A memorial gift for the Woods

After 20 years of being city administrator of Grosse Pointe Woods, Chester Petersen and his wife, Roberta, said they wanted to give something back to the city. So they donated the "Circle of Honor"—a plaque and flag display at Mack and Vernier that was dedicated Sunday, May 24. The $4,000 gift includes the poles, plaque, sprinkling system, and landscaping and is intended to be a permanent installation. "My wife and I hope to set up a fund to guarantee its maintenance," Petersen said. The nine flags represent the wars in which the United States has been involved. Participating in the ceremony were the U.S. Coast Guard and Marine Corps Honor Guards, Beaudry American Legion Posts 126 and 303, Boy Scout Troop 474, Girl Scout Troop 327, Cub Scout Pack 39, and the Notre Dame High School Band.

Cities propose tax hikes from 5 to 18 percent

City officials made a beeline to the budget table after the defeat of proposal "A" last week to put the finishing touches on 1981-82 spending plans that call for tax increases ranging from 5 to 18 percent in the five Pointes.

Three cities, the City, Farms and Park will present the documents at public hearings in the next two weeks. Only in the Park where City Manager John Crawford proposes an 18.4 percent tax property hike, is much public reaction expected.

Two cities, the Shores and Woods, have already held public hearings and formally set tax rates for the coming year.

If the governor's tax reform plan, proposal "A," had been approved by voters May 19, city leaders would have been restricted to a 6 percent increase in property taxes for 1981-82. That would have meant substantial roll backs in millage rates to compensate for an average 25 percent increase in the tax base, or State Equalized Value (SEV) of property in the Pointes.

All five city budgets call for some rollback in the tax rate next year, but figured on top of 25 percent SEV increases, they result in net tax increases for homeowners of about 10 percent in Grosse Pointe City; 7 percent in the Farms, 18.4 percent in the Park, 8.3 percent in the Woods, and about 5 percent in the Shores, according to officials.

Proposed 1981-82 tax rates (compared to this year's rate in parenthesis) are as follows:

- City 16.9 mills (19.8)
- Farms 13.93 mills (16.1)
- Park 17.6 mills (18.5)
- Woods 10.8 mills (11.97)
- Shores 13.7 mills (15.75)

(A mill equals $1 for every $1,000 of SEV.)

Copies of each city's budget are available at municipal offices. The Grosse Pointe Farms and City councils will hold public hearings on their proposed spending plans on Monday, June 1, at 7:30 p.m. in the City and 8 p.m. in the Farms. Grosse Pointe Park taxpayers will have their say Monday, June 8, at a public hearing at 7 p.m. None of the budgets call for substantial reductions in services for next year, although some police and public works forces in the City, Park and Woods will be reduced slightly through attrition during the coming year, according to officials.

The Farms' proposed budget will pile up a $100,000 surplus that will be funneled into a Budget Stabilization Fund, according to City Manager Andrew Bremer.

$1.8 million for Woods park

By Gregory Jakub

Grosse Pointe Woods officials are working on a seven-year, $1.8 million park improvement plan that could, among other things, remedy the seemingly unsolvable problem of how to improve boat docks at Lakefront Park.

The plan, which is currently being reviewed by the Citizen's Recreation Commission, is made up of 13 separate park projects including one that would build 40 to 50 new boat docks at Lakefront Park northwest of the old swimming pool at a cost of about $85,000. Also proposed is a $690,000 Community Center at the park.

ACCORDING TO Chester Petersen, Woods city administrator and plan developer, the dock expansion project offers an alternative to the controversial plan to demolish and rebuild the Milk River Bridge. Since 1973, high water levels have prevented some boaters from passing under the bridge and using many of the 53 docks on the other side. The city and boaters have not been able to agree on when and how to move the bridge for eight years.

Some Woods boaters have already reacted favorably to Petersen's alternative dock plan. If the entire park improvement package is approved by City Council, the plan will be placed on the Sept. 22 ballot to ask Woods voters if they want a one mill levy for the next five years to finance the plan.

Petersen also envisions what he called a unique financing plan for the new docks by which boat owners could make a tax-deductible contribution to the dock project and guarantee themselves a dock at 1981 prices for 5, 10, 15 years or permanently.

The initial 40 to 50 new docks could rent for $400 to $600 a year compared to the current $260 annual rate, Petersen said. Additional larger docks that could be built in conjunction with a 375-foot fishing pier in 1986 would rent for $800 per year, Petersen said.

Petersen said if dock renters favored the contribution plan, there might be enough money up front to make the new docks available for the 1982 boating season.

If the park improvement package is approved by voters, it will add $50, or $4.25 per month, to the average Woods homeowner's city taxes for the next five years, Petersen said.

HERE IS THE list of projects and priorities in the proposed Phase II Park Improvement plan. The list is tentative and could be changed after review by the Recreation Commission and City Council:

For 1982-83 the plan proposes $342,500 of projects:

- To construct an additional 40 to 50 boat docks northwest of the old swimming pool site with a steel sheet piling breakwall. Cost: $85,000.
- Begin initial construction of a 375-foot fishing pier, 8 feet wide, including water and electrical power. Cost: $107,500.
- Remove four tennis courts at Ghesquiere Park and replace with six new courts at a new location. Cost: $150,000.

For 1983-85:

- Construct a 15,000 square foot

Community Center at Lakefront Park. Cost: $690,000.

For 1986-87 a total of $421,500 of projects are proposed:

- Complete fishing pier by adding an additional 375 feet. Cost: $107,500.
- Install 250 foot steel sheet piling breakwall. Cost: $224,000.
- Construct an additional 72 boat docks. Cost: $90,000.

For 1987-88 the plan proposes $311,000 projects:

- Health and exercise facilities addition to bathhouse. Cost: $200,000.
- Two paddle ball courts at Lakefront Park. Cost: $20,000.

Miscellaneous playground and park equipment. Cost: $20,000.

Physical fitness and jogging track at Lakefront Park. Cost: $16,000.

Reforestation and beautification of parks. Cost: $30,000.

Dredging of boat basin. Cost: $25,000.

The grand total for Phase II Park Improvement plan is $1,765,000.

The Recreation Commission will again discuss the plan at an open meeting on June 8. From there it is expected to go to the City Council to possibly be placed on the Sept. 22 ballot.

Everyone knows shuffleboard is a highly competitive, pressure packed game of skill. But take a tip from a couple of old pros seen cleaning up the competition at the Farms Pier Park last weekend. Stick out that tongue ala Eric Bryan, 10. It helps guide the disc to its mark. Just ask Lucy Rutledge, 9, who's getting ready to do the same.

Parks open for summer

By Tad Goodwin

The Grosse Pointe lakefront parks officially opened on Memorial Day and with the high price of gasoline many families stayed in the area and went to the lake.

The parks offer the residents of each city many warm weather activities that include boating, swimming, tennis and, of course, sunbathing.

Park and recreation departments in each city worked hard over the winter getting everything into top shape. Benches and pools had to be cleaned and painted, boat slips repaired, and staff expanded to include lifeguards, swim coaches and additional gate guards.

Park Assistant Parks and Recreation

Director Joe Conlan said that park maintenance is a full-time year-round job.

"Winter is the only time we can repair and paint the docks at Windmill Pointe Park without damaging the boats," Conlan said.

The opening of the pool at the Park's Windmill Pointe facility has been delayed by two weeks due to a municipal budget crunch. According to Conlan, "The people won't like it."

Windmill Pointe Park is open from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. until mid September.

Residents can also enjoy tennis and the "Parcourse" that opened last year at Three Mile Park. The Par-

Suspects arrested in FBI theft in GP City

Two Detroit men were arrested by Detroit police last weekend for allegedly stealing FBI training weapons from an agent's home in Grosse Pointe City.

City Public Safety Director Bruce Kennedy said the men were allegedly prowling the area for bicycles when they stumbled upon agent Weldon Keating's City home.

Kennedy said the pair allegedly broke into the agent's garage and government-owned station wagon where M16 rifles were stored in cases.

One suspect was arrested by Detroit's 11th (Davison) Precinct late Friday after police received a call about a man firing a gun in the area, Kennedy said. Police later discovered the gun was one of the stolen FBI weapons, police said.

The second suspect was arrested by police Saturday.

Kennedy did not release the suspects' names pending possible charges by the FBI.

DMSO-illegal or elixir? Drug spurs controversy

By Tom Greenwood

On your next trip to the grocery store, you may soon be able to buy a controversial "wonder drug" along with your loaf of Wonder Bread.

Dimethyl Sulfoxide, (DMSO), can cure or aid in the treatment of anything from arthritis to varicose veins, according to its supporters. Some say it can even grow hair on balding scalps.

Detractors, mainly the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), dismiss it as a toxic, potentially harmful substance with no real medical value.

Whether DMSO is the aspirin of tomorrow, or just a pain in the aspirin, depends on who's talking.

"Hey, I believe in this stuff," said Bill Kuzenko, of Three Mile Drive. "I saw the program devoted to DMSO on '60 Minutes' and thought it was pretty convincing. I also did a lot of re-earch on my own before deciding to try and make it available to persons in this area."

Kuzenko, of K and R Sales, has recently established himself as a DMSO distributor on the east side. Distribution is no problem. Advertising can be tricky.

"I advertise it in the paper, but make no claims for it," said Kuzenko, a bar owner in Detroit. "When anyone calls, I simply say it's a solvent."

"If they want more information on what it can do, I tell them to buy the book 'The Percutated Drug: The Story of DMSO.' Everything they need to know is in there."

According to the FDA, the promotion of DMSO for unspecified purposes is illegal. That's why it's unavailable in drug stores. But it is selling around town in delicatessens, bookstores, party stores and even at a stall at Eastern Market.

"My product is mixed and bottled directly by a chemical firm in Detroit," said Kuzenko. "The bottles are sterilized, brown, drug-store type containers. They are sealed and have a child proof cap. There are no directions on the label, merely a description of the contents and cautionary sentences about its use."

Kuzenko said he has been buying his supplies from a local distributor, but was expecting enough DMSO from a West coast source to make a barrel of solution.

"In California, DMSO is selling like water," he said. The price tag here for six ounces is $9.95. Kuzenko believes he can get about 1,500 bottles of DMSO from one barrel.

"I SUFFER terribly from bursitis," said Kuzenko, a muscular man with thinning blond hair. "I had great difficulty sleeping for three weeks. I applied DMSO directly to my shoulder three times a day for three days, and the relief was unbelievable. For me, it works."

According to published reports, it appears to work for a lot of people. Sports Illustrated reported that it was used unofficially by most professional sports teams. Runners World also wrote it was good for strained muscles and ligaments, according to Kuzenko.

The by-product of wood pulp, DMSO is a potent solvent used commercially as a degreaser, and is capable of dissolving almost anything. Among its more interesting qualities is the ability to freeze at temperatures below 68 degrees. It boils at 372 degrees.

Because of its solvent properties, the liquid is absorbed almost in-

A group home reaction

Neighbors speak out

By Joanne Gouleche

"I've never been afraid of them. They swam in our pool and have eaten cookies with my children. They have every right to be happy. They want to be like you."

Joyce Haapala stood behind a podium inside Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church last week and bravely made that statement before a group of about 50 persons. She was referring to her neighbors and how she was finally glad to be in a neighborhood where arguments are far and few in between—especially those with her next door neighbors.

Mrs. Haapala, of Redford, lives next door to a group home for the developmentally disabled.

SHE WAS ONE of six invited panelists at a League of Women Voters' forum to discuss the controversial issue of group homes.

Also present were officials from the Plymouth Center for Human Development, the Department of Mental Health, the Department of Social Services, the Association for Retarded Citizens, of Detroit and the Grosse Pointe Association for Retarded Citizens to answer questions about group homes.

The meeting was relatively low-keyed, and no one spoke in particular about plans for a group home on Bedford Road in Grosse Pointe Park.

Mrs. Haapala admitted when news of a group home greeted the neighbors on her block, the Haapala family was immediately concerned of what was in store for them.

"A lot of people in the neighborhood came to our home and tried to persuade us to be against it," Mrs. Haapala said.

Looking back, Mrs. Haapala told the group, it was a "challenging experience for me."

"Let's be honest, I know you're embarrassed to look at them. I know what your feelings are," Mrs. Haapala said.

The Redford homemaker, whose daughter worked in the group home, said her children have "become more patient and understanding of other people's needs," living next door to a group home.

When she finished her talk, Mrs. Haapala's remarks brought a hearty applause from the audience.

Panelist Frank Schuck of the Plymouth Center explained there is an "evolution" taking place on what is happening to the retarded across the country.

"We are finding that we are depriving them (the retarded) of certain rights," he said.

"Their rights to live in the community have been violated," Schuck said, referring to the 400 patients at the Plymouth Center.

The average cost per day per patient in an institution like the Plymouth Center, Schuck said, is approximately $178 a day compared to the $60 to $70 cost (excluding medical care) of placing those same individuals in group homes.

Panelists also answered questions about group home licensing and who actually runs local group homes.

Plansker nabs fourth spot in national awards

By Al Crim and Tom Kitchen
 South High

Several South photographers were honored in the National Scholastic Art Awards, but the big winner was senior Jeff Plansker, whose 12 picture portfolio boosted him to a national fourth place ranking.

Although Jeff was the only photographer to place nationally, Liz Johnson, Phyllis Hennessey, and Doug Schaible were also honored locally for their individual portfolios and had their work sent on to New York.

