Reorganization supporter and its foe meet in primary

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Two Republican county officials, Ervin Steiner, Jr. and Barbara Gattorn, will face off in the Aug. 10 county commission primary. Both have represented the area, from the Board of Commissioners and the Charter Commission respectively.

Mrs. Gattorn was elected 1980 to the charter commission, the body responsible for writing the first home-rule charter in county history. She ran unsuccessfully against Steiner in 1978 for his county commission seat. Steiner has represented the Pointes from the 1st District for 12 years, first elected in 1970.

The candidates are sharply divided on the charter and the general state of county government. While Gattorn said the charter will be effective in reorganizing the county and decries the topheaviness and inaction of county county is "the best run government in the state," and the charter is "full of loopholes."

Steiner, who serves on the county transition committee which is trying to make the switch from the old to the new easier, said the commission "missed the boat" with the new charter, leaving holes "that they can drive a truck through.'

Two problems are paramount, Steiner said. The charter did not provide for a system of county roads, or the maintenance or construction of the roads.

The charter, under Article IV. Part VI, does create a department of the Road Commission which is to fulfill all powers and duties provided it by law.

The charter also mandates a hospital facility, something Steiner disagrees with, pointing out better than the mandated facility.

Gattorn said the charter does not specify what kind of facility the county has to maintain, so that a small, specialized hospital would fulfill the charter mandate as well as cut costs.

She is running on her strength as a "instrument for county reorganization, while Steiner has been an obstacle, speaking out against it," Gattorn said, adding that Steiner "is out of touch with the

the best run governments in the state, having trimmed its budget and kept within its means better than the state legislature, which was recently forced to raise taxes and cut spending.

Both candidates have said they wish there were more opportunities for candidates to speak during the primary campaign, but the summer break for civic organiza-tions has left little chances for getting to the voters.

Steiner said his budget for the campaign will be small, since many signs, placards and t-shirts are left over from earlier campaigns.

His weekly cable television program "People with Erv Steiner" is not political in any way, Steiner said, adding it was a decision made by both producers and himself to keep politics out of the Woods police recently removed ernment, experience that has Steiner's signs from Mack Avenue given him a chance to get roads telephone posts. The signs, they said, violated the city's sign ordinance because they were on public property and were up 30 days before the election. No tickets were issued, police said, but added if there was another viola-tion, there would be some kind of punishment.

Gattorn said she is planning a door-to-door campaign in Republican areas for the primary as part of a general plan which includes placards, bumper stickers and buttons. She plans to spend about $5,000, she said.

Her first run against Steiner in 1978 saw her trying to overcome a lack of name recognition, Gattorn said, something she added has changed since her charter com-given him a chance to get roads paved, curbs replaced, medians mowed and salt trucks from the Road Commission.

The things he has done are from 'plain experience; knowing where to go and not being afraid to talk. I believe I should be representative of the people and I think I should serve them," Steiner said.

Gattorn, Steiner said, is inexperienced. "She's a nice lady, but sne's inexperienced. She's responsible for the irresponsibility of the Gattorn said the county would be "better served" by making sure new commissioners are not only willing to work with the new charter, but are in favor of it.

"I think to the extent to which we can exclude the Erv Steiners (from the new commission), the Steiner said he is runing on his voters would be well served," she

Woods gets first Neighborhood Watch

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The first Woods Neighborhood Watch program finally got what it needed to go into full swing Monday, July 19, when the Woods City Council approved the design and ordered signs for the group to mark its watch area.

The Country Club Woods Progressive Association, Inc., a homeowner association with about 250 south Woods homeowners as members, completed one of its

The group came before council last month and asked the city to put up signs to designate the block of Littlestone between Eastborne and Bramcaster as a Neighborhood Watch area, where residents would watch each others' homes and alert police to suspicious ac-

The sign, association representatives said, was an integral part of the program. They wanted a sign that was "tastefully designed, not at all like those used by the city of Detroit," they said.

What they got after meeting last week with Woods Crime Prevention Officer Patrick Fagan was a red, white and blue sign that fulfilled the wishes of police, the esthetics of the association and won approval of the council.

goals for the year with the institu- dard black and white Detroit Neighborhood Watch sign "stuck out like a sore thumb," and detracted from the neighborhood. Woods Public Safety Director Jack Patterson said the sign was meant to stick out to warn would-be criminals that the area was being watched. Fagan said he would not agree to a sign that was drastically different from those in

The consensus was a blue-lettered sign about 18 by 24 inches in size, with a red border against a white background bearing the city seal. Fagan said the sign did what it was expected to do because the word "Watch" was in larger type and easily seen from a distance.

Residents and councilmembers agreed the design was good enough to use throughout the city if more homeowner groups join the Neighborhood Watch program.

No condos in Park's future under new zoning map

A new zoning map for Grosse Pointe Park with no provisions for multiple-family or cluster housing will presented to the public for comment at a hearing next Monday, Aug. 23, at 8 p.m.

The new map is the product of 18 months work by the city's ordinance review and planning commissions. The council is scheduled to review the changes — the first major revision since 1957 — at its July 26 meeting. The public hearing is scheduled for Monday, Aug.

The 75-page proposed zoning ordinance determines building specifications and legal uses for all property in the city. Earlier versions of the ordinance contained provisions for high density, multiple-family zones on plots of five acres or more. A neighborhood group located near one such lot — the Morrison Estate on Jefferson Avenue — expressed strong opposition to the proposed cluster housing. The final ordinance makes no mention of the new

City Manager John Crawford said the committee backed away from zoning for alternative housing because it wanted to "avoid speculation" in the local real estate market. If a proposal for high density or cluster housing is pre-sented the council, zoning var-iances could be adopted, he said. Grosse Pointe Farms is currently considering such a variance at the request of Henry Ford II. Ford petitioned the council to allow construction of 18 two and three bedroom condominium units on his property located at 457 Lakeshore Road, near Provencal.

Ford asked the council to rezone the property from its present R-1-ÂA one family residential district to RC, one family attached residential cluster district.

Neighbors in the area have responded angrily to that request the ground, walls, roofs and in also. A public hearing on the proposal has been scheduled for

The new Park zoning ordinance maintains the current predominantly single family nature of the city and increases the minimum lot size requirement in the most common zoning area, R-A residential. The minimum lot size in that district was increased from the current 7,200 square feet to 10,000 square feet in a move designed to discourage owners of large lots from splitting them and selling off a portion for construction of a second home, manager Crawford said.

The new zoning ordinance also includes a chapter regulating signs in the city that is designed to improve the appearance of commercial areas. Some new signs are allowed, on awnings, for example, and restrictions are es-the ground, walls, roofs and in windows. Window signs, for instance, will be restricted more than 10 percent of the size of the window. Political signs will be required to removed within 14 days of elections or else a $5 a day fine will be levied. Flashing signs or those with moving lights are prohibited, as are park bench

The city is divided into seven districts in the new zoning map. The largest, RA single family residential, covers more than 70 blocks; RB one family residential covers about 50 blocks; RC two family residential, four blocks of Harcourt and Trombley south of Jefferson; RD two family residential, 30 blocks on the city's west side; OS office service, seven blocks primarily on Jefferson; B1 local business, five blocks; and B2 general business, nine blocks on Kercheval and Jefferson.

Park's street tax faces uncertain fate at polls

By Susan McDonald

Grosse Pointe Park officials say more than half the city's streets are in poor condition but they won't way just which ones will be resurfaced if voters approve a 2 mill street tax on the Aug. 10 primary ballot.

The five-year tax will raise about $2 million to resurface local streets. It will cost the average homeowner about $100 a year according to city Clerk-Comptroller Nunzio Ortisi.

While studies indicate about 20 miles of local streets are in need of immediate attention, Park Mayor Douglas Graham said he 'doesn't even want to think about which streets will be done or not done until after the election.

"All that will be decided by professional engineers who will assess the condition of all the streets," Graham said at a recent city council meeting.

City Manager John Crawford has tried twice before to convince the city council to raise funds for street repairs before they det-(Continued on Page 2A)

Feelings mixed on death penalty

It hasn't been around in Michigan since 1846 but more than 309,000 petition signatures may put the issue of capital punishment before voters this November depending upon the outcome of a suit filed last week in Wayne County Circuit Court challenging the ballot proposal

GOP gubernatorial candidate L. Brooks Patter. son, Oaklkand County prosecutor, is behind the capital punishment campaign calling for the death penalty to be enacted for anyone convicted of first-degree murder. Opponents of the death penally like Democratic candidate for governor. Zolton Ferency, charged capital punishment language would apply to accomplices in murder cases who did not participate in the killing.

The News asked shoppers in the Village how they felt about capital punishment. Their responses follow:

opposed to it. It's cruel and unusual punishment.

D.R. Egan, the City: "I'm for it because you have too many cases like the Charles Manson case in California, for example (where the death penalty was recently lifted). But you have to be careful how you apply the law, though.

Don Jaqua, East Detroit: "I'm against it. It says in the Bible 'Thou Shalt Not Kill.'"

Lucy Prost Lucy Prost, the Park: "I'm for it. It might give a person second thoughts. When someone has a gun in his hand, he might think twice.'

Ann Heath, Detroit: "I'm for it. I'm tired of footing the bill for people in prison. Our taxes are going there. I'm tired of supporting someone who has taken someone else's life.

Mrs. Robert Valade, the Farms: "I don't believe in an 'eye for an eye.' I don't believe in that kind of retribution.

"I'm definitely for it. I think anybody who is found without a reasonable doubt guilty of killing somebody should without a reasonable doubt be put to death also.

Lynn Decorte, the City: "I'm for it because it will be more of a deterrent to crime."

Becky Wickard, the Woods: "I'm not for capital punishment. Michigan has been a wonderful state for years - it's civilized. Capital punishment is

Uncertain future for street tax Brickley

Crawford said this is a good time to approach the project because asphalt prices are dropping and many contractors are looking for work and should drop their prices as well. The direct tax, instead of bond issue, will also cut the project's costs, he said, because it will enable the city to by-pass current high interest rates to finance the repairs.

Councilman John Prost said he has been trying to form a citizen committee to promote a "yes' vote on the tax, but has been finding that vacation schedules and normal summertime activities are making his job a tough one.

"I am actively supporting it. It really make a lot of sense to go ahead with the project at this time. The streets have a high degree of aesthetic value and they are starting to look a mess," he

"When the streets get that bad the cost of repairing them escalates incredibly," Prost said. "I don't know, though, if people consider this a high priority or not. We'll find out.

The city has lacked finances for the past several years for street resurfacing because of rising asphalt costs (associated with increases in oil prices) and steady reductions in its Motor Vehicle Highway fund, city manager Crawford said.

"The Motor Vehicle Highway fund is based on gas and weight taxes and those have been declining since the auto companies have been building lighter more fuel efficient cars," Crawford said.

"In addition, we've been dipping into that fund to pay for removal of elm trees that line the streets. Since we were forced to stop spraying the trees with DDT several years ago, that cost has increased. We're removing about 300 trees a year, now, at a cost of

If the Grosse Pointe Board of Education's recent experience with a proposed tax increase is any indication, the Park street tax could run into big trouble at the polls. Voters in June defeated a proposal to study construction of a new swimming pool in the district by a 15-1 margin.

The timing of the street tax ballot question may not help the issue either. Park residents earlier this month received their city property tax bills — payable just a few weeks after the election at the end of August.

The 2 mill tax would be added on to the city's current 16.8 mill rate for five years. A mill equals $1 for every $1,000 of assessed valuation. A typical Park home is assessed at $50,000 and its owner would pay an additional $100 a year if the tax is approved.

Lt. Governor James Brickley brought his campaign for governor to Grosse Pointe last Thursday, July 15, beginning with a press conference at Anton's on Mack Avenue.

After a photo session at the restaurant, the lieutenant governor shook hands and talked with voters on Mack Avenue in the business district.

Thursday evening he attended a party hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Hudson Jr. in their Grosse Pointe home. The $100 a person fund raiser was one of several local parties held by the Brickley for Governor campaign in the Pointe.

Balfour Road home is reported robbed

Thieves apparently entered a home in the 1400 block of Balfour Road during the early morning hours Saturday, July 17, and escaped with a stereo, Sony television set and two mopeds, according to Park police.

Chief Henry Coonce said a husband and wife were asleep upstairs in the home when the robbery occurred. The thieves apparently entered a screen door which was left unlocked, the chief said. The couple awoke at about 8 a.m. Saturday, July 17, and discovered the items were missing.

