Task force seeks school for senior housing site

Administration says it

By Joanne Gouleche

A Grosse Pointe Woods task force on senior citizen housing needs has presented the Board of Education with a proposal to turn unused school building sites into future housing for Grosse Pointe's elderly.

The task force, centered out of the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, found last fall that no alternative housing exists for the elderly in the Grosse Pointes because, there is no land on which to build. The church is looking to the schools to meet the housing need.

"If the land was available, our church is convinced that community forces would quickly move and ideas of funding, construction, cost, size, would be worked out," the proposal says.

It's no news that enrollment in Grosse Pointe public schools has been on the decline since 1971. An official count of classroom attendance in September showed 8,195 students in the system's 15 buildings — almost 5,000 fewer than in 1970. School officials have not seen those figures since the 1950s, and it has prompted a study of enrollment decline and future use of school buildings.

IN RESPONSE TO the housing proposal, School Supt. Dr. Kenneth Brummel told task force members that a report on possible school closings won't be available until late spring.

Woods Presbyterian Pastor Robert Linthicum, however, is not too anxious for the spring thaw wait.

"We just don't want (senior housing) to be forgotten when the school board looks at the whole problem of

Diane Heavner, task force chairman, said the housing study was developed after Woods voters defeated a ballot proposal in 1978 to erect senior housing in Ghesquiere Park,

The task report points out the lack of senior housing is "particularly serious because of the rapid growth in the number and percentage of senior citizens in the Grosse Pointes enrollment decline this spring," Linthicum said. over the past 10 years (more than an eight percent increase of the total population).

According to 1980 school census figures, nearly 20 percent of the total population in the Grosse Pointes and a portion of Harper Woods that is a part of the Pointe school system is made up of senior citizens 60 years and over. Grosse Pointe City has the heaviest concentration of seniors, 21.7 percent, while Grosse Pointe Park records 14.6 percent of its population as 60 years and over.

Heavner said senior housing is targeted toward the schools because, according to the proposal, they are "the largest holder of land in the Grosse Pointes . . . and the School Board obviously has a stewardship of this community's most unavailable resource."

The housing proposal specifically asks that when a school building is no longer used to educate children that the land surrounding the building be considered for senior citizens housing.

"A suggested way this could be accomplished would be for the land to be leased for a strictly-limited sum for 99 years on condition that it be developed only for senior citizen housing. The vacated school building could continue to be used by the School Board for whatever purposes it would choose . . . It would be the

Several senior groups now occupy space at North High School, Brownell, Parcells and Ferry schools.

The Grosse Pointe Woods based Seniors Onward for Change (SOC) Food and Friendship program works out of a vacant home economics room at Brownell School for $80 a month or for 40 hours of volunteer time. SOC also pays the school system $5 a day to use a room at Parcells school for its minor home repair program and $50 a month for use of a room at Ferry School for its informational and referral service.

A school spokesman said the school system also provides a number of free services to other senior citizen groups in the community.

Packing it away for the season

Like raking leaves and Halloween, pumpkins and pilgrims, getting the boat ready for winter is a fall ritual in the Grosse Pointe communities. If you haven't taken care of it already, you'd better get a move on—winter is definitely on the way. John Carter and his friend Jack Bause prepared Carter's boat, Kleine Beer, at Jefferson Beach Marina in St. Clair Shores on a recent sunny day. At left they're getting ready to cradle the mast before taking the boat out. For more photos of the laborious fall ritual see page 6A.

Farms election results overturned

By Tom Greenwood

In a mildly surprising turnaround, Farms City Clerk Richard Solak announced Thursday, Nov. 5, that the first of three ballot proposals put before Farms voters Tuesday did pass and was not defeated as previously reported.

The proposal, which passed, 1,411 to 1,161, according to Solak, dealt with amending the city charter to delete a $1,000 limitation for purchase and sale of city property which may be conducted without prior council approval and without obtaining sealed bids. The amendment also allows the city council to set any dollar limitation it wishes.

solak said the reversal was due to simple human error. "Basically, what happened is the proposals were listed in the wrong order in two of the precincts," he said. "They were listed in a 2-3-1 order instead of 1-2-3. When the results were read off at city hall on Tuesday night, we tallied them in the proper order and it appeared all three had failed."

Solak said the error was caught later in the week and corrected. He also said the city had no real comment to make on the failure of the other two proposals to pass and referred to the statement made by Farms Mayor Pro-Tem Lloyd Semple on election night. At that time Semple said he was "disappointed with the vote on the ballot proposals" and blamed the council for not educating the electorate on the issues.

Semple said the defeat would force the council to return to the bargaining table with a different package of proposals, one that contained fewer improvements in fringe benefits.

The defeated proposals dealt withlowering the age of voluntary retirements from 60 to 57 for city employes with 20 years of credited service; empowered the city to provide medical, hospital and nursing care for voluntary retirants and spouses; increased the Farms retirant and spouse health care contributions by two percent; provided retirement benefits to male spouses of city employes on the same basis as benefits were provided to female spouses of city employes; and provided retirement benefits to male spouses of police officers and firefighters on the same basis that such benefits are provided to female spouses of such employes.

"Perhaps there wasn't enough information disseminated about the proposals," said Solak. "The last two amendments weren't that simple and clear cut. Perhaps the voters weren't too sure on what they were asked to vote on."

Solak said it would be up to the council to determine whether the amendments would be brought up before the voters again.

Also in the Nov. 3 election, Farms voters named Joseph Fromm, Gail Kaess and Nancy Waugaman to four-year terms on the council. Jack Cudlip was elected to a two-year term. All four were incumbents. Municipal Judge Robert Pytell was re-elected to another four-year term.

At the Farms Council meeting held Monday night, Nov. 9, the four incumbent councilmen were sworn in by City Clerk Richard Solak.

Councilman James Dingeman and Lloyd Semple were unanimously reelected to their respective positions of Mayor and Mayor Pro-Tem, The Farms is the only city in the Pointes which elects its Mayor and Mayor Pro-Tem by council vote.

Woods man charged in robberies

By Mike Andrzejczyk

A 30-year-old Grosse Pointe Woods resident was arraigned Friday, Nov. 5, in Woods Municipal Court after being arrested two days earlier by police from two cities.

Salvatore Biondo, formerly of Detroit, was being held on $50,000 bond in connection with two armed robberies in the Woods, part of the 15 crimes police suspect he may have committed in different eastside cities.

Biondo was arrested in the driveway of a home on Vernier near Mack, where he was reportedly living with a woman, by 18 officers from East Detroit and the Woods, most of whom, according to reports, were dressed in riot-gear, armed with shotguns and wearing flak jackets.

Biondo was wanted for four months for at least eight robberies in East Detroit and seven in Warren, Detroit, the Woods and possibly Harper Woods, police said.

Woods police had been alerted earlier in the day on Nov. 4 by East Detroit police that they had obtained three warrants against Biondo. When he returned home, police moved in quickly and made the arrest without injury, even though they had expected trouble based on Biondo's past criminal record, they said.

The robberies had earned the perpetrator the moniker "T-Bird Bandit" since an early-model Ford Thunderbird was seen leaving the scene of several of the robberies.

Woods Public Safety Director John Dankel said Biondo was under investigation in connection with an incident that occurred Wednesday, Oct. 21, involving two counts of armed robbery at a gas station on Mack and Police say a man pulled into the Sunoco station at Mack and Kenmore, robbed the attendant and a customer of $140, then fled the scene. No car was seen in the incident.

Woods officers and detectives received high praise from East Detroit for their part in the operation and investigation.

Biondo was returned to East Detroit to await arraignment.

Everything changes-but Joe

By Tom Greenwood

Some things never seem to change in this town. The Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, the beauty of Lakeshore Road, the big elm in front of the News, Christ Church and Joseph Valgoi (Valgoy) at Hamlin's Market.

It's like they've always been here, especially Joe (as he's known to all his customers.)

Except for some time spent in the infantry during World War II, Joe has been with Hamlin's since it opened in 1939. Contrary to popular belief, he does not sleep on a cot in the back of the store, although he is working on his third generation of customers.

"I guess I have been here a long time," said Joe with a smile. "It's at the point where I look upon my customers almost like my family. Sometimes I think I see more of them than I do of my own." Joe's "real" family consists of wife Toni and daughter Stephanie and son Robert. Married 35 years, the Valgoi's have four grandchildren.

As might be expected, Joe has seen a lot of changes during his 40 years at the store. He started as a driver, worked as a butcher, and is now in charge of all the produce, "Things are different," he said. "We used to go down to Eastern Market at 2 a.m. every day for all our meats, produce and vegetables. Everyone knew everyone else. It was a big, friendly family. But there isn't time for that anymore."

NOWADAYS, everything's delivered to the store by truck, where it's selected carefully and lovingly by Joe

"Customers always compliment us on the produce," he said. "They're amazed at how good and fresh it looks. Every berry in a box of strawberries looks perfect because it is perfect."

That means a lot of work for Joe. He spends hours culling through the produce, throwing out anything over ripe, dried out, bruised or old. Lima beans and peas are shelled daily, the apples gleam and all the berries appear dewy fresh.

"Supermarkets don't have the time to do this for their customers," said Joe. "It's that added extra touch that adds quality . . . and cost. Sure you pay more, but you also get more. There's no waste. Our customers can use everything they buy."

Another change Joe has noted is the difference in customers. They're more aware, more knowledgeable about what they're buying.

"It used to be they had us fill their order with no concern to cost," mused Joe. "They left the entire selection up to us. Today the customers know what they want. They know about cuts of meat, types of vegetables, differences in wine. In some respects they've made our job a lot easier."

"Ease" is what it's all about when it comes to Joe helping a customer. After 40 years he's learned a lot about what he's selling and wha, people want. What kind of wine goes best with this meal Joe? Anything new in cheeses? I need a new appetizer for the party Joe. Joe, I need some raspberries and it's the middle of winter. Can you help me?

"If this store doesn't have it already, I'm sure we can locate it for

"Customers always compliment us the produce," he said. "They're already got most everything you need at how good and fresh it could think of." Indeed they do.

Want some chocolate covered snails? Right here, $20 a box. Fresh Beluga caviar? Try seven ounces for $200. Some nice goose pate with truffles? Loads at $50 for a few ounces, (also some nice pork pate for 99 cents a tin.)

So you need someone to dress all those wild ducks, geese, partridges and quails you shot? Hamlin's can handle it for you. They've also got two dozen kinds of fresh bean coffee. Two dozen fresh cheeses, and an equal amount of crackers. Gourmet soups, including fruit soups, plus cases and cases of wines.

*The list doesn't stop there. They also stock gourmet vinegars, pickled walnuts, tins of teas, fancy candies, fresh baked goods, truffles, frozen foods, spices and ice creams. They can sell you a picnic hamper to pack it all in too.

"It's a joy to sell quality items," smiled Joe. "Especially when you sell them to quality people." To Joe, everyone who enters the market is a quality person.

"Whether they spend $4 or $400, we treat them all the same," he said. "Quality is the only thing we have to offer the customer today. Even to the children that come here. They're the customers of tomorrow. I've had a lot of fun these last 40 years. I'm lucky because I enjoy what I do."

Incidentally, if you'd like some chocolate covered ants or grass-hoppers to go with those chocolate covered snails, Joe can help you. And probably recommend a good wine.

Forty year career

Meet Joe Valgoi. With 40 years at Hamlin's under his belt, he's become a Grosse Pointe institution.

Report disputes welfare influx

Only about 3.5 percent of all applicants for public aid in Michigan fall into a sub-category labelled "most likely to have moved to Michigan to get higher welfare benefits," according to preliminary findings of an August study by the state Department of Social Services.

The sub-group was defined as persons who came from states with lower Aid to Families with Dependent Children or General Assistance payments, who applied for welfare here within three months of arriving, and who had either never lived in Michigan or who had previously resided here for less than one year.

By comparison, 83.1 percent of the applicants surveyed had been Michigan residents for more than a year. About 13.4 percent of the applicants (the remainder of the study group) also migrated to Michigan, but most of them had lived here previously for a year or more as well.

Of all who migrated to Michigan and applied for welfare in August, most came from Texas (12.7 percent), Florida (10 percent) or California (6.5 percent), according to the preliminary report. Ohio (6.0 percent), Illinois (5.6), Oklahoma and Indiana (4.3), Wisconsin and Alabama (3.8) and Arizona (3) followed. California and Wisconsin have similar or higher welfare benefits than Michigan. The other states generally have lower public aid payments.

Among those who fell into the "high-probability" sub-group of moving to Michigan for its higher welfare benefits, most came from Ohio (13.1 percent), Illinois (12.3) or Alabama (8.5). The rest of the sub-category came from Florida (6.9 percent), Texas (6.2), Indiana (5.4), Missouri and Mississippi (4.6), Kentucky (3.8) or Arizona (3.1). All of those states offer lower AFDC and GA benefits than Michigan.

About 70 percent of all migrating applicants (including the "high-probability" group) reported that they had lived in Michigan before for at least one year. More significant, perhaps, was the study indication that among those who came here from Texas. Florida and California (the top three contributing states), 82 percent said they had lived in Michigan previously for a year or more. From the four states on or near Michigan's borders (Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin), only 54 percent of the appli-cants claimed prior Michigan residency.

The survey was conducted in local DSS offices around the state by individual intake workers who asked the applicants the questions and filled out the answers given by the clients.

The preliminary report was based upon an essentially non-random sample — large counties such as Wayne tend to be under-represented, the report noted. The final report will include county-by-county data.

The study was ordered by MDSS Director John T. Dempsey in late June after state Representative Lad Stacey sponsored a House Concurrent Resolution that called for record keeping by DSS on a suspected influx of welfare recipients moving to Michigan from nearby states with lower benefits.

"I think these preliminary results show that the extent of the alleged welfare migration into Michigan has been vastly exaggerated." Dempsey said today. "Among other things, it suggests that much of what some people see as an influx of out-of-state applicants is, in fact, long-time Michigan residents returning home after looking for jobs or new lives elsewhere and being disappointed.

"It would be a shame to cut our sub-poverty level benefits for 96.5 percent of our public aid recipients just to discourage the other 3.5 percent who may or may not have come here because we offer higher payments in two programs than some other states do," Dempsey added.

Browse around at Academy fair

Chairman Mrs. Robert E. Milligan III and Assistant Chairman Mrs. David L. Kaser are busy organizing the annual Grosse Pointe Academy Book Fair Thursday, Nov. 12, from 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m., and Friday, Nov. 13, from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The fair coincides with parentteacher conferences so that parents may conveniently stop by the main quad and select from a wide variety of new books for all age levels, preschool through adult. Proceeds are returned to the school through the library.

Other features of interest at the fair include hand-made potpourri from The Grosse Pointe Chapter of the Herb Society of America.

Know your rights on auto repairs

Under Michigan's Motor Vehicle Service and Repair Act all auto service or repair facilities must do the following things for consumers:

• Provide a written estimate for repairs exceeding $20; for repairs less than $20 an estimate must be provided upon request,

· Contact and receive permission from the consumer for repair work which exceeds the written estimate by more than $10 or 10 percent

(whichever is less). • Provide a detailed invoice (final bill) when the work is finished,

• Allow the consumers to inspect and/or keep replaced parts.

The Department of State registers and regulates service or repair facilities, and tests and certifies mechanics. The law covers any repair work performed on cars, trucks, motorcycles or other motor vehicles.

N.E.G. Center wants to help

The Community Service Program of the Northeast Guidance Center is offering two eight week, eight session support groups.

One group, Young Widows, is geared to women ages 20 to 40 whose husbands have died within the past three years. The session will be held each Monday afternoon, 1 to 3 p.mi., from Nov. 15 through Jan. 11, at the Guidance Center's Administration Building, 13340 East Warren Avenue.

The second support group is called Parents Who Have Experienced the Death of a Child. The parents group will meet on Tuesday evening, 7 to 9 p.m., Nov. 17 through Jan. 12, at Holy Communion Lutheran Church, 11111 Whittier.

