ULS Students Tour Bendix

To observe the practical applications of their classroom studies, 30 University Liggett School students in Physics and Industrial Arts classes visited the Machine Tool Division of the Bendix Corporation on March 7. Industrial Arts teacher Michael Sands and Physics instructor Daryl Watson organized the trip.

Bendix representatives guided students through the Engineering and Design Division, where they observed computerized drafting techniques in operation, and through the manufacturing plant, to view the assemblage of the parts and machines.

ULS students also spoke with managers, administrators and skilled tradesmen to learn how physical science and industrial arts are used on the job.

PONGRACZ JEWELERS MARCH 1930 - MARCH 1980 50 YEARS IN GROSSE POINTE CITY... and ON-THE-HILL IN THE FARMS!

The Founder Edward J. Pongracz and his wife and partner since 1935 are now enjoying their retirement knowing that Pongracz Jewelers with the present owner, their son Ted and his capable staff, are continuing to give the service and quality that has been standard in the 50 years of growth.

South High School Instrumental Music students won top ratings in the District Solo and Ensemble Festival held at Macomb Community College on Saturday, February 9

Sending more events to this festival competition than any other high school in District 16, South's students received 34 First Divisions, 15 Second Divisions, and two Third Divisions. Those stu-dents receiving First Divisions are now eligible to at-tend the State Competition on March 22, to be held at Harrison High School in Farmington.

"I am very proud of these students for the many hours of practice they put in for this music festival," said Ralph Miller, Instrumental Music Director.

GPW Accepts Park Bid

Despite the fact boaters may be unable to use many of the wells located beyond the bridge in Lakefront Park, the Woods Council last week voted unanimously to run water lines to many of them, at a cost of over $13,000.

Council members apparently thought the wells would be used eventually, if not this year, and the improvements were thus desirable.

At a meeting late last month, the council voted not to remove the center span of the bridge crossing the Milk River in the park, in spite of the fact the use of many wells upriver of the bridge will be jeopardized because of low clearance.

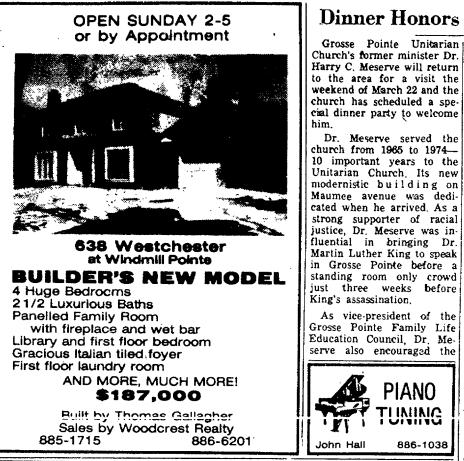

A bit of History – 1930 was a humble beginning with a bench and tools in the corner of my father's Decorating Shop. He had been decorator to many of the old Indian Village and Grosse Pointe Farm families since 1910. That address was 16914 Kercheval next to the then C. F. Smith Grocery Store. Then to 17008 Kercheval when Kroger's moved to a larger store. Our Neighbors were Pete Proper on one side and Hamilton Treasure Chests on the other. All now Jacobson's. 1948 saw our move to the Hill and a 20x80 Jewelry Store and finally securing all of the fine sterling, gold and watch merchandise needed to become a prestigious Jewelry Store. In 1954 Grosse Pointe Bank, now N.B.D., took 25 ft. of the remaining lot and built their own bank and I built offices over the bank and jewelry store. We expanded to the end of the lot line and built a workshop on the second floor rear. I retired at 63 and in 1975 sold the business to my son Ted.

All of this happened with the help of some beautiful workers who worked as if Pongracz Jewelers was their baby. Let me just mention a few of them, Albert and Agnes Meyer, Beatrice Beliger, Isabel Hawley, Josaphine Sheppard, Betty Sexton, Martha Davis and our accountant Bill Schroeder and the constant financial help of the old Grosse Pointe Bank, now National Bank of Detroit, which continues to serve us!

