Park police, fire first to ok contracts

Grosse Pointe Park and its police and fire unions last week agreed to new contracts that call for an 11 percent pay in-

Park police officers promoted

The Park police department this week announced the promotion of Sgt. William Furtaw to the rank of Lieutenant and Patrolmen David Hiller and Randall Cain to Sergeant. The promotions are effective Jan. 1.

Furtaw, 42, has been with the Park police since 1961 and has received numerous citations for his work. He was named Corporal in 1977 and earlier this year was promoted to Sergeant.

Furtaw holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Mercy College in social science and law enforcement and is certified as an instructor in several areas by the Michigan Law Enforcement Training Council.

Furtaw was author of a book on the history of the Park police and fire departments published earlier this year and an 18-minute slide-sound program on the subject as well.

He's a native of Detroit, married and the father of four children.

Randall Cain, 31, joined the Park department in 1976. He also holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in social science from Michigan State University and studied law enforcement at Macomb County Community College, where he also teaches. He is currently in his second year at University of Detroit Law School.

Cain grew up in Grosse Pointe and graduated in 1968 from South High School. He is married to Farms police department dispatcher Carol Cain.

David Hiller, 31, came to the Park department in 1972 after working as a Detroit officer for more than three years.

He is president of the police officers union in the Park and has attended Macomb County and Wayne County Community Colleges. He is married and the father of two children.

The promotions were announced by Police Chief Henry Coonce.

crease over two and a half years and require for the first time that new employees be residents of the city.

The pacts were approved by the council at a closed session Dec. 17. Union members ratified them earlier this month.

Base pay for patrolmen with four years of experience will increase from $22,800 to $25,500. Firefighters' base will jump from $21,515 to $24,500. The raises will be paid in five steps over the duration of the contract, which is retroactive to July 1, 1981 through Jan. 1, 1983. Both departments have been working without a contract since last June.

The agreements will increase the financially-strapped city's costs by 10 percent, according to Manager John Crawford. Last year the city laid off 12 employees, including police and fire officers, because of a $116,000 budget deficit.

POLICE UNION president David Hiller said the city agreed to a union proposal that a standing committee be formed to study public safety and other alternatives that will help the city cut its costs.

"We realize that there are going to have to be changes made around here to economize and make better use of our resources," Hiller said. The committee will include representatives of the finance department, city administration, council and police and fire forces, he said. "We want to keep people informed about changes that may be made and to have some input too."

Another provision of the new contract will protect police officers in case the city is forced into another round of layoffs, according to Hiller. The clause requires the city dismiss civilian dispatchers before it reduces police manpower, he said.

The new contract also creates a sick leave bank for police officers that allows them to accumulate up to 100 days. At the time of retirement, the employees can use that bank, at a rate of $10 per hour, to pay hospitalization insurance premiums. The clause was designed to improve pensions and to reduce absenteeism, according to manager Crawford.

The new residency requirement was and still is strongly opposed by the union. "I don't think it's going to work," Hiller said. "What you're telling (employees) is they have to rent, because on our pay we can't afford to buy homes in the Park," he said.

Under the residency provision, effective July 1, 1982, police officers must move into the Park within 12 months of the date they are hired. They do not, however, have to be residents at the time of employment. Firefighters agreed to a similar clause, effective when the contract is signed.

The contracts contain no fringe benefit improvements, but some language pertaining to those areas was changed, Crawford said. Attorneys are preparing the contracts now and Crawford said he hopes to present them to the council and unions for formal approval before the end of the year.

Command officers in both departments will receive pay increases comparable to union improvements, with the same rank differentials they have worked under in the past, Crawford said. The firefighters' pact includes three percent more in base pay for officers who are qualified as advanced emergency medical technicians, he said.

Police, fire and public safety officers in the City, Farms and Woods are still negotiating contracts to replace those which expired last June.

Proposed water rates announced by Detroit

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The other shoe fell for Grosse Pointe residents last week when 1982 proposed water and sewer rate increases were announced to local governments, prompting the Shores Village Council to instruct its attorney to institute a plan to fight the increases.

The proposed rate charged to the cities for 1,000 cubic feet of water would raise the Shores rate from $4.32 to $4.69, an 8.6 percent increase. The Park rate for 1,000 cubic feet of department water would jump from $3.24 to $4.01, a 24 percent increase, the largest of the three Pointes which buy Detroit water.

The Woods rate for 1,000 cubic feet would drop from $3.07 to $3, a decrease of 2.3 percent.

The new proposed rates amend those announced Dec. 16 by the Water and Sewerage Department which set rates for the Shores at $4.63 for 1,000 cubic feet of water, six cents lower than the amended rate. The Park rate was set at $3.97, four cents lower than the amended rate. The Woods rate was set at $2.97 and was amended to the $3 mark.

Detroit Water and Sewerage Department Director Charles Beckham said the changes were made because the department had received "better information" from some of its sub-

Foundation funds a facelift at Farms park

By Tom Greenwood

The Farms Pier Park will undergo a $750,000 face lift beginning in the fall of 1982, according to members of the Grosse Pointe Farms Foundation.

Scheduled to be accomplished in two planned phases, the first step will include the construction of a new two-story, brick and rough cut cedar boathouse to replace the present structure which was erected sometime after World War I.

Projected cost of the new boathouse is in the $450,000 to $500,000 range. Other first phase improvements include a re-arrangement of the entrance off Lakeshore Road, a new gate house and extensive landscaping, fencing, paving and walk ways.

ANNOUNCEMENT of the project was jointly made last week by Foundation President Paul Marco and Farms Mayor and trustee James Dingeman.

"The new building will feature a second story observation deck providing a dramatic vista of Lake St. Clair and two new large recreation rooms, complete with fireplaces for the use of Farms residents," said Mayor Dingeman.

"The park project also calls for the replacement of the existing recreation, food concessions and support services building."

Mayor Dingeman added that as funds become available, the Foundation will proceed to Phase II of the project which will include improvement of the plaza and game area, with new roofs for the pool house, gazebo and a new sun shelter for the pool area.

While the total cost of the first phase is estimated to be $750,000, nearly half ($330,000) of that amount has already been received from the estate of attorney and long-time Farms resident, the late Benjamin Long.

"The balance of $420,000 will be raised by the Foundation which is seeking tax-deductible gifts from residents of the Farms," said Foundation President Marco. "The improvements won't cost the residents of our city one cent more in taxes."

Marco said the Farms Foundation was incorporated by the City Council in July, 1980, as a non-profit tax-exempt organization to receive grants, testamentaries and bequests left to the city.

Chief among the bequests was the $330,000 from the Long estate. Mr. Long also left about $150,000 to the Grosse Pointe Board of Education toward the construction of a planetarium at North High School.

"We are enlisting private help for public good," said Marco. "Residents will be invited to become members of the Foundation and to subscribe to its efforts on an annual basis. We've already approached a few individuals in the Farms and have been very gratified by the response. Everyone really seems in favor of the project."

TYPES OF memberships in the Foundation include: annual—$10; annual charter—$50; Major Donor—$1,000; Life Donor—$5,000 and Life Patron—$10,000.

Marco added that the Foundation has in mind a number of other projects through the city, all of them designed to enhance the esthetic and recreational qualities of the Farms.

"The list of opportunities is endless," said Marco. "Only the interest and generosity of Farms residents will determine how far we can go in our effort to affect changes for the better throughout the Farms."

Mayor Dingeman said the winter and spring will be spent ironing out the details in the project before the actual construction can begin.

"Soil samples have to be taken, contracts reviewed and other items taken care of," he said. "After we close the park next Labor Day, the old boathouse will be razed and construction begun. We hope to have the new building finished by spring of 1983."

"We've had a lot of work put into this plan over a long period of time," Dingeman said. "We've especially received a great deal of help and support from Mrs. Jean Hudson. We're all excited about this project."

Other members of the Grosse Pointe Farms Foundation include Roy D. Chapin, Jr., David K. Easlick, Henry Ford II, Mrs. Joseph Hudson, Jr., Charles R. Moon, Arthur R. Seder, Jr. and Farms Councilman Jack M. Cudlip.

Mayor Dingeman hospitalized

Farms Mayor James Dingeman, 64, was admitted to St. John Hospital Friday night, Dec. 18, suffering from chest pains.

Hospital officials reported Monday, Dec. 21, that Dingeman was in stable condition and was undergoing testing.

Library saves money with WOLF

Library cooperation pays off in dollars as well as in improved services for local libraries, according to figures released this week by the Wayne Oakland Library Federation (WOLF), which serves 65 public libraries in Wayne and Oakland counties, including Grosse Pointe.

WOLF and 16 other regional library cooperatives in the state were established under state aid legislation sponsored in 1977 by Sen. William Faust of Westland to encourage public libraries to coordinate services by eliminating duplication and sharing strengths. Today, 98 percent of the state's public libraries are members of library cooperatives. WOLF is the largest, serving nearly 2 million people.

In fiscal 1981, WOLF member libraries paid an average of $1,000 each from local funds to support cooperative services, compared to an average of $9,000 in 1977, the last year under the old structure of statewide library organization. In 1981, Grosse Pointe paid $9,704 from local funds for cooperative services compared to $28,048 in 1977.

One of the major advantages of WOLF membership is the discount rate member libraries receive when purchasing books, ranging from net to 43 percent. Book selection lists, purchasing and billing procedures are urban customers about usage.

Members of the Shores council expressed anger about the increases. Councilman Edmund Brady called them "absolutely ludicrous," and President Pro-Tem G. Bradford Lundy said the rates were aimed at penalizing the village.

A possible conversion to purchasing water from the Farms was discussed briefly, but Village Manager Thomas Jefferis said there are still 10 years left on the village's contract with Detroit, and there is little chance it could be released from its obligation.

Discussions about the conversion are still "very preliminary," Jefferis said.

The Shores is still paying Detroit $1.96 per 1,000 cubic feet of water, the rate previous to July, 1980, when the Shores was hit with a 120 percent rate increase which the village is still fighting.

New rates for customers won't be set until sometime next year, Jefferis said, since the administration tries to set rates close to the effective date of the increase, July 1, 1982.

Park Clerk-Comptroller Nunzio Ortesi said the city would take up the increases at a January meeting after the Water and Sewerage Department has held a public hearing scheduled for Jan. 6.

The increase could add about $1 per 1,000 cubic feet to what residents pay now, he said.

The Woods City Council took up the issue at its Dec. 21 meeting. It is the only Pointe to have a proposed decrease in its rate, and City Clerk Administrator Chester Petersen said he would rather not comment on the decrease until after the rates are approved by the Detroit Board of Water Commissioners.

That possible decrease in water rates charged to the city will be offset, however, by a proposed increase in sewer rates. The Woods, Park and Shores will see increases of 11 cents from $4.23 to $4.34 per 1,000 cubic feet.

The Farms and the City are faced with a proposed 18 cent increase in their sewerage rate for 1,000 cubic feet, from $5.81 to $5.99.

Water and Sewerage director Charles Beckham said the water rate increase would raise $93 million for refurbishing Water Works Park, Springwells Park and distribution mains, which he said had been in the ground since the early 1900s.

"It's an effective system, but it's an aging system," Beckham said.

In a letter sent to the affected councils concerning sewerage rate increases, Beckham wrote that the increases would raise about $140.5 million.

Girl raped in the Park

A 16-year-old Pointe girl was raped at knifepoint while she was babysitting on Maryland Road in the Park last week, according to police reports.

The girl told officers she was sleeping on a couch and the front door was unlocked when a man wearing a stocking mask entered the home at about midnight Dec. 15. The man had a knife in hand and forced the girl into a room where he raped her, police said.

He was described as a white male, in his 20s, between 5 feet 6 and 8 inches tall with a strong build. He had brown hair and the beginnings of a moustache, according to police. The man was wearing a white sweater, white pants and red tennis shoes. He escaped out the front door, police said.

Two children were asleep in the home when the incident occurred and did not awaken, police said. The girl called her home, then the bar her employer was working in after her attack. The home owner then called police.

Police took a tracking dog from the Detroit Police Department to the scene of the crime, but the man's trail was dead before they could catch up with him, according to Chief Henry Coonce.

"There were too many phone calls made before we were notified. If we had a fair chance, I think we could have caught the guy, but we were too late," Coonce said.

Telephone numbers to police and fire departments should be posted near the phone for babysitters, he said. "Many of these babysitters don't even know the address they're at. They should find out as soon as they come to a home."

It is the second rape reported in the Park this year.

Silents star in afternoon film series

Adolphe Menjou, comedian Monte Blue and Marie Prevost will star in Lubitsch's 1924 comedy "The Marriage Circle" at the Afternoon Film Theatre at 1 p.m. daily, Jan. 5 through 10 in the Art Institute's Recital Hall.

Some gifts are tax deductible

Almost everyone has one problem holiday gift to buy. If you find yourself in this bind, it's good to know there are ways to solve your gift problems and qualify for a tax deduction at the same time.

Do your friends have a favorite charity or a cause they would like to support? If so, consider making a donation in your friend's name. Under most circumstances, the deduction is yours and many charitable organizations send cards notifying the recipients of your gift, according to The Michigan Association of CPAs. Such practices with national organizations vary from state to state, or call beforehand for information.

To insure the deduction, make sure the organization is eligible for tax-deductible contributions. The IRS has a list of qualifying organizations.

In addition to a cash donation to a charity, you can deduct part of the gift of a membership in a museum, historical society or educational organization. Individual memberships generally start at $25 or $35. Your gift qualifies the recipient for certain benefits such as free admission, discounts, free catalogues and publications and invitations to special previews.

Donations to charities and museums can be made by credit card, cash and sometimes by pledge. The way you pay may affect the year in which you take your deduction. For example, pledges are not deductible until paid, and if you pledge in someone else's name as a gift, you cannot take it as your tax deduction. If you charge your donation, you don't have to pay the bill before you take the deduction. For example, you could charge a donation and take the deduction in 1981 under the old, higher income tax rates, but not pay until 1982 when, with lower taxes, you might have more spendable income, say the CPAs.

To take full advantage of the new tax laws, you might consider giving two years' donations. Inform the charity of your plans so they don't assume you are doubling your contribution. However, if you do not itemize your deduction, you may want to defer your payment until 1982 when, even on the short form 1040A, you can deduct 25 percent, or up to $25 for contributions. Check both ways to see which is more beneficial.

Another suggestion is to think of giving one of your own assets as a gift. If you are a small business owner who profits from sales of your own paintings, pottery, sculpture or other craft, consider giving your friend one of your works. No tax or tax deduction is involved if you simply give a gift to a friend. However, if you give a gift, such as one of your paintings to a museum in your friend's name, deduct the production cost of your work. Anytime you acquire, donate or sell such objects, you should obtain written appraisals for tax purposes.

Board accepts federal grants

The Grosse Pointe Board of Education last week accepted $157,721 in federal flowthrough grants to strengthen the school system's special education programs.

The funds, allocated to counties and then to local school districts, allow the Grosse Pointe schools to continue to employ two learning disabled teachers, a homebound teacher and a teacher consultant. The monies will also provide an additional teacher consultant, a learning resource center teacher and supplies for the special education program.

The board also approved $24,837 in flowthrough carryover funds to staff a special education teacher one day per week and for partial payment of a psychologist to provide testing.

A Preschool Incentive Grant of $3,121 was also accepted by the school board to maintain instructional time for children in the Developmental Preschool Program by an additional one day per week.

A $16,860 Title I Trainable grant was also accepted to continue the occupational therapy program for trainable mentally impaired students. The grant provides 70 percent funding of the occupational therapy program.

Hammin' it with Santa

Six members of SEMARA, South Eastern Michigan Amateur Radio Association, paid a surprise visit to the Pediatrics Department of St. John Hospital on Dec. 14 with gifts for children and allowed each child to talk with Santa over the air.

The group was led by John Southway who donned a doctor's hospital gown, complete with stethoscope, and was made up as a laughable clown.

Santa was played by Robert Boudreau, complete with reindeer sound effects, who spoke with each little patient from a base station and through the club's radio repeater atop the hospital so that all amateurs and shortwave listeners for miles around could hear the festivities.

The SEMARA club meets monthly at North High School and sponsors amateur license classes in cooperation with the Grosse Pointe school's continuing education programs. Call Everett Hawley at 885-8854 for more information on the club or classes.

This is one American car that "took a licking and kept on ticking." Farms police received a call Wednesday evening, Dec. 16, that a car was down in the lake in the 400 block of Lakeshore Road. Farms police and fire units responded, as did diver Leon Sehoyan who did the heavy work in the icy lake. A Detroit Police helicopter assisted, searching the darkened waters for possible bodies. However, everything turned out for the best, with no one injured in the incident. When pulled from the lake after two hours of total submersion, the 1980 Oldmobile's lights were still on, the radio was blaring and the door buzzers sounded loud and clear when opened. Police investigation showed the car to be stolen, and witnesses reported seeing another car push the stolen vehicle into the lake before speeding off.

