Social Security
Beware of 'extra' insurance sales

Should I buy supplemental health insurance to complement any Medicare coverage? Today's senior citizen frequently asks this question. The Social Security office has a free pamphlet called, "Guide to Health Insurance for People With Medicare," that provides basic information about Medicare, describes types of private health insurance, and offers some hints on shopping for private health insurance.

The pamphlet was developed through the efforts of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and the Health Care Financing Administration (part of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services) to help people make decisions regarding supplemental health insurance. At this time of the year new Medicare Hospital insurance deductibles are being announced and private insurance agents tend to be more active.

Sometimes people may tend to think that private insurance salesmen represent Social Security and the Medicare program based on their material and presentation. This definitely is not the case. Social Security can only provide details concerning the coverage under Medicare. Beyond this point the consumer must carefully consider the supplemental coverage offered from the private insurance company, its cost, and how it fills in where Medicare stops. "Buyer Beware" is still applicable in today's consumer marketplace.

The new Medicare hospital deductible for the first day's stay in 1981 will be $204. This is up from $180 applicable in 1980.

To get a free Health Insurance Guide or for more information, call the Social Security general information number at 493-1111 or visit the local Social Security office at 17420 Mack Avenue.

Irish festival at Civic Arena

The Fraternal Order of United Irishmen (FOUIs) will host the third annual Irish Festival at the St. Clair Shores Civic Arena Friday through Sunday, July 17, 18 and 19.

Festival hours are from 6 p.m. to midnight on Friday; from 2 p.m. to midnight on Saturday and from 1 p.m. to 11 p.m. on Sunday. The Civic Arena is located at 20000 Stephens (9 1/2 Mile Road) between I-94 and Harper Avenue.

Admission is $1 for adults. Children 12 and younger will be admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

Featured entertainer will be St. Clair Shores resident Charlie Taylor, often referred to as the best Irish tenor in the metropolitan area. Taylor, who was named Irishman of the Year by the United Irish Societies, is owner and entertainer at the Emerald Isle Irish Pub, 15000 Harper Avenue, on Detroit's northeast side.

Additional entertainers will include the Birmingham Celtic Pipes and Drums Band, the June Butler Irish Dancers and many other local Irish singers, dancers and musicians. Irish food, crafts and cultural exhibits will also be enjoyed at the festival.

"The St. Clair Shores festival provides a good opportunity for people from the east side suburbs and Detroit's east side to be introduced to Irish music, Irish culture and Irish dancing," said Joe Parsky, FOUI president. "Last year more than 3,000 people enjoyed the festival and we're expecting an even bigger turnout this year."

Festival proceeds will be used to support the work of the FOUIs (pronounced phooeys), a nonprofit charitable-social fraternal organization based at the Emerald Isle Pub. The FOUIs and other local organizations raised more than $20,000 at a party this spring to help finance the food program for the elderly at Detroit's inner city St. Patrick's Senior Center, Parsky said. In less than five years, the FOUIs have joined in sponsoring benefits that have raised nearly $65,000 and thousands of pounds of canned goods to assist the St. Pat's food program.

Negotiations

 membership's controversial hook-up with Local 1 in 1979 had a positive influence on contract talks that year.

Local 1 represents 16 school districts in Wayne and Macomb counties, whose unions joined forces three years ago to strengthen their positions at the bargaining table.

This spring, the school board agreed to join with several of those districts to form a "Local 1 Facilitator" program to act as a clearinghouse for information on bargaining strategies in each Local 1 district.

At the bargaining table in 1979, negotiators for both sides worked out a two-year pact for Grosse Pointe teachers calling for a 9 percent pay increase each year and improvements in life insurance and dental coverage.

The contract was tentatively approved only hours before teachers and librarians were set to walk the picket line. Grosse Pointe teachers have not walked off their jobs since 1969.

demolish the old building. In its contract letter to the schools, the Farms commits itself to demolition of the structure, at an anticipated cost of $40,000. Bremer said the estimated cost of renovating the building is between $50,000 and $70,000.

"We arrived at the $80,000 price tag by subtracting the demolition cost from the estimated $120,000 value of the building," said Bremer. "Quite frankly, if we renege on this deal, or do not demolish the building, the school board may begin to look for another bidder willing to pay the entire $120,000 price tag. There were a few other unofficial bidders out there willing to pay the price."

Bremer added that the city doesn't plan to even take possession of the property for another year and conceded that the Farms probably doesn't need all the parking spaces that will be added by converting the site to a lot.

But, he added, with Farms offices only 20 feet from residential lots, the city is attempting to downgrade, rather than upgrade its activities there.

Just before the vote, Farms Mayor James Dingeman affirmed the council's future plans for the building, saying the "plans had been in the works for nearly three years." He thanked the GPT for appearing before the council and invited them to approach again on the subject, but felt duty bound to point out that he couldn't offer the group "much hope".

Surf's up

 nationals, as well as the next World Windsurfing Competition scheduled for mid-September in Okinawa.

For Dianna, windsurfing is more than a sport. It's an artform that incorporates dancing and the laws of physics. "The student learns how to manipulate the sail, board and himself over the waves," she said. "You've got to learn to read the waves, the wind and know how to navigate. Getting out on the lake is easy. Getting back in isn't."

Dianna has a lot of respect for Lake St. Clair. With the number of boaters, heavy shipping traffic and strong currents, it's a very dangerous place. "I'll train a windsurfer not familiar with the lake how to survive on it and have a good time," she said.

"The length of time involved in learning depends on the student. Some will learn in a couple of hours, others in a couple of days. It's easier if egos don't get involved."

Business has been slow, but is picking up as the summer progresses. "You'll begin to see more and more windsurfers on the lake pretty soon," said Dianna. "In future years as the sport becomes more popular, including being an Olympic event, I think you'll see surfers all over the lake, like multi-colored gulls skimming over the water."

University Liggett seniors say goodbye, win awards

"The students of a century ago lived in a more orderly, more certain world. But their perspectives and the opportunities were severely limited by comparison with the open horizons that stretch wide before this year's graduates." Those were the words of President of the Board of Trustees, Theodore Mecke, as he opened the 100th commencement exercises of University Liggett School last month.

Seniors Mary K. Warren of Grosse Pointe and Curtis Doty of Detroit, both National Merit Scholars and headed to Harvard University, were the principal speakers at the graduation exercise. They were chosen by their classmates to speak.

Headmaster Ray Robbins awarded senior prizes. The Eleanor Clay Ford Alumni Service Award for unselfish and consistent service to the school was presented to Carlotta Ellison of Highland Park. The Alumni Award for service to the school was given to Anthony L. Alcantara of Grosse Pointe.

William J. Gore of Detroit, a National Merit Scholar enrolling at Princeton University, received the Headmaster's Award for combining academic excellence with meaningful and significant involvement in the life of school. William shared the two Trustee Leadership awards with Carol N. Crachio of Grosse Pointe.

In addition to Doty, Gore, and Warren, four other seniors were honored as Terrill Newman scholars: Linda Charbonier of the Woods and headed to Albion, Margot Van Osdol of the Farms and set for Princeton, Amy G. Durno of the Farms and enrolling at Dartmouth and Elizabeth S. Wahl of Detroit and off to Yale in the fall.

Diplomas were awarded to 67 seniors.

During her speech, senior speaker Mary Warren said. "We were developing our own interests and talents. But more important than talent, although there is a great amount of it in this class, is the variety of personalities we have. And more importantly we learned to respect our classmates for what they are, instead of avoiding them for what they are not."

Festival features Meister and Bender

By Irene Moran
The Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival presents its second concert of the 1981 season on Wednesday, July 15, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center, 32 Lakeshore Road. The series runs through Aug. 5 on consecutive Wednesdays, at 8:15 p.m.

Returning to the Fries stage on July 15 are Barbara Meister, soprano, and David Bender, tenor, in a program of songs from Broadway shows, Viennese operettas, the best of Jeannette McDonald and Nelson Eddy romantic duets and show tunes.

The program includes the duets "Indian Love Call" by Friml, "Kiss Me Again" by Herbert, and "One Kiss" by Romberg and Suite from "Porgy and Bess" by Gershwin. Among the solo selections, Meister will render "My Hero" by O. Strauss and Bender has selected "Glanina Mia" by Friml.

Since their last concert here in 1978, the romantic team has appeared with major symphony orchestras throughout the United States, including those in Denver, San Antonio, Baltimore and Milwaukee. They have just returned from successful engagements in Baden-Baden and Munich, West Germany.

Both artists have performed separately. Barbara sang the coloratura role of Adele in Michigan Opera's production of "Fledermaus" last fall, portrayed Julie in "Carousel," with the Milwaukee Symphony, and was Kathy in the "Student Prince" in Pueblo, Colo.

David has had numerous operatic engagements, including Lt. Pinkerton in "Madam Butterfly" in Wilmington, Del., and Binghamton, N.Y., and Eisenstein in "Fledermaus" in Rochester, N.Y.

Miss Meister spent two years training with the Metropolitan Opera Studio which prepared her for roles in New York City Opera.

David Bender has performed almost 50 operatic roles in New York, Santa Fe, Central City, St. Paul, Dayton, Toledo and Memphis. Bender won the Sullivan Foundation Grant, The National Arts Club Music Award, and was an Eastern Regional Winner of the Metropolitan Opera Auditions. He sang the role of Governor in Bernstein's "Candide" and leads in "The Student Prince" and "Merry Widow."

This leading man married Barbara Meister, his leading lady, and they have been touring together since with performances from New York to the West Coast.

The couple will have the support of two pianists, Bernard Katz and Alden Schell, giving lushness and variety to the accompaniment. They will offer their two-piano version of Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue."

Katz, a Detroit, has been busy in the entertainment world since his teenage years as a composer. He has frequently played for Grosse Pointe Theatre musical productions.

Alden Schell, a prominent accompanist, has played for many performing musicians in the Detroit area and throughout the Midwest. He also performs with chamber music groups and on occasions plays classic dinner music.

A reception in the Fries Crystal Ballroom follows each concert, giving guests an opportunity to meet the performing artists. Reception chairman Mrs. Lyndie R. Martin and her committee will be on hand to welcome everyone.

Each season the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Auxiliary, headed by president Mrs. Donald E. Draper, assists the festival with ticket-takers and ushers at the concerts. This summer's participating helpers are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. J. Addison Bartush, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Bodeau, Mrs. Frank Cusumano, Mrs. Donald E. Draper, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hamburger and Mrs. R. Gerald Jordan.

Also assisting are Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Kasza, Mrs. Richard W. Pascoe, Mrs. Lois Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Rousseau, (Mrs. Rousseau is in charge of the ushers), Gladys Solomon, Mrs. Jack W. Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Tompkins and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Warner.

The Music Festival opened its 24th season with a full-house success on July 8, featuring the renown pianist James Tocco (more on the opening concert in the next issue).

There are three remaining concerts scheduled. Mischa Kottler, Detroit's pianist laureate, will be heard in recital on Wednesday, July 22. The evening will commemorate Kottler's 80th birthday year. For the occasion, the second half of the program will be devoted to chamber music played by the Fontana Ensemble.

Next, on Wednesday, July 29, James Dapogny and his Chicago Jazz Band will play swinging, hand-clapping and foot-stomping ragtime and jazz as was heard during the period from 1900 to 1945. The Jazz Band performance will be staged on the lakeside terrace of the Memorial's Alger House. It is the only outdoor concert in the series. All other concerts are held in the Memorial's Fries Auditorium. However, in case of rain, the concert will move into the Fries Auditorium.

Pianist Stephanie Leon, winner of the first Festival Piano Competition, will close the season with a recital on Wednesday, Aug. 5, in the Young Artist Debut Concert.

Another popular festival attraction is the pre-concert picnicking. Friends and families may gather as early as 6:30 p.m. with their own picnic baskets and coolers or order picnic box suppers from the Memorial kitchen at $5 each by prepaid reservation three days in advance of each concert date. Weather not permitting, picnics move indoors.

Single concert admission is $8, with the exception of the Young Artist Concert, which is $5. Lawn admission for the Chicago Jazz Band concert only is $4. (Bring your own blankets and folding chairs). Children and student tickets are half price.

