GP District Court team takes shape

By Gregory Jakub

Grosse Pointe city officials have appointed three of the five representatives who will form a team to hammer out the details of the new Grosse Pointe District Court scheduled to start January 1982.

Council members Lloyd Semple of the Farms, Patricia Graham of the Shores, and Frederick Lovelace of the Woods will participate in District Court work sessions instigated by State Sen. John Kelly who plans to introduce legislation to form the court. The Park and City have yet to appoint members to the District Court team which has no work schedule yet.

IT WAS A YEAR ago that lawmakers and the Pointes attempted to convert the present five municipal courts to one or two district courts to put the Pointes in line with court conversions throughout the state.

That effort produced legislation that eventually expired when the cities failed to work out the difficult question of how many District Court judges will be needed to handle the Pointes' caseload and whatever cases are transferred from the dissolution of Detroit's Common Pleas Court in September.

The Pointes face the same tough questions of financing and locating the District Court this time and are approaching them with apprehension and enthusiasm.

Grosse Pointe Park officials see the new court as a revenue generating prospect and are looking at the possibility of modifying their present court room to house a District Court. According to a report by Park City

Council Files Suit to Halt Group Home

By Susan McDonald

Grosse Pointe Park filed suit in Wayne County Circuit Court early this week to stop plans to open a group home for retarded adults at 1030 Bedford Road. The suit names homeowner Dr. Andrew Barrer and officers of Community Administrative Services, Inc., home administrators, and claims the group home is in violation of the city's residential zoning laws.

Park Council members heartily endorsed the legal action at a Monday meeting, despite the fact that similar attempts to stop home placements by other communities have failed. City Attorney Herold McClure Deason said three cases based on local zoning ordinances (as the Park's) have failed and one case is currently pending in court of appeals.

"The (cases) are not encouraging," said Councilman Douglas Graham. "But we have no other recourse but to pursue this with all due vigor."

A HANDFUL OF Bedford Road residents were at the council's Monday meeting to find out what the city is doing to stop the home. Several neighbors have opposed the state's plans to locate the retarded on their block because they fear it will depress their property values and detract from the family atmosphere.

"The residents of Bedford obviously don't want this," said Councilman John Prost. "They don't like the idea of this profit making business in the middle of their neighborhood."

Woods budget outlook brighter

By Gregory Jakub

Five weeks ago, "lay-offs" and "cutbacks" were the buzzwords around Grosse Pointe Woods city offices where officials were projecting a $77,801 deficit in the city's 1980-81 budget.

Today, City Manager Chester Petersen says that spending freezes and an unexpected $20,000 increase in federal revenue sharing funds could produce a $16,000 budget surplus by the fiscal year's end on June 31.

THE APPARENT financial turnaround, according to Petersen, is the result of a combination of factors starting with a freeze on spending from the city's $150,516 contingent/capital improvement fund ordered by Petersen last October. That move was expected to put the fund under budget by $11,613, if the spending freeze is maintained until the end of the fiscal year, Petersen said.

In the revenue column, Petersen said $120,000 in expected federal revenue sharing funds will actually total about $140,000. The extra $20,000 will help offset the $23,310 the city lost when Gov. William Milliken cut-back state revenue sharing funds in November.

Some of the city's short-term investments have also generated more revenue than expected because interest rates have remained high, Petersen said. Income from traffic fines has also increased because more cases have been brought to court, he added.

Other factors helping the budget are reducing overtime by city employees and a relatively mild winter which didn't strain salt supplies, Petersen said.

The Woods' budget problems started when officials predicted a $70,930 deficit in the Public Safety Department's $2.16 million budget and a $98,070 deficit in Public Works $1.68 million budget, Petersen said.

Increases in workmen's compensation insurance rates and numerous sidewalk and water main repairs caused the over-spent budgets, he said.

PETERSEN SAID the city expected a $35,000 to $45,000 refund from workmen's compensation insurance in March but has "been advised it won't be that much." The insurance company is holding $80,000 pending the outcome of one claim by the Public Safety Department, Petersen said.

Charter drafting begins

Lawmaker says watch those county cuts

By Joanne Gouleche

State Sen. John Hertel (D-Harper Woods) advised the Wayne County Charter Commission last week not to swing the axe too harshly in the next few months when it begins drafting a charter to reorganize the nation's third largest county.

Hertel said it's "fashionable" to cut back on government services, but it may not be the cure for a cashless county that affects over 2,666,000 people living in Wayne.

"It's very fashionable to cut back on government, but it's not always the appropriate thing to do," Hertel said.

THE SENATOR, a former county commissioner, spoke at one of several public forums held around the county to give citizens an opportunity to participate in the reorganization process.

Last week's meeting at Wayne County Community College's Austin Center was attended by about 40 persons, including State Sen. John Kelly, Wayne County Board Commissioner Norbert Wisniewski of the 2nd District, and County Treasurer Raymond Wojtowicz.

The 27-member charter commission, including Grosse Pointe commissioner Barbara Gattorn, has until June 16 to submit to Gov. William Milliken two charters outlining reform for the county.

The commission was established last August when voters approved the plan for a reorganized Wayne County to be eventually governed by an elected county executive or an appointed administrative officer, which is the crucial difference between the two charters.

The charters could go back to voters this November for approval.

At the Austin Center meeting last week, Hertel urged the commission to look at the county program-by-program in determining where services could be cut.

"There should not be a meat axe approach to the county, but rather a scalpel approach," Hertel said. "You have to be careful where to cut."

Hertel said it would be too much, too soon to ask the commission to change the county overnight because of its size and the number of elected officials.

Most of those living in Wayne County don't know who runs the county, said Hertel, who is in favor of forming a nine-member board of commissioners by the next census count instead of the present 27-member board.

"IN MAJOR counties in the U.S. in the same league as Wayne County, you'll find a limited board of commissioners," Hertel said, adding some present commissioners hide behind the hard-working efforts of others. "Many commissioners carry the burden of the county."

Hertel, a supporter of an elected executive rule in the county, said that official will have to be effective if reform is to take place. "One reason the county has failed is that there is no one there to steer the ship," Hertel said.

Hertel said he was saddened by the lack of participation by citizens during the public forums, evident by last week's turnout at Austin. Hertel said there is a "crisis in terms of the governed" and that "apathy is making progress."

First District Commissioner Gattorn, in favor of an elected executive, said her colleagues will begin drafting charter language later this month and will come up with a tentative charter sometime in May. Gattorn currently sits on a committee responsible for outlining the job description for the new county executive.

The "Pothole and Potshot" Lakeshore paving war between the Farms and the Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC), on going since 1977, is currently at a stalemate, according to Farms city officials.

While both sides agree that Lakeshore Road in the Farms badly needs re-paving, neither side wants to foot the bill for the repairs.

"Basically, there's a difference of opinion concerning a section of a state statute in which the road commission can enter into agreements with city governments to provide road improvements, with the cities sharing the costs," said Farms City Clerk Richard Solak.

"WE FEEL WE shouldn't have to pay any costs, since it is a county road running through the Farms. Besides, we have in the past, paved part of Lakeshore. The section, roughly from Warner to Fisher Road was paved by us in 1975. The road commission should bear the full cost for the rest of Lakeshore."

Another problem facing the Farms is the possible precedent set by sharing any costs. City officials fear they'll open themselves to additional costs with repairs to other county roads in the Farms such as Mack Avenue and Moross Road.

The WCRC hopes to have cities share in road repairs since revenues from gas taxes allocated to the commission have diminished with Michigan motorists driving less and buying less gasoline.

shared the same problems as the Farms, but eventually decided to provide partial funding to repair the section of Lakeshore running through their city.

"The Shores originally sided with us," said Solak, "then the county asked them for a smaller payment spread over a large number of years and they grabbed it."

"They offered the same deal to us,

State officials raided Crane's home on Claverly in December attempting to confiscate part of the $275,000 in back taxes which the state says he owes. Crane maintains the raid illegally netted $150,000 worth of his currency and property and that state officials slandered him when they announced the raid to the press.

Crane said the March 6 circuit court actions on two of his cases and similar actions on Feb. 20 were just the first in a series of motions and counter-motions he expects to be filed in the complicated legal battle.

Crane's four suits were "basically in the wrong court," said a state

Stuart Crane

Attorney General spokesman explaining that the Court of Claims in Lansing has jurisdiction over suits in which the state is the defendant.

Crane maintains that his cases should be heard by a Circuit Court jury of his peers as provided by the Constitution.

"The whole thing boils down to the State of Michigan doesn't want to go before a jury and we say we will," Crane said.

Crane says he plans to appeal the circuit court actions to transfer his cases and will appeal to the State and federal Supreme Courts if necessary.

"The case is alive and well," Crane added.

Sshh! We're interviewing

By Susan McDonald

Hiring a new superintendent of schools just doesn't seem to be as easy as it used to be.

It's not that there aren't enough qualified, interested educators out there. Grosse Pointe schools have already received well over 50 applications for the superintendency which will open June 1 when Dr. William Coats goes to University of Michigan. Chances are that number will grow substantially before the deadline for applying on March 18.

THE PROBLEM is how to get those applicants into town and out for interviews without the public or press finding out about it. The problem, in short, is Michigan's Open Meetings Act, which requires most School Board activities be conducted in public.

Most of the 50 plus educators who have applied for the well-paid job in Grosse Pointe are currently holding jobs—some even as superintendents—in other school districts. The public and home-town boards of education tend to frown on too much well-publicized job hunting out of town.

The Act gives boards of education two basic options: to hold open public interviews with candidates and all seven board members, or to form a sub-committee of three board members to conduct closed, private interviews.

Neither of those options is particucaps jolted loose on Lakeshore.

"Any stop-gap measures to correct the situation is up to the road commission," said Solak. "Anything we could do would simply compromise our position. The final decision will have to be made by the courts, and that could take some time."

Meanwhile, the potholes on Lakeshore, caused by the constant freezing and thawing of water in surface cracks, get bigger and meaner.

Learn bridge at the Center

Opportunities for active and passive recreation will be offered at Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center this spring.

Both Beginning and Refresher Bridge are taught at the Center by Frank Welchenbach Monday, March 23 to June 8, 8 to 10 p.m. It will include one hour of instruction each session and one hour of play.

Registrants will be brought up to date on bidding, responses and play including all the latest nuances of the Goren system.

Beginning Bridge class will convene Thursday evenings March 26 to June 4, 8 to 10 p.m. All the basics of contract bridge will be taught in weekly two hour sessions. Fee for either Beginning or Refresher bridge is $21 for 10 two hour lessons.

Yoga is taught at the Center not as a mystic Eastern religion but as a series of exercises, concentrations and stances designed to relax and tone the body and mind. It is taught by Golden Lotus instructor Betty Locke on Wednesday evenings, 7:30 to 8:30 p.m., March 25 to May 20. The class is open to men, women and teens for a fee of $25. Loose exercise clothing should be worn and a rug sample should be brought to act as an exercise mat.

Tai Kwan Do karate (Korean) will be taught by members of the Wayne State University Karate Club under the direction of Sang Kyu Shim who introduced the art of the open hand to this country. Karate teaches discipline and use of the body for self-defense. Classes are open to men, women and teens. The Karate uniform is worn and belts of different colors are awarded as students pass progressively more difficult examinations. The highest belt award is the black belt. Fee for eight two hour lessons is $25.

The Thursday Night Dance Club convenes March 26 and continues to meet weekly through May 7. Hosted by Ted and Lillian Forrest beginning dancers meet at 7:30 p.m.; the more experienced at 8:30 p.m. The club is open both to couples and singles of all ages and membership is $18.

Cobau is top in Michigan

North High seniors Joseph J. Cobau (left) and Michael T. Fry were honored in Mt. Pleasant on Saturday, Feb. 21, for placing in the top 100 of the original 24,000 students who took the Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition test. Special honors went to Cobau who placed first in the state. He will receive a Burroughs Corporation Scholarship to be used at the college of his choice. Michael received an Honorable Mention Award. The competition is sponsored by the Michigan Section of the Mathematical Association of America and is designed to foster a wider interest in mathematics, to focus attention on the necessity for mathematical training in most professions and trades, and to identify and provide scholarships for capable mathematics students in the state of Michigan. Competition funds include contributions from Burroughs Corporation, Michigan Bell, the Kuhlman Corporation, and the Michigan Council of Teachers of Mathematics. John Bingham, mathematics department head, served as the high school supervisor for North High students competing in the examination.

South seminar helps students

By Al Crim South High

When SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test) and ACT (American Collegiate Test) testing time rolls around, many juniors and seniors begin feeling uneasy about them. This need not be a problem, thanks to the College Board Workshops offered at South High School.

"The seminars are two hours and we go over various types of problems and questions a student is likely to encounter on the SAT/ACT tests," said Mrs. Linda Banovetz, formerly of North High, who has been conducting seminars since September.

During the sessions, the students are given sample problems like the ones on the test, and then they discuss them. The work is primarily verbal, with emphasis on vocabulary, use of context, meanings, etc. The groups also do exercises in logical thinking and making judgements based on very difficult reading selections. The workshops are divided up into small groups of 12-15 students.

"The workshop helps students to interpret the questions and better grasp the main idea," Mrs. Banovetz said.

"It's most advantageous to take the workshop a week or two before the test. Much later than that, and you're likely to forget. I think it's important for the student to understand the format of the test, because they're different than the kind of testing the kids are used to," said Mrs. Banovetz, who is impressed with the results of the workshops.

Although she hasn't been teaching the seminars at South long, Mrs. Banovetz feels that they were worth the effort at North, and that the feedback from the students was positive.

"We pulled together some statistics at North, and the feedback from the kids was that it was helpful to learn how to take the test. We found that over a three-year period at North, the kids gained about 12 extra points on the tests," she said.

South students seem to be equally enthusiastic toward the workshop also, as close to 100 students have taken the workshop so far, and it is expected that many more will enroll because many juniors will be taking the tests this spring.

In order to participate, a student must apply, and the workshop is open only to juniors and seniors. Interested students should see their counselors or Mrs. Banovetz. The next seminar will begin March 26.

South's DECA takes honors

By Jeff Measelle South High

Members of the Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) at South High School, competed in the Michigan Association of DECA's 1981 Regional competition Feb. 14 in Livonia and came away with some impressive finishes.

The competition was a fairly complicated one. There were two major divisions: Master Employee (ME), and Master Owner (MO). Under each category such as advertising and credit and finance, there was one or both of these two divisions.

Matt Brink was South's top winner as he won the overall competition for General Merchandising at the MO level. In Credit and Finance, ME level, Mike Chergan was top eight overall. In Advertising, ME level, Penny Simon was third overall. Valerie Gianakis earned a top eight finish.

Under Apparel and Accessories, ME level, Sandra Smith came in third. At the MO level, Deborah Wade scored second. Food Services at the MO level was Chuck Kessler's specialty as he placed among the top eight.

Under Petroleum and Oil, ME level, Tom Shell took second overall. Mike Yott was top eight overall, along with Hazen Schumacher. At the ME level of Food Marketing, John Thomopoulos was second overall. Matt Slotke was also second overall but at the MO level.

The next step is the state competition in which students who placed in the top eight are qualified to compete.

Bonanza owners seek to use dormant liquor license

By Gregory Jakub
Owners of the Bonanza Restaurant at 20460 Mack are seeking approval from Grosse Pointe Woods to convert to a family-oriented restaurant that serves liquor.

In a report prepared by the Woods Detective Division, the owners say they plan to spend about $75,000 for interior and exterior renovations to open Michigan's first "Peoples" restaurant which is a franchise of the Bonanza Company that has 20 restaurants throughout the country. They also plan to spend $30,000 to acquire the Class C liquor license formerly owned by the bankrupt Gabby's Restaurant on Mack near Moross. The license transfer must be approved by the Woods Council before processed by the state's Liquor Control Commission.

If approved, the transfer would bring the number of liquor serving establishments in the Woods up to six — four with Class C (liquor) and two tavern licenses (beer and wine only). It would not violate a recent Woods ordinance that prohibits more than six licenses in the city since the Gabby's license has been held in escrow since 1979.

The license transfer question came before the Woods Council at its March 2 meeting but was tabled so the entire council could discuss the issue. The question has been a controversial one with the council which has been careful to limit the number of liquor serving businesses in the Woods. The last successful applicant — Le Cafe Francais — took the city to court last year before its tavern license application was approved.

Bonanza is owned by two attorneys, Jay Bielfield of West Bloomfield and John Maxwell of Bloomfield Hills, and businessman Norbert Murry of Clare, Mich. Collectively they are Maxwell Enterprises, Inc. and own 21 Bonanza Restaurants in Michigan.

