ordinance applicable to the trade, profession or business for which application for license is made.

SECTION 5. Fire Chief's Certificate. A certification from the City's Fire Chief shall be required prior to the issuance of any license by the Director of Public Services. Section 8. Term of License. Each license issued by the City shall remain in full force and effect for as long as the person, partnership or corporation to which it is issued shall continue to properly operate such business on the same premises. If the application for any license is denied, the applicant has a right to a hearing before the City Council, provided written request therefor is filed with the City Clerk within five (5) days after denial of the license. The City Manager or the City Clerk will set a date for a hearing before the City Council and notice by certified mail shall be given by the applicant no less than ten (10) days prior to hearing to all owners of real property located within 200 feet of the business premises for which the license is sought. and Park. According to Farms Det. Earl Field, none of the items taken have been showing up in pawn shops or arrested "fence" operations. However, for the past two months, newspapers have been running ads urging people to sell their valuables for cash. "We your police are requesting homeowners to secure their silver items and personal jewelry items in a safe place, to make sure their homes and offices are secure, with proper locking devices, overed door glass for businesses, and, if possible, security alarm systems," Det. Field said.

Pólice also urge jewelers to ask questions of suspicious customers who want to turn or alter the valuables.

Det. Field cited one example where a man entered an unidentified local jewelry store last week and asked the owner to remove the gems from five rings and film has an all-star, Academy then melt down the metals and return them to him.

The jeweler stalled the man, telling him he wouldn't be able to do the work right away, and the man took the items and left.

Det. Field thinks this is typical of the types of exchanges that are occurring today, "with very little effort being made by some jewelry businesses to determine proper ownership."

Police also urge residents to make use of the free "Operation Identification" tools at their local police departments.

They note that everyone in the area pays for the burglaries in the form of increased insurance rates. 'Only a concerted effort by everyone can help to stop these burglaries," Det. Field said. "Call your police if you witness a suspicious action. Get a license number or a physical description of the persons. Above all, get involved to help protect yourself and your neighbors.

Costs $18,000

By Susan McDonald

A proposal to close Charles street between Washington and Roosevelt place in The City will cost between $18,000 and $23,000, City Manager Thomas Kressbach said last week.

The funds are needed to construct a turn-around, drainage improvements and a curb-drive approach, according to Mr. Kressbach. The cost estimate was prepared by George Jerome and Company, consulting municipal and civil engineers.

Mr. Kressbach discussed the project with the council at its Monday, January 21, meeting.

Tory Creech and Mrs. Edwin Fisher, who live in Washington road on either side of Charles, proposed The City close the street and turn 30 feet of property over to each of them.

They claim the dirt road is an eyesore and a nuisance. Charles runs just south of

St. Paul, connecting Washington, Roosevelt place and Rivard. The proposal calls for closing it between Washington and Roosevelt only. Mr. Kressbach noted that closing Charles is recommended in The City's most recent comprehensive plan. But he said he does not think the project can be funded by the city budget, The council directed Mr.

Kressbach to talk with property owners to see what portion of the project costs they are willing to assume.

Police said the victim com-plied, handing over his wallet containing about $150. The holdup man then ordered him out of the car, got in and drove it off. His companions followed him in the holdup car.

The victim told police that while the robbery was in progress, he managed to slip a gold ring with a one carat diamond off his finger and hide it underneath the car seat unnoticed. The ring was later recovered with the car when Detroit police received a call to an address on Bewick street on a report of a man stripping a car there. The Detroit officers arrested a suspect there after they said they observed him remove a tire and battery from the car. Farms police believe that suspect was not involved in the robbery, but was merely taking advantage of the opportunity after the car was dumped there,

The suspects were described as black, 25- to 26years-old, wearing medium dark clothing and driving a brown or black 1963 or 1964 Buick four door.

The man who demanded the wallet and drove off with the car was described as about 6'0", clean shaven and wearing dark clothes and a hat or cap.

Police believe the weapon used was either a sawed-off shotgun or a flare gun.

Farms police received information several hours later that night on the holdup of a Top Hat restaurant at Gratiot and McClellan in Detroit. That incident involved four black men in their 20s armed with a sawed-off shot-gun. A 1973 black Buick was believed to be the car used in that holdup, according to the report.