These groups will provide opportunities to share feelings and concerns with others who have experienced a similar loss; receive and give understanding to others; meet new friends and exchange ideas; get encouragement and support to move on.

Reservations are requested. Cal 824-8000 Extension 290. Both groups are being formed under the direction of Jeanne Lancaster, a social worker at' the Northeast Guidance Center.

Snowblowers stolen

Two Woods families may find the winter a little rougher this year, having reported the theft of their snow blowers to police over the weekend.

Carl Olofson of Broadstone called police Saturday morning to report that his Jacobson "Snow Burst" was not in his garage.

Olofson told police he had not seen the machine for about a month, since it was under a pile of carpets. He said he went into his garage that morning, found the carpets moved and the snow blower gone.

Police said Olofson's garage was unlocked

A woman on Hollywood called police Friday evening to report that here Toro "Snowmaster," which she had last seen about two weeks earlier, was no longer chained to her garage.

How an Ophthalmologist examines your eyes

Have you ever wondered what a complete eye examination is like?

First, your visual acuity without corrective lenses is deter-mined. Then, a large instrument that contains many different lenses is placed in front of your eyes. By changing these lenses as you look through this instrument, the best combination of lens powers is determined. The muscle balance of your eyes is tested also to see if both eyes are working logether. When an ophthalmologist (a medical eye specialist) examines your eyes, he uses special kinds of eye drops. This enables him to further refine the lens prescription, and to see easily inside each eye to be certain there is no disease. In addition, he will measure the internal pressure of each eye to check for glaucoma, and will carefully examine the front layers of the eye with a binocular microscope.

If glasses will improve your vision, an ophthalmologist will give you your lens prescription to take to an optician.

Groups organize to support voting rights

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Myron H. Wahls will be guest speaker at the Third Thursday Forum on Nov. 19. Judge Wahls will address the question, "If the 15th Amendment of the U.S. Constitution guarantees the right to vote to every U.S. citizen, why is the Voting Rights Act neces-

Judge Wahls' appearance will be co-sponsored by four Grosse Pointe groups: the Grosse Pointe Ministerial Association, the Grosse Pointe branch of the American Association of University Women, the Grosse Pointe League of Women Voters, and the Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice.

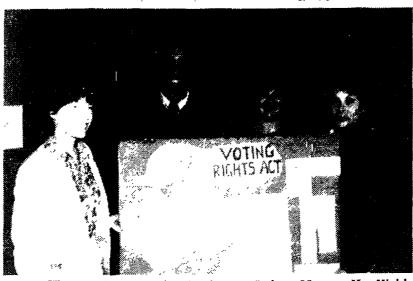

· The four organizations are seeking community-wide support for the extension of the Voting Rights Act (VRA). Major provisions of the act are scheduled to expire in August, 1982, unless Congress acts soon to extend them.

... The Voting Rights Act, enacted in 1965, has been called the most important piece of civil rights legislation ever passed. Its purpose is to protect the constitutionally guaranteed voting rights of citizens whose voting strength is diluted through racial gerrymandering, literacy tests, poll taxes, physical abuse, etc. The VRA of 1965 gave thousands of blacks and other minorities access to the ballot box

Congress extended the VRA in 1970 and 1975. The U.S. House of Representatives voted overwhelmingly on Oct. 5, 1981 to support the extension of the act. But, a battle is expected to wage in the Senate, where a conservative coalition led by Sen. Strom Thurmond (R-S.C.) and Rep. Henry Hyde (D-Ill.) is leading an effort to weaken or eliminate the Act.

Judge Wahls' appearance at the Third Thursday Forum will kick off petition drive in support of the VRA's extension. Petitions will be available through the four sponsoring organizations and will be presented to U.S. Senators Don Riegle and Carl Levin.

The Third Thursday Forum will take place on Nov. 19 at Christ Church, Miller Hall, 61 Grosse Pointe Boulevard, Grosse Pointe Farms. Admission is free. Students are welcome and refreshments will be served. For more information call 882-6464.

Woods election means higher taxes

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Woods residents will find life more expensive next year, having passed in last week's election a proposal raising property taxes by a half mill for ambulance service and a referendum 'calling for construction of docks at Lake Front Park that may raise dock

A third proposal calling for a fouryear property tax levy for park improvement was defeated, but the Parks and Recreation director said last week he still hopes to get new equipment for the parks.

In addition, the city council had a new face at its Nov. 9 meeting as the result of voters' support of Jean Rice in the Nov. 3 election.

By voting a tax increase for the ambulance service, residents assured themselves "the only life support unit In the Grosse Pointe-Harper Woods area," according to City Administrator Chester Petersen. The unit, to begin operations in July, 1982, will feature a direct radio link with St. John Hospital, allowing for monitoring of vital signs of patients before arrival in the emergency room. The service will also be free to residents. Petersen said, with only non-residents being charged.

Public Safety Director John Dankel said the levy wouldn't be assessed until the next fiscal year, and St. John would need the time to install equipment they have purchased, so the program can "be off and running."

The boat dock referendum may be easier voted on than realized. Petersen said, pointing out that the question limited the improvement funds to current boat dock fees.

He said that higher dock fees may be necessary in order to just pay for limited improvement of removing a bridge to make 50 sites more accessable to larger boats. This, he pointed out, would cost about $256,000, and present fees did not come close to that

"It's up to someone to figure out how to sinance it," he said.

Larry Sullivan of the Grosse Pointe Woods Boat Club said he was working to come up with a finance plan for the project on his own; one which would not "substantially" increase dock fees, blaming delays in the project on city administration vacila-

Sullivan said he was working with bankers on a revenue bond project that would pay for the project over seven to 10 years, rather than expecting fees to recoup the costs in the short term, something he calls "ridiculous.'

"I'm going to meet with bankers . and personally work on a funding proposal that would get the project off the ground," Sullivan said,

"and not jeopardize the current fees."

Proposition Three's defeat, which would have generated money over four years for the improvement at city parks, did not discourage Parks and Recreation Director Donald Hallmann who said, "Our Recreation Commission is working on plans constantly . . we will never quit. We will

Jean Rice was sworn in as the new member of the Grosse Pointe Woods City Council Monday night after finishing what she called an aggressive campaign. Rice outpolled the two incumbents in the race, outstripping Thomas Fahrner by about 100 votes.

She credited her victory to the women of the city, along with her work in various civic groups for six

Rice noted she had no particular agenda for items to bring before the council, although she said she would uphold those promises she made during her campaign. The problem, though, is the need to become accustomed to the added information available to council members, she

WCCC forms foundation

To facilitate private-sector funding and enhance its public image, a special foundation was established Oct. 2 in the name of Wayne County Community College.

As its goal, the Wayne Community College Foundation will seek an "alternative vehicle" for contribution of funds to sustain institutional projects which may not be supported through traditional resources.

The first official organizational meeting of the foundation took place at the college administrative headquarters. The initial agenda included an adoption of Foundation By-Laws, an election of officers and discussion of the institution's commitment to securing supplementary funding through available grants.

With respect to the collegiate foundation's election of officers, three key posts were filled from the membership of the Foundation Board of Directors. Elected for positions of president, vice-president and secretary/treasurer were Foundation Director and WCCC Board of Trustee Member Doris Miller, Foundation Director William Hettiger and Foundation Director and WCCC Board of Trustee Member James McCartney, respectively.

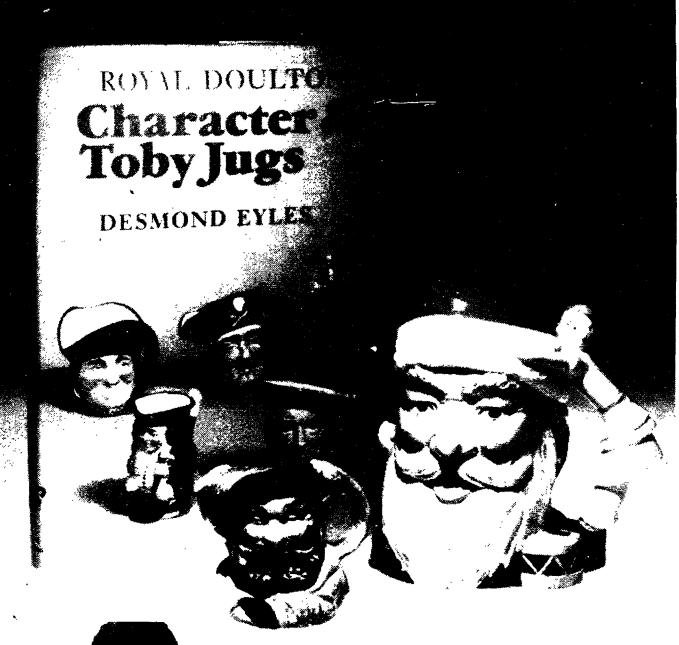

Formalized objectives of the Wayne Community College Foundation will consider priorities of citizen involvement, an enhanced college-community informational exchange and the maintenance of a positive institutional image. Along financial lines, the Foundation will also seek to establish and maintain permanent memorial, endowment and student loan funds and scholarships, to sponsor special additions to college physical facilities or cultural programs, to foster research and to act as a repository of philanthropic donations in the name of

"It is a certainty that Wayne County Community College must continue to rely upon its public for its best development" says new foundation President Doris Miller. "People mandated this institution over a decade ago, and it is to them that WC3 is accountable. It is our fervent hope that the image and educational achievements of this institution-its programs and commitments, will be better articulated through the founda-

U. Club notes 50 year mark

The University Club celebrated 50 vears in its Jefferson location, Thursday, Oct. 22.

Harry Cook, Free Press Religious Editor, gave a presentation on the University Club's history and dinner

Father Malcom Carron, president of University of Detroit High School and former president of the University of Detroit, presided over the affair and re-dedicated the building.

The University Club building, located at 1411 E. Jefferson, was designed in 1931 by Smith, Hinchmanand Grylls, and has housed the social club since that time. Honored guests included 29 persons who have been club members for 50 years.

:"We thought it appropriate," said Pointer Peter B. Short, University Glub member and anniversary event planner, "that those members be honored as we re-dedicate the building that has served us so well over the

UF again passes campaign target

United Foundation volunteers announced their 33rd consecutive Torch Drive victory Nov. 5, as they reported raising a grand total of $43,493,457

This amount represents 100.2 per-cent of the 1981 campaign goal of $43.4 million and $1,043,493 more than was raised in 1980. The funds raised will support 135 charitable organizations in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Metropolitan Detroit Torch Drive leaders announced the outstanding results at the Victory Dinner celebration at Detroit's Cobo Hall, Presiding at the meeting were Torch Drive General Chairman Walter J. McCarthy, Jr., chairman of the board of The Detroit Edison Company, and Chairman of the UF Board of Directors, Alan E. Schwartz, senior partner in the law firm Honigman, Miller, Schwartz and Cohn.

"Everyone can be extremely pleased with our outstanding final dollar report. This accomplishment of one million dollars more than last year's total amount raised, demonstrates the true spirit and generosity of our met-ropolitan community," McCarthy told the audience of more than 1,000 campaign volunteers. "This is an example of the good news coming out of our community.'

He also announced that the United Foundation's 1981 Urban Progress Fund (UPF) campaign had reached its goal of $2,500,000 to support the 1982 activities of New Detroit, Inc.

The UPF campaign, which solicits funds from selected Detroit area corporations and foundations, has been conducted concurrently with the Torch Drive since 1969.

The Benson Ford Trophy, which recognizes the regular chapter campaign unit achieving the highest percentage of quota, was presented to the Service Unit chaired by William C. Ferguson, executive vice president and chief operating officer, Michigan Bell Telephone Company. The amount raised was $5,885,180 or 102 percent Final totals and percent of quota figures for the other chapter campaign units are: Industrial Unit, chaired by David S. Potter, vice president and group executive in charge of the Public Affairs Group at General Motors Corporation, $4,987,362. or 100.2 percent of quota; Commercial Unit, chaired by Eugene A. Miller, president of Detroit Bank & Trust Company, $6,911,698 or 100 percent of quota, and the Schools, Government and Professions Unit, chaired by Robert A .Mitchell, S.J. president of the University of Detroit, $3,880,790 or 98.3 percent of quota.

The Automotive Manufacturers Unit, chaired by Gerald Greenwald, vice chairman of the board of Chrysler Corporation, raised $20,418,766.

Community Campaigns, chaired by Patricia Gerbik, raised $1,429,661 or 102 percent of quota.

The Special Gifts unit, chaired by Kay Vieson and Allan Fletcher, vice president of the Detroit Bank & Trust Company, together raised $422,641 or 95.9 percent of quota.

The Pacesetter campaigns, which includes companies that agreed to run early campaigns, raised a total of $4,532,146. Chairing the Pacesetter Campaigns were James H. McNeal, Jr., president and chief executive officer of the Budd Company, and Charles T. Smith, Jr., managing partner of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Company.

The 1981 Torchlighters, who have all benefitted from Torch Drive sup-ported agencies are: Kristie and Kimberly Pearce, 5, of Farmington Hills - Cystic Fibrosis Foundation; Tonya Cole, 17, of Detroit — Michigan Metropolitan Girl Scout Council; Philip Brent, 9, of Detroit — Epilepsy Center of Michigan, and Aaron Rau, 5.

Police reports say officers were called to the home of Harriet Traxler on North Renaud'by a live-in companion, Lena Avant, to investigate the report of a possible stroke. When police arrived, they reported they were directed by Avant to the rear bedroom of the house where they found Traxler, dressed for bed and lying in a comfortable position.

Avant said she had last seen Traxler alive about 11:15 that day and added that Traxler had a history of heart trouble and was suffering from cancer of the colon.

Police say there were no signs of foul play, and it appeared Traxler died in her sleep.

Not fooled

A University of Pennsylvania study of criminality and criminal law, involving 60,000 inquiries, revealed that people considered bank embezzlements more serious than many thefts and burglaries, a bribe of $10,000 to a legislator more serious than a $100,000 bank burglary, and retail price-fixing of greater concern than a robbery where an armed subject intimidated a victim and took $1,000.

ANNOUNCING THE TAX SHAVER

Up to $2,000 in tax-free interest.

You can start shaving your taxes down to size by investing $500 or more in our one-year tax-free Tax Shaver certificate. You can earn up to $2,000 in interest free of federal and state taxes if you file a joint return, $1,000 if you file an individual return.

Our Tax Shaver pays you an interest rate that's equal to 70% of the latest one-year Treasury Bill rate, the highest allowed by law. Since the interest is tax-free, the equivalent taxable yield is a lot higher. If your taxable income is high, your equivalent yield could be 24% or more.

Your investment is fully insured by FSLIC and your interest rate is guaranteed for the one-year term. And if you have a D&N 6-month Money Market Certificate, you can roll it over into the tax-free Tax Shaver with no penalty.

Check out the equivalent yield in your bracket. Then check in with Detroit & Northern for complete details. Do it now and start shaving those taxes with a Tax Shaver.

Changes in Medicare benefits contained in recent Social Security legislation include increases in the deductibles for both parts of Medicare and a restriction of the open enrollment period under medical insurance, according to James T. Moslener, district manager of the local Social Security office. Briefly the new law will:

• Increase the medical insurance annual deductible.

Starting January 1982, the annual deductible will increase from $60 to $75. The deductible is the amount a beneficiary must incur for covered medical services before Medicare can help pay for medical expenses. This is the first increase in the deductible since 1973.

• Eliminate the medical insurance. "carryover" provision.

Starting in January 1982, medical bills for covered services received during the last 3 months of the year that could be used to meet the deductible for that year can no longer be used to meet the deductible for the next year • Restrict open enrollment.

The law repeals the 1980 change which provided for fear-round enrollment in the medical insurance program. If a person chooses not to enroll during his or her initial enrollment period or drops the coverage, he or she may enroll only during the first 3 months of the year. Coverage starts the following July 1.