NH kids give $1,400 to GP Foundation

Christmas is a time when we try to do something for the less-fortunate who may go unnoticed the remainder of the year. For the past five years, a group of young people from North High School have channeled their Christmas spirit to raise funds on behalf of a local charitable institution that for many years has helped to teach and guide young mentally and physically handicapped children in the community.

The North High School chapters of DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) and BOEC (Business Office Education Clubs) have been raising funds for the Foundation for Exceptional Children each Christmas since 1977. Through the sale of citrus fruit each holiday season, the groups have been able to donate more than $6,000 to the Foundation since undertaking the annual project.

This year, the Foundation accepted a check in the amount of $1,400 from DECA and BOEC which was presented to Dorothy Martins, director of the Foundation, during a special Christmas party held at North High on Dec. 15.

This year, in addition to making a donation, the members of DECA and BOEC hosted a Christmas party for the young people of the Foundation. Refreshments and gifts for each of the 20 students were provided by a jolly, overweight visitor from the North Pole and his holiday helpers.

After having their pictures taken with Santa, the children did their Christmas shopping at Rainbow Bridge, the student-operated school store at North High. Members of DECA and BOEC then assisted the small shoppers in wrapping their newly purchased gifts in just the right way. In all, more than 60 DECA and BOEC members participated in the event to make it a most successful and rewarding activity.

Faculty advisors for the student groups are Thomas Boos (DECA) and Paul Pierron (BOEC).

Improve your bridge skills

There's a "new look" in the program of bridge classes being offered this winter by the public schools' Department of Continuing Education.

This term, in addition to the usual roster of 10-week classes at three levels (beginning, intermediate, advanced) and the popular players' class (Play Rubber Bridge), which begin the week of Jan. 11, a series of six new bridge clinics will be offered.

Each of these single-session classes will cover a specific topic: Defensive Bids, Pre-Emptive Bids, Slam Bidding, Penalty Double, Play-of-the-Hand and Popular Conventions.

The bridge clinics are not for beginners, but are taught on the intermediate level for the average player. Regular Bridge classes beginning Monday, Jan. 11, are planned as follows: Beginners — Monday at 1 p.m., Tuesday at 7:45 p.m.; Intermediate — Tuesday at 1 p.m. Wednesday at 7:45 p.m.; Advanced — Thursday at 7:45 p.m.; Rubber — Monday at 7:45 p.m., Wednesday at 1 p.m.

All Bridge classes will be held in room B-4 of Parcels Middle School, Mack Avenue at Vernier. Pauline Bontekoe will be the Bridge instructor.

Full details, including dates of the bridge clinics, are listed in the winter flyer of the Department of Continuing Education. Call the department at 343-2178 for more information.

Thief mugs yule shopper

A Christmas shopper was mugged outside of Jacobson's last week when a man approached and shoved a woman to the ground, taking her purse, according to Grosse Pointe City police reports.

The Grosse Pointe Shores woman told police she was walking between the Jacobson's store and the Village parking structure Dec. 15 about 5:20 p.m. when a young man pushed her to the ground and took her purse and packages. The suspect fled south on Notre Dame, police said.

Reports also indicate a second man then approached the woman and asked her what had happened. The man reportedly said "I'll catch him" and ran off in the same direction as the alleged purse snatcher.

Police are investigating the incident and said the suspects were described as black and thin-built.

Once there were 100-foot-long sharks with mouths as big as double doors. Scientists designate them as Claoselache. Terrible creatures, they existed 350 million years ago during the Age of the Fish.

Guardian Angels need not apply

Eighteen-year-old Eric Jackson of Detroit is in Wayne County Jail this week with a broken arm after his arrest in the Park for attempted breaking and entering an occupied dwelling.

Park police arrested Jackson on Dec. 15, after they received a call from a Buckingham Road home about a B&E in progress. Two men who live in the home said they heard glass breaking in their basement at about 6:40 p.m. and gave chase to the suspect. His arm was broken during their apprehension of him, Police Chief Henry Counce said.

Jackson, of Manistique, was arraigned in front of Municipal Judge Beverly Grobbel on Dec. 16. Bond was set at $10,000.

At the time of his arrest Jackson was out on $1,000 bond set by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Myron Wahls after Jackson pled guilty to another breaking and entering in the Park, for which he was arrested Oct. 22, according to Counce. That burglary occurred on Beaconsfield Road.

McCarty's art class begins Jan. 4

Pilot-artist Lorraine Chambers McCarty will open the winter term of classes at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center with a five-day workshop in "Techniques for the Painter" on Monday, Jan. 4.

The workshops will meet from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, Jan. 4 to 8. Advance registration is requested. Students may register for Monday only at a fee of $25 or for the series of five workshops at $125.

Students should bring three of their own drawings or paintings and lunch. They will be working in many media. As a teacher, Ms. McCarty's analytic ability enables her to tailor instructions to fit the abilities of the class and the individuals. The course is open to students with varying levels of ability. Different techniques of painting will be explored and critiqued each week. The course is tailored to suit individuals and encourage them to develop a personal style.

Ms. McCarty has gained national recognition as an artist. Her paintings hang in 12 American art museums from Michigan to Texas and she has been asked to display her works at the Smithsonian National Air and Space Museum in Washington, D.C. She was recently chosen to be an official artist for the Air Force Academy and is listed in "Who's Who of American Art."

Ballenger hails ELF decision

U.S. Senate candidate William S. Ballenger (R-Lansing) applauded Congressional approval of the Navy's scaled-down Project ELF submarine communications system to be located in Michigan's Upper Peninsula in a speech in Grosse Pointe last week.

Speaking to the 14th Congressional District Republican Executive Committee at the War Memorial, Ballenger said possible environmental effects from earlier and larger proposed projects such as Sanguine and Seafarer had been mitigated, and that ELF would be no more of an enemy target than nearby Sawyer Air Force Base.

"Let's face it," Ballenger said, "right now the number one issue in this state — and particularly the Upper Peninsula — is jobs."

"ELF will create 145 permanent civilian jobs in the central U.P. and more than 200 during its six-month construction and six-month test periods. The long-range impact on the area's economy, both in wages and commerce, should be at least $24 million a year," according to the candidate.

Ballenger said those who have been complaining about Michigan's poor return for its federal dollars (one survey ranks the state last among the 50) should realize that with increased federal defense spending come a certain number of questions and potential risks that Michigan, in its economic doldrums, should be willing to accommodate.

"It is self-defeating for Michigan to demand more federal spending within its borders, then insist on not only looking the federal gift horse in the mouth but kicking it in the teeth," said Ballenger.

"The way some of our holier-than-thou candidates and office-holders are talking, it's pretty obvious that the only increased federal expenditures we're liable to get here soon are welfare outlays."

Jeff, Kurt become Eagle Scouts

The evening of Dec. 14 was a proud one for local scouts and parents, as Troop 96 held its fall Court of Honor.

The highlight of the ceremony, held at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, was the awarding of Eagle Scout rank to Jeff Steele and Kurt Allen. Eagle rank is attained by less than one percent of all scouts nationwide and is Scouting's highest honor. Jeff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Steele of Lincoln Road, and Kurt's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Allen, also of Lincoln.

Troop leaders also presented 108 merit badges to 30 scouts, and progress awards to 34 others.

Receiving Scout rank were Robert Diefenderfer, Jonathon Hill, Gerry Bocci, Charles Schultz, Jay Simpson, Kirk Phillips and Brad Van Tiem.

Tenderfoot awards went to Tom Hoag, Steve Strup, Bruce MacLean, Mike Rasmussen, David Evans, John Hoey, James Antonson, Joe Reynolds, Richard Stephans and Jonathan Harle.

First Class was presented to Ronald Penszic, Peter Lewis, Tom Goodrich and J. J. Hile.

Jim Reynolds, Mike Steele, Curt West and Kirk Sanders were awarded Star rank, while Phil Antonson, Jim Barlow, Dover Bell, Brian Brooks, Mark Gall, Jim Hellmich and Charles Stephans became Life Scouts.

Andy Clay and Vince Van Tiem, who are already Eagle Scouts, received a Bronze and a Silver Palm awards respectively.

Con canned by Woods police

Astute observation and quick action by a Woods police sergeant on patrol last Thursday morning, Dec. 17 foiled an attempted "pigeon drop" that would have victimized an 88-year-old woman.

"Sgt. Jim Davidson was certainly paying attention," Acting Public Safety Director Jack Patterson said. "He could have very easily driven by and not stopped."

Davidson, an 18-year veteran of the department, was patrolling the area of Mack and Oxford at about 11 a.m. when he noticed a young woman on the corner, holding a black imitation leather bag, talking to an elderly woman and showing her the contents of the bag.

"When he saw it, it just sort of clicked" that this may be an attempt to bilk the woman, Patterson said.

Davidson stopped and approached the two, and noticed the bag had a parcel post label scotch-taped to the side which read, "Please Deliver to Quick Silver Delivery Service." He said the bag was snow-covered, as if it had been dropped.

The elderly woman told Davidson the other woman, who was first identified as Toni Norment from Troy, Mich., said she just found the bag which contained valuables, and they should call someone about it.

Davidson then asked Ms. Norment to hand him the bag. Looking inside, he discovered a box of what he called phony diamonds, three empty, large tan envelopes, one of which read "Bonds," and a card, which read, "Dear Bro: Change in plans. Invested $66,000 in flawless gems. Don't worry. Not hot. Just good connections. As usual, bulk of money in bonds. Deposit in Swiss bank account. Long live Iran!!!"

When asked for identification, Ms. Norment produced what Davidson called a non-validated Texas driver's license with the name Debra Ann Laskey with a Dallas address.

When asked where she was living, she said on Eight Mile, but couldn't say where.

Davidson said he asked her what she was doing in the area, and she answered she was "just looking around." He then asked what car she was driving, and she pointed to a white Ford Fairmont parked in a meter area near the alley. A computer check of the license number, however, showed it had been issued to a 1981 AMC.

Ms. Laskey, alias Ms. Norment, told Davidson she had rented the car from a woman for $200.

She was arrested for attempted larceny, and was taken to the Woods station, where a custodial search turned up a two milligram tablet of Dilaudid, a pain killer.

Under questioning, Ms. Laskey gave police a third name, Tamara May of Houston, Tex. She posted $2,000 bond and was released.

Police are still holding the car, which they suspect is stolen.

School board accepts gifts

The Board of Education accepted a $3,470 gift from The Grosse Pointe North Athletic Booster's Club at its Dec. 14 meeting.

The money will be used for the North High School athletic program to provide additional equipment and materials for basketball, wrestling, swimming, track, tennis, cross country and the cheerleading squad.

The school board also accepted $800 worth of telescopic equipment from former North High School student, Anthony Landauer.

The board must approve gifts in excess of $500.

Calculate a personal cost of living index

Are you better off financially this year than you were last year? Do you really know?

There are methods to determine where you stand financially and ways to help you get a firmer control over your finances.

One of these is to keep a step ahead of the Consumer Price Index (CPI), which means holding your living costs below national averages.

CPI figures are based on a survey of urban consumers which represents about 80 percent of the population. Unfortunately, the CPI does not include income taxes, which to many families is the largest and fastest rising expense.

Compare your expenditure for each index category for the same month this year and last. Then compare with the national figures. For example, if you spent $600 a month for housing in February 1980 and $660 this February, then your housing index increased 10 percent.

Next, total your expenses for the index categories. Be sure housing includes rent or mortgage payment and interest, plus taxes and maintenance. Food costs include beverages and eating out as well as your groceries. Transportation includes your car expenses as well as public transportation. Don't forget to include insurance payments in the medical care category. Apparel, entertainment and "other" are the remaining categories. Other includes education, tobacco and toiletries.

The CPI for February 1981 was 11.3 percent higher than it was a year ago. The index stood at 263.2, meaning it cost $2.63 to buy something which cost $1 in 1980.

The prices of individual items included in the CPI are moving up at many different rates and the collection of goods and services that make up the index are of varying importance in the budgets of the 60 million U.S. households. For instance, if you are a two-car family and both you and your spouse drive to work, your transportation index will be considerably higher than a family with one worker who spends $1.40 a day for the bus.

However, if the increase in your own transportation budget is higher than the national increase of 13 percent, you should take a careful look at those expenses. Perhaps you can bring them under control by either getting rid of one car, or dropping the collision insurance on the older car.

When comparing your cost-of-living increases against the national averages, remember you might not fit the government's CPI model one-income family with two children. With more than half the American families having two paychecks, and fewer children being born, this model is out of date. Also, housing statistics reflect the high mortgage interest rates. However, with fewer people buying homes, the Department of Labor Statistics may give more weight to rents.

The overall cost of living increase this year is around 10 percent. If your income has not matched that figure, you will have to find ways to cut your cost of living index.

Schools sponsor writing contest

For the second year in a row, the Grosse Pointe Public School System is sponsoring the Scholastic Writing Competition. The Detroit News dropped sponsorship in 1979.

Students should submit creative material to an English teacher by Jan. 14. Students can get rule books at the English Resource Center or from English teachers.

There are three separate divisions of entry this year: Grades 7-8, grades 9-10 and grades 11-12. On the national level, the divisions are: Senior Division (grades 10-12), Junior-Senior (grades 7-12) and Junior (grades 7-9). For each of the three divisions on the local level there are 19 categories in which students may choose to participate.

All entries which reach the school board office will be evaluated by local judges and the best will be given a mark of excellence, commendation or honorable mention. Qualifying material will be forwarded to the National Scholastic Awards in New York. The finalists will be announced Feb. 8.

Where you keep your household guns, if any, should remain your secret. But police say the first place the gunburglars look for such booty is in the closet of the master bedroom.

Jacobson's, Kroger hit by robbers

Using a wooden ladder positioned at a second story window, thieves broke into Jacobson's early Monday, Dec. 21, and took about $12,000 in fur coats, according to Grosse Pointe City police.

The thieves crawled through a broken window, knocking down Christmas decorations, and grabbed six coats from a fur showcase, according to Sgt. John Drummond.

The thieves were probably in the Kercheval Avenue store no more than a few minutes, Drummond said.

A scout car on routine patrol discovered the ladder and fur hangers on the ground about 4 a.m., Drummond said. A Detroit police tracking dog was called in to check out the store for suspects, but found no one.

City police also reported an $8,000 robbery across the street from Jacobson's at the Village Kroger store early Sunday, Dec. 20. Police said store employees arriving for work discovered two holes in the roof and the safe cracked open. Police said the thieves apparently made their way into the store by lowering a knotted nylon rope through one of the holes.

Sgt. Drummond said similar robberies have been committed in St. Clair Shores, St. Clair and New Baltimore Kroger stores. St. Clair police recently arrested two 17-year-old men in connection with that city's Kroger burglary.

Sgt. Drummond said there was at least one two-man car on patrol when the Jacobson and Kroger robberies occurred.

Patients and staff members at Cottage Hospital received a real treat earlier this month when the "Kris Kringle Carollers" performed at the hospital. Decked out in 19th century attire, the Harper Woods group entertained on all levels of the facility. Members of the group include Theresa and Peter Bayer, Stephen Nesbitt, Don Krueger, Joni Greschak, Becky and Joe Hagan, Carol Riegel, Gael Traynor, Mark and Debbie Nesbitt, Mike O'Heara, Karen Wilson and Vince Kracht.

Celebrating the holidays in the Latin tradition

While a cookie on a mini-hibachi might not closely resemble the scent of a burning sacrifice, it helped University Liggett School students and teachers show creativity in their celebration of the Saturnalia Dec. 3.

Following an explanation of the traditional Roman Winter feast, the "ponifex maximus" offered a Latin prayer adapted from Dido's prayer in Book II of the "Aeneid." The "arbitrator bibendi," or master of the wine, then poured a libation of grape juice to the gods signalling the beginning of the feast.

Saturnalia entertainment was provided by eight Upper School students who performed a Latin dramatization of two banquet scenes from the second year textbook. Revellers were reminded of the brevity of life by the presence of a full-sized skeleton, which inspired the singing of "Gaudemus Igitur."

All participants in the convivium were clad in togas or stolas. Prizes for the most authentic costumes went to what judge Eric Linder, ULS English instructor described as "the pure white of a republican Cornelia" "the decadent rose of the empire." The convivium concluded with speech by "Dido of Carthage" explaining the relationship between Saturnalian and Christmas customs, which led to the singing of "Adeste Fideles" and other Christmas carols in Latin.

This is the second year that ULS students have held a ceremony for the Saturnalia. In the words of Latin teacher Helen Fildew, "the celebration serves to bridge the centuries between Roman and contemporary culture. It also is an excellent opportunity for University Liggett Middle Schoolers to be a part of the Upper School Latin program and have a glimpse of what studying that classic language can be in the years ahead."

Liggett math students compete

For the second year, University Liggett Middle School math students are participating in a series of five meets sponsored by the Continental Math League.

Each meet consists of six problems to be solved within a 20 minute time period. The top six scores from each grade make up the team scores for the school. At the end of the contest, awards will be given to leading individuals and teams on a regional and national basis.

