Woods ratifies DPW, two other contracts

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The Grosse Pointe Woods City Council ratified three union contracts at a special meeting Monday, Feb. 8, signing three-year contracts with two of the unions. The council also considered in executive session a contract proposal from the Grosse Pointe Woods Police Officers Association, the union which last year filed an unfair bargaining complaint against the city.

After clarification of what the council considered ambiguous language in clauses covering payment of employees for lost or stolen personal items and the cost of living cap along with deletions of typos and spelling out in the contract the duration of the agreement, Mayor George Freeman and City Administrator Chester Petersen will sign the contracts

Three-year pacts were signed with the Grosse Pointe Woods Supervisory Personnel Association and the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees AFL-CIO, Local 1121 of District 25, effective from July 1, 1981 to June 30, 1984.

In addition, the city ratified a contract from 1980-81 with the Grosse Pointe Sergeants Association, while bargaining continues on a one-year pact for the three sergeants in the bargaining unit.

LOCAL 1121 represents about 45 public works employees, emergency medical technicians and clerk-dispatchers. Phillip Cadieux, local president, said he was satisfied with the agreement, and had hefty praise for his bargaining team.

"Considered in terms of the concessions unions in other municipalities have been asked to make, I think this contract is a good one," Cadieux said.

The contract quality was because of the expertise of the bargaining team, Cadieux said, adding that Tom Milton, staff representative and chief negotiator for Council 25, Stan Mayer, union steward, Lois Clairhoute and John Kojak, who moved to Texas before the bargaining was complete, earned the union's thanks, Cadieux said.

Full-time employees will receive a $1.16 per hour raise over three years, while permanent part-time employees will get 65 cents per hour over the same period. According to Cadieux, the average wage of a full-time employee will increase from $7.24 to $8.40 per hour, while full permanent part-timers will climb from $6.84 to $7.49.

A supplemental annuity pension plan became a part of two contracts. Any full-time employee who retires after July 1, 1981, and meets the city's retirement provisions, will receive a supplemental annuity of $210 per month which shall be increased by $1.20 for each month the employee's age at retirement exceeds 55. A cap of $350 was put on the annuity.

The annuity will not be paid in the case of deferred retirement payments, disability retirement, survivor benefits, or redetermination of retirement allowances, however.

COST OF living allowances were capped at five percent or $1,200, whichever was the greater for all three unions.

All regular full-time employees of the three unions were given the option of trading three personal sick days to leave days.

One of those sick days could be converted to a personal leave day for the employee's birthday. Requests for such days should be made two days in advance, according to the contract.

A 30-day cap was placed on accumulated sick time. After that, the days are deemed lost, according to the contracts. However, the employees can sell back 25 percent of their sick time to the city, during the year.

All regular full-time employees of the three unions will be provided with group life, health, and accident, and hospitalization and surgical insurance. In addition, spouses and children 18 and younger will be covered with hospital and surgical benefits.

Five supervisory personnel below the classification of director will be furnished with uniforms or credited with the cost of buying them under the terms of their contract with the city. The three directors covered under the contract will receive a $300 clothing allowance figured into their salaries.

Emergency medical technicians are also credited with a $300 clothing allowance under their contract with the city. The three directors covered under the contract will receive a $300 clothing allowance figured into their salaries.

Emergency medical technicians are also credited with a $300 clothing allowance under their contract. They also will receive time-and-a-half for working more than their 12 hour shifts.

All full-time employees of Local 1121 will be paid double time for working holidays.

UNDER THE Local 1121 contract, all part-time employees will start accumulating seniority from the date of continuous employment as a part-time worker.

Supervisory personnel, the director, assistant director and superintendent of public works, the director of Parks and Recreation, the director of Inspection Services, the administrative aide and deputy treasurer will

Silly tips when ice ain't nice

By Tom Greenwood

Just when you thought every possible avenue of escape had been explored, every bit of advice had been gleaned and every bit of information dispersed to the public, we at the News have spared every expense to dig up even more homemade remedies to cure those blahs and bring on warm weather and good times.

In a sincere effort to help our readers snap out of those "It's-the-middle-of-February-and-I'm-so-cold-I've-turned-blue" blues, the staff contacted 10 psychologists for timely Dr. Joyce Brothers-esque advice for coping during these anything but tepid times.

Of the 10 psychologists that were contacted, four were sunning in Florida, three were too depressed to talk about it, one didn't trust the press and another was snowbound in his house. The 10th was no help at all, having died three years earlier shoveling out his driveway.

KNEE DEEP IN it by this time and facing a deadline, the staff (six minds without a single thought) gathered these common sense approaches to surviving the rest of the winter:

● Throw caution and federal guidelines to the winds, turn up the thermostat to a comfy 60 degrees, open those thermal drapes, scrape the frost off the inside of the windows, run outside and shovel the snow away from the outside windows, peel off the plastic sheeting and let that sunshine in!

● Don't date native born Swedes—especially those who think Ingmar Bergman films are funny.

● Anticipate baseball season. Try practicing your fast ball in the hallway.

● Fill the house with six tons of sand and walk around in your bathing suit. Use phrases like

Snow Jobs

Extraordinary weather often calls for extraordinary measures. For instance, take Tim Golobic, 10, of McKinley Avenue, who volunteered to go to the store for his family. Combining cross-country skiing with duty, Tim showed us all how to cope. Also trying to cope were Farms firemen Don Giles (left) and Sgt. Joseph Reigler, busy freeing fire hydrants. All Pointe fire departments are asking for citizen cooperation in keeping the hydrants accessible. "It's a full-time job trying to keep up," said Firefighter Giles. "If we get another heavy snow, or people cover the hydrants while shoveling their walks, it means starting all over again. Keeping the hydrants clear is in the homeowners' best interest." All five Pointe governments have also asked for citizen help in uncovering drain basins in the street to allow for melting snow runoff.

Beat those ice & snow blues!

By Tom Greenwood

What's the matter, cousin? You say Old Man Winter has gotten you down? You say with Christmas over you're so desperate for good times that you're seriously considering throwing an Ash Wednesday Party? You say you tried on your bathing suit and looked like the Pillsbury dough boy without the hat?

Well, lighten up. Help is on the way. You aren't the only person feeling this way. It affects nearly everyone north of the Florida Keys, or so say psychologists.

"The thing to realize is that the holidays are very important to us socially," said Dr. John Fiondo, of Comprehensive Psychological Services on Mack Avenue. "Perhaps too much importance is put on them, with a corresponding letdown afterwards. The thing to remember is that Christmas is not what it used to be to us. The magic is gone as we grow older. The idea is to avoid the post holiday blues by growing up. If you recognize depression, you can help avoid it."

DR. BRUCE BURNS, of Renaissance Psychological Services in Detroit, feels sunlight plays a big role in fighting winter blahs.

"Research has shown that a lack of sunlight causes physical chemical changes in the brain, resulting in depression," said

Dr. Burns. "In a study of observed prisoners, those assigned to the south side of a prison washed in sunshine suffered less depression than those situated on the north side of the institution."

"Weather definitely affects us. People should open their drapes and let the sunshine in. Or try going outside for awhile, even if only for a walk. I, myself, noticed that I didn't mind the big snowfall so much the next day, when it was so sunny and bright. It made it easier to accept. I don't think I would have felt the same if it had been gray and overcast."

Dr. Burns also counsels his patients to fight the doldrums by realizing that they might be depressed. "Half the battle in fighting depression is identifying our feelings," Dr. Burns said.

"Winter feelings of 'cabin fever' are common and recognizable. People are in close proximity to each other. You can't always leave because of the weather, plus the kids are home from snow-closed schools. If you can recognize what's going on, you can effectively fight it."

Dr. Lorraine Coletti, director of Human Synergistics, feels taking an active role helps fight the blues. "I like to see people assume an active position rather than remain passive," she said.

Park issues video game ultimatum

By Peggy O'Connor

Grosse Pointe Park's Esquire Theatre has less than one week to comply with a new city ordinance and reduce its number of video games or face legal action by the Park.

The Park council Monday unanimously approved a motion authorizing the city attorney's office to pursue legal action against the Esquire if the theater's owners do not comply with the ordinance and reduce the number of video game machines from 12 to five.

Under Ordinance No. 94, R & R Theaters, owners of the Jefferson Avenue Esquire, will be permitted up to five machines upon proper licensing and when several modifications to the theater's Video Games Rooms have been made. As of Feb. 8, the video games had not been licensed, according to City Attorney Harold Deason, who noted that subsequent to Feb. 15, licenses will be granted to those establishments complying with the ordinance—five or fewer video games.

"TO DATE, I am informed they have not reduced the number of video games. They have no license and are in violation of the city ordinance," Deason said.

An Esquire spokesman said that the theater had until Feb. 15 to comply with the ordinance. The city said that although the theater was technically in violation of the ordinance since it went into effect Feb. 1, the city would indeed not pursue action until Feb. 15.

At an earlier council meeting Esquire owner Ron Demers said the theater needed revenue from the video machines, estimated at about $35,000 a year per machine. Demers said the theater had been hit hard by the installation of cable TV in the Pointes.

Esquire owners claim that they spent $12,000 in remodeling the storefront adjoining the theater into a games room. "The machines weren't just dumped there. It's an entertainment center," spokesmen told the council.

City attorneys maintain the video parlor in its present state is in violation of the ordinance. The city adds if the Esquire reduces the number of machines to five and the use of these machines remains ancillary to the permitted use as that of a theater, the theater would be in compliance with the ordinance.

MAYOR DOUGLAS Graham Monday emphasized the city's willingness to keep the lines of communication open with the theater and its owners.

Look out Mr. Simon: Here comes Ken

By Joanne Gouleche

Ken Priebe, a local author of six books, who recently completed his first play, can't recall when he began to write.

"I don't know. Maybe, it was in kindergarten," he says scratching his head.

Priebe, who will star in and direct his play, "The Animal Fair" this month, says his five-act production is about the Devil.

"It's about six animals who have to save other animals from the Devil," Priebe states.

The scenario begins:

"Once upon a time in the jungle Leo the Lion and Sally the Snake were talking to each other:

Sally: I have news for you, Leo.

Leo: Tell me about it.

Sally: The Devil of Darkness has stolen a cow, two sheep, three horses, four chickens, five dogs and six cats!

Leo: Good heavens!! We gotta get to the farm fast!!"

It's a complex theme, Priebe admits. Yep, especially for a 7-year-old playwright who suddenly recalls it was in kindergarten when he got this notion he would like to be the new and upcoming Neil Simon.

The News visited the young playwright in his first grade classroom at Mason Elementary School on a snowy afternoon last week.

News: "Tell me, what made you decide to write this play? What was going on inside your head?"

Priebe: "I just decided to do it on my own. I like plays, and I never wrote one before."

News: "How long did it take to write?"

Priebe: "Oh, I say about four weeks, maybe five."

News: "Did your parents or brother help you?"

Contracts

all get increases of $3,300 over the three years.

Woods sergeants received their first raise in over a year under their 1980-81 contract. Each member will receive about $1,250 in back pay under the contract.

The Grosse Pointe Woods Police Officer Association, representing 35 public safety officers and corporals, are waiting for their hearing date before the Michigan Employee Relation Commission to see if actions taken by the city during the bargaining of the officers' contract last year could constitute unfair bargaining.

Union president Thomas Hunke said the city had turned down a contract last year after the membership had already reached a tentative agreement with the city.

The council had bargained to a tentative agreement, Hunke said, and then asked for changes in the pension plan for current and future retirees. The union's pension improvement group agreed, and re-ratified the contract with the suggested change.

Meanwhile, Hunke said, the council received new figures from their actuary that showed they would be spending more for the proposed pension change than had earlier been calculated. They then made a counter offer to the union which Hunke called way out of line with the earlier proposals. The package was rejected by the city and then the union went to the Michigan Employee Relation Commission, alleging the city had bargained unfairly.

PUBLIC SAFETY officers perform more than police protection, Hunke said, since they are trained for fire-fighting and first aid as well. The city, he said, is getting three departments for the price of one:

Wages were not a major issue in the talks, Hunke said, and since current retirees are no longer members of the bargaining unit, the union finds it difficult to increase their pensions. Future retirees, however, expect something from the city for their service, he said.

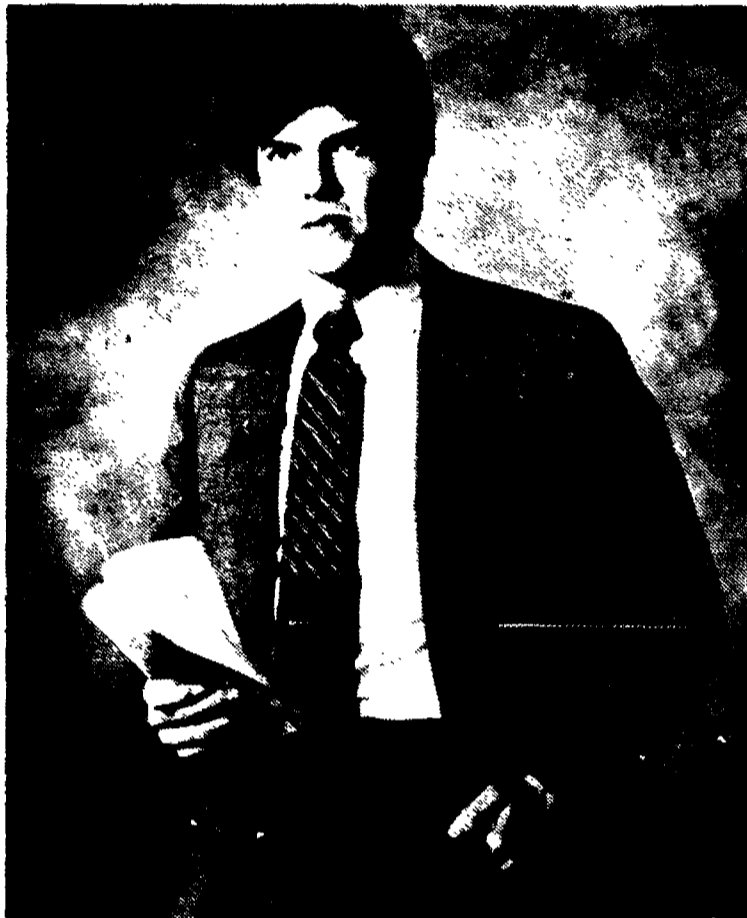

"Ours (pensions) are not livable after a few years," Hunke said. "We don't make big money, but we're supposed to get a decent pension."

The contract proposal made was one the city was to either reject or approve in its entirety, and dealt mainly with increasing pension benefits and other non-economic changes.

"We are not changing our demands," Hunke said, adding even if the city approved the proposals for a two-year contract and the membership-ratified it, it was unclear what would happen to the unfair bargaining action pending with MERC.

Mermaids, monsters may have been inspired by real animals

Ever wonder about the origins of the weird creatures that haunted your childhood dreams — the dragons, mermaids and godzillas of mythology and monster lore?

Well, those beasts weren't necessarily spun out of whole cloth, according to the current issue of International Wildlife magazine. Chances are some of them were inspired by real live animals "viewed rarely, incompletely, or by untrained and imaginative eyes," says the bimonthly publication of the National Wildlife Federation.

This theory is being explored by scientists meeting in Washington, D.C., this month to found the International Society of Cryptozoology and to try to establish which of the "fantastic" creatures have some basis in fact, the magazine reports.

Among the mythological creatures International Wildlife examines are these:

• The basilisk: Legend has it that the deadly basilisk, a serpent with a spotted crest and sometimes with wings, could kill on sight. That is, any creature foolish enough to look at the basilisk faced instant death. Only one animal escaped this creature's terror — a small, weasel-like animal with the power to kill the serpent.

Based mostly on this last fact, cryptozoologists believe that the basilisk actually was derived from embellished descriptions of the hooded cobra. The cobra can also be zapped by a small, weasel-like animal — the mongoose.

• The griffin: If you've ever read

Alice in Wonderland, you know the griffin, a flying lion with the head and wings of an eagle. With a little imagination, says International Wildlife, a real bird, the lammergeier of Central Asia, could have inspired the myth of the griffin. The lammergeier, a bird of prey with a 10-foot wing span.

To observers from below, says the NWF report, the lammergeier's tawny-colored underside and its mane-like beard could have evoked images of lions.

City woman abducted

Grosse Pointe City police are asking residents for help in identifying a young man who last week confronted a City woman in her home at knifepoint.

Police say the man, described as in his late 20s with red hair and a red beard, surprised the Roosevelt Place resident in her kitchen about 1:30 p.m., Monday, Feb. 1.

Det. Sgt. John Drummond said the man grabbed a knife and held it to the woman's throat and demanded money. The suspect then rummaged through the woman's purse and discovered her checkbook and ordered the woman to drive to a bank near Moross and Mack, police said.

