Farms-county stand-off shakes cars off Lakeshore

By Tom Greenwood

While nearly everyone in Michigan is hoping for an early spring thaw, relations between the Farms and the Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC) appear to be in a permanent deep freeze.

The bone of contention between the two is the future repaving of a battle scarred stretch of Lakeshore Road located in the Charter Commission joins road union fight

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The Wayne County Charter Commission voted last week to take legal action against the county's newest union, the Association of County Road Administrators, and found two law firms that will do the work for the public welfare, according to Barbara Gattorn the Grosse Pointe representative to the commission.

Mrs. Gattorn said the commission voted Tuesday, March 2, to file suit to block the unionization. The lawsuit will be filed in both the name of the Charter Commission and the individ-

The suit charges the union is against public policy and makes provisions of the new charter unenforceable, Gattorn said.

Since a motion to spend up to $10,000 from the commission's discretionary fund failed, Gattorn said she has found two law firms to handle the case on a pro bono basis, or for the public welfare. The two firms are Clark, Klein and Beaumont, and Tucker, Barbour and Mack.

Gattorn said another special meeting of the commission scheduled for Wednesday, March 11 was called by the five members who voted against taking legal action.

Rather than try for a reconsideration of the legal action vote, which Gattorn said would take support of someone who voted for it, the five will try to discuss and vote on the pleadings in the case.

If the pleadings, which are to be filed no later than March 16, are voted down, the lawsuit will be stalled as effectively as if the commission rescinded its previous action, Gattorn said.

The five are also expected to ask for a ruling from the State Attorney General to see if the Commission can bring suit. Gattorn said.

Gattorn said Monday she isn't sure if a quorum will be present at the meeting.

An earlier legal challenge to the union was dismissed last month by Visiting Circuit Judge David Vokes, who said the four plaintiffs in the case, Wayne County Commissioner George Killeen, Sen. John Hertel, George Ward and Justine Barnes, chairman and vice-chairman of the Charter Commission, did not have standing to bring the suit.

If the four were to get proper legal standing, or the Charter Commission, the Senate or the Board of Commissioners were to bring the suit, Vokes said the facts of the case could be heard.

Killeen has pushed a resolution through the Board of Commissioners, now before the General Government Committee, that would bring the board into the legal fight. The General Government Committee will discuss the resolution at its March 16 meeting, committee chairman Paul Citkowski said. Hertel, an undeclared candidate for the Wayne County executive office race in November, introduced a resolution in the Senate Monday that would give him standing to continue the legal battle. Aides said they expect action on it sometime this week.

The legal battle is over a six-year contract signed between 74 top Road Commission department heads and supervisors which critics claim blocks reform in the department, Proponents of the contract say the agreement offers job security, protects them against summary dismissal by the new county executive and offers no more in wages and benefits than the members of the union now earn.

help defray the costs. Neither side is willing to give in, while the only thing changing is the size of potholes facing motorists playing dodge 'em cars on Lakeshore.

"We've been receiving a lot of complaints here lately about Lake shore, but no one's changing their thinking on the matter," said Farms City Manager Andrew Bremer, "We don't have the money to repair it It's up to them to do their job All complaints we get we turn over to the police department'

Farms Chief of Police Robert K. Ferber confirmed his department had received complaints about the road. According to his records, the chief

has personally called the commission at least a dozen times about the road since the beginning of the year

"We document every call we make," said the chief. "The commission always listens but the response is anything but immediate." According to Ferber, there has been at least one recorded accident because of the potholes, plus two complaints of dangerous driving conditions.

"We've put barricades up around the most dangerous areas at least three times this year," said the chief. "We didn't block any lanes, just tried to steer drivers around the bigger holes.'

Jerry Dresselhouse maintenance engineer for the commission, acknowledges his department has received complaints concerning Lake-

"It's true some people have phoned us," he said. "But I don't know if Lakeshore is any worse than many other roads in the county. All the roads are affected. It's caused by freezing and thawing of water. The water infiltrates into the cracks, freezes, expands and separates the apphalt from the roadway. A ear comes along and pounds it down. Everything pulverizes. Asphalt gets old, tired and oxidizes and out it comes."

Dresselhouse said his crews have been "cold patching" many of the potholes, and that the remedy should be good for about a year. The commission hopes to "hot patch" many roads this summer, but isn't sure which will be repaired because of budgetary limitations

"We've had a disastrous winter," said Dresselhouse. "Patching and snow removal have kept us very busy. Something has to give as far as the budget is concerned. We hope to hot patch this summer. But we'll have to look at the budget and decide which are the worst roads that need the most repair."

While city officials and members of the commission wish the problem could be settled, drivers will have to put up with the potholes for at least another year. According to the Farms city attorney, it will probably take at least that long before the battle between the Farms and the WCRC comes to a hearing in Wayne

$3.5 million pool question on June ballot

By Joanne Gouleche

Are Grosse Pointe taxpayers willing to support a $3.5 million bond issue for a new enclosed community swimming pool in the south end of the school district?

Residents will face that question when they step into the voting booth in the June 14 school board election.

At a Monday Board of Education meeting, trustees unanimously approved an advisory ballot question that asks taxpayers if the board should conduct a $125,000 pool feasibility study.

If the June 14 vote is favorable, the Municipal Finance Commission would require a selected pool site, estimated costs of developing the site and board-approved preliminary drawings before the question went before voters again, administrators said. The commission studies bond issues to insure project estimates are Trustees have made it clear throughout meetings with parents they can turn down the pool project even if the June 14 vote is favorable.

There was some question among board members and Citizens for A Community Pool if the $125,000 figure should be included on the ballot.

"I personally feel the amount should be included," Supt. Ken Brummel said. "If the vote is positive in June, it does indicate that the community is willing to spend some money on it (pool)."

Parents behind the pool project say they have already completed 98 percent of the feasibility study for a pool on Messner Field near Richard School in Grosse Pointe Farms.

PARENT ART Colten last month told the board the school system would have to spend $60,000 at best to complete the feasibility study before the issue is turned back to voters. (Supt. Brummel has said the Messner Field proposal would "seriously impair the elementary school program at Richard.")

Colten appeared at a February board meeting with drawings and charts for a proposed 50-meter, 10 lane pool at Messner Field. The swimming facility would also include provisions for a whirlpool, lockers and storage area.

After Monday's meeting, parent Joan Bartoszewicz said she sent a memo to board members asking that the $125,000 figure be deleted from the advisory ballot question. "The costs are much less," Mrs. Bartoszewicz said.

The board and school administrators, however, don't seem to agree.

"Since there is no agreement on a site for the community pool, it would be necessary for the Board of Education to employ an architect to investigate the feasibility of several sites," Supt. Brummel said.

"Although representatives of the community pool committee have been working with an architect, it is uncertain whether the board would wish to employ that architect in order to capitalize on the work that has already been undertaken by the pool committee individuals." Brummel

The superintendent acknowledged the $125,000 feasibility study could cost less "depending on the number of sites to be studied."

Citizens for a Community Pool have have appealed to the school board since last March to construct a pool facility for the South High School swim team. South's 20-yard, four-lane pool is inadequate for competition, the group claims. The South swim team currently uses North High School's pool for meets.

The group has presented about 2.500 signatures to the board in support of new community pool.

Because of problems with water and sewer lines, a proposal to construct the pool near South's Industrial Arts complex had been dropped.

Board members Ronald Dalby and Roger Mourad were absent from Monday's board meeting. Dalby, an opponent of the pool project, has said he will "oppose spending money for a feasibility study, let alone spending money for a new pool

Throughout meetings with the pool committee, administrators have hinted they are not convinced of the educational benefit of a new $3.5 million swimming facility in Grosse Pointe.

Owners say they need the revenue, estimated at $10,000 a year "if we're lucky," to keep the theater open. Theater revenues dropped since cable TV has come to Grosse Pointe. "All we want to do is keep our machines and operate a legitimate business here," said Ron Demers, Esquire coowner. "We want to keep our doors open, pay our taxes and work with the city.

THE PROBLEM the Park council hoped to avoid by passing the ordinance in January - unruly crowds of youngsters disrupting the Esquire neighborhood - has not materialized, according to police reports. The game room is frequented by local adults as well as teens, Demers said.

Another theater, Woods Theater on Mack, has spurred a second Grosse Pointe city to begin work on a video ordinance. Woods Theater has requested permission to install four machines in its lobby and the Woods Public Safety Committee last week began discussions on a new city ordinance regulating video games.

The three-member committee met Monday, March 1, to revise and update a city ordinance that bans pinball machines "and other similar devices" from public places in the city

The committee is waiting for a report from the city attorney suggesting provisions that will insure proper supervision and sufficient parking for such business. The committee also reviewed excerpts from other citys' ordinances.

Councilman Robert Novitke, a Public Safety Committee member, proposed that each machine require two off-street parking spaces. The Woods Theater representatives asked permission Jan. 18 to install four machines, citing failing profits because of competition from cable television. Theater spokesmen said only ticket-purchasers would be allowed to use the machines, which would be located near the candy counter so they could be supervised by candy-girls, managers and ushers at all times.

The motion was made then to refer the item to the Public Safety Committee.

A Detroit real estate agent and businessman asked for permission in February, to install a video entertainment center at 21143 Mack, the soon-to-be-vacated Michigan National Bank of Grosse Pointe building

Gordon Reck made the application for a center that will be family oriented, with no food concessions, no sales of T-shirts, buttons or other items and no smoking, he said.

Gandelot announces bid for second Board term

By Joanne Gouleche

Four years ago, Jon Gandelot campaigned for his Board of Education seat by speaking out against large class sizes, excessive administrative costs and low teacher morale.

In an announcement Monday before school board members, Gandelot said he will seek a second term in June and, this time around, enrollment declines, school funding and escalating staff salaries are high on the campaign issue list.

Gandelot's only opponent so far in the June 14 school board election is Robert Clark of Grosse Pointe Woods, a North High School graduate. Persons who wish to challenge Gandelot for his four-year seat have until 4 p.m. April 12 to file nominating petitions at board offices, 389 St. Clair.

Gandelot, 38, an attorney in private practice, was elected to his seat in 1978 by a landslide vote over John Bruce, then board president, Gandelot captured the win in each of the 10 voting districts with slightly more than 70 percent of the vote.

At that time, Gandelot said voters made it clear they wanted a change in school board policies.

Monday, Gandelot said during his four year tenure on the board, trustees have reduced staff administrators, voluntarily rollbacked millage and successfully renewed it again when many other communities failed

On the board's recent selection of Supt. Dr. Kenneth Brummel, Gandelot said: "(He) is an outstanding administrator whose concern for the community goes far beyond his job

"It would be easy, therefore, to consider the job completed, my service over, and to spend more time with my family." Gandelot said, "However, the challenges ahead in the next four years are even greater than those we have faced and met in the past four.

The schools' advisory committee on enrollment declines may produce "results that could potentially bring about the most significant change that our school system has experienced in decades." Gandelot said.

Sickroom service opens in the Park

Pharmacists at Wilson and Wolfer in the Park this week opened a new shop in conjunction with Sickroom Service Inc., a national home health care organization with 200 centers across the U.S.

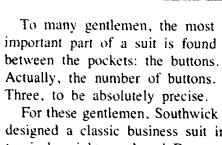

The new store, Beacon Pointe Surgical, rents and sells specialized equipment for home health care. It opened Monday, March 8, in the recently renovated building adjacent to Wilson and Wolfer Pharmacy, 15216 East Jefferson Avenue.

As a Sickroom Service affiliate, Beacon Pointe will carry a range of convalescent aids and medical equipment including walking aids, wheel-chairs, hospital beds, respiratory therapy equipment, bathroom aides, ostomy products, blood pressure kits and home fitness products.

Beacon Pointe also will have access to Sickroom Service's pool of equipment. Local pharmacists will be trained by the national firm on the proper use and fitting of medical equipment and home health care supplies, according to a release from Sickroom Service. Beacon Pointe's staff will include three pharmacists, according to Gerald Bodendistel, owner.

Sickroom Service is a Milwaukeebased organization with centers in 38 states. Company President Barry N. Eigen says the firm's access to major product lines and education programs have made it a leader in the home health care market.

Farms council splits vote on Mack fun run

After a 4-3 vote, members of the Farms Council last week gave a hesitant okay to the Grosse Pointe Business and Professional Association's plans to conduct a 3.1 mile Fun Run along Mack Avenue on Sunday, April Votes for approval were cast by Councilmen Joseph Fromm, Jack Cudlip, Harry Echlin and Lloyd Semple. Dissenting votes came from Nancy Waugaman, Gail Kaess and Mayor James Dingeman.

The Farms was the third and last city council to give the run its approval. The Park, City and Woods previously granted permission, while two police chiefs expressed misgivings about location of the run. The main problems are traffic control and safety of the runners," said Farms Chief of Police Robert K. Ferber. "The most dangerous sections of the run are in the Farms, specifically at the intersections of Mack and Warren and Mack and Moross Roads.

The Mack and Moross intersection averages more than 260,000 vehicles a day In addition, the Farms will have to activate at least 20 additional personnel besides the entire police and auxiliary police departments. Three blocks of the run are in the Park and 11 blocks in the Woods. The rest is conducted in the Farms. "It's just a dangerous situation," the City Public Safety Director Bruce Kennedy suggested to his council that the run be combined with another previously scheduled run, or be re-routed along Jefferson Avenue, in the style of the annual Free Press Marathon. "Mack Avenue is just not the ideal place for a run," said Chief Kennedy.

The purpose of the run, according to Dr. Edward Kane, chairman of the event, is to draw attention to the businesses along Mack Avenue.

"This is a way of getting the residents to think about Mack Avenue, making them more aware of the area," he said. "We hope to upgrade and draw attention to the area."

Race Director Jeanne Bocci said she expected about 500 runners and anticipated no more than a 30 minuate delay for traffic. Bocci said she checked service schedules at area churches and found the run was planned between two service times. "I don't think that's a problem," she said. "Runners will be in and out of the city in 15 minutes. Traffic will be tied up for only a half hour. Any members of the council could walk the route in 45 minutes, so that the event would take no more than an

According to sponsors of the race, more than 2,000 entry forms were distributed before the councils were approached for permission to run the race. The proposed route runs from the Yorkshire Food Market parking lot at Mack and Bishop to the lot of the Grosse Pointe Woods

Bowling Alley.
Runners will be restricted by traffic cones to the curb lanes of Mack Avenue. Parking meters in some cities will be bagged and sponsors of the race have agreed to man all aid stations and to provide litter clean up after the event

Entry fee is $10 and all participants will receive a T-shirt. Plaques will be awarded to the top three winners in each division.

