

Expect Cable TV Hook Up Aug. 1

In Upper Arlington, O., a two-way cable TV system allows people to attend city meetings while they're sitting in their living rooms.

The cable system in Schenectady, N.Y., offers local hams an "amateur night" show once a week. It's a chance for residents to actualize their fantasies about switching places with their favorite stars.

In South Bend, Ind., the cable system allows middle school students to produce their own news shows.

The possibilities of cable TV seem to be limited only by the imaginations of people in the community it serves. What will take shape in Grosse Pointe in the months to come is anyone's guess—but it will be interesting.

The local system is coming, even faster than expected. Supply firms dumped 55 tons of special cable wires and equipment on Grosse Pointe Cable, Inc. Manager Michael Reynolds last week, and crews are wasting no time in stringing it up.

200 Miles

Work officially began this week. About 200 miles of cable "plant" will be built, which, when completed, will pass 23,000 households in the area, according to Reynolds.

The crews come from Burnip & Sims Cable TV Construction Company. Residents can expect to see a lot of Burnip & Sims workers on city streets and back yards in the months ahead. They will carry a letter of authorization with a phone number to call if there are any questions.

The first cable was attached to a utility pole near Grosse Pointe Cable's 7-Mack offices this week. The construction schedule calls for stringing the areas in Grosse Pointe Woods and Harper Woods near 7-Mack first, and turning the system on in that area by about August 1, "if everything goes according to plan" according to Reynolds.

Schedules

Next, the crews will move into areas of the Farms, scheduled for completion about mid-October. The third phase includes parts of the City, slated for "turn on" about mid-December. Finally, work will move to the Park. All phases of construction are expected to be complete about May, 1981.

Reynolds warns, however, that the timetable is subject to a number of variables including weather and equipment deliveries.

Reynolds is as excited as anyone about the new system. It's the first he has supervised from scratch, even though he's served with Teleprompter, manager of the Grosse Pointe system, in several cities.

Reynolds started out working as a late-night DJ on an Iowa radio station. "That got boring" and he moved on to become local program manager for Teleprompter in Dubuque. That's when he "got carried away with the idea of cable."

An Infant

He still gets "carried away" and has broad vision about the possibilities for the "infant industry."

"What people chose to do with cable now may shape the entire future of the cable industry," he says. "People can be creative with cable—I've seen some fascinating things done in communities I've worked in."

The communities he's worked in include Rochester, Minn., where he served as manager of Teleprompter's system, and Winona, Minn. and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Where ever he's gone, he's gotten involved. He served as secretary of the Minnesota Cable Communications Association and is currently president of the North Central Cable Communications Association. He's been active in Chamber of Commerce, United Way and National Exchange Club.

Reynolds holds a Bachelor's degree in Radio and Television Broadcasting from University of Wisconsin. He, his wife and three children have moved to the City.

Two Owners

Grosse Pointe's cable system will be operated by Teleprompter but is owned jointly by the firm and the War Memorial Association. The system will be governed by a board of directors and officers including representatives of Teleprompter, the War Memorial and a representative selected by the cities.

In addition, the cities will select representatives to a citizens advisory board on cable TV. That board, in particular, will be the vehicle by which local citizens may influence the future of the system in Grosse Pointe, Reynolds said.

The local system will make "porta pack" camera systems available to residents on loan. There will be at least one entire channel in the 35-channel system devoted to local programming—from schools, city halls or theaters in the area. In addition, plans call for local news shows and advertising, as well.

The system will offer 24-hour movies, sports, children's programming, radar weather and financial news. Full, color TV studios will be housed at the War Memorial for some local programs.

Grosse Pointe Cable Inc. will cover the Park, City, Farms, Woods and Harper Woods. The Shores Council last year opted to go with Cox Cable, installing a system in St. Clair Shores.

According to Weston Croft, general manager of Cox, the Shores should be turned on by mid-summer, at the latest.

Cable installation crews crawling up telephone poles will be a common sight around town this summer. Mayors, like the Woods' GEORGE FREEMAN (in the truck bucket), won't be quite so common. Mr. Freeman was on hand this week to supervise the installation of the first cable equipment in his city.

Low Interest Loans Help Park Business

By Joanne Gouleche

A three-percent loan in an economy with double-digit inflation? Impossible you say? Not in Grosse Pointe Park, where merchant Costas Koupparis is banking a $60,000 renovation of his Fairfax Market on the low-interest loan now available to Park businessmen through the federal government.

The Rehabilitation 312 loan program has only attracted a few Park businessmen since it went into effect last November. City administrators say interest in the program is low because many businessmen don't know it is available to them.

The low-interest loans are specifically designed to help Park businessmen bring their property up to code. According to City Manager John Crawford, a businessman can borrow up to $100,000 for 20 years, but at least 50 percent of the loan must be used for general improvements to the property.

"It's an excellent means for businessmen to correct their code violations, and you can't beat a three percent loan in today's economy," Crawford said.

Six Face Off For School Board Seats

By Susan McDonald

The annual race for election to the Board of Education got off to its official start this week when six candidates met the April 7 deadline for filing nominating petitions.

All but one of the six had declared their intention to run earlier this year. The new face in the crowd belongs to Marie DuCoin, of Hollywood road in the Woods, who plans to seek a four-year term of office.

Opposing DuCoin will be incumbent Joan Hanpeter, David Mikesell and Roger Mourad. The four candidates will compete for two, four-year terms.

Squaring off for a one-year seat will be incumbent Catherine Brierly and former trustee William Huetteman. All the candidates have until 4 p.m. today to pull out of the race. The election is scheduled for June 9.

Early Race

The School Board race began earlier than ever this year when three people—Hanpeter, Huetteman and Mikesell—jointly announced their candidacy in January.

That announcement was followed in February by Mourad, an attorney and father of seven. Brierly of Hawthorne road, who was appointed to the Board to fill a mid-term vacancy in December, announced her candidacy in March.

Marie DuCoin was the last to jump into the race. She is the wife of South High School counselor Norm DuCoin, and mother of three public school students (at North Hill, Parcels and Ferry). She's been active in groups at several local schools and currently is chairing the North High geranium sale.

She said in a telephone interview that she believes something must be done about "the great pressure on everyone in the schools" that she feels comes from central offices.

Issues

Her campaign chairman is Judy Wheatley and her treasurer is Dr. Henry Maloney. Mourad, of Sheldon road, has discussed several issues on the Board of Education, including the need to improve the middle schools and opportunities for special education students.

Joan Hanpeter, of Berkshire road, an eight-year veteran of the School Board says she believes there is a great need for experienced members like herself and William Huetteman on the Board. Huetteman chose not to seek re-election last spring.

Battle Lines Drawn For Fun and Games at South

By Gregory Jakub

There is war going on at Grosse Pointe South High School.

But students aren't fighting their teachers over grades or their arch rivals at North over touchdowns.

Instead their weapons are authentic American, Russian and British artillery on battle grounds such as the Atlantic Ocean, English Channel and European mainland.

The battles are real—at least in the minds of the dozen or so students in South's Chess and War Games Club that meet each Thursday after school over a variety of games with titles out of old war movies such as "Cross of Iron" and "Crescendo of Doom."

It all started about a year ago when South's chess club sponsor David Grindle was looking for something to boost the club's lagging membership. He included some of the complex war games based on actual military battles in world history and available at local hobby shops.

The result is that the club's weekly meetings now center on war games with very few members actually playing chess.

Die Hards

Last week, on a rainy Thursday afternoon before Easter break, two die-hard club members were hunched over their boards, charts, and graphs in a room that is usually filled with other war games players.

"Everyone else went to Florida or California except us," said sophomore Trevor Gersch as he arranged a fleet of ships on a board for the game "Bismark" based on the most important naval battle of World War II.

Gersch explained that "Bismark" was published in 1969 and that the first war game based on the battle of Gettysburg was available about 20 years ago.

Like other commercially available board games with military themes, such as the ever-popular "Risk" and classic "Battleship," war games use geographical playing grids and playing pieces. The difference comes in the rules and technical manuals needed to complete the games which often work on various levels of play.

Authentic

For instance, "Bismark" faithfully re-creates the 1,750-mile chase of the German cruiser by the British navy which eventually sunk the Bismark in the Denmark Strait in 1941. "Bismark" uses ships and aircraft with authentic technical abilities to track the Bismark. Once it is located, game action shifts to another gameboard where a naval battle takes place. The rules and guidelines are published in booklets that read like documents right out of the Pentagon.

Like chess, the war games tend to attract "a few smart people" with "patience"—the basic characteristic of all club members must have since games last a minimum of two hours, according to Gersch.

Some club members take their games a step further into reality by constructing authentic battle scenarios with detailed miniature artillery available at hobby shops.

Junior David Bohlin said he favors modern games that depict battles among NATO countries. One club member has constructed a miniature Vietnam battlefield based on the sets from the film "Apocalypse Now," Bohlin said.

Help in Class

While the war games are entertaining, students say their basis in historical fact helps them to relate to their studies in history class.

Tony Helps Break New Ground for Special Kids

By Dean Brierly

Twenty-two years ago, Tony Craig's parents were faced with a tough decision—whether to institutionalize their son, who had been born with Down's Syndrome, or keep and raise him on their own.

Back then, the accepted norm was to put children like Tony in institutions. Happily for Tony, his parents opted to keep him. His father says they've never regretted a day.

Tony lives in the Park and is part of a group of trainable mentally impaired students in a special program at Poupard school. But Tony is a bit different from most of them—he has a job at Detroit Automotive Parts on Mack.

Working Tuesdays and Thursdays from four to six in the afternoon, Tony does general maintenance work there. He sweeps the floors, vacuums the rugs, empties the wastebaskets and cleans the sinks. According to his boss, Detroit Auto Parts president William Lauppe, he does "a real fine job."

Employment A Goal

Tony got the job on the recommendation of Lauppe's wife, Susan, who works as a teacher's aide at Poupard. One of the program's goals is to find employment for the students whenever possible.

Tony has been with the company since October and Lauppe says he has no regrets about taking him on.

"He gets along real well with the other employees," he said. "When he first came, he was cautious and held back somewhat. He wasn't sure how we were going to accept him. Now he wants to stay even after we close."

Lauppe says most employers are probably not aware these kids are available for volunteer work. But, to him, one of the functions of a small business is to serve the community—and this is just one way to help.

Tony's parents are very supportive of his working status. His father, Joseph, a retired lawyer, says the job has given his son a feeling of importance. Tony has a little more respect for himself these days.

His wife, Joan, hopes that more merchants in the area will take a look at the Poupard students in the program and consider taking them in on a volunteer basis.

Feels Adult

"Tony lives for this job. It's done so much for his morale. He feels like more of an adult now. I think the merchants underestimate the capabilities of these kids," Joan said.

But she adds that merchants who hire them should be prepared to have a lot of patience and tolerance. She says they can learn, but only with kindness and patience.

Anne Eickhoff, one of the teachers at Poupard, says the program is geared to academic and vocational skills. Students learn how to tell time, use money, develop basic math skills, read, write, use telephones, sort, file, cook and appropriate social behavior.

The program's goal is to make the students as independent as possible and helping them to find jobs is a big part of that.

Tony's parents feel the program at Poupard has done a lot for him. His father says Tony loves to go to school.

"The atmosphere is so nice and the teachers are all kind to him. It has a big influence on him. We feel the school has helped him to better express himself and has helped his reasoning also. He knows the difference between right and wrong."

The program at Poupard ends when students reach age 25, and that's why it is so important. The more self-sufficient and independent these people become, the better their chances for landing a job when they turn 25.

Without a job, their prospects aren't so great. They can live with their family, which may become more difficult as their parents get older, and go to a work activity center where they do piece work on projects from corporations like General Motors and Faygo, or live in a special group home. Unfortunately, such homes are rare, especially in Grosse Pointe.

A job makes them less dependent on their family, gives them an added feeling of importance and helps ensure their future won't be spent in an institution.

Mrs. Craig recalls when Tony was a baby and they almost decided to put him in an institution on their doctor's advice. What they did was to put their son in a nursing home first. While there he came down with a staph infection.

It Was A Fight

"It didn't look like he was going to make it," remembers his mother. "But he just fought for his life. I made up my mind then that he's my child, it's my duty and I love him—I'm going to keep him."

Mrs. Craig says Tony has brought a lot of love and joy into their family and has taught his parents and brothers and sisters a lot of patience. Sitting with the Craig family and watching Tony interact with them, it's easy to see that he's the one who keeps them going and in good humor. His parents state they have no regrets about keeping Tony and have never felt sorry about him.

His father says he doesn't know what it would be like around the Craig household without Tony.

"He doesn't bother anybody. He's been just wonderful. He's never been in our way, never been a real problem for us. That's why we love him so much. He's just a real happy, good-natured kid."

Tony has a younger brother, Joseph, and three sisters and one other brother, all older than him. His father says they all get along beautifully. Tony loves to socialize and calls his relatives almost every day just to chat. He also gets out into the neighborhood where everyone knows and watches out for him.

His parents say Tony has the same interests as anyone else. He likes to watch

Tony on the Job

TV, listen to records ("he must have just about every record in the world," says his father) go to the movies and restaurants, and loves to travel.

He even has a ventriloquist's dummy named Willie Talk, which he keeps his family amused with. Mr. Craig says he's "funny as the devil."

The only possible cloud in Tony's life is the future. His parents realize they won't always be around to take care of their son, and say this is the biggest worry parents of these kind of children have. Tony's best hope is to find a home which he and others like him can share.

For the time being, though, life is just fine for Tony and his family, thank you. What with his job, becoming more self-sufficient and surrounded by people who love and care for him, his prospects don't seem so bad.

"I don't know what we would do without him," his father says.

Symphony Finale Stars Cellist Paul Olefsky

Cellist Paul Olefsky will perform as guest soloist Sunday, April 27, when Grosse Pointe Symphony, under the direction of Felix Resnick, presents the last program of its regular 1979-80 series.

The concert will begin at 3:30 p.m. at the Parcels School Auditorium, 20600 Mack.

Mr. Olefsky, who has appeared as cellist and conductor in major music centers of the Western Hemisphere, Europe, India, Ceylon and the Far East, last soloed with Grosse Pointe Symphony in 1957.

Among the many composers who have written works for his introduction or directed his performances are Ginastera, Kodaly, Milhaud and Shapleigh.

Olefsky graduated from Curtis Institute of Music where his teachers were Piatigorsky and Primrose. Further studies were with Casals, Karajan, Montoux, John F. Lingeman and Daniel Saidenberg. He was the youngest solo cellist of the Philadelphia Orchestra and soloed many times in Carnegie Hall.

He received the U.S. Civilian Service Award and is the first-prize winner of the Naumberg and Michaels Memorial Music Competition awards. His recordings on the Monitor and Vox labels are known internationally, as well as his recording of the Thomson Concerto with Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra for the Voice of America.

Mr. Olefsky will play Boccherini's "Concerto in B-Flat for Cello and Orchestra" when he appears with the Grosse Pointe Symphony. Luigi Boccherini was an Ital-

Gersch agreed, adding that history lessons usually emphasize the political aspects of history and skip "the good part."

Gersch and Bohlin's dedication to their games led them to last year's war games convention at Oakland University where the major game publishers displayed their wares.

There are about 400 war games available to the South Chess and War Games Club, including the infamous "Dungeons and Dragons" which gained notoriety last year as a factor in the disappearance of a Michigan State University student. Extreme advocates of the "Dragons" game are known to act out the game's scenarios in costumes on life size game areas.

There is a dedicated group of "Dragons" players in South's game club, but they limit their game playing to Thursday afternoons, Bohlin said.

Symphony

Constructed in three movements, it opens with an orchestral introduction in which the principal material appears. The solo instrument takes over and embellishes it with figurations and variations. The slow movement consists of a soaring, singing melody for cello and the finale, a rondo, begins with the lively figure in the upper register of the cello and the light spirit is continued throughout the movement.

The orchestra also will play Rimsky-Korsakov's "Russian Easter Overture (La grande paque russe)." Its melodic material is derived from a collection of canticles of the Russian Orthodox Church. The introduction presents two of these melodies and the development of both melodies rises to a brilliant coda and the overture ends with a final recollection of the second theme in trombone and strings.

Rimsky-Korsakov belonged to a dedicated, small group of Russian composers whose ideal was musical nationalism; his own music is Russian to its very marrow. During the time he composed the "Russian Easter Overture" he also wrote some of his most famous orchestral compositions including the "Scheherzade" and the "Capriccio espagnol."

The concert program also includes works from three contemporaries — Benjamin Britten's "Matinee Musicales" taken from some of the instrumental music composed by Rossini; Shapleigh's "Mirage" and "Folk-Suite" by Morton Gould, who fused elements of popular American music with the form and structure of "classic" orchestration.

A reception immediately follows the concert to which the audience is welcomed. Tickets to the concert are available by calling 888-9102 or 884-7837 or by purchase at the box office the day of the concert.

Tickets for adults are $5 and $2 for students.

Temple Fills In At Bon Secours

Members of the Temple Israel Congregation spent April 6 substituting for Bon Secours Hospital volunteers celebrating Easter Sunday. It was the third year 20 Jewish volunteers offered their time and energy so that Christian volunteers could celebrate Easter with their families.

Mostly Southfield residents, the Temple volunteers assisted with patient admitting and discharge, patient meals and menu selection. They also acted as patient visitor aids and answered questions at the information desk.

According to Maureen DuFour, director of Bon Secours Hospital's department of volunteer services, "It was a great example of what the Judeo-Christian relationship can be."

Business Loans

Must Repay

To apply for the 312 rehab loan, the borrower must have title to the property or be an owner occupant for at least six months, and demonstrate the ability to repay the loan.

"The city will work with the businessman on the paper work. We don't make the requirements. We only assist those who borrow to meet the criteria of the loan," Crawford said.

While the loans are made directly to businessmen from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, payments on the loan are made to the Advance Mortgage Company.

Under the 312 residential loan program, homeowners can borrow up to $27,000 to make general improvements to their property. Improvements include additions, renovations and remodeling of attics, porches, basements and kitchens.

The three-percent loans are only available to single family residential property owners with income limitations. For example, a family of four's annual income cannot exceed $10,400. Homeowners also must own title to their property in order to qualify under the 312 residential loan program.

Eligible residents may borrow up to $5,000 under the Park's Home Improvement Program to make general improvements to residential property.