Drummond said the man told the woman to cash an $800 check at the drive-in window, and then demanded she drive to another bank near Jefferson and Chalmers. There her car became stuck in the snow, police said.

Nearly pedestrians helped push her car, and police said the suspect got out of the car and helped push the vehicle, too.

When the woman's car became freed, she sped down Jefferson and reported the incident to Grosse Pointe Park police. The woman was not hurt, police said. Witnesses say the suspect walked away from the scene.

Drummond said the suspect was seen sometime Feb. 1 near Jefferson and Roosevelt wearing a green army jacket, yellow stocking cap and brown suede boots. Anyone with any information should call 886-3200.

How do figure skaters compete?

Figure skaters compete in three types of events, called Singles, Pairs, and Dance. Men and ladies compete in singles events at each of three levels of proficiency (Novice, Junior, and Senior); pair and dance couples compete at two (Junior and Senior). These levels correlate with the number of proficiency tests passed.

Singles: Single skaters compete in figures and free skating. The figure portion counts 30 percent in the final accounting, free skating counts 50 percent. Juniors and Seniors also skate a two-minute "short program" containing seven specific elements, which counts 20 percent. These required elements are selected and announced each year by the International Skating Union, and include two jumps and a jump combination, two spins and a spin combination, and a step sequence. For Novices, who do not skate a short program, the figure portion is weighted so that its value is 50 percent in the final determination of placement.

Pairs: Pairs couples at each level will compete in two programs of free skating. The first is a "Short Program" containing six specific elements selected and announced by the ISU as above: these elements include a double jump, a lift, a solo spin, a pair spin, a step sequence, and a pair move called a "death spiral," in which the lady circles around the man with one foot on the ice. The second program is a standard free-skating program of specified length. The short program counts 25 percent in the accounting, the "long" or "free" program counts 75 percent.

Dance: Dance couples at each level will compete in three sections of dancing: compulsory dances, an original set-pattern dance, and a free dance.

The Junior compulsory dances include the American Waltz, the Blues, and the Rhumba; the Seniors will dance the Starlight Waltz, the Kilian and the Tango Romantica. This portion counts 30 percent. Both Juniors and Seniors will dance a set-pattern dance of their own composition, to the Foxtrot rhythm, and finally a free dance. The original dance (OSP) counts 20 percent and the free dance 50 percent toward the final accounting and placement.

Puppetry an art at Cranbrook

The art of puppetry will be explored at Cranbrook Institute of Science during a children's workshop Feb. 13. Children ages seven through 10 are invited to make puppets, give them voices, manipulate them and put on a show.

Focus will be on the special rod puppets used in shadow plays. Puppeteer participants will work from behind a back-lighted screen so that only the shadows of the actual puppets are seen.

Hours for the workshop are 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Fee is $5. To register, send child's name, address, age and telephone number with a check to: Cranbrook Institute of Science Puppet Workshop, P.O. Box 801, 500 Lone Pine Road, Bloomfield Hills, 48013. Call 645-3230 for further information.

'Julius Caesar' opens at Hilberry

"Julius Caesar," Shakespeare's popular tragedy opened at the Hilberry Theatre Wednesday, Feb. 10, at 8:30 p.m., following previews Feb. 5 and 6. The tragedy plays in repertory at the Hilberry, Cass and Hancock in Detroit, until April.

The play is a timely indictment of political intrigue and assassination, investigating the motives behind political conspiracy and murder.

Fearful of the sudden popularity of Caesar, who has triumphantly returned to Rome after defeating his rival Pompey, Cassius and Brutus lead a conspiracy against him. When Caesar goes to the Senate House, where he is to be offered the crown, he is met by the conspirators, who, in the guise of requesting a favor, stab him to death. Chaos and war follow, until order is restored by Marc Antony and the spirit of Caesar wins.

Matt Penn plays Caesar in the Hilberry production, with Peter G. Thomson as Cassius.

Know Your Schools

Clarifying MEAP test scores

By Dr. Kenneth Brummel
Supt. of Schools

A recent listing of student scores in the 1981 Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) by elementary schools in this newspaper had generated some controversy among parents of children attending schools which ranked toward the bottom of the list of the 10 elementary buildings.

Unfortunately, most of the controversy is the result of a misunderstanding of the purpose of the MEAP and the fact that below average performances by just a very few students can drop a school's ranking to the point where there might be a tendency to make an unfair assumption that the school's student are performing at a significantly lower level than their peers in other schools.

In order to understand how that can happen, consider the following information about the MEAP:

Participation in the MEAP is mandatory for all public schools in Michigan. The test is given at the very beginning of grades four, seven and 10. As such, the fourth grade test, for instance, has nothing to do with learning in grade four. It is an assessment of learning through grade three.

The content of the test is limited to minimal skills in reading and mathematics, 25 skills in reading and 28 in mathematics. The test is not designed to measure how well average and above average students can read and work math problems. Its purpose is to identify students who have attained or have not attained a minimum level of achievement, established by the Michigan Department of Education as mastery of 75 percent of the skills in the tests.

In Grosse Pointe, 85 to 95 percent of students attain this minimum standard at the time of the test. Following remedial attention, more of these students will reach the minimum score. The test informs parents and teachers that students have attained at least minimal competence. The test also indicates which specific skills students have and have not mastered. It does not indicate anything about the full range of their knowledge and ability in reading or mathematics.

The Grosse Pointe Public School System has ranked first, second, or third place in the state for the past five years in terms of the percent of students who have "passed" the minimum standard. The individual school scores, even those which are lowest in Grosse Pointe, are among the highest school scores in the state.

Since all Grosse Pointe school scores are so close to the top on this test, the differences between schools are usually inconsequential. Because the differences are so slight, any ranking of schools on this test changes from year to year, mostly as a result of differences in the ability of the fourth grade class in each school.

An example of how a school's ranking can be affected by a few students with special circumstances is shown by the scores at one of our schools which suggest that a few of the current fourth graders are having difficulty progressing in reading and mathematics.

Of the 11 students who did not attain the 75 percent level in reading, nine have already been identified as needing special assistance and are currently receiving remedial reading help. Of the same 11 students, six are also receiving assistance in the Teacher Consultant or Bi-Lingual program, and two entered the school in the fourth grade, three weeks before the test.

Another example is that of one of our schools which ranked in ninth place in reading this year. That school had only three students who did not attain a "passing" score. I doubt that anyone would argue that a school with three fourth graders who need special help in reading is inferior to a school with one or two such students.

Obviously, a ranking of the 10 elementary schools' performance on the MEAP should not be the basis upon which the schools are judged to be "good" or "bad."

We are proud of the long history of academic excellence of our elementary schools and hope that this explanation about the rankings based on MEAP scores will help clarify what the facts are.

ULS teachers talk drama

A school drama director has many tasks to perform in a short time. Cost, costumes, sets, and programs have to be ready before the curtain comes up and the house lights go down.

University Liggett School drama teachers Gerry Ellsworth and Bruce Kefgen know the theatrical challenges and how to make them learning experiences for students.

"The beauty of educational theater is that it allows for participation by just about any student," Kefgen said. "There are so many roles that everyone can get involved."

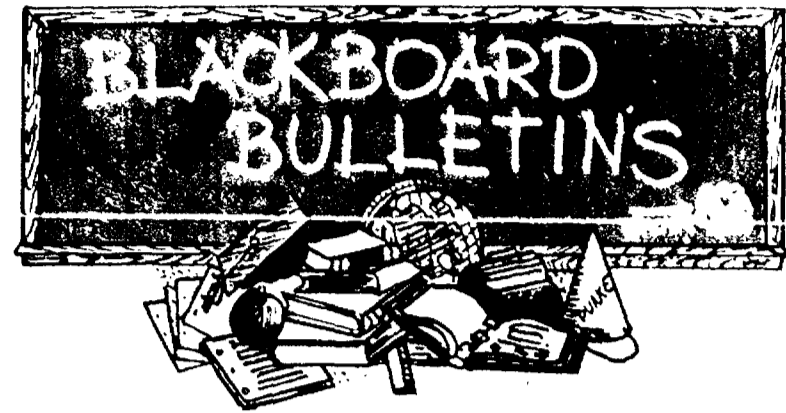

Broad participation is one aim of the ULS Creative and Performing Arts Department. The weekend of Feb. 19 through 21, and Feb. 26 and 27, more than 60 upper school students will perform in "Fiddler on the Roof" in the enlarged Cook Road auditorium.

"We would hope that before they graduate, every student will become involved in at least one production," Ellsworth said. "We want to expose our students to all types of drama."

"It is important for students in all divisions to experience the theater," Kefgen said. "We're on our way to creating impressive new performing arts facilities and we hope to also give our students the finest background in drama available anywhere."

The goals of the ULS drama program focus on the importance of educating the whole child and to provide a positive learning experience.

"Fiddler" can be seen later this month on the dates indicated. For tickets and schedule information, call 884-4444.

North opens 'Teahouse' tonight

By Joe Serwath
North High

"The Teahouse of the August Moon," Theatre North's 55th production opens 8 p.m. tonight, Thursday, Feb. 11. Director Gael Barr was familiar with the satirical comedy since "Teahouse" was also the theatre's second production in the late 60s. The play takes place in Okinawa, a South Pacific Island occupied by the United States in 1945.

Ron Cornell plays Sakini, an often satirical interpreter who translates for the soldiers and provides a narration for the show. Steve Rusing is Captain Fisby, a nice guy, but everything always works against him. Fisby is the proverbial loser who must try to organize one of the Okinawan villagers.

Fisby is constantly bothered by his pompous immediate superior, Colonel Purdy, played by Dave McCarron, while he is befriended by Captain McClean, a usually normal person who becomes obsessed with farming in a style reminiscent of Eddie Albert on "Green Acres."

McClean is portrayed by sophomore Chris Schade. The remaining soldier is Sergeant Gregovich, the island's version of Radar O'Riley, played by Matt Lehman.

Fisby is presented with a non-English speaking Geisha girl portrayed by junior Peggy Barret.

The Okinawan villagers play a major role in the show. Villagers include Monica Joseph, Tom Smith, Sharon Atkar, Steve Zink, Dan Glenn, Don Cooke, Mike Pieronek, Polly Hefferman, Kim Tobias, Steven Dinn, De-Elle Nelson, Eric Plante, Sarah Renume, Dan Roach, Georgia Holt, Tom Paros, David Verona, Andrea Reuter, Tom Zielinski, Sandy Witzky and Liz Perkin.

"The Teahouse of the August Moon" plays through Saturday, Feb. 13, in the Performing Arts Center.

North sponsors Concordia Choir

The Concordia Choir, one of the nation's capella choirs, will present a concert Sunday, Feb. 14, 3 p.m. at Orchestra Hall in downtown Detroit. The choir is sponsored by the Vocal Department of Grosse Pointe North High School. A portion of the proceeds will benefit Orchestra Hall, now an historic landmark in Detroit.

The Concordia Choir annually tours about 15 states and has performed before heads of State in Europe. The 1982 tour includes Minnesota, North Dakota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Pennsylvania and Ohio. The choir will sing in seven Michigan cities.

Choir director Dr. Paul J. Christensen of Concordia College, Moorhead, Minn., has written a large number of compositions and choral arrangements, performed throughout the country.

The choir will present a program ranging from 16th Century classics down through the Baroque era to the contemporary masters.

Tickets are available at Grosse Pointe North High School, 707 Vernier, in Grosse Pointe Woods.

Brown bag it with Brummel

The next opportunities for residents to meet informally with the Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Kenneth Brummel, is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 16 and Wednesday, Feb. 17. On those dates, there will be two "Bag Lunches with Brummel."

Residents of the south end of the school district will have the chance to "brown bag it" with Brummel at 11:30 a.m. on Feb. 16 at the Neighborhood Club, 17150 Waterloo, while north end residents can bring their lunches and meet with Brummel at 11:30 a.m. on Feb. 17 at Christ the King Lutheran Church, 20338 Mack Avenue. Coffee and tea will be provided at both lunches.

Persons wishing to attend either of the two lunches are requested to call 343 2012 for reservations by Feb. 15.

Parents dish up spaghetti

The Richard School PTO will sponsor a spaghetti dinner in the school gym Monday, Feb. 15, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

The menu includes salad, bread, beverage and dessert. The South High School Jazz Band will provide entertainment.

Finally, there's a fast, simple remedy for the trauma of tax bite: Now any working person under the age of 70½ can tax-shelter up to $2,000 per year in an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) at First Federal Savings of Detroit.

The money you deposit in an IRA is deducted from your gross income before you figure your income tax. You don't pay tax on it—or on the interest it earns—until you retire and start to withdraw your money.*

First Federal offers many attractive retirement plans, including two new 18-month accounts and our popular 30-Month Money Market Certificate Account now and March 29, 1982. Thereafter, the interest rate on this account is indexed to the 13-week U.S. Treasury Bill average discount rate. The rate is adjusted to match each weekly auction, so you continually earn the most current market rate.

Contracts

Hunke said the city had not pleaded poverty in contract talks about the pension, but had said it was more than they were willing to pay.

"We think it's reasonable," Hunke said of the package, "well within the city budget."

In the City, the administration has reached agreement with DPW workers, and is still negotiating with police and fire unions.

The Farms signed a two-year contract with its DPW union last year. The sergeants and lieutenants are in the last year of their contract, and has yet to settle with patrolmen and firefighters.

Shores police and DPW unions are operating under labor contracts that will expire in June of this year.

Park police staff officers have not submitted demands to the city in their negotiations, while patrolmen and firefighters have signed a two-and-a-half year contract. DPW and clerical workers are in the last year of a three-year contract.

Trustees, officers elected

Cottage Hospital defines goals

In future years, 1981 may be seen as one of the most significant years in the history of Cottage Hospital of Grosse Pointe, according to W. Merritt Jones Jr., hospital board chairman.

In his address at the annual meeting of the corporation Jan. 25, Jones stated that as an institution, Cottage Hospital is emerging from its single role as a community hospital to a broader concept of providing a full continuum of health care and related services.

To help achieve that goal, the hospital board of trustees formed the CHC Health Services Corporation in 1981 as the parent corporation to Cottage Hospital and to other possible ventures, Jones said.

He added that the new corporation allows its board to "own, maintain and administer many different health-related facilities and services and to integrate their functions to achieve the larger goals of the organization."

"One example is the proposed nursing home which would be owned and operated in a joint venture of Cottage and Bon Secours Hospitals," Jones said.

The hospitals also plan to purchase and operate a C.T. (computerized axial tomographic) scanner. "This new corporation will enable the hospital to pursue and develop projects which can generate separate revenues to strengthen the organization's financial base," he said.

Jones added that the formation of the CHC Health Services Corporation has added a new dimension to the potential of the hospital institution to fulfill its mission to provide a full continuum of health care services to the people of southeastern Michigan.

"Service to our patients is our final mark of progress and the goal which brings us full circle to the purpose of the founding of Cottage Hospital," he said.

In his report to the corporation, Ralph L. Wilgarde, hospital administrator, emphasized that providing excellent services and equipment, and continuing to motivate employees to achieve quality care are foremost among Cottage's goals. Another goal, he said, is to work with state and local health planning agencies to determine where and from whom people will receive health care in the future.

"In 1981 Cottage Hospital was actively involved in the second phase of bed reduction planning in southeastern Michigan," Wilgarde said. "Mandated hospital bed reduction appears to be the will of the state Legislature, but bed reduction at best only gives lip service to hospital cost containment," he said. Wilgarde stressed that among other solutions, hospitals, physicians, and the public must cooperate to reduce hospital costs by prudent use of inpatient services.

Wilgarde cited Cottage Hospital's ambulatory surgical program as a good example of cost containment in action. "Since the program began in 1980, more than 1,700 patients had one-day surgery at Cottage," he said. "About 25 percent of our surgical caseload now is ambulatory surgery."

Wilgarde also noted that Cottage continued to improve its services in 1981 by purchasing new equipment for several departments. A new arrhythmia monitoring computer was added to the telemetry system on the second floor and special care nursing units, enabling nurses to monitor critically ill patients more effectively as well as measure and evaluate the progress of patients on the regular inpatient nursing units.

In the Cardiopulmonary Services department, new computerized pulmonary function testing equipment was added to provide more complete and immediate data feedback on the respiratory condition of patients, Wilgarde said.

In 1981 Wilgarde said the hospital's community programs focused on health education and wellness, through free health clinics and cardiopulmonary resuscitation classes for the public. The hospital also sponsored events such as a fun run and a two-day health fair.

He concluded that "through long range planning, Cottage Hospital is seeking better ways to anticipate the health care needs of our service area and is playing a more important role in the decision making about where and from whom people may obtain care and a variety of health services in the community."

David H. Barker, MD, chief of staff at Cottage Hospital, told the corporation that many new developments in technology and medical knowledge have taken place in the last 10 years.