In the New York judging, Plansker, who was previously ranked fifth, was moved up to fourth when the current fourth place photographer was disqualified. For placing fourth out of 250 submissions, Jeff was awarded $250.

"Basically it is all individual style," said Plansker. "Light is the most important part of my style. If you use it well through shooting and development, you are going to develop successfully. Light is the key to photographic success in competition."

Placing fourth in the National Scholastic Competition is not the only major award Jeff has received through photography. Locally, he and Doug Schaible were awarded $500 scholarships each to the Center of Creative Studies in Detroit. The Center is a Detroit art school for gifted students who plan on a career in art. Both Jeff and Doug accepted the scholarships.

"I plan to combine photography with my interest in art and make a living out of it," said Plansker. Quite a few South students have gone to the Center of Creative Studies, but Jeff and Doug are the first to receive scholarships.

In individual competition at the national Scholastic level, Plansker received a medal in graphic design, a $50 special merit award, and a $20 honor award for photographs. Also receiving $20 honor awards were Phyllis Hennessey, Elizabeth Johnson, Marilyn Knaus and Schaible.

"There are a lot of talented kids here, and I had a lot of talented third year students this year. I've never had a kid (Jeff) get that far up with his portfolio," said a proud Jack Summers, South photography teacher.

This October, Sommers will be attending the National Photography Instructors Association Conference in California in which South students will again display their work, totaling 18 exhibits, nine of which belong to Eric Frakes.

With all the talented photographers at South, each with individual styles, many share the feelings of Jeff Plansker, "Photography is a form of expression. I can express myself through photography; it's a limitless form of self expression."

DMSO, an illegal elixir for growing numbers

mediately through the skin and proceeds directly into the blood stream. It has a number of side effects.

"About 15 minutes after you apply it, you'll get a strong flavor of garlic in your mouth," said Kuzenko. "Because it's absorbed into the blood so quickly, you'll notice an odor coming from your skin if you start to sweat. It's not really unpleasant, just different."

Another side effect is an intense feeling of heat to the affected area. This usually lasts about 15 minutes. The skin can also dry out, with more noticeable effects to blond and red haired persons.

Because of its dissolving properties, Kuzenko advises taking a shower before using DMSO. "That way there won't be any chemicals, such as de-odorants and perfumes, carried into your body by the drug," he said. "You also shouldn't wear any clothes for about 45 minutes after you apply it. It could dissolve some fabrics."

If DMSO sounds dangerous, the FDA couldn't agree with you more. "Persons purchasing the drug are doing so at their own risk," said Alan Hoeting, District Director for the FDA. "The only current approved use for humans is for a specific bladder condition."

"There is no certainty of quality or purity of DMSO purchased," he cautioned. What about claims of relief in arthritis, gout, rheumatism, herpes, colitis, cold sores, acne, burns and bruises?

"There's no scientific evidence at this point that DMSO is effective in treatment of those and any other complaints," said Hoeting.

Supporters claim progress in legalizing DMSO, which was discovered in 1866, is being retarded by drug companies concerned with a possible loss of profits caused by a cheaply produced, one-drug-cures-all remedy.

"I find those charges hard to accept," countered Hoeting. "It's true the FDA relies on test results provided by the drug companies. However, there are over 10 million persons with arthritis in this country."

"Any drug which could give them consistent relief is too big a market for any company to ignore. Incidentally, I would say that anyone charging $9.95 for six ounces is making a pretty good profit himself."

"I think there's got to be something to it if big business is trying to suppress it."

New math exams await freshmen

By Scott Bowles
 South High

For the first time ever, eighth grade Grosse Pointe public school students will have to take a Math Competency Test, an exam which will decide what math level freshmen will be taking at North and South High Schools.

The Grosse Pointe School Board will give the tests in 1982 to Pierce, Parcels and Brownell middle school eighth graders.

Roger McCaig, director of research and development for the school system, said the board felt it was necessary to implement the tests because students were taking difficult math classes, Michigan Assessment Tests also showed the students did poorest in math, as compared to English and other courses.

"A student will get into a math class that is over his head," he said, "and the student will end up dropping the course or failing it."

Although the form of the tests has not been decided by the board, McCaig said the test will cover math concepts, story problems and computation.

If the student gets over 50 percent of the test correct, he will be allowed to take algebra. If not, he or she will be placed into general math, a course which covers basic math problems.

The tests will be given in January, 1982, about a month before the student fills out his schedule for high school. McCaig said the new tests should affect about 15 to 20 percent of the students in middle school.

Even though the tests are new to the Grosse Pointe schools, McCaig said that a similar test is given in other school systems, including the Detroit school system.

Frances French, an assistant principal at South, said she agrees with the decision to give the tests to incoming high school students.

"I know there are students here who are missing basic math skills," she said. "These tests can show specifically what a student's weaknesses are. Being able to do math is a part of life. You are at a real disadvantage if you can't perform math skills."

Glaucoma—silent thief of vision

Glaucoma is an eye disease which sneaks up silently in most cases, causing "tunnel" vision and, eventually, blindness. It is caused by a build-up of pressure of the fluid inside the eye, which, in turn, damages the retina in back of the eye. It occurs mainly in people over 40.

Fortunately, if it is diagnosed properly and if treatment is begun early, glaucoma can usually be controlled by medication. Sometimes surgery is necessary in order to reduce the build-up of fluid.

Since most cases of glaucoma progress gradually, without any noticeable symptoms, a routine eye exam is the best protection possible.

Only an ophthalmologist—a medical eye specialist—is qualified to treat glaucoma, which is the second leading cause of blindness in people over 40.

G P Methodist receives Memorial gift

On Memorial Sunday, May 24, the Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church dedicated red paraments for the Pentecost Season. The altar, pulpit and lectern antependia were designed by Cecile Purcell, a member of the church. Three other members of the church, Carol Davey, Jo Malecek and Priscilla van Horne, executed the designs.

The paraments are composed of all-over fabric collage in shades of red, highlighted by small flames of colors found in the sanctuary windows and furnishings. Accents of gold thread embroidery and gold fabric are employed with trapunto techniques to give a third dimension to the designs.

The symbol of flames representing the fire of the Holy Spirit to the Apostles in tongues of fire (Acts 2:1-4). On the altar antependium the cross in the center is of gold and red flames representing the love of God. Flanking the cross are seven gold flames symbolizing the gifts of the Holy Spirit (Rev. 5:12): power, riches, wisdom, strength, honor, glory and blessing.

The lectern piece recreates the burning bush that Moses saw on the mountain. The bush burned but was not destroyed and God spoke to Moses (Exodus 3:1-12). The bush still burns in human hearts and God speaks to people today. The Tau cross (like the letter "T") is to the left of the burning bush. According to tradition, this was the sign painted in blood on the doorposts of the Israelites' huts in Egypt when the "angel of death passed over" (Exodus 12:22-23). The Tau cross is the first cross of salvation. The symbols of the burning bush and the Tau cross are strong links between Jewish and Christian traditions.

The red paraments were given by Mr. and Mrs. William N. Montgomery and Mr. Thomas J. Lough in loving memory of Mrs. Genevieve S. Lough.

NEA endorses Nickelodeon

The National Education Association recently announced its endorsement of Warner Amex Satellite Entertainment Company's Nickelodeon, the Young People's Channel on Grosse Pointe Cable TV. This is the first time the NEA has endorsed an entire channel of programming.

In making the announcement Willard H. McGuire, NEA president said: "Having evaluated all aspects of programming produced as Nickelodeon and ARTS, (a creative joint effort of WASEC and ABC Video Enterprises, Inc.), the National Education Association is pleased to recommend this unique cable television service to its 1.7 million members."

"We see the Nickelodeon channel including ARTS as the most comprehensive and ambitious programming package yet devised by television programmers to meet the needs and interests of the nation's youth. We who teach commend WASEC for their contribution to the improvement of children's programming, and for advancing the potential of the television medium as a reinforcing educational tool."

The NEA, whose goals are to promote the cause of education in the United States and to guarantee human and civil rights for all educators and children, has, in the past, given its endorsement to individual television programs and series, such as Jacques Cousteau's "Undersea World" and PBS's "American Short Stories."

Nickelodeon will begin running the NEA endorsement at sign-on, sign-off and in IDs intermittently throughout its programming day, beginning June 1. The NEA will further promote Nickelodeon programming through its publications, such as "The NEA Reporter" and organizationally.

"The endorsemen of NIC-KELODEON and ARTS by the National Education Association is extremely gratifying. It tells us we are on the right track toward combining the entertainment appeal of television with genuine educational values," according to Cy Schneider, vice-president of Nickelodeon.

South seniors featured in June concerto

By Thomas Kitchen
 South High

In its last music program of the year, South High School's Instrumental Music Department will present a concerto Thursday, June 4, featuring senior instrumental music students in solos and duets.

Senior students performing for the last time will be Ann Fordon and Tracy Turner in a flute duet; Peter Tecos and Eric Frakes in a violin and oboe duet; Carolyn Hayter in a piano solo; Therese Ciaramitaro in a violin solo; Andrew Tudor playing a trumpet solo; John Miller in a trombone solo, and Mary Beth Mecha in a marimba solo. The performances will be accompanied by the Symphony Orchestra and Symphonic Band.

South instrumental music director, Ralph Miller, commented on the music groups. "It has been a very successful year for us. All of our groups received superior ratings in the festival competitions, and we all had a very exciting Orchestra Hall concert, which I would say was definitely the highlight of our year."

Although this is the final concert for the year, the band and orchestra will perform at South's Commencement on Monday, June 11.

The free Concerto Concert is at 7:30 p.m.

Lakefront parks are open for the summer course is an obstacle course of sorts that has generated a lot of positive feedback from Park residents.

"We have a lot of trouble with vandalism in the parks," Conlan said, "but we have been lucky with the Parcours, they have left that pretty much alone."

At the City's Neff Memorial Park they are, "all set to go, with everything under control," according to Building Inspector and Water Superintendent Robert Vens. "All we need is some good weather."

The City has replaced the partitions in the bathhouse showers and bathrooms, Vens said.

Temporary hours at Neff Memorial will be Monday through Friday from 3:30 to 8:30 p.m., Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 8:30 p.m. until June 12.

The City has not decided on permanent hours for the summer.

Farms Superintendent of Parks and Recreation Edward Lauer said he "hasn't had any real problems" opening the Farms Municipal Park except that he feels bad he's had to turn down so many job applicants.

"We require all of our summer staff to have valid Senior Life Saving, Water Safety Instructor and Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation cards," Lauer said, "but we still have to turn many away. I don't know what these kids are going to do this summer."

Preparations for the Memorial Day weekend official opening of the Farms Municipal Park were completed ahead of schedule according to Lauer.

Summer hours are 5 a.m. to 12 p.m. seven days. "The pool will be open from 10 a.m. until dark until it starts getting cold in the middle of September," he said.

The Farms Municipal Park is gradually changing from incandescent to "high pressure sodium" lighting.

"Sodium lamps are cheaper to run than the old incandescents," Lauer explained, "but they cost a lot to install so we are replacing them one at a time."

"Opening this park is like opening a new business each year," he said. "We have to prepare all the facilities and hire a new staff each year."

Woods Director of Parks and Recreation Donald Hallmann boasts that Lakefront Park has the largest swimming pool in the country.

"There are two 50 meter pools connected to each other, a diving pool, and a baby pool," Hallmann said.

"Things are going along just as scheduled," he said. Woods residents should have their 1981 park passes validated at the Woods City Hall.

Lakefront Park will be open from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. during the summer.

The Shores' George Osius Park, next door to the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, will be open from 5 a.m. to 1 a.m. The pool will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. "until sometime in September," according to Life Guard Chris Truhol and Gate Guard Brian Marshall.

"I don't know why we don't get a sign," Marshall said.

The University Liggett School Dance Troop members (from left to right) Brigitte Koegler, Gwyn Treiber, Karen Cavazos, Amy Sparrow, Rebecca Thomas, Michele Grady, Tracey Matthews and Michelle Brane, were among the performers who packed the house May 12 and 13 for Collage II. Also featured in the program were members of the ULS band, chorale, Barbershop Quartet, University Liggett Singers, string quartet, Dirthy Dozen and Octet. Faculty members Jennifer Noyer, James Hohmeyer and Fred DeHaven directed the performances.

Grosse Pointers tour China in science exchange

Several Pointers were among the members of the Detroit Dental Clinic who recently returned from two and a half weeks in the People's Republic of China, as guests of the Chinese government. This was the 10th such international people-to-people scientific exchange sponsored by the Detroit Dental Clinic Club, including Director Dr. Robert C. Everett, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Teachout, Mr. and Mrs. James Berlakis, Dr. and Mrs. Edmund Jaskolski, Dr. and Mrs. Donald Briggs and Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Quirk.

The dentists presented lectures each morning to Chinese colleagues in hospitals, with the lectures translated to Chinese. These were followed by question and answer periods. Further information was exchanged at official luncheons and banquets.

While the group found that Chinese dental equipment and materials were antiquated and in short supply, the Chinese dental science does manage some good dentistry, according to Everett.

The Americans estimated that their Chinese counterparts were about 50 years behind the quality of dental service in the U.S. With the onset of the Cultural Revolution, training of qualified dentists and auxiliary personnel ceased, Everett said.

Text books, scientific journals and indeed, whole libraries were destroyed during the revolution. Dr. Everett said medical and dental specialists in China today find themselves hampered by the lack of funds to buy modern equipment and the improved materials used routinely by American dentists.

