Woods gives FLEC hope for funds

By Gregory Jakub

The Family Life Education Council (FLEC) suffered another financial setback this week when the Grosse Pointe Woods City Council rejected the group's request for tax dollars to support FLEC's counseling program for juvenile offenders.

However, FLEC president Dr. John Burrows said he was encouraged by the Woods' intention to meet with FLEC at a later date to negotiate a contract that might be used as model for securing funds from the other Pointes and Harper Woods.

Burrows appeared Monday, Feb. 2 before the Woods Council to request the city contribute $457 to the financially strapped, non-profit counseling center which also provides legal aid, a crisis line, an alcohol education program, and medical clinic.

Burrows said he hopes each of the six communities served by FLEC would contribute $457 to help the juvenile counseling program operate through this coming summer. Burrows' request was less than the $2,000 he asked the City of Grosse Pointe to contribute two weeks ago which the City is still considering.

Burrows' request was met with a mixed response from the Woods Council. Mayor George Freeman reminded Burrows that the Woods is suffering a financial crisis of its own in which the layoff of city employees is a real possibility.

COUNCILMAN ROBERT Novitke noted that the absence of the Youth Service Division has left a void which FLEC's counseling services can fill at a "very reasonable" cost of $457, providing all other cities contribute their share.

"Even though we have funding problems, we could defer payment (to FLEC) until after July 1," suggested Novitke.

However, Councilman John Sabol pointed out that the city is already deferring other expenditures until the new fiscal year begins on July 1 and delaying more could put the city's 1981-82 budget in a bind. His point was supported by Councilmen Dan Grady and Frederick Lovelace.

City attorney George Catlin also said that there is a legal problem with the city contributing tax dollars to a non-profit organization unless it enters into a contract with FLEC for guaranteed services.

The council finally decided to delay committing funds to FLEC until after Burrows, City Manager Chester Petersen and Public Safety Director John Dankel sit down to determine the specifics about financial arrangements for FLEC services.

Burrows said no date was set for meeting with Woods officials. Burrows added that fund-raising activities are ongoing and FLEC now has enough money to operate through spring.

School board race is on

By Susan McDonald

Laurance Harwood, the board of education's "senior citizen" representative, announced Monday he will not be a candidate for re-election in June, while Catherine Briery, whose term also expires this year, said she will run again for a four-year seat.

Harwood, who was first elected in 1973, said Monday his "eight years are enough" on the board of education.

"I'm not indispensable. You constantly need new blood on these boards," he said.

Harwood retired in 1975 from Michigan Bell Telephone and has been a vocal spokesman for the interests of the Pointe's growing 60-and-older population. He has supported such programs as the school system's free "Seminar for Seniors," and various lease arrangements that allow senior citizen groups to make use of excess rooms in the schools.

"I'D LIKE TO think that someone in the community there is someone (in that age group) who would like to run" for a position on the board, Harwood said Monday when he announced he would step down.

Harwood was elected twice to the board in 1973 and 1977.

There were a lot of happy faces around the Pointe last week when a mid-January thaw hit Michigan and warmed things up a bit. The only people who weren't entirely thrilled as the thermometer approached the 40 degree mark were the ice fishermen trying their luck on Lake St. Clair. Warm temperatures and sunny skies turned the area around their fishing shanties into pools of ice water too deep to ignore and too wide to walk around. While the sun did melt the lake a bit, it also provided beautiful silhouettes suspended above the ice for persons driving down Lakeshore Road. Unfortunately, the mid-January thaw didn't last long enough, and before long, the weather was its usual self—frigid, frozen and forever self.

14th GOP elects new chairman

By Susan McDonald

The 14th District Republican party elected Reagan supporter Alfred (Bud) Reuther Jr., as its new chairman and selected 84 delegates to the February state convention at its annual district meeting last week in Harper Woods High School.

Reuther, 46, is a former Grosse Pointe City councilman and was appointed Reagan Chairman in the 14th District last January. He is assistant treasurer of American Natural Resources Co. and resides on Lewiston in the Farms.

Reuther will be joined in district party leadership this year by Vice-

Chair Aileen Swaney, Treasurer Don Sweeney and Secretary Sharon Cole. All three were unchallenged and were elected for one-year terms at the district meeting Jan. 28.

Probably the greatest challenge facing the 14th District this year is the reapportionment of congressional seats made necessary by the decline in population in the southeast Michigan area, according to Reuther.

He's hoping, like many other Republicans, that Grosse Pointe will become part of Macomb County's 12th District when the reapportionment is approved, rather than be tacked on to Detroit's 1st or 13th districts.

"In Macomb County there's some chance for us, because it's almost a swing district," Reuther said. "In Detroit we'd be simply overwhelmed by Democrats."

Reuther said last Wednesday the state GOP has hired Market Opinion Research to analyze the redistribution of population and results are expected by March.

THE ONLY BIT of controversy to surface during the smooth, two-hour district convention came from members of the Concerned Republican Committee (CRC) headed by Joan Woodhouse.

CRC members attending a committee meeting to select delegates to the state convention protested when several of their members were left off the 64-person list representing the Wayne County portion of the 14th District.

"This time around, I was hoping the people who worked during the last election would be rewarded by going to the state convention," Ms. Woodhouse said. Most of the CRC members supported George Bush for president in the presidential primary last spring and helped him to a better than 2-1 victory in Grosse Pointe. Main line 14th District leadership supported Reagan.

"They'll never forgive the fact that we went our own way and were willing to stand up for the people who voted for Bush in Grosse Pointe," Mrs. Woodhouse said.

Reuther replied after the convention that he feels the delegate selections were made fairly. "(Ms. Woodhouse) represents many people who wouldn't support us and wouldn't work when the fall election came around," Reuther said. "The workers are going to the convention."

After some discussion in the committee meeting CRC members Margie Nickell, John Conforte, Barbara Weiss and Warren Wilkinson were placed on the delegate list.

A new 19-member District Republican Committee also was announced at the Wednesday convention. Members are Gerald Webster, Vic Caputo, C. S. Tompkins, James Miller, Mrs. Stephen Wasinger, Mrs. Charles B. Begg, Suzanne Olde, Palmer T. Heenan, Paul H. Townsend, Jr., Prudence Cole, Abraham Stevens, Samuel West, William Solomon, Michael Simich, Mark Wise, Eleanor Grady, Dr. James

Park police asked to cut work week

By Joanne Gouleche

Grosse Pointe Park City Manager John Crawford turned to local union leaders last week to ward off a projected $119,000 deficit by proposing a reduced work week and possible layoffs for the city's police and fire departments.

Union presidents said they will present the proposal to their memberships some time this week. But initial reaction from Local 533 of the International Association of Fire Fighters was unfavorable.

Joe Bialk, Local 533 president, said it would be difficult for the department to operate efficiently even if one firefighter was relieved from the 21-man force.

"How do you cover two cities with five guys (per one shift)?" Bialk said, referring to the Park's contractual ambulance service with Grosse Pointe City.

MANAGER CRAWFORD reviewed his financial status report with the city council Wednesday, Jan. 28, after being prompted by the council last year to examine the financial state of the city.

The proposed layoffs and reduced work week are what Crawford calls a "noose-tightening approach" to the deficit. But Crawford, like most suburban administrators, is being forced to tighten the budget belt while barely providing essential city services.

Inflation has caught up with the city, which for years has streamlined internal operations to avoid a tax increase. As a result, there are little or no funds for capital improvements. In the meantime, equipment continues to deteriorate and street resurfacing continues to be delayed.

Beyond that, the Park has lost a big chunk of state-shared revenues. Because of a 13.7 percent population drop over the last 10 years and the state budget crunch, the Park got word from Lansing that it would receive $135,000 less in revenue sharing funds for fiscal year 1980-81 (now reduced to the $119,000 figure after some initial cuts were made). Those losses make up 18 percent of the Park's total $3.9 million budget.

Last month Grosse Pointe Woods City Manager Chester Petersen hinted at possible layoffs in that city after receiving word of a $200,320 loss in state-shared revenues.

The loss of state funds coupled with inflation and ever-increasing water and sewerage bills from the City of Detroit has left Park administrators pondering and battling over ways to cut costs.

ONE SOLUTION, they say, is to turn to the police and fire departments, which make up nearly 50 percent of the budget with salaries and fringe benefits.

Crawford warned last week if the council allows the deficit to slide into the 1981-82 fiscal year, a 1.34 mill tax increase for residents will be likely. In order for that not to happen, the unions will have to accept a reduced work week, he said.

"A 32-hour work week can be implemented without a significant reduction in services," Crawford said, adding it will mean delayed vacations. "Hopefully, we won't run into a blue or red flu."

Crawford said if the unions accept the reduced work week proposal, the city can maintain current services with only a 0.67 mill (3.6 percent) increase next year.

Crawford says Park residents just don't know how much inflation and the loss of state and federal funds have affected the community. "While demands for services are increasing, our resources are decreasing," he said.

Steps already have been taken to whittle down the $135,000 loss from the state by demoting a public service employe, postponing the hiring of court and police clerks, and reducing janitorial services by $5,000.

LAST WEEK IN his report, Crawford said an additional $14,000 could be saved if the council voted to open the pool later this season and close the facility the day after Labor Day. The council is expected to approve that recommendation at a special meeting Feb. 11, along with one or

Murder suspect will face trial March 12

By Tom Greenwood

Fifteen-year-old murder suspect David McKendrick will face trial next month for the October rape-strangulation of Elizabeth Keir.

McKendrick, of Merriweather Road, will appear Thursday, March 12, before Wayne County Circuit Court Judge John A. Hausner.

McKendrick is accused of murdering the 81-year-old widow, whose nude body, covered with an afghan, was discovered by neighbors the morning of Oct. 6. After his arrest, McKendrick underwent a number of psychiatric and psychological examinations before being declared competent to stand trial as an adult.

IN TESTIMONY given before

Farms Municipal Judge Robert Pytell Dec. 19, Farms Det. Samuel Cardella testified that McKendrick voluntarily confessed to the murder, saying he went "berserk" and "blacked out" while in the victim's Kerby Road home.

Further testimony given by a Michigan State Police fingerprint expert placed McKendrick in the home, with his prints found on a bedroom door and on a box, according to court records.

If found guilty, McKendrick faces a mandatory life sentence for first degree murder. He stood mute at his arraignment and a plea of not guilty was entered for him.

In an interesting twist to the case, it has been learned that everyone involved in the trial is a resident of

Ford Hospital tests new insulin drug for patients

Henry Ford Hospital has been selected as one of three medical centers nationwide, to test Eli Lilly and Co.'s new genetically engineered "human" insulin. The product, to be tested on patients beginning in February, is one of a new wave of products whose manufacture is made possible through the revolutionary recombinant DNA (deoxyribonucleic acid) technology in which genes are spliced and introduced into other organisms.

Fifty volunteer patients, all insulin-dependent diabetics, will be tested at Henry Ford Hospital under the supervision of Dr. Fred Whitehouse, head of the Division of Metabolic Diseases, and Dr. Dorothy Kahkonen, HFH staff member and president of the American Diabetes Association-Michigan Affiliate. Patients will also be tested at Mercy Hospital in Trenton, N.J., and Kansas Regional Diabetic Center in Wichita. Insulin-dependent diabetics now are treated with injections of animal insulin, most-often from cattle or pigs. Many patients suffer allergic reactions to the animal insulin, a foreign material to the human system. But, to date, the animal insulin has been the most logical, attainable treatment for diabetics, whose bodies have inadequate production or utilization of insulin, a protein which controls the body's use of sugar and other carbohydrates.

Expectations are that use of the human insulin will eliminate these allergic reactions. The human insulin is produced by bacteria which has been implanted with laboratory-made human-like genes. In the process, as the bacteria grows and duplicates itself, it also duplicates the insulin gene. "We're very excited about participating in this project," said Dr. Kahkonen, who is also on the board of directors of the American Diabetes Association. "We are convinced it will lower blood sugars with fewer disadvantages than animal insulin." She explained that while no patient-volunteers have yet been identified to participate in the study, she and Dr. Whitehouse will be contacting area physicians, as well as HFH colleagues, for assistance in recruiting participants.

Participants in the study will be followed via an "involved protocol," details of which are still being worked out.

The HFH Division of Metabolic Disease is involved in a number of other studies involving diabetes. These include use of the insulin pump, bone disease in diabetics and outpatient regulation of diabetes.

NHS 'Macbeth' opens Feb. 19

Director Gael Barr has set the stage for Theatre North's annual Shakespearean production by choosing Ron Cornell in the title role in "Macbeth," which will run from Feb. 19 through 21.

Others in the play's major roles include Asti Romero as Lady MacBeth, Mark Palazzo as Macduff, Kurt Buechler as Banquo, Brian Flynn as the king, and Pat Selling as Lennox.

Cindy Kopačka, Rachel Krickstein, and Laure Mulroney will portray the three witches. Don Luberto will play Bonalbain and Pete Daoust will play Ross. Also included in the cast are Joe Bonaventura, Jay Hazen, Bob Mazey, John Monaghan, John Mourtos and Dan Setchell.

"Macbeth" is the story of a man who is told by three witches that he will be king and seeks to have the prophecy fulfilled by committing murder in order to gain the throne. The repercussions of the king's murder continue throughout the play, and the consequences prove to be deadly for many.

New dates for chamber music

Violinist Misha Rachlevsky and pianist Flavio Varaini will return to the Edsel and Eleanor Ford Estate for extra engagements this weekend after kicking off a new chamber music series Feb. 1 to near sell-out crowds.

The duo will perform at 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 6, and at 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 7 and 8, at the estate, 1100 Lakeshore Road.

Other Renaissance performances in March and April at the Ford Estate will be announced at a later date.

Rachlevsky said several dates were added to the series because of the warm response the musicians met with at their opening concert.

He wished to thank Paul Alandt and Donna Oliver at the Ford Estate for making the extra dates available.

Afghanistan on film at DIA

The modern cities and the wild, primitive backlands of the ancient country of Afghanistan will be shown and discussed Sunday, Feb. 8, 1981, at 2:30 p.m. at The Detroit Institute of Arts Auditorium.

Dr. Arthur Twomey, leader of 37 expeditions to various parts of the world, has visited Afghanistan three times with his motion picture camera. The resultant film, which he will narrate live, will show the lands affected throughout history by Alexander the Great, the Mongols, the British, the Americans and, of course, the Russians.

Dr. Twomey will show modern Kabul, and its fine university, America's Helmand River Project, German dams and Russian roads. Then the camel and sheep markets, caravans, carpet weaving, silver and gold working, the Hindu Kush, Bamian Valley with its giant Buddhas, cave dwellers and the hunt for Marco Polo sheep with its huge curled horns and finally, the Afghan national game, called the roughest sport in the world.

Dr. Twomey is currently Director of Education for Carnegie Institute in Pittsburgh.

Tickets are $3.25 and are available either in person or by mail at The Detroit Institute of Arts Ticket Office or at the door on the day of performance. For phone reservations or further information call the Ticket Office at 832-2730 between 9:30 a.m. and 5:15 p.m.