An additional $1,000 can be borrowed for energy-related improvements. No payment on the interest free loans is due until the property is sold.

Census

"In addition to delivering replacement forms, the enumerators will be responding to requests for assistance, and will be calling at addresses from which we have no record of response.

"Several persons who returned forms will be visited by an enumerator. Unfortunately some mail was so damaged as to delete the address and geographic code numbers. We regret having to ask these people to complete a second form but it is the only way we can obtain an accurate population count by enumerator district, census tract, and city of residence," Schonenberg said.

Each enumerator will have a red, white, and blue identification badge and will carry a supply of census forms and instructions.

The assistance phone number printed on address label of the questionnaire will be discontinued Friday, April 11. If a resident needs assistance after that date, call 574-2960 or 574-2816.

GP Theatre Presents Hot Comedy 'Steambath'

A steambath that's actually Purgatory; a Puerto Rican bath attendant who's really God: This is the setting for Grosse Pointe Theatre's second Studio Theatre presentation, "Steambath," a comedy/fantasy by Bruce Jay Friedman.

"Steambath" opens Thursday evening, April 17, with performances Friday and Sunday, April 18 and 20. The play will be presented in the Crystal Ballroom of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

Director is Jesse Villegas of Lincoln road and producer is Emma Jean Evans of Detroit.

In "Steambath" all the characters, except for Morty, the attendant, and Gottlieb, his slimy assistant, are dead. The rather mangy group ponders its lives and fates in hilarious, yet contemplative style.

The raffish crew includes the Oldtimer who, having seen it all, bides his time in happily nostalgic reverie. Bierberman is a brash and tiresome Jew, joined by a stockbroker, a pair of gay young men, Meredith, a beautiful, kooky young lady, and, finally, the hero of the comedy, Tandy.

What plot there is in "Steambath" concerns Tandy's attempts to persuade, or needle, God into letting him return to life. The end result is a standoff. Only the two of them are left on stage; the others have gone through the door that opens on Heaven or Hell.

As Tandy continues to plead, God, half noticing, continues to play solitaire as the curtain comes down.

"Steambath" originally opened in New York in 1970. Anthony Perkins directed and played Tandy, with Hector Elizondo as Morty.

In the GPT production Tandy will be played by Mike Evans of Detroit; Morty, by Jesse Villegas, who also is directing; Meredith, by Kathleen Klinkner of East Detroit; the Oldtimer, by Joe Rice of St. Clair Shores; Bierberman, by George Valenta of Hall place; Gottlieb, by Mike Saxton of Balfour road; Two Young Men, by David Hertzberg of Detroit and Jon Lechner of Devonshire road; Broker, by Craig Reynolds of Detroit; Longshoreman/Flanders, by Bill Heimke of East Detroit; and Young Girl by Sue Siewert of Doyle court.

Production staff for "Steambath" includes Nancy Sortor of St. Clair Shores, stage manager; Tom Gallagher of Hampton road, technical director; Harry Albertson of Warren, set design; Miranda Herbert of Neff road, costumes; Pat Villegas of Lincoln road, makeup; Lauri McCloskey of Moross road, lights; Dale Pegg of Fairholme road, sound; Dean Erskine of St. Clair Shores, special effects; Sally Goodrich of Detroit, assistant producer; and Diana Lazarowitz of Detroit, choreographer.

Studio Theatre is a new idea at Grosse Pointe Theatre this year. Its objective is to offer exciting theatre, at the same time "keeping it simple" — presenting plays with the highest quality of acting and directing, but without elaborate technical trappings.

"Steambath" will be played in the round, with specially-constructed risers on which chairs seating 200 will be placed.

Tickets, priced at $3, are available for all three performances by calling 881-4004.

North Stages Talent Show

Last Thursday night, March 27th, Grosse Pointe North's first annual Talent Show sponsored by the junior class and student association, proved a great popular and financial success.

The show opened with M.C.s Suzi Kappaz and Kevin Callandro singing and dancing to the familiar "On With The Show." The show was directed by junior class advisor Gael Barr and included ballet, piano, guitar, and vocal performances and magic.

Highlights included Becky Messer singing and strumming to the Beatles' "Here, There, and Everywhere," Rick Coury's piano medley, and a hillbilly quartet called Jerry Pane and The Necks.

Honorable mention went to The Intolerable Trio, a group of North's seniors clad in track shorts and Hawaiian shirts who sang old favorites like "Huggin' and a Chalkin'," "Row, Row, Row, Your Boat" and the school song.

Cash prizes went to Karen Cordoba for her rendition of "Send in the Clowns," Lou Dallman on guitar with James Taylor's "Fire and Rain," and Jim Rothis singing a Stevie Wonder song.

Slate Course In Art History

William Bostick, former administrator of the Detroit Art Institute, will teach an Art History course at the War Memorial Center on Wednesday afternoons, from 1 to 3 p.m., April 16 through June 4.

The course is an illustrated survey of the 5,000 year development of western art from Egyptian, Persian, Minooan, Greek, Roman and Byzantine through the Renaissance and recent centuries.

The course will include six lectures and two guided tours of the Detroit Institute of Art with dutch treat luncheons at the Scarab Club. The fee for the course is $40.

Be it ever so many payments there's no place like home.

Comedy Opens April 17

Grosse Pointe Theatre actors rehearse a scene from "Steambath" opening April 17 at the War Memorial. Detective Flanders (BILL HEIMKE), finally "gets his man," Tandy (MIKE EVANS), while Gottlieb, God's creepy assistant (MIKE SAXTON) and Meredith (KATHLEEN KLINKNER) look on.

Study Aging at WCC This Spring

Gerontology, a new career education program at Wayne Community College, is entering its third semester of operation this Spring. The program explores the normal process of aging and related social, legal and economic issues, while preparing individuals for work in agencies and organizations serving the needs of older citizens in the community. In addition to regular academic courses, the program offers a field placement experience in direct services to or on behalf of the older adult population.

WCC's Gerontology Program is the only degree program available in this field on a community college level in Southeastern Michigan. It offers students the opportunity to earn either an Associate Degree or Certificate in Gerontology. Courses may also be taken as electives or for personal enrichment. The curriculum was designated with three types of students in mind: those who are interested in entering the field, those currently employed in the field who wish to upgrade their educational skills, and other individuals wishing to learn more about the aging process.

The Gerontology Program is open to all persons 18 years of age or older through the WCC "open door" admissions policy. Tuition for residents in the WCC service district in Wayne County is only $16 per credit hour. A special tuition waiver is available for persons 55-59 years of age who are retired, and to all individuals over 60.

For Pointers, the nearest WCC center is the Austin Center, 18300 E. Warren near Mack in Detroit. Courses offered there are Gerontology 115, Programs/Services for the Aged, and Gerontology 120, Health and Physical Processes of Aging.

Other courses available at the other WCC centers include an Introduction to the Study of Aging, Mental Health and Aging, and two new courses, Sociology of Aging and Legal Issues of Aging.

Interested persons may register April 24 to May 3 and May 5 to 10 (late registration) at any of the WCC centers. Classes start the week of May 5.

In addition to regularly scheduled classes WCC offers any course to agencies or organizations upon request. Contact WCC for more information about planning the next in-service training or special class by using WCC's academic extension service.

WCC encourages participation in their program which is designed to give insights into the capacities of older people and to stimulate thinking toward a positive approach to helping and working with them.

Contact Esther Howell at 496-2840 or 496-2500 for more information.

The national campaign for the complete immunization of children notes a healthy drop of 78 percent in measles cases in the past two years.

Sponsor Camps for Asthmatics

Applications are now being accepted by the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan (ALASEM) for its free summer camp for asthmatic children, according to Dr. Bruce Derbin, medical director of ALASEM's family asthma program.

Camp Sun Deer is an active week-long camping program for children with significant asthma who might never get to enjoy a regular camping experience.

The camp session is June 29 through July 5, with enrollment limited to 50 children, ages nine to 12, from the state of Michigan.

Activities at the camp include swimming, canoeing, boating, archery, arts and crafts, nature trail hikes and campfires. Campers will also participate in volleyball, softball and other organized games.

According to George Polgar, director of respiratory disease at Children's Hospital of Michigan, many asthmatic children are unable to attend regular camps.

"Most camps do not have adequate personnel to handle special complications which might arise when an asthmatic engages in vigorous exercise or is exposed to a variety of allergens," he said.

He added that Camp Sun Deer provides all the activities of a regular camp schedule designed with the asthmatic in mind and with the additional medical support necessary to treat asthma episodes.

The camp is sponsored by the Michigan Society for Respiratory Therapy and the Michigan Thoracic Society, the medical arm of the American Lung Association in Michigan.

Anyone interested in applying to Camp Sun Deer or contributing to its support, can call Carol Vick at the ALASEM at 961-1697.

Pointe Chorus Plans Concert

The Grosse Pointe Community Chorus will present its 28th annual spring concert on Sunday, April 20, in the Parcels Middle School Auditorium, 20600 Mack, at 3 p.m.

Directed by Richard Johns, with accompanist Frances Wilson, who is joined at the piano by Lois Johns for a rendition of the Concord Hymn, the Chorus will present a program of music of various ethnic origins, both traditional and modern, sacred and secular, in celebration of the spring season.

Included are the Hallelujah Chorus from Beethoven's "Mount of Olives," and "Panis Angelicus" (O Lord Most Holy) by Cesar Franck, with tenor soloist Carl Angelilli. Also featured will be soprano Margaret Steele as soloist in the spiritual, "Listen to the Lambs."

Special guest artists Martha Donaldson and Donna Zimmerman, accompanied on the piano by Frances Wilson, will perform a "Sonata for Flute and Piano" by Jules Moquet, and "Sonata for Two Flutes" by Johann Christian Schultze.

The concert, dedicated to the memory of Joseph Manning, long-time member of the Chorus and its board of directors, concludes with selections from "The Sound of Music" by Rogers and Hammerstein, with sopranos Margaret Abee and Rita Vermillion as soloists. A reception is planned immediately following the program to meet soloists and chorus members.

Tickets at $2 for adults and 75 cents for students may be purchased the day of the concert, or in advance.

Escaped Prisoner Grabbed In Grosse Pointe Farms
An escaped prisoner who had been serving time for two counts of murder at the St. Clair Correctional Facility in Montgomery, Ala., was arrested by Farms police on Friday, March 28, while being questioned in connection with a larceny at the Wooden Nickle restaurant.
The prisoner, Tommie Rodgers, 32, came into the station Friday upon Detective Samuel Cardella's request to be questioned about the March 21 larceny, when more than $300 was taken from the restaurant cash bag.
According to the police report, the Wooden Nickle dishwasher, a woman from Detroit, had closed the restaurant the night of the larceny. She allegedly told police the only other people in the building at the time were two waitresses and Rodgers, whom she had known about a month.
At the police station, Rodgers was asked for identification and could produce only his social security card.
A routine check through the Law Enforcement Information Network showed that Rodgers had the same social security number as a man who had escaped from St. Clair Correctional three years ago.
Rodgers was then fingerprinted and photographed and this information was processed. His prints and physical description matched those of the escaped convict, according to Cardella.
Rodgers was subsequently arrested and taken to the Wayne County Jail, where his bond was set at $100,000, according to Detective Earl Field. Field said extradition papers on Rodgers arrived last Thursday, so he should soon be on his way back to Alabama.

St. John Hospital Offers Patients A Safer X-Ray
A new X-ray system that reduces radiation dosage by as much as 70 percent is now in use at St. John Hospital and St. Clair Ambulatory Care Corporation, subsidiaries of St. Clair Health Services Corporation.
Dr. John H. Griffin, director of the department of radiology, said, "The new Trimax High Information System is a significant breakthrough in X-ray technology for both the medical profession and the general public."
"For physicians it provides very detailed diagnostic information. For patients it provides shorter exposure times, which translates to less radiation. That's important in a society in which about half the population receives an X-ray examination each year."
The critical elements — diagnostic detail and radiation dosage — have been alternating tradeoffs since the discovery of X-rays in 1895. Until now, to acquire the highest possible diagnostic information, a radiologic technologist had no alternative but use long X-ray exposures.
Dr. Griffin said that the new high detail film, plus existing higher speed films, provide St. John and St. Clair Ambulatory with the flexibility to lessen the amount of radiation and still obtain the detail so necessary for an accurate diagnosis.
The new Trimax System uses rare earth intensifying screens which can emit twice as much light as conventional X-ray systems. These rare earth screens convert the X-rays to light more efficiently than conventional calcium tungstate screens.
The light, not X-rays, images the film, enabling technologists to perform examinations at higher speeds and thereby reduce the amount of radiation exposure to patients.
This recent breakthrough, using still lower radiation levels, further improves the detail. Technically, this was done by a special 3M film coating which reduces the diffusion of light from the phosphor screen.
Since exposure time is reduced, blurring of images from patient motion is also minimized which is particularly helpful for radiography of pediatric and geriatric patients. Additionally, the faster speeds mean less wear on expensive X-ray equipment.
Dr. Griffin said that the uniform use of such low-radiation systems could reduce the overall exposure of the U.S. population to medical X-rays. He added, "The use of any new product that will reduce the amount of radiation to patients has to be looked upon by all medical practitioners as a major breakthrough. To use this technology is our responsibility to the community."

Roberts Rules Class to Meet
The War Memorial Center will offer a course in Parliamentary procedures for meetings, on Mondays, from 10 a.m. to noon, from April 21 through June 2. Course fee is $20.
Mrs. John Griffin, a registered Parliamentarian, will instruct the class in all Roberts Rules of Order, the techniques of presiding over a meeting, following procedures, and making motions and amendments.
The Center's office, 32 Lakeshore road, is now accepting enrollments.

Patroller Wins D. C. Tour
A Grosse Pointe student is among 51 school safety patrollers, chosen statewide to tour the nation's capital and march in the annual national School Safety Patrol parade during the 40th annual Automobile Club of Michigan safety patrol trip April 30 through May 3.
Jim Curran, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Curran, of 758 Rivard boulevard, who attends Richard School, is among those included on the all-expense-paid, four-day trip to Washington, D.C. as Auto Club's guests.
The 10 to 13-year-old boys and girls are the state's top patrollers for the 1979-80 school year. They represent 65,000 Michigan youngsters who each spend nearly 300 hours annually protecting classmates at crosswalks and on buses.
Previous trips have taken Michigan patrollers on tours of Washington, Hershey and Gettysburg, Pa., and the Canadian National Safety Patrol Rally in Ottawa.
Upon arrival at Washington's National Airport, patrollers will travel by bus for lunch and a tour of historic Mt. Vernon, Va., estate and burial place of George Washington.
A tour of capital sites including the Lincoln Memorial and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier is followed by dinner and an overnight stay in Arlington, Va.
After breakfast Friday, patrollers will journey to the Smithsonian Institution's National Air and Space Museum for lunch and a tour.
Afternoon sightseeing stops include a tour of the U.S. Capitol and a trip to the U.S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing, where money, savings bonds and revenue and postage stamps are designed, engraved and printed.
Following a stop at the Jefferson Memorial, students will return to Arlington for dinner and lodging.
On Saturday morning, they, and nearly 5,000 patrollers from several states, will march down Constitution Avenue past local dignitaries in the 48th annual School Safety Patrol Parade. A tour of the Washington Monument follows the parade.
Patrollers will board a jet for Detroit Metropolitan Airport that afternoon.

Park Man To Stand Trial
A 24-year-old Grosse Pointe Park man has been ordered to stand trial next month in the shooting death of a Hamtramck man.
John Eubank, charged with second-degree murder in the February 17 slaying of his friend Timothy Murphy, will face trial May 13 in Wayne County Circuit Court.
Municipal Judge Stan Kazul bound Eubank for trial last month after a court-ordered psychiatric evaluation found Eubank competent to stand trial.
Park police were called to the Eubank home on Berkshire after receiving a report of a fatal shooting. When police arrived, they discovered Murphy in an upstairs bedroom of the home with a gunshot to the neck.
Eubank remains in the Wayne County Jail under a $500,000 bond.
If found guilty of the second-degree murder charge, he could face life imprisonment.

Tickets for the concert are available at the Center in advance for $2. Door sales will be $2.50. For further information, call 881-7511.

Wine Lines
by John Lundberg

For a pleasant evening at home with just family or a few friends, wine is an excellent beverage to serve. It has just enough alcohol content to break the ice but is not as heavily alcoholic as mixed or straight drinks. It is also quite easy to find something to serve with wine that does not take a lot of preparation. Any kind of snack nuts, simple fish hors d'oeuvres, or crackers and cheese are always good. Make simple service special by either varying the wines, or varying the snacks.

WHAT A WONDERFUL WAY to make a run of the mill evening at home something truly special. Come in today to PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE, 17255 Mack, Corner of St. Clair, Detroit, and spend a little time selecting the beverage and snacks that will create a special interlude in your home tonight. At PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE, you have the opportunity to select the beer, wine and liquors of your choice from numerous, well known brands as well as some exciting names you might not be familiar with. Come in and see us today. Open 10-10 Mon.-Thurs., 10-11 Fri. & Sat., noon-6 Sun. Tele. 885-0626.

WINE WISDOM:
Macedonia nuts of sunflower seed complement wine and are not run of the mill.

Superwalk '80
Is April 20

Superwalk '80, the largest fund raiser for the March of Dimes, is slated for Sunday, April 20 at Belle Isle, Stony Creek and the Pontiac Silverdome. Beginning at 8 a.m. at all locations, Superwalk is expected to draw more than 25,000 individuals in the largest walking event for charity in the country.

Superwalkers secure sponsors who pledge so much a kilometer for the 32 kilometer course. The pledges are turned in contributions to assist the March of Dimes in its fight against birth defects. Registration is available by calling 863-3000.

Emanuel Stewart, Tommy Hearns, Hilmer Kenty and Mickey Goodwin, along with Clowns of America, disc jockeys from sponsoring radio station WDRQ and other celebrities and sports figures will lead off Superwalk '80 on Belle Isle. A giant seven-story hot-air balloon will greet walkers as they cross the Belle Isle Bridge.

Poop out buses, first aid, foot care and a shuttle service will help to make the walk more pleasant for everyone. Vernors, a Superwalk sponsor along with Burger King, will supply free beverage to everyone along all routes. Rest areas and food will be available along the routes and walkers are encouraged to dress for the weather and their comfort.

