Court rules for Park on line dispute

By Susan McDonald

The state court of appeals last week upheld the city of Grosse Pointe Park in a long-standing boundary dispute with Detroit. The ruling in the Park's favor will increase its property tax base by about $4 milion, according to city attorneys, by pushing the city's boundary west along Wayburn and part of Barrington

The ruling also means residents of the area, whose houses were cut in half by the boundary line in the past, will be excluded from paying city of Detroit income tax, which this year was increased from 2 to 3 percent. Some of the residents paid the tax under protest in the past and others paid none at all.

Grosse Pointe Park attorney Herold "Mac" Deason said he did not know how the ruling would affect several Detroit municipal employes who have satisfied that city's residency requirement by residing on disputed blocks, and were still allowed to send their children to Grosse Pointe public schools and parks because their front lawns and porches were in the Park.

Deason said new property taxes that will flow to the Park because of the ruling amount to a "substantial, five-figure" total. City Manager John Crawford said the funds will help the city "keep in the black" in the face of state aid and revenue sharing reductions that are expected to be announced later this month by Gov. William Milliken.

The ruling, which Detroit has until Sept. 29 to appeal to the State Supreme Court, also will relieve the Park from paying taxes on a portion of Windmill Pointe Park which is located in the disputed area.

Deason said he is delighted with the appeals court ruling that upheld a city position he has defended for 12 years in various courts. "It's a good feeling to win one, especially when it's become a career," he said.

The suit began when Wayburn residents appealed to the Michigan Tax Tribunal about the vague Detroit-Grosse Pointe border to block Detroit; from collecting income tax. The tax tribunal ruled in Detroit's favor and the residents appealed to Wayne conv Circuit Court. That is when the Park Joined the suit. Circuit court ruled in the Park's favor, but Detroit appealed the ruling.

Residents of the disputed blocks have received services from both cities in the past. Detroit and Park

Woods will decide fate of park tax

By Gregory Jakub

The fate of an ambitious $1.9 million park improvement plan will be determined Monday, Sept. 21 when the Grosse Pointe Woods Council decides whether to put the plan on the Nov. 3

If the plan makes the ballot, Woods voters will have to decide whether they want an additional one mill tax levy for the next five years to cover the five-year plan. (A mill equals $1 for every $1,000 of State Equalized Valuation of Property.)

Several issues have already caused doubt about the plan's success and feasibility including a possible legal battle with St. Clair Shores residents over the location of 72 new boat docks proposed in the plan.

At the Sept. 14 council meeting, the possibility of breaking out the boat dock portion of the plan to be financed and implemented separately was discussed. Action on the whole plan was tabled until the council could determine the effect splitting the plan will have on its chances for success before voters and the full council on Sept. 21.

If the plan with the boat dock portion is approved by voters it would solve an eight year old problem of how to improve docking facilities at Lake Front Park. The council and Woods Boat Club have been unable to agree on a way to move a bridge that currently restricts access to 53 boat docks in the park.

THE COUNCIL determined it could put the plan on the ballot and then

The Muir 'family' gathers

It was a good group that gathered at the Farms Pier Park last Saturday for a gigantic block party. Specifically, the party was for all old and new residents of Muir Road, (formerly known as Oak Street). The party began at noon, with friends and families barbequing, tossing frisbees, looking at old photographs and taking new ones. Speaking of old and new, the oldest and youngest members at the party were 83-year-old Gervase Meldrum, here holding 9-month-old Julia Melissa Marsack. Babies played an important role on Oak/Muir Road, according to Fred "Rocky" Meldrum, who sported an "Incubator Alley" T-shirt. "Incubator Alley" was the nickname for Oak Street due to the large numbers of children born there. According to happy party goers, the celebration lasted on into the night, with about 300 people joining in the festivities.

Shores vs. Ford House

Two week tax trial ends, decision months away

By Tom Greenwood

Both sides involved in the Edsel and Eleanor Ford House tax trial agree it may be months before a final decision is reached determining whether the mansion and its grounds are truly a charitable foundation, and thus

The two-week trial which just concluded before the tax tribunal in Lansing pits the Ford home against the village of Grosse Pointe Shores, Lake Township and the Lakeshore school district in St. Clair Shores.

If the Ford home wins, the school district will lose approximately $55,000 in taxes, and the Shores will absorb a $28,000 loss.

THE HOME, which is a non-profit institution, paid 1980 taxes under "used to benefit the public" after her protest and has yet to pay 1981 taxes, according to Shores Village President Gerald Schroeder.

"What is at issue here is whether the home is truly a tax exempt institution," said Schroeder. "We don't think so in accordance with the law. The home is not used by the public in the same sense as say, a library. Certainly there are tours for the general public on Sundays twice a month, but mostly we feel the home is used for private functions such as VIP receptions, charity benefits and invitation only events.

"We feel the home is meeting the letter of the law but not the spirit," the president said.

Under terms of the will of the late Eleanor Ford, the mansion and land accompanying it, were to be death, Mrs. Ford left a $15 mililon endowment to maintain the grounds and provide security for the site. It has officially been open to the public since November, 1980.

In their suit, the Ford home is asking for tax exempt status on 50.3 acres of land and the mansion, all on the lake side of Lakeshore Road. Total acreage of the grounds is about 87

"We approve of what they're doing at the home," added Schroeder. "They've always been good neighbors and friends, but the Ford home is not handled on the same basis as Meadowbrook with parking for 5,000 cars. The Shores provides all police, fire and public works services for the home. We have employes to pay

All the romance fit to print

By Gregory Jakub Who said romance is dead?

Not former Grosse Pointer Kathryn Falk, 40, now of Brooklyn Heights, N.Y., who created and publishes "Romantic Times," a bimonthly tabloid newspaper that tells who's who and what's new in the genre of romance

Romance is very much alive to Falk and the 20 million readers, mostly women, who spend $250 million yearly on romance novels that now comprise 40 percent of all book sales in the

With about 100 titles published each month, there is a real need for publication that can help readers choose among authors, plot designs, and characters while waiting in the supermarket check-out line.

That's where most romance novels are bought, not in bookstores, Falk said in an interview at the News office before her appearance on Channel 4's "Sonya" show last week. Who buys these paperbacks with lush portraits on the cover that sugpense and, yes, sex?

THERE ARE AS many types of romance readers as there are types of romance novels, Falk said. The books cover the range of passion from a kiss two pages before the end to sex every eight pages, Falk said. There are various degrees of romance addicts, too, ranging from those who spend $25 per month on books to those who can handle a novel per day.

Falk said the stereotype of a fat slovenly woman who watches TV and reads is a myth. Most women say they read while their husbands watch TV or while commuting to work.

Demographic studies show that many readers' income level is $20,000 a year or more, Falk said, but quantifying readers is difficult because of people's reluctance to admit reading romances. There are even a substantial number of males "who can be worse closet readers than women," Falk said.

She admits there is a sexist connotation to romance fiction that she and authors are working against. "This is escape fiction," Falk said, gest passion, longing, intrigue, sus- adding that romances allow readers to identify with characters and share their good times on the way to a happy ending. "To a certain type of reader, that's very important," Falk said. She compares the escapist aspect of romance fiction to spy and detective novels which serve the same purpose for male readers.

> The popularity of romance novels is more than just a fad. Falk says they are taking their place in women's literature and are part of a literary tradition that includes the Bronte sisters in the mid-1800's and Gone With the Wind.

Many contemporary romance authors are well educated and develop realistic characters that women can relate to, Falk said. Romances are also more than just literary soap operas since the soaps tend to deal with tragedies and the negative aspects of life, Falk said.

Falk herself is a romance reader who said she became hooked after "reading every book" in the public library next to Pierce Junior High while growing up in the Park as the

School Board Lowers Tax Rate By Three Mills

By Joanne Gouleche

School administrators found little support Monday for their recommendation of a one mill reduction in the school millage. Instead, the Board of Education approved a total rollback of 3.22 mills, but not before board members haggled over the impact of rumored state cuts to the system.

Even with the rollback from 34.05 mills to 30.83 mills a 21 percent increase in property values in the school district will mean on the average a 10 percent increase for taxpayers. The system expects to collect $31 million in school taxes.

Out of the 3,22 rollback, 2,12 of that was a voluntary cut by the board. Under provisions of the Headlee Tax Limitation Amendment, the board was required to rollback 1.1 mills.

The board approved its $35 million budget in June and postponed setting the millage rate until teacher negotiations ended.

School Supt. Dr. Kenneth Brummel said the teacher settlement and other school employe contracts will cost the system about $1,6 million. Then, in support of his proposed one mill roll-back, Brummel added. "I'm also concerned what is happening at the state level with budget cuts and the impact on Grosse Pointe.

"With 30 tax proposals being considered by the legislature in weeks ahead, there seems to be a deter-mined mood to roll back taxes," Brummel said

The superintendent said a rumored Milliken proposal to cut SEV (state equalized valuation) by 10 percent would be a loss of $1 million to the

"A one mill rollback concerned me because of the pessimistic mood. But what tipped the scales for me was the substantial (teacher) settlement and I also feel it's the appropriate time to do something for the taxpayers of Grosse Pointe," Brummel said.

From then on the superintendent found little support for the one mill

"I'm opposed to the motion because I don't think one mill is enough," Trustee Ron Dalby said.

"When we have a surplus (now pegged at over $4 million) and funds available, I think within our system we find a way to spend money," Dalby said.

The board member urged his fellow trustees to vote for a two mill cut. "It still would leave a couple of thousands dollars in fund equity. We should not be budgeting for a million dollar surplus," Dalby said.

The two mill rollback found favor with board president Jon Gandelot and trustee Dorothy Kennel. "We still show a surplus even with a two mill rollback. The legislators up there have a way of talking to themselves. Every time a tax proposal comes up, it's voted down," Gandelot said.

Trustee Joan Hanpeter who supported a two mill rollback in June said the board would be doing a "disservice to this system" if it didn't support the one mill reduction.

After the board unanimously agreed on a 1.7 mill rollback of general operating millage, (proposed by Trustee Roger Mourad) Hanpeter warned her colleagues "I just hope it doesn't backfire," referring to the pending cuts in state aid.

The breakdown of school millage looks like this: 28.43 mills for general operating, 1,3 mills for debt re-

Only 8,000 in public classrooms

By Joanne Gouleche

Enrollment in Grosse Pointe public schools has dipped to a little over 8,000 students, an unofficial count of classroom attendance revealed last week. The figure follows the declining trend in the public schools each year since 1971.

The count, taken during the second day of school, showed 8,112 students compared to the 8,663 in the classroom last year at the same time. The system has not hit the 8,000 mark since the mid-1950s.

Director of Support Services Ben Zenn said it's unlikely Grosse Pointe public schools will ever see 13,000 enrollment figure it recorded in 1971.

"With the general decrease in the number of births per family, it would be difficult to see that number again," he said.

Zenn pointed out, however, enrollment appears to be stabilizing, but added administrators still expect a 1,000 student drop over the next few years. How do administrators account for the losses?

"There are less youngsters coming in," Zenn said. "We are graduating more than are coming in at the kindergarten level.'

Education researchers believe the end of the baby boom in the late 1960s will probably not pick up again until the 1990s.

According to the second day count, (Continued on Page 2A)

Shores property owners. Councilman Thomas Fahrner favored sending the plan to the voters saying it was the only chance the city has of solving the boat dock problem and delaying action would stall the plan for another year.