Attie fire at Lochmoor home

Grosse Pointe Woods Public Safety officials are still looking for the cause of an attic fire that caused an estimated $75,000 worth of damage to a Lochmoor home on Friday, Jan. 16.

Fire fighters responded to an alarm at about 9 p.m. and arrived at the home to see flames coming from a 25-foot section of the eaves, according to Lt. Peter Thomas.

The residents were in the process of moving in and were not home at the time of the fire, Thomas said.

The fire was under control within a hour-and-a-half but had spread to many small spaces in the attic making complete control uncertain until midnight, Thomas said.

Grosse Pointe Shores public safety officers were also called to assist and no one was injured in the fire, Thomas said.

Preliminary estimates for damage were between $75,000 and $100,000 for the home which is insured.

Worship on Lake St. Clair

Doorways to the past: Historic haunts of Grosse Pointe

By Margie Reins Smith

The Grosse Pointe Memorial Church is a sandy-grey Modern English Gothic structure — a study in rough stone, stained glass, slate and symbols. The present building dates only to 1927, but the history of this Grosse Pointe church dates back to 1865 and includes three church buildings, two sites, 10 different names, and an offspring church.

Grosse Pointe's earliest inhabitants were almost exclusively French Catholics—first fur traders and trappers, then a few farmers. By the 1860's, Grosse Pointe was beginning to take on the character of a posh summer resort for wealthy Detroiters. There were probably less than 2,000 residents in the area—more in summer, less in winter. But a growing number of these families were not French and were not Catholic.

A few months after the last Civil War cannon was fired, a dozen or so Grosse Pointers gathered to form an association whose purpose was "to build . . . a place of worship on the banks of Lake St. Clair for the . . . protestant residents of the township."

Within two years, the association had erected a modest white frame building on the corner of Kerby Road and Lakeshore, on a portion of land donated by Rufus M. Kerby. By 1878, the building needed to be expanded. Twelve years later, the congregation had grown large enough for them to secure a full time minister. Visiting ministers from Detroit no longer had to make a tedious four-hour trek over plank roads and tortuous muddy trails to preach the Sunday service.

By 1893, the congregation of this Grosse Pointe Protestant Evangelical Church, or "The Little White Church," as it was called—had secured a new site, had built a new church, and had changed its name twice—first to The Grosse Pointe Protestant Church and then to the Grosse Pointe Evangelical Church. The new site was a parcel of land donated by Joseph H. Berry. It was the same property on which the present building is located, 16 Lakeshore Road.

In the late 1800's, the site contained a clutch of small frame houses and modest cottages known collectively as "The Cabbage Patch,"—presumably because they were dwarfed like common little cabbages among the impressive mansions and larger Victorian homes of the more prosperous Grosse Pointers.

In the late 1890's, the Country Club of Detroit was located just Northeast of the church, where the Grosse Pointe Club is today. The first hole of the Country Club's golf course (opened in 1898) was beside the lake and the rest of the 18 hole course spread north and west toward Kercheval, including property now used by Richard Schöpl, Grosse Pointe South, and the War Memorial.

THE NEW CHURCH building in the midst of the Cabbage Patch was dedicated in 1894 and soon became known as the "Ivy Covered Church." It was brick and stone, with a small bell tower. It was connected to a Sunday school directly behind it, and then connected to a manse directly behind that. The exterior walls of the building were smothered with ivy during the summer.

At the turn of the century, and up through the 1920's, churches played a greater role as community centers than they do today. The Ivy Covered Church offered a great variety of activities that were non-religious. Lectures were popular and the titles covered a colorful spectrum of subjects. "Courtship, Marriage and Home Life," "Slum Life in London," and "Mind Your Own Business" were a few topics.

A printed program is filed in the Memorial Church's archives. It is dated April 9, 1896. The entertainment began at 8 p.m., but the program admonishes: "The audience is requested to be seated by a quarter of eight!" The evening's selections included two piano solos by Miss Piggins, a quartet singing "Jack and Jill," selected readings by Miss Bessie McPherson, a vocal solo, a drum solo, and a performance of the "Manual of Arms" by the Jefferson Avenue Cadets—admission 10 cents.

No doubt, a good time was had by all.

By 1920, the varied protestant congregation voted to reorganize the church as a Presbyterian denomination and the name changed again—to The Grosse Pointe Presbyterian Church.

SOON THE IVY Covered Church building was bulging with its expanding congregation and its varied activities. The next few years saw the incorporation of regular Friday evening movies (15 cents for children, 25 cents for adults), an activity that carried on with great popularity until it was handed to the Punch and Judy Theatre in the early 1930's.

Church-based activities also included strawberry festivals, Sunday school picnics, Wednesday night suppers, basketball and baseball teams, a church orchestra, Christmas pageants, a boxing class, and Sunday school and Bible classes, as well as regular church services.

Again, the congregation began planning for a new and larger building. Truman H. Newberry and brother John S. Newberry financed much of the new church building—the sanctuary, chancel, and bell tower—as a memorial to their parents John Stoughton Newberry and Helen Handy Newberry. The brothers had one stipulation for their financial gift—the name of the church must be changed to The Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

And so the name sticks today. On May 15, 1927, the modern English Gothic building that we recognize was dedicated.

By 1937, overcrowded quarters led to an off-spring church and a group of church members began meeting at Mason School on Vernier Road. Within two years the offshoot group voted to become Presbyterian, too, and by 1942 was known as The Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church—the one that now occupies the corner of Mack Avenue and Torrey Road.

In 1962, Grosse Pointe Memorial Church dedicated another addition containing a Fellowship Hall, more classrooms, a smaller chapel, and a library.

One of the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church's unusual architectural features is the incorporation of symbols within the exterior and interior architectural design. A 35-page booklet has been printed, describing the various symbolic themes of the church decor. Among the recurring themes are the shield designs—40 of them—over the entrances, around the bell tower and in various parts of the church interior.

ANOTHER UNIQUE part of the church design is the meticulous detailed depiction of the quest for the Holy Grail—in stained glass on the massive front doors of the building. There are 40 colored glass panels in all, done by Henry Lee Willett of Philadelphia.

The carillon—an instrument consisting of 47 bells—is another feature of Memorial's building. The largest bell weighs in at 4,700 pounds, the smallest at 15 pounds. Carillon concerts are part of Memorial Church's contribution to the Grosse Pointe community.

The church membership of 2,600 today has a history of growing, building, branching out, name-changing, role-changing and expanding that began in 1865 with the original 13 members, who met merely "to build . . . a place of worship on the banks of Lake St. Clair for the . . . protestant residents of the township."

Kier murder trial begins

the Pointe. Mrs. Keir resided in the Farms as do McKendrick and Wayne County Assistant Prosecuting Attorney James M. Wouczyna.

Defense attorney Frederick Metry and Judge Hausner are residents of the Park. "The thought that this was an all-Pointe affair and could possibly be prejudicial to my client did enter my mind," said Metry. "But there's not much I can do about it now. I've always known Judge Hausner to be a fair and impartial man in the past and I hope he will continue to be so during this trial."

MCKENDRICK IS currently being held without bond at the Wayne County Jail.

Another court case coming up from the Farms includes a Monday, Feb. 9, court date for men accused of attempted murder, armed robbery and the commission of a felony with a firearm in the Christmas Eve robbery of the 14 Karat Club on Mack Avenue.

Larry Joseph Baxter, 25, John Edward Jones, 23, George Randall Pate, 22 and James Fett, 22, are charged in the robbery which climaxed in a wild car chase through the Pointe, with suspect Baxter being wounded by Farms police when trying to flee on foot.

A judge has not yet been named in the trial.

A trial involving a woman accused of the attempted murder of a four-year-old Farms girl was scheduled to begin Feb. 25, before Wayne County Municipal Judge Harry Dingeman, but has been adjourned indefinitely.

Dorothy Rieven, 46, a former Grosse Pointe school teacher, was arrested Oct. 18, after she was found standing naked with a pair of scissors over a screaming four-year-old child, according to police. The girl had been lacerated by the scissors and was bleeding, according to police reports.

Police had been on the lookout for Ms. Rieven after receiving reports she had walked away from Cottage Hospital, where she had been brought in by her family for psychiatric examination.

Police units narrowed their search to the Cook-Chalfonte Road area when they received calls that a half nude woman was obstructing traffic.

When patrol cars reached the scene, they were told a woman had broken into a home, forcing a babysitter to flee, according to police. Officers from the Woods subdued Ms. Rieven, whom they said they found stabbing at the child while mumbling "I've got to kill the babies."

Ms. Rieven was ordered held without bond at the Detroit Psychiatric Institute, (DPI), and a plea of innocent was entered for her at her arraignment.

She is currently an outpatient at the DPI and the Northeast Guidance Center.

more of the following to wipe out the deficit by June 30:

- Layoff 16 employees within the police, fire, public works and general administration departments estimated to save the city $87,650.

- Reduce the work week for the above departments for a savings of $106,130.

- Proceed with interim financing to cover costs until June 30 to be made up with 0.67 mill increase next fiscal year.

- Defer payments to creditors until July, 1981 and provide for a deficit in the 1981-82 budget.

Crawford said he would like to see the council approve one or more of his recommendations.

At the council meeting last week, members expressed doubts whether residents will buy the idea of less police and fire protection.

Councilman Douglas Graham, who is up for re-election this August, said citizens would probably prefer to pay more tax dollars than face cuts in police and fire protection.

"I don't like tax increases like everyone else. But I want to tell you our residents want the proper services. That's why they live here," he said.

Councilman Roger McNeill said the city should consider charging for park passes and increase boat well fees beyond their proposed 30 to 50 percent levels. "We can't keep spending money without increasing revenues."

Crawford told the council he investigated the possibility of combining police and fire departments with other Pointe communities.

"The need to be a full service, independent community whereby local control over the service is administered, appears to have greater concern than any cost savings that might be realized through contract or consolidating services," Crawford said.

Energy saving tips from CPAs

Energy conservation is not only a good habit to get into, it also can add up to more money for you. By simply monitoring everyday use of energy at home, you can accumulate considerable savings in utility bills. The following are some ways to start, suggested by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants:

- Lower the temperature of your hot water heater from 150 to 140 degrees and save about 10 percent on your hot water costs.

- Use "task" lighting where you keep the general light level low, but use strong light in specific areas such as in a lamp near a reading chair. Try using low wattage bulbs in areas where a lot of light isn't needed like the hallways and foyers.

- Open the oven door as little as possible. Every time the door is opened the oven temperature drops about 25 degrees.

- Don't let more than one-quarter of an inch of frost accumulate in the freezer section of your refrigerator.

- Use the warmth of the sun to heat your home by opening your curtains during the day. Draw them at night to keep the cold out.

- Turn off the dishwasher before it gets to the dry cycle and save one-third of the electricity needed to dry.

- Keep your air conditioner's thermostat at 78 degrees. For every degree below that, you raise your cooling costs by about 10 percent.

- Have your furnace cleaned and checked to be sure it's burning fuel efficiently. This can reduce heating costs by as much as 10 percent each year. If you have insulated your house, you've reduced its heating requirements. The furnace may need to be adjusted so it won't waste fuel.

- Use a single 100-watt bulb instead of two 60-watt ones. The higher wattage bulb produces more light with about 20 percent less energy.

- Insulate the hot water heater with a special "blanket" you can buy at a hardware store for $20 to $30. It will usually pay for itself in one year.

- Insulate the heating and cooling ducts and reduce your utility bills by up to 15 percent.

- Pack the freezer full, even if you have to fill milk cartons with water and freeze them to take up empty space. More energy is used in an empty freezer.

- Don't overload the refrigerator, though. If air can circulate around the food, this appliance will use less energy.

- Wash only full loads of clothes and use warm or cold water instead of hot in your washing machine.

- Turn down the heat or turn off your central air conditioning if no one is home for more than three hours.

- Set your thermostat no higher than 68 degrees during the day and 60 degrees at night during the winter.

Bowling, Terrence Gilsenan and Eleanor Hausner.

The committee is responsible for holding monthly meetings, organizing precincts, recruiting delegates and candidates, training and screening candidates and raising funds for local political activities.

Richard Durant, long active in the 14th District, has no official position with the party this year, although he will go to the state convention Feb. 27 and 28 as a delegate.

The 14th District includes the Grosse Pointes, Hamtramck, Detroit's east side, parts of Warren and Center Line, East Detroit, and Harper Woods.

While Grosse Pointe represents about 10 percent of the 14th's precincts, it makes about 30 percent of the Republican vote in the district, according to Reuther.

Long time no stops

The "Desert Wind," a relatively new Amtrak train running from Ogden, Utah, through Salt Lake City and Las Vegas, Nevada, to Los Angeles, does not lose time by stopping too often. There is no station stop between Salt Lake City and Milford, Utah, a distance of 207 miles. Likewise between Milford and Las Vegas, 243 miles; and ditto from Las Vegas to Barstow, California, 184 miles.

BEFORE YOU OPEN AN INTEREST-EARNING CHECKING ACCOUNT... COUNT TO TEN.

If you think all interest-earning checking accounts are the same, you haven't been reading the fine print. Just one example: Major financial institutions in this area require minimum balances ranging from $500 to $2000 for such an account, in order to avoid monthly service charges. First Federal Savings of Detroit requires only $300.

So if you're about to open an interest-earning checking account, count the advantages you get at First Federal. You may get some of them elsewhere. But only at First Federal do you get all ten. Count 'em:

1. Your First Federal interest-earning checking account earns 5 1/4% annual interest.

2. First Federal compounds this interest continuously and pays it monthly, providing an effective annual yield of 5.467%.

3. There is no monthly service charge as long as you maintain a minimum balance of just $300.

4. First Federal offers overdraft protection. (You must apply for this benefit separately.)

5. First Federal gives you your first 50 personalized checks free. No strings attached.

6. First Federal returns your cancelled checks with each monthly statement. Free.

7. First Federal has over 60 offices conveniently located near where you live, work or shop. You can transact your First Federal business at any one of them.

8. First Federal provides fifteen 24-hour Night Owl Windows (automatic teller machines).

9. First Federal's Prestige® Emergency Cash feature entitles you to nationwide, out-of-town emergency cash withdrawals from your interest-earning checking account.

Ten advantages that explain why thousands upon thousands have already opened their interest-earning checking accounts at First Federal. Join them. Just drop in at any First Federal office, and one of our friendly staff will help you open your account almost before you can count to ten. You'll find it a very interesting experience and one more reason to make First Federal your Center for Family Financial Matters.

10. If you're at least 62 years old and sign up for direct deposit of your Social Security or other retirement benefit, you can have an interest-earning checking account at First Federal free of monthly service charges and with no minimum balance requirement.

Third Woods fire reported

An alert Grosse Pointe Woods police officer was responsible recently for keeping the city's third house fire in two weeks from becoming a major property loss.

On Tuesday, Jan. 20, Officer John Albrecht was driving on Elford Court when he smelled smoke then noticed flames coming from a home, according to Earl Wakely, chief building inspector.

