It's already mid-August, and it won't be long before the sunny, balmy days along Lake St. Clair become blustery, gray autumn. Rumor has it that these ducks sighted last week on Lakeshore road were already planning their trip south.

Detroit hands Grosse Pointes whopping water rate increase

By Joanne Gouleche

Some local residents may think twice about turning on the nozzle to their lawns next summer when they see water bills jump by as much as 120 percent this winter.

The villain is the Detroit City Council which passed along a rate hike last month to its suburban customers, including the Park, Shores and Woods. The increase goes into effect December 1.

Detroit officials say the hike is necessary to finance improvements to the city's water system, but locally administrators are seriously questioning the new rate schedule under which the hikes to each community were based.

THE LAST WATER increase to Grosse Pointers was in 1976, and some communities are still waging a fight in court against that hike. The communities also were handed a sewage increase at the beginning of this year.

The Farms pumps its own water and sells it to the City and so neither community is effected by the Detroit increase. The Farms charges its own residents $1.14 per 1,000 cubic feet.

But in the Park residents will be faced with a 65 percent rate hike from $1.96 to $3.24. Administrators are calling that hefty jump and others like it "ridiculous."

"We have turned over the information to our legal staff to investigate whether or not the rate schedule is justifiable," said Park City Manager John Crawford.

Crawford said while there is not much the city can do about the increase, he would like to see a more equitable billing method to residents such as the computerized "remote" utility billing system that was given a test run in Grosse Pointe City last year.

The system built by Datavision Inc.

in Roseville sends audio signals through a computer chip that is strapped to residents' meters. Readings are sent back to the company office in Roseville through a network of small computers on telephone poles.

Come this December residents in the Shores will feel the stiffest impact of the new rate schedule when water costs will climb a whopping

S&L may 'anchor' Hill project

By Dean Brierly

Grosse Pointe Farms' long-awaited and long-delayed Hill redevelopment plan may finally become a reality this year, as one of the builders involved reports he is "close" to securing the financial backing needed to get the project off the ground.

Peter V. Bologna of the 81 Investment Company, the firm which has plans to build a medical office building at the corner of Muir and Kercheval, says "things are finally falling into place." Bologna was referring to finding purchasers of Economic Development Fund bonds, the method by which both his building and a parking deck are being financed.

"It's been a long road, but I think now the stage is set," he said.

Competition is studying plan

Citing a favorable current mortgage rate of about 12 percent as the basis for his optimism, Bologna said financial commitment at this time is conditional upon securing a Standard Federal Savings and Loan branch office in the building to give him an "anchor tenant."

Standard Federal has been interested in the project for more than a year, Bologna said, but didn't seriously consider opening the branch office until the last 60 days, when the office building started coming close to firm financing.

Is Coats Leaving GP? No One Knows for Sure

By Susan McDonald

William Coats' on-again, off-again resignation from Grosse Pointe schools is off again, following two school board meetings this week that degenerated into bitter personal battles between Superintendent Coats and some board members.

The contest over Coats' resignation ended (for the time being) at a special meeting Tuesday when the superintendent refused to re-submit a request to be released from his five-year contract with the board.

He has been offered a full professorship at the University of Michigan. The university agreed to give Coats a leave of absence for one year, expecting him to assume full-time responsibilities in July 1981.

The special meeting had been called by Board president Jon Gandelot after a nasty battle Monday over the contract issue. Gandelot said he feared the Monday arguments would "adversely affect" Coats' ability to work with board members, operate the school system and supervise staff.

Trustee Joan Hanpeter began discussion of the contract request Monday by questioning the propriety of Coats' request that he be allowed to accrue vacation pay during his last year on the job. Trustee Ron Dalby joined in with questions about Coats' relationship with U-M during his last year in Grosse Pointe—and was told by Coats that was simply "none of his business."

On a vote to end discussion and put the issue to a vote, Trustees Hanpeter, Dalby, Roger Mourad and Dorothy Kennel decided to continue questioning. Gandelot, Cathie Brierly and Laurance Harwood voted to end discussion.

At that point, Coats withdrew his request, calling the meeting "the low point in his 10-year professional career."

"I've got a contract with you until 1981 and I intend to fulfill it," Coats said. "I resent being treated this way. I'm not going to allow you to pull this cutesy thing on me. If I were to be as petty as I think you're being, I (would take my vacation) and just not show up in June next year. Unfortunately that's the most crucial time of the year."

Coats' resignation wasn't the only issue to inspire nasty debate at the Monday board meeting. Argument broke out over another, long-standing dispute between Coats and Dalby—the school system's large bank deposits.

Dalby, head of the construction firm Dalby Corp., has repeatedly questioned the administration's ability to make decisions on investments of school funds, since the school's largest account was removed from the local National Bank of Detroit branch and transferred to Michigan National Bank under a new School Board policy.

"I'm very concerned about the $12 million a year we have to invest and the way it was handled and the lack of experience of our administration with investing that money," Dalby said. He later apologized for the remark.

But Coats first responded to the statements with his own attack. "I question very much (Dalby's) motivation for trying to funnel some money into National Bank of Detroit," Coats said. "Why is there such an insistence on leaving money in NBD and letting them invest that?"

Dalby said he "does business daily" in his construction firm with all the banks on the school board's investment list, and told the board there is a "cloud" over the system's banking practices. Those criticisms had been repeated at several earlier board meetings.

"Any inference that there is any identity of interest by me in connection with (NBD) is false," Dalby said.

The contest over banking policies is not likely to be resolved quickly or easily. The argument appears to stem from a new Board policy that says major bank accounts should be placed in the financial institution which successfully bids on the largest amount of school system tax anticipation notes. The bid was awarded to Michigan National last month.

Will Bill Coats be heading off to Ann Arbor?

Grosse Pointe loses noted philanthropist

Mrs. Edith McNaughton Ford, one of Grosse Pointe's most active philanthropists, patron of the arts and widow of Ford Motor Company heir Benson Ford, died in Ford Hospital early Saturday morning at the age of 60.

Mrs. Ford, who lived on Lakeshore road in Grosse Pointe Shores, had been hospitalized in Henry Ford Hospital for the past week with an undisclosed illness.

Services were held in Christ Church on Tuesday and Mrs. Ford was buried next to her husband in Detroit's Woodlawn Cemetery.

The daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lynn McNaughton married Benson Ford in 1941 in Christ Church. Her education took place at Liggett School, Grosse Pointe Country Day School, the Masters school in Dobbs Ferry, N.Y. and Finch College in N.Y.

SHE SPENT a lifetime involved with civic, social and charitable organizations, among them the American Cancer Society, Michigan Cancer Foundation, United Foundation, Children's Hospital of Michigan, Michigan Humane Society, Junior League of Detroit, Founders Society of the Detroit Institute of Arts and many others.

She was also involved with the Children's Home of Detroit, the Franklin Settlement, Michigan Heart Association, Sigma Gamma Association, Liggett School, Animal Rescue League, Project Hope, National Farm and Garden Association, Garden Club of Michigan, International Women's Fishing Association, Palm Beach Civic Association and the Masters School.

She was a trustee of Henry Ford Hospital, the Edison Institute, the Society of the Four Arts in Palm Beach and St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach.

Mrs. Jean Bodnik of the Park, who met Mrs. Ford when they both worked for the Red Cross during World War II and was one of her best friends.

Candidates set for Nov.

By Gregory Jakub

Grosse Pointers have some interesting fall elections to look forward to in the wake of last Tuesday's primary vote which set the stage for reorganization of Wayne County and drew lines for three Republican-Democrat contests this fall.

The race for nomination to retiring Congressman Lucien Nedzi's seat gave the Pointes the most colorful campaign in recent years. Finishing on top of a field of four Republicans was Shores resident Vic Caputo who ended his career as a television personality in May to seek Nedzi's seat. Caputo beat his closest opponent, Pointer John Lauve, by an eight-to-one margin, district wide. Caputo took 78 percent of the Republican vote.

"I don't see the (fall campaign) any different than the primary," Caputo said, adding that he did much of his primary campaigning on foot.

It was a strategy that worked for Caputo who was without formal support from the 14th District Republican Party leaders, some of whom supported Lauve.

Any divisions that may have existed between Lauve and Caputo supporters were not apparent at last week's district convention where Caputo said Republicans received him warmly. The primary fostered "healthy" competition among Republicans who have now closed their ranks, Caputo said.

Correction

Last week's story on Grosse Pointe Woods' new liquor and tavern license law reported the wrong number of licenses currently standing in the city. The correct totals are four liquor licenses and two tavern licenses. Also, the story on Lochmoor Hardware should have given the store's location as Mack and Anita.

In November, Caputo will face Dennis Hertel of Detroit who firmly snatched the Democratic nomination by a three-to-one margin over State Sen. John Kelly.

Kelly said that he was clearly outspen by Hertel, who had the backing of the UAW, but Hertel said it was his extensive door-to-door campaigning that gave him the win.

Hertel said even he was surprised by his 1,951 to 155 edge over Kelly in Hamtramck which Hertel attributes in part to campaign help from Hamtramck Mayor Robert Kozaren.

Hertel said he will continue to meet voters during the fall campaign—using the same strategy Caputo said he will use to try to cut into Hertel's support in Hamtramck and Macomb County.

Other successful Grosse Pointe Republican primary candidates were State Rep. William Bryant, Jr. and Barbara Gattorn. Incumbent Bryant won renomination for his seat by soundly defeating Patricia Higgins 4,850 to 1,227. Bryant will face Democrat Bernard Simbole, who ran unopposed, on the November ballot.

Grosse Pointe followed the rest of the county's lead in passing Proposal A to reorganize Wayne County by 7,051-1,309.

Barbara Gattorn beat a field of four other candidates for a seat on the commission that will draw the new charter for Wayne County this fall. Gattorn will be opposed by Democrat Anita McIntyre in the general election.

Once the charter commission is formed, its first task will be to draw up two charters to restructure county government, both identical except for the provision of county executive. One will call for an executive elected

Third Thursday Forum

Racism and political power

A series of discussions on topics relating to racial understanding and social justice will begin at 7 p.m. August 21, with a talk by Detroit Free Press Associate Editor Reese Cleghorn at Christ Episcopal Church's Miller Hall.

The series, called Third Thursday Forums, is sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice.

Cleghorn will lead a discussion on the question, "Is racism weakening black political power in Detroit?"

Cleghorn also addressed the Inter-

Faith Center's annual meeting in May and his presentation caused considerable audience reaction, according to the center. That's just what they're hoping for.

"Our goal in organizing the forums is to allow people to educate themselves by hearing a variety of views on current social issues," according to Susan Bryant, leader of the center's education task force.

Future forums will deal with race and sex discrimination, positive examples of social harmony and the impact of national and local politics on minorities, according to Ms. Bryant. Programs for children also are in the works.

Inter-Faith Center President Rick Drabant said his group hopes the Third Thursday Forums will provide people a chance to look beyond the mundane realities of everyday life to reflect on social issues behind the events in their communities.

"By setting aside this day every month, the center can provide a vehicle for its members and the larger community to look at a variety of socially significant issues," Drabant said.

The Inter-Faith Center is funded by 15 area churches and many individual members. Its goal is to provide

Cable Hearings Set in Cities

By Dean Briery

Public hearings in the Farms, Woods, City and Park, the four cities involved in the Grosse Pointe Cable TV system, are taking place this month regarding the proposed project plans for that system, which includes Economic Development Corporation (EDC) bonds as a means of financing 75 percent of its costs.