The Royal Canadian Legion Concert Band was formed in 1919 and was then known as the Grand Trunk Railroad Band. In 1926 the name was changed to the Canadian National Railways Band. This association continued until 1963 at which time the Royal Canadian Legion No. 8, in Stratford undertook the sponsorship and representation of the Band. The colorful and entertaining Band plays mainly at Stratford public functions; at sporting activities, and from mid-June until Labor Day the Band performs concerts at the Stratford Shakespearean Festival every Wednesday evening.

Throughout the years the Band has been recognized for its outstanding performances; collecting awards from the Canadian National Exhibition, Waterloo Music Festival, Kiwanis Music Festival for six consecutive years, and many others. Conductor Paul Cross began his musical career at the age of 8 with clarinet studies. His father George W. Cross was his teacher. He also plays bass clarinet and alto saxophone. In 1944 Cross joined the Royal Canadian Navy where he played solo clarinet with the H.M.C.S. Peregrine Band of Halifax and H.M.C.S. Shelborne Band of Nova Scotia.

Returning to civilian life in 1946, Cross played in various dance bands in Toronto. Returning to Stratford in 1949, Maestro Cross started a 15-piece dance band and in 1950 assumed the conductorship of the Canadian National Railways Concert Band. Except for a one year sabbatical, Cross has been the Band's conductor ever since. From 1953 to 1955 he was conductor of the theater orchestra at the Shakespearean Festival.

The evening's Festival program on July 28 will include the Shield of Freedom March arranged by Howard Cable, Festival Prelude by Alfred Reed, Concerto in B-flat K. 191 by Mozart, with John Belland as soloist, MacArthur Park by Jimmy Webb, Marches of Mancini arranged by John Higgins, Richard Rogers in Concert arranged by Bob Lowden, and the Stars and Stripes in all its glory by Sousa. Several show tunes from Broadway hits will also be played, including "Camelot" and "Paint Your Wagon" by Lerner and Lowe, and "Hootenany" by Harold L. Walters. Festival trio receives standing ovation

An evening of chamber music by the Tocco-Staples-Chanteaux Trio was heard at the July 14 concert of the Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festi-val, held at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, sponsor of the Festival

Members of the trio were the internationally known pianist James Tocco, who played in a triumphant recital at last year's Festival; violinist Gordon Staples, concertmaster of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra; and cellist Marcy Chanteaux, assistant principal of the DSO.

Blending their artistry, the distinguished threesome achieved perfect harmony in all senses of the word. All are soloists of awesome powers and the combination of their talents resulted in a superb presentation of Beethoven's "Arch Duke" trio which closed the program with a standing ovation by the audience.

Before the concert, Alex Suczek Festival founder and artistic director, took a moment to tell a long tale. There would be a change in Tocco's solo program. Because the mailed Suczek continued saying that there would also be an additional duo piece to be performed by Staples and Chan-teaux after their opening number of Ravel's Sonata for Violin and Cello.

Gordon Staples who was instrumental in the Festival's founding, along with cellist Paul Olefsky who became the Festival's first music director. the Festival's first music director, would frequently play Passacaglia for String Duo written on a theme of Handel by Halvorsen - especially as an encore piece. Along with the banquet and other gestures of diplomatic protocol, the band visited the Great Wall, the Forbidden City and the Ming Tombs.

The band performed before sell-out crowds at every concert. After the tremendous success of the debut concert in Beijing, Chinese officials decided to broadcast the second concert on national television and radio. In addition to playing to a capacity audience of 1,500 persons, an audience of 330 million persons was reached over the airwaves of radio and TV Peking.

The band received a rousing and exhilarating 20 minute standing ovation at each and every concert. Larger concert halls had to be secured for the Nanjing and Shanghai concerts, due to the demands of more than 3,500 per-

Computer classes lure local kids to summer school

By Jenna Doe

Alright! Grosse Pointe Public Schools are offering summer school classes that kids are signing up for because they want to. The subject is the computer and this year more than 100 kids are shunning summer vacation for extra time on the machines.

"I'm interested in computers, so I took this class instead of some erazy math course," said Alex Bruno, eighth grader at Brownell, who is enrolled in the computer class for junior high students in the summer school program. "I wanted to take something I like," he said.

Brunno said ever since video games have become popular, kids like computers. And he is not at all disappointed that his school computer does not have "space invaders."

"On a micro you can make up your own games and for your school work the computer tells you the answers," he said.

The summer school program offers four computer classes at the elementary level, one at the junior high level and one at the high school level.

The youngest group consists of students in the second and third grade. It is taught by Wayne Bolden. The class begins with a lesson in computer programming. The students are taught to give the computer a simple command, and watch the computer go to work. The day the Grosse Pointe News visited their classroom the students commanded their computers to write their names 1.500 times. At the end of the exercise the computer printed "PHEW" on the screen.

'The children were amazed,' Bolden said.

The last half hour the children are allowed to play computer games. The youngest group uses the PET computers and the games are on a tape that is inserted into a cassette player. Some students played drill games in addition and subtraction. This game can replace the flash cards in the classroom. Some played hangman. If the wrong letter is guessed the phrase "You blew it" with the child's name appearing on the screen. And, some played matching games where they matched states with their capitols. The computer reinforces the child every time a correct answer is gi-

Bolden said one of the advantages of taking the computer classes in summer school is that the computers are only shared with one other student. This is far different from the computer time students are given during the school year, when a class shares one computer. Bolden said his goal with the

The fourth and fifth grade classes work on the Atari 800. This computer has discs on which games and programs can be stored. Discs can be bought with programs on them and blank discs can be used to store information that the programmer puts into the computer.

There are three classes offered at the fourth and fifth grade level. Linda Schoonbeck teaches two of the classes and Harvey Richard-son teaches the third. In these classes programming is taught on a more sophisticated level. Students are given instructions which must be followed carefully. If a programmer misspells a word the computer will not respond. Ms. Schoonbeck said that this sometimes tends to be the source of frustration for the student who lacks typing skills.

Chris Kocsis, a sixth grader at Maire, said, "We really don't know what's going to happen, we just wait and see when we're

In addition to the elementary class, Richardson also teaches the junior high class and the high school class. These classes use Apple micro computers and a computer that is hooked into a time sharing program with the Wayne County Intermediate School District. Through the time sharing program students can Computers are an important part of education today. "Computers are a very real part of our, society," Richardson said, "and students realize their importance.'

Ms. Schoonbeck said that 80 percent of high school graduates in 1990 will earn their living on micros or computers. She said that Grosse Pointe is behind in its computer classes. But, she said that does not mean that the school system cannot catch up. It's just a matter of time and computers.

How do Grosse Pointe Schools measure up on the computer scene? The Grosse Pointe News asked the Utica and Farmington school districts about their computer programs to find out. Cass Franks, administrative assistant for school community relations in Utica, said his school district is progressive in its use of computers in the elementary schools. Each Utica elementary school has about eight computers, compared to Farmington's one computer per school, and Grosse Pointe's three per school. Franks said, "if the teacher is excited, the students will get excited and computers are available for them to work on in the class-room." Utica also has a borrowing system that allows students to take computers home for a weekend. However, the Utica school district did not purchase all of its 300 computers. Two-thirds were purchased through funds raised by the PTO and other parent's

Time magazine. On the high school level, Farmington high school students have one computer for every two students, but only one computer language is being taught. South offers three languages right now, basic, cobol, and fortran. Computer teacher Harvey Richardson is working on the language pascell to teach students in 1983. These languages are the method by which the programmer communicates with the computer. For example, basic is a symbolic instruction code. Fortran is the language of match and formulas and cobol is the language of data processing.

The Farmington school district is the only district that has computer coordinator, Richard Strausz, who spends about one-half of his time during the school year training teachers to use the computers. Utica offered an in-house computer class for teachers two years ago, however after that class, teachers are responsible for their own training. Grosse Pointe teachers pursue computer classes according to their own interest from outside sources. Linda Schoonbeck, computer teacher said

Ross Roy visits Rotary

Ross Roy, chairman of the board of Ross Roy, Inc. this week discussed the "Say Yes to Michigan" advertising campaign with members of the Grosse Pointe Rotary at their luncheon meeting. The campaign was awarded to the agency last month.

Roy, of Grosse Pointe, told the audience that the ad business is often perceived by outsiders as being peopled by creative types who spend most of their time "thinking up catchy slo-gans." "Not true", he said. For the most part, it is a very competitive business and one that "pays great attention to detail and requires exper-tise in many areas," Roy said.

Roy cited the "Say Yes" campaign as being efficient use of Michigan's great advantages: its people, the quality of its life and its resources.

Roy said that four departments of the state are involved in the program: The Office of Economic Development, the Department of Agriculture, Film and Television, and the Travel

Citing "Say Yes to Michigan" as a rallying cry, Roy said that to date, more than 60 Michigan businesses and activities are using or planning to use the "Say Yes" campaign in some way or another.

"Michigan is coming back" he said, "and anytime anyone says 'Yes' Michigan, it makes us stronger."

Schools borrow at 8.9 percent

By Susan McDonald

The Federal Reserve Board's action Monday to reduce the interest rate it charges banks may have come just in the nick of time for the Grosse Pointe public school system which borrowed $13.8 million for the coming school year that day.

Bids on the system's tax anticipation notes were opened at 3:30 p.m. Monday, July 19, and the winner was Ehrlich Bober with an average interest rate of 8.964 percent, significantly lower than school administrators anticipated.

The school system borrows funds by selling the tax anticipation notes each year to cover its expenses during the first part of the school year before taxes are collected. The $13.8 million figure represents 50 percent of last year's tax levy.

The Federal Reserve Board announced earlier on Monday that it reduced the interest rate it charges member banks from 12 percent to 11.5 percent. It was the first drop in the rate since last December T. Stevenson, of Miller Canfield, Paddock and Stone, the school system's advisors on the tax issue, said he suspects the Fed's action had some effect on bidders' rates.

"I don't know for sure if the announcement was made in time, but those guys are pretty sophisticated and they usually anticipate such actions by the Fed," Stevenson said. "The (school) board definitely hit a good day.' Administrators in the school system had anticipated paying an 11.25 percent interest rate on the notes. Superintendent Kenneth Brummel said the 8.964 percent rate received would generate a large amounts," he said "substantial savings" for the schools. Last year's notes went to

Merrill Lynch at 10.625 percent. The winning bidder, Ehrlich Bober, is a New York investment firm that has been active in the Michigan tax note market since last September, Stevenson said. Other bids were received from Merrill Lynch, at a rate of 9.4928 percent, First National Bank of Chicago, at 9.892, National Bank of Detroit, at 9.4903 and Northern Trust Company and Associates, at 9.61 percent.

Stevenson said Bober has recently made large tax note purchases from Oakland County Intermediate Schools ($11.2 million) and Chippewa Valley Schools ($5.2 million). Members of the firm told him Bober's customer base consisted of fairly sophisticated institutional investors, Stevenson said. "The notes will be resold to a small number of investors in next month.

The bids were received Monday afternoon at school board offices on St. Clair Avenue by Stevenson, Brummel, Deputy Superintendent James Hoeh, Supervisor of Ac-counting Christian Fenton, and out-going Director of Business Affairs Larry Rankens, who resigned from his post last week and is now employed by the system as a consultant. Sale of the notes was approved by the Board of Education at an 8 p.m. meeting Monday. Rankens was not present.

This is the first time a local bank has not been associated with the winning bidder on the tax notes and the school system customarily deposits its over $30 million in bank accounts with the winning bank. As a result, Brummel said school administrators are considering all local banks for placement of the accounts and will make a decision sometime

Scissors take her far and near

Super snipper Sally Newcomb says the hardest thing about cutting out silhouettes is trying to immobolize the "victim" - whether it be a child, a couple or a cute canine.

"Unlike a camera, a person doesn't have to look at me," she said. "Sometimes it's difficult to get children in very natural poses.'

The Snippet Lady visited the second floor of Jacobson's last week where she snipped away a silhouette of a mother and her two children in less than five minutes.

She credits her talent to the fact that she was "very good at cutting things out in high school." Mrs. Newcomb says she has no formal art training and was forced into the art of silhouette when 'a bossy lady at the Bound Brook New Jersey Junior Wo-man's Club Easter Bunny Fair asked me to man the silhouette booth.

Shores' Farley wins award

Shores resident James Farley (above) president of St. Clair Health Corp., was presented the Meritorious Key Award by the Michigan Hospital Association at the St. Thursday, July 1, meeting on Mackinac Island.

The Michigan Hospital Association (MHA) is based in Lansing and represents 240 hospitals and health care institutions in Michigan.