The council will again review the park plan at the Monday, Sept. 21 meeting, 7:30 p.m. in the Woods Council Room.

The components of the park plan include:

• Replacing four existing tennis courts at Gh. squiere Park with six new ones.

• New playground and park equipment for Chene-Trombley Park

· Add playground equipment, two paddleball courts, and a physical fitness and jogging track and a solar heating system for pool and showers at Lake Front Park. • Reforestation and beautification of park system.

• Construct a new Community Center and add 72 new boat docks at Lake Front Park, Add health and exercise facilities to Lake Front Park bathhouse.

"The public is only invited in under certain circumstances," he said. Twice a month public tours plus pre-arranged showings for large groups, for which the home also charges a 'preservation fee,' does not constitute public use in our eyes.

"There are more charities, cultural events, musicals, receptions and VIP benefits held there on an invitation only basis than public events. You can be a non-profit organization but your total activity may not qualify you as a charitable institution,' Killebrew said, TESTIFYING before the tribunal in behalf of the home were many leaders in the industrial and political circles of Detroit. Included were former school board President Laurance Harwood, J. L. Hudson, Detroit Public Information Director Joyce Garrett, Brandon Rogers, planning and development expert, Detroit Institute of Arts officials and Detroit Mayor Coleman Young.

Young urged the tribunal to rule in the home's favor stating that Detroit "had many such institutions within its borders" and that the suburbs must do their part to preserve such historical landmarks.

Also appearing in favor of the home was Henry Ford II, who testified mainly to the history of the rates from the post office and are classified as a charitable foundation on the Michigan Attorney General's list. It would seem we have all the requirements."

Sullivan admitted that people can't walk into the estate off the street because of the rare books and art objects within the home. "While the numbers are limited, there's no restriction on who can come in," he said. "The home has seen about 60,000 visitors since it officially opened up. It's not by invitation only, just reservation only."

"The money losses to the Shores and Lakeshore school district (represented by attorney John Yoe) are not major parts of their budgets," he continued. "The $55,000 to the school represents only 0.7 of one percent of their total school budget."

SULLIVAN ADDED that the home is a definite plus for the Detroit area, drawing thousands of persons to the city. "One of the things that most impressed the GOP site selection committee was their tour of the Ford estate," he said.

"We assumed at the time the home was given to benefit the public that it would be tax exempt. We believe the Shores initially believed that also, but have since changed their minds,' according to Sullivan

"The entire situation is unique. The home is historical, benefits the community and public, plus is endowed with a $15 million maintenance fund. However, even with the endowment, there was not enough money earned last year to take care of the home properly. The difference was made up by the Ford family," Sullivan said. "If the tax decision is unfavorable, it could affect possible endowments for other estates. Future historical sites could go the way of Rose Terrace and the Glancy Estate.'

oldest of five children. Her brothers and sisters have dispersed around the country pursuing various careers while her father and stepmother still live on Maryland.

Not only does she know her market, but Falk has a keen business sense that led her to start "Romantic

After graduating from South High and the University of Detroit, Falk began selling medical instruments and traveling throughout the world. She later worked for fashion magazines and eventually opened her own store in Manhattan specializing in miniatures and doll houses.

SHE RECOGNIZED the need for information about romance writers after corresponding with many of them. She eventually saw a market for a publication that could answer readers' questions, identify writers who publish under different names, keep track of hard-to-find authors, and satisfy readers' curiosity about what their favorite writers looked Falk said her connections in the New York publishers' world have helped her produce the first two issues of "Romantic Times" from her carriage house in Brooklyn Heights.

She now counts popular authors like Janet Dailey among her friends and shares some of the same business problems as book publishers.

"What I go through to write my paper is what authors go through,' Falk said. Although she delegates most of the writing, Falk said she's concerned with problems like placement of the paper in stores and whether to change to a slick magazine format.

She admits that her strong point is getting publicity for herself. She's working on an appearance with Phil Donahue and has gotten coverage in Life, Family Circle, New York Daily News, and the Wall Street Journal.

She even has her finger on the latest trends like the new "Rhapsody Romances" that will hit the market in October. These are full novels in a large, Sunday magazine type format with full-color pictures. Falk said the new format and 99 cent price is very innovative and should be a huge

The second issue of "Romantic Times" is 28 pages and came out this month featuring well-written stories on the importance of book covers to marketing romance novels, a piece on how to write romance, lots of book reviews, and new titles from top publishers' fall releases. Circulation is about 50,000 nationwide with 8,000 subscribers and sales in Waldenbooks, B. Dalton, and Book Village.

"It's been a big boon for publishers," Falk said, referring to advertisers who now have a vehicle for marketing their newest titles like "Love's Encore" and "Midnight Whispers."

Falk says romance novels have affected her life since she was once engaged to a maharajah and now lives among the New York jet set and easily drops names like Helen Gurley-Brown and Norman Mailer.

Reading romances while growing up in Grosse Pointe sort of foreshadowed the life she would eventually enjoy, Falk said.

"It was scary to think that I might not ever see the world." Falk said.

figures break down to 3,450 elementary students, 1,272 middle school students and 3,390 high school stu-

In the area's private schools, meanwhile, the school administrators report enrollment up slightly over last year's opening day figures. At one private institution, University Liggett in Grosse Pointe Woods, Director of Development John Danaher says classrooms are filled to capacity

"We have a waiting list for most of our grades and have had a list for quite a while," Danaher said. ULS recorded 890 students the first day of school-the same figure it registered in 1980.

Our Lady Star of Sea, St. Clare and St. Paul's schools report their enrollment either the same, up or down slightly over last year.

The declining school-age population in Grosse Pointe has prompted public school administrators to study the touchy issue of school closings. In 1978 former school Supt. William Coats pointed out to school board members that three elementary and one middle school could be closed but later recommended all schools be kept open because of potential transportation problems such a move would create and parental objections.

In his first week on the job, new Supt. Dr. Kenneth Brummel told a reporter: "I have not been hired in Grosse Pointe to close schools. I value the neighborhood school."

. Monday Brummel said one of the school board's goals for the 1981-82 school year will be to study the enrollment decline and added "There is not any specific plan for school closings at this time.'

Last week's count showed the following number of students:

• Elementary schools: Barnes, 270; Defer, 438; Ferry, 402; Kerby, 369; Maire, 325; Mason, 334; Monteith, 358; Poupard, 304; Richard, 352; Trombly, 298.

• Middle schools: Brownell, 413;; Parcells, 458; Pierce, 401.

• High schools: North, 1,588; South, 1,802.

Appeal

(Continued from Page 1A) police and firefighters have responded to their calls, Detroit has picked up trash and the Park their leaves. If Detroit doesn't appeal and the ruling becomes final, there remains a long list of details to be clarified, according to Deason. Among them are criminal jurisdiction and venue, gar bage collection, and ownership of sewers and various franchises, including utilities and cable t.v. Deason presented the court of appeals ruling to the Park council at its Monday, Sept. 14, meeting. Mayor Matthew Patterson said the city should continue legal action to annex the small portion of the Wayburn backyards that still remain in Deiroit under the court of appeals ruling. Councilman John Fildew, however, suggested the city investigate the impact that ruling will have on Detroit municipal employes in the area before it pursues annexation.

Throughout the legal arguments the Park maintained the boundary line was 200 feet east of the center of Alter Road. Detroit argued the boundary was 200 feet east of the east side of Alter. The court of appeals ruling was made by George \hat{N} . Bashara Jr., and concurred in by Judges John H. Gillis and Kenneth N. Sanborn.

Woods election draws seven council hopefuls

By Gregory Jakub

Grosse Pointe Woods Mayor George Freeman will square off against his only challenger, Tim Mucciante, in the Nov. 3 election while seven other candidates battle for three available council seats.

Freeman, 56, an account executive with a securities broker, is seeking his second two-year term. His opponent Tim Mucciante, 22, has worked in government as a legislative aide for several years and will begin law school this fall. Mucciante also filed petitions for council but withdrew them after the 5 p.m. Sept. 14 dead-

Freeman points to the city's low tax rate and quality of services as evidence of his administration's success while Mucciante says the city needs someone with new ideas.

Of the three council positions that expire this year, only Daniel Grady will not seek re-election because of time conflicts with his job.

Incumbent Councilmen Thomas Fahrner and John Sabol are seeking re-election. Sabol, mayor pro-tem, is a former planning commissioner first elected to council in 1973 and reelected in 1977.

Fahrner is also a former planning commissioner first elected to council in 1977. Councilmen are elected to four-year terms.

Others who filed for council are:

• FREDERICK MADDOCK, 49, of Peartree, who was elected to council in 1961 and 1963 (then two-year terms) but stepped down because of time conflicts with his job, family, and army reserve duties. He is now retired from the army and is a practicing attorney and said he is interested in working for and with the city.

Woods sponsors fall tree sale

The Grosse Pointe Woods Tree Advisory Commission is again sponsoring a fall tree sale for residents from Sept. 17 through Oct. 2. Six excellent varieties of nursery-grown balled and burlapped trees are being offered at special group prices. The trees are 134" to 2" diameter and 10 to 12 feet in height. All carry a limited guarantee.

Order forms explaining purchase plans are available at the Woods Municipal Building from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. weekdays, and at the police desk all other hours. Friday, Oct. 2 is the final date forms must be returned with a check, either to the city cashier's office, or to the blue box outside the Municipal Building.

A variety of purchase plans are being offered to accommodate both the do-it-yourselfer and the person who wants his tree delivered, nursery planted, and 100 percent guaranteed. Prices range from $57 (picked up and planted by resident) to $117 (delivered, planted, and guaranteed 100 percent for one year).

The six varieties are Little Leaf Linden, October Glory Maple, Norway Maple, Marshall Seedless Ash, Thornless Honeylocust and Sunburst Locust.

An income tax deductible contribution for the purchase amount may be claimed if the tree is planted on public tree lawn, according to city attorney George Catlin. The tree is considered a contribution to the city since it is being planted on the city easement and is a variety conforming to the Master Plan for city

Renaissance concerts begin Oct. 5 at Ford House

Renaissance Concerts, Inc. is happy to announce that their very successful chamber music concerts at the Edsel and Eleanor House in Grosse Pointe Shores are being repeated again this season. Last season, owing to popular demand, the four originally scheduled concerts were expanded to 16, and all were sold out. This season eight programs will be presented at the Ford House.

Designed by Architect Albert Kahn in the manner of the Cotswolds in England, the Ford House is filled with arts and artifacts from around the world. The Great Gallery offers particularly fine acoustics in which to enjoy chamber music. These concerts will allow compositions to be heard and performed in the manner in which they were written - for the audiences of the Great Houses of Europe. This series thus remains true to the spirit in which Eleanor Ford bequeathed her home to the Detroit community in 1976.

Members of the audience may arrive 45 minutes prior to performance time to view the house, and are invited to meet the performing artists at a wine reception following the President's Trio of Oakland Univer-Most of the original dates for con-

A burglar found easy pickings at a Farms home last week, according to police reports. Members of a Moselle Place family told police their home was ransacked Thursday, Sept. 10, sometime between 9 a.m. and 2:30

An investigation showed the thief had entered the home through an unlocked sliding door-wall off a new deck in the rear of the house. Allegedly the intruder made a mess of the home, dumping drawers and turning over the bed in a search for

Taken in the theft was a Panasonic AM/FM tape deck and seven gold rings. The rings were described as:

Shores cops nab Lakeshore suspect

Citizen cooperation and team work rested and transported to the scene of between neighboring police departments helped capture a suspect in the attempted afternoon breaking and entering of a Lakeshore Road home Thursday, Sept. 11.

