Lucas: 'I've been taking the heat for 14 years'

 always required a great deal of dedication and integrity. I think I've demonstrated my leadership abilities when my employes last year served eight months without pay.

These charges that I'm a poor administrator seem to be heard more and more often the closer we get to the election. During the 14 years I've been sheriff, we haven't heard these allegations. I administer a $35 to $40 million budget and the jail is the only one out of four divisions I supervise that has an overtime problem. The real problem there is phony funding by the Board of Commissioners. They can limit my funds, but they can't limit the number of prisoners I'm charged with caring for.

Q. What kind of campaign are you running?

A. I can assure you I'm not spending as much as Mr. McNamara, but I hope to raise close to $200,000. We're taking a personal approach and an imaginative one. I've committed myself to walking in every community in Wayne County to prove that I'm interested enough to put myself on the line and to make people aware that no one is being written off, that no one's vote is taken for granted.

We've hired a helicopter, issued baby bumper stickers and have volunteers working in a half-dozen stations in the county. I have the largest volunteer staff in the county.

Bounding over bountiful waves

Although the summer is nearly half over, there's still time to choose a cruise for those romantics among you who desire to wine and dine among the waves.

Sparky Herbert's, in the Park, is offering dinner cruises aboard the 106 foot long Helene, considered by many to be the "Queen of the Great Lakes."

Upon boarding, each couple will be presented with a complimentary bottle of champagne and be served appetizers as the Detroit-Windsor skyline slip by. Later in the evening, a buffet

Q. Do you favor the tax question on the ballot or other measures to balance the budget?

A. I don't favor it. Wayne County is $17 million in debt, they tell us, but the books haven't been audited for 22 years. We don't really know how much we owe. Before we ask for additional taxes, we really ought to know. And we ought to make every effort to live within what we've got. We must recognize the financial facts of life for people in this area.

There are cost-cutting measures that can be taken — the consolidation of departments, eliminating overlapping services, and the like. Elimination of some of the commissioners will save money and so will consolidation of county offices in one building. Just the fact there will be one person with knowledge of all county finances will be a help. There is no one now to oversee the entire county budget, no one to provide the checks and balances, no one to veto expenditures.

Q. What's your stand on the Road Commission and its new union?

A. I've taken a reasoned approach to the Road Commission because I don't see them as the great bugaboo everyone else sees them as — the unshakable, unmutable powers. The charter gives the CEO appointive power over the Road Commission and it seems logical that the new CEO will appoint people that share his viewpoint.

dinner of shrimp scallops, crab claws and beef tenderloin tips will be presented on the fantail.

Cruises on the "Helene" are scheduled for 6 and 10 p.m. Price per couple is $100. Rick Johnson, booking agent for Sparky Herbert's, reports the cruises have been very popular. For reservations and information, contact him at 822-0266. There is a 15 couple limit.

Good food and sailing entertainment is offered by Rob and Shirley Fortune, owners and operators of the Maranatha, a 55-foot twin masted schooner constructed in Taiwan.

Rick and Shirley are flexible, and will take patrons as far as Georgian Bay, the Lake Erie Islands or Chicago for a higher fee. Call 463-8629.

It's now possible to dial at least 64 foreign countries from the United States.

The union may be found to be illegal. If it is not, we'll have to deal with it, making sure every position is necessary. A management study committee I will appoint will review every job specification and every worker to assess if they are needed.

I have no intention of just creating a second strata of management by appointing new people over the current managers. Wayne County can't afford it and I believe many people recognize the survival of the county depends on everybody working together. They'll make a direct contribution — through personal persuasion — to making the county run more effectively. If an individual is not fulfilling his duty, he will be removed.

Q. Outline your plan for reorganizing county departments

A. The first think that must be done is to ascertain the financial condition of the county by employing CPA firms to identify what our debts and assets are. I also will employ an outside professional team of management specialists to determine how our over 900 employe classifications can be streamlined, to determine the proper pay level for jobs, and assess the value of jobs we have now. The personnel director will set standards for employment, promotions, dismissals, etc.

We also must set a tough ethics code to deal with the credibility of the county in the public's mind. It has suffered because of nepotism and special interests. Recommendations about department mergers or elimination will come only after a study has been done to see what kind of reorganization plan the experts think is best. I would like the input of persons who are trained in reorganizing management systems. I will then be the judge of what is practical and what can be implemented.

Q. What can be done about the civil service system?

A. I think the charter addresses that well. The three civil service commissioners will be relegated to an appeals board.

In the sheriff's department I sat in on every interview with employes for the first three years. And, as a result, the 260 deputies in the department showed their dedication by making a great sacrifice to work eight months without pay. These are people who grew up in the "me" generation.

They showed remarkable dedication.

Q. What kind of relationship do you expect between the new Board of Commissioners and CEO?

A. Politicians are very adjustable. When they see the facts of life, they'll understand there's going to be a significant change. Up until last year, I was considered to be a very mild-mannered man by the Board of Commissioners. Now they say I'm a raging tiger. We got along for the first 13 years and I think we can again. We are elected to work together. The county can't afford separation and division.

Q. Do you have anything else to add?

A. Just that this is a tremendous county. It has all the necessary ingredients for greatness. Mine is the largest staff and department in the county headed by an elected official. I've been on the firing line for 14 years and I've never shirked my responsibility. When you hear talk about management abilities, I submit people who make those allegations should come down and look at the jail and see how it's run.

Correction

Last week's article on grants to the Children's Home of Detroit should have said the McGregor Fund grant of $18,000 will be used to replace the 32-year-old furnaces in the six children's cottages and to update the heating system.

In last week's story, "Woods gets first Neighborhood Watch," the president of the Country Club Woods Progressive Association was incorrectly identified as Richard Browksi. Michael Slomski is the association's president.

War Memorial presents Evening in Vienna

By Irene Moran

The Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival's "Evening in Vienna" concert was held Wednesday, July 21, in the Fries Auditorium of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center. The program featured soprano Elizabeth Parcells and the Ann Arbor Chamber Orchestra conducted by Carl Daehler.

Miss Parcells, a very capable coloratura, demonstrated remarkable technique and control. Her program consisted of two Mozart concert arias; "Ah se ciel, benigno stels," K. 538 and "Vivrai sempre di Dio," K. 418.

After intermission she appeared in a black lace trimmed gown, holding a fashionable fan "After all, this is Vienna," she said. Her program continued with Zerbinetta's Recitative and Aria "Grossmachtige Prinzessin" from R. Strauss' Ariadne auf Naxos, Op. 60, and closed with two waltzes by J. Strauss, Jr., "Voices of Spring" and "The Blue Danube" which was a Daehler-Parcells arrangement with Parcells singing her own cadenzas.

While the audience cheered her performance, Miss Parcells was presented a bouquet of red roses by her father Charles A. Parcells, Jr., who shared the sentiment with his wife Frances and family.

For her encores, after first topping her head with a saucy red plume, she sang "The Laughing Song" of Adele (the slightly inebriated chamber maid who tries to pass herself off as a lady) from Die Fledermaus by Johann Strauss, Jr., and "The Doll Song" from Tales of Hoffman by Jacques Offenbach.