This prestigious service key award is presented annually for outstanding contributions of service to hospitals and to the health needs of the people of Michigan," Patrick E. Ludwig, MHA president said.

Farley came to Detroit in 1968 after serving as vice-president for the Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Cen-ter in New York City. He served as chairman of the Administrators' Conference of the Greater Detroit Area Health Council and also on the nominating, finance and executive committees of that organization.

He also served on several committees for the MHA. In 1976, he chaired the MHA task force on malpractice and was the founding chairman of the Michigan Hospital Association Mutual Insurance Company. Farley was elected chairman of the board of trustees of the MHA in 1979.

Farley serves as a delegate to the American Hospital Association. He is a recognized authority on urban health care delivery and is a pioneer in health care corporate structuring and multi-institutional health care arranging. He is a Fellow in the American College of Hospital Administrators and a Knight of Malta.

Take a bite out of crime

By Det. Earl L. Field

Feding a thief is not elementary, my tear reader Even Conan Doyle's renowned sleuth, Sherlock Holmes, acknowledged an encounter with an unknown intruder in one of his adven-tures as described in this excerpt:

When I replied my cottage I was as-Carrie and radigment to find that seriable, and entered it in my absence. Bexes and been pulled out from under tre bel pa curtains disarranged, the ct. ers dra en out from the wall Even my state had not been safe from this rough variable for the prints of a heavy foot are paints cisable on the ebony black carped I are not a patient man at the best or three but this incasion and systematic expension of my household effects spret up every drop of gall in my com-

The emotions admitted by the great detective - astonishment, indignation, anger and revenge — are no different than those felt by burglary victims today Communities have devised all sorts of schemes to protect themselves from those who would steal - hired watchmen, volunteer bands to guard the streets, professional enforcers of the law And even the best of these has never been fully successful There has always been one weak spot: The vic-

Those who steal count on that. They know how careless or complacent most people are. There's no way you can make your home 100 percent burglar-proof. But there are a number of simple, inex-pensive things you can do to minimize the chances that a burglar will pick your home as his target . . or protect yourself in case he does:

 Make it tough for the thief to get inside your home. Lock up. Light up.

Try to outthink the thief. Make your home look as if somebody's home at all times. Don't give him a chance to case your place. • In case he does get in, make it likely he'll get caught or get nothing.

• Know how to deal with a burglar if you meet him face to face. · Be sure you're financially protected against burglary losses. In other words, be sure you have adequate insurance now - before the loss occurs. · If you become a burglary victim, in spite of your best efforts, get help from the nearest law enforcement agency immediately, then notify your insurance company.

If you make it difficult enough for a burglar to get in your home, he may give up and move on to easier pickings. Here's how to discourage him:

LOCKS. A door that locks when it is slammed is no problem for a burglar. He can open it easily with a piece of plastic or some other simple device. You need a good-quality lock that will resist picking and force. Most experts recommend either a deadbolt lock that must be operated with a key or a pin tumbler cylinder lock However, be wary of a deadbolt lock that requires a key to open from the inside: in case of fire, you don't want to waste precious seconds look-ing for a key. Check with your lock-smith, and get good locks for all outside doors, not just for the main entrance.

Don't forget window locks too. The ordinary sash fastener offers no proordinary sash tastener offers no protection; it can be opened by a knife through the window slot. You need either a sash fastener that can be locked with a key or a cylindrical mechanism with a latch that fits into a metal rim in the bottom sash of the top window. Other possibilities are a key lock built into the bottom window has or nails fastening windows togeth. bar or nails fastening windows togeth-

If you have a sliding glass door, either get a slide lock or put an object — a steel rod, a nail or a piece of wood - in the door channel.

Most important, use the locks! They're worthless if you don't. KEYS. There are several things you should do and should not do with the keys to your home.

Don't leave your key under a door-mat, in the mailbox, hanging from a nail outside or anyplace else a burglar could easily find it. Don't leave your keys in a coat pocket when you check your coat or hang it up in a public place. Don't give your home keys to a parking attendant; he could have a duplicate made while you're gone Give him your car keys only. Keep your car keys and home keys on separate rings.

Don't loan your keys to casual acquaintances. Don't carry an identification tag on your key ring; if you lose it, that's like an engraved invitation to burglar. Change the locks on your home if you lose a home key or if you move into a previously-occupied home

DON'T LEAVE ladders or tools outside the house where a thief can get them and use them for break-in pur-

KEEP SHRUBBERY trimmed around the doors and windows. Don't give the thief a convenient place to hide while he works on breaking in.

Make him think you're home when you're not. He probably knows about some of the tricks we'll suggest, but without close observation he probably won't be able to figure out whether you're fooling or whether you really are home.

Leave some lights on while you're away. If you're just out for the evening, a single light — preferably up-stairs, so the burglar can't peek in and see if someone really is home - will do. If you're going to be gone several days or longer, get an inexpensive timer that turns a light on and off at designated times. You might get sev eral and time them so that when light go off in the living room, for example they go on in a bedroom; this makes it look like someone is moving around in the house.

If you normally have your drapeopen in the daytime and closed at night, you might give a trusted neighbor a key and ask him to come in answitch the drapes twice a day Another idea. Have the neighbor switch on a radio or TV set at right

Outside lights also are a good idea, whether you're away or home They remove the thief's cover of darkness and he doesn't want to be in the spot light when he works

Don't allow mail, newspapers and milk bottles to accumulate while you're gone. Stop delivery beforehand or ask a neighbor to take these thingin daily. Don't leave notes on the door or elsewhere saying you'll be gone until a certain date Keep your garage door closed and locked when there no car in the garage. In summer, ar range to have your lawn mowed regu larly; in winter, arrange to have snow shoveled off your walks and drive any.

Be wary of strange phone calls a med at finding out when you won the home. Be suspicious of anyone you don't know asking about your schedule and plans, whether on the phone or in person. Such an inquiry may come in the guise of a caller who says you've won a valuable prize and ostensibly wants to know when it can be deli

Don't let a stranger inside unless he can show identification indicating to has a legitimate reason to be there a service man from the gas company or phone company, for example. If you have any doubts, call the person employer. Have a peep hole installed. this will give you a chance to look someone over before opening the door A chain lock is essential. In an apart ment building, never unlock the building's main entrance door until you find out who signalled you.

Before employing household he'p check the person's references. He or she could be a burglar's partner intent on sizing up your house and your schedule for a break-in.

Despite all your efforts, he may get in anyway. You can make it more likely he'll get caught or at least frightened away or leave empty

Install a burgiar alatin system. They vary it sophistication from a simple alarm that makes a noise and will scare the thief away and alert the neighbors, to a si'en' alarm linked to a law enforcement agency. Some companies give discounts on your homeowners insurance premium for an approved alarm system Notify the police it you're going away and ask for special surveillance of your home. Tel' them when you're lest ing, when you expect to return and what lightwill be on at what times If a neighbor also will be checking the premises be sure the police are aware of it

Keep your valuables such as jewelry, in a side deposit box at a bank would be likely to steal.

Mark items a thief such as TV sets and stereos, with a marking tool. Put your driver's license number, along with your state's ab-breviation, on each item. this may help the police trace it if it is stolen Keep records of serial numbers of items that have them.

These have been tips on how to thwart burglary of your own property. There also ale ways you can do some thing about burglary in general Among them Participate in cem munity crime prevention programs, such as Operation Identification If you witness a crime or something that looks like one call the police. Be suspicious if someone offers you an item at a bargain price under unusual circumstances : may be stolen property Buy only from bonafide dealers. If you help dry up the market for stelen goods, you he'p dry up burglary

Cottage begins co-op program

Cottage Hospital announced recently that 20 students from Grosse Pointe North and South high schools have begun nurses aide and orderly training at the hospital this summer.

Developed in cooperation with the Grosse Pointe Public School System, the program is in its 14th year at Cottage Hospital. Cottage is the only hospital in the area to offer this program.

Students participating this year will complete a five-week program that includes 180 hours of classroom instruc-tion and clinical work. Following graduation, students can qualify for work as aides and orderlies at Cottage or other area hospitals.

Participants from North are David Boyle, Karen Denolf, Mary Therese Domienik, Kristine Garbarino, Sher-naz Ghandhi, Joseph Haas, Sandra Jayaker, Gerry Kiers, Jill Knapp and

Vincent Rimanelli.
Students from South are Timothy
Askew, Todd Ciavola, Jim Dietz, Sue

Sec. 2.36b is amended to read as follows:

Sec. 2.36b. Traffic control devices on private property, violation as civil infraction.

- (1) With the consent or at the request of the owners or persons in charge of private property that is open to the general public for travel, the traffic engineer may determine controls of the movement of vehicles and pedestrians and the parking of vehicles as needed for safety and convenience of the public and users of the property. The traffic engineer may place and maintain whatever traffic control devices are necessary to traffic control devices are necessary to give notice of the controls determined to be necessary; the costs for such in-stallations may be charged to the pri-vate property owner by the City
- A person who violates the directions of the traffic control devices is respon-sible for a civil infraction.

Sec. 2.53 is amended to read as follows:

Sec. 2.53 Traffic Control Orders

- (1) The authority to regulate traffic contained in this ordinance shall be exercised by the Chief of Police by the issuance of traffic control orders which shall specify rules and regulations adopted or established by him. Such traffic control orders shall become effective upon being filed with the Clerk and upon erection of adequate signs or and upon erection of adequate signs or signals giving notice of the existence of such regulation, if signs or signals are required by the provisions of this Ordinance pertaining to such regulation. Traffic control orders may be either temporary or permanent and all such orders shall be filed with the Clerk. All such orders and any action modifying or repealing such orders shall be kept or repealing such orders shall be kept in a separate book by the Clerk to be known as the Traffic Control Order Book.
- copies of traffic control orders cer-tified by the Clerk to be a true trans-cript compared by him with the original in his office, shall be evidence in all courts, and proceedings in like manner as the original would be if produced. If it shall appear that a traffic con-trol sign signal or device conforming If it shall appear that a traffic control sign, signal or device conforming to the provisions of this Ordinance was erected or in place when the alleged violation of this Ordinance occurred, such showing shall be prima facie evidence of the existence of a lawful traffic control order authorizing such traffic control, sign, signal or device, and it shall be unnecessary for the prosecution to affirmatively show the existence of a valid traffic control order in such cases, unless and until such presumption is rebutted by competent evidence.

Section 3.4 is amended to read as follows:

Sec. 3.4. Walking, running, jogging and use of coasters, roller skates and similar devices restricted and the playing of baseball, football and all other games prohibited; violation as civil infraction.

- (1) A person engaged in walking, running or jogging, shall be required to utilize the sidewalk, except if it is impassible and while crossing a street on a crosswalk; such person shall be granted all of the rights and shall be subject to all of the duties, applicable to pedestrians. If there is no sidewalk or if it is impassable, such person shall walk, run or jog against traffic while on the street and if it is during the hours of darkness, shall wear reflective materials, capable of being illuminated by a vehicle's headlights at 500 feet.
- A person who is on roller skates or who A person who is on roller skates or who is riding in or by means of any coasters, toy vehicle, or similar device shall not go on any roadway, except while crossing a street on a crosswalk, when crossing a street on a crosswalk, such person shall be granted all the rights and shall be subject to all of the duties, applicable to pedestrians.
- No person shall play or permit the playing of baseball, football or any other game on or across any street or

Sec. 5.14c. Unnecessary of Excessive Noise

- (1) It shall be unlawful and in violation of It shall be unlawful and in violation of this ordinance for any person to operate any vehicle upon any street or highway, or any other place open to the general public, including any area designated for the parking of motor vehicles within this city, in a manner resulting in unnecessary or excessive engine noise or tire squealing during acceleration, deceleration or turning acceleration, deceleration or turning.
- (2) A person who violates this section is responsible for a civil infraction.

Sec 5.14d Riding Outside of Vehicle.

- (1) No person shall ride in or operate any No person shall ride in or operate any motor vehicle unless all portions of such person's body are entirely within that portion of the vehicle that is designed for the carrying of passengers or merchandise or as otherwise permitted by this ordinance; provided however, that this section does not apply to any person whose employment makes it necessary to ride otherwise.
- A person who violates this section is responsible for committing a misdemea-nor, and may be so punished upon con-viction.

