Workshop planned to hammer out district court

By Gregory Jakub

While legislation proposing to convert Grosse Pointe to a district court system is apparently stuck in Lansing, a plan is in the works to make the complex conversion planned for 1982 happen as smoothly as possible.

Sen. John Kelly (D-Det.), the main mover behind efforts to establish a Grosse Pointe district court, said he is planning to meet in January with Grosse Pointe city officials, state court experts and State Rep. William Bryant to hammer out the details of will be structured.

A bill authored by Kelly proposes a district court for Grosse Pointe in 1982 and is now in judiciary committee but is not expected to be acted

ANOTHER BILL enacted last spring. also written by Kelly, expired when city officials from the five Pointes found they needed more time to decide what form their new court system should take.

Kelly said his planned two-day court workshop is designed to compile Session to review every aspect of the new court complex caseload information and, with the help of court experts, lay out the logistics of abolishing the Pointe's existing five municipal courts and forming the new system

"We want to give (the Pointes) all the information they need to make an informed decision, so there are no more assumptions, It will all be on paper," Kelly said.

The central question is whether the Pointes need one or two district courts to handle the current five municipal court's caseloads plus civil cases which

The problem in the past has been dealing with five municipalities and five administrative procedures for reviewing what the caseload would be," Kelly said.

AFTER MONTHS of discussion early this year, the Pointes decided at the last minute that they wanted one judge and one court to cover the Pointes but did so without a "way to reach a firm determination of what their (judicial) needs were," according to Kelly.

The January court workshop is intended to rectify those differences and to go over every financial, administrative and physical aspect of forming the new court, Kelly said.

Club may be food site for seniors

By Susan McDonald

A government - funded nutrition program for senior citizens which last month appeared headed for a new home in Brownell Middle School may, instead, end up at the Neighborhood Club in Grosse Pointe City.

The club last month approached administrators of the "Food and Friendship" program, asking them to submit a proposal to bring the program to the club's recently-built addition, which was intended for use primarily by area seniors, according to Jon Austin, senior adult director at the club.

The proposal must be approved by the Neighborhood Club Board of Directors and the Detroit Area Agency on Aging, program administrator, before the move can take place.

Food program directors have been searching for a new home for about a year and last month received approval from the school board to use an empty room at Brownell for their daily meals. The school board re-stricted use of the room to only two hours a day, however. The program currently operates four hours, or more out of Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church.

Austin said he believes the Neighborhood Club location would be for the nutrition program cause the building was designed specifically with the needs of seniors in mind and is "barrier free."

THE FOOD PROGRAM provides free or low-cost meals to about 80 area seniors each day and has expanded to include recreation, education and social programs as well. The Neighborhood Club also operates a variety of programs for seniors and is home base to the 1,000-member Village Club for the elderly.

Austin said he plans to recommend the Neighborhood Club Board of Directors accept the Food and Friendship proposal when it is presented the week of Dec. 8. He added that the program could be operated "without time restrictions" at the club on Waterloo and St. Clair Avenue.

Neighborhood Club Executive Director John Bruce is equally enthusiastic about the program's potential at the club.

When we built that new facility we hoped to play a leadership role in developing senior leisure time and service programs," Bruce said. "The Food and Friendship program is an established one that has proved its value to the community.'

The program, formerly called the Nutrition Site, was organized by a group of seniors at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church in 1976. Last year it was taken away from the Out-Wayne County Area Agency on Aging and placed under the Detroit Area Agency, which provided more local control over the program.

The commissioners, including District 1 and Grosse Pointe's commissioner Barbara Gattorn, were sworn into office last week. At that time, Detroit attorney George Ward was elected to serve as charter commission chairman Gattorn reportedly backed down from the chairmanship after it became obvious Ward had the votes to win the post.

Last August county voters overwhelmingly gave the nod for a charter commission after apparently fed up with the weak rule of the financially strapped county by its present 27-member Board of Commissioners.

GATTORN SAID last week the commission has been meeting informally for the past five weeks since the Nov. 4 election. Chairman Ward has appointed four committees intended to decide how the commission's mission is to be financed, among other matters.

