

State Test Scores Up, Rank Down

By Susan McDonald

Even though test scores improved, the Grosse Pointe school system slipped from an unofficial number one, to number three rank in the Michigan Educational Assessment program for 1979.

Test scores for Grosse Pointe and nine other top-ranked school districts in the state were compiled and presented to the Board of Education this week by Roger McCaig, director of research and development.

The tests were taken at the beginning of the school year by fourth, seventh and, for the first time, tenth grade students. Also for the first time, most special education students were included in the tests on orders from the state.

The exams measure basic math and reading skills. Scores indicate the percent of students who mastered 75 percent or more of the test objectives.

Grosse Pointe's composite score for mastery of math and reading in all three grades was 84.1 percent this year. The top school district in that category, which McCaig did not name, had a composite score of 87.9 percent.

Elementary students in grades four and seven showed a slight improvement over last year, going from a composite score of 87.3 percent mastery to 87.9 percent (or 89.2 if special education students are excluded from the count).

The elementary score breaks down to 93.5, fourth grade math; 89, fourth grade reading; 80.8, seventh grade math; and 88, seventh grade reading.

10th Is Down

Grosse Pointe's tenth graders didn't do quite as well on their first Michigan Assessment test and were ranked eighth in the state by McCaig. There may be some curriculum changes made in the future because of those scores, he said.

Mastery of math was achieved by only 73.9 percent of the tenth grade students. The reading score was 79 percent.

Those marks "are not alarming, by far, but we're going to take a close look at them," McCaig said.

What did concern McCaig was another score—showing that almost 20 percent of the tenth graders mastered less than half of the math objectives on the test.

"That 20 percent equals about 170 students who, in the beginning of tenth grade, still do not understand very basic math. That may mean we need to develop some new strategies, maybe recommend a change in math requirements at the high schools," McCaig said.

High school students currently are required to take only one high school math class.

McCaig said the state order that most special education students take the tests this year caused some controversy among parents and teachers who felt the experience would be traumatic for those children.

Any child who is "mainstreamed" into regular classrooms at least 50 percent of the time was tested this year. McCaig said efforts were made to make the testing experience a "comfortable" one for the students.

With winds gusting up to 35 miles per hour Monday, Lake St. Clair was turned into a turbulent mass of whitecaps which crashed against the breakwall and flowed over onto Lakeshore road. The water caused no real problem, but did slow traffic down somewhat near Provencal road.

Seniors Want Say on Aging Board

By Dean Brierly

Seniors Onward for Change (SOC) has asked the five Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods permission to select a person to represent those cities on the directing board of the newly created Detroit Area Agency on Aging.

The new agency, of which the Pointes are a part, was approved by the State Aging Commission March 21. It takes over for the current Detroit-Wayne County Agency on Aging October 1. Fourteen of the 15 seats on its board of directors have already been filled.

SOC feels it should make the recommendation for the remaining seat as it is the only non-profit organization with representatives from all six communities and from a number of senior citizen groups, according to Louise TeWalt, second vice-president of SOC.

In Touch

TeWalt said SOC thinks the person for the job should be a senior citizen in touch with and sensitive to the needs and problems of seniors in the area.

The nominee should also have a background in civic activity, know Detroit, have experience working with Detroit organizations and have a lot of time to devote to the position, she added.

According to TeWalt, there are many fine, energetic people in the area who qualify for the job, but she stated that SOC has to wait for approval from the city councils before beginning a search.

The Detroit agency also will have an Advisory Board with one representative from each of the Pointes and Harper Woods. SOC's recommendation to the city councils is that the governing bodies of each community select a senior citizen to serve on it.

Best Interests

Until the area representative is named, SOC member Virginia Downing is sitting in on the board's meetings as an observer. TeWalt says

This Lady Is A Cop

By Dean Brierly

Being "first" is nothing new for Kathleen Leikert, the Sterling Heights resident with the Farms police department who recently became the first on the road police woman in all of Grosse Pointe.

The 26-year-old Leikert says being a cop is something she's wanted to do ever since high school.

"I've always been competitive with guys, always liked to do the kinds of things guys like to do, I'm not one to clean house," she explains.

Kathleen says she didn't want a routine secretarial job working in an office and likes the challenge that goes with police work. She adds that "there's something new every day."

Kathleen is no stranger to Grosse Pointe. She worked for the Farms PD for four years as the first female clerk-dispatcher in the Pointes, which was a newly-created position back then.

Prior to that job, she was the first female on the public safety force at Macomb County Community College and later was named its first female sergeant. She attended classes at the same time, eventually earning an Associate Degree in Law Enforcement.

Back when Kathleen was going to college, in the early 70's, no one was hiring women on police staffs, she says. After graduation, she worked for a security corporation in Southfield for a couple of years and mailed applications to police departments all over the east side.

While at a Christmas party around this time, she ran into Farms police chief Robert Ferber, who had been one of her instructors at Macomb.

Test Time

He informed her of a couple of openings in his department, and this led to her job there as clerk-dispatcher. After four years in that position, Kathleen took written, oral, physical and psychiatric testing at the department and qualified to go to the Basic Police Academy at Macomb's Center Campus.

Kathleen Leikert

There she underwent a nine-week basic police training program. She underwent physical training, received instruction in defensive tactics and learned to use a firearm.

Following completion of her training, she took a state exam, passed it and began her new job in the Farms. Kathleen says she had absolutely no problems with the physical aspects of her training and ran into little opposition to her presence at the academy.

She says there were four other women at the academy and stated she was treated as an equal all the way. "I got no special privileges because I was a woman and that's the way I want it to be."

Although a couple of the men at the academy indicated they wouldn't want to work with a woman, Kathleen claimed theirs were the only negative attitudes she encountered.

Park Ordered To Sell House

By Joanne Gouleche

A U.S. District Court judge this week ordered the Park to correct code violations on the city's former Demonstration House at 1094 Lakepointe and to list the controversial house with a member broker of the Grosse Pointe Real Estate Board.

The decision, handed down by Judge Patricia Boyle, was the result of a suit filed by Park resident Arthur Moran last year, which charged that the federal government illegally sold the house to the Park.

The suit halted the city's plans to correct the violations.

At a council meeting Monday night, Moran warned that if the city proceeded to correct the violations, he would file an injunction to stop such action.

Not Affordable

Moran said later that he would like to see the house put on the market now and sold to the highest bidder. The purchaser would be responsible for making the improvements to the house, not the city, Moran said.

If the city corrects the violations, Moran said, it would push up the price of the house to a point where it would not be affordable to people in the area.

Moran added that he never gave his attorney, Alan Adelson, permission to sign the court judgement agreeing that the city bring the house up to code. Adelson could not be reached for comment.

The 60-year-old gray stucco house has a year-long history of controversy in the community ever since the council considered using the house to demonstrate to residents how they could renovate their own homes.

Coin Employes Charged in Gold Scheme

City Municipal Judge Stan Kazul handed down a three-count indictment last week for three employes of a local coin and stamp shop charged with receiving stolen coins and jewelry.

William Stockwell, Richard Spieske, both 33, and Don Fryer, 55, employes of Coins & Stamps, 17658 Mack, were arraigned on two counts of "wickedly, maliciously and feloniously" receiving and concealing stolen property over $100. They also were charged with one count of conspiracy.

Police said the stolen goods are from homes in the area that have been burglarized in recent months.

All three men stood mute at their arraignment on April 14. A plea of not guilty was entered in their behalf.

Coins & Stamps owner William Fiskus, of the Park, was not charged with any wrongdoing in the alleged scheme.

Stockwell, of Detroit, Spieske, of Fraser, and Fryer, of St. Clair Shores, were each released on a $100 personal bond. The men have no prior criminal records.

Detective Sgt. James Drummond said police arrested the trio last week after juveniles involved in area burglaries told police they sold their stolen goods to the coin and stamp shop.

A preliminary examination for the three men is scheduled for Wednesday, April 23. If convicted on all three counts, they could face a maximum sentence of 10 years and a fine of $12,500.

Theft Ring Is Smashed, But Loot May Be Lost

By Gregory Jakub

Although police officials in the tri-county area said last week they have cracked a burglary ring that has plundered the Pointes and other cities, there is little chance that an estimated $1.2 million in stolen silver and gold items will be recovered.

"Because of the nature of what they took, the chance of recovery is almost nil," said Grosse Pointe Woods Police Detective Thomas Podeszwik. The stolen silverware, jewelry, and coins can be "converted almost immediately to cash" by sales to gold and silver buyers, Podeszwik said.

He added that Woods police feel the ring is responsible for the "greatest proportion of silver loss in our area" during the last three months.

No Records

But "one of the sad parts about it is that no records are kept of sales. There is no proof of who the seller is. Anybody can go in and sell this stuff," Podeszwik said.

Because of the number of break-ins and fluctuations in silver prices, Podeszwik could only estimate that the ring was responsible for "hundreds of thousands of dollars" worth of stolen goods in the Pointes alone. The group is also suspected of hitting homes in Birmingham.

The key to breaking the widespread, five-man operation came on March 9 when Michael Robinson, 24, and Edward Daniels, 27, both of Detroit were arrested by Woods police for attempting to burglarize a home on Hollywood.

That case was cleared when police couldn't produce the complainant but not before Robinson admitted he had committed 27 thefts in the Pointes—six in the Woods, 13 in the Farms, five in the Park, and three in the City.

Make Connection

Woods police alerted Detroit and Oakland County officials to keep the pair under surveillance. Police in those communities subsequently connected the pair to areas where similar thefts had taken place, Podeszwik said.

On April 3, Daniels and another suspect, Cornell Johnson, 32, of Detroit, were arrested for burglarizing a St. Clair Shores home and have been in custody in Macomb County since then.

Robinson and another suspect, Edric Burney, 34, of Detroit, are now being sought on warrants.

Podeszwik speculated that the group operated by checking out an area in the early evening when people might be shopping or visiting. They would find a dark home or one with unshoveled snow and ring the front door bell. If no one answered they would go to the back door and pry it open or break the glass.

They would look for valuable metal

The Show Will Go On!

Boaters Rescue the Fireworks

Legions of private boaters, including the 470-member Grosse Pointe Power Squadron, last week came to the rescue of Detroit's most exciting summer event—the annual International Freedom Festival on the Detroit River.

For a while, it appeared as if many of the traditional festival events would be called off when the U.S. Coast Guard announced budget cuts that would make it impossible for it to supervise the fireworks, air show and boat races on the river.

But festival officials—including Grosse Pointe Park attorney Herold "Mac" Deason—last week announced an unusual arrangement with private boaters to continue the shows.

"Thanks to a unique display of cooperation between the Coast Guard and the Detroit and Grosse Pointe Power Squadrons, the Spirit of Detroit Association and Detroit Police Harbormaster Bureau, all marine events for the 1980 International Freedom Festival will go on as scheduled," Deason announced at an April 11 press conference at the Detroit Boat Club.

Private boaters from the Power Squadrons and Spirit of Detroit Association will be "federalized" by the Coast Guard, under the agreement.

They will supervise the races and other entertainment and, according to Deason, "Will have the same authority as the Coast Guard for marine events held during the Freedom Festival."

Officials expect to "federalize" about 140 boats. Coast Guard flags and officers will be on board. The Coast Guard will save thousands of dollars and it's confident the safety of spectators and participants will be assured.

Grosse Pointe Power Squadron Commander Vincent F. LoCicero was on hand at the Friday press conference to demonstrate his group's commitment.