The following sub-sections are added to section

- (u) No person shall drive upon, park or stand any vehicle between the curb or curb line and the lot line nearest the street, said area being commonly known as the lawn extension, whether or not any sidewalk or curb is actually in place on such street, unless it is paved and does not constitute a traffic and pedestrian vision obstruction, as de-termined by the Traffic Engineer.
- It is unlawful to park any commercially licensed vehicle or self propelled mobile home or camper, more than eighty-nine (89) inches in width, or trailer on any streat in this city between the hours of 2:00 A.M. and 4:00 A.M. of the same day. The Traffic Engineer, for good cause, may grant special parking permits permitting parking of such vehicles or trailers, during the above hours, provided each permit is granted for a definite period of time.

The following sections have added as sections 8.25 and 8.26:

Owner and Operator Responsible to Move Stalled Vehicles. Sec. 8.25.

Whenever a vehicle becomes stalled or for any reason cannot be moved, by its own power and in consequence obstructs a street or causes the vehicle to be otherwise illegally parked, the owner or operator shall cause the immediate removal of same by towing or otherwise.

Sec. 8.26. Police Towing of Vehicles.

In addition to the powers granted to police In addition to the powers granted to police to tow and impound vehicles in this Code, vehicles parked on public roads and upon private roads or parking lots open to the general public, may be towed, impounded and held at the registered owner's expense; such expense shall include but not be limited to, actual towing costs and daily storage charges, as set forth from time to time by resolution of Grosse Pointe Farms City Council, under the following conditions and circumstances:

- When parked in a tow-away zone;
- When deemed a traffic or pedestrian safety hazard or a fire hazard;
- When parked in violation of a parking
- When the registered owner or operator has accumulated three or more unpaid and past due parking violations; and
- Upon complaint, a vehicle parked in front of, or on, or in a public or private driveway, when not belonging to or authorized by the person in control, leasee or owner of the property.

The following section is added as section 9.6.

Sec. 9.6 Michigan Motor Vehicle Code

All state traffic misdemeanors and civil infractions not encompassed by this code may be written and issued by police officers under this section by citing the appropriate Section of the Michigan Motor Vehicle Code.

The following section is added as section 9.7:

Sec. 9.7 Police Chief to Serve as Traffic

Whenever the term "Traffic Engineer" is used in this Code, it shall be construed and be deemed to mean the Chief of Police of the City of Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan.

Section 3. Except as herein amended, Ordinance 179 as amended by Ordinance Nos. 212 and 236 shall remain in full force and effect.

Section 4. The Clerk of the City of Grosse Pointe Farms shall publish this ordinance in the manner required by law and shall at the same time publish a supplementary notice setting forth the purpose of the Uniform Traffic Code and of the fact that a complete copy of the code as hereby amended is available at the office of the Clerk for inspection by the public at all

Section 5. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or portion of this Ordinance is held invalid, the remainder of the Ordinance shall not be affected

Section 6. This Ordinance shall take effect twenty (20) days after its enactment, or upon its publication, whichever is later.

For Senior Citizens-

By Marian Trainor

The bottom line is love — love that is freely given to a child who desperately needs it and the love that is returned by a child.

This is essentially what makes

Foster Grandparents such a successful program

How much more satisfaction can there be for an older personthan getting up each day knowing there is someone waiting just to see you and to share your day?

How comforting it is for a child who has always felt rejected and who desperately longs for the attention of a person whose sole purpose is to make him feel important and a great human being? This what happens in the Foster Grandparents program. The grandparent benefits because he or she feels needed. This is important because we all need someone to love and something meaningful to do when we retire. We need to replace those satisfactions for-merly derived from work and raising a family with meaningful activities. We need to keep active, to take on projects that will keep us busy and active. We need to matter to others

The child benefits because in order to grow into a caring adult, child needs to know someone ares about him. The children who are in the Foster Grandpa-rents program are all children vho need this reassurance.

The Foster Grandparents progam began in 1965 under the auspices of the Office of Economic Opportunity. It is managed locally by Catholic Social Services, Nancy Spikski heads up the project. When she started in the program in 1965 there were 35 grandparents. There are now 280 volunteers who serve 600 children in 22 host set-unteer. Because it is now a full time job with many responsibilities, she is a paid worker.

As an aside, volunteering is becoming a fairly successful route to full-time employment for those who are interested in full-time jobs. There are many examples of people who begin projects as volunteers and see them grow to the point where a full-time commitment is needed. Even if that doesn't happen, volunteer service is now accepted on a resume for employment and could tip the scale in favor of the applicant who has sharpened skills as a volun-

The Detroit Foster Grandparent group under Nancy's direction is one of the largest groups operating in the country today. Nancy would like to have more volunteers from Macomb County.

'We have had excellent response from Wayne County," she said. "All of them are dedicated and consistent."

These are important attributes for those working with children, particularly children who have been bruised by society. They need to know there is one person they can count on to be where they expect them to be every day at the same time Foster Grandparents can be depended on to give four hours each day, five days a week. Some of them have been faithful to their commitment for as long as 17 vears. Enoch James, 74, a retired pullman porter and a former teacher at St. Patrick's Senior Center, has been going to St. Francis Home for Boys at Linwood and Fenkel for five years where he is 'grandfather' to two boys. These boys can count on him as a caring adult who will lis-ten to their problems, help them to solve them, play games with them and mediate the skirmishes that are bound to occur when boys get

St. Francis Home for Boys is home to boys who have been removed from their parents' care either because they have problems themselves or there are problems in the home. It is one of the sites where Foster Grandparents may be assigned to assume a role that has been missing in these boys' lives — a grownup who belongs to them alone.

To a child removed from a parental setting, no matter how deprived that setting is, it is vital that he experiences a one-to-one relationship. A child can become very lonely when he is dealt with day-in and day-out as part of a group. Providing that companionship is one of the rewards of being a Foster Grandparent.

It is apparent that James enjoys his time at St. Francis Home and is proud of the part he plays in the boys' lives. He has raised two sons and has three grown grandchildren. Sott-spoken and gende, it is easy to see that he would have a calming influence on children who have known violence and disruption in their lives.

Foster Grandparents receive a stipend of $2 an hour, an annual physical examination and a hot meal each day. They provide their own transportation. They receive 40 hours of orientation training and attend a monthly in-service program where they discuss problems that occur when working with children, nutrition, the best methods of dealing with children and any other concerns they may have. Their loyalty is recognized at an annual dinner where plaques are presented to those with five years, 10 years and more of service. Six of the original Foster Grandparents are still working in the program after 17 years.

Michigan is one of the few states that supports the Foster Grandparents programs with state funding in addition to the federal money it receives. There are 16 other programs, eight are federally funded with a state supplement. Any public or non-profit private agency or organization may apply for a Foster Grandparent grant.

When one considers how much is realized in terms of human services, the money allocated to Foster Grandparents has got to be one of the best bargains in federal and locally subsidized projects.

The children involved need very special attention, such services that would be prohibitively priced if they depended on salaried personnel. Many of the children are mentally retarded, physically handicapped, sight or hearing impaired, have speech disorders or are learning disabled. Others been abused or neglected.

In addition to being assigned to sites such as St. Francis Home Foster Grandparents recently have also been going into private homes where they provide wel-come relief to parents who sometimes cannot handle the tension of continous care of a "special"

State and federal funds can only be stretched so far. Often funds donated by private organizations make the difference. Foster Grandparents have found this to be true. As recipients of donations from various organizations the program has extended to include children who otherwise might not benefit from the concern of those special persons who have the experience, wisdom and patience to donated to Barat House by the them as meters, he says.

Junior League of Detroit.

Because of the Junior League of Detroit, there is a facility at Barat House where severely abused children may be sheltered for a short period of time while their parents receive counseling. Again, in this setting the tender care and concern of Foster Grandparents serves as a valuable asset in the children's mental and physical recovery.

Kay Bolles, a sustaining member of the Junior League sits on the Foster Grandparents Program Advisory Council on behalf of Parents Anonymous of Michigan. In that role she is a valuable liaison between the Junior League and to the Barat House.

Parents Anonymous is an independent nationwide organization which has been working in Michigan for 10 years with potentially abusive parents who need help. These parents meet on a weekly basis in groups of eight to 10 for therapy. They are monitored by volunteer professionals who have a Master's degree in human services. There are 50 such groups across the state.

Those who seek the help of Parents Anonymous do so voluntarily or are referred by doctors, teachers or neighbors who know of a child abuse case. Actually, under a 1944 Protection Law, every member of society who knows of a child being abused has a duty to report such cases.

Right now, Kay is working to establish a 24-hour crisis line which parents can dial when they realize they have reached a breaking point and want help before they take out their frustration on their child. Such phones would operate much like psychiatrists' open lines to patients. A person calling the crisis line would be given immediate advice by a professional.

If this service comes about, much of the credit will be due to Kay's efforts. A former nurse at Grace Hospital, a volunteer in child therapy at Children's Hospital, a mother of two daughters, Kerry, 21 and Ann, 19, she has strong feelings on the value of support services aimed at keeping children in their own home.

"Children often get lost when they are placed in foster home settings," she said. "Many times some of the same problems that existed in the foster home. Also there is no sense of belonging in a foster home. The children are not part of the natural family and permanent arrangements are rare, particularly if the child has problems. Foster parents often refuse to deal with them and the child is then removed and placed in another home and the story is repeated.

'If the parents and the child receive help, often times the family remains intact," Kay said. "In fact we have had 90 percent success with parents and children who have received therapy.

Part of this success, Kay admits, is due to the Foster Grandparents who have gone into the homes where potentially abused children live to help alleviate the tension that occurs when a parent is near the breaking point.

"It is a difficult assignment," Kay admits. She genuinely admires those who accept it. She is particularly proud that Michigan is first to have Foster Grandparents working in this setting.

Ms. Sohaski, a certified U.S. Professional Tennis Association professional.

State BOCA names Woods' Earl Wakely

Earl J. Wakely, chief inspector of the City of Grosse Pointe Woods, was re-elected to a two-year term on the Executive Committee of Building Officials and Code Administrators (BOCA) International at the organization's 67th annual Conference in June in Tulsa, Okla.

BOCA is the nation's oldest professional association of regulatory code officials and publisher of the widely recognized "Basic Code" series of model construction codes. The "BOCA" Basic Building Code" has been adopted for statewide use in Michigan.

Wakely is also chairman of BOCA's Basic Fire Prevention Code Changes Committee and Basic Security Code

Local tennis pro Anita Sohaski will be featured in a new tennis series, 'Anita Serves Up Tennis,' which began Monday, July 19, on Grosse Pointe Indoor Tennis Club, Wimbedon Racquet Club, Lake Shore Tennis House and Eastpointe Cable's Channel 3 at 7 p.m. Racquet Club. She has also taught in Dunedin, Fia. Currently she is the head professional at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

"Anita Serves Up Tennis" was taped at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club by Mike Pfaendtner, Kevin Ayres, Richard Carter, Kermit Potter and Ann Linder. The complete set of tennis lessons can be seen Monday and Wednesday evenings at 7 p.m.

Hospital adds services for hard of hearing

Bon Secours Hospital is the first hospital on the east side equipped with special teletypewriters to communicate with hearing impaired patients, hospital spokesmen said. The devices are part of Bon Secours Hospital's efforts to meet and increase awareness of the health care needs of the handicapped.

The devices have been in operation since June, the hospital said. One teletypewriter is stationed in the emergency room. The other is used throughout the hospital.

Hearing impaired persons with teletypewriters at home can com-municate with hospital staff in the emergency room by sending typed messages over the phone. The device is especially important in the emergency room because other forms of communicating with the hearing impaired, such as sign language or writing notes, are ineffective under traumatic conditions, the hospital said.

Calvary names new director

Grosse Pointe Park resident Carol Severn is the new Activities Director at Calvary Senior Center which serves the northeast communities, the center announced last week.

Mrs. Severn joined the center staff after teaching at the Wee Wisdom Montessori School in St. Clair Shores. She was also assistant activities director at the Brae Burn Nursing Home in Bloomfield Hills.

Mrs. Severn, a Michigan State University graduate with a degree in elementary education, also taught at the Clawson and Grand Ledge Public Schools and in Minot, N.D.

Her position at Calvary Senior Center, a unit of Lutheran Social Services of Michigan, is funded by the Siebert Foundation in Milwaukee, Wis.

Also joining the staff is Linda Mac-Queen who will direct Protective Services. She succeeds Carol Rienke. Mrs. MacQueen, a Birmingham resident, previously was director of ac-tivities at Luther Haven on Detroit's near east side.

Calvary serves independent older adults through a program of nutrition, education and social work services. Lutheran Social Services of Michigan, which operates Calvary, also operates Luther Haven and three homes for the mentally retarded.

