Schools to see report on census

By Susan McDonald

Top on the agenda of issues facing leaders of Grosse Pointe's public schools in the New Year is the continuing decline in enrollment and the decision to close — or not to close — one or more of the system's 15 schools.

IF NEIGHBORING communities' experience is any indication, it will be a tough issue. But the school board doesn't plan to waste any time getting into it. A study of enrollment patterns and building utilization is in the works at central offices and will be presented to the board for discussion at its Jan. 12 meeting.

General figures on the population decline are already well known by board members. There are about 560, or six percent, fewer students in classrooms this year than last year — a drop similar to losses experienced in West Bloomfield, Royal Oak and Roseville school districts.

Since 1970, enrollment has dropped nearly 34 percent in Grosse Pointe schools from 13,282 to 8,750 students.

A decision by the board on which — if any — school to close down and sell will depend upon a great many factors, including transportation patterns, building conditions and population trends in various neighborhoods.

In his last formal report to the board on building utilization in 1978 Superintendent William Coats recommended all schools be kept open, at least through the current school year. He made the recommendation despite his own admission that three elementary and one middle school could be closed at that time without crowding students.

The decision to keep all 15 schools open was based primarily on the high cost of providing transportation, estimated at $90,000, and negative response from parents and neighbors to a closed school.

The school system's most recent census, compiled after a door-to-door head-count last Spring, shows a loss of almost 1,000 since Coats' 1978 report to the board. The new report also indicates a trend toward re-population, especially by younger families with children, in the far western part of the school district, in Grosse Pointe Park.

The Defer Elementary School attendance area in the Park showed the greatest number of new families, 353, moving in between 1978 and 1980, according to the report.

Trombly school's attendance area, also in the Park, was right behind Defer's with 316 new families. Other areas follow: Mair 308, Poupard 244, Kerby 232, Barnes 225, Mason 207, Monteith 196, Richard 196, Richard 157, and Ferry 139.

The total number of new families between 1978 and 1980 was 2,377, according to the report.

GP Cable to debut local TV shows

In matter of a few weeks, Grosse Pointers will have their own television shows originating in their community and starring their neighbors.

According to Mike Reynolds, manager of Grosse Pointe Cable TV, Inc., the first locally produced program on cable will debut around Feb. 1 and will feature discussions of public affairs hosted by Paul McCarthy, publisher of The Pointer newspaper.

Cable TV is a relatively new service in this area by which subscribers can receive numerous programs from around the country, the world, and even outer space as in November's broadcast of live pictures of Saturn from Voyager I.

Reynolds said that by mid-March he hopes to have a few more programs available to cable subscribers. The format will include entertainment, educational, and public affairs programs. A new program manager has been hired to solicit format ideas from local church and civic groups, Reynolds said.

The revised installation schedule says a projected total of 3,000 cus-

Although the fire was finally out, smoke still continued to pour from the ruins of the Williams' home Monday morning, after a pre-dawn blaze forced the Merriweather Road family of three out into sub-zero temperatures. While Farms firemen inspect damage to the dwelling, ice coated the structure, giving it unlife-like beauty. The blaze burned for nearly 12 hours until it was finally brought under control by firefighters from the Farms and neighboring communities. It was fed throughout the night by a gas meter that broke open in the basement of the house. Only one fireman was slightly injured in the ordeal. Farms Fire Chief Warren Schultz said the residents' lives were saved by a smoke detector that woke them.

Pre-dawn blaze hits Farms home

By Tom Greenwood

Fed by an open gas meter, an early morning three alarm fire completely destroyed a Merriweather Road home Monday, forcing a pajama clad family of three into the frigid night air.

While no one was killed by the blaze, one Farms fireman, Lt. Arthur Turner, injured his arm in a fall on the ice glazed property.

The initial alarm was turned in at 2:55 a.m. Jan. 5, and by 3:30 a.m., had been declared a three alarm fire. Efforts to save the house, at 233 Merriweather, by fighting units from the Farms, Woods, City and Harper Woods were futile. It took nearly 12 hours to bring the fire under control.

ACCORDING TO Farms Fire Chief Warren Schultz, the house was lost when the gas meter in the basement gave away from the intense heat of the fire.

"We almost had the fire under control while it was contained to the basement," he said. "But once the meter melted, we were forced out and the blaze spread to the rest of the dwelling."

Workmen from Consumers Power Co. were called, and efforts were hampered and time lost when they had to dig up the street to reach a cut off valve.

Fire fighting efforts were also dangerously complicated by the explosion of paint cans stored in the basement. The eight below zero temperature turned the entire area into a skating rink, coating firemen, their equipment and turning neighboring homes into ice covered sculptures.

According to fire reports, John Williams, his wife Elizabeth and daughter Katherine were awakened by a smoke detector, and were forced to crawl from their smoke filled home while still in their night clothes.

The family ran to a neighboring house, where the alarm was phoned in. According to reports, the family is currently staying with friends until more permanent arrangements can be made.

Fire officials believe the blaze started in the basement, and while an investigation will be held, arson is not suspected.

"The home is a total loss," said Chief Schultz. "The remaining walls will have to be bulldozed before a new home can be erected."

"One thing that should be emphasized is that there was no loss of life," continued the Chief. "The family can thank their lucky stars they had a smoke detector. Without it, they could easily have died."

Chief Schutz also expressed thanks to the firefighters from neighboring communities who helped fight the blaze, and to the Salvation Army, which distributed coffee and donuts to weary and cold firemen.

For Sam, classics are a snap

By Tom Greenwood

He describes himself as a "herring choker" who sells "hernia cameras." His name is Sam Vinegar, owner and operator of Classic Camera and Gallery, on Mack Avenue in the Woods.

Looking like a bit like Tony Spina, chief photographer for the Free Press, Vinegar explains that anyone from New Brunswick is automatically a "herring choker," while the "hernia cameras" he sells are old 17"x17" view cameras, complete with tri-pods.

"They must weigh 50 to 60 pounds, including their stands," explained Vinegar. You'd need an elephant to carry one around." Like most of the equipment in the store, the cameras are in perfect working order, just very old.

"I deal in a very specialized market," said Vinegar. "Nearly all my equipment is geared toward the classic camera collector. I deal in hard-to-get merchandise. I help people find cameras and related equipment that has been off the market for years. I can also help collectors repair and restore older equipment."

Calling the cameras in his store "older equipment" is an understatement. Many date back to the 1890's, complete with burnished hard woods, black bellows and brass and silver furnishings. Nearly all are in working order.

A stroll through the shop finds mahogany shelves filled with old view cameras. Cameras that filmed turn of the century events. Tools to record old wars, buffalo herds in the West and portraits of pioneers long since departed.

One shelf consists of old catalogs, books, and magazines devoted to photography. The oldest catalog, dating into the 1890's shows the latest camera equipment of the day. Cameras built into suitcases and satchels, to be used by detectives hot on a case.

Another camera attaches to the huge two-wheel bicycles popular at the turn of the century. An issue of "Popular Photography" dated 1938 offers yearly subscriptions for $2.50 and enlargers for $9.85.

One complete shelf is devoted to the 4x5 Speed Graflex cameras used by press photographers during the 1930's and 40's. Straight out of the "stop the presses" era of journalism movies, the cameras have stories to tell.

Old faded photographs in ancient, oval frames sit silently on the bot-

'Fantasticks' opens Jan. 14

What can you say about a whimsical musical that has been running before full houses in the same New York theater for more than 20 years? Fantastic.

That's why Grosse Pointe Theatre selected "The Fantasticks" as its first production of the New Year. "The Fantasticks" will run for nine performances in the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium, 32 Lakeshore Road, from Wednesday, Jan. 14, through Saturday, Jan. 24. Tickets are $6.50.

"The Fantasticks" deals with a young man and the girl next door whose parents have built a wall to keep apart. Despite the wall, the youngsters contrive to meet and fall in love.

Meanwhile, their parents are congratulating themselves, for they erected the wall in order to achieve, by negation, a marriage between their willfully disobedient children. When the truth comes out, the lovers learn to face reality and come to understand each other. The story is a sophisticated tale about innocence, with a musical score that features the well-known song "Try to Remember."

The show is directed by Donna DiSante of St. Clair Shores. The cast includes John N. Thomas of Mount Pearched proudly next to that perfect porker, Miss Piggy, Tony Buccellato, 4, and his sister Trina, 13, wished their neighbors a Happy New Year with this bit of snow-made Muppet magic. But alas, Miss Piggy is no longer with us. According to police reports, "The Divine Miss P" was destroyed by vandals sometime Friday morning, Jan. 2. But happily, if the packing is right, she may be reincarnated with the next snow fall.

Law will increase insurance premiums

By Joanne Gouleche

Although some local insurance agents say it's too early to tell what affect Michigan's new Essential Insurance Act will have on auto and homeowner policies, spokesmen for some of the state's larger carriers indicate the legislation will hike up auto rates by as much as 21 percent while homeowner rates may drop in Grosse Pointe.

The new law makes it illegal for companies to quote rates based on sex or marital status. Rates cannot vary by more than 10 percent between adjacent territories under the anti-redlining law.

Since it took effect Jan. 1, unmarried females are paying considerably more for their insurance while rates for single males have dropped. Young married couples can also expect to pay more.

Regional vice-president for State Farm insurance in Michigan, Charles Trubac, said auto rates in Grosse Pointe City and Grosse Pointe Park will jump about 15.8 percent. Comparatively, rates for auto insurance in Grosse Pointe Woods, Shores and Farms will increase about 5.4 percent.

Trubac cautioned the increases are estimates and factors such as a person's driving record and eligibility for company discounts will determine how much rates will jump.

An AAA spokesman said residents living from Grosse Pointe Park city limits to Devonshire Road can expect to pay 21 percent more when they renew auto policies. An 18 percent hike will take effect for residents living between Devonshire and Cadieux while the rest of Grosse Pointe would be unaffected, the spokesman said.

Other companies say the law is so new that their rates have not yet been approved by the state's insurance commissioner. Still, some companies such as Aetna agents Bill and Rick Marr estimate rates for their carrier will jump 5 percent overall,

Parking lot foes to meet GPW council

By Gregory Jakub

A Friday Jan. 9 circuit court hearing concerning a planned parking lot near Hollywood and Mack in Grosse Pointe Woods has been postponed so that city officials and residents can discuss their disagreements over the plan.

The hearing was scheduled after a group of about 15 property owners known as the Hollywood Subdivision Improvement Association three weeks ago obtained a court order halting construction on the lot. The residents say the planned 16-car lot is unnecessary and will reduce their property values.

The hearing was to determine the validity of the residents' claim that deed restrictions on the property prevent the city from using it for anything but residential purposes.

Last week the residents' attorney called Woods attorney George Catlin and asked to set up an informal meeting at which the city council and residents could discuss their differences.

The council approved the planned tom shelf of a glass case. "I've even got some Daguerrotype photos dated 1845, about five years after photography officially began," said Vinegar.

The old photos are in competition with newer works hanging on the walls of the shop. "I looked around quite a bit in the area and decided the east side could also use a photo gallery," said Vinegar. "As far as I know, I'm the only one in this vicinity."

The gallery is devoted to the work of local photographers only, and each display runs for a month. "I feel it's important for local photographers to have a place to display their craft," said Vinegar. "We'll publicize only persons from the Detroit area, nobody from out of state."

Photographers wishing to display are encouraged to call Classic Camera and set up appointments to arrange details with Vinegar. "I've got enough room here to run two photographers at once if one can't fill all the spaces," he added.