To accomplish that goal, Barker said Cottage has implemented a quality assurance program which attempts to integrate the activities of all hospital departments, including the medical staff, in efforts to identify and solve the problems of providing quality patient care.

"The changes in technology and the cost of delivering medical service must be assessed," Barker said. "We provide continuing education so that all hospital personnel are able to apply the latest information available."

He added that new technology is often expensive but in many ways, the benefit to the patient is much greater than in the past.

Dr. Barker added that while preparing for the present and future changes, "we must not forget the one thing that will not change, that is the love and concern for the persons that we serve. The hospital has a continuing commitment to the highest quality medical care."

The following persons were elected to three year terms as members of the board of trustees of Cottage Hospital: Mrs. Clarence E. Bessert, Mrs. John L. Booth, Cleveland Thurber Jr., Robert E. Valk, Robert A. Waters, Mrs. H. Gordon Wood, Mrs. F. James Robinson, II and Robert P. Lambrecht.

Elected to serve a two year term were Keith E. Crain, Peter R. Fink and Richard H.W. Chadwell Jr. were elected to serve on the board of trustees for one year.

The officers elected to one year terms were: chairman — W. Merritt Jones Jr.; president — Robert E. Valk; first vice-president — Gordon T. Ford; second vice-president — Robert P. These four young ladies are among the 40 students who will appear in the Grosse Pointe Children's Theater production of "The Little Princess" Feb. 13 and 20 at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Auditorium. Rehearsing their parts are (left to right) Donna Obeid, who will play "Lottie," Marla Kurz in the shared role of "Sarah," Nicole Buffo as "Lavinia" and Cathy Obeid as "Ermengarde."

'Little Princess' premieres at Memorial Feb. 13

"The Little Princess," an uplifting drama about a girl who remains a princess in spirit despite her loss of family and fortune, will be the annual midwinter presentation of Grosse Pointe Children's Theater.

A cast of 40 area students will appear in four performances at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Auditorium on Saturday, Feb. 13 at 11 a.m. and 2:30 p.m., and on the following Saturday, Feb. 20, at the same times.

Ticket prices are $2 for students, $3.50 for adults, and $1.75 for groups of 12 students or more. Ticket information can be provided by the War Memorial box office at 881-7511.

"The Little Princess" is the second of three major Children's Theater productions of the 1981-82 season, following January's production of "Cheaper by the Dozen." Under the direction of Sally Reynolds, with musical direction by Mrs. John Mazer, Children's Theater will also present "Oliver" in May.

According to Mrs. Reynolds, "The Little Princess" has long been a Children's Theater favorite.

"This is the fourth time this play has been presented by one group," she said, "and audiences are always captivated by the story and the performances."

"The play is set in 19th Century England, and the heroine is a wealthy girl in an exclusive boarding school whose sweetness and kindness earn her the title of 'the little princess.'"

"When tragedy strikes and she loses her family and her wealth, she faces the test of preserving herself and her spirit under conditions of great adversity. The play asks the question of whether the spirit of a princess can prevail over the realities of a harsh and unfriendly world."

Interwoven with the main theme are elements of mystery, comedy and the mystique of an Indian maharajah. The play has been performed worldwide, and starred Shirley Temple in a 1940 film version.

Sharing the lead roles as the princess will be Heather Cross, Marla Kurz and Mary Frances Obeid. Children's Theater playgoers may recall Heather from her role as Dorothy in "The Wizard of Oz," Marla as Princess Esmeralda in "The Plain Princess" and Mary Frances as the Cheshire Cat in "Alice in Wonderland."

Appearing in featured roles are Michele Gasparet, Cathy Obeid, Wendy Willett, Kristen Button, Donna Obeid, Nicole Buffo and Carrie Martin. Featured high school students will be Katie Gracey, Roger Walker, Chris Quigley, Chris Cavanaugh, Wendy Hounstain and Andy Guest.

Supporting roles will be played by Jennie Cure, Sheila Mebus, Stephanie Shock, Robin Weidinger, Nanette Ruwe, Diane Shock, Cathy Cavanaugh, Holly Cole, Julie Wheeler, Jennifer Williams, Jennifer Shock, Miles Vick, Kasey Clark, Debra Wright, Gabby Bruno, Laura Vick, William Obeid, Doug Sutherland, Carrie Krim, Melanie Kahn, Nancy Kostecke, Beth Nelson, Erin Bryan and Shanna McNamee.

"This is definitely one of the most touching and heartwarming plays we have ever given at Children's Theater," Mrs. Reynolds said. "The Little Princess" has all the ingredients to brighten the mid-February spirits of Pointe theatergoers of all ages."

NOTICE OF HEARING ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Zoning Board of Appeals will meet in the City Hall at 90 Kerby Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, on at 8:00 p.m. to hear the appeal of Mrs. Patricia Harper, owner of the premises located at 34 Moross Road, for a variance from the provisions of Article XIII, Section 1300, of the City's Zoning Ordinance with respect to minimum lot size. Such variance has been requested for reason that Mrs. Harper proposes to divide the fore-going parcel of property into two (2) parcels in such a manner as to provide adequate rear yard for the existing structure, but thereby causing the second parcel to have a total area of 10,600 square feet, in violation of the minimum lot size in an R-1-AA District of 11,000 square feet.

The Hearing will be public. Interested property owners or residents of the City are invited to attend.

"Section 39. Vagrancy

(a) BEGGING - Any person who goes from door to door of private homes or commercial and business establishments, or places himself in or upon any public way or public place to beg or receive alms for himself.

(b) UNLAWFUL OCCUPANCY - Any person occupying, lodging, or sleeping in or under any vacant or unoccupied garage, shed, shop, or other building or structure, or in any automobile, truck, or other vehicle, without owning the same or without permission of the owner or person entitled to the possession of the same, or sleeping in any vacant lot and not giving a satisfactory account of himself."

Section 2. The General Offenses Ordinance, Ordinance No. 7-07 enacted December 20, 1971, is hereby amended by revising Section 8 of Chapter 3 to read as follows:

"Section 8. Loitering

It shall be unlawful for any person to loiter or prowl in a place, at a time, or in a manner not usual for law-abiding individuals under circumstances that warrant alarm for the safety of persons or property in the vicinity. Among the circumstances which may be considered in determining whether such alarm is warranted is the fact that the actor takes flight upon the appearance of a police officer, refuses to identify himself, or manifestly endeavors to conceal himself or any object. Unless flight by the actor or other circumstance makes it impracticable, a police officer shall prior to any arrest for an offense under this section afford the actor an opportunity to dispel any alarm which would otherwise be warranted, by requesting him to identify himself and explain his presence and conduct. No person shall be convicted of an offense under this Section if the police officer did not comply with the preceding sentence, or if it appears at trial that the explanation given by the actor was true and, if believed by the police officer at the time, would have dispelled the alarm."

Section 3. The General Offenses Ordinance, Ordinance No. 7-07 enacted December 20, 1971, is hereby amended by revising Sections 8 and 9 of Chapter 5 to read as follows:

"Section 8. Authority of Police Officers to Stop and Question Persons who are Loitering or Wandering Upon the Streets.

A police officer may stop a person on the street to determine that person's identity or to obtain information on a crime if he has reasonable suspicion to believe, under the circumstances existing prior to the stop, and in light of his experience, that criminal activity has occurred or is about to occur. The scope of the investigative stop must be reasonably related to the circumstances which justified the interference at its inception."

"Section 9. Authority of Police Officers to Search Suspicious Persons

When a police officer has stopped a person for questioning pursuant to Section 8 and has reasonable cause to believe that person is armed and presently dangerous to himself or others, he may conduct a limited search of that person for dangerous weapons. The police officer may take and keep such weapon or any other thing, the possession of which may constitute a crime, until he has completed the questioning at which time he shall either return such property so taken, if lawfully possessed, or arrest such person and dispose of such property according to law."

Section 4. Except as amended herein, Ordinance No. 7-07 as heretofore amended, shall remain in full force and effect.

Section 5. It is hereby declared that this ordinance is immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, and is therefore given immediate effect.

Obituaries

James Cooper (Fennimore the Great!)
"Fennimore the Great" was the perfect stage name for James Cooper. A real natural. Although most people knew him as a junior at North High School, the bedridden children at Bon Secours, St. John and Cottage Hospitals saw him as a mysterious and delightful magician in a black tuxedo who made their pain and fears disappear along with rabbits from a hat.

Beset with allergies and a frail constitution, Jim turned from athletics to the study of magic. There was always his appreciation of the outdoors and long rides on his 10-speed but over all was the love of magic. "He ate, drank and slept magic," said his father, Robert Cooper, of Brys Drive. "He was a great fan of Blackstone Junior and made a yearly pilgrimage to Colon, Md. the Magic Capital of the World, during their summer festival. He not only performed magic, but studied the history of it down through the ages."

Jim was at his best performing magic before an appreciative crowd. His favorite audiences were the children in pediatric units at local hospitals. Impressive in his black tuxedo, he would mystify, astound and delight his young admirers with disappearing bird cages, rope tricks, and magic wands that turned into snakes. Jim had spent a lot of his life in hospital wards. He knew what magic could do.

Of late, he had been spending a lot of time with the Focus Youth Group at the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church. He told his parents he hoped to become a social worker one day.

Jim Cooper died suddenly at the church on Sunday, Feb. 7, of heart trouble. He was 18. Services were held Wednesday, Feb. 10, at the Verheyden Funeral Home.

Jim is survived by his mother and step-father Nancy and Frank Standish; his father and step-mother, Robert and Marsha Cooper and two brothers, Thomas and John.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Focus Hope Group, c/o Grosse Pointe Presbyterian Church or to the pediatric department at St. John Hospital.

Lawrence R. Ebbing

Services for Mr. Ebbing, 70, of Windmill Pointe Drive, were held Friday, Feb. 5, in the Verheyden Funeral Home and St. Clare Church. He died Tuesday, Feb. 2, in Bon Secours Hospital.

Born in St. Louis, Mo., he is survived by his wife, Marguerite and a son, Larry.

Interment was in Woodlawn Cemetery.

Mrs. Ruth Henkel

Services for Mrs. Henkel, 84, formerly of Grosse Pointe, late of St. Clair Shores, were held Monday, Feb. 8, at Christ Church.

She died Sunday, Feb. 6 in St. Clair Shores.

A 1915 graduate of Liggett School, Mrs. Henkel was also a member of the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club.

She is survived by two daughters; Mrs. William Shearman, and Mrs. John DeHaves; two sons, Milton and Edward Jr.; and nine grandchildren. Memorial contributions to a favorite charity.

Interment was in Elmwood Cemetery.

Dr. Donald E. Snyder Jr.

Services for Dr. Snyder, 35, of McMillan Road, were held Tuesday, Feb. 9, in the Verheyden Funeral Home and Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church.

He died Saturday, Feb. 6, in Hospice of Southeastern Michigan.

Born in Princeton, Mo., he is survived by his wife, Melanie; a daughter, Emily Lauren; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Snyder; two brothers and one sister.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine, Kirksville, Mo. Cremation was at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Esquire

In reference to the Esquire's showing of an X-rated film last weekend which, some council members claimed drew complaints from Park residents, Graham said it was his impression that it was not the intention of the Esquire to show these movies on a regular basis.

"The owners haven't suggested to the city that they won't show the movies if the video machine allowance is increased," Graham said. But later Graham warned the theater's owners that such a move would be unwise and not in keeping with the theater's good standing in the community.

Theater spokesmen noted that the film shown last weekend, "Debbie Does Dallas," was not regular fare and was shown as an experiment. This type of movie usually does a lot of business and the theater doesn't have to pay as much to lease such movies, the owners said.

Silly tips

"Anyone for more lemonade?" "Oh-oh, looks like I'm starting to burn" and "Those damned mosquitoes are driving me crazy!"

• Ride your 10-speed bike in the house.

• After returning from the produce store, drill nine large holes in your floor, break out the clubs and play "Putt-Putt Tomato."

• To sweeten your swing for the golfing season, try driving golf balls off the tile walls in your bathroom. This will also sharpen your head ducking skills for those lightning spring time calls of "fore."

• Finally, try using the names of warm cities and islands in everyday conversations. Utilize phrases like "Tijuana dance?" and "I'll have Samoa iced tea."

Burglars hit Elmsleigh home

Burglars last month took more than $2,200 in items from a Grosse Pointe City home, including TVs and stereo equipment, according to police reports.

Police say the perpetrators entered the Elmsleigh Lane home by placing a trash can next to a hot water tank against the side of the house. The burglars apparently then reached up to a side porch and went through an upper side door, say police.

GET A TAX BREAK

AND BE RICH WHEN YOU HANG UP YOUR SPIKES.

You don't have to be a sports superstar to retire rich. All you need is an IRA, Individual Retirement Account, from D&N.

You can deduct $2,000 from your taxable income every year and put it away in a tax-sheltered IRA. Your money accumulates tax free until retirement.

If you start early enough, you could end up rich. If you start later, you'll still have a sizable bundle to supplement your Social Security.

Anybody who works can, and should, have an IRA. You're eligible even if you have a pension plan where you work. If you're a two-income family, you can deduct $4,000 a year and build up twice as much. If not, you can contribute $250 extra for a non-working spouse.

We can show you what an IRA can do for you. And help you choose the certificate that's best for you... fixed or floating rate, or a combination. Get in touch with a D&N IRA expert today. So when you're ready to hang up your spikes, you'll be in great financial shape.

Roosevelt, the Boxer
 Many historians are not aware of the fact that Teddy Roosevelt was permanently blinded in one eye while boxing with a military aide at the White House in 1905. He served out the next four years of his term as President of the United States without telling anybody about the blindness until a year before his death in 1919.

Playwright Ken Priebe (far right) sits on the auditorium stage at Mason school with the cast of "Animal Fair," his first play scheduled to premier Feb. 18. Looking on in their costumes are Roberta Ricci, Susan Swan, Amy Koerber, Aaron Michael, Scott Buell, Andy Bufalini and Mark Phipps.

"If you make an effort, you don't feel so victimized. People should look upon winter as an opportunity, not a four month sentence in solitary confinement.

"DO THINGS AS a family," urged Dr. Coletti. "Try cooking together. Go skating or tobogganing. Take up photography. Ski. Walk. Don't feel trapped. Weather affects us all. In Seattle, where it rains three months of the year, they have the highest incidence of suicide. Go with the season. Don't fight it."

Other suggestions the doctors agreed upon were: Try repainting the house in light, bright colors; open drapes and window shades to let sunshine in; plan your summer vacation; put fresh flowers in the house; collect seed catalogs and plan a spring garden; put travel posters on the wall and get more exercise.

Keep your chin up citizens of this Water-Winter Wonderland. Remember that you're a hearty, proud breed. Besides, there's only 38 days 'til spring anyhow.

Mason's playwright

Priebe: "Nope." (shakes head emphatically).

News: "You know, this (the play) is pretty significant for a little guy like you. What do your friends think?"

Priebe: "They think I'm just great! (reveals a wide grin).

News: "Well, do you want to write when you grow up?"

Priebe: "I want to be lots of things. I would like to be an author, a movie-maker and, of course, a playwright."

News: "Who is your favorite playwright?"

Priebe: "I don't know any, but I like Garfield comic books. I thank Jim Davis (creator) for making up the comic."

News: "Did Garfield inspire you?"

Priebe: "Uh, huh."

News: "Who is your favorite author?"

Priebe: "Dr. Seuss."

News: "Are you working on something right now?"

Priebe: (Hesitates) "Yeah, but it's a secret."

News: "How do you come up with your ideas?"

Priebe: "I don't know. I'm smart, I guess."

News: "What made you want to write about the Devil?"

Priebe: "Well, the Devil has big powers. He melts (in the play) when water gets on him."

News: "That sounds like something that happened in the 'Wizard of Oz.'"

Priebe: "Yeah, that's what made me think of him!" (Devil)

News: "Who made the scenery for 'Animal Fair'?"

Priebe: "I did. I like drawing a lot, too."

Ken's classmates will join him opening night on the Mason school auditorium stage Thursday, Feb. 18 in the premier of "Animal Fair."

Former higher tar smokers affirm MERIT choice for taste, ease of switch, and long-term satisfaction.

The research results are overwhelming.

New National Smoker Study provides solid evidence that 'Enriched Flavor,' MERIT offers a satisfying alternative to higher tar cigarettes.

MERIT Taste Sparks Switch.

Nationwide survey reveals over 90% of MERIT smokers who switched from higher tar are glad they did. In fact, 94% don't even miss their former brands.

Further Evidence: 9 out of 10 former higher tar smokers report MERIT an easy switch, that they didn't give up taste in switching, and that MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried.

MERIT Clear Choice In New Tests.

In addition, extensive unmarked-pack tests confirm that MERIT delivers a winning combination of taste and low tar when compared against higher tar leaders.

Confirmed: The overwhelming majority reported MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading higher tar brands.