Flyer buses to Belle Isle will be available from Northland, Eastland and Wonderland to the Casino at 6:45 a.m. and 7:45 a.m. A reservation is necessary and can be made by calling 863-3000. They request 75 cents exact change each way.

There will be shuttle buses available from the Uniroyal Parking Lot at the foot of Belle Isle for those who drive. Stony Creek will have its own bus service from Macomb County Community College's Student Center Parking Lot to Eisenhower School. Information on all walks is available at 863-3000.

GP District Court To Have One Judge

By Susan McDonald

State Representative William Bryant succeeded in convincing the House judiciary committee last week to reduce the number of judges required in Grosse Pointe's proposed district court from two to one. But his efforts to postpone implementation of the bill failed and, according to an aide, Bryant may try again on the House floor.

A court bill, calling for implementation by the first of next year, was unanimously reported out of the committee April 1. It will probably be considered by the House later this month.

The Senate approved court legislation requiring two judges for the Grosse Pointe district last month. The bill was sponsored by Sen. John Kelly.

Bryant said he supports postponement of the new court system in order to buy time for local governments which will share the job of planning, administering and financing the new court.

He said he hoped to convince the committee to tie the Pointe bill to pending legislation reorganizing Detroit's court system. The latter issue is not expected to be resolved this year.

The House substitute bill also includes a requirement that all five local city councils approve by May 13 resolutions supporting the new system. If the cities comply, the judge would be elected this year and the court would begin operation the first of next year.

The full House is expected to consider the bill when it returns from Easter break, later this month.

The reduction from two to one judges in the district was supported by at least two local city councils.

When the bill is implemented the current municipal courts, operated independently by each city, will be abolished. The new court will have more jurisdiction than municipal courts in both civil and criminal matters. It will operate as a full-time court of record.

Church Sets Adult Classes

Sunday morning adult education classes will begin on April 20 at the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, 19950 Mack, at 9:30 a.m.

The classes include "Detroit and Its Neighborhoods in the 1980's," which will focus on understanding the nature of neighborhood change.

The "Manuscript Study of James" is an experience in the inductive manuscript method of Bible study. Since the New Testament was written in Greek without chapter, paragraph, and verse distinction, each participant will be given an English manuscript with no such distinctions.

"Healing Life's Hurts" is an applied study of the book of the same name. This course will be useful for dealing with life's major traumas to everyday problems.

"Estate Planning for Christians" will examine estate planning, coping with inflation, reducing taxes and exploring such investments as stocks, bonds, life insurance, social security, wills, trusts and annuities.

Panel Aims to Help Parents Of the Learning Disabled

"Understanding the Individual Education Plan" is the topic for the Tuesday, April 15, meeting of the Grosse Pointe Chapter of the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities at 7:30 p.m. in the upstairs room of the Central Library, 10 Kercheval.

Parents will have the opportunity of learning more about the Individual Education Plans which will be written for their children in May conferences with teachers and administrators. After viewing a sound-filmstrip about implementing IEPs, a panel will answer questions from the audience. Serving on the panel will be: Dr. Kathleen Herschelmann, Assistant Principal at North High School, Julie Corbett, Teacher/Consultant, and Cary Storchan, an attorney who has represented parents at IEP hearings.

For more information, call local chapter President Sue LeClerc at 884-6378. Parents of learning disabled students who are attending their first IEP may be especially interested in this meeting.

The state association is sponsoring a day for families of the learning disabled on Saturday, May 3, at the Shrine Elementary School in Royal Oak from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Registration is $6.50 and can be mailed to MACLD, Inc., 20777 Randall, Farmington, 48024.

Informative sessions are planned on Advocacy, Vocational Rehabilitation, Mainstreaming, College Opportunities and Coping Skills. This workshop will provide a wealth of information to both parents and their LD students.

Thief Takes Woman's Purse

A 50-year-old City woman was robbed of $80 when an unknown individual approached her from behind and grabbed her purse late Saturday evening, March 29.

Mrs. Duley Keefe told police she was walking down University place about 12 a.m. when the individual knocked her to the ground and took her purse. The culprit escaped between nearby houses. Mrs. Keefe said she suffered a black eye from the incident.

Police said they later recovered Mrs. Keefe's purse in the backyard of a home one block away.

Slate Art Show For Hart Plaza

Area artists and craftspersons will have a unique opportunity to exhibit and sell their works to a national audience this summer during the 1980 G.O.P. Convention.

"Art On Hart," a multimedia, juried show will transform the upper level of the Philip A. Hart Plaza into an open-air gallery from July 12 through July 14.

A distinguished jury of area art professionals will select 100 exhibitors for "Art On Hart," which is being sponsored by the Detroit Renaissance Foundation in cooperation with the Civic Host Committee.

Applications are available by calling 259-8064 or writing "Art On Hart," 6519 Second Avenue, Detroit, 48202.

The deadline for submitting applications is May 15, 1980, with jury decisions being announced no later than May 26, 1980.

Exercise Is Good for Heart

"More and more people are getting into exercise these days, for a variety of reasons; some in order to live longer; others to look and feel better, and some enjoy the competition—against other people, the clock and their own capacities.

"No doubt many people have begun a conditioning program in an attempt to reduce their risk of cardiovascular disease, since lack of exercise seems to be a risk factor," said Dr. Ronald J. Stewart, Sterling Heights, chairman of the Michigan Heart Association exercise committee.

To lower your risk of cardiovascular disease is certainly a valid reason to begin exercise conditioning, said Dr. Stewart.

You should begin checking with your doctor first—especially if you're over 35 years old, or may have undisclosed high blood pressure, high cholesterol or have not had an electrocardiogram taken in the last year.

Assuming you have none of these problems and have the go-ahead from your doctor, your next question is probably "What kinds of exercise should I do?"

"Exercises that improve the fitness of the heart and other muscles are known as aerobic exercises, which use the body's large muscle groups, such as walking, running, cycling, swimming, cross-country skiing and a variety of games," Stewart said.

It also is important to know that a warm-up period is a must for all exercise activities, followed by the workout and a cool-down period. Dr. Stewart suggests a warm-up period of about three to five minutes, followed by your workout of about 30 minutes, and a cool-down period of some continuous but less strenuous movement until sweating stops and the heart rate has returned to what it was preceding the exercise period.

How often should you do all this?

"The optimal amount seems to be three or four times a week, on a regular basis," Dr. Stewart said. "Also, the exercise should, if possible, be something recreational—something enjoyable enough that you'll keep it up. Many people embark on a very ambitious program, only to become bored and stop within a short time—and you can lose all your gains in only three or four months this way."

Will all this make you live longer?

"There is no conclusive proof as yet that such a program will actually lengthen anyone's life," Dr. Stewart said. "But we do know that a well conditioned heart beats fewer times per minute—perhaps as much as five million times a year less than the heart of a sedentary person."

The exercise committee of the Michigan Heart Association has developed a new booklet which gives very specific information about exercise programs and tells you how to determine what may be best for you (again, with your doctor's permission). It tells how to determine your frame size and ideal weight, how to take your pulse and monitor your progress, good warm-up and cool-down exercises, the energy expended during various activities and much more.

To obtain the booklet "Are You Ready to Exercise?," contact any office of the Michigan Heart Association. The Michigan Heart Association is a United Way agency.

First Graders Tour Free Press

At the invitation of "Detroit Free Press" writer Tish Jett, ULS first graders watched reporters, photographers and illustrators in action on a tour of the paper in February.

First stop for the group of youngsters was photographer Tony Spina who described the use of the darkroom and demonstrated the laser photo transmitter, an instrument which sends photos over the wires. Spina also created a photogram of each child's profile.

Learn to Save A Life with CPR

The Friends of Bon Secours Hospital will offer training in two life saving skills at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore road, on April 23 and 24 at 7:20 p.m.

Instructors from Bon Secours Hospital will demonstrate cardiopulmonary resuscitation, an emergency treatment for victims of heart attack, shock, drowning or suffocation. Instructors will also demonstrate an emergency treatment for choking victims.

Admission is free, however, reservations are necessary. Phone 343-1520 for tickets or information.

Individuals already certified in CPR may be recertified on April 23 or 24 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Recertification takes approximately 15 minutes. No tickets or reservations are necessary for recertification.

The health education program is offered by the Friends of Bon Secours Hospital as part of the community health education series, "Town Hall for Health," under the chairmanship of Mrs. Kenneth Adler.

Gambling must be a success in Atlantic City. A branch of Gamblers Anonymous has been opened there.

Birds, Flower Class Starts

A new series of natural history classes are starting at Seven Ponds Nature Center in Dryden, Michigan. Introduction to Bird Identification and Introduction to Spring Wildflowers will be offered this spring and are open to anyone high school age or older.

The bird class provides new bird watchers with the techniques necessary to identify local birds by field marks, songs and calls. "A Field Guide to the Birds" and binoculars are recommended equipment. The class will meet on Saturdays: April 12, May 10, 24 and 31 and June 7 from 9 a.m. to noon.

The wildflower class is an informal study of the identification, ecology and histories of local spring flora. Bring a wildflower guide and pocket magnifier if you have them. The class will meet on Saturdays: April 12 and 26, May 10 and 24 and June 7 from 1 to 4 p.m.

Each class costs $18 for Seven Ponds members and $24 for non-members. Class sizes are limited so to reserve a place send name, address, phone number and fee to the center. For further information call Dan Farmer at 796-3419.

Wise folks keep looking ahead and planning for the future.

56 Fund Drive A Big Success

In the most successful pledge drive in the 25-year history of Channel 56, the station's "Festival '80" fundraising campaign raised $547,538 in 18 days.

This record amount exceeds the half-million dollar goal set during this year's campaign and is up 33 percent over the $410,000 pledged last year.

Channel 56 received 9,667 pledges during "Festival

'80," which ran March 1 to 16. These and tens of thousands of other individual voluntary contributions received throughout the year make up 49 percent of the station's total annual budget of $3.4 million.

Nationally, Channel 56 was one of the top seven stations in dollars pledged and the number one station in the amount of the average pledge.

Polo for Boys by Ralph Lauren.
Then, Now And Always —
The Cream of Preppy Tradition.

Prep-dressing. Everybody's doing it! But the point is—Ralph Lauren set the pace and the standard for it years ago. It's been his cachet...his signature. In fact, his whole approach to clothing—his philosophy, really—is one of prosperous, perfectly timeless style. Easy, unaffected looks which give one an incomparable sense of well-being and refreshing continuity. This is rich, handsome clothing, truly steeped in tradition; as ultra-classic as any clothing could possibly be...yet as fresh as the first spring breeze. And therein lies its whole appeal. Here then, in the soft textures and inimitably handsome colors for which Ralph is known, a smashing collection of American originals for young men.

Always at ease, the rich good looks of Ralph's straight-legged, two-piece suit, with narrowed lapels. In a tan herringbone weave of polyester, silk and cotton. Sizes 8 to 2; $96. 13 to 20; $120. The white cotton broadcloth dress shirt, with Ralph's status logo, for sizes 14 to 20; $21.

Right:

Topping things off—a sporty cotton knit mesh shirt, with short sleeves and the embroidered Polo insignia. In assorted colors; 18.50 each. Over all, the blue Polo blazer, in cotton. Sizes 8 to 12; $66. 13 to 20; $80.

Come see the entire collection of suits, shirts, sportcoats, slacks and ties—a collection of enduring style! for the young Polo man. In Polo for Boys, K.I.D.S.—where we are all the things you are.

And now, the floor...

That new house or addition is finally nearing completion. Now, the nightmare of selecting carpet and linoleum begins. There's a carpet store on every corner. One place offers to give you carpeting at a price below what it costs to make; another offers slightly irregular or off-color carpet. Another claims their $1.99 carpet (that looks and feels like a used Brillo pad) will enhance your decor. If you're tired of three day sales, that always seem to be on, and fast talking sales people who forget you after you've signed on the dotted line, take a break and enjoy a pleasant change from the ordinary at Marx Interiors.

The owner, Mark Messers, has carefully selected each line of products personally. No-wax floors that look like hand-painted ceramic tile, stained hardwood floors, marble, even no-wax floors that look like slate. Marx has only the finest wearing carpet (most with a 5 year guarantee), two brands of no-wax tile, beautiful embossed rubber-back carpet for kitchen or basement, a unique lifetime floor called Trinaita, real hardwood floors and, get this, even a selection of over 5,000 wallpaper samples as well as aversicle and mini-blinds. All this plus the convenience of professional installations! No high pressure sales tactics, no gimmicks, no dead inventory that has to be dumped on someone. If you're ready for an honest answer to your questions, a fine selection of flooring, and professional installation, call or better yet, stop by and see this small uncluttered store that specializes in service before, during and after the sale. Surprisingly affordable. Serving people with good taste for years, 792-1120.

Ann Performs at Interlochen

Pointer Ann Willison will be featured in an essay about Interlochen on Channel 56 Tuesday, April 16, at 10:30 p.m.

Ann will be guest oboe soloist with the World Youth Symphony, performing Johann Hummel's "Introduction, Theme and Variations, Opus 102."

A graduate of North High School last year, Ann is studying oboe at the Manhattan School of Music in New York.

She won the Thomas Nester Memorial Scholarship Award during her senior year at North.

Villwock will continue to be responsible for utilization review, but the cancer registry and the medical audit quality assurance program will be her new responsibilities. She received her degree in

Realtors Award Dacey

The Realtors National Marketing Institute has awarded Pointer Harold J. Dacey the title of Certified Residential Specialist (CRS). To earn the CRS designation, a candidate must complete courses and have several years of experience in residential sales. Dacey is a member of the Macomb County Board of Realtors and the Michigan Association of Realtors. The Marketing Institute is the primary educational affiliate of the National Association of Realtors.

Eat Family Style

If you're in the mood for some home-made cooking, you may want to spend a few hours pleasing your palate at Mr. Zipay's family style restaurant on St. Clair and Kercheval in The Village. Owner John Zipay said the new eatery, former site of the Copy Cat Deli, is open 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday. Zipay said his restaurant will feature home-made specialties everyday.

More Spring Classes Offered

More classes have been added to the spring term at the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore.

Real estate fundamentals will be taught by William Ghesquire on Wednesday evenings, April 16 to June 4, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. The fee for the eight weeks is $35. The class will be of value to both home buyers and sellers alike.

Ted and Lillian Forrest are teaching a special course in Prom dancing to students of high school and prep school age on Thursday afternoons, April 17 to June 5, from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. Fee is $24 for eight lessons.

Chair seat caning workshops under the direction of Mary Herbert will be offered on Saturdays, April 19 and 26, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Students will work on their own chairs which they clean, sand and refinish before bringing to class. Paper rush, cane and splint or wicker may be used for the seat. The fee is $35 for the two all day sessions. Students are asked to bring a sack lunch.

A short term folk guitar class for those who have had some previous study will be offered by Alexander Sucek on Mondays, April 21 to June 9, at 8 p.m. The fee is $16 and gives guitarists a chance to brush up, master more complicated and barred chords and learn new songs.

Italian artist Paolo Coppini will teach the techniques of oil painting in both still life and portraiture on Thursday evenings, April 24 to June 26, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. The fee is $50.

There is still room for students in the Saturday, April 26 Sumi-E workshop from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Mary Bowman, who studied this Japanese style brush painting in Japan, is the instructor. The fee is $15. Students are asked to enroll in advance and to bring a sack lunch to the workshop.

Refresher bridge will be taught: Monday evenings, April 28 to June 16, from 8 to 10 p.m. by Frank Welcenbach. There will be one hour of instruction in the latest nuances of the game and an hour of actual play where one can brush up on their bidding, responses and play. Class fee is $16.

The fundamentals of contract bridge will be taught by Welcenbach on Thursday evenings, May 1 to June 19 for the same $16 fee.

The National Center of Education Statistics said 50.7 percent of the college enrollments in the U.S. in the fall of 1979 were women.

Auctioneers Seek Items

Sotheby Parke Bernet, the international firm of art and antiques auctioneers, is seeking consignments from the metropolitan Detroit area for its first Midwest regional auction this September in Chicago.

The auction will feature jewelry, major Impressionist, Modern and Contemporary paintings, drawings and prints, and fine Art Nouveau and Deco works of art.

Catherine Hamilton, Sotheby Parke Bernet assistant vice-president, said the firm is seeking art, antiques and jewelry for the September auction.

For further information about consigning property for the upcoming auction contact Catherine C. Hamilton, Sotheby Parke Bernet, 700 N. Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill. 60611, or call 312-280-0185.

Italia is coming to Hudson's, and each of our stores will be brimming with a fabulous array of Italian-made furnishings and accessories. To kick it all off, come to the Italia-Fest on Sunday, April 20, at Hudson's Eastland, from noon till 5. There will be native Italian craftsmen, singing, dancing, chef appearances, food sampling and more. Join us in the Home Department, third level.

Special Chef Appearance—Giuliano Bugliani, master chef and author of "The Fine Art of Italian Cooking," will teach you everything you ever wanted to know about Tuscan cuisine. He will demonstrate pasta recipes from his book on Saturday, April 26 from 3 till 5 p.m. in the Marketplace.

Highlights at North High School

Baseball Begins

By Wright Wilson
As the first shouts of "play ball" are heard this week, the varsity baseball team at North High will begin their chase for a Bi-County League title and a prestigious spot in post-season play.

The chances of a title appear strong for the Norsemen, who are returning ten letterwinners to a squad of 16. At the helm is Frank Sumner, who has been managing the varsity team since 1974. He guided last year's team to a record of 24-5 and a league championship.

Senior catcher Mike Seagram is returning for his third year on the varsity, and last year became the first junior to be named Bi-County League Most Valuable Player.

Bob Brown and Tom Shook also are back for their third varsity seasons. Brown made All-Bi-County at shortstop last year. Shook, a pitcher, achieved all-conference status as a sophomore two years ago.

Shook will be in the pitching rotation along with Bill Babcock, Matt Costello, and Karl Kurtz. Babcock was All-Bi-County as a sophomore last year, posting a 5-1 record and a 1.96 earned run average. Costello was 5-1 with a 1.29 ERA last season, and Kurtz had a 3-0 mark with a sterling 0.56 ERA. More than half of the team members are able pitchers.

Brown will anchor the infield along with Keith Schatko, a returning letterwinner at second base, and junior John Clem, playing his second year at either the third or first base position.