The soprano's acting ability excelled in the roles. She attributed her drama training to Sally Reynolds of the Grosse Pointe Children's Theatre at the War Memorial.

A native of Grosse Pointe, Miss Parcells' early training was with Elsie Inselman. She is a graduate of the Interlochen Arts Academy at the Interlochen Center for the Arts and earned her Bachelor and Master Degrees at the New England Conservatory in Boston where she studied with Mark Pearson.

Miss Parcells will return to Germany in August where she has worked in opera houses for several years. She will appear in new productions of "Don Pasquale" as Norina in Wiesbaden with the Hessen State Opera and as OLYMPIA IN Offenbach's Tales of Hoffman.

She will also view a previously taped appearance on a ZDF television program called "Erkennen Sie die Melodie" ("Name That Tune"). This fall she will again appear with the Boston Lyric Opera in the role of Zerbinetta in R. Strauss' Ariadne auf Naxos.

The Ann Arbor Chamber Orchestra opened the concert with Haydn's Overture "Lo Speziale." Other program selections included six of Beethoven's 12 Contratanze and two dance pieces, the "Jockey Polka" by Josef Strauss and the "Pizzicato Polka" by Josef and his brother Johann Strauss, Jr.

Daehler and his orchestra gave Miss Parcells able support and again proved their skills in recreating the vitality of 18th century music-making.

The orchestra will open its 1982-83 subscription series on Oct. 2 with performances at Albion and Hillsdale Colleges and other points. It will also be featured at the March Spring Festival in Holland, Michigan.

After the performance, festival guests gathered at a reception honoring the artists in the Fries Crystal Ballroom. Pleased with the concert's success, Alex Sucek said: "You can't beat home-town talent — It's a great feeling!"

"Especially when they become as good as Elizabeth," added Hixie (Mrs. Sterling S.) Sanford, festival general chairman.

Melitta Roemer who has known Miss Parcells since she was a child said: "She sang beautifully, and compares very well with the best I've ever heard."

William Y. Gard and his wife Nancy agreed, saying, "Each time we hear and see Betsy she's more spectacular than the time before — and the orchestra is always good."

Felix Resnick, conductor of the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra recalls when Elizabeth was guest artist with the orchestra about seven years ago. "I was utterly impressed by her singing at that time and to see how she has developed since is thrilling to me."

Resnick's wife Fay Ann added, "It's very moving to see such grace and warmth, and her voice was like liquid silver."

"Miss Parcells has a magnificent career ahead of her and I enjoyed the orchestra very much," said Paula Preuthun.

The Music Festival closed its season last night with a performance by the Royal Canadian Legion Concert Band.

Steinhauer, medical director of Satellite and Health Maintenance Organization Programs for Henry Ford Hospital, is among the first physicians in the country to be awarded membership in the American College of Physician Executives. The award is in recognition of excellence in medical practice and management of health care organizations.

He received his M.D. from Harvard in 1959, completing both his internship and residency at Boston City Hospital. He was a captain in the Medical Corps of the U.S. Army and served as chief of medicine at the Seoul, Korea, Military Hospital in 1962.

GP Theatre plans Fisher Road open house

The Grosse Pointe Theatre, celebrating the grand opening of its new home, invites the community to an open house on Sunday, Aug. 8, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. at 315 Fisher Road. A ribbon-cutting ceremony is scheduled at 2 p.m.

The opening comes after 10 months of restoration and remodeling of the building that once housed the Grosse Pointe Nursing Home. The building has been abandoned for two and a half years prior to its purchase by the theater group.

Grosse Pointe Theatre was allowed to buy the building after Grosse Pointe City's council rewrote its zoning ordinance last August. The zoning amendments allowed the special use in the City's RIA districts for private, non-profit theater facilities "subject to use, locational and design standards."

The amendment barred the group from putting on productions in the building, among other restrictions.

The theater group plans to use the building as a rehearsal facility with storage and meeting space. A main rehearsal hall has been created by the removal of 13 separate patient care rooms and bathrooms.

The search for a new home began in April, 1981, when the group lost the space it occupied at the Grosse Pointe Academy's Lakeshore Building because the school's board of trustees wanted to use the building for a "broader community use." A subsequent bid to purchase the Old Kerby School in Grosse Pointe Farms also failed when the building was sold to the Farms for additional parking spaces around Farms municipal offices.

The 35-year old theater group produces five plays each year for about 3,500 season ticket holders. The productions are held at the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium. The group's first show of the new season, "Dames At Sea," will begin rehearsal in their new home shortly after Labor Day.

Ravitz: 'Neither opponent is politically free'

Board of Supervisors and we created a citizens committee to research the idea of a home rule county and put it on the ballot. (It was defeated.)

I don't believe either of the leading candidates — Bill Lucas or Ed McNamara — will be sufficiently free, politically, to do the job. I also do not think the sheriff has the administrative skills to do the job. Both candidates are tied to political forces which have run this county into the ground. The sheriff is tied to his own union and various AFL-CIO entities. McNamara is Mayor Young's first choice as candidate and he's endorsed by the UAW's Buddy Battle, Region One Director. McNamara also has ties to Bard Young, who runs the Road Commission and has endorsed him, too. No one is going to convince me that if Ed McNamara is elected, Bard Young isn't going to continue to have a hand in the Road Commission.

Q. What kind of campaign are you running?

A. An inexpensive one. We have not raised $20,000 and the other two have raised close to $200,000. We're counting on my high name recognition and impeccable reputation for honesty. If people are indeed fed up with cronyism and connivery, they will vote for me.

Q. Do you favor the tax increase on the ballot?

A. I don't think that's the approach to take. It was dodge on the part of the commission. They shirked their responsibility. There's no way it will be approved. There will be no increase in support by taxpayers until there is belief that the county is well run.

Q. How can the budget be balanced?

A. A number of ways. There should be tighter screening of those people who come to Wayne County General Hospital for treatment. Taking on the question of exactly what to do with the hospital in the long run will take some time. The county's "M" building should be closed, at a savings of $2.5 million, and the 250 prisoners should be sent to the county jail. We need to go back to court for permission to selectively place two persons in a cell.

The major budget-balancing method, however, for next year is dealing with the unions. Either lay off 300 to 400 people or seek concessions from the 4,000 employees. I'd rather see the latter because I'd hate to see further layoffs. There are many good people working for the county and all are not getting huge paychecks. The new CEO is going to have to be prepared, however, to take a strike.

Q. How will you deal with the Road Commission and its new union?

A. I will be seen as the Democratic candidate least wanted by the Road Commission. I am the only one with no ties to any of them.

My first task would be to find three strong uncorruptible commissioners to run the commission. It will become, for the first time, part of the county instead of wagging the county itself. Their contracts must be examined and a look taken at contributions to candidates to see to what extent Road Commission beneficiaries have contributed to their campaigns.

The union was formed by workers who didn't have sufficient confidence in their own merit to let the chips fall where they will. I will ignore the union.