More information about the above changes can be obtained either by contacting the Social Security office located at 17420 Mack Avenue, or calling the Social Security information number at 493-1111.

Study examines stress-salt connection

A group of rats with an abnormally high desire for salt and high levels of a hormone which helps the body handle stress may help to uncover new clues in the mystery surrounding high blood pressure.

The study, being conducted by Dr. Rudy Bernard at Michigan State University, is funded by the Michigan Heart Association.

High blood pressure is the subject of considerable study in recent years because it is a major cause of heart attack and stroke. It's estimated that nearly 35 million people in the U.S. have high blood pressure (also called hypertension) and, because it is usually symptomless, many are unaware

The cause is not known in 90 percent of all cases, but it is known that both stress and high salt intake can aggravate the condition.

"As a nation, we consume far too much salt. The average consumption in America is 6 to 18 grams a day. The National Research Council has suggested 1 to 3 grams would be sufficient, though even that is probably a high estimate, according to Dr. Bernard.

He explained how high salt consumption can aggravate high blood pressure. "The body has a mechanism by which it always maintains the same proportion of salt to total blood volume. Therefore, if you eat too much salt, the body may have to retain more water in order to keep that blood balance right. This results in increased pressure against the blood vessel walls.

Rats are an appropriate animal to study for high blood pressure, since their heart and circulatory systems are similar to that of humans.

Dr. Bernard is actually studying two groups of rats. One group, from a strain discovered in Japan in the 1960s has an increased salt appetite, elevated levels of ACTH hormone (which helps the body handle stress) and a spontanteous development of high blood pressure. These rats, according to Dr. Bernard, also act as if they're nervous and under stress.

The other group of rats has only a normal desire for salt, normal levels of ACTH hormone, do not develop high blood pressure and appear to be normally calm.

Interestingly, Dr. Bernard found in an earlier study that people with one form of high blood pressure had a higher desire for salt than a similar group without high blood pressure Unlike the desire for sweet and bitter taste, however, a salt taste develops rather than being present at birth, though scientists are unsure whether environmental factors such as diet are responsible for that development.

"Newborn babies will show a preference for sucrose (sugar), a dislike for quinine and a complete indifference to salt up until the age of about one and a half to two years.

"Yet we know that salt is not solely responsible for high blood pressure," Dr. Bernard said. "We know that & person's blood pressure can increase dramatically when under stress '

ACTH, a hormone found in elevated levels in the hypertensive rats and in varying levels in humans, helps the body respond to stress by stimulating the adrenal gland to release hormones that enable the body to adjust its metabolism to meet the extra demands placed on it.

Dr. Bernard is trying to determine whether the normal rats can be made both hypertensive and hungry for sait by being injected with ACTH, and conversely, whether both the high blood pressure and salt appetite may be reduced or prevented in the hypertensive rats by lowering their ACTH

"Answering these questions might help us prove the conhection between salt, stress and high blood presure," Dr. Bernard said. "For years we've told people with high blood pressure to reduce their salt intake, but this study might shed light on another area of the problem. It's possible that high salt intake and high blood pressure are both the consequence of the same process - either the body's abnormal response to stress or, more probably, a normal response to stress that simply exceeds that individual's genetic or learned capability to handle

-For Senior Citizens-

By Marian Trainor

Whether it be the depressed economy, a relaxation of regard for the rights of others or a combination of both, crime in all categories is on the increase. Daily, we read newspaper accounts of breaking and enterings, muggings and senseless violence. If the crime is particularly violent or involves murder, it is picked up by the electronic media. While it is not as prevalent in suburban areas as in the inner city, crime does occur more often than we like to think. That imaginary wall of safety is just that. It doesn't exist.

Nor are there any particular segments of the population that are free from the threat of crime. Criminals are democratic in one respect. They take their victims where they find them.

Because they are less able to defend themselves and consequently more vulnerable, it is commonly thought that older people are more likely to be victims of crime. In a strict statistical sense this is not actually true. What is true, however, is that these figures fail to recognize to what extent old citizens must go to protect themselves. Many of them are virtual prisoners in their own homes, self-confined potential victims afraid to go out into the streets. Their lives are demeaned not only by the violations of property and persons that occur but also by the threat of those crimes. One poll revealed that those over 65 rated crime or the fear of crime as their most serious personal problem.

SOME OF THE measures advocated to alleviate this problem include low-cost loans or direct subsidy programs to enable older citizens to make their homes more secure; neighborhood patrols' escort services and better communication between the police departments and older citizens.

Since the young are frequent perpetrators of crime against older people, it has been recommended that Congress and states should continue to support special youth education, training and employment programs outside the traditional school setting. Another suggestion is community programs to stress cooperative neighborhood programs to combat crime.

Handgun opponents see the control of handguns as a means of curtailing crime not only against the older citizens but all people. They point out that one American dies in a handgun murder every 50 minutes. They report that during the Vietnam War more than 36,000 U.S. soldiers died but more than 110,000 Americans were killed by handguns during the same period. They contend there is less crime in countries where handguns are restricted to those licenséd for their ownership under strict conditions involving certification by the police.

Another proposal has recently come forth. Law enforcement professionals have traditionally advised people under attack to "submit and stay alive." Spurred by the ever-increasing incidence of crime, this theory of submission has been replaced as a rallying cry of "fight back." Some of the measures suggested for doing this range from pickproof locks to complex electronic devices, security guards in housing developments and block associations and neighborhood patrols.

Unfortunately, none of these measures are foolproof. Most burglars do not pick locks. They "pop" them, simply pushing or pulling the cylinder right out of the door. Security systems are often too delicate, setting off false alarms. Sometimes security guards themselves are not honest. Citizen patrols are effective but can verge on vigilantism. Such defenses as mace, eye irritants and rolled up newspapers are possibly good weapons but often the victim never has an opportunity to use them. The victim is not prepared for attack, the criminal is and more than likely will grab the weapon and use it on the victim,

HOWEVER THERE are some measures that do work. For instance, instead of a pickproof lock which can be ripped out, a cylinder guard plate should be installed. A cylinder guard plate is a small rectangular piece of steel with a hole in its center. It is bolted to the door over the lock cylinder, leaving room to slide a key in and out, while most of the cylinder is covered.

Small roundhead bolts that do not yield to a screwdriver hold the plate to the door. Criminals would not want to take the time or make the noise necessary to remove the plate. If he has to work in the light, the criminal may be discouraged. If all three of these deterrents-time, noise and light-are present, he will probably pass your home up.

Identifying your property is another crime-deterrent measure. The police department will lend you an engraving tool for marking stealable property such as tape recorders, TVs, typewriters and stereos. Marking items with your driver's license number is a good identification system. When you borrow the tool, the police will give you stickers to place on your doors and windows indicating you are participating in the program. Marked objects are more difficult to market.

Undoubtedly the best remedy for reducing crime is more police. But the very economic conditions that contribute to a decrease in police protection also contribute to increased crime. Just as inflation and unemployment encourage criminal activity; they also encourage local state and federal governments to slash budgets that result in police forces being cut.

Citizens' anti-crime groups can be effective if they operate under the supervision of some official agency. There is a fine line of demarcation that must be observed between the street patrol that deters crime and a band of vigilantes that create a tense atmosphere by telling people where, when and how to

Sometimes anti-crime groups are resented because they give the impression that police are not doing their job. This was an element present in the conflict between the New York City law enforcement agencies and the Guardian Angels, an organization of street-smart youths who could be mistaken for a gang of kids out to cause trouble. However the opposite was 'rue. They reduced the crime rate by patrolling the crime-laden subway, thus earning the enmity of the police. Relations improved when they agreed to augment their own efficient organization and combat skills with police train-

The first consideration for an effective citizens' anti-crime organization is working with the police, which involves notification of crimes and realization that the role of the group is a passive one. In no way should a member interfere with a crime or mete out justice. The danger of someone getting hurt or killed is too great and often that someone will be the victim or a member of the group.

The group's best weapon against crime is its presence, a burglar or mugger knows that if there is a chance, he will be seen there is a chance he will be caught.

Anyone desiring to form a group should contact the local police who will undoubtedly offer suggestions and training to make the program effective. An additional resource is a book entitled "The Burglar at Your Window" by Daniel J. Scherer (Reymon Associates, 29 Reymont Avenue, Rye, N.Y. 10580). Still another source is the Office of Justice, U.S. Department of Justice, Washington, D.C. 20531.

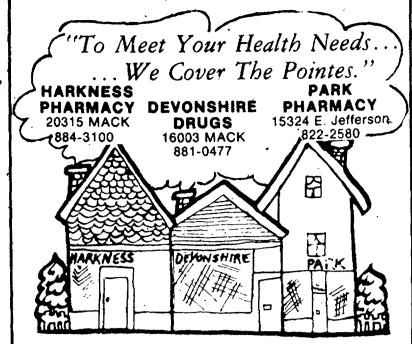

As an advocate of crime prevention, you could be called upon to serve as a witness when a crime is committed. Although the possibility is not inviting, it is important.

One of the first steps in this phase of crime prevention is to report the crime immediately. A five-minute delay reduces thechance of capture by two-thirds. Even if the criminal is not caught immediately, reporting the crime promptly enables police to establish a pattern of activity that may result in the capture of the criminal.

If the report results in arrest. you should press charges even if it is time-consuming and you end up losing money from your paycheck. You may find it a frustrating experience. The defense may request postponement. The defendant may plead guilty to a lesser charge in exchange for a lighter or suspended sentence.

But there are pluses. You may be entitled to compensation for medical expenses and lost income. Also, 75 percent of all criminals who are prosecuted

There's help for 18 million adult students

More than 18 million adults are now part-time college students and over one-third of all college students are over 25. Many financial aid programs are aimed at special adult categories, such as women reentering the job market, mid-life career changers and senior citizens. With careful financial planning and available aid, anyone should be able to continue his or her education, according to The Michigan Association of CPAs.

According to the National Center for Education statistics, more than half the adult education courses are taken for job-related reasons. If an employer offers tuition reimbursement, a person will most likely be reimbursed after completing the course. However, if you are unable to accumulate the money in advance to pay for the course; you could ask your employer to make a loan of the tuition so if you finish the course, it is all paid for. If you don't you will have to reimburse your employer. Most plans will pay for studies directly related to your work, but some company plans are more liberal and may also apply to families of cm

Most of the federal aid programs available to regular college students are also available to adults, but regardless of age, you must be taking at least six credits per semester-or part-time college load. These federal programs include, the Basic Educational Opportunity Grants (BEOG), Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (SEOG), National Direct Student Loans (NDSL) and Guaranteed Student Loans (GSL). For information on these grants and low interest loans call toll free (800) 638-

The federal government also provides aid to part-time students in the form of income tax deductions for education-related expenses. However, to deduct these expenses, your education must maintain or upgrade your skills in your current job, be required by your employer or help you keep your position. Other deductions include the cost of tuition and fees as well as books, supplies and any travel and lodging related to this

There are also financial aid programs for veterans through the Veterans Administration Office in your area. Spouses and children of deceased veterans are also eligible for educational benefits. As a senior citizen, many public or private institutions will charge you little or no

Most states have their own financial aid programs. They are usually limited to state residents studying at state

In addition, special fields, such as medical services, offer financial aid with the assumption that the student will eventually work in the field The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services will grant loans for nurses, for instance, and forgive the loan if the nurse will agree to work for two years in federally designated shortage areas.

Star senior wins national writing award Mary Elizabeth Carlisle, a senior at

Our Lady Star of the Sea High School, was commended as a student finalist in the 1981 Achievement Awards in Writing Program, by the National Council of Teachers of English (N.C.T.E.).

Created in 1957, the program publicly honors outstanding high school students of English and recommends them to colleges and universities as candidates for admission and scholarship aid. The awards, certificates of commendation from the N.C.T.E. -were first presented to the finalists and their teachers in 1958.

Student participants in the program, as high school juniors, were nominated by their English teachers. The number of nominees from each school was based on the school's total enrollment in grades 10 through 12: one nominee per 500 students. Mary Elizabeth was selected to represent Star after she won the school competition last April.

This year over 5,000 students from the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and the American schools abroad participated in the highly competitive program The number of finalists from each state was determined by doubling the number of the state's representatives in Congress.

Using criteria developed by the Achievement Awards Advisory Committee, high school and college teachers from each state judged the entries. The 850 students selected qualified as finalists by demonstrating excellence in content and form on two samples of writing: a time impromptu response to a specific question and an example of their best writing.

Roadside deaths cut 50 percent

Motorists are hitting fixed objects along Michigan freeways at a nearly constant rate, but the number of persons killed in such accidents has been substantially reduced over the past

Figures compiled by the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) show freeway accidents involving vehicles hitting fixed objects remained a nearly constant 6,000 to 7,000 per year, from 1973 to 1980. In the same period fatalities by vehicles hitting fixed objects dropped by more than 50 percent.

MDOT engineers attribute the fatality decrease to an intensive roadside safety program almed at making freeways more "forgiving" to out-ofcontrol vehicles. The program includes everything from installation of crash cushions to protect motorists from roadside obstacles to erecting sign posts with weak points designed to break under the force of wayward vehicles.

Steep readside slopes have been flattened, culvert headwalls eliminated and light poles relocated to the top of concrete barrier walls or designed with "breakaway" supports. Many steel beam guardrails in median areas have been replaced with slopefaced concrete barriers, which prevent head-on crashes and safely direct wayward vehicles along the barrier

All this have been done to bring the state's freeway system up to modern design standards i Federal funds pay up to 90 percent of the "Michigan's freeway fatality rate has steadily dropped and there is no doubt that roadside safety improvements are partly responsible," said State Transportation Director John P. Woodford, "The roadways themselves are safer than ever, and the roadsides are more 'forgiving' to out-ofcontrol vehicles.'

Engineers said roadside improvements mainly responsible for the reductions can be grouped in the following categories:

•Fatal accidents from vehicles hitting guardrails dropped from a high of 45 in 1973 to 17 in 1980, a 62 per-

•Fatal accidents from vehicles hitting abutments and piers dropped from 26 in 1973 to six in 1980, a 77 percent reduction.

•Fatal accidents from vehicles hitting utility poles dropped from 15 in 1973 to four in 1980, a 73 percent

Seventy-four percent, or 1,283 miles of the 1,730 miles of Michigan freeways, have been modernized to current design standards. The remaining 447 miles of freeway will be modernized as funds become available, the department said.

Claim tax benefits from hobbies

Hobbies usually start as an enjoyable way to spend free time or as a means of relaxation. But enjoying your hobby doesn't mean you can't profit from it. As inflation takes a bigger chunk from paychecks, many people are turning their crafts into

Teachers may be harvesting profits from their vegetable gardens, or data processors earning income from their photography hobby. Homemakers who dabble in ceramics may find their hobby encroaching upon their house, using space for supplies, kilns and evente classes. But where there is profit, there are probably both taxes and tax deductions to consider according to The Michigan Association of

If you profit from your hobby, intentionally or not, you must pay income tax on those earnings, according to the IRS. Before you figure your additional income tax, find out if you can also claim tax benefits. While you may not deduct expenses for a non-income producing hobby, you are entitled to deduct interest, taxes or or other items that aren't restricted to a business filing. No matter how small your income, deduct your operating expenses and any depreciation that might apply. The overriding rule is not to allow your claim to exceed the amount of income earned from a

When does a hobby become a business and qualify for even more deductions? The most acceptable proof that a hobby has become a business is when it generates profits for two out of five consecutive tax years.

There are other ways for your hobby to qualify as a business. To prove your claim, substantiate the fact that you intend to make a profit. Start by keeping records of expenditures and operating methods and occasionally review your hobby to make it more efficient. For example, if the teacher with the vegetable garden periodically reviews the crops and eliminates the most costly and least profitable. the IRS is more likely to acknowledge the activity as a business.

The IRS allows some latitude for decisions --- even poor ones. It doesn't ask if a book should be published or if a farmer chooses the right crops for local markets. It only reviews the businesslike manner in which decisions are made.