More frustrating is the lack of trained assistants and the total lack of professional literature of any kind, according to Everett. American doctors and dentists can help their Chinese colleagues by sending them journals, periodicals and technical books. The Detroit Dental Clinic Club is thanking its Chinese hosts by collecting text books and other dental literature for shipment to the People's Republic of China.

Dental hygienists and preventive dentistry do not exist today in China, according to the club. Toothpaste and brushes are available in the cities, but not in rural areas.

Dr. Everett said basic dental care in China is free, with small charges made for dentures, partial dentures, bridgework and prosthetic devices. No gold work is done and steel crowns are used in bridge work.

This was particularly interesting to Frank Teachout, owner of a dental laboratory. "There are many Chinese artisans with a great aptitude for mastering the delicate and precise procedures required in dental work," he said. "Without the proper material and equipment, however, it is impossible to prepare the type of crowns and bridge work that laboratories in the U.S. do as a matter of course."

While the general health excellent, respiratory problems appear to be common, of the people appears to be and the Chinese government is concerned about the heavy smoking prevalent among the people, according to Everett.

Hypertension is also common, with the government believing the problem is caused by living through the past difficult years, more than through diet, Everett added.

The dental group visited Beijing, Shanghai, Nanjing, Wuxi and Guangzhou, birth place of Dr. Sun Yat Sen.

Dr. Robert Everett has been appointed Director of Continuing Education for the Sino American Technology Exchange Council of the People's Republic of China. Inquiries about sending books and technical literature to China, or about organizing a professional group to visit colleagues in the People's Republic, may be addressed to Dr. Everett, care of 18100 Mack Avenue, Grosse Pointe, 48224, or call 884-6680.

North netters in state berth

By Tim Saunders
North High

The Pointes will be well represented at the boys' state tennis tournament this year as both North and South earned a trip to the State championships by finishing first and second in the regional tournament on May 16.

The rivalry between the two teams at its peak last week starting with the Grosse Pointe tournament on Wednesday May 13. Bishop Gallagher and Fraser rounded out the four-team match but in actuality it was North against South.

The Norsemen, whose coach Tom Bershback, went out on a limb earlier in the year by predicting a possible victory over the South team, stood up to their coach's praise by beating South, 16-14.

The rematch at the regional tournament was exactly what had been promised. It was a very close and exciting battle between the teams as each emerged with berths in the state playoff, South edging North, 24-23.

Winners for North were Chris Brown, who beat Gallagher's Kirt Thomas in the first singles in three sets; Bill Casey, the No. 2 singles, beat South's Bill Kohr, 6-4, 6-3. Mark Andris topped South's Carl Tewes in the third singles, 6-3, 6-2, and Sanjit Jayakar won in the fourth singles, beating South's Tim Stubeneuch, 6-3, 6-2.

SH drops four in softball

By Rick Richner
South High

After losing all three of its contests in early May, South's girls' JV softball team now lost four games in a row and five out of six.

South's first game of the week against L'Anse Creuse, North was their "best game of the year," according to South's coach John Bruce. The girls lost the game, 3-2.

It was an unfortunate loss for South's Blue Devils, as Carol Rosasco pitched all seven innings and yielded only two hits. L'Anse Creuse scored its three runs on an error, a wild pitch and a double.

On May 12 South made up a rained-out game against North, with disastrous results. The game was stopped in the fifth inning with North winning, 12-2.

One bright spot in that game was the pitching of Carolyn Ahee. In three innings of work she struck out five North batters.

In the final game of the week, South suffered another resounding loss to East Detroit, 14-5.

"Susie Thibodeau pitched well in her first starting assignment," Bruce commented, "the problem was defense." South allowed nine unearned runs out of 10 scored in the second inning. East Detroit had only six hits in the game.

South's record now stands at 2-2 in the EML and 2-4 overall.

The Rhine wines of Germany are also called Hoch, from Hochheim, a region along the Rhine containing about five vineyards. The reason that the name extends to an area beyond Hochheim has to do with Queen Victoria of England's taste for the wine. Once it became known that she favored Hoch wine, it became very popular and the Hoch vineyards could not produce enough to keep up with the demand. The name then spread to cover other vineyards along the Rhine in the same region.

War Memorial is $10,000 short of goal

Grosse Pointe War Memorial's 1981 Annual Family Participation Campaign is still $10,000 short of the goal necessary to balance the budget for the fiscal year beginning Aug. 1. There are still nearly 1,000 givers of record not heard from with only two weeks left in the active drive effort.

Should the necessary monies not be received by the end of May, special fundraising events will be scheduled in hopes of making up the difference. Two have already been slated. On Sunday, June 21 from 1 to 5 p.m. Frank Boos and David Stalker, fine arts auctioneers and appraisers, together with a team of four experts and a conservator, will give oral appraisals to Grosse Pointers to determine the current value of their paintings, prints, silver, porcelain, furniture, collectables and the like except jewelry.

Their fees of $5 per item will be donated to the family participation campaign.

Later in the summer under the chairmanship of Sandy Kabbush a fashion show, bridge game and luncheon will be held to benefit the drive. A raffle will also be featured.

Ferry Fun Day is Saturday

Ferry Elementary School, 748 Roslyn Road, will hold its annual Fun Day on Saturday, May 30, from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. with an alternate rain day on Sunday, May 31, from noon to 3 p.m.

There will be games and relays for kids from preschool through sixth grade. As usual, there will be a Moon Walk, pony rides and assorted games to test your skills. The Cake Walk will feature pastries from Josef's.

Disc Jockey Ken Gugel will play the top 40 and give away free albums. In addition there will be refreshments, including pizza, hot dogs and custard cones and the Ferry Nature Center will be open for tours.

'Monster' says avoid those snack foods

University Liggett School first grade teachers welcomed an invitation from Catherine Ovshinsky of Wayne State University to have their classes participate in a "junk food" assignment for seniors in the university nursing program.

The future nurses created a half hour program designed to help ULS first graders make intelligent choices in snack foods. "Foods that grow help me grow" was the slogan used by the Wayne University students.

Children watched the "Cookie Monster" lose race after race following his poor snack choice. The winner in each contest was "The Hulk" who accepted good advice and chose health giving snacks. First graders concluded the program by composing posters showing their own winning snack choices.

Michigan summer theaters host big-name performers

Michigianians needn't travel to California to see Hollywood stars in person this summer since they'll be performing in Michigan theaters, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Suzanne Somers of television's "Three's Company" and Gavin MacLeod of "Love Boat" are just two of the big-name performers who will be appearing in the state.

From now to Labor Day, Michigianians can choose from hundreds of theatrical performances ranging from light-hearted musicals to comedies and dramas. The settings are just as diverse: renovated barns, open-air pavilions, historic opera houses and university playhouses.

Here are details on 15 popular Michigan summer theaters listed alphabetically by city:

● ADRIAN: Crosswell Summer Musical Theatre, Crosswell Opera House, 129 E. Vitale attends tactics class

Shores Police Chief Joseph Vitale, City Director of Public Safety Bruce Kennedy and City Deputy Director Richard Clark attended a two-day workshop on tactics for armed encounters for law enforcement officers held May 12 and 13 at the Michigan State Police Academy in Lansing.

Sponsored by the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police, the 16-hour course was created to help officers survive armed conflicts on the street.

Featured at the seminar were Charles Remsberg, a journalist whose 20-year career has centered on a variety of law enforcement topics. Remsberg is the author of widely used instructional manuals, including "Hostage Negotiation for Police," "Courtroom Performance" and "The Executive Survival Handbook," (for kidnap victims).

Assisting him was Dennis Anderson, one of the nation's foremost directors of motion pictures for law enforcement training. Among his films oriented to survival methods are, "Hostage Negotiation for Police," "High Risk Patrol Tactics" and "Shooting Decisions."

Chief Vitale said the workshop was "very valuable" and hopes to pass the information on to the men under his guidance.

Would you believe that in this day of highly specialized medicine that there is a movement towards self-care?

This has nothing to do with diagnosis, which rightly belongs in the realm of sophisticated medical care under the surveillance of highly trained doctors in well-equipped sterile offices and hospitals. Rather it is a return to a common sense health care routine that an individual can perform alone. Part of this re-evaluation of highly specialized technical care is a result of its impersonal approach and cost. Another factor is that infectious diseases—smallpox, pneumonia, and polio have been controlled by better living conditions, vaccines, better medicines and medical care.

What we have left are chronic diseases like arthritis and heart conditions which represent 80 percent of all illnesses today. These chronic diseases lend themselves to the concept of "self-care" and "self-help."

It is not an entirely new idea. Most people practice self-care activities as a matter of routine. Good nutrition, hygiene, dental care, basic first aid, such as cleaning up cuts and cooling off burns are all a form of self-care.

WHEN WE READ an article on health or watch a medical show on television or send for a health pamphlet and pick up tips on the benefits of eating more fresh fruits, limiting our intake of fatty foods or the benefits of regular exercise, we are practicing self-care.

However in the strictest sense self-care involves taking over tasks usually performed by a professional caregiver such as taking blood pressure, performing irrigations for ear wax or measuring heart rate. We think of these tasks as being performed by a doctor or nurse but studies indicate that nonprofessionals can do them.

Patients with chronic disease have been administering to themselves for years. Diabetics test their urine and give themselves medical injections. Angina patients medicate themselves with nitroglycerine. Patients attend classes that teach self-care skills. Blood pressure cuffs are becoming as common as thermometers as standard equipment in the medicine cabinet.

Tantamount to self-care is self-surveillance. A widely quoted study of 7,000 Californians documented how closely life-span is linked to lifestyle.

The study examined seven healthful practices:

- Get seven to eight hours of sleep a night.
- Eat breakfast regularly.
- Don't eat between meals.
- Keep within a few pounds of your ideal weight.
- Engage in some form of exercise.
- Drink moderately or not at all.
- Don't smoke.

In every age group persons who observed all seven of these rules had, on the average better health than those who observed six. Moreover, persons over 75 who followed all of these practices were generally as healthy as persons 30 to 40 years younger who followed fewer than three.

Another form of self-care is self-treatment in emergencies. Guidelines for emergency self-care can be found in first-aid manuals. The American Red Cross offers first aid classes which are very informative on what to do in emergencies.

Recent books are encouraging readers to take on a wider range of medical responsibilities. Step-by-step checklists are presented that guide the reader through appropriate self-treatment and signal at what point professional help is needed.

A more comprehensive program involving self-care is the "activated patient" course. An "activated patient" is a person who becomes involved in his or her own care. The activated person accepts responsibility.

Immediately following the next meeting, the group will attend the Grosse Pointe School Board meeting at 8 p.m. at 389 St. Clair to seek support for continuing the Educable Mentally Impaired program.

Christ Church slates concert

The rose garden at Christ Church, 61 Grosse Pointe Boulevard, will be the setting for the unusual concert of "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat," a secular cantata, and the "Missa Hilarious" by P.D.Q. Bach. The concert, Friday evening, June 5, at 8 p.m. features the Boys' Choir performing Joseph and the Girls' and Men's Choir, with orchestra, presenting the obscure Missa.

Joseph is a series of songs in the form of a secular cantata, written by Webber and Rice, who composed "Jesus Christ Superstar." The Boys' voices with guitar, piano and percussion are a spectacular sound for such songs as Poor, Poor, Joseph, Who's the Thief, Stone the Crows, and Any Dream Will Do.

P.D.Q. Bach, born in 1807 and died in 1742, is the curious and newly discovered son of the musical genius. The spoof is a collection of pieces that have been made available by Professor Peter Schickele, and have been made a popular part of current entertainment.

The Missa Hilarious consists of the Yrickay (pig latin for Kyrie), gloria, Credo, Sanctus, and Agnus Dei performed by Bargain Counter-tenors, William Dunn and Stanley Ferch, David Ludwig, the basso botto and various performers playing nose flutes, corngahorns, etc. The trombones interruptus is an important instrument.

Frederick DeHaven will direct the Men and Girls Choir in this performance with the Grosse Pointe Pick-up Ensemble. Tickets for the concert, are $3, which includes dessert of strawberries and cake. Tickets are available by calling the church office at 885-4841.

Road program worth millions to state economy

A highway improvement program recently recommended by a research agency would yield more in jobs and financial benefits than it would cost, according to a study released last week.

The Road Information Program (TRIP) recommended in its report a $671.5 million-per-year road and bridge improvement program for Michigan — $355.6 million per year more than the state, counties and municipalities now are spending.

TRIP is supported by highway-related industries and agencies.

By reducing unemployment costs, creating new jobs and increasing both income tax revenues to the state and corporate expenditures, a $355.6 million-per-year increase would yield $366.3 million in economic benefits for Michigan, the report says.

TRIP's estimate of savings includes $200.8 million in payroll from 11,450 new jobs in construction and related industries, $26.1 million in Federal and State income taxes (included in the payroll), $154.8 million in corporate expenditures and $10.7 million in reduced unemployment compensation payments.

TRIP's new study pointed out that each $100 million in road construction work provides $103 million in economic benefits.

An earlier TRIP study showed 53 percent of Michigan's most heavily traveled roads are deficient according to nationally accepted engineering standards.

Also, more than a third of all bridges in Michigan are too weak, too narrow or have hazardous approaches, TRIP reported.

TRIP blamed Michigan's road and bridge deficiencies on a lack of adequate funding over the years.

In this fiscal year (which ends Sept. 30), the state, counties and municipalities have budgeted only $315.9 million for road and bridge renewal, or $355.6 million less than $671.5 million per year that TRIP recommends.