Vinegar has been in the camera game a long time, but used to work mainly out of his home in Huntington Woods. "I've been a collector of classic cameras since my days in college," he said. "But I always worked at it part time, storing equipment in my basement, while I worked full time for a tire store. After they went out of business due to the recession, I decided to devote my time to this.

Vinegar deals with collectors world wide, shipping cameras and parts to Italy, Japan, Germany and Canada. He's also gained a pretty good reputation country and state wide. "I send a lot of equipment to California," he said. "They seem to have alot of old camera buffs out there."

The store opened the first week of November, and seems to be doing rather well. Customers, old and new, fill the store at a steady rate. Many browse, peering at old cameras, fingering old magazines and studying photos up for display.

The pressure to buy is low, with free coffee available to all. Vinegar's approach to business is slightly different. He trusts people. "When customers come here, I know they're here for specified reasons," he said. "Nobody's going to steal any of these old cameras, because they're just too specialized to sell on the open market. I like people. I enjoy people. I think I'm having a pretty good time here, doing what I like best."

Because of his trust, Vinegar will often tell a potential customer to take the merchandise home and try it for a week or two. "See if the camera works and is what you're looking for," he explained. "If it is,

These two cameras fill the bill if you're looking for a camera to stretch your budget, or something small and inexpensive. The larger model is called the "Long Focus, Wide Angled Wizard" and is still in perfect working order. Perched on top and along side the "Wizard" are miniature cameras perfect for the spy with very little money.

Residents join WSU board

Grosse Pointe residents William Giles and Richard Suhreinrich were recently elected board members of the Wayne State Fund, a non-profit corporation administering private gifts to the University.

Giles is editor of The Detroit News. Suhreinrich is an attorney with a Detroit law firm.

Nearly $1.5 billion in state school aid was paid to local school districts in the 1979-80 school fiscal year, the State Board of Education reports.

Defer also topped the list of elementary districts with the largest number of pre-school children, 278, compared to Maire's 275, Richard 266, Kerby 258, Monteith 246, Mason 235, Poupard 222, Ferry 190, Crombly 188, and Barnes 181.
The school census also confirms what many have long suspected about the Grosse Pointe area's senior citizen population — that it is growing by leaps and bounds. The average number of citizens in all five Pointes who are 60-years or older is about 18 percent, the report says. That breaks down to a high of 21.7 percent in Grosse Pointe City, 19.4 percent in the Farms, 19.1 percent in the Shores, 18.6 percent in the Woods, and 14.6 percent in the Park. The total number of seniors is 9,275, the report says.

Installation is about 60 days behind schedule but plans to beef-up operations could get hook-ups back on schedule by March or April, Reynolds said.

Signal leakage problems that caused many customers to complain about distorted reception have been completely corrected and there have been no reported problems, Reynolds said. A surprisingly few subscribers have asked to have their cables disconnected, he added.

Genealogy course begins at Brownell

"The lore of your family is worth preserving, either to supplement a genealogy, or as a goal in itself," Barbara Rickerd Thompson, long-time resident and community leader, said recently.

Mrs. Thompson will teach a new Continuing Education class, "A 'Story Approach' to Genealogy," scheduled to begin on Thursday, Feb. 5. Fee is $15 for the six-week class to be held in room A-11 of Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte Avenue.

According to Mrs. Thompson, one session of the new class will be devoted to the most convenient sources of genealogical data. "Emphasis, however, will be on writing up the stories already hidden in your memory, eliciting new ones from family members, and compiling them in readable form for future generations," she said.

Mrs. Thompson has recently published a book which has been called "a genealogy . . . and more." A hard cover volume of 485 pages containing a complete index of 4,700 names and 700 biographical entries. "The Descendants of John & Sally (Guile)" the former Ms. Rickerd traces her family from its European background to New York and finally, in 1836, to Hillsdale County, Mich.

Mrs. Thompson's book follows the Rickerd's eight surviving children and virtually all their descendants to the present time. Its simple format is designed for easy reference and contains lineage charts.

"If self-discipline and a little help are all you need to write up your favorite family stories, I would be delighted to help," Mrs. Thompson stated.

Prospective students who wish to enroll for the class may send a check for $15 to Continuing Education, 260

Chalfonte Avenue, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. 48236.

Fight inflation with Friends

Friends of the Grosse Pointe Library are coming to the rescue of local residents besieged by inflation with "Breakfast with a Bonus," a mini-series featuring experts in the field of investment.

The series will be held on three consecutive Saturdays in January from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. in the exhibition room of central library, 10 Kercheval Avenue.

Dawn Kubiak, Administrative Assistant Manager of Shearson, Rhoades-Loeb, will speak Jan. 17 on the subject of notes, stocks and bonds. Her lecture, entitled "Parking Your Money," will deal with the placement of funds in valuable, growth-producing assets.

Desmond Rowan, vice-president of Merrill Lynch, will address the topic of "Investment in Metals" on Jan. 24. Rowan will discuss gold, silver and other metals and the opportunities to increase or maintain capital through those commodities.

Final speaker for the series on Jan. 31 will be well-known antique dealer Ernest DuMouchelle, owner of DuMouchelle Galleries. His topic will be "Collectibles"—antiques, jewelry, books and other valuables. He will point out the most pertinent objects for accumulation and alert his audience to valuables they may already possess.

The series will include a continental breakfast before each session. Admission is free to residents, but because the space is limited, reservations should be made by calling the library at 343-2078 between 10 a.m. and 9 p.m.

There will be questions and answer periods after each meeting and bibliographies for further reading will be available. In addition, at the session chaired by Rowan on Jan. 24, there will be a brief discussion on material available to investors in the library.

Planning your retirement

Are you planning for your retirement — or are you just going to let it happen?

Local residents who wish to lay the groundwork early in life for a successful retirement will be interested in a class offered by the Department of Continuing Education of the Grosse Pointe Public School System. "Are You Planning for Your Retirement?" will begin at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 3, in room A-63 of Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte, Grosse Pointe Farms.

Dr. Joel L. Olah, director of the UAW Retirement Planning and Life Enrichment Project, who developed the pilot program for this class last winter expressly to meet local needs and interests, has been involved in retirement planning since 1972 when he developed a model program for state employees in Michigan.

Coordinator of this class, which consists of six two-hour sessions, is Arthur Hillegas, a retired Parke, Davis research scientist, specializing in antibiotics and fungus infections. Dr. Olah will address the first session.

Attention will focus on a number of aspects: health care, consumerism, legal matters, finances, housing, and opportunities for leisure-time activities. The text to be used for the class is "The Complete Retirement Planning Book" by Peter A. Dickinson, published by E. P. Dutton in 1976. It is available for purchase in the offices of the Department of Continuing Education.

Those wishing to enroll in the class may do so by mailing a check for $15 to Continuing Education, 260 Chalfonte Avenue, Grosse Pointe Farms, 48236.

Film series looks at family

Grosse Pointe Congregational and American Baptist Church, 240 Chalfonte, will present a Tuesday film series on the family beginning Jan. 13, at 7:30 p.m.

"Focus on The Family," by Dr. James Dobson will look at Christian fathering, preparing for adolescence, the strong-willed child and what wives wish their husbands knew about women.

Film dates are Jan. 20, 27 and Feb. 3, 10, 17 and 24. Refreshments and small group discussions will follow the free film series.

For more information, call Judy Helms at 839-0434 or 778-8774.

Series begins at Unitarian

The Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church, 17150 Maumee Avenue, will explore questions about religious beliefs the next four Sundays at 12:30 p.m. following regular morning church service.

Starting Jan. 11, Reverend Fred Campbell will lead the discussion series, sponsored by the Adult Program Committee. A light lunch will be served for a $1 donation and child care will be available.

Call the church office, 881-0420, if you plan to use child care.

Doorways to the past: Historic haunts of Grosse Pointe

By Margie Reins Smith

It is difficult to uncover facts about the Cadieux house.

The house sits comfortably on the corner of Jefferson and Notre Dame, looking like the publicity photo for a Williamsburg brochure. It is white clapboard, wrapped with layers of paint. Black louvered shutters flank the windows and the front door, and a white picket fence surrounds the yard. It features an old fashioned slanted cellar door, bubbly glass in most of the window panes, and vestiges of unused chimneys sealed up windows and doors, and yards and yards of unmatched old woodwork and moldings.

But, verifying facts about the house's history is difficult.

Three Cadieux descendants recall different aspects of the intricate family history and the many-branched Cadieux family tree. But, concerning the house, they could only say: "It's always been there," and "It's always looked the same."

Inside, it is decorated with cheerful gray-blues and off-whites, needlepoint and old prints. It has the ambience of a turn of the century farmhouse.

BUT IT IS OLDER than that.

Mrs. Cyril H. Moore, the present owner, is adamant about preserving its old fashioned charm. "When we moved here in 1945," she says, "an old barn had been torn down in back and the barn floor was left." The Moores saved the limestone blocks from the barn floor and used them to make a floor for their back porch.

The pane of one window in the livingroom bears the name "Ida Cadieux" scratched onto the glass. Ida Cadieux was a daughter from the first marriage of Isidore Cadieux, the probable builder of the house.

"She told me she had scratched her name on the glass with her engagement ring," says Mrs. Moore. "She wanted to see if a diamond would really cut glass."

The probable history of the house can be pieced together from talking with descendants of three branches of the Cadieux family:

In 1803, 20-year-old Michael Cadieux came to the Detroit area from Bordeaux, France. He joined other Cadieux relatives who had come to the New World in the 1700's. He settled in the Detroit area and later married Archange, a woman 26 years younger than he. They produced 12 children—7 boys and 5 girls. Of these 12, three brothers survived—Charles, Isidore and Richard.

It appears that Isidore built the house, but it was owned by all three brothers.

Mrs. Mary Ann Pollitt, granddaughter of brother Charles, says that her mother, Frances Cadieux, was born in the Cadieux house and was also married there in 1886. It had a beautiful yard, Mrs. Pollitt remembers, and she still has an etching of her mother with the rose garden as background.

"THE HOUSE WAS probably built in 1800 or before," she says. "It was later a peach farm and they had horses too." Most of Mrs. Pollitt's historical remembrances are via her cousin, Victor Cadieux. "He always told me it was the oldest frame house in Grosse Pointe."

Mrs. Ella Johnson, granddaughter of brother Isidore, says, "The house was probably built before 1830. It first stood nearer to the lake and it was moved to its present location about 1900." Mrs. Johnson remembers sitting by the bay window in the kitchen when she was a child, and she recalls a row of cherry and pear trees in the side yard that she used to climb.

Eugene Cadieux, president of the Grosse Pointe Historical Society, and great-grandson of brother Richard, remembers hearing that the original Cadieux strip farm was purchased with money made by his great-great-grandfather, Michael. Michael got a contract from the U.S. government for the first mail route between Detroit and Fort Dearborn. Fort Dearborn is called Chicago today, and the mail route is called U.S. Number 12.

The house evidently has remained pretty much as it was when it was built, according to the owner, Mrs. Moore. The narrow stairway is the same hand-carved walnut, much of the glass in the front windows is original, and there are hand hewn beams in the basement. She points out that none of the woodwork detail matches, the floors slant, and the shutters are hinged. There are vestiges of the old iron kitchen range, although it was replaced long ago by modern appliances.

"A few minor changes in the interior are all that has been done," she says.

That's probably why everyone says, "It's always been there," and "It has always looked the same."

The Isidore Cadieux House, on the corner of East Jefferson and Notre Dame, was sketched by local artist Dick Reins and included in a 1976 Bicentennial Calendar of Grosse Pointe, presented by the War Memorial Association, Artists Association and Senior Men's Club.