Leading scorers on the first meet held on Nov. 19 were sixth graders Mike Rubin, Jenny Nyström, George Pantos, Alexandra Selim, Kavita Sood and Tom Vallone; seventh graders Chris Butler, Peter Hardy, David Chilingirian, Ben Hein, John Andary and David Barlow; and eighth graders John Birgbauer, Oscar Alcantara, Brian David, Kathy Davies, Bryant Kong, Carolyn Seydel and Susan Thomas.

Swedish Yule mass at Immanuel Church

The 62nd Candle-Light Service will be held Christmas Day, Dec. 25, at 7 a.m. at Immanuel Lutheran Church located at Chandler Park Drive and Dickerson in Detroit.

Dr. Constantine Trued will officiate and bring the Christmas message in English during the Christmas worship service. Christmas singing, and music will be performed in Swedish by the Swedish Arpi Male Chorus.

A coffee hour will follow the service.

Adopt-A-Family program succeeds for seventh year

More than 65 families in Detroit and Grosse Pointe will receive Christmas presents from students and staff of Grosse Pointe North High School. The annual project, called Adopt-A-Family, involves homerooms and other school groups in providing food, clothing, gifts and even an occasional Christmas tree to make some families' holidays more joyful.

Under the direction of the Student Association and its faculty advisor

Donald Dungan, the groups contribute money and presents. Students take a personal interest in seeing that the presents are fitting and complete.

North's Student Association has sponsored the project for seven years.

North students are CPR trained

All sophomores enrolled in physical education at Grosse Pointe North High School have received training in CPR, cardiac-pulmonary resuscitation. The program is sponsored by the Health Education Council of Grosse Pointe, with the actual training done by representatives of the American Red Cross.

Students receive preliminary instruction through the use of texts, workbooks and a film. They then work in small groups to study specific rescue skills, using a life-size dummy. At the completion of the weeklong instructional program, they take both a written and a skills test, checking such techniques as aiding a person who is experiencing difficulties in breathing or who is choking. If they successfully complete the program, they receive a card attesting to this fact.

"I think that CPR is something every student should be familiar with," says Tom Teetaert, Physical Education Department Head.

Senior earns a $500 honor

Nine South High School seniors recently competed for a $500 journalism scholarship award.

First place was captured by Sam Fuqua, second place was awarded to Michelle Spivak and third place went to Lisa Kressbach.

The contest was sponsored by The Newspaper Fund, an organization supported by The Dow Jones Company to encourage careers in journalism.

The contest included two writing assignments and a headline writing assignment.

The contest was organized by Neal Shine, managing editor of the Detroit Free Press, and it was judged by Larry Sullivan, assistant to the managing editor of the Detroit News, Stan Soffin, assistant professor of journalism at Michigan State and Judy Diebolt, a reporter for the Free Press.

The contest was open only to South students.

Visitors can stroll through rooms in the manor-style house as they enjoy objects d'art, their historical significance and little-known anecdotes about the Booth family, described by docents.

Available luncheon menus, selected prior to tour, vary from the simple, basket type variety to gourmet, accompanied by an elaborate punch. Prices range from $5.50 to $11, including tour. Arrangements can be made by calling 645-3149.

Tours only, for groups of 10 or more, also are available by calling 645-3149. Admission is $1.50 for adults, $1 for students (over 14) and senior citizens. Proceeds are used for the upkeep of Cranbrook House, which is located at 380 Lone Pine Road.

Florida exodus predicted by Club

Walt Disney World's "Tencennial Celebration" heads a list of Florida attractions expected to lure some 500,000 Michiganders to the sunshine state between Christmas and Easter, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Last year Michigan ranked sixth behind Georgia, Ohio, Alabama, Louisiana and New York as a point of origin for motorists entering Florida as more than one million Michiganders sought out the sunshine and sandy beaches.

"Daily 10th birthday celebrations at Disney World in Orlando will lure a major portion of the travelers, but Florida has an array of new attractions which also will keep the tourists coming this winter," said James Drury, Auto Club's Travel Operations manager.

Men's group offers help

The Men's Resource Center of Metropolitan Detroit is offering, without charge, a daily drop-in support group to help men who are single, widowed or divorced during the Christmas season, open from 6 to 8 p.m., now until Jan. 4.

Special groups will be held at the center, located at 24385 Woodward at Ten Mile Road in Pleasant Ridge, Dec. 24, 25, 31, and New Year's Day if warranted by interest.

The holiday season can be the most emotionally difficult time of the year for the single, widowed and divorced man, according to George Hendey, center director. Frequently, for the man without family support, it becomes a very depressing time.

Craft classes at the Club

The Neighborhood Club, 17150 Waterloo in the City, is offering arts and crafts classes which include macrame, knitting, crochet and sewing.

Macrame classes meet the first and third Thursday of the month from noon until 1:30 p.m. Knitting classes meet on the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month, 10 a.m. to noon. Crochet and sewing classes meet on the second and fourth Thursdays, 1:30 p.m. to 3.

For more information, call the Neighborhood Club at 885-4600.

The $300-million Orlando International Airport, billed as "the airport of the 21st century," opened in September.

Titusville's LaCita Golf and Country Club is working on its new Lee Trevino-designed course. Lion Country Safari near West Palm Beach has a new $2.5 million campground, and there is a new computer-programmed wave tank at Planet Ocean, an ocean science museum at the entrance to Key Biscayne.

Completion of 26 new bridges has made island hopping in the Florida Keys easier than ever. The Jacksonville Zoo has introduced a new section called the African Veldt Adventure, and Marineland has opened its nautical-theme children's recreation park called Play Port.

Art lovers are expected to flock to the new Salvador Dali Institute in St. Petersburg when it opens in March with the A. Reynolds Morse collection of oils, watercolors, drawings and original graphics by Dali.

Motorists starting out from East Michigan will find Route A on Auto Club's map is the fastest and most direct to Florida, covering 1,401 miles of I-75 — all four-lane highway with only about 50 miles of semi-mountainous driving in Kentucky and Tennessee.

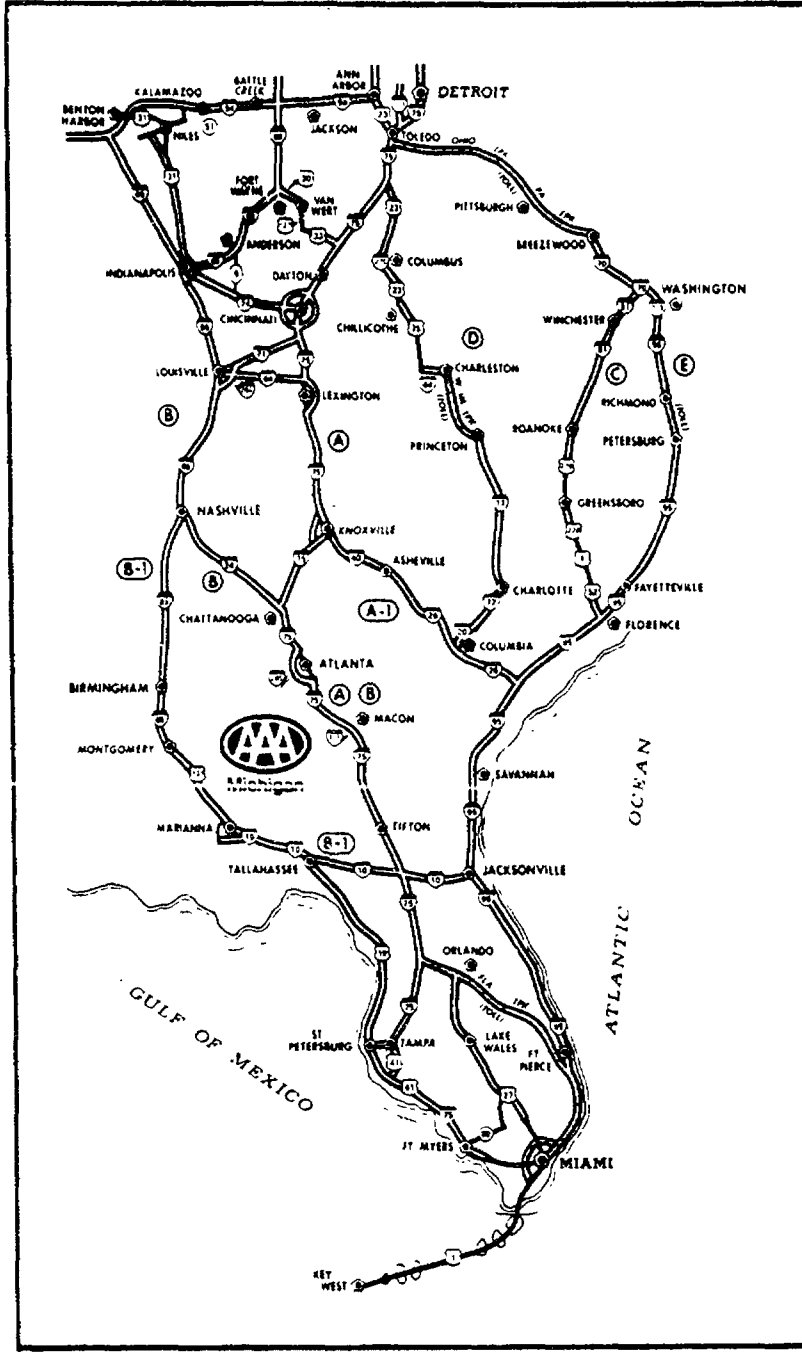

For sightseeing in the Smoky Mountains, travelers can take Route A-1, which leaves I-75 at Knoxville and hooks up with I-95 for the approach to Florida.

Route B generally offers the best winter road conditions and is the most direct route for travelers from West Michigan. A meandering trip through scenic and historic sights await motorists who choose Route C. Mountain scenery is the attraction on Route D, which should be avoided during cold-weather months. Route E will combine a trip to Washington, D.C., with a Florida vacation.

Tolls are slightly higher than last year, with Route E being the most expensive at $10.50 and Route A-1 the least expensive at $3.55.

Auto Club travel counselors advise motorists to allow two and a half days to reach the Florida state line and three and a half days to reach Miami.

Any man who thinks his lack of noteworthy height has to keep him out of competitive athletics might consider the fact that most of the players on the Professional Golf Association tour are under 6 feet tall.

Our credo: That food be fresh, crisp, subtle, wholesome—and especially delight the eye and palate. That it properly nourish the body, which after all is the main reason to eat. And that eating must also be fun. To eat with the mouth and pay through the nose is not fun.

Here's what the Free Press' Anonymous Gourmet had to say about us: "...has both personality and a sense of purpose...garlic-herb butter nigh unto perfect...wonderful service."

It's Christmas time at Liggett

The spirit of Christmas was alive at University Liggett Middle School as students, staff and families celebrated the season with a variety of yuletide activities and projects.

Festivities began with a performance of Handel's "Messiah" by the University Liggett Choral Society under the direction of Frederic DeHaven Dec. 8. The annual Christmas concert was held Dec. 15, and featured the combined performances of the bands, orchestra, seventh and eighth grade choir and vocal ensemble. A special feature of the concert again this year was the Hand Bell Choir under the direction of Mary Ann Williams and Edith Hornung. The instrumental music director at ULS Middle School is Barbara Ogar.

Student Council members, under the guidance of Larry Griffin, shared their good fortune with other children in the metropolitan area. Through the cooperative efforts of Operation LINC, students performed odd jobs for friends and neighbors and used the money they received to purchase toys so that needy boys and girls would not be forgotten on Christmas morning.

Christmas at the Middle School also included a variety of parties for both students and staff. Each homeroom at the school holds its own party where foods and customs of Christmas in other lands are shared.

Christmas each day at Cranbrook

Every day can be like Christmas for those who receive year-long memberships to Cranbrook Institute of Science.

Prospective members to the Detroit area's natural history museum now can benefit in more than 15 ways, including unlimited free admission, several guest passes and subscriptions to a quarterly magazine "The Explorer," plus free admission to 28 museums which are part of the national "Explorer" family.

The membership investment also means monthly activities designed for those who enjoy outdoor fun in nature's midst, such as cross country skiing, skating, picnicking, an astronomy star party and bird, wildflower and nature walks.

Other benefits shared are planetarium and observatory demonstration privileges. Honey Harvest and Maple Syrup Festival programs and twice monthly Saturday films in the auditorium. Also available are special ticket prices to lectures by outstanding experts in the physical, biological and social sciences. (Past lecturers have been Rachel Carson, Margaret Mead, Roger Tory Peterson, Mary Leakey and Jane Goodall.)

In addition, members are permitted unlimited use of the science library with checkout privileges, a monthly newsletter that lists current activities and discounts on classes.

A preppy dragon?

It may be hard to spot him at first, among his fellow fifth and sixth graders at Poupard school, but peering above his original design of a dragon is Ricky Regalado. The school recently sponsored a contest for fifth and sixth graders to come up with a new design for the school's newsletter. Ricky's idea was the winning entry.

Health expert will visit ULS

"Step right up And shout it loud My body's great And I am proud!"
— Slim Goodbody

That message will be the central theme of University Liggett Lower School's first "Wellness Week" scheduled for Feb. 1 through 5. Leading the cast of health education experts is Slim Goodbody who, with his colleagues, will talk to youngsters about being the best possible person they can, both physically and mentally. Dressed in his familiar leotard illustrating body organs, Slim will discuss the functions of these parts as well as other basic health concepts.

During Wellness Week, Wayne County Intermediate School District nutritionists will teach children about and help them prepare healthy foods. For a concluding project, Lower Schoolers will help plan lunch menus for the next week.

As part of scheduled gym classes, ULS children will participate in the Kalo exercise program taught by Assumption Greek Orthodox Center staff, who will lead the youngsters through a series of cardiovascular exercises. In addition, parents, faculty and friends of the school are invited to join an hour-long Feb. 2 Kalo class at 12 p.m. in the Ford gym on the Cook Road campus. (Please bring a pair of gym shoes or running shoes.)

Marion Shanle, coordinator of Wellness Week events, has arranged for a variety of other speakers who, she hopes, "will excite the youngest students as well as reach the more sophisticated fifth grader."

Dr. David Bryk will discuss good dental care while child safety expert Michael Runk from Children's Hospital will stress car safety to each class. Volunteers from the Family Life Education Council (FLEC) are scheduled to meet with fifth graders for six weekly sessions to discuss alcohol and drug abuse.

Rounding out the events will be a program on the importance of leisure time to good health presented by Maury Graham, "King of the Hoboes." A children's art show assembled by Jo Snyder, artist-in-residence at the Woodland Medical Center Pediatrics Department, will complete Wellness Week activities.

Liggett students 'invest' $100,000

What does a student do when suddenly given $100,000? For an assignment, University Liggett School History Department Head Mary Remillet asked her economics students to invest the fictitious amount in a portfolio over the semester. The aim of the project was to learn the operations of the securities and investment markets.

At the start of the year, students set goals for their portfolios with buying and selling expected to be consistent with these aims. Some Upper Schoolers bought on margin and others dealt in options trading, but most preferred to park their money in the less-risky money market funds. Even though the initial $100,000 investment was only on paper, the majority of students "couldn't bear the thought of parting with even a dime," Mrs. Remillet said.

To help the class understand economics more clearly, Mrs. Remillet has invited several financial experts to address the group, including Wayne Shapero from the First of Michigan Corporation, who spoke about options trading.

Assembling an investment portfolio is just one aspect of the introductory course in economic theory. The project, however, does provide a vehicle for students to test their hunches. "In past years," recalled Mrs. Remillet, "someone has always made a killing, but I don't think it will happen this year due to the state of the current market."

Early bird breakfast at South

By Kevin Roberts

South High School's cafeteria, for 54 years, has been a source of lunches for students who choose not to go home or brown bag it. As of Dec. 1, however, the cafeteria underwent a major expansion, opening in the mornings for the first time to serve breakfast.

An "early bird mini breakfast" program has been started and is still going strong. Attendance has been better than expected, according to school administrators.

"We thought we'd give students the opportunity to have before-school time to talk and relax," said Bernard LeMieux, assistant principal. "We initiated this program to get the students out of the hall before school and into the cafeteria."

Students also favor the program. Said sophomore Matt Sabella, "It's very convenient to eat a light breakfast on the run when you're still hungry." Mike McFarlane, also a sophomore, added, "It's an opportu-

It's illegal in Maine to set a mule on fire. No woman in Utah under the law can wear heels higher than an inch and a half. Professional mind readers can't serve on jury duty in Memphis, Tenn.

ity to bring students together before school to have a warm morning snack to start off the school day."

The mini-breakfast is from 7:30 to 8:10 in the morning, and students who wish to attend can buy cereal with milk, doughnuts, coffee, hot chocolate and rolls.

"The cafeteria funds this program. The food is from the cafeteria supplies," LeMieux said.

Although students seem to enjoy the program, LeMieux said, "We don't initially expect a lot of students to come, but we're hoping that students will take advantage of this opportunity. We had 30 or 40 students the first morning."

SEMTA plans for nasty weather

The Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) is ready to meet winter weather conditions head on.

In recent years, snowstorms and blizzards have brought transportation to a virtual standstill in the Detroit metropolitan area. This year, SEMTA has devised an emergency plan to cope with Michigan winter storms.