Have Some Fun

"The members of our group are being very supportive. Obviously this will mean a donation of time and money because of the cost of gas these days," LoCicero said.

But the job won't be all work. "We plan to have fun, too," he said.

The Power Squadron is a national boating association devoted to civic duty, education and, of course, socializing. The group includes both power and sail boaters.

"Mac" Deason, who serves as the city of Grosse Pointe Park's attorney, is a partner in the firm, Bodman, Longley and Dahling and is vice-chairman of this year's International Freedom Festival.

He's helping coordinate the activities of hundreds of workers, sponsoring events from morning till night during the eight-day festival. It begins June 27 with World Class Off-shore racing.

In Deason's eyes, the festival is more important to Detroit this year than ever before.

"It begins just a few days before the Republican Convention comes to town. The world press will already be here," Deason said. "It will be an unprecedented opportunity to sell our community and clean up our bad image."

"We're showing the spirit of Detroit."

Sumi-e Class Added at Center

Due to popular demand the War Memorial Center has added an additional Sumi-e Workshop to the schedule. The workshop will be held on Thursday, May 1, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Class members are asked to bring a sack lunch. Coffee is available. Fee for the workshop is $15 plus $4 for materials.

Sumi-e is Japanese style brush painting. The workshop is taught by Mary Bowman, who studied the art in Japan. The Center advises those interested to enroll immediately. Enrollment is limited to allow students a maximum of attention.

What To Do If Tornadoes Hit

Only after the storm has moved on, and its victims start slowly sifting through the pile of rubble that was once their living room, do most homeowners realize: a tornado can happen to me!

While there is still time this year, the Insurance Information Institute, (III), urges homeowners to make plans that will help protect both families and property from possible death and destruction in a 1980 tornado.

Making a detailed inventory of the contents of your home — with photographs, if possible — is a good place to begin, according to the Institute. Once the list is complete (and you realize how much you stand to lose in a tornado or other natural disaster), the I.I.I. suggests homeowners, and renters, contact their insurance agents to compare "what you own" with "what you're covered for."

Both the household inventory and your homeowners insurance policy should be stored along with other valuable papers in a secure place away from the home.

Once you have taken these two important steps toward protecting what you own, the next move is to learn how to react to minimize physical danger from the storm.

Everyone in your home should know where to seek shelter when a tornado is sighted. If a storm shelter is not available, make certain the family knows where the safest place in the house is to move to. (The most secure location is normally on the bottom floor, basement if available, and at the center of the building. A bathroom or closet away from windows is a good second choice.)

It is also a good idea to keep adequate supplies on hand (flashlights, a first-aid kit, transistor radio and fresh batteries), stored in a convenient shelter or protective area.

Last April, when a tornado plowed through Wichita Falls, Tex., 26 of the 43 persons who were killed, and 30 of the 59 who were seriously injured, were attempting to outrun the funnel with their cars.

The Insurance Information Institute strongly recommends three precautions for residents when a tornado invades their community:

- Stay inside (preferably in a single-family home or apartment complex, but virtually any shelter is better than being caught unprotected).
- Avoid automobiles and

Liggett Pair Visit Capitol

University Liggett sophomores Kristine Mighion and Suzanne Stroh recently returned from the Washington Workshop, a one week government seminar offered to high school students across the country.

The pair met with government leaders such as Senator Carl Levin and State Department spokesman Hodding Carter, visited Congress and participated in a model congress with more than 100 other students.

Don't look back too much, you soon will be headed that way.

Shifting our responsibility can make democracy lose balance.

Don't be too broad-minded — everything will slip through.

Organ Lovers' Concert May 4 at Punch & Judy

The Motor City Theatre Organ Society will present organist Lionel Lamay at the console of the two-manual, six-rank Wurlitzer Organ at the Punch and Judy Theatre on Sunday, May 4 at 2 p.m.

Lamay, a teacher whose background includes supper club entertainment, the "Movies at Redford" series and work for various other organizations, is in constant demand for concert performances. For five years he was the director of the Meadow Brook Music Festival.

Members of the Society and their guests will again have the opportunity to hear the model Wurlitzer organ, originally installed in the Wurlitzer building in Detroit, and later sold and installed in the Punch and Judy in 1930.

The organ wasn't used much until 1967 when it was restored by the Motor City Chapter of the American Theatre Organ Society.

The Punch and Judy Theatre was built during the depression by 32 Grosse Pointe families. Edsel Ford was one of the main sponsors. The architect was Robert O. Derrick, the same man responsible for blue-printing much of Greenfield Village and other early American building designs. The theatre is almost a twin to the Henry Ford Museum Theatre.

New Punch manager Tom Shaker is eager to have Motor City continue its former series of informal Sunday mini-concerts at the theatre, featuring local guest organists with a formal professional concert at a later date.

Committee members from Motor City working with Shaker are Mrs. Remi Van Steenkiste, Robert Becker, Mrs. Betty Weller, Mrs. Leiland F. Blatt, Leslie Sanders, Dave Voydanoff and Glenn Rank.

The Motor City Theatre Organ Society, a non-profit corporation, is comprised of more than 400 area residents. The organization's purpose is to preserve and restore the theatre pipe organ, wherever possible in its original setting and to foster interest in its music.

The society purchased the Redford Theatre in order to preserve the Barton three manual, 10 rank theatre pipe organ permanently in its original setting and to provide a home for the society.

All work at the theatre is performed by volunteers from the membership and they spend countless hours maintaining organs at the Royal Oak Theatre, Punch and Judy and Michigan Theatre in Ann Arbor.

FLEC Drive Needs Donors

The fund drive mounted by the Family Life Education Council, (FLEC), the east side community's own volunteer social service agency supported by private donations, is "off to a good start" according to John H. Burrows, M.D., president.

"Our first week's receipts were almost $700," Burrows said, "but we need much more than that to keep our budget balanced.

The FLEC mailing went to every resident in Grosse Pointe last month.

FLEC recently acquired its own home at 18412 Mack in the Farms, from which it operates a number of social service programs for the community's young and older persons. These include Centerpoint Counseling Center, Centerpoint Crisis Center, a legal center, a medical center and a number of other information and guidance programs for the community.

Woods to Seek Federal Housing Funds

The Grosse Pointe Woods City council last week voted to develop a housing rehabilitation program as part of its three-year strategy for Wayne County's Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program.

The Woods CDBG Commission intends to pursue a $30,000 competitive deferred loan from the county that will make money available to qualified low and moderate income homeowners for structural improvements and energy conservation, according to Gerald McNamara, aide to Woods city administrator-clerk Chester Petersen.

The Woods will submit its loan application on a competitive basis in June and will know by July or August if it will receive the loan.

If the loan is awarded, the city will take applications from homeowners for a maximum of $5,000 for structural improvements and $1,000 for energy conservation. The city will also make available a manual outlining application procedure, McNamara said.

The county recommended the Woods include the rehabilitation program to round out its strategy for implementing a plan to use $120,000 in county block grant funds.

Grosse Pointe Park and the City already have housing rehabilitation programs underway that are paid for by county block grant funds. In the City, home improvements are financed on a direct loan basis. The Park provides low-interest loans to residents for housing restoration.

The intruders entered the home three times during that time period, DeVine said.

A case of beer, a .22 caliber rifle, two 12 gauge shotguns, and miscellaneous items were taken from the home. The 22 rifle used in the Friday, April 11 suicide of a Harper Woods youth was identified by police as the one taken from the Sunningdale home, DeVine said.

The suicide weapon and some miscellaneous items were recovered as well as one of the stolen shotguns which was found in the garage of the Sunningdale home. The other stolen shotgun has not been recovered, DeVine said.

The Grosse Pointe Artists Association is getting ready for its 42nd annual juried show next month and has set a Thursday, April 24, deadline for submission of entries.

Members of the association may enter as many as three pieces of work, including pottery, sculpture, oil paintings and water colors. Art must be delivered to the War Memorial Art Wing, 32 Lakeshore, on April 24 between 2 and 6 p.m. Paintings must be dry and matted or framed.

Juror is William Lewis, professor of art at University of Michigan. He will review work on April 26.

The show opens with a wine and cheese reception at 5:30 p.m. on Friday, May 9 and runs until May 18. Hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day except Sunday, when hours are 12 to 5 p.m.

Travel the South Seas With Center's Adventure Series
The Grosse Pointe War Memorial Adventure Series' next production will present dean of the film lecturers, Thayer Soule, personally narrating his film on "The South Seas," Wednesday evening May 7.
An exotic dinner will be served from 6:30 p.m. in the Crystal Ballroom and the show begins in the Fries Theatre at 8 p.m. Tables can be reserved both for dinner and performance while they last.
The lure of the South Seas dates from the times of Magellan and Captain Cook. In today's fast-paced world the attraction is stronger than ever, but the South Seas are no longer remote. By jet they are literally a night away from anywhere in North America. The area presents a completely different world — small bits of land in an immense sea, where life is simple and unhurried, with no crowds, no noise, no traffic, no television.
Fiji, the major island in the South Seas, is independent now, but English is still the official language. Scores of cruise ships call each year at Suva, a city with only two stoplights, but the best duty-free shopping this side of Hong Kong. The film visits Government House and a bowling club then, in a glass-bottomed boat, explores the coral gardens of the reef, and dives into the colorful depths.
Air passengers land at Nadi, on the other side of the island. The Regent of Fiji is perfect headquarters for a holiday.
Sugar is the most important industry and the film takes viewers through miles of cane fields and on up to the Nausori Highlands, which look very much like Africa, and the fine beaches and roaring surf of the Coral Coast. At a buffet dinner an entire village entertains with spear dances and firewalking.
The island of Taveuni has the only road in the Southern Hemisphere that crosses the International Dateline. At a nearby Indian school children learn Hindi.
Tonga, one hour south of Fiji, is an independent kingdom. It is so close to the Dateline that dawn there is the world's first each day. In the capital city of Nuku'alofa the King lives in a Victorian palace. Across the street the royal treasury sells the world's most unusual postage stamps.
Most people still wear traditional dress. Tapa cloth is made and decorated in large pieces, then cut into smaller ones for sale. There are great bargains in basketry, but getting them home is a problem. The Captain Cook monument, the strange Langi Tombs and the Trilithon, a stone arch dating back many centuries, are some of the sights as are the sacred flying foxes of Kolovai. At 'Oholei Beach, a hearty feast and dancing by lantern light in Hina Cave are included.
Tahiti is the heart of French Polynesia. Papeete, the capital, has changed greatly in the last few years with hundreds of yachts at anchor. "Le Truck" is practical mass transit, and good fun. Black sand beaches, bougainvillea, and Mount Orohena add to the beauty of the island as we drive to Point Venus, with its light-house and Museum of covery.

Two hundred miles is Rangiroa, one of the best atolls in the world, a perfect escape from bus Papeete. Bungalows dot shore and you can swim marvelously clear water and storkel in the pass.
The island of Moorea, seven minutes from Ta boasts dramatic peaks, gravelly and deep bays. Raiatea Island a speed car explores the lagoon and tropic river. Huahine in the cradle of the Polynesian race, and long the seat royalty.
Bora Bora combines a startling beauty of a island with the limpid goons of an atoll. The laun trip from the airport affords superb views of both. Bora Bora was the Bali Hai Michener, and is all we can ask or hope for, just a place for an escape to South Seas.
The complete evening including dinner, film and service charge is $11.25. Limited tickets for the film are $3 per person.

