Stop thief! Lock your ten-speed

By Joanne Gouleche

It's the time of year for sipping lemonade, basking in the sun and stealing bicycles according to Grosse Pointe police officials.

More than 600 bikes were snatched away last year from Grosse Pointe driveways, garages and in front of local businesses. The trend appears to be continuing in 1981.

Figures on stolen bikes usually soar this time of year, police say, because there are just more of them on city streets and a lot more unprotected bikes in neighborhood homes and garages.

"Bikes are easy items to convert into cash," says Grosse Pointe City Public Safety Director Bruce Kennedy. "With the economy so bad, bikes are easy prey. Everybody has a little larceny in them. If someone walks up to you with a bike and offers to sell it for $25, chances are you're going to buy it if you have $25 in your pocket."

Last week, Kennedy's department reported at least six stolen bikes from homes on Lincoln, Lakeland, Notre Dame and in front of the Village's Jacobson's store and Damman Hardware, where police arrested a 25-year-old Detroit man after he allegedly attempted to steal a bike parked in front of the store.

Police admit some residents believe Grosse Pointe is immune to bike thefts and so leave their two-wheeled paint and chrome beauties unchained and unprotected and ready for thieves to grab.

That has been all too frequently the case in Grosse Pointe Park where Police Chief Henry Coonce reports at least 60 bikes stolen so far this year.

In that community last year, some 200 persons walked away from their, in most cases, unlocked bikes never to see them again.

"In almost every case, these bikes were unlocked," Coonce says. "Only a small percentage were stolen from a secured position."

Coonce added that the market for stolen bikes will remain viable "as long as people buy them off the streets."

When bike thieves are not working in gangs, they usually steal them for their own use.

The chief recalled an incident last year where a Detroit youngster roamed Grosse Pointe Park streets and finally found a bike he wanted very much for his own—so he stole it and later claimed to police that (Continued on Page 2A)

On its way to search for the body of Gregory Wojcik, 15, who drowned Thursday afternoon, June 25, a Coast Guard cutter passes by the 24-foot white Sea Ray boat that struck the boy while he was swimming near the Crescent Sail Yacht Club. Wojcik, of Ridgemont Road, was recovered on Sunday afternoon, June 28, not far from the area where the incident occurred.

Struck by props, youth dies in boating mishap

By Tom Greenwood

"I tried to hold him as long as I could, but he just slipped away." With those words, an obviously distraught Bill Kuzenko retold how 15-year-old Gregory Wojcik died in Lake St. Clair last Thursday afternoon.

According to police reports, Wojcik, of Ridgemont Road, drowned after being struck by the propellers of a 24-foot Sea Ray cabin cruiser operated by Martin J. Ravine, of St. Clair Shores. Kuzenko, of Three Mile Drive, was a passenger in the vessel.

The accident occurred about 200 yards northeast of the Crescent Sail Yacht Club about 3 p.m. Thursday, June 25. According to witnesses, Wojcik was with two friends on a rubber life raft when he tried to swim to a small sail boat about 100 yards away carrying four other friends.

REALIZING HE couldn't catch the sailboat, (which was headed for the Farms Pier Park), Wojcik turned and began swimming back to the rubber raft. Witnesses said Wojcik tried to dive beneath the power boat, (returning from a trip to Belle Isle), but was apparently struck by the props of the cruiser.

Questioned at the Pier Park, Kuzenko said neither he nor Ravine saw the boy until after the accident occurred. "We were returning after watching the power boats racing downtown," said Kuzenko.

"As we approached the yacht club, we saw the raft off to one side and the sailboat off to the other. We didn't see anyone swimming in between."

Kuzenko said they then heard a clunking sound, like striking a piece of wood. He estimated the boat was traveling less than 20 mph.

"The kids on the raft were yelling for us to come about," said Kuzenko. "We looked back and saw Greg in the water. He was yelling. I jumped in and tried to hold him, but he was just too heavy."

"He didn't say anything to me. I think he was in shock. Suddenly his head just rolled back and I believe he died in my arms. I couldn't hold on. I was fully clothed and he was taking me under. I had to let him go."

Witnesses said the rescue attempt was chaotic, with the power boat stalled and drifting from the scene. "Everybody was panicked trying to get him to shore," said Kuzenko. "The boat was afraid to back up, thinking he might hit me. Everything was crazy."

After marking the area with life preservers, Kuzenko and Ravine came ashore at the Pier Park and called the Farms police and fire departments. Accompanied by the police, they returned to the area only to find a passing boat had taken the life preservers.

A SEARCH OF the area by the Coast Guard, Wayne County Sheriff's Patrol Underwater Recovery Team and Farms police over the next three days was fruitless.

Wojcik's body was recovered Sunday afternoon near the seawall by the Crescent Sail Yacht Club, not far from where he was killed.

As of Monday, June 29, the incident was still under investigation, according to Farms Detective Sgt. George VanTiem.

No charges have been made against Ravine who, upon advice of legal counsel, did not make a statement to police. Officials said there were no drugs or liquor on board the vessel involved in the accident, and that neither Kuzenko or Ravine had been drinking.

A search of the Sea Ray also confirmed the boat was fully equipped with life saving devices.

"It's just crazy what happened," Kuzenko said. "It was a beautiful day. We were out for a leisurely cruise soaking up the sun and a boy ends up dying. It's just crazy," he said with a shake of his head.

Gregory, at 5 feet 7 inches, 155 pounds, was described by his father, Kenneth Wojcik, as an "excellent swimmer." The teenager would have been a sophomore at South High School next year.

As of press time, funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Teen slaying probe continues

Grosse Pointe Woods Police are looking for the person they believe was with 17-year-old Todd Poole shortly before Poole was fatally shot by a man who said he was breaking into his home on Sunday, June 21.

Poole, a Lutheran High East junior who lived on Doyle Place West in the Woods, was last seen by three friends who dropped him off at Mack and Lennon about 2 a.m. June 21, after a party, police said.

A friend who lives near the intersection and was at the party said Poole may have been headed for his house, where he was always welcome.

For some reason, Poole ended up about six blocks away at 1039 Sunningdale, home of Roger Stevens, 40, a commodities broker and manufacturer's representative. Stevens was awakened between 5:30 and 6 a.m. by pounding on his back door, police said.

Stevens told police he confronted Poole in the kitchen and shot him after the boy lunged at him in a threatening manner. Poole was dead on arrival at St. John Hospital from four .38 caliber gunshot wounds. Police say they know of no previous connection between Stevens and Poole.

The medical examiner's report shows a 0.25 percent alcohol level in Poole's body which is "stumbling drunk," according to Woods Public Safety Director John Dankel.

Police seek key subject

The high alcohol level indicates that Poole may have been drinking with someone after leaving the party around 2 a.m., Dankel said.

"I think he was with somebody and they continued to drink. That second person for some reason is afraid to come forward and we need to talk to that person," Dankel said.

"I can't bring myself to believe that such a person doesn't exist at this time," Dankel added.

So far, there is nothing to contradict Stevens' account of the alleged break-in and shooting and no charges have been brought against him, Dankel said.

"He (Stevens) can come and go and do as he wants to because he has not been charged with a crime," Dankel said. Stevens' gun used in the shooting was registered, Dankel said.

Friends say they are puzzled as to why Poole was at Stevens' Sunningdale home that morning.

One friend, who was at the same party as Poole, said he was always welcome at the friend's home but made no plans with Poole the night he was shot. He also said he never knew Poole to steal anything and that he wasn't taking drugs.

Another friend said he thinks Poole may have been on his way home to Doyle Place West, which is eight blocks from Stevens' home, when something happened.

All said they had never seen Poole become violent before or after drinking.

Detectives still have a long list of names for interviews to determine where Poole was and who he was with before the shooting, Dankel said. Also not completed is a full medical examiner's report which will tell if there was any trace of drugs in Poole's bloodstream, Dankel said.

A large amount of evidence including a gun, four slugs, a door that was kicked in at Stevens' home, and pieces of Poole's and Stevens' clothing, is still being examined at the State Police Crime Lab, Dankel said.

"We don't expect any big dramatic developments at this point. We don't think the (lab) reports will hold any surprises for us," Dankel said.

When police investigations are completed, they will report to the Wayne County Prosecutor who will decide whether charges are warranted.

Police say that anyone with information about Poole's movements after 2 a.m. June 21 should call them at 343-2410.

Opening concert July 8

Tocco kicks off festival's 24th year

By Irene Moran

The Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival series of five concerts begins its 24th season on Wednesday, July 8, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road. The concerts run through Aug. 5 on consecutive Wednesdays, at 8:15 p.m.

Featured at the gala opening will be the internationally known pianist James Tocco. A native of Detroit, Tocco comes to Grosse Pointe after just completing another successful European tour. His recital will be held in the Memorial's Fries Auditorium.

Programmed are the Sonata in D Major, Op. 28, "Pastoral," by Beethoven, the Sonata No. 4 in E minor, Op. 59, "Keltic," by MacDowell, and Twelve Etudes, Op. 10, by Chopin.

James Tocco's climb to fame can well be recollected by his earlier Detroit audiences. Alexander C. Sucek, festival founder and artistic director, recalls meeting him when singing with the Michigan Opera Company chorus. "We were rehearsing Verdi's 'Il Trovatore' and guess who was our accompanist?—young James Tocco. That was in 1959."

Tocco is no stranger to Grosse Pointe. In 1962 he performed the Liszt Piano Concerto No. 2 in A Major with the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Felix Resnick. He has since played in recitals and with virtually every major orchestra in the United States and around the globe. Europe hails him as "A Young Rubinstein."

His appearances have included a special invitational concert at the White House and at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. He has been a soloist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, Washington's National Symphony, the Detroit, Atlanta and Baltimore Symphonies, the Munich Philharmonic, the Austrian Radio Symphony, and many others. He has also appeared in the Salzburg and Dubrovnik Festivals and in Italy's Spoleto Festival.

Tocco was born in Detroit of Sicilian parents who were great opera lovers. Although music was a vital part of the family life, James, youngest of 13, was the only one to follow a musical career. It was in Detroit that the a-piring pianist began winning prizes, one of which carries with it a scholarship for a summer's study in Paris, after which he won a scholarship from the French government which enabled him to remain in Paris two more years, awarded him a recital tour of France, and a Parisian debut at the Salle Cortot.

His concertizing became more extensive, winning eight major international competitions along the way, including First Prize at the 1973 Munich International Music Competition.

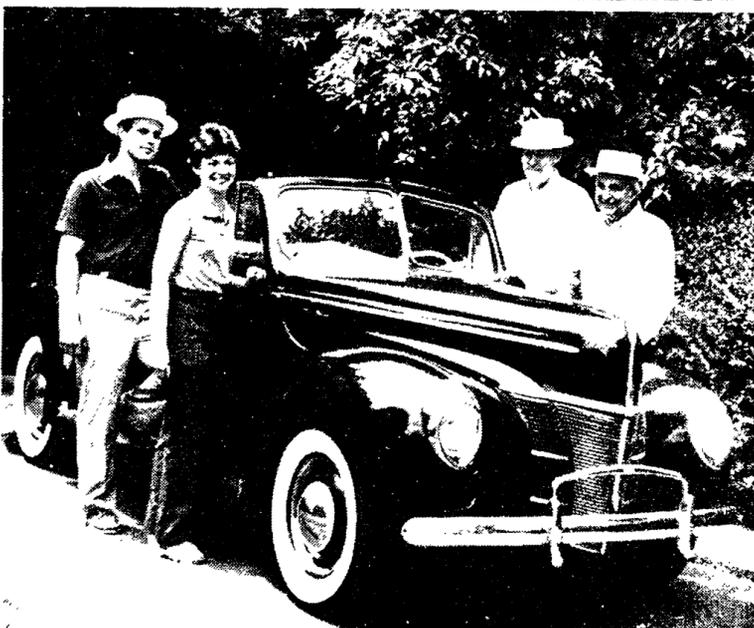

Last season Tocco performed as soloist in Africa, Turkey, Italy, Poland, Germany—and, in Austria, at both the Vienna and Salzburg Festivals. He also made a tour of the U.S.S.R., Southern Asia and the Middle East, Central and South America. His total mileage for that one season was over 80,000—garnering laurels all the way.

This fall, Tocco will be soloist in the opening concert of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra 1981-82 season, playing the Tchaikovsky Piano Concerto No. 1, with Maestro David Zinman conducting. He is currently a member of the distinguished Artists Faculty of Indiana University in Bloomington.

A reception honoring the performing artists follows the concerts in the Fries Crystal Ballroom. Reception chairman Mrs. Lyndie R. Martin, of Grosse Pointe, plans a flowery welcome for Tocco and festival-goers. Assisting Mrs. Martin are Mrs. John E. Engstrom, Mrs. Thomas V. Lo-

More cars on the road this July 4, says AAA

A good turnout of holiday vacationers over the Fourth of July weekend should continue Michigan's 6 percent increase in tourism so far this year and help make 1981 the state's second best tourism year ever, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Although inflation, unemployment and lagging car sales still are seriously hindering Michigan's economy, they are having little effect on state tourism as Michiganians travel at a pace second only to record 1978," says Auto Club Touring Manager Joseph Ratke.

"The only concession travelers are making to their economic circumstances is to take closer-to-home vacations, which is benefiting tourism activity in most sections of the state," Ratke said. An Auto Club check of regional tourist associations, hotel associations, popular holiday attractions and state and private campgrounds indicates that tourism over the Fourth of July weekend should be up approximately 6 percent over the 1980 holiday.

Weather permitting, the Michigan Department of Transportation predicts motorists in Michigan should drive 725 million miles over the 78-hour holiday, which is 2 percent more than a year ago. The record for a July 4th holiday is 870 million miles set during the 102-hour 1972 period. This year's holiday officially runs from 6 p.m. Thursday (July 2) to midnight Sunday (July 5).

"Not only is Michigan heading towards its second best tourism year ever, but several tourist barometers show the state running ahead of the 1978 record," Ratke pointed out.

Auto Club routings to Lower Michigan vacation destinations are up 13 percent over the first five months of last year and are 8 percent above 1978. Requests for Upper Peninsula routings are down 2 percent over last year, but Mackinac Bridge crossings are 2 percent ahead of a year ago.

"Michigan continues to grow as a popular close-to-home vacation destination for residents of such bordering states as Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Wisconsin," Ratke said.

The nearly 1.3-million-member organization has assisted 25 percent more out-of-state residents interested in Michigan vacations than last year and 23 percent more than 1978. Some 84,000 more travelers have visited the state's 10 travel information centers so far this year over last.

A number of Michigan attractions also are experiencing banner years. A record 500,000 persons attended Holland's Tulip Time Festival last month while a record 1,000 visitors enjoyed Boyne City's Mushroom Festival in May. Business on both Mackinac Island and in the Irish Hills is up 10 percent over 1980.

Gasoline supplies are plentiful and costs have dropped steadily for the last nine weeks along main state highways.

Auto Club's pre-Fourth of July "fuel gauge" survey shows an average 86 percent of 300 stations checked along major highways will operate daylight hours, 41 percent after 9 p.m. and 12 percent after midnight. An average 5 percent of the stations were unsure of holiday hours.

Twenty-five persons were killed on Michigan roads during the 1980 July 4th weekend. Sixty-four percent of the at-fault drivers were either known or suspected of drinking.