Albrecht called the fire into the station and firefighters were able to respond very quickly, Wakely said. The residents were not home so the door was broken down to gain entry, he added. Inside, they found the kitchen stove in flames with the fire starting to move up to the attic through a vent, Wakely said. The fire had only burned part of the ceiling above the stove and was stopped before it reached combustible material in the attic, Wakely said.

"If it (the fire) hadn't been noticed, in another 15 or 20 minutes the whole attic area would have been totally engulfed. We would have lost the entire roof and upper area," Wakely said.

Insurance and fire investigators were still trying to determine the dollar amount of damage from the fire which was confined to the kitchen, Wakely said. No one was seriously injured in the incident.

Seniors can learn gardening

The Department of Continuing Education announced the winter session of Seminars for Seniors, a Board of Education-sponsored program for local retirees who are 60 and over.

Retired men and women will find a schedule of five interesting "sampler" classes available on a variety of topics between Feb. 6 and March 6. All meetings are scheduled at 1 p.m. on Fridays in the second floor Exhibition Room of the Central Library, Fisher at Kercheval in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Retired residents of the school district are urged to determine which of the sessions they wish to attend. Those unable to attend all five classes may enroll only for those they anticipate they will be able to attend. Enrollment in each session is strictly limited by the capacity of the Exhibition Room at the library.

The first session, "Get Your Garden Ready for Summer," will be conducted by Grace Harrison, retired teacher and gardener, on Feb. 6.

On Friday, Feb. 13, the topic for Seminar for Seniors will be "Personalities in the Bible," with Hope Brophy as the speaker.

The third meeting in the series, slated for Friday, Feb. 20, will feature Dr. Arthur Hillegas and Blanche Graham with, "Scientific Update: Genetic Engineering and Its Origins."

The topic on Friday, Feb. 27 will be "Handwriting Analysis" with Irene Stefkoff Scheffler.

The fifth and final meeting will take place on March 6, with Barbara R. Thompson as the instructor. Topic will be "A Story Approach to Genealogy."

Helen Martin, resident of Grosse Pointe Woods, has again agreed to serve as volunteer hostess for each meeting of Seminar for Seniors.

Cooking with wine is simple and yet elegant. Make a wine flavored sauce by stirring wine into a liquid, stock, cream, milk or whatever, or add to a flour and butter (roux) mixture. Usually, white wine sauces are used with white meat such as chicken breasts, veal and fish, while red wine sauces go best with red meat and lamb. For a special touch, use a fortified wine, like Sherry, with an egg yolk to enrich a sauce.

At PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE, 17255 Mack, Corner of St. Clair, Detroit, we offer the beverages that are appreciated before, after and even "in" your next meal. ## Woods earns KMB award in Lansing

Mayor George Freeman and Grosse Pointe Woods resident E. L. Cox were recipients of Keep Michigan Beautiful Awards at the 1980 KMB Awards Program.

Mayor Freeman accepted an award on behalf of the Grosse Pointe Woods Beautification Advisory Commission for the commission's development of a tree inventory program to help in formulating a master tree planting plan for the city.

The Grosse Pointe Woods program includes an annual sale to residents of bedding plants and trees, an awards program and the dissemination of information to residents about the health and care of trees.

Cox, President of the Michigan Mutual Insurance Company, headquartered in downtown Detroit, accepted an award for the company's "On The Park" program.

Michigan Mutual adopted Grand Circus Park in Detroit as part of the Project Pride Program and is believed to be the first corporation to undertake such an effort.

The company has provided clean-up materials, labor and donated four trees to beautify Grand Circus Park.

The KMB Awards Program was held Oct. 28 in Lansing, Lincoln Avery, President of Keep Michigan Beautiful, Inc., and Jac LeGoff, WXYZ-TV anchorman, made the presentations.

It's Annapolis for SHS senior

By Susan Sweetman South High

An all-expense paid education to a prestigious eastern school is a fantasy every college-bound senior dreams of, but for South High senior Tina Johnson, the dream has become a reality. Tina was recently accepted to the Annapolis Naval Academy, in Maryland.

Tina is the first female from South to be accepted to a military academy. She always had hopes of attending a school like Annapolis. "My dad always told me stories about the Navy, and that's what probably influenced me to attend Annapolis," Tina said.

A congressional nomination from a senator or congressman is needed to apply to Annapolis.

At South, Tina is president of the National Honor Society and was recently named "Citizen of the Year" by the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR).

After attending Annapolis for four years, each student is required to stay with the Navy for an additional six years in an area related to what they previously studied. Tina plans to go into a computer-engineering career.

Art group looks to 1981

In its 43rd year, the Grosse Pointe Artists Association has grown to 173 members, who have co-sponsored the Grosse Pointe-Village Art Fair in June for the last six years with local businessmen; the Fall Art Festival in September for the last 21 years with the War Memorial, and, this year, a pottery class taught by Gene Plunar at South High School.

In addition to the monthly general meetings to which well-known artists come to speak, demonstrate, and critique artwork by members, there is the Annual May Exhibition-Reception in its 43rd year and the Annual Dinner Meeting held at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club.

The Association has donated monies to the War Memorial and its Family Participation Fund, the Founders' Society, the Grosse Pointe Public Library, the Citizen's Millage Renewal the De Petris Fund, and the Grosse Pointe Ministerial Fund.

The organization looks forward to the next two years under its new president, Edna Bakewicz.

Park thief takes purse

A 58-year-old Park woman walking near her Wayburn home last week was knocked down by an unknown man who fled with her purse.

Police said the man walked up behind the woman and shoved her to the ground about 7:30 p.m. Jan. 27. The woman, unable to identify her attacker, only had $15 in her purse, police said.

South slates pops concert

By Thomas Kitchen South High

The annual Cabaret Pops Concert, featuring South High's instrumental music department, will offer a musical evening Saturday, Feb. 7, in the school's gymnasium.

Easy listening music will be played by the Concert and Symphonic Bands and the Symphony Orchestra during the concert portion of the evening. South's Jazz Band will also provide two hours of dance music with selections for all age levels.

Director of South's instrumental music department, Ralph Miller, said, "A lot of people look forward to this concert in particular because it has a more casual atmosphere than most of our concerts."

The audience will be seated around tables and will have the opportunity to buy food and light refreshments during the evening. Students will act as waiters and waitresses.

Admission for the 7:30 p.m. concert is $1.50 for adults, $1 for students and $5 for the entire family. Senior citizens will be admitted free. All proceeds will be used to help send instrumental students to summer music camps.

Tree Council warns of the Gypsy Moth

The Grosse Pointe Shade Tree Council discussed Dutch Elm Disease, Gypsy Moth control, and the problems posed by stacks of diseased elm wood in the area at its meeting last month.

Community representatives summarized the strategies used in fighting elm disease in their respective cities.

According to the council the presence of the Gypsy Moth has been confirmed in certain areas of Southeast Michigan. The moth acquires a voracious appetite during one stage of its development and has been responsible for defoliating many varieties of trees, including evergreens.

Infected elm wood often re-enters an area as seasoned firewood. Elm wood should be debarked or be burned before the spring season, says the council, as it serves as a nesting place for bark beetles which eventually carry Dutch Elm fungus from tree to tree. Many communities have ordinances to prohibit the use of untreated diseased elm wood.

State Sen. John Kelly (D-Detroit) briefly addressed the group, offering support to its goals and objectives.

Council representatives include Jean Rice, Grosse Pointe Woods (Chairperson); Michael Krag, Grosse Pointe Park (Secretary-Treasurer); and Rich Ochmanski, Detroit East Area Residents (Public Information).

Other members include Dan

Brophy, Grosse Pointe, Gail Kaess, Grosse Pointe Farms, Liz Kuhlman, Grosse Pointe Shores, Eileen Andrepont, Junior League, Rossiter Honhart, Grosse Pointe Real Estate Board, and Florence Powell and Helen Poxson, Garden Club Council.

The council meets the first Thursday of each month at the Grosse Pointe Farms Municipal Building, 90 Kerby Road, at 7:30 p.m. The public is welcome to attend.

State traffic deaths lowest since 1962

Michigan not only registered its lowest traffic death toll in 18 years in 1980 but its traffic death rate was significantly below the national average, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Last year, Michigan's death rate was 2.82 per 100 million vehicle miles traveled, compared to the national death rate of 3.5," stated Auto Club Safety and Traffic Engineering Manager Robert Cullen.

"This is only the second time since Auto Club began record-keeping in 1933 that the state's death rate has fallen below 3.0," Cullen said. In 1979, Michigan's death rate was 2.65 per 100 million vehicle miles.

While the nation's traffic death toll for the first 10 months of 1980 was the highest since 1978, Michigan's 1,732 deaths last year was 6.3 percent below the 1979 total and was the lowest since 1962, when 1,574 persons lost their lives.

Cullen said a decrease in miles driven and increased unemployment were major factors for the drop in deaths.

"Total miles driven in Michigan fell 5.2 percent from 1979, accounting for some of the decrease, and a drop in employment always parallels a decrease in fatalities," he said.

Cullen also credited enforcement of traffic laws, especially involving speeding and drunk driving, by state, county, city and township law enforcement, with helping cut deaths.

"Due to budget cuts, however, some of those same departments reduced patrols in late 1980," Cullen cautioned. "We hope those cutbacks will not have an adverse effect on traffic deaths this year."

Starting a tradition at St. Clare

Catholic School week is Feb. 2 through 7, and the children of St. Clare Elementary are going all out in their celebration on the theme "Choosing a Tradition."

Each school child has made a valentine (because it's February), complete with heart and doily and placed on it a picture of themselves, their family name and a tradition.

In addition homeroom classes each have selected a tradition and placed on a large roll the names of all their family members who have attended St. Clare School. Room 104 had the most names with 216 brothers, sisters, dads, moms, aunts, uncles and cousins who attended St. Clare. The Garvey "clan" seems to have the most family members with a total of 31 who've attended the school.

Also this week, Father Jack Burkhart, OSA, pastor of St. Clare, is celebrating his 25th anniversary in the priesthood. He will be presented a scrapbook showing the history and traditions of St. Clare compiled by the eighth grade.

The entire school will attend a special mass Friday, Feb. 6, to wind up the celebration. Coordinators of the event are Sister Mary Noel Gorey, Sister Ann Schmid and Augustine Tedesco.

Space heater blamed for fire

Grosse Pointe City public safety officials are saying a defective space heater was the probable cause of a two-alarm fire on Fisher Road Jan. 27.

When firefighters arrived at the 957 Fisher Road residence, they found smoke billowing out of the second floor and attic area. Farms firefighters were called to assist in the blaze that took about an hour to extinguish.

Officials say no one was home at the time of the fire. Dollar damage has not been estimated, but fire officials say the two-story home suffered heavy water and smoke damage.

Harkaway ends 32 year career

Thirty-two years of teaching future doctors, nurses and pharmacists came to an end for a Grosse Pointe Woods resident recently.

Dr. Roman W. Harkaway, a member of the Hamtramck High School Hall of Honor, (class of 1935), officially retired from the Wayne State University faculty, following the completion of the fall semester.

The popular teacher-doctor, who will continue private general practice at his Van Dyke-Seven Mile office, was honored at a reception at the Alumni House, Wayne State University, on Tuesday, Jan. 20. In attendance were the doctor's family: Mrs. Harkaway, Charles and wife Cynthia, Susie and husband Mark and granddaughter Gretchen.

Also, 50 friends and colleagues attended the farewell event, which was sponsored by the Biological Sciences Department of the University.

"I would estimate that Dr. Harkaway taught over 50 percent of all pharmacists in the Detroit area," stated Department Chairman John D. Taylor, noting that Dr. Harkaway's course was required of all pharmacy students.

"Teaching young people has been an important part of my professional life, and I will miss it very much," Dr. Harkaway stated, after being presented with an engraved plaque.

"The benefits of teaching were twofold in my case: I enjoyed my work—and still got paid for it!" he explained.

Dr. Harkaway and his wife Sabina are residents of the Woods.

Diagnosing Mesothelioma

Mesothelioma is a big word and a distressing disease that occurs mainly among asbestos workers, according to the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan (ALASEM).

Mesothelioma is a form of cancer affecting the chest lining and the membrane lining of the abdominal cavity. The disease, unknown to the general public, surfaced several months ago when actor Steve McQueen was diagnosed as suffering from it.

The first sign of mesothelioma usually is shortness of breath, a symptom that also may be the first hint of many other lung diseases. With mesothelioma, there may be pain in the wall of the chest, aggravated by deep breathing, says the ALASEM.

Precise diagnosis of this unusual cancer is difficult. X-rays may aid diagnosis, but an exploratory operation usually is necessary to provide tissue for biopsy.

Most cases of mesothelioma occur in people exposed to a certain type of asbestos fibers from a mineral called crocidolite, or "blue asbestos." These fibers are fine and straight, so needlelike they seem to pass right through the soft lung tissues to the rib cage, where they remain and initiate cancer.

Very little exposure can cause mesothelioma. It has been reported in the non-working wives of asbestos workers and in people living near plants. Many persons believe that crocidolite should be left undisturbed and underground.

For further information about lung diseases resulting from workplace hazards, call or write for a free copy of the booklet, "Occupational Lung Diseases: An Introduction," from the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan, 28 W. Adams, Detroit, 48226 or call (961-1697).

Know Your Schools
 By Superintendent William Coats

"Good morning, could you please substitute at ...?" That's the way teacher substitute caller Adeline Franklin greets the 20 substitutes she contacts between 6 and 8 a.m. on an average morning.

As in every school system our substitutes are a very important part of our staff because we rely on them to keep the instructional program going when the assigned teacher is absent. Just last year, over 3,600 student instructional days were spent with substitutes in our schools.

According to David King, personnel assistant, "We realize that the regular teachers are the best persons to be in the classrooms, but when they can't be there, it is our responsibility to get the best substitutes possible."

King goes on to point out that many school districts assign persons certified as teachers to substitute posts, but can't or don't put substitutes in their areas of training. That isn't the situation in our schools as, 95 percent of the time, we place certified substitutes in assignments for which they have earned a major or minor in their professional training.

Consequently, the continuity of the instructional program is maintained and the ideas of a "day off" or a "good time" held by many students when they see a substitute in their classroom proves to be the exception rather than the rule in Grosse Pointe.

Grosse Pointe's list of 100 substitutes is composed of laid-off teachers, retired teachers, teachers who want to work only part-time, and teachers who can't find full-time employment. Approx-mately half of them are certified to teach secondary subjects while the other half are qualified for elementary assignments.

A lot of care is taken to find the right person and train them for the difficult job of being a substitute and productively working with unfamiliar students and lesson plans. Our substitutes were interviewed and had their references checked before being placed on our list, and then participated in a training-orientation workshop where our substitute handbook was reviewed and rules and procedures explained.

If possible, we try to honor our principals' and teachers' requests for particular substitutes, especially for long-term assignments. However, a problem often encountered is not being able to honor a request is the "law of supply and demand."

As found in a national survey conducted by the American Association of School Personnel Administrators, the areas of greatest substitute demand are industrial arts, music, science, math, and special education. King notes that we have the same situation locally, and that, also, as was found in the national survey, our areas of greatest substitute supply are for high school English and the elementary level.