Advance ticket orders may be purchased at the Memorial Center from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Saturday, or order by check payable and mailed to Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association, 32 Lakeshore Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. 48236. Office telephone is 881-7511. Mrs. Sanford (881-1256) and Mrs. William O. Bradley, Jr ticket chairman (886-0079) are also taking reservations.

1940s-'50s 'film noir' series begins

James Cagney, Joan Crawford, Robert Mitchum, Burt Lancaster and many other Hollywood stars will be featured in "Thirteen Shades of Black," a new series offered by the Afternoon Film Theatre at the Detroit Institute of Arts now through Oct. 4.

Each week, Tuesdays through Sundays, a different Hollywood classic from the 1940s and '50s will be shown at 1 p.m. in the museum Recital Hall.

Tickets at $1 each will be available at the door only. Museum Founders Society members will be admitted without charge.

To obtain a descriptive brochure or arrange advance group reservations, call the Art Institute at 832-2730. Afternoon Film Theatre is a continuing Art Institute program which presents rare documentaries, original language foreign films with English subtitles, and art of the film. The current series explores the "film noir" genre, so-called for the films' dark, violent and cynical views of life in the urban environment.

The line-up includes:

- "The Phantom Lady," 1944, now through July 12.
- "Murder, My Sweet," 1944, July 14-19. Dick Powell stars as private investigator Phillip Marlowe with Claire Trevor in this search for a missing girl and stolen jewels.
- "The Postman Always Rings Twice," 1946, July 28-Aug. 2. Lana Turner and John Garfield play obsessed lovers who plot to murder her husband.
- "Out of the Past," 1947, Aug. 4-9. Robert Mitchum stars as an ex-detective with a fatal obsession for the young woman he has been hired to locate.
- "T-Men," 1948, Aug. 11-16. Treasury agents infiltrate a gangland mob of counterfeiters in Detroit, starring Dennis O'Keefe.
- "Brute Force," 1947, Aug. 18-23. Burt Lancaster stars as the prison inmate who leads a revolt against a brutal dehumanizing guard captain.
- "Gun Crazy," 1949, Aug. 25-30.
- "D.O.A.," 1950, Sept. 1-6. Edmund O'Brien plays a man who spends his last three days solving his own homicide.
- "Kiss Tomorrow Goodbye," 1950, Sept. 8-13. James Cagney stars.
- "The Asphalt Jungle," 1950, Sept. 15-20.
- "The Big Heat," 1953, Sept. 22-27. Fritz Lang directs this story of an honest detective, played by Glenn Ford, working in a totally bought-out police force.
- "Kiss Me Deadly," 1955, Sept. 29-Oct. 4. This film features private eye Mike Hammer hot on the trail of a stolen plutonium shipment he must locate before it falls into the hands of a Los Angeles mob.

Valuable job tips on cable

Each week four state employees come together from four corners of Detroit and tip people off to where the jobs are. The four MESC workers host Detroit's newest public service TV program, "Jobscene."

Cox Cable TV of St. Clair Shores welcomes the combined resources of Howard Smith, Marian Lloyd, Brenda Hill and Phillip Patrick as they assemble job information and record the half hour television program. Each program contains over 16 job listings from the metro area, qualifications and salary levels, and valuable tips for how to handle the job interview.

According to Cox Cable TV director Kirk Groeneveld, guests on the program have ranged from an ambassador discussing openings in the Foreign Service, to major employers in the Detroit area.

"The Jobscene program marks the first time Detroit cable TV systems have coordinated to pass valuable job information on to the unemployed man-on-the-street," Groeneveld said.

The "Jobscene" program is sent to six cable systems in the Detroit area, from St. Clair Shores to Lincoln Park.

Thieves hit twice in Woods

Two burglaries were reported to Grosse Pointe Woods Police in separate incidents last weekend.

On Saturday, July 4 police determined that entry was made to a home on Aline through a rear window. Investigation showed that the home was slightly searched and only a small brown and white dog was reported missing.

On Sunday, July 5 police say a 1978 Oldsmobile parked in the St. John Hospital lot was hit by thieves who punched out the trunk lock and stole a set of golf clubs.

Schweitzer is new trustee

Paul Schweitzer, of Grosse Pointe Woods, president of Schweitzer Real Estate, Inc., Sterling Heights, has been elected to the board of trustees of the Michigan Heart Association, according to board chairman Marion VanderVeen.

Schweitzer is a member of both the national and Michigan Associations of Realtors and a member of nine local real estate boards. He will serve a three-year term on the association's sixty-five member board of trustees, through June 1984.

Others elected to the board of trustees were Walter M. Baird, M.D., F.A.C.P., of Lansing; John G. Bielawski, M.D., of Dearborn; Gussie Brown, of River Rouge; M. Charles Etter, of Kalamazoo; Robert Fezzy, of Farmington Hills and Robert Fortney, of Detroit.

S. Phillip Grillo, M.D., of Belleville; Allan Hellard, Jr., M.D., of Detroit; Richard D. Judge, M.D., of Ann Arbor; Harold A. Kwast, Ph.D., of Midland; Jeffrey Ledis, D.O., of Flint; Kathleen Mostek, R.N., of Bay City; Paul Nida, of Troy; Richard Remington, Ph.D., of Ann Arbor; Louis E. Rentz, D.O., F.A.C.N., of Birmingham; Albert Sparrow, M.D., of East Lansing; George Sternberg, of Ray City; Vernon Wendt, M.D., of Grand Rapids and Steven A. Weshalek, D.D.S., of Allen Park were also elected.

Officers elected were Marion VanderVeen, of Jackson to chairman of the board; Donald DuCharme, Ph.D., of Kalamazoo, president; Kamin Smith, Ph.D., of Lansing, chairman-elect of the board and Lawrence Zgliniec, M.D., of Pontiac, to president-elect.

Seymour Gordon, M.D., of Royal Oak, was elected first vice-president; Sybellia Barsch, R.N., B.S., of Marquette, is second vice-president; Dorothy Harr, of Jackson, is secretary, and Theodore J. Krause, of Detroit, was elected treasurer.

It's 'subimago' time in the Pointe

By Jill Chapman

Every year, Grosse Pointe is invaded by dreaded "fishflies." They congregate around street lights, swoop down into the faces and hair of passing bikers and walkers, and cling to the walls and windows of buildings, while producing a distinctive, foul odor.

These slimy, gruesome creatures that are swept from screen doors each morning and crunched beneath feet on city sidewalks, arrive on land according to the nation each summer, according to Dan Lawson, graduate assistant at Michigan State University.

"Fishflies," also dubbed June bugs and Canadian soldiers, are officially called Mayflies and are from the genus, hexheenia. Although they are almost unanimously unwelcome, Lawson said we should appreciate the massive swarms which appear. "If you don't see them," he explained, "then you've got problems in your lake."

Mayflies will not survive where water pollution is extreme. People around Lake Erie are happy to see them back after a few years' absence as a sign their lake is getting cleaner, said Lawson.

Born in shallow parts of lakes and rivers, Mayflies leave their habitat after a year or two to mate every summer. Swarms gather over the water and females lay their eggs on the surface, then adults die within one or two days.

We must endure the insects on land, because in order to become sexually mature, Mayflies cling to a flat surface and molt. Called subimago, this process is unique to the species.

While in lakes and rivers, nymphs, immature Mayflies, actually do serve an ecological purpose as food for higher orders of fish.

Asked why the "fishfly" season

Photo by Tom Greenwood. Residents should be ecstatic to see all those hexheenia skins each morning, for it means the lake is clean enough to sustain the insects so they can reproduce and return next year.

Wine Lines

by John Lundberg

In earlier days of wine making, there was no real need for corkscrews since there were no corks as we now know them. Wine has only been bottled in the modern way since the turn of the 17th century. Corks were used just as stoppers and jammed into the bottles. Eventually, the concept of aging wine was developed, and this necessitated a securely imbedded cork. With that, came the necessity of a mechanical means for extracting it, and, hence, enter the corkscrew.

To meet the needs and desires of man—a goal that is carried on in a fine tradition at PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE, 17255 Mack, Corner of St. Clair, Detroit. Our shelves are stocked with the beers, wines and party goods that our customers seek and are so important to their lifestyle and happiness. PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE is your beverage store that strives to meet your distinctive tastes and enhance your finer moments. Open 10-10 Mon.-Thurs., 10-11 Fri. & Sat., noon-6 Sun. Tel. 885-0626.

WINE WISDOM:
The secret to uncorking a wine bottle is centering the corkscrew and screwing it in far enough.

Saint John residents graduate

St. John Hospital recently held its annual Resident Staff Graduation Ceremony in the Peter A. Whyte Memorial Auditorium.

There were more than 30 graduates whose medical careers will take them all over the United States and Mexico. Robert E. Birk, M.D., of Stratford Place, director of Health Education, welcomed the graduates and guests.

Glenn A. Wesselmann, of Lake Shore Lane, executive Vice-President and chief operating officer, spoke to the students and wished them well in their medical careers.

James J. Humes, M.D., of Lochmoor Boulevard, vice-president for Medical Affairs and director of Laboratories, introduced guest speaker, C. H. William Ruhe, M.D., senior Vice-president of the American Medical Association.

Dr. Ruhe received his B.S. and M.D. degrees from the University of Pittsburgh, and served his internship at Western Pennsylvania Hospital. He served as Associate Dean at the University of Pittsburgh prior to joining the staff of the American Medical Association in 1960 as Assistant Secretary to Council on Medical Education and Hospitals.

Other posts he's held with American Medical Association include Associate Secretary for the Council on Medical Education; Assistant Director, Division of Medical Education; Director, Division of Medical Education; and Group Vice-President for Medical Education. He was named to his present post as Senior Vice-President for Scientific Activities in 1976.

Dr. Ruhe is a popular contributor to scientific publications and has published over 30 papers and some 20 editorials. He is a member of the American Physiological Society, American Association for Advancement of Science, and Sigma Xi.

Presenting certificates for their particular specialties were John H. Burrows, M.D., Flexible Program; Lucian Capobianco, M.D. and Christopher Goldsby, M.D., Family Practice; Francis M. Wilson, M.D. and Annesley Abey, M.D., Internal Medicine; and Dr. Wilson and Ali Rabbani, M.D., Combined Medicine/Pediatrics.

Dr. Rabbani and Hadi

Sawaf, M.D., Pediatrics; Joseph A. Grady, M.D. and Larry Lloyd, M.D., General Surgery; Minuchehr Kashef, M.D. and Michael Prysak, M.D., Obstetrics and Gynecology; and James J. Humes, M.D. and Herbert Krickstein, M.D., Pathology also presented certificates.

One of the highlights of the evening was the presentation of the Clinic Day Awards by Drs. Birk and Humes. Capturing first place for his paper "A Minnesota Multiphasic Personality Study of Mitral Valve Prolapse Syndrome Patients," was Jere Baldwin, M.D. of Kingsville.

Second place winner was William A. Shapse, M.D. of Sloan Drive, for his paper on "Diabetes: Pregnancy and Neonatal Outcome: A Retrospective Analysis in a Community Hospital."

Third place winners were Laurence E. Briski, M.D., "LDH Enzymes in Acute Myocardial Infarction," and Dennis C. Kabasan, M.D., of Audubon "Thrombophlebitis in a Community Hospital." First place winner received $500, second place winner $200, and third place winners received $100 each. These papers will also be published in the next issue of the Saint John Hospital Medical Bulletin.

Dr. Birk announced that Saint John Hospital has admitted into its residency programs 34 new residents and fellows.

State cuts back roadside mowing

State Cuts Back —24bi-3— Grass and weeds will be allowed to grow more this year along many state roadsides. The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT), which maintains approximately 9,500 miles of state highways and freeways has been gradually reducing its roadside mowing for two decades. This year, however, the cut-back may be more evident than ever before.

It's part of an ongoing effort to hold down spending from maintenance as highway tax revenues decline and costs, fueled by inflation, continue to soar. All state highways north of M-20, which runs east and west across the Lower Perinsula, will be mowed just once during the summer. Those south of M-20 will continue to be mowed twice.