The owners say they have no intention of operating the planned "Peoples" restaurant as a bar but might install a small "waiting bar" for patrons waiting for tables. Total liquor sales are not expected to exceed 12 percent of the gross sales at the restaurant which would be open from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. weekdays and midnight on weekends.

Drawings and floor plans are being prepared for examination by city officials.

A preliminary investigation by Grosse Pointe Woods Detective Division indicated that there is no record of criminal activities or complaints involving the Bonanza Restaurant.

Careers explored in Boston this summer

A special meeting for teenage boys and girls and their parents and friends from Southfield and surrounding communities has been scheduled for Monday, March 16, from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. at Alger House, Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road. The meeting is to acquaint the community and others with the Exploration Summer Program for Teenagers which will be held on the Wellesley College campus in suburban Boston, Mass. again this summer.

Last summer over 800 participants attended Exploration's residential and day program. Teenagers came to Exploration in 1980 from 28 states and six foreign countries including Switzerland, Italy, West Germany, Colombia, Canada and France. In addition some Greater Boston students also chose the residential option and lived in the Wellesley College dormitories with the out-of-state participants.

Exploration is entering its fifth season this coming summer. It is hoped that students from the area will take advantage of the opportunities made available at Exploration in July and August. Exploration is open to all students entering grades 9 to 12 who expect to attend a four year college.

According to Ann Singal, executive director of the non-profit program, "Exploration is neither a summer school, nor a summer camp. Some participants come to explore future career fields, or deepen interests in academic and enrichment areas. Others come to meet new people and

Trombly gets three new principals

Not one, but three administrators will take over the principal's office at Trombly Elementary School for the rest of this semester to replace Dr. Eric Follo, who left the Pointe for a position in Oak Park last month.

Superintendent William Coats announced that Robert Pierce Middle School, Fred Baker, assistant principal at Brownell, and Dr. Alfrida Frost, director of elementary curriculum, will share the job at Trombly through June on a rotation system.

Coats said the rotation plan was necessary because Follo's resignation came at an inopportune time to select a replacement.

"Posting the position to attract outside candidates would be a fruitless endeavor at this time of year and re-assigning another Grosse Pointe administrator to Trombly on a permanent basis would compromise the organizational unit from which the administrator would be transferred," Coats said in a memo to parents and staff.

Trombly PTO President Dinah Murphy said parents were reacting favorably to the plan. "Some parents are concerned about continuity and who is ultimately responsible at the school, but I think for the most part they understand this is the best that can be done right now," Mrs. Murphy said.

Wildlife Week March 15 to 21

As part of its statewide observance of National Wildlife Week, the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC) is sponsoring a program of planting trees and shrubs for wildlife.

Begun last year, the "Plant for Wildlife" program was so successful that the conservation organization decided to repeat it annually in conjunction with National Wildlife Week, which this year will be observed March 15-21.

MUCC is the Michigan affiliate of the National Wildlife Federation, which is sponsoring National Wildlife Week this year for the 44th time throughout the United States.

The "Plant for Wildlife" program utilizes a package of young trees, shrubs, and ground cover especially selected for their benefits to wildlife. Included in the package are 13 trees (six different species), 12 shrubs (four different species), and five ground cover plants (one species).

"By planting these varieties, you provide food and shelter for wildlife, aid soil conservation, establish windbreaks, and create landscape beauty," an MUCC spokesman said.

The wildlife packages are available at $14.98 each, plus $2.10 for sales tax and shipping, from MUCC, Box 30235, Lansing, Mich. 48909.

MUCC, a nonprofit organization, uses proceeds from the program for its conservation and education projects.

Park takes court action to stop group home health plans to place six current residents of the Plymouth Center for Human Development in the home on Bedford. Four of the six are Grosse Pointers, according to Frank Schuch, Plymouth administrator.

Dr. Barrer, a clinical psychologist in private practice, formerly worked for the state department of mental health.

The homeowner said in an interview last week he's "been in a 100 group homes" as a psychologist, and believes they are a far more human environment for the retarded than large state institutions. The Plymouth Center, he said, is "degrading."

"I think the (group home) will be good for the community. It will be good for the neighborhood kids to see that everyone is not like them. There has never been a reported incident of violence or aggression by a member of one of these homes against a neighbor."

DR. BARRER purchased the home on Bedford last July and listed it for sale in December with a local realtor with a $160,000 asking price.

The state department of management and budget last week approved a lease agreement between the state and Dr. Barrer, that will provide the homeowner with $2,400 rent a month, according to department spokesman Lois Hinkle. The lease runs for 10 years with two, five-year renewal options, Hinkle said. She added the monthly rent was based on an independent market appraisal.

The residents of the home are "developmentally disabled" or, in simple terms, "slow" adults. They will be supervised 24 hours a day, according to mental health officials.

Each of the home members will participate in some kind of day activity—either work in a sheltered workshop or school. Activities will be scheduled during evening hours as well. Should difficulties develop with any members of the home, psychologists, nurses and social workers are on call, according to the state.

The state department of social services began the licensing process for the Bedford home last month when it notified the city of its intention. The earliest possible date the home could complete that process is March 27.

THOMAS BAUER, another Plymouth Center administrator, said the Park's lawsuit will not stop the licensing process immediately. "The home could be licensed despite the suit, but they may succeed in stopping the residents from moving in," Bauer said.

The Plymouth Center is under federal court order to move most of its residents into group homes by 1983. The order is the result of a suit by the Michigan Association for Retarded Citizens.

A spokesman for the Grosse Pointe Association for Retarded Citizens, Bruce Maters, said his group is not opposed to the state's attempt to locate a home in Grosse Pointe. But he added, his group plans to open its own home in the future—without state funding.

"Our approach has always been to work with our community and we plan to continue that way," Maters said. (The retarded) are our problem, and we have to take care of our own—in our own community."

At the end of 1980, the nation's trade schools reported enrollment was up 20 percent. They usually thrive during high unemployment times.

DIA film series goes to Hawaii

Willis Moore, Director of The Hawaii Geographic Society, in Honolulu, will be the film lecturer Sunday, March 15, at 2:30 p.m., on The World Adventure Series stage at The Detroit Institute of Arts Auditorium.

Moore, an educator, published author, private pilot and cinematographer, has for the past eight years been responsible for dissemination of information and materials about the beautiful islands that constitute our 50th state.

Always a source of enjoyment, beauty and amazement, The Hawaiian Islands continue to be a magnet to thousands of tourists each year, and film lectures about them always draw large audiences.

Willis Moore, as director of The Hawaii Geographic Society, is in a unique position to have made a film lecture that will include many unseemly parts of the islands, and to enrich his audiences fully with the lore and background of the people.

Ken Lawrence, coordinator of the series, says there will be a 'mystery' giveaway at the show. All persons in the audience will be eligible to win the prize, which he refuses to describe at this time.

Tickets are $3.25 single, and are available at the door, or by calling 832-2730 between 9:30 a.m. and 5:15 p.m.

Cottage holds honor lunch

Cottage Hospital honored its active volunteer staff as well as its department heads who supervise and coordinate their work recently at a luncheon at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. More than 200 attended.

In a brief welcome address, administrator Ralph L. Wilgarde thanked the guests for their service to the hospital and the contribution they make to patient care in the community.

Assistant hospital controller Tom Zeoli provided musical entertainment for the luncheon and each guest received a box of candy.

The volunteer recognition luncheon was organized by volunteer services director Margaret Hutchings. "We are aware that the valuable contribution made by our volunteers is more successful because of the attitudes and cooperation of our hospital department heads. It is appropriate that they share in volunteer recognition," she said.

Vocalists win state berth

By Thomas Kitchen
 South High
 South's ensemble, The Pointe Singers and four soloists participated in the District Vocal Solo and Ensemble Festival held Saturday, Feb. 28 at Fraser High School.

The annual festival, sponsored by the Michigan School Vocal Association (MSVA), is a stepping stone for the State Vocal Solo and Ensemble competition to be held April 4 in Okemos.

The Pointe Singers—Rick Breitenbecher, Frank Charbonneau, Lisa Hales, Jenny Johnson, Bob Kitchen, Carolyn Knoblauch, Paul Martelli, Sue Moran, Kathy Prost, Tim Reinman, Paul Saylor, Laura Stanczyk, Beth and Jim Stevenson, Kris Tip-ton and Steve Tomaszycski—received a superior rating from judges.

The 16-member group had to sing two songs of contrasting nature with no pop, show or novelty tunes allowed. "El Grillo" (The Cricket) sung in Spanish was one of the songs and Eugene Butler's 20th century Madrigal, "Oh Lovely Bird" was the other.

In the solo part of the festival, three of South's soloists, Kathy Prost, Laura Stanczyk and Jim Stevenson, received a superior rating from the judges. They also earned the right to go to next month's state competition.

Sue Moran received an excellent rating.

'Cactus Flower' fun at Fries Auditorium

"Cactus Flower," the comedy that thrived as a long-blooming hit on Broadway will be the hilarious, laugh-provoking fourth show of the season for Grosse Pointe Theatre, 32 Lakeshore Road. The play is the farce by a pair of Frenchmen (Pierre Barillet and Jean Pierre Gredy) that was transplanted from the boulevards of Paris by the old master of American humor, Abe Burrows — author of such previous hits as "Guys and Dolls" and "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." Burrows grafted New York wisecracks and Manhattan jargon onto the play to make it recognizably American entertainment. As in many farces, the hilarity of "Cactus Flower" rises out of a lie that must be made good with further deceptions piled on ever more desperate deceptions creating an intricate web of mirth and laughter in which all of the characters become entangled. Kathleen Grabruck of Detroit will play Stephanie Dickerson, the thorny nurse whose eventual blossoming is likened to that of the cactus plant that she nurtures on her office desk. Clarke Scholes of Somerset Road will be seen as Dr. Julian Winston, the philandering, marriage-shy dentist whose prevarications create the hilarious events of the play. Marianne Rink of Detroit has the role of pretty Toni Simmons, the dentist's hip-hipped-on-truth Greenwich Village lady-love and Mike Trudel of Detroit plays Igor Sullivan, Toni's neighbor who rescues her from attempted suicide and gets pulled ever more into the zany plot.

Also in the cast are: Dick Vreeland of Audubon Road as Harvey Greenfield (who becomes the invented wife's invented boyfriend); Barbara Roney of St. Clair Shores (Mrs. Dixon Durant) and Jesse Villegas of Lincoln Road (Senor Sanchez) who play two of Julian's more colorful patients. Chris Diamond of River Road will be seen in the role of Boticelli's Springtime, who is Harvey's tipsy girlfriend. Dorothy Kotcher of Merriweather Road and Peter Waliko of Detroit will be kept busy as the two Mimes. Jack Petz of Mapleton Road is directing this piece of prickly fun and also designing the sets. The show is produced by Mae Gallagher of Hampton Road and John Petz of Detroit is the stage manager. Technical director is Tom Gallagher.

Others on the production staff include Theresa Curis Selvaggio of St. Clair Shores (costumes), Marie Devlin of Roslyn Road (properties), Jean Bowles of Hampton Road (set dressing), Gwenn Samuel of Moran Road (makeup), Chuck Chrisman of Harper Woods (lighting), Karen Schmanski of Nottingham Road (sound), Jan Dall 'Acqua of Beaconsfield is assistant producer and Colleen McNulty of Nottingham Road is assistant to the stage manager.

"Cactus Flower" will run for nine performances in the Fries Auditorium March 25 to 29 and April 1 to 4. Tickets for most performances are available by calling the Grosse Pointe Theatre Box Office at 881-4004. Curtain time for all performances is 8 p.m.

Actors Clarke Scholes and Kathleen Grabruck will be featured in "Cactus Flower" opening March 25 at the War Memorial. Grosse Pointe Theatre's presenta-

Students reveal musical talents

By Al Crim South High etc. "They (South students) probably entered more events this year (than other schools), and half the ones we entered received 1 ratings. The students prepared for this on their own time, not in class," said South instrumental music director Ralph Miller. The students who received scores of 1 are eligible for state competition, March 28, at Adams High School in Rochester. Winners there will receive medals.

Vacations can bring disease

Winter vacations, once the pleasure of the well-to-do, now are popular with millions of Americans who want to escape snow and ice. At the same time, the diminishing dollar is sending many of these sun-seekers to areas where the living standard lags behind resort development. This can mean increased risk of disease, unless precautions are taken, according to the American Lung Association of South-eastern Michigan (ALASEM).

Tuberculosis, for example, is much more common in developing countries than in the U.S. Because TB is transmitted through the air, there is no danger of its being spread by dishes, linens and items that are touched by a person with TB. It can, however, be transmitted through unpasteurized milk or milk products.

The main danger of infection is long-term exposure in a closed environment which has been contaminated by a person with untreated TB. Although not great, this risk does exist for those who spend several weeks in areas where TB is prevalent.

Any traveler who anticipates prolonged exposure to TB should have a TB skin test before leaving. If the test is negative, a repeat test after return will tell whether the traveler has become infected. Those who suspect they have been exposed to TB during travel should tell their doctors upon return.

Police nab B&E suspects

Off-duty Grosse Pointe Park Police Chief Henry Counce recently spotted a suspicious van in the Balfour-Jefferson area that eventually led to the occupants' arrest for attempting to burglarize a Devonshire home.

Counce said he was walking his dogs Feb. 3 about 9:30 p.m. when he observed the van suspiciously cruising the area. A preliminary license plate check indicated the van was held in Detroit for a fingerprint check.

Dets. Robert Saiford and Richard Wedding joined in surveilling the van which was observed stopping at several darkened houses, police said.

Van occupants, Donald Stewart and Jerry Brown, both of Detroit, were arrested by officers behind a Devonshire home when police heard breaking glass.

Police said Stewart and Brown have prior records for breaking and entering and armed robbery.

Search for Superintendent

Early appealing to board members. If an open session is held, the opinion is that many applicants simply would withdraw rather than risk public exposure of their job-hunting activities. If a closed session is held, four board members are virtually left out of an important step in selecting the new head of the school system.

Local board members have considered a variety of options so far, including use of a closed circuit television to broadcast interviews conducted by three board members to the four other board members.

That idea was rejected because the board's attorney Doug West "seems to feel closed circuit television would make it appear we are out to circumvent the law," according to trustee Dorothy Kennel, who is chairing the search committee.

Mrs. Kennel said the Board is still considering other options such as video taping or recording the audio portions of a three-member committee interview.

"We want to get the best people and I think some would hesitate to apply if it got back to their boards that they were applying elsewhere," she explained.

Mrs. Kennel said the Board will probably appoint the committee and decide how to handle the interviews later this month.

The Board is offering potential superintendents "liberal benefits" including a superintendent's house and a multi-year contract, according to a brochure. Dr. Coats is currently paid $30,500 a year and receives a bonus of a few thousand dollars.

Woods budget

Another emergency measure that Petersen recommended was delaying payment of $35,000 in holiday pay bonuses due to the Public Safety Department according to its union contract. Although the union agreed to the delay, Petersen said it is not needed due to the improved budget projections.

In spite of the projected $16,000 surplus, Petersen said the city still will not be able to make payments to two financially ailing social service agencies—the Grosse Pointe Volunteer Probation Department and the Family Life Education Council (FLEC).

Both groups provide counseling and social rehabilitation services to the Woods and have recently asked the Woods and other Pointes for contributions to continue operating.

District Court

Manager John Crawford released to the council this week, the current lack of parking space near the court could be improved if the city acquires the old St. Ambrose Activity Center.

THE WOODS IS less enthused about the court according to Councilman Frederick Lovelace who has suggested the Pointes look at converting the former Mike Dilber auto dealership building on Kercheval in the Farms as a centralized District Court location.

Even less enthused about the District Court effort is City of Grosse Pointe manager Thomas Kressbach who said he considered Kelly's efforts to form a District Court team as an "informal suggestion from the senator."

Kressbach said the City Council will meet next week to discuss the current court effort but he's not sure how it will be handled.

"I figured that if someone didn't want a court they wouldn't appoint anyone (to the District Court team)," Kressbach said.

Realtors say expand tax incentives

Legislation to expand tax incentives for savers so that all Americans are directly encouraged to save, was urged today by Dr. Jack Carlson, executive vice-president and chief economist of the National Association of Realtors.

In testimony before the Senate Finance Subcommittee on Savings, Pensions and Investment, Carlson said President Reagan's federal spending and tax relief program provides the basis for a response to the present inadequate level of savings and investment. However, it needs improvement to increase savings by individuals so that investment in industry and housing can be enhanced.

"First," he said, "we recommend that interest and dividend exclusions from gross income be expanded from $200 for individuals and $400 for joint returns to $500 and $1,000, respectively, effective July 1, 1981."

In future years, he recommended increasing the amount from $500/$1,000 to $1,000/$2,000.