Pete Mogk, a junior, also will see a lot of action on the diamond.

Alex Lucido and John Vens are back for North in the outfield, as both won letters last year.

John Hackett, Don Luiberto, Dave Monark, Eric Schubert, and Scott Young as well as Mogk, are juniors who played at the junior varsity level last season.

North has set a 25-game schedule, which began on Wednesday, April 9, in a doubleheader with East Detroit. This Saturday, April 12, the Norsemen take on South High for two games, beginning at 11 a.m. on the Blue Devils' home field.

Friday, April 25 marks North's first league game, at home against Lakeview. North is favored to take the Bi-County League title, but not without competition from Fraser, Clintondale, and Lakeshore.

The team also has high expectations for post-season tournaments, with some people predicting a trip to the State finals. Many of the team's members played on the Babe Ruth team that recently went to national competition.

Track Preview

By Wright Wilson
Even though their counterparts on the boys' team steal most of the headlines, the girls track team at North High are one of the top teams in the area, too.

Directed by head coach Jeanne Bocci, the girls are hoping to match last year's performances when they had an undefeated season and won the Bi-County championship. Even though many stars graduated, there still are determined team members out to accomplish the team's goals.

The strongest area of the team is in the distance events, where North often piles up many of its points. Junior Cathy Schmidt is the top distance runner, and is joined by seniors Jenny Blashill, Suzanne Stahl, and Judi Vermeulen; and juniors Beth Guden, Anne Lewis, and Mary Franklin. Also, freshmen Martha Whitaker and Caitlin Maloney have earned varsity spots.

The three leaders of the sprint group are seniors Pam Stewart and Sue Demeulemeester, and junior Jody Long, each of whom have at least two years of track experience on the varsity. Jeanne Soulliere and Jean Genord join the varsity lineup this year. Soulliere and Genord also run the 440 with junior Patty Meehan, returning for her third season.

Field events, according to coach Bocci, "need the most work." Sophomore Gretchen Schumer already holds the school record for the long jump, but there are quite a few openings in other events.

North's hurdle crew is an improving area of the team. Sophomore Karen Thomas returns as one of the team's top hurdlers. Also competing are three seniors — Lisa Mediodia, Patty Misukiewicz, and Laura Johnston.

This year, North's girls have ten dual meets and six invitations. The first dual meet saw North defeat Warren (80-30), and this Saturday, April 12, marks the first invitational — the Spartan Relays at Michigan State University.

Health Group Meeas at Cobo

The 95 annual convention of the American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance, (AAHPERD), begins today, Thursday, April 10 and runs through Tuesday, April 15, at Detroit's Cobo Hall.

Nearly 9,000 people will be involved in the five day convention which will feature hundreds of seminars, exhibitions and workshops ranging from stress management to sports medicine and coaching tips.

Featured speakers will include Harold Falls, chairman of the Alliance Task Force on Youth Fitness, speaking about the new health-related fitness test to be introduced into U.S. schools next fall; Lou Holtz, head football coach at the University of Arkansas, who will address the opening session; on Friday, April 11, at 8 p.m.; Tony Dorsett, from the Dallas Cowboys and Ann Meyers, the first woman ever to try out for the National Basketball Association.

More are "Slim Goodbody," alias John Burnstein, of TV's Captain Kangaroo Show, who will share techniques on talking with children about care of the human body; Johnny Orr, former University of Michigan basketball coach, and Larry Geraciotti and Bob Miller, from the University of Detroit, who will offer coaching tips.

AAHPERD is a voluntary organization which was founded in 1885 and has grown to over 50,000 members. Their purpose at this convention is to address important health and physical education issues and to propose programs designed to reduce excessive health care costs and to enhance the quality of life.

Further information concerning the convention may be obtained by calling Robert Luby, convention chairman, at 494-1575, or Mary Healy, at 577-2150.

G.P. Spitfires Win Tourney

The Grosse Pointe Spitfires Pee Wee AA travel team captured the Oak Park post-season hockey tournament with four consecutive victories.

Coached by Dave Seaver, Al Henchel and Jim Barker, the Spitfires reached the finals by defeating Toledo, 2-0, Oak Park, 9-1, and Taylor, 5-2. In the championship game, Grosse Pointe again defeated Taylor, 3-1, for the title.

Pacing the team was Mike Brykalsky, who scored a tournament high of eight goals.

Center Hosts Sail Seminar

The Great Lakes Sailing Institute will conduct a one-day cruising seminar at 9 a.m. on Saturday, April 12, at the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore road. There is a $5 donation to the War Memorial for the seminar.

The seminar is directed at the experienced sailor who desires to further his knowledge of cruising a sailboat on the Great Lakes. The format will consist of lectures by experts, audio-visual, and display and demonstration of equipment.

Keith Wilson, chief of the Michigan State Waterways Commission, and Robert Hosler, of the Small Craft Harbours branch of Canada's Department of Fisheries and Oceans, will discuss the various anchorages available to recreational boaters on both sides of the border between Lake Erie and Georgian Bay.

Other experts include John McMurray and Mal Sillars, weather forecasters for WJR and other area radio stations. They will present a session on the importance of weather and how it relates to cruising.

Politics Overshadow Olympic Games

By Joy Aschenbach

It took the decree of a Roman emperor and two world wars to halt past Olympics. In ancient Greece, where the athletic contests were born, wars were interrupted for the Games — not the Games for wars.

If the 1980 Olympics are moved out of Moscow in the wake of the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, it would be the first time that the location has been switched this late in the game. If the Olympics are postponed from July until sometime in 1981, it would be the first time in modern times that they were not held — as prescribed — in the fourth year of the Olympiad.

And if the United States withdraws from the Games entirely, it would be the first time that U.S. athletes have not competed in the modern Games. As officials wrestle with the problem of whether this year's Games should be boycotted, transferred, postponed, canceled or held as scheduled, the Olympics' own track record shows a champion's ability for endurance.

According to historical records, the Olympic Games were first held in 776 B.C. in Olympia in southwestern Greece and continued there uninterrupted for a marathon 1,200 years.

But in their later years, as Greece lost power and prestige to Rome, the once glorious athletic and religious festivals degenerated into carnivals, routs and pagan spectacles.

Emperor Theodosius I of Rome put a stop to them in A.D. 394. His decree ended the Games for about 1,500 years — for what appeared to be a permanent timeout.

In 1896 the ancient games were reborn in Athens through the efforts of Baron Pierre de Coubertin of France, who envisioned the revival on an international scale with nations sending their best athletes to compete. Eight countries responded.

ed and the modern Olympics have been held every four years since then—except for the war years of 1917, 1940, and 1944.

The 1916 Games had been set for Berlin, but were canceled by World War I, which broke out two years earlier. The Olympics resumed on schedule in Antwerp in 1920, with athletes from 28 countries competing.

In 1940 the Games were to have been held in Tokyo, but by midsummer 1938 Japan was so preoccupied with conquering China that it had to give up the Games. The International Olympic Committee quickly picked Helsinki as the substitute site, but the next year Finland found itself at war with Russia.

No one was certain whether the Olympics could survive World War II. Within three months after Germany surrendered, however, the International Olympic Committee met in London in August 1945 and selected that city for the 1948 Games. London was to have held the 1944 Games, which were canceled. The Olympics made a strong comeback in 1948, with 59 countries participating.

The current Olympics crisis was predicted in the midst of the 1976 Games in Montreal. William Bradley, now a senator from New Jersey, was a professional basketball player when he wrote in the New York Times on July 21, 1976:

"The Olympic Games are scheduled for Moscow. It is 1980. The political disputes of previous years—the North Korean pull-out in 1964, the racial protests of 1968, the terrorist attack of 1972, and the China-Taiwan dispute of 1976 — are part of the Olympic legacy as much as the spirit of sportsmanship of Pierre de Coubertin. . .

"Suddenly, two weeks before the opening ceremony, the President summons the head of the United States Olympic Committee to the White House. Two days later the highest United States Olympic Committee official . . . announces our withdrawal from the Olympics . . . (they) justify the action on the grounds of national security . . . the Olympic Games as we know them in the post-World War II era are dead."

Commenting now on his remarkable prediction, Sen. Bradley, who won a gold medal in 1964 as a member of the U.S. basketball team, said, "It was only a matter of time before the conflicts became so great that it would force some changes in the Games or bring the Games to a halt."

As part of a package of proposals for reforming and depoliticizing the Games, Sen. Bradley and others have recommended that the Olympics be taken home to Greece to be permanently situated in the land of their origin.

The Greek government, which recently renewed its invitation to the world to perpetually play host for the Games, has said it would welcome them back. Participating countries would contribute to the cost of needed structures.

Marathon Set for Mid-April

This year, midwestern runners won't have to travel 900 miles and jostle with 8,000 fellow competitors to take advantage of ideal marathon weather. That's because Michigan's West Bloomfield Marathon is scheduled for 9 a.m., on Sunday, April 20, the day before the famous Boston event.

This year, the entire course is within the boundaries of West Bloomfield township. Proceeds from the race will be donated to the West Bloomfield Emergency Medical Service program.

The race is organized and coordinated for the fourth year by the West Bloomfield Parks and Recreation Department. For the second year, Vic Tanny International is the co-sponsor of the 26 mile, 385 yard running event.

Entry forms for the West Bloomfield Marathon are available at West Bloomfield Parks and Recreation, 3325 Middlebelt road, West Bloomfield, 48033. Applicants should enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope when requesting entry forms. Entry fees are $5 and must be received by 5 p.m., April 14.

Further information on the marathon may be obtained by calling 313-334-6660.

The new West Bloomfield course is an out-and-back route which begins and ends at West Bloomfield High School, on Orchard Lake road. The course is over approximately 62 percent paved and 38 percent unpaved roads, but has no extremely steep or long hills. A course map is included on the application blank.

Volunteers will direct runners on the route, man aid stations and provide splits at 1, 5, 10, 15, 20 and 25 mile marks.

There will be trophies and medals for winners in five men's and three women's divisions. Certificates featuring final times will be available for all finishers. There is a five hour time limit for completing the race.

Correction

It was incorrectly reported to the News that Eric Friedler and Anna Van Walleghem defeated Jeff Etterbeck and Margaret Mayer for the Western Tennis Association Mixed Doubles at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club. The April 3 story should have listed Jeff Etterbeck, of Oak Park and Margaret Mayer, of the Park as the title winners.

STANDARD FEDERAL SAVINGS HAS A PLAN FOR YOUR RETIREMENT.

If you don't presently participate in a retirement plan, now is the time to look into a tax-sheltered retirement plan at Standard Federal Savings. The contributions are tax deductible, and the interest earned on your retirement plan is tax deferred until retirement, making it possible to build a substantial retirement fund.

WHY COME TO STANDARD FEDERAL FOR A RETIREMENT PLAN?

- INTEREST RATES — Rates depend on the term of the certificate you choose. For example, the interest rate in April on the 2½-Year Money Market Account* is 12.00% for an effective annual yield of 12.94%. Other certificate programs can be used to open a retirement account as well. This would include the 26-Week Money Market Account* and the $100,000.00 Non-Negotiable Account* if the minimum balance requirements are met.
- INSURANCE All contributions made to a retirement account are insured to $100,000.00 for each individual.
- WE OFFER ALL THESE RETIREMENT PLANS:
 - REGULAR IRA An account which you contribute to for your own retirement. Each year you can contribute up to 15% of your earned income or a maximum of $1,500.00, whichever is less.
 - SPOUSE'S IRA An alternative plan which an eligible IRA participant can establish for a non-employed spouse, who has received no wages during any portion of the year. Contributions may be made up to 15% or $1,750.00 of the working spouse's compensation, whichever is less.
 - ROLLOVER IRA Allows the participant to contribute all or part of a lump-sum retirement benefit received from another qualified retirement plan to a "rollover" IRA and defer taxes until retirement.
 - SIMPLIFIED EMPLOYEE PENSION PLAN (SEP) Permits an employer to establish a plan and contribute amounts to an individual employee's IRA. The employer can contribute up to 15% of the employee's compensation to a maximum of $7,500.00 per year.
 - KEOGH PLAN A tax-sheltered retirement plan for self-employed individuals.

*Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal from certificate accounts. Federal regulations also prohibit the compounding of interest on 26-Week Money Market Accounts.

ULS Students Are Honored With 1980 Creative Awards

Last month an assembly honored winners in the University Liggett 1980 creative awards program. The competition is sponsored annually by the Upper School Parents' Association and is judged by a panel of artists from outside the school community.

Judges for this year's program included Joy Haakanson Colby, art special writer for the "Detroit News" and art dealer; Dr. Eugene Beall, instructor at the University Center for Adult Education; Ken Angyal, English instructor at the University Center for Adult Education; Frank Murch, faculty member at the Detroit Community Music School and Wayne State and Tony Spina, photographer and columnist for the "Detroit Free Press." Nancy Sparrow coordinated the 1980 creative awards program and announced the winners. Art awards were earned by Jody Glancy for drawing; Rebecca Glowinski, pastel; Kelly Lampe, textile; Eileen McHenry, watercolor; Kerry Fitzsimmons, mixed media and David Gagliardi, painting.

Writing awards were received by Linda Charbonier and Raymond Mui, formal essays; Raymond Mui, major non-fiction; Kevin Karson, sketch and Gidget Jackson and Mary Warren, informal essays.

Winners in the photography category were John Van Osdol and Judy Glancy, who received two first prize awards.

Poetry honors went to Vicki McBrien and Warren Hardy.

Creative Awards for musical performance were received by Andreas Darrh, classical piano; Kelly Lampe, voice with accompaniment; Chip Vaughan, popular instrument and Tony Alcantara, Kayvan Ariani and Andreas Drath, ensemble.

Garden Club Topic: The Rose

Growing begonias and miniature roses will be discussed at the next meeting of the Men's Garden Club of Grosse Pointe on Thursday, April 17, at the Central Library, 10 Kercheval.

Anyone interested in learning about gardening is welcome to attend the 8 p.m. meeting.

Social Role of Church Is Conference Topic

The Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice is sponsoring a conference on Saturday, April 19, on "The Social Role of the Church in the 1980's."

The conference will be held at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, 19950

Mack, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. It is designed by and for people interested in social involvement; and is primarily directed to members of Outreach, Mission Development, and Christian Service Committees in the Grosse Pointes, Harper Woods and east side

Detroit churches. However, the Center is encouraging anyone with an interest in any of the workshops to attend.

The schedule for the day includes registration at 8:30 a.m., workshops at 10 a.m. and 11 a.m., a 12:15 luncheon with guest speaker Rev. James Wadsworth, Christian Communications Council of Detroit, more workshops at 1:30 p.m. and a 2:40 p.m. Ecumenical prayer service featuring the Grosse Pointe Woods Liturgical Dance Team.

Workshops at 10 a.m. will include:

- The church in the racially changing neighborhood, part 1.
- Lessons in sponsoring refugee families.
- Actualizing prospects for peace.

Workshops at 11 a.m. will include:

- The church in the racially changing neighborhood, part 2.
- Church and community response to older citizens.
- Domestic and world hunger awareness.
- The energy crisis: repercussions for the church.

The 1:30 p.m. workshops include:

- Family to family ministry.
- Developing mission: alternative models for the local church in dealing with social issues.
- The church's ministry in neighborhood revitalization.
- Effective outreach committee operations.

The workshops will consist of panelists who are currently active in their parish or congregation with these issues. The keynote speakers will address the theme of the conference, "The Social Role of the Church in the 1980's."

Special guest panelists include Msgr. Clement Kern, Retired Pastor, Holy Trinity Church; David Bower, Director, Michigan CROP Program; Carol Hofer, 14th Congressional District Representative for Broad for the World; Dr. Robert Linthicum, Pastor, Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church; Rev. Glenn Wegemeyer, Pastor, Salem Memorial Lutheran Church and Fr. Tom Krell, Co-Pastor, St. Ambrose Church.

They will be joined by representatives from the following other churches or church organizations: Lutheran Social Services, Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, St. Peter's Church, Seniors Onward for Change, Church of the Messiah, American Friends Service Committee, and many others.

To register for the conference, send your name, address, and phone number, along with a $6 fee to cover lunch and materials ($5 per person for GPIFCR Church Members) to the Grosse Pointe InterFaith Center for Racial Justice, 15233 Kercheval Avenue, Grosse Pointe Park, 48230.

The coordinators for the day are interested in further suggestions for input in the workshops; or if you have any questions, please feel free to call Patricia Gillis at 824-0350 or Cynthia Warner at 821-6021.

Retirement - It's Not For Everyone Anymore

At what age will you retire? While retirement at age 65 or younger was normal several years ago, the increasing cost of living is a major reason why more and more people decide to work longer and postpone retirement.

An inflation rate of 8 percent would cut a retirement pension by 50 percent in nine years, so imagine what today's inflation rate will do. Whatever your age now, it's not too soon to begin thinking about when you plan to retire and how to plan financially for it.

The three most important sources of your income are employer-provided retirement plans, Social Security benefits and private savings, according to the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants. There are many ways to supplement the steady income from these sources including income-producing assets such as stocks, bonds and real estate; income from a part-time job; surrendering life insurance policies for their cash values then investing the money and selling art, stamp, coin collections or other valuables you own.

Many secure old age by establishing an Individual Retirement Account (IRA), say the CPAs. This tax-sheltered account may be set up if you are not a participant in an employer's qualified pension or profit-sharing plan. You are also eligible for an IRA if you continue to work past age 65 and are no longer regularly accruing benefits under your employer's plan. An IRA Rollover allows you to defer paying federal taxes on funds received from a qualified pension or profit-sharing plan until you withdraw the funds between the ages of 59½ and 70½.

Living on a fixed retirement income while inflation increases can be disconcerting as is even thinking about it.

CPAs suggest keeping in mind that some items in your budget will either cost less or not be important to you anymore when you retire. Examples of this include if your mortgage is paid off, the housing expenses will be less expensive to maintain; if you live in warmer climates there are fewer clothing and heating bills to contend with and food costs are generally lower for older people since they usually take in fewer calories than younger people.

However, taxes will take their toll on your retirement income, perhaps more than you previously anticipated. As inflation pushes up prices and incomes, sales, property and income taxes also escalate.

Few pension plans include automatic cost-of-living adjustments for retirees, and when they do, the automatic increase feature is usually between two and three percent per year.

