Lost colony

Wanted: studio space for industrious artists' colony.

That's how a newspaper ad might read if it was placed by the 30 artists, including painter Carol Coleman, (right), who were evicted Wednesday, April 15 from their digs at the Grosse Pointe Academy.

The 98-year-old Academy boarding school structure will be renovated this summer for some "broader community use," says the Academy board. The artists—who've been there since 1969—can't stay while the structure is repaired, the board said.

The War Memorial is trying to help the artists secure a new home in the old Kerby School in the Farms so that the colony may remain intact. But so far, the Farms has been more interested in using the Kerby School property for a parking lot since it is adjacent to the city's offices and police department and school board, which owns Kerby School, has not responded to the artists' request to acquire the school as a gift or to lease it with an option to buy.

In the meantime, artists are on the move. Carol has moved about 30 paintings and other equipment which she'll store until a new location is available, she said. Another tenant, Bill Amenda, an illustrator for the Detroit News who's been at the Academy for seven years, said he'll work out of his Farms home until the fate of the colony is determined.

Both said they hoped the Kerby School deal is successful so that the artists' colony can enrich the community with art classes and other cultural activities.

Local battle brewing over May 19 tax cut

By Susan McDonald

Grosse Pointe government officials estimate they will lose as much as $4 million in tax revenue if Gov. Milliken's May 19 tax proposal is approved by voters. But only one local leader, School Supt. William Coats, is openly campaigning against the proposal—even though the Board of Education is at odds with him on the issue.

Coats lost a battle last week on the tax proposal "A" when the School Board voted to table a resolution opposing the tax reform. The apparent winner that night was State Rep. William Bryant Jr., one of the authors of the proposal, who had lobbied board members by phone earlier that day to squelch the resolution.

COATS SAID HE was disappointed and "does not understand the board's lack of action."

"Passage of Proposal A clearly would result in massive layoffs, lost services for young people and erosion of local control," the superintendent said. "The proposal is an 11th hour plan by a bunch of scared bureaucrats to ward off Bob Tisch."

Despite the Board of Education's lack of action, a consortium of out-of-formula school districts which Grosse Pointe voted to join last month is firmly opposing proposal "A" on the May 19 ballot, Coats said.

Proposal "A" will cut taxes almost in half and order the state to reimburse the amount lost to local units of government with revenue generated by a state sales tax increase from 4 to 5.5 percent.

In addition, "A" puts a 6 percent annual limit on the increase in property taxes (unless voters approve a higher millage rate.)

Local units will be reimbursed for the amount they lose when the property tax is cut in half, but they will be forced to live within the 6 percent limit with no help from Lansing. The schools estimate they will lose $2.9 million under that provision alone and city loss estimates range from almost $400,000 in the Woods to as little as $120,000 in cities the size of the Farms and City.

Most city finance directors questioned on the proposal agreed it would force them to reduce services somewhat.

"Capital outlay—that's probably what we'll cut because it's the easiest thing to do," said Woods Comptroller-Assessor Frederick Hornfisher.

Tom Kresbach, manager of Grosse Pointe City, said his community could easily live within the 6 percent limit (and resulting $125,000 loss in revenue) if the inflation rate also stays within 6 percent. If not, "something's got to go, but right now I can't say what."

Local officials also are concerned about other, more subtle losses they can expect under proposal "A." Supt. Coats said the schools, and other local units, could have serious cash flow problems this year while they wait for the state to reimburse them for the 50 percent cut in taxes. Coats predicted the cash flow problem will generate a large increase in local borrowing, and could possibly flood the lending market so some units may not be able to sell their notes.

Coats, and some city managers, also point out that state control over almost 50 percent of local revenues may also lead to increased state intervention in local affairs. Coats calls it the Golden Rule—"he who has the gold makes the rules."

DESPITE LOCAL concerns, most legislative leaders, including Grosse Pointe's Rep. Bryant, are in full support of Proposal "A."

Bryant said last week he has an "absolute conviction that if this (proposal) doesn't pass on May 19, a far more drastic, unreasonable proposal will be placed on the next ballot" by Robert Tisch, the Shiawassee Drain Commissioner who has authored two tax cut proposals in the past.

"In 1980 Tisch won 44 percent of the vote. Things are worse now for taxpayers in this state and I think

High schools will screen grads in mathematics

By Susan McDonald

Math proficiency tests will be added to the list of graduation requirements in Grosse Pointe's public high schools beginning with the class of 1986 under a program approved by the Board of Education last week.

The new policy was sparked by recent Michigan Educational Assessment test scores that show almost one of five Pointe 10th graders are deficient in basic math, according to school officials. Because only one year of math is required for graduation from local high schools, it is unlikely that many of those deficient students will receive any more instruction in math before they graduate.

THE NEW MATH proficiency program will actually begin in the eighth grade, where students will take the first exam and be directed into general math or algebra classes in ninth grade depending on their skills.

The second test will be taken by 10th grade students enrolled in the general math class. Those who fail will be required to participate in a special math workshop before they can graduate.

School administrators said they have not yet decided if they will use a standardized test or one that has been developed locally.

Results of the 1980-81 Michigan Educational Assessment program were presented to the Board of Education on April 13 by Director of Research and Development Roger McCaig. The state assessment program tests students in math and reading at three levels—grade four, seven and 10.

Comparing Grosse Pointe's composite scores to those of other Michigan school districts, McCaig told the School Board local students ranked second in the state overall, with 89.9 percent of the students showing mastery of at least 75 percent of the test questions. The top state school district, which McCaig did not identify, had a composite score of 93.1 percent mastery.

IN A MORE detailed breakdown of the results, McCaig ranked Grosse Pointe students in comparison with other state school districts as follows:

- Fourth grade reading — number three, with 90.7 percent mastery.
- Fourth grade math—number four,

with 89.1 percent mastery.

- Seventh grade reading — number one, with 96.5 percent mastery.
- Seventh grade math — number two, with 90.4 percent mastery.

- Tenth grade reading — number four, with 91.3 percent mastery.
- Tenth grade math—number four, with 81.4 percent mastery.

McCaig said Grosse Pointe's attainment level has increased every year since 1974-75 and the local school district has been among the top three districts in Michigan since 1977 in a comparison of composite (average) scores.

Despite the fact Grosse Pointe's math scores have been consistently above average, administrators are concerned because they have been below the district's scores in reading, McCaig said. "While 91 percent of our 10th graders answer 75 percent of the reading test questions correctly, only 81 percent did so in math," McCaig said.

"Many other school districts would be delighted with those scores, but for us, they are a problem," he added.

'No parking'-say Park residents

By Joanne Gouleche

H. Ford Prince admits he didn't think it would take six months for the Grosse Pointe Park Council to approve his plans to convert two city-owned lots into parking space.

It's not that the city has been dragging its heels on the matter, but that's how long it has taken for the city to schedule public hearings, advertise for bids and specify how the lots can be used.

At a special meeting April 27 at Pierce School, the council is expected to have its final say-so on the fate of the lots. The meeting is being held at Pierce because the city knows all too well the proposed parking lot has many residents fuming and anticipates most of the auditorium seats will be filled that evening.

Residents within 300 feet of the two lots adjacent to the two-story office building on Jefferson between Lakepointe and Beaconsfield, have been asked to attend the meeting.

So far, many have objected loudly to the plan. Prince, who owns the building, would like to convert an unused, rundown bump shop into office space and provide parking for his new tenants with the purchase of the lots.

Before that can happen, the Park's Zoning Board of Appeals must approve the special use of the lots for parking at the April 27 meeting. (They are currently zoned residential.)

One resident has been particularly vocal at council meetings whenever the lot issue has appeared on the council's agenda. Mary Romig, of Lakepointe, says "an entrance to any city across the country can hardly be enhanced by the addition of a parking lot."

Correction

In the April 16 Pointer of Interest, the telephone number published for information on the Grosse Pointe Academy's Action Auction was incorrect. The correct number is 886-1802.

"The residents have attended every meeting on this issue. The residents have made their position clear to the council and the Planning Commission—no parking," Ms. Romig says.

Ms. Romig and others claim too much commercialization already greets anyone entering the Park from Alter Road. Residents also worry property values will dip with a new parking lot on Jefferson.

EVEN THOUGH Prince promised to surround his 22-space lot with shrubs and greenery, residents prefer the city sell the lots as residential property.

"The support (against the lot) out there is strong. The council owes it to the residents to give this matter a great deal of thought," Ms. Romig said. She has been waging a petition campaign throughout the neighborhood south of Jefferson.

Ms. Romig said a 24-hour parking lot "makes all the difference in the world" and will attract crime to the area. (Residents live above the Jefferson Lakepointe building and so the parking lot would always have to be open.)

City Manager John Crawford charged at the council's March 23 meeting that some residents circulating petitions were purporting erroneous facts about the proposed parking lot regarding the number of spaces and 65 foot setback from Jefferson Avenue.

At that same meeting, Councilman

Woods holds millage tax to 6 percent increase

By Gregory Jakub

While the other Pointes are delaying budget action until after the May 19 election, Grosse Pointe Woods has two budget plans set to go that propose a six percent increase in spending over last year's tax dollars.

Woods officials said April 20 they plan to approve a budget with a tax rate of 10.616 mills on May 11. If voters approve the state tax cut on May 19, that millage rate will be amended further to meet the state's six percent tax increase limit. (One mill equals $1 for every $1,000 of SEV.)

Whatever happens on May 19, Woods officials say they will be able to limit the city's total tax increase to six percent.

"Headlee would have allowed a 13 percent increase. We're only taking a six percent increase," according to Chester Petersen, Woods city administrator-clerk.

However, the Public Safety Department's budget is based on the expected retirement of one-and-a-half officers and the expected loss of one officer and one emergency medical trainee (EMT) through attrition, Petersen said. If the officer and EMT are not lost through attrition, they could be laid off, Petersen said.

To the average Woods homeowner with a state equalized value (SEV) of $49,525, the proposed budget means a 1981-82 tax payment of about $527—about $29 more than last year.

If the state tax cut plan is approved, the city would recover an estimated 89 percent of the lost revenue from state sales taxes, returned to the city, Petersen said.

Woods Councilmen and administrators based the proposed budget on a business management technique known as management by objective which sets a budget increase goal (six percent) and instructs department heads to stay within that limit. The MBO program will be introduced to Woods employees by an outside firm at a cost of $18,000.

The entire budget proposal is tentative until it is finalized by the city council at a meeting scheduled on May 11

Clean up near?

Forget about electronic tune ups. The Standard gas station at Kercheval and Muir that has been empty for over a year may need a super-sonic clean up. Broken glass, empty oil cans, gas tanks and litter are scattered around. Windows have been smashed and spray painted by vandals. John DeFoe, director of public works and building official for the Farms, said the city has received a number of anonymous complaints about the station. "We have talked with the station owner, (Peter Bologna, of the 81 Investment Co.) about the problem on an informal basis. The reason we haven't pushed it because we believed with his new building going up in that location, the problem would be taken care of when his demolition crews razed the site." DeFoe said that since construction has been delayed, he will contact Bologna formally and require him to clean up the area. Bologna was unavailable for comment.

• Grosse Pointe War Memorial has just a few weeks left to raise enough funds through its annual Family Participation Campaign to meet its goal for 1981. Unfortunately, the drive is lagging badly, according to Director John Lake. For a list of free events scheduled in the days ahead to spur the drive see page 4A.

CPAs say you can mix business with pleasure

Getting away from everyday pressures and daily routines are making a lot of persons look upon vacations as necessities rather than luxuries. Considering the rising costs of hotel bills and airplane fares, it's becoming more difficult to fit vacation expenses into the family's budget. A way to cut some of these costs may be to combine your excursions with business, job interviews or house-hunting, because these expenses may be deductible on your federal income tax return.

The Michigan Association of CPAs say when a business trip is combined with a vacation in the same general area, the cost of transportation and any other business-related expenses incurred can be deducted. When you attend eight days of meetings in Washington D.C., and plan a two-week vacation with your family around it, you can deduct only your round-trip air fare and lodging expenses during the time you were conducting business, but not your family's.

If the hotel's room rate is $80 and the single room rate is $60 you can deduct only the single rate for the nights spent in town for business. Taxi or bus fares, meals, tips and other expenses you alone incurred during the business portion of the trip are deductible, the CPAs say.

Should you decide to conduct some business while on vacation, your transportation costs to and from your destination are not deductible because the primary purpose of the trip was for your personal pleasure. However, if you meet with several of your company's suppliers while visiting Washington, these business-related costs at the place where you're vacationing are deductible.

The key to claiming business deductions is to keep the records required by the IRS. Keep track of the costs for transportation, meals, lodging and incidental expenses, the dates of departure and return, the number of days you're away from home; destinations and the business purpose for the trip. Receipts should be kept for expenditures of $25 or more.

Renting a car? If one-quarter of the car's use was for business, then deduct one-quarter of the rental cost. If your own car is used, then keep accurate records of the mileage. The standard mileage rate, 20 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles and 11 cents a mile for additional mileage or for fully depreciated cars, may be used for the business use of the car.

You can plan your vacation around a job search, deducting some or all of your travel expenses and living costs, depending upon the amount of time spent searching for employment in relation to personal time on the trip. To qualify for the deduction you must be looking for a job in the same line of work you're in now.

The CPAs say expenses directly related to the job search such as taxi fares to and from interviews and phone calls from the hotel to potential employers also qualify.

If your job search in Washington was successful, you can return there and do some more sight-seeing as long as the main purpose of the trip is to look for a new home. Once you change jobs or are transferred and the commuting distance from your current residence is increased by at least 35 miles, you can deduct any pre-move house-hunting trips. In this case, deductible expenses include all transportation, meals, and lodging expenses incurred by you.

 he'd win if he got on the ballot again," Bryant said.
 Bryant said he thinks local units are adequately protected against losses because they can put millage increases on the ballot.
 "It's up to local voters. If they (councils) can show people they have greater needs, they'll be all right," Bryant said.

 Bryant also reveals the following estimates of savings to families at various income and property tax levels under Proposal "A":
 • Family income, $45,000, Property taxes, $2,750=$592 net savings.

• Family income, $35,000, Property taxes, $2,000=$420 net savings.
 • Family income, $25,000, Property taxes, $1,500=$292 net savings.
 Those figures take into account all the provisions of Proposal "A" but do not consider losses on federal tax deductions.

Sun Deer campers and volunteers should sign-up now

Now is the time to start planning for summer camp, says the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan (ALASEM), especially if your son or daughter has asthma.
 The American Lung Association is now accepting applications for its free summer camp for kids with asthma, Camp Sun Deer. The second annual Camp Sun Deer will be held June 28 to July 4 at the Battle Creek Outdoor Education Center on Clear Lake near Dowling, Michigan.

 Sixty-five asthmatic children, ages nine to 13, who are Michigan residents will enjoy a week of boating, swimming, archery, nature hikes, arts and crafts and special activities. Camp Sun Deer provides all of the activities of a regular camp with the additional medical support necessary to treat asthma episodes.

Asthmatic children will also learn about their lung disease, how to cope with it during exercise and how to make living with it a little easier.
 "Summer camp is usually out of the question for children who are victims of asthma," said Bruce Dubin, D.O., medical director of the Lung Association's Family Asthma Program and a member of the Board of Directors. "Most camps do not have adequate medical personnel to handle the special complications often arising when an asthmatic engages in vigorous exercise or is exposed to a number of allergens."

In addition to campers, the American Lung Association is also seeking qualified medical volunteers to staff the week-long Camp. Especially needed are respiratory therapists, nurses, and pharmacists to serve as counselors. Other volunteers with special skills in arts and crafts, archery, sports and games and boating are also needed.

Camp Sun Deer is sponsored by the Michigan Society for Respiratory Therapy and the Michigan Thoracic Society, the medical arm of the Lung Associations in Michigan.

The support of contributors to the American Lung Association's annual Christmas Seal Campaign and other fundraising programs has enabled the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan to offer campships free of charge.

Campers and volunteers interested in applying to Camp Sun Deer should call Carol Vick at the American Lung Association at 961-1697. The deadline for applications is May 11.

DiNello would expand PSC

The Michigan Senate approved a measure this week which will expand membership on the Public Service Commission from three to five members.