The system is currently being funded by Teleprompter, the national cable company which jointly owns Grosse Pointe Cable along with the War Memorial.

To qualify for the EDC bonds, the system must complete the purchase of land and a building to be used in conjunction with the system, according to John Rickel, director of the War Memorial board. Rickel said that purchase was held up until recently due to high interest rates. The current lower rates, he said, made possible the recent acquisition of a laundromat at 15017 E. Jefferson in the Park.

Now that the purchase has been made, he said, Grosse Pointe cable is in the process of getting purchasers for the bonds, pending the four cities' approval of the project plans.

The cities are, in effect, approving the concept of the land purchases and cable construction throughout the Pointes, according to Rickel. Since the cities have already awarded a contract to Grosse Pointe Cable, Rickel says that approval should be merely a matter of form. Once the bond proceeds come through, Teleprompter will be reimbursed for any amount over 25 percent it has already spent on the project.

Grosse Pointe Cable has its main receiving station and headquarters in an office building at 19245 Mack. Since that building is part of the 7 Mile shopping center, it must be leased, creating the necessity of purchasing land elsewhere.

Michael Reynolds, general manager of Grosse Pointe Cable, says the laundromat will remain in operation for the time being until a decision has been made on how best to utilize the building and the land it sits on. He mentioned it could possibly be used as a sales office.

In a related move, plans for studio facilities to be built at the War Memorial have been scrapped due to zoning problems and instead will be built at the 7 Mile Road office.

The problems stem from the fact that the War Memorial is zoned as a non-profit organization, Rickel says the directors of the cable system want to avoid any questions which could possibly be raised as to property tax violations.

"We knew of the zoning problems from the start," said Rickel. "We knew it (the studio's location) could be resolved either way. We worked out what seemed the easiest and best solution."

Rickel said the change in plans would not affect the capability of transmitting news events from the Memorial since outlets for minicams will be provided.

Semta Rides Show Increase

Long-time users of SEMTA services spotted scores of new faces on buses during the past fiscal year. During that year, which ended June 30, SEMTA large and small buses and commuter rail cars carried 2,229,110 more passengers than in the previous fiscal year, according to the agency.

Regular bus ridership increased by 21 percent in FY 1980 as compared to FY 1979; commuter rail ridership increased by 17.7 percent and small bus ridership was up by 15 percent for the same period.

Total number of passengers carried on line-haul (large buses) for FY 1980 was 11,196,998, as compared to 9,276,463 in FY 1979. Small bus ridership was 1,739,496 in FY 1980 and 1,509,022 in FY 1979. Commuter rail ridership for the year just ended was 518,133 as compared to 440,032 in FY 1979. Commuter rail ridership for FY 1980 was 63 percent higher than just three years ago.

During the past year SEMTA operated an average of 99.9 percent of all scheduled trips and the Authority's on-time performance stood at 92 percent.

According to SEMTA General Manager Larry E. Salec, "That is an exceptional performance record and we're obviously very proud of it."

Appraise Collectibles For Some Tax Benefits

Have you started collecting rare books or glassware for fun? This can be an effective safeguard against inflation, says The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

When you want to sell an antique, you'll probably need a dealer to find a buyer for the item. So remember to subtract the commission cost from the price of the item to determine its final cash value to you and its value for tax purposes. The cost of an ad placed in a newspaper or magazine in order to sell a collectible is tax deductible.

If the value of a painting or other art object in your collection begins to decline in value, consider donating the item to a charity such as museum. By doing this, a deduction on your federal income tax return can be claimed.

It's a good idea, say CPAs, to support this deduction with receipts showing when you bought the item and how much was paid for it. Another suggestion is to have a qualified expert appraise the item and determine the fair market value in writing. The appraisal fee is tax deductible, also.

When you own a painting for less than a year and donate it to charity, your federal deduction is limited to the amount you paid for the item, CPAs say. However, owning the painting for many years and then donating it to an art museum is an allowable deduction at the full fair market value.

For a painting you have owned for a long time and donated to a hospital you can deduct only 60 percent of the amount the painting appreciated between the time it was purchased and then donated.

Safeguard your investment of expensive collectibles by taking close-up photographs of each separate item. Note characteristics of each that contribute to its value. Such an inventory will make it easier to identify and verify its market value in the event of a fire or burglary.

Juvenile Hall Is Dedicated

The newly-opened four-level $4.2 million James H. Lincoln Hall of Juvenile Justice in Detroit will be dedicated on August 19.

Constructed with federal funds granted to Wayne County by the Economic Development Administration (EDA) of the U.S. Department of Commerce after Congress passed a $1 billion Public Works bill in 1976, the structure is located at 1025 East Forest, near the interchange of East Warren and I-75 (Chrysler) Freeway.

Among those who will speak at the dedication will be the Honorable James H. Lincoln, retired executive judge of the Juvenile Court, who during his tenure, fought and won many controversies in order to improve services to wayward, homeless and distressed young people.

Lincoln first appeared on the political scene in Detroit as a member of the Detroit Common Council. A graduate of the Detroit College of Law, he was "sponsored" in his early years by the late U.S. Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy and by former U.S. Congresswoman Martha Griffith.

The new juvenile facility, already in service, provides long-needed facilities to house the expanding workload of the Juvenile Court system. Eight court suites, for Probate Court judges and staffs, and 10 court referee suites, a registrar's office, and offices for 12 assistant prosecuting attorneys are provided. Ancillary facilities provide waiting space for the public, defense, police, attorneys and juveniles, conference rooms, assignment rooms, assignment office, squad room and cafeteria/concession areas.

Juvenile Court exercises jurisdiction over dependent, neglected or delinquent persons from birth to age sixteen. To provide needed care, guidance and control for children within its jurisdiction, the Court provides appropriate information, and living arrangements.

Standard Federal May Move to Hill

Should the bank board grant permission to Standard Federal, Bologna would have his "anchor tenant," and subsequently, his financial backing. Once the prospect for his building is secured, plans for the parking deck designed by Richard C. Rich and Associates will go ahead, according to Rich.

Bologna says he's "as optimistic as I've ever been" about the project, and feels it's important to break ground on the office building this year in order to avoid higher construction costs next year.

"We want to get in now and have 120 percent from $1.92 to $4.32.

Village Manager Thomas Jefferis called the increase "ridiculous."

"We've written letters, gone to all the public hearings and asked them to show us how they arrived at those figures. They didn't pay much attention to you," Jefferis said.

WATER DEPARTMENT spokesman Brenda Peek said the new rates were calculated on a number of factors, including base costs, peak hour usage and how far water is transmitted.

Peek said a complicated 1917 law prohibiting Detroit from selling water to other communities within 10 miles of its boundaries at a price lower than or more than double the price to its customers has angered many suburban officials.

Woods rates will jump 57 percent.

the contracts signed. We want to know what the cost of the building is going to be and not have escalation of costs," he said. If everything works out, Bologna said an optimistic starting date could be as early as October.

The plans of both men were approved at the Farms City Council meeting of February 25 this year. Rich's multi-deck structure is designed to have a 350-400 car capacity, with the capacity to add extra sections should the need for more parking arise.

Bologna's office structure would rise two and a half stories high with one story underground.

Rich said his facility is conditional upon Bologna's. Once the office building is assured, he said, then he can negotiate the backing for his parking deck.

"We won't even attempt to go after funds until his building is a reality," said Rich.

The two buildings are the key elements in an overall plan to redesign the Hill area on Kercheval avenue to provide more parking to shoppers, with easier access, as well as to stimulate more business in the area to revive flagging economic conditions.

Should Rich and Bologna get the money they need for construction, the next step would be for the Farms to transfer its title to the alley located between Muir and Kercheval to the 81 Investment Corporation in exchange for property owned by Cottage at the corner of those two roads.

81 Investment would then pay Cottage the consideration required by the hospital for the title transfer to the Farms of its Muir road property. The Farms also has plans to effect a trade with Gabriel Richard school for its playground. In exchange for McMillan road, which would be closed off to traffic. The Farms would construct a parking lot where the playground now stands.

City clerk Richard Solak says the Farms has applied for $85,000 to the department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to be used for that parking lot. Solak said HUD should let the city know the application's fate within the next couple of weeks.

by the voters while the other will call for an executive appointed by the board of county commissioners.

Both charters will include provisions for combining or eliminating many existing officials and department heads, abolishing or combining many offices, boards, commissions or departments and reducing the number of county commissioners to a number not less than five.

The charter commission could begin work as early as January. It will have six months in which to draw up the two charters, so they could come before the voters as early as next summer. Wayne County residents can choose one or the other charter, reject them both, or send them back to the commission for revision and subsequent resubmission to the voters.

Beyer Is Soaking Up the Sun

By Joanne Gouleche

While some of us may be buckling under the hot, humid weather lately, Robert Beyer welcomes the 90-degree heat. But that's only because Beyer depends on the sun to heat his Woods home, cutting down on utility bills by 50 percent a year.

Last month Beyer installed solar glass panels on the roof of his home, which absorb the sun's hot rays and convert it into heat.

Beyer primarily uses solar energy to heat the water in his home. Owner of a Ferndale heating and cooling company, Beyer installed a "mini" hot water system that practically provides hot water for baths, showers and washing clothes all year long without the use of his regular water heater.

Under the solar glass panels are copper insulators which take the sun's energy and turn it into heat before it arrives to an insulated storage tank. Cold water en route to the water heater turns hot when it is then "looped" through a copper heat exchanger in the storage tank. The whole process saves money and energy and reduces the heating load on the water heater.

Beyer's mini system also uses the stored hot water to heat his home. A pump routes the water to a water-to-air exchanger inside the furnace duct, which later is distributed throughout the whole home by the furnace's blower.

During the winter months, Beyer's fireplace retains the hot air from going up the chimney with the use of a steel grate. Water from the storage tank is pumped into the grate and hot water is sent back to the tank for later use.

While the solar energy system may look attractive to the average homeowner who wants to save on monthly utility bills, Beyer says the system can cost anywhere from $10,000 to $12,000 to install. But federal and state tax credits can cut those costs in half.

Beyer feels that solar energy will be much cheaper and competitive in the future than conventional gas and oil, which are sure to see higher costs.

The 1,000-year-old solar process does have its advantages, especially when it comes to selling your home. Solar energy panels on the roof will significantly boost the resale value of your home, Beyer says. And, along with a big savings on utility bills and guarding against fuel shortages, not too many people can complain about hot, summer weather.

said she was "the most wonderful person I knew."

"She did a great deal for charity and she did a great deal for people," added Mrs. Bodnik. "She took responsibility for everything. If there was something to be done, she went ahead and did a perfect job. She never backed out."

An avid sailor and gardener, Mrs. Ford was perhaps best known for her philanthropic efforts. Bob Rodgers, Detroit Institute of Arts publicity director, said she was particularly generous toward the museum.

He cited a fund set up by Mrs. Ford and her husband more than 20 years ago, the interest from which helps the museum purchase works of art for its collection.

More recently, she donated $1 million for construction of the Woodward Entry Plaza, the first phase in the renovation of the DIA's grounds, a project she was keenly interested in.

Dr. Frederick J. Cummings, DIA director, recalls Mrs. Ford as "a woman of enormous taste and great appreciation of the arts.

"She was a very intense person who didn't do anything lightly," he added. "And she had very definite opinions on everything."

Mrs. Ford is survived by her son, Benson Jr., who lives in California, her daughter, Mrs. Paul (Lynn) Alandt, of the Farms and one brother, Park resident John N. McNaughton.