Auto Club's "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" Holiday News Service will report on traffic and tourism via a network of more than 160 radio stations. It will operate from 3 to 11 p.m. Thursday (July 2) and from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday (July 3 to 5).

Cicero and Mrs. Ralph Urso, all of Grosse Pointe.

The remaining four concerts continue to fill a musical menu of varied tastes. "Something for everyone," says Pointer Mrs. Sterling S. Sanford, general chairman for the fourth consecutive year.

Here are the concert dates: July 15 will feature Broadway stars Barbara Meister and David Bender. The July 22 concert pays honor to Mischa Kottler, Detroit's pianist laureate, who will be heard in recital. In tribute, the Fontana Ensemble will share in the evening's celebration. The Ensemble's members are: violinist Barry Ross, concertmaster of the Kalamazoo Symphony; violist Steve Brook, artist-in-residence with the Grand Rapids Symphony; cellist Winifred Mayes, faculty member at Albion College, and flutist Israel Borouchoff, professor at Michigan State University School of Music.

Due to a scheduled Detroit Symphony Orchestra tour, the Fontana Ensemble steps in to replace the evening's original artists, concertmaster Gordon Staples and cellist Marcy Chanteaux.

For a change of pace, James Dapogny's Chicago Jazz Band will entertain with ragtime and jazz on July 29. The Band's performance is the only outdoor event. In case of rain, the concert will be held in the Memorial's Fries Auditorium. (All other concerts are held in the Fries Auditorium).

The Young Artist Debut Concert closes the season on Aug. 5, with a recital by pianist Stephanie Leon, winner of first Festival Piano Competition.

The Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival, considered as one of Michigan's leading music festivals, is sponsored by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association, headed by George J. Reindel, III, president of the board of directors.

Since 1958, the Music Festival has enjoyed its home at the War Memorial, one of the architectural gems of the midwest, situated on Lake St. Clair. A non-profit organization, the musical project is a community effort and is supported solely by patron contributions, subscribers and box office receipts. It has been under the constant guidance of John W. Lake, Memorial executive director, and founder Sucek.

For a complete evening of enjoyment, Festival-goers are welcome to arrive as early as 6:30 p.m. for pre-concert picnicking on the lakeside grounds or Alger House Terrace. Picnic baskets may be brought or picnic box suppers, catered by the center, are available at $5 each by pre-paid reservation three days prior to each concert. In case of rain, picnics move indoors.

For the opening concert, catering manager Natalie Patten will have a box supper filled with turkey salad and white grapes, a fresh fruit cup, crisp garden relishes, rolls and butter, carrot cake squares, topped with frosted almonds for dessert and coffee or iced tea. A new menu comes with each concert.

The regular series of five concerts is priced at $35 per person (reserved seats). Single concert admission is $8, with the exception of the Young Artist Concert, which is $5. Lawn admission for the Chicago Jazz Band concert only is $4. (bring your own blankets and folding chairs). Student tickets are half price.

Advance ticket orders may be purchased at the Memorial from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday, or order by check payable and mailed to Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association, 32 Lakeshore Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, 48236. Office telephone is 881-7511. Mrs. Sanford (881-1256) and Mrs. William O. Bradley, Jr., ticket chairman, (88-0079) are also taking reservations. Donations from those unable to attend are most welcome.

Astrologer tells it all on Cox Cable

Each Friday morning at 9:45, the houselights go down, the dramatic reading begins and a hush falls over the audience. The Illuminations cable TV program has begun to teach cable TV subscribers about "the mystical, the magical, and the unknown."

Astrologer Marcello Galluppi hosts a local cable TV program each week from Cox Cable TV of St. Clair Shores. It is the only program of its kind in Michigan.

According to TV director Kirk Groeneveld, many purposes are being served by the unique cable TV program. "First, we are providing Marcello with a platform from which to speak to a segment of the population. But Illuminations also serves to train members of our community how to produce local television shows and teaches viewers something new about astrology each week."

Marcello Galluppi first approached Cox Cable TV last fall when the St. Clair Shores system first began building its local origination studio.

"We have plans of offering the program to other cable TV systems in the Detroit area as soon as they are able to air it," Groeneveld said.

Police say 600 bikes stolen last year in Pointe he had a good reason to do so. The boy said someone stole his bike a few weeks ago and he wanted to steal one back for himself.

Grosse Pointe Park police have arrested five persons involved in bike thefts this year, all of them juveniles.

Cooney said a Detroit man was charged and later convicted of bike larceny six years ago after the entire sixth grade class at Trombly School watched him steal the 10-speed bike out of a nearby garage on Essex Drive.

Lt. Robert Van Tiem of the Grosse Pointe City Police Department said bike thieves usually work in the early morning hours and urged residents to call police if they hear anything unusual. Too often residents fail to call police when they see or hear something out of the ordinary, Van Tiem said.

Police also advise bike owners never to leave bicycles unattended and unlocked in garages or in front of local businesses.

No 'hit list' in sight

School administrators win contracts

By Susan McDonald
The School Board last week approved two-year contract extensions for administrators, dispelling an accusation made earlier by Supt. William Coats that board members planned to fire some administrators on a secret "hit list."

Coats made the accusation June 1, when the trustees refused to approve Coats' request for administrative contract extensions, saying they first wanted to see the workers' year-end evaluations.

Coats resubmitted his recommendation for contract extensions at the board's June 22 meeting, but the superintendent still did not provide trustees with copies of the evaluations, saying release of the information may violate employees' privacy.

Two trustees objected strongly to the absence of evaluation data, but the extensions were approved 5-1 because the administrators' contracts would have expired at the end of June.

"I believe we owe something to our administrators other than leaving them up in the air," said Trustee Dorothy Kennel.

Trustee Joan Hanpeter said she voted for the new contracts "reluctantly," and added that Coats' refusal to pass over evaluation data "gives the appearance the superintendent either is trying to withhold something from the board or cover up something."

Trustee Roger Mourad was harshest in his criticism of Coats, and was the only trustee to vote against the contract extension.

"This is a threshold question here," Mourad said. "Does the superintendent report to the board or the board to the superintendent? We voted 6-1 to request this information two weeks ago, and we still don't have it."

Coats responded by saying "I do not blindly follow unreasonable requests." He said he had completed the interviews for evaluations but had not yet written them up. The superintendent added that he believed some of the information contained in the evaluations was personal and release of such might violate right to privacy laws.

The resolution granting contracts through June 30, 1983 to 36 staffers, with pay increases to be determined at a later date, was approved 5-1 with Trustees Laurance Harwood, Catherine Brierly, Jon Gandelot, Mrs. Hanpeter and Mrs. Kennel in favor. Ron Dalby was absent and excused from the meeting.

The June 22 meeting of the board was Coats' last. He was replaced July 1 by Dr. Kenneth Brummel.

July 5 celebration at Punch

Motor City Theatre Organ Society will present Donald T. Haller, of Ann Arbor, at the console of the Wurlitzer 2/6 Theatre Organ at the Punch and Judy Theatre, 21 Kercheval, Grosse Pointe Farms, Sunday, July 5 at noon.

This is another of the regular free mini-concerts given the first Sunday of each month at the Punch and Judy Theatre.

Donald will celebrate the birth of our nation, opening with patriotic songs and then take listeners back through the years in music when bells were rung, bands played and people rejoiced when Independence Day was first observed in Philadelphia on July 8, 1776.

In addition to playing regularly at the Michigan Theatre in Ann Arbor, Haller has played at the Coronado Theatre in Rockford, Ill., Cicero's in Minneapolis, for several Redford Theatre film series, and for the 1980 Bob-Lo Moonlight Cruise.

Haller's playing of peppy old and new timers, marches, polkas, waltzes, sing-along favorites and novelty tunes, with some relaxing smooth standards thrown in for holding hands, has made him a favorite with audiences at the Redford Theatre shows.

Haller graduated from The Wisconsin Conservatory of Music in Milwaukee. Accepted into the U.S. Navy School of Music in Washington, D.C., he played in the marching band, concert band, dance band and at church services. He played a C-3 Hammond Organ aboard the Battleship Missouri.

Returning from the service he enrolled in the Music Therapy program at Michigan State University and graduated with a BA (with honors) in the School of Business Administration. He enrolled in the University of Michigan graduate school of Social Work and received his M.S.W. Degree.

At the present time Haller is a Certified Family Counselor for the 22nd Judicial Circuit of Washtenaw County, located in Ann Arbor.

Motor City Theatre Organ Society, a nonprofit corporation, is a group of more than 450 area residents. The purpose of the organization is to preserve and restore the theatre pipe organ, in its original setting and to foster interest in its music.

The society purchased the Redford Theatre in order to preserve the Barton 3-manual 10-rank theatre pipe organ permanently in its original setting and to provide a home for the Society.

All work at the theatre is performed by volunteers from the membership who spend countless hours maintaining organs at the Royal Oak Theatre, where the organ is owned by MCTOS, the Punch and Judy Theatre in Grosse Pointe Farms, and the Michigan Theatre in Ann Arbor. Membership in the society is open to all interested individuals.

Help in coping with cancer

A patient education program designed to help people seek strengths and resources to cope with the chronic disease cancer and its therapies is being offered at St. John Hospital through the efforts of American Cancer Society volunteers.

The "I Can Cope" program series which was developed at North Memorial Medical, Minnesota, will be presented on eight consecutive Tuesdays, July 14 through September 1, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Patient Education Center, Room "A" of St. John Hospital, 22101 Moross Rd. Upjohn Healthcare Services is providing additional funding assistance to initiate "I Can Cope" programs in various locations in the tri-county area.

The objectives of the patient education classes are three-fold: to increase the cancer patient's knowledge of the disease; to increase the cancer patient's control over his/her life, and to decrease the anxiety the cancer patient feels about the disease.

The program will be led by Diane Nicodemi, I Can Cope Coordinator; Camille C. Klimecki, M.A., Manager, Patient Education at St. John Hospital, and Josephine Wharf, R.N., Nursing Supervisor, Upjohn Healthcare Services.

The weekly class sessions help participants increase knowledge about physical anatomy, cancer, potential health problems that may arise, nutrition, communication skills, stress awareness, physical fitness, utilizing community resources — and the essential role patients play in their own treatment.

October 1 opening for new Hill restaurant?

By Tom Greenwood

Merchants on the Hill were cheered this week by news that a buyer may have been found to establish a new restaurant on the site of the old Bronze Door, located at 123 Kercheval.

Rumors that an Italian restaurant might open its doors on the property, vacated for the last three years, were confirmed by local businessman Anthony Mangiarelli and his partner, Peter Bartoli, of New Jersey.

The two hope to have the restaurant ready for business by October 1, if "everything goes right."

The "everything" includes the purchase of the liquor license from the present owners of the building, and the complete renovation of the property, which Mangiarelli described as a "total disaster."

"The building is in such bad shape that I can't even estimate how much it will cost to renovate it," said Mangiarelli. "There's a lot of work ahead of us."

Mangiarelli added he sees no problem purchasing the liquor license since he and Bartoli "have nothing to hide."

"I've been in the food business for over 20 years," said Mangiarelli. "My partner has been a master chef for 40 years. He owned a restaurant in Trieste, Italy and has worked as a chef on Italian ocean liners. He's the best."

Mangiarelli said he and his partner feel so sure of the purchase that Bartoli, currently living in New Jersey, will move to the Detroit area within the next three weeks.

Mangiarelli said he was aware of the location's history, and wasn't scared off by the apparent lack of success of former owners. "When you research it, you'll find that the problems were either bad luck or mismanagement," he said. "We don't foresee those problems. This will strictly be a first class operation."

In the past the building has served as the Punch and Judy Bar, Al Green's London East, the Bronze Door and Charlie Pappa's, suffering two disastrous fires along the way.

"We're tentatively thinking of naming it 'Anthony's on the Hill,'" said Mangiarelli. "It'll be continental style dining, specializing in prime beef and seafood. Everything absolutely fresh. We feel it will succeed because this area needs a fine restaurant."

Pat Reynolds, president of the Hill Merchants Association, apparently agrees. "We're delighted there may be a new restaurant on the Hill," she said. "It's definitely needed. Currently the only spot to eat is the Golden Coffee Pot, which is fine for a quick lunch, but not for an evening meal."

"I think anytime you can sell over 1,000 hot dogs like we did Friday and Saturday during our sidewalk sales, it's an indication of the business potential of the Hill."

"We've been undergoing some changes here lately," she said. "I think this is one sign that things are looking up business-wise for our area."

Edison customers may save with new rate schedule

Detroit Edison is currently mailing special questionnaires to most of its residential electricity customers to determine which of two rate schedules they will qualify for under the new Lifeline Rate legislation, established by the Michigan State Legislature.

Customers are being asked to indicate on the questionnaire how many people live in their households and whether or not the houses or apartments involved are their principal residences. Under the legislation, selection of the appropriate lifeline rate for each household rests solely on these two conditions.

Those customers served on the Senior Citizen, Time of Day and Farm Service rates will not receive the questionnaire, since they already are served under special provisions.

The utility's customers who use small amounts of electricity will pay less than the average price for the electricity they use, while customers using larger amounts of electricity will pay more. It's expected that special provisions will be made for customers who use electric heat, electric water heating and certain medical life-support equipment.

Overall, the restructuring of the residential rate has been planned so as to not result in increased revenue for Detroit Edison.

Households with up to two people, as well as vacant homes, will be allowed an initial "lifeline block" of 360 kilowatt hours per month. These households will pay less than the utility's average price for electricity for the first 360 kilowatt hours used each month. They will pay more than the average price for usage above the 360-kilowatt hours mark. Households with three or more members will be allowed 510 kilowatt hours per month at the lower rate.

Lifeline rates, established by Public Act 139 of the Michigan Legislature and implemented under rules established by the Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC), are intended to provide all residential customers with a basic amount of electricity each month at a lower-than-average cost. The rates are designed to encourage wise use of energy by setting higher prices for usage above "lifeline" levels, according to J. Philip Lenihan, vice president-marketing and customer relations.

"Prompt return of the questionnaire will assure that customers will be placed in the rate category to which they are entitled," Lenihan said.

Actual charges have not yet been established by the MPSC. However, since the Commission has directed that lifeline rates be implemented no later than Sept. 25, 1981, Lenihan said he anticipates that the specific rates will be issued shortly and the company's customers will be advised as soon as possible.

St. John Guild gives $360,000, names officers

Members of the St. John Hospital Guild gathered last month at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club for their annual meeting and installation of new officers under Dr. Eugene Boyle, president.

Highlight of the afternoon was the presentation of a check for $360,000 from Guild-sponsored projects which included $100,000 of matching funds from a Detroit area foundation.

Dr. Boyle presented the check to the Hospital's Executive Vice-President and Chief Operating Officer Glenn A. Wesselmann.

The committee chairmen were honored with a number of presentations. Robert J. LeFevre, chairman of the stag dinner, and Dr. Boyle were awarded blue St. John Hospital blazers.

Chairmen receiving personalized duffel bags for their efforts for the hospital during the past year were Benjamin W. Capp, Clifford D. Carpenter, Dr. Gennaro DiMaso and Richard Filippelli.