According to reports, the Shores police received a call at 1 p.m. from a resident who said they heard their neighbor's house alarm activate. The caller also said they saw a young man run from the area, jump over a fence and drop an orange construction worker's hat in his flight.

The man was described as a white male, with a slim build, wearing blue jeans and a blue tank top shirt. He was thought to be about 18 years old.

Officers responding to the scene found screens to an 8 foot by 6 foot sliding glass door ripped away and tossed on the patio. They also found the door at the top of a metal stairway leading to the second floor kicked in. Apparently no entry was made to the While Shores police searched the area, an alert was broadcast to officers of the Woods, Farms and St. Clair Shores Police departments.

The Woods department radioed that witnesses had seen a man answering the description jumping a fence and running toward Lakeshore Road.

Shores Public Safety Officer Bruce Darlington and Detective Sergeant Frank Mustazza were responding to the scene when they saw a man answering the description hitchhiking on Lakeshore Road at North Edgewood Road.

Pulling over to investigate, they noticed needle marks on the suspect's arms plus mud and scrapes, according to the report. Under questioning the man admitted to being a heroin addict, breaking and entering and signed a confession, according to police reports. Shores police kept a close watch on the suspect after his mother warned them of suicidal tendencies. Later, he allegedly did attempt to hang himself with his trousers, but was pre-

The suspect was transported to Cottage Hospital, then Northville State Hospital for psychiatric observa-

Shores Police Chief Joseph Vitale thanked officers and members of the detective bureaus of the Woods, Farms and St. Clair Shores Police Departments for their cooperation in apprehending the suspect.

He also commended those citizens who first notified police of the attempted crime.

Social Security

Benefit changes made

There were some major changes in the Social Security Law effective Sept. 1, according to James T. Moslener, District Manager of the local Social Security office on Mack Ave-

The changes were enacted by the Congress in order to save the Social Security system money and include the following:

The lump-sum death benefit of $255 will be paid only to the deceased worker's spouse or to children eligible for survivor benefits. It will not be paid to grown children, other relatives or funeral home operators, effective Sept. 1. The savings are $182 million next year and nearly $1 billion through 1986.

In figuring benefits, amounts will be rounded to the next lower dime at each intermediate step and to the next lower dollar at the final step. This see ningly minor formula change, effective in September, will save Social Security $140 million in 1982 and $1.5 billion through 1986.

A new cap will be placed on how much in disability benefits a worker and his family can draw in addition to workmen's compensation. The cap will keep the benefits from exceeding 80 percent of his average earnings. The offset will be extended to dis-to be subjected to an earnnigs limit on how much they can earn without losing benefits in 1982. Those 72 and older now can earn unlimited amounts and keep getting benefits, but it was due to drop to 70 on Jan. 1. Instead, Congress voted to delay that liberalization until 1983. Savings in 1982: $460 million.

Moslener said those who want further information about the changes should call the Social Security Information number at 493-1111 or visit the local Social Security office at 17420 Mack Avenue.

Further changes in the Social Security Law will be discussed at a later

There are ways to make dressing easier, either by buying speciallydesigned clothing or by adapting reg-ular clothing to your needs, according to the Arthritis Foundation's Self-Help Manual for Patients.

"There are two main considerations when selecting clothing for people with limited mobility," says Lynda Hubar, president of the Arthritis Foundation, Michigan Chapter, "Specifically, the ease with which the garments can be put on and the way in which they are fastened."

Garments which open in front are easiest to get on and off because they eliminate the need to reach over the head. They are especially helpful for those with limited shoulder and elbow motion. Wrap around styles also make dressing easier. The Manual offers a number of clothing sources for the person with limited mobility, including places to buy special nightgowns and undergarments.

"Fastening clothes can be a great problem for people whose hands are weak or whose fingers are unable to grasp small objects," Mrs. Hubar says. Snaps, hooks, and buttons can often be replaced by pressure tape such as Velcro without changing the appearance of the garment." One easy adaptation is to sew cuff buttons on with elastic thread, so the hand can slide through the opening abled workers aged 62 to 64. Workers aged 70 or 71 will continue

> Putting on trousers, shoes and socks present special problems for arthritis sufferers, because these actions require agility and involve a series of movements by various joints, according to Lynda Hubar. She describes several aids and techniques that can make these task's easier. "Two dowels fitted with cup hooks can help you to put trousers on," she says. "Simply slip the hooks through the belt loops of the trousers and use them to pull the trousers up. The same dowels can be used to pull socks to which fabric loops have been Loafers, or slip-on shoes, are easiest for those who have difficulty bending. If you need tie shoes, consider ones with Velcro tabs, elastic shoelaces or zippers. You may also want to use a long-handled shoehorn. Some models have a spring where the handle and the horn join, which is helpful if ankles are stiff.

'Many other devices are available to aid disabled persons in getting dressed," Mrs. Hubar says. "A dressing stick, for example, may have a large curved pusher to help get clothes off plus different sized hooks for pulling clothes on. A zipper pull or a thick dowel with a hook, in the end is helpful when it is difficult to hold onto a zipper tab.

Cinema League season opener

The Grosse Pointe Cinema League will begin its 28th season on Monday, Sept. 21, with "Let's Go to Hawaii!", a 16mm movie by two of its founders, Pierre and Elfrieda Palmentier. It will be shown in the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium, 32 Lakeshore Road, at 8 p.m. Filmed last winter during a two-month visit to Hawaii, the movie shows magnificent tropical scenery, exotic flowers and historical sites on the magic islands of Maui, Kauai.

Oahu and the Big Island of Hawaii.
On Maui, once the favorite resort of Hawaiian kings, is the restored village of Lahaina, the "Williamsburg" of Hawaii, where as many as 500 whaling ships once rode at anchor in the harbor. A scenic 50mile drive is made to Hana, on a winding, shore-line road, which has more than 900 curves.

Kauai, the Garden Isle, was the scene of many famous motion pictures, such as Elvis Presley's "Blue Hawaii" and "Sadie Thompson" filmed at the beautiful Coco Palms resort. Farther up the coast is the beach at Haens, where Mitri Gaynor "washed that man right out of her hair!" in "South Pacific." Spectacular views are shown at the Waimea Canyon, often referred to as the Grand Canyon of the Pacific.

On the Big Island of Hawaii, the Orchid Island, there is Honaunau,

Voter's league set for busy year

gue of Women Voters Week in Michigan by Gov. William Milliken. The local Grosse Pointe league has been serving this community for 31 years by providing non-partisan political information to residents.

The league is a non-profit organization of volunteer women and men whose goals are to promote and encourage informed voting, to educate the citizenry about the governmental process and to promote political responsibility through informed active participation of citizens in government.

To that end, the Grosse Pointe league has maintained an active and responsive Voter Service Committee, which compiles Voter Service Guides for each local election. The guides present an objective overview of how the candidates address the pertinent and current issues along with a short biographical sketch of the candidate. The guides are free of charge at local public buildings.

The league slao distributes Ballot Proposal Bulletins and hosts candidate forums during election time also.

One of the league's local publications, Know Your Grosse Points, offers information on the five Grosse Pointes, the Grosse Pointe School System, and lists local government agencies, churches, libraries, services available, a history of the area, street map and other information frequently needed by residents in the community. The booklet is available at local bookstores and drugstores.

The league offers several other study groups to keep its membership and the public current. Present programs at monthly unit meetings include the subjects of land use, hazardous substances, energy, Wayne County government, children and youth, human resources update, flnancing government service, international relations, reapportionment and assessment and education.

Some highlights of the league's 1981-82 calendar include an annual Membership Brunch Meeting on Sept. 20. Officers and directors will be

On Oct. 27, the league will cosponsor with the AAUW and the War Memorial a Wayne County Charter Forum with Wayne County Charter Commissioner Barbara B. Gattorn as guest. A December Fund-raising Brunch is scheduled with U.S. Rep. Dennis Hertel followed by a Christmas Cheer Meeting on Dec. 15 with the Reapportionment and Voters Rights Act to be discussed.

On Jan. 27 a general meeting on hazardous waste is planned. Members will meet for Chinese dinner with a program to follow. A Go-See Trip to Lansing or a Solar Home Tour is on the calendar for March.

The league invites all persons interested in becoming a more knowledgeable voter to call for further information. Membership Chairman is Lella Lynch, 884-1958 and President Suzanne Suski, 822-9348.

Parishioners of St. Paul Catholic Church, 157 Lakeshore Road, will participate in a Christian Renewal Mission from Sunday, Sept. 20 until Friday, Sept. 25. The mission will be conducted by Capuchin fathers Tom Schmied and Michael Zuelke. In announcing the mission, Monsignor Francis X. Canfield, Pastor of St. Paul's, asked his parishioners to arrange their schedules so they could attend all of the special renewal services. He also extended an invitation to all Christians who are concerned with the spiritual dimension of their lives to join the parishioners of St. Paul's for this week-long renewal mission.

"It is necessary for all of us to periodically set aside a special time to do an extensive examination of conscience to see if our growth as Christians is stagnating, if we are backsliding or if we are making honest progress in fulfilling our Christian commitment," Monsignor Canfield said.

"These two Capuchin priests will help us re-examine the basics of our Christian faith. They will help us understand the demands Christ makes on each of us who profess to follow Him. Then, they will help us to systematically and honestly look at our own lives to see where we are living up to our Christian commitment and where we need to improve. Skin starch

Something in your skin that works a little like starch is a tough protein called collagen. Women's skin contains less of it than men's. Both women and men produce less of it as they age. Doctors say this is why older women have thinner skin than older men, and they seem to show their years more readily. Their skin has less support than men's.

No whimper, no bang!

Postal authorities and the Farms police department received a cheap thrill Wednesday, Sept. 2 when a letter carrier working on Kerby Road reported a hand grenade resting in a mailbox.

After alerting the fire department, Farms Det. Earl Field reported to the scene, gingerly opened the lid on a rural-type mail box and saw an olive green fragmentation-type grenade sitting in the back of the box, leaning against its release handle.

Taking a deep breath and muttering a quick prayer, Det. Field slowly reached into the box and grasped the grenade, making sure to secure the release handle.

Luckily for all involved, the grenade proved to be a realistic looking toy for the sons of the hause to play. "grenade" was turned over to U.S. Postal Inspectors, who responded

Wardwell House dedication set

State officials and local dignitaries The home is used as a private resiwill join East Area Camp Fire Girls Saturday, Sept. 26, to formally dedicate a historical marker at Grosse Pointe Park's Wardwell House, 16109 East Jefferson at Three Mile Drive.

The public is invited to attend the ceremonies beginning at 11 a.m. Camp Fire Adventurers under Linda Brickner will perform a flag ceremony, Historical Society of Michigan President Tom Jones will speak, along with Arthur Sherman of Hawthorne Road and Dr. Ray H. Kiely of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

The Wardwell House, the oldest brick house in the Pointes, was built around 1800. For many years it was the home of the late Mrs. Harold Wardwell, who moved there as a bride in 1912 and lived there until she died in 1976. The home is on a strip of land that was purchased for back taxes in about 1870 by Mrs. Wardwell's father, the late Henry Russel. He eventually turned the strip form into Three Mile Drive subdivision, so named because it ran three miles from the lake to Gratiot. During one remodeling, a French five-franc coin dated 1789 was found in a dining room wall.

