WHILE ALL may not be well in the Detroit area, at least things are "amazingly quiet." That's according to the Wall Street Journal which treated its readers to a Friday, Oct. 15, multi-page article on the cheek-by-jowl relationship Grosse Pointe has with Detroit.

The story contends residents refer to Alter Road variously as "The Berlin Wall," "The Barrier" and "The Mason-Dixon Line." While not overly critical, the article at times takes on an "us versus them," "haves and have nots" theme, but suggests the two cultures are drawing closer together thanks to the hardships inflicted on both life styles by the depression in Michigan.

To all of this we reply, "Ich bin ein Grosse Pointer!

IT'S NOT often people get a chance to have a good time and do a good deed simultaneously, but the opportunity presents itself Halloween afternoon at the Park's Windmill Pointe Park.

There, members of the Grosse Pointe United Methodist Young Fellowship, in conjunction with friends of Allen Spaulding, will hold a fund raising Halloween party for Allen, who was paralyzed in a swimming accident this past

The party, scheduled from 12 to 5 p.m., will offer refreshments, games, music by local groups, volleyball, pumpkin painting, dance contest, make-up for Halloween, apple bobb-ing, gold fish pond and bubble gum blowing contest. Suggested donation is $25 a tamily, but anything will be accepted.

The group hopes to raise enough to purchase a specially equipped handicapped van for Allen. He and his wife Jane, along with 4-year-old daugh-ter AnneMarie, live on Rooseveil Place, in the City.

The Pointe may make up only 30 percent of the population of the State Senate's new 1st District. But it's an important 30 percent to both incumbent Democratic Sen. John Kelly and his Nov. 2 rival John Lauve.

The Pointe is home for Lauve, 41, a Cadillac engineer who lives on Sunningdale in the Woods. And it's a natural place for the Republican candidate to seek support for his campaign to cut government spending, stop the flight of business and bolster the fight against crime in the 64 percent Democratic 1st District.

said. "I found that out when I went against (Thaddeus) Stopczynski," a conservative Democrat who lost to Kelly by almost a 3-1 margin in the Pointes in the August primary.

Lauve has long been active in local politics and unsuccessfully sought his party's nomination for Congress in the Pointe in 1980 and in Adrian in the 1981 election to fill David Stockman's seat.

Lauve is holding his opponent's record up to critical review, attacking the freshmen senator's vote for a reapportionment plan that divided Grosse Pointe between two Congressional districts as a "politically advantageous" move that resulted in a "strong homogeneous community (having) its political influence and concerns diluted, winding up with very little representation in Con-

He also criticizes Kelly's promotion of a district court system in the Pointes, saying the new system would be more costly and would reduce local control. He points out his Democratic rival was ranked second from the last in the state Chamber of Commerce's Job Providers Index.

"The major issue facing the State Senate next year must be the poor financial condition of Michigan. This state is bankrupt by the policies perpetuated by many of our current legislators," Lauve said. "Michigan has the second highest per capita gov-ernment spending rate. Spending must be reduced.'

His program includes reducing welfare costs by correcting abuses through a photo identification card system and direct rent and picture of "a drastic financial utility payments. He also supports state-wide testing programs for grade progression in the public schools and, in the health care area, state clinics to control costs and tighter licensing control over doctors' fees.

Candidates meet public on Monday

The Grosse Pointe League of Women Voters will sponsor a candidates' forum on Monday, Oct. 25, at 7:30 p.m. in the Alger Room of the War Memorial.

Candidates for the Wayne County Commission, state Senate, state House and U.S. Congress are scheduled to attend.

Candidates for those positions

• Wayne County - Barbara Gattorn, Republican, and John Hertel, Democrat.

 State House — Incumbent William, Bryant, Jr., Republican, and Jane Stevens, Democrat.

 State Senate — John Lauve, Republican, and incumbent John Kelly, Democrat.

• U.S. Congress — Letty Gupta, Republican, and incumbent George Crockett, Democrat.

The local League of Women Voters has also published Voters Guides which are available at the War Memorial, local city offices, churches and libraries.

The motion to reject the rezoning came from Councilman Thomas Fahrner, the chairman of the committee that studied the problem. The vote came after 20 minutes of discussion, short compared to the previous two-hour council hearing Oct. 4.

Fahrner said his motion came after discussions with various parking committee members. It was not, he said, a recommendation from the comm-

"It took a lot longer than I thought it would," said Joe, with a smile. "I'd be doing a good job then boom! I'd run into a batch of old photos. That'll hold you up for

The photos featured the "old gang." Shots of Joe and the boys at Field Days, at pistol competitions, and at other cops' retirement parties. Joe was a younger guy then. Now it's time for his

"I NEVER really started out to be a cop," said Joe, 55. "After the Air Force in 1946, I had itchy feet, so I traveled out west and worked as a cowpoke. Even entered a few rodeos. I rode mostly brones and bulls. While I was there, I learned to cut meat. After I came home. I worked as a butcher at Eastern Market. It was a good job. I liked it.

