Piano meet could put Grosse Pointe on the map

Michigan's most talented young pianists will be invited to the War Memorial next summer to compete before a panel of prominent judges for more than $1,000 in prizes in the Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival's first state-wide piano competition.

The event, made possible by a grant of $1,000 from the Michigan Foundation for the Arts, was announced last week by Music Festival Founder Alex Suczek, who will serve as general chairman. The competition will be open to the public at the Memorial on March 21 and 22.

The goal of the event is to "encourage and assist the development of outstanding pianists in Michigan," according to Suczek.

"WE'VE RECEIVED such terrific support from the Grosse Pointe Symphony, the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and Antal Dorati that we now have a competition of major proportions. It could become one of the most important competitions in the state and put Grosse Pointe on the map as a key cultural center," Suc-

The jury for the competition will be led by Detroit's pianist laureate Mischa Kottler. The complete panel, which will be announced later already includes world-renowned Detroit-born pianist James Tocco, MichiState-wide competition will be held in March gan State University artist in residence Ralph Votapek, Grosse Pointe Symphony Musical Director Felix Resnik, DSO Artistic Administrator Andrew Raeburn and Madame Ilse von Alpenheim (Mrs. Antal Dorati).

As part of the prize in the new competition, the winner will play a recital as the final program of the 1981 Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival. First prize also will include $1,000 in stipends-$750 for the festival recital and $250 for a concerto performance with the Grosse Pointe Symphony during its 1981-82 season. The winner also will audition for a concerto performance with the DSO. A second prize of $250 will be awarded to the runner-up.

tion came out of the festival's first presentation of a young artist Elizabeth Lesesne, last summer, according

"Elizabeth's debut was such a success, for her and the festival, that we became acutely conscious of what an exciting and rewarding thing a young artist debut could be. "And competition is just the way to do it," Suczek said.

Management of the competition and preliminary screening of applicants will be conducted by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial and a competition committee under Suczek. Working with him are Mrs. Sterling Sanford, general chairman of the Sumutive director of the War Memorial Mrs. Thomas V. LoCicero and Mrs. Robert Hartwick, Festival patrons, Detroit pianist and conductor Julius Chajes and Mrs. Theodore Lettvin, director of the non-profit Great Lakes Performing Artists Association.

Suczek, who is also president of Pro Musica of Detroit, Inc., founded the Grosse Pointe féstival in 1957. Since then the program has presented a wide range of outstanding artists including the Detroit Symphony, the New York Dance Quartet and many internationally famous soloists.

New life in Grosse Pointe

Former boat people comfortable in Park

By Gregory Jakub

While relentless inflation and unemployment darken the holidays for too many Detroiters, the future looks brighter than ever for at least one Grosse Pointe Park family.

This will be the third Christmas in Grosse Pointe for a 14member family which arrived in Detroit on Dec. 15, 1978 during the exodus of the "boat people" from communist Viet-

Fearing for their lives, the father Huu Lam closed the family restaurant in suburban Saigon and started his family on their flight to the U.S. Huu and his brother arrived in this country six months after their family.

For most of the family, their first Christmas in the west came 10 days after arriving in Grosse Pointe having just completed an eight-month journey from the east during which they endured hunger, separation, and

They were taken in by members of the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church Project Good Harbor who immediately provided clothes, shelter and food for what was the area's first refugee family.

Two years and several newspaper and television stories later, the family today is self-sufficient and with the help of Memorial Church volunteers has rented a home in the Park, found jobs for the adults, and placed the children in local schools.

THEY HAVE settled into a pattern of daily life that is not different than. most middle class American families where rent increases and car payments are a way of life.

What they've retained from the east is the quality of graciousness which has led them to commit themselves to their sponsors, Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, Much of the family's social activities involve church activities-the children attend Sunday school and sing in the choir and the mother and father attend classes for new church members.

Last year the family prepared Viet-namese food for a sit-down dinner at-tended by 150 members of the congregation and last week presented the church with two oriental lanterns.

Grosse Pointe Memorial is the first church the family has belonged to. The family is of Chinese descent and their religion was based on Buddhism and other beliefs not founded in any religion, according to Rem Purdy, chairman of Project Good Harbor.

Christianity apparently is suited to the family, especially the Christmas custom which is also celebrated in the east, according to Phan, the 12 year-old family member who is most fluent in English. Although Christmas is observed, it is the new year which is the major holiday in eastern culture, Phan said.

Since their basic needs have been met, the only barrier facing the family is language which the young ones have easily overcome but still poses problems to the four adults in their 50's, Phan said.

Nevertheless, Huu Lam, the father, said that language is not a problem in his job as a maintenance man with Farmer Jack supermarkets nor does aunt Trinh find language problems at her job with the housekeeping department in the Detroit Plaza Hotel.

The mother, Chu Muoi, is kept busy at home with four children including one she discovered she was carrying during their trecherous trek from the

According to Chu Muoi, I'fe in this country has already given her family something there was little chance of having in Vietnam-education for all the children and freedom from fear.

When asked how the family's lives had changed in the last two years she said they were no longer worried about education or wars and that they had their friends at the church to thank for that.

Since the Lam family came to the area eight other refugee families have been sponsored by local churches.

Activities at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church have become an important part of life in this country for Huu Lam (at table head) and his family in the two years since they fled communist Vietnam. Pictured above is the family at the church's Advent dinner on Sunday, Dec. 7. At the left forefront is the family's newest member, Martha Joy, who was born shortly after the family arrived in Grosse Pointe in 1978. Across from her are Jim and Louise Hoyt. Lighting the Advent candle is Jessie Davis and to her right is Martha-Joy's aunt Que. Above the table is an oriental lantern that the family gave to the congregation at that morning's service. Learning English has presented few problems for the family's younger members. Pictured at right is 12year-old Phan whose mastery of English has earned her the job of translator for her family.

Farms offers interest free rehab loans

By Tom Greenwood

Interest-free housing rehabilitation loans or grants to Farms residents with low or moderate incomes are now available to qualified home owners, according to Farms City Clerk and Rehabilitation Co-ordinator

The funds are federal monies, set aside by the U.S. Congress, through the Department of Housing and Urban Development, (HUD), under the Community Development Block Grant Program. Wayne County is acting as a liaison for procuring and distributing the funds.

According to Solak, the Farms received $50,000 from the program. Under federal guidelines approximately $45,000 is available to citizens, after $5,000 goes to administrative

Of this $45,000, at least 80 percent is earmarked for two designated low to moderate incomes areas "targeted" by county officials and program guidelines as most worthy of the funding. The remaining $9,000 is available to other areas in the Farms.

"THE AREAS include the Bournemouth-Chalfonte-Barclay and Mack Avenue area to the city limits," said Solak, "while the other area runs approximately along Mapleton-Muir Roads between Kercheval and Grosse Pointe Boulevard, Included are Mc-Kinley and Fisher Roads between Ridge and Kercheval, and Meadow

"This area obviously contains structures such as Cottage Hospital and the retail establishments along Kercheval on the Hill. These structures do not qualify for funds."

There are two types of available funding-grants and loans. The requirement for a grant, which doesn't have to be repaid if the home owner

Gunmen rob Woods duo

By Gregory Jakub

Grosse Pointe Woods' recent crime wave continued last weekena wnen two gunmen robbed a man and woman in a home on Littlestone Road and burglars cleared a house on Renaud of more than $10,000 worth of jewelry.

