Kerouac talk is Oct. 27
 Frankie Edith Kerouac Parker will talk about noted American author of the "beat generation," Jack Kerouac, Monday, Oct. 27, at 8 p.m. at Grub Street — A Bookery, 15038 Mack Avenue.
 Ms. Parker, a longtime resident of the Pointe, is the granddaughter of Dr. Lewis E. Maire. She is writing a book about her early years with Kerouac and the genesis of the "beat generation." Its title will be "You'll Be Okay," the last letter the author sent to her three weeks before his death.
 Kerouac spent three years intermittently in the Pointes from 1944 through 1946, working at Federal Mogul and Fruehauf Trailer. According to Ms. Parker, Kerouac's first book, "The Town and the City," much sought after by collectors, is about his experiences in Grosse Pointe and Dexter.
 Ms. Parker will show early photographs and will sign books at Monday nights lecture and wine and cheese reception.

Dracula appears for Halloween

The Punch and Judy Theater, in honor of Halloween, will present a special stage production of "Dracula," Bram Stoker's classic tale of the undead, Oct. 20 through 31 and Nov. 5 through 8. Tickets for the 8 p.m. performances are on sale at the Punch and Judy box office priced at $4 for the main floor and $5 for the loge. A special champagne preview performance will take place the 29th. The two-act play will be directed by Tom Shaker who is also pictured above in the role of Count Dracula. The cast will include George Valente, David Bokas, Donna Livengood and Robert Rucker. Proceeds benefit the Punch and Judy Theater Association, a non-profit organization which sponsors live theater for the community. The Punch and Judy is located at 21 Kercheval at McKinley Road. For more information, call 881-4510.

Fund drive begins at Inter-Faith

The Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice kicks off its 1981 Fund Raising Drive this week with high expectations. "We hope this year's Drive will be our most successful," says Teresa Lloyd, drive chairperson.
 The Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice is an organization of 17 area churches and many individuals which promotes racial and social justice through educational programs and task forces working in the areas of education, crime prevention, housing and preparation of youth for living in a multi-cultural, multi-racial world.
 "The past year and a half has been an extremely important period in the center's life," says Rick Drabant, president of the board of directors.
 "Our volunteer drive yielded a strong group of people willing to commit their time and energy to center activities. Our Third Thursday forums feature social justice have 'taken off.'
 (The monthly forums feature social justice topics with a local focus.) "We held a successful church conference last spring on the Social Role of the Church in the 1980's and planning will soon be underway for a 1981 conference. A new Family Task Force is being talked about and, in general, people are excited about our present and future potential," says Drabant.
 "This year increased requests for center programs and services caused us to increase our staff," explains Ed Egnatios, executive director. "Katie Elsilila and Gail Urso were hired to share the new job of program coordinator. With the teamwork between excellent staff and strong volunteers, we know we have the resources available to make a real contribution to the community." The general objectives of the Inter-Faith Center are as important today as they were 10 years ago when the organization began, according to fund raiser chairman Ms. Lloyd. "But we need a successful drive to ensure that our work can continue."
 The center is a private, non-profit community organization. The financial support from 17 member churches provides a base, in addition to funds raised through annual special events, including a fall Musical, December Holly Mart, and annual dinner in May.
 But "the institutional support and our special events are still not enough," says Lloyd. "We need the generous support of individual donation."

Theater party to benefit Citizens Party campaign

A champagne reception and theater party for the new Alger Theater production of "Count Dracula" will be held Thursday, Oct. 30 to raise funds for the Presidential campaign of Barry Commoner, candidate of the Citizens Party.

Tickets for the event, which include both the reception and the performance, are $5 and are available at The Library Company, on Mack Avenue, near Bedford, or by calling the Citizens Party office, 891-3830. Cast members will attend the reception at 1411 Three Mile Drive in the Park, in costume, starting at 6:30 p.m., and the performance will begin at 8 p.m. at the theater on East Warren Avenue.

Commoner, a noted environmental scientist and author, and LaDonna Harris, a leader in the Native American Indian movement, and candidate for vice president were certified for the Michigan ballot after receiving over 30,000 petition signatures from Michigan voters last summer.

Mulling over the upcoming (in 1981) first-class postage increase to 20 cents? Here is what some of the other industrial nations are paying now: Switzerland 23 cents, Belgium and West Germany 32, Britain 26.7, France 30.3, Japan has a 20-cent rate now which is rising to 24 cents in October.

The two urge strong federal support for research into solar and other alternative energy sources; a program to re-open shut-down auto and parts plants for production of socially useful goods; support of the SALT II treaty and further efforts toward disarmament; and support of the Equal Rights Amendment.

The theater party is one of several fund raising events planned by the 14th District citizens Party organization co-chaired by Elaine Powierski and Sam Cataldo. Supporters of the Commoner-Harris campaign also are doing door-to-door canvassing and leaflet distribution throughout the 14th District, which includes Grosse Pointe.

Underwear pile is shrinking

By Joanne Gouleche

A 21-year-old man showed up in Park Municipal Court last week and pled guilty to stealing underwear off the clotheslines of several women over the last five months.

Police apprehended the panty thief two weeks ago in an alley near Wayburn and Maryland. The thief, who lives in the area hit by the panty raids, led police to his house where mounds of the underwear were stashed away in a bedroom.

Last week a call went out to the victims of the underwear thievery to come and claim their lost goods. Women have since visited the second floor of police headquarters to pick through panties, bras, girdles and nighties.

Police received their first report of the panty snatcher last June when a Beaconsfield woman told officers her 19 pairs of Oscar de la Renta panties were missing from her clothesline.

Later reports indicated the panty thief rode around on a blue 10-speed bicycle and was described as having shoulder-length blond hair.

The panty thief visited homes in the western section of the city, often making his escape through nearby alleys. One witness saw the thief bike into a yard, pull two nighties off the line and stuff the goods into his shirt before pedaling off.

Police said they have recovered over 130 pairs of underpinnings, including 25 bras, 28 girdles and one bodysuit, snatched off a clothesline just last month.

Detective Richard Wedding said women seem to spot their underwear pretty quickly when they come to the station to sift through the lingerie. At least seven women have reclaimed their underwear, Wedding said.

The panty thief was released on a $1,000 personal bond after pleading guilty to larceny Oct. 15. Police said a presentencing report will be sent to the court and a hearing will be scheduled at a later date.

The man's name is being withheld by police.

ULS delegates to the conference were selected either for their present leadership positions or for their potential abilities. They included seniors Jerry Parks and Joe Walker; juniors Annie McMillan, Jerry Stekete and Sarah Thurber; sophomores Dianne Alcantara, Beth Danaher, Murray Sales, Karen Walker, Marty Wittmer and George Zinn and freshmen Dan Bowen, Steve Gerogi, A. J. Gibson, Ruth McCrary, Andrew Ottaway and Michelle Stief.

The conference was sponsored by the Parents' League of Independent Schools in Michigan. Its purpose was to focus on specific skills essential for leadership in a non-competitive environment.

Pianist Ruth Burczyk

Burczyk will launch Warren Symphony year

The Warren Symphony's opening concert of the 1980-81 season, set for Sunday, Nov. 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the Warren Woods High School Community Theater, will feature Grosse Pointe pianist Ruth Burczyk in a musical program of Mendelssohn, Liszt and Berlioz.

For the third consecutive season, the opening night performance will be sponsored by the General Motors Warren Public Affairs Committee.

Guest artist Burczyk is one of the best known and respected pianists and teachers in the greater metropolitan area. Her professional career began at age 16 in a debut with the Wisconsin Symphony.

Her superb musicianship has encompassed an extensive command of solo recital and chamber music literature. In addition she has appeared with many local community orchestras. She is best known for her repeat performances with the Detroit Symphony.

Mrs. Burczyk is a faculty member of the National Music Camp in Interlochen, serves on the staff of adju-catators of the National Guild of Piano Teachers and is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, International Professional Music Sorority.

Mrs. Burczyk will perform the Liszt Piano Concerto No. 1 "Triangle." The orchestra will also play Mendelssohn's Overture to A Midsummer Night's Dream and the Symphonic Fantastique by Hector Berlioz.

The Warren Symphony is currently selling season tickets for the five concert series starting at $10 for students and senior citizens up to $45 for a family of four. An individual subscription is $17.

Single tickets for the opening night concert are priced $4 regular and $2.50 for students and senior citizens. For seating or a free color brochure call 754-2950. Tickets will also be sold at the door on concert night.

Group seeks 1918 memoirs

The Historical and Architectural Committee of the Grosse Pointe Park Beautification Commission is planning a display project to commemorate Armistice Day, Nov. 11, 1918.

The group is searching for pieces of clothing from that period, including military uniforms or hats, newspaper clips, old letters or photographs. The display will also focus on Grosse Pointe Park during that period and how WW I affected the area.

Park residents who have any memoirs or know of family history that concerns this period should contact Doris Miller at 885-2331 (days) or Pat Drabant at 822-3961 (evenings).

Treasures and momentos will be handled carefully and displayed in locked cases.

County scam misses GP Meals-at-Home

By Tom Greenwood
Services to Grosse Pointe seniors dependent on the Meals-at-Home program will not be threatened by recent well publicized allegations by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners that the program has been severely mismanaged in several neighboring communities.

In a recent press release, Wayne County Commissioner William Joyner said he has documented instances of senior citizens meals being sold on the street and meals being delivered to seniors who have been dead for months. The cities included in the alleged Meals-at-Home scam include the Pointes, Highland Park, Hamtramck, Harper Woods and Detroit.

According to Leilo Durley, coordinator of the public information office of the Board of Commissioners, there is no evidence of mismanagement in the Pointes. "We have no indication of problems in the Grosse Pointes," he said. "No instances of mismanagement there at all."

Durley stressed that even if the charges prove to be true, and if federal funds are withheld as federal regulations require, the Meals-at-Home program would continue uninterrupted, "co-ordinated by a consortium of 34 out-county communities."

Joanne Spencer, manager of the Food and Friends Program, located at the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, 19950 Mack Avenue, indicated there have been no problems with the program. "There have been absolutely no complaints that I've heard about," she said. "We serve 19 carry out double meals daily, (one hot and one cold), to area seniors.

These meals are delivered by volunteers and we've had no reports from them about any problems."

Spencer added that the site also serves at least 50 meals daily, often peaking to 95 meals on Mondays and Fridays, to walk-in senior citizens and that "everyone seems very satisfied with the way things are handled here."

In his report, Commissioner Joyner dealt mainly with the delivery staff of the Wayne County Meals-on-Wheels program and its violation of federal guidelines in ascertaining the eligibility of seniors in order to obtain their meals, deficiencies in the program's audit reports, inadequate controls over collections and improper handling of Office of Service to the Aging advance payments.

The report also cited drivers with collecting whatever they could get on the street for the meals destined for the elderly; charging seniors living on second and third floor apartments "extra" delivery charges; and leaving meals on front porches of seniors too infirm to retrieve them, allowing them to become insect infested.

The six-page report was prepared by Detroit Deputy Health Director George Gaines and based on evidence obtained by JoAnne Klocke, in charge of Detroit's Meals-at-Home Program. Detroit assumed administration of the program Wednesday, Oct. 1, after separating from the joint Detroit-Wayne County Area office on Aging earlier this year.

High schools

Use of the term "high" school began in the United States in 1821 when the first public high school was established in Boston as the English Classical School, later changed to the English High School, a name derived from a Scottish institution in Edinburgh.

The school was designed for boys 12 years of age or older who did not intend to attend a college or university, and included such subjects as English, public speaking, science and mathematics. By 1860 there were more than 300 high schools in the U.S., all in public school systems.

Dinner show stars Pointers

Neil Simon's comedy, "Last of the Red Hot Lovers," the second offering of the season at Stouffer's Eastland Dinner Theater, opens Nov. 1 and runs Friday and Saturday evenings through Dec. 20.

The story involves Barney Cashman, the middle-aged owner of a seafood restaurant called "The Queen of the Sea." Barney has spent most of his life prying open clams and mussels, and he finally decides to have an extramarital affair to add some variety to his otherwise dull existence.

In each of three acts Barney tries to seduce a different woman in his mother's apartment. Each of the three women is a prize character in her own right.

Pointer Pat Villegas, of Lincoln Road, takes on the role of Elaine in the play. Bobbi will be portrayed by Wayne State University graduate Lori Altadonna of Lexington Road. Technical advisor is Pointer Dale Pegg, of Fairholme Drive, and the show is produced by Dennis Wickline, a 1989 South High graduate.

Stouffer's is located at 18000 Vernier Highway between Kelly and Beaconsfield in Harper Woods. Price is $16.50 per person, including dinner, show, tax and gratuity. Group rates and gift tickets are available. Cocktails are at 7 p.m., dinner at 7:30, and show at 8:45. Call 371-8410 for reservations.

Club offers judging tips

The Grosse Pointe Camera Club will meet Tuesday, Oct. 28, at 7:45 p.m. at Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte. Sue McLean will lead a discussion on "Judging: What to look for in pictures." Illustrations will be shown and judgments made on a series of photos. The public is invited and refreshments will be served.

Dracula stars at library

Saturday afternoon, Nov. 8, at 2:30, the Family Film Matinee will feature the original "Dracula," starring Bela Lugosi. Based on the novel by Bram Stoker, a gloomy castle, foggy streets of London, and a cavernous catacomb provide the perfect settings for the arch fiend, Count Dracula.

The film will be shown in the Exhibition Room of the Central Public Library. Admission is free.

An inside look at real estate

the ins and outs, ups and downs of the real estate world. The course is offered in conjunction with the public schools' department of continuing education as a public service by the local real estate exchange. More than 100 people signed up for the series which concludes today, Oct. 23, with a discussion of different financing options at 7:30 p.m. at Brownell Middle School.

NCTE cites Annmarie

Annmarie Elizabeth Monahan of Our Lady Star of the Sea High School was cited for outstanding performance in writing by the National Council of Teachers of English, which named her a winner of a 1980 Achievement Award in Writing in its annual competition.

More than 5,000 students were nominated last February by their English teachers for NCTE's contest. One nominee for each 500 students was allowed from each school. Each nominee submitted a sample of her best writing and an impromptu essay that were evaluated by teams of high school and college English teachers.