Msr. Wardwell left the house in her will to Grosse Pointe Memorial Church which maintained it for several years and recently sold it to a J.L. Hudson Company executive who was transferred to Detroit from Pittsburgh.

Grosse Pointe Park's City council last month granted the church approval to subdivide the lot the house sits on to create a second buildable plot behind the Wardwell House on Three Mile. Spokesmen for the church said it had spent considerable sums for its repair and maintenance and had exhausted its uses for the prop-

"Our program also involves back exercises," said Vital Options owner

Deanna Hawthorne, "and since over 80% of the population has back problems, there is a real need for this type of workout."

Both women are proponents of excrcise for people of any age and practice their beliefs.

They both ran in marathons in Hawaii and Detroit in the mid 70's long before running had become popular. They still run each day, teach exercise classes and continue their educations in fitness and health.

Recently they headed the Vital Options racewalking team that placed second in the Masters International competition in Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Their company, which they formed in 1976, runs exercise classes throughout Michigan. They also conduct weekend and week-long fitness "spas" for women at Mercy Conference

The current "Country" exercise program was created by Hawthorne Thornton, who choreograph entirely new programs three times per year.

Grosse Pointe residents interested in joining the B-Fit exercise classes may contact Grosse Pointe Continuing Education, 343-2178.

Adult courses to begin Sept. 21

Whether you wish to learn the finer points of Scrabble, reupholster an old chair, train your dog, or learn to take better pictures the Grosze Pointe public school system can help with classes beginning the week of Sept. 21.

Under the category of "special interest," the Department of Continuing Education offers a total of 41 classes in the fall term which is about to "Personalities in the Bible - Part II" is a continuation of the popular course on Bible study which was developed several years ago by Hope Brophy. Of this offering, Mrs. Brophy, a specialist in comparative religions, states, "The emphasis is on people those arresting personalities (Adam and Eve, Moses, Jesus) who illuminate for us the era in which they lived, and help us to understand the background of the greatest best-seller of all time." This non-denominational and somewhat different approach to Scripture study will begin at 1 p.m.

on Wednesday, Sept. 23. In addition to the classes with nominal tuition fees, free classes, taught by volunteers of the American Red Cross, include "Home Nursing," First Aid," "Parenting from Birth to Two," and "Preparation for Parent-

ANNUIT COEPTIS NOVUS ORDO SECLORUM. It's Closer Than You Think!

The forces of collectivism have taken one more step toward the destruction of freedom in the marketplace! The cult of the all seeing eye has made another move to invade and destroy our right to privacy! Beginning Oct. 12th, we can no longer sell our personal property made from precious metals or containing gemstones unless we submit to the humiliation of being fingerprinted like common criminals. Adding insult to injury, a dealer who buys our belongings must submit to the police a list of the goods we sell along with the price we receive for them. (The latter to assist in the collection of confiscatory taxes, no doubt.) Though we all detest the traffic in stolen goods, as Americans, we despise Marxist, police state, totalitarianism even more! Communism is not the answer to crime! America is staggering beneath the burden of excess regulation. Police throw up their hands in dismay faced with the task of enforcing thousands of laws already on the books! Yet, the Lansing Commissars force upon us one more big brother nightmare: The precious metals act. It's time we cried. Stop! Contact your member of the state politburo or call the Colonial Shop

Your investment is fully insured by FSLIC and your interest rate is guaranteed for the one-year term. And if you have a D&N 6-month Money Market Certificate, you can roll it over into the tax-free Tax Shaver with no penalty.

When it comes to the "in" and "out" lists, now that school has started books are "in," television is "out." Television time has been cut for scholars of all ages as parents set up rules for study first and television after homework is completed, not to mention an earlier bedtime.

Fortunately most students are ready for some intellectual activity. By the end of August the joys of summer have lost their zing. Certainly weary parents who have been knocking themselves out providing recreation for their young are ready to exchange the summer sun for autumn haze and the blessed relief of the school day reprieve.

Ears tortured by stereos set at peak decibels can be soothed by long hours of silence. Televisions set for the day on reruns can be turned off. There will be no more trips to movie matinees to "Superman" (two times or three?); "Star Wars" (three times or four?); "Clash of the Titans" (two times or three?) and other such goodies. (Movies worth seeing at all must be seen at least three times). Once again for a few hours, it is an adult

MOST GRANDPARENTS have shared summers of delight with sons and daughters of their own and again with grandchildren. After all it's less than human to stand by without offering some relief to beseiged parents. (You must remember those days when you had to listen to that proverbial mantis that children recite ad infinatum until even the strongest parent weakens. Like all mantis, it is short and repetitive. It consists of two words "I'm bored." Usually it is followed by "What is there to do?" but often it is left hanging in the air and accompanied by an accusing look which silently demands: "What are you going to do about the situation?

So for grandparents who have shared the burden, school's opening is also a relief, albeit not in the same measure as it is for parents.

And as parents exchange their summer child-based activities for the responsibility of seeing that their children benefit from the educational system so do grandparents carry over their summer interests for their grandchildren to one of wanting them to succeed in school and help them if they can. One way to help is to provide a little extra stimulation for the student in the form of books that will help academically but at the same time provide fun time activities. Made to order for this purpose are the "Brown Paper School Book Series" (Little Brown, $5.95 each.) Although the cover is made of brown paper (actually it's a buff color), the title design is at-tractive enough to draw the attention of any young reader. The black and white illustrations accompanying the stories, ideas, suggestions and directions for things to make, collect and give away are provocative, amusing and easy to follow.

Essentially "The Brown Paper School Books" are a series of small books. The books come from a group of California teachers, writers and artists who want children to enjoy learning. They believe learning only happens when it is wanted, that it can happen anywhere and doesn't require fancy tools.

The "I Hate Mathematics Book" (Marilyn Burns) aptly illustrates the series' philosophy. On the cover is a group of cartoon-type kids shouting in protest. They are obviously against having anything to do with mathematics. Inside are events, gags, magic tricks and experiments that will convince protestors that mathematics is nothing more than a way of looking at the world and shouldn't be confused with arithmetic.

A chapter on "Street Math" suggests a fun experiment counting street cracks. This exercise turns into a lesson on hypothesis. "How Many Sides Does a Banana Have?" teaches the principle of symetry. Some of the nicest people hate mathematics but this book will convert many of them.

"I Am Not A Short Adult" or "Getting Good At Being A Kid" (Marilyn Burns) talks about things like caring, responsibility and deciding for yourself what kind of a kid you want to be. Parents, sisters and brothers are considered. Famous kids, smart kids, kids who get into trouble are discussed. It is a terrific book for instilling confidence in a child and gives valuable insights into the world of growing up to adults. The chapter, "The T.V. Picture" on the good and bad points of watching television is worth the price of admission. Consider the query "How does the T.V. get treated in your home?" Does it have its own room? Do you like it better than your brother? Does it get much

"BLOOD AND GUTS," aptly subtitled "A Working Guide to Your Onw Insides" (Linda Allison) helps readers explore the amazing territory inside the skin. They will discover that there are miles of blood vessels, billions of cells, hundreds of muscles, many (Continued on Page 12A)

His bent beak bounces back

A red-tailed hawk is resting comfortably at the Belle Isle Nature Center, exercising to regain his strength after colliding with a jet at Selfridge Air Force Base. The severely injured bird was rescued by a base fireman and taken to the Michigan Humane Society where Dr. William Bayley spent two and a half hours rebuilding the hawk's beak.

After successfully saving the beak, the hawk had to be hand fed during his recuperative time.

An eyewitness at the scene said the hawk had glanced off the wing of one of the base aircraft.

The Michigan Humane Society adds that a spokesman for Selfridge Air Force says the incident was not in any way related to the air traffic controller's strike.

Learn natural birth at Cottage

Couples who will deliver their babies in December are invited to register for a seven week series of childbirth preparation classes beginning Oct. 7. Classes meet each Wednesday evening from 7:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Cottage Hospital, 159 Kercheval Avenue, Grosse Pointe Farms. A $5 registration fee, required for each couple, is refunded if the class is completed.

A registered nurse and an instructor teach the classes. Prospective parents receive complete instruction in the natural childbirth method. This includes breathing and relaxation techniques, as well as exercises to prepare the mother for delivery. Instructors also teach prenatal care and care of the newborn. While one method of delivery is not advocated over another, mothers are prepared to attain totally natural childbirth.

A husband, mother, or friend is invited to accompany the expectant mother to act as her "coach."

Now that Cottage Hospital has consolidated its obstetrical unit with Bon Secours Hospital, prospective parents tour the obstetrical unit there.

Classes are open to everyone. For registration and more information, contact the nursing administration office at 864-8600, extension 2380.

They will also learn that they are a finely tuned organism with more parts than there are people in New York City and altogether a pretty incredible being. Besides all this fascinating information the book has experiments showing how to make tools that will help to see and feel and hear what is going on inside the body.

Jamie Jobb's "Everyday Guide to Every Night" invites the readers to learn about the wonders of the night sky. They will get to know such fascinating constellations as Pegasus, Bootes and Hercules. Stories from long ago show how people used the signposts in the sky to lead them through the darkest nights to home. It shows how to make a cross-staff and a naderzenith finder. Meteors, auroras, zodial lights are made as fascinating as any fireworks shown. Advise anyone you give it to to read it on the weekend. It will keep them up all night and that's not good on a school night.

"The Reasons for Seasons" (Linda Allison) provides a great cosmic megagalactic trip without moving a chair. Woven into the chapters are stories of what each season brings, the weather patterns, the birth of animals, the kinds of food that grows. There is something here, a story, a project, an interesting fact about every season.

"The Book of Think," or "How to Solve a Problem Twice Your Size" (Marilyn Burns) tells what to do if the reader is puzzled; perplexed or stumped or can't get from there to here. There are exercises to warm up the brain, such as "Looking At What You Usually See," a series of questions about everyday objects which anyone should be able to answer but usually can't because they never have really looked; prods to the imagination; identifying the real problem within the apparent problem; why learning to solve problems doesn't mean learning to be more logical.

"In My Backyard History Book" by David Wertzman presents the theory that there is a lot more to history than memorizing names of Presidents and war dates. In his book history starts today. It is a celebration of time passing. That's where it ends. In between, there is a lot of interesting territory.

It is really a local history book organized around the idea that learning about the past best begins at home. Making a birthday time capsule, a time line of important events in your life, history that talks, history in the yellow pages are some of the suggested activities.

And finally for the physical education fan. Tom Schneider presents "Everybody's A Winner" in which new ways to play and old ones are explored. He suggests that maybe the most important consideration is a new way to think about winning and

Each one of these books has nfany things to offer that makes learning interesting and enjoyable and would be a welcomeback-to-school gift from interested grandparents who want their grandchildren to be excited about learning.

A Pyrrhic victory?

An organization called Michigan Citizens Supporting the President is seeking local support for President Reagan's programs but is itself getting somewhat divided support from Michigan Republicans.

Not that the group represents just Republicans, Richard Headlee, voluntary chairman, says the organization "localize information received from Washington to explain how President Reagan's efforts will specifically benefit the people of Michigan." And he has invited 63 people to serve on the board of directors, including some conservative Democrats and such Grosse Pointe Republicans as Rep. William Bryant, Palmer Heenan, Vic Caputo, Steve Marr and Alfred Reuther, 14th Congressional District GOP chairman.