U.S. Senate candidate to speak

Republican candidate for U.S. Senate Philip Ruppe is scheduled to speak at the next 14th District Republican Commîttee meeting Thursday, March 18, at 8 p.m. at the War Memorial.

The public is invited to attend. For reservations call party headquarters at 886-1550.

Ruppe, 58, joined the 1978 Senate race after incumbent Republican Robert Griffin announced he was retiring from the job. Ruppe withdrew from the race after Griffin changed his mind under party pressure. If Ruppe wins the party's nomination in the August primary, he will oppose Democrat Donald Riegle. Jr. in the November election.

Ruppe served as Congressman for northern Michigan for six terms. He is former president of the familyowned Bosch Brewing Company and a Yale graduate.

The 14th District committee is preparing for this year's elections by organizing a voter identification program. The volunteer effort is being chaired by Mrs. Robert E. Swaney.

The local party also is recruiting candidates to run in the August primary to fill some of the 350 precinct delegate jobs in the 14th District. Precinct delegates are responsible for distributing literature for candidates and may attend district and state Republican conventions, according to Alfred Reuther, chairman.

Enrollment decline

Citizens named to study groups

The Grosse Pointe public schools last week announced the names of 20 citizens who have agreed to serve on four study groups advising the Board of Education during the next several months on enrollment declines and schools closings in the district.

The study groups will report to a 12-member steering committee which was appointed last month by the school board.

The school board has been criticized recently by residents who charge the steering committee does not fairly represent community interests.

"We feel that the committee structure is sound and that the committee structure is well-conceived," said Deputy Supt. James Hoeh last week. "We certainly expect, moreover, that any resident who is so inclined, will have an opportunity to express his or her opinion on this important issue."

The four study groups will focus on programs, finances, facilities and public information. Each is made of citizens, school administrators, teachers and students.

Jaycees seek new members

The Grosse Pointe Jaycees are a group of young men between the ages of 18 and 36 who strive to better themselves and at the same time, help to make Grosse Pointe a better place to live.

For 13 years, men have contributed ideas, personal time and involvement that have benefited hundreds of people in our community.

The Jaycees are having a membership night Monday, March 15. It will be held at the American Legion Hall, 20916 Mack Avenue, the Woods, at 8 p.m. All young men between the ages of 18 and 36 are invited.

the commission at the meeting. "It seems to me the space is not adequate," William Dinan, a petition circulator, said. "It's not, I believe, going to help the neighborhood."

Dinan was present at the meeting and spoke against the bank, he said, because it would aggravate an already congested area. The traffic flow is bad now, because of Roslyn's proximity to the end of old Eight Mile Road, he said.

Another Roslyn resident speaking against the bank conversion that night was George Tilton, who said he would rather see the city buy the property and turn it into a municipal parking

"I don't mind another bank, but I just don't approve of it," Tilton said. "Not that I don't want to see someone put up a business there, I just don't think that corner is big enough."

He pointed out there are already several banks and savings and loan institutions in the Woods. The site won't offer bank customers enough parking space, he added.

Tilton said those speaking in favor of the bank did little to calm the fears of residents that the bank will not add to the traffic problem.

Bank president Hulber said that although there is a traffic problem in the area, the bank will not add to it. The Planning Commission ordered the bank to construct curbs at the Mack Avenue driveway that will prevent traffic from going against the flow on Mack to cut across to the median.

That construction must be approved by the Wayne County Road Commission, since Mack is a county

The bank still has to submit final drawings to the city for its approval, Hulber said. The city will issue a permit for the conversion if the drawings meet its approval.

When the bank first came before the Planning Commission last December, commissioners expressed concern the facade of the bank resembled a gas station, with the bays for cars sealed and covered with glass. In its January meeting, the commission asked for design changes including bricking a cinder-block retaining wall, the painting of the back of the building landscaping.

The bank will also submit its plans for lighting to be approved by the

She'll bring Life Support to your front door

By Jenna Doc

Lately paramedic Sally Sullivan, 22, is spending more time in the emergency room at St. John Hospital than at the fire

Ms. Sullivan, the first and only female paramedic in the city of Grosse Pointe Woods, is working in the emergency room to become familiar with the techniques and staff as part of preliminary training for the Advanced Life Support Unit that the Woods City Council put on the ballot and voters approved funds for last November. Taxpayers will begin to pay a half mill more in taxes for the service this July.

"I've got the ambulance parked outside and I'm ready to go on a run anytime needed," said Ms. Sullivan, clad in navy blue fatigues and lab coat, talking over the police calls coming from the radio attached to her belt. "I just whip off this lab coat and go.'

THE ADVANCED Life Support Unit is a service that will bring the emergency room to the residents of Grosse Pointe Woods. The ambulance will be equipped with a telemetry, an instrument which can transmit voice and electrocardiogram signals to the doctors at the emergency room. The doctors then can instruct paramedics. This procedure is similar to that followed in the popular television program "Emergency.

Ms. Sullivan said Advanced Life Support is necessary in Grosse Pointe Woods even though the area is small and close to hospitals. "To a patient who is not breathing or in critical condition five minutes may mean the difference between life and death," she said.

Proper drug therapy and respiratory support during the five minutes can make that difference.

In 1980 one out of three of the patients the Grosse Pointe Woods ambulance responded to would have benefitted from advanced techniques of some degree, Ms. Sullivan said.

In Michigan there are three levels of emergency care: Basic Life Sup-port, Limited Life Support and Advanced Life Support.

Basic Life Support is the level at which Grosse Pointe Woods technicians now work. Technicians provide cardiopulmonary resuscitation, oxygen therapy, bleeding control, burn care, splinting of fractures, assessment of pulse, respiration and blood pressure status, vehicle extrication, water rescue and treatment of poisoning, burns and childbirth. This is the most limited emergency care, and there is no communication with a doctor at this level.

Limited Advanced Life Support is the second level of emergency care. Grosse Pointe Woods plans to work at this level by fall of 1982. The additional services provided to residents are intravenous therapy, which is the starting of an I.V., the insertion of an endotracheal tube, which is the insertion of a tube into the windpipe, and to use an esophageal obturator airway which is an instrument designed to obstruct the esophagus or food tube allowing lung ventilation. These services will be provided under a doctor's radio transmitted directions.

The Advanced Life Support level is planned for the fiscal year of 1982 or 1983. The paramedics will have a drug box with them on every run. They will communicate with the doctor in the emergency room and he will determine the drugs that should be given after transmission of the patient's electrocardiogram signals. Paramedics also will use shock treatment to bring the heart back into rhothm when necessary.

The paramedics will be the eyes and hands of the doctor," said Ms.

EXTENSIVE classroom and practical training of the technicians is required by the state for licensing at each of these levels. Once licensed the technician must take refresher courses for license renewal every three years.

Ms. Sullivan has completed her training and is a certified paramedic at the Advanced Life Support level. Grosse Pointe Woods employs four other technicians, three are paramedics ready for Advanced Life Support work and one specializes in work on the Limited Advanced Support level. All of the technicians are doing shifts in the emergency room at St. John Hospital.

Inspired by the television program "Emergency," Ms. Sullivan has been an emergency technician for Grosse Pointe Woods for two years. Prior to that she worked for a private ambulance service. The youngest in her class to graduate from Basic Emergency Technician Training at Detroit General Hospital, Ms. Sullivan lost her first patient after only three days on the job. "I've become hardened to death, but I'm not cold. You can accept death but you can never become accustomed to it," she said.

When she lost that first patient a co-worker told her that every time a patient is lost a piece of the paramedic goes with them, but everytime a patient is saved all those pieces come together.

"I think of that whenever I start feeling bad about this job," said Ms. Sullivan. "And it's true, a life saved does make it worth it."

A patient is considered saved if he makes it out of the emergency into intensive care. "Even when they only live a few days I think it's better for the family than a sudden death,' said Ms. Sullivan.

A PARAMEDIC must maintain an emotional distance but sometimes the stress of the job does stir feelings. When this happens Ms. Sullivan said the paramedics talk to one another. Ms. Sullivan said this is one aspect of the job where being a woman may be an advantage because women tend to talk more openly about their feelings than men do.

Ms. Sullivan also likes to practice Tae-Kwon-Do, a form of karate, to relieve job stress. She holds a red belt in the martial art.

She finds that most people like seeing a woman paramedic. "Sometimes people who are in pain will even take the time to crack a joke. They will say things like "at least I've got the prettiest paramedic, she said.

In addition to emergency runs Ms. Sullivan cares for the ambulance and helps wash scout cars.

How does it feel to work with only men? Ms. Sullivan said that her co-workers are great. "I feel like I have 36 brothers.

Having a choice about what you do or say is a freedom not to be valued lightly. But sometimes, as children complain, it can be a 'puzzlement.'

This is the dilemma anyone talking with Helen Leonard may be confronted with. Both the person and the project are so fascinating it is difficult to choose which will be featured. Mrs. Leonard qualifies for all the adjectives which can be used to describe a winning personality. She is charming, enthusiastic, intelligent, dynamic, lovely to look at and, above all, a caring person.

Her dedication and her intense urge to make a program she instituted for those who like books but can't get to the library has resulted in a successful service that few libraries in the

Helen goes to the homes of people who can't come to the library and brings them books to read. But she does much more than that, bringing not only books but conversation and companionship. This is very impor-tant to people who are shut-in and have very little opportunity to visit with others.

Before she visits, Helen phones to see if the person is interested in having books brought to them. Most people are really pleased to hear from her and an appointment is made.

"Once in a while," she says, "you get an individual who wants nothing to do with the program. But that is rare. I remember one older gentleman who very abruptly in plain language told me, No! I thanked him and hung up. A few days later his wife called to apologize and asked me to stop by. He is now a regular and one of my most avid readers."

On her first trip, Helen talks with the person to determine his or her reading preferences. "I never censor or second guess their request," she notes. "If a reader wants spicy, off-color stories, that's fine. I go back and search the shelves for what the library has, and bring back enough books to carry them through for two weeks. At the end, I return with new selections and we sit down and talk about the books together.

"This is one of the things I like to do," Helen says. "I not only get tuned into what books they really enjoy so that I can be more selective next time, but I come to know the readers as individuals. I know they appreciate the opportunity to talk about the books just as any reader likes to share what they have enjoyed reading with others."

Sometimes Helen has diffculty with the discussion because there are readers who like technical books. It isn't easy to talk shop with engineers or scientists but she tries.

Besides getting to know people on a literary or professional level through their mutual sharing, Helen is deeply impressed by the courage of those she visits. Shut off from the outside world, they have made the their world

"There is one woman I visit," she recounts, "who is absolutely helpless. Yet she is a wonderful person to know. She is well read, and a delightful conversationalist with a fantastic sense of humor. You come away inspired and resolved to handle your own grievances with life a little better.

The value of Helen's program has been endorsed by both Bill Peters, director of the Grosse Pointe Library and the Friends of the Library.

"Mr. Peters has been very supportive of the program," Helen says, "and the Friends of the library have contributed generous financial aid to the project. You can't imagine how much their cooperation has meant to me. There's nothing more discouraging than having to defend a new program every inch of the way.

"I believe those citizens who are now homebound, and most of them are older citizens, should enjoy the same privileges that others who are able to visit the library have," Helen

"After all, many of these older homebound people are the same citizens who in their younger days helped establish the public library in Grosse Pointe.

"I have heard stories from some of them about how this library sys tem started in a storefront setting with volunteers. All of these people supported the system with their taxes and helped it grow to the wonderful accomodation it now is," Helen adds.

The library offers books to suit every taste and need, research facilities, records, films and video tapes and even tools. Those residents who helped build this facility can be proud of their achievement. The Grosse Pointe Library system maintains excellent services for those who can get there.

"Wouldn't it be unfair then," asks Helen, "not to share those services with the people who helped make it possible but because of age or illness can't get to their local branch?"

I don't think anyone disagrees with her premise but some might wonder how service to the homebound came

The answer: Helen started it, And what gave her the idea? This business of taking the library to private homes is unusual and came about because of the kind of person she is. She cares about others.

When her children were little, (she has two daughters, Melissa who attends Western University, and Kristan, a South High School student) Helen worked as a volunteer at the Bertha Fisher Home where she read and discussed books with patients.

Later, when her children were older and the family had moved to Grosse Pointe, she presented her program to Peters, who liked it. She was hired on a part-time basis to implement a program so successful it soon became a full-time job.

You will never meet a more en-thusiastic worker. She is like a child at Christmas as she points out program improvements that add to participants enjoyment-talking books (books with tapes so readers can listen as they read), large-print books (Helen believes these have converted reluctant readers). large-print New York Times and Readers Digest. Besides the pleasure books in any form bring, Helen believes the program works as therapy for some of her readers. "I have seen the changes in them," she contends. "Those who understandably become depressed because of their isolation do seem to take a new lease on life." Scientifically this is true. Bibliotherapy, gaining insight by reading about how others solve problems, is accepted by those who work in the mental health field.

Because she is so diligent in her desire to reach everyone who might benefit from her program, Helen appreciates calls either from the person or anyone who knows of someone who would like to be contacted. Helen can be reached at the Grosse Pointe Central Library, 343-2074.

Because she wants to share the joys of reading with everyone, Helen doesn't limit her activities solely to the homebound. She conducts a hu manities program on Wednesdays at Brownell and an arranged film program on Thursdays. The theme of the humanities program is "Our Remembered Past" and takes the form of reading excerpts from fiction, nonfiction and biographies about history. Right now the group is reading and commenting on the literature of the first World War.

"It is so rewarding to read these passages and then have the group talk about them from the background of their own experiences," Helen comments.

"It's a real learning experience because each one reacts to the selection according to where they were and what they were doing at that "We had some interesting comments on the question, 'Where were you when the armistice was signed? she relates. "What makes it so intellectually stimulating is the combi-nation of interests represented."

As a student Helen attended Hunter College and Wayne State University where she took courses in education and journalism before settling into library science.
As you might expect, Helen is a reader, enjoying all kinds of books with a leaning toward history and biography. When does she find time to read? If you are a reader you know the answer: You make time. Helen has other interests besides books. She is a gourmet cook, attends plays and concerts and enjoys walking. All in all, she is quite a lady and a pleasure to meet.

