New development completes Kercheval renaissance

By Susan McDonald

The Park Council Monday approved plans to use public and private funds to restore the last eyesore on its prime Kercheval commercial strip -the abandoned, boarded-up former Patmon Oldsmobile shop between Maryland and Wayburn Avenue.

The building, at almost 19,000 square feet, is the largest in the Park shopping area. It has been vacant for three years, deteriorating badly while the city pumped almost $300,000 of federal funds into the blighted area to spruce up store fronts, sidewalks and parking.

Under the plans approved Monday by a 5-2 vote, the city will purchase the original rear portion of the building (6,000 square feet), demolish it and install a metered parking lot. Money for the job will come from the federal Community Development Block Grant program, which has approved $50,000 for the project. The CDBG program also funded other improvements on the strip.

The city will purchase its section of the building for $14,300. Demolition is expected to cost about $5,000 and the remaining funds will be used to install lights, a 32-space parking lot and meters.

PRIVATE FUNDS will be used to restore the remaining building, according to representatives from Grosse Pointe Renaissance, a limited partnership formed by William Mierkiewicz, of Warren, and Patrick J. Morrill, of the Park.

'Our goal is to rehabilitate and convert that building into office or retail space, or both,' Mierkiewicz said. "We expect to spend about $300,000, depending on how we divide up the interior. We're soliciting tenants now."

The Renaissance partners purchased the building from heirs of the late C. J. Record through from in the Nov. 3 general election. realtor Richard P. Joy III, of Lambrecht.

The sale of a portion of the building to the city is contingent on Renaissance making improvements to the facade within 90 days, according to City Manager John Crawford. The city also will receive some $25,000 in back taxes owed on the building at the time of sale, he said. The developers said they hope to work closely with the city on all improvements to the structure.

The majority of council members were enthusiastic about the development. "This is going to enhance the city. It will help the businesses in the area and protect property values for home-owners nearby," said Mayor Matthew Patterson.

However two council members, Douglas Graham and Anthony Spada, voted against the proposal Monday. Both men are seeking election these commercial areas. We have blight there and to the mayor's seat which Patterson will retire on Mack. We have to help.'

Spada said he is concerned about the city "using federal money to help individual businessmen.

"Are we buying a parking lot for a private investor?" he asked at the Monday, Sept. 28 meeting. "The council is voting on a pig in the poke. We don't know how many spaces will be needed in the lot we're building because we don't know what kind or how many tenants there will be."

Graham expressed similar concerns about the city committing itself to build a lot for unspecitied purposes.

But Councilwoman Ann MacDonald apparently spoke for the majority when she said," I think it's about time this council did something for

When the bough breaks

Luckily, no one was injured when a massive branch crashed down onto this house in the 1300 block of Lakepointe Road last weekend. High winds were blamed for the crash, in which a number of power and telephone lines were downed. Reportedly, the person living in the home didn't even hear the branch breaking up the house. Now that's a heavy sleeper!

Residents pack meeting on Woods re-zoning effort

By Gregory Jakub

After a boisterous public hearing on Tuesday, Sept. 22, the Grosse Pointe Woods Planning Commission voted unanimously to recommend the 7-Mack Shopping Center be rezoned allowing the development of a high rise commercial, residential, office complex.

If the recommendation is upheld by the city council, it will encourage the development of a downtown zone comprised of a "complex of buildings ... to create a strong community focal point and to promote public welfare by enhancing the city's tax base," according to the new zoning ordinance.

The ordinance also contains "area, height, and bulk regulations . limited to those which are absolutely necessary to protect adjacent single-family residential development.'

IT IS THE FIRST and only area in the Pointes to be zoned for high rise use but there are no immediate plans to start such a project.

It a high rise development for 7-Mack was proposed by a developer

"I'm beginning to think we're a little like Hamtramck. I want to know who the GM is in this picture."

Planning Commission chairman Joseph Parthum explained several times that although the area was being rezoned, no high rise development would begin unless first approved by the planning commission and council.

Planning Commisioner Peter Gilezan explained the new district is intended to upgrade the city's zoning ordinance.

'The standards are such that it will not involve a developer with federal money," Gilezan said.

"It will attract the kind of individual that wants to reside in Grosse Pointe but wants to live in a high rise, multi-level structure," he added.

He also explained that the zoning change is partly intended to keep the 7-Mack property on the city's tax rolls should St. John Hospital expand into the area.

"AS ST. JOHN acquires property, it comes off the tax roll," Gilezan said.

J. Kay Felt did it. Sort of. You see, J. Kay Felt, first female law partner in the firm of Dykema, Gossett, Spencer, Goodnow and Trigg, convinced Terry Brooks to stay in Detroit, live in Grosse Pointe and not move back to her home town of Washington, D.C.

Since Arkie Hudkins, (yes, his name really is Arkie) is married to Terry, he stayed too. And that's how The Grosse Pointe News hired its first editorial cartoonist.

So far, things are working fine. The paper has published one cartoon and received one irate letter to the editor. It's a success.

Unfortunately for us, Arkie doesn't work for the News exclusively. He publishes in 30 papers statewide, plus an unknown number nationally.

"I really don't know what papers I'm in across the country," said Arkie, working in his studio on Berkshire Road. "Until the checks start rolling in. Much of my work goes through an agent in D.C. He fills orders from different papers on different subjects. I just draw.'

Large, husky, bespectacled, good humored, and sporting a great walrus moustache, Arkie doesn't discriminate in where he publishes his barbs, from The New York Times to The Grosse Pointe News.

"Why not publish here too?" he said. "I live here. There's a lot of important people in this town. There must be someone I can really irritate."

ORIGINALLY from Kansas, and a long time resident of Washington, D.C., Arkie and Terry have found a home in the Pointe. "We really love it here," he said with a smile. "This for Grosse Pointe Woods mayor in the Nov. 3 election.

Incumbent Mayor George Freeman is seeking a second two-year term with opposition from Tim Mucciante who unsuccessfully ran for city council in 1979. Their backgrounds, attitudes, and style are a study in contrasts that should make for some exciting campaign activity in the next five weeks.

Freeman, 56, is an account executive with a securities broker in Southfield. He is the father of five children, a grandfather, and an 11year veteran of Woods city government who spent nine years as a councilman.

He is popular in the community and emphasizes that a large part of his job as mayor is maintaining communication lines among city employes, residents and the council. He said his background makes him the best qualified mayoral candidate.

His opponent, Mucciante, 22, lives with his parents on Fairholme, went to North High School, is a recent graduate of Michigan State University and now attends law school. His government experience includes working as an aide to former Senator Joseph Snyder and the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office, criminal affairs advisor to state Sen. Jackie Vaughn

Teachers, board ratify new contract

By Joanne Gouleche

Grosse Pointe teachers and the Board of Education Monday ratified a new two-year contract, guaranteeing educators 20 percent pay increases, improvements in health insurance and removal of certain material from personnel files.

Teacher union president Curt Lange said his membership approved the contract by a 295-30 vote and called the working agreement "an equitable settlement."

At a special Board of Education meeting Monday night, trustee Ron Dalby was the only member who voted against the contract, indicating "the economics of the agreement preclude me from voting for it."

In a five-minute statement to board members, Dalby said teachers will receive more than a 50 percent increase for the four year period between 1979 and 1983.

"That is to say, this idea of 5 percent here, 5 percent there, 1 percent increments, 0.4 percent new fringes, result in total increases which are exorbitant. The simple fact is that for every $100 a teacher in our system made at the end of 1979 they will be making in excess of $150 by the end of 1983. A 50 percent increase in a four year period is simply too much," Dalby said.

LANGE SAID while teachers will receive a 5 percent salary increase each year, a cost of living adjustment (COLA) payment will be capped at 5 percent, Lange added if COLA increases only 3 percent, teachers will receive that amount accordingly.

Under the new salary schedule, a teacher with a bachelor's degree and no experience would make more than $15,000 (minus COLA payments) at the end of the 1983 contract year. A teacher with a Ph.D. and 11 years tenure could expect to be paid more than $33,000 a year (minus COLA payments).

The cost of the new teacher contract to Grosse Pointe public schools is over $1.4 million in the first year. according to Personnel Director Ronald Tonks. That amounts to more than $2,500 per teacher for salary and fringe benefit improvements. In year two, the contract will cost almost $1.5 million, but some of that will be offset by continuing teacher layoffs, Tonks said.

In past years, non-union school workers, including administrators and certain part-time employes have been awarded pay increases comparable to teacher increases. Tonks said the ad ministration plans to begin talks with those groups soon. Office and plant personnel are currently working in the third year of a three-year

Punch & Judy mini-concert

The Motor City Theatre Organ Society will present Lou Behm at the console of the Wurlitzer 2/6 Theatre Organ at the Punch & Judy Theatre, Sunday, Oct. 4, at 2 p.m.

This is another of the regular free mini-concerts given the first Sunday of each month at the newly renovated Punch & Judy.

Behm's musical background includes 30 years with dance bands, chapel organist for the 81st Infantry Division during World War II, liturgical organist for several churches in the Detroit area, and frequent engagements at the Redford Theatre movie series.

The Motor City Theatre Organ Society is a non-profit corporation of more than 450 area residents. Its purpose is to preserve and restore the theatre pipe organ in its original setting where possible, and to foster interest in its music.

Tonks+said the 1981-83 contract requires a teacher to show evidence of "satisfactory completion of two semester hours at the graduate level which is related to the teacher's assignment" in order to advance on the salary schedule.

Union president Lange said while the contract improves health benefits for teachers substantially, educators also won the right to request the Board of Education to remove from personnel files any reprimand five or more years old, provided the teacher has not received a reprimand in the five year period preceding the date of the request,

The new contract also modifies the school calendar from 183 school days to 181 days for students, who will attend the 181 full days with no interruption before holidays, accord-ing to Personnel Director Tonks.

Teachers tentatively agreed to the new two-year contract Labor Day weekend after a marathon bargainsession. It marked the first time in 10 years teachers and the Board of Education ended negotiations before the first day of school.

Channel 56 sets pledge record WTVS Channel 56 has completed the largest summer fund-raiser in the station's history with phoned - in pledges from 6,254 people totaling $319.649.

The dollars raised during the 10-day "Summerfest" campaign (Aug. 22 to 31) are up 36 percent over the 1980 fund-raising campaign, which ran for 11 days. The number of pledges is up 41 percent.

"Even though the costs of oper-ating Channel 56 are up," notes WTVS/56 president and general manager Jack Caldwell, "we are continuing to decrease the number of days per year which we ask on air for pledges. The public is rising to the challenge.'

This is the first pledge drive test of viewer support for Channel 56's 24-hour-a-day broadcast service. On seven of the 10 "Summerfest" nights, volunteers continued to cover the phones between programs from 1 a.m. to 4 a.m. A total of 420 pledges for $18,782 came in during those times.

"Naturally, we expect that all groups who are served by Channel 56 will do their part to keep the programs they appreciate going," adds Caldwell. "Our overnight viewers — many of them viewing Channel 56 — re-sponded well to this first message for their support."

lowing his feelings on issues but voting for what's best for the city.-He said he spends a good deal of his time visiting groups like the Lions Club to get their input.

"I'VE ALWAYS supported the image of the Woods as a single family residential city, and I've worked to keep that image. I believe that's what the city wants," Freeman said.

He also said his job is to provide guidance to the council in terms of policy making and cited his involvement in the Michigan Municipal League-a statewide municipal support group.

When asked how his guidance has directly benefited the Woods Freeman said it was difficult to cite any cause and effect relationships and said the council works through teamwork

Mucciante said he questions Freeman's background as qualifying him to be mayor. "Everyone's been saying he's been a councilman and mayor so he'll be good for another two years. I don't follow that. It doesn't mean he's been doing well," Mucciante said in a telephone interview.

Mucciante said Freeman does not understand the city budget which contains some unnecessary spending like equipping police cars with riot guns.

"If the 1981 budget is as discouraging as the 1980 budget, we're going to be in debt up to our neck,' Mucciante said.

Freeman said his first concern is to make sure he views policy making from the citizens' viewpoint. He said that means looking at issues and doing what's best for the majority.

When asked about the sometimes conflicting interests of Woods homeowners and businessmen, like last year's controversy over using a vacant lot on Hollywood and Mack for a city parking lot, Freeman said a compromise was necessary to make best use of the land but admitted that not everyone can be pleased. Hollywood Subdivision residents agreed to a compromise with the city after going to court to stop the parking lot last

Mucciante said Freeman could have had better interaction with the Hollywood residents. Mucciante is currently courting support from the Hollywood group and from the Woods Boat Club which has been dissatisfied with the mayor's handling of efforts to improve boat docks at Lakefront Park

Mucciante said Freeman cannot interact well with other council members and cannot deal with complicated matters.

Mucciante said his background has prepared him to handle tough issues: "I realize the things I've done have not been on the local level but they are things that have demanded a lot of tact and time."

Both candidates said resident input into city government is important. Freeman said he's done this through promoting the city's monthly news-letter "Update" and by "trying to go overboard to let citizens express themselves" at council meetings. Mucciante said if he is elected, he will set aside one or two evenings each week when citizens can visit him at home and tell him their thoughts and problems in a relaxed atmosphere.