Confirmed: When tar levels were revealed, 2 out of 3 chose the MERIT combination of low tar and good taste.

Year after year, in study after study, MERIT remains unbeaten. The proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking—is MERIT.

Building, maintenance cut on state highways

Faced with rising costs and declining revenues, the work force of the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) is at its lowest level in more than 20 years, State Transportation Director John P. Woodford reports.

Programs, services and payrolls all have been reduced in the past year and more cuts are coming, he said.

Gas and weight tax (license plate) revenues for work on state highways and state-financed public transit and rail programs dropped $25.15 million, or 62 percent, in the fiscal year ended Sept. 30 compared with the previous year. Income is down 12.1 percent from fiscal year 1978-79, mainly the result of the number of light-weight, fuel-efficient cars.

Counties and cities have suffered similar declines.

"We have cut our payroll nearly 20 percent since it peaked in 1967," Woodford said. "This is despite the fact that our responsibilities were expanded from highways alone to include aeronautics, public transit and rail programs when we became a full department of transportation eight years ago."

"We are building few new highways and are concentrating instead on maintaining and operating the existing highway system," he said. "That, plus improvements in technology and management methods in the last two decades, has enabled us to operate with a smaller work force."

"Now, however, with income continuing to decline and with inflation continuing to push up costs, we are having to cut back a wide range of transportation programs and services."

 For Senior Citizens

One of last week's highlights for television viewers was a CBS made-for-television movie that brought into focus meaningful issues relating to America's treatment of its elderly.

Titled "A Piano for Mrs. Cimino" and starring Bette Davis, it portrayed a despondent woman diagnosed as senile by her doctor, and deemed incompetent by the court. She is then placed in a convalescent home by her son.

Bette Davis, as might be expected, gave an outstanding performance as a woman temporarily dazed and unable to cope because of the death of her husband. Her performance was flawless. She brought to the role the same skill, the same finely honed verve and style that has made her the star she is.

Ms. Davis' fans are many, and the roles she has played are memorable because she has made them so individually special that no one could imagine anyone playing them. So intensely has she poured herself into them that no degree beyond her interpretation would have catapulted the character into a caricature.

AND SO IT was with her role of Mrs. Cimino. The movements and the speech were exactly right, but what was most impressive was the facial expression—the tightened lip, the too-fixed stare of glass-blue eyes and slightly stern expressions. She presented a true picture of a dignified woman, temporarily confused, a little near-sighted, with hearing problems and a firm determination to maintain her own independence.

Basically the movie presented the story of an older woman who becomes so distraught after the death of her husband that her two sons and their wives are convinced in all good faith, that she is senile. Brought into a court, Mrs. Cimino, confused and upset, makes a very poor impression on the judge. He rules that her considerable assets be turned over to a local banker and she be placed in a nursing home.

Pressed by time, one of her sons is ready to put her in the first available home that has a vacancy. However, he is persuaded by his daughter, who is not convinced that grandma is really senile, to let her find a better accommodation. Happily she does and Mrs. Cimino is placed in a progressive home where the emphasis is placed on restoring the patient's ability to cope and eventually return to their own home.

At first Mrs. Cimino resists all efforts of help, but she does finally come around, largely because she comes upon an unused piano. She approaches it hesitatingly and taps out a tune with one finger. Then looking about to see if she is alone, she sits down and plays. For the first time she relaxes and eventually through music, she finds her way back to normalcy. In the meantime, unknown to her, her home and its furnishings have been sold and her deceased husband's business taken over. However, with her renewed self-confidence, she is able to cope with what is a traumatic shock and make a new life for herself.

The story ends happily but as it unfolds, the viewer is exposed to the many problems with which older people may have to face.

One is the danger of having a temporary depression or a treatable physical disability diagnosed as senility. Another is the need to carefully screen a nursing home.

There was a nice contrast shown in the movie of how quickly an older person can deteriorate in a poorly-run home and how it is possible to restore a person's physical and mental health in a caring atmosphere of a well-run home.

IT SHOWED, TOO, how important it is to know who is being put in charge of one's financial affairs. In Mrs. Cimino's case, the trustee proved to be entirely untrustworthy. Not only did he dole out funds to Mrs. Cimino grudgingly, he put the business in the hands of his son-in-law who runs it into the ground.

Another segment showed how easily an older person can be caught off guard by a convincing con man.

Balancing and tipping the scales were Mrs. Cimino's granddaughter's unceasing efforts to have the incompetency stigma removed by the court and return personal affairs to her grandmother. Another upbeat note was Mrs. Cimino's meeting with an old friend, admirably played by Keenan Wynn who brings companionship and romance into what in the end promises to be a new life for Mrs. Cimino. The movie ends happily on a point well made that life is to be lived at any age and no one should give up on it.

Although there was much to consider in the movie concerning problems that beset older people, the most obvious was the mistake of labeling depression as senility. The tragedy is that once older people suffer from depression, they may be left to deteriorate. A careful consideration of the patient as an individual and the circumstances which have brought about a behavior change could avoid such a fate.

Depression is more of a common experience among people than might be thought. About 15 percent of the population or almost 34 million people suffer from it. Of that number, a large percentage is older people, particularly women.

HOWEVER, THE suicide rate among men who suffer from depression is higher than it is among women. Particularly vulnerable are older men who are widowed or divorced, especially after they have retired and move to another part of the country. The unfamiliarity of a new, life-style, far removed from relatives, friends and neighbors who might provide a bulwark against loneliness, the need to cope alone is unsupportable and the individual gives up.

Some people become too concerned over their problems and sink into despondency. They overreact to stress. They do not become incapacitated, but they are not happy. Experts believe they can be helped through psychotherapy.

More serious are those cases where nothing seems to work. They have difficulty concentrating. They become anxious, irritable and suffer from chronic fatigue. Often they become hypochondriacs. As the condition progresses they become tormented by insomnia and overcome by hopelessness.

Professionals in the field today believe that some of these cases of depression are biological in nature. They contend that such cases in the hands of a well-trained psychiatrist can bring the patient out of depression.

They believe that this can be accomplished with new drugs that cure depression and return the patient to normalcy in a very short time. They also maintain that the drugs which are prescribed to relieve depression are non-addictive. The patient can go off them at any time without suffering withdrawal symptoms. The danger is that the depression may return.

Besides depression, other factors that may give an impression of senility are two physical aspects of aging that are so obvious that they may be overlooked. One pertains to vision and the need for proper correction and the other is a hearing impairment that they may be overlooked.

THE IMPORTANCE OF taking care of these deficiencies was well brought out in Mrs. Cimino's case. Part of her disorientation and incompetency ruling was due to the fact that she neither had her glasses nor her hearing aid. When she was brought before the court in her next appearance, Mrs. Camino was wearing both and presented herself as a self-possessed woman well able to handle her own affairs.

Some humor was injected into this scene when Mrs. Cimino turned to the judge who seemed to have some difficulty hearing her and reprimanded him for not wearing a hearing aid. "It's nothing to be ashamed of," she admonished.

Unless there is a marked change in vision, specialists agree that a once-a-year examination is sufficient but it should be part of a checkup to guard against glaucoma, and cataracts. Cataracts can now be remedied by new surgical procedures which can restore vision in 95 percent of the cases.

Most ear specialists concede that loss of hearing is an unalterable accompaniment of the aging process. However, many ear conditions can be remedied by new equipment and surgical techniques doctors have at their disposal today.

Another false signal of senility

Among these was "From the New World," a symphony in the nostalgic key of E minor influenced by Black American melodies and his homesickness for Prague. Great Paintings: Whistler's "Nocturne in Black and Gold" (30 minutes)—Milton Brown offers a critical assessment of American expatriate painter James Whistler's "Nocturne in Black and Gold." This painting holds place in art history as the subject of Whistler's notorious lawsuit against critic John Ruskin which helped define such principles as art for art's sake and the validity of non-objective painting.

HOME IMPROVEMENT AND REFURBISHING SHORTS

If kitchen storage space seems skimpy, remodeling may be the answer. The National Kitchen Cabinet Association suggests cabinets that feature such "organizers" as lazy susans and adjustable and pull out shelves.

To make sure the cabinets you select can take heavy loads and daily abuse, look for the NKCA certification seal.

What's the best style of window above kitchen sinks? Anderson Corporation of Bayport, Minn., a leading window manufacturer, says it's casements, which open out with an easy-to-reach handle.

One of the most important elements of a well built window is the sash and frame.

Since wood is a natural insulator it will not conduct heat as easily as a non-thermal metal sash and frame. In fact, comparative tests show that wood insulates 400 times more effectively than steel and 1770 times better than aluminum.

If you wonder where the real wealth of America lies and you're a homeowner, you're it.

With more than 55-million single family homes in this country, the National Association of Realtors says their aggregate value of $2-trillion represents America's largest single asset.

WOOD LOUVER DOORS OFFER ALTERNATIVES

Close doors don't have to be mundane.

Wood louver doors, for example, available as folding or sliding units, are ideal for closets in narrow hallways or foyers where there is little space for conventional swing-out doors.

The louvers also permit the free circulation of air, which makes them ideal for high humidity areas like laundry rooms, kitchens and baths.

CONSIDER SAFETY WHEN REROOFING

Fire safety can be an important consideration when choosing a roofing material, since the roof can be vulnerable to fire from overhead sources.

Asphalt shingles are manufactured to meet Underwriters Laboratories' Class C standard or better, which means the shingles will not ignite easily, will not support the spread of fire over the roof and will not add to a fire hazard by emitting burning brands.

NEW WINDOWS COME IN MANY STYLES AND SIZES

If your home improvement plans call for the replacement of one or more windows, don't be misled into thinking you are limited to the same styles and sizes in the new units.

Modern, factory-engineered windows come in many styles as well as sizes. A homeowner's choices in window design are limited only by his imagination.

Depending on the size of the opening, choose from double hung, casement, gliding, awning, angle-hay and bow windows or gliding doors.

Anderson Corporation, a leading manufacturer of windows and gliding doors, reminds homeowners to replace the entire unit, not just the sash. If frames and sills are showing age, replacing only the sash will probably mean that half of the problem remains.

Just as important as the size and style of windows is the material that goes into them. Wood or wood sheathed vinyl are most often used in the manufacture of quality made windows because both offer superior insulating qualities.

Other elements of a well built window include factory applied weatherstripping and double-pane insulating glass — two panes of glass with an insulating air space between.

Anderson Perma Shield windows and gliding doors are twice as weatheright as acceptable industry standards for allowable infiltration. And, double-pane insulating glass standard in Perma Shield guards against excessive heat loss through the glass areas.

PLAN ADDITION TO SERVE VARIETY OF FUNCTIONS

Adding a room is a good way to get extra living space. When the addition is planned to serve more than one function, you get a bonus in diversity.

When thinking about adding a room, the National Home Improvement Council suggests you make a list of the activities that will take place in the room.

An adult bedroom, for example, ought to do double duty as a quiet retreat for reading, sewing or just relaxing. A dining room might also serve as a library, sitting room or music room.

Consider mood

Another thing to consider, adds the Council, is the mood you wish to express. Should the new room be formal or informal? Should it serve as a quiet background for people, or as a strong reflection of your personality?

Once the decision has been made regarding function and mood, draw a simple floor plan using graph paper and patterns of your furniture cut to scale.

In laying out room arrangements, adds NHIC, keep in mind open traffic areas, a center of interest, conversation groupings, adequate lighting and storage space.

For professional help

For skilled, professional help in building a room addition, contact the local NHIC chapter. Contractors belonging to the Council pledge to observe the highest standards of integrity, frankness and responsibility.

EARTHTONES MAKE ROOF DECORATING A NATURAL

The trend in the "natural look" has risen to the roof. Modern three-dimensional asphalt shingles, available in earthtone shades of beiges, buffs and browns, give a homeowner greater flexibility in exterior decorating.

The natural colors and multi-layered appearance of these shingles provide an easy means for blending a home with its surroundings.

BASEMENT LEAKS TOP DEFECT LIST

What's the most commonly reported structural defect in American housing? Basement leaks.

According to a report released by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, 44 percent of the homes with basements reported leaks.

That 'ill wind' of winter

After our experience with old man winter in recent days, most of us would have to agree with the proverb, it's "an all wind that bloweth no man to good," as it was written by John Haywood in the 16th century.

And yet we can find some good even in the "ill wind" that heaped mountains of snow on this community, the state and the region. For it led to shared experiences of hardship in shoveling snow, driving a car, and most frequently, getting stuck.

Getting back to basics, one couple found a new use for newspapers: to help get traction for wheels spinning on an icy spot. Others discovered kitty litter to be an acceptable substitute for sand or salt to ease their cars out of ice and snow. Still others reported that old blankets or coats tossed under wheels often made it possible to drive out of the drifts.

BEST OF ALL among the shared experiences was the opportunity to talk about them. As the stories were repeated of near misses on the freeway, skidding in the streets and shoveling in the driveways, they tended to get better and better with the telling. Each felt an obligation to top his neighbor's story.

Yet there were heartwarming experiences that grew out of the cold and snow, too. Neighbors doing errands or going shopping for household friends. Youngsters lending their strong backs to the push that freed an errant car from the drifts. Motorists sharing rides with the unfortunate who had waited vainly for a bus.

There were, of course, some who made a profit from the storms. For them it was not an "ill wind" at all. Instead, they sold more shovels, snowblowers and other equipment than they normally would have disposed of all winter. And private snow plow firms enjoyed their best week in years with many more demands for service than they could possibly supply.

But let's hope the worst is over. There can be, after all, too much of a good thing, even when it results in shared experiences that bind us closer to our friends, neighbors and community.

A political hot potato

Both the Michigan Supreme Court and the Commission on Legislative Reapportionment are handling the touchy issue of state House and Senate redistricting as if it were a political hot potato—which it apparently is.

Unable to agree among themselves, the four Republicans and four Democrats on the commission separately petitioned the supreme court to intervene. Each group blamed the other for blocking agreement. But the high court promptly tossed the hot potato right back to the commission by refusing to hear the case on the basis of the information it had received.

The court in effect argued that technically the case was not even before it because a majority of the eight-member commission had not officially notified the court of their inability to agree on a redistricting plan. That put the hot potato back into the commission's hands without, however, much prospect for agreement among Republicans and Democrats in the future.

OUR ASSUMPTION IS that when and if at least one Republican or one Democrat joins the other four in making an official request that the court assume jurisdiction, the court will do so. And that would mean that for the third time in a row the redistricting of the state's legislative districts will be left to the state's supreme court. The same procedures were followed after the 1960 and 1970 censuses.

Many observers have criticized the courts for assuming legislative prerogatives by writing opinions that have had the effect of law. In a case such as this one, however, the law requires the case to be sent to the court only if members of the legislative apportionment commission cannot agree on a plan of their own. So it is the failure of the commission, not any desire for power by the court, that is responsible for the current deadlock.

If the deadlock continues and the case does go back eventually for the court's redistricting decision, critics of any plan proposed by the court ought to aim their fire at the commission for failing to do its job and thus once again enhancing the power of the court.

Timing hurts 'new federalism'

As the debate continues over President Reagan's "new federalism" and its effects on the nation, more evidence arrives to indicate that many state governments already are in budgetary trouble because of the recession, excessive tax cuts and reduced federal aid.

That is no surprise in Michigan which sank into recession earlier and deeper than its neighbors. But the National Conference of State Legislatures now reports that a majority of the states are facing serious budgetary problems in the coming months.

True, only 12 states forecast deficits for the current fiscal year. But 17 expect surpluses of 1 percent or less and 10 forecast surpluses of 1 percent to 5 percent. That makes a total of 39 states with deficits or surpluses of less than 5 percent, a level regarded in the past as a safeguard and cushion against unexpected revenue losses or emergency expenditures.

The condition of these states relates to the "new federalism" because of the President's desire to return to the states many of the federal responsibilities for social services and other programs currently financed in large part by Washington. While many governors and other state administrators are sympathetic to the President's aim, they see difficulty in finding the new sources of revenue to fund these services at the state and local level, especially at a time when their budgets already are pinched.

WHAT MANY FEAR is that the burden of the recession and the sacrifices it causes will be unfairly shared among the states and the people if and when many federal programs are turned back to the states. The Southwest, for example, is by and large in good fiscal shape because of the region's strong oil and gas industries. But some of the Southeastern states in the Sun Belt are little better than the Midwestern and Northeastern states in the Snow Belt. Wherever they are, the impecunious states will have less to share with their citizens than those who economies are still thriving.

The situation prompts some state and local officials, even those who in general support the President's goals, to question whether the time is right to shift greater burdens to the hard-pressed states. Under the "new federalism," more prosperous states apparently would be able to respond to the Biblical question, "Am I my brother's keeper?" by saying, "Yes, but only up to our state line."