Youth faces circuit court

By Joanne Gouleche

A 16-year-old Detroit youth has been bound over for trial in Wayne County Circuit Court in the Sept. 15 stabbing of his boss, the manager of Elias Brother's Big Boy on Mack in the Park

The youth, Midgett Pender, who worked as a bus boy at the restaurant, waived his preliminary exam Nov. 20, before Grosse Pointe Park Municipal Judge Beverly Grobbel. He is charged with armed robbery and assault with intent to commit murder.

Pender will stand trial as an adult because of a decision to waive his juvenile status made earlier this month by Juvenile Court Judge Thom as A. Maher. It was the first juvenile waiver received by the Park Police department according to Chief Henry

Pender was arrested in the parking lot across the street from Big Boy on Sept. 15, shortly after he allegedly tied up and stabbed manager Leslie Campbell, 21, according to police

Creelman, a Grosse Pointe teacher for 14 years, was suspended with pay for insubordination after the incident, which occurred Nov. 14, according to police reports. In his complaint he charges assistant principal Sheila Joyce with assault and battery. Woods police are still investigating the incident and have talked to at least five students who witnessed it.

Security is common sense

By Gregory Jakub

Even though Grosse Pointe Woods' burglary and larceny rate is already close to 100 percent over last year's totals, police say they expect it to increase even more during the coming holiday season.

"Now is the time to be extra care ful," said Woods Officer Patrick Fagan, who along with Officer Paul Crook, are the department's Crime Prevention Unit

Frgan said most crime prevention measures are merely common sense He added that people often assume a careless attitude which he calls the

"it-won't-happen-to-me" syndrome.

That attitude makes it easy for thieves to quickly gain entry to a home by prying a door, breaking a window, or opening an unlocked door, Fagan said, Compounding the problem are people with $80,000 homes and $6 locks which can be easily pried open, Fagan said

Securing your home means understanding that most burglars are sneak thieves who don't want to be seen or apprehended, Fagan said.

The commission is also expected to elect permanent officers and the important roles of committee chairman, a post Gattorn would like to fill.

In January, the commission will begin its public hearings on the issues.

Tax relief bill could sting cities

By Gregory Jakub

A proposed property tax assessment freeze that could save state taxpayers $400 million could also deprive cities of revenues needed to fight inflation and bring state revenue sharing cutbacks, according to local officials.

The bill was introduced last week and was scheduled for review Tuesday by the Senate Finance Committee. Its sponsors, Democratic Senators Doug Ross of Southfield, Bill Huffman of Madison Heights and Majority Leader William Faust of Westland .say they hope the bill is approved by

If the bill passes, the freeze could save businessmen $120 million and farmers and homeowners $280 million while it gives the legislature a year to devise a way to permanently reduce property taxes and maintain

"We expected some opposition from public employes and local governments. Up until now it's been relatively muted," according to Lou Glazer, an aide to Sen. Ross.

"People are most upset with large annual property tax assessments" and the freeze is an immediate response and an attempt to find a long range solution, Glazer said.

WHILE THE TAX freeze would soften the burden on taxpayers, it could cause problems for Grosse Pointe city governments which already are slated to lose more than $75,000 in revenue sharing funds due to Gov. Milliken's budget cutbacks

"It (the tax freeze) is a local government problem because in 1981 there will be no new revenue coming to the Pointes, according to Sen. John Kelly (D-Det.), "Overall, they will be operating at last year's budget with this year's cost," he added.

Grosse Pointe Park city manager John Crawford said he could see no advantage to the tax freeze proposal because the lost tax revenue eventually has to be recovered somewhere.

That means increasing the tax rate to cover the costs of services and schools whose revenue base is property taxes. Crawford said.

Crawford said he thought the legislation's tax freeze is a misdirected effort and their time could be better spent on lowering the cost of operating government

Actually, Bowen pleaded guilty to three counts of selling unregistered securities in violation of Michigan statute. for which the judge sentenced the Grosse Pointe Park businessman to two years probation. Two other counts charging Bowen with obtaining money under false pretenses were dropped.

Bowen voluntarily refunded to the two complainants their investments of $1,250, and the court did not have to consider the question of restitution.