The total width of areas mowed in the medians of freeways and other divided highways will be reduced from as much as 90 feet to 30 feet. Areas parallel to cross-overs on medians will not be mowed.

"We feel our mowing program has been reduced to the absolute minimum consistent with driving safety," said Donald Orner, MDOT's chief maintenance engineer. "To cut back any further might create some hazards in terms of clear-vision areas for drivers, and that is something we will not do." Orner said there are some benefits to reduced mowing. It saves wear and tear on equipment and reduces fuel consumption as well. Also, hundreds of miles of naturally landscaped roadside emerge, often more attractive than the manicured variety. The transportation department is continuously searching for ways to improve roadside maintenance. In cooperation with the federal Soil Conservation Service, it recently began an experiment using salt tolerant grasses, wild flowers and hybrid grasses along a portion of newly reconstructed M-99 between Lansing and Eaton Rapids. It is aimed at finding a ground cover requiring a minimum of care and mowing.

Larsen to speak for 14th GOP

The next meeting of the 14th District Republican Committee will be held on July 16, 8 p.m. at the new district headquarters in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Guest speaker will be Mel Larsen, chairman of the Republican State Committee. The public is invited.

On June 26 and 27, the Michigan Republican State Committee held its quarterly meeting at Superior State College in Sault Ste. Marie which was the first time the committee has held a meeting in the Upper Peninsula.

The keynote address was given by Republican National Committee Deputy Chairman, Charles Bailey who spoke on the various ways to win a political campaign.

Pointers who attended the two-day meeting were Earl Heenan, III, Sue Olde, Elden Andrews, Jane W. Reuther and Alfred R. Reuther, Jr., chairman, 14th District Republican Committee.

Memorial carillons ring July 14

Music for Bastille Day will be the theme for the carillon recital, Tuesday, July 14, at 7:30 p.m. William De Turk, director of Music and Carillonneur of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, will present the program of French music from many periods, including original French music for carillon, folksongs, transcriptions of French music from other media, and of course the Marseillaise.

The tower of Memorial Church will be open to the public during the recital so that those desiring to climb the 44 steps may see the carillonneur in action, can view the 47 bronze bells (weighing from 15 pounds to over two tons).

De Turk was recently appointed University Carillonneur and Adjunct Assistant Professor of the University of Michigan, and was re-elected to a third term as president of the Guild of Carillonneurs in North America.

Members of the audience may wish to bring a lawn chair or blanket and sit down by the lakeside to enjoy the activity on the water as well as the activity up in the tower. Others may remain in their parked cars or stroll around the church grounds. The hearty, interested ones will be climbing the tower!

Two homes hit in the Park

Two breaking and enterings were reported in the Park during the last week of June, one at a home on Bishop Road, the other on Devonshire.

Police were called to the Devonshire home at about 11:30 a.m. on Saturday, June 27, after the resident returned from three days out of town to find the home ransacked, according to police. Thieves apparently entered the home through a kitchen window.

The resident reported about $600 worth of television sets and jewelry missing.

The Bishop Road home was apparently burgled while its residents were at church on Sunday, June 29, according to police. The residents returned at about 2:30 p.m. to find the rear door window smashed and a camera and color television missing.

Police have a suspect in the burglaries, and are continuing their investigation, according to Park Police Chief Henry Coonce.

84th division plans reunion

The 84th Infantry Division Rallsplitters Society is trying to round up their World War II Comrades to let them know the 84th is alive and going strong.

Educators cite Duvall

Former assistant supt. of schools in Grosse Pointe, Dr. Elven Duvall, was last month inducted into the Michigan Educational Hall of Fame. Duvall was elected through nomination by the state Parent-Teacher Association.

Duvall's 35 years as a teacher, administrator, university professor include his tenure as assistant superintendent of Grosse Pointe schools in 1961. Throughout his professional career, he has been a consultant for the Michigan Department of Education and was appointed to the governor's advisory committee on educational reform in Michigan.

Last month Duvall was elected president of the state PTA, an organization he has been active with for more than 12 years.

In its nomination to the Hall of Fame, the PTA cited Duvall for "leadership, knowledge and experience... (which has) contributed much to education in Michigan."

Prime Time
For Senior Citizens

By Marian Trainor
Hang up your sweaters and throw open your doors. Summer is finally here. Meteorologists proclaim June 22 as the arrival of summer but pragmatists know differently. They know that June is a flirt—warm, fragrant and lovely one day; cool, rainy and sloppy the next. July fulfills every promise of summer. July days awaken, freshened by the cool night, bathed in the glory of the rising crimson sun, melodious with the trilling of flitting birds, verdant and fragrant with dew rising from rainbow-hued blossoms.

July is a temptress, a siren, an enticement. Gaudy with color, voluptuously warm, seductively perfumed she lures even the most reluctant stay-in-the-house to come forth and enjoy her favors. July is summer in all its glory and promise.

Now is the time for leisurely walks in the stretched-out hours of evening, eating outside on the patio or just sitting under the limitless sky in the yard with a book and a cool drink.

For older people it is a time of freedom from the confines of the house. The hazards of winter—chilling winds, icy sidewalks and long, dark days are over. Summer's July is a release and a renewal. It provides a setting that enables those who have endured winter's discontent to break away from winter's routine and to enjoy the bounties of nature.

JULY IS therapeutic. The long, warm days make living easy and everyone feels young again no matter what their age. If nature can recover from the ills of winter with such aplomb, surely the human spirit can experience that same resurgence and renewal.

However if this is to be accomplished, it is important to relinquish one's self to the blessings of July's summer. Bask in the sun, breathe in the air, and above all partake of July's bountiful foods. There is nothing more important to assure good health and vigor at any age than good nutrition.

Forget the coffee and roll breakfast, the tea and cake lunch, the soup and sandwich dinner. If you can get there, go to the Eastern market, a roadside stand or a local fruit market and select those fruits and vegetables that will make mealtime a joy and contribute to your good health and zest.

Just visiting a market at this time of year will stimulate your appetite. It is a real treat for the senses. The greens of fresh lettuce and spinach, cantaloupe cut open to expose the orange juiciness of its meat, watermelons round and oblong, plain and striped with little peephole wedges cut out to show how red and ready they are from eating; strawberries, blueberries, corn and broccoli and summer's favorite, the tomato are there for your choosing. If you only go once, don't miss the sights and sounds of the market in July. The memory will linger on in the dearth of winter when by necessity you turn to canned and frozen foods. Looking at those pallid offerings you will recall with pleasure how good they were in their original state and will smile as you think, "I knew you when..."

Summer passes too soon but the benefits will remain if the daily diet has included the fresh foods that are so plentiful and nutritious in this giving season.

Proper nutrition is an effective means of maintaining good health and minimizing degenerative changes in the later years. Nutrition is the cornerstone of preventive medicine. Curative medicine has undeniably played a major role in health improvements since 1900.

Equally undeniable are the enormous effects of preventive measures such as a sanitation, immunization and the provision of a diet adequate in the required vitamins, minerals and other food elements. It is only through properly nutritious diets that older people retain the capacity to remain active and productive.

MANY PEOPLE pay for improper eating with poor health. But changing bad habits can have a positive effect at any age. For example, more than one study has shown that some of the adverse effects of smoking on pulmonary function are reversible merely by quitting the smoking habit.

Recognizing the enormous contribution adequate nutrition could make toward improving health, the National Institute on Aging has given very high priority to research on the nutritional status and requirements of the aged.

One of the studies conducted by the NIA was the effect of overweight. Curiously enough their studies indicated that the mortality rate appears to be lower in individuals who are currently classified, on statistical grounds, as being obese. There appeared to be some beneficial effects of mild and even moderate obesity in older people. The conclusion was the mechanics of these effects and their relationship to the ideal or desirable body weight in older people deserved additional research.

Other findings indicated that the need for protein in older people was at least as great as in younger age groups; that sufficient roughage and water must be included in the diet to preserve bowel regularity and also because recent evidence suggests that roughage may be useful in reducing the risk of diverticulitis and cancer of the large bowel; that there is a variation in drug responses in older people—for example, deficiencies in fat soluble vitamins such as A and D in older citizens are frequently due to the interference in absorption caused by the use of the common laxative mineral oil which drain away the fast-soluble vitamins.

Osteoporosis, a skeletal disease characterized by decreases in the amount and strength of bone tissue is another concern of NIA. The reduction of mass and density of affected bones makes them weak and "porous," and more susceptible to fracture. Recent surveys indicate that osteoporosis is more widespread than arthritis and about three times as common as diabetes. Although osteoporosis is thought to result from a combination of factors, chief among these causes is nutrition. Studies have shown that among the most important measures for preventing osteoporosis are a sufficient calcium intake, a diet adequate in protein and other nutrients and possible treatment with vitamins and other nutritional supplements.

In support of this recommendation Dr. Donald Whedon, Director of the National Institute of Arthritis, Metabolism and Digestive Diseases cited research findings comparing osteoporotic patients with patients of the same age who did not have the disease. These findings suggested that persons with osteoporosis tend to have a lower calcium intake. Studies also showed the patients showed improved storage of calcium as its intake was increased—for instance by drinking more milk.

IT MAY SEEM like a big jump from the joys of July to the ills brought on by poor nutrition but the subjects do relate. One of the joys of July is the opportunity of feasting on good, fresh food bursting with those nutrients that will nourish and revive the body and keep it running through winter's parsimonious offerings so that that body will be around next July to once again enjoy summer's matchless beauty and munificence.

Social Security
People nearing 65 must act

People nearing 65 who are not already receiving social security benefits should contact the nearest Social Security office two or three months before their birthday, according to James T. Moslener, district manager of the local Social Security office at 17420 Mack Avenue.

These people should do so in order to be sure that they have full Medicare protection the month they reach 65. This is true even though they have no retirement plans.

It is not necessary to file an application for monthly social security benefits to become eligible for Medicare. People who are continuing to work can still have Medicare protection beginning the month they attain age 65. Persons who don't file for Medicare before they become 65, may enroll in any month and have coverage beginning the first day of the third month after the month in which the enrollment request is filed.

People should have certain evidence available when they contact the office. This includes their social security card or a record of the number; proof of their age, preferably a birth or baptism record made shortly after birth; and a W-2 (Wage and Tax Statement) or tax return for the previous two years.

Moslener said people who don't have this information should not delay contacting Social Security. Staff at his office can suggest other evidence which may be used.

People can get full information about Medicare and social security monthly benefits by visiting the local office at 17420 Mack Avenue or by calling the Social Security general information number at 493-1111.

Park tennis tourney set

Grosse Pointe Park will hold its annual Tennis Tournament from Sunday, July 19, through Saturday, July 25. Applications are now available at the main gate, Windmill Pointe Park.

Applications will be accepted by the Recreation Coordinator only from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. July 8 to 15. No applications will be taken after 9 p.m. July 15. Seed sheets will be posted in the old bathhouse on July 17.

The fee for the event is $2 per child, per event and $3 per adult, per event. All games will be played at Windmill Pointe Park and Three Mile courts.

Among the events offered are girls' and boys' singles, mother-daughter, father-daughter, mother-son, father-son, mens' and womens' singles and doubles and mixed doubles.

Entries are open to Park residents only and participants are limited to three events: one singles, one age group doubles and mixed doubles. Each person must submit an application and the deadline must be observed.

There will be an awards party for the presentation of the trophies at the conclusion of the tournament. The date and time will be announced during the tournament week.

Further information may be obtained by calling Betsy Cross at 822-2812.

Woods thieves snatch rings

A tray of 12 wedding bands was reported missing Tuesday, June 30 from David's Pointe Time and Jewel Shop on Mack in the Woods after two suspicious subjects were in the store. Police were told two subjects entered the store in the afternoon. One engaged in conversation with a salesperson while the other stood by the door. The pair left separately and about two hours later the tray of rings was discovered missing, police said.

The art of tiffany glass . . .