The Republican long shot

It now appears that Robert E. FitzPatrick dom hearing from the office until FitzPatrick will run only as a Republican candidate for filed for office. Wayne County executive in the Aug. 10 primary despite his appeal to the Michigan Supreme Court to put him back into the Democratic con-

FitzPatrick claims he filed in both parties because he believes the county executive race should be nonpartisan, but a decision by Michigan's appellate court said he had to make a choice. Although a lifelong Democrat, as he admits in his own campaign material, FitzPatrick decided to run only as a Republi-

IN HIS STATEMENT on the court ruling, FitzPatrick attacked the Wayne County election commission which had appealed an earlier decision by Circuit Judge Theodore Bohn that had permitted FitzPatrick to file on both tickets. FitzPatrick claimed the commission's appeal was "highly political in nature" and is challenging the appellate court's decision in the state Supreme Court However, the court will not hear the case until after the election.

FitzPatrick didn't really explain why, as a lifelong Democrat, he chose to run as a Republican except to say that it was "a politically practical choice" that "will position" him to be a finalist in November. That means he agrees with observers who gave him little chance to win the Democratic nomination against the frontrunner, Sheriff William Lucas, and several other strong contenders.

FitzPatrick says he entered the county executive race because the new county charter calls for an executive with responsible experience in both government and business. He is a former chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners and has had broad experience in private business.

Currently however, he is executive director of the Economic Development Corp. of Wayne County which seems to have had, through a not unexpected coincidence, a new burst of activity in the weeks since he became a candidate. The Grosse Pointe News has recently received a batch of press releases about the Economic the general election. Even at best, however, Development Corp. and its activities after sel-

Lucas' own survey, taken for him by Peter D. Hart Research Associates, Inc., from June 18 to 21, among 503 registered Democratic voters, shows the sheriff running away from the field for the Democratic nomination, He had the support of 60 percent of the respondents, with Detroit Councilman Mel Ravitz a distant second with 9 percent and Mayor Ed McNamara of Livonia tied for third with Drain Commissioner Charles Youngblood.

Lucas' rivals are trying to identify him with the county's bad record in fiscal affairs, with the Road Commission's "sweetheart" union contract with its supervisors and with various other kinds of political maneuvering that have been blamed for the county's economic plight. But so far his foes have not been able to persuade the public that Lucas is part of the county's problem. However, the fact that both daily newspapers, the Detroit News and the Free Press, have endorsed Mayor McNamara over Lucas may raise some questions for those who have been supporting the sheriff. Viewing his own poll figures cautiously, Lucas says he will continue to campaign in every community in the county a non-partisan ballot at annual but he plays down specific issues in favor of pledges to restore "honesty, fairness, integrity and leadership" to county government.

IT'S OBVIOUS those qualities are needed in county government but it also needs a county executive with administrative ability. As sheriff, Lucas has not made an outstanding record as an administrator, even though there is little doubt about his personal popularity.

If, as expected, FitzPatrick wins the GOP nomination, he might be able to make a strong race in November against Lucas, assuming the sheriff retains his lead among the Democratic contenders. With his experience in county government, FitzPatrick obviously knows his way around and could start rattling skeletons in the county closet that could embarrass Lucas in

Balanced video rules

Regulation of video game pariors continues to be a highly controversial issue in the Grosse Pointes and elsewhere throughout the country.

By and large, regulation is being proposed not just to earn revenue for municipal governments but to limit and control the use of video games by young people. The thinking seems to be that when a large number of machines is installed at a single location abuses are much more apt to occur. So communities are either banning video game rooms or putting limits on the number of machines that can be installed in a single game room.

IN RECENT WEEKS, the Grosse Pointe City Council in effect prohibited video game parlors in that community and the Grosse Pointe Woods Council imposed strict restrictions on the game rooms in that city. The Grosse Pointe Park Council, which adopted the first ordinance in the Pointes, now has begun civil litigation against the Esquire Theater over alleged violations of those regulations. The Farms Council has not yet taken official action on the issue.

The argument against excessive control is that video game parlors offer young people opportunities for entertainment and places to congregate in a wholesome atmosphere, assuming proper supervision. The dispute arises over the number of machines that can be installed at each location, the size of the annual license fee and the schools have all refinally replaced one tree at and such additional requirements as the number of additional parking places needed, the hours of operation, the age of the particip-

The role of school board members

By Dr. Kenneth Brummel Supt. of Schools

July 1 marked the official beginning of a new school year, and one of the first events to take place during any new school year is the an-nual meeting of the Board of Education. At that meeting, the trustees elect officers and begin their duties for the year.

Since our board's annual meeting occurred more than a week ago, it is appropriate to consider the responsibilities of board members and the role of the Board of Education in overseeing the operation of the school system. First, consider the method by which the trustees are selected and what their legal responsibilities are. The board is composed of seven trustees chosen by registered voters on school elections. Members of the board have the responsibility of seeing that programs of the school system are conducted in accordance with the Constitution of the State of Michigan; the School Code of District. Trustees are really programs and services. state officers discharging a state responsibility at the local

As they discharge this responsibility, I believe that members of the Board of Education have one of the most important duties in our society - that of determining policies which control the education of our young people. In order to be effective in meeting this re-sponsibility, persons elected to the board have to learn a great amount about many aspects of instruction, fiscal management and providing educational services.

A look at a typical agenda for a board meeting confirms the fact that trustees are expected to make decisions on a wide range of topics. Some actions of the board are strictly routine, like approving minutes of previous meetings. Board members also have to be sure that they represent all of the community's citizens, not just particular segments or groups. Trustees have an obligation to protect the quality of the educational program and provide leadership in improving the services of the school system.

One of the most important steps trustees take to improve the school system is to agree on a set of system-wide goals for the year. Over the next several weeks, board members will be receiving information from staff members about their objectives for the year and will use that information to develop board goals for 1982-83.

In another column, I will be explaining more about the development of system-wide goals for this new school year and examine some of the other functions of the Board of Ed-

I wonder, too, why people in Grosse Pointe Farms this area are afraid to use the words "senior citizen." Do they have a secret formula that is going to prevent them from aging? Being a senior citizen should be a beautiful time of life, it is one of God's blessings, many are not so for-

We have people who have paid taxes for 30 or 40 years. They have given us one of the most attractive communities possible. They have provided our young people with the finest of schools and recreational facilities. Now, isn't it time we do something for them in return? Is it fair that they be forced to move out of the area because their homes are too large for them to maintain?

In rezoning for these multiple dwellings, we should remember, they need not be high rises, they could be two or three stories, same as the surrounding homes.

These units should be available on a seniority basis, those who have paid taxes the longest should be first on the list. The units should be available to taxpayers themselves, not parents, aunts, uncles and etc.

As for location, my first thought was the old Kerby school area. Another might be one of the existing schools. On June 8 on cable T.V. it was stated that by 1985 the school enrollment will be down 3,000 pupils. The remaining students could be consolidated.

Perhaps a committee could be formed through the Grosse Pointe War Memorial as they serve all the areas. This committee would discuss finances and wording for the rezoning, so our residential areas will be protected. We have many, many successful professional and business people in the area, let's ask for their help.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

Just when you think you've seen everything there is to see in summer fun fund raising events, along comes something special: a Gourmet Box Social featuring a selection of picnic banquets for two (including an appropriate wine) prepared by the likes of Bill Anton, the Golden Mushroom's Chef Milos, Van Dyke Place's John McCarthy and Excalibur's Pat Archer. The Lark, Elizabeth's, The Bijou, Hillcrest Country Club and the new Celebrities promise their delectable party picnics. new Celebrities promise their delectable party picnics,

And each lady arriving this Saturday evening at the Vendome Road of Penny and George Simon will bring one boxed, basketed, be-ribboned and/or flower-bedecked gourment dinner, to be auctioned off - along with the professional chefs' contributions, coordinated by co-chairman Duglass of Restaurant Duglass — by Farris Brothers auctioneer George Farris, with all proceeds going to Saint Jude Children's Research Hospital, now celebrating its 20th anniversary.

Remember: the lady does not necessarily have dinner with the gentleman who escorts her to the party ... unless he also happens to bid highest for her basket. And the picnic preparers can concentrate on scrumptious hors d'oeuvres and delicious main dishes, for Penny Simon is arranging an old-fashioned sweet table piled high with desserts including, we predict, a big, beautiful cake for Chef Milos. After all, it's his birthday.

Worried about working off all those calories? You can end the evening dancing under the stars (if the weather cooperates, and since this is an ALSAC benefit, it just WOULDN'T rain!) to Sandalwood's magic music. Tickets for the night are available at any participating restaurant, while they last: the guest list must be limited, for auctioneering takes time and no matter how marvel-ous the meal, no one wants to be eating dinner for break-

... have you heard about the new look planned for "Meat, Eat, And Enjoy Cuisine Detroit?" Grosse Pointe's Mary Conway and Harry Satchwell, authors of the popular annual "Meet, Eat, And Enjoy" guides to fine dining in the metropolitan area, will continue to visit the area's restaurants, decide which are to be included in their "Meet, Eat and Enjoys" and write the descriptive material for each. They'll also continue to handle public relations for the guides.

But from now on there'll be TWO annual "Meet, Eat, And Enjoy" magazines, one for fine "formal," one for fine "casual" dining, each limited to approximately 65 restaurants. And there'll be TWO pages for each restaurant to illustrate its menu and tell its story. And the guides' new co-publishers will be Cuisine Publications, Inc., of Atlanta, Ga., and Joanne Horner. And the retail price will be reduced to $1.95 per magazine.

So, when they drop their own Used Book dona-tions in one of the Sale Collection Barrels, they generally sneak a peek. at what's already there . . . and some-times like Paul, they can't resist a closer look.

But all the books always go back in the barrel, because it's not fair to jump the sale gun — even if you're willing to pay for the privilege. With one exception: the Pointe AAUW provides a special Search Service for persons who've been looking for a par-ticular book for years. Miss Dickinson is wed in April

A reception at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club followed the spring wedding of Marion Jean Dickinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip C. Dickinson, of Grayton Road, and Kevin J. Krease, son of Mrs. William Krease, of Hol lywood Avenue, and the late Mr.

Presiding at the 6:30 o'clock cere mony Saturday, April 17, in Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, were The Reverend Jeffrey Dugan and Monsignor Francis X. Canfield. The newlyweds vacationed at Siesta Key, Fla, and are at home in Grosse Pointe

The bride, a graduate of Grosse Pointe South High School and Wayne State University, wore a gown of ivory organza styled with a Queen Anne neckline framed in Alencon lace. Her Empire bodice and sleeves of matching lace were accented with pearl beading. Lace appliques detailed the hem of her chapel length train.

Her long veil was caught by an Alencon lace-covered Juliet cap. Her Douquet featured daisies, white roses

Honor matron Devon Beebe Barnes, of Bishopville, S.C., and bridesmaids Tricia Blain, Molly Dickinson, the bride's sister-in-law, Ann Campbell and Charlene Friend wore spaghettistrapped dresses of green cotton voile with short-sleeved, ruffle-edged jackets. They carried daisy and ivy bouquets.

The bridegroom, who works for Detroit Bank & Trust, asked his brother. Pat Krease, to act as best man. Ushering were Danny Krease, another brother, Brian Dickinson and Z Clark Dickinson, brothers of the bride, and James Connolly.

Mr. and Mrs. Kevin J. Krease

Mrs. Dickinson selected a floor length dress of blue and lavender silk for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother chose floor length, blue and white print silk. Each mother wore a wristle of duisies Out of town guests included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Z.C. Dickinson, of Laguna Hills, Calif., the bride's cousin, Ann Peters, of Baltimore, Md., the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs Richard Eisenstaedt, of Deerfield, Ill., John Rupprecht, of Webster, N.Y., Colonel and Mrs. Robert Beebe, of Summerville, S.C. and Timothy Barnes, of Bishopville,

More were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dickinson and their family, of Ann Arbor, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ault, of Lansing, and the bridegroom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sullivan, of Kalamazoo.

Americans love thirst quenchers

The most exciting news in the beverage industry this year is that an advertising campaign resulted in con-sumers' getting what they want in competitors' products.

It all started earlier in the year when an advertisement for the No. 4 carbonated beverage pointed out that many other carbonated beverages contain caffeine. Manufacturers of carbonated beverages containing caf-feine strongly reacted to publicizing this information. Now those same manufacturers are coming out with noncaffeinated versions of their pro-

Soft drinks are a lucrative market in the United States. Sales of carbonated beverages in 1981 rose 2.7 percent to just over 6 billion cases. That works out to 39.5 gallons per capita consumption, according to the publication Beverage Industry.