Woods mayor will address seniors

Woods Mayor George Freeman will address the Thursday, March 18 meeting of the Grosse Pointe Woods Seniors. He will speak about the recent "Conference on Aging" held in Washington, D.C. to which Freeman was a delegate.

The group meets the first and third Thursday of each month at 3:30 p.m. in the North High School cafeteria. In addition, the group offers exercise at the Mason School on Vernier Road and the Barnes School on Morningside and Fairford every Monday and Friday from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. The physical therapist will be George Housey.

Bridge sessions are offered every Monday at 3:30 p.m. at the Parcells School, Mack and Vernier, by the Family pay service premieres on cable

Vice-President and General Manager of Grosse Pointe Cable TV, Michael Reynolds, announced that a new family rated pay TV service premiered on March 1.

The new service, entitled Home Theater Network Plus, features four or five G and PG rated theatrical movies per night, children's programming and musical specials. "R" rated movies will not be shown and there will be no commercial interruptions or editing of the movies. In addition, a continuing travel series will also be featured.

The new service will be carried on cable channel 34 and will be offered at a monthly rate of $6.95. Programming will consist of a 12-hour day beginning at 4 p.m. and running until 4 a.m. seven days a week.

Home Theater Network Plus will replace the current service being offered which is sold for $3.95.

"The current service is limited with only three hours of programming and only six days per week," Reynolds said. "The new expanded service will allow more flexibility in family oriented programming as well as offering a better variety.'

The Home Theater Network service, HTN, is the only G and PG rated premium service in the country.

A Skeptic's Guide to Grosse Pointe Cable TV

You've probably been hearing a LOT of TALK about Grosse Pointe Cable TV. And, it may sound too good to be true. Well, it's good. And, it's true! BUT, in case you still have some doubts, we'd like to dispel them. Grosse Pointe Cable is a home entertainment service offering more than 100 first-rate movies and specials each month. More than half these features are NEW and have NEVER been seen before on TV.

Why do I need Cable TV? I already go to the movies?

To see ALL the movies you should be seeing, you'd need to be a film critic, or a tycoon!

Grosse Pointe Cable TV lets you see them!

The movies will come to TV anyway.

Sure. But most movies take two years. And, when they air, the network will snip off enough to fit a time slot and all those commercials. A censor will decide what you can see, and all those commercials will try very hard to ruin the movie for you.

Grosse Pointe Cable TV presents the movies with NO interruptions to interfere with the content or the pacing of the films.

I don't watch much TV. Why pay for it? There's a good reason why you don't watch much TV. Most TV programming is boring! With Grosse Pointe Cable you pay for QUALITY programming. If you see ONLY 3 to 4 features a month, you've got your money's worth.

But I like commercials!

Commercials are often a welcome interruption to BAD programming. But they're annoying when they interrupt GOOD movies.

Convinced?

Utica teacher says it best

By Andrea Saxer

Grosse Pointe Toastmasters' president Glenn Charles won the club's annual speech contest Feb. 22, with an impassioned plea for battered, abused and ignored children. Charles drew on his experiences at Eppler Junior High in Utica where he teaches and every day sees children who stutter, or come to school blackand-blue or are deaf because of uncared for ear infections.

Charles' next step in Toastmasters' international speech contest is to compete with the Shaw College club. Competition then moves on to division, district, and region. Regional winners will compete in Philadelphia in August.

First runner-up in the local contest was Neville Pack of South Oxford Road, manager for corporate products and administration at Chrysler Corp. Holding up a set of car keys and a bottle of Canadian Club, Pack called cars and booze a "socially acceptable form of homicide."

Second runner-up was Don Hanser of Bedford Road, who works with the Joint Commission on Accreditation for Hospitals. He entreated listeners to "gear the punishment to the crime" in an argument for fast, certain punishment of criminals.

Speeches were judged on content (50 percent), delivery (30 percent) and language usage (20 percent).

Local Toastmasters meet in the main library on Kercheval and Fisher Roads at 7:30 p.m. on the second and fourth Mondays of every month. Better speaking and listening skills are the club goals. For details, call Charles at 469-0584.

State's gas cost rise is lowest since 1976

Motorists in Michigan received a break from double-digit gasoline price hikes in 1981 as the average cost of full-serve unleaded along main state roads rose 8 cents per gallon compared with 14.1 cents in 1980 and 36.3 cents in 1979, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"The 1981 price increase was 5.8 percent, the second lowest annual percentage increase since Auto Club began keeping records in 1973," stated James Drury, Auto Club Travel Operations manager, "Nationally, unleaded gasoline prices rose 9.2 percent last

Michigan's lowest percentage increase was in 1976 when the cost rose 3 percent. The highest increase was in 1979 when it jumped more than 47

Auto Club's surveys showed that from January through December 1981, the average cost of unleaded full-serve gas rose to $1.452 per gallon, along main highways. Detroit-area full-serve unleaded rose 9.7 cents per gallon, or 7 percent, to an average $1.468 per gallon

The average cost of regular rose 7.2 cents, or 5.4 percent, to $1.396 per gallon along main highways, and 8.5 cents, or 6.4 percent, to an average $1.404 per gallon in the Detroit area.

The average cost of unleaded along main highways rose 13 cents from January through March to a record $1.502 per gallon. From April through December, average costs fell for all grades each month except in November when they either were unchanged or slightly higher.

Drury cited the continuing drop in demand for gasoline, abundant gasoline supplies and stabilized crude oil prices as reasons for 1981's price

Through November, 1981 gasoline consumption in Michigan was down 6 percent compared with the first 11 months of 1980 although miles traveled in the state rose 1 percent. Gasoline use in Michigan has fallen 17 percent in the last two years.

The largest monthly price increases for most gasoline grades ever recorded by Auto Club came in February. The average cost of full-serve regular rose 7.8 cents per gallon on main highways and 8.1 cents per gallon in the Detroit area. Full-service unleaded rose an average 8 cents per gallon in Detroit.

The exception was unleaded along main highways, which rose 7.2 cents, exceeded only by a 7.7-cent jump in February 1980

Self-serve unleaded gasoline rose 4.8 cents, or 3.6 percent, to an average $1.375 per gallon along main highways, and rose 2.5 cents, or 1.9 percent, to $1.335 in the Detroit area

Instrumentalists play at festival

Thirteen Grosse Pointe North instrumental music events appeared in the District 16 Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association (MSBOA) Solo and Ensemble Festival last month at Macomb County Community College, South Campus.

They were a part of the 1,450 senior division entrants from high schools in Macomb and St. Clair ('ounties, the Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods, and eastern Oakland Adjudicators, most of them teachers at high school and college level, came from all over Michigan to judge the students. They awarded ratings I to V for each performance, I being the top rating.

Six North entrants earned Division Il honors. They were Michael Akas, violin solo; Lynne Barton, flute solo; Beth Bunnell, violin solo; Lisa Thomas, violin solo; Laura Wood, flute solo, and Tricia Weber and Marlene Preisz, clarinet duet.

The other seven North events earned Division I ratings. They were Douglas Bastianelli, clarinet solo; David Jennings, trumpet solo; Denise Spurlock, flute solo; Karen Thomas, flute solo, and Roberta Willison, flute solo.

Ensembles winning First Division ratings were a duet with Beth De-Crick, bass clarinet, and Tim Bodendistel, euphonium and a woodwind quintet with Karen Thomas, flute, Barbara Deman, oboe, Douglas Bas-tianelli, clarinet, Eric Reed, bassoon, and Susan Edgar, horn.

The First Division winners are now eligible for State Solo and Ensemble Festival, which will be held at Eastern Michigan University on April 3.

Taste Verdict: Verdict:

Former higher tar smokers applaud MERIT as "Best-tasting low tar I've tried."

Can a low tar cigarette provide the taste incentive to switch smokers from higher tar brands?

Research proves MERIT can.

Taste Debate Ends.

Nationwide survey reveals over 90% of MERIT smokers who switched from higher tar are glad they did. In fact, 94% don't even miss their former brands.

Further Evidence: 9 out of 10 former higher tar smokers report MERIT an easy switch, that they didn't give up taste in switching, and that MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried.

MERIT Landslide.

In addition, extensive unmarkedpack tests confirm that MERIT delivers a winning combination of taste and low tar when compared with higher tar leaders.

Confirmed: The overwhelming majority of smokers reported MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading higher tar brands.

Confirmed: When tar levels were revealed, 2 out of 3 chose the MERIT combination of low tar and good taste.

Year after year, in study after study, MERIT remains unbeaten. The proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking—is MERIT.

Behind the board's summer tax vote

By Kenneth Brummel Supt, of Schools

Everyone knows that death and taxes are certain, but at least death isn't an annual event, although taxes are. And, exactly when to observe that annual event is a question that the Board of Education has been considering as it has struggled with the issue of whether or not to move to a summer tax collection system.

At this meeting on March 8, the board voted on my recommendation not to initiate a summer tax collection system at this time, but to consider collecting summer taxes as a contingent financial plan for possible future implementation if financial conditions in the school system warranted.

Since this issue has received a lot of media coverage and generated considerable discussion in the community, I would like to explain briefly why the board raised the possibility of moving to summer taxes and the reasons for its decision on March 8.

A 100 percent summer tax collection, or a system of collecting half of the taxes in the winter and half in the summer, can produce significant amounts of money for school systems which collect all of their taxes in the winter.

This is partially because the fiscal year of school systems (as dictated by state law) is from July 1 to June 30, so a school system collecting taxes only in the winter has to sell tax-anticipation notes in order to borrow money to operate until December or January when tax bills are paid. Consequently, by collecting taxes in the summer, a school system doesn't have to borrow as much, or at all, and can save interest expense.

In addition, a school system has the potential to realize a substantial increase in revenue by having money for a longer period of time (six months from July to December) to invest for itself and earn interest on those investments.

Another reason for moving to a summer tax collection system is the increasing difficulty in obtaining bidders on the tax-anticipation notes. Financial institutions generally don't want to purchase these notes because the interest rates schools pay on them are less than what the financial institution can obtain through other investments. Illustrating this point is the fact that The Grosse Pointe Public School System has had fewer and fewer bidders on its notes for the last few years, and last year had only two bidders.

Those are reasons for moving to summer tax collection system, and and impartial observer might well ask "When considering those reasons, why wouldn't the board make that move?"

The answer to that question is simply that the proposal to move to a summer tax collection system provided that any money saved from such a move would be returned to taxpayers since school money and taxpayers money are one and the same. This would be done by returning the savings through a voluntary reduction in millage equivalent to the additional revenue the school system would realize by collecting taxes in the summer.

However, after intensely studying the issue and discussing the pros and cons with many citizens, our auditors, and other mancial experts, we realized that we would have a great deal of difficulty in determining what the impact of such a move would be on individual taxpayers because of the taxpayers' varying levels of investment sophistication and how that would apply to each taxpayer not having his money to invest for six more months each year because of paying taxes in the summer instead of the winter,

Secondly, general economic conditions at this time would undoubtedly make it difficult for some residents to pay their taxes six months earlier than they have in the past.

Also, we have received some assurances from representatives of financial institutions that because the school system's credit rating continues to be so good, we should be able to sell our tax anticipation notes without much difficulty, at least in the immediate future.

Finally, unlike many school systems across the state, our school system is in good financial condition at this time, and we don't have a desperate need for the additional funds that would be provided by moving to a summer tax collection system.

If in the future, however, financial conditions should change, or the state would take some action like placing a cap on growth in the State Equalized Valuation of property, it would be advantageous to have the flexibility to move to a summer tax collection system as an alternative to making cut-backs or raising millage. Consequently, the board supports the concept of collecting summer taxes, is holding a summer tax collection system as a future contingency plan, and is encouraging state lawmakers to adopt legislation to give school systems maximum flexibility in collecting summer taxes if necessary.

One view from the Capitol

By William R. Bryant, Jr.

It is necessary to keep state expenditures to a minimum responsible level through this recession.

Two points: First, it is necessary for legislators to hold down the costs of operating their office. To that end, we made sure that last year we kept printing, mailing, telephone and related office costs down enough to save over 45 percent of the amount allocated to each legislator. Of the $7,500 allocated, we saved $3,442. We will make certain we save more this year, with the budget crisis continuing.

The second point I want to make is quite different. The state has cut back so much in the past two years that it may need some form of tax increase to get through the next six months.

No one "wants" a tax increase But I have a responsibility not just to try to hold down the cost and scope of state government but also to try to see to it that state government does what it is supposed to do.

So this is just in the nature of fair warning. We are getting to the point where further huge cuts (we are now looking at having to cut another $500 million) may not be possible within my concept of responsibility.

One possibility would be an emergency four-month, 1 percent in the income tax, from April to July only.

We'll see. I hope it is possible to avoid any general tax increase, even an emergency one.

Bitter medicine for Michigan

The state's deficit now is being estimated at $515 million and further cuts in state services are being considered along with possible increases in state taxes to bring the state budget back into

Speaker of the House Bobby Crim, Davison Democrat, was even quoted last week as saying that a state tax increase is unavoidable this year unless the Michigan economy suddenly turns around. Unfortunately, such an upturn is not yet in the cards, according to most economists.

GOV. WILLIAM Milliken, who said in his budget message in January that he would not support a general tax hike, now concedes he is exploring every aspect of the state's financial picture. He was scheduled to outline his budgetbalancing strategies in a broadcast speech Wednesday night after the Grosse Pointe News had gone to press.

What has happened in recent weeks to put the state deficit back into the headlines is a further worsening of the state's economy. That means a further shrinking of the state's revenues and a further widening of the gap between spending and revenues. The Legislature must balance the budget by the end of the fiscal year Sept. 30 to protect the state's credit rating and to meet commitments to lenders holding short-term state

At a time when unemployment still is increasing in Michigan and welfare and other social costs of a recession are still on the rise, we find it easy to agree with Crim's comment that "you have to wonder where the bottom line is on reduction of services." He sees further reductions of the size required to balance the budget as

Senate Minority Leader Robert VanderLaan, Kentwood, sees the possibility of a combination of some more cuts in state services plus some increases in taxes. Senate Majority Leader William Faust, Westland, is waiting for the governor's

Operating on the theory that if at first you spring for the district court post, the field would be narrowed to two in the August primary and don't succeed, try, try again, the Pointes now are taking a fresh look at ways of implementing newly-enacted state enabling legislation to set the new judge would be elected in November and take office in January, 1983.