"Second, we recommend excluding larger amounts from gross income through Individual Retirement Accounts," Carlson said. "During the next five years, the ceiling on IRA's should be raised from $1,500 to $7,500."

Carlson explained that an increase in the interest and dividend exclusion, in addition to being uniformly available to all taxpayers, particularly would benefit lower income taxpayers because the incentive would represent a larger percentage increase in their after-tax income compared with middle and upper income groups.

"Also," he continued, "the elderly would benefit more because that group receives approximately 25 percent of its income from dividend and interest."

Carlson noted that U.S. savings performance ranks the lowest of major industrial countries — only five percent of personal disposable income was saved by households in 1979 compared with 13 percent in West Germany and 20 percent in Japan.

"Without effective efforts to boost personal savings, it is unlikely that the savings rate will rise significantly above seven percent over the next five years," he said.

Heavy reliance on personal income taxes as a source of government revenue together with steadily rising effective personal income tax rates have contributed to our poor savings performance, he added.

"Any tax relief provided over the next few years, in addition to being tied to a slowdown in federal spending growth," he said, "should be devoted specifically to stimulating savings and investment. At most, 50 percent (of tax relief) should be in the form of general reductions in individual income tax rates."

Leave your problems to them

Solar energy, increasing the speed of transportation, and the effects of home computers are among the problems tackled this year by Grosse Pointe Academy's fourth through eighth grade students enrolled in a Future Problem Solving Class conducted by Mary Jo Johnson and Sheila Osann. The class, which meets Thursdays from 3:30 to 5 p.m., is part of a national program in Future Problem Solving introduced by Dr. Paul E. Torrance in 1974 in Athens, Ga., which has developed into an inter-scholastic competition in creative problem solving and future studies. Aims of the program are to encourage students to identify problems which will confront our society in the future, articulate them into solvable terms, and to develop critical thinking and creative problem solving skills. Four student teams in both Junior (grades four to six) and Intermediate (grades seven to eight) Divisions have worked through each of the three nationally selected problems and submitted results to specially trained evaluators who judged results and returned scored entries. Teams showing special proficiency, as determined by highest scores on the home computer problem submitted last week, will be selected for the Michigan Future Problem Solving Bowl to be held in Ann Arbor later this month. Here teams will compete on the problem of world hunger, and three Michigan teams will be selected to go to the National Bowl in Lincoln, Neb.

In addition to researching information in references and periodicals, preparation for various problems included a field trip to Energy Expo 1980 at Cobo Hall and a special guest lecture-demonstration on home computers by Fred Osann.

Albion choir visits North

By Lisa Pollina
North High

Under the direction of Professor Melvin Larimer, the Albion College Choir presented a concert at North High School last week.

The choir began the program by singing "A Shaker Worship Service" arranged by Salli Terri; while dancing the intricate dance of the Shakers, the Spiral. Following was an array of religious songs, such as "O Lord God" by Paul Tchesnokoff, "Song of Exultation" by John Ness Beck and "Beat, Beat Drums!" by Howard Hanson.

Women in the choir performed "I bought me a cat," by Aaron Copland after which the men sang "Humble," by Marshall Bartholomeu.

The 16-member Britton Singers ensemble followed with selections from "Porgy and Bess." This set the stage for a select group of women from the chorus to follow with "Desperado." The solo was sung by Jeanne Heller of Grosse Pointe Shores, who is in her sophomore year at Albion and an alumna of North.

Concluding the program was the entire 62 member chorus singing the Albion Alma Mater. They were joined by Alumni members of the audience with G. Bruce Feighner, principal of North, conducting.

New map guides you around the Pointe

For the first time in over a decade, The Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods have an all new street map that's accurate and easy to read. The map is the result of two years of work by a father-daughter team, John and Stacy Strongman, of Grosse Pointe Woods. When asked why he got involved, Strongman who is a local realtor, said he was tired of promoting a first class community to out-of-town buyers with a second class map.

"However, if Stacy and I had realized the amount of time and the development costs involved I'm not sure we would have done it. Fortunately we had a talented commercial artist, Ron Biacki, of St. Clair Shores, to give the map a professional look."

Other features of the map are a zip code guide, street guide by community, public and private school location and a comprehensive recreational guide of the area.

The map, published by the Pathfinder Map Company, can be purchased at Kent Drugs, The Book Shelf, Trail

Apothecary, The Green House, Buscemi's Party Store, The Grosse Pointe Memorial and the Grosse Pointe News.

For further information call Strongman at 881-0800.

REMS Point talks exercise

"Rocking Chair Rhythm Exercise" will be discussed at the next meeting of REMS (Recreation Education Multiple Sclerosis) Pointe, March 16, at St. Michael's Episcopal Church, 20475 Sunningdale.

Guest speaker is Sister Joan Liberty. New members are welcome to attend the 7:30 p.m. meeting. For further information, call 778-3264.

Center slates water color

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial is borrowing from the Birmingham-Bloomfield Art Association the talents of Marilyn Derwenskus to teach water color. The spring class will meet out of doors as soon as it is possible and will include water color landscape study.

It is scheduled for March 23 to June 8, Monday afternoons from 12:15 to 3:15 p.m. and will meet in Studio One of the art wing. The fee for the 10 week term of three hour lessons is $70.

Lent with Bach at Memorial

Beginning with the season of Lent, portions of J.S. Bach's B-minor Mass will be presented on Sunday mornings at The Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore Road. The Chancel Choir, soloists and instrumentalists will be under the direction of William De Turk, director of music, at the presentations at regular services at 9:15 and 11:15 a.m.

The instrumentation for each Sunday will vary according to the demands of the music, and will include organ, harpsichord, strings, flutes, horn, oboes, trumpets and timpani. A solo or duet will be offered as the opening music each Sunday, beginning about eight minutes before the service. A chorus will be offered each week as part of the service.

American diet changing
Americans are eating more meat and potatoes and less fresh fruit, vegetables and meat products than they did 20 years ago, according to government figures. The average citizen consumed 1,323 pounds of food in 1979, or 3.63 pounds daily, up from 3.55 pounds a day in 1960.

Prime Time

For Senior Citizens

Marian Trainor
Saturday evening, March 7, was not a day most people would have chosen to leave the warm comfort of their home and go out into the damp cold at 7:30 a.m.

But hundreds of older citizens did. Intent on preserving and extending the rights of senior citizens everywhere, they made their way to the Region I-A White House Conference on Aging at Cobo Hall. There wasn't an empty seat in the auditorium where they gathered for the opening session.

IT WAS A serious mission they had volunteered to participate in. From the findings of the various task forces would come recommendations for a delegation to the state conference in April that could be influential in determining what recommendations go to the White House Conference on Aging to be held in Washington later this year.

It was a well informed group. They had studied the issues and were prepared to listen and to discuss their needs and to suggest ways of achieving them.

The conference opened with greetings from Shelton Tappes, board chairman of the Detroit Area Agency on Aging. Tappes emphasized the conference as an opportunity to shape programs that would open new avenues of progress and protect what had been gained. He pointed out that some of the projected changes considered at the Federal level would mean a loss in benefits which had been fought so hard for.

"WE MUST FIGHT off these reactionary forces," he warned. "Unless we do, the lifeline of our existence, Social Security will be diluted. No one person can determine our needs. We should decide them and if we are to enjoy our later years, it is important to design programs that will provide for those needs. We have an ambitious and difficult program to draft today," he finished. He was followed by a representative from the Mayor's office who expressed regrets for Coleman Young's absence.

Enthusiasm, optimism, and recognition keyed Sen. Donald Riegle's address. He commended the audience for their dedication and interest in their own causes.

"This is the kind of involvement that is needed to get justice and equity," he said. "It is your task to see that money is not diverted from human priorities."

"WE ARE IN THE worst squeeze since 1930 with high-cost utilities, food costs and inflated property taxes. It is essential that you express your thoughts and feelings on issues that pertain to your welfare, particularly this year when the Older Americans' Act will be rewritten."

He reminded the audience that the time for action is now, that waiting three or four years may be too long for many. He commended those who had come under hardship and reminded them that while many were present, there were many unable to attend who were depending on them to do the work for them and see that their goals were accomplished.

As a member of the Senate Human Resources Committee, he told them he needed their input and that he would work to see that their recommendations were heard. "This country cannot walk away from the needs of its citizens," he concluded.

Following Riegle's address, Dr. Alvin D. Loving instructed the group on the delegate selection process to choose representatives to the state conference. The ballot was coded to see that delegates from every social segment would be represented.

The audience then adjourned to various task force meetings to hammer out the recommendations they considered important. THERE WERE EIGHT task forces: Economic; Security; Physical and Mental Health; Social-Well Being; Shelter; Older Americans; A Growing National Resource; Creating an Age-Integrated Society; and Research.

Among the recommendations from the Economic Task Force meeting were to keep Social Security benefits in line with cost of living and allowing recipients to work without penalty.

Alternatives to long-term institutionalization and the need for support services to keep older Americans in their homes longer were important items discussed by the Physical and Mental Health Task Force.

Transportation, crime prevention and utility subsidies were discussed by the Social Well-Being Task Force.

THE SHELTER TASK Force took on such problems as the need for government at all levels to decrease the gap between housing needs and housing availability and the older Americans' need for the opportunity to choose housing that best reflects (Continued on Page 11A)

Thieves hit area garages

Farms police have reported two cases of larceny this last week involving foodstuffs taken from freezers kept in garages. According to their reports, a freezer on Harbor Hill was broken into and all the stored foods were taken.

Another freezer on Moross Road was broken into and all commercially prepared foods were taken, leaving "home prepared" foods behind.

Knowing the high cost of groceries, Farms police urge all readers with garage freezers to lock their garage doors, keeping them closed at all times. They also advise locking the freezers, leaving the key inside the home.

Police ask residents to call when observing the removal of any packaged goods from neighbors garage freezers.

Reagan urged not to ignore housing problems

The emerging problems of housing should not be ignored by the new administration as they were in the preceding four years, John R. Wood, president of the National Association of Realtors, said in a letter to President Reagan.

The Reagan Administration recently proposed the creation of six topical councils within the cabinet — none of which specifically addresses the nation's housing problems.

"We recommend a seventh cabinet council to deal with the growing shortage of housing and affordability of adequate shelter for home owners and renters—in addition to the six councils your staff has proposed," Wood said.

Wood noted that while housing expenditures account for more than one-third of people's income and of the nation's output, at least one of the proposed cabinet councils, "food and agriculture," represents a much smaller sector of the economy.

"Housing is in distress," Wood said. "Fewer Americans can afford to purchase their first home and builders have been discouraged from constructing adequate housing," he added.

The letter also emphasized the rental housing shortage. "Rental housing is in short supply and inadequate in most major cities — and the outlook is bleak," Wood said. Rental units disproportionately provide shelter for the elderly, minorities and lower income recipients; thus, these people are being further disadvantaged by short supplies of rental housing, the letter continued.

Wood "strongly recommended" a cabinet council to consider the problems of adequate housing for all Americans with the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development as chairman.

The letter suggested that the Secretaries of Agriculture, Transportation, and Treasury serve on the housing council as well as other housing-related agencies, including the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

The National Association of Realtors represents more than 700,000 individuals involved in all phases of the real estate industry.

Mixed Fabrics Shun Dye
Today's fabrics are rarely 100 percent pure anything anymore. They are blends of various man-made and natural fibers. This has brought on dyeing problems for the manufacturers.

With the aid of Purdue University researchers, one approach — a method known as reactive dyeing — is proving successful in a two-step procedure. Testers hope to make it a one-step process eventually.

Doorways to the past: Historic haunts of Grosse Pointe

By Margie Reins Smith
"The trees in the streets are old trees used to living with people, Family trees that remember your grandfather's name."

Luella and Christine Godfrey's family tree is firmly rooted in France. They can trace it back to the 1600's. But it has branches, shoots, tendrils and boughs growing throughout the Grosse Pointe and Detroit area. The Godfrey sisters are related to many of the French families that settled here in the 1700's and 1800's—Rivard, Cadieux, Beaubien, Riopelle, Gouin.

The sisters were born in Grosse Pointe at the beginning of this century. They grew up when Grosse Pointe was growing up, and their collection of photographs, mementos and memories are fascinating additions to Grosse Pointe history.

THEY HAVE preserved a collection of photographs that were taken in Grosse Pointe during their childhood. "Our father was an amateur photographer who developed his own prints," explains Luella. "That's why we have so many photos." One print is a picture of the house of their birth.

Memories of the Godfrey sisters

Doorways to the past: Historic haunts of Grosse Pointe

It's still standing, although it has been moved. The Godfreys grandfather was the caretaker at one of the big Lakeshore estates. Their family spoke French at home. Later they moved to Oak Street (now called Muir Road). Christine says, "Muir Road was the first street in Grosse Pointe that had homes for moderate income families. Nearly all the houses on the street were alike, built from the same floor plan. They were brand new when we moved there."

Still later they moved to 168 Moran. "The Moran Road home had a barn, although we didn't have any animals except chickens," they say. "There were grapevines, a cherry orchard, and lots of French pear trees on the property. The house was torn down about 1928 when the Merriweather Road and Moran Road subdivisions were developed. We waited until the last minute to move. We were living in the front part of the house while the back part was literally being torn down."

When asked if they could identify the spot where the house stood, their reply was, "Probably. We could find the two huge black walnut trees that we used to climb. The trees are still there."

THE GODFREYS still have several pictures that were taken in front of the main doors of St. Paul's Church in 1915 and 1916. Both pictures include young Grosse Pointers whose names are familiar today—Beaupres, Trombleys, Kerbys, Allors, Poupards and Verheydens.

Christine and Luella have a precious old photograph taken on the veranda of the original Grosse Pointe Club, and another print of the students at St. Paul's School (now Grosse Pointe Academy's Montessori School building) taken in front of the south doors about 1887.

There is even a mystery photo. It is a large framed picture of their grandparents. They are grouped with the family around the front of a large house. The location of this house is the mystery. It was somewhere in Grosse Pointe. "We guess that it stood somewhere near St. Clair and Mack," says Luella.

Another family mystery concerning their great-grandfather was partially solved at the end of the last century, after 16 years. Grosse Pointe Justice of the Peace Augustus Delmas disappeared one night about 1860. He hitched his horse and wagon to a post at the corner of Jefferson and Brush Street and was never seen again. Sixteen years later, a skull was found in a sewer at that intersection. After tests and after identification of some jewelry also found in the sewer, it was determined that the skull was the remains of Justice Delmas. The mystery now is how he got there.

LUELLA AND Christine have a faded newspaper account of this discovery preserved in an old scrapbook that was begun by their grandmother, probably in the 1880's. The book is faded and fragile. The creased clippings are limp and yellowed, and most are not dated. But the book is a treasure for those interested in Grosse Pointe's growing years.

Perhaps it is the memories of the Godfrey sisters that are the most interesting. They remember a restaurant during the 1920's that was located in a pine woods behind Moran Road—about where Lothrop dead-ends today. "It was a blind pig," says Christine. "It was patronized by the wealthy, and I think there was gambling too. The police looked the other way."

They remember Cottage Hospital when it was new. It was started about 1919, after a devastating flu epidemic swept through much of the United States, and killed many Grosse Pointe residents. Christine Godfrey was one of the first children to have her tonsils removed at Cottage Hospital.

The Neighborhood Club used to be where Cottage Hospital is now and it was a popular after school hang-out for local children. Luella and Christine Godfrey remember that.

The Godfrey sisters plan to make a tape recording of their memories that will be placed on file at the main branch of the Grosse Pointe Public Library. Helen Leonard is the director of the library's Outreach program, and she currently has about 60 cassette tapes available. Most of these were made by Grosse Pointers concerning the early days of the community. Anyone interested in hearing some of these tapes should inquire at the main library. Anyone interested in making a tape should contact Mrs. Leonard at 343-2316.

If you have a favorite story or photograph relating to Grosse Pointe's early years that you'd like to share with columnist Margie Smith, write to her at the Grosse Pointe News, 99 Kercheval, Grosse Pointe Farms, 48236, or call the News office at 882-0294.

Forum looks at future of genetic engineering

Two remaining lectures in the Grosse Pointe Winter Forum will explore the ethical issues raised by genetic engineering — a fascinating technology described in a recent Time magazine as the "most powerful and awesome skill acquired by man since the splitting of the atom."

On Sunday, March 15, a panel discussion and dialogue with the audience will be hosted by Dr. Michael Morden, who teaches medical ethics at Wayne State University, Jack Gallagher, medical ethics professor at Mercy College and Donald Coleman, campus minister at University of Michigan.

The following week, March 22, speaker will be Dr. Donald W. Shriver, Jr., president of the Union Theological Seminary in New York. His topic will be "Choosing Our Future."