No one was injured in either incident and Woods police say they are investigating two suspects arrested by East Detroit Police for a possible connection with the Woods robbery.

Woods Officer Arthur Gekiere answered a call about 7:45 p.m. Friday, Dec. 5 from the woman on Littlestone who said she had been robbed at gun point. The woman told police that she had opened her front door when she saw a friend pull his car into her driveway, police said.

As the man approached the door, two men believed to have come from behind the house, pulled out revolvers and ordered the man and woman into the house telling them several times "no trouble," police

In the house, the gunmen took a gold charm bracelet valued at $1,000, two rings valued at $400 and $100, a cashmere and raccoon fur coat valued at $400 and $20 from her purse. police said. They also took about $80 from the man's wallet before fleeing the home on foot, police said.

The robbery victims described one gunman as a black male in his 20's, six feet tall and thin. He had a slight beard and was wearing dark clothing and a ski hat. The other robber was also a black male, in his 20's, about 5 feel 8 inches, 150 to 160 pounds, police said.

Two suspects matching the robbers' descriptions were later picked up by East Detroit police but Woods police do not yet have enough evidence to connect them with the robbery, according to Exec. Lt. Jack Patterson.

In another incident, Woods Officer Jack Treppa was investigating a burglary on Renaud in which a jewelry box was taken when he noticed the home next door looked like it had been entered also.

Upon investigating, police found the second home had been entered through the kitchen door by burglars who searched a dining room cabinet.

The upstairs bedrooms were also scarched and 12 pieces of jewelry valued at about $10,500 were reported taken from a box, police said. About $250 in cash was also taken. according to police.

Statistics show that the rate of burglaries in the Woods so far this year has increased about 100 percent over the total for all of 1979

Woods council approves controversial parking lot

By Gregory Jakub

Citing the need to support businesses on Mack north of Vernier, the Grosse Pointe Woods City Council Monday approved plans to use a vacant lot on Hollywood and Mack for a new 12-car parking lot.

The approval came despite organized opposition from residential property owners of the Hollywood Subdivision Improvement Association who presented the council with 136 petition signatures against the parking lot.

Parking lot supporters cited a recent Mack Avenue blight prevention study which advocates improved parking in that area as a way to keep businesses vital and prevent a decline in residential property values.

The residents also performed their own study of parking patterns in the area which they said showed that there is already an over-abundance of parking and the new lot is un-

Opponents of the lot said the value of property adjacent to the proposed lot would actually decrease and that deed restrictions on the vacant property prevented it from being rezoned for commercial use,

After approving the purchase of the lot Councilman Fredrick Lovelace said th city would not rezone the property but, as the city charter provides, use it for whatever purpose

Allen Dickinson, spokesman for the Hollywood Subdivision Improvement Association said during the public hearing on the proposed lot that this group would take legal action to prevent the city from constructing the lot if the council approved the plan. Afterwards Dickinson said he didn't expect the plan to be approved and his group would have to discuss whether they will seek legal relief.

Representatives from Mr. Vern's hair styling salon, A and A Reel Repair, Hollywood Clinic, and Anton's Restaurant all testified that the proposed lot was important for the con

"While not a substitute for a physician's diagnosis, this tape can play a valuable role in helping parents know symptoms to watch out for."

Improved diagnosis and treatment has reduced the fatality rate for Reve's Syndrome from 40 percent to 12 percent in recent years, Dr. Shekerjian said.

The Reye's Syndrome tape reports that:

• The disease usually follows a viral infection, especially flu or chicken pox, and occurs most frequently in the Midwest, including Michigan.

 It appears most frequently in "flu" season - January through March - and is most common among infants to 18-year-olds.

• Symptoms are persistent vomiting, listlessness, irrita-bility, confusion, convulsions or delirium. • There is no known cause

South High graduate killed in E. Lansing

A 1979 graduate of South High School was killed by a hit-and-run driver early Friday, Dec. 5, while walking along side Michigan Avenue near the Michigan State campus in East Lansing.

Dead on arrival at Edward Sparrow Hospital was Randall W. Steen, 19, of Berk-shire road. He was the son James and Elizabeth Steen. Mr. Steen was a former football star of the 1935-36 Detroit Lions.

According to police reports, Steen, a sophomore at Michigan State University, was carried along on the hood of the car for about a alf-mile after being struck. His body was thrown free of the car after it allegedly struck a utility pole and some trees.

Police said the car then made a U-turn and fled. Arrested later Friday and charged with negligent homi-cide was Robert W. Russell, 31, of Lansing. He was charged in district court and released on personal recognizance bond. Lansing police are seeking two potential witnesses to the accident.

In the 12 years since the first edition was published, much of the architectural devolpment has taken place in the suburbs so the new book looks at structures in Southfield, Troy and Dearborn.

Gandelot said the board has not been informed of who is representing Coats in the negotiations, Coats deals directly with the school system attorney Doug West, and not board members, the board president said.

According to one source, what began as a three-line request that he be released from his contract has turned into a three-page revision of Coats' five-year contract with the trustees that covers vacation pay use of the hoard-owned superintendent's residence and other provisions.

Coats joined Grosse Pointe schools in 1976 and has accepted a job as professor in University of Michigan School of Education.

NH students compete in math

Fifteen North High School students finished in the top 4 percent on Part I of the 24th annual Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition and are among about 1.000 Michigan students who comneted in the final examination on Wednesday, Dec. 10. North math students who qualified for the second test were Kurt Buechler, Joseph Cobau, Michael Cramer, Mary Domienik, Mike Fry, Constance Gornie, Peter Jacobus, Marc Kibler, Margaret Kroli. kowski, Doug Maus, Dan Mc-Enroe, Art Nichols, Richard Roland, Shawn Williams and

Scott Young. The competition is sponsored by the Michigan Section of the Mathematical Association of America and is designed to foster a wider interest in mathematics, to focus attention on the necessity for mathematical training in most professions and trades and to identify and provide scholarships for capable mathematics students in Michigan. The 100 winners of the competition will be honored at an awards program to be held at Central Michigan University in February, with half of the winners receiving scholarships, Scholarships totaled $12,200 in last year's competition. The competition funds include contributions from the Burroughs Corp., Michigan Bell, the Kuhlman Corp. and the Michigan Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

John Bingham, math department chairman, served as the high school supervisor for 102 students competing in the examination.

Interest-free loans available for Farms rehab

"This is a pretty good deal considering that up to $5,000 is available, plus another $1,000 for weatherization, to correct current or incipient violations, (problems that may deteriorate into violations within a year.)"

"Rehabilitation is the updating of existing homes to today's code," said Solak, "Qualifying work includes updating of electrical service, replacement of plaster, plumbing and heating units, removal of unwanted or unsafe structures, repairs to garages, porches, chimneys, awnings, doors, windows, installation of handrails, exhaust vents and many other code related items."

A QUESTION and answer informational sheet is available from the Farms to all interested residents. The sheet contains facts and figures of the program, plus qualification requirements for applicants.

Qualifications are tentative. The resident must own or occupy the home, or be buying it through a mortgage or land contract which is not delinquent.

The applicant must have less than $15,000 in liquid assets, and must complete an informational package that will be verified and evaluated by the Farms.

The total income of all non-student adult members of the household must be less than income limits used for the program, including all income, taxable and non-taxable.

The Farms provides a chart to appl cants wishing to ascertain whether their income falls within the rehabilitation guidelines.

