

Park streets resurfaced

for only 12 percent. "We also did a better job than we thought of keeping costs down," the manager said.

Voters in the Park rejected by 1,574 to 1,071 a question on the Aug. 10 primary ballot that would have raised property taxes by 2 mills for the next five years for the purpose of repairing and resurfacing streets. The tax would have cost an average homeowner about $100 a year.

IT WAS DEFEATED in all seven voting precincts by a uniform margin. But fewer voters cast ballots on the street tax question than on the political candidates. Just over 3,200 persons (34 percent of the registered voters) made selections on candidates, and only 2,645 (28 percent of registered voters) cast ballots on the tax question. Crawford said he thinks many voters didn't see the question tax on the ballot.

The Park has not budgeted substantial funds for local street resurfacing for at least two years because of financial problems that left the city with deficit in the 1980-81 fiscal year. Declining gas and weight tax revenues from the state have further cut into street repair programs. A study of local streets completed earlier this year concluded about 20 miles of Park streets are in need of repair. The estimated cost for repairing all the streets was almost $2 million, according to Crawford.

Shutterbugs meet

The Grosse Pointe Camera Club will meet on Tuesday, Oct. 5, at 7:30 p.m. at Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte Avenue, Grosse Pointe Farms. Carroll Dennis will present a program on the preparation and mounting of slides for camera club competition. There will also be a monochrome print and color slide competition. Visitors are welcome.

the House for action, make it a felony for anyone to give out tests or answers. Public or appointed officials convicted under the proposed law face penalties of a $10,000 fine, a year in jail, or both. In addition, under the proposed law, the convicted official could hold no public or appointed office in state county or municipal government again.

"That's where you've got to hit politicians," Hertel said, "where it hurts."

ANY PERSON could take the case to court under the proposals, if the Attorney General or Chief Prosecutor refused to prosecute, according to Hertel.

Mrs. Gattorn said she supported the idea of change, but added the legislative action appeared to be "too little, too late." Mrs. Gattorn served as Grosse Pointe's representative on the commission which drew the new county chart-

Hertel said he was uncertain how much his committee would spend during the upcoming race, adding he and aides had not decided yet what to spend.

He doesn't see the money coming in, Hertel said, and so was unable to give total contributions or expenses for his campaign. In the 30-day spending report, Hertel reported $3,795 in contributions, including contributions from Frederick Lovelace and William Wilson, Woods councilmen.

Groups contributing to Hertel's campaign include Teamster's Political Action Committee, National Bank of Detroit Good Citizenship Committee, Independent Political Committee, and the Michigan Optometric Political Action Committee.

Mrs. Gattorn reported a total of $4,945 in contributions. Contributors included Edmund Brady, Jr. and C. Bradford Lundy, Shores village trustees. Her committee reported a $500 debt, which she said was a personal loan from the Gattorn family to the campaign.

Hertel ended the reporting period with $1,911 on hand, while Mrs. Gattorn reported an ending balance of $94.

June Hicks film scheduled for Cinema League

The Grosse Pointe Cinema League will present "From Florida to Keukenhof," a 35mm color slide presentation by June Hicks, Garden Editor of the Detroit News, on Monday, Oct. 4, at 8 p.m. The program will take place in the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium, 32 Lakeshore Road.

Holland is shown at its loveliest time of year when spring flowers bloom in profusion. Of special interest are the Keukenhof Gardens at Lisse. These unique 60-acre gardens, founded by leading bulb growers, have about eight million bulbs in bloom, either in hot-houses or in flowerbeds along the sides of a beautiful lake. Some of the exquisite blooms are displayed in a natural woodland setting, with century-old trees shading winding streams and quiet pools. The public is invited to attend the program without charge. The social hour following is limited to Cinema League members and their invited guests.

The Cinema League, now in its 28th year, is seeking new members, especially those interested in movie-making. Dues are $8 per year. All programs are held in the Fries Auditorium, usually the first and third Mondays of the month.

Fall ground breaking

Nancy Waugaman protested because she said council members were not provided with lists of the bids. That list was made public after the meeting and showed bids from Monahan Construction, Christopher and Thompson-Phelan, in addition to Fromm.

Eight architectural firms were solicited for bids, Dingeman said, and the $14,000 contract was awarded to Barber-McCalpin, Associates. Other firms which were contacted for estimates included Straub, Luckenbach, Rosetti, Daribian, Daniell, Stevens and Malak, according to information provided by the city.

Rough sketches of the proposed new recreation center, drawn by designer Cal Mathews, were presented to the public for reaction at the Sept. 20 meeting. Several residents voiced suggestions and complaints about the drawings. Vice-Commodore Leonard Bartoszewicz, of the 300-member Farms Boat Club, told the council his group would like a new center that includes meeting room for at least 120 people, larger toilets, at least 200 square feet of storage space, a fully-equipped kitchen, proper sound and variable light systems and a fireplace.

The council finally instructed the architect to design a 50 by 115 foot building situated at the current boat house site, including two stories, an elevator and meeting room with capacity for 120 persons, seated.

Clerk Solak said the firm will report back to the council with a plan at a future meeting.

The present boat house at the Pier Park is crumbling on its foundations, according to city administrators, and occasionally floods when the lake is high.

The new recreation center project is part of a $750,000 face lift planned for facilities at the park by the Foundation. Other members of the organization are Paul Marco, president Mrs. Joseph Hudson, Jr., Roy D. Chapin, Jr., David K. Eastlick, Henry Ford, II, Charles R. Moon, Arthur R. Seder, Jr., and Councilman Jack Cudlip.

Hertel said he introduced the legislation after the May incident when county civil service test answers got out before the test. Two investigations found no wrongdoing, but noted the sloppiness of the system.

Mrs. Gattorn predicted a tough campaign, adding she expected to spend about $10,000 to combat Hertel. Her campaign against incumbent Ervin Steiner, according to county spending reports, cost about half as much, $4,850.

"I haven't really determined how much it will take to beat him," she said of the November campaign, adding her expenses will be determined by how much she is able to raise as well as what she considers "a credible amount to spend."

Hertel, during the 30-day period covered in the reports, spent $6,741 to unseat his opponent. Wisniewski according to reports, spent $3,457 during the entire campaign.

Concert benefits FLEC

FLEC, the Family Life Education Council, has set a goal of $90,000 for its 1982-83 fund raising effort, according to Jane K. Hoey, president of the privately-funded east side social service agency.

Leading off this year's fund raising events is a piano concert this Sunday, Oct. 3, at 2 p.m. at the Parcels Middle School auditorium, corner of Mack and Vernier Roads.

The concert will feature Grosse Pointe duo pianists Janet Young and Virginia Shover playing three Baroque works (one by Zipoli is the first two-piano piece ever written), two familiar works by Russian composers, the Mother Goose Suite, based on the familiar stories, and Scaramouche by Milhaud. Their performance also will include a group of familiar Spanish pieces and Points on Jazz by Dave Brubeck.

Admission is $5 at the door. All contributions are income tax deductible. A reception will follow the concert.

FLEC programs are made possible by contributions from individuals, organizations and foundations. The agency receives no state, local, federal or Torch Drive funds.

Among the programs FLEC operates are Center Point Crisis Center, a legal center and medical clinic.

Call 885-5222 for more information.

Children's Home needs Volunteers

The Children's Home of Detroit is recruiting families to be active participants in the home's Volunteer Visiting Family Program.

The program is designed to provide opportunities for children without families to have regular visits with a family in the community.

For families interested in being part of the program, orientation meetings will be conducted by the treatment personnel of the Children's Home.

The Children's Home is a residential treatment center for emotionally disturbed children located on Cook Road in the Woods.

Anyone interested in being part of the Volunteer Visiting Family program can call Darlene Bredow at the home Monday through Friday at 886-0802.

City residents involved in zoo lawsuit

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Two Grosse Pointe City residents are playing key roles in the ongoing legal fight surrounding the proposed euthanasia of four Siberian tigers by the Detroit Zoological Park.

Wayne County Circuit Judge Paul Teranes issued a 60-day extension Friday, Sept. 24, of a temporary restraining order imposed the week before by Judge Joseph Sullivan. Teranes' extension came after a two-hour show cause hearing on a $1 million lawsuit filed against the zoo, director Steven Graham, and city of Detroit.

Leroy Temrowski, Jr., attorney for Krescentia M. Doppelberger who filed the class action suit charging the zoo with negligence, breach of contract and mental anguish, said he was pleased with the extension.

Temrowski, also of Grosse Pointe City, said the next step will be the formation of a team of veterinarians to examine the tigers to determine whether they are in pain. Zoo officials said the tigers, all past breeding age, suffer from a number of chronic illnesses including arthritis.

A Michigan State University research team is scheduled to examine the tigers' teeth sometime in the next month, Temrowski said, and since the animals will be anaesthetized for the examination, the veterinarians will examine the tigers then to determine their health.

The examiners would rather not anaesthetize the tigers twice, he said, because of the danger in tranquilizing an animal of that size.

No more hearings are planned unless the zoo objects to veterinarians chosen by the plaintiff, Temrowski said. After the team is formed, a date for examination will be made, he added.

Zoo officials said the tigers are not only old but are in pain from various ailments such as kidney diseases, oral infections and chronic vomiting, Graham said. The animals are in pain, and because they are past breeding age, should be "put down" to make room for younger members in the exhibit.

Prior to examination by the veterinarians, Temrowski said he will ask for the animals' medical records. If the veterinarians find the animals are in pain, Temrowski said the findings will be reported to the court for its action, which could include the lifting of the restraining order.

The suit is an attempt to allow the animals live out their natural lives, Temrowski said. All awards in the case will be donated to the zoo, Mrs. Doppelberger said.

Pain is not the issue, Temrowski said. "Pain is a fact of life. You are born in pain and you die with pain," he said.

"What Mr. Graham is trying to do is paint an unrealistic picture of reality," he said. "He is depriving the younger generation of the honor and the privilege of viewing the animals in an older stage of life."

Temrowski said the zoo could set up an exhibit of older animals to give the public a chance to see what they are like.

"What he's trying to do is paint a macho image for the zoo that just isn't realistic," Temrowski said.

Circle Players 'Light the Sky'

The Circle Players will present, "Light Up the Sky!" by Moss Hart at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Oct. 7, 8 and 9.

"Light Up the Sky!" is a timeless comedy, first produced in 1949. Its crazy cast of characters features Perry Mallette, Monica Deeter, Diane Kujal, and Alfie Maki. It is directed by Norma Dupuis.

Curtain is at 8 p.m., and refreshments will be served at intermission. The Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church is located at 17150 Maumee Avenue, Grosse Pointe City, (two blocks south of Kercheval, two blocks east of Cadieux), and there is ample parking in the lot behind the church.

Call 881-0420 for reservations or in the evenings call: 521-7695.

Admission is $5 and tickets may be purchased at the door.

Medical examiners' reports indicate that one out of every three persons who dies in fires had been drinking liquor just before death. Blood alcohol levels prove that.

Focus:HOPE celebration Oct. 10

The 12th annual Focus:HOPE civil and human rights celebration, Sunday, Oct. 10, at 2 p.m. will be led by Co-Chairmen Don Haney and Pointer Neal Shine. The Walk For Justice starts at the Michigan State Fairgrounds and will continue 10 miles down Woodward Avenue to Hart Plaza.

A demonstration of those who care about human and civil rights, Walk for Justice brings together thousands, from city and suburbs, who walk to share their vision of a society without hunger and hate. Many walkers carry sponsor pledges for the support of Focus:HOPE goals: adequate food for all infants, children, and elderly poor; job skills and training; housing that is really open; and jobs without discrimination.

"The Walk for Justice is both a demonstration of dissatisfaction with the way things are, and a sign of our intention to change them," said Focus:HOPE Director Father William T. Cunningham. "It is not a marathon, but a symbol of a far more exhausting struggle. With Dr. King, we seek to dramatize the issues that cannot be ignored."

Established in 1968, Focus:HOPE is a civil and human rights organization of 22,000 people, working to improve the quality of life in the metropolitan Detroit community.

Individuals, families, and groups who want to join in the Walk for Justice can obtain sponsor forms or further information from Focus:HOPE, 1355 Oakman Blvd, Detroit, 48238, or call 883-7440. If you cannot walk, then bike, roller skate, sponsor another, or just join the group at the Fairgrounds or Hart Plaza.

Convention is for the birds

The Midwest Canary Club, Inc. will sponsor its 47th annual Cage Bird Exhibition Saturday and Sunday Oct. 2 and 3, at Regina High School, 20200 Kelly Road. The club is a non-profit, avicultural corporation dedicated to promoting the development of cage birds, fostering appreciation for and extending knowledge of birds and sponsoring an annual show and exhibiting birds at accredited shows locally and nationally.

The exhibition provides an opportunity for all bird raisers to compete with other breeders and to meet and exchange information.

This year's exhibition is expected to attract about 1,000 birds in five general categories — Canaries Type I which include Yorkshires, Norwich, Border Fancy and Lizards; Canaries Type II which includes Parisian Frills, Dutch Frills, Columbus Fancy, Gloster and Harts; Canaries Color Bred which include Lipochrome and Melanin; Budgerigars; and foreign birds.

Bird owners must bring them to the exhibition hall before 9 a.m. on Saturday, Oct. 2. The hall will be open at 7 a.m. on Oct. 2. Assistant show managers will be in the hall to assist the exhibitor.

The exhibition hall will be open to the public on Oct. 2 from 9 a.m. until 6:30 p.m. and from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 3. Bird judging will start at 10 a.m. on Oct. 2 and will continue throughout the day until completed. The "John Alexander" traveling memorial trophy will be awarded for the best bird in show and the "Herman Brother's Trophy" will be awarded for the best unflighted bird in show.

The exhibition will feature a hospitality night program on Oct. 2. The evening will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will include a dinner and dancing to Maria's Band. For reservations contact Club vice-president Vincent Perri at 336-0279.

Admission to the exhibition is $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for children under 13.

Dems outspent GOP candidates for CEO

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Money may not buy happiness, but if you're a politician, it may buy you enough ads, air time and literature to get you elected.

Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas, the Democratic candidate for county executive, spent almost $292,000 during and after his successful campaign. GOP hopeful William FitzPatrick, however, spent less than $6,000 for his successful primary campaign.

According to spending reports filed Thursday, Sept. 9, with the county elections bureau, Lucas outspent FitzPatrick by about 49 times. The reports cover spending and contributions from July 26 to Aug. 30 as well as cumulative totals for expenses and contributions.

Lucas, who outdistanced a packed Democratic field that included Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara and Detroit Councilman Mel Ravitz, spent $291,976 on television radio and newspaper advertising, mass mailings, signs, fund-raisers and compensation and parties for campaign workers.

FitzPatrick spent $5,954 during his campaign against Harry Stearnes, Lawrence Schweiger and Gary Salisbury, relative unknowns in county politics.

As Lucas' chief opponent, McNamara said he spent "in excess of $200,000" during his campaign.

LUCAS RAISED about 35 times more money than FitzPatrick by the end of the reporting period, according to reports. Contributions to Lucas' campaign, which began in January, totalled $295,160. FitzPatrick, by the end of the reporting period, had raised $8,425 according to reports.

FitzPatrick's campaign has taken to more aggressive fund-raising, according to a campaign aide. A number of fund-raisers are planned in the near future to finance the Republican television and radio campaign.

Contributions and spending were low in the primary because polls reported FitzPatrick could take the nomination without a great deal of campaigning, the aide said. Against Lucas, however, FitzPatrick will have to spend much more to compete effectively, aides added.

Both campaigns ended the reporting period with roughly the same amount of cash on hand, according to reports. FitzPatrick reported an ending campaign balance on Aug. 30 of $2,470, while Lucas reported $3,804 on hand.

Political action committees contributed $6,725 to Lucas' campaign, according to itemized reports. FitzPatrick aides said they could recall a contribution to the GOP campaign by the Michigan Bell Political Action Committee. He received none during the 30-day reporting period, reports showed.

PACs and other groups contributing to Lucas' campaign include Friends of (Detroit City Councilman David) Eberhard, Committee to Re-Elect (Detroit Councilman) Nicodias Hood, Auto Club PAC, Chrysler Non-Partisan Political Support Committee and a Wayne County Sheriff's local.

Other contributors are Manufacturer's National Bank of Detroit PAC, Michigan State Service Employees Council 35 International Union Cope Fund, Detroit Police Officers PAC, and the Teamster's Political Education Committee, Local 299.

Bon Secours dinner features Duchin

The renowned Peter Duchin and his Orchestra from New York will set the tempo at The Friends of Bon Secours Hospital annual dinner dance on Friday, Oct. 15, at the Detroit Athletic Club.

The event will honor nine Bon Secours Hospital staff physicians for their 30 years of dedicated service to the hospital and community.

The physicians are Clifford D. Benson, M.D., Edward F. Eldredge, M.D., C. Jackson France, M.D., Edmond J. Gostine, M.D., Hugh W. Henderson, M.D., John M. Nehra, M.D., Guy W. Sewell, M.D., Robert K. Whiteley, M.D., and Edward A. Wishropp, M.D.

A cocktail hour begins at 7 p.m. followed by dinner at 8:30 p.m.

Proceeds from the affair will be used to purchase a KDA multipurpose analyzer for the hospital laboratory. The device is a vital diagnostic tool for the physician which will benefit every patient entering the hospital. The new KDA will perform 13 chemical tests on one blood sample. It will save Bon Secours Hospital about $10,000 a year because it is designed to use fewer chemicals.

For ticket information, call the hospital's community relations department at 343-1520.

Januarius A. Mullen is honorary chairman for the event and Mrs. John R. Schneider is the 1982 project chairperson for the Friends.

Other members of the committee are Mrs. Walter B. Fisher, Mrs. Hans Gehrke, Jr., and Roger F. McNeill, patron committee; Mrs. Edmund M. Brady, Jr., and Mrs. Lorenzo B. Browning, host committee; Mrs. J. Scott Nystrom, Mrs. Denis A. Luz and Mrs. Francis P. Shea, invitation committee; Mrs. Peter McCabe, decorations; Mrs. Michael T. Timmis, reservations.

The Friends of Bon Secours Hospital also sponsor the Town Hall for Health community education programs.

Bryant-Gattorn reception set

House Minority Leader William Bryant Jr., Grosse Pointe, will join forces for a fund raiser next week with fellow Republican Barbara Gattorn, candidate for Wayne County Commissioner.

The event will be a party hosted by Automotive News Publisher Keith Crain and his wife Mary Kay at their Woodland Place home on Thursday, Oct. 7, from 6 to 8 p.m. Proceeds for the $50 a head affair will be split evenly between the two campaign organizations.

Bryant will face a challenge from Democrat Jane Stevens this November. Mrs. Gattorn is running against State Sen. John Hertel for the county seat.

Both Republican candidates are running in districts, substantially expanded under the recent reapportionment to include areas of heavily Democratic Detroit. The candidates acknowledge, in their joint literature, that the seats aren't "safe" Republican strongholds anymore and that both need more money for their campaigns.

Rumba class today

Two single-session dance classes scheduled by the Department of Continuing Education of The Grosse Pointe Public School System will be held today, Thursday, Sept. 30.

Taught by Mary and Don Dere-nosky, the offerings are "Do the Cha Cha and Rumba" and "Do I Hear a Fast Waltz?" For space availability call the Department of Continuing Education at 342-2178.

Detroit faces cocaine charge in the Woods

A Detroit man was arraigned Thursday, Sept. 23, in the Woods Municipal Court on charges of felony possession of cocaine in connection with an arrest made earlier that day in front of the Woods municipal offices.

David Burcicke, 18, was released on $1,000 personal bond pending his examination on the charge he was in possession of four grams of suspected cocaine.

Police arrested Burcicke and three other people — including two Woods residents, one aged 16 — about 5 a.m. A patrol car reported seeing a blue 1978 Datsun southbound on Mack from Vernier swaying from left to right, crossing the center line of Mack.