The overall purpose of the plan is to replace the antiquated municipal courts in the Pointes with a single district court in order to better serve the cause of justice. Under the legislation, the district court will be authorized to consider civil claims of up to $10,000 as contrasted with the municipal court limitation of $1,500. Litigants seeking damages or claims in excess of that amount now have to be heard in Wayne County Circuit Court in Detroit which often means a delay of up to 40 months before cases can be

The municipal governments in the Pointes are moving slowly to implement the legislation because of the obvious problems involved. A major one is the overall cost of a new centralized system and the contribution that can be expected from the state. Perhaps equally difficult to solve is the political issue to be raised by election of a judge by all the Pointes. Some municipal officials see the possibility of the judge becoming the political boss of the Pointes as well as the forerunner of a move to consolidate the Pointe governments.

Centralization of activities always leads to such fears, of course, and sometimes they are warranted. But such considerations emphasize why it is that Pointe officials and administrators are moving so carefully to implement the new good for kids court legislation. court legislation.

Two years ago Wayne County finally became the last of the major metropolitan counties in the country to adopt a home rule charter which will be implemented this fall with the election of a county manager. Now the Pointes, with East Detroit the last of the state municipalities to rely on the municipal court system, have another opportunity to contribute to improved government service through the adoption of the district court plan.

recommendations but shares Crim's belief the budget cannot be balanced by cuts alone.

All of which brings the governor and the Legislature in general to think in terms of alternatives to further cuts in spending and services. Crim suggested an increase in the state income tax, a boost in nuisance taxes such as those on cigarets and liquor, and the closing of tax loopholes, or a combination of such tax hikes.

It is possible to find more support for the nuisance tax increases now than was possible a few weeks ago when President Reagan was reportedly considering an increase in federal levies on cigarets, liquor and possibly gasoline. The Republicans in Washington are still seeking some way to reduce the federal deficit but the President himself has backed off from any new taxes, even of a nuisance variety.

So it is possible the increase in state nuisance taxes talked about earlier may be back on the state's agenda. While such taxes already are at high levels in Michigan, these impositions cannot be regarded as increasing the costs of necessities. Yet there must be some point of diminishing returns on such items as eigarets, which can be and often are imported into high-tax states from those which impose lower taxes on these items.

Whatever happens, the budget crunch in Lansing, coming after the cutbacks in federal aid from Washington, will mean further belt-tightening on many if not most public services in Michigan. Yet hungry people must be fed and the poor must be clothed and housed as well. The schools must be kept open. So must the colleges and universities. Such services ought not to be cut

UNDER THESE conditions, an increase in taxes, unpalatable as that is to politicians and citizens alike, still appears to be a possible part of the solution of the problem caused by the continuing recession and the burgeoning deficit in Michigan. We may not like it but we can at least understand the rationale for such an unpopular dose of economic medicine.

Advisory group lacks 'fair share'

To the Editor:

Thank you for your report in the Feb. 18 edition of the Grosse Pointe News about the newlyappointed 12-member Citizens Advisory Steering Committee which will be advisory to the Board of Education regarding declining school enrollments.

I have some observations and questions about the composition of this 12-member committee as it relates to "a fair balance of persons in the community who have children in the school systems, those who don't, senior citizens, and different geographical areas in the Pointe" -a quote attributed to Ed Deeb, steering committee chairman. First, nine of 12 members, 75 percent, are from the immediate school constituency. These are parents of students, the teachers' union and the Board of Education. Yet this immediate school constituency represents only between 25 percent and 30 percent of the 22,500 residences in the school district.

The other three committee members are from Seniors Onward for Change, the League of Women Voters and a realtor.

If about 70 percent or 75 percent (approximately 15,000) of the residences in the school district have no children in the school system, what is their "fair share representation" on this advisory committee? Who is representing the property owners of all 22,000 residences, a more remote school constituency which, through property taxes, pays almost the entire bill for the school system? What percent of residences is occupied by senior citizens?

Second, your page one article said "the 12-member advisory committee was appointed from recommendations of various community organizations."
Would you find out and report in the Grosse Pointe News the names of the various community organizations which were invited to make recommendations and who in fact did respond?

Next. I want to offer some suggestions for the advisory committee to consider, and I will appreciate your making this information available to your readers as well for their consideration.

• Obtain reports over the last 10 years about school closings in Dearborn, Livonia, Warren, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, etc. Compare their enrollment declines to the Grosse Pointe Public School System. Determine how many schools were closed in number and percent in each system and what uses have been made of these closed schools and properties.

• Consider submitting your report in May or June, 1982, so that program implementation can begin in September, 1982.

• With enrollment down 5,-300 (40 percent) from 13,400 in 1970 to 8,100 now, consider an immediate Phase I program of closing the three middle schools (grades 7 and 8) whose total maximum capacity is 2,725 stu-

Given a current capacity of 13,975 students with 15 schools, the elimination of 2,725 spaces in 1982 in the three middle schools would reduce the capacity to 11,250 in 12 schools. With a current enrollment of 8,100 (5,875 under capacity), closing these three middle schools would reduce the over capacity situation to 3,150 in 1982, but increase to approximately 3,600 a year from now because of continually small entering classes and large graduating classes.

It should be noted that Brownell Middle School occupies 15 acres, Parcells Middle School 15.93 acres, and Pierce Middle School 5.44 acres. These 36 acres could be devoted to more pressing needs, such as housing.

• Consider a Phase II program to be effective in September, 1983 that would address the over capacity of 3,600 student spaces a year from now. This would require a careful study of student demography. It could mean closing some elementary schools. Or, if a school was kept open at 50 percent capacity or less, perhaps one principal and support staff could serve two schools.

I have spoken to many property owners in our school district who are most distressed by the very sharp rate of increase in our property taxes in the last five years, the largest single portion of which is used for the public school system.

Speaking for myself, I think it is time for the Grosse Pointe Board of Education to take significant action to reduce the rate of increase in property tax funds used for school purposes. Certainly, closing of some schools is part of the answer, but not the entire answer.

Programming, reception draw subscribers' ire

To the Editor:

I am reluctant to add a sour note to the general noise about Grosse Pointe Cable Inc. I feel, however, that it's important to at least expose the other side of the issue for public scrutiny and discussion.

While cable is a worthwhile concept, I do think the company's board should re-examine what has been delivered to resident-subscribers.

For example, while the original promotion (and the current ads) trumpeted "33 channels of entertainment," let's face it; seven channels are generally blank or show little more than test patterns. In addition, the three community channels yield scarcely enough valid program-ming to fill one channel, let

To the Editor:

The Esquire Theater provides an invaluable community service. There is no other place for teenagers to go, I personally would rather have my teenagers go to the video game room than hang around street corners or drive around looking for trou-

I have two teenagers who now go to the roller skating rink in Mt. Clemens. This place is really too far away for them and I worry about the kind of people they associate with. At the Esquire, I can see for myself who goes in and can stop by any time to see what's going on.

With proper supervision, what harm can be done?'The number of machines is unimportant. Our children are going to use video equipment; why not let them use it in a safe, clean environment?

Teenagers need a place to gather with their peers. Remember the soda shops and dance pavilions of our youth? Teenagers today have no such place; they have nowhere to go after school to have a soda pop and a conversation. No restaurants want them because they are too rowdy and don't spend enough money.

We have far too many bars for adults in Grosse Pointe Park and far too few places where children can go and be them-

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

Lyric soprano Donna Grunewald, whose parents are Grosse Pointe residents, will be the featured guest artist at the Grosse Pointe Symphony Women's Association luncheon meeting next Thursday, March 18, at Lochmoor Club. Donna, who holds a Bachelors degree in Music Education from Alma College and a Master of Music Performance degree from the University of Michigan, is a veteran performer.

She soloed with the Alma College Choir from 1972 to 1976, during its tours of Greece, Africa, the Mediterranean Islands, Yugoslavia, Roumania and California. She toured 46 of the American states as soloist and member of the Normal Luboff Choir. She participated in University of Michigan productions of Madame Butterfly and The Marriage of Figaro, sang in Michigan Opera Theatre's Carmen last October and is scheduled to give a recital for the Cadillac (Mich.) Symphony Society this May.

Donna taught Vocal and Instrumental Music to students in grades one through eight at Saint Clare de Mon-tefalco School for two years. She teaches privately now, and is a soloist at the Opera House Restaurant. She'll be accompanied next Thursday by Grosse Pointe's Pat Junker, in a program featuring an aria from The Marriage of Figaro, "Summertime" from Porgy and Bess and several standard favorites.

The concert will round out a Pointe Symphony Women's Association agenda that begins at 10:30 a.m. with a business meeting, conducted by President Mrs. Kim K. Lie, and a social hour preceding a trip to Lochmoor's brunch buffet for apple and/or chicken crepes, beef tips with mushrooms, et al. Arrangements for the day were made by Mrs. Anthony Vermeulen, the Association's social chairman, assisted by Mrs. Robert Kaiser, in charge of program, and Mrs. William Bundesen, decorations.

They've put together a lovely program. If you'd like to join them for it, call 886-9102 — but call IMMEDIATELY, for luncheon reservations, at $10.50 per person, are going, literally, like hotcakes! Which, by the way, you're likely to find on Lochmoor's brunch table, too.

The final auditions in the first biannual Competition for String Instruments sponsored by the Junior League of Detroit in cooperation with the Friends for Orchestra Hall were held last night, on-stage at acoustically perfect Orchestra Hall, and the awards ($2,000 and a recital appearance at Orchestra Hall during the 1982-83 season for the winner; $500 to a musician showing special potential) have been given out — but too late to make this week's edition of the NEWS.

We do know, however, that three Grosse Pointers were among the talented contestants. Daniel Culnan, violinist, holds a Bachelors degree in Music from the University of Colorado, where he received highest honors, and a Masters degree in Music, received last year from Juilliard.

Michaela Marie Kemp, cellist, is a product of the Grosse Pointe Public School System. She studied for three years with The Pointe's Philip Porbe, and at Tanglewood with Reuben Green of the Boston Symphony. She has won numerous awards. She was a Concerto Win-

Health-O-Rama days . . .

Checking the schedule for this spring's Project Health-O-Rama with MRS. WILLIAM H. MILLER JR. (right), of Detroit, Project chairman, is Grosse Pointe's MRS. JAMES N. MAR-TIN. Both women are members of Women for the United Foundation, who'll be staffing many of the major sites at which Project Health-O-Rama will offer free health testing starting next Wednesday, March 17, and continuing through Wednesday, April 7. The tests will be given at 54 locations in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. At each site, nurses, medical technologists and other health professionals will check for signs of anemia, high blood pressure, glaucoma and vision problems. Project Health-O-Rama is co-sponsored by the United Health Organization, a Torch Drive Agency; by WXYZ-TV Channel 7 and by Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Michigan. Information on specific testing dates and locations may be obtained by calling the Project Health-O-Rama Hotline, 353-8900, between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Visiting Nurses remain active

Jane Blumberg, of West Bloom-field Hills, is the new president of the Visiting Nurse Association of Met-under doctors' orders and teaching paropolitan Detroit, a Torch Drive Agency which has provided professional home health care services to the tri-county area for more than 84 years.

Other recently elected officers include Grosse Pointe's Thomas E. Coulter, an attorney with Hill, Lewis, Adams, Goodrich & Tait, recording secretary, and Dorothy Dumke, corresponding secretary.

First, second and third vicepresidents, respectively, are Ricky Ross, of Birmingham, Ruth Friesema. of St. Clair Shores, and Leslie Rose, chairman, Fidelity Bank of Michigan, Birmingham. Jean Werner-Beland, associate professor of Nursing at Wayne State University, will serve as assistant recording secretary.

Treasurer and assistant treasurer, respectively, are Michael Flaherty, vice-president, Finance, Children's Hospital of Michigan, and Stephen Howard, general sates manager, Liberty Tool & Engineering, Walled Lake.

Grand Marais Questers meet

Mrs. Keith Leibbrand will open her Fisher Road home to members of the Grand Marais Chapter of Questers at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow, Friday, March 12, and, following a business meeting, will present a program on the works of Albert Bierstadt: a German-born American artist who believed that pic-tures of scenery should be more magnificent than nature itself

Bierstadt's sweeping canvasses portrayed scenes of the American West in the late 19th century. Two of his paint-ings were placed in the Capitol at tients and family members how to manage their own health care prob-lems. The services of Registered Nurses, physical and occupational therapists, speech pathologists, registered dieticians and social workers are available, depending upon patient

VNA services are more in demand now than ever before, and the organization's new president attributes this demand to shorter hospital patient stays and the growth of an aging population. "With a staff of more than 500 working from nine offices throughout the area, we have always been sensitive and responsive to the needs of the community," she says.

"Currently, we are watching the economic situation very closely. We believe that the people who have given so generously to the United Founda-tion and the Plymouth United Fund while they were working are entitled to the best health services this community can offer.'

VNA's growth has been dramatic. Today, it is such an important element in the health care delivery system that its annual budget is about $14 million. The primary source of revenue is Medicare-Medicaid, Blue Cross Blue Shield and other insurances. Fees for VNA services for patients without insurance or Medicare coverage are based upon the patient's or family's ability to pay.

"Also important to us are donations by patients, their families and friends and major philanthropic organiza-tions," Mrs. Blumberg says. "These indicate that the donors are clearly placed with our services and compleased with our services and commitment."

VNA's administrative office is located on Second Avenue in Detroit. The office nearest the Grosse Pointe area is located on East Eight Mile Road in East Detroit.

She is currently studying with Jascha Brodsky at the Curtis Institute of Music, and expects to receive her Bachelors degree in Music from Curtis in 1983. Suzanne is another member of the Marvelous Musical Leon Family that includes Stephanie, winner of the first Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival Piano Competition, and Kelly, finalist in the Seventeen Magazine/General Motors National Concerto Competi-

Suzanne studied with Jean Rupert at the Detroit Community Music School from 1966 to 1976. She has won numerous honors, has appeared on television, and has soloed 13 times with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

The String Competition is part of the Daytime Performance Series at Orchestra Hall, started as a project of the Junior League of Detroit last season. The League designated $52,000 to the Series, designed to allow senior citizens, handicapped persons and school-age children to attend free, quality cultural events at Orchestra Hall. Mrs. Douglas Gmeiner, of the Junior League, chaired the String Competition, with assistance from Mrs. William O. Grierson and Mrs. John Rainey Jr.

