County nixes Sun. booze

There will be no package liquor sales on Sunday in Wayne County, at least not legally and not according to the present County Board of Commissioners.
 The prospect was again considered and rejected, this time unanimously, by the Board's General Government Committee following a public hearing on the idea on March 25. Not one private citizen appeared to testify at the hearing which was called when the committee first considered the issue on Feb. 5.
 Consideration of the idea came after the State Liquor Control Act was amended by the Legislature in January to allow package liquor sales on Sunday after noon. Implementation of the amendment requires separate approval of county legislative bodies across the state.
 Speaking against Sunday sales, committee member Ar-als for its city on the ballot and a group called Citizens for a Community Pool may also request a bond issue on the June 8 ballot to finance a pool at South High, according to Trustee Joan Hanpeter.

 The Board has until April 27 to decide whether either proposition will be placed before voters June 8.
 The request for a Grosse Pointe Park millage proposal came Monday from City Manager John Crawford who noted in a letter to the board that June 8 is the "last opportunity for the city to consider a local ballot proposal before the start of the new fiscal year." The Park council earlier considered putting a half-mill

Candidate for the board, Dr. Buechler, of Saddle Lane, is the father of three boys and has been in regular attendance at board meetings for two years. He said that the system's sharply declining enrollment (down more than a third in the last decade) will probably be the most difficult issue in the next few years in Grosse Pointe.
 "Something has to be done about the number of schools in the system," Buechler said. "It will be a very hot issue, but someone is going to have to bite the bullet. We probably have too many buildings in operation right now."
 Buechler, 46, has a Ph.D. from Wayne State University in curriculum development and has worked in education for 22 years.

 golden brown, they're allowed to drain momentarily on paper towels.
 The standard accompaniment is macaroni and cheese baked in a deep Pyrex bowl. After boiling elbow macaroni, the pasta has alternate layers of noodles, stewed tomatoes and cheddar cheese.
 Rounding out the Friday feast is usually a fresh salad, tartar sauce and fresh bread. Dessert is from whom-ever can get his wife to bake a cake. All the cooking is done on an old, six burner stove with a griddle, broiler and separate oven. Like the rest of the firehouse, the stove is spotless.
 "Another good thing about volunteering to cook is you don't have to clean up or do the dishes," smiled MacIntosh. "That's why I always like to leave a big mess."

If they need a judge, I can guarantee at least one reporter who always "just happens" to drop by to check out the fire reports about lunch time.
 A favorite among the Park firemen is chicken baked with mushroom sauce. "We cut up two fryers and put them in a roasting pan," said Smith. "Then sprinkle them with a package of dry onion soup mix. Then add a can of golden mushroom soup and a can of whole milk."
 "Cover the pan, and whip the whole thing into the oven at 375 degrees for about two hours. Then serve it over wide noodles."
 While an all-Pointe firehouse cook off has never been held, it would probably be a popular idea with quite a few people. Like the city officials and police officers driven crazy by smells wafting from the fire station.

"I was not surprised by the lack of attendance at the hearing," Citkowski pointed out. "Since the hearing was called over a month ago, I know of only one telephone call expressing any interest. Apparently the idea is a dead issue, and I don't see it coming up again."
 When the hearing was proposed by Commissioner R. William Joyner, from Plymouth, he said, "Whether it passes or fails, I think people ought to have the opportunity to express their views. There are public opinions and degrees of interest that we simply don't know about, and these kinds of concerns can be addressed by a public hearing."
 In addition to Carter, Citkowski and Joyner, members of the committee include Jarrette Simmons and Maxine Young from Detroit, and Thomas Presnell from Westland.

Face federal charges

Two indicted by grand jury

By Tad Goodwin

Two residents of Grosse Pointe Park were indicted late last month by a Federal Grand Jury for illicit trafficking of Dilaudid, brand name of Hydromorphone-Hydrochloride, a narcotic pain killer.

The indictments were the result of a nine-month investigation by Federal Drug Administration agents and local police from seven east-side communities including Grosse Pointe Park.

Mark A. Monaco and Denise Masella, both of 15014 Mack Avenue, were arrested in the early morning of March 26 by Federal Drug Administration agents and Grosse Pointe Park police in their apartment located above the Union Street bar on Mack near Alter Road.

Monaco is being held on a $100,000 cash surety bond. Masella is being held on a $50,000 cash surety bond. They were arraigned in front of Federal Magistrate Barbara Hackett. Monaco is being held at the Milan Federal Prison. No trial date has been set yet, according to David Griem, assistant U.S. Attorney.

Griem said both Monaco and Masella have previous, drug-related convictions and are wanted by Windsor police. Monaco also is wanted by Ohio police, Griem said.

Jim Stelina, a bartender at Union Street, said Monaco was often seen using the public telephone located in the bar.

"We knew they were up to something," Stelma said. "But we weren't sure what it was."

Early in the morning of March 26, plainclothed police blocked off the driveway and alley behind the building. Policemen then went up to the second floor and brought Monaco and Masella down, the bartender said. He also mentioned that Masella had a small child.

Grosse Pointe Park Police Chief Henry Coonce said Dilaudid is a relatively inexpensive prescription drug that sells for up to $50 each on the street.

Arrests were made in this apartment above Union Street bar on Mack Avenue after a Federal Grand Jury handed down indictments for two Park residents.

Cooking with wine adds an elegance and special flavor to meals. When used as a marinade, wine acts as a tenderizer at the same time that it adds flavor to the dish. The fruit acids of wine soften tough food fibers. If a flavory wine marinade is strained, it can also be used as the basis of a sauce or gravy. Or, you can simply add wine to the pan juices of meat or fowl. Let the mixture cook down to reduce a bit and you will have another delightful sauce.

For the elegance and special flavor that only wine can add, stop in at PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE, 17255 Mack, Corner of St. Clair, Detroit. You will find a selection of wines that will please the palate of all. As an addition to any recipe or as an extra to an evening's entertainment, you will find the distinctive and memorable wines you seek at PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE. Open 10-10 Mon.-Thurs., 10-11 Fri. & Sat., noon-6 Sun. Tel. 885-0626.

WINE WISDOM:
Generally, white wine sauces are best for fish and fowl.

Smoke damages Woods store

A fire that caused extensive smoke damage to the Cheese and Wine Basket at 21016 Mack on Friday, March 21, started in some faulty electrical connections behind a pop cooler, according to Grosse Pointe Woods Public Safety Lieutenant Peter Thomas.

Fire fighters received the alarm about 8:15 a.m. Friday and had the fire under control by 8:25 a.m. Flame damage was confined to the cooler and the wall behind it, Thomas said.

A resident in an adjacent building was evacuated but no one was injured.

A cooking adventure with Suczek

Charity Suczek, Grosse Pointe's well-known cooking teacher, will present four demonstrations for the public schools' department of continuing education this spring.

The first, slated for 1:30 p.m. on Monday, April 27, is based on Mrs. Suczek's winter teaching assignment in South Africa and is entitled "Diary of a South African Adventure: Recipes, Comments, Demonstration."

"I thought I was in the Garden of Eden," Mrs. Suczek said when she returned from her sixth trip to South Africa. Mrs. Suczek conducted cooking classes in Johannesburg and spent 10 days on the 27,000-acre Buffalo Fountain Farm.

"We cooked outdoors every night, using marvelously different spices and marinades."

Second of the series is a demonstration of spring, seasonal foods. Demonstrations and recipes presented at 7 p.m. on Monday, May 4, will help students plan nutritious and healthful menus that make the most of local bounty rather than settling for half-ripe produce brought from other parts of the country.

The third demonstration, scheduled for 1:30 p.m. on Monday, May 11, covers recipes from Tidewater, Va. This demonstration of the cuisine of Williamsburg will focus on such colonial favorites as Brunswick Stew and Spoon Bread.

The fourth and final offering in the series covers low-calorie salads for spring, on May 18.

Mrs. Suczek advises, "For a balanced diet use green leafy vegetables at least once a day. Some people believe that a left of lettuce under a canned peach will take care of their salad needs. They are wrong. The vegetables used, whether lettuce leaves or other green vegetables, should be absolutely crisp, fresh and of healthy appearance. These contain such nutrients as calcium, phosphorus, iron, sodium, potassium, thiamine, riboflavin, niacin and vitamins A and C in different amounts."

Fee for each of the demonstration classes is $6.