The Reagan administration understandably complains it has too little control over annual cost increases in some social programs, especially when increases are tied to the cost of living. As a consequence, the Medicaid program of health care for the poor, subsidized housing and welfare have all been targeted for new spending cuts or at least reductions from previously-budgeted expenditures for these "social safety net" programs. Yet such cuts could mean further reductions in services to the poor and unfortunate even before the "new federalism" becomes effective and the states assume more of the burden of financing such programs.

If the economic recovery that the Reagan administration is promising finally does arrive in the next few months, the outlook for acceptance and approval of the "new federalism" could improve. Public revenues would rise and the demand for public services would tend to decline. If the recession wanes as Washington hopes, the presumption is that the states will share equally in the recovery. If that scenario emerges, it could be good news for President Reagan and his "new federalism" as well as for the American people.

Dog shooting was necessary

To the Editor:
I would like to commend the Grosse Pointe Woods police for their absolutely necessary shooting of the Doberman Pinscher dog which attacked the newsboy on Jan. 10. Who knows how many other people would have been attacked but for their act. People who harbor these type dogs should definitely keep them under control at all times—no exceptions, no excuses.

What a traumatic experience this must have been for the unfortunate newsboy! His face could easily have been badly bitten.

Surely some neighbor in the vicinity heard and saw the commotion but none had the sense or decency to call the police. The boy, frightened horribly, had to bide his time and retreat home before his mother could call the police.

Incidentally, I am not a "dog hater." I am a "dog lover" and have a large dog myself, but a very gentle one. What nerve of the dog's owner even considering legal action against the police! If there is to be a suit it should be brought against the dog's owner by the newsboy's parents.

Soc. Security gets tough on debtors

Social Security is conducting an aggressive campaign to collect the nearly $1.9 billion in outstanding overpayments—money owed to Social Security by those who receive monthly Social Security retirement, survivors and disability benefits as well as supplemental security income (SSI) payments, according to James T. Moslener, district manager of the local office.

In most instances, overpayments occur because a person failed to report an event that affected his or her right to benefits.

It's much easier to prevent an overpayment than it is to lose part or all of one or more monthly checks, money that most people need for day-to-day living.

The easiest way to prevent overpayments is to report every event that could affect the right to or the amount of a person's monthly benefit.

"I cannot emphasize strongly enough the necessity of proper reporting," Meslener said.

Prompt reporting will go far to prevent a possible overpayment.

The required reports can be made by telephone to 493-1111. They may also be made by mail or in person at the local Social Security office at 17420 Mack Avenue.

A report should include the following information: name of person about whom the report is being made; what is being reported; date it happened; signature; address; and the correct claim number under which benefits are being paid. The claim number is shown on all correspondence and appears on all checks. Moslener stressed that any help needed can be obtained at any Social Security office or by calling 493-1111.

Enter politics the right way

"Organizing a Political Campaign" is one of the new classes scheduled for the winter term by the public schools' Department of Continuing Education.

If you are thinking of running for office, managing a campaign, or organizing for political action, this course may be for you. Learn how to write politically persuasive literature, develop a campaign plan, raise funds, prepare mailings and articulate the issues. Material covered in the class will also include background on election laws and legal requirements.

Barbara Hoffmann, who has managed political campaigns, is instructor for the class.

Call the Grosse Pointe Department of Continuing Education at 343-2178 for more information.

Support for Hill ordinance

To the Editor:

Your editorial concerning retail growth for the Hill in the Farms is an unfortunate expression of negativism, provincialism and lack of understanding of community needs.

When you dismiss the comparison of the Hill and the Village as a historical difference you show your lack of vision. The Village is alive and well in the field of retail facilities for the community.

It is also alive and well in the field of blending retail, business and professional community needs. You simply have to look at the unbalanced sharing of various service facilities on the Hill to see the needs and responsibilities are not being met.

It would be interesting to determine the ownership of the property frontage on the Hill and have each owner publicly express his views on this issue. If they have the community interest at heart I am sure they would support the proposed ordinance.

We should support the ordinance and look to a brighter retail service future for the Hill. Its present state is a disgrace.

James Brickley and abortion

To the Editor:

I found your editorial on James Brickley's qualifications for the office of governor to be truly amazing. Less than a decade ago abortion was considered by many to be a most despicable crime. The people of Michigan had voted overwhelmingly against legalizing it, and the medical student at the foot of his or her class was jokingly referred to as the prospective class abortionist. Now the pro-abortion crowd has abortion-on-demand, which is more than they had ever dreamed of, and a respectable newspaper declares a candidate for public office unqualified, not because he opposes abortion, but because he does not believe that public funds should be used for that purpose.

It would seem to many of us that a person who believes anyone has a right to kill a human being at any stage of his or her life is unqualified for office.

Plowed sidewalks are exceptional

To the Editor:

I want to take this opportunity to congratulate our highway department in Grosse Pointe City, under the direction of Douglas Collinson, for doing a good job during the year and an exceptional job during the recent heavy snow fall.

These men work night and day to plow our streets and walks when necessary. I am sure that our citizens appreciate this also.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

There were rumors — "The Show House is cancelled" — It's DEFINITELY on" — "They're re-assessing the situation" — and there were quite a few crossed fingers for a while, but it all came out right in the end. The Junior League of Detroit will present its fourth Designers' Show House in Grosse Pointe this spring. The House, located at 625 Lakeshore Road, belongs to Mrs. Robert Hermann, of St. Louis, who was Mary Lee Scherer when she lived in The Pointe.

Mary Lee is coming back to town in mid-month for the first of two preview parties: a Mardi Gras evening that will bring the sights, sounds and smells of New Orleans at carnival time to the undecorated Show House Saturday evening, Feb. 20. Actually, "undecorated" means only that the designers haven't yet moved into the House to start their room-by-room transformation. And that means that the Junior League party planners can go all out to create an authentic, if ephemeral, Mardi Gras atmosphere and decor.

For this Show House, with its spacious rooms, high ceilings, wonderful moldings and decorative motifs, is perfect for a Mardi Gras evening. Many of the rooms have fireplaces. There's a graceful staircase, there are porches . . . the place fairly reeks of southern hospitality.

During Mardi Gras, it was traditional for gentlemen to give their dancing partners small gifts. Preview party committee members Mrs. Robert J. Petz Jr. and Mrs. Edmund R. Sutherland have incorporated this concept into their centerpieces, which will feature gifts wrapped in silver paper with red, purple and silver balloons and ribbons. The traditional beads and doubloons which were tossed during old Mardi Gras parades will be part of the Pointe Mardi Gras party. A new wood floor is being installed for dancing.

And the food! Well . . . Maria Ang, the Southfield restaurateur who has taught cooking classes and written cookbooks, promises an authentic, gourmet New Orleans dinner. Sazeracs to Cafe Brulot. The recipe for the Sazeracs, a traditional New Orleans drink made with pernod and rye whiskey, comes from the Sazerac Room of New Orleans' Fairmont (formerly the Roosevelt) Hotel. The Cafe Brulot — flaming coffee with brandy — will also be brewed via an authentic recipe, from New Orleans' Commanders Palace.

Practical Matters

Reservations for this spectacular evening are limited to the first 400 subscribers. Information on tickets, at $500, $300 and $200 for sponsoring, sustaining and contributing patrons, respectively, $150 for friends, may be obtained by contacting the Junior League office in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 881-0400.

Show House in the snow . . .

MRS. GORDON T. FORD, MRS. HENRY M. WOODHOUSE and MRS. EDWARD J. STROBLE (left to right) are pictured in front of what will, come spring, become the Junior League of Detroit's fourth Designers' Show House in Grosse Pointe. Hopefully, by May 1, when the House opens to the public, visitors won't have to don snow boots to make it to the front door — but it looks as if there'll be no "melt" before

Saturday, Feb. 20, when patrons and friends gather there for a marvelous Mardi Gras Evening. Not to worry, say the Mesdames Ford, Woodhouse and Stroble, co-chairmen of the party: the warmth within will more than make up for the cold without. For more information on the Show House, and the Mardi Gras, check out this week's "From Another Pointe of View."

MCCARROLL, of Kensington Road and Naples, Fla., was formally sworn as a member of the State Bar of Michigan on Nov. 25 by Michigan Supreme Court Justice Blair Moody, Jr. in the Michigan Court of Appeals courtroom. Making the joint motion to admit the newest attorney member of the McCarroll family were his two brothers, also attorneys, FRANCIS A. MCCARROLL, of Wayburn Road, and JOSEPH P. MCCARROLL. Patrick McCarroll, a 1981 magna cum laude graduate of the Wayne State University Law School, is currently employed as a pre-hearing attorney for the Michigan Court of Appeals and next year will serve as a law clerk for the Honorable Blair Moody Jr.

SANDRA CHRISTOFFERSON, daughter of the WILLIAM CHRISTOFFERSONS, of Rivard Boulevard, is the recent recipient of the "Outstanding Undergraduate Nurse Award" from the College of Nursing at Michigan State University. Sandra is a 1978 graduate of Grosse Pointe South High School and will receive her Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing from MSU in June.

Woman's Club Presidents Day date is Feb. 17

Presidents Day for the Grosse Pointe Woman's Club is next Wednesday, Feb. 17, when members and guests will gather at 12:30 p.m. in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Crystal Ballroom to honor the club's current president, Mrs. Laddy A. Rice, and presidents of clubs affiliated with the Federation of Women's Clubs of Metropolitan Detroit, plus presidents of Grosse Pointe-based organizations.

Honored, too, per tradition, will be the Woman's Club's own past-presidents.

Grosse Pointe's Beverly Belaire is the speaker of the day. Her topic will be "The Changing Role of Women." Mrs. Belaire, president of PR Associates, Counselors in Communications, founded one of the first major Detroit-based public relations firms in 1963. She has been a communications counselor since 1960.

Her agency's work on behalf of clients has brought her many honors, including the prestigious Silver Anvil Award of the Public Relations Society of America and Women in Communications' National Clarion Award. She recently served as local chairman of Junior Achievement Week.

Mrs. Milan J. Alexander, the Woman's Club program chairman and first vice-president, will introduce Mrs. Belaire. Tea hostess of the day Mrs. Raymond J. Duffy Jr. and co-hostess Mrs. William H. Hosbein are planning — what else? — a Presidential theme for their table.

Pouring will be Mrs. Eugene Hunter, president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. John W. Griffin, Woman's Club honorary member, and the Mesdames Lloyd A. Beemer, Andrew Bremer Jr., Jon S. Cook, Dallas E. Newkirk, Jack Warner and Vene L. Whims, all past-presidents of the Woman's Club.

As stings on the tea committee are the Mesdames Fred W. Adams, Alexander G. Ashley, Robert M. Brent, John Elias, Howard F. Haarer, Walter L. Hallenbeck, Lennart M. Hellstrom, Ted Jacobs, Archie C. Jones, Clarence Kavan, Walter Lesinski, Wilfred McConkey, Joseph A. Miriani, Charles R. Moore, Horst R. Nardon and Alexander W. Pietra.

Mrs. Lawrence E. Holmes, the club's social chairman, has been in charge of overall planning for the tea. Guest reservations may be made by contacting the hospitality chairman, Mrs. George E. Gerow, at 885-8232.

Pointe Garden Club to meet

A slide presentation by John Stevens on "Her Majesty's Royal National Rose Show, St. Albans, England" is the special Valentine program for the Pointe Garden Club's meeting Monday, Feb. 15, at the Lakeland Avenue home of Mrs. Russell W. Vance who will be assisted by co-hostesses Mrs. C. G. Browne, Mrs. J. Lane Donovan and Mrs. James C. Stewart.

Mrs. Gaylord Hulbert, will introduce the speaker following a business meeting. Mr. Stevens took his pictures a few summers ago, when he was an English-Speaking Union, Detroit Branch, exchange scholar in England.

Hold Detroit Rose Society slide show

The Detroit Rose Society presented a program of slides by Doug and Judy Bell, Dick Schmidt, Ed Mayer and Roger Bessy, followed by a question and answer period, Sunday, Jan. 31, at 2 p.m. at the Tel-Twelve Mall in Southfield. The public was invited to view the photos of old and new roses.

Enjoy a close encounter with snows of yesteryear

Winter's short days, cold temperatures and deep snows make it an unpopular season for many. But when darkness comes, we flick a switch for light. When the cold becomes unbearable, we adjust a thermostat for warmth. We escape from winter's wrath by watching television or listening to the stereo. We always have fresh "summer" food in the refrigerator. We can always relax in a nice hot bath. It wasn't always so easy.

Greenfield Village's winter program, "Living and Working in 19th Century America," tells the dramatic story of the transition from the harsh winters of centuries past to our modern way of life. The two-and-a-half-hour guided tour shows how rapid advances in technology during the 19th century brought us electric lighting, central heating, refrigeration and other modern wonders.

The tour, daily through March 12, includes stops at the Wright Brothers home, Henry Ford's birthplace, the Mrs. D. Cohen Millinery and Fancy Goods Store, Menlo Park Compound, the Sarah Jordan Boarding House and the Clinton Inn. These buildings offer striking examples of changes in American Domestic, commercial and industrial life during the 19th century.

Visitors begin their trip back in time with a carriage or sleigh ride to the Town Hall, where a film presents the tour's major theme: the rapid change in American lifestyles created by new inventions and mass production.

The Wright Brothers house from Dayton, O., a middle class urban home, is furnished as it would have been in the period 1900-1910. It shows the beginnings of the modern home. Highlights include a gas lighting system (an improvement over kerosene), gas heat radiators (an efficient heating system, forerunner of modern central heating), a gas stove (for cleaner and easier-to-control cooking), a kitchen sink pump, a carpet sweeper, a porcelain sink and an icebox.

By contrast, the Henry Ford birthplace is a rural house of the 1876-1886 period. Lighting is by candle and kerosene lamps. Heating is by fireplace in the everyday parlor, by stove in the formal parlor, front bedroom and dining room. Other bedrooms are not heated. The kitchen has a pump — but there is no bathroom. A portable tin bathtub was used for washing. Cooking was done on a wood stove.

Entertainment, laundering and furniture are other subjects covered in the Wright and Ford homes.

Commercial life in the 19th century is represented by the D. Cohen Millinery and Fancy Goods Store, located in Detroit in the 1890s. Mass production brought new items to consumers in the late 19th century. A millinery of that period offered a variety of ready-made hat styles, to which the proprietor would add distinctive trims to suit individual tastes. D. Cohen visitors also learn about 19th century advertising techniques and distribution methods.

Modern conveniences are largely a result of 19th century inventions. These innovations grew out of earlier products and scientific discoveries. Menlo Park was Thomas Edison's "invention factory;" the forerunner of modern research and development centers. It was here that Edison and his team of co-workers drew on the past to make significant breakthroughs.

Menlo Park visitors are shown the machinery and power sources of 19th century industry. They learn how Edison and his associates developed the carbon telephone transmitter, the phonograph and the incandescent electric light, and how the electric light led to the electric power system.

The Sarah Jordan Boarding House was one of the first homes lit with Edison's incandescent light. This 1879 house illustrates how 19th century houses functioned as efficient machines supervised by women, while men left the home each day to work. The tour ends with free refreshments at the Clinton Inn. The first tour leaves at 10 a.m., the last at 2:30 p.m. Admission is $7 for adults, $3.50 for children 6 to 12 and $5.50 for senior citizens 62 and up.

A program idea for local groups

Henry Ford Museum has a new presentation describing changes taking place at the Museum and at Greenfield Village available to area groups. Included are a 15-minute film, "Changing America, Changing Museums," and a speaker.

The film gives an overview of the Museum and Village, showing the purpose of the complex and how visitors can enjoy it. The speaker discusses new programs being offered in 1982, including special tours, activation of some early industries, opportunities for visitor involvement and the addition of historical meal menus.

Groups interested in hosting this program are invited to contact Nancy Schlegel at the Speakers' Bureau, Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village, 271-1620, Extension 218.

Wellness/working workshop planned

The Greater International Metropolitan Area Council comprised of seven local chapters of Professional Secretaries International will sponsor a workshop, "Wellness and Working" (PSI's designated 1982 Program of the Year), Saturday, Feb. 20, at the Book Cadillac in downtown Detroit.

G.S. Khalsa, M.D., of Southfield, will make a presentation on "Holistic Health for You."

Fees are $20 for PSI members, $25 for non-members, including coffee and rolls at registration, which begins at 8:30 a.m., luncheon and all program materials.

Registration deadline is Saturday, Feb. 13. Further information may be obtained by contacting Julia Blumberg, 371-7140, or Joyce Vermeylen, 465-5500, Extension 401, between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Artists Market is 'Individual'

"Individuals," a showing of works by 30 southeastern Michigan area artists, will be on display at the Detroit Artists Market on Randolph Street from tomorrow, Friday, Feb. 12, to Saturday, March 6. The exhibit includes painting, sculpture, fiber, glass, sound and video. It was planned by guest curator Charles McGee, well known Detroit artist and associate professor of Art at Eastern Michigan University.

