(Continued from Page 1A) clude newspaper advertisements, possibly a reward program for information on tamperers and marked cars that will circulate through the Pointes, according to Reynolds.

The cable firm estimates it has installed more than $1 million worth of converter boxes in the community at a cost of about $240 each.

EIGHT CITY representatives attended the meeting with cable officers at the firm's office in the Seven-Mack shopping center on Monday, April 24. Although most of the city officials indicated a willingness to work with the firm to stop cable freeloading, some potential problems with enforcement of local ordinances were discussed. Local police may hesitate to enter homes to inspect equipment, one city representative said. Others pointed out that it would be difficult to figure out who to prosecute once it is determined that a converter has been tampered with.

The cable firm may get some help in Lansing where House Bill No. 4820 has been approved by representatives and is now being discussed in the Senate Judiciary Committee. The bill makes cable converter tampering a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $500 and a year in jail.

Grosse Pointe Cable TV, Inc., serves four Pointe communities, the Park, Farms, City and Woods and Harper Woods. It is owned and profits are shared by those five cities, the War Memorial Association, which negotiated the franchise agreements, and Group W Cable, formerly Teleprompter Corp. The name change to Group W was announced last week and is the result of Teleprompter's recent purchase by Westinghouse Broadcasting and Cable, Inc.

Grosse Pointe Cable TV, Inc., recently held its annual meeting at Detroit Bank and Trust Company offices in downtown Detroit. The meeting was not open to the public or press. According to minutes of the April 12 meeting supplied to the Farms council by member Nancy J. Waugaman, the following officers were elected: Rickel, president and treasurer; Reynolds, vice-president and chief operating officer; John Nicholson, corporate secretary; and Clare Feldman, assistant secretary.

Directors who were elected at the meeting, according to those minutes, were Mark Weber, director of the War Memorial; Wilma Healy, a Harper Woods council member; Bernice Mainville, Great Lakes district manager for Group W Cable; Frannie Shelden, and John Rickel, both of the War Memorial Association.

In the morning, the youngsters are much quieter and many still are sleepy, so activities are confined to table games like checkers. "Some kids read every morning," Mrs. McNally said.

In the afternoon session the kids are ready to settle down to games in the library at 4:30 p.m. after a work-out in the school playground. "A lot of them look things up in the encyclopedia and get started on their homework," Mrs. McNally said.

The checkers and book reading become boring after a while for some students. "But I rather believe they would like to be here than at an empty house," said Mrs. McNally, whose son Aaron is enrolled in the program.

Later that afternoon in the playground, a third grade girl with long blond hair gave herself a hefty push with her feet before flinging into the air on the swing.

"Oh, I rather be here," she said confidently. "Cuz I do a lot of work when I get home. I rather play with my friends here."

Correction

A parking structure proposed for the Hill shopping area by Cottage Hospital would be built on Muir Road, not Kercheval Avenue as reported in the April 22 edition.

A 56-HOUR week for some officers is still under discussion, Hunke said, since the city had not yet decided whether to go to Limited Life Support or Advance Life Support ambulance service. The city is scheduled to meet with Detroit medical officials Tuesday, May 18, to determine if the department has met the training requirements for officers to go to the Advanced Life Support service, DPS director Jack Patterson said. If all the requirements are met by the department, the city will then make its decision, he added.

The city has sent three officers to Emergency Medical Technician training, Hunke said, and the EMTs now being trained and others already on the staff will act as support personnel for the paramedics when the ambulance service takes effect.

Public safety officers now serve three functions for residents, Hunke said, since they provide police and fire protection and emergency medical service as well. The savings the city has realized by having one department doing the job of three, however, has not been passed on to the union in terms of better fringe benefits, wages and pensions, he said.

Medical benefits for the public safety officers were updated to fall in line with other employe contracts. In addition, the officers will receive an additional paid holiday, Christmas Eve, during the third year of the contract.

Park council rejects Bishop Lane lot split

Applause and cheers from about 30 residents greeted the Park Council's April 6 unanimous vote to deny a petition from James N. Candler to split his large Bishop Lane lot into two parcels.

Candler, on the other hand, said he is considering legal action against the city because of the vote.

The council made its decision at its regular meeting last week. It was at least the ninth meeting at which the proposal has been reviewed by city officials. The planning commission held several meetings and a public hearing on the lot split and last month recommended the council approve it.

Sparky's set to expand

The city of Grosse Pointe Park last week granted its first new beer and wine license in 21 years to the owners of Sparky Herbert's Bar. The new license will allow the sale of premium beer and wine at the delicatessen next door to the bar. The two establishments will be linked in a $100,000 expansion and renovation project that will begin this month, according to owners.

Under the building program, a 40-seat dining room with natural fireplace and sky-lighted cathedral ceiling will be added adjacent to the current bar. The new room will be open to general customers and may be reserved for private parties, according to Darrell Finken, one of the business owners.

Plans also call for renovating and enlarging the kitchen and restrooms at the bar, Finken said.

The new room will repeat the "contemporary cosmopolitan" decor of the original Sparky's. Robert Wakely Associates are architects for the project and decoration will be handled by Elizabeth (L.J.) Finken, another owner and Darrell's wife.

Mrs. Finken also operates the delicatessen which sells sandwiches, party trays, meats, cheeses, dry goods and breads.

Mr. and Mrs. Finken and Bruno and Charlotte Ferguson own the firm Cabbage Patch Enterprises, Ltd., which operates Sparky's and the delicatessen.

Finken said there are no plans to close the bar during the building project, which is expected to be complete by late summer.

Candler has argued throughout the proceedings that his proposed lot satisfies local legal requirements, a contention that was supported by the city attorney and in a report issued by Vilican Leman and Associates, Inc., the city's planning consultants.

Opponents of the lot split were well organized, represented by attorneys and made their own recordings of council and planning commission proceedings.

They were led by Harry and Carol Ward, whose home abuts the Chandlers'. The group formally organized as the Southeast Park Association to lobby against the proposal. That group's board of directors includes Mrs. Ward, Robert Buhl, David Gaskin, Palmer Heenan, Carol Lachuisa, Marijana Relich and Gregory Theokas, so listed in a letter to the city manager.

The proceedings were closely observed by developers who have options on nearby estates that may be subdivided and developed in the future.

Candler's proposed lot, on the corner of Jefferson and Bishop Lane, would have covered 9,788 square feet, he said. While that size is well within the city's 7,200 square feet requirement, opponents argued it is smaller than other lots in the neighborhood and could be used as a precedent for future development.

Mayor Douglas Graham clearly had precedents in mind when he explained his vote against the proposal at the council meeting.

"We must look beyond the question of square footage here. If we encourage people who have large lots to parcel off their land, I think it'll have a bad effect on the appearance of the community," Graham said.

Candler said in a telephone interview last week that he was disappointed at the council's action.

"I'm certainly disappointed and surprised the council didn't give more deference to its planning commission since they studied it at length and recommended it be approved," Candler said.

"I guess that's politics," he added.

Candler, an attorney and native of Grosse Pointe, purchased the home on Bishop Lane in 1977, he said. His home and the one owned by the Wards were built by brothers Edgar and Julian Bowne in 1926 on the old Stroh estate, he said. The homes were designed by architect Wallace Frost. Ward's only access to his property on the lake is by a small road that cuts through Candler's property.

Fire closes Vic Tanny

Fire fighters from four cities responded to a two-alarm fire at the recently-opened Vic Tanny East Health & Racquet Club on Eight Mile Road near Harper Saturday evening, May 1, that did an estimated $1 million damage to the $3 million building.

St. Clair Shores fire officials said the fire broke out in the snack shop area of the two-story building sometime between 7:15 and 7:45 p.m. The last person out of the building reported all in order, at 7:15, officials said, and fire fighters were called to the blaze a half-hour later.

The club was closed and unoccupied when the fire was reported by a passerby. No injuries were reported among fire fighters, and damage at the building was said to be at least $1 million by St. Clair Shores Fire Marshal Joseph McMacken.

The combined fire equipment from Roseville, East Detroit, Harper Woods and St. Clair Shores included six pumps and an elevated platform truck, officials said. It took about two hours to bring the fire under control.

McMacken said investigators believed the source of the fire to be the snack bar area. The fire razed the front of the building.

Tests on the strength of the remaining structural steel in the building may cause the damage estimate to skyrocket, officials said. If the steel was damaged in the heat, more extensive reconstruction will have to be done, they said.

Fire investigators studying the cause of the fire believe it may have been caused by "smoking materials discarded in a large plastic wastebasket" in the snack bar area, but did not rule out the possibility of arson.