Senator Gilbert DiNello (D - East Detroit), sponsor of the legislation, said the move to increase membership is intended to broaden the base of public representation on the commission.

"As it presently stands, the Public Service Commission appears to exist solely to approve rate hikes requested by the utilities. I have seen little evidence that it is concerned about Michigan consumers," said DiNello. "Adding two new members will provide the balance I feel is essential, and will promote greater debate and discussion of matters under consideration."

DiNello added
 The bill would require that one new member of the Commission must be 62 years of age or older.

"Michigan's senior citizens — most of whom live on fixed incomes — have increasingly felt the brunt of escalating utility rates, perhaps more than any other segment of our society," explained DiNello. "I think it is important to have their needs and interests specifically represented on the PSC."

The bill will go to the House after the Easter break. If it is approved, in addition to expanding its membership, the measure would require that no more than three members of the Commission be from the same political party.

If the bill is approved by the House and signed by the governor, it will take effect in January, 1982.

DIA offers one of 1980's 10 best films

"Bronco Billy," called "one of the year's ten best films" by the Detroit News, will be offered to Detroit Film Theatre audiences on May 1. There will be two showings of this 1980 patriotic comedy, which stars Clint Eastwood, at 7 and 9:30 p.m. in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium. Tickets at $2 each may be purchased in advance through the Art Institute ticket office, and at the door.

"Image Before My Eyes," a documentary following Jewish society in Poland from the late 19th century through the 1939 Nazi invasion, will be shown on Saturday, May 2, at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Produced by the Institute for Jewish Research, the film blends rare historical footage into what has been called "one of the most enlightening and moving film experiences in recent years."

Intended for adults, Detroit Film Theatre presentations may not be suitable for all family members. Patrons are directed to consult the D.F.T. schedule for guidance.

Tasting wine with the experts

Grosse Pointe War Memorial's New Council of Sponsors presents "Wine Tasting — The Imports vs. the Domestic" in an evening panel and tasting session on Friday, May 15, from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

The panel will include Leon Bromley, Michigan wine importer, George Puravet, Charity Sucek, Austrian Countess and noted international teacher of haute cuisine and gourmet preparations and her son Alexander Sucek, an owner of vineyards in France and a connoisseur of wines.

Twelve major wines of America and Europe will be tasted and compared and their proper usage discussed. Admission by ticket purchased in advance through the War Memorial's office is $10. There will also be a certain number of admissions available at the door. Tables may be reserved for parties.

Top writers get help at U-M

Twelve writers from Brownell and Pierce Middle Schools will participate next week in a Conference for Young Authors sponsored by the University of Michigan-Dearborn extension under Professors Jane A. Romatowski and Grace Kachatur-off.

Representing Brownell are Michelle DeFour, Jim Curran, Stephanie Smith, Adele DiNatale, Kim Mel-drum and Halli Villegas.

Selected from Pierce School are Craig Bagno, Gordon Langs, Desiree Magness, Kathy Gaglio, Chris Lathrop and Karen Emery.

Students were picked on the basis of their writing ability. They submitted a complete manuscript (a poem, a short story, or an essay, etc.) to a teacher-facilitator the first week in April, which will be returned to the student next week with a personal critique.

The conference is intended to give students an opportunity to further sharpen their writing skills.

Woods wins 'Tree City' award

For the third year in a row, Grosse Pointe Woods has been named Tree City USA by the National Arbor Day Foundation for the city's outstanding contribution to urban forestry.

The city was awarded its third Tree City flag that will fly during April at the west end of the Veteran's Memorial Parkway on Vernier.

Barbara Hayes, chairman of the Community Tree Advisory Commission, presented the award at the April 6 Woods City Council meeting.

She said that one of the commission's goals are education so it will be presenting 360 fifth grade students at Barnes, Ferry, Liggett, Mason, Monteith, and Star of the Sea with Red Maple seedlings during the last week in April which Mayor George Freeman will proclaim Arbor Week.

The May issue of Michigan Out-of-Doors mentions Grosse Pointe Woods as one of six Michigan communities that qualify for Tree City USA awards, Hayes said.

Aviatrix dies in harbor

Harriet Quimby was the first American woman to earn an airplane pilot's license. That was in 1910. She had been a professional journalist in an era when few women were entering the profession. Her "invasion of another male domain was to be short-lived." She went to Europe in 1912 and became the first woman to fly the English Channel. Three months later her career in aviation came to a sudden sad end when she and a passenger were hurled from their cockpit while flying over Boston harbor at 2,000 feet.

Center sets children's art classes

Children's art classes taught by Cyd Lachuisa Zampich are offered in a seven week term for 5 year olds Monday, 4:45 p.m. April 27-June 15 at the War Memorial for a fee of $12.75 plus a material charge of $3.50.

Six to 8 year old classes are Tuesdays after regular school from 4 to 5:30 and 9 to 11 year olds meet Wednesdays for the same hour and one half periods. The fee for the children ages 6 to 11 is $18.75 plus a $5 materials charge.

All students work on color and basic design concepts reflecting the world of humans, animals and nature as they see them. Projects range from two dimensional drawing with pencil and crayon to the use of paints. Three dimensional work is done in wire and paper mache and paper techniques are also taught in collages.

A course in landscape in watercolor is presented by Carol Lachuisa for adults on Thursday mornings from 9:30 to noon, April 30 to June 4. The grounds and gardens and marine views at the Center are utilized as subject matter for this delicate art. The fee is $35 for six weeks.

The great art coup at the Center this spring is the Three Day Painting Workshop with renowned master artist-teacher Robert Wilbert recently returned from New York. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 4, 5 and 6 in all day sessions from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., Robert Wilbert will teach oil painters how to grasp the order in nature and after seeing it organize it properly for an effective painting.

The workshop will be strictly limited and advance registration is asked so that all may begin the concentrated study immediately properly equipped. Workshop members are asked to bring sack lunches for the midday break. Enrollment is $99.

'Short' film features May 5

The Grosse Pointe Cinema League will hold its annual meeting, banquet, and film festival Monday, May 5, in the Crystal Ballroom and Fries Auditorium of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road.

Punch will be served at 6 p.m. followed by dinner at 6:30. The annual meeting and election of officers will be conducted by President Mrs. Marshall Collins before the group adjourns to the auditorium to view a series of five short award-winning movies selected in international competition by the Photographic Society of America.

The public is invited to attend. Tickets, at $9 per person for the entire evening, are available at the War Memorial's office.

The Photographic Society, which has sponsored annual film contests for 51 years, has selected the following top winners from the 1980 competition:

- "Journey from Paradise" by Richard Korenz, John Davis and Dennis Roman, of Uniontown, Ohio, a warm, enlightening and moving story of the Special Olympics in their state and efforts on the part of handicapped of all ages who participate.
- "Stoic Cloning Around," an unusual film, put together by Sidney Laverentz of Bonita, Calif., through the use of multiple matte box shots and multiple recordings. It concerns the fantasy of having a clone of oneself.
- "Saturday Night" by Ksehn Thomsen of Seattle, Wash., is a very well-planned and edited scenario, which depicts the uselessness of the typical Saturday night at a local tavern.
- "Starship One" by Wallace M. Shaw, of Bethpage, N.Y., pokes fun at every space movie that has ever been made.

New York, pokes fun at every space movie that has ever been made.

- "Blind Curves" by Steven Haberman, of Long Beach, Calif., is an exciting suspense film with superb acting, excellent camera work and special effects.

The League will meet again on May 18, before it adjourns for the summer, when Dr. Walter Theuerle will present "Portugal and Austria."

Center hopes freebies will spur fund drive

Additional efforts are being made on behalf of Grosse Pointe War Memorial's lagging 1981 Annual Fund Drive and a number of events are being given free to Pointers of different age groups to generate support.

There has already been a free Easter egg decorating session and a performance of excerpts from the "Sound of Music" contributed by the Memorial's Grosse Pointe Childrens Theater. For students in their teens there has been a dance complete with light show and D. J. without charge.

Forthcoming free events on behalf of the campaign are "Portraits in Painting and Sculpture" by the Memorial's two resident artists — Frank Varga, sculptor and Paolo Coppini painter on Tuesday, May 12, at 8 p.m.

Grosse Pointe Theater is contributing a musical evening at 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 13, and a week after on Wednesday, May 20, when "Senior Serendepity," a musical cabaret for the more mature will feature the Senior Men's instrumental Music Makers under the management of Frank Seydler, the Senior Men's Chorus under the direction of Al Decker, and dance demonstrations with Ted and Lillian Forrest.

Finally, on Tuesday, May 26, there will be an 8 p.m. family concert by local Whifenpouis, the Grunyons.

With Easter and income taxes both past, the Memorial hopes many more contributors will join in support of the maintenance and operation of the War Memorial. To date $144,070 has been received from 4,511 donors as compared to $145,025 from 4,874 givers at this point last year. The goal necessary to operate after July 31 is $170,000, just $5,000 more than last year.

Caring Person at Cottage

Ralph L. Wilgarde, administrator, Cottage Hospital of Grosse Pointe, announced "The Caring Person" workshop, a series for those who care for terminally ill and cancer patients at home, will begin Monday, April 27, at 6:30 p.m. in Board Room A, located in the lower level of the hospital. The program will be presented on the next four Monday evenings ending May 18.

The program draws on the expertise of many hospital departments. Included in the program is instruction in basic nursing techniques, prescription management, aids to nutrition, and how to lift and position the patient. Experts will also discuss legal questions and the acceptance of death. The workshop also serves as a family support group during illness and bereavement.

There is no charge for the series. The program is open to anyone caring for the terminally ill. For more information, call Cottage Hospital at 884-8600, extension 2390.

Power boating course offered

The Department of Continuing Education in cooperation with the Grosse Pointe Power Squadron will again co-sponsor a three-week class entitled "Power Boating: Student Safety Certificate."

Taught by Jack Wood, the class will provide instruction to students interested in becoming qualified to operate a power boat. Under the Marine Safety Act, students 12 to 15 are required to have a safety certificate in their possession when operating a power boat if not accompanied by a person 16 years of older.

Two sections of the tuition-free class which is open to students aged 12 to 15 are slated to begin on Monday, April 27 in room C-11 of Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte Avenue. The first will be held from 3:45 to 5:45 p.m., the second from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Although no fee is charged for the class, prior registration is required. Call 343-2178 for more information.

Tip to drivers

Even careful drivers who try to remain constantly alert sometimes wonder why their tires unexpectedly lose traction on wet pavement that does not appear to be treacherous. Read Family Safety magazine's simple explanation: "The first minutes of a rain—even a light one—can be the most dangerous. This is because the rain hasn't had time enough, or isn't heavy enough, to wash away the film of oil and grease on the street. Instead the water mixes with the film and creates a slippery goo."

Book helps smokers quit

"Nicotine is one of the deadliest alkaloid poisons known to man," and "The average cigarette today still delivers more than a milligram of nicotine."

These two statements, supported by research science, help explain why the American Lung Association is at the forefront of a $250,000 campaign to help an estimated 54 million smokers escape their habit.

Dr. Michael A.H. Russell of Muadley Hospital, London, stated recently that "Cigarette smoking is probably the most addictive and dependence-producing form of behavior known to man." In effect, the eminent physician was reinforcing the National Institute on Drug Abuse which has declared: "Cigarette smoking is an addiction" and therefore "should be viewed as a disease."

The ALA continues to urge smokers to quit on their own, through two self-help manuals. Titled "Freedom From Smoking in 20 Days" and "A Lifetime of Freedom From Smoking," the booklets are available locally from the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan (ALASEM) for $5.00 to cover postage and handling.

The American Lung Association is the oldest voluntary health agency fighting disease. A spokesman explains: "We don't mean to either preach to or scare anyone. The Freedom From Smoking program approach actually encourages a new behavior — and the emphasis is on the word: Freedom. We mean that freedom to begin a new behavior pattern; one that is far more healthful. We're working at preventive medicine with our self-help package."

For more information on the "Freedom From Smoking" program, call the Lung Association's Smoking Phone at 963-3029.

Travelogue will feature America's national parks

A change of pace and scene will be reflected in the War Memorial's Adventure Series offering Tuesday evening, April 30, when Doug Jones will discuss the majesty and beauty of the U.S. with a tour of the national parks which he calls "Portraits of America."

The personally narrated color film adventure will begin in the Fries Theatre with America's best known park — Yellowstone—where the Upper and Lower Falls will be shown along with such features as Old Faithful, the Mud Volcanoes, the Hot Springs and the Wildlife. Then its on to the most dramatic range of mountains in the West — The Grand Tetons — where viewers will learn how to climb mountains and take a float trip down the Snake River ending up at Jackson Hole Village with its rodeo.

Backtracking to the East the next film stop will be Acadia with its rocky coast line around Bar Harbour where a portrait of rugged New England life is drawn from a journey to sea with the lobster fishermen.

Returning to the West, unique Bryce Canyon with its amazing rock formations is visited on horseback. Then its on to the desolate area of the Arches which present the most awesome freak of nature in the Americas. Early Indian civilization is explored at the unique cliff dwellings of Mesa Verde.

A complete change is effected by a visit to the Everglades, the giant swampland with its examples of tropical wildlife followed by a visit to the great Smokie Mountains of Tennessee.

Carlsbad Cavern shows the wonders of subterranean erosion and the Petrified Forest presents its multicolored jewels, relics of the time when this desert area was once covered with lush forests.

Hawaii is visited to show an American active volcanic area and the film ends with the rainbow colored Grand Canyon.

The film was two years in the making and is the largest undertaking Jones has made to convey in ninety minutes these vast wonders of America.

The 6:30 dinner preceding the film will feature favorite dishes from the various regions of our country. The complete evening of dinner (tax and service included) plus the personally presented film is $11.85. The film only is $3.25. Tickets should be bought now at the Center's office, 32 Lakeshore.

Bush League First

The first night baseball game under lights was played at Fort Wayne, Ind., on June 2, 1863. But it didn't begin in the major leagues until May 24, 1885 when Philadelphia played Cincinnati in the Ohio city.

'Cheaper' a man's movie

By Nick Charles

Country singer Mac Davis hits the silver screen once more in a new comedy, "Cheaper To Keep Her." This is the 40-year-old singer/songwriter's (and now actor) second motion picture. He made his debut not long ago with Nick Nolte in "North Dallas Forty."

Davis is now enjoying both acting and music. He had a number one single in 1971 ("Baby Don't Get Hooked On Me"), he has had his own T.V. show and has written songs recorded by Elvis Presley, Lou Rawls, Glenn Campbell, Bobby Goldsboro and Kenny Rogers.

The talented Davis shares the spotlight in "Cheaper to Keep Her" with the beautiful Tovah Feldshuh, Feldshuh, who earned prestigious awards at Interlochen Music Camp in Michigan, has appeared in the T.V. productions "The Amazing Howard Hughes," "Holocaust," "The Women's Room" as well as the recent motion picture "The Idolmaker."

In "Cheaper to Keep Her" Davis plays Bill Decker, a newly divorced macho detective. Feldshuh plays K. D., a feminist snobby attorney. The two cause much mischief as they work together to investigate the husbands of Locke's clients.

The movie, billed as "a love story about women's rights... and lefts" is obviously a comedy. The plot is humorous as it borders on crude and definitely falls into the ranks of a man's movie. It is less art than just plain pass-the-time entertainment.

"Cheaper to Keep Her" also stars Art Metrano, Ian McShane, Priscilla Lopez, Rose Marie and Jack Gilford.

Residents of Grosse Pointe who wish to use some of their leisure time for a variety of self-improvement activities scheduled by the Department of Continuing Education of the public schools will find a total of 16 new classes as well as a full complement of popular one-night stands beginning the week of April 27.

For those who wish to learn some money-saving, do-it-yourself skills, the spring schedule of the Department of Continuing Education includes "Basic Home Repairs: Electrical Equipment," a two-week class beginning on Tuesday, April 28.

Two three-week classes are "Rapid Reading" on Wednesday, April 29 and "Ballroom Dancing" on Thursday, April 30.

A total of seven classes, four weeks long, will begin next week. They are: "How to Make a Speech" on Monday, April 27; "Astronomy," "Summer Party Foods" and "What's New in Mysteries" on Tuesday, April 28; and "A Story Approach to Genealogy," "Home Ownership in the Pointes" and "Microwave Cooking" on Thursday, April 30.