"The construction industry is second only to automobile manufacturing in unemployment in Michigan," said Lawrence W. Martin, executive director of the Michigan Road Builders Association, which requested the TRIP study.

In all age groups under 64, men are twice as likely as women to be involved in pedestrian accidents, says the National Safety Council. Polo, historians believe, had its origin in Persia (Iran) before the Christian era and subsequently spread to other Oriental countries.

SHS blood drive ends

By Susan Sweetman
South's National Honor Society's annual blood drive was again a success, as NHS members collected 188 pints of blood on May 6.

Last spring, South set a record of 201 pints of blood, with the record being broken three days later by Denby High School.

The blood was received by the Red Cross, which will distribute it to area hospitals.

"We would like to thank the whole community, and especially those outside of school for participating," commented Tina Johnson, NHS president.

Since 1974, South has collected 2,306 pints of blood.

The world's longest covered bridge is in Hartland, New Brunswick, Canada. It was built in 1899 and measures 1,282 feet.

'Designers walk by solar home'

For the first time in the history of the annual National Home Fashion's League, Inc., the local 1981 "Designer's Walk" event will include a tour of a home not occupied by a family.

The 1981 event, scheduled for June 3, will feature a walking tour of Detroit Edison's Experimental Passive Solar Home in Troy, the area's first major cooperative effort between builders, suppliers and a utility to use passive solar technology.

The Designer's Walk is an annual fundraising event for the non-profit League. Funds raised are used for design fellowships and awards to design students and for the group's ongoing program of supplying libraries with educational interior design literature.

Detroit Edison's Experimental Passive Solar Home is not occupied by permanent residents — historically a criteria for being included in the event.

The Experimental Passive Solar Home is a contemporary home designed architecturally to nestle comfortably in the traditionally exquisite Oak River Subdivision No. 1. Highlights include a two-story glass greenhouse and an all-glass southern exposure that illuminates the strikingly contemporary/traditional interior by Hearthiside.

The Designer's Walk also will feature visits to a Gatsby-era home in Bloomfield Hills which features large rooms, high ceilings, finely carved moldings and a generous wrap-around porch. The living room fireplace is faced with zodiac-patterned Pewabic tile and the drive includes bricks from a Detroit slaughter house. The interior is the creation of Fran Burbary Interior Design.

The West Bloomfield condominium features careful planning and coordination of colors that helped a family move from a large home into the smaller quarters of condo living. It includes furniture designed for multiple uses and mixing of several periods — all resulting in a warm and familiar home. The interior is by Joyce Williams of West Bloomfield.

The Designer's Walk will be held June 3, starting at 10 a.m. at Detroit Edison's Experimental Passive Solar Home, 2265 Oak River Court, south of Long Lake Rd. and west of Coolidge Highway. Bus transportation will be provided, as will a box lunch.

Tickets are available for $12 by calling Jeane Melton, Distinctive Designs, (313) 862-1900, or by visiting Vicer Herz Interiors, 29425 Northwestern Hwy. in Southfield and Designers Showcase, 777 Forest in Birmingham.

ty for his or her own health and enters into a working partnership with the physician.

Another aspect of self-care is that practiced in groups. Self-help groups are people who share a common condition and who come together to offer one another the benefit of mutual experiences, support and counsel. Self-help groups have sprung up to answer almost every need. There are groups for stutterers, smokers, patients with ulcers, persons who have had open-heart surgery, arthritis, diabetes, neurotics, the spouses of heart attack victims and the widowed.

Typically self-health health groups are begun by patients themselves or their families. Often a professional health care worker is invited to be a guest speaker.

Some of these self-help groups focus on behavior modification. A good example of this type is Alcoholics Anonymous. Others are weight control groups and those which help people to stop smoking.

Stressful situations have also become the focus of some self-help groups. The members offer one another mutual support by sharing coping strategies and advice. One such group is "Make Today Count," organized by and for persons with terminal illnesses "to allow members to share mutual problems and live each day fully."

Other groups target self-fulfillment and self-improvement. One of these is SAGE (Senior Actualization and Growth Exploration) which calls itself "a growth center for people over 65."

Sage was founded by a psychiatrist in 1974. It is based on the premise that "old age can and should be rich, creative culmination." Weekly meetings incorporate deep breathing, massage, limbering exercises to music, biofeedback and counseling. Sage participants report that the techniques they have learned help them to control headaches, reduce blood pressure, lift depression, cure insomnia and limit the number of medications they need to take.

Several organizations that address the needs of older persons include a number of health-related components, although health and medicine are not their main focus. Senior centers such as the Neighborhood Club and Food and Friendship in Grosse Pointe offer some sort of health education.

Conscientiously observing healthful practices can significantly enhance a sense of well-being as well as the ability to lead an active life.

More information about self-care and self-help groups can be received by writing to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, U.S. Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

FLEC program aids students

The Family Life Education Council (FLEC) Alcohol Awareness Program completed its spring presentations to fifth and sixth graders in 15 area schools. Over 1,100 area young people participated in the discussion, led by trained high school volunteers, on the use and abuse of alcohol.

The high school students, after 16 hours of training, presented a program consisting of a movie, pamphlets, and a question and answer period. Areas covered in the discussion were the facts on alcohol and what abuse causes; the individual's right to make the decision about whether they are going to drink or not; and community respect for the individual's decision.

High school students participating were Paula Borrego, Monique Michael, Jennifer Cushing, Helen Hogan, from Our Lady Star of the Sea High School; Debbie Camp, Diana Clark, John Moran, Stacy Rotta, Kevin Lord, Chris Lorenz and Gretchen Morris from South High School.

Francis Lucido, Mark Rollin, Jerry Bockstanz, Bill Casey, Jerry Deeney, Paul Elle, Jay Hazen, Dan McEnroe, Dan Rustman, Trisha Schiavone and Scott Veestra participated from North High School.

For a middle class family, making $22,500 to $27,500 annually, the current cost of bringing up a child through his 18th year is $85,000.

Amsterdam's Schilpol Best Readers of British Traveler magazine voted Amsterdam's airport the world's best. Schilpol rated high in ease of access, ambience, and different services available, particularly duty-free shops with 35,000 different articles for sale.

Views of the News

After 'A,' what's next?

The difficulty of writing tax reform in a referendum, even one proposed by the governor and the state Legislature, was emphasized again in the one-sided defeat of Proposal "A" in the special election last week. Even the Pointes voted it down by almost a two-to-one margin.

Now Robert Tisch, the Shiawassee County drain commissioner who has failed twice with his own property tax cuts, is threatening a Tisch III unless the governor and the Legislature come up with some new program acceptable to him and his supporters. Tisch is claiming most of the credit for beating Proposal "A" and believes he now could win state approval of his third effort at a tax cut.

YET IT IS not only Tisch who can claim credit for defeat of Proposal "A." The Michigan Education Association and many educators also were opposed on the grounds that it would have cut school revenues and taken some control of spending for school purposes from the hands of local people. Some citizens felt the proposed cuts in state and local services were too deep to be acceptable, in spite of the campaign for lower taxes. And others were simply confused by what became a highly complex tax proposal.

If Tisch and his supporters weren't entirely responsible for defeat of Proposal "A," then the governor and Legislature have some responsibility to listen to the complaints of those who saw the proposal as making too deep a cut in essential services. And they might be able to agree on a modification of Proposal "A" that would not require another referendum.

The problem here is that the Legislature can vote a property tax cut and authorize the state to reimburse local units of government for their loss in tax revenues. But since the Legislature cannot order an increase in the sales tax to finance these reimbursements, the result would be a further cut in state spending and state services. And the state already has made substantial cuts in services in the past two years.

While the Legislature does have authority to raise the state income tax rates to offset the revenue lost from a property tax cut, such a move is regarded as highly unlikely in these times. Raising the income tax probably is even more distasteful than the proposed sales tax hike proved to be in last week's election.

So where does that leave us? It leaves us with the possibility of a smaller cut in property taxes than proposed by Proposal "A" with the state absorbing the costs of reimbursing the local units of government and thus making further cuts in state services.

That is not a very satisfactory solution. The problem is that people of Michigan, and in other states as well, are continuing to be pinched economically by inflation. They can't do much about rising prices of food, clothing, utilities and the other necessities of life, except to complain and try to limit their spending. But people feel they can do something about public spending—and they do by calling for property tax relief and often voting for it when they get the chance to do so.

YET THE COSTS of government continue to rise, not necessarily because government is seeking new fields to conquer but because wages and salaries for employees constitute the major cost of government. And public employees are getting wage and salary increases just as private employees are—and for the same reason: to offset the costs of inflation. Cost of supplies and equipment for government also continue to rise and for the same reason.

At the federal, state and local level complaints continue to be heard about the costs of government and it may well be true that government has tried to finance too many benefits for both people and institutions in the past. But while there is some waste in government, new cuts in government spending cannot be offset just by eliminating waste. It is not that large an item.

Despite the easy appeals of demagogues such as Bob Tisch, a further cut in government spending at the state or local level—or both—will mean real hardships to many people, including the poor, the aged, the infirm children, and others unable to provide for themselves. The governor and the Legislature will have to keep that hard fact in mind as they ponder their reaction to the defeat of Proposal "A" and to the new threats made by Tisch.

Pointes a GOP island

Whatever happens in Michigan's reapportionment of congressional seats that is required by the new census figures, the Grosse Pointes are expected to become an even more isolated island of Republicans surrounded by a sea of Democrats.

The traditionally Republican Pointes are now part of the 14th Congressional District which has been dominated by Democrats, even though the 1980 Republican nominee, Victor Caputo, made a strong race against the Democratic winner, Dennis Hertel. But in the coming reapportionment by the state Legislature the Democrats appear likely to obtain an even greater edge in whatever district the Pointes finally find themselves.

That forecast is based on the following scenario: Michigan will lose one congressional district because of the national shift in population and thus each of the state's remaining 18 districts will be larger than it now is. At the same time, the Pointes lost population from 1970 to 1980 and thus will play an even smaller proportionate role in the new district than it does now. Furthermore, the expanded district will draw in more Democrats than Republicans because the Pointes are surrounded by predominantly Democratic voting areas.

THAT LATER point is emphasized by Hertel's administrative assistant, Paul Donahue, who contends that "No matter which way they push us, we tend to become more Democratic." Hertel is not home free, however, because he may have to contest his district with another incumbent Democrat as a result of the cut in Michigan's delegation from 19 to 18.

The state Constitution also requires the reapportionment of the state's legislative districts as well as its congressional districts this year. An eight-member commission made up of four Democrats and four Republicans will meet June 1 to begin that task. It will have 180 days from the official receipt of the census results by the secretary of state to juggle and reshape the state's 38 senate districts and 110 house districts.

Because the Pointes lost population, the reapportionment is likely to affect both the First District Senate seat now held by Senator John Kelly and the 13th District House seat held by Rep. William Bryant. But overall the Republicans think they should fare better than they did in the 1971 reapportionment which they feel was gerrymandered. As a minority, they will emphasize the need for more swing districts which tend to increase voter interest and participation.

If the commission can't reach agreement, the issue then will go to the Supreme Court. But since the court has indicated some reluctance to take on this responsibility, the issue eventually could go back to the Legislature. While the Democrats control the Legislature, any bill outlining new legislative districts would still require the signature of Gov. William Milliken, a Republican. So he could veto a proposal he felt patently unfair to the GOP.

WHILE ONE-MAN, one-vote supposedly is the guiding principle of reapportionment for both the congressional and legislative districts political considerations always play an important role. They have in the past and they undoubtedly will again this year in Michigan.

Afterthoughts on Proposal 'A'

Before, during, and after the recent referendum on Proposal "A," all branches of the news media in Michigan helped to create the false impression that a defeat of the Proposal meant that the voters want a "real tax cut" and not just a "tax shift," as reporters call it. This is not entirely the case.

As a Grosse Pointe resident, I feel very fortunate to be able to pay directly for quality education. Of course, my taxes are high; however, I am paying for something of value. I help defeat Proposal "A," not because I want a "real tax cut," but because I want to maintain local control of local schools. I do not want the Michigan Legislature returning local money (not enough) at some future date with hidden strings attached.

I hope that, in the future, the news media will do a better job of investigating and reporting all facets of voter reaction and attitude.

More police in schools

Vandalism is a serious crime in our society and is something we must contend with. Schools are the major targets for youths and something must be done to stop these youngsters from destroying costly property.

I attend a Grosse Pointe public high school and I see all sorts of damage done to our school—spray painting the walls, setting trash cans on fire, broken glass and graffiti just to name a few.

I feel that more police protection and more care should be taken into consideration so that we can bring out a better name for our schools and our society.

Grosse Pointe Woods

What's important in the Woods?

I am writing about the excessive use of the taxpayers' money by the Grosse Pointe Woods City Council. The City Council has allocated $50,000 for the planting of trees while the citizens are now required to pay for the use of the E.M.S. service in addition to their taxes.

Why should we, the citizens of Grosse Pointe Woods, stand for this outrageous expenditure for trees when we have to pay extra to use the ambulance service? Which is more important, lives or trees?

Stop signs should be a priority

I am writing to protest the dangerous condition of Marter Road in Grosse Pointe Woods. The road badly needs to be resurfaced. The curve at the end of the road, near Jefferson, has caused many accidents. The cement wall does not seem to prove to be of any protection.

There are many senior citizens living in the Babcock Apartments who walk to the nearby shopping mall. I feel there should be a stop sign installed at the curve of Marter Road. Since Marter Road is a heavily traveled road, I feel this should have priority in the city budget.