Youngsters See Seniors As Active, Alert People

Last Sunday, children in Meloche, Mel Stevens, Ellen the Learning Center of the Grosse Pointe Woods Pres-Premosic. byterian Church watched Bernie Kirk carve wooden duck decoys and Muriel Rowe demonstrate quilting.

They were sharing their Sunday morning with 19 senior citizens from the church and community who demonstrated their crafts, hobbies and interests to the 45 youngsters who participated in the program sponsored by the Task Force on Aging.

"It is important for children to see older people as active and knowledgeable. Children need to see that all older people are not wasting away in nursing homes," said Diane Heavner, Committee Co-Chairman.

The youngsters enjoyed Leola Myers display her knitting and Helen Salber share her love of bird watching. Iva Hooper led the children in exercise and talked to them about the importance of physical fitness. A weaving loom fascinated the children as they took turns weaving a place mat under the direction of Dorothy Larner. Alberta Craik and Lydia Swanson demonstrated sewing, needlepoint and tating.

Ruth Russell asked the children if they had ever tied their shoes in a knot. "By making lots of knots you can create wall hangings and purses," said Mrs. Russell, as she showed them her macrame projects.

Joyce Albers displayed her Alaskan souvenirs collected while she and her family lived in Alaska. Each child tried to "work" an Alaskan yo-yo and heard about life in Alaska.

The Learning Center children later joined in a square dance demonstration arranged by Marian and Robert Goodhand, Hilda Marshall, Florence Yagley, Jack

AGE EDGE GROWS The growing tendency of women to live longer than men is a reversal of the trend at the beginning of this century, when a greater number of female babies died in childbirth. But by the year 2000, believes Dr. Ewald Busses of Duke University Medical Center, Durham, N.C., there may be two women over the age of 75 for every one man that age in the U.S.

After the Learning Center hour, parents and other congregational members viewed the program. "I don't know who enjoyed the program the most," re-marked JoAnne Dankle, cochairman of the Task Force on Aging, "the seniors, the children, or the congregation. It was a wonderful example of generation interaction, "Young people who have had little contact with older people often stereotype them as helpless, inactive, fragile and often scary. These are negative fixed impressions based on few facts," said Mrs. Heavner.

"As children have more contact with elderly people they have a more positive evaluation of them."

The program also was coordinated by Mrs. Patricia Bakeman, director of Children's Worship. Other committee members included Rudy and Martha Boyce, Cecil Halbert, Sally Honkanen, Harriet Kamm, Harold and Dorothy Lyndrup, Lydia Swanson and Dwayne Weed.

Youth Nabbed After Chase

A 17-year-old Farms youth was charged with reckless driving after he attempted to outrun Farms Police Lt. Ignatius Backman and was stopped after a high speed chase with the help of City and Park officers.

Lt. Backman said he saw a car traveling at a high speed on Grosse Pointe boulevard on Tuesday, January 15, about 1 p.m. He followed the car, driven by Andrew G. McKendrick of Merriweather road, and pulled alongside it when it turned into a driveway at 305 Grosse Pointe boulevard.

When the lieutenant flashed his badge at McKendrick, the youth allegedly backed out and took off at a high speed to Moross road, where he ran the stop sign, proceeded to Lakeshore, ran the red light there, and went west on Lakeshore, police

Lt. Backman said he reached speeds in excess of 70 mph in his pursuit, with both cars weaving around traffic on the road. McKendrick was then pulled over at Lakeland and Jefferson with assistance from both Park and City patrol cars.

South's John DeBoer, John Cammett and Dean Graham all came up with outstanding plays in the double overtime victory over East Detroit. DeBoer led all scorers with 25 points, Cammett led South's third quarter comeback, and Graham scored the winning basket.

L'Anse Creuse North played South tough for three quarters, but several fourth quarter tournovers and fouls turned the game in South's favor. In the fourth quarter, the Crusaders turned the ball over 14 times and South converted 18 of 22 free-throws.

East Detroit dominated the first half as it led by seven at the half and then built up an 11-point lead early in the third quarter.

Turnover after turnover by the Crusaders and South's success in converting the turnovers into points proved to be the difference.