BUT SEVERAL prominent Republicans have declined to serve. They include Lt. Gov. James H. Brickley, John R. Gnau, who has been the President's chief political operative in Michigan, and former Congressian Philip Ruppe, who is said to feel his participation might conflict with his Senate candidacy. Gov. William Milliken was not officially invited, presumably because he feels Headlee may be using the committee as a launching pad for his own candidacy for governor.

Even so, national Reagan Republican leaders reportedly are looking at the Michigan citizens group as a possible model for similar organizations in other states. The Michigan organization expects to raise $100,000 to carry on its educational program as an associate of the National Heritage Foundation in Washington. If successful, such organizations obviously could become powerful lobbyists for the President's causes. Yet they also would run the risk of diluting the GOP efforts. It is no secret that Milliken and Brickley are no more enamored of the conservative wing of the party than the conservatives are with their top GOP leaders in Michigan. Yet a separate organization made up largely of conservative Republicans and put together to lobby for the President's programs could widen the split between the conservative and moderate wings of the GOP, not only in this state but elsewhere.

President Reagan promised during the 1980 campaign to broaden the party's base. Setting up separate organizations of conservatives would appear to run counter to that aim by insisting on a conservative test of Reagan Republicanism. The GOP may be adopting a new method of snatching defeat from the jaws of victory.

Irresponsible CLOUT

Like a frustrated Don Quixote tilting at windmills, State Sen. Gilbert DiNello, East Detroit Democrat, vows to continue his campaign against Detroit's commuter income tax even though he and his colleagues have lost the first round of their battle in Wayne County Circuit

DiNello is chairman of an organization called CLOUT, an acronym for the Commuters Lobby Opposed to Unfair Taxes, which is seeking to collect more than 230,000 signatures to get its petition to repeal the recent 1 percentage point tax hike on the November, 1982, ballot. In his ruling, Judge Richard S. Kaufman said the constitutionality of the state law under which Detroit adopted the higher tax "is not even a close legal question." The attorney for another organization, the Commuter Tax Association, said he would appeal the decision, and seek to get the State Supreme Court to accept immediate jurisdiction.

SO DINELLO AND his cohorts apparently will continue their two-pronged attack on the commuter tax. If they can't win in the courts, they think they have a chance to win with the electorate. And they do have such a chance but only if they can get the necessary signatures on their petitions to put the issue on the 1982 ballot.

Of course, it is too much to ask DiNello and other foes of the commuter tax to propose some substitute for that proposal. They apparently prefer to ignore the reason for enacting the tax boost. It was, readers will regall, part of Detroit's economic survival plan. The tax increase was intended to help repay the $125 million the city is seeking to borrow through the sale of bonds to finance its current operating deficit. It is needed, in short, to help save the city of Detroit from bankruptey.

Commuter taxes often have faced challenges in the past but the courts have ruled them to be constitutional in spite of the argument that such taxes impose taxation without representation. But citizens who own property outside of jurisdictions in which they live have the same problem. So it is not a new or unusual issue.

It can be argued that commuters who work in another city and get the use of its services and facilities for at least a third of every working day ought to pay something for those privileges. Until the recent election in Detroit, commuters paid a one-half of percent city income tax. Now they are paying a 1.5 percent tax which is triple the former rate but still only half of the 3 percent rate now imposed on Detroit taxpayers.

Nobody likes to pay taxes but those who campaign against a specific tax have some responsibility to consider the effect if they achieve their goal. DiNello, to our knowledge, has not considered the effect on Detroit and its economic survival. Instead, he prefers to campaign against the commuter income tax like Don Quixote tilting at windmills because it is a useful way to win publicity if nothing else.

Where will lobbying end?

A story in the Detroit News the other day reported that "a coalition of wealthy school districts has hired an influential Lansing lobbyist to watch lest the state 'take money from the rich and give it to the poor." The story said 19 "out-of-formula" districts, in-cluding Grosse Pointe, hired the lobbying firm to make sure they don't lose any more state aid,

This is an old story in Grosse Pointe. The Grosse Pointe News reported last March that the Grosse Pointe School Board had hired Capitol House Consultants, Ltd., and committed $1,458 for its lobbying services through last June 30. Eugene (Billie) Farnum, mentioned in the Detroit News story as the lobbyist for the 19 districts, is on the staff of the Capitel House Consultants firm.

William Coats, the former superintendent here, was one of the professional school men who organized the "out-offormula" districts to coordinate their activities to influence legislation and especially "to minimize financial losses." The "out-of-formula" districts are those which no longer qualify for basic state aid because their property values per student exceed permissible state limits.

THE POINT IN reviving the story here is not to emphasize that the Detroit News is six months behind the Grosse Pointe News in reporting this lobbying effort but to note that the Grosse Pointe School Board soon will face the question of whether it should renew the contract with the lobbying firm that expired June 30.

This newspaper last March editorially questioned the advisability of public agencies hiring lobbyists to work with legislative bodes even though we are aware that the city of Detroit, the state of Michigan and many other public entities have done so. We repeat our earlier question:

"Where does public spending ever stop if public as well as private funds can be spent to lobby for legislation to increase public spending. whether it's for schools or some equally noble purpose?"

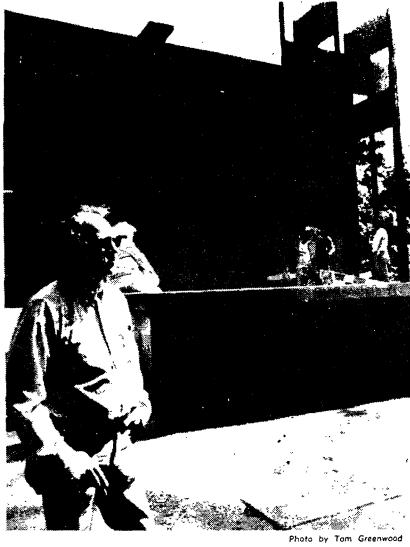

We concluded our discussion last March with this comment:

"While the Grosse Pointe's contribution to this lobbying effort is supposed to end June 30, that is not likely to be the end of the financial support for Capitol House Consultants if the lobbyists do their job and if the new organization of out-of-formula school districts works out."

That forecast appears to have been right on target because the school board is expected to take up the question of renewing its contract with the lobbyists within the next month. We still don't like the idea.

From the school board's point of view, of course, it is an acceptable approach because it wants the Legislature to pay attention to the problems of the "out-of-formula" districts and finds it difficult to get that attention because these districts are in the minority in the state.

Yet this approach does tend to further fragment community interests and encourage the special interest approach that seems to motivate all too many segments of society and the economy these days. Increasingly in Washington and in Lansing and other state capitols, it is becoming, not government of the people, by the people and for the people, but government of the lobbyists, by the lobbyists and for the lobbyists who represent special interests.

It's a 'Salute to Knowledge'

Artist Lyman Kipp's "Salute to Knowledge" sculpture, a gift to the Central Library from Grosse Pointe philanthropist W. Hawkins Ferry, will be dedicated in a special ceremony at the library, Sunday, Sept. 27 at 2 p.m. The sculpture was set into place in front of the library last June. Kipp and Ferry will attend the ceremony as well as members of the board of directors of the Friends of the Grosse Pointe Public Library who are hosting the event. Other special guests include members of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education, local dignitaries, business leaders, artists and friends of art. Following the ceremony, Kipp will speak on "Contemporary Structural Art" in the Exhibition Room, The Friends of the Library will also host a tea in the Friends Room honoring Ferry and Kipp. The public is invited.

One view from the Capitol

By William R. Bryant, Jr. , tax relief but the job climate The fall session of the Legislature began yesterday. It is the most important session in the 11 years I have served as your representative.

Perhaps I should say that it should be the most important session. It could fail miserably.

Michigan's job climate and property tax relief are the issues which must be addressed and on which major action must occur. However, in order to deal with those issues effectively, we must be willing to temporarily reduce available state revenue. Property tax relief will require paying state funds to local units dependent on property tax to replace their lost local revenue.

Many items, such as reduction of the Single Business Tax, necessary to aid our job climate, will directly reduce state revenue. Thus, the state budget, already in bad shape due to the recession reducing state tax revenues and due to huge welfare costs, must be cut further.

I formulated and have unanimous caucus support for an immediate $480 million property tax cut. Over the first three years it would cut property taxes on homes and farms by over $1.5 billion.

We have proposed a package of major job climate measures including $80 million in tax reductions for business.

The Governor will present his program for recovery of the Michigan economy. It will be less than we would like to see in the way of first year property program, we are confident, will be very strong. Many legislators will need your support, encouragement and a large nudge from you, if you will. Those legislators of more liberal persuasion or those who are concerned about whether they will be supported or opposed by the unions in 1982? are very skittish about the votes facing them this fall.

We need all the votes we can: get, and it will be tough to get enough to coordinate benefits and redefine disability in Worker's Compensation; to establish a waiting week before unemployment compensation would be owed; to cut property taxes for homeowners and, for all of this and more, to; make the cuts in welfare and; other state budget areas.

I ask you to please write your own State Senator and to write Speaker Bobby Crim and Senate Leader Bill Faust insisting this session succeed in doing what must be done. Ask for an early response, and let me know if the: response is unsatisfactory.

The Woman's National Farm & Garden Association's 28th International Tea will be held right in our own backyard this year, at the beautiful Edsel & Eleanor Ford House, where 3,000 feet of grounds stretch along Lake St. Clair and almost 90 acres of idyllic landscape reflect the inspiration of designer Jens Jensen, whose genius assisted nature to improve upon its own plan.

The House itself is a Cotswold Manor. Its furnishings are original. The WNF&GA ladies will be taking tea there Wednesday, Sept. 30, and many will be in international costume, for proceeds from this annual event, a project of the Michigan Division WNF&GA whose president is Mrs Paul E. September superlatives for the French Institute

The Edsel & Eleanor Ford House will be the setting this Saturday. Sept. 19, for a dinner dance sponsored by the Consul General of France in Detroit and the French Institute of Detroit. It's an invitational, benefit soiree. Proceeds will further the Institute's educational programs, including the Lycee International de Detroit which welcomed more than 80 students when it opened its doors for the first time last Monday, Sept. 14.

The Lycee, located on Evergreen and Thirteen Mile Road in Southfield, has a double objective: to provide an education for French or French-speaking children who wish to follow instruction that conforms to the official program of the French Ministry of Education, and to accommodate English-speaking children in an American program of study that includes the possibility of thoroughly learning the French language.

The Institute also offers instruction in French for adults, using modern methods developed by the Alliance Francaise for its worldwide network of schools. It is Michigan's only school approved by the Alliance Française of Paris. It is a cultural, non-political, non-profit, tax-exempt organization.

Saturday's soiree at the Ford Estate will feature music for dancing and listening, plus five buffet tables offering everything from caviar to crepes, roast beef to cheese, fruits to French wines.

The evening party caps a week of superlatives for the French Institute and its friends, for not only did the Lycce open on Monday-so did the French Institute's exhibit, "Paris 1945, A life Story," a selection of 55 black and white photographs by Edward Clark, a former photo-journalist for LIFE Magazine.

Clark and his wife, a former Pointer, were on hand for the show's debut at the Birmingham Community House. It will remain on view there through Monday, Sept. 28, from 9 to 11 a.m. and 3 to 5 p.m. weekdays. Information on Saturday and Sunday hours may be obtained by calling 644-5832.