Then something simple happened that changed his life. The Farms police force cut its weekly hours from 48 to 40. For someone working at Eastern Market 90 hours a week for nearly the same money, this was too good to pass

Joe applied, was accepted and has never regretted it. It meant a lot to him to be a cop in the Farms. He's lived there for nearly 50 years. He attended school at St. Paul and graduated there.

He's even distantly related to a.m. and at South High School on the Belangers of Belanger Road. "Actually I'm sist a shirt-tail re-

That's a slight understatement During the past summer, he and wife Pat traveled to Quebec for a Belanger reunion. There were 5,000 of them gathered in one spot at one time

'We had a great time," said Joe. "Except the French Canadians wouldn't talk to you if you couldn't speak the language. We knew they could speak English, but didn't make a big deal over it. We still got along just fine."

THE TRIP WAS a solo affair for Joe and Pat. They didn't take along any of their five kids. Aimee, Richard, Eugene, Janine and Carrie are an athletic bunch who recently surprised their par-

In 1970, Joe became the Traffic Safety officer for the Farms. His iob entailed visiting all the schools in the Farms, teaching traffic safety to the students and becoming their friend.

Because most kids couldn't pronounce Belanger, he became known as "Mr. B." The kids must have listened, because the Farms won award after award from the Auto Club over the next 10 years for traffic safety.

"That was a terrible thing. There were two tragedies that day. We lost a child and a woman passing the scene went into shock. She blocked traffic and we couldn't get her to move. She sat there with her hands locked on the wheel and her foot on the brake. She wouldn't respond and her doors were locked.

"Finally, we put one scout car in front and another in back, so she wouldn't roll forward. Then we unlocked the door using a coat hanger. I learned later she was hospitalized over the incident."

Joe has other memories. Like the day Joe and partner Don Pilon captured a disgruntled ex-employe shooting up a Mack Avenue dry cleaners. Another time, he

Math scores improve in schools

By Joanne Gouleche

Fourth graders in Grosse Pointe's public schools showed dramatic improvement in math skills this spring when they took the nationwide Metropolitan Achievement Test, a public school administrator said last week

The improved test performance was credited to a "great deal of effort on the part of principals, teachers and central office personnel" to improve last year's fourth grade sagging math scores, the school's research and development director Roger McCaig told the Board of Education at its Oct. 11 meeting.

LAST SPRING, local fourth grade students scored low in mathematical concepts, problem-solving and computation skills, even though fourth graders as a group scored in the top 10 percent of school systems nation-

This past May, fourth graders recorded their highest test score in the history of the test, ranking in the top 3 percent of school systems around the country, McCaig

Nationwide in mathematics, Grosse Pointe ranks in the top 1 percent in grades one, two, three, five, seven and eight. Fourth and sixth graders scored in the top 3 percent. McCaig said the achievement test did not measure students' metric skills.

The 12-year-old Metropolitan Achievement Test is commonly used to measure student skills in reading, math and vocabulary. The Pointe school system conducts its own tests in writing and spelling skills, in addition to the standarized exams.

While administrators use the test scores to measure individual student achievement, test results business," Kelly says.

"We don't have anymore resources to give to businesses in Michigan. Ten years ago, one of every four dollars generated by government here was paid by the corporate community. Today it's one out of every 10 dollars. We've shifted as much of the tax we possibly can to the income tax, which burdens individuals even more," Kelly said.

Instead of simply reducing business taxes, Kelly said he is working on a package that creates enterprize zones in which business would be allowed to sell Single Business Tax receipts and pay into a restructured workmen's and unemployment compensation system.

Moreover, he says state businesses must be made to realize they are part of a "global marketplace" and receive assistance to diversify their products and participate in the international business world.

Index which ranked him low in the Senate was skewed to make liberals like him look bad to "rally support for their cause."
Instead of working through the trade association, Kelly said he has established an internship program to help businesses on a case-by-case basis.

He defends his vote to split the Pointes into two Congressional districts by saying he really had no control over the matter. "The conference committees and the governor's office and con-gressmen have control over those things. There's really not much a senator can do," Kelly said.

'My opponent is the one who supports splitting up the Pointes when he rejects my idea of tying them all together in the single district court. He bases that on the thought that the five Pointes are separate entities.'

He claims the Job Providers more in the banking and credit" areas than he has during his first term in the Senate. He points to his foreign banking package, which has a proposed the Senate and the senate of the s which has passed the Senate and is waiting for House action, his urban land assembly bill and work on the Michigan Economic Development Authority as proof.

> "There will be a major change in leadership, a change in the bureaucracy when our very powerful governor and his entrenched bureaucrats leave office. We'll have our first real opportunity to get things done, to work with department heads and legislative leaders with fresh perspectives,' Kelly said.

and Pilon captured a safecracker in a Mack Avenue bar.

"THE GUY WAS really smooth," recalled Joe. "We were making our rounds at 4 a.m. and thought the bar door looked funny. The guy inside had picked it. When we crept in, he had the safe upside down and was working on it. We sure surprised him."