Q. Outline your plan for reorganizing county government.

A. I think that's premature. I can tell you a few obvious things. The rest will be done after a performance audit is completed, as well as a financial audit.

The Department of Public Works, which was created in order to make a couple of more top jobs, should be joined with the Road Commission. The county's substance abuse program should become part of the Mental Health Board. The CEO must look at the executive-administrative complex. There are currently three county auditor offices, with secretaries and aids, that should be consolidated. The Register of Deeds and County Clerk's offices should be merged.

Q. What can be done about the civil service system?

A. Civil Service becomes the personnel department. The most notorious feature that must be eliminated is the provisional appointment (when an employee is brought in to do a job and then later, a job specification is designed to specifically fit that person's qualifications.)

The most important thing that must happen is for the public to become convinced the person running the county is above reproach. It must be done quickly — a millage renewal is coming up next fall. A public review system should be established and it must be done quickly. This may be our last chance to make this third largest county in the country work.

Q. Anything else to add?

A. The overriding issue is the question of who is going to control Wayne County government. The same faces are behind the two candidates that have been behind the downfall of the county.

know you all can sing so beautifully."

The philosophy behind the class is to build self-esteem, Mrs. Onychuk says. "You should see how they have been boosting each other's morale."

Each student had to audition for his or her part. All but one of the students had stage experience. "She was hesitant at first, but when she saw the others, she fitted right in," Mrs. Onychuk boasts. "She's a real trooper now. You think she had it in her blood."

"Who Can Make the Princess Talk?" was written by Alfred Slote. The play's lyricist and composer Dianne Baker is a native of Ann Arbor. The play is about a king's daughter who refuses to speak anymore. The local townspeople try frantically to solve the dilemma with dancing, juggling and magic acts.

The class was involved in all aspects of the production — from make-up and costumes to program cover designs and voting for leading parts.

"Many parents put their children in the class because they aren't able to during the regular school year," Mrs. Onychuk said. "We have had good comments from parents. The kids learn a lot of self-discipline."

The music suddenly stops in Room A-13 and the voices on the stage diminuendo to a quiet hush.

"Okay, princess. You are going to have to learn your lines a little better," says the voice from behind the piano. "I'll help you after class, okay?"

This morning the young actors and actresses will premiere their production before parents and friends. But it's already evident that 9-year-old Yohanna Sucezek, the play's magician, would like to see herself on stage in years to come.

"It's fun to get up on stage and act," she says. "When I grow up I want to be an opera star. It doesn't matter what part you get. It's how much you put into it."

Ferry school student Christy Safron, her dark hair pulled back into a neat bun and sporting red lipstick and blue eye shadow, is the play's ballerina who tries to make the princess talk with her graceful movements.

"I learned how to be in a play. I like it very much." Her voice lowers to a whisper. "I would like to be in a lot of movies as a ballerina dancer."

A quart of beer a day was supposed to be the ration to each American soldier fighting in the Revolution. The Continental Congress so decreed it.

Bon Secours Hospital recently received 10 child restraint seats for its community loan program from the Automobile Club of Michigan. Auto Club's Grosse Pointe Administrative Manager Nita Capitan (right) presented the seats to Judy DeLaby, R.N., head nurse of the hospital's Labor and Delivery department. The Auto Club is donating 600 child restraints to community loan programs statewide. Since April 1, Michigan law has required all infant car passengers under age 1 to ride in an approved restraint. Youngsters older than 1 but younger than 4 must be in an approved restraint while in the front seat. Back seat riders between 1 and 4 must use either a restraint or a seat belt.

Q. Should the state income tax increase be continued this fall?

A. I was against the tax increase this spring. It certainly came at the wrong time for many people in the state. I don't favor continuing it this fall. There have to be drastic cuts in state government. There are too many people running the government, too much fat. I don't believe past cuts in spending have been made in the right areas. Clerical jobs and similar functions should be put on the computer.

Q. Do you favor use of state funds for abortions?

A. I am opposed to the use of state funds for abortion and opposed to abortion at all unless the situation is deemed to be life-threatening.

Q. Do you favor the death penalty?

A. Yes, I do favor it.

Q. What could you do as senator to improve employment opportunities?

A. Worker's compensation laws must be reformed. The changes made earlier this year were a step in the right direction, but we still see a lot of firms packing up and leaving the state because our costs are so high. I think the stature of limitations on collecting from your employer should be set from two to three years.

To improve the general economy I'd like to see a real sales campaign promoting our tourist industry and parks and recreation system. I'd like to see more events like the Grand Prix, Superbowl and Michigan 500 that give people from outside the state a positive impression of our area.

Q. Do you support the property tax as the best tool to finance education?

A. When a man puts a personal investment in his home and is penalized by an increase in his assessment, I think something's wrong. I'd like to see his tax assessment reduced under those circumstances so there is some incentive to improve property. I think the property tax as far as education goes should be reviewed on a region-by-region basis. In Grosse Pointe, for instance, I think it's the best way to fund education.

Q. What do you think about Reagan's new federalism?

A. I favor it. The states are certainly more aware of their own problems than the federal government is and can better make decisions about how to deal with them. Someone in Washington certainly doesn't have that close touch with local issues.

Interview with CEO hopeful Stearnes, Republican

Q. Why are you running for office?

A. I've administered businesses with 60 employees, negotiated contracts and handled the books. I attend Wayne County Board of Commissioners meetings in my current job and I see their problems. I decided, after watching the operation, that I was tired of seeing things mismanaged. If you know where the problems are, as I do, you can come up with solutions.

Q. How would you go about balancing the county budget?

A. In 1974, Wayne County had a payroll of $90 million and between 7,000 and 8,000 employees. Today it has half the number of employees and a $122 million payroll. This is the highest paid government in the nation. I suggest we reduce entry level salaries by 20 percent. That way we'd still be in line with private industry. The county is starting people out of high school at $17,000 to $20,000.

I'd also make sure the county has adequate malpractice insurance and legal counsel, which it doesn't have for the hospital or the jail. The insurance should be a self-funded program. There are a lot of little holes in the bucket when it comes to the county budget. I think if you plug all those little holes, we'd be all set in terms of the budget. Other candidates are trading jobs for voters. I don't believe in that. There are a lot of brains working in the county, we just have to put them to work.

30, they just extended them for another year. I can't believe they didn't use that moment, that hammer, to win concessions. The $17 million deficit remains.

Q. How will you handle Road Commission and its new union?

A. Everybody got a free ride on that union. There is no reason we can't get the Road Commission to rewrite the job descriptions of those workers and reduce their pay scales. I'd like to get rid of those people who are costing the county millions. George Young, for instance, a bartender came to the county as a civil defense director at $19,000 a year and next thing I know, he's running the Road Commission's community relations department at $42,000 a year. I believe by twisting the arms of these appointed Road Commissioners, the CEO can get them to perform. The present members should be retained only if they follow orders.

Cottage appoints assistant manager

Judy A. Zimbalist has joined the Cottage Hospital staff as an assistant administrator, hospital administrator Ralph Wilgarde announced last week.