Nevertheless, thanks to our Personnel Department, when the bell rings every morning, if the regular assigned teacher can't be in the classroom, the best substitute teacher available will be there to make sure that the students have a positive instructional experience.

Energy grants are available

Persons and organizations can receive a $50,000 federal grant for developing innovative energy-saving ideas under the U.S. Department of Energy Appropriate Technology Small Grants program, which began Feb. 2.

The program provides an opportunity for individual inventors, business employing fewer than 100 persons, local non-profit organizations, state and local agencies and Indian tribes to win a $50,000 award, according to State Rep. William Bryant of Grosse Pointe.

"This program is an excellent opportunity for all Michigan residents to take part in increasing our energy efficiency," Bryant said. "I support the program because it encourages local solutions to energy problems."

Bryant said eligible projects must:

- meet the needs of local communities and enhance community self-reliance through the use of available resources;

- encourage the use of renewable resources and conservation of non-renewable resources;
- apply existing technologies to novel situations and uses;
- encourage energy-conserving, environmentally sound, small-scale and low-cost applications of current technology; and
- encourage technological applications which demonstrate simplicity of installation, operation and maintenance.

Persons interested in the grant program can obtain applications and should submit completed forms by March 26, to Appropriate Technology Small Grants Program, U.S. Department of Energy, 9800 South Cass Avenue, Building 2, Argonne, Ill. 60439. The phone number is (312) 972-2144.

Prime Time

For Senior Citizens

Marian Trainor

When the 1981 White House Conference on Aging meets in December, the members will be well alerted to the needs and priorities of Grosse Pointe's senior citizens thanks to the efforts of Seniors Onward for Change (SOC) and the Grosse Pointe Board of Education.

Although everyone involved worked hard to make a day-long forum held at the Grosse Pointe Central Library a success, special accolades for an informative and productive day are due Louise TeWalt, President of SOC, Emogene Adams, member of the Detroit Area Agency on Aging, and George Edgington of the Grosse Pointe Public School System. These dedicated and hard-working people spent many hours planning, coordinating and finalizing what resulted in recommendations that will help to shape the future of senior citizens as regional, statewide and finally the National Conference decide on programs that will make everyone's later years more rewarding.

Based on the theme "improving the quality of life, as well as extending life," the day began with words of welcome by Laurance J. Harwood, trustee of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education. He was followed by Virginia Crowther, Director, Detroit Area Agency on Aging, who spoke of the coming White House Conference on Aging, outlining its history, accomplishments and what gains for senior citizens will result.

Louise TeWalt was the next speaker. She pointed out the need for communities "to well prepare themselves for the future when a greater percentage of residents will be older Americans."

The morning session closed with the introduction of discussion topics for the afternoon including Physical and Mental Health, chaired by Dr. Max Gardner, Older Americans as a Growing National Resource, lead by Dr. Joel L. Olah, and Social Well Being, with Esther Howell as leader.

Each session was repeated three times which provided an opportunity for participants to attend all three as they moved from one to another at 45 minute intervals. Moderators acted as sources of expert opinions, answered questions and formulated recommendations. The groups were free to brainstorm among themselves. It was from this freedom to present individual views and opinions that the concerns of those who would be most effected by the recommendations were explored.

DR. GARDNER'S group focused on the need to make health care more available. While it was conceded that hospitals and clinics periodically offer examinations, the participants felt they were not well publicized. People did not take advantage of the opportunities available because they didn't know what was available. It was pointed out also that while there are cancer clinics for women, there are none for men who could well benefit from early diagnosis of cancer.

Another area of discussion was training for volunteers who visited nursing homes, so that in conversing with residents they would give them a feeling that someone really cared

Sweet freedom from Pack 39

The students and faculty of Our Lady Star of the Sea Elementary School had the opportunity Jan. 29 to enjoy the sweetness of liberty and freedom.

In honor of the national day of Thanksgiving for the release of the hostages, Cub Scout Pack 39 gave everyone in school a yellow candy rose. It was a very graphic way to recognize the day of Thanksgiving, and to emphasize the sweetness of America.

It was obvious that this simple gesture made an eloquent point with all the students. A parent noticed "you could actually see by the expressions on the kids' faces that they had made the connection in their minds." With the help of Pack 39 and their leaders, an almost intangible concept had assumed substance on a level that every student from kindergarten through eighth grade could understand.

Fourteen members of South High School's Foreign Exchange Club will spend Feb. 6-16 in Middlebury, Vt. for the group's 1981 Domestic Exchange.

South. "They had to be active club members, show some citizenship qualities, have good grades and be mature enough to be able to come back and make up a week of missed schoolwork," she said. With a population of about 8,000, Middlebury is located halfway between Lake Champlain and the Green Mountains. The students plan to visit a Kraft cheese plant, ski and visit the campus of Middlebury College, where they will attend classes and school activities. On their way there, they will also spend a day shopping and sightseeing in Montreal. In May, the club will play host to an exchange group about them. Education on mental attitudes toward older citizens was an area deemed an important issue. "People should be made aware that older people have the same needs as young people," commented Dr. Gardner. "They need physical care, interpersonal relationships and intellectual stimulation."

On the subject of inter-personal relationships, he said "no one is sufficient unto themselves. People who say they don't need anyone are rationalizing or deliberately limiting their lives." "As one grows older things change. Older people have to adapt to those changes. How well they adapt and how much help they get in adapting is important. However, adaptability is not just a concern of older citizens. All stages of life demand adaptation to circumstances."

WHEN HOUSING WAS considered as a plus or minus in mental health, the consensus was that most older people prefer to live in their own homes. This could be made possible, it was agreed with help in maintenance. An interesting side discussion developed from this point.

It was presented to the group that while some people did prefer to live alone and most would avoid going to a nursing home until it was absolutely necessary, a happy medium might be a consolidation of homes. That is, three or four people would sell their own home and move into another which they would share.

The advantage pointed out by the speaker was that those who made such a move could continue to live in a neighborhood which was familiar to them, augment their income from the investment of funds realized by the sale of their homes and solve the problem of loneliness which appears to be the number one complaint of people living alone.

Transportation was also considered a factor in maintaining mental health since without means of moving around, people were confined to their homes with resultant mental deterioration.

Recommendations from this group settled on better health screening, good transportation; help in maintaining the home and opportunities to relate and discuss their feelings with others.

Moving on to Dr. Olah's Older Americans as a Growing National Resource, the discussion settled on what contributions could be made by older Americans.

It was generally agreed that Social Security payments should not be cut if an older person chooses to work. The possibilities of shared-work programs were explored, one being a situation where two people holding the same job on a divided day or divided week basis.

One objection to older people working was proffered by a member who felt that older workers should step out of the job market to make room for those entering. This was refuted by another who had had some experience with the situation. He claimed that the older worker with the experience and ease of accomplishment could raise production to a point that would actually make more jobs for younger workers.

On the subject of volunteer work, it was agreed that there were unlimited possibilities in that area. Irene Sutton who has contributed so much as a volunteer, outlined a plan to engage older citizens in a project similar to that sponsored by Junior Achievement groups. A group would decide on a project, create it, market it and share in the receipts.

Time to reconsider merger

Municipal governments in the Pointes, like those elsewhere in Michigan and the country at large, are facing a serious financial pinch. Demands for some kinds of services continue to rise, costs of supplies and equipment go up and revenues decline. Something has to give under those circumstances.

In both the Woods and the Park, layoffs of city employees, reduction in the employees' work week and cuts in services have been proposed as possible ways to weather the financial storm. In the Woods, a proposal to delay opening and heating the city's swimming pool was rejected but a similar plan is under consideration in the Park. Other savings already have been undertaken or are under consideration in both municipalities. The other Pointe governments are not yet feeling the pinch to the same extent.

What has happened in all the Pointes however, is that the recession has caused a cut in state and federal aid. At the same time, the increasing use of small, fuel-efficient cars and the high price of fuel during the recession have cut into revenues from the motor vehicle highway fund which helps finance street maintenance.

Municipal officials are reluctant to reduce the number of policemen and firemen or even cut back their work week. In a recession, burglaries and robberies tend to increase in number. Anyone who scans the Grosse Pointe News reads evidence every week of an increasing amount of crime in the area. Yet reducing the number or working hours of policemen is one possibility under consideration, especially in the Park.

To meet its deficit, the Park is even considering the possibility of increasing taxes. In view of the recent increase in the residential property assessment in the Park, as elsewhere in the Pointes, such a move would meet with considerable opposition. Yet reduction in services is not a pleasant prospect, either.

WHEN THE FINANCIAL crunch first became apparent last summer, John R. Crawford, Park city manager, was directed to prepare a report on alternative methods of meeting the problem, including the possibility of amalgamating the fire department in the Park, City and Farms.

Such a proposal has revived talk of merging some or all of the governments of the Grosse Pointe municipalities in the interests of economy. Such talk has been heard in the Pointes for years and several serious studies have been devoted to merger or consolidation proposals. A 1958 study, for example, examined the desirability of merging the governments of the City, the Park and the Farms. And a 1968 report proposed consolidation of the fire services in the same three municipalities.

That 1968 feasibility study, by the Public Administration Service of Chicago, concluded that "a consolidation of the three fire departments is highly desirable as a means of effecting economies and of upgrading the quality of fire protection received by residents." The argument then, however, was that the primary objective should not be to effect economies but to establish a fire service large enough to provide efficient and effective fire protection.

As that study pointed out, "very small units of local government are proving less and less adequate for the provision of effective and economical services as technology continues to improve and as more and higher quality services are demanded from local government." The dis-economies of small-scale activities are becoming more severe, the report said.

Even in 1968, the governments of the Pointes cooperated in many ways, including the establishment of a rubbish disposal authority, a radio agreement among the Pointes and Harper Woods, a mutual aid system among the fire departments in the same six municipalities and other means of cooperation.

Working out any amalgamation or merger plans would be even more complicated now than in 1968 because of new union contracts, the formation of public safety departments in the Shores, Woods and City in which policemen and firemen are amalgamated, and various other organizational differences among the municipalities in the Pointes.

In addition, merger of all or some of the Pointes would not be without costs. Current residents in the Pointes do have a certain loyalty to the cities in which they live. And they would lose that identification, in event of a merger, along with some of the control they exercise over the services in their own cities.

YET PERHAPS IT is time to revive serious consideration of the possible consolidation or merger of at least some of the city services in the five municipalities. Admittedly, such proposals now stem more from the demand for economy than for improvement of services but perhaps both aims could be achieved. If the pressure for economy and tax savings in a recession could achieve such goals, then, indeed, it would be possible to see a silver lining in the current dark clouds hovering over the economy.

Still rewriting history

The rewriting of history in connection with Reginald Wilson's 10-year term as president of Wayne County Community College continues. Now it is the Legislature which has gotten into the act.

In a resolution passed last week, the House and Senate commended Wilson for his services to the troubled college and specifically said the former president was "the driving force which has catapulted WCCC to prominence and its reputation for educational excellence."

In view of the fact that Wilson was fired because the trustees charged he ignored their directives, misspent college funds and permitted the quality of education at WCCC to decline, the wording of the legislative resolution is curious indeed, even though such an action has no effect and little value, except as publicity.

THE EXPLANATION provided by Rep. Jackie Vaughn, D-Democrat, sponsor of the resolution, is equally curious. He said Wilson "should be recognized for his contribution" but conceded that he "did not get involved in the truth or falseness of the accusations" against Wilson. So Vaughn went ahead with his contribution to the rewriting of history in the Wilson case.

While Wilson was fired for the supposed irregularities in handling the college finances, state and federal agencies also raised questions about the handling of the college funds. But Wilson won a $230,000 settlement last December because the trustees apparently had ignored a clause in his contract requiring six months notice in event of dismissal. As a part of the settlement, the trustees agreed the record would show he had resigned and he, in return, dropped a lawsuit against the board.

Where will all this rewriting of history end? Well, we're not sure. New Detroit, Inc., which earlier had agreed to sponsor a testimonial to mark Wilson's contributions to the college, last week announced it will fulfill that commitment with a reception Feb. 11 at the Veterans Memorial Building in downtown Detroit.

THE NEXT THING we know Wilson may run for public office. If he does, he will be able to cite the rewritten "official" record of his service at WCCC, the legislative resolution and the New Detroit support to "prove" his qualifications. Stranger things have happened in Michigan politics.

Piano solo wins SHS teen contest honor

By Dawn Lociuskar
South High

Playing "The Cicada," a piano solo by Khachatryan, South senior Carol Hayler won the talent portion of the Michigan Junior Miss pageant Jan. 30 in Marshall. For winning, she claimed a plaque and a $300 college scholarship.

"I was very surprised to have won (the talent competition). In fact, I was in a state of shock. All of the other girls were really incredible and very polished," Ms. Hayler said.

Ms. Hayler did not place in the overall competition. The junior Miss pageant is a contest based on scholastic achievement as well as the contestants' abilities in other judging areas, including talent, poise and appearance, and physical fitness. Each contestant was also featured in a solo talent presentation.

During their stay in Marshall, the contestants were "treated like honored guests," Ms. Hayler said. They were given a tour of the stately old city, dinner at the famous Win Schuler restaurant, and lodging in some of the city's historic homes.

Letters to The Editor

Chemical spray in the wrong hands

Recently I read in the Grosse Pointe News there is a chemical being produced in a spray for sale over the counter that is absolutely brutal. It's touted as a protection against attack for the individual. This chemical temporarily blinds, causes agonizing pain and unconsciousness, if my memory serves me. The article disturbed me, and I haven't been able to put it out of my mind.

I wonder if the people who have legalized this weapon realize that the criminals can buy it as readily as decent people? Can you imagine how easy it would be to approach a victim, spray him or her, and rob, rape, murder, etc.?

Think of the man approaching a woman from behind at night, simply meaning to pass her on the sidewalk. She's been attacked before and is frightened. She will probably spray him with this terrible chemical.

How about the children that are bound to find the container around the house or in mom's purse? They will spray each other or themselves, and if this chemical is devastating to an adult, what would it do to a 2-year-old?!

School closings should be studied

I agree wholeheartedly with the opinions expressed by Anna Dugan (of Ford Court, G.P.W.) relative to her suggested phasing out of the Middle Schools and the absorption of their student populations by neighborhood elementary and/or high schools.

If some elementary schools are closed and their students bussed to regional schools, the projected savings may be eroded by the high "costs of purchasing, fueling, manning, and maintaining a fleet of busses" to quote Mrs. Dugan, who has already gone this route once before in Berwyn, Pa. Also, close-by private and parochial schools may absorb some of those displaced students and the end result could be even more student attrition from the Grosse Pointe Public School System.

Along with a freeze on most contractual hiring, I would, therefore, suggest the formation of a Citizens Advisory Committee to investigate the options open to us now. This Grosse Pointe Public School Citizen Advisory Committee for Building Utilization and Cost Containment should, of course, contain senior citizen representation.