Bowen, through his Southfield based company, Enbow Resources, was acting as the agent in Michigan for J. Rose & Associates of Houston, Tex., which had authorized him to sell 29 full shares or units in the venture at a purchase price of $5,000 each. Both complainants purchased what amounted to a one-quarter fraction of a share. In selling these fractional shares, Bowen exceeded the authorized number of 29 full shares, which he had previously sold, in whole or in part, to some 45 other investors. Bowen maintained that the sales of the additional fractional shares were made from an interest in the venture which he owned himself.

None of the shares was registered for sale in Michi-

Tax cut advocate Bob Tisch said his coalition would observe the state legislature without comment and will initiate another tax relief campaign next year if the freeze effort does not go far enough,

Another tax-cut advocate, Richard Headlee, supported the tax freeze effort which he said allows the legislature to avert a property tax increase which could be devastating to families of all income levels in 1981.

Three tax limitation questions on November's ballot were defeated by Grosse Pointe voters. But 38 percent of Pointers who voted said "yes" to Tisch and the Shores nearly approved the proposal.

The church last year asked the seniors to look for a new home and set a Feb. 1981 deadline because of scheduling problems it was encountering for its own programs. Rev. Robert Linthicum, of the Woods church, is assisting the group with its Neighborhood Club proposal.

Mr. Linthicum said he believes the Neighborhood Club is an "excellent site." but noted it may create some transportation problems for the seniors now attending programs at the Woods church, on Mack Avenue.

"We're making a survey of the group now to find out what kind of transportation problem we face," he said. Most of the participants come from the Harper Woods, Grosse Pointe. Woods and near-Detroit neighbor-

In 1979, Henry Heatley of Detroit, made a thorough study of the Wardwell House and property as a research project for Wayne State University. His findings were not always concurrent with popular history of the house.

The main, and oldest, portion of the Wardwell House is distinguishable from later additions by its distinctive brick. Popular belief (the story has been passed on for several decades) says that these bricks were made in France in the 1790's. Speculation is that they were brought to America before Heatley unequivocally states in his research paper that the bricks were not imported from France. They are typical of bricks made in Detroit in the mid-1800's. Another local folk tale concerns the pear tree growing in the front yard of the Wardwell House. It is a French Pear tree—very old—like trees that were brought to this area by French settlers in the 1700's.

THE TREE is over 200 years old, according to popular theory. "Not so," says Heatley. He concedes that it is probably 100 years old, but it could have been planted by any one of the many owners of (Continued on Page 8A)

the property.

Heatley has combed all the available records on land transactions concerning the Wardwell House-property. It was once part of a ribbon farm that extended all the way from Lake St. Clair to Gratiot and it was called Private Claim #391. Heatley contends that much of the popular lore about the house arises from misinterpretations of these records.

"The biggest mistake," he says, "is to assume that the house is as old as the earliest record of land ownership." It is also false to believe that any building mentioned in the land records is, in fact, this particular house.

The Wardwell House is old—there is no doubt about it. It is a survivor, as houses go. It has been adapted and changed as it has passed through the hands of many owners and many tenants.

The dining room, kitchen and breakfast roomare later add-ons, as are several bedrooms and servants' quarters upstairs. These additions are made of wood, painted white-and are obvious contrasts to the old bricks.

THE PRESENT living room was once three smaller rooms. The stairway has been moved. A tree on the south side has grown so close to the house, its lower branches curve around the gutter and rest on the roof.

At one time, records indicate there were two wells and a barn on the property.

An old snapshot shows a picket fence across the front yard and a rail fence around the rest of the vard. The brick portion of the house was used for grain storage at one time.

The grounds hold remembrances of former owners-a dog run, a clothes line, a garage, a back porch painted glossy gray, grape vines, chestnut trees, a miniscule pond, a flagstone patio and an overgrown path to the front door from Jefferson

In the 1930's the Wardwell House was selected by the Historic American Building Survey as "worthy of preservation" because of its historic and architectural interest. The date for construction of the brick portion is recorded officially as "prior to 1860." The Wardwell House has been certified as a Historic Building, and is permanently recorded in the United States Library of Congress.

More on the Wardwell House and property next week.