AND ALL OF THIS ONLY POSSIBLE BY THE WONDERFUL CUSTOMERS WHO HAVE KEPT THE CASH REGISTER RINGING THESE MANY YEARS.

Test Scores Debunked

First let me state that I don't feel hat the Michigan Educational Assessment Test is a good indicator to use .n judging the performance of a school district. The test itself is too basic and it doesn't take into account he abilities of the children the sysem is given to work with,

Last year, though, both your paper and Superintendent William Coats used the results of these tests to say our schools were number one. In many cases scores are only tenths of a percentage point apart and I question the statistical significance of seing number one in these cases.

In the February 15, 1979 edition of your paper you reported that Grosse Pointe Public Schools were number one on the Michigan Educaing, bicycle trips and a tional Assessment Test. You not only strong waterfront program reported it but gave the story front page coverage.

To determine they were number one you used a composite score of ourth and seventh grade math and English tests as reported to the school loard by Roger McCaig. This year using results reported in the Detroit News, Grosse Pointe's composite and individual scores run from second to seventh and I have not seen anything about the test results in the Grosse Pointe News.

I call this biased reporting both in presentation and selection of what is to be reported. I wonder if reporting only selected school news is initiated by your staff or the staff of our schools?

> Janet Petrilli. Of Windmill Pointe Drive,

Grosse Pointe Park Editor's note: McCaig has not yet compfled his annual report on Grosse Pointe students' relative standing in the Assessment Test. He expects to do so within the next few weeks. The delay in reporting is attributed to a number of teacher strikes. McCaig hold for Cottage Hospital, M. L. Grace, Of Somerset road, Grosse Pointe Park.

Doctor's View Of Debedding

I feel that someone should respond to the issues raised in a recent Letter to the Editor on the question of reduction of excess hospital beds.

The basic issue is not whether there is an excess of hospital beds, (this has never been shown), but rather the need for the reorganization of hospital functions and prevention of duplication of services.

The debedding law is based on an arbitrary numeral formula which affects all hospitals without any regional planning, and especially attacks community hospitals, (and decimates the inner city hospitals), by applying standards that only university hospitals can meet. There is currently a petition drive underway to have this law repealed and hopefully replaced with a more rational approach to health planning.

The same letter also repeats the call for second surgical opinions - I think that those who truly doubt their physician or surgeon need not another opinion, but another surgeon. It is of interest that in the current Second Surgical Opinion Program being sponsored by the UAW that of 480,000 persons actually undergoing surgery only one percent took advantage of the preferred second opinion. This suggests that the public does have confidence in their physicians and surgeons. C. Jackson France, MD,

President, Wayne County Medical Society

More on Lakeshore

We have read with interest the exchange of letters in the NEWS on Lakeshore and the Wayne County Road Commission. We support Councilman Joseph Fromm's position on not using Farms' taxes for Lakeshore when WCRC has received monies for this purpose already.

We were distressed to see Thomas O'Rourke Managing Director of WCRC call Mr. Fromm irresponsible. Mr. Fromm raised some interesting points in his letter in the February 28 issue of the NEWS. Why does WCRC have over $9 million in interest-free receivables from other WCRC funds? Why did over $2 million go back to 1973? How much income has the Road Fund lost because of these interest-free receivables?

Rather than attacking Mr. Fromm, why doesn't Mr. O'Rourke or Commissioner Erv Steiner answer these questions?

A Slap in the Face?

Having returned from a trip and catching up on some back issues of your paper, I was appalled to learn that Cottage Hospital has seen fit to choose a Birmingham based theater group to perform for a fund raiser for Cottage Hospital.

This is a slap in the face to the many fine theatrical companies right in our confinunity - Grosse Pointe Theater, Pointe Players, St. Ambrose Players or the Alger. Cottage always calls upon the Grosse Pointe community when it needs moral and/or financial support and then looks outside the community to hire a play group.

There will be no further support, of any kind, coming from our house-

Let's not fault Farms Councilman Joseph Fromm for bearing the standard for his community; more power to him.