"The SEMTA Snow Emergency Plan is designed to schedule buses and trains in a way that will help commuters reach their destinations safely and expeditiously in an emergency," said SEMTA Acting General Manager Gary W. Krause.

Through daily reports from an advance weather reporting and forecasting service, SEMTA says it is in the position to anticipate severe weather problems 24 to 48 hours in advance.

In the event of a daytime snowfall, which would affect the afternoon rush hour, passengers who work in the Detroit central business district will be directed to specific pick-up points, keyed to geographical areas, for out-bound bus service.

SEMTA buses will serve all the usual downtown boarding points, including the following that have been designated as Emergency Boarding Points, serving eastside and northeast communities:

- Woodward at Grand Circus Park
- Woodward at Michigan
- Woodward at Fort
- Jefferson at Beaubien
- Cass at State
- Fort and Shelby
- Cadillac Square and Bates

Each pick-up point will be staffed by a SEMTA person dressed in an orange poncho who will be responsible for directing waiting passengers to correct buses. This person, equipped with a radio, will have access to SEMTA offices for minute-by-minute coordination of services. Riders waiting for out-bound buses at pick-up points without a SEMTA shelter will be safe and comfortable inside standing buses which will be used as temporary shelters.

In an afternoon rush-hour emergency, SEMTA will make every effort to maintain regular out-bound routes, according to a press release from the authority. Some schedules, however, may be altered and some routes may be combined to best serve the riding public.

In the event of an overnight snowfall, which would affect morning rush hour schedules, SEMTA says it will operate bus service on major routes only. Commuters can learn which major routes are in service by listening to radio and television weather emergency bulletins or by calling the SEMTA Customer Information Center, 962-5515 or 1-(800) 462-5161.

The emergency schedule SEMTA buses serving the Pointes will be—510 Van Dyke, Lakeside Mall to Detroit; 560 Gratiot, Mt. Clemens to Detroit; 610 Kercheval, via Little Mack (there will be no service on Jefferson by this route). The 630 Jefferson, Mt. Clemens to Detroit, bus is also on the emergency schedule.

The SEMTA Emergency Plan will go into effect when a storm or blizzard reaches such serious proportions that a state of emergency is declared by local or state governments. It is also possible that as snow and traffic conditions dictate, SEMTA itself may declare an emergency traffic condition and put the storm emergency schedules into effect.

Chair seat weaving class at Center

Mary Herbert, an instructor formerly on the staff at the Henry Ford Museum, will again offer a course at the War Memorial in chair seat weaving. Using cane, splint, paper rush or the ever popular wicker, students learn to bring new life to old chairs.

The class meets on Tuesdays, Jan. 19 to Feb. 23, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the lower art studio of the center. Students should bring the chair to class having first properly prepared the frame. Students should also bring to class a pail for water, rags or an old towel, measuring tape, utility knife or pen knife, pencil and paper, one sided razor blades and a few band aids.

Mrs. Herbert will supply some of the material or will advise students where to purchase same. Course fee is $37 for six lessons.

New National Smoker Study:

Toughest Smoker Tests Ever!

Landmark smoker study provides new evidence supporting MERIT as proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking.

Just released—results of rigorous new smoker research conducted by MERIT.

The conclusion: In extensive tests comparing taste and tar combined, MERIT is the clear choice over leading higher tar brands.

MERIT Remains Unbeaten.

In impartial new tests where brand identity was concealed, the overwhelming majority of smokers reported MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading higher tar brands.

Moreover, when tar levels were revealed, 2 out of 3

chose the MERIT combination of low tar and good taste.

MERIT Taste Sparks Switch.

In the second part of this extensive new study, former higher tar smokers report MERIT is an easy switch, that they didn't give up taste in switching, and that MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried.

Year after year, in study after study, MERIT remains unbeaten. The proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking—is MERIT.

Bruins win regionals

The Grosse Pointe Bruins crushed Lansing, 7-1, last week to win the Bantam AA Michigan regional Silver Stick hockey championship and accomplish a pre-season goal. With that win, the Bruins became only the second Grosse Pointe team to qualify for the North American Silver Stick finals. They will travel to Port Huron in late January to play for the top honors.

Using their superior skating skills, Grosse Pointe took a 2-1 first period lead before putting Lansing away with two second period and three third period tallies. The Bruins displayed the scoring balance advocated by coach Tom Costello as each goal was scored by a different player.

Marty Sanclemente and Tom Davis scored to offset a Lansing power play effort and give the Bruins the first period lead. Goals by Rankin Barker and captain Stacey Rickert opened a 4-1 second period lead, before markers by John Hirschfield, Keith Barich and John Russell made it a 7-1 final.

Defenseman Tom Madden earned three assists and Robby Wood and Rickert picked up two each. Goalie Dino Masella provided the goaltending to support the offensive fireworks.

Coach Costello and assistant coach Jim Bednarski led the Bruins to a 24-23 record so far this season, including a current 18-game winning streak. Defensively, the Bruins have allowed just 37 goals in 29 games for an average of 1.28 goals per game. On offense, the Bruins average four goals per game and have scored a total of 118 goals.

Members of the Silver Stick regional champion Bruins include defensemen Jeff Garrett, Eric Grant, Chris Luongo and Madden. The forwards are Barich, Barker, Mike Brykalski, Davis, Hirschfield, Rickert, Russell, Sanclemente and Wood. Masella and Peter Muer handle the goaltending duties for the Bruins.

ULS girls end year at 11-3

By Kim Homan

The University Liggett School girls' varsity basketball team finished its season with an impressive record of 11-3. The team ended the season with three games in the league tournament. Playing Greenhills at home, the Knights lost, 42-33 with Kathy Duff scoring 14 points.

The team did defeat Maumee, 32-15, in a home game. Freshman Samantha De Smet was the high scorer with 10 points.

The Knights then went to the Academy of Sacred Heart for the league tournament. Losing to Greenhills, the girls came back and beat Academy of Sacred Heart, but a one point loss to Kingswood gave them a third place in the tournament.

In the last game of the season against Kingswood at home the varsity team played its best game of the season. The first half ended with the Knights ahead by 14 points. They continued strongly, winning 49-22 with Andrea Kincannon scoring 18 points.

The win against Kingswood put ULS in a three way tie for first place in the league along with Greenhills and Kingswood. The high scorer for the 1981 team was co-captain Kathy Duff with 97 points followed closely by Andrea Kincannon with 91 points for the season.

By Jeff Peters

ULS basketball: The University Liggett School Knights varsity basketball team hosted the Yellowjackets of Detroit Country Day School on Dec. 8, and dropped a 71-37 decision.

The game started out fairly even, but from that point on, it was all Country Day. Michael "Snatch" Paolucci was high for the Knights with nine points, followed by J. T. Parks and Larry VanKirk with six each.

"It was just your classic example of a superior basketball team playing a solid game. I was pleased with our game, but they (Country Day) are just a little out of our league," ULS coach Antone Gallaher said.

In Michigan Independent Athletic Conference play, the Knights traveled to Oakland Christian School and handed the Lancers a 44-39 loss. The game was not well played as the Knights managed only 17 points by the end of the first half. It was enough for a slim lead though, as the Lancers came up with only 14.

The third period belonged to Oakland Christian however, as it reeled off eight unanswered points to enter the fourth quarter with a 30-25 advantage. It looked dim for the Knights, in this their first league game as the Lancers increased the lead to seven with only four minutes remaining.

Desperate for a change in momentum, Gallaher called for a full court press, and the startled Lancers coughed up six quick points. With the Knights down by one, Paolucci hit both ends of a one-and-one and put the ULS netters in the lead to stay. Paolucci led the team with 13 points, followed by Parks with nine. Defensively, the two reversed roles, Parks leading the team with nine rebounds, Paolucci pulling down seven.

Madeline Willard, Paula Reichert, Laura Hackman, Liz Wachter, Tracy Echlin, Nancy Wright and coach Stephanie Pritchko. Led by Reichert, the No. 2 singles player, No. 4 singles Mackey, the No. 1 doubles team of Wright and Echlin and the No. 3 doubles pair of Tulloch and Gillooly, South finished with 32 of a possible 36 points in the state championship finals.

All Pointes tops Livonia

By Earl Duignan

Based on the 1980-81 Michigan Metro Winter League championship meet held last spring, last week's catchup between the All Pointes Swim Club and Livonia Aquatic Club Spartans promised to be a nip and tuck affair. And indeed it was, as the local swimmers returned from their second road trip of the season with a hard-fought 247-228 victory. The victory, which was the third in as many dual meet outings, was especially welcome since these same Spartans had edged All Pointes last spring by a mere 16 points for third place honors in the league championship meet.

All Pointes relied on what is becoming a familiar script to record their third consecutive victory. The script calls for the team bus to depart from Brownell Middle School, and subsequently develop mechanical problems enroute. The team then arrives just before the start of the meet, falls behind in early events, stages a late rally to recapture the lead, and eventually emerges victorious by a narrow margin.

All Pointes' prior meets have been characterized by scoring a balance among age groups and stroke categories, and this meet was no exception. The 8 and 10 and under groups contributed six wins apiece, while the 12, 14 and 18 and under age brackets recorded four, three and five victories, respectively.

The final two wins came as a result of firsts in the boys' and girls' age group medley relays.

The 8 and under 100 yard mixed free style relay team of David Arbury, Andrew Bucciero, Sarah Peslar and Becca Suzor opened on a successful note with an easy victory in 1:14.7. Livonia then regained the lead by winning the next three relay events.

The home team built its largest lead of the night in the butterfly events, as All Pointes was able to capture only four of the nine fly events staged. Suzor (18.05), Jeff Williams (33.17), John Bourget (29.03) and Maureen Connell (30.45), in her first All Pointes appearance of the year, recorded 8, 12, 14 and 18 and under age group wins, respectively.

Momentum gradually began to swing to the visitors in the backstroke events, however, as a 12 point deficit was transformed into a four point advantage heading into the individual medleys. Although the Spartans threatened on numerous occasions to overtake All Pointes, they regained the lead only briefly before finally losing.

Bucciero (21.11) initiated the backstroke competition with a win in the boys' 25 yard 8 and under event. Soon after, the 10 and under tandem of Heidi Cartwright (41.2) and Kelly Duignan (43.5) recorded a first and a second on their way to a pair of personal bests at the 50 yard distance to pull the east siders to within three points.

Helen Mikelic (37.28) closed the gap further with a victory in the 12 and under bracket. The threesome of Karen Campbell (35.28), Andre Francis (35.7) and Kathy Campbell (36.79) finally pushed the visitors into the lead with sweep of girls' 18 and under event.

The lead returned briefly to Livonia as only Connell (2:42.6), who edged Kathy Campbell (2:48.8), was able to emerge from the four individual medley events with a victory in the 18 and under bracket.

By recording six breaststroke firsts, All Pointes reclaimed the lead permanently. Arbury (23.11) and Peslar (29.2) captured the boys' and girls' 8 and under 25 yard events. The east siders also swept both 10 and under events as Mike Bucciero (41.88) and Nora Brooks (40.37) remained unbeaten at the 50 yard distance. Mike Crane (41.2) in the boys' 12 and under event and Chris Lorenz (38.2) in the girls' 18 and under event were the other breaststroke winners.

In the free style events, All Pointes was able to increase slightly its tenuous three point lead to 14 points. Suzor (17.18) captured her second individual first by leading Helen Lopicola (25.78) and Maggie Weyhing (28.5) to a win-place-show sweep of the 8 and under 25 yard event.

Eddie Suzor (34.95) took first place honors for the 10 and under boys, while Williams (30.69) edged Bill Dingell (33.47) at the 50 yard distance in the 12 and under bracket. Bourget (26.07) and Sue Benoit (27.83) captured both 14 and under events.

Andrea Francis (1:04.8) completed the scoring by leading Kathy Campbell (1:07.5), and Alice Guarino (1:13.7) to yet another free style sweep in the 18 and under girls' 100 yard event.

The scoring was completed as first the boys' team of Jim Ledyard, Mike Bucciero, Curt Misteale and Bill Dingell (2:34.5), and then the girls' team of Amy Abram, Nora Brooks and Maureen and Anne Connell (2:18.7) swam to victories in the 200 yard age group medley relays to conclude the meet.

All Pointes is idle until Saturday, Feb. 13, when it returns to dual meet action for a non-conference encounter with a strong Utica Shelby team at 12:30 p.m. in the North High pool.

Norsemen win twice

By Paul Regelbrugge

North's varsity basketball team lifted its record to 4-1 with wins over River Rouge, 50-46, and South Lake, 60-59, in overtime, last week. North's bench was instrumental in the River Rouge victory, while a well balanced scoring attack led the Norsemen past South Lake in what was a squeaker from start to finish.

Senior Andy Pflaum fired in 18 points against Rouge, with Chris Neal scoring eight and junior Mark Davey notching seven points.

"This was a very good win for us," said North coach Ray Ritter. "Pflaum was particularly good, especially against the press. Davey was also exceptional coming off the bench."

Leading the Norsemen against South Lake was Dan Sheridan, with his 17 points. Tim Labadie and Dries Van Landuyt added 11 points each and Neal had 10.

"It was pleasing to get some balanced scoring," Ritter said. "We played very well, I'm happy to be 4-1 at the Christmas break, considering that we were 1-4 at this time last year."

North's next home game will be on Friday, Jan. 15 against Clintondale at 7:30 p.m.

Varsity swimming: In spite of swimming a good meet, the Norsemen fell to Eisenhower, 94-78. Eric Zimmerman was first in the 100 yard breaststroke, while Bob Luberto and Rob Causley were first and second in diving, respectively.

Varsity wrestling: The Norsemen placed third out of nine teams in the Highland Park tournament last week, despite competing shorthanded — entering wrestlers in only 11 of 13 weight classes.

Winning the tournament and taking home gold medals were Greg Fleming, Matt Simon and Todd Leigh. Dave Fleming and Pat Marlow finished in second place while junior Greg Fobare captured a third place medal.

North is now 4-2 in dual meet action and has finished third and fourth in the two tournaments it has entered.

North basketball: North's JV saw its record slip to 0-4 when it lost to L'Anse Creuse, 24-21, and River Rouge, 45-36, last week. Tim Sheridan scored 10 and 11 points to lead the way for the Norsemen in the two losses.

The freshmen upped their record to 2-1 with comeback wins over L'Anse Creuse, 54-52, and East Detroit Kelly, 50-49. Art Szymanski hooped 19 points against L'Anse Creuse while Paul Kent added 10. North trailed by 14 points in the third quarter against Kelly, but came back to win on a tip shot by Kent with one second left. Kent fired in 10 points and Szymanski had 16.

North gymnastics: North's girls opened the season with a 105.55-103.15 win over Rochester High on Dec. 16. Rochester's Mindy Morley scored a 7.5 to win the vault. North's Karen McCarthy and Cindi Tsangalias were second and third, with 7.3 and 7.25, respectively.

'C' meet for Swim Club

Twenty-two swimmers from the Grosse Pointe Swim Club recently participated in the first "C" meet of the year at Eisenhower High School in Utica. For many of the younger swimmers this marked their first competition in a United States Swim Association sanctioned meet.

In the 8 and under category, Anne Marie Boutrous captured four firsts, winning the 50 yard freestyle with a time of 36.41, the 25 yard freestyle in 16.05, the 50 yard backstroke in 44.93 and the 25 yard butterfly with a time of 18.36. Boutrous also placed second in the 25 yard backstroke and fifth in the 25 yard breaststroke.

Karen Ellis captured a first place ribbon in the 25 yard backstroke with a time of 19.70. She also placed third in the 50 back, fourth in the 25 free, and sixth in the 25 fly and 50 free. Karen Dundon was second in the 25 breast and 25 fly, third in the 25 back and fourth in the 50 back, and 25 and 50 freestyle.

Wendy Mader also placed in the 8 and under group, capturing third place honors in the 25 and 50 free, as well as the 25 breast, as did Amy Butler who was fifth in the 50 yard freestyle.

Among the 8 and under boys, Brandon Cromar was second in the 25 and 50 yard freestyle events, the 25 back and the 25 fly. He also finished third in the 50 back and fourth in the 50 breast. Geoff Celhar finished second in the 25 breast, fourth in the 25 back, fifth in the 50 free and 50 back and sixth in the 25 free.

In the 9 and 10 year old age group, GERALYN BOCCI won the 100 yard breaststroke with a time of 1:37.44. She also took second place honors in the 100 yard Individual Medley and the 50 back, as well as third in the 100 back and fourth in the 100 free.

Also placing in the girls' 9 and 10 group was Heidi Mader with a second in the 50 fly and fifth place finishes in the 50 back and 50 free.

Among the 9 and 10 year old boys, Mike Celhar took a first in the 100 yard breaststroke with a 1:37.79. Mike also placed sixth in the 50 back.

In the 11 and 12 year old group, Gerald Bocci was fourth in the 50 back while Chris Nevison was fifth in that event and sixth in the 200 yard Individual Medley.

Also competing for Grosse Pointe in the meet were Sheila Thompson, David Borbeau, Tricia Vitale, Laura Wilson, Jamie Lofredo, Anna Francis, Jon Wilson, Erica Tietge and Tim Jogan. The next competition for "C" swimmers takes place Jan. 9 and 10 at Oakland University.