To qualify for a loan or grant, the annual taxable income for adult household members not students must be equal to or lower than the following figures to qualify:

• One person-$13,300 loan, $8,500

• Two people—$15,500 loan, $9,700

• Three people - $17,500. loan, $10,950 grant

 Four people — $19,450 loan, $12,-150 grant

• Five people - $20,650 loan, $13,-100 grant

• Six people—$21,850 loan, $14,100

• Seven people—$23,100 loan, $15,-C50 grant

• Eight or more people -- $24,300 Lan. $16,050 grant.

"No funds will be given for work on homes that require only minor repairs," said Solak. "The homes must need work to meet the current codes.

There must be actual violations of the building code.'

After qualification is confirmed, the Farms will inspect the applicants home to determine the items of work that qualify for the loan or grant.

Homeowners will be required to make arrangements with their own contractors, "The work must be bid must get three competitive bids based upon the specifications developed by the Farms. The city will decide the lowest and best bid, and that amount will determine the funds received."

"If the resident desires to use a contractor other than the one chosen, he must pay the difference out of his own funds," continued Solak. "The home owner may choose his own colors, designs, etc. within the lowest bid accepted. The final check will be issued jointly to the owner and the contractor, with the homeowner en-

"The contractor must also guarantee his work for one year after completion," said Solak. "All warranties that apply will be given to the home owner and a final inspection will be made by the city building department.

dorsing the check to the contractor."

According to Solak, the Rehabilitation Program officially went into effect about a week ago, and runs through the fiscal year 1981. "We hope the monies will be expended by then," said Solak.

"But there is no deadline to speak of. If the funds aren't exhausted by July, 1981, they'll just be kept in reserve for homeowners."

So far, the Farms has seen some interest in the loans and grants, "We've had about 16 inquiries so far," said Solak. "Things are a little slow this time of year concerning home improvements, but once spring rolls around, I'm sure we'll end up utilizing all these funds."

Study says 'dialing down' is most effective

By Gregory Jakub

After months of research and computer analysis, an energy conservation study of Grosse Pointe Woods homes has found that the most efficient energy saving measure is turning down the thermostat.

The study is part of a $5,000 project initiated by the Woods Block Grant Advisory Commission and approved by the City council in April and funded equally by the city and a federal block grant.

Gerald Luedtke and Associates, Inc., a Detroit planning firm, was assigned to perform the study and summarized its findings at the Nov. 25 meeting of the Woods Planning Commission.

THE MOST important finding is that the cheapest energy conservation measure for Grosse Pointe Woods is thermostat control," according to Christopher Doozan, associate planner with the Luedtke firm.

The report's conclusions are not an end in themselves but are part of the larger project "attempting to develop zoning and building codes that will have an impact on energy conservation," according to Gerald McNamara, Woods assistant city manager.

The study surveyed 244 of the Woods' 6,700 households with a lengthy questionaire that compiled each home's energy consumption and conservation characteristics. The data was then processed by computer at Michigan State University to profile energy use and compute dollar savings realized through various conservation methods.

The 76-page report concludes that a combination of measures are the best way to reduce energy use and costs. But, the most dramatic of all conservation techniques is simply reducing thermostat settings, the study

"(The) heating requirements of the average single family residence in Grosse Pointe Woods can be reduced by 19 percent by lowering winter thermostat settings . . . installing insulation . . . storm windows and doors , and by caulking and weatherstripping," the study says A related study also demonstrates how proper placement of trees and shrubs can

But, "for the average house, twothirds of the ... savings expected for the combined (conservation) actions can be realized by resetting the thermostat to recommended levels," the study says.

help cool a home or reduce wind velocities in winter.

The levels recommended by Michigan State University's Project Conserve are 68 degrees in the day and 60 degrees at night while the state of Michigan's Department of Commerce suggests 68 degrees daytime and 55 at night, the study says.

Survey data show that the median temperature kept by those who responded was 68.5 degrees for daytime and 66.2 at night, with almost 50 percent of respondents reporting a daytime temperature higher than 68 degrees, the study says.

Data also show that thermostat settings are directly related to the number of people in the household during the day, especially if the daytime residents are senior citizens.

Even though 75.8 of the survey respondents said they have already lowered their thermostats, the study recommends that nearly all of them could still reduce their settings to meet the recommended levels.

An average saving of $71.98 a year could be realized by those who lower their thermostats to the recommended levels and $55.79 a year by keeping higher levels on thermostats for centralized cooling systems in the summer, the study says.

It says that lowering thermostats is a "costless" conservation method, but adds that its cost is in "the wearing of additional clothing and in the e-forts to accustom" oneself to lower

THE STUDY ALSO eyaluates and makes recommendations concerning home insulation, landscaping, storm windows and doors, weather-stripping and caulking. But it emphasizes that these methods are not attractive to homeowners because compared to lowering the thermostat, their cost is high, individual impact is minimal, and their payback periods are "discouragingly long."

The study doesn't deny the collective impact of all conservation techniques or that any one method may outweigh the effect of lowering thermostats in particular cases.

But since households are not purely rational in their behavior, the study suggests that "it may be a more efficient allocation of society's resources to seek to change householders' perceptions of the costs and benefits of lowered thermostats than to educate householders about the costs and benefits of more expensive actions."

When asked to react to the study's conclusions, Grosse Pointe Woods Chief Building Inspector Earl Wakely said he had not thoroughly read the energy report but had heard it summarized at the November planning commission meeting. "It's almost common sense," Wakey said of the study's recommendations.

He added that he is familiar with he had not yet seen the report and energy conservation standards from the state and other sources and the energy study summary given at the planning commission meeting "didn't tell me anything I didn't already know," Wakely said.

Data and statistics in the study could be the most useful and interesting aspect of the report, Wakely said.

Woods Mayor George Freeman said

mendations.

Gerald McNamara agreed that the report's major finding concerning thermostat settings is information that has been readily available for years from various sources.

"If after all of this time, people still aren't (lowering their thermostats), then it is worthwhile information," McNamara said.

Qualify for energy audit

Experts say the technology already exists to cut energy consumption in the U.S. by 30 to 40 percent. The problem is motivating people to conserve. By giving your house an energy audit — a checkup that shows just where you are losing heat you can cut costs and save energy, says the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan.

In most states, the major public utility companies already offer these audits. Detroit Edison and Michigan Consolidated Gas Company are now conducting a pilot program of 200 homes in Ann Arbor. By Spring, 1981, the audits will be available in the tri-county area.

If you live in a one- to four-family house, you qualify for an audit; and when the Michigan program is approved the fee will be $10. Detroit Edison will offer a plan to payback the fee over a 10-month period. Inspectors suggest alterations and tell you "pay.back" time, or how long it will take for the energy adjustments to pay for themselves in the money you will save on heating bills. The Public Service Commission considers seven years or less to be a reasonable payback period.

The federal government allows energy tax credits, and 43 states including Michigan grant some sort of tax benefits to residents who spend money to reduce their energy use or to generate their own

Because he is also project development engineer in the Division of Highways and Transportation Facilities of the Wisconsin Department of Transportation, Lautz is well aware of the ill-effects of economic downturns, reduced gasoline tax income and federal funding upon highway operations.

"Many areas across the country," Lautz pointed out, will not have the money they've had in the past to provide the level of manpower, equipment and materials to clear winter clogged and slick roadways. Prime Time

For Senior Citizens-

By Marian Trainor

How does a group of concerned citizens progress from sponsoring a nutrition center in a Grosse Pointe Woods church to a full-fledged corporation, serving as an informational and community organizing body addressing the problems of senior citizens of the five Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods?