In addition, chairmen Anthony Giorgio, Dr. Walter G. Levick, Donald A. Mattes, Alexander M. Nick, James Scott, Charles E. Stumb, Jr., Dr. Walter DiGiulio, Emmet Tracy, Jr., Dr. Robert J. Valice, Dr. Reginald Zielinski, Kenneth Adler, George Cueter, Paul Mann, Leo Kalyvas, Jr., and Eugene Wallace, were given duffel bags for their contributions.

A life membership to the guild was presented to Michael J. Cavanaugh, for his fidelity through the years and his donation of $5,000 worth of silver as a prize at the annual stag dinner.

Sister Verence presented Dr. Boyle a blue St. John Hospital blazer, saying, "We know it's a little conservative for your taste but this is a token of our appreciation for your years of service, to the guild."

The new officers of the guild include Alexander M. Nick, president; Dr. Walter DiGiulio, vice-president; Kenneth Adler, secretary and Dr. Gennaro DiMaso, treasurer. They will serve a one-year term.

FLEC, GP Cable plan telethon for Nov. 1

The Grosse Pointe communities will have a telethon of their own Nov. 1, in a joint production between the Family Life Education Council (FLEC) and Grosse Pointe Cable, Inc.

Grosse Pointe Cable, is affiliated with Teleprompter Cable TV and covers four of the five Grosse Pointe communities and Harper Woods. Grosse Pointe Shores is not on the Grosse Pointe Cable network.

Dr. John M. Burrows, president of FLEC, and Margaret Ann Behrends, production manager for Grosse Pointe Cable made the announcement.

Burrows said that J. D. Owens, FLEC's second vice president and a vice president of Ross Roy, Inc., will act as the FLEC Telethon's executive producer.

"This show is going to be a unique television experience," Owens said, "it is going to redefine the meaning of community television."

"If you live in Grosse Pointe or Harper Woods, somebody you know is going to be on the FLEC Telethon . . . probably a lot of people you know."

"The show is going to feature a potpourri of all of the lively arts . . . from rock bands to concert bands, to theater and dance . . . to the creative arts, painting and sculpture, poetry and literature. We are going to have interviews with famous names in the community, and not-so-famous names; we'll have jugglers, magicians and acrobats. We're even going to have a pet show."

Behrends said that Grosse Pointe Cable is donating the studio and production facilities to FLEC and the community as a public service. At the time of the broadcast, G. P. Cable estimates that it will have 10,000 home installations in operation.

Jane Hoey, FLEC's first vice president said that the 12-hour Telethon (10 a.m. to 10 p.m.) would showcase the community's talent in an effort to raise a substantial amount of money for FLEC and its Center Point counseling, alcohol awareness and drug abuse programs.

"We are going to ask the community for pledges to keep our locally supported volunteer programs operating. During the telecast, we are also going to periodically auction-off super prizes to further feather our nest and help pay-off the mortgage on our headquarters and clinic facilities," Hoey said.

The FLEC telethon committee also consists of Elaine Feeser, Vincent E. Butlerley and FLEC Executive Director Becci Reedus.

Reedus said that talent auditions for the Telethon will be held. Those wishing to participate should call FLEC Headquarters at 885-3510 between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

A picnic anytime of the year can be fun as long as you have the right spirit. The right spirits also help. German white wines and Portuguese roses are popular for summer picnic lunches. They should be served chilled while wines are better when served in warmer settings. Some temperatures happen to be unseasonably cool, a stronger wine may be more suitable. Try a California Souzao or Tawny port wine, richer in flavor and alcohol content.

For the "spirit and spirits" to enjoy at your next picnic, make it a point to stop in at PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE, 17255 Mack, Corner of St. Clair, Detroit. From the usual to the unusual, from beer to wine to sandwiches, cheeses and other "tidbits of delight," PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE can make any event, any get together, any time a memorable occasion. No party is complete without first stopping to see us. Open 10-10 Mon.-Thurs., 10-11 Fri. & Sat., noon-6 Sun. Tel. 885-0626.

CRC says

'thank you'

The Concerned Republican Committee (CRC) last week held its first picnic at the Grosse Pointe City Park.

Yvonne Holz, membership chairman of CRC, assisted by John Conforte, finance chairman, coordinated the event. "We felt it was important to bring our members together for a social evening before we broke for the summer. Everyone has worked so hard this year, and since the CRC was founded just a year ago, we thought a pot-luck supper would be a perfect 'thank you,'" Ms. Holz said.

Barbara Gattorn, Wayne County Charter Commissioner and first vice-president of CRC, reported on the status of the proposed charter presented to Gov. William Milliken this week.

While CRC will not resume board meetings until September, committees will be working throughout the summer on plans for the fall. Joan Woodhouse, president, said she was very pleased with the work CRC has done so far and was encouraged with the good response she has received about the evening with Lt. Gov. James Brickley and the Reapportionment panel sponsored by CRC. She said the group would continue to pursue its goal of bringing educational and timely issues to the attention of the community.

AAA advises securing homes before vacation

Burglars were welcomed into Michigan homes through unlocked doors and windows 49,000 times last year and they could be uninvited guests again this summer unless homeowners take adequate precautions, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"As we enter the primary vacation season, homeowners should assess their security measures and upgrade them if necessary before they depart on a trip," stated Peter Erickson, Underwriting manager responsible for Auto Club's Homeowners Insurance program. "Many homes become targets because the owners leave full mailboxes or other tip-offs that no one is home."

"Approximately 50 percent of all burglaries occur through unlocked doors or windows," explained Erickson. "Many homes lack adequate locks, secure door jams and other security equipment, making forced entry surprisingly easy for thieves."

State Police records show there were 98,722 home burglaries last year in Michigan.

"Crime prevention efforts will make a home less appealing to burglars, but no security system provides absolute protection, particularly from professional thieves," Erickson said.

Auto Club urges citizens to mark their driver's license numbers on valuables so that stolen property can easily be traced to the owner by police in any part of the country.

Operation Identification kits can be borrowed from police agencies and civic groups. AAA members can obtain the kits free from Auto Club's 55 offices statewide.

Auto Club advises homeowners to take the following precautions before going on vacation:

- Have mail held at the post office or removed from the mailbox daily by a friend or neighbor.

- Leave shades or drapes in a normal position. Have someone open them each morning and close them each evening.

- Use timers to control lights in several rooms. Have someone occasionally change the schedule.

- Put a radio on a timer. Tune in to a talk station, to give the impression that someone is at home.

- Keep garage doors locked.

- Arrange for grass to be cut and for handbills to be removed from the porch and yard.

- Never hide spare keys in flowerpots, under mats or in other places outside the home.

- Don't publicize vacation plans in newspapers nor announce departure and return dates at public meetings.

- Secure doors and windows before leaving.

Guidance volunteers are honored

Twenty-eight Grosse Pointers were among the 55 area volunteers honored recently for their contribution as direct service volunteers at the Northeast Guidance Center.

A dinner was held in honor of these community helpers and all were given recognition certificates and buttons reading "Volunteers Give a Helping Hand."

Three very special bronze and wood Outstanding Volunteer Awards were presented to Sallie Remus of Severn Road, Diane Tobias of Balfour Road, and Grace Mueller of East Detroit.

They were cited for exemplifying the best aspects of the volunteer movement by their conscientious and consistent work, their eagerness to learn new responsibilities and their ability to work effectively and efficiently in a variety of areas.

Ms. Remus volunteers as a receptionist and clerical aide in the Northeast Guidance Center's Warren/Cadioux office. Ms. Tobias works at the Center's Administration Building at Warren and Lakeview as a switchboard operator and closed case coordinator. Ms. Mueller is a real asset to the Older Adult Unit as an outreach worker and telephone reassurance caller.

Other Grosse Pointe volunteers honored include Desiree Barker, Sue Barrett, Susan Brown, Dorothea Busam, Loraine Deck, Behroz Ghandhi, Deborah Kanarr, Meredith Longley, Betsey Martin, Gayle McGarvah, Judy McMahon, Ruth Miller, Inez Moore, Lisa Morreale, Sue Palms, Barbara Parres, Marge Parsons, Fran Pastoria, Thelma Pollard, Barbara Rettberg, Carol Savallisch, Cynthia Sharp, Pat Thomas, Jamie Wallace, Joy Williams, Peggy Posch, and Girl Scout Troops 78 and 327.

ALASEM helps smokers quit

While the nation prepares to celebrate its independence on July 4, millions of citizens are struggling to preserve their independence from a habit harmful to their health, safety and bank accounts.

According to federal statisticians, about 27 percent of the more than 54 million adult smokers try to give up smoking during any given year. More than 50 million have succeeded.

The methods used to quit smoking are almost as numerous as individual smoking habits, says the American Lung Association. In 1981, many are using the ALA's 20-day self-help FREEDOM FROM SMOKING plan. Others quit cold turkey. For some, the group support of a quit-clinic or counseling is helpful.

Whatever the method, most smokers find it easier to get off cigarettes than to stay off. The ALA's manual, "A Lifetime of Freedom From Smoking," teaches recent smokers to become nonsmokers by spending 20 minutes a day in a series of activities and self rewards designed to maintain the nonsmoking habit. It helps the individual anticipate situations likely to produce strong cravings for a cigarette—and then to find nonsmoking ways of dealing with them.

Information about the self-help nonsmoking maintenance manual, and the original 20-day FREEDOM FROM SMOKING quitting plan, is available from American Lung Association's "Smoking Phone" at 963-3029.

By Marian Trainor

It's been a week of blue skies and drifting white clouds matched by the sparkling blue waters of a lake dotted by white sails of boats skimming over the surface. It's been a week when a starlit night exploded in glory as fireworks flared in the air. It's been a week of hydroplanes zooming through the river, of concerts and festivals and picnics and fun. It's been a week planned to mark an important date in American history—the birthday of freedom.

Such a joyous occasion should be one when problems and concerns are set aside in favor of what used to be a frequently voiced admonition to "count your blessings" (which is pretty good mental therapy). We can't always be thinking of what needs to be done, although sometimes when one considers how much there is to do to achieve the goals of a good life for all our citizenry, particularly our older Americans, it seems that we cannot afford to lose a minute when we are not devoting our thoughts and energies to that purpose.

However on this important date it is good to take time out from contemplating on what is yet to be done and bask in the glory and success of what has been accomplished.

FOR INSTANCE, as late as 1940, the life expectancy of Americans was about 62 years. Many died earlier. This meant that people did not even live out their working years much less live to enjoy what we have come to expect as part of life's pattern—retirement. Today, the older population of the United States—persons 65 and more—is the fastest growing segment, comprised of 23 million citizens. In the next century (it's not as far away as it sounds) Americans over 65 will make up a fifth of the total population. These bonus years, brought about by improved health care, are blessings to count.

Another blessing is the realization by government, social groups and organizations that people not only want to live longer but want to enjoy that life in good health, good surroundings and with good friends. Social Security alone does not provide the best of all possible worlds for retirees (nor was it meant to) but it does provide leverage which, together with savings or a private pension, can enable recipients to live in dignity and independence. For those who are dependent on Social Security alone, there are health clinics, food and friendship programs, homemaker, visiting nurse services and social clubs where people can gather together for companionship.

One of the most important blessings is that local, state and national government all have agencies working for the welfare of older Americans. There are numerous private local and nationwide agencies at work also—so many that the National Council on Aging (NCOA) was organized.

NCOA was established in 1950. It is a national organization for professionals and volunteers who are involved in matters affecting the quality of life for older Americans.

NCOA is committed to the task of enlarging upon the benefits attained but not yet adequate in the areas of medical, housing, employment, transportation and further education. It is a nonprofit organization open to any individual or group that provides a resource for research, planning or training for those who are involved in projects relating to the betterment of conditions for senior citizens. The principal sources of income that support these projects are grants and contracts from the Federal government, dues, and individual contributions.

Among the concerns of NCOA has been with work and retirement. The NCOA's National Institute on Age, Work and Retirement seeks to shed new light on the capacities of older workers, to convince employers of the untruths inherent in age discrimination policies.

IN 1977-78, AT&T, Du Pont and Kimberly Clark were among the clients served by the institute in its quest for specific information on how to meet the concerns of their older and retiring workers more effectively. The institute has also helped to establish links between public agencies and private industry in numerous states where previously no cooperative exchange existed.

More than 5,000 older employees have directly benefited from services of the institute's Industrial Health Counseling Service in Portland, Me. There, over a five-year period IHCS implemented a system in 200 companies to measure the demands of a specific job and to match those needs with the abilities of an individual—regardless of age. The results have proved an unqualified success and a durable achievement.

Speaking at the opening plenary session of NCOA's 31st Annual Conference in March in Nashville, Ten., Morrison H. Beach, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the Traveler's Insurance Companies, commented on the need for a partnership between business and organizations dedicated to assisting older Americans. He called NCOA a champion of elderly and urged NCOA to concern itself with this cause.

He said "stark necessity creates this new movement. It is important (Continued on Page 8A)

ARK seminar teaches the humane way

ARK, Inc., a Humane Education Service, a local, nonprofit animal welfare organization, and Schoolcraft College, are cooperating in presenting Michigan's first Humane Education Seminar, July 17 to 18.

Speakers and presenters at the seminar will be John A. Hoyt, president of the Humane Society of the U.S., the nation's largest animal welfare organization, who is a former minister at churches in Allen Park and Ferndale; and Kathleen Savesky, director of the National Association for the Advancement of Humane Education (NAAHE).

The seminar is designed for teachers, parents, elementary education students, youth group leaders, early childhood educators, the education staff from nature centers, animal shelters, zoos, and anyone interested in animal welfare.

The philosophy behind humane education is that people are not inherently cruel, but are uneducated, and many must be taught respect for all life, human and non-human. Humane education is required by law to be taught in Michigan schools.

The cost of the seminar is $25 for the two days which includes a vegetarian lunch on Saturday. One-day registrations are available. Checks should be made payable to Schoolcraft College and mailed to: Bursar/Humane

Stroll through historic Mt. Elliott

The Detroit Historical Society will offer a "Sunday Stroll" through Mt. Elliott cemetery, one of Detroit's most distinguished and beautiful burial grounds. The Sunday, July 12 tour will not only offer participants a leisurely walk through Mt. Elliott's grounds but provide an education on the lives of many prominent Detroiters buried there.

The 2 p.m. tour is the fourth in a series of 11 historical walks designed by the Detroit Historical Society to familiarize Detroiters with different neighborhoods, business districts, cemeteries and historical spots in the metropolitan area.

Volunteer "Stroll" director, Fern Freeman, has spent the winter months pouring over family records and histories in the Burton Historical Library and has learned many stories and anecdotes regarding Detroit's prominent families. Mt. Elliott includes the grave sites of the Palms', Elliott's and Crowleys and also has monuments to many early Detroit bankers, farmers, judges and

The handsome monument to Detroit's prominent Palms family will be one of the highlights of the Detroit Historical Society's "Sunday Stroll through Mt. Elliott Cemetery" Sunday, July 12. Francis Palms I, II, and III are all buried in the plot, as are William Palms and Charles Lewis Palms. The Palms were early Michigan timber barons and at one time Francis Palms was thought to be the largest land owner in the United States. This is the fourth in a series of eleven "Sunday Strolls" offered by the Detroit Historical Society to familiarize Detroiters with neighborhoods, business districts and cemeteries which have played an important role in Detroit's past. Tickets are $2.50 per person for Society members and $3.50 for non-members. For information call 833-7334 during business hours.