The 850 finalists selected each year represent high schools in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and American schools abroad. In Michigan there were 38 winners, announced Oct. 14.

The council recommends the award finalists for college scholarships in 1980, should they need such assistance. Names of students are sent to admissions officers and English department chairs at U.S. two and four year colleges and universities.

Annmarie received an award certificate and a copy of the booklet, "Achievement Awards in Writing, 1980." The English Department at Star of the Sea High was also recognized for the excellence of its writing program by NCTE.

More than 62,000 Americans were injured seriously enough in lawnmower accidents last year to require emergency room treatment.

Park salute to business

The Grosse Pointe Park Beautification Commission is still encouraging businesses in the city to submit entries for its Awards Night next month.

Councilman John Prost, chairman of the awards program, says the evening is in recognition for those businesses which have shown interest in maintaining or improving their commercial properties. Businesses on Jefferson, Kercheval, Charlevoix and Mack in the Park are encouraged to participate. Applications can be picked up at city offices, 15115 Jefferson.

Churches and schools in the area can also make application.

Judging will take place at the Commission's Nov. 3 meeting and will follow with a reception and trophy presentation in the Bath House at Windmill Pointe Park on Nov. 20 at 8 p.m.

Special awards to be presented include the Neat & Clean Award; the Landscaping Award; the Architectural Award and the Rear Entrance Award.

All businesses in Grosse Pointe and the public are welcome to attend Awards Night.

Retirement plans

Nearly one-half of all workers in commerce and industry in the United States and three-fourths of all government civilian personnel are now enrolled in retirement plans other than Social Security. The number of participants is estimated to be over 51 million.

In 75 percent of last year's 777 decertification elections, U.S. workers voted to withdraw from their unions.

More than 20,000 homicides annually in the United States involve husbands and wives.

INTRODUCING THE CHECKING ACCOUNT THAT PAYS INTEREST

On December 31, your present checking account at your bank becomes obsolete. Because on that day First Federal Savings of Detroit will begin offering a new concept in money management—the First Federal interest-earning checking account.

5 1/4%
INTEREST

You'll use this new type of account like any traditional checking account. But it will do something no checking account ever did before. It will pay you interest like a savings account—5 1/4% per year, daily interest, paid and compounded quarterly. Even when you write a check, the amount of that check keeps earning interest until the day the check is deducted from your account.

$300
LOW MINIMUM BALANCE

Your First Federal interest-earning checking account will require a low minimum balance of just $300. And as long as you maintain this balance, there is no monthly service charge. First Federal's low minimum balance requirement frees up more of your money for other needs.

OVERDRAFT PROTECTION

This optional feature of your interest-earning checking account helps protect you from the inconvenience of accidentally overdrawing the account. It provides you with peace of mind. Be sure to apply separately for this service. When accepted, you'll have a pre-approved line of credit available.

You can sign up for your account right now with a minimum deposit of $300. For making this early deposit, you'll be entitled to 50 free personalized checks which will be sent to you after December

30, 1980. In addition, we'll put that deposit in a regular savings account for you until December 31, earning 5 1/4% per year, daily interest, paid and compounded quarterly. On December 31, we'll automatically convert your account to an interest-earning checking account. And you'll be able to start writing checks and earning 5 1/4% annual interest, the highest rate of return allowed by law on interest-earning checking accounts.

First Federal's more than 60 offices mean you can have your interest-earning checking account close to where you live, work, or shop—which ever is most convenient for you.

Adding to this convenience are 15 Night Owl Windows (our 24-hour automatic teller machines) in key offices. With them you can transact almost all your First Federal business any time of the day or night, seven days a week.

OVER 60 OFFICES
15 NIGHT OWL WINDOWS

It all adds up—a checking account that pays interest, requires a low minimum balance, offers overdraft protection and 50 free checks. And, of course, each month we will return your cancelled checks along with your detailed statement. Apply for your account by sending in the coupon below. Or visit any office of First Federal Savings of Detroit. Your Center for Family Financial Matters.

Under Federal law, interest-earning checking accounts cannot be used until December 31, 1980. This service is available for individuals, single proprietors, and some nonprofit organizations.

Medieval love story opens theater season this week

The Grosse Pointe Theater will open its 1980-81 season next week with "Abelard and Heloise," a true story set against the background of the church in medieval France.

The play was written by Ronald Millar and is based upon the story of the brilliant 12th-century scholar and poet, Abelard, and his beloved Heloise, youthful niece of Canon Fulbert of Notre Dame. Their love story was made famous by the letters Abelard and Heloise exchanged. The letters, which survive to this day, are known to contain some of the most moving expressions of love ever written.

The show will run for nine performances in the Fries Auditorium of the War Memorial from Wednesday, Oct. 29, through Saturday, Nov. 8, except for Monday and Tuesday Nov. 3 and 4. "Abelard and Heloise" is directed by Lois Bendler of Shorepointe and produced by John Guadagnoli of Detroit. The story begins, literally at its ending, in the Chapel of the Abbey of the Paraclete, near Troyes, France, in the year 1131 A.D. where the audience first meets Abelard (played by Bill Clyne of Detroit) and Heloise (played by Susan Caroselli of Detroit). Then the play returns to a time 15 years earlier and the tale of the two star-crossed lovers begins to unfold.

The collage of characters that influence and shape the destiny of Abelard and Heloise include Gilles de Vannes (played by Mike Evans of Detroit), the Abess of Argenteuil (played by Gigi Gaggini of Detroit), and Fulbert (played by Wesley Schram of Detroit). Other cast members are John Petz of Mapleton Road (Robert), Bill Heimke of East Detroit (Guibert), Kathleen Grabruck of Detroit (Alys), Nancy Sortor of St. Clair Shores (Godric), Tom Stein of Birmingham (Bernard) and Chancey Miller of East Detroit (Alberic).

More are Julie Sibley of Lakepointe Road (Denise), Jack Petz of Mapleton Road (Hugh), Mickey DiSante of Harper Woods (Sister Laura), Marie Devlin of Roslyn Road (Sister Anne), Kathy Morris of Mt. Clemens (Sister Constance), Colleen McNulty of Detroit (Sister Mariella) and Julie Compo of Edgemont Park (Sister Gisella). Additional cast members are Richard Shank of Detroit (Alain), Michale Eddy of Detroit (Gerard), Jim Alvaro of Detroit (Philippe) and Bob Montgomery of Washington Road (Jehan).

The production staff of "Abelard and Heloise" includes Emma Jean Evans of Detroit, stage manager; Art Thompson of Neff Road, technical director; Jac Purdon of Village Lane, set designer; Carol Purdon of Village Lane, assistant stage manager; Rick Selke and Lois Constant of Trombley Road, costumes; Sue Petz of Mapleton Road, make-up; Diane Peters of Hollywood

Road, props and set-dressings; Dale Pegg of Fairholme Road, sound; Steve Linne of Detroit, lights and Jeanne Chrisman of Harper Woods, musical co-ordinator. Tickets for most performances are still available by calling the box office at 881-4004, Monday through Friday, between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The boy told police he was approached by two white males, 14 to 15-years old, with shoulder-length brown hair, wearing blue jeans and Levi jackets. The teens grabbed the bike owned by the boy's nine-year-old friend and threw it into a sandbox.

Youths assault Farms boy

A 10-year-old Farms boy was assaulted on Oct. 1 by two teenagers as he waited for his nine-year-old friend on the playground at Richard School.

One of the youths then approached the Farms boy, pulled a switchblade knife and ordered him to unlock his bike. The boy told police the teen then pushed him up against the fence, placed the knife against the back of his neck and again ordered him to unlock the bike.

The Farms boy unlocked the bike and the youths tossed it into the sandbox. Both teenagers then ran north on McMillan Road.

The boys reported the incident to their parents, but could not identify the teenagers. The teenagers returned to the playground later that day and shouted insults at the boys, who claimed they would be able to describe the assailants if necessary.

Homes sales up slightly

The average selling price of a home in Grosse Pointe jumped 2 percent last month, up to $97,066 from last year's figure of $95,238.

The statistics, recently released from the Grosse Pointe Real Estate Board, also showed a 4 percent increase in sales from $5,619,000 in 1979 to $5,825,150 last month. Month-end listings rose 50 percent, from 173 in September 1979 to 269 last month.

Unit sales increased only 1 percent last month. For the first nine months of this year, however, unit sales sagged 18 percent over the same period last year.

Chef Gabriel Olympic bound

The Grosse Pointe Yacht Club has announced that their chef, Jeffrey Gabriel, has been selected by the Michigan Chefs de Cuisine Association to compete in the International Culinary Olympics in Frankfurt, Germany, Friday through Monday, Oct. 24 to 27.

Chef Gabriel qualified for this honor by winning several awards in local, regional and national culinary shows.

The competition is internationally judged, drawing hundreds of contestants from around the world, including over 60 from the U.S. alone. Entrants are judged on a point system, with winners receiving gold medals. According to Chef Gabriel, the U.S. placed third overall in the 1976 Olympics, with individual chefs pulling down a number of gold medals.

Presentations are judged on originality, craftsmanship, presentation, degree of difficulty, harmony and overall appeal. Chef Gabriel will compete in the cold food category — his specialty — preparing one seafood, one pate and one hors d'oeuvre presentation.

Chef Gabriel is a graduate of the Culinary Institute of America, Hyde Park, N.Y. and has been with the GPYC since February, 1980.

Tips for safe Halloween

Halloween is supposed to be a little scary — not horrifying. Careful parents can help make Halloween a safe treat for the million of hobgoblins and witches who will be out and about on Oct. 31, by following some simple tips.

● Go with your children on the neighborhood rounds or send a responsible teenager. Plan to return by nightfall.

● Stick to your own neighborhood or to the homes of people you know.

● Avoid darkened houses. Homeowners who welcome "trick-or-treaters" usually keep their homes well lit.

● Closely examine all "goodies" before allowing children to nibble.

● Costumes should fit properly and be made with light, visible colors and flame retardant materials.

● Reflective tape on all sides of the costume helps drivers spot children.

● If possible, use makeup instead of a mask when designing an outfit. Many masks severely limit visibility.

● Those swords, knives, broomsticks and even metal or wood "magic wands" can be deadly if your child slips and falls. Cardboard versions, (with a little creative coloring), look great and are less hazardous.

● Flashlights are safer and easier for children to carry than candles or lanterns.

● Neighborhood, community or church Halloween parties can be safe — and fun — alternatives for trick or treating.

Susan Caroselli and Bill Clyne star in Grosse Pointe Theater's season opener, "Abelard and Heloise."

Internal Revenue offers tax course

Approximately five million high school students will learn how to fill out an income tax return as part of their curriculum this school year, the Internal Revenue Service said.

The vehicle for this information is an IRS-sponsored course called "Understanding Taxes" offered free to any high school interested in participating in the program. During the past school year, approximately 24,000 schools took advantage of the course.

"Understanding Taxes" includes a brief history of how the federal tax system works —by a discussion of the role of taxes and their relationships to the national budget —and then concentrates on the individual's tax rights and responsibilities.

Since an individual taxpayer usually fills out a Form 1040A during the first years of tax paying, "Understanding Taxes" covers the 1040A line by line. The course then explores the long Form 1040; Schedules A and B for itemizing deductions and listing interest and dividends; and other important information, including the merits of filing singly or jointly when married, esti-imating taxes, and correcting or amending previous returns.

The Understanding Taxes course usually lasts four to six weeks in most high schools. Study guides, teachers' manuals, and two films are supplied free by the IRS. Since the course is taught within the school's ongoing curriculum—often during a portion of a government or economics class — students earn credit for taking it.

"SOME COMPANIES LIMIT THE MEAT IN THEIR SAUSAGE. WE LIMIT THE FAT."

There's a good reason why Bob Evans Farms Sausage won't cook away in your frying pan like some other sausage does. You see, at Bob Evans Farms, we limit the amount of fat in every ounce of sausage we make. So there's just enough to bring out the farm fresh taste.

That's why Bob Evans Sausage always cooks up so tender and delicious. Not greasy. And why it won't shrink to nothing in your frying pan.

And while some companies don't put the best cuts of pork in their sausage, we include all the choice fresh hams and tenderloins. Not just the trimmings.

So try Bob Evans Sausage. Because while we always limit the fat in our sausage, there's no limit on the taste.

Election day special at Mason

Mason School P.T.O. will invite voters to enjoy the sights and smells of Christmas on election day, Nov. 4, when a Christmas boutique and bake sale will be held from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in the school library across from the polling booths.

Along with homemade breads, cakes and cookies, there will be a variety of Christmas and fall wreaths and wall hangings, hand painted ornaments, lighted ceramic trees, stockings, stocking-stuffers and cuddly stuffed dolls.

According to boutique chairman, Sandy Buell and Lonnie Acord, raffle items will also be on display. These items include: a large wine and cheese basket created for Mason School by the Wine and Cheese Shop on Mack Avenue, a 20-inch lighted ceramic Christmas tree donated by Wilma Acord, a queen size off-white afghan crocheted by Samha Gamen, a Ginger Bread House, a functional child's workbench and four Timex watches.

Tickets will be on sale in the library or through Mason school for 50 cents each.

League road show visits Harper Woods

The Harper Woods Library Commission will present the League of Women Voters of Grosse Pointe "Road Show," explaining the Nov. 4 ballot proposals, at 7:45 p.m. tonight on Thursday, Oct. 23, in the council chambers of Harper Woods City Hall, Allard and Harper.

The league's "Road Show" is a non-partisan presentation of the content and impact of the six proposed constitutional amendments and the referendum on the recently passed law concerning prison construction. Answers to questions from the audience will follow the presentation, enabling the voters to be well-informed about these vital issues.

South High college night is a hit

By Rick Richner South High

The first program of the "Michigan and Out-of-State College and Career Nights 1980" took place on Sept. 25 at South High School.

Sheila Joyce, assistant principal at South, commented, "It was great, well organized, and smoothly run." That seemed to be the feeling of parents, administrators and students alike.