To answer the concerns of residents who fear losing their property to de-velopers because of the new ordi-nance, Rogers said: "There is no gun to anyone's head here to do anything that's discordant with the will of the people."

He said the Woods does need some more efficient housing to meet the needs of senior citizens: "If we don't provide it, those residents who want it will have to go to other communities where it is available."

Another contingent of residents from the northwest section of the Woods attended the meeting under the impression their area would be rezoned under another new ordinance providing for a high intensity multiple dwelling district.

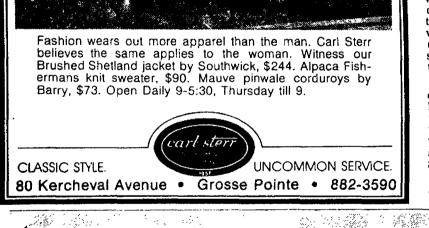

Regarding the northwest section of the Woods, Rogers said the land is very attractive for some type of more intensive housing because of its proximity to Vernier, Mack, and 1-94.

"But from a practical standpoint. it (high intensity housing development) is going to be a long time coming unless there is an interest by property owners to cooperate and participate with developers," Rogers said.

According to the 1279 Land Use Plan, the northwest area is zoned low-medium density residential and will remain that way unless the council decides to rezone it under the provision of the new high intensity multiple dwelling district ordinance, Rogers said.

"Summerfest" was the first fund drive for the WTVS fiscal year that began July 1. In all, the station seeks to raise $2.8 million from its viewers this year — 59 percent of the sta-tion's $4.7 million budget. The balance is projected to come from the Spring Auction (15 percent), the federal government (now down to 14 percent), corporations (10 percent) and miscellaneous (2 percent).

Torch Drive aims for $43 million

The United Foundation board of because of federal budget cutbacks," directors has approved a 1981 Torch Drive goal of $43.4 million or 4.5 percent more than last year's goal and $950,000 more than the amount raised in the 1980 fundraising campaign.

"Thousands of our neighbors are looking to us for help. In fact many people who need services now have been generous supporters in the past," United Foundation President Robert E. Dewar told the board at a recent meeting at the Pontchartrain Hotel.

"We have a very compelling case to take to the people and need to ask each employed person to increase their level of present giving," Dewar added.

Total allocations for 1982 were set at $45,400,000 which represents a 4.3 percent increase in allocations to agencies. The $2 million difference between approved allocations and the 1981 Torch Drive goal will come from campaign overage or from UF reserves.

According to UF Central Allocations Committee Chairman The Honorable Richard H. Austin, although the allocations will not meet the entire needs as presented by the agencies, the figure will be an improvement over last year, when total allocations to agencies were decreased by 6.3 percent.

"The demand for services is going up at the same time agency sources of income are being reduced. Many agencies are also faced with the like-

Austin said.

The Torch Drive goal and agency allocation recommendations are made by the Central Allocations Committee after careful review of agency budget requests and a survey of both current and projected economic conditions.

In additional action, the UF board accepted the request of the board of directors of New Detroit, Inc. to solicit contributions to raise at least $2.5 million for the Urban Progress Fund to finance their 1982 activities.

Approximately 280 metropolitan area corporations and foundations will be asked to make a pledge this year to the Urban Progress Fund, No individuals are asked to contribute.

Heading up both the United Foundation Torch Drive and Urban Progress Fund is Pointer Walter Mc-Carthy, Jr., chairman of Detroit Edison.

Following the board action, Mc-Carthy commenting on the goal said. "This will be a very tough campaign and we'll need everyone's support. The goal is realistic and I believe obtainable. We hope the present contributor will seriously consider the financial needs of the agencies and community, and will increase their contribution when asked."

McCarthy also introduced to board members the 1981 Torchlighters, five children who currently receive service from Torch Drive-supported chariVacation costs up 10 percent

The average cost of vacationing by car this summer compared with 1980 rose 10 percent to $138 per day for a family of four, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"That figure includes meals, motels, gas and oil for two adults and two children traveling 300 miles per day," stated Auto Club Travel Operations Manager James Drury.

Drury said that daily lodging costs averaged $54 versus $50 a year ago, while meals totaled $60 versus $54 in 1980, excluding tips, snacks and cocktails.

Gasoline and oil cost $8 for every 100 miles with the automobile averaging 20 miles per gallon, up $1. The daily total does not include items such as souvenirs, park or attraction admissions, road tolls or parking fees.

Drury pointed out that costs in major resort and large metropolitan areas could be up to 75 percent higher, while smaller towns and rural

City's council race open for hopefuls

By Joanne Gouleche

Grosse Pointe City's senior councilman, George Henry, said last week he will not seek another term this November to the office he has held for the last 12 years.

Henry, 53, would not elaborate on his decision. He said in a phone interview, "I choose not to run." He is the longest serving council member. elected to his seat in 1969.

Henry's decision leaves an open race for possible council contenders who must file nominating petitions with the city clerk no later than noon Saturday, Oct. 10. The four-year council term pays no salary.

Meanwhile, Grosse Pointe City Mayor David Robb has announced he will seek another two-year term to the city's Nov. 3 election.

"The city has operated under an effective administration. I hope to continue it," Robb said.

The mayor, 52, is an attorney with Rickel, Urso, Wokas, Earle and Robb. He was appointed to the mayoral post in 1979 to replace the resigning John King. Robb, a native Grosse Pointer. served six years on the council prior to that appointment.

Robb said the toughest challenge he will face if re-elected will be to maintain current city services, while federal and state budget cuts loom ahead for city administrators.

the minds of two other council incumbents running for re-election this November as well.

Making his first bid to be elected to office is Councilman William Montgomery, who was appointed to fill the vacancy left by the then Councilman Robb in 1979.

Montgomery, a resident of the City on Washington Road for the last 27 years, said he has enjoyed his stint as a councilman so far.

"I enjoy it, and I think I'm doing something worthwhile. Now that I'm retired, I'm spending more time on council business, and I like that.'

Montgomery, 59, stepped down this year as division manager at Michigan Bell after 33 years with the company. Married and the father of four children, Montgomery sees his biggest challenge in the city's finances.

"The biggest problem we have is to maintain the kind of services we have now. There is an absolute need to conserve tax money. We certainly cannot expand anything.

"We have a clear responsibility to do our stewardship and homework to maintain these services while keeping taxes low," Montgomery said.

Incumbent Councilman Robert Nugent agrees with that analysis and points out it's going to get rougher in the future to balance budget books in a community as old as the City,

Nugent said the city's storm pump-

> "With the age of The City right now, we're in the process of upgrading and modernizing it the way citizens like it to be. But with the way taxes are going, it's going to be a big challenge," Nugent said.

> Nugent, 57, was appointed to the council in 1971 and currently serves as the council's representative to the Grosse Pointes Clinton Refuse Authority in Mt. Clemens.

> The 26-year resident of the City is manager of engineering and construction for Detroit Edison. His primary reason for running, he says, is because the council needs "a representation of disciplines." Nugent says he's the only engineer currently on the council and feels his expertise contributes to the best interests of the City.

the State of Michigan.

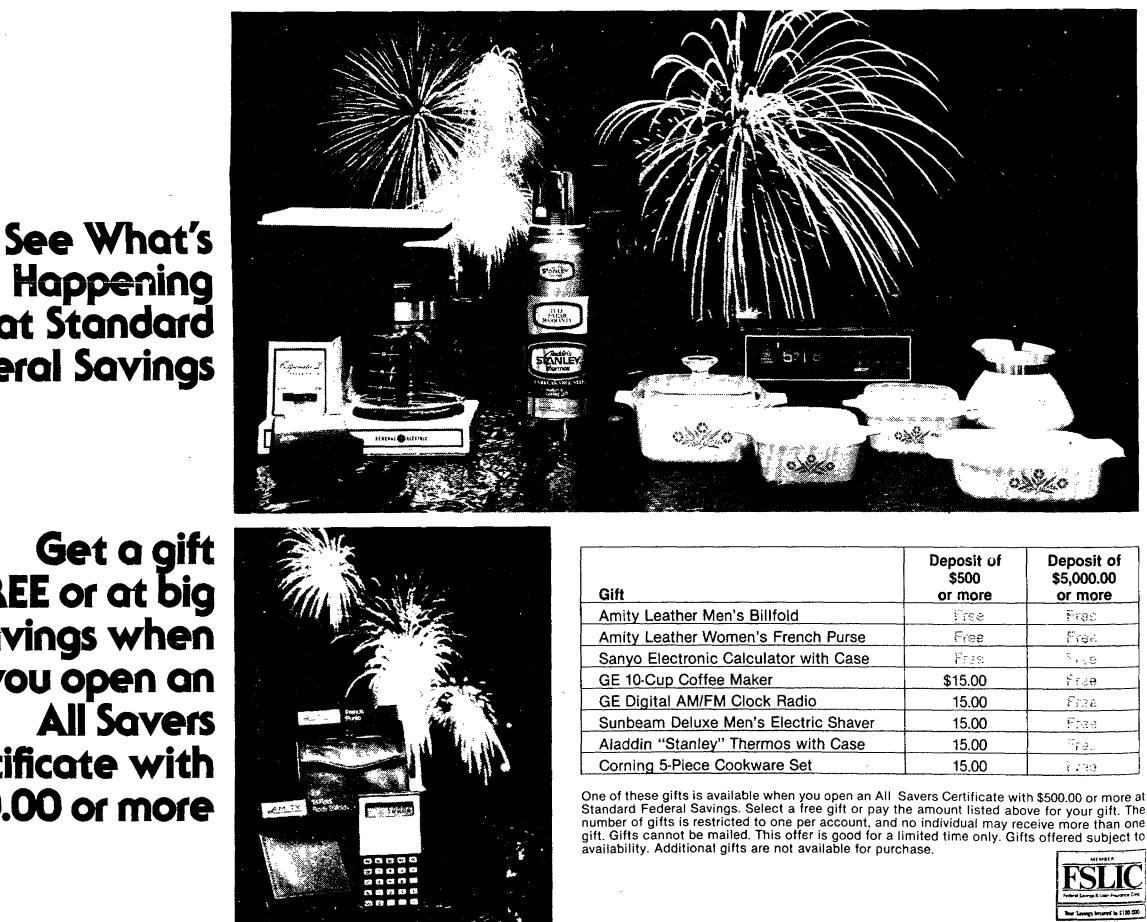

If you elect to receive interest at maturity there is no compounding and the interest rate on your All Savers Certificate will be 12.61%. If you wish to have interest payable monthly or quarterly, the annual simple interest payable monthly Savers Certificate will be 11.876% and interest retained in your All Savers Certificate will be continuously compounded for an effective annual yield of 12.61%. These rates are available for All Savers Certificates opened through October 2, 1981. Rates for accounts opened after October 2, 1981, will be announced later. However, the rate established at the time an All Savers Certificate is opened is the rate in effect for the full one-year term of the account. You should also know that in the event of early withdrawal from an All Savers Certificate federal law and regulations require a substantial early withdrawal penalty and loss of the interest exclusion for federal income tax purposes. The All Savers rate of 12.61% is equivalent to the yields for taxable investments shown in the table. This table demonstrates how the All Savers Certificates can provide you with a higher aftertax yield than you may be earning from a money market mutual fund or on other investments.

The deposit needed in your All Savers Certificate to achieve the maximum allowable deduction is $15,860.43 for a joint return and $7,930.21 for an individual return.

Compare the Tax-Free All Saver Rate of 12.61% with Yields on Taxable Investments.

60,000.00	24.73%	120,000.00	35.03%

The yields shown in this table are based on 1981 tax rates but do not reflect the effects of any tax The yields shown in this table are based on 1961 tax rates but do interfect the effects of any tax credits that may be available in 1981, nor do they take into account the 50% maximum tax rate on salary and wages. If tax-free interest is received in 1982, the comparable yield on taxable investments should be calculated using 1982 tax rates. In addition, the yield for the All Savers Certificate actually will be somewhat higher because the amount excluded from federal income tax is also not taxed by the State of Michigan.

Farms police recoverbody

Farms police Sunday afternoon recovered the body of a 59-year-old man from Lake St. Clair. The victim, John Raftray, of Birmingham, had been reported missing from a Lakeshore Road home earlier in the week.

According to police reports, Raftray was visiting friends Monday evening, Sept. 21 when he said he was going out for fresh air. When he didn't return, his friends became worried that he may have wandered off.

They reported to police that Raftray, a diabetic, had been drinking beer much of the evening. Police immediately began a search for the man, contacting all area hospitals and cab companies.

A tracking dog, brought in later in the week, traced Raftray along Lakeshore Road, before losing his trail in front of the Grosse Pointe Academy.

Sunday afternoon, Sept. 27, Farms officer Cpl. Otto Glannert located the body about 50 yards off shore, midway between the Farms Pler Park and the Crescent Sall Yacht Club.

An autopsy performed on Raftray determined death was caused by accidental drowning. His death brought to four the number of drownings in Lake St. Clair in the Pointe area this year

Opinion Research.

According to Alfred Reuther, chairman of the 14th District party organization, Market Opinion conducted a poll among a scientifically weighted sample of 800 registered voters before Labor Day.