A 'Gentleman Caller' from The Woods

Wayne State University Theatre's production of Tennessee Williams' haunting American classic "The Glass Menagerie" opens two weeks from tonight, Thursday, March 25, at 8:30 p.m. in WSU's General Lectures Hall, with Woods resident Peter McBryan appearing as the Gentleman Caller. The lyrical drama, part of the Theatre's Studio Season, will play a two-weekend run, closing Sunday, April 4. Ticket information may be obtained by calling 577-2972.

A Casting Call in The Park

Every few years — when they can't stand it any longer — IBEX members decide they just must put on a play. This is one of those years. It's IBEX' 50th anniversary year, actually, and in celebration of this Golden Event IBEX will present one of America's comedy classics, "You Can't Take It With You" by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart, on two mid-May evenings at the Performing Arts Center at Grosse Pointe North High School.

The fun's already begun with last Sunday's crew and casting party at Nancy and Tony Tewes' Edgemont Park home. Husbands, sons, daughters, friends are all welcome, for "You Can't Take It With You" calls for a large cast (all ages, both sexes) and a versatile stage crew. Anyone who couldn't make it Sunday was asked to show up at the Cameron Place home of Ann Parcells Monday evening, to read for a part or sign up for a committee.

A Late March Lunch in St. Clair

Members of P.E.O. Chapters in the Lake Shore P.E.O. Round Table area, which includes Grosse Pointe, Warren, St. Clair Shores, Mount Clemens and Port Huron, will gather for luncheon Saturday, March 27, at St. Clair Inn. They'll be observing the 113th anniversary of their Sisterhood, founded as a college sorority at Iowa Wesleyan College in 1869. P.E.O. later chose to change to a community-oriented group, retaining its English letters and off-campus chapters.

It's now an international philanthropic and educational organization, with 215,000 members in the United States and Canada, dedicated to providing increased opportunities for higher education to women.

P.E.O. supports an Educational Fund to assist women to continue their educations beyond high school, and an International Peace Scholarship Fund for foreign women who wish to pursue graduate studies in the United States and Canada. There are five women currently enrolled in graduate programs at two Michigan universities and one at Cranbrook Academy of Art under the Peace Scholarship program.

The Sisterhood also supports Cottey Junior College for Women, a fully accredited liberal arts college in Nevada, Mo. Its newest project, the Program for Continuing Education, makes grants to women whose educations have been interrupted, or whose circumstances dictate a return to Hostesses for this year's Lake Shore P.E.O. Round Table Founders' Day observance are members of Port Huron's Chapter S. Unaffiliated members in the Lake Shore area may make reservations by contacting Mrs. Henry D. Lampman, 885-6767, by this Monday, March 15.

Dine a la Old Grosse Pointe

The Grosse Pointe Historical Society will host a French Habitant Dinner, in the manner of Grosse Pointe's earliest settlers, Monday evening, March 22, at 6:30 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Food and decorations will be authentic, and there'll be entertainment: a dialogue/playlet depicting the life of a Habitant farmer.

The costumed players, who come from the Detroit Historical Museum, are Jeanne Laviolette and Dennis Charbonneau whose very names conjure up the atmosphere of New France.

Plans for the evening are being made by the Historical Society's board of trustees, under the direction of President Eugene Cadieux. Dinner will be followed by a short meeting during which a new slate of officers will be installed.

Occasion is the Society's annual meeting, to which all members, their guests and members of the community at large are cordially invited. Dinner tickets are $10 for members, $12.50 for non-members. Admission to the meeting and entertainment only is $2.50 for members. $3 for non-members. Further information may be obtained and reservations made by calling 885-1630 or 885-4207.

Help your baby learn to see

Newborn babies can see only light and dark and must learn to see, says the president of the Michigan Optometric Association, in a Save Your Vision Week, March 7 to 13, message. Dr. Theodore B. Walton adds that not all of this learning comes naturally. He suggests seven stages for things parents can do to help.

• From birth to four months, keep a dim light on in the nursery Change the baby's position in the crib frequently. Hang a mobile outside the crib, but move it overhead after eight weeks. Alternate left and right arms when feeding. Play peek-a-boo. Provide rattles.

• From four to six months, allow playtime on the floor. Hang a sturdy mobile or crib gym across the crib. Help the baby grasp small objects. Play patty cake.

• From six to eight months, encourage crawling Provide simple finger foods. Introduce drinking from a cup. Play hide and seek games.
• From eight to 12 months, provide sturdy cardboard books and take apart toys like snap-lock beads, blocks, stacking and nesting objects. • From one to two years, roll a hall back and forth to the child. Provide blocks, balls, zippers and riding toys pushed with feet. From two to three years, read to the child. Provide drawing and writing materials, bean bag games, puzzles and sorting toys. Allow plenty of time for outdoor activities. • At age three, schedule a thorough optometric examination to detect vis-ion problems and check vision de-

Star of Sea rites for Susan Rinke

Father Malcolm Carron, S.J., assisted by Father Ralph Barton, Father Hector Saulino and Father Herman Kucyk, presided at the wedding of Susan Marie Rinke and James Michael Pidgeon Saturday, June 13, in Our Lady Star of the Sea Church. The 5:30 o'clock ceremony was followed by a reception at the Grosse Pointe Yacht

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Joseph Rinke, of Woodland Shore Drive, the bridegroom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore James Pidgeon, of Farmington.

Special guests at the wedding and reception included the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Laura Leary, of Susquehanna, Pa., and the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Baker, of Grosse Pointe Farms and Islamorada, Fla., and Norbert Rinke, of Grosse Pointe Woods, who celebrated his 82nd birthday on the wedding day. Father Carron, former president of the University of Detroit, now associated with University of Detroit High School, also celebrated an anniversary June 13: his 30th in the Soc-

Hasse, D.D.S., of Irving, Calif., Terry Mahn, of McLean, Va., who practices law in Washington, D.C., and Robert W. Miller, D.D.S., of The Pointe.

The mother of the bride wore a strapless dress of pearl grey silk with a white organdy silk bodice and matching pearl grey silk stole. The mother of the bridegroom chose a long-sleeved dress of powder blue chiffon, with an applique bodice. Cymbidium orchids formed both mothers' corsages.

The newlyweds vacationed at The Reefs on Bermuda. They are at home

Orchestra Hall

The first concert in the spring schedule of the free Daytime Performance Series at Orchestra Hall, sponsored by Friends for Orchestra Hall and the Junior League of Detroit, will feature the Chamber Works Detroit Orchestra this Monday, March 15, at 10:30 a.m., in a program that explores a broad spectrum of periods and com-position, ranging from the 18th through the 20th centuries. Chamber Works Detroit's 12 string players and keyboard artist, who performs on harpsichord and piano, will be heard in movements from Johann Sebastian Bach's Brandenburg Concerto No. 2, Samuel Barber's Capricorn Concerto and music by Mozart and Wytold Lutoslawski.

All the chamber orchestra musicians are members of the Detroit Symphony. Chamber Works Detroit uses as soloists musicians who play both wind and string instruments; Monday's soloists will be Donald Baker, oboe, Shaul Ben-Mier, flute, James Waring, violin, and Kevin

Good, trumpet.

Michael Krajewski will conduct, and will introduce and explain both the in-struments and the music to the audi-

The performance will last approximately one hour. Those attending are asked to arrive 30 minutes prior to the concert, to facilitate seating. Further information may be obtained and reservations made by calling Orchestra Hall, 833-3702

The Daytime Performance Series, now in its second season, was begun as a project of the Junior League, which has designated $52,000 to enable senior citizens, handicapped persons and school-age children to experience, free, fine cultural events in acoustically perfect Orchestra Hall. Approximately 15,000 persons have attended the series' first 15 performances.

To mark fifth RenCen year Grosse Pointe's Tom and Diane Phinted A Whiteh

Schoenith, who have hosted a "birth-day party" every March 15 since the Renaissance Center opened in 1977, invited members of the Detroit media to preview the special menu that will be served at RenCen's fifth birthday party this Monday, March 15, at La Fontaine restaurant in the Westin

The Schoeniths selected the hotel's French restaurant as the site of this year's celebration in order to help introduce the new continental menu developed by manager Erich Zuri. The preview's media guests were offered various foods from the menu (among them: quail pate, beef tea, Veal Orloff and Charlotte Russe) and invited to select their favorites. The winning dish will be featured at the March 15

Also featured at the preview were various French, German and Italian wines selected by Madeline Triffon, the restaurant's sommelier.

Chrysanthemum Society to meet

"Creating Bonsai and Cascade Chrysanthemums" is the theme and program for the Greater Detroit Chrysanthemum Society's meeting this Sunday, March 14, at 2 p.m. in the Tel-Twelve Mall's Community Room. Mrs. Joseph Neaton, Mrs. James Buha and Mrs. Marie Gasko will conduct a combination demonstration and workshop showing how to start bonsai and cascade plants.

Those who participate in Sunday's program will be invited to return each month for further instruction as their plants grow. Various cultivars of the type necessary to grow bonsai or cascades will be available at nominal cost.

The program is part of the society's on-going effort to encourage participation in the 39th annual National Chrysanthemum Show and Meeting, to be held in mid-October at the Tel-Twelve Mall. Sunday's meeting is open to the public. There is no admission charge.

Renewal Day program set

The women of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church will participate in a Day of Renewal featuring Peg Rankin, author of "Yet Will I Trust Him," speaking on the crises (death, divorce, separation) that may occur in a woman's life and how to overcome them, next Tuesday, March 16, starting at 9:30 a.m. in the Cameron Place home of Ann Parcells.

A simple luncheon will be served following Mrs. Rankin's program. Reservations may be made through the church office, 882-5330.

Prenatal programs at Macomb YWCA

The Macomb YWCA, located on East Ten Mile Road in East Detroit, begins a new series of programs for the expectant mother this month.

Lamaze (Prepared Childbirth) instruction will be offered on Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p.m., starting March 17. This course prepares couples for the birth of a child by teaching the anatomy of pregnancy and labor, breathing and relaxation techniques, and patients' rights. All classes are directed by Registered Nurses with cer-tification in Lamaze techniques.

Pre-Natal Fitness will be offered Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, from 10 to 11 a.m., beginning March 15. This exercise program focuses on activities that help combat the discomforts of pregnancy and labor by limbering the body and improving muscle tone. Students must have written permission from their doctors before beginning the class.

For those who have recently had baby, the Macomb YWCA offers Post-Natal Fitness on Monday and Wednesday mornings from 10 to 11

Les Papillons offer praise ...

Les Papillons Liturgical Dancers, carrying lit votive candles in their hands, will weave a pattern of light and shadow as they dance "Praise God for the Body; Praise God for the Son" in a rogram performance at Evergreen Village Presbyterian Church tonight, Thursday, March 11. The dance, expressing the unity of God and Mankind, will be presented at a service exploring the use of the performing arts as an added dimension in worship. Les Papillons also will perform the work in which they are shown in the picture above, Psalm 137, a dramatic Benefit slated dance-narration of a people made captive, filled with bitterness and the desire for revenge, whose only hope is their faith in God, and "Yahweh Called Me," a four-part dance using ancient and modern Israeli patterns combined with ballet technique.

"The Butterflies" are sponsored by Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, which launched the innovative group three years ago. They have danced in churches throughout the metropolitan area.

Dancing with them tonight will be the newest member of the troup, Molly Malecek. Also on hand will be Joanne Spencer, Ellen Probert, Mary Lee Strother, Nancy Reed, Lizzie Bolden, Jenny Eshleman and director and choreographer Eunice Whitaker.

The Reverend David Eshleman will be in charge of audio. Costumes for "Yahweh Called Me" and "Psalm 137" were made by Mrs. Helen Jordt. Russell Reed is the troup's official

Subject is roses at Music Hall

Grosse Pointe's Hal Youngblood has joined forces with Evelyn Orbach to star in the Pulitzer Prize winning play The Subject Was Roses" at the Music Hall March 4 through 13. Actor Gary L. Andrews and director Nicholas Calanni, also of The Pointe, are adding their considerable talents to this production.

"This dynamic play follows the Music Hall pattern set in recent years by such plays as "Da." "Gertrude Stein, Gertrude Stein, Gertrude Stein' and "Wings." says J. Roland Wilson, Music Hall producing director and general manager. "Our aim is to give metropolitan Detroiters the opportunity to see some of the many Broadway plays normally neglected by Detroit's commercial theatres. The Mite Division championship playoff series is reaching its climax after last weekend's games Playoff semi-final positions have been locked up by the Flyers, Rangers and Maple Leafs. The semi-finals will feature the leader of each flight playing the runner-up of the other flight. Semi-final play begins tonight, Thursday, March 11, at 5 pm. at the Grosse Pointe Community Rink.

Finalists will play the championship game at 11:30 a.m. Saturday, March 13, at the GPCR. The consolation game will begin at 10 am, that

RANGERS-SEALS

Peter Bourke turned on his former Seals teammates and scored a hat trick to lead the Rangers to a decisive, 5-1 Ranger victory. John Morreale opened the scoring for the Seals. Bourke followed up with two goals in less than 30 seconds before Stephen Tucker scored one minute later. Bourke scored his third and John Ferguson finished it off with the fifth Ranger goal. RED WINGS-STORKS

The Red Wings topped the Storks, 2-1, to stay alive in the playoff chase.
Jay Berger scored twice for the Wings in this closely fought contest. Tommy Rait scored the lone Storks goal late in the game as the Storks mounted a six-man attack, playing the final minute of the game without a goalie. George Petersmarck put in a fine performance in the nets for the Wings.

MAPLE LEAFS-CANADIENS

The Maple Leafs secured a first place finish in their flight by defeating the Canadiens, 2-1. The Canadiens' Nicky Lorenzini put his team on top in the first period on a pass from Kevin McCracken, but the Leafs put back-to-back goals together in the second period to wrap up the game.
Mack Schweitzer scored first, assisted by Brian Crane; Crane put the game away with his goal, Schweitzer and Chad Yates assisting.