Prime time for seniors

 if we are to resolve urgent issues that private and voluntary sectors of our society join hands, create new alliances, pool our resources of concern and imagination. Necessity commands this but it would be good to do in any case."

He went on to talk of the importance of making business as well as government more responsive to the needs of older people. He then explored some ideas of what business could do in the future to accomplish this goal.

Jobs for older people who want to work heads the list of his priorities. He admits that it is easier said than done, that it will require the business community to make a fundamental reappraisal of its old assumptions about work and retirement. He insists that American business needs to understand the fact that many older people are capable of working. They are in good to excellent health; they are mentally sharp; they are skilled and knowledgeable; they are capable of learning new things.

A Harris poll released last year reported that 46 percent of today's retirees would prefer to work full or part-time. But even more interesting was the report that 51 percent of the younger workers—today's workers and tomorrow's retirees—hoped to work beyond the present retirement age.

It is conceded generally that work is good for older people. It creates a sense of usefulness, of being involved, active and needed.

It is good for business. It is a way to tap reservoirs of experience, knowledge and productivity.

It is good for the country. It supplements the nation's retirement income programs. It could help improve our real Gross National Product by almost four percent which could add about $40 billion in 1980 dollars to Federal, state and local tax revenues.

To accomplish this business needs to lead the movement by changing employment and retirement policies. It means moving age-neutral hiring policies. It means restructuring jobs to create choices for older workers—perhaps of phased retirement and training for second careers, temporary or part-time work or job-sharing by older workers.

Travelers has already started to work on these goals. The company has eliminated all mandatory retirement ages. It has made it possible for Travelers retirees to fill temporary jobs in their office rather than bringing workers in from an outside agency.

To create job opportunities for retirees who want more permanent but part-time work a Retiree Job Bank has been created. Through the bank, retirees can register to fill temporary positions with the company.

In the line of new and better services, Travelers has provided a Senior-Van program. Vans which are used to take commuters to and from work are utilized during working hours to transport older citizens to special events, education, recreation and meal programs, then take them home.

The company has established an adult-fitness program "Pep Up Your Life."

This knowledge that there are so many organizations and people working to benefit seniors today and in the future is a plus and a blessing to be contemplated on such an important date as July 4. Our country's freedom was not easily won. The best possible life for older Americans will not easily be won, although as it has been pointed out, important battles have been won.

Cactus thieves

Last year, Arizona lands were unlawfully stripped of close to half a million dollars worth of rare cacti, reports Science 80 magazine. Stately organ-pipe cactus and other exotic species are approaching an endangered status because of criminal trespassers. It takes 70 years for a rainbow cactus to grow 12 inches, but a cactus rustler can snatch one in 30 seconds and sell it for $20. A sugaro cactus in good condition may bring $10 to $40 a foot and an extra $150 for each of its arms. Heavy fines and jail sentences await those caught. Special officers, called "cactus cops," are on regular patrol duty.

Stunt flying, gliding, sky-diving, aerial ballet and aircraft in military formation are just a few of the highlights of the eighth annual Detroit City Airport Air Show, Saturday and Sunday, July 11 and 12.

The theme of this year's show is "Wings and Wheels." In addition to the spectacular aerial acts, visitors will also be treated to on-the-ground exhibits of antique, classic and vintage aircraft and automobiles.

Airport gates open at 10 a.m. for visitors to explore these ground displays as well as famous "warbirds" of World War II fame. There will also be music, radio-controlled model aircraft in aerobatic demonstrations and other entertainment.

One of the most startling performances in the show will be given by the Marine Corps "Harrier."

The AV-8A Harrier Jet is an almost unbelievable aircraft. Not only can it fly at near supersonic speeds, it can also aerodynamically brake to a midair halt in seconds, hover, fly backwards and maneuver sideways. All this action will be demonstrated both days at the Air Show.

War Birds are a featured part of the show this year. The World War II aircraft participating in the show will include the Mitchell B-25, P-51, P-40, T-28, TBM, Douglas Skyraider, AT-6 and others. They will perform in the air, and the public will also have the opportunity to see them in ground displays.

The show-in-the-air begins at 12 noon both days and features championship acts and performers from throughout the world.

The Air Show promises to be a full day of entertainment for the entire family. Those who come out for the big day are encouraged to bring lawn chairs or blankets for comfortable sky watching.

Advance tickets from Hudson's, Sears, Wards, City Airport and all CTC outlets are $8 per carload of people, single adult tickets $4, and senior citizens and children $1. Tickets purchased at the gate are $10 per carload, $5 per single adult and $2 for seniors and children.

The Detroit City Airport is at Conner and Gratiot on the City's east side. East exits from I-94 at French Road, Gratiot or Conner will bring show-goers directly to market gates of the Airport and direct access parking.

Texas gas since 1879

The Texas natural gas industry began in 1879 when a farmer at Greenvine in Washington County found gas in his water well, relates Texas Highways magazine. He became the first known consumer of natural gas when he piped it into his home.

and community. During the week of June 7, they were honored in Washington, D.C. Each scholar received a Presidential Scholar's medallion from the White House and $1,000 from the Gerald R. Dodge Foundation, a private philanthropic organization.

That glowing tan can be dangerous

It's summertime again, and along with ice-cold lemonade, lawn furniture and bathing suits, most persons add to a list of seasonal requirements a deep, dark, lasting tan. But that rich, glowing tan which gives us the appearance of healthy skin, may have just the opposite effect, says the American Cancer Society.

Repeated exposure to ultraviolet rays, whether from the sun or from the now-popular tanning salons, speeds aging of the skin and can ultimately produce skin cancers, according to Lewis H. Kaminester, M.D. in The Journal of the American Medical Association.

Dermatologists warn that some degree of irreversible skin damage occurs with each prolonged period of ultraviolet exposure to the skin, starting in early adult life. In fact, the tanning process is really a defense mechanism the skin uses to protect itself from ultraviolet radiation. Most susceptible to these rays, and therefore to skin cancers, are fair-skinned people, notably blonds and redheads. Fair-skinned people lack sufficient amounts of melanin, a skin pigment, to filter such radiation.

There are three main types of skin cancer: basal cell, squamous cell and melanoma. More than 90 percent of all skin cancers fall into the first two classifications. For basal cell and squamous cell cancers, cure is virtually assured with early detection and treatment. Outwardly, these cancers appear either as pale, waxlike, pearly nodules that may eventually ulcerate and crust, or as red, scaly, sharply outlined patches.

Malignant melanoma, though relatively uncommon, is a virulent form of skin cancer which spreads rapidly and are usually distinguished by a dark brown or black pigmentation.

All this doesn't mean, however, that you can't go outdoors, enjoy the sunshine and even acquire a tan. You can help protect yourself by using common sense and by following these basic guidelines recommended by the American Cancer Society:

- Avoid the sun between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. when ultraviolet rays are strongest.
- Begin your exposure with 15 minutes a day, expanding by five minutes a day until you develop a good base tan. If engaged in sports activities, begin your exposure with 45 minutes. Activity reduces concentration.
- Wear protective clothing such as cool, loose-fitting beach robes and wide-brimmed hats.
- Use a sunscreen preparation containing PABA (para-aminobenzoic acid).

Travelogue shows sites of global sculpture

Scenes of mountainous Peru, Easter Island and South Africa will be featured in a travelogue depicting the installation of the "Four Corners Project" — a work of conceptual sculpture by Detroit-area artist David Barr. The artist himself will provide commentary during the slide presentation on Monday, July 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the chapel of the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church.

Admission is $4 at the door and the proceeds will benefit the Nonce Dance Ensemble.

David Barr, has been an art professor at Macomb County Community College for 15 years. His "Four Corners Project" was started last year. When completed, it will be what he calls the world's largest sculpture using the least amount of material.

Two recitals set for July

Two special carillon recitals are planned for this Saturday and Tuesday at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

The first is the fifth annual Patriotic American Music Recital on July 4 at 7:30 p.m. to be performed by William De Turk, Carillonneur and Director of Music of Memorial Church.

De Turk is also the recently appointed University Carillonneur and Adjunct Assistant Professor of The University of Michigan, where he received his Master of Music degree in organ and carillon.

During this recital, the tower will be open to the public. Those who wish to climb the 44 steps will be able to see the carillon perform, the 47 bells (largest weighing over two tons), and view carillon artifacts on display.

Vanderschaaf announces retirement

The retirement of Grace Vanderschaaf, teacher at South High School for the past 16 years, was announced at the June 22 School Board meeting.

Ms. Vanderschaaf was active not only teaching German in the foreign language department, but also sponsored the German Club at South. She was instrumental in developing the community volunteer language program, providing students with increased opportunities for extensive conversation in the German language. In addition, she led Grosse Pointe students on trips to Germany.

Ms. Vanderschaaf was educated in the Netherlands. She taught elementary and junior high school classes in the Christian National Schools of the Netherlands from 1937 to 1948.

Grace immigrated to the United States and received her Bachelor's Degree from Wayne State University in 1961, while student teaching at Detroit public schools.

She taught at Macomb County Community College and served as substitute teacher in Grosse Pointe and Detroit until 1965, when she began full time at South.

Grace continued her education by taking graduate courses in German at Wayne State University. She also participated in a 1969 language institute in Munich, Germany.

Members of the school system expressed great appreciation to Ms. Vanderschaaf.

The Ones at Pipers this weekend

Doug Brown proves Grosse Pointe does have soul

By Gregory Jakub

In the 10 years since pianist-composer Doug Brown graduated from South High, he's followed a musical course that's taken him from tight suits with various local bands to backing the Four Tops.

You may have seen him making the rounds of east side bars with the bands Cirrus, Good Energy, or Tangle. With those efforts behind him, 27-year-old Brown and his band, the Ones, come to town this week building momentum around the release of their impressive first album, "Say You Will" on Street Records.

The group also appears at Piper's Alley on Mack from July 2 through July 5.

Unlike another successful Detroit-bred rocker, Ted Nugent, who promotes the "boogie-till-you-drop" approach to rock and roll, Brown draws on the Motown tradition which has as much to do with the lyricism of rhythm and blues, feel of jazz as it does with the driving rhythms of rock.

In short, these boys can get funky and it's no wonder, considering they spent 18 months backing The Four Tops, whose early recordings defined the Motown Sound when Brown and his cohorts were probably just getting into puberty and transistor radios.

Brown's also toured with Chuck Berry and Tommy Bolin which plants him firmly in the mainstream of what is generally considered rock and roll.

"Say You Will" opens with Brown's homage to Motown as he does a version of the Four Tops' "It's the Same Old Song" that sounds fresh yet maintains the essence of the original.

Other tunes on the album are all originals by Brown, who proves he's a prolific composer. Unfortunately, "Say You Will" is getting almost no airplay on Detroit radio.

Nevertheless, a lot of people seem to believe Doug Brown and the Ones' first album proves that they've got the talent to make it in the big leagues according to results of a recent WRIF-FM survey in which 78 percent of those who called in preferred a cut from "Say You Will" to cuts by Joe Walsh and Mother's Finest.

But according to Brown's publicist Tom Weschler, WRIF still balks at playing cuts from "Say You Will" on a regular basis. Only WJLB and WLBS have added it to their play lists.

Even though Detroit's rock radio fails to put Doug Brown and the Ones on the same level as Bruce Springsteen or Bob Seger, the group will be playing its heart out at Piper's this weekend offering music that is just as exciting.

"Say You Will" is available at all local record stores including Harmony House on Mack and Village Record and Tapes on Kercheval.

Keyboard player and composer Doug Brown, a 1971 South High graduate, makes his first appearance in Grosse Pointe in four years when he and his band, the Ones, play at Piper's Alley July 2 through 5. Their first album, "Say You Will," is getting some radio exposure in Detroit.

SEMTA fares to increase

The base bus fare for 50,000 Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) passengers will go up 15 cents, from 60 cents to 75 cents, effective Wednesday, July 1.

The fare for commuter rail passengers will also change on July 1. Fares will go up from $1 to $1.15. All bus and commuter rail zone charges will remain the same.

The Park and Ride and Limited bus service fares will rise from 80 to 95 cents and small bus Essential Transportation Services (ETS) will go up from $1.20 to $1.50.

Senior and handicapped citizens will continue to ride for half fare at all hours on the tri-county small bus systems until September 1981. A 60-day extension of the current policy was approved by the SEMTA Board of Directors June 16 to allow continued discussion regarding a proposed policy allowing half-fares only during the off-peak hours.

Students between the ages of 6 and 18 will receive a 25 cent reduction from the adult base fares on all regularly scheduled bus routes under the new fare policy. Student fares will also be subject to zone charges, where applicable.

Student small bus fares will be reduced by 50 cents from the adult fare on Saturdays and on all off-peak weekday hours during July and August.

Effective July 1, SEMTA weekday off-peak hours will be between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. and 6 a.m. on all regularly scheduled bus routes and small bus routes.

SEMTA's Buckpasser weekend pass will be renamed the Weekend pass and fares for unlimited weekend travel will go up to $1.50.

The Authority will continue to offer discounted fares for prepaid fares. Ten-strip fare tickets will continue to be discounted 10 percent. Monthly SEMTACARDS will be discounted on a new basis which will be 32 days multiplied by the one-way fare. Under the new discount plan passengers will receive a 23.8 percent reduction in fares by purchasing the monthly pass.

The new exact-fare strip ticket and SEMTACARD prices will be as follows. If one or two zones are traveled, one-way fare is 75 cents, 10-strip tickets will cost $6.75 and a monthly SEMTACARD will be $24. The cost for three zones will be 95 cents for one way, $8.55 for 10-strip tickets and $30.40 for the monthly card.

The one-way price for four zones will be $1.15, $10.35 for 10-strip tickets and $36.80 for the SEMTACARD. For five zones, one-way fare is to rise to $1.35, 10-strip tickets to $12.15 and SEMTACARDS to $43.20. The cost for six zones will go up to $1.55 for one way, $13.95 for the 10-strip tickets and $49.60 for the SEMTACARD.

For seven zones traveled the new cost is set at $1.75, $15.75 for 10-strip tickets and $56.00 monthly. Eight zones will cost $1.95 one-way, for 10-strip tickets the fare will be $17.55 and SEMTACARDS, $62.40. If nine or more zones are traveled, the one-way price will be $2.15, 10-strip tickets, $19.35 and monthly cards, $68.80.

For the first time, SEMTA and the Detroit Department of Transportation (D-DOT) will operate under a reciprocal transfer policy. Transfers may be purchased for 10 cents and will be valid for travel on both transit systems.

The D-DOT transfer will be good for continued travel in the boarding zone on the SEMTA bus. An additional 20 cents per zone will be required for travel beyond the boarding zone. The transfer will be good for travel anywhere in Detroit on the D-DOT bus.

A SEMTA charter rate increase will also go into effect July 1. The hourly rate will rise from $32 to $39 for a SEMTA large bus and from $24 to $26 per hour for a small bus.

For additional information regarding SEMTA route and schedule information call the SEMTA Customer Information Center at 965-5515 or toll free 1-800-462-5161.