Zimbalist completed her undergraduate degree in Human Development with honors and earned her Master of Business Administration degree and a Sloan Certificate in Hospital and Health Services Administration at Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y.

She assumes responsibility for the Speech Therapy, Occupational Therapy, Physical Therapy and Cardiorespiratory services departments as well as for the management information systems.

A native of Wilmette, Ill., Zimbalist was a senior health planner for New York State Health Planning Commission at Albany, N.Y. for two years. She also has been a research associate in health care management consulting for a private firm in Washington, D.C.

Taxi rides for seniors in Woods

The city of Grosse Pointe Woods is working on the implementation of a program that will provide a taxi service for senior citizens.

The City Council, at its June 21 meeting approved the Senior Citizen Commission's request to have the city develop a program to utilize taxis for senior citizens.

The program would allow seniors, 60-year-old and older to ride in a cab to any destination, and the city will pay the first $2 of the fare. The senior only needs to identify himself as a resident of the Woods, and his age. Michigan driver's license, Michigan identification card or Woods park pass may be used for identification.

The program will be funded by SEMTA with $2,013. This will provide about 1,000 rides.

Administrative Assistant Gerald McNamara said the Commission must find a cab company which will cooperate with the city, count the number of eligible seniors and present this information to the council for final approval before the service will be available to residents.

Q. What kind of campaign are you running?

A. It's self-financed and I plan to spend about $12,000. I am using newspaper ads, signs on buses and in neighborhoods. I have not gone out after endorsements from groups or individuals. It's my money and I'm free to do what I want to do. I can sit up there, if I'm elected, and represent the taxpayers at the negotiating table with the unions. As for the other candidates, you've got Democrats, endorsed by the unions on one side of the bargaining tables and the unions on the other side. Who's representing us?

Q. Do you support income tax increase?

A. No and I don't think it will pass. I was appalled that out of three alternatives — concessions from workers, layoffs, or the income tax — the commissioners picked that. They didn't even go after the concessions or layoffs when the contracts expired June use of insanity as defense and allowing prior records to be introduced as evidence.) I think the budget will be another major issue.

State Rep. Stopczynski

Q. Should the state income tax increase be continued this fall?

A. I voted "no" five times on the tax and I was present for all the votes. I believe it will be brought up again and I'll vote against it. There are more cuts that can be made. You hear the state has cut $560 million out of the budget but that's not true. They cut more like $65 million and the rest was redistributed or laid over. Go back to 1965, the state had 20,000 employees. Now it has 70,000, not counting colleges and universities. That's where cuts can be made. Look at the department of Social Services. Their rate of error and fraud is 8 percent — that's $80 million more in savings.

Q. Do you favor use of state funds to pay for abortions?

A. No, I don't. The stance of the people in the area I represent is totally opposed to that. And that, by the way, is another $4.5 million in potential savings. I'm totally opposed to murder.

Q. Do you favor the death penalty?

A. I think it would be a deterrent to violent crime and I would vote for it. If a person does commit murder, he has lost all rights.

Q. What could you do as senator to improve employment opportunities?

A. I'm one of the "infamous 13" who voted for the worker's compensation legislation. The abuses there need to be corrected. I've also introduced legislation to protect businesses from "raider" companies which come into the state and take them over. I don't propose to have all the answers, but I can look at the issues with an open mind and deal with proposals effectively. I've also introduced a bill that would provide financial incentives to small businesses with hire unemployed.

Q. Do you favor the property tax as the best tool to finance education?

A. I don't think we can do away with the property tax, but I do think we can work on reductions. Senior citizens have to get more of a break. I supported efforts in the past to reduce the millage by 50 percent. I think the best way to balance that out is to increase the sales tax.

Q. What do you think about Reagan's new federalism?

A. I think it's a good idea to put programs in the states' hands. That way we can put tighter controls on some of the programs. There are federal restraints that prevent us now from doing that.

The state can do a better job of running programs. How does the federal government know about how we operate in our own area?

CITY OF GROSSE POINTE WOODS MICHIGAN

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City Council will hold a public hearing in accordance with the provisions of Section 6-12.5 of the 1975 City Code in the Council Court Room of the Municipal Building, 20025 Mack Plaza, Grosse Pointe Woods, on Monday evening, August 2, 1982, at 7:30 p.m. to hear the appeal of Albert R. Defever, 1200 North Renaud, who is appealing the denial of the Building Inspector to issue a driveway permit for such location. Dr. Defever proposes to construct a 13-foot wide concrete circular driveway at 1200 North Renaud. A driveway permit was denied because Section 6-12.3 of the 1975 City Code prohibits a paved parking area exceed 30% in coverage of the front yard area for a residential lot. Therefore, a variance is requested. All interested persons are urged to attend.

Frame named as chairman

Dr. Boy Frame, head of Henry Ford Hospital's Division of Bone and Mineral Metabolism, was recently elected Chairman of the Board of Governors of the American College of Physicians. A resident of Grosse Pointe and a previous governor for Michigan, Dr. Frame was also elected a member of the Executive Committee of the Board of Regents, the policy making body of the American College of Physicians. The College is concerned with the continuing medical education and health policy of more than 55,000 internists in North and South America.

Dr. Frame, who received his M.D. from Yale, joined Henry Ford Hospital in 1956. He is currently planning the Hospital Division's second international specialty symposium on Bone and Mineral Metabolism for May, 1983, called the Frances and Anthony D'Anna International Memorial Symposium. The event is expected to bring more than 500 researchers and practitioners from around the world to Henry Ford Hospital.

The Hospital's Division of Bone and Mineral Metabolism is the only bone center of its kind in Michigan and one of only 10 nationwide.

Shores officers cited for rescue

Two Shores public safety officers were nominated for the Village's Life-Saving award by Director Joseph Vitale for their rescue of an 82-year-old woman from her burning home.

Sgt. Stanley Otulakowski and Officer Bruce Darlington were patrolling the village about 11:30 p.m. on Friday, July 9, when they reported smelling smoke. Checking the area, they discovered smoke rising from a roof vent at 18 Greenbriar and called for fire units.

The officers approached the home, and found it smoke-filled. A neighbor told them the owner of the home was still inside. The officers kicked in the front door and found the woman in a rear bedroom and took her outside.

The cause of the fire, according to reports, is believed to be a bare wire in the wall of the home. The insulation from a 110 volt wire was believed to have been cut away while workers installed an alarm system in the home.

In a letter recommending the awards, Vitale said that by their actions, the two officers, "beyond a doubt saved the woman's life."

Roy, Lindow head traffic ass'n

Pointers Ross Roy and Donald A. Lindow were recently elected chairman of the board of trustees and board of directors, respectively, of the Traffic Association of Michigan, a non-profit educational organization that works to reduce traffic fatalities in the state.

Roy, chairman of Ross Roy, Inc., and Lindow, chairman of Michigan Mutual Insurance Company, join Ford executive Will Scott, National Bank of Detroit executive S. C. Broughton, and American Motors officer Richard A. Calmes, in leadership of the organization.