Clark, who went to Germany on assignment to record the trials of the Nazi leaders at Nuremburg for LIFE, discovered Paris for the first time in that exceptional period immediately following World War II. His series of Paris photographs was published by LIFE in two separate issues: in November of 1945 and March of 1946.

He shows Paris as the American GIs saw it: cold, foggy, sad, unadorned, somber but beautiful, its inhabitants cold, hungry, perplexed and tired. The pictures are sensitive, perceptive, impressionistic, at times even surrealistic: shots of the "City of Light" almost devoid of light.

As a LIFE staff photographer, Clark covered every Democratic and Republican campaign and convention from 1944 to 1960. He photographed the major movie stars of his time, from Humphrey Bogart to Marilyn Monroe. His pictures are included in Edward Steichen's "Family of Man" exhibit that traveled the world and became a best-selling book; they have also appeared in "The Best of LIFE," "LIFE Goes to the Movies' and "LIFE Goes to War."

Saturday's party is chaired by Mrs. Frederick van Assche. A fellow Pointer, Marco Nobili, designed the invitation for the soiree. Marco, the French Institute's current president for Cultural Activities, also hung the

Artists Market Opens its Doors Again

Traditionally, the Detroit Artists Market is "on vacation" in August, and traditionally, the Market's new season begins with the board of directors' opening reception and preview of the Annual Fall Exhibition. That's set for tomorrow, Friday, Sept. 18, this year, from 5 until 7:30 p.m. at the Artists Market Gallery on Randolph Street in Harmonie Park.

From mid-October to mid-November, following the Fall Exhibition, the Market will feature Bernhardt Building Artists. The Christmas Exhibition runs Nov. 20 to Dec. 31, and the new year begins Jan. 8 with the opening of the Center for Creative Studies Scholarship Exhibition. The 1981-82 Artists Market schedule continues with a Feb. 12 to March 6 Invitational, Charles McGee, curator; the Michigan Potters Association Annual Exhibit running March 12 to April 10; the April 17 to May 22 Michigan Glass Exhibition; an Atlas Building Artists Exhibit opening May 28; the traditional Garden Sale in June and the season-ending Group Exhibition July 2 to 31.

The Market also conducts an Education Program throughout the year. Highlights of the coming season are a Contemporary Art Tour of two Birmingham area homes in October, a Coopers & Lybrand Art Collection Tour conducted by Gertrude Kasle in November and a January Artists' Studio Tour, plus a February-March Mini Art Course and a series of Open Juries, with Dennis Nawrocki, Education Department, Detroit Institute of Arts; Ruth Rattner and Roy Slade.

Spotlight on a Grosse Pointe Artist

Meanwhile, back at the Coach House Gallery on Van Dyke Place, just off East Jefferson Avenue, an exhibition of abstract-color paintings by Mary Ann (Mrs. Herbert) Field, of Loraine Road, a Pointe resident for the past 20 years, opens this Sunday, Sept. 13, with a 2 to 5 p.m. reception.

Mary Ann, retired as principal of Roseville's Arbor Elementary School, has studied painting, sculpture and design privately in Michigan and Florida, locally with Grosse Pointe sculptor Frank Varga, and has exhibited at the Detroit Artists Market and throughout southwest Florida. This is her fourth one-woman show. It will run through Sept. 30 at the Coach House.

The Community Linc.

By Susie Rohde

We are looking for a horse. That's right. We at Operation LINC (Linking Individuals to Needs in the Community) need to find a live horse for young campers who retreat to Camp Brighton, Mich., as part of a youth guidance program of The Detroit Metropolitan Youth for Christ organization.

This agency is one of the more than 500 agencies and social services in Wayne County who come to us for help. Serving as a non-profit, volunteer organization, the volunteers at Operation LINC "link" donors of goods, services or funds to these many agencies. Our goal is to help others help themselves.

We have many wonderful volunteers who contribute their time and talents to Operation LINC. It is because of their dedication and the support of the suburban community that we have been recognized as an outstanding contribution to moving Detroit forward. Operation LINC's program gives the volunteer a unique opportunity to learn about the people and the community organization of Detroit; their problems and their strengths.

TO CONTINUE OUR successful "linking" ability, we need your help. We will discuss different ways to volunteer time at a volunteer coffee at 9:15 a.m. next Tuesday, Sept. 22, at our location in the Northeast Guidance Center, 13340 East Warren Avenue, in Detroit.

Present at the coffee will be Deborah Benjamin, of First Step, a Westland agency assisting battered wives, and Jim DuBose, of Jefferson-

Another Grand Marais season

The group's officers for 1981-82 are Mrs. Mary Evelyn Self, of Berkshire Road, president; Mrs. Clinton Hardy, of Radnor Circle, vice-president; Mrs. Carlisle Rueger, of McKinley Avenue, treasurer; and Mrs. Paul Nage', of Park Lane, and Mrs. John Foley, of Merriweather Road, recording and corresponding secretaries, respective-Chalmers Community and Economic Development Department in Detroit. They will explain how their organizations and Operation LINC work together to find the goods they need to help their clients.

"Links" we have recently made included a 1973 Pontiac Station Wagon donated to Detroit Rubicon Odyssey House, a rehabilitation agency.

IF YOU CAN'T donate a car, that's okay. If you can't donate a horse, that's okay, too. But we can use a gas stove for our agency, Eastside Mothers. As you begin to weed through your closets, attics or basements this fall, please remember that we can use just about anything you have. Right now we need beds, linens, cribs, household items of any kind, clothes, toys, typewriters and copy machines. We also need body items.

machines. We also need baby items.
One organization which could use many of these items is the W.O.M.A.N. Center on Cass Avenue in Detroit. The Center provides a multi-modality program of drug abuse treatment and rehabilitation for women, with supportive services for their dependent children.

They are beginning an office procedure class and are in need of type-writers, sewing machines and a portable record player. They also need toys, games, furniture, baby and children's clothes.

Baby and children's items also are needed at Homes For Black Children, an adoptive agency that helps families going through a crises, such as alcoholism or separation, but who wish to stay together. According to Homes for Black Children coordinator Andrea McKnight, the agency is beginning an arts and crafts program and can use sewing machines and furniture. They are badly in need of housewares and appliances of any kind.

ANOTHER AGENCY we are trying to help locate usable goods for is The Mariner's Inn, located on Ledvard Street in Detroit. The Inn shelters and helps men to survive poverty, resolve alcohol and drug addiction, learn new skills in preparing for employment and generally improve their quality of life with better housing and clothing. They need men's clothing, coats, boots, shoes, bed linens and household appliances. For their crafts projects, they will need leather.

If you can help with these or any items in good, usable condition, please call Operation LINC at 331-6700. All items donated are tax deductible. Please call before dropping off goods.

Proclaim Cystic Fibrosis Week

President Ronald Reagan, the Congress of the United States and Michigan's Governor William Milliken have proclaimed Sept. 20 to 26 as National Cystic Fibrosis Week throughout the country, and Darlene Krato, of The Farms, president of the Metropolitan Detroit Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, hails this proclamation as "an important step in broadening public understanding of the disease that ranks as America's most common genetic killer of young people.'

Cystic fibrosis is an inherited degenerative disease that attacks the lungs and digestive system by producing a thick, glue-like mucus that impairs normal breathing and digestion. An average of five children are born with cystic fibrosis every day.

"There is still no cure for CF," says Darlene, "but research continues in the effort to find one - and, meantime, to improve medical treatment to prolong and enhance the quality of life for CF patients. Major improvements have been made. Fifteen years ago, it was rare for a child to live long enough to enter school.

"Today, thanks to improved medical treatment, nearly half of the children born with CF will live past the age of 21. One key element in ensuring a longer and better life is early diagnosis and treatment.'

This, Darlene explains, is why the campaign against CF has three parts: broadened public education, improved medical treatment and research to find a control for the disease.

There are presently 123 CF medical centers supported by the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation throughout the United States. The local center, located at Children's Hospital of Michigan, is headed by Shores resident Dr. George Polgar.

The Metropolitan Detroit Chapter of the CF Foundation will conduct a community-wide public education campaign, under the leadership of Park resident Carol Tock aided by Shores resident Betty Frolund, Farms resident Dorothy Schmidt and Pat Smith, of St. Clair Shores, all members of Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

Alpha Chi collegiates and alumnae throughout the nation aid with educational programs and fund raising efforts and provide CF research fellowships each year.

"Our main goal during National Cystic Fibrosis Week," says Darlene, is to focus public attention on cystic fibrosis and help the people of this country learn more about the disease."

No fires for Mount Vernon . . .

A half-century ago, when Henry Ford (the First) was developing Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum, he wrote to Mount Vernon to ask for information on the design of an 18th century Smoke Jack. Back came all the information he requested, including detailed drawings, and Ford was so delighted with this response that he determined to give something to Mount Vernon in return. So, in 1923, Henry Tondan presented the Mount Vernon I adject Association. Ford presented the Mount Vernon Ladies' Association of the Union, the country's first national historic preservation society, with a fire truck to protect the 500-acre estate started by the Washington family in 1674. Ford donated a its first fund campaign since Ann Pamela Cunningham, of South Caro-lina, Association founder, organized the successful national drive that raised $200,000 for the purchase of

"You been buying Bonds for mc all these years?"

Yeah, but it was your money. Seeing you had something to fall back on was the least I could do as your manager. May be now you can open up that little restaurant -voure always talking about." He tossed his gloves in the air and shouted, "Hey, all

"They're not fast, kid, they're kinda slow and steady...but very reliable." Lassured him.

Pointer of Interest

By Peggy O'Connor

Most people have probably seen Impressions, a little shop in Tower 400 of the Renaissance Center, and popped in and browsed or just passed right on by. It's tucked neatly in a corner and easy to miss when negotiating the maze of towers, cocktail pods and escalators.

But the next time you're down there just walking around with an hour or two to spare, locate Impressions and let the owners, Glennis Deisinger and Cis Sherwood, introduce you to the world of griffins and gargoyles, lions, ladies and knights.

Impressions specializes in brass rubbings. Customers may buy museum reproductions of brass rubbings, they may purchase brass rubbings done by Cis and Glennis, or they may pay for the privilege (and the fun) of completing their own brass rubbing. While any choice is nice and results in a great piece of artwork, the fun lies in sitting down in Impressions and rubbing to your heart's content.

Impressions opened last March, and Cis' and Glennis' accountant tells them they're doing well for a new business. Their main goal now is to teach people what brass rubbing is and how they can have fun if they are ready to spend an hour or so in the process.

"MANY OF OUR customers are drop-ins; they're not ready to spend the time it takes to complete a rubbing." Cis says. "We sell rubbings we do, but it's half the price and a lot more fun if you do it yoruself." Glennis

The size of the brass determines the length of time it takes to complete a rubbing. A small griffin or lion takes about a halfhour to complete. Some of the larger brasses take longer, up to four hours. Prices start at $2.50 and work up to $20. And despite the time some of the brasses take, the price is right and "it's something to do other than shop," Glennis says.

And brass rubbing is something to do that is easy—anyone can do it. "We usually spend about five minutes giving the customer a little lesson, then we set up the brass and let them go. we've had very few We've seen some of the finished products leave here looking a little rough, but the customers are always happy," Cis says.

The brass itself, a raised figure of a lion, griffin or other medieval being, is wrapped securely in black or white paper. The paper is made so it can be wrapped without ripping or bunching. The artist chooses the color wax he prefers (the color of the rubbing comes from the wax) and rubs lightly along the edge to bring out the outline of the brass. The end of the wax is then used to rub and fill in the middle.