Cost of medicine for people 65 and older average two and a half times higher than those for younger people. While Medicare will provide insurance for this and other medical expenses, additional coverage is necessary, the CPAs say. Have a clear idea of what benefits Medicare provides so you can buy supplemental insurance that offers a minimum of duplicate coverage.

As retirement approaches, begin to collect documents to show your participation in the Social Security program including payments made into it during your final year of employment. To begin collecting benefits you'll need, for yourself and your spouse, proof of age, marriage and/or divorce. Also, it is wise to check with the Social Security Administration every three years to be sure your Social Security earnings are being accurately credited to your account.

Mailing in postcard form OAR-7004, available at Social Security offices, will bring back a report on the status of your account. It's a good idea, say the CPAs, to start checking this now before retirement begins.

Grosse Pointe's Crisis Center Needs Volunteers

The Center Point Crisis Center — an east side community counseling center that helps young adults with drug or personal problems—needs volunteers to train as counselors.

Training sessions will be conducted by Zenon Kuzmyn, training coordinator, and the Center Point staff from April 14 through May 22 at the crisis center located at 18412 Mack in the Farms.

The 14 session training program, which deals with values clarification, role playing, sexual concerns, suicide prevention, and empathy and drug reactions, will enable volunteers to help young adults with substance abuse, sexual problems, youth/parent conflicts and peer pressure.

After completion of training, volunteers are requested to work two 3½ hour shifts a week. To avoid conflicts with personal schedules, volunteers have a choice of four shifts: 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.; 12:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.; 4 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.; 7:30 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Persons interested in attending the volunteer training session should contact the Center Point Crisis Center by calling 885-5222.

The Center Point Crisis Center is sponsored by the Family Life Education Council (FLEC), an independent and non-profit organization dedicated to solving problems in the human equation that threaten the community and family life.

FLEC programs are made possible by contributions from individuals, organizations and foundations. FLEC receives no federal, state, local or Torch Drive Funds.

Tourists Flock to Florida

Spurred by a desire to go now before prices get any higher, winter-weary Michiganders are going ahead with their annual Easter week invasion of Florida, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"The migration South is on as usual this year because people are hedging their bets against possible future increases in gasoline prices and air fares," said Clarence Stanbury, Auto Club's World Travel manager.

"Despite economists' gloomy predictions," Stanbury said, "people still have a need to go South for the warm weather."

Stanbury said airline ticket sales are up for all warm weather destinations except Hawaii, where rapidly escalating air fares have discouraged travel to the point that business is off by 15 percent.

"The money crunch has made cruise packages especially popular because they are one of the best values for your dollar," Stanbury said.

This, in turn, has helped boost the airlines' Florida business, so much so that nearly all flights to the Sunshine State are booked far in advance on Saturdays—the departure day for most cruise ships.

Florida tourism officials are predicting a three percent increase in the number of visitors expected in the second quarter of 1980. That means nearly eight million people will travel to Florida by air and auto between April 1 and July 1. Michigan will account for about five percent of that figure—124,000 of the tourists who arrive by air and 315,000 of the visiting motorists.

With Easter falling on April 6, after the delivery of new monthly allocations, gasoline availability should not be a problem in Florida. As extra insurance, the state's five percent set-aside program is being used to provide relief for tourist areas.

While Florida service stations still are operating with shorter hours than in other parts of the country, an Auto

Club survey shows the Sunshine State's gasoline supplies are adequate, with only five percent of the stations limiting purchases.

A survey of states along the I-75 route to Florida also has turned up no reported shortages although the number of service stations open 24 hours averages under 10 percent. Auto Club is advising motorists both in Florida and en route there to fill up their cars' tanks on weekdays before 6 p.m.

Advance reservations are a must for accommodations close to Disney World and other big Florida attractions, but travelers still can find space available within a 20-mile radius. For the second straight year, traditional spring college breaks do not coincide with the Easter holiday, thereby relieving some accommodations pressure.

Anyone planning to fly to Florida for the Easter season should be able to make it despite heavy advance bookings, Stanbury said, noting that seats generally become available because of last-minute cancellations or "no-shows."

"Flexibility is the key word," Stanbury said. "Florida-bound travelers will have problems if they insist on making flights the three days before and after Easter, but there are always seats opening up at the last minute. We advise people to put themselves on standby lists and be flexible in their vacation plans."

In Michigan, most Easter season travel is confined to within 50 miles of motorists' homes, and peak travel time generally is between 6 and 10 p.m. Easter Sunday when families are returning from holiday reunions with relatives and friends.

Michigan has had no problem with fuel availability, with about one-third of the state's service stations remaining open on Sundays in recent weeks.

Last year, 13 persons were killed on Michigan highways during Easter weekend, the same number as the previous year.

Intruder Gets Purse, Again

A Grosse Pointe Woods woman was awakened early Monday when an intruder entered her bedroom in the family home and fled with her purse containing $40. It is the third time in as many years that similar incidents have happened to the same family in the same house.

Police said that at about 5:30 a.m. Monday an intruder possibly used a knife to open a door from the garage to the house on Eastbrook Court and entered the upstairs bedroom where 19 and 21-year-old sisters were sleeping.

The younger woman awoke and saw a man about 21 years old, five foot nine, medium build, dark wavy hair and mustache, police said. The man took her purse, ran down the stairs, out the front door, and between the houses to Marter road.

Both women saw the man but neither said they recognized him. Public Safety Detective Steve Petrik said police have no evidence to indicate that Monday's incident is related to the previous two intrusions, but that the chances of such similar events being unrelated are "one in a million."

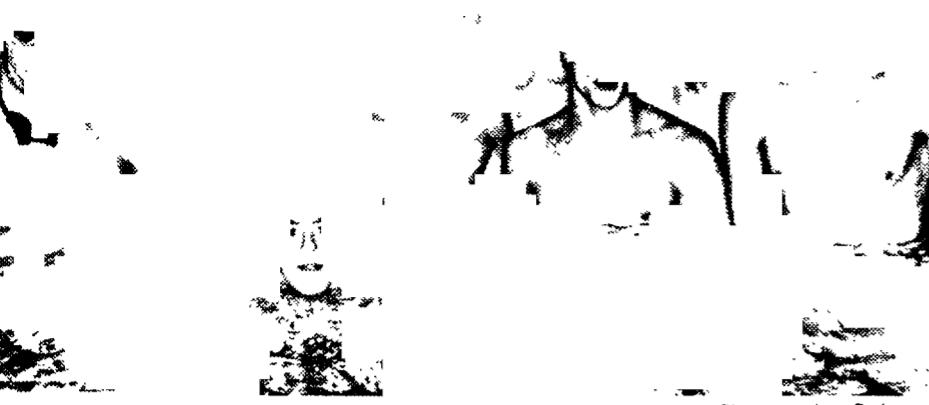

During the past two years purses have been stolen from other rooms in the house, according to the younger sister. Petrik said the family changed the locks in the house after the previous incident.

Center Still Short of Goal

While donations to the War Memorial's 1980 Family Participation Campaign are still slightly ahead of gifts received in last year's drive, family givers are lagging 277 behind the pace of 1979.

A telephone follow-up committee of the Senior Men's Club of Grosse Pointe has begun to call all donors on record. A follow-up letter also will be mailed to donors. The target date to reach the goal of $160,000 is set for May 26, Memorial Day.

South's Swimmers Improve

North

(Continued from Page 9) Coach Bocci says the girls are capable of scoring in the individual distance events, and possibly some middle distance relays, such as the two-mile relay and the distance medley relay. The team would like to go undefeated in their league, but expect fierce competition from two tough rivals, L'Anse Creuse and Roseville Brablec. "They're out to kill us," comments coach Bocci, "but we'll get 'em."

G.P. Swimmers Finish Third

Grosse Pointe Swim Club, the defending state champs, took third place in the Michigan A.A.U. State Swimming Championships with 649 points. Birmingham Bloomfield Atlantis was first with 823 points and Clarenceville Swim Club was second with 805 points. Grosse Pointe's 13-14 age group took most of the honors, winning high point trophy and contributing three state records.

Tom Bartsch smashed state records in the 100-yard and 50-yard freestyles in 49.1 and 22.6 respectively. He also took part in the record setting 400-yard freestyle relay along with Joe Schmidt, Tom Cobau and Andy Leidlein, clocking a 3:28.0. They also placed first in the 400-yard medley relay.

Bartsch's other placings include third in the 200-yard I.M. and Freestyle, fourth in the 100-yard breaststroke, fifth in the 500-yard freestyle, and sixth in the 100-yard butterfly.

Schmidt also took seconds in the 500, 100 and 50-yard freestyles in 4:57.0, 50.7 and 23.9, fourth in the 200-yard backstroke, and sixth in the 100-yard backstroke. Cobau contributed a third place in the 50-yard freestyle and sixth in the 100-yard freestyle.

Another first was taken by the 800-yard freestyle relay of Bartsch, Schmidt, Cobau and Matt Van Tiem, winning in a time of 8:38.4.

Bill Luberto was dominant in the 11-12 age group placing first in the 50-yard backstroke, second in the 100-yard butterfly in 59.8, third in the 50-yard fly, third in the 50-yard freestyle, and fourth in the 100-yard freestyle. Mike Woods placed in the breaststroke with two third places in times of 33.4 and 1:13.3 for the 50 and 100-yard events respectively. The 200-yard medley relay of Jeff Clark, Woods, Luberto and Ryan Hoeh took third and 200-yard free relay made up of Luberto, Woods, Hoeh and Dickey Clarke placed sixth.

The 15-18 division saw Jeff Measelle get fourth in 50-yard freestyle, and fifth in the 200-yard butterfly, 100-yard freestyle, and 100-yard butterfly. Jeff Colton just missed the gold, placing second in the 100-yard backstroke in 56.3 and fourth in the 200-yard backstroke. Breastroker Eric Tech took fifth in the 200 and sixth in the 100-yard breaststrokes. The 400-yard medley relay took a second place with team members Colton, Tech, Mark Clark and Measelle clocking a time of 3:43.4. The same relay took a sixth place in the 400-yard freestyle event.

Summing up the long swim season, assistant coach Matt Sobieski stated, "A lot of hard work and dedication paid off. We had some super swims."

Male and Female Athletes: Are There Fewer Differences?

The average female is five inches shorter, 30 to 40 pounds lighter—though fatter—and weaker than the average male. She responds to exercise and training the same way as her male counterpart, however, and when strength is not a factor in athletic competition, has some advantages over him.

"There are actually more differences, a wider range of variation, among males than between males and females," says Dorothy Harris, director of the Center for Women and Sports at Pennsylvania State University. She spoke to a predominantly female audience attending a recent nutrition conference during Farmers' Week at Michigan State University.

"Where there are differences between males and females, there may be compensatory mechanisms operating that we have not identified," she says.

For instance, just as the deodorant commercial suggests, men and women sweat differently. Men start to sweat sooner and sweat more. Females can dissipate more heat through the blood vessels near the skin. That's why women tend to get redder when they exert themselves. Harris points out. Research suggests, she says, that males are prolific, wasteful sweaters. "Men sweat more, women sweat better," she jokes. "There's no question that males are stronger than females. This goes back to the maturation and development process."

"Females have an early advantage over males," Harris says. "Girls mature more rapidly than boys beginning at conception. Males do not catch up until their 20s."

"In late childhood and early adolescence, females, because they mature faster, can frequently outperform males," she says. "Because males mature later, they continue to grow longer. They develop broad shoulders, longer arms and legs in relation to their trunks, and bigger muscle masses. They end up taller and stronger than females."

Males and females engaged in a strength-developing program will show similar increases in muscle strength, but because the males start out stronger, they remain stronger.

Males, on the average, also have less body fat as a percentage of total body weight.

"The average college female is 25 percent fat; the average male is 15 percent fat," Harris notes. "High intensity exercise is a significant factor in the ratio of body fat to total weight. A study of 78 female long-distance runners showed that 12 had less than 10 percent fat, and another 32 had less than 15 percent fat."

This doesn't automatically mean that long-distance running was the cause of their low body fat, she cautions. It could be just the opposite: that women with low body fat tend to become long-distance runners.

The one sport in which females' being fatter than males is an advantage is long-distance swimming in cold water, she notes. The extra body fat insulates.

FIRST OFFERING ONCE UPON A TIME

There was a Mini-Mansion, in a desirable Village close to the market. The owner took great pride in his residence; only the best materials and craftsmen were allowed to improve his five bedroom, three-and-a-half bath residence to its excellent present condition. While relaxing in the beautiful family room, he decided to sell his residence, and realizing that the money lenders were asking an "arm and a leg" for mortgages, he offered to hold a $100,000 land contract at 11% for some lucky buyer — too good to be true? No. Too good to last? Yes!

CRYSTAL BALLS JUST DON'T SEEM TO GRAB US

We read a good deal about advertising research and are frequently reminded of some mystical incantation—figures mysteriously projected, multiplied, divided, contorted to form a supposedly attractive story.

What ever happened to the good old how-many-copies-were-really-sold counts? That's the kind of stuff advertising rates are based on!

And it's just for that reason we have a no-nonsense, no-mystery ABC audit report of our circulation audience.

If you aren't strong on crystal balls either, just ask to see a copy of our latest report from the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Be ABC-sure!

Letters to The Editor

Youth Bureau A 'Must'

After reading the article "Youth Crime Report Due" (April 3 issue), I can not help but feel that the so-called special task force on juvenile crime is nothing more than a joke, and, I might add, not a very funny one. They have been engaged in a six-month study on this subject and admit they are still a long way from agreeing to any answers.

I recently conducted a two-day study and had no problem finding the answers to the following questions:

"Is drug abuse increasing in Grosse Pointe high schools?"

After talking to students, teachers and other school personnel the answer is a most definite "yes." And even more importantly, it is also increasing at the middle school level. Persons involved in the day-to-day operations of the schools feel that without the deterrents provided by a youth service division, drug usage will continue to increase to the proportions experienced in the early 1970's.

The use of police records to refute the above claim is ludicrous. Police records are reflective of contacts and apprehensions made by the police. Without youth officers available to make these contacts no record will be made of such usage. This of course doesn't mean that the problem isn't there, just not recorded.

"How are juvenile offenders being handled by local police departments?"

After contacting area departments I found that juvenile cases are now being assigned to detectives whose case loads are already bulging at the seams. There has been no specialized training given to these men and the juvenile cases are being handled along with adult offenders.

A 1975 study by Wayne County found that this is not a healthy atmosphere; the role of a juvenile officer is dramatically different from that of a detective.

First, full-time youth officers exhibit a greater sensitivity toward the juvenile and his problems.

Second, youth officers have a greater familiarity with the Michigan Juvenile Code than do the detectives.

The third factor that distinguishes youth officers from detectives is their respective familiarity and knowledge of the existing community agencies.

Another significant difference exists in the degree of awareness of the importance of the school in the life of the juvenile, and the utilization of school resources as a tool for influencing the behavior of the juvenile.

I personally see no dichotomy as to the need for a youth bureau. This was already exhibited in 1970. The only question that remains unanswered is "Do you want to pay now or pay later?"

I apologize if this letter seems abrasive to you must understand that I still care about the kids in Grosse Pointe and to see their well-being used as a political football makes me very angry.

Group Slates Inflation Talk

"Insurance, Inflation and the Future American Lifestyle" will be the topic of discussion at the next meeting of the Grosse Pointe Chapter of Parents Without Partners on Tuesday, April 11, at the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore.

G. William Heil, account executive with Lang, Heenan and Co., is guest speaker at the 8:45 p.m. meeting.

The Parents Without Partners group meets the second and fourth Friday of each month at the War Memorial. The coffee hour begins at 7:30 p.m. followed by the general meeting and speaker at 8:45 p.m. An afterglow follows at a designated location.

Join the group on Saturday, April 12, for dinner at Stouffers. All single parents also are invited to the group's dance on Friday, April 18, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. Tickets are $5 for members and $7 for non-members.

For further information, call the Hot Line at 881-5892.

South Writer To Hear Talks

A Grosse Pointe South student has turned her interest in the travels of Alice in Wonderland into a real life journey to the National Writing Symposium at the University of South Carolina in May.

South senior Christy Deutsch's composition "Through A Looking Glass" was among five winners chosen from 12 entries in last year's Southeastern Michigan Science and Humanities Symposium at Wayne State University. The composition deals with the mathematical aspects of Lewis Carroll's fantasy classic.

The symposium will take place May 21 to 24 and will feature lectures by professors and students from throughout the country. One student participant will receive the symposium's highest honor—a trip to Europe.

"The paper was really interesting and lots of fun to write," said Ms. Deutsch. "I really learned a lot. There have only been two papers in my life that I've enjoyed working on and Alice in Wonderland was one."

Center Offers Aerobic Dance

Dynamic Aerobics will be offered by the Stephen and Donna Horowitz School at the War Memorial Center, from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m., Tuesdays and Wednesdays, April 15 and 16 to June 3 and 4. The course consists of a vigorous program of choreographed exercise to music to strengthen heart and lungs and increase muscle tone, strength, balance, coordination and flexibility. Course instructor is Ruth Beday. The fee is $48 for the eight week session.

HARD ROAD
Each year, 100,000 or more patent applications are submitted to the U.S. Patent Office. Of the 70,000 accepted, only about 2,000 will get to market, and only a handful of that number will make any money.

What's New on THE HILL

By Pat Rousseau

The Leatherline... is a new collection of notebooks, scrapbooks, telephone address books, diaries, recipe files and legal pads in oriental or leather covers. Patent leather is also available in handsome colors. The brass stand photo flip is good looking and handy to view photos. Any one of these would make a welcome gift for the graduate, for Mother's Day, Father's Day or a special birthday. See them at Seasons of Paper, 115 Kercheval.

Man, Tailored... by the Majer Company for the woman who appreciates fine tailoring and quality fabrics, the new line of blazers, skirts and suits in polyester and wool tropicals. Colors are navy, green and tan at Picard-Norton, 92 Kercheval. No alterations charge.

Rick Ford's... sample painting of a summer cottage is on display at the League Shop, 98 Kercheval. He will paint in oils your summer cottage, ski lodge or sailboat so that you can keep your haven on view in your home as a lovely reminder all year long.

Tortoise Or Clear... cosmetic organizers for your dressing table top or drawers come in two styles at Trail Apothecary, 121 Kercheval. They are priced $5 and $7.95.