Anne Baxter hosts debut

ARTS comes to Grosse Pointe Cable April 12

The lives of Ernest Hemingway, Natalia Makarova, Marcel Marceau, musical performances by John Lewis, Jean-Pierre Rampal, Placido Domingo, the New York City Ballet, and the art of Van Gogh, Edgar Degas, Jean Renoir and Gustav Klimt, are among the initial programs to be offered by ARTS, the Alpha Repertory Television Service in April.

The cable television service, which will debut in Grosse Pointe on Sunday, April 12 at 9 p.m. is a joint creative effort of the Warner Amex Satellite Entertainment Company and ABC Video Enterprises.

Designed to meet the specialized programming needs of viewers keenly interested in the fine arts, ARTS' three hours of nightly programming will begin each night at 9 p.m. following the conclusion of Nickelodeon's programming day.

Each week of ARTS' programming has a general theme and a weekly host. Anne Baxter will host the debut week, "Paris: The Dream and the Reality." Beginning Monday, April 20, Pierre Salinger serves as host for a week-long tour of Vienna. The month concludes with "Paris: An Artist's Heaven" hosted by Olivia De Havilland, starting April 27. All of the hosts' on-camera narration is photographed on location.

Among the highlights of the debut week "Paris: The Dream and the Reality" (week beginning Sunday, April 12); "Grace Under Pressure" (Wednesday, April 15) — Author Anthony Burgess ("A Clockwork Orange") is the narrator of this critical reassessment of the work of Ernest Hemingway. Using rare newsreel footage, film clips from the screen versions of "A Farewell to Arms," "The Sun Also Rises," "To Have and Have Not," and the rarely seen "Spanish Earth" (a documentary on the Spanish Civil War which Hemingway narrated), Burgess illustrates how Hemingway brought the novel into the 20th century. The program also explores Hemingway's private life with visits to his hometown of Oak Park, Illinois, the Kansas City Star where Hemingway had his first important job as a reporter. Paris, Key West, and his last home in Ketchum, Idaho.

"The Magic World of Marcel Marceau" (Wednesday, April 15) — the art of Marcel Marceau in both pantomime and paint is the subject of this hour-long documentary. In addition to performances by Bip, Marceau's Chaplinesque Everyman, Marceau discusses and demonstrates his skills as a painter. Other highlights include a tour of Marceau's recently established International School of Mimeodrama in Paris, and excerpts from his version of Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" in which he portrays all the characters, and his mimeodrama "The Overcoat" based on the short story by Nikolai Gogol.

Musical events offered during "Paris: The Dream and the Reality" will include "La Sylphide," danced by members of the Paris Opera ballet troupe (Sunday, April 12); "L'Hotel" — Chopin variations on a theme by Rossini played by flutist Michel Debost, (April 12); Mozart's "Andante," interpreted by flutist Jean-Pierre Rampal (April 12); operas "Andrea Chenier" starring Franco Corelli (Monday, April 13) and Puccini's "Manon Lescault" with tenor Placido Domingo (Saturday, April 18); ballet performed on the estate of artist and sculptor Alexander Calder (Wednesday, April 15); and organist Pierre Cocheru performs the works of Couperin (April 15) and Bach (Saturday, April 18) at Notre Dame Cathedral.

Art to be featured during the week of "Paris: The Dream and the Reality" includes an award-winning study of Gustav Klimt and his contributions to the Art Nouveau school of art and design (Sunday, April 12); profiles of the lives and art of impressionist painters Cezanne (April 12) and Manet (Wednesday, April 15); and brief appreciations of Courbet's "Huntsmen's Picnic" with Edwin Mullins (April 12) and Magritte's "The Empire of Lights" with George Kelly (Saturday, April 18).

Highlighting the week in Vienna with Pierre Salinger: "The Brothers Grimm"

(Wednesday, April 22) — A profile of Jacob and Wilhelm Grimm and how they compiled the most famous and beloved collection of fairy tales in the world. Scenes from "Cinderella," "Sleeping Beauty," "Little Red Riding Hood," "The Frog King" and others are dramatized, often in their surprising original versions.

"Missa Solemnis in D Major Op. 23 (Saturday, April 25) — A performance of the Beethoven mass which the composer considered his "biggest work," and held in the Basilica of St. Peter's in Rome in the presence of Pope Paul VI. Master film and opera director Franco Zeffirelli directed the production featuring Placido Domingo (tenor), Ingrid Bjouer (soprano), Christa Ludwig (mezzo-soprano), Kurt Moll (bass) and Angelo Stefanato (violin soloist).

A wide variety of Beethoven's works will be presented during the Vienna week including the Fifth Symphony (Monday, April 20) and Symphony No. 3 — "Eroica" (Wednesday, April 22), performed by the French National Orchestra conducted by Lorin Maazel; the String Quartet No. 3 Op. 18 played by the Parrenin Quartet; and the Trio in G Major For Flute, Bassoon and Piano with Michel Debost, Andre Sennedat (bassoon) and Christian Ivaldi (piano) (April 22).

"Call Me Flicks," a lively portrait of the American mezzo-soprano Frederica Von Sade will also be featured (April 20), along with the International Flute Class of Michel Debost playing Mozart's "Magic Flute" (April 20), and Strauss' "Alpine Symphony" performed by the Vienna Philharmonic conducted by Andre Previn (Saturday, April 25).

The art of Vienna will be viewed in brief studies of Brueghel's "Huntsmen in the Snow" with David Piper (April 20) and Macke's "The Tat Shop" with John Jacob (Wednesday, April 22).

"Paris: An Artist's Heaven" hosted by Olivia De Havilland will offer "The Unquiet Spirit — The Life and Art of Edgar Degas" (Monday, April 27) — The brilliant art and tragic life of Edgar Degas is contrasted in this documentary study of the artist. Through the use of Degas' paintings and on-location photography at many of the sites where Degas painted his subjects, the program illustrates his transition from an imitative history painter to an original chronicler of the modern world in which he lived.

"Assoluta — A Film Portrait of the Dancer Natalia Makarova" (Wednesday, April 29) — One of the world's greatest ballerinas in a revealing examination of the constant demands put on a dancer's mind and body. Makarova is seen in performance in her greatest roles including "Giselle" and "Swan Lake," in rehearsal striving for perfection and in interviews in which she reveals nights that were less than perfect. Appearing with Makarova are Mikhail Baryshnikov, Anthony Dowell, Ivan Nagy and choreographer Glen Tetley. British dance authority Clement Crisp is narrator.

Musical highlights of

"Paris: An Artist's Heaven" include pianist Arturo Beneditto-Michelangeli performing Debussy's piano preludes (Monday, April 27); "The Jazz Lesson" with pianist and composer John Lewis (Wednesday, April 29); the Bernede Quartet performing Debussy's String Quartet (April 29). Climaxing the final week in Paris will be a full-scale production of the Verdi opera "La Traviata" (Saturday, May 2).

The visual arts will be showcased in brief profiles of the lives and works of Renoir (Monday, April 27) and Toulouse-Lautrec (April 29) and an appreciation of Van Gogh's "Cafe Terrace at Night" by modern British painter David Hockney (April 29).

"Bonnard's Car" (Saturday, May 2) is a cinematic version of the artist Pierre Bonnard's illustrated journal of the first motor car trip across Europe at the turn of the century.

Actress Anne Baxter will host "Paris: The Dream and the Reality," during ARTS' debut on Cable TV.

Fourth year for Tre Ore

An ecumenical Tre Ore Service will be held on Good Friday, April 17 from noon to 3 p.m. at St. Clare of Montefalco Church, Mack and Outer Drive, Grosse Pointe Park. The general public is invited.

The three-hour service will be divided into seven equal segments. Each of the segments will focus on one of the Seven Last Words of Christ on the cross. Musical interludes will separate the segments and allow time for worshippers to enter and leave.

This year's Tre Ore Service will involve ministers and musicians from 10 area churches representing seven denominations.

These include: Ebenezer Baptist Church, First Christian Reformed Church, Grosse Pointe Baptist Church, and Grosse Pointe Congregational and American Baptist Church.

More are Grosse Pointe Memorial Presbyterian Church, Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church, Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, Redeemer United Methodist Church, St.

Clare of Montefalco Roman Catholic Church and St. Michael's Episcopal Church.

Also participating in the service will be representatives of Bon Secours Hospital and the Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center For Racial Justice.

This is the fourth year that area churches have joined together for this service in observance of the passion and death of Jesus.

Contributions made by participants at the service will be sent to Focus: Hope.