Part of the art in making red wine comes in knowing which way is best to store the wine while aging and for how long. Some wines do best in redwood cooperage which mellows it but preserves the fruity flavor. Other do best stored for long periods in small oak barrels which add dimension and complexity. An expert winemaker, after tasting the blend that has been allowed to come together, can indicate how to let various wines achieve their highest potential before being bottled for the table.

At PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE, 17255 Mack, Corner of St. Clair, Detroit, you will discover a selection of wines that will allow you to maximize your wine tasting enjoyment. Come in today and look around. You may well want to create a wine tasting party for you and your friends so that everyone will have an opportunity to participate in such an exciting wine tasting adventure. Let the staff of PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE help you create this unusual evening. 10% discount off already low price for wines bought by the case. Open 10-10 Mon.-Thurs., 10-11 Fri. & Sat., noon-6 Sun. ### Kids Learn All About Alcohol

Area high school student volunteers have completed 15 hours of training in the Family Life Education Council's Alcohol Awareness Program, hearing professionals cover the physiology, psychology and pharmacology of alcohol; highway safety and alcohol; Alcoholics Anonymous and Alanon; media and peer group pressure; alcohol and other drugs; and group leadership techniques.

The purpose of the program is to create an awareness of the facts on alcohol. Understanding of each individual's right to choose to drink or not to drink, an awareness, on the part of the person who chooses to drink, of what drinking responsibly entails, and comprehension on the part of the community of the need to respect an individual's decision.

The participating junior and senior high school students are now ready to lead discussions with area fifth through seventh graders regarding alcohol use and abuse, as well as participate in other community education programs. The program is based on the experience of successful alcohol abuse prevention programs which use young adults to convey their concerns to the younger students.

For more information regarding the program, or alcohol information resources, call the FLEEC office at 885-3510 or stop in at 18412 Mack avenue.

First the Cougar, Now the Oil Wells

Robert Bowen of Whittier road has been getting more than his share of public attention lately.

First it was his unusual pet, an 11-month-old cougar named Beau residing at his home and causing quite a stir.

And then, last week, Bowen made headlines again, when he was arraigned in Southfield District Court on charges he sold fake shares of non-existent Texas oil and gas wells.

Bowen, 40, was charged with two counts of receiving money under false pretenses and three counts of selling unregistered securities. He was later released on a $12,500 personal bond.

He could face a 13-year prison sentence if convicted on all three counts.

Began in November
State Police Detective Sgt. James Smiley said police were made aware of the alleged scam when a relative of an investor approached them last November after hearing nothing from Bowen for several months.

A preliminary check with the Michigan Department of Commerce found Bowen unregistered to sell the securities. A follow-up five-month investigation by the Oakland County Prosecutor's office, the State Police and the Commerce Department of 45 persons who invested a minimum of $5,000 in the wells, eventually led to Bowen's arrest. Smiley said investigators went to Texas and discovered that the wells, to be drilled near Galveston, were not built yet.

Bowen, a member of the Grosse Pointe Theatre, is president of Enbow Resources in Southfield. He was authorized to sell only 29 shares in the well through the Texas oil drilling firm of J. Rose & Associates of Houston. However, Bowen exceeded that limit and sold at least 45 shares, Smiley said.

Six Pointers
Investors included six Grosse Pointers and others from Canada, Huntington Woods, Mt. Clemens, Southfield, Royal Oak, Birmingham, Oak Park, Harper Woods and St. Clair Shores. Smiley said Bowen told investors that one-half of their investments would be returned in six weeks. After hearing nothing from Bowen for six months, individuals became suspicious and went to police.

Some victims have not come forward, Smiley said, because of their friendship with Bowen. Meanwhile, he is experiencing problems of a different sort with Beau, the lovable cougar.

After several complaints from neighbors, the city has ordered Bowen to get rid of the animal because of an ordinance prohibiting the harboring of wild animals. Bowen said he has had several offers from zoos interested in Beau, who was purchased last year from a Texan wild game dealer as a pet for Bowen's wife.

Slate Spring Viennese Ball

The War Memorial will play host to the Viennese Ball on Saturday, May 3, from 9 p.m. until midnight, where couples will waltz to the rhythms of the 19-piece Johann Strauss orchestra.

Tables may be reserved by groups, and reservations should be made promptly to get the choice locations near the dance area. Tickets are $8.50 and are available at the Center's office, 32 Lakeshore.

Poisonous snakes of the same species are immune to their own venom.

Workshop On Disabled Set

Developers of the Step-One Community Awareness Campaign will present a workshop for interested volunteers associated with state consumer organizations representing developmentally disabled children and adults.

Step-One is an innovative outreach program of public education designed to increase public understanding and acceptance of all persons with developmental disabilities.

Its developers, Barbara and Jeffrey Muller, will present a workshop on Step-One at the Southfield Sheraton, W. Nine Mile Road at 1-066 on Friday and Saturday, May 16 and 17. Register by April 21 by sending $12 to Michigan Protection and Advocacy Service for Developmentally Disabled Citizens, 230 N. Washington, Suite 200, Lansing, Michigan.

Female Cop Is 'Just One of the Guys'

"The majority of the people have been all for it," she says. "There's certainly been no opposition here (in the Farms). I've worked with these guys for four years. Also my husband's been very supportive and encouraging."

Kathleen feels that women are an up and coming thing in law enforcement, and points out that more and more women are entering police departments in the suburbs. She feels the field is finally opening up and sees a need for women in the police profession. A female perspective can be a valuable alternative in police work, she adds.

Some Psychology
She admits there is a basic physical difference between men and women, but is determined not to let that stand in the way of her effectiveness as a police officer. Practicing a little more psychology and using her brains should make up the difference.

A good deal of attention will be focused on Kathleen just because she is the first police woman in this area. She realizes and accepts this fact.

"I expect they'll all be watching. When you're brand new in a field, you're in the limelight. I think the people in this department are probably wondering how I'm going to handle myself, but I've got a good relationship with them. They think of me as just 'one of the guys.'"

Detective George Van Tiem feels Kathleen has good qualifications but thinks she will have to face up to more of a challenge than a man breaking into the field.

Van Tiem says that since women are relatively new on police forces, everyone has a wait and see attitude towards Kathleen's performance.

"I've had reservations about women performing adequately as road officers. She will have a difficult obstacle in proving she is just as capable as a man," he says.

Van Tiem added that he's positive Kathleen will give it her best shot and says if she performs well, she will help create a better attitude towards having more women in the police ranks.

Chief Ferber, who helped Kathleen get her job as dispatcher, feels her sex is of no importance unless it becomes a barrier to performing police service.

She Belongs
He stated that if they have the physical, mental and psychological qualifications, then women as well as men belong on the police department. He cited the feminist movement and the fact that women are for the first time entering professions traditionally dominated by men as the reason for their rise in what was previously all-male police work.

Ferber says Kathleen's stint as clerk-dispatcher will make it much easier for her to be accepted in her new role. He said she was well respected and liked in her previous job.

Kathleen says she is anxious to get out and put her training to use. "Right now I want to get my feet wet out on the street."

She says she likes the community, the people in it and feels it's a nice place to work. For the moment, she can't envision working anywhere else.

After spending one week with the detective bureau to learn investigative procedures, and one week with the front desk to learn rules and answer phones, she was assigned to the uniformed patrol division.

Kathleen will be working afternoons from 3 to 11. For her first six months, she will ride with another patrolman. After that, depending on her performance, she will be able to go it alone.

For Kathleen, that should be a certainty.

Theft Ring

items and if they found none might grab a TV set, Podeszwick said.

Sloppy
One case cleared through Robinson was the theft of about $17,000 worth of silver items in the Woods home, Podeszwick said.

Police were able to track the suspected thieves over such a widespread area because after three months, the group became sloppy and started to be identified in areas where the thefts occurred, Podeszwick said.

He added that police can connect Robinson and others with six thefts in the Woods, 13 in the Farms, five in the Park and three in the City. A fifth member is still being sought by police.

Podeszwick said the suspects also face federal warrants for the sale of stolen firearms.

Child Care Professionals Meet at Children's Home

More than 130 child care professionals from the metro-Detroit area listened to national experts discuss Channeling Aggression for Personal Growth at a symposium last week at the Children's Home of Detroit in the Woods.

Symposium leaders included Herbert F. Barnes, M.S.W., A.C.S.W., a well known writer and speaker who serves as executive director of the Connecticut Junior Republic Residential Care Facility for Troubled Boys.

Others were Marvin W. Faust, M.D., a St. Clair Shores psychiatrist, Eleanor Fiedler, M.S.W., and Eli Z. Rubin, Ph.D., the former director of the Northeast Guidance Clinic who has written extensively about childhood mental health.

The symposium was held April 9 and sponsored jointly by the Children's Home and Wayne State University's School of Social Work, College of Lifelong Learning.

Children's Home Director H. E. Tammela said he was very pleased with the response to the event. Participants included professionals from residential treatment programs, mental health agencies, school systems and various social agencies, he said.

The Children's Home, 900 Cook road, is a non-profit residential treatment center for children between the ages of 6 and 12 at admission. Boys and girls with social, emotional and educational problems are treated there.

Bishop Visits St. Michael's

Reverend C. Shannon Mallory will preach at St. Michael's Episcopal Church, 20475 Sunningdale Park, Grosse Pointe Woods, on Sunday, April 27, at the 8 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. services.

Bishop Mallory will also be the speaker at a special meeting at the Church at 7:30 p.m. that evening. The Bishop will present films of Botswana, Central Africa and share his views of Christian life in Africa during the past 16 years. The public is invited.

Mrs. Mallory will speak on Monday, April 28, at a 10 a.m. continental breakfast at the Church. Reservations are needed and may be obtained by calling the parish office at 884-4820.

Bishop Mallory and his wife Mondy have corresponded with the Women of St. Michael's for many years and have also made several visits to the church in the past.

Bishop Mallory served as a missionary priest in Ovambo-land, South West Africa and at Makerer University in Kampala, Uganda. In 1973 he was elected the first Episcopal Bishop of Botswana, a post he held until 1979. He is presently the Assistant Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Long Island where he is in charge of Episcopal charities.

Shutterbugs Meet April 22

Nature photography will be discussed at the next meeting of the Grosse Pointe Camera Club on Tuesday, April 22, at Brownell Middle School, 280 Chalfonte. Visitors are welcome to attend the 7:45 p.m. meeting. Refreshments will be served.

Cinema League Presents South Pacific Adventure

The Grosse Pointe Cinema League will present "South Pacific Adventure," a 16mm movie by Rip and Fern Zwickley, on Monday, April 21, at the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium, 32 Lakeshore, at 8 p.m. Area residents are invited to attend the program without charge. A social hour after the film is limited to Cinema League members.

The film opens with views of the harbor of Sydney, Australia and the Taronga Zoo. Then north to Green Island and the Great Barrier Reef, which is photographed from a natural open sea underwater observation chamber, where giant clams, living coral and shoals of fish are recorded beneath the surface of the Coral Sea.

In New Guinea, a chartered Cessna is used to reach the mountainous jungle village of Garoka, where the life of natives is observed.

The northern area of Borneo also is visited. Brunei, a sultanate whose oil exports support the country, has a stilted village which has existed 1,000 years, where silver craftsmen and weavers of brocade ply their trade.

Sarawak is shown with its swamps and rivers, whose main problem was headhunting until 1917. There are views of a long house, which housed 100 families, and a head house with hundreds of skulls hanging from the ceiling.