St. Paul eagers take two wins

The St. Paul 78ers girls celebrated the holiday season with a basketball victory over Our Lady of Good Counsel, 28-12, last week. Lynn Vismara led the fastbreaking team with 12 points, followed by Becky Steffes with eight points. The girls are at the top of their division with a 3-0 season record.

Also enjoying their win is St. Paul's 78ers No. 2 boys' team, which topped St. Joan of Arc, 38-14. St. Paul pulled away from St. Joan of Arc in the second half, after taking an 11-10 lead into the locker room at half-time. St. Paul outscored their opponents, 25-4, in the second half.

All 13 St. Paul players contributed to the victory, led by John Joliet scoring 13 points, Tim Nugent with six, Peter Droste with five and Cliff Grabowski with four. Kevin English, Joe Mooney, Ray Echlin and Mark

Belanger all chipped in the two points each in the balanced scoring attack.

Todd Crandall, Drew Allison, John Dwaihy, Chris Glass and Mark Kramer all contributed to the victory with sound defensive and rebounding work. The key to the win was a hustling, aggressive full court press that created numerous scoring opportunities for the Lakers.

In other St. Paul Laker basketball action, the 78er boys' No. 1 team lost to Our Lady of Good Counsel, 40-23, as did the 56er boys' team, 32-24, and the 56er girls' team, 42-24. The 56er No. 2 boys' team had its best defensive game to date against St. Ladislaus, however the contest ended in a Laker loss despite a strong offensive attack by Paul Chase, David McCormick and Lew Echlin.

The Hawks' eight wins were decided by less than two goals in six instances. The mid-season tournament, scheduled for the middle of January, will determine the Pointe Pee Wee team which will compete in the district and state finals. Any one of the five teams could win it all.

HAWKS-ISLANDERS

The sharp goaltending of the Hawks' Geoff Donaldson and the Islanders' Clay Chapman resulted in this 0-0 tie.

RED WINGS-HAWKS

The Red Wings skated to a 3-1 victory and maintained top spot in the Pee Wee division. Goals were scored by Tim Jerome, Charlie Roby and Robbie Hydon. David Hall and Greg Watson drew assists. The Wings received excellent goaltending from Mike Semack. The single-Hawk goal came from Mike McCracken.

The Pee Wee Titans have a young team this year, with only two returning players. The goaltending has been handled by Anthony DiPasquale, who has done a fine job.

The Bullets were behind throughout the first quarter before Brownell's Rob Skuras scored eight of his 14 points in the second quarter to give Brownell a 15-8 half time lead. Others scoring for Brownell were captain Drew McSkimming with four, co-captain Ryan Hoeh, Rick Leonard and Rob Wells each scoring three points. Jim Curran added two points for the victors.

The Brownell seventh grade basketball team suffered a 23-21 overtime loss to L'Anse Creuse South. Brownell led the entire game until South converted a three point play with little time left in the game to send it to overtime.

The Bullets were led in scoring by Brady Kraushaar with 12 points. Tim Piche scored four, Caven West scored three and Eric Restum added two points for Brownell. Doug Hagen played very well in controlling the boards for Brownell.

Former Detroiters are moving close to home

People leaving Southeast Michigan recent years are far more likely to stay within the state of Michigan or the Great Lakes area than head for so-called "Sun Belt" destinations.

That is the major conclusion of a study of out-migration patterns by the DataCenter of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

The analysis "clearly demonstrates at the popular view of everyone reading for Texas is simply not true," according to Michael Glusac, executive director of SEMCOG. "Less than 10 percent leave each year and about one-third of those who do migrate from metropolitan Detroit settle elsewhere in Michigan," Glusac pointed out.

An additional 15 percent settle in the Great Lakes region, most often in Ohio and Illinois. The single most popular destination state, other than Michigan, is Florida, with 12 percent of the total. Both Texas and California receive less than six percent each of those out-migrating.

People in an estimated 25,000 households left Southeast Michigan in 1980, compared to an estimated 18,000 in 1977, an increase of 40 percent over the three years.

"It is important to note," Glusac adds, "that less than two percent of the region's total population migrated anywhere in each of the years analyzed, 1977 and 1980. At the same time, we recognized that the increase from 1977 to 1980 seems to indicate a stepped up pattern of out-migration, which is to be expected when unemployment reaches existing levels in metropolitan Detroit," Glusac said.

The data analysis is based on information extracted from edited files of Detroit Edison for discontinued electrical service. Those files were analyzed only, both in Southeast Michigan and at forwarding-address destinations. All personal data, such as names and amounts owed or paid, were removed by Detroit Edison prior to release of the partial files to SEMCOG.

The out-migration analysis was conducted as part of SEMCOG and Detroit Edison's participation in the economic development activities of the Greater Detroit Business Attraction and Expansion Council (BAEC), a joint venture of those two organizations with the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce and the Michigan Department of Commerce.

Glusac said the study only analyzes those households that have moved from the region. "There is no available matching data on households migrating into the area," he said. While the out-migration analysis is currently limited to 1977 and 1980 for technical reasons, Glusac indicated that SEMCOG's DataCenter would make yearly up-dates on the migration patterns, as part of the BAEC project.

DataCenter is the data collection and analysis element of the Southeast Michigan Council of Government, a voluntary association of counties, cities and villages, townships and schools in the seven-county Southeast Michigan Region.

The Council's principal function is short and long-range planning for housing, transportation, land use, public safety, recreation and open space and the environment.

Anyone interested who is in grades one through 12, or over 18 years old can call 881-8186 for more information.

ALASEM helps smokers quit

Kick the smoking habit and add eight years to your life. That's what the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan (ALASEM) is urging smokers to do for the New Year.

Smokers can get all the help they'll need to kick the habit for 1982 at the American Lung Association's third annual "Great New Year's Cigarette Send-Off." The smoking withdrawal clinic will be held Sunday, Jan. 17, 1982, from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Community Arts Auditorium at Wayne State University.

"Over the past two years, more than 2,000 smokers have sought help from the Lung Association through our 'Cigarette Send-Off' programs," said Murray Jackson, chairman of ALASEM's Smoking and Health Committee and member of the Wayne State University Board of Governors. "Forty-four percent of the respondents from our past clinics have never picked up a cigarette again. We're very proud of our success, especially considering that the average success rate of all types of smoking cessation programs is 20 to 30 percent nationally," he said.

Combining the most effective smoking withdrawal techniques continues to be the Lung Association's "secret" of success. Hypnosis, medical and audio-visual presentations, as well as behavior modification techniques are combined into a carefully planned three-hour clinic in an attempt to appeal to a variety of smokers.

Barry Beder, M.S.W., C.S.W. will conduct the hypnosis sessions during the program. All participants will receive a cassette tape for follow-up self-hypnosis at home.

Bruce D. Dubin, D.O., a lung disease specialist with a practice in Madison Heights and a member of the Lung Association's Board of Directors and Smoking and Health Committee, will present the latest medical findings of smoking's effects on bodily functions and provide stop smoking tips.

An addition to the New Year's Lung Association's brand new "A Lifetime of Freedom From Smoking" maintenance manual is provided to all participants to help them maintain their non-smoking lifestyle.

Tickets to the third annual "Great New Year's Cigarette Send-Off," priced at $15, may be purchased at all CTC outlets, the Wayne State University Bookstore and by mail order from the American Lung Association.

Those wishing to order tickets by mail are requested to send a check or money order to: "Cigarette Send-Off," c/o the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan, 28 West Adams, Detroit, MI. 48226. All orders must indicate the number of tickets requested and a return address. Checks should be made payable to the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan, and must be in by Jan. 10.

For more information about the program, call ALASEM at 963-3029.

Soft studs legal now

Motorists will find no changes in Michigan's studded snow tire law this year. Only tires equipped with soft metal studs will be allowed on state roads during certain periods of the year, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Michigan banned tires with hard studs in 1975 when studies showed they cut deep ruts into roads and increased the chance of water buildup leading to dangerous hydroplaning of tires.

The only soft studs which meet state standards are commercially known as "Perma-T-Grippers."

They may be used on Michigan roads north of a line from Mason to Arenac counties from Oct. 1 to May 1. Below that line, they are permitted from Nov. 15 to April 1.

Michigan motorists who violate the law face up to a $100 fine and/or up to 90 days in jail. State Police extend to out-of-state motorists traveling Michigan roads the same privileges for studded tire use permitted in their home states.

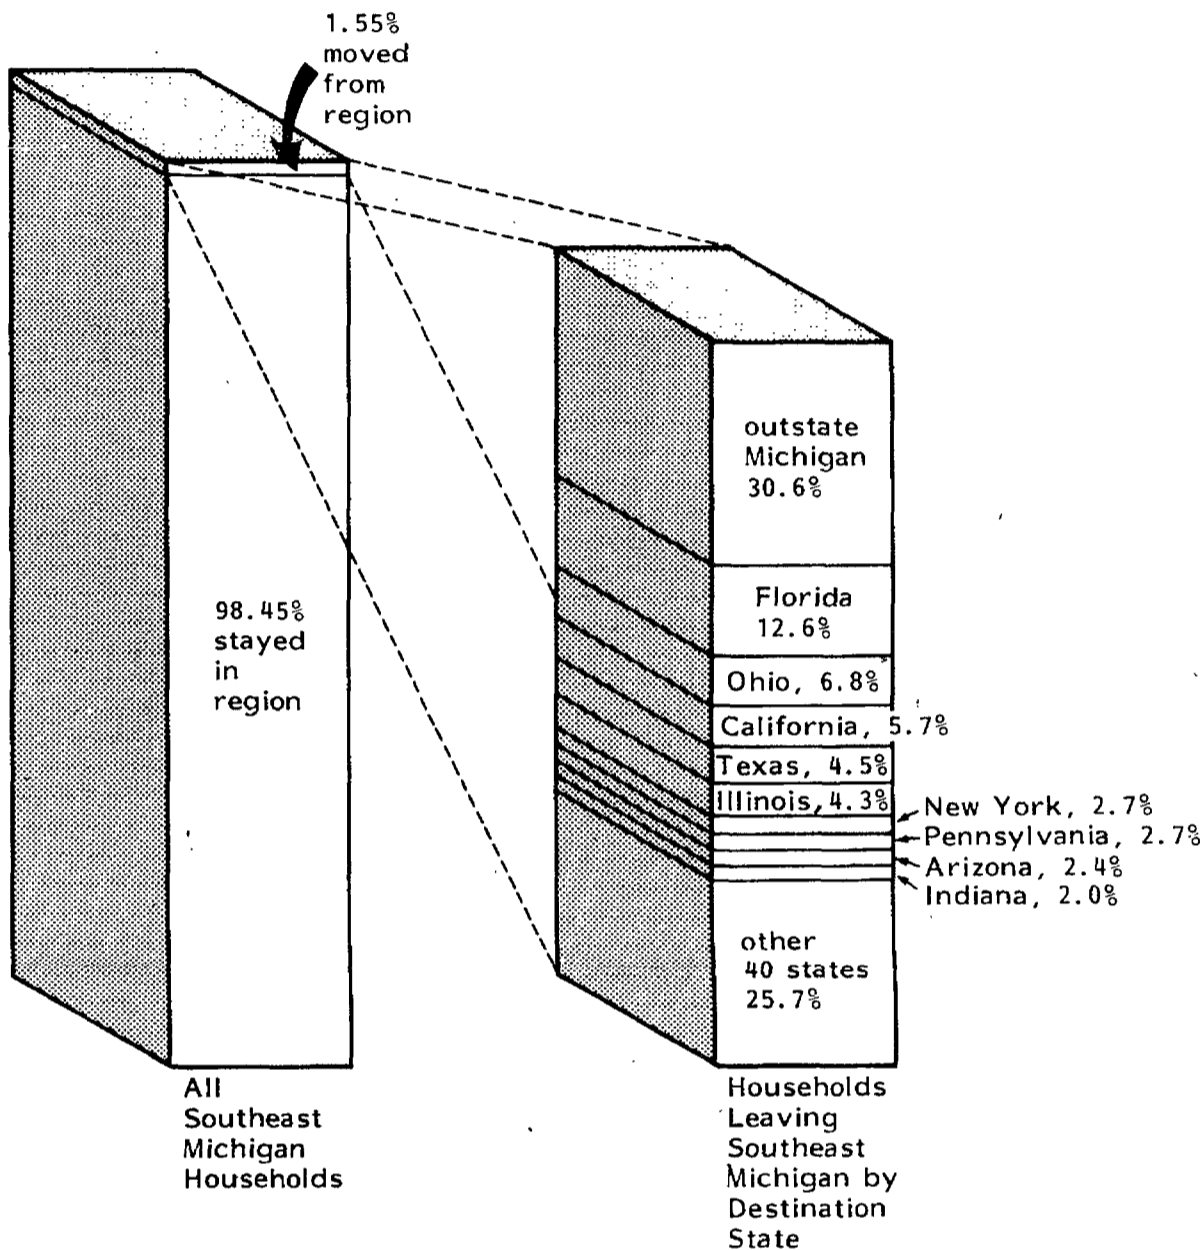

Auto Club advises that Michigan drivers traveling on soft-studded tires in states where they are prohibited can be ticketed.

Burglars hit Rivard home

Grosse Pointe City police report burglars ransacked a Rivard home Dec. 5, and apparently entered the residence by breaking a rear door window.

Police said several rear windows had pry marks and several screens were lifted, but the burglars apparently were unable to open the windows. The residents told police they left their home for about two hours before they arrived back and discovered their rear door open. About $160 in items are missing, police said. Police are investigating the incident.

Historic visit for GPA students

An early winter visit to historic Fort Malden, Ont., Canada is planned next month for Grosse Pointe Academy students in grades one to three.

A tour of the fort and a view of pioneer life of the Great Lakes region in the 18th century will complement the unit of Michigan history now being studied in these grades. At Fort Malden, children will have the opportunity to see the tools and do some of the work of colonial settlers, including cooking over an open fire, printing in the print shop, weaving on large looms and churning butter.

Keep resolution with 'P.M.' help

Those interested in physical fitness can resolve now to do something about it early in the New Year through a Cranbrook P.M. lecture Jan. 19 at 7:30 p.m. in Cranbrook School assembly hall.

Prominent running expert Charlie Blanchard will discuss attributes of the committed adult athlete, running, physical fitness and needs and potential of the serious runner as well as the novice jogger. Also, he will preview his own pioneer running and fitness program designed for both runners training for their first marathon and those more experienced, who wish to improve.

Plans for the long-term program include weekly training runs at beautiful Cranbrook, videotape analysis of running techniques, films, exercises and workshops about a variety of running topics. Special emphasis will be placed on training for the Detroit Free Press Marathon in October, 1982.

A veteran marathon runner, Blanchard also is a former Notre Dame All-American swimmer. In addition to frequent radio and television appearances, he writes about running for "Michigan Runner" and the Detroit Free Press.

Fee for the lecture—which will be followed by a question-answer period—is $5. Early inquiry is suggested since capacity crowds are expected. For reservations and information, call (313) 645-3635.

No job, no hope for youth

People who are working and whose jobs are not in jeopardy tend to regard unemployment statistics unemotionally and even unsympathetically. They may feel a vague sympathy for people who are losing their jobs and perhaps something more when they read the reports of the number of people who have been out of work for months. But until the misfortune of unemployment hits a member of their own families or a friend, they often don't understand what it means. Our sympathy goes out especially to young people who cannot get a full-time job. Many are college graduates who find their professions laying off people rather than hiring new employees. Others have had some college training which in more normal times might be sufficient to get them a start in some occupation but which in these days does not offer them many opportunities. Still others are high school graduates who either couldn't afford college or vocational training or feel they lack the skills to be successful in either route to a job. They are having the most difficulty of all in finding work.

TALK WITH one of these young people—a person who has never held a full-time job—and you get a deeper appreciation of the effects of the depression in the Detroit metropolitan area. One young woman who resides in the Grosse Pointes told us of her efforts to get a job, of circulating resumes to potential employers in the entire Midwest, of making personal calls on business establishments that had shown some interest in discussing a job, of trying to use the influence of friends and relatives in finding a door that might open to a job. All in vain. She is still unemployed as she has been since her graduation from a Michigan university two years ago.