War Memorial fund builds

The War Memorial's 1981 family participation campaign is still short of the $170,000 figure needed to balance the budget for the fiscal year beginning Aug. 1. To date $131,033 has been received from 4,143 donors compared to $129,784 from 4,368 givers last year at this time.

While receipts are therefore $1,240 ahead of 1980, the number of donors is 222 behind. John Worcester, campaign chairman, emphasizes the importance of as broad a base of contributors as possible. "The Center offers something for everyone; it needs something from everyone," he said. "No gift is too small. All are greatly appreciated and needed to keep this unique living War Memorial as an active and cultural and community center."

A second follow up letter will be mailed the end of this week to all Pointers not yet heard from. This will be followed by telephone calls from a committee on the Senior Men's Club and other volunteers and the Center's staff. Hopefully the goal will be reached by Memorial Day. Gifts are tax deductible.

Commissioners say Keep the 27-member county commission

At least 14 Wayne County Commissioners are responding as a group giving consensus answers to a questionnaire from the Legislative Committee of the County Charter Commission soliciting views on county reorganization.

The questionnaire, sent individually to all 27 county commissioners, asks for 13 responses in areas ranging from the number of commissioners that should serve on the Board of Commissioners to the hours they should work and power and duties they should possess.

Responses indicate that the present membership of 27 commissioners should be retained, that meeting requirements, pay, office restrictions, and the filling of vacancies on the Board should be maintained under existing procedures.

The 14 commissioners also indicated that the powers and duties of the Board ought to include appropriation, legislation and policy-making, as well as advice and consent on all appointments of department heads and dismissals by the Chief Administrative Officer, and "any other powers granted in present legislation."

Answering a question on how the Charter Commission can draft a charter to avoid fiscal problems, the response was that the Board of Commissioners have final authority on appropriations. County Commissioners should also serve a "term" of office, compared to "full time or part time" asked in the questionnaire, the reply states.

Explaining the need for keeping a 27 member Board of Commissioners, the reply compared the commissioners' districts of 100,000 population with the 80,000 population of State Representative districts. Commissioners said a large Board with smaller districts allows more and quicker access to the citizens and enables them to demand more responsibility from their elected representative.

According to the reply, a 27 member Board of Commissioners is too large for any person or small number of persons to control for benefit of a few. As stated on the questionnaire, it would help reduce the possibility of the county manager of executive "pork-barrelling the coffers of a few (in a small body) to control the majority."

Those jointly signing the questionnaire are Delores Bennett, Clarence R. Young, Jackie L. Currie, Norbert Wisniewski, Maxine Young, Clemens E. Bykowski, Paul G. Citkowski, Loreta Young, Arthur Blackwell, Samuel A. Turner, Rose Mary C. Robinson, Edward K. Michalski, Arthur M. Carter and Jarette Simmons.

Hail, Hail, the gang's all here!

The air was warm, the sky sunny and Ellsworth Park was jammed with children out to shake off those winter blues. Just think of all that cold weather energy that's been pent up these last few months! Whether it's scaling new heights with a few friends, wearing out the giant slide or taking a satisfying bite out of a wood chip when mom's not looking, it was obvious that good time was being had by all.

Grosse Pointe patroller heads to Washington, D.C.

Grosse Pointe student Karl Pomeroy, is among 50 school safety patrollers chosen statewide to tour the nation's capital and march in the annual National School Safety Patrol Parade during the 41st annual Automobile Club of Michigan safety patrol trip April 29 through May 2.

Karl, 12, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Christensen, of University Place, and a student at Maire School, will be Auto Club's guest on the all-expense-paid, four-day trip to Washington.

Karl and his companions on the trip were chosen as the state's top patrollers for the 1980-81 school year. They represent 65,000 Michigan youngsters who each spend nearly 300 hours annually protecting classmates at crosswalks and on buses.

Michigan patrollers have toured Washington the last five years. On previous trips, they visited Hershey and Gettysburg, Pa., Toronto and the Canadian National Safety Patrol Rally in Ottawa.

This spring's trip begins Wednesday, April 29, when youngsters from outside Metropolitan Detroit arrive in Dearborn for health checks and overnight lodging at the Ramada Inn in Allen Park.

They will be joined by Detroit-area youths for the flight to Washington on Thursday, April 30.

Upon arrival at Washington's National Airport, patrollers will travel by bus to historic Mt. Vernon, the Virginia estate and burial place of George Washington, for lunch and a tour.

A stop at capital sites, including the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, will be followed by dinner, a trip to the White House via the capital subway system, and an overnight stay in Alexandria, Va. After breakfast Friday, patrollers will take a drive-by tour of the Pentagon and Embassy Row, and then will travel to the Smithsonian Institution's National Air and Space Museum for lunch and a tour. Afternoon stops will include a tour of the U.S. Capitol and the Jefferson Memorial. Students then will return to Alexandria for dinner and lodging.

On Saturday morning, they will join nearly 5,000 patrollers from several states to march down Constitution Avenue past local dignitaries in the 49th annual National School Safety Patrol Parade. A tour of the Washington Monument follows.

Patrollers will board a jet for Detroit Metropolitan Airport that afternoon.

P.O. looks to nine digits
 After the U.S. Postal Service's expanded code of nine digits is in effect (it begins in 1991), overall budget costs could be cut by $500 million a year, says Assistant Postmaster General Michael Coughlin. There would eventually be 25,000 to 30,000 fewer craft workers. Coughlin said the current five-digit zip had helped boost postal service productivity by more than 23 percent in the last 10 years.

Hadad & Hadad & Co., whose business is property maintenance and glass replacement, won't have to look too far for its next job. The company's burned-out van, however, will probably need more than a new windshield and windows. Grosse Pointe Park Fire Department officials said an electrical short in the van's engine caused it to catch fire last week in an alley near Beaconsfield and Mack. Nearby resident Dick Arnold said he heard a sudden explosion about 5 a.m. and ran outside scantily dressed and discovered the van on fire. With the help of some neighbors, Arnold doused the flames with buckets of water from a garden hose. Resident Joyce Kelso called the fire department which finished extinguishing the flames.

One-night stands, anyone?

The spring roster of offerings of Grosse Pointe schools' department of continuing education includes 30 single-session classes for the term which began the week of March 30. Twenty-three are brand new offerings.

"Single-session classes have been added to our program to meet the needs of residents who do not have the time or interest to enroll in a four, six or eight-week class, yet who have an interest in variety of topics," said Dr. George T. Eddington, supervisor of continuing education.

Although most single-session classes are scheduled in the evening, some are held in the morning and afternoon.

"Consumer Awareness: Microwave Ovens" will be held on Saturday, April 11. Three one-night stands are scheduled the week of April 13: "How to Make the Most of Your Time" and "Perennials and Annuals" on Monday, April 13; and "Understanding Hypnosis" on Tuesday, April 14.

The week of April 27, when the schools reconvene after spring vacation, eight single-session classes will be held. Four are scheduled for Monday, April 27—"Motivating Yourself and Others," "Organize Your Scrapbooks and Photo Albums," "Prepare Your Garden for Summer" and "Charity Sucek's Diary Entries of a South African Adventure: Recipes, Comments and Demonstrations." Four short classes will be held on Tuesday, April 28—"Blood Pressure and Vital Signs," "Smoking Hypnosis Clinic," "Alcoholism: Intervention and Treatment Option" and "Garage Sales for Fun and Profit."

A dance class, "Roll Out the Polka," will be held on Thursday, April 30.

Eight one-night stands will be held the week of May 4. They are "Bulbs, Roots, and Tubers" and "Charity Sucek Presents Seasonal Foods: Spring" on Monday, May 4.

Christ Church offers Bach's unique 'Passion'

Christ Church, at 61 Grosse Pointe Boulevard, will be the setting for a performance of The St. John Passion by Johann Sebastian Bach on Good Friday, April 17, at 8 p.m.

Bach produced the St. John Passion on Good Friday in 1723 at St. Thomas Church in Leipzig. It contains all the elements of a medieval Passion drama: the narrator, who in his recitatives relates the story and connects and explains the dialogue of the protagonists; the characters in the drama, represented by recitatives for individuals and choral pieces for groups; and the congregation of believers, voicing their thoughts in arias, chorales, and choral prologues and epilogues.

The St. John Passion, being an oratorio which is closely related to the opera, is a drama set to music, depicting the events surrounding the crucifixion of Jesus Christ. The leading soloists portraying the characters are: Evangelist (narrator), Paul Herrema; Jesus, Mark Von Drak; Pilate, Daniel Beggs; Maiden in the crowd, Penny Steyer; Mary, the mother, Barbara Windham; Tenor soloist, Jerry Minster.