The busy traffic in modern Luzon, Manila is shown, and there are rural scenes with famous rice terraces carved out of steep slopes 2,000 years ago, and still worked by descendants of the aborigines.

The movie concludes with Mindanao Island of the Philippines with its noisy markets and a lush countryside of rare orchids, warm springs, and winding rivers. Early reservations are necessary for the League's May 5 Annual Banquet and Film Festival. Tickets at $8.50 for the complete evening can be obtained at this meeting or at the War Memorial office.

30 Teachers Are Laid Off

Layoff notices were delivered this week to 30 Grosse Pointe teachers, some with as much as four years seniority in the public school system.

The teachers are victims of continuing enrollment declines. Administrators expect a loss of 535 students next year. Of the 30 teachers laid off, eight will be offered part time employment for 1980-81, according to Ronald Tonks, personnel director.

Last year the schools laid off only 12 teachers in April, and offered all of them full or part time employment later in the year. This year's lay off numbers are higher because of a sharp reduction in the number of retirements. Officials attribute that drop to a change in mandatory retirement age and the poor economy.

Tonks said the net reduction of 22 full-time positions will not interfere with the school system's efforts to reduce average class size. The number of students per class will be reduced again next year he added. "If we wanted to maintain class size status quo, we would have laid off 26 instead of 22," he said.

Local teacher union president Curt Lange said the layoffs are "regrettable, especially since some of the teachers have a number of years seniority here." The lay offs will force a number of transfers and reassignments which will affect another 30 or so teachers, he said.

Carole Wilbourn, a New York cat therapist, claims she has successfully treated over 7,000 emotionally disturbed pets in the past 13 years.

Wallets Stolen Behind GPF Bar

An armed robbery took place in the Farms Monday night, March 31, when two women had their wallets stolen in an alleyway behind a restaurant on Mack.

The women described to police a white male with a thin build, black hair, waist-length leather jacket, blue jeans and white gloves who approached their car asking for change.

They said as he came closer he told them this was a holdup and if they kept quiet it wouldn't be a murder. He stated he was armed although no weapon was visible.

The man took both their wallets, which combined contained $6 in cash and several credit cards. He then ran off down the alley heading towards Kelly, according to the women's report.

Farms police have put out an area and radio broadcast through the east side Detroit police department. Both women said they could identify the man if they saw him again and stated they would press charges should he be caught.

Rome Lives In Olympics

Ancient Rome was rebuilt in a day on the Michigan State University campus when students from South High School joined 22 other high school groups for the annual Junior Classical League of Michigan convention last month.

A variety of convention activities including Roman costumes, academic testing and Olympic games gave students the opportunity to compete for awards.

While the Olympic games proved physically demanding with a chariot race, foot race and tug-of-war, the Certamen, (quiz bowl), competition was intellectually grueling. Teams of four faced off to answer questions on mythology, Latin vocabulary and Roman culture.

South High students swept up honors, including numerous second- and four first-place awards.

The Certamen contestants triumphed in the preliminaries and captured the second place award in a high-pressure final round. Members of the Certamen team included — Louise Ettegood, Peter Zarell, Bill Higbie, and Mark Martinelli. Elected Michigan JCL treasurer at the convention, Martinelli also won first place in mythology.

Seniors Want A Say in New Aging Agency

Downing has reported favorably on the board members, stating they are a hard working group intent on pursuing the best interests of the elderly.

In the meantime, SOC is conducting a survey of the needs of seniors in Grosse Pointe under a grant from the current agency on aging, Elaine Reed, program developer for SOC, and Downing have staffed four task forces each assigned to study a specific area of senior's needs—housing, health, transportation and information and referral services.

Reed calls the task force "one of the most exciting things that SOC is doing." She said there are many needs not being met and the task forces are an effective way to come up with solutions.

The task force on health, headed by Mary Evelyn Self, past president and board member of the Family Life Education Council, recently had its first meeting and tried to pinpoint some of the bigger problems in this area. Self said the group decided to start by focusing on drug abuse, which she defined as a "serious problem."

According to Self, many seniors are receiving medication from more than one doctor without their physician's knowledge, resulting in over-medication. A lot of under-medication is also prevalent, as many elderly people don't bother to take needed medication. She said a number of them also mix alcohol with drugs.

Self stressed a great need for education as one solution to this problem. She said that seniors can't be timid about asking pharmacists and doctors for counseling about medication use. Ignorance of the dangers involved with medication is the main cause for the abuse, she added.

Self stated the other big health problem is nutrition. While the nutrition site at the Woods' Presbyterian Church and the Calvary Center in Detroit are doing a good job, she said, they just aren't serving enough people. A lot of homebound elderly aren't getting these meals.

John Austin, Senior Adult Director of the Neighborhood Club, is the chairman of the task force on transportation. He said that SEMTA is studying a proposal for starting two Dial-A-Ride vans in the Pointes.

Austin says such a service is needed to transport seniors to such places as the Medical Center, nutrition site, supermarket and church.

The vans would start service by June or July of this year, according to Austin. He added that seniors would have to notify the Dial-A-Ride vans 24 to 48 hours in advance.

His task force is trying to determine how many elderly people will need help getting from their homes to the van pickup sites, since the vans will not drive directly to seniors' homes. If a significant number of people can't reach these sites, he said some type of volunteer shuttle service may have to be implemented.

Currently compiling names and phone numbers of information and referral services is the job of the task force under the direction of Frances Schonenberg, president of the Grosse Pointe League of Women's Voters.

The Grosse Pointe Public Library will print up roughly 20,000 copies of an 8" by 11" sheet with the above data printed on both sides. Schonenberg hopes to have it distributed to seniors throughout Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods by the end of April.

She said her task force saw the sheet as "a need and something we could do quickly to help."

After the sheet is distributed, the task force will probably compile a master file of numbers for information and referral services to be permanently placed in three or four locations, Schonenberg said.

The remaining task force will deal with housing needs and is chaired by the Reverend Kenneth Lentz. He said his group hasn't met yet, and was unable to give an indication of what problems it would pursue.

He admitted, however, that it will take a while to get things done. SOC is about "six months ahead of Detroit in regards to assessment." She said it could take up to a year before any expansion is realized.

TeWalt remains optimistic, though, stating that SOC has accomplished a great deal so far in terms of collecting information.

"Every day we get more and more aware of the needs of our seniors," she said.

Ski Resorts' Profits Down

Downhill skiers in Michigan purchased 35 percent fewer lift tickets this winter than during the record-setting season a year ago, according to an Automobile Club of Michigan survey.

Weather was to blame — a warm Thanksgiving and rain over the Christmas-New Year's period, which normally accounts for 25 to 33 percent of season receipts, plus the lightest snowfall in more than a decade across lower Michigan. As a result, profits tumbled an estimated $48 million from last year's record $145 million.

"Most ski operators would like to forget this winter," states Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager. "For many, it was devastating." Despite this season's losses, all of the state's 54 ski areas reported they would re-open next winter — if the weather cooperates.

In the Lower Peninsula, only Southeast Michigan's Mt. Brighton made more money than last season. Increased lift ticket prices, up 50 cents from last season; excellent February and March business and Mt. Brighton's battery of snowmaking equipment were credited for the 5 percent profit despite a 3 percent decline in skiers.

Three lodges—West Michigan's Thunder Mt. near Walled Lake, Petoskey, near Petoskey, plus East Michigan's Michaywe Slopes near Gaylord—never opened their runs this winter due to poor conditions. Southeast Michigan's Teeple Hill, near Pontiac, managed to open only one weekend.

West Michigan's Crystal Mt. near Thompsonville, was the only resort to match profits and skier totals of last season. Hardest hit of the lodges which opened this season were West Michigan's Mt. Manacelona near Manacelona and East Michigan's Sheridan Valley near Lewiston, which reported profits and skiers down 80 to 90 percent from a year ago, respectively. Both listed "No Snow, No Snow, No Snow" as the three major reasons for the business decline.

While the cost of gasoline was listed by a few resorts as a secondary reason for the business drops, all ski areas responding said weather was the biggest factor for the downturn, Auto Club stated.

"Even though ski areas with snowmaking equipment were producing blizzards on the slopes, the lack of snow in southern Michigan made many skiers lose interest and cancel annual winter outings this season," Ratke added.

National Weather Service statistics tell the story. In Southeast Michigan, home of most of the state's skiers, snowfall as of April 1 was 25.5 inches, the lowest total since 1960-69 and 37 percent below the normal of 40.5 inches. In the northern lower Peninsula, snow accumulations were as much as 42 percent below normal and were the lowest since the winter of 1966-67.

Only the Upper Peninsula escaped the drought. Snowfalls averaging 12 percent above normal accounted for the excellent showing at five of the U.P.'s western resorts, the only other lodges in Michigan to make money.

Indianhead Mt. near Wakefield; Blackjack near Bessemer; Pine Mt. near Iron Mountain; and others boosted profits.

Thief Visits Dental Office

About $4,000 in supplies were reported missing from a Notre Dame dental office earlier this month.

Dr. Art Budd told city police that someone entered his office through a side door between 5 p.m. and 9 a.m. on March 7 or 8. Budd said some coins also were missing from his office.

Police said there are no suspects in the incident.

Slate Connors Nastase Match

Two of the world's most talented tennis stars, Jimmy Connors and Ilie Nastase, will face each other in what looms to be a classic display of tennis expertise on Tuesday, April 22 at 7:30 p.m. at Cobo Arena.

Connors, currently ranked as the number one player in the world, has won every major singles title, including the United States Indoor Open, (four times) the U.S. Open Clay Court, (twice) the WCT Singles and Wimbledon. Connors was the first pro tennis player to win the U.S. Open on both grass and clay.

Nastase is one of the game's all-time greats and certainly one of the most controversial players ever to play the game. Ilie has won several major singles titles — except Wimbledon, where he finished second in the finals to Stan Smith in 1972.

Nastase led the Los Angeles Strings of the World Team Tennis League to the WTT title in 1978 as player-coach. Despite an off year in singles play this past season, the Bucharest, Rumania native remains one of the biggest draws in tennis.

Connors and Nastase will play the best two out of three sets.

Preceding the Connors-Nastase duel will be a women's singles match featuring Marjorie Blackwood, the number-one ranked Canadian women's tennis player and Cathy Jordan, the 1979 rookie of the year and the number ten ranked player in the world.

Ticket prices are $15, $10 and $7.50 and will be available at Cobo Arena, Box Office, J. L. Hudson's stores, Kay Baum's in Grosse Pointe and Randolph Travel and Tours in Birmingham.

Tradition is a principle that has stood the test of time.

Registration for the sailing class or any other Community Service/Continuing Education class will be held from 2 to 8 p.m. on Monday, April 28 through Thursday, May 1, and from 2 to 6 p.m. on Friday, May 2. No registrations will be accepted at the first class session.

Plaques will be presented to first place finishers in each division, and ribbons will go to all participants who finish the 15.1 mile course. Aid stations will be set up at strategic points around the lake. Shower facilities and restrooms in the school gym will be available to all runners.

Entry forms for the Leelanau Challenge may be picked up at the Leelanau School or may be obtained through the mail by calling 816/334-3072 or toll free 800/623-7338.

ULS Skaters Are Honored

Five seniors from the ULS Class B State Championship varsity ice hockey team were named to Michigan Metro High School Hockey All-State teams.