Ron Joseph of the City Glass Company in Grosse Pointe Park says it takes about 40 hours to complete the tiffany lamp pictured next to him. Some lamps have as many as 2,000 pieces that have to be singly cut and soldered together. Joseph, whose skillful hands have been performing the craft for the last eight years, says he first draws a sketch of the finished product to establish a working pattern. The colored glass is then cut according to an identical second pattern. Each piece is then ground and copper foil is placed around the smooth edges ready for the solder process. The work is then "fluxed" or cleaned before it's set into place on a wooded mold and soldered together. The wooden mold is removed and a metal base is inserted through the tiffany shade. Joseph says the tiffany lamp is so-named after U.S. painter and decorator Louis Tiffany, whose designs have become world-famous.

Charter attacks are off-base

Now that Wayne County's proposed home rule charter has been formally presented to Gov. William Milliken for his review, political foes have begun sniping at the document either because it goes too far in certain directions—or doesn't go far enough.

Such criticism is to be expected but it also ought to be answered even though nobody claims the proposed charter is perfect. Like most political documents, it is a product of political compromises which were needed to win its approval, just as the legislation authorizing the drafting of the charter contained compromises that limited the charter commission's authority and were adopted for the same reason.

But despite the document's weaknesses and shortcomings, most of which were the product of these compromises, this newspaper believes the advantages clearly outweigh the disadvantages.

Furthermore, some critics are grinding their own political axes. A case in point is the suit brought by two Detroit charter commissioners and two other citizens against the charter on grounds that improper procedures were used by the charter commission to reduce the number of county commissioners from 27 to 15. True enough, some Detroit residents and suburban citizens oppose the reduction in size of the county board for fear of loss of local representation. In Detroit, there are also fears a strengthened county government could limit the powers of the city of Detroit and its mayor, Coleman Young.

But these critics ignore the fact that the smaller board means each individual commissioner will be more visible and thus more accountable to the public even though he will be representing approximately 155,000 county residents as compared with 86,000 at present. Furthermore, critics also ignore the fact that the new county board will be solely a legislative body and will be relieved of its administrative powers and responsibilities, which might even make it possible for it to become a part-time board, and thus will be a less political threat to the mayor and the city of Detroit.

In effect, the complaining charter commissioners had argued that the charter had gone too far by trimming the size of the board but their case was dismissed by Circuit Court Judge Victor Baum on the grounds courts generally do not set aside substantive actions by legislative bodies on procedural grounds.

YET ANOTHER critic, George

F. Killeen, the senior member of the board of county commissioners, has announced his opposition to the charter because it didn't go far enough. He contends he is opposed primarily because the charter offers no changes in the county road commission structure, drain commission, department of public works, civil defense functions and civil service.

But the charter commission did not have complete authority to reorganize the county government. The law under which the charter commission was established limited its powers with respect to the road commission and the elected officials, for example, and the commissioners obviously could not go beyond the law.

Killeen also concentrates on weaknesses in the proposed charter and ignores changes which ought to increase the efficiency and effectiveness of the departments he complains about. The new chief executive officer, for example, will be empowered to "supervise, coordinate, direct and control all county facilities and operations" unless otherwise specified by the charter. In other words, for the first time someone will be really in charge of the county store, whether the chief executive officer is appointed or elected.

George E. Ward, the Detroit attorney who is president of the charter commission, naturally takes a more optimistic view of the proposed charter. He is enthusiastic about the charter's chances for voter approval and believes the commission put together "an efficient, accountable governing document that is better than any of us dared to expect when we came together charged with the responsibility of creating a new government for the county."

One of the reasons the proposed charter is as good as it is can be explained by the quality of some of the commissioners. Among them Barbara Gattorn of the Pointes has been outstanding with her input and thus reflects great credit to the voters who elected her to the commission.

What is happening now, of course, is the start of the political campaign on the charter proposal which will be on the November ballot if it clears the review by the governor and the attorney general. But since the critics already have begun their attack, it is time for those individuals and organizations which support the charter proposal to organize their own campaign. It would be disappointing if the proposal were defeated because of public ignorance or apathy.

We don't need CLOUT

With the city of Detroit making progress in meeting the conditions of the state's legislation to rescue the city from near bankruptcy, a new threat to the bail-out program has appeared on the horizon. Fortunately, however, at this time it appears to be no more than a small speck representing State Sen. Gilbert DiNello of East Detroit.

DiNello, the only legislative conferee to oppose the legislation authorizing the increase in the Detroit city income tax on commuters from one-half of 1 percent to 1.5 percent, now is starting a statewide initiative petition drive to reduce the rate to its former level. He would leave the city's new rate for residents at 3 percent.

We do have to give DiNello a plus for creating a new acronym, CLOUT, which means the Commuters Lobby Opposed to Unfair Taxes. But we doubt that he has much chance of getting the needed 229,377 signatures to put the issue of reducing the commuter tax on the November, 1982, general election ballot.

In the first place, he is proposing to scuttle part of the bail-out program for Detroit without suggesting any alternative. He apparently is unconcerned about the effect on the city, the area and the state of the city's inability to meet its financial obligations. He's only concerned about the increased tax load on commuters.

But other legislators who opposed the increase in the commuter tax at least came up with alternatives such as a state package of special aid for distressed cities which would have been financed by all residents of the state and not just by residents of Detroit and those commuters who work in Detroit.

State Sen. John Kelly even advocated an aid program requiring contributions by all metropolitan residents, not just those who live and/or work in Detroit, as well as increased taxes on corporations, not just in Detroit but in the region. Such a program presumably would avoid putting such a heavy burden on Detroit residents and corporations that it would drive more of them from the city.

UNFORTUNATELY, Kelly's approach moves in the direction of metropolitan government which is anathema at the moment in both the city and suburbs. In Detroit, the black majority sees any move toward metropolitan government as a possible dilution of its political power. In the suburbs, the white majority fears any such move would increase its taxes to support Detroit.

But Kelly at least recognized that "If we fail to assist our cities which face default, it will could mean economic disaster in our region of the nation as well as the bankruptcy of our state government." DiNello, on the other hand, merely offers the appealing argument about taxation without representation without admitting that commuter taxes long have been ruled constitutional. Our point is that it would be disastrous if CLOUT were to succeed without providing some alternative to make sure Detroit does not go down the economic drain.

OSA in search for 'Super Seniors'

The search is on for the most outstanding senior citizens in the state. The State Office of Services to the Aging (OSA) and the Michigan State Fair are looking for outstanding citizens who, through contributions made to their communities, merit the title of Senior Citizen of the Year.

The awards, one for leadership and one for service, will be presented at Senior Citizens Day at the State Fair on Monday, Aug. 31. Applications are currently being taken by the State Office and will be accepted up through Aug. 7.

Kenneth Oettle, director of OSA, says this marks the sixth year that his office and the State Fair have joined forces to recognize outstanding older Michiganians.

"Each year the number of applicants increases and the job of selecting those most qualified becomes substantially difficult. This state has just a wealth of talented, dedicated and civic-minded older people," Oettle said.

Oettle said nominees for the awards will be judged on activities over the past year, but that involvement in service and leadership roles over a number of years will be taken into consideration. Anyone age 60 or older is eligible to receive the award. Only organizations may submit nominations.

For more information or an application, contact the Area Agency on Aging nearest you or write OSA, P.O. Box 30028, Lansing, 48909.

Top ratings for Ch. 56

Detroit's WTVS/Channel 56 attracted the fastest growing audience of any PBS station in the top 20 television markets during both the November and February ratings periods, according to a recent PBS analysis of Nielsen figures.

Nielsen reported that an average of 540,000 households tuned in to Channel 56 each week in February, 1981 (not including Canadian and outstate cable TV viewers), an increase of 33 percent since February, 1980. That represents an audience growth rate for WTVS which is more than triple that of the average growth for PBS stations (11 percent), and exceeds even WTVS's own top-ranking figure of 30 percent, enjoyed by the station when comparing November, 1980 to November, 1979 figures.

Examples of Nielsen growth figures for other major market PBS stations during the February, 1980-81 period include WGBH/Boston at 6 percent; WNET/New York and KCET/Los Angeles, each at 12 percent; WETA/Washington, D.C. at 13 percent; and WTTW/Chicago at 16 percent.

"We are anticipating an even larger audience for Channel 56 next year for several reasons," projects WTVS President and General Manager Jack Caldwell. "Our 24-hour broadcast day, which began June 1, is already bringing more viewers to the station. In addition, a better TV signal will reach more people after we install a new antenna this fall."

Improving the Channel 56 signal by means of a new antenna and other equipment modifications was one of the major goals Caldwell set for the station when he took his present post two years ago.

"We're pleased with our recent, phenomenal audience growth," Caldwell added "but we're still nowhere near the numbers we ought to be."

Pointe Soroptimists celebrate quarter century

Society

Section B

Soroptimist International of Grosse Pointe, an organization that began with 18 members a quarter century ago, will be celebrating its 25th anniversary Friday, July 10, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. There are more than 50 Pointe Soroptimists now, and they can be found in virtually all fields: the roster includes women in education, medicine, finance, insurance, investments, research, opticianry, pathology, nutrition, photography, interior design and pharmaceutical work, as well as the owners and managers of some of Grosse Pointe's finest retail establishments.

Given such a group, composed entirely of professional and business women, it's not surprising that Pointe Soroptimists' accomplishments over the past 25 years are almost too numerous to list. The organization commands respect. It has been financially supportive of many services dear to the hearts of Grosse Pointers, from the Foundation for Exceptional Children to the War Memorial, the Grosse Pointe Public Library, the Family Life Education Council and Meals on Wheels for senior citizens.

The Pointe Soroptimists have provided typewriters for local braille transcribers, equipment for physical therapy, enormous help to needy families... and much, much more. Under their current president, Nancy Davidson, they are nearing completion of their third (since 1979!) $10,000 pledge to Cottage Hospital. This money was raised largely through the group's annual art show/cocktail party. Local artists are invited to show and sell

Robert Jones weds in Niles

Robert Allen Jones, son of Mrs. Joyce Jones, of Fairway Drive, and Robert E. Jones, of Detroit, claimed Debra Lee Toler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Douglas Toler, of Niles, as his bride Saturday, June 27, at an evening service in Niles' First Presbyterian Church.

The 7 o'clock ceremony at which The Reverend William J. Fuerstenau presided was

The Jeffrey Mielnickis

Married Saturday, May 30, at a mid-afternoon ceremony in Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore to Mr. Mielnicki, son of the Zigmund Francis Mielnickis, of Troy, was JACQUELINE MARIE WESKEL, daughter of the Francis John Weskels, of Hillcrest Road.

Mielnicki-Weskel vows exchanged

Polish Century Club reception follows afternoon ceremony; Venise lace accents silk organza bridal gown

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Zigmund Mielnicki vacationed in Toronto, Montreal, Vermont and New York following their wedding Saturday, May 30, in Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore, and will be making their home in Kalamazoo until they are graduated from Western Michigan University.

Mrs. Mielnicki is the former Jacqueline Marie Weskel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis John Weskel, of Hillcrest Road. Mr. Mielnicki is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Zigmund Francis Mielnicki, of Troy.

Out-of-town guests at the 2 o'clock ceremony, at which Monsignor Francis X. Canfield presided, and the reception at the Polish Century Club included the bride's grandmother, Mary Ruppel, who came from Fort Myers, Fla., and the bride's sister, Clarice Weskel, of Miami, Fla.

The bride chose a silk organza gown, styled with a Queen Victoria neckline, a bodice of Venise lace, a chapel length train and an A-line skirt edged in matching lace.

More lace accented her mantilla, which fell from her wrist corsage. The bridegroom's mother selected a dress of silver-grey crepe de chine with an overlay of orchid chiffon. Her wrist corsage also was fashioned of yellow rosebuds.

Summer Arts Festival planned in Ann Arbor

The 11th annual Summer Arts Festival presented by the University Artists and Craftsmen Guild will feature 500 Guild artists selling original hand-crafted pieces Wednesday through Saturday, July 22 to 25, on State Street and Main Street in Ann Arbor.

Media includes ceramics, painting, drawing, jewelry, sculpture, leatherwork, wooden toys, photography, fibers and leaded glass. Live entertainment will be presented in front of the Michigan Union during the fair, which runs from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday.