The program consisted of presentations from 40 Michigan colleges. The University of Michigan and Michigan State University gave three presentations each on various subjects such as entrance requirements, financial aid, and campus life.

and allowed time for questions at the end. Several other schools had similar, but more informal presentations, others supplied information as people entered the rooms.

The different college representatives also expressed positive feelings toward the night. A former South student who now is a representative for Hillsdale College said, "Very informative, I wish there had been a program like this when I attended South."

Many of the representatives were impressed with the turnout; several ran out of brochures and pamphlets before the night was over. About 2,500 students and parents from North and South High Schools attended the program.

The last night of the program was the "Careers Night." It took place on Oct. 8. The evening started with a panel discussion followed by career representatives speaking on different career options. For the remainder of the evening, students and parents visited with the different representatives. A "mini fair" arrangement was planned.

Experts from many different fields, including retailing and merchandising, business, industry and health occupations attended.

The idea for the program was presented to South administrators last spring by the Mothers' Club. The project was a collaboration between South and the Club.

Terry Lloyd and Frances French of South, and Ann Dalby, Laura Evans, Toni Roberts and Anne Stephan of the Mothers' Club were instrumental in developing the project.

There seems to be a substitute for everything except brains.

Politics, past and present

By Leslie Burson
Political parade helmets which catch fire and burn oil, soap in the shape of a presidential candidate, campaign buttons from years ago, and even a picture of President Truman on the front of a package of cigarettes were some artifacts viewed by juniors from Our Lady Star of the Sea High School on Friday, Oct. 10, at the Politics, U.S.A. Exhibition at the Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn.

The exhibit was developed around the Republican and Democratic rivals of each presidential election. A guide explained and dated the displays of campaign memorabilia such as banner capes, lanterns, buttons and even radio and television recordings.

The highlights of the tour came when each girl was able to vote for president from the current slate of candidates. Three authentic voting procedures were utilized: the ballot box, the voting booth, and the modern day computer.

After the tour students were allowed to explore the rest of the museum or Greenfield Village on their own. Cars, old-fashioned business offices, genuine antique trains, and an out-dated steam wheel were available.

Veterans

There are 30,070,000 U.S. war veterans today, compared to 1930's total of 4,700,000. The Veterans Administration budget has grown from 785 million dollars to 21 billion dollars in the same time span.

Prime Time

For Senior Citizens

By Marian Trainor

There is no bigger booster of Grosse Pointe than Richard Rein. A native of Cincinnati, he came to Grosse Pointe Shores 30 years ago with his wife Grace. For them, it is the perfect place to live.

When they moved into their home, which is one block from the lake, the view was unobstructed. Now every lot has a house on it but the lake in all of its moods—blue and sun-glistened, gray and turbulent, frosted and frozen—forms a pleasing vista at the end of their tree-lined street.

Small wonder then, that this ever changing aquatic jewel forms either the background or subject of Richard Rein's watercolors.

Two paintings which hang in his home bear witness to his artists eye's appreciation of the endless possibilities of presenting the natural beauty and possibilities of interpretation of this body of water which is so close to home. One is a panoramic view of this street with each home set against its own individual setting of trees and bushes and sky, all of it highlighted by the view of the rippling blue waters of Lake St. Clair at the street's end.

The second is a wind-swept painting of a sailboat race on the lake. Looking at it, a viewer can almost feel the bounce of the waves and the sweep of the wind as he gazes at the sailboats, their gaily colored spinners ballooning out as they skim over the water.

MUCH AS HE LOVES the lake, Mr. Rein's forte is capturing in watercolor the essence and beauty of homes in Grosse Pointe. He has consistently won prizes for his work at the Senior Men's Club Hobby show at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. He paints from numerous camera shots taken at the scene.

"I only go out on sunny days," Rein remarked. The result are paintings that are bright and cheerful with highlighting sun-cast shadows.

Because he studies his subjects from all angles his paintings are not mere art reproductions. They truly capture the character of the scene. This attention to detail and his artistic empathy for a location makes him in demand with clients who love their homes and want to capture that intrinsic something that makes a house a home and sets their particular abode apart from all others.

One woman with fond memories of her background ordered four paintings; one of St. Paul's Church, another of South High School, a third of her parents' home and a fourth of her own home.

It is not unusual for a couple to ask Mr. Rein to paint a picture of the church where they were married.

A graduate of the Arts Academy in Cincinnati, Mr. Rein has an excellent art background although he did not start painting until after his retirement from The Ross Roy advertising agency where he was an art director.

After his retirement, Mr. Rein was stricken with lateral sclerosis which gradually worsened until he was confined to an "Amigo," a sort of a motorized scooter which enables him to move around with ease. It was then that he began to paint in earnest.

If it were not for the visible evidence of his disability, one would never give it a thought. Certainly it takes second billing to his immense talent. He puts no emphasis on it himself, barely mentioning it. He is so enthusiastic and happy with his art that it seems to take on the aspect of a minor discomfort.

HOWEVER ONE CANNOT help but admire the courage that enabled him to put aside any feelings he had concerning his ailment. One could say that he has made a good adjustment but that would be an unfair observation. He has made more than an accommodation. He has wholeheartedly committed himself to a new career without reservations.

Mr. Rein has other interests besides his painting. He plays bridge at the Senior Men's Club and once or twice a week, a small group gather to play at his home. He and Mrs. Rein go out for dinner often and both cheer their grandchildren, Marjorie and Sandy Smith, who swim for the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

And as we said in the beginning, he is an ardent advocate of life in the Pointes.

"Everything is here that anyone could want," he said, "good schools, churches, shopping, proximity to a major city, and, of course, the lake. Friends, who have moved to Florida, tell us how great living there is. But Florida holds no attraction for me. For me, Grosse Pointe is the best place to be."

Mr. Rein, along with many other members of the Senior Men's Club of Grosse Pointe will be showing off their talents at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial today, Oct. 23, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Friday, Oct. 24, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

There is no admission charge to view and shop the many articles which will be on display. Paintings, oils, and woodworkings are some of the mediums which will be offered. There will be ship models and a muffin stand used to keep muffins warm for four o'clock English tea.

Yule wreath workshop set

An all day Christmas Wreath Workshop will be held at Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center on Wednesday, Oct. 29 from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Taught by Judy Schulte, formerly with the Grosse Pointe Board of Education's Community Service Department, the instructional fee is $15. Class members are asked to bring a sack lunch and coffee will be available.

Ms. Schulte will show her students how to use wreath material most effectively to create highly original and effectively decorated wreaths.

They will be lighted and feature miniature holiday scenes. The workshop is strictly limited so sign up now in the center's office.

Pumpkin sale set at Liggett

A truck carrying five tons of pumpkins will be unloaded by the University Liggett 10th grade this Friday in preparation for the school's annual pumpkin sale, to be held at the Field House on Cook Road on Friday, Sept. 24, from 2:30 to 7 p.m. and Saturday, Sept. 25, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The event is traditionally organized and run by the 10th grade students and this year it will be coordinated with the ULS Homecoming. The price of the pumpkins will vary with size ($2 for a small, $2.50 for a medium and $3 for a large). The proceeds of the sale will go to class project this school year as well as toward the Junior Prom of 1982.

Halloween is next Friday.

BOARD OF APPEALS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Zoning Board of Appeals will meet in the City Hall, 90 Kerby Road, Grosse Pointe Farms on at 8:00 p.m. to hear the appeal of Mr. Peter V. Bologna of 81 Investment Company, from the denial of the Building Department to issue a Permit for the construction of an office building located on the premises at 131 Kercheval and further extending along the northwesterly boundary of such property and along the right-of-way of Kercheval Avenue to the Muir Road right-of-way. Such Permit issuance was denied for reason that the proposed office structure has a building height of 39 feet 6 inches, which is in excess of the maximum building height of 30 feet as specified for a B-1 Local Business District in Article XIII, Section 1300 of the City's Zoning Ordinance, thereby requiring that a variance be granted from such provisions.

The Hearing will be public. Interested property owners or residents of the City are invited to attend.

Woods police may seek warrant

Grosse Pointe Woods Police may seek a warrant against a Farmington Hills man who is suspected of selling the department a stolen traffic radar unit.

Carl Spindler, 31, also is suspected by State Police of selling other stolen radar units to various Detroit-area police departments.

State Police Lt. Douglas Rose said 22 radar units, which are used to catch speeders, were found last week in a rental garage in Farmington Hills. Some records that were also found indicate that Spindler had sold a unit to the Woods police department.

Woods Exec. Lt. Jack Paterson said that a unit formerly owned by the Woods was examined and found to have a serial number indicating that it was taken by Spindler

Housewife sells 'glass plate' for $40; worth $1,800

NILES, Ill. — The story of a small fortune, lost because a housewife had no idea her glass plate was a collector's item, recently came to light.

In a letter to J. R. MacArthur, chairman of the Bradford Exchange, world's largest trading center in collector's plates, a Madison, Wisc., woman wrote: "I had a Lalique 1965 plate . . . which I sold to a friend for $40. I had not heard of you at that time."

The plate she sold is actually valued at more than $1,800. Although MacArthur points out that this price is exceptionally high, he said, "I'm afraid others may be losing hundreds or thousands of dollars by not knowing what their plates are worth."

To aid in identifying valuable plates, the exchange issues a report that includes current prices on more than 900 plates, guidelines on what to look for and when to buy, and the plate evaluation checklist used by the exchange.

To obtain a copy without cost or obligation, just send your name, address, and zip code before Saturday of next week to: The Bradford Exchange, Dept. A39843, 9301 Milwaukee Avenue, Niles, IL 60648. A postcard will do.

No stand from AAUW on the Youth Bureau

To the Editor:

The Grosse Pointe Branch of the American Association of University Women did not endorse the recent meeting organized by Judy Taube concerning another effort to revive the Youth Service Division.

This does not mean that we are opposed to the YSD, but we do have a very strict "use of name" policy whereby an individual member may speak her personal opinion in her own name on a certain issue, but may not speak for the AAUW unless given permission.

I apologize to our members for any unnecessary concern that this issue may have caused.

Sincerely yours,
Phyllis M. Rabbideau,
AAUW President,
Of Touraine Road

and will continue to fight to see it ended.

Exploiting victims, protecting accused

To the Editor:

What kind of a just society is this of which we are a part—a society that protects the accused criminal and exploits the fate of the poor victim?

Our "news" media (in the interest of greater sales supposedly) provides the greatest notoriety to the tragic, untimely death of an elderly, well-loved woman and removes all the dignity of a quiet death she deserved. I, for one, am an angry citizen.

The news has spread the details of poor Elizabeth Keir's death and then insulted us by protecting the alleged criminal and withholding his name. What great influence someone must have to attempt to hide the identity of this young sadist—an identity already known to most of the community.

Rather than providing protection for this youth, we would do a better service to society to spread his name over this area to set an example that these crimes will not be tolerated.

It is inconceivable that we allow better treatment to the accused than to the victim. How far will this society sink into depths of degradation? Will Grosse Pointe go first?

A depressed citizen,
R. Adams,
Of Fisher Road,
Grosse Pointe City

One who will oppose Petitpren

To the Editor:

I have written to the Wayne County Civil Service Commission and expressed my opposition to the appointment of one of its members to a newly created position of Assistant Director of Personnel Services at the Wayne County Road Commission.

In addition, I will not support the renomination of Henry Kozak to the Civil Service Commission, and I have asked the Wayne County Road Commission to terminate the appointment of Joan Petitpren.

Since my service on the Wayne County Board of Commissioners began, I have objected to the misuse and abuse of appointed positions. I will continue to fight against any county elected or appointed officials accepting higher paying, full-time positions within the county.

Further, I am opposing one of our Wayne County Commissioners, Martha Scott, being appointed to fill the position of Joan Petitpren on the Civil Service Commission. We must start now to stop this constant inbreeding that can only do harm to the county.

I welcome any inquiries on this matter of appointments and cronyism

What Goes On at Your Library

By William Peters

Now that the world series is over and election day is close enough for all of us to have made up our minds who to favor with our vote, we can find time to read that book we were always going to get around to reading.

Just in case you don't have a particular book in mind let me suggest a few.

THE TROUBLE WITH NOWADAYS: A CURMUDGEON STRIKES BACK by Cleveland Amory. In the guise of an irascible member of the Fortnightly Club, the author rails against modern times, especially the servant problem, government, women, children, foreign affairs, religious change and sexual liberation. With blustery humor, he tells why and how the world has changed and why it should not have.

RETURN FROM THE RIVER KWAI by Joan and Clay Blair, Jr. The previously untold story of what happened after the British and Australian war prisoners built the famed bridge on the River Kwai. Orders from Japan sent 2,000 of the fittest to the homeland to work in the mines and factories, but only a few hundred survive the horrors of the journey.

FOURTEEN MINUTES: THE LAST VOYAGE OF THE EMPRESS OF IRELAND by James Croall. The author reconstructs the collision in 1914 between the Canadian Pacific ocean liner Empress of Ireland and a Norwegian ship in a fog patch on the Saint Lawrence River below Quebec. In fourteen minutes the Canadian vessel sank, taking more than a thousand passengers and crew down with her.

One of the outstanding novels of 1979 is Thomas Flanagan's YEAR OF THE FRENCH. A band of determined, if not wise, Irishmen rise up in County Mayo against their English rulers in 1789, toward the end of the great age of revolution. Three shiploads of Frenchmen come to the aid of the rebellious Irish, led by a poet, and together they set forth into battle.

SCOTT OF THE ANTARCTIC by Elspeth Huxley is a biography of the heroic British naval officer Robert Falcon Scott who led an expedition to the South Pole in 1911 only to find that the Norwegian adventurer Amundsen had arrived a month before him.

Beset by blizzards, Scott's entire party perished on the way back to base camp.

OUT OF CONTROL by G. Gordon Liddy. The former infamous FBI agent and Watergate conspirator offers a novel of political intrigue set in the world of high finance. In an attempt to expose suspected KGB agent Ballard, the CIA turns to Rick Rand, once of CIA and now a successful financier, who allegedly has connection to Mafia and Chinese Tong crime families.

DOUBLE EAGLE by Charles McCarry is an account of the first transatlantic balloon flight. The voyage was undertaken in 1782 by Ben Abruzzo, Maxie Anderson and Larry Newman three self-made businessmen from Albuquerque, New Mexico. Their landing in a barley field in France to a tumultuous welcome made a dream come true.