Take care when storing wines to try to keep the temperature around 55 degrees, the area dark and vibration free. If nothing else is available, try using the coolest closet in your house. Lie wine on its side to keep the cork wet and keep out its greatest enemy, air. Bottles can be placed in an empty wine crate, soda bottle carton, clay pipes or even a small converted bookcase. If you have a fairly large collection of wines, arrange them chronologically. If you have the room and variety, arrange by country, age and type. A catalogue of your own wines is also useful for selection and convenience.

If you are not able to maintain your own fully stocked wine cellar, a logical alternative awaits you at PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE, 17255 Mack, Corner of St. Clair, Detroit. We have an extensive inventory of varying ages, tastes, and points of origin. ## County uses energy study to help cities cut costs

Although a 26-page Wayne County Guide to Energy Management has not made the best seller list lately, the team of county statisticians who prepared the document are hopeful that projected increase in fuel costs, estimated to triple by 1984, will create a sudden interest in conservation and home weatherization on the part of local officials and homeowners.

"The guide, developed at the county level over the past 18 months under a grant from the U.S. Dept. of Energy, is designed to assist local units of government in energy conservation," County Commissioner James Rashid, Chairman of the County's Comprehensive Community Energy Management Council, explained. Rashid and a team of specialists have been touring the county the past three weeks attempting to interest city and township officials in implementing proposals outlined in the guide.

A graph, prepared from utility company estimates by members of the management team, indicates that a resident paying $300 in fuel charges in 1976 will be paying $900 for the same amount of energy by 1984 unless he (or she) applies energy conservation techniques. "This includes setting back the thermostat at night, caulking cracks, weatherstripping and installing ceiling insulation," Rashid said.

"Such precautions," he added, "will reduce the expected increase to about $550 for a net savings of $350 per year, about a week's pay." (The Petroleum Research Foundation announced a 30 percent increase in fuel oil by the end of January, Wednesday, as the result of higher refining costs. The price per gallon is expected to jump from $1.06 to $1.50, the Foundation said.)

Communities, whose officials have decided to help their residents conserve, will have retimed traffic signals and fewer stop signs to improve the flow of traffic; new ordinances requiring minimum insulation in homes being resold, and energy classes on weatherization — all calculated to harness the use of fuel and control galloping utility bills.

"The solution to energy conservation is not very difficult, exotic nor expensive," the team concludes. To substantiate the statement they offer a table showing heat loss in a typical one-story ranch home before and after application of easy-to-obtain insulation techniques. "Their findings are impressive," Rashid said.

"They pinpoint precise areas of the home where heat loss is most prevalent. As an example: ceiling heat loss before insulation is 51.7 percent and is reduced to 5.7 percent after insulation for a dollar savings of 89 percent. Other areas include walls, windows, doors, floors and infiltration."

Even though the guide is about as exciting as a chapter from the Congressional Records, it does present a number of interesting BTU (British Thermal Units) ratings compiled in all 42 county communities with the exception of Detroit. The figures indicate the amount of expended energy, city-by-city, and includes all residential, commercial, institutional, industrial and transportation sectors.

Some of the heaviest users are Ecorse, Flat Rock, Livonia, Wyandotte and Dearborn and the least are Belleville, Grosse Pointe Shores and Northville. Surprisingly enough residential areas account for 25 percent of the total — more than industrial or commercial.

For the Pointes, energy consumption is given in BTU's times 10: Grosse Pointe, 99; Farms 166; Park, 181; Shores, 39; Woods, 286.

Members of the Energy Management Council are hopeful that they can generate enough interest in the program, now, to keep it moving long after it was terminated Dec. 31.

"Local governments," the Management Team contends, "can play an important leadership role in encouraging conservation efforts by individuals. The diversity of communities has been taken into consideration and a series of options, rather than a single program, has been presented in the document."

Far Eastern tour for Cinema League

The Grosse Pointe Cinema League will present "Indonesia, Bali, and Thailand," a program of 35mm color slides by Jerry Pearsall, Monday, Jan. 19, at 8 p.m. in the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium. Area residents are invited to attend the program without charge. The social hour following the presentation is limited to Cinema League members.

The journey will take viewers half-way around the globe to Jakarta, the modern capital of the fifth most populated country in the world, Indonesia. It will visit Taman Impian Jaya Ancol, the gigantic playland of parks, ponds, swim pools, aquarium, casino, hotel, arenas, golf courses and ocean beaches. And we'll note the extensive Christmas decorations in this 95 percent Moslem country.

Also to be seen is "Mini-Indonesia," a park of varied buildings from the different provinces and the 13,000 islands spanning 3,000 miles of Pacific Ocean.

The show also tours Bali, Indonesia's popular tourist island, in the driver's 25-year old Chevrolet, passing scores of temples and miles of lush, green rice fields. Traditional Ketjak, Barong and Legong dances, done to the unique music of the Gamelan orchestra, are witnessed.

Featured in Thailand are the Royal Palace grounds in Bangkok. Brightly colored temples, shrines and monuments fill the grounds.

Of special interest are the many canals, with their floating markets, across the Chao Prayo River from Bangkok, where water taxis, barges, children swimming, women washing, and grocery boats all are seen from a cruise in a tour boat.

A visit is made to the Bridge over the River Kwai, built by Allied war prisoners during World War II and used as the theme for the popular movie.

Puppets explain handicapped

The January meeting of MACLD will be held Tuesday, Jan. 20, 7:30 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Central Library, 10 Kercheval Avenue.

A puppet presentation called "Kids on the Block" will be given by Grosse Pointers Linda Korver, social worker, and Sue Klein, teacher consultant.

Each puppet is a life-size representation of a handicapped child. The puppets are presented to non-handicapped children in classrooms to help children learn about disability and develop a positive attitude toward their handicapped peers.

Name Filbin to task force

J. F. Dalieri, task force chairman of the Governor's Small Business Conference, recently announced the appointment of William R. Filbin III, of University Place, vice-president of W. R. Filbin & Co., Inc., to serve as a member of the export task force in conjunction with Gov. Milliken's 1981 Small Business Conference.

The purpose of the export task force is to prepare a comprehensive recommendation to the governor as to how to increase Michigan export sales based on the collective views of the Michigan small business community.

In addition, Secretary of Commerce, Philip M. Klutznick, announced the appointment of Filbin to the Michigan District Export Council of the Department of Commerce. The council was established in the early 1980's to provide export organizations to serve as a link in joint government/industry export expansion endeavors.

Michigan District Export Council, (MDEC), sponsors local programs to achieve export awareness for Michigan products, and assisting in international marketing. Filbin has been a guest speaker for the MDEC for the past three years before his appointment.

For Senior Citizens

By Marian Trainor

There are few of us, no matter how perfect we are, who begin the New Year without some thought of bettering ourselves or our situation. We resolve to get a medical checkup; to pay more attention to nutrition; to exercise more; to renew old social contacts or make new ones. The list goes on.

But it is a good bet that nowhere on that list is a note to enlist the services of a family lawyer. Yet a lawyer can help us avoid making mistakes and as we grow older, the margin for error begins to disappear, so it is important to avoid mistakes. As young working people, we could recoup our losses if mistakes were made. Now, we may not have a chance to do so.

To make it more personal, if you are still working but close to retirement, it is wise to make plans for the adjustments of retirement in advance while you still have time for full consideration. Family and friends can be helpful. Those with special training, such as people from the business world or someone in a social agency who specializes in counseling older people can advise but when it comes to the legal aspects of important decisions, you need a lawyer.

A FAMILY LAWYER can give you a legal checkup much as your family doctor can let you know if there are any health problems developing which need attention.

Laws and circumstances change as the years go by which warrant periodic consultation. A death in the family, a birth, a marriage, a divorce or a change in your financial condition are examples of times when legal advice can prevent problems arising.

If you move from one state to another you need counsel. The laws of each state differ. An inheritance law may differ for example. It is the law of the state where you make your home which determines the validity of your will.

Perhaps you have a lawyer in mind to whom you can turn for a review, update and advice on your affairs.

But if you do not, the U.S. Office of Human Development Administration on Aging has this to offer on a wise procedure to follow when you are choosing a family lawyer.

One suggestion is to find a satisfied client. Another is to call the local bar association. Someone there will give you the name of a reliable attorney and you can have a first interview with him for a modest fee. If you are not impressed, you are under no obligation to continue with his services. If you cannot afford to pay a fee, you can call the Legal Aid Society or write to the National Legal Aid and Defender Association, 1155 E. 60th St. Chicago, Ill. 60637 and they will tell you whom to call for free advice.

WHAT SERVICES can a lawyer perform for you? His primary purpose, of course, is to advise you about the legal aspects of your affairs, and, if indicated to use legal procedures for handling them. He may draw up a will, a deed, or a contract or look over documents of this sort that have been prepared by someone else to see that your interests are adequately protected.

Because of his general knowledge of people and business, he may advise you about various aspects of your affairs which are not entirely matters of law, or he may call on experts from other fields. When it comes to legal fees, there is no exact answer to that question but there are guidelines.

Because in most cases, a lawyer charges on the basis of the amount of time he spends with you, you can save yourself time and money by discussing your affairs clearly and concisely. Sometimes attorneys set a flat fee for certain types of work such as drawing a will, probating a descendant's estate or handling a real estate transaction.

In your first consultation with a lawyer or in consulting him about a new matter, you should ask on what basis, he will set his fee. If it is on an hourly basis, ask what the rate per hour is. The attorney may be able to give you a rough estimate of the total cost even though he does charge on an hourly basis.

For certain kinds of legal work, a lawyer's fee is subject to approval by

Strum along with Suezek

A folk guitar course for beginners with no previous musical experience will be offered at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial on Mondays, Jan. 12 to March 2 from 6:45 to 8 p.m.

Folk guitar has been taught at the Center for a number of years by Harvard graduate and Troubadour Alexander Suezek who founded the Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival and is its artistic director.

Students will learn to accompany themselves and others by practicing simple chords and strums. Folk songs of many lands are taught by Suezek who has researched songs in nine different languages.

Mr. Suezek teaches an advanced guitar class the same Mondays from 8 to 9 p.m. Advanced students must have taken the beginning course. The fee for each course is $18 for eight weeks. Registration is at the center office, 32 Lakeshore. Call 881-7511 for more information.

a court or by a state or federal agency. For example, the lawyer's fee is controlled in cases involving guardianships and estates of deceased persons and in proceedings concerning certain types of retirement benefits such as social security.

IN MOST CASES all you have to do to get social security benefits is to apply for them. But if you are not satisfied, and wish to have your benefits reexamined within the agency or by the courts, it is advisable to be represented by an attorney if you get to the stage of going to court.

Many older people add to their retirement income by earning extra money. They babysit, make jewelry, build furniture or other activities for which they are particularly adept.

However there are legal implications that must be considered when you earn extra money. There may be zoning ordinances which prohibit your right to carry on certain activities. There may be state or local regulations covering the kind of work you want to do and your earnings might affect your right to basic retirement funds.

If you decide to go into a small business, you should talk over your plans with a lawyer before you start. You should also use him as a consultant before you start. If you close out your enterprise, have a lawyer supervise your procedures. Proper procedures in closing out a business, for example, define the extent of your rights and liabilities in relation to others.

Sometimes even a leisure time activity can require the services of an attorney such as when you sign a contract for membership in a club, a course of instructions or buy equipment to use in pursuing your activity.