Allen Taber, the three-year letterman and captain, was named to the first team for the second year in a row. Allen has led ULS and the Michigan Metro High School Hockey League (MMHSHL) in goals for three years. He also was awarded the Governor's Cup for his outstanding achievement as a scholar and a hockey player.

Senior Bill Seaver, an assistant captain, was named to the first team. Bill was recognized as the outstanding defenseman of the Blue Division in the MMHSHL, and voted the MVP of the ULS team. According to Coach Peacock, "he has been a major reason for the team's success this year."

Senior Jamie Todd, assistant captain, was named to the second team. Todd racked up ten goals and nine assists during the regional and state playoffs to lead the team to the championship. Peacock said that Todd "peaked and played his best when it counted. He will be a real find for a college team."

Senior goaltender Drew Mascarin, who played injured the last half of the season, was named to the second team. Drew had a 1.8 goals against average and a 90.02 save percentage.

Jeff Karash was also named to the second team. Karash was third on the team in scoring.

This season has been exceptional for the ULS team, winners of a state championship with a season record of 24-2-2 overall against Class A teams.

ULS junior Kevin Jackson was awarded Honorable Mention for Class D State Basketball by Detroit News sports writers. The ULS Star forward was also appointed to the All Conference First Team in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference.

North Hosts Donkey Game

Have you ever tried to play basketball while riding on a donkey? That's the challenge presented to members of the Foreign Exchange Club at Grosse Pointe South when they meet rival Grosse Pointe North International Club members in a donkey basketball game on Friday, April 18, at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium at Grosse Pointe North high school.

Game rules state that riders must be astride their donkeys to attempt a basket, which may not be an easy task if the donkeys act in typical fashion and decide to buck, kick or stop suddenly.

Sponsored by the Adult Committees for Foreign Exchange at North and South, the donkey basketball games have been a tradition in the Pointe for years.

Foreign exchange students residing for the year in nearby communities will be the clubs' guests for the evening. They will be introduced in a brief ceremony prior to the game.

Tickets, priced at $1.50, have been on sale in Grosse Pointe schools and will be available at the door. Proceeds from the event will be used to further the exchange programs and to assist foreign exchange students at both Grosse Pointe high schools.

G.P. Soccer Club Ready for New Season

Pictured at the start of an eight mile run to kick off the 1980 soccer season are members of the Grosse Pointe Soccer Club. The run began at Grosse Pointe North High School and continued down Lakeshore road. The club will play its first match on Sunday, April 27, at University Liggett School.

G.P. Soccer League Kicks Off '80 Season

By Peggy O'Connor
What a major sport boasts participation in 146 counties, had a world championship series in 1974 viewed on television by 900 million people and was played by 117 teams in Grosse Pointe last year?

The same sport in which many teams struggle to get started, long on enthusiasm, but sometimes short on funds.

The sport? Soccer, of course, the world's most popular and the United States' fastest growing sport. The Grosse Pointe Soccer Club, part of the Grosse Pointe Soccer Corporation, is just one example of those struggling teams.

The club, which was merely an informal group from its inception in 1974 until it became an independent team in 1978, is among a rapidly growing number of teams in the expanding sport of soccer. And, with such growth comes the inevitable growing pains — finding places to practice and play, digging up team sponsors and raising funds.

The G. P. Club, now a member of the First Division of the Michigan Soccer League, has evidently ironed out at least some of those problems. It will open its 1980 season on Sunday, April 27, at 4 p.m., with a match against the Macomb Stars at University Liggett School, on Cook road.

The club will play its home games at ULS, but still faces the problem of finding a field on which it can both practice and play. At present, it is practicing at Grosse Pointe South High School.

Another problem, sponsorship, has been at least partially solved through the generosity of the Detroit College of Business in Dearborn. Also, the team's uniforms were donated by an area sports shop. But, according to Tony Fioritto, one of the team's managers, the club is still seeking sponsors. "The G. P. Soccer Corporation is a non-profit organization," he says.

Fioritto also plays for the club, as do Mike Radoiu, Jim and Jerry McCalister, Nels Olson, George Savic, Agostino Hardin, Brian Hayden, Brian Fioritto, Sean Maloney, Scot Olds, Steve Malone, John Case, Armando Melchiorre, Billy Craig, Reza Imami, Abraham Safadi, Andy Murphy, Kevin Maloney, Fory Hudson, Charlie Kalile, Tom Allen and Moe Khorssandi.

Although the team began the season with an indoor workout in February at the Austin Center of Wayne County Community College, it kicked off the soccer year in fine fashion last Saturday with a "run" on Lakeshore road. The club also held a recent raffle for team funds.

The group also plans to publish the Grosse Pointe Soccer Magazine, covering local and national aspects of soccer. In addition to the magazine, another objective of the group is to help establish soccer clinics to provide instructional training to upgrade the quality of playing and coaching in the area.

The Grosse Pointe Soccer Organization invites those who would like to become involved in soccer activities, receive the soccer magazine or contribute ideas or comments to contact them. Interested persons should call George Savic, 775-2757, Tony Fioritto, 881-5564, Auggie Hardin, 778-3435, or Nels Olson, 822-4025.

Letters to The Editor

Cafe 'harassment' Is for the Birds

To the Editor:
The urge to write a clever, witty response to Gregory Jakub's article, "Squawk About Three Birds," (April 3) was surprisingly easy to suppress. Surely there is nothing amusing about a gentleman who owns one of Grosse Pointe's most sophisticated and beautiful restaurants being endlessly embarrassed and harassed by public officials.

Our family moved away from Grosse Pointe nine years ago and returned to the community two years ago. In that seven years many changes have taken place. It was such a joy to drive up a deteriorating Mack avenue and see Kimberly Korner, even more attractive and just as beautifully maintained as it was years ago.

The character of Grosse Pointe, as we visualize the community, is exquisitely reflected in the Kimberly Korner shops and restaurant... a sense of pride in appearance, an appreciation of beauty and fine cuisine, and an attitude that says, "the individual matters: we care about you: we care about the community."

If we fail to support owner Charles Moraco in his quest for a wine license and in his effort to keep his restaurant's ambience intact, we will add momentum to a growing trend for the community to turn its back while large businesses take the place of lovely, small specialty shops that give character and distinction to Grosse Pointe.

Without our support, Le Cafe

Francais and possibly Kimberly Korner, will disappear and, in its stead... what? ... another bank, another drugstore... another eyesore? And, perhaps, if we turn our backs while Mr. Moraco struggles to keep his beautiful restaurant in business, that will be exactly what we deserve.

We are not Woods residents and, if we were, perhaps we could be more effective in our support of Le Cafe. If we were Woods residents, you may be sure we would question why the Mayor and Council would refuse to issue a wine license which had constituency approval.

Something is very wrong when officials, who are elected to serve the people, totally ignore scores of letters and telegrams in support of Le Cafe and petitions for approval of granting the restaurant a wine license are neither presented nor considered... despite the fact that they were signed by hundreds of Grosse Pointe residents.

Action by citizens of Grosse Pointe Woods and the entire community is the answer. Since the Woods Council has chosen to ignore its constituency's wishes, that group of citizens should flood its local papers with letters.

Woods residents who support Mr. Moraco should attend council meetings and vocally make their wishes known. And in the name of decency, let us all make it clear that the people of our community do not approve any action taken against any individual which smacks of harassment and the attempt to humiliate.

Earth Day Is April 22

People who care about their planet plan to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the first Earth Day on Tuesday, April 22. The second environmental decade is under way. And there's a long way to go.

"Clean air is a cornerstone of public health, a means to prevent or reduce illness and lengthen life," according to a recent issue of the American Lung Association's "Bulletin." "Seen in that light, the clean air program is a most affordable expense. It represents a basic human value that cannot be bartered away."

Between 1970 and 1977, the article reports, industry as a whole invested only a tiny percentage — of its annual outlays for new facilities — in pollution control required by law. That percentage was three percent for both air and water pollution controls. In 1978, the figure was two percent.

According to government estimates, however, almost $248 billion will be spent in the decade of 1977-86 to clean up the nation's air pollution. Some industries must pay more than others to clean up because they are dirtier.

Six major industries in fact, will bear 75 percent of the future costs of pollution control in industry: electric utilities; iron and steel producers; copper smelters; pulp and paper producers; petroleum refiners; and chemical producers.

Electric utilities already emit 85 percent of the nation's sulfur oxide pollution, mostly from coal-burning power plants. By 1995, the utility industry hopes to build 350 more plants fired by coal. The Lung Association believes strict controls in these plants are essential to protect people's lungs. "The potential for increased pollution is enormous," says the article.

To join the fight against dirty air and a polluted planet, call the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan at 961-1697.

North Wins Math Contest

Five North High students won fourth place at the Mathematics Track Meet held at the University of Michigan-Dearborn on March 29.

Mary Haug, Greg Prokopowicz, Ken Deman, Jay Cobau, and Mike Skaif participated in the Leap Frog Relay, in which they solved 15 problems in one hour; the Mad Hatter Marathon, a rapid computation contest; and the Chalk Talk Derby, in which a student prepared three five-minute talks on topics such as Fibonacci Sequence. Thirty-four schools competed.

"We did very well," said John Bingham, mathematics department head, "particularly considering that this was the first year we participated."

The team was coached by parent Edward Haug.

Advice on Child Care Facilities

Many a parent before accepting a job outside the home has had qualms about finding and placing their small children in child-care centers. The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants offers these suggestions to parents on locating a facility and on asking questions before finalizing any arrangements.

The first place to look, the CPAs say, is to check with the prospective employer. A number of employers from factories to government agencies now offer and operate their own day-care centers. Local civic and religious organizations, labor unions and publicly supported preschool programs, especially those aimed primarily at children from low-income families are places that are often overlooked.

If these don't work or you can't find a facility at an affordable cost in your community, consider pooling your own time and skills with other working parents. Sharing the costs and duties or hiring someone trained in child-care to watch over the children at least part-time could be a solution with the parents alternating their "shifts."

A good thing to keep in mind, the CPAs say, is it is now possible to receive a tax credit for 20 percent of any amount up to $2,000 that you pay someone to care for your child while you work. If two or more children are involved the amount is extended to $4,000. An added bonus is if hiring a grandparent or any relative who's not a legal dependent of yours, you will still qualify for the credit.

A working parent seeking a full-time babysitter will want to take note of how the Internal Revenue Service views such an arrangement. If the babysitter comes to your home, you are employing a "domestic servant" and may have to calculate, pay and report on unemployment compensation for him or her.

However, if you take the children to the babysitter, you are not an "employer" and not subject to this tax. The tax amounts to 3.4 percent of the first $8,000 in wages.

Finally, before entrusting your child to a day-care center, you may want to ask the center's staff several questions. These include:

- What are the daily, weekly or monthly charges?
- Are there special rates for halfdays or discounts for adding a second or third child from the same family?

Child Labor: A New Study

The exploitation of the child worker in many parts of the world is explored in a new publication released by the U.S. Labor Department.

"The World's Exploited Children: Growing Up Sadly" is the fourth in a series of occasional monographs in which the department's Bureau of International Labor Affairs reports on international labor developments which could affect U.S. interests. Through the series, the department seeks to stimulate discussion, encourage further study, and provide policy makers inside and out of the government with useful information.

The new monograph summarizes several important studies issued in 1979 in connection with the United Nations' "International Year of the Child." The studies—by UNICEF, the International Labor Organization (ILO) and the UN itself—revealed that, even though nearly every country in the world has laws to control child labor, exploitation of the child worker is widespread and increasing in many parts of the world. The monograph was written by William James Knight, former ILO deputy director of information.