Since everything is done on a sound business basis in the Wayne County Road Commission, as cited by Thomas P. O'Rourke in his above referenced letter, let us follow the guidelines of responsibility and get on with the business of paving Lakeshore Road.

Know Your Schools By Dr. William Coats. Superintendent of Schools

Readers of this column may be interested in some of the questions about the election and our responses to these auestions.

A question frequently asked is, "Why does the bal-lot wording use the word "increase' when each proposition is labeled a renewal?" The word "increase" is contained in the ballot language because of legal requirements.

Use of that word does not them?' grant the Board of Education the authority to increase the millage, but refers to that portion of the total millage amount over the amount allocated to the schools by the County. This year alone, the State of Michigan will provide over $340 million in property tax relief to over 1.2 million Michigan homeowners and renters, with senior citizens, disabled persons, and some veterans being the largest benefactors of tax relief programs.

In addition, depending upon individual circumstances, many residents can also qualify for federal tax credits.

Now he's coming to Detroit, to give "Readings from Shakespeare's Hamlet" Sunday evening, March 30, at 7:30 o'clock at the Bushnell Congregational Church in Southfield road ,and to conduct a closed Actors Workshop for Wayne State University Theatre Department students.

Tickets for the Readings, fourth and final presentation in the 1979-80 Bushnell Performing Arts Series, at $6 each are available by calling BR 2-3550. Students with current ID may purchase tickets at the door for $4,

"Michael's readings promise to be of a highly experimental nature," says Ray Ferguson, Bush-nell Series impressario. "If he is pleased with his interpretive renderings, he may take them to New York and incorporate them into his productions there."

In New York, Moriarty is actor-manager of Potter's Field, a non-profit theatre company he founded to produce Shakespeare's plays and nurture actors in a unified approach to the Bard's work.

During the past three years, with support from the Southern Arts Federation, Barter has toured much of the southwestern United States. This year it is visiting six states and 18 cities, the smallest of which, Louisa, Va., has a population of 635,

The largest is Richmond, where the 15-member company will play a three-performance "split week" before piling into two VW busses and heading off for the next stop, Sets and costumes-"Misalliance" is a sumptuous production with an elegant turn-of-the-century setting and cosumes-follow in a large truck,

So what's Tost's part in all this? He appears as the father of the fiance of the daughter of wealthy underwear manufacturer John Tarleton, who lives with his wife and children, (there's a son as well as a daughter), on a country estate in 1910 England, into which is introduced a Polish acrobat who, in a small plane, quite literally "crashes" the party ... Think of an idyllic day in spring or summer. Think of a spot on the grass in the cool shade of a tree. In front runs a clean river, and as far as the eye can see. there are green fields and trees. Beside you is someone you love, and next to you is a blanket with the remains of a loaf of bread, some cheese and a couple of bottles of wine. This vision is not just a romantic fancy. ### Dear Grosse Pointer:

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center, a gift to our community from the Russell A. Alger family, is one of the architectural gems of the entire midwest.

But its purpose is people.

The people who use it -- senior people, family-raising people, single people, teen people, little people. About 252,000 came through the doors last year.

And the people of about 6,000 families helped to support it.

Once each year, we ask for your taxdeductible support, because it is our only source of continuing funds. We are asking again - for 1980. Our goal is $160,000...just 3 percent more than our 1979 goal.

Please study our picture book --- you'll see a lot of your friends in it. And please fill out your membership card now.

Thank you. V (under 2 1980 Chairman, Family Participation Campaign

Northeast Guidance Center In Forefront With Stress Management

This supplement is offered to help you, the Reader, understand your life and those around you. We are spotlighting STRESS, which happens to us all. In these pages we attempt to help you to identify it, sort it out, read how others handle it. Find out what to do about stress and where you can go for help when it becomes unmanageable.

Northeast Guidance Center is a comprehensive mental health center. That means they provide counseling and services to all ages: infant, child, adolescent, adult, seniors, in all situations! The NEGC serves northeast Detroit, the Grosse Pointes, and Harper Woods. It is a private non-profit agency owned and operated by a Board of Directors culled from the community it serves.