That is how Seniors Onward for Change (SOC) came to be-and the progress was not easy, according to Arthur Jamieson, one of the movers and shakers behind the formation of SOC and present member of the board.

He recalls the work of Mary Aley and Diane Heavener who, through their work with the nutrition program, saw the need for an encompassing organization that would address the concerns of the citizens of this particular area.

He remembers with gratitude the work of Dr. Robert Linthicum, pastor of Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church who contributed so much to the movement.

"He brought a background of experience from working with senior citizens in Chicago," remarked Mr. Jamieson."We all got a mini-course in gerontology from him."

Through the Ministerial Association, 15 churches sent out laymen to talk to the older people in the community and to assess their needs.

Another group followed them, to check on the first survey.

The survey turned up some interesting and unexpected facts. The group saw the need for a more extensive program and SOC was born.

WITH A GRANT of $6,000, SOC conducted another more intensive survey and with another grant of $3,000 the findings were computerized by Elaine Reed. The need for SOC became even more apparent.

To begin with, they found that the population 65 years or older had increased in the area from 12 percent to 14 percent in 1976.

They also found that contrary to the supposition that all who live in the five Pointes and Harper Woods are wealthy, many live on fixed incomes rapidly being eroded by inflation. Some live in large homes which were bought when they were raising families and now are too costly to maintain.

Many are not poor enough to be eligible for government assistance but not wealthy enough to live comfortably. Alternative housing is almost non-existent. Condominiums are too expensive in this community and there are no senior citizen apartments. There are no retirement homes or minimal care convalescent homes. This leaves the senior citizen with two alternatives-stay in his home and ignore the repairs which he can

The food and money will be given to the Soup Kitchen, an organization in downtown Detroit. The Kitchen feeds needy people every

The project was coordinated by Mo Cross, head of the Special projects Committee for the SA.

"She called around to different organizations" said Magee, "and after examining the choices, the SA voted, and we picked the Soup Kitchen. Since we hadn't done anything for that group before, we felt it was a good

SENIOR CITIZENS everywhere suffer from physical limitations as they approach advanced years. Particularly weak in this community are the facilities and the trained personnel to deal with emotional and mental illness and degeneration.

Dealing with these problems is particularly difficult because of the lack cil, the Junior League of De. of community awareness. The survey troit, Northeast Guidance showed that people here have diffi-Council and other community culty anticipating for and making organizations will join the plans for the changes that come with

With basic needs identified through the survey, SOC conducted a census of all the groups and organizations in the field. They found that some organizations were doing a complete and satisfactory job in a defined area. They resolved that these activities should be recognized and supported but not duplicated.

One of the first projects SOC became involved in was a program of minor home repairs and chores for senior citizens in the Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods area. Money for the program came from annual grants to the area by the Wayne County Office of Program Development and Coordination. There are some 31 specific tasks listed with the stress being on minor repairs.

This year SOC received a grant from the Detroit Area on Agency for a one-year demonstration project that will provide information and referral services. Residents with a problem can call and will be put in touch with an agency or someone who can help them.

What began as a dream to provide services to a group of people who came for lunch at the Grosse Pointe Woods church made a giant step forward when SOC incorporated. With that status the organization became eligible to receive funds from concerned individuals, corporations and foundations.

"But the dream goes on," said Mr. Jamieson. "Someday we would like to establish a 'Food and Friendship' program in our own building where all our programs could be housed under one roof."

The nutrition program is still at the Grosse Pointe Presbyterian Church but the group must now seek other arrangements. They have received permission from the school board to use a room at the Brownell Middle

Strategies to achieve down-the-road goals have been drawn up. Foremost is a strategy of reflection and action -to reflect upon needs until a style of action presents itself. The aim is to make use of the groups already in existence in the community. Some of the suggested strategies are: a study of alternative means of transporation available and the senior citizens' needs for transportation; develop some specific programs that help people deal with their own needs; develop an educational design to enable people to understand what is happening to them socially and physically as they age; push for political sensitivity to seniors' needs by politicians, and economic sensitivity by business. SUCH GOALS are not achieved without hard work and commitment. Mr. Jamieson is typical of the many who give time, and energy to helping bring SOC into existence. A former football player, he's always led an active life. He had two careers before his retirement. He was a sales representative. Later he turned to a career in chemicals. Although he and Mrs. Jamieson have no children, he worked with cub scouts and boy scouts, giving up one week of vacation every year to go to camp with them. Presently he teaches catechism one evening a week at St. Peter Church. He has been asked to present a resume to the City of Harper Woods with the possibility of serving on the Housing Commission.

It is apparent that one with as much energy as Mr. Jamieson has much to contribute to SOC. There are 23 more like him on the board, each with some expertise and all with a deep commitment to making things better for senior citizens in the area. They are led by Mrs. Perry TeWalt, president, a former teacher who has worked with many organizations as a volunteer but never more assidu-ously than she has for SOC, attending meetings from morning until night.

With such a group, Seniors Onward for Change, will not fail in its objectives and that's a good thing for

The Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church will hold an unusual holiday event on Sunday, Dec. 14, when individual families recreate a nostalgic American Christmas with a mini pageant of the past.

Starting the Christmas season each individual or family may also participate in the Love Family experience. Names are drawn from a basket and each person or family then extends their friendship to another in some manner symbolizing a personal touch of Christmas.

The Religious Education Department is simultaneous-ly involved in exploring other religions and their re-lationship to Christmas in order to develop a deeper understanding of the mean-ing of Christmas and hymon ing of Christmas and human fellowship.

Who saves?

All of us are interested in conserving energy. It is in the national interest and our own self interest to do so, of course. With energy costs rising rapidly, conserving some of the energy used in our own homes is one way to offset fuel bills. But, as all of us have already learned, conservation methods at best provide only a slight rein on the rising cost of heating or cooling our homes. Yet it is true that in fuel use as in other ways a penny saved is a penny earned.

These musings are prompted by a new report prepared by Gerald Luedtke and Associates, in cooperation with the Institute for Familv and Child Study at Michigan State University, on "Energy-Related Characteristics of Single-Family Residences in Grosse Pointe Woods, Michigan." Questionnaires were distributed to a sample of 646 residents and the responses were processed by the Updated Project Conserve home energy analysis program at the MSU institute.

SO WHAT did the survey find

To nobody's surprise, it discovered that the best way for the average homeowner to save energy is to lower his thermostat in winter and raise it during the summer, if he has centrally-controlled air conditioning. Or, as the report put it, "two-thirds of the BTU savings expected for the combined (conservation) actions can be realized by resetting the thermostat to recommended levels." That comes out to a financial saving averaging $71.98 for those who lower thermostats in winter and averaging $55.79 for those raising their cooling thermostats in summer.

While we could have figured out those savings in a general way from our own observations, it is true the survey did discover that Woods residents are not lowering their thermostats to the recommended levels in the winter time. Project Conserve recommended settings of 68 degrees in the daytime and 60 at night, while the Michigan Department of Commerce proposed 68 degrees in the daytime and 55 at night. Yet the median reported by the survey respondents was 68.5 degrees in the daytime and 66.2 degrees at night.