Among the monograph's findings:

• Throughout the world, an estimated 82 million children under 15 are working, most of them illegally.

• These children are outside the protection of the law and the trade unions, a defenseless group with no chance of negotiating conditions of work.

• Many jobs hurt the children's physical development and result in a range of illnesses.

• Even their culture is against them: most child workers are located in developing countries where few believe that a child should be maintained without working.

Copies of the 36-page monograph may be purchased at $2.50 a copy from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, upon giving stock number 029-000-000385-5. There is a 25 percent discount for orders of 100 copies or more.

Aetna Salutes Wild, Crazy '70's

After a disagreement, the butcher hit his employee with a frozen duck. The co-worker retaliated with a rock-hard turkey leg across his boss' chest and the "cold war" was on. Within minutes dozens of frozen fowl littered the sawdust-covered floor and the employee limped away from the scene with a broken leg after falling over a petrified rooster.

A 1,110 lb. tombstone fell on top of an Illinois widow as she visited her deceased spouse's grave. She interpreted the incident as her husband calling her to join him.

Then there's the story of the infamous "Golf Cart Gang." Their doom was the mix of booze and the wheel. Celebrating a football victory with some brew, the gang decided to cruise a local country club golf course — in "borrowed" electric carts. Before the night was over, 20 carts were in the drink.

History will undoubtedly record the '70s as the calm after the stormy '60s. That couldn't be further from the truth, according to Aetna Life & Casualty's claims department. Over the last decade the department has processed tens of millions of its policyholders' claims including the above, and a list of some of the sanier cases has been assembled.

Like the one filed by a Florida boat owner who, while out for a spin with a skier in tow, was knocked unconscious at the helm by a flying fish. The boat was destroyed after it crashed into a shoreline tree.

Add the jailed drunk who slipped on his shoe tongues while making a nocturnal visit to the john. He lost his gold front tooth down the commode after hitting the rim. Beforehand, a police officer had removed the prisoner's shoestrings and belt to keep him from harming himself.

Consider the New Jersey housewife who visited a local variety store and was beaned by a toilet seat. The seat came from an elevated display.

The Florida fish was not the only creature from the deep to send a person flying. A revenge-minded carp, hauled from its tank in a Brooklyn delicatessen and tossed onto a scale, leaped into the air with its last bit of strength and landed teeth-first on a woman customer's bare instep.

Let's not forget the love-sick male pooch who smashed through the front door of a home holding a female of the species. The two never rendezvoused as the homeowner intercepted the excited intruder in front of the door to the garage where the female was chained before that too was destroyed.

Another one of man's best friends has Aetna claim representatives chuckling. In Virginia a dog left alone in an unattended car bumped the gear shift into reverse. As the auto rammed into a

A black man wearing a tan ski cap and carrying a large knife approached a Detroit woman near Maryland and Jefferson last weekend and snatched her purse.

However, the 29-year-old woman told police that the thief's gain was really his loss: her purse contained no money.

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

Girl Scout leaders, troop committees and service teams from all over Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods will be "sailing into spring" Wednesday, April 30 — and all it takes to climb aboard in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church's Fellowship Hall is a favorite luncheon salad, (enough to serve six).

Hostesses and coordinators for the 1980 Girl Scout Salad Luncheon are leaders of Neighborhood 115: Richard, Maire and Saint Clare Schools.

Chairmen are Gill Carion and Joyce Brackett, who happens to be this year's Special Awardee. Joyce will receive a 35-year pin for her service to scouting.

There'll be other award presentations, too, for this is the Grosse Pointe-Harper Woods Cluster's day to honor its own. Also invited will be mothers of special value to various troops.

Terry Lenhard, Laura Huthwaite and Kay Maypole are creating decorations for the 12:15 to 2:30 o'clock gathering. Their theme? Spring, of course . . . and, of course, sailing.

That's Entertainment

"A little tap dance, and imitation — a little soft shoe, a recitation." The Judelaires have got it all for you, from "Let Me Entertain You" to an "American in Paris," and they'll give it all to you this Saturday evening, April 19, at 7:30 o'clock in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Auditorium.

De Shaheen has directed and staged "That's Entertainment." It's the Judelaires' annual spring show, and this year it's a benefit for Father Angelo Bianchi, a PIME Missionary working with the EUGENE R. GARDNER, of Allard avenue. Sally, a sophomore, played the role of "Phebe" and Terry, a junior, served as assistant director. Both are graduates of Grosse Pointe North High School.

Participating in a concert tour with the Alma College Kiltie Band was MARY JO EINHEUSER, daughter of MR. and MRS. LEO E. EINHEUSER, of Allard avenue. Mary Jo plays the flute. The band, which traveled to Pennsylvania, Maryland and Washington D.C., and to three Michigan cities, will also play for the college's honors and commencement ceremonies.

Named to the Dean's List at Colby College, Waterville, Me., is NELSON V. RUSSELL, son of MR. and MRS. BRYCE W. RUSSELL, of Washington road. A graduate of University Liggett School, Russell is a senior majoring in Spanish and Administrative Science.

It Was A Night for Smiling

So what if the rains came?—It was still a night for smiling, and the expressions on the faces of Grosse Pointe's MARALYN (Mrs. Henry) DOMZALSKI, chairman of the beautiful Brahms Festival Flower Show, and ROBERT B. SEMPLE, Detroit Symphony Orchestra board chairman, tell the tale of last week's Brahms Festival Gala/Antal Dorati Birthday Salute at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford Estate. The birthday party was a surprise for the Maestro. The flower show exhibits were brehtaking. The entire evening was a delight, in itself and as the beginning of the Detroit Symphony Brahms Festival, which runs through April 26. The Flower Show at the Ford Estate opened the day after the party and drew thousands of visitors on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. It was one of the largest flower shows ever held in the midwest: a combined effort of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan and the Detroit Symphony.

The American Red Cross the nation's largest volunteer organization, will celebrate 100 years of service in 1981, and the Southeastern Michigan Chapter which provides Red Cross services in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties is collecting information on persons and materials relevant to Red Cross history.

Sally Rankin, Centennial Planning committee chairman, explains that her committee wants information on persons who have been, but are not presently, affiliated with the Red Cross.

The information, Mrs. Rankin says, should include a brief description of the affiliation—date, location, position, activity—and the person's name, present address and telephone number.

Persons who have been helped in a dramatic or unusual way by the American Red Cross also are urged to contact the Centennial Planning committee with information about their experiences.

"We are looking for items of historic interest, such as old Red Cross uniforms, posters, photographs, literature and correspondence," notes Mrs. Rankin.

"We will accept such items either as donations to be included in our chapter archives or on loan: to be returned to the owner after the conclusion of the centennial celebration."

Information or items of historic relevance may be sent or delivered to Centennial Planning committee, Southeastern Michigan Chapter, American Red Cross, 100 Mack avenue, P.O. Box 351, Detroit, Michigan 48232.

The time is summer, the era the Naughty Nineties, the place bustling, gossipy London. "Downstairs" members of the cast include Sue Davis as Effie, the country maid, John Diebel as Lane, a manservant, Jean Dickson as Alice, Gwen's maid, and Tom Peters as Perkins, another manservant.

The musical opens with a rousing rendition of "Come Raise Your Cup to the Upper Classes," sung by the two manservants and shopkeepers protesting the debts the aristocracy has owed them for years: Bootmaker Ed Hoot, Piano Teacher Hugh Muncie, Greengrocer Bill Ludwig, Tobacconist Terry Davis and Dancing Master Jim McHugh.

"Ernest in Love" is produced by Mary and Paul Eliason. Musical director is Marty Mandelbaum. Marge Guertler is in charge of costumes. Sets are by Charlotte Giltner and Gail Weber. Stage manager is Bonnie Denler.

Thirty other Fine Arts members support the cast principals.

Twenty-eight special volunteer honorees will be cited for their contributions of 30 years or more to the foundation, a Torch Drive-United Way Agency.

"In 1979, Michigan Cancer Foundation volunteers supported cancer patients and their families with 213,000 hours of work and 428,000 miles travelled," notes Mrs. Alfred R. Glancy, III, 1980 dinner chairman. "Their services were valued at more than $800,000."

Under the Metropolitan Detroit Cancer Control Program, MCF receives matching government funds for every dollar of volunteer time contributed toward service to cancer patients.

Federation volunteers help transport cancer patients, distribute educational literature, assist with cancer detection clinics and staff the Michigan Cancer Foundation's nine community offices.

Ms. Thomas grew up in Detroit. She attended Wayne State University, then worked as a copy girl for the now defunct Washington Daily News. She joined the UPI staff in 1943.

She became UPI White House Bureau Chief in 1974, and began to establish many precedents in her profession. She was the first woman officer of the National Press Club. She became the first woman president of the White House Correspondents Association in 1975.

She holds four honorary doctorates, and was the only woman to accompany President Nixon on his landmark visit to China in 1972.

During her years in Washington, Ms. Thomas has covered beats ranging from the Justice Department to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. She logged these experiences in a book published in 1975: "Dateline: White House." Currently, she is heavily involved in coverage of the crises in Iran and Afghanistan.

Ms. Thomas praises the work of the foundation's volunteers, referring to the vital services they perform.

The largest volunteer force in metro Detroit is the offspring of a group of women, called the Women's Field Army in 1939, who helped raise funds for cancer research and conducted educational campaigns on the importance of early detection.

Doctor Michael J. Brennan, president and medical director of the MCF, will pay tribute to the volunteers during the dinner. Jack Qualey and his orchestra will provide the music for after-dinner dancing.

Is this a good time to buy a house?
Here are 17 good reasons to act now . . .

First Offering

A most ideal house in a most ideal location. Just a block from the lake in the Shores is this contemporary, tri-level with 3 bedrooms, 2 full baths and 2 lavatories. A family room with wet bar and fireplace opens onto a sunken patio. The living room and dining rooms are extremely large and there is a den for dad to get away from it all.

A Carriage House, Too!

An imposing English Tudor on 145 feet of Lake St. Clair frontage. Much attention to practical matters has provided a security system, zoned air conditioning, sprinkler system, well-designed storage. Four bedrooms, maid's quarters, lake side pool and patio.

Incomparable Views of the Lake

We have two more outstanding offerings on the lake. One is a Micou-built Georgian Colonial built in 1960, and magnificently detailed. There are 5 large bedrooms, many fine baths, and a foyer and circular staircase that are breathtaking! It would be our pleasure to show you this fine home on Lakeshore Drive. Also in our portfolio is a magnificent solid masonry and stone English manor house with a handsome slate roof, courtyard and mellow brick wall. A house of noble proportions, completely updated in the last two years. Shown by appointment, of course.

Over $100,000 But Not Much

Impressive neighborhoods for both these offerings . . . nice old trees, fine architecture. One is French design and boasts an outstanding library with chestnut panelling, a cheery garden room, five bedrooms, remodeled kitchen, wonderful storage. The other is a classic center entrance Colonial of imposing proportions. It's magnificently built, with oak woodwork and hardwood floors throughout. There's a wonderful big family room and an equally wonderful dining room, four family bedrooms, plus. Land contract here.

Keeping Under $100,000?

We can show you any number, but try these two. One is a nicely located family Colonial, with 4 bedrooms, family room, 3 car garage, updated kitchen. Land contract available. The other is a 1950's semi-Ranch in the Woods. It has 2 bedrooms down, 2 up, and lots of storage. It's brick and aluminum for minimum decorating.