Residents with an interest in exploring the basics of "Advertising Design" will find a five-week class beginning on Wednesday, April 29, while those wishing to learn a new handicraft may elect "Crocheting" on the same evening.

GP Continuing Education classes cover leisure time and self improvement

Four classes of six weeks' duration designed for those with wide-ranging interests are "You, Your Estate and Your Heirs" which deals with wills, trusts, and probate, beginning Monday, April 27; "Textural Embroidery" beginning Tuesday, April 28; "Child Care — A Career Option" on Wednesdays beginning April 29; and "Workshop in Creative Stitchery" on Thursdays beginning April 30.

Although most classes are held in the evening, some are slotted into available space in schools throughout the district during the day. Fees charged are nominal and range from $3 for some single session classes to $15 for most of the six-week offerings.

A total of eight short-term options are offered beginning the week of Monday, April 27.

"One-night stands" or single-session classes scheduled for Monday, April 27 include "Motivating Yourself and Others," "Prepare Your Garden for Summer," and "Charity Suzek's Diary of a South African Adventure: Recipes, Comments, and Demonstration."

Four one-night stands are available on Tuesday, April 28: "Smoking Hypnosis Clinic," "Garage Sales for Fun and Profit," and two which will be offered free of charge, "Alcoholism: Intervention and Treatment Option," and "Blood Pressure and Vital Signs."

"Roll Out the Polka," a one-hour opportunity to learn or to brush up basic steps of the polka will be held on Thursday, April 30.

Handle stress at St. John

The Patient Education Center of Saint John Hospital is offering a two-day "Stress Management Seminar," on Wednesday, April 29 and Thursday, April 30, from 7 to 10:15 p.m., in the Lower Level Education Center.

Included in the seminar will be a written "Stress Experience Test," various nationally produced films viewed on coping with stress, anxiety, relaxation skills, exercises, diaphragmatic breathing and a myriad of suggestions, experiences and literature on how to more effectively handle stress in daily life.

There is a $10 charge for this program covering the cost of informational booklets, brochures, and refreshments. If interested, call Saint John Hospital's Patient Education Center at 343-3870.

When Henry Ford II. visited the Domecq family of Jerez, Spain, makers of Domecq sherry, he is supposed to have remarked that he may have more money but they live better. Undoubtedly they lived well, as well as they might in the 200 years that they have run their sherry producing business. Favored guests get to stay at the family's 17th century mansion near the center of the city. When entering the house, you will be met by liveried footmen and maids or butlers appear almost instantly.

If wine can be judged as a standard of living, you can raise your standards with a brief interlude at PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE, 17255 Mack, Corner of St. Clair, Detroit. We offer an array of beverages that are fit for royalty. Whether you are having a king and queen for dinner or some friends, you will find the beverages that will add a touch of something special. Senior Center lists events

The Geography and History study group of The Neighborhood Club Senior Center invites all seniors to share its educational program. The group meets at 1:30 every Monday afternoon except during the second week of the month, when it meets at the same time on Wednesday afternoon. The group will not meet Monday, April 20.

Following that date, the following special programs will be offered:

- Monday, April 27, The Reverend Doctor Kenneth Kettlewell, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Detroit.
- Monday, May 4, Herbert Bumpus, British Isles.
- Wednesday, May 13, Ray Walk, India; Vale of Kashmir.
- Monday, May 18, Mary Fitzpatrick, Australia and New Zealand.

Among those who have been contacted to present programs for the yet unscheduled dates are: Howard Riley with slides of "America's Four Corners" (Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and Utah) or his "Pacific Northwest."

Mary Ellen Tappan with slides of China or Bavaria and Austria.

Village Club raises funds

The Village Club senior adult group at the Neighborhood Club sponsored a successful pancake brunch on March 29. The proceeds raised from the affair will be used for youth activities sponsored by the Neighborhood Club.

The success of the event is attributed to the Village Club members and their volunteer effort. The Neighborhood Club thanks the following individuals, Marguerite Benson, Evelyn Marrs, Doris Cocash, Helen and Bob Douglas, Beatrice Hines, Kathy Lee, Vera Pasny, Helen and George Salbert, Rose Sutton, Vera Taroli, Evelyn Todd, Arlis Walker, Al Yaklin, Alda Zukas and Ed Zukas.

The Village Club has a number of recreation and social events planned throughout the year. A Village Club newsletter, published every month, lists these events. Call 865-4600 to receive a copy.

Widowers meet April 29

The Widow and Widowers Club will hold its next meeting Wednesday, April 29, at the home of President Amy Hubert at 7 p.m.

Speaker will be writer and world traveler Steve Spilos. Card games and a social hour also are planned. Call 881-7646 for more information.

For Senior Citizens

By Marian Trainor

Learning is not just for the young anymore. Colleges are actively seeking older students who are hearing the call.

After years of investing in their children's education, parents have decided that it is their turn and are going in many different directions. Some are earning certification for professions. Others are learning more about a particular interest. Some are going just for the joy and satisfaction of learning.

No matter what the incentives for pursuing education are, the opportunities for accomplishing a goal are there. If money is a problem, some schools such as Wayne County Community College offers free tuition to retirees. Universities have made access easy by establishing branches in various locations. Reduced fees are not available at this level, although they should be since scholarships, grants, and loans are usually not available to older students.

For those who are interested in developing a hobby or sharpening a particular skill, adult education courses at reasonable rates are available in neighborhood schools, churches and centers.

But supposing students want to study a serious subject at a university level without too much expenditure of time and money. Where do they turn?

The answer would be a relatively new movement in education, the Elderhostel. Elderhostels provide courses taught by University professors. There are no tests. Neither are there term papers or other assignments. Courses only last a week.

However one of the best attractions of the plan is that it is also a vacation. The courses are held on college campuses with dormitory accommodations included in the $140 tuition.

Western Michigan University is the regional headquarters for Elderhostel in Michigan but students may attend any one of eight colleges. They are: Albion, Concordia, Cranbrook, Lake Superior, Michigan State, Suomi, University of Michigan, and Western.

At each campus, Elderhostelers may choose from at least three informal courses weekly. The courses do not overlap and the student may choose to attend one, two or three courses which are designed to provide educationally, challenging and stimulating learning experiences.

The accommodations follow the European tradition of youth hostels and folk schools by providing inexpensive yet comfortable housing in dormitory residences for the one-week period. Most are double rooms with bathrooms. There is an extra charge for a single room. Meals are billed as being "good and plentiful."

Social and cultural events have been scheduled for the evening hours for those who wish to take advantage of the activities. Nature walks, square dancing, physical fitness programs and theater tours are some of the recreational offerings.

Most of the colleges listed are familiar and not too far away, about the same distance a vacationer would travel for a week of relaxation.

Albion is about 50 miles west of Ann Arbor. It covers 90 acres and has a pool, tennis courts and a 91 acre Nature Center with marked trails and tours.

Concordia College is located in Ann Arbor, and is part of a 15-school system of colleges of The Lutheran Church. It has a 234 acre campus that looks out over the Huron River.

Cranbrook, located on 300 acres in Bloomfield Hills is well known locally as an education and cultural center.

Overlooking the famous Soo Locks and upper St. Mary's River is Lake Superior State College. The campus was built on the historic site of Fort Brady, a United States Army Post dating back to 1882. This locale is particularly suited to outdoor enthusiasts.

Traverse City, another vacation wonderland, is the location of the Michigan State Elderhostel. Located on the shore of Grand Traverse Bay of Lake Michigan, it is surrounded by miles of natural cherry orchards.

Pinckney Michigan, The University of Michigan Fresh Air Camp, covers 86 wooded acres of rolling hills and is located on Patterson Lake making it ideal for study of natural habitats. Supervised swimming, free use of boats, birdwatching, trails, folk and square dancing are part of the program.

Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo lies halfway between Chicago and Detroit and is only 45 minutes from Lake Michigan making it a convenient location for sidetrips to either of these cities.

While location may be factor, course offerings will probably be the deciding point on which college is chosen.

All of the colleges have a varied program but some of them, as you might expect, are programmed according to the location. Lake Superior State College, for instance, has scheduled: Rocks and Minerals of the Eastern Upper Peninsula Area, a geology course in the identification and classification of rocks and minerals found in the surrounding area. Rock hunters should be delighted with this one since field trips are included. History buffs will enjoy "The Sault, 300 Years of History," a study of Indian cultures, French explorers, building of the Locks and growth of shipping from 1668 to the present. After exploring the region looking for rocks and browsing the museum surveying Indian artifacts, "Health Fitness and You" may seem a little much but the course promises to develop and revitalize your personal health fitness program and I guess we could all use that.

Removed from the physical and more in the area of mental exercise is "Poetry and the Pursuit of Value"—a Cranbrook offering designed to relate the concerns of science and the five crucial stages of English literature employing the "ascent of man" formula.

The role Cranbrook has played in

Measelle heads drive for United Negro College Fund

Richard Measelle

Grosse Pointe Farms resident Richard L. Measelle, managing partner of the Detroit office of Arthur Andersen & Co., was recently named general chairman of the 1981 United Negro College Fund campaign for the state of Michigan.

The appointment was announced by Richard E. Cross, chairman of the U.N.C.F. Michigan executive committee.

Last year's Michigan Campaign for U.N.C.F. reached a new milestone, $1 million. This is the 38th consecutive year of the U.N.C.F. campaigns, which benefit more than 50,000 students who attend the 41 predominantly black member institutions. All are private, four-year, fully accredited schools.

The funds raised are applied to scholarship and other financial aid programs, faculty and curriculum development, the purchase of equipment and books and other general operating expenses. The 1981 Michigan goal is $1 million: the national goal, $21 million.

In accepting the chairmanship, Measelle said, "The response of Michigan to past U.N.C.F. campaigns indicates a deep faith in the necessity for and the positive results of the U.N.C.F. institutions. We are depending on the continued commitment of past supporters and the establishment of new donors.

"The needs of the member colleges have spiraled due to the effects of inflation and other economic pressures, and we must help them meet the challenges they face."

Measelle has been with Arthur Andersen & Co. for 20 years and has been in charge of the Detroit office since 1975. From 1965 to 1972, he was assigned to the firm's operations in Spain and the balance of his career has been spent in Detroit. He is active in many civic and community organizations and serves on the board of directors of the following organizations: Detroit Economic Growth Corporation, University of Detroit, Hutzel Hospital/University Health Center, Detroit Grand Opera Association, Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Economic Club of Detroit, Greater Detroit Round Table of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, Metropolitan Fund and the Michigan Foundation for the Arts.

Woods Mayor George Freeman Joins Pointers in State Conference on Aging

Several Grosse Pointe area residents, including Grosse Pointe Woods Mayor George Freeman, were elected delegates to the State White House Conference on Aging, held later this year in Washington, D.C.

The delegates will represent the concerns of elderly residents of this area at the conference scheduled for April 29 and 30 at the Dearborn Hyatt Regency Hotel.

The conference will meet to develop a statewide platform on the problems and concerns of Michigan's 1,400,000 elderly residents. This platform will then be presented to the National White House Conference on Aging, held later this year in Washington, D.C.

Elected along with Mayor Freeman were: Nora Blixt, Bert Francis, Virginia Hetmanski, Esther Howell, and Irene Sutton, all of Grosse Pointe Woods; Emogene Adams, Genevieve Casey, Winifred Jaquish, and Hiromichi Ota from Grosse Pointe; Elizabeth Williams and Bernice Zilly from Grosse Pointe Farms; Edward Allardice from Grosse Pointe Park and Arthur Jamieson of Harper Woods; Adele Ryder of Grosse Pointe Woods was elected as an alternate to the conference.

The delegates were elected by participants of the Region 1-A conference held March 7 at Cobo Hall. Region 1-A consists of Detroit, the Pointes, Harper Woods, Hamtramck, and Highland Park.

1st K of C in GP's history

Our Lady Star of the Sea Council No. 7780 became the first Knights of Columbus Council ever instituted in the Grosse Pointes on Sunday, April 5. This new council, located in Grosse Pointe Woods, will be a parish type.

This council was instituted with 56 members, of which 34 were newly initiated and the remainder were reinstatements or transfers from other councils.

Lawrence J. McGovern was elected the first Grand Knight and John C. Kennedy was elected the Deputy Grand Knight along with an Officers Board of 13 members.

Only one week after the council was formed, the Star of the Sea Council participated in the Fifth Annual Mental Retardation Drive (Tootsie Roll Drive) sponsored by the entire Michigan Jurisdiction of the Knights of Columbus and successfully collected more than $1,200 in only five hours on Saturday, April 11.

Persons over 18 years of age and interested in joining the council may call Membership Chairman Lido Aldini at 881-6661 or Grand Knight Larry McGovern at 823-4485.

Two long-time Grosse Pointe public school teachers announced they will retire at the end of the current semester this spring.

Hachey, Lewis to retire

Shirley Lewis, who has been a teacher for 33 years in Grosse Pointe and 36 years in Michigan, will retire from her current post as a math teacher at North High School. Ms. Lewis is a Carleton College, Minnesota, graduate who received her Master's degree from Wayne State University. She taught math at Pierce Middle School, Parcels Middle School (where she also taught dramatics) and at North.

Russell J. Hachey will retire this spring after 28 years with Grosse Pointe schools. Hachey, an industrial education teacher at Pierce Middle School, came to the Pointe from Duluth, Minn., and received his Master's degree in industrial education at Wayne State University.

In addition to teaching, Hachey is a professional percussionist and has played with several Detroit area bands.

The Board of Education noted the retirements and thanked both teachers for their service at its April 13 meeting.

the contemporary state of art in America will be surveyed in "Cranbrook: The World of Art and Classical Music." Original works by Carl Miles and Eliel Saarinen will be highlighted through lecture and a walking tour. A science seminar and a computer course in basic computer programming will also be on the program.

At Albion, you can learn the basic techniques of the Art of Chinese Cooking through lecture and demonstration and enjoy a special dinner at the end. "Modern Art" will include a visit to the Ann Arbor Art Fair and "Enjoying Live Drama" will examine a piece of literature, view its performance and discuss the production on a field trip to the Power Center in Ann Arbor.

A promise to learn impossible memory feats is made to those who enroll in "Memory Effectiveness Training" at Concordia. A course in Watercolor painting and the how and why of glaciers may also be elected.

A weeklong workshop on "How to Think Creatively" will equip you to become a Ulyssean traveler in life offered in The Ulyssean Elder at Michigan State University Traverse City Center.

A Copper Country Nature Study, "The Art of Raku and Folk History and Sayings" makes a unique and satisfying program at Suomi College.

Geared to the outdoor enthusiast is a week at the University of Michigan Pinckney location where Environmental Field Studies will discuss means of wilderness preservation.

Photography fans will learn how to take nature pictures and other crafts using natural materials. In Wilderness Skills you will learn how to gather edible plants and prepare wilderness meals.

If the abstract rather than the concrete is of more interest, then Western Michigan University offers an overview of basic principles of behavior in "Introduction to Human Behavior" — a survey of Hinduism, Buddhism and Islam in Three Non-Western Religious Traditions. Also offered is "The Art of Listening."

If a vacation that combines learning and visiting one of the scenic locations in Michigan appeals to you, you can learn more about the Elderhostel program by writing Michigan Elderhostel, Western Michigan University Kalamazoo, Mich., 49008.

One of the legends associated with Christmas Eve is the belief that, on that night, lost things are found again.

Wilbert heads paint class

A rare opportunity for concentrated instruction in creating a painting is offered by the War Memorial Association in a three-day workshop with Professor Robert Wilbert on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 4, 5 and 6 from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Prof. Wilbert is back in Detroit after years of painting and presenting his canvases in the major galleries in New York. He has also exhibited at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Art Institute of Chicago, the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, the Denver Art Museum and the Butler Institute of American Art. He holds a Master of Fine Arts degree from the Universities of Illinois and Denver.

In addition to being a fine artist Wilbert combines excellent teaching skills with that ability. He will show his workshop members how to grasp the orderly plan under the appearances of nature, how to organize the material they see and how to paint it.

Advance registration for this three day workshop is requested so that supplies will be had and no time wasted in the studio. Sack lunches should be brought for brief breaks. The 16 hour concentrated course is $99. Enrollments should be made by mail or in person at the War Memorial's office, 32 Lakeshore as soon as possible. The workshop will take place in Studio One of the new art wing.