If your hobby fails to make a profit, you can still show sufficient records to uphold your profit motive. For instance, advertise your products or promote them with a trade name. Be sure to keep detailed records with dates, names, explanations and amounts, advise the CPAs.

Once a hobby is established as a business, you may be entitled to other deductions. The largest may be the deduction for maintaining an office at home which allows you to claim the cost of taxes, interest, operating expenses, painting and repairs on the om used as an office. This is a difficult claim to substantiate, but if upheld, it can be beneficial.

You can claim a deduction for maintaining a home office if you use a room on a regular basis exclusively for business and it is your principal business office. As a hobbyist, you should recognize that an art studio, greenhouse or office dwelling separate from your residence generally qualifies. Any portion of a room used exclusively to house your business can be claimed. For example, if half the guest room holds your painting supplies, claim that portion of the room as a home office so long as it is not used for anything else.

It is important to note that declaring a business and taking the proper deductions changes from case to case. Therefore it is wise to check with a financial consultant to see if your hobby is more profitable than

- You can exclude up to $2,000.00 interest from federal income tax on a joint return ($1,000.00 on an individual return). The amount excluded is also not taxed by the State of Michigan.
- Your All Savers Certificate is insured to $100,000.00 by the FSLIC.
- Your interest rate is guaranteed for the full term of the certificate, unlike other investments such as money market funds where rates fluctuate daily.
- You can participate with a deposit of $500.00 or more.
- Funds in your Standard Federal 26-Week Money Market Certificate can be transferred to an All Savers Certificate without any early withdrawal penalty on the transferred

If you elect to receive interest at maturity there is no compounding and the interest rate on your All Savers Certificate will be 10.770%. If you wish to have interest payable monthly or quarterly, the annual simple interest rate on your All Savers Certificate will be 10.229% and interest retained in your All Savers Certificate will be continuously compounded for an effective annual yield of 10.770%. These rates are available for All Savers Certificates opened through November 27, 1981. Rates for accounts opened after November 27, 1981, will be announced later. However, the rate established at the time an All Savers Certificate is opened is the rate in effect for the full one-year term of the account. You should also know that in the event of early withdrawal from an All Savers Certificate federal law and regulations require a substantial early withdrawal penalty and loss of the interest exclusion for federal income tax purposes. The All Savers rate of 10.770% is equivalent to the yields for taxable investments shown in the table. This table demonstrates how the All Savers Certificates can provide you with a higher after-tax yield than you may be earning from a money market mutual fund or on other investments. The deposit needed in your All Savers Certificate to achieve the maximum allowable deduction is $18,570.10 for a joint return and $9,285.05 for an Individual return.

Compare the Tax-Free All Savers Rate of 10.770% with Yields on Taxable Investments.

TAXABLE INCOME ON A JOINT RETURN	COMPARABLE YIELD ON TAXABLE INVESTMENTS	TAXABLE INCOME ON A JOINT RETURN	COMPARABLE YIELD ON TAXABLE INVESTMENTS
$10,000.00	13.13%	$ 70,000.00	23.41%
20,000.00	14.17%	80,000.00	23.41%
30,000.00	17.10%	90,000.00	26.27%
40,000.00	18.89%	100,000.00	26.27%
50,000.00	21.12%	110,000.00	29.92%
60,000.00	21.12%	120,000.00	29.92%
•		•

The yields shown in this table are based on 1981 tax rates but do not reflect the effects of any tax credits that may be available in 1981, nor do they take into account the 50% maximum tax rate on salary and wages. If tax-free interest is received in 1982, the comparable yield on taxable investments should be calculated using 1982 tax rates. In addition, the yield for the All Savers Certificate actually will be somewhat higher because the amount excluded from federal income tax is also not taxed by the State of Michigan.

Americans are hospitable but 'money hungry'

By Megan Bonanni

"I really like Grosse Pointe, and I'm glad to have an opportunity to be here," said Rene Strunch, a foreign exchange student from Holback, Den-

Ray (the name he prefers to be called) became interested in coming to the United States through a friend. who had just come back from a year in New York, After hearing about her experience, he became very interested in the idea of becoming an exchange student. Unfortunately, his parents felt differently. "At first they were against the idea. Then, after reading more about the program, they agreed to let me go," Ray said.

Ray's year in Grosse Pointe is being sponsored by the Rotary Club. He is a senior at South High School and is staying with the Peter Higble family of Moross Road.

Ray learned to speak English at his Danish school. In Denmark students are required to take English when they are 11 years old. Ray learned his English mostly orally. There was some writing, but he learned by participating in debates and arguments in English.

"American movies and music probably have helped me to learn English the most. In school we were taught British English. From your movies I could learn the way Americans speak," Ray said.

When Ray arrived here, he found that his illusions of America were false. "I thought that America was the place where everything happens, where the styles, the movies and the music are made. It was weird to find out that all those stories were un-

· Ray has found that there are some differences between his life here and his life in Denmark. Ray found that Americans are more open about their feelings. "I also found that the people here are very hospitable. If I needed directions or something, people are very eager to help," Ray said.

Even though he has found differences between the American people and the Danish people, Ray feels that on the whole the people are the same. "Even though people may be from a different culture, I found that everyone is more or less the same," Ray

Ray also thinks that American society is different than in Denmark. He feels that he is very lucky to be staying in a city where there are so many different types of ethnic groups, races and religions. "It makes the society exciting. You don't find this type of society in Denmark," Ray

Although Ray thinks that Americans are very hospitable, he also thinks that they are very money hungry. "Here it seems like all that everybody wants is money. If richness is all that a person values, then he doesn't know how to enjoy life. Money is important, but it can't rule you. I found that a lot of Americans do think that money is everything. I think that's sad."

Ray is looking forward to his year "I think that I will become more mature. I will be able to experience a culture that is quite similar to my own. I like America, and I am very lucky.'

Students learn about leadership

By Angela Lovasco

A meeting of minds occurred among students holding leadership positions at the third annual leadership conference Oct. 29. The Grosse Pointe War Memorial hosted more than 120 students from Grosse Pointe North and South, University Liggett and Star of the Sea. Students were enccuraged to reach out and learn more about themselves, other people and other schools.

Students were separated into small discussion groups of representatives from each participating school. In the first session they introduced themselves and identified their school and leadership position. The students then conducted a brainstorming session which paved the way for the second session of problem-solving.

In the second session, students were given the problem of school rivalry, and were asked to give solutions They experienced decision-making and learned about compromising during the thinking process. When each group had three resolutions, they came together as a large group to discuss their answers until they reached the conflict-resolution.

After lunch, William Martin, dean of Management at University of Michigan-Dearborn and guest speaker at the conference, talked about leadership and motivated the students. He put emphasis on self-worth and redirection of ability. "Achieving people are people who have abilities and use them to the best of their advantage." he said.

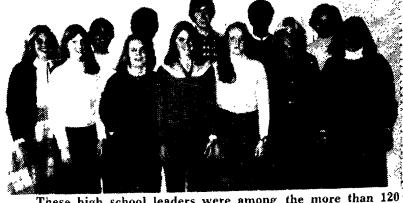

Martin also stressed responsibility by asking students to be active adults, independent from needs and responsible for actions. "This is not the best of times, this is not the worst of times, but this is the only time we have," Martin said.

Students then gathered for a final session: discussing problems within each individual school. The conference ended with a critique of the program and an open discussion about its effectiveness.

Students responsible for the organization of the entire program were introduced and were Kim Cooper, Grant Gilezan and Carlos Perez representing Grosse Pointe North; Marylou Coyle, Diana Crea and Kate Mercier representing Grosse Pointe South; Cindy Budinger, Cheryl Malloch and John Van Osdol representing University Liggett; and Gigi Borrego, Maureen Boyle and Ellen Denneny representing Star of the Sea.

South frosh elect officers

By Megan Bonanni

The leadership of the Freshman Class at Grosse Pointe South High School has been completed with the election of the freshman senators. Laura Gushee, Gerry Finazzo, Elizabeth Smith, Susi Measelle and Sheila Mercier were elected.

Elections were held last week during each lunch. "Voter turnout was good," commented newly-elected senator Gushce. "I told everyone to come and vote. I was surprised at the interest that everyone showed."

The role of the senator is very in:portant in school. While the president plans the activities, the senators are the working bodies that make sure that the plans come through.
"We do a lot of advertising pertaining to our class sponsored events. We do a lot of work, but it is more behind the scenes," Gushee said.

The other leaders for the class of '85 were chosen earlier in the year. They include the President Michele Gryzenia; Vice-President Carrie Krogh; Secretary Amy Andreou and Treasurer Cary Columbo.

As for the goals of the class of '95 Gushee said, "We don't have any definite plans yet, but we have a lot of good ideas that will help make our class memorable."

Everyone needs long-range goals if for no other reason than to keep from being frustrated by short-range fail-

Educators are no exception to that generalization, and as those who keep in contact with what our schools are doing know, the Board of Education adopted 14 system-wide goals for the 1981-82 school year. TV Awareness for Parents" is the theme of a special presentation sponsored by the Grosse Pointe PTA/PTO and Associated Groups Council on Wednesday, Nov. 18, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of South High School.

Council president Edward Deeb said the program is open to all parents of school children and the public, and will be presented by Mary Brun, consultant for the Macomb County Intermediate School District.

Deeb said Mrs. Brun, who is also a parent, will involve the audience in a series of participatory activities to promote their awareness on how important television is in their lives.

Research results summarizing the number of hours children spend watching television and the effect TV has on children will be described in a discussion format.

Methods parents can use with their children to help them become better selectors of television programs, and to promote television as a learning tool will be distributed at the end of program.

The PTA/PTO Council also reminds residents that its third annual community "Christmas Sing-A-Long is set for Sunday, Dec. 13, beginning at 6 p.m. on the front lawn of South High School. Everyone is welcome to participate in the caroling. Free hot beverage refreshments will be served.

Organizations desiring to join the council in co-sponsoring the event should call 343-2012.

Seven Grosse Pointe South High School students won awards recently at the National Photographer's Instruction Association Conference held in Los Angeles,

The seven awards were the most won by any high school represented in the national competition, according to Jack Summers, photography teacher and a member of the South Art Department. Six of the South students were graduated last June, but the work submitted last spring was done during their senior year at South.

"About 1,500 prints were submitted for judging," Summers said. "Only 300 of these prints were exhibited at the conference."

Eric Frakes took the only portfolio award for which he was also given a $150 cash prize. Other winners were Jeffrey Plansker, a second place in the black and white competition, and Aymie Jones, honorable mention in the black and white division.

Receiving certificates of excellence were Douglas Schaible, Nash Parker, Patricia Lees and Lynn Cazabon. Cazabon, a senior, is the only award winner still in attendance at South.

One goal which has received widespread attention is the goal to "Conduet a study of the middle school program," and the plans for that goal call for an administrative report on our middle schools to be given to the board at its November meeting.

Citizens who are interested in this particular goal, as well as another goal to which it closely relates, "Conduct a study of the future organization of the school system," were invited to attend the Nov. 9 meeting of the board which was held at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium of Monteith Elementary School.

Those in attendance at the meeting heard Robert Welch, director of Secondary Curriculum, present the report which compares the Grosse Pointe middle schools with typical junior high school and middle school models, summarizes the curriculum and programs of the Grosse Pointe middle schools, and lists specific ways in which the middle schools will be studied and analyzed during this school year.

Persons who are interested in the report but who couldn't attend the Nov. 9 meeting, can call my office at 343-2012 to request a copy, or can look for future editions of this column in which I will provide a periodic update on this particular goal as well as the other 13 goals.

Liggett slates ethnic feast

University Liggett Middle School students will soon be getting a taste of different cultures when the seventh grade foreign language classes serve up their "International Dinner" on Nov. 17. The feast is a cooperative effort of the Latin and French students, parents and teachers Janet Harris and Katie Robinson.

Each participating family will contribute a pot-luck dish representative of their personal cultural or ethnic background. In addition, all members of the family will attempt to costume themselves in a manner befitting their heritage, and a contest will be held to determine the best overall attire. Entertainment for the evening will be provided by both students and parents, again in keeping with the ethnic themé. Seventh grade trumpeteers Rick McBrien and Marty Hoffman will provide a musical salute to France. A highlight of the festivities will be a demonstration of Irish folk dancing by Middle School teacher Romily Stackpoole and her daughter Merle, a seventh grader at ULS. # Milliken holds the key to 1982

With almost a year to go before the 1982 election, Michigan Republicans already are slicing each other into ribbons in an intramural political battle that ought to delight Michigan Democrats who have their own troubles.

That is only one perception of the effect of recent GOP activity in Michigan, of course. There may be, and probably are, less critical perceptions by the GOP participants and their supporters. But sometimes it appears that some party leaders are bent on self-destruction even before November, 1982, rolls around.

Grosse Pointe's own State Rep. William Bryant, Jr., House minority leader, added some fuel to the GOP prairie fire last week by saying that if Gov. William Milliken runs for the U.S. Senate next year, he could be vulnerable because of voter perceptions that he is more liberal than the incumbent Democrat, Sen. Donald Riegle.

Bryant emphasizes that if the public perceives Milliken as more liberal than Riegle, the public perception would be in error But he concedes that the perception might arise from the fact that the governor has strong feelings about helping those in need and his strong advocacy of aid to the cities. Such positions do tend to place Milliken among the liberal Republicans although, in Bryant's view, they still don't make him as liberal

At the same time, Bryant makes it clear that he is concerned that Michigan Republicans might swing too far to the right not only in the selection of a candidate for the U.S. Senate, but in the picking of candidates for other office. If they do make such a swing, he fears they may be hit in the face by the political pendulum swinging back from conservative views that have been popular for the past couple of years.

Instead of Milliken, Bryant prefers Philip Ruppe, the former congressman from Houghton, as the GOP candidate for the U.S. Senate. Bryant is one of 25 state GOP representatives, more than half of the 46-member Republican delegation, who have now endorsed Ruppe. And they insist they'll stick with Ruppe even if Milliken runs.

The Grosse Pointe representative describes Ruppe as "a solid, responsible, progressive conservative," but not all Republicans see him that way. Robert J. Huber, of Troy, another former congressman who apparently views himself as the epitome of the Reagan conservative, describes Ruppe as a liberal Republican. Huber applies the same term to William Ballanger of Lansing, another GOP candidate for the Senate, and says in a press release that Ruppe and Ballanger "aren't much different than Riegle or (Sen. Carl) Levin in their liberal views and their opposition to important programs contained in the Repub-

In fact, it may have just begun on new terrain.

Already a number of well-known county politicians are lining up to run for the job as the county's first elected executive. State Sen. John

Hertel is interested and reportedly campaigning for support. Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara is considering making the race. Sheriff William

Lucas is talking about the job. Former Wayne

County commission chairman Robert Fitzpatrick says he is looking at it. And even Wayne County

Auditor Richard Kelly, whose job will be abolished when the charter becomes effective, has indicated some interest. So has State Sen. John

Kelly, a major sponsor of the charter enabling or someone else with a good political background and a well-known name in county politics, will be elected to the post. But the person should have experience in administration as well as politics because the chief executive officer will run the county show to an extent never known under the present commission form of government. Yet

he also will be held responsible by the voters who will have the power to vote him out of his job after his very first four-year term. The candidates will run in the August, 1982, partisan primary, with the first chief executive officer being doubt that if Gov. Milliken runs for the Senate and if he becomes the party's nominee, the president will support him wholeheartedly-as he will all nominees in next year's general elections. However, there has not been any change in President Reagan's long-standing policy that he will not get involved in primary elections."

But if the White House is neutral on Milliken's candidacy at this point, two leading GOP senators are not. Senate GOP Leader Howard Baker of Tennessee and Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairman, urged Milliken to make the race when they were in the state late in October.