While three-quarters of the respondents reported they had lowered their thermostat settings durpointed out that 83.2 percent of those people would have to lower their settings still further to reach the recommended levels. And they would have to lower the settings more at night than in the daytime to achieve these levels, indicating that Woods residents need to cool off more at night than in the daytime in the winter at least. We'll draw no conclusions about what that might mean in the Woods or anywhere else

The report also points to another obvious conclusion: that while the resetting of the thermostats to recommended levels is "costless," there is a cost "in the wearing of additional clothing and in the efforts to accustom oneself to lower temperatures." Very true. But did we need a survey to find that out?

The report did point to other methods of conserving energy in the home, such as adding attic and wall insulation, installing storm windows and doors, using weather-stripping and caulking, and even planting trees and shrubs to control solar radiation, the temperature and the wind. But the major savings would come from turning down thermostats in the winter even though three-quarters of the people surveyed already are doing just that but not to the extent recommended.

The study is part of a $5,000 project financed by Grosse Pointe Woods and federal funds to develop zoning and building codes that will aid in energy conservation. From that point of view, perhaps the study will prove to be beneficial. If more attention can be paid to energy conservation in building and landscaping future homes and commercial establishments, perhaps the money will prove to have been well spent,

BUT OBVIOUSLY IT did not take a study to prove to the average Pointe homeowner that turning down the thermostat is the most efficient way to save energy in cold weather. Nor does he need to be told that turning down the thermostat can mean additional dollar savings. With fuel costs still escalating, this average homeowner already has had that message written indelibly on his pocketbook.

publicly-financed surveys that merely confirm what the average homeowner already knows tend to fuel his anger at those ofered their thermostat settings dur-ing the last three years, the report spending the public funds to do so.

Turning the clock back

Apparently carried away by the would like to be known as "Grandma" Bell.

That at least is one conclusion that can be drawn from the Bell System announcement that it is reviving, on a limited edition basis, the historic magneto wall telephone in a commemorative called American Edition Circa 1882. It is, indeed, a working replica of the telephone of that period, manufactured by Western Electric, which made the original instrument, and authenticated by the Edison Institute's Henry Ford Museum at Greenfield Village.

Not that Bell is turning the clock back to 1882 in all respects. The replica is a modern dial phone which means that while the hand crank on the side of the box still turns, it cannot be used, as it was in 1882, to activate a magneto to signal the telephone operator cr "central." The price, too, is at 1980 or 1981 levels, although Bell promotion calls it "the remarkable price of $429."

In a way, Bell is paying tribute current wave of nostalgia for the good old days, "Ma" Bell now operator by bringing out this 1882 replica. As Bell itself recalls, "She answered the cranked signal and connected the parties. She became a vital link in community life because she was in touch with everyone and she could put people in touch with each other. She knew who was sick or engaged or away on a visit; she called law officers and doctors. Community life flowed through her."

> As Bell points out, the telephone after its invention in 1876 by Alexander Graham Bell helped draw the sprawling American continent into a nation. "Central" played her role in that unifying process but now, except for special services, has been retired to the sidelines along with the wall telephone. The people who have everything probably will gobble up the 100,000 replicas Bell is offering but talking into those wall phones won't offer quite the same thrill without those conversations with "central."

School aid is one of those areas taking a bigger than average cut. There are two reasons. Property tax is up so schools are not so bad off as far as their local revenue is concerned. A Grosse Pointe Christmas calendar of events

Christ Church's Boy Choir has kept busier than usual during this Christmas season and, as the photos above and below show, they take their work very seriously. This year alone the youngsters have already premiered two works, one at University of Windsor and the other to celebrate Christ Church's 50th anniversary. This summer the group will go to Europe for a two-week tour including Evensong at Winchester Cathedral and St. Paul Cathedral in London. They will perform Dec. 14, at 7:30 p.m. The boys are accepted for training at ages 8 and 9 and perform until they are 13 or 14 years old. They meet four times a week and sing at Sunday services with a professional Men's

Ferry offers holiday concert

Ferry School will present its annual Christmas Concert on Wednesday, Dec. 17 at 7:30 p.m. under the vocal music direction of Judie Bailey-Mozer and instrumental director Nathan Judson.

The program will begin with a performance by the kindergarten followed by the first, second and third grades singing together the complete 20-minute version of "T'was the Night Before Christmas."

Fourth grade students with the help of art instructor Terry Varga have prepared illustrations and slides to accompany the program.

Next, the 101-member choir will march singing the 17th century Latin hymn, "Adeste Fideles" ("O Come, all ye Faithful") in Latin accompanied by two flute soloists, Stacy Telegadas and Cindy Wishart.

They will also sing "Were You There on Christmas Night?" and the original German version of "Stille Nacht" ("Silent Night") with flutist Susanne Mammer.

The eight male members of the double quartet will perform "Do You Hear What I Hear," "Little Drummer Boy." "White Christmas" will then be sung in duet by two members of the choir.

The program concludes with a sing-a-long of eight other popular Christmas songs.

The Women's Auxiliary and staff at Grosse Pointe War Memorial finished decking the halls last week, stressing traditional decorations in the 70-year-old Alger House, such as on the fireplace shown above in the main meeting room. Two women who led the three-day effort to spruce up the center for the holidays are pictured below, (standing) JEANNE CHRISMAN, who with her husband Chuck, takes care of buildings and grounds, and auxilian VIRGINIA KASZA, (kneeling next to Santa). The War Memorial finery was the work of 10 people in all, led by Auxiliary President Marian Bockstanz. Grosse Pointe florists also chipped in to create a flower display at the main entrance.

Bulk buying can be a wise alternation

Buying products in is it a smart inflation-fighting tactic? Some shoppers insist it is, but others think it is too much trouble to cart home cases of goods and store them in closets, the basement or the attic. Don't decide, says The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants, until you estimate the savings over several months or a year and figure out how such buying will affect your finances.

Bulk buying can save you hundreds of dollars a year, but at the same time it can tie up those hundreds of dollars which could be earning interest. If you spent $500 this year on bulk quantities of canned goods, this probably allowed you to save about 10 percent of the cost or $50.

This same $500 earning interest in a regular savings account would have yielded less than $50 so the bulk buying was an advantage. However, if the money was earning a higher interest at 12 percent it would have yielded $60 and the buying would not have been as economical.

The secret to purchasing in large quantities is in buying what your family will eat say the CPA's. First make a list of possible items that could be purchased in bulk and then figure out how much you use in a year. While the savings on one or two items might not be overwhelming, combining it with other consumables such as coffee, sugar, detergents and canned foods will add up to Determining the amount of storage space available in vour home will help decide how often to do this kind of shopping, either quarterly, every six weeks or as a store runs specials. Always have a plan so you can spend less time on shopping.

In addition to the dollar savings buying by the case takes an item off your shopping list for months at a time. Using the same approach with all the non-perishable items you use can greatly reduce the time needed for a weekly shopping trip. Consider your habits, too. Will several cases of wine in the cellar tempt you to consume more than if the wine wasn't so convenient?

Another place to stock up is in your freezer by purchasing meat in larger quantitles. With the markup on frozen food about 28 percent finding bulk bargains could mean considerable savings, say the CPAs.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

"The Soiree Musicale de Noel is always one of the most popular and pleasant gatherings on the annual calendar of the Alliance Française de Grosse Pointe," says Janet Schroeder, program chairman for this year's French-flavored Christmas celebration.

It begins at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, and the duo "Divertissement" will be the featured entertainment.