McGee chose artists who display a highly individualistic style. The criteria also reflect McGee's philosophy that diversity of style is a hallmark of contemporary art.

Featured artists include Eileen Aboulafia, Marvin Anderson, Norah Ashley, Barry Avedon, Jeanne de Young Bright, Jennifer Clark, Kathy Constantinides, Jim Crawford, Larry Cressman, Brian Curtis, Naomi Dickerson, Barbara Dorchen, Anders Goldfarb, Jean Heilbrunn, Sheldon Iden, Rachel Kahn, Eric Allen Magnuson, Bob Murek, Ailie McGuire, Martin Pack, Connie Samaras, James Sandall, Marilyn Schechter, Bradley Smith, Nelson Smith, Victoria Stoll, Lois Teicher, Paul Webster, Steve West and Jay Yager.

"Individuals" is one of eight exhibits presented this year by the Detroit Artists Market. In addition to the formal exhibit on the ground floor, works of art including drawings, paintings, jewelry, glass, pottery, sculpture, photographs, textiles and mixed media are available in the Artists Market's Upper Gallery. Styles range from the traditional to the avant garde.

The rotating exhibit is comprised of art submitted by southeastern Michigan area artists selected monthly by a volunteer jury of professional art critics.

The Detroit Artists Market is a non-profit art gallery, founded in 1932 to exhibit and sell works of area artists. With the exception of a skeletal staff of two professionals, an art director and a gallery manager, the Market is run by volunteers. Mrs. Michael Van Lokeren, of Beverly road, serves as chairman. The gallery is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

"Crates and Pallets," a display of Ann Stoddard's and Heromin Zmijewski's work, opened last Friday Feb. 5, at the Artists Market's Other Space on the seventh floor of Hudson's Downtown. Gallery hours at the Other Space are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday.

Dad could use on-job training

"Fathers are the most neglected men in America today," says psychologist Fitzhugh Dodson, author of "How to Father," in the February issue of FAMILIES. "Society does not train men for fatherhood before they become fathers, nor do they get on-the-job training afterward."

Social and economic changes have stripped away the power once inherent in the father's role. But physicians and psychologists agree that — despite these changes — there are still many ways to ensure successful father-child relations.

One of them, says Dr. J.G. Schiller, associate professor of Pediatrics at Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center in New York City, is availability: "Being available with great frequency is the name of the game. Figure that the child is constantly saying, 'But what did you do for me lately?'"

Many men find their children interesting only as the kids get older. This problem stems from the common belief that fathers are "biologically incapable" of doing much for the infant during the first year. Dr. Michael Yogman, of the Harvard Medical School, discounts this view: "We're convinced that early and regular interaction between father and child may be the context in which a large number of social and cognitive skills are learned."

The closer the father is to his child as an infant, the easier it becomes to establish good communication skills together. The father learns, as psychologist Dorothy Corkille Briggs notes, that the good communicator doesn't agree or disagree with someone's actions but, instead, tries to understand them without judgment. Empathy becomes the key to talking with, rather than at, your child.

Fathers already enjoying effective relations with their child can be discouraged when adolescence enters the picture. The physical changes that accompany adolescence often raise anxieties which manifest themselves in obnoxious behavior. "First and foremost," Dodson says, "realize that such behavior is normal and temporary." Dramatic disciplinary measures exercised at his point could turn a mild shift in father-child relations into a lingering confrontation.

Setting aside the time, interest and patience your child deserves — and needs — applies to bad times as well as good. A good father takes time to help with his child's homework as well as to reward good grades at the end of term.

DIA to open Polish Gallery

A gallery devoted to Polish art and heritage, the first ever established at a major United States museum, will be inaugurated at the Detroit Institute of Arts next Wednesday evening, Feb. 17, on the second level of the DIA's Edsel & Eleanor Ford (South) Wing.

Among committee members planning the 9 p.m. inauguration ceremony, which will be preceded by a reception and dinner for patrons who have supported the new venture and a public lecture, is Grosse Pointe's Diane Schoenith.

Admission to the 8 p.m. slide talk in the museum's Lecture/Recital Hall is $3 for adults, $2 for Founders Society members and $1 for students and seniors. Dr. Andrew Ciechanowiecki, Polish art expert from London, will talk on "Foreign Art in Polish Collections." Guests are invited to stay on for the inaugural ceremony. The Polish Gallery will feature treasures created by Polish artists or commissioned by Polish patrons since the 17th century, including a glass beaker depicting King Augustus II with the Royal Saxon and Polish Arms and a bust length portrait of Count Rutowski by Nicholas de Largillier. Eighteen paintings, prints and decorative objects from DIA collections and lenders will remain on view for three months or longer in this first long term installation.

Support for the new Polish Gallery has come principally from the newly formed Art of Poland Associates under informal sponsorship of the museum's Founders Society.

Engaged in opera talk ...

Nearly 200 opera lovers braved last week's inclement weather conditions to attend the Detroit Grand Opera Association's annual luncheon at the Detroit Institute of Arts. There, they applauded as an honorary plaque was presented to Grosse Pointe's HENRY LEDYARD (right) for 19 years of dedicated service, as the DGOA's general manager, toward the promotion of Metropolitan Opera Week in Detroit. The plaque was presented to Ledyard, who retired in November, by a fellow Pointer: JOHN B. FORD III (left), the association's president and current general manager. At the luncheon, Ford announced an unprecedented corporate underwriting for the Met's spring tour in the form of a $300,000 grant from Merrill Lynch Pierce Fenner & Smith. The DGOA has sponsored the Met's spring tour to Detroit for 24 years. Information on this year's Met Week in Detroit season may be obtained by calling 832-5200.

DSO salutes young artists

Murray Gross, Detroit Symphony Orchestra assistant conductor, will be on the podium for a pair of "Celebration of Young Artists" concerts at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. this Saturday, Feb. 13. Five concerto winners from a competition held at Interlochen Arts Academy will be featured in these Young People's Concerts, and every child in the audience is eligible to submit one entry in a special Picture Music Poster Contest.

There will be a separate judging for each performance. The poster should be an interpretation of the slogan "Picture Music," submitted on paper or cardboard sized at least 12" by 15". Drawings executed in paints, chalk, pen and ink or magic marker will be accepted.

Each entry must bear the name, address and age of the artist. There will be a winner and three or more honorable mention awards in two age categories: six and under and seven to 12 years.

First prize winners will receive a pair of season tickets to the 1982-83 DSO Young People's Concerts and a citation suitable for framing. All winning entries will be featured in a special showing at the Detroit Children's Museum and will be considered for use in the 1982-83 Young People's Concerts ticket campaign.

Entries should be deposited in the lobby at the beginning of each performance this Saturday. Winners will be announced from the stage at the close of each concert. Entries may be reclaimed ONLY by picking them up in person at the DSO offices in Ford Auditorium weekdays, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., after Monday, Feb. 15, and before Monday, March 1.

The program for Saturday's performances will include music by Mendelssohn, Glazunov, Mozart, Britten, Liszt, Milhaud and Sousa. Tickets, ranging in price from $4.50 to $6, are available at the Ford Auditorium box office, where VISA and MasterCard customers may phone in orders (962-5524).

All five featured artists are seniors at Interlochen Arts Academy. Stephanie Arado, daughter of the Albert Arados, of Oak Brook, Ill., recently won a Society of American Musicians Competition. She performed at a Dame Myra Hess solo recital at the Chicago Cultural Center and was broadcast on WFMT. She was a junior winner in the Chicago Symphony Youth Auditions in 1977 and performed with that orchestra the following year; as a senior winner in the same auditions, she will soon make a second appearance with the Chicago Symphony. Her plans for the future include a performance-oriented career on the violin. Her private teacher at Interlochen is Paul Stasky.

WJR radio personality J.P. McCarthy will be honored as Humanitarian of the Year during the evening. Tickets are $100 per person. ### Alcohol & Drug Abuse Resource Center proposed

Early in January, the Grosse Pointe South High School Mothers Club voted to continue the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Program in the 1982-83 school year and to invite the Freedom from Chemical Dependency Foundation to return to South in 1982-83. The evaluation meeting held last December, after the foundation's visit to the school, revealed that the program was well received, the reactions of students generally positive. South's teens liked the "non-preaching" approach. They noted that hearing from "someone who has been there" made the dangers of alcohol and drug abuse more vivid.

Plans are currently underway to establish a resource center for South parents, students and staff. A pair of identical information sessions on how to host a parents' meeting has been scheduled for Monday, Feb. 15. Day programs will be presented in South's Clemons Hall at 12:45 p.m. and again at 7:30 p.m.

Further information on either the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Program or the informational meetings may be obtained by contacting Suzie Decker, chairperson, at 886-4217.

State WNF&GA Council to meet

Members of the 90 branches of the Michigan Division, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, will "put a little sunshine in their lives" at their winter council meeting Thursday, Feb. 25, at Mercy Conference Center in Farmington Hills. The program begins at 9 a.m., with registration and a coffee hour. The business session is scheduled to start at 10, the luncheon and program at 12:30 p.m. A craft boutique will be sponsored by the four hostess branches: Beech Woods, Morningside, Riverwoods and Southfield. The program following the business meeting, to be conducted by President Millie Machuga, will feature Ginny Stolicker, newspaper writer and columnist.

Help at hand for overeaters

Overeaters Anonymous meets Friday mornings, at 9:30 a.m., at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church on Maumee Avenue, between Neff Road and St. Clair Avenue. The meetings are open to the public.

National History Day competition slated

Students from Michigan elementary and high schools will meet at the Detroit Historical Museum Saturday, Feb. 20, to compete for National History Day awards sponsored by the Detroit Historical Society, in cooperation with the Michigan Council for the Social Studies, to encourage interest in history through research, writing and performing arts projects. Students will compete in both junior and senior high school divisions. Awards will be given for historic papers, individual or group projects, media presentations and individual or group presentations.

Redeemer will present an individual performance entitled "Inventions that Changed the Course of History" by black inventors. Included in her presentation are the lawn mower, pencil sharpener, traffic light, fountain pen and lawn sprinkler.

The 1982 competition centers around the theme "Trade and Industry in History." Detroit Historical Society trustee John S. Snyder is chairman of the activity. Students participating in the contest are from both public and private schools in the metropolitan area and as far away as Jackson and Alpena. All entrants are required to submit historic research and a bibliography in advance of the competition date.

Cunningham also notes entries on the World War II War Industry, the Golden Age of Trains, the Automobile Industry and Advertising in Industry. Students will vie for the opportunity to represent Michigan at the National History Day competition in Washington, D.C., in May. At the national level there are several opportunities to win trips to Greece for the best entries related to Greek history and culture; this potential prize has motivated several Cass Tech students to compete for honors in that category.

Nancy D. Cunningham, Detroit Historical Society executive director, notes several early entries which should prove particularly colorful or interesting. Students from Highland Middle School will compete for first place with a media presentation, "Back to the Drawing Board Inventions," a silent movie focusing on the development of the typewriter, camera, telephone and telegraph. Regina Carswell, an eighth grader from Holy

The Michigan competition begins at the Detroit Historical Museum at 1 p.m., with judging of individual and group projects and presentations. It culminates with a 3:30 p.m. reception and a 4:15 p.m. awards ceremony. Students will be judged by business and community leaders, academicians and teachers and representatives of the Detroit Historical Society and Museum.

Admission to all National History Day activities is free and the public is invited. In addition to an opportunity to watch the competition, the museum is offering special guided tours, living history presentations and story-telling sessions. Additional information may be obtained by calling the society office, 833-7935.

Heart of Gold is her reward

Grosse Pointe's Mrs. William Adams was among nine metropolitan area residents honored Tuesday, Feb. 9, at the United Foundation's 15th annual Heart of Gold Award luncheon in Cobo Hall's Riverview Room. They were cited for outstanding volunteer activities, each receiving a gold, heart-shaped charm bearing the "Spirit of Detroit" emblem, and were congratulated by H. Clay Howell, United Foundation executive vice-president, Mrs. Frank R. (Beverly) Winders, Women for the United Foundation president, and John W. Lambrecht, chairman of Detroit's Central Business District Association.

Emogene Adams

Approximately 2,000 tri-county residents attended the event, which is co-sponsored by the Heart of Gold Award Council and Women for the United Foundation. Guest speaker was Katharine Graham, chairman of the board of the Washington Post Company.

Mrs. Adams has demonstrated a strong commitment to the metropolitan Detroit community through her activities to help senior citizens and children. She is a board member of the Detroit Area Agency on Aging, chairman of that organization's Grant Review committee, and has worked on the Regional White House Conference on Aging.

She has been active with Seniors Onward for Change and is responsible for SOC's Food and Friendship Program, which provides meals for senior citizens. She served as a board member for the Metropolitan Detroit Girl Scouts for 37 years, and was involved in establishing the first day camp on Belle Isle. She also initiated the American Field Service program bringing exchange students to the Detroit area.

In addition, she is active with the Detroit Institute of Arts as a member of the Founders Society and chairman of the Educational Committee on African Art. She is a founding member of the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church.

Michigan's First Lady, Helen Milliken, was also honored at this year's Heart of Gold luncheon. She received an honorary Heart of Gold for her many community activities.

Grosse Pointe's Mrs. Alfred R. (Ruth) Glancy III served as vice-chairman of the 1982 luncheon, under chairman Mrs. Roger B. (Barbara) Smith. Among the judges were a pair of Painters: Donald A. Lindow and Mrs. Elliot H. (Gail) Phillips.

'Women's Work' is art topic

"Women's Work", the annual exhibition of the Birmingham Society of Women Painters, opened Feb. 6, at the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association and continues through Feb. 27.

The show makes a firm statement of who the members of the Birmingham Society of Women Painters are as indicated by their works", said Jo Snyder, co-chairperson.

The Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association is a community sponsored art center.

Coordination is the first step in learning process

A baby is born with all systems go — but it takes a while to get all those systems working together, according to Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter.

A crib mobile is a good systems-coordination-training ground for a three or four-month-old baby. Start to make one by fastening a dowel rod or yardstick across the top of the crib at the baby's chest level. Tie a crosspiece at the middle with a stout piece of twine. The crosspiece should be a length of rubber hose or a cardboard tube like the ones on clothes hangers. DO NOT USE sharp rods or sticks in case the mobile breaks. DO NOT USE long, dangling strings, or anything else the baby could possibly hurt himself with.

From each end, dangle another length of twine. Tie an object small enough for baby to grasp at the end of each one. For instance: on one side might be a small square or round block, on the other a short rubber bone.

Other objects to use are a teething ring, squeaky toys (especially those that have human-like heads and faces—babies love them), a bootie, rattle or small plastic bottle. The objects can be changed once a week, or more often if baby loses interest.

By using fewer objects at a time and changing them fairly often you will avoid overstimulating the baby; this is important because loading a baby up with too many things can kill curiosity, just as too scanty an environment can.

The objects on the mobile should be at the distance of the baby's outstretched palm. The swing of the crosspiece should be enough so that when the baby finally grasps the object he can get it just into his mouth.

A baby will be more interested if the objects have bright colors and contrasts of light and dark. If a block is a solid color, paint a bull's-eye on the bottom with black non-toxic marker; infants at this age find such a design more interesting than simple lines and corners. If a bootie is white, get a long black shoelace to lace it and hang it with.

Once the mobile is in place, the baby will soon be batting it with his newly opened hand. Later, he will try his first grasp — a clumsy one — with fingers closing only after they touch the object. When he finally has a grip on the elusive object he will reflexively bring it to his mouth to explore it with his tongue and lips. He cannot let go voluntarily, but will relax his grip when something else catches his attention... at which time the object will pop neatly up into the air to entice him again later.

This, then, is the first major educational objective: to get several systems — seeing, reaching, feeling, tasting to work together on a single object. At this point an object begins to be something real and permanent to baby, apart from his own self. This perception is necessary before he can begin his next intellectual task: finding out what objects are for and what he can do to them.

The Growing Child newsletter follows a child's development month-by-month. For more information on the social and physical development of children from birth to six years old, write to Growing Child, PO Box 620N, Lafayette, Ind. 47902. Include your child's birthdate when writing. A year's subscription to the newsletter costs $11.95.

Working mothers in good company

More than half of the nation's children have mothers who work away from home, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Department of Labor. About 31.8 million children below age 18 — 54 percent of the nation's total — had mothers in the labor force in March, 1981. This number has risen steadily throughout the past decade, even though the size of the children's population has declined substantially.

The most recent year-to-year increase in the number of children with working mothers occurred among those under six years of age. By March, 1981, a record 8.2 million (44.9 percent) of all preschoolers had mothers in the labor force, up from 7.7 million (43.0 percent) a year. This coincides with the upsurge during the last few years in the number of births among women in their late 20s and early 30s.