Meanwhile, Milliken himself insists he'll not decide until December on whether to run for reelection as governor, to seek Riegle's Senate seat or to retire from politics. But he's obviously not being conciliatory with his critics, while he marks time. In accepting the Planned Parenthood Federation's highest award in Washington, Milliken youred to continue his battle to permit needy women to use state funds for abortions. His remarks came shortly after he had recorded his 10th veto of a bill prohibiting state Medicaid spending for that purpose.

But the governor didn't let the matter rest there. He also criticized congressional efforts, supported by the Reagan administration, to impose federal prohibitions against all abortions as a part of a Family Protection Act. And he told Richard Ryan of the Detroit News that he didn't care if his stance might hamper his prospects for a possible federal appointment.

His position annoys many conservatives, including Richard Headlee of Farmington, the GOP tax-cut crusader who has ambitions to be governor himself. He urged state lawmakers to override Milliken's veto of the legislation to end statefinanced abortions for welfare mothers. But in the Detroit Free Press' unscientific Sound Off poll, 74 percent opposed an override and only 26 percent favored it, which indicated some public support for Milliken's position.

WE TEND TO BELIEVE Milliken would be the strongest Republican in the field whether he would file for governor or the U.S. Senate. And we suspect that those who are urging the Republicans to support more conservative candidates have forgotten that such advice in the past often played into Democratic hands. But one issue on which most Republicans ought to agree is that the governor is still the central figure in his party and that until he makes his decision nobody really knows who is going to be the strongest GOP candidate for governor or the U.S. Senate.

Most would probably also agree that the earlier the governor decides what he is going to do, the better it will be for all the other potential candidates. Once he makes his choice, the rest of the Republicans ought to be free to return to their normal practice of slicing up Democrats rather than their fellow GOP members.

Steiner and Mrs. Gattorn have indicated that they would consider running if it appears they would have a chance of victory. While it is too early to make final judgments about such candidates, and others who may be in the offing, we think voters should remember that Steiner opposed the charter proposal and even campaigned against it. Mrs. Gattorn, on the other hand, made a major contribution to the drafting of the charter.

So Steiner in effect has a vested interest in seeing the reorganization of county government fail and Mrs. Gattorn has a record of wanting to see

Lawsuits, political maneuvering and a weak county executive could undermine the strong foundation that the voters have put into place.

But if all goes as anticipated, citizens will have

Editorial stance is playing with a holocaust

To the Editor:

"When all that story's finished, what's the news?"

That line from Yeats came to mind after I had read your rather long article entitled "Nuclear protests echo era of appeasement" (Nov. 5). What it boiled down to ("the news") was that West European nations ought to be willing "to accept U.S. missiles to improve their nuclear deterrence" and that the way to reduce the risk of nuclear war "is to make certain that the nation that might be considering using nuclear wea-pons knows that if it.does so it will be answered in kind."

In other words, escalate the nuclear arms race. The editorialist is not only playing with fire: he's playing with holocaust.

By coincidence, the same mail that brought that editorial

Watch the movie and the children

To The Editor: This is directed toward cable television subscribers in the community who have children:

Please be responsible for the movies that are shown in your home to your children's friends. Some parents are extremely opposed to their sons or daughters viewing inappropriate or R-rated movies, that's why they didn't subscribe themselves.

Also, parents don't know in advance what you are showing in your home when their child is invited over after school. They are usually unaware that there is cable-TV in your living room. I am not a parent but an adult, a nurse, and a very concerned sister.

What's wrong with a little sentiment?

To the Editor:

I was very disillusioned by the traditional, conservative atti-tudes of the school board members and superintendent at the Nov. 2 meeting of the school board. No one is in favor of setting precedents, or showing sentiment, or emotionalism It seems they want bland, expressionless, safe names for their buildings such as S, and the Grosse Pointe Community Center for the Performing Arts.

I represent one of many people who are petitioning the board to name the aforementioned center the Clein Center for the Performing Arts. We feel this would be a fitting tribute to Herman Clein for his outstanding contributions to the community and to Grosse Pointe North High School. Everyone who was touched by his music and his unique rapport with his students does feel emotional and sentimental about him.

What's wrong with emotion, and sentiment and community spirit? We have over 1,000 signatures of people who would like to see this center named after Herman Clein, However, the board assured us this would not impress them or sway their stand on the issue. Maybe we should just call it the 'C' building. That would be 'safe', and unprecedent seeting.

"That's some dish!" The speaker, a well known local chef, had just tasted Lowell Nesbitt's recipe for Pasta Primaflora, a creamy pasta tossed with whole nasturtium and violet blossoms and chopped day lilies. Nesbitt's pasta is one of the dishes to be featured Friday, Nov. 20, at the Archives of American Art's Artists Dinner in the Pool Terrace and Regency Rooms of Dearborn's Hyatt-Regency Hotel.

The idea behind the party, which promises to be one of this season's most imaginative, is that the creativity of the artist does not stop with the brush or chisel, but extends into other areas—including the kitchen.

So the Archives has invited an illustrious group of American artists not only to attend the party, but to share their creative recipes for the menu, to be coordinated by Edward Giobbi, noted painter, author of the cookbook "Italian Provencial Cooking" and gourmet friend of Craig Claibourne.

Co-chairing the $100-a-person, black tie evening are A. Alfred Taubman and Grosse Pointe's Diane Schoenith. Their committee includes Dottie Doerer, Jane Manoogian, Lucille Wertz, Tom Schoenith, Rosemary Bannon, Billie Barak, Ivan Block, Doris Burton, Jean O'Korn, Toula Patsalis and Sydell Schubot. Information on tickets may be obtained by calling the Archives office, 226-7544.

The quality of food to be featured at the Artists Dinner was previewed in Grosse Pointe a few weeks ago at a luscious luncheon at the Little Club, where Chef Mials Parker capped his menu with a mouth watering dessert, the recipe for which appears at the end of this column.

Music and The Food of Love

Act III of "Der Rosenkavalier" takes place in an Austrian Hunting Lodge, where Baron Ochs attempts to seduce Sophie, and the Hunting Lodge provided Charity deVicq Suczek, food and beverage committee member for the Friends for Orchestra Hall's Rosenkavalier Ball, with the inspiration for the evening's menu.

Mme. Suczek's Fisher Road home was the scene of a recent food sampling session as ball committee members gathered for a first taste of the Rosenkavalier menu. The supper, prepared by William Anton's Chefs Vito De Palma and David St. Germain, will be served Monday, Nov. 23, to ball guests, seated at tables placed on terraced platforms in the Orchestra Hall auditorium. There'll be zither music—how's that for Austrian atmosphere?—as they dine.

For this truly spectacular night the auditorium will become, literally, a Viennese ballroom. Appropriately costumed Friends volunteers will greet arriving guests at 7:30 p.m. Mitch Miller will conduct 45 members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra who have volunteered their services in a "Bouquet of Waltzes." The Wawel Folk Ensemble will dance a Grand Polonaise.

And the guests themselves will dance, on stage, at Orchestra Hall, twirling to the accompaniment of Detroit Symphony musicians. You can be among them. Invitations (ticket prices range from $100 to $200 per person) are available by calling the Friends for Orchestra Hall, 833-3702

Walsh-Bavinger August wedding vows are spoken for Miss Leone

The Reverend R. Bruce Bavinger, S.J., came from Gesu Church, Philadelphia, Pa., to officiate at the wedding of his sister, Constance Adams Bavinger, and Brian Tierney Walsh Saturday, October 31, in the Church of the Little Flower, St. Louis, Mo.

The 1 o'clock ceremony was followed by a reception at the Junior League of St. Louis, after which the newlyweds left to vacation at Innisbrook at Tarpon Springs, Fla. They will be making their home in St. Louis.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. William F. Bavinger, Jr., of Lakeland Avenue, and the late Mr. Bavinger, was given in marriage by her brothers, William F. Bavinger III, of Bethesda, Md., and Dr. James F. Bavinger, of Grosse Pointe.

She wore the dress and veil that had been worn by two of the bridegroom's sisters. The dress, of cream organza, featured a chapel length train, Queen Anne neckline and fitted bodice of re-embroidered Alencon face. Matching lace edged the full skirt and patterned the long, fitted

The mantilla veil, chapel length and lace-edged, fell from a lace Juliet cap. Stephanotis and English ivy formed the bridal bouquet.

Alice Mason, of Denver, Col., daughter of the Robert Masons who were among a group of Grosse Pointers who traveled to St. Louis for the wedding, was honor maid. Bridesmaids were Mary Martin, of Dayton, O., Linda Maier, of Cincinnati, O., and Anne Boomer, daughter of Grosse Pointers Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boomer, who also traveled to St. Louis for the wedding.

The remaining members of the Grosse Pointe wedding guest contingent were Dr. and Mrs. Robert. Frear, Mr. and Mrs. John King, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hickey, Mr. and Mrs. J. Addison Bartush and Edward Milligan. Coming from Bloomfield Hills were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Miner and the Arthur Cerres.

The former Miss Bavinger's attendants wore long dresses of strawberry chiffon, sleeveless and round-necked, and carried arrangements of stephanotis and English ivy.

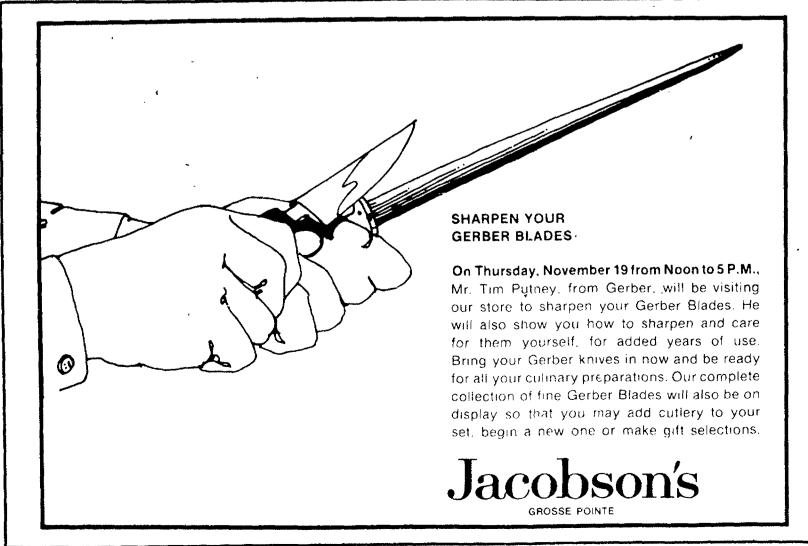

Mr. Walsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Francis Walsh, of St. Louis, asked Patrick Dolan, of St. Louis, to act as best man. Ushers were Kevin Walsh, brother of the bridegroom, and Patrick Murphy, both of St. Louis, and David Donahoe, of Denver, Col.

The mother of the bride wore a street length dress of beige georgette, round-necked and styled with a pleated skirt and matching, beige ribbon bodice. The bridegroom's mother selected street length grey crepe, with a softly draped V-neckline.

Sandra Rewalt wed in October

The wedding of Sandra Louise Rewalt and Gary James Galopin Friday evening, October 2, in Our Lady Queen of Peace Church was followed by a reception at Fraser's Imperial House. The Reverend Daniel C. Complo presided at the 5 o'clock ceremony.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Rewalt, of Broadstone Road, wore a traditional gown of ivory chiffon, styled with a pleated bodice, sleeves and tulip-hemmed skirt. A V-insert of Venice lace accented her bodice.

Matching lace trimmed the headpiece that held her waist length, ivory veil. She carried a cascade of cymbidium orchids, pink rosebuds, stephanotis and greenery.

She was attended by two sisters, Sharon A. Rewalt as honor maid and Staci T. Rewalt as bridesmaid, in long-sleeved, formal length gowns of mauve chiffon, their bodices tucked to the waist front and back. Each carried a Colonial bouquet of assorted silk flowers in pink and plum shades, circled with a lace doilie dyed to match her dress and featuring ivory streamers with small, silk flowers.

Jack Galopin was his brother's best man. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Galopin, of Southfield. Mark Austin, of St. Louis, Mo., the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Paul Byrd, of Troy, John Hilfinger, of Ann Arbor, and Robert Stead, of Louisville, Ky. seated the guests.

A ruffle, trimmed in beige satin, accented the V-neck of the long gown of beige chiffon Mrs. Rewalt chose for her daughter's wedding. Her ruffled, long sleeves were also trimmed in beige satin.

Silver and gold beads trimmed the V-necked bodice and long sleeves of the formal length, taupe chiffon dress selected by the bridegroom's mother. Scarlet rosebuds, carnations and baby's-breath formed both mothers' wrist corsages.

The newlyweds vacationed in Traverse City, and are at home in Royal

Out-of-town guests included the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr and Mrs. James A. Sackett, and their family, of Florence, Wis., and the bride groom's sister, Mrs. Austin, who came with her husband from St. Louis, as well as the bridegroom's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. J. # DAC will host Ski Prix night

Cindy Nelson, top United States Ski Team member and winner of a Bronze Medal in the 1976 Olympics, will be in Detroit this Saturday, Nov. 14. for the annual Ski Prix fund raiser at the Detroit Athletic Club. The evening begins at 7 p.m., with Dancing and a spectacular write in auction, featuring items from all over the world, follow. Tickets are available through the Don Thomas Sporthaus, Birmingham, 626-9500. Proceeds qualify as tax deductible donations to the United States Olympic Team.

Also coming to town for the party is Karen Lancaster, the USST's newest member and the most improved American skier on the European circuit last year. The men will be represented by Jim Denney, America's premier ski jumper, who has accumulated an impressive list of victories for the United States during the past 20 years.

Peter Graves, former Nordic competitor and color commentator for ABC Sports at the Winter Olympics at Lake Placid, will be on hand to introduce the athletes and outline prospects for the upcoming season.

Las year, Detroit made the largest contribution, more than $25,000, to the USST. This year's goal is $35,000.

Convene School of Government

Mrs. Ralph L. Mason, president, will preside at the School of Government's meeting next Wednesday, Nov. 18, at the Detroit Boat Club. The day's program chairman is Dr. Margaret Rose, director of the Legal Assistant Pro-gram, Division of Business and Public Service, Macomb County Community College.

She will present the speaker, Judge Frank Condino, Michigan's Administrative Judge of Worker's Compensa-

Dr. Rose's Legal Assistant Program, implemented in 1972, is the first in the State of Michigan and seventh in the nation authorized by the American Bar Association.

The next meeting of the School of Government, founded in 1940 by the late Mrs. Wilber M. Brucker, is set for Wednesday, Dec. 16, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club and will feature a performance by the Haldon Women's Choral Group for the Detroit Symphony League.

Take a look at Old Detroit Featured this month in the Art Wing of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial is an exhibit of Scenes of Old Detroit, sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Historical Society. The graphics in this collection were gathered by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fletcher Wardwell over many years and hung in their home at the corner of Three Mile Drive and East Jefferson Avehue until recently.

This house, into which the couple moved in 1912, was given in 1976 to Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. When the property was recently sold, the pictures were removed. They are now on loan to the Historical Society.

Set Retired School Personnel meeting

A social get-together has been scheduled by the Detroit Association of Retired School Personnel for tomorrow, Friday, Nov. 13, at Westminster Presbyterian Church Fellowship Hall, Hubbell at West Outer Drive in Detroit.

Members and guests should bring their own brown bag lunches. Dessert apple and pumpkin pie - will be provided by the Association. Beverages will be available. Entertainment will feature a barbershop quartet under the direction of Ribert Nanzes.

Presiding over the festivities will be Walter Kendall, DARSP president.

Each work shows Detroit at a different time in its evolution. Representations vary from the small village pictured in 1794 (No. 12) to the sky-scraper city of the 1930s (No. 7).

The gradual shift from a trading post to a commercial metropolis is clearly evident; the many drawings of sailing ships and steamships reflect the influence of the Detroit River on this development.