Carbonated beverages are mostly sweetened, flavored water with carbon dioxide added. Purchased in 12-ounce cans at regular prices in a retail store. the cost for the 39.5 gallons per person could be as much as $178.50 for a nationally advertised carbonated beverage. The cost would be about one-third less if the same pop is purchased in

Cute Baby Contest coming in August

The Harper Woods Jaycee Auxiliary is sponsoring its second annual Cute Baby Contest, with judging to be determined by donations from the public during the Annual Harper Woods Community Day Picnic Sunday, Aug.

Anyone may enter. Simply send a favorite picture of a child under three years of age (all pictures must be no larger than 5x7), with the following information - name of child, birthdate, address and telephone number on the back of the photo, to Cute Baby Contest, c o 18779 Woodcrest, Harper Woods, Mich. 48225.

Entries must be received no later than Aug. 1. They will not be returned unless accompanied by a stamped. self-addressed envelope, but they may be picked up between 5 and 6 p.m. at the Harper Woods Park on the day of liter or two-liter containers. Of course, the cost would be greater than $178.50 if the cans were purchased from vending machines.

The winner need not be present to claim his her prizes. Proceeds from the contest will be used to support the Buckle-Up-Babes infant car seat rental program; hand-out BUB literature will be available.

Diet pop accounted for almost 14 percent of all soft drinks consumed last year. The noncaffeinated soft drink segment was cited as another area of growth.

One of the newest entries in the refrigerated case is an orange drink containing 10 percent orange juice. At 69 cents per half gallon, this product costs substantially less than carbo-nated beverages. It is noncarbonated and quite sweet, but the flavor is good far superior to that of canned orange drinks.

Lemonade and lemon drink are also available in cartons from the refrigerated case. The lemonade (10 percent lemon juice) is much tastier than the lemon drink (6 percent lemon juice), bu this marketing specialist would rate both of them inferior to the orange drink. Read labels, including the list of ingredients if necessary, to determine how much fruit juice is in a fruit drink product. Even if you are not interested in the juice for its nutritive contributions, the beverage with more natural juice will likely have a better flavor.

Most Americans think there's nothing like a cool, refreshing drink on a hot day. But what beverages will you choose if you really want to quench your thirst?

According to research reported several years ago at Michigan State University, the primary requirement for quenchability is high water content. Temperature has nothing to do with quenching thirst. Drinking beverages ice cold is purely a matter of habit and culture.

Sweet drinks are not as thirstquenching as nonsweet drinks. For this reason, diet drinks quench a thirst better than a sweet soda. A tart lemonade is a better thirst quencher than a sweet soda, even though they have about the same amount of sugar (12 percent) and water (88 percent).

Beer contains more water than milk, lemonade and non-diet sodas contain; however, diet drinks, coffee and iced tea contain more water than beer does. Regardless of what we may think, a beer may not quench thirst as well as other drinks containing less water, because beer contains alcohol, which has a dehydrating effect.

What's the best and cheapest thirst quencher? Water. Next is club soda you drink it plain.

Cynthia Thomas is a June bride

Cynthia Sue Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Douglas Thomas, of Lincoln Road, became the bride of Michael J. Fletcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Fletcher, of Camillus. N.Y., Saturday, June 12, in the Grosse Pointe Congregational-American Baptist Church.

Dr. Roy R. Hutcheon and The Reverend Francis Hillebrand, S.J., officiated at the afternoon wedding which was followed by a dinner reception at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club.

For her wedding, the former Miss Thomas selected a white, A-line, satin gown trimmed in Alencon lace and leaturing a high collar. Beading and sequins accented a neckline, long-seleved cuffs and scalloped, floor length hem of the gown. The bride designed and made her cathedral length veil and blusher, which was held by a Juliet cap of Alencon lace.

She carried a small cascade bouquet of white rosebuds, lilies-of-the-valley, baby's breath and ivy and wore heirloom rings, a gift from her grand-

Honor matron Mrs. Beth Sheehan, an Alpha Phi sorority sister of the bride from Michigan State University, and bridesmaids Mrs. Jennifer French-Miller and Nancy Morrison, Grosse Pointe South High School friends of the bride, Mary Fletcher, sister of the bridegroom, and Diane Michaels, wore spaghetti-strapped dresses of kelly green voile. Their cover-up jackets were accented with ruffled trim. Each attendant carried a nosegay of daisies, wy and kelly green ribbon streamers

James Fletcher served as best man for his brother. Guests were seated by the bridegroom's four other brothers, Tom, Joe, Dan and Chris Fletcher, and by the bride's brother. Jim Thomas, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

The bride's mother fashioned her own mint-colored, formal crepe de chine dress, which featured a ruffle trim which started at the high neckline and ran down the bodice and long sleeves. The bridegroom's mother wore a formal length gown of hyacinth blue organza with a bateau neckline and elbow length, handkerchief sleeves. Each mother wore a Eucharis

Miss Streicher wed June 25

The candlelight wedding of Nancy Lynne Streicher and Steven Scott Swanson Friday, June 25, in Saint James Lutheran Church was followed by a reception at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, after which the newlyweds left to vacation on Antigua in the British West Indies. They are making their home in Plainsboro, N.J.

The new Mrs. Swanson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Streicher, of Deming Lane. The bridegroom is the son of former Grosse Pointe residents Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Swanson, who now live in Randolph.

Pastor George Schelter presided at the 6 o'clock double ring ceremony, for which the bride chose a gown of re-embroidered English net, its fitted bodice featuring a scoop neckline and beli-puffed sleeves, its skirt and train heavily embossed with Schiffli embroidery accenting a scalloped border.

A picture hat of matching lace held her double-tiered, fingertip length veil of silk illusion, lace-bordered and tied with satin ribbon bows. She carried a cascade of white roses, lilies, stephanotis and ivy.
Patricia Louise Streicher was her sister's honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Jane Libcke, of Bloomfield Hills, and Karen Long, of West Bloomfield, both, like the bride and honor maid Delta Delta Delta sorority sisters, and Lori Wood, of Moran Road.

Their satin-sashed dresses of rose silk organza were styled with slightly blouson bodices, accented by bateau necklines and banded, bell sleeves, and full skirts trimmed above the hem with matching banding. They wore fon, and a purse corsage of green combs adorned with pink and white cymbidium orchids.

Can Your Write a Catchy Slogan?

Special guests at the Detroit Symphony League's summer picnic at Meadow Brook prior to last Sunday's Music Festival performance there were members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra (the picnic is the League's annual tribute to them: thank-you for a super season), DSO Music Adviser Gary Bertini, guest artist Oxana Yablonskaya, pianist — and "Lily," the League's soft sculpture mannequin, whose assigned task that evening was handing out entry forms for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra/WQRS Timeless-FM 105 Marathon 1983 Slogan

The contest is running now through Aug. 28. Anyone can enter; entry forms are available at local record stores or by calling Miriam (Lily volunteered to take the calls but was told - gently - she hadn't the voice for it) at 833-6105.

The winning slogan will be used for the radio marathon, which will take place Feb. 19 to 27, 1983. The winner will be interviewed on Timeless 105 and will receive a pair of tickets to the Detroit Symphony Marathon Thank You Detroit Concert on Sunday, Feb. 27, and recognition in Stage Bill. If you're an absolute dud at slogan writing but a whiz at illustration, wait a while: your turn will come. After the slogan is selected there will be a poster contest, giving everyone in the metropolitan area a chance to be involved with the DSO and the marathon.

Busy Meadow Brook weekend

Gary Bertini, music advisor for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, will conduct the DSO and the Kenneth Jewell Chorale in Ravel's "Daphnis and Chloe" tonight, Thursday, July 22, and again on Sunday, July 25, as the Meadow Brook Music Festival continues on the campus of Oakland University. Pianist Boris Berman will perform Mozart's Concerto No 12.

Chuck Mangione, the contemporary jazz musician who attained worldwide fame playing "Give It All You Got" at the 1980 Winter Olympics in Lake Placid, N.Y., is Meadow Brook's guest artist tomorrow, Friday, July 23. Mangione will play flugelhorn and trumpet with his group.

Drummer Buddy Rich and his band share the Meadow Brook stage with Woody Herman and his Thundering Herd Saturday, July 24.

Meadow Brook's Thursday Sunday symphonic concerts are co-sponsored by WQRS Timeless-FM 105. The Detroit News presents the Friday Variety Series, the Detroit Free Press the Saturday Variety Pops Series. Evening concerts begin at 8 pm in Baldwin Pavilion on the Oakland University campus in Rochester, with entrances on Walton Boulevard and Adams Road. Over 7,000 people can be seated in the pavilion and on the lawn.

The grounds open two hours before evening concerts, for picnicking or dining at Trumbull Terrace. Tickets, dinner reservations and program information may be obtained by calling the Festival box office, 377-2010. Tickets also are available at Hudson's and other CTC locations, Sears and Discount Records

A vide range of goods, from housefold furnishings and clothing to offce furniture and equipment, was lisbursed by LINC to 84 needy Wayne County agencies in 1981. These were valued at a total of $259,000 -- $120,000 more than the previous year

In addition, direct donor to agemy contributions were facilitatec by LINC and increased last year "Those are goods we never see, but "linc" up," explained Plular, "They were valued at $200000 - up $99,000 over the same period in 1980.

WHILE THE SERVICES of LIND were expanding, new officers assumed the governing tasks of the organization. New executive committee members are: first vicepresident (operations), Erica Lincow; second vice-president (public relations), Molly Drake Anderson; secretary, Karen Kaser; reasurer, Nancy Heaphy; and assistant treasurer, Barbara Earl

Members of the board of directors are Judy Chauvin and Becky Cipriano, fund raising; Susan

Working with Pluhar to coordinate the activities of the executive committee board and volunteers is Fran Mumma, LINC's sole employe. Mumma, on summer leave from LINC and being replaced by Barbara Colum, a sophomore at the College of Wooster, Wooster, O; is one of the many moving forces behind the organization.

A vital part of the internal structure. Mumma handles the daily operations of the LINC office and is the actual "LINC" between donors, agencies and volunteers. When a new agency requests service, she obtains the necessary information and refers it to the board and research committee.

If Mumma receives a call from a donor she arranges for the donation to be delivered either by the donor, the recipient agency or a LINC volunteer.

BUT, DESPITE THE interest and hard work of volunteers and staff, LINC activities would not be possible without crucial funding. This comes about through private donations, corporate funding, and fund raising, such as the annual LINC Monte Carlo party, this year to be held on Saturday, Nov. 6, at the Lochmoor Country Club.

And, finally, an important source of support for LINC is grants. This year LINC was most fortunate to apply for and receive a Community Assistance Grant from the Junior League of Detroit. This volunteer organization launched LINC as a pilot program in 1971 and provided primary support until 1978, when LINC became an independent community

The Assistance Grant monies will be used to purchase a slide projector and screen and to produce a slide presentation on LINC to market the organization to the community, potential donors and volunteers

LINC column space is provided monthly by the Grosse Pointe News as a community service. OPERATION LINC needs your donation - and your time. We are a non-profit, volunteer organization which helps numerous Wayne County agencies To volunteer or to donate usable items, please call us at 331-6700. Our office hours are 9 a m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday, throughout the year. All donations are tax deductible.

Mary Kernan is spring bride

Mankowski exchanged marriage vows Saturday, April 17, at an 11 o'clock ceremony at Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore. Monsignor Francis X. Canfield presided at the rites which were followed by a reception at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter James Kernan Jr., of Lakeland Avenue, wore her mother's wedding gown of candlelight satin with Belgian lace inserts. Her full length, matching mantilla is a family heirloom. She carried a cascading bouquet of Eucharis lilies and stephanotis.

She was attended by her sister,
Genevieve Ann Kernan, and bridesmaids Mrs. Michael Reeber and Nancy Harrison, and Mrs. Michael Nally, of Edgewood, N.J., in floor length dresses of deep rose silk styled with a flat bow at the waist. Each attendant wore a small comb of tiny pink carnations and heather in her hair and carried a cascade bouquet of rubrum lilies, Iris, pink miniature carnations, heather and baby's-breath.

Mr. Mankowski, son of Mrs. victor Mankowski Sr., of Detroit, and the late Mr. Mankowski, asked Mark Fisher, of Farmington Hills, to act as best man. Ushers were William Mills, of Lake City, Ronald Landis, of Binghamton, N.Y., and Donald Tujaka, of nion Lake. The mother of the bride wore a street length purple chiffon dress which was styled with a draped effect on one side. She wore her rubrum lily corsage at the waist. The mother of the bridegroom chose a sky blue silk

Africa's animal future is bleak

For centuries Africa's wildlife populations have managed to survive the hunting of their numbers by men seeking food, clothing - and even sport.