Home sales boast rise in March

Grosse Pointe residential sales figures released by the Grosse Pointe Real Estate Exchange show brokers closed 101 sales for the first quarter of this year, up 3 percent over last year's first quarter total of 98.

The average selling price in the Grosse Pointes rose slightly from $103,803 last year to $104,291 for January, February and March, 1982.

Total dollar volume for the first quarter was recorded at $10.5 million compared to last year's figure of $10.1 million. Listings increased about 37 percent, from 252 to 345, because the Exchange recently added four new brokers, according to member realtor Kathy Clawson.

The average selling price increased 21 percent in March over February of this year, according to Exchange figures, from $88,990 to $107,318. Closed sales and dollar volume also boasted hefty increases in March.

Group home Advocacy council formed

The Association for Retarded Citizens of Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods is forming a Community Advisory Council to assist in the development of group homes for mentally retarded and other developmentally disabled local citizens.

The advisory council will represent a cross section of opinions and neighborhoods in the Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods. It is expected to provide information about potential residents and their needs, to seek community input for suitable site locations and to develop ways to integrate each group home into its immediate neighborhood. The council is also expected to advocate for group home residents and assist and community in providing needed resources.

Currently, the Association for Retarded Citizens, with the Department of Mental Health, Southgate Regional Center Community Placement Unit, is finalizing list of natives of Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods who need group home services. The Association expects to develop some of the homes in contract with the Department of Mental Health.

Interested local citizens are invited to join the advisory council. For more information write the Association for Retarded Citizens, 17150 Waterloo, Grosse Pointe, 48220.

Woods tax rate up 5.8 percent

By Mike Andrzejczyk

After trimming the 1982-83 budget to $4,000 less than last year's spending figure, Woods city officials may still have some bad news for residents. Homeowners will be paying between $18 and $29 more in taxes this year than last.

City Administrator Clerk Chester Petersen said the increase was the result of the half-mill tax levy voters approved last November for ambulance service. The city lowered the operating millage rate to help offset the increase, Petersen said.

The 1982-83 tax levy was proposed by Petersen at 10.57 mills, compared to last year's 10.88 mills. But the cut in the millage rate will still generate more tax dollars than last year's.

"It seems strange that we are reducing our total expenditures," Petersen said, "we are reducing our tax levy, but increasing the amount of tax dollars we collect."

Taxes will increase about 5.8 percent, Petersen said. A home with an assessed valuation of $40,000 will pay about $25 more this year than last, he said.

Petersen said the shortfall in state-shared revenue has cost the city about $128,000 in the last two fiscal years, which translated into 0.4 mills on the tax rolls.

"If it hadn't been for that loss, we could have come in with a tax rate of 10.17 mills and we wouldn't have to increase our actual tax dollars," he said.

The 1982-83 budget has been cut from $5.774 million to $5.558 million. That compares to the 1981-82 budget of $5.562 million.

With the rescinding of the Woods' support for the district court, the city was able to trim $80,000 of the projected $120,000 court cost from the budget, Petersen said.

In addition, he said the Finance Committee was meeting after the council meeting to discuss revenue increases of between $25,000 and $30,000. If the council were to go along with his recommendations which could generate a maximum $37,000, the millage rate could be cut another one-tenth of a mill, Petersen noted.

Meetings with the directors of Public Works and Parks and Recreation recently yielded $79,000 in trimmings from the departments' budgets.

In Public Works, the committee concurred on a recommendation from Petersen that $76,000 from the proposed major street appropriation and $9,000 from sidewalk repairs. The committee decided to add $25,000 to local street appropriations.

Cuts of $12,000 came from the Recreation Department's budget. A back-stop slated for replacement next year will be patched, Director Donald Hallmann said, and repairs for bleachers will be done from funds left over in last year's budget, saving about $4,025.

Hallmann told the council he would not be selling back sick time so his allocation for the cost could be cut by $3,250. Under current contracts, employees are able to sell back half their sick days in a fiscal year.

The city's rifle range program will be cut from four days of operation to two days, Hallmann said, allowing the allocation for the program to be cut in half. Equipment cuts and cuts in salaries brought the total budget down further.

Total employment in the department will drop from 76 people last year to 65 in the coming fiscal year. One part-time person who will act as Hallmann's assistant as well as assistant at the filter plant in the Lakefront Park pool will be added, but the city will cut seasonal employees by 12.

The major increase in the recreation department budget came from the increased assessment at Lakefront Park and water, gas and electric bills, committee members said. They waived the request they had made of all departments to cut back 4 percent.

Committee chairman Frederick Lovelace, and members Mayor George Freeman and John Sabol agreed the idea was to trim expenses without hurting services. A question asked off all department heads by the committee was whether they could live within the budgets that were recommended while maintaining the same level of service.

The final product of the Finance Committee meetings will come before the full council Monday, May 17 when a public hearing will be held on the budget. The tax rate will be set at the meeting, and residents will have a chance to discuss with the council where the money comes from and what it is being spent on.

City sets hearing on '82 budget

The city council of Grosse Pointe City has scheduled a public hearing on the proposed 1982-83 City budget at 7:30 p.m., Monday, May 10, at municipal offices, 17147 Maumee.

Beginning today, May 6, residents may view the proposed budget during regular business hours in the city clerk's office.

The City is proposing a rollback of the current tax levy of 15.56 mills ($15.56 per $1,000 in equalized property valuation) to $14.34 mills under state law because of an estimated increase in state equalized valuation (SEV).

Because of anticipated cuts in state shared revenues, the City is proposing a .075 mill increase (75 cents per $1,000 SEV) under its charter above the proposed 1982 base operating millage to maintain essential City services to residents.

The mill increase will provide the City with an estimated 4.5 percent increase in property tax revenues.

At that time, she competed with 14 other state entrants, winning a performance with the Grosse Pointe Symphony and $250, and also the $1,000 first prize donated by the Michigan Foundation for the Arts and a recital performance in the Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival.

Grosse Pointe Symphony will present the orchestra in Academic Festival Overture, Op. 80 by Brahms; Suite from "Der Rosenkavalier" by Strauss; Rumanian Rhapsody No 1 by Enesco and The Music For the Royal Fireworks by Handel.

Tickets are available at the box office on concert day and are $5 for adults and $2 for those under 18. A reception following the concert in the school gym will honor Stephanie Leon and the concert audience is invited.

Hill receives a light touch

Spring and warm weather have brought a lot of changes to the Hill this year. Workmen from Detroit Edison are busy installing both functional and ornamental lighting on Kercheval Avenue from Hill Place to Fisher Road.

The work is part of a renovation of the Hill area planned jointly by the Farms and the Hill Merchant Association. Work began on Monday, April 19, and should continue for another month.

The present Edison poles are being replaced on a one for one basis to modernize and update the present lighting conditions in the city. Approximately 28 to 30 ornamental poles will also be installed to create an attractive night time look to the Hill. According to Pat Reynolds, president of the Association, the lighting fixtures will be similar to those in the Village.

Other plans call for the replacement of the present single pole parking meters to double faced meters, creating a more open and spacious curb side demeanor.

League will offer moderator's forum

Three members of the Grosse Pointe League of Women Voters, Marj Fischer, Fran Schonenberg and Myri Everett, will hold a moderator's forum Thursday, May 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the Exhibition Room of the Grosse Pointe Main Library for potential and current moderators for the League.

The workshop will deal with the format used by the League when conducting forums for candidates and will include helpful hints on how to deal with questions from the audience and tips on what to do expect when cable television is on the scene. Guests are welcome.

There are a lot of high expectations riding on those balloons. Each one has an address of a Pointe student and the balloon recovered the greatest distance away wins an award for some lucky child. The launch occurred on Law Day, May 1, and was sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Lawyers' Wives. Launching the balloons were this year's winners of an annual essay contest and concerned citizen awards. ### Study aging process in May Gerontology, a new career education program at Wayne County Community College, is offering nine classes in its curriculum this spring.

The program explores the normal processes of aging and related social, legal and economic issues, while preparing individuals for work in agencies and organizations serving the needs of older citizens in the community. In addition to regular academic courses, the program offers a field placement experience in direct services to or on behalf of the older adult population.

WCCC's Gerontology Program is the only degree program available in the field on a community college level in Southeastern Michigan. It offers students the opportunity to earn either an associate degree or Certificate in Gerontology. Courses may also be taken as electives or for personal enrichment. The curriculum was designed with three types of students in mind: those who are interested in entering the field, those currently employed in the field who wish to upgrade their educational skills, and other individuals wishing to learn more about the aging process.

The Gerontology Program is open to all persons 18 years of age or older. Tuition for residents in the WCCC service district in Wayne County is $24 per credit hour. A special tuition waiver is available for persons 55 to 59 years of age who are retired, and to all individuals over 60.