An unlikely hero

It is hard to imagine a less likely hero than Jay M. Near. He was anti-Catholic, anti-Semitic, anti-labor and anti-black. He was also an extortionist and a purveyor of scandalous rumors who published a sleazy newspaper, the Saturday Press, in Minneapolis in the 1920s. But he was also a self-proclaimed crusader whose attacks on public officials led to the suppression of his newspaper—and then to a U.S. Supreme Court decision that strengthened freedom of the press in this country.

It was just 50 years ago that the high court in a 5-to-4 decision ruled unconstitutional the Minnesota law that had permitted a single judge to put Near's newspaper out of business as a nuisance because he found it to be "malicious, scandalous and defamatory." Near had appealed the district court decision to the Minnesota Supreme Court before he won vindication in the U.S. Supreme Court.

Now Fred W. Friendly, a Columbia University journalism professor and one-time associate of the late Edward R. Murrow in "See It Now" and "CBS Reports," has told for the first time the complete story of what the author terms the most important prior restraint case ever to come before the U.S. Supreme Court. Friendly spells out the details in a new book, "Minnesota Rag."

WHY SHOULD WE pay attention to the Near decision a half century after the event and in an area in which few people have ever heard of Jay M. Near?

One reason is that the ghost of Jay M. Near still stalks most U.S. courtrooms, most recently in a major way in the Pentagon Papers case in 1971. In a 6-to-3 decision, the U.S. Supreme Court held that the government had not met the heavy burden of justifying prior restraint of newspapers that had published early chapters of the papers. It required nine opinions for the justices to explain their votes—and the Near case was cited 10 times.

Other explanations for the continuing importance of the Near case are found in the majority opinion by Chief Justice Charles Evan Hughes. He saw freedom of the press as an outstanding safeguard of the people from the imposition of tyranny and emphasized that the press' immunity from prior restraints had not lessened its importance. Then he added, in words that are remarkably appropriate today:

"The administration of government has become more complex, the opportunities for malfeasance and corruption have multiplied, crime has grown to more serious proportions and the danger of its protection by unfaithful officials and of the impairment of the fundamental security of life and property by criminal alliances and official neglect emphasize the primary need of a vigilant and vigorous press, especially in great cities."

"The fact that the liberty of the press may be abused by miscreant purveyors of scandal does not make any the less necessary the immunity of the press from previous restraint in dealing with official misconduct," the chief justice continued. "Subsequent punishment for such abuses as may exist is the appropriate remedy consistent with constitutional privileges."

In effect, Hughes said that a free press remains a bulwark against unfaithful and corrupt public officials who could, however, close newspapers that were about to attack them if the courts permitted previous restraint. Furthermore, public officials still can sue for libel if they feel the press has maligned them. But such an action can come only after the publication of the objectionable story, not before.

Hughes also pointed out there still could be limitations even on the guarantee against previous restraint. In wartime, he wrote, "no one would question that a government might prevent actual obstruction to its recruiting service or the publication of the sailing dates of transports or the number and location of troops." Similarly, he continued, "the primary requirements of decency may be enforced against obscene publications" and the "security of the community life may be protected against incitements to acts of violence and the overthrow by force of orderly government." But such limitations, he said, were not applicable in the Near case.

NEAR'S NEWSPAPER, which had been closed under the Minnesota law in 1927, was revived only briefly in 1932 after the act had been ruled unconstitutional. As Friendly pointed out, "The character of the paper hadn't changed much and neither had its editor. He was still broke, was still spreading scandal and was even more bitter." Near soon turned over his interest to his former partner, Howard Guilford, another scandal monger, who ran the paper for a short time and then announced he would run for mayor. Shortly thereafter, Guilford was gunned down on the Minneapolis streets. Near died anticlimactically of natural causes in 1936.

If there was a respectable hero in the Near case, it was Col. Robert McCormick, then the publisher of the Chicago Tribune, who put up the money for Near's appeals. McCormick, an eccentric isolationist who was not free of bias himself, was one of the few newspapermen of the times who perceived the broad threat to press freedom in the Minnesota law.

In Minnesota, the newspapers agreed in general with the Minneapolis Tribune which said, "The Civil Liberties Union (which had originally appealed the Near decision) will no doubt make a great bother about the freedom of the press but the legitimate newspapers will be rather bored than excited about it." After the decision, no Minnesota papers took the trouble to interview Near and few offered much praise of the decision.

But in Chicago, the Tribune exulted in the decision, saying in part, "The Saturday Press was not suppressed for the lies it told. It was suppressed for the true stories it printed of official perfidy." The colonel later ordered key sentences in Chief Justice Hughes' opinion carved in marble in the Tribune's cathedral-like lobby.

THE NEAR CASE has another application today. With the retirement of Potter Stewart, an associate justice of the Supreme Court, there is speculation about his successor and how the change could affect the court's ideological coloration. Stewart, while identified as a court moderate, has been a staunch defender of press freedom. Fifty years ago two changes on the court gave Near the pro-press majority that would not have been possible under the court less than two years earlier. Thus fate helps write law and could do so again today.

So after half a century the Near case remains a landmark although the publisher of the sleazy Saturday Press still is an unlikely and unpopular hero even to news people familiar with the case. But citizens generally owe a debt of gratitude to Friendly for retelling the story and reminding the public as well as the press itself of the values in freedom of the press.

Views of the News

More in sorrow than anger

More in sorrow than in anger we take exception to some statements made by Mayor Coleman Young of Detroit during his successful campaign to win approval of the increases in the Detroit city income tax in the recent election.

The mayor apparently felt he had to frighten Detroit's black community into voting solidly for the proposal. So he warned his constituency that there were "thousands of bigots" out beyond the city limits waiting to take over Detroit at the first sign that Detroiters were not willing to help themselves.

AS THE MAYOR knows, many non-Detroiters helped the city draw up the tax package that was enacted by the Legislature. At least some suburban residents felt that a one-percentage-point increase in the income taxes of commuters as well as those of Detroit residents was not totally unfair. And some suburban institutions, such as the Grosse Pointe News, endorsed the package as the best way of bailing out Detroit at this time.

Those non-Detroiters who supported the bail-out package did so because they know the ripple effect of economic trouble in Detroit. The entire state has suffered along with the auto industry and its workers. And so those suburban residents who backed the rescue of Detroit did it for the same reason the Detroit people voted so overwhelmingly in favor of it. They know they will be hurt economically, socially and in other ways if Detroit should go bankrupt.

True enough, some suburban legislators tried to organize a campaign to persuade Detroit voters to reject the proposed income tax increase on residents and commuters. But even some legislators who opposed the hike in commuter taxes did favor a state bail-out for Detroit. They felt, however, the whole state should have been asked to bear part of that burden rather than just Detroit residents and the commuters who work in Detroit.

No doubt there were bigots who didn't want to help Detroit for racial reasons. But it was unfair for the mayor to imply that they constituted a majority or even that bigotry was the only reason people could oppose the tax package. Honest people can have honest differences over ways and means to achieve the same ends.

Mayor Young is not the first politician to use exaggerated charges to sell voters on a course of action. Nor is he the first to indicate that the ends justify the means. But it is disappointing to have him stoop to such tactics and thus tarnish his remarkable achievement in selling a tax increase at a time when most other politicians are calling for tax cuts.

Abbott gets WSU honor

The Wayne State University Board of Governors presented a Faculty Recognition Award to Professor Philip Abbott of Anita Avenue, Grosse Pointe Woods, for his book "Furious Fancies, American Political Thought in the Post-Liberal Era." Abbott, assistant dean of the College of Liberal Arts at Wayne State, is a nationally recognized political scientist. "Furious Fancies" is his third book. He has authored a fourth book to be published shortly. His work has been supported by the Earhart Foundation, the National Endowment for the Humanities and the Ford Foundation.

Park Baha'is issue protest

In the aftermath of the execution of seven of their co-religionists in Iran on June 14, the Baha'i community of Grosse Pointe Park has joined its National Spiritual Assembly in appealing to Dr. Kurt Waldheim, Secretary-General of the United Nations, to send a representative to Iran to investigate the condition of the persecuted Baha'i community and to take steps to alleviate the plight of its members.

The message to the Secretary-General from the National Spiritual Assembly of the Baha'is of the United States said that at dawn on June 14 seven outstanding and respected members of the local Baha'i governing body of Hamadan, a city in western Iran, faced a firing squad after having been imprisoned and tortured. Similar executions of Baha'i leaders have occurred in recent months in Tabriz, Tehran, Shiraz and Yazd, according to the group. The United States Baha'i Assembly said the Supreme Judicial Council of Iran approved the executions on the basis of trumped-up charges, including corruption, fighting God and His Messenger, and collaboration with world Zionism. The Baha'i Faith originated in Iran in 1844 and has been opposed as a heresy ever since by the Moslem clergy. Meanwhile, the religion has developed a worldwide following with adherents in more than 100,000 localities around the world. The founder of the religion, Baha'u'llah, was exiled from his native Iran because of his teachings, including the unity of the world's religions, the oneness of all the races of mankind, and the equality of men and women.

Letters to The Editor

To the loving friends of Herman Clein

Nothing would give me more pleasure than to be able to thank each and every one of you in person for all your love and caring during the past 13 months and especially during the past week. Knowing why Herman was loved was easy, but seeing it manifested over and over again by hundreds of people was a most gratifying experience. Over 1,200 people expressed their sorrow at losing Herman and their joy in knowing him, thus making an individual thank you impossible.

At the funeral service, the Minister spoke of "singing unto the Lord a new song." We all know that Herman spent his life doing just that and I am sure that he is spending his time now seeing that the angels are doing the same thing. For those of you who had him for a teacher, you must know that he is making sure the choir of angels are all sitting up straight, not chewing gum, or "scrambling." You also know how he tried, through music and through caring to teach each of you how important you are to the world around you.

For those of you who knew him as a friend, you know that through his music he taught us all that love and music are all important and that music is one of the best ways of expressing love.

For those of you who never met him personally but knew him only through his music, you know that all of his students expressed his love for them through their singing.

And so again, thank you all for caring. Herm is physically gone, but he will always be with us through all of the lives he touched and changed during his life time. Hearing all of the nice things that each of you had to tell me about the way he affected your lives was the best gift of all. I will treasure this gift for a long time to come.

Mrs. Karen (Herman) Clein

A fun-filled farewell

A few school board meetings have seemed like a circus in the past—but none had the special effects present June 22 when this balloon-laden clown interrupted the meeting with a greeting for retiring trustee Laurance Harwood. The good wishes came from an anonymous sender, but the delivery was handled by Joan Leinweber, 5, a friend of the Harwood's family. Last week's meeting was Harwood's last after serving eight years on the School Board. His fellow trustees also presented a resolution of appreciation to Harwood, who chose not to run for re-election. It cited his unwavering commitment to improving the quality of education and extending school and library services to all segments of the community.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

First came the Liggetts, seven in all, a family group headed by The Reverend James D. Liggett, lawyer, editor and abolitionist publisher. They arrived in Detroit in 1878 to establish a small, independent and "altogether proper" school for girls.

Then came Charles Bliss and Henry Gray Sherrard who, in 1899, founded Detroit University School: an independent institution for boys.

And then, in 1914, came a typhoid epidemic Grosse Pointe was changing by then, as prominent Detroit families who had used the lakeside community as a summer resort began making it their year-round residence.

Many of these families sent their children into town to school, the girls to Liggett, on Burns Avenue in Indian Village, the boys, starting in after fire had destroyed the original DUS building at Elmwood between Larned and Congress, to "The Castle" on Parkview Drive between Jefferson Avenue and the Detroit River.

But the typhoid outbreak had resulted in a citywide quarantine that caused many DUS/Liggett students to lose time from school.

Their parents didn't want this to happen again. Grosse Pointe, they reasoned, should have its own private school, serving both boys and girls, preparing them for Eastern secondary schools. And so, in 1915, the Grosse Pointe School opened, in a white frame house that still stands at 301 Roosevelt Place.

And eventually, in 1929, thanks to Henry and Edsel Ford and many other prominent Detroiters, DUS found its new "country home" on Cook Road, then on Grosse Pointe's eastern limits.

And eventually the Grosse Pointe School became the Grosse Pointe Country Day School . . . and in 1941 DUS and Grosse Pointe Country Day, located now in its own English style building on Grosse Pointe Boulevard, joined forces under one board . . . and in 1954 the Country Day building was sold to the Grosse Pointe Schools, and became part of the Grosse Pointe South High complex, and DUS and Country Day became Grosse Pointe University School with one, coeducational campus on Cook Road.

And in 1969 there came another merger, this time with Liggett School, which had made its move

Mardene Galanos is a spring bride

A dinner reception at the Detroit Athletic Club followed the May Day wedding of Mardene Ann Galanos, daughter of Mrs. Steven Peter Galanos, of Washington Road, and the late Mr. Galanos, and Michael John Morykwas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Fred Morykwas, of Norton Shores.

The Reverend Father Ernest Blougouras presided at the 7:30 o'clock ceremony Friday evening, May 1, in Annunciation Cathedral.

The newlyweds vacationed at Paimetto Dunes Resort, Hilton Head, S.C. They are making their home in Grosse Pointe.

The bride chose a traditional wedding gown, long-sleeved, featuring a full, cathedral train and accented with appliques of re-embroidered Alencon lace and seed pearls.

A Juliet cap of matching lace and pearls held her cathedral length veil. She carried a bouquet of white silk roses and baby's-breath.

Tula Hartz was her cousin's honor maid. Bridesmaids were Judy Goodin, the bride's college roommate, Evelyn Inempolides, Katherine Manoles, Alexis Pervanis, Annette Shopinski, Maria Sisklock, of Pontiac, another cousin of the bride, and Donna Spears, of Muskegon, the bridegroom's sister, whose daughter, Rhonda Spears, was flower girl.

They wore dresses of pewter grey chiffon with blouson bodices and triple-layered skirts. Each carried a single, long-stemmed pink silk rose accented with satin ribbon and baby's-breath and wore a small pink silk rose in her hair.

Gary Morykwas came from Fremont, O., to act as best man for his brother. In the usher corps were Douglas Bank, of Mount Clemens, the bridegroom's cousin, Timothy Bolema and Glen Fountaine, both of Muskegon, Dr. Thomas Goodin and three former classmates of the bridegroom: Dr. Douglas Dawidowski, Dr. Daniel Kane and Dr. Robert Stackpole, of Mount Clemens.

The mother of the bride wore a gown of lilac chiffon, styled with a long-sleeved, blouson bodice and a triple-layered skirt. The bridegroom's mother chose a dress of pale pink chiffon, long-sleeved and full-skirted. Each selected an orchid corsage.

Special guests included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. James A. Pappas, of Grosse Pointe, and her aunts: Miss Alice J. Pappas, also of Grosse Pointe, and Miss Angelina J. Pappas, of New York.

Out-of-town guests included John Bank, of Ann Arbor, the Lawrence Bishops, of Wyoming, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Fellows, of Chappaqua, N.Y., Lawrence Martenis, of Durand, Dr. and Mrs. Eric Sayenga, of Ann Arbor, Dr. and Mrs. Julius Youngner, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Dr. and Mrs. Stuart Younger, of Shaker Heights, O.

From Muskegon came Mrs. Jack Bolema, Mrs. Matthew and Michael Bolema, the George Cannons, the Andrew Dykemas, Mark Schaab, the Jack Sorensons, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Wages and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fountaine and their family.

Both the bride and bridegroom are currently working on Ph.D. degrees.