Summer Academy Program May 9

A young student participant in the United States Summer Academy (above) examines a geological specimen at Yellowstone National Park. Travel-study seminars conducted by the private, non-profit Summer Academy organization are historical and scientific expeditions for high ability junior high and high school students. Expeditions include study in the areas of American history, TV production, geology, photography and archaeology. An informative presentation relating details of the program will be offered on Tuesday, May 5, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Assumption Center, 21800 Marter Road. Admission is free. Call 779-6111 for additional information.

St. Clare presents 'Pinafore'

Junior high students at St. Clare of Montefalco

School, under the direction of music teacher, Marilyn Schorer, are putting the final musical spit and polish on their production of Gilbert and Sullivan's H.M.S. Pinafore. Performances are scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, May 6 and 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the church auditorium. Ticket price is $2.

The venerable, British musical comedy concerns the romantic-social entanglements of Victorian society and its class structure on all levels. Leads playing these classic roles are Clayton Guensche, Captain of the Pinafore; Patricia J. Kemp, Buttercup; Anthony Valenti, Sir Joseph Porter; Meg De-Ronghe, Josephine; Patrick McKeever, Ralph Rackstraw; Patrick Burson, Dick Dead-eye; Bridget McKeever, Cousin Hebe; and Jeffrey Zawacki, Boatswain.

The ladies and gentlemen of the chorus are played by junior high students and faculty members Sister Mary Rutledge, Sister Ann Schmidt Catherine O'Neill and Kathleen Duncan.

For more information, call 886-1440.

Measuring 10 feet by 10 feet, this big, beautiful Easter Bunny was constructed over three days by the fifth and sixth grade classes of Richard Wellman and Sherryl Pfau, of Ferry School, in the Woods. White, with pink ears, nose and eyes the bountiful bunny rests on a landing between the first and second floor of the school.

Econ classes sign up now

"Economics Update II," a class co-sponsored by the Department of Continuing Education of the local public school system and University Courses in Adult Education (UCAE) began on Wednesday, April 22.

Although this class builds on the materials presented in "Economics Update I" in the fall, this new course, which examines the prospects for U.S. and world economics over the next few years, may be taken without having had the first offering.

The future cost of oil prices, the ups and downs of the U.S. dollar, the problems of the housing industry and the longer term outlook for the auto industry and the midwest industrial region are among the topics to be explored.

Participants of "Economics Update II" will also examine the range of policy options available to the Reagan administration and the likely consequences of following each option for inflation, unemployment, interest rates and the government budget.

Fee for the six-session offering to be taught by Dr. David H. Levey is $48. Location of the class is the second floor Exhibition of the Grosse Pointe Central Library, Fisher Road at Kercheval Avenue.

For additional information call 343-2178.

Poupard principal resigns

Poupard Elementary School Principal Peter M. Wharton announced last week he will resign from his post in Grosse Pointe effective May 8, to take on the position of Superintendent in Onekama Consolidated Schools.

He is the third Grosse Pointe elementary school principal to resign during the 1980-81 school year. Sally Bell, from Defer, and Eric Follo, from Trombly, also left the Pointe for other jobs earlier in the semester.

Wharton's resignation was announced to the Board of Education at its April 13 meeting and two trustees, Joan Hanpeter and Dorothy Kenneil, voted not to accept the resignation because it came so near the end of the school year.

"It disturbs me that one of our key administrators would give us 30 days notice and leave so close to the end of the school year. It's such an important time," Mrs. Hanpeter said.

Superintendent William Coats told the trustees they could force Dr. Wharton to serve out the remaining year and two months of his contract with the school system, but he assured them Wharton "is not leaving us high and dry."

"Dr. Wharton worked diligently to complete the details of his administrative duties, including next year's budget for the school and evaluation of teachers. We will have no problem covering for him," Coats said.

Wharton's resignation was approved as part of a general personnel report by a 5-2 vote, with Mrs. Kenneil and Mrs. Hanpeter dissenting.

Most birds fly at altitudes under 3,000 feet and usually stay below cloud levels. But recently a condor collided with an airplane at 20,000 feet in South America. And geese have been seen flying at heights above 9,000 feet.

All systems were "Go" Tuesday night, April 7, at a gala reception at the War Memorial to celebrate the "bringing on system" of Grosse Pointe Cable Television in the Farms. While guests and city officials of four of the five Pointes watched, War Memorial Director John Lake (right) threw a switch providing power to 36 TV sets at the center, each symbolizing one of the 36 channels available on the cable system. Helping Lake was GP Cable's Vice-President and General Manager Mike Reynolds.

St. Paul holds co-op open house May 12

St. Paul Lutheran Co-op Nursery School will hold an open house on Tuesday, May 12 designed to acquaint parents with the school, its philosophy, equipment, and operation. The annual event will be held at the church, 375 Lothrop Road, at 7:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

The teacher-director, Mrs. John Andrews, and the newly-installed board members will be present to meet parents interested in the cooperative nursing school program.

ULS musicians earn honors

University Liggett students Rhona Spitz, Beth Wahl, Matteo di Tomasso and Anita Gugala traveled to Rochester's Adams High School last month for the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association's solo and ensemble festival and each of the musicians received the highest honor—a first division rating.

Spitz, Wahl and di Tomasso were further evaluated on a proficiency exam which required them to perform a solo, scales and sight read. Judges awarded each student a first division rating and invited them to perform in the Youth Arts Festival in Mt. Pleasant in April.

Ukulele from Portugal The ukulele did not originate in Hawaii. It was introduced to the Hawaiians, as a four-string guitar, in the latter part of the 18th century by Portuguese sailors.

Secours hosts medical meet

Dr. Coyle is CBDA ambassador

Dr. R. Gerald Coyle, of Grosse Pointe, who has practiced dentistry in downtown Detroit for 23 years, has been selected by the Central Business District Association as a 1981 Downtown Detroit Ambassador.

For the third consecutive year, CBDA has conducted a search for outstanding citizens working in jobs or in volunteer capacities "behind the scenes" downtown with an enthusiasm and love for Detroit.

Dr. Coyle's community involvement is carried into action through his support of the arts and through charitable and professional avenues. He is a sponsor of the Founders Society, a non-profit corporation which supports the Detroit Institute of Arts and he serves on the Board of Governors for the YMOA, which honored him with the title, in 1977, of "YMCA Man of the Year."

Dr. Coyle also works for two organizations which provide opportunities for handicapped children, serving on the Executive Committee for the March of Dimes and as advisor for the Special Olympics for Retarded Children. Currently he serves as chairman of the Detroit District Dental Society.

Sipping some classic wine

"Classic Wines," co-sponsored by the Department of Continuing Education and Culinary Consultants, Inc., begins on Tuesday, May 5.

Emphasis of this new class, taught by Rob and Betty Young, is on classic wines from classic grapes, including Riesling, Cabernet Sauvignon, Pinot Noir and Chardonnay. Each session will feature comparative tasting (to determine the varying effects created by differing climates, temperatures and soils) using domestic as well as South American, Spanish, French, German and Australian wines.

Tuition for the four-week class is $15 and a fee will be assessed for the purchase of wines and foods.

Taxpayers can amend returns

Many taxpayers discover that after they have filed their federal tax returns, some item was left out, such as a deduction or an income figure. Taxpayers can change their original tax returns by filing corrected returns on Form 1040X, the Internal Revenue Service says.

The original return can be amended any time during the three years following the due date (including extensions) of the original, or two years from the time the tax was paid, whichever is later, according to the IRS.

Taxpayers can receive copies of Form 1040X and additional information by calling the IRS Tax Forms/Information number listed for taxpayer assistance in the local telephone directory.

Mixed Chorus presents its spring concert

Together with the Bishop Gallagher-De LaSalle Symphonic Band, the Mixed Chorus will present the annual Spring Concert on Saturday, May 9, at Grosse Pointe North's Performing Arts Center.

Tickets will be available at the schools for a two dollar donation. Both musical groups will present a varied program of popular and classical music which will be highlighted by several combined selections.

Parents look at the Alger family April 24

At the next meeting of the Grosse Pointe chapter of Parents Without Partners (PWP) Marilyn Morgan, assistant to John Lake, executive director of the War Memorial, will relate interesting anecdotes about the Alger family and their home, as well as the history of the War Memorial.

The presentation is part of the general meeting on Friday, April 24, with coffee hour at 7:30 p.m., and speaker at 8:30 p.m., with an afterglow following.

The Grosse Pointe chapter meets the second and fourth Fridays of each month at the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road. Call the PWP Hot Line at 881-5892 for information on how to become a member.

State jobless rate drops in March

Employe callbacks in the auto and related industries helped push Michigan's unemployment rate down a full percentage point from 14.2 percent in February to 13.2 percent in March, according to estimates released this week by Michigan Employment Security Commission Director S. Martin Taylor.

Forty thousand fewer workers were unemployed in March, Taylor said, as the state's jobless total fell to 564,000 from 604,000 in February. Total employment across the state rose to 3,695,000, an increase of 48,000.

Taylor said that while this is the first piece of good news for the state's labor force in 1981, it is still too early to say that the March drop in unemployment is a signal that the jobless picture is going to improve significantly over the next several months.

He pointed out that the current March unemployment rate is still well ahead of last year's when the state's jobless rate was 11.2 percent with 475,000 out of work. In addition to the employment gains in the manufacturing and auto and auto related industries, there were scattered job gains in construction and service industries.

Nationally, the March jobless rate remained unchanged from February's rate of 7.3 percent.

Tax breaks CPAs say turn vacation hideaways into business

Thinking of selling your vacation cottage because you don't have much time to spend there anymore, but it's still a nice getaway? What about turning it into a business by renting it out to others? It can bring tax breaks to you and it doesn't just have to be real estate property to qualify says the Michigan Association of CPAs. You can rent out a boat, mobile home or camper and still deduct rental-related expenses such as mortgage interest, taxes and casualty losses.

A vehicle may qualify for a 10 percent investment tax credit if it's treated as business property. How does this work? Whether you rent a house, mobile home or camper, or charter a boat the deductions you may take depend upon the length of time you rent and how often you use the property yourself. As long as it's rented for fewer than 15 days, rental income need not be reported. Therefore, it is not taxable, the CPAs say.

For business eligibility your vacation retreat can be considered for tax breaks if your personal use doesn't exceed two weeks or 10 percent of the total rental days, whichever is greater. As an example, when the house, camper, boat or mobile home is rented for 200 days a year, you can use it for 20 days. You should also show a profit every two out of five years. With these circumstances, rental-related expenses in excess of rental or charter income are deductible on your federal income tax return, say the CPAs. A local rental agent's commission to find tenants and oversee your cottage are deductible. Other deductible expenses include maintenance and repairs, utilities and travel costs when you open and close the house or take the boat to a marina. Depreciation on the property can also be taken off your tax return, in addition to mortgage interest, property taxes and casualty losses.

Do you use your vacation home more than two weeks or 10 percent of all the days it's rented or chartered? Then, your business tax deductions can't be greater than the total amount of the rent you receive. Rental-related expenses are allocated between business and personal use and you can deduct the business portion from rental income. When you use your boat, camper or mobile home as a business asset you can claim a 10 percent investment tax credit also. How much of the property's cost qualifies for the credit depends upon its useful life.

For more information on this, IRS Publication #334, "Tax Guide for Small Business" contains the details on investment tax credits.

Men with long eyes

As the space shuttle Columbia was gliding toward its smooth landing on a dry lake bed in California last week, one of the members of the staff of the Grosse Pointe News was having lunch with a Chinese friend at the Detroit Press Club. While apparently unrelated, the two incidents do have something in common, as we shall see in a moment.

The Chinese friend is a kind of Rip Van Winkle character so far as the United States is concerned. He was born in China, attended several U.S. colleges, including the University of Detroit, and worked as a newsman for the Detroit News and other publications before returning to China in 1948. He is on his first visit to the United States in 33 years.

Asked for his major impression of this country today after his long absence from it, he replied, "Your incredible wealth." He explained that in comparison with the People's Republic of China, the material wealth of the people in this country is almost unbelievable. And he added that the United States also knows more freedom than any other country and still is regarded in most areas of the globe as the land of opportunity.

SOMEHOW HIS words helped put into perspective the success of the Columbia. It was a combination of government initiative and private enterprise that made possible the latest U.S. launch into and return from outer space. It was also costly, with government expenses estimated at more than $10 billion in the last decade. But this country, as our Chinese friend said, is incredibly wealthy and could afford this expensive exploration into the outer limits of our universe. But our freedom also made it possible. Our competitive private enterprise and our government both stress the freedom of choice that is so much a part of our economic and political system. They joined in this successful mission whose benefits in science, medicine, and, yes, national defense will be more fully appreciated in the years ahead.

There are those who deplore the amounts of money spent on space research at a time when many human needs remain to be met. But science must always press forward, exploring the unexplored in order to expand the limits of man's knowledge. Always there is the hope that not only man's vision will be extended but that man's control of his environment will be increased and other direct benefits will be realized. The successful space mission even raises hopes of the use of satellites to capture more solar energy for man's benefit. So discoveries prompted by the space mission could improve man's lot as well as his understanding of the universe.

EVENTUALLY IT IS hoped that the shuttle will enable the United States to put a huge telescope into outer space to continue the exploration of the universe. That recalls the phrase that an Arizona Indian tribe coined for the astronomers who leased one of the tribe's mountains as a location for an observatory. The Indians called them "the men with the long eyes."

Today the nation can pay tribute to all those who played their part in the success of the space mission. In effect, all of those superb scientists, engineers, astronomers and all the rest are "the men with the long eyes" who are furthering our knowledge of the universe and opening up new vistas of benefits to mankind in the years ahead.

The lost colony

It is disappointing that the Grosse Pointe artists' colony is in the process of being dispersed because it has been unable to find a new home. As sculptor Frank Varga pointed out, once the group breaks up it is unlikely it will ever get back together again. At the moment that appears to be the fate of the colony as the artists move out of their old quarters at the Grosse Pointe Academy.

This is not said in criticism of the Academy trustees who were told after an architectural study that the building is unsuitable for occupancy because it needs a new roof as well as heating, plumbing and electrical repairs. The trustees hope to have the building restored by 1983 when the Academy will mark its centennial.

One proposal was for the school board to donate old Kerby School to the Grosse Pointe War Memorial which then could convert it to a professional artists' center and new home for the colony. The school board now uses the old school building for an instructional material center, maintenance crews and storage. But so far the board has not appeared to be particularly sympathetic to the War Memorial proposal or to an alternative to lease the building to the artists.

The Grosse Pointe artists' colony has won little of the notoriety that surrounds such colonies elsewhere. The artists kept a low profile and did not go in for the kind of personal promotion or unusual lifestyles that mark colonies on the West Coast or even in New England. Instead, the artists worked quietly, many of them plying their artistic skills after business hours and on weekends in part-time vocations or avocations. Yet some did achieve well-deserved success in their chosen fields.

Virginia Thibodeau, who is credited with starting the colony concept at the Academy 12 years ago, pointed out that the artists did provide a kind of cultural center which helped enrich the community. So they did. But for lack of a new home it appears the colony will die.

Lost in our own pothole

The Grosse Pointe News finds, to its embarrassment, that it has fallen into an old pothole of its own making with one of its editorial comments about the need for repaving Lakeshore in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Repeating an error that had originally appeared in a news story in the paper, an editorial last week said that the Farms had paid for paving the section of Lakeshore from Warner to Fisher back in 1975. The editorial then concluded that the Farms already had breached the principle it is standing on when it insists that the Wayne County Road Commission pay the cost of repaving Lake-shore. Unfortunately, that section of Lakeshore is not a part of the designated county road system, the road commission has no responsibility to pay for paving it and so the conclusion that the Farms had breached its own principle was in error. We're sorry, as we told several callers who noted the mistake.

That error doesn't change our opinion, however, that something should be done to those Lakeshore potholes before we lose one of our citizens in one of them. And if the road commission doesn't have the money to finance the project, the Farms Council ought to consider other alternatives.