The Austin Center, 18300 East Warren, will offer "Introduction to the Study of Aging" on Monday and Wednesday from 5:30 to 8 p.m. and "Sociology of Aging" on Tuesday and Thursday from 1 to 3:30 p.m.

Spring semester classes begin on Monday, May 24. Late registration will be held on Monday, May 24 through Thursday, May 27.

For more information, contact Esther Howell at 496-2640 or 496-2791.

Punch plans film premiere

The Punch and Judy Theater will present the Detroit premiere of the film "Cocktail Molotov" Saturday and Sunday, May 8 and 9.

The film, directed by Diane Kurys, is a look at youthful love, rebellion and discovery. Three restless teenagers — an independent-minded 17-year-old girl, her boyfriend and her boyfriend's buddy — run away to Venice, only to learn the May, 1968, student strikes have broken out in Paris.

They decide to return to Paris since "the Revolution can't take place without them." Unfortunately, their car is stolen, and the three are forced to hitchhike through a country half-paralyzed by strikes and gas shortages.

The theater is located at 21 Kercheval in Grosse Pointe Farms. For showtimes and ticket prices, call 882-7363.

To close a verbal contract, the Scots of old used a different sort of handshake. Each pressed the ball of his thumb against the other's. What we might call "a handshake deal" they would refer to as a "by thumb" agreement.

The number of federal employees fired for incompetence has gone up fifteen-fold since passage of the Civil Service Reform Act in 1978.

It's true that most of us have what we need, but just about all of us would like to be more affluent than we are. It's the extras that we manage to squeeze out of our limited funds — a gourmet dinner, a special event, a luxurious vacation, a "stretch-the-budget" outfit — that add zest to day-to-day living. Sponge cake is okay, but it's the frosting, hot fudge topping and a dab of whipped cream that make it an eating experience. Stretching dollars to add special toppings to a sponge cake life, can pay off in a fuller enjoyment at life's banquet table.

True, it takes some effort and planning to add glamour to the business of living, particularly in this period of high taxes and high food and service charges. But it can be done. It is possible to make those dollars do more by cutting corners on necessary expenses.

A good item to begin with is food. One way to cut the cost in that department is to watch the newspaper ads for discount coupons and specials. Coupons are useful if the product and size suits your preference. There's no savings in buying something you don't like or if the package contains more than you can use. If the coupon does offer a discount on your favorite brand, it is certainly worthwhile to take advantage of it, particularly if you can get to a supermarket that offers double value on coupons.

OSA ASSISTS groups interested in organizing food co-operatives for senior citizens. To assist in the establishment of consumer food co-operatives and other alternative food delivery systems which benefit senior citizens OSA administers a Temporary Assistance Fund. The fund provides for interest-free loans for up to 22 months to interested non-profit groups which have older adult members.

Anyone interested in starting a co-op can learn about procedures in a series of six bulletins on food cooperatives published by the Michigan State University's Cooperative Extension Service.

Information on the Temporary Assistance Fund is available by calling 517-373-9360 or by writing the Office of Services to the Aged, Alternative Food Delivery Systems, P.O. Box 30028 Lansing, 48909.

With the food problem taken care of, you might want to look over your appliances with an eye to saving on energy. The appliance you have was probably purchased when your family was larger. Some of the new versions, scaled for smaller families may be more suitable now and use less power.

For instance, a general-purpose appliance such as a convection oven plus skillet/broiler does everything at less than half the energy cost of a kitchen range. One model (West Bend) which sells at $89.95 can handle a four pound fowl or a steak big enough for four.

When it comes to coffee makers, one that brews four cups at a time is a good buy for a reduced household but poses a problem when it comes to entertaining. To meet this need, there is a Proctor-Silex Beverage Brewer which has a 11-cup capacity but comes with a Mini-Brew basket that makes excellent coffee when you only want two or three cups.

A gadget which is not a kitchen appliance but can come in handy is a under-$4 immersible heater. Using only 250 watts of electricity compared to a range-burner's 1200, it can boil a cup of water for instant coffee, tea or soup in less than two minutes. This little appliance can be very handy when you travel. Pack it in your suitcase along with some tea bags, instant coffee or chocolate and you have your morning beverage without spending time or money in a coffee shop.

And speaking of travel, there are some bargains to be had in that area also. The cost of flying is considerably less if you plan ahead and take advantage of special rates. Watch the ads or consult your travel agent. There are also many fine tours offered through alumnae associations, clubs and credit unions.

Another factor to consider is the stronger American dollar abroad. It now buys more than 20 percent to 50 percent more than it did a year ago. Great Britain's pound now costs less than $2, Greece's drachma is a third cheaper to buy, and the Irish pound is even cheaper than the British.

Being a retiree and not bound by any time schedule can be an advantage. Most workers travel during the summer. To fill in the winter gap, accommodations are offered at a lower rate. For instance, in Italy, not only do dollars buy 36 more lire but senior citizens can get a 30 percent discount on Italian State Railways tickets by presenting a $4 Silver Card, purchased at any station. France's national railroad, along with 27 links of a major hotel chain, offers a six-night daily-lodging package for $279, air fare extra, and Germany features a Wunderbargain which includes a room with bath and breakfast in a budget hotel along with a rented car for $180 a week per person, two to a room.

A word of caution to those who look at the rate of ex-

Group applauds tax credit plan

Hailing it as a milestone in the effort for freedom, family rights and justice in American education, Citizens for Educational Freedom (CEF) last month applauded President Reagan's promise in Chicago that his administration will support tuition tax credits.

"We are delighted with the promise, of course," said Pointer Marilyn Lundy, president of national CEF. "But of equal importance is the promise on which the plan was made — namely, that parents have the primary right to direct the education of their children, and that government should not allow that right to be priced out of existence."

According to public opinion sampled immediately after the President's address by radio and TV stations in four Michigan cities — Detroit, Lansing, Saginaw and Kalamazoo — 59 percent approved of tuition tax credits, said the CEF. A Tele-opinion poll in Detroit alone was even higher — 68 percent, she said.

According to a CEF press release, the President couched his promise in terms of relief to the hard-pressed working families in America, noting that the large majority of families sending their children to nongovernment schools have an annual income of less than $25,000. He also pointed out that alternatives and competition are vital ingredients to excellence in education.

"We agree heartily," said Lundy, a resident of Grosse Pointe Shores. "While some predict tax credits, we do not share such a dismal opinion of public schools. In fact, we are appalled that the public school bureaucracy would show such obvious lack of confidence in the schools for which they are responsible."

In contrast to opponents, CEF sees no problem with constitutionality. Dr. Eugene Linse, chairman of CEF board and professor of political science at Concordia College in St. Paul, Minn. said: "Taxpayers get a tax deduction for donations directly to churches without any question of constitutional-change on American money and ponder the cost of living abroad in relation to the United States.

Sometimes visitors become enchanted by the scenery of the climate of a country. Country towns in England, villas in Southern France, fishing villages in Mexico possess a charm for the visitor that may diminish when adopted as a retirement home.

THE TRUTH is, high as American inflation has been, it is higher in other countries. Housing costs more, cars are prohibitive in price and gasoline sells for at least twice as much as it does in America. Granted some costs are

St. John plans heart facility renovation

St. John Hospital received approval Wednesday, April 21, for a $1.2 million renovation of its cardiac catheterization facilities at the hospital from the Comprehensive Health Care Council at Southeastern Michigan.

The project, to be financed through operating funds and bonds will renovate and expand the current cardiac catheterization service. About 826 square feet of space adjacent to the present facility will be expanded and new equipment will be acquired to replace the present 10-year-old machines, a hospital spokesman said.

The total price tag for the project is $1,278,611, and includes interest expense over a six-year period. Completion of the renovation is expected soon, the hospital said.

A special chalice

Troy Jeweler Alexander Bongiorno and his daughter Alexia have been working side-by-side for the last several months to create a precious jeweled silver and gold chalice, which will be presented to Star of the Sea Church in Grosse Pointe Woods on Mother's Day, May 9 in memory of Bongiorno's late mother, Mrs. Joseph B. Bongiorno. Bongiorno, who has been a custom jeweler in the Detroit area for 32 years, and daughter Alexia, a metalsmithing student, crafted the nine-inch chalice from sterling silver and 14-karat gold. Bongiorno said it was the biggest challenge in his career and added he wanted to do something big in memory of his mother who died in 1960. The Bongornos have been members of the Star of the Sea parish for 16 years.