Summer ethnic fun for kids

Balalaikas, African drums, shepherds' flutes and many more musical instruments will fill the International Institute air with melody at this season's Summer Ethnic Fun Days designed for children ages 7 to 12.

"Discover Music from Many Lands" is the 90-minute program theme. It is available until Aug. 19 by reservation for groups and individuals by calling the Institute, located on East Kerby Street in Detroit's University/Cultural Center, and arranging a time. Groups are limited to 40. Materials cost is 50 cents per child; adults are free.

"This is the third summer in a row that the International Institute has been proud to offer a unique summer field trip experience for children," says Mary Ball, the Institute's executive director.

"It's designed for recreational and school groups as well as individual parents and children. The emphasis is on fun, by way of a rewarding cultural experience."

The program features join-in activities, including games, crafts, stories and simple folk dancing. It is held in the Institute's Hall of Nations, where a new 41-case display, "Music and Indigo Blue," designed by Detroit artist Cyril Miles with assistance from Eva Boicourt of Galerie de Boicourt, a member of the Institute's Members Council, features musical instruments from all over the world, ranging from mandolins to pre-Columbian drums to Indian tambura to Australian boomerangs, combined with blue and white folk art.

Men and money always talk loudest when both are tight.

Meadow Brook Festival Fridays feature variety

The Meadow Brook Music Festival, a cultural program of Oakland University, opened its Friday night variety series June 26 with singer Cleo Laine performing with flutist James Galway.

Laine, who the London Times says is "the best singer in the world," seats duets with Galway, who has popularized classical music on network television and appeared recently on a John Denver special.

The letter-sweaters are gone but the Lettermen are still going strong with "The Way You Look Tonight" and "When I Fall In Love." They will share a double bill July 3 with The Four Freshmen, who became a hit with their early record "It's A Blue World." Fireworks will light up the sky following this concert.

Tony Bennett is bringing his romantic vocals to Meadow Brook July 10. Rodney Dangerfield will perform his comic routines July 17, and Harry Belafonte will appear July 24.

Barbara Mandrell comes to Meadow Brook July 31, and singer and songwriter Kris Kristofferson, star of the just-released "Heaven's Gate," performs Aug. 7 with special guest star Billy Swan.

Glen Yarbrough, Theodore Bikel and Tom Paxton will present an American Folk music concert Aug. 14. Yarbrough is best known for his record "Baby, The Rain Must Fall." Paxton for "Rambling Boy." Internationally acclaimed Bikel played Tevye in "Fiddler On The Roof" on Broadway.

It's all jazz Aug. 31 when Count Basie plays his familiar single-note piano pattern with his big band and the Dave Brubeck Quartet demonstrates the distinctive harmonies and unorthodox time signatures that have distinguished it for three decades.

Besides the Friday Night Variety Series, the festival also features Thursday/Saturday Symphonic Series, a Sunday Pops Series, children's concerts and many non-series specials.

Concerts are held in Baldwin Pavilion on the Oakland University campus in Rochester, with entrances on Walton Boulevard and Adams Road. Over 7,000 people can be seated in the pavilion and on the lawn.

Information on season subscriptions and a brochure are available by calling the Meadow Brook Box Office, 377-2010.

Planning a garden party

Just one week from today, on Thursday, July 9, at 12:30 p.m., the Grosse Pointe Garden Center will host its Old-fashioned English Garden Party in the famous Trial Garden on the lake side of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Here, MRS. ARTHUR A. O. SCHMIDT, (left), and MRS. H. ROLLIN ALLEN, plan arrangements for the July 9 English Garden Party to be given by the Grosse Pointe Garden Center and to which all the garden lovers of the community are invited.

This party, offering traditional food in the charming setting of an old-fashioned gazebo set among flower beds and velvety lawns, will be held rain or shine. Fine weather is predicted, but in the event of rain, the party will be held in the Garden Center room on the second floor of the War Memorial. All garden enthusiasts in the community are cordially invited. If you have always wondered what the Garden Center is and does, now is the time to come and find out. Memberships will be available and it is hoped that new residents will consider themselves especially welcome, and will consider joining this long established

Grosse Pointe activity. President of the Garden Center is Mrs. Paul Hostetter. Her committee for the Garden Party is headed by Mrs. Clarence E. Maquire and Mrs. Schmidt assisted by Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Charles A. Bigelow, who will preside at the flower-centered, pink-skirted tea tables.

A gift from the heart

Percutaneous transluminal angioplasty, or more simply, dilation, involves the insertion of a catheter into a blocked blood vessel. The catheter is ballooned and the blockage is opened. This procedure has been very successful in opening blood vessels and can be used on approximately 10 percent of the open-heart patients. It is useful for single vessel blockages.

Navy Ensign LAWRENCE T. DIRITA, whose wife THERESE, is the daughter of JOSEPH and DELORES SHAHEEN of Yorkshire Road, recently completed the 18-week Surface Warfare Officers School in San Diego. The course is designed to train junior officers to perform as watch officers and division officers.

Past donations to Saint John have been used toward the purchase of Noninvasive Cardiology Transducer, and Ergometer for the Hospital's Cardiac Catheterization Laboratory, and a Cardiokymograph (CKG).

The Detroit East Suburban Alumnae Chapter has also made substantial donations to the Grosse Pointe Public School System including: Resuscitation Classes (CPR). Cardiac aid has been Alpha Phi's national philanthropy since 1946. For the past 10 years, Alpha Phi has conducted international lollipop sales to raise funds. They were presented with the Heart and Torch Award from the American Heart Association in 1966 for their outstanding contributions to cardiac care.

Engaged

August wedding plans are being made by MARTHA PIERSON GARD, daughter of the William Young Gards, of Dean Lane, and Gary E. Corbin, of Balfour Road.

Miss Gard, a University Liggett School graduate, received her Bachelor of Music degree from Ohio Wesleyan University. Her honor societies include Mu Phi Epsilon and Kappa Delta Pi.

Mr. Corbin, son of the Gerald Corbins, of Newark, O., is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University with a degree in Economics and Accounting, and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He is employed by National Bank of Detroit on Woodward Avenue.

Pointer BETTY BACON, corresponding secretary and publicity person for the Michigan Society Dames of the Court of Honor, presented the annual report at the group's May 6 meeting.

From Another Pointe Of View

to The Pointe a few years before.

And today we have University Liggett School, with its elementary and high schools based on Cook Road, its Middle School located in the former Liggett School building on Briarcliff Drive, its traditions rooted in the life of Detroit/Grosse Pointe and the lives of Detroiters/Grosse Pointers for more than 100 years.

It's all chronicled in "Century: The History of University Liggett School, 1878-1978" by Anne Getz Wormer, Liggett Class of '59.

Hundreds of individuals, graduates and teachers helped create the 237-page history. Their scrapbooks, photographs and reminiscences were source material, and the author is grateful to all of them—but especially to Katherine Welchenbach, a Grosse Pointe Country Day School teacher for 30 years, who researched and selected the photographs for "Century," and to Barbara Smith, Liggett Class of '39, who was the research coordinator for the book.

This June, as part of ceremonies during which diplomas were awarded to the 67 members of University Liggett's Centennial Graduation Class, "Century" was publicly introduced.

The book is a beauty. The photographs—and there are many of them—are particularly fascinating. Check out Page 71 for a picture of first grader G. Mennen Williams; he grew up to become Governor of Michigan, Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs and Michigan Supreme Court Justice.

Look on Page 148 for a picture of "field hockey star" Julie Harris. She wound up starring in another field.

Liggett School girls Eleanor Clay Ford and Elizabeth Russel Wheat, in middy blouses, smile for the camera on Page 54. Eleanor Clay was graduated in Liggett's Class of 1916; as Mrs. Edsel B. Ford she became one of the school's most beloved trustees and supporters. Her association with Liggett and University Liggett spanned more than 50 years until her death in 1976.

And don't neglect the text. If you do, you'll never discover, in a list of early Liggett graduates, the name Evangeline Lodge Land. She grew up to become Charles Lindbergh's mother.

It's all there in black and white in "Century," the story of a school that began with a staff of nine and an enrollment of 57 and now boasts over 100 teachers and 900 students, that convened its first classes in a converted Detroit boarding house and is now a major metropolitan educational institution consisting of three divisions on two campuses totaling 58 acres.

The first copies of the limited edition book are being presented to selected people who have been especially prominent in the school's history. Copies may be purchased directly from University Liggett while the limited supply lasts.

Bride-elect

Curtis and Nancy Vrieland, of Littlestone Road, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, JAYNE MARIE VRIELAND, to Roger Philip Boer. An early August wedding is planned.

Miss Vrieland is a 1977 graduate of Lutheran High East and received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Elementary Education from Calvin College this spring.

Mr. Boer, who is the son of Harry and Beatrice Boer, of DeMotte, Ind., was graduated from Kankakee Valley High School in 1977. He is also a 1981 Calvin College graduate, holding a Bachelor of Arts degree in English.

Pointers serve Detroit's LCW

Marilyn F. Lundy, of Ballyne Road, was re-elected president of the League of Catholic Women of Detroit at the organization's 70th annual meeting this spring.

Other Pointers elected to LCW 1981-82 offices are Anne Marx, first vice-president, and Barbara Gattorn, assistant treasurer. Among those elected to the board of directors are Pointers George Borrego, Pat Alandt and Mary Shelby.

Men and women of all faiths are invited to join the league, Detroit's oldest and largest social service organization, which participates with other civic, religious and community groups toward the rebuilding of lives and neighborhoods.

Further information may be obtained by calling 965-9000.

Marine Pfc. EDWARD J. HUBBACH, son of PAUL and MARY SHURT, of Rivard Boulevard, was promoted to his present rank while serving with the 4th Battalion, 11th Marines, Twentynine Palms, Calif.

Reitzloff-Rem rites are read

A reception at the Detroit Yacht Club followed the fall, 1980 wedding of Cheryl Marie Rem, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rem, of Belanger Road, and Kevin J. Reitzloff.

Monsignor Francis X. Canfield officiated at the 6 o'clock ceremony Friday, September 5, 1980, at St. Paul's on the Lakeshore Church.

Her mother's gown of ivory satin and Alencon lace, fashioned by Miss Rem's late grandmother was the bride's choice for the ceremony. Her cathedral length veil was held by a Juliet cap of satin and Alencon lace.

The bride also wore the pearl necklace given to her mother by her husband on their wedding day. She carried a bouquet of ivory Sweetheart roses, baby's breath and ivy streamers.

The former Miss Rem was attended by college roommate Phyllis Leavy, who wore a floor length, spaghetti-strapped gown of light blue with a slight floral print and a matching shawl.

Bridesmaids Joyce Ewart, sister of the bridegroom, and Judy Campbell, Patricia Heidt, Martha Eldridge, of Charlevoix, and Marianne Simmerer, of Florida, friends of the bride from kindergarten through college, were dressed identically and carried bouquets of white carnations, daisies, baby's-breath and purple statice with blue ribbon streamers.

Cliff Reitzloff served as best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. R. Ken Reitzloff, of Buckingham Road. In the usher corps were Kenneth Rem, Philip Rem, of St. Louis, brothers of the bride; Paul Ewart, the bridegroom's brother-in-law; Jeff Brackett and Mark Steiber.

The mother of the bride wore a floor length gown of mint green Qiana, featuring a hand-made lace capelet. The bridegroom's mother chose a floor length gown of apricot chiffon with a matching chiffon capelet. Each mother wore an orchid wrist corsage.

Participating in the ceremony were the bride's brothers, Douglas and Lawrence Rem, and the bridegroom's brother, Cliff, who did readings. The bridegroom's cousin, Michael Oils, sang.

Among the guests was the bride's grandfather, Victor Hill.

Following a motor trip to the East coast with stops in Massachusetts, Vermont and Lake Placid, the newlyweds returned to make their home in Troy.

ROBERT W. BRADLEY, Jr., son of MR. and MRS. ROBERT W. BRADLEY, of Three Mile Drive, has been chosen a Presidential Scholar, one of 141 students designated for the honor from among three million seniors. Bradley, a graduating senior at the Interlochen Arts Academy, was awarded the Presidential Scholar medallion in early June. Bradley won National Honors in Scholastic Writing competition honors in the state Photography Competition for Professionals and Amateurs, the first award in Michigan Youth Arts Festival and the second in fiction in the Eastern Michigan University Writing Competition.

Fair stages art exhibit

Both professional and amateur artists will have a chance to compete for cash prizes, ribbons and critical acclaim when the 1981 Michigan State Fair stages its Seventh Annual Fine Arts Exhibit, Aug. 28 to Sept. 7.

Art competition categories include painting (watercolor, mixed media, acrylic, collage, oil, tempera); sculpture (any three-dimensional work made of durable material); prints (serigraphs, intaglios, woodcut, lithographs, etchings); drawing (ink, pastel, pencil, mixed media); and photography (color or black and white - minimum print size 8"x10").

Separate contests will be held for amateurs and professionals, with first place cash prizes ranging up to $200. Additional cash prizes will be awarded to the "best of show" in both professional and amateur sections.

Music for the ceremony was provided by a friend of the bride, Duane Colegrove, of Lansing. The song "Friends are a treasure," was especially written for the bride and was played and sung by Mr. Colegrove.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Harold Hertel, of Clearwater, Fla., and the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Rice, of Des Moines, Iowa.

Power boats star at Dossin

Highlights of the past 65 years of power boat racing in Detroit are on exhibit at the Dossin Great Lakes Museum on Belle Isle now through Aug. 2, for this year marks the 65th anniversary of high speed power boat racing in Detroit. The sport has become a major chapter in the history of the city, and the waters of the Detroit River in front of the Detroit Yacht Club are filled with stories of action, drama and deeds of heroism. Highlights of past races and stories of such great drivers as Gar Wood, Chuck Thompson, Bill Muncy and their boats, the Miss America, Miss Pepsi and Atlas Van Lines, are all presented as a record of the events that made this sport the greatest show on Detroit's waters.

The exhibit combines displays of power boat artifacts and memorabilia with the sights and sounds of 65 action-filled years, and is open to the public Wednesday to Sunday, from 10 a.m. to 5:45 p.m. On display are trophies, driver's uniforms, programs, models of famous power boats and a host of other material from such important races as the Gold Cup, Silver Cup and Harmsworth. Recordings of actual reports from historic races allow fans to return to the river as Miss Chrysler Crew flashed across the line to win the 1967 World's Championship Hydroplane Race. A film festival on Wednesdays and Saturdays presents the action and drama of the races on screen.

Marriage vows were spoken Saturday, June 20, in St. Thomas Catholic Church, Ann Arbor, by JANE CURRIE THOMSON, daughter of the Edward W. Thomsons Jr., of Ann Arbor, and Mr. Carron, son of the Patrick Carrons, of Peach Tree Lane.

Miss Thomson wed to Brian P. Carron

Newlyweds vacation in Toronto, will make their home in Texas where bridegroom is employed with Phillips Petroleum

A reception in the Vandenburg Room of the Michigan League in Ann Arbor followed the mid-June wedding of Jane Currie Thomson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wilson Thomson Jr., of Ann Arbor, and Brian Patrick Carron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Carron, of Peach Tree Lane.

Father Malcolm Carron, of the University of Detroit, officiated at the 1 o'clock ceremony Saturday, June 20, in Saint Thomas Catholic Church, Ann Arbor.