While you're still up in the air try Tom Wolfe's book, THE RIGHT STUFF. Wolfe takes an inside view of our early astronauts (Carpenter, Cooper, Glenn, Grissom, Schirra, Shepard, Slayton), strips away the media image of the men and reveals what makes them tick. He also describes the space program, how it functioned in the beginning, and how these seven responded to it.

THE BRETHREN: INSIDE THE SUPREME COURT by Bob Woodward and Scott Armstrong is an unflattering behind-the-scenes look at the U.S. Supreme Court. It discloses the intrigues, jealousies, ill humor, and combat between justices and describes the debates and tactics that produced many of the Court's major rulings between 1969 and 1976.

North seniors win honors

North High School seniors Mark Osler, Paul Sylvester and Rob Zeiger, were cited for outstanding performance in writing by the National Council of Teachers of English which named them winners of the 1980 Achievement Awards in Writing.

Nationwide, English teachers nominated over 7,000 juniors for the NCTE award, a contest which began last January. The North English department submitted the names of the three winners of the school's Write-Off, which this year had 54 students competing.

The judges selected over 850 of the national entries as finalists, naming winners in each state in proportion to the state's population. North was allowed three nominees, and all three students won, capturing three of the 38 awards for Michigan.

The Council recommends the finalists for college scholarships, should they need such assistance. Members of Congress and state officials, as well as the heads of college and university English departments, receive the results of the awards program.

Osler, who lives in the Shores, will pursue a liberal arts degree next year. Sylvester, also a Shores resident, wants to major in English and pre-law. Pre-law, along with political science and journalism, are also the choice of Zeiger, a Woods resident.

The National Council of Teachers of English is a professional organization of individual and institutional members working at all levels of instruction. The group's prestigious Achievement Awards in Writing began publicly honoring high school students of English in 1957.

Principal picture

The age of the median school principal in the U.S. is 46, reports a Christian Science Monitor study. Eighty-two percent are men, 18 percent are women. Nine of 10 are married and fewer than one in 10 are members of minority groups. Master's degrees are held by 96.4 percent. The average salary is $21,500 for an 11-month year.

Know Your Schools

By Superintendent William Coats

My column which appeared in last week's issue of this newspaper briefly explained the Board of Education's action in adopting resolutions opposing several tax proposals on the November ballot. In this week's column, I want to explain in greater detail the Board's reasons for opposing Proposals J, K, L, and M.

If approved by the voters, Proposal J will establish separate tax limits for Wayne County, and school districts and townships therein, by increasing the tax limit from 15 mills to a maximum of 18 mills for an indefinite period or until altered by the voters.

Proposal K authorizes one-half mill levy for five years for the operation of Wayne County General Hospital. Proposal L authorizes one-half mill for five years for mental health care services to county residents, and Proposal M authorizes one-half mill for five years for operating costs of the county offices of the Sheriff and Prosecuting Attorney.

If all of these proposals pass, county taxes will increase by 4.5 mills. Of that amount, the School System will receive only 1.7 mills with the remainder of 2.8 mills going to the other governmental units and agencies noted above.

The 1.7 mill increase for our public schools which will come if Proposal J is passed will generate revenue that isn't needed at this time and would undoubtedly result in an additional voluntary rollback of millage by the Board.

Unlike some other school districts in Wayne County which may not be in nearly as good a financial condition as we are, we do not advocate passage of Proposal J.

As noted, the other three proposals—K, L, and M—are not designed to raise monies for schools, but their passage would have a def-nite impact on the financing of public education in Wayne County. This is because of the constitutionally imposed 50 mill ceiling on the aggregate amount of taxes which can be levied for operations by local units of government.

If the proposed increases in taxes are approved, the 50 mill limit will be exceeded, and the question is raised as to which unit (township, school, or county) would be required to reduce its tax rate to stay within the overall 50 mill limit.

Furthermore, passage of Proposals J, K, L, and M would eliminate any possibility of the Board of Education seeking additional millage on the local level for Grosse Pointe programs and services at least for five years and possibly for longer depending upon what other proposals may be passed before 1985 when Proposals K, L, and M would expire.

The Board of Education has not taken a position on the merits of Proposals K, L, and M, nor will it do so. The funds generated by those millage increases may be necessary, but the point is that passage of K, L, and M would severely restrict our options at the local level to the point where the Board feels compelled to oppose their passage.

Local units in Wayne County already have the highest average tax rate among the 83 counties in Michigan. The present average in the county is 26 percent higher than the statewide average.

The Grosse Pointe Board of Education simply cannot justify supporting these four proposals to raise taxes even higher and in so doing create confusion and limit local options because of the 50 mill limitation. Therefore, the Board encourages all voters in this district to vote NO on J, K, L, and M.

Free concert features P&J's theater organ

Motor City Theater Organ Society will present Stan Zimmerman at the console of the two-manual, six-rank Wurlitzer Organ at the Punch and Judy Theater, 21 Kercheval, Sunday, Nov. 2, at 2 p.m.

The concert is another in a series of free mini-concerts given on the first Sunday of each month.

A native of Moline, Ill., Zimmerman's association with the organ dates back to his early teens. He colors each appearance with music and commentary based upon his years of travels and experiences in the world of organ. These include radio broadcasts, major league hockey games, foreign travel and performance, organ marketing, and organ repair and restoration. In addition, he has authored a book on organ stops for home users, published by Belwin.

Zimmerman has performed for many movies at the Redford Theater and has conducted workshops on the theater's organ.

Motor City Theater Organ Society, is a nonprofit corporation, is a group of more than 400 area residents who work to preserve and restore the theater pipe organ in its original setting.

The Society purchased the Redford Theater in order to preserve the Barton three-manual, 10-rank theater pipe organ permanently in its original setting and to provide a home for the society.

Americans walk more
That the average American walks 70,000 miles in a lifetime (as recently reported) is old stuff, claim researchers at the Pennsylvania College of Podiatric Medicine. "In recent years," the study found, "people in the United States have been walking more. The average total now is about 115,000 miles in a lifetime."

Not the time for change

Nothing has happened in the general election campaign to change the opinion expressed in this newspaper just prior to the August primary that Rep. William R. Bryant, Jr. deserves to be returned to the state Legislature by voters in the 13th District.

Bryant easily won renomination over Pat Higgins, a supporter of the Tisch amendment, and will face a Democrat, Bernard J. Simbole of Harper Woods in the Nov. 4 election. While on a realistic basis it is doubtful that Simbole poses much of a threat to Bryant, there is always the possibility of an upset in a presidential election year when the voter turnout tends to be greater than in off-presidential-election years.

But it would be a distinct loss to the Pointes, to the Republican Party and to the Legislature if Bryant were defeated. He is the respected leader of the House Republicans. He has been concerned about issues that especially affect the Pointes. And he has helped work out reasonable solutions to statewide problems that occupy so much of the Legislature's time.

BILL BRYANT IS NOT your average stand-pat Republican. Criticized by Simbole for endorsing legislation to reduce the penalty for use of marijuana, Bryant replies that he believes most parents in the Grosse Pointes don't want to see their kids sent to the Wayne County Youth Home if they're picked up by police for using marijuana.

In response to Simbole's criticism of his vote to support the $800,000 annual subsidy to the Pontiac Silverdome, Bryant points to the fact that the state's commitment was made when Detroit was trying to build an Olympic Stadium and that the commitment was honored when Pontiac, and not Detroit, met the legal requirements for state aid in building its stadium. Bryant emphasizes that now that the Lions are winning, attracting big crowds to the Silverdome and making money, he no longer sees the need for continued aid and is ready to say no to continued funding.

Bryant sees the Tisch amendment as a threat to the adequate funding not only of state services but many local programs as well. And he has come out in favor of the proposed amendment reducing the legal drinking age in Michigan to 19. Both of these measures are highly controversial but Bryant feels strongly about both of them and makes no secret of his opinions.

While the Republicans still are the minority in the House, Bryant's position as the GOP leader gives him more clout in Lansing than the average legislator can wield. And his seniority and experience mean that his constituents get better service from their legislator in this district than any newcomer could possibly provide.

Thus he supported and helped work out language for the legislation authorizing the Wayne County reorganization plan which was endorsed by voters in the primary. He sought enactment of legislation to set up a single district judgeship for the Pointes, although the plan was scuttled by last-minute delays. He championed fair treatment for Cottage Hospital which faces a bed reduction threat.

On these and other issues, he is truly a state representative of the Pointes in Lansing. His experience, his record and his concern for problems that affect people strongly recommend his election to his sixth term.

Simbole, a 29-year-old political newcomer, is an assistant prosecuting attorney in Wayne County who is challenging Bryant with help from the UAW, the AFL-CIO, the Michigan Maritime Trades Council and Right to Life of Michigan. His major appeal appears to be that the Pointes should elect a Democrat so that their needs will get more attention from the Democrats who have controlled both houses of the legislatures.

WITH BILL BRYANT as the state representative and Bill Milliken as governor, however, the Pointes feel, in this newspaper's opinion, that they are being well served in Lansing and that this is not the time for change in the 13th District.

A 'no-win' fix in the Park

Nobody likes to be "bumped," whether it's a result of seniority enforced against your job, being bumped out of your place in line at a supermarket checkout counter or losing some other prerogative that you think you have earned.

So it was not surprising that the people docking their boats in some of the boat wells in Grosse Pointe Park rose up to resist and force the council to reverse the 20-year-old rule that would have "bumped" them out of their wells.

The problem has been and still is that the Park's 270 boat wells on Lake St. Clair simply do not meet the demand. As a result, the council years ago approved a provision making anyone on the boat well waiting list for two years or more eligible to get a permit for a well. Enforcement of that rule, which the administration had recently ordered, would have meant that some people who had been docking their boats in Park wells for years would have been "bumped" out and replaced by some of those on the waiting list.

At present there are 30 applicants on the waiting list. Three are eligible for 28-foot wells, 22 for 35-foot wells, three for 45-foot wells and two for 55-foot wells. Under the old rule, some people now docking their boats in wells of those sizes would have been "bumped."

FACED WITH THIS problem, the Grosse Pointe Park council decided to preserve the status quo by revoking the bumping regulation. That means people on the waiting list will simply have to wait their turn and hope that some current boater decides to give up the sport, retire or move away and thus make his well available.

Some people pointed out that it was hardly fair to change the rules in the middle of the game and that people who had signed on the waiting list had been told they would win a well after two years at the most. Yet that argument didn't sit too well with the boaters in the wells and so they sought and succeeded in persuading the council to revise the rule.

For the Grosse Pointe Park council and its administrators this was a "no-win" situation. They were going to be damned if they enforced the "bumping" rule and damned if they changed it. Perhaps what convinced them in the end to revoke the rule was the fact that while there were 30 names on the waiting list, there were 270 others in the wells. In other words, the majority ruled.

A few years ago, when "bumping" appeared to be imminent, the council met the problem by finding the space and money to build some new boat wells. But City Manager John Crawford says that option is no longer open, which means Park residents will have to make do.

Well, this obviously is no big deal. So why write an editorial about it? Well, if we must explain it's because it's a prime example of the kind of perplexing if not exactly world-shaking issue that has to be faced by council members and administrators who, even if they possessed the wisdom of Solomon, can not make decisions that satisfy everyone.

Kessler rates state honor

Grosse Pointe architect William Kessler and Associates received an honor award from the Michigan Society of Architects on Friday, Oct. 17, at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn. The honor awards are presented each year by the MSA for "excellence in design."

A resolution commemorating the 25th anniversary of the architectural firm was presented by State Senator Jack Faxon.

Large, yellow chrysanthemum plants will line the fashion runway in the ballroom of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club next Thursday when the Detroit Review Club holds its annual benefit party. The fall color scheme will be carried out, too, on the tables, which will be covered with yellow cloths and centered with splits of champagne circled with green, orange and red leaves. A lucky lady at each table will take home her luncheon group's champagne split.

The colorful autumn decor has been planned by Mrs. Robert Keegen, of Wicks Lane, immediate past-president of the DRC. General chairman of the party is Mrs. Harry Graham. Co-chairman is Mrs. A. Edmund Allan.

Official hostess will be Mrs. James Mullaney, DRC's current president, and Mrs. Joseph Spitzley is sponsoring the group at the G.P.Y.C.

The benefit begins at 11:30 a.m., with cocktails. Luncheon will be served at noon. Maria Dinon will commentate on fashions from her shop.

MR. and MRS. IRA J. LUBESKI, of Ridgmont Road, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Oct. 28. A reception is planned by the Lubeskis' four sons, TOM, of Utica, JERRY of Florida, GEORGE of Sterling Heights, and KENNETH. The Lubeskis have nine grandchildren.

Named to the Dean's List for the spring semester at Saint Mary's College, Notre Dame, Ind., were juniors SHEILA M. BRAUN, daughter of MR. and MRS. EDWIN F. BRAUN, of the Woods, ROSELIE A. BELLANCA, daughter of MR. and MRS. PETER J. BELLANCA, of the Park, and CELIA ANNE BOYLE, daughter of MR. and MRS. VINCENT T. BOYLE, of the Farms.

Recipients of 1980-81 Detroit Community Music School scholarships include JOHN DUNN, of University Place, and KELLY LEON, of Ridgmont Road. Both won violin scholarships and are students of DR. ROBERT OPPELT.

Earning second semester academic distinction on the Dean's List at DePauw University was THOMAS L. ROUSSEAU, son of MR. and MRS. CHARLES ROUSSEAU, former Pointers who now reside in Alpena. Rousseau is a junior at DePauw and majors in communications.

MARK S. LOEHR, son of WALTER LOEHR, of Greenbriar Lane, received an A.A.S. degree in Engineering Technologies from Rochester Institute of Technology through the National Technical Institute for the Deaf. Loehr is a graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School.