The poll also shows that among voters who identify with a party, 26 percent identify with the Republicans and 30 percent with the Democrats. When independents are included, 44 percent favor Republicans and 44 percent the Democrats. The figures reflect a 10 percent gain for Republicans since 1975, according to Reuther, and an 11 percent loss fro Democrats.

The poll also showed a majority of Michigan voters believe Republicans will do the best job of controlling government spending and holding down taxes, Reuther said. It also showed many voters think Democrats have a better understanding and concern for average cititzens' problems. The poll indicated President Reagan's job approval rating in Michigan to be 59 percent. It confirms that the state has moved politically "from being just left of center to just right of center" in the last 10 years, Reuther said. The 14th District Republicans continue their public meetings this month with a line-up of speakers including Lt. Governor James Brickley, Bob Huber, Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson, Sen. John A. Welborn and Bill Ballanger. The public is invited to attend. For more information and dates, call Republican headquarters at 886-1550.

The party meets at the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road. This year's speakers have included Republican State Chairman Mel Larsen, Rep. Kirby Holmes, Youth Chairman Saul Anuzis and State Reapportionment Chairman Dick Sanderson.

'Napoleon' dates made

"Napoleon," Abel Gance's 1927 epic silent film will receive six screenings at Detroit's Ford Auditorium, from Tuesday through Sunday, Nov. 8 through 7 at 7:30 p.m. and at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 8.

"Napoleon" is presented by Francis Ford Coppola as a Robert A. Harris / Images Film Archive release. Producer Coppola's father, the Oscar-winning composer Carmine Coppola, wrote an original score for the 4¹/₂-hour long film, which, as performed by the Columbus Symphony, he will con-duct himself at the Detroit engagement. "Napoleon" has received international acclaim at Arizona's Telluride Film Festival, New York's Radio City Music Hall, the London Film Festival, in Chicago, Los Angeles, and other cities throughout the U.S. Recently, the film was applauded by over 20,000 people at Rome's Colosseum.

This current success can be attributed largely to the untiring efforts at restoration of film historian Kevin Brownlow (whose book, The Parade's Gone By, is one of the most accurate and comprehensive histories of the silent era of filmmaking). Originally intended by Gance to be six hours in length, "Napoleon" was released as a feature film in 1927. and was an immediate critical success. Charles de Gaulie and Andre Malraux attended the first Paris screening. The release later that year, however, of the first talkie, "The Jazz Singer," plunged Gance's film into obscurity al-most immediately. Reels upon reels were lost or destroyed, or else later re-edited to produce technically and artistically inferior shorter versions: In 1967 Gance was awarded funding by de Gaulle's Minister for the Arts to produce a new version of "Napoleon" for the Bicentennial of the hero's birth. Some of the lost reels will never be replaced. These include the Triptych sequences which Gance himself destroyed in a frenzy of despair at the film's initial commercial failure. With the Triptych technique a butler for a baroness in Sweden carried meat in a Paris market, and killed rabbits in Kansas," said Arkie. "Well, actually I was the manager of a rabbit processing plant that dressed 3,000 rabbits a day. It was a living."

He also worked as a rickshaw driver in Hong Kong. Temporarily. "I was being pulled by this coolie and got to wondering what his job was like, so we changed places," said Arkie. "I took off my shoes and socks and put this guy in the back. He thought I was just another crazy American and went along with it."

The coolie definitely new Arkie was crazy when he decided to run to the wharf district. "Down there, your life is worth about two dollars," volunteered Arkie. "However, everybody humored me and we ate rice together Unfortunately, my feet were black from running on those filthy streets. Took about a month for them to change colors again.'

He also turned down a chance to work for the CIA, "They contacted me and wanted me to interview about becoming a forger," he said. "I went to the right building and the correct floor for the interview, but forgot which office it was.

"Every one I asked for help never heard of the place. Finally, I decided to think like them. What would their office be like? Finally, I located it. No number. Locked, massive and with a tiny peep hole in the middle of the door. I didn't take the job.'

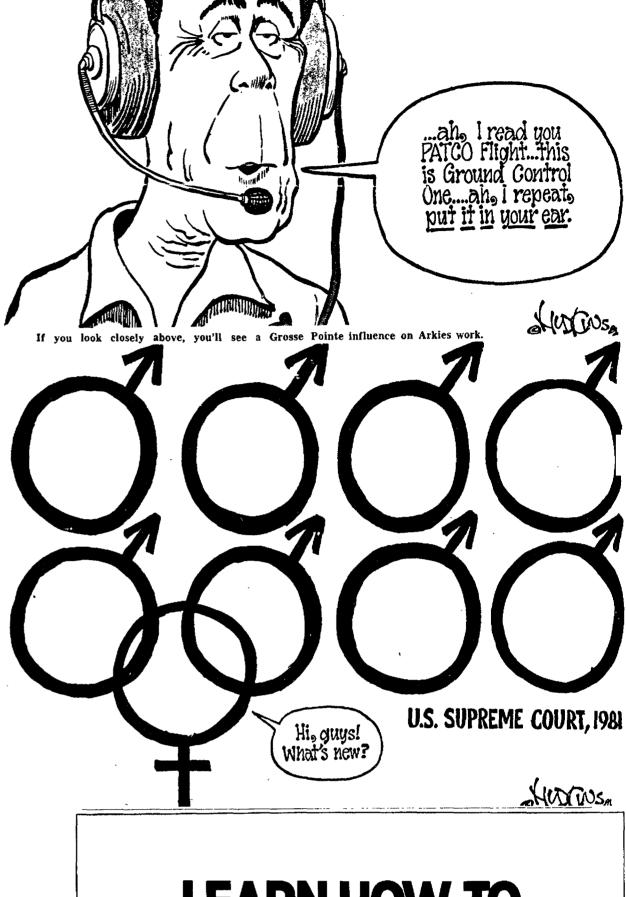

Arkie met Terry while they were both "doing time" on the Washington cocktail circuit. He was trying to make contacts she already had as a lobbyist. In fact, Terry was a registered lobbyist when she was 19.

"I kept noticing her around at the parties," said Arkie. "She looked crazy to me, and that's when I decided to meet her. She's the one you should talk to. She's smart, hard working, good looking and my best friend. Maybe someday she'll go into politics. She'd be a good one."

Would being his married partner exempt her from editorial cartoons? "No way," said Arkie. "We discussed this before. That's one of the reasons why she kept her married name, so she'd be open to professional criticism. Also to help mainatin her contracts under her established business name.

ARKIE'S WORK days are pretty much like him — slightly eccentric. Sometimes up and working at 3 a.m. to meet different deadlines for different time zones. He often receives midnight calls from papers, magazines, industry in-house organs or political groups for cartoons on specific subjects. And they all want them yesterday.

"I try to establish a working routine where I sketch in the morning, and finish up by afternoon so I can get the cartoons out in the mail," said Arkie. "I then work on other projects. Usually portraits I've been commissioned to paint."

-three separate screens joined together, each receiving a separate image from a different projector - Gance anticipated Cinerama by thirty years. Gance's use of hand held or ingeniously mounted (on horseback, from a boat; on a swinging pendulum), traveling cameras create an impact that was revolutionary in the '20's and still astounds even jaded film audiences today.

His technique of rapidfire cross-cutting and juxtaposition or superimposition of symbolic imagery surpassed even Sergei Eisenstein's considerable achievements in the Russian silent cinema. And in terms of sheer mastery of the elements of the epic genre-i.e., a legendary subject, a huge cast and thousands of extras, etc., Gance was ahead of such contemporary auteurs as Erich Von Stroheim and D. W. Griffith.

All performances will begin promptly at the scheduled times. Tickets for "Napoleon" are priced at $20, $15 and $10. Further information on availability of tickets will be announced at a later date.

Through his cartoons and Terry Arkie has met many of the famous and infamous in America. Presidents, labor leaders, criminals, governors, senators and congressmen have all ended up on his sketch pad. And they all love it. Usually.

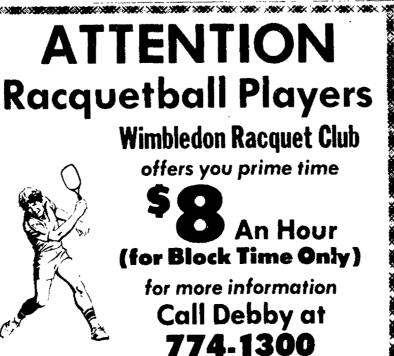

"Political cartoonists are always being asked for copies of particular cartoons by the parties involved," said Arkie, with a smile. "I'm always happy to help out in return for an autographed copy from the politicians.'

The Hudkins/Brooks home is filled with signed letters of appreciationincluding thanks from Presidents Nixon, Ford, Carter and Reagan.

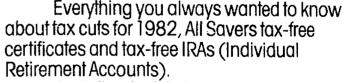

"Bill Milliken has four of my cartoons," said Arkie. "His last inscribed copy to Terry said "Terry—we can't go on meeting like this."

Sometimes, the cartcons aren't entirely appreciated. One barb aimed at the IRS brought a swift, subtle and chilling response. "After the cartoon appeared, I received a letter from them about a week later," said Arkie. "In it, they said the letter was not a notification of an audit. They merely said they needed my social security number. Seems they had somehow misplaced it. Sure they did."

All in all, Arkie enjoys his work. There's nothing personal or vindic-tive in all this," he said. "I don't want to hurt anyone. Just show how inept they are. I want to make people think and laugh at the same time. I'm merely here to prick small holes in large balloons."

North student is semifinalist

North High School student Stanley Kong has been named a National Merit Semi-Finalist in this year's program. One of 15,000 students so named, Stanley is an honors student at North and a member of the school's soccer team.

Students commended by the National Merit Program with Letters of Commendation were: Brian Connors, Alan Flatt, David Fobare, William Hanna, Timothy Labadie, Mark Leibling, Laure Mullaney, Eric Safran and Patricia Wyrod, who placed among the top 51,000 participants in the current competition.

A spokesman for National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC), which conducts the Merit Frogram, said, "To be designated a commended student is an outstanding attainment, deserving of public recognition. The nation will benefit from the continued educational and personal development of students such as these, for they have shown exceptional promise. We sincerely hope that the able young men and women being honored will receive whatever assistance is necessary for them to achieve the high goals they set for themselves."

Of some 1.2 million students who entered the 1982 Merit Scholarship competition by taking a qualifying test in 1980, about 36,000 are being commended this month.

Judge overturns P&J video conviction

In a Thursday, Sept. 24 hearing before Circuit Court Judge Harold Hood, Tom Shaker, former artistic director of the Punch and Judy Theatre, was found not guilty of using the theater for non-conforming use through its use of lobby video games.

The finding overruled a June 8 guilty verdict handed down by Farms Municipal Judge Robert Pytell. At that time Shaker was also fined $1,000 by the city.

According to police reports, the city had received a number of complaints from parents who said their children were skipping school and spending their lunch money on the four machines in the P&J lobby. Shaker was cited four times over the course of the year by Farms police. Thursday's ruling changed all that. "It's definitely a bittersweet victory for me," said Shaker, who resigned from the Punch in late August.

"And I want Grosse Pointe to know I've been vindicated. The case, which was tried in criminal court, laid the burden of proof on the prose-cution. The judge agreed that the status was vague at best, and open to interpretation. That's what we tried to say all along.'

According to Shaker, when the problems started, he tried to open lines of communication with the city through a series of letters and phone calls, but was rebuffed.

"I was glad to talk about it with them, and sent them a letter," he said. "The only response I received was a citation.

Shaker said he could understand the reluctance of many parents to accept the machines, since he wasn't "crazy" about the idea of them in the theater either.

"If I didn't feel I needed them to provide extra revenue for the theater, wouldn't have used them," said Shaker. "But they did provide a lot of money that enabled us to bring in attractions we wouldn't ordinarily have been able to provide. We also

The second stage will be the presentation of regionally and nationally-produced programs, hopefully before the end of the year. Again a few programs will be offered for primetime viewing. Their number will be slowly increased as agreements are made between the producers of the individual programs and the Ministerial Association.

The third stage will be the production of other local shows besides worship services. These programs will include interviews of nationally-known religious figures visiting in the Pointes or Detroit, classes, courses and programs produced by local churches and talk shows. This third stage will hopefully begin by January Religious institutions participating in the Ministerial Association's development of Cable Channel 28 are: Ebenezer Baptist Church, First Christian Reformed Church, First English Lutheran Church, Grosse Pointe Congregational-Baptist Church, Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center, Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church, Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, Our Lady Star of the Sea Church, St. Ambrose Roman Catholic Church, St. Clare of Montefalco Church, St. James Lutheran Church, St. Michael's Episcopal Church, St. Paul's Lutheran Church and Salem Memorial Lutheran Church.

Let George do it

That phrase 'Let George do it' traces back to the life of one Georges Damboise, 1460-1510. He became a bishon at age 14, remarkably. Later, he was named a minister of state, then appointed as a lieutenant general in the army of Louis XII of France. Georges Damboise was the man the powers sought when they wanted something done.

were able to experience more of the "And not only was the cathedral full, but people were gathered all day-by-day lives of English people, as along the street outside," choirmemguests in the townspeople's homes.