The bride wore a white taffeta gown draped with lace and netting and featuring a princess waist and a full skirt. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, gardenias, baby's-breath and carnations.

She was attended by Jane Fahlgren, of Grand Blanc, and bridesmaids Trudy McCron, of Scarsdale, New York, a sorority sister of the bride, and Ann Thomson, of Ann Arbor, a sister of the bride.

Each was dressed in a high-necked Victorian style blouse and flowered skirt, all in shades of blue, periwinkle and aqua. Three satin ribbons tied each skirt at the waist. Each attendant carried a bouquet of bachelor buttons, pale pink roses, carnations and baby's breath.

David Carron served as best man for his brother. Ushers included John Tuiloch, Michael Peters, Ron Carron, brother of the bridegroom, and Bruce Thomson, a brother of the bride.

After a vacation trip to Toronto, the newlyweds will make their home in Amarillo, Tex., where the bridegroom is employed as an engineer with Phillips Petroleum.

You can help children learn to 'use'

It took thousands of years for mankind to develop the skills and experience to make and use tools; almost every person repeats this basic process in early childhood by learning to "use" objects. "Growing Child," the monthly child development newsletter, points out that the first step in learning to "use" an object is to lift it, then bring it down on a flat surface like the floor or table top. This requires the ability to reach for and grasp an object. It requires coordination of the hand and the eye and will eventually lead to development of other manipulative skills. Movements learned at this time — about six months old — include picking up and holding objects with the thumb and forefinger of one hand and turning the wrist back and forth to examine the bottom of something. During this time of intense exploration, provide the six-month-old baby with plenty of objects to explore. Household items like plastic cups, spoons, jar tops, and pot lids will delight her. A baby learns to grasp and hold an object quite some time before she learns to let go of it on purpose. Her hold on the object just gradually relaxes until she drops it. She will reach and grasp equally well with either hand and will need a lot of practice before she develops a preferred hand. It is important, therefore, that you give the baby an equal opportunity to reach and grasp with either hand. You can help by always presenting her with a toy from directly in front so that she can reach for it easily with either hand. As the ability to reach for and grasp becomes better developed, the baby will learn more about the nature of the objects themselves. One thing she will explore is the sound an object makes as it strikes something else. In fact, after a baby is able to sit alone, she will do a lot of banging on things — against the floor, against the high chair tray, or on whatever surface happens to be near. You can give her an introduction to different kinds of sounds by providing items in pairs for her to bang. Blocks make wooden sounds, Spoons make metallic sounds, which are different from the metallic sounds of jar lids. And speaking of sounds: your baby isn't really trying to drive you crazy when she spends an hour banging a spoon against an aluminum pan. She's just discovering that when she moves her arm to hit the pan with the spoon in her hand, it makes a certain noise. It has a certain feeling, too. She may spend hours repeating the same sound, the same movement. She's learning the relationship between sounds, sights and feelings. More information about this subject and about the physical and social development of children up to six years old can be found by writing to Growing Child, 22 North Second Street, P.O. Box 620 N, Lafayette, Ind., 47902. When writing, include child's birthdate.

There's the coachman look, the trench with English details, the polo wrap and an irresistible all-weather reversible trench in fine wool chevron checks and Ultrasuede that makes walking in the rain a happy occasion. Mellon grant goes to DIA

A grant of $500,000 as an endowment for conservation services will be made by the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation to the Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts if matched by another $500,000, museum director Frederick Cummings announced recently.

The Founders Society, the Art Institute's private support group, has three years to raise its portion of the match, Cummings said, and to establish a $1 million permanent endowment for conservation purposes.

The Mellon gift for the Conservation Services Laboratory will enable the museum to provide scientific research and restoration for its collections and important works of art owned by state institutions and smaller museums throughout Michigan and the Midwest.

A portion of the income from this endowment will be used to train advanced conservation apprentices.

The matching grant continues the interest of the New York City-based Mellon Foundation in improving major conservation facilities throughout the United States and underwriting the training of professionals in this specialized field, according to the Art Institute's chief conservator, Abraham Joel.

Joel said that the new grant follows a gift made by the Mellon Foundation in 1979 through which interns were hired for a one to three-year on-the-job training program.

The Conservation Services Laboratory of the Detroit Institute of Arts, located in ground floor areas of the museum's main building, is now one of the largest in the United States. It operates at an annual budget of some $800,000.

In the last five years it has added sophisticated research and treatment facilities and recruited a 20-person professional staff of scientists, conservators and assistants. It services art in all media from the museum's own collections and offers conservation treatment and counsel to universities and museums of the Michigan region.

Historic scenes and portraits owned by the State of Michigan also receive treatment at the Detroit facility.

Both Cummings and Joel, recognizing that conservation is one of the principal functions of a museum, thanked the trustees of the Mellon Foundation for their support. This aspect of museum work, they said, is often hidden from public view, despite its importance in preserving the nation's patrimony of art.

National Cathedral Assoc. nears goal

The Eastern Michigan Chapter of the National Cathedral Association (NCA) met for its annual luncheon meeting on June 4 at Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, with Mrs. Henry Kinzie, president, presiding.

Charles Wheeler II came from Washington, D.C. to speak. Mr. Wheeler is chairman of the Pilgrim Gallery Building Fund and a trustee of NCA. He brought the happy news that two-thirds of the goal of 15.5 million a campaign goal has been achieved with assurances that the Gallery will be completed.

Mr. Wheeler appealed for continued support in small or large donations to complete the drive and stressed the need for continued growth in the membership of NCA. Of special interest to the assembly was his statement that Michigan is the largest contributor to the Cathedral Building Fund after the Washington area—District, Maryland, and Virginia.

Stone setting at the Cathedral has been proceeding on a pay-as-you-go basis and Mr. Wheeler stated that gifts of stones as memorials or in thanksgiving are coming in from all the states and from people of all faiths making it truly a national church. He gave an interesting insight into the monumental daily schedule of worship services and ministry of the national church to the Capitol community and the nation with much of the service being performed by volunteers.

During his visit to the Pointe, Mr. Wheeler was the houseguest of the Hudson Meads, of Washington Road.

He was the houseguest also of the Alexander Wieners, of Woodland Place.

Mrs. Wiener recently returned from Washington, where she attended the first meeting of the Anglican Communion Primates held in this country. Representing autonomous churches linked together by the Anglican Communion, 26 Primates from around the world convened at the National Cathedral.

Marching in procession at the Cathedral service in addition to these 26 world church leaders were the Right Reverend John Walker, Bishop of Washington, NCA

Trustees including Mrs. Wiener, Vice-President and Mrs. George Bush, and Officers of the Cathedral Chapter of NCA.

Music commissioned and performed for the 50th Anniversary of Christ Church, Grosse Pointe in 1981 by Wayne Dirksen, Organist and Choirmaster of the Cathedral was performed for the first time in the Cathedral at Evensong.

In other NCA news, The Right Reverend John T. Walker has announced that Washington Cathedral has received a $700,000 gift for its $15.5 million capital campaign from Mr. and Mrs. Joe L. Albritton, of Washington. The gift, which will be used to fund past and present construction in the west facade and Pilgrim Observation Gallery of the cathedral, brings the campaign total past 10 million.

Pointe board members of the Eastern Michigan NCA include: Mrs. Henry Kinzie, president; Mrs. Alexander Wiener, first vice-president; Mrs. George Zinn, Mrs. Donald Sweeney, Mrs. Anthony Vinci, Mrs. George Syler, Mrs. Gaylord Gillis, Mrs. George Reindel, Mrs. Robert Valk, and Mrs. Rueben Waterman.

It's Symphony Under the Stars time again

"Symphony Under the Stars," the delightful annual summer project of the Grosse Pointe Symphony Women's Association to benefit the orchestra, will be held on Friday evening, July 17, at Jacobson's in the Village, with Mrs. Lyndle R. Martin as chairman and Mrs. Gerald Bell as co-chairman. Mr. and Mrs. Vic Caputo are honorary chairmen of the event.

The evening will feature a sit-down champagne dinner in the St. Clair Room, with reservations accepted for either 5:30 or 7 p.m., followed by an 8:30 outdoor concert of light musical favorites, played by the Grosse Pointe Symphony, under the direction of Felix Resnick in the store's D'Hondt garden courtyard.

Soprano Catherine Grimshaw, a resident of Grosse Pointe Farms, will be the program's featured soloist, singing a tribute to Romberg, excerpts from "Kiss Me Kate" by Cole Porter, and her own composition "Freedom Song." It was the theme for the play, "Detroit: A Celebration of the Spirit," (requested by Mayor Coleman Young to be played at his last inaugural luncheon) was the theme song of the 1980 BPAA Convention in Detroit and was recently recorded as the theme of the 1981 Freedom Festival.

Ms. Grimshaw has sung with the Detroit Symphony at Ford Auditorium and also recorded with the orchestra. Among her current activities, she is director and hostess of the weekly "Opera Highlights" program on WCAR and also presents the arts calendar on Channel 2's "Sunday in Detroit."

Jacobson fashions for men and women will be informally modeled during the dinner hours by several members of the Women's Association and husbands, including Dr. and Mrs. Chester Bogan, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bell, Mrs. Martin Daher, Miss Mimi Perrano and former orchestra member George Skaff.

Little League season ends

The regular season for most of the Pointe Little League teams drew to a close last week. Following are the results of the week's action, compiled by Carl Anderson, Rick Semack, Dave Shraake, Kirk Gavey, Sheila Osann and Katie Elisia and JoAnn Hoffman.

In the Farms/City AAA league, Louisville's 12-2 mark was good enough for the season championship. Denver was in second and Hawaii third.

HAWAII-MEMPHIS

A 22-hit attack by Hawaii gave it a 23-9 rout over Memphis. Shannon Frame went 4 for 4 while teammates Tom Weyhing and Chris Marshall each got three hits for Memphis. Weyhing pitched three shutout innings of relief for the win. Levitan and Jenkins homered for Memphis.

HAWAII-HOLLYWOOD

A 12-run first inning was all Hawaii needed to down Hollywood, 18-6. Michele Zablocki got the victory. Hawaii's Brink Cawley had an unassisted double play and collected two hits, Weyhing and Andy MacLeod also hit twice. Hollywood's Stewart McLaren and Tarek El-Alayli went 3 for 3.

LOUISVILLE-NEWARK

Louisville drove in 14 runs in the first two innings to take a commanding lead over Newark, but an 11-run Newark outburst brought things close. Louisville held on to win, 15-13. Adam Franco and Chris Fisher pitched well for Louisville and had field support from Craig Butt and Peter O'Rourke. Fred Degrandis pitched well for Newark.

LOUISVILLE-MEMPHIS

Louisville capped the regular season with an 11-7 victory over Memphis last week. Laura Pkielek's second home run of the year and Walt Konrad's two doubles led Louisville to the win. Suprenant, Hill and Teraies each had two hits for Memphis.

HAWAII-PORTLAND

Cawley went the distance on the mound and added a home run to lead his Hawaii team to a 14-11 win over Portland. Frame homered and Sutherland, Naidow, Rabideau and Helminski collected hits. Andy Walker and Andy Bryant homered for Portland. Brian Gallagher and Tom Smith also drew hits.

DENVER-SAN ANTONIO

Denver opened up the game with a run-scoring double by Mike Semack, but a dispute over the San Antonio batting order ended the contest when San Antonio's manager pulled his team from the field. The action resulted in an immediate forfeit to Denver, which was credited with a 6-0 victory.

INDIANS-PHILS

In the Farms majors, David Caldwell was the winning pitcher as the Indians beat the Phils, 17-12. Lance Eriksen and Chris Pettit doubled for the Indians. Matt Aldrich, Jerry Henry and John Paul Hogan also added to the Indian attack. Dan Wimsatt homered for the Phils.

INDIANS-REDS

Henry went the distance on the mound for the Indians as they took a close one from the Reds, 4-3, last week. Henry picked up five strikeouts and led the team with a homer and a double. Pettit also homered.

YANKEES-PIRATES

The Yankees came from behind in the sixth to tie the Pirates, then went on to win in the seventh, 11-7. Billy Leonard pitched five good innings until the hitting of Mike Calcaterra, Brian Brooks, Steve Gedman and Kirk Haggerty proved to be too much. Haggerty was the winning pitcher, Calcaterra got the save. George Snow tripled and doubled and Andy Smith and Tim Kirchner added singles for the Pirates.

YANKEES-INDIANS

Gedman picked up his seventh win as the league leading Yankees topped the Indians, 22-1. Yankee hitters were Haggerty, Tim Jerome, Peter Droste, Sean Cleland, Brooks, Bill Gryzenia and Andre Bielski. Hogan and Scott Adlhoop pitched for the Indians, who got hits from Paul Sutherland and Matt Aldrich.

The Phils' Paul Zinn, Ray Echlin, Tom Lillensiek and Charlie Roby had hits. Jeff Lefebvre, Andy Kozak and Jamie Panghorn pitched for the Phils.

PIRATES-TIGERS

The strong pitching of Rick Leonard enabled the Pirates to knock the Tigers out of first as the Pirates won, 11-6. Kirchner paced for the Pirates, going 3 for 3 with three RBI. Dale Wilson and Billy Leonard had hits for the Pirates and Cliff Grabowski contributed a diving catch to stop a Tiger rally. Dave Fellows homered and Jim Dara went 3 for 3 for the Tigers.

ULS lacrosse team completes undefeated season

Romilly Stackpoole's ULS lacrosse team was victorious in seven contests and tied its last game against Kingswood to remain undefeated for the sixth straight year.

Defensive play was excellent throughout the season. Goalkeeper and team captain Evie Scoville allowed only 71 goals while averaging 15 saves per game. Robin Pierce and Heather Robbins provided consistent protection around the goal; defense wings Sarah Thurber and Kris Mighion, together with coverpoint Holly McKinley, consistently intercepted to keep the ball at the other end of the field.

Annie McMillan's talents as center were tremendous. Helping to bring the ball from defense to offense, she was the midfield connection especially valued on longer fields.

The offense played aggressively, scoring a total of 109 goals. Kelly Kirkpatrick was the leading scorer with 30 goals, Chrissie Tolleson scored 19 times. Liggett's passing game was most effective in a man-to-man situation; but faced with the zone defense of teams like Sacred Heart, the varsity came through with close, well-earned victories.

Francine Dobbin, coach of Liggett's junior varsity, led her team to an undefeated, untied season. Goalkeepers Kim Hoenle and Charlotte Seydel allowed only 15 goals, and the team's win-margin increased as the season progressed.

In early May, ULS hosted a tournament which featured Cleveland teams Laurel and Hathaway Brown. ULS also traveled to Pennsylvania to win the Midwestern title in mid-May. Although the lacrosse season is short, the Liggett team was a dedicated and highly skilled team, which, according to Coach Stackpoole, "displayed its dignity and poise on and off the field."

For the Red Sox, Rick Waugaman had two hits and two RBI, Brad Langs had two hits, and Scott Crane had two RBI with a sacrifice fly and a squeeze bunt. Kurt Maunz won his third game of the season. Later wins gave the Tigers the second half title to force a playoff with the Red Sox.