Even choosing a place to live may have legal implications. If you decide to stay in the old homestead, more than likely you will have maintenance problems. If the repair work involves substantial cost, you should see a lawyer. He will look over the contract to protect your interests.

Don't sign anything involving an important decision or a substantial sum of money until you have legal advice. If you decide to move to a cooperative or a condominium, your lawyer can determine the extent of your rights in the property and your liabilities to other owners and the public. It is also important to find out whether the enterprise as a whole is financially sound.

NO ONE WISHES to think ahead to a time when illness or general poor health might make it difficult to look after one's affairs but it could happen and it is best to make arrangements ahead of time. If you plan ahead, it is more likely that things will be taken care of the way you want. In an emergency you may not feel up to making plans for yourself. Others might hesitate to make them for you.

There are different ways in which you can give another person legal authority to look after things for you. Your lawyer can help you decide which to choose. You may place all of your assets in joint control; confer power of attorney or establish a trust. In choosing one of these you should have the advice of a lawyer.

The law can provide the method for you to give authority to someone else to act for you. But neither the law nor the method can do the work. That must be done by the person to whom you give the authority. So it is important to choose the right person whether it be a family member, a close friend or a professional person like your banker or lawyer. The bottom line is trust in the person you choose.

And then there is the matter of making a will. Have a lawyer prepare it. Do not buy a legal form and fill it in yourself. When used in a will words can have a meaning that is quite different from their meaning in common usage. Also have your lawyer supervise the way in which you and your witnesses sign the will. There are formal requirements for the way in which this is done.

St. James has new pastor

St. James Lutheran Church, 170 McMillan Road, in the Farms, installed The Rev. George M. Schelter as pastor at the congregation's 11 a.m. worship Sunday, Jan. 4. The Rev. Dr. Harold Hecht, President of the English Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, preached the sermon and officiated at the rite of installation. The St. James Chancel Choir, under the direction of Herman A. Clein, provided festive music.

Pastor Schelter succeeded Pastor George E. Kurz, who retired in November after a 40 year ministry at St. James. A 1974 graduate of Christ Seminary-Seminex in St. Louis, Pastor Schelter was called and ordained as assistant pastor of St. James Church on Aug. 4, 1974. His call was elevated to that of associate pastor on May 8, 1978.

Pastor Schelter is married to Deaconess Gwenn A. Bazajou, who also serves in ministry at St. John's Lutheran Church in Redford.

During his ministry with Pastor Kurz and the people of St. James Church, Pastor Schelter has shared preaching duties, been involved in the church's youth, worship, and education ministries, and has actively engaged in pastoral counselings. Since the fall of 1974, he has sat on the Board of Directors of the Family Life Education Council, serving as Finance Chairperson in 1978 and 1979.

He is the current president of the Grosse Pointe Ministerial Association.

NHS students aid families

Students at North High School helped to make Christmas a little more cheerful for 55 east side Detroit and Grosse Pointe families, for the households of five senior citizens, and for youngsters in a Detroit children's home. Again this year, The Student Association sponsored the adopt-a-family program that has been so successful in the past.

Student groups, home-rooms, as well as staff members were given the names, addresses, and ages of members in their families. They then collected money and gifts to provide each with food, clothing, and toys. Some families were unusually large, with as many as nine children.

On Monday, Dec. 22, students, staff and parents loaded cars and vans to transport the collected materials.

YOU GET GREAT GIFTS AND HIGH INTEREST AT STANDARD FEDERAL SAVINGS

New! Checking Accounts with Interest

Until now, you've never had interest paid on your checking account. But on January 1, 1981, you'll have the chance to take advantage of a brand new service from Standard Federal Savings — checking accounts with interest. In addition to providing savings accounts which pay the highest rate available on insured savings, Standard Federal also offers the opportunity to earn the highest interest allowed on your checking account.

These accounts will earn 5 1/4% annual interest — continuously compounded — adding interest every month to your account for an effective annual yield of 5.467%. This is the highest interest allowed on checking accounts.

You may open an account in any amount. However, with a minimum balance of $500.00 OR an average daily balance of $1,000.00, you may write all the checks you wish, with no monthly service charge. (A $5.00 monthly fee is assessed if you go below the minimum or average requirements).

- Each month you'll receive a detailed statement of your account which lists your checks in numerical order, your deposits, any service charges assessed and the interest earned during the statement period.
- Personalized checks are printed free of charge if you choose not to have your checks returned with your monthly statement. There will be a charge for printing personalized checks if you wish to have your checks returned to you. With either option, you may select a style that provides a carbon copy of each check for your records.

- A permanent record of each check will be kept by Standard Federal Savings. If you need a copy for any reason, microfilm copies of as many as 25 checks per year (or all checks relating to an IRS audit) will be provided at no charge.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO CUSTOMERS 62 YEARS OF AGE AND OLDER:

Customers 62 years of age and older who have direct deposit of social security or other retirement checks into any Standard Federal Savings account will pay no monthly service charge on their checking accounts.

RIGHT NOW — receive a gift FREE or at big savings just for opening a new checking account with $1,000.00 or more. Gifts are also available for opening or adding $1,000.00 or more to any Standard Federal savings account.

26-Week Money Market Certificate* Minimum Balance $10,000.00

The interest rate is determined weekly and has three options for payment of interest; interest can be paid at maturity, or paid on the last day of each month and automatically transferred to a 5 1/2% regular savings account, or paid by check every month. Call (313) 643-9583 for the current rate.**

2 1/2-Year Money Market Certificate* Minimum Balance $100.00

The interest rate is determined bi-weekly and compounded continuously giving the highest return available on these accounts. Call (313) 643-6855 for the current rates.**

Non-negotiable Savings Certificate* Minimum Balance $100,000.00

Terms range from 14 days to 5 years with interest rates quoted by Standard Federal Savings on a daily basis. Call (313) 643-9562 for current rates.**

Retirement Savings Accounts*

IRA is a personal, tax-sheltered retirement savings program. It is available for any working person who is not currently participating in a private or government retirement plan. The Keogh Plan, a tax-sheltered retirement plan for self-employed individuals, is also available.

*Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal from certificate accounts and also prohibit the compounding of interest on 26-week money market certificates.
**The rate established at the time these accounts are opened is the rate in effect for the full term of the certificate.

From China to WCCC

Amid the shifting political winds of the Soviet Union and the People's Republic of China, leaders who have been disgraced because they were found to be on the wrong side of the current political line are often "rehabilitated" when the regime's line changes again. The incriminating evidence is expunged from the official record and the official is restored to good standing. Some people are "rehabilitated" even after their death, for whatever good that does them.

Now the practice of "rehabilitating" fallen heroes has come to Wayne County.

We refer, of course, to the case of Reginald Wilson, the ousted president of Wayne County Community College, who was fired because, it was charged, he ignored the directives of the trustees, mispent college funds and permitted the quality of education at WCCC to decline. A state audit backed up the board's accusations with respect to Dr. Wilson's loose handling of college funds.

As a result of a highly-publicized settlement, Dr. Wilson, now has been "rehabilitated." The trustees have agreed to pay him $230,000, about four times his annual salary, and to rewrite the minutes of the board to make it appear that he had resigned and had not been fired. In a kind of side agreement, New Detroit, Inc., also has promised to play a role in the "rehabilitation" of Dr. Wilson by giving a reception or testimonial to mark his contributions to the college.

SUCH AGREEMENTS are not only reminiscent of the practices in the totalitarian societies but also recall George Orwell's classic "1984," which apparently is closer than we think.

Attorney George Bushnell, who negotiated the settlement for the college, insists, however, that he and the board are not rewriting history and are not revisionists. He contended this kind of thing happens all the time in this country and cited as an example the "correcting" of the Congressional Record in Washington.

But members of Congress, when they "edit" their own remarks on the floors of the two houses, are revising speeches and not the official actions of Congress. So the rewriting of the Congressional Record, which should hardly be cited as the norm for legislative bodies, is hardly comparable even at worst to the rewriting of the official minutes of the WCCC.

Cowardly commissioners

To nobody's great surprise, the Wayne County Board of Commissioners failed to turn down a $1,500 a year pay raise for themselves and the other elected county officials. In view of the county's continuing financial difficulties and its laying off of hundreds of employees, that failure was bad enough. But the way in which the board dealt with a resolution to turn down the raise was even more reprehensible. It was, in fact, cowardly.

To reject the pay raises, which had been recommended by the county Officers Compensation Commission, a two-thirds majority or 18 commissioners had to vote against the motion. So what happened? Fifteen commissioners voted against the raise, one voted for it, two abstained and the rest were absent. So, of course, the motion to reject the raise was defeated.

Here in the Pointes it is worth remembering that our peerless Pointer on the board, Ervin Steiner, was one of the nine who lacked the courage to show up for the meeting and thus made sure the motion was defeated.

True, the pay hike will be deferred for a year until Jan. 1, 1982. But it should be remembered that cost of living allowances for the county officials will continue to be paid apparently under the illusion that they don't really count. Actually, the COLA for each of the elected county officials amounts to $6,274 a year which is paid on top of their regular salaries.

board's actions, attorney Bushnell to the contrary.

People in Grosse Pointe and all residents of Michigan have an interest in what happens at WCCC because state and county funds provide most of the support for the college. Wayne County residents who received their tax statements in recent weeks noted, for example, that some of their tax payments will go to support WCCC. Actually county residents pay a second time for support of the college through their state taxes that provide additional funds for WCCC.

True, the deal with Dr. Wilson apparently was cut to save the college from further litigation over the educator's $9 million lawsuit. True, Dr. Wilson was not given the six months notice required in event of cancellation of his contract. But the settlement still appears to be outrageous. In effect, taxpayers see an additional $230,000 of their funds go down the drain, in addition to funds that Dr. Wilson allegedly had helped waste as president, in order to buy a settlement.

IT IS IRONICAL that Dr. Wilson now attacks the press and claims he asked for public acclaim to correct impressions left by "irresponsible" media. Now that he has been "rehabilitated" by the college board, he attacks the only remaining accurate source of the sorry record of the college in the whole dismissal fiasco. Yet his attack was consistent with his earlier self-serving comments and his insistence, for example, in retaining a college automobile and credit cards long after he had been fired.

The new WCCC president is Detroit's deputy mayor, Richard Simmons, who now has the unenviable job of restoring the college's reputation and its fiscal integrity. He comes to his task with excellent credentials from Wayne State University where he served as director of the Center for Urban Studies and Center for Black Studies, and from the city of Detroit where he served as deputy mayor. He has a solid background and experiences in both education and public administration that ought to equip him well for his new duties.

But we hope he and the college board will spare us any more rewriting of history and the "rehabilitation" of any more college officials who have been fired for cause. Their task now is to "rehabilitate" the college itself.

Fine leads cancer study

Grosse Pointe Park resident Dr. Gerald Fine, division head of anatomic pathology, and Dr. Min Woo Lee, associate pathologist at Henry Ford Hospital, are among 60 Detroit-area specialists who have helped develop tests for predicting recurrence of breast cancer.

"We owe a great deal of the study's success to our Pathological Associates, like Drs. Fine and Lee at Ford Hospital," said Dr. Marvin Rich, executive vice-president of the Cancer foundation. "Using the pathological analyses from our hospital associates, scientific researchers were able to develop specific tests for predicting the likelihood of a patient's breast cancer to recur. We hope the day is not far off when hospital pathologists in their hospital laboratories can use a standard set of tests to very precisely predict the course of a particular patient's cancer." Under the direction of Drs. Fine and Lee, pathologists at Ford Hospital analyze the Cottage Hospital of Grosse Pointe has received state approval to begin renovation of its former nurses' residence on Ridge Road and expansion of certain patient-related services in the main building, to be completed by December, 1981.