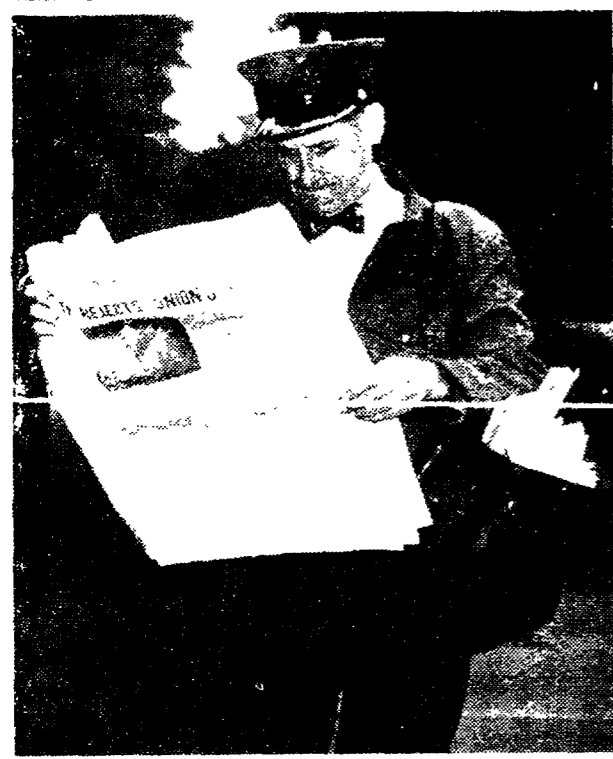

It was difficult for us to meet this woman's gaze. She has tried all the avenues open to her. She is outwardly optimistic. But it is clear she is losing the eternal optimism we tend to associate with youth. She is almost defeated—and beginning to show it.

Other young people who are reduced to "taking anything" are working in jobs for which they are overqualified and in which they are underemployed. A young college graduate in this situation described in the New York Times the other day his experience in stuffing envelopes in the mailroom of a small magazine. He and his college colleagues feel that while they are fortunate to be employed at all, they are stuck—compelled to settle for work that provides little income and less satisfaction.

He saw another serious effect: As more and more college graduates claim more and more blue-collar, service and clerical jobs, many of those who in normal times would have filled those jobs will wind up competing for what is left of unemployment compensation or other forms of public assistance. And while labor unions are under a great deal of criticism in this country for helping price many U.S. products out of the world market, this young man raised the specter of a new and more militant labor movement emerging from the ranks of these underemployed college graduates.

We have said before—and it's not original with us—that America's greatest resource is its young people. We still think that is true. And while the greatest amount of public attention and sympathy today goes to those families whose breadwinners have lost their jobs, it is well to ponder the plight of young people who are unable to find work or, when they do, are employed in jobs for which they are overqualified.

OLDER CITIZENS who recall their own difficulties finding a job or a niche in life should be sympathetic. Most are. But some remind the young of their own victories in overcoming the Great Depression and other adversities and tend to comment unfeelingly that this, too, shall pass. We hope the recession—which is a depression in the Detroit metropolitan area—soon will be ending but the prospects for economic improvement soon are not bright. So older people should try whenever possible to offer the helping hand or open a door to a job to the young people so anxious to join the labor force.

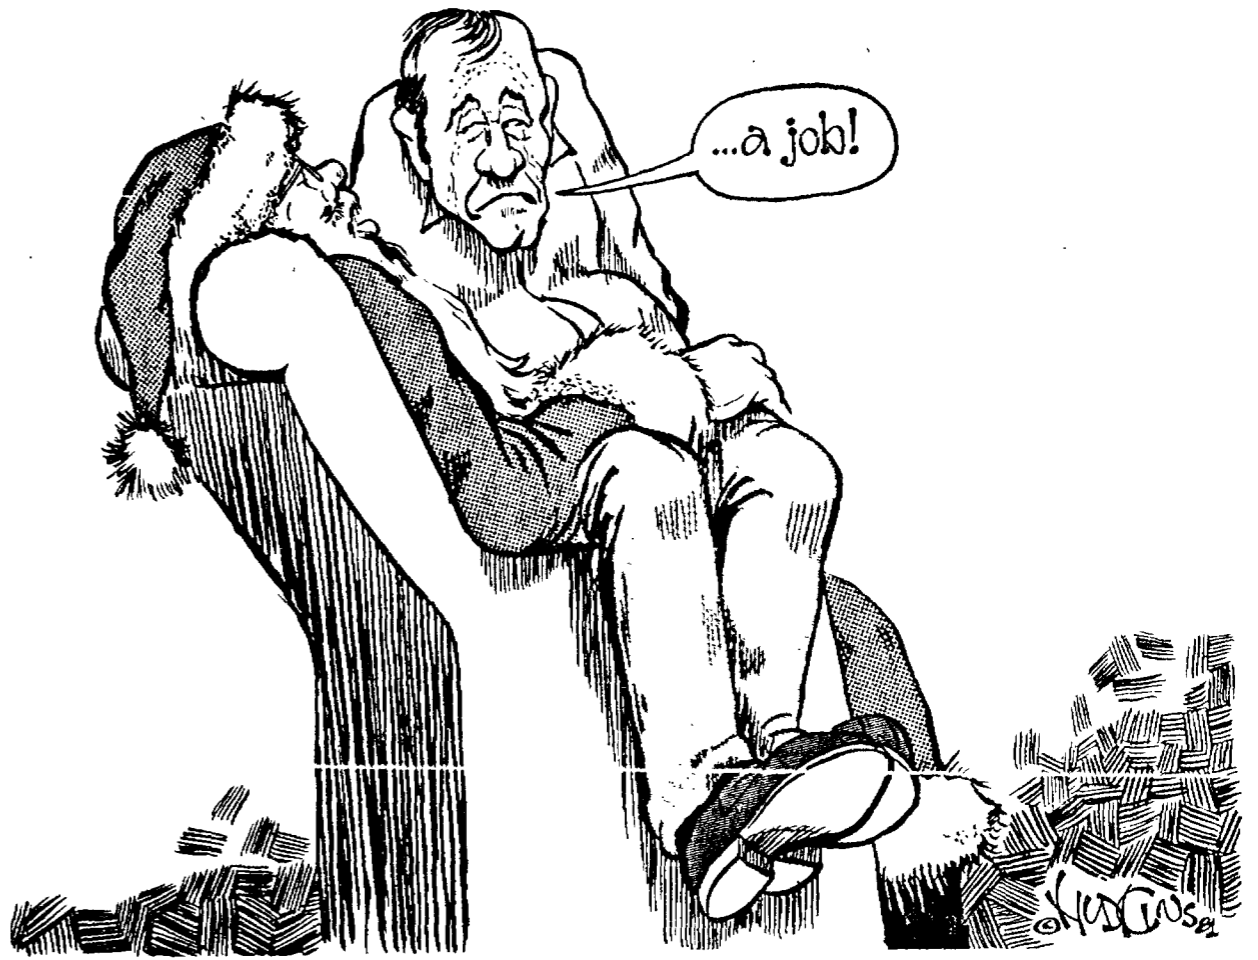

Taxpayers who are forced to stand in line at post offices sometimes reflect with Milton that "They also serve who only stand and wait." But when they think about it seriously, most people realize they owe a special debt of gratitude to postal employees, especially during the holiday season.

Without the sturdy carriers, like the one pictured above delivering and reading the Grosse Pointe News, none of us would be able to make that instant communion with distant family and friends that is made possible through the arrival of Christmas greetings. Even with first class postage at 20 cents, many of us still resort to the Christmas card to express our holiday greetings and for a few moments in time join in another family's observance of the holidays.

Weekly newspapers such as the Grosse Pointe News owe a special debt to postal employees. Daily newspapers have their own means of distribution but weeklies rely on the mail carriers for their delivery, not only at Christmastime but all through the year. During the holidays, however, we do put an extra burden on the carriers because our paper expands to accommodate merchants and other advertisers who want to reach the public with their messages.

So again this year the Grosse Pointe News hails the mail carriers and all the postal employees who follow that familiar slogan of the National Association of Letter Carriers: "Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds."

More than a century ago a British writer, Thomas DeQuincy, wrote: "Mails from the North—the East—the West—the South whence, according to some curious etymologists, comes the magical word, 'News.'" This comment serves as a reminder that readers as well as writers for newspapers have the carriers to thank for the delivery of both The News and the news.

Students spread cheer to others

By Kenneth Brummel
Supt. of Schools

In keeping with the Christmas spirit our students and staff members brought an extra measure of joy to many needy families this holiday season. The following examples relate how our students, from high school seniors to kindergartners and their teachers, as well as other staff members, showed considerable compassion and generosity to those less fortunate than themselves.

This year the students and staff of North High School helped to make Christmas a little more cheerful for more than 65 families in Detroit and Grosse Pointe in an annual project called "Adopt-A-Family." In this project, which has been carried on for seven years, homerooms and other school groups provide food, clothing, gifts and even Christmas trees to their respective families.

Under the direction of the North student association and Donald Dungan, its advisor, the groups contributed both money and presents to make sure that their families will have a good Christmas dinner and a happy holiday.

For the fifth year, Brownell Middle School students and staff members collected canned food for the work of the local charity "Operation Crossroads." Close to $1,500 worth of canned food was collected at Brownell making the school one of the largest contributors to the charitable organization.

Following much the same plan as at North High, Parcels Middle School students adopted 15 needy families from the lower east side of Detroit and collected food, clothing and gifts for their families, and even bought turkeys for Christmas dinners. Each homeroom had a list of all the persons in its family (from two to 11 children in each family) and tried to individualize the gifts as much as possible. With the help of their parents and staff members, the students were able to deliver the gifts in person and see the joy of the families when they got their presents.

Most of the elementary schools collected toys, games, clothing and money for Operation LINC, a foster-children care program sponsored by the Junior League of Detroit. Between 100 and 200 presents were collected at each building and will fill stockings for a lot of needy youngsters this Christmas.

In addition to Operation LINC, several special projects were undertaken at some of the elementary schools. Mason School students donated food from tuna to turkeys to fill 12 large boxes for needy families in the area, and first grade students of Carolyn Sands sang Christmas carols at Georgian East Convalescent Home. Girl Scout troops sponsored by Trombly Elementary School also helped make the holiday a little happy for those in nursing homes who couldn't be home for Christmas by making candy for them; and students at Richard School delivered food baskets to needy families.

At Kerby Elementary School, students held their annual "Mountain of Food" collection, giving several hundred canned goods to Memorial Church for distribution to needy families; and students at Defer School collected money and candy for UNICEF and the Red Cross.

Ferry Elementary School students directed their efforts to making senior citizens happy this holiday season. A candlelight Christmas sing-along for senior citizens, inviting seniors to come to school to work with students in making decorations and ornaments, and students visiting the homes of senior citizens in the area to give center pieces and door hangings to the seniors, were some of the projects successfully undertaken by the students.

According to Rachel Taft, a sixth grader in Lynne Old's class, "We talked to the senior citizens about what Christmas was like when they were little and had cookies with them, and now some of us would like to adopt them as our grandparents." And that feeling was shared by the family members of at least one student as they have invited one of the senior citizens to share Christmas dinner in their home.

The above summary of activities and all of the things that were done which couldn't be listed because of space show a tremendous attitude of caring on the part of our students and staff. If it's true that the joy is in the giving, we have a lot of very happy people in our schools.

Help, at last, from Lansing

The millenium has not yet arrived nor can Michigan yet claim that this state is paradise regained but the passage of the workers' compensation reform package by the Legislature ought to improve prospects for the future growth of business and industry in Michigan.

Sponsors claim the legislation will reduce the costs to business and industry by more than $100 million a year, a figure that does not include savings from the mandatory 20 percent rate reduction for disability insurers. Savings of such amounts obviously will benefit the state's business climate.

True, the AFL-CIO and the UAW opposed the revisions every step of the way and also threatened retribution against Democratic lawmakers who had broken ranks with their party to support the reforms. But the so-called "boll weevil" Democratic lawmakers may have been closer to their constituents' desires than the union spokesmen were. There is evidence of widespread public support for measures to improve Michigan's economic climate and thus to create more jobs through the expansion of business and industry. And the new legislation does offer that promise.

THE MEASURES no doubt will have widespread political ramifications. It was Gov. William Milliken who proposed the reforms in the first place, although some Democratic leaders deserve praise for their contributions to the package and its enactment. But the victory was a Milliken triumph, despite the Democrats' contributions.

The governor had described the legislation as "substantive reform of the single biggest deterrent to job growth in Michigan." Only time will tell us whether that description will prove to be true, of course.

But some Democrats who are skillful at reading the public's mood are not about to let Milliken claim all of the credit. Former Senate majority leader William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1982, endorsed the legislation with a Milliken-like statement extolling it as "a long overdue reform measure which should significantly improve the jobs and business climate in Michigan."

Even in labor citadels, there appears to be growing acceptance of the business and industry complaint that labor had helped price this state's products out of national and world markets. The UAW, for example, recently switched its stance to permit the reopening of current wage contracts under certain conditions. That is an encouraging move in light of the U.S. auto makers' contention that their labor costs are much higher than those of Japanese manufacturers who are flooding the U.S. market.

In this UAW case, as in the Legislature's enactment of the worker's compensation reform bills, there is a clear recognition of the need to place in which to do business and thus open the way for achievement of the goal that everyone seeks: more jobs.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

The trouble with doing something one Christmas is that you're stuck doing it every Christmas ever after. Take Christmas cookies: about 10 years ago, I must have (uncharacteristically) had a lot of time on my hands in December, because I decided (uncharacteristically) to do some holiday baking. And I decided—characteristically, this time: anything worth doing is worth doing WELL — to make some really spectacular Christmas cookies.

And I did. Viennese sweet butter sandwiches, with lemon sugar filling, dipped in chocolate and sprinkled with coconut. Chocolate mint squares covered with a bittersweet glaze. Shortbread circles rolled in pecans and dotted with peach or raspberry jam. And they were GOOD! And I had a good time making them.

And I never realized, until the next Christmas, that I'd worked myself into a real hole.

Because the next December I was (characteristically) extremely busy, and what I didn't need was reminders from family and friends that I hadn't begun baking my "famous" Christmas cookies yet, and everybody really liked those cookies, and it wouldn't be Christmas without them. "It was Christmas without them for years and years until last year," I protested. "I never baked Christmas cookies until last year."

"Obviously," said my sister, over the phone (she'd called to find out when her box of Christmas cookies would be forthcoming), "you have a talent for it."

"Maybe . . . but I don't have the time for it."

"That's ridiculous! If something is important enough, you make time for it. Those cookies are a family tradition, and if you don't make them you'll disappoint the whole family, but what do you care?"

"I care. It's just that I haven't begun my Christmas shopping yet, and the halls aren't decked, and it's an extremely busy time at work."

"Oh, boy!" said my sister. "Here it comes. Let's hear it for the Working Woman and her valuable time. Let's get in our little dig about how busy YOU are and about how MY time is my own because I don't work: I just stay home and cook, and clean, and wash, and take care of two boys, and do minor house repairs, and mow the lawn . . ."

"It's winter. You don't mow the lawn in the winter."

Let it snow, let it snow, let it snow . . .

Grosse Pointe Yacht Club Chef JEFF GABRIEL raises up a snowstorm in the Gingerbread Village that has had youngsters who have visited the GPYC this holiday season—and their parents—exclaiming with delight. The "snow" is, of course, powdered sugar for, like everything else in the Village, from chocolate street lights (that really do light up) to Santa Claus riding his sleigh down main street, it's completely edible. It took Chef Gabriel and his corps of GPYC kitchen cohorts about a week to make the tiny, marvelous town, with each chef responsible for a particular building. For more views of the Gingerbread Holiday Fantasy, and a look at all its creators, turn to page 4B.

Choose your children's toys with care, concern

DANGER—CHILD PLAYING! No, this is not a street sign. It is a reminder that some toys can be dangerous to your child. Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter, reminds parents that a two-year-old is an imitator and an experimenter. Not only does he imitate you, he is continually experimenting with his toys—poking, pulling, prying, pinching; there is no end to his inventiveness.

Like this: "What makes my teddy bear fat? If I poke a hole in him, will he bleed? How are his eyes put on—not like mine—I can get a good hold on Teddy's eyes. Oops! His eye came right off! And it didn't hurt—he didn't even cry. It's pretty. Like a button—or that candy Aunt Martha carries in her purse. Wonder if it tastes like that. No, it doesn't taste at all—but it's slippery. Oh! I swallowed it, and it hurt — Mommy! Mommy!"

Some stuffed animals have cute button eyes that pull off easily, exposing the sharp points which fasten them on. These points sometimes do not lock like staples but are simply pushed in, like a double or triple-pointed thumb tack. These types of stuffed animals are apt to be found in souvenir shops or sold at carnivals. They are often attractive to children, and are frequently a casual or spur-of-the-moment gift. Avoid them, or inspect them carefully.

Your two-year-old can be rough on toys. He experiments by dragging them, banging them and sitting on them. Avoid anything with sharp or rough edges which will cut or scratch.

Also avoid toys or objects with small removable parts that can be swallowed or (perish the thought!) pushed into an ear or even up a nose. (Continued on Page 14B)

new hope abound

come to all people.

The Community LINC

By Susie Rohde

The Christmas LINC was a tremendous success, and we would like to thank all of the donors who helped to fill our toy chest this holiday season. Without your active participation and enthusiasm, we would not be able to address the real needs of the people of our metropolitan city. Your donations helped to make a less fortunate child's Christmas a little happier.

Santa Clauses Barb Earl and Claudia Heneberg were able to provide over 600 toys and gifts because of your generosity. Dolls, trains, blocks, games, puzzles and a variety of gifts were appreciated by many children. The recipients of your gifts were Snow Community Day Care, Dexter-Elmhurst, W.O.M.A.N., P.A.C.T., Interim House, Multi-Racial Family Study, Jefferson-Chalmers and Independent Youth for Greater Detroit. A warm thank you to Barb and Claudia for their volunteer hours of giving to help others.