In his report to trustees and representatives of member companies, Lindow noted that the state's traffic fatality record has declined 23 percent so far this year, with 435 deaths recorded during the first five months compared to 536 for the same period last year. The Memorial Day weekend recorded the lowest loss of life in traffic accidents in Michigan in more than 20 years, Lindow said.

Park youth robbed

An 11-year-old Windmill Pointe Drive youth was robbed at knife-point earlier this month while he was driving his dirt bike in the Trombly Elementary School Parking lot, according to Park police reports.

Police Chief Henry Counce said the youth was driving in the lot at about 4 p.m. Sunday, July 18, when he was approached by two teenagers. One was carrying a jack knife, the chief said, and ordered the youth off the bike. The two teenagers drove away on the bike.

Class of 1972 plans reunion

The Grosse Pointe South High School Class of 1972 is planning its 10 year reunion for Saturday, Aug. 14, at Zuccaro's Country House on North Gratiot Avenue in Mt. Clemens.

Reunion organizers ask residents who have information on any 1972 graduate, especially those graduates who have relocated out of town, to call Sandy MacKenzie at 984-4668.

Tickets are $25 per person and include an open bar, dinner and dancing. Reservations will be accepted until Aug. 1.

Q&A with Robert FitzPatrick Republican CEO candidate

Q. Tell us why you are running for office and what qualifies you to be Wayne County's first executive.

A. Upon becoming chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners in 1971, one of the first things I called for was reorganization of county government. I made some 300 speeches during those years supporting it. I helped put the issue on the ballot in 1972 (it was defeated) and I also advocated the executive's job be non-partisan, which is consistent with my current position. (FitzPatrick filed for the primary on both Democratic and Republican ballots.)

Q. Do you favor the tax increase on the ballot?

A. I'm opposed to it. Next year, the county's one mill renewal is up for approval and I think this proposal jeopardizes that. Just the thought of seeking more funds for what citizens perceive to be the most inept government in the state is a mistake.

Q. How can the budget be balanced?

A. Mainly through consolidation of departments and changing pay scales so they're closer to entry level positions in private businesses. We have to talk about better management of the system instead of simply asking taxpayers to come up with more money.

Q. How will you deal with the Road Commission and its new union?

A. Any chief executive who comes in is going to have control over the Road Commission. They will have authority to appoint commissioners and that's that. That sweetheart contract should be nullified and people who voted for it should be asked to resign from office.

Q. Outline your plan for reorganizing county government.

A. There's an incredible amount of duplication in county government and that's something that can be dealt with quickly. There are three departments that hire engineers, for example, the Department of Public Works, Road Commission and Drain Commission. That's not sensible. The Register of Deeds and County Clerk's office could be merged. We need a new fiscal year for the county, too. Right now we're out of step with every other level of government and I think AFSCME has used that as a step ladder for contract negotiations by comparing their contract for one year to the new pay scales for the coming year in other government units.

We also need an actuarial study of the pension system. The county could be in real trouble on pensions in the near future.

After a certain period of time, the new executive officer also should go to the people for more charter amendments. The Drain Commission (protected under the new charter) must be eliminated and I believe voters should be asked if they want to make the county a non-partisan government, too.

I would veto the COLA payments elected officials get right off the bat. They average about $7,600 each. Wayne County General Hospital has to be looked at, too, to see if there's a better mechanism to operate that under. I also would ask to create the classification of deputy guard at the jail. Now they're using sheriff's deputies there. By creating the new classification, the jail's costs could be reduced by 40 percent.

Q. What can be done about the civil service system?

A. We must have uniformity in entry exams, and be sure there is an entry exam for all positions. We must be fair and equitable to all who apply. The whole system must be streamlined and a competent person put in charge of labor relations and contract negotiations.

Q. How do you expect to work with the new board of commissioners?

A. As chairman of the board I lost only a couple of votes in four years. The CEO, with the right to veto, will certainly have a forum to air issues as they haven't been aired before. I expect the new board will be an enlightened group that will contribute to the reform process.

Q. Is there anything else you'd like to add?

A. Yes, I think private sector jobs should be the number one issue in this campaign. We can't have improved public service without more private sector jobs. The county should address itself to that issue. My agency (Wayne County Economic Development, Corp.) has come up with a number of proposals to do this. I have a strong business background. I've administered and owned medical clinics, a restaurant and was executive vice-president of a computer company. My business background will help.

St. John alters visiting hours

St. John Hospital has changed visiting hours during the construction of the hospital's parking ramp. Medical-surgery and gynecology patients may receive visitors between 4:30 and 8 p.m. daily. Visiting hours for parents and others of pediatric patients are anytime except between 9 and 11 a.m. Special arrangements must be made with the charge nurse in the unit before visiting pediatric acute care patients. Fathers can visit a wife and baby anytime from 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. The hospital asks all family members of obstetrical patients to come only between 7 and 8 p.m.

In the special intensive care units, the hospital will allow only one visitor for 10 minutes, two visitors for five minutes each (immediate family only, to visit ICU patients at 7 a.m., noon, 2, 5 and 7 p.m. CCU patients may receive visitors between the hours of 7 to 8 a.m., 2 to 3 p.m., and 7 to 8 p.m. Special appointments should be made to visit neonatal intensive care patients. For persons scheduled for surgery, the hospital asks family members to wait in either the surgical lounge on the first floor or in the main lobby on the ground floor.

DFT announces '82 schedule

In its 18th season, Detroit Film Theatre will offer 20 weekends of first-run and world classic movies in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium. General admission tickets at $2, ($1.50 for seniors), and D.F.T.'s discount coupon books at $15 for 10 admissions may be purchased in advance through the museum ticket office and at the door. Included in the first month's schedule will be the 1981 Italian film "Passione D'Amore" (Aug. 6, 7 and 8) directed by Ettore Scola, a Cannes Film Festival selection unanimously applauded by film critics the world over; and "Carde A Vusc" (Aug. 13, 14 and 15) a 1982 winner of four French Academy Awards.

Also scheduled are "Diva" (Aug. 21 and 22) which Sneak Previews critic Roger Ebert described as "brilliant... one of the most persistently entertaining, absorbing and scary thrillers... it's terrific" — and "The Atomic Cafe" edited entirely from unintentionally funny vintage American propaganda films, recreating the atmosphere which accompanied the Cold War and the birth of the atomic bomb (Aug. 27 and 28).

Friday evenings will feature first-run works. Saturdays will offer films rarely seen in the area, and Sundays will continue D.F.T.'s tribute to the more recent movies of master filmmaker Alfred Hitchcock. The Hitchcock series will include his 1953 "The Wrong Man" (Oct. 24), "Psycho" (Nov. 7), "Frenzy" (Dec. 12) and his final "Family Plot" (Dec. 9).

Free concert for Pointers

The Grosse Pointe Park Council and Recreation Commission will sponsor an open-air concert at Patterson Park Sunday, Aug. 8, at 7 p.m. featuring the Detroit Community Music School.

The concert is free and admission to the park is by any Grosse Pointe community park pass. Those attending should bring their own blankets, food and beverages.