Bon Secours aids elderly in hospital programs

May is Older American Month. Because almost 20 percent of the residents of the Grosse Pointes are over 65, Bon Secours Hospital has announced a new program which will complement existing hospital programs serving the elderly.

Beginning on June 1, free blood pressure screening will be offered three afternoons each week to anyone who visits the hospital. Specially trained volunteers will provide the service Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 2 to 4 p.m. at the hospital.

The service was developed specifically to meet the health needs of elderly persons needing to monitor their blood pressure but who may find frequent trips to a physician's office burdensome.

Long-term care for the elderly is another important service being developed. During 1980, Bon Secours Hospital and Cottage Hospital submitted a joint Notice of Intent to pursue the development and operation of a long-term care center. The Notice of Intent was received by the Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Southeastern Michigan and the Michigan Department of Public Health.

Plans for a long-term center are currently under study by both hospitals and should result in an application for a Certificate of Need before the end of the year.

Services under consideration range from skilled long-term nursing care, to community service programs such as congregating dining for the well elderly. The program will be designed to encourage people to function to their fullest capacity.

Bon Secours Hospital is also involved in a variety of other programs which serve elderly residents of the Grosse Pointes. In addition to serving the elderly, many of these programs enlist the talents and energies of retired Grosse Pointe area residents.

The Bon Secours Hospital Social Work Department offers support and referral resources to families considering housing and care options for an elderly relative.

"There is a lack of awareness. People don't know how to get in touch with programs that offer services to the elderly," said Jean Balesky, A.C.S.W.

"We provide information that gives people the ability to explore all the options available to them," she added.

That may mean discussing housing alternatives, such as residence homes, extended care facilities, senior apartment complexes or working out an arrangement that allows the elderly person to remain at home, perhaps with outside assistance.

Outgoing public school Supt. William Coats (right) was honored by Ed Deeb (left) and members of the PTO-PTA and Associated Groups Council, of which Deeb is president, at a reception Monday, May 18, at Poupard Elementary School. About 40 persons attended the meeting at which Coats was presented a distinguished service plaque and commended by Deeb for his "spirit and dedication" to education. Coats will be replaced July 1 by Kenneth Brummel, a Westport, Conn., educator who was selected from a field of more than 100 candidates last month. Coats will be on vacation for the month of July, and will assume a full professorship in University of Michigan's school of education. He has served as superintendent of Grosse Pointe schools for five years.

The Fontbonne Auxiliary of Saint John Hospital is planning a New Member Tea for Wednesday, June 17, from 1 to 3 p.m. in the Grosse Pointe home of Sarah Fisher Dingeman, and everyone's welcome—but there's an "admission charge" for present Fontbonne members.

In order to attend, each Fontbonne lady must bring along one or more new members.

If you don't know a Fontbonne member, and you'd like to be one, give a call to Rose Regner at 886-7332 or the Fontbonne Auxiliary Office at 343-3675. Make your intention known, and your tea reservation is assured.

It promises to be a good party, with informal modeling of summer fashions from Maria Dinon throughout the afternoon and Very Special Refreshments: tea and cookies prepared by committee members from recipes which have been accepted for publication in Fontbonne's soon-to-be-published cookbook, "Renaissance Cuisine."

Mrs. John E. Young Jr., chairman of the day, is being assisted by a committee including the aforementioned Rose (Mrs. Ray) Regner, in charge of reservations; Mrs. Robert Jay, decorations/invitations; Mrs. Thomas McCarthy, refreshments; Mrs. Herbert W. Devine, membership; and Mrs. John L. Drummy Jr., models.

"La Creme de la Crepe" is the theme for a fabulous breakfast at Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, this Sunday, May 31. MIREILLE DE BARY-WILKINSON (center, with pan and apron), chef extraordinaire, will be dishing up the delicacies from 8:30 to 1 p.m., and the public is invited to view crepes being cooked and fresh strawberries cleaned in Miller Hall behind the church. Weather permitting, they'll be eaten al fresco, in the church parking lot, which will be closed to traffic so tables and chairs can be set up there in outdoor cafe style. Assisting Mireille on Sunday will be (front row, left to right) DIANNE HEISNER, MOONYEEN FITCH, VICKI WEBSTER, DOROTHY LUDWIG, PIXIE WHITE, ELSIE

OGDEN and ED WHITE. The menu will offer a choice of fresh strawberry crepes with sour cream at $3 or plain crepes with jam and powdered sugar for $1.50, plus beverage at 50 cents. Tickets will be available at the door. The Choir, under the direction of Frederick De Haven, has been invited to sing Evensong at St. Pauls' Cathedral in London, Winchester Cathedral and Stratford-on-Avon.

This year the Grosse Pointe Antiques Show, sponsored by University Liggett School, has been extended in both size and length. The show, now in its 16th consecutive year, is held on the Briarcliff Drive campus of ULS Middle School. It will be open to the public for four days, June 18 to 21, and will feature 54 nationally recognized antiques dealers from 20 states.

New this year is the Tomorrow's Treasures booth, offering a potpourri of moderately priced decorative items donated by ULS families, alumni and friends. The show will be open to the public from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily, except Sunday, June 21, when hours are 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. General admission is $5. A catalogue will be available for $3.

The Grosse Pointe Antiques Show has earned a reputation as one of the five leading antiques shows in the nation. Mrs. Walter B. Ford is honorary chairman this year. According to Mrs. Robert Niccolini, general chairman, "The show is considered by experts as professional in every aspect—but it should be noted that it is planned, (Continued on Page 3B)

April wedding for Molly King

Colorado will be home for the Robert Olenicks; newlyweds vacation in Mexico following early spring wedding Prince of Peace Chapel, Aspen, Colo., was the setting for the spring wedding of Molly King, of Aspen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lane King, of Wellington Place, and Robert Francis Olenick, of Aspen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Olenick, of Falmouth, Mass.

The 5 o'clock ceremony Friday, April 10, at which The Reverend Robert White presided was followed by a reception at the Copper Kettle in Aspen. The newlyweds vacationed in Cozumel, Mexico, and will make their home in Aspen.

Re-embroidered lace accented the English rat bodice. Queen Anne neckline and a fine skirt of the bride's ivory satin gown. She wore fresh spring flowers in her hair and carried a bouquet of lilies, daisies, carnations and bachelor buttons.

Honor maid Anne King, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids Martha Wood, Julie Cerre and Tracy Whitney, all formerly of The Pointe, and Mary Olenick, the bridegroom's sister, of Falmouth, wore beige, long sleeved blouses with their navy skirts. The small flowered print on the skirts was accented by their spring flower bouquets.

Robert Ragan of Aspen, served as best man. In the usher corps were the bride's brother, John L. King Jr., of San Francisco; Paul Olenick, of Baltimore, Md., and Joseph Olenick, of Falmouth, brothers of the bridegroom, and Charles Melick, of Atlanta, Ga.

The mothers of the bride and the bridegroom pinned gardenias to their purses.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's grandfather, John D. King, of Harcourt Road, uncles and aunts of the bride Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Hickey and Mr.

and Mrs. Joseph L. Hickey, of The Pointe, the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Brogan, of Washington, D.C., Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Gotfredson, former Pointers who now reside in La Jolla, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. R. Frederick Kolowich, of Hilton Head, S.C., and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cerre, of Birmingham, both formerly of The Pointe.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip J. Meathe, Mrs. Marilyn Wood, Thomas Gotfredson and his fiancée, Christine Pollard, and Mrs. Marjorie Sterling traveled to Aspen from The Pointe for the ceremony.

The Robert F. Olenicks

At a 5 o'clock ceremony Friday, April 10, in Prince of Peace Chapel, Aspen, Colo., MOLLY KING, daughter of the John Lane Kings, of Wellington Place, and Mr. Olenick, son of the Paul J. Olenicks, of Falmouth, Mass., exchanged marriage vows.

A diamond anniversary day for Catholic Women

The Most Reverend Edmund C. Szoka, Detroit's new archbishop, served as celebrant and homilist at the League of Catholic Women of Detroit's 75th anniversary Mass of Thanksgiving Wednesday, May 27, at Sts. Peter and Paul Jesuit Church on East Jefferson Avenue.

The mass, held in conjunction with the league's annual meeting and victory luncheon, was concelebrated by The Reverend Thomas J. Duffey, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, and The Reverend John Kehres, S.J., Sts. Peter and Paul pastor.

Music was provided by soloists from the Bel Canto Ensemble, under the direction of Sergio Pezzetti, to organ accompaniment by Sister Rose Carmel, I.H.M.

The diamond jubilee celebrations began with the annual meeting, called to order by Marilyn Lundy, of Balantyne Road, league president, at 10 a.m. in the church. The noon mass was followed at 1 p.m. by the victory luncheon, held in the adjoining atrium of the University of Detroit Law School.

Sts. Peter and Paul is Detroit's oldest Catholic church in its original location. The decision to hold the 1981 annual meeting and mass here represents a return to "roots" for league members, for the endeavors of the organization were initially encouraged by social service advocate The Reverend Ferdinand Weinman, S.J.

It was Father Weinman who, in 1906, while stationed at Sts. Peter and Paul, organized a group of women to aid the underprivileged immigrants in the area. This group eventually incorporated as the League of Catholic Women of Detroit, under the leadership of Mrs. Charles Casgrain.

The league has continued to provide social service to Detroit's underprivileged throughout the years. It currently operates five human services agencies in Detroit. They are:

- Casgrain Hall, currently under renovation, a low-cost residence for men and women of limited means.

- Casa Maria Community Center.

- Project Transition, a rehabilitation program for women offenders.

- Barat Human Services, a residential and counseling program for adolescent girls and their families.

- St. Peter Claver Community Center.

In addition to these agencies, the league also operates four Bargain Resale Shops in the metropolitan area.

Membership in the league, Detroit's oldest social service agency, which participates with other civic, religious and community groups toward the rebuilding of lives and neighborhoods, may be obtained by calling 965-9000.

ROBERT WALDECK, incoming president, during the Assistance League's annual meeting and luncheon. The gathering is, traditionally, the final event of the League's year, and it's been a successful year, with over $20,000 raised via such League projects as Follies '80, the DADA Auto Show, the A.L. Ranch and the Guidance Gazette. These monies are used to educate the community on the importance of mental health, supplement old programs and initially finance new programs at the NEGC: the community mental health facility serving families in Grasse Pointe, Harper Woods and northeast Detroit. The next Assistance League year promises to be equally as exciting and successful as this one, with preliminary planning already underway for a progressive cocktail party and dinner, a Follies '81—"Star Struck"—and reprises of the Auto Show and Guidance Gazette, plus a Millionaire's Party. Further information on the Guidance Center or the League may be obtained by contacting Jane Innes at 824-8000.

"Months of hard work by countless volunteers" make this show possible," she stressed. Income from the event benefits the ULS Scholarship and Endowment Funds.

An elegant evening designed to introduce patrons and special friends to the show and the dealers is planned for Wednesday, June 17. Beginning collectors will have two special opportunities to learn more about collecting and enjoying antiques. Both Young Collectors Evenings offer lectures by internationally known experts.

Friday, June 19, James Lally, director of Chinese Art for Sotheby Parke Bernet in New York and Hong Kong, will speak on Collecting Chinese Art. The program begins at 6:30 p.m. and will include cocktails and a light supper.

Saturday, June 20, at 5 p.m. Young Collectors will gather for wine and cheese, then hear a discussion, How to Decorate with Antiques, by Mario Buatta, of New York, chairman of the Winter Antiques Show for the past five years. Cost for each Young Collectors event is $15 per person. Reservations are necessary.

Again this year the Detroit Institute of Arts will provide a special loan exhibit from its collections. This year's exhibit spotlights European Decorative Arts from royal collections, and will include some nine items from the bequest of Mrs. Horace E. Dodge to the DIA. Foremost among the loaned objects is an 18th century jewel cabinet which once belonged to the Empress of Russia.

The loan exhibit will be on view in the center foyer of the Middle School: the main entrance to the show this year.

Walking Tours of the 1981 Antiques Show will be conducted by ULS volunteers who are also docents at the Detroit Institute of Arts. Tours designed to give the visitor a knowledgeable overview of the show will be offered to larger groups on Thursday and Friday mornings, June 18 and 19, from 10 to 11 a.m. Special group rates of $14 per person include general admission, catalogue, walking tour and luncheon. Reservation can be made by calling Mrs. Gilder Jackson at 886-3956.

No reservations are necessary for individual tours which will be offered on Saturday morning, June 20, from 10 to 11 a.m. Individual tours are $2.50, and do not include general admission or the catalogue.

Luncheon will be served daily during the show from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Terrace Tea Room. Tea will be served there from 3 to 5 p.m. In addition, a cafeteria will be in operation daily from 11:30 a.m. until one hour before closing.

Authentic French Pâtés

Buy as much as your appetite desires

Since 1975, LES TROIS PETITS COCHONS, America's first real Charcuterie, has produced authentic French pâtés which are carried by Specialty Shops and Deli-departments or Gourmet sections of the finest and most discriminating stores across America. Craig Claiborne of the NEW YORK TIMES calls our pâtés America's "best and most enduring." FORBES magazine rates them "the best." James Beard says that he can find no pâtés to match anywhere, while NEW YORK magazine said that our pâtés "could easily become an addiction."