Their concert lineup is stellar this season, so members of Pro Musica's New Member Committee who met recently at the Farms home of their chairman, MRS. MANUEL L. PAPISTA (standing, left) to plan their 1980-81 campaign are delighted with what they have to offer this year's subscribers. The committee encompasses members from 10 areas of metropolitan Detroit, including Pointers ALEXANDER SUCZEK (standing, center), president of Pro Musica, MRS. EUGENE IGNASIAK (standing, right), MRS. STERLING SANFORD and MR. and MRS. JAMES DIAMOND (seated, left to right), who serve as liaison between Pro Musica and people in their communities. Anyone interested in society memberships and attendance at Pro Musica programs may contact the committee for further information. Grosse Pointe's area representative is Mrs. Philip Dexter; she may be reached at 779-4099.

Besides those pictured at right, the membership committee includes Pointers Mrs. Edward Baumann, Mrs. Lynn Dewey and Mrs. Marion C. Skillman, Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, of Harper Woods, Miss Eather Peters, of Detroit, and George Robb, of Winster. Ont They note that purchase of a Pro Musica membership for $25 entitles one to admission to three concerts and the social hour following each concert, as well as a voice in the activities of the organization, and that further information may be obtained by calling 885-0793.

The 1980-81 season features Cho Liang Lin, an internationally acclaimed violin prodigy, on Nov. 7; the Kalichstein-Laredo-Robinson trio of accomplished virtuoso performers on Feb. 20; and Metropolitan Opera coloratura soprano Ruth Welting April 10.

All programs are on Fridays, at 8:30 p.m., in the Recital Hall of the Detroit Institute of Arts, and each is followed by a social hour in the museum's Romanesque Hall, where members and artists get acquainted.

Cho Liang Lin, who opens the season, was born in Taiwan. He won his first competition at the age of 10 and has gone on to an illustrious series of competition awards and solo appearances. He won first prize in the First Quadrennial Queen Sofia International Competition in Madrid, as well as the violin competition at the 1977 Aspen Music Festival.

Lin was a soloist at President Carter's Inauguration Day concert and soloist for two successive years with the New York String Orchestra at Carnegie Hall and Kennedy Center. He has appeared with major orchestras in the United States and Europe.

The Kalichstein-Laredo-Robinson trio is comprised of three renowned artists who are established solo performers. Together, they perform the great literature for piano trio. Their all-Brahms program at the Library of Congress was praised by the Washington Post "as near perfection as one is ever likely to encounter."

Joseph Kalichstein, who studied at the Juilliard School, subsequently was invited by Leonard Bernstein to solo on television with the New York Philharmonic. He won first prize in the Leventritt International Piano Competition in 1969. Since then, he has performed with most of the world's great conductors and has appeared at such prestigious summer festivals as New York's Mostly Mozart, Salzburg, London's Prom and South Bank and the Edinburgh festivals.

Multi-talented Jaime Laredo is a distinguished violinist who regularly appears with major orchestras in the United States and abroad, and has been a principal figure at the Marlboro Music Festival for many years. He founded and serves as artistic director of New York's "Chamber Music at the Y Series."

on the viola and appears as soloist on this instrument. Another talent is directing orchestras, such as the Scottish Chamber Orchestra and the Mostly Mozart Festival Orchestra. He has many recordings to his credit; his latest release is the complete Bach violin sonatas with Glenn Gould.

Sharon Robinson, regarded as one of the most brilliant cellists performing today, has played in recitals and appeared with orchestras in many cities, among them New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, San Francisco, Houston, Pittsburgh, Baltimore and New Orleans. The Leventritt Foundation has sponsored concert tours for Miss Robinson.

She is well known for performances in chamber music concerts and has appeared at the Marlboro Festival with such artists as Rudolph Serkin and Alexander Schneider, in addition to performing regularly with other celebrated musicians, including Firkusny, Zukerman and the Guarneri Quartet. She has recorded for Columbia Records and the BBC.

Ruth Welting made her Metropolitan Opera debut in 1975-76 in the role of Zerbinetta in "Ariadne auf Naxos," which was broadcast on the Texaco Metropolitan Opera network. Her other Met roles include Sophie in "Der Rosenkavalier."

Cottage classes to consider pre-natal nutrition

A series of classes designed to give expectant parents some basic information about nutrition and childbirth options during early pregnancy will be held at Cottage Hospital in Grosse Pointe and Mount Clemens General Hospital beginning tomorrow, Friday, Oct. 24.

The Early Pregnancy classes are a pilot project sponsored by Childbirth Information Service Inc. (CIS), a non-profit volunteer group which provides childbirth preparation classes to expectant parents in east suburban Detroit.

Like several other area childbirth preparation groups, CIS already offers nutritional information in its regular series of Lamaze classes, which are generally taken while the expectant mother is in the eighth month of pregnancy.

But that's much too late in the pregnancy to learn about nutrition, according to Marilyn Getchell, one of several instructors for the Early Pregnancy series.

"Eating nutritionally sound meals is essential from the very beginning of pregnancy since the baby's organ systems are forming during the first eight weeks after conception," explains Dr. Getchell, a research assistant at Wayne State University's Medical School, Department of Anatomy.

"Failure to eat well during this time can lead to low birth weight babies — a condition which has been associated with a great many medical problems."

In addition to the nutrition class, the Early Pregnancy series will include a class on Family Centered Maternity Care, which will feature a showing of the film "Nan's Class" and a discussion of prepared childbirth, bonding and other options available during childbirth.

The nutrition classes will be held Nov. 21, Dec. 12 and Jan. 9 at Cottage Hospital, Oct. 24 and Dec. 19 at Mount Clemens General Hospital.

The Family Centered Maternity Care classes will be held Nov. 7, Dec. 5, Jan. 2 and Feb. 6 at Cottage Hospital, Nov. 14 and Jan. 9 at Mount Clemens General Hospital.

All classes start at 7:30 p.m. and continue for about two-and-one-half hours. The fee is $3 per class per couple. To register or obtain more information, call Cheryl Brennan at 886-1620.

Eleanor McFeely married in Boston

John Fazio's vacation in the Virgin Islands, at Caneel Bay, following their marriage in early October

A reception aboard the S.S. Martha Washington in Boston Harbor followed the wedding of Eleanor Katherine McFeely and John Fazio Saturday, October 4, in Boston's Church of the Covenant.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. McFeely Jr., of Moross Road. Mr. Fazio is the son of James E. Fazio, of Boston.

The newlyweds vacationed in the Virgin Islands, at Caneel Bay, and have returned to Boston to make their home.

The former Miss McFeely chose a gown of dotted Swiss, high-necked, long sleeved and featuring a short train, for her 5 o'clock marriage. Her French illusion veil was caught by stephanotis.

Large, white butterfly orchids, baby's-breath and white roses formed her round bouquet.

She was attended by Carol Porter, in a green and white dress of heavy cotton featuring a small, old-fashioned print, ballerina length and high-necked.

The colors in her round bouquet were greens, deep pinks and white.

The bridegroom asked Jack Lynch to act as best man.

Mrs. McFeely chose a short dress of deep turquoise silk, with a matching coat in basketweave wool, for her daughter's wedding. She pinned small, white orchids to her purse.

Set Bridal Fair program Oct. 26

The Michigan State Fairgrounds Community Arts Department will present its first Fall Bridal Fair, featuring a fashion show by Chudik's of Birmingham plus wedding-related exhibits and demonstrations (make-up, flowers, photography, dress accessories, wedding cakes and catering information) Sunday, Oct. 26, from 2 to 6 p.m. at the fairgrounds, where tickets are available at $1 per person. Additional information may be obtained by contacting Leona Dudzinski at 368-1000.

DKG president to speak Oct 27

Katherine Walker, state president of Delta Kappa Gamma International, an honorary teachers' fraternity, will address members of the society's Alpha Mu Chapter on Monday, Oct. 27, at Pierce Middle School. The meeting will follow a chicken potluck supper at 5:30 p.m. Ms. Walker's topic is "A Future Challenge."

Members are asked to bring hard cover books to be sent to Szechuan Teachers College, Peoples Republic of China. English dictionaries, reference books, science books, fiction and non-fiction books which depict the American way of life are the most requested.

Legislative chairman Alfreda Frost and Professional Affairs chairman Jane Colsher are in charge of the program. World Fellowship Committee co-chairmen Virginia Downs and Warren Rhodes will manage the potluck dinner.

ANDREW JENS, of Balfour Road, received a Bachelors degree in Industrial Engineering from the University of Wisconsin-Madison this spring.

Tim Garveys visit Pointe in October

The Paul Garveys, of Lexington Road, hosted a gathering at the Eastpointe Racquet Club the first Saturday in October to honor their son and new daughter-in-law, Tim and Megan Garvey, who were married in mid-July in Bellevue, Wash.

Megan is the daughter of the Patrick Lallys, of Bellevue, and a graduate of Washington State University. Tim is a graduate of the University of Michigan School of Natural Resources. Both are employed by the United States Forest Service.

Their present location is Lakeside, Ariz., but they have asked for, and received, a transfer to Alaska. They will live in Hoonah, in the Sitka Region, where Megan will work as a wildlife biologist, inventorying timber sales and their effect on wildlife habitat, and Tim, as a silviculturist, will work to keep trees in their best growing condition.

The trees grow large where Tim and Megan are going: four to five feet in diameter and 200 feet tall. Field travel is by boat, float boat and helicopter. Work teams of two or three are required, and at least one team member must carry a gun. Brown bears (grizzlies) are part of the scene.

At the party, Megan, as the newest member of the Garvey clan, had the formidable task of meeting and getting to know Tim's nine brothers and sisters, their husbands/wives and 22 nieces and nephews.

Nine Garvey family members attended the wedding in Washington. They promised then that all would wear name tags at the Michigan reception—and they did. It was, by and large, a family affair, but Tim's boyhood friends (he grew up on Kensington Road in The Park), and friends from the University of Michigan also attended. A special surprise guest was Dowell Howard III, a U. of M. friend presently living in Krailsheim, West Germany.

The trip to Washington for the wedding was a particularly memorable one for the Michigan contingent, for they were on hand for the July 22 eruption of Mount St. Helens. It was an awe-some sight, even viewed from 100 miles away. Incidentally: Tim's and Megan's mothers are both named Helen.

Mrs. Welcembach is in charge of arrangements for the bridge which follows the fashion show. Mrs. Gerisch is music coordinator for the fashion presentation.

Mrs. Frederic Beddow and Mrs. Ansel Rice head the ticket committee, and the prizes committee includes Mrs. Justin Emory, Mrs. Alayne Litchfield, Mrs. C. P. Cantine and Mrs. Howard Price.

Telephone committee chairman is Violet Wood. Publicity chairman is Mrs. Aaron E. Wilcox. Special prizes are beautiful money trees, designed and made by Mrs. Francis Quigley and Mrs. Fred Gies. Assisting Miss Marion Hopson, in charge of raffle sales, are Mrs. Marvin Beaupre, Mrs. Frank Kennedy, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Frank Scott Perkin and Mrs. Hugh Purdy.

Next Thursday's benefit continues a tradition begun by the Detroit Review Club before the turn of the century. DRC, founded in 1891, will celebrate its 89th birthday in late November.

In 1894, DRC became a charter member of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. In 1895, it became a charter member of the Detroit and the Michigan Federation of Women's Clubs.

Also in 1895, DRC members organized an active philanthropic committee. The club has held annual benefit parties ever since; funds raised via these parties continue DRC's tradition of assistance to many charities.

Current chairman of the philanthropic committee is Miss Wanda Lee. Mrs. Graham and Mrs. Allan head the club's ways and means committee, which sponsors the annual benefit parties.

A personal tradition

Practical cards
is what should be given— Useful and plain-like an' fittin' to save:
So here's birthday greetings on this paper sack,
When mine's due you fill it and send it on back.

Fifteen years ago, the Brown Birthday Bag made its first trip down North Oxford Road, between the homes of Marie (Mrs. A. J.) Christie and Tish (Mrs. David) White. It brought birthday greetings, and a little gift. From one neighbor to another.

And the lady who received it first—it's hard to remember now whether that was Tish or Marie—did just what the Cat on the Bag told her to do: saved it, and, when her friend's birthday rolled around, filled it and sent it back.

Fifteen years later, that Brown Birthday Bag is still making the trip up and down North Oxford Road. Marie found it tied to her doorknob in September, as she knew she would. Tish is equally sure that come December, and her birthday, the bag will appear, tied to her doorknob with a red ribbon. The red ribbon is part of the tradition.

So is searching for a little something to put in the bag wherever the ladies travel. Over the years, it's carried ginger from Hawaii, a ring from Greece, little somethings that mean "when I was here, I thought of you."

It's still the original bag, lovingly folded and put away until the next birthday by each recipient. It's still the original friendship.
Isn't this a nice story?

Spanning the centuries

A tradition that spans the centuries is that of the Colonial Dames of the Seventeenth Century, a national organization, formed in 1915, to commemorate the deeds of America's Colonial patriots, to preserve historic records and sites, and to aid in the education of America's youth.

Membership is open to women who can trace and document their lineage to 17th century Colonial times. Michigan has only one chapter, Elizabeth Patch, but it's a very dedicated, very active one.

Next Wednesday, Oct. 29, after a box luncheon, Elizabeth Patch members will enjoy a conducted tour of Pontiac's Wisner House, Greek Revival in style, built in 1845: the home of Moses Wisner, who was Michigan's governor from 1859 to 1860.

Among Colonial Dames coming from all over the state for this special event are Pointers Mrs. George Ryckman, Mrs. Robert Palmer, Mrs. Cyrus Weatherby, Mrs. Dennis J. Mountford, Mrs. Genevieve Smiley and Mrs. Howard Reed.

Hold Bayer-Leone rites at Academy

Qiana gown with appliqued lace bodice matching her veil is bride's choice for summer ceremony

The wedding of Joan Constance Craig Leone and Charles Marschmer Bayer Jr. Friday evening, August 15, in the Grosse Pointe Academy Chapel was followed by a reception at the Detroit Boat Club.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Gerard Leone, of Mapleton Road, chose a cap-sleeved gown of Qiana, styled with an appliqued lace bodice matching the lace of her fingertip veil, for the 6:30 o'clock ceremony.

She carried a bouquet of white Sweetheart roses, stephanotis and ivy.