Set Cesarean birth classes

The first in a series of childbirth classes designed to help couples prepare for the birth of their baby by Cesarean Section will begin at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday, July 15, at Warren's Bi-Century Hospital.

The program of four weekly classes is sponsored by Cesarean Birth Information, a division of the non-profit Childbirth Information Service, Inc. Registration may be made and additional information about the series obtained by calling the registrar, Judy Cheney, at 293-8312.

Family Day at Pewabic

Two features share the annual Family Day program this Sunday, July 12, at Michigan State University's Pewabic Pottery on East Jefferson Avenue: a demonstration of Raku, the Japanese pottery firing technique, in the courtyard during the 1 to 5 p.m. event, and the introduction of an exhibition of recent clay works by the Lifelong Education facility's teaching center faculty in the Pewabic Gallery.

The exhibition will continue during the pottery's regular hours, noon to 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays, through Aug. 29. Parking and admission are free. Proceeds from exhibition sales will help keep Pewabic operating as an educational institution; transfer of pottery ownership from Michigan State University to the Pewabic Society, a non-profit foundation, is to be completed by Oct. 1.

Cehula-Wilson rites are read

At a family ceremony Friday evening, June 19, in Immanuel Lutheran Church on Chandler Park Drive, Myra Lynn Wilson, daughter of the Paul Wilsons, formerly of Barrington Road, now of Enterprise, Ala., and James Douglas Cehula, son of Joseph Cehula, of Maryland Avenue, and the late Barbara Cehula, exchanged marriage vows.

Pastor William Heil and Pastor Emeritus Constantine Trued officiated at the 7 o'clock rites. Ann Wilson attended her daughter. Joseph Cehula was his son's best man.

The reception was held at the summer home of the bride's parents, in Harbor Beach. The newlyweds will make their home in Chicago where the bridegroom, who received his degree in Building Construction Management June 13 from Michigan State University, has taken a position with the Turner Construction Company.

Second Discovery Days Macomb YWCA Session

The Macomb YWCA is accepting registrations for the second session of its Discovery Days, a recreation and enrichment program for children ages 6 to 12 which opens Monday, July 20, and will run for four weeks on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 10 a.m. to noon.

Fees are $48 for YWCA members, $53 for non-members. Along with general recreation the program will highlight science and art, featuring such activities as drawing and painting, nature study, crafts, botany and astronomy. Field trips will include nature hikes and visits to the Detroit Science Center and Planetarium.

Further information may be obtained by calling the YWCA, located on East Ten Mile Road in East Detroit, at 772-4435.

Show awards presented by Pointe Rose Society

Winners in the Grosse Pointe Rose Society Rose Show, held June 19 and 20 at the Central Library, are related with their awards. There were 23 first places, indicated by the blue ribbons attached to the winning flowers and placed on the tables when the judges had completed their choices.

A new division has been added to the show. It is the Memorial Division. Its three classifications are in memory of three outstanding Rosarians recently deceased: Angelo Taveggia, Elmore Frank and Arthur Shimmin. These outstanding people not only were talented in the art of growing roses; each also possessed that special quality of sharing himself with others.

The Taveggia Award, for three hybrid tea roses, all different, went to John Stephens for "Chrysler Imperial," "Pascination" and "Royal Highness."

The Gold Certificate, for Queen of the Show, was awarded to Margaret Young for "Aquarias." The Silver Certificate, for King of the Show, went to William May for "Portrait." The Bronze Certificate, for Princess of the Show, was also earned by Mr. May, for "Pristine." Muriel Stoetzer won the Certificate for Best Climber Spray, "Rhonda." Mary Currie won certificates for "Cherish," Best Floribunda Spray, and Best Polyantha Spray, "China Doll."

In the Miniature Rose section, Paul Desmet won the Gold Certificate for Queen of the Show for "Peaches and Cream." Amy Stephens claimed the Silver Certificate for King of the Show with "Kathy Robinson."

Fernande Biglin won the Bronze Certificate for Princess of the Show with "Paint Brush." Best Miniature Spray went to Mr. Desmet for "Hi-Ho."

Beautiful arrangements made by Pointe Rose Society members dominated the show; many were breathtaking. Class 1 — Religious Heritage, was a floral arch of coral bells, "Chicago Peace" and "Gene Boerner," arranged by Mary Currie. Class 2 — Sailing on Lake St. Clair, was won by Peter Biglin who used "New Day," "Oregold" and "Garden Party."

Class 3 — Lovely to Look At, was for novices: members who had never won a blue ribbon in any arrangement class. The entry, described as a colorful mass arrangement using mostly roses, was won by Lucille Bell with "Aloha."

Class 4 — In Dad's Honor, was won by Fernande Biglin. The design used three roses and an accessory honoring Dad. Fernande chose "Red Radiance" and delphinium.

Section B, for men only, was won by Peter Biglin whose Class 5, Today's Hobbies, arrangement was entitled Yankee Doodle. The Gold Certificate denoting Queen of Arrangements was awarded for this display.

Mary Dziuba was the winner of the miniature arrangements with "Lavender Jewel." She received the Gold Certificate for Queen of the Show. An English Box won a blue ribbon for William May.

A table for dining was exhibited by Mrs. Peter Biglin. The theme was oriental. White china edged in a border of blue, red and green was displayed on a cloth of royal blue. A stemmed vase contained red roses and blue delphinium.

Betrothed

The engagement of PATRICIA SUSAN PEREZ and Donn Matthew Fresard has been announced by her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Carlos Perez-Borja, of Coventry Road. An early August wedding is planned.

Miss Perez holds a Bachelor of Business Administration degree in Advertising from Western Michigan University and a Bachelor of Arts degree in Art from Wayne State University.

Mr. Fresard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fresard, of Mount Clemens, also holds a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from Western Michigan University. He will begin studies at the University of Tennessee School of Law in September.

He is a past-president of Beta Theta Pi social fraternity and a member of Phi Eta Sigma academic fraternity.

DBC to focus on Caribbean

An evening of Caribbean food and music, with the steel drum of Marge Glossop featured at poolside, the dance band of Art Quatro and an appropriate buffet, is planned for Detroit Boat Club members and guests beginning at 6:30 p.m. next Wednesday, July 15.

Chairmen of the event, during which prizes will be awarded, are Mr. and Mrs. Phil Dexter and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zanetti. Their party committee includes Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Bush, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Halton, Clara Dixon, Anne Mahler, Sax Vollker, Barbara Romzick, Sue Jones, Joanne Armbruster, Helen Cope, Joan Clark and Peg Lewis.

How to greet the new baby

Bringing a new baby home is a big event for a family. It can also be a trying time for siblings who may suddenly feel left out or unwanted. Growing Child, a monthly child development newsletter, has this advice for making the arrival of a new baby a happy occasion for everyone:

• When you arrive home, put the baby down and appear to ignore him while you greet the other children and make a big fuss over them. They will then discover the baby and quickly make him their own. Let them touch him, unwrap him and hold him if they want to; that may take a little control on your part, but they won't hurt him.

• Let the other children help take care of the baby as much as possible. There are many small chores they can do which will make them feel included and needed.

• Don't be surprised if the youngest child in the family regresses to thumb sucking or wanting a bottle like the baby. Take a little time to spend alone with the child to repair his ego. He needs to know that you still love and want him, even though there's another person around who's getting the attention.

• You can assure the older ones that you love them as much as before, but that the baby needs extra attention while he is small.

You can get more information on this subject and on the physical and social development of children up to six years old by writing to Growing Child, 22 North Second Street, P.O. Box 620N, Lafayette, Ind. 47902. Include your child's birthdate when writing.

Nude featured in Graphic Arts

An exhibition, "The Nude: Prints, Drawings and Photographs from the Permanent Collection," recently opened in the Schwartz Graphic Arts Galleries of the Detroit Institute of Arts and will remain there through Sunday, Sept. 6.

Featured are about 170 works selected by Marilyn Symmes, associate curator, to present an historical survey of male and female images done as studies from life or as idealized figures.

Both old and modern masters are represented. "The classical Greek ideal of male perfection is exemplified in the print Apollo Belvedere by Dutch master Hendrik Go'tzius," Ms. Symmes notes. "We are also showing superb drawings after the model by famous French artists Francois Boucher and Edgar Degas."

"The bather theme — often an artistic excuse to render female beauty — is evident in works by Manet, German Expressionist Otto Mueller and Picasso," she adds.

The exhibit includes prints by 16th century artists Albrecht Durer, Hans Sebald Beham and Marcantonio Raimondi, plus master drawings by Pierre-Paul Prud'hon and Max Klinger and important 19th and 20th century prints by Jacques Villon, Paul Cezanne, Henri Matisse, Erich Heckel, John Sloan and Philip Pearlstein.

The photographic section features recent acquisitions of studies by Thomas Eakins, Paul Outerbridge, Harry Callahan, Imogen Cunningham, Ruth Bernhard and Edward Weston.

The exhibit is open to the public without charge during regular museum hours: 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. Gallery talks on "The Nude" will be scheduled in June and July.

Those who've planned ahead will, however, be armed not only with tickets but with excellent brochures, compiled by Mrs. Jay Jodway and Mrs. Richard Henritze, listing the features to look for in each garden and including a map. The brochures come with the tickets, and will also be available at the gardens during tour hours.

Each garden on the tour will be marked with a green flag. You'll be amazed at the variety: there are garden pools as well as swimming pools, splashes of color from annuals and perennials, trees planted in large containers, hanging baskets, statuary—even vegetables in a formal bed.

This year's tour takes in The Cooper Garden on South Edgewood Drive, The James Babcock Garden on Lakeshore Road, the Grosse Pointe Garden Center's exquisite Trial Gardens lakeside at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, The Whiteley Garden on Lakeland Avenue, The Marcks Garden on Three Mile Drive, The Babcock Garden on Bedford Lane, The Domzalski Garden on Windmill Pointe Drive and The Chalot Garden on Middlesex Boulevard.

Featured too are the Lakeshore Plantings. Since 1964, the Grosse Pointe Garden Club Council has been planting trees along Lakeshore Road. Proceeds from the last three Grosse Pointe Garden Tours have enabled the Council to step up its Lakeshore planting program, adding over 100 trees since 1978.

Refreshments will be served at The James Babcock Garden, overlooking Lake St. Clair. Mrs. Bert Lindzay is in charge of this phase of the tour program. Boutiques are being prepared by the Detroit Garden Center's Upstairs Shop and Suburbia Garden Club, which will offer a selection of plant and garden ornaments.

Tour planning has been going on for the past year. Mrs. L. Carl Sultzman, assisted by Mrs. Robert Trinklein, appointed chairmen and supervised the general tour arrangements.

In all, over 200 Grosse Pointe garden club members will be called upon to help make the 1981 Garden Tour a success. Most will be acting as hostesses and cashiers, under the aegis of Mrs. H. Amesberry Powell. Other committee chairmen are Mrs. Marion P. Wiant, tickets; Mrs. Kenneth Stekete, name tags; Herbert Ralph, flags and signs; Mrs. Frances Huntington, posters; and Mrs. Urban W. Boresch, publicity.

Directions and/or further information concerning the tour may be obtained by calling any of the following numbers: 881-1938, 881-4173, 775-7787, 331-0600.

A Special Celebration

Woods residents Caroline and George Menold celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary on June 23—but not in the traditional manner, for Caroline, recuperating from a heart attack, was in Bon Secours Hospital. Nonetheless, Caroline would not be cheated of her party. There was a cake, provided by some of the Bon Secours nurses, and a few close family members gathered to toast the couple amid flowers, get-well cards and congratulatory messages.

And Caroline won't be cheated out of her larger celebration. She and George assure us they will celebrate the occasion to a greater degree at a later date, when Caroline is home again and fully recovered.

Music in The Garden

Adding a festive surprise touch to the Grosse Pointe Garden Center's Membership Tea and Garden Party scheduled for this afternoon at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial will be music provided by a string quartette in the gazebo on the lawn.

The players are Mrs. George Peterson and Alan MacNair, violins; Mrs. David Seaver, viola; and Mrs. Minka Christoff, cello.