Cynthia Ferris, flutist, and Ruth Myers, harpist, regularly perform at the Summit in Detroit's Renaissance Center. They promise a program of French impressionistic music, the genre which includes the works of Debussy, Faure and Ravel, passes Trenton, Brownstown, for Saturday's celebration.

The concert, which will be played around the Christmas tree in festively decorated Alger House, will be followed by a refreshment hour featuring mulled wine, sweets and pate de campagne.

The nice thing about this is that we're all invited. Admission, $4 for members and guests, is payable at the door. No advance reservations are necessary.

Another Grosse Pointe . .

Dessert Tasting featuring the pastry achievements of student members, will be held this year the Sunday after Christmas, from 2 to 5 o'clock at the Place. (Continued on Page C-6)

Traditional Lucia Festival to herald Christmas season

The traditional Lucia Festival will be observed Sunday, Dec. 14, at 5:30 p.m. in Immanuel Lutheran Church, Chandler Park Drive at Dickerson in Detroit, the "Swedish Church" to which East Side families of Scandinavian descent have traditionally pledged their allegiance. The legend of the lovely Christian, Santa Lu-Why Dec. 13 and why cia, was brought north by travellers. Her moral integrity aroused the nobility of the Swedish people. Married in August

Diane Zedan bride of David C. Frisby

She fashions lace-edged, cathedral length veil, with embroidered daisy accents, for summer ceremony

Diane Rose Zedan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Zedan, of North Oxford Road, and David Charles Frisby, son of The Reverend and Mrs. Thomas F. Frisby, of Lakepointe Avenue, exchanged marriage vows Friday, August 1, at an afternoon ceremony in Saint Philomena Church.

The 4 o'clock rites at which Father Peter Lentine presided were followed by a reception at Thomas Manor, after which the newlyweds left to vacation in New York City and on Cape Cod, Mass. They are at home in Jackson.

They had been engaged three-and-a-half years prior to their marriage. The bride teaches the mentally impaired to swim and is a co-ordinator for the Special Olympics. The bridegroom is a buyer for Jacobson's. A traditional gown, fashioned with a bodice of re-embroidered Venise lace, a portrait neckline and fitted sleeves of English net and appliqued lace, with Schiffliembroidered appliques at the wrists, was the bride's choice for her wedding.

Her full organza skirt was hemmed with appliques and embroidery. She made her veil, cathedral length and edged with embroidered lace matching that on the hem of her gown, with an accent of embroidered daisies. It fell from a headpiece of re-embroidered lace.

Silk roses, ivory Fuji mums and spring rye formed her bouquet.

In dresses of cotton batiste over taffeta, featuring a border print, were Anne Marie Zedan, honor maid for her sister, and bridesmaids Janine Cracchiolo Dickson, of Hollywood, Fla., Barbara Frisby Thomas, Sarah Frisby Babcock and Kathy Frisby, three sisters of the bridegrom, Rebecca Forbes, Patti Southlea Kearney and Marypat Abowd of Ocean, N.J.

Fuji mums, spring rye and baby's-breath formed their bouquets.

Best man was Scott Benedict. In the usher corps were Louis Zedan, brother of the bride, Jay Thomas and Ralph Babcock, the bridegroom's brothers-in-law, Thomas Frisby, brother of the bridegroom, Anthony Zedan, cousin of the bride, Larry Kearney and Glen Babcock.

The mother of the bride wore a V-necked dress, pastel yellow in color with an overlay of chiffon over Qiana. She pinned a gardenia corsage to her needlepoint purse.

The bridegroom's mother chose a cap-sleeved, silk printed with pink flowers on a pale beige background. Her corsage, too, was a gardenia.

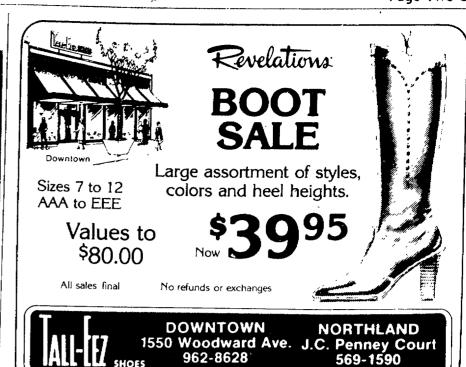

Out-of-town guests included a grandmother, Hazel Shaffer, of Akron, O., an uncle, William Frisby Jr., of Kent, O. uncles and aunts Tony and Nancy Joseph and their family and Helen and Moussa Askar, Sam and Anita Cracciolo and Gertrude and Walter Johnson.

Married in August

Marriage vows were spoken in Saint Philomena Church Friday, August 1, by DIANE ROSE ZEDAN, daughter of the George L. Zedans, of North Oxford Road, and DAVID CHARLES FRISBY, son of The Reverend and Mrs. Thomas F. Frisby, of Lakepointe Avenue.

She fashions lace-edged, cathedral length veil, with embroidered daisy accents, for summer ceremony

Diane Rose Zedan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Zedan, of North Oxford Road, and David Charles Frisby, son of The Reverend and Mrs. Thomas F. Frisby, of Lakepointe Avenue, exchanged marriage vows Friday, August 1, at an afternoon ceremony in Saint Philomena Church.

The 4 o'clock rites at which Father Peter Lentine presided were followed by a reception at Thomas Manor, after which the newlyweds left to vacation in New York City and on Cape Cod, Mass. They are at home in Jackson.

They had been engaged three-and-a-half years prior to their marriage. The bride teaches the mentally impaired to swim and is a co-ordinator for the Special Olympics. The bridegroom is a buyer for Jacobson's. A traditional gown, fash ioned with a bodice of reembroidered Venise lace, a portrait neckline and fitted sleeves of English net and appliqued lace, with Schiffliembroidered appliques at the wrists, was the bride's choice for her wedding.

Her full organza skirt was hemmed with appliques and embroidery. She made her veil, cathedral length and edged with embroidered lace matching that on the hem of her gown, with an accent of embroidered daisies. It fell from a headpiece of re-embroidered lace.

Silk roses, ivory Fuji mums and spring rye formed her

In dresses of cotton batiste over taffeta, featuring a floral border print, were Anne Marie Zedan, honor maid for her sister and bridesmaids Janine Cracchiolo Dickson, of Hollywood, Fla., Barbara Frisby Thomas, Sarah Frisby Babcock and Kathy Frisby, three sisters of the bridegrom, Rebecca Forbes, Patti Southlea Kearney and Marypat Abowd of Ocean, N.J.

Fuji mums, spring rye and baby's breath formed their bouquets.

Best man was Scott Benedict. In the usher corps were Louis Zedan, brother of the bride, Jay Thomas and Ralph Babcock, the bridegroom's brothers-in-law, Thomas Frisby, brother of the bridegroom, Anthony Zedan, cousin of the bride, Larry Kearney and Glen Babcock.

The mother of the bride wore a V-necked dress, pastel yellow in color, with an overlay of chiffon over Qiana. She pinned a gardenia corsage to her needlepoint

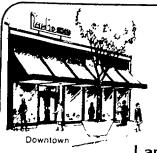

The bridegroom's mother chose a cap-sleeved, silk printed with pink gown, flowers on a pale beige background. Her corsage, too, was a gardenia.

Out-of-town guests included a grandmother, Hazel Shaffer, of Akron, O., an uncle, Walliam Frieby Jr., of Kent, O. uncles and aunts? Tony and Nancy Joseph and their family and Helen and Moussa Askar, Sam and Anita Cracciolo and Gertrude and Walter Johnson.