FLYERS RED WINGS

Shutout goaltending by Billy O'Keefe assured the Flyers a playoff semi-final spot as they beat the Red Wings, 20. Jody Hartingh scored early in the first period with an assist from Brian Brenner and Marcel Chagnon. While both teams battled up and down the ice, O'Keefe and those sailboat masts dotting the horizon near the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club do not belong to boats abandoned en masse by their owners. The several dozen boats moored there have been tenderly cared for throughout the long, cold winter by the Yacht Club's "bubbling system."

Although the system has been in use elsewhere for some time, this is only the second year the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club has offered bubbling for its boat owners. The GPYC's Steve Perry, Bob Yuhn and Howard Draper are responsible for bringing the bubbles to the club's boats. Draper explains that the system is a relatively simple

"Bubbling is a system where the boats are left in the water and kept from freezing. There are hoses around each boat and these hoses are connected to an air compressor which forces warm air from the bottom of the lake to keep warm water circulating around the boats and keep the boats from freezing." Draper says.

The piping from the compressor runs down underneath the docks. Lead hoses are attached to smaller, perforated hoses which are hung around the boats. The warm water and the movement, or bubbles caused by the air in the water, keeps the water from freezing underneath and around the boats.

"Cost-wise, it's about the same as boat owners would pay to haul the boat out, put it into a cradle, and launch it again. And besides, some boats are just not made to stay in a cradie," Draper says.

Sailboats seem to benefit from the bubbling system the most, since their masts can be kept up all year round.

Draper who is a lieutenant in the United States Power Squadron, says that the bubbling system seems to be growing in popularity had 29 boats in the system, this year it's around 40. We hope to double that figure in the next two or three years.

The GPYC system seems simple enough, and as an added feature, it's almost foolproof. "We have three compressors so if one should fail, the other would automatically take over. And if we had a total power failure we have a back-up gas compressor.

'There's also very little maintenance involved. Each one of the boat owners goes down to check on his boat every once and a while, that's about it.'

Draper says that in the worst portion of this very cold winter there was some freezing around the boats, but it was insignificant and melted away quickly.

Despite the advantages the bubbling system seems to possess, there are always a few boat owners reluctant to change, Draper says. "A lot of people don't want to have to worry about their boats . . . they feel safer with their boats up in the cradle. They also don't want to have to check on their boats; many of them are out of town during the winter."

That drawback aside, Draper says he and the other members of the bubbling committee, Yuhn and Perry, will continue to actively pursue the bubbling system as an alternative for GPYC members.

"It gives the yacht club a little extra revenue in the winter and takes up some unused space, as well. We feel it's very successful and good for both the club and the boat owners," Draper adds.

Not to mention what it does for the spirits of winter-weary Lakeshore Road travelers when they see those sailboat masts along snow-covered shorelines.

Bruins fall in state playoffs

The Grosse Pointe Bruins Bantam AA state championship dreams ended in the semi-finals last week with a tough, 2-1 defeat at the hands of host team Midget Ocean Racing Club Taylor. It took a third period goal to end the Bruins' state title bid in this fast skating, well-played contest. Bruin coach Tom Costello summed up the outcome, saying "we exerted maximum effort but failed to take advantage of many good scoring chances." The Bruins outshot Taylor, Taylor opened the scoring with a first period power play goal before Marty Sanclemente tied the game. 1-1. when he deflected Eric Grant's shot from the blue line into the goal. Tom Davis drew an assist. The game remained tied through the second period, although Grosse Pointe applied constant pressure before the decisive third period.

To reach that semi-final game, the Bruins played three games in a 24hour period. They opened the tournament by beating Trenton, 6-3 tying upstart Lansing, 3-3, before blanking Marquette, 3-0.

Opening against Trenton, the Bruins used three first period goals to jump in front en route to a 6-3 triumph. Robby Wood paced the scoring with two goals and one assist; Sanclemente, Mike Brykalski, John Hirschfield and Davis added single goals. Keith Barich and captain Stacey Rickert earned two assists with defenseman Chris Luongo and Jeff Garrett tallying one each.

Lansing proved a tough opponent by holding Grosse Pointe to a 3-3 deadlock. Two-time victims to the Bruins in the Silver Stick regionals. Lansing used a late second period goal to tie the game.

Grosse Pointe scored a first period goal by Garrett, Brykalski and Rickert assisting, to lead 1-0. Brykalski and Barich posted second period goals to offset three Lansing tallies before the two teams played a scoreless third period.

Completing the preliminary round, the Bruins ea victory over Marquette. Goalie Dino Masella posted his fifth shutout of the season by stopping 25 shots.

Rickert broke a scoreless tie in this contest with his second period marker from Luongo and Rankin Barker. Wood opened the third period with a deflection goal off a Garrett shot. The Bruins clinched the game when Barich scored into an empty net with one minute to play to earn the semi-final berth.

The Bruins closed the season with an overall record of 40-8-6. Coach Costello and his assistant Jim Bednarski guided the Bruins to a Thanksgiving tournament victory at Fraser, a regional Silver Stick crown and the Adray regular season and District 3 championships.

Members of the Bruins include goalies Masella and Peter Muer; defensemen Garrett, Grant, Luongo and Tom Madden; and forwards Barich, Barker, Brykalski, Davis, Hirchfield, Rickert, John Russell, Sanclemente and Wood.

Krickstein tops tennis ranking

The Woods' Aaron Krickstein, 14, topped 138 other age group competitors to finish number one in the 1981 United States Tennis Association Boys' 14 national tennis rankings, the USTA has announced.

Krickstein, who resides on Glen Arbor Lane, was number three in the 1980 boys' 14 national rankings. He climbed to the 1981 top spot as a result of his consistently outstanding age-group performances last year.

In the boys' 14 doubles rankings, Krickstein teamed with Robby Weiss, of Northbrook, Ill., for the number bit like trading a headache for an upset stomach.

Once all was said and done, the upset stomach belonged to All Pointes head coach John Temrowski as Clarenceville administered All Pointes' second consecutive defeat, 316-182. Adding insult to injury was the fact that the defeat was All Pointes' first of the season in Michigan Metro Winter League competition. The defeat dropped the club's record to 3.2.

Clarenceville's domination spanned all four stroke categories and four of the five age groups. Of the 46 events contested, All Pointes was able to register firsts in only 12 events. Only the 10 and under group was able to do better than break even as it took five of its nine events. The 8 and under, 14 and under and 18 and under groups each chipped in with two victories, while the 12 and under bracket had but a single

Both 8 and under victories were captured by Becca Suzor who swam to narrow wins in the girls' 25 yard fly (18.1) and free style (16.8) events.

The first of the five 10 and under victories came as the 200 yard mixed free style relay team of Eddie Suzor, Kris Peslar, Heidi Cartwright and Dan Shanle recorded a time of 2:12.0. The only two back-to-back All Pointes victories came in the 50 yard breast stroke as Mike Bucciero (42.4) edged teammate Suzor (43.4) in the boys' event; Nora Brooks (41.1) and Kris Peslar (42.0) recorded a similar win-place finish for the girls. The remaining 10 and under wins were claimed by Shanle (38.3) in the boys' 50 yard back stroke, and Brooks (33.3) who narrowly edged Cartwright in the 50 yard free style for her second individual win.

In the 12 and under age group, only Jeff Williams emerged with a win as he recorded an easy victory in the 50 yard fly with a time of 33.6.

The two wins in 14 and under were registered in the girls' 50 yard back stroke and free style events. Amy Abrams (33.6) swam to a comfortable win in the former event. while Sue Benoit recorded a narrow win with a time of 28.2 in the latter

The final two wins came in the 18 and under group Bryan (1:19.8) and Kevin (1.30.5) Mistele recorded a first and third respectively in the boys' 13 and up 100 yard medley. The final win came in the boys' 50 yard breast stroke as Paul Sweeny touched first with a time of 32.9.

North High gymnasts reach 12-0

Grosse Pointe North High School hosted and won the Inter-League Gymnastics Meet last Saturday, March 6. The North gymnasts ran their record to 12-0 in earning a 118.0 point victory in a meet with six area gymnastics teams.

Finishing second to North was cross-town rival Grosse Pointe South, coached by Jan Mason, which tallied 113.90 points. Third place I ake Shore. coached by Bobbie Agnello, earned 113.15 points. Phil Rocheleau coached his Lakeview team to 109.15 points; Romeo's Bill Grobbel took his squad to 104.35 points. Warren Lincoln, coached by Alice Benefield, took sixth place with a score of 104.25. Despite North's league success this season. North coach Gretchen Madison isn't as confident her squad will do as well in the regional competition as it did en route to the league title. She says it will be very difficult for North to score as high as the top teams, but "it will be good experience for my girls. The majority of my girls are sophomores . . . next year we'll do really well in the regionals," coach Madison said.

Madison says her charges are "really excited" about the regional meet and adds that Karen McCarthy and Cindi Tsangalias each has hopes of earning some state qualifying scores. "They're doing a couple of new tricks. . . you may as well go for it all at the regionals." Madison says.

Marlies win 29th game

The Grosse Pointe Marlboro Bantam A hockey club demolished Adray rival Plymouth, 5-2, in a late season exhibition contest last week. After Plymouth broke out on top, Grosse Pointe captain Greg Henchel turned on the goal light after taking set-up pass from Jamie Parker Plymouth rebounded to take the lead before Marlie Walter Connolly scored on an unassisted, rink-wide rush to tie the contest at 2-2.

The Marlies' winning goal came with just three second left in the second period as Kevin Tisdale and Walter Connolly combined on a beautiful two-on-one passing play with Connolly finishing up by slipping the puck behind a sprawled, helpless goaltender that activates when it hits the water. There are also whistles attached to the buoys. Another feature that is only required on the Mackinac race, locally, is a man overboard pole, which is a counter-balanced floating pole with a red and yellow flag at its top. Finding a person who has fallen overboard is a lot easier when these devices are used. Another safety requirement is an assortment of tapered wooden plugs a hacksaw and bolt cutters is also available. Should something happen to the mast, getting it cut free of the boat may prevent it from putting a hole in the hull.

Grosse Pointe continued to dominate play in the third period and came up with two insurance goals Joe Sullivan got the first one on a fine unassisted effort and Bob Rogers scored the final tally after taking a centering pass from linemate Jeff LeFebvre.

If you are going to do any long distance sailing, a storm jib and mainsail reefing set-ups are a must. The ability to keep a nominal amount of sail up in the heaviest of winds is necessary for stability and control of the boat. And if the wheel steering or the tiller breaks, the emergency tiller that must be carried could be a lifesaver.

An often overlooked item in many boats is an up-to-date set of charts for the waters being sailed in. The more detailed the charts the better, even if it then requires more charts to cover the same area covered by the larger scale, but less detailed charts. Many potentially hazardous navigational problems only appear on the most detailed charts. Other important navigational aids are current Light Lists and Pilot Guides that provide detailed information about the navigation aids you will see in the water. The Pilot Guide also provides useful and often interesting information about harbors and obstructions such as shipwrecks.

There are numerous other items that should be carried affoat to protect the sailors and the boat. If you race your boat, it is important to read the required equipment lists carefully to be sure your boat is properly equipped. The lists may seem to be rather awesome at first, but when you look them over, you will see that many of the items are just good common sense, such as spare batteries and bulbs for flash-

These lists have been developed by those with over decades of sailing experience in all kinds of conditions and if a boat is properly equipped, there are virtually no emergencies you will not be able to handle. Norsemen highlighted the best week of the season for the varsity girls

Nancy Olen and Lynne Barton served North to 15-9 and 15-4 wins over Lakeview; before the girls beat Brablee 15-8, 15-10. Olen, Dawn Dunlap and Peggy Cadieux starred against Brablec.

The JV was not as fortunate, however, as it fell to Lakeview, 7-15, 11-15 and Brablec, 3-15, 15-3.

Beth Bunnell and Marlene Preisz were North's high servers.

The freshmen downed Utica Ford 15-8, 15-13. They were powered by Paula Harms, Dawn LaGrasso and Rebecca Boone

Saginaw Valley freshman and threetime high school All American Cathy Schmidt won in the 880, set a NAIA record of 2:39.38, and then proceeded to be named the outstanding female competitor in the NAIA Indoor track and Field Championship re-

Schmidt, a North graduate in 1981, ran a different race than she usually does. In various newspaper articles, Schmidt has said she likes to trail and then out-kick her opponents,

"Down here I had to get out in front. I had to be a little careful because they could kick as well as I could. But I ran a lot better from behind, and the higher the pressure, the better I run," said Schmidt. She actually is a miler but this time, the mile run was too close to either the 880 or the 1,000 for her to run effectively in either event.

Some claim the toughest boxer who ever lived was a fighter named Lamar Clark, who set the all-time consecutive knockout record by decking 44 opponents in a row. But Archie Moore did more damage with 136 non-consecutive knockouts during his career.

South wins EML swim meet

The boys' swim team ended its season last week with style and ease, taking first in every event at the EML (Eastern Michigan League) meet Saturday, March 6. The team's overall record ended up at 8-2, yet in the last few weeks the team has been wreaking havoc on old records. Continuing to dominate in their events, Jeff Colton (100 back) and Tom Bartsch (50 and 100 free) each set new EML records. Both are also shooting for state records at the state meet on March 13. Last year both took first in their events and will be defending their state titles.

The Blue Devils not only took first in every event against Roseville, the team's last season meet, but they broke every pool record in those events.

Also representing South in the State meet will be Mark Mulier, Dave Centner, Herman Guevara and Mike Bartoszcewicz, South divers Andy Backman, who took first in the EML, and Rob Warner qualified for Regional competition held Tuesday, March 9, and are hopeful of representing South at Michigan State. Last year South took second at the State meet, losing a close battle to Ann Arbor Pioneer. This year the Blue Devils hope to avenge that loss. Pioneer is not the only team that will give South a run for the money-Birmingham Seaholm, Bloomfield Hills Andover and Brother Rice are high caliber clubs too.

Coach Fred Michalik explained, "Last year too much of the talent was centralized on Ann Arbor's team; this year the good swimmers are spread out and things are wide open." (By Trevor Dinka).

Varsity basketball: "The game was just like our practices that week. We did not practice well, so we did not play well," said basketball coach George Petrouleas about the game against Roseville in which South lost, 56-50.