Detroit man arrested on weapon charge

A 40-year-old Detroit man faced preliminary examination Wednesday, May 5, in Grosse Pointe Woods Municipal Court on charges of carrying a concealed weapon. The arrest stems from an incident which began about 3:45 a.m. Tuesday, April 27, in the driveway of a Van Antwerp Road home in the Woods.

Police were called to the home by the owner, who complained he heard someone moaning outside his home. When they arrived, police found Daniel Lamont, of Detroit, lying face down in the driveway between the house and the resident's car. Police said his head was pointed toward the street and he was near the side door of the home.

Lamont told police he had been walking down Van Antwerp after dropping off a woman who he said lived a couple of houses away, when he saw three young men trying to break into the side door of a house.

Lamont said he ran to the youths, confronted them, but was assaulted and knocked down.

During questioning by detectives at about 9 a.m. that morning, Lamont said he had been drinking at an east side bar and had finished about 25 mixed drinks, reports indicated. He then left the bar and checked into an East Detroit hotel, where he had more to drink from a bottle he brought with him.

Lamont then told detectives he ordered a cab and went to another area bar where he met and befriended a woman named Barbara, whom he later ordered a cab for.

Lamont said the cabbie came and took both of them to the woman's home. He told police he could not remember where the cabbie had finally stopped. He did say he heard the woman tell the cabbie to go "just a little farther down the street," reports indicate.

While the three were driving slowly down the street, Lamont told police he saw three young men at the side door of the Van Antwerp home where he was found, and ordered the cabbie to stop. He jumped from the car and went up to the three to stop them, he told police, but was struck in the back of the head with a crowbar. He was unable to get up, and lay there until police arrived, he said.

Officers at the scene reported finding the inner side door of the home standing ajar, and the outer door closed but unlocked. There were no signs of forced entry, officers reported. The homeowner could not recall whether he had locked the inner door before going to sleep, reports said.

Police detectives talked to the cabbie involved, who said he had picked Lamont up and drove him around. Lamont reportedly told the cab driver to drive a little farther, reports indicate. The cab driver told police he finally dropped the man off at Van Antwerp near Canton and last saw Lamont walking down Van Antwerp.

While putting Lamont on a stretcher so he could be taken to the hospital, one officer said he felt a hard object in the right pocket of Lamont's overcoat. Investigating, the officer discovered a .22-caliber 12-shot handgun with a loaded clip. The clip contained eight rounds.

Lamont told police he had carried the gun for about six or seven years for protection. The registered owner was the man he had bought it from, he told police.

Lamont was examined at St. John Hospital and released, police said.

Later that day, police obtained a warrant for carrying a concealed weapon on the person against Lamont. At about 4 p.m. that day, Lamont was admitted to St. John complaining of chest pains. He was arraigned by Woods Municipal Judge J. Patrick Denis in the hospital emergency room, and bond was set at $10,000 personal.

Lamont checked himself out of the hospital Thursday, April 29, against medical advice, hospital officials said.

U-M program in Italy announced

Grosse Pointe native Henry D. Peiter will administer a joint academic program between the universities of Michigan and Wisconsin that will take students to Florence, Italy.

The program will begin next fall. Students and faculty will live and work in the 14th century villa Boscobello and tackle a variety of disciplines using the many important museums and libraries in Florence and nearby Tuscany. In addition, lecturers will come from other parts of Europe and the U.S.

Cost of the program is about $8,000 and credits earned will transfer to any university in the U.S., according to Peiter.

The theme to be emphasized will change in each of the two terms of the academic year. In some terms the themes will emphasize the history and culture of particular periods, for example, the Etruscans and ancient Romans, the middle ages and the Renaissance, modern Italy and the European Community. Some terms will focus on topical themes that cut across many periods, such as urban development and city planning, social structure and political behavior, cultural and intellectual traditions, and interrelationships of art forms and social structure.

Faculty members teaching in any term will come from the two sponsoring institutions, selected from among those professors in the humanities and social sciences whose specialties are appropriate to that term's theme.

Most students — primarily juniors, seniors and graduate students — will come from the universities of Michigan and Wisconsin although some qualified students from other institutions will also be admitted, and the more advanced students will be encouraged to undertake independent study in addition to formal coursework.

With faculty and students living and working together and studying related topics in several disciplines, the Michigan-Wisconsin Program in Florence intends to create a significant intellectual center in Italy, Peiter said.

The villa, surrounded by wooded grounds, sits on the edge of Florence along the road to Fiesole and provides easy access to the center of both cities. For six weeks in July and August it will house the University of Michigan Sarah Lawrence Summer Program in Florence, established more than 25 years ago. In May and June it is expected that the villa will be used by alumni groups and for other special programs. All of these programs will be self-sustaining. The operating costs of the new academic-year program will come from student resident fees and normal tuition charges, and all Michigan and Wisconsin students can apply any financial aid they regularly receive to their terms in Florence.

The Director of the Program in 1982-83 will be Professor Clifton C. Olds of the University of Michigan. The theme of the fall term will be "The Renaissance in Tuscany" and of the spring term "The Society and Culture of the City, 1100-1600." Further information is available through the Center for Western European Studies, 5208 Angell Hall, The University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, 48109 (telephone 764-4311).

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Ford II, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Ford Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Peters Oppermann, all Farms residents, head a special committee of the Detroit Community Music School board of directors coordinating ticket sales for a benefit performance of Franz Joseph Haydn's "The Creation" featuring the 100-voice Rackham Symphony Choir and the Detroit Sinfonia Chamber Orchestra Saturday evening, May 15, at Orchestra Hall. The concert will be performed under the direction of Detroit Sinfonia conductor Michael Krajewski, with soloists Maria Cimarelli, soprano, Philip Moony, tenor, and Stephen Henrickson, bass.

Three categories of tickets are available: Box ($150 donation for four seats, including pre-performance cocktails and dinner), Loge ($30 per person donation including cocktails and dinner), and General Admission ($7.50 per person donation for main floor and balcony seats, not including cocktails and dinner). Tickets may be ordered by contacting the Music School, 831-2870. They may also be purchased at Orchestra Hall or the Village Record Shop on Kercheval Avenue here in The Pointe.

Cocktails and dinner will be served at 7 p.m. The concert, selected to commemorate the 250th anniversary of Haydn's birth, begins at 8:15 p.m. It will be preceded by a series of brief performances by young Detroit Community Music School students, so the audience may see and hear the sort of uses to which non-profit DCMS will put "Creation" benefit-raised funds. The Music School, founded in 1926 and only school of its kind in the metropolitan area, currently provides instruction in music and dance to more than 1,800 students, ranging in age from three-year-olds to senior citizens. It is accredited by the National Guild of Community Schools of the Arts.

The Rackham Symphony Choir, organized in 1949 and operated until recently by the University of Michigan School of Music, became an independent, non-profit organization last year and is now sponsored by DCMS. Its music director and conductor, John A. Smith, is also executive director of the Music School. The 45 members of Detroit Sinfonia, founded in January, 1981, volunteer their time to rehearse and perform at events such as the DCMS benefit. Detroit Sinfonia performs regularly Sunday evenings at Indian Village's Christ Lutheran Church.

Volunteers await a 'Call for Action' . . .

A senior citizen threatened with a gas shut-off . . . a handicapped woman whose purchase has been delivered to the wrong address . . . a customer whose refund is "in the mail" yet never seems to arrive . . . These are some of the people who turn to Radio Station WJR's Call for Action volunteer service for help in solving both large and small problems. "In these stressful social and economic times, many people are hard-pressed to find a source of help when confronted with the frustrating problems of everyday life," explains former Pointer Terry Treiber, now a resident of Bloomfield Hills and a Call for Action national vice-president. "For the past six years, those in the Detroit metropolitan area have been able to contact WJR's Call for Action." Among the sizeable group of Call for Action volunteers from The Pointe is Director DOTTY LANGS (right), pictured above sharing a break with two fellow Pointers: volunteer DELORES CAUSLEY and Co-Director DINAH MURPHY. All spend at least one day a week answering phones—Call for Action can be reached at 873-5700 between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Monday through Friday—and researching solutions to callers' problems. A typical volunteer day runs from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.; the hours before and after phone lines are open are used for the research and paperwork necessary to keep reference materials up-to-date. All Call for Action workers complete a four to six-week training program before they go on the phones. On-going training is provided by Day Captains who are on hand to advise on the most troublesome problems. Many volunteers join at the encouragement of their friends and schedule their weekly volunteer day to coincide with that of their neighbors. At least one volunteer was won by Call for Action's efficient handling of her own problem. Most stay with the program for two to three years, leaving because of job transfers, the decision to return to school or other external factors. Call for Action was started in 1963, on New York Radio Station WMCA. Its successful format soon drew national attention, and founder Ellen Strauss, whose husband owns WMCA, trained volunteers to set up chapters in other cities. WJR's Call for Action is now part of a 35-chapter national organization. Call for Action is NOT broadcast: all callers are guaranteed privacy.