Thieves lift Anton's safe

About $1,300 and some signed blank checks locked away in a 300 pound safe were lifted by thieves from Anton's Restaurant last month.

An employe of the restaurant, 20934 Mack Avenue in Grosse Pointe Woods, told police he came to work and found the kitchen door unlocked. He checked inside and found the safe missing from the manager's office.

Officer Steven Backlund phoned the restaurant manger who said she had checked and locked all doors the previous night. There was no sign of forced entry, police

Detectives are investigating the incident.

Fire set at North High

Grosse Pointe Woods detectives are investigating what they call a deliberately set fire in a display case at Grosse Pointe North High School.

Officer John DeLora was called to the school at about 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 30 by a school employe who discovered the fire and a broken plexiglass window on a door.

Further investigation showed that a lock on a display case was broken off and its paper contents set on fire and burned completely. The cork backing in the case was not burned. The fire was presumably set with a cigarette lighter.

Meet George and fall in love.

Is it wrong to fall in love with a mink coat? Is it a sin to become unstable over a sable?

It happens whenever a woman meets George Tunis. And that's fine, as far as George is concerned. Because George is concerned. As head designer for Bricker-Tunis Furs, he takes a personal (some might say fanatical) interest in every detail it takes to create a fur that's as individual as the woman who wears it.

That's why George doesn't do things the usual way. For example, suppose you come to us for a custom fur coat.

Before the beginning: Art Bricker.

Before George even begins the design, Art Bricker steps in. Art's years of experience and his knowledge of furs will help make your choice not only easier, but a more valuable investment, too. He takes the time to "learn" you: the way you live, walk, sit. What kind of wear the coat will receive. Your preference in collar and sleeve styles. Only after that are you ready for the next step.

The model approach, by George.

Now an exact canvas model of the garment is made from your measurements. The choicest pelts are then selected and applied with the newest fur-cutting techniques. Here you're fitted not only for size but proportion. And here the allimportant factor of posture is noted and sculpted into place. A coat is born.

Now it's in the hands of the finishers, Bricker-Tunis' master furriers. Here, stitch by silken stitch, their years of skill and dedication transform a working model into a work of art.

Finally, you.

And now you're ready for the final fitting.

All furs labeled to show country of or gin in every elegant detail, down to the sewn-in monogram. George has done it again. You're in love.

Of course, there's much more to love at Bricker-Tunis Furs than custom design. There's a modern fur vault as large as a small Fort Knox. There are other top designer names in ready-to-wear fur lines. There's a fabulous selection. And we're ready to show it all to you in what is undoubtedly the only fur centre of its kind in this area outside New York.

Come. You'll love it.

Reading wine labels is easy if the labels are English. Labels in a foreign language are another story. Consider German wines. The first name on the label represents the name of the village, the second, the name of the vineyard. Usually, the date of vintage follows. Then you get to the more specialized words. Auslese means that the wine contains no artificial sweetner and has been specially selected by careful picking. Late gathered grapes, even better than Auslese grapes, are called spactlese. YOU GET GREAT GIFTS AND HIGH INTEREST AT TANDARD FEDERAL SAVINGS

New! Checking Accounts with Interest

ANNUAL INTEREST

Until now, you've never had interest paid on your checking account. But on January 1, 1981, you'll have the chance to take advantage of a brand new service from Standard Federal Savings — checking accounts with interest. In addition to providing savings accounts which pay the highest rate available on insured savings, Standard Federal also offers the opportunity to earn the highest interest allowed on your checking account.

These accounts will earn 51/4% annual interest continuously compounded - adding interest every month to your account for an effective annual yield of 5.467%. This is the highest interest allowed on checking accounts.

You may open an account in any amount. However, with a minimum balance of $500.00 OR an average daily balance of $1,000.00, you may write all the checks you wish, with no monthly service charge. (A $5.00 monthly fee is assessed if you go below the minimum or average requirements).

- Each month you'll receive a detailed statement of your account which lists your checks in numerical order, your deposits, any service charges assessed and the interest earned during the statement period.
- Personalized checks are printed free of charge if you choose not to have your checks returned with your monthly statement. There will be a charge for printing personalized checks if you wish to have your checks returned to you. With either option, you may select a style that provides a carbon copy of each check for your records.