Balloons launch early May health fair

Cottage Hospital dietary department secretary Andrea Cieslak (left) holds some of the more than 350 helium filled balloons released last week from the hospital's roof top garden to announce its upcoming health fair. Each balloon carried an invitation to the "Start a Healthy Habit" fair to be held at Jacobson's of Grosse Pointe, 17000 Kercheval, on May 1 and 2. Cottage Hospital's Auxiliary also will sponsor a five kilometer run/walk on Sunday, May 3, as part of its "Start a Healthy Habit" campaign. See the story below for more details.

Cottage, Jacobson's health fair is on May 1 and 2

Cottage Hospital employees released more than 300 helium filled balloons from the roof garden of the hospital on Wednesday, April 15. Each balloon carried an invitation to the community to attend the Cottage Hospital "Start a Healthy Habit" Health Fair at the Jacobson's store, 17000 Kercheval Avenue, in the Village, May 1 and 2. Hours for the free health fair are 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Friday, May 1, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Saturday, May 2.

The person who can document that the invitation, carried by balloon, was received the farthest from the hospital (which is located at 159 Kercheval Avenue, Grosse Pointe Farms) will receive a free six week fitness course donated by Vital Options, Inc. Courses are available in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

The health fair will be held at five locations within the Jacobson's store. Visitors can obtain a free blood pressure check, pulmonary function testing, vision testing, weight and nutrition information, view hospital displays and receive information on a variety of health topics. Free brochures from many health agencies will also be available. Helium balloons will be given to children during the two day fair.

The theme of the Cottage Hospital health fair, "Start a Healthy Habit" also is the idea behind a 3.1 mile, or 5 kilometer Fun Run/Walk, sponsored by the Cottage Hospital Auxiliary on Sunday, May 3. Proceeds from the event will go toward the hospital's new ambulatory surgical unit.

Ralph L. Wilgarde, Cottage Hospital administrator, said, "Some of the ways hospitals can help people to participate in hospital cost containment efforts today is to urge them to use health care wisely and to promote healthy habits of daily living. Regular exercise, good nutrition, and health awareness are traditional values that make good sense for everyone today."

For more information about the Cottage Hospital Health Fair, contact the public relations office at Cottage Hospital, 884-8600, extension 2457.

Series looks at taxes in Pointes

"Property Taxes and Municipal Budgets" is the topic for the first program in the spring Home Ownership in the Pointes series. The session begins at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, April 30, in the Brownell School cafeteria, 260 Chalfonte.

Carroll Lock, City Assessor and Comptroller, Grosse Pointe Farms, will speak, and there will be an opportunity for questions from the audience.

Future programs will be held May 7, 14 and 21 and will include information on certificates of occupancy; condominium living; financing a housing purchase in today's market; and trends in real estate.

At the May 14 session, James Colville of Colville Electric and Robert A. Kehler of Bruce Wigle Plumbing, will speak on common plumbing and electrical problems.

The series is co-sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Real Estate Exchange and the Continuing Education Division of the Grosse Pointe Public Schools.

There is no charge for admission. Register by phoning 884-5700. You may also register in person at the first program, Thursday, April 30.

Finance help for singles at St. Clare

The loss of a spouse due to divorce or death often leaves the remaining spouse with a new burden of responsibility regarding financial matters. St. Clare's Divorced Catholics Group will sponsor a panel presentation entitled, "How To Deal With The Financial Issues Of Being Single Again," on Friday, May 1 at 7:30 p.m. in the Teen Room of Sweeney Center (on Mack at Audubon).

The general public is invited. A donation of $1 will be asked at the door.

The panel will consist of representatives from the fields of banking, investments, home economics and law. The panelists include: Patrick L. Martin, Credit Manager at the Personal Loan Office of Detroit Bank and Trust; Robert Reid, Vice-President of First of Michigan Corporation; Connie Kinner, a teacher and home economist; and Sam Ciaramitaro, a tax attorney with Evans and Luptak.

Topics to be discussed will include establishing credit, checking investments, household budgeting, taxes and tax laws.

Each panel member will give a brief presentation and answer and discuss questions submitted by the group. There will also be opportunity for small group discussion/consultation with panel member of one's choice.

For more information on St. Clare's Divorced Catholics Group, sponsors of the session, call Father Joe McCormick at 885-4960.

Letters to The Editor

A smokescreen excuse at 1030 Bedford Road

To the Editor:
As a former Grosse Pointer, I am shocked and disgusted to read of the controversy surrounding the opening of a group home for the retarded on Bedford. For a community that prides itself in its fine education system and support of its churches, the ignorance is only surpassed by the lack of Christian goodwill. The flimsy excuse that the owner of the home will realize a profit is the thinnest of smokescreens for the true sentiments of the protesters.

This is not a home for the criminally insane being established, but one for retarded adults, some former Pointers themselves, who are able to lead near-normal lives, which will be enhanced by the family-type environment provided by these group homes. The only difference is that these adults, like children, are merely incapable of taking care of all their own needs; consequently, there are trained staff to live with them and provide for these needs.

Finally, the benefits to be derived by the people living in this home will be enormous, from the pride of a degree of independence to the possibility of being able to have more frequent contacts with their families who live in the area.

I truly hope that Grosse Pointers will look into the facts, as well as their hearts, and welcome the "family" hoping to move into 1030 Bedford.

Culture belongs in old Kerby school

To the Editor:
Now is the time for Grosse Pointers to show the extent of their cultural awareness and love of the arts.

Do we want to establish a cultural center in the old Kerby School — a center that would benefit the entire community? Or, is it more appealing to tear down a useful and sturdy building to make way for expanded courthouse facilities or a parking lot or some other use that would not take full advantage of the building's potential?

Other communities such as Mt. Clemens and Warren have acquired an old library or school building and turned them into assets as art or cultural centers.

Can't we do as much?
We certainly must have as much desire to expose ourselves and our children to the benefits of such an experience.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

The Detroit Grand Opera Association, local sponsor of the Metropolitan Opera's annual spring visit to Detroit, will again host an Opera Week Opening Night Dinner in Masonic Temple's Crystal Ballroom prior to the Met's first performance in Masonic Auditorium, and Mrs. Joseph A. Vance Jr., of South Deeplands Road, has again been named to chair the black tie event.

It's the second year in a row that Ruth Vance has served in this capacity, and her plans to make the $75 per person dinner a truly grand occasion are already well underway.

"This event, I feel, will provide a gracious occasion for socializing prior to the performance and greatly enhance the festivity of Opening Night," she says. "The convenience factor—having the valet parking, cocktails, dinner and performance at the same locale—is also most appealing."

Invitations to the dinner, scheduled to start at 5:30 Monday, May 25, leaving three hours for eating, drinking and enjoying the company of fellow opera aficionados before the curtain goes up on "Manon Lescaut" at 8:30 p.m., were mailed last week to all of the DGOA's Benefactors, Sponsors, Patrons, Associate Patrons and Friends.

Assisting Ruth, known throughout the Detroit area's civic and cultural circles for her fund raising finesse, and her dinner committee are Virginia (Mrs. Paul S.) Mirabito and Barbara (Mrs. Harold M.) Marko, the DGOA's 1981 general chairman and co-chairman, respectively.

Additional information on the dinner may be obtained by calling the DGOA office, 832-5200.

ANN ALBRECHT, daughter of former Pointers MR. and MRS. WILLIAM H. ALBRECHT JR., has been elected as Representative to the Judicial Board for the 1981-82 school year at Converse College. Ann is a Heathwood Hall graduate and a freshman History major at Converse.

Among University of Michigan spring degree candidates selected to participate in the United States Presidential Management Intern Program in 1981-82 is STEPHEN K. MORRISON, son of A. KATHERINE MORRISON, of Lakepointe Avenue, and the late ROBERT G. MORRISON. The program provides a variety of work assignments, seminars, discussion groups and career counseling in and around the federal government.

MR. and MRS. WILLIAM J. ADLHOCH, of Radnor Circle, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on April 12 with a mass at Saint Paul's - on - the - Lakeshore Church. Following the mass, MR. and MRS. HENRY A.

of Hillcrest Road, re-elected president of the DRC, who conducted the annual meeting and introduced her new slate of officers, and MRS. H. LLOYD PATTERSON, of Bishop Road, DRC program chairman, who planned the luncheon and made arrangements for the group to meet at the Ford House.

BELS, of Moran Road, and MR. and MRS. WILLIAM G. ADLHOCH, of Merriweather Road, hosted a reception and dinner for their parents at Club Leo XIII in East Detroit. The Adhochs were married at Saint Anthony Church on April 11, 1931.

MR. and MRS. ROBERT HAMILTON, of Rochester, announce the birth of their first child, a daughter, SARA ELIZABETH HAMILTON, on March 6. Mrs. Hamilton is the former KAREN THEUERKORN, daughter of MR. and MRS. OTTO THEUERKORN, of Cook Road. Paternal grandparents are MR. and MRS. HENRY HAMILTON, of Torch Lake.

DR. and MRS. JAMES A. BROWN, of Van K Drive, announce the birth of their first child, a son, JEFFREY WADE BROWN, on March 16. Mrs. Brown is the former SUSAN TALLEY, daughter of LENORE TALLEY, of Rochester. Paternal grandparents are DR. and MRS. JOHN REID BROWN, of Chalfonte Avenue.

MR. and MRS. JOSEPH CORNWELL, of Lakepointe

Avenue, announce the birth of their second child, a daughter, ELLEN MARIE CORNWELL, on March 27. Mrs. Cornwell is the former JANET CURRY, daughter of MR. and MRS. DANI CURRY, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Paternal grandparents are MR. and MRS. NAT CORNWELL, of Fort Meyers, Fla. Older brother BRYAN JOSEPH is 3.

Round tables covered with white cloths and centered with bowls of colorful spring flowers and yellow velvet bows added a touch of spring to the Gallery of the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House when more than 60 members and guests of the Detroit Review Club gathered there for DRC's traditional April annual meeting and New Members Luncheon.

Mrs. Leonard Wise, of Shoreham Road, was chairman of the day which celebrated the end of the club's 89th year. Arrangements for the gathering were made by DRC program chairman Mrs. H. Lloyd Patterson.

The day began with the annual meeting, conducted by DRC President Mrs. James Mullaney, of Hillcrest Road. Although this is the second year in a row that the Review Club has held its annual meeting in the Dining Room of the Ford House, members and guests again admired that room. This year, it was flooded with bright sunshine highlighting the famous dark, 18th century paneling taken from the Treaty House Room at Clock House, Uppinister, England.

Mrs. Mullaney called for reports by officers, directors and standing committees before giving her own report. Later, she presented the new 1981-82 DRC officers and directors, all but two of whom are Grosse Pointers.

Savor salads for Symphony

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Drettmann have offered their spacious new Lakeshore home as setting for the annual salad luncheon of the Grosse Pointe Symphony Women's Association, to be held this year on Wednesday, May 6, beginning at 11:30 a.m.

Association members will prepare the salads, including molded, green, ethnic and hearty types, in their own kitchens; bring them to the party, then enjoy the shared feast. The high calorie conclusion of the meal will be a buffet of desserts, also from the membership.

Mrs. John E. Engstrom is chairing this mouth-watering event with the help of co-chairman Mrs. Anthony Vermeulen, who is taking reservations, and Mrs. Elmer L. Barber, Mrs. William O. Bradley Jr. handled the invitations. Luncheon arrangements are in the capable hands of Mrs. Philip Dexter.

Hostess chairman Mrs. Vollrad von Berg has asked Mrs. Robert L. Kaiser, Mrs. Robert Reisig, Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. William H. Bundesen and Mrs. John E. Young Jr. to assist on salad day.

Once again Dr. Lyndle R. Martin—lucky male among all those females—will preside over the wine punch table.

DBC will span the generations

The Women's Committee of the Detroit Boat Club will host its annual Mother-Daughter luncheon Saturday, May 2, and co-chairmen Mrs. Michael Murray and Mrs. J. Ross Bush, with the assistance of Mrs. Donald Durocher and Mrs. John Pshas, have planned a unique and entertaining afternoon.

The program, "Kids on the Block," is a show featuring handicapped and non-handicapped puppets. The production is from the Grosse Pointe School System, and is a direct result of a Supreme Court ruling which integrated handicapped students into regular classrooms.

It has appeared in 44 states and several foreign countries, and ties in with 1981 being designated as the International Year of Disabled Persons.

Cocktails will be served at 11:30 a.m., beginning the day's festivities.

Spring fashion show for T&C

Tennis and Crumpets, Inc., which benefits Children's Hospital of Michigan, will present a luncheon and fashion show Thursday, May 14, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. The fashions shown will be from Walton Pierce. There will be prizes and a cash bar.

Chairman Mrs. John Drummy Jr. and her committee extend an invitation to whomever would like to attend. Reservations will be taken until Wednesday, May 6, at 885-5795, 882-9511 or 343-0566. Tickets are $12.50 per person.

Proceeds will be given to Children's Hospital of Michigan as part of the Tennis and Crumpets annual benefit.

Met Opera Week ticket brochures are available

Mail order ticket brochures are now available to the general public for this spring's performances of New York's Metropolitan Opera Company at Masonic Auditorium.

The season opener Monday, May 25, will be a new production of Puccini's "Manon Lescaut," starring soprano Renata Scotto in the title role. The following evening, Tuesday, May 26, Kurt Weill and Bertolt Brecht's "Rise and Fall of the City of Mahagonny," featuring Teresa Stratas and Richard Casilly, will be performed in English.

A double bill, "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci," is scheduled for Wednesday, May 27. The "Pagliacci" cast includes Patricia Craig, Ermanno Mauro and Pablo Elvira. Mezzo-soprano Mignon Dunn will be featured in "Cavalleria Rusticana," replacing the originally scheduled Galina Savova.

The Met performance Thursday night, May 28, will be a "first" for Detroit: a concert performance of the "Verdi Requiem" with Maestro James Levine, Met music director, conducting the Met's orchestra and chorus. Requiem soloists will be Renata Scotto, Florence Quivar, Guigliano Cianella and Paul Plishka.

Mozart's "Don Giovanni," to be presented Friday, May 29, will feature James Morris in the title role, with Johanna Meier, Kathleen Battle, Carol Neblett and Donald Gramm.

Met Week closes Saturday, May 30, with a varied dup of productions. Saint-Saens "Samson et Dalila" will be performed in French, with Bruna Baglioni, for the 1:30 p.m. matinee. The Met's new production of "La Traviata," featuring Catherine Malfitano, Guigliano Cianella and Sherrill Milnes, will be presented in the evening.

Besides the Verdi Requiem, Maestro Levine will conduct the productions of "Manon Lescaut," "Mahagonny" and "Don Giovanni." All evening performances begin at 8 p.m., with the exception of opening night's "Manon Lescaut" which has an 8:30 p.m. curtain.

Ticket availability varies according to the popularity of the opera or its stars. Preference in ordering tickets is given to the contributing members and season ticket holders of the Detroit Grand Opera Association, sponsor of Metropolitan Opera Week in Detroit.

"The performances of 'Manon Lescaut' and 'La Traviata' are already nearly sold out, due to the extraordinary number of requests from our members for these operas," reports Grosse Pointe's Henry

Maureen meets her public

Her name is MAUREEN CODDINGTON, and she's the daughter of the Thomas Coddingtons, of Troy, and she's a very bright little girl—an honor student, talented in music and art—and a very active little girl, who roller skates and tap dances, and all of this goes into making her the NeuroMuscular Institute's Miss Inspiration of 1981.

She's pictured here at a recent Sunday brunch at the Detroit Golf Club, standing next to DR. MAURICE CASTLE, founder of NMI and Chief Orthopaedic Surgeon at Mount Carmel Mercy Hospital. Standing behind them are MR. and MRS. LEO HOWE, of Blairmoor Road, active, charter members of the NMI Boosters, the group which each year sponsors a benefit dinner dance at which NMI's Miss Inspiration for that year is introduced as living proof of what love, care and skill can accomplish.

Maureen was a special guest at the brunch, during which plans for this year's dinner dance were finalized. Other brunchers included Mr. and Mrs. Emil Grob, of North Renaud Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Aaron E. Wilcox, of Loraine Road.