Today, though, these same animals face extinction from poachers who are slaughtering them by the thousands in order to cash in on the skyrocketing prices that can be fetched for horns tusks and skins, the Reader's Digest reports in its July issue.

For example: only about 10-to-20,000 of Africa's black rhinos remain out of a population estimated at more than 100,000 just 10 years ago. The reason is that powdered rhino horn is in great demand throughout Asia. Though its curative powers haven't been verified many people believe it can help suppress fever, thus sending its retail price up to $687 an ounce.

Similarly, elephants are falling in large numbers to tusk-seeking poachers who can sell the ivory for $34 a pound. In 1970 its price was $2.70 a each carries his doom in the form of ivory with a retail value of $6,800."

The countdown to zero involves other species as well. In the five years before Kenya imposed a ban on curios an estimated 10,000 zebras were killed to make drums and rugs for sale to

Elsewhere in Africa antelope horns are mounted on plaques and sold as souvenirs; tails of giraffes are made into fly whisks; ostriches are killed for their hides; and cheetahs, prized for their pelts, are being hunted to extinction in many localities.

And poaching is only part of the problem threatening Africa's wildlife, considered an asset for all mankind. Farmers are clamoring for parkland, which can be used for animal preserves, so they can use it for farming and grazing.

If Africa's wild animals are to survive - and the prospect for that is - it's up to the Africans to do a better job of maintaining and policing Says the Digest, "A mature bull ele-phant with tusks weighing 100 pounds cle notes."

How to catch a thief.

GPN -- 7-22-82

It's a lot like catching a weasel. They're very sneaky. The trick is, you can't catch 'em if you don't see 'em. So how do you see 'em?

Start looking. See, you and your neighbors should watch out for each other. And when you see something suspicious, call the cops, fast. So the cops can act. Fast.

Pointers of Interest

By Peggy O'Connor

Nearly everyone who attends the luau set for this Saturday evening, July 24, at the Renaud Road home of the Troy Maschmeyers, will have a great time - everyone but the guest of honor, that is. The guest of honor at this party is scheduled to disappear somewhere in between the hors d' oeuvres and the fresh fruit dessert.

The disappearance shouldn't cause too much of a problem most guests will know right where he is. This guest of honor is the pit-roasted pig which will serve as the main course in the Hawaiian luau dinner, held this year for the first time as a benefit for the Assistance League to the Northeast Guidance Center.

Despite the one guest who won't be staying late, Mrs. Maschmeyer is convinced that this Saturday's luau will be "some enchanted evening" for everyone else in-

"I'm so excited about it," she says. "It sounds like its going to be great . . . a really fun party.

And the best part of it all, Mrs. Maschmeyer says, is that "I don't have to do anything except have the house ready." But anyone who has seen the large and lovely Maschmeyer home knows that keeping it "ready" isn't all that easy. And anyone who knows of Mrs. Maschmeyer's association with the Assistance League knows that she doesn't just take it easy when it comes to getting involved.

She is a member of the First English Lutheran Church and has sung in the church choir for 50 years. She is also a member of the board of regents of Capital University, Columbus, O., and has been an Assistance League member since 1969.

"When my friend Ginny Vallee was Assistance League vice-president, she asked me to join and I did." Mrs. Maschmeyer has served on planning committees and was on the board for a year or two. It was at one such planning committee meeting that she got the job as hostess for the benefit luau.

"Assistance League president Toni Stewart invited me to this year's planning meeting in February. They decided they'd like to have a luau and asked us to host ... I said yes." And those who attend this Saturday evening's luau will be glad she did. The house (including the lovely pool, patio and gardens) will be ready. And so will the pit-roasted pig. Pig roaster extraordinaire Ernie Paulick will see to that.

"Pig roasts are a hobby of Ernie's. When I heard that the luau was on, I insisted they call Ernie, who is a friend of my son. Ernie will stay here overnight before the luau — pig goes on at 5:30 a.m.!"

If the thought of the aroma of a succulently roasted pig doesnt't draw the anticipated 75 couples to the Maschmeyer home, Charlotte Maschmeyer's guarantee of a great time should. "Ginny Vallee and Mary Shammas are really live wires. I knew when they were chosen as co-chairmen that the party would be great."

It takes one live wire to spot another and Mrs. Maschmeyer's July schedule is proof of her live wire status. Mrs. Maschmeyer, husband Troy and rest of the family celebrated son Troy's 27th birthday on July 14; granddaugh-ter Elyse Alexandra Maschmeyer was christened on July 18; daughter Ellen Cooke's birthday was July 20 and the Maschmeyers' 36th wedding anniversary is July

That her busy schedule should include so many family-oriented activities is no surprise . . . Charlotte Maschmeyer is a very family-oriented lady. "I'm a babysitting grandmother. I'd rather be that that anything else.

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cook-book by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth presenting, this week, a super SUMMER BARBECUE

JAPANESE SKEWERED LAMB

2 lbs. lean boneless lamb 1/4 cup teriyaki-soy sauce

1 Tbsp. honey

2 Tbsp. vinegar

z Tosp. dry sherry

2 cloves garlic 1 tsp. ground ginger

1-1/2 cups beef bouillon Cut the lamb into strips in-inch thick, 12-inch wide and 3 inches long across the grain. Combine the remaining ingredients (crushing the garlic with a garlic press) and pour the mixture over the meat. Toss the meat to coat it well; let stand uncovered for I hour at room temperature or covered overnight in the re-frigerator. Turn the meat occasionally so it becomes evenly seasoned. Weave the meat onto skewers. Broil them about 4 inches from the heat source for about 2 minutes on each side. Makes 8 servings. Calories about 248 per serving.

FRUITED RICE SALAD pkg. (6 oz.) long grain and wild rice

2-1/2 cups water 1 Tbsp. unsalted margarine

Cholesterol about 72 mgs.

2 medium oranges ½ cup low-fat plain yogurt ½ cup low-cal mayonnaise

Few drops of lemon juice ½ cup diced celery

1/2 cup chopped walnuts 1/3 cup orange juice 1 tsp. sugar

Dash of white pepper 2 cups seedless green grapes, washed and halved 6 honeydew melon rings

Crisp dark green salad greens Cook contents of rice and seasoning packets with water and margarine according to package directions. Chill. Wash oranges and grate 2 teaspoons of the orange peel; reserve. Peel oranges and remove white membrane. Dice orange sections and set aside. Mix together rice, yogurt, mayonnaise, lemon juice, celery, wainuts, orange juice, orange peel, sugar and white pepper, Chill well. Just before serving, add oranges and grapes, toss lightly to blend thoroughly. To serve, arrange melon rings on crisp salad greens. Spoon salad onto melon rings. Makes 6

A few toasted almond slivers sprinkled over the top adds delicious and crunchy garnish, if desired. Calories about 398 per serving.

GPYC swims to 40th win in a row

By Patty Spoor Stumb and Krystin Strong

Life begins at 40' At least that's what Grosse Pointe Yacht Club swimmers believe after recording their 40th consecutive win on July 8 at the Birmingham Athletic Club

At the BAC meet, the girls' 8 and ander team of Ashter Moran, Court ney Youngblood, Julie Mertz and Shannon Sullivan won easily as did the boys' 8 and under relay of Mike Kirchner, John Seiber, Eric Mathews and Corby Leith Moran and Mertz also placed first in their individual events.

Ann Tipp took a first in the 50 meter breaststroke, while Kristin Youngblood captured a first in the 10 and under free. Other firsts included those turned in by Sandy Smith, Chris Nevison, Cindy Gannon, Tim Monahan, Hans Brieden, Chris Keane, Nicole Lehman Krystin Strong, Ann Mitch-ell, Kelly Bartsch and Nancy Georgi

The Yacht Club swimmers made it 41 consecutive wins when they topped the Lochmoor Club swimmers, 542-464.

The girls' and boys' 8 and under relay teams continued their unbeaten record Monahan won the 50 fly and free and members of the 8 and under group, Moran, Mike Kirchner and Seiber, turned in firsts. Tipp, Eric Steiner and Youngblood turned in first in the 10 and under events, as did Smith, Lehman and Bartsch in the 11 and 12 group Capturing firsts in the 13-14 events were Georgi and Jeff Clark Mitchell, Gannon and Monahan were first place winners in the 15-16

The GPYC team is coached by Tom Teetaert, Scott Teeters and John Bur-

Wisconsin beat Michigan, 1915, to climax a thrilling, best of three Park Minor League World Series Championship. Wisconsin had won the opener, 15-14, and Michigan took an extrainning, 6-4 win in the second game to set up the exciting final Mike Tremonti was the winning pitcher in the title game; he had ex-cellent relief help from Kelly Graves Graves, Peter Griem, Danny Tre-monti, Robbie Nixon, George Peters-marck, Shawn Burke, Tom Moeller-ing, Charles Rutherford, Kirt Graves. Chris Graves and Alex Nord were the offensive stars for Wisconsin.

Michigan's effort was led by pitchers Matt Marnell, John Roberts and Fred Turner, and on offense by Dave Lupo, Paul Viditch Turner, Marnell Steve Stang Matt Jacklyn, John Roberts, Mike Spanich, Norman Leon, David Birnbryer and Dan Roarity

State tournament play ahead for Farms-City

The Farms-City Babe Ruth League 13-year-old All Star team participated in the District Tournament at L'Anse Creuse which began July 2. The Farms-City won the tournament and will advance to the state tourney in St.

Jason Colegrove.

Grosse Pointe Farms-City defeated L'Anse Creuse. 12-5, to open the Kirk tourney. Haggarty and Jim Dara paced the 13-year-olds' attack with two singles each Haggarty added a sacrifice fly Tom Fellows provided a long two-run double in the first inning that put the Farms-City on top to stay shortstop. Winning pitcher Steve Gedman struck out five while allowing only three hits

In the second game, strong pitching by Rick Leonard and Kraushaar paced the Farms-City to a 7-4 win over the Park Leonard pitched five strong innings before needing relief help from Kraushaar in the sixth inning. Dave Fellows, Tom Fellows and Ted Kolp and the Farms City offensive attack led the Farms-City offensive attack.

Dave Fellows had three singles and two RBI including a big two-run single in the sixth inning. Kolp had two singles and two RBI, while Tom Fellows had two singles and one RBI. Outtheir win. Shaheen, Arnold and Cimini each had two hits for the Park.

The Park came through the loser's bracket to meet the Farms-City in the championship game. The Park had to beat the Farms-City twice to win the district title and the Farms-City needed just one win to capture the double elimination tournament. In the game, both teams played well. but the Farms-City held on to win, 5-4. Dave and Tom Fellows and Kolp again led the Farms-City with two hits each.

Strong pitching by Jason Colegrove. Scott Tucker and Steve Gedman proved to be the difference in the game. Tucker pitched four strong innings in inning with two on and two out to pick up the save. Jerry Henry played an outstanding game at second base, handling several chances well. Shaheen, Arnold and Sabello paced the Park with two hits each. With this vic-tory in the district tournament, the Farms-City advances to the state tournament in St. Clair.

The 13-year-old Farms-City All-Star team members are Andre Bielski, Jim Dara, Jason Colegrove, Ted Kolp, Dave Fellows, Tom Fellows. Rick Leonard, Tim Nugent, Steve Gedman. Scott Tucker. Kirk Haggarty. Jerry Henry. Brady Kraushaar. Dressage Day, a hot time in the old town

Unfortunately, the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club's long-awaited, July 17 Dressage Day also hap-pened to be the hottest day of the year to date. Fortunately, the heat and humidity did nothing to wilt the spirits of either spectators or participants in what turned out to be a most successful horse show

According to Dressage Day public relations person Betty Anderson, the Hunt Club's first dressage show ever and its first major horse show since 1974, was "a great success."

"Everyone connected with the show was very happy in every way. They had more people wanting to participate in the exhibition than they could Attendance was about what organizers expected, Miss Anderson added. A capacity crowd filled the dining room and the international caliber exhibition had the tennis lounge packed, as well. "People really were pleased with the event. I heard lots of compliments from all over," Miss Anderson said.

Riders of an international caliber participated in an exhibition in the Club's indoor ring. The exhibition featured Judy Bird, on The Maestro; Deeann Cramer, on Adagio; Scott Peterson, on The Celebration; and Curtis Sage. on Sunny.