Joe has a lot of good memories from his 30 years on the force. 'Mostly I'll miss the comradeship," he said. "The fellowship among men. We were all young then. Building families and homes. I'd help someone build a garage. They'd help me with my driveway. Times were good."

Joe also feels being a member of the community made him a better cop. "When you're just a '9 to 5'er', you might not care as much about the community, but when you live there, it can really make a difference."

Joe has a lot of respect for the newer cops on the force today. 'They're very bright, with a lot more education than I ever had,' he said firmly. "Plus they've also got a lot of common sense. That's what a lot of police work is. Just using your head to solve problems. In all my years I can truthfully say that I've never had to really manhandle anyone.

"If you use common sense you can get people to go along with you. If I encountered a surly, belligerent drunk, I always ended up having him laugh with me. Out here, I knew so many people, too. Family disputes were the worst. They're so dangerous, plus I often knew those involved. The newer cops today will be fine."

Retirement plans call for puttering around the house, lots of hunting and fishing, involvement with the Foundation, plus work at the St. Paul Cemetery, which Joe helps maintain. He and Pat still have their youngest enrolled in the Grosse Pointe School system.

Soon François Joseph Belanger II will have his retirement party. He'll be awarded a gold plated badge and pictures will be snapped. Maybe 30 years from now, they'll be part of another cop's

"Blazer Raye"*... French for Blazer Stripe

"Blazer Raye," although reminiscent of early British and American polo clubs and the coveted Westchester Cup when the Americans first beat the British at their own game, is contemporary in styling. This new series, made of tightly woven canvas, should be particularly appealing to gentlemen.

The pattern is distinct yet subtle and the colors are fresh and exciting. The neutral khaki is complimented by navy, brown and burgundy stripes, all surrounded by cavalry tan reverse cowhide. There's a hint of elegance and strength in its looks.

The materials, are all in keeping with the French tradition of superior craftsmanship. *Prounced: Blar-zeur Ray-ay

Political plans an issue in county race

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Charges are flying in the county's 1st District commissioner's race. GOP candidate Barbara Gattorn says her Democratic opponent John Hertel is "job jumping," while Hertel calls the furor "negative campaigning.

Both were responding to a WWJ radio newscast that reported Hertel is interested in the Wayne County Sheriff job, should it be-come vacant after this November's election.

Gattorn blasted her opponent's "expediency," saying Hertel is quietly lobbying to be appointed Gattorn said Hertel is "not seriously interested in the commission," adding Hertel could have denied the charges when asked by WWJ reporter Tom McIntyre whether he was interested.

Hertel responded he was leaving his options open and was ruling nothing out, McIntyre said.

Hertel, however, called the appointment a rumor and premature, since no vacancy exists.

College planning — public school priority seling practices in Grosse Pointe public schools reveals high levels of disagreement among parents, teachers and students about those practices.

Frequently more than 30 per-cent of those polled for a recent administration study were dissatisfied with various aspects of the program, the survey said.

The findings are part of a 1981-82 Board of Education goal to study counseling services in the schools. The year-long study has led to substantial changes in counseling policies, according to Supt. Dr. Kenneth Brummel.

A preliminary report on the Guidance and Counseling Study was made to the Board of Education in Land 1997 ucation in June. Last week, trust-ees heard a report by the schools' secondary curriculum director, Robert Welch, on final recommendations.

Beginning with the 1982-83 school year, administrators will begin to survey the counseling needs of new students entering the

"I don't think that we should make the residents feel guilty by the council going ahead with this very bad proposal,"Novitke said. He received the only applause of the night.

Residents, overcoming their surprise at the speed of the action, were pleased with the vote. One called it "a satisfactory solution to a very unsatisfactory prob-

"I was very appreciative," Brys resident Thomas Sullivan said, actions by the council were "very professional.

The proposed rezoning came up for its first public hearing last month before the Planning Commission. Residents at the meeting complained of possible lowered property values, increased traffic and the spread of blight through residential neighborhood.

The council and planning commissioners maintained the rezoning was an attempt to stop blight by creating a favorable business climate, would not adversly affect property values, and would, in the future, mean a more adding Fahnrer's motion and the viable business district which would mean a wider tax base for

During his presentation of test results to the Board of Education last week, McCaig said reading scores on a district level have remained stable this May for grades one through 10. "But that doesn't mean any activity is not going on to identify areas of improvement," McCaig said.

In reading, test results showed Grosse Pointe students ranked in the top 1 percent of school systems in grades one, two, three, seven and nine. Grades four, five, six, eight and 10 ranked in the top 6 percent of school systems.

McCAIG TOLD trustees improvement has been noted in vocabulary test scores for third and 10th graders. "There is clear last three years.

evidence for some optimism. The trend is positive and it represents a lot of improvement in some schools. Overall it's quite promising," McCaig said.

In their mastery of vocabulary skills, Grosse Pointe students scored in the top 1 percent in third and ninth grade, while those in grades four, five, six, seven, eight and 10 ranked in the top 6 percent.