The Northeast Guidance Staff of well-trained professionals includes specialists in psychiatry, psychology, social work, guidance and counseling, occupational therapy, nursing and related disciplines.

Community Mental Health Centers were established in 1963, on the premise that those needing help will recover more rapidly remaining in familiar surroundings.

All services are provided on an ability to pay basis. No one is denied services because of an inability to pay. Major insurance policies include coverage usually. All services of Northeast Guidance Center are as far away as your telephone. Call 824-8000. Crisis Service is available 24 hours a day.

Stress can be positive . . . it is a fact of life . . . don't worry over it! When we can't handle it, when we lose perspective, we should ask for help. That's when we call Northeast Guidance Center at 824-8000.  $-FFK_{2}Ed$ -F.F.K.-Ed.

Over half the mortality rate in the United States in 1976 was the result of 'unhealthy, behavior' according to a study by the Center of Disease Control! We have licked the diseases that cause epidemics, but how disheartening to know that leading causes of death are brought on by social pressures. Awareness of these pressures is the first step in turning around the appalling statistics.

The word STRESS has become commonplace. It can work for us or against us. It can be stimulating as in realizing ordinary danger; some work pressures can be activating. But when stress stops stimulating and saps our strength so that we can't do other things, it becomes a problem.

Mr. George Handley, Director Community Support, and Mary Meyer, Director Outpatient, at Northeast Guidance Center, offer some insight on the subject.

An interesting concept of stress implies: 1) It doesn't say you are deficient ... that you're disturbed ... but that you are normal! We all are going to experience various degrees of stress, some more than others. 2) It implies that there are things we can do to reduce the effects, if we face stress positively.

In architecture, stress points have to be supported, and so it is with people. Too much pressure without proper supports can cause physical and psychological responses. Under stress, one may feel a rise in blood pressure, tightening of muscles, cold hands or feet, upset stomach, blurred vision, and various aches and pains. Over a prolonged period, one can develop peptic ulcers, migraine headaches, asthma, insomnia, loss of appetite, or overeating.

continuing evolution of a new breed of cars.

For more than half a decade now. General Motors has been embarked on a program to redesign and re-engineer its cars to meet the challenge of a changing world.

We've done this for two reasons. First, to help conserve the world's dwindling supply of natural resources-the petroleum products, iron, copper and other commodities that make up our products. Second, to respond to the changing needs and wants of our customers.

In the process we have introduced a whole new breed of GM carssubcompacts, compacts, personal luxury, mid-size and fullsize models. In fact, for 1980 we re-redesigned our full-size cars to make them even more weight-, room- and materialsefficient than they were. And the new front-wheel-drive compacts we brought to market for 1980 have captured the interest of American car-buyers like perhaps no cars in our history.

These changes have not come cheap. They've cost billions, and we'll be spending billions more in years to come to provide the kind of cars America expects from GM.

If you're in the market for a new car, may we suggest that you see some that are in tune with the times.

It may be the most sophisticated production car on earth.

From lessons learned in outer space comes the 1980 Eldorado by Cadillac ...very possibly the most advanced, most sophisticated production car on earth. In fact, a considerable number of Eldorado innovations can be traced directly to GM's extensive developmental work in guidance control.

Even adjusts to changes in altitude.

Perhaps most dramatic is Eldorado's standard new Digital Electronic-Fuel-Injected Engine. As you travel coast-to-coast, it automatically adjusts to changes in altitude ... to barometric pressure ... to temperature ... even to eventual wearing of parts. There was a time when such things as high-altitude packages were required for Eldorado. Not with this car. For California, 5.7 liter EFI engine is standard. Eldorados are equipped with GM-built engines produced by various divisions. See your Cadillac dealer for details.

To help take guesswork out of servicing

...Almost as remarkable is Eldorado's on-board computer diagnostics to help take the guesswork out of servicing. This system, again a Cadillac exclusive, enables a Cadillac service technician to find a number of possible problem areas quickly... with a push of buttons in the car and a code book. And then to verify and correct. It's standard with Digital EFI.