She was attended by her sister, Alicia Mary-Major Leone, as honor maid, and three bridesmaids, Melinda Marion Leone and Cynthia Leone Pickford, two other sisters, and Katherine Elizabeth Bayer, sister of the bridegroom.

Each wore a dress, fashioned with a matching chiffon bodice overlay, in a different shade of blue Qiana, and carried a basket filled with white Sweetheart roses, baby's-breath and miniature carnations.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Bayer, of Grosse Pointe Boulevard, asked John Robert Ternes to act as best man.

Keith Robert Newell, Kevin John Lane and Anthony Mark Palombi seated the guests.

The newlyweds vacationed on Bermuda and are at home in Cambridge, Mass.

Among degree recipients at commencement ceremonies at Saginaw Valley State College were REBECCA A. MATRANGA, of Kenwood Court, Master of Arts in Teaching, JUDITH W. BUCHANAN, of Bedford Road, Master of Arts in Teaching, and MICHELE A. NERONE, of Roslyn Road, Master of Arts in Teaching.

The Charles Bayers Jr.

JOAN CONSTANCE CRAIG LEONE and Mr. Bayer were married Friday evening, August 15, in the Grosse Pointe Academy Chapel. Their parents are the A. Gerard Leones, of Mapleton Road, and the Charles M. Bayers, of Grosse Pointe Boulevard.

Carve a Christmas gift

You can learn to carve a canvasback duck decoy (three-quarters actual size) in a six-week course, designed for beginners, that opens Saturday, Oct. 25, with a 9 a.m. to noon class at The Art Center in Mount Clemens.

Instructor Tony Krolkow-ski will have kits available, but participants should bring carving tools, including a good carving knife—and a few Band-aids—to the first meeting.

Fee is $30 for Art Center members, $35 for non-members, plus supplies. Further information may be obtained by calling 469-8866.

Owens-Goss rites read on August 2

Bride's sister is honor maid, bridegroom's two sisters serve as bridesmaids at midsummer ceremony in Ohio

At home in Fairfield, O., a suburb of Cincinnati, are Mr. and Mrs. Martin Francis Owens III who vacationed in Nova Scotia, Canada, following their wedding Saturday, August 2, in the Sesqui-centennial Chapel of Miami University, Oxford, O.

Mrs. Owens is the former Margaret Elizabeth Goss, daughter of Mrs. Edgar L. Goelz, of Clearwater, Fla., and Richard H. Goss, of Winnetka, Ill. Mr. Owens is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Francis Owens Jr., of Blairmoor Court.

The 6:30 o'clock ceremony at which The Reverend Robert K. Foster presided was followed by a reception at The Banker's Club, Cincinnati.

The former Miss Goss chose a gown of slipper satin applied with Alencon and Venice lace, high-necked and featuring an Alencon lace-appliqued, chapel length train, for her evening wedding.

Her long sleeves were fashioned of illusion and Venice lace. Her cathedral length veil was bordered with Alencon lace. She carried a cascade of orchids, white roses and stephanotis, with ivy streamers.

In long dresses of ecru and apricot Qiana, their halter-style bodices covered with apricot, cocoon jackets, were Emily Charlotte Goss, who came from Clearwater to serve as her sister's honor attendant, and bridesmaids Lawrie Owens Horst, of Atlanta, Ga., and Shelley Jo Owens, sisters of the bride-groom. They carried arrangements of Faberge roses, white carnations and ivy streamers. Douglas George Horst came from Atlanta to act as his brother-in-law's best man. Ushers were Eric Goss, of Clearwater, the bride's brother, and Thomas C. Fischer, of Warren. The mother of the bride wore a sleeveless sheath of beige chiffon with a low, scooped neck and an attached overlay of chiffon. She pinned a corsage of Sonja roses and baby's-breath to her purse. The bridegroom's mother selected a long gown of pleated, apricot chiffon, and a shoulder corsage of white roses and baby's-breath.

Ticker Club dance is from the heart

The Ticker Club was formed Nov. 3, 1978, as a non-profit group to support the Cardiology Services of Children's Hospital of Michigan. Many of its members are parents of children like David Hellstern—who have suffered from heart defects and have been treated at Children's.

The group has already purchased a $4,000 infant operating room table for the hospital. The Ice Cream Social that David, Elizabeth and their friends enjoyed was sponsored by the Ticker Club in late June to entertain youngsters who were previous cardiac patients.

And on Saturday, Nov. 1, the Ticker Club will hold a dinner-dance at the Troy Hilton. The evening begins with cocktails at 7 p.m. The Dan Yessian Arrangement will play for dancing. Local personalities Marc Avery, Colleen Burcar, Ron Ciemmer, Mickey Lolich, Byron and JoJo Mac Gregor and Joe Weaver are expected to attend.

Tickets are $25 per person and may be obtained from North Region branches of Manufacturers Bank, Ticker Club members or by calling Children's Hospital at 494-5373, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monies raised will be used to purchase a $18,000 mobile cardiac monitor for Children's. The device allows young, bedridden heart patients to get up for short periods of exercise or play.

"We, have an outstanding evening planned — a good menu and good music for dancing," says Lois Hellstern, David and Elizabeth's mother and a Ticker Club member.

"I know people will have a good time . . . made all the better because they will know they're supporting a good cause," Lois adds. ". . . I know it will mean a whole lot to these youngsters with heart problems whose whole world is often confined to the bed they are lying in."

Trowel-Error Club to meet

Members of the Trowel and Error Garden Club meet at 12:30 p.m. today, Thursday, Oct. 23, in the Hampton Road home of Mrs. Burlie Arnold who will be assisted by co-hostess Mrs. Gideon Du Rocher, for a basic skills demonstration presented by Mrs. Alexander Gill and Mrs. Alfred Goolsby.

CCS open house set for Oct. 26

A chance to see student artists and designers putting their creative energies to work is available this weekend at the annual Open House at the Center for Creative Studies (CCS).

The annual Open House at CCS, Detroit's unique art college, will be held this Sunday, Oct. 26, from 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. CCS is located at 245 East Kirby in Detroit's University-Cultural Center. There is no admission charge and free parking is available on campus. Call 872-3118 for further information.

Peek into the classrooms and observe students working on actual assignments and projects — painting from a model, rendering in air brush, fabricating metal objects and much more. Or, become fascinated by the demonstrations in glassblowing, ceramics and printmaking.

Browse at the exhibitions on display throughout the buildings — advertising design, art direction, ceramics, fabric design, glass, illustration, industrial design, metal and jewelry, painting, photography, printmaking and sculpture.

Visitors can meet the CCS faculty, all practicing professional artists and see 32 paintings by Sarkis Sarkisian, the man who was known as the dean of Detroit painters. Sarkis was former director of the Detroit Society of Arts and Crafts (now CSS) and this show officially opens the galleries which carry his namesake, the Sarkis Galleries.

DSO conductor Fellow is Gross

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra has announced that Murray Gross has been selected by Maestro Antal Dorati as DSO Conductor Fellow for 1980-81 and will attend all rehearsals and concerts of the DSO to assist as directed by Maestro Dorati, as well as conducting some children's concerts during the season.

Under the 1979 guidelines established for this program, designed to provide exposure to talent which merits assistance as well as to be of practical use to the orchestra, Gross will serve the DSO for one season only.

The fellowships are granted for musical merit or promise, without regard to race, creed or nationality. The first conductor named under this plan, Martin Fischer-Dieskau, worked with the orchestra during the 1978-79 season. Last season's Conductor Fellow was Michael Krzewski.

Gross, born Nov. 8, 1955, in Buffalo, N.Y., attended the Interlochen Arts Academy where he studied conducting with Byron Hanson and Thor Johnson. He entered the New England Conservatory of Music in 1973, studying piano and composition there and, concurrently, teaching music theory and clarinet at the Lighthouse Music and Arts Camp until 1975, when he entered Oberlin Conservatory.

He holds Master of Music in conducting and Bachelor of Music in composition degrees from Oberlin. He also studied with Charles Bruck at the Pierre Monteux Domaine School for young conductors and attended a workshop, sponsored by the Buffalo Philharmonic, with Michael Tilson Thomas.

He worked two summers as a coach for the Vermont State Opera and Vocal Workshop and studied with Efrain Guigui, conductor of the Vermont Symphony Orchestra.

Gross received a Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst grant in 1978, enabling him to work with Cornelius Eberhardt and Hermann Michael at the Hochschule for Musik in Munich.

His work in opera includes three years' study with Robert Baustian, resident conductor of the Santa Fe Opera; as a composer, he has received a Broadcast Music Award, awards from the Ohio and National Federation of Music Clubs and a fellowship to the Vermont Composer's Conference. One of his compositions, a ballet entitled "Bovary," was choreographed and performed by members of the Martha Graham Company.

TRAVELWORLD

By DICK D'ANDREA

MEXICO — A NEW UNITED DESTINATION

Effective November 30, 1980, United Airlines begins scheduled service from Detroit via Chicago to Cancun, Cozumel and Merida, Mexico.

Low individual rates are being offered starting from $242 per person. Cancun and Cozumel offer great snorkeling adventures with great climate to match.

The majestic Mayan temples at Chichen Itza and Tulum provide the perfect backdrop for these two beautiful resorts. Cozumel, discovered by vacationers in the fifties, is an island in transition. It has a quaint friendliness combined with a modern liveliness. Cancun, first developed in 1975, has fast become an internationally acclaimed resort.

To get further details on these destinations, contact Travelworld at 21127 Mack Avenue, Grosse Pointe Woods (North of Vernier) 882-8190.

Garden Club Council meets

The Grosse Pointe Garden Club Council will meet next Tuesday, Oct. 28, at 9:30 a.m. in the Grosse Pointe Main Library, Kercheval Avenue at Fisher Road. Representatives and presidents of the 17 Grosse Pointe garden clubs are urged to attend.

Kolping Center to host autumn-fest card party

Reservations for an autumn-fest card party Sunday, Nov. 2, at 3 p.m. at Kolping Center on East Jefferson Avenue in St. Clair Shores, are being taken by Lynne Rheker, 757-1251, and Marilyn Lajun, 294-5982. Prizes and luncheon will be featured. Donation is $3 per person.

Engaged

May wedding plans are being made by MARY KATHRYN HUETTEMAN and Chad H. Stone whose engagement has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Huetteman, of Sunningdale Drive.

The bride-elect, a Grosse Pointe North High School alumna, will graduate in May from the University of Michigan with a Bachelor of Arts degree in mathematics. She is president of Pi Beta Phi sorority and a member of Phi Beta Kappa honorary society.

Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Stone, of Fairholme Road, is a graduate of Austin High School and received his Bachelor of Business Administration degree in accounting from the University of Michigan's School of Business Administration.

He is employed by Masco Corporation as an internal auditor.

Chrysanthemum tea time

The State Society, Daughters of the British Empire in Michigan, is preparing for one of its favorite social functions: the Chrysanthemum Tea.

It's an annual gathering and will be held tomorrow, Friday, Oct. 24, from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe home of Canadian Consul and Senior Trade Commissioner T. Frank Harris and Mrs. Harris.

Receiving members and guests with Mrs. Harris, honorary president of the State Society, will be Mrs. Richard L. Best, state president of the Daughters of the British Empire in Michigan. An honored guest will be Mrs. Russell H. Skitch, M.B.E., immediate past-president of the National Society, Daughters of the British Empire in the United States.

Also attending will be Mrs. William Kooniz and Mrs. John Burtwell, past first vice-president and past corresponding secretary, respectively, of the National Society.

Arrangements for the tea have been planned by Mrs. Henry Heatley, state recording secretary, and Mrs. J. Lawrence Cain, first vice-president.

Grosse Pointe DBE chapter regents and members assisting will include Mrs. Arthur B. Hillegas, former state president, Mrs. James Rose, Mrs. Lawrence R. Crane, Mrs. Arthur S. Drummond, Mrs. G. Dann Linsdeau, Mrs. Grant J. Weitzel, Mrs. E. W. Wells, Mrs. Brandon M. Rodgers and Kenneth Bratt.

Others among those planning to attend are the Mesdames Andrew MacGowan, John A. Reno, Robert D. Hodgson, Kermit Alexander, L. G. Van Tuyl, Beverly H. French and Mrs. William N. Appleyard, another past state president.

The party is open all DBE members and friends, who may call 885-5309 or 882-4820 for further information.

The DBE supports local philanthropies, works to promote closer relations between English speaking people and supports a home for retired men and women.

To marry

May wedding plans are being made by KYLE ELIZABETH MAROWSKA and Joseph A. Clor whose engagement has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marowske, of Canterbury Road.

The bride-elect and her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clor, of Huntington Boulevard, are both Grosse Pointe North High School graduates.

Miss Marowske received her Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration from Valparaiso University, where she was a member of Christ College, Valparaiso's honors college, and affiliated with Gamma Phi sorority. She is a travel agent with Kearney Travel Service.

Her fiance received his Bachelor of Science degree in Education from Central Michigan University. He is a member of the Michigan High School Coaches Association, former administrator for Oakland Community College, and is now employed by Lobb Humidifier Company as sales manager.

ANE LINTVEDT, daughter of DR. and MRS. RICHARD L. LINTVEDT, of Barrington Road, was named to the Dean's List at Lawrence University for superior academic achievement during the 1979-80 school year. A 1978 graduate of Grosse Pointe South High School, Ane was also named to the Dean's List for the 1978-79 school year at Lawrence University.

DIA banks for future

A mound of more than 15,000 slides showing the talents of 3,000 Michigan artists is about to become a comprehensive 35mm slide bank at the Detroit Institute of Arts, where future historians will be able to gauge the work of artists throughout the state in the 1980s.

The board has been collecting at the museum during the past 12 months as Michigan artists sent in five slides representative of their work, to be used in preliminary judging for the DIA's series of four regional juried art exhibitions: Michigan Artists 80/81.

They are now being filed and categorized under the supervision of Nancy Gordon, exhibition coordinator for the artists' competitions.

"The creation of the slide bank has been one of our ambitions," she says. "We now have a good visual record of the vast artistic creativity presently occurring in Michigan."

A final count on the size of the bank is pending, as artists in the Southeast Region, which includes the Detroit area, had until last Monday, Oct. 20, to submit their slides for the fourth and final regional competition.