> "It was funny," said Colin Barr, 15, "When I met the couple I'd be staying with, they told me that it was their anniversary, so I got to celebrate with them at a restaurant by the Avon River."

Some of the boys were a bit surprised, perhaps disappointed, that the homes they stayed in were modern. "You know, brick ranch homes, with TV's and stereos," said Craig Heisner, 9.

The choir stayed in college dormitories while at Cambridge and Winchester, where they were introduced to the British meal of kidney pie, an experience many of the boys would have liked to skip. However, their palates were later treated while staying with families in Holland.

"Rotterdam was great," remarked Stephen Gibbiz. "For breakfast, instead of eggs, we got toast with chocolate sprinkles, and honey."

The choir performed Evensong in Rotterdam and at the Catholic cathedral in Dordrecht where, DeHaven said, we were the first to sing Evensong since 1537."

Undertaking such a trip with so many boys would be a worrisome challenge for most, but DeHaven said all went fine thanks to the assistance of the "choir mothers" who accompanied the group, and the fact that the boys were divided into three groups, headed by a monitor, an older teen member of the choir.

Not to say that it was all work and no play for the lads. Besides having a day at the sea for swimming ("Boy, did our feet freeze on the pebble beach!"), some of the boys had an impromptu game of football in front of Ely Cathedral, using someone's shoe. The Rev. William Tudor of Christ Church also told parents of one afternoon game of "chasing the sheep" while at Sissinghurst Castle.

"The sheep won," commented Rev. Tudor.

The film will also show Swedish life and customs on a daily basis and viewers will also witness the world's largest ski race. The film will be shown at 3:30 and 8 p.m. A complimentary champagne reception will be held for season subscribers on opening day.

Seminars help SHS' college bound seniors

By Kevin Roberts

Planning for college after graduation is supposed to be easy, right? Wrong. It's a very complicated procedure. But it's being simplified by South High School counselors in a series of senior meetings.

"These meetings handle everything from the subject of financial aid to how they (the seniors) want their names spelled on their diplomas," said Cecil Vogt, counselor.

"Everything" is certainly the right word. Seniors are confronted with at least nine forms to fill out, sign and send in.

"Actually, these meetings really depend on what the senior wants," Vogt said. "We provide information on the ACT, SAT and PSAT scholarships, admission applications and college catalogues. We even suggest the right questions to ask on a visit to the college.'

The meetings are supposed to be mandatory, according to counselor Vorita McClure. "Every senior must attend. These meetings are very important because the more information they give us, the better write-up we can make to the colleges. That's the main function of these meetings, to get seniors into a college or some sort of training program."

Parents also take an active part. in the meetings. "None of the information we give to the colleges can be released without the parents' CK," Vogt said.

For added assistance, seniors and their parents can obtain the Parent-Student Handbook for Juniors and Seniors Planing Post-Secondary Edu-cation from their counselor. North students can also get them from their counselors.

Double reading speed at Austin

The Wayne County Community College Community Services/Continuing Education Program will offer a class in the Eastern Region at the Austin Center, 18300 East Warren.

"Rapid Reading" can help students double their speed while improving comprehension and retention. The highly structured class includes development of the students' reading for pleasure and information. The class meets on Mondays from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. through Nov. 9. Cost for this class is $118.

University Liggett lower school students have jumped into the computer age with the installation of six Commodore PET microcomputers in third, four and fifth grade classrooms.

As the year progresses kindergarten through grade 2 students will have an opportunity to work with them. "Using the PET's as a basic educational tool will permit students to develop their mathematical, spelling, reading, language and reasoning skills to the fullest," said Lower School Curriculum Coordinator Paul Butler.

From the time school doors open in the morning until late in the day, students are using the microcomputers both independently and with direct teacher supervision. Lower schoolers are learning more about plotting graphs, negative numbers, basic math facts, alphabetizing and vocabulary. Some students are already writing simple programs.

University Liggett teachers report an added bonus as a result of the microcomputers - improved social skills. In groups as large as five, youngsters working at one terminal share the keyboard, take turns and work quietly so as not to disturb the rest of the class. Rather than racing to discover only the final answer, ULS and out-of-state colleges and universities to gain firsthand information needed to make college choices. North High School and the Parents' Club is hosting the second annual college night. A'l high school students and parents in the Grosse Pointe community are welcome to attend the sessions, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Computers greet ULS students students are becoming more concerned with the process. They encourage each other by giving clues, discuss the results and are more willing to learn from classmates.

The excitement generated by the microcomputers has sparked the imagination of at least one group. During a September assembly, Martha Menge's fifth grade class presented a skit in which students, acting as the internal parts of the computer, demonstrated how it performs a simple addition problem using only the digits "1" and "0."

As University Liggett students and teachers become more proficient, the

U.S. life more free, student says

By Megan Bonanni

"I came here to learn. I want to understand the language more, and I want to experience the customs,' said Sylvia Sanchez, a foreign exchange student from Mexico City, Mexico. Sylvia is presently a junior at Grosse Pointe South.

The Rotary Club is sponsoring her year in Grosse Pointe. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Levitan of Lincoln Road are her hosts. "They are very special. I found that when I came they were very warm and welcoming," Sylvia says.

In her five weeks here Sylvia has found many differences. One of them is the school structure. In Mexico, she attended an all girl's school. "At my school in Mexico we only stayed in one classroom. It was hard for me to get used to changing classes. Now that I am used to it, I like South," Sylvia said.

Also, Sylvia has found that her life here is more free. Here she feels the

Meet South High's newsgatherers

Newspointe, the third hour journalism class at Grosse Pointe South High School, has organized a news gathering service which will provide The Grosse Pointe News with articles of community interest about the school.

Robert Button, advisor of the class said, "I think the program has improved in each of the three years it has been offered, in that it's giving more South students a chance to develop their skills. In addition, the class gives the Grosse Pointe community more information about South."

family is more liberal. "This freedom is what I love the most about my life here. In Mexico the families live by the old traditions. These strict traditions are the reasons for the lack of freedom there."

Sylvia is looking forward to many events during her year here She is particularly excited about homecoming, "We don't have anything like that in Mexico," she said, "I think that it's a good idea. It gets everyone excited for school."

Sylvia is also anxious for winter. Living in Mexico she has never ex-perienced snow. "I'm going to try skiing. It will be an interesting experience," she says.

In her short time here Sylvia has realized that she enjoys American life. She summed up her feelings by saying, "I have seen a different life here. My experience here will be very valuable."

Park women victims of weekend robbers

Three Grosse Pointe Park women were attacked by purse snatchers last weekend, according to police reports. One victim, a 78-year-old Pemberton Road woman who was seriously injured in the attack, told police it was the second time that week she had been robbed.

One suspect was arrested with the help of passers by who cornered him in a yard, police said.

The elderly woman, who police did not identify, was walking down her street at about 4 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 27, when a man came up behind her, knocked her down and grabbed her purse, according to reports.

Several witnesses saw the attack, gave chase and cornered the suspect, who police identified as Belverto Donzel Hearndon, 20, of Alter Road. He was arraigned Monday, Sept. 28, in Harper Woods District Court on charges of robbery, not armed.

The elderly woman was taken to Bon Secours hospital and treated for a fractured right shoulder. She told officers she was attacked and her purse was grabbed earlier in the week on Jefferson Avenue in Deiroit. Another robbery, this one armed, was reported the same day by a 30year-old Lakepoints Road resident. She told police she parked her car behind her apartment at about 11:30

Scientists host speaker

Christian Scientist Betty Carson Fleids, from Atlanta, Ga., speaks frankly out of her own life experience in a free public lecture "Christian Science: What It Is and Isn't" Tuesday, Oct. 6, at 8 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, Fries Auditorium, 32 Lakeshore Road,

Mrs. Fields responds to many of the prevalent questions asked about Christian Science - questions about its well-known practice of spiritual healing, for instance, and its view of Christ Jesus. Central to the lecture is Mrs. Fields' conviction that Christian healing, as practiced in Christian Science, goes "beyond the limits of conventional theology into the very heart of Christian teaching and practice."

As Mrs. Fields sees it, Jesus' teachings and healings presented a radically fresh view of things - a spiritual view replacing a material view.

Independent schools have been a part of American education since 1638 and comprise one portion of the nation's nonpublic school sector. Of. the almost 50 million American school, children, about 10 percent attend public schools. Over 330,000 attend member schools of NAIS. Responsible for their own funding, curriculum and administration, independent schools are free to set and pursue their individual goals. They are neither publicly funded nor church-supported, although they may be denominationally affiliated. They derive support chiefly from tuitions, voluntary giving and endowments. Independent schools complement rather than compete with public education. They vary widely in emphasis; style, extracurricular offerings, and academic expectations and experiences. Most, but not all, are college preparatory or prepreparatory. Some are for students with special needs and abilities. They are boarding and day, elementary and secondary, coeducational and single-sex schools. Their diversity offers families educational choice and opportunity.

The "Smart Food Shopping" program is part of a series of free continuing health education programs offered from September to June each year by the Education department of Cottage Hospital.

John C. Esty, Jr., president of NAIS, called the minority and overall enrollment increases "an indication that many families are willing to sacrifice financially to give their children sound educational opportunities."

Special recruitment programs and financial aid have been instrumental in increasing the diversity within school populations. Last year, over 2,000 responses resulted from NAIS advertisements in minority periodicals offering information on independent schools and application procedures.

NAIS has also funded a program to recruit minority teachers and administrators to independent schools. In addition, NAIS member schools awarded $91 million in financial aid to 51,000 students. Many schools also now offer loan and deferred payment programs designed to assist middleincome families.

Boys boarding schools showed the greatest growth in minority enrollment over the previous year, increasing the number from 12.2 percent of total enrollment in 1979-80 to 14.8 percent in 1980-81.

By region, schools in the East (New York and New Jersey) and in the West had the highest percentages of minority enrollment, at 12.8 percent and 12.2 percent respectively. At the same time, schools in the Midwest showed the most growth, increasing minority enrollment from 9.8 percent to 11.1 percent in one year.

Asked the reasons for such growth, Esty said, "Independent schools value the free and pluralistic society from which, after all, they derive their own independence, and they tend to take seriously their public responsibility. They seek to enroll children from diverse backgrounds. In fact, the NAIS board of directors stated in 1974 that 'independent education

Response high to energy audits Michigan Consolidated Gas Com- more than 40,000 requests from cus-

Michigan Consolidated Gas Company last week announced it is increasing from 100 to over 200 the number of auditors conducting Home Energy Analysis.

The Home Energy Analysis is a state-wide program designed to help customers reduce energy usage and control costs. An auditor inspects more than 90 energy-related checkpoints inside and outside the home, then reports recommendations on energy saving home improvements to the customer.

"We're very pleased with the response to MichCon's Home Energy Analysis," said Grosse Pointer Alfred R. Glancy, III, senior vice-president for the gas utility. "We have received tomers."

The addition of 100 auditors is aimed at reducing the waiting period and allowing more customers to make energy saving improvements before winter.

The fee for a Home Energy Analysis is $10. The program is available by calling or writing Michigan Consolidated Gas Company.

MichCon also offers interest-free conservation loans to certain customers for two of the most effective energy saving improvements: ceiling insulation and the installation of a special furnace device.

Michigan Consolidated serves more than one million customers.

Police suspect arson at Mason

Grosse Pointe Woods police suspect arson was the cause of a fire on Monday, Sept. 21 that destroyed roofing material and insulation stored next to Mason School, 1640 Vernier. Woods fire fighters responded to the alarm at about 4:30 p.m. as did the Harper Woods fire department, which received an automatic call, according to Woods Public Safety Director John Dankel.

The fire was extinguished in about 30 minutes with no injuries. School was not in session at the time. "It came very close to extending into the building," said Dankel who added that an adjacent classroom would have ignited had the fire burned another five or 10 minutes.

The heat from the flames cracked about 50 school windows and blistered paint on a gutter but otherwise did not damage the school, Dankel said. Classes were held the following day. The burned material was mostly insulation and wooden pallets that belonged to a contractor who was to do a roof project at Mason.

No dollar estimate of damage was available. Dankel said police are investigating the incident.

For those who are still part of the work force, vacation days are over. The precious weeks allotted each year have been used up and, except for the holidays and a few long weekends, the eighthour day, 40-hour week will be the pattern of life.

For retirees this call to duty on a day-to-day basis has been silenced. Having served their time in the ranks, they are no longer required to rise and shine at the sound of an alarm. For them, if they wish, vacation time can be a 365 days a year happening.

For many it means an opportunity to devote time to the things that up to now had to be shelved to allow time for earning the ultimate reward of workmoney for maintenance of life's necessities and hopefully some of its niceties and eventually a pension to provide ways and means of exchanging vocations for avocations or for just doing nothing at all. (And there is a point in life's merry-go-round when that, dull as it appears, sounds mighty attractive.)

RETIREMENT PLANS are as varied as retirees themselves. Generally however, relieved of any due-date back, retirees opt to travel before settling into a plan of living for their later vears.