Going from 69°F to 70°F. Another spaceage feature is Electronic Climate Control with digital accuracy. Change temperature settings as precise as one degree with a touch of a button.

To be a more efficient driver. And to help make you a more efficient driver there's Cadillac's MPG Sentinel—standard with Digital EFI. It displays your instantaneous miles per gallon and your average mpg for a trip.

On at dusk...off at dawn. Add to that an unprecedented combination of driving features. Including front-wheel drive for traction and roominess—plus almost every advanced electronic convenience known. All standard. Including Twilight Sentinel that turns your headlights and taillights on at dusk and off at dawn...automatically.

To take command of your own Eldorado, visit your Cadillac dealer. Tomorrow wouldn't be too soon...to buy or lease one of the best-engineered cars in the world.

By Jamie Coy Wallace Stress is an important factor in twentieth century life and modern man is compelled to deal with it. We all try to escape from the pressurecooker atmosphere that is sometimes overwhelming. Harried assembly-line workers take a coffee break to alter the pace; a tired mother enforces naptime to give herself respite from a cranky toddler; a newspaper editor working under a deadline jogs for fifteen minutes after work.

David Gillespie Clinical Psychologist at the Northeast Guidance Center counsels those who feel they can no longer cope with stress by themselves. "Very often" says Gillespie "the people I see don't really know what's causing them to feel so 'up-tight' - they just know they're miserable so we go from there."

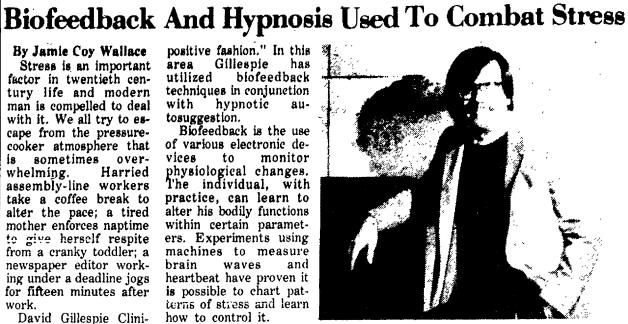

What does he do when someone comes in exhibiting this vague anxiety? "First I try to identify outside factors that might be causing this pain. A man who's been laid off his job for example, and has a family to support is naturally going to feel frantic. He might not know about social service agencies available to help him over the hump. Sometimes alleviating obvious causes is enough, but often that is just the beginning.

"Next we examine his personal situation. If he feels under great positive fashion." In this area Gillespie has utilized biofeedback techniques in conjunction with hypnotic 811-tosuggestion. Biofeedback is the use of various electronic devices to monitor physiological changes. The individual, with practice, can learn to alter his bodily functions within certain parameters. Experiments using machines to measure brain waves and heartbeat have proven it is possible to chart patterns of stress and learn how to control it.

At Northeast Guidance Center Gillespie uses a Digital Thermometer which senses skin temperature. ### Vital Volunteers Are Skilled And Professional

By E. Karen Christman

"Volunteer Vibes" is not only the title of the first newsletter for volunteers at Northeast Guidance Center but the vibrations are emanating from the various programs where they help and from the office of the Volunteer Coordinator Jan Arndt.

In an effort to provide a meaningful and organized program in January, Jan first conducted a volunteer orientation coffee hour. There was a large turnout from the community as well as from the Assistance League.

The enthusiasm and interest of the NEGC Staff was contagious. Present volunteers as well as hopefuls were able to ask questions and share ideas. This feeling of working together toward one common goal - Mental Health (not illness) - made those present eager to begin the New Year with this New Program!