The forum is sponsored by Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church and funded by a grant from the Michigan Council for the Humanities. Lectures begin at 7 p.m. at the church, 17150 Maumee Avenue.

The public is invited. For information call program chairman Sam Smith, 824-2702.

Pointe's Kaminski named state GOP vice-chairman

Grosse Pointe Farms resident Gerald M. Kaminski was elected fourth vice-chairman of the State Republican Party at the state convention at Cobo Hall, Feb. 28.

Kaminski, an attorney in Detroit and Troy, said he has worked in state politics for the last eight years. This is his first chairmanship, he added.

Farms resident Gerald M. Kaminski was elected fourth vice-chairman of the state Republican Party at February's convention in Cobo Hall.

He is currently third vice-president of the Michigan Republican Heritage (Nationalities) Groups Council. The Council was formed during Gov. George Romney's administration to encourage ethnic leaders to become involved in the Republican Party, Kaminski said.

Tree Council sets seminar on Gypsy Moth

The Council currently involves 32 ethnic communities statewide and provides support to ethnic political candidates, Kaminski said.

The Grosse Pointe Shade Tree Council is making plans for an April 30th seminar on the Gypsy Moth and Dutch Elm Disease problems plaguing the Grosse Pointes. The group meets on the first Thursday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Farms Municipal Building, 90 Kerby Road. The public is invited to attend the meetings.

India now has 120 million acres of crop land under irrigation, compared with 50 million acres in the United States.

The tree council aims to educate the public about tree management, and urban forestry. For more information, call Jean Rice at 885-2097.

OUR 84th ANNIVERSARY

Prime Time for seniors

Representation of age distribution in public and private sector jobs, and the need to utilize the elderly's skills, were some of the issues discussed by the Older Americans as a Growing National Resource Task Force.

The Research Task Force emphasized the advisability of collecting data from other countries to see how they handle the problems of the elderly and a comprehensive research effort to determine the prevalence, causes, treatment and prevention of symptomatic and behavioral disorders. These are a few of the important issues presented. There were many more, all aimed at a better life now and in the future for older Americans.

THE DISCUSSIONS WERE serious and those who gave suggestions and opinions were well informed. It was a very disciplined group determined to make the most of the time allotted. Observing these older Americans at work sustained the belief that, indeed, they are an important national resource.

King essay winners named

Students from Monteith Elementary School topped honors in the elementary school division of the First Annual Martin Luther King Essay Contest sponsored last month by the Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center.

Winners in the elementary school division were Scott Smith, Monteith School, first place; Nicole Khalil, Ferry School, second place; and Stephen Clarke, Monteith School, third place.

Placing in the middle school division were Regeana Myrick, Grosse Pointe Academy, first place; Meg L. DeRonghe, St. Clare School, second place; and Karen Vitollins, Grosse Pointe Academy, third place.

The following students took honors for their schools: In the elementary division, they were Martin Saad, Defer; Nicole Khalil, Ferry; Mary Jo Garcia, Mason; Brook Thomas, Trombley; Scott Smith, Monteith; in the middle school division, winners were Regeana Myrick, Grosse Pointe Academy; Ann Hoey, Pierce; and Meg L. DeRonghe, St. Clare.

Each of the 256 students who participated in the contest received special certificates of participation. Winners received paperback books about Dr. King for their respective school libraries.

The contest was coordinated by the Educational Task Force of the Center in honor of Black History Month. Contest judges included Dean Edward Simpkins, College of Education, Wayne State University; Pro-essor Margaret Ashworth; Susan McDonald, editor, Grosse Pointe News; Roger McCaig, director of Research and Development, Grosse Pointe Public Schools; and Ed Egnatios, consultant to the Center.

BC-BS opens fraud hotline

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan has established a toll-free anti-fraud telephone hotline to encourage the reporting of health care fraud.

The number — 1-800-482-3787 — is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

BCBSM's anti-fraud department, established in July, 1980, already has more than 300 cases under investigation, according to William L. Smith who heads the department.

"Cooperation from the public so far has been outstanding. And, the toll-free number will enable still others throughout the state to contact us about fraud, or suspicions of fraud," Smith said.

Hotline calls are handled by trained analysts, and Smith emphasized that callers may remain anonymous if they wish.

These are some of the actions that BCBSM says should be reported through its hotline:

- Payments made for services not rendered.
- Billings made to more than one insurer for the same service.
- Ineligible persons using another's BCBSM I.D. card.
- Services rendered that are not medically necessary.

"Fraudulent activity can be very costly for our subscribers," Smith said. "Two recent provider convictions involved more than $300,000 in fraudulent claims."

"We have already received full restitution of $90,000 from one provider and are seeking a $230,000 restitution in the second," he said.

Both of these cases resulted from tips from subscribers that they had not received the services listed on the BCBSM summary of services statements.

"Alert health care providers, customers, and subscribers can help fight costly fraud by reporting it, since often they are the only ones who have any knowledge of it," Smith added.

Wide insurance coverage Today, nearly nine in 10 American families have some form of life insurance coverage. The average insured family with minor children has life insurance amounting to nearly $50,000.

Two-piano concert at Edsel & Eleanor Ford House

Four pairs of pianists from Tuesday Musical will perform music for two pianos at the Edsel and Eleanor Ford House on Monday, March 30.

The artists and the music they will play are: Virginia

Shover and Janet Young in music of Bach and Infante; Harriet Gerlach and Frances Wilson in music of Saint-Saens and Shostakovich; Blodwyn Stephenson and Martha Welton in music of Debussy and Rachmaninoff; and finally, Doris Eubank and Fontaine Laing in music of Saint-Saens and Lutoslawski. The artists are well known in the Detroit area and several of them have appeared before at Ford House. The artists will perform in the small, intimate Gallery of the house, with two pianos in the middle of the room and the audience seated "in the round." The two-piano concert is open to the public. Because Gallery capacity is limited to 150, reservations must be made in advance by calling 885-3300. The concert will begin at 8 p.m., and the gate house at 1100 Lakeshore will open at 7:30 p.m. The concert will be followed by a wine and cheese reception with artists in attendance. Admission is $6 per person.

Memorial fund drive is lagging

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center's 1981 Family Participation Campaign is more than half way to its $170,000 goal but daily receipts have lagged recently, according to Executive Director John Lake.

To date $92,866 has been received from 3,302 donors, compared to $100,586 from 3,286 in 1980. The large thermometer at the entrance of the center, 32 Lakeshore Road, records the campaign's progress for all who pass.

Mailed solicitations with a brochure on the center and its activities were sent to all Grosse Pointe families the end of January. Follow up letters and return envelopes were mailed the end of February.

The next effort will be personal notes sent throughout Grosse Pointe by the center's volunteer board of which George Reindel III is president and John Worcester, campaign chairman. Then, telephone calls will be made by the War Memorial's staff and the Grosse Pointe Senior Men's Club. Hopefully these efforts will achieve the drive's goal by Memorial Day, May 25.

Gifts are tax deductible.

Juvenile law discussed at Brownell PTO

Two guest speakers will address Brownell's PTO meeting March 18, at 7:30 p.m. in the gym, 285 Kerby Road.

Attorney Ronald Cherf, who teaches at Macomb Juvenile Justice Center, will talk about juvenile law and juvenile rights. Det. Pat Devine of the Grosse Pointe Woods Police Department will cover juvenile offenders, procedures used in handling the offender and alternatives.

Joyce Tolleson, ULS sportswoman

There was a sentimental gathering at the Kenwood road home of Roy Tolleson last week. Friends and family members bonded together to share stories, memories and laughter about Joyce Middleditch Tolleson, who died February 27, in Cottage Hospital.

Affectionately known as "Ditch," she was a constantly on the move go-getter who believed in giving, living and loving. According to husband Roy, and daughters Suzanne, Elizabeth and Christine, Mrs. Tolleson lived for her family, friends and community.

field hockey and lacrosse at the school," said Muriel Brock, Director of Women's Athletics at ULS.

"She attended all the games, especially when her three daughters were active on the team. She filmed all the athletic events for the last 10 years. She donated her time as well as camera equipment, tennis backboards and athletic equipment."

The school showed its respect for Mrs. Tolleson by bussing in the school body for the memorial service held at Christ Church on Monday, March 2.

More than 650 persons attended the service, with mourners filling the pews, aisles and back of the church. Many were young people who had come to show their respect.

At a ULS hockey game Saturday night, a moment of silence was also held in her honor.

Mrs. Tolleson was a graduate of Bennett Junior College and was a member of Sigma Gamma sorority. She was president of the ULS lower school Parents' Association from 1962-64, and 1976-78.

She was also president of the upper school Parents' Association for 1980-81. A scholarship in her name will be established at ULS.

Mrs. Tolleson is survived by her husband, Roy; three daughters, Suzanne Leigh, Elizabeth Otis, Christine Whitacre Tolleson and one brother.

Mrs. Tolleson and her husband Roy, celebrated their 31st wedding anniversary in January. She was 57.

She'd zoom all over town talking on that radio, even though there were only about two other persons to talk with. It didn't matter that it wasn't practical — she liked it because it was fun."

At risk with Stockman

David Stockman, the former Michigan Congressman, has been called the point man for the Reagan administration because he has proposed huge cuts in federal spending to help carry out the new administration's promise to reduce the overall role of the federal government in U.S. life.

Up to this time, Stockman has had the full support of the President in his budget-cutting program. But as specific proposals work their way through Congress and beneficiaries of the programs sound their complaints against reductions, Stockman's position will become more and more vulnerable.

THAT APPEARS to be unlikely at the moment but Stockman has to rely on his own brilliance as his chief defense. He lacks the kind of constituency that tends to form in support of most Cabinet officers, although he is backed by other believers in the new supply-side economic theories he espouses.

Let us elect an executive

Nothing unusual in the way of recommendations for the Wayne County Charter Commission came out of the First District's public hearing last week. There were expressions of concern about the effect of any meat-axe reductions in spending for county services, support for specific budget-cutting proposals and suggestions for reducing the size of the county board, which could be cut to as few as five under charter legislation.

BUT THERE WAS little discussion of the powers to be delegated to the elected executive or appointed chief administrator who would become the most powerful official under either of the two charter proposals that the commission will draft. These powers are not likely to arouse strong interest in the average citizen who is more concerned about the efficiency of government than about its specific form.

Yet it is generally agreed that this position could be the key to the success of charter reform. The Citizens Research Council of Michigan, for example, in one of its analyses of charter issues calls attention to the characteristics of an effective office in local government recommended by the National Municipal League.

Such characteristics include the power to appoint and dismiss substantially all department heads; the authority to supervise and direct most key administrative functions of the county government; the authority to prepare a comprehensive budget and to administer it when adopted, and the right to submit recommendations on a wide range of matters to the county legislative body.

IN ADDITION, other features could be added to further strengthen the top executive position. These might include the right of the official to recommend specific items of legislation to the board of commissioners and a prohibition against the board's interference in administrative matters, the citizens' league study pointed out. All of the powers cited appear to be highly useful and needed ones if a county executive or administrative officer is to be effective.

While there are advantages and disadvantages in both forms of leadership, this newspaper believes the elected county executive would be likely to have the best chance of improving Wayne County government. He would have more clout with the commissioners and other elected officials. He would be able to rally public opinion and respond to it better than an appointed official.

SOME CRITICS ARGUE that an elected county executive is less likely to be a competent professional than a chief administration officer appointed by the county board. That argument would be more meaningful if the county board had displayed greater discretion in its use of its appointive power in the past.

Overall, we think the arguments for the elected county executive are convincing but whether the voters eventually opt for an elected or appointed county leader, the change will be a major improvement over the present organization. In Wayne County today, nobody is even trying to run the store.

On the other side of the coin, Stockman's will be a name to conjure with if he succeeds in his task of curbing federal budget. He could go on to bigger and better things in the world of government and politics. For while he is young, relatively inexperienced with only two terms in Congress behind him and has spent his working career in government and academia, he could become a major factor in Republican politics if Congress buys most of the program he has drafted.

In fact, he probably could choose almost any career to which he aspires, whether in education, business, industry or politics, if Congress approves the administration's economic program and what is an even bigger question mark—the program works. That would mean inflation would be controlled by slashing federal spending and eventually balancing the budget while at the same time revenues would be increased by cutting taxes to stimulate business and boost taxable profits.

THE REAGAN administration concedes its economic program is a big gamble. For David Stockman it is a big personal gamble as well. We think most Americans hope he succeeds because their own economic well-being and that of the country as a whole are also at stake in this government venture into uncharted waters.

Letters to The Editor

Is iniquity necessary?

To the Editor:

I have been a Grosse Pointe Woods resident for the past five years. This is the first occasion that I had to deal with the Grosse Pointe Woods city hall and the experience was most unpleasant.

On Friday, Feb. 27 at 8:45 a.m., I called the City Hall asking for information with regard to my 1979 and 1980 Property Tax and State Equalized Assessment. I was referred by the operator to the Tax Division. I introduced myself and explained to the female employe that: 1) I pay my property tax through the bank; 2) the statement received from the bank did not have the State Equalized Assessment; 3) the statement I received from the bank was with my accountant and; 4) I would like a copy of my 1979 and 1980 Property Tax and State Equalized Assessment for some other personal concern.

The employe who took the call was arrogant, curt and insulting. I asked her a question and for an answer I got a retort. The reason for this unwarranted behavior, I don't know. It was only after I raised my voice and asked, "What are you so snotty about?" did the employe become rational. It took her only two minutes to give me the information I wanted.

As a taxpayer, I resented being treated like a public nuisance. I hope that the standard of efficiency and performance in this particular job situation is not based on the degree of iniquity with which one can treat a resident and a taxpayer. I am in a position where my job entails service to the public and I know that if I ever behaved in such a manner, I would have been relieved a long time ago.

South High pool an embarrassment

To the Editor:

How many times have you heard from a student, parent, friend or neighbor: "We need a new swimming pool at South High?" Many persons have said it, perhaps, for one of the following reasons:

- It's too small and not long enough.
• It was condemned by the Board of Health.

- It's an antique, over 50 years old.
• The ceiling is too low.
• We need more practice time.
• Other swim teams have boycotted the pool.
• It should be like North High School's pool.
• A pool to serve those in physical therapy.

We need a new community pool at South!

The Blue Dolphins synchronized swimmers, and the Boys and Girls Swim Teams know the problems. So do their coaches. Ask one of them.

The swim teams do not have a home pool to practice in or swim their meets. They use the pools at North High, Brownell, etc. Would you like to be a parent who must drive your son or daughter to North High to practice at 5:30 a.m.? Or to Brownell after school? Every morning? Every day and to use all that gas back and forth?

A boy from the South High swimming team was almost killed driving home from a home team meet at North when a car was driving toward him in his one way lane on Lakeshore. He should have been able to swim his home meet at South High, and this would not have happened!

Our community with its prestigious and illustrious schools should be proud of their facilities. South High School's pool is an embarrassment. The South High School district parents and neighbors voted for North High's pool and facilities. Now will come the opportunity for North High parents and neighbors to help South High to build a new pool for the community, too.

The footings are in next to the Industrial Arts Building. There are some plans already. The pool will be a community pool, a community project. The community should have a pool in which there is provision for physical therapy, too.

Will you come forth and help us organize to build a new pool at South High? Will you support us with your signature? Will you help? Perhaps you would like to contribute $5 or more towards advertising and printing costs? We would like your feedback.

There will be a meeting for all interested persons in Cleminson Hall at South on Monday, March 16, at 8 p.m.

Joan Bartoszewicz, Chairman, Citizens for a new pool at South

Know Your Schools

By Superintendent William Coats

Eighty years ago the residents of this area voted to approve the consolidation of five school districts into Rural Agricultural District No. 1. That was the beginning of the Grosse Pointe Public School System.

Following that vote, in February of 1922 the Board of Education met officially for the first time. Serving on that first Board were Trustees George Defer, John Kerby, Dr. W. C. Merdian, Charles Payne, Charles Poupard and Lewis Smart.

These facts and many others, both from the past and present, are contained in the "Statistical Annual Report" which is published every year by the superintendent's office. The report contains a wealth of information about the school district and its programs, students, employees and finances.

The following information is a sample of facts and figures contained in the most recent edition of the report:

- Of the present facilities belonging to the school system, the oldest buildings are the Administration Building and the Instructional Materials Center (old Kerby School), both built in 1906.
• The oldest school building currently occupied is Defer Elementary School (built in 1923) and the newest one is North High School (built in 1959) although South High School has had two buildings added to its complex within the last 10 years.
• Fifty-five persons have served as Trustees on the Board of Education since 1922.

The number of building permits issued reflects the growth of the community — 210 in 1930, 755 in 1940, 1,426 in 1950, 187 in 1960, 78 in 1970, and 51 last school year.