The Music School will be directed by Park resident John W. Smith, executive director of the school as well as the Rackham Choir.

Dental Society names officers

The Eastern Dental Society recently installed new officers for 1982-83 at its annual dinner dance at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House.

Serving for the coming year will be George Frederickson, president; Michael Jennings, president-elect; Robert Gorski, vice-president; Richard Dunlop, secretary; William Brownsecombe, treasurer. Immediate past-president is Pamela Hammel. All officers are doctors of dental science.

Ravitz holds fund raiser

Donald Thurber, of Rathbone Place, will host a fund raiser for County Executive Officer candidate Mel Ravitz on Sunday, Aug. 1, from 3 to 5 p.m.

Tickets for the event are $25 per person or $100 for sponsors. Call the Ravitz for County Executive Committee, 961-2345, for more information.

A good (although sometimes weird) time was had by all at the Farms Pier Park over the weekend at the 30th annual Regatta sponsored by the Farms Boat Club. The weather cooperated beautifully to help enhance the festivities. Among the more popular events were the water balloon toss, balloon-between-the-knees relay race and Fantasy Boutique, where contestants had to wear whatever they pulled from a box filled with clothing odds and ends. Other events over the weekend included sailboat races, dancing, raft races, a parade, a decorated bicycle contest and the Miss Grosse Pointe Farms Regatta Pageant. Photos by Tom Greenwood

The Michigan Chapter of the Circumnavigators Club is off to Hawaii this Sunday. No airplanes needed — "Hawaii," this Sunday, is within motoring distance: Fred Campbell's estate on Belleville Lake, where dress and decorations will reflect the theme of our 50th state. On arrival, members and guests will be given imported leis and badges with their Hawaiian names.

Lester Elliott, chairman of this year's Summer Safari, has arranged for a troupe to entertain with island dances and songs prior to the luau. Prior to that, there'll be offshore Waikiki cruises (the traditional boat rides on Lake Belleville) ... a turtle race led by Chief Kanani ... one-hole golf at the Mauna Kea course ... an Eastman Kodak slide show ... and many other activities, with achievement awards in each contest and other prizes.

No jet lag. No airport delays. No overbookings. Circum Harold Cregar, owner of Pickwick House, will provide a luscious dinner, including the piece de resistance roasted pig with an apple in his mouth and a full menu of Hawaiian and continental specialties. Everyone's welcome to enjoy the ceremony of the preparation of the porker, with appropriate toasts.

The Circumnavigators Club, currently celebrating its 80th year, is an international organization of travelers who have completed at least one continuous trip around the world. It is usually headed in an honorary capacity by the President of the United States. It recognizes distinguished travelers (explorer Thor Heyerdhal received the 1981 Magellan Award), and annually sponsors a graduate student on an international tour of goodwill and knowledge.

The Michigan Chapter was started and guided for many years by the late George Pierrot, noted traveler and television personality. Grosse Pointe has always been very well represented on the membership roster; past-presidents include Pointe residents Mark C. Stevens, Paul Moreland, Fred Flom and James Trebilcock. Among the current officers and directors are several Pointers: Les Elliott, vice-president, and Arthur Schmidt, John Rickel, Don Miller and Dr. Donald McIntyre.

The girls in Troop No. 327 attend (or have graduated from) Grosse Pointe

U.S. celebrates Year of Eagle

By Rebecca R. Kirtland
National Geographic News Service

The unchallenged star among North American birds, the American bald eagle, came to prominence on the nation's seal 200 years ago. Now it has been honored with a presidential proclamation that makes 1982 the Year of the Eagle.

With its fierce, unconquerable glare, mighty talons and tremendous wings that permit it to glide effortlessly on wind currents hour after hour, the eagle is a living symbol of freedom, courage and strength.

But fame hasn't spared the species from dropping to dangerously low numbers. Once it ruled North American skies; now it is endangered in 43 of the 48 contiguous states and threatened in the other five. It is not found in Hawaii, but thrives in Alaska.

The second largest bird of prey, or raptor, in North America after the California condor, the bald eagle is well adapted to swooping down upon a small creature, gripping it with those long, curved talons, and tearing flesh with its hooked, yellow beak. It also has an "eagle eye" — extraordinary eyesight five or six times keener than a human's.

But there is no truth to the rumor that eagles snatch babies from carriages. James Ruos, bird specialist at the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, says: "Eagles can lift two pounds easily, but they can lift up to six pounds for only a short time and with very labored flight." Bald eagles eat mostly fish, anyway.

The birds have more often been victims than predators. They were hunted in vast numbers until 1940, when the Bald Eagle Protection Act made it illegal to shoot or kill bald eagles, punishable by a fine of up to $5,000 and a year in prison.

In the 50s and 60s bald eagles came close to extinction when pesticides in the food supply seriously damaged their ability to reproduce. The compound DDT was banned in 1972, and reproduction has been increasing since 1974, but very slowly," Ruos says. There are now some 1,400 nesting pairs in the lower 48 states.

But the comeback of the eagle will be a long process. "Once the environment is cleaned up enough to no longer affect reproduction, it takes another five or six years for the new eagles to mature," Ruos adds.

At sexual maturity the eagle develops its adult plumage, characterized by a gleaming white head and dark body. The male courts the female with lavish displays of aerial acrobatics, and the pair mates for life. Weighing an average 8 to 11 pounds with a 6½-foot wingspan, the male is smaller than the female.

Compulsive nest builders, the pair returns to the same nest and adds to its structure year after year. According to the Fish and Wildlife Service, the largest recorded nest measured 20 feet deep, 10 feet wide, and weighed 2 tons.

The greatest threat to the bald eagle today is the steady loss of habitat, but eagles may be learning to coexist peacefully with a higher level of human disturbance. "There are reports of eagles nesting successfully on golf courses in Florida and in recreational areas in the Northwest," Ruos says. "The real key is that the public leave the eagles alone during this critical time when they are establishing new nest sites."

The Methodist Children's Home Society on West Six Mile Road has been providing services to children with special needs for more than 65 years; now, in an effort to secure more funds and a continuous flow of publicity for this work, MCHS volunteers are establishing a clothing re-sale shop to merchandise garments of current fashion and superior quality.

"The Second Chance" will be located at 140 Alexander Street in Northville, one block south of Main Street, adjacent to the city's free parking structure. It will be open to receive fall and winter garments from Monday, Aug. 2, through Saturday, Aug. 14, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., and every Tuesday after Sept. 1. Sales will begin in September, hours to be announced.

Persons wishing to dispose of clothing on a consignment basis must purchase a $2 membership covering record keeping for a year. They must bring the garments to the store, and will receive 50 percent of the sale price when the merchandise is sold. Donations of garments also will be accepted, with receipts for income tax deductions given.

Children's and adults' fall clothing is especially needed to establish a "start-up" inventory. Volunteers also are needed, to work in the store. Further information may be obtained by contacting Eleanor Griswold at 628-9780.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dunwoodie, of Cloverly Road, and Mr. and Mrs. John McNally, of Lakeland Avenue, have been active participants in the work of the Methodist Children's Home Society for many years. The Reverend Thomas Schomaker, of Barrington Road, is a new member of the MCHS board of directors.