As Volunteer Coordinator Jan is matching each volunteer to his/her area of interest and skills. Each volunteer works directly under a Staff member in charge of the particular department. Periodically volunteers will be evaluated by Staff to assure unified helpful results thus promising continuing improvement of programs. These evaluations will be opportune times for volunteers to assess their place in the program and to discuss their feelings and ideas. Categories for Volunteers at present are as follows: Working with Older Adults; Community Outreach; Socialization; Child Day Treat-ment; and an urgent need for Clerical Assistants. More Seniors and men are encouraged to share talents. A few jobs can be done in the home - telephoning, making teaching aides etc. New positions are open frequently in a variety of jobs. There definitely is a job for YOU! The only requirement is your willinguess to give your time and yourself. Jan Arndt, Dr. York and the Staff are concerned about doing the very best for their Clients as well as for their Volunteers. With a team like this how can we miss? The Community and the Center and all involved must grow from this considerate program. Make yourself feel good ... give a few hours of yourself. Call the Volunteer Office TODAY ... at 824-8000 ... and be a first!

Children Have 'Feelings' Too

By Beth Kastner

That first day of school is frequently packed with stress for a four-and-a-half year old! But it can be lessened if a few advance trips to the school are made. Advance preparation for a new experience is helpful. Comfortable places do not spawn stressful reactions.

From youngster to elderly we're all exposed to STRESS. No matter what they are, there are universal traits which apply to anyone in anxiety.

In his paper entitled Life Crisis in Childhood, Robert McDonald, Ph.D. outlines how stress is different for a child, how he will show it, and how a parent can help a child cope. Patricia Sims ACSW. Supervisor of Child and Adolescent Services at the Northeast Guidance Center and a fifteen year veteran in the social work field concurs with McDonald's findings. Both Sims and

McDonald find that loss or separation from parent or sibling is almost always linked to child stress. "Losses involve feelings (anger, depression, confusion) and feelnecting the feeling to the event." One of the major tasks of parenthood is to prepare the child to deal and successful resolution of a crisis." They point with responsibilities and out that a young child is very self-centered. He up world. The way one relates all events to him treats a child now, may personally. As for the future, she wants to see continuing research to determine community needs. With satisfaction the Board President looks back on 1979. "A dream has come true with the pur-chase of the new school building for Child Day Treatment. It is a real school atmosphere with playground, gym, classrooms. Now when the children return to regular school, the transition won't be upsetting, but a natural step."

Another goal is that the family unit be strengthened with the help of the community mental health center. "Perhaps the gasoline crisis may even help that goal," she muses. Mrs. Pipher has never been reticent in working toward community necessities. Her appreciation of the Board and Staff of Northeast Gui-

Local Residents Serve On Guidance Center Board

By Marianne McGuire Board Member

The Board of Directors of Northeast Guidance Center is composed of thirty-six representatives of the community served by the Center. The area boundaries are from Conner Avenue on the West to Eight Mile Road (Vernier) on the East and from I-94 on the North to the Detroit River (Lake St. Clair) on the South.

Duties for Board members are to oversee operation of the Center to assure the community that it is receiving mental health services which are responsive to its needs. Since the Center is funded with Federal and State tax monies it is up to the Board to decide which programs take priority. Daily operation of the Center assuring full range counseling, diagnostic, and treatment services to all ages is the province of the Executive Director and the Staff.

RESIDENT PROFILE Elinor Cramer's Heart Belongs to Harper Woods

By Floramae Kliber

WJR Radio recently featured Elinor Cramer on their "PeopleWorth' show . . . and she really is one of the people worth knowing! Offi-cially she is City Clerk of Harper Woods, and until now, Public Relations Director. Elinor instituted the latter office years ago, but because this is an election year. her City Clerk duties will not allow the time. But her warm heart and off hours will be focused toward others.

She is liason for the Elderly, Needy and Handicapped of Harper Woods, where she and her husband have resided for the past ten years. She says with conviction, "They are MY people!" She liter-ally feeds them, guides them to whatever aid they require; legal, medical, housing, utility, etc. She collects clothes and food and distributes them.

She is familiar with Northeast Guidance Center and its services available to the residents of Harper Woods. She encouraged participation by "her people" in the recent Stress Workshops at Regina High School, sponsored by NEGC.