THE BRASSES used at Impressions are copies of original brasses set in English churches. The English are very happy to make copies of the originals-it saves the precious originals from being worn down by years of brass rubbing.

There are 10,000 brasses in the British Isles and only a few hundred have been copied, according to Glennis. Impressions has 28 brasses, of varied size and background. Cis and Glennis went through catalogs and picked out the most interesting and varied brasses. "We'd like to get more, but we have to add to them as we get the money," Glennis says.

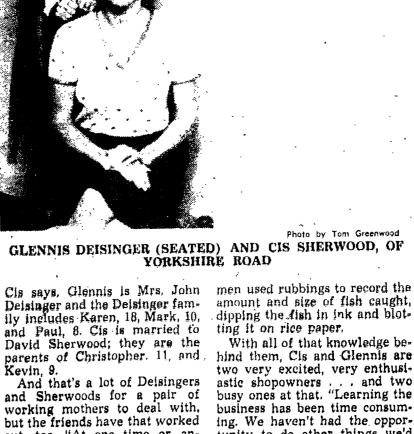

The life experiences of Cis Sherwood and Glennis Deisinger are as varied as the brass they own. Glennis is a former Registered Nurse. Cis was once a high school English teacher. Despite their backgrounds, the two are extremely close - that brought about by the proximity of their homes.

"We're neighbors on Yorkshire -that's probably the only way we could arrange all of this,"

YWCA is the place for arts and crafts'

Included in this fall's arts and crafts classes at the Macomb YWCA, located on East Ten Mile Road in East Detroit, is a series of Saturday afternoon Learn to Weave workshops running from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Two fiort classes will be presented as an ir roduction to basic weaving techniques and simple loom construction.

Session One, meeting Oct. 3, 10 and 17, will teach basic weaving. Students will make a bamboo-burlap wall hangout, too. "At one time or another, Glennis or I becomes mother to five," Cis laughs.

ACCORDING TO Glennis, the Sherwood and Deisinger kids are really getting into the whole thing. "The kids are interested in the store. They always ask: 'How did you do and how much did you make?'"

The kids have all learned to rub; in fact, it was the ease with which they picked up the craft which led Cis and Glennis to believe a brass rubbing business just might work. Čis had brought the idea home from abroad, where she and David had vacationed and spent some fun hours in brass rubbing shops. When we got home I talked to Glennis about it and we both said: 'Let's try it!'

So they did, and since then, everything has seemed to fall right into place for Glennis and Cis. They found a brass supplier, got their funds together and moved into the Renaissance Center, a move they do not regret.

Cis and Glennis picked the Renaissance Center because of the great potential for convention business. "And we believe in Detroit. As Detroit goes, so goes Grosse Pointe and we want to be part of that," Glennis says.

"The Renaissance Center is a fun place to work. When they do spend the time, we get to talk to the customers. We've learned a lot from them," Cis adds.

AND IMPRESSIONS customers have no doubt learned a lot from Cis and Glennis in the five months the shop has been open. A brief printed history comes with each rubbing, and what that leaves out, Cis and or Glennis will be happy to fill in.

They have a wealth of knowledge about brass rubbing and the different forms it takes. For example, there are rubbings in China and Impressions is trying hard to get some. Cis and Glennis also also interested in petroglyphs, etchings in stone done by American Indians and very popular in Utah.

And the Japanese, historian Cis relates, were one of the first to do rubbings. Japanese fisher-

Session Two meets Oct. 24 and 31 and Nov. 7. Students will construct a simple frame loom and complete a basic handwoven project of their choice. Warping, taking the weaving off the loom and finishing techniques also will be covered.

Instructor is Jane Perry. Classes are open to adults and high school age teens, and most materials are included. Fee schedules and further information may be obtained by calling

With all of that knowledge behind them, Cis and Glennis are two very excited, very enthusiastic shopowners . . . and two busy ones at that. "Learning the business has been time consuming. We haven't had the opportunity to do other things we'd like to do . . . hopefully, we'll have more time to get out and see all the wonderful things out there." Cis says.

But then Impressions itself has many wonderful things. An hour or two will get you some artwork, some fun, relaxation, a bit of history and a chance to meet two friendly ladies.

When you're done, they'll help you frame your artwork - in wood or metal for an extra charge. The shop also has a wonderful collection of gargoyleseven gargoyle-adorned mirrors. All very inexpensive, in the $12-$40 range.

"This is affordable art. We have a limited edition of signed, numbered items done by professionals; there are mainly collectors' items, but certainly affordable," Cis says.

And the time it takes just to drop in for the fun of a brass rubbing session is affordable, too . . . and worth every penny.

ULS wins, South drops grid start

North squeaks by, 6-0

By Paul Regelbrugge North High

Led by a stellar defensive performance, Grosse Pointe North's varsity football team.squeaked by a tough East Detroit Shamrocks squad to give new Norsemen head Coach Frank Sumbera a 6-0 victory,

The game's only touchdown was scored with just 52 seconds remaining in the first quarter when sophomore quarterback Chris Bingaman leaped into the end zone from the one yard line. The rest of the game was dominated by costly penalties and fantastic defensive performances from both sides.

"They're a very good football team defensively, very much like us," Coach Sumbera said after the game. "They've also got a young offense, and the only real difference between us was that we scored and they didn't. Our defense was outstanding.

East Detroit's best chances to score came in the fourth quarter but three penalties in a row halted one drive, and the other chance vanished when junior Scott DeClaire intercepted a pass from Shamrock quarterback Jeff Hart with one minute to play.

The Norsemen's next game is away this Saturday, Sept 19 against the Fraser Ramblers, who won their opener against Bi-County member Lakeview, 14-8.

ULS Knights win 32-0

The University Liggett football Knights got off to a good start last Friday as they stunned Detroit St. Andrew, 32-0.

St. Andrew had trouble handling a John Polizzi kickoff and fumbled the first play from scrimmage on their own five yard line.

Three offensive plays later, junior quarterback Jeff (J.T.) Parks scored the Knights' first touchdown on a four-yard bootleg option. His fake kick pass for the conversion was unsuccessful.

The Knights next score came in the middle of the second quarter after junior upback Steve Jackson's block opened a 45-yard scamper by senior tailback Dave Van Elslander. After a pass interference call and two more short gainers, Van Elslander bolted over the goal line from two yards out. Parks' kick for the extra point was good and the Knights went into the locker room with a 13-0 halftime

The third quarter saw a drive, highlighted by a Parks' 40 yard quarterback keep play, stall at St. Andrew's six yard line. The Knights defense held and a St. Andrew's short punt led to Parks' 20 yard TD run. His extra point kick made the score 20-0.

In the fourth quarter, Parks' 36yard "coffin corner" punt went out of bounds at the opponents one vard line. Their first play was fumbled and senior tackle Ron Schocker fell on the loose ball for ULS fourth touch down of the day.

Interceptions by Joe Carlino and Van Elslander stopped two successive St. Andrew drives. Quarterback Mike McCarthy engineered the final 50 yard scoring drive and went over from the three.

coach Glynn Conley's defense was outstanding as it forced six turnovers on three fumbles and three interceptions.

The defensive line play of ends McCarthy, Gil Jackson and tackles Schocker and Don Young supported the secondary in holding St. Andrew to 67 yards in total offense.

This Friday, Sept. 18, the Knights' will have their hands full as they host the much improved Harper Woods Ploneers at 4 p.m.

Notre Dame tops South

By Tom Streicher South High

The Grosse Pointe South varsity football team opened its season last Saturday with a 20-0 loss to Notre Dame High School.

The fighting Irish scored in the first quarter on a pitchout from quarterback Paul Tripp to tailback Steve Gust. A run by fullback Steve Zingas brought the score to 13-0. The scoring ended when quarterback Paul Tripp scored on a run following a fumble by South on the Blue Devils' own three-yard line.

A blocked kick by South senior John Gregg combined with a run by sophomore Steve Carrier to Notre Dame's 20-yard line for the Devils' deepest penetration.

Quarterback Kip Saile also looked good on a long yardage pass to the wide receiver Jim Arnold, but the tough Irish defense stopped most of the Devils' running game.

GPHA hockey: fun for kids and parents, too

This is the last of a four-part series of interviews with Brad Tisdale, director of publicity for the Grosse Pointe Hockey Association. Last week, Tisdale discussed team selection method and the fact that in house league play, children participate equally in terms of ice time.

Tisdale also explored the methods of coach selection and talked about the registration period, which began last Saturday and will conclude this Saturday, Sept. 19 between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Community Rink. GPHA registrar Bill Alcott will discuss the program in greater detail, he can be reached at 779-7676.

This week Tisdale will discuss the role of the parent in the hockey program, and the social and motor development of the child.

Q.: While the game of hockey is for children, you indicated that parents become involved and can play an important role. What is the level of parent involvement?

Tisdale: Most importantly it is the presence of parents as their children participate on the ice, in game or practice. These kids begin a six month season later this month. During that period, the child will go through incredible skill development-it is important that parents are part of the progress throughout the learning period to share the excitement.

Parents who simply drop children off at the rink and do not witness the skill development or share in the emotion of game competition are not supporting the child. Support is the key word, because children want to share their progress with parents.

Parents can also help with team organization by dividing up administrative tasks such as ice scheduling, managing team equipment, communication of upcoming events and managing team finances. Parents can have as much fun as kids when they become involved.

Q.: You mentioned social development for children . . . how does this Tisdale: Hockey is a team game, and, as in life, those who play must learn to get along with others to be successful. The GPHA program stresses this "team" approach. The children learn very quickly about passing and positional play, since that's the only way for the team to be successful in game execution.

The coaches occasionally have "chalk talks" before and after the games to allow the children to understand their positional tactics and express themselves when they don't understand specific assignments.

The blackboard sessions are analagous to the school environment and definitely foster participation in all

Q.: How does motor development occur?

Tisdale: The children use eye, hand and foot coordination in hockey, however, we try to separate these development skills and work on them independently. The most important motor area is learning to skate. Skating is involved with all phases of the game of hockey. As the skating improves, the puck and stick enter the practice session and then hands and eyes are involved. Mastering the game of hockey will accelerate total coordination and will assist the child in other sports.

These four interviews have touched upon all aspects of the Grosse Pointe Hockey program, including costs, equipment, age group participation, supervision and safety. More than 400 children are expected to participate this year in the GPHA

Registration will conclude this Saturday, Sept. 19 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Tisdale adds that Grosse Pointe hockey is a great way to spend the fall and winter-it's hockey fun for South's Paul Hawk (No. 25) tries to gain some ground against a tough Notre Dame defense as Dave DeSmyter (No. 69) and John Szymanski (74) hold their offensive line positions. Hawk may have gained ground but South didn't, losing to the Irish, 20.0.

Hall of Fame honors for City's Ghesquiere

By Peggy O'Connor

Charles "Gus" Dorais, athletic director and football coach at the University of Detroit, was unhappy with the team he saw play one Saturday in 1937. As was his practice, he sent players who didn't get in the game or those who had played a poor game out to scrimmage with the freshmen on Monday afternoons. On the Monday afternoon following that particular 1937 Saturday, the entire team was told to hit the practice field.