These Are Way Under $100,000

There's a charming Cape Cod in St. Clair Shores, that's just the right age, and has 3 bedrooms, 2 full baths and a family room. All for $79,900. Then our 3 bedroom Colonial on Merriweather is newly decorated, has a $89,500 price tag and an assumable mortgage. And there's an English on University with 3 bedrooms, a den, and typical English dignity. It's just $84,900.

Colonial in the Farms

Spacious but manageable, and very pure design. Handsome den and sunny garden room extend the livability of this classic in the Farms. Master bedroom suite on the 1st floor, 4 bedrooms, 3 baths upstairs. Very favorable terms!

Out-of-the-Ordinary Colonial

Such magnificent details as crown moldings, wainscoting and custom shelving distinguish this center entrance Colonial in Grosse Pointe City. A Mutschler kitchen and large family room with fireplace are other incentives to see this well-priced offering with attractive land contract terms. A manageably large family home, conveniently located to schools.

Here's for Penny-Pinchers

A find in any market, this 3-bedroom Colonial in the Woods is priced under $70,000, and has a family room with fireplace. Land contract terms, too.

A Love of a Semi-Ranch

Prime Farms location and all the amenities you could want in a family residence — 1st floor master bedroom suite, family room with wet bar, greenhouse patio and central air.

Two Choices In Ranch

Increasingly popular for ease of maintenance. Both in superior locations, and both the rambling, executive type with 3 bedrooms, lots of livable features. One is $88,500, the other is $95,000 and you could arrange a land contract on the latter.

Pointers of Interest

By Janet Mueller

We tried to get all the Cranes together for one picture, but when you're dealing with a family of eight you shoot the group that's available at any given time. So... pictured above with Beth and C. Howard Crane, II, are their oldest son, C. H., 15, Scott, 14, Katrina, 13, and Michael, 10. Missing are nine-year-old Robert and six-year-old Brian.

If we'd decided on a longer shot, we might have managed to include Little Bit, the Cranes' Cavalier King Charles Spaniel, in the picture. Little Bit certainly WANTED to be in it—he was romping about at his family's feet, looking as cute as he knew how to look, doing everything short of standing up on his hind feet and saying, "Take me too! Take me too!" — but it seemed rather unfair to include the family dog in the picture when we were missing two of the family kids!

Better Things to Do

Though it's doubtful either the missing or the present kids would have minded, put it this way: the present kids were willing to be in the picture, not anxious. They, too, had better things to do. Somebody had to get to the dentist. Right now! Somebody else had to get to baseball practice. "Don't worry; we'll get you there by 7 o'clock." "It's at 6!"

Katrina, middle child and only girl, (Rose Among The Thorns—I can't resist, especially as Katrina is the only one of the family who has inherited the flame-red hair that runs in Beth's side of the family), had a request/statement to make: "Can I go out tonight, because Aunt Harriet has asked me to babysit tomorrow night?"

She made it several times, as middle children and children who are members of large families have learned to do over the years, working on the premise that eventually someone will hear them, and eventually someone did hear her: "Ask me later."

Katrina smiled, (a) because she'd gotten through and (b) because "ask me later" is a fairly good first-time around response. "No!" is definitely a bad one.

An Academy Family

Katrina is a student at the Grosse Pointe Academy. Her mother is an alumna of the Academy of the Sacred Heart, Grosse Pointe, the Grosse Pointe Academy's predecessor school.

Beth was four years old when she entered kindergarten at Grosse Pointe Sacred Heart. She went straight through, graduating after four years of high school.

Katrina's been a Grosse Pointe Academy student since Early School, C. H. is at South High now, but he, too, started school at the Grosse Pointe Academy's Early School, and he's a Grosse Pointe Academy graduate. Academy classes end at the eighth grade; Sacred Heart classes went through grade 12.

Scott, Michael, Robert and Brian are all enrolled in the appropriate Grosse Pointe Academy classes. That leaves C. Howard, II, as the only member of the family who never walked the Academy's halls as a student... but his sister, Kitty, did. She's a

Ribbon Farms Meets Monday

Ribbon Farms Chapter of the Quilters will meet at noon next Monday, April 21, in the Mason road home of Mrs. Ralph E. Glahn for a program on "Oriental Things," with each member contributing.

Once again, the Auction is offering a trip on a Ford Motor Company freighter, donated by Henry Ford, II—and a super new item this year is a personalized computer.

This is a super year to introduce the personalized computer, for this year Action Auction enters the Electronic Era. Bids on the silent auction's 150 items will be handled by computers, with volunteers stationed throughout the GPYC to take key punch operators, and TV monitors placed throughout the GPYC so bidders can know, almost instantly, if theirs is the high bid.

The idea is to increase the pace and excitement in the early portion of the Auction, to make the silent bidding more competitive. The Computer Auction is a Detroit area first, and the Cranes are excited about it. For them, though, (and for the Academy's friends, parents and alumni, as well as those auction addicts who've learned in the past 11 years that Action Auction is one of the best around, and wouldn't miss it), being excited about Action Auctions is nothing new.

School for Today

The school C. H. was graduated from, the one Scott, Katrina, Michael, Robert and Brian are attending, is a school for, and of the 1980s. It is independent and co-educational. It respects and honors the culture and beliefs of all religious persuasions.

It houses Michigan's oldest and largest Montessori School, (ages two-and-a-half to five), and a complete elementary school, grades one through eight. Its present enrollment is 509 students. And it has managed, as a "new" school, to keep the best of the old. The sense of solidarity remains. Alumni loyalty is unquestioned. Most of all... "It's a good school," say Beth and Howard Crane. It always was.

The Cranes, (he's a manufacturer representative), are general chairman this year of Action Auction, the Academy's major annual fund raiser. Since its inception in 1969, Action Auction has raised nearly $635,000 to aid the school in maintaining its standard of educational excellence.

Action Auction will be held this year on Friday, May 2, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. The format remains similar to that of past years: a Silent Auction, starting at 5:30 o'clock, with cocktail service and hors d'oeuvres, followed by a live auction of 80 Very Special Items starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Once again, live auctioneer will be Larry DuMouchelle. Once again, the list of items going up for bids is fabulous, for Action Auction, in its 12th year, is living up to its reputation as the ONLY place where you can get many one-of-a-kind goods and services and fantastic vacation packages, ranging from a villa in Portugal to two weeks at an oceanfront condominium on Windemere Island in The Bahamas.

Super Auction Items

How about an exquisite Colonial doll house? How about a needlepointed child's Queen Anne chair and stool, a quilt handmade by the Academy's fourth and fifth grade students, a Christmas tree with needlepoint decorations done by members of the Academy's Parents' Coordinating Council?

How about a permanent village layout constructed by Academy parent Ned Evans, complete with two 0 gauge trains? How about a completely decorated outdoor playhouse, with bunk beds, a telephone booth hand-decorated by Academy Middle School students, a needlepoint backgammon table custom-designed by Mrs. David Summers?

And that, given their family, is not easy. Beth belongs to the Junior League, Sigma Gamma and the Grosse Pointe Garden Club. Howard supports the Boys Clubs of Metropolitan Detroit.

"But we don't really do much for those organizations," they maintain. It's not that they don't want to, and not that they don't plan to, in the future. It's a question of time.

Beth and Howard snatch a few hours to play tennis, paddle tennis and golf together, but most of their time is Family Time. There are hockey, basketball, baseball and soccer games to attend/get the boys to and from — and Katrina's trying out for softball this spring.

They insist on a family dinner every night, "except when the baseball season rolls around." Or when something very special comes up, like Action Auction.

Off to the GPYC

Naturally, they'll be at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club Friday evening, May 2, No.

Work and Play

Beth and Howard Crane have worked for most of the past Action Auctions, in capacities ranging from ticket seller to a shared acquisitions chairmanship.

"It's fun to be involved in it," Beth says, and Howard seconds her "to a point—but there's a lot of work involved, too." It's work they feel is worth it, so they make time for it.

Rose Pruning Demonstration

The Grosse Pointe Rose Society will present its annual Pruning Demonstration this Sunday, April 20, from 2 to 4 in the afternoon at the Grosse Pointe Woods home of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Lough, 19952 Emory court, (turn right on Torrey road off Mack).

It is open to all rose growers, who are invited to learn how to ensure that their roses get the proper start this spring.

Angelo Tavaglia and Forrest Geary, two of the society's Consulting Rosarians, will be in charge, assisted by several other knowledgeable rose growers.

Many people who grow roses are afraid to use their pruning shears, believing that they will harm their plants. The truth is that plants

Included among 1,300 students who received degrees from Western Michigan University at its recent commencement are JULIE ANNE VERBEKE, of McMillan road, KATHRYN ZUR-SCHMIEDE, of Touraine road, TIMOTHY J. KENT, of St. Clair avenue, and KEVIN ROBERT KOLLETH, of Canterbury road, Bachelors of Arts; LEE JAMES WOJCIECHOWSKI, of Belanger road, ELIZABETH C. CUNNINGHAM, of University place, JANET MARIE LARSON, of Crescent lane, and ROBERT BRIAN STEVENS, of Fairholme road, Bachelors of Science, THOMAS M. MARANTE, of Berkshire road, GARY EDWARD GULA, of Willison road, and MICHAEL ROBERT VERMEULEN, of Broadstone road, Bachelors of Business Administration.

Placing first in the sixth grade category of the 1980 Shrine Circus Poster Contest was KRISTIN SCHMIDT, of The Farms. Kristin's prize-winning poster was chosen from 8,000 entries.

Among students who will compete in the National Oratorical Speech Contest in June is RICK BANTIEN, son of RICHARD and SUE BANTIEN, of The Woods. Bantien, a senior in Personal Management and Industrial Relations at Ferris State College, earned the right to compete in the nationals by finishing second in the State Oratorical Peace Contest, with his speech on Indian fishing rights in the Great Lakes.

Participating in Interlochen Arts Academy's "Show on the Road," a musical tour of Michigan, is TIMOTHY MITCHELL, son of DR. and MRS. DAVID MITCHELL, of Hillcrest road.

Phase I Slates Square Dance

Phase I, the organization for single young adults, ages 20 through 39, who meet regularly Sunday evenings at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, has scheduled a reprise of its successful square dance for this Sunday, April 20, starting at 7:45 o'clock.

Lyle J. Brabec, the professional caller and instructor who kept Phase I members sashaying and allemanding following their hayride at the November party, will return for April's country and western shindig.

Phase I's meeting last Sunday, April 13, featured Marlene Thompson, talking on Astrological Compatibility.

Katrina can't go: "This is for adults only."

But she can wait up to see what her parents bring home. One year it was a Sunfish. Another year, they bid on and got a trip to Hilton Head. There've been years when they bid and didn't get, of course, but there's never been a year when they didn't have a whale of a good time at a great party.

If you're interested in being one of their fellow Action Auction party goers this year, the number to call for tickets and further information is 886-1221.

Just don't wait too long to call. Action Auction annually draws 500 bidders, buyers and browsers to the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club—and, annually, it's a sellout.

people in the small, young nation of Guinea Bissau, West Africa.

Father Angelo's missionaries run technical schools. They train young women in housekeeping, knitting and tailoring. They train young men in fishing and farming techniques. They operate educational and medical centers in areas where the government has not yet been able to establish them.

They fund their own projects, and they need funds to keep their centers going, and to open more. Which is where groups like the Judelaires, who love to sing and dance and act and who do those things well, come in.