When asked to discuss stress, she replies without hesitation, "Oh, I deal with stress of others . . . I don't have time for it myself!"

Her people-working formula, especially with the elderly, is "to give them love, listen and be interested in them. They want to talk to someone who cares," and she does!

Elinor Cramer's contributions to her city are numerous and varied. She is arranger, hostess for City Hall events. She was ingenious in redecorating the municipal rooms. She took the old furnishing down to Cobo Hall Garage Sale, and made enough money to buy new decor. She and her husband laid the new carpeting themselves. Her earrings are mini-ature Harper Woods logo! She is completely dedicated to her work and her community. She brightens your day!

Me? Depressed??

If I had been composed enough to see myself, I probably would have turned and run when I realized I was being admitted to a psychiatric hospital! But was crying and upset became a crisis.

I knew 1 was never depressed! I was always chatty, laughing ... usually making other people laugh. So how could I be admitted to a nospital with a diagnosis of depression? Then I learned that the definition of depression is "anger turned inward." I had never learned to handle anger — I knew that. I'd always been taught that mothers/ women/wives simply DON'T feel anger much less show it. It was our role to keep peace maintain the serenity of the home and family . . . and always be the calming influence. The first few days in the hospital were confusing. Eventually things began to fall into place, with the help of intense verbal therapy based on Transactional Analysis. I learned that all negative emotions are actually emotions of anger. Frustration, fear, despair, annoyance are really all anger.

> We spent so much time discussing anger and feelings, that those two words are very significant to me. I learned to be aware of my anger as well as trying to recognize other's anger. I learned to evaluate my feelings, to look at those handle them, so that my anger was not buried or turned inward.

Our society places stress on our lives on a daily basis. We often cannot eliminate the stress, but we can try to identify what is causing that stress. We must decide those stresses we can eliminate from our lives, and which ones we have to deal with and tolerate. The best way for me to deal with stress, tension, anger, frustration, is to be assertive. This means stating my feelings factually, UN-emotionally. Easy? No-o-o... but I'm learning.

I've learned that it is more effective to say calmly, "I'm disappointed that you're late. We won't have as much time together." This is much less likely to evoke anger on the other's part. Surely it is much better than to say, "You're late and I'm mad!" Before I started learning to be assertive, I would have apologized and said something like, "I must have had the time wrong," assuming the guilt was mine.

I'm gradually learning to be more comfortable being assertive. It has not been easy and I am still growing. It's a continuing project, teaching myself, reading, struggling to feel comfortable ... but it is beginning to show results. I'm comfortable relating this story, hoping it will help someone who, like me, may have no symptoms, no idea how deep is the stress — until a mere straw "breaks the camel's back!" Thank goodness I was able to say, "I need help!"

When Stress Becomes Distress

"Accept Yourself At The Age You Are!" By Reverend William Cummins, Pastor Ebenezer Baptist Church