The bank should be operable by January. It will be housed in the art institute's Teachers Resources Center.

Among the August graduates of Electronic Engineering Technicians from R.E.T.S. Electronic School were Pointers MICHAEL J. FUGA and KEVIN I. YOUNG. The graduates were honored at a pre-commencement reception.

The Runners . . .

Heading up Kercheval on their way out of the Pointes and to the finish line at the Casino on Belle Isle are the runners, or rather, just a few of the 4,200 that passed through the Park,

City and Farms last Sunday. They caused commotion, confusion, traffic snarls, and from the looks of it, plenty of smiles.

Mascarin up for '80 sportswoman

Sue Mascarin, 16, of the Shores, has been nominated for the United Foundation 1980 Sportswoman of the Year Award by a Sports Day Committee chaired by Larry Adderley, WXYZ Sports-caster.

The Sportswoman and Sportsman of the Year Award is given to the woman and man who has made the greatest contribution to the community through athletics.

Mascarin is currently ranked 49 in World's Women's Professional Tennis Circuit. She has won nine national tennis championships and seven state titles. She is a junior at University Liggett School.

In August, she was presented with the Maureen Conolly Brinker Award, given to the Outstanding 18 and Under Junior considered by the Foundation "to have the most outstanding full season performance in tennis and must also be exceptional in ability, sportsmanship and competitive spirit."

There are three other women competing for Sportswoman of the Year Award and there are five men competing for the Sportsman Award. The winners will be announced late today, Oct.

. . . And the winners

The first man across the finish line in Sunday's marathon was Greg Meyer, of Boston, Mass., (above, in white gloves). He got a run for his money, however, from Kris Lenzo, a University of Michigan student, who led the wheelchair runners across the finish line. And above, left, is another of Sunday's winners . . . at least we think so.

Norsemen lose again, 19-14

By Tim Saunders
North High

The Grosse Pointe North varsity football team suffered its second consecutive Bi-County loss, 19-14, at the hands of the first place Lakeshore Shorians at Lakeshore last Friday night.

The win assured the Shorians at least a tie in the Bi-County League where they are now 4-0.

All the North scoring came on the first and last drives of the game with a two point safety, coming seconds before a fourth quarter touchdown. The Shorians on the other hand, scored two touchdowns in the first half and one in the second.

North received the opening kick-off and after Mike Eugene gained two first downs, the Shorians took a costly 15-yard penalty. Shortly after, the Norsemen gained their third first-down of the drive and four plays later, on a fourth and five, Clem hit Tom VanPelt with a pass in the end zone and North went up 6-0. The extra point attempt was wide.

Lakeshore's first touchdown came on a very unusual play, after punting the ball to North following its first possession. The kick was over the head of the deep man for North, who decided to let it roll through the end zone.

Due to the wet conditions, the ball stopped short of the end zone. As the Shorian players gathered to down the ball, the ball bounced off a North player and went into the end zone and Lakeshore fell it for the touchdown.

The extra point was good and after four minutes of the opening period Lakeshore led, 7-6.

Early in the second quarter, North was unable to move the ball from deep in its end of the field and was forced to punt. A bad snap on the punt attempt was recovered by the Shorians after a defensive pass interference call against North. John Taylor plunged in from the one for a Lakeshore 13-6 lead.

The remainder of the first half was uneventful for either team as both defenses showed signs of tightening up. However, the Shorians wasted little time in adding to their lead in the third quarter.

Lakeshore moved the ball well on the ground early in the second half and finally scored when Kevin Stout broke a 32-yard run to give the Shorians all the edge they needed.

The Norsemen were unable to crack the Shorian defense in the third quarter and for most of the fourth. Although the field was a sea of mud, credit must go to a Shorian defense which kept North's offense in check most of the night. Before Friday, Lakeshore's defense had compiled a string of three consecutive shutouts.

North was literally given two points when the Shorians were trapped deep in their zone. Not wanting to give the Norsemen good field position from which they could pull to within one touchdown, with 27 seconds remaining in the game, the Shorians purposely downed the ball in their end zone, giving North two points for a safety. This made the score 19-8.

After receiving the kick-off, North charged down the field, but time was running out. With two seconds left, Clem found Craig Stafford for a touchdown pass, but it was too little, too late and the game ended 19-14.

Knights' hopes end, 21-7

Hope for a state play-off spot was shattered last Friday, Oct. 17, as the ULS Knights lost to the wind, rain and a tough Hamtramck High School Football team, 21-7.

Winning the coin toss, Hamtramck took advantage of the wind and forced ULS into poor field position. Following a bad punt, Hamtramck took possession on the Knights' 29-yard line.

Five plays and one ULS penalty later, the Cosmos scored from the one, kicked the extra point and took an early 7-0 lead.

In the second quarter, the ULS defense tightened and forced Hamtramck deep into its own territory. A poor snap and a strong defensive rush downed the Cosmos punter on his own six.

Three plays later, sophomore quarterback Jeff Parks carried the ball into the end zone from the two-yard line and place-kicker Dwight Kelsey kicked the point after to even the score, 7-7, at the half.

Hamtramck scored its second touchdown early in the fourth-second half on a 12-yard and-goal situation. The extra point attempt failed.

At 13:7, the stage was set for an exciting finish but the Knights' heroes never quite materialized. Kevin Jackson's 59-yard kickoff return was nullified by a penalty and another poor punt led to Hamtramck's third and final TD.

Jackson, a senior end and safety, did a fine job filling in at tailback for the injured Jerry Parks.

Mike Kirkpatrick, Jeff Peters, John Polizzi and Joe Walker were outstanding on defense as they led various categories of the game's defensive statistics.

The Knights next game will be tomorrow, Friday, Oct. 24, at 4 p.m. — homecoming.

Jaycees will sell pumpkins

Pumpkins are a Halloween tradition and the Grosse Pointe Jaycees are knee deep in them.

The Jaycees are selling pumpkins this fall as a fund raiser for the Muscular Dystrophy Association. The group, under co-chairmen Steve Bonnell and Mike Watts, are offering a variety of shapes and sizes, some featuring specially painted faces with outrageous expressions and toothy smiles.

The sale will be held on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 25 and 26, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the corner of Cook Road and Mack Avenue in the Woods.

Soccer squad wins 2 of 3

By Bill Gore
ULS

The ULS Kickers were again victorious against their opponents as they defeated Oakland Christian, 6-0, on Oct. 9. The Knights clearly took charge from the beginning of the game.

The team was able to keep the ball on its opponents' half of the field with some well-executed and controlled passing and with two goals.

The second half also was dominated by ULS as they exploded for four goals. Scorers for the Knights were sophomore Larry Van Kirk, with three, sophomore Marty Wittmer, two goals, and junior Jerry Stekete, one goal.

ULS' nine game winning streak came to a halt when the Knights were defeated by Hamtramck on Oct. 14, 5-2.

The first half of the game was hard fought, ending with Hamtramck leading 2-1. Senior Kris Robbins scored on a penalty shot.

Early in the second half, Hamtramck again scored, but Van Kirk scored directly afterwards. However, Hamtramck scored two more goals near the end of the game.

The Knights got back on the winning side on Oct. 17 as ULS defeated Lutheran Northwest 3-0. The first half was not clearly dominated by either team, but Stekete broke the deadlock with a goal about midway through the half.

ULS dominated the second half with Wittmer exploding for four goals and Van Kirk and Stekete adding one each.

DeFAUW FINISHES 13TH

Grosse Pointe South High School graduate Paul DeFauw finished 13th in the recent Grand Valley Invitational cross country meet to help his University of Detroit team to a second place finish. DeFauw, of the Farms, is the senior co-captain of the UD team.

Middle school team wins in soccer, 6-1

The UL Middle School reserve soccer team upped its unbeaten streak to four games with a 6-1 victory over Inner City Baptist on Oct. 9.

The varsity soccer team held off a determined ICB team to win 2-1, for its fourth victory of the year.

It was an unlucky day for the Middle School football team. Overwhelmed by bad breaks and mistakes, they lost 18-0 to Saint Sebastian.

Girls split two in ULS hockey

On Oct. 8, the ULS Middle School girls' field hockey teams traveled to Detroit Country Day School.

Team I's persistence and skill resulted in a victory, 1-0. Late in the second half, Liza Arcinue, assisted by Susan Smith and Amy ULS, scored a goal for ULS.

Netters close to title

By Jeff Measelle South High

South's girls' tennis team moved one step closer to winning its fifth straight state championships, this past weekend.

The victory was highlighted by the fact that the girls won 27 of the 28 possible points. North was runnerup with 22 points.

Number one singles Liz Wachter showed why she is number one in the state, winning her flight 6-3, 6-2 in the finals.

Mahon, number two singles, also won her flight in the finals with a score of 6-0, 6-1.

Paula Reichert, number three singles, disposed of all her competition, and won her flight in the finals, 6-4, 6-1. Michelle Coddens, who was substituting for Nancy Wright, lost in the finals 1-6, 2-6.

In the doubles competition, the number one team of Tracy Echlin and Linda Murtagh won in the finals 6-2, 4-6, 6-4.

They won 6-1, 6-2. Kim Monahan and Lydia Barry won the number three doubles flight, 6-3, 7-6.

This weekend is the end of the girls' season, as they try to win their fifth straight state title. The tournament will be this Friday and Saturday, Oct. 24 and 25, in Kalamazoo.

Stephanie Prychitko, the girls' coach, was pleased with the team's performance in the Regionals, but still felt that the state championship will be the big test.

South boys win 2 of 3 in varsity soccer

By Ned Sparrow South High

The Devils' Varsity soccer team smashed its first two opponents, in a three-game streak which started Oct. 15 and ended in defeat on Friday, Oct. 17, against Notre Dame.

Tedd Aurelius picked up his fourth goal in two games with a three-goal "hat trick" against University of Detroit High in last Thursday's 4-2 win which followed Wednesday's smashing of Brablc, 5-1.

Joe LaFata picked up a goal in both games, while Scott White and Jim Dolan scored one and two goals, respectively, against Brablc.

The Devils faced one of their toughest opponents, Notre Dame, last Friday, ending up with only one goal to Notre Dame's five, Scott White scored South's only goal.

Varsity coach John Case, a 30-year soccer veteran, described the loss, "I think that the mid-field play was even, and the score should have been 2-1, because there were three goals that shouldn't have gone in but did because of silly mistakes." Case also added that it is very trying to play three games in a row.

The varsity was scheduled to play yesterday (after press time), at Roseville and tomorrow, Oct. 24, at Mount Clemens. The Devils are to play their last season game against Bishop Borgess next Wednesday after which they are expected to enter the playoffs.

South's junior varsity soccer team lost two of the three games, to Brablc and G.P. North, on Wednesday and Friday, and sliding by University of Detroit on Thursday, Oct. 16, 2-0.

Peter Wack and Rick Roberts picked up one goal apiece against U of D, while in the other two games, South was held scoreless. South lost to cross-town rival North, 1-0. The goal was scored on one of three penalty kicks handed in a five-minute period by Paul Urlet.

On Friday, Oct. 17, the JV was shut out 2-0 by a tough opponent, Notre Dame. JV soccer is to resume tomorrow at Mount Clemens, with their last season game next Wednesday, Oct. 29, against G.P. North.

Girls' JV cage squad ends streak

By Rick Richner South High Facing a far superior team from Mount Clemens, South's girls' junior varsity basketball team was soundly defeated 49-25, ending the girls' three-game winning streak.

The first period and a half of play was very competitive. Mount Clemens led by two points at the end of the first quarter, 10-8. But, midway through the second period, the tide seemed to change. Mount Clemens' squad began to pull away and led 26-13 at the half.

The second half was more of the same as Mount Clemens outscored South 13-5 in the third period and 10-7 in the fourth.

A bright spot in the game for South were the second string players who were given playing time the last two periods. They played very effectively even though they, too, were outdone by Mount Clemens' aggressive play.

Leading South in scoring were Carol Rosasco with seven points, Jody Shurman with six, and Denise Leonard chipping in with three.

Underdog team wins dual meet

By Ron Fournier North High

It was an odd situation. For the first time in recent memory North's cross-country team was the underdog in a dual meet. After winning over 60 consecutive races, the one-time powerhouse was expected to fall to the strong Warren Cousino team which beat North in their last confrontation.

Perhaps their attitude had nothing to do with the outcome, nevertheless... Joe Schmidt led the team once again as he captured a first place finish on the home course as Dan Hammer, John Pamerleau, Mark Rolain and Jeff Topleor finished right behind Cousino's top two men. With the help of Scott Cooper and Mark Osler, who finished eighth and ninth, the Harriers put six runners between Cousino's second and third men.

The victory comes in the wake of a good performance at the recent Oxford invitational. On the predominantly hilly course, the harriers defeated all challengers to capture some momentum towards the state championships. Once again, the junior varsity led by sophomore Cooper captured the first place trophy to secure a sweep of the boys' competition for the day.

A much improved girls' team should not go unnoticed as it also captured a victory over a tough Cousino girls' squad. Cathy Schmidt and Martha Whitaker easily took the first two spots to secure a defeat over the previously undefeated Cousino team.

The girls' squad showed its first signs of improvement at the Oxford invitational where they finished a highly respectable second in a field of 12.

North, South ace net regionals

By Lisa Marco North High

Both Grosse Pointe South and North aced their way through the Class A Girl's Tennis Regionals this past weekend. South captured the regional title with 27 points, while North was the runner-up with 22 points. Both teams qualified for the state tournament, which will be held in Kalamazoo tomorrow and Saturday, Oct. 24 and 25.

Grosse Pointe's dominance was obvious at Regionals, as among 14 teams, South and North were the finalists in every event. GPS was victorious in every final match, except for the No. 4 singles.

GPS's number one singles player, Liz Wachter, defeated Eva Lucido, GPN number one player, 6-3, 6-3. In number two singles, South's Meghan McMahon downed Cathy Brown, 6-0, 6-1.

North's Nancy Kohler lost to Paula Reighert, 6-4, 6-1, in the number three singles spot. In number four singles, Marilyn Biretta was North's sole winner, beating Michelle Coddens 6-1, 6-2.