Memorials may be made to the Benson Ford Education and Research Center of Ford Hospital.

State Parks Offer Animal Vacation Fun

Michigan has an abundance of animal attractions which offer the opportunity to see birds, beasts and fish in their natural habitat, reports the state's Automobile Club.

One of the state's most popular attractions is the Detroit Zoological Park in Royal Oak, noted for its bar-free environment. It has more than 500 species of mammals, with one of the largest collections of polar bears in captivity and one of the largest and most attractive penguinariums anywhere.

Detroit's Children's Zoo on Belle Isle has a three-quarter mile elevated walkway for visitors to view a variety of small farm animals.

In contrast, the Dinosaur Gardens and Prehistoric Zoo near Alpena is filled with life-size reproductions of prehistoric dinosaurs and birds. There are more than two dozen huge, lifelike creatures displayed in a heavily forested tract.

The exhibits took 38 years to construct and assemble. The huge brontosaurus, 80 feet long and nearly as high, took two and one-half years to complete. The gardens also have a deer herd.

John Ball Park Zoo, Fulton and Valley streets in Grand Rapids includes 500 specimens of mammals, reptiles and birds, a large freshwater aquarium and an animal petting area.

Mott's Children's Farm, adjacent to Crossroads Village and the Huckleberry Railroad near Flint, has domestic animals in farmyard settings to watch and pet.

Lansing's Potter Zoo, 1301 Pennsylvania Ave., displays some 150 varieties of mammals and more than 200 bird species. The zoo has an elephant house and small train, pony and canoe rides.

The Stage Coach Stop is on US-12 in the Irish Hills and includes a barnyard with horses, donkeys, goats and pigs. A train ride is available and regularly scheduled, old-time western shoot-outs are held on Main street.

The Kalamazoo Nature Center, 7000 N. Westnedge Ave., features a variety of farm animals. There are nature trails, wooded areas and other wildlife. The Kellogg Bird Sanctuary near Augusta has swans, ducks, geese, turkeys and peacocks that can be observed up close as they wander freely.

The Kensington Children's Farm, adjacent to Kensington Metropark near Milford, covers 100 acres bordering the Huron River. A barnyard has live animals to pet.

Saginaw's Children's Zoo, part of the city's Rust Park complex, has more than 250 animals. In addition to farm animals, there are skunks, ferrets, raccoons and rabbits, plus an aquarium and reptile exhibit. The zoo is located at Rust and Washington streets.

The Clinch Park Zoo at Traverse City features animals native to Michigan and includes a museum, marina and bathing beach in its 10-acre location at the foot of the West Arm of Grand Traverse Bay.

Deer Acres, two miles south of Pinconning on M-13, has a variety of domestic and exotic animals plus train and safari rides. Deer Park Funland, US-31 at Russell Road north of Muskegon, combines deer to see and pet with amusement and train rides and a picnic area.

Marquette's Presque Isle Park Zoo is located on Lake Superior. It features a deer herd, exotic birds, farm animals, bear cubs and a bobcat. There is also a large picnic area and visitors can take a scenic drive along the lakeshore.

Burglars Hit Three Homes In Woods; Take Jewelry and TV

Three homes in Grosse Pointe Woods were entered last week by burglars in unrelated incidents, according to police.

On Thursday, August 7, a homeowner on Aline told police that someone broke the window on an outside bedroom door and entered the home between 7:50 a.m. and 8:03 p.m. Jewelry valued at more than $150 and $25 in cash were taken. Police said the intruder apparently knew where to look for valuables since rooms were not ransacked.

On Saturday, August 9, residents of a home on Severn returned home at 2:45 a.m. to find their front door open and lights on in the house. Police were summoned and found the bedrooms ransacked. The residents could not immediately determine if anything was taken. Police said they had left the front door unlocked.

A home on Hampton was entered early Sunday, August 10 through a rear door and a color TV was taken. It is the second time this month that the home was burglarized, police said.

The door to adversity flies open at the slightest knock.

Rehab Funds Available in Woods

Grosse Pointe Woods city officials expect to begin accepting applications for $30,000 in federal housing rehabilitation loans by the end of August.

Five no-interest loans of $8,000 each will be awarded by HUD through a grant from the Wayne County Community Development Block Grant Program and to the Woods.

Regulations stipulate that a city applying for rehab grants must identify a "strategic" neighborhood of low and moderate income families that have the greatest need for the funds and apply 80 percent of the grant money to that area.

The northwest area of the Woods has the highest number of low and moderate income families and will receive most of the loans according to Gerald McNamara, Woods assistant city administrator.

McNamara said he is now working out the criteria by which loan applicants will be reviewed and awards made. He said he expects about 10 applicants to initially compete for loans.

There are 400 homes in the target area. However, some of the Woods' other 6,600 homes could qualify for the loans. That causes a problem in distributing loans to qualified applicants since only 20 percent can be awarded outside the target area, McNamara said.

He added that it is up to the city to prove that there is more need for rehab loans outside of the strategy area.

McNamara said that a family of four with an income of about $19,000 is now

Farms Funds Muir Repair

Using Community Block Grant Development Funds (CGBD) from fiscal year 1979-80, the Farms city council approved two low bids at its July 18 meeting for construction work on Muir road between Kercheval and Grosse Pointe boulevard.

The Carini cement company of Mt. Clemens forwarded the lowest bid for the repair of catch basins and installation of new curbs on Muir road for $15,820.

Farms Director of Public Service John DeFoe says once that work is completed, the road will then have a new asphalt layer put over the existing one. That job will go to the Ajax Paving company, of Madison Heights, which came in with the low bid of $16,200.

DeFoe says both Ajax and Carini are in the process of getting bonds and insurance certificates and said work could begin next week.

Carilloners Play at Church

Two Carilloners will ring out the 47 bells of the carillon at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church on Monday, August 18 at 7 p.m. Beverly Buchanan of Christ Church Cranbrook and William De Turk of Memorial Church will join forces to present an interesting array of music by Bach, Campra, Jonsson, Brahms, Mozart, Percival Price and Sousa.

Highlights of the program will include the Rhapsody No. 4 for two carilloners by Percival Price, University

Carillonner Emeritus of the University of Michigan, and carillon teacher for both Buchanan and De Turk. Price helped dedicate Memorial Church's carillon in 1952. The program will conclude with a smashing rendition of "The Stars and Stripes Forever" by Sousa.

The recital will be repeated on August 31 at 4 p.m. at Christ Church Cranbrook. Both performances are open to the public free of charge.

Russell Is Named to 1980 Torch Drive Post

Grosse Pointe Shores resident Thomas F. Russell has accepted a top volunteer leadership position in the United Foundation 1980 Torch Drive.

Russell, chairman and chief executive officer of Federal-Mogul Corp. will serve as chairman for the Pacesetter Campaigns.

New to the United Foundation, the Pacesetter Campaigns are seen as a means of adding greater personalization to approximately 50 businesses and organizations on a rotating basis.

The campaigns will create recognition for participating organizations, which set the pace for the community with well-run campaigns.

The Pacesetter Campaigns are targeted to be completed prior to the Employee Campaign Kick-off on September 25 when most companies will begin their employe Torch Drive campaigns.

Russell has been a member of Federal-Mogul's board of directors since 1968, became president in 1972, chief executive officer in 1975 and assumed the chairman's office in 1977.

The 1980 Torch Drive will be conducted this fall to raise operating funds for 137 charitable agencies in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. The official reporting dates of the campaign run from October 13 through November 6.

Last year's campaign raised $45.3 million.

Enrollment Set At Brownell

New students who will be attending seventh or eighth grade classes at Brownell Middle School this year may register at the school any day between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

A parent should accompany the child and bring with them a birth certificate and a copy of the child's most recent report card. Registration and enrollment forms may be filled out at the office and subsequent appointments with a counselor will be scheduled for August 26, 27 and 28.

The school is located at 260 Chalfonte.

Storm Damage Deductible

The violent windstorm which whipped through southern Michigan July 16th has caused widespread property damage and raised significant questions concerning the income tax treatment of such damage, according to Janice Shatzman in the Detroit Office of the certified public accounting firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co.

Ms. Shatzman suggests that all people immediately begin collecting any available information which might substantiate the loss deduction. This would include:

A description of the nature of the casualty and where it occurred.
Proof that the loss is a direct result of the casualty.
Proof that the taxpayer was the owner of the property, or was contractually liable for damage.

A complete description of the damaged property and its location.

The cost of other tax basis of the property and improvements, as supported by a purchase contract, deed, cancelled checks, etc.

The amount of prior depreciation, if any.
The fair market value of the property immediately before and after the casualty, preferably as ascertained by competent appraisal.

The cost of repairs and clean-up activities.
The amount of any insurance or other compensation received or expected to be received, including the value of repairs, restoration, and clean-up provided without cost by disaster relief agencies, or others.

Newspaper articles and photographs of the damaged property can be very helpful in substantiating the loss. If possible, such photographs should be taken before clean-up.

All other related costs should be carefully preserved as well. Previously filed tax returns are another valuable source of information. Although accumulating the required information may seem burdensome, it is well worth the effort. Casualty loss deductions are frequently reduced or disallowed upon examination, not because the existence of a loss is questioned, but because the taxpayer cannot adequately substantiate the amount of loss.

Ms. Shatzman cited other tax consequences of a casualty. For example, insurance proceeds to cover living expense during evacuation are excluded from gross income. Also, cash gifts and disaster relief such as food, medical supplies, etc., do not reduce the amount of casualty loss deduction, nor do such items represent taxable income.

And there would be additional advantages if President Carter declares the affected counties a disaster area.

To help the public understand the proper tax treatment of their losses resulting from this unfortunate event, the Detroit office of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co. is preparing an in-depth letter which became available July 28th.

Less Gas Revenues for Cities

Gas tax revenues for work on highways, roads and streets and other transportation programs fell by 11 percent in the second quarter of 1980 compared with the same period a year earlier, the Michigan Department of Transportation reported last week. Diesel fuel tax revenues were off 26 percent.

The decline continued a trend from the previous quarter when gas tax revenues decreased 12 percent and diesel fuel sales 14.8 percent, the sharpest drop since World War II.

The gas tax yield for the April-June period fell from $121,659,162 last year to $108,250,362, a drop of $13,408,800. Gasoline taxed fell by 111 million gallons to 983 million gallons.

Diesel revenues declined from $8,300,498 to $6,145,488. The decrease was the result of a drop in gallonage from 92,400,000 to 72,900,000 and the first effects of a reduction in the diesel fuel tax on trucks from nine to five cents a gallon enacted this spring.

Gas tax revenues distributed to the Grosse Pointes also were released. In the City, revenues fell from $29,495 to $27,596; in the Farms from $53,272 to $49,841; in the Park from $65,365 to $61,170; in the Shores $14,750 to $13,859; and in the Woods from $90,880 to $85,049.

Partially making up for the loss was $1,943,989 collected in diesel carrier license fees included in the same tax legislation. Michigan truckers now pay a $92 fee and out-of-state truckers $12, entitling them to the reduced fuel tax.

Revenues from weight taxes (license plate fees) went up 13.4 percent in the second quarter, going from $38,478,135 in 1979 to $43,627,065 this year, an increase of $5,148,929. A new method of collecting the fees, extending the licensing period to coincide with the birthday of the owner of the vehicle, accounted for most of the increase.

All the tax revenues went into the Michigan Transportation Fund, together with interest earnings totaling $3,958,794 and miscellaneous revenues of $2,546,662.