Because we specialize in pâtés, LES TROIS PETITS COCHONS produces the finest, most authentic pâtés made with only pure and fresh ingredients, without chemicals, preservatives, or additives. True to the centuries-old tradition of charcuterie, LES TROIS PETITS COCHONS uses spices (often as many as 28) to preserve the freshness of the product. Each loaf is vacuum wrapped and USDA approved. Refrigerated, it has a minimum shelf-life of 30 days and keeps approximately 2 weeks after cutting (being tightly wrapped and refrigerated). These five pâtés range in size from 4-1/2 to 5-1/2 pounds.

PATE DE CHAMPAGNE

The traditional, most widely selling pâté in France, this is also known as "country pâté." Starting with coarsely ground pork meat and pork liver, scented with onions, garlic, parsley, bay leaves and thyme, the mixture is baked for the traditional six hours. The result is a savory culinary delight—a favorite with Americans.

PATE AU POIVRE VERT

A slightly zesty quality characterizes this pâté which has a smoother pork meat and liver base mixed with imported whole green peppercorns which give it that lively taste. Natural spices and Cognac complete the ingredients for an incomparable taste delight.

MOUSSE DE FOIE DE CANARD AU PORTO

The province of Sologne inspired this delectable blend of duck liver and pork meat, delicately flavored with Port wine and natural spices, cooked and presented in its own cooking dish. This smooth, creamy pâté makes an excellent hors d'oeuvre served with thin slices of French bread or on toast points or crackers.

PATE DE CHEVREUIL AU GENIEVRE

Our most dramatic. Coarsely ground and strongly-flavored pâté of Venison with pork meat and pork liver, marinated in Cognac and natural spices with a hint of whole juniper berries. The result—a gustatory delight to make any occasion special.

PATE DE CANARD A L'ORANGE

A wondrous concoction of coarsely ground marinated duck meat, duck liver and pork meat seasoned with black pepper and natural spices, faced with Grand Marnier and lightly astringent orange peel. A most irresistible pâté, bejeweled with pistachio nuts, pleasing to the eye as well as the palate.

Serve cold with dry red or white wines or dry champagne, with hard toast, French bread, crackers, rolls or round country bread. Perfect for buffets, picnics, cocktail parties, receptions, hotel meetings, as appetizers or as a sidedish, and excellent for stuffing. Garnish with cornichons, the traditional French pickle.

Another New Member Tea

The Junior Group of League for the Handicapped-Goodwill Industries will welcome 16 new members at a tea next Monday, June 1, in the Northville home of Mrs. Daniel Williamson.

Two of the "new" are Pointers: Mrs. William Edwards, of Washington Road, and Mrs. Vann Fleming, of Dean Lane.

So are two of the League-Goodwill Juniors' 1981-82 officers, elected at the Group's annual meeting held early this month at the Grosse Pointe Club. They're Mrs. William Blevis, who will serve as treasurer, and Mrs. Malcolm Denise, who will act as recording secretary.

And another pair of Pointers, Mrs. Robert Kennedy, the League-Goodwill Juniors' retiring president, and Mrs. Clark Hinkley, were elected directors.

A pair of Bloomfield Hills residents, Mrs. John A. Bartlett and Mrs. Robert A. Radke, will serve as president and first vice-president, respectively, of the metropolitan-wide Group in the coming year.

Second vice-president is Mrs. Joseph Watkins, of Farmington Hills. Corresponding secretary and assistant corresponding secretary, respectively, are Mrs. Ross Lindsay, of Rochester, and Mrs. Thomas C. Sebold, of Union Lake.

And although it is, technically, summer recess time for the League-Goodwill Juniors after June 1, planning activities continue throughout the Sunny Season as the Group prepares for its 34th annual Antiques Market and Sale, to be held in November at Fairlane Manor in Dearborn.

Symphony Juniors End Year

Highlight of the Junior Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's annual meeting in mid-May at Orchard Lake Country Club was the presentation of a check—for $135,000!—by Winnie (Mrs. Arthur Z.) Ostrowski, outgoing president of the Symphony Juniors, to the DSO.

The money represents proceeds from the Symphony Juniors' 1980-81 fund raising projects, which included the Grosse Pointe and Birmingham-Bloomfield Christmas Walks, the DSO/WQRS Radio Marathon and this spring's ASID Showhouse in Bloomfield Hills.

Officers for the coming year were elected, and among them are (you guessed it; everything's coming in twos in this week's column) a pair of Pointers: Mrs. Howard M. Tischler, president-elect, and Mrs. Wayne G. Wegner, secretary.

Mrs. Samuel G. Salloum, of Bloomfield Hills, will serve as president of the Symphony Juniors in 1981-82. Vice-presidents are Mrs. William Bousquette, of Franklin, Mrs. Leonard Prekel, of Birmingham, and Mrs. Waller B. Harris, of Orchard Lake.

The Junior Women's Association was formed in 1939 to promote public interest in the Detroit Symphony and help provide for its financial support. Anyone interested in working on projects to benefit the orchestra is invited to contact the membership vice-president at 647-4782.

All Aboard the Suds Express!

Hop on board the Suds Express and make the rounds of Detroit's finest pubs from 6 p.m. until the taverns close next Thursday, June 4, during this year's fabulous Pub Crawl benefit for Michigan Opera Theatre.

It's a wonderful, whacky way to see the town; just $5 buys a crawl space on buses which will travel a route starting from Olympia Club at the Joe Louis Arena and stop here, there and everywhere. Tickets are available at the Music Hall Box Office, the Michigan Opera Boutique at RenCen and all participating taverns. Call MOT, 963-3717, for further information.

New Center Sunday Stroll

The Detroit Historical Society's Sunday Stroll through the New Center area, second in a series of 11 society-sponsored late spring through early fall historical walks designed to familiarize metropolitan area residents with different neighborhoods and business districts, cemeteries and other historical spots in and around Detroit, starts at 2 p.m. this Sunday, May 31.

Participants will visit the newly restored and furnished model homes in the New Center Commons area. These homes, built in the 30-year period from the 1890s through the 1920s, are in the area surrounding Albert Kahn's famous Fisher Building. Many of the houses are of solid masonry construction, with lavish use of ornamental brick and stonework. Even some of the more modest residences feature solid oak flooring, leaded, beveled-glass window panes, wet plaster walls and hand-carved mantels and bannisters. Progress in the restoration of the neighborhood has been substantial since General Motors Corporation announced an area redevelopment program there two years ago. Strollers will also visit the Fisher Building, often referred to as "Detroit's largest art object," which includes over 40 different kinds of marble from around the world and is festooned with brass, bronze and intricate wood carvings of solid walnut. Tickets for this tour are available in advance only at 833-7934.

Michael Dimonds to live in Detroit

Diane Barbara Ebaugh wears mother's wedding gown of candlelight satin, is attended by three sisters

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Dimond, who left to vacation in the Virgin Islands following their wedding Friday evening, May 8, in the Shrine of the Little Flower, Royal Oak, will be making their home on East Outer Drive in Detroit.

Mrs. Dimond, the former Diane Barbara Ebaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ebaugh, of Royal Oak, is an alumna of Shrine High School, received her Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Michigan, is a 1981 graduate of Wayne State University Medical School and has accepted a residency in Family Medicine at Bon Secours Hospital.

Mr. Dimond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dimond, of Hampton Road, was graduated from Grosse Pointe North High School, received his Bachelor of Business Administration and Master of Business Administration degrees from the University of Michigan and is employed by Arthur Andersen and Company.

For the 7 o'clock rites, followed by a reception at Club Venetian in Madison Heights, the bride wore her mother's wedding gown of candlelight satin, styled with a ruffle-bordered illusion yoke, with lace insets, and a chapel length train.

Her fingertip veil fell from a pearl-trimmed satin cap. She carried a cascade of narcissus, white iris, rose tulips and stephanotis.

Honor maid Jennifer Ebaugh, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids Christine Elwart and Julianne Ebaugh, two other sisters, Mary Beth Clancy and Holly Perkins wore floor length dresses of rose Qiana, trimmed at the neckline with lace appliques and featuring off-the-shoulder cap sleeves. Rose tulips, lavender mums and baby's-breath formed their round bouquets.

John Dimond acted as best man for his brother, Ushering were two other brothers, Bill Dimond, of Mattoon, Ill., and James Dimond, and Mark Dupuis and Fred Schneider, of Montreal, Que.

The mother of the bride pinned a corsage of lavender and pink mums to the sash of her floor length dress of royal purple Qiana. The bridegroom's mother selected a long-sleeved, floor length dress of blue and white floral print, and a corsage of white mums.

June ramble on the river

The Historical Society of Michigan's 13-hour boat tour of the Detroit River, emphasizing the river's political, military and economic history, departs Saturday, June 13, at 9 a.m. from Hart Plaza aboard the 64-foot double deck private cruiser Friendship.

The cruise, believed to be the first such trip every publically offered (according to Thomas Jones, the society's director) includes sections of the river not used by large passenger vessels or freighters.

There will be stops in Amherstburg, Ont., for a tour of Fort Malden National Park, and at Detroit, for a visit to Historic Fort Wayne. Dinner will be served at a waterfront restaurant in Windsor; then the ship heads toward Lake St. Clair, via Belle Isle, Peche Island and Windmill Pointe.

Authorities on the river's history will be aboard to describe points of interest on the American and Canadian shores.

Reservations, which must be in by a week from tomorrow, Friday, June 5, and information may be obtained by contacting the Ann Arbor headquarters of the Historical Society of Michigan, 769-1828.

The Historical Society of Michigan, founded in 1828, is Michigan's only statewide, independent and privately funded organization encouraging the study of and citizen involvement in Michigan history. Its membership currently exceeds 6,000, making it one of the largest independent historical societies in the nation.

Detroit Symphony 1981-82 season will light up sky

An expanded total of 20 major subscription series, four special star performances and an exciting roster of artists and conductors highlight the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's schedule for the 1981-82 subscription concert season at Ford Auditorium. Maestro Gary Bertini will assume the post of DSO Music Adviser, conducting 22 of the subscription concerts plus three performances of Handel's "Messiah" during the 1982 Easter season. Maestro Antal Dorati, as Conductor Laureate in the orchestra's 68th season, will return to Ford Auditorium for two weeks of concerts with the DSO in the spring of 1982.

Twelve distinguished guest conductors have been invited to appear with the Detroit Symphony next year. Among those making their DSO debuts will be Janos Ferencsik, music director of the Hungarian State Orchestra and guest conductor of the Copenhagen Radio Orchestra, who makes annual conducting appearances at the Vienna State Opera House, and Reynald Giovaninetti, French-born conductor who has led orchestras in opera houses and symphony halls throughout Europe. Giovaninetti made his American orchestral debut in 1980 with the Milwaukee and Chicago Symphonies.

Also scheduled to make DSO debuts in 1981-82 are Rainer Miedel, music director and conductor of the Seattle Symphony; John Nelson, music director of the Indianapolis Symphony and former music director for the Lincoln Center International Choir Festival; Calvin Simmons, music director of the Oakland Symphony; and David Zinman, music director of the Rochester Philharmonic and chief conductor of the Rotterdam Philharmonic, principal conductor of the Grant Park Festival Orchestra in Chicago.

Among the returning conductors will be Erich Bergel, principal guest conductor of the Houston Symphony Orchestra, and Peter Eros, music director of the San Diego Symphony Orchestra, as well as Raymond Leppard, who has conducted most of the leading orchestras of North America, including the New York Philharmonic and the Boston Symphony, and has appeared as a principal conductor of the Royal Opera, Covent Garden, and many other leading opera houses throughout Europe and the United States.

Sixteen Ehrling, DSO music director from 1963 to 1973, now head of the Juilliard School's conducting program and the Denver Symphony Orchestra's music adviser, is returning to lead the Detroit Symphony in April, 1982.

ing the subscription season include the Kenneth Jewell Choral, Boffo the Clown, the University of Michigan Choirs and the New Swingle Singers, all making return appearances; and Windsor-based flutist Alexander Zojic and his Quartet, debuting with the DSO.

Ten works will receive their DSO subscription series premiers next season. They are the Bruckner Symphony No. 1, Creston's Two Choric Dances, a new work by James Hartway, Druckman's Prism, a new work by Oly Wilson, Hovhaness' Floating World, Vivaldi's Concerto "Per la Sollenita di S. Lorenzo" and Concerto for three violins, Mozart's Horn Concerto No. 4 and Strauss' Macbeth Op. 23.

The season consists of 29 subscription weeks beginning Sept. 24 and concluding May 1. Concertgoers may choose from Thursday/Saturday evening packages of 22, 12, 10 and two series of five concerts each. The Friday evening Renaissance Series, introduced last season, returns with a choice of one eight-concert package or one of two four-concert packages.

There will again be six Friday morning Coffee Concerts sponsored by the National Bank of Detroit, this year offering the option of a full day's breakfast-to-dinner package in downtown Detroit, including discounts at order tickets by phone at 982-5524. Renewal orders with payments must be received by June 1 in order to protect current subscriber seats. Seat assignments for new orders will be made after June 29, although new ticket orders are being accepted immediately. Single tickets go on sale Sept. 21.

The DSO will guarantee parking spaces for all ticket holders except Chamber and Young People's Series. Subscribers who opt for the extra cost guaranteed parking plan will receive parking tickets, a parking map and simple instructions along with their concert tickets.

ances will feature Maestro Gary Bertini and violinist Isaac Stern (Oct. 29, 30 and 31); Maestro Eugene Ormandy (Nov. 19, 20 and 21); and Maestro Antal Dorati and pianist Ilse Von Alpenheim (April 22, 23 and 24).

In addition, a star performance concert featuring the French National Orchestra conducted by Lorin Maazel, not available on subscription, will be offered Dec. 7 only.