A photo-finish scavenger hunt

A scavenger hunt with a twist — the Phantastics Photofinishing Polaroid Party — begins for Grosse Pointe Newcomers Club members and guests at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, May 15, at the Windmill Pointe Park. Hunters will be given lists of items to scavenge — but their mission is NOT to return with the items themselves but with Polaroid pictures of them.

To insure that the pictures were taken on the hunt, one or more members of each scavenging team will have to appear in each picture. Refreshments will be provided and winners determined at the end of the evening. Assisting chairpersons Mike and Jani Pooley with party plans are Bill and Jane Burnett, Wayne and Candy Morrison, Gil and Donna Clark and Tom and Shirley Arbaugh. Couples who have recently moved from an area not touching the boundaries of Grosse Pointe are eligible for membership in the local Newcomers organization. Interested couples may contact the membership chairmen at 882-9473 or 882-5003 for further information.

Junior Leagues hold conference on The Coast

Mrs. G. Howard Willite III, president of the Junior League of Detroit, and Mrs. Ronald K. Dalby, president-elect, represented the JLD at the 60th Annual Conference of the Association of Junior Leagues which opened last Sunday, May 2, and ran through yesterday, Wednesday, May 5, at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco.

Theme of the meeting was "Dollars and Decisions: Opportunities for the Voluntary Sector." Communities are facing severe federal budget cutbacks and the reduction of social services. Hard decisions have to be made, not only by volunteer organizations but by federal, state and local governments, the corporate sector, labor, foundations and individuals in an effort to use limited resources most effectively.

Delegates to the AJL Conference met with representatives from all sectors to examine ways to work collaboratively to achieve shared goals. Workshops focused on the range of strategies available to organizations for dealing with the cutbacks; subjects explored included using organizational power, building and evaluating collaborative efforts, influencing public opinion, creative funding, determining priorities in a changing environment and citizen advocacy in the block grant era.

The Junior League of Detroit is one of 250 Junior Leagues in the United States, Canada and Mexico, with a collective membership of over 140,000 women, united in a common purpose: to promote voluntarism, to develop the potential of members for voluntary participation in community affairs and to demonstrate the effectiveness of trained volunteers.

Local JLD programs during the past year include the development of a Sensory Trail, designed to facilitate outdoor studies for the handicapped, at the Nature Center on Belle Isle. The Trail will open June 3.

The JLD also continues to be involved in the initiation of a daytime concert series for school children, the handicapped and senior citizens, at Orchestra Hall, and the H-LA Platelet Registry (in coalition with the American Red Cross and Harper-Grace Hospital) which will educate potential platelet donors necessary for cancer patients whose own platelets have been destroyed by chemotherapy, leukemia or other malignant diseases. Respite Care, a temporary shelter for potential child abuse victims, located at Barat House, is another ongoing JLD project.

Camp Cavell opens in June

The Metropolitan Detroit YWCA's Camp Cavell, largest girl's camp in Michigan, located near Lexington and featuring over 1,800 feet of Lake Huron beach, is taking reservations for its 69th season which opens June 27 with a special sports week.

Over 300 campers aged seven to 14 will attend three general camp and four specialized sessions this summer. Much of Cavell's action is centered on waterfront activities. Horseback riding (English style) has traditionally been the next most popular sport, with nearly 90 percent signing up each session for this $20 extra charge feature.

Archery, tennis, gymnastics, track and field, volleyball, softball and canoeing are among Cavell's other offerings.

Kathy Rowe, assistant camp director for many years, is now Cavell's administrator. "Learning, discovering, experiencing, teaching and sharing are really where camping begins," she explains. Group activities include overnight campouts and hikes, nature study, dance, aquatics, the performing arts, songfests around the campfires and spontaneous projects worked out with counselors.

A special emphasis will be placed on the performing arts this camping season; this unit is designed to offer a wide range of specialized activity in the areas of stagecraft, dance and drama throughout the summer.

"Leadership is the most important quality of a YWCA camp," says Ms. Rowe. "Counselors and program specialists are selected on the basis of good character, sensitivity and experience in working with youth, plus specific skills to provide effective leadership in various phases of camp life." Living accommodations are year-round cabins arranged in three units. Campers are housed by age and grade levels, six to eight campers and a counselor in each cabin.

Each unit is supervised by a unit director, who lives in the Unit House. The adult staff, including cook, nurse, grounds and building superintendent, numbers between 35 and 40 people. Cavell is fully accredited and approved by both the American Camping Association and the State of Michigan. Campers must be members of the YWCA of Metropolitan Detroit ($11 annual fee), a Torch Drive Agency. The girls pay $100 for a one-week session, $200 for a two-week session. Partial camperships are available for those needing financial assistance.

Camp applications should be made to the local YWCA branch, the one closest to The Pointe is the Macomb Branch, located on East Ten Mile Road in East Detroit, (772-4435).

Three Stapleton 'Angels' ...

"Be an Angel and Come" is the lead-in on the annual invitation issued by Friends of Stapleton Center to their Blossomtime Luncheon and Fashion Show. Pictured are three local "angels" (left to right) SARAH FISHER DINGEMAN, MARY ANNE GARGARO and SANDY DRETTMANN, who not only will be there but will be modeling the outfits in which they are celebrating spring above. Fashions are from the Kercheval Avenue shop of Maria Dinon. The party is set for Thursday, May 20, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Ticket reservations, at $15 per person, must be made by next Wednesday, May 12, by contacting Ms. Gertrude Draves at 499-8561.

Mrs. Edmond J. Dilworth, president of Friends of Stapleton Center, has invited Mrs. William E. Johnston to chair this year's benefit. Committee members from The Pointe include Mrs. William P. Chester, co-chairman, and the Mesdames Charles T. Fisher, Emmet E. Tracy, Joseph Bejin, George J. Jaglowicz, Robert Thibodeau and Walter F. Fisher and Rachel Ryan.

Harper Woods residents M. Rita Marshall and Rosemary Downey are also among the party planners, as are a contingent of Stapleton Friends from the northern suburbs: Mrs. Richard Mrowczynski, Mrs. Jerry T. Flanagan, Mrs. Aloysius F. Power, Mrs. Thomas

A. Murphy and Mrs. Joseph F. Flasherly.

Stapleton Center, located at Agnes and Parkview Avenues on Detroit's East Side, provides gracious living plus individual independence for senior citizens in 50 studio and 10 one-bedroom apartments. A beautifully landscaped courtyard centered with a fountain and featuring a gazebo and comfortable garden furniture is a favorite spot for the 62 residents to gather in, rest and reminisce.

Proceeds from the Friends' annual luncheon and fashion show provide monthly birthday parties for the residents as well as Christmas and other holiday celebrations, plus many extras not included in a limited budget.

Sunday Stroll in Elmwood

Fern Freeman will lead a Detroit Historical Society-sponsored Sunday Stroll through Elmwood Cemetery this Sunday afternoon, May 9. The walk begins at 2 p.m. and takes from two to two-and-a-half hours. Reservations are necessary. Information on tickets at $3.50 per person ($2.50 for members of the Historical Society) may be obtained by calling the Society office, 833-7934.

Elmwood, set along the banks of Bloody Run Creek, the site of Pontiac's uprising, is the final resting place of such notables as Douglass Houghton, Michigan's first naturalist, Eber Brock Ward, first industrialist, artist Robert B. Hopkins, abolitionist George DeBaptiste and landowner Joseph Campau. Politicians buried there include Lewis Cass, Russell A. Alger and Solomon S. Sibley.

Fern Freeman became interested in cemeteries while doing research on her own family. Later in the season, she will lead strollers through Mount Elliott and Woodmere Cemeteries. Other guides will conduct tours through Woodlawn Cemetery, Corktown, Old Grosse Pointe, Boston-Edison, Palmer Woods, Hamtramck, Downtown East and West, the New Center Area, Masonic Temple and Historic Fort Wayne.

A complete schedule of this season's Sunday Strolls may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Detroit Historical Society, 5401 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich. 48202.

Armchair strollers can learn about famous personalities of the past by booking either "Dead Yet Speaketh" or "What's in The Name," two slide talks inspired by the Sunday Stroll series. Booking information is available by calling 833-7934.

Rose Society meets May 12

The Wednesday, May 12, meeting of the Grosse Pointe Rose Society will feature a slide program on the American Rose Society Center, located in Shreveport, La. The American Rose Society, founded in 1899, is one of the oldest and largest (1,800 members) horticultural societies in the United States.