From gross receipts totaling $166,580,632, a decrease of 4.7 percent, $17,476,229 was deducted for collection costs and various grants, an increase of 15.7 percent.

The remaining $149,104,411, down 6.6 percent from 1979, is being distributed to the state, the counties, municipalities and the Comprehensive Transportation Fund, which supports bus, rail and port development programs.

The State Trunkline Fund for construction and maintenance of the state highway system will receive $56,678,699 as its 38.4 percent share of the fund. State-financed public transportation and rail programs will receive $12,257,040 as their 8.3 percent portion.

The 83 county road commissions will collect $51,587,373 as their 34.3 percent share and the 531 incorporated cities and villages will receive $28,581,284 as their 19 percent share.

Together, the state, counties and municipalities maintain nearly 117,000 miles of highways, roads and streets.

Caribbean Summer

The longest summer of all is in the Caribbean where hotel prices dropped from their peaks in April and will stay in the valley until December. Most Caribbean hotel rates fall between 40% to 50%. Caribbean cruises are also reduced, usually by as much as 33%, and of course, the Caribbean's climate — a sunny mid-80 with cooling tradewinds by day and night, never changes 5 degrees, year round.

Caribbean summer is particularly a good time for family vacations as almost all hotels offer special family rates, plus free sports facilities.

Almost all of the islands put summer in packages which represent remarkable savings. Another advantage to remember: most of the Caribbean islands peg their currencies to the dollar.

Hudson Backs Detroit Rep

Bruce Millan, Artistic Director of the Detroit Repertory Theater, recently announced receipt of a $1,500 grant from the J. L. Hudson Company to be used for general operating support of the theater in 1980.

According to Joseph P. Bianco, Jr., Hudson's vice-president for civic and governmental affairs, Hudson's corporate giving philosophy dates back almost to the founding of the company in 1881.

"As a member of this community we have a responsibility to help make it a better place in which to live, to work and to do business," Bianco said. "Next to operating our day-to-day business in an honest and fair manner, our giving program is our clearest statement that we are carrying out our obligation to serve society."

The Detroit Repertory Theater has been serving the community for over 13 years as a resident professional theater company, operating out of three separate theaters, workshop and office buildings on Woodrow Wilson in Detroit.

As well as providing professional stage plays using resident Equity actors, the Theater operates a number of community outreach programs. Among others, the theater provides a Free Acting Workshop Program, giving free professional theater instruction; a Cultural Fellowship Program allotting free season subscriptions to individuals and social service agencies; and a Michigan Playwrights Program which premieres new plays by Michigan playwrights each year as a regular part of the professional theater season.

In addition to the grant from the J. L. Hudson Company, the Detroit Repertory has received funds in the past year from the Borg-Warner Corporation, the Kresge Foundation, the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company, and Wineman Investment Co.

For more information on the support of the Detroit Repertory Theater and its public service programs, contact the Detroit Repertory Theater offices at 868-1347, 13103 Woodrow Wilson, Detroit, MI 48238.

Library Slates Costume Party for Reading Club

The Grosse Pointe Public Libraries, enjoying their sixth successful Summer Reading Program with 1,220 area children participating, will hold a costume party at all three branches as a grand finale to the summer's activities.

Those activities include the reading club, weekly movie program and a puppet workshop under the direction of Marjorie Brown.

Two groups of about 15 children each have been meeting twice a week with Ms. Brown to explore creative dramatics and puppetry. The older group will share some of its experiences when it performs an original puppet show at the Summer Reading Club Party.

A party was held at the Park Branch on Wednesday, August 13. The Central library will have its party on Thursday, August 14, at 10:30 a.m. and the Woods branch on Friday, August 15, at the same time.

School Expands Adult Classes

Dominican High School's Adult Education Center's Wednesday night program will be expanding to Monday nights as well.

A variety of subjects including art, business, crafts, dance, language, social studies and mini-courses are offered. Classes begin the week of September 15 with registrations being accepted now. For further information call 882-8500.

September Fest Focuses on Wayne State

Wayne State University has issued a special "come, look us over" invitation to the entire community to attend a three-day "Septemberfest" weekend, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 26, 27 and 28 on the WSU campus.

Sponsored by the WSU Division of Community Relations, the three-day event is planned as a "get acquainted" spectacular which offers the opportunity for everyone to see the best of Wayne State (including a football game) on a fall weekend.

Arthur L. Johnson, vice-president for WSU Community Relations said: "Wayne State University is one of the nation's largest urban universities with more than 34,000 students and 7,000 faculty and staff; however many of our neighbors have not visited the campus. We want as many of our friends and neighbors throughout the metropolitan Detroit area to get to know Wayne State better."

The three-day affair will give the public a close-up view of the many faces of Wayne State University including folk dances to serious lectures by professors.

It will open Friday noon with a diversity of events, including a performance by the University's Jazz Band, folk dances and blue grass music, a continuous film festival running through midnight, lectures by several of WSU's faculty members and performances by the Hillberry Repertory Theater and WSU's "Movin' Theater."

Saturday will feature WSU's Homecoming Football game against Towson State preceded by a picnic on the Gullen Mall, a repeat of the Friday night theater performances, and an open house at the Ethnic Heritage Center.

Tours of the campus and buildings will be offered both Friday and Saturday, with campus area restaurants giving the event a festive flair with special menus in recognition of the "Septemberfest" weekend.

Activities will be climaxed Sunday with special services at the Grosberg Religious Center commemorating its university-community affiliation.

Russell Is Named to 1980 Torch Drive Post

Grosse Pointe Shores resident Thomas F. Russell has accepted a top volunteer leadership position in the United Foundation 1980 Torch Drive.

Russell, chairman and chief executive officer of Federal-Mogul Corp., will serve as chairman for the Pacesetter Campaigns.

New to the United Foundation, the Pacesetter Campaigns are seen as a means of adding greater personalization to approximately 50 businesses and organizations on a rotating basis.

The campaigns will create recognition for participating organizations, which set the pace for the community with well-run campaigns.

The Pacesetter Campaigns are targeted to be completed prior to the Employee Campaign Kick-off on September 25 when most companies will begin their employe Torch Drive campaigns.

Russell has been a member of Federal-Mogul's board of directors since 1968, became president in 1972, chief executive officer in 1975 and assumed the chairman's office in 1977.

The 1980 Torch Drive will be conducted this fall to raise operating funds for 137 charitable agencies in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. The official reporting dates of the campaign run from October 13 through November 6.

Last year's campaign raised $45.3 million.

Enrollment Set At Brownell

New students who will be attending seventh or eighth grade classes at Brownell Middle School this year may register at the school any day between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

A parent should accompany the child and bring with them a birth certificate and a copy of the child's most recent report card. Registration and enrollment forms may be filled out at the office and subsequent appointments with a counselor will be scheduled for August 26, 27 and 28.

The school is located at 260 Chalfonte.

Storm Damage Deductible

The violent windstorm which whipped through southern Michigan July 16th has caused widespread property damage and raised significant questions concerning the income tax treatment of such damage, according to Janice Shatzman in the Detroit Office of the certified public accounting firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co.

Ms. Shatzman suggests that all people immediately begin collecting any available information which might substantiate the loss deduction. This would include:

A description of the nature of the casualty and where it occurred.

Proof that the loss is a direct result of the casualty.

Proof that the taxpayer was the owner of the property, or was contractually liable for damage.

A complete description of the damaged property and its location.

The cost of other tax benefits of the property and improvements, as supported by a purchase contract, deed, cancelled checks, etc.

The amount of prior depreciation, if any.

The fair market value of the property immediately before and after the casualty, preferably as ascertained by competent appraisal.

The cost of repairs and clean-up activities.

The amount of any insurance received or expected to be received, including the value of repairs, restoration, and clean-up provided without cost by disaster relief agencies, or others.

Newspaper articles and photographs of the damaged property can be very helpful in substantiating the loss. If possible, such photographs should be taken before clean-up. All other related costs should be carefully preserved as well. Previously filed tax returns are another valuable source of information. Although accumulating the required information may seem burdensome, it is well worth the effort. Casualty loss deductions are frequently reduced or disallowed upon examination, not because the existence of a loss is questioned, but because the taxpayer cannot adequately substantiate the amount of loss.

Ms. Shatzman cited other tax consequences of a casualty. For example, insurance proceeds to cover living expense during evacuation are excluded from gross income. Also, cash gifts and disaster relief such as food, medical supplies, etc., do not reduce the amount of casualty loss deduction, nor do such items represent taxable income.

And there would be additional tax advantages if President Carter declares the affected counties a disaster area.

To help the public understand the proper tax treatment of their losses resulting from this unfortunate event, the Detroit office of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co. is preparing an in-depth letter which became available July 28th.

Less Gas Revenues for Cities

Gas tax revenues for work on highways, roads and streets and other transportation programs fell by 11 percent in the second quarter of 1980 compared with the same period a year earlier, the Michigan Department of Transportation reported last week. Diesel fuel tax revenues were off 26 percent.

The decline continued a trend from the previous quarter when gas tax revenues decreased 12 percent and diesel fuel sales 14.8 percent, the sharpest drop since World War II.

The gas tax yield for the April-June period fell from $121,659,162 last year to $108,250,362, a drop of $13,408,800. Gasoline taxed fell by 111 million gallons to 983 million gallons.

Diesel revenues declined from $8,300,498 to $6,145,488. The decrease was the result of a drop in gallonage from 92,400,000 to 72,900,000 and the first effects of a reduction in the diesel fuel tax on trucks from nine to five cents a gallon enacted this spring.

Gas tax revenues distributed to the Grosse Pointes also were released. In the City, revenues fell from $29,495 to $27,596; in the Farms from $53,272 to $49,841; in the Park from $65,365 to $61,170; in the Shores $14,750 to $13,859; and in the Woods from $90,880 to $85,049.

Partially making up for the loss was $1,943,989 collected in diesel carrier license fees included in the same tax legislation. Michigan truckers now pay a $92 fee and out-of-state truckers $12, entitling them to the reduced fuel tax.

Revenues from weight taxes (license plate fees) went up 13.4 percent in the second quarter, going from $38,478,135 in 1979 to $43,627,065 this year, an increase of $5,148,929. A new method of collecting the fees, extending the licensing period to coincide with the birthday of the owner of the vehicle, accounted for most of the increase.

All the tax revenues went into the Michigan Transportation Fund, together with interest earnings totaling $3,958,794 and miscellaneous revenues of $2,546,662.

From gross receipts totaling $166,580,632, a decrease of 4.7 percent, $17,476,229 was deducted for collection costs and various grants, an increase of 15.7 percent.

The remaining $149,104,411, down 6.6 percent from 1979, is being distributed to the state, the counties, municipalities and the Comprehensive Transportation Fund, which supports bus, rail and port development programs.

The State Trunkline Fund for construction and maintenance of the state highway system will receive $56,678,699 as its 38.4 percent share of the fund. State-financed public transportation and rail programs will receive $12,257,040 as their 8.3 percent portion.

The 83 county road commissions will collect $51,587,373 as their 34.3 percent share and the 531 incorporated cities and villages will receive $28,581,284 as their 19 percent share.

Together, the state, counties and municipalities maintain nearly 117,000 miles of highways, roads and streets.

Caribbean Summer

The longest summer of all is in the Caribbean where hotel prices dropped from their peaks in April and will stay in the valley until December. Most Caribbean hotel rates fall between 40% to 50%.