The loss against Roseville left South in a tie for second place in the EML with Roseville. "The whole game was not totally bad. In the first half we were up by eight. The second half we took Roseville' for granted; our intensity was gone and we shot badly," Petrouleas added.

The shooting percentage was only 45 percent. Top scorer for the Devils was Jim Schaafsma with 18 points. The team's overall record is 14-6 and its league record is 10-4, (By Meghan Bonanni).

South basketball: Finishing the year with a 7-12 record, the JV basketball team lost to Roseville, 56-47. Jim Corbett continued his fine play with 15 points and John Williamson hit for eight points.

Something that makes the JV's losing record look much better is the fact that when the season ended, the five best sophomores—the original strating five-were sitting on the varsity bench.
Finishing their season on an off note, the freshman basketball team lost to Warren Tower, 62-61. The frosh lost a late lead then could not come back.

John Chase led the Devil attack with 16 points and Alex Mellos chipped in with 13. The frosh finished the year at 10-7. Their season was highlighted by a three-game winning streak. (By Kevin Roberts).

South gymnastics: Winding down their most successful season in several years, South's girls' gymnastics team brought its final season record to 7-3, losing to Lakeview, 106.95-105.05 and Grosse Pointe North 116.05-111.5. But they finished on a definite high note, placing second of seven teams in the interleague meet held March 6 at North.

Placing against Lakeview were Andrea Bay and Phyllis Ayoub with first and second on the vault, Bay with first on the floor and Martha Young and Karen Howe with second and third on the beam.

Placing against North were Ayoub and Bay with first and second on the vault; Cookie Stronski with second on the bars; Howe with second on the beam and Bay with third on the floor.

Scoring top-notch performances in the league meet were Stronski and Howe, taking firsts on the bars and the beam. Stronski's score of 8.05 broke the existing league record of 7.7. In addition, Ayoub and Bay took third and sixth places on the vault, and Bay and Young took third and sixth places on the floor.

Receiving regional qualifying scores last week were Bay with her fourth on the vault, Stronski with her fourth on the bars and Howe and Young with their fourth on the beam. These four along with Ayoub, have qualified to participate in the Regional meet to be held Saturday, March 13 at Troy Athens High School.

ULS cagers

The University Liggett School varsity basketball team capped its regular season with a convincing 63-43 victory over league rival Southfield Christian Orce again, the hot handed Michael "Snatch" Paolucci led the way with 22 points and nine re-

The game started give and take, with the Knights giving just enough to allow the Eagles to stay even, and : not taking advantage of myriad scoring opportunities to seal the game earlier than they did. Lay-up after lay-up in the Knights offensive end of the court fell off the mark, but the Knights continued to hustle and by the half held a tenuous, 25-24 lead.

In the third quarter a roaring home crowd ignited the ULS offensive altack, and the varsity cagers poured on an 18-7 scoring barrage. J. T. Parks took command in the third quarter, scoring 12 of his 14 points and pulling down six rebounds. Mike McCarthy put on a rebounding clinic, yanking down an incredible 23 rebounds to finish the season as the Knights' Chairman of the Boards.

The final tally gave the Knights a perfect 10-0 record in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference and a 17-3 mark overall. On Saturday, March 13, the Knights take on Detroit Servite for their district championship.

ULS volleyball: The University Liggett School JV volleyball team had a very successful 1982 season touting an overall 9.2 record. On Feb. 19, the JV traveled to Southfield Christian, winning 15-6, 15-5.

The next game was a home match against Greenhills. Previously this season, ULS had played a close match against Greenhills, coming away victors. In this meeting, the sets weren't even close and ULS triumphed over Greenhills, 15-5, 15-3. Confidence was running high when the JV went on to its next game against Detroit Country Day School and pulled out a quick win, 16-14,

On March 3, the team played its toughest opponents to date, Kingswood. Both teams played excellently with superb bumps, sets, spikes and serves. In the first set, Kingswood took the lead and defeated ULS 11-15, yet the girls came back and defeated Kingswood in the second set, 15-5. In the last set both teams played all out, but Kingswood got the final edge and defeated ULS, 14-16.

The OESTOV volleyball team was coached by Pedro Arango. Team members included Katja Witstok, Elizabeth Warren, Merritt Meade, Ruth McCrary, Laurie Evans, Lisa. VanDellen, Laura Stafanski, Barb Roman and Simone Early.

Payne on track at Ferris

Juliana Payne, a 1979 graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School, will compete for coach Bonnie Bell's women's track team at Ferris State College this spring. Payne, a cross country runner at Ferris, will compete in distance events for the track team. A junior majoring in criminal justice at Ferris, Juliana is the daughter of Bob and Joyce Payne, of the Woods.

Miller-Malek team is second

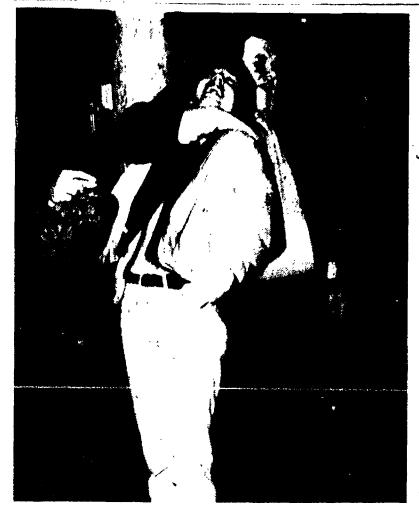

Heather Lane resident Alexander Miller III and his partner Lynda Malek of Wyandotte took second place in Junior Dance in the National Figure Skating Championships held at Indianapolis, Ind. Jan. 26 through Feb. 2. They skate at the National Academy of Figure Skating in Brownstown Township and are coached by Sandra Hess and Peter

Other area winners, all of the Detroit Skating Club, include Nancy Berghoff and Jim Bowser placing fifth of 13 couples in Senior Dance, Joe Mero taking fourth of 10 in Junior Men; Tracey Moore placing fourth of nine in Junior Ladies and Jason and Susan Dungjen taking second place of 10 couples in Junior Pairs. How it's done . . .

South High student Dave Backman asked a foolish question of wrestling promoter George Gannon last week. Backman, looking for all the world like the proverbial 98 pound weakling, wondered aloud why wrestling holds looked so silly. The 375 pound Gannon showed Backman just how silly they looked. (Photos by Tom Greenwood).

Holy half-Nelson!—Big time wrestling comes to South

By Peggy O'Connor

Superstars of Wrestling promoter George Gannon carries around a permanent reminder of his encounter with famed wrestler "Dick the Bruiser"-a 17-stitch scar in his head. It seems Bruiser and Gannon squared off a few years back and Bruiser, whom Gannon describes as "more dangerous out of the ring than he is in it," decided to finish Gannon off after their match by dumping a bucket of tools on his head. It wasn't fair, but Bruiser was, Gannon says, a rough and tough wrestler.

There probably won't be a bucket of tools left carelessly under the ring

Greg "Wojo" Wojciechowski, an 11 time A.A.U. heavyweight wrestling champion, 1980 U.S. Olympic representative and current Canadian titleholder, will face "Cowboy" Frankie Lane in the featured match. The Fabulous Kangaroos, Al Costello and Chris Carter, are matched in a tag bout with Dr. Jerry Graham Jr., and Dr. X.

A Junior Heavyweight Title Elimination Bout will feature Mohammed Saad versus Troy Alexander. Other matchups include "The champ, going against John Bonello and Dennis Kasprowicz, a former collegiate All-American, facing "Iron Mike" Anthony.

The evening's superspecial event features South High's own teacher and wrestling coach, John "Shafer Boy" Shafer challenging Wojciechowski to a "Do or Die" match. This match looms as one of the best-at least for South High students who might enjoy seeing their wrestling coach in a tight spot.

Shafer, who wrestled as a collegian at Miami University 13 years ago, says he's excited about the match. "I'm a competive type guy . . . knowing Wojo's name and reputation I figured I'd give it a shot. "I'm going to go out and do what

I can.'

Promoter Gannon says Wojo, who turned professional six months ago, is a very fierce competitor who, when he learned of his upcoming match with Shafer, asked Gannon: "do you want me to break his legs?" It's little wonder that South's Shafer says he "hasn't really given winning much consideration.'

The real winners of the event will be South's junior and senior classes. who are hosting South's biggest fund raiser ever. Tickets for the show are $10, $6 and $5 and may be obtained at South High, Club 500 restaurant, Kay Baum or the Renaissance Center, Ticket information is available at 343-2130 or 823-4578. And lest anyone think that South's Superstars of Wrestling program isn't going to be wrestling at its best . the 375-pound Gannon can and will set you straight immediately.

"In professional wrestling, we try to combine entertainment with wrestling ability. The rumor that wresthing was fixed or pre-arranged, well . If you know anything about show business, you know that it takes six weeks to prepare for a Broadway show. In wrestling, you have a match three or four times per week in different cities every night. (phony matches) just couldn't be done.'

In recent years wrestling has taken a bad rap because of mismanaged events—but it seems to be getting ? popular again as promoters such as a Gannon seek out a new generation of wrestling fans at events like that to be held at South High.

Wrestling is indeed the sport of the month in the Pointe, and even without a bucket of tools, March 19: should be a super night for the "superstars" and a super night for

bracket. RED WINGS-HAWKS

The opening game of the playoffs saw Mike Crane score two goals to lead the Wings to a 4-1 victory over the Hawks. Charlie Roby and Tom Stephenson each added a goal and the Hawks' goal came from Roger Romine. Mike Semack held off the Hawks in the nets for the Wings.

TITANS-FLYERS Brady O'Toole's hat trick made the difference for the Titans as they swept the Flyers, 5-1. Other Titan goals came from Paul Sutherland and Brad Wilson. Titan goalie Jim LeDuc held the Flyers back throughout the game except for a lone goal by Gordon Maitland.

ISLANDERS-RED WINGS Goalie Sean Grosse held back repeated Red Wing scoring attacks to provide the Islanders with a 3.1 win. Bing Howenstein connected for two of the goals and Bill Huntington added the insurance goal. Roby opened the scoring with a goal for the Wings but the Islanders shut the door on further scoring.

HAWKS-FLYERS

The Hawks kept their playoff hopes alive behind the strong play of the Bourke brothers. Jerry scored twice and Kevin added another as they eliminated the Flyers from the playoffs, 4-1. The Flyers ruined Geoff Donaldson's shutout when Tom Czenker scored.

ISLANDERS-TITANS

In the only overtime game in the playoffs, the Islanders' Peter Nicholson took a pass from Bill Huntington to score. John Nicholson scored for the Islanders and O'Toole for the Titans in regulation time. The 2-1 loss sent the Titans to the losers'

RED WINGS-HAWKS The Hawks saw their playoff hopes dashed last week, losing to the Red Wings, 3-2. The Wings established a three goal lead on Lance Erickson's shot from the blue line and on goals by David Hall and Roby. The Hawks fought back in the third period with goals from Jim Ryszewski and Bourke but couldn't put any more in.

The Grosse Pointe Hockey Association program is paying off for area youngsters in more ways than just fun and learning skating skills. Eightyear-old Johnny Ugval is $50 richer after scoring during the "Scoro" intermission feature at the Feb. 28 Detroit Red Wings game.

Ugval's goal gave Joe Louis Arena spectators a chance to cheer that night. He was one of three spectators who had a lucky number in his game program, allowing him to come out onto the ice during intermission and attempt to shoot a puck through a small hole in a board placed in front of the net.

Ugval, who has played for several years in the Grosse Pointe Hockey Association and is now skating as a first year Squirt player, made just one comment to his father, Carlo Ugval, prior to taking the ice.

"Dad... this is nervous." Ugval's teammates and the rest of the GPHA can only answer . . . "Good going

The Department of Community

Services of The Grosse Pointe Public School System is offering a four week AquaFit program beginning March 16. This program is sponsored by Dance Slimnastics, Ltd., a nonprofit aerobic fitness corporation. Classes will meet at Pierce Middle School from 4:45 to 5:45 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays

Instructor Nancy Neily Road will show you how to enjoy the soothing effect of the water as you exercise to various musical routines choreographed to use every part of the body to its fullest extent. Muscles are strengthened and joints are moved through their full range of motion and cardiovascular capacity is increased.

AquaFit was developed to adapt basic non-competitive dance exercise routines so that they can be done in 3 to 5 feet of water by non-swimmers. and swimmers alike. The results are. jogs, leaps, stretches, kneelifts, and much more all done safely and aerobically in the water to music.

Classes are designed with warm-up, vigorous and cooldown routines. All movements are learned in the water. Exercise is continuous and the intensity is relatively constant for the entire hour with 10 second breaks allowed for monitoring the heart rate. Students are taught to work at their own pace and to strive to increase their workouts for the maximum aerobic benefit.

Call 343-2160 to register for this program.

Stout dives to finals spot

Northern Michigan University junior Jodi Stout finished second in both the one meter and three meter diving events at the AIAW regional Division II invitational meet held in Mankato, Minn., in late February.

EL SALVADOR:

What on earth are we getting into? Wacky just doesn't know but he can tell you that when you visit the Colonial Shop this week, you'll be getting into Detroit's largest selection of unusual, exciting, antiques, gifts, and collectibles at prices so modest the crazy man's considering covering his table legs! A collection of bone china, cups, saucers, and luncheon plates with examples by such firms as Shelly, Royal Doulton, Coalport, Royal Albert Tucan, and Crown Ducal. A knock out, 1930's, Noritake lusterware, tea service heavily decorated with gold, 2 Shelly creamers and sugars, 3 Royal Doulton figurines, (well below their current list prices), 3 new additions Norman Rockwell figurine collection, beautiful, blown, Flint glass pitcher dated 1865, a jazzy Whitting Davis handbag, a jade necklace, a load of banded petalware, a very miniature occupied Japan tea set with covered sugar and tea pot. (Perfect for a type drawer) and gobs of stuff so terrific you really ought to bring along a sedative if you're subject to psychopathic episodes! Remember, now, Colonial is at 25701 Jefferson near 10 Mile and it's open Monday-Saturday 11 a.m.-6 p.m. 772-0430. Your Master Charge and Visa are welcome and don't forget, we

LEE'S RESALE

BORED WITH housecleaning? Why not make it a treasure hunt? You may not find any gold doubloons or pieces of 8, but Wacky's sure that deep in your closet or basement there are "buried treasures," items you no longer need or use which with a bold stroke of his magic pen he can convert to U.S. currency. Hummels, Royal Doultons, depression glass, Fiesta ware, old dolls, old jewelry, furniture, cups and saucers, knick-knacks, and bric-a-brac, are just a sample of what the man's dishing out bucks for! If you can't bring your things to him, he'll gladly call on you, and all transactions are strictly confidential so, ring up a big sale by ring-ing 772-0430 Monday-Saturday, 11 a.m.-6 p.m.