McCaig told board trustees that the administrators will have to keep a close eye on writing skills in the schools. "Here's an area that bears a little watching. We need a little bit of work here. There is some indication of a little decline in recent years," McCaig

On the locally-administered 50-word spelling test, McCaig said scores have remained stable the

Hertel seeks academy applicants

Congressman Dennis Hertel (D-Detroit), is seeking applicants for possible appointment to one of the three United States military academies.

Hertel said that since admission to the academies is by Congressional nomination only, he must receive letters of application no later than Oct. 25 from young men and women who reside in the 14th Congressional District. He stated that interested individuals must be: citizens of the United States, between the ages of 17 and 22 years, and be high school seniors or graduates.

"Once again this year, we will utilize the services of a special citizen committee to review all applicants and make recom-mendations for the 14th District appointments to the Naval Academy, the Military Academy and the Air Force Academy," said

The congressman said the committee will be composed of nonpartisan representatives from business, labor, neighborhood groups, service groups and the community-at-large.

Anyone interested in being considered for an academy appointment should send a letter to Hertel at his Detroit District office, 24091 Van Dyke, Detroit, Mich. 48234. Applicants must be a resident of the current 14th Congressional District and must indicate an academy preference at the time they apply

Hertel said interested applicants should simultaneously contact the academy of their choice for a "pre-candidate questionnaire," which must be obtained directly from the military academies. Interested individuals should contact the school of their choice: U.S. Naval Academy, Candidate Guidance Office, Annapolis, Md. Both single parents and couples came and told of the problems they were having with their teenagers. They ranged from a promiscuous daughter who used drugs and alcohol to a fifth grader who also had a drug bahit also had a drug habit.

Several parents wanted to find a solution to these problems before their younger children also became troublesome teen-agers.

Fran Pastoria, program consultant for the Northeast Guidance Center, told the group that it was time to take a stand and to have parental demands met. According to the manual, she said, the essence of family life is cooperation, not togetherness.

Stressing the lack of professional guidance within the program, she told the group that they are the experts, because they know what the problems are.

Those parents who had less severe problems with their children or only came for informational purposes questioned whether those who were going through a crisis would feel uncomfortable speaking out in front of the informal group. But one parent, who admitted he was currently going through a crisis and was nearing the end of his rope, said, "If it takes my disease to help cure someone else, then it will all have been worth it.'

County to hold tax hike hearing

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners will hold a public hearing tomorrow, Oct. 22, on a proposed millage increase to help cut its $22.3 million deficit.

The proposed increase of .2383 mills, or 23 cents for every $1,000 in state equalized value, would mean an average increase of about $12 a household in the Grosse Pointes.

The board voted 14-6 to hold the hearing, scheduled for 10 a.m. in the 13th floor auditorium of the City-County building. The hearing is the first step of the state-mandated process for passing the tax increase, which would take effect next year, according to the county Board of Auditors.

The proposed increase would said. formation officials said.

Other provisions of an auditor's plan to cut the deficit, submitted to the State Municipal Finance Commission for approval to allow the county to borrow $10 million to finance operations this year, including closing of the D.J. Healy by the Sheriff's Department, Board of Auditors Chairman Ted

Mrozowski said. The county originally asked the Finance Commission to allow it to borrow $20 million, he said, but the commission approved only $10 million in borrowing. The county needs the other $10 million to finance its operations and payrolls. Schools name two to audit committee

By Joanne Gouleche

The president of Harper-Grace Hospitals along with the vicepresident of a securities investment firm this week were named by the Grosse Pointe public schools to serve as citizen representatives on the school's newly-formed advisory Audit Committee.

During their three year committee terms, George Cartmill, Harper Grace president, and James Mooney, of Dean Witter Reynolds, Inc., will review the school system's financial statements, accounting and financial reporting practices and review internal accounting controls, according to school administrators.

Besides Cartmill and Mooney, other committee members will include Supt. Dr. Kenneth Brummel, Director of Business Affairs, Christian Fenton, and Board of Education members Ronald Dalby and Jon Gandelot. All will serve at the pleasure of the board.

School officials said the two residents will "add stature and depth to the committee" and added they are unaware of any other school system that has residents on the audit committee. "Yet in the private sector, it is common practice for an audit committee to include outside members," officials said.
The audit committee was recommended by administrators to the Board of Education in June. The board's treasurer currently meets with administrators and auditors to discuss the school system's annual audit.

The newly-formed audit committee will meet at least twice a year for a pre and post audit sessions. "It would be expected that the committee would provide a report to the board as a whole at the June and October board meetings," school officials said.

Cartmill, of Touraine Road in Grosse Pointe Farms, has been president of Harper-Grace since the two hospitals merged in 1974. He joined Harper Hospital in 1946.

Mooney received his bachelor's degree in philosophy from the University of Detroit.