Two quick turnovers gave South a 49-43 lead with 7:02 left in the game, which they never lost.

Four consecutive steals by the Blue Devils gave them a 57-48 lead. Piche started it off at the 4:39 mark. He converted on a three-point play. Moments later Graham stole the ball and made one of two free-throws, giving South a 55-47 lead.

DeBoer then picked off a Crusader pass, but a foul by Graham denied the layup and the Crusaders were awarded two free-throws. They converted only one. Piche then stole another pass and made two more free-throws.

Bartholemew "Sparky" Herbert was born sometime in the mid-1890's in a steamer trunk between performances of the Vienna National Circus. Son of Boswick "Spike" Herbert, American statesman and inventor, and the former Clara Pennington, internationally renowned aerialist, he is remembered by friends and relatives as an inquisitive and adventuresome youth. Sparky spent his formative years studying music, the arts, history, alchemy and hang-gliding. After graduating from Mrs. Grace L. Ferguson's School for the Terminally Intelligent, the wonder-lust finally lured Sparky to the far corners of the Earth.

In the following years, Sparky's exploits included quelling rebellions, dining with heads of state, conducting major symphonies, managing a world-champion ball team, sailing around the world single-handedly, perfecting a cure for bubonic plague, establishing charitable organizations and sampling great wines. As the years went on, Sparky's penchant for philanthropy, drinking wine and traveling by train (preferably in boxcars) led to his being labeled an eccentric and a recluse. Ducking notoriety, Sparky has since faded in and out of sight at his whim. A legendary figure, Sparky will never be forgotten for his many humanitarian deeds. He may pop up again at any time. Since we last saw him, he was spotted on the Island of Corsica instructing the basics of hang-gliding to French toreign Legionnaires.

Here's to you, Sparky!

Unfortunately, it doesn't always follow that lower student enrollments mean lower costs. Statistics from a survey done by the National Committee for Citizens in Education show that public school enrollment was down two percent nationally in 1978 but costs were up 13

Those figures follow a 10year trend during which time the cost of public education increased 187 percent, more than twice the rise of other consumer goods and services.

Some say that cost figures show there is a lot of waste in school budgets because costs should fall proportionately to enrollment declines, and in no event should school costs increase faster than the yearly inflation rate. Those who present this argument usually refer to

Letters to The Editor

The Pink & Green

I am writing in response to the lengthy letter in your January 24th issue from W. C. Bruce, now a resident of Holly, Michigan, regarding his amazement and chagrin over the fact that his car was towed away after leaving it illegally parked for a week on a Grosse Pointe City street.

It seems appropriate to make the following observation - Mr. Bruce himself may have been colored by the "good ol" pink and green" if, as a third generation Grosse Pointer, he feels he should be immune to such city ordinances made for the protection and safety of its residents when they do not suit his convenience.

One wonders how many cars he would like illegally parked for a week in front of his house. Do unto others . . .

Support Cafe
I attended the Woods Council's meeting January 23, at which the question of granting a tavern license was decided. Proponents numbered 53, opponents five, and nearly all the proponents who rose to speak indicated a desire for both restaurants, Da Edoardo's and Le Cafe Français, to be granted the right to serve wine with their fine food.

Since only one license could be granted, I urge Grosse Pointers to support both restaurants strongly, now, to keep Le Cafe Francais in business until it can get the license request which the Board of fads and innovations rather it needs. When the Republicans come Education is seeking on than for basics. in July, these two quality restaurants can add to the conventioneers' enjoyment and approval of Detroit.

District Courts

I note in the January 17 issue of the "Grosse Pointe News" that the Woods Council is considering having a district court covering only Grosse Pointe Woods and possibly Grosse Pointe Shores.

Since this Council has always been on record as being careful and prudent in spending of tax dollars I feel that the question of Grosse similar costs still go up. Pointe Woods having its own court Schools, like households, lose should be very seriously studied should be very seriously studied.