Between 1925 when 24 students graduated from high school, and last year when 1,632 students graduated, the school system has issued 30,663 high school diplomas. The highest number of graduates was 1,243 in 1973.

The number of young people working is growing as evidenced by the increasing number of working permits being issued. In 1945, 46, 383 permits (7.5 percent of total enrollment) were issued while 1978-79, 1,714 permits (16.9 percent) were issued.

A first-year teacher with a bachelor's degree earned a salary of $2,500 in 1948. Over the years the salary for that classification has gradually increased to $13,668.

The assessed valuation of school district property in 1924-25 was $86,348,089. Last school year with $674,884,560.

The general and library fund expenditures in 1924-25 were $150,243. Today the budget exceed $26,000,000.

Last year the school system's Instructional Materials Center provided nearly 1,000 educational films for use by private and parochial schools and other community organizations. In achievement tests administered last spring to students in grades 1 to 8, six of the eight grades were higher in their total math scores than 99.2 percent of public and non-public school systems in the nation.

Based on the achievement test for spelling administration last year, it is estimated that a Grosse Pointe third grader has learned 3,080 words while eighth graders have learned 4,950 words.

Participation in instructional, competitive, and recreational swim programs sponsored by the school system last year exceeded 8,000 and arrangements were also made for community organizations representing over 1,200 individuals to use the system's swimming pools.

Enrollment in adult education classes conducted last year was 4,692 with another 2,400 participants involved in activities co-sponsored with community organizations.

In 1929, 4,071 persons (18.9 percent of the population) had library cards. By 1978-79 that number had increased to 29,753 (47.2 percent of the population). The book collection has increased from 8,749 volumes to over 118,500 volumes and the average circulation per resident from 3.4 books to 8.3 books.

Copies of the report are available to interested residents at the Administration Building, 389 St. Clair Avenue.

Poets take residence at South

By Aimee Busse

The Grosse Pointe Foundation for Academic Enrichment, along with the English Department at South High School, sponsored a "Poets-in-Residence" program at South Feb. 24, 25 and 26. The program featured Barbara Drake, Jack Driscoll, Dr. Conrad Hilberry and Dr. Janet Kaufmann — four poets well known throughout Michigan.

Carolyn Carnes, a South junior, said she found the presentations exciting. It's about time South High concentrated on poetry! The two presentations I experienced were exciting. Both gave me a better insight to poets and poetry," she said.

South's English department first sponsored the poetry program in 1978, and in 1979 presented a fiction writer and novelist to students. Each poet discussed and read poetry out loud at the February forum and some even used visual aids while one sang a poem by poet X. J. Kennedy.

Both senior Carol Boynton said the poetry presentation "intrigued her." "I was impressed by the willingness of the speakers to answer our questions and help us understand their art, instead of simply lecturing and telling us what they do," Ms. Boynton said.

One View from the Capitol

By William Bryant, Jr.

I've missed a few article deadlines because so much that is going on in Lansing is so confusing it has been hard to know what to tell you.

Aside from Democratic leaders threatening to resign, we have hot issues of a property tax proposal and a proposed budget for the next fiscal year.

And, on the home front, the question of state group homes has finally emerged. Let me touch all three issues and, in coming weeks, get back to each in more depth.

The key issue facing the Legislature is putting a property tax cut proposal on a spring special election ballot. The Democratic leaders don't like the Governor's plan because it is a clear tax cut of $250 million. They are dragging their feet against our attempts to put the Governor's or a larger tax cut on a May ballot. The next week will tell the tale. If we are to use a May 19 election date, we must act by the end of next week, 60 days before the proposed vote.

The budget process, so-called, is in shambles. Even though actions on the budget to commence Oct. 1 is proceeding far ahead of normal schedule, the scene is surrealistic.

The Governor's proposed budget assumes, since it was proposed in early January, continuance of federal programs without substantial cuts.

I think the Governor tired of the three new, more restrictive, redrawn budgets he had to draft last year, tired of the idea of rewriting again and again. So, even with federal cuts facing us, he is not proposing a rewrite to account for probable federal cuts.

Democrats, wanting to try to lay blame on Republicans for allegedly damaging essential human service and environmental programs, are inclined to adopt the Governor's proposed budget as fast as possible before federal cuts become reality. They don't want to make the budget "their" budget by substantially changing it.

On the group home issue, even though I opposed the legislation which allowed state override of local zone restrictions, and even though we can and should insist on advance, in-depth discussion and planning by mental health departments and community leaders, we still have an obligation to approach this sometimes emotional issue with sensitivity, compassion and understanding of all those affected.

Foundation raises funds

The Grosse Pointe Foundation for Academic Enrichment recently donated $1,900 to four public schools for a variety of projects.

The Foundation, which works to supplement curriculum in the schools with enrichment opportunities not available through existing funding, voted Feb. 18 to donate $500 to Defer for a science trip, $300 to North High for astronomy lectures, $600 to South High for a seminar on substance abuse, and $500 to Ferry for its nature center.

The gift was formally accepted by the Board of Education at its March 12 meeting.

Pianist/musicologist Ruth Kaiser begins her course, "The Maestros: A History of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra," today, at 1 p.m. in the Lecture Room of the Grosse Pointe Public Library, Kercheval Avenue at Fisher Road — and if you know anything at all about our Ruth, you know that any course she gives is a treat to take.

This spring, Mrs. Kaiser will trace the history of the orchestra's evolution under five conductors: Gabrielowitsch, Paray, Ehrling, Ceccato and Dorati. Using their own recordings, she'll explore what each has added to the Detroit Symphony's repertoire, and how their widely varied musical tastes and cultural/ethnic backgrounds have influenced their vision for the DSO.

This afternoon's session is devoted to Maestro Dorati. It highlights compositions to be performed during the Bartok Festival, which has its gala symphonic opening this evening at Ford Auditorium.

Pathologists collaborate in breast cancer study

Nineteen Wayne County pathologists have collaborated with scientific researchers in developing tests to predict the recurrence of breast cancer.

"The successful development of these tests is the result of studies undertaken by Detroit area pathologists, physicians and scientific researchers participating in the foundation has elicited the collaboration of clinical associates at 18 Detroit area hospitals."

Michigan Cancer Foundation's Breast Cancer Prognostic Study," explains Dr. Marvin A. Rich, executive vice-president and scientific director of the MCF. "The

The prognostic study, begun in 1975, was recently expanded to include participants in the southeastern United States and Latin America.

"We owe a great deal of the study's success to our Pathological Associates," says Dr. Rich. "Using the pathological analyses from the various hospitals, scientific researchers were able to develop a set of specific tests that can be used by the hospital pathologists to very precisely predict the course of a particular patient's cancer. We plan actual clinical trials of the tests this summer."

Pathologists in the study analyze breast cancer tumors after surgical removal. They observe the size, appearance and pattern, and determine whether the tumor is malignant or benign. They grade the tumor according to an established system of tumor grading. The tumor is then transported to the Meyer L. Prentis Cancer Center, where scientists conduct extensive tests on it.

Wayne County pathologists participating in the study include Elisa Cancino-Samson, M.D., and Ned H. Keuhn, M.D., both of Grace Northwest Hospital in Detroit; John Filigian, M.D., vice-chief of Pathology at Harper-Grace Hospital in Detroit; Andrew W. Climie, M.D., chief of Pathology at the United Hospitals of Detroit; Anne Dowd, B.S., M.T.A.S.C.P., Department of Pathology at Detroit's Mount Carmel Mercy Hospital and Medical Center; and Gerald Fine, M.D., Division head, Department of Anatomic Pathology, and Min Woo Lee, M.D., associate pathologist, both at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit.

More are Marie N. Fly, M.D., associate pathologist, and Sidney D. Kobernick, M.D., Ph.D., chairman of the Department of Laboratory Medicine, Sinai Hospital of Detroit. Still others are Suresh K. Gehani, M.D., Department of Pathology, and Denis A. Luz, M.D., director of Pathology, Bon Secours Hospital; Frank Walker, M.D., Department of Pathology, Cottage Hospital of Grosse Pointe; Godfrey Dorr Stobbe, M.D., Pathology Department, Detroit Memorial Hospital; Theodore A. The Kevin Butterfields

At an evening ceremony Saturday, December 27, in Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, MARIAN ELIZABETH ISBEY, daughter of the William Field Isbeys, of Mapleton Road, became the bride of Mr. Butterfield, son of the Arthur William Butterfields, of Birmingham.

Christ Church rites for Marian Isbey

Minneapolis is home for Kevin William Butterfields following their December marriage; bride's sister is honor matron

The wedding of Marian Elizabeth Isbey and Kevin William Butterfield Saturday evening, December 27, in Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, was followed by a reception at the Detroit Boat Club, after which the newlyweds left for a short vacation in northern Michigan.

They are at home in Minneapolis, Minn., where the bridegroom, a graduate of Detroit Country Day School and Kalamazoo College, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur William Butterfield, of Birmingham, who entertained at the Rehearsal Dinner at Dearborn Inn on the eve of the marriage service, is completing studies at the University of Minnesota's Hubert Humphrey Institute, on a graduate fellowship, for a Master of Arts degree in Public Policy.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Field Isbey, of Mapleton Road, is a graduate of the Grosse Pointe Academy and Star of the Sea High School and received her Bachelor of Science degree in Biology last June from Kalamazoo College.

She spent the fall semester studying Art and English at Mercy College of Detroit and plans to pursue graduate studies at the University of Minnesota.

The Reverend William E. Tudor officiated at the 7:30 o'clock rites. James Leo Berg served as acolyte for the communion service.

The former Miss Isbey wore a princess style, long-sleeved wedding gown of ivory peau de soie, styled with a scoop-necked bodice of Alencon lace re-embroidered with seed pearls. Her cathedral length train and skirt were embroidered with medallions of matching pearl-studded lace.

Pearls trimmed her cathedral length veil, which was bordered in lace medallions and fell from a Juliet cap of lace and pearls. She carried a cascade of white Sweetheart roses, euclid lilies, baby's-breath, stephanotis and trailing ivy.

Susan Isbey Brown, who came from Durham, N.C., to act as her sister's honor matron, wore a formal length, princess style gown, teal green in color, fashioned with long sleeves and a Queen Anne collar faced in seafoam green matching the color of the cummerbund that circled her waist.

Her headpiece was a crown of baby's-breath and holly, with a euclid lily, and she carried a cascade of white Sweetheart roses, baby's-breath, euclid lilies and holly.

Bridesmaids, dressed identically, were a trio of the bride's cousins, Roxane Whelden Isbey Jr., of Asheville, N.C., and New York City, Marianne Therese Crane, of Grosse Pointe and Miami, Fla., and Caroline Brinkman Isbey, of Asheville; and Janet Lee Hieshetter, of Grand Rapids, Megan O'Shaughnessy, of Washington, D.C., and New York City, and Maria Louise Sylvester.

White satin bows tied their cascades of white Sweetheart roses, baby's-breath, euclid lilies and holly, and they wore half-circlets of matching flowers and holly in their hair.

Flower girl Sarah Dowd Crane, another cousin of the bride, wore a long, puff-sleeved dress of white pique accented at bodice and hem with re-embroidered Alencon lace and pearls. Her headpiece was a circlet of white Sweetheart roses, baby's-breath and holly. She carried a miniature version of the senior attendants' bouquets.

Brian David Butterfield was his brother's best man. In the usher corps were Robert Gibbins Brown, the bride's brother-in-law, Mark Wayne Davis, of New Haven, Conn., Thomas Charles Glenn, of Berkeley, Calif., Robert Ian Hampson, the bridegroom's cousin, Ford Douglas Isbey, of Asheville, cousin of the bride, and Robert James Morrill, of Davenport, Iowa.

William Field Isbey Jr. was ring bearer for his sister. He carried the rings on a white satin pillow covered with white Sweetheart roses and trailing ivy.

The bride's mother wore a formal length shirtwaist of periwinkle blue chiffon, styled with long, self-banded sleeves. The bridegroom's mother's gown of midnight blue chiffon and lace featured a pleated bodice and long, lace-banded sleeves. Both mothers chose euclid lily and holly corsages.

Special guests included the bride's grandmother, former Shores resident Marian Field Isbey who now divides her time between Pointe aux Barques and Asheville, and the bridegroom's grandmother, Ruhla Maise Goodwillie, of Birmingham.

The new Mrs. Butterfield is also the granddaughter of the late Dr. Edward Kenneth Isbey, a lifelong Pointe resident, and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Joseph O'Dowd, of Leslie, Mich.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Kenneth Isbey Jr., and Edward Kenneth Isbey III and Brian Foster Isbey, cousins of the bride, all of Asheville, the bridegroom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Jones, of Mexico City, Mexico, and Mr. and Mrs. Timothy G. Wiegart, of Aurora, Ill., cousins of the bridegroom.

Other out-of-town guests were Cindy Rice, of Denver, Colo., James H. Stoehr III, of Cincinnati, O., Kurt K. Carlson, of Long Grove, Ill., Kevin Allen Mack, of Jackson, Miss., Jane Lysko, of Shelbyville, N.C., and Laurie DuMouchelle, Patricia Gilleran and Scott Vance, all from Washington, D.C.

Detroit's Pewabic Pottery, products from which have decorated homes and public buildings throughout the country, is featured in an exhibit that continues through April 5 at the Detroit Historical Museum.

The Pewabic display features a variety of ceramic pieces created by the founder of Pewabic Pottery, Mary Chase Stratton, whose ceramics and tiles became famous for their unique glazes.

The combined display of furniture and ceramics is on exhibit in the museum's Kresge Hall. Museum hours are 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, 1 to 9 p.m. Wednesday and 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Everything's Going for Eileen

The curtain goes up tonight in New York City's Equity Library Theatre on a new production of Cole Porter's musical "Anything Goes," and on stage will be Grosse Pointe's Eileen McCabe, who began her professional career in a Detroit Civic Light Opera production of "Anything Goes" as an ingenue and is now portraying a character part: that of socialite Mrs. Harcourt.

Eileen, whose mother, Helen Coffman, and daughter, Maureen McCabe, are still local, made her New York bow in "Park Avenue," a musical directed by the late George S. Kaufman.

She also played on Broadway in "The Chocolate Soldier," has done extensive work in television and as a fashion commentator and most recently toured the south in a new production of "The Music Man."

"Anything Goes" will run March 12 through April 5 at the theater sponsored by Actors Equity Association, now in its 38th season, which annually presents eight productions, fall through spring, at its Riverside Drive playhouse. Its list of distinguished alumni includes Charlton Heston, Eli Wallach, Anne Jackson, Tony Randall and James Earle Jones.

Breakfast hour is 9:30 a.m. Tickets are $6.50 per person. Reservation information may be obtained by calling 774-5047 or 881-3296. The place you'll be breakfasting/Beene-ing is Jacobson's St. Clair Room.

Off-Camera with Elizabeth

Elizabeth Wright, daughter of the James T. Wrights, of Hawthorne Road, works off-camera—but she certainly does get around. As a Communications major at DePauw University she's spent the last year working under university sponsorship on three separate internships: with the BBC in Bristol, England, with both NBC and ABC affiliates in Philadelphia and, most recently, with WXYZ in Detroit on a winter term program.

The 1977 Grosse Pointe North High School graduate is back on the Greencastle, Ind., campus now, looking forward to graduation—undoubtedly with honors—this May.

"The internships," she says, "particularly the ones in Bristol and Detroit, consisted mostly of doing work for a producer. In Bristol, my primary job was to do research for a talk show featuring contemporary British politicians." The Detroit internship was the hardest to get, since DePauw's winter term lasted only four weeks and most television internships are for a minimum of 10 weeks, but Elizabeth terms it, despite the limited amount of time, her best internship experience.

She worked for the producer of a news magazine show in Detroit. "One show we did was a report on sex in advertising. In addition to the pre-show research and film editing I had to do, I had to call up representatives of the major jeans manufacturers and managers of the models to get permission to run certain things."

It was hard detail work but definitely worth it. "I even got my name in the credits at the end of the show."

Practical experience in her chosen field aside, Elizabeth is on the Dean's List at DePauw and is a member of the Phi Eta Sigma and Alpha Lambda Delta academic honorary societies. She spent DePauw's 1979 winter term working with other DePauw students in Guatemala.

Strains of ancient Japanese drums, flute and harp, and the delicate movements of kimonoed dancers will herald spring in the manner of centuries-old Japan this Sunday, March 15, at the International Institute of Metropolitan Detroit, located on East Kirby Street in Detroit's University-Cultural Center.

The 3 to 5 p.m. program is the second in the institute's current series of once-a-month Ethnic Sundays. "Our goal is to introduce the art and culture of diverse ethnic cultures to the local public on an intimate basis," explains Mary Ball, the institute's executive director. Japanese Ethnic Sunday is co-sponsored by the Japanese American Citizens League and the International Institute and chaired by Toshi Shimoura, past-president of the JACL. Advance reservations are necessary. Cost is $5 per person, including food. Reservation information may be obtained by calling the institute, 871-8600.