Busy planning for College Night '82 at South High School are (left to right) Suzie Decker, president of the Grosse Pointe South Mothers' Club, Vorita McClure, South counselor and Dr. Joseph Spagnoli, South principal. More than 110 colleges will participate in the Oct. 27 program sponsored jointly by the Mothers Club and South High School, along with assistance from the North High School counseling staff. While the program is planned specifically for juniors and seniors, sophomores and freshmen are welcome to attend. Activities begin 7:15 p.m. in South's main gymnasium.

Teachers learn to be effective counselors

What makes Johnny and Susie Faculty, and Upper and Middle learn? How do teachers counsel students? University Liggett School faculty and administrators found out the answers in during two recent in-service workshops.

The first workshop featured Dr. Jerry W. Valentine, Professor of Education at the University of Missouri, who discussed the relationship between the rate a child's brain grows and how well he learns at certain stages in his life. Dr. Valentine, a Ph.D. from the University of Nebraska, explained his theories at a "Faculty Day Away" held for all ULS teachers at Waldenwoods Conference Center in Hartland, Mich. on Sept. 1

Valentine presented research to show that there are specific periods in a child's life which are more favorable for him to learn. and urged teachers and administrators to design curriculum to correspond to these periods.

The second workshop featured Dr. Sherrel Bergmann, Dean of the Graduate School of the National College of Education, who presented a session on methods for individual classroom teachers to counsel students.

Members of ULS Upper School

School administrators met at the Upper School library on Sept. 3 to participate in a discussion of "The Teacher as Counselor." The ULS faculty worked on exercises to make students more comfortable in asking for help from their teachers. Dr. Bergmann, who holds a Ph.D. from Kent State University and has taught counseling and psychology, characterized changes in behavior and attitudes as a student grows.

as much weight as his or her personal skills. The student's high school rank and standardized test scores were given about equal status by the college admissions offi-

"Contrary to popular belief, the researchers found that outstanding extracurricular or athletic achievements had little affect on acceptance for most students. In borderline cases, these and other personal characteristics did often serve as the breaker.

A few of the findings regarding admissions at the nine colleges studied include:

• Despite the apparent importance of academic preference in the admissions process, there was no indication that any of the colleges participating in the study were using a strict cut-off point for either high school rank or admissions test scores.

· Personal qualities (leadership, physical or artistic skills, etc.) played a somewhat greater role at the most selective colleges.

· Other background characteristics that positively influenced the admissions decision were alumni ties and geographic location.

· Socially privileged students did not receive preference in admissions and a student's applying for financial aid did not influence the admissions decisions.

· Admissions practices do not always correspond with policy statements of the institutions. In particular, there is often a lack of agreement between the weight a college claims or intends to give a particular personal measure and the emphasis it actually receives in the selective process. The study Personal Qualities and College Admissions is available from the CEEB, Box 2815. Princeton, N.J. 08541. Cost is $24.95 (hardcover) and $14.95 (soft pected to fill out college applications. Almost 80 percent of these a applicants to public and private colleges will be accepted, a rate higher than is commonly believed.

Much of the success depends upon the guidance and support that individual students receive from their high school counselors. Realistic choices are important, but in many instances it is the quality of information from the high school - the transcript, recommendations and supporting documents' — that spell the difference between acceptance and rejection of an applicant."

The NASSP also said: "Clearly there are differences between institutions. The least selective often consider very little beyond evidence of high school gradua-tion. As selectivity of the institutions increases other factors are considered. Among the public colleges, heavy emphasis is given to the high school record and quite often the results of a specified admissions test. The private colleges are widely believed to consider other factors such as unique talents, leadership skills and a host of other factors.

Yet, surprisingly, little is known about the details of the admissions process because there has been little informative research on the subject."

Thief hits Farms store

Farms police are on the look out for a man who robbed the Treder Pharmacy, 18544 Mack, of narcotics Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 5.

According to reports, the thief walked into the store and threatened to kill the pharmacist unless he was given various drugs. The man kept his hand in his pocket, giving the appearance of having a gun, police said.

After obtaining bottles of codeine, empirin, demerol and dilaudid, the man made his escape in what appeared to be a gray, with black trimmed Ford Mustang, according to police.

The robber was described as a white male, in his early 20s, slim build with light brown hair, clean shaven. He was wearing blue jeans, jean jacket and mirrored

Lochmoor hits its 65th year

Lochmoor Club will celebrate its 65th anniversary on Saturday, Oct. 23, with a gala ball. The tennis house will be converted into a garden ballroom and some 650 members and guests will have cocktails and dinner and then dance to the big band sound of the Austin Moro orchestra. Dr. Reginald Zielinski and his committee have spent many hours preparing for this big event. A souvenir book is being printed and will be given to members. This book will contain family photographs of the members as well as many pictures and stories commemorating Lochmoor Club's 65

Lakepointe home hit by burglars

A thief or thieves broke into a home on the 900 block of Lakepointe Avenue Friday, Oct. 1, and escaped with about $20 cash, a woman's watch and other jewelry, according to Park Police Chief Henry O. Coonce.