Caribbean cruises are also reduced, usually by as much as 33%, and of course, the Caribbean's climate — a sunny mid-80 with cooling tradewinds by day and night, never changes 5 degrees, year 'round.

Caribbean summer is particularly a good time for family vacations as almost all hotels offer special family rates, plus free sports facilities.

Almost all of the islands put summer in packages which represent remarkable savings. Another advantage to remember: most of the Caribbean islands peg their currencies to the dollar.

Children will be excluded from school if they fail to present school officials with a record of immunization indicating vaccines for measles, rubella, polio and diphtheria.

In this area, parents can make an appointment by calling the Harper Woods Clinic, 10746 Harper (between Seven and Eight Mile) at 729-2111, ext. 310.

Two groups of about 15 children each have been meeting twice a week with Ms. Brown to explore creative dramatics and puppetry. The older group will share some of its experiences when it performs an original puppet show at the Summer Reading Club Party.

A party was held at the Park branch on Wednesday, August 13. The Central library will have its party on Thursday, August 14, at 10:30 a.m. and the Woods branch on Friday, August 15, at the same time.

Children are asked to come in costume as their favorite storybook character. Each party will open with a costume parade followed by a series of relay races and circle games. The highlight of the program will be the puppet show performed by the children in Ms. Brown's puppet workshop.

As a grand finale, children will receive lollipops and helium balloons.

Tours of the campus and buildings will be offered both Friday and Saturday, with campus area restaurants giving the event a festive flair with special menus in recognition of the "Septemberfest" weekend.

Activities will be climaxed Sunday with special services at the Grosberg Religious Center commemorating its university-community affiliation.

Further information regarding "Septemberfest" events may be obtained by calling Virginia Loveland in the WSU Division of Community Relations at 577-2246.

Prime Time

For Senior Citizens

By Marian Trainor

The nuclear age has brought many changes in life and living. Nowhere have those changes been more marked than in the day-to-day lives of senior citizens.

Once a part of a stable neighborhood and an extended family where three generations shared one roof, older people are now often living alone in mobile, impersonal neighborhoods with all the attendant problems of maintaining homes, their health and a social life of their own.

It is no easy task. What to do and how to do it are often difficult problems.

IN HIS BOOK "Elders in Rebellion" (Anchor Press), Lou Cottin, who writes a column "Life Over 60" for Newsday, provides some answers. There is current information on housing, retirement, handicaps, crime and health care as these issues touch seniors in our communities.

He provides information on legal action and organizations that will help elders effectively present their concerns to those who can effect positive change for American citizens over 60.

In his introduction Cottin says: "As an older American, I now have a cause that concerns me personally: I see that the vast majority of my contemporaries are discriminated against. I face the fact that most of us worked hard all of our lives to achieve poverty and almost total loss of status."

He then goes on to suggest and explore means of alleviating this situation.

His first suggestion is that older citizens begin with improving their own image.

"Do something that makes people glad you are around," he admonishes. Retirement is not a continuum. It's a new world. Make new contacts. Volunteer. It will give you status."

FOR THOSE WHO complain that their children neglect them, he asks, "What do you do to make a visit with your children interesting?"

On the matter of health, Cottin points out that while doctors specialize in all fields there are few who study geriatrics. He tells us that Senator Charles Percy (R-Ill.), chairman of the U.S. Senate Sub-Committee on Aging, sent questionnaires to 164 schools of medicine asking if geriatrics was a specialty in the curricula. Only three answered yes. With 25 million elderly, there are only 600 geriatrics specialists.

To correct this situation, the author urges older patients to ask their physicians when was the last time they attended a geriatric medical conference, demonstration or series of lectures on the subject.

He laments the fact that too many doctors brush off older patients' ailments by blaming them on age. He includes a little levity to illustrate the point.

"An elderly patient visited his doctor complaining about his right knee. The doctor looked at the knee and said, 'At your age, Joe, you've got to expect things like this.'"

"But Doctor," Joe said, "my left knee is just as old as my right knee, and it doesn't hurt at all."

BOTH OLD AND young can be victims of crime but older victims are more vulnerable physically, can be hurt more psychologically and are damaged more financially. Cottin cites two examples of community programs to curb crime against the elderly.

In Levittown, N.Y., retirees paid with Comprehensive Training and Employment Act (CETA) funds, installed a device on senior citizens' homes that activated sirens and turned on a light when there was an attempted break-in.

In Cuyahoga County, Ohio, citizens were educated on protection from burglaries, fraud, con artists and self defense. Funds were provided by the Law Enforcement Assistance Association, the federal and local government.

An interesting experiment in communication between elder citizens and politicians in Albuquerque, N.M., is described in "Elders in Rebellion." A Senior Speak Out was held and 1,000 people attended to tell the politicians what was bothering them.

Those who wished to speak lined up before "subject" microphones (health care, transportation, legal and tax problems, financial matters, social service, nutrition and home nursing care). Those who didn't speak submitted their concerns in writing. Out of these dialogues came mini-bus routes, a senior law assistance program and improved health care.

ANOTHER PROGRAM which won Cottin's recognition is one called PATH, "People Activated Towards Health," which originated in Nassau County, N.Y. Groups of older people were enrolled in a course of 31 lessons where they learned signs and symptoms of diseases. Lesson 31 covered health reimbursement, a subject that many (old and young) find puzzling.

As good organizations to work through for programs and legislation, Cottin cites The American Association of Retired Persons and the National Council of Senior Citizens.

In order to help older citizens, government agencies must know who they are, where they are and what their needs are. To ascertain this, the author suggests that a census of "over 60" citizens be taken along with the school census.

Other subjects discussed are nursing homes, adult homes and mobile home communities. All of them are found wanting.

On the matter of those who were forced to retire at 65, he reminds us that they are now, under the mandatory retirement age of 70, considered unemployed and should, if they wish, be eligible for CETA funds for retraining, either to update them on former jobs, or to go on to new ones.

There are many possibilities and avenues of improvement for a better life as an elder—the author likes this term better than senior citizen because he thinks elder carries with it a connotation of wisdom and dignity—in Cottin's book. Congressman Claude Pepper, Chairman of the Select Committee on Aging, U.S. House of Representatives, in the preface, credits such books as a factor in better legislation. He says:

"What we have been able to accomplish in Congress during 1978 alone is due in no small measure to the revolution in how people are thinking about the elderly."

"There have been advances in home health care, congregate housing, passage of an Older Americans Act, extensive wiping out of much of the age discrimination in retirement practices and an anti-crime amendment designating $12 million in federal funds for use in improving security and safety for the elderly."

"Elders in Rebellion" is in fact a message to my Committee on Aging, to Congress, to state and local government and to the aged themselves. It says to us, 'These are the next steps in our fight for recognition as valid members of American society!'"

The Hill's Michael Burns said he is closing his doors soon to reopen shop in his home. Burns, who has been on the Hill for the last three years, said his interior design business will take on a "different form," and he will move his fabric samples and catalogs to a studio in his home. Burns said business had dwindled for much of the inventory that is presently carried in his store. The fabric section of the store has moved into new quarters in the Village's Mini Mail.

Try Soaring, Skydiving At State's Airports

On your next trip to the airport, relax and watch the planes lift off, take flying lessons or try skydiving, aerobatics or soaring, suggests Automobile Club of Michigan.

At Bishop International Airport in Flint, you can watch planes from an outside observation deck for a dime or from the old FAA tower for a quarter. The tower has an added attraction — loudspeakers broadcast radio conversations between pilots and airport controllers.

There is a 10-cent admission fee for the observation deck at Detroit City Airport is free, and hungry travelers can grab a bite at Sonny's Weather Station while watching the local air traffic.

Kent County International Airport in Grand Rapids offers both an observation deck with coin-operated telescopes and a viewing area across from the terminal, complete with parking space, picnic tables and a popcorn wagon on summer weekends.

The Grand Rapids airport also boasts a restaurant with a view of the air traffic and it is named appropriately the Golden Eagle.

For more of the same, try the Red Baron Cafeteria at Emmet County Airport in Pellston; the Kittyhawk Restaurant at W. K. Kellogg Regional Airport, Battle Creek; West Airport Inn at Branch County Memorial Airport, Coldwater; Murphy's Sky Room at Jackson County Reynolds Field, Jackson; the Prop-Stop at Kirsch Municipal Airport, Sturgis, and the Meridian at Oakland-Pontiac Airport, Pontiac.

The Meridian is located inside the terminal of what bills itself Michigan's busiest airport, and it is not unusual to see planes taxi up to within 30 feet of the restaurant's big glass windows. If "Cuban 8s," "vertical rolls" and "hammerhead turns" are what you're after, then you should enroll in one of the two aerobatics schools available at the Pontiac airport.

"Sample Flying" is what lessons are called at Jackson. Certified Flight Inc. (517-784-9134) offers a "Mini Sample"—a 10-minute introductory ride — at $7.50.

Parachuting or skydiving lessons are given at Al Meyers Airport in Tecumseh. The Tecumseh Parachuting Service (517-423-7720 or 423-9997) takes more than 300 people up each weekend, and the jumps go on from dawn to dusk.

Glider rides are available on weekends at the Frankfort City-County Airport in Frankfort, site of the National Soaring Festival. You join a pilot aboard a motorless craft which is pulled into the air by another airplane or winch, then released to soar gracefully over the countryside with only the sound of the wind in your ears.

A 15-minute "introductory" flight costs $20 and is offered weekends in good weather. For information, call (616) 352-7623.

Abrams Municipal Airport at Grand Ledge is the place to go to watch helicopters.

Thieves Hit Home for Stereos and Silver

Farms police made a partial recovery of items stolen from a Touraine road home two weeks ago, but are still searching for a stereo and silver goods.
Missing at this time is a Pioneer receiver, model number SX939 E46542 with twin meters in a walnut case with brushed chrome, a KLH stereo tuner with brushed chrome in a pine case, a Bolex twin lens movie camera, model number B-8 SL, an Olympus OM-1 35 mm single lens reflex camera with a Zuiko 50 mm F. 1.4 lens, and various pieces of silver and gold jewelry and some silverware, according to the police report.
Police responded to the scene on a call from a neighbor. A subsequent search of the grounds revealed a number of stolen goods hidden beneath some bushes in the back yard of the house.
Police recovered a Panasonic AM/FM stereo receiver, a Pioneer cassette tape player, a Sony AM/FM tuner-receiver, four speakers, a turntable, and several silver items.
A witness allegedly saw two white males leave the home between 12:50 and 1 p.m. on July 26. One was described as being between 5'4" and 5'5" tall with curly dark hair and a dark complexion, the other as being between 5'5" and 5'8" with straight sandy blonde hair. Both are estimated to be between 15 and 16 years old.

Burglars Hit Twice in Woods

Grosse Pointe Woods police were kept busy Monday, August 4, chasing robbers involved in two separate burglaries.

The first happened about 9 a.m. Monday when a woman was in the second floor bedroom of her home on Prestwick and heard a knock on the downstairs door. She looked out the window and saw a brown car in the driveway with a man in the driver's seat.
She then heard the screen being cut as the culprits entered through a breezeway door. She heard voices in her house and footsteps coming up the stairs. She slammed the bedroom door and heard the intruders run out of her house.

When police arrived a witness told them he'd seen two men running through a yard on Prestwick. Police apprehended and arrested two Grosse Pointe men in their 20's, one of whom was carrying a beige purse belonging to the woman on Prestwick.

Later that day, a woman on Lancaster returned home about 6 p.m. after being out for about two hours and discovered a bedroom window open and two other bedrooms in disarray. She told police that a $150 gold ring and other jewelry of unknown value were missing.