Rock-A-Bye Bear... is the newest teddy bear idea on the market. Turn on its sound and it quiets and calms most newborn babies because the recorded sounds are actually the sounds a baby hears before birth. The Rock-A-Bye bear is waiting for your baby at Young Clothes, 110 Kercheval.

La Strega... has a beautiful selection of short and long dresses for spring and summer parties. They are also perfect for the mother-of-the-bride or groom. Some romantic styles would make lovely second wedding dresses. The colors are soft shades of lilac, blue and other flattering colors. Georgette and chiffon are the very feminine fabrics in this collection. See it at 63 Kercheval in the lobby of the Colonial Federal Building.

Forecast Spring Showers... and you have your rain poncho with a matching umbrella ready. You found it at the Greenhouse, 117 Kercheval. Did you choose red, turquoise, yellow or one of the other high colors? ... 881-6833.

Monogrammed Free... when you buy a Herman Geist T-shirt at Personally Yours, 84 Kercheval. There are two styles plain or piped that come in many spring and summer colors. They are priced $12 and $16.

Pappagallo... strikes out against inflation with weekly 20% off specials. Come in on Monday and check the easel for the selected specials... 115 Kercheval.

At Maria Dinon... 11 Kercheval, see the new imported Charmella dress line. You'll like the creamy white silk dress printed with black confetti. It is styled with short puff sleeves and a black sash. A beige cotton knit dress is trimmed with red and is scattered with tiny red and black leaves. A notred cotton dress in white is dotted with black, red and gray and is slicked with a red patent belt. White and lavender flowers with little green leaves pattern on navy cotton. These cotton dresses are sleeveless and will keep their fashion cool on the warmest days.

New, Live Theater Issues Casting Call

By Dean Brierly

Grosse Pointe theatre lovers will discover that the Punch and Judy does more than just show movies when its Summer Family Theatre Season premieres in June.

Manager Tom Shaker currently has three shows planned for the summer months. "Winnie the Pooh," "You're a Good Man Charlie Brown" and "Wind in the Willows" will mark the Punch's debut as a showcase for live theatre productions.

Each of the shows will be produced as matinee performances on Saturdays and Sundays. Shaker says auditions for cast members will begin around the end of May. "All kinds of people are needed to get involved," he says. "Actors, actresses, directors, technicians, lighting experts, anyone who wants to help."

Open to All

Casting is open to children as well as adults. Two of the shows already have directors: "Winnie the Pooh" will be directed by Sally Reynolds, currently Director of the War Memorial's Children Theatre program.

"Wind in the Willows," which will be shown in August, will be directed by actress/writer/director Pamela Hall, who has numerous television credits to her name and has worked extensively in stage writing and directing.

Shaker sees the goal of the summer theatre program as getting people in Grosse Pointe interested in coming to the Punch and Judy for live theatre. He describes it as a warm-up for the fall schedule when the Punch will go all out with theatrical activity—comedies, musicals, dramas, light operas—the kind of entertainment Shaker has been aiming at since taking over as manager last January.

Sensitive
"There are a lot of artistic people in Grosse Pointe—actors, musicians, writers and so on. The community itself has always understood the importance of the arts. Of all the suburbs in the metropolitan area, none are more theatrically sensitive than Grosse Pointe," he says.

Shaker claims that whatever the Punch produces, it's got to be good. That's why it has taken him a while to get live theatre going. He knows the community won't support him unless he provides quality entertainment.

The 27-year-old actor/manager says his plan for the Punch is to make it a showcase for the best artistic talent in the area. He wants Grosse Pointe to be known for the theatre's live entertainment productions and to be seen as a viable alternative to what Detroit has to offer.

In addition to the summer theatre program, beginning acting classes under Pamela Hall's direction will begin April 19. Classes will be held within the theatre in three-hour sessions on consecutive Saturdays.

Ms. Hall has an impressive background with writing, acting and directing credits extending to stage, screen and television. She has acted on the television programs "Gunsmoke," "Bracken's World," "That's Life" and several PBS specials.

Qualified

She has written and directed for the stage the productions "Good Evening, Friends," "Diary of a Moonchild," "The Red Deer" and "Afternoon Remembered." Hall has worked in one capacity or another with Lucille Ball, Robert Morse and Richard Chamberlain.

Her classes will cover the technical aspects of acting such as improvisation, cold reading, character study and scene work, but equally important, her students will get a thorough grounding in the practical aspects of breaking into the acting field.

Hall feels there is a lot of talent in this area, but that actors and actresses need help in making the step from the midwest to New York or Los Angeles.

"I've met many actors who may have their degrees but are not prepared for auditions, resumes and learning how to deal with agents and studios," she says.

Ms. Hall says the classes are open to anyone. If they are successful, the Punch will develop similar classes for writers and directors as well. Shaker has lined up 14 students already and anticipates good community response to the classes.

"My personal goal is to give people who are interested in show business the kind of knowledge and training they don't get anywhere else," he says.

For more information on the summer theatre program or the acting classes, contact the Punch at 881-4511 or Pamela Hall at 824-6339.

Hutzel Seeks Select Alumni

Hutzel Hospital is planning a unique groundbreaking ceremony for its new 140,000 square foot addition by inviting some select members of its "alumni association" to do the honors.

Rather than turn the symbolic spade of ground with a political figure or a member of the board of trustees, Hutzel is attempting to locate children born at Hutzel Hospital (known as Woman's Hospital before 1965) on the following dates: June 28, 1928, October 8, 1952, and November 14, 1977. The dates represent starting days for various hospital additions.

For over 110 years, Hutzel has served as a major maternity center for the Detroit area. Today it has the most active obstetrical facility in Michigan registering almost 6,000 births yearly.

Hutzel asks that anyone born on the given dates contact Leonard Schodowski in Hutzel's public relations department at 494-7225.

Ward to Attend Methodist Talk

Rev. Robert P. Ward of the Farms will attend the international General Conference of the United Methodist Church April 15 to 25 in Indianapolis. He is one of eight clergy elected from the 521 churches of the eastern and upper Michigan Detroit Conference.

At the sessions decisions will chart the course of the international church for the next four years. Matters affecting missions, bishops, pensions, evangelism, social ethics, local churches, ordination and stewardship will be debated and decided.

Dr. Ward is pastor of Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church and has served churches including Flint's Court Street UMC, Adrian's First UMC, and Ypsilanti's First UMC.

He fulfilled one term as Superintendent of the Ann Arbor District of the Conference from 1972 to 78, where he worked with Bishops Dwight Loder and Edsel Ammons, pastors and lay officers of 74 local churches.

He is on the Board of Outreach Missions and a Trustee of Adrian College.

Arts Council Closes Doors

Detroit Adventure, a metropolitan council of 34 major cultural institutions and early pioneer in the arts council field, is making plans to join the computer generation.

Anticipating the reorganization, the Board of Trustees of Detroit Adventure has temporarily closed its office and services, including the "Calendar of Cultural Events."

No date has been set for the reopening. The April "Calendar" will be the last issue published in its present format.

The first major reorganization study in Detroit Adventure's 20-year history calls for a cultural events promotion service and a newly designed and broadly distributed events calendar.

The proposed plan is based on recommendations of an outside arts consultant, S. Leonard Pas Jr., funded by the Michigan Council for the Arts, and on a year-long study by the Detroit Adventure Review Panel.

The proposal would provide a greater thrust for the growing arts, cultural and leisure-time activities in the metropolitan Detroit area if adequate funds become available, according to Detroit Adventure President Mrs. Louise TeWalt.

"The new Detroit Adventure will require that we find new funds to achieve the independent status Detroit Adventure seeks. Additionally, events listings would be opened to all non-profit cultural organizations as called for in the consultant's report," Mrs. TeWalt said.

"Wayne State University historically has played a major role in Detroit Adventure as one of four founding institutions and major underwriter. Recent notice that the University can no longer provide this level of financial support is a major factor in the interim closing," Mrs. TeWalt said.

"We are pleased Wayne State will continue to assist Detroit Adventure in the reorganization and in the identification of new fund sources. Other founding institutions assisting the reorganization are Detroit Institute of Arts, Detroit Public Library and Detroit Historical Museum."

Noting other Detroit Adventure programs affected by the streamlining effort, Mrs. TeWalt said that the annual May Odyssey scheduled for May 17 and the December 10 Noel Night in the Cultural Center will continue through joint efforts of Cultural Center institutions.

Excursions in Music, a music education program, was transferred to Young Audiences of Metropolitan Detroit last fall. This music program has reached over 1.5 million area school children with orchestral, jazz and opera performances since 1960.

"The program 'spin-offs' and new focus on the expanded format of events listings, according to the Pas report, 'will allow existing institutions to utilize their facilities and events to a full potential.'"

Communications should be sent to Detroit Adventure, c/o Walter P. Reuther Library, Room 207, Wayne State University, Detroit, MI. 48202. Telephone: 577-2266.

Rev. Bertram Visits Pointes

Friends of Rev. Bertram deHues Atwood, former minister of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore, will be able to renew their acquaintance Sunday, April 13, when he returns as guest preacher at the 9:30 and 11:30 a.m. services.

Rev. Atwood served as pastor during the 60's when the church had its 100th anniversary and doubled its facilities. In 1969, he accepted a position at Swarthmore Presbyterian Church in Pennsylvania. He joined the faculty of Princeton Theological Seminary in 1975 and retired in fall 1979.

The topic of Rev. Atwood's sermon will be "No Manipulative God."

Camera Club Shows Slides

The Grosse Pointe Camera Club will meet on Tuesday, April 15, at 7:45 p.m. at Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte, Grosse Pointe Farms.

The meeting features a slide competition on the assignment subject of doors and gates. Visitors are welcome.

The grass is greening, branches budding, and spring in Grosse Pointe inevitably brings thoughts of beauty-to-come at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's lakeside Trial Gardens, maintained by the Grosse Pointe Garden Center's Vincent De-Petris Fund.

This year, the Trial Gardens theme is "Convention Gardens—1980."

Plans are underway for early planting and summer-long care of this award winning community highlight, and those plans could include you. For although a gardener is employed, many volunteers are needed to keep plants and flowers at peak color and fragrance perfection through spring, summer and fall.

To Present Fashions Through The Years

The Women's Alliance of the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church will present a unique fashion show Tuesday, April 15, at 11 o'clock, at the church in Maumee avenue, with a subscription luncheon following at noon. "Reflections of Elegance," directed by Mrs. Kenneth Harle, Jr., and Ruth Chosy, is a trunk showing of gorgeous gowns from the 1840s through the Flapper era, including

Included in the parade of clothes is a black velvet dress belonging to Mrs. Boynton Hartz, designed for her in Paris in 1923 when she was an art scholarship student there. The designer sent the dress to Morocco, where it was embroidered in a North African motif.

The Reverend Nancy Doughty is loaning a spectacular Flapper party dress. Its color? "Evening in Paris" blue.

The whole show is a delight, and it's open to the public, at $3 per person, (no charge for Women's Alliance members). Luncheon tickets are $2 per person. Tickets for both the show and the luncheon may be obtained by sending checks, payable to the Women's Alliance of the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church, with self-addressed, stamped envelopes to Mrs. Mitasik or Mrs. Fossati, c/o the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church, 17150 Maumee avenue, Grosse Pointe, Michigan 48230.

Tuesday Musicale Concludes Season

Organization Will Offer Two Morning Concerts, Plus Brahms Festival Evening Concert in April

Tuesday Musicale concludes its season with three concerts this month. Morning concerts will be offered on April 15 and 29, at 10:30 o'clock in the Friends' Auditorium of the Main Detroit Public Library. On the evening of April 22, Tuesday Musicale and the Detroit Symphony Orchestra will co-sponsor a recital of Brahms' chamber music as part of the DSO Brahms Festival.

The Brahms Festival recital, which takes place at 8 o'clock in the Community Arts Auditorium of Wayne State University, will feature Paul Schaller and Italo Babin, the DSO's principal clarinetist and principal cellist, and pianist William Donnagan.

The program includes Brahms' Clarinet Sonata No. 1 in F minor, Op. 120, No. 1, Cello Sonata No. 2 in F major, Op. 99, and Clarinet Trio in A minor, Op. 114.

As co-sponsor, Tuesday Musicale has pledged the sale of 100 general admission seats in the front section. Tickets in the Tuesday Musicale block are being offered to the public at $9 each, and are available from Tuesday Musicale executive board members or by calling Mrs. Eugene T. Ignasiak, of Dorthen road, the Musicale's president, at 884-2898.

Chairman of the day for the April 15 morning concert is Mrs. J. N. Jennings, of Whittier road. Mrs. Dan Frohman, of Royal Oak, will open the program with Kabalevsky's Sonata No. 3, Op. 46, for piano.

Mrs. V. Everett Kinsey, of Troy, violin, and Mary Le-vack, of Birmingham, piano, will perform Mozart's Sonata No. 8 in C major, K 296, and Warren pianist Mrs. Donald Muench will offer eight Ravel Valses Nobles et Sentimentales.

President Ignasiak, soprano, and Detroiters Pamela Glasser, horn, and Sister Rose Carmel Burgess, piano, will perform the two concluding numbers: Arnold Cooke's Five Nocturnes, Richard Strauss' Du Meines Herzens Kronelein and Erich Korngold's Mariettas Lied zur Laute.

Mrs. Peter Siciliano, Tuesday Musicale Student League chairman, has planned the program for the season's final concert on April 29. Performers will be older members, principally graduating seniors and juniors, of the Student League.

Before the concert begins, Mrs. Siciliano will announce the winners of the Student League scholarship competitions, to be held on April 20.

Current Tuesday Musicale executive board members serving under President Ignasiak include Mrs. M. A. Klerck, of Mount Clemens, (Continued on Page 18)

Guidance Center's Thanks to Girl Scouts

Cadet Girl Scout Troop No. 282, under the leadership of Brenda Bunnell, of Roslyn road, recently completed a service project for the Northeast Guidance Center's Child Day Treatment Program.

The Scouts made 32 different learning aides now being used by teachers and volunteers as they work with the primary group of children in this special program for the emotionally impaired.

"Each individual project was made very carefully so that it would be attractive as well as durable. The scouts are to be congratulated for their creativity and resourcefulness and for their willingness to be of service to the community," commented Jan Arnot, Guidance Center project coordinator.

The scouts, who meet weekly at Parcels Middle School, are all from Grosse Pointe or Harper Woods. Involved in the project were Barb Adams, Beth Bunnell, Kathy Bakeman, Kristen Campbell, Michelle Gier, Lynly Jones, Lisa Krembel, Michelle Leone, Donna Marsden, Julie Parise, Dianne Plath, Kim Robertson, Lee Ann Seymour, Jennifer Tuffley and Lisa Waldvogel.

"This scout troop has made a fine contribution to the Northeast Guidance Center and we very much appreciate the girls' time, effort and commitment. We hope that through this experience they have received the satisfaction that comes only from helping others, and also have become a little more knowledgeable about the mental health resources available in our community through the center," stated Dr. Jonathan York, NEGC executive director. The Northeast Guidance Center is the comprehensive community mental health center which serves all The Pointes, Harper Woods and a portion of Northeast Detroit.

The center provides a full range of diagnostic, treatment and consultation services for persons of all ages. For more information, call center, 824-8000.

Music for dining and dancing will be by the Fenby-Carr Orchestra.

The evening is sponsored by the Providence Hospital Foundation, with the cooperation of the Medical Staff Research Foundation, to express appreciation to the hospital's benefactors for their support during the past year.

Sustaining members of the Friends of Providence, who have contributed $1,000 or more, will have tables for 10 reserved. Gifts of $250 or more entitle participating members to two reservations for the gala.

Dinner reservations and information on membership in the Friends of Providence may be obtained by contacting the Providence Foundation office, 424-3441. Contributions to the foundation are tax deductible as provided by law.

First English Lutheran Co-op Elects Officers

Members of First English Lutheran Cooperative Nursery recently elected Mrs. Charles Zoltawski, of Beau-fait road, to serve as their executive board president for the 1980-81 school year.

Also elected at the March parents' meeting were Pointers Mrs. Michael Heaphy, vice-president, Mrs. Ronald Bauer, secretary, Mrs. John Finkelmann, treasurer, Mrs. Frank DaMore, membership chairman, Mrs. Gary Parr, health chairman, Mrs. Douglas Luttenger, equipment chairman, and Mrs. Michael Brogan, newsletter and publicity chairman.

The nursery school, located in First English Evangelical Lutheran Church, Vernier road at Wedgewood drive, will finish its current school year May 15, with a graduation party for its four-year-olds.

Other spring activities include Fathers' Nights and Pinata Birthday Parties for both the three and four-year-old classes.

Next fall, in preparation for her retirement, Mrs. Charles Fisher, a former kindergarten teacher who has been with First English Co-op Nursery for eight years, will instruct only the four-year-old class.

Mrs. David Adams, retiring president of the school and former elementary teacher in the Lakeview School District, will teach the three-year-old class.

Information on 1980-81 enrollment may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Gary Konsler, 886-6730, or Mrs. Adams, 882-5288.

Old-Dugdale Vows Spoken

Forrest Robert Old, Jr., who has been residing in Christopher street, New York, claimed Elizabeth Anne Dugdale as his bride Saturday, December 15, at a late morning ceremony in Christ Chapel of New York's Riverside Church.

The 11 o'clock rites at which The Reverend Dr. William Sloane Coffin presided were followed by a reception at New York's Plaza Hotel.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Edward W. McGill, of Hudson View Gardens, New York, N.Y., and the late Harold F. Dugdale. The bridegroom is the son of former Pointer Forrest Robert Old, who now resides in Naples, Fla., and the late Elizabeth B. Old.

After a vacation on Martha's Vineyard, the newlyweds are at home in New York City, where he is national sales trainer for Dun's Marketing, a division of Dun and Bradstreet, and she

Among those present at the ceremony were the bridegroom's brothers-in-law and sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Cochran, of Reston, Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ray, of Grosse Pointe City, and his aunt and cousins, Woods residents Mrs. Janet Allen and Diane and Judy Allen.

An antique lace collar, once worn by her grandmother, accented the former Miss Dugdale's knee length wedding dress of candlelight chiffon. She wore a gardenia in her hair and carried an arrangement of stephanotis, white tea roses and gardenias.