The resident of the home re-ported the breaking and entering at about 4 p.m. Friday. He said it could have occurred anytime between then and 8 a.m. that morn-

Police said the burglar entered the house by cutting a screen on the first floor and crawling through the unlocked window. Neighbors reported seeing two suspicious youths in the alley behind the home at about 1:30 that afternoon. They were described as white males, about 13 or 14 years old. One had blond wavey hair, the other's was dark and straight.

Park honors Butch Korte

The Park Council recently passed a resolution honoring Cyril "Butch" Korte, who has worked for the municipality for more than 47 years.

Korte retired at the end of August for the second time. He first retired from his position as supervisor of the water department in 1967, but returned to the city, on a contract basis, as plumbing inspector.

Korte celebrated his 80th birthday earlier this month.

In its resolution, the city council acknowledged Korte as the person who has served the city the longest and declared Friday, Sept. "Butch Korte Day" in the city in honor of his service

'name' brand for senator

In buying goods, shoppers tend to stick with He points to his efforts for an urban entershift to new products only when they're dissatisfied or they discover a better buy. In politics, voters are motivated in a similar way. They tend to favor incumbents unless their records are called into serious question. It is up to the promises and proposals are preferable to the incumbents' records.

Those comments are applicable in a number of races in Michigan this year, and especially in the 1st District race in which the Republican challenger, John Lauve, is trying to unseat Sen. John Kelly. Attempting to make Kelly's record the major issue, Lauve contends that the cal campaign. He stresses the importance of senator is anti-business, has not adequately represented Grosse Pointe's interests and has failed to set a high ethical standard in the conduct of his office.

KELLY OFFERS convincing rebuttals on several of these charges. He insists he is not anti-business, that trade association records showing him voting against business on occasion are not always accurate and do not tell the full story, and that Michigan's economic climate, while not as bad as painted, reflects the national economic picture and won't materially improve until that national climate starts getting better.

With respect to a charge that one of the Senate employes in his office quit after being told to contribute time and money to his political campaign, Kelly says he is "outraged" because the accusation "is untrue." He contends she quit for personal reasons but then changed her story after she was denied unemployment compensation. She later won unemployment benefits but Kelly says he did not have the opportunity to challenge her new story because Senate lawyers defended the case.

As for the Lauve complaint that Kelly voted for the Democratic bill that split the Grosse Pointes into two congressional districts, Kelly admits he did so but contends that it was the "political process" that controlled reapportionment both of the congressional districts and the legislative districts. Actually, the Democratic bill that split Grosse Pointe Park and Grosse Pointe City from the 14th District and moved them into the 13th District was vetoed by Gov. William Milliken but later was used by a panel of federal judges (two of the three being Democrats) as the basis for the reapportionment that became effective earlier this

On this issue, we think Kelly fails to make an effective rebuttal. Many people in the Pointes, including those in official capacities, never were informed in advance about the plan to split the community between the two districts. The Concerned Republican Committee, after the fact, challenged the reapportionment and, with Lauve's support, filed an appeal which, unfortunately, is still pending.

Despite these criticisms and the feeling of some of his Senate colleagues that he is a young man "in too much of a hurry" to achieve political success, Kelly has been a hardworking senator. His four years of experience in Lansing enables him to serve his district more effectively and the passage of his bill that made it possible for Wayne County to adopt a charter was a major accomplishment.

"name" brands they're familiar with and to prise zone, aid for small business and unemployment law changes to improve the state's business climate. He has set up a legislative intern program for business administration graduates to collect information and work on ideas to help business in the state. And he challengers to convince the public that their claims many improvements already have been made in the tax structure to help business, citing the fact that Michigan collected four out of every $10 in taxes from business 10 years ago and now collects only one out of every $10 from that source.

Like Kelly, Lauve believes the state's economic problem is the top issue in the politistopping business from leaving the state, and calls for reducing regulation on business, reforming the business tax and the unemployment compensation law, and making the state's taxes on business more competitive with those of neighboring states.

LAUVE BELIEVES — state spending could be further reduced by sub-contracting more work to private enterprise and by tighter controls on welfare. He would try to halt immigration of welfare clients into Michigan, require workfare and mandatory training programs for those on welfare, insist on direct payments to providers of rent and utility services to such clients and urge a special I.D. card for them to reduce welfare abuse.

He recommends that savings from welfare reforms be used to benefit higher education, including greater investments in robotics and high tech programs planned in Michigan. As an engineer himself, Lauve sees possibilities for Michigan in such investments. He would also favor more support for police work, and espe-cially efforts to control drug and alcohol use. Lauve takes issue with Kelly's "promotion" of a district court system for the Pointes, arguing that if it had been adopted it would have harder look. increased costs, reduced local control and undermined the cohesiveness of the community. On this point, Kelly insists Lauve is inconsistent by charging the senator on the one hand with voting to divide the congressional district in the Pointes and at the same time complaining because Kelly responded to requests by a number of local officials for the bill to unite the Pointes into a single court.

to Lauve's proposals for improving state government. And yet they are still proposals which must be matched against an incumbent's record. So in the end we think that like good shoppers, voters would do well to stick with the "name" brand.