With tax increases at hand and lack of senior citizen housing (not to mention the lunch program dilemma), we need to come up with more creative ways for cost containment than elementary school bussing. For example, rather than close Barnes why not initiate an experimental shared-time program with the adjacent Star of the Sea School? The Parcels Campus would be an ideal location for a much needed senior citizen complex.

Marilyn Markey,
Of Raymond Road,

Estate should be preserved

The planned development of the Winifred Dodge Seyburn estate at 1830 East Jefferson brings to mind the demolition of another Dodge related estate—Rose Terrace, the enclave of the late Mrs. Anna Thompson Dodge.

It's rather surprising to watch Grosse Pointers boast of the area's many fine homes, the true hallmarks of the Grosse Pointes. But little do they realize (or care) that money-oriented developers have steadily been closing in on Grosse Pointe's irreplaceable landmarks.

I realize taxes in Grosse Pointe are at a ridiculous new high, prohibiting most people from purchasing these homes. However, I find that no excuse for the probably fall of the city council to the graces of these developers simply because of the increased tax revenues from a subdivided estate. Though considering how picky Grosse Pointe is about zoning ordinances (shades of Rose Terrace), it seems inconceivable that Grosse Pointe will waive these requirements. If they do, they'll be admitting their insatiable hunger for tax revenues.

After all, Grosse Pointe was given the Alger's folly for use as a war memorial; they did not have to put up a fight to save it. With its serene wooded setting, formal gardens, ballroom, and alee of sycamores, the Wesson Seyburn estate deserves much better treatment, and is worthy of preservation.

Jeffrey Ligan,
Of Devonshire Road,
Grosse Pointe Park

To the new beginning

A truly new beginning, away from the angry 1960's, apathetic 1970's and the bitter day of Watergate, was felt by all on Jan. 27, 1981.

For a girl who grew up in Grosse Pointe, to be in Washington, D.C. at this historical moment is something I would like to share with my fellow Grosse Pointers nestled in their homes near the banks of Lake St. Clair. I am, of course, describing the moment the busses with the freed hostages slowly drove along Pennsylvania Avenue on their way to the White House.

Never before was there such a beautiful, spontaneous spurt of emotion from each individual, black, white, Republican and Democrat, as they stood in crowds along the streets waving flags and clapping as the entourage passed by. It was a celebration of freedom, unfortunately, something we Americans so often take for granted. It was so simply put into words by President Reagan in his welcome speech on the White House lawn when he commented "The best things in life are free and the world will be better for this. We pray this will be so."

This portrayal of genuine emotion and the unifying spirit of American pride will forever be with me and can best be summed up by the incident of an old woman who stood all alone on a hill holding her hand to her heart as these courageous Americans, finally brought home, passed by her.

The do's and don'ts of chimney repair

It has come to my attention that a non-local chimney cleaning firm is using scare tactics and false information to get people to have their chimney flues cleaned. In the public interest, some information is needed.

It is, of course, important to have a chimney cleaned.

But the before mentioned company is telling people that a gas furnace flue must be cleaned also and that a danger exists if it's not cleaned.

This is false. Gas burns very clean and in my three years' experience I have never seen a dirty gas furnace flue unless the furnace was converted from oil or coal and not cleaned at that time. The only exception was a nest built in the flue by a bird.

The same company also is installing chimney screens that don't meet local fire codes. Chimney screens should be a minimum of one-half inch mesh and should be installed above the flue liner so it vents through the sides and top. This is to prevent clogging which can cause dangerous gasses to back up into the house.

FOP elects new officers

The Fraternal Order of Police Lodge #102 recently celebrated its 25th anniversary with a President's Ball held Friday, Jan. 16 at the Harper Woods Recreation Center.

The gavel was passed by outgoing president Phil Hamel. Public Safety Officer Donald E. Schmalz was elected Officer of the Year by his peers and was presented a plaque by committed chairman Gary Mitchell, of the Shores.

Among those in attendance at the ball were Judge Patrick Denis and State Sen. Dennis Hertel.

Fifth grader wins at Star

Fifth grader Catlin Murray was the winner of the Second Annual Spelling Bee held at Our Lady Star of the Sea on Tuesday, Jan. 27.

Forty contestants from grades five through eight participated in the twelve-round event. Catlin, whose home room teacher is Sister Ann, correctly spelled the word "consecutive" to win the honor of having her name engraved on the School Spelling Bee plaque that hangs in the school library.

Runner-up in the contest was eighth grader Gina Piccerelli from Miss Carsley's homeroom. Gina misspelled the word "cauliflower" to finish second.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

Beneath a heavily beamed ceiling, surrounded by wall hangings painted over 50 years ago, the Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice's Auction Unlimited will offer some of the most unusual items ever to grace a Detroit stage.

The action takes place Saturday evening, Feb. 21, at The Players Playhouse on East Jefferson Avenue. Everybody's welcome. A $5 donation entitles ticket holders to tour the Playhouse, bid on all sorts of things, from a weekend for four in Toronto to original artwork by Detroit artists, and enjoy delicious, hot hors d'oeuvres.

There'll be a cash bar in the foyer, for those who like something to wash their hors d'oeuvres down with.

Tickets are available through advance purchase by contacting the Inter-Faith Center, 882-6464, and advance ticket holders will receive a catalogue of items, all donated by the center's friends and supporters, prior to the auction.

Tickets and catalogues will also be available at the door—but if you plan to bid seriously, a few days' prior perusal of the catalogue is very helpful.

Listed in it are gifts from The Renaissance Center's World of Shops and gourmet feasts for eight. Nostalgia buffs may want to put their money on a weekend in a refurbished one-room schoolhouse in northern Michigan. Fitness enthusiasts

Are the kitchen and the concert hall related? Cordon Blue cook and art aficionado Charity Sucek believes they are—in fact, she is looking forward to offering convincing proof when she presents Musical Menus: a program designed to arouse the senses, both auditory and gustatory, while raising dollars and cents for Tuesday Musicales of Detroit.

The fund raiser will take place next Tuesday, Feb. 10, at 8 p.m. at the Edsel and Eleanor Ford House. Information on reservations, at $17.50 per person, may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Joseph Shaheen 882-0710.

Mme. Sucek finds menu planning so challenging and creative that it can be compared to composing great music. She is well-equipped to develop this theme, for she has known the greats of gastronomy and Grand Opera. Among her acquaintances in the latter group are Helen Traubel, Eleanor Steber, Richard Tucker and Richard Crooks, who shares her enthusiasm for the art of cooking.

Charity learned from Henri Paul Pellaprat how to dress a chicken. That was back in the 1920s, when she was training at the famous Cordon Bleu Cooking School in Paris. Louis Diat taught her to prepare puff pastry. Ferdinand Point, father of the Nouvelle Cuisine, critiqued her sauces.

In recent years, the Detroit East Suburban Alumnae Chapter has made substantial donations to Saint John Hospital's cardiac program and the Grosse Pointe Public School System. Past donations to the hospital have assisted in the purchase of a Noninvasive Cardiology Transducer, an Ergometer for the Cardiac Catheterization Laboratory and a Cardiokymograph (CKG).

This year, Saint John will apply its Alpha Phi donation toward a new Angioplasty Program, for which a Certificate of Need is being sought. Percutaneous transluminal angioplasty, — or, more simply, dilation — involves the insertion of a catheter into a blocked blood vessel. The catheter is ballooned and the blockage is opened. This procedure has been very successful in opening blood vessels, and can be used on approximately 10 percent of open-heart patients. It is useful for single vessel blockages.

The Grosse Pointe School System has used past Alpha Phi donations to acquire two Resuscit-Annies and films for its Cardiac Pulmonary Resuscitation classes. The schools will apply their donation once again this year to the CPR program.

It's expansion facility time for Assumption

Assumption Greek Orthodox Church and Cultural Center expands its facilities this month with the opening of the former Eastpointe Elementary School on Marter Road, just two blocks away from Assumption's main building, also on Marter Road, at the border of Grosse Pointe Woods and St. Clair Shores, as an auxiliary facility.

The new location will serve as a branch of the present center and offer activities for the public as well as members.

Assumption Nursery School will move its entire operation to the new site, once an elementary school and designed to offer many advantages for the small child, and will introduce a Toddler Center there.

Caroline Bonanni, nursery director, notes self-contained classrooms with adjoining washrooms, child-sized bulletin boards, individual coat racks, special kindergarten and art rooms and an indoor activity area are among Eastpointe's features. "It provides a stimulating environment for the intellectual and social development of the child," she says.

The Assumption Toddler Center is a new offering in education and care for the younger child, created in response to many requests for such a program in the area. Enrollment begins at 12 months for the walking toddler. The center will be specially staffed and equipped to accommodate the developmental needs of very young children within a warm and nurturing setting.

Assumption's present nursery and day care program will continue an extensive schedule for pre-school through kindergarten children, ages 2½ to 6. Registrations are being taken now at 779-6111.

Forthcoming activities for all ages at the Eastpointe Center will be announced in Assumption's future bulletins.

Go-getting for 56

Grosse Pointe's JANEY MEADE will be supervising solicitation of donations for the 1981 Channel 56 Auction throughout eastern Wayne and Macomb counties, and CKLW Radio's DICK PURTAN will serve as this year's "auction cowboy" and official host. Janey, one of three auction go-getting chairmen who will lead volunteer sessions at the Go-Getting Kick-Off at the Roostertail in mid-February, describes the drive for merchandise donations as "the heart of the auction effort."

The 13th annual auction, which raises operating funds for Detroit's only Public Television Station, will be broadcast April 3 through 11. Thousands of bidders shop by phone during the nine-day sellathon as merchandise is auctioned off on the air by celebrities from the worlds of sports, television, radio, civic affairs and the press. All items donated should be new and have a minimum value of $50. Businesses that donate receive tax benefits as well as on-air credit to an auction week audience of over one million people. Auction Central, 873-7200, is the number to call to make donations.

Miss Ault married to Dean Kampman

M. Tracy Ault is honor maid for her sister; Glen Kampman serves as brother's best man at November rites

The noon wedding of Mary Beatrice Ault and Dean Brian Kampman Saturday, November 22, in Saint Clare de Montefalco Church was followed by a luncheon reception at the Detroit Boat Club, after which the newlyweds left to vacation in South Carolina.

They are at home in Detroit, where the bridegroom is completing work for a graduate degree in Business at the University of Detroit. The bride is on the nursing staff at Bon Secours Hospital.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. John Miller Ault, of Berkshire Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Kampman, of Birmingham.

For her marriage, at which The Reverend Walter F. McNicholas presided, the former Miss Ault chose a traditional gown of white crepe, styled with a bodice of Venice lace. A Juliet cap of matching lace held her long, lace-outlined veil. White silk roses, stephanotis and ivy formed her bouquet.

M. Tracy Ault, honor maid for her sister, and bridesmaids Patricia Curtis, of Monroe, the bride's college roommate, Elizabeth A. Lynch, of Evansville, Ind., and Mrs. Dennis J. Weipert, another sister of the bride, wore floor length gowns of aubergine Qiana and carried American Beauty silk roses with baby's-breath accents.

Glen Kampman was his brother's best man. Glenn Moug, Nicholas Ustick and Kenneth Walby ushered.

The bride's mother's street length dress was periwinkle blue in color. The bridegroom's mother selected a street length dress of mauve Qiana. Each mother had an ivory silk rose.

John B. Ault came from St. Louis, Mo., to escort his mother down the aisle for the wedding of her youngest daughter.

Other out-of-town guests included another brother of the bride and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Ault, of Lansing, and the bride's uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. James T. Brady, of Indianapolis, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. William Gibson and Mr. and Mrs. David Brouse, of Williamsport, Pa.

Mrs. Dean B. Kampman

Setting Saturday, November 22, for the noon wedding of MARY BEATRICE AULT, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller Ault, of Berkshire Road, and Mr. Kampman, son of the Melvin Kampmans, of Birmingham, was Saint Clare de Montefalco Church.

Meeting time for Fox Creek

Mrs. James LeDuc is serving as hostess for members of the Fox Creek Chapter of Quilters today, Thursday, Feb. 5, and will present a program on "Campbell Kids: Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow—Collectibles." Mrs. LeDuc's co-hostess is Mrs. Glen Knudtson.

English guest for Memorial Church Women

The Reverend Colin Evans, of Sawston Village, England, will be the speaker, and Mrs. Evans the honored guest, at the Agape Breakfast given annually by the Women's Association of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. It's set this year for next Tuesday, Feb. 10, at 9:30 a.m. in the church's Fellowship Hall, and all are welcome. The number to call for reservations is 882-5330.

"Agape," the Greek word meaning love, is derived from the word "agapan," meaning "to welcome." Agape was a love feast or common meal of fellowship among the early Christians. It included prayers, songs, the reading of Scriptures and offerings for the poor, just as it will next Tuesday morning at Memorial Church.

The Reverend Evans is the present ecumenical minister at Memorial Church. He was the "guinea pig" who pioneered the ecumenical minister exchange begun by Dr. Ray Kiely, Memorial Church's present minister, back in 1968.

The Evanses went to Buffalo, N.Y., then. Now they are in The Pointe looking forward to as unforgettable a time here as they had in Buffalo.

The Reverend Evans has a theatrical background. He has served as a theater chaplain and as a broadcaster on both radio and television. He is also a religious journalist, with a weekly column in The Church of England newspaper, and is the paper's drama critic.

He is presently moderator of the Eastern Province of the United Reformed Church, a union of Congregationalists and Presbyterians in Wales and England.

Regina High Mothers present Father Dustin

The Regina High School Mothers' Guild will present the Father Dustin Show, a sing-along evening of entertainment and dancing, Saturday, Feb. 14, from 8 to 12 p.m. at Regina High on Kelly Road in Harper Woods.

Snacks, prizes, lunch, beer and set-ups will be featured. Tickets, at $5 per person, may be obtained by contacting Lois Gentry, 839-5221, or the school, 526-0220.

Villagers night for themselves

Each year, the Villagers look forward to their members-only dinner dance. It's set this year for Saturday, Feb. 7, at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club, where a cash bar will open and hors d'oeuvres will be served at 7 p.m.

Dinner is at 8, and dancing to music by Joe Oddo and his Orchestra begins at 9:30 p.m. Host couple for the evening are Brian and Virginia Kelly, of Lakeshore Road; members of the board will join them in greeting guests.

 may want to snap up an exercise class; for parents, it may be several nights or a weekend of baby sitting.

Tours of Detroit, specialized parties and handicrafts are other items among the more than 100 offerings. There's something within everyone's budget, and proceeds go to a very good cause: the east side organization, founded in the aftermath of the '67 riots, that has worked for more than 10 years to promote equal rights and racial justice within the community.

Doors open at 7 p.m., when cocktail service and the silent auction begin. Charles Kinsey will start the live bidding at 9, but do come early, for this is your chance to tour one of Detroit's most fascinating buildings.

The Players, a private theatrical society founded in 1910, moved into their present quarters in 1925. The Playhouse was designed by noted architect William E. Kapp and stands over Parents Creek which, in 1763, gained notoriety as "Bloody Run," site of a confrontation between Chief Pontiac and his Indians and Detroit's British and French colonists. An historic marker now commemorates the battle.