For some those far-away places with strange sounding names have a special allure. For others, a trip to the land of their ancestors is a dream come true. And then there are those who are content with seeing the U.S.A., not necessarily in a Chevrolet but in their own preferred brand of vehicle.

One of the advantages of being footloose and fancy free is that of being able to travel when other would-be sightseers are home keeping the wheels of in-dustry revolving. With fewer guests, hotels and restaurants scale down prices as they compete for the favors of those who choose to go after the crowds have returned.

As varied as the choices of destination are the means of travel. For those who choose to fly, travel agents are good sources of information on flight bargains. Watching the newspaper ads is a good idea, too. Often you will see excellent book-in-advance offers.

When it comes to lodgings, the

However, the budget motels are good alternatives. They may lack the elegance of the big hotels but you can count on cleanliness, good beds, clean bathrooms and television. Other moneysaving accomodations are inns, such as Days Inns, Econo-Lodge and others where good lodgings are available for $20 a night. Sometimes hotels offer special promotions such as the Hotel Taft in New York where rooms based on double occupancy go for $25 a night.

Another consideration when you are flying is the cost of getting from the airport to your destination. It can vary from $5 at Boston's Logan International Airport which is close to downtown to $14 from O'Hare to downtown Chicago, or $10 from Miami's airport to downtown; $12 from La Guardia to midtown New York and $20 from JFK and Newark International. Looking at these prices, limousines or coaches are obviously the cheaper way to go.

Cruises are becoming more popular since many of the airlines are picking up the round trip airfare from a point where you live to the point of departure. Miami is the number one terminus in the U.S. with Fort Lauderdale next. One good offer is Costa's three-day Fort-Lau-derdale-Nassau-Fort Lauderdale at $320. Study the brochures for others noting ports of call and amount of time spent in each port.

OVERSEAS VISITORS will want to check out the Eurail pass which permits unlimited travel by train throughout Europs for $199, you can go anywhere in Europe, anytime and stay as long as it takes to see the sights. This is a terrific deal that enables the visitor to really become acquainted with each country at far more economical price than renting a car. There is also the added advantage of being able to relax between destinations rather than trying to get acquainted with new and different traffic routes and rules. Many visitors who have taken advantage of the pass have returned firmly convinced that 'Leaving the driving to them' is far a less exhausting way to travel.

If it is just a London trip you are planning, consider a Brit-Rail pass that allows unlimited train travel through Britain for $99 for seven days. With this in the winter. Reasonable rates can be found with some research even on the "Gold Coast" resorts from Palm Beach to Miami Beach. Billed as America's very own South Seas paradise, southeast Florida has something for everybody.

The fishing is excellent. There are full-service marinas, fishing piers and party boat fishing fleets. There are 8,000 miles of fun-filled coastline including 90 championship golf courses and 509 tennis courts. Swimming is universal and sun tans are guaranteed. Inexpensive to moderatepriced oceanfront lodgings line road A-1-A in Jupiter and Juno Beach.

Here in this southeast area are Boca Raton, the "Winter Polo Capital of the World", Fort Lauderdale, with its extensive stretch of palm-lined beach where visitors can view the area's highlights on a paddlewheel riverboat cruise or take the Voyager Safari Tour which makes a stop at Flamingo Gardens, the Everglades and an antique automobile museum. Local festivals and events are a great vacation bonus such as the Festa Italiana in October and the Hollywood Sun'n Festival in November.

But Florida is not all sun and surf as patrons of Walt Disney World, Sea World and Circus World, Cyprus Gardens and a half-dozen other attractions can testify. Oct. 1 marks Disney World's 10th year at Central Florida and a year-long celebration is planned.

"Young at Heart Days" began Sept. 14 and visitors over 55 years of age are admitted to the Magic Kingdom at a discount every Thursday and Friday. These tickets can be purchased only in advance through group sales or at many Florida Sears stores.

THE NORTHERN part of the central Florida region has its own distinctive attractions. Large thoroughbred horse farms line the main arteries. An Arabian Horse Extravaganza is celebrated in October. The Ocala National Forest and the Silver and Rainbow rivers enhance this region's natural appeal.

Route 46 East from Mount Dora leads to the fun of the Golden Age games the second week of each November. If you're at least 55 you can enter any of 27 events at $1 per entry. Basketball, swimming, canasta, billi-

Tisch, tax cuts losing their appeal

Now that Robert Tisch, the Shiawassee Coun- run as a Democrat if Gov. Milliken seeks reelecty drain commissioner who is the darling of the property tax cut crowd, has announced his candidacy for governor, it may be possible to get a realistic evaluation of his popularity in Michigan

It is true that one-issue candidates appear to be the rage these days. And that certainly would describe Tisch. He wants to make major cuts in Michigan's property taxes, and appears to regard that not only as the major issue in the state but also the only important one.

Yet a good case can be made that Tisch's popularity already has passed its peak. He has authored tax cut proposals that have been beaten at the polls twice and his talk about Tisch III does not appear to be getting the attention his first two attempts received. Perhaps that is because people are beginning to realize the effects of severe tax cuts on their schools and other public services. Even Gov. William Milliken's more modest proposals for reductions that would further slash such services and cut into bone and muscle as well as the fat in various state and local programs aren't flying too well.

FURTHERMORE, Tisch hasn't even decided whether he's a Democrat or a Republican. He is having nominating petitions circulated to enable him to get on the 1982 primary under either party designation. If Tisch doesn't even know whether hets a Republican or a Democrat at this stage, he would hardly seem to be a threat to either party in the 1982 primary. Perhaps he would prefer to tion but would run on the GOP ticket if Milliken bows out or opts for the U.S. Senate contest. The theory here would be to avoid a bruising and costly contest in the GOP primary. Yet it's unlikely that will be avoided in any event.

For Tisch would appear to be faced with formidable competition whichever way he decides to go. Congressman James Blanchard of Pleasant Ridge already has announced for the Democratic nomination and several state senators are warming up to run on that ticket. On the GOP side, Lt. Gov. James Brickley is regarded as a certain can-didate if Milliken doesn't file and L. Brooks Patterson. Oakland County prosecutor, and Sen. John A. Welborn are already running.

If Tisch does run, he'll have to come up with a program that will be broader than property tax reduction. Perhaps he will do so but we doubt it. So far he has appeared to be a small bore politician who has taken advantage of public dissatisfaction with property taxes to get maximum exposure for his beliefs on that issue. Aside from that, we think it is appropriate to apply to him Winston Churchill's description of the Soviet Union: "I cannot forecast to you the action of Russia. It is a riddle wrapped in a mystery inside an enigma."

And we do not recall that anyone who is a riddle or a mystery or an enigma ever has been elected governor of Michigan.

Young — against the charter

Mayor Coleman Young of Detroit is usually ready to respond with a newsy quote whenever he is cornered by the press. As usual, words didn't fail him on two such occasions last week. Unfortunately, what he had to say did not lend much support to the cause of good government.

In one comment, the mayor said he opposed the proposed Wayne County charter which will be on the November ballot because he didn't think it would be an improvement over what we have and would further complicate and emasculate county government. His stated objection was the failure of the proposed charter to address some of the major problems connected with the county road commission.

Nobody has claimed that the charter would solve all of the county's problems but it certainly would alleviate some of them. While it does not reduce the power of the road commission to the extent desired by many county citizens, it does require more supervision of the commission's budget, activities and planning by the chief executive officer than is now exercised by the county board. Furthermore, the road commission members would be appointed by the chief executive officer and would serve at his pleasure. Contrary to the mayor's comment, many informed observers believe this would be an important improvement.

While the mayor didn't say so, it is generally believed he opposes the charter proposal because it would set up a county executive officer who might become a powerful rival of the mayor in county politics. The charter proposal comes in two versions, one calling for an elected county executive and the other an appointive administrative officer. Either way, the mayor apparently sees a potential rival on the horizon, even though that scarcely seems an adequate reason to oppose the charter proposal.

ove em....an

In his second comment, the mayor acknowledged that he has authorized the use of public money and city employes to support his successful campaign to increase Detroit's income tax in the recent election but claimed he didn't have to "defend asking city workers to spend city time on an issue that would determine whether the city would live."

In short, the mayor believes the ends justify the means. It seems clear that Michigan laws and city of Detroit personnel practices forbid the use of public money to influence the outcome of elections. That prohibition is a proper one even though it doesn't seem to bother the mayor. The importance of Detroit's election to its future still dces not change the laws and regulations banning the use of public funds to influence the outcome.

IF THE COUNTY board began spending public money to try to persuade county residents to support the charter, we think the mayor would be one of the first to object, as we would, too. Not that we expect the board to spend public money for such a purpose. Too many county commissioners oppose the charter. But if the board did follow such a course of action, Mayor Young might find it difficult to complain in light of his own decision to spend public funds in his campaign for the city income tax boost. Double standard on legal gambling To the Editor:

The editorial cartoon appearing in the Sept. 24 issue of the News depicting George Wash-ington stating "G a m b l i n g wouldn't bring crime to Detroit. I can't lie . . . 'cuz it's already here" was very offensive. The implication of the cartoon was that gambling is acceptable for Detroit because Detroit is already riddled with crime. This attitude perpetuates the apartheid-like thinking of the divi-sion of city and suburbs. You have set up a division of "us" versus "them" in which the "them" are seen as crime-prone city dwellers who are willing to prostitue themselves to gamling interests.

The tragic implication of your cartoon is that there is a denial that the Grosse Pointes are deeply dependent upon the city of Detroit, as a source of employment, culture and education. We suburbanites cannot sanctimoniously stand by decrying the decline of our urban centers without recognizing that many of the reasons that our communities prosper are because the city has been victimized. If cities such as Atlantic City, and possibly Detroit, turn in desperation to gambling as a means of raising tax revenues to support basic governmental services, and we object, then we must work towards a more equitable tax system which will provide the services such as quality education and garbage removal, etc., that we take for granted.

There is a double standard to your cartoon in which it is implied that gambling is OK for Detroit because the city is al-ready "down the tubes," but it is not OK for "us." But who is

Library needs books, not art

To the Editor:

I am writing in regard to the new addition at the Grosse Pointe Central Library. Some people call this massive construction of metal art. I would call it ugly. When I read the cost I could not believe my eyes: $20,000. Why would anyone give such a gift to the community? The community could have benefited so much more by the purchasing of books.

I am sure the people involved had only good intentions but, in hard times like today we cannot afford such luxuries.

Looking at the complexity of this object I would say a 10-year-old child could have designed it. The metal involved in making this piece of art could not have cost more than a couple hundred dollars.

I hate to look a gift horse in the mouth but, in this instance I must, for this thing just does not fit in and should be moved to a more appropriate spot.

One View from the Capitol

By Rep. William Bryant, Jr. The situation the state is in, both its people and its government, is a difficult one.

It is true what Governor Milliken says, that it is not necessary to malign our state in order to move it forward

There is much that is good and strong and healthy about our great state, and we dare not lose sight of that. We are often too hard on our city and our state as we are, at times, too hard on ourselves.

It is essential that we enact a package of hills which will again create a decent business climate in our state And it is essential we meet, to the degree that we can, the desire of the public for property tax relief.

Also, it is essential that we maintain our education, health, recreation and law enforcement systems at de cent levels

The combination is complex, even exasperating, to try to satisfy.

We, as legislators, are there to make the decisions, balance the priorities, and set the public policy.

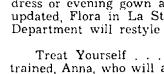

I am optimistic we can. I know it will not be easy. All legislators need to hear the priorities you have and what balance you ask us to seek.

I am certain that Senators John Hertel. Gilbert DiNello and John Kelly share my desire to hear from our Grosse Pointe constitutents on the crucial issues of this fall session, the economic recovery package proposed by the Governor, major and immediate property tax relief, and how to cut the budget to least impact on essential human services.

One thing about brass rubbing is: virtually anyone can do it. Another thing about brass rubbing is: virtually everyone has a great time doing it. Those signing up for the sessions at Christ Church will be provided with paper, waxes and helpful instructions on the 13th century art of brass rubbing, which is much like something we've all done --rub a paper over a penny to pick up an impression.

But the London Brass Rubbing Centre's brasses are some pennies! There's the "lace lady," for instance. There are rubbings you can make in black and gold, silver and white. If you find "fancy brasses" a bit intimidating, why not start small, with a little lamb or lion?

All may participate, from children to senior citizens, for a donation of $10 (for one large or two small rubbings) plus cost of materials, ranging from $1.50 to $12.50. Regina M. Piche married in June

Regina Marie Piche selected a traditional, lace-accented gown and a lace-edged veil, falling from a Juliet cap, for her marriage Friday evening, June 19, to Mark William Billiet. White roses, apricot carnations, daisies and baby's breath formed her Colonial bouquet.

The bride's cousin, Father John R. Ring, presided at the 6 o'clock rites in Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore, after which the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell F. Piche, hosted a reception at their Kerby Road home.

The newlyweds vacationed in Toronto and at Niagara Falls. They are at home in Warren.

Honor maid Vicky L. Edwards and bridesmaids Renee P. VanAssche, the bride's sister, Lanette L. Louwers and Theresa Ryan, the bridegroom's cousin, wore spaghetti-strapped, formal length dresses of apricot Qiana, with matching jackets. Their flowers were peach carnations, daisies and baby's breath.