True, Lauve has strong Republican support in the Pointes, which constitutes between 30 and 40 percent of the population and vote in the 1st District, and he has performed a useful service in this campaign by holding Kelly's record up for public examination. And, since he is a Woods resident, he is, of course, a Pointer himself, while Kelly lives in Detroit.

BUT THE Grosse Pointe News favors Kelly's reelection because he has greater experience in fault could drag out foreclosure Lansing and has been a vigorous and for the proceedings for 48 months? Among those who watched as the hull of the ancient ship was pulled from the mud a mile off Portsmouth, England, was Prince Charles, president of the Mary Rose Trust, which raised the finds for the recovery project, and hundreds of other interested spectators.

WHAT A STORY the Mary Rose could tell us of the history that took place above her as she lay for more than four centuries beneath the Atlantic's grey waters. During that period Britain's fortunes waxed and waned. The Mary Rose was the ancestor of the vessels through which Britannia ruled the waves under such leaders as Sir Francis Drake and Lord Nelson. She was still there when Winston Churchill growled, "I have not become the King's first minister in order to preside over the liquidation of the British Empire," and yet he and his successors were required to do just that.

But if the Mary Rose herself cannot speak, the vessel and the more than 17,000 artifacts that were aboard her will tell their own story to the archaeologists and historians who examine them. Among the artifacts already identified are breech-loading and muzzle-loading guns, bows and arrows, the barber-surgeon's am-

If C passes, foreclosures would be thrown into the judicial process, further clogging already crowded court dockets.

Now let's look at the most damaging part - extending the foreclosure redemption period from its present six months to one of four years. The effects of this would be devastating. To the Editor:

There has been considerable comment in recent issues of the Grosse Pointe News regarding reduction of students in our school system. The figures indicate we have reduced in numbers from a peak of 13,700 down approximately 40 percent to 7,700. Studies further indicate a reduction to perhaps 5,500 in a few years.

I believe everyone wants the finest educational opportunities and experience for those children in our Grosse Pointe system. Citizens over the years have supported exceedingly well the school building and educational programs ranking us high in Michigan and national standards.

While maintaining these standards we must as a school system face the problem of "over supply" just like a business. The taxpayers can no longer be asked to support a building structured system that only provides for 60 percent of its former enrollment. Heating and maintaining buildings 60 percent occupied is not practical any longer. We must find better economic uses for our build-

Presently, one-third of all mortgage funds in Michigan come from sources outside the state, such as from the Federal National Mortgage Association ("Fannie Mae'') and the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation ("Freddie Mac"), two huge quasi-governmental financial entities. Such a redemption period would discourage these sources from doing business in Michigan. Whether you are buying or sel-

Autumn's most elegant party promises to be A Masked Ball, and although co-chairmen Pauline Young, of Bloomfield Hills, and Nicole Stroh, of The Pointe, emphasize that masks are optional at Under the Stars III, the annual gala benefit at the Detroit Institute of Arts, they expect that most of the guests will want to exercise their creative ingenuity.

The black tie party begins at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 30, with cocktails in the museum galleries. Dinner will be served in the Great Hall and Rivera Court. Dancing will be to the music of Jack, Qualey's Orchestra and the Paul Christie Disco. Valet parking will, of course, be provided.

Outstanding masks will be selected by a group of judges circulating during the evening. Several area artists have been invited to make masks, on display now through Masked Ball night, for inspiration and for sale, in the Museum Shop. For those who prefer a simple incognito, undecorated eye masks will be available at the

The ball is open to the public, with tickets ranging from $250 patron to $150 general admission to $75 for "late night" admission, covering an open bar and dancing from 10 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. Additional information may be obtained from the DIA Founders Society Development Office, 833-1925.

Symphony League is Busy

The Detroit Symphony League, which began its current season a month ago with a general membership meeting at Machus Sly Fox in Birmingham during which Grosse Pointe's Debbie Tischler was introduced as 1982-83 president, is already busy with plans for its 23rd Annual Christmas Walk.

Again this year the Walk will be held for two days in each of two locations. Sunday and Monday, Dec. 5 and 6, have been set aside for Birmingham-Bloomfield. The following Sunday and Monday, Dec. 12 and 13, Walkers will be invited to tour Grosse Pointe homes.

Hours are from noon to 5 p.m. Sundays, from 10 a m to 4 p.m. Mondays. Ticket prices remain the same as last year: $6 for advance sale group tickets, $7 for individual tickets in advance and $8 for tickets purchased at the door. Ticket purchases are tax deductible. All proceeds go to the Detroit Symphony Orchestra Annual

The League's season-opening luncheon in mid-September featured a delightful program, a humorous, but informative, talk by DSO Assistant Conductor Kenneth Jean on The History of Conducting and a performance by Mark Abbott, new addition to the orchestra's French horn section. At 18, Mark is one of the youngest musicians ever hired by the symphony.