The chorus and orchestra act as the crowds, jeering, mocking and accusing Christ as the traitor.

One can definitely see Bach the theologian at work in the vivid musical portrayal of the events in Passion Week. The St. John Passion indeed shows Bach's philosophy, "music's highest purpose is to be the service of religion."

In this work, Bach used the unique practice of having German hymns (chorales) sung by the audience after each scene is performed. This is Bach's ingenious concept of having the audience react to the drama while it is being performed. The chorales will be sung by the audience joining the chorus and orchestra at the Christ Church performance.

The Christ Church Choral, a volunteer choir of mixed voices, has performed with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra many times. They do two or three major annual performances at Christ Church.

Tickets for this performance are available at $5, reserved seating, and $3, general admission, and may be reserved by calling the Christ Church office at 885-4841.

Break-in nets crook $8,000

Farms police this week are investigating a breaking and entering on Ridgemoor Road in which the thieves made off with over $8,000 in property.

The victim told police the robbery took place Tuesday night, March 31, between 9 p.m. and midnight. The homeowner said he came home to find the front door open, after he had left it locked earlier in the evening.

A police search of the home revealed that entry had been made via a basement window at the rear of the home. Items taken included an octagon blue Tiffany lamp valued at $475, a tear drop paneled brown Tiffany lamp valued at $395 and an octagon burgundy and red Tiffany lamp at $475.

Other items include two AAL commercial speakers at $2,500 a pair, one Teac reel to reel tape deck A-6010 at $750, one Technicks turntable with Shure cartridge — $450, one Teac cassette deck, $295, one Kenwood receiver TK 140x—$400, a Royce 40 channel CB—$300, an Olympus OM 10 camera—$300, a Polaroid SX70 camera—$130 and a nine-year old Martin 12 string guitar with case—$2,000.

Jewelry taken included a lady's 18 Karat gold, free form ring valued at $170 and a half-karat, diamond pendant, round cut appraised at $850 on a 14 karat gold "S" chain with a 14 karat gold Star of David.

Immediately after the robbery, police canvassed the neighborhood for witnesses to the crime, but all the neighbors reported seeing "nothing unusual."

Maple syrup — it's sweet sign of spring in Michigan

The first sure signs that spring has arrived in Michigan are the Maple Syrup Festivals at Vermontville and Shepherd, April 24 to 26. Fresh maple syrup flows freely at the traditional pancake suppers, and there are jugs and bottles and cans of the sweet nectar to take back home.

The beauty and fragrance of spring comes to full bloom with "Blossomtime," Michigan's oldest festival, April 26 to May 2 at Benton Harbor/St. Joseph. The week's festivities are inaugurated with the Blessing of the Blossoms, April 26, at Eau Claire and climax with the Grand Floral Parade, May 2, at 1 p.m.

In Holland, Mich., spring's arrival brings "Tulip Time," May 13 to 16 when visitors are extended a warm Dutch welcome and a variety of "Dutch Treats," including the choreography of the Klompen Dancers.

Mushroom mania attracts hundreds of dedicated foragers to Michigan's woods in May to search for the elusive Morel mushroom. You can join in the hunt at any one — or all — of five mushroom festivals this spring at Harrison, May 9; the National Mushroom Festival, May 9 to 10, Boyne City; Mesick, May 10 to 16 and Lewiston May 16.

May is also the month of Michigan Week, May 16 to 23, with celebrations taking place in communities throughout the state. Michigan of the past figures prominently in this year's special events, with historic home tours planned in Ionia and Tecumseh, May 16 to 17; in Romeo on May 17. Greenfield Village's Country Fair of Yesteryear, May 14 to 17 in Dearborn recalls rural American fairs with special activities, crafts, musical entertainment and displays.

The Early Michigan Festival, May 17, at the Ella Sharp Museum, Jackson, features more than 25 historic craft demonstrations, musical entertainment in the courtyard, foods from the country store and tours of the historic buildings in the Museum complex. Other enjoyable jaunts in the Jackson area (home of the Republican party) include, the Michigan Space Center, "Indy-style" and stock car racing at the Michigan International Speedway and the spectacular Jackson Cascades (Memorial Day through Labor Day).

For the full spring and summer menu, write for your free copy of the Michigan Calendar of Travel Events, packed with see and do suggestions for the months of April through September, available from the Travel Bureau, Michigan Dept. of Commerce, P.O. Box 30226, Lansing, Mich. 48909.

fic accidents in 1980, where facts are known, were not wearing safety belts," Auto Club Executive Vice President John J. Avignone said in a letter to some 600 police department heads and newspaper editors.

"Almost half of those killed last year would be alive today had they been wearing belts," he wrote.

Avignone appealed to police officials to report instances where persons who escaped serious injury or death by wearing safety belts to the local news media as testimonials to convince motorists to buckle up.

"There is a box on current Michigan auto accident report forms for noting whether or not belts were worn, but this information is not well publicized," he said. "We feel that if it is, more Michiganders will wear their belts."

Avignone also asked the news media to report whether belts were worn, and if they weren't, whether wearing them would have helped prevent injury.

Avignone said that Auto Club will publicly recognize every police agency which cooperates in this venture at the end of 1981 and that the Club's Michigan Living magazine would periodically report all cases which come to its attention.

The Auto Club official also said that persons escaping serious injury or death by wearing a belt, which is verified by law enforcement records, will receive a certificate of membership in the American Seat Belt Council's "Saved By the Belt Club."

Robbery suspects face circuit court

A Grosse Pointe Park record store owner testified last week that minutes after two men came into his store March 25 and announced a hold-up, one of the gunmen shot his accomplice in the attempt.

The dead man was later identified by police as Charles Coates, 24, brother of the other gunman. Sam J. Thomas, owner of I Am Hot Wax Record Store on Mack near Lakepointe, identified the second gunman as 25-year-old Michael Coates of Detroit in Grosse Pointe Park Municipal Court last Thursday.

Coates, and alleged accomplices in the robbery, Hal Fortune and Edgar Johnson III, were in court for their preliminary exam on armed robbery charges and using a firearm in a felony. Coates has also been charged with first degree murder in the death of his brother.

Fortune, 20, and Johnson, 22, were bound over for trial in Wayne County Circuit Court under a $25,000 bond. Coates is being held in the Wayne County Jail without bond. They face a pretrial exam April 16 in circuit court.

Thomas said about 2:10 p.m. March 25 Michael and Charles Coates walked into the store and Michael grabbed a female employee and said "Nobody move, nobody move." Thomas said within a few minutes after that Michael turned to his partner and said, "Not even you" and shot him in the head.

Thomas testified that point a third man, later identified as Fortune, ran into the store and took the gun from the wounded Coates and demanded Thomas empty the cash register.

The two gunmen then fled into a waiting car.

Detroit police later arrested Coates at his home. Fortune and Johnson, both of Detroit, were arrested by Grosse Pointe Woods police in the St. John Hospital parking lot when the two inquired if a man had been brought into the hospital for gun wounds. Charles Coates died in Bon Secours Hospital.

Voyager talk at North High

By Ron Clogg
 North High

Astronomer Jim Loudon gave a lecture on the Voyager I discoveries of Saturn and its moons as well as an update on the space shuttle to more than 300 students from South, Star of the Sea, University Liggett and North High Schools Tuesday, March 31 at North. Expenses for the lecture were paid by the Grosse Pointe Foundation for Academic Enrichment and the Grosse Pointe North Parent Club.

Loudon is an astronomer from the University of Michigan who also teaches and lectures on astronomy. "I'm best described as a wandering astronomy popularizer," he says.

Loudon lectured for three hours. "I'm the only speaker I've ever heard of with the nerve to talk for three hours, but it turns out there's a huge audience with intense interest in space," Loudon explained.

Loudon continues lecturing on the Voyager I discoveries at Cranbrook Institute of Science on April 8 and 15 at 7 and 9 p.m.

Some of the discoveries Loudon talked about are three new moons of Saturn, one moon that is ice on the outside and water on the inside, another moon that for some reason is as black as coal on one side and white as snow on the other, and NASA's better understanding of the rings.

Two intriguing facts about the space shuttle that he pointed out are that it can carry about five full grown elephants, and the amount of money spent on the space shuttle is equal to the amount of money spent on chewing gum during the same period of time.

Loudon said we should learn a lot from Voyager I because scientists are still learning things about the moon from Apollo, which was sent up 10 years ago.