Mrs. Jetton is the former Megan Mary Gormley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gormley, of Cadieux Road. Mr. Jetton is the son of the Girard Jettons, of Findlay, O.

For the 1 o'clock rites at which Father Thomas McAnoy presided, the bride chose a traditional gown, styled with an Empire bodice of Alencon lace, a peau de soie skirt and chapel length train. Alencon lace inserts accented her long sleeves, and her fingertip veil fell from a cap of matching lace. She carried a cascade of orchids and stephanotis.

She was attended by three sisters, Christine Gormley as honor maid, Tracy Gormley as bridesmaid and Kate Gormley as junior bridesmaid. Christine and Tracy wore taupecolored dresses, one-shouldered and gathered at their waists. Kate's ivorycolored dress was trimmed with

'Meet the Masters' Encore

She's doing it again. Ruth Kaiser, one of The Pointe's best known music appreciation instructors, will conduct a pair of Meet the Masters class scries beginning this month, under joint sponsorship of the Grosse Pointe Public School System's Department of Continuing Education and the Grosse Pointe Symphony Women's Association. Both series meet Mondays in the second floor Exhibition Room of the Grosse Pointe Central Library, Kercheval Avenue at Fisher Road.

The afternoon class, scheduled to start next Monday, Oct. 5, with additional sessions on Oct. 19, Nov. 2 and Nov. 16, runs from 1 to 3 p.m. Last season, one professional man found the time so convenient and Ruth's input so interesting that he took an extended lunch period on class days so he could attend. Mrs. Elmo Joseph (886-0374), of the Women's Association, is chairman for this series.

The evening program, running from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., opens the following Monday, Oct. 12, and continues on Oct. 26, Nov. 9 and Nov. 23. Mrs. Lyndle R. Martin (822-7141) is chairing this session for the Women's Association?

Meet the Masters' Mistress

Mrs. Kaiser, a music appreciation teacher for 30 years, has conducted classes in connection with the Cleveland Symphony and has lectured for Detroit Symphony Orchestra Open Rehearsals at Ford Auditorium. She is a graduate of the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N.Y., and has done advanced study at the Cleveland Institute of Music and Oberlin Conservatory.

Last year, Ruth inaugurated a series of winter music appreciation classes on Florida's Sanibel Island, at that community's adult education center.

Her professionalism and charming platform manner have won many devotees for her local classes. Here's George A. Coury, member of the Grosse Pointe Symphony Society's board of directors, who with his wife, Lily, attended last season's Meet the Masters classes and plans to do so again, speaking: "Besides the fact that the sessions are quite educational, Ruth is such an inspirational teacher. She makes everything exciting and interesting.

This Season's Syllabus

Ruth's afternoon series subjects this season will be "Beginning with Baroque" (Bach, Handel and Vivaldi). "The Love Story of Robert and Clara Schumann," "From a French Point of View" (Satie, Debussy. Ravel and Pou-lenc) and "Musical Methusalas" (Verdi, Vaughan Williams and Richard Strauss). Her evening sessions will cover "Playing with Patterns" (Haydn and Mozart), "Concen-trating on the Concerto," "Dvorak—Man of the Earth" and "There's Something about the Russians."

Course fee for each series is $12, with checks payable and in to the Department of Continuing Education prior to the first class meeting. Space availability and other information may be obtained by contacting either Mrs. Joseph or Mrs. Martin, or by calling 343-2178. Students may sign up for one or both series; if a student enrolls in one series and has to miss a class, a class in the other series may be substituted.

Each student may bring a guest to one class. Both the afternoon and evening programs feature coffee breaks and informal discussion of the subject under consideration.

The Grosse Pointe Symphony Women's Association earmarked, its share of proceeds from Ruth Raiser's Meet the Masters classes this season for its Instrument Fund, to be used for instruments for the Pointe Symphony Orchestra.

Offer expanded season of Music For A While

This year, Music For A While, the Beauvais, of Toronto, guitar. original chamber concert series at the Newfoundland-born Roma Edsel & Eleanor Ford House, is able to offer tickets to music lovers on a first-come first-served basis. In the past, because of the extreme popularity of the concerts and the limited seating, only persons on the mailing list of Music For A While were able to purchase tickets. Now Music For A While has expanded the number of concerts from three to six, with Friday evening performances being repeated on Sunday afternoon of the same weekend; because this doubles the number of tickets available, they can be offered to the general public.

The performances are held in the Gallery of the Ford House, which so splendidly represents the setting for which chamber music was designed. This type of music, for small ensembles of performers, was never intended for the concert hall as we know it today, but rather for the more intimate surroundings of the home or the smaller performance halls of the 18th and 19th centuries.

As in the past, Music For A While will present a varied program featuring local artists of distinction and occasional out-of-town guest performers. The first concerts, on Friday, Oct. 9, at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 11, at 5 p.m. will spotlight Grosse Pointer Roma Riddell, soprano, Maria Mierelles, of Southfield, piano, David As-

The Old World Market is Detroit's original ethnic festival, It continues to be treasured for its authenticity. It boasts a bustling, exotic atmosphere, complete with music, dancing, food and animated conversation.

It was founded in the Depression Era as a means for new immigrants to earn a little money by selling their old world crafts and still features the demonstration and sale of such crafts. plus the opportunity to talk to craftspeople who are either from the old country or descendants of earlier immigrants.

Dancers, plus Stephen Romanow with his Ukrainian sword dance; Flamenco dancer Maria Durante; the Saxonia German Chorus; Indian dancer Angeli Mital; bamboo jumping Philippine dancers; Dancers Hungaria; and the Mexican Ballet Folklorico of Corktown. This year, additional seating will be available.

The food booths mingling their aromas in a cafe setting will include Bulgarian, Philippine, Romanian, Mexican, Faroe Islands, Arab, Japanese, Greek and Danish. Beer and wine will be available. Ethnic cooking demonstrations featuring Detroit area cooks and media guests will take place at 12:30 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday and 12:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

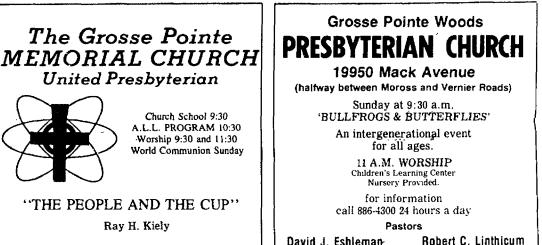

An International Pastry Shop offers 50 different international baked pastries from commercial bakeries and local bakers throughout Detroit and Windsor. It sells out daily.

Market festivities begin on the street in front of the Institute today, at 11 a.m., with an opening ceremony featuring preview performances by some of the best of the market's entertainers, and a celebrity host. An indoor, international costume fashion show follows.

Special not-for-sale craft demonstrations are scheduled every day of the market, at 11:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. Among the countries represented in import booths will be Israel, Norway, Bulgaria, Poland, Germany, India, China, Ireland, Romania, Austria and several African nations.

"The Old World Market tradition has grown every year since 1926, as the ethnic communities of Detroit have grown and prospered. It is an annual effort to keep ethnic heritages alive and to help support the work of the International Institute," explains Mary Ball. She is executive director of the Institute, a Torch Drive agency which has been welcoming and aiding new immigrants to the Detroit area for 60 years.

The Institute operates a multilingual social service department which saw nearly 2,000 clients last year. It offers ethnic education programs for school children throughout the metropolitan area, English language classes for the foreign-born and a series of continuous ethnic events representing the different ethnic communities of metropolitan Detroit.

More than 900 volunteers work to present the Old World Market. It will run from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, from noon to 6 p.m. Sunday. Cyphers-Wood vows are said

A reception aboard the Bay Queen yacht berthed in Harbor Springs followed the wedding of Martha Leigh Wood, daughter of Marilyn Smith Wood, of Moran Road, and Robert Boston Wood, of Harbor Springs, and H. William Cyphers III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Cyphers Jr., • of Birmingham.

Presiding at the late afternoon ceremony Saturday, September 12, in Harbor Springs' First United Presbyterian Church was The Reverend Rebecca Clokey. The newlyweds vacationed at The Homestead in Glen Arbor. They will make their home in Hudson, O.

The former Miss Wood chose an ensemble featuring a peplum lace jacket with a matching camisole, banded with satin at the waist, and an opera length, tucked organdy skirt. Dior bows accented her satin pumps. She wore a wreath of dried flowers in her hair and carried a bouquet of dried flowers, native to Harbor Springs, in white, mauve and natural shades. Mrs. Charles McFeely, the former Jane S. Wood, was honor matron for her sister. Bridesmaids were two other sisters, Mrs. Sheldon Wardwell, the former Christine Wood, and Ms. Candace Wood Maxon, of Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. Robert F. Ollenick, the former Molly King, of Aspen, Col., Barbara Ann Smith, of Chicago, Mrs. Bruce D. Dunn, of East Lansing, Tracy McGregor Whitney, of Park City, Utah, and two nieces of the bride: Dana Merrill Maxon, of Seattle, and Torrey Elizabeth Wardwell, of Grosse Pointe Farms.

They wore ecru handkerchief linen and lace blouses and French cotton printed skirts from Pierre Deux, in mauve and white tones, styled with ruffled hems. The children's dresses were also from Pierre Deux, with antique lace and hand smocking for the flower girl. Emily Hancock Wardwell, another niece of the bride. They carried Harbor Springs straw flower, bouquets in shades of rose and lavender, with baby's-breath. Steven T. Smith, of Grosse Pointe City, acted as the bridegroom's best man at the 4 o'clock ceremony. Ushers were Robert Boston Wood Jr., brother of the bride, Sheldon E. Wardwell II, Charles A. McFeely and Robert A. Schaltenbrand, all of The Pointe, and Kenneth Czubay, of Bath, O. Ring bearer was Lou R. Maxon III, of Seattle, the bride's nephew.

Mr. and Mrs. H. William Cyphers III

A straw flower corsage accented the ruffle-necked, mauve silk chemise, with its clutch in coordinated tones by Pierre Deux, selected by Marilyn Wood for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother chose a miniature border print dress of paisley silk in blue tones. Her corsage also featured straw flowers.

Conference for writers short stories, poetry, religious writing, play writing and writing for adults, teens and children all will be in focus at the 20th Annual Craftsmanship of Creative Writing Conference Friday and Saturday, Oct. 16 and 17, at Oakland University.

The fall conference, co-sponsored by the Detroit Women Writers and Oakland University's Division of Continuing Education, is a traditional opportunity for new and beginning writers to learn from established writers.

More than three dozen published authors, publishers and agents will conduct Friday lab sessions in which manuscripts will be critiqued. Thirty eight professionals will discuss their various areas of expertise in Saturday workshops.

A Friday evening cocktail-dinner party at Meadow Brook Hall offers an informal occasion for meeting guest speakers, including prominent hypnotherapist and author James H. Hoke, dinner speak-er. Hoke will discuss his philosophy and hyp-notic skills as a positive influence on the creative mind.

Conferees may attend the entire program or select only a portion, as desired. For information, call Oakland's Continuing Education Office, 377-3120.

Proof: newspaper ads

A new study of supermarket sales proves that an item advertised in a newspaper at regular price sells twice as well as the same item without newspaper support.

It has always been an article of faith among retailers that newspapers are their basic medium because newspapers sell. That's why they invest the largest share of every ad dollar in newspapers.

Now there are hard numbers that prove this article of faith.

The Newspaper Advertising Bureau collects computer tapes on product movement from supermarkets coast to coast and measures the effect of newspaper ads one week on sales of the advertised items the following week. Measures were made on items sold at full price and also on price-off deals. Advertising pressure ranged from one liners to feature spots of four square inches or more. The chart sums up the findings.

As might be expected, the price-off items sold better than those at regular price. But even the regular priced items sold twice as well with newspaper advertising as without.

If newspapers sell food items like this, they can bring home the bacon for whatever you're marketing.

For more complete data on this analysis of the cause/effect relationship between newspaper advertising and product movement, call Dick Neale, president, NABSCAN or Stu Tolley, vice president, research, at the Newspaper Advertising Bureau, 485 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017, (212) 557-1800.

The Social Pace Quickens . . . in the fall and with the holidays ahead now is the time to take a look at the new collection of cocktail and evening fashions at Walton-Pierce, St. Gillain by Kay Unger has many different party looks. We like the three piece costume that features a black, rust, blue and marigold yellow border print sleeveless jacket, quilted with gold thread. It tops a sheer black blouse and a companion print skirt. Another Kay Unger design shows the chemise with a wide pleated collar. It comes with a belt so it offers you a choice. The fabric is silky light. Soft lavender stripes the floral print. A third offering from the same designer follows a classic shirtdress line with front pleating from top to bottom. The color is lavender with a pink cast. The fabric . . . year round crepe. We like the way David Warren combines a rich brown velvet jacket, closed with frogs, and a beige with taupe dress. Then there's a gray flannel suit, not a classic style. The jacket is short, collarless, just right to show off the wide white collar of the blouse. The skirt is circular. A black matte jersey dress by Helen Bass is gathered to flatter the figure. It is a good choice for the sophisticate. Her black and white striped chemise is accented with a white satin collar and cuffs. To highlight all the lovely clothes at Walton-Pierce, there's a new selection of jewelry that includes dramatic gold drop earrings for pierced ears and for those who like clipons. They are from Carol Duplaise. You'll like the interesting chokers and long ropes of pearls or gold beads. Your pet . . . the little gold turtle with green eyes . . . quite contemporary in style.