Cottage administrator Ralph L. Wilgarde said last week the emergency department will be enlarged and more space will be provided for the hospital's ambulatory surgical services. This will include a new ambulatory surgical suite and an endoscopy room for the examination of internal organs by means of tubes and scopes. A new fully equipped diagnostic x-ray room will be added.

To make room for the expansion of those departments in the main hospital building, non-patient related functions such as business office and the Wayne County Health Department will be moved to the former nurses' residence on Ridge Road. The building will also house a day care center for the children of employees and a new community meeting room. More than 15,000 square feet of space will be renovated.

"The expansion of our Emergency and X-ray departments and the renovation of the nurses' residence will enable Cottage Hospital to provide some of the services which are most needed in our community," Wilgarde said. "Where applicable, ambulatory surgery and other forms of hospital service, which do not require an overnight stay, are effective ways for people to participate in cost containment in health care."

The last major addition to Cottage Hospital was completed in 1971 when the hospital added a new wing and several ancillary services. The renovation of the older portion of the hospital was completed in 1978.

24 new arts and crafts classes will brighten your winter months

Twenty-four arts and crafts courses have been scheduled by the department of continuing education of the school system for the winter session.

Seven are new offerings—Be My (Embroidery-on-Perforated-Paper) Valentine, Crafts Anonymous, Crewel Embroidery, Crocheting, Needle Lace and Needle Weaving, Painting with a Pencil, Rosemaling and General Woodworking.

Joyce Martin, who introduced "Embroidery on Perforated Paper: Revival of a Victorian Art" in the fall, returns with Be My Valentine at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesdays beginning Jan. 21 in room 219 of Parcels Middle School. Fee is $12.50 for four weeks.

Crafts Anonymous, a four-week class, will teach you to use odds and ends in applied design fashion. Taught by Kathleen Kennedy, it begins on Jan. 20. Fee is $12.50.

Crewel Embroidery will teach you to embroider with wool on linen. Laura Barbour teaches the class which will begin Feb. 5.

Crocheting, also taught by Ms. Barbour, begins Feb. 4. Fee is $12.50 for five weeks.

Needle Lace and Weaving, the third of the new classes for winter introduced by Ms. Barbour, will begin Feb. 3. This is the revival of an old craft of beautiful, three-dimensional embroidery. Students may use a variety of fibers on fabrics or they may make "jewelry" on a wire frame.

Painting with a Pencil is a new class for anyone wanting to develop drawing skills. Students under Margaret Burns' direction will work basically in black and white with chalk and graphite in perfecting form and line. Fee for the 10-week class which begins Jan. 22 is $25.

Rosemaling is new for 1981. Learn from Maude Anderson to reproduce original Norwegian rosemaling designs to decorate walls, beams, furniture, plates, trays or other wooden objects. The six-week class which begins Feb. 5 has a fee of $15.

Veteran instructor John Czaplak will introduce General Woodworking on Jan. 24. Not strictly a "hobby" class, the aim of this new offering is to construct rather large individual projects. The fee for this Saturday morning class to be held at North High is $37.50.

Other Arts and Crafts classes offered by the Department of Continuing Education are Art (All Media), Chair Caning, Copper/Silver, Decorative Tole Painting, Drawing, Embroidery, on Perforated Paper: Revival of a Victorian Craft, Knitting (All Levels), Needlepoint I, Needlepoint II, Picture Framing, Pottery, Quilting, Silk Flowers, Stained Glass

Art (Beginning), Tiffany Lamps, and Woodworking.

For information on enrollment procedures and space availability in classes operated by the Department of Continuing Education, please call 343-2178.

Study Yoga at the center

Yoga study and practice continues on Wednesday evenings, Jan. 28 to March 18, from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. under certified Golden Lotus teacher Betty Locke at the War Memorial.

The class teaches relaxation of mind and body, suppleness through stances and attitudes and elimination of worry through concentration. Music is used and an atmosphere created that tones basic organs.

Light exercise clothing should be worn and rug samples or similar brought to class to be used as exercise mats. The fee is $25 for eight weeks.

Graduates

Debra Van Tiem has a new friend these days. His name is Zeck, a 16-month-old Golden Retriever. Mrs. Van Tiem, of Grosse Pointe Woods, and Zeck struck a friendship recently at the Leader Dog School in Rochester. Both are graduates of the school after undergoing an intensive four week training period preparing Mrs. Van Tiem and her Leader Dog to work together. Graduates must know where they are going and direct the Leader Dog to the destination with commands. A dog does not read traffic lights, but crosses the street upon command from the master, who must study the pattern of traffic. The dog will then proceed when it is safe. Mrs. Van Tiem said Leader Dogs are matched up with their prospective masters by the height of a person and how fast a person walks. The Leader Dog School was founded in 1939 and since then over 5,451 Leader Dogs have been trained. More than 1,225 have been in Michigan.

Continuing Ed. classes offer sports, dance

Offerings in the areas of sports, dance and exercise scheduled by the Grosse Pointe Public School System's Department of Continuing Education, continue to be extremely popular. Because of this, the winter roster of classes contains a total of seven new offerings in 1981.

This winter the department is offering two special exercise programs for men. One of these, "Vital Options Exercise for Men," is slated to meet once weekly beginning Jan. 14. The fee for the class which meets from 7 to 8 p.m. in the Mason gym is $20 for 10 weeks.

The second men's class, "Men's Aerobic Exercise," will be taught by Joe of Naomi's Aerobic Ballet Exercises. Scheduled to meet once a week at North High School, the class will be held on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. The fee for this class is $35 for 10 weeks.

New dance classes offered by Continuing Education are ballroom dancing, Latin American dancing and Hawaiian dancing. In addition, two single session classes on the schedule are "It Takes

Two to Tango" and "Do I Hear a Waltz?"

For complete enrollment information and space availability in sports, dance and exercise classes offered this winter by the department, call 343-2178.

Complete details of all offerings are found in the green flyer mailed to all residences in the Grosse Pointe school district the week of Dec. 29. Copies of the flyer are available at the office of Continuing Education, located in room A-22 of Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfontle Avenue.

Pathologists join to develop tests for breast cancer

Six local hospital pathologists are among 60 in the Detroit area collaborating to develop tests to predict the recurrence of breast cancer. They are Dr. Frank B. Walker, Pathology Department, Cottage Hospital; Drs. Dennis A. Luz, director of Laboratories, Suresh K. Gehani, associate pathologist, and Usha R. Sood, associate pathologist, Bon Secours Hospital; and Dr. James J. Humes, vice-president for Medical Affairs, and Herbert I. Krickstein, associate pathologist, Saint John Hospital.

The tests are the results of studies undertaken by pathologists, physicians and researchers in the Michigan Cancer Foundation's Breast Cancer Prognostic Study. The study, begun in 1975, recently expanded to include studies throughout Latin America. "We owe a great deal of the study's success to our Pathological Associates at Bon Secours, Cottage and Saint John Hospitals," says Dr. Marvin A. Rich, executive vice-president and scientific director at the MCF. "Using the pathological analyses from our hospital associates, scientific researchers were able to develop specific tests for predicting the likelihood of a patient's breast cancer to recur."

"We hope the day when pathologists in their hospital laboratories can use a standard set of tests to very precisely predict the course of a particular patient's breast cancer is not far off."

Pathologists in the Prognostic Study analyze a breast tumor after its surgical removal. They observe size, appearance and pattern, and determine whether the tumor is malignant or benign.

They grade the tumor according to an established system of tumor grading; the tumor is then transported to the Meyer L. Prentiss Cancer Center where researchers conduct extensive tests on it.

Dr. Walker, a native Detroit, resides in Grosse Pointe Farms and has been with the Cottage Hospital staff since 1962. He also practices medicine with Langston, Walker and Associates, P.C., in Grosse Pointe.

He attended Union College in Schenectady, N.Y., and received his M.D. degree from Wayne State University's School of Medicine in 1962. Dr. Walker has been named in "Who's Who in Midwest Medicine," is the president of the Michigan Society of Pathologists 1980-81 and is the immediate past-president of the Michigan Society of Pathologists. He was chairman of the Surgical Section for the Wayne County Medical Society in 1979.

Dr. Humes, a former pathologist with the Medical Corps, United States Navy, joined Saint John Hospital in 1967. He is a member of the Pathology Advisory committee in the Prognostic Study. A native of Philadelphia, Pa., he received his M.D. degree from Philadelphia's Jefferson Medical College in 1943.

He served as president of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists in 1974. (Continued on Page 6B)

Ellen Burstyn, winner of an Academy Award for her role in "Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore" and a Tony Award for her appearance in the Broadway production of "Same Time Next Year" opens the current Bushnell Performing Arts Series next Tuesday, Jan. 13, at 8 p.m., reading, in an intimate, semi-round setting, from the works of T.S. Eliot, Edna St. Vincent Millay, Aubrey Beardsley and John Keats.

Information on single tickets for her performance at Bushnell Congregational Church on Southfield Road in Detroit, at $6 each, may be obtained by calling 272-3550.

The series, which receives the support of the Michigan Council for the Arts, continues Sunday, March 15, with a 3:30 p.m. program, "Women I Have Known," by New York actress Tulis Sessions, teacher at Potter's Field, Michael Moriarty's theater company and school. Friends for Orchestra Hall are co-sponsoring this event. Series director Ray Ferguson will present French Keyboard Music Sunday, April 12, at 3:30 p.m., and the Brio Trio will perform chamber music Sunday, May 17, also at 3:30 p.m. Receptions follow each of the four programs, giving members of the audience an opportunity to meet informally with the artists.

The show will be presented by Linda Korver, Tri-Delta alumna and Grosse Pointe School's social worker, and Sue Klein, Grosse Pointe Schools' teacher consultant. They encourage group questioning and discussion as part of their program.

Tri-Deltas are sharing the evening with area Delta Gamma alumnae and ask all interested members of both groups to call co-hostesses Mrs. Donald Schrom, 885-7286, or Mrs. Lester Elliott, 886-3317, for reservations.

The Auxiliary to the Salvation Army of Detroit begins the New Year with a meeting Monday, Jan. 12, at Salvation Army Headquarters on North Main Street in Royal Oak.

The meeting is set for 11 a.m., luncheon, for which members are advised to bring sandwiches, for noon. Beverage and an ethnic dessert will be served. Reservations should be made by contacting Enid Gee, at 642-5145, or Mrs. Frank Voorheis, 642-2309.

Drama reigns at Music Hall this month

The Long Wharf Theatre, a household name on the East Coast and a company known throughout the American theater world, comes to Detroit's Music Hall Center Jan. 13 through 18.

Long Wharf has premiered many American and foreign works which have gone on to Broadway and earned numerous awards, among them the Pulitzer, Drama Desk and Drama Critics Circle. Long Wharf itself possesses a prestigious Tony Award, presented in recognition of its "extraordinary high level of performance and aspiration."

LWT productions embraced by the New York stage include "The Gin Game," "The Shadow Box," "Streamers" and "Ah, Wilderness." "The Widowing of Mrs. Holroyd" and "Forget-Me-Not-Lane" were seen on national Public Television.

In Detroit on its first national tour, Long Wharf will present Noel Coward's drawing room comedy "Private Lives" and James Goldman's history-comedy "The Lion in Winter."

"Private Lives" laces its laughter with romance to tell the story of Amanda and Elyot, a divorced couple who meet again when they discover, to their mutual horror, that they share the same hotel terrace while honeymooning with their new spouses.