Video Crooks Steal TV Sets

Thieves broke into a Ridge road home July 28 and stole two television sets and a number of jewelry and silver items, according to Farms police.

One of the victims' neighbors said he saw two white males between 18 and 25 years old, with thin builds and dark hair, leaving the home around 5:10 p.m. that evening. Each was allegedly carrying a large box which police believe the TV sets were carried out in.

The witness said the two men put the boxes into the trunk of a brown two-door Oldsmobile sedan with a cream top and then drove off.

A first-rate beginning

When Wayne County voters by a surprisingly large margin approved the drafting of a county home rule charter, they won the first skirmish in what must necessarily become a long campaign to modernize the county's inefficient and ineffective government.

But the last-minute opposition to the drafting proposal should serve as a warning to charter supporters. A number of incumbent county commissioners expressed their opposition. So did some other county officials and employees who prefer the status quo and oppose change that might reduce their power and perquisites. And so did some union officials who represent county employees and profit from the lack of a strong executive or administrative officer.

MAYOR COLEMAN YOUNG of Detroit, who had said he personally would vote against the charter proposal, still has to be convinced it's a good idea. For public consumption, the mayor says the charter commission's powers are so limited it can hardly touch the county road commission, and gives that as one reason he is not "too enthused" about reorganization. He now has promised to wait with his final decision until he sees the drafts produce.

What really worries the mayor, however, is the prospect that a strong county executive, especially an elected one, would be a threat to Young's political dominance of Detroit's metropolitan area. So it will not be surprising if the mayor works behind the scenes, through his friends on the charter commission, to weaken the power and authority of the proposed county executive.

In fact, the requirement in the law that the charter commission will have to offer voters two choices—one with an elected county executive, the other with a chief administrative officer to be appointed by the county board—invites compromises which might weaken both proposals. The law permits the charter commissioners to present the proposals a second time if the voters reject both plans but an initial defeat might well prove to be fatal.

Nor, of course, do all the charter commission nominees necessarily agree on what should be done. Some can be found on each side of the issue of the elected-vs.-appointed executive. Some are themselves county employees who may have their own and other selfish axes to grind. Some may unofficially represent labor unions that seek to protect the favored position of county employees whose pay has far outpaced that of city employees and workers in private enterprise in comparable jobs.

FORTUNATELY, the nomination of a number of first-rate candidates for the November election ought to assure the charter commission of a core of people dedicated to the public interest. The First District which encompasses the Pointes did nominate two such candidates, Republican Barbara Gattorn and Democrat Anita McIntire. The News endorsed Mrs. Gattorn and cited Ms. McIntire's qualifications as superior.

The News prefers an elected county executive to an appointed administrative officer for one important reason. We lack confidence that the county board would pick a professional administrator for the job. The board's latest appointment to the county road commission proves the point. He is Claude Dukes, president of UAW Local 942. That kind of selection hardly augurs well for the proposal to give the county board the power to appoint a county administrative officer.

It is true that by electing an executive the county might simply recruit another political "name" for the job. Yet if the executive were elected, the qualifications of all the candidates would be out in the open for public inspection during the election campaign. And that would be preferred to the county board's practice of indulging in private political log rolling in making appointments.

Even if and when the charter is approved and goes into effect, the millennium would not have arrived. The offices of prosecuting attorney, sheriff, treasurer, clerk, and register of deeds would continue to be filled by election. The county road commission would continue to have great independence, although the county executive would have authority to appoint its members with the approval of the county board. The reorganization does not, in fact, go far enough to satisfy people who want greater centralization of power in an administrative head of county government.

YET THE NEW county executive, whether elected or appointed, would be able to review budgets and reorganize most of the departments, boards and commissions. The executive and legislative branches would be separated and the commissioners would serve as a legislative branch. The size of the board could be reduced from 27 to as few as five. While we don't know of any magic number, the board ought to be no more than half as large as it is now.

In the last year Wayne County won national attention of the kind it doesn't need when it became the first U.S. county to miss a payroll since the depression of the 1930's. The fact that the county has been running in the red for the past five years and that its structure has proved to be inefficient and wasteful finally has persuaded voters to consider a change. But once the charter commission is elected in November and goes to work, the public will want to keep an eye on its actions to make sure it is serving the public interest and not the narrow interests of any employees, labor unions or other groups opposed to reform and efficiency for selfish reasons.

To their credit, the Pointes voted more than five-to-one in favor of the charter drafting proposal. Equally encouraging was the two-to-one support from the city of Detroit. And while some western suburbs are still dragging their feet, the vote added new momentum to the campaign for a home rule charter and new hope for eventual success.

Volcanic Ash Poses Threat to Lungs

The volcanic eruptions from Mt. St. Helens this spring and summer have jolted the country and raised the specter of possible damage to human lungs. Although scientists have determined that a trace of ash has fallen in the Detroit area, they say there is no health threat to area residents.

The volcanic ash was rich in a substance called silica which is contained in rocks, sand, and ores in the earth's crusts. When silica is blasted or drilled, the resulting dust contains free, or uncombined, silicon dioxide.

Inhaling dust filled with this white or colorless compound can cause a disease called silicosis which scars and stiffens the tissue of the lungs. As of now, there is no known way to reverse the damage inflicted.

Scientists suspect that the disease of silicosis has existed for thousands of years, probably as long as man has made tools out of flint and inhaled the dust. Today one million workers are exposed to silica dust in various occupations: the U.S. Department of Labor estimates that nearly 60,000 of them have silicosis.

According to the American Lung Association, susceptibility to diseases caused by inhaling mineral dusts, including dusts with silicon dioxide, varies widely from person to person. Without exception, occupational dusts induce disease more rapidly and more frequently in smokers than in nonsmokers, say the Christmas Seal people.

Cigarette smoking also hastens the progression of lung disease. General air pollution aggravates the damaging effects, but to a smaller degree.

This year the American Lung Association is funding a research study to investigate exactly how scarring of the lungs develops from inhaling toxic substances and what might be done to avert the damage.

To find out more about protecting people's lungs from assaults in the air, contact the Lung Association at 981-1697.

Folk Songs and Wild Flowers at Ferry School

Ferry school's horticultural hide-away, its courtyard Nature center, will open to the public August 21 for an evening folk concert with guitarist Dave Reske.

Besides joining the sing-along, beginning at 8:30 p.m., concert-goers will have a chance to explore the center's remarkably diverse offerings—a young forest, miniature, prairie, wildflower garden and sand dune area designed to duplicate the many different aspects of Michigan's environment from the far reaches of the upper peninsula to the city.

The center was designed by architect Bob Roney and constructed with the labor of about 35 other Ferry parents last spring. It was intended as a learning environment for students, "a chance for children to celebrate nature, to teach children to stop and look at nature—the color, the fragrance, the course each plant has taken in 20,000 years to perfect itself and survive," Roney explains.

But the center's had other benefits for the Ferry community as well. It's helped gather the neighborhood together and Elizabeth Wolter, a retired Detroit teacher in her sixties, demonstrates that. She's taken over the wild flower section of the center and spends a couple of hours two or three days a week transplanting specimens gathered from fields and backyard gardens to her special plot.

"I've lived here (on Hawthorne road) for 29 years and this is the first project I've ever become involved in at Ferry," she explains. "I've made new friends from my neighbors and I've had a great time at it. I love wildflowers."

So far, thanks to Elizabeth Wolter and her friends, parents haven't had to buy a single plant for the garden, despite the fact it now contains over 40 varieties. The center is located in a formerly unused courtyard surrounded by the school, at 748 Roslyn road.

Ferry students and their brothers and sisters joined parents in constructing the Nature center this spring.

Greater love hath no man...

Supporters of Congressman John B. Anderson for president proved at least one thing in last week's primary election. They are dedicated to Anderson's candidacy even when it costs them their votes in other races.

Anderson's Coalition Party won far more than the required number of votes to get his name on the November ballot. But none of the people who voted for Anderson could cast ballots for either the Republican or Democratic tickets in the primary.

In effect, they disenfranchised themselves with respect to partisan contests for such offices as congressman, state representative, county commissioner, charter commissioner and other county offices. Anderson voters were able, however, to cast their ballots for nonpartisan candidates and on issues, such as Proposal A, the county home rule charter issue.

IN THE GROSSE POINTES, 11,067 persons voted, according to the unofficial tallies, but about one-tenth of that number, 1,183, cast their ballots for Anderson and thus lost their votes in the partisan contests. To paraphrase the Biblical saying, we might say that greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his vote for a friend.

Yet the difficulty faced by Anderson's Coalition Party and other minor parties seeking to get on the November ballot raises questions as to whether Michigan's election law may be too strict. Several critics claim Michigan's hurdles are the toughest in the nation for minor party candidates to surmount. The unpopularity of the major party candidates this year strengthens demands for easing this state's restrictions against the minor parties.

This is, however, a nation still dedicated to the two-party system. And despite the unhappiness this year in both Republican and Democratic ranks, there is something to be said for keeping it. The postwar experience of France and Italy with their proliferation of parties and short-lived coalition governments is not likely to serve as a popular model here.

Furthermore, minor party presidential candidates usually wind up being regarded as spoilers. Their support tends to tail off as the campaign winds down, probably because the Republicans and Democrats put increasing pressure on their fallen-away brethren to return to the fold. That, in turn, saps the financial and political strength of the mavericks.

Yet Anderson's enthusiastic supporters still could prove the Illinois congressman to be the exception in this highly fluid election year.

Know Your Schools

By Superintendent William Coats

In this week's column, I am pleased to share information about two summer activities conducted by our Department of Special Education Services and a program for adjusted learning and learning disabled students conducted by the Department of Community Services.

For the 18th year we offered a summer recreation program for trainable retarded children under the leadership of special education teachers Ann Eickhoff, Cynthia Kopp, Bernie Lemieux, and several hard-working aides and volunteers.

Students in the program had the opportunity to enjoy such varied activities as calisthenics and swimming, ball games, hikes, crafts and picnics. On Mondays and Fridays, the students went to the Grosse Pointe Woods Park for swimming and other recreational activities, while on Tuesdays they stayed at Barnes School to conduct community car washes, and raised over $100 from those efforts.

In order to facilitate mainstreaming, the students were taken on field trips each Wednesday to such places as the Belle Isle Zoo, Stoney Creek Park, the Towne Club Bottling Works, Hart Plaza, and Camp Dearborn and every Thursday the students went bowling.

The second summer program conducted by the Department of Special Education Services was the Title I Summer School at the Children's Home of Detroit. Our school system uses Title I funds to contract with the staff of Academic Improvement and Development, Inc. to offer this program for emotionally impaired students

For six weeks, participants were provided opportunities to maintain and improve their skill levels in the subject areas of reading and math.

Groups of three to four students attended five periods of 45 minutes each, and in addition to their work on academic skills, were offered free-choice educational games as a means of behavior modification reward.

As a result, the children made progress in developing positive relationships with adults, and enhancing their feelings of self-esteem. Test results of students completing the program have also shown that significant academic progress in both the school year and summer programs is made by nearly all participants.

Another summer activity sponsored by our Department of Community Services with the Neighborhood Club and the Public Library is a Gym-Swim-Crafts Program for adjusted learning and learning disabled students. Diane Zedan, coordinator of the program led the children in cooking and crafts activities and game and swimming activities.

Although some students were unable to go under water at the start of the program, nearly all of the children were enthusiastically using the diving board by the end of the summer activity.