Voyager II is expected to reach Saturn in August of 1981. It will reach Uranus in 1986 and Neptune in 1989. After Voyager II has reached Saturn, it may help answer some of the questions Voyager I has come up with.

If you are not covered by a regular pension plan where you work you can save tax dollars with a D & N Individual Retirement Account (I.R.A.).

- You can invest up to $1,500 per year or 15% of your gross annual income, whichever is less and not pay income taxes on it until retirement.
- If you are eligible for an I.R.A. and have a non-working spouse, you can invest up to $1,750 on your and your spouse's behalf.
- You can earn as much as 12% annual interest in a D & N 2 1/2-Year Money Market Certificate. Other accounts with varying interest rates and terms are also available.
- There are no administrative fees for setting up or making deposits to a D & N Individual Retirement Account. Shop and compare, you'll see the difference.
- If you open an I.R.A. at D & N by April 15, 1981, you can still get a break on your 1980 taxes if you have not yet filed.

Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal from savings certificates.

For Senior Citizens

If desire, dedication and determination are what it takes to make a dream come true, then Detroit and Michigan will have the finest science center in the nation thanks to Dexter Ferry.

Ferry is the grandson of Dexter M. Ferry, founder of the D. M. Ferry Seed Company formerly located in Detroit but now based in California. He could easily fill his time sailing (which he loves), reading history and biographies (another favorite pastime), or sightseeing around the world. Instead he spends his days at the Detroit Science Center which he started in 1970.

"It's not been easy," he says. "There have been many problems, but seeing the wonder on children's faces as they watch the exhibits makes it all worth while."

The inspiration for establishing the museum came after a trip to Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry with his son Mason. "He was so excited," remembered Ferry. "He kept grabbing my arms and exclaiming, 'oh Dad.'"

FERRY LOVES children and decided that if his son could get so much pleasure from watching the workings and wonders of science, he would like all the children in Detroit to share the same experience.

With two and a half million dollars from the Ferry Foundation, he went to work on what was to be an arduous and time consuming project. Benefactors were solicited. Foundations approached. "Asking for money was a new experience for me," Ferry remarked. "As an administrator of the Ferry Foundation, I had had a great deal of experience dispensing money. Now I was on the other side of the fence."

His persistence paid off and in February, 1978, Detroit's Science Center opened at 5020 John R.

"Mission accomplished," might have been the thinking of a man of lesser dreams after such an impressive contribution to the youth of Detroit—but not Dexter Ferry. For him, this handsome building and its exciting exhibits were just a beginning. He hopes to see that one building grow into 20, expanding from John R and Woodward to Brush. The Center owns the property for it. All that is needed are the buildings.

WITH THE FERRY Foundation now liquidated, Ferry is hoping that other foundations will see what an important contribution the Science Center is making to the youth of Detroit and invest some money. He admits to being disappointed that the Mott Foundation chose to invest in an old car museum rather than science. "I don't see as much need for it as teaching kids about science," he said.

But he remains undaunted. "Remember the Latin readings in Caesar?" he asked. (Ferry reads in French, German, Latin and Greek) "All Gaul is divided into three parts. Well all people are divided into three parts; those who solve problems, those who walk away from them and those who wait for problems to walk away from them."

It's obvious that Ferry belongs to the first group. If he didn't, there would be no Science Center.

Ferry's method of operation is low key. He has the poise and control of a gentleman, which he is. Quietly, firmly he makes his point. The secret to getting things done, he believes is, "do it right and take your time."

Last May, Ferry retired from the center as president, but he still is a trustee. When asked how much decision making he has in that capacity, he wryly remarked "I have one vote." There are 37 trustees in all.

"The trustees are representative people from all segments of Detroit," he explained and added, "I interviewed all of them. They are fine people. They are all interested in making this an outstanding attraction."

It's a big job. Besides raising funds for expansion, and worthwhile exhibits, the Science Center is dependent on contributions for day-to-day operating expenses. Unlike the library, the art museum and the historical museum, the center does not receive any funds from the city of Detroit.

BESIDES DEVOTING time to planning the center's future Ferry is involved in such tasks as operating the elevator and directing those who seem to be lost toward the next fascinating section. He loves it.

"I don't want the children to be in awe of the center," he commented. "I want them to feel free to look around at what interests them and have fun learning how things work. Sometimes I see a child who seems timid and afraid. I try to loosen him up. I found the best way to do that is to ask him if he knows any dinosaur jokes. It always works."

Speaking of dinosaurs, one of the exhibits Ferry would like to have in the center is a lifesized model of a dinosaur. "Not just for the bones or structure," he explained, "but because of its size. Can you imagine a child being in awe of anything after looking at a creature as big as that? This building would soon come into perspective after viewing an animal 60 feet long."

Ferry is proud of the fact that there has never been any vandalism at the Science Center. "I think," he reasons, "it's because we've tried to make it a friendly place. If you treat people well, they reciprocate."

Mr. Ferry's interest in science and children is not confined to the center. He is proud of his two daughters and one son and he loves being with his eight grandchildren.

"Children make the best company," he remarked. "If you interest them in something you have no problems." In his home in Grosse Pointe, Ferry keeps several projects going in the basement that he and his grandchildren work on. In his den, are several

Quick quiz may save a life

Stroke, Michigan's third largest killer, claims nearly 7,000 lives a year, fewer only than heart attack and cancer. And it cripples, temporarily or permanently, thousands more. Odds are, you know someone who's had a stroke.

But how much do you really know about it? Why not take a couple of minutes with the following quiz from the Michigan Heart Association and find out?

1. Which of the following symptoms are warning signs of stroke?
 - Dizziness or unsteadiness
 - A temporary loss of memory or change in mental ability
 - Numbness or weakness in face, arm or leg
 - Garbled speech or difficulty understanding speech
 - Eye problems such as temporary dimness, loss of sight or double vision.
 - Recent, severe, sudden headaches

2. True or false: Strokes usually happen to people over 65 years old.

3. True or false: There is nothing that can be done to prevent a stroke.

4. Black people have more strokes than whites.

Here are the answers:
1. All the symptoms are warning signs of stroke. And if you'll notice, the first letters of each warning sign spells "danger," so they're easy to remember.

2. False. Nearly one quarter of all strokes happen to people under 65.

3. False. Much can be done to prevent strokes. "In fact," says Dr. George Ritter, president of the Michigan Heart Association, "we could prevent as many as half of all strokes if people who were having warning signs would visit their doctor and begin receiving proper medical treatment."

4. True. For an as-yet undetermined reason, blacks have more strokes than whites, at an earlier age, and often with severer results. One reason may be that the blacks are more likely to have undetected or uncontrolled high blood pressure, a major risk factor of stroke.

"A stroke," explained Dr. Ritter, is much like a heart attack, except that it occurs in the brain rather than the heart. It is caused by a stoppage of oxygenated blood to a portion of the brain, by a blood clot which has formed in one of the arteries of the brain, or one which has travelled there from another part of the body, or by a ruptured blood vessel, or by pressure on a blood vessel, as from a tumor.

"It is because trouble is developing in the brain that you may have the warning signs listed in the quiz," Dr. Ritter said. "And what part of the brain is affected will determine which of those symptoms you may have, or what kind of paralysis you may have following a stroke."

"Some people have very mild results from having a rather minor stroke, while others may be greatly afflicted with a paralysis of one side or the other of the body, loss of speech and so on," Dr. Ritter said.

"But there's so much we can do, both medically and surgically, to prevent a person with symptoms from having a full-fledged stroke, if people would only learn the warning signs and visit their doctor if they experience any of them."

"Likewise, a carefully planned physical therapy program begun shortly after patient has had a stroke does much to hasten and improve his or her recovery."

"Also, there are now some 24 stroke clubs for patients and their families throughout the state, and recently a club for young adults who have had strokes or other closed head injuries has begun in the Detroit metropolitan area. We'd really like to see more of these get started all over the state, as they have been immensely helpful to both strokers (as they call themselves) and their families in understanding what happened and how best to hasten the recovery process," Dr. Ritter said.

For more information on stroke warning signs, risk factors, stroke treatment and recovery, and joining or starting a stroke club in your area, contact Jean Mayer, at the Michigan Heart Association, 557-9500.

Map Index for sailors

All professional sailors know how important a nautical chart is to safe navigation, but they also know the recreational uses of charts for fishing and diving.