The benefit is set for Saturday, May 2, at the Detroit Golf Club. Cocktails at 7 will be followed by dinner at 8:30 p.m. Panchito and his Orchestra will furnish the music for the evening. Information on tickets, at $65 per person, may be obtained by calling Kathy Parker, NMI coordinator, at 927-7012. Maureen was unable to walk until she was more than 20 months old. Her family doctor recommended Dr. Castle and the NMI, which was founded by Dr. Castle in 1968. His concept envisioned a facility where the child, handicapped with cerebral palsy or another muscular disorder, and the family could get total help: psychological testing, physical and speech therapy and surgical skills.

Dr. Castle donates his Wednesdays, and any extra time he has, to these handicapped children. NMI surgery and physical therapy have turned children who literally could not sit or walk into children who not only can walk, but can roller skate and tap dance as Maureen does.

She is indeed an inspiration to all who meet her: veteran of many operations, with two more to go, but secure in the knowledge that she functions better after each one.

Fourth Family Art Game fun at April's end

The fourth annual edition of the Detroit Institute of Arts' Family Art Game, a 32-page newspaper supplement of masterworks and commentary from the DIA, will be distributed to more than 792,000 homes and hundreds of schools across Michigan Sunday, April 26.

Copies of the game supplement which provides hidden answers to 10 art questions, five for adults and five for children, will be available at the museum for the month-long duration of the contest. Winners will be drawn from all the correct entries, and $1,750 in cash prizes and $1,500 in Museum Shop gift certificates will be awarded Sunday, June 7. A bonus question can be answered by visiting the art institute and seeking the answer in one of its 101 galleries.

All entries must be post-marked no later than May 25 or delivered to the museum by May 26.

Family Art Game is used as a class participation project by schools throughout Michigan. Parents are encouraged to play the game with their children at home.

The game is sponsored by major corporations. Their $150,000 support this year aids the DIA Founders Society's fund raising efforts. Production and distribution of the supplement is handled by the Detroit Free Press.

Mrs. Guy H. Pitts, of Bloomfield Hills, headed this year's sales to corporate sponsors committee. Pointers assisting her included Mrs. Norman L. Bird, Mrs. Alfred R. Glancy III, Mrs. Joseph L. Hudson Jr., Mrs. Robert N. Lynch, Mrs. Robert Dana McBride, Mrs. Peter Stroh, Mrs. Joseph Vance Jr., Mrs. Victor Wertz and Mrs. R. Alexander Wrigley.

To present lute recital

Baroque lutenist Hopkinson Smith makes his Detroit debut Friday, April 24, at 8:30 p.m. in the Detroit Institute of Arts Recital Hall, performing music by Robert de Visee, Sylvius Leopold Weiss and J.S. Bach.

Tickets at $7 are available from the art institute ticket office, 632-2730, and at the door.

American-born Smith is one of the few musicians in the world regularly performing and recording works for the baroque lute. He studied with Eugene Dambois in Basel, Switzerland.

Among the other speakers will be Republican State Representative Connie Binsfeld, United States State Department official Sarah G. Power, health care expert Luther Dean and Mike Whorf, of WJR.

Program fee is $16. The day's activities include lunch. Reservations must be received by the MSU Alumni Association, P.O. Box 432, East Lansing, Mich. 48823 by this coming Monday, April 27.

Further information on the program may be obtained locally by calling Sue Auch, 822-3591.

Student aid for Action Auction

A large rainbow, worthy of Judy Garland's song, appeared magically in the entrance hall of the Grosse Pointe Academy in mid-March, signifying the student kick-off for Action Auction '81. The rainbow symbolizes the "dream" theme selected by this year's auction committee, and the little arcs are cropping up everywhere now, replacing the myriad yellow hostage ribbons that had been tied throughout the school and its grounds. Academy students aid the auction by selling tickets for special prizes, including the fully-equipped K-car centering the cluster of young ticket

Pewabic hosts members' sale

Fifty artists are displaying their work in the Michigan Potters Association's annual Members' Sale which opens Sunday, April 26, and will continue through Sunday, May 10, at Michigan State University's Pewabic Pottery on East Jefferson Avenue.

Pottery demonstrations, including handbuilding by slab and coil methods, the throwing of pots on a potter's wheel and glazing techniques, will be featured each weekend during the event.

The show is free to the public. Hours are noon to 5 p.m. opening day, noon to 4:30 p.m. daily thereafter. Parking also is free at the historic pottery, now an MSU Lifelong Education Programs teaching center, across from Waterworks Park.

MOT offering six internships

Michigan Opera Theatre is accepting resumes for six production internships for its fall season in Detroit's Music Hall Center. Two of the intern openings are on the technical staff, two in the costume shop. There is also one internship available in stage directing and one in make-up.

MOT is nationally recognized for the quality of its Young Artists Intern Program which brings talented singers to Detroit to study and perform with the professional company. These interns were selected at auditions held earlier this spring.

According to General Director David DiChiera, "the purpose of MOT's Production Intern Program is to develop the same combination of training and professional experiences behind the scenes that we are creating onstage with our Artist Interns."

Production interns will be hired for a two-month period beginning in mid-September, during which MOT will be staging three major works: new productions of "Tosca" and "Carmen" plus the North American premier of the Armenian opera "Anoush."

Persons interested in the Production Intern Program should send resumes to the MOT Production Office, 350 Madison Avenue, Detroit, Mich. 48226. Phone calls or unsolicited visits will not be accepted.

(including a New York Yankees' program), a telescope, camera, calculator and other incentive prizes that will be awarded to top salesmen. Each classroom selling its quota will be treated to an ice cream sundae party. The idea is to spur the youngsters on to top last year's ticket sales of $30,000.

Spring sparkle of old Vienna at May ball

Springtime in Vienna lives in Grosse Pointe one evening in May every year: the night of the annual Viennese Ball at the War Memorial Center, sponsored by the War Memorial and hosted by Pointers Maribel and Alex Sucek.

The waltzes, polkas and one-steps of Strauss and Lehar, as well as contemporary tangos and paso dobles, are played for listening and for dancing by a 15-piece Viennese style ensemble.

And the atmosphere is authentic. The orchestra, led by Dr. Robert Warner, retired assistant dean of the U of M School of Music, and his flutist son, Allen, knows just the right tempo that make everyone want to dance. They play from scores obtained by the Suceks from the source—the Strauss publisher in Austria.

To while away intermission time, the Suceks also perform the liting lieder of Vienna in the Schrammel style and invite everyone to join in the choruses; that's a Viennese tradition, too. The words are printed in the program.

Feature classic car collector

Wallace C. Donoghue, general manager of Classic Auto Restoration, Farmington, will speak on "The Joy and Mystery of Classic Car Collecting" at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 29, at the Detroit Historical Museum.

His talk, third in a series of four informal lectures sponsored by the Detroit Historical Society at the museum this spring, is open to the public for a $2 admission charge. Members of the Historical Society and the Veteran Motor Car Club will be admitted free.

Reservations for an optional gourmet picnic supper served at 7 p.m. preceding Donoghue's presentation, at $5 per person, must be received with checks at the Detroit Historical Society, 5401 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich. 48202 by tomorrow, Friday, April 24. The number to call for further information is 833-7934.

Donoghue was bitten by the collecting bug during his junior and senior high school years in the early '50s, when he purchased a 1920 Model T touring car. It has since been sold, but he maintains a small private collection which includes a 1931 Lincoln, a 1936 and '37 Rolls Royce, a 1938 Bentley and a 1940 Cadillac.

His talk will touch on the history of car collecting, collecting from an investment standpoint and why people collect cars.

The final lecture in the spring series will feature architect Charles T. McCafferty Wednesday, May 13, in a program centering around historic preservation in the Detroit area: a compliment to the Historical Museum's Buildings Reborn exhibit.

Sparkling refreshments are available to lift the spirits. Combined with the sparkle of the crystal chandeliers and the gay attire of the dancers, the effect is genuine: for an evening, you are convinced you are reliving the gaiety and elegance of fin de siecle Vienna.

The date of this year's ball is Saturday, May 16. Dancing's scheduled to begin at 9 p.m., to allow time for dinner parties beforehand. When the dancing will end is more a matter of conjecture—it is usually not long after midnight.

Tickets for the ball at $9 per person are available at the center or by calling 881-7511. If tradition holds, those in the know will get theirs early. There is room for only 150 couples.

Bride-elect

The engagement of SUSAN SAGE DOELLE and Joseph Charles Seidle has been announced by her parents, Jean M. Doelle, of Grosse Pointe Boulevard, and Michael B. Doelle, of Lakeshore Road, Port Huron. A June wedding is planned.

The bride-elect is an alumna of Grosse Pointe South High School and attended the University of Tampa and Hillsborough College, Tampa, Fla.

Her fiancé, son of Marie Bohrman, of Lancaster, Pa., and Francis Seidle, of Philadelphia, holds Bachelor of Arts degrees in Political Science and History from the University of South Florida.

The Peter Armstrongs

Saint Andrew's Episcopal Church, Ann Arbor, was the setting Saturday, April 11, for the late morning wedding of PAULA LEWIS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Case Lewis, of Ann Arbor, and Mr. Armstrong, son of Mrs. Grant Eddy Armstrong, of Handy Road, and the late Mr. Armstrong.

Golden Guild party planned

Valparaiso University Guild's Detroit Chapter will celebrate 50 years of guild service at a Golden Anniversary luncheon and style show Thursday, May 7, at noon at the Detroit Yacht Club. The clothes, modeled by guild members, will be provided by Pointe Fashions on Kercheval Avenue in Grosse Pointe Park.

Mrs. Arthur Ulmer is general chairperson of the party. Mrs. Robert Marowski is in charge of decorations. Hostesses are Mrs. Clarence Broecker and Mrs. Anton Jehn. Prizes are being collected by Mrs. Robert Carl and Mrs. Arthur Arduin.

All friends of Valparaiso are invited to join in the celebration, and may call Mrs. Harry A. Gieseking, 822-6441, or Miss Vera Beck, 885-0491, for ticket information.

Social evening set by Ama Deus Circle

Armstrong-Lewis vows exchanged

Bride is attended by her sister; bridegroom's brother serves as best man; newlyweds vacation in Hawaii

Paula Lewis wore her mother's wedding gown, fashioned of ivory satin with a lily-shaped neckline and cap sleeves and a skirt extending into a short train, for her marriage Saturday, April 11, in Saint Andrew's Episcopal Church, Ann Arbor, to Peter Aikman Armstrong.

Her veil fell from a band of fresh flowers, and she wore long, satin gauntlets. Her bouquet was a cascade of gardenias, white roses and stephanotis.

The former Miss Lewis, who holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Tulane University and a Masters degree from the University of Michigan, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Case Lewis, of Ann Arbor.

Mr. Armstrong, son of Mrs. Grant Eddy Armstrong, of Handy Road, and the late Mr. Armstrong, holds both Bachelors and Masters degrees in Industrial Engineering from the University of Michigan.

Gail Lewis, of Seattle, Wash., in a blue voile gown styled with a high neckline and cap sleeves, carrying a round cascade of spring flowers, bachelor buttons, daisies, baby's-breath and other pink and yellow blossoms, was her sister's only attendant.

Dr. John Ripley Armstrong served as best man for his brother, Ushering were John Charles Lewis, brother of the bride, a student at Eastern Michigan University, and Clinton Smith, of Cambridge, Mass., and Henry Armstrong, of Davis, Calif., cousins of the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride wore a pleated dress of flesh-colored georgette. Her corsage was a gardenia. The bridegroom's mother chose a print dress and an orchid corsage.

The 11:30 o'clock ceremony at which The Reverend Mr. Gordon Jones presided was followed by a luncheon and reception at Ann Arbor's Travis Pointe Country Club. Hawaii was the newlyweds' vacation destination.

Stein-Smith troth is told

Dr. and Mrs. Richmond W. Smith Jr., of Tenant's Harbor and Camden, Me., formerly of Lincoln Road, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Stephanie, to Arthur William Stein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stein, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Pompano Beach, Fla.

A mid-August wedding is planned, in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

Miss Smith, a graduate of Bucknell University who holds a Masters degree from Wheelock College in Boston, Mass., where she taught for three years at the Pine Manor College Child Center, is currently director of the Child Life Department at Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh.

Her father, an internist, was formerly chairman of the Department of Medicine at Henry Ford Hospital.

Her fiancé, an associate with Stein, Winters, Gorr & Tighe of Pittsburgh, where his father is a senior partner, was graduated from The Hill School, Pottstown, Pa., Princeton University and the University of Pittsburgh School of Law.

Noel R. Baril to take bride

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence D. Convery, of Ashland Avenue, Detroit, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Catherine Marie, to Noel Russell Baril, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Ramsey, of Grayton Road. A July wedding is planned.

Miss Convery, a graduate of Bishop Gallagher High School, is a part-time student at Wayne County Community College. Mr. Baril was graduated from Grosse Pointe South High School. He is majoring in Political Science and French at the University of Michigan.

Dossin focus on waterfront

"On the Waterfront," a dimensional interpretation by William Allen Moss of classic Great Lakes views, is on exhibit in the Gallery of the Dossin Great Lakes Museum on Belle Isle through May 31.

Moss, a native of Detroit, is now a freelance architectural delineator in Tennessee. But he spent his formative years in the Great Lakes environment, and an early interest in nautical lore was one of the major influences on the awakening of his artistic talents.

He remains fascinated by marine history and its interpretation.

His show may be viewed at Dossin during regular museum hours, 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday.

SUNDAY 12-5/MONDAY, THURSDAY, FRIDAY 10-9/OTHER DAYS 10-6

Now, to whet your appetites, here are three of the numerous delectable recipes you can sample at the luncheon this year: Jane Taylor's Cranberry Salad, Dorothy Smith's Mexican Salad and Ann Hathaway's Overnight Pasta Salad.

CRANBERRY SALAD

- 1 lb. fresh cranberries
- 2 oranges
- juice of 1 lemon
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- pinch of salt
- 1 6-oz. pkg. lemon jello
- 2 cups boiling water
- 1 1/4 cups diced celery
- 1 cup chopped walnuts

Grind cranberries and orange. Mix with lemon juice, sugar and salt; let stand several hours or overnight. Dissolve jello in water and add to cranberry mixture. Add celery and walnuts and pour into 5-cup mold. Chill until set.

MEXICAN SALAD

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1 can kidney beans
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1 onion, chopped
- 4 tomatoes, cut in pieces
- 1 head lettuce, torn in pieces
- 4 oz. grated cheddar cheese
- 1/2 to 3/4 bottle Catalina salad dressing
- 1 avocado, cut in pieces
- 1/2 to 1 small bag Doritos, crumbled
- Brown beef; drain. Add beans and salt. Mix onion, tomatoes, lettuce, cheese and dressing. Garnish with avocado and sprinkle Doritos on top.

OVERNIGHT PASTA SALAD

- 1 cup shell macaroni
- 2 cups shredded lettuce
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
- 1 cup cooked ham, julienne sliced
- 1 cup frozen peas, thawed and drained
- 1/2 cup shredded swiss cheese

Dressing
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup sour cream
1 Tbsp. chopped green onion

1 tsp. prepared mustard
Cook macaroni; drain, rinse and cool. Place lettuce in bottom of 2-quart casserole. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Top with macaroni. Sprinkle egg slices with salt. Layer ham strips, peas and cheese, in order. Combine dressing and spread on top, sealing edges. Cover and refrigerate 24 hours. Sprinkle top with paprika and parsley. Toss. Serves 4.

Sunshine Fashions for April's end

Previewing some of the Sunshine Fashions by Lilly Pulitzer to be modeled at a luncheon at the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church on Mack Avenue Thursday, April 30, are (left to right) ARDY JONES, in charge of publicity for the event, MARY DYKSTRA, chairman of the day, EVELYN DONAHUE, in charge of decorations, and CATHY SILWESTER, program chairman. Committee members not pictured are Shirley Goolsby, luncheon chairman, and Eudene Adams, tickets and reservations. Modeling will be Joyce Albers, Elizabeth Bromley, Debbie D'Arcy, Loraine Eshleman, Patricia Glen, Ardy Jones, Debbie Lass, Helen Szama, Cathy Silvester, Shirley Smith, Joanne Spencer and Evelyn Weamer. Sunshine Fashions festivities start at 12:30 p.m. The party is presented by the Church Women's Association to augment the association's Detroit Presbyterian Faith Goal. Tickets ($5 donation) and reservations may be made by calling Eudene, 881-3270, or the church office, 886-4300. A nursery will be available.