 A permanent record of each check will be kept by Standard Federal Savings. If you need a copy for any reason, microfilm copies of as many as 25 checks per year (or all checks relating to an IRS audit) will be provided at no charge.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO CUSTOMERS 62 YEARS OF AGE AND OLDER:

Customers 62 years of age and older who have direct deposit of social security or other retirement checks into any Standard Federal Savings account will pay no monthly service charge on their checking accounts.

The interest rate is determined weekly and has three options for payment of interest; interest can be paid at maturity, or paid on the last day of each month and automatically transferred to a 5½% regular savings account, or paid by check every month. Call (313) 643-9583 for the current rate.

Views of the News

Keeping a vigil on crime

readers of the Grosse Pointe News to learn that the incidence of burglary has sharply increased in the Pointes in the past year. The News has been reporting the cases as they happened and it was clear that the number was sharply up this year. Last week's story detailing the crime increase in each of the Pointes merely corroborated the depressing news reported Economic conditions are being blamed for the new crime wave that has spread to the Pointes. That no doubt has been an important factor. People who are out of work and youngsters who have nothing constructive to do are often tempted to turn to crime, and especially if they also are financing expensive drug addiction. The economic recession also contributes to family tensions which can lead to crime.

YET INFLATION also has been a contributing factor. It has ballooned the price of gold and silver, for example, with the result that thieves now can make big killings by breaking into private homes and making off with silver, jewelry and other items that bring big prices from dealers in such items. A few fly-by-night dealers have contributed to such burglaries by buying whatever is offered without asking any questions.

In this connection, one young man who admitted having helped break into an estimated 100 homes in the Detroit suburban area said

It is no particular surprise to he worked with a dozen or so other young people aged from 12 to 20. And he contended in a TV interview that he knew of close to a 100 young people who were engaged in similar crime. That testifies to the need for closer official inspection of the places buying the stolen goods and closer checking by families and school authorities on youngsters displaying or spending unusually large amounts of

> With "white flight" from the inner city continuing, it is only natural for crime to follow the middle class people who move to the suburbs. The sneak thieves who are ransacking residences for silver, gold and jewels, for example, are going to areas in which they know they'll find more goods of the kind they are seeking. And so they come to the Pointes and the other middle class suburbs to continue their crime spree.

What can people do to protect themselves? Just as eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, so it can be the best protection against residential ripoffs. And because Grosse Pointe police say the thieves are striking at almost all hours of the day and night, that means residents have to be alert at all times and take as many precautions as they possibly can. That includes such obvious steps as keeping doors and windows locked, installing burglar alarms and keeping handy the telephone number of the local police station.

A state cap on taxes?

The proposal by three Democratic state senators to put a cap on property taxes at their current level may sound better in principle than it would work out in practice. Its advantage, of course, is that it would appear to be a legislative response to the widespread public demand to halt the rapid increase in property taxes in Michigan. The disadvantage is that it might result in further cuts in state and local services that could do inestimable damage to the state.

The plan presumably would give the Legislature time to work out a long-range reform of state taxes which no doubt would have to include property tax relief. But William Davis, assistant director of the Michigan Municipal League, raised an important question. He warned that if the Legislature puts off any boost in property taxes for a full year, it probably would have to play catch-up in 1982 to recover the funds lost. And since 1982 is another election year, Davis doesn't think a tax increase would be likely that year.

The Democratic proposal comes with impressive support from Sen-ate Majority Leader William Faust as well as Sens. Doug Ross of Southfield and Bill Huffman of Madison Heights. Yet it might be well to recall that it was Doug Ross, when head of the Citizens Lobby, who proposed that Michigan could repeal the sales tax on food and drugs without imposing any new taxes to replace the lost revenues. The public may remember what happened. The sales tax on food and drugs was repealed but the state income tax promptly had to be increased to make up for the deficit in revenues.

SO WHEN Ross proposes this time that property taxes can be frozen, the citizen should be forgiven if he suspects this is another move that won't work out quite as advertised. In fact, we wonder whether this is an indirect way to set the stage for another increase in the state income tax in Michigan.