The same charts used by the professionals are now available from the Bureau of Maps. A description of both Canadian and U.S. charts is published in the 1981 edition of the "Map Index." The catalog also lists more than 2,500 contour maps of Michigan's inland lakes and the complete set of Michigan's topographic maps. The "Map Index" is a single source for all Michigan outdoor recreation maps.

To obtain a free copy of the 1981 "Map Index" send a long, self-addressed envelope with 30 cents postage to Bureau of Maps, Box D-30235, Lansing, Mich. 48909.

D. O. pleads 'no contest'

A Detroit area osteopathic doctor has pled no contest to five felony charges of Medicaid fraud initiated by Attorney General Frank J. Kelley.

Thursday before Wayne Circuit Judge John Hausner, the doctor Bradford Capper, D.O., owner of the Suburban Clinic, 25225 W. Seven Mile, Redford Township, pled nolo contendere to filing false Medicaid claims.

Dr. Capper was arrested last August after Attorney General Kelley alleged that the physician or those working for him, billed—and collected from—the Department of Social Services $6,375 for medical services which were never performed. Based on an investigation conducted by the Attorney General's office, Kelley alleged that Dr. Capper collected for numerous diagnostic laryngoscopies from Jan. 1, 1978 to Dec. 31, 1979 which were never performed.

Judge Hausner scheduled sentencing for April 20. The maximum penalty is four years in prison and/or a $50,000 fine on each count.

A charge that Dr. Capper attempted to hire someone to break both knees of the investigator probing his Medicaid dealings is still pending, general's office.

Be leery of those vacation packages

Whether you can afford a vacation trip this year or if you think you can't afford to go anywhere, a pre-planned vacation package might be the answer to cutting down your costs.

Airlines, travel agents and resort hotels are just a few of the many agencies that offer these packages. Available from economy class to the super luxurious going to all parts of the world, a package usually includes transportation, hotel accommodations and sightseeing costs. Some may include meals, tips, taxes, ground transportation and other services. How do you determine what fits your needs and whether the package is going to really save money? The Michigan Association of CPAs say first determine what you can afford to spend and whether the package has "extras" that you are not interested in. When you decide upon the plan, compare similar packages from different agencies and then calculate the cost if you booked everything yourself.

This includes figuring in "extras" offered by your particular package such as diners, car rental, excursions and tour guides.

When comparing these package costs check with the airlines and resort hotels as well as travel agents. Be sure you know exactly what you are paying for before any contracts are signed.

Remember, plans change and when you put down a deposit find out if you are entitled to a refund if you cannot go, the CPAs say. Also be sure the travel agent has "errors and omission insurance" so you will be reimbursed if part of the package was changed or omitted.

Another way to save money on package deals is to form your own group. As few as five people might qualify as a group, could you organize a vacation with friends or colleagues?

CRC brings Brickley to town

The Concerned Republican Committee will host an evening with Lt. Governor James H. Brickley on Monday, April 13, at University Liggett School to which the public is invited.

Brickley will speak on his proposal to change the election of candidates for the Appeals and Supreme Courts, University Regents and State Board of Education from popular elections to gubernatorial appointments with the advice and consent of the Senate. This proposal is patterned after the Missouri Plan for appointing judges.

To be on the November 1982 ballot as a Constitutional Amendment, the proposal must be adopted by the legislature or by popular petition.

This meeting will be one of Lt. Governor Brickley's first public discussions of his proposal which has many political implications and which will be a subject of great discussion in the coming months. He will be prepared and anxious to answer questions from those in attendance.

One of the objectives of the CRC is to bring programs of interest in the political arena to the community. This is the first of such meetings.

Anyone interested should attend this meeting to be held Monday, April 13, at 8 p.m., University Liggett School Auditorium, 1045 Cook Road, Grosse Pointe Woods. Admission is free.

The population of the United States includes 25 million persons 65 years old and over. Should the death rate continue to drop, their number is calculated to reach 38 million in 20 years.

Group home progress 'dramatic'

Mentally retarded persons placed from state institutions into small group homes in the community can make dramatic progress, according to a random sample survey just completed by the Michigan Department of Mental Health (DMH).

"The random sample of 77 residents living in small group homes in the community since 1977 indicates that as a whole they averaged an increase of 33 new skills observed per year per resident," said Charles Antonelli, a psychologist at the Macomb-Oakland Regional Center.

"The results of the sample are consistent with earlier studies conducted by DMH in 1977 in which 100 percent of 98 clients demonstrated skill increases averaging a range of one to 56 skills per client," Antonelli added.

The assessment scale used to measure resident progress was published in 1977 by MORC and is called the Individual Growth Record (IGR). The IGR provides a measure of a person's adaptive behavior in eight areas: physical development, socialization, basic communication, self care skills, advanced communication, domestic, vocational and community living skills.

The eight areas are broken down into 1,285 specific behavioral objectives. The validity and reliability of the scale is reported as 99.1 percent accurate in describing an individual's ability relative to the adaptive skills measured (Kowalski, 1976).

Since the IGR is an involved assessment scale, it usually takes a person an hour and one-half to do an evaluation on a client. Staff at the group home do an evaluation after a 30 day period of observation and, again, after six months of observation. The IGR's are updated on at least an annual basis.

The IGR has attracted the interest of other states. For example, the IGR is being utilized in a regional community placement program in New Jersey. The IGR has also been shared with at least 10 other states and Canada.

"A critical measure of any client service program is the method used to demonstrate client progress," according to Antonelli. "MORC has approached this issue by viewing the client in terms of how many skills an individual can perform independently. The philosophy of the MORC program emphasizes community placement and client independent functioning."

"This, on a day to day basis," Antonelli added.

"means that those skills in which a client requires help or assistance are important areas for individualized training programs. With staff observations, data based systems and tools, such as the IGR, client progress can be monitored and training needs more effectively identified."

The results of the random sample are consistent with the results of other national studies, showing that clients in small community residences make marked progress.

For example, Pratt, Lusaz and Brown reported in 1980 that on most aspects of care, community residences appear to be considerably more personalized and stimulating than institutions. Also in 1980, Hull and Thompson identified two factors which promoted independent functioning of mentally retarded persons. The factors were environmental normalization and effective technology or promoting socially integrated, recreational, education, vocational and social activities which motivate and increase acceptable behavior.

"With respect to current directions in community placement, MORC is involved in researching trends in client adaptability within community settings," Antonelli concluded. "This research currently centers on client placement trends and measuring growth or independent functioning."

Community leaders will play a new role at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center through the expansion of the War Memorial's prestigious auxiliary. The creation of a new division within the auxiliary, to be called the Council of Sponsors, was announced this week by Mrs. Bruce Bockstanz, auxiliary president.

"It will provide an important opportunity for prominent citizens, people who are leaders in our community's life, to let the community benefit from their initiative and imagination," Mrs. Bockstanz explained, "and it will supplement the important work the auxiliary has been doing at the center for a long time."

The individual responsible for organizing the Council is Mrs. Charles E. Mosher, a member of the War Memorial's Program Development Committee which is chaired by Alex Sucek.

"The Council's role at the center," Mrs. Mosher says, "will be to suggest and support new activities, to help stimulate attendance at Council-sponsored events, and, by its stature, to attract new people and generate new growth."

"This is important to the entire community, for the War Memorial is the showplace and cultural center of Grosse Pointe: what happens here sets a standard for the entire community. By having leaders of our community play a role in the center's

To feature course in Met Opera '81 at War Memorial

For a week each spring, Detroit area residents are presented the ultimate in operatic productions by New York's acclaimed Metropolitan Opera Company—yet many would-be opera enthusiasts, due to their lack of background in or knowledge of opera, are unable to participate fully in this exciting experience.

This year, there's a remedy for that situation: a special opera education opportunity, Metropolitan Opera '81, offered for all who are interested in broadening their operatic awareness.

The six week course, sponsored by the Detroit Grand Opera Association, will be presented at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. It is open to the public. Sessions will run from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Monday evenings, starting this Monday, April 13, and continuing through May 18.

Discussion and historical background on this spring's Met Week in Detroit performances will be featured, along with recordings and selected excerpts. Instructor is Dr. Jack C. DuBois, who currently teaches at Wayne State University and has been author and host of the Sunday afternoon "Detroit Opera House" series on WDET-FM for the past nine years.

Among the institutions/programs in which Dr. DuBois has previously taught are Macomb County Community College, Oakland Community College and the University Center for Adult Education.

This is a shampoo.

It's done with eyes closed and a let-us-take-care-of-you attitude. If you like, it includes a nice little neck massage and cool water for a flin. Many of our clients rate it among the nicer moments in their week. We think you would too. We also think you'd like the way we do your hair and polish your nails and all that. We'll be as happy to hear from you as we think you'll be with your first shampoo.