Grosse Pointe Woods now has a part time judge who covers all judicial duties in about 10 hours per week. If Grosse Pointe Woods adopts a district court having the same jurisdiction as we have now that would mean that we would be paying a judge $40,000 a year plus benefits for a job which only requires 10 hours work per week, in addition to the extra cost for a larger supporting

In a recent issue of the "Grosse Pointe News' t was reported that titles them to top pay, thus our neighbors, Harper Woods, found increasing that part of the that their court expenses jumped from $67,584 in 1978 to $136,596 in 1979 when they went to a district

Harper Woods now has a judge who is making every attempt to stretch an 18 hour per week job into a full time 40 hour a week job to justify his $42,000 per year salary.

I believe that Grosse Pointe Woods should not be trapped into the same situation, and if this Council believes that a district court is inevitable, it should seriously consider consolidating the district court with the other neighboring communities to share expenses and provide enough work for a judge and his staff so they will not have to resort to make work tactics to justify their jobs.

As a 30 year resident of The Woods and a senior citizen who finds great difficulty and sacrifices in paying my property taxes I trust that this Council will not let local pride of having a court with its name only overcome the great increase in taxpayer expenses to justify that the court would asked for by The Farms be named only after our city.

More Courts

Sen. John Kelly has, for some unknown reason, decided that Grosse Pointe should have a District Court system and that he should be the one to introduce the bill. There are much more important issues to which he could devote his energies: workmen's compensation reform, welfare fraud, excess government regulation, etc. The same holds true for me. I have taken the time, though, to investigate his allegations and wish to share the results with those concerned.

In December I talked with the Michigan Supreme Court Administration's Office in Lansing: Carolyn Stell, (517-373-0130) and in Detroit:

Herb Levit (256-2824).

Basically they said: The Supreme Court is supportive of the change to district courts but it can't be done without a bill in the legislature. The Supreme Court makes its recommendations. Even then, it is of the first year's savings. purely a recommendation. The Supreme Court will work with the dif-ferent municipalities with whatever court system they desire.

These are the facts and the situation. Please phone these people if you have any questions.

Sen. Kelly is trying to steam roll this bill. Please review this and express your position to those legislators involved.

Sen. Gilbert DiNello represents the major portion of Grosse Pointe Woods and is more receptive to citizen desires. Please send him a copy of your position so he can present the other side when the bill comes up for Senate consideration.

Farms Approves Cable TV Law

Nearly three months after the other four cities granted Grosse Pointe Cable Inc. an operating agreement. The Farms last week finally approved its version of a cable television ordinance.

The approval was part two of a two-step process for The Farms, which approved the granting of the franchise to Grosse Pointe Cable back in October, but left the ordinance to be dissected and redrafted by its attorneys.

While none of the four Pointes and Harper Woods approved the original draft of the ordinance presented by the War Memorial attorneys, they did make the modifications more rapidly, most during the same meeting they approved the fran-

According to John Rickel, War Memorial Association president, none of the changes would present a problem. They include a cap on rate increases tied to the consumer price index, and a restructuring of the method in which fees would come to the city, anticipating the expected relaxation of FCC regulation of the cable industry.

The ordinance was approved Monday, January 21.

The castle has been on permanent display in the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago, Illinois since 1971.

The castle which originated in Los Angeles, California, was seven years in the building — from 1928 to 1935. Moore writes in her book that more than 100 people worked on it during that time. Many of the workers were miniature experts from the motion picture studio of First National in Hollywood.

Built on a scale of one inch to the foot, the whole structure is nine feet square, with the tallest tower standing seven feet from the base. It weighs approximately one ton, although it is made of aluminum. Each room of the 12 room

The talent line-up's finalized, and it looks as if next year's Grosse Pointe Celebrity Series, the 27th annual one presented by Bon Secours Hospital Assistance League, will be just as outstanding as the previous 26.

For openers, there's David Frost, sharing "Interviews I Shall Never Forget." Since Frost's subjects range from the late Robert F. Kennedy to General Idi Amin, from Orson Welles to Richard Nixon, this promises to be something special.

A morning of magic with music follows as Alan J. Lerner brings back memories of "My Fair Lady," "Gigi," "Camelot" . . . the great songs and plays of all our lives.

Next in the spotlight is Terry Hekker, champion of the Profession of Housewifery and author of "Ever Since Adam and Eve," presenting her common sense view of feminism, the sexual revolution and woman's changing roles.