Even with President-elect Ronald Reagan's good intentions, it is unlikely that the new Republican administration will be able to substantially reduce the current high rate of inflation within a year or so. If that premise is sound, then more revenues will be needed at both the state and local levels just to finance the current level of services which already have been slashed to the bone by the recent cutbacks proposed by Gov. William Milliken.

We are inclined to agree that the votes on the three proposed constitutional amendments last month indicated strong support for property tax relief even though none of them was approved. But capping the property tax strikes us as a poor way to get at the prob-lem. What is really required in this state is an overall review of the full tax load borne by citizens and businessmen alike before any freeze or reform is put into effect.

The Municipal League's Davis said the senators were playing Russian roulette by making their proposal. In this case, the victims would not be the senators but those requiring public services, whether they are children in the public schools and universities, the needy, or those who are institutionalized. So even as an interim solution to the property tax problem, the freeze looks like a poor idea.

Off to a good start

The recently-elected Charter Commission that will try to reorganize Wayne County's government got off to a good start last week by electing Detroit attorney George Ward as chairman and authorizing the appointment of four temporary committees.

Ward appears to be an excellent choice on several grounds. He was the executive director in the early 1970s of the Detroit Charter Revision Commission and understands the drafting and other problems involved. He served as campaign treasurer for Ernest Browne, Jr., who ran against Mayor Young in the 1977 municipal election. That is a plus factor because it shows Ward is independent of Mayor Young although he says he has a lot of admiration for Detroit's mayor.

THE POINT is that Young is reported to be concerned that if the commission recommends election of a county executive as part of the new charter, the new post could make this official a strong rival of Detroit's mayor for political influence and power in the metropolitan area. Obviously, Mayor Young wouldn't care much for that,

Barbara Gattorn, Grosse Pointe's representative on the commission, had been reported as one of the four commissioners seeking the chairmanship but all withdrew when it appeared Ward had the votes to win. Ms. Gattorn has had experience in observing county government and, we are confident, will prove to be an independent, thoughtful participant in the commission's work.

WE HOPE the good start augurs well for the future work of the commission. It is increasingly obvious Wayne County's government needs reorganization which will centralize authority and responsibility so that the public and county employes will know who is minding the store. Under a new charter, the hope is that the county's government will be able to pull itself out of the near bankruptcy in which it finds itself and at the same time improve its service to its county constituency.

Forming food cooperatives

If all goes according to plan, hundreds of families in 30 Michigan counties will begin making substantial savings on their food bills within the next few months.

The project under the direction of Ronald Cotterill, MSU Extension agricultural economist and Agricultural Experiment Station researcher, is being managed by Elizabeth Scott, coordinator. Counties enrolled to date include Ottawa, Antrim, Charlevoix, Kalkaska, Baraga, Houghton, Keweenaw, Shiawassee, Oceana, Lenawee, Sanilac, Tuscola, Iosco, Marquette, Montcalm, Emmet, Arenac, Ogemaw, Gogebic, Ontonagon, Saginaw Van Buren, Macomb Montmorency, Presque Isle, Mencyninee, Co-sponsors include the Michigan Office of Services to the Aging; the Michigan Department of Labor; the Michigan Federation of Food Cooperatives; the Michigan Department of Health and the MSU Departments of Agricultural Economics, Family Ecology Resource Development and Food Science and Human Nutrition.

Scott hopes that each cooperative will begin with 20 to 30 people who will be trained in organizing, implementing and managing a cooperative.

"A large segment of this training will entail business management and the principles of forming a corpora-tion," Scott says. "Technical assistance will be given on such things as sales tax for non-food items.'

This training period is expected to run about two days. Follow-up will be provided by county Extension staff members and Scott, who believes the new cooperatives will be able to begin their purchasing within a few weeks of formal organiza-

Teens invited to air divorce experiences

Many discussions and seminars are focused on the needs of divorced parents, but seldom do the teenage children, those also victimized by the divorce process, get the opportunity to vent their feelings about this sit-

A new workshop offered by Oakland University's Continuum Center will give teens a chance to share their feelings with other teens whose parents have divorced this Saturday, Dec. 6, from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. It is designed to provide teens with coping strategies to deal with their own unique circumstances when divorce causes their family to break up.