They put on a good show. Information on tickets, at $3.50 regular admission, $2 for students and senior citizens, may be obtained by calling Rita Vermilion, 882-8792.

Pointers in Print

Pick up this month's issue of "Guideposts," (largest religious magazine in the United States, with a circulation of 3,500,000 and a readership of 12 million), and turn to Page 29 — and you'll find there a lovely poem/prayer, "Hide and Seek."

Its author is our own Martha Meister Kiely, wife of the Senior Minister of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

Publication date for "The Learning-Disabled Child: Ways That Parents Can Help" is next Tuesday. Its author is Suzanne H. Stevens, who went on from Grosse Pointe High School, (Class of 1955), to graduate from Hillsdale College with a Bachelors degree in Elementary Education, then taught reading improvement for adults in Hillsdale County before moving into the field of learning disabilities.

She was recently commissioned to design a five-year projection for an established LD program in North Carolina.

A Spring Feast

What do Douglas Roby, III, the Buell family, Frank McCaffrey and Mark Beltaire have in common? They all live on our side of town — and they're all involved, in one way or another, in a super spring feast that will take place on the other side of town the first Sunday in May.

It's the second Gala de Cuisine at Cranbrook School. Chefs from 37 top restaurants and clubs will try to top their outstanding success of last year, producing a panoply of dishes ranging from tantalizing hors d'oeuvres and succulent entrees to rare dessert treats, cheeses and fruit.

New this year is a special coffee corner featuring espresso, capuccino and hot spice Viennese. New too will be a giant ice carving demonstration.

The wine and champagne are complimentary, but there will also be a cash bar. Entertainment? Continuous, of course.

Tickets at $50 per person, ($40 tax deductible), are available by calling 645-3134. Proceeds are for Cranbrook School's enrichment program.

Artists Market Opens Exhibit

The Detroit Artists Market's Spring Invitational, featuring work by a group of artists invited by John Egner to show, opens tomorrow, Friday, April 18, with a 5 to 7:30 o'clock, invitational reception at the galleries in Randolph street, where the exhibit will continue through Friday, May 23.

Prime Puts Squeeze on Small Shops

The small businessman's number is up — this time to almost 22 percent. That's the interest rate he has to pay to borrow money. According to Michigan State University economist Darrell Suits, small businessmen borrow money to buy inventory as a standard mode of operation. Local banks usually loan the money at 1.5 percent above the prime interest rate.

A few years ago when the prime rate was 7 percent, small businessmen weren't too concerned about borrowing money and passing along the cost to their customers. But that isn't true anymore.

If prices keep climbing at 18 percent per year, as they did in the past year, businessmen will be able to carry their inventories at no cost. But if the Carter administration succeeds in controlling inflation, prices will stop climbing at that high rate and borrowers won't be able to pass on loan interest costs to their customers, Suits says.

"Maybe if a business is already shaky, it might have trouble borrowing money," he adds. "Otherwise, I haven't seen a problem getting financing on any large scale." The money is available if the small businessman is willing to pay the high interest rate, he says. Owners of some car dealerships are the ones facing real problems, Suits points out. He knows of one car dealership that was unable to sell its inventory and had trouble borrowing money, so it was forced to go out of business.

"You're going to see a lot of small businesses go to the wall," he predicts. Suits says he probably doesn't have any suggestions for small businessmen that they haven't already thought of themselves to get through these hard times. To survive, he suggests, small businesses should: • Hold inventories to a bare minimum. • Stop extending any kind of credit to customers. • Try to collect any outstanding receivables. • Try to postpone your own payments.

BBB Offers Moving Tips

Today's lifestyles require mobility. Whether the reason is a company transfer, an educational opportunity, or that retirement dreamhouse, Americans are constantly on the move. Statistics tell us that each year one out of every five families moves. Now, a new booklet offering consumer information on interstate moving is available from the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan Detroit, Thomas F. Ashcraft, BBB President announced.

"Tips on Interstate Moving" gives advice on how to choose a moving company, emphasizing the importance of getting estimates to determine the cost of the move. Prospective movers should "learn well in advance of a move how to choose a reliable mover, cut moving costs, and prevent and insure against damages and losses," according to Ashcraft.

The booklet describes the process of interstate moving in step-by-step detail, providing information on such items as the order for service, the inventory, and the bill of lading. An important section of the booklet deals with mover liability, stressing that those planning to move are responsible for determining the value of their goods and the extent to which the carrier will be liable. Pointers are provided on obtaining additional liability coverage as well as details on the procedure to follow in filing a claim.

As an added feature, "Tips on Interstate Moving" offers a checklist for prospective movers to use in planning and organizing an interstate move.

The booklet joins the Better Business Bureau Consumer Information Series which offers booklets on over 60 topics of consumer interest. For a copy of the booklet, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan Detroit, 150 Michigan Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

Robber Grabs Money Bag

A Mt. Clemens man was assaulted and robbed of $1,431.86 Friday in the parking lot of Manufacturers National Bank on Mack near Brys drive in Grosse Pointe Woods.

James Callahan, 33, who manages a Tulsa gas station in St. Clair Shores, told police he parked his car in the east end of the bank lot and carried a money bag to the bank to make a deposit.

Before reaching the bank, Callahan was knocked down by a man about 5'10" tall, with a medium build, and long, dark beard and mustache who grabbed the money bag and ran south on Mack.

Callahan chased the robber to an alley but lost him on Hampton road. Callahan later told police he doesn't think he was followed by anyone.

Shorter Weeks The average American's work week has been shortened by 31 hours in the past 30 years. Farmers work more hours than most, averaging 53. Managers, a close second, usually work 50 hours.

Youth Unemployment May Reach 23 Percent

With Michigan's overall unemployment rate expected to hover around the 11.6 percent mark during 1980, the Michigan Employment Security Commission does not expect young people to have an easy time finding summer jobs this year, MESC Director S. Martin Taylor said today.

In fact, Taylor predicted that Michigan young people (16 to 19 years old) will have an unemployment rate of 23.5 percent during the year, more than double the state overall rate.

Defining the youth jobless rate further, he expects white youths will have an average jobless rate of 20.2 percent for 1980 while the rate for non-white youths will be two and a half times higher at 50.6 percent.

"These jobless estimates are annual averages which means they will undoubtedly be much higher during the summer months when thousands of young people flood the job market looking for work," Taylor said.

Regardless of how bleak the statistics may seem for young people, Taylor said there will be some jobs available for teenagers and students.

"Young people who want jobs this summer will need real initiative and hard work to find them," Taylor said. "In other words, they can expect to try harder than ever before and to begin looking now."

Taylor, who directs the state's largest public employment service — MESC's Job Service, has several suggestions for young people planning to enter the summer job market.

The first step for young job seekers is to decide what talents or skills they have to offer an employer, Taylor said. Job seekers should think of what they have done, what they have learned and what they can do for an employer.

They should talk over their job plans with a teacher or counselor who may know of job openings in the area and how the young person can best use his or her special qualifications.

Job seekers should also prepare a list of things they will need for the job interview. The list should include references and a work record giving the names and addresses of any previous employers or volunteer and school experiences.

To help job seekers prepare their background lists, Taylor said that MESC has available through its Job Service offices an "Employment Information Reminder" card. The card, which is free of charge, has space for the names and addresses of the job seeker's previous employers and references, as well as space for information about the job seeker.

Once job seekers are ready to start looking for a job, where do they begin? An obvious first place would be MESC's Job Service, Taylor said. "We have 71 full-service offices throughout the state and they offer a wide range of job openings from area employers," Taylor said. "And we don't charge a fee for any service we offer or job we find."

But job seekers should also check with everyone they know, letting them know they are looking for summer jobs.

Newspaper want ads should be checked every day as well as church, community and office bulletin boards. Factories and stores will often place "help wanted" signs in their windows when they need employees, Taylor said. In addition, local government units may have summer jobs for young people through Comprehensive Employment and Training Act, (CETA) sponsored programs. These programs do have certain income criteria.

Taylor said that some employers offer better employment potential for teenagers during the summer including camps, resorts, parks, playgrounds, amusement parks, nurseries, farms, retail stores, theaters, hospitals and ice cream and soft drink companies.

Once a potential employer is found, the interview becomes all important, and it becomes necessary to carefully prepare for that interview. Taylor offered several tips in preparing for the job interview.

• Learn about the employer's business. Then the job seeker can show how his/her abilities would fit in. Company pamphlets, brochures and annual reports give information about the company.

• Take along a background history or resume with the names and addresses of past employers and personal references. Job seekers should also carry their social security cards. These materials will help in completing the application form.

• Dress conservatively. Most employers are impressed by those who present a serious image.

• Be on time and be alone. First impressions are lasting. Don't bring friends or parents. The employer is interested in knowing the job applicant.

• Be honest and brief when answering questions. Job seekers should concentrate on their qualifications, not on personal matters.

• Don't become discouraged. Jobs today are hard to find. It may take one, two, three or more interviews before a job seeker lands a job. A job seeker should think over each past interview, deciding what made a good impression and what could have been improved. Each interview should make the job seeker better prepared for the next one.

Silver Theft Is Reported

A belated larceny report was turned in to Shores police on Tuesday, April 8. The victim said the theft probably took place between March 1 and 9 while he was in Florida.

A number of silver items were taken from the man's home on Willow Tree Place. Missing are seven forks, seven knives and seven soup spoons, nine salad spoons, nine teaspoons and nine cocktail forks. All the silver was International Sterling.

The man stated the last time he knew for sure the silver was in his house was Christmas, 1979.

Finally, if all job finding efforts turn up nothing, Taylor suggested that young people consider volunteer work at a hospital, nursing home, youth center, playground or other community service. Not only is the work rewarding, he said, but the experience can help the young person find work next summer.

Taylor also suggested young people contact MESC's Job Service for several booklets that offer job findings and information. These pamphlets are: "How To Find A Job," "21 Tips To Getting Employment," "A Beginner's Guide To Work," and "A Guide To Preparing A Resume."

Police Arrest Kidnapper

Park police arrested a Detroit man last week wanted for kidnaping a St. Clair Shores woman from a suburban shopping center.

The woman, 25, told police she was approached at 13 Mile and Harper at knife-point by a man wearing a red jacket and baseball cap. The man asked her where he could catch a bus and then forced her into the car and told her to drive into the Grosse Pointe area.

Police said the woman told her abductor that she was running out of gas as they approached a Sunoco station at Beaconsfield and Jefferson.

The man ordered the woman to drive into the station where she jumped out of the car. Police said the man also fled from the car into a nearby alley.

After receiving a call from the gas station that a woman had just been attacked by a man wearing a red jacket and baseball cap, police apprehended a man, identified as Jay W. Joree, at Alter and Jefferson.

Joree, 33, of Detroit, was turned over to St. Clair Shores police and charged with kidnaping and assault with a deadly weapon. Bond was set at $25,000. Joree was remanded to the Macomb County Jail to await a preliminary exam on the charges.

Are basements old hat? Less than four percent of single-family houses built in the U.S. in the last two years had basements.

CRYSTAL BALLS JUST DON'T SEEM TO GRAB US

We read a good deal about advertising research and are frequently reminded of some mystical incantation—figures mysteriously projected, multiplied, divided, contorted to form a supposedly attractive story.

What ever happened to the good old how-many-copies-were-really-sold counts? That's the kind of stuff advertising rates are based on!

And it's just for that reason we have a no-nonsense, no-mystery ABC audit report of our circulation audience.