Of all mothers with children under 18, about 18.4 million, or 58.1 percent, were in the labor force in March, 1981: 632,000 more than a year earlier. Mothers of preschool-age children accounted for the majority (62.5 percent) of this increase. Regardless of the age of the youngest child, divorced mothers remained far more likely to be working or looking for work than married, widowed, separated or never-married mothers.

These statistics are based on data tabulated each March from the Current Population Survey. Other survey highlights reveal:

• The number of families in which both husband and wife were earners did not increase during the year, perhaps reflecting a more limited job situation. The number of such families remained about the same at 25.6 million. Median income for these dual-earner families ($27,745 in 1980) was about a third higher than for families where only the husband worked, and nearly triple the income of families maintained by women.

• In March, 1981, one of every six families (9.4 million) was maintained by a woman who was either divorced, separated, widowed or never married. More than 5.7 million, or 61.0 percent, of these women were working or looking for work, including two-thirds of those with children under 18.

Grosse Pointe Hockey Association By Brad Tisdale

Center Ice returns this week and a few weeks into the season's second half, the Mite Division has already featured some very close games.

MAPLE LEAFS-SEALS

Lanny Tracy and Mark Schweitzer connected for goals to carry the Maple Leafs to a 2-1 victory over the Seals. Mike Klobuchar connected for the Seals. Assists on the Leaf goals came from Tripp, Tracy, Ban, Modell and Gofredson. John Morreale assisted on the Seals' goal.

RANGERS-RED WINGS

Peter Bourke led the Rangers to a 4-2 win over the Red Wings. His two goals were accompanied by goals from Shawn Darke and Brian Quinn. The Red Wing tallies came from the sticks of Peter Bogos and Jay Berger.

RED WINGS-FLYERS

The Red Wings rebounded to take one away from the Flyers, 6-4. Berger's first period hat trick and two goals from Bogos and one goal from Eric Ryan all were scored in the first period. Jody Hartingh, Marcel Chagnon and Don DeSeranno hit for the Flyers. Red Wing goalie Peter Antonenko fought off repeated challenges from the Flyers to carry his team defensively.

MAPLE LEAFS-FLYERS

The Maple Leafs continued their second half undefeated streak, tying the Flyers, 1-1. The Tracy brothers led the Leaf effort with Tripp in goal and Lanny scoring the only goal. DeSeranno scored for the Flyers and Ryan Perkins did an outstanding job in the nets.

SEALS-STORKS

Patrick Pisogna had his third shut-out of the year, holding off repeated scoring attacks by the Storks to lead his Seals team to a 2-0 victory over the Storks. Seal goals came from Gary Spicer on a picture centering pass from Beau Dossin. Jeff Osborne powered through after receiving a rink-wide pass from Greg Semack. Storks goalie Weid put on a show for the fans, making stop after stop on Seals' shots.

RANGERS-FLYERS

John Ferguson hit for the big hat trick to lead the Rangers to a 3-2 win over the Flyers. Matt Moroun helped out with two assists and Bourke got another. Michael Owens and DeSeranno tallied for the Flyers with assists from Alle, Golwala and Telegadas. Stefan Teitge held down the goaltending chores for the Rangers and Bob Cass made his goalie debut with the Flyers.

SQUIRTS

The GPHA representative in Squirrel "B" District 3 play was determined last weekend as the Whalers, sponsored by Oakland Dodge, defeated the Bruins, 7-4, in championship play.

The two-game elimination, mid-season tournament didn't start out too well for the Whalers, as they fell to the Islanders, 5-1. Moving to the losers' bracket, the Whalers eliminated the North Stars, 4-2, the Canadiens, 7-3, and the Islanders, 6-0. Going against the undefeated Bruins, the Whalers coasted to a surprisingly easy, 7-3 win to force a championship game on Feb. 7.

In the championship game, the Whalers had a 5-1 lead going into the third period. The Bruins fought back to within one goal with seven minutes remaining, before Shannon Peralta scored the Whalers' sixth goal on a shot from the blue line to put the game out of reach. Doug Wood added one more to finish the Whaler scoring and clinch the 7-4 win.

During the six game tournament, the line of Wood, Peralta and Jason Weid accounted for 56 points (points are awarded for goals and assists). Lisandro Lorenzini, Andy West, Danny Grundman and Peter Cueter played well on defense. Bill Aurand and Juan Ganum split the goaltending duties, with Aurand getting the shut-out against the Islanders.

The Whalers' checking line of Cecil Lepard, Renato Roxas and Sreedhar Samudrala earned the respect of other teams by ending up with a plus-three figure (averaging goals-for minus goals-against while line is on ice). John Thomas and Mike Morandini showed some outstanding play for first year skaters.

The District 3 playoffs ran through Feb. 15 at the St. Clair Shores Civic Arena.

NORTH STARS-CANADIENS

In their fourth meeting of the season, the North Stars finally edged out a victory from the Canadiens, 4-3. The Stars had balanced scoring from all three lines. Jeff Blum played another strong game in goal for the North Stars.

North Star goals came from Jonathan Ugal, Paul Cavazos (2), and Charlie Stumb. Derek Smith, Jack McSorley and Deron Burt drew assists. Canadiens' goals were scored by Gabe Benvenuto, Jay Kisskalt and Jamie Tringale. Kisskalt also drew an assist.

Bruins near title shot

Qualification for the Bantam AA state championship playoffs is just one victory away for coach Tom Costello's Grosse Pointe Bruins. The Bruins reached the District 3 finals at Fraser last week, beating Sterling Heights, 3-1, and Fraser, 4-1, in the double-elimination tournament.

Grosse Pointe will play for the district title this weekend for the right to compete in the state tournament in Taylor in early March.

After drawing arch-rival Sterling Heights in the opening district game, Grosse Pointe produced a hard-earned, 3-1 victory. In four previous games, Sterling Heights had defeated the Bruins three times and they started quickly in this contest. After scoring a first period goal, they nursed a 1-0 lead into the final period.

Grosse Pointe responded with a third period flurry to capture this important first game. Keith Barich tied the game at 1-1 with his short-handed goal. Tom Madden and Stacey Rickert drew assists. The goal sparked the Bruins and they quickly took a 2-1 lead when Tom Davis poked in a rebound from Marty Sanclémente and Chris Luongo during a power play.

With one minute to play in the game, Rankin Barker clinched the win when he scored on a quick wrist shot. Madden drew an assist on the play. Goalie Dino Masella held Sterling Heights in check to allow the Bruins their chance to rally.

Facing host team Fraser next in a battle for the finals, Grosse Pointe again rode the hot goaltending of Masella to a 4-1 victory. After a scoreless first period, Sanclémente produced a 1-0 lead when he converted passes from Eric Grant and John Russell.

Eleven seconds before the second period ended, Mike Brykalski's strong individual effort produced a 2-0 lead. The lead was cut in half by Fraser just one minute into the third period, and despite a strong effort by Fraser, the Bruins held that lead as Masella registered key saves.

Captain Rickert clinched the victory with two minutes left as he scored off passes from Barker and Brykalski. Russell iced the game with his empty net goal with one second to play; Sanclémente assisting.

Soccer tryouts set

Lots of folks were thinking spring last week when they registered for the Grosse Pointe Soccer Association's spring season. All of those new players, born in 1971 or before, who registered on Feb. 6, must now try out for team placement.

Tryouts will be held in the gym at Grosse Pointe North High School Saturdays, Feb. 13 and Feb. 27, from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m. for boys, and Saturday, Feb. 20 from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m. for girls. All girls must try out for team placement. Players should bring gym shoes and appropriate play clothes to the tryouts.

Boys and girls who missed the Feb. 6 registration date have been given an opportunity to participate in late registration. Registration for boys will be during the Feb. 13 and 27 tryouts at North; girls may register during the girls' tryouts at North on Feb. 20.

Players new to the GPSA and registering on those dates should come prepared to try out for team placement. To register, a player will need: two school or small pictures; a copy of the player's birth certificate to be left on file with the association; a check for $30 for boys born in 1972 or later or a check for $35 for all girls and boys born in 1971 or before.

The GPSA is still looking for men and women interested in coaching, refereeing and assisting with field preparation. To volunteer for any of these activities, call Bill Heilscher at 882-6757 between 7 and 9:30 p.m.

Response to the free referee training clinic set for Feb. 15 to 18 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Community Rink, has been excellent. Persons 16 or older who are interested in this free training school should contact Jim Harrington at 884-5483 after 6 p.m.

We've got the Blues...

We've got the Blues this week... the Pee Wee AA Blues, that is. The featured Grosse Pointe Hockey Association travel team this week is the Pee Wee AA Blues, coached by GPHA president Dick Bohan.

Bohan has been coaching hockey since 1969 and has taken three teams to the state playoffs. Assisting Bohan is coach Rich Lacca. Lacca has been coaching since 1966 and has taken two teams to state titles. Team manager is Bob Kacpura, who this month staged an "Oldies But Goodies" fund raising dance, with monies raised going to the Blues to help defray team costs.

The Blues are sponsored by Northern Group Services and were one of three Grosse Pointe teams playing in South Bend, Ind., last weekend. The Blues took 7-0 and 5-0 victories in the exhibition tourney.

Let's meet the Blues:

Bob Alcott: A Pointe resident, Alcott plays right defense. He has been with the team since Mite travel—he's now in his fifth year. Alcott has three goals and 14 assists and was awarded the playmaker honor in the Turkey Tournament.

David Johnston: Johnston, of the Pointe, plays left defense. He's doing an excellent job in his first year of travel team play. Johnston's family has been in hockey for many years—his brother Jeff is assistant captain and defensive mainstay on the Michigan Tech hockey team. David has four goals and 11 assists.

Pahl Zinn: Pointer Zinn plays right defense. Zinn is in his fifth year of hockey and has been a Blue since Mite travel. He has four goals and 21 assists.

Jeff Lacca: The St. Clair Shores' resident plays left defense. Now in his third year with the team, Lacca played one year of travel with St. Clair Shores. He has two goals and nine assists.

Tim Bohan: A centerman, Bohan is a Pointe resident. He has been with the squad since Mite travel days. Bohan has 23 goals, 13 assists and one hat-trick.

Ken Frank: A center, Frank is from Clinton Township. He came to the Blues after one year of travel team play in St. Clair Shores. Frank has 19 goals and 18 assists.

Dan Spitz: A right winger from Grosse Pointe, Spitz has been with the Blues for four years. He has 12 goals and 15 assists on the year. Recently, Spitz earned a playmaker award (three assists in one game).

John Kacpura: A center from St. Clair Shores, John has been with the team for three years. He played one year of travel in St. Clair Shores. Kacpura has 14 goals, 22 assists and two playmaking awards this season.

John Quinlan: A Pointe right wing, Quinlan has been with the team for five years. So far this season, he has 34 goals, 14 assists and four hat tricks.

Matt Tanielian: A left wing from Grosse Pointe, Tanielian has been with the team for five years. He has 10 goals, 12 assists and one playmaker on the season.

Rob Kirsch: This Mt. Clemens center is in his first year of travel hockey. He is a fine player and has done an outstanding job. He has 21 goals, including one hat-trick, and 20 assists.

Rodney Goin: Goin, of the Pointe, plays left wing. He has been on the team for three years. Goin suffered a broken collar bone and left shoulder in an auto accident and is just getting back into full stride. He has four goals and five assists.

Brian Verkest: Verkest, of St. Clair Shores, is the Blues' goaltender. This is his first year with the Blues and only his second year of travel hockey. The youngest member of the Blues, Verkest is averaging 2.8 goals against per game. He has posted four shut-outs this season.

St. Paul cagers on win track

In a thrilling, come-from-behind victory, the St. Paul 56er Team No. 1 beat a previously undefeated team from Our Lady of Good Counsel, 27-25. Sam Stenhebel made two of his 11 points with only 11 seconds left giving St. Paul's its first lead of the game and the win.

Stenhebel, along with Mike Finch, Matt Frame and Julian Lubitz hustled the entire game, bringing the Lakers back from as much as an eight point deficit. The win puts the Lakers in second place, with a 6-2 record.

St. Paul's 78er girls' team beat Star of the Sea, 26-9, in late January, thereby advancing into the post-season playoffs. Also braving the storm on Jan. 31 and coming out on the winning side was the 78er boys' team No. 2, beating St. Clare, 25-24.

In that contest, Peter Droste sank two clutch free throws with five seconds left to win the game for St. Paul. Leading scorers were John Joliet with 10 points, followed by Droste's eight, Ray Echlin's three and two each from Mark Belanger and John Dwaihy.

Come, sail away...

Sailboat racing: getting started

On summer evening drives along Lake St. Clair you are bound to see fleets of sailboats clustered together going around a series of orange buoys. These sailors are competing in one of the many series of sailing races held on our lake throughout the summer. The boats you see may be those of small day sailors or a number of boats that look like the cruising sailboats that are so popular on the lake.

What's the appeal? What creates the excitement that abounds in any of these sailors?

If you ask any of the growing fraternity of casual racers you will hear a number of answers, but one element is common—none of them would trade those experiences for any other summer activity.

How does the average sailor get started, especially if he or she has never been involved before? The best place to begin is to crew on one of the boats that have been racing. There you will get a feel for the tactics, rules and the sense of sailing in competition. A good crew is hard to find and any racing sailor welcomes volunteers and is more than glad to train them.

If you have crewed on another boat and want to try your hand on your own, there are two local groups that offer that chance without your having to belong to a club. The Grosse Pointe Sail Club holds races every Tuesday night through June, July and August off the Windmill Pointe Park docks. The Grosse Pointe Farms Boat Club holds similar races on Thursdays at the Farms Pier. Both groups cater to the beginning racers.

When you get a racing application, you will find a number of questions about the dimensions, sails and rating (if you have one) of your boat. These are used to determine time allowance handicaps. The Tuesday and Thursday night races use handicaps that are based on ratings with similar specifications to yours or they use your official rating. The next article in the series will address that aspect of racing.

Once you've completed the entry process, you will be assigned a starting time and receive a copy of the rules that apply to that race. It is important to know these rules and the signals well. Be sure to get a good idea of the course you will follow and whether you round the course with the markers on your port or starboard side. In addition, there are standard racing rules used in races throughout the country. These are published by the United Yacht Racing Union and are available at local marine stores such as Thomas Hardware on Mack Avenue. There is probably no single aspect that is more important than your being familiar with the rules. Your fellow racers depend on your knowing them.

What about all the expensive equipment that is required? There isn't any. If your boat meets Coast Guard requirements for safety equipment, you have just about everything you need. You may be required to carry certain flags on board, and you are required to have a copy of the rules. Other than that, the average sailor is set to race.

Don't worry about not having a big inventory of sails or having spinners. There are JAM classes (jib and mainsail, only) where the size of your headsail is limited and no spinnaker is required.

If you want to expand your horizons, you will have to move up to racing in the DRYA (Detroit River Yachting Association) races which require membership in a yacht club or the Midget Ocean Racing Club (MORC). But you have to start somewhere and the local weekend series will give you that opportunity to enjoy the thrill of racing while becoming a better sailor. (Editor's note: This is the first in a series of articles aimed at those getting started in racing and designed to give everyone a little lift from the winter doldrums.)

Blue Devils end streak

The Grosse Pointe South boys' varsity basketball team ended its winning streak with a loss against Roseville, 38-36, last week. The Blue Devils had beaten Port Huron Northern, 65-60, earlier in the week.

"The game against Roseville was not a good one," commented coach George Petrouleas. South shot only 33 percent against Roseville. The Blue Devils did have some good spots in the game, especially when they came back from a 10 point deficit. Tom Gentile was the game's high scorer.

"The game against Port Huron Northern was not the greatest, either. The team was very sluggish," Petrouleas said. South's cagers managed to hold Port Huron Northern to 11 points in the first half, while shooting 43 percent themselves.

Bill Winger scored 33 points. "It was a great day for Bill," Petrouleas said.

The Blue Devils are currently tied with Roseville for second place. Their next game is at East Detroit tomorrow night, Feb. 12, at 6:30 p.m. South holds a 9-4 record; 5-2 in the league. (By Megan Bonanni).

Freshman basketball: Playing some exciting, tension-filled basketball, the freshmen downed Bishop Gallagher, 53-52, in four overtime periods. The Feb. 5 win raised the frosh record to 7-5.

Down 26-15 at the half, the Devils outscored their opponents 17-5 in the third quarter before tying at the end of regulation, 40-40. Finally, in the fourth period of OT, John Chase hit a game winning free throw to go with his 17 points.

Chris Ross added 11 points, and Rick Whitney contributed eight. The frosh will meet Kelly away 4 p.m. Feb. 12. (By Kevin Roberts).

South wrestling: In the Notre Dame High School Tournament on Jan. 23, South's wrestlers beat Willow Run 24-22, but lost to Warren Cousino, 50-15 and Notre Dame, 60-12. Brian Mars was 3-0. Pete Grifo, Pete Hedemark and Fred Genberg also were victorious.