There will, as always, be a cash prize for the student who makes the tastiest desserts, as determined by the discriminating palates of a panel of judges. Wouldn't you love to have THEIR job?!

This holiday event is, traditionally, en famille, for Grosse Pointe Alliance members only. They're all welcome to attend, and may call 886-6637 for further information.

The sound of French.

. . carols, Chansons de Noel, rang out from Stephanie Dabrowski's home last night, as members of La Causerie, the Grosse Pointe Branch, American Association of University Women, French conversation group serenaded the season.

This, too, is a holiday tradition. La Causerie's members invite a French-speaking guest to join them each month for an informal talk session. The idea is to keep up fluency in the language, and to have a nice "night out," and each year, at Christmastime, the group gathers for a sing-a-long of old and new French carols.

Moving to the north of Europe . . . to Sweden, the song that traditionally opens the holiday season is "Santa Lucia." For the history of the Lucia Festival, check out the story on Immanuel Lutheran Church's Lucia Pageant that begins on Page 1 of this week's NEWS Society

But Immanuel is not the only place where the Queen of Light will make her appearance this weekend. The Jenny Lind Club, composed of women of Scandinavian descent and women married to men of Scandinavian descent, is holding its annual Lucia Party Saturday night, at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club.

The local girl selected by Jenny Lind members to be their Lucia this year is Debbi Whiting, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thomas Jr. In her court will be her sisters, Holly and Wendy Thomas, plus Malin and Sara Haladay and Tyra Totte.

General chairman of the party is Mrs. Ted Nichols. Her assistants include Mrs. Arne Lagerkwick in charge of the presenting and music Mrs.

vist, in charge of the processional and music, Mrs. Irving Fishman, Mrs. Walter Wood, Mrs. Charles Brown, Mrs. Barbara Hadley and Mrs. Joseph Hadley.

In the middle of The Continent . .

. . . lies Austria, and the holiday traditions of this lovely Alpine country will be observed tomorrow night at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center when the Johann Strauss Waltz Orchestra issues its invitation to dance at the Center's Annual Viennese Christmas Ball.

As always, a highlight of the evening will be an interlude of Austrian Christmas carols with Alexander and Maribel Suczek. As usual, the black tie party is a sellout.

Crossing the Atlantic . : .

... and coming home to Grosse Pointe, the Christmas Walk sponsored by the Junior Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra traditionally brings visitors from all over the metropolitan area to our town.

Today is Walk Day in The Pointe, and four of our loveliest homes, decked in their holiday best, will be open for "oo-ing and ah-ing" from 10 in the morning to 4 in the afternoon.

If you didn't get your Christmas Walk tickets in advance you can still pick them up, at $6 per at Mound Rd. person, today during Walk hours, at any of the four open houses. A good place to start is 935 Three Mile Drive, the charming residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Decklever.

Christmas tree harvest is ready to be reaped

Millions of Americans set | before bad weather sets in | does not expect it to be great, | stand with a large water cacenter their holiday festivi-

Though a hike through the forest is no longer the tradition it used to be, the artificial tree has yet to replace the live spruce, balsam, scotch pine or douglas fir. The demand for live trees continues to increaseselection has simply been made easier.

Christmas tree farms have prung up all over the westpart of Michigan, and retail lots and choose-and-cut operations make the purchase of a tree an enjoyable family

According to Mel Koelling, Michigan State University Extension forestry specialist, ample moisture during the growing season, last year's mild winter and this year's cool autumn weather have made the 1980 Christmas tree crop better than average

"The trees going into the retail lots should be excel-lent," he says, "The quality is equal to or exceeding that of past years."

Koelling noted that Michigan is one of the nation's leading Christmas tree producers, with over four million trees harvested annually. Harvest may begin as early as mid-October. The trees are baled and stored in cool, shaded areas until they are ready to be transported to their destinations.

In late November they are sent all over the United States.

Weet George and fall in love.

It happens whenever a woman meets George Tunis. And that's fine, as far as George is concerned. Because George is concerned. As head designer for Bricker-Tunis Furs, he takes a personal (some might say fanatical) interest in every detail it takes to create a fur that's as individual as the woman who wears it.

That's why George doesn't do things the usual way. For example, suppose you come to us for a custom fur coat.

Before the beginning: Art Bricker.

Before George even begins the design, Art Bricker steps in. Art's years of experience and his knowledge of furs will help make your choice not only easier, but a more valuable investment, too. He takes the time to "learn" you: the way you live, walk, sit. What kind of wear the coat will receive. Your preference in collar and sleeve styles. Only after that are you ready for the next step.

The model approach, by George.

Now an exact canvas model of the garment is made from your measurements. The choicest pelts are then selected and applied with the newest fur-cutting techniques. Here you're fitted not only for size but proportion. And here the allimportant factor of posture is noted and sculpted into place.

A coat is born.

Now it's in the hands of the finishers, Bricker-Tunis' master furriers. Here, stitch by silken stitch, their years of skill and dedication transform a working model into a work of art.

Finally, you.

And now you're ready for the final fitting.

You slip into the coatand enter place. Soft. Sensuous. Yours... in every elegant detail, down to the sewn-in monogram. George has done it again. You're in love.

Love, continued.

Of course, there's much more to love at Bricker-Tunis Furs than custom design. There's a modern fur vault as large as a small Fort Knox. There are other top designer names in ready-to-wear fur lines. There's a fabulous selection. And we're ready to show it all to you in what is undoubtedly the only fur centre of its kind in this area outside New York.

Come. You'll love it.

At Walton-Pierce . . . you'll find the prettiest separates from many designers. For the holidays Oscar de la Renta Sport offers a black and red plaid taffeta blouse with a ruffled jabot. It's a perfect foil for a black velvet skirt or pants. From A. J. Bari a turquoise double chiffon top is embroidered and has the most interesting applique effect. Several of the leafs hang loose. Combine with turquoise pants and you have a delightful costume. There is also a turquoise camisole in this group. A. J. Bari uses a soft lilac shade for a short morie skirt and a crepe camisole. Other blouses in the light tones of purple coordinate beautifully. There are good looking evening jackets too. One is a white quilted jacket with multi-color stitching. Then there is a white wool fingertip jacket self tied at the waist and embroidered with a delicately colored floral design at the shoulders. For those of you who are heading south a collection of Malia dresses has arrived. As you know Malia creates happy prints in clear bright colors on fine cotton. We like the tiny wispy ballet dancers in white, pink and red on a blue dress that is styled with a puckered top. Yellow, white and green flowers are scattered on a blue scooped neck dress. A butterfly print on fresh green cotton is made into a dress and jacket outfit. Malia usually designs a solid black cotton dress and this year is no exception.

Highland Park downs South

By Tom Kisskalt, South Varsity and Scott Bowles, South JV

Stark Langs' 6'9" height and 19 points weren't enough to stop state power Highland Park, as South's varsity cagers lost their opening game of the season, 65-51, Langs, whom coach George Petrouleas thinks is a key player to South's success this year, showed he can play. Teammates fed him passes under the basket and he jammed them through to lead the Blue Devils in scoring.

Highland Park, which finished second in the state last year, displayed a fine defensive effort and a fast break, which the Blue Devils just couldn't overcome.

The Blue Devils stuck with the Parkers, trailing by only two after the first quarter, but a sudden surge enabled the Parkers to take an 11point lead going into the intermission.