North to Alaska

Mrs. Frank R. Kappler, of Belanger Road, traveled north to Alaska for her great-nephew's wedding early this month — and when we say traveled, that's exactly what we mean, for James Baxter Bliss, who grew up in the old mining town of Ungalik, and Nanette Lynne Lechner exchanged their marriage vows on a mountainside near the small community overlooking Norton Sound on the Fourth of July.

So how do you get to Ungalik? Well, first you get to Anchorage (which is relatively easy). Then you get to Unalakleet (which is relatively easy, from Anchorage). Then you fly on, via chartered airplane or with the bridegroom's father in his private airplane, landing at Ungalik... where you switch to a Caterpillar tractor flat bed (decorated appropriately for the occasion). And Pat Bliss switches from airplane pilot to tractor driver, ferrying his son's wedding guests up the mountain. Pat, in suit, hat, tie and boutonniere, is just about the spiffiest tractor driver you've ever seen.

The service was, you might say, traditional, with the bride in an ivory colored wedding gown, her attendants in apricot, the men in dark suits. The officiating clergyman was a Jesuit priest, The Reverend Lawrence A. Nevue. When the bridegroom was growing up, his father would fly (weather permitting) to Nome to pick up Father Nevue during the week and take him back to Ungalik for a few days' residence there. Twenty-five years later, Pat Bliss tracked Father Nevue down at Our Lady of Sorrows in Delta Junction. Father Nevue was delighted to return to Ungalik to officiate at the open air, double ring ceremony.

A white runner was laid on the grass. The altar was a table handmade by a miner 60 years ago. There were 30-plus guests, not counting the tons of mosquitoes, and the reception in the 45-year-old cookhouse, decked with ivory, rust and apricot silk flowers, was perfectly lovely. You should have been there. If you'd been passing through Ungalik at the time (one so often is), you would certainly have been asked.

Concours d'Elegance

Speaking of elegant affairs... one of Michigan's and the Midwest's most prestigious automotive events, the Meadow Brook Concours d'Elegance, will be held Sunday, Aug. 15, as a benefit for the preservation of 100-room Meadow Brook Hall on the grounds of Oakland University in Rochester. Grosse Pointe's Keith Crain, publisher and editorial director of Automotive News, is in charge of the program committee for this fourth annual "competition of elegance," which will feature approximately 120 of the world's finest classic and antique motorcars.

There will be three new "circles" of cars: Period Rolls-Royces, Pre- and Post-World War II sports cars. A panel of 23 judges that reads like a "Who's Who" in the auto industry will judge the cars on their merits of craftsmanship and design. Also new this year will be a show and sale of automotive art, centered around an original painting by German artist Walter Gotschke. Gotschke is considered the world's outstanding car illustrator. His new work was commissioned for the poster commemorating this year's Meadow Brook Concours.

As an added attraction, there'll be two fashion shows of some 40 gowns of the 1920s and 30s that belonged to Matilda Dodge Wilson. Matilda and her husband, Alfred Wilson, built Meadow Brook Hall in 1920 at a cost of $4 million. The Hall, with a quality of craftsmanship unexcelled anywhere in the world, is virtually irreplaceable today and stands as a rare and precious cultural legacy: a priceless monument of architectural art in the public domain.

Hours for the Concours will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Admission is $5 per person. Additional information may be obtained by calling Meadow Brook Hall, 377-3140.

Autumn Elegance

Another elegant event has been scheduled on the grounds of Meadow Brook Hall for early autumn. It's Glyndebourne Picnic '82, a fund raiser for Oakland University's Kresge Library, sponsored by the Library's Friends. It's black tie — of course! — and will run from 6 p.m. to half-past midnight Saturday, Sept. 11. Strolling Renaissance musicians will entertain the guests as they arrive and set their "picnic" tables with the finest china and crystal. A special feature of the evening will be an opera interlude by performers from Michigan Opera Theatre.

There'll be dinner music and dancing music. Tickets for the night are priced at $150 per couple, $300 (patrons) and $1,000 (benefactors). That's not including food: one bring one's own picnic to a Glyndebourne Picnic, and the food one brings is most definitely NOT of the burger-and-fries variety. The admission tickets are, however, tax deductible.

Blueberry days have arrived

Peak harvest for Michigan's blueberry crop will occur this week and next. Quality is ideal: an abundance of rain just makes blueberries bigger, plumper and juicier. Though shoppers can look forward to fresh blueberries being available through early September, the peak season is the time to purchase large quantities for freezing, canning — and just eating your fill.

Blueberries, called huckleberries by New England colonists, have always been hardy. They're native to the northern hemisphere, to Europe generally and to the mountains in the tropics, but North America produces 90 percent of the world's crop.

In 1615 Champlain found Indians near Lake Huron gathering blueberries to store for the winter. They dried the berries in the sun, beat them into a powder and added this powder to parched meal, producing a kind of rough forerunner to blueberry muffin mix. Today, blueberries are the third most popular non-citrus fruit in the United States.

The blueberry crop is the one fruit crop which is reported in terms of size for North America rather than just the United States. That's because our good Canadian friends also produce sizeable quantities of blueberries (mostly wild). The North American blueberry crop is estimated at 84.7 million pounds. Michigan is slated to produce 42 million pounds, smaller than last year's record crop of 52 million pounds but big enough to keep Michigan No. 1 in blueberry production. This year's crop is still four-and-a-half-million pounds over the five-year average.

Consumers as well as growers can celebrate when there's a good blueberry crop, because blueberries are so easy to prepare. With no pitting, no peeling and no waste, blueberries can be called the original convenience fruit.

You-pick operations give shoppers the opportunity to put some of their unused energy to work and save money. Cultivated blueberries are easy to pick. Holding a branch with one hand while rolling the berries off with the other is the way growers suggest. One grower also adds this tip: never pick up berries you spill; they will be covered with sand and this will shorten the life of all the berries in your bucket.

Blueberries may be sold by the measure or weight. Knowing that a quart weighs about one-and-a-half pounds enables the shopper to make a fair comparison. Generally, the larger units purchased by the pound will give the most value for the least cost per unit.

GPYC swim team stays unbeaten

By Margie Reins Smith
The Grosse Pointe Yacht Club swim team finished the Michigan Inter-Club Swimming Association's dual meet season in first place for the seventh straight year. They were undefeated.

GPYC swimmers added two more victories to their dual meet winning streak — for a total of 43 in a row. On July 15 at the Country Club of Detroit, GPYC pulled ahead early in the meet, and finished with a 521-488 win. On July 18, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, GPYC capped the season with an easy victory, 630-344, over the Detroit Yacht Club.

At the Country Club meet, Eric Steiner put in the most outstanding performance of the evening by slicing three seconds off his best time and winning the boys' 10-and-under 50 meter breaststroke in 43.36.