Kapp designed the Playhouse with comfort in mind. A large, tiled entrance hall, complete with bar, leads to a circular staircase. The Players' clubroom on the second floor has wide windows overlooking Jefferson.

The auditorium is reminiscent of a Medieval castle's Great Hall. Its massive ceiling beams are hung with frosted lanterns and thespian banners. Its stone walls are covered with paintings. An unusual seating arrangement — tables and chairs grouped on broad, descending steps—allows members of the audience to sit in groups while enjoying an excellent view of the stage.

A fully automated lightboard is complemented by a large spotlight nestled between twin loges in the rear of the auditorium. There's light outside, too, on the street and in the lot adjacent to the Playhouse, where the parking is free.

More playing at The Players
 The weekend before the Inter-Faith Center's auction, Friday, Feb. 13, and Saturday, Feb. 14, The Players Playhouse stage will light up for members and friends of The Fine Arts Society of Detroit as Fine Arts presents "The Gentle Hook," a mystery by Francis Durnbridge.

Monica Deeter will appear as Stacey Harrison, a charming, successful career woman, William Rohloff as Brad Morris, Stacey's father, and Mrs. Charles Truscon as Stacey's mother-in-law. Jeffrey Montgomery takes the part of Alan Kyle, a young man who works for Stacey.

Also in the cast are Arthur Gohle as Gerald Waddington, Hugh Munce as Lennox, Robert Elvidge as Philip Harrison and James Hughes as Charles Venner.

Director is Mrs. Arnold Combrinck-Graham Jr. Producer is Mrs. Sidney Sinclair. The set was designed by Walter Troniano, and the technical crew includes Stephen Shrader, stage manager, and Bonnie Denler and Dr. Frank VanDeventer, lighting. Paul Eliason, Arthur Walker, William Turner and Christopher Hawksley comprise the stage crew.

Before curtain and during intermission, the audience will be invited into The Playroom to view an art exhibition: paintings, photography and statuary by Mrs. Daniel Bowen, Clarence Day, Mrs. John Diebel and Mrs. Charles Parcels Jr.

Post-performance, the cast and crew will join the audience at supper tables for an after-theater repast.

Fine Arts, its members men and women, is one of three groups which regularly tread The Playhouse stage boards. The others are Theatre Arts (women only) and The Players (all-male since their founding).

Gerald L. Stoetzer, Fine Arts' current president, has announced a very special Fine Arts musical event for members and friends: a benefit performance for Orchestra Hall by the Brio Trio (Bernard Katz, piano, Brian Schweickhardt, clarinet, Marcy Chanteaux, cello) on Sunday, Feb. 22, at 3 p.m. at the Cloverly Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parcels Jr.

Proceeds will purchase several new seats at Orchestra Hall, and the name of The Fine Arts Society of Detroit will be engraved on brass plaques, to be placed on the back of each chair, in commemoration of the society's 75th anniversary.

WILLIAM ARTHUR WAUGAMAN, of Ridge Road, has been appointed to the United States Air Force Academy in Colorado. The Grosse Pointe South High School senior will begin basic training at the academy in June. Upon completion of his four-year course of study, Waugaman will be commissioned as a Second Lieutenant in the Air Force.

Present stress coping series

Stress is a word most of us use fairly loosely, a feeling we get quite often, a concept that means different things to each of us — but how we manage stress makes a big difference in all our lives.

There is often, for instance, for women who have remained at home, the unseen pressure and nagging feeling that they should be out in the world of work, contributing to family finances, or going to school.

This is one of the stresses to be addressed at an Oakland University Continuum Center workshop series scheduled for Wednesdays, Feb. 18 to March 25, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Large and small group discussions will be utilized to help individuals find better ways to manage their stressful situations. The workshop will focus attention on the use of support systems in the process of change, whether that change be in lifestyle, relocation, marital status, unemployment or the loss of someone close.

Practical tips on better time management and relaxation exercises will be presented. Leisure time and recreational activities will be explored as additional ways to cope with stress.

Fee for the six sessions is $65. Further information may be obtained and registration made by calling the Continuum Center, 377-3033.

The Clean Strong Contrast . . . of black and white is seen in so many new fashions for spring and summer. Abe Schrader designed a coverup cocktail dress with a slender shaped no waistline, a double ruffle flounce at the hem and a single ruffle at the cuff. The print is black with white geometrics. Oggee By Rizkaleah uses black and white stripes on cotton for a pretty party dress. The waist is tied with black velvet accented with a white gardenia. Just as striking is a beige polyester georgette dress with a sophisticated black print. Going from sharp contrast to softness are the lovely pastel dresses that have just arrived at Walton-Pierce. Pick a rose georgette dress with wrap styling, a collar that is deeply edged with scalloped lace and a rose satin ribbon at the waist. Ronnie Heller uses the same fabric and color for a dressy shirtwaist. You'll see a lot of lilac for day and after five dressing at Walton-Pierce and it is an important fashion color for the seasons ahead. There are many new dresses from the Albert Nipon Boutique. We like the pastel print georgette with pintucked bodice and tucked pleated skirt. A. J. Barri takes ecru lace and scallops the short sleeves and neckline for a most feminine look. Fashion has made dressing up prettier than ever.

Listening skills, personal development highlight Grosse Pointe's first Tri-Hospital Volunteer Day

WHITELOW, Public Relations director, Saint John Hospital, who narrated the luncheon fashion show; and all those who worked on the program, people like Cottage Hospital volunteers JOHN SCHAEFER and CITA BARLOW (at right in the photo below the fashion parade), pictured welcoming MARY ELLEN RUSH to the first conference of its kind in the Midwest.

More than 250 women and men volunteers from Bon Secours, Cottage and Saint John Hospitals attended the mid-January Tri-Hospital Volunteer Day at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. It was the first conference of its kind in the Midwest.

The day-long workshop, sponsored by the three hospitals' Volunteer Services Departments, stressed listening skills, personal development, communication and the exploration of volunteer opportunities in the hospice movement.

Sister Betty Foster, O.P.M.A., activities director for Women in Transition, a Detroit-based shelter for victims of domestic violence and their children, presented the opening workshop on Creative Listening. After a luncheon and fashion show, volunteers chose one of three afternoon workshops.

Peg McCuiston, M.A., director of Hospice of Southeastern Michigan, conducted a session on the hospice concept of care and the important role of the volunteer in the caring team. Another session, on hospital staff and volunteer relations, was given by associate head nurse Loretta Popp, R.N., of Cottage Hospital's Oncology Unit. Barbara Taruscio, M.A., an instructor in Education and Staff Development at Bon Secours Hospital, gave a workshop on Exploring Inner Space: a session on personal development.

In her opening session, Sister Betty Foster stressed the importance of listening for feelings. Using audience participation, she gave volunteers practical experience in active listening skills.

She advised volunteers that to be effective listeners they can never come from a position of superiority. "Don't come on with medical jargon when dealing with patients," she suggested. "Leave that to the professionals. We bring the human element."

Sister Betty observed that volunteers sometimes see themselves as cheerleaders. Winning the approval of the nursing staff is not the volunteer's primary function, she counseled; rather, it is to leave the patient more healed within. Sister Betty, who has worked with the Women in Transition shelter for 1 1/2 years, is aware of the importance of using non-verbals to establish communication and rapport with patients. She said that eye contact, an appropriate touch . . . even an inclination of the head can indicate that someone cares.

Peg McCuiston, in her presentation on hospice, explained that volunteers are crucial in working with terminal patients. She said that 70 volunteers have been trained to work in the Hospice of Southeastern Michigan since it opened in November. "Whatever is being done is better because of volunteers. They may do office work, feed patients, or just spend time playing cards or checkers with them. In some cases, volunteers are needed 16 hours a day for a patient."

Mrs. McCuiston said two hospice training classes for volunteers are scheduled for February. Normally, only volunteers who have been trained are allowed to work, but Mrs. McCuiston noted that when a businessman called over the holidays and offered to do anything to help, even washing dishes, she found his willingness to be helpful overrode other considerations. Hospice of Southeastern Michigan was formed in 1980 through the cooperation of 13 hospital corporations representing 23 area hospitals.

In the session on hospital staff and volunteer relations, Miss Popp said that a volunteer's awareness of conditions that can cause stress in the workplace can head off misunderstandings. Creating meaningful volunteer responsibilities takes forethought and usually reflects the same qualities that make any job rewarding.

She noted that appropriate training and supervision are important, as is recognition for work well done. Above all, she felt volunteers should participate in the evaluation of job performance, contributing their insight to improving situations on the nursing unit. In the third workshop, Barbara Taruscio helped participants see themselves from a new point of view. She encouraged them to break old stereotypes that limit their potential and to use techniques to let the creative mind work to achieve a better self-image. The Volunteer Day was organized and coordinated by the Volunteer Services directors of the three Grosse Pointe area hospitals: Mureen DuFour, Bon Secours; Margaret Hutchings, Cottage; and Virginia Douglas, Saint John.

To open Rose Society's year on February 11

The Grosse Pointe Rose Society will hold its first meeting of the new year next Wednesday, Feb. 11, at 7:45 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Central Library, Kercheval Avenue at Fisher Road.

The program will feature Forrest Geary's analysis of the new rose varieties that will be available for the first time through national nurseries and local garden stores.

Mr. Geary's talk is designed to coincide with the time of year when all rose fanciers start to think about the beautiful blooms they will have in June. It is also the time when many people make serious mistakes by ordering roses that should not be planted in Michigan.

Those who prefer to buy plants from local nurseries or garden stores should select varieties that grow well in this area, have a resistance to mildew and blackspot, produce blooms that open slowly with good form (high centers), have a lot of bloom and are able to stand Michigan winters.

Mr. Geary, certified as a Consulting Rosarian and Accredited Judge by the American Rose Society, grows 250 Hybrid Teas, Grandifloras and Floribundas, plus 150 miniatures.

His program will cover what to look for when ordering from a catalogue or from pictures displayed at local nurseries, plus how, where and when to order new plants. He also will give his recommendations on the older varieties that have proved to be excellent as show or garden varieties.

Kenneth Wheeler, president of the Grosse Pointe Rose Society, invites all rose growers in Grosse Pointe, Harper Woods and St. Clair Shores to attend the meeting—and recommends that they bring notebooks.

Refreshments will be served following Mr. Geary's presentation.

Meetings held by Jardinieres

Mrs. John Nelson, hostess, was assisted by Mrs. Jere Krieg when she entertained members of La Societe des Jardinieres at a luncheon workshop at her home the last Tuesday in January. Guest speaker Mrs. McLeLland Murford instructed members in the delicate art of fashioning flowers from citrus peel.

The club's December meeting, a subscription luncheon at the Grosse Pointe Club, was sponsored by Mrs. Alexander Blain III and featured Nancy Passfield's display of elaborate holiday designs done in "The Warmth of Old Williamsburg."

Movie music for "The Pops" in weekend series

"Music for the Movies" will be the theme as Hollywood composer Elmer Bernstein makes his Detroit debut in Weekender Pops concerts at Ford Auditorium tomorrow, Friday, Feb. 6 at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday, Feb. 8, at 3:30 p.m.

A special feature of both programs will be the presentation of a 13-minute film, "Toccata for Toy Trains": a 1957 celebration of toys with musical score by Bernstein.

The DSO will play a suite of music from "The Empire Strikes Back" by John Williams; the remainder of the program consists of Bernstein's own music, from the films "Animal House," "Airplane," "To Kill a Mockingbird," "Walk on the Wild Side," "Man with the Golden Arm" and "The Magnificent Seven." The scores from the last four movies were nominated for Academy Awards.

Tickets for the Pops concerts, at $12, $9.50 and $8, may be purchased at the Ford Auditorium box office where Master Card and VISA phone orders are accepted at 932-5524.

Bernstein won his Academy Award in 1957 for "Thoroughly Modern Millie." He also holds a 1983 Emmy Award, two Golden Globes,

Ballet goes to school in The Pointe

Senior members of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Corps de Ballet, under the direction of Mary Ellen Cooper, entertained students at Maire Elementary School on Tuesday, Jan. 13.

The Maire children were introduced to ballet via a delightful presentation by Wendy Heavner, Karla Finger, Lisa Ward, Sandy Pierzinski, Jeanne Leithauer, Cathy De Ronne, Anna Platt and Rose Dauphin. Their performance of Peter and the Wolf was first presented in December at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Post-performance, the students were able to question the characters, take a close-up look at costumes and ballet slippers—and even see a demonstration on toe.

Miss Cooper said she was happy to accept the invita-

Middle school athletes get league sports program

By Peggy O'Connor
In a community overflowing with grade school level league sports programs, there were three schools which spent most of their time facing each other in intramural-type competition. Until this year.

This year, for the first time in memory, the Grosse Pointe middle schools, Parcels, Pierce and Brownell, have a non-intramural basketball program. Instead of competing with each other and scrimmaging with local private schools, those schools now play in a league with Roseville's Guest, Burton and Eastland schools, Centerline Bush, two East Detroit junior high schools and one from L'Anse Creuse.

The teams play 10 games per season and practice 8 to 10 hours per week. The season runs from November through March.

The new program was initiated by the Grosse Pointe School system so the middle school athletic programs might have more competition, according to Brownell principal, Bill Christofferson.

"This is the first time in my 16 years here that we've had competition outside our own system. The students involved seem quite interested," Christofferson added.

The new program featured basketball competition for the middle school girls last fall and for the boys this winter. Bill Taylor coaches the boys at Parcels, Larry Harding at Pierce and Al Devine coaches seventh grade boys at Brownell.

Devine, 22, thinks the program is great for his kids.

"The kids will now have a chance to play kids from other schools, from different walks of life, rather than just the kids in their area. I think it will help them to grow, to improve. And competition-wise—it's great," Devine says.

Devine feels that a lack of organized league sports leaves kids out in the cold when it comes to learning the fundamentals of sports. He says he'd like to see boys start in organized league sports as early as the fourth or fifth grade. That way, by the time they get up into the seventh and eighth grade, they'll know the rules and know what's expected of them.

George Petrouleas, varsity basketball coach at South High, agrees with Devine's assessment.

"If a kid gets a good background at a lower level whatever the area, be it athletics or art, it's much easier for that kid to compete at a higher level. If they don't get that experience at a primary or intermediate level, it's tough to get it in the upper levels," Petrouleas says.

Petrouleas thinks that the new program will make for better prepared athletes and it gives the athlete a better chance for the future as well.

"From an athletic viewpoint, you're talking about scholarships, and if the student has that background in sports, he'll be better prepared to compete for those scholarships when he gets to the high school level."

Petrouleas adds that a realistic expectation of the new sports program's success is three or more years down the road. "It won't happen overnight. We hope to see some results from the middle school athletic program by the time those boys who are playing eighth grade basketball now are sophomores in high school," he says.

Petrouleas says he will be watching the middle school teams play in hopes he might be able to identify those kids who do have the potential to play at a higher level.