Mrs. Couser is the former Kimberly Ann Black, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. Dalton Black, of Edshire Lane, and Mrs. Suzanne Kelly, of Allard Avenue. Mr. Couser is the son of the Thomas W. Cousers, of Bedford Road, Detroit.

Delivering the sermon at the 6 o'clock ceremony was The Reverend James Couser, of Lincoln, Neb., brother of the bridegroom.

The bride selected a traditional wedding gown, styled with long, full, lace sleeves and a high lace collar. Her chapel length veil was fashioned of matching lace. Lilies-of-the-valley formed her bouquet.

Honor maid Lisa Wilson Mathews, bridesmaids Laura Black, of Flint, a cousin of the bride, and Carol Schafer, of Baltimore, Md., the bridegroom's sister, and junior bridesmaids Lisa and Jill McCormick, the bride's sisters, wore spaghetti-strapped, blouson-bodiced dresses of huckleberry chiffon and carried ivory fans with flowers in shades of berry and pink.

Best man was Kevin LaForest, Ushers were Thomas Couser, of Dundee, Ill., the bridegroom's brother, Earl and Jeff Black, brothers of the bride, and Jeff Brown.

Kerri Sue Kelly was her half-sister's flower girl. Ring bearer was Peter Couser, of Dundee, the bridegroom's nephew.

Mrs. Kelly chose a long-sleeved, floor length dress of pink chiffon and a corsage of pink roses and baby's-breath for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother, in floor length, sleeveless, turquoise chiffon, wore a wrist corsage of carnations and roses touched with turquoise.

Engaged

Mid-October wedding plans are being made by MARY JO RAUCH and Matthew G. McFarland whose engagement has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rauch, of South Oxford Road.

Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McFarland, of Berkley, was graduated from Saint Mary's, Royal Oak, and expects to receive his Bachelor of Science degree in Criminal Justice Law Enforcement from Lake Superior State College in May.

The David E. Cousers

Marriage vows were spoken in Saint James Lutheran Church Saturday, August 2, by KIMBERLY ANN BLACK, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. Dalton Black, of Edshire Lane, and Mrs. Suzanne Kelly, of Allard Avenue, and Mr. Couser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Couser, of Bedford Road, Detroit.

To marry

Making mid-May wedding plans are BARBARA M. LEWANDOWSKI, of Somerset Road, and Gregory D. Louisell whose engagement has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jan Lewandowski, of Flint.

The bride-elect was graduated from Powers Catholic Central High School and Bakers Business College, both in Flint. Her fiance, son of Mrs. Olive Louisell-Sadaj, of Harvard Road, Detroit, and the late Joseph W. Louisell, attended Kalamazoo College.

Miss Donahue will be wed

New Musicales Menus' date

They were snowed out in February... but it takes more than a mini-blizzard and a major ice storm to cancel Musicales Menus for ever. New date for the Tuesday Musicales of Detroit fund raiser is Saturday, March 21. Time — 8 p.m. — and place — the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House — remain the same.

So does the program, and Charity Sucek, mindful of last month's weather, promises to "cook up a storm" while discussing the similarities between creating grand Grand Opera and planning great Great Menus.

The demonstrations will conclude with the serving of champagne punch with hors d'oeuvres and desserts prepared by Mme. Sucek. There'll be live musical accompaniment during the sampling hour.

Reservations, at $17.50 per person, may be obtained by sending checks payable to Tuesday Musicales of Detroit to Mrs. John T. McMullen, Musicales Menus chairman, 8120 East Jefferson Avenue, Detroit, Mich. 48214. Mrs. McMullen may be reached at 824-7487 for further information.

Concert date at Marygrove

The fourth chamber music concert in the current "Saturdays at Four" series at Marygrove College this Saturday, March 14, will feature the Detroit String Quartet — James Waring, violin, Inez Redman, violin, David Ireland, viola, and John Thurman, cello — plus pianists Lawrence La Gore, of Three Mile Drive, and Sue Ann Vanderbeck in a program featuring Mozart's String Quartet, J.S. Bach's Concerto for two claviers in C Major and Beethoven's String Quartet, Op. 18, No. 1.

The Detroit String Quartet was formerly the resident quartet for the Laudenslager Music Series. It is now the resident quartet for the Detroit Chamber Works. Three of its members, Waring, Ireland and Thurman, also are members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Concerts on April 11 and May 2 will conclude the current "Saturdays at Four" series. Tickets for each program are priced at $5 each ($2.50 for students and senior citizens). Further information may be obtained by calling 862-8000.

Sigma Kappa Alumnae meet Tuesday evening

Fund raising is the theme for the Grosse Pointe Alumnae of Sigma Kappa's meeting next Tuesday, March 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the South Renaud Road home of Delores Littlefield. A presentation of the Shaklee product line will be followed by a discussion of future money making projects and a social hour centering on a Saint Patrick's Day celebration.

Area Sigmas who wish more details may contact Delores, 881-1042, or Maryn (Mrs. John) Horn, 884-3018, for further information.

Bricktown trek for newcomers

A pub crawl will introduce Grosse Pointe newcomers to Bricktown this Saturday, March 14. The group gathers at Jacoby's at 7:30 p.m.; there, maps and directions to Herb's Place, The Mexican Inn and Sweetwater will be issued.

Working with Jacoby's to coordinate the evening of sampling Bricktown's pleasures were Gus and Mary LeFebre and a committee including Jim and Jan Wardell, Pam and Jerry Peterson, Guido and Marilyn Sabella and Russ and Jane Yamazaki.

Couples who have recently moved from an area not touching the boundaries of Grosse Pointe are eligible for membership in the local Newcomers organization. Interested persons may contact the membership chairmen at 885-4304 or 881-9256 for further information.

Symphony's gala Bartok Festival is underway throughout Detroit

The gala symphonic opening of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's International Bartok Festival is this evening, Thursday, March 12, at 8 p.m. at Ford Auditorium where Maestro Antal Dorati will be joined by pianist Gyorgy Sandor and, in their DSO debuts, soprano Katalin Kasza, baritone Kolos Kovats and narrator Samuel Pollack for a program featuring Bartok's Third Piano Concerto and the Detroit premier of Bartok's only opera: "Bluebeard's Castle." The opera will be given a complete concert performance.

This concert will be repeated tomorrow evening, Friday, March 13, at 8:30 p.m. The festival culminates next week with concerts on Thursday and Saturday evenings, March 19 and 21, at 8:30 p.m. at Ford Auditorium. Violinist Yehudi Menuhin will be featured in performances of Bartok's Violin Concerto No. 2.

Maestro Dorati will open these concerts with the Suite from Bartok's ballet "The Miraculous Mandarin" and close them with his Concerto for Orchestra.

Festival events began Tuesday, March 10, at Wayne State University's Community Arts auditorium where an array of pianists from WSU, the University of Michigan and Michigan State University presented a complete performance of Bartok's 153 Mikrokosmos piano studies.

A series of festival chamber performances opened yesterday, March 11, with a program of music for voice, pianos and percussion featuring Judith Raskin, soprano; pianists Bela Szilagy and Fedora Horowitz, DSO principal timpani Salvatore Rabbio and DSO principal percussion Robert Pangborn.

A unique program of selections by Bartok and some of his contemporaries with a post-concert reception presented in cooperation with Pro Musica of Detroit is scheduled for Sunday, March 15, at 4 p.m. in the Detroit Institute of Art's Recital Hall.

Featured will be pianists Szilagy, Horowitz and Ilse Von Alphenheim, DSO Concertmaster Gordon Staples and the Detroit String Quartet consisting of DSO members James Waring and Inez Redman, violinists, David Ireland, violinist, and John Thurman, cellist.

Selections to be performed include Kosa's "Homage to a Bela Bartok," Zathurecyk's arrangement of Bartok's "Hungarian Folksongs," Bartok's arrangement of Zipoli's Pastorale and Marcello's Sonata in B-flat major, Serly's arrangement of pieces from Bartok's "Mikrokosmos" for String Quartet, Dorati's "Variations on a theme by Bartok" and Gertler's arrangement of Bartok's Sonata.

Bartok's Quartets will be the subject of a concert presented in collaboration with the Chamber Music Society of Detroit at 8 p.m. Monday, March 16, at Orchestra Hall. The New World String Quartet — violinists Yosef Yankelev and William Patterson, violinist Yuri Vasilaki and cellist Ross Harbaugh — will perform Bartok's First, Third and Fifth String Quartets.

The New World String Quartet returns to Orchestra Hall Wednesday, March 18, to be introduced by Antal Dorati before an 8 p.m. performance of the remainder of Bartok's String Quartets, Nos. Two, Four and Six. This concert, too, is presented in collaboration with the Chamber Music Society of Detroit.

The final festival chamber performance will also take place at Orchestra Hall, on Friday, March 20, at 8:30 p.m. Violinist Menuhin, clarinetist Benny Goodman and pianist Paul Coker are the guest artists in a program including Bartok's Sonata No. 1 for Violin and Piano, his Sonata for Solo Violin and "Contrasts" for Violin, Clarinet and Piano.

Another festival event is a Praeludium Series Concert Tuesday, March 17, at 8 p.m. at Orchestra Hall: a piano recital featuring Gyorgy Sandor, presented in collaboration with Friends for Orchestra Hall. The program includes Bartok's Romanian Dance No. 1 Op. 8a, Three Hungarian Folk Tunes, Old Hungarian Dance Songs Nos. 7 to 15, "Fifteen Hungarian Peasant Songs," Six Children's Pieces (Hungarian and Slovakian), the Dance Suite, Allegro Barbaro, No. 1 of Three Rondos Folk Tunes, No. 1 of Four Dirges and the Chase No. 5 from "Out of Doors."

In all, this fourth annual DSO mid-season music festival includes nine separate music events with 52 guest artists from both sides of the Atlantic.

In addition, musicologists from around the world are in Detroit to attend the International Bartok Congress today and tomorrow, March 12 and 13, sponsored by the DSO, Wayne State University and the University of Michigan School of Music.

Seven co-sponsoring institutions are joining with Dorati and the DSO to present various facets of Bartok's work during this centennial year of his birth.

Tickets for all festival events are available at the Ford Auditorium box office. VISA and Master Card customers may order tickets by phone by calling 962-5524.

A story of three lives lived by a lively lady who's still going strong

By Peggy O'Connor

At 78, most people are ready to settle down and take life easy—and who would blame them, after a life of work and worry? Thelma Corless Dikeman's is a different story because, at 78, she's about to embark on what she calls her "third life." Mrs. Dikeman's three lives are wound together with a common thread: her love of music. Her first life as a student and music teacher-performer, began in Coldwater in 1903. She began taking piano lessons at age 10—and teaching them at age 13.

She got her performing roots from her father. He was a violinist and she accompanied him on the piano. She was also asked to act as accompanist for the traveling shows which came to Coldwater.

Thelma Corless went on to Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore, Md., where she completed, through diligent study, a three-year course in just one year. A feat, she says, which has never been repeated.

An early achiever

"I was one of only three girls to accomplish the course in one year. We were sort of an experiment and I had to take 16 subjects that year to succeed. After us, they never let any student do that again. "I'd had the background to accomplish such a thing, I'd had wonderful training."

From Peabody, Thelma went to Battle Creek College, where she was a faculty member in the Music Department. She stayed there as a performing artist and teacher until 1930.

Thelma Corless then turned her thoughts toward teaching. "I looked for a studio in Detroit, but I couldn't find a suitable one and wouldn't teach over a store." So she taught and gave recitals in private Grosse Pointe homes.

She taught the Glancys and says one of her most memorable concerts was in the home of Mrs. L. Mendelssohn. Thelma's countless memories, including pictures of those homes as well as her students, are filed neatly in scrapbooks which chronicle her career.

Marriage to Myron

Thelma entered her "second life" at the age of 37 when she married Myron Dikeman, an inventor and patent attorney. They lived in The Park, then built their own home in The Woods, where she lived until shortly after Mr. Dikeman's death in 1966.

Mrs. Dikeman had continued her private teaching in Grosse Pointe homes throughout her marriage. "My husband was very interested in my professional career, but in no way did he want it to interfere in our home life—so I taught outside our home," Mrs. Dikeman recalls.

Perhaps the most interesting part of her "second life" are Mrs. Dikeman's world travels—all of which have come since 1966. She made an around-the-world trip in 1967, including a stop in Israel shortly after the Six Day war. In all, she's been in 30 countries.

So after two very full careers, why would she decide to begin a third life? "I think older people can make something of their lives. I think I'm an excellent example of an older person doing something with life. I'm not ashamed to be called a senior citizen. I'm a happy senior."

Mrs. Dikeman's "third life," now in its 13th year, is devoted mainly to helping others: specifically, to helping the blind.

Music Code Braille

Mrs. Dikeman joined the Grosse Pointe Braille Club in 1968. She gained proficiency in Literary Braille and after receiving certification from the Library of Congress as a Literary Brailist, searched for a way to put her knowledge of music to work for the blind.

Mrs. Dikeman received her Music Code Braille Certification from the Library of Congress in 1971. She says she is one of less than 100 people in the United States who are certified as Music Brailists by the Library of Congress. Only about 60 of those 100 are still active.

One reason there are so few Music Code Brailists may be because it is more difficult to master than is Literary Braille. In Music Code Braille, the same six dot cells and 63 characters, and sometimes even the same signs as in Literary Braille are used, but the two codes have very different and unrelated meanings.

In Music Braille, the correct note name is in the upper two-thirds of the cell and the time value is in the lower one-third of the cell.

According to Mrs. Dikeman, Music Braille takes up less room and is easier to read than print music.

In her "third life," Mrs. Dikeman has not been satisfied to settle for "just helping out." She has developed three new music teacher's books for teaching blind students. Book I is Braille Braille for Piano Beginners—First Lessons for the Young. Book II is for the 12-to-adult music student and called Braille Music Piano Course. Book III is written in two volumes.

Books are unique

The unique aspect of the books is that the Braille music instructions, notes and music are on the right page of a two-page spread; the printed instructions are the exact print counterpart of the Braille page. Even the index and preface are printed in that manner.

The books make it possible for a sighted teacher who does not know Braille to tell what the child is playing. They also make it possible for a blind child to learn music from a book. "Blind students must memorize their music since, of course, they can't sight-read. I've just tried to make memorizing easier for the blind."

"Once a blind person has memorized the music, he knows it forever."

Mrs. Dikeman says the books are the result of her own idea, which she developed as a music teacher with three blind students. It took her a year to do each book. She plans on getting started soon on Volume II of Book II, as well as developing a pop music book.

"I've got so many plans," she says. "I'm so busy, sometimes I just feel swamped. It's kind of frustrating because you wish you had more time in the day."

And that's not all!

It's no wonder she needs more time in her day. In addition to her Braille Club work, she is the historian-librarian for the Elizabeth Cass Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She's also a member of the National Braille Association, whose Toronto workshop session she attended last October. And she says she's going to rejoin the Tri-County Transcribers. She's also a member of Coldwater's Branch County Historical Society.

Her big project right now, however, is preparing for the music workshop she's been asked to give for the Michigan Association of Transcribers for the Visually Impaired at the group's two-day, state-wide workshop conference this coming September.

"Most Literary Brailists don't know anything about Music Code Braille. We hope to get them interested at that workshop."

Apparently, Mrs. Dikeman's work has interested someone. Her books have been ordered by the Library of Congress, the Indiana and Michigan State University Libraries and the Greater Detroit School for the Blind. The books' first edition printing has held out.

What makes Mrs. Dikeman most happy is the impact her work has had on other members of her group. As scarce as Music Code Brailists are, there are three more Certified Music Brailists in the Grosse Pointe Braille Club.

Quartet of specialists

Mrs. W. A. Huegli, Mrs. G. W. Myers and Mrs. Elmo Joseph are Music Code Brailists. Mrs. Joseph is retired from active Braille work, but Mrs. Huegli, Mrs. Myers and Mrs. Dikeman carry on the tradition of the Grosse Pointe Braille Club.

"We meet pretty regularly for our own workshop. We meet about once a month at each other's homes to have lunch, help each other, to work out Braille problems. Sometimes those problems are just like big puzzles, and we help each other solve them."

If it is very unusual to have four Music Code Brailists in one club, as Mrs. Dikeman says, it must also be unusual to have three separate lives, as she has had. Mrs. Dikeman says she doesn't know if it's unusual—just that she's happy about it.

"I'm very happy with my life and don't mind telling people I'm 78. After all, you're only as young as you feel!"