DSO season ticket brochures and order forms are available from the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Subscription Department, Ford Auditorium, Detroit, Mich. 48226. Mastercard and VISA charge card customers may Eugene Ormandy, who recently assumed the position of Conductor Laureate of the Philadelphia Orchestra after a 44-year tenure as its music director, is scheduled to appear with the DSO in November. Ormandy last appeared with the Detroit Symphony in the late 30s, during the orchestra's Ford Hour radio broadcasts.

Also returning will be Max Rudolf, distinguished both as an opera and symphony conductor and as a musical scholar and author. Rudolf is former music director of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra.

In addition, Lorin Maazel, music director of the Cleveland Orchestra and principal guest conductor of the French National Orchestra, will conduct the latter orchestra when he makes his debut at Ford Auditorium in December. Maazel has been designated general manager and artistic director of the Vienna State Opera.

Guest soloists debuting with the DSO next season include pianists Dickran Atamian, Anthony and Joseph Paratore and Andras Schiff; violinists Boris Belkin, Ulf Hoelscher, Gyorgy Pauk and Kathleen Winkler; and mezzo-soprano Cynthia Clarey.

Piano soloists planning to return to Ford Auditorium include David Bar-Illan, Jorge Bolet, Malcolm Frager, Eugene Istomin, Radu Lupu, Garrick Ohlsson, James Tocco and Ilse Von Alphenheim. Returning violinists include Edith Peinemann, Isaac Stern and Josef Suk.

Cellist Janos Starker, organist Ray Ferguson and vocalists Faye Robinson, soprano, and Claudine Carlson, mezzo-soprano, are others on the roster of the DSO's 1981-82 returning guest artists.

Three of the DSO's distinguished principal players, principal flute Ervin Monroe, principal clarinet Paul Schaller and principal French horn Eugene Wade, also will solo next season with the orchestra.

ABUNDANT WITH WOODWORK all in its original state and well preserved. Charming den with a full wall of bookshelves, leaded glass windows throughout much of the home. Four large bedrooms and two baths plus an additional bedroom and bath on the third floor. Terms available.

FOUR BEDROOMS PLUS A NURSERY or sewing room combined with a recent price reduction are two good reasons to consider this superbly maintained colonial house on Woods Lane.

GREAT LOCATION, spotless condition and charm are the components that make this home a super buy. Located 1 block from Moross, this classic colonial features 3 good sized bedrooms, one and a half baths, a recreation room in the basement and an inviting porch for summertime relaxation.

SOMETHING FOR EVERYBODY'S pocket book. Three bedroom, two story with updated kitchen, hardwood floors, fenced yard and a newer roof. Priced in the mid-fifties with land contract terms available.

MUCH SOUGHT AFTER ENGLISH style two story on a lot and a half of property. OLD but charming with stucco exterior, set back on a very deep lot close to Jefferson. All natural floors, butlers pantry and updated kitchen. Excellent assumption.

You Can Put Together... one of the prettiest summer evening looks by combining the new separates by Mr. Hank at Walton-Pierce. Take a charming white eyelet peasant blouse with a deep round elasticized neckline and elbow length puffy sleeves and then pair it with either a long white eyelet and colorful floral print patchwork skirt styled with an elasticized waist and self sash or a long patchwork skirt of white eyelet, lace and dotted swiss. A new line at Walton-Pierce is Lizz and Johnny by Lucero. There are a few new arrivals from it. We like the short party dress that contrasts wide swirling stripes of turquoise, purple and beige styles with a circular skirt and tiny little straps. A multi-color belt ties the waist. Another offering from the same house is a dove gray chiffon with a dramatic iris print. The top is an interesting cross-over jacket with buttons on the shoulder. It shelters a little cocktail dress that ties at the shoulder and has a softly gathered short skirt. If you are a size four, you'll like the simple but interesting cut of a new pink linen-look dress by Chedonia Alan and the lovely pink knit suit by Caledonia that's nicely styled for a small figure.

Special... at the Notre Dame Pharmacy is ma griffe eau de toilette spray. You get two 1.75 oz. sprays for $11.

If You Haven't Reappraised... your fine jewelry, don't wait until it's lost. Tony Cueter of Bijouterie, Grosse Pointe's fine jeweler will appraise it for you. Bijouterie, 20445 Mack Avenue, Grosse Pointe Woods. Open daily except Monday, 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. 886-2050.

KIMBERLY KORNER PROM VIEWS... Capture the charm of the old south with a dainty Lilly print over a real hoop skirt. Our long dresses are making memorable entrances at proms and parties. Lilly Pulitzer in Kimberly Korner, Mack and Lochmoor. Informal modeling Wednesdays during lunch.

Pointer of Interest

By Janet Mueller

She had a strong high school science background — chemistry, physics, general science — but at the end of high school she got some advice. You, she was told, should stay away from science; and, dutifully, she acquiesced. Wondering why, a little, (she'd been GOOD in science), but willing to accept the word of the experts. Besides, she enjoyed the arts as well as the sciences. So she enrolled in a special teachers' training program at the university in her home town: a program that put her, after a period as a full-time student, into the high school classroom, at the age of 19, as a teacher; a program that allowed her to finish work for her University of Queensland Bachelors degree, while teaching, at night.

One nemesis, one ocean, one degree, one husband and two children later, on June 5, 1981, at University of Michigan Medical School commencement ceremonies in Ann Arbor, Janet Talbot-Stern will receive her Doctor of Medicine degree. In the audience, applauding as she steps up to receive it, will be "the supportive husband without whom I couldn't have gotten through," Robert Talbot-Stern, and their two sons: Justin, who will be 7 in August, and Miles, who will be 2 in September. Bob's mother will be there, too. She's coming from Connecticut.

Not present physically, but very much "there" (they always are, as far as Janet's concerned) will be the family: Janet left, but never behind, in Australia. For her mother, recently widowed, the graduation ceremony might prove too much of an emotional burden. "I was very homesick when I first came here," Janet admits. Here is the United States. Home was Brisbane, Australia, where Janet grew up, the only daughter, in a close family, where she continued to live at home while she attended university. That's a typically Australian situation. "The universities there are more like commuter schools," she explains. "They're city schools, Australians don't go 'away' to college the way you do here."

So she lived at home, and continued to do so while she taught school for three years, saving up to go overseas. That, too, is a typically Australian situation. Young Australians travel. They have to: Australia is about as far from everywhere else as you can get. They head, generally, for Britain, for most of them have family ties there. They stop, generally, along the way. Why not, since it's such a long way and there are so many good stopping possibilities?

So Janet and a friend saved their money until they had enough to fly/hitchhike/youth hostel away to England, with a stopover in (among other places) Greece, and stopping over, in Greece, Janet met her future husband. He was a student, on vacation from the London School of Economics, and an American. Janet made it to England, and did the Australian bit there: living in London with another girl in a "bed-sitter," working at various jobs, including "four horrible weeks selling earrings at Harrod's," soaking up experiences and sights, traveling around the country with Bob, touring England and Ireland.

Another Ocean. And eventually Janet made it to the United States, to visit Bob's family. And eventually Bob made it to Australia, where he and Janet were married. And after that they both made it to Washington, D.C., where Bob, an attorney, worked for the government's Antitrust Division and Janet taught at Georgetown Day School and went back to school herself, earning a Master of Arts degree in Asian History (East Asia) from the University of Maryland.

And eventually Robert Talbot-Stern took a job with Chrysler and that job meant a move to Detroit. "We've been here ever since." Janet began teaching at the Friends School. Justin was born one week later. Janet was back teaching at Friends.

And surfacing, at the back of her mind, was the idea of going into medicine. "All the reasons people say they go to Medical School sound very true. They're true, but trite. They're my reasons, too... but I think the fact that I'm hyper, that I have a lot of energy, was a deciding factor. "I was convinced I had enough energy to give to people, that I would be able to establish a rapport with people when they were sick, that I could communicate. And I was convinced that I could, physically and emotionally, recognizing my responsibilities as a wife and mother, handle the Medical School schedule."

Bob sounded a word of caution. "You have to realize," he said, "that this is a rough field." Janet did realize it. She had thought, at first, of training for a career in a medicine-related field, as a physician's assistant, perhaps. She discarded that idea. It wasn't her style. "Why not go all the way?" But, cautiously, at first, with a series of out options, Her strong high school science background had not included biology; she did a year of that at the University of Windsor, brushed up on her other sciences, picked up additional pre-Med requirements at Wayne State. She promised herself that, if she couldn't take the pre-Med preparation, she'd stop. She found she could take it.

She promised herself, if she didn't do well on the Medical School boards, she'd stop. Her boards were great. She was 31 when she put in her Medical School applications. She was accepted at the University of Michigan. "I think," she says, "that I was on the wave of the mature student, the female... U. of M. was willing to take a chance on students who were older, who were women, who had been out of school for a while, who had children."

There was one drawback. The Talbot-Sterns lived in Detroit, in Lafayette Park. Bob works in Detroit. The University of Michigan Medical School is located in Ann Arbor. "That made it very difficult, in a sense," says Janet. But not impossible: the Lafayette Park place was sold, a house in Ann Arbor was bought and the Talbot-Sterns, complete with three-year-old, moved. Their decision to make Ann Arbor their family headquarters was dictated by the fact that Janet still had primary care of Justin. For a month, until the move was completed, Janet commuted. Then Bob settled in to driving 90 miles to work each day for two years.

The Long Haul

"It was exhausting for us both," Janet admits. And yet, in some respects, their family life benefited. "I think Bob has been able to enjoy the children more because he has had to take more responsibility for child care and rearing," Janet says. "This was particularly true when Justin was small and we were living in Ann Arbor; there were times when I had to literally disappear, take a week off to study, and Bob took over Justin's care completely." They used baby sitters during the day, of course. "I've always worked," says Janet, "and the hardest thing I've had to deal with is getting good child care." On one thing she and Bob are determined: "We'll always have someone in the house for the children to come home to — no matter what the cost." (Their present situation, in this respect, is excellent. "When the caretaker loves the children as much as you do," Janet notes, "the quality of care is always superior.")

The University of Michigan Medical School has a clinical affiliation with Detroit's Henry Ford Hospital. After two years in Ann Arbor, Janet applied to take her final two years at Henry Ford. "I was able to get a good variety there," she says.

Her third year rotations took her through all the basic hospital departments. Fourth year permits a wider choice, and Janet arranged to take her Family Practice rotation in Australia.

So, last January and February, leaving Bob behind to guard the Grayton Road home they'd moved into when they left Ann Arbor, Janet, Justin and Miles went Down Under. While Janet did her Family Practice, Justin donned a uniform and became, for five weeks, an Australian schoolboy.

Enter Master Miles. Miles is the newest addition to the Talbot-Stern household: a most wanted baby. Janet lost a child, a seven-month stillbirth, at the end of her first year of Medical School. "Fortunately," she says, "I got pregnant again. I call Miles my two-year pregnancy baby."

It was, she admits, a nervous pregnancy; she wondered if she could or should cope with a demanding career and a young family. "Other people do it," said her encouraging obstetrician. "You can, too." And she is. "I really do enjoy being a mother," she says. "I make an effort to spend all the time I can with the children." So does Bob, and so far their system seems to be working. Justin is a happy little boy. "We haven't had any problems with his adjustment."

The one who has had to adjust a bit is Janet. Knowledge can be frightening. "I think I'm a more nervous mother now that I know all the things that could be wrong with a sick child. I was much more casual when I didn't know what was going on."

But knowledge can also be life saving. Miles had meningitis in December. He was hospitalized for two weeks. He's fine now, a sturdy, healthy little boy. Perhaps Janet's realization, when he first got sick, that it might be meningitis has something to do with that.

"The thing I hate most coming home to is having to make supper." Fortunately, the wonderful woman who currently cares for Miles and Justin during the day is willing to tackle supper preparations. That's important without the "must do" of supper to worry about. Janet can come home to being relaxing with her family.

Neatness Counts. On the other hand she rather enjoys tidying up. "I'm quite a fanatical housekeeper," she admits. "I can't stand a messy house." Social life is, perforce, restricted for the duration. "We went out more, saw more people, when we were in Ann Arbor, because we were in a student community and got-togethers tended to be spontaneous. Here, existence is less spontaneous." It's not that people are less friendly in Grosse Pointe. When Janet's mother visits, she is amazed at the friendliness of people in the immediate neighborhood: Australians aren't like that. But invitations in a suburb like Grosse Pointe tend to be issued in advance, parties planned for, and that doesn't fit in with the Talbot-Stern life style right now. "If you make it an official invitation, you spend all day preparing for the guests, the dinner..." Janet doesn't have all day. She hates to say in advance whether she'll be available on a given evening. She may be just plain tired.

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, a menu built around a delicious main dish of VEAL.

American cooks should borrow a page from European cooks, where veal is one of the most popular meats. With its superbly delicate and distinctive flavor, veal is the leanest and least fattening of all meats. Veal is very tender, relatively lean and not marbled with fat. This lack of fat means more protein per ounce.

Due to its inherent tenderness and leanness, veal should be handled delicately, cooked gently, sauteed lightly — long, slow, covered cooking preserves the meat's delicate flavor.

The high cost of veal has precluded many hostesses from serving such European classics as Veal Piccata or Veal Tarragon; however, lean ground veal has made an appearance in American markets and can be very effectively used in planning delicious meals.