LINC would also like to thank those donors who kindly answered our request for personal care items. Luther Haven, a senior citizen group, benefited from these items.

DURING THE HOLIDAY season, we were able to put together a number of "Lucky LINC'S." An example of one such "Lucky LINC" happened when a woman from an agency we serve, Residential Care Alternatives, was browsing in our storeroom and found two ping pong paddles. She gave her request for a ping pong table—and the very next day a donor called with one to give. The woman also specifically requested a phonograph and a sewing machine. Within a day, another donor had called to donate these items. It must all be in the spirit of the holiday.

LINC has many thank yous to extend this holiday season. This list includes the area Camp Fire girls of Richmond, Mich., who contributed over 200 handmade ornaments, stuffed animals and stocking stuffers.

Trombly School is also deserving of our thanks. Girl Scout Troop 800 made and donated stuffed animals and ornaments.

Cub Scout Pack 86 made and donated leather pen and pencil folders. J. L. Hudson contributed the materials needed, and the Pack made up the difference. They also donated toys and handmade Christmas ornaments.

Our thanks is also extended to two high schools; their help was appreciated by many children. A service club of Stevenson High School in Sterling Heights put together a Christmas party to benefit the Child Development Center. About 50 children between the ages of two and five were the recipients of their kindness.

THE STUDENT ACTIVITIES group of East Detroit High School made and donated Christmas gifts to the foster care program of The Children's Aid Society.

Participating in the foster care program this year were the Grosse Pointe Public Elementary Schools. Our special thanks goes to all the children whose contributions helped to make a very successful effort at brightening a less fortunate child's Christmas.

The children in the fourth grade class at Kerby School also participated in the foster care program this year. They held a bake sale. The generous proceeds of this sale purchased gifts for the Children's Aid Society.

The Children's Center was another group that was helped by some very kind people. The Children's Center is a multi-service agency which helps children of all ages. The kind people in two departments at Chrysler Corporation decided not to send each other Christmas cards this year; instead, they collected the money and donated it to LINC to benefit the Children's Center.

The LINC Santa Claus and all the LINC elves are taking a holiday break. Our office is closed from Friday, Dec. 18, through Monday, Jan. 4. Please hold your donations until we re-open.

Operation LINC wishes all of our volunteers, contributing donors, and all of our agencies a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

The LINC column is provided monthly as a community service by the Grosse Pointe NEWS.

Lazarus, arise . . .

Christmas preparations for members of Les Papillons Liturgical Dance Company, pictured above as they portray in dance-pantomime "The Raising of Lazarus," have included learning a new dance-pantomime based on the Christmas story as told in Saint Luke. Les Papillons will perform "The Angels and the Shepherds" for the first time tonight, Christmas Eve, at their sponsor church, Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian. The dancers use several styles, ranging from Israeli folk dance forms, both ancient and modern, to the classic positions and gestures of the ballet to the interpretive movements of modern dance, in their performances. This quality, as well as the fact that the dancers have a wide age range, from child to senior adult, makes possible a great variety of characterizations. Les Papillons dance to the reading of Scripture as well as to music, or a combination of the two.

Their program last Thursday at Woods Presbyterian for the Grosse Pointe Branch American Association of University Women's annual Christmas tea culminated a busy fall season that included performances at seven area churches. Les Papillons look forward to an equally busy spring season. Rehearsals are already underway for several programs scheduled early in the new year.

Members of the dance company are Lizzie Bolden, Jenny Eshleman, Ellen Probert, Nancy Reed, JoAnne Spencer, Mary Lee Strother and Eunice Whitaker, who is director and choreographer. Auxiliary dancers are Brooke Bessert, Sue Vanneman and April Krominga. Steve Honkanen is in charge of audio. Russell Reed is the troupe's photographer.

Lothrop Road Christmas fun

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Schmidt held their fourth neighborhood Christmas caroling party in their Lothrop Road home early in December, with Master Kenny Mazer Schmidt greeting his young friends, neighbors and relatives as they arrived.

Guests included Kenny's maternal grandparents, Commissioner and Mrs. John Mazer, and Uncle Bill Mazer, of Lorraine Road; Great-Aunts Louise Marks, of Stanhope Avenue, and Irma Koerner, of Washington Road; and godparents John Jr. and Marianne Mazer, of Grayton Road.

Kenny's Lothrop Road friends included Cathey Bojalad, Carey and Matt Doe, Brandon, Amy and Melanie Kahlich, Erick and Heidi Maks, Richie and Laurie Mayk, Stuart Satrun and Jaime Suberati. Other friends attending were Jenny Clogg and Lindsay Slavik.

Mrs. John Mazer, Kenny's grandmother, took time from her busy schedule as musical director of the Grosse Pointe Children's Theatre to accompany the carolers on the piano.

CLIFFORD F. KABACINSKI, director of Patient Accounting at Bon Secours Hospital, recently completed the 13th annual Hospital Financial Management Association Certified Manager of Patients Accounts examination.

Holiday hazards lurking in various 'pretty things'

Holidays are eagerly and excitedly anticipated each year, but because of hectic routines and distraction from everyday details, families are easily exposed to unnecessary hazards that are unique to this time of the year. The Poison Control Center at Children's Hospital of Michigan, in the Detroit Medical Center, lists the following precautions that should be taken to keep family holidays happy and safe:

HOLIDAY DECORATIONS

*Christmas tree light bubbling fluid — When a bulb is broken and the fluid ingested, approximately three to four ml. in each bulb, it is unlikely that a child could receive a toxic quantity. Central nervous system depression or excitation is possible, however, and a doctor or the Poison Control Center should be contacted.

*Colored wrapping paper, old tinsel and newspaper — Old tinsel and the colored inks on paper products contain lead; they should be kept out of the reach and mouths of children because they are hazardous.

*Fireplace colors — These are salts of metals such as copper, barium, selenium and lead. Ingestion can cause intense gastro-intestinal irritation and other toxic symptoms. Contact the family doctor or the Poison Control Center if any of these substances are ingested.

*Christmas tree ornaments — Except for their mechanical potential to cut or obstruct, the paint or coloring on these objects is not known to cause poisoning.

*Angel hair — Spun glass can cause irritation of eyes, skin and gastro-intestinal tract.

*"Snow spray" — Ingestion of "snow" particles, composed of inert plastic and fatty acid, should lead to no toxic consequences. The propellants evaporate after the aerosol mixture is sprayed onto an object; thus they are absent when the dry "snow" particles are ingested.

HOLIDAY PLANTS

All plants should be kept out of the reach of children. If any of the following plants are ingested, call the Poison Control Center for advice. It is important to be able to identify the plants, throughout the year as well as holidays.

Mistletoe, (especially berries): symptoms — stomach irritation, slow pulse, collapse.

Boxwood, (leaves and twigs): symptoms — stomach irritation, convulsions.

Jerusalem cherry, (fruit): symptoms — stomach irritation, depression, shock possible.

Jequirity bean, (rosary pea): symptoms — delayed stomach irritation, shock, coma, trembling.

Yew species, (all parts): symptoms — stomach irritation, shortness of breath, weakness, shock, coma, convulsions, slow pulse.

Pyraeantha, (berries): symptoms — minor stomach irritation.

ALCOHOL — ALWAYS A HAZARD — Alcohol is dangerous to adults as well as children. Do not tempt children with unfinished drinks left on coffee tables, the floor or any other easily accessible place. Equally threatening are pre-mixed cocktails which look creamy and are flavored with strawberry, chocolate, banana and other tempting tastes. They can easily be mistaken by children as milk drinks, and youngsters may consume enough to cause hypoglycemia, stupor or coma.

Alcohol is also an ingredient in cologne, after-shave and perfume. Many of these containers do not have safety caps and should be placed out of reach of youngsters. If any of these products are ingested, call the Poison Control Center.

HOLIDAY FOODS

Traditional turkey feasts are sources of potential food poisoning if cooks do not follow a few simple precautionary measures in food preparation and leftover storage. Poultry, eggs, dressing, pumpkin pie and cream or custard desserts are susceptible to spoilage.

*Turkey — Keep fresh fowl refrigerated until ready to cook, but not more than two days. Thaw frozen fowl in the refrigerator for several days, depending on the weight of the bird. Cook fowl thoroughly. Store leftovers in the refrigerator for not more than one or two days in covered containers or tight wrappings; in refrigerator freezers for not more than 10 days; in large freezers, with temperature at 0°F, for three to six months.

*Dressing — If possible, make dressing just before cooking. If prepared a day ahead, refrigerate separately until cooking. For double protection against food poisoning, cook fowl and dressing separately. If stuffed turkey is a must, place bird in the oven immediately after stuffing; remove stuffing as soon as dinner is over and refrigerate both.

*Leftovers — All should be refrigerated as soon as they are removed from the table, while they are still warm. Custard and cream-filled desserts are especially dangerous if left unrefrigerated.

The Poison Control Center at Children's Hospital of Michigan has 24-hour telephone service. Call 494-5711; toll-free numbers are 1-800-462-6642 in the 313 area; 1-800-572-1655 outside the 313 area.

about that. You've got a service to shovel the snow, so you can live your busy, interesting, PROFESSIONAL life. You go places. You meet people. The last new person I met was the replacement milkman."

"Was he a nice new person?"

"Actually, he was sort of interesting. He had an accent, so I asked him where he was from, and he said he'd come over from Yugoslavia last year... don't change the subject! We were talking about Christmas cookies, and your REFUSAL to make them, despite the fact that they're the only thing you ever do make. You're not noted for your contributions to the family feasts, you know."

"I have ALWAYS contributed to the family feasts."

"Oh, that's true enough. Like on Thanksgiving, when I bring home-baked pies, and Sue brings her bean-and-onion casserole—and you bring the wine and cheese! A lot of time and effort goes into that."

"Okay. Next summer, I'll find some grapes and stomp on them and make the wine myself. I'll milk goats and make my own cheese. Will that make you happy?"

"No. You would probably make horrible wine and lousy cheese. You do, however, make excellent Christmas cookies, and I think it's absolutely rotten of you to say you're not going to make them this year. Listen: you hear that noise in the background? That's my children, crying because their aunt—Queen of the Store-Bought Gifts and Frozen Food—won't make Christmas cookies for them."

"You win. I'll make the cookies. Would you like me to try knitting a sweater for each of the boys, too? I could work on the sweaters while I'm waiting for batches of cookies to come out of the oven. That way, I wouldn't be bored."

"I've seen how you knit: buy the sweaters. But when you're making the cookies, would you mind doubling the recipe for those chocolate mint things? They're my favorites, and you really didn't have enough of them last year."

And that is why, this past week, my kitchen lights have been on at midnight. It's the only time I have for making my famous Christmas cookies. And although I've often wished that I'd picked easier recipes in the beginning (my Christmas cookies require from 15 to 27 steps; I must have been nuts 10 years ago!), the results, if I do say so myself, justify the effort. At least: everyone says they do.

If I ever discover that everyone has been lying, and this whole thing was a plot by the family homemakers to get the family working woman into the kitchen at least once a year, there may be poison in next year's bittersweet glaze.

A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS AND THE HAPPIEST OF NEW YEARS TO ALL NEWS READERS.

An art-fully decked tree . . .

If you're looking for the most art-fully decked tree in town, look no further than the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center's new Art Wing, where the Grosse Pointe Artists Association has created a very special tribute to Christmas. Above (left to right) ERIN HILE and CAROL SINCLAIR, the association's jury and publicity chairmen, respectively, GINGER GROW, in charge of Fries Building exhibits, and CORINNE DOLEGA, chairman of the association's Fall Art Festival, put the finishing touches on their festive boughs. Missing from the picture but very much involved in the project was Edna Bakewicz, the association's current president.

Busy holiday time at DIA

The Detroit Institute of Arts' 1981 holiday schedule is filled with exhibitions and events appealing to a variety of interests. The museum will be closed Christmas Eve and Day and New Year's Eve and Day; otherwise, regular hours — 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesdays through Sundays — will be observed.

Exhibitions include A Selection of 17th Century European Masterworks (paintings by Rembrandt, Rubens, Poussin, Velasquez, displayed with sculpture, furniture and textiles of the period), in the Textile Galleries and Gallery S301, and Twentieth Century American Prints and Drawings, on view in the Schwartz Graphic Arts Galleries.

Both exhibitions are free. The former runs through Feb. 14, the latter through Feb. 28, 1982.

The museum also offers a program of music, lectures and films. Creative Music Phase II, a presentation of Afro-American chamber music by the New Chamber Quintet, is set for Saturday, Dec. 26, at 8 p.m. in the DIA's Lecture/Recital Hall. Tickets are $5.

Pianist Bess Bonnier performs light jazz in the Crystal Gallery Sunday afternoons, from 1 to 4 p.m., Dec. 27, Jan. 3 and every Sunday thereafter. Exotic foods and drinks are available for purchase. There is no cover charge.

The next Masterwork of the Week lecture will focus on "Madonna and Child," an early 16th century panel painting by Giovanni Bellini, Wednesday, Dec. 30, at 1:30 p.m. in Gallery W234. Admission is free.

Youtheatre's Small, Small World Adventure focuses on "The Seasons of Michigan," a film/narrative by Kenard Lawrence, for ages five through adult, Saturday, Dec. 26, at 2 p.m. in the museum auditorium. Tickets are $2.50 ($1.75 for groups of 10 or more).

Afternoon Film Theatre presents "Sparrows," starring Mary Pickford, Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 26 and 27, and "Passion," directed by Ernst Lubitsch, Wednesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 29 and 30 and Jan. 2 and 3. Screenings are at 1 p.m. in the Lecture/Recital Hall. Admission is $1 at the door.

The museum ticket office, 832-2730, has additional information on all performance events.

Veteran New York director John Ulmer, currently on the faculty of Rutgers University, will stage Arthur Miller's powerful drama "A View from the Bridge," set to open a four-week run Thursday, Dec. 31, at Meadow Brook Theatre on the campus of Oakland University near Rochester.

Ulmer has directed some of Meadow Brook's most popular productions, including "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?," "Ten Little Indians," "Spoon River Anthology," "The Drunkard," "The Show-Off," "Of Mice and Men" and "You Can't Take It with You."

"A View from the Bridge" details the violent happenings in a dockworker's family when they offer harbor two Sicilian cousins who have illegally entered the United States.

Tickets may be reserved at the box office now by calling 377-3300. The play will continue at Meadow Brook through Sunday, Jan. 24.

Mistletoe is inspiration for more than kissing

By Rebecca R. Kirtland
National Geographic News Service

Mistletoe is more than an excuse for kissing. The focus of elaborate Druid rites at Stonehenge and the powerful Golden Bough of mythology, it was once believed to promote fertility, protect from fire and lightning, cure epilepsy and, some say, provided the wood for the cross of Christ.

Mistletoe, which flourishes without direct contact with earth, is probably poisonous to people but is a mainstay of the diet of birds. Although it grows primarily in the tropics, it inflicts more damage on United States forests than any disease.

It belongs to the genus Phoradendron, which translates "tree thief," and is a semiparasite that grows in the tops of oak, mesquite, maple and other trees. Mistletoe takes all its water and nutrients from the host tree but synthesizes its own food, explains Delbert Weins, a biologist at the University of Utah who has studied mistletoe for 25 years.

"The mistletoes make up a very large, complicated genus ranging throughout the world, but only about four species in the United States are used for Christmas decorations," he says. "These are found throughout the United States, except for the colder regions of the northern Rocky Mountains, the Great Plains, the northern Midwest and New England."

If mistletoe has uses other than promoting holiday cheer they have not been found. But it is significant economically for the damage it inflicts on timber trees.

Ed Wicker, plant pathologist for the United States Department of Agriculture, says 3.2 billion board feet of timber growth a year is not realized, because dwarf mistletoe saps vital nutrients and moisture from the trees: enough wood to build 290,000 average homes.

Early Christian legends hold that mistletoe, once a tree itself, shrank in shame after Christ's cross was hewn from its wood. But that legend hasn't shrunk its holiday popularity in England and the United States.

Robert Tiemann, of Priddy, Tex., whose Tiemann Holiday Mistletoe Company has provided the kissing bough to eager customers for 29 years, says, "Our orders are up 50 percent over last year. We've shipped 45,000 pounds of preserved mistletoe to wholesalers already. And from Thanksgiving to mid-December we work 'round the clock to provide more than 60,000 pounds of fresh mistletoe to buyers in every state in the Union."

Mistletoe is harvested in much the same way it was gathered since before the time of Christ. Seasonal workers search it out in forests where it grows wild. They usually work in pairs — one in the tree, another on the ground — to harvest the mistletoe with a long-handled hook. It must be handled gingerly because the elegant white berries are delicate.

During the winter solstice in ancient Britain and Gaul, Druid priests also believed contact with earth but with a golden sickle. In flowing white robes, marching to the heralding of trumpets and the chanting of bards, they proceeded solemnly into the forest to sacrifice two pure white bulls to their gods before cutting the sacred plant.