Horses and riders in 16 classes participated in the dressage schooling show held from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

At one point during the schooling show the temperature was high event, the temperature was high enough to prompt officials to allow participants to shed the formal coats and hats worn in competition.

By Earl W. Duignan

When Grosse Pointe Woods opened its Lake Front Swimming Association summer season with a relay meet at the Shores park, prospects for a successful dual meet season appeared dim. But after three dual meet encounters, the Woods team finds itself perched atop the summer league standings with a perfect 3-0 record.

Following the season-opening thriller with St Clair Shores, the young Woods swimmers have added two im pressive dual meet victories against the Farms and the City. The Farms victory was a road contest who Woods won, 248 2001

After the Woods captured two of the three medley relays to begin the Farms meet, the two teams exchanged the lead several times during the free style events. The six Woods free style winners included John Gaul (8 and under). Heidi Mader (10 and under). Jeff Williams and Katie Young (12 and under) and Mike Woods and Ann Verona (14 and under). After the Young victory, the Woods gained permanent possession of first place.

During the backstroke events, the Woods began to gradually increase its slim, four-point lead by capturing eight of the 10 races. Peter Ellison and Rachel Robichaud won both the 8 and under events. Steve Swan gained a split of the two 10 and under contests nd both 12 and under contests went to the Woods as first Paul Wilson and then Laura Verona touched first. In the 14 and under competition, D. Farrell emerged with a win, as did the 17

In the breaststroke competition, the Woods dropped the boys' 10 and under event before the trio of Lisa Williams in and under). Wilson and Nancy Woods +12 and under) reeled off three consecutive victories to regain the nomentum. Woods then completed a double by taking the 14 and under event, while her older brother Mike and Sarah Robiehaud swept the 17 and under bracket and under tandem of Erich Zimmer-man and Anne Vanker

The fly events began with the vistors holding a 25-point lead and five successive Woods victories. The winners included Matt Purcell and Heidi Mader (10 and under), Jeff Williams and Laura Verona (12 and under) and John Bourget (14 and under). The final Woods fly win went to Bill Luberto in the 17 and under class.

43 events went into the Woods' win visitors registering wins in each of the final three relay events to complete the scoring.

> Following a three day break, the Woods returned to its home pool to entertain the City team. The Woods established an early lead by winning all three medley relay events at the start of the meet and never trailed on its way to a hard-fought 245-217 victory. The meet was a finishing judge's nightmare as 14 of the 43 events contested were decided by less than a one second interval between the first and second place finishers. Eleven of those photo finishes were captured by the Woods, as the home team emerged victorious in 28 races. The Woods received an especially strong performance from its 12 and under contingent. as that group touched first in all 10 of its events

The home team maintained a 16point advantage through the free-style events by breaking even in the 10 races. Winners included Rachel Robicahud (8 and under), Purcell (10 and under). Jeff Williams and Kathy Kish (12 and under) and Bourget (14 and under).

The backstroke proved to be the Woods' strongest stroke category. The home team added 10 points to its lead on the strength of eight wins in 10 contests. Robichaud captured her second win, while John Cartwright and Kelly Duignan recorded wins in the 10 and under competition

The Woods also captured both 12 and under and 14 and under age brackets as Wilson, Laura Verona, Mike Brykalski and Kish captured first place honors. Andrea Francis won the final backstroke event in the 17 and under age bracket. With the Woods holding a 26-point standoff. Five of the eight breast-stroke events went to the Woods as Lisa Williams (10 and under). Jeff Williams and Nancy Woods (12 and under) and Paul Sweany and Nancy Woods (14 and under) posted wins. The Woods and the City split the fly events with the Woods winning the 10 and under and 12 and under age brackets. Winners included Cartwright and Mader, and Wilson and Laura Verona, respectively The Woods closed out the meet by capturing the final three relay events.

Still in there pitching

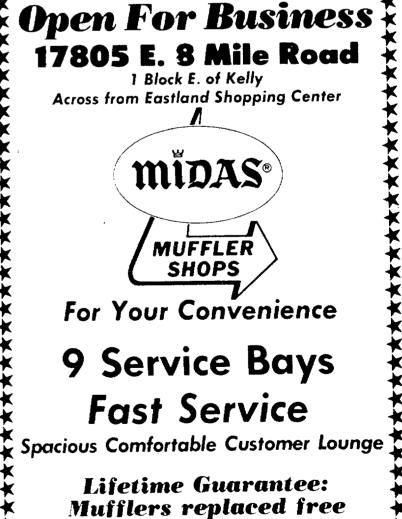

Although that hefty brace on his leg is proof of the fact that he hasn't been able to pitch for the Tigers lately. Dave Rozema had no trouble with his throwing-out-the-first-ball duties at a Park Little League game last week. Pictured with Rozema are Doug Lucas, left, of the Jim Saros Agency Cardinals, and Marty Saad, of the Orioles. Rozema may soon be a familiar face in these parts, he recently joined fellow Tiger Kirk Gibson as a Park resident.

The Grosse Pointe Woods-Shores Babe Ruth tournament team captured the District 2 championship of 14 and 15-year olds by defeating Grosse Pointe Park, 28-6, on July 13 at L'Anse Creuse High School. The win gave the Woods Shores squad its 10th district title in 11 years.

The Woods-Shores team will advance to state tournament competition at Iron Mountain beginning this Saturday, July 24.

Starting and winning pitcher Craig Engel was given great offensive sup-port against the Park by his teammates' 22-hit attack, featuring a grand slam homer by first baseman Greg Kort The homer was Kort's second of the tournament. Lefthander Dave Waldeck hurled the final three innings in relief while third baseman John

High scoring for All-Stars

The annual post-season Farms-City AAA All-Star game was a wild and woolly affair, with the East squad (Hollywood, Louisville, Memphis, Newark and San Antonio) outlasting the West (Denver, Hawaii, Phoenix and Portland), 16-11.

Denver's Andy Bryant held the East to two runs in the first two innings. while Hawaii's Ilya Snyder allowed the West just three Then the hitters took charge for both teams, scoring 21 runs in the third and fourth innings The pitchers regained control, however, when Portland's Andy Walker came in to snuff out the East rally and Louisville southpaw David Grundman blanked the West for the last two and

Life on the high seas suits her just fine

Shirley (Stoetzer) Fortune doesn't exactly have sailing in her blood. In fact, she managed to grow up in boat-crazed Grosse Pointe, just a few blocks from Lake St. Clair, without ever setting foot on a sail boat, or any other watercraft save the Boblo cruiser for that matter.

That was before she met, and fell for, Rob Fortune. Since then, Shirley has spent more time sailing than doing about anything else. And she's as worthy a seamate as you could find. She and Rob have spent most of their 16year marriage living aboard one ketch or another and, despite rolling waves or high winds, Shirley entertains with calm and grace as if she were comfortably nestled in her parents' McKinley Road

Courses in survival medicine, yacht handling and gourmet cook-ing have prepared her well for her role as hostess on the Maranatha. the 54-foot twin masted scooner she and Rob sailed up from the Caribbean this year to fill a glar-ing hole in Michigan's summer recreation industry — cruising, in high style, on the Great Lakes.

The Maranatha was a dream come true for the Fortunes. They commissioned the boat in 1977 with a hull designed by Robert Perry and interior design by Rob, who supervised the construction of the boat for three months in Taiwan.

The Maranatha is docked now at the foot of Harding on Detroit's east side after a season of cruising the Virgin Islands. The couple is offering northerners the same style of island-hopping entertain-ment enjoyed by many in the Caribbean.

Their "Caribbean Sampler" cruise starts at $75 per person for a gourmet dinner sail in Lake St. Clair. A full day on the boat, with lunch and dinner, is $125 per person. But the Fortunes are flexible and will take customers as far as the Georgian Bay's north channel, and Lake Erie Islands or Chicago for a higher price. (Call 463-8629 for information.)

Shirley does the cooking and her menues for six people match anything that can be found in Detroit's finer restaurants. Shrimpstuffed artichokes, duckling a l'orange with wild rice, wines, salads and strawberries cardinal for dessert is an example.

The Maranatha sleeps six and features many extras such as fishing and snorkling gear, a row boat, sport boat, and barbecue, stereo system and shower on

Captain Rob learned to love the water growing up around the small lakes in the Birmingham area and he learned to master it in the U.S. Navy. He is enthusiastic about "sharing our wonderful way of life" with Shirley takes her life on the high seas in stride. "It's certainly not for everybody. I don't think everyone could stick it out," she says. "But I love my husband and as long as he's here, I'll be here

Farms unit marks 15 years of service

Tomorrow marks the 15th anniversary of the Grosse Pointe Farms Communications Support Unit, formed by concerned residents during the Detroit riots of 1967. At that time, citizens with car equipped CB radio units offered their services to the police department as extra eyes and ears during those difficult times. A base station was set up in the police station and volunteers were stationed at strategic areas leading into the Farms.

The unit didn't disband after the riots, but continued to serve their community. During their tenure, the group has helped police keep an eye out for arsonists, burglars and vandals during Devils Night. On Halloween, the volunteers patrol the streets to watch over the community's children. The men in the group do not take personal action in situations, but act as surveillance units for the police. Reports are directed to the police dispatcher, who then directs scout cars to the scene.

The unit, under the direction of Farms Sgt. Joseph E. Miller, is on the look out for new members. Persons interested in offering their services to the city should contact Sgt. Miller at the Farms police station at 885-2100.

City pays its bills

The Grosse Pointe City Council approved invoices for more than $37,000 in supplies and services at its Monday, June 21 meeting.

Included were $21,362 for sewage disposal for the month of May and an extra $2,456 for commercial sewage services, both paid to the city of Detroit. The council also approved payment of $5,599 to its law firm Fildew, Hinks, Gilbride, Miller and Todd for legal services during the quarter end-

The council paid George Jerome and Company $2,729 for engineering services pertaining to its 1981 street resurfacing program and work in the alley south of Mack Avenue. Cornille Fuel and Supply, Inc. received $1,438 for water and sewer service repair and Best Manufacturing Co. was paid $1,583 for its work on renovation of the Neff Park bathhouse shower. Finally, Hydro Dynamics was paid $2,293 for repairs at the Neff Pump station.

Shirley Stoetzer Fortune (below) relaxes down below in the Maranatha, a 54-foot twin masted sailboat she and husband Rob (above) brought up this year from the Virgin Islands where they run a charter cruise business. The couple is offering "Caribbean Sampler" cruises of the Great Lakes that begin at $75 per person for a gourmet dinner sail. Shirley is a Grosse Pointe native who grew up on McKinley Road.

Interns nominated for award

Charles Stoyka and Carole Stines of Grosse Pointe Woods have turned a 'capitol" idea into a nomination for a prestigious award at Michigan State University. Stoyka and Ms. Stines, who both served as legislative aides in the State Legislature, were nominated for the Daniel Rosenthal Memorial Scholarship given to the outstanding legislative aide. Thirteen MSU students were nominated for this year's award. All nominees were recognized by House Speaker Bobby Crim at a recent House session.

The award was established by Mr. and Mrs. Avram Rosenthal of Livonia in honor of their son Daniel, who died in June of 1977. Daniel was one of the first to volunteer in the legislative aide program organized through MSU's Service Learning Center (SLC). The annual award provides $200 to each year's outstanding aide.

This year's winner was Susan Zimmerman of Lansing, a legislative aide to Sen. William Sederburg. Stoyka, an MSU senior, served as an aide to Rep. Marvin Knight, R-Muskegon. His main duties included research and helping with constitutency problems.

"Chuck did an excellent job, plus he was quite personable," Knight said "I could always count on his reliability. interest and ambition.

Ms. Stines aided Sen. Jackie Vaughn, D-Detroit During her internship, she appeared before a Senate hearing and fielded questions pertaining to the right of 18 to 20-year-olds to run for public office. The bill, introduced by Sen. Vaughn, passed the Senate and has moved on to the House.

"I was extremely pleased with Carole's work," Vaughn said. "It took quality research to answer questions from the Senate floor. She has a good analytical mind."

The Harden Story

It all began in the winter of 1865 when Harden settlers started producing Windsor Chairs of exceptional quality. Today, descendants of these same pioneers in woodcrafting can be found working throughout the Harden Factories.

Quality, durability and superior craftsmanship, ballmark features of Harden Furniture, are still the watch-words of every Harden employee.

And because each employee is encouraged to reject any component at any time, Harden bas virtually a factory full of inspectors. Any item you select will be the very best available.

This tradition of Harden quality is your assurance of lasting value to be realized during this sale.

Harden, to be banded down from generation to generation.