The variety of graphic techniques used in the pictures includes engraving, etching and lithography. Various methods of printing may also be seen Two prints of the same subject show the difference in appearance between a work in black and white (No. 8) and the same one with delicate tinting. #### The Art of Architecture

Only two residences were ever designed by the internationally famous architectural team of Eliel and Eero Saarinen, the former best known for the Cranbrook Academy of Art and the Chicago Tribune Tower, the latter for the United States Embassy in London. Dulles International Airport, buildings for IBM, Bell, CBS, Yale, Vassar, the University of Chicago et al.

One of the homes was Eliel's own, on the Cranbrook grounds in Bloomfield Hills. The other is located in Grosse Pointe, at 203 Cloverly Road, and is, as might be expected, in itself a work of art. It was built in 1939-40, has always remained in the same family but is currently for sale.

It's a house our community can be proud of, an attraction for everyone interested in the art of architecture. It will be toured next Tuesday by 45 members of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Art Association's Gallery Tour Group who, we predict will find it fascinating.

The Chinese Connection

An old proverb states: "To see once is better than to hear a hundred times." Members of the Arts Commission/Detroit Institute of Arts Founders Society Trustees tour through the People's Republic of China earlier this autumn found that to be true as they were guided by Suzanne Mitchell, the DIA's curator of Asian Art, from Sian to Shanghai, Bejing to Guangzhou.

The peripatetic participants included several Pointers, among them Walter B. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Hudson Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Volrad J. von Berg, Justice and Mrs. G. Mennen Williams and Mrs. Peter Stroh, plus Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Kanzler, the Harry Franks and Henry B. Franks, Mrs. Donald Young, Mr. and Mrs. Alan E. Schwartz, the Hugh Rudolphs, Mrs. Bernard Hirsch, the Ivan Fran-kels, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hills, Mrs. Theodore Ketterer III and Mrs. Ann Raskin.

Any inconveniences of travel were met with elan, Suzanne reports, by this "great group of good sports!"

Ms. Mitchell and Sandra Collins, of the DIA's Department of Asian Art, work with the Friends of Asian Art, a special interest group sponsored by the Founders Society, to present enjoyable and stimulating programs designed to attract the serious scholar as well as the interested novice.

The Friends of Asian Art aim to serve as a resource for a greater understanding and appreciation of Asian cultures, and they have a particularly fascinating program planned for next Tuesday: a lecture. "United States—China: The Cultural Relationship," by Leonard Woodcock, the United States former (and first) Ambassador to the People's Republic of China.

He will speak at 8 p.m. in the DIA's auditorium. His program is open to the public at $3 general admission. Friends of Asian Art will be admitted, as they deserve

A Working Artist Exhibits

The work of Grosse Pointe's Virginia Durbin Thibodeau is currently on display in Palm Beach, Fla., at the First National Bank on South County Road. "They signed me up for the show almost two years ago," Ginny reports, "and at that time it seemed very far away"—but, as always happens when you're a working artist, "far away" became "it's almost opening day!" in no time at all.

Ginny's three-week show opened in Palm Beach Nov. 2. She's also represented in the National Miniature Show, which opened last Sunday at the National Arts Club (Smithsonian Building) in Washington, D.C., "a most interesting place," says Ginny, "as it was James Monroe's home," and will be represented in Palm Beach throughout the season by the Holly Daly Herman Gallery on Worth

The Art of Chef Mials Parker

Now, as we promised at the beginning of this column, here's the recipe for that delectable example of the Dessert Art of Grosse Pointe Club Chef Mials Parker:

CHILLED LEMON SOUFFLE

11/2 qt. souffle dish

- 2 Tbsp. or 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- ½ cup water 6 eggs
- 1½ cups sugar
- 2 cups heavy cream
- 1 Tbsp. grated lemon peel 2/3 cup fresh lemon juice

Make collar, with either aluminum foil or butcher's paper (tie down) around souffle dish 2 inches above rim and chill. Dissolve gelatin in water and let set for 5 minutes. Put on low heat and dissolve until clear. Remove from heat and cool.

Beat eggs and sugar in mixer until very, very thickabout 10 minutes. Beat 11/2 cups of heavy cream until stiff, set aside and refrigerate. Stir lemon juice and rind into gelatin and pour into egg/sugar mixture until well blended.

Chill above mixture in ice bath until it lightly peaks; don't let it set. Fold in whipped heavy cream until no streaks of white remain. Quickly pour into souffle dish and refrigerate for at least a couple of hours. Remove collar; whip remaining 12 cup heavy cream and pipe rosettes on top. Garnish with thin lemon wedges.

Young People's Concerts slated Humor in Music is the theme as able from the Ford Auditorium box

the Detroit Symphony Orchestra opens its 1981-82 Young People's Concert Series with performances at 11 a.m. (for Earlybirds) and 2 p.m. (for Lazybirds) this Saturday, Nov. 14, at Ford Auditorium.

Murray Gross, DSO assistant conductor, will be on the podium for a program including the overtures to two operas, Offenbach's "Orpheus in the Underworld" and Rossini's "Il Signor Bruschino," the polka from Shostakovich's "Golden Age," the Tortoises from Saint-Saens' "Carnival of the Animals" and the last movement from Haydn's Symphony No. 102 in B flat.

Following these selections, Buffo the Clown will perform to Grieg's Peer Gynt Suite Op. 46, Tchaikovsky's Swan Lake Op. 20, selections from Strauss' Don Quixote Op. 20 and Smetana's Dance of the Comedians from "The Bartered Bride."

Tickets, at $6, $5 and $4, are avail-

Miss Morehead wed in October

Carla Denise Morehead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Houston Daniel Morehead, of Hunt Club Drive, and James Mallory Nimocks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Byron Nimocks Jr., of Forrest City, Ark., exchanged marriage vows Saturday, October 10, at a late morning ceremony in the St. Clair Shores

The 11:30 o'clock rites at which The Reverend Norman Muhling presided were followed by a reception at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club. The newlyweds vacationed at French Lick Springs, French Lick, Ind. They will make their home in Forrest City.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown of ivory peau de sole and her mother-in-law's ivory veil, out-lined with beaded satin petals. Phalaenopsis orchids and English ivy formed her bouquet.

She was attended by a sister, Lynn Morehead, as honor maid, and by bridesmaids Lori Morehead, a sisterin-law, of Atlanta, Ga., Mary Kasslly and Madge Nimocks, the bridegroom's sister, who resides in Maine.

Their floor length dresses, dusty rose in color, featured high, lace collars and lace sleeves. They carried arrangements of rubrum lilies and carnations, rimmed with greens. Flower girl was Gina Tabbi, of St.

Clair Shores. Byron Nimocks came from New York to act as best man for his brother. Guests were seated by Rick McCollum and Tom Norsworthy, both Arkansas residents, Mark Akin, who makes his home in Mississippi, and Clifton Morehead, of Atlanta, the bride's brother.

An embroidered border accented the sleeves and matching jacket of the bride's mother's floor length, pale aqua gown. The bridegroom's mother wore a floor length, pale grey and pink print.

East Pointe Adelines will be 'Flyin' High'

The East Pointe Chapter of Sweet Adelines, an international four-part harmony organization for women, will present "Flyin' High" this Saturday, Nov. 14, at 8:15 p.m. in the Lakeview High School auditorium, located on Eleven Mile Road near Little Mack in St. Clair Shores.

In addition to the music of the East Pointe Chorus, the show, the chapter's second, will feature songs by the Lakeshore Chorus of the SPEBSQSA (Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America) and the well known quartets Bassically. Four and 4 Wheel Drive.

Tickets, at $5 per person, may be obtained by calling 774-8039 or 886-6321. East Pointe, directed by Linda Liddicoatt, is the 1981-82 third place medalist chorus of Border Lakes Region Two, which consists of most of Michigan and part of Ontario.

Planning a new Pro Musica season . . .

New members of the artist debut recital committee of the Pro Musica Society met recently at the home of chairman Mrs. Manuel Papista to launch the drive for the group's 54th season. Meeting to discuss the list of artists to be presented were (standing, left to right) MRS. STERLING SANFORD, MRS. EUGENE IGNASIAK, JOHN MILLER, LOUISE PAPISTA and MR. and MRS. JAMES DIA-

The second program will feature the brilliant young mezzo soprano Alteouise DeVaughn, presently featured in the American Opera Workshop in New York. Miss DeVaughn was also one of the artists chosen by Pavarotti for his televised master class at the Juilliard School of Music.

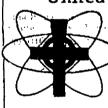

The final concert will be a performance by the Gabrielli String Quartet, England's leading quartet on its first United States tour. This group and Miss DeVaughn will be presented in the Lecture Hall of the Detroit Institute of Arts, Schub at Orchestra Hall. All three programs will be followed by the traditional Pro Musica social hour.

There are still nearly 100 memberships open in the society. The fee of $25 provides admission to the three concerts and the social hours. There is also an annual dinner for members and a meeting at which the society is governed and plans made for the following year. Persons interested in membership may call Louise Papista at 882-1688 or membership secretary Mrs. John Rainey at Raising a glass of Riesling . . .

Inviting you to raise your own glass—or two, or three—of Riesling with them tomorrow, two, or three—of Riesling with them tomorrow, Friday, Nov. 13, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial are (left to right) MARYLOU COE, CHUCK KAESS, CAROLYN MOSHER, GAIL KAESS, CHUCK MOSHER, CHUCK and GECRGEANA HENRITZY and BILL CHAPMAN, members of the War Memorial's Council of Sponsors, who gathered late last week to man last minute ticket sales strategy and commap last minute ticket sales strategy and compare notes on each other's plans for the wine tasting evening. Each of the couples pictured above will host a table of 10 friends for the 6:30 to 8 p.m. sampling of Riesling wines from around the world, then continue the evening's festivities with suppers at their homes. Master of ceremonies for the sipping session is Grosse Pointe Connoisseur Alex Suczek, who provided enlightening and entertaining commentary at the tasting last May. Once again, there will be food suggestions from Mme. Charity Suczek and appropriate appetizers that go well with Rieslings. The wines themselves, will include a wider range than usual, with some exceptionally high quality samples to help tasters learn their distinction. Admission for the tasting is $12.50 per person and can be arranged by contacting the War Memorial, TUxedo 1-7511. All seating is at tables of 10-so anyone planning a party should think of that number.

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol—and penny-wise—cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena De-Witt Roth, continuing, this week, a series of items suitable for a sumptuous THANKSGIVING BUFFET.

SPINACH RING

- 7 pkgs. (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach, cooked according to package directions
- 3 Tosp. unsalted margarine
- ½ tsp. salt 2 eggs, lightly beaten
- 1/8 tsp. pepper
- 1/8 tsp. nutmeg

Drain spinach in a strainer, pressing as dry as possible. Mix cooked spinas dry as possible. Max cooked spin-ach with eggs and seasonings. Pack into a mold and bake uncovered, in a water bath in preheated 350° oven, 30 to 40 minutes until firm. Loosen edges and invert on a platter. Makes 6 servings.

CREAMED ONIONS

- 2 glass jars (16 oz. each) of very small cooked onions 2 to 21/2 cups medium white
- sauce
- 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce 3 drops Tabasco sauce
- 2 level Tbsp. catsup
- 1/8 tsp. salt

1/8 tsp. pepper

Mix seasonings into hot white sauce until well blended, Drain onions. Very carefully stir onions into white sauce and place in top of double boiler to keep warm. The onions are rather fragile, so stir as little as possible.

Serve onlons lightly sprinkled with paprika in center of Spinach Ring. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

ORIENTAL BEETS

2 cans (16 oz. each) tiny rosebud beets

1½ cans (16 oz. each) pineapple chunks in own juice

2 Tbsp. lime or lemon juice 2 Tbsp. cornstarch Finely minced fresh parsley

Drain pineapple chunks, reserving the juice. In sauce pan heat beets in their own juice until hot. Add 3/4ths of the pineapple chunks to the beets of the pineappie chunks to the beets and slowly bring to a simmer. Stir 4ths of the reserved pineapple juice into a small bowl and thoroughly mix in the lime juice and cornstarch. Slowly stir the pineapple juice mixture into the simmering beets. Cook until thickened. Sprinkle the beets with the parsley before serving. Serves 6.

Cabaret nights at St. Ambrose

The Saint Ambrose Community Players will feature three one-act pro ductions in their Fall Cabaret Nights this weekend, Saturday, Nov. 14, and Sunday, Nov. 15, in the Saint Ambrose Hall on Maryland at Hampton, one block above East Jefferson Avenue.

Tickets, at $3.50 for adults, $2 for children, will be available at the door at 7:30 p.m. Saturday before the 8 p.m. performance, at 5:30 p.m. Sunday for the 6 p.m. performance.

Seating is at brightly decorated tables. Refreshments will be for sale, and the audience is encouraged to bring along Meadow Brook style picnics. The program includes "Free to be

You and Me," conceived and originally presented by Marlo Thomas, which showcases the talented younger members of the Players. Beryl Ament is directing this musical. "Eenie, Meenie, Miney Murder," directed by Merrie Gay Ayrault, is a 1940s style radio murder mystery, complete with announcer and commercials.

The evening will conclude with a medley of Rodgers and Hammerstein Favorites, sung by Marti Vorhees and Bill Hunt.

No title, but North's not kicking

They didn't win the state championship, but North's varsity soccer team ended the season on a happy note, battling to make the 3-2 state loss close and winning 15 and losing just three. The Metro Suburban League Divisional champs include (bottom row, left to right) Andy

A one, two, three finish in North tennis

North battles, fails in state bid

North's soccer team played 20 minutes of sloppy defense causing three goals against Livonia Churchill before the Norsemen battled back valiantly to prove that they can play competitively with the reputed "west-side" soccer powers. Unfortunately Churchill managed to hold off North and win, 3-2, to eliminate the Norsemen from the state championship.

North actually dominated the game and from the spectators' point of view the Norsemen deserved to win. Several neutral coaches commented that North was definitely the better team; but in the end the three goal deficit was too much to overcome.

.. "When Churchill scored its third goal I told the kids that any more goals against us would be an embarrassment," said North coach Guido Regelbrugge. "We were playing very well except that our defense was sloppy on Churchill's crosses. Fortunately we straightened out and played a great game. They played with real character and pride."

Sophomore Marc Tirikian scored a goal in each half to make it close for North, and to raise his season total to 49. Paul Regelbrugge finished the year with 13 goals while Bill Bryce added 12. Regelbrugge also had 19 assists followed by Ramin Azar with 14, and Tirikian and Dave Waldeck with 12 each.

Goalkeeper David Loren played in all 18 games while posting 12 shutouts and earning an outstanding .65 goals against average.

North's overall record was 15-3, victory and the Metro-Suburban League Divisional Championship with an 8-1 record. The Norsemen outscored their opponents by a whopping 106-

"It was a fantastic season for us." said coach Regelbrugge, "after being 14-1-2 last year we never dreamed of getting a record like 15-3. Both Coach Ray Tirikian and myself are very proud of the team. We're looking forward to next year."

North varsity football: A one yard drive by senior fullback Dave McCarron in the first quarter was all North needed to win for the seventh time in 13 meetings against rival South.

After forcing the Blue Devils to punt on their first possession, North drove 55 yards as McCarron, who gained 73 yeards rushing, leaped into the end zone. South didn't score until the third quarter when there was a bad snap to punter Jerry Bockstanz. Bockstanz was forced to down the ball in his own end zone which resulted in South's only points.

"We moved the ball well but we had trouble getting into the end zone," said a happy North coach Frank Sumbera, "Our defense was outstanding. I'm especially happy for our seniors. It was their first winning season at

The defensive standouts who gave first year coach Sumbera a winning 5.4 overall record were Dave Bergeron, Greg DeYonker, Jerry Bockstanz and Fred Schultz

Senior tailback Matt Lehmann rushed for 101 yards while quarterback Chris Bingaman added 14 yards on the ground and 48 via the air.