The matmen were defeated by North, 52-18, Jan. 26. Hedemark (119 pounds), and Grifo (155 pounds), pinned their opponents.

On Jan. 29, South wrestlers lost to Clintondale, 52-18. The only points for South were gathered by Grifo and Frank Murray (119 pounds).

On Feb. 4, the wrestlers put their record at 3-15 when they were defeated by Roseville, 29-24. Points for South were compiled by Hedemark, Jim Corno, John Flowers, Mars, Grifo and Genberg.

The boys will take on Warren Cousino today, Feb. 11 after which they will head for the state wrestling competitions. (By Tara Sendelbach).

JV basketball: Finally playing some solid basketball, South's JV took both of its games last week, raising its record to 5-8. The JV opened the week with a 52-48 squeaker over Port Huron Northern.

Eric Loudermilk poured in 22 points, and Pete Toenjes continued some outstanding defensive play, with 15 rebounds to go with 10 points.

The JV followed that game with a Feb. 5 road of Roseville, 65-40. Loudermilk led a balanced attack with 16 points and Toenjes added 12 points and seven rebounds.

Steve Carrier turned in a fine all-around effort, finishing with eight points, 11 rebounds, three steals, and five assists. The JV met L'Anse-au-Loup on Feb. 9 and will play East Detroit away at 6:30 p.m. on Feb. 12. (By Kevin Roberts).

South volleyball: South's girls' varsity and JV volleyball teams split games against Port Huron Northern and Roseville last week.

The varsity beat Port Huron Northern, 15-2, 16-14 and lost to Roseville, 15-12, 15-11.

High scorers in the game against Port Huron Northern were Eileen O'Shea, scoring 11 points, Ann Schulte, with nine points and Carol Rosasco, with two kills.

In the game against Roseville, Schulte was once again among the top scorers, scoring five points. Sue LePlae also scored five points and Rosasco and Jill Dalby each had two kills. Despite the defeat, the Roseville contest was the best match played by South thus far.

The JV lost to Port Huron Northern and defeated Roseville. The scores were 15-10, 9-15, 15-11 against Northern, and 15-5, 10-15, 15-4 against Roseville.

Bev Zuelch was one of the high scorers in the game against Port Huron Northern, scoring 10 points. Tina Maher had three kills, in the Roseville game, Maher had two kills; Zuelch scored 17 points and Debbie Friedman, 10 points.

The overall record for the JV is 6-2, and 3-5 for the varsity. The league record is 5-2 for the JV and 3-4 for the varsity. South faces East Detroit on Feb. 12. (By Brooke Reuther).

Marlies on rise

The Grosse Pointe Bantam A Marlboro hockey club traveled to the campus of Notre Dame University recently to take on the AA Bantam team from South Bend, Ind. The South Bend team is a perennial Indiana power and had just come from a win in the annual Irish Rover Invitational. Grosse Pointe had edged South Bend, 3-2, in a game at the GPCR several weeks ago, and the Marlies again skated well in the mini-tournament as they tied, then beat South Bend.

The first game of the exhibition tournament was held Jan. 30 and it looked as though South Bend might trample the Marlies. Trailing 3-0 after the first period, Grosse Pointe finally started to exert some pressure. Kevin Haddad put the Marlies on the scoreboard when he rammed in a rebound of linemate Walter Connolly's shot.

Jeff LeFebvre continued the Marlie scoring when he drilled home a pass set up by Eric Warezak. Grosse Pointe center Joe Sullivan tied it up with an unassisted goal late in the second period. South Bend went back on top before Janue Parker broke in ahead of the South Bend defensemen and beat the goalie with a hard wrist shot.

The Marlies again fell behind before Grosse Pointe defenseman Bob Bogetz finally tied the contest at 5-5 on a power play shot from the blue line. Sullivan received an assist on the play.

The rematch was staged at the athletic convocation center at Notre Dame on Jan. 31. The contest was marked by numerous penalties as South Bend plays a most aggressive style of hockey. South Bend took an early lead which it maintained through the first period.

Marlie defenseman George Jerome led the game early in the second period on a power play, set up by Connolly. LeFebvre blistered a blue line shot on a power play opportunity to put the Marlies on top.

The insurance goal came on a breakaway by Jerome after a perfect feed by Mike Fulgenzi. Jerome's goal was scored while the Marlies were short-handed and completed the Grosse Pointe victory, 3-1.

The Marlboros, under coaches Sam Clogg and Rick Zutel, have now compiled a 9-1-2 record since the first of January.

The Grosse Pointe Marlboros began district play for the state tournament last week, earning one win and one loss. The district competition, hosted this year by Fraser, is a two game elimination format. For Grosse Pointe, the road to the state championship tournament is blocked by four of the state's top rated teams — all of which are in the Marlies' bracket.

The Marlies began their district competition against Fraser, and ran into a buzz saw, losing 4-0. The Marlies bounced back with a 4-1 victory over Avon on Feb. 6. Marlie left wing Mark Nesler started the scoring when he drilled a 15 footer past the Avon goalie after nice forechecking work by teammates Warezak and Mike Fulgenzi.

LeFebvre got the next Grosse Pointe tally, which turned out to be the game-winner. He took a nice feed pass from Tisdale and beat the goalie on a 60-foot shot from the blue line. Connolly increased the Marlie lead to 3-0 when he tucked the puck into the corner of the net on a fine unassisted effort. Sullivan completed the Marlie scoring from in close, after linemate Jamie Parker's forechecking had netted him the puck.

The Marlies are 23-17-5 on the season.

'Improved' ULS wins

By J.R. Pete's
ULS

Harper Woods High entered the University Liggett School gym on Jan. 26 with the intention of avenging a closely contested, season-opening basketball loss to the Knights, 51-48. What the Pioneers found, however, was a vastly improved Knights team, which had lost only once since the initial meeting of the two teams and result: Knights 60, Pioneers 37.

The Knights hardly looked like a "vastly improved" team in the first quarter though, as the ULS squad was looking at the short end of an 8-6 score. "Six points in one quarter is not at all indicative of the type of offense we run, nor the type of players we have," said coach Tony Galaher. "We came out listless and sloppy, but fortunately we perked up a bit before it was too late." Indeed the Knights did, as they outshot the Pioneers 25-12 in the second quarter, for a comfortable 11 point lead at the half. From that point on the game continued at a pace more to the Liggett coach's liking, and the Knights coasted to the final 60-37 margin.

Leading the way for the Knights, once again, was the hot-handed Michael "Snatch" Paolucci, who carried a 16-8 scoring average into the game, and tallied 18 points and 11 rebounds for the evening. Following closely behind was Larry "Too Tall" Van Kirk who pumped in 16 points. J.T. Parks fell slightly off his 15 point average, collecting 12 points and seven rebounds. Sophomore Brian "Booly" Hunt, the youngest member of the team, contributed eight points to the winning effort.

Three days later came Oakland Christian School, losers in the league season opener to the Knights, and even more intent on winning than the Pioneers; having carried a seven point advantage into the fourth quarter of the first game, only to see it vanish in the wake of pressure defense by the Knights.

But in the second meeting, the knights led the whole way, taking a shaky three point advantage at the half, 24-21, and an even shakier 34-33 lead into the fourth quarter.

J.T. Parks scored the final two of his 20 points at the buzzer, and the game ended, 59-51. Paolucci netted 13 points and pulled down seven rebounds. VanKirk and Hunt each had five points.

Although the Knights are now 10-1 overall and 6-0 in their league (the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference) Gallaher has been less than pleased with the Liggett team's overall play. "We really haven't played with any consistency or at the level I feel we're capable of playing," said Gallaher, now in his second season at Liggett. "Not to denigrate any of our opponents so far, but if we meet up with a team that can shoot at all, we're going to be in real trouble."

JV volleyball: With only two returning players, the ULS junior varsity volleyball team has built up a strong new team and the girls have an excellent start on the season with a record of 5-1. The players include senior Katja Witstok, junior Elizabeth Warren, sophomores Ruth McCrary, Merritt Meade, Laurie Evans, and Lisa Vandellen, and freshmen Barb Roman, Laura Stefanski and Simone Early.

The team has had a wide range of competition and has overcome most opponents with their talent and enthusiasm. The JV triumphed in its first matches over Ann Arbor Greenhills, 13-15, 15-10, 15-7; over Warren's powerful Bethesda, 15-0, 15-7 and Huron Valley Lutheran, 15-0, 15-0.

The game against Lutheran East was quite a change from the previous games. The girls entered the game with confidence and enthusiasm and played an excellent game against equally talented opponents. Both teams had good serves, sets, bumps, and spikes. Witstok was able to control the ball very well and Evans' and McCrary's spikes were excellent but Lutheran East got a slight lead and beat ULS, 16-14.

Lutheran East also beat ULS in the next game, 5-15. ULS' games against Academy of the Sacred Heart were spectacular as Roman and Vandellen set the ball, and Meade and Warren spiked powerfully. Roman also did exceptionally well with her serves. ULS defeated ASH, 15-13 and 15-3.

Traveling to Lutheran Northwest with only 5 players, ULS defeated Lutheran Northwest, 15-10, 15-11.

ULS hockey: University Liggett School has held its own in ice hockey in the tough Michigan Metro League. The Knights record is 5-6-2 in league play and 7-8-2 overall.

In the last four games ULS has shown it can do the job. Against Catholic Central the Knights came from a 4-2 deficit with five minutes to go and won 6-4 on two goals by Ron Schocker. Other goals came from John Kuika, Tom Dow, A.J. Gibson and Ramsey Gouda.

The road trip to Ann Arbor Huron was not as successful. Dow and Rick Roberts tallied for the Knights in a losing effort as the River Rats won, 5-2.

On Feb. 4, Fraser High School, the No. 1 ranked Class A team in the state, came to the McCann Rink to take on the Knights. The Ramblers won 6-4, but not before ULS had its chances. Dow collected both goals for ULS with an assist going to Brian Valice and Marty Wittmer. The Knights led 1-0 after the first period and were down 2-1 after giving up two power play goals in the second.

Brownell cagers win again

The Brownell eighth grade boys' basketball team made it six straight wins with an impressive win over St. Clair Shores Southlake, 38-23, last week. Brownell was never behind as Southlake could not break the Bullets' press. Every player of Brownell saw action in the game which put Brownell in first place.

"It was a fun game. We played a very good offensive and defensive game," commented coach Al Devine. Rob Skuras led the team with 18 points and 12 rebounds. Rick Leonard played his best game of the season scoring 10 points and grabbing three key rebounds.

Mike Zrimec scored four, Jeff Barry, Ryan Hoch and captain Drew McSkimming all scored two points each. Jim Curran and Tom Jones both played very well in the victory. The Bullets are now 8-2.

The Brownell seventh grade basketball team also defeated Southlake, 30-13. The Bullets started fast, jumping to a 20-2 halftime lead. Brady Kraushaar led the way with a game high 20 points. Paul Williams, Doug Hagen, Eric Restum, Tim Piche and Caven West all added two points to the Brownell cause.

"We were ready to play today," said coach Paul Pomaski. "Once we got going, there was no stopping us." Tom Liliensiek, Eric Miller and Taylor Lincoln each played an outstanding game for the Bullets. The win over Southlake raised the seventh graders' record to 6-3.

Star spikers win five in a row

By Lucie Cooper
Star of Sea

Our Lady Star of the Sea High's varsity volleyball team opened its regular season on Jan. 14 with a hard loss to St. Clement, 7-15, 9-15. The girls bounced back, however, to win their next five matches and get back into contention for first place.

Star's victories included wins over Pontiac Catholic, 15-8, 15-11; Immaculate Conception, 15-6, 15-13; St. Ladislaus, 15-8, 15-12; and a double-header sweep of Cardinal Mooney, 15-3, 15-6, 15-7, 9-15, and 15-2.

Coach Margaret Spindler's team has thus far shown impressive spiking, setting and serving abilities. The girls' tight court form has allowed for a minimum of missed balls. The squad will next compete in a volleyball tournament at Shrine High School on Feb. 13.

Babe Ruth League needs you!

For many years, the Babe Ruth League of Grosse Pointe City-Farms has provided young men aged 13 to 15 with an outstanding baseball program. This program is the result of many persons taking interest in the young people of the community.

As in past years, replacements are needed for managers and coaches who have had to "hang up their spikes."

Anyone interested in assisting the program as a manager or coach should contact John Hoben at 886-2496 or Al Hillenbrand at 343-0181 any evening after 7 p.m.

Another medal on ice for Holly

Holly Hammel, 12, of Lincoln Road, is beginning to shine on ice. Holly won a second place medal in preliminary ladies' freestyle figure skating competition in Garden City Feb.

5-7. Holly's home club is the St. Clair Shores Figure Skating Club. She is coached by skating professional Jackie Lomnickar, of Hillcrest Road.

Wehmeyer swims to a win in the 50

Carleton College women's swim team co-captain Lisa Wehmeyer swam to a first place finish in the 50 yard breaststroke in the team's 70-70 tie with the University of Wisconsin River Falls last week.

Wehmeyer, a senior at Carleton College, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Wehmeyer, of Bishop Road. She is a Grosse Pointe South High School graduate.

North ends tailspin

By Paul Regelbrugge
North High

The Norsemen put an end to their three game tailspin via a 60-56 triumph over Southlake (1-11), last week. The win upped North's league record to 5-2, while it is 8-5 overall.

North shot an outstanding 66 percent from the free throw line (21 of 32), a fact that made coach Ray Ritter very happy. "I was very pleased with the way we shot from the line in comparison to what we've done there so far," said Ritter.

The Norsemen were led by Dan Sheridan with 13 points, followed by Dries VanLanduyt with 11 and Andy Pflaum and Bill McEnroe with 10 apiece. The four Norsemen in double figures marked the first time this season that this has happened.

"It was a big game for us," said coach Ritter. "The team rose to the occasion and the win kept us in the Bi-County race."

The Norsemen will be at home tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. against Lake Shore in a very important league game.

Here are the Bi-County League standings:

Team	League	Overall
L'Anse Creuse	6 1	10 2
Lakeview	5 1	10 1
Grosse Pointe North	5 2	8 5
Lake Shore	4 2	8 6
Clintondale	3 4	5 7
Southlake	1 7	1 11
Brablec	0 8	1 12

North basketball: The J.V. Norsemen fell to L'Anse Creuse, 46-42, last week in a tight game. Mike Hall scored 21 points in an excellent offensive game.

The freshmen's 47-33 victory over L'Anse Creuse was followed four days later by a loss to DeLaSalle, 62-38.

North trailed, 21-19 at the half against L'Anse Creuse before scoring an incredible 20 unanswered points at the end of the third quarter.

Kevin Weidinger scored 20 points in the game. Art Szymanski scored 10 against DeLaSalle.

Boys' swimming: Joe Schmidt made another state cut in the 200 freestyle to lead the streaking Norsemen to a 103-69 win over Lakeview last week.

Placing first for North were Jim Strong, Mark Stoyka and Tom Cobau in the 200 medley relay; Steve Henkel in the 50 freestyle; Strong in the 100 butterfly; Dan Gorrien in the 100 free and Rob Baldwin in the 100 breast. Schmidt, Cobau, Henkel and Gorrien placed in the 400 free relay.

Wrestling: In a head to head meet for sole possession of first place in the Bi-County League, the Norsemen emerged winners over L'Anse Creuse, 41-13.

They want to lick heart disease . . .

Cardiac aid has been Alpha Phi's national philanthropy since 1946. The fraternity received the American Heart Association's Heart and Torch Award in 1966 for outstanding contributions to cardiac care. Alpha Phi has conducted international lollipop sales to raise funds to "help lick heart disease" for the past 11 years. Locally, sale proceeds have provided substantial donations to Saint John Hospital's Cardiac Program and the Grosse Pointe Public School System. Past donations to Saint John have gone to the Angioplasty Program and toward the purchase of a Noninvasive Cardiology Transducer and Ergometer for the Cardiac Catheterization Laboratory and a Cardiokymograph (CKG). This year's proceeds will help purchase a Bentley Blood Oxygen Saturation Meter, which continuously monitors the oxygen saturation of the blood in order to efficiently operate the oxygenator and pumps during heart surgery, for the hospital's Heart Catheterization Laboratory.

Alpha Phi donations have enabled the Pointe Public Schools to purchase Resuscit-Annies and films for Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation classes (CPR).

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth presenting, this week, the main dish in a delicious SATURDAY LUNCH.

With the man of the house and the children at home, Saturdays are perfect times for serving an exciting and a really tasty lunch. The Manhattan Fish Stew and Chiffon Gingerbread can both be made while you are preparing Friday night dinner and quickly reheated in just a few minutes. If planning to make the fish stew the day before, reserve the fish and lima beans and add about 20 minutes before serving.