The mistletoe was ceremoniously caught in white cloths because the Druids believed contact with earth would not only diminish its power to promote fertility and cure numerous ailments but would also bring bad fortune.

In Switzerland, Sweden and Wales, superstition dictated that, to retain its virtues, mistletoe had to be shot out of trees and caught before it touched the ground. Today, on the Eastern Shore of Maryland where mistletoe is prevalent, shooting it out of trees remains one method of harvest.

Mistletoe's role in Norse legends has made it a holiday symbol of love and peace. In Scandinavian antiquity, warriors meeting by chance beneath mistletoe in a forest would lay down their arms and embrace.

When the Norse god Balder was slain by a mistletoe dart his mother's tears became the plant's white berries. She decreed that mistletoe would never again do harm. Because Balder's life was restored, his mother is said to bestow a kiss upon anyone who passes under mistletoe.

America's mistletoe tradition comes more directly from England where strait-laced Victorians permitted it to sanction a bit of frivolity — but with a caveat. Each kiss required that a berry be plucked. When the berries were gone so was the magic, and no more kisses were allowed.

Magic or not, mistletoe's appeal is continuing. "Everybody likes to take his kisses," Tiemann notes.

Anxiety has been called "the disease of our age." No wonder! The desire for success, popularity, and status can become an inner ache. Questions about society, values, and our threatened world can turn into a gnawing helplessness. Day after day it chips at us.
What can be done? Is there any antidote for anxiety? Life isn't always easy or pleasant. No one told us it would be. When Jesus said, "I'll never leave you or forsake you," He is recognizing the presence of anxiety. But he helps us face it squarely, deal with its causes, and move beyond its power. He offers Himself and His resources to sustain us, and help us grow in every situation of Life.

A white Yule to cap Mich. tour year?

Michigan ski operators are dreaming of a white Christmas—a holiday which could herald a record ski season and cap one of the state's best tourism years ever, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Michigan's year-long tourism boom should continue through New Year's, culminating in a four to six percent rise over 1980," said James Drury, Auto Club's Travel Operations manager. "Ski operators hope the state's tourism increase will continue through March and translate into the ski industry's first $150 million season.

"Advance holiday bookings promise a strong start for the 17 ski areas in Michigan which offer lodging," Drury said.

"While many holiday travelers delay lodge reservations until Christmas-New Year's weather reports are out, nearly half of the ski lodges are already booked for much of the holiday period," he added.

Lodges with Christmas holiday vacancies, according to an Auto Club telephone survey, are Tyrolean Hills, Boyne Mountain, Caberfae, Crystal Mountain, Schuss Mountain, Sugar Loaf, Ski Brule, Ski Homestead and Pine Mountain. "Many hotels and motels within easy driving distance of popular ski lodges also still have accommodations," Drury said.

Auto Club expects motorists to log 586 million miles in Michigan — two percent more miles than last year — during each of the 78-hour Christmas and New Year's holidays. The Christmas holiday begins at 6 p.m. today, Thursday, Dec. 24, and ends at midnight Sunday, Dec. 27.

Twenty-four persons died over last year's 102-hour Christmas holiday. Alcohol was a known or suspected factor in 83 percent of the deaths while 73 percent of the mishaps occurred in darkness. The last 78-hour Christmas holiday was in 1978 when 32 persons died in traffic.

The pre-holiday "Fuel Gauge" survey of 300 stations along major travel routes shows motorists will find adequate gasoline supplies. Nineteen percent of the surveyed stations will operate daylight hours Christmas Day.

"Our travel information records show that 1981 will be the second consecutive year for tourism growth in Michigan," Drury said. "One of the major reasons for this growth is the state's sagging economy, which has forced many Michiganders to vacation close to home instead of taking more expensive, long-distance trips.

"Requests from AAA members for Michigan destinations through November also are slightly above 1978, which is the record year for Michigan tourism," he added. Requests for AAA TourBooks are up six percent over 1978.

For out-of-state travelers, Florida continues to be the favored destination for Michigan vacationers. Auto

Club members' requests for routings to Florida are 10 percent above 1980.

Florida cities also are among the warm-weather destinations favored by air travelers. Major airlines report heavy bookings for Phoenix, Houston, Hawaii, the Caribbean, Mexico and California sun spots. Peak travel days are Dec. 18 to 24 and Jan. 1 to 2.

"With fewer flights available due to a shortage of air traffic controllers, airline seats are at a premium during peak holiday periods," said Drury. "Even ticketed passengers should arrive at the airport at least an hour ahead of the scheduled flight time."

Students observe an ethnic yule

The classroom walls were extended for the fourth graders at St. Paul's School this week to include the world. The occasion was the sixth annual International Christmas Festival, Dec. 15.

Work began on the festival in late November, with students choosing a country to report on. Most students chose a country according to their ethnic background. The language arts and social studies classes were used for writing the students' reports.

According to fourth grade teachers Christa Goldsmith and Yvonne Martilotti, the objectives of the International Christmas included developing student skills in working with reference materials such as the "World Book Encyclopedia," exposing the students to Christmas customs in other countries and developing necessary map skills to show the geography and key cities of the various countries.

The festival featured booths with each country's name, map, flag, Christmas customs, Christmas tree, clothing and ethnic food for sale.

Profits from the festival will be used for a future field trip for the fourth grade and the rest will be given to needy families at Christmas.

'Reflections' at Ebenezer

"Reflections of His Love," a new film highlighting the life and ministry of Joni Eareckson, will be shown Thursday, Dec. 31 at 8 p.m. at the Ebenezer Baptist Church, Moross and I-94.

The color film was produced by World Wide Pictures, the film ministry of the Billy Graham Association. Miss Eareckson is the star of a recent motion picture titled "Joni," which tells the story of her childhood diving accident which left her paralyzed from the neck down.

In "Reflections of His Love," Miss Eareckson tells of the transformations that have taken place in her life because of her willingness to accept all the things that have happened to her.

Pastor William Cummins has extended an open invitation to the entire community to attend the feature. There is no admission charge.

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial ... through new eyes.

On October 1 John Lake began his well-earned retirement, and Dr. Mark Weber took over as Executive Director. This folder reports on some of his early impressions of our unique Grosse Pointe institution.

"It's a center for learning throughout the lifespan."

"I've seen pre-schoolers and seniors - and every age group in between - doing and learning here. There's really no limit to the educational opportunities we can offer."

"... a center for the arts and individual creative activities."

"In the Fries Auditorium we have a marvelous facility for the performing arts. In the Art Wing people can find self-expression of all kinds. Our cultural contribution can be tremendous."

"... a center for people with community interests and needs."

"Almost daily I see civic-minded groups meeting in unselfish efforts to give service to the Grosse Pointe community. Perhaps there are even more ways in which our members can serve."

"... a center for all ages!"

"Whether it's children's ballet, teen ski trips, an adult lecture series or senior bridge, there is something here for every age. And that's as it should be!"

Dear Grosse Pointer:

It may seem strange to receive this Family Participation solicitation at this time of year.

There are two good reasons.

First, we have a new Executive Director, Mark Weber, whom you have met in this folder. We hope you have gained a feeling for the kind of thrust he will give the Grosse Pointe War Memorial in coming years.

Second, there are new financial considerations for our membership. For some the new tax law will make it more beneficial to make their deductible gifts before January 1. Others will benefit from giving after the first of the year. And for many it is more comfortable to do their parts after Social Security withholding is out of the way.

Please remember that our $180,000 goal for 1982 will be met by over 6,000 families - and that every pledge of every size is important. In 1981 over a quarter of a million people will have taken advantage of the educational, cultural and civic opportunities offered by the War Memorial. It is a vital asset to our community - and a value to you and your family.

You may be familiar with the War Memorial's connection with Grosse Pointe Cable Television, but you should be aware that it will be several years before that association will produce any income for us. Please consider your pledge now - payable either this year or next. And please return your card as soon as you can.

Thank you.

NO 'VIEW' IN THE VILLAGE

Last week in "From Another Pointe of View," we reported that Phil Porter's new book, "View from the Veranda: The History and Architecture of the Summer Cottages on Mackinac Island," was available at Jacobson's in-the-Village. We reported wrong. You can get "View"—if there are any copies left—locally on-the-Hill, at The Book Shelf. You can order it, at $7.50 per copy, postpaid, by writing the Mackinac Island State Park Commission, Mackinac Island, Mich. 49757.

Children's toys should be selected with caution

No one knows why a child will push a small object up his nose. Perhaps just "because it's there," the object is handy, and it happens to fit.
If a toy is painted or has painted decorations, be sure that the paint is non-toxic. Imported toys, particularly those from Mexico, may use lead-based paint. Eating paint chips has resulted in lead poisoning. Decorative beads, beans or seeds may also be poisonous. Some plastic toys may be flammable if exposed to heat.
What are desirable toys for the two-year-old? A sandbox with bucket, shovel and spoon, plus other containers of assorted sizes, provides hours of fun and lots of learning experiences. A variation of this for apartment dwellers is a "rice table" or "rice box." Whole grain, unprocessed rice is used instead of sand. It has the advantage of not sticking to the child's damp skin like sand and being easier to brush up if spilled. It doesn't scratch floors or furniture, or work its way down into a rug. It scoops and pours as easily as sand and provides the same wide variety of play experiences.

Large peg boards also are good. The jumbo pegs are easy for small hands to grasp and push into the holes, but too big to be swallowed. The peg-board is usually a half to three quarter inch thick slab of rubber, easy to handle and soft enough so that its edges won't nick the furniture.

Wooden animals, solid or jointed, make good play friends. All of the better companies make excellent wooden toys, and all such toys made in America are required by law to use non-toxic paint and decorations.
Cars and wagons to push around, not the miniatures or the small plastic cars whose wheels and axles come off when you look at them hard, but big, sturdy cars and trucks, and wagons sturdy enough to last through several years of loading, carrying and unloading are excellent.
Tip-proof kiddie cars—those little riding toys the child "walks" around—come in a variety of forms. Just be sure that the wheels are far enough apart for good stability. At three years, many children can ride a tricycle, but steering and pedaling are a little too much for a child just past two. The kiddie car gives practice in steering and in going both backward and forward, but doesn't require the coordination needed for pedaling.

Large crayons will stimulate scribbling and interest in colors. The new washable ones are helpful to the newer scribbler who hasn't yet learned that crayons are for scribbling on paper.
A low rocking horse provides exercise and excitement for a budding buckaroo. Just be sure that your child can mount the rocking horse unaided so that it becomes "his" horse.

Pointers of Interest ...

Looking happy at the prospect of spending their first Christmas away from home are Grosse Pointe South High School foreign ex-

By Peggy O'Connor

For a foreign exchange student, spending a year in America means encountering a lot of "firsts," and for four of the five exchange students attending Grosse Pointe South High School this year, celebrating Christmas outside their native countries is one big first. But Shigeo Kotake, Jyrki Kakko, Silvia Sanchez and Catherine Lassure aren't complaining—they're all rather excited about the prospect of experiencing an American Christmas.

Shigeo, 18, son of Mithuru and Chisato Kotake, of Japan, says that just living in a Christian country at Christmas time will be new for him. "Japan is not Christian, and here Christmas is something religious. In Japan, we have the Christmas trees and Santa Claus—it's very interesting. But I want to take part in a religious Christmas ... for the first and probably the last time," he laughs.

Shigeo's American family, the James Nicholsons, of Cloverly Road, have already given him an early Christmas gift. They took him skiing for the first time in his life.

All of the students agree that they will miss the Christmas traditions practiced at home, but perhaps none more than Silvia Sanchez, who has spent her previous 16 Christmases in Mexico City, celebrating in a very traditional Mexican way with her parents, Silvia and Salvador Sanchez.

"STARTING TWO WEEKS before Christmas, we celebrate every night. We sing Christmas songs and eat traditional foods, like bunulos, which are like big crackers with sugar, and drink punch with fruit," Silvia says. But the real party begins at noon Dec. 24 and runs through Christmas Day.

"At noon we eat and open presents, then we put the baby in the manger." The fact that Christmas commemorates the birth of Christ is central to the Mexican celebration of Christmas, Silvia says.

The celebration doesn't end on Dec. 25. "On Jan. 6, we celebrate the 'Coming of Kings.'" Large batches of cake-like bread are baked, and placed in each loaf is a tiny candy figure of a baby. "If you find the baby in the bread, you have to take all the Christmas things out and have a 'Candelaria' party on Feb. 2."

Silvia probably won't find any two-month-long American Christmas parties to rival those of her native Mexico, but just in case she gets a little homesick, her American family, the Cabell Morrises, of Rivard Boulevard, have bought her a Christmas pinata.

JYRKI KAKKO'S Finnish Christmases haven't been too unlike American Christmases, with a few exceptions. "We use white candles on our trees, not lights. Here, I put Christmas lights up outside for the very first time. Also, you don't see artificial trees in Finland," Jyrki says. His American hosts, J. M. Siero, MD, and family have bought a "real" tree this year in his honor.

Jyrki, 18, adds he'll miss just two Finnish customs when he and the Sieros wake up and begin celebrating Christmas tomorrow morning. "We usually open our presents on Christmas Eve in Finland—and of course I'll miss my Christmas sauna."

Jyrki is the son of Iris and Aaro Kakko, of Lohja, Finland. According to Jyrki, the Finnish and Americans are on the same wavelength when it comes to Christmas. "Americans don't know it, but their idea of Father Christmas (Santa Claus) came from Finland," he says proudly.

Catherine Lassure, of France, says she has already received her gift from her American family, Victor Bloom, MD, and the other Blooms who live on Three Mile Drive. "They've given me freedom ... I want to see all the aspects of an American Christmas," Catherine, 18, is the daughter of Jean and Monique Lassure, who live just outside Paris.

CATHERINE NOTES that the French spend the same amount of time and money on Christmas that Americans do. "And the ads on TV begin the same time too: Thanksgiving."

The French have a lovely practice not likely to be found here in the United States. "It is traditional for the town craftsmen to make the creche figures (each year) ... everyone makes a big deal about that in the villages. When you set up the creche, you can put the wise men in different parts of the rooms, and each day move them closer to the crib until Jan. 6," Catherine says.

The French, like the Finnish, aren't accustomed to putting electrical lights on their Christmas trees. Instead, they put what in America are known as "sparklers" on their trees. Imagine the Fourth of July look (or Bastille Day, in this case) those trees must take on!

A fifth foreign exchange student at South this year, Rene Strunch, of Denmark, will be spending his Christmas with the Peter Higbys, of Moross Road.

It seems that each student has adjusted to spending his or her first Christmas away from home, what with the excitement of experiencing a first Christmas in America. And for some, like Shigeo, Christmas is not the long-awaited holiday it is for others.

"It's not a season in Japan, not a party for everyone. Christmas is just for the family and just on Dec. 25. After that, we forget Christmas and start thinking about New Year's."

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol—and penny-wise—cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth presenting, this week, a pair of light and colorful ideas for a holiday buffet table.

CHRISTMAS FRUIT MELANGE

- 1 pkg. orange jello
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 2 cups boiling water
- 2 Tbsp. very finely diced crystallized ginger
- Whipped topping
- 4 cups cut-up dates, slightly cooked raisins (so they are very plump) and coarsely broken pecans or English walnuts
- Mandarin orange sections, drained and carefully blotted dry with paper towels

In porcelain bowl, mix jello with sugar. Carefully pour in boiling water and stir until sugar and gelatin are thoroughly dissolved. When cool enough, place in refrigerator until mixture becomes like heavy egg whites in consistency; then stir in ginger with the cut-up fruits and nuts. Pour into a ring mold which has been rinsed with very cold water. Place in refrigerator to jell until ready to serve.

This can be made several days ahead—but do make sure that it is tightly covered with aluminum foil.

Decorate with rosettes of whipped topping and sections of Mandarin oranges which have been drained and carefully blotted dry on paper toweling.

GINGERED CRANBERRY MOLD

- 2 cans (16 oz.) jellied cranberries or jellied cranberry sauce
- 1 Tbsp. unflavored gelatin
- 1/4 cup cold water
- Tokay grapes
- 1 can (8 oz.) crushed pineapple
- 1 1/2 Tbsp. finely minced crystallized ginger
- 1/2 cup chopped English walnuts

Turn the cranberry sauce out of the cans into the top of a double boiler and break it up very fine with a fork. Place over hot water for a few minutes, until melted. In the meantime, soak the gelatin in the cold water for 5 minutes; then dissolve by placing the cup in hot water for a minute or so. Add thoroughly dissolved gelatin to the cranberry sauce. Cool.

Cut in half and seed sufficient grapes to make 1 cup. Drain the pineapple well. Add the grapes, pineapple, ginger and nuts to the cooled gelatin mixture. When gelatin mixture starts to thicken, pour into a well-oiled ring mold. Refrigerate until set.

It is best to make this salad the day before to insure firmness. An hour or so before serving, turn molded salad onto a large serving platter and garnish with small clusters of grapes which have been dipped in unbeaten egg white and then rolled in granulated sugar to give them a frosted effect. Makes 8 servings.