While observing the vehicle, according to reports, officers saw the occupants of the car bending down behind the seats. When police activated the overhead lights to pull over the car, a bag containing a white powder was thrown from the passenger side of the car, police said.

According to reports, the car was slow in pulling over. The officers reported seeing the occupants bending down behind and between the seats.

When the car came to a stop, the driver, later identified as Burcicke, met police outside the car.

When the car pulled over in front of the municipal offices, police said Burcicke got out of the car to meet officers. The officers shined their flashlights into the car, spotting open beer and liquor, reports said.

Searching further, police reported spotting a sandwich bag containing a white substance sticking out from above the driver's visor. The occupants were asked to leave the car while police removed the bag. It contained, according to reports, three packets of a white substance and rice.

All four were arrested and taken to the station along with the car, according to reports. A search of the car yielded various drug paraphernalia, including a rectangular piece of glass, razor blades, a glass tube and a rolled $10 bill, found on the visor of the car with the bag.

Also found in the search, according to reports, were five bottles of beer, a bottle of rum, and a blue canvas bag found to contain four bags of what police believe to be marijuana.

The value of the suspected cocaine was unknown police said, because their analysis only identified the substance as cocaine, not its purity, detectives said.

Police theorize the bag thrown from the car was possibly pure cocaine, while that seized may have already been cut with impurities to increase its volume. Police could not estimate the amount scattered from the car.

Burcicke faced examination Wednesday, Sept. 29. The three others arrested with Burcicke were released by police unchanged.

Calligraphy classes begin Oct. 4

Although many fall classes offered for adults by the department of Continuing Education have already begun, a number of opportunities still exist during the month of October to take advantage of single-session or multi-week offerings.

During the week beginning Monday, Oct. 4, 44 classes have been slated to start, including 30 single-session ("one-night stands"), classes and others from two to eight weeks duration.

Single-session classes scheduled for Monday, Oct. 4 are "Calico Tote Bag" and Wok Cooking — Introduction.

Seven classes of longer duration begin on Monday, Oct. 4. They are "Calligraphy," "Holiday Ornament-a-Week," "Holiday Health," "Household Appliance Repair: Let Mr. Fixit Show You How," "Learning Medical Terminology in a Non-Conventional Way," "Music Appreciation for the Beginning Listener" and "You, Your Estate, and Your Heirs."

Ten single session classes are scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 5. They are "Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR)," "Dried Flowers," "Ego Wreckers," "Fabric Picture Frames," "Get Your Roses Ready for Winter," "Hypnosis: Stop Smoking Clinic," "How to Survive Early Parenthood: He's all Yours," "Single is Fun," "Tips From a Master Gardener: Greenhouse Planning for the Amateur" and "Using Woodworking Tools: Hand Tools."

Two classes of longer duration slated to begin on Tuesday, Oct. 5 are "Do It Yourself: Plumbing Demonstration" and "Microcomputers."

Nine single-session classes are scheduled to start on Thursday, Oct. 7. They are "Basic Principles of Investing," "Dance! Dance! Dance! Jitterbug Jump," "Demystifying Medicine: Hypertension — The Silent Killer," "Drapery Making Workshop: Introduction," "Economics Update: Supply Side — Does It Work?"

"Metrics Introduction," "Public Library Presents: South Pacific Adventure" and "A Realistic Approach to Job Searches."

In addition, four classes of longer duration also begin on Oct. 7. "Bridge — Introduction to Duplicate," "Home Canning and Preserving," "Microwave Cooking" and "Pottery."

Seminar for Seniors: An Afternoon of Poetry and Readings" will be held on Friday, Oct. 8.

Five single-session "workshop" type classes have been scheduled by the department of Continuing Education on Saturday, Oct. 9. They are "Decorative Tole Painting," "Freezer Hors d'Oeuvres," "Glass Etching," "Mini-Hooped Quilted Wall Hanging" and "Patchwork Vest Workshop."

For further information, including location and price, consult the fall flyer of the Department of Continuing Education, available in the office at 260 Chalfonte.

If your All-Savers Certificate is about to mature, we can help make your next investment even smarter.

Some people call them All-Savers Certificates. At NBD we've named them Tax-Free Certificates. And we believe they're smart investments indeed.

But if yours is about to mature, it doesn't matter what you call it. The time to reinvest is now. And National Bank of Detroit has the high-yield savings plan you need to keep your money working hard.

For instance, you could be eligible for another All-Savers Certificate. Or you may want a different kind of tax shelter in an NBD Individual Retirement Account.

The fact is, there is a variety of long-term and short-term investment plans to choose from. Some of which may not have been available when you got your All-Savers Certificate. And because NBD offers so many, it's best to spend a few minutes with us to find out more about them.

One of our experts will help you select the right one. Then we can arrange for your certificate funds to be transferred to your new NBD investment on the exact day they mature. Whether your certificate is presently at NBD or not.

But don't wait too long. To insure that your funds transfer without loss of interest, bring your certificate to us before maturity.

That way you can benefit from uninterrupted earnings, NBD know-how and the highest interest possible. With all that NBD has to offer, why invest anywhere else?

* Federal regulation requires a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal from any time investment plan, including those mentioned. Additional penalties are imposed by the IRS for early withdrawal from an Individual Retirement Account or from a Tax-Free Certificate. Member FDIC. All deposits insured to $100,000.

Improve your personal finances

A six-week seminar directed toward single parents will be offered on Tuesday evenings at Individual and Family Services, 17800 East Warren Avenue, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. beginning Oct. 5. The seminar will be conducted by Mrs. Sean Hogan-Downey, ACSW, a clinical social worker in private practice and family therapist who has chaired numerous seminars in the area of parenting. Cost of the seminar is $45 and registration is limited. For more information, call 882-3894.

Wayne College's Eastern Center opens

Wayne County Community College held an open house and dedication last month for its new Eastern Regional Center, at I-94 and Connor, serving the east side of Detroit and the Grosse Pointes. Rossetti Associates designed the new center with a three-story atrium, (pictured above) and multi-level stair and walkway system. Registration for a wide variety of classes is still open. Classes are free for senior citizens (60 or older) and retirees who are 55 and older. Other firms involved in construction of the new center were R.E. Daily & Co., general contractor, McClurg and Associates, Inc., structural engineers, Beckett Raeder & Rankin, civil engineers, DiClemente-Siegel Engineering, Inc., electrical and mechanical engineering, and James Scott & Associates, landscape architects.

Employees top Torch Drive goals

United Foundation Pacesetter organizations reported early Torch Drive campaign results at UF's Employee Campaigns Kick-off last week at the Detroit Westin Hotel.

The kick-off marks the official start of in-company solicitation for the 1982 Torch Drive at organizations throughout metropolitan Detroit. This year's campaign goal is $43 million. More than 30 UF Pacesetter organizations reported raising $1,837,567. The report was given by William C. Adams, president of Federal-Mogul Corporation and chairman for Pacesetter Campaigns.

Adams said, "These excellent results prove that it is possible to run successful employee campaigns even in these difficult times. This shows that people recognize and are concerned about meeting the tremendous needs in our community."

Pacesetter organizations agreed to conduct early, well-organized campaigns to set the pace for a successful 1982 Torch Drive. This year each agreed to set a goal of increasing total employee contributions by 20 percent.

Among the Pacesetters reporting outstanding results were Allstate Insurance Company, reporting a 41.6 percent increase over last year's giving base; American Red Cross, 20.9 percent; Auto Club Insurance Association, 55.1 percent; Detroit Receiving Hospital & University Health Center, 52.3 percent; Honigman, Miller, Schwartz & Cohn, 44.8 percent; Pepsi-Cola Bottling Group, 39 percent; St. Clair Health Services Corp. (St. John Hospital), 41.3 percent and J. Walter Thompson Company, 29.2 percent.

The meeting was chaired by William C. Ferguson, executive vice-president and chief operating officer of Michigan Bell Telephone.

Farms rejects sewer request

The Farms council earlier this month passed a resolution refusing to accept "dedication" of the sanitary and storm sewers located in the new Rose Terrace Subdivision South of Lakeshore Road.

City Manager Andrew Bremer, Jr., acknowledged there is continuing discussion between attorneys for the city and the subdivision, but would not describe the dispute in detail "in case it does go to court."

"Dedication" of the sewers handling storm and sanitary flow, along with the lift station located in the subdivision, would make the city responsible for at least part of the maintenance of the facilities. The Rose Terrace Subdivision is reached by a private road, which distinguishes it from public developments for which sewers are usually dedicated to the city for maintenance.

The Farms has several other private roads including parts of Provenal, Beverly and Oldbrook and Deming Lanes. Typically, a cost-sharing agreement is worked out between the city and private owners for maintenance of sewers and roads, Bremer said.

The News attempted to contact owners of the subdivision, Rose Terrace Inc., but the firm has an unlisted telephone number. The resolution adopted by the Farms Council at its Sept. 13 meeting was drafted by City Attorney Kathleen Lewis.

Take a bite out of crime

By Ptl. Dennis Van Dale

Security is a 24-hour world. From the beginning of time man has sought security with light as an aid to his environment. There is little doubt that most people feel that light helps solve some of their safety and security problems.

The lighting industry has for many years endeavored to document the exact relationship between light and crime and has succeeded in developing a great body of circumstantial evidence which would certainly indicate that light does tend to reduce the incidence of crime and, therefore, makes a building or area safer to be in. Actual studies, however, are difficult to control and are influenced by a large number of factors.

Basically good lighting is the most cost effective deterrent to crime that you have — but what is good lighting?

Ideally, a good lighting system would be reproduced daylight. Realistically, however, the system must furnish a high level of visibility and at the same time a low level of glare. One of the most critical problems that needs to be considered is that the evenness of outdoor light is more important than an absolute level. Too much lighting can actually be a hazard in itself. When an individual leaves a brightly lit area and walks into a dark area their vision is momentarily reduced and their vulnerability is increased. The opportunity for criminal attack is more of a likelihood when a situation like this exists. For example, a resident leaves a well lit garage area to walk to his house.

As a homeowner you can improve the lighting around your home by trimming bushes, hedges and tree foliage which may be shielding the effective distribution of moonlight and existing streetlights. By turning on interior lights at windows and door entrances you provide background lighting at key points thus possibly stopping someone from attempting to break into your home. Such lighting provides an excellent silhouette identification.

Security means the same thing, inside and out. The best way to thwart a potential intruder is to give your house a "people-are-at-home" look and this can be best accomplished with the use of automatic lighting control devices. The two basic automatic light control devices are the timer and the photoelectric cell.

A timer is essentially an electric clock which operates a set of contacts through a preset turn on turn off cycle. Some timers can be multiprogrammed to turn a light off and on numerous times within a 24 hour period. Your favorite lamps can be part of your security lighting system. Simply plug them into timers. Then set and forget them. They'll light up automatically when you're away in the evening or on vacation. Arrange your drapes or shades so that no one can see directly into your home. Also timers are versatile in they can operate such appliances as radios (an excellent "we're at home" trick).

The photoelectric cell is widely used to control outside lighting. With the photocell, the amount of light falling on the cell determines whether the light is off or on. The photocell works on current and resistance principles. If there is a low light level hitting the photocell, the resistance of the cell is lowered and current will flow to energize the light. As the light level increases the resistance also increases and cuts off the current and turns the light off.

In closing this article I would like to state that the use of security lighting as a crime deterrent has been supported through research and is accepted by the federal government as a viable tool in assisting a community in its fight against crime.

Story hours will begin at library

All three branches of the Grosse Pointe Public Library will offer fall story hours for preschoolers and school-aged children beginning the first week of October and running through mid-November.

Preschool story hours begin Thursday, Oct. 7, at 1 and 2 p.m. and run through Nov. 18 at the Park Branch. The school-age story hour will be held Tuesdays at 4 p.m. from Oct. 5 through Nov. 16.

The Woods branch preschool program will be offered Tuesdays at 1 and 2 p.m. with the older story hour to be held Wednesdays at 4 p.m. beginning the first week of October.

The Central Library will offer three separate story hour programs for different age groups beginning in October and running for eight weeks. For preschoolers aged 3½ to 5, the story hours are Tuesdays beginning Oct. 5, and 1 and 2 p.m., and Wednesdays at 10:30 a.m.

Alzheimer's chapter meets

The Detroit Area Chapter of the Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders Association, Inc. will meet on Sunday, Oct. 10, at 2 p.m. in the lower level board rooms of Cottage Hospital, 159 Kercheval, Grosse Pointe Farms.

Free and open to the public, the meeting requires pre-registration which may be done by calling 884-8600, extension 2397.

The fall agenda will include films from the Workshop on Aging and two reports by area health professionals on the most crucial problems associated with Alzheimer's Disease.

Christine Gmeiner Kendall, M.S.N., a nurse clinician at Lafayette Clinic and vice-president of education for the Detroit Area Chapter, will speak on the factors influencing nursing home placement of Alzheimer patients.

Jacob Chasen M.D., a neuro-pathologist at Henry Ford Hospital, will discuss the value of autopsy network information in the research and study of Alzheimer's Disease.

Alzheimer's is a degenerative disease of the brain that robs afflicted persons of all mental capabilities. Often mistakenly called "senility" or misdiagnosed as "hardening of the arteries," its cause and its cure remain unknown. It afflicts both sexes and people of all races, ethnic origins, social, economic and environmental backgrounds.

The Detroit Area Chapter sponsors seven support groups in the metropolitan area. For additional information, call 332-4110 or 540-2373.

Travel film series visits Tahiti

The 1982-83 International Travel Adventure Film Series, under the auspices of Dominican High School, 9740 McKinney at Whittier in Detroit, begins its sixth season Friday, Oct. 8, and Saturday, Oct. 9, with the film "Tahiti and Cook's Island."

The film, the first of seven monthly presentations, is produced and narrated by Clint Denn, an award-winning cinematographer. It is rich in Polynesian culture and lush scenery, from rugged seascapes and white sandy beaches to volcanoes, mountain chains and green valleys abundant with vegetation. The viewer will witness Polynesian culture on a day-to-day basis, from its customs and traditions to its religious dance rituals and music.

The film will be presented at 8 p.m. and again on Oct. 9 at 1:30 p.m.

Teens point gun at girls

Farms police are on the look out for two young white males in a yellow-green colored station wagon who pointed a revolver at two girls near the intersection of Beaupre and Lothrop Roads Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 15.

According to reports, the car was rusty and had no muffler. The passenger leaned out of the car window and pointed the gun at the girls, then the car drove on. After a few feet, it stopped and one male said "There's those kids, let's get them." The girls ran to a nearby home and called police.

Police believe the two men may also be responsible for a rash of vandalism that occurred in the Farms later that morning. According to reports, two males in a green car were responsible for a least one incident where the windows on an 1982 Oldsmobile were broken out. A witness described the assailant as a white male, wearing a white T-shirt and a red and white baseball cap. There was a second male in the car. The damage occurred at about 1 a.m.

Another Oldsmobile was damaged at 3 a.m. in the parking lot behind St. Paul Church. A third Oldsmobile was damaged at 7:30 a.m. in front of a home on Touraine Road.

The windows on a 77 Pontiac were broken at 7:45 a.m. on Oldbrook Lane and the windows of a 1982 Oldsmobile were broken out on Vendome Road at 8:30 a.m.

will be served (reservations are required) from 6:15 to 7:15 p.m. Prices will vary up to $9. Doors will open at 5:30 p.m.

A limited number of tickets are still available. Prices for seven evening presentations are $18 (individual) and $33 (for two); for matinees, prices are $16 (individual) and $30 (for two). Group rates and tickets for individual showings are also available. Further information may be obtained by calling 882-8503 any weekday between 9:30 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Vote deadline is next Monday

Next Monday, Oct. 4, is the last day to register to vote in the Nov. 2 election.

Statewide, about 5.5 million individuals are registered out of a potential of nearly 6.5 million, according to the Secretary of State's Office.

All Michigan citizens over 18 are eligible to register providing they have resided 30 days or more in the city or township where they live before election day.

Although an individual's 18th birthday falls on Nov. 3, one day after the election, — that individual is still eligible to register and vote. Secretary of State Richard Austin said. A little-known interpretation of Michigan election law, having roots in English common law, concedes that on Nov. 2, Election Day, that individual would have lived exactly 18 years — enough to fulfill the legal requirement to be 18 to vote.

Obituaries

Norman H. Black

Services for Mr. Black, 85, of Blairmoor in Grosse Pointe Woods, were held Friday, Sept. 24, at A.H. Peters Funeral Home. He died Wednesday, Sept. 22, in Henry Ford Hospital.

Mr. Black was a retired systems planning engineer in the automobile industry. Preceded in death by his wife, Fern, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Donald (Jean B.) Eaton; one brother; one sister; two grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

Memorials may be made to the Leukemia Foundation or the Michigan Cancer Foundation. Interment was in Roselawn Memorial Gardens.

Dorothy Faber

A eucharistic memorial service for Mrs. Faber, 56, formerly of the Woods, lately of Austin, Tex., will be held Sunday, Oct. 10, at 9 a.m. in the John Wesley chapel of Metropolitan Methodist Church, 8000 Woodward, under the auspices of the Anglican Guild of the Holy Trinity.

She died June 28 in Austin. A 30-year Woods resident, Mrs. Faber was active in conservative Republican organizations and St. Michael's Episcopal Church. As editor of "Christian Challenge," a traditionalist Episcopal journal, for more than 20 years, she took a leading role in defending the doctrines and liturgy of the Book of Common Prayers nationwide.

As an outspoken conservative witness, she earned the moniker, "Dragon Lady." The Anglican traditionalist movement in the United States acclaimed Mrs. Faber its organizer when she spearheaded the 1977 Anglican Congress in St. Louis, Mo. that led to the largest separation in the history of the Episcopal Church.

Following the service, friends of Mrs. Faber are invited to join the Anglican Guild at a fellowship hour. Tributes may be sent to the Guild of the Holy Trinity, 1931 Norwood Drive, Grosse Pointe Woods, 48236.

Lucile O. Helms

Raffle benefits hospital guild

Tickets are still available for the "Pot of Gold" raffle sponsored by the Bon Secours Hospital Guild. A total of $9,500 in cash prizes will go to 18 winners.

Two $500 winners will be selected each week during the four weeks between Tuesday, Sept. 28 and Tuesday, Oct. 19. The 5,000 grand prize winner will be selected at the Guild's luncheon-card party on Oct. 26 in Bon Secours Hospital's Science Hall.

In addition to the grand prize, eight $50, bonus winners and a $100 winner will be chosen on Oct. 26.

Only 1,000 tickets at $25 each are available. Tickets may be shared among two or more people. The ticket cost is tax-deductible.

Proceeds from the Guild's "Pot of Gold" raffle will support Bon Secours Hospital programs as do all of the Guild's fund-raising activities throughout the year.

To purchase tickets, call 772-5121 or 881-4353.

First run and fifties sci-fi films at DIA

"Sisters," a 1981 work by German filmmaker Margarethe von Trotta, will be shown first-run by the Detroit Film Theater on Friday, Oct. 1, at 7 and 9:30 p.m. in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium.

Tickets at $2 and D.F.T.'s 10-ticket discount coupon book, priced at $15 and good for any 10 admissions to weekend films, may be purchased in advance at the museum ticket office or at the door.

Dealing with two women, one traditional and one unconventional, the film was called "a stunning achievement... the most powerful account of sisterly love/hate since 'Cries and Whispers'" by Village Voice.

The 1974 adaptation of Charles Dickens' "Nicholas Nickleby" will be shown Saturday, Oct. 2, at 7 and 9:30 p.m. The film stars Cedric Hardwicke, Sybil Thorndike and Stanley Holloway, with Derek Bond as Nicholas.

During October, the Afternoon Film Theater will present "Science Fiction Films of the 1950s," five feature-length films, in the Recital Hall.