Once a week the students were driven in the Neighborhood Club van to the Library where they enjoyed crafts activities. In addition to these weekly trips, a special trip was made to Hart Plaza for a dance performance during the week of the Republican Convention. The students really enjoyed being a part of all the activity and excitement.

We feel that these types of summer-time activities are very important to the growth and development of students with special needs. We are most appreciative to the community for its support and assistance in conducting these programs, particularly the Merchants of Mack Association which financially underwrote most of the expense of the program for A.L.P.D. students.

June Jobless Rate Dismal

Unemployment climbed in nine of the state's 13 major labor market areas during June, as young people entered the job market looking for summer jobs, according to local area jobless estimates released last week by Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) Director S. Martin Taylor.

The release of local area labor force estimates usually follows the release of statewide estimates by about three weeks. Previously, on July 3, MESC had announced that the statewide jobless rate in June was 14.0 percent with 620,600 unemployed compared with May's rate of 14.0 percent and 607,000 out of work. Last week's estimates are local breakdowns of these statewide figures.

The Flint area continued to have the highest jobless rate as it rose to 23.1 percent in June from 22.3 percent in May. The Saginaw area had the second highest rate with 19.3 percent unemployed.

Inputs the influx of summer job seekers, unemployment levels dropped in four labor market areas in June

MCF President In Europe

Dr. Michael J. Brennan, president and medical director of the Michigan Cancer Foundation and professor of Medicine at Wayne State University, recently addressed the International Symposium on the Prevention and Detection of Cancer in London, England, July 26-31 and attended the Biennial Meetings of the International Union Against Cancer in Oslo, Norway, August 3-8. Dr. Brennan is a Grosse Pointe Park resident.

At the London conference, Dr. Brennan presented papers on "Outcomes of a Co-ordinated, Community Based Cancer Control Program" and "Design and Evaluation of Cancer Screening Programs." In addition he chaired a conference entitled "A New Look At Cancer" which included presentations on anti-carcinogenesis, pathology and stress.

In Oslo, he participated in a symposium on "Trends in Cancer Incidence."

Dr. Brennan, who has been president of the Michigan Cancer Foundation since 1966, also serves as director of the Metropolitan Detroit Cancer Control Program, a five-year federally co-sponsored demonstration project to co-ordinate community cancer control services.

He is director of the Comprehensive Cancer Center of Metropolitan Detroit, a joint effort of Wayne State University and the Michigan Cancer Foundation and one of the 21 designated cancer research and treatment centers in the U.S.

The Center's Cancer Registry is the largest population-based cancer registry in the country. It has recorded the entire cancer experience of the tri-county metropolitan Detroit area for the last 10 years. The Registry is the principal source of information on cancer in blacks and in industrial workers in the U.S.A.

Dr. Brennan earned his graduate degrees at Loyola University, College of Medicine, in Chicago.

The Michigan Cancer Foundation is a Torch Drive/United Way agency.

Millionaire?

Status is no longer attached to becoming a millionaire. Now the term must be preceded by multi- before eyebrows are raised. Inflation has wrought great changes. The number of U.S. millionaires has grown phenomenally in recent years. It's a much larger club—far less exclusive than formerly. Women today own a majority of the million-dollar fortunes, and they control 80 percent of the major ones—$10 million or more.

It may be the "dog days" of August, but Pointers are beginning to look ahead, anticipate autumn, make their plans and mark their calendars for the crisp, exciting season that begins the day after Labor Day.

For instance: the energies of members of the Antiques Show Committee of the Junior Group of League for the Handicapped-Goodwill Industries are being directed toward their 33rd Annual Antiques Market and Sale.

That's set for November 8, 9 and 10, Saturday through Monday, at Fairlane Manor in Dearborn, and the committee, including Jane (Mrs. Clark) Hinkley, of University place, co-chairman of the 1980 Antiques Mart, met yesterday at the Birmingham home of Cec Borgeson to review what's already been done to assure the success of their project, and to make plans for their final fall "push."

For instance: friends of the Detroit Institute of Ophthalmology are looking forward to a reception Sunday, September 14, at the Pointe home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gorey, Jr. It's a fund raiser for the Eye Institute.

For instance: Theatre Arts Club of Detroit has scheduled its annual scholarship tea for Thursday, September 18, with Mrs. Leona (Mrs. Leslie C.) Putnam, of Earl court, in charge of arrangements.

This is a gala year—the 70th year—for Detroit's oldest all-woman drama group, and all its activities during the 1980-81 season will be centered on that milestone anniversary.

Mrs. J. Ross Bush is Theatre Arts current president, elected at the club's annual meeting held early in the summer at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. Mrs. James B. Doll is vice-president. Recording and corresponding secretaries, respectively.

Betzing. Mrs. William Gentz introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Carrick, Orientation and Mobility instructor for Macomb Intermediate School Districts, which serves 21 local districts, holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Elementary Education from Western Michigan University.

He received his Masters degree in Orientation and Mobility from Wayne State University, and was a Resource Room teacher in the Warren Schools before becoming a Mobility instructor.

Mr. Carrick spoke of the methods he uses to teach blind children how to cope with their problems in a sighted world. He organizes shopping trips for his students, for one of their ultimate goals is to acquire the ability to travel independently and visit shopping areas to make their own purchases—particularly during the Christmas season.

During the past year,

Grosse Pointe transcribed 5,600 pages of braille, including textbooks for junior and senior high school students and college students, foreign language books, poetry, scripts for plays, musical scripts, letters and fiction for children and adults.

The volunteers are deeply indebted to Mr. and Mrs. George Santoro, Miss Sells, Miss Helms, Mrs. George Steyer, Mrs. Cyril Verbrugge, Mrs. William Niemetta, Mrs. Gershman Monlai, Mrs. Irene MacKay, Mrs. Olah, the Northeastern Woman's Club, Mrs. Irma Van Slembrouk, Mrs. Gentz, Mrs. Earl Peeler and Preceptor Alpha Eta.

Their generous contributions during the past year have helped members not only to produce a greater volume of bound books, but to do so without interrupting their work for the solicitation of financial aid.

The volunteers also extend special thanks to Dr. Joel Olah and the Detroit Nortown Lions Club, who presented two Perkins Braille and carrying cases to the club.

Members also are very appreciative of the many contributions given to their club in memory of Mrs. Helen Webster, a founder of the Braille Club, Mrs. Irma Van Slembrouk, Mrs. Gentz, Mrs. Webster received a plaque and gift in 1973 for her outstanding work as a braille transcriber and proof reader for many years. She is missed, both as a brailist and a friend of all the transcribers.

Braille Transcription classes resume in September at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center, with Mrs. McNamara, voluntary teacher for the past 14 years, again serving as instructor.

She will be assisted by Miss Sells, who has worked as a volunteer for the past six years.

Anyone looking for a worthwhile project for the winter months may call 881-9566 for further information about the class.

Classic Cars in Spotlight at Concours d'Elegance

More than 100 of the world's finest classic and antique cars — including the Packard LeBaron Carole Lombard gave to Clark Gable and a 1937 Horch ordered by Adolph Hitler for Heinrich Himmler — will be displayed at Meadow Brook Hall's second annual Concours d'Elegance Sunday, August 17, from 10 in the morning to 4 in the afternoon.

Among the exhibitors are Pointers Louis Mushro, showing a 1931 Hupp Phaeton, R. John Bradfield, with a 1929 Auburn Phaeton Sedan, Gilbert A. Mack, a 1937 Cadillac Convertible Sedan, and Richard C. Mertz, a 1937 Rolls Royce Phantom III Sedan.

Harper Woods resident Clifford A. Weidenbener has entered his 1916 Packard

Twin Six five-passenger touring car.

Among the judges is Gordon Buehrig, of Lochmoor boulevard, chief designer, Auburn, Cord, Duesenberg.

The public may view entries from the Golden Age of Motorcars on the golf course at Oakland University, with Meadow Brook Hall, the 100-room mansion that was the home of Matilda Dodge Wilson, widow of auto pioneer John Dodge, as a backdrop.

The event, a benefit for the hall, is under the direction of E.M. (Pete) Estes, honorary chairman, president of General Motors Corporation, and Otto Rosenbusch, chairman, Display and Creative Communications Services manager, Chrysler Corporation.

Cars will be judged in six categories: up to and including 1915 models, (among these is an 1898 Benz Horseless Carriage, one of the oldest running cars in America); models from 1916 through 1925; American classics: 1925 through 1932; American classics: 1933 through 1942; European classics: 1925 through 1942; and grand winners from the 1979 Concours entries.

The Meadow Brook Concours will feature cars from Ontario, Ohio, Indiana, Alabama, South Dakota, Florida, Illinois, Maine and Texas as well as Michigan.

Models wearing dresses from the Wilson Collection of vintage designer fashions will contribute to the historic ambience of the day.

Admission — $5 for adults,

$4 per person for groups of 20 or more, $2.50 for children under 13 — is also good for a $1 discount on Meadow Brook Hall tours between noon and 4 o'clock during the Concours.

The hall, now used as a conference and cultural center for Oakland University, was built in the late 1920's at a cost of $4 million. It contains original furnishings and art objects.

Refreshments will be available on the grounds throughout the Concours display. The Christopher Wren Dining Room will be open to those touring the hall for regular Sunday buffet dining.

Meadow Brook Hall is located on Adams road, one-third mile south of Walton boulevard in Rochester. From Grosse Pointe, take I-75 to the Oakland University exit, 25 miles north of Detroit; drive to the campus, then follow signs to the hall.

Further information may be obtained by calling 377-3140.

Busy Meadow Brook Weekend

Meadow Brook Music Festival's schedule is crowded this weekend, with performances by the Chicago Symphony under Erich Leins-dorf set for tonight, Thursday, August 14, and Saturday night, August 16, plus afternoon and evening performances by Tex Beneke, an alumnus of the Glenn Miller Band, on Friday, August 15, and "Break a Leg," a children's musical show choreographed by Carol Halsted, scheduled for 11 o'clock Saturday morning, August 16.

Then on Sunday evening, August 17, Ferrante and Teicher, who have sold 22 million records and been awarded 17 gold records, will display the two-piano artistry that popularized their recordings of "Theme From The Apartment" and "Exodus."

This evening's Chicago Symphony concert features music by Mozart, Debussy, Strauss and Brahms. Saturday's symphonic program spotlights Beethoven, Tchaikovsky, Dvorak and Ravel. Beneke, with Helen Forrest, Johnny Desmond and the Modernaires, will feature such Miller hits as "Moonlight Serenade" and "Chattanooga Choo Choo," and will salute other Big Band Era groups. Beneke's matinee, at 2 o'clock Friday, is a special benefit performance sponsored by the Meadow Brook Festival Women's Committee, and includes an on-stage, meet-the-stars after-glow.

Bob Sadin and the Pastiche Wind Quintet collaborated on the score for "Break a Leg." Its fast-paced dances, some on skate boards and bicycles, depict the

Caribbean Summer

The longest summer of all is in the Caribbean where hotel prices dropped from their peaks in April and will stay in the valley until December. Most Caribbean hotel rates fall between 40% to 50%. Caribbean cruises are also reduced, usually by as much as 33%, and of course, the Caribbean's climate - a sunny mid-80 with cooling trade winds by day and night, never changes 5 degrees, year 'round.

Caribbean summer is particularly a good time for family vacations as almost all hotels offer special family rates, plus free sports facilities.