Soroptimists celebrate

Since Soroptimist is an international organization, the local club maintains contact with sister groups around the world, particularly in Denmark and Mexico.

And yes—the good times do roll! Fun and laughter are part of the Soroptimist life. Over the years, the group has enjoyed splendidly planned gourmet dinners, nights at the race track, picnics, wine tasting parties and beautifully hosted Christmas parties.

With little or no publicity, this organization has quietly and efficiently accomplished a multitude of helpful services for the community. Grosse Pointe Soroptimists deserve to kick up their heels and celebrate at a Silver Anniversary party. And they will.

Fife and drum muster days

The crack of musket fire, the boom of drums, the trill of fifes — sounds of the American Revolution — will be heard again this Saturday and Sunday, July 11 and 12, during the combined Colonial Military and Fife and Drum Muster at Greenfield Village, largest of its kind in the Midwest.

Featured will be military units from Michigan and eastern states and fife and drum units from the Midwest and East, all dressed in period uniforms.

Each day begins with a noon parade from the Village Green to the Activities Field and ends with a massed music parade. In between there will be military drills, artillery demonstrations, mock battles and musical performances. Colonial campsites will re-create the typical surroundings of the Revolutionary foot soldier.

Village visitors can enjoy this event at no additional charge beyond the usual Village admission of $8 for adults, $4 for children 6 to 12. Children under 6 are admitted free.

Vacation Bible School at St. James Lutheran

Vacation Bible School at Saint James Lutheran Church, McMillan Road near Kercheval Avenue, offers two weeks of music, arts and crafts, recreation and fun built around the theme "Good News! Jesus Loves You" to children ages 3 to 11.

The school begins Monday, July 20, and continues through Thursday, July 30, running from 9 to 11:30 a.m. each weekday morning. Cost is $4 for one student, $8 for two or more children per family. Registration may be done in advance by phone, 884-0511 or 882-4551, or in person on July 20. Pre-registration is appreciated.

Co-directors are Phyllis Bergmann and Marilyn Smith. The teaching staff includes Barbara Clausen, Nancy Swartz, Janet Van de Wyngaerde, Linda Wortman, Edna Bakewicz, Sue Carson, Deborah Dixon, Judy Purdy and Brenda Bregge.

That's wonderful!

Congratulating Farms resident MARTHA REINOWSKI whose Rum Nutty Wonderfuls took first prize in the Candy Category in Sanders First Annual Recipe contest is JACK SANDERS, chairman of the board of Fred Sanders Company. Another Pointer, Park resident Marilyn McCafferty, was among the 25 finalists whose creations were judged June 9 at the Detroit Press Club by a six-person panel that included a 10-year-old boy who sought a Saturday morning job at Sanders to "taste all the candy you ship out to all the boys and girls" and Douglas Grech, owner and chef of Restaurant Duglass. The 25 recipes, each requiring the use of one of the company's toppings as an ingredient, will be assembled into a cookbook co-sponsored by a charitable organization for distribution in all 50 Sanders stores and other outlets. You'll have to wait until that book comes out to try Marilyn's Hot Fudge Bunch of Crunch Crepe, but here, to whet your whistle, is Martha's prize winning contribution:

RUM NUTTY WONDERFULS

- 4 Cups Devils Food Chocolate Cake Crumbs
 - 2 Squares (1 ounce each) semi-sweet chocolate
 - 8 Tablespoons Sanders Bittersweet Topping
 - 1 Tablespoon strong coffee (1 Teaspoon instant coffee granules dissolved in 1 Tablespoon hot water)
 - 1 Tablespoon Vanilla
 - 1 Tablespoon rum extract or flavoring
 - Ground walnuts, pecans or toasted almonds in which to roll the rum balls.
- Bake a single layer of Devils Food chocolate cake in a 9-inch round cake pan. Cool for at least 4 hours or longer. Day-old cake is even better. In a large mixing bowl crumble half of the cake into small crumbs. Gently measure out 4 cups of crumbs. DO NOT PACK DOWN crumbs in measuring cup. In a small pan, heat the semi-sweet chocolate squares just until melted. Remove from heat. Add the Sanders Bittersweet Topping, coffee, vanilla, and rum flavoring to the melted chocolate. Stir well to mix. Add the chocolate mixture to the cake crumbs and stir together until all ingredients are thoroughly combined. Using rounded teaspoonfuls, measure out enough to make 1-inch round rum balls, shaping them in the palms of your hands. Roll the finished rum balls into finely ground walnuts, pecans or toasted almonds. Store, covered in refrigerator.

This recipe uses only half of the cake. Double the recipe if you wish to use all of the cake.

Yield: 48 1-inch rum balls.

Good tests useful

The trouble with achievement testing in colleges, business and government is not that there is too much testing but that there is too little good testing, according to a Michigan State University specialist in educational measurement and research.

Robert L. Ebel, professor of Education and Psychology, says most of the trouble lies in frequent use of "poor tests, hastily put together by untrained, unskilled, part-time test makers." Minorities, teachers, students and research scholars all would suffer from avoidance of testing, says Ebel.

Low scores received by minorities on tests, he adds, reflect the damage inflicted by inadequate education. Opposition to testing "surely is not in the long-run interests of blacks and other minorities."

Busy Meadow Brook week

Meadow Brook Music Festival, a cultural program of Oakland University, opened its third week Tuesday night, July 7, with The Great Dane Victor Borge in a benefit concert for Meadow Brook Hall and the Music Festival.

Czech violinist Joseph Suk appears with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra Thursday and Saturday nights July 9 and 11. He will perform Bach's Concerto No. 2 in E tonight and Berlioz' Harold in Italy for viola on Saturday. Meadow Brook Artistic Director Neville Martin will conduct both nights' programs.

Music by Mozart and Borodin is featured this evening, music by Mozart and Gounod on Saturday.

Tony Bennett performs tomorrow, Friday, July 10, and the Kingston Trio returns to Meadow Brook to sing 50's favorites "Tom Dooley," "MTA" and other hits in a Sunday Pops Concert July 12. The winners of the International Barber Shop Quartet Competition, which will have just been held at Cobo Hall, will appear on stage at the same time.

An added attraction at the Sunday concert is the Festival Fair, to be held in the Oakland tent on the Festival grounds. Gates open at 4 p.m. for this event, sponsored by the Meadow Brook Women's Committee, which offers balloons for children, antiques, objets d'art, Meadow Brook blankets, umbrellas and picnic baskets, home-baked goods, handcrafted items and the new "Festival of Picnics" cookbook. Personal checks will be accepted.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday concerts start at 8:30 p.m., Saturday Children's Concerts at 11 a.m. Sunday Pops Concerts start at 7:30 p.m.

All concerts are held in Baldwin Pavilion on the Oakland University campus in Rochester, with entrances on Walton Boulevard and Adams Road. Over 7,000 people can sit in the pavilion and on the lawn. The grounds are open two-and-one-half hours before evening concerts for picnicking or dining at Trumbull Terrace.

Tickets, dinner reservations and program information may be obtained by calling the Festival box office, 377-2010. Tickets also are available at all Convenient Ticket Company locations, Sears and Discount Records in Birmingham.

Park Garden Club to meet

A summer outing is in store for members of the Park Garden Club, who will gather for a noon luncheon meeting on Monday, July 13, at the Harsens Island home of Mrs. Frederick J. Schumann. Mrs. Richard Mertz will assist Mrs. Schumann.

Mrs. Schumann, who is a long-time resident of Harsens Island, will give a short history of the island's many lakes. Mrs. Mertz will speak on the resources of the Great Lakes and their inexhaustible supply of fresh water.

At the club's annual meeting in June, Mrs. Walter G. Levick was elected president; Mrs. Ralph M. McKenney, first vice-president; Mrs. John A. Ross, second vice-president; and Mrs. Charlette M. Babcock and Mrs. Hillaire VanHollebeke, recording and corresponding secretaries.

The group's treasurer is Mrs. Ramon Brinkman. Mrs. Schumann serves as parliamentarian.

An early August wedding is being planned by CAROL SUZANNE STEININGER and J. Michael Banas whose engagement has been announced by her mother, Mrs. John R. Steininger, of Notre Dame Avenue.

The bride-elect, who is also the daughter of the late Mr. Steininger, is an alumna of Grosse Pointe North High School and holds a Bachelor of Arts degree and a Master of Urban Planning degree from Michigan State University.

She is a Registered Professional Community Planner-State of Michigan, and is currently employed as City Planner in Southfield.

Her fiance, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Banas, of Detroit, was graduated from Benedictine High School, Detroit, holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Michigan State University and is currently a student at Detroit College of Law.

He also is a State of Michigan Registered Professional Community Planner. He is currently employed as a client representative with the engineering and planning firm of Wade-Trim Associates.

A perfect Polish Night at Press Club

By Irene Olejniczak Moran

It was an evening of fun, music and festivity at the Detroit Press Club's recent Polish Night party. The event, one of the annual ethnic galas scheduled for club members and their friends, was revived last year by Judge Benjamin C. Stanczyk.

Polish hospitality began with a 6:30 p.m. cocktail hour. Salutations of "Na zdrowie" (to your good health) were exchanged over Krakus Beer and Polish Mead (honey wine). After the thirst quenchers, a buffet dinner of Polish dishes prepared by Club Chef Charlie Pace included "poledwica" (roast pork loin), "kielbasa" (sausage), "galabki" (stuffed cabbage), "smazgonowa zryba" (pickled mushrooms) and "pierogi" (dumplings). "Chrusciki" (angel wings) and brandied torte desserts ended the meal. Attractive menus with Polish motif designs by artist Hope Reussmann decorated the tables.

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Roland L. Olzak kept the evening's activities rolling as toastmaster. He acknowledged the party committee and the many Polish dignitaries present, among whom were Chicago guests Juliusz Bialy, Consul General of Poland, and his assistant, Miroslaw Hytryn.

Entertainment was provided by the Wawel Dancers. This colorful group swirled through the intricate steps of the Krakowiak, the traditional polka and other regional dances of Poland as their choreographer and dance director Marcia Lewandowski narrated each dance.

The evening's grand prize, a month's itinerary for two aboard the Polish luxury liner Stefan Batory, was won by Raymond Olle, of Fraser. The ship, departing from Montreal, will make stops in England (London), Holland (Rotterdam) and Poland (Gdynia). Chicagoan Edward J. Kocuba, vice-president and manager of Gdynia America Line, Inc., made the prize presentation.

Final Hilberry Summer Festival plays open

Plays by Alan Ayckbourn and Neil Simon, today's most successful comic playwrights in Britain and America, close the Hilberry Theatre Festival at Wayne State University. They opened yesterday, and will play for two weeks.

Ayckbourn's "Bedroom Farce" is being presented upstairs on the Hilberry stage. Simon's "California Suite" is offered downstairs on the Studio stage. Performance dates are July 8 to 11 and 15 to 18 at 8:30 p.m.

"Bedroom Farce" is an off-beat comedy by the author of "Absurd Person Singular." It concerns a couple whose marriage is on the rocks. Trevor and Susannah inflict their miseries on their nearest and dearest friends: three couples besieged in their own bedrooms by the suffering pair.

Through an endless night, Trevor and Susannah ruin a party, aggravate back pain and interrupt a seafood meal in bed.

The cast includes Andrew Barnicle, Sara Morrison Barnicle, Richard Bradshaw, William Neil Dalley, Elizabeth Gulick Eastman, Marian Mills, Maria Angela Tirabassi and Mark Tymchyshyn. Director is Anthony

Reaching for a lucky number during the Detroit Press Club's festive Polish Night party is RUTH BURCZYK who with her husband, Walter J. Burczyk, was a guest of club member IRENE OLEJNICZAK MORAN, standing between Judge RO-

LAND L. OLZARK, the evening's toastmaster (with microphone) and Commander HENRY C. MAJESKI, of the Detroit Police Department, who is holding the champagne bucket. With the exception of the Commander, all are Grosse Pointers.

A tour of the City of Hamtramck for a party of four, hosted by Mayor Robert Kozaren, was won by William P. Upina, general manager of Michigan Exposition and Fairgrounds.