"The Lion in Winter" unfolds during the Christmas season of 1183. Henry II of England has permitted his wife, Eleanor of Aquitaine, a brief holiday from the prison in which he has kept her for the past 15 years. The fact that each of them support a different son to inherit the crown sets them once again to verbal battle in this light-hearted look at the days when personal and political relationships were one and the same.

Tickets range from $6.50 to $12.50 and may be purchased at the Music Hall box office, by phone using MasterCard or VISA or at any CTC outlet. The box office phone number is 963-7680. Group rate information may be obtained by calling 963-7622.

From Another Pointe Of View

 common (besides having made names for themselves in many phases of theater): they're all Grosse Pointe Children's Theater alumni.
 The Children's Theater was founded 27 years ago by Sally Reynolds, who remains its director, producer and guiding light. Sally's own list of theatrical achievements is impressive. A Drama and Radio major, she holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Michigan State University, a Masters degree from Wayne State. She was an actress on "The Lone Ranger" and "Green Hornet," Detroit-based national radio programs, and acted in many Jam Handy films.
 But the theatrical achievement she's proudest of—and rightly so; just look at that list of distinguished alumni!—is the Grosse Pointe Children's Theater.

The theater will enroll students, ages 7 through high school, for the second semester of its 27th season this Saturday, Jan. 10, from 10 a.m. to noon at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.
 Prospective members of "the company" need not be professional actors or have professional backgrounds, necessarily, but classes ARE taught in a professional manner, preparing those who intend to go into professional theater in all elements of stage acting.
 Classes are an hour and a half and run for 12 weeks. Students are sectioned according to age and experience and instructed in improvisation, voice and diction, stage movement and terminology, characterization, story telling, animation for motion picture and television work and many other aspects of theater.

Two more productions are planned for the current season. As always, they'll be quality productions. Sally insists on that. Further information on joining the Children's Theater may be obtained by calling the War Memorial, TUxedo 1-7511, or 885-6219.
 By the way: you might be interested in knowing that Heather Cross, who appeared as Dorothy in the Grosse Pointe Children's Theater production of "The Wizard of Oz" earlier this season, is a regular on Channel 2's "Kid's World."
 And you might be interested in knowing that Cindy Reynolds Connors, Sally's very personal production, is making a name for herself in Battle Creek, writing and directing commercials for radio.

A heart-y happening
 Members of the Detroit East Suburban Chapter of Alpha Phi will arrive empty handed at the Washington Road home of Mrs. Richard Dietz next Tuesday evening, but they'll leave with their hearts in their hands.
 For this is the meeting at which the local Alpha Phis pick up their allotments of heart-shaped lollipops, which go on sale throughout the community Feb. 1.
 Once again, during Valentine Month, "Help Lick Heart Disease" and "Alpha Phi Helping Hearts" are the slogans on the cans of heart-shaped suckers you'll see all over The Pointe. Proceeds from the sale go to Saint John Hospital's Heart Catheterization Program.

And, fittingly, the guest speaker at Tuesday's Alpha Phi meeting will be Dr. Valdo J. Kozul, director of Cardiovascular Disease and Catheterization at Saint John. He'll describe the work being done there to prevent heart attacks and in open heart surgery.
 Gathering time for Alpha Phis is 7:30 p.m.: All those planning to attend the meeting are asked to call 882-8712 or 821-4484 by Monday.

Ford House concert date
 Carnegie Hall debut this spring. The concert at Ford House is part of the warming-up for Carnegie.
 Great Lakes Performing Artist Associates, co-sponsor of the concert, is an organization dedicated to helping emerging artists get a start in their careers.
 Last August, Great Lakes and Ford House presented Cameron Grant and James Winn in an exciting duo-piano recital. Grant and Winn were on their way to Munich, Germany, to enter the International Duo-Piano Competition. There they beat all the others except the Russian team with whom they tied, and some observers said that but for geopolitics they would have been judged ahead of the Russians. Ford House hopes to have them back.

 The Jan. 24 Duo Vivo concert is open to the public but, as the capacity of the gallery is limited to 150, reservations must be made in advance. To reserve a seat, call 885-3300 to verify availability and to have your name registered on the Gate House reservation list to insure admission.
 The concert will begin at 8 p.m. The gate at 1100 Lakeshore Road will open at 7:30 p.m. A reception follows the performance. The admission charge is $5 per person.
 ALEX MANOOGIAN, of The Farms, received a citation from Wayne State University President Thomas N. Bonner at December ceremonies marking the opening of the Armenian Heritage Room in the Ethnic Heritage Center on the WSU campus.
 LANA GORE, of the Park, directed the Modern Accordion Symphony Band of Dearborn in a holiday concert it performed for Detroit Psychiatric Institute Patients at the Dearborn City Auditorium on Dec. 18.

Offer Job Fair for all nurses at Ren Cen

Attracting qualified personnel to fill the estimated 60,000 nursing positions currently open at hospitals, medical centers and other medical organizations across the country is the primary concern of Nursing Job Fair, a three-day nursing employment convention that has been conducted in nearly a dozen cities each year for the last five years.

Detroit's Nursing Job Fair will be presented Jan. 15 to 17, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, in RenCen's Detroit Plaza Hotel. It is free and open to all interested nurses, nursing students and retired professionals, who may obtain further information by calling, toll free, 1 (800) 225-8458.

Richard A. DeVito, convention coordinator, introduced the Nursing Job Fair in 1975 when, as publisher of the monthly Nursing Job News, he learned of the critical need for nurses in various parts of the country.

"The concept is a simple one," he says. "It is to bring primary employers in the nursing field together with prospective job candidates."

"At each convention, recruiters from Maine to California gather in one location to seek candidates to fill positions at their facilities. It is very much like a trade show: hospital recruiters rent space where they set up a display booth alongside other hospital recruiters."

DeVito adds that at each convention nurse recruiters hope to fill approximately 5,000 jobs. Special efforts are made to attract inactive nurses of whom there are an estimated 200,000 across the country, for they are a valuable resource in meeting today's critical need for nurses.

During the 1979-80 season, nearly 15,000 nursing professionals attended conventions in 11 major metropolitan areas. Most registrants are nursing students and Registered Nurses; attendance data compiled during 1979-80 shows that more than 5,600 students and approximately 5,500 RNs attended.

Other attendees included nearly 900 Licensed Practical Nurses and approximately 2,000 other health care professionals and students.

Among the most popular convention sites are Boston, New York and Philadelphia. In these three cities, demand has been so strong that plans are being made to conduct two conventions in each city, one in the fall and one in the spring.

To plan World Day of Prayer

A planning session for the World's Day of Prayer, which occurs in March, is scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 22, at 11:30 a.m. at Saint Michael's Episcopal Church on Sunningdale Park, near Mack and Vernier.

This year's theme, "The Earth is the Lord's," was selected by the Christian American Indian Women associated with Church Women United. The theme suggests reflection upon the goodness of the earth and its resources and the goodness of God who created and sustains the earth, with emphasis upon humanity's responsibilities to care for the earth.

How to most effectively present this theme will be studied by the planning committee at Saint Michael's. Its chairwoman, Joan Noyes, urges all churches in the area to participate by sending a representative to the meeting. Last year's planning session was attended by representatives from 24 area churches — it is hoped that number will increase this year.

The planning session starts at 11:30 a.m. and will be followed by a soup, bread, beverage and dessert luncheon. A $10 donation per church to defray costs will be appreciated. Reservations may be made by telephoning Saint Michael's church office, 884-4820.

Chinese jades to be shown

Chinese Jades from Han to Ch'ing brings together more than 200 items from 36 distinguished collections in Hong Kong and the United States at the Detroit Institute of Arts Wednesday, Jan. 14, through Sunday, Feb. 22.

Jade, considered the most precious of all gemstones by the Chinese, has fascinated collectors for decades. The pieces in the exhibition date from the second century B.C. to the 19th century A.D. They are mostly heirlooms passed from generation to generation.

They will be shown in an appropriate "jewelbox" setting by Suzanne Mitchell, curator of Oriental Art, Detroit Institute of Arts.

Jade was not found in China itself, and that added to its allure and value. Early jade was largely "river material," small lumps found in riverbeds, and the objects created from these pieces retain much of the stone's original form.

Later, jade was quarried from veins in the mountains; although this material was never as highly valued, the size of the pieces allowed carvers to create much larger work.

Chinese esteem for jade has philosophical ties, for Confucius compares jade to all the finest qualities of human character. In early times it was believed to have magical and healing properties and the term "Jade Emperor" was the highest acclaim for a ruler.

Among the most appealing and vigorous pieces in the show are real and mythical beasts: a robust little pig, a horse plagued by a monkey, a coiled winged lion, an arrogant chimera (resembling the stone animals that guard royal tombs) with bared teeth and bulging eyes projecting the virile self-confidence of the Han dynasty.

Along with the animals and an array of handsome brush holders, small boxes and armrests created for the scholar's desk are plaques and personal ornaments: buckles, hair ornaments, pendants, bracelets, snuff bottles and earrings.

Appreciation of the artistry in these beautifully shaped and decorated works increases with the knowledge that jade is harder than most minerals and metals. It poses extraordinary difficulty for the carver.

Strictly speaking it is not carved, but ground and polished with abrasives and a variety of wheels, saws, drills and gouges.

James C.Y. Watt, curator of the Art Gallery of the Chinese University of Hong Kong, is the prominent jade expert who organized the show and wrote the exhibition catalogue ($14 at Museum Shops). He will discuss the exhibition in an illustrated lecture at the Art Institute Sunday, Feb. 8, at 4 p.m.

Chinese Jades from Han to Ch'ing will be open to the public without charge in the Textile Galleries of the Detroit Institute of Arts during regular museum hours: 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Docent tours of the exhibition may be scheduled in advance for organized groups by telephoning the museum's Department of Asian Art, 833-1718.

St. Clare wins Corbett tournament South cagers win

The first annual Michael S. Corbett Christmas tournament was held Dec. 26, 27 and 28 in the Saint Paul Catholic School gym. Saint Clare emerged as the tournament victor.

Eight teams entered the tournament. On the first night of play Saint Clare defeated Saint Margaret's, 40-24. In the remaining games on opening night, the Our Lady Star of the Sea squad topped Saint Peter's school, 28-8.

Guardian Angel edged Saint Raymond's, 23-22 and Saint Matthew's got by Saint Paul's, 27-19.

In the second round of play, Saint Margaret's defeated Saint Peter's, 24-9; the Saint Paul Lakers topped Saint Raymond, 36-30; Saint Clare's beat Our Lady Star of the Sea, 43-12 and Saint Matthew's ended Guardian Angel's hopes, 32-18.

In the final round of play, the Saint Margaret team captured third place in the tournament by defeating Saint Paul's, 22-19. John Joliet, Kevin English and Dave Fellows scored for the Lakers. Steve Mazzola contributed 14 points and Dave Stevenson played well defensively for Saint Margaret's.

In the championship game, the Saint Clare squad bested Saint Matthew's, 38-26, to win the title. Brian Dolasinski and Bruce Irving led the Saint Matthew team.

Saint Clare was led by Scott Fisher, who scored 18 points and by Sean Bruce, who contributed 12.

Fisher dominated the boards offensively and defensively during the entire tournament. He notched a weekend total of 36 points.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Corbett and their three sons, Tim, Steve and Randy were honored guests for the awards presentation. Also present were Ron Biotti, head basketball coach at Bishop Gallagher High School and Angelo Gust, varsity basketball coach at Wayne State University.