Pro Musica to present
 Ruth Welting tomorrow

Continuing in its tradition of presenting new and exciting young performers, Pro

Musica will feature Metropolitan Opera star Ruth Welting in concert tomorrow, Friday, April 10, at 8:30 p.m. in the Detroit Institute of Arts Lecture Hall.

She is a coloratura soprano, in demand with opera companies and orchestras throughout the world, including Detroit's own symphony as well as the New York Philharmonic, the Chicago Symphony and the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Miss Welting began her musical training in her home town of Memphis, Tenn., at the age of three. After 15 years of piano studies she entered Memphis State University on a piano scholarship. She participated in many of the university's productions and also appeared with the Memphis Symphony and Memphis Opera Theater. Upon graduation, she entered Juilliard to further her work in voice studies.

Her professional career began with the New York City Opera; she appeared as Blonde in "Die Entfuehrung aus dem Serail," a role she has recreated several times.

She made her Metropolitan Opera debut in 1975-76 as Zerbinetta in "Ariadne auf Naxos" and has appeared since that time with the Santa Fe Opera, the San Francisco Opera, the Miami Opera and the Pittsburgh Opera. She has sung in opera houses in Paris, The Netherlands, Buenos Aires and at Covent Garden.

Miss Welting performed Norina in "Don Pasquale" this season with the San Francisco Opera, as well as the title role in "Lakme" with the Dallas Civic Opera and a new production of "L'Enfant et les Sortiluges" with the Metropolitan Opera.

Her recent recordings have included "Cendrillon," "Hansel and Gretel" and "Mignon" for CBS and "Rosenkavalier" for Philips. She will appear in the Metropolitan Opera's 1981-82 production of "Les Contes d'Hoffman" with Domingo and Trovayanos.

Miss Welting's appearance at the Detroit Institute of Arts for Pro Musica will be followed by a social hour in the museum's Romanesque Hall. This social hour is a delightful part of every Pro Musica concert. The audience has an opportunity to meet the guest artist and to chat with one another.

Tickets, priced at $10 with a student discount of 50 percent upon presentation of ID, may be purchased at the door or by calling Pro Musica membership secretary Mrs. John Rainey, 824-8690.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Welsh

At a mid-afternoon ceremony Saturday, September 6, in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, SUSAN CORINE TETTELBACH, daughter of the Joseph Robert Martins, of Webber Place, and the late William Roy Tettelbach, became the bride of Mr. Welsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Robert Welsh, of Columbus, O.

Welsh-Tettelbach vows exchanged

Grosse Pointe Yacht Club is setting for reception following mid-afternoon ceremony in Memorial Church

At home in Atlanta, Ga., are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Patrick Welsh who vacationed at The Cloister on Sea Island, Ga., following their early autumn marriage in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. The 3 o'clock ceremony Saturday, September 6, at which Dr. Ray Kiely and Monsignor Francis X. Canfield presided was followed by a reception at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

Mrs. Welsh is the former Susan Corine Tettelbach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Robert Martins, of Webber Place, and the late William Roy Tettelbach.

Mr. Welsh is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Robert Welsh, of Columbus, O.

The former Miss Tettelbach wore a wedding gown of white silk charmeuse, styled with a fitted bodice and a deep, off-the-shoulder neckline outlined with a four-inch ruffle of tiny knife pleats in a matching charmeuse. The ruffle was caught at the gown's full, puff sleeves with small bows of white, double-faced satin ribbon.

Her waist was circled with matching, wider ribbon, tied at the back with a soft bow and streamers. Her full, gathered skirt was ankle length and bound in ribbon at the hem.

She wore her mother's chapel length veil of white Brussels lace, held in place by a small, silk-covered cap covered with a full, illusion blusher. She carried a round bouquet of pearl white gardenias, stephanotis and fresh baby's-breath.

Carol Lucy Tettelbach served as her sister's honor maid. Bridesmaids were Julia Claire Tennyson, Margaret Leslie McKay, Laura Ann Hamlin and Carla Elizabeth Reichert, all of The Pointe, and Gail Lillian Bowen, of Columbus.

They wore illusion capes over their ballet length, Empire-waisted dresses of candy pink chiffon.

They carried bouquets of long-stemmed silk flowers: lavender iris, pink rubrum lilies, daffodils, daisies and pussy willow.

Best man was Robert Grasso, of Columbus. In the usher corps were Paul Everling Pursley, of New Orleans, La., Glenn Weber, of Washington, D.C., Lee Weber, Kirk Millhouse Nixon and Richard Graff Sawyer, all of Lexington, Ky., Andrew Guion, of Louisville, Ky., and William Harmon Tettelbach, brother of the bride.

The mother of the bride wore an ankle length gown of pale green chiffon, its hem handpainted in pink, lavender, blue and yellow spring flowers, its blouson waist gathered with a candy pink satin, streamered bow. Her wrist corsage was a pink rubrum lily.

Golden threads were woven throughout the blue, lavender and pink silk of the bridegroom's mother's ankle length, three-quarter-sleeved gown, belted at the waist with a matching silk tie. She, too, wore a pink rubrum lily on her wrist.

development, the center will reflect the best that Grosse Pointe represents.

The formation of the Council has begun, with letters of invitation already in the mail to a select list of Pointers. As the group grows, its new members will meet over refreshments in Mrs. Mosher's Touraine Road home, for orientation and to formulate plans.

The first event under Council sponsorship is on the War Memorial's calendar. It will be a wine tasting in Fries Ballroom Friday, May 15, and will also serve to launch the Council of Sponsors.

Setting a pattern for future Council activities, proceeds from the wine tasting will be designated to support a specific project at the center.

Further details on this Council debut event will be announced in the near future, after the Council has met and developed its own organizational structure.

Carla is A Winner

Marge (Mrs. Carl) Mueller has been vacationing in the west, traveling with her 92-year-old mother, Helen Lorenzo, and the pair have been enjoying a series of family reunions. They were in Washington, where they visited with Marge's daughter, Jeanne Spencer.

Dropping down to California, there've been stops in Los Angeles to see son Chuck, in Salinas to see daughter Donna Bauch and in San Francisco (Los Altos, actually) to rendezvous with daughter Carla Green, who entertained her mother and grandmother with tales of how it feels to win the Humanitarian Award in the Mrs. America California Pageant.

It feels pretty good—especially if you're the mother of nine children, ranging in age from one to 12, not a multiple birth among them. Figure it out: Carla, at the age of 37, has been pregnant for years.

After each birth, she snapped right back into shape. She never could sit still long enough not to. She's a former TWA stewardess who's considering going back to work. The extra money would be nice, especially for vacations. Carla and her husband Jerry, a Civil Engineer with the San Mateo County Department of Public Works, enjoy those "everybody into the van and let's go!" trips to Oregon, but there's a lot more world out there, and the family would like to see it.

A television show featuring the 1980 Mrs. America sparked Carla's interest in the contest.

Her family took a look at her, decided she looked good and said, "Go." So Carla went, and paid her own $400 entry fee, and bought her own evening gown; nobody told her that Mrs. America contestants can seek the sponsorship of other individuals or of a business.

Eventually, she found herself in Long Beach, aboard the Queen Mary, where the schedule of rehearsals, meals and competition left her no time to even leave the ship. It was more work than she expected, but not more than she could take.

In fact, after taking care of nine children of her own, plus the several neighborhood children she babysits every day, it was rather in the nature of a piece of cake.

All in all, she had a ball. The contestants were judged on their appearance in swimsuits and evening gowns, on poise and personality, on their impromptu responses to questions . . . and so what if Carla didn't make it to the national Mrs. America finals (they were held early this month, in Las Vegas)? The California Pageant Humanitarian Award is a very nice consolation prize.

Besides, the big reason Carla wanted to get to the finals was to have the chance of winning a new car. "And with my luck," she says, "it would have been a two-seater sports model."

Back Now to Marge

It could be said that Carla Green learned the secret of coping with a large family at her mother's knee. Besides the aforementioned four children in the west, Marge has a daughter, Mary Frances, who lives in Palm Bay, Fla., and a son, Carl Fredric, who remained in the Detroit area.

Marge herself has been living on Berkshire Road for 20 years now. A few years before that, she was a member of a Grosse Pointe (now South) High School graduating class. She's been active in the community over the years, particularly involved in working for Bon Secours Hospital.