She was attended by her former Ohio Wesleyan University roommate, Mrs. W. B. Hall, of New Hartford, Conn., in a knee length dress of plum-colored silk. She carried pink tea roses and wore a spray of baby's-breath in her hair. Forrest Robert Old was his son's best man.

The mother of the bride wore a knee length dress of beaded beige silk. The bridegroom's stepmother chose a midnight blue suit and white satin blouse, with a bow at the neck. Each pinned a white orchid to her purse.

Annual Benefit For Jenny Lind

Grosse Pointe members of the Jenny Lind Club will travel across town next Tuesday, April 15, to rendezvous at noon at the Birmingham home of Mrs. Ralph Thomas, Jr., for their annual benefit.

Proceeds from past benefits have been given to the Swedish-American Council in Philadelphia, the Detroit Swedish Council, Cranbrook Academy of Art and the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Assisting Mrs. Fred Flom, chairman of the day, are Mrs. Carl Johnson, Mrs. Ted Nichols and Mrs. Robert Swanson.

Salad Smorgasbord At Calvary Lutheran

Delicious Night for Jardinieres

Dr. and Mrs. Jack Bautista, of South Brys drive, hosted an Italian wine tasting party for members of La Societe des Jardinieres and their husbands last Thursday, March 27.

The evening featured Larry Shade, manager of Gibbs Wines, Inc., and importers Anthony and Chip Delsner, who discussed the cheeses and wines available from the various regions in Italy.

Co-hosting the party were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Deeney, also of Brys drive.

This month, it's back to garden club business for the Jardinieres, who plan a spring tour of the Belle Isle Conservatory.

Pastiche to Play for IBEX

IBEX members and their guests gather a week from tomorrow, Friday, April 18, at 8 in the evening in the Lewiston road home of Joanne and Donald Chamberlin, to hear one of Detroit's most exciting performing groups: the Pastiche Wind Quintet.

Pastiche was named last year as official goodwill ambassador for Detroit by the Mayor and City Council. Its subsequent musical tour of Italy, including a visit to Detroit's sister city of Florence, was highly acclaimed.

The quintet promises a super "sampler" program for IBEX, featuring Bach to Scott Joplin excerpts from its broad repertoire.

Future plans for IBEX include a dinner dance June 6 at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. It will be a romantic evening of Cole Porter music... more about this later.

Celebrity Series 1980-81

Bon Secours Hospital Assistance League presents another group of great stars during the 27th Annual Celebrity Series, starting the second Thursday in October, 1980, continuing through March, 1981, at Woods Theatre I.

Season opener David Frost, an Emmy Award winner, will describe "Interviews I Shall Never Forget." The next month's program will be a Morning with Alan Lerner, America's musical giant.

After a Christmas month break, the series resumes in early January with a talk by Terry Hecker, nationally known author, entitled "Occupation Housewife: Confessions of an Endangered Species."

NBC News correspondent Richard Valeriani, the February speaker, will tell about his travels with Henry Kissinger, and Oscar winning actress Celeste Holm closes the season in March with "Three Women and Mr. Clifford."

Series tickets may be obtained by sending checks for $26, payable to Bon Secours Assistance (Continued on Page 32)

Pointe Garden Club to Meet

Mrs. Clarence E. Meguire will open her Lochmoor boulevard home Monday, April 21, for The Pointe Garden Club's regular monthly meeting. She will be assisted by hostesses Mrs. C. G. Browne, Mrs. Hansel D. Wilson and Mrs. Paul M. Hostetter. The program will feature a panel discussion: Preparing Perennials.

Mrs. C. Bayard Johnson assisted Mrs. Gerald E. Warren when she opened her Merrivether road home for the club's monthly meeting in mid-March. The program, "All About Sprouts," was presented by Mrs. Robert Russell and Mrs. Hostetter.

Detroit Retired School Personnel Meet April 11

The Detroit Association of Retired School Personnel meets tomorrow, Friday, April 11, at 1 o'clock at Westminster Presbyterian Church Fellowship Hall, Hubbell at West Outer drive, Detroit, to hear Robert N. Brown, associate professor, University of Detroit School of Law, speak on "Rights of Older Persons."

Ralph MacPherson, association president, will preside. Dr. Brown, who received his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1966 and a J.D. in 1969 from the University of Michigan, also holds an L.L.D. from George Washington University.

Will Wed

The engagement of JULIA MARGARET JOHNSON and Gernot A. Joachim has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Johnson, of Riverfront road. A mid-September wedding is planned.

Miss Johnson, a Grosse Pointe North High School alumna, received her Bachelor of Arts degree in Elementary Education from the University of Michigan last April and is currently attending Wayne State University, working toward a Masters degree in Gifted Education.

She is affiliated with Pi Beta Phi social sorority, Pi Lambda Theta national honor and professional association in Education, Mortarboard, Pi Sigma Alpha national honor society for college seniors and Phi Kappa Phi honor society, and is presently working as a substitute teacher in the Grosse Pointe Public School System.

Her fiancé, son of Mrs. Erna Joachim and Adolf Joachim, both of Saint Joseph, is an alumnus of Saint Joseph Senior High School, attended the University of Michigan and expects to be graduated this summer from Eastern Michigan University with a degree in Finance. He is affiliated with Chi Psi fraternity.

To Marry

Early June wedding plans are being made by KRISTINA LYNN FULGENZI and Petty Officer Richard Doyle South, USN, whose engagement has been announced by her parents, Dr. and Mrs. William R. Fulgenzi, of Lothrop road.

The bride-elect attended Grosse Pointe South High School and Southern Methodist University, where she was a member of the Girls Tennis Team, and is now a student at Central Michigan University.

Her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee South, of Stephenville, Tex., majored in Music at Northwestern and Southern Methodist Universities, and is currently studying to be a Nuclear Engineer. He is stationed at Great Lakes, Ill., and will be transferred to Orlando, Fla., in June.

Election Meeting for Woman's Club

Floor Loom Class Slated

Brenda Brady will utilize the four harness Macomber looms with which the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Art Wing is equipped to teach floor loom weaving this spring on Mondays, beginning next week, April 14, continuing through May 5.

Classes will run from 10 in the morning to 1 in the afternoon. Fee is $50. Additional time can be scheduled on the looms.

Students will learn to use the warping board, calculate warp yarn, dress and maintain the looms and weave decorative and useful items.

Busy Year Underway for Xi Alpha Zetas

This has been a busy year for members of Xi Alpha Zeta, who enjoyed a purse party in February, an "afternoon out" at the RenCen in mid-March and helped answer phones at the Channel 56 Auction at the end of March.

This month, the group will be giving an Easter basket to a needy family. April also brings the annual Founders Day Dinner, while May activities will include a Mother's Day luncheon early in the month, plus installation of next year's executive board officers.

Planning Law Day in The Pointe

Grosse Pointe Lawyers' Wives 1980 Law Day committee including, (left to right), KAY (Mrs. Stephen) WASINGER, KAMI (Mrs. John) AULD and PATTI (Mrs. David) RITTER and, (not pictured), the Mesdames Neal T. Combs, Robert Weyhing, III, and David Barbour are busy with plans for this year's celebration. The Pointe Lawyers' Wives will be presenting Concerned

Citizens Awards to three persons, each of whom has performed an outstanding community service in 1979-80, at a special Awards Ceremony on Law Day, Thursday, May 1, in the Grosse Pointe Woods Municipal Building's Council Room Chambers. Grosse Pointe Municipal Judge Stan Kazul will be guest speaker. The ceremony starts at 8 o'clock, and is open to the public.

The Lawyers' Wives also plan to distribute 1,000 free pine seedlings, (the white pine is the state tree), on a first come, first serve basis in The Village the morning of Saturday, April 26.

Law Day is set aside on May 1 each year by a joint resolution of Congress and Presidential Proclamation "as a special day of celebration by the America people in appreciation of their liberties."

Theme of Law Day 1980 is "Law and Lawyers Working for You."

Brahms Concert at War Memorial Stars Maureen Forrester

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra's Brahms Festival comes to Grosse Pointe this season to present one of its most outstanding and appealing concerts: a program by contralto Maureen Forrester Friday evening, April 25, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center.

She will give a recital of Brahms songs, accompanied by John Newmark, piano, and Nathan Gordon, viola. The program is co-sponsored by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association, which is offering a pre-concert dinner and an afterglow in the center's Crystal Ballroom.

Miss Forrester is a leading artist on five continents. She made her Metropolitan Opera debut in 1975 as Erda in "Das Rheingold." Her roles with world famous opera companies have included the Countess in "Pique Dame," Micah in Handel's "Samson," Flora in Menotti's "Medium" and Mistress Quickly in "Falstaff."

She appears regularly with prominent orchestras and in recital series everywhere. She has shared the Carnegie Hall stage with Isaac Stern in the Festival of Chamber Music.

Her rich, expressive voice is known to millions via recordings on the RCA, Columbia, Vanguard, London and Westminster labels.

Few Brahms programs could have more popular appeal than the one Miss Forrester has planned for Grosse Pointe. Her opening group is light and romantic, with the Hungarian style Magyarisch and the airy Botschaft (message) Immer Leiser Wird Mein Schlummer, (My sleep becomes uneasy), Meine Liebe ist Gruen, (My love is young), and Von Ewiger Liebe, (Of eternal love).

A more serious note dominates the four devout songs based on Biblical texts, (Vier Ernste Gesaenge), that follow.

Miss Forrester will devote the second half of her program to the lively and engaging Gypsy Songs, singing in duet with the viola as the second voice.

"It would challenge any artist to choose a classical program with broader popular appeal," observes Alex Sucek, who assisted in scheduling this program at the War Memorial. "It's a rare opportunity to hear an artist of the highest rank in the comfort and convenience of our own community center."

Tickets for the concert are available, at $9, at the War Memorial. Information may be obtained by calling the center, 881-7511.

Collate Breast Cancer Data

Park resident Helen E. Ownby, Ph.D., has been named data manager of the Michigan Cancer Foundation's Breast Cancer Prognostic Study in Detroit.

As manager, she will analyze data collected from 655 primary breast tumor samples entered into the study since its organization in 1975.

The study is directed toward developing routine predictive tests to determine, at the time of surgery, whether a breast cancer is likely to recur. The development of such tests would be useful in designing the most effective post-operative treatment for women whose risk of recurrence is greatest.

Dr. Ownby earned her undergraduate degree from Wittenberg University in Ohio and her Master of Science and Ph.D. degrees in Microbiology and Public Health from Michigan State University.

Before joining the MCF, a noted center for leukemia and breast cancer research, she was on the faculty of Duke University and the Medical College of Ohio.

Dr. Ownby and her husband, Dr. Dennis R. Ownby, have two children.

Auxiliary Gives Its Gift to Cottage

A check for $35,000 was presented to RALPH WILGARDE, administrator of Cottage Hospital, by MRS. GEORGE KIENLE, president of the Cottage Hospital Auxiliary, at her group's recent annual meeting. The money, raised by the auxiliary during the year, will be used to benefit the hospital. Cottage Auxiliary's current membership of 400 donated over 51,000 hours to the hospital in 1979.

Control Weight Via Physical Activity

If you want to keep on eating and not gain weight, do more moving.

The key to weight maintenance is the relationship between how much oxygen you burn and how much heat your body produces, according to Dale Romsos, professor of Food Science and Human Nutrition at Michigan State University.

There's not much you can do about changing your basal metabolism or your physical maintenance needs, he says, but there's something you can do about how active you are.

Addressing an overflow crowd of nutritionists, coaches and athletes on the MSU campus, Romsos opened a day-long program on nutrition and exercise during MSU's Farmers' Week, March 17 to 22.

"Our bodies have a very efficient mechanism for converting our energy intake into activity," Romsos said. In the average person, more than 99 percent of the energy we consume in food is converted and used.

Almost half that energy is taken up by basal metabolism—the business of converting food into protein and regulating the sodium/potassium balance in the cells.

The next 30 percent is used for primary maintenance by the body. Physical activity commands only the last 20 percent of energy taken in by most individuals, and this is the area where variation is possible.

"It's possible to divert a lot of energy directly into storage," Romsos pointed out, but that requires consuming far more energy than the body can use.

"You are always expending some energy," he commented. "When you increase your physical activity—through tennis, for example—be sure to subtract the amount of energy you'd be burning during that hour anyway when you figure how many calories you've burned."

A balanced diet and balanced exercise allow the body to balance its energy equation. In most people, the equation is straightforward. The key is to burn what you consume.

Pointe Alpha Xi Deltas To Host Founders Day

Grosse Pointe Alumnae of Alpha Xi Delta will host their sorority's metropolitan Detroit area Founders Day luncheon Saturday, April 26, at Lambardi's Restaurant, East Warren avenue at Cadieux road.

Women from The Pointe, Oakland County, Western Wayne and Detroit Alumnae chapters are expected to gather at the restaurant at noon to honor Alpha Xi Delta's 10 national founders. Also on the agenda is discussion of the sorority's national convention, to take place in June in Arlington, Va.

Area Alpha Xi Deltas who wish to attend the Founders Luncheon should make reservations by Saturday, April 19, with Mrs. Michael Brogan, luncheon chairman.

Form Cesarean Support Group

Cesarean Birth Information, a division of Childbirth Information Services, Inc., is sponsoring monthly support group meetings for couples anticipating or having had a cesarean.

The purpose of the meetings is to provide a positive atmosphere in which couples can raise questions, seek information and derive support from others who have had a similar experience.

This month's meeting, first of a new monthly series of discussions, was set for Tuesday, April 1, at 7:30 in the evening. Further information may be obtained by contacting Judy Cheney, 293-9312, or Betty Ann Navarre, 939-7412.

Set Secretaries Week Celebrations in April

Secretaries Week, founded in 1952, and still sponsored by the National Secretaries Association (International), will be observed April 20 through 26 this year, with Wednesday, April 23, designated as Secretaries Day by the NSA.

"Secretaries Are Forever" is 1980's theme. Chairman of the Detroit NSA Chapter's local observances is Helen M. Goulet, assistant vice president. First Federal Savings of Detroit, who has announced that Patty Murphy will be honored as the chapter's Secretary of the Year during the group's annual banquet Wednesday, April 23, at the Gourmet House in St. Clair Shores.

Festivities begin at 5:45, with dinner scheduled for 7 o'clock. Admission is $21. Reservations may be made by contacting Agnes Stechbart, 259-0200.

Seeking State Artists' Work

The largest statewide artists competition ever held in the United States is now underway in Michigan at a cost of $200,000.

Some 10,000 artists in all media are expected to submit entries to four separate professional juries throughout the state, with the regional winners earning a final showing at the Detroit Institute of Arts. Entries will encompass traditional media, crafts and such experimental forms as video.

The four regional exhibitions and the grand show in Detroit will span 16 months, from July, 1980, until November, 1981.

"Michigan Artists '80/81" competition is supported by 11 public and university art museums, including the sponsoring Detroit Institute of Arts Founders Society and the Michigan Council for the Arts. The Detroit event will feature an eight-week display of the winners' work, as well as a published catalogue.

Jay Belloli, curator of Modern Art at the DIA, and Nancy Gordon, coordinator of the huge undertaking, state: "Michigan should achieve two things from the venture. Artists anywhere in the state who wish attention from their peers and the public will have the chance to get it. And art lovers will see some of the finest work being done in Michigan."

Additional information for artists and requests for entry forms, which require an $8 entry fee, may be made to local art organizations, university art departments and participating museums throughout Michigan.

Vocal Group To Compete

Grosse Pointe South's Chorale under the direction of Charles Gleason will compete for the championship on April 15 at Albion College.

The Chorale qualified for the championship competition on March 29 at the state Solo and Ensemble Festival and were "Superb... a joy to see and hear," according to Larry Marsh, University of Michigan choral director.

The group was scored on its performance of two prepared selections and sight reading. The Chorale was among 20 groups who were nominated by judges to go to the championship competition.

Watch Out for Auto Theft

Once dominated by youthful "joy-riders," auto theft has emerged as one of the leading crime problems facing our country today. A growing part of the problem is professional rings which resell stolen vehicles or strip them for valuable parts.

Operations such as these have contributed to an alarming increase in auto theft during recent years. Latest FBI statistics indicate auto theft in 1979 was near the 1,100,000 mark — up approximately 11 percent from 1978. The resulting monetary loss to the American public is estimated at $4 billion annually.

According to Robert Barber, manager of property loss for Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, a high percentage of stolen vehicles are unlocked at the time of theft — many with keys left in the ignition. Barber says this indicates something can be done on a personal level to stem the growth of auto theft and possibly prevent the loss of your vehicle. He suggests the following simple rules.

• Always lock your car and take the keys with you. If you must leave valuables in the car, always put them in the trunk.

• Close all windows completely when leaving your car unattended. It's better to return to a poorly ventilated car than to an empty parking space.

• Park in well-lighted areas only. A thief is less likely to attempt to steal your car in an area with good street or parking lot lighting.

• If you park your car in your garage, always lock the door of the garage as well as the car. Protect your vehicle by placing as many obstacles as possible between it and the thief. The more locks and doors the thief has to open, the more difficult it will be to steal the vehicle.

• If possible, install an alarm system or other anti-theft devices in your car. A variety of these are available

• Don't leave your license or car's title in the glove compartment. This is another open invitation to theft and may assist the thief in avoiding detection. You may also need the information in these documents when reporting the theft to the police and your insurance company.

While no one can totally escape the threat of auto theft, each person can help by making the thief's job as difficult and uninviting as possible. Do your part and join in the fight against this growing crime. Don't leave the door open to auto theft.

SHS Orators Take Honors South High's forensics team showed nine winners in the district competition Tuesday, March 25, at Regina High School.

In the interpretive reading, Angie Kemp took first place in story telling, Kaki Tindall scored second in humorous reading, as did Ted Parr and Diane Crea in dramatic duos. The team of Cheryl Gutteridge, Gina Bartoszewicz and Peggy Shreiber also placed second in multiple reading.

South also scored well in the public speaking with Mark Doyal placing first in radio news and Mike Murphy taking second in impromptu speaking.

Winners placing at the Regionals will qualify for the state competition in Ann Arbor, May 8.

Coaching this year's team is Judy Kefgen, wife of last year's coach Bruce Kefgen who is a speech teacher and play director at South.