Almost all of the islands put summer in packages which represent remarkable savings. Another advantage to remember; most of the Caribbean islands peg their currencies to the dollar.

For further information about the Caribbean Savings, contact Travelworld's friendly staff at 21127 Mack Ave. (N. of Vernier) 882-8190.

Portrait of Hutzel's Great Lady

commissioned to recognize Mrs. Failing's quarter century of support to the auxiliary, was dedicated during the annual meeting of the 160-member group, which has been actively working for the Detroit Medical Center hospital since May 18, 1955. The auxiliary also reaffirmed its pledge to donate $250,000 to the Hutzel Hospital Building program, to help finance a 140,000-square foot addition to the hospital.

DIA Displays Couture Work

A painting by mid-19th century France's most famous artist, never finished after 32 years of work, is on special loan at the Detroit Institute of Arts through Sunday, August 31.

It is Thomas Couture's romantic masterwork "The Enrollment of the Volunteers," and it is surrounded by drawings and oil sketches illustrating the artist's bafflement in trying to create a canvas which would inspire an outpouring of volunteers for the French Army.

The subject he chose was the enthusiastic rush to arms of 600,000 French volunteers during a national crisis of 1792, but as Couture developed his complex mass of realistic and allegorical figures, political winds were constantly shifting. His commission was ultimately withdrawn; one reason: his representation of "Liberty" was considered too rousing.

Dr. Dewey F. Mosby, curator of European Art at the Detroit Institute of Arts, wants to "humanize Couture and take viewers inside his head as the artist grappled to reconcile politics, technique and his own high standards." The installation conveys not only Couture himself but an entire stormy era of French history and art.

Thomas Couture's Romantic Masterwork: The Enrollment of the Volunteers reunites for the first time dozens of the artist's sketches and studies from French and American museums.

Pointe Counter Points

By Pat Rousseau

The Hottest Fashions . . . literally and figuratively speaking at Walton-Pierce right now are the quilted down jackets and coats by Bill Blass. A bold tan, ivory and black swirl print, zip front coat sports a black lining. Bill Blass styles a new quilted down jacket like a blazer and pipes the blue with tan and the red with navy. It's a great new outdoor look with pants. Suedecloth seems to be everywhere. We like the classic tan suedecloth shirtdress with a wrap cummerbund. Leslie Fay does a suedecloth dress and jacket. The dress has a knit top and the jacket is edged with tan braid. Brown suedecloth trims the collar and cuffs of a brown tweed knit coat that is ensembled with a solid brown knit dress. Wilroy fans will applaud the black tweed-knit sweater jacket that picks up the colors of the black, fuchsia and teal jersey print blouse and skirt. P. F. Boutique's camel knit jacket with rib knit collar, mock lizard buttons and belt tops a tan knit dress accented at the neck with rib knit and accessorized with a paisley scarf. Parnes-Feinstein has designed a classic after-five jersey dress with a V neck, a bit of smocking at the shoulders and a slim belt with rhinestone trim. It comes in black or cafe au lait. Also for party times, a black chiffon crepe dress is veed both front and back and the puffy short sleeves have insets of black lace. Very pretty!

If . . . you have a burned spot on your Formica counter tops, did you ever think of having Mutschler Kitchens install a counter saver to bring your kitchen back to its original look, Mutschler Kitchens, 20227 Mack Avenue, 884-3700.

Ron Ruel Says . . . Before you decide to have a perm, you owe it to yourself to know what the process is all about and just what kind of effect it will have on your hair. Ron suggests a total control Pyrametric cut to start the beginning of your new look. The best time for a perm is when your hair doesn't look good, if it lacks body, will not stay in the style you desire and has become a time consuming problem. Call 886-4130 for an appointment.

Traci to Give English Course

Dr. Philip J. Traci, who has given the popular "Three for Stafford" lectures at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial for the past six years, will teach "Literature of the English Renaissance," one of the first graduate courses to be offered by Wayne State University at its St. Clair State Center on Rockwood Road. Dr. Traci received his Ph.D. from Duke University and has been a member of the WSU faculty since 1970. He is a Shakespearean critic and has written extensively in this field; his most recent publication, "Realism in Shakespeare: O Heavenly Mingles," co-authored with the late Dr. Marvin Felheim, of the University of Michigan, comes out in October.

"Les Papillons" Dance The Bible

Planning is underway for "Les Papillons" fall and winter season. The Liturgical Dance Group, pictured at top re-enacting the Raising of Lazarus, at bottom performing the Annunciation at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, to the accompaniment of Scripture reading, is sponsored by the Woods Presbyterian Church and has been partially funded by the Michigan Council for the Arts.

During the past year, "Les Papillons" have danced in many churches across the Detroit area. They have been acclaimed for the new dimension they bring to the service of worship.

The group combines the techniques of modern and interpretive dance with forms used in ancient and modern Israeli dance, and performs to the accompaniment of readings from Scripture as well as to music, or a combination of the two.

A unique feature of this dance team is the wide range of its members: child to senior adult. This makes a broad range of characterization possible. All the dancers learn all the roles, so that in many instances one may substitute for another on short notice. The dance repertoire includes presentations of episodes from the Life of Christ, interpretations of psalms and hymns and examples of group or circle dances to sacred songs and folk hymns.

Director and choreographer is Mrs. Eunice Tom Whitaker, a professional dancer. Mrs. Whitaker says she has committed her talents to God as her Christian act of worship. She is currently on the faculty of the School of Theology of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan, and was previously the director of Liturgical Dance at Christ Church, Grosse Pointe. She has appeared with the Festival Dancers of Metropolitan Detroit and the Galai Ha Ruach of the Jewish Community Center in Southfield, and is a veteran participant in the Dance Ministry of Detroit's Church of the Messiah.

Liturgical Dance is described as a way to express one's faith and to worship God—a visible anthem, an outward, non-verbal expression of an inner conviction. "Le Papillon," the butterfly, was chosen to represent these dancers because it symbolizes the transforming resurrection power of Christ in the church and the world today. This is the power "Les Papillons" seek to express in their dancing.

Members of the dance group come from a variety of denominations, Episcopal, Roman Catholic and Presbyterian, but are united in their desire to further this reverent art form. This year's "papillons" have included Lynne Batchelor, Brook Bessert, Jenny Eshleman, Doreen Fraits, Carol and Sue Graf, Wendy Heavner, Allison Jones, April Kromminga, Cynthia Locke, Ellen Probert, Nancy Reed, JoAnne and Sue Spencer, Mary Lee Strother, Gayle Thomas and Sue Vanneman.

"Les Papillons" are available to dance at the worship services of interested churches, or for community events where their dimension of dance might be appropriate. They are prepared to perform a single dance or an entire program.

Beginning in October, a very limited number of new dancers will be considered to fill anticipated vacancies in the group. Further information may be obtained by calling the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, 886-4300.

tively, are Mrs. William J. Coyle and Mrs. William S. Turner, Jr.

Treasurer is Mrs. Ruth E. Wrock, Board of directors members serving as committee chairpersons are Mrs. Ellsworth W. Allison, telephone and music, Mrs. Albert M. Berteel, costumes, Mrs. James J. Mrs. Putnam, honorary director, will serve as scholarship chairman.

For instance: Pointe members of the Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra have two delightful events coming up in September.

The first is a Sunday Evening Soiree, September 14, featuring a Geoffrey Beene Fashion Show by Jacobson's of Grosse Pointe and cocktail supper in the Masonic Temple's Fountain Room.

The second is the DSO Women's annual picnic for orchestra members. That's set for Tuesday, September 23, in the Symphony Office courtyard.

For instance: organizers of the 21st Annual Fall Art Festival co-sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Artists Association and the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center promise many demonstrations by exhibitors this year, including a step-by-step visible explanation of the seldom-seen craft of tin smithing.

Other demonstrators among the more than 170 painters and artist-craftsmen exhibiting their work on the War Memorial's grounds all day Saturday, September 13, will focus on wood carving, basketry, weaving and chair caning, stained glass and leather work, portraiture and sketching and the increasingly popular art of glass blowing.

Corinne (Mrs. Stanley F.) Dolega, a charter member of the Pointe Artists Association, is chairing the festival again this year. It's her 11th year as chairman.

Corinne's career as a Pointe artist stretches back to pre-festival days. She was showing her paintings with other Artists Association members in a vacant lot on Kercheval avenue in-the-Village in the years before 1959, when the outdoor art show turned into a fall festival at the War Memorial.

Art runs in the family. Corinne is the mother of Stanley F. Dolega, Jr., who is gaining national recognition as an environmental sculptor. Local examples of his earth sculpture are on the north side of Belle Isle and at Detroit's Clark Park, and he's represented through mid-September in an exhibit at the Detroit Institute of Arts: "Kick Out the Jams . . . Detroit's Cass Corridor 1963-1977."

Stan, who earned his Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in Industrial Design from Michigan State University and his Master of Arts degree in Sculpture from Wayne State University, lives in Laramie, Wyo., now.

He was recently awarded Federal grants for renovating terrain damaged through mining, by creating earth sculpture on the damaged sites.

A Backward Glance

But before we get too caught up in what's going to happen, let's take a quick glance backward and note that everyone was delighted that Betty Collins, Susan and Martha, made it back to The Pointe this year for their annual (except for last year) visit with mother grandmother Helen (Mrs. C. H.) Ewing and Dr. Ewing, of University place.

Bob Collins almost made it. He drove with his family to New Orleans, then to Georgia to rendezvous with the Collins clan, then up to Grand Rapids to see Betty's sister and her children . . . and then he had to head back to Texas, and work.

But Betty and the girls came on to The Pointe, from where they flew back to San Antonio the first Sunday in August. Were they worried about returning to the HOT Southwest? It hasn't been too bad in San Antonio, Betty reports—not like Houston Dallas, where they've been frying eggs on the sidewalk!

Mushroom Hunting Help

So you want to reap the wild harvest of Michigan mushrooms? You can improve your chances of being safe rather than sorry by following these tips from experts at Michigan State University:

Learn how to identify a few edible species. Find out where they grow, when you're most likely to find them and how to distinguish them from similar-looking but poisonous species. Know what you're after and collect only those species known to be safe for human consumption.

Have an authority confirm your identifications so you know they are correct. Mushroom hunting with an authority — a real authority, not an overnight expert — is a good way to learn mushroom identification.

Collect only one kind of mushroom at a time.

Do not collect or eat over-mature or spoiled mushrooms. Eat only the commercially produced mushrooms raw.

Eat only one kind of known edible mushroom at a time and that in small quantities for the first time. Some types of mushrooms contain toxins that must reach a certain level in your body before they begin to do any damage or cause poisoning symptoms.

At lower levels, the body may tolerate the toxin. This is not true of all poisonous mushrooms: some are deadly poison in small quantities.

Check each mushroom for positive identity as you collect it. Poisonous mushrooms often grow alongside edible ones and can be swept up with them in a careless moment.

Always keep a sample of the fresh mushrooms and of the cooked product you consume. If you become ill, your physician or local poison control center can do more for you if they know what you have eaten.

Do not experiment on yourself or other living things. If a mushroom is not known to be edible, do not eat it and do not feed it to any other creature.

Avoid eating wild mushrooms if you know you are allergic to other fungi. You may have a serious allergic reaction to mushrooms that someone else could eat with no ill effects.

Whenever you're in doubt — about your identification, about the quality of the mushrooms you have gathered or about the source of the "flu bug" that coincidentally struck you after a mess of mushrooms — DO NOT EAT THE MUSHROOMS. It may save your life.