Tickets at $1 each may be purchased at the door only. With showings daily at 1 p.m. Tuesdays through Sundays, with a different film each week, the schedule is:

- Oct. 1 through 3 — "The Fly." This 1958 film by director Kurt Neuman stars Vincent Price in the story of a scientist involved with matter transference who becomes scrambled with various body parts of a common housefly.
- Oct. 5 through 10 — "The Invasion of the Body Snatchers." Director Don Siegal called the 1956 film his best, the original version which deals with a small California town invaded by pods that reproduce their victims physically but not emotionally.
- Oct. 12 through 17 — "Space Children." Jack Arnold directed this 1958 film about children of a missile base technician who are possessed by an alien intelligence in a conspiracy against their parents.
- Oct. 19 through 24 — "Village of the Damned." George Sanders stars in this 1959 Wolf Rilla film about nine identical children born to different parents who develop powers of telepathy and abilities to dominate.
- Oct. 26 through 31 — "The Colossus of New York." In this 1958 film directed by Eugene Lourie, a scientist builds an automaton to house his brain after death to carry on his noble work.

For a detailed schedule of the Afternoon Film Theater's series or the Detroit Film Theater's weekend movies, call the Art Institute at 832-2730.

North presents undersea films

John Stoneman, Canadian cinematographer, will present an evening of underwater films Saturday, Oct. 2, at 7:30 p.m. at Grosse Pointe North High School sponsored by the D.L.R. Enterprises of Detroit and the Windsor Underwater Society.

Tickets, priced at $7.50 for adults and $5 for senior citizens and children, and information about the films are available by calling D.L.R. Enterprises at 521-3061 or the Windsor Underwater Society at 1-519-948-5847.

Seven marine environment films will be shown for the first time in the area. During intermission, a painting by artist Richard Ellis will be auctioned and door prizes will be given away. Proceeds will go to the World Wildlife Fund.

Stoneman, of Mako, Ltd. in Toronto, Canada, is well-known throughout Canada and Detroit for his films and documentaries. All profits from the films will go to the World Wildlife Fund for worldwide conservation.

You too can be creative

The Junior League of Detroit is sponsoring a workshop entitled "Developing Your Creative Self" on Tuesday, Oct. 12, at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore Road. The workshop will run from 7 to 9:30 p.m. and will cost $4 for materials.

Dr. Leah B. Hoopfer of Michigan State University will be the workshop leader. She will cover the use of creativity in problem solving, how to nourish creativity in yourself and others, examine the barriers to creativity in problem solving, how to nourish creativity in yourself and others, examine the barriers to creativity and how to avoid them, and how you can become comfortable with creative problem solving and risk taking.

The workshop is the second of a series entitled "Building Blocks to Making a Difference" to be sponsored by the Junior League of Detroit during the coming months. Reservations may be made by sending a check for $4 payable to the Junior League, 32 Lakeshore, Grosse Pointe Farms. The deadline for reservations is Oct. 8. Additional information may be obtained by calling 881-0040.

RICH RIESLINGS
The After Dinner Wines

When the Riesling grapes are left on the vine until late in the year, sometimes into November and December, the natural sugars often reach more than one-third the weight of the fruit.

Long, cool fermentation retains the flowery aroma. Alcohol levels can be as low as seven percent in these wines. The opulent flavors have been likened to apricots, peaches and pineapples.

To distinguish these wines from drier Rieslings the label will usually carry a Late Harvest designation (U.S. and Australia), or, Spatlese, Auslese, Beerenauslese and Trockenbeerenauslese (Germany).

Delicious in their youth, these rare dessert wines have the capacity to age well.

Church states Madonna fest

Madonna Festival, a quality exhibition of religious art, will be presented by the Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church, Dec. 2, 3 and 4.

Artists are invited to participate in the festival, by submitting recent and original concepts on the Madonna theme. Media considered include paintings, drawing, sculpture, textiles, fibers, photography, etc. Work will be limited to three pieces and there will be a $10 non-refundable entry fee. Paintings and drawings must be framed, wired and ready for hanging.

The exhibition reception, honoring the artists and the award ceremony will be held Dec. 2, from 6 to 8 p.m. The art show will continue Dec. 3 and 4, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The public is invited to the art show and reception free of charge.

Written inquiries should be addressed to the church, 211 Moross Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich., 48236. Entry forms or further information are available by telephoning 886-2363 or 886-3898.

A novel ready for possible publication faces odds against its sale of 14,999 to one.

Employes earn ribbons in photo exhibit

Cottage Hospital employes recreated the summer of 1982 in an exhibit held Sept. 20 to 24 in the hospital cafeteria, addressing the theme, "What I Did This Summer."

Charles P. Crawford, Radiology, won four ribbons including Best of Show — Color, first place — Land and Sea, first and second place — Most Unusual. Best of Show — Black and White went to Kathy Varcoe, EKG. Beth Jones, Administration, received the People's Choice award for her cliff-top view of Ouimet Canyon in Ontario. The People's Choice award was decided by popular vote of the employes during the first two days of the exhibit.

The Education department took the People and Animals category with a first place ribbon going to Tricia Barber, and Pat Gauvin-Gaskell winning second and third place honors. Other prize winners were Joe Manuszak, Social Work, second place — Land and Sea, and Jan Duster, Public Relations, third place — Land and Sea.

Judges for the first Cottage Hospital employe photo contest were the hospital's own photographer, Margaret Sands, commercial photographer John Barker of St. Clair Photographic, and portrait photographer Terrence Carmichael from Terrence Carmichael Studio.

In the peaks and valleys of life's journey, one of the lowest has to be that juncture when a decision must be made to place a loved one in a nursing home. Even when the move is necessary for the person's welfare, there is a sorrow experienced when someone close to you must be taken from the familiarity and freedom of independent living and placed under the jurisdiction and control of others. It is a hard move to make and one fraught by misgivings and guilt. There are always nagging thoughts that by extending ourselves, we might have made it possible for them to remain at home. This happens even when we know that such a move is necessary for the person's health and safety. The problem then becomes one of choosing the best facility.

WE ARE FORTUNATE in the metropolitan Detroit area that we have many good nursing homes. However there are some which are not so good. To be sure of choosing the best, it is important to visit several before making a decision. This is an obvious step that any concerned person would take.

At present time, choosing the best may not be too difficult. In the future it could become more so, because Secretary Richard Schweiker, who heads up the department of Health and Human Services (DHHS), wants to relax regulation of nursing homes so these institutions won't be burdened by too many inspectors or paperwork. Such a move could result in setting back the hard-earned advances that have been made in the quality of nursing home care.

It is a basic fact that good services are the result of regulation and demand. Those who labored for many years for the establishment of standards for nursing homes can vouch for that. Not so long ago, it was not uncommon to read of instances of nursing homes that were dirty and infested with roaches where older people were ill-fed, ill-cared for and even abused. Due to the efforts of concerned citizens who worked for stricter laws and frequent inspections, conditions improved.

Now the deregulators are trying to reduce the inspection process homes for the aged must undergo from once a year inspections to once every two year visits and there would be no mandatory follow up inspection. Inspectors could verify the correction of problems by telephone or letter.

CONTRAST THIS with the present system where state agencies are required to verify the elimination of violations with 90 days and see what leeway it gives to unscrupulous owners whose main motive is profit. There is another factor to consider. Under the new regulations nursing homes would no longer have to provide staffing information on a quarterly basis. Instead, a private industry group, the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH), would take over the monitoring duties.

State and local authorities are equally upset by the suggested change in standards. They fear that slipshod and hazardous conditions would exist in the multi-billion dollar industry if policing of nursing homes is turned over to the JCAH.

To begin with, JCAH, as a private industry, is not required to account to the public or to federal or state agencies. It can apply its own standards and it doesn't have to publicize inspection reports. There is also a strong possibility of conflict of interest between JCAH board members and home operators. Edward J. Kuriansky, deputy attorney general for Medicaid and Fraud Control in New York, protests:

"Two years is simply too long to wait to determine that staff levels are inadequate, particularly when the average resident remains in a nursing home for only two years. What we must have learned from the scandals of the 1970s is that this is an industry and a program which requires vigorous public and governmental scrutiny."

Kuriansky also objected to a proposed change that would eliminate an automatic stoppage of Medicare and Medicaid money to nursing home violators if they failed to remedy their faults by a specific deadline. He pointed out that it was naive to expect that a facility operator no longer under threat of automatic cancellation would have any incentive to bring his home up to code.

In addition to the possible relaxation of regulations of nursing homes and what it could mean to 1.3 million elderly Americans (40,000 in Michigan alone), there is another factor to consider. Because of Medicare's policy of providing treatment for hospitalized patients up to 60 days and up to 100 days in a skilled nursing home, the problem of paying for longer care must be met.

PRIVATE HEALTH insurance is no solution. It is difficult to find any insurance for long-term care. When the patient uses up the allotted hospital time, even the major medical policies usually exclude nursing home care. Families often must pick up the bill for long-term care of their elderly.

This occurs despite Medicaid because to establish eligibility for Medicaid individuals must impoverish themselves.

If there are Social Security or Supplemental Security Income payments, this money goes to the state which then allows the nursing home patients $25 as a personal allowance.

Besides declaring oneself a virtual pauper, there are other strings attached to remaining in a nursing home after the Medicaid payments have been exhausted. Children are not financially responsible for the care of parents, but a spouse is.

Thus the situation arises where one party may require nursing home care while the other does not. In this instance in order to maintain a wife or husband in a nursing home, the spouse could deplete a lifetime's savings. That is why we read of couples married 50 years divorcing to enable one of them to get nursing home subsidy without totally impoverishing the other.

These are problems that prospective nursing home patients face. They should not be compounded by relaxed standards resulting from poor regulation.

There is also a real danger of this happening even in nursing homes that try to maintain good conditions if Medicaid payments already too low to permit operation of quality homes are reduced.

Nursing homes need to improve. Medicaid payments should be improved, not cut. They should not be permitted to escape public scrutiny behind private reports or any other organization that would make life there less rather than better. Nursing homes are not orphanages for adults or dumping grounds for older persons who are not wanted.

These problems should be considered by those who recognize that providing long-term care may be necessary for someone close to them in the future. Bodies wear out and minds deteriorate. When this happens, everyone wants what is left of a loved one's life to be comfortable, free of distress and reasonably happy.

Those who have no close relatives facing the prospect of spending the rest of their days in a nursing home, in the name of humanity, will want to insure decent living conditions for those who have earned that right by their contributions during the years, by expressing their displeasure of such measures as advocated by Secretary Schweiker.

ANOTHER WAY concerned people can help is by "adopting" an older person who is living in a nursing home and has no one to visit him. There are many such residents who have outlived friends and relatives and who are truly alone. Sadly, there are some who have relatives who have abandoned them. It is a pathetic sight to see an older person sitting alone in a corner looking wistfully at those lucky ones who have visitors to talk to, to bring them little gifts or take them out once in a while. Sometimes they will try to join in a conversation, or ask for a small service or just reach out and touch the hand of a person passing by. They are so lonely and hungry for human companionship.

There is a certain antipathy to visiting a nursing home, even the best of them. Perhaps part of the distaste comes from a hidden fear that this could be our own future. And again, it is not pleasant to witness how vulnerable our bodies are to time and sickness. It is not pleasant to look at faces distorted by stroke, twisted by arthritis, confined to wheelchairs and supported by walkers.

But it is inspiring to see how heroically these older people accept their illnesses and how valiantly they cling to life. A visitor comes away with a whole new perspective. If life is so precious under such circumstances, how much more should it be for those who have their health and how much more should we treasure our days, forget our problems and count our blessings.

CITY OF Grosse Pointe Farms MICHIGAN CODE NO. 6-01 AMENDMENT TO THE UNIFORM TRAFFIC CODE ORDINANCE NO. 256 AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION 2 OF THE UNIFORM TRAFFIC CODE... SECTION 1. Section 2 of the Uniform Traffic Code Ordinance Code No. 6-01, enacted as Ordinance No. 179 on August 9, 1971, and amended by Ordinance No. 212 on July 16, 1978, and amended by Ordinance No. 252 on July 12, 1982, is hereby amended to add the following additional subsections: Section 5.15. Amended to read as follows: Sec. 5.15. Operating a vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or a controlled substance. (1) A person, whether licensed or not, who is under the influence of intoxicating liquor or a controlled substance, or a combination of intoxicating liquor and a controlled substance, shall not operate a vehicle upon a highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, in the City of Grosse Pointe Farms. A police officer may, without a warrant, arrest a person when the police officer has reasonable cause to believe that the person is under the influence of an intoxicating liquor and a controlled substance, or a combination of intoxicating liquor and a controlled substance. A violation of this subsection is punishable as provided in subsections (3) and (4). (2) The owner of a vehicle or a person in charge or in control of a vehicle shall not authorize or knowingly permit the vehicle to be operated upon a highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, within the City of Grosse Pointe Farms by a person who is under the influence of intoxicating liquor or a controlled substance, or a combination of intoxicating liquor and a controlled substance. A violation of this subsection is punishable as provided in subsections (3) and (4). (3) A person who is convicted of a violation of subsection (1) or (2) is guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment for not more than ninety (90) days, or a fine of not less than One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) nor more than Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00), or both, together with costs of prosecution. A subsequent offense is punishable as follows: a. On a second conviction under this section, or a state statute substantially corresponding to this section, a person is guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment for not more than 1 year, or a fine of not more than $1,000.00, or both. b. On a third or subsequent conviction within a period of 10 years under this section, or a state statute substantially corresponding to this section, a person is guilty of a felony. (4) Upon conviction of a person under this section, or a state statute substantially corresponding to this section, in addition to the penalty imposed under subsection (3) and as part of the sentence, shall order the operator's or chauffeur's license of that person to be suspended by the secretary of state for a period of not more than 2 years and may order the secretary of state to issue to that person a restricted license permitting the person to drive only a specified portion of the period of suspension to drive only to and from the person's residence and place of employment; in the course of employment; to and from an alcohol training program as ordered by the court; or pursuant to a combination of those restrictions. The court shall not order the secretary of state to issue a restricted license unless the court is satisfied that the person is otherwise eligible for a license, issue to the person a restricted license stating the driving privileges indicated on the abstract of conviction, shall indicate the sentence imposed pursuant to subsections (3) and (4). Upon receipt of, and pursuant to the abstract of conviction, the secretary of state shall suspend the license and, if ordered by the court and the person is otherwise eligible for a license, issue to the person a restricted license stating the driving privileges indicated on the abstract. If the license is not forwarded to the secretary of state, an explanation of the reason why the license is absent shall be attached. If the conviction is appealed to the circuit court, that court may, ex parte, order the secretary of state to rescind the suspension or restricted license issued pursuant to this section. Sec. 5.15a. Amended to read as follows: Sec. 5.15a. Operating a vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor; tests. (1) In a criminal prosecution for operating a vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or for operating a vehicle while visibly impaired, the amount of alcohol in the driver's blood at the time alleged as shown by chemical analysis of the person's blood, urine, or breath shall be admissible into evidence. If a test is given, the results of the test shall be made available to the person charged or the person's attorney upon written request to the prosecution, with a copy of the request filed with the court. The prosecution shall furnish the report at the least two (2) days before the day of the trial and the results shall be offered as evidence by the prosecution in a criminal proceeding. Failure to fully comply with the request shall be deemed a waiver of the results into evidence by the prosecution. The amount of alcohol in the driver's blood at the time alleged as shown by chemical analysis of the person's blood, urine, or breath shall give rise to the following presumptions: (a) If there was at the time 0.08% or less by weight of alcohol in the defendant's blood, it shall be presumed that the defendant was under the influence of intoxicating liquor. (b) If there was at the time in excess of 0.07% but less than 0.08% by weight of alcohol in the defendant's blood, it shall be presumed that the defendant's ability to operate a vehicle was impaired within the provisions of section 5.15b due to the consumption of intoxicating liquor. (c) If there was at the time 0.10% or more by weight of alcohol in the defendant's blood, it shall be presumed that the defendant was under the influence of intoxicating liquor. (2) A sample or specimen of urine or breath shall be taken and collected in a reasonable manner. Only a licensed physician or a licensed nurse or medical technician under the direction of a licensed physician and qualified to withdraw blood acting in a medical environment, at the request of a police officer, may withdraw blood for the purpose of determining the alcoholic content of the blood under this section. Liability for a refusal or a refusal to give a sample or specimen of urine or breath and related procedures shall not attach to a qualified person who withdraws blood in accordance with this section unless the withdrawal is performed in a negligent manner. (3) A person charged with a crime enumerated in subsection (1) who takes a chemical test administered at the request of a police officer, as provided in subsections (1) and (2), shall be informed that the person will be given a reasonable opportunity to have a person of his or her own choosing administer one of the tests provided in this section, within a reasonable time after his or her detention, and the results of the test shall be admissible and shall be considered with other competent evidence in determining the innocence or guilt of the defendant. A person charged with a crime enumerated in subsection (1) who is required by the police officer to give a chemical test as provided in subsections (1) and (2) shall be informed that he or she has the right to demand that one of the tests provided for in subsection (1) shall be given to him or her, and the results of the test shall be admissible and shall be considered with other competent evidence in determining the innocence or guilt of the defendant. (4) The person charged shall be advised that the person's refusal to take a test as provided in this section shall result in the suspension or revocation of his or her operator's or chauffeur's license or his or her operating privilege. (5) This section shall not be construed as limiting the introduction of any other competent evidence bearing upon the question of whether or not the defendant was under the influence of intoxicating liquor. (6) Notwithstanding any other provision of this code, a person requested to take this test shall be advised that he or she has the option to demand that only a breath test shall be given. In which case his or her refusal to submit to another test shall not constitute a refusal for the purposes of sections 5.15c and 5.15d. (7) If a jury instruction regarding a defendant's refusal to submit to a chemical test under this section is requested by the prosecution of the defendant the jury instruction shall be given as follows: "Evidence was admitted in this case which, if believed by the jury, could prove that the defendant had exercised his or her right to refuse a chemical test. You are instructed that such a refusal is within the statutory rights of the defendant and is not evidence of his guilt. You are not to consider such a refusal in determining the guilt or innocence of the defendant."

Computers are popular at Pierce

Pierce Middle School has acquired several new pieces of computer equipment this year to accommodate the growing number of students enrolled in computer math classes.

The new equipment includes four Apple microcomputers and an Epson printer, according to George Sperry, Pierce computer math teacher. The printer interfaces with Pierce's six Apple microcomputers.

Other computer equipment used by Pierce students included an Atari microcomputer with cassette recorder and television set, two monitors, and a decwriter, coupler, phone and card reader which communicate with a Hewlett-Packard computer by means of time-sharing telephone hook-up.

Almost 80 of Pierce's 400 students meet every other day to learn BASIC computer language and study model programs, Sperry said. Later, the students will create their own programs. Classes run throughout the school year.

Instructions and data for student-prepared programs are stored on disks, tapes and cards. Answers and results are viewed on the monitors and/or printed out.

Sperry said students also explore color graphic capabilities of the microcomputers and learn about the impact of computers on the work environment of today and tomorrow.

"We began computer math classes at Pierce 10 years ago with 30 students. Today this subject has become one of our most popular elective courses," Sperry said.

"I believe this reflects the growing importance of computers in almost every career field, from medicine and law, to finance, economics and science."

Liggett welcomes new faculty

University Liggett School welcomed 884 students to the first day of classes on Sept. 8, according to administrators. The number of students new to ULS was 149, including students in Pre-Kindergarten, Lower, Middle and Upper Divisions, school officials said.

Twenty-one new faculty members have joined the ULS staff. Six of these have had previous ULS appointments. Sue Frederick who graduated from Southern Illinois and Northern Michigan Universities teaches Upper School Spanish and coaches, after teaching at Lake Orion High School. Francoise Marcus, who attended Wayne State University and taught formerly with Southfield's Lycee International, will teach Upper School French. A former translator who trained at Oakland University, Hannelore Self will teach German part-time at the Upper School.

Joining the Upper School in history and as head football coach is Chet Janiga, formerly of The Berkshire School in Massachusetts, who received degrees from Bates and Trinity Colleges. Three part-time teachers at the Upper School are Mary McAfee, graduate of Carleton College, teaching science and coaching, Caroline von Stade, graduate of the University of North Carolina (Chapel Hill) and the University of Virginia, teaching English, and Karen Smith, graduate of Wittenberg University, teaching physical education.