War on weight, drag, rolling resistance $80 billion for slicker auto design

To meet the challenge brought on by the 1974 energy crisis. vehicle manufacturers have launched the most extensive retooling program in American industrial history.

The cost is expected to exceed $80 billion by 1985. Are such large expenditures helping vehicle manufacturers meet these challenges?

The answer is yes.

In 1981, for instance, all U.S. manufacturers exceeded the 22 miles-per-gallon passenger car fleet federal fuel economy standard-an incredible improvement of 70 percent compared with 1974

And the technological improvements in vehicle fuel economy and the shift in consumer demand toward these new smaller, more fuel-efficient vehicles have resulted in saving the average purchaser of a 1980 car $1,700 in gasoline compared with a 1974 vehicle.

Three major factors

While there are many factors affecting the fuel efficiency of a vehicle, the three main culprits currently being attacked by engineers are weight, aerodynamic drag, and rolling resistance. In the area of weight reduction—by far the biggest factor in fuel economy--domestic automotive engineers have been able to reduce the fleet average weight of passenger cars by approximately 750 pounds since 1975.

One of the major contributors to this accomplishment has been the increasing use of weight-

types

first, then full-size clay models and, lastly, production proto-

saving materials such as aluminum, high-strength steel, and plastics

Ford Motor Co. reports that its usage of aluminum-already at 400 million pounds per year-will roughly double by 1985. Significantly, one pound of aluminum replaces roughly two pounds of steel.

The use of plastics-now at around 160 pounds per caralso is expected to double by 1985.

which can be downgauged to produce a lightweight part with the same functional strength as one made from low-carbon mild steel also is on the increase.

car included 196 pounds of high-strength steel for a weight saving of about 75 pounds.

Payoffs in downsizing

There is a secondary benefit to these types of weight saving. For example, as total weight is reduced, the frame and suspension weights can be lessened. making the total weight change benefit even greater.

Visibly, the biggest weight savings has occurred through downsizing. Many vehicles have shed as much as 1,000 pounds, while still maintaining, or even increasing, interior

For the average automobile traveling at 40 miles per hour, one-half of the engin ower is

Tire pressure boosted

Below 40 miles per hour, the largest dissipation of drivetrain power is caused by tire rolling resistance. Because a significant portion of our driving is at speeds below 40 miles per hour, tires are another important area of study.

Rolling resistance of vehicles due to energy dissipated by the tires as they roll along the road surface. Tire construction as well as the weight supported by the tires significantly affect rolling resistance.

Besides stipulating radial-ply tires (which have up to a 20 percent lower rolling resistance than bias-ply tires) for most new vehicles, engineers also have increased tire air pressure requirements. Tire energy dissipation decreases as tire inflation pressure increases.

Other factors, too

There are a number of other important factors which have helped automotive engineers give us the highest average fuel economy in history, while reducing emissions to their lowest levels. Among them are the increasing usage of front wheel drive and the application of electronics both in the design and operation of automobiles.

Improved lubricants, reduced disc brake drag, improved water pumps, new power steering pump drive ratios and a long list of other innovations have contributed to the reduction of parasitic losses of power

Two engineers are dwarfed by this 43-foot-diameter wind generating fan at General Motors. This multi-million dollar facility is just one of the many tools being used by automotive engineers to improve fuel economy and preserve America's limited energy resources.

These efforts result in numerous design refinements that will cut air drag. While these design refinements are usually slightsometimes only a matter of millimeters in a curve or width on the edge of a hood, a grill opening or a pillar-they can add up to as much as one mile per gallon in fuel economy.

Snow tires may belong up front

Tradition can be habitforming. Take snow tires, for example. For decades, motorists routinely installed them on the rear axle where they did yeoman service.

But now, along comes front-wheel drive. And with it, a change in the rules. With front-wheel-drive cars, snow tires go on the front axle where they help pull the car. If radial tires are used on the front, radials also should be used on the rear regardless of whether or not the vehicle is front-wheel or rear-wheel drive

Putting on the snow tires? Good. This effort now will pay big dividends next January or February when winter really digs in. Meanwhile, what to do with those regular summer tires? Proper storage will add to the life of your tires as well as to their performance. One of the most important things is the way they are stored. Lay them flat-avoid the temptation to stand them upright because permanent flatspotting may develop.

Placing whitewall against whitewall, store summer tires in an out-of-the way place indoors, away from electric motors, water, heat, sunlight and petroleum products.

If you're leaving your tires mounted on the wheels, reduce their pressure to around 15 pounds, making a mental note to reinflate them again in the spring. It's a good idea to indicate the tire's original position by mark-ing the sidewall. Radial tires always should be returned to the wheel positions they had before they were removed.

It's wise, too, to remove stones from the tread and go over the tires for any obvious damage.

In the event you're planning to store the car over the winter. raise it off the ground on blocks or standjacks so the tires don't touch the ground.

Cold means those tires may need some more air

Two leading tire industry spokesmen—Tire Industry Safety Council and Car Care Council—have issued their traditional annual fall warning about checking air pressure in the tires and boosting it back to normal for the bone-chilling months ahead.

'Motorists should check tire inflation more frequently now because cold weather reduces the air pressure," says Malcolm R. Lovell, Jr., TISC's chair-ന്നമന.

Tires which already may have been a few pounds below proper pressure toward the end of summer could easily become eight to ten pounds underinflated on a freezing day, Car Care Council points out.

And this can cut tire life by about 25 percent, CCC says. Contrary to popular opinion, underinflated tires don't provide better traction on slick surfaces. Instead, underinflation allows the tire to flex more, creating excessive heat buildup which can lead to tire failure.

Wastes gas, too

In addition, it wastes gasoline by increasing rolling resistance, forcing the engine to work harder. The more work the engine does, the more fuel it's going to burn. "You can gain an additional three percent in gasoline mileage simply by correcting under-inflation," TISC's Lovell says. Tires have a tendency to lose about a pound of air per month just standing in the driveway. For every 10-degree drop in the ambient temperature, the air pressure in tires will decrease from one-half to one pound.

Tires are considered seriously underinflated when the air pressure drops only four pounds below the inflation pressure recommended by the vehicle manufacturer.

Further complicating the situation is the fact that radial tires look underinflated when they have the proper amount of air because of a characteristic bulge in the sidewall. A radial tire inflated to 24 pounds looks almost identical to one with 16 pounds.

Check the pressure when the tires are cold-either standing still for several hours or driven less than a mile at moderate speed. Lovell recommends using your own pressure gauge, as service station pressure regulators often are inaccurate.

South wins, ULS loses first North falls on late touchdown, 21-20

By Paul Regelbrugge North High

Trailing 15-0 at halftime last week, the Norsemen came out to play a whole new ballgame in the second-before disaster struck. After coming back to take a 20-15 lead, Washington Eisenhower's star quarterback Gary Plourde found split end Rob Novy in the end zone with a 12 yard game-winning touchdown pass. The play came with just 37 seconds to play and gave the Eagles a narrow 21-20 win over the Norsemen.

"We came back like a bunch of gangbusters," said a disappointed North coach Frank Sumbera, "we really had some good offensive drives. Hopefully our offense is coming of age." North's is 1-2 overall, 0-0 in the Bi-County League.

Plourde, who completed 10 of 16 passes for 161 yards, quickly led the Eagles to a 15-0 halftime score on some fine passing work. "Plourde's a good quarterback," Sumbera stated. 'He's a good passer and an excellent scrambler."

In the second half. North turned things around when quarterback Chris Bingaman pitched the ball out to senior tailback Matt Lehmann for a 17 yard touchdown run. The two point conversion attempt was good when Bingaman found junior Scott DcClaire alone in the end zone.

Late in the third quarter, Bingaman fired a 65 yard pass to Lehmann on the Eisenhower 16. On third down, Bingaman hit fellow sophomore Fred Schultz at the five yard line. North then faced a fourth down and one fool situation when senior Dave Me-Carron leaped over the goal line to bring North within one point, 15-14. With 4:14 left to play, DeClaire came up with a key fumble recovery in the end zone to halt a major Eagles' attack, then, back on offense DeClaire raced for 40 yards on a reverse to the Eisenhower 38.

Bingaman once again went to Lehmann, hitting him with a 23 yard touchdown pass with 1:37 remaining. Very importantly, North's two point conversion attempt failed and the Norsemen now were holding on to a 20-15 lead.

The Eagles, aided by a costly North penalty and a brilliant passing exhibition Plourde went ahead to stay on the 12 yard pass to Novy.

The Norsemen threatened one last time but to no avail, as Bingaman was intercepted by Scott Johnson with seven seconds remaining.

"We start our Bi-County season next week," said Sumbera. "We'll just have to pick up where we left off." North plays Clintondale at home this Saturday, Oct. 3.

Lochmoor's champion

Lochmoor Club's 1981 golf champion is Jud Kotas, 15, above. Kotas earned the title by defeating Dr. Wally Promack, two up, in the finals. This year's tourney involved 16 golfers in match play with the semi-finals and finals played over the Labor Day weekend. Kotas is a South High sophomore and a second year member of the Blue Devil varsity golf team. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Kotas, of University Place.

South High The Grosse Pointe South Blue Devils football team enjoyed its first victory of the season, a 27-0 win over league opponent Anchor Bay last week. The Blue Devil offense played exceptionally well as they scored four touchdowns. Halfback Jamie Keogh scored two touchdowns on four-yard and 15-vard runs.

Quarterback Kip Saile scored the last touchdown of the first half on a quarterback sneak. As the teams went into the locker room the score was 20-0. A pass from Saile to sophothe scoring at 27-0.

The defense was highlighted by an interception late in the fourth quarter by safety Paul Martinelli. The interception gave the Blue Devils the final possession of the game. The defensive line gave up very little rushing and the defensive secondary gave up very little passing in the shutout.

As the Blue Devils move into their next league game against East Detroit, their record will be 1-1 in the conference and 1-2 overall. The game will not be played in the Silverdome as scheduled, but at South on Saturday, Oct. 3 at 1 p.m.

ULS is 3-0 in field hockey

By Tracy Edwards ULS

In their first game of the season, the ULS varsity and junior varsity filed hockey teams traveled to Ottawa Hills, Ohio near Toledo. The varsity squad started off the game on the right foot by scoring two goals in the first five minutes on shots by Heidi Henkel and Kelly Kirkpatrick.

ULS played one of its best passing games ever and it looked like Ottawa Hills would be wiped out before halftime. However, Ottawa Hills' defense and goalie began to crack down and allowed no more goals during the match

The junior varsity and varsity field hockey teams then traveled to Cleveland last weekend to play girls' schools Laurel and Hathaway Brown. On Saturday, Sept. 26, ULS faced Laurel with the junior varsity quickly proving its strength winning 9-0. Senior Nancy Hines scored twice in

Marlboros win opener

The Grosse Pointe Marlboros Bantam A Travel hockey team won its opening game last week, 2-1, over a strong Canadian op-ponent, St. Clair Beach.

The exhibition contest was a warm-up for both clubs as they begin their league seasons in a few weeks. Marlboro coach Dick Bohan was pleased with the aggressive play of his Marlies, who were able to stay in contention with the much larger Canadian team.

Grosse Pointe broke out on top when center Joe Sullivan sent a perfect pass to winger Tom Ugval, who skated in all alone on the St. Clair Beach netminder. Ugval's wrist shot from 15 feet beat the goalie cleanly.

St. Clair Beach tied the score in the second period after a goal-mouth scramble. The Marlboros iced the game midway through the third period when right wing Walter Connolly converted a centering pass from linemate Greg Henchel, Marlie goalies Coley Connelly and Al Van Deweghe shared the netminding duties and shut down the St. Clair Beach shooters.

The Marlies will compete this season in the tough Bantam A travel division of the Adray League. The team includes nine forwards, four defensemen and two goaltenders. The forwards are Walter Connolly, Mike Fulgenzi, Greg Henchel, Mark Nesler, Jamie Parker, Joe Sullivan, Kevin Tisdale, Tom Ugval and Eric Warezak.

The Marlie defensemen include George Jerome, Mike Kramer, Jeff Lefebvre and Bob Rogers. Coley Connolly and Al Van Deweghe will split the goaltending duties. Team coaches are Dick Bohan and Bob Nesler. Assistant coaches Sam and Tim Clogg, along with Rick Zuetell, round out the dedicated group providing the instructional expertise and motivation for the Marlboros.

Grosse Pointe travel hockey is gearing up for another successful season. Grosse Pointe Pee Wee AA and Bantam AA teams will host a "mini-tournament" at the Community Rink on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 3 and 4. Teams from Wexford, Ont., and other Detroit area clubs will compete in the event.

Tom Costello, coach of the Pointe Bantam AA team, invites members of the community to watch his team play at 6 p.m. on Oct. 3. Costello's team is the one that went all the way to the finals in state competition last season.