Cindy Gannon placed first in all four of her events — the girls' 15-16 50 meter breaststroke, backstroke, butterfly and freestyle. Kelly Bartsch placed first in three individual events — girls' 11-12 50 meter backstroke, butterfly and freestyle. Bartsch also captured a first with Shana Huntington, Nancy Georgi and Ann Mitchell in the girls' all-ages free-style relay.

Kristen Youngblood was victorious in the girls' 10-and-under 25 meter butterfly and in the girls' 9-10 50 meter freestyle. Youngblood also swam on the winning girls' medley relay with Mitchell, Sandy Smith and Krystin Strong.

Excellent performances were also turned in by Charlie Stumb in the boys' 9-10 age group and by Gail Stomisch in the girls' 13-14 age group.

On July 18, Coach Tom Teetaert honored four 16-year-old GPYC swimmers who were participating in their last dual meet. Cindy Gannon, Pam Horn, Ann Mitchell and Pat McGough wound up their MICA careers with good performances.

Gannon took three individual firsts, the girls' 15-16 50 meter breaststroke, butterfly and freestyle. Gannon also took first in the girls' all-ages medley relay along with team members Strong, Bartsch and Youngblood.

Mitchell finished a 10-year MICA swimming career with a first in the girls' 15-16 50 meter backstroke, a second in the 50 meter butterfly, and a third in the 50 meter freestyle. The team of Ann Tipp, Gail Stomisch, Buffy Stumb and Mitchell captured first in the girls' freestyle all-ages relay.

Horn won fifth and sixth place ribbons in the girls' 15-16 50 meter backstroke and the 50 meter butterfly. McGough won third place in the boys' 15-16 breaststroke, fourth place in 50 meter backstroke and fourth place in 50 meter freestyle.

GPYC and the other 13 member clubs of MICA are looking forward to the inter-club championship finals which will be held on July 31 and Aug. 1 at Birmingham Athletic Club. Consolation finals will be on July 22, at the Detroit Yacht Club.

A gift from the Knights ...

Neighborhood Club program director Greg Brynaert (left) was all smiles when he received this $634 check from Larry McGovern, Grand Knight from the Knights of Columbus, Our Lady Star of the Sea Council 7780. The donation will help subsidize the Club's year-round program of activities for the handicapped. Currently the Club offers bowling, softball and floor hockey for the handicapped.

State title eludes Farms

The Grosse Pointe Farms-City 13-year-old All-Star team finished third in the State Tournament which was played in St. Clair from July 17 to 21. The All-Stars opened the tournament with two consecutive wins on July 17 but back-to-back losses on July 19 and 20 eliminated them from the tournament.

In their first game, 9-7 victory over Alpena, both teams showed opening game jitters by committing several errors in a sloppily played game. Tom Fellows paced the Farms-City attack with two singles and three RBI while his brother, Dave, had two singles and one RBI. The Farms-City jumped off to a 4-0 lead in the first inning on three walks, two hit batsmen and a single by Jim Dara. Rick Leonard pitched a fine game allowing seven hits while walking only four Alpena batters.

In the second game of the tournament, the Farms-City team defeated Washington-Armada-Capac, 9-4. Brady Kraushaar pitched a masterful game, striking out 13 while walking two and allowing only two hits. Dave Fellows, Scott Tucker and Jerry Henry led the Farms-City 12-hit attack. Dave Fellows had three singles and a double plus three RBI. Tucker had a single and a double while Henry had two singles.

In game three, the undefeated Farms-City team battled undefeated Niles. Niles scored six runs in the sixth inning to break a 3-3 deadlock on their way to a 9-4 win. Niles collected four singles and two walks while the Farms-City committed one error to break open the close game. The Farms-City squad was limited to just five hits. The team had a 3-1 lead after two innings, but Niles scored single runs in the third and fourth innings to tie the score. Scott Tucker was the losing pitcher.

On July 20, the Farms-City played Washington-Armada-Capac again with the winners to meet Niles in the championship game. Washington-Armada-Capac scored two runs in the third and fifth innings to overcome a 3-2 Farms-City lead to win, 6-3. Leonard, Ted Kolp and Chris Pettit handled the Farms-City pitching duties with Leonard taking the loss. Tom Fellows had two singles, a double and two RBI in a losing effort while Jim Dara added two singles and a walk.

Dual meet title for 'Mutants'

By Benjamin A. Dover

Grosse Pointe Park's swim team, the "Mutants," went head-to-head with an awesome City team in a competition to determine who would reign as dual meet champion of the Lakefront Swimming Association. The meet was held July 21 at Windmill Pointe Park, home of the Mutants.

Coached by Joan Ketterman, Jamie Browning and Mark Clarke, the powerful City team swam impressively, but it was not enough as the Park team swam to a victory, the dual meet championship and an undefeated record.

The Park Mutants, coached by John Hessburg, Jed Kuhn, Kathy Roarty and Rachele Valdez opened its season on June 26 at the annual relay meet held at the Shores' pool. The Park swimmers came out on top. The Park began its dual meet season by beating the Shores on June 30, 300-171. In their July 7 meet, the Park continued its successful season by winning at the St. Clair Shores pool, 286-193.

The Mutants continued their streak by conquering the capable Farms team, 280-178. Four days later, the Park team topped a previously undefeated Woods team at the Woods' pool, 248-222.

At that point, only the City could keep the Park from an unblemished record and dual meet title. The City-Park meet began with the Park winning two of the first three events. In all, the lead changed hands 11 times throughout the competition with the Park Mutants emerging as winners, 249-231.

"I was surprised by the 18 point victory," Park coach John Hessburg. "I honestly thought that the meet would have come down to the last event ..."

Double winners for the Park were Mike Montagne in the 10 and under 50 freestyle and 25 yard breaststroke; Billy Thompson in the 12 and under 50 backstroke and 50 butterfly and Nancy Vettorello in the 14 and under 50 freestyle and 50 butterfly.

Other individual winners were: in the 8 and under group, Amy

Cross-country meeting set

Girls interested in joining the Grosse Pointe South High School cross-country team this season should report for a brief meeting next Monday, Aug. 2, in the stands by the South track. Incoming freshmen should report at 6:30 p.m., all others at 7 p.m.

Butler in the 25 freestyle and Amy Verlinden in the 25 backstroke; in the 10 and under group, Ann Eckel won the 25 backstroke, Mike Celhar and GERALYN BOCCI the 25 breaststroke and William Canu the 25 butterfly.

Winning in the 12 and under group were Ian Thompson in the 50 freestyle, Cece Rettig in the 50 backstroke and Katie Turner in the 50 breaststroke. Fourteen and under winners were Maryann Montagne in the 50 breaststroke and Matt Smith in the 50 butterfly. Peter Ecklund took an impressive victory in the 17 and under butterfly.

"The individual efforts were fantastic," coach Jed Kuhn said. "But I think the strength of the Park team lies in its depth and consistency." William L. Starr, Parks and Recreation Director for the Park, said, "In my opinion, the coaches and swim team this year have been outstanding in performance, cooperation and unity, acting as a unit of determination and endurance. I am happy and proud of my coaches and the job that they are doing."

The league's championship meet began Wednesday, July 28 and will continue through today, Thursday, July 29.