At the Middle School Melinda Reuter will teach science and coach. She is a graduate of Franklin and Marshall College. Returning to the Middle School in physical education is coach Domenic B. Facciola, as well as Judy Ulrich who graduated from the University of Wisconsin and Michigan State University and will continue to teach ULS drama as she did during the 1980-81 school year. A further addition to the Middle School is Berina Anderson in visual art, who graduated from Alma College and taught at St. Alphonsus Grade-High School in Dearborn.

Susan S. Hamburger, a graduate of Emory University, will teach reading part-time at the Middle School. After teaching at Athens College in Greece, Anne Browning, a graduate of Northwestern University and the University of North Carolina (Chapel Hill), will teach Middle School English.

At the Lower School a new addition in music is Edie Horning, graduated from Oakland University, who has taught in Oxford, Michigan and substituted at ULS. Sarah Dundas, a graduate of Ohio State University and recently returned from England, will be a teaching assistant at the Lower School. Pamela A. W. Newbacher will act as Lower and Middle School Reading Coordinator, and comes from teaching in Toronto, with degrees from the University of Michigan.

New kindergarten teacher is Evie Cobden who graduated from Vanderbilt University and taught at the Brunswick School in Greenwich, Conn. Two new staff members in Pre-Kindergarten are Elisabeth L. Smith, a graduate of American University, and Judy Miller, a graduate of Eastern Michigan University.

South's bands plan busy year

With the beginning of the school year behind them, the Grosse Pointe South High School Bands and Orchestra, under the direction of Ralph Miller are ready for the busy year ahead.

Preparations for the 1982-83 season actually began last year with the election of the band and orchestra executive board. This year's officers are: Mike Goetz, president; Marty Hegar, first vice-president; Kelly Leon, second vice-president; Gunther Brinkman, treasurer; Jennifer Ward, secretary; and Helen Anne D'Alessandro, publicity chairman.

Grosse Pointe South's instrumental music department is made up of many groups, including the Symphony Orchestra which consists of a ninth, 10, 11, and 12 grade string section and combines with the wind and brass section for its concerts. The Concert Band is made up of freshmen, while the Symphonic Band has older and advanced students as its members.

The Marching Band and Jazz Band are both voluntary groups. Students from every grade, whether they play an instrument or not, are eligible for the Marching Band which plays at many of South's sporting events. The Jazz Band is an elective credit class and performs for local social functions.

Besides traditional concerts, many other activities are underway in South's music department. South's Homecoming is scheduled for Oct. 23, and the Band and Orchestra has planned numerous pompom parties for its float. The annual fruit sale, a longtime tradition of the instrumental music department, begins in early November. Much of the money raised from the sale benefits the music scholarship fund for students.

The Band and Orchestra's first performance of the year is the annual Cabaret Pops Concert on Nov. 13, featuring both the Concert and Symphonic Band, the Symphony Orchestra and the Jazz Band. Other performances include the Christmas Concert at Christ Church; the Mid-Winter Concert at Parcels school; the District and State Band and Orchestra Festival and the annual concert at Orchestra Hall.

Mike Goetz, president of the Bands and Orchestra said: "There are more students in the Band and Orchestra than in previous years and they all have a great deal of talent. We are looking forward to having a great year."

Man chases burglar from home

An Ellair Place resident returned to his home at about 9 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 21 to discover a burglar in his house. When the resident approached the home the thief escaped out a back door and over a fence, taking jewelry, according to Park police.

The burglar was described as a white male teenager, about 5 feet 8 inches tall and 150 pounds, police said. He apparently gained entry into the house by throwing a piece of cement through the front room window and unlocking the window.

Dishwasher stolen

A thief or thieves broke into a Grayton Road garage and stole a portable dishwasher, leaving two bicycles, a clothes dryer and washer behind, according to Grosse Pointe Park police reports on Sept. 11.

The school closing issue

The report that enrollment in the Grosse Pointe public schools has now dropped to the 1955 levels ought to arouse even greater interest in the community forum scheduled for Nov. 4 by the Committee for the Future Organization of the School System to discuss the impact of enrollment declines in the Pointes.

The committee has been working with staff members of the school system for several months to prepare recommendations to the Board of Education in December or early next year. The November meeting would give community residents an opportunity to hear some of the proposed recommendations and to provide additional input to the committee's thinking.

WHATEVER THE committee's recommendations, one will have to deal with the possible closing of one or more schools. That is one of the touchiest questions to emerge from the decline in enrollment. It is difficult for any parent to remain completely objective in discussing the issue, especially if it involves the closing of the school that his or her children attend. It is always easier to propose the closing of a school or schools that other parents' children attend.

Yet it is clear that the enrollment decline that has been in effect since the school enrollment reached its peak of 13,700 students in 1971 is not a temporary phenomenon. The fact that the decline has been steady for more than a decade offers proof of its permanence. In addition, because of the declining birthrate in the Pointes and the unlikelihood of any population increase, administrators are already predicting a low of only about 5,000 students in the Grosse Pointe schools in 1986-87. That compares with this year's unofficial headcount of 7,786.

Such facts and predictions spur talk — and demands from some quarters — for school closings in the Grosse Pointe district.

Under these circumstances, it is only natural for rumors to start circulating about which schools are targeted for closing. The fact is, however, that no decisions have been made yet by either the citizens' committee or the Board of Education. The rumors about the possible closing of Mason School grew so strong last week that Superintendent Kenneth Brummel issued a sharp denial that any building had been targeted for such an action.

"Even if the citizens' group does make a recommendation to close buildings, the Board of Education will make the final decision," Brummel said, "and I can assure you the board will not reach decisions in this regard without adequate notice to the community and every opportunity provided for community participation in the decision."

It is obvious that the size of the administrative staff, the number of teachers required and other facets of the school system are also being affected by the continuing decline in enrollment. But the school closing issue is one that appears to touch parents closest to home, and for obvious reasons. Parents want their children to walk to school whenever possible and otherwise to have the easiest possible access to school.

YET THE OVERALL interests of the community, non-parents as well as parents, must be considered. At some point it simply becomes uneconomical to maintain some school buildings, even though closings are not without expense as well. These are facts of life that parents and administrators must keep in mind as they assess the future of the Grosse Pointe public schools.

Grosse Pointe's system has a fine reputation and we are sure most residents want to keep it and even improve it if possible. That is why the recommendations of the citizens' committee are being awaited with keen interest, especially now that enrollment is down to the 1955 level. The low head count also should spur public interest in the Oct. 28 community forum at which all the school problems will be discussed in depth.

New road reform supported

Both candidates for Wayne County commissioner from the 1st District that includes the Pointes now have supported new legislation that calls for an election next year on the elimination of the controversial Wayne County Road Commission.

Sen. John Hertel, the Democratic nominee for county commissioner, supported the legislation when it cleared the Senate last week, and Barbara Gattorn, the Republican nominee who was a member of the Wayne County Charter Commission, gave it strong endorsement in a statement last week.

"The abolition of the road commission is long overdue," Ms. Gattorn said. "The road commission has operated an intolerable dynasty and has abused its power, wasting valuable taxpayer dollars. It's about time someone in Lansing made it possible to bring the road commission into the mainstream of county government."

THE EASY PASSAGE of the legislation was something of a surprise because the road commission was successful in lobbying in Lansing several years ago to prevent the bill that authorized a vote on a Wayne County charter from making many substantive changes in the road commission.

The new county executive presently will have authority to appoint or remove the three road commission members, with the approval of the county board of commissioners, and also will have some authority over the commission's budget. But the abolition of the commission would remove any doubts about the control that the county executive and the board of commissioners could exert over the employees and the operations of the county roads and the Detroit Metropolitan Airport, now administered by the road commission.

The fact that both candidates for 1st District commissioner joined both nominees for county executive, Sheriff William Lucas and Robert FitzPatrick, in support of the abolition move brightens the prospect of a strong vote in favor of the proposal when it goes on the ballot next year.

Not getting rich on welfare

Every discovery of cheating by public welfare recipients touches off a new wave of talk about people who would prefer to accept state aid than to work for a living. There no doubt are some people who could work who accept aid instead. But the level of payments in Michigan now is hardly high enough to warrant any general conclusion that people prefer welfare benefits to jobs.

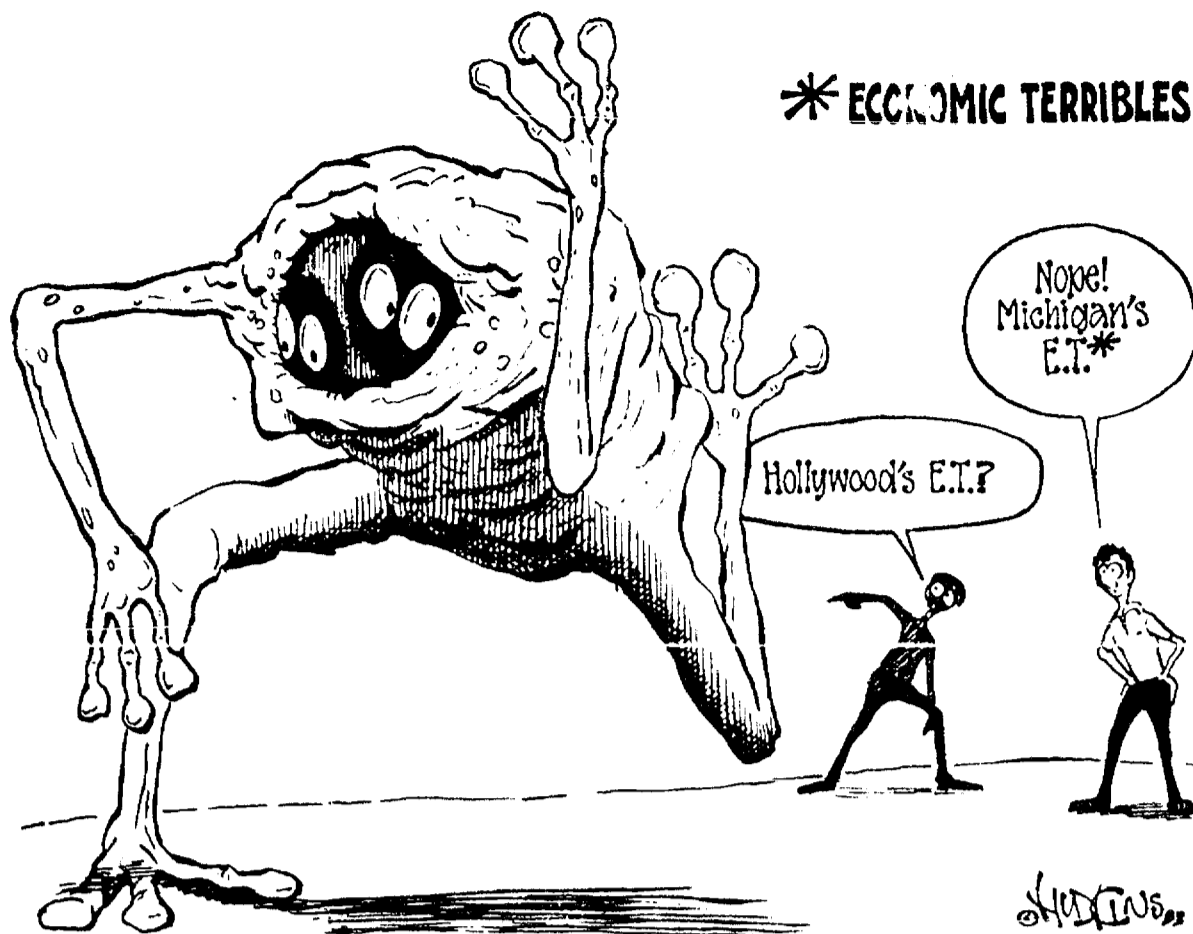

For the third straight year, the Legislature last week froze payments for the Aid to Families with Dependent Children at $3.50 a day, plus $1.23 in food stamps. That total of less than $5 per day is not going to enable the average recipient to live very well, let alone make it possible for him to get rich, even though it can be argued that big families will fare better than small ones.

While the Michigan level is higher than in some nearby states, it is also lower than in such states as Minnesota and Wisconsin. It is overall "about equal" to the payments in neighboring states, one legislator, Rep. David Hollister, D-Lansing, told the Democratic caucus last week before the House finally passed the new freeze. Hollister made another point that is worth considering. He contended welfare is "cheaper" than housing people in prisons, mental hospitals and community facilities. "If you don't pay one place, they (the welfare recipients) are going to pop up somewhere else," he said. "If we don't pay it here, we're going to pay it in prisons, we're going to pay it in mental health."

IT IS UNFORTUNATE that people who cannot take care of themselves adequately suffer from cutbacks and freezes in state aid at a time when inflation is still rising. Many of them simply are not trained for jobs or are physically incapable of working. And among those willing and able to work there is little evidence that they would accept welfare at less than $5 a day, far less than the minimum wage, if jobs of any kind were available.

The fact is that in Michigan's economy, with unemployment still at double-digit levels, there are not very many jobs even for the well trained, and this fact contributes heavily to the size of the welfare rolls in this state.

Church series focuses on family

The adult education program of the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church will offer classes this fall taught by some of American Christianity's well-known names. They include James Dobson (professor of pediatrics at the University of Southern California and a widely-read authority on family life), Edward Bauman (named by Time magazine in 1979 as one of the seven outstanding preachers in the United States), James Wallis (editor of Sojourner's magazine), Tim Foley of the Miami Dolphins and Kyle Rote, Jr. of the Houston Hurricanes.

They will be teaching at the Woods church via videotape or film.

Dobson will teach the filmed course, "Focus on the Family," offered on Sunday evenings from 7 to 8:30 p.m. from Oct. 3 through Nov. 14. Discussions of the films will be led by Dr. Robert Linthicum, pastor of the Woods church, and his wife Marlene. The film course will include such topics as coping with the strong-willed child, Christian fathering, preparing for adolescence, the lonely housewife, money and sex in marriage.

Bauman will present, "The Pearl of Great Price." The purpose of this video course will be to explore the teaching of scripture that money can deepen your relationship with God and others as much as can prayer or meditation, according to the church. Dr. Bauman's guests on these videotapes will be James Wallis, Tim Foley and Kyle Rote, Jr. "The Pearl of Great Price" will be presented on Sunday mornings at 9:30 a.m. from Oct. 3 through Nov. 14. Childcare will be provided.

Other educational opportunities offered by the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church this fall include a course on the New Testament already underway, an orientation for visitors and friends entitled "What Is a Presbyterian?", small study and support groups and the study of the personality theories of C.G. Jung.

Courses at the church are open to the public. Anyone interested in enrolling in any of these courses should contact the church, 19950 Mack Avenue in Grosse Pointe Woods, at 886-4300.

Jogging rules on right track

To the Editor:

I would like to comment on the editorial in the Sept. 16 paper about the protection of joggers. Although I've had little driving experience, I have found out how dangerous it really is to jog in the street. I think that some action should be taken to protect these dedicated runners from crazy drivers and vicious dogs.

I feel, however, that lawmakers are getting a bit carried away with their threats of fines as high as $250 and jail terms up to 90 days. But, the reflective clothing at 500 feet is a good idea. In all, I believe the regulation of jogging is terrific as long as it's reasonable.

Tina Volis
Grosse Pointe Woods

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to express my approval of the new Grosse Pointe Farms ordinance protecting joggers. This ordinance requires joggers to use the sidewalks and to wear reflective clothing. Drivers will agree it is extremely difficult to see joggers at night without such gear.

Joggers, however, may be "grim about government regulation of their sport." If it saves one life it is worth adopting it in all the Pointes.

District court is a problem

To the Editor:

Regarding an article in the Sept. 16 edition, "Sen. Kelly reintroduces local district court bill," I found myself disagreeing with the proposal of a district court.

The article states the court would be formed by all the Pointe municipal courts. I really can't say that this is an improvement. For one thing, the cost of operating such a court, per year, would be $450,000 more than the usual cost of $7,000 for the separate municipal courts.

The city will also be losing a lot of their government control under a district court system. Lastly, they will have to hire more people for the new unfilled jobs. These people for the jobs, will, of course, have to be paid for by the city.

All these problems could be eliminated if we were to keep our court system as it is now.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

For the 56th year in a row The International Institute of Metropolitan Detroit is bringing the world to Detroit via the Original Old World Market and, as always, Grosse Pointers are involved in many phases of the four-day festival at the Institute's building on East Kirby Street, across from the Detroit Institute of Arts, in the heart of Detroit's University Cultural Center.

The fun begins at 11 a.m. today with performances by the German Carpathia Folkdancers and the St. Andrew's Society Highland Bagpipers. This evening's Old World Market entertainment is virtually all-Grosse Pointe: at 6 p.m. Doug Bastianelli, of Maison Road, will perform classical music by Italian composer Clementi, at 7 p.m. Assumption Church's Greek Dancers take center stage and at 8 p.m. Jean Fine, of Bournemouth Road, brings her Mahealani Polynesian Dancers to the Market. Jean is not of Polynesian descent, but her heart's all-Islands. She has studied Polynesian dancing extensively, and made many trips to the Islands.

Tomorrow, Irene Hatchez, of Raymond Road, adds another exotic note to the Old World Market when she performs Middleeastern dancing at 5 p.m. Mrs. Hatchez, who began to study bellydancing five years ago, has performed at numerous Greek and Middleeastern nightclubs.

Entertainment at the Market is virtually continuous, ranging from Ukrainian Sword to African Tribal to bamboo-jumping Philippino dancers, but it's by no means all that's offered. The Old World Market, born in the Depression, was originally conceived as a means for new immigrants to earn a little money by selling their old world crafts, and craft sales, displays and demonstrations continue to be a feature of the international festival.

Robert Ramsey, of Grayton Road, is once again bringing fine art and artifacts imported from Poland by the Friends of Polish Art to the Market. The artistry of Laotian immigrants, one of Detroit's newest ethnic groups, is evident in a stunning group of brightly-colored, whimsical fabric squares of all sizes, handsewn and embroidered by women of the Hmong Tribe.

Craft demonstrations range from Estonian woodburning to Swedish wheatweaving. And then there's the food! French, Polish, Bulgarian, Scandinavian, Arab, Greek . . . beer and wine gardens . . . an International Pastry Shop offering 50 different delights from the numerous ethnic bakeries located throughout metropolitan Detroit and Windsor. The Pastry Shop sells out daily.

Of course, there are ethnic cooking demonstrations, too. And a chance to win an "international" prize: a trip

First holiday fair of the season . . .

Think Halloween, think Thanksgiving, think — Christmas! Wouldn't it be wonderful to have your holiday gift list checked off early this year, so you could settle back and really enjoy the next three months? You can make an early start on that gift list next Thursday, Oct. 7, when the first Christmas fair of the season, the Holiday Mart sponsored annually by the Gift Shop Guild of the Cottage Hospital Auxiliary, is presented from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in a new location: the Crystal Ballroom of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Wonderful handmade goodies, attic treasures and gifts of all kinds, toys, jewelry, lingerie, stationery, Christmas cards and books will be available on the well-stocked shelves of the Mart's booths. BETTY PARKINSON (right) and MARGARET LAYSON (left), co-chairmen of the project, and INEZ MULLANEY (center), in charge of the money tree prize drawing, invite everyone to come to their fair. Mrs. Paul Moreland and her group of ladies have been working all year on the boutique. Other Cottage Auxiliaries involved with the Mart include Mrs. Robert Sutton, Mrs. B.R. Maile, Mrs. S. Sidney Newhouse, Mrs. Frank Skinner, Mrs. Joseph Fitz, Mrs. George Sibilsky, Mrs. Otto Netschke, Mrs. Fred Gies, Mrs. William Turner, Mrs. Otto Theuerkorn, Mrs. Gay M. Island setting for August rites

Members of the immediate families and a few close friends journeyed to the bridegroom's island in Georgian Bay for the mid-August marriage of Marianne Tompkins and Gregory Edward Kassab.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Tompkins, who entertained at a reception in their Tonnacour Place home Saturday, August 28, in honor of the couple, wore a turn-of-the-century wedding dress of antique white lace.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's brother, John Tompkins Jr., of Chicago, the bridegroom's brother, Robert Kassab, of Pompano Beach, Jeannie Pearce and her husband Tony Gave, of Kennett Square, Pa., and Robin Tilghman, of Fairfield, Conn.