As young as Thelma Corless Dikeman feels at the age of 78, could there possibly be room for four lives?

Comedy time for Fine Arts

"Relatively Speaking," a satire on British middle class life by Alan Ayckbourn, Britain's Neil Simon, was presented by the Fine Arts Society of Detroit for members and their guests last Friday, March 6, and Saturday, March 7, at The Players Playhouse on East Jefferson Avenue.

The play, 75th offering of Fine Arts' third anniversary season, remains as relevant today as when it established Ayckbourn's reputation in 1967. The story concerns two couples: Greg and Ginny, young lovers planning to marry and Ginny's parents.

Appearing as Ginny and Greg were Pat Carozzo and Ed Oldani. Joanne Koch and Mike Traicoff portrayed the parents. Director and producer, respectively, were Rae Kuhn and Bonnie Denler, who doubled as set painter.

Scenic designer was Steve Shrader. Lighting was by Frank van Deventer. Sue and Ben Gravel dressed the set, Sally van Deventer handled props and the stage crew consisted of Steve Aiken and Mark Brooks.

Costumers were Marge Guertler and Mary Whitley. Make-up was by Mary Ann Shrader.

The lobby display, arranged by Fine Arts' arts and crafts committee, featured paintings by Joe Maniscalco and photography by Monica Deeter.

Fran and Charles Parcels opened their Cloverly Road home last month to Fine Arts members, who gathered there to hear the Brio Trio as a "Save Orchestra Hall" project/treat. Thanks to the efforts of Mildred Avedisian and other members of Fine Arts' music committee, and the generosity of members and guests who enjoyed the concert, the society has "adopted" five Orchestra Hall seats ($500) and has contributed an additional $200-plus to the Orchestra Hall Keyboard Fund.

Each of the five chairs bears a bronze plaque recognizing Fine Arts as its donor. The society also is listed as a donor on the Contributors' Roll of Honor in the Orchestra Hall lobby.

Polish genealogical group to hear Blouin

Blouin Jr., director of the Immigration Sources Project of the Michigan Historical Collections at the Bentley Historical Library, will address the Polish Genealogical Society of Michigan next Wednesday, March 18, at 7 p.m. in the Explorers Room of the Main Branch Detroit Public Library on Woodward Avenue. He will describe the Polish Resources at the Bentley Historical Library. The program is free and open to the public.

Motocross star joins ranks of GP sports elite

By Peggy O'Connor

The list of bonafide Grosse Pointe sports stars, already amply filled with such notables as Susan Mascarin, baseball's Bill Babcock, and skier Tracy Edwards, cannot be complete without adding the name of Bill Tocco, motocross racer.

Bill, 12, of Lochmoor Boulevard, is perhaps this area's top motocross racer. For those who didn't immediately say to themselves, "Oh yeah, motocross," don't feel too badly. Motocross is not exactly your garden variety-Sports Illustrated-type sport.

Motocross is bike racing. It's not just for kids, but the age divisions are devoted mainly to kids. The race itself is held on a dirt track. Participants race according to age and line up six or eight abreast.

The riders take off from a starting gate positioned at the top of an incline. There are small hills all over the race track which the riders must negotiate. As Bill says, "the trick is to keep on your bike, and not wipe out."

If motocross sounds like a sort of Schwinn-sized Monaco Grand Prix, it is. The riders don motorcycle type helmets and wear padded pants and shirts emblazoned with race motifs. There are five ranks in motocross and many riders graduate from those ranks and become professional motocross riders. That, Bill says, is exactly his ambition.

Right now, though, Bill is in the novice rank. The ranks are: Open, Beginners, Novice, Expert and Cruiser. The change in rank won't be too expensive, as Bill will use the same style and close to the same size bike as he gets older.

Bill, a fifth grader at Barnes Elementary, began racing when he was 10. "He only won three trophies that first year," his mother, Mrs. Anthony (Grace) Tocco says.

Things improved last year when

Bill won 19 trophies. He belongs to the American Bicycle Association and recently placed 79th out of 550 in the ABA's state competition and captured two trophies in a recent State Fair Coliseum race, so this year has been a good one for Bill as well.

Bill races in Lansing, Kalamazoo, Detroit, Woodhaven, Jackson and Waterford and competes nearly every weekend. The races, it appears, are mostly in anticipation of the day Bill can join the "Red Line" tour and travel around the country as a professional motocross rider.

"Billy's dream is to become a pro rider and race with the champs of the American Bicycle Association," Mrs. Tocco says. "The champs of the world," Bill corrects.

For now, Bill says he knows he's not quite ready for that level of competition. "I was racing in the expert class, but I knew I wasn't a true expert so I went back down to the novice class," Bill says. He needs two more first place trophies to ride in the expert class.

Mrs. Tocco says she's proud that Bill realized he wasn't ready to compete in the upper class, and proud he made the decision to step down all by himself. But, according to Mrs. Tocco, Bill has learned a lot about making his own decisions through his racing.

"Riding motocross has taught Billy how to learn to lose, to be a graceful winner and not to boast," Mrs. Tocco says.

As for Bill Tocco himself, when last seen, he was riding his practice bike out the door (yep, he keeps those valuable bikes in the house); but left one bit of advice for other aspiring motocross stars.

"It's a good sport for kids to get into. The most important thing is: don't get mad when you lose because there's always another race."

And Bill Tocco will probably be in it.

Blue Devils win district

By Tom Kiskalt
South High

Led by John DeBoer's two-game total of 38 points, the Blue Devils won their District last week by humiliating cross-town rival, North, 65-35, on Tuesday, March 3, and then ousting Bishop Gallagher, 66-44, on Friday, March 6, to advance to this week's Regional.

The Blue Devils were scheduled to play tough Highland Park at East Detroit on Wednesday, March 11, in the Regional opener, (after press time).

The Blue Devils haven't reached the Regionals since 1976 when they went 13-7 and haven't gotten past the Regionals since 1963 when they recorded their best season ever, 21-1 only to lose in the quarterfinals of the state tournament.

Although the game was expected to be a real dog fight, Highland Park had the edge going into the game. The Parkers are led by Percy Cooper, the captain of the "Detroit Free Press" All-Suburban squad and one of the top prospects in the state. The team also owned a 21-1 record and was rated number three in the state.

The Blue Devils, on the other hand, matched up well against the Parkers. They are led by first team All-Suburban player, Glenn Piche, who is averaging 14 points and seven assists per-game. They were rated ninth in the state, owned a 19-2 record, and were riding a 14 game winning streak.

The Parkers defeated the Blue Devils in the opening game of the season, 65-51, but Coach George Petrouleas said, "We were really not physically ready to play them. We had three starters coming off football season, which takes about a three-week transition period. Plus, Piche was ailing from a football injury."

In the romp over North, DeBoer scored 20 points, 14 in the first half, as the Blue Devils cruised to a 29-13 half-time lead. He made a slam dunk to make the score 14-4 and before the Norsemen knew what hit them, they found themselves down 23-14. Things didn't get any better for the Norsemen either, as the Blue Devils outscored their counterparts 20-5 in the third quarter and coasted in for the victory.

Piche contributed 12 points to the effort, while Mark Sanders led North with nine. The Norsemen ended the season with a disappointing 6-15 record.

DeBoer led a balanced scoring attack with 18 points in the victory over Gallagher. Stark Langs added 14, Piche 13 and Tom Emmerich 12. Brake Okie led the Lancers with 18.

It was no contest from the beginning, as the Blue Devils jumped out to a 10-2 lead with 5:41 left in the first quarter.

They increased that lead to 32-17 at the half, and the Lancers never came closer than nine points.

To compliment his 18 points, DeBoer pulled down 10 rebounds and dished out five assists.

Spikers win division championship

By Catherine Snyder
Star of Sea

Our Lady Star of the Sea High School's varsity volleyball team finished the regular season undefeated with 10 wins and no losses to become Division A-East champions.

The final two games of the season were against Saint Florian at Star on Feb. 9, and against Saint Clement on their court, on Feb. 12.

Star defeated Saint Florian in two games, 15-4 and 15-1. The Saint Clement match proved to be considerably more challenging for Star since Saint Clement was the only other contender for the division championship.

In the first game, Star was behind by six points, but was brought back into the game by senior Kathy Roarty's seven point service. Star went on to win the game, 15-8.

During the second game Star was ahead, 13-10, and went through six servers before finally winning the game and the match, 15-10, to become the Division Champions.

The Saint Clement game marked the end of a perfect season for Star, which won all of its matches in two games.

Under the guidance of coach Sue Snover, Star also had a fine showing in the League Player Selections.

Seniors Cathy Fox and Catherine Snyder were named to the first All Catholic team; senior Roarty made the second All-Catholic team; sophomores Colette Elie and Tracy Flincy were named to the All-League team, and senior Beth Murphy received an Honorable Mention.

Jr. Blues in final four

The Grosse Pointe Hockey Association has a deep history of championship teams at the Squirt, Peewee, Bantam and Midget levels. In what may be a first at this level, the Grosse Pointe Junior Blues Mite Travel Hockey Team has skated its way into the final four for the Adray League playoff title and the mythical State championship for these skaters aged 8 and under.

After winning their first two playoff games against Plymouth 4-2, and Livonia 6-3, the Junior Blues came up flat on the road against Fraser, losing 5-0.

Following the loss, coaches Skio Tallero and Bill Quinn pulled the team together for their successful climb into the semifinals.

First came an exhibition road trip against a strong Port Huron team in which the Junior Blues completely dominated the action, scoring four first period goals en route to a 5-1 victory.

The Junior Blues outshot Port Huron 24-9. Scoring were Danny Burau, assisted by Danny Paolucci; Danny Carter, assisted by Bradley Russell; Russell scoring an unassisted power-play goal; Jimmy Osiwala, assisted by Paolucci. Carter capped the scoring with an unassisted short-handed goal.

The team next entertained Dearborn and Junior Blues goalie Billy Aurand recorded his third shutout of the year in a 5-0 playoff victory in which Grosse Pointe again dominated the action, outshooting the visitors 10-5.

Paolucci opened the scoring in the first period, assisted by Ross Kogel and Bobby Beltz. Shortly thereafter Carter made it 2-0 on a nice pass from Russell.

In the second period, Osiwala notched a short-handed goal, assisted by Paolucci. In the third period Matt Carey scored twice, the first on an assist to Carter and the second with assists to Beltz and Carter.

The fourth playoff victory was recorded at Garden City. Grosse Pointe rebounded from a slow start and an opening Garden City goal to record a 5-1 victory, outshooting the host team 22-6.

In the first period, Carter tied the score on a beautiful shot after working his way through the entire Garden City team.

Later in the period, Paolucci scored on a play from Osiwala to put the Grosse Pointers ahead to stay.

The victory was capped by three second period goals, the first by Carter from Carey and Paolucci. Beltz scored from Carter and Carey, and the final goal by Burau was assisted by Paolucci and Osiwala.

As a tune up for their upcoming semi-final contest against Wayne, (Trenton plays Fraser in the other semi-final with the winners advancing to the title game at the University of Michigan-Dearborn Arena on March 21); the Junior Blues scheduled two games against Woodhaven.

In the home match, the Junior Blues fattened their season scoring totals in routing Woodhaven 11-2.

GPCR hosts Midget finals

The Grosse Pointe Community Rink will host the 1981 Midget "B" state finals which begin tonight, March 12, at 7 p.m. and continue until 8 p.m. on Sunday, March 15.

The participating teams are composed of young men aged 15 and 16. Of special interest to local residents will be the participation of the Detroit Wolverines and the Grosse Pointe Islanders (sponsored by Apollo Precision Grinding and Boring, Inc.). Both teams play in the tough, 12-team Metro East League of the Grosse Pointe Hockey Association.

Going into the tournament, the Islanders have a 35-5-2 record. They have scored 180 goals (4.3 per game average) and have limited their opponents to 56 goals (1.3 per game average).

The Islanders, who finished first in their league, include players Jim Aley, Chris

Norsemen bow out of playoffs

By Tim Saunders
North High

The Grosse Pointe North varsity basketball team bowed out of the 1981 high school class "A" district playoffs last week as quietly as it backed in. The Norsemen were up against first place Grosse Pointe South of the Eastern Michigan League and in their last game of the 1980-81 season, were soundly defeated by the Blue Devils, 65-35.

The game marked the second year in a row that the two Grosse Pointe teams faced each other in the district playoffs and in both the result has been the same.

The Norsemen were hoping to even their earlier loss to the Blue Devils on Dec. 23 but found themselves playing a much stronger team than they remembered.

The Blue Devils jumped out to an early lead and simply added to it as the game progressed. North's poor shooting hurt them in the early going. A 15 point margin after the first quarter gave South plenty of breathing room.

A strong zone defense kept the Blue Devils off the board for the first minute and a half of the second quarter, but South's patience prevailed and by the time the second period was three minutes old South had a 23-4 lead.

By the end of the first half, the game's outcome was hardly in doubt, as South already had all the points it needed. In an attempt to keep some respectability, the Norsemen desperately tried to save face with a strong second half, but the Blue Devils showed no sign of weakening. South outscored the Norsemen, 20-5, in the third quarter and added 29 points more in the fourth compared to North's 22.

John DeBoer finished with 20 points and Glenn Piche added 12 more for the Blue Devils while Chris Neal was the only Norseman in double figures, with ten.

The game ended a very discouraging season for the Norsemen who were 6-15 overall; and also brought to an end the careers of seven players.

Playing in their last game were Rob Zeiger, Mark Sanders, Dave Simon, Dave Mark, Dan McEnroe, Ken Spaeth and Bruce Stewart.

Neighborhood Club works to make sports fun for kids

By Peggy O'Connor

If he has his way, Greg Brynaert's ideal of the way sports should be will become a reality—at least for the kids who participate in athletic programs at the Neighborhood Club.

Brynaert is program director at the Neighborhood Club. His duties include overseeing male, adult and new sports at the Club. Brynaert sees his role, as well as the Club's role in the community as something a bit more.

"We're a professional organization . . . we care about people. We're the largest program of our type in the community and because of that, we feel we are leaders in the community," Brynaert says.

The people Brynaert particularly cares about are little—they are kids. He says kids and sports naturally go together, but very often, that combination doesn't produce a happy experience for the kids.

"According to the Parks and Recreation Association, 75 percent of kids who play little league (baseball) do not go on to play baseball (in upper leagues). Something has to be wrong."

Brynaert feels that youth sports programs often become too involved, too complicated, to allow the kids to have fun. Unthinking parents and coaches, or pressure of competition can sometimes combine to make the sports experience a forgettable one for the participant.

"Kids' sports experiences should be rounded to allow for a broader background," Brynaert says. "Many sports and recreation organizations are geared for the 'good player'—we gear for everybody because our goal is to be fair to the kids. We care about the kids."

To that end, Brynaert says the Neighborhood Club has adopted the "Bill of Rights of Youth Sports" written by the Youth Sports Institute of Michigan State University. The Bill of Rights traces all aspects of youth sports and how they coincide with the development of children.

An example of the direction the Bill is working toward in youth sports might be found in the first amendment, which declares that it is the right of all to participate in sports regardless of ability." The Neighborhood Club, as it has for each of the 10 points in the Bill of Rights, lists two amendments under that first point.

"We insist that kids should have the right to have fun, and to improve sport skills and learn new ones," Brynaert says.

The rest of the "Bill of Rights of Youth Sports" include the right to participate at a level commensurate with each child's development level; the right to play as a child, not as an adult; the right of children to share in the leadership and decision making of their sport participation; and the right to participate in safe and healthy environments.

More are the right to proper preparation for participation in sports; the right to an equal opportunity to strive for success; the right to be treated with dignity by all involved; the right to have qualified adult leadership and the right to have fun through sports.

Each kid who signs up for a Neighborhood Club athletic program is given a copy of the bill. But as Brynaert says, the bill is for parents and coaches as well.

"Adults and parents try to make sports more than they are . . . and that ruins it." According to Brynaert, the Bill is just one way the Club is trying to make sports fun for kids again.

"We try for 100 percent participation. We're professional recreators and we want kids to have fun here. If they want to go ahead in sports, fine, but we have found that kids will seek their own level of competition when they're ready."

In practical application of the Bill, each youth participating in Neighborhood Club sports must play one-half of each game. Fighting is not tolerated at any age level of sports at the Club and even yelling at the officials is dealt with harshly.

"We don't tolerate yelling at officials, even in the men's league. If it occurs, we give them a two-game suspension. It's hard for the men to get used to that rule since most of them have been exposed to that type of behavior all their lives."

"As for the kids, many times they've seen a parent or adult yell at an official, so how could they know better? I won't kick a kid out of the program, I'm a believer in a second or third chance. If I have to give suspensions, I will, but I'll talk to the kid to find out the problem."