An Intriguing Topic

This spring's prize for Most Intriguing Topic goes to Doris Jahnke, who has titled the program she'll be presenting to the women of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church next Tuesday "How to Find A Protestant in Portugal."

Her presentation open to all women in the area, will be followed by a Portuguese luncheon, $2 with advance reservations, $2.50 without.

Another Sousa album is out

The Detroit Concert Band, headquartered on Mack Avenue in Grosse Pointe Woods, has released Volume IX in its projected 10-album LP stereo production of the "Sousa American Bicentennial Collection."

When the final Volume X is released later in the spring, the DCB will have reached its goal of recording and releasing to the public, in stereo, all 116 published marches of John Philip Sousa.

Volume IX is titled "A Sousa Kaleidoscope" and features 14 marches, including "Prince Charming" (1928), "On Parade" (1892) and "Solid Men to The Front" (1918).

All albums in the collection, produced under the direction of Dr. Leonard B. Smith, have been recorded in the main auditorium of Detroit's Masonic Temple.

 The dual presentation began at 11 a.m. with Ron and Billie Kimberly, of Kimberly Florists, offering inventive ideas on flower arranging using containers found around the house (teacups, baskets, et al.) and tips on the care and feeding of houseplants. Plants and flowers were offered for sale to the general membership.

Park Garden Club to meet

Mrs. Ralph McKenney will open her Newberry Place home Monday, April 12, for a noon luncheon meeting of the Grosse Pointe Park Garden Club. Mrs. Albert F. Mazzei is co-hostess. Mrs. Laddy Rice, president of the recently organized Grosse Pointe Shade Tree Council, will give a talk on ways to preserve the community's shade trees. Mrs. Rice reports the Gypsy Moth is, currently, the biggest threat to local shade trees. The moth invasion started in Oakland County and has now progressed into Livonia. Dutch Elm Disease continues to be a shade tree destroyer in the area.

Workshop is focusing on childbearing years

"The Childbearing Years... Controversies and Alternatives," a three-day conference sponsored by the Childbirth Without Pain Education Association, is bringing together national and local experts to examine issues in childbirth, parenting and health on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 9, 10 and 11, at Wayne State University's McGregor Conference Center.

The program, co-sponsored by WSU's College of Nursing/College of Lifelong Learning, is designed both to meet the needs of parents—and anyone planning to become a parent—and health care professionals.

Topics to be covered range from progress in obstetrics, birthing alternatives, increased cesareans, parent-infant communication, nutrition and teen pregnancy to feminism and women's roles.

Speakers are obstetricians, nurses, midwives, psychiatrists, social workers, childbirth educators, health planners and government representatives. Among them is world-famous pediatrician Dr. Benjamin Spock. A special feature of the conference will be a Friday night discussion and wine and cheese reception with Dr. Spock, for which advance tickets are required.

To make it easier for parents to attend the conference, child care for infants and children will be available throughout the program.

Further information and registration materials may be obtained by calling 398-6224 or 354-1536, or writing Conference Registrar, 28134 Glenwood, St. Clair Shores, Mich. 48084.

Local church women cited

Women from Saint Joan of Arc and Our Lady Star of the Sea parishes were among those from seven Detroit area parishes honored by the Detroit Council of Catholic Women, Archdiocese of Detroit, at the council's annual assembly on March 18.

Representatives from six parishes and one Interparochial affiliate, Saint Joan of Arc, were presented awards for outstanding services to the church and community.

The Daughters of Isabella #634, from Saint Joan of Arc, are represented by Marion Caubet and claim as their motto, "unity, friendship and charity." The group helps fund 15 charities, including the Knights of Columbus Seminarian Fund, Sr. Arlene's Cancer Research and the Kidney Foundation.

The group also collects, sorts, repairs and cleans clothes for Vista Maria. CCW committee work is done through service at Veterans Hospital, Morality in Media and Right to Life.

Mrs. Edward Ohlert represents the CCW group from Our Lady Queen of Peace. The group has presented a six-week series on "Death and Dying," four weekly lectures on "Understanding Your Teenager" and Natural Family Planning classes.

Twelve women meet twice a month to produce cancer pads; groups also work on aiding a Cambodian family, on voter registration drives, a world water project and more.

Pre-school religion classes, a special mass for firemen and policemen and a charismatic group meeting each Sunday are among the services for which the Queen of Peace group was honored.

Cancer clinics slated in April

The Michigan Cancer Foundation is offering breast and cervical cancer screening at its East Service Center on Mack Avenue, near Aline Drive, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Mondays during April. Appointments can be made by calling 881-2413.

Nominal fees for the tests are set at $10 for the first breast exam, $7 for repeat exams, at $5 for each pap smear — however, arrangements can be made according to one's ability to pay. No woman will be denied the service.

"Due to reductions in local and national resources for cancer control and service activities, institution of fees has been necessary to insure continued availability of these services to the residents of metropolitan Detroit," explains Joy Harsen, chief of the MCF's Prevention Section.

Service fees will apply to all screenings for breast and cervical cancer done at the Central Breast Cancer Detection Clinic, all Service Centers and all MCF Unit offices. The fee schedule is consistent with the policies of the United Foundation-United Way, whose allocations make up approximately 14 percent of the MCF's budget.

Beethoven by Beaux Arts

The Beaux Arts Trio will perform Beethoven's nine trios for violin, cello and piano, a cornerstone of chamber music literature, in a series of three concerts this Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 10, 11 and 12, in Detroit's Orchestra Hall as a highlight of the 37th season of the Chamber Music Society of Detroit.

The Friday concert is part of the society's regular series. The Saturday and Sunday programs are listed as special events. All three recitals begin at 8 p.m. Ticket information may be obtained at the Orchestra Hall box office, 833-3700.

The Beaux Arts Trio — Menahem Pressler, piano, Isidore Cohen, violin, Bernard Greenhouse, cello — is a frequent and welcome visitor in the society's annual Orchestra Hall series. Beaux Arts is one of the most highly acclaimed chamber music ensembles in the world.

North teams are honored

By Tim Saunders
North High

Over 170 participants in winter sports competition were honored at Grosse Pointe North's 1981 winter sports award assembly on March 13 and 14.

The assembly is traditionally the last step of each sports season and offers an opportunity for coaches and managers to individually congratulate their top players. Of 72 varsity athletes, 60 received varsity letters and 12 earned recognition in the Bi County League.

Dan McEnroe, Mark Sanders, Rob Zeiger, Bruce Stewart, Ken Spaeth, Dave Simon, Dave Monark, Dan Sheridan, Andy Pflaum, Chris Neal, Marty McEnroe and Tim Labadie were each letterwinners for the varsity basketball team. Sanders, Sheridan and Neal also earned Bi County Honorable Mention.

The entire varsity volleyball team also will be wearing letters this spring. They are Peggy Cadieux, Nancy Olen, Jami Mackintosh, Sue Burgeron, Judy Cherry, Lynn Rice, Maureen Montmorency, Sue Rice, Val Ryan and Julie Smith.

The only other team whose members were all letter winners was the Bi-County champion boys' swim team. Aside from their letters, Tim Monohan, Tom Cobau, Joe Schmidt, Jim Strong, Steve Mediodia, Mark Stoyka, Hank Bock and Eric Tech were named to the All Bi County team.

Other letter winners include Scott Brown, Steve Henkel, Blair Schoof, Erich Zimmerman, Ray Azar, Dan Gomen, Rob Causley, James Huetteman, Scott Kinney, Bob Luberto and Rick Stout.

The wrestling team of 13 letterwinners followed its 10-6 season. They were Sam Angeleri, Dan Armstrong, Jon Baker, Tim Bodendistel, Mike Clune, Mike Cramer, Greg Fobare, Greg Fleming, Todd Leigh, Pat Marlow, Craig Pascoe, Matt Simon and Pete Moody.

The gymnastics team, comprised of freshmen and sophomores, earned a total of six letters. Peggy Barrett, Alisa Jaques, Denise Parker, Andi Thompson, Cindy Tsangalios and Karen McCarthy were letterwinners. McCarthy was also named to the All-Bi County gymnastics team.

GP students on Albion rosters

Albion College recently released its rosters for seven spring sports teams and four Pointe residents are on them.

Laura Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Johnston, of Roslyn Road, is a freshman track prospect. She was graduated from North High School in 1980.

Listed on the men's track roster is Bob Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones, of Windmill Pointe Drive. The 1979 South High graduate is a sophomore at Albion.

Vincenza Tocco and Bill Fleming also play for Albion.