The team seemed to have a problem with punt returns that Saturday afternoon so on Monday, they practiced nothing but punt returns. And on that Monday, a skinny freshman named Albert Ghesquiere ran back three of five punts on Dorais' red-

Dorais came into the locker room, asked Ghesquiere about his high school career and told him he'd be playing football on a scholarship at U of D from then on. Ghesquiere, who was at U of D, on a basketball scholarship under basketball coach Lloyd Brazil, said, "Well, you'll have to ask Mr. Brazil if that's all right." Athletic director Dorais answered, "You don't have to worry about that, son, it'll be all right."

Dorais knew what he was talking about-Ghesquiere went on to be a triple threat, record-setting football star for the University of Detroit. And last Friday night, Sept. 11, the university inducted Ghesquiere into its Sports Hall of Fame at an induction dinner at the Detroit Plaza Hotel.

"It's something you prize," Ghesquiere said. "Everybody looks forward to it and now it's a reality."

That reality came about because of the remarkable career Ghesquiere forged at U of D. A St. Paul High School graduate, Ghesquiere became a U of D regular in his sophomore year. He started at left halfback after the second game of the season.

In 1939, his performance during a game against Manhattan won him an eight column, banner headline on the New York Times sports page. The U of D squad finished with a 6-3 record both those years. In 1940, a University of Michigan standout named Tom Harmon was getting most of the American sports attention. But the man who led the nation in rushing in 1940 was Al Ghesquiere. He had 146 attempts in nine games for a total of 951 yards, an average of 6.55 yards per carry.

U of D was 7-2 that year, playing teams like Duquesne, Purdue, Texas Christian, and Tulsa, and Ghesquiere was a first choice on the Catholic All-American team and an honorable mention on the All-American team. He also was pictured in the Football Annual Magazine of 1940.

Ghesquiere was drafted by the Philadelphia Eagles that year, but for various reasons chose not to play. "So I was a holdout, but not for money in those days. I didn't want to sit out a year, so I decided to go out and be a breadwinner," Ghesquiere said.

Ghesquiere got a job with Uniroyal, where he recently celebrated his 40th year of employment, an accomplishment he's very proud of, as he is of being the first Belgian-American ever to play for U of D. Ghesquiere has lived in his Rivard Boulevard home, the family home of his parents, Louis (Rene) and Augusta, since 1926.

And he is proud of the honor the University of Detroit bestowed on him last week, but quick to point out, as he did in his acceptance speech, that his success at U of D can be attributed in part to the help of his teammates and coaches.

"The coaching staff there was the way you would want it: Dorais with his smooth way of instilling confidence, he gave you the basics. And Bud Boeringer, he got the players fired up, ready to go out there. Dad Butler, the trainer, he held us together," Ghesquiere said.

Some of those names have already been enshrined in the U of D Hall of Fame, with the likes of Lloyd Brazil, Andy Farkas, Vincent Banonis, Ed Barbour and Nate Goodnow, and now, Albert Ghesquiere-the skinny freshman who caught Gus Dorais' eye one Monday afternoon in 1937.

Red Barons open year

The G.P. Red Barons opened the 1981 ESFL season by winning two games and losing one against the St. Clair Shores Green Hornets in games played at North High School on Sun-

The Red Barons freshmen squad hung on to defeat its Green Hornet counterpart, 7-6. Steve Moore tallied the lone Baron score and Dominic Martilotti added the extra point Jason Whelan rushed for 147 yards behind powerful blocking by Adam Franco, Steve Nieman, Mike Henry, Greg Watson, Gil Waitkus, Todd Raven, Dennis Cichocki and Joe Kopitzke.

A strong defensive effort by Paul. Anderson, Chuck Weiss, Brian Simon and Brian Letcher held the Green Hornet offense deep in its own territory the entire afternoon. The final score was not a true indication of Baron dominance as three TDs were called back because of penalties.

The Red Baron junior varsity unit overpowered its opponent 13-0 as Richmond McCloud rushed for 159 yards, two TDs and one extra point. Mike Miller and McCloud each intercepted a pass and Darin Hopp and Mike Calcaterra recovered fumbles to spark the defense.

The solid blocking of Karl Schultz, Jay Tobias, Dominic Corrado, Bill Turnbull, Scott Smith, Chris Liagre, Tim Paul and the aggressive tackling of Jay Bowden, John Binder, Eric Miller, John Strieberger and Tom Smith contributed to the win.

The Red Baron varsity absorbed a soggy 34-6 loss when heavy rain fell in the second half of the contest. Chris Rodriguez rushed for over 100 yards and scored once in a losing cause.

Jim Montgomery and Joe Craparotta each recovered a fumble and Terry McDougall, Jason Bowen, Scott Stafford and Dave Kopitzke played well defensively.

The Red Barons travel to Mt. Clemens Sunday, Sept. 20, to meet the Barracudas in league action.

Ferris State opens the season at home, Sept. 26, against Great Lakes Conference foe Michigan Tech.

Wimbledon champs go to midwest

Wimbledon Racquet Club, the playing home of pro Susie Mascarin, has three championship teams. Wimbledon's summer city league champions defeated state champions from Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin to capture the western sectional title in the USTA/Michelob Lite national league adult program.

From Sept. 18 through 20, Wimbledon will challenge winning teams from a 13-state midwest area at the USTA/Michelob Lite central regional championships in Indianapolis. Winners will receive an all-expense-paid trip to the national league championships at the National Tennis Center in Flushing Meadows, N.Y., Sept. 25 through 27.

The winning Wimlbedon teams include women's 3.5 with captain Ruth Kaal, Pat Radke, Mary Woodrow, Gayle Gaston, Jan Devine, Joyce La-Grasso, Sue Albers, Karen Zoufal and Cathy White. The men's 3.5 team is comprised of captain Bob Bridge, Herman Bliss, Dave White, Jim Pollum, Pete Devine, Mark Miron, Bob Henze and Victor Lizabeth.

. Dan Watson is captain of the men's 4.5 team, which also includes Dick Keller, Don Parshall, Doug Graham, Glenn Errington, Glen Nelson, Bruce Shull, Gene Vescosky and Ron Lickman. Most of the team members are Pointe residents.

The team tennis program is a new concept for all grass roots players in the metropolitan area. The only requirement for joining is to become a -member of the USTA. Leagues are now forming for the 1981-82 season. Interested persons should contact Ruth Kaal at the Wimbledon Racquet

Pointers play for Kalamazoo

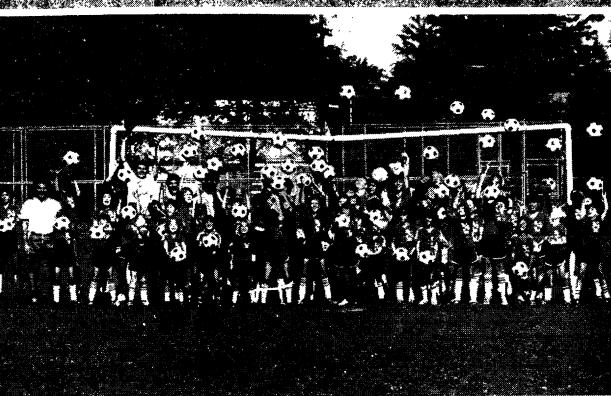

Pointe athletes will play prominent roles in Kalamazoo College sports this fall — with at least one Pointe resident listed on four sports rosters. Mark Rolain, of Grosse Pointe North High School, will begin his first year on the men's cross-country squad. Teammate Steve Lugo, of the Woods and North High, is a cross-country team sophomore.

Listed on the preseason field hockey roster are senior Martha Haug, of North, and sophomore Gena Payne, Former North High football starter John Caputo is listed as a defensive tackle on the Kalamazoo College Hor-nets freshman football roster.

Soccer midfielder Michael Azar begins his first year on the Hornet soccer team. The Woods resident is another North High School graduate.

Having a ball with soccer

The excitement of fall soccer is in the air for 130 girls in the Grosse Pointe Soccer Association. The girls participate in either a house league or a travel league, each consisting of 65 girls divided into four teams according to age. Girls in the house league meet Saturday mornings at Brownell school as the group pictured at top did for their first clinic. They play games on Sundays at University-Liggett school on Cook Road and practice once a week. The University Liggett Soccer Clinics recently completed another successful series of clinics. This year 169 boys and girls attended. At the end of each session trophies were presented by the director, David Backhurst, to those players who had displayed extraordinary skill and unflagging enthusiasm. The skills trophies went to (pictured above) Ralph Barbier, Tristan Guevara, Mike Disser, Christophe Schilling, John Drummy, and Carlos Bermudez. The spirit trophies were awarded to Greg Thompson, Dale Wilson, Matt Mogk, Wally Guevara, Neal Gross, Jim Bologna, Nick Black, Sharene Kessler, Kevin Hayes, Jason Cavataio, Emiliano Lorenzeni, Brian Disser, Jeremy Africa, Mike Disser, and Nick Casali. In addition to Backhurst, this year's coaches included Guido Regelbrugge, Luis Gomez, Tom Smith, Ray Tirikian, Tony Fioritto, Candy Bousquet, and Peter Thayer. Three one-week sessions are scheduled for next August.

All Pointes Swim Club opens new season

By Earl Duignan

The start of another school year and the emerging fall colors are two sure signs that the fall swimming season is just around the corner. Still another sure sign is the inauguration of Grosse Pointes' All Pointes Swim Club's 1981-82 season.

With the beginning of practice on Monday, Oct. 5, All Pointes will mark its 15th year under the direction of founding Head Coach Les Roddis. Coach Roddis will once again be aided by assistant coaches Connie Robinson, Jeff Bartsch and John Tem-

The primary objective of the All Pointes coaching staff is to develop an understanding of and proficiency in each of the four basic stroke categories: free style, back, breast, and butterfly strokes. The young swimmers have the opportunity to test the knowledge and skills gained during practice sessions in a dual meet format against swimmers from all over the Detroit Metropolitan area. All Pointes competes as a member of the 10 team Michigan Metro Winter League, which also includes teams from Livonia, Redford, Allen Park, and Southfield.

The 1981-82 All Pointes edition will be striving to improve upon a commendable 1980-81 season which included six wins in nine dual meet outings, and a fifth place finish in the season ending Michigan Metro Winter League Championship meet. The young east siders will begin league competition when they travel to Southfield for a road encounter on Wednesday, Oct. 28.

Subsequent meets will include not only league rivals, but opponents from the Macomb County League and the annual meet with the Waterloo Swim Club, which will be contested this year at Waterloo, Ont. Anyone wishing more information about the All Pointes Swim Club, should contact Membership Chairperson Marie Llewellyn at 881-6662. Immediate openings currently exist in the boys' 8 and under, 11 to 12, and 15 and up age groups, and the girls' 13 to 14 age bracket.

Pointe men fill U of M squad

No less than three Pointe residents are listed on the University of Michigan 1981 cross-country roster. Michigan returns this season from a 1980 Big Ten conference tie and a seventh place finish in the NCAA champion-

Senior Dan Beck, a Grosse Pointe North High School graduate, will begin his fifth season on the squad. He finished 32nd in last year's Central Collegiate championships, was 26th in the Big Ten championships, 92nd at the NCAA District IV meet and 189th at the NCAA's.

He was a member of the 1980 Indoor All-America distance medley team and gained third place in last year's Big Ten outdoor 1500 meters with a 3:44.47. He posted a 2:14.39 in the 1000 meter indoor for a team best and hopes for a sub-four minute mile this year.

Among other Michigan runners battling for top spots vacated by departing seniors is Steve Brandt, of the Pointe, a senior. Sophomore Jim Schmidt, of the Pointe, will also run cross-country for Michigan this year.