The newlyweds, at home on Lincoln Road, plan to vacation in the South Pacific this winter.

Mrs. Eric L. Becker

July wedding for Lisa Sutton

The wedding of Lisa Sutton and Eric Lee Becker Friday, July 2, in the Grosse Pointe Academy Chapel was followed by a reception at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

They are at home in Laramie, Wyo., where they are attending the University of Wyoming.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bryson C. Sutton, of Bedford Road, selected an old-fashioned gown of organdy with lace accents at neck and wrists for the 5 o'clock ceremony at which Father Jerry Heyman, O.S.A., of Chicago, a family friend, presided.

Her Gibson Girl hat and veil were designed by her Grandmother Sutton. She wore her grandmother's pearl necklace and earrings, and carried an arrangement of silk flowers, stephanotis and ivy.

Honor matron Sue Flamm, of Jacksonville, Fla., honor maid Patricia Oliver, of Jackson, Wyo., and bridesmaids Jean Koss, Marcy and Meighan Sutton, sisters of the bride, and Mary Lou Difeo, the bridegroom's sister, wore puff-sleeved blouses of ivory sheer and floor length skirts of rose taffeta.

The bridegroom, son of Marian Difeo, of Cuyahoga Falls, O., asked Edward Becker to act as best man. Hans and Rockne Becker, Tim Sutton, the bride's brother, Gary Baumer, of Jackson, Wyo., and Mike McShane, a Wisconsin resident, ushered.

The bride's mother wore a street length, beige skirt and peach blouse of crepe material. The bridegroom's mother chose a two-piece, street length jacket dress of ivory and beige crepe. Each mother wore a wrist corsage of cymbidium orchids and stephanotis.

Hillier-Roberts rites in garden

The gardens of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial were the setting for the midsummer marriage of Bernadette Roberta Roberts, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Wilfrid J. Roberts, of Fairfield Road, and Kenneth Royal Hillier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Royal D. Hillier, of Sarasota, Fla.

Presiding at the mid-morning ceremony Saturday, August 7, was The Reverend David Eshelman, of Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her brother, W. John Roberts II, to Trumpets Voluntary, played by a chamber music trio of flute, cello and piano. The bride's cousin, Karen Roberts, sang the theme from Ice Castles and The Wedding Song. The bridegroom's brother, Frederick Hillier, read from Scripture during the 10:30 o'clock ceremony.

A reception followed in the War Memorial's Crystal Ballroom. The newlyweds vacationed in northern Michigan and Florida, and are at home in Harper Woods.

The bridal gown of candlelight silk organza and Alencon lace featured a chapel length train. Seed pearls and iridescents accented its deep, scalloped bodice of re-embroidered lace on English net. Matching lace edged the Capulet bell sleeves of silk organza, an extension of the off-the-shoulder neckline, that covered long, slender lace-on-net sleeves, pearl and iridescent-touched.

The former Miss Roberts' laced, fingertip length veil fell from a spray of crystal and pearl beads. She carried an arrangement of white Tiger lilies and stephanotis.

In amethyst-colored dresses, carrying bouquets of orchids, roses and baby's-breath designed by the bride, were honor attendant Pamela Lynn Nagel and bridesmaids Lynn Martin, Lisa Seymour, a Pi Beta Phi sorority sister of the bride from Hillsdale College, and Michelle McCusker, the bride's cousin.

Best man was Kurt Koebel Mosher. Guests were seated by two brothers of the bridegroom, Maryland resident James Hillier and Texas resident Frederick Hillier, by Zachary Roberts, the bride's brother, and by Robert Scott.

Mrs. Roberts selected a gown of heliotrope crepe and a corsage of lavender roses and baby's-breath for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother complimented her gown of pink voile with a corsage of deep pink roses and baby's-breath.

Boys and Girls Clubs' benefit set at Kmart

The corporate offices of a major retailer are an unlikely setting for a benefit party, but that's just the unusual approach that members of the Women's Association for the Boys and Girls Clubs of Metropolitan Detroit are hoping will attract a large crowd to their Sunday, Oct. 3, open house from 4 to 7 p.m. at Kmart World Headquarters on Big Beaver Road in Troy.

"Come to Kmart for the Kids" say invitations to the affair, which includes a hearty buffet with complimentary bar and guided tours of the extensive art collection maintained throughout the mammoth complex.

"This marks the first time

Kmart corporate offices have been open to the public for such an event," notes Mrs. Bernard Fauber, president of the Women's Association and wife of Kmart's chairman and chief executive officer. "The complex itself is an interesting architectural concept which few people have really seen, and the collection of artwork displayed in the offices and board room rivals a mini-museum."

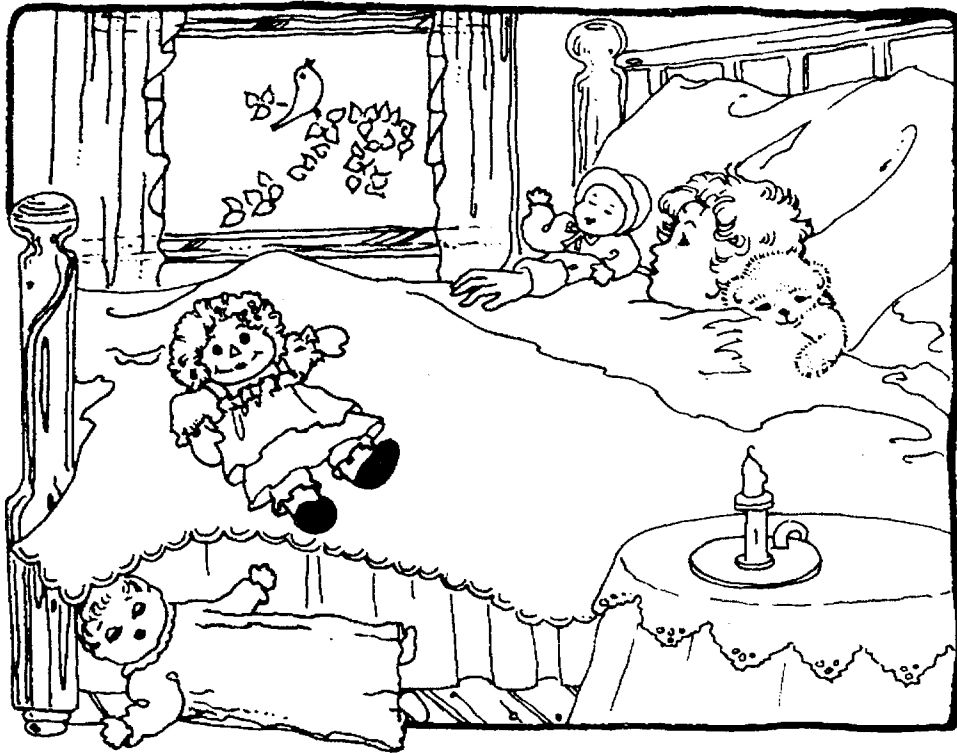

Tickets for this unusual open house are $75 per couple or $37.50 per person, with all proceeds benefiting the activities of the Boys and Girls Clubs. Mrs. Peter Knudsen is chairman of the event.

"In today's troubled economy, the need for Boys and Girls Club services is greater than ever," she says. "This project is one of several conducted by our Women's Association to help continue educational, recreational, social, health and cultural activities provided to over 6,000 area youngsters."

Also lending their time and support to the benefit committee are Mrs. Paul Czamanske, Mrs. Ernest Jones, Mrs. Olaf Holvick, Mrs. Paul Nine, Mrs. John Norris, Mrs. Scott Romney, Mrs. Thomas Schoenith, Mrs. Douglas Schubot and Mrs. Victor Wertz.

Tickets and additional information are available by calling 894-8500 any weekday.

 to Toronto for two, perhaps, or dinner at a local ethnic restaurant. Tomorrow is the Market's children's day; it begins with a special swearing-in ceremony of new citizens of the United States, many of whom are children themselves, and features performances by young folk dancers, an international puppet show, ethnic cooking demonstrations for children and demonstrations of Polish papercutting (Wycinanki).
 Over 50 nations are represented in this year's Old World Market. Over 900 volunteers work to make it work. The Market is open from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. today, tomorrow and Saturday, and from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 3. Admission is $1.50 for adults, 50 cents for children 17 and under and $1 for senior citizens.

The International Institute, a Torch Drive Agency, has been welcoming and aiding new immigrants to the Detroit area for 60 years. Its multi-lingual social service department assisted nearly 2,000 clients last year. The Institute offers ethnic education programs for school children throughout the metropolitan area, English language classes for the foreign-born and a series of continuous ethnic events representing the different ethnic communities of metropolitan Detroit.

A New Nation in Transition
 The third lecture in Sherwin Wine's three-lecture "Nations in Transition" series sponsored by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Council of Sponsors to have focused on the Countries of The Third World — and then came the most recent news from Lebanon, and now all our eyes are on the Middle East where a controversial war is raging, with Lebanese, Israelis and Americans divided over the justice of the invasion and occupation of West Beirut.

And so, instead of reflecting on The Third World as reflected in Richard Crichtfield's "Villages," Dr. Wine will look at the hostility between Christians and Muslims in Lebanon, the ambitions of the Begin Government in Israel and the rivalries among the Arab States when he presents his final "Nations in Transition" program Thursday, Oct. 21, at 8 p.m. at the War Memorial.

Topics for the first two programs remain the same: Russia as described in Serveryn Bialer's "Stalin's Successors" Thursday, Oct. 7, and China as described in Jonathan Spence's "Gate of Heavenly Peace" Thursday, Oct. 14. All three lectures will be presented at 8 p.m. at the War Memorial, where information on tickets, at $19 for the series, may be obtained by calling 881-7511.

Frederic Sibley's Iambic Odyssey
 Add to the list of newly-published books of poetry "An Iambic Odyssey" by Grosse Pointe's Frederic M. Sibley, past-president and poet laureate of the Witenagemote Society, a Detroit literary club. His verses are in the classical tradition, well-structured and rhymed, and his subjects range from the Aleutians in World War II (he served in the United States Navy in the Pacific Theater during that war, leaving the service with the rank of Lieutenant Commander) to Hartwick Pines and MacKinac Island.

He has been deeply influenced by the Japanese poetic forms, haiku and tanka, and has dedicated one section of his book to the Japanese poet Basho. New York's Carlton Press, Inc., is his publisher.

About That AAUW Used Book Sale . . .
 It's that time of year, the Grosse Pointe Branch American Association of University Women's Used Book Sale is underway, and the NEWS' Editorial Department phones are ringing — "Yes, this is Used Book Sale week" . . . "Yes, it's at Salem Memorial Lutheran Church; that's located on Moross Road, between Saint John Hospital and the I-94 expressway . . . on the left if you're coming from Mack to the expressway, on the right if you're coming from the expressway to Mack" . . . "Look, you really can't miss it; there's a big sign out front . . ."

So, since it's obvious that all of those callers are also readers, and might glance at the NEWS before they reach for the phone, here is ALL WE KNOW ABOUT the remaining days of the sale:

- Hours today, Thursday, Sept. 30, are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.
  - Hours tomorrow, Friday, Oct. 1, are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Unadvertised specials are featured Friday.
  - Hours Saturday, Oct. 2, are 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday is half-price sale day.
  - Hours Sunday, Oct. 3, are 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday is Bag Sale day: all the books you can cram into a paper bag (supplied by the AAUW) for $3.
- P.S. The Silent Auction continues until closing time on Sunday, with high bids posted at the end of each day. The high bidder at the end of the sale gets the book or books.

Profile child abuse victim
 Would you recognize a victim of child abuse or neglect if you saw one? Many people think so, but they overlook the fact that maltreatment of children can range from actual physical and sexual abuse to neglect and emotional mistreatment. And while the obvious physical abuse is clearly hazardous, the psychological scars of abuse and neglect are far more subtle and severe.
 To promote the identification of mistreated children, the Michigan State Medical Society offers a profile of characteristics, several of which are likely to be shared by abused and neglected children. Watch for them.
 • They appear different from other children in physical and emotional makeup. Their parents describe them as "different" or "bad."
 • They seem afraid of their parents.
 • They bear bruises, welts, sores and other skin injuries which seem to be untreated.
 • They are given inappropriate food, drink or medication.
 • They are left alone or with inadequate supervision.
 • They are chronically unclean.
 • They are wary of physical contact, particularly with adults. Experience has taught them that they cannot risk getting close to others.
 • They exhibit extremes in behavior, with sudden changes common.
 They may also demonstrate regressive behavior: thumb sucking, bed wetting, whining, uncommon shyness and passivity.
 • They have learning problems that cannot be diagnosed.
 • They are habitually absent from or late to school. This may stem from parents' keeping an injured child home until evidence of abuse is gone. The child may prefer school to the home environment and may arrive there early and stay late.
 • They are tired and often sleep in class.
 • They are not dressed appropriately for the weather. Long sleeves and pants in warm weather may be used to hide signs of abuse. Inadequate clothing in winter may signal a lack of parental concern.
 If you suspect that a child is being abused or neglected, report it immediately! The Michigan State Medical Society stresses that you may be the only chance that child has for a happy and productive life. In most cases reporting abuse forces the family to get the help which enables them to stay together; children are not removed from the home unless they are clearly in danger. And those who report suspected child abuse are immune from civil or criminal liability — even if their suspicions prove wrong.

FLEC Friends to host a tea
 Friends of FLEC will welcome members and prospective members to the Friends' annual membership tea next Wednesday, Oct. 6, from 1 to 3 p.m. in the Grosse Pointe Shores home of Mrs. Anthony Soave. Anyone interested in joining the group is invited to contact the hostess, 886-8166, for further information.
 This relatively young volunteer organization, an auxiliary to the Family Life Education Council, sponsors educational programs and raises funds to assist FLEC with its work in the community.
 The annual Friends of FLEC Detroit Express vs. Grosse Pointe's Best (students and coaches) soccer fund raiser was held Monday, Aug. 30, at University Liggett's Cook Road campus. The Express sent their first and second string players. The game ended in a tie.
 Express players conducted soccer clinics for an hour prior to the game. Food and beverages were available throughout the evening. Soccer balls, donated by local merchants, were half-time prizes.
 Further information on FLEC may be obtained by calling its Mack Avenue headquarters, 885-5222.

Miss Jenske to say vows

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jenske, of Lakepointe Avenue, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Victoria Lynne, to Mark Bernard Mandich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Mandich, of Dyer, Ind. The wedding is planned for next July.

The bride-elect, a Grosse Pointe South High School graduate, is a senior in the College of Nursing at Valparaiso University. Her sorority is Alpha Phi Delta.

Her fiancé was graduated from Dyer's Lake Central High School and the School of Business at Valparaiso University, where he affiliated with Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is associated with the accounting firm of Gale, Takahashi and Channon of Chicago.

Phase I looks at zoo's news

Steve Graham, newly appointed director of the Detroit Zoo, will speak on "Zoos and Conservation," emphasizing the Detroit Zoo's role in this area, at a meeting of Phase I, the organization for single, young adults who gather regularly fall through spring for Sunday evening program meetings at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, this Sunday, Oct. 3, at 7:45 p.m.

Preschool Nutrition workshops slated

An informal workshop on Preschool Nutrition will be presented Monday, Oct. 4, from 1 to 2:30 p.m., and repeated Wednesday, Oct. 6, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the Macomb YWCA, located on East 10 Mile Road in East Detroit.

It will be conducted by Kathy Peet, of the Dairy Council of Michigan, who will help participants determine children's nutritional needs and offer suggestions for healthy meals and snacks that are sure to please the very young set.

The fee of $1 per person includes recipes and other materials. YWCA membership is not necessary; registration information may be obtained by calling 772-4435.

Jean Bethea to be bride

Former Kenwood Court residents Dr. and Mrs. J. Hardee Bethea, who now make their home in Brighton, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Jean Marian, to Bill E. Lindsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Lindsey, of Peattville, Ala. An early January wedding is planned.

Miss Bethea attended the University of Michigan, where she affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta. Her fiancé attended Kansas State University, where he affiliated with Sigma Nu.

Short and to the Pointe

Navy Engineman Fireman WILLIAM S. REDMOND, son of RICHARD L. REDMOND, of Three Mile Drive, recently returned from a six-month deployment to the Western Pacific and Indian Ocean as a crewmember aboard the amphibious transport dock ship USS Duluth, homeported in San Diego, Calif. Port visits were made to Australia, Hong Kong, Singapore, Korea and The Philippines. The ship participated with other United States 7th Fleet units in various training exercises including "Team Spirit 82," a joint exercise involving military forces from the United States and the Republic of Korea.

Marine Reservist Sgt. JOHN P. FERROL, son of SILVIUS P. FERROL, of Blairmoor Court, and EMALENE E. ANDERSON, of St. Clair Shores, recently returned from two-week active duty training at the Marine Corps Air Station, El Toro, Calif. He is a member of Wing Transportation Squadron 47, Selfridge Air National Guard Base.

JOHN F. FENNESSEY, M.D., of Rivard Boulevard, pathologist, Samaritan Health Center-Deaconess Unit, has been nominated by Governor William G. Milliken to the Hospital Capacity Reduction Corporation and its board of trustees.

DIA's spotlight on Art Nouveau and Symbolism

Sensuous, decorative, evocative art of two fin-de-siecle movements, Art Nouveau and Symbolism, is the theme of Night Thoughts and Daydreams, featured exhibition in the Detroit Institute of Arts Schwartz Graphic Arts Galleries now through Sunday, Nov. 28.

More than 150 prints, drawings, posters and books from the museum's permanent collection and loans from public and private collections represent this 1880-1910 period.

"Although the poetic, visionary works characteristic of Symbolism and the elegant designs of Art Nouveau are most identified with artists who worked in Paris, these two allied movements were widespread phenomena," says Ellen Sharp, the DIA's curator of Graphic Arts, who organized the exhibition.

Included are works by American, Belgian, British, Dutch, German and Scandinavian artists — Will Bradley, Maxfield Parrish, James A.M. Whistler, James Ensor, Aubrey Beardsley, Sir Edward Burne-Jones, Max Klinger, Henry van de Velde, Edward Munch — as well as Parisians Pierre Bonnard, Eugene Carriere, Maurice Denis, Henri Fantin-Latour, Paul Gauguin, Odilon Redon, Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec and Edouard Vuillard.

A section of the exhibit is devoted to selections from "L'Éprouve," a publication unique among French print albums published in the 1890s because it combined modern prints and a Symbolist literary supplement.

In 1975, through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Walker, the DIA Department of Graphic Arts received a complete set of the albums of "L'Éprouve," along with the posters issued to advertise this publication.

Night Thoughts and Daydreams is open to the public without charge during regular museum hours: 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday.

Robert Pincus-Witten will present an illustrated talk, Occult Symbolism in France: The Rosicrucian Revival, Thursday, Oct. 7. Witten, professor of art history at City University of New York, is sponsored by the Drawing and Print Club of The Founders Society. His talk at 8 p.m. in the museum's Lecture-Recital Hall is open to the public. Admission is $3 at the door (Founders $2, seniors with ID, $1).

Conference for writers in October

The 21st Annual Writer's Conference, co-sponsored by Oakland University and Detroit Women Writers, is expected to draw up to 400 participants at Oakland University's Oakland Center Building Friday and Saturday, Oct. 22 and 23.

Writing labs for professional critique of manuscripts and poetry will be offered Friday afternoon at Meadow Brook Hall.

Deadline for advance submission of manuscripts and poetry is Oct. 1.