Miniature show/sale slated in Southfield

Miniatures (collecting and/or creating) are a growing hobby among Pointers, many of whom are making plans to travel out to Southfield Saturday, April 25, for the fifth annual miniature show and sale sponsored by the Women's Association of North Congregational Church.

Village Garden Club to meet

Household plants are the program for the Village Garden Club this month. Members will meet tomorrow, Friday, April 24, in the Woodland Shore Drive home of Mrs. Robert Everett.

Dealers from Ohio and Canada will join local miniaturists displaying their delicate wares from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Everything from porcelain for the dollhouse dining table to canopy beds for the master suite will be available.

Bill Borre, from Windsor, will demonstrate "turning." Susan Shockley, from Lansing, will teach miniature hat making.

A special preview sale Friday, April 24, from 7 to 10 p.m. is limited to the first 300 who make reservations by calling 642-5610 or 356-1660. Preview tickets, at $2.50 each, include admission to the show Saturday.

Saturday admission donation is $1.50 for adults, $1 for children five to 10 years old; due to the delicacy of the miniatures, no children under five will be admitted.

Snack bar service will be available throughout the day Saturday. The church is located on Northwestern Highway.

A DSO podium debut for Bergel

Romanian-born conductor Erich Bergel makes his Detroit Symphony Orchestra conducting debut in 8:30 p.m. concert at Ford Auditorium Thursday and Saturday evenings, April 23 and 25. Featured soloist is popular black American pianist Natalie Hinders.

The program includes Messiaen's "L'Ascension," Rachmaninov's Rhapsody on a Theme by Paganini Op. 43 and Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 5 in E minor Op. 64.

Tickets for the concerts, ranging in price from $10.50 to $6 may be purchased at the Ford Auditorium box office. VISA and MasterCard charge customers may phone in orders at 962-5524.

A limited number of $3 tickets for students and senior citizens will be available at the box office starting at 7:30 p.m. on concert nights.

Though born in Romania, Bergel comes from a family as cosmopolitan as it is musical. His father, a violinist, was a native of Luxembourg. His mother was Spanish. In addition to the violin, which his father taught him to play, Bergel has studied the flute, trumpet, French horn and percussion, although the pipe organ has been his major performing instrument.

In Romania, he was chief conductor of the State Philharmonic of Cluj from 1959 to 1971. He made his United States debut with the Houston Symphony in 1975 and has since become one of America's most sought-after conductors. This season he makes his debut with the Chicago Symphony (five performances) as well as with the DSO, and will lead the orchestras of Buffalo, San Diego, San Francisco, St. Louis and Toronto.

The important engagements complement the six concert programs he will conduct in Houston as Principal Guest Conductor, the post to which he was named in May, 1979.

Bergel also is well known overseas, where he has appeared with such European ensembles as the Orchestre de Paris, the Madrid Philharmonic, Rome's Santa Cecilia, the Vienna Symphony, the Berlin Philharmonic and the Royal Philharmonic and London Symphonies. He is also in demand to conduct Europe's major radio orchestras, notably those of Bavaria, Berlin, Hamburg, Rome, Scotland and the B.B.C. Welsh, of which he is chief conductor.

From Another Pointe of View

Progressive Artists Club, their friends and anybody who enjoys messing around with paints—the more hands the merrier, the Progressive Artists say, throwing the meeting open to any interested member of the public—at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial tomorrow, for everyone who shows up at 7:30 p.m. will be invited to join in and help create a work of art (?).

For everyone, you see, is going to paint on one canvas. Dorothy Brouillard, 886-5008, is the lady to call if you want more information. (what's the right thing to wear to a community paint-in, for instance) on this project.

Art You Can Wear

A unique fashion program will be the highlight of Saint Paul Lutheran Church Women's spring luncheon Thursday, May 7, at 12:30 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

Lindalee Foresman, a former Grosse Pointer, and her partner, Leah Spencer, will present original designs in women's apparel. In creating these dresses, Lindalee uses a dye which she applies directly to the fabric with a brush—much as a painter applies oils to his canvas.

Each design is signed and then heat set, so that it becomes completely hand washable. Everything is handmade by Lindalee or Leah, of poly crepe de chine silks or fine cottons. Their work is available in limited editions or one-of-a-kind designs only.

Lindalee grew up in Caro, attended Central Michigan and Michigan State Universities, married in 1966 and lived in The Farms until moving to Traverse City in 1973. She has two sons and a daughter.

She began her career in 1976 with the idea of combining her sewing and painting hobbies into original clothing designs. She presented her first style show in the spring of that year, to a group of artists and craftsmen in the Traverse City area.

As she perfected her designs, Lindalee began to display her work in two or three style shows a year, in Traverse City, Lansing . . . and now, for the second time, in Grosse Pointe.

Leah joined Lindalee last spring, adding beautifully original hand appliques and bead work to the shows. Leah is married and expecting her first child this year.

Professional models will show the Lindalee/Leah collection at the GPYC May 7. The program is open to every woman interested in original fashion design. Tickets, at $10 per person, may be purchased at the church office, located on Lothrop Road at Chalfonte Avenue.

To The 20's for Inspiration

"Speakeasy Daze" is the theme of the 1981 ALSAC (an acronym for Aiding Leukemia Stricken American Children) St. Jude's Inspiration Ball. It's set for this Saturday, April 25, at the Rooster-tail, and will be highlighted by "bathtub gin, flappers, pin-stripe types and 20s hype."

Painters involved in ALSAC and the party plans include Penny (Mrs. George) Simon and Rosemary Elias. Anyone who'd like to join them at the ball or in ALSAC's year-round activities is invited to call 533-2011 for further information.

Elegant design for the masses

Machinery and mass production, and how they changed the American home, are featured in Mass Produced Elegance, an exhibition that opened Saturday, April 11, at Henry Ford Museum, and continuing there through Nov. 1.

Among the show's 350 furnishings and gadgets are machine carved chairs owned by Abraham Lincoln, a table and an animal horn chair that introduced "rustic" into the fashionable home, sewing machines that revolutionized the making of clothes and Thomas Edison's phonograph that brought the voices of famous entertainers into middle class parlors.

The 19th century was an age when all things seemed possible, points out Donna Braden, assistant curator. "Rapid industrial growth and unprecedented technology created new sources of wealth for the market."

Master dance class in May

Dance hopefuls in grades eight through 11, of advanced and high intermediate levels of performance, are invited to explore their dance potential with Interlochen Arts Academy's instructor of ballet, Helen Earl, in a free dance master class Monday, May 4, from 5 to 7 p.m. at Marygrove College.

the class and/or the academy may be obtained by calling 616-278-9221, Extension 240.

Ms. Earl, resident ballet instructor at Interlochen for 10 years, studied at the University of Washington's Cornish School of Allied Arts, at the American Ballet Center directed by Robert Joffrey and with George Balanchine at the School of American Ballet.

She has appeared with the Cornish Ballet in Seattle and as demi-soloist with the National Ballet of Holland, as well as with numerous film companies and television stations in Vienna, Austria.

Law Day is coming

Each year May 1 is set aside, by a joint Resolution of Congress and a Presidential Proclamation, as Law Day: "a special day of celebration by the American people in appreciation of their liberties." And each year the Grosse Pointe Branch of Lawyers' Wives of Michigan sponsors local Law Day celebrations. Serving on this year's Lawyers' Wives Law Day committee are (back row, left and right) SUZIE (Mrs. Stanley) KAZUL and IDA (Mrs. Ronald) Cherf, (seated, left and right) SHIRLEY (Mrs. James) CALLAHAN and MARRIANNA (Mrs. Paul) MANION — and (not pictured) Patti (Mrs. David) Ritter.

The theme of Law Day is "Law — The Language of Liberty." The Pointe Lawyers' Wives invite the public to a Law Day Ceremony Friday, May 1, at 7 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Park Municipal Building on East Jefferson Avenue, where Concerned Citizens Awards will be presented to individuals who have performed extraordinary service to the Grosse Pointe community in 1980.

Slate Sweet Adeline show

The Great Lakes Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc., an international four-part harmony organization for women, will present "That's Entertainment," a show of gospel, country-western, blues, Broadway and barbershop songs, at 8 p.m. Friday, May 1, and Saturday, May 2, in the Warren Woods High School auditorium located on Twelve Mile Road near Schoenherr in Warren.

Great Lakes, directed by Carl Dahlke, is the 1980-81 champion chorus of Border Lakes Region Two, which consists of most of Michigan and part of Ontario.

Tickets, at $4.50 for adults.

Norsemen open with five wins

By Tim Saunders
North High

The Grosse Pointe North varsity baseball team opened the 1981 season with two 9-1 victories by Bill Babcock, and remain undefeated after five games.

Babcock's first win came in the first game of North's opening day doubleheader with East Detroit on Saturday, April 11. Babcock struck out 14 while yielding only three hits as his teammates backed him with a 12-hit attack. Craig Stafford's two run homer in the second inning provided Babcock with all the runs he needed.

In the second game, John Hackett and John Clem combined for a four hitter to complete in the sweep with a 5-2 victory. Clem helped his own cause in the first inning when he belted a home run with a man on. Erich Schubert added a run-scoring triple.

Four days later, the Norsemen opened their Bi County season with a 7-2 victory over Southlake. John Mueller led the way with a two run homer in the fifth inning and Dave Monark hit a two run double. Hackett got credit for the win. He gave up three hits in five innings before being relieved by John Clem, who got the save.

Last weekend, the Norsemen played host to rival Grosse Pointe South and thanks to some strong pitching came away with their fourth and fifth wins of the year.

In the first game Babcock, going after his second win, gave up just one run despite some early control problems. Erwin Yee drew a walk to start the game, went to second on a good sacrifice bunt and scored on a single over the shortstop's head.

The Blue Devils put two more on base when Babcock issued a couple walks in the second but then he struck out the next two to end the inning. He breezed through the third and fourth, settling down six in a row before Dean Graham led off the fifth inning with a drive down the right field line past a diving Schubert.

Graham rounded the bases as it appeared the South player had hit a home run but the plate umpire ruled the ball foul. After things settled down, Babcock's next pitch struck Graham out. A walk and a double put runners on second and third before a grounder ended the inning.

An infield hit, a walk and an error loaded the bases in the South half of the sixth inning but Babcock settled down to strike out the next two hitters to end the threat. In the seventh Babcock gave up his fourth hit and sixth base on balls but South was unable to score.

The North offense was keyed by centerfielder Scott Young who hit two home runs to deep right centerfield and went 2 for 3.

Pete Mogk and Clem also had two hits.

The Norsemen scored twice in the first when Monark's double scored Clem and Babcock after the first two batters had been retired.

With one out in the third, Young hit his first home run, a solo shot. Mogk singled before walks to Clem and Babcock loaded the bases. Monark then popped out to the first baseman but when the fielder's momentum carried him out of play, the runners advanced and Mogk scored.

John Menzo followed with a short fly into leftfield but the ball was dropped for an error and two more runs scored.

In the sixth, Young hit his second solo shot making it 7-1. Mogk followed that with a double and Clem singled to left and went to second when the drive was mishandled. Mogk scored easily. Babcock promptly doubled down the third base line to cap the scoring as Clem raced in from second.

The second game was scoreless until the bottom of the fourth when Schubert hit a two-run triple. The Norsemen added to their lead with four hits in the fifth. Young singled and rode home on a Mogk triple. Clem collected his eighth RBI of the year when he singled Mogk home.

The Blue Devils fought back with two in the sixth and one in the seventh. Glenn Piche tripled to score two but was stranded at third. In the seventh inning South second baseman Erwin Yee singled and came home on an error, but it wasn't enough as Clem hung on to record his first win. He gave up three runs, on six hits and struck out nine.

After their doubleheader on April 21 against St. Clement (after press time), the Norsemen play Bay City John Glenn at North on Saturday, April 25 at 11 a.m.

An All-American

Michael Brown, 19, of the Woods has been named an All American in diving for his efforts as a Michigan State University diver. Brown, a sophomore pre-med major at MSU, is a graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School, where he was a high school All-American for four years. Recently, Brown placed 12th at the AAU Senior Men's Nationals at Ohio State University. The April 9 National featured Olympic-class competitors. In late March, Brown was 10th in the NCAA championships in Austin, Tex. Brown has accomplished this year's diving excellence after a one-year layoff from diving due to a wrist injury suffered in his freshmen year. Brown has been diving for a number of years—he won the National Junior Diving Championship at the age of 13.

ULS girls break even in track

The ULS girls' track team opened its 1981 season on April 16 with a dual meet against Oakland Christian and Southfield Christian.

ULS looked exceptionally good, even with only seven days of practice prior to the meet. First place positions were taken by sophomore Andrea Kincannon in the long jump, 100 meter dash and 200 meter dash for a total of 15 team points.

Showing her endurance was junior Kathy Duff with an excellent 6:06.72 in the one mile and 13:20 in the two mile to score 10 team points. Senior Amy Salot stole first place in the discuss with a throw of 23.71 meters, teammate Jean Hindle threw the discus to earn a second place against Oakland Christian and a third place against Southfield Christian.

Sandy Yonkoski also took third place against Oakland Christian while Hindle put the shot 8.18 meters to earn first and second place positions. Junior Sue Cook took a first and third place in the high jump, followed by Camille Nowosielski in second place and Sarah Vaughan in third place.

The long jump and 100 meter dash are Dawn Hogan's specialties. She took a second place in each event. The surprising performance of the day came from sophomore Gia Chernes who left both Oakland Christian and Southfield Christian in the dust by capturing two first places in the 100 meter and 200 meter hurdles.

Chernes also took second and third place in the shot put and second and third places in the two mile. Sophomore Tina Beizai placed first and third in the 400 meter dash while second place was taken by Monica Brane who also placed third in the 200 meter dash.

Sophomore Lee Salot placed first and second in the 800 meter run and teammate Alice Youn took two second places in the one mile. Jean Zotter earned third place in the 100 meter dash and Ann DeHaven joined Chernes in the 200 meter low hurdles and took third place.

The ULS girls also won the 800 meter, 400 meter, and 1600 meter relays against Oakland Christian.

North sets frosh cheerleading tryouts

Eighth grade students interested in trying out for Grosse Pointe North High School's 1981-82 freshman cheerleading squad should report to North's cheerleading clinic at 10 a.m., Saturday, May 2, in the school gym. Cheerleading hopefuls should come dressed in tennis shoes and shorts. Further information may be obtained by calling Sally Snethkay at 885-3991.

ULS trackmen open season

The ULS boys' varsity track team opened its season with a home dual meet against Oakland Christian and Southfield Christian with a split. The Knights beat Oakland Christian 82-46, but lost to Southfield Christian, 76-55.

It was a very strong showing for the young ULS team. The 400 meter relay team of Tony Alcantara, Charley Kennedy, Steve Jackson and Jerry Steketee not only won that event but racked up a number of points in other events.

Alcantara won the pole vault and finished fourth in the 100 meter dash. Jackson was third in the high jump and second in the 100 meter dash and 110 meter high hurdles and Steketee was also a member of the winning 800 meter relay team, as well as winning the 200 meter dash and placing second in the long jump.

Other members of the 800 meter relay team are Bill Scartone, Jeff Zack and Jeff Lucas. Scartone took a third in the 100 meter dash. Zack and Lucas also added points to the team total by taking third places in the long jump and 200 meter dash, respectively.

Senior Warren Hardy and junior Ron Schocker teamed up to take first and third in the discuss; then second and third in the shot put. Sophomore Jim Wood ran away from the rest of the field in the 800 meter run, turning in the time of 2:09.3.

Other point getters were junior Dave Van Elslander placing second in the 3200 meter run; freshman Kurt Schneider, third in the 1600

Getting ready for the Golden Mile

Milers must have individual pledges of $100 or more and ask their friends to sponsor them and walk with them. WALKAMERICA SUPERWALK '81 will take place at Belle Isle, Stony Creek and the Pontiac Silverdome. The 32 kilometer walk begins at 8 a.m. and is expected to draw more than 25,000 participants. Further information on the event may be obtained by calling 864-6000.

Farms MD heads Center for Athletic Medicine

The spring season is enticing sports-minded people — runners, golfers, cyclists, swimmers and tennis and baseball players — to "get on their feet."