Star Forensic Team Competes

By Leslie Burson Nine representatives from Our Lady Star of the Sea High School competed in the Michigan Inter-scholastic Forensics District Tournament on March 25 at Regina High School.

The winners from Star, all members of the senior class, were Evelyn Gaynor, first place in oratory, Theresa Meehan, second place in serious reading, and Jill Van Hollebeke, third place in humorous reading.

Each winner received a certificate, and each is now eligible to compete in the Regional Competition to be held on April 16.

Hobbies May Cut Taxes

Many people operate a part-time business after putting in a regular workweek at a salaried job. Although these "moonlight" businesses provide extra income, they are often outgrowths of hobbies or talents which provide a great deal of personal satisfaction. Sometimes these people hope to one day give up regular jobs and earn a living doing what they love most.

A computer analyst liked to relax after commuting from the city by building a sailboat in his suburban garage. His boat was much admired on the water, and a fellow sailor asked him to build a boat for him.

Now, the computer analyst was being paid for his "hobby." As his reputation as a craftsman grew, more and more orders for sailboats came in, his garage had become exclusively a "shop," and his hobby was making a profit.

He eventually hired an assistant to help run what had grown from a hobby to a "garage" industry and then into a very busy and profitable small business.

These same circumstances can apply to the antique collector who is now a dealer; the homemaker who operates a babysitting service; the bus driver who is developing a peach farm and the magazine editor who runs an editorial service from his home.

There is sometimes no clear distinction, says the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants, between freelancers, hobbyists who sell their work and full-fledged small business operators with the various stages in between.

Many people fail to realize substantial tax savings, because they don't realize their hobby or sideline is actually a business. If the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) decides you are more interested in pleasure than profit, they may want to consider your activity a hobby. In that case they will tax the income from your hobby, but will consider any losses purely personal. The losses will not be deductible as business expenses.

A business that is as much hobby as anything else, say the Michigan CPAs, will be allowed to deduct operating expenses, but only up to the amount of taxable income the operation produces. Operating losses, which an established company can write off against taxable income, even applying any excess to previous or future years, have no tax effect for the hobbyist. The hobbyist must absorb those costs.

Does your business spend more than it earns? It must be shown that the activity engaged in is for the specific purpose of making a profit in order to claim deductions, say the CPAs.

Also, there must be a justification for your hope of making a profit with your qualifications and experience such that the expectation is realistic. Finally, a business must be conducted using profit-motivation techniques such as advertising, promotions, minimizing costs and maximizing sales.

A good starting point in establishing that a true business exists is to actually show a profit. There must be taxable income out of five consecutive years, in any two or more of those years. It will then be presumed you are engaged in an activity for profit. The importance of adequate books and records cannot be over emphasized.

An editor who adds to his income with freelance editing work is simply moonlighting. However, if he operates an editorial service, it may qualify as a business, but it would be difficult to show where his regular professional work ends and his part-time business begins.

His professional library, association dues and subscriptions could be necessities for either job. An electric typewriter, purchased for use in the editorial service, could be considered depreciable business equipment. However, it would be difficult to show that the editor never used the typewriter for his regular job or simply for a freelance assignment.

Business premises are another sensitive issue. The deduction for a home office was abused for so long that a few years ago Congress cracked down. To qualify as a business expense, an office at home must be used exclusively and on a regular basis as the taxpayer's principal place of business.

If the antique dealer runs his service from the family basement, it must be shown that the family does not use the basement at all. The dealer must be able to prove that customers visit the basement office to do business on a regular basis and careful records of dates of visits must be kept.

A small business can also get investment credit for tools and equipment, new or used, purchased during the year. To qualify, items purchased must be useable over an extended period and cannot include inventory or real estate, although certain building improvements do meet the requirements. The investment credit is equivalent to a rebate by the government of up to 10 percent of the purchase price.

The rate at which a company depreciates or amortizes its fixed assets will affect its after-tax income. There are alternative ways of depreciating, with still newer ones now being considered by Congress.

The owners of an incorporated business can enjoy certain tax-favored benefits, say the CPAs. These include pension and profit-sharing, company paid Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA) and sick-pay plans usually allowable only if the same benefits are extended to other employees. Those not incorporated are entitled to certain of these as well, such as the self-employed pension or profit-sharing plan.

Group Offers Legal Advice

Detroit area groups and organizations can learn about the legal aspects of child abuse, on-the-job sexual harassment, violent crime and any other law-related topic by calling the Detroit Bar Association's Speakers Bureau.

The bureau will arrange for an attorney to attend meetings and speak on such diverse topics as divorce, estate planning, careers in the legal profession, and jury duty.

As a public service of the Detroit Bar Association, the attorneys will address groups free of charge.

"Many Detroit area organizations would like to have an attorney attend their meetings and answer questions about the law," according to Shirley Saltzman, Detroit attorney and chairman of the Speaker's Bureau Committee. "By calling the Speakers Bureau, they can arrange for an attorney to meet with them at a convenient time and place."

All attorneys in the Speakers Bureau are members of the State Bar of Michigan and the Detroit Bar Association, a non-profit association of about 4,000 attorneys in Detroit and the surrounding area.

To request a speaker through the Speakers Bureau, call the Detroit Bar Association at 961-6120 and ask for Joe Hines, Speakers Bureau coordinator, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Motorists Choose Belts Over Air Bags

More than four-out-of-five motorists in Michigan would choose seat belts over air bags if passive restraints became mandatory, according to a survey of Automobile Club of Michigan members.

The results of the annual survey of member attitudes on topics ranging from automobiles to energy shows 63 percent of the respondents oppose a law requiring front-seat passengers to wear safety belts.

However, 86 percent said that given the choice between seat belts and air bags, they would opt for the belts.

The U.S. Department of Transportation in 1977 ordered passive restraints, (air bags or automatic seat belts), on all full-size cars by the 1982 model year and on all cars by 1984.

Auto Club, while favoring passive restraints, is opposed to mandatory air bags because of their questionable reliability and cost, (current estimates range from $500 to $800 and more than twice that much for replacement), and because they deploy only in head-on collisions.

A total of 4,546 Auto Club members responded to the questionnaire. Findings on other safety issues showed:

- Forty percent said they always wear safety belts (national surveys show only 10.9 percent wearing belts), 33 percent wear them sometimes and the remainder never.

- Fifty-nine percent said they always obey the 55 mile per hour speed limit while 41 percent said they do sometimes.

- Seventy-five percent favor helmets for motorcyclists.

Awaiting Bright Sunny Days . . . this time of year, the eye seeks out bright sunny colors. At Walton-Pierce see the Tanner coordinates in spring green, rose and yellow. In the green group you can put together a green T-shirt, piped in white or a green and white print top or a white blouse edged in green, or a green and white checked shirt with a green poly and silk blend skirt. If it is a bit cool, Tanner gives you a choice of a nubby sweater-jacket or a white sweater that buttons down the scalloped front. There are similar pieces in the rose and yellow separates collection by Tanner. From Hooper you can pick up a navy and white striped top with a white collar. Pair it with either a navy straight or pleated skirt. Complete the look with Hooper's two button white polyester knit blazer. For fashion fun and comfort, there's a green terry jumpsuit with an elasticized top and waist. It could be worn strapless. Love those new Kasper jeans in white and the navy denim skirt from Tudor Square. A new selection of blouses have arrived from Contess Monique. For the bridge player there is a tiny print of spades, hearts, diamonds and clubs . . . red, tan and black. Other patterns are an arrow stripe and an alphabet print . . . in red, white and blue. For those of you who like Oscar de La Renta his Miss O two piece purple dress is printed with abstract Os in bright pink, red, blue or green. Looking for a smart white suit? Devon Hall has the answer in a short sleeve jacket with a white leather belt piped with yellow and pink. It tops a slender skirt. In the Lingerie Department new caftans with night gowns from Travel Lite come in white with brush strokes of red, green, blue, yellow and black.

Check The Bargain Table . . . at the Notre Dame Pharmacy it might have the cosmetic, soap or grooming aid you'd usually buy at full price. If it's on "the table", it's a bargain.

You Should See . . . the new collection of Norman Rockwell museum figurines reproduced from the original art of Norman Rockwell. They are waiting for you at the Squirrel's Nest, Huntington and Mack.

This Summer . . . discover Canada and the Northwest. It's a joyful holiday to some of nature's most spectacular spots . . . JOSE AND IRMA RUSSO, OF AUDUBON ROAD

By Dean Brierly

If one were pressed to come up with a one-word definition of Jose and Irma Russo, it would have to be the word dedication, because this couple from Argentina is so devoted to their jobs as doctors in cancer research that they often continue their studies at home.

"Our work is our enjoyment," Irma Russo explains. Born in Mendoza, Argentina, the Russos lived in that Latin American country for 28 years. They met while attending the University Nationale in Cuyo. Jose was Irma's Pathology instructor while they both studied, and later received Medical degrees there.

Married the past 11 years, they live in the Park.

Both Scientists The Russos are both scientists and medical doctors working for the Michigan Cancer Foundation in Detroit. Their specialty is breast cancer research—specifically in studies directed towards finding ways of establishing protection from the disease.

Jose has been heading a three-year study of the protective properties of pregnancy. Using young laboratory rats, whose mammary structure closely resembles our own. He and his wife have found that rat mammary gland structures are susceptible to cancer-causing agents before pregnancy. Rats who have undergone pregnancy are subsequently protected from carcinogens.

According to the director of the Michigan Cancer Foundation, Dr. Marvin A. Rich, if the study is paralleled in humans it would mean that women who have not been exposed to carcinogens before pregnancy could be invulnerable.

Schedule Super Night for Sight

A star-spangled Night for Sight, benefitting the Eye Research Institute of Retina Foundation, will feature Vic Damone in the Hubbard Ballroom of Dearborn's Hyatt Regency Hotel next Thursday, April 17.

The evening begins at 7 o'clock with a champagne toast to the USA and an American Dream buffet. Show time is at 9; afterwards, there'll be an American Bandstand featuring The Loving Cup and a United Nations coffee bar offering 50 glorious desserts.

Honorary chairmen are Thomas A. Murphy and Ernest A. Jones. General chairmen are Maxwell E. Katzen and Mrs. Sam Frank. The list of co-chairmen includes Grosse Pointe's Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Schoenlith.

Tickets are $75 per person. Reservation information may be obtained by calling 353-9500, Extension 112.

Sigma Kappa Alumnae Meet Next Wednesday

Grosse Pointe Alumnae of Sigma Kappa gather next Wednesday, April 16, at 7:30 in the evening in the Haverhill road home of Lynn (Mrs. Frederick) Van de Putte to elect officers for the coming year.

The proposed slate includes Carole (Mrs. A. W.) Lombardini as president, Heidi (Mrs. John, Jr.) Denler as first vice-president, Nancy Grose and Lynn Van de Putte as corresponding and able to them after their first pregnancy.

"Even though it was known that pregnancy afforded a certain degree of protection from breast cancer, no one had ever studied why. Our study is original," says Jose.

The Russos came to this country in 1972. After living in Miami for 18 months, they were hired by the Michigan Cancer Foundation in 1973 and came to work in Detroit.

They began studying various problems that existed in cancer research. One problem they found was the relation of breast cancer to reproduction. They decided to see how the two things were related to one another.

Get Their Grant They subsequently sent a research proposal to the National Cancer Institute which studied it, weighed it, and finally awarded them a grant of $113,421.

Their study is rather complex, but Irma Russo was able to break it down into relatively simple terms.

"The mammary gland is the only organ we are born with that is not fully developed," she explains.

"During puberty it starts to grow. Only with pregnancy does the gland develop completely. When it is complete, it offers full resistance to cancer-causing agents. If exposed to carcinogens while it is still growing, between the onset of puberty and the first pregnancy, it will be susceptible to cancer.

"If it is not exposed during this time, and the woman becomes pregnant, then she should be immune from breast cancer. The mammary gland is only susceptible while it is still in the developmental stage."

That means, in effect, that a woman of say, 30, who has never been pregnant, will still be susceptible to breast cancer, while a woman who is pregnant at a younger age, assuming she has not been exposed to carcinogens during the crucial developmental stage, should be immune.

Diet Is Important Irma Russo states that the main factor she and Jose have found is the way in which the mammary gland develops. Diet, pregnancy, abortion, and smoking all affect development.

"The principal factor is diet," she says. "Persons with a fatty diet will start menstruating earlier, at about 10 or 11 years. Subsequently, there is a longer dangerous period between the onset of menstruation and their first pregnancy."

Breast cancer, say the Russos, occurs more often in high socio-economic levels. They indicated that Grosse Pointe has one of the highest breast cancer rates in the Detroit metropolitan area.

Irma attributes this to the fact that women in the higher economic levels of society eat too many fatty foods. Another reason is that women in this category are having children later in life. These women want to have a career first and children later, she says.

Mrs. Russo points out that as women get older, the less the mammary gland will develop, even with pregnancy.

"The gland of a woman who gets pregnant for the first time at 30-35 will never develop as fully as that of a woman who first has a pregnancy at 20 or before," she adds.

Nagasaki Study

She cited a study of women exposed to radiation as a result of the 1945 bombing of Nagasaki for confirmation of the hypothesis on which she and Jose are working. The eventual breast cancer rate of girls and young women was much greater than that of women who were older and thus more likely to be mothers at the time of the bombing.

The Russos claim the results of their study are quite good and that they have completed practically all the goals they set for themselves. This has given them confidence to go on.

Jose stated that the National Cancer Institute recently awarded them an additional one year grant to apply what they learned from the first study to humans. With this second study, they also hope to try to find a way to simulate pregnancy and thus effect complete mammary development so that women can still get protection from this type of cancer without actually having to get pregnant.

Most of their findings have already been put into publication. "We recently got a call from the American Cancer Institute to congratulate us and ask us for more information," says Jose. "Reception in the medical community has been very positive."

In addition, the bi-lingual couple taped a public affairs program a while back, in which they discussed their study. It was made with the Public Television System to be aired for the local Hispanic population and later to be syndicated nationally and in Latin America.

Teaching Risks The practical goal of all their research is to teach people the risk involved in certain behavior factors, such as diet and lifestyle, and to try to prevent breast cancer development by treating the mammary gland.

"If all our hypotheses can be confirmed, then they can be applied to patients," says Irma.

The Russos have been doing this type of work ever since they came to Detroit. At first, they lived in Ann Arbor and commuted to work. Then they discovered Grosse Pointe, and decided this is where they wanted to live. After spending a couple of years in the Farms, they found their present home in the Park.

While they enjoy living in the United States, they say they do miss their native land.

Says Irma, "We have roots and traditions in Argentina and have thought several times of going back, but each time we had to decide what was more important: tradition or research. We chose research."

According to Jose, their specific line of research is not very well developed in Argentina at this time. Although a great deal of cancer research is carried out there, it is mostly in other areas. When Argentina begins to enter into the Russos' specialized field, then perhaps they will return; for the time being, however, conditions in this country enable them to carry out their research much more effectively here.

They Like It Here Despite the occasional yearning for home, they have adjusted very well to life in the United States and Grosse Pointe.

"I like living here very much," says Irma. "I like Americans because they're very practical and straightforward. They are really a no-nonsense people, very oriented to solving basic practical problems."

Her husband agrees with her to a point, but sees us in a more romantic light. "Americans are very romantic. There is a lot of romanticism in the American system. By this I mean it is a good social system with good health and good education. For me, this is romanticism in the true sense of the word."

Their work doesn't leave them much free time — as Jose says, it takes "200 percent" of their time.

His wife says simply, "Our role is to find facts in the lab, prove our theories and apply them. We want to do useful and productive things. We do research because we like it. We find spending an evening at home discussing our work very fulfilling." They say they enjoy working in the city of Detroit and are very fond of the people. To them the Renaissance of Detroit is indeed a reality. They see a great spirit in the city and are glad to be a part of it.

Occasional Relaxation While it may seem that the Russos are strict adherents of the all work and no play philosophy, they admit that they do unwind and relax once in a while. Among the activities they enjoy are a night at the opera, an occasional show or movie, or a trip to hear the DSO, which they say is one of Detroit's nicest attributes.

They also feel a need to be creative once in a while and like to take photographs and make movies. Jose used to paint some, but doesn't have the time for it anymore. Work remains the number

The Paucity of Purples

Easter, like Christmas, is a Family Festival occasion, and family festivals are occasions when old wounds tend to re-open, old grudges to surface. Face it: life is NOT like "Little House on the Prairie."

"Well," said my sister, eyeing the candy-crammed Easter basket my mother always places on the dining room table as an Easter centerpiece, "you've done it again."

"Done what again?"

"You got here early and you ate up all the purples."

What can I say? I'm guilty as charged. I spent the morning eating purple jelly beans, and I was happy doing it. But there was no malice in my heart. Honest.

"I never saw you eat a purple. I never even knew you liked them."

"You never saw me eat a purple because I never got a chance to eat a purple while you were around. The only time I ever got to eat purples was when you were in college and you went to Florida over Easter vacation."

"Look, I'm sorry. I'll buy you a whole box of purples."

"You can't buy me a whole box of purples, because they don't make whole boxes of purples. They only make boxes of mixed, and they throw in a whole lot of those rotten oranges and yellows, and VERY FEW purples. Purples are RARE . . ."

"Somehow or other, I'll get you purples."

"I don't want special purples. I want purples from the Easter basket."

"There's not much I can do about that now. Next year, you can have all the purples."

"You've said that before."

"When?"

"In 1952."

"Oh, come off it! You've been waiting since 1952 to tell me that I'm a pig about purples? You're a great big grown-up lady; you've got a child who's older than you were in 1952."

"I haven't been waiting since 1952."

"That's more like it."

"I've been waiting since 1953. I told you about the purples in 1952. I started waiting for you to remember about them in 1953."

And we might have gone on and on in this vein if, at that moment, my brother and his wife and their child hadn't arrived at my mother's door, and there were hellos to be said, and coats to be gotten out of, and this year's Easter basket centerpiece to be admired . . .

"Hold on, now; just a minute," said my brother. "I don't see any red jelly rabbits in this basket. Red jelly rabbits are ALWAYS in the basket—which one of you ate them up before I got here?"

one priority in their life in an age when more and more people seem to be working less and pursuing leisure time more. Yet, to the Russos, work and enjoyment are not incongruous terms. As Irma says, "We don't feel entrapped in our work. When we have too much free time, then we know it's time to start another project."