Perhaps the greatest achievement for the Norsemen this year was the fact that they came back from a 2-4 highlighted by its Troy Invitational record to win their last three games against Roseville Brablec, Lake Shore and South.

North girls' tennis: North's girls not only breezed through their regular season in flying colors with a 9-3 overall record (8.0 in league), but they finished in second place in the regionals, and a highly impressive third place in the state championships, appropriately capping a fantastic year.

Co-captains Beth McMahon and Chris Hayosh headed a list of League all-stars in which North held six of 12 first team spots. Julie Ashare, Lisa McCormick, Sandy Jayakar and Mia Bryce were the other four stars. Perhaps the greatest accomplishment by the Norsemen occured during the state championship when the doubles' combination of Maria Rodriguez-Kris Boll won in the finals. Sandy Jayakar was the most improved player on the squad, while Kris Boll was most valuable and Beth McMahon won the Excellence Award. North is already looking forward to next year under the superb guidance of Coach Beth Manojlovich. North cross country: Highlighted by invitational victories at Ann Arbor Pioneer and Oxford, the Bi-County League championship and first place in the regionals, the highly rated Norsemen took their fortunes to Flint for the cross country state champion-

Unfortunately, despite a fantastic third place finish by junior Joe Schmidt, North finished in a disappointing but highly respectable sixth place.

All-League runners for North this year were Brian Boutell, Joe Carroll, Scott Cooper, Mark Denis, Mark Przesławski, Doug Schepke and Joe Schmidt Schmidt also made the All-

Ann Belloli-a shy 'star'

By Mykal Banta

Ann Belloli, of the Woods, is a setter on the Wayne State University volleyball team, and she has a quietness about her, a kind of shyness that touches almost everything she does.

This quality came out in many subtle ways throughout our talk, like the way she would self-consciously take a sip from her glass of water every time the waitress came by to look over our table, or sometimes her shyness was more obvious, like the way she actually blushed when I mentioned that her coach, Kathy Higgins, has called her one of the three best setters in the state of Michigan. "Wow," she said, her face blushing behind a bright-eyed smile, "I hope my swelled head isn't showing."

Belloli was awarded All-State, Most Valuable Player, and All-League honors at North high school, where she also played softball and basketball She is a junior this season at Wayne, and she has been a starter for the WSU volleyball team since she was a freshman.

Belloli said that she was exposed to sports early in her life through her two older brothers, Tom and Mike. She explained the combination of her natural desire to be outside combined with her brothers' influence, resulting in an early love for

"When I was very young," she said, "I always thought it was more fun to play baseball or football with my brothers and their friends than it was to play inside with dolls. Our house was one of those houses where all the kids would gather, and who would want to be stuck inside with all that going on outside?'

Another positive influence on her athletic career was her high school volleyball coach, Marlene Maige, who Belloli says gave her a great deal of encouragement to pursue volleyball. "She gave me all kinds of support," Belloli said, "She would always be telling me how good she thought I was and everything, and that's the kind of thing a person really needs. Sometimes a little encouragement at the right time can make a big difference.

Belloli is majoring in physical education and she said she hopes to teach at the elementary level after graduating so she can give children that much needed early encourage-

"It's so important to give children a good base in physical education at a very young age," Belloli sail. "That's when they're eager to learn, and that's when a teacher can be a good influence on them.

Underneath her outward shyness, there is a kind of deep gentleness about Ann Belloli-a quality of soft spoken compassion that comes to the surface when she talks about her friends or her experiences. Whatever ed me to be me and be happy," she said. "That's a great thing to grow up with. Belloli enjoyed talking about her family and her childhood, and she described her family atmosphere as such a place where there is a great deal of acceptance for everyone as individuals. She spoke with a tenderness about the vast differences in her two brothers, saying Tom was the business conscious. Belloli said she worked last summer as a swimming instructor at the University Liggett day camp, and she said her goal is to provide a positive experience for the children at an brother with the talent toward the liberal arts and Mike was much more

"When I was in middle school," she said, "I had this great, big training instructor for swimming, and he handled you kind of rough, dunking you under and stuff. He sort of turned me off swimming for awhile. The thing I try to do as an instructor is to give the kids a good experience when they're first exposed to something. Then they'll still be eager to learn.'

Belloli said the only problem she had with being swimming instructor was that the groups of children would come and go in shifts several times a day. She said next summer she is hoping she can be one of the counselors that has a single group of children all day.

"If I can get just a single group of kids, that would give me a better chance to know them on a more in-dividual basis," Belloli said. "Then I could get to know their individual problems and be better able to work with them."

World class gymnastics for Schatz

By Dawn Locniskar

A lithe, young girl is performing with other members of her group in a routine. She gracefully revolves on a floor mat, twirling a long pastelcolored ribbon and concentrating on helping her group win the team title.

The sport is modern rhythmic gymnastics, and the girl is South sophomore Amy Schatz who recently participated in the 10th bi-annual World Cup of Rhythmic Gymnastics in Munich, West Germany.

At the championships, the United States team finished 11th out of 35 countries. Finishing first in both the individual and the group routine categories were the Bulgarians. The individual world champion was Aneya Rolenkova, with teammate Ilaina Raeva finishing second.

"This was a good finish for the U.S. team for only its second time in the world championships," said Zina Miranov, Amy's coach. In the previous competition, held in London in 1979, the team finished 14th. Miranov added, "We wish to thank Wayne County Community College, in particular Austin Center, for all the help that they gave us in providing facilities for us to work out. Rhythmic gymnastics is a fairly new sport in the United States, having only been in existence here since the early sixties. The sport has existed in Europe since about 1940. According to Miranov, "Rhythmic gymnastics used to be a part of regular artistic gymnastics, but it became a separate sport about 20 years ago. It will be one of the official sports of the 1984 Summer Olympics at Los Angeles.'

Rhythmic gymnastics is performed on a floor mat using five pieces of apparatus: ribbon, clubs, hoop, ball and rope. "We only do four different routines at a time per year, so we have omitted the ball for this year," Schatz says.

Six people perform each minute and a half long routines, with half using one appartus and half using another; three with ribbons and three with balls, for example.

It is scored the same way as regular gymnastics, with 10.0 being the highest possible score. There are four judges, and such things as dropping equipment and equipment going out of bounds are counted against a routine's score. Each routine must also have a certain number of "superiors" and "mediums," harder and easier moves.

Amy began rhythmic gymnastics in 1977 when she was 11 years old. "I began with regular artistic gymnastics, but I liked ryhthmic better . . . had more fun and I seemed to have a knack for it.'

"We're not allowed to do much tumbling, a forward roll is about all that we can do. It's mostly dance,' Schatz says.

Because of her rigid training schedule, Schatz has not attended school as yet this year, and says, "It will be very difficult to come back to school, but only at first. I have gotten a lot of help from Frances French and my counselor, Norman DuCoin.

"It will be hardest to get back into the routine of doing homework every

Anyone interested in learning rhythmic gymnastics should call the Recreation Depratment of the City of Detroit at 224-1184.

Grosse Pointe Hockey Association

By Brad Tisdale

Grosse Pointe hockey has now been underway for more than a month with teams skating practice sessions and playing exhibition games several times each week. League play, which began several weeks ago for "travel" teams, has now started for the "house" teams.

The highly successful registration program has attracted enough youngsters to form a total of 21 house teams and six travel teams. House teams play their games against other Grosse Pointe teams, or in the case of the older players such as bantams, midgets or juniors, competeagainst other nearby community teams.

Travel hockey has no geographic bounds, with teams playing 60 game schedules throughout southeastern Michigan and at selected tournaments in the midwest and Canada. Grosse Pointe travel teams compete in the tough Adray League, on teams designated A or AA, depending upon whether the children are first or second year players in that age bracket.

"Center Ice" will try to feature the game results of all Pointe teams each week along with special features on sponsor participation, tournament play and spotlights on individual teams. Each Grosse Pointe team will be featured with a team photograph and roster of participating children beginning in a few weeks.

Mites: Starting next week, Center Ice should begin to have complete coverage of the 6 to 8 year old Mite division. A total of seven teams have been formed with 63 of the more than 120 players strapping on skates this year for the first time.

STORKS-RED WINGS

Brad Warezak assisted on one goal and scored the other to pace the Storks to a 2-1 victory over the Red Wings at the GPCR on Nov. 3. The game was scoreless until Giacobbe tallied for the Wings with just 31/2 minutes left. After the ensuing faceoff, Warezak hit Tommy Rajt with a pass at the blue line. Rajt skated in alone on a breakaway and fired a 20-footer to tie the score with three minutes left in the game. Less than a minute later; Warezak fired home a rebound off a Rajt shot for the winner. Richie-Harder drew the other Squirt: A total of five teams make up the Grosse Pointe Squirt league for 9 and 10 year olds. League play began this week with six games, all of which were exciting and close. The league looks well-balanced and the race should be nip and tuck. Although the Squirt Islanders have yet to win, each loss has been by just a single goal.

from Mark Tucker and Tony Gianetti. Excellent goaltending by Bill Aurand held the Bruins to one goal.

CANADIENS-ISLANDERS

This game was a defensive thriller, as the only goal came with 1:59 left in the game when Jimmy Alderton scored on a pass from James Tringale. Andrew Albright got the shutout for the Canadiens while Chris Shaya playing an outstanding game in the nets for the Islanders.

CANADIENS NORTH STARS Alderton got the hat trick while Gabriel Benvenuto and Peter McDermott each got their first goals of the year as the Canadiens beat the Stars, 5-3. McDermott, John McGlone, Peter Donaldson and Alderton racked up assists. Johnny Ugval got two goals and one assist for the Stars. Derrick Smith had a goal and one assist while Charlie Stumb and Jack McSorley also had assists. David Cheriez was in the nets for the North Stars, Jamie Osborne for the Canadiens.

BRUINS-ISLANDERS

The Islanders came back in the third period from a 4-0 deficit to make this 4-3 loss to the Bruins a real thriller. The Bruins' Frank Lucido had two goals and Tucker had a goal and an assist. The other Bruin goal came from Barbieri. Assists went to Blake Crawford, Gianetti and Paul Bogos. Brian Jackson was in goal. The Islanders' comeback was a team effort with goals from Jimmy Pappas, Hatlem and Patrick Bond. Assists went to Prasad Rao, Mike Torrice and Bond. Jason Bucko was in goal.

This 7-4 Canadien win saw the lead change four times and the score was 4-3 with the Canadiens leading going 4-3 with the Canadiens leading going came from Lucido, Crawford, Jackson, and Barbieri. Gianetti had one assist. Nick Black was in goal. Canadien scorers included Michael Kisskalt, a hat trick and an assist; Matt Krieg, two goals and one assist, and Benvenuto, two goals and two assists. Kristoffer Rust had three assists, Kelly Reed had one. Osborne was in goal for the Canadiens.

NORTH STARS-WHALERS The North Stars won, 3-2, in what was one of the most exciting games of the year. Paul Corgas, Keith Kinnard and McSorley had North Star goals; Kinnard, Eddie Kinnard, Johnny Ugval and Brad Hea had assists. Jeff Blum got the win in goal. Wood got both goals for the Whalers, with assist going to Cecil Lepard and Bill Aurand. Shannon Perralto played an outstanding game in goal, making several saves on brakaways Pee Wee: Grosse Pointe has fielded five very strong teams of 11 and 12 year olds in forming the Pee Wee division. League play is now into its second week. The Red Wings, coached by Lance Gotfredson, are off to a fast start with four wins and only one loss. Steady goaltending by Mike Semack and goal scoring from Charlie Roby, David Hall and Tom Stephenson have paved the way for the Red Wings.

ULS gridders end year at 5-4

The University Liggett varsity football team finished the 1981 season with a 5-4 record in losing to Marine City, 21-0, last week.

Marine City, a larger Class B school, ended its season with an impressive 8-1 record. They played a ball control offense with 253 rushing yards on 55 carries and completed one of six passes for an additional 10 yards.

The Knights' defense, led by Jeff Peters, Joe Carlino, Ron Schocker, John Polizzi and Gil Jackson played gutty football as they held the overpowering Mariners to eight points the first half.

A costly penalty in the third quarter kept an 80 yard Mariner drive alive as flankerback Tracy Boulier ran a reverse 27 yards for a touchdown. The conversion kick was good to give the Mariners a 15-0 lead. The Knights' offense had its chances, but was "stymied" all day by the tough Mariner defense which held the Knights offense to a mere 103 yards total offense. Linebacker Peters led in the defensive statistics for the ninth straight week as he was credited with three solo tackles, eight first hits and 13 combos for a total of

The following seniors played their last football game for the ULS Knights: Co-captain, Jeff Peters Jackson (tackle), Mike McCarthy (end), Ron Schocker (tackle), Dave Van Elslander (back) and Jeff Zack (guard).

ULS soccer: After knocking Immaculate Conception out of the State Class C-D Tournament, 3-1, the University Liggett School Knights varsity soccer team was eliminated from post-season play by Detroit Country Day School.

In a hard-fought game between the arch-rivals, the Knights landed on the bottom end of a 3-2 sudden-death overtime decision. Goals were scored by Bill Tettlebach and Larry Van Kirk. The Knights finished the season 12-6-3 with a 6-0 mark in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference League. Larry Van Kirk and Harold Colby were chosen most valuable and most improved players by their teammates. Marty Wittmer fin-ished the season with 27 goals, tying a school record for most goals scored in a season. (By Kayvan Ariani).

ULS field hockey: The ULS varsity field hockey team was given the opportunity to travel to the east coast and compete against top Connecticut squads last week. The trip was made possible by an endowment fund created by the friends and family of the late Mrs. Joyce Tolleson. On Nov. 4 ULS took a noontime

half off of a shot by captain Kelly Kirkpatrick. Going into the second half. Greenwich bounced back tougher than before, managing to get the ball past ULS's 25 yard line a few times. ULS really put the teamwork together later in the half by scoring two more goals, one of which came off of a beautiful penalty corner shot by Heidi Henkel, and the other scored by Kirkpatrick.

On November 6 the ULS field hockey squad left early to travel to a game against nearby Low Heywood Thomas School. The Liggett ladies did not play as well as they had the day before, and the strong teamwork seemed to be lacking. Except for a few easily taken breakaways, though, Liggett was able to keep the ball deep in Low Heywood's territory scoring one goal by halftime. With much improved play in the second half, Liggett was able to put four more goals across making the final score, 5-0. Goals were scored by Kirkpatrick, Jean Hindle, Kris Mighion (2), Heather Robbins and Page Heenan. In a game which was emotion-packed and hard-fought, the final score was ULS 2 and Greenwich Academy 0. A thoroughly amazed Miss Brock congratulated the team and Greenwich Academy gave all of the Liggett players Greenwich Academy varsity pins. The 1981 ULS varsity team's final record is 15-0-1. Kris Mighion and Jean Hindle scored

Brownell cagers win title

The Brownell seventh grade girls' basketball team won its championship last week, beating Wyandotte, 46-8. and St. Clair Shores Jefferson, 37-28.

In the Wyandotte game, Brownell co-captain Julie Cook was high scorer with 16 points. Captain Marcia Wright had 14 points, co-captain Mary Wachter and Roma Testa had six and Mary Beth Hicks and Christel Millican had two points each to pace the Brownell attack. Mary Allen, Carolyn Bojalad and Ann Butala played well in the Brownell victory.

The Brownell Bullets faced St. Clair Shores Jefferson in the season's final game and Cook was again high scorer with 16 points. Others scoring for the champions were Wachter with 11, Wright with four and Elennor Allen with three points.

Testa scored two points and Hicks had one in the win. Anne Horn, Julia Osborn, Melissa Pechonick and Laurie Soule played well defensively for Brownell.

The Bullets' final season record stands at 11-1.

Pierce girls are winners

Both the seventh and eighth grade girls basketball teams at Pierce had winning seasons this year. The eighth grade team, coached by Richard Benoit, ended the season with a 9-3 record. The seventh grade team, coached by James Ireton, finished with a 10-2 record.