Harold Lee, noted rosarian, long-time member of the ARS and former president of the Grosse Pointe Rose Society, will present the slide program: a walking tour through the center's gardens, with stops at points of interest along the way.

The meeting begins promptly at 7:45 p.m. in the Exhibition Room of the Grosse Pointe Public Library, Kercheval Avenue at Fisher Road. Refreshments will be served. Hostesses for the evening are Frieda Moehn, Marion Mountz and Elsie Gillman.

During the social hour, an informational table, provided by Paul Desmet, will feature camera equipment. Photography is often a companion to and can enhance the hobby of rose growing. Experienced photographers will be on hand to answer questions.

The Grosse Pointe Rose Society invites any community members who are interested in roses to attend the May 12 presentation.

Phase I plans dance, dinner

Phase I, the organization of single, young adults, ages 20 through 39, who meet regularly Sunday evenings at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, has a pair of annual activities scheduled for this month.

First comes the Phase I spring dance, set for Sunday, May 9, at 7:45 p.m. in Memorial Church's Fellowship Hall. Then the following Saturday, May 15, Phase I's 10th progressive dinner will feature four courses, each served in a different home, starting at 6:15 p.m.

Cost of the dinner — limited to 30, and always a sellout — is $8. Reservations are a must, and must be in no later than Sunday, May 9. Further information may be obtained by calling 776-6488.

Coolley's Anemia benefit tomorrow

Assumption Cultural Center, located on Marter Road at the border of Grosse Pointe Woods and St. Clair Shores, will be the setting for a 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. dance tomorrow, Friday, May 7, sponsored by the Ahepa Omega Chapter No. 371 to raise funds for the National Coolley's Anemia Foundation.

Victims of Coolley's Anemia, a genetic disease common among Greek and Italian ethnic groups, need whole red blood cell transfusions every three to six weeks in order to sustain life. Between transfusions they are able to lead a relatively normal life — provided there are no other complications, such as hepatitis, spleen malfunction or iron overload. Most victims are intelligent and do well in school.

Tomorrow's benefit will feature music for both Greek and American dancing, by the Apollos, prizes and sports and media guests. Pizza and a cash bar will be available. All are welcome. Admission donation is $5.

Church Women meet Tuesday

Mrs. Raymond Offerman, president, will conduct the business session when members of the Women's Association of the Grosse Pointe Congregational and American Baptist Church gather next Tuesday, May 11, at 11:15 a.m. at the church for their regular monthly meeting.

Luncheon, to be served in the Social Hall by the Lydia Group, is set for 12:30 p.m. Scheduled speaker is Irene Auberlin, president of World Medical Relief, recipient of the Jefferson Award, "The Nobel Prize for Public Service," last year.

World Medical Relief operates out of an eight-story building in Detroit, dispatching medical supplies and drugs to hospitals, clinics and missionary doctors throughout the world. Mrs. Auberlin, who recently turned 85, directs the work of a small staff and hundreds of volunteers.

The meeting and program are open to all women of the church. Luncheon reservations must be made by noon Monday, May 10, at the church office.

Grand Marais Club to meet

Mary Evelyn Self will open her Berkshire Road home Monday, May 10, to members of the Grand Marais Branch of the National Farm and Garden Club. Luella (Mrs. Donald) Schuur and Olive (Mrs. Peden) Meikle will assist the hostess.

Officers for the 1982-83 year will be installed. They are Margaret (Mrs. Kenneth P.) Locke, president; Lorine (Mrs. Walter) Forster, vice-president; Helen (Mrs. Frank) McIntyre and Ester (Mrs. Paul) Nagel, recording and corresponding secretaries, respectively; Betty (Mrs. Harold B.) Lee, treasurer; and Louise (Mrs. Kennard) Jones, parliamentarian.

Health Education Council to meet

The public is invited to attend the Health Education Council of Grosse Pointe's general meeting Monday, May 10, at 1 p.m. in the second floor meeting room of the Grosse Pointe Central Library, Kercheval Avenue at Fisher Road, where guest speaker Betty A. Kemp, Registered Nurse, P.A., will present a program on scoliosis screening.

Mrs. Kemp is coordinator of the Scoliosis Clinic of Henry Ford Hospital. She also serves as consultant to the Easter Seal Society. Scoliosis, an abnormal curvature of the spine which generally manifests itself in a certain amount of children during the pre-adolescent years, is easily detected by a very brief examination. Mrs. Kemp's presentation for the Health Education Council will include a film on scoliosis screening.

At the present time, a committee of middle school delegates from the Health Education Council is putting together a proposal to implement a scoliosis screening program in The Pointe's middle schools. If approved by Council board members, the pilot program will begin this fall at Brownell Middle School.

spring visit to Detroit, prior to the Monday, May 24, Opera Week Opening Night performance of "Tales of Hoffmann" this year, and already has plans well underway to make that $85 per person event truly grand.

"The coming of the Metropolitan Opera each spring is undoubtedly one of Detroit's premier social and cultural events," she says, "and what better way to herald in this exciting week of performances than with an elegant Opening Night dinner party?" It's also super-convenient for first nighters, who can take advantage of valet parking and enjoy a leisurely meal at the performance site.

Additional information on the dinner may be obtained by calling the DGOA Office, 832-5200. Box office phone lines for direct purchase of Met Week tickets opened Monday; remaining tickets for this spring's performances are being sold via telephone, with the use of VISA or MasterCard, on a first come, first served basis between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The number to call is 831-6055.

By the way: did you happen to catch the segment on last Monday's WKBD-TV Channel 50 "Morning Break" highlighting Detroit's Metropolitan Opera Week and featuring a pair of Pointers, John B. Ford III and Frank W. Donovan, president and chairman, respectively, of the Detroit Grand Opera Association, as guest speakers?

Artists Around Town

"Paperworks Three," a collective showing by Pointe artists Zena Carnaghi, Anita Ormond and Kay Beissel of handmade paper images featuring a triad series of two and three-dimensional compositions, is on display now through May 15 at Gallery Frame & Photo of Royal Oak on North Woodward Avenue. The full body of work resulted from an intensive, self-directed workshop during the summer of 1981. Each artist worked independently to develop her unique constructions, exploring the many possibilities of paper as a support and medium.

Their handmade paper is a new approach to an art form that is very old. The paper is made by the hydrogen bonding of many threadlike vegetable and natural fibers. Cotton and linen combine for optimum strength. No paints or dyes were used in this particular series, but organic plant material was incorporated. The process involves transforming the woven fabric into a fibrous state of wet pulp, which is allowed to hydrate for at least 24 hours. The sheets are then pulled from a water vat through a screen mold and a design is established. Several colors may be layered to produce a single unit textural variation. The finished works are placed in a book binding press to remove excess water; finally, the sheets are separated and air-dried.

Grosse Pointe's Mary Louise McCarroll is May's "Artist of the Month" in the Sales and Rental Gallery of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Art Association. Mary Louise received her undergraduate degree in Art from Wayne State University, continued studying in Boston, Italy and Ireland and received her Master of Fine Arts degree from Southern Illinois University. Her paintings have been exhibited on a national level in this country, as well as in Italy and France. She currently produces and markets her own work in addition to teaching painting and drawing at the BBAA and the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Her current paintings concern themselves primarily with illusion. "They present an ongoing involvement on my part with the real world around me and my inner perception of the space I inhabit. I try to capture a feeling of time in them: ordinary objects floating, hovering or placed together on the same surface, but inhabiting different moments in time. These paintings chronicle my view of the static and constantly changing faces and illusions of reality."

Pat Mayhew, like Mary Louise McCarroll, is on the BBAA faculty. She's not a Grosse Pointer, but her work has been extensively collected in The Pointe area. Her subjects range from florals to Victorian houses to old wicker. If you're in the neighborhood of Mount Clemens this month and you'd like to see a really lovely art exhibit, take a look at "Pat Mayhew Paints Colors of Spring," on display at Goeddeke's Garden Gallery on New Street through May 29. Gallery hours are 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

The Art of Fashion

Friends of FLEC (Grosse Pointe's Family Life Education Council) will present a fashion and cocktail reception Friday, May 21, at 7 p.m. at the Kenwood Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Craig Curtiss. There'll be an open bar and hors d'oeuvres, music by pianist Jim Maniscalco, of Washington Road, and informal modeling of fashions from Carl Sterr and Ireland's, both located on-the-Hill. As the evening progresses, George Dakmak will act as auctioneer, offering some of the fashions to the highest bidders. There'll be special prizes, too.