Since the program is new, and since it is important to the high school program, Petrouleas says he has let the middle school coaches know that he is available to help

"We'll be inviting the middle school athletes to a high school game as our guests so they may meet the kids, see our program and get acquainted since many of them will be coming to South."

There is no doubt the program is important to South High and to coach Petrouleas who says one of the first things he asked for when he came to South was that the athletic department work toward helping develop a middle school feeder-type program.

And the program is equally important to coaches like Devine, who says his goal is to help the kids he coaches improve themselves.

Devine knows how organized league sports can help the grade school athlete gain experience and discipline. The St. Clare of Montefalco and Austin prep graduate says discipline was what he gained from his sports experiences.

"They need the discipline this program gives them, but my main goal is to help the kids excel, and to gain respect for themselves, their teammates and their school. They've really improved. . . . I think this program gives them that," Devine says.

In three years, coaches like South's Petrouleas will have to be the judge of that.

Blue Devils win keep EML pace

By Tom Kliskait
South High

Free throws proved to be the difference as the Blue Devils knocked off a strong Dearborn Edsel Ford team, 79-65, on Jan. 27, then simply dominated the Shamrocks from East Detroit on Jan. 30 enroute to a 65-36 victory.

However, the victory over Edsel Ford was no easy task for the Blue Devils. Edsel Ford actually outscored South in field goals, but the Blue Devils hit 27 of 37 free throws to pull off the victory.

"It was only a matter of us building on that lead."

Against East Detroit, the Blue Devils scored more points in the first half, (24 in the first quarter), than the Shamrocks scored all game. An explanation for that might be that the Shamrocks committed 29 turnovers in the game.

"Edsel Ford is one of the best west-side teams," said South's head coach, George Petrouleas. "The facts prove that." The facts also prove that records don't always tell the real story.

In looking forward to South's next opponent, Roseville Brablec, Petrouleas said, "Personnel wise we're definitely stronger. They have nothing to lose and we have everything to gain. It should be quite a game. We'll experiment with different combinations to see what works for our upcoming games against Bishop Gallagher and Mount Clemens.

Edsel Ford owned four losses going into the game, but all four losses were by a combined total of five points. In addition, they had the lead in the last minute of every game, but lost because of mistakes.

South lost a heart-breaker to Mount Clemens in mid-January and the rematch scheduled for Feb. 17 could be the most important game of the year for the Blue Devils.

"Edsel Ford was very physical and good on the boards," Petrouleas explained, "but our pressure defense worked well against them."

"Yeah, that game is kind of sticking in the players' minds," Petrouleas explained. "We played carelessly for a five-minute span in the third quarter, which enabled them to catch up. I won't have to get the kids up for that game. They'll be up for sure."

Glenn Piche led that pressure defense by making Edsel Ford commit nine turnovers. He notched three steals plus made Edsel Ford turn the ball over six other times. He also dished out seven assists and scored eight points.

The Blue Devils have won their last four games and 10 of their last 11. They own a 10-2 overall record and a 2-1 Eastern Michigan League record.

Glenn played very well. He played a very aggressive game. Nine turnovers is remarkable," Petrouleas added.

South's only losses were to Mount Clemens and to fifth-ranked state power Highland Park in the opening game of the season.

Piche had some help as John DeBoer, Tom Emmerich, and Stark Langs also played exceptionally well.

"The key is for us to stay healthy. We're improving all the time, and there's no telling how far we can go," Petrouleas said.

DeBoer led all scorers with a season high 30 points and pulled down 11 rebounds. Emmerich pumped in 20 points, and Langs added 14 points and had nine rebounds.

"We're disappointed in the number of people who turn out for the games," Petrouleas added. "We're a winning ball club and are working hard all the time. We would appreciate more community support."

"We got off to an early lead and had scored 48 points by halftime," Petrouleas said.

You can have your chance to support the Blue Devils when they host Brablec tomorrow, Feb. 6, at 8 p.m.

The South High Blue Devils kept up their 2-1 EML pace last week with a 65-36 victory over East Detroit, coupled with their win over non-league opponent Edsel Ford. Top, Pete Stavale, (22) and Dean Graham, (30), seem to have East Detroit player Ron Lisabeth (45) beaten for the rebound. ## No luck for North varsity cagers

By Tim Saunders
North High

Sooner or later the luck will have to change for North's varsity basketball team. When it does, things are going to be very interesting in the Bi County race.

The Norsemen have now played five conference games and seem to be getting better with every one. Why then, has their first place 2-0 record turned into a deceiving 2-3.

The truth is, the Norsemen have probably played better in a couple of their losses than they have in their wins, but have now lost their last three games by a combined total of 12 points. Snake-bitten? Maybe, but it won't last. . . . It just can't.

The Norsemen, coming off a couple of crushing losses last week on the road, hoped to come home to break the string against first place Lakeshore, but things didn't work out as North lost, 61-56.

The Norsemen, who of late seem to be able to alter their style to whatever style their opponents choose to play, went up against the high scoring Lakeshore Shorians and matched them basket for basket.

Actually, North was ahead most of the game, leading 30-26 at half time, but its offense stalled for a couple of minutes in the fourth quarter and by the time it got started again, it was too late.

Center Mark Sanders, a key to North's recent attack, was in and out of the game all night due to foul trouble and that may have hurt. Still, the Norsemen only used seven men in the entire game.

Most of North's scoring was from inside as Rob

Zeiger and Chris Neal did a good job on the offensive boards. Neal had nine rebounds and Zeiger six. However, the Shorians' offense was just as impressive.

There were seven players in double figures, four from Lakeshore and three from North. Neal and Dan Sheridan had 14 points each while Zeiger added 12.

On Tuesday, Feb. 3, Brablec was scheduled to come to North for the first time this year and then the Norsemen start the second trip around the league. That trip is one that many of the players are promising will be very different than the first.

Pointe skier Edwards makes sport look easy

Regardless of the traveling, expenses, training, bumps and bruises, Tracy Edwards' long list of achievements point out that if winning didn't come easily, at least it has come for the Pointe skier.

Edward, 18, of Moross Road, has qualified within Region II of the Central Division of the United States Ski Association for one of the four spots on the girls' regional team for the Divisional Championships set for Spirit Mountain in Duluth, Minn., Feb. 25 through 28.

Edwards had a second place finish at Boyne Mountain in January, and finished in the top 10 at Indian Head Mountain Mid-America races on Jan. 15 and 16 to give her the point results to place her in the top of the region. Only four girls in slalom were chosen to compete, she was the first pick.

Qualifying is based on National Points awarded for top finishes in eight regional slalom races and good results in the four Mid-America races where Federal International Skiing points are awarded.

Edwards trains at Alpine Valley two nights a week. She has gained slalom experience at Ski Racing Camp in Montana, Christmas Racing Camp in Stowe, Vt., Thanksgiving Racing Camp at Iron Mountain and at Ironwood's Brule Mountain.

The University Liggett School junior won the "Elite of the Elite" trophy in downhill last year and took a gold and silver medal for her first and second place finishes at Boyne on Jan. 30.

Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Edwards Jr., of Moross Road, has been skiing since the age of three.

Bruins win Adray league title

A 2-2 tie in their final regular season game against Warren was enough to clinch the Adray Bantam "A" League championship for the Grosse Pointe Bruins.

Needing only a victory or a tie, the Bruins were hard pressed to gain the deadlock and edge Sterling Heights for league honors.

Things began slowly for Grosse Pointe when after a close-checking first period, Warren jumped into a 2-0 lead midway through the game. Bruin captain Dan Follis provided the comeback spark when he took a pass from John Russell at center ice and threaded his way through the Warren defense to score from close range.

The third period featured relentless Bruin pressure which resulted in the tying effort. The pressure finally paid off with three minutes left when Keith Barich tied the game from a goal mouth scramble. Follis and Russell drew assists on the play.

The tie gave Grosse Pointe a final league record of 14-1-5.

Last week, the Bruins' overall record of 33-5-5 was recognized by the Michigan Hockey weekly, which rated Grosse Pointe the number one Bantam "A" team in the state.

The rating will mean nothing to coach Tom Costello and his team if they fail to capture the upcoming district playoffs to be held at St. Clair Shores.

Competing against the Bruins for the right to qualify for the state championship will be Fraser, St. Clair Shores, Warren and the Liggett Bantam team.

Grosse Pointe's first game will pit it against Liggett at 7 p.m., this Saturday, Feb. 7.

G.P. Hawks in playoffs

Surprising everyone except their coaches, the Grosse Pointe Hawks swept four games in a row to win the right to represent the Grosse Pointe Hockey Association Pee Wee B Division in the State District Playoffs.

Also scoring or assisting for the Hawks were team captain John Petrilli, with two goals, Bing Howenstein, Dave Johnston, Tom Halpin, Evan Frakes and Jim Waterston.

Head coach Jack Frakes and assistants John Aley, Don Johnston and Dick Ryszewski, were all sure that it was just a matter of time before the unheralded Hawks "put it all together."

Geoffrey Donaldson was outstanding in goal for the Hawks. He posted two shut-outs in the four game series, allowing only one goal in the final three games. The Hawks also were assisted by the fine defensive play of Petrilli, Frakes and Johnston.

The Hawks defeated the Rangers, 6-4 the Flyers, 6-0, the Spartans, 4-0. In the playoff championship, the Hawks topped Rangers once again, 2-1, in overtime.

Also contributing consistently to the Hawks' wins were team members David Aley, John Butt and Eric Maki.

High playoff scorers for the Hawks were Taras Gracey with six goals and seven assists; Jim Ryszewski with two goals and five assists and Steve Gaskin with five goals.

The first game of the Pee Wee B District Playoffs pits the Hawks against Royal Oak. It will be at 10 a.m. on Feb. 7 at St. Clair Shores Civic Arena.

Hall of Fame for Welchli

Former Pointer John Welchli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell K. Welchli of Provincial Road, has been inducted into the American Rowing Hall of Fame.

Welchli was honored by the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen for his performance at the 1956 Melbourne Olympics where he teamed with three other oarsmen from the Detroit Boat Club (DBC) and took a Silver Medal.

Welchli continues to row and is currently a champion single sculler in master's level competition.

The DBC continued its Olympic tradition in 1980 with the naming of John Carababas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carababas of Maryland Road to the Olympic Rowing Team. Carababas teamed with Mark O'Brien of Mount Clemens in the pair oared shell.

The Rowing Team did not travel to Moscow due to the United States' boycott of the Games. However, the Carababas-O'Brien pair competed during the summer in a European Tour which included regattas in Lucerne, Brugge, Amsterdam and the English Henley.

At the North American level, the 1980 DBC crew finished behind home team St. Catharines to take a second place team finish at the Canadian Henley.

Brian Myers, son of the Eugene Meyers of Maryland Road, set Henley history by winning three events. Myers, who was a co-captain of the 1977 Grosse Pointe South football squad, won gold medals in the junior 145 pound and 155 pound single sculls and the senior 145 pound dash.

St Paul boys on win track

After suffering their first defeat to Saint Ambrose on Jan. 17, the Saint Paul Lakers 7/8ers got back in the win column by topping Our Lady Star of the Sea, 33-24, on Jan. 25.

The Star Sailors got off to a 7-4 lead midway through the second quarter, but a Mike Keane foul shot followed by a Stephen Palffy score and two baskets by Dave Gualtieri put Saint Paul's ahead to stay.

The Lakers built up a 27-14 lead with just four minutes left and each player was able to get more playing time. Kevin Downs led all scorers with 15, Gualtieri scored eight.

High scorers for Star were Winarski with seven, Brennan with six and Como, with five. The key to the Laker win was their ability to mix a good press with an active

ULS Knights in winning streak

The ULS Knights emerged victorious in the contest against the Harper Woods Pioneers on Jan. 27 at Harper Woods. The cagers defeated the Pioneers, 66-49.

The Knights controlled the game from the moment it began and had a commanding lead by the end of the first half. The team continued to dominate the game in the second half to assure the victory.

senior Kevin Jackson with 22 points and sophomore Jeff Parks with 17 points. The top rebounder for the Knights was Jackson with nine rebounds.

The Knights increased their winning streak to three games by defeating the Lutheran Northwest Crusaders on Jan. 30, 77-58. The game started with a closely fought first quarter, but the Knights put on an extra burst of energy in the second quarter to open up a 21 point lead at the half. In the second half, the Knights controlled the flow of the game and ended the game with a decisive 19 point victory. In double figures for Liggett were Jackson with 15 points, Joe Walker with 11 points, Jerry Parks with 10 points and sophomore Jeff Parks with 18 points. Controlling the boards for the Knights was Jackson, with 11 rebounds.

High scorers for ULS were

Prychitko is 'coach of year' St. Paul boys

By Mark Clark
South High

Stephanie Prychitko, coach of South's girls tennis team which has won the last five Class A state titles, was named coach of the year by two tennis associations.

The Michigan High School Tennis Association informed Prychitko last July that she would be the recipient of the Class A Girls' Tennis Coach of the Year Award. She will receive the award this month at a prestigious Grosse Pointe Indoor Tennis Club clinic featuring tennis start Arthur Ashe.

Also recognizing Prychitko as Class A Coach of the Year is the Michigan High School Coaches' Association. She will receive this award at the association's 22nd annual banquet at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

In addition, Prychitko has coached numerous nationally ranked tennis players as South's tennis coach, and attributes her team's success to the community involvement in the sport.

"The success is due to the fact that the parents have their children playing tennis at a very early age and this develops them into very good tennis players," Prychitko says.

Prychitko is responsible for molding these great tennis players into the best team in the state. Doubles player Tracy Echlin stated, "Miss Prychitko is always there backing us up and giving us encouragement, especially if we're not playing well and we're down on ourselves. She is a great coach."

South students choose favorite Mich. ski area

By Al Crim
South High

Skiing is a popular winter sport in Grosse Pointe and Pointe skiers are luckier than most in that they have quite a few quality ski areas to choose from in the South-eastern Michigan area.

Pine Knob, Mount Brighton, Alpine Valley, and Mount Holly are all within an hour's drive from Grosse Pointe and are among the best in the Midwest.

Most South students seem to favor Pine Knob. "It's better than all the rest. Better hills with better equipment," notes sophomore Ev Bowen.

"I believe Pine Knob is the most popular because it's the easiest to get to. It's right off I-75, and people coming to Detroit see it."

"I also think one of the drawing cards is the Hamburger Mansion restaurant. People like to ski and eat," comments Mike Lents, Hill Manager at Pine Knob.

Pine Knob is located in Clarkston. Its five hills are serviced by five lifts, ranging from novice to expert. Both day and night skiing are offered and for after skiing, there is a cafeteria and a cocktail lounge offering live entertainment.

Mount Brighton also is a popular area with South students. "I like Mount Brighton because it's not as crowded as the others, and there's a friendlier atmosphere," says sophomore Tom Kitchen.

Mount Brighton makes snow daily to provide the best possible conditions for its 19 runs. Mount Brighton has two triple chairlifts and five double chairlifts, plus nine rope tows. A 1,400-foot run and expanded ski shop, plus more than 2,000 rentals are among Brighton's other attractions.