Glenn Piche, who is hampered by an ankle injury which he suffered mid-way through the football season, played, but was ineffective.

Petrouleas seems to think that the team's first five games will determine a chance for a good season.

The Blue Devils were scheduled to play Notre Dame Tuesday and are scheduled to play at Utica Ford. which Petrouleas describes as a "perennial powerhouse," tomorrow, Friday, Dec. 12, at 8 p.m.

They will then host two tough teams, Warren Cousino and crosstown rival North, on Tuesday, Dec. 16 and Friday, Dec. 23.

South's junior varsity basketball team opened its season with a 63-49 loss to the Highland Park Parkers on

South forward Bill Rathsburg was the game's leading scorer with 16 points. Teammate Chris Cruthis added 12 points for the Blue Devils and had a strong rebounding game. Tedd Aurelius scored eight points for Carl Gavin led Highland Park with 13 points, Patrick Franklin and Erving Williamson each added 12 for the Parkers.

The home team Blue Devils outplayed Highland Park in the first quarter, scoring the first nine points of the game, Highland Park did not score a point until the first quarter was nearly half gone, when Williamson hit on a free throw.

With four minutes left in the opening period, however, Highland Park went into a full-court press that seemed to rattle the Blue Devils. Several times, South turned the ball over because the Blue Devils could not get the ball inbounds within the five seconds allowed.

Highland Park pulled to within five points of South at the end of the first quarter, 17-12, then scored 10 unanswered points at the start of the second period to take the lead for good. During the 10-point spurt the Parkers' Gavin scored six straight

South pulled within two points of the Parkers, at 34-32, on three straight baskets midway through the third period. Rathsburg hit two of them, and Cruthis scored the other.

But Highland Park scored 12 consecutive points to make the margin 46-32 at the end of the third period. In that scoring burst, Franklin scored

South never got closer than a sevenpoint deficit after that, closing to 50-43 on a three-point play by Rathsburg and four straight free throws

Highland Park pulled away on the play of Williamson and Hall, who scored the Parkers' last 13 points.

Runners: what are you doing New Year's Eve?

More than 4,500 runners are expected to say "Happy New Year" by participating in the annual Hughes & Hatcher News Year's Eve Run on Belle Isle Wednesday, Dec. 31.

The event, a four-mile run for participants 12 to 60 and older, begins at 4 p.m. It follows a one-mile fun-run for children 12 and under that begins at 3:30 p.m.

All runners receive T-shirts and trophies and runners and their guests may enjoy a giant spaghettti dinner after the event. A special award goes to handicapped competitors and each child in the one-mile run receives a trophy. Trophies go to the top male and female finishers, plaques to the first 1,000 finishers.

Hughes & Hatcher provides the T-shirts, trophies, certificates, plaques and spaghetti dinners. The entry fee of $5 for adults, $3 for kids will go to the Belle Isle Runners to organize and run the event. Any other monies go to the Special Olympics.

Entry forms are available at all Hughes & Hatcher stores. Participants are advised to register immediately registration deadline is Friday, Dec. 26. Runners who enter before Dec. 15 will receive a race packet in the mail. Extra guest dinners are $3 each.

The annual race was the brainchild of the Park's Jeanne Bocci. Bocci and some friends started the tradition in 1971 with a few New Year's Eve laps around Belle Isle.

Today, the Belle Isle Run is the result of a combined

Sports at ULS effort on the part of Hughes & Hatcher, the Belle Isle Runners and the Detroit Recreation Department.

"We deeply appreciate the cooperation that has been shown by Hughes & Hatcher in sponsoring this community event," Bocci says. "Without their help, the Belle Isle Run could not have grown into one of the biggest running events in Michigan."

Further information on the event may be obtained by calling 965-7900 or 224-1184.

South girls swim in finals By Mark Clark South High

South's girls' swim team championships last weekend at Michigan State. The meet was won by Bloomfield Hills Andover. Sara McLeod, one of the most consistent swimmers all season, was the Blue Devils' top performer as she took ninth place in the 100-yard yard medley relay of Cheryl placing 12th. "All the girls on the relay turned in their fastest splits. I'm very pleased with the coach Tim Kennary

Another consistent performer for South all season was senior Brieden, who competed in the 50 and 200yard freestyles, but failed to make the finals. The 400-yard freestyle relay of Maureen Cross Chase, Measelle, and McLeod competed but also did not make it past the preliminaries. The caliber of competition was reflected by the shattering of five state and two national records during the meet.

"I'm proud of the way the girls swam against the tough competition. It was a very productive season," Kennary

Norsemen lose first, 68-43 By Tim Saunders North High

Grosse Pointe North dropped its also placed third in the first game of the 1980-81 varsity basketball season to the Sterling Heights Stallions, 68-43, on Friday, Dec. 5.

Bad passing and the inability to negotiate the fast break frustrated the Norsemen all night as the Stallions led the entire way.

Senior Dan McEnroe's performance in piloting the North offense was enment due to the decline in couraging as he turned in a fine effort. However, Sterling Heights did a good job controlling the defensive boards and limiting most of North's and those 21 years or older scoring attempts to from outside the key. Junior Andy Pflaum, in his first! varsity game, came off the bench to lead North with 12 points.

The biggest thing that the 1980-81 edition of North's varsity basketball team seems to lack is experience. They do have some good outside shooters which should result in a more balanced scoring team.

The Norsemen will have to rely on their quickness coming up the floor on fast breaks, but it was their inexperience in handling the ball Friday night that allowed Sterling Heights to control that,

The next game will be tomorrow, Friday, Dec. 13, at North when the Norsemen entertain Fraser. The JV game starts at 6:30 p.m. and the varsity game at 8.

Belle Isle event is a run for fun

By George Mader Children's Race Chairman

Seven hundred and eighteen runners excitedly listen to race instructions as they eagerly await the starter's gun. A race of this size is large but not unusual-however, the runners in this race are all children, age 12 and younger. The race was last year's Belle Isle Runners New Year's Eve Run. This year, the Eleventh Annual Race is expected to attract 1,300 children. Acording to race largest children's race in the country. After the youngsters run the one mile course, a four mile race is scheduled for the adults. Following both events, participants, family and guests enjoy a delicious spagnetti dinner for their New Year's Eve meal.

This year's race is being conducted on Wednesday, Dec. 31 at 3:30 p.m. on Detroit's Belle Isle Park and is open to any adult or child who can run or walk the respective four or one mile

The children's race is run in a non-competitive atmosphere in the spirit of the Belle Isle Runner philosophy to compete is to win. Each child who enters the race receives a commemorative T-shirt, a race certificate and a ticket to the dinner. When the child finishes the one mile, he she receives a 14-inch trophy. The young participant is introduced to road racing and running as a fun activity where everyone who are first.

Children in good health usually can run or walk one any difficulty.

The adult race is more competitive in nature but is truly an enjoyable event. Each participant receives a certificate of accomplishment, a T-shirt, dinner ticket may enjoy a champagne toast.

In addition, 1,000 plaques will be awarded to the first 1,000 finishers.

The four mile race is one of the most popular in the midwest and attracts over 3,000 competitors. Runners and walkers of all levels of ability come to compete or just to have a good time. The race is truly a fun run.

The Belle Isle Runners stage the event with a twofold goal. First, the younger runner is introduced to running and racing in a situation which should foster the child's interest and desire to continue the sport. Secondly, a contribution is made to the Michigan Special Olympics so that less abled athletes are given the opportunity to compete and to win.