The tournament is held in honor of the late Michael Corbett and was sponsored by Saint Paul School. Coach Andrew Tilotta originated and directed the tournament and plans to make it an annual holiday event.

South High

In the closing minutes of the first half the Blue Devils erupted for 10 unanswered points enroute to a 50-40 crushing of the Norsemen on Dec. 23.

It was the fourth consecutive victory for the Blue Devils against only one setback, while the Norsemen slipped to 3-2.

The game featured the return of Glenn Piche's magic and that sparked the Blue Devils' win. The magic that Piche established during the past three years was hampered thus far this year because of a football ankle injury.

But he put on a show for the full-house crowd against the Norsemen. He scored 14 points, but his quickness really told the story. His defense was awesome as he came up with several steals and converted those into razzle-dazzle, behind-the-back and reverse layups.

But Piche wasn't the only Blue Devil who played well. John DeBoer, the team's leading scorer, led all scorers with 21 points and 6'9" center Stark Langs played impressively, blocking several North shots.

North dominated the first 12 minutes of the game. They got off to a 14-7 first quarter lead and built up to 18-10 before the Blue Devils ignited.

After a timeout, South exploded for eight quick points, including layups by Piche, DeBoer, and Tom Emmerick and an additional jumper by Piche to take a one point lead. North came back with two quick free throws, and that's when South really erupted.

Dean Graham hit a jumper, Piche stole the ball and made a layup. DeBoer got a basket and Langs hit two

North High

The high school sports teams get back into action this week at Grosse Pointe North after their 14 day holiday layoff. Hopefully, the time off will have enabled at least one team at North, the varsity basketball team, to regroup before the last month and a half of the season.

The six week period will mean a great deal to coach Ray Ritter and his players because 11 of their last 13 games are against Bi County opponents.

Before breaking for the two week holiday the Norsemen dropped their overall record to 1-5 losing to Grosse Pointe South, 54-40, on Tuesday, Dec. 23.

The Norsemen were coming off their first win after four defeats and unfortunately had to face a very strong Blue Devil team which completely controlled the last three periods.

The Norsemen's next game is this Friday, Jan. 9.

Marlies play well, win five

The Grosse Pointe Marlies AA Hockey Club skated extremely well over the two week holiday season, winning five, losing one, and tying one.

In the Southgate Christmas Invitational, the Marlies were undefeated in qualifying round play, but lost in the tournament finals. Grosse Pointe opened the tournament with a 2-2 tie on Dec. 21 against Plymouth then swept through its next four opponents before losing to Plymouth, 5-3 in the final game.

Grosse Pointe started its winning streak in tournament play by topping Vacall 4-3 on Dec. 26. After giving up an early goal, the Marlies tied the score in the first period. D. J. Kettlehut scored on passes from Joe Sullivan and Brian Nettie.

Vacall scored two unanswered goals before the Marlies came to life. With three and a half minutes left in the game, Andrew Roy made a picture pass to Richard Pisogna who drilled the puck behind the goaltender.

With 1:47 remaining, Sullivan tied the score with an unassisted goal. The winning goal came 30 seconds later when Kettlehut scored his second goal. Mike Amore and Jerry Rogers drew assists.

The Marlies were in high gear when they downed Southgate, 7-0 on Dec. 27 for their second invitational victory.

Sullivan scored the three goal hat trick and also had four assists. Kettlehut scored a goal and also had four assists. Tom Ugval had two goals and Nettie had a single tally and two assists.

Single assists went to Rogers and Pisogna.

The shutout was shared by goalies Coley Connolly and Bill Tecos who were both outstanding. Mike Amore, Mike Fulgenzi and Mike Kramer turned in strong defensive performances.

Grosse Pointe's next victory came against Woodhaven, 5-1 and featured more good goaltending by Tecos and Connolly. Woodhaven scored first on a power play goal but were shut out the rest of the game.

Accurate passing combinations set up three quick goals for the Marlies. Pisogna scored first with assists going to Ugval and Rogers. Ugval scored the go-ahead goal a minute later, with assists going to Rogers and goalie Tecos. Sullivan added a goal on a pass from Kettlehut and Rogers converted a pass from Sullivan with assists from Roy and Nettie.

The final qualifying game was against Dearborn Heights and featured a Marlie win, 10-3. Grosse Pointe completely dominated the Dearborn Heights team, scoring three times in the first period, twice in the second and five times in the final period.

Grosse Pointe received hat trick performances from Kettlehut and Roy. Marshall, Pisogna, Rogers, and Sullivan added single tallies.

Kevin Tisdale led the playmaking with four assists. Marshall, Pisogna and Sullivan each set up three goals, defenseman Mike Kramer two. Single assists were credited to Roy, Kettlehut, Nettie, and Fulgenzi.

The tournament final played Dec. 30 was a see-saw battle between two evenly matched teams. Plymouth came out on top, breaking a 3-3 tie late in the final period.

Plymouth took the early lead before Grosse Pointe stormed back with two late first period tallies. Marlie scoring came when Roy converted a perfect set-up from defenseman Fulgenzi and from Pisogna, who beat the Plymouth goalie unassisted.

Plymouth took a 3-2 lead into the third period until Marlie winger Ugval converted a beautiful centering pass from Pisogna. Late game Grosse Pointe penalties gave Plymouth a manpower advantage which they took advantage of and iced the game, 5-3.

The Marlies beat Royal Oak 4-1 in a non-league game Dec. 23. Grosse Pointe scoring came from Jamie Parker, Rogers, Nettie and Kettlehut. All the Grosse Pointe tallies were picture passing plays with Tisdale, Fulgenzi, Ugval, Sullivan, Nettie and Kramer picking up scoring assists.

The Grosse Pointe Marlies have now completed the first half of the season with 16 wins, 15 losses, and four ties. The Marlies have played excellent, aggressive hockey since Thanksgiving and have recorded nine wins, a tie, and only two losses over the last 30 days.

During this period the team has a scoring average of nearly five goals per game, while allowing their opponents less than two goals each game.

Grosse Pointe Marlboro reports are submitted by Brad Tisdale and compiled from referee score sheets.

Panthers win four

By Bob Waldeck
The Grosse Pointe Panthers Bantam hockey club captured the Christmas tournament held at the Grosse Pointe Community Rink by defeating the Pastime Lanes Blues of St. Clair Shores, 5-2, in the championship game on New Year's Day.

The Panthers, now 13-6-3 on the season, came from behind as the Blues had scored first on a goal by Pete Sachs in the opening period. Walt Connolly evened it up for the Panthers when he drilled a shot past Blues goalie Todd Mortier. Steve Harris and Dave Waldeck drew assists.

Minutes later, Panther center Craig Capps added a goal with assists going to Casey Quick and Connolly. Connolly made it 3-1 in the second period when he took a pass from defenseman Chris Clogg and kept the Blues' goalkeeper with a quick wrist shot.

Panther winger Ray Rivard scored to up the margin to 4-1. Waldeck and Connolly drawing assists.

Blues forward Jon Szoł closed the score to 4-2 before Connolly connected for his third goal. Waldeck and Rivard assisted on the play.

Bruins win Yule tourney

Victories over Plymouth and Trenton enabled the Grosse Pointe Bruins to capture the Bantam "A" Christmas hockey tournament in Southgate last week.

The two wins completed a six-game sweep of the round robin competition and gave coach Tom Costello's team its second tournament win of the season.

The Bruins gained the finals when they beat Plymouth, 5-1. Center Stacey Rickert paced the win with three goals and one assist. Linemates Rankin Barker scored one goal and Mike Brykalski notched two assists to support Rickert's performance and give Grosse Pointe a 4-1 lead after two periods.

John Russell tallied the final goal when he converted passes from Rick Roberts and John Hirschfield. Goalie Don McGlone provided solid netminding and captain Dan Follis led the defensive effort to secure the victory.

The championship game matched the Bruins with Trenton and produced a decisive 8-1 victory for Grosse Pointe.

Eight different Bruins scored in the title game, indicating the scoring balance that has prevailed throughout the season. Goal scorers included Rickert, Bob Nelson, Brykalski, Chris Luongo, Roberts, Keith Barich, Russell and Greg Henchel.

Strong Laker defensive and ball handling efforts, combined with the rebounding of Chase and Stephen Palffy, helped set up many scoring fast-breaks for Gualtieri.

St. Paul boys win first three

The Saint Paul 7/8er boys' basketball team started the season out right with three league victories sandwiched between their Thanksgiving and New Year's tournament participation.

Paced by P.J. Imesch's 13 points and Kevin Downs' 12 points, the Lakers took their league opener from Our Lady Star of the Sea, 32-23. They followed that win with a low scoring, but decisive 28-15 win over the Grosse Pointe Academy team.

In the Academy game, Imesch and Mike Keane scored six points each as eight of 11 Lakers got into the scoring column.

St. Paul played its first away game at Saint Juliana and came home with a relatively easy 43-25 win. Dave Gualtieri scored 18 points, and John Chase seven to lead the six-man scoring effort.

Red Cross needs New Year donors
This year you can resolve to be a regular blood donor. It's an easy resolution to keep. All you have to do is give blood every eight weeks but no more than five times a year.
Blood can be donated by anyone between the ages of 17 (with parental consent) through 65 and in good general health. It takes less than an hour to give a pint of blood including registra- tion, a brief medical exami- nation, the donation and snack in the canteen.
Thanks to modern technol- ogy, a pint of blood can help as many as four patients in a community.
Donations are accepted at the Detroit Donor Center, 100 Mack Avenue, Detroit on Monday, Wednesday, Fri- day, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Tuesday, Thursday, 12 to 6 p.m. For an appointment, call 833-4440.
A Red Cross bloodmobile will be located at the Eben- ezer Baptist Church, 21001 Moross Road, on Jan. 26 from 3 to 6 p.m. For an ap- pointment, call 882-2728 dur- ing blood drive hours.

FRI., JAN. 9

8-10PM NBC (7 Central/Mountain) BUCK ROGERS. "Hawk" Spason Premier! A special two hour wing ding with Buck battling a powerful man-bird who has vowed vengeance on the human race after his people have been wiped out by pirates. Gil Gerard stars as the space hero. Erin Gray returns as his beautiful assistant and Willard Hyde-White is the irascible scientist, "Dr. Goodfellow". Thom Christopher is Hawk. Nice to have Buck back.

9-10PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain) THE DUKES OF HAZZARD. Jan Clayton guest stars as Lucinda, an old flame of Uncle Jesse's.

9-11PM ABC (8 Central/Mountain) TOPPER. An update of the Thorne Smith comedy classic with Jack Warden in the title role previously essayed in the 1930's films by Roland Young and in the 50's TV series by Leo G. Carroll. About two brand new angels, Kate Jackson and off-screen hubby Andrew Stevens, who have a devil of a time getting into heaven. Fun. And how about that Kate - now she's one of Topper's angels.

Here in a contemplative mood. Watch.

MON., JAN. 12

8-11PM ABC (7 Central/Mountain) DYNASTY. A drama of passion and conflict (is there any other kind?) fueled by wealth, love and power in present-day America. This series will be presented in its regular hour-long prime time format starting Monday, January 19th. Stay glued.

TUES., JAN. 13

4-5PM NBC (3 Central/Mountain) TREASURE ISLAND. A Special Treat! SUN., JAN. 18

9-11:30PM ABC (8 Central/Mountain) THE CHOIR BOYS. No America! This is not about lads in vestments! MON., JAN. 19

9-11PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain) WHO IS KILLING THE GREAT CHEFS OF EUROPE? George Segal and Jacqueline Bisset are top-billed in this comic mystery tale of murder and mayhem in the International Culinary World, but it is co-star Robert Morley who garnishes this spoofery exquisitely. A gastronomic romp for whodunit fans and most palatable for the rest.