A cocktail and dinner party Friday evening provides an opportunity to meet and talk with conference speakers. Television talk show host John Kelly will address the group after dinner. A detailed brochure describing the Writer's Conference may be obtained by writing or calling the Conference Department, Division of Continuing Education, Oakland University, Rochester, Mich. 48063 (377-3120).

Meet the Masters, co-sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Symphony Women's Association and the Grosse Pointe Public Schools' Continuing Education Department, meets at the Grosse Pointe Central Library, Kercheval Avenue at Fisher Road. Fee per course, for four lectures, is $12, payable before the first class. Information on the afternoon series may be obtained by calling 886-0079. Information on the evening series may be obtained by calling 822-7141.

Learn to live at your peak

A study of 1,500 outstanding achievers in nearly every walk of life reveals that all have certain traits in common. What is surprising is that these traits are not in-born, as one might have thought, but are responses that can be learned by anyone.

The study was conducted by Charles Garfield, director of the Peak Performance Center, and is reported in the September Reader's Digest. Here are some of the qualities that peak performers share:

- They live well-rounded lives: no obsessive "Type A" people these. When Garfield interviewed hard-working top executives in 10 major industries, he found they knew how to relax, could leave their work at the office, prized close friends and family life and spent a healthy amount of time with their children and intimates.
- They are involved in things they care about. "They want internal satisfaction, not just external rewards such as raises, promotions and power," The Digest article explains. "In the end, of course, they often have both."
- They prepare themselves mentally for difficult tasks. Very little is left to chance as they mentally work out for demanding situations. They are result-oriented rather than perfectionists. Says Garfield: "They don't think of their mistakes as failures. Instead, they learn from them so they can do better the next time."

They take risks, as opposed to staying in the "comfort zone." Many high performers carefully calculate what would happen in a "worst case" scenario. If they feel they can live with it, they go ahead and give it a try.

They compete with themselves, not with others. "Because most high performers are interested in doing the best possible job by their own standards, they tend to be team players rather than loners," the article states. "Loners, often over-concerned about rivals, can't delegate important work or decision-making. Their performance is limited because they must do everything themselves."

None of these skills is hereditary; none has to do with luck. As Garfield explains, "You have the power to change your habits of mind and acquire certain skills. And if you choose to do so, you can improve your performance, your productivity and the quality of your whole life."

MOT seeks musicians

An outline of the monthly programs for the upcoming season will be presented. Reservations may be made and further details obtained by contacting the hostess at 884-6188 or Kathy Kasiborski at 885-3467.

ELEGANT EATING

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth presenting, this week, three PRESERVED FRUIT delights.

PICKLED WATERMELON RIND

- 2 lbs. watermelon rind
- 2 cups vinegar
- 2 cups water
- 4 cups sugar
- 1 stick cinnamon
- 1 tsp. whole cloves
- 1 tsp. whole allspice
- 1 lemon, thinly sliced

Pare watermelon rind and remove all pink portion. Cut rind into 3/4 by 1-inch cubes. Weigh. Soak rind overnight in brine made by dissolving 1/4 cup salt per quart of water. Drain rind, wash thoroughly in fresh water and drain again. Cook rind in fresh water until tender. Combine remaining ingredients and boil together 5 minutes. Add rind a few pieces at a time and cook until rind is clear. Pack rind in hot, sterilized jars, cover with boiling syrup and seal. Makes 2 pints.

Spices maybe tied in a cheese-cloth bag, if desired.

CANTALOUPE RIND maybe prepared in the same way. Also: instead of cutting melon rinds into cubes, they may be cut into balls.

APPLE PICKLES

- 8 to 10 cups quartered, cored, unpeeled apples
- 2 cups honey
- 1 cup mint vinegar
- 2 inches stick cinnamon
- 6 whole cloves

Combine honey, vinegar and spices. Heat to boiling. Cook 2 to 3 cups of apples at a time in the liquid, handling them gently. When transparent, lift out and place in a bowl. Continue until all apples are cooked. Remove spices. Place apples in hot, sterilized jars and cover with boiling hot syrup. Makes 6 pints.

These are especially delicious with pork and poultry dishes, and a wonderful way to use smaller size apples.

RAW PICKLED BLUEBERRIES

- 2 Tbsp. molasses
- 2 cups cider vinegar
- 1/3 cup honey
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. ground nutmeg
- 1 pint blueberries

Mix molasses, vinegar, honey, salt and nutmeg. Pour over washed and dried blueberries. Let stand for several days, until enough juice has been drawn out to cover berries. Pour into sterilized jars. Seal. Makes 2 1/2 pints.

Elizabeth Cass DAR to ring Liberty Bell

A patriotic program entitled "Ring the Liberty Bell" will be presented by Mrs. A. John Kirsch at her home on Whittier Road for the Elizabeth Cass Chapter of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution this Monday, Oct. 4.

The program will include slides and change ringing using bells. Co-hostesses are Mrs. Myron J. Dikeman and Miss Jessie May Pelton. The DAR's 1982-83 national theme is "to foster true patriotism and love of country."

Tiny islands survive ages

By Rebecca R. Kirtland Classical civilization may have made its last stand against barbarian invasions on the barren islands off the rugged coast of Boeotia in central Greece. Ruins recently discovered above ground on tiny Kouveli Island in the Gulf of Corinth provide evidence that the influence of the Roman Empire continued there until the eighth century A.D., and in an altered fashion well into the 12th century. The evidence indicates that some 60 to 100 Kouveli inhabitants clung to their civilization while only two miles away the Greek mainland was under siege by Germanic invaders and later Slavs.

break in civilization," Gregory said. "Here we have a community that seems to have survived the collapse of the Roman Empire and maintained continuity into the medieval period." Relics found on Kouveli indicated that a prosperous and possibly peaceful community thrived until the eighth century and the advent of Arab piracy. Up until that period, the island was most likely a marketplace for seagoing trade, Gregory said. In addition to finding arrowheads and projectile points from the Middle Ages, Gregory found fifth and sixth century pottery from North Africa and 10th-12th century pottery from the Constantinople area. Gregory and his team surveyed virtually every square yard of the island and made aerial photographs. The project was conducted under the authority of the American School of Classical Studies and supported by the National Geographic Society and the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Gregory said, "and that life was centralized into a single complex." By late Roman times (through A.D. 476), a period of continued prosperity and trade on Kouveli, the settlement sprawled outward with more than 14 small, separate structures. These structures appear to have been in continuous use until about the time of the Fourth Crusade when, in A.D. 1204 western Europeans attacked Constantinople took over the Byzantine Empire, and set up feudal states. "Political organization became fragmented and Kouveli's former trade connections would have broken down. I suspect the islanders moved to the coast where they could better survive under the new rule," Gregory said. Since the end of the 12th century, Kouveli has not been inhabited. This may explain why these ruins have not been discovered earlier. "Also it is a true desert island, a desolate, inhospitable place with no water or trees," Gregory said. The Gulf is peppered with more barren rocky islands that Gregory hopes to investigate next summer. "If there is so much material on this one little island, as he asked, 'how much more is there on others?'"

There's no place like home . . .

South's Blue Devils, North's Norsemen and University Liggett School's Knights will not be playing to appreciative home varsity football fans this weekend . . . but there is still a lot of home field action around the Pointes this week, including:

NORTH: The high-flying North soccer team will host Utica at 4 p.m. next Tuesday, Oct. 5. There will be JV football at home this week, as the Norsemen face Clintondale today, Sept. 30, at 4 p.m. North's swimmers are also at home Oct. 5, hosting crosstown rival South at 7 p.m. The girls' tennis squad will host L'Anse Creuse netters at 4 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 6. And Roseville Brabcle will visit North for JV and varsity girls' basketball action today, Sept. 30, with the JV playing at 6 p.m. and the varsity at 7:30 p.m.

SOUTH: The JV Blue Devil football team will host East Detroit today, Sept. 30, at 4 p.m.

While golf may not be the most exciting spectator sport to most people, there are three home matches this week for those who do enjoy it. South hosts Anchor Bay on Sept. 30, Port Huron Northern on Oct. 4 and L'Anse Creuse North on Oct. 5.

In girls' basketball action, L'Anse Creuse North provides the opposition today, Sept. 30, at 4 p.m. for the freshmen and 6 p.m. for the varsity. The boys' soccer team is at home for one of its three matches this week, playing host to Utica Stevenson at 4 p.m. Oct. 1. Utica Eisenhower's swimmers will visit North tonight at 7 p.m.; and the girls' swim team hosts Port Huron on Oct. 1, Port Huron Northern on Oct. 4 and Kingswood on Oct. 5. Meets begin at 4 p.m.

ULS: Unfortunately for ULS fans, neither the varsity football nor the varsity soccer team play at home this week. But the JV soccer Knights do, hosting Detroit Country Day School today, Sept. 30, at 4:15 p.m. and Inter-City Christian at 4:30 p.m. Oct. 5. The cross country squad is also in home action Oct. 5, with Plymouth Christian and Oakland Christian providing the opposition at 4:15 p.m.

Tennis fans, however, will have no problem watching the objects of their affection. The girls' varsity squad will host DCDS at 4 p.m. today, Saginaw MacArthur at 4 p.m. tomorrow, Oct. 1, and Marian High at 4 p.m. Oct. 5. The JV netters take on DCDS at the Woods Park today at 4 p.m., then host the JV Invitational Tournament at 9 a.m. this Saturday, Oct. 2. North, Marian and Kingswood will send JV teams to participate.

Field hockey fans have a chance to catch coach Muriel Brock's varsity squad at home today, when Edsel Ford invades ULS territory at 4 p.m. The reserve field hockey squad hosts DCDS at 4 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 5.

Playing for Albion . . .

South takes invitational sports win

Grosse Pointe South, behind the strength of its tennis team won the girls' Fall Sports Invitational Sept. 18 at Grosse Pointe North High School.

South's tennis team overpowered the other schools by taking first in all the matches. The team rolled up victories in the No. 1 single with Meghan McMahon; No. 2 single with Madeline Willard; No. 3 single with Stephanie Schulte and the No. 4 singles with Courtney Kotas. They also won the No. 1 doubles with Noel Berry and Laura Gushee; No. 2 doubles with Michele Coddens and Elizabeth Petersen and the No. 3 doubles with Amy Leverenz and Mary Turner.

South's cross country team didn't quite fare as well as the tennis team did. The team placed sixth in its race, well behind first place Brighton and second place North.

Home improvement: keeping up with the times

Trends in remodeling reflect changing lifestyles

You get a very lonely feeling sometimes, sitting and talking with a banker.

But if you are one of the millions of persons thinking of borrowing some money for remodeling your home this year, one thing is for sure: You are not alone.

You and your neighbors across the country will spend a total of $34 billion on remodeling by year's end, according to Census estimates. But some economists place the figure at closer to $50 billion.

This is the first year in history when money spent for remodeling will total more than money spent for new homes.

That money will go into purchase and installation of 2,184,000 kitchens, 3,125,000 bathrooms, 2.7 million insulation jobs, 1 million room additions or dormers, 17 million storm windows, 12 million doors, 2.7 million reroofing jobs, 1.3 million siding jobs, and much, much more.

And these figures refer only to jobs installed by pros. They don't include the do-it-yourselfers who, by some estimates, account for half of the market.

The estimates are from the National Association of the Remodeling Industry (NARI), a nationwide group that includes contractors, manufacturers, wholesalers, lending institutions and the trade press. It results from the recent merger of the 50-year-old National Remodelers Association and the 26-year-old National Home Improvement Council.

And, says NARI, remodeling will increase by about 15 percent next year. It has been growing by that amount each year for the last two decades, and the reasons why are growing, not lessening.

For one thing, we have become accustomed to upgrading our lives, and since World War II this has meant moving into larger homes, into better neighborhoods.

But high land prices, high interest rates and inflation have made new housing unaffordable to many. For example, high land prices and inflation have pushed the average price of a new home up to the $70,000 range.

And, a $60,000 mortgage at the common interest rate of 9 percent only a dozen years ago, meant monthly payments of only $483. An income of about $33,000 per year could support that.

But, at today's interest rate of 17 percent, a $60,000 mortgage will demand monthly payments of $856, and it takes an income of more than $51,000 a year to pay that.

So we are looking, the old place over and re-evaluating, and we are upgrading by fixing up.

The upgrading isn't only a matter of making it more luxurious. It is more a matter of changing to fit our changing lifestyles. And just about everyone's lifestyle changes in 15 years.

The young family tends to grow, and then to shrink. The family income tends to increase. The friends change, the social patterns change, the work habits change.

So the third bedroom that once was needed can now become an exercise room in conjunction with a spa-type bathroom. The kitchen can be changed to include a barbecue area and possibly a bar.

Armstrong's re-do of an ordinary tract house into a dream home involved turning a small separate kitchen, dining room and living room into an attractive "Great Room" combining all three functions (and then some).

Or we are upgrading to take advantage of our inflated equity by selling. That, of course, calls for upgrading of a different kind, largely cosmetic. It might mean new siding ($3,500) or adding insulation ($1,000). Adding a fireplace is a good way to add sales appeal to a home ($2,500 with hearth and mantle).

Cosmetic remodeling of a bathroom for $1,000 can add sales appeal, but full-scale remodeling of a bathroom ($4,000) or adding a full bath ($5,000) would be hard to recover when selling.

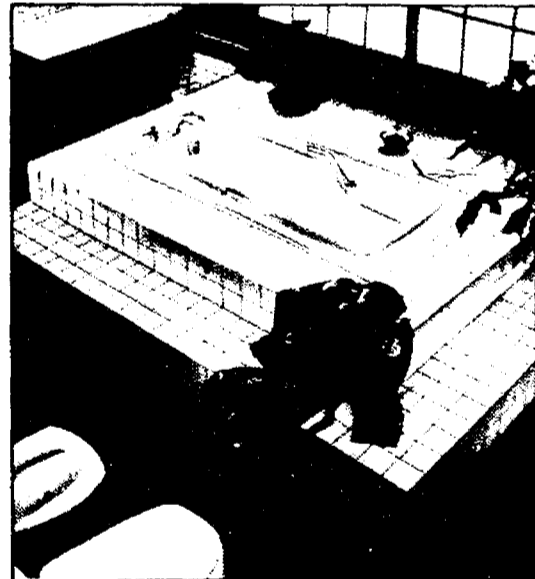

Similarly, complete remodeling of a kitchen will now run at least $8,000, and that could push the resale price of your home up beyond the range for your neighborhood.

But you can fix a kitchen up with new wallcovering, floorcovering and cabinet resurfacing for less than $3,000.

So whether you are staying put or moving makes a big difference in what you do.

And the best time to do it is right now, before prices go up again.

Bathrooms have New Stature

Antiquity's pleasure-loving Romans would have approved of the way contemporary America is replacing those utilitarian tubs with glamorous bathing centers.

Today, there are ready-made tubs that are extra large, whirlpool-fitted, heart-shaped, and more, but, according to the Tile Council of America, an organization that has monitored bathroom trends for almost four decades, the real primadonnas are the custom tubs. They come in as many versions as there are fantasies, says the Council, but the current favorites are the platform types.

Some bathing platforms are loaded with luxurious design and spa features, including pool-sized tubs, and they are invariably completely fashioned with ceramic tile. Such bathing centers obviously command hefty budgets, but the Tile Council points out that it is entirely possible to plan a platform bath that won't send your budget whirling down the drain.

By all means incorporate your current tub if it is in good shape, says the Council. Surround it with a platform, wide ledges, or seats, and protect and beautify everything with ceramic tile. Continuing the ceramic tile across the floor will help unify a small bathroom.

Trends of our times
from Michigan's own Design Center

The Michigan Design Center in Troy is a complex of wholesale interior furnishings showrooms for the design and architectural trade.

Contributing to the success of the Design Center is the tremendous purchasing power of the greater Detroit area which is the fourth largest market for home furnishings sales in the United States, and ranks first among cities of over 1,500,000 in percentage of households with effective buying income of over $25,000.

Traditional went hand in hand with contemporary at the Michigan Design Center's Fall Preview IX held September 23-24.

Leanings toward a more gracious time were seen in reproductions from the 18th Century with its wing chairs, dark woods and chintzes, while a simpler lifestyle is reflected in the cozy country look of scrubbed pine, small prints and hutch cupboards.

The versatility of contemporary decor is the answer for those who are seeking space saving floor plans. The multi-functional wall units and sectional sofas found in today's market serve this purpose well.

Here are the trends seen in the fall market:

• ANTIQU REPRODUCTIONS: American craftsmen are producing good copies of the well proportioned 18th Century style of American, English and French furniture.

The Weiman Furniture Company bought the rights to designs by the prestigious 18th Century manufacturer, Shaw of Cambridge, and is recreating them in the manner of the time. Shaw of Cambridge is known for its upholstered furniture with a grand opulent look and its solid walnut and mahogany tables with detailed carving.

English library is the look of the Kenyon hand glazed, tufted leather sofas and chairs. The antique finish on the leather includes worn spots.

Tony Putnam interprets traditionals in his latest collection of wall coverings and fabrics. Petite and large florals, plus abstracts for balance.

We are all familiar with old leather-bound books whose end-papers are decorated with swirling, marbled-like patterns. It is a technique which dates to the 14th Century. New York artist Sandra Holzman has revived the technique to marleize upholstery fabrics and leathers for Ron Seff. The inks she uses are colorfast and do not disturb the hand of the fabric.

• COUNTRY: Norman Lacroff & Associates introduces Maison Rustique, a handmade collection of Country French furniture. Each piece in the collection is cut and shaped, sanded and finished by the hands of a single craftsman.

The Hickory Manufacturing Company has added three new pieces to its Provence collection; chairside commode, console and wall shelf, all done in oak designs unmistakably of French origin.

• CHINTZ REVIVAL: Traditional chintzes reminiscent of English cottages are showing up in gracious rooms by prominent designers. The overall look is fresh and flowery . . . with skirted tables, canopied beds, and flounced draperies and slipper chairs. Patterns are copied or adapted from antique English and French documents and range from English garden morning glories and hollyhocks to lavish bouquets of roses, plumed birds, trellises and baskets.

• CONTEMPORARY: Architect/designer Vladimir Kagan has updated the traditional hunt desk with a sophisticated version in acacia wood with a high polyester finish. It features curved plexiglass legs and a stainless steel or brass apron. A matching credenza has enclosed storage areas for telephone and communications systems, and is also

The library . . . adds charm and value to your home

A beautiful shelved and paneled library is not a luxury to be found only in an older home. The warmth of choice hardwood, meticulous attention to detail, and fine craftsmanship is now available and offered by a custom cabinetry company.

Grabill Cabinet Co. offers the advantage of an endless variety of styles, each with a hand rubbed fine furniture finish, unobtainable in carpenter built cabinets.

Each room can be as individual as its owner, incorporating space for stereo equipment, a T.V. or bar, and whether your tastes tend to Elegant or Simple . . . Old World or Early American . . . Contemporary or Ultra Modern . . . you can make your dreams come true.

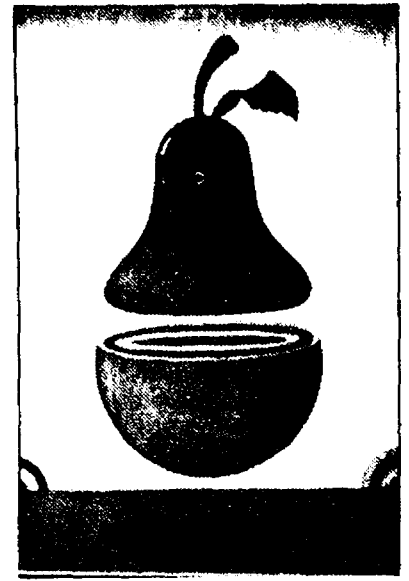

Probably no area of the home speaks more of its owner than the library. It must incorporate space not only for favorite books, but prized pieces of art and memorabilia. A well planned library enhances the treasures it holds making efficient use of space with extra storage below the shelves.