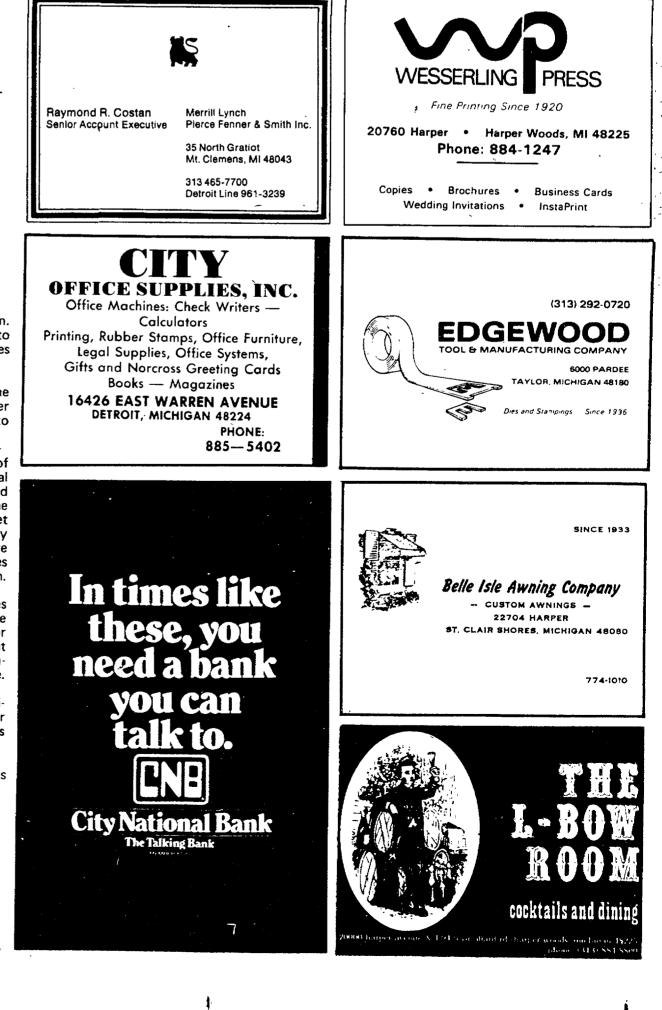

Stress is the spice of being sure what to do life! When we exercise next; and (3) not being our muscles we are sure what priorities to stressing them. When give to things. When we exercise our minds we're confident that we are stressing them. what we're doing is what Life without stress God wants us to do, would be dull indeed. when we can see that But the problem most of what we're doing has an us face, far too often, is overall purpose that's excess stress and strain. worth the stress, then It seems so hard to cope!

Everyone in the world is unique. There never No one is perfect. No has been another you, nor will there ever be one. It follows that each one of us has different stress needs in different areas of our life. A gen-eral formula: "Get enough sleep, eat well, get plenty of exercise," is probably good advice for us all. Unfortunately it is very difficult to define 'enough' and 'well' and 'plenty.' Our need is to know ourselves so that we can apply our abilities and skills in moment you are what which will ways strengthen us through stress -- rather than weaken us through distress!

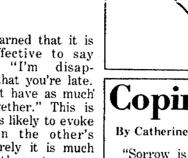

Be yourself. You are unique in God's sight. A great deal of excess He cares for you and has stress is brought about identified Himself with by: (1) not being sure you. The stress in your that what we're doing is life does not have to be the right thing; (2) not distress!

with his colleagues in the executive structure as well as with the men and women who work at the machines and in the shipping room. I asked one of the shippers why the man is able to communicate so well. Without hesitation he answered: "He walks where we walk."

At first glance the comment seems absurd. There is a vast difference between the standard of living of the two men. Their incomes and social customs suggest entirely different worlds.

It is true that they have certain interests in common: the success of an athletic team, conversation about the weather, a love of the out-of-doors. But these are not sufficient to explain why the man declared: "He walks where we walk."

Consider the principles which make it possible to earn such a tribute:

You need to be interested in people as persons. Trv to understand their anxieties and their fears, their hopes and their dreams. Move beyond the place where you refer to "men" or "women" to where you think of and appreciate every individual as a person.

The average employee in any company or business faces periods of dissatisfaction. The repetitive where we walk."

A corporate executive has excellent relationships nature of his assignment often encourages boredom. In conversation endeavor to help the individual to see that his contribution-as well as yours-makes it possible for your business to succeed.

> All of us feel the need to be appreciated for the work we do. Speak an encouraging word whenever you have personal contact with others. Be slow to criticize and quick to praise.

> Anxieties about money dominate the thinking of people at every employee level. Because you deal constantly with the struggle to make a profit, and avoid a loss, you should be keenly alert to the battle many workers are engaged in to meet monthly bills when faced with an inflationary spiral. Your interest will demonstrate that you are conscious of the worries which influence attitudes and which affect physical and mental health.

Safety, lighting, pure air, and adequate facilities for relaxation between periods of pressure are matters of concern for many who work in office or factory. Your thoughtfulness will demonstrate that you recognize the importance of a proper environment if people are to be happy and productive.

Whatever the level of your responsibility in business or office it is a tribute of the highest order when someone is able to say of you: "He walks