The tour will include a meeting with the mayor in his chambers and some sight seeing, focusing on Joseph Campau's "new look," the shop-filled main-strip and the 465-acre site of the General Motors plant now under construction on the border-line of Hamtramck and Detroit. Other stops will be made at ethnic churches, the Citizen newspaper offices, the Kowalski Sausage Company plant and restaurants, for authentic Polish meals.

Hamtramck was dubbed Little Poland because the majority of its residents since the turn of the century have been Polish. All of the city's present elected officials are of Polish descent.

Because of illness, Mayor

Kozaren was unable to attend the Press Club party, but he was well represented by his council members: Frank Rembisz, president, with his wife Lorraine; Paul Odobina; Eugene Pluto with his wife Joanne; and Helen Justewicz.

Guests danced to the music of Frank Venice. Calls of "Na lewo" and "Na prawo" (turn-steps to the left and then reverse to the right) kept the polka-ers twirling. Wayne County Treasurer Raymond J. Wojtowicz and his wife Delphine kept a good beat, as did Eileen Gerimony, Press Club Board of Governors member, who joined in with Stanley Kaminski.

Party co-workers included Frank Butler, Press Club member and Consultant to the City of Hamtramck — Community Relations, Paula Dillon, Lorraine M. Gregory, The Reverend Bohdan Kosicki, Sweetest Heart of Mary Church, Richard C. Laskos, who took all the camera shots, Commander Henry C. Majeski, Detroit Police Department, Irene Olejniczak Moran, Judge Roland L. Olzak, Hope Reussmann, Barbara Rutkowski and Judge Benjamin C. Stanczyk, who because of a previous commitment was missed at the affair.

Club manager Katherine Harbeck delighted with the evening's success, remarked: "We've already taken reservation requests for next year — it's a real sellout party!"

Sigma Gamma presents awards

The Sigma Gamma Association held its annual meeting at the Grosse Pointe Club on June 17. The group met to recognize outstanding volunteer service to the Detroit Institute for Children (formerly the Detroit Orthopaedic Clinic) with the Katherine Tuck awards.

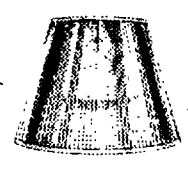

The Detroit Institute for Children, founded in 1920 by Sigma Gamma, is a United Foundation-United Community Services agency devoted to the care of the chronically ill child on an out-patient basis.

Last year's award-winner, Mrs. David Fitsimons, joined Mrs. William Howenstein to present the Tuck awards to Mrs. Mark Smith and Mrs. Raymond Robbins, of The Pointe. Mrs. Tuck, a Sigma Gamma member, has shown a loving and continuous concern for the children at D.I.C.

Also on the June 17 agenda was the welcoming of nine new Sigma Gamma members including Virginia Standish, Kalli Baldwin, Charlotte Cudlip, Kirsten Dalton, Anne DeHaven, Gray Foster, Kathy Garan, Mary Harrity, Julia Healy, Merritt Meade, Jennifer Peck, Carol Ridell and Beth Summers.

New members and old enjoyed a panel discussion by Sigma Gamma members on the board of trustees of the D.I.C. Participants in a talk entitled: "The Institute — Present and Future," included Mrs. Fitsimons, Mrs. Edward Evans, Mrs. Bruce Birgbauer, Mrs. J. Waldo Stewart, Mrs. Richard Platt, Mrs. Howenstein and Mrs. Mark Smith, and Mrs. John Dudley, of Ann Arbor.

Stone-Huetteman rites are read

Dirk Lohmann travels from Hannover, West Germany to serve as best man for his friend; newlyweds are at home in Ann Arbor

Mary Kathryn Huetteman and Chad Healy Stone exchanged marriage vows Saturday, May 23, in Our Lady Star of the Sea Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Huetteman, of Sunningdale Drive. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Stone, of Fairholme Road.

Father Walter McNicholas, O.S.A., presided at the 11 o'clock ceremony which was followed by a reception in the Fries Ballroom of the Grosse train. Seed pearls outlined the neckline and Empire waist of the bride's gown. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was held by a Juliet cap edged in matching seed pearl trim. She carried a cascade of white roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Pointe War Memorial. The former Miss Huetteman wore her mother's wedding gown of Italian silk taffeta which featured a gored princess skirt and a chapel

Maid of honor Celeste Shields wore a long gown of lemon yellow marquisette featuring a Schiffli-embroidered bertha collar and flounced, A-line skirt. Dressed identically were bridesmaids Martha Huetteman, a sister of the bride, Manon Stone, sister of the bridegroom, and Peggy Peters. Each attendant carried a round bouquet of white daisies, yellow Sweetheart roses and baby's-breath.

Dirk Lohmann, a former Pointer who now resides in Hannover, West Germany, traveled to The Pointe to serve as best man. In the usher corps were Joel Stone, a brother of the bridegroom, and Tom and Jim Huetteman, brothers of the bride.

The mother of the bride wore a street length dress of cream yellow georgette to which she pinned a yellow cymbidium orchid corsage. The mother of the bridegroom chose a street length dress of pale mauve georgette. Her corsage was a rose pink cymbidium orchid.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Smith, of Harbor Springs, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond T. Huetteman, of Tamarac, Fla.

The newlyweds are at home in Ann Arbor following a vacation trip through northern Michigan.

Pointers play at Blue Lake

Many young Grosse Pointers are attending Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp, located 15 miles north of Muskegon in the Maistee National Forest, this summer, receiving instruction in a wide variety of fine arts.

Participants in the first 1981 session, which ran June 23 through July 5, had the option of majoring in art, band, jazz-rock ensemble, orchestra or piano.

Among those first session campers were Grosse Pointe's Kurt Zimmermann, son of the Alan Zimmermanns, Pontus Genberg, son of the Edward Genbergs, Laura Weidig, daughter of the Charles Weidigs, Yasmin Kuhn, daughter of the Fredrick Kuhns, Donna Emery, daughter of the Charles Emerys, Laura Gushee, daughter of the Edward Gushees, and Julie Harbold, daughter of the Don Harbolds.

More were Pamela Labadie, daughter of the Timothy Labadies, Heather McMillin, daughter of the Ken McMillins, Jila Shafadeh, whose parents are the Asghar Shafadehs, Maria Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas, Melinda Smialek, daughter of the John Smialeks, Sarah Dolan, daughter of the John Dolans, Wendy Besler, daughter of the Rudolph Beslers, and Jenifer Weiss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weiss.

Still others are Christa Huthwaite, daughter of the Peter Huthwaites, Beth Blake, daughter of the John Blakes, Lisa Manthe, daughter of the Daniel Blakes, Esther Kim, daughter of the Dong-Won Kims, Sarah Gerhardtstein, daughter of the Thomas Gerhardtsteins, Eleanor Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Adams, Julie Mathews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mathews, Christel Millican, daughter of the Edward Millicans, and Ann Butala, daughter of the Larry Butalas.

The 15-year-old Blue Lake summer school of the arts has grown to be one of the largest facilities of its type in the United States.

Workshop will focus on job hunting skills

Oakland University's Continuum Center for Adult Counseling will conduct a one-day workshop covering the steps involved in finding and getting work Saturday, Aug. 15, from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Center headquarters on Oakland's Rochester campus.

Lunch is included in the $35 fee. Registration may be made by calling 377-3033.

Public information line dispelling cancer myths

Information specialists are dispelling cancer myths every weekday at the Michigan Cancer Foundation. Through a toll-free telephone line (1-800-462-9191), metropolitan Detroit residents are learning that "everything doesn't cause cancer," or that "cancer is not contagious." The information specialists can't give a cure for cancer, but they can make a person feel better about it by providing accurate, useable, compassionate information and referrals.

"We receive many different types of calls," explains Jane Hoey, manager of the MCF's Public Response Program. "Many callers request educational materials; others are concerned about a certain symptom. Still others just need a sympathetic ear. This year the Cancer Information Line has fielded more than 6,000 calls — or 500 a month, about 20 to 25 each day."

Most calls received are from cancer patients, families and friends who want good, basic information about cancer, diagnosis and treatment for particular cancer sites, as well as local resources in the area. Although the phone respondents do not recommend treatments or give out medical advice, they are trained to help the caller to understand warning symptoms and the preventative measures against cancer.

Since the Public Response Program is part of a network of cancer information services around the country sponsored by the National Cancer Institute, the range of basic cancer knowledge is extensive. It includes regular updates on new cancer research and program developments as well as new brochures available for distribution. Students writing school reports and health professionals frequently use the service.

The lines covering the seven-county 313 area code region are open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The Michigan Cancer Foundation is a Torch Drive-United Way Agency.

An ABWA award winner

GP Braille Club cites its own

The past-presidents of the Grosse Pointe Braille Club were honored at a luncheon in mid-June at the Van Antwerp Road home of Mrs. Fred Olmsted, where Mrs. Kenneth Coleman, assisted by Mrs. Walter Wesley and Mrs. Duane Mitchell, presided at the presentation of silver pins to the honorees.

The past-presidents are Mrs. John Hueftman (1967-1969), Mrs. Ben McLaughlin (1970-1972), Mrs. W. A. McClellan (1972-1974), Mrs. Sydney Partington (1974-1975), Mrs. W. A. Huegli (1975-1977), Mrs. Gail Minnick (1977-1980) and Mrs. Thomas Chisholm (1980-1981).

They were cited for their dedication in guiding the club to its present position as one of the leading contributors of braille transcription for the visually impaired.

Currently, the club is making plans to conduct a fall class in braille transcription.

Mercy offers honors degree fall program

A new Honors Program starting in September at Mercy College of Detroit will enable academically talented students to distinguish themselves, reports Agnes Mary Mansour, RSM, Mercy president.

"Honors students will meet special academic challenges designed to increase both skills in their chosen professions and their intellectual understanding of the modern world," says Sister Agnes Mary.

As more and more people earn college degrees, she added, the Honors graduates will stand out as persons of unusual accomplishment. They may find they have higher qualifications for admission to professional or graduate schools or for competition in the job market.

The program's carefully designed schedule includes courses in chemistry, biology, writing, mathematics, music, history and ethics. Honors students will have either in-depth laboratory or lecture sessions as part of these courses, or will receive special assignments which will be closely and individually supervised by their instructors.

Special seminars open only to Honors students are another feature of the program. Small groups of students will meet with professors to study topics of current importance in modern day society, from different academic viewpoints. These might include philosophy, literature and history in a single seminar. Seminar topics will include World Hunger, Feminism and Death and Dying.

"Smaller groups enable students to ask more questions," observes Deborah Woodruff-Lynch, a Mercy sophomore majoring in nursing and psychology. "Students will be able to bring up matters of personal importance. This can only enhance the learning process."

In response to student academic and work commitments, the Honors Program will be flexible. Most qualified students would have to complete one or two Honors courses within their normal schedule each semester in order to graduate with the Honors degree.

More information about the program may be obtained by calling the Mercy College Admissions Office, 592-6030.

To give small business tips

"Forecasting Profits and Cash Flow," a one-day workshop for current or prospective small business owners and managers, takes place Saturday, July 18, from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Backham Memorial, Woodward and Warren in Detroit's University/Cultural Center.

Participants will learn and practice techniques for forecasting profits and future cash deposits and disbursements under the direction of Albert Spalding, MBA, attorney and business consultant.

Fee for the workshop, co-sponsored by University Courses in Adult Education (Wayne State University/University of Michigan) and the United States Small Business Administration, is $38 including course materials and coffee breaks. Enrollment is limited.

Your diet can aid your heart

By Paula M. Gerow
Nutritionist Hutzler Hosp.

When we refer to the cardiac diet, we are speaking of a diet that is low in cholesterol, sodium and calories. There are not any magic treatments or special foods that can cure heart disease, but why, not do what you can for yourself? By following this diet you can at least lower the risk factors that can lead to heart disease.

Think of your body as a machine. The type of fuel you use to run a machine affects the way it functions. This is also true for the way food affects the way your body runs.

Weight control is very important in the treatment of heart disease. Excess pounds cause extra, unnecessary stress on the body, especially the heart. There is no food that will eat up calories or fat in the body; the best way to lose or maintain a suitable weight is to limit calories.