The University Liggett school foot-ball team traveled to Flint Sept. 25, The ULS coaching staff surmised only to see its two game winning streak end quite abruptly.

Flint Academy's shifty quarterback senior Rawlan Lillard, scored his first touchdown in the closing minutes of the first quarter on a 41 yard keeper play. He scored his second touchdown in the third quarter on a one yard quarterback sneak.

The Knights' defense allowed Flint 237 total yards, while Flint held the

Red Barons topple

Flint drops ULS 14-0

The Red Barons lost all three games to the Denby Bulldogs in games played at North High School on Sunday, Sept. 27. It has been many years since the Red Barons have lost at all three levels on the same day. It was a day they would soon like to forget.

The Red Baron freshman unit blew an early lead and suffered its first setback of the 1981 season, losing 13-7. A 35-yard pass from Dominic Martilotti to Jason Whelan accounted for the only Baron touchdown. Steve Moore blasted over from the two-yard line for the point after attempt.

The entire squad played extremely well despite the loss. Chuck Weiss intercepted a pass, Brad Watkins recovered two fumbles and Brian Letcher and Terry MacDougall each recovered one fumble to spark the defense.

The junior varsity absorbed an 18-8 loss despite the outstanding two way play of Mike Miller. Miller scored one TD and sacked the Bulldog quarterback in his own end zone for a safety. Robert Rochon completed several passes, including a 50yard bomb to Marcus Perry, behind protection provided by Mike Hagen, Bill Turnbull, Dominic Corrado and Steve Szymanski.

Defensive standouts included Tom Smith, Mike Calcaterra, John Streberger and Bob Allaer. Head coach Richard T. Moore described the loss as one of the most devastating in his distinguished 20 year coaching career.

The varsity lost a hard fought game. 14.7. The game remained deadlocked for three quarters until the Bulldogs broke a long gainer for the final score. Chris Rodriguez had the only touchdown for the Barons. Jeff Woerner played well defensively. Head coach Werner Lueckhoff commented that the Knights were not mentally ready and were looking past this this game to the "tough" competition with Hawken School this Saturday in Cleveland, Ohio.

Summing up the Knights' disappointing performance, coach Tom Taber said, "Flint Academy played well, but we did not block, tackle, or play the game that were capable of playing. Let's hope we can regain our respectability this week in Ohio."

that both teams were evenly matched but the Bulldogs played with greater intensity and enthusiasm

The players appreciated the efforts of the cheerleading squad. Leading the crowd in cheers were Laura Bingeman, Anne Condino, Krissy DeMeyer, Janet Dunlop, Jean Ekstrom, Wendi Lass, Amy Lindeman and Alissa Herdel. The parent sponsor for the group is Elaine Garner and the coach is Joyce Garner.

lent job of keeping the ball in Ottawa's half of the field. Only twice did Ottawa Hills' offense get down the field to shoot on ULS. Their attempts were of no avail and Liggett ended up victors, 2-0.

The ULS junior varsity also defeated Ottawa in a tough match. The game started off with Ottawa Hills taking the ball down to Liggett's end of the field and keeping it there for most of the game. Liggett's defense hung on and thanks to superb work by goalie, Mary Fisher, Ottawa's scoring drives were useless

Liggett had a tough time getting through Ottawa's agressive defense, but once through, made use of their superior stick skills to score two goals. Liggett junior varsity hung on in the second half to beat Ottawa the first half. During the second half, ULS forwards had a field day, racking up seven points against Laurel's freshman goalie, while ULS goalie Mary Fisher only had to make one save during the entire game. In the second half, goals were scored by Nancy Georgi, three, Susan Edwards, two, and Nancy Hines and Lee Salot with one each.

The girls then went down the street to Hathaway Brown school. According to some members of the varsity squad, Hathaway Brown is ULS's tougest competition. Despite this, the junior varsity emerged victorious,40.

After growing accustomed to their competitor's aggressive style, ULS center forward Lisa Van Dellen broke through the defense to score the team's first goal. Being fairly evenly matched, Liggett did not score again until the second half on shots by freshmen Edwards who scored once and Georgi who scored twice. Keeping with tradition, the ULS junior varsity is thus far undefeated in three games.

South golfer learns lesson in red tape

By Trevor Dinka South High

Tom Herndon, a native of the Park ran up against the indifference of red tape when he learned earlier this year he was ineligible for golf, a sport he hoped to gain a scholarship in.

Herndon lived in Hawaii last year with his brother. It was a productive year at Castle High School for Herndon both academically and athletically. On returning to the Pointe this summer, Herndon went out for South's golf team. The golf team was nothing new to Herndon, who played JV golf his sophomore year at South, as well as in the odd varsity match.

Herndon attended three practices and two pre-season matches of the 1981 season before Harvey Richardson, the golf coach, found out and relayed the message to Tom that he was ineligible.

The whole thing came as an absolute surprise to Herndon. The team was playing its second pre-season match against Chippewa Valley out at Partridge Creek golf course, when questions concerning who Herndon was began to circulate. This all came as a result of Herndon shooting 38 on the 36 par course.

Charles Hollosy's athletic department did some checking to make sure all was in order, and to the disappointment of Herndon and his team-

North wins soccer 'war'

North's varsity soccer team lost the battle but won the war against Chippewa Valley last week. With cautions, warnings and ejections flying all over the field, the Norsemen lost the services of sophomores Marc Tirikian and Bill Bryce for one game, but in spite of playing shorthanded, North managed to outplay, outhustle and defeat the Big Reds, 3-2.

All of the scoring was done in the first half. Tirikian opened the account for North, Chippewa Valley then tied and went ahead 2-1 on defensive lapses, before Tirikian and junior Paul Regelbrugge added goals for the emotional victory. The Norsemen then met Bishop Foley for the second time of the season and promptly shut them out again, 2-0, Tirikian's 2rd goal of the season and Regelbrugge's sixth did the damage for the 6-1 Norsemen. Dave Loren recorded his fifth shutout of the year.

J. V. Soccer:

The undefeated Norsemen shut out Chippewa Valley and Bishop Foley last week 4-0 and 3-0, respectively, to raise their record to 4-0-1. David Regelbrugge scored three goals, Carlos Perez had two, and Scott Orham and Chris Nearhood added the other two to lead the way for North.

Cross Country:

Jce Schmidt's second place finish led North's boys' cross country team to a second place finish in the Shrine Invitational. The girls, paced by Mar-tha Whitaker and Colleen Caroll, finished in fifth place in the Shrine before trouncing Roseville Brablec, 17-mates, a technicality did exist which y made him an ineligible player.

The Grosse Pointe schools fall under the guidelines of The Handbook Of The Michigan High School Athletic Association For Senior High and Middle Schools. Section nine of the handbook concerns transfers by students. Part A, number nine of the transfer section states:

A student who transfers for educational reasons, provided the student resides in the new district or service area, and the principals of both schools involved sign the Educational Transfer Form certifying the transfer is in the best educational interests of the student. The transfer must be approved by the Executive Director.

Hollosy explained that the clause was originally instituted to keep competing schools from recruiting talent.

Hollosy explained that it took so long to clear Herndon as an eligible player because of the distance the paper work had to travel.

Unfortunately, Herndon was unable to play last week in the Marshall Invitational, where the four best players from South compete against the top four players from 14 other surrounding schools. In addition, Herndon will have to work his way back through the ranks after being sidelined for so long.

J. V. Girls' Basketball:

North saw its record fall to 1-4 when it dropped two straight to Bishop Gallagher and Grosse Pointe South, 49-22 and 31-27, respectively. Michelle Witt led the Norsemen with eight points against Gallagher.

Freshmen Girls' Basketball:

In two close games, the Norsemen split last week, losing to Centerline 22-18 and beating Grosse Pointe South, 39-36. North overcame a six point halftime deficit in the South victory, led by outstanding defensive play from Dawn Cartwright, Pam Boesinger and Kelly Brennen. Offensively, Celeste Sartor fired in 22 points for the 3.2 Norsemen.

Girls' Tennis:

North shut out Fraser and Lake Shore last week before succumbing to Liggett three points to four, for the first defeat of the year. Winning consistently for the Norsemen were the doubles teams of Beth McMahon-Chris Hayosh and Kris Boll-Maria Rodriquez.

Football:

The J.V. Norsemen (0-3) dropped their third straight game against the Eisenhower-Eagles, 20-6, last week. North's first touchdown of the season was scored on a one yard run by Ron Cornell. Starring defensively for North with two interceptions was Tim Monaghan. The freshmen squad (0-2) lost its second stright, 13-0.

Golf:

North's golf team continues to pile up one win after the other as it stretched its undefeated record to 8-0 tiac.

The varsity coached by Margaret Spindler, played an outstanding game winning, 38-33. Maureen Boyle was high scorer with 13 points followed by Lucie Cooper with nine and Mary Unti with eight. Unti dominated the boards with 16 rebounds. Boyle had 14. The team's defense was especially strong.

The J.V. took a impressive 35-4 victory over Pontiac. Anita Pugliesi was high scorer with 10 points and Therese Licardello added eight. Sandy Lico and Patty Reinhard contributed with 10 rebounds each. Star's J.V. is coached by Margaret Spindler and Warren Gravlin.

On Tuesday, Sept. 22, Star faced the Dominican Ravens. The J.V. fell short in a close game, 35-33. Lico was on top with 14 points, and Licardello added nine.

The varsity came through again with a strong, 43-37 victory. Untilled the scoring drive with 12 points and 11 rebounds. Marisa Ventimiglia followed closely with nine points. Boyle assisted with 10 rebounds, Andrzejcak/Lisa Cardonna, 6-2, 6-2. Cathy Corlino/Karolyn Bresser won their match as well, topping Noreen Foxe/Emily Roman.

The team is coached by Jane Turnbu!L

St. Paul netters sweep matches

It was a great week for the St. Paul's girls' tennis team as it beat Holy Name, 6-1, and Our Lady of Sorrows, 5-2.

In the Holy Name match Carolyn Craft, Jane Kornmeier and Holly Huntington were victors in singles. The doubles teams of Becky Steffes and Patti Molloy and Laura Gagnon and Nicole Lehman were also winners.

Against Our Lady of Sorrows, team captain Julie McGann won her singles match, as did teammates Kornmeier and Molloy. Also on top were the doubles team of Kathy Boettcher and Martha Keane, along with the team of Gagnon and Lehman.

North raised its record to 4-1 by beating Bishop Gallagher, 56-45, and Grosse Pointe South, 60-32, in two outstanding team efforts, Senior Amy Walkowiak continued to pour in points, scoring 23 against Gallagher and 10 more against South. Also starring against Gallagher were Jean Genord with 11 points, Jeannie Soulliere with 15 rebounds and Therese Domie. nik with several key steals. Liz Seagram, Genord and Walkowiak led the way over South.

with wins over Chippewa Valley and Lakeview in a tri-match, and a sudden death victory over Cranbrook. Pacing North were Tom Wilson, John Brishki and John Kalyvas with excellent scores against Cranbrook.

Kunners start season with win

By Brooke Reuther South High

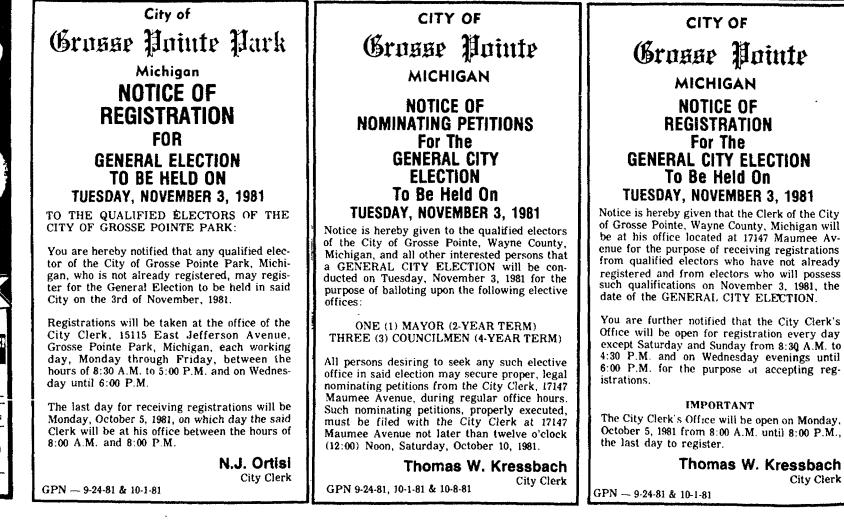

The South boys cross-country team started its new season with a 15-49 victory over Anchor Bay on Sept. 15. On Sept. 19 South placed eighth among 18 teams, in the Lake Shore Invitational. The team also lost to

Mt. Clemens on Sept. 22, 23-32. The two most challenging teams which South must run against are L'Anse Creuse North which is in

South's league (Eastern Michigan League), and North, which is in the Bi-County league,

"Our team has gotten off to a good start this year, and we are still improving with every meet. We hope to win our league this year," said John Vismara.

Another outstanding runner is Nigel Orton, who is a new student from Rhode Island and is the number one runner on the team for the start of this season.