Prevention and education remain the primary focus of FLEC, which has offered programs and services to meet the changing needs of the local community for 15 years. FLEC's Alcohol Awareness Program features trained high school students who present information on alcohol use and abuse to 1,500 to 2,000 elementary school students each year. FLEC offers counseling services through Center Point Crisis Center and medical testing, treatment and counseling for young adults through its Medical Clinic. FLEC's Legal Center provides information and education to individuals who cannot afford their own attorneys.

FLEC receives no local, state or federal funds. Its programs and services operate solely through tax deductible donations from individuals, churches and foundations. Want to know more about what FLEC's all about? Call 885-3510 and find out.

'Call for Action' volunteers ready for business

The volunteers, housed in WJR offices, receive and answer all queries over the phone. Broadcast activities related to Call for Action are limited to promotional spots announcing program times and the telephone number. One of the most ironic things is that, in these tough economic times, Call for Action has experienced a decrease in calls. "We're not sure if the public assumes that help is no longer available or just doesn't know where to turn," says Terry Treiber, "but we're anxious to let people know we're here, ready to help in any way possible." Terry believes that the need for Call for Action's services is more urgent today than ever before. "In cutting government aid funds, President Reagan called for greater cooperation between volunteers, the private sector and local government. We see our programs as a viable response," she says. WJR, the private sector sponsor, donates space and telephone lines, pays national dues for the local organization and airs regular promotional spots. As local Call for Action sponsor, WJR will co-host the organization's 1983 national convention to be held in Detroit; area business leaders have been asked to lend their support. Government cooperation comes from the many social service and referral agencies Call for Action consults daily. "Everyone who calls gets some kind of direction within 24 hours. This doesn't mean their problem is solved—it may just be referral to the proper agency—but a step has been taken," says Terry. "Where possible, we try to help people help themselves by directing them to the proper agency. If the person still can't make progress by calling directly, we intercede and lay a 'path' for our client." Some problems are settled with just one phone call. Others have taken up to two years to resolve. The satisfaction rate for calls (files that have been satisfactorily closed) is 82 to 84 percent. The key to the program's success is the corps of volunteers who work with callers. They are trained not to "assign guilt" but to use diplomatic skills in seeking the best possible answer as quickly as possible. Call for Action also sponsors Ask The Expert Days, when professionals in various fields answer the phones. Every Thursday is Ask The Lawyer Day. Accountants, veterinarians and horticulturists are scheduled for periodic visits. "When we started the organization, we looked for well-rounded, articulate, thoughtful people willing to devote spare time to helping others. We wanted people with a desire to learn, a caring personality and the ability to listen objectively," says Terry. "Today, our 32 volunteers donate upwards of 7,500 hours a year to the program. We estimate that our professionals give roughly 164 hours annually. In dollar value, this adds up to a pretty expensive tab—which our callers get for free."

End Panhellenic season May 18

Sorority women from throughout the metropolitan area will gather Tuesday, May 18, at the Country Club of Detroit for the Detroit Alumnae Panhellenic Association's annual meeting and luncheon. Neal Shine, managing editor of the Detroit Free Press, is the featured speaker. Luncheon tickets are available through individual sorority delegates to Panhellenic or by contacting Mrs. Minard Mumaw, 882-2880, a member of the committee, chaired by Mrs. Joseph Mallek, planning the day. Other committee members are Mrs. Ralph Chapa, Mrs. Dennis Sirosky and Mrs. Ronald Launs. The business session, conducted by Mrs. Marvin Stucky, retiring president, will include reports from chairmen of bridge, collegiate aid, fraternity education, hospitality, publicity, research, scholarship and Heart of Gold committees, and will culminate with the induction of Delta Gamma members Mrs. Hierscnei Bowyer and Patricia Fearnly as Detroit Alumnae Panhellenic president and vice-president, respectively. The day begins with a cocktail hour and boutique. The post-luncheon program includes sorority roll call and the presentation of the National Panhellenic Commendation Award to the Detroit Alumnae Panhellenic Association. Marnie Christiansen, National Alumnae Panhellenic advisor, will make the presentation. Criteria for receiving the award include furthering of fraternity life, excellent public relations, philanthropic involvement, scholarship sponsorship and fraternity education of the community.

Tour historic local churches

The Detroit Historical Society, in cooperation with the National Society of Colonial Dames of America in Michigan, presents the first in a series of six spring through fall '82 evening tours of historic churches next Thursday, May 13. The May tour spotlights four churches in Hamtramck and Poletown: Saint Albertus, the mother church of the Polish community, which opened in 1872 and is of Gothic design; Baroque style Saint Stanislaus (1898); Saint Hyacinth, founded in 1907; and Immaculate Conception Ukrainian Church, established in 1916 and the largest of Detroit's Byzantine Rite churches.

Historical Museum Tuesday through Friday between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. The ticket price includes a "church-type" supper. Special arrangements can be made by calling the Society office, 833-7934, for groups which have their own bus transportation. The evening tours continue on June 17 when Huw Lewis will demonstrate the organ at Central Methodist, Saint John's Episcopal and First Presbyterian Churches. The Hecker House, First Unitarian Universalist Church House, Orchestra Hall and the Mackenzie House will be visited on July 15, and the Parker, Sibley, Troubridge and Moross Houses will be shown on Aug. 5.

Gratiot area churches, including Saint Anthony's, Annunciation (celebrating its 100th anniversary this year) and Annunciation Grotto will be visited Sept. 16. The series concludes Oct. 7 with a Tractor Organ demonstration by Thomas Kuras at Holy Trinity, Trumbull Avenue and Saint Joseph Churches.

Okay: Who did it? . . .

Was it JANE (Mrs. Arnold) COMBRINCK-GRAHAM (left) or JULIA (Mrs. Donald W.) KEIM (right) who did the dastardly deed? Perhaps it was JOANN (Mrs. Paul M.) KOCH (center). Perhaps it was Mrs. Richard P. Locke or Mrs. James M. Conti, the two remaining members of the cast of Glyn Jones' three-act mystery "Thriller of the Year" which will close Theatre Arts Club of Detroit's year Friday, May 14, at the Players Playhouse on East Jefferson Avenue. The curtain rises at 8:30 p.m. on this only performance of the year to which husbands of the all-woman drama club are invited. It's a formal affair, and will be followed by an afterglow supper in the Playhouse.

The director is Mrs. Mark Reeve. Co-producers are Mrs. Milton W. Volkens and Mrs. Kenneth P. Locke, who is also assisting Mrs. James B. Doll with lighting. Properties will be handled by Mrs. Philip C. Dickinson, with assistance from Mrs. Richard Blatchford, Mrs. David C. Martin and Mrs. William H. Miller, Jr.

The costume committee includes Mrs. Alexander Blain III, Mrs. Robert Jay, Mrs. Jay Jodway and Mrs. Douglas Phillips. Make-up will be by Mrs. John Diebel, who is also serving as stage manager. Special effects are by Mark Reeve.

Serving on the supper committee, chaired by Mrs. Bernard Whitley, are Mrs. Victor Briedenbach and Mrs. Raymond Duffy, Jr. Mrs. John H. Denier, Mrs. Frederick S. Neumann and Mrs. Robert F. Weber will usher members and their guests to tables. Assisting Tuesday rehearsal chairman Mrs. Phillip J. Skillman are the Mesdames Ellsworth Allison, W. George Belanger, Armand DeGaetano, William E. Hawkins, Robert Jay, George Johnson, Kennard Jones, Johnson Lackey, John Leverenz, Charles Vortreide and Miss Dorothy Pudrith.

Serving as Thursday rehearsal hostesses under Mrs. Diamond T. Phillips, chairman, are the Mesdames Windsor Davies, John Denler, Ellwyn Gilbert, Paul Gracey, George Hammond, William Hawkins, Robert Jay, William Lowrey, Bernard Pearce, Frederic Sibley and Stephen Toth.

Mrs. J. Ross Bush, Theatre Arts president, will welcome members and guests to this gala evening. Then, just before the curtain goes up, the Theatre Arts Choral Ensemble will sing "The Theatre Arts Song" with accompaniment by its composer, Mrs. Joseph N. Jennings.

Mom/daughter banquet date

The second annual Mother and Daughter Banquet sponsored by the Women's Association of the Grosse Pointe Congregational and American Baptist Church begins at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow, Friday, May 7, in the Church Social Hall. Prizes will be featured, and Mrs. Lyndle Martin, chairman, has arranged for entertainment by a barbershop quartet, "Houghton's Heroes," and the "8 Notes and a Rest."