The eighth grade's first team included co-captains Betsy Meagher and Jane Lochbiler, forwards Danielle Varga, Kim Havelt, Angel Wittenhagen, center Beth Knight, and guards Cindy Bowman and Anne Moellering. Second team members were Michelle Anger, Missy Bailey, Missy Dinverno, Lisa Mazur, Kelly Riehl, Jennie Sickel, and Lisa Tucker. Most Valuable Player was Angel Wittenhagen, who was both the top scorer and rebounder for the team.

The seventh grade first team included Katy Turner, Kathy Wittenhagen and Chris Corno at guard; Shelley Hales at center; Patrice Hess, Cyndy Tewes and Sue Griffin at forward. Second team players were Donna Leal, Sarah Leadbetter, Kathy Brooks, Catherine Amberg, Linda Gaglio, Julie Forster and Marjorie Jacobson.

Katy Turner had a high game score of 22 points with 123 for the season. Patrice Hess lead the season scoring with 126 points. Tri-captains were Katy Turner, Patrice Hess and Cyndy second and fourth. South's Julie Droste took third.

South took all but three first place finishes against East Detroit. Cathy Stickford, Mary Lou Coyle, Hague Ollison and Karen Campbell, (200 medley relay), Sara McLeod, (200 free), Susi Measelle (50 free), Ryndy Ditmars (100 free), Campbell (500 free), and Stickford (100 backstroke) were winners, Measelle, McLeod Chase and Ditmars won (400-yd. free relay).

South's divers were in much better form sweeping first through fourth in the standings. Droste took first, Marcia Miller, second and Kris Campbell third. (By Trevor Dinka).

South freshman football: Winning their season finale, the freshmen romped over North, 14-0. A super defense was the key, as Tony Esperti recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass. Joe Samborski picked off two passes, Rick Waugaman snared an errant toss, and Steve Goodrich led the defense with 17 tackles.

Terry Ayrault scored on a two-yard quarterback sneak Keith Kovalcik scampered in on an 18 yard reverse and Waugaman rushed for 71 yards and scored a two-point conversion to highlight a 224 yard total offense performance. The frosh season, highlighted by a four-game winning streak, South JV football: A last second North touchdown turned an almost certain South win into a disappointing loss. Leading 8-7, the J.V. fumbled the ball away on its own 11 yard line, leading to a North win, 13-8.

Tony Tocco scored South's only touchdown on a two-yard burst. South netted a two-point conversion when Dale Graham took a handoff and passed to Rich Jones for the score, John Mikesell and Tony Corrado turned in good performances for the defensive line, both sacking the North quarterback to stop early drives. The J.V. finished the season at 5-4. (By Kevin Roberts).

South varsity football: South's varsity football team suffered the school's first losing football season since 1971 as it lost to archrival Grosse Pointe North, 7-2, last week.

The only score of the game came in the first quarter on a run by fullback Dave McCarron. He scored on a run from the six yard line and put the Norsemen ahead for the win. South's two points were scored on a safety when North's punter lost the toss, from center and was sacked in the end zone.

The South offense was unable to score, but the defense played well in the loss. Throughout the season the defense has played consistently, and when the offense was sparked the leam celebrated some of its victories. Although the team finished with a 4-5 overall record, the Devils did achieve a winning season in the EML. South only won one game at home this season, last week against Port Huron, but had three victories on the road. (By Tom Streicher).

South varsity basketball: The sixth place South girls' varsity cagers edged second place Port Huron, 48-47, last week. In their next game, the girls didn't fare so well, however, as the team lost to first place Mt. Clemens, 63-25.

The game against Port Huron was close all the way. The winning basket was made with 10 seconds left in the game on a free throw shot by Caroline Hoski.

"I was very pleased. The girls fought hard and deserved to win," said coach John Bruce. Top scorers were Hoski with 13 points and Carol Rosasco with 11.

Unfortunately, the girls then lost to league leading Mt. Clemens. Top scorer for the Devils was Rosasco with seven points.

Currently the team has a league record of 4-7 and an overall record of 5.11. The girls take on EML rival Port Huron Northern at home today, Nov. 12. (By Megan Bonanni).

North battles

The girls, 8-2 overall, won the Bi-County, finished in third place in the Regionals and then placed 21st in the Martha Whitaker, Colleen Carroll and Janet Wesselman were North's All-Leaguers while Whitaker was a member of the State team by way of a sixth place performance in Flint.

North girls' varsity basketball: North slipped into second place in the Bi-County when they lost last week against Lake Shore, 44-38, after having defeated Southlake, 35-30, and before beating Clintondale, 49-44. North is now 14-3 overall and 8-2 in the league.

Amy Walkowiak scored 15 points against South Lake, getting help from Jeannie Soulliere who also scored 15 while adding 14 rebounds and three steals In the Lake Shore defeat, North couldn't overcome a 14 point halftime deficit. The loss put the Norsemen in a second place tie with Lake Shore, one game behind L'Anse Creuse. Walkowiak scored 14 points while Jean Genord and Soulliere added eight each,

After taking an 11 point halftime lead against Clintondale, the Dragons came storming back to take a five point lead before North regained its composure to get the win in overtime. Walkowiak again led the team with 15 points while Genord scored 14 and added five assists. Soulliere also put in 14 points while grabbing a school record - 21 rebounds.

J.V. girls' basketball: Despite good team effort, the Norsemen continue to have problems. Lake Shore trounced North, 53-24, before Clintondale also beat North, 42-27, last week Loree Pekarek scored eight points in both games while Sandy Kiers scored six and eight points respectively. Renee Garkinos scored six points against North Freshmen Basketball: North upped its overall record to 9-6 with wins over Lake Shore, 22-18, and East Detroit Kelly, 24-20. The Norsemen avenged an earlier defeat against Lake Shore led by Celeste Sartor's 15 points. Sartor led all scorers again against Kelly with eight points.

North girls' swimming: After South crushed North, 114-58, the Norsemen came back to trounce Roseville Brablec, 120-43. Janet L'Heureux and Jane Beck were the lone winners against the Blue Devils before Margaret Endres, Sara Robichard, Ann Vanker, Annie Attar, Christi Loehr, Alice Guarino and Lynn Copp led the triumph over Brablec.

North football: North's junior varsity concluded its season with a meager 1-7-1 record, but the motto "South is the Season" became evident when North won its only game of the season against the Blue Devils, 13-8. Sal Pelt's 12 yard touchdown pass to Chip Moore and Gary Cornell's three yard run with 30 seconds left to play won the game for the Norsemen.

The freshmen unfortunately ended their string of successes with a disappointing 14-0 loss against South. The loss ended North's season with a 3-4-1 overall record. North did however, win the Bi-County Championship,

The Neighborhood Club recently received donations for its special recreation program. John P. Urquhart, Chairman of the Youth Committee from Chapter 505 of the Knights of Columbus, presented John M. Bruce, Executive Director of the Neighborhood Club, a check for $400. Each Spring, the Knights of Columbus hold a tootsie roll drive to help support handicapped programs. This years' money was donated to the Neighborhood Club for its handicapped softball and soccer programs.

In addition, the Neighborhood Club has also received a commitment from the Lawyers Wives of Grosse Pointe for a portion of its fund raising efforts to support the special recreation program.

The goal of this special recreation program is to provide recreational opportunities for the mentally and physically handicapped. This past summer the Neighborhood Club sponsored two teams in an East Suburban handicapped softball league. The Neighborhood Club organized a soccer league this fall with four teams entered.

The final game of the soccer league was a special day with the handicapped players playing against the Detroit Express on Sunday, Nov.

The future for this program looks bright with the additional financial support. The funds will be used for special equipment, transportation and more supervision which are all essential for this special activity.

Greg Brynaert, Neighborhood Club Program Director believes that everyone deserves the opportunity to participate in recreational activities, and with the help of the Knights of Columbus and the Lawyers Wives of Grosse Pointe many individuals will now get that chance.

This winter, the Neighborhood Club will sponsor a special handicapped Floor Hockey League for the first time. Individuals wishing to participate should contact the club at 885-

Division title for St. Paul's soccer team

The St. Paul's boys' soccer team ended its regular season as the C.Y.O.'s Southeast Division champlion. The team's record remained unblemished throughout the season and was capped with a win over Our Lady Star of the Sea on Nov. 1, 4-0.

St. Paul's bid for the City C.Y.O. championship, however, ended last week when they lost their semi-final match to St. Angela of Roseville, 4-3.

The division winners were coached by John Braithwaite and included Peter Droste, John Joliet. Chris Fisher, Joe Mooney, Geoff Brieden, P. J. Imesch, Ken Irvin, Kevin Irvin, Ray Echlin, Jerry Remick, Chris Lopez, Michael Schoenith, Tim Fellows, Dave Fellows, Tim Nugent, Walter Fisher and Walter Konrad.

Correction

Two names were inadvertently reversed in last week's story about South's state championship tennis team. The story should have identified sophomore Leslie Mackey, the No. 3 seed on the squad, as winner of the championship for her flight in the most spectacular match of the tournament. She mastered her opponent in a three and one-half hour match, 5-6, 7-6, 7-5. No. 4 singles player, freshman Madeline Willard was runnerup in her flight, losing in the finals.

The Grosse Pointe Swim Club story in last week's sports section should have credited Brad Stedem for placing first in the 100 free, the 50 fly, 50 free, 50 breast and 100 I.M. and placing in the 100 breast. Stedem's wins came in the Swim Club's "B" meet.

There's a doctor in the house on Balfour Road

tinuity among American families are becoming ever less common, Dr. John W. Harrison is refreshingly different. Dr. Harrison, of Vendome Court, represents the third generation of his family to care for patients in the Balfour Road home built by his physician grandfather in 1926. A plastic surgeon and otorhinolaryngologist (ear, nose and throat specialist), he is affiliated with Mount Clemens General, Bi-County Community and Harrison Community Hospitals. The family residence on Balfour continues its 55-year history of service, now as a consultation facility for Dr. Harrison's patients who are preparing for or considering plastic surgery. It is the home of Dr. Harrison's mother, Mrs. J. Wilfred Harri-

"Patients find the home-like atmosphere convenient, relaxing and reassuring." Dr. Harrison says. "It's a fine old English Tudor house, typical of those in the Park." The attractive medical offices and separate patient entrance - like much of the home were ideas of Dr. Harrison's grand father, the late John W. Harrison, M.D. The first Dr. Harrison, physician and general surgeon, began his Detroit practice in 1896.

He was surgeon for the Packard Motor Car Company and The Detroit News, and was affiliated with Harper and Deaconess Hospitals. As a well known, important pioneer in the transfusion of blood, he was said to be the first American surgeon to transfuse blood as a remedy for pernicious anemia. THE FIRST DR. HARRISON'S determination to make medical care ing. Small jobs wanted more comfortable and convenient for local patients was especially appreciated during The Depression of the 1930s. Later, the gas rationing of World War II made the Balfour office equally attractive for the patients of his son, orthodontist J. Wilfred

Harrison, D.D.S. After starting practice in the old Stroh Building in Grand Circus Park, Dr. "Jay" Harrison opened a second office in Royal Oak. Active and respected in his profession, he maintained offices at Balfour from 1940 until his death in 1978. Today, the third Dr. Harrison keeps the family tradition alive. He views the convenience and atmosphere of the office as helpful elements in his commitment to make cosmetic surgery more available and comfortable for all who need

"Cosmetic surgery is becoming more popular every year," Dr. Har-rison says. "That's because it is steadily becoming more effective and beneficial. New techniques are making the procedures less complex, less costly. At the same time, convalescence is shorter and more comfortable than it used to be."

practical alternative for the general public. No longer are face lifts, breast augmentations or "tummy tucks" an exclusive province of the rich and famous "WITH ALL THE PRESSURES we face in our hectic world, a person's self-image can be critical to a well adjusted life," Dr. Harrison says. "It

He points out that such developments are making cosmetic surgery a personal relationships.

"Today's emphasis on youth and appearance means that cosmetic surgery is often the only answer, making life more tolerable for those suffering from accidents, burns, cancer, congenital disfigurement or the aging process.'

At the Balfour office, Dr. Harrison talks with potential patients, discussing their needs and problems to determine whether surgery is the proper course. He makes no attempt, of course, to "sell" patients on a surgical approach, scrupulously screening out those for whom the resulting psychological problems might outweigh possible physical benefits.

He is a believer, however. He was especially pleased when his mother recently underwent successful facelift surgery. "I think that procedure gave her an even greater appreciation of why I feel so strongly about the potential benefits of cosmetic surgery," Dr. Harrison says. "As a surgeon, I enjoy its uniquely constructive and optimistic aspects.

"MOST SURGICAL PROCEDURES are matters of medical necessity, us ually giving the patients little choice. In cosmetic surgery, however, unless I see indications that surgery is inadvisable, it's the patient who takes the initiative and shares in making the decision. That makes it personaily rewarding when I can share a patient's pleasure and enthusiasm at a successful result.' Dr. Harrison has been sharing such moments since 1971, when he graduated from the Kansas City College of Osteopathic Medicine. A 1960 graduate of Grosse Pointe High School, he holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Chemistry from Ferris State College and a Master of Science degree in Biology from Central Michigan University. Later, he served dual residencies in plastic surgery and otorhinolaryngology at Mount Clemens General Hospital.

Raised in the home on Balfour, he lives now in the Farms with his wife, the former Marcia Hill, of Port Huron, and their son, five-year-old John W. Harrison III.

They are an active couple. A golfer "of promise" (there's never enough time), Dr. Harrison is also a certified scuba diver and a member of the Grosse Pointe Power Squadron. His 36-foot Trojan cruiser, the Plaza Suite, is berthed at Jefferson Beach

"This summer we went diving off Tobermory, in Georgian Bay," he recalls, "where there are fascinating wrecks to explore. I suppose the most adventurous diving I've done was at St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands. We had a look at the Royal Mail Steamer Rhone, a 19th-century derelict that was filmed in the movie 'The Deep.' "MY ULTIMATE DREAM - and it's shared by many divers - is to dive the waters of Australia, off the Great Barrier Reef. That would be an experience to remember." Marcia Harrison would like to go along on that trip, but it might not be easy to find the time. She, too, maintains an extremely busy schedule. As the Harrison family's unofficial historian, she maintains mementos that include everything from early medical devices and yellowed news clippings to diplomas and a photo of the first Dr. Harrison's 1896 gradu-

of Medicine. A very effective fund raiser, she is a member of the Fontbonne Auxiliary of Saint John Hospital and chaired the 1981 campaign of the Michigan Osteopathic Foundation. "The campaign was an enormous job," Mrs. Harrison says, "but we had marvelous support from a lot of people. The $18,000 we raised was donated to Michigan State University for medical scholarships."

One of her contributions to next year's foundation campaign will be an exhibition of her work as a miniaturist. Keystone of the exhibit will be a three-story tabletop mansion, complete with landscaping, full furnishings and a population of small but happy Victorians. Among the latter are well dressed skaters who move electronically but realistically around the family pond.

"As members of the Grosse Pointe Symphony, John and I help with their fund raising too," Marcia says. We sometimes wonder where we find the time for everything, but I guess it's just that idleness doesn't appeal to us. That much is obvious. The Harrison family demonstrates strong tradition, community involvement and a lasting commitment to Grosse Pointe - but for idleness, the reader will have to look elsewhere.

Honors choir for ULS students

Fourteen University Liggett Middle School students recently traveled to Jackson, Mich. to audition for the MSVA Michigan State Junior High Honors Choir, Eight students were chosen to be members of the performing group, including: Lisa Chamberlin, Kara Van Dellen, Rob Healy, Oscar Alcantara, Beth DePalma, Katie Harper, Martin David and Joe Jure-

The Honors Choir is made up of 120 young singers from Michigan. Both the Junior High and the High School Honors Choirs will perform at the Michigan Music Educators' Mid-Western Conference at Hill Auditorium on the campus of the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor on Satur-