Any food that is high in sugar and fat has very little nutrient value and is high in calories. It is best to limit intake of these foods. Not only is the type of food you eat important; the quantity of the food you consume also should be considered. For this reason, portion control is essential.

Cholesterol is a substance that is in the blood. It is known to cling to blood vessels and clog them when blood cholesterol levels are high. The best description of cholesterol is animal fat or saturated fat. On a cardiac diet, one should avoid all fatty meats, avoid frying food, limit intake of eggs and high fat cheese and only consume fats that are liquid or soft at room temperature.

The effect of this dietary cholesterol in the blood is controversial. By limiting cholesterol in the diet you are also lowering fat content, consequently limiting calories.

Excess sodium in the diet causes the body to retain fluids. This in turn can cause high blood pressure. The best way to limit sodium in the

Safe canning workshop set

Safe and up-to-date canning methods will be featured at a workshop set for Wednesday, July 15, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. and repeated Thursday, July 16, from 1:30 to 4 p.m. at the Macomb YWCA on East Ten Mile Road in East Detroit.

Instructor Caroline Loomis, County Home Economist, will teach the basics of water bath and pressure canning techniques as well as making jams and jellies.

A donation of $1 per participant is requested. Advance registration is required. Further information may be obtained by calling the YWCA, 772-4435.

Safe canning workshop set diet is to limit or avoid salt when cooking food, and avoid the use of salt at the table. Processed foods contain high amounts of salt and should also be limited or excluded.

Sunday Service to warm the heart

Every week, a Bible Lesson filled with healing Christian concepts is read aloud in our Sunday service.

Through passages of Scripture and related lines from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, the lesson brings a satisfying sense of God and His love for you... fresh views of Jesus' timeless teaching... confidence and strength in overcoming things you feel are wrong.

This week's central text from the Bible reads:

Announcing A Mid-Summer
"IF" SALE

IF . . .

- You'd really like to buy another home, but are holding back because of financing worries.
- You're afraid to buy without selling first . . . or vice-versa.
- Your present home is now too large because the children are growing up.
- Your present home is too small because your family is expanding.
- Your life style is changing and your present home no longer fits that style.
- You're looking for a great investment and realize the advantages of income property.
- You'd like your reserve cash to exceed the present rate of inflation and really work for you.
- You'd like to buy before the price increases become reality.

WE CAN HELP YOU TO RESOLVE THOSE "IFS" AND BECOME DECISIVE . . . BASING YOUR DECISIONS ON THE TRUTHS OF THE PRESENT MARKET, BECAUSE NOW IS REALLY, TRULY AND ACTUALLY A GOOD TIME TO BUY REAL ESTATE!

"IF" one floor living is your wish, see this FIRST OFFERING...

Nestled cozily on a tree-shaded street in GROSSE POINTE SHORES, with one of the best first floor laundry rooms we've ever seen . . . air conditioned throughout with three large family bedrooms and every other amenity for time saving and luxurious one floor living. Call for details and an appointment.

"IF" magnificent income ownership is in your plans, see this FIRST OFFERING

It's rare to find an income property with such spacious rooms and so much charm. There are two wonderful, rentable 3 bedroom floors plus a marvelous third floor apartment for your mother-in-law! Each floor boasts twelve foot ceilings, a breath-taking living room with mansion-like paneling, beams, fireplaces and so much more. The wise investor will probably live in one unit, assume the low interest LAND CONTRACT and use the rental to pay it off!

"IF" you're smart ... see one of these great buys ... OPEN SUNDAY 2-5

215 LOTHROP in the heart of the Farms . . . "IF" your family is expanding . . . "IF" you'd like the privacy of a fabulous first floor master suite — and best of all, "IF" a 9½% LAND CONTRACT and recently reduced price can make it happen, this is for you. Five bedrooms, 3½ baths, charming family room, huge rear yard and much, much more. Custom built features throughout.

By Janet Mueller

The school bells have rung out for the last time for these Grosse Pointe teachers, and their emotions are mixed. "I'll miss my fellow teaching friends," says Evelyn Warren.

"This January, after 30 years, I'm going to go someplace warm," says Evelyn. Chances are it will be an island.

Not to worry: there's time enough for lots of travel, especially for Evelyn. She comes from a long-lived family. Her father, who is 86, still lives in Fort Wayne, Ind., where Evelyn grew up.

Miss Warren received her Bachelors degree from Ball State University, Muncie, Ind., and has completed 10 years of "off and on" advanced academic training at Wayne State University.

They'll Keep Moving But always on his own schedule, Russell and Margaret Hachey, who recently said goodbye to Great Scott, do not intend to let their travel trailer stand idle.

Mr. Hachey, born and raised in Superior, Wis., spent four years in the military service during World War II. One of those years was spent in Hawaii.

She enjoys bridge, and once upon a time, for 15 years, was a member of the Grosse Pointe Community Chorus. "I think I'm going to join a chorus again," she says. "I know I'm going to travel."

Russell Hachey is taking the summer off. He's been heading out on Lake St. Clair in the 20-foot fiberglass boat he built and going fishing. "In September," he says, "I will start work."

Barbara Weaver's favorite subject when she was going to school was Physical Education. "I loved it." She still does. The schools she went to were Detroit schools, Roosevelt, Duffee, Central High, for she's a life-long Detroit area resident.

Mrs. Weaver's teaching experience prior to coming to the Grosse Pointe School System was six-and-a-half years in Detroit, in Elementary Physical Education. She substituted for three years in Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods before she returned to full-time teaching, first at Parcels, then, for the past nine years, at Pierce.

Through the years, she has seen public interest in and appreciation for her subject increase. "New records are established every year," she says. "I think everyone has become aware of the importance of physical education and of being physically fit."

An Interesting Age The Middle School age group is reputed to be the most difficult, Barbara Weaver will go along with that, to a point. "If they are the most difficult, they are also the most interesting. You see them go from little kids to adults."

Barbara's husband, Wayland, is in the display business. She plans to do bookkeeping for him, to enjoy golf, swimming, cross-country skiing, duplicate bridge and stichery in her leisure hours.

Joan lives in Scottsdale, Ariz. She's a graduate of Michigan State University, married to Ken Holmes and manages several buildings in Phoenix.

John, a graduate of the Air Force Academy, is in Arizona, too. He's a Captain in the Air Force, stationed at Luke Air Force Base in Phoenix, and the father of two girls, ages three and one.

Recently, Barbara and Wayland Weaver have been spending Easter in Phoenix. They're not averse to going farther afield. "If John gets an overseas job, we'll visit him." And they won't have to wait until Barbara has a school break to do it.

Mammogram key to breast cancer eradication

The potential to eradicate breast cancer as the major killer of young and middle aged American women has been reported at the University of Michigan.

Barbara A. Threatt M.D., director of the U-M Breast Cancer Detection Center, reports that results of a six-year research project involving the screening of 10,000 women who had no symptoms, indicate that breast cancer can be caught at its earliest and most treatable stages by yearly check-ups involving mammograms — special x-rays of the breasts.

Dr. Threatt says that the U-M study reveals that mammograms can pinpoint very tiny cancers (less than a 10th of an inch in diameter) before they have a chance to spread beyond the breast tissues and into the lymph nodes.

Women in whom cancer is detected in very early stages have virtually a normal chance of survival when adequately treated, she adds. Early cancer detection also, in many cases, eliminates the need for chemotherapy and may in the future reduce the need for mutilative breast surgery.

Among the 10,000 screened, 186 cancers were found in 28 women, or 15 percent of those diagnosed through screening as having breast cancer, had spread of their malignancy beyond the breast; only 8, or 4 percent, of these women had involvement of 4 or more lymph nodes and were candidates for chemotherapy.

Most were treated with modified radical mastectomies, in which the breast is removed but the underlying chest wall muscles are spared. A smaller number were treated by "lumpectomy" surgery, in which only the cancerous portion of the breast is removed, followed by radiation therapy. Results were highly successful for all methods of treatment, Dr. Threatt notes.

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, the first of two columns on a summer menu built around a delicious JELLIED BEEF MOLD.

Extremely tasty — this marvelous Beef Mold should be a star in every hostess' repertoire. Not only is it beautiful to behold, but it is very easy on the grocery budget! To further add to its attractiveness, unmold on a lettuce lined platter, surround with preserved kumquats and watercress sprigs.

An appealing menu: Jellied Beef Mold* Sautéed Spinach and Vegetables* Tarragon Tomatoes* Hot Crescent Rolls Cherry Fudding*

We'll give you the recipe for the main course this week! Next week, we'll spotlight the accompaniments: spinach and vegetables, tarragon tomatoes and cherry pudding.

JELLIED BEEF MOLD 1 1/2 Lbs. very lean boneless chuck 1/4 cup thinly sliced green onions 1 envelope plain gelatin 1/2 cup diced celery 1/4 cup diced dill pickles 1 can (1 1/2 oz.) beef consommé 1/4 tsp. salt 1/8 tsp. pepper Stuffed olives, sliced 1 jar (4 oz.) pimientos In Dutch oven place beef and just cover with water; bring to a boil; cover and simmer until meat is very tender. Let meat cool in broth until it is room temperature. Remove meat from pan; set broth aside. Using coarse blade put meat through food chopper. (There should be at least two cups.)

Soften gelatin in 2 tablespoons of the broth. Cook celery and onion in the broth until just crisp tender, about 10 minutes. Drain vegetables, save both vegetables and broth. Add celery, onion, and dill pickles to ground meat.

Add enough broth to consommé to make 2 cups; heat to boiling. Add softened gelatin and stir until gelatin is thoroughly dissolved. Pour thin layer of gelatin into a 1 1/2-quart mold; chill. To remainder of gelatin-broth add salt, pepper and beef mixture. Chill until the mixture becomes syrupy.

Arrange strips of sliced pimientos and olive slices in attractive design on beef mixture. Carefully spoon in beef mixture. Cover and chill at least overnight. Makes 8 servings. Calories about 125 per serving. Cholesterol about 60 mgs.

Explore Great Lakes islands

They loom up suddenly out of the water in the early morning mists. By mid-day, they are dark green emeralds sitting on a sea that can be gray, blue or green — or all three — on any given day. At night, they are black hulks on an inky sea ... or all silver, if the moon is full. They are the Unknown Islands of the Inland Seas.

Some islands in the Great Lakes have been celebrated as prime vacation destinations for thousands of visitors for the better part of a century including Mackinac Island, in the Straits of Mackinac; Belle Isle, in the Detroit River; and Put-In-Bay and the Bass Island, in Lake Erie.

But the Unknown Islands of Lake Michigan, Lake Superior and Lake Huron, Beaver Island, South Manitou, Isle Royale, Les Cheneaux (the Snows), Drummond Island, and Bois Blanc (Bob-Lo) Island, are treasured environments that have not changed appreciably in a thousand years. Let us begin.

Beaver Island in blue Lake Michigan, 32 miles off the Charlevoix harbor, offers historical sights dating back more than a century, water sports, snow sports and miles of scenic beauty for relaxation or recreation.

Lakeshore, it is being preserved as a wilderness. There are three campgrounds on the island with plumbing available.

A motorized tour is available to see old farms and hear of their history, the tallest lighthouse on the Great Lakes, and the rusting hulk of the ill-fated "Francisco Morazon," the Liberian freighter that went aground December 1, 1960, during a Lake Michigan storm.

South Manitou offers a virgin White Cedar forest with world champion sized trees, sand dunes that rival Sleeping Bear, the site of a once bustling labor community and rare wild flowers growing in abundance.

Known as Michigan's Emerald Isle, Beaver Island, 13 miles long and six miles wide is the largest and most extensively developed island in a group of 13.

Two car ferries and two air services carry visitors to the island. In summer the ships make two or three round trips daily. Planes leave at the convenience of passengers. There are seven inland lakes, three which provide good fishing for game and panfish, and hunting is excellent in the fall.

The island community of St. James boasts several stores, restaurants, bars, hotels, motels, a modern medical center, and other services.

South Manitou is a campers paradise. As part of the Sleeping Bear Dunes National