"It is especially hard for teenagers who are trying to learn to grow up, as well as grow away from home, when their home life has drastically changed because of their parents' divorce," says Mar-jie Potter, workshop leader.

Ms. Potter has coordinated the Continuum Center's adult divorce workshops for years. From those programs, as well as her own experience as a divorced parent, she saw that there was clearly a need for a similar workshop for teenagers.

"This will give teenagers a chance to see how much they are like others in handling the emotional stages of their parents' divorce. They should be able to learn from each other in this group situation about how to communicate with their parents, who may often be angry at life."

Potter is a counselor with the Displaced Homemaker Project at Macomb Community College. She also has a private counseling practice in Birmingham. Her own 16year-old daughter will participate in the "When Your Parents Get Divorced" work-

Registration information may be obtained by phoning the Continuum Center, 377-3033. Fee for the full-day workshop is $15.

South faces question marks, top teams

Grosse Point South High School Varsity Team name: Blue Devils Coach: George Petrouleas League: Eastern Michigan League (EML)

Record last season: 14-8 third in the EML By Peggy O'Connor

One look at the schedule and a visit with varsity coach George Petrouleas leads to a single conclusion: right now, South's 1980-81 basketball season is one big question mark

As the schedule shows, the team's first four games are non-league contestsagainst the likes of Highland Park, Notre Dame, Utica Ford and Warren Cousino. And as Petrouleas says, they won't be easy

"Highland Park just missed winning the state championship last year. They are returning five starters-plus an all-stater. Last year, they beat us in the last seven seconds of play."

"Then, we face Notre Dame, They're returning all of their lettermen. After our first four games, we'll have a true indication of how well the team will do this

As for the team, Petrouleas says that the lineup is pretty much set. "We're in a situation where we've got five returning lettermen and all five figure in our plans."

"I think we're set on our top seven players at this point—the scrimmage (played Nov. 29) will give us more insight. Also, we played this summer and that helped give us an idea what we'd have this year," Petrouleas says.

The key players in South's drive to the EML title include forward John DeBoer, a 6'4" senior who made the all-conference team and led the Blue Devils in scoring in 1979-80. DeBoer is also an All-State football player.

Guard Glen Piche, a 6-foot senior, begins his fourth year on the varsity squad. He, too, was All-Conference and a Blue Devil leading scorer, but he is recovering from an injury he received playing varsity football and is-yes, you guessed it-a question mark.

Petrouleas calls 6'9" senior center Stark Langs the "key" to the team's success, but says he lacks playing time.

Other important players include Dean Graham, a 6'3" forward and the varsity football quarterback, and 5'11" guards Pete of the EML because of millage problems Stavale and Tommy Emmerich,

Players to watch for include Tom Gentile, a 6'3" forward; Paul Gutwald, a 6'2" forward; Bill Winzer a shooting guard; Dan Shine, a back-up at guard and forward Jin Schaafsma

From those 11 players, Petrouleas says, "Assuming we're healthy, we've got our starting line-up for the opening game."

Given the size and experience of his probable starters and despite the rough schedule, South appears to be one of the EML's top teams. But you couldn't get George Petrouleas to say that,

"I'm not one to make predictions, be cause basketball should be won on the floor. We're anticipating a better year than last year. There are a few question marks, but if our big center comes through and we stay healthy—there's no telling how well we can do."

"On paper, we're the pre-season favorites and realistically, we should be on top of the heap. But, as I said, I don't make pre-

Looking past the first four grueling nonleaguers, one who would make predictions would say that South will have little competition. The Port Huron schools are out and South had to fill in a few games with the St. Clair schools. But there's always Grosse Pointe North,

"North has the size, but I don't know how we'll match up. It's always a grudge game," Petrouleas says, And it follows those first tough games and comes just before the Christmas holidays. Another question mark

One question Petrouleas doesn't have is about his basic basketball program.

"We have a great basketball program here at South in that the junior varsity and freshman teams are coordinated by a competent staff. I can look forward to having players who know the fundamentals."

Hank Lewandowski coaches the junior varsity Blue Devils. Tom Molloy guides the freshman team. Petrouleas is aided by varsity assistant Tony Niarhos.