A NEW ANGLE ON ARCHITECTURAL INTEREST . . . is achieved by imaginatively combining "bunching" units into a unique wall display. A trio of triangular-shaped cabinets from the Drexel Preface collection adds spatial variety to this dining area. And with glass, mirrors and canister lights producing a magic-like illusion, the architectural and space-expanding qualities of the configuration are heightened dramatically.

Modular furniture takes the "plain" out of wall planes

Remember built-ins? A corner cupboard where treasures were proudly displayed and everyday items hidden from view. Ceiling-high book shelves that seemed to have been carved into the wall itself. Elaborately crafted paneling that turned a simple fireplace into an aesthetic focal point.

These were a few of the "ins and outs" that gave rooms a certain character. But in today's homes they are mostly among the missing.

"The majority of houses and apartments built in the last several years lack the interior architectural interest of older homes," said Susan Blackburn, a designer for Drexel Heritage Furnishings Inc. "Some were pared down because economy of construction was paramount; others were intentionally simplified for people who favored the contemporary 'less is more' functional design philosophy. But now, consumers are looking for greater warmth and visual variety in their home environments."

One appealing solution to the problem of architecturally starved, box-like rooms, according to the designer, is the use of free-standing modular furniture to create a sculptural "flow" of cabinetry detailing — a potentially pleasing substitute for the cupboards, paneling and carved moldings of decades ago.

"Furniture units of wood, glass, brass and/or other fine materials can magically transform a flat, unadorned vertical surface," Blackburn said.

When planning such a decorating project, Blackburn suggests these points be considered:

- Function counts as much as aesthetics. An harmonious assemblage of attractive bunching units can form an artistic backdrop for a seating, sleeping or dining setting. But every piece of storage and display furniture must "work" at the same time, in order to take best possible advantage of available wall space.

- A "geometric" approach promises visual intrigue. Modular selections that correlate more than one set of dimensions and other than standard shapes can be studies in subtle contrast. Several units in the Drexel Preface collection employ this geometric concept, with different cabinet depths — designed to support different functions — and companion pieces with unconventional silhouettes.

- Glass exteriors, mirrored back panels and inside lights interplay to extend an original impression. The multi-faceted, reflective qualities of a wall arrangement incorporating these elements generate drama and a sense of movement throughout an entire room.

"With innovative modular furniture in classic, softened contemporary styling, a highly personalized built-in character can be achieved," Blackburn said. "And there's a distinct advantage over real built-ins: You can take everything with you and create anew if you move into another home."

Trends of Our Times

available with an electronic remote control lift compartment containing television or bar storage.

Hekman Manufacturing Company is introducing two new contemporary tables. One has a laminated wicker-look finish with a beveled glass insert in the top, and the other is of brass with a 3/4 inch beveled glass top.

Weiman's Illusion Group in Harkema-Wilson Associates offers a laminated goatskin look in tables and mirrors for fall.

Popular California Drop Cloth presents a new vinyl laminated, hand painted fabric. The fabric has a matte finish similar to polished cotton, is available in widths up to 58 inches on 100% cotton duck.

Starting with lamps and mirrors with veneers of crushed coconut and tortuma (a native nut), Ambience has now expanded its line to include furniture. Two factories in Columbia, South America now produce casegoods and tables finished in black horn and light bone (both laid in tiny tiles), and leather parchment, as well as coconut and tortuma. The Campbell-Louis showroom has Ambience consoles in the light bone and black horn, plus goatskin finished cigarette tables. Pieces may be custom-sized or fitted.

- ELECTRONIC: Featured in a special media room at DIA is a line of metal electronic furniture walls called Audio-Visions. These units, available in black nickel, chrome or brass, coordinate with audio-video components to form a complete home entertainment wall. In DIA now are vertical-audio racks, vertical-video racks, horizontal-audio racks and desk/bridges. Later on a computer table will be available.

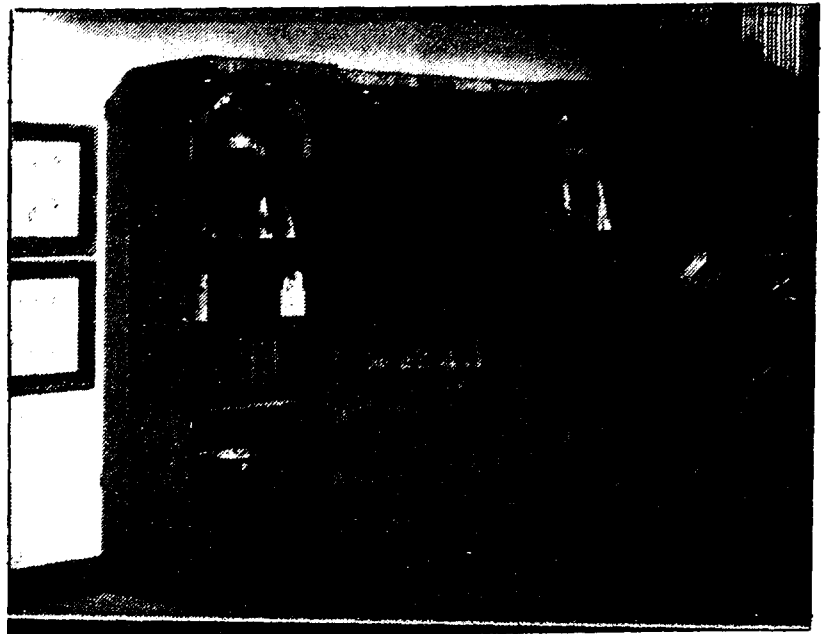

It's not for everyone, but a newsmaking videogame-storage cocktail table is attracting a lot of attention at E.J. Enterprises. The Hom-A-Tron Video Game VCR cocktail table, is a new concept for the storage of home video equipment. The Hom-A-Tron is designed to house all wiring, including the TV/game switch, consequently concealing unsightly wires, and can be modified to receive VCR equipment.

- ORIENTAL: Henredon Accessories reproduces Coromandel design techniques on Parsons tables, cocktail table tops and dining table bases.

The Ginsberg collection of Far East antiques includes antique Greek two- and three-handled olive oil jars, antique Burmese puppets, old Japanese boxes and saki jars, Twelfth Century Cambodian urns, old Korean wood bowls plus baskets from Thailand, Korea and the Philippines.

- BATHROOMS: Sherle Wagner's contemporary wash basins in onyx and granite sit atop graceful stainless steel pedestals. Marble combines with malachite or brown tiger eye in a bathtub with matching faucet sets.

Designer Stanley Paul uses brass, chrome, acrylic and semi-precious stones in bold new bathroom accessories for Paul Associates. The current group includes a solid brass two faces mirror on an extension wall bracket.

CORRELATING DIFFERENT DEPTHS . . . in a balanced composition of cabinet pieces turns furniture into an architectural backdrop. Intriguing visual contrast relieves the plainness of a simple two-dimensional wall. And the alternating front-to-back dimensions of these Drexel Preface units allow flexibility of displays and storage functions as well. Available at Forster's Interiors.

The Definitive Chandelier

By definition, a chandelier is a light fixture hung on a chain, and consisting of more than one light bulb.

The right chandelier over the dining table is critical to the total design of a tastefully decorated room, according to Shelley Weiss, Thomasville Furniture Industries.

It is the first thing to attract the eye chiefly because it is a light source. Selecting the proper one should not be difficult because of the plethora of styles and sizes available. If confused, Ms. Weiss suggests seeking the advice of a lighting specialist to ensure the proper selection.

The interior designer chose this appropriate chandelier because of its gracefully curved arms and dark shades.

The room is filled with interesting angles and softening curves. It has taken on the configuration of the table's glass-topped octagonal shape outlined with cherry display-china cabinets from Thomasville's new REPLICAS 1714 Collection. (Note the repeat of angles on the doors' wood fretwork.) The walls have molding painted in a deep color for a stunning "paneled" effect.

The brass chandelier "arms" in gleaming brass pick up the gold decorative floral motifs on the black lacquered finish of the split-back chairs (also from the REPLICAS 1714 Collection).

Chandeliers today are works of art. They are manufactured with so many options in design and size that there is no problem finding the one most suitable to your furnishings and lifestyle.

Plants Have Their Diets Too

House plants are individuals and each has its own growing and living requirements that directly relate to a healthy future. There are three basic factors in the care of house plants that are crucial — light, water and food. Too little or too much of any one of these can mean trouble.

Proper Light

Flowering plants need sun for several hours each day, and perhaps some more than others. For example, an east or west window is ideal for such favorites as geraniums, African violets, gloxinias, begonias, cyclamen, cacti and succulents. Do not hesitate to gradually move plants from full sun to less brilliant exposures, depending on the season.

Foliage plants require varying degrees of light. Normally, philodendron, dracaenas and parlor palm respond well to a low north light. Schefflera, fan palm, and aralia on the other hand are better near a bright window.

Create a designer look from your tired old sofa

Your sofa is almost like an old friend. It's right at the center of your home life, a natural spot for family and friends to relax and share good times.

Because it is such an old friend, you may not notice how much wear and tear it takes. But when you stop to look at it objectively, you may see a piece that's slightly out of style, maybe even lumpy, saggy and, well, a little faded.

Perhaps your budget won't stretch for that sleek new decorator sofa that caught your eye in the furniture store last week.

What's the alternative?

You may be surprised to discover a new look in your old sofa, a look that you can create to fit into your lifestyle and your color scheme. The magic transformation can be done effortlessly through professional reupholstering, and you may well end up with an added bonus. Your restyled sofa may be a better value for the money you are willing to spend, because many old sofas are built with solid wood frames — maple, oak, pine — and better quality construction all around than today's new sofas.

If the frame of the sofa is split or cracked, consider a visit to your local thrift store or garage sale. You can probably buy a very inexpensive old sofa with a solid frame for reupholstering.

First, think about color. This is the element that creates the mood: bright and sassy or quiet and cool.

In both traditional and modern-style furniture, today the trend is still toward light natural tones, at home most anywhere. Blues, dark greens and navies are dominant in more formal-style furniture, while sleek new sofas are appearing in browns, rust, cognacs and camels.

Mauves are being used, especially in the background of prints. The country look of cheery checks, paisley and quilt motifs is becoming popular. There's a creative use of gold and other metallics in prints, stripes and weaves.

Today's emphasis is more durable than on the "soft" look — cloth and can be furniture with puckers, shirred edges, need not give up the pleated backs, cloth look. Your upholsterer can show for busy homes with you a variety of small children, a (Continued on Page 6)

By Bill Lafer, Jacobson's Store for the Home

Furniture Reproductions from Stately Homes to be presented at dinner benefitting the Archives of American Art at Jacobson's

Period home furnishings have always been of interest to an elite group of Americans able to collect and live with rare antique pieces. This group has been fortunate to have lived and traveled in areas where antiques have been available for purchase. So often the choicest pieces have been handed down within owning families or have found their way to permanent museum collections. In both situations they never reach the open market.

In today's economy, more than ever, consumers are looking for significant quality and permanent value in their home furnishings investments. It clearly follows that there should be, and there is a greater interest today in long accepted period furniture designs, carefully constructed of recognizably durable woods, than in trendy new designs rendered in synthetics of questionable longevity.

The fashion news in furniture this Fall is the beautifully crafted and faithful period reproduction. There is a new collection of 18th century American furniture reproducing a dozen pieces from the Winterthur Museum of Wilmington, Delaware (featured in the current House and Garden).

One of the most dramatic furniture debuts in years has been conceived by Baker Furniture. Baker's Stately Homes Collection will be introduced to metropolitan Detroit at a black tie dinner in Jacobson's Grosse Pointe Store for the Home on October 2, benefitting the Archives of American Art.

International antiques authority Sir Humphrey Wakefield, Bt. personally selected 33 prized furniture pieces still housed in the Stately Homes of English noblemen to be skillfully reproduced by Baker. Sir Humphrey and the Honourable Lord and Lady Christopher Thynne (their home contains some of the original pieces) will be attending the dinner where they will be available to discuss the merits of the collection. Variety is the key note of the Stately Homes collection. In scale there is a range from decorative wall mirrors to a Chippendale mahogany four-poster bed. Styles reflect the refined Adam, Georgian, Regency, Sheraton, and Chippendale periods of English design history. All are suitable for the gracious homes of today.

A magnificent Chinese Chippendale display cabinet is a duplicate of one constructed in 1760 and presently in the collection of the Right Honourable Viscount De L'Isle V.C., K.G. at his home, Penschurst Place — Kent, England. It is an elaborately carved and pierced pagoda shaped pediment.

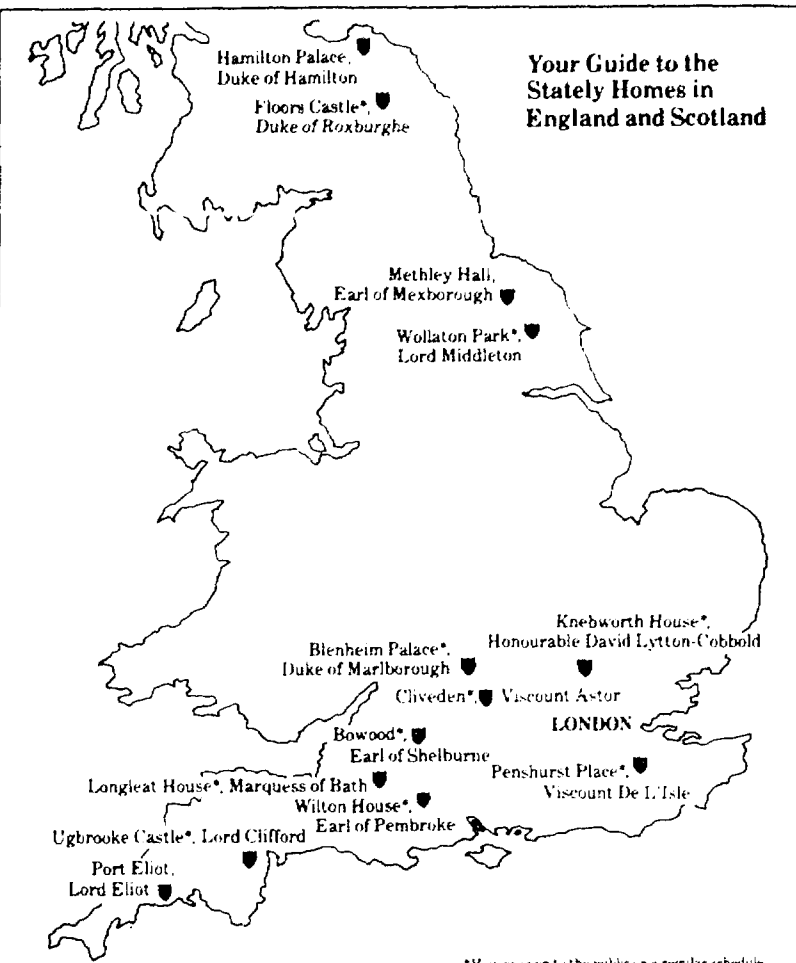

On a smaller scale is an Adam Pembroke game table. The inlaid top slides to reveal another surface with a backgammon board also skillfully inlaid with satinwood, tulip and rosewood. As a helpful contingency to the furniture introduction, Interior Designer, Owen Sullivan, of Jacobson's will be lecturing on how to fit these 18th century designs gracefully into the contemporary American home. His talks will be at 7:00 p.m. on Friday, October 8, and Thursday, October 14 in the Jacobson's Interior Design Studio. The complete Stately Homes collection will be on display at Grosse Pointe Jacobson's during the early part of October for those who appreciate the treasured designs of yesterday reproduced by the most skilled craftsmen of today to be enjoyed and appreciated for generations to come.

Energy costs
More than 70 percent of home energy bills are created by these seven appliances: refrigerators, freezers, dishwashers, water heaters, clothes washers, room air conditioners and furnaces.

Many of the stately homes in England and Scotland that are represented in the Baker Stately Homes Collection are open to public view during the peak tourist season. For information, contact British Tourist Authority and British Airways for special package trips through "Hotel Tour" arranged in conjunction with Trust House Forte Hotels.

"A little learning is not a dangerous thing to one who does not mistake it for a great deal." — William Allen White.

This Regency table shown "at home" in Knebworth House, minus several leaves will suit the more modestly scaled dining room of today.

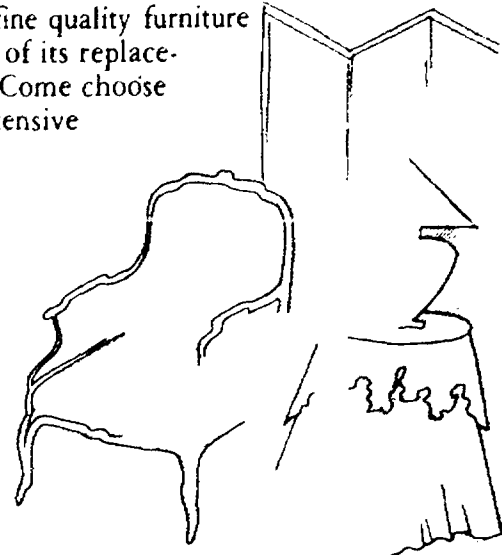

Baker is reproducing this rare Regency mahogany pedestal table, shown here in the great Banqueting Hall. In contrast to the decline in hand cabinetmaking, carving and finishing, the "Treasures from the Stately Homes of England and Scotland as selected by Sir Humphrey Wakefield" is the most significant effort in hand craftsmanship Baker has ever attempted. By its very nature, this is an assemblage in which all the talents of their artisan-craftsmen have been utilized. All the pieces are thoroughly documented and become "Collector's Editions" in every sense.

Mixing "old with new" is the trend in today's home decorating. Needlepoint & crewel pieces, whether heirlooms or recently created add a distinctive, personal touch to any room. Needlework is an excellent way to add that dash of accent color . . . whether the soft, subtle shades of yesteryear or the vibrant tones of today.

Replace leaky faucet Save 15 gallons of water a day

That drip, drip, drip from the kitchen or bathroom sink isn't just an irritant; it's a surprisingly big waste of water.

A dripping faucet sends 15 gallons of water down the drain each day, or 450 gallons per month! If the leak gets worse, so that the faucet emits even a 1/82-inch stream, the waste each month jumps to almost 8,000 gallons. That's a lot of water . . . and money.

It's a problem that is easily solved. Today, homeowners can get easy-to-install faucets that are virtually drip-proof.

What makes a dripless faucet possible? The secret is a cartridge that fits into the faucet stem, replacing the old-fashioned doughnut-shaped washer. That's the part that usually wears out and permits leakage.

In today's washerless faucets, this cartridge controls the water flow. When the faucet handle is turned on, an opening in the cartridge aligns with an opening in the stem of the faucet, letting water through.

The cartridge design allows the faucet to go from completely on to off with just a quarter turn of the handle. It also gives you more precise control over the water volume than a washer can, a convenience as well as a conservation feature.

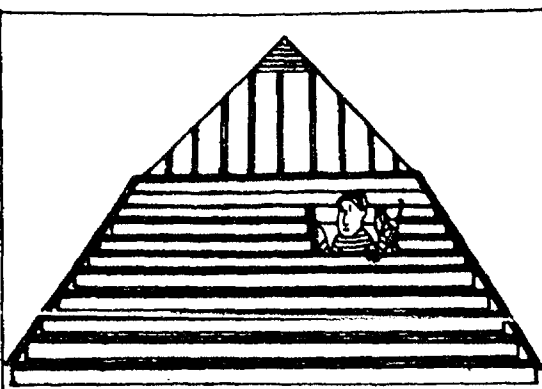

You don't have to worry about the cartridge wearing out. Made of Celcon, it "remembers" its shape no matter how many times the faucet is used. Celcon's special properties make it so durable that some faucet manufacturers, such as NIBCO INC., makers of the Simpson Street line of washerless faucets, back their product by offering to give you a new cartridge if a leak develops.

Helpful advice on how to check your home for energy efficiency

Would you like to significantly increase your home's energy efficiency and comfort this winter? You can, by taking a few simple steps.