TUES., JAN. 20

10-11PM NBC (9 Central/Mountain) FLAMINGO ROAD: "The Titus Tapes". Electronic bugs planted in Lute May Sanders' gambling house give Sheriff Semple a formidable weapon against various people, including Lane Ballou, Howard Duff, Kevin McCarthy, Cristina Raines, Barbara Rush and Stella Stevens star.

WED., JAN. 21

9-11PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain) WHEN THE CIRCUS CAME TO TOWN. A charmer with Elizabeth Montgomery and Christopher Plummer. Take A Sunshine Break... and see the bright cruise fashions at Walton-Pierce. In the new beachwear from Gabar, we liked the blue, white and red fish pattern three piece swimsuit... a bra, a bikini with a separate skirt. Another three piece combination comes in lollypop stripes bound with yellow. A boy pant and bra in an amusing print featuring an abstract pin mouse on green, dotted white in another addition. The figure flattering malliot is very much in the fashion picture again this year. Red and white carnations on navy bound with red is the striking color contrast for a maillot cut high on the thigh for a long leggy look. The coversups come in several fabrics. An old favorite is terry. You'll like the fine white terry with tulip appliques. One style is long and full with a v neck and wide sleeves. The other is a scoop neck dress with slender straps. A short white cotton blend wrap is embroidered with a white floral pattern and scalloped edges. There is a long striped coverup with a zip front. A striped seersucker robe is trimmed with ruffles at the sleeves and down the front. From Leslie Fay has come a short jacket, narrowly striped and stitched with red. It tops a white shirt and solid red skirt. Another outfit from the same designer is of khaki. The jacket and skirt is set off by an electric blue top.

Thermador... has a new range top called "Cook and Vent." It's electric and when you push a button the venting system raises out of the top to dispense unwanted steam and odor. See it on display at Mutschler Kitchens, 20227 Mack Avenue.

Special... at the Notre Dame Pharmacy, Neutrogena Bath Gel, the 32 oz. size regularly $20 is now specially priced $13.50.

When You Have Had Enough Winter... think warm, sunny Palm Springs. Round trip air fare. Seven nights, hotel, airport transfers, welcome wine and cheese party. Starting at $449 per person. Call Mr. Q, 886-2050.

Pointer of Interest

By Janet Mueller

She has her favorites. Like Thomas Rogers Sr. and his wife, Jane North, he born in England, she in Silver Lake, Pa., in 1821. And how in the world did they ever get together? Well... at that time, in that particular part of Pennsylvania, a gentleman named Robert Rose bought a piece of land and advertised, in England, for settlers to come and farm it.

It was difficult country: Blue Ridge Mountain area. "Very few of them stayed," says Bettina Kesteloot. But Mr. Rogers came, and found Miss North (whose father, Anthony, had written a little journal telling of his own voyage to America) and their pictures hang now in the home of their descendant, Tina Kesteloot.

They're upstairs
You have to go upstairs to find them, over a four poster bed that once-upon-a-time belonged to Tina's grandmother, in the room where Tina keeps the doll-houses and miniatures she's made.

The North family was originally from Cornwall. The Rogers clan came from Yorkshire. Theirs is only part of the story. "We are," says Tina, speaking of her own, predominantly her mother's, side of the family, "Scotch-Irish, Scotch, Welsh, English, Dutch, French and German — so far!"

The family runs the religious gamut, too. There are Puritans and Lutherans (some who knew Martin), Presbyterians, Huguenots, Episcopallians and Quakers. Tina has just started working on the Quakers. "They are," she says, "a fascinating people."

She expects the Quakers to keep her busy for a while. "When I started this," says Tina, "I thought I'd give myself a year and I'd be done." That was a year ago. "Now I know I'll never be done!" She started out of simple curiosity. "One of the advantages of staying around home," she says, "is that family things come to you."

The principal's kid
Tina grew up in Royal Oak, where her father was an educator and her mother, a school psychologist now, also taught and did some nursing. She was Tina Hoot then, "the principal's kid, with this terrible last name." She has no middle name. "My parents figured Bettina Hoot was enough."

She has three younger brothers, scattered now all over the country.

Tina was born October 12, Columbus Day, thus beginning her own family tradition. The oldest Kesteloot son, Artie, fair and quiet, turned 12 on New Year's Eve. Second son Andrew, dark and loquacious, will be 8 on Valentine's Day.

Their mother, who went to Central Michigan University, and their father, who holds a Master of Business Administration degree from Wayne State University, met at work, over brown bag lunches. Art, an account executive with J. Walter Thompson, grew up in The Pointe, in the Maryland-Notttingham area. His parents still live there.

Tina has done her bit for the Mothers Health Education Council. She and Art are "not very active" members of the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club. She's always been interested in handicrafts: needlework, crafts and sewing. During her Patchwork Period she made nine quilts, sold one, gave a couple away, decided she had to stop because she was running out of beds.

A history buff
She's always been fascinated by history. She's a member of the Grosse Pointe Park Historical and Architectural Society. "Doris Miller started it. She's originally from Massachusetts. There, everything is documented: here, there's nothing."

For Veteran's Day, the Park Historical Society prepared two showcases for Pierce Middle School. "Our main goal is, eventually, to put out a booklet on The Park." With a year of personal research behind her, Tina knows that will take time. "The Woods (Historical Commission) is doing a marvelous job, but The Woods is larger, in population and in area. We're working in a very small area, with a small group."

Tina, a member of the Mayflower Society, in the process of joining the Daughters of the American Revolution, is working on her own book: "a big, fat one, for members of my family — and I've promised it to a couple of historical societies back east."

It all began for her when one of her grandmothers died. Tina, the Hoot who stayed around home, fell heir to "this pile of trash — and I do mean trash, because that is, basically what it was: old photos of people nobody recognized, letters from people nobody knew... but with it there was a booklet, purporting to be the ancestry of a certain part of the family."

And that booklet intrigued Tina. Is this true? she wondered. And if it isn't, what is?

Turns out the booklet wasn't true, but there was truth in it. "It gave me a lot of hints," says Tina. Her pockets full of keys, she went looking for doors.

Onward to Burton
"I was totally lost until someone gave me the name and address of a lady near Lansing. I wrote her, and asked how I'd go about verifying the information in the booklet. She sent me to the Burton Historical Collection (at the Main Branch Detroit Public Library), and I began checking census records..."

Tina was off and running. She hasn't stopped since. "I've been at it a little less than a year, and I am amazed at my success," she says. "I'm very fortunate: most of my people came from Connecticut, Massachusetts and southern New York, and they kept good records there. In England, too, the records are very good."

But what if your ancestors came from a small town (name unknown or corrupted over the decades) somewhere in the Balkans? "Don't be discouraged," says Tina. "There are ways to get information, even behind the Iron Curtain."

She does caution that anyone who begins a genealogical search can expect a sharp increase in personal postage expenditure.

Besides the subscriptions to genealogical magazines, the letters requesting specific information from public and private archives, there are the personal notes. "You find so many people — cousins you wouldn't believe!" It's a detective story, and no clue is too small to follow up, and often that means a letter to a stranger in a faraway place, and hopefully that letter brings a response, and frequently that response starts a correspondence. You are, after all, related.

Hi there, Hank!
So Tina Hoot Kesteloot, homemaker, Michigan, corresponds with Hank Jones, character actor, California. And that, for Tina, is part of the fun of it all.

"You meet so many wonderful people when you start to do genealogical research. Not just 'your own' people either, but people who are doing the same thing you are, tracing their families back in time. There are a lot of people right here in The Pointe who have been doing this far longer than I have, who are much better at it than I am — what are you doing talking to ME?"

Having a very good time, that's what. For Tina's attitude toward her family is delightful. "Everybody," she says, "talks about the kings and queens and generals they're descended from. Nobody talks about the horse thieves. And if you get into this (genealogy), you are going to find some horse thieves."

Several of her ancestors came over on the Mayflower. Several? "Look," says Tina, "if one of your ancestors came over on the Mayflower, chances are at least one other one did. John Alden married Priscilla Mullins, and she was on the boat, and her parents were, too: that's four people right there."

There's an authentic Civil War Hero in the family: General Andrew Henry Embler, who won the Congressional Medal of Honor. Embler is Tina's mother's maiden name.

He's downstairs
A photograph of the general — "Andrew Henry Embler the First," says Tina.

ward with anticipation for more shared family time with them.

"In conclusion," stated Guthrie, "I want to express my deepest appreciation to Lou MacKenzie for the inspiration, leadership and full support he has given me as I approached my day of decision."

Guthrie plans to leave symphony in the spring
Louis A. MacKenzie, president of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Inc., has announced that Ralph O. Guthrie has resigned as the orchestra's managing director effective May 1, 1981, to accept the post of president and general manager of the Seattle Symphony Orchestra.

"I wish to assure the DSO board, the orchestra and our administrative staff that I tender this resignation with a feeling of mixed emotions and only after having made an extremely difficult career decision," Guthrie stated in his letter of resignation.

"While I have enjoyed to the fullest my tenure at the Detroit Symphony, including the great sense of accomplishment and achievement during the orchestra's first foreign tour, I am lured to accept the expanded career possibilities offered in Seattle as president and general manager. I have wrestled with this choice since last April and feel the decision to be to my best interests."

"My move to accept the challenges presented at the Seattle Symphony is also dictated in part by the fact that my grown children now reside in Seattle. I look for-

DSO presents Otvos, Raim

Gabor Otvos makes his Detroit Symphony Orchestra conducting debut in 8:30 p.m. concerts at Ford Auditorium Thursday and Saturday, Jan. 15 and 17. Featured soloist will be Detroit-born pianist Cynthia Raim.

The program includes the DSO premiere of Mozart's Symphony No. 27 in G K.199, Chopin's Piano Concerto No. 1 in E minor Op. 11 and Mussorgsky's "Pictures from an Exhibition," as orchestrated by Maurice Ravel.

Tickets for the concerts, at $10.50, $9, $8 and $6, may be purchased at the Ford Auditorium box office where VISA and Master Card charge card customers may order tickets by phone at 962-5524.

In addition, a limited number of $3 tickets for students and senior citizens will be available at the box office starting at 7:30 p.m. concert nights.

Otvos, born in Budapest in 1935, began his musical studies in his native city and left for Italy at 21 in order to complete them. His professional career began there in 1958 with a successful concert in Trieste which won him invitations from many of the principal Italian theaters. His talent quickly brought him debuts with the great European orchestras of Amsterdam, Venice, Frankfurt, Berlin and Hamburg.

In 1961 he was named principal conductor of the Hamburg Philharmonic and moved to Germany. In 1967 he was named principal conductor of the Frankfurt Opera, and in 1969 he made his United States debuts at the New York City Opera and the Los Angeles Opera.

The Metropolitan Opera quickly engaged him for the direction of "Carmen" during the 1971-72 season, "The Italian Girl in Algiers" in 1973 and "Turandot" in 1974, and it was as conductor of "Turandot" that he first appeared in Detroit, during the Met's tour in May, 1974.

Since 1972 Otvos has been music director and chief conductor of the Augsburg Opera.

Raim is the veteran of nine previous appearances with the DSO, performing works of Mozart, Saint-Saens, Ravel and Rachmaninoff with Valter Poole, Sixten Ehrling and Arthur Fiedler. A Detroit Music Studio Club scholarship winner, she studied with former DSO pianist Mitecha Kottler.