"We can't stop these instincts . . . what's important is how we handle it," Brynaert adds.

The real insight into how well the Neighborhood Club accommodates youth sports participants might be found in the Club's registration and scheduling procedures. When kids register for a Club sport, they are allowed to put down names of two friends. When the teams are filled, the Club tries to place kids on teams which play near their homes or with their friends, (classmates), or kids near their age.

The Club also allows a two-week refund if the kid doesn't like the program, or if the schedule doesn't work out for him or the games aren't close to home.

Although scheduling for the convenience of the participant means extra work for the Club, Brynaert feels that type of attitude is a definite asset to the Club.

"We go out of our way like this because we want people to participate. We've gotten a lot of good response. We're starting to promote what we believe in; striving to create the best programs possible."

All this is possible because of the nature of the Club. "We are not volunteers, we're trained professionals, so we can control the programs much better," says Jan Hooper, the Club's program and development director.

The Athletic program at the Neighborhood Club is not without its problems. For example, the Grosse Pointe middle schools instituted a basketball program for boys and girls this year and the program had a drastic effect on the Neighborhood Club's youth basketball program.

"Last year, we had 16 seventh and eighth grade basketball teams. This year we have five. What concerns me is: the middle school teams field a total of 60 kids. Last year, there were 160 kids playing basketball. Where are the other 90-100 kids playing basketball this year?"

I took a bunch of Neighborhood Club flyers to the schools and told them to hand them out to the kids who got out from the middle school teams. Things will even out, I think, and the kids will come back."

Brynaert gives a lot of credit to the school system and the cities for whatever successes the Club's sports programs enjoy. "Every game is played on city fields or in the school gyms. That speaks well for the community."

Brynaert also has praise for the volunteers and those who donated and collected donations for three years to fund the Club's building on Waterloo Avenue. Those donations and volunteers, Brynaert says, help the Neighborhood Club reach an estimated 6,000 area seniors and keep programs going for the approximately 20,000 yearly participants.

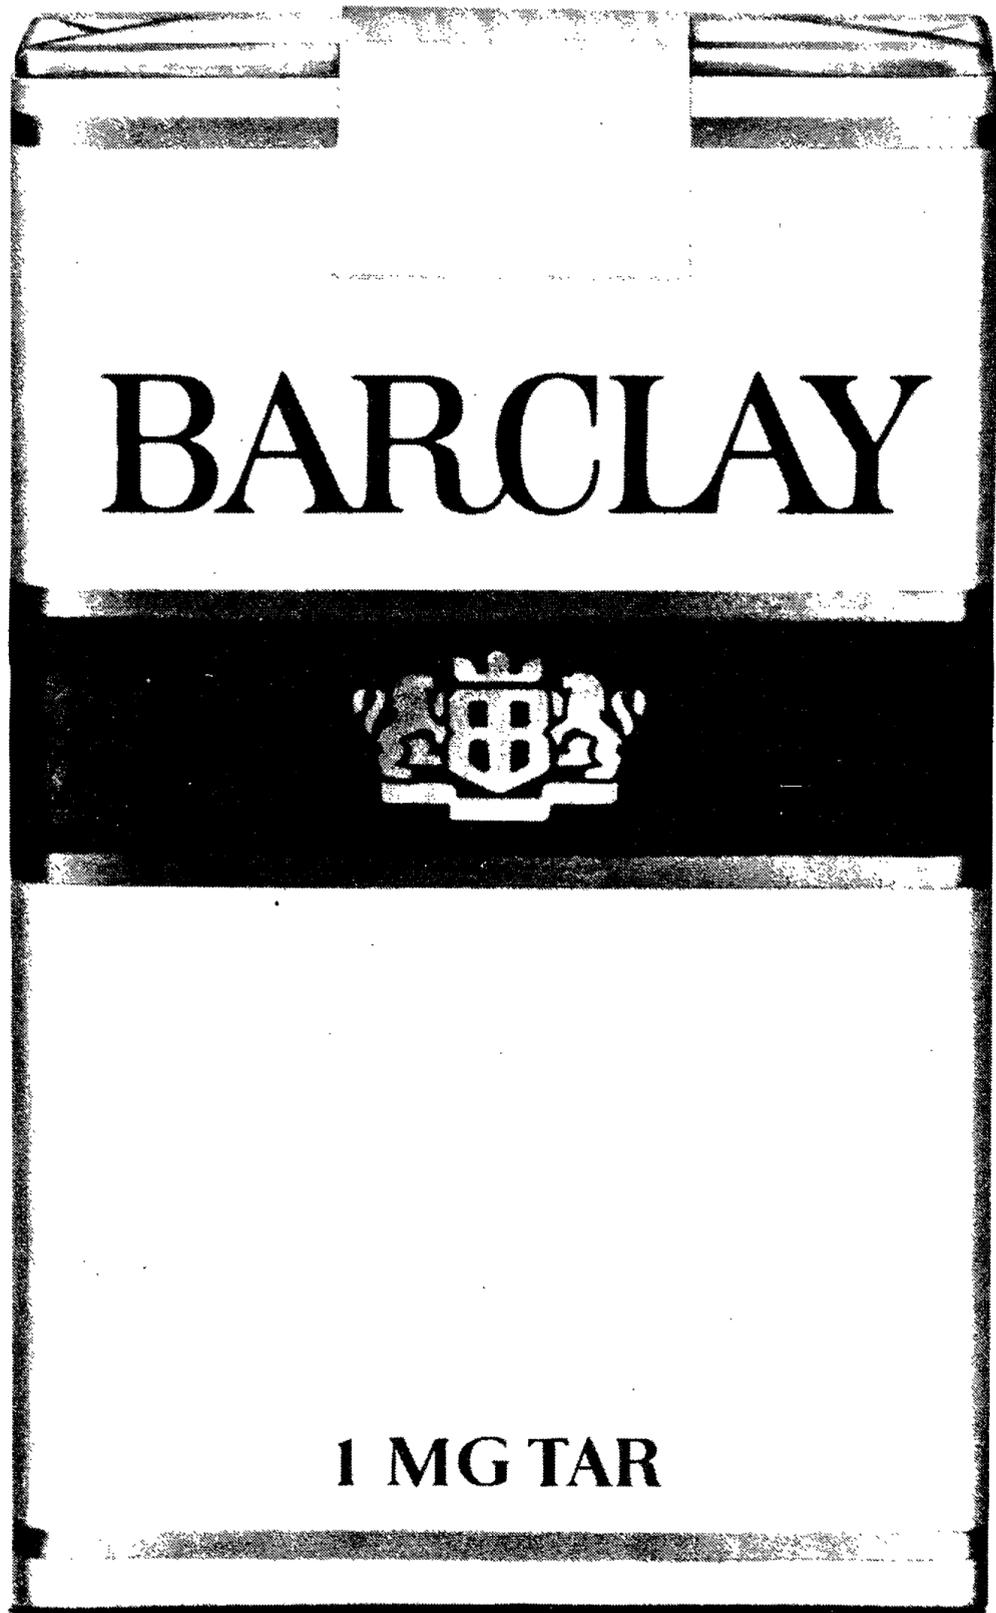

"We believe in our program and we want to sell it to as many people as we can," he adds.

Selling the programs is an expensive proposition and the cost is passed, you guessed it, to the buyer. But the Neighborhood Club is a non-profit organization and the fees charged, although they may be high, go directly to pay for the cost of the activities, Brynaert says.

The "pay as you play" fees are high, but Brynaert says he's trying to give the buyer the most for his money. He spends a lot of time improving the sports programs. "I'll go to clinics, conferences—anything to find out how to make sports something for kids to enjoy."

If Brynaert's efforts succeed, the Neighborhood Club may be just the place for kids and sports to get reacquainted.

The pleasure is back.

Bruins ready for state competition

In final preparation for the Bantam "A" state finals which begin this week in Plymouth, the Grosse Pointe Bruins defeated Taylor twice before suffering a loss to the Adray Nationals last week.

Victories over Taylor by 4-3 and 3-2 scores qualified the Bruins for the Adray League semi-finals. The Bruins then lost to the Nationals, an All Star Michigan National team.

The Taylor competition was a home and home, total goal series. At Taylor, the Bruins fell behind 2-0 before staging a comeback to tie the game at 2-2. Defense-man Bob Nelson triggered the rally with his patented blue line shot and Mike Brykalski produced the tie with a power play goal on a pass from Chris Luongo.

After Taylor regained the lead, 3-2, the Bruins scored two third period goals for the 4-3 victory. Captain Dan Follis tied the game on another power play goal. John Russell drew an assist on the play. That goal set the stage for Luongo's winner from Rankin Barker and Russell.

Rick Lass preserved the victory with his steady goaltending.

Back at Grosse Pointe, the Bruins prevailed, 3-2, keyed by three second period goals. Falling behind, 1-0, the Bruins' skating ability produced a 3-1 lead on goals by Greg Henchel, Nelson and Russell. Follis and John Hirschfield set up Henchel's goal.

Nelson scored on his strong slap shot and Bob Rogers' sharp goalmouth pass set up the Russell goal. Goalie Don McGlone protected the lead to gain the 3-2 Bruin victory. Grosse Pointe will next face Farmington in a two game, total goal series in the semi-finals.

Grosse Pointe Blues top Avon, end year

In what has been an up-and-down year for the Grosse Pointe Squirrel AA travel hockey team, the final playoff game against Adray League rival Avon was a definite plus.

Avon came into the Grosse Pointe Community Rink as the top-ranked Squirrel AA team in the state, needing a win to stay alive for the playoff title. The Blues, under the leadership of head coach Harry Jewett and assistants Jim Lightbody and Rick Ford, were in the role of spoiler.

Avon jumped out to a lead scoring early in a first period which featured close checking hockey and a strong performance by the Blues' defensive trio of Billy Jewett, Michael Henry and John Tamblin, who limited Avon to only three shots. However, the Blues only managed one shot of their own.

The play opened up in the second period with the Blues, led by captain Billy Huntington and his linemates Tim Jerome and Marc Warezak, testing the Avon goalie 10 times.

Blues' goalie Ilya Snyder made seven saves before Avon went up 2-0 by poking in a rebound with less than two minutes to play in the period. Less than 50 seconds later, the Blues' line of Dino Vento and his wings Link Bessert and Hunter Jewett narrowed the gap on a score by Bessert with the assist going to Vento. The period ended with Avon leading 2-1.

During the first two periods the referees whistled four Grosse Pointe players into the penalty box. In addition to the Blues' defensive trio, forwards Andy Lightbody, David Rabbideau

SH swimmers go to states

By Mark Clark and Jeff Measelle
 South High

Looking for its best finish in the Class A State Championships since 1968, the Blue Devil tankers are gearing up for this weekend's State meet which is being held at the University of Michigan.

The outlook was further improved after last week's Eastern Michigan League championships, where five new Devils qualified for state competition, and the team walked away with the meet for the 11th year in a row.

In the 200-yard medley relay, the team of Jeff Colton, Don Hiles, Mark Clark, and Jeff Measelle enter the meet seeded third. In the 400-yard freestyle relay, the team of Tom Bartosh, Larry MacDonald, Colton, and Measelle is seeded third.

In the individual competition, South will have eight swimmers in individual events. MacDonald will swim the 200-yard individual medley and the 500-yard free-

State title quest ends for Marlies

Despite a convincing 5-2 win over Redford in the state hockey playoffs on March 7, the Grosse Pointe Mariboros were ousted from the "final four" in state competition last week.

The state finals in Pee Wee AA placed the nine district champions into two, four team eliminations. Unfortunately, Grosse Pointe drew the number one and two ranked teams in the state, Lansing and Fraser. Lansing went on to capture the state title, besting Fraser in the finals on March 8.

Grosse Pointe might have reached the finals except for a 4-2 loss to Fraser in first round play on March 5. Fraser went out to a 3-0 lead before the Marlies came roaring back. Jerry Rogers started the Marlboro comeback midway through the final period when he jammed home a puck after set-ups from Jamie Parker and Brian Nettie.

Several minutes later, Kevin Tisdale drilled a 15-foot wrist shot just inside the post to bring the Marlies to within one. Joe Sullivan started the play at center ice when he fed left wing Andrew Roy, who set Tisdale up behind the defense.

The next five minutes was all Grosse Pointe as the Marlies buzzed around the

NH gymnasts reach 9-4 mark

By Tim Saunders
 North High

One of the most successful teams at Grosse Pointe North this winter has been the girls' varsity gymnastics team.

By winning their last six meets, the girls finished with a 9-4 record, then placed second at the league meet on Saturday, March 7 in the clash between seven area gymnastic teams.

The squad, headed by second year coach Patti Kansier, is easily the youngest team in their league with five freshmen and three sophomores. However, their age has not held them back. They compiled an overall score of 83.75 on Saturday, bettered only by Lakeshore's 84.8.

Karen McCarthy placed first in floor, second in bars, tied for third on the beam and placed third in the vault, finishing second all-around. Alisa Jaques also tied for third on the beam.

Prior to their great league showing, the team defeated Lakeview, Farmington Harrison, Ferndale, Fraser, Romeo and Grosse Pointe South.

Star donkey game a winner

By Katie Kellett
 Star of Sea

On Feb. 17, in the Star of the Sea High School gymnasium, the senior boys from De La Salle High School and the senior girls from Star of the Sea High battled it out to the end in an exciting game of Donkey basketball.

One might expect the boys to win an easy victory.

The game ended in a hard-fought tie. The Star team topped De La Salle in the first half, 8-4, and the opponents won the second half with an identical score.

Besides bringing laughter to the spectators, the donkeys also brought several bruises to the players.

Dock Lines

By Pat Jeffrey

Think spring! Did you know effective Jan. 1, 1981, boats using coastal waters or the Great Lakes are required, by law, to carry approved distress signals?

Every boat 16 feet and over is required to carry approved day and night visual distress signals. Boats under 16 feet are required to carry approved night signals, between sunset and sunrise.

The Grosse Pointe Woods Boat Club supply officer Joe Dillon will have the Coast Guard approved Marine signal kits available at the club's next meeting on March 25, in city hall council chambers. The kits are available at a reduced price for members.

The Sailing Singles will be working in conjunction with the American Youth Hostals to present the film Silver Sails on Friday, March 20, at 8:30 p.m. in the Ford Auditorium. This film is open to the public. Call 545-0511 for ticket information.

The Grosse Pointe Power Squadron initiated approximately 40 new members on March 10 at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club. King Neptune and his court highlighted the ceremony.

The Doll-Fins (Power Squadron Women's Auxiliary) have invited their husbands to the Windsor Raceway on Saturday, March 4, for an evening of dinner and races.

One race will be dedicated to the Doll-Fins and president Muriel Erickson will be invited to the winners circle.

The Grosse Pointe Farms Boat Club will host a St. Patrick's Day party on March 14 at the Grosse Pointe Boat House. The party will be organized by Jerry and Doty Crowley, of Ridgmont Avenue.

The evening will begin with cocktails at 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 7:30 p.m. Following dinner will be entertainment with an Irish theme. Reservations for members and their guests may be made by calling Liz Holmes at 881-7716.

Any individuals or boat club representatives who would like to submit news or information appropriate to this column are welcome to call Pat Jeffrey at 886-5734.

Church sets Lenten services

John Duerr, Vicar at Christ the King Lutheran Church in Grosse Pointe Woods, 20338 Mack, will present a series of sermons on the topic "Where You There" during the Wednesday night lenten services held at the church. Each sermon spotlights biblical characters who were witnesses of Christ's passion and death.

Recent sermons in the series have focused on Mark and Judas. Other Biblical personalities the Vicar will speak on include Peter, Pilate, The Two Thieves, and Nicodemus.

A handcrafted banner made by parishoner Betty Comfort will aid the Vicar in dramatizing his points. Each week a new symbol will be placed on the banner representing one of the witnesses of Christ's death. The community is invited to attend the lenten services which begin at 7:30 p.m.

South spikers improve

By Rick Richner
South High
Tying the best season record in their history, South's girl junior varsity volleyball team compiled a 7-1 Eastern Michigan League record and a 3-2 overall record.

Despite South's impressive record, it was only good enough for a tie for first place with Mount Clemens. "It was an improvement over last season's 13-3 overall and 11-3 league record," commented team coach Dan Griesbaum.

"There has been a lot of improvement from last season and from the start of this season." The girls' progress may pay off for them next year. South's varsity squad is losing six of its players to graduation. Ann McCafferty, Helen Conlan, Liz Maher, Ingrid Kessel, Laura O'Shea and Anne Rosasco.

"That was one of the goals this season: to determine what girls will be ready to play on varsity in the future," said Griesbaum. The outlook for the JV squad looks bright, according to Griesbaum. There were 11 freshmen on the team, and most will be back on JV next year.