Energy experts agree that one of the best ways to reduce energy usage is to make sure your home is properly insulated. To help you determine the correct amount of insulation for your home, Manville Building Materials Corporation offers a free "Homeowner's Guide to Installing Fiber Glass Insulation." It includes helpful hints on ways to conserve energy at home and also provides step-by-step instructions for installing fiber glass insulation.

Your attic is one of the first places you should check to see if you have enough insulation. If your attic is unfinished and unfloored, but has some beams to walk on, you can easily find the R-value of the existing insulation. It will be printed on the top or bottom of the batts.

If your existing attic insulation is loose fill, you will need to measure the depth of the insulation between the framing members. If the insulation is fiber glass, you can use the following guidelines to determine the approximate R-value. Other types of insulation may yield different R-values.

Depth of loose fill insulation	Minimum R-value
3"	R-7
6"	R-14
9"	R-21

Once you know how much insulation you have, you can determine how much more you need. Just subtract the R-value of the existing insulation from the recommended R-value for your geographical area. Since R-values differ from climate to climate, you will need to consult your local building materials dealer for the recommended R-value in your area.

If your unfinished attic has a floor, use a ruler to poke through the cracks and around the edges to see how much insulation, if any, is there. If there is less than four inches, consider adding more.

The next place to check is your exterior walls. You can determine whether or not they are insulated by removing the cover from a light switch on an outside wall. Turn off the power first. Shine a flashlight into the space between the switchbox and the wall and see if you can see insulation. If not, you may want to consider putting some inside that wall.

Your decision will be guided by the size of your energy bills and the amount of room inside the wall for insulation. A professional contractor can give you a free cost estimate and help you determine if additional wall insulation is feasible.

Next, check for adequate insulation under floors, in crawl spaces and next to foundation walls. If you live in a climate where heating costs are above average, consider insulating in these areas.

In addition to insulating your home, you can also gain energy efficiency with a few simple improvements. Heated and cooled air can escape from your house through cracks around doors and windows. You can stop drafts along these areas with caulking and weatherstripping.

Several additional steps require only a slight change in the way you do things at home. For example, set the thermostat at 65°F in winter, 5°F lower when sleeping or away, and 78°F in summer. If you are elderly, you may need to keep your thermostat set above 65°F in the winter.

Lower the water heater thermostat to 120°. Fully load clothes dryers and dish washers, and turn on lights only when and where you need them.

Plants Have Their Diets Too

A Nourishing Diet

The house plant gardener (primarily women according to the surveys) sometimes forgets that her window box and patio family also need special diet attention for continued growth and vigor.

A balanced feeding formula used by many professionals contains equal parts (18-18-18) of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium, fortified with chelated iron and manganese to prevent those deficiencies. Such a multi-purpose fertilizer and nourisher, descriptively called Earth Care®, is available at most garden supply centers.

This water soluble plant food can be used as a soil drench or foliar feeding. Follow directions on the label as the amount varies with the purpose.

Try A Plant Tonic

To help weak plants bounce back give your iron deficient plants a new lease on life with Earth Care Professional Plant Iron Tonic. Effective in acid, alkaline and calcareous soils, it will restore green color quickly. Apply as a normal watering to plant and container.

Watering

A thorough watering requires that the soil be soaked through from top to bottom until it runs out of the pot's drainage hole.

Overwatering can be a problem. The first symptom is usually the dropping of the lower leaves. New leaves may appear on top, but an over-watered plant gets leggy and bare at the base.

If you suspect too much water, tap the plant out of the pot and look at the roots. Root tips should be white. If they are brown, repot in a loose, spongy soil mixture and water less frequently.

Cleanliness

A clean plant in a clean pot is much more apt to avoid insect problems, fungus and other diseases.

Clean your house plants regularly by syringing them in the sink or stroking the leaves gently with a soft, damp cloth. The water should be lukewarm. Remove yellow or damaged leaves, faded flowers and any debris that has dropped off into the pot.

TLC

The greatest ailment of the plant can be the owner. The right growing conditions are most important. Select varieties that will prosper in your home environment. Refrain from collecting more plants than you can conveniently care for. Recognize the fact that not every plant will succeed and be sturdy. Even the professionals have their losses. And finally, paying special attention with tender loving care is the best medicine for house plants of all kinds.

Good-quality vinyl-coated fabrics are extra durable and pliable, especially Naugahyde's nonwoven-back vinyls.

And now that you've made these decisions, what about restyling? What upholsterer can offer suggestions here. Having the sofa re-upholstered can be a wise investment. It's also a chance for you to let your creative juices flow and come up with a piece of furniture that can help set the tone for the focal point of your home, the living area. Here are some tips on how to achieve that decorator touch.

• Add new legs — it'll give the finished sofa the final designer touch.

• Structural changes, such as altering the sofa's frame, can run costs up fast.

• Add inexpensive but creative touches such as shirred pillows, buttons on the back, contrasting color trim, puckers in seat cushions or back, extra padding at arms to give a totally new look.

Design ideas can create dramatic exteriors

What might have been

The before-and-after photos show how a typical installation of T-lok Vinyl Siding brightens a home's exterior. The artist's rendering shows the same home as it might have been if an exterior design approach had been taken.

Have you ever thought of the exterior of our home in the same terms as the interior - as something that can be changed through the application of creative design ideas? Making your home's exterior more beautiful can be a matter of a few simple changes easily made when you are doing an improvement maintenance plus that vinyl siding gives). Low-maintenance Vintage shutters were added to every window.

- The front door was painted to match the shutters, and fluted pilasters were added on either side of the door to enhance the colonial look. This gives the entrance more importance, making the front door appear more balanced. Both the pilaster trim and the shutters are low-maintenance, like T-lok Vinyl Siding, so that you can enjoy handsome trim without the chore of painting it.

- Porch changes included replacing the concrete stoop with brick to match the foundation and replacing the wrought iron support with a more massive wood post and a railing with balusters.

- Double-four-inch siding was chosen for a colonial look. And Mastic's wide corner post trim was used to complement the door trim with balancing touches of white.

- The small black light fixture by the door was replaced with a larger brass one.

such as adding new siding. Siding can be applied in a variety of ways, and combined with design ideas to make your home more pleasing in appearance without a major remodeling.

"A Guide to Designing Your Home's Exterior. Before. After and What Might Have Been," is a new publication by Mastic Corporation that gives homeowners lots of design ideas to use when they are re-siding their home or building a new one. The booklet shows before-and-after photos of a variety of house styles where new siding has brought the home to life with its bright low-maintenance appeal. It then illustrates "what might have been" if creative design ideas had been used to make a beautiful new siding job into a really dramatic exterior design.

For example, a story-and-a-half home is turned into a charming Cape Cod by the following minor additions:

- The living room picture window was replaced with two colonial windows.
- Trim boards were added above the windows (covered to complete the overall low-

Besides showing a variety of home styles and their transformations, "A Guide to Designing Your Home's Exterior" offers tips on how to use the design ideas, whether for remodeling or new construction, and features a siding selection guide and a full page of color-coded color-scheme recommendations.

Smoke detector placement key to protection

You've cleaned the gutters, put up the storm windows and checked the furnace. You're ready for the perils of winter, right? Wrong - not unless you've included smoke detector installation in your "winterizing" plans, say the experts at Pittway Corporation, manufacturers of First Alert smoke detectors.

Most home fires occur during the winter, when furnaces are going full blast and portable heaters are scattered throughout the house. Smoke detectors can provide a crucial warning when heating systems go awry.

Ten second test
If you already have a smoke detector, include a quick check-up in your fall home improvement plans. Depress the test button for ten seconds. If a horn sounds, your unit is in good working order.

However, fire safety experts agree that one smoke detector is not enough. For true life safety protection, detectors should be located on every level of a residence - basement, first floor, second floor and attic if it is furnished - and in every separate sleeping area.

Expert advice
Pittway has prepared the following guidelines to assist homeowners in developing their own smoke detector placement plan:

- Locate detectors between sleeping areas and potential fire sources, such as the kitchen, garage, basement or utility room.

In single story homes, locate detectors outside each sleeping area (see figures 1 and 2).

This fall, don't neglect the inside of your house when closing up for the winter. The time you spend installing smoke detectors may someday keep your other home improvements from "going up in smoke."

DETECT SMOKE SIGNALS EARLY: Fire safety experts agree, one smoke detector is not enough.

Fall planting the key to brilliant spring blossoming

It's time to plant spring-flowering bulbs

HYACINTHS AND DAFFODILS are natural garden go-togethers. They should be planted in clusters rather than in single rows. Use them in rock gardens and borders, along driveways and paths.

Garden go-togethers

Like love and marriage, daffodils and hyacinths naturally go together. Plant them this fall for a spring garden of radiant color and rich fragrance that's a hard-to-beat combination.

It may come as a surprise to learn that not all daffodils are yellow. Nor do they all have cups, or trumpets. Some varieties produce white, pink, lime, orange and even bi-colored flowers. Double daffodils have rows of ruffled petals in place of the cup.

The majority of home gardeners grow trumpet daffodils, which are noted for their very long, slender cups. The most familiar of the golden varieties are "King Albert" and "Unsurpassable." Bi-colored varieties include "Goblet," "Magnifier" and "Music Hall," all of which are white with yellow trumpets.

Large-cupped daffodil varieties, contrary to their name, have shorter cups than the trumpet varieties. A two-toned white beauty, favored by many gardeners, is named "Ice Follies."

Other striking offerings in this class are "Armada," a yellow-petaled flower with an orange-red cup; "Flower Record," which has a yellow cup edged in orange; and "Mrs. R.O. Backhouse," a white-petaled blossom with an apricot-pink cup.

Small-cupped daffodils have cups that are less than one-third the length of the petals. Consider one or more of these varieties for your spring garden:

"Barrett Browning," white-petaled with an orange-red cup; "Verger," white with a deep red cup; and "Birna," which has yellow petals and a rich red cup.

Double daffodil varieties include "Yellow Cheerfulness," a soft yellow with three to four sweetly-scented flowers to a stem; "Texas" is another double delight with its yellow petals and orange center; "Mary Copeland" has cream-colored petals with a yellow and red-orange center.

Shakespeare's observation, "to paint the lily... is wasteful and ridiculous excess," most certainly applies to that member of the lily family called the hyacinth. No artist would dare to alter their vivid and pastel hues. Another literary giant, John Ruskin, described the scent of hyacinths as a blend of "a cluster of grapes and a hive of honey."

The color blue is not unique to the hyacinth; however, no other blue flower offers the unusual range of hues, from pale lilac to deep purple. Equally lovely are the reds, yellows, oranges, pinks and white.

Hyacinths and daffodils should be planted in clusters rather than in single rows. Use them unstintingly in rock gardens, in borders and beds, and along driveways and paths.

Plant the bulbs 8 inches deep and spaced 6 inches apart. Condition the soil first with a mixture of bone meal and 8-8-8 fertilizer, following the directions on the packages.

Reminder: get those spring-flowering bulbs into the ground now, before the frost is on the punkin and the foder's in the shock.

In the north, September and October are ideal months for planting Dutch tulips, daffodils, hyacinths and other spring garden favorites. Gardeners in warmer climates can hold off until November or December, if they wish.

Expert advice

The Netherlands Flower-bulb Institute offers these tips to simplify the planting process.

- Always select plump, firm, blemish-free bulbs. Do not be concerned if some are skinless. Plant immediately, or store them in a ventilated container and place it in a dry, cool (40-50 F.) location until ready to plant.

- Spring-flowering bulbs flourish in well-drained soil and partial sunlight. Do not plant them in areas which get strong midday sun.

- Before planting, condition the soil with peat moss or compost to improve drainage. Enrich with a handful of bone meal per square foot of soil.

- Extensive university research tests throughout the U.S. and Canada have now standardized planting depths. Plant the following bulbs 8" deep and 6" apart, all tulips, all daffodils, hyacinths, fritillaria

FALL PLANTING GUIDE FOR HOLLAND BULBS

EASY PLANTING FOR BEAUTIFUL SPRING BLOOM

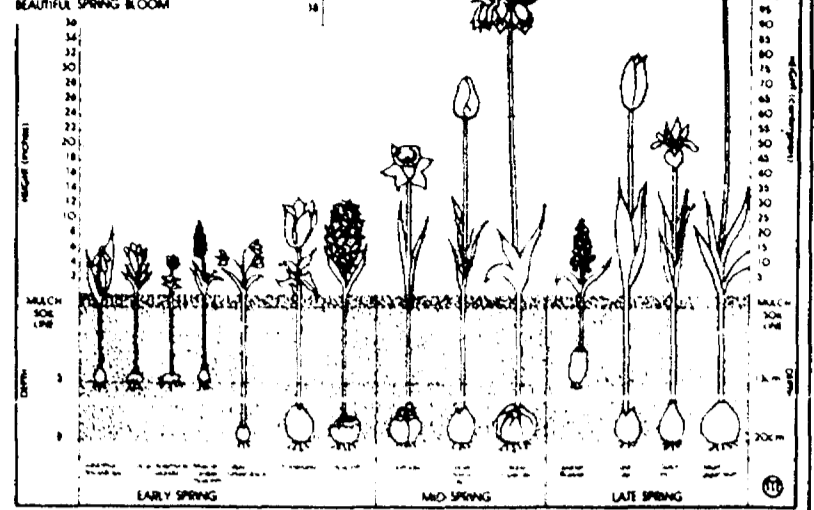

CHART INDICATES new standardization of planting depths for the U.S. and Canada. Small bulbs should be planted 5" deep and larger bulbs 8" deep. All spring-flowering bulbs must be planted in the fall.

imperialis, and allium giganteum.

These bulbs are to be planted 5" deep, spaced 3" to 4" apart, snowdrops, winter aconite, ins reticulata, crocus, glory-of-the-snow, anemone blanda, Spanish bluebells and muscaria.

- Set bulbs in place with tips up, cover halfway with soil mixed with a quarter-ounce of 8-8-8 fertilizer, and water thoroughly. Cover completely with remaining soil and water again.

- When the first frost occurs, cover bulb beds with a 3" protective layer of mulch. In the south, mulch at planting.

- As the shoots appear in spring, give the soil a booster dressing of 8-8-8 fertilizer.

- As flowers fade, snip them off below their bases. Leave the foliage intact until it turns yellow, then cut at ground level.

It's possible to have a steady flow of garden color from February into June by planting early-, mid-, and late-flowering bulbs.

Crocuses, snowdrops, glory-of-the-snow and winter aconite begin to blossom while snow is on the ground. They're followed by muscari, Fostiana and Kaufmanniana tulips, and hyacinth.

Mid-spring brings sunny daffodils, the larger Triumph and Darwin hybrid tulips, and the tall, willow crown imperial (fritillaria imperialis).

Spring reaches its peak with the appearance of Dutch iris, lily-flowered and parrot tulips, and the gaudy ornamental onion, allium giganteum.

Cluster flowers

One final gardening hint: bulb flowers look best when planted in clusters of 12 or more. Straight rows of single bulbs are the mark of an amateur gardener.

SELECT plump, firm, blemish-free bulbs. Plant them at the recommended depth in soil conditioned with a mixture of bone meal and 8-8-8 fertilizer. Always set bulbs in place with tips up.

Fall planting the key to brilliant spring blossoming

It's time to plant spring-flowering bulbs

HYACINTHS AND DAFFODILS are natural garden go-togethers. They should be planted in clusters rather than in single rows. Use them in rock gardens and borders, along driveways and paths.

Garden go-togethers

Like love and marriage, daffodils and hyacinths naturally go together. Plant them this fall for a spring garden of radiant color and rich fragrance that's a hard-to-beat combination.

It may come as a surprise to learn that not all daffodils are yellow. Nor do they all have cups, or trumpets. Some varieties produce white, pink, lime, orange and even bi-colored flowers. Double daffodils have rows of ruffled petals in place of the cup.

The majority of home gardeners grow trumpet daffodils, which are noted for their very long, slender cups. The most familiar of the golden varieties are "King Albert" and "Unsurpassable." Bi-colored varieties include "Goblet," "Magnet" and "Music Hall," all of which are white with yellow trumpets.

Large-cupped daffodil varieties, contrary to their name, have shorter cups than the trumpet varieties. A two-toned white beauty, favored by many gardeners, is named "Ice Folies."

Other striking offerings in this class are "Armada," a yellow-petaled flower with an orange-red cup; "Flower Record," which has a yellow cup edged in orange; and "Mrs. R.O. Backhouse," a white-petaled blossom with an apricot-pink cup.

Small-cupped daffodils have cups that are less than one-third the length of the petals. Consider one or more of these varieties for your spring garden:

"Barrett Browning," white-petaled with an orange-red cup; "Verger," white with a deep red cup; and "Birna," which has yellow petals and a rich red cup.

Double daffodil varieties include "Yellow Cheerfulness," a soft yellow with three to four sweetly-scented flowers to a stem; "Texas" is another double delight with its yellow petals and orange center; "Mary Copeland" has cream-colored petals with a yellow and red-orange center.

Shakespeare's observation, "to paint the lily... is wasteful and ridiculous excess," most certainly applies to that member of the lily family called the hyacinth. No artist would dare to alter their vivid and pastel hues. Another literary giant, John Ruskin, described the scent of hyacinths as a blend of "a cluster of grapes and a hive of honey."

The color blue is not unique to the hyacinth; however, no other blue flower offers the unusual range of hues, from pale lilac to deep purple. Equally lovely are the reds, yellows, oranges, pinks and white.

Hyacinths and daffodils should be planted in clusters rather than in single rows. Use them unobtrusively in rock gardens, in borders and beds, and along driveways and paths.

Plant the bulbs 8 inches deep and spaced 6 inches apart. Condition the soil first with a mixture of bonemeal and 8-8-8 fertilizer, following the directions on the packages.

Reminder: get those spring-flowering bulbs into the ground now, before the frost is on the pinkin and the fodder's in the shock.

In the north, September and October are ideal months for planting Dutch tulips, daffodils, hyacinths and other spring garden favorites. Gardeners in warmer climates can hold off until November or December, if they wish.

Expert advice

The Netherlands Flower-bulb Institute offers these tips to simplify the planting process:

- Always select plump, firm, blemish-free bulbs. Do not be concerned if some are skinless. Plant immediately, or store them in a ventilated container and place in a dry, cool (40°-50°F) location until ready to plant.

- Spring-flowering bulbs flourish in well-drained soil and partial sunlight. Do not plant them in areas which get strong midday sun.

- Before planting, condition the soil with peat moss or compost to improve drainage. Enrich with a handful of bonemeal per square foot of soil.

- Extensive university research tests throughout the U.S. and Canada have now standardized planting depths. Plant the following bulbs 8" deep and 6" apart: all tulips, all daffodils, hyacinths, fritillaria imperialis, and allium giganteum.

- These bulbs are to be planted 5" deep, spaced 3" to 4" apart: snowdrops, winter aconite, ins reticulata, crocus, glory-of-the-snow, anemone blanda, Spanish bluebells and muscar.

- Set bulbs in place with tips up, cover halfway with soil mixed with a quarter-ounce of 8-8-8 fertilizer, and water thoroughly. Cover completely with remaining soil and water again.

- When the first frost occurs, cover bulb beds with a 3" protective layer of mulch. In the south, mulch at planting.

- As the shoots appear in spring, give the soil a booster dressing of 8-8-8 fertilizer.

- As flowers fade, snap them off below their bases. Leave the foliage intact until it turns yellow, then cut at ground level.

- It's possible to have a steady flow of garden color from February into June by planting early-, mid-, and late-flowering bulbs.

- Crocuses, snowdrops, glory-of-the-snow and winter aconite begin to blossom while snow is on the ground. They're followed by muscar, Fostemana and Kaufmanniana tulips, and hyacinth.

- Mid-spring brings sunny daffodils, the larger Triumph and Darwin hybrid tulips, and the tall, willowy crown imperial (Fritillaria imperialis).

- Spring reaches its peak with the appearance of Dutch iris, lily-flowered and parrot tulips, and the gaudy ornamental onion, allium giganteum.

One final gardening hint: bulb flowers look best when planted in clusters of 12 or more. Straight rows of single bulbs are the mark of an amateur gardener.