On June 22, the Tigers defeated the Yankees, 7-5. The Tiger offense was paced by Steve Reynolds' three run homer. Keith Kovalick's triple and Anthony Eugenio's two doubles. Kovalick won his fifth game of the season. The Red Sox defeated the Indians, 10-6, on June 24. John Williamson and Waugaman paced the Red Sox attack with two hits and one RBI each, while Langs and Maunz each contributed one hit and two RBI. George Ghazal led the Indians with a double and three RBI. Williamson was the winning pitcher.

On June 25, the Tigers defeated Simon (Woods), 12-8. Jeff Cunningham of the Tigers and Dave Waldeck of Simon pitched excellent baseball, with Simon leading 8-7 after six. When the Tigers tied the score and had the bases loaded in the seventh inning, John Menzo relieved Dave Waldeck for Simon.

After striking out the first batter, he was greeted with a two run single by Todd Tyrrell, a "suicide squeeze" by Kovalick, and a single by Matt Lane to up the score to the 12-8 winning Tiger margin.

Kovalick and Robby Wood each had a double for the Tigers. Menzo and Waldeck each contributed a double to the Simon cause. Cunningham earned his seventh victory of the season with excellent relief pitching in the seventh inning from flame throwing Mike Hall who struck out the side.

By winning the second half, the Tigers will play the Red Sox, first half winners, for the American League Championship.

The Red Sox defeated Colonial Federal Savings (Woods), 14-10, on June 28. The Red Sox offense was led by Maunz with three hits and four RBI and Mike McFarlane with three hits and three RBI. Williamson, Langs, Scott Crane and Steve Dara each added two hits for the Red Sox cause. Ty Zablocki of the Red Sox made the defensive play of the game. After catching a fly ball in left field, he made a perfect throw to home plate to retire the runner trying to score from third base. Maunz earned his fourth victory of the season.

In the All American League, the Brewers defeated the Expos (Park), 6-2, on June 10. The Brewer attack was led by Mike Santo and Mike Congdon, each doubled, and Kevin Doyle who had a triple. Key outfield plays were made by Doug Gray and Phil Supernight as they snagged line drives to hold the Expos in check. Walsh had a double for the Expos. Bill VanDerWyngaard won his second game of the season with excellent relief help from Rick Jungworth.

Wood is just the third coach from Michigan to be so honored and the Pointe's very first coach to achieve national status. Wood's ULS tennis team won its tenth straight state championship in June. Club girls end "best softball season ever"

The Neighborhood Club's girls' softball league season ended last week with championship games at Brownell and Messner fields—the culmination of 230 games played by over 555 girls on 34 teams.

The Neighborhood Club leagues began in 1966 with just four teams and have certainly come a long way. The girls are coached by volunteers and games are played weekday afternoons and evenings.

The program is the largest of all Pointe girls leagues. Teams play a regular season schedule of games then participate in a double elimination tournament. Following are the results of this year's tournament.

In the Midge League, seventh and eighth grade, the East Side Sporting Goods Puffs continued their unbeaten string as they slugged their way through the tournament and averaged 13 runs per game.

The Puffs defeated the Bosquett Blasters, 12-2, in the finals on June 19. Coached by Judith Whaley, Sarah Mebus and Sam Pulis, the team received excellent pitching from Michelle Ames and strong hitting from Ames, Kris Coddens and Dana DeSmyter.

The Puffs were the only team to win a championship while going undefeated in the regular season. The only flaw to a perfect season was a tie with the Blue Demons.

The Blasters, coached by George Maghielse and John Hoey, again found the Puffs to be tough in the finals—their only losses were to the Puffs. The Blasters were led by the sister combination of Sarah and Suzanne Rotta.

The Midge League, fifth and sixth grade, saw the top regular season teams go down early. The East Side Sporting Goods Sliders, after a 5-5 regular season record, went through the winner's bracket undefeated to capture the title.

Coached by Nancy Tewes and Mary Turner, the team really played well in the tournament and defeated Mr. McCourt's Go-Go-Girls, 6-0, in the finals. The Sliders were led by the pitching of Cindy Tewes and Amy Burgoyne and the excellent hitting of Tewes, Katy Turner and Barb Wingerden.

The Go-Go-Girls, after a 7-3 regular season record, lost their first round game in the playoffs and then came through the loser's bracket to win six straight and earn the right to play in the finals. They were led by Shannon Burns, Linda Knight and Kerry Daniel and were coached by Ken Kline and Bryan Bodle.

Dalby's Dollies also defied the odds as they turned around after a 3-6 regular season record and won four straight tournament games to capture the Midget League, third and fourth grade, crown. They defeated the Sine Realty Company Sluggers, 10-7, in the finals.

The Sluggers finished the regular season with a perfect record of 9-0, but the Dollies ended their dreams of a championship when they knocked them into the loser's bracket in the second round and then beat them again in the finals.

The Dollies were coached by Patricia Lees and Mary Kay Dawdlin and received outstanding performances from Kristin Pesar, Kendall Meade and Laura DeMercurio.

In the losing cause, Heidi Cartwright, Shana Sine and Laura Mott provided most of the hitting power for the Sluggers. They were coached by Carole Sine and Don Mott.

These teams represent the best of the 555 participants. The closeness of the competition was exemplified by the fact that two of the winning teams had records of .500 or below. Although these teams had that little extra something needed to win, all the teams played with exceptional skill and enthusiasm—making this season the best ever.

The Blue Division proudly presents the only undefeated team: D. M. Egan/Shilling's Tavern with a 7-0 record. Piper's Alley and Mack-Morris Standard are tied with records of 5-2. Connor-Park Florist hangs on with a record of 5-3.

Art Van Furniture and Moore Sign Company hold steady with records of 4-4. The Preppies are 3-5, Monahan Construction, 2-4, Cottage Hospital, 1-6 and Dinverno Rebel's 1-7.

The Inebriates have a 3-4 record followed by Ahee Jewelers at 3-5 and Flying Machine at 2-6. Metro Recovery Services and Valente's Men's Formal Wear bring up the rear at 1-7.

Club softball playoffs near

The playoffs for the 1981 Neighborhood Club Men's Softball League are just around the corner. As the start of the playoffs comes closer, the competition continues to get tougher. As of June 21, the standings were close.

In the Non-Competitive League, the Underdogs and Heatcraft are both at 7-1. Local 69 holds on with a 6-2 record, followed by Atsalis Brothers with a record of 5-3.

More L-Bow Room, Connolly Brown Gems, and Line Drivers are fighting for fourth place with records of 3-6. Flame Furnace and Nino's Market—J.C.'s No. 2 are at 2-6 and 1-7.

In the Over 30 Division,

City Limits and Goodman-Pierce and Associates take over joint leadership with seven wins and one loss. Suds in the Park has a 6-1 mark, followed by Michael-angelos' 5-3. Cal's Pizza at 3-4, is just above Club 500, Joe Muer's and Pointer Mispriants at 3-5. Grosse Pointe Woods—Spare Room and Blue Bombers are both at 2-6.

In the Competitive League, the Green Division holds fairly stable. Nino's Market hangs onto first at 7-1, with Smiley Brothers Music Co. following closely at 6-1. The Moosehead's are in third tied with Priem's Hole Bar, both at 6-2. Marge's Maddogs and Sud Duds are both 4-4.

P. G. Simon wins; playoff set

By Bob Waldeck
John Menzo hurled a one-hitter to pace P. G. Simon (Woods) to a 13-2 victory over the Red Sox (Farms) last Saturday at Kerby Field.

The win gives Simon an 8-2 record and a tie for the second half championship with Fluid Systems in the Woods-Shores Babe Ruth Automotive Division. Simon and Fluid were to play on Wednesday, July 1 (after press time) to determine a winner for the half.

Simon scored three runs in the first innings as John Ward and Dave Waldeck hit doubles, Menzo walked, Todd Binkowski sacrificed and Jim Carson smashed a double. Simon added five more in the second as Doug Stander and Greg Fobare drew walks. Ward singled and Waldeck doubled. Menzo then hit a long fly ball which was dropped and Bob Wujek scored Menzo with a sacrifice fly.

The Red Sox notched two runs in the third inning before Simon scored two runs in the fourth and three more in the fifth to put the game away.

P. G. Simon hitters included Ward with two singles and a double, Waldeck with two doubles and a single and Menzo with a double and a triple. Carson doubled and Charlie Tazzia and Wujek had a single each. Steve Dara got the lone hit for the Red Sox.

Other Simon players include John Russell, Bob Gessel and Dave Balcerzak. Bruce Keigen managers P. G. Simon and is assisted by Bob Waldeck.

Little League year ends

RED LEGS-YANKEES
The Red Legs edged out the Yankees, 10-9, in extra innings. A combination of doubles in the bottom of the seventh by brothers Ralph and Brian Mauk drove in the winning run. Tom Wood doubled for the Reds, James Adams, Marcus Wysocki and Sean Downey split the pitching for the Yankees. Adams claimed the team's only hit in the first inning.

RED LEGS-RED SOX
Pat Delaere pitched the Red Legs to a 6-1 victory over the Red Sox, striking out 13 batters in the process. Evan Frakes and Brendan Keating each pitched three innings for the Sox.

Caulkins net tourney is set

The Henry L. Caulkins II Tennis Tournament for girls and boys ages 18 and under will be held Monday, July 6 through Friday, July 10.

The tournament is open to residents of the Pointe and participants may play in any one singles and one doubles division. The events include boys' and girls' singles. Five divisions—10, 12, 14, 16 and 18 and under. There also will be boys' and girls' doubles in three divisions—12, 14 and 18 and under.

Cost will be 50 cents per event. Balls will be furnished by the tournament committee for all matches. Registration will be at the Neighborhood Club, 17150 Waterloo, but hurry as there will be a limited number of participants allowed.

Deadline for entries was Wednesday, July 1, at noon. Further information on the Caulkins tournament may be obtained by calling 885 4600.

Budget's biggest enemy
Few things in the family budget seem to rise faster than taxes. For example, from 1976 to 1979, transportation costs rose 31.9 percent, but social security and income taxes increased 36.8 percent.

American house as ever remains American dream

By David M. Maxwell
Smithsonian News Service

The single-family house, some maintain, is as obsolete as that other erstwhile icon of American life, the tail-finned, chromeplated, mini-mileage gas guzzler. Yet never before has anything considered so culturally dated been in more demand, more expensive or a better investment. Despite soaring mortgage rates and operating costs, the old home place is still a bulwark of the American dream, albeit one now in reach of only about 15 percent of potential homebuyers.

A related reason for this demand, says architect Warren Cox, moderator of a recent Smithsonian Resident Associate lecture series on the look, history and problems facing the American house, comes down to this fact of life: The home, like the inhabitant's dog, is often a tangible reflection of the class, culture aspirations and, not infrequently, the actual appearance of the residents themselves.

What do these "residents" look like today? And how are they changing to cope with the economic realities predicted to become even more severe during the 1990s? At the moment, the house coming off the architects' drawing boards is a structure that is fresh and contemporary, yet garbed with traditional architectural elements. It is a product of the modern design concepts of the 20th century—flat, geometric exteriors and open, spacious interior planning—but with references to the past, perhaps shingles, classical columns or bannistering.

"The eclectic tradition of earlier periods, discarded for several decades, is reviving now," award-winning architect Robert Stern, of New York, says. "Architects are again turning to the past for inspiration."

To a great extent though this describes the "architect's house," one custom-designed for a client able to afford a bit of experimentation, one where innovation flourishes because the penalty for failure is small.

Other homes, of course, are on the market. And today it seems that architecture is in a period of pluralism not seen since the Victorian age. There are solar-designed houses whose functional requirements dictate their appearances. There is a new interest in earth-sheltered houses. There are houses with built-in whimsy that spoofs earlier architectural periods.

And there are the mass-produced houses spreading across the landscape, some of them praised for their design "honesty" and others condemned for their "misuse" of materials and architectural styles.

This diversity however comes at a time when architecture and homebuilding are in the midst of crisis, the outcome of which is going to affect the way Americans live in future years. Just as the house of the 19th century reflected the lifestyles of that period with such features as cellars for food storage, verandas for summer nights and dining rooms to accommodate large families, today's economic realities are dictating the look of contemporary homes.

Because of inflation, high interest rates and energy costs, the trend is now toward smaller houses, way down from the 2,000-3,000 square feet of the 1950s. And once again, generations of families are sharing the same home, says Charles Moore, former chairman of the Yale Schools of Architecture.

"Like a lady," Washington, D.C.-based architect Hugh Newell Jacobson says, "the best house is polite to her neighbors and never shouts." This debate aside, there are certain characteristics that Americans yesterday and today seem to admire and seek in their houses. "I think," Warren Cox says, "that Americans have a distaste for heavy ornamentation in their houses. In their heart of hearts, I don't think they like all the elaborate-ness of European homes. Americans seem to like houses that basically are boxes with simple doorways."

Take a look at the earliest American houses: a simple, one-room "hall" of the 17th century and the Cape Cod cottage built by the Pilgrims. They were stark, gable-roofed, straight-lined, with modest entrances. The later classic homes of the 18th and early 19th centuries, though more elaborate products of careful design, in large degree continued the earlier attitudes of restraint that did not, Cox says, "tolerate showing off."

"The problem of affordability is our biggest problem," West Coast builder Robert Fisher agrees. "We are now seeing two unrelated families buying houses together, and in San Francisco we are taking units and dividing them in half."

"Large picture windows are no more," Fisher notes. The windows now going into houses are carefully considered for function and location. For example, passive solar systems, so simple in principle, call for windows on the south side of buildings to catch the winter sun and depend on awnings and nearby trees to provide summer shade.

Houses that rely on this approach still need conventional heating but may use as much as 75 percent less fuel than regular buildings, according to a recent World-watch Institute report. By the way: those fashionable rooftop skylights of recent years are terrible energy wasters; it is better to install them vertically, preferably high on south-facing walls.

Leading architects and builders also contend that another factor, red tape, is pushing real estate prices skyward. Government approval processes can be so time consuming, says Fisher, that in one project where $25,000 was budgeted for legal reviews and planning the costs soared to close to $250,000.

As a result of these review delays, Fisher believes, there will soon be a "backlash" as those who will pay for "anti-growth policies wake up and see they can't afford housing." Some states already have enacted so-called "anti-snob" laws whereby growth is permissible, unless it can be shown that a new housing project endangers life quality and natural resources.

But Fisher concedes he has no answer to how the delays inherent in the review process can be prevented or shortened.

Residential architecture today is being buffeted by still another factor: a debate within the profession over something called Contextualism, or how a building relates and blends in with its neighbors. This thinking marks a break from recent decades when architectural "statements" shot up over the landscape like giant ads for the originality and creativity of their makers.

"Like a lady," Washington, D.C.-based architect Hugh Newell Jacobson says, "the best house is polite to her neighbors and never shouts." This debate aside, there are certain characteristics that Americans yesterday and today seem to admire and seek in their houses. Mime course is offered Theater, mime and modern dance workshops will be offered at the Performing Arts Center at North High School under the direction of Bonnie Stein, Vit Horejs and Sherry Erskine.

Ms. Stein's background in dance and theater include studies of Japanese NOH theater in Tokyo. Ms. Erskine is the technical director for the Community Performing Arts Center at North High School. Horejs has studied mime in France and Poland.

For additional information and registration procedures on these programs, call the Department of Community Services at 343-2160.