Richard Valeriani, who has reported stories in more than 80 foreign countries as well as covering presidential campaigns, will tell of his role as

NBC diplomatic news correspondent. The 1980-81 season closes with a dramatic presentation by Celeste Holm, Oscar winning star of Broadway, Hollywood and television whose credits range from "Oklahoma" to "All About Eve."

Many shades of gold appear in Oriental paintings, Sugiura explains, and the paint used to touch up a damaged area first must be fibers in an embroidered blended to a perfect match.

With an ultra-fine-hair drawing brush, or kinaki, Sugiura is practicing one technique of hosai, or "touchon the painting's raw sienna background.

He applies one coat of watercolor, (it appears almost transparent), then blots it with the heel of his hand and lets it dry. He repeats this process over and over until he builds up enough layers of color to blend the tiny, chipped area perfectly with its surroundings.

Then he moves on to another damaged spot and repeats the process.

The fine repair and mount-

In Japan, works of great historical and artistic significance are designated as National Treasures, and only a hyogushi, using these traditional methods, would be en-trusted with their restoration and care.

The two work silently, independently. Nishiumi breaks off a lacy piece of dried-seaweed paste and dissolves it in steaming hot water. The screen he is repairing has wide splits in the silk, and Nishiumi, after carefully painting the fabric surface with the clear paste solution, meticulously straightens each fiber with tweezers.

He is now ready to replace the screen in its wooden frame, where the work will be completed. After spreading a cloth over the low table he lays the frame on top, then rubs its inner surface with a beeswax disk and begins to slide the panel into backing.

When he arrived in the United States last summer, Masanori Nakai, of Kyoto, Japan, admits he could barely speak English. He claims to still have a problem with the language, yet to anyone who hears him, he seems to have mastered it. A classmate says that Masanori is the hit of the class when he tells stories and jokes, which he loves to do.

The 18-year-old son of Ryochi Nakai, who makes sliding doors, and his wife Tamako, a housewife, Masanori is staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sears, of Yorktown road. He seems impressed by the size of Detroit and the great dif-ferences between his home city and his adopted one.

"Kyoto is not as big as Detroit, and it is a cultural city, not an industrial city like Detroit," he says

Quite an understatement. Masanori's city, Kyoto, is the cultural capital of Japan. While Masanori appreciates the stage of development Detroit is experiencing, and the "bigness," as he puts it, of everything in the United States, he admits there is a difference. "At home, there are many trees and greens. It is very beautiful," he says. Language Studies

It is easy to see how Masanori learned English as well and as quickly as he has. He says that he is interested in language and hopes to study foreign languages in college. At North High, he is studying Math, Spanish, Typing, United States History and Writing Workshop.

In attendance at the recent preview of the Detroit school, smaller than North, he says. "We have three terms: April to July, September to December and January to March. Also, we must member of the Detroit His- go to school on Saturdays,' he savs.

We KNOW you know that Sunday's the day for the Grosse Pointe Ministerial Association-sponsored Family Fair at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, and we KNOW you know that it will run from 2 until 7 o'clock, and we KNOW you know that donation is $2 per family, $1 for singles and senior couples.

But do you know the meaning of the Celebrating Families logo, the quartered wheel with its four figures?

In case you don't . . . know now that the circle represents a oneness, a universality, and the figures, a symbol of the family unit, each touching one another, are within the circle to show the family working as one. It's a lovely logo, isn't it?

A Double Benefit

The gala preview opening of the new Saks Fifth Avenue Fairlane Store Friday, February 22, will be a combined benefit for the Detroit Institute of Arts and the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

It's the first time in the history of the two organizations that they have been involved in a mutual fund raising event, and each is providing special attractions to make the evening truly spectacular.

Honorary chairman is Henry Ford, II. Co-chairpersons are Mrs. R. Alexander Wrigley and Mrs. Alan E. Schwartz. Honorary co-chairperson is Mrs. Philip Caldwell.

Working with them are Mrs. William Bourke, Mrs. Irving Burton, Mrs. Alfred Glancy, III Mrs. Thomas Schoenith, Mrs. David Stulberg and Mrs. Eric Wiltshire—a blue ribbon committee if ever there was one, virtually guaranteering a fabulous; fabulously successful event.