GPS's number one doubles team of Tracy Echlin, Linda Murtagh, defeated GPN's team of McMahon-Jayakar, after splitting sets 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

In number two doubles, South's Laura Hachman-Sharon Ruwart match up downed Lehman-Carusio 6-1, 6-2. Winning the tiebreaker 5-1, GPS also won number three doubles, as Kim Monahan-Lydia Barry defeated Hayosh-Bpll 6-3, 7-6.

Varsity golfers are city champs

By Tim Saunders North High

Grosse Pointe North's golf team has just completed its most successful regular season in years, with an impressive City Championship victory over Grosse Pointe South and University Liggett School.

North's score of 392 was good enough for first place in the two day, 18 hole match. Grosse Pointe South finished second with a 422 and ULS had a 426.

Senior Curt Marshall earned medalist honors with a first place finish of 74. South's Mike Lynch shot a second place 76. North's John Briski and ULS's Steve Valice tied for third place with a 78.

The victory capped North's 17-3 record for the year. They will compete in the State Finals this week.

North soccer team still unbeaten

By Bob Waldeck North High

North High's undefeated varsity soccer squad rolled to its eighth victory when it blitzed Detroit Holy Redeemer, 8-1, in a Metro Suburban League match on Wed., Oct. 15.

The win gives the Norsemen a conference record of four wins, no losses and a tie for a share first place in the division with Birmingham Brother Rice.

A showdown for the league championship with Rice took place at North High on Wed., Oct. 22 (after press time).

First half goals against Redeemer were notched by Marc Tirikian, assisted by Mike Azar, and by Bill Bryce with Paul Regelbrugge drawing an assist.

Tirikian netted three second half goals. Two assists went to Azar and Dave Waldeck drew one.

Salmon a $200 million boon to state tourism

With coho and chinook spawning runs expected to be double 1979 totals in some areas, Michigan's $200 million salmon fishing industry could be heading for its best year ever, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Once a fall-only activity, salmon fishing has become nearly a year-around sport that has pumped $1 billion into Michigan's economy over the last five years," said Joseph Ratke, Auto Club Touring manager.

"This year, spending by salmon fishermen should generate nearly double the $104 million combined total expected from Detroit's Republican Convention and Pontiac's 1982 Super Bowl," he added. "Salmon fishermen should give Michigan's economy a much needed boost."

This year, charter boat captains trolling off the 36 lakes and rivers on Auto Club's 1980 Salmon Guide are reporting some of the best fishing in years. Fish in all four of the Great Lakes ringing the state appear larger than in the past due to a surplus population of alewives, the salmon's main prey.

From now until spawning runs shut off their appetites, more than two million silvery fish will gain two to four pounds per week until chinook reach a husky 25 to 40 pounds and coho top 10 to 15 pounds.

Lake Michigan action is in high gear from Benton Harbor to Charlevoix, with best fishing expected from mid-September to early November.

The year's most improved fishing should be along Lake

Huron from Harrisville south, where runs in most areas should be at least double those in 1979.

Lake Huron anglers have the best chance at a chinook or coho through mid-October at Au Gres. Heaviest river runs should be from late September to late October. A bonus fall brown trout fishery awaits trollers off Tawas City, where coho runs could be up to three times heavier than in 1979.

Fishermen in the Thumb should find best results through October. Runs in the Flint and Cass rivers usually peak in December.

Along Lake Superior, best trolling should be between now and mid-October, with runs up rivers continuing into nearly November.

The Detroit River is Southeast Michigan's best salmon prospect through November as returns from 200,000 coho planted last year converge on Belle Isle. Peak fishing both on and offshore will be in mid-October.

Anglers will find "liberalized" fishing rules restricted to sections of eight rivers compared with 13 last fall. Rules allowing anglers to keep foul-hooked Pacific salmon will be in effect from Sept. 10 to Oct. 25, 14 days less than in 1979. For sections open on each stream, check the Department of Natural Resources 1980 Michigan Fishing Guide.

Even though levels of polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs) are dropping in Great Lakes fish, the Michigan Department of Public Health continues to advise children and nursing mothers against eating any salmon this fall.

GP hockey Marlboros win 3

The Grosse Pointe Marlboros Pee Wee AA travel hockey team, coached by Skip Tallerico, won all three outings last week. The Marlboros won exhibition games against Southgate, 5-1, and Trenton, 3-1. They took their Adray League opener, 3-2, in a bruising contest against Sterling Heights.

At Southgate on Oct. 14, Grosse Pointe's Tom Ugalv opened the scoring, assisted by Jamie Parker. Grosse Pointe dominated the second period with goals from Joe Sullivan, assisted by Kevin Tisdale; Gerry Rogers, assisted by Andrew Roy and D.J. Kettlehut, unassisted. Richard Pisogna closed out the scoring by the Marlbies from Ugalv and Kettlehut.

The Marlboros opened the Adray league season at Sterling Heights on Thursday, Oct. 16, with a goal from Rob Marshall assisted by Parker.

GP Ski Club meets Nov. 5

Members of the Grosse Pointe Ski Club are hoping for snow, and to get everyone in the mood for the first trip down the hill, they will view a ski film at their next meeting, Wednesday, Nov. 5, at 8 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

The meeting is open to any adult Grosse Pointe resident interested in downhill or cross-country skiing.

The ski club will visit Sun Valley early next year. The trip is scheduled for Feb. 28 to March 7 and is offered for $840.

"We believe that's really a good deal," says Carolyn Or-

Star's cagers earn league win

By Catherine Snyder
Star of Sea

A 54-53 win over Pontiac Catholic on Thursday, Oct. 9 moved the Our Lady Star of the Sea varsity basketball team into a tie for first place in Division A-East Catholic League play.

The narrow win, coupled with victories earlier in the week over St. Ladislaus, 50-42, and St. Florian, 41-32, brought the Star record to 5-1 on the year.

In Star's first home game in four contests, the team started slowly against Pontiac Catholic but took a 28-19 lead at the half. A fourth quarter surge gave Pontiac a one-point lead with 40 seconds left but senior Fox put in a jumper with 18 seconds left to regain the lead and win.

Sophomore Maureen Boyle led the scoring with 12 points and 11 rebounds. Seniors Catherine Snyder had 11 points and 19 rebounds and Mary Beth Bierman, 10 points.

In the Oct. 2 contest with St. Ladislaus, senior Ruth Barcus led the scoring with

Blue Devils win EML title

By Tom Kliskalt
South High

The Blue Devils came away with their sixth consecutive victory last Saturday as they romped over L'Anse Creuse North, 35-6, to clinch the Eastern Michigan League (EML) championship.

The victory ensured the Blue Devils of their fourth EML championship in eight years and moved them up to fourth in their region in the state playoff ratings. The Blue Devils are now 6-1 overall and finished with a 4-0 league record.

"One of the great things about winning the championship is that we lost it in 7-8 defeats the last two years," explained head coach, Russ Hepner.

Hepner continued talking about the success of the team. "Ever since the second half of the Notre Dame game, our offense has been tremendously consistent, and our defense has come through in the clutch."

He also commented on how the team has come together. "Our seniors are great. They live up to their expectations, and the juniors are improving all the time."

The Blue Devils crunched the Crusaders before a sell-out crowd in South's annual Homecoming game.

South took the opening kickoff and eventually scored on an 11-yard pass from Dean Graham to John DeBoer.

The Crusaders then established a drive on their own. After using a full quarter off the clock, they fell short on a 14-yard field goal attempt. With 41 seconds left in the first half, Graham hit DeBoer on a 52-yard pass to give South a 14-0 halftime lead.

The two teams exchanged touchdowns in the third quarter. The Crusaders scored on a two-yard run and the Blue Devils on a 24-yard run by Ted Formanczyk.

The fourth quarter was all Jamie Keough. He spurred 23 and 59 yards for touchdowns, Kip Salle booted five of five extra points to close out the scoring.

The Blue Devils will try for victory number seven this Saturday, Oct. 25, when they host Pontiac Northern at 1 p.m.

South wins Homecoming

After the parades, floats and other homecoming hoopla, the Blue Devils of Grosse Pointe South High School played a football game and won, 35-6. At left, South's fullback Steve Wayman, (44), beats L'Anse Creuse North players Kevin Matz, (52) and John Sigwalt, (30). South girls swim to 5-0 record

By Mark Clark
South High

South's girls swim team downed yet another league opponent last week to bring its overall record to 5-0. South dominated East Detroit as they have all the Eastern Michigan League teams winning 10 to 11 even and amassing 130 points in East Detroit's 42.

Leading the Devils to victory were Sara Brieden and Sara McLeod with three wins each; Brieden took the 50 and 100-yard freestyles in 2:28.3 and 57.1; McLeod took the 500-yard freestyle in 5:36 and 200-yard individual medley in 2:27.2.

Teaming up with Cheryl Chase and Maureen Cross, they also won the 400-yard freestyle relay with a time of 3:59.3.

Other winners for South were Sue Parker, Colleen Lorenz, Debbie Gulecki, and Patty Streicher in the 200-yard medley relay in 2:14.7. Cross took the 200-yard freestyle in 2:08.7; Gretchen Ream the 100-yard backstroke in 1:15.7, and Lorenz the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:16.1.

"We didn't swim very well, but it's the middle of the season and we're working very hard. The girls are really pretty tired," analyzed Coach Tim Kennary.

The Devils also won the diving for the second time in a row and the second this year. Ryndy Ditmars, who accounted for the other diving win in South's last meet against Mount Clemens, came up with her best score of the year, 186.35, to get the win.

Completing a sweep of this event were divers Lori Gieseking in second place, with 157.45 points and Kelly Naughton in third with 132.2 points.

South's next meet is today, Oct. 23, at 4 p.m. in Roseville.

LOGAN IS IRISH WINGER

Jeff Logan, of the Shores is listed as a right winger on the University of Notre Dame varsity hockey squad. Logan will play on a line with Dave Poulin, of Ontario and Kevin Humphreys, of Green Bay, Wis.

JV gridders' winning streak ends

By Scott Bowles
South High

Snapping a two-game winning streak, South's junior varsity football team fell to the L'Anse Creuse Crusaders Oct. 18, 14-8.

Two long touchdown runs proved to be the game winners for the Crusaders.

South's only touchdown came on a three-yard run by John Fisher. The two extra points were converted on a run by Kurt Allen.

Erich Woerner was the Blue Devils' leading rusher with almost 100 yards.

L'Anse Creuse scored on the second play of the game, breaking loose for a 60-yard touchdown run. After an unsuccessful extra point attempt, the Crusaders led South, 6-0.

The Crusaders' game-winning score came early in the third quarter on another 60-yard touchdown break-away.

The two extra points were good, making the score 14-0.

Following the L'Anse Creuse score, South took the kick-off and drove 70 yards to the Crusaders' three-yard line. The drive was highlighted by some long runs from Woerner. Fisher then ran for South's touchdown.

The Blue Devil offense had two other big chances to score and possibly take the lead, but couldn't capitalize.

In the first quarter, South had the ball on L'Anse Creuse's two-yard line with a fourth down and goal to go. Bill Crow's pass to wide receiver John O'Meara was intercepted in the end zone.

The Blue Devils drove to the Crusaders' 15-yard line with three minutes left in the game. On a fourth down, Mark Brooks jumped off side, bringing the ball back to the 20. South then lost the ball on downs.

Ken Fromm and Mark Brooks led the Blue Devil defense. Brooks caused two Crusader fumbles. Fromm caused a fumble, had six solo tackles, and several assists on tackles.

Injuries have plagued South over the past three weeks. Gordie Johnston, Jim Hartman, and Dave Desmyter have all been lost for the season. Johnston with a broken leg, Hartman with a broken finger, and Desmyter with two broken thumbs and a broken elbow. O'Meara suffered a concussion in Thursday's game.

The Blue Devils, whose record now stands at 2-5, will visit Pontiac Northern today, Oct. 23.

Freshmen on offense, win big, 42-0

By Aimee Busse
South High

The Blue Devil freshman gridders' offensive and defensive efforts worked to shut out Oakland Jr. High, 42-0.

The offensive effort was hot, scoring six touchdowns and three two-point conversions. Four of the six touchdowns scored were made by Tony Tocco, who rushed for a total of 183 yards in 17 carries.

Tocco ran 31 yards for his first touchdown, followed by one yard for his second, 17 yards for his third, and finally 65 yards for his fourth touchdown.

Jim Corbett scored the other two touchdowns, rushed for 15 yards in six carries, and also scored one of the two-point conversions. The other two-point conversions were scored by passes from quarterback John Williamson to receiver Dale Graham and quarterback Shawn Whelan to receiver Dave Maddox.

The defensive effort was powerful throughout the game. Steve Carrier had two solo tackles and five assists. Brian Rathsburg had one solo tackle and two assists. Corbett had five assists, Tony Petz, Darren Desmyter, and Carrier each made one interception.

Overall, the Blue Devils generated 469 yards, 150 by passing and 319 rushing.

South's freshman gridders' record now stands at 4-2. Wednesday the freshmen were scheduled to host L'Anse Creuse North and their last game is scheduled to be held at Grosse Pointe North on Oct. 29.

Varsity golfers end year with loss

By Dawn Loeniskar
South High

South's varsity golf team closed out its season on a slightly sour note, coming in second behind North in the last round of a tri-meet played at Lochmoor Country Club on Thursday, Oct. 14. The final tallies were North 404, South 425, and University Liggett 436.

The low medalist for both the first and second rounds was Mike Lynch with a 38 in each round, for a total of 82. John Moran followed with a combined score of 87 and Jud Kotas had 88.

SH varsity cagers lose one, 48-42

By Susan Sweetman
South High

Grosse Pointe South's girls' varsity basketball team lost a close game to Mount Clemens at home last week, 48-42.

At the end of the second quarter, South was trailing 30-18. The team picked up in the third and fourth quarters. John Bruce, the girls' coach, described the players as "still frustrated." Bruce commented, "We have played many good half games, but it takes two good halves to win a game." Helen Conlan, one of the team's starting players was described as "playing one of her best games ever" by Bruce.

Conlan was one of the top scorers with 11 points. Anne Rosasco, another starting player, scored 10 points.

South also lost to Washington Eisenhower last Friday, 55-39.