But sports often result in injuries. Increased interest and participation in athletic activities have generated an increase in the number of athletic-related injuries. Statistics show that approximately 120 million Americans were engaged in various athletic activities last year and, of that number, 3.5 million sustained some type of physical injury.

To address athletes' health needs, Henry Ford Hospital has recently opened a Center for Athletic Medicine. The Center is fully equipped to provide "total care" for the professional, collegiate, high school and recreational athlete of any age.

Presently, 200 medical and rehabilitation patients are treated each week at the Center, one of only a few comprehensive diagnostic treatment and preventive centers housed in a hospital complex. The hospital setting provides centralized facilities and expertise for the patient's evaluation and multi-specialty care.

"Until recently, the average patient with an athletic-related injury was treated with ultra conservatism. Progressive techniques were reserved for the professional and collegiate athlete," says Dr. Robert A. Teigte, of the Farms, medical director of the Center for Athletic Medicine, team physician for the Detroit Lions and orthopaedic consultant to the Detroit Tigers.

"Now a recreational athlete can have the same specialized care once reserved for the professional athlete. Specific diagnosis of an athletic injury, appropriate treatment and functional rehabilitation are all crucial in returning an individual to full activity.

"At the Center, a unique program of diagnosis and treatment is possible through the use of advanced technological equipment. Injury prevention is facilitated, for example, by strength and flexibility testing, conditioning and modification of athletic equipment," explains Dr. Teigte.

Features of the Center include its own examining and treatment rooms, exercise and rehabilitation equipment, x-ray, plaster room and minor surgery services. Unique to the Center is a competition swimming pool, indoor handball courts, outdoor tennis courts, and indoor basketball gymnasium — all located in the complex.

In addition to a staff of orthopaedic surgeons, the Center includes athletic trainers and physical therapists who specialize in the care and treatment of athletic and recreational injuries. David Crowley, director of rehabilitation, is primarily responsible for the supervision of the Center's physical therapy and rehabilitation services.

He is a registered physical therapist and certified athletic trainer. He received his athletic training education from the University of Michigan and has served as head athletic trainer for Ann Arbor Huron High School and as assistant trainer for the Detroit Lions.

Rose Snyder, head athletic trainer, is in charge of the athletic training and conditioning program and is responsible for the Center's community education programs. She did graduate work in athletic training at West Chester State College and received her master's degree in physical education at the University of Michigan. Prior to coming to HFH, Ms. Snyder served as head women's trainer and instructor in the Department of Physical Education at the University of Michigan.

The Center's comprehensive approach also includes community education. Consultation, seminars and workshops will be conducted for groups including trainers, coaches and teams from school and industry. The Center will also develop pre-participation evaluations and sports-conditioning programs for school-based programs.

Summer shape up program promises

Ninety minutes of exercise each week can firm sagging muscles, increase endurance and help lower a person's odds of injury during summer sports, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Adults beginning an exercise program should gradually build up to at least 20 minutes of cardiovascular exercise for three to five days per week," says Walter Zeiler, Auto Club's Member-Life manager. "A 20- to 30-minute workout is needed to challenge and improve the capacity of the lungs, heart and muscles, known collectively as the cardiovascular system."

"Most fitness experts agree that running, bicycling and swimming help produce peak cardiovascular fitness and burn the most calories per minute," Zeiler says.

Running a mile in less than eight minutes has the same conditioning value as playing handball for 35 minutes, cycling five miles in less than 20 minutes or swimming 600 yards in less than 15 minutes. Walking at a brisk pace for 30 to 40 minutes is also an excellent cardiovascular exercise.

To avoid the dangers of overexertion, individuals should see a physician before beginning a vigorous exercise program if they have medical problems, suspect disorders or are over age 35.

Auto Club stresses that individuals beginning a summer fitness program should not do too much, too fast or too soon. Participants should ease into activities to avoid the muscle aches, excess fatigue and injuries common among "weekend athletes."

Participants also should choose activities that are fun and appropriate for their conditioning and not be swayed by what is popular.

To shape up with safety and for best results, Auto Club offers this advice:

- Include a five- to 10-minute warm-up and cool-down period in all sports activities. Do exercises involving large muscle groups plus exercises to condition key muscles used in the sport. Mild, slow stretches are best as they prevent the build up of lactic acid which causes muscle pain.
- Exercise at a comfortable level so that you can carry on a conversation. Signs that you're working too hard are feeling faint, nausea, shortness of breath, chest pain and a racing pulse. Observing any of those signs means you should consult a physician.

- Monitor your pace by checking your heart rate immediately following exercise. First subtract your age from the figure 220. Multiply the resulting figure by .80. The answer should approximate your target working heart rate, give or take five to 10 beats, which should not be exceeded when exercising.
- Pain is your body's message to stop what you're doing.
- Avoid dehydration by drinking plenty of water before, during and after exercise to replace lost fluids.
- Wear light-colored and airy clothing to help cool your body while exercising. Rubber exercise suits are not advised because of the threat of heat exhaustion and heat stroke.

It's soccer time again

It's been a long, cold winter but it's soccer time in Grosse Pointe again. The Grosse Pointe Soccer Association begins its fourth season on April 24. The season runs through the end of June.

Coaches have been gearing up at pre-season clinics, referees have been preparing for a hectic season at clinics of their own and fields have been secured. Upcoming games will take place at Barnes, Parcels, and ULS's Cook Road and Briarcliffe fields.

Grosse Pointe will field 31 teams comprised of 500 players ranging in age from 6 to 18. Play will be conducted in two leagues, the suburban and the community leagues.

The community league consists of five teams in the under 8 division and five teams in the under 10 division. The suburban league, an affiliate of the Michigan Youth Soccer Association, is comprised of eight girls' teams from under 10 to under 19 and 13 boys' teams from the under 10 division to the under 16 group.

Bernard named swim MVP

Farms resident Watty Bernard has been named Most Valuable Swimmer by his teammates at University of Detroit High School. He will also serve as captain for U. of D. High's swim team as a senior in 1981-82.

Bernard was also named to the All City Catholic team for his performances in the 50 yard free style and the 200 yard medley relay events.

Watty is the son of Walter and Sally Bernard, of Hamilton Court.

Knights win baseball opener

By Bill Gore
ULS

The ULS sluggers opened the year by defeating the Southfield Christian Eagles, 3-2. The game was close throughout, with neither team gaining a clear advantage.

The Knights struck swiftly with a run in the first inning. But the Eagles countered on an error by the Knights in the second inning to tie the game 1-1.

It seemed to be a day of mistakes for the ULS team as a misplaced ball cost ULS another run to tie the game at two all. Finally in the fifth inning, the Knights scored again and were able to hold the Eagles for the win.

The big bat for ULS was sophomore Jeff Parks, who went 2 for 2 and scored a run. Senior Mike Kirkpatrick also batted 1,000 for the day and had an RBI. The defensive star of the game was sophomore pitcher John Kulka, as he served up a four-hitter and struck out six batters.

Sports in brief

Grosse Pointe North graduate Mike Seagram will play catcher for the Cornell University men's varsity baseball team, Big Red, this season. Seagram, a freshman, was All State, All Region and All District in baseball in 1980, when the Norsemen won the Michigan Class A state title. Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Seagram, of South Renaud Road. He is an accounting major in the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences at Cornell.

Cadet Matthew J. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Davis, of Lakepointe Avenue, received a Bravo Company intramural certificate in wrestling at the Winter Sports Banquet held in March at the Missouri Military Academy. Cadet Davis is an eighth grader at the Academy's Junior School.

William K. Bradfield, of the Farms has earned a letter for his achievements as a member of the 1980-81 Bowdoin College varsity men's swimming team. Charlie Butt coaches the Bowdoin squad.

Our Lady Star of the Sea High School graduate Valerie Rice began her first year as a member of the Lake Superior State College softball team when the squad opened its season last Saturday at Saginaw Valley State College. The 5 foot 9 freshman plays right field.

Among the varsity award winners for women's sports at Northern Michigan University were Happy Freiwald, a junior, and sophomore Jodi Stout. Grosse Pointe South High School graduate Freiwald earned her third award in swimming. Stout, a North High School graduate, received her second award for diving.

Hendrie is 4-0 in both singles, where he plays No. 5, and in doubles, where he plays No. 3.

Center hosts cruising class

The final cruising seminar will be presented by the Great Lakes Sailing Institute at the War Memorial on Wednesday May 6 at 7:30 p.m. The topic will be Electric Coastal Navigation and Anchoring. The speaker will be Gary Brewer of Seaview Electronics.

Brewer will explain the intricacies of electrical navigation equipment and its use in dead reckoning with charts, compass and logs. He will show how the equipment is used in figuring time and distance and will explain depth sounders, lead lines, RDS, radar and Loran. Fee for this final cruising seminar is $5.

Hendrie named top netter

Phil Hendrie, a South High School graduate, has been named Northern Michigan University's tennis Wildcat of the Week recently.

"He's our only undefeated player, both in singles and doubles, and has been our bread and butter player at the start of the season," said head coach Charlie Drury.

"He didn't appear that strong in pre-season, but he's developed into a sure point for us in every match."

Northern was 2-2 after one week of competition and

Have you signed up to join in the fun on May 3 at Cottage Hospital's "Start A Healthy Habit" Fun Run? Don't delay. Entries are available at Cottage Hospital, local libraries and stores.

While quantities last, those who sign up in advance will receive a complimentary T-shirt in their race packet. Race packets for all entrants may be picked up on May 3 at Richard School gym from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

The $5 entry fee will benefit the hospital's new ambulatory surgical unit. Late registrations will be accepted on race day but T-shirts are not guaranteed.

Don't let the word "race" deter you from joining the fun run. While some participants who have been training will surely want to do their best time, those who are just starting a healthy habit should go at their own pace. The point is to keep moving and to work up to the point of walking at a brisk pace—120 steps per minute. Use your watch to set the cadence, you'll have it in no time.

Moving your muscles in continuous non-tensive movement, as in walking or jogging, is nature's way of protecting against the effects of chronic stress. Modern man goes through life facing a variety of stresses. Stress, combined with poor eating habits and habitual muscular inactivity takes its toll, often resulting in depression, high blood pressure, headaches, heart attacks, ulcers — and more.

Stress is nature's way of preparing us for "fight or flight" situations by releasing adrenalin and increasing the heartbeat and respiration. When the "fight" doesn't occur, you find yourself primed with extra energy that has nowhere to go. Keeping the body "charged up" through mental, emotional and physical stress with no release may be harmful.

The law of life is movement. This is an opportunity to regain some of that vigor and vitality and release unneeded stress. Vital Options' staff will be available on Saturday mornings at 8 a.m. at Grosse Pointe South to give pointers and encouragement on individual programs for both the novice and long-distance runner.

Pointers star for Kalamazoo

Grosse Pointe athletes are making their marks at Kalamazoo College this season—three have earned sports letters and a fourth is guiding her tennis team to wins in singles competition.

Steve Kienle and Tom Hessburg were recently awarded letters in men's swimming. Kienle is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Kienle, of Washington Road, and Hessburg is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Philip Hessburg, of Three Mile Drive.

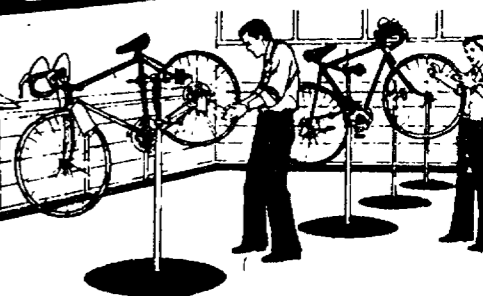

Norm Van Sile, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Van Sile, of Barrington Road, was awarded a letter for his participation in men's basketball.

Kalamazoo College senior Joan Thomson, of the Park, won a recent No. 2 singles match against Olivet College to help bring her women's tennis team to a 5-4 record.

And former Pointer Dave Zimmer, who now resides in Albuquerque, N.M., earned a letter in men's swimming at Kalamazoo.

Sgt. Petrie is cited by drug agency

Sgt. Charles Petrie of the Grosse Pointe Park Police Department was cited by the U. S. Department of Justice Drug Enforcement Administration for his cooperation in the investigation of a major drug ring distributing forged prescriptions for dilaudid, an addictive narcotic drug.

The investigation led to the arrests of two Park residents, Mark A. Monaco and Denise Masella. Both were indicted by a federal grand jury for illicit trafficking of the drug. Special Agent in Charge, Theodore L. Vernier, said Sgt. Petrie "was instrumental in obtaining essential evidence and witnesses" in the investigation.

"He spent long hours on surveillance and in obtaining and preparing voluminous amounts of documentary evidence which was necessary for a complete presentation to the grand jury. The effort was so complete that it resulted in praise from members of the grand jury," Vernier said.

Clubs want snagging banned in Michigan

The Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC) wants salmon snagging banned throughout the state.

Directors of the state's large conservation organization voted at their bimonthly meeting here to ask the Natural Resources Commission to order a ban on snagging statewide by 1983 and to make snagging illegal on all parts of the Grand River this year.

Under the commission's liberalized fishing rules, snagging for salmon is permitted on parts of the Grand River and seven other streams during the fall spawning runs of these fish. MUCC has supported the commission's position on snagging in the past but now wants all foul-hooking declared illegal.

The federation of sportsmen and women contends that snagging is associated with unsportsmanlike conduct and is contrary to Michigan sport-fishing tradition and ethics; increases such problems as littering, trespass, destruction of vegetation, erosion of stream banks, and overcrowding; results in wounding or catching of fish other than salmon and inhibits the upstream movement of salmon on some streams; and can be dangerous to other fishermen when large, weighted hooks are used and can preclude fishing for salmon by conventional means.

MUCC also argued that salmon can be caught by traditional fishing methods and that it is therefore not necessary to resort to snagging to take these fish.

In other action, MUCC's directors adopted resolutions calling for:

- Reauthorization by Congress of a strong and effective Clean Air Act, including provisions for a tough program to eliminate "acid rain" and other interstate and international air pollution.

- Opposition to the transfer of federal lands to the states and to private interests as advocated by supporters of the "Sagebrush Rebellion" movement in the West.

- Establishment of a closed season on the taking of turtles and adoption of other regulations to limit turtle trapping.

- Opposition to any system of off-road vehicle trails or roads that require large-scale strip cutting or denuding of land or the erection of any barriers that would interfere with vehicular or pedestrian traffic crossing trails.

- Continued funding for the Great Lakes research laboratory maintained at Grosse Pointe by the federal Environmental Protection Agency. The Reagan administration has proposed closing the laboratory at a saving of $5 million annually, but MUCC's resolution urges continued operation of the facility as a means of helping improve water quality in the Great Lakes. The laboratory was established in 1971 to correct pollution problems in waters lying between the United States and Canada.

On the road to Guangzhou

Hadley Fink, (above) of Ridge Road, was one of 34 American teenagers who were on the road in the first student bike trip in China. The photo shows Hadley testing out her wheels on a back street in Canton (Guangzhou) where the trip began and ended. The bikers were all from Taft School in Connecticut and made the trip in March. The group biked 250 miles outside Guangzhou, making overnight stops in Foshan, Xiqiao, Shaoning and at the hot springs in Zongua. The group, led by teacher James Mooney, reported no mishaps other than a few flat tires and when the trip was over most of the bikers wanted to be on the road again.

Rabbi Wine is also leader of the Birmingham Temple and ideological founder of Humanistic Judaism. He established the Society for Humanistic Judaism in 1969.

Trip tiptoes through tulips

It's tulip time in Holland, Mich., and the War Memorial is making it possible for residents to take in opening day Wednesday, May 13.

Coffee and sweet rolls will be served on departure and round trip highway bus transportation will be provided. Admission will be included to Windmill Island where a picnic lunch catered by the Center can be enjoyed after exploring the miniature Dutch Village, the tulip beds and the giant DeSchwinn Windmill.

The opening day parade with the klompin dancers and street scrubbers will be reviewed and the rest of the afternoon will be spent among the acres of tulips at Veldheers Tulip Gardens where admission is included. The day will conclude with dinner at Pointe West overlooking the harbor at Lake Macalawa. All meals, transportation and admissions are included for $53. Only a very few places remain.