On weekends, Brighton features live entertainment in the cocktail lounge and its 300-seat cafeteria comfortably handles large ski groups. Mount Brighton is located off I-96.

Mount Holly is another popular ski area. "There's more snow at Mount Holly and better hills," says Sue Sweetman, South junior.

"White Lightning" is the chalet-type lodge features a restaurant and two cocktail lounges overlooking the slopes. Located 15 miles north of Pontiac, off I-75, Mount Holly is another easily accessible ski area.

The 18 slopes at Alpine Valley range from novice to advanced. The Glacier Run, an exhilarating 1,500-foot run challenges even the most advanced skiers, as does the mogul hill. "Alpine Valley has longer runs, and is less crowded," says South sophomore Ned Sparrow.

The Swiss style lodge at Alpine houses a Rathskellar to satisfy the Apres-ski appetite, as well as the Hornet's Nest cocktail lounge. Ski wear and equipment may be purchased at the "Red Sled Ski Shop."

Although popular and conveniently located, all the Michigan resorts suffered profit losses last year, due to the lack of snow. This year, however, they are hopeful and confident that this winter will have a lot of snow. "We had snow, but if people don't see snow in their backyards, they don't go skiing," said Lents.

It appears that this year it appears that this year the ski resorts will have more than their share of snow.

Umpire school is offered

Junior and senior high school students and college students are needed to serve as Little League Umpires this season.

If you have baseball experience in Babe Ruth, C.Y.O., or high school, and attend Grosse Pointe North or South, Notre Dame, or Bishop Gallagher and wish to attend Umpires School, call Ed Bilkovic at 885-3063.

Classes begin Monday, Feb. 16, at 7 p.m.

Star spikes to victory

By Catherine Snyder
Star of Sea

Our Lady Star of the Sea High School's varsity volleyball team continued its winning streak by taking three more matches in league play.

Star played Pontiac Catholic at home on Jan. 19, defeating the Titans in two uneventful games, 15-1, 15-3.

The next victim for Star's varsity was Saint Florian. The match took place at Saint Florian's gym on Jan. 23, and again Star beat its opponent handily, 15-3, 15-6, in two games.

The latest and most challenging opponent for Star was league rival, Saint Clement. Before a home crowd, Star's varsity edged the Saint Clement Crusaders, 15-8, with help from Senior Cathy Fox's tremendous serving.

Star fell behind early in the second game, 7-3, but was saved once more by the serve, this time by sophomore Marie Haller. Star won the game, 15-8, to take the match.

Star's varsity, currently in first place in its division with five wins and no losses, is a strong contender for the division championship with half of the season remaining.

Race-walker Hawthorne wins

Over 5,300 runners, race-walkers, and joggers converged upon Belle Isle for the 11th Annual Hughes and Hatcher New Year's Eve Run. Neither inches-thick snow nor below-freezing temperatures deterred the runners, their families and friends from enjoying the one-mile and four-mile races.

"This year's Run was a record-setter," said race director Jeanne Bocci of the Park. "It's the largest one we've ever held and we think the largest run of its kind in the country."

Over 600 Pointers participated in the event, including the Boy Scout and Cub Scout troops of Maize Elementary School. Gene Hawthorne of the Farms was the first race-walker to complete the four-mile run/walk. He did it in 40 minutes and 30 seconds.

Other winners included former University of Michigan track and cross-country runner Doug Sweazey and University of Windsor student Linda Staudt as the first man and woman to finish the four-mile event.

Others were Matt Holappa and Mara Matuszak, first boy and girl to finish the one-mile fun run; Kathy Warbelow, first female race-walker; Larry Woscynca, 63, and Mary Varani, 62, first male and female over 60.

Nick Feldman at 74, this year's oldest runner, came dressed as Father Time.

Laker teams top Academy

The Academy opened the scoring on Feb. 1 and held Saint Paul's 5/6ers to a 4-4 tie before falling to the Saint Paul Lakers, 26-12.

Two quick baskets by Tim Nugent and Tim Fellows with less than two minutes left in the half set the stage for the Lakers. They led, 12-6, at the half and ran the third quarter score of 21-12 before shutting the Academy out in the final quarter.

Brian Fitzgibbons led the Academy scorers with six. John Lohiet pumped in 12 for the Lakers. Nugent and Fellows got six and five points as Saint Paul's boosted its record to 6-1.

In the 7/8ers game on Feb. 1, the starting five built up a 16-0 lead in the first quarter as each player scored. Coach Gentile pulled his four regular starters and stayed with the second unit as the Lakers outran the Academy, 51-24.

Walter Connolly led all scorers with his 14 points for the Academy. Each Laker broke into the scoring column with Jim Joliet and Tom Fellows sharing the high spot at 10 and "JR" Roberts getting eight.

The 5/6ers will play Saint Juliana's, the only team to beat them this season, at 12:45 p.m. on Sunday, Feb. 8, at Saint Paul.

The 7/8ers will face Saint Juliana's at home at 5:15 p.m. on Feb. 8.

Solid victory for Mascarin

By Ron Angel

The Shores' Sue Mascarin showed she was hungry in the first round of the Avon Championships of Detroit on Feb. 2 with a 6-1, 6-3 victory over number eight seed Joanne Russell, of New York.

With home-crowd support and a combination of top spin backhands and well-executed angles, Sue jumped to a quick one set lead. The score reached 3-3 in the second set before Sue, again on the attack, ran off the final three games to advance to a meeting with the winner of the Potter/Horvath first round contest.

Mascarin, who is coached by Joe Shaheen, was recently named "Junior World Champion" by the International Tennis Federation and locally was named "Michigan Sportswoman of the Year". These accomplishments, added with her Junior titles at the Italian, U.S. Open, and the Orange Bowl Junior Championships, makes her a real threat to number 1 seed, Hana Mandlikova, who lost to Martina Navratilova at the Avon Championships of Chicago last week.

The absence of some of the top women players at the tour's Detroit stop has not detracted from the excitement caused by the aggressive tennis witnessed so far. The best is yet to come with Sue Barker, Anne Smith, Wendy Turnbull, Pam Shriver and youngsters Hana Mandlikova, Regina Marsikova, Lisa Bonder, of Saline and Mascarin yet to be eliminated in singles play and an open race for the doubles title.

Bonder, the winner of the local Avon qualifying tournament, fought back from a 1-5 deficit to win her match against Pat Medrado of Brazil, 7-5, 6-4.

Mascarin is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Teleforo Mascarin.

Bocci earns race walk record

The Park's Jeanne Bocci raced to a new Michigan State Indoor record for the One Mile Race Walk at the Montrose College and Open Track Meet on Jan. 31 at the Macomb Community College.

Bocci's time of 7:24.7 also qualifies her to compete in the Women's U.S.A. Indoor Track and Field Championships at Madison Square Garden on Friday, Feb. 27.

Her time will be submitted to the organizing committee. The five fastest qualifiers will receive an all expense paid trip to the Indoor Track and Field Championship.

The state record time was also Bocci's personal best time by over 26 seconds.

Bocci faced 19 competitors in the Jan. 31 race walk. Other Pointers in the race included Dr. Gene Hawthorne, of Lothrop Road, who competed in the men's two mile race; Joan Thornton, of Holiday Road, second in the women's one mile race and Leslie Bennett, third in the women's one mile race.

SH gymnasts are 2 for 3

By Dawn Lociaskar South High

Picking up their second victory in three meets, South's Blue Devil tumblers narrowly beat Dearborn Edsel Ford on Jan. 28 75.0-73.5.

A major contribution to the victory came from senior Marcie Semerad with her 7.4 in floor exercise, wrapping up her third of four qualifying scores necessary to go to Regionals.

"I have worked for four years for this and I feel that I deserve it. I now feel that I can go out and perform with consistency and I hope by the end of the season to be able to score in the low 8's," Semerad said.

She also picked up a second place on bars and a third on the balance beam.

Others placing for South were sophomores Phyllis Ayoub and Shann Booth, who wrapped up first and second places on the vault; Andrea Bay with a second place on the balance beam and Cookie Stronski with a third place on the parallel bars.

The girls' next meet was scheduled against Lakeview at home on Feb. 4 (after press time).

Kids take free day on slopes

Grosse Pointe War Memorial Ski Hi Club for students in grades seven to 12 is using the Public School holiday Monday, Feb. 16, for an all day ski trip to Mt. Holly. This is the only trip other than the four-day Collingwood Canada Trip where the skiers will ski throughout the daylight hours.

Ski Hi members should sign up for this trip now as only a few places remain open on the buses. The cost is $13.75 for members which covers round trip transportation tickets and supervision. Rentals for the group at the area are just $4. A ski lesson for first time skiers at Holly is mandatory as is group skiing insurance for $1.

JV gambles—and loses

By Scott Bowles South High

South's junior varsity basketball team gambled on the last shot in two games last week and lost both times.

The losses, 34-31, to Dearborn Edsel Ford on Jan. 27 and 51-49 to East Detroit on Jan. 30, dropped the Blue Devils' record to 3-9.

In the game played at Edsel Ford, South was down by one point, 32-31, with 1:30 left in the game. South held the ball until there were four seconds left, and guard John O'Meara missed a jump shot.

O'Meara tried to get his own rebound, but fouled an Edsel Ford player who made the two free throws with one second left.

In the home loss to East Detroit, South faced a similar situation. The Blue Devils had the ball with one minute left in the game and trailed 51-49.

With only seconds left, Blue Devil guard Tedd Aurelius tried to tie the game with a jumper, but his shot missed its mark.

Aurelius and forward Bill Rathburg both scored eight points to lead South scoring in the Edsel Ford game. Aurelius also had five steals and forward Dave Weinle added six points and pulled down seven rebounds.

The Blue Devils were unable to convert turnovers into points against Edsel Ford. In the third quarter, South caused four consecutive turnovers in a very effective full-court press but could only make one basket.

Throughout the game, South couldn't get the ball to its centers and forwards and was forced to take jump shots from about 15 feet away.

The Blue Devils made 33 percent of their field goal attempts and 75 percent of their free throws.

In the East Detroit game, Aurelius again was high scorer with 13 points, while Weinle added 10 and Rathburg scored nine.

For East Detroit, Carlo SantaAna scored 15 points, and Scott Anderson had 12. South head coach Hank Lewandowski said after the loss to East Detroit that he was not disappointed.

"I was very pleased with the team's performance," he said. "We started off quick in the first half and stayed close all the way to the end."

The Blue Devils will play Roseville Brablec at home on Feb. 6, at 6:30 p.m.

South spikers are undefeated

By Rick Richner South High

Following last week's victory over Regina High School, South's girl junior varsity (JV) volleyball team has maintained a perfect 7-0 record.

South's Blue Devils dominated the contest as the girls took the first game, 15-4. In the second game, after falling behind 5-0, South came back to win the game and the match, 15-5.

Helping to defeat Regina was Coral Rosasco with 10 points, eight of them on serves. Jill Dalby scored six points; five of her six also came on serves. And Anne Shulte contributed three points towards South's victory.

"They're continuing to play well," commented Dan Griesbaum, South's coach. "A good example, was coming back from that 5-0 deficit in the second game."

Pointe skater earns medal

SH swimmers gain revenge

By Jeff Measelle South High

The last time South's varsity swimming team faced cross town rival North, two disqualifications and the absence of a top swimmer cost them the meet. On Jan. 27, the Devils gained sweet revenge as they beat the Norsemen 110-69. Also, last Thursday the Devils took Mount Clemens at home.

The outstanding swim of the North meet came from Devil Larry MacDonald in the 500-yard free. MacDonald's time of 4:45.76 bettered the old pool record by over a second. Brian Burke was third in 5:10.25. Jack Nelson swam to fifth place finish in a time of 5:17.36.

Another highlight was the 100-yard backstroke in which Mark Mulier qualified for the Class A State Meet in 5:58.65.

Mulier was second to Andy Scott, another Devil who had previously qualified in the event. In fourth from South was Ken Bacilus, 1:01.27.

In the 200-yard individual medley (IM) MacDonald again took first place in a fast time of 2:02.80. MacDonald's time was another pool record. Jeff Colton was second in 2:07.00.

In the 100-fly, team captain Mark Clark took first place in 54.29. Mulier was second with a time of 56.11, just missing his second state cut by 2 seconds. Steve Cius was fifth with 1:03.56.

The 108-yard free saw another pool record equaled as Jeff Measelle swam to a first place finish in 49.13. Tom Bartsch was second in 50.21 and Fenton Remick was fifth in 54.71.

The 100-yard breast was another exciting event as South's Don Hiles came from behind and took first place in 1:04.82. Mike Bartoszewicz was third in 1:09.12 and Matt Vanliem was fifth with a 1:10.21.

SNOW WASN'T the only thing that fell on the Colonial Shop over the weekend. We were hit by flurries of excited buyers and sellers that took the place by storm. I can't remember a day as busy as Saturday! I'd sell something terrific and buy something even better the next instant. The flow of people didn't stop until I locked the door at 7. A weekend like that means it'll be worth your while to make it out here this week, because the place is loaded with exciting, unusual antiques, gifts and collectibles. Chop House head comes to North

John McCormack, commercial foods teacher at North High, is beginning his first year of teaching with his assignment at North.

"I've always wanted to teach," he says, but he never knew of any commercial foods classes in high schools. So, because he didn't want to teach academics, he attended Michigan State University and obtained a degree in hotel and restaurant management. He then took classes at the Culinary Institute of America, which is located in Hyde Park, N.Y.

When it came time to look for a job, McCormack decided that, after living for awhile on the east coast and traveling along the west coast, he would prefer not to work in either place. Having made up his mind to seek a position around his native Michigan, he answered a blind ad. He had an interview with his soon-to-be employers and landed the job as manager of the prestigious London Chop House. Soon McCormack worked himself into the position of general manager for both the London Chop House and the Caucus Club, both of which are owned by the same person. After leaving these positions he became manager of the Chicago Roadhouse and then Tweeny's Cafe in Birmingham.

McCormack first became exposed to the food industry when his junior high school counselor told him about a dishwasher job at a summer camp. He worked as a dishwasher until he was promoted to assistant cook. The employers made the camp sound like a really good deal, he says, telling the young boys that they would be paid 24 hours a day and 7 days a week. What they didn't tell them was that their pay was 12 cents per hour.

"We figured it out to be something like $10 a week," he says, laughing. It was nice, because the boys had all weekend off and could take advantage of all that the camp had to offer.

One of the factors that McCormack likes to stress is that "There will always be someone eating out so there will always be jobs" in the food industry. "It's something that young people should look into nowadays," he says, "especially with the economy on such a decline. Not only young people should look into the food service industry, but also people who are considering changing their work field."

Outside his classroom McCormack enjoys cooking for himself and his wife, who he says would rather not cook at all. Often after doing a unit in his commercial foods classes, like an egg unit for example, he will go home and "make seven or eight quiches." Between his teaching at North and his classes as Wayne State University, McCormack enjoys cross country skiing, swimming, refinishing woodwork, fixing up his recently-purchased house.