Nonce Dance Company apprentice Anne Deutsch has her hopes on becoming a professional dancer some day. Here she is in rehearsal with company member David East,

Local dancing student points her toes toward the Big Apple

By Megan Bonanni South High

"Dance isn't all the glamour that it's made up to be. If you're going to be a dancer you have to dedicate your life to it," said Anne Deutsch, an apprentice dancer with the Nonce dance ensemble, a Detroit modern dance company. Nonce was formed by Denise Szykula. Said Anne, "Denise wanted to train her own dancers so they could dance in her style. That is the reason she formed the company."

Anne, 15, a Grosse Pointe South High School student, started dancing when she was 4 years old in Szykula's class. "It was a class called creative movement. It was a lot of fun. I really loved it," she said.

The class terminated two years later because of lack of attendance. From there Anne began to take classes in ballet and modern dance. She studied under Mary Ellen Cooper, Beth Kraus (former Nonce member), Drew Cagnoni (former Nonce member), and Mary Audy (also a former Nonce member).

Two and a half years ago Anne returned to Szykula's classes and this year she was asked to be the youngest guest member of Nonce.

Woods slates

The Woods Council will hold a public hearing Monday, March 15 at 7:30 p.m. to select community development block grant projects to be submitted to the Wayne County Office hearing this year, since new regula-tions taking effect this year require low-income housing, funding for the combat of urban blight, and funding for projects that meet an urgent public need.

The guild, first organized in 1876 Barry Badgley in the evenings at 278-9055.

Next year she'll be a full-time member of the company.

"Denise is giving me the chance to be a kid," Anne said. "When you're a full-time member you practice at least eight hours per week. That doesn't leave you with a lot of time for school, work, or a social

Currently Anne practices about four to six hours per week. "It depends on how many rehearsals we have that week," she said.

competition open to high schoolers All Michigan high school students are invited to enter the fifth biennial Michigan Wildlife Art Awards competition sponsored by Cranbrook Institute of Science now through April The statewide competition/exhibition, designed to foster a deeper appreciation for wildlife and its portrayal and to encourage the development of creative wildlife art for both avocation and vocation, is offered to high school age students in grades nine through 12. Subject matter can be realistic illustrations of any wild animal, protozoan through mammal (excluding man), from any area in the world. Media to be used for either blackand-white or color portrayals include watercolor, oil, pen-and-ink, charcoal, pastel, woodcut, etching, engraving, pencil, crayon, acrylic and others. Material should be two dimensional — no sculpture or relief — and not larger than 28 inches by 36 inches, excluding matting.

Each student is limited to one entry A maximum of three entries will be accepted from each high school in the state, including public and private schools. A good quality 35mm color slide (no snapshots or original work) marked with the artist's name and a completed entry form for each work should be sent to Michigan Wildlife Art Awards, Cranbrook Institute of Science, 500 Lone Pine Road, P.O. Box 801, Bloomfield Hills, Mich. 48013.

The awards are first ($100), second ($75) and third ($50) prizes, which include purchase of the work by Cranbrook Institute of Science for exhibition, plus approximately 30 honorable mentions ($10 each).

Entries will be judged by a nationally known wildlife artist, a Michigan Audubon Society representative, Cranbrook Academy of Art President Roy Slade and a Cranbrook Institute of Science governor, director, education curator, exhibits designer and natu-

Following the selections, a public exhibition and tour will open at Cranbrook Institute of Science in July, 1982, with an awards ceremony. The exhibit then will travel to about 12 sites throughout the Upper and Lower Peninsulas, giving many of the young artists an opportunity to share the excitement of seeing their works on public display. This year-long tour is partially funded by the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Michigan Wildlife Art Awards, first program of its kind in the United States, was initiated in 1975 to honor the memory of Dr. Walter P. Nickell (1902-1974), distinguished naturalist with Cranbrook Institute of Science for 33 years.

Entry forms and awards descriptions are available in high schools throughout the state. Further information may be obtained by calling Cranbrook Institute of Science is the Detroit area's natural history museum, open daily except major holidays. It is a division of Cranbrook Educational Community.

Said Anne, "Its a three movement dance. The whole dance is a celebration about Detroit. Denise loves Detroit, and she wants to improve the dance program of this city."

Anne would love to dance as a professional, "but I don't know how realistic it is because it's such a competitive field." In the future she hopes to attend State University of New York.

Anne's biggest goal is to become a member of the Twyla Tharp Dance Company. "They're my absolute favorite," Anne said. "I really think that I could make it as a professional dancer. All I need is hard work and

Choral Vespers will be held at St. James

The annual Lenten Choral Vespers at Saint James Lutheran Church, 170 McMillan Road in the Farms, will be held Wednesday, March 17, at 7:30 p.m., with the three Saint James choirs performing music from various composers.

Organ music for the service will be from Johann Sebastian Bach, with selections from the Orgelbuechlein and the Fugue in g minor.

In addition to pieces by the Bell Choir, under Elizabeth Soby, and the Children's Choir, under Ruth Dicey, the Chancel Choir directed by Pastor Robert Rimbo, and flutist Robert Clausen will present Harold Rohlig's Passion Cantata, "O Holy Jesus."

Other works include psalms by

N. A. Zingarelli and Healy Willan two pieces by contemporary composers Paul Manz and Leland Sateren and Michael Praetiorius'. "We Sing the Praise of Him Who Died."

The public is invited to attend.

Class probes psychic insight

File Social Security benefits

People who worked while receiving Social Security benefits last year and who earned over the limit set by the Social Security are required to submit a report of their earnings to Social Security by April 15, according to James T. Moslener, district manager. The report should not be filed with the Internal Revenue Service, Moslener said.

The earnings limits last year were $5,500 for people 65 and over, and 493-1111.

$4,080 for people under age 65. Benefits are reduced $1 for each $2 in earnings over these limits, Moslener

The earnings reports should show how much was earned last year and how much you expect to earn this year. The reports are generally mailed to beneficiaries, but they are also available at the Social Security office at 17420 Mack Avenue or by calling

Menacing cobra, playboy bird create antics in animal kingdom

Those field mice infected with bubonic plague that threatened President Reagan on his California ranch and the stranded shark that got roped by Vice President Bush on a Maine beach were not the only wild cron tures that made news in 1981.

An assortment of animals that Noah would be proud of crept into headlines around the world by causing trouble for some humans, helping others, and by just struggling to survive, sometimes unsuccessfully in a world dominated by humans, the National Wildlife Federation found in its annual survey of animal antics during the past year.

Medflies on the West Coast, gypsy moths in the East, a duck with an arrow through her breast, a baboon that turned in a false fire alarm, and a deadly snake that pulled duty as a night watchman were among nonhuman newsmakers.

Donna the Duck was the victim, and then heroine, of one of the most bizarre wildlife stories. The tiny mallard became a national celebrity when she appeared at a Las Vegas, Nev., country club with an arrow through her breast. After two weeks of trying. veterinarians finally caught her, re-moved the arrow, and released her. At last report Donna was continuing her charmed life on a pond in the middle of the club's golf course.

Nipper, a ferret, made news, and ferreted out some news, by lending a hand, or paw, to the British Broad-casting Corporation. The tiny weasel-like creature pulled TV cables through a twisted underground duct connecting Buckingham Palace to commentators outside and thus enabled BBC to broadcast to the entire planet of the commotion surrounding the wedding of Prince Charles and Lady Diana.

Not all animals were so helpful, the NWF survey found. Alexis, a baboon, brought six fire trucks racing to the scane, when she grabbed the lever on a fire alarm box next to her quarters in a Baltimore research lab. There was no fire, however. Jonathan, a horse in Del Mar, Cal, turned in two false alarms before his owner stopped the horsing around by fencing off an alarm box.

All kinds of critters tangled with electricity last year. An owl knocked out a power system in Klamath Falls, Ore., when it landed on a hot line with a snake in its beak. The snake caught fire and 5,200 homes went dark. In a prison at Dallas, Tex., a hungry four-foot king snake, looking for prey, knocked out three generators for three hours. In Washington, D.C., it was an errant squirrel that caused a blackout on Thanksgiving

Another invention of man, the drainpipe, nearly cost the life of a black and white cat named Squeaky in Reston, Va. Instead he cost his owner $1,500 when it took two crews of plumbers two days to dig Squeaky out of an underground trap into which the drainpipe—and his curiosity—had led him. A 45-pound alligator got out of his outdoor pen at the Denver Zoo without any help from humans. The gator, inevitably named Albert, was captured 28 days ¹ater in a park pond.

A mess of reptiles made news when a Georgia dealer in protected wildlife handed over a bag containing a dozen eastern indigo snakes in exchange for $1,200. His customer turned out to be a federal agent who had videotaped the "snakescam" transaction. Other reptiles illegally traded and seized by the feds included Indian pythons, Gila monsters and a

It was in London that a venemous cobra was placed inside a showcase containing the world's third largest star sapphire to discourage theft of the rare gem from Sri Lanka. Two dolphins named Lady and Molly were sought by a Florida ship salvager to locate silver bars in the wreckage of two Spanish galleons that sank off

Key West in 1622. Several species of wildlife made news for their roles in scientific re-search. In Athens, Ohio, biology researchers transferred the genes of rabbits to mice and then to their offspring, a breakthrough in genetic engineering that could lead to the transfer of traits from one species to another. In an Oak Ridge, Tenn., laboratory crickets gave scientists some clues to dangerous side effects of contaminants in synthetic fuels by sprouting extra eyes and heads

Not all lab critters enjoyed their assigned roles, the NWF report showed. In an experiment reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association, a ferret injected with a respiratory virus got even with the experimenter when the scientist bent over to check the animal for watery eyes and other symptoms. The ferret sneezed and the researcher caught the virus. A California brain surgeon sued the University of Oklahoma and others for $2.75 million, claiming he was "permanently disabled" when a chimpanzee named Washoe bit off the middle index finger of his right hand during a visit to the University's

Institute for Primate Studies.

In Montgomery County, Md., a medical researcher was fined $3,015 for failing to provide adequate care for six monkeys in his lab, In Ann Arbor, Mich., another medic operated on a 3½-pound Boston terrier named Sweetie Pie and removed half a pound of metal, including 80 cents in coins, from her stomach.

The National Zoo in Washington, D.C., imported a male panda named Chia-Chia all the way from London to mate with its famed but shy female, Ling-Ling. All that happened was that Ling-Ling got beat up. In Green County, Wis. a judge had to sign a court order to restrain a bull owned by Glen Schmid from mating, Schmid's bull, his neighbors charged, jumped their fence and "immaturely impregnated" eight of their heifers. In Miami the pink flamingos that or-nament the infield at the Hialeah race track mated successfully for the first time in nine years.

An amorous bird thought to be extinct made news by reappearing in the mountains of New Guinea. Ornithologist Jared Diamond first heard a birdcall that sounded like "someone shoveling gravel," then spied a bird that more than a dozen expeditions had failed to find since the turn of the centry — a yellow-fronted gardener bowerbird.

Courting a female perched nearby, the rare bird had built a four-foot high bower of sticks and fronds in the shape of a maypole around a sapling. Stacked in the bower were three piles of brightly-colored fruit. To express his ardor, the orangecrested male held a bright blue fruit in his bill, pointing it toward the fe-

The 20-minute wooing ended sadly for the bower builder. The female, apparently unimpressed, flew away, A Yale biologist called the bower-bird's behavior "without parallel in the animal world." Dr. Diamond saw some parallels between the exotic birds and domestic playboys with expensive pads and vans.

"The males with the dullest plumage build the fanciest bowers," he said, "It's like the dull young man with a fancy sports car . .

Common cold still has no common cure

What to do about the common cold . load it down with Vitamin C. treat it with antihistamines, drink it away, or, just leave it alone? Probably the best choice wasn't even mentioned . . . grandma's remedy.

If you get a cold, stay home in bed.
Keep warm. Gargle with warm salt water to ease a sore throat and take a mild pain reliever for the discom-

While none of this will cure the cold, these actions will make you feel somewhat more comfortable while your body's natural defense mechanisms are building up enough steam to overcome the virus, says the Michigan State Medical Society (MSMS).
Hundreds of thousands of people will suffer from common colds in the next few months. They will go to the doctor, looking for a medicine to cure it. The doctor can help you feel less miserable by giving you something for your runny nose, sore throat, headache and the general discomfort that goes with infection, but there is no cure.

Antihistamines dry up the nasal passage somewhat and ease up the secretions, but they also leave a dry mouth. In addition, they can also cause drowsiness, which can be very dangerous if you're driving.

Mild pain relievers available in the drug store will relieve the headache and some will also relieve the fever, but these too, have their limitations and problems. And while you may like a shot of whiskey and honey, it won't burn out those viruses.

In recent years, much has been written about Vitamin C as a treatment that will cure or minimize the common cold Research projects can he cited both for and against its usefulness, yet the controversy continues, and probably won't be settled for years Recent studies, however, show the benefit of using the vitamin to be minimal.

If a cold hangs on, medical attention is a good course of action. While antibiotics will not affect the cold viruses, sometimes there is a secondary bacterial infection that will respond to penicillin. Sometimes, symptoms of the common cold may have other causes such as allergies.

Colds may also precede a more serious illness-so if you have real concerns make sure you seek the advice of a physician says the MSMS.

The earnings reports are used by Social Security to determine whether benefits are being paid in the right amount. Moslener urged beneficiaries to take time to plan their work for the coming year to avoid the possibility of earning over the amounts indicated in their earnings report. Persons who find that their plans change should contact a Social Security office immediately to prevent an overpayment. The law requires that overpayments be paid back in a lump sum or in installments from future

The earnings limits increase each year to reflect increases in general wage levels. The limits for 1982 are $6,000 for people 65 and over and $4,440 for people under age 65.

The earnings limit does not apply to beneficiaries 72 and over. Unless a beneficiary was 72 during all of 1981, an earnings report is still required. Moslener said.