Canada Day for Pettipointe

Windsor is the destination for members of the Pettipointe Chapter of Questers on their spring field trip today, Thursday, May 6. They and their guests will visit the Hiram Walker Historical Museum, said to be the oldest (1812) brick building along the Detroit River, then enjoy luncheon and a tour of Willistead, the Elizabethan style manor designed by Albert Kahn for Hiram Walker's son at the turn of the century.

HOPE luncheon looks to future

Psychic Jacqui Kendall will be guest speaker at the Women's Division of Project HOPE's spring luncheon, set for 11:30 a.m. next Wednesday, May 12, at the Birmingham Country Club. Barbara Reason is chairing the party. Reservations, at $15 per person, are being handled by Ginny (Mrs. Earl) Heffner.

Pat Barlow, president of the Women's Division for the World Health Organization dedicated to those in need around the globe, promises "one of the best and most exciting spring luncheons ever." Further information may be obtained by calling the Project HOPE office, 649-4775, during business hours Monday through Friday.

Husky sales in a "thin market."

Retailers will generate one trillion dollars in sales this year using newspapers as their basic advertising medium. Why? Because newspapers reach the very few consumers who are ready to buy...right now.

On any given day, only a very small percentage of all consumers are actively in the marketplace for any particular product. When's the last time you bought a refrigerator or a new pair of shoes or even a bar of soap?

And these relatively few consumers must be divided among all brands and all retail outlets which carry the item. The trillion dollar retail business resolves itself into a multitude of "thin markets."

To get a share of this "thin" business, retailers advertise consistently to stay top-of-mind with those customers who are ready to buy. They use newspapers because 7 out of 10 adults read a newspaper on the average day and newspapers ring the cash register.

We believe all advertisers can profit from the lessons learned by retailers. Don't limit newspapers to product introductions or coupons or special promotions. Use them day after day to reach your "thin market" and generate sales. Really, all advertising has only one goal...to move the merchandise.

Merit Taste Stands Alone.

Extensive research confirms MERIT proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking.

Landmark smoker study confirms that the majority of higher tar smokers who have switched to MERIT have one thing in common — Praise for MERIT taste.

Yes!

Nationwide survey reveals over 90% of MERIT smokers who switched from higher tar are glad they did. In fact, 94% don't even miss their former brands.

Further Evidence: 9 out of 10 former higher tar smokers report MERIT an easy switch, that they didn't give up taste in switching, and that MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried.

Taste Verdict: MERIT.

Further, extensive unmarked-pack tests confirm that MERIT delivers a winning combination of taste and low tar when compared with higher tar leaders.

Confirmed: The overwhelming majority of smokers reported MERIT taste equal to—or better than —leading higher tar brands.

Confirmed: When tar levels were revealed, 2 out of 3 chose the MERIT combination of low tar and good taste.

Year after year, in study after study, MERIT remains unbeaten. The proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking — is MERIT.

G.P.S.C. is state's champ

The long hours and diligent work in the pool paid off handsomely for the boys of the Grosse Pointe Swim Club in March, as they easily won the 1982 State Championship. Head coach Scott Teeters saw his swimmers dominate the meet held at Oakland Community College, beating second place Clarenceville by more than 200 points.

The Pointes can also boast four individual state champions, 10-year-old Paul Wilson, who won the 100 yard individual medley in 1:10.70; 12-year-old Jim Boutrous, who won the 50 butterfly at 28.06; and two senior swimmers, Tom Bartsch, winner of the 100 yard freestyle at 47.61 and the 200 yard freestyle at 1:46.71, and Larry MacDonald, state champ in the 400 yard individual medley (4:14.18), the 200 yard butterfly (1:58.35) and the 1,650 yard freestyle (16:32.11).

In the 10 and under age group, Wilson, in addition to his state championship in the 100 I.M., placed second in 4 events — the 200 yard I.M. (2:33.99), and the 50 yard backstroke (33.27), the 100 yard backstroke (1:12.60) and the 50 yard butterfly (31.44). He was also fourth in the 100 yard butterfly at 1:12.83, giving him second state overall high point as well as team first high point honors with 79 individual points.

Anthony DeLuca finished third in the 100 yard butterfly (1:12.82), sixth in the 50 yard butterfly (32.77) and 12th in both the 50 yard freestyle (30.85) and the 100 yard freestyle (1:12.90). John Cartwright was 11th in the 200 yard freestyle (2:20.89) and Ted Stedem finished 12th in the 50 yard breaststroke with a time of 40.66.

Among the 11 and 12 year olds, Boutrous, who was third overall state high point winner in his age group placed second in the 100 yard butterfly and the 50 yard freestyle (28.28), third in the 200 yard freestyle (2:04.57) and the 100 freestyle (58.68). He was also 10th in the 100 yard I.M. (1:08.46) in addition to his state championship in the 50 yard butterfly.

Augie DeLuca also scored well for the Pointes placing sixth in the 100 yard butterfly (1:07.95) and the 200 yard freestyle (2:10.82), fifth in the 50 yard freestyle (26.70), fourth in the 100 yard freestyle (57.46), and 10th in the 50 yard butterfly (30.15).

Ian Thompson took a fifth in the 50 yard butterfly at 29.27, 10th in the 100 butterfly (1:08.29), ninth in the 50 breast (36.21), and 12th in the 200 yard I.M. at 2:32.70. Bill Thompson placed 12th in the 100 yard butterfly (1:09.42), eighth in the 50 yard butterfly (29.97) and sixth in the 100 yard backstroke (1:10.45) and the 50 yard backstroke (32.19). Greg Cooksey placed 10th in the 100 yard backstroke at 1:10.45 and 12th in the 50 yard backstroke with a time of 33.32.

The club high scorer for 12 and 14-year-olds was Bill Luberto, who was fourth overall state high point in his age bracket. He took third place in the 100 yard butterfly (58.98) and the 50 yard freestyle (23.97), second in the 100 yard backstroke (58.95), fifth in the 100 yard freestyle with a 53.20 and 10th in the 200 yard butterfly at 2:15.01. Mike Woods placed third in the 200 yard breaststroke with a 2:25.53 and sixth in the 100 yard breaststroke at 1:07.90. Rick Leonard also placed in the 100 yard breaststroke, capturing 12th with a time of 1:11.55.

Among the seniors, Larry MacDonald, in addition to his three state championships, placed seventh in the 500 yard free (4:52.24), third in the 200 yard I.M. (2:00.35), and fourth in the 100 yard fly with a time of 54.01. His 78 points placed him at first state overall high point for his age category and second on the team to Wilson's 79. Tom Bartsch was second overall state high point finisher in the 15 to 18

Hutzel will honor
Pointe radiologist
for x-ray technique

Radiologist Dr. John Wolfe, credited with the development of xeroradiography for the detection of breast cancer, will be awarded the Ellen G. Martin Award for Humanitarian Services on Saturday, May 8, at the Detroit Golf Club.

Chief of the Hutzel Hospital Department of Radiology, Dr. Wolfe is being honored on his silver anniversary as a member of the hospital professional staff. The award will be presented at the Hutzel Hospital Dinner Dance, a formal event held annually as a fund-raiser for the Detroit Medical Center facility.

Dr. Wolfe is the first recipient of the Ellen G. Martin Award, named for a long-time Hutzel Hospital trustee who died this past year. The award will be presented annually to a member of the community who has made significant contributions to the advancement of mankind.

Dr. Wolfe is responsible for developing and perfecting the use of xeroradiography as a type of mammography at Hutzel Hospital in the 1960s. The technique, which produces sharp, detailed images not attainable through other x-ray methods, has enabled physicians to detect breast tumors very early in their development.

Since his breakthrough, radiologists from all over the world have come to Hutzel Hospital to be trained by Dr. Wolfe in the technique.

A Grosse Pointe resident, Dr. Wolfe received his medical degree in 1949 from the Western Reserve University College of Medicine in Cleveland, and interned from 1949 to 50 with the Ohio State University Hospitals in Columbus. From 1950 to 52, Dr. Wolfe interrupted his medical training to serve as a captain in the United States Air Force. He completed his residency training in Detroit with the Wayne State University Affiliated Hospitals in 1955.

For the next two years, Dr. Wolfe worked as a radiologist at the Los Angeles County General Hospital and as an instructor in radiology at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles.

He returned to Detroit in 1957 as associate radiologist at Hutzel Hospital. He was appointed chief of the hospital's Department of Radiology in 1967. Dr. Wolfe was named a clinical professor of the Wayne State University School of Medicine in 1976.

The author of more than 65 articles and books, Dr. Wolfe has made hundreds of presentations in radiological techniques around the world. Among his professional affiliations, Dr. Wolfe is a Fellow of the American College of Radiology and a Diplomate of the American Board of Radiology. He served as president of the Michigan