This is a pleasing menu featuring veal:
Veal Scaloppini*
Bulgur Mushroom Casserole
Dilled Cucumbers
Watercress Salad
Fresh Fruit Cup

GROUND VEAL SCALOPPINI
1 Lb. very lean ground veal
2 egg whites
1 clove garlic, minced
1 Tbsp. chopped onion
1/2 cup breadcrumbs
1/2 tsp. Italian seasoning
2 Tbsp. grated Romano cheese
Lemon wedges
Fresh parsley
Stir veal, egg whites, garlic and onion together.
Combine breadcrumbs, Italian seasoning and cheese. Spread some of the crumb mixture on wax paper. Take a handful of the meat mixture and press it into the crumbs. Sprinkle with additional crumbs and flatten the meat into a thin "cutlet," using a spatula or the palm of your hand. Lift, with a spatula, onto a shallow, non-stick cookie sheet that has been well sprayed with oil. Continue shaping cutlets. Discard excess crumbs.
Bake the cutlets in a preheated 450° oven. Bake 8 to 10 minutes, turning once. Garnish with lemon slices and parsley. Makes 4 servings.

North JV tied for Bi-County lead

By Bob Waldeck

Grosse Pointe North's JV baseball squad won five of six games last week to remain tied with Lakeshore at 8-2 for first place in the Bi-County League. North stands at 16-4 overall.

North split a doubleheader with Lakeshore on May 18. Lakeshore won the first game, 9-3, while the Norsemen took the nightcap, 9-7.

The opener quickly developed into a home run battle as Lakeshore notched four runs on a grand slam blast in the first inning. North bounced back in its half of the first as Marty Mitchell smashed a three-run homer. Lakeshore got another home run, good for three runs, in the second inning, plus two runs later in the game.

The Norsemen turned the tables in the second game, 9-7, as Bob Wujek won his sixth game of the year with relief help from Dave Waldeck.

In the first inning, North scored twice on a double by Kevin Dundon, two walks and a two-run single by Dennis Cyr. The Norsemen added four more runs in the second inning on singles by Gerry Vento and Waldeck, two Lakeshore errors and a two-run homer by Mitchell. The homer was Mitchell's sixth four-bagger of this year, a North JV record.

Lakeshore got a run in the third, but North put three more on the board in the fifth inning. Cyr singled and Steve Walker and Bob Bava walked to load the bases. Vento then hit a ground ball and Cyr scored on a bad throw to home. Waldeck bunted for a hit to score Bava and Vento came home on a groundout.

Lakeshore scored two runs in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings, but North held on for the victory. Mitchell led the North attack in the two games with two home runs, a double and two singles, while Cyr had four singles. Waldeck and Vento each hit two singles. Dundon had a double and Fred Schultz and Joe Haas each singled.

North met Southlake in a Bi-County game on May 19 and won, 7-4, as righthander Haas scattered seven hits and struck out eight to gain his third win against no losses.

The game re-sawed until North decided matters with a three-run fifth inning as Waldeck, Dundon and Stroeb singled, Mitchell and Cyr reached base on errors, Haas walked and Scott Brady sacrificed.

Centerfielder Waldeck hit three singles for North while leftfielder Dundon had a pair of base hits. Shortstop Mike Hall blasted a triple, pitcher Haas had a double while second baseman Stroeb, rightfielder Cyr and catcher Brady hit a single each.

On May 20, North swept a non-league doubleheader from Notre Dame, winning the loosely played opener, 11-9, before taking the finale, 4-3, in a tense, extra-inning contest.

In the first game, each squad scored twice in the first inning but North added one run in the second, four more in the third, three in the fourth and another in the fifth to take an 11-3 lead.

It looked like an easy win for North, but Notre Dame had other ideas as it scored four times in the sixth and (Continued on Page 3C)

ULS girls are midwestern lacrosse champions

Outscoring its opponents, 65-14, the University Liggett School lacrosse team won seven straight games to capture the Midwestern Invitational Tournament on May 16 and 17 in Sewickley, Pa. The champions include (front row, left to right) Sarah Thurber, Heidi Henkel, Holly McKinley, Kris Mighion, Beth Danaher,

ULS

The University Liggett School girls' lacrosse team returned victorious from the Midwestern Invitational Tournament held May 16 and 17 in Sewickley, Pa.

Holding its opponents to 14 goals while scoring more than 65, the varsity team was undefeated in all seven games played. Although an undefeated season is not out of the ordinary for Romilly Stackpoole's teams, (which have not suffered a single loss in five years), the Pennsylvania tournament marked the zenith of skilled play for the ULS girls.

The team's success was earned by the defense, led by goalkeeper Evie Scoville and supported by defense wings Kris Mighion and Sarah Thurber, who each had numerous interceptions.

Annie McMillan, at center, won over 90 percent of her draws, and proved invaluable in consistently effecting smooth midfield connections. The skilled and graceful offense stunned the competition, with Kelly Kirkpatrick, Muffy Hastings and Suzanne Stroh notching several goals.

Although lacrosse is not a contact sport, other teams sometimes failed to play courteously. Mrs. Stackpoole was thankful that the stamina of her players was great, for injuries had deprived the team of substitutes by Saturday afternoon.

ULS totally outclassed the eastern teams despite these injuries, defeating the Buffalo team, 11-2, overcoming Nichols (also from Buffalo), 10-0, and routing Sewickley, 10-3.

Highlights of the weekend included ULS' quick and accurate passing, which broke the zone defense of Bloomfield's Sacred Heart and staying two nights with families of the hostess school, Sewickley Academy. The traditional victory dousing of coach Stackpoole came Sunday afternoon, following the presentation of the trophy.

SH netters bound for state tourney

South's boys tennis team is bound for the state tournament after a narrow one point win over rival North in the Regionals this month.

Three days earlier the Devils were downed by the Norsemen by two points in a four team invitational hosted by South as a warm-up for Regionals. Fraser and Bishop Gallagher were third and fourth in both the Invitational and Regionals.

The North-South tennis rivalry has been extremely close this year with each team beating the other in two of four meetings. North finished a notch above South in the South Invitational and Liggett Invitational. South won the dual match between the schools, 4-3, and edged them out in the Regionals 24-23.

"I think the boys really wanted to beat North in the Regionals. This one meant more to us than the other ones," commented Coach Don Zysk.

It came down to the last match as it has every time South has played North this season, and the Devils battled back to claim the victory, No. 2 doubles Brian Doyal and Peter Ruwart, down 5-2 in the third set, pulled out a remarkable come-from-behind victory in a tiebreaker, 9-7.

"This match was the big difference, but everyone did an equally fine job. The whole team finished exactly as it was seeded," Zysk said. South exhibited great depth, as all seven flights of Blue Devils players made it into the finals, one more than North. The rest of the doubles teams were successful in downing their Norsemen foes as No. 1 doubles Todd Ciavola and Todd Pierce won, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4 and No. 3 doubles, Steve Kosmos and Casey Grow won, 6-4, 6-0.

The Norsemen got the better of South in the singles. No. 2 singles Bill Kohn lost, 6-4, 6-3, No. 3 singles Karl Tewes lost, 6-3, 6-2, and No. 4 singles Tim Stubenrouch bowed, 6-2, 6-3. No. 1 singles Steve Kornmeier lost his match to a Bishop Gallagher opponent, 7-6, 6-0.

The second game featured excellent pitching by both teams as North won, 4-3, in nine innings. Righthander Wujek notched his seventh win in eight outings as he allowed only five hits while striking out 13 batters.

Notre Dame scored a run in the third and fourth innings, but North tied it up in the fourth as Chris Schade drove home two runs with a two-base hit.

Notre Dame went ahead, 3-2, in the fifth inning but North tied the game in the sixth. Neither team scored in the seventh and the game went into extra innings. The Norsemen prevailed in the ninth as Brady led off with a walk, went to second on a sacrifice and scored on a single by Mitchell.

In the doubleheader, Waldeck hit a double and two singles while Stroebe, Mitchell, Haas and Hall had two singles each. Schultz, Dundon and Schade each smacked a double and Cyr, Bava, Brady, and Walker each singled.

North beat L'Anse Creuse,

8-1, on May 21 as Mike Hall twirled a two-hitter for his third win. Hall received strong support from his teammates who pounded 12 hits, including a homerun, a triple and five doubles.

The Norsemen scored two runs in the first inning when Dundon singled, Stroebe doubled and Mitchell tripled.

North added two in the second as Walker doubled and Waldeck homered over the rightfield fence. Three more North runs poured across the plate in the fourth inning as Hall walked, Walker laid down a bunt single, Waldeck doubled and Dundon doubled.

L'Anse Creuse scored its only run in the fifth inning before the Norsemen notched one more in their sixth on a run-scoring single by Mike Marasco.

Waldeck led the parade with a home run and a double, while Dundon hit a double and two singles. Mitchell had a triple and a single, Walker smacked a double and a single, Stroebe and Marasco hit a double each and Hall had a single.

North concluded its successful season on May 22 with a doubleheader against Roseville Brablec (after press time).

Babe Ruth League

(Continued from Page 1C) doubles and George Bour-nias a double. The game was decided in the fifth inning, with the score tied, 8-8, when Peter Riley walked and Scott Chandler bunted for a single. Both scored on DelPlace's clutch double, John Butt sealed the victory with a single to right field that scored DelPlace. Riley was the winning pitcher.

The Brewers defeated the Expos (Park), 15-4, on May 13. The Brewers' offense was led by Mike Santo and Dave Maddox, with a double and triple respectively. Rick Jungworth was the winning pitcher.

North girls qualify

By Ron Fournier
North High

They say girls' track is boring — "It's too slow, no action. None of 'em try hard."

There would have been a lot of red faces at the girls' state track regionals on May 16 if any of these critics had witnessed the show put on by one girl — Cathy Schmidt.

Cathy Schmidt started out with a romp in the mile run. Two hours later, she humiliated the field of the region's best in the half mile. A half-hour later, there she was again, lining up for the dreaded two mile. She won that one in a struggle, it took her seven laps to pull away from the pack.

Schmidt had just completed the impossible — winning all three distance events in state regional competition, and making herself the best female distance runner in the region.

To celebrate, she ran the anchor leg of the mile relay with just 10 minutes rest. The team of Martha Whittaker, Jean Genord, Jeannie Soullier and Schmidt finished second, qualifying for the state championships.

Two other relay teams qualified for the state finals, set for this Saturday, May 30. The 800 and 400 meter teams finished second. The members of those teams are Amy Dornbrodt, Genord, Sandy Jayakar, Jody Long, Soullier, Whittaker and Stacy Williams.

Please send us a check! We need your help.

We are having a serious problem with our drainage system in the main kennel and annex. Due to an overload on our septic tanks which results in flooding of the shelter we must hook up to the city sewer system. This will cost money! Many of our animals were forced to stand in the water, several became ill and some died. We cannot let this continue but we cannot do anything without your financial help. Won't you please help us so that we may continue to serve the Wayne and Oakland counties. Thank you. The Oakland Humane Society, 38788 Mound Road, Sterling Heights, MI 48077.

Everything from Persian rugs to Art Nouveau jewelry — from vintage clothes to Royal Doulton — it's all here for you to buy and enjoy. The furniture selection includes 2 Victorian chairs and a carved sofa, a fancy hall table, several LARGE mirrors, an oak sideboard, an oak dresser with mirror, an EASTLAKE MIRROR and HEADBOARD, a charming maple kitchen table, wicker porch furniture, a Jacobean style CHINA CABINET with glass on three sides, assorted mahogany tables, bedroom chests, dressers, beds, dressing tables and a knee-hole desk. Many of these pieces need some tender loving care, so prices will be reasonable. Among the hundreds of really interesting small items are several pieces of CUT CRYSTAL, lots of Victorian silver plate, old fans, antique purses, ROOKWOOD, crystal stemware, bisque figurines, SEVERAL DOLLS (circa 1930's), lots of lace table linens and trims, loads of antique costume jewelry, several silver dresser sets (very fancy), dozens of pictures and frames, old baskets, a collection of small furs, several lamps, etc.

There is a Sears washer and an older dryer, file cabinets, a CARPENTERS TOOL CHEST full of great old tools, circa 1900, luggage, a wooden card table and 4 chairs, blankets, tapestries, old books, stools, a wicker doll carriage, old razors and lots of kitchen equipment.

North retains track macho status

By Ron Fournier
North High

North's boys' track team continued its decade-long dominance with a victory in the state regional competition on May 16. The Norsemen were challenged by Lakeview and Detroit Osborn but still finished a comfortable 13 points in the lead.

Senior Brian Vier proved once again that he is one of the finest harriers in the state with his best performance of the year. He won both hurdle events to qualify for the state championships. Vier finished third in the high jump, qualifying for the states, and ran the anchor leg of the state-qualifying mile relay team.

North will have two other relay teams at the state meet. The 400 meter squad finished in second place on May 16 and the 880 meter relay team grabbed a third place finish. Other state qualifiers included the three distance runners. John Pamerleau breezed into a second place, with two teammates, Dan Hammer and Mark Rolain, fighting it out for the last qualifying position just seconds behind.

In the two mile, Joe Schmidt easily captured first, with Rolain finishing fourth, and sophomore Brian Boutell not far behind. North's state qualifiers will compete at the state championships this Saturday, May 30, at Flint Northwestern.

State qualifiers for North include Dave Bergeron, Kurt Buechler, Dave Bruno, Scott DeClair, Tom Held, Hammer, Jeff Mika, Pamerleau, Chuck Roche, Schmidt, Steve Schwinke, Dave Trask and Vier.