So Petrouleas, in his second year as varsity basketball coach at South, is faced with some uncertainties about this year's squad. Some of his questions will be answered by 8 p.m. tomorrow, Friday, Dec. when South faces rival Highland Park in the South gym.

At least by then he'll know the score of the junior varsity game

North's problem: Bi-County teams look better in '81

High School Varsity Team name: Norsemen Coach: Ray Ritter League: Bi-County Record last season: 11-10, second in the conference

By Peggy O'Connor

If coach Ray Ritter's Norsemen are to go anywhere in the Bi-County league this season, they'll have to overcome a few of what Ritter calls improved teams.

And even though the Norsemen were second in their conference last season, it's doubtful a repeat of last season's 11-10 record will take them very far in such an improved league.

"The league is better balanced this year than before," Ritter says. "L'Anse Creuse is good. Lakeshore has a lot of players returning and they'll be very good. I'd say those were the two best teams in the league right now.

"Everybody else in the league looks a little bit better this year, too. Lakeview if their young players can come through. They've played the younger kids the last few years and now they're coming around."

If is a big word for Ritter's squad, too. He's confident that his team can keep up with the improvements in the league.

Sports at North

"I think we have a shot at the title if the kids come along like I think they will,"

The kids that Ritter refers to are the starting five-all seniors. At center is Mark Sanders, who at 6'7" should be a leader on the floor. Manning the forward spots are Rob Zeiger, 6'5" and Dave Monark, 6'1". Bruce Stewart and Dan McEnroe, both at 6', will fill the guard positions.

If any of the starting five shoull be sidelined, Ritter has four reserves who could step in. Juniors Andy Pflaum, a guard-forward, and Dan Sheridan, a guard, could fill in at those positions.

Seniors Ken Spaeth, a forward, and Dave Simon, a center, are other Norsemen to watch for this year, Ritter says.

Ritter, who has coached at North since the school opened in 1968, is aided by varsity assistant Gary Bennett. The junior varsity coach is George Olman; freshman coach is Jack Wachter.

Ritter won't have long to wait to get an idea if his team can keep up with improved Bi-County foes. North's first league match view High School.

He'll get an immediate indication of this year's team tomorrow night, Friday, Dec. 5, when the varsity squad travels to Sterling Heights to face Sterling Heights High

NH leads All-Sports race

North High

With one third of the 1980-81 high school sports schedule now complete, Grosse Pointe North has a definite edge in the running for the Bi County All Sports Trophy.

While the winter sports teams prepare for their long seasons, the final fall point totals have been evaluated. The records show that Grosse Pointe North won the overall fall sports race with 31 points.

North took first places in both the boys' and girls' cross country, the girls' tennis and the girls' swimming. In the two remaining Bi County League sports, varsity football and the girls' varsity basketball, North placed third.

Foints were awarded in the reverse order the teams finished in each sport For example in the boys' cross country, the sixth place team was awarded one point while North was awarded six points for its first place finish.

The final fall All-Sports totals were: North finishing first with 31 points; Lakeview, second with 25; third place went to Lakeshore with 201/2 points; L'Anse Creuse and Southlake tied for fourth with 15 points each: Clintondale was sixth with 912 points and Brablec finished seventh with five points.

The best way to make sausage delicious is to make it with the best cuts of pork.

So at Bob Evans Farms, we don't settle for just the pork trimmings like some other companies do. Instead, we include all the choice fresh hams and tenderloins in every pound of sausage we make.

Then we limit the fat. So you get lean sausage that cooks up plump and tender every time. Not greasy.

And there's nothing artificial in Bob Evans Sausage. We use no preservatives. So try Bob Evans Farms Sausage.

AMAZING! Yes, it's just amazing what my new neighbor, Tom Karas, a recent graduate of the University of Detroit Dental School, has done with the old Victorian home next door to the Colonial Shop. It's one of the most charming clinics I've ever seen. Tom says anybody that wants to have a look, should just drop in. Though the setting and the services he plans to provide will be personable and old fashioned. Like evening and Saturday hours. His AMANA RADAR range, mi office is equipped with the very latest dental technology which is fascinating to look at, too, by the way. So, if you're looking for a