Incidentally: Grosse Pointe's Louise Lee is among a group of Standing Committee officers who also serve on the League's board.

And before we leave the subject of DSO doings . . . have you noticed the "I Supported Detroit Symphony Marathon '83' stickers popping up all over town? They're a new Marathon idea, and they're being given out to businesses which and merchants who contribute premiums to the annual WQRS Timeless FM 105 radio fund raiser for the orchestra.

Pointers in Public View

Actress L. Aden Russell, a Woods resident, sings, dances and tells jokes in "The Club," a musical diversion by Eve Merriam playing through Oct. 30 at Detroit's Attic Theatre. Performances of the piece, set in an exclusive men's club at the turn of the century, are Fridays and Saturdays, at midnight. Ticket information finay be obtained by calling 963-7789.

Potter Ken Thompson, a Farms resident, is one of the youngest artists with work appearing in 'Tribute,' the special 75th anniversary benefit show for Pewabic Pottery which opens this Saturday and will run through Nov. 14 at the famous ceramics learning center, museum and gallery located on East Jefferson Avenue, across from Detroit's Waterworks Park. Gallery hours are noon to 5 p.m. daily. Most of Ken's ceramic training was obtained first as a student, then as a student assistant at Pewabic. He also served as apprentice to nationally acclaimed potter John Glick.

Needleworker Trenna E. Ruffner, a Park resident, captured the Prize for Lace category for her bobbin lace sampler Dresden Plate, designed in the style of the Dresden Plate quilt block pattern, with each stitch forming a segment of the motif, in The Sampler Exhibition at Old Economy Village, Ambridge, Pa., presented this summer by the Center for the History of American Needlework, the Harmonie Associates and the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission. A photo of Trenna's winning entry was featured in the exhibit catalogue.

An Event in Miniature

Miniaturist Shirley Cavanaugh, a Woods resident, chairperson for this year's edition of Michigan's Original Miniature Show, sponsored by the Wee Bees, and Liz Lubera are putting finishing touches on the exhibit, which opens tomorrow, Friday, Oct. 22, and will run through Sunday, Oct. 24, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily at the Miniature Makers Workshop, 1725 West 14 Mile Road near Crooks Road in Royal Oak.

Admission (children under five not allowed, children under 12 allowed only when accompanied by an adult, due to the delicacy of the work on display) is $1.50

In addition to Shirley and Liz, local residents showing their tiny treasures include Kay Alger, Ann Boomer, Karen Burt, Mary Jane Harland and Terry Henson. This year's featured guest artist is Linda Wexler-Dube, of New York City, who with her partner, Don Dube, created a pair of exquisite miniature rooms for Cartier's 1980 Christmas windows on Fifth Avenue in New York City. Linda will be demonstrating her techniques on Friday and Sunday.

The Community LINC

A casino party may be controversial — but it is undoubtedly one of the big reasons Operation LINC (Linking Individuals to Needs in the Community) will be able to accomplish its mission in the coming year.

On Saturday, Nov. 6, at 8 p.m. at Lochmoor Club, LINC will host a Night in Monte Carlo. And while playing games for fun and prizes is the focus of the evening, earning cash to help run LINC's orgamzation is the objective.

Each year LINC must rely on a number of money raising projects, such as the Monte Carlo party, to fund its activities. In the past these have included the LINC City Fair, a giant rummage sale held vearly in downtown Detroit's Kern Block. This later evolved into a flea market for antique dealers and artisans, now held in Grosse LINC also holds a yearly garage sale, and in previous years has held a poinsettia sale and a haute couture fashion show.

Currently, according to LINC fund raising chairpersons Becky Cipriano and Judy Chauvin, the Monte Carlo party is LINC's major fund raising event, and crucial to its operations. "We are hoping to earn 50 percent of LINC's projected budget for the coming year through the Monte Carlo party," says Cipriano.

"Fortunately," she adds, "we have fantastic volunteers. The party is a major undertaking, and we do attempt to make the evening as fun-filled as possible for volunteers and party-goers. Having the aid of capable, responsible volunteers is our assurance of

A second very important source of revenue for LINC is corporate funding, which is used largely to support operating expenses. Erica Lindow, LINC first vice-president for operations, views these contributions as having a tremendous impact on LINC.

"In view of today's economic conditions it is impossible to support an organization solely through donations from individushe explains. "Last year LINC worked hard to broaden its base of support. Major contribu-tions were received from the Eloise and Richard Webber Foun-dation. Michigan Consolidated Gas Company, the National Bank of Detroit, Michigan Mutual In-surance Company, the General Motors Women's Club and two Motors Women's Club and two local churches. In addition, a great many businesses have generously contributed to our annual fund raisers.

"Today," she continues, "there is a great demand and competition for charitable contributions. In view of this environment it has become necessary for every charitable organization to re-examine its costs and purpose. We at LINC are able to keep our costs under control, since 90 percent of our work is done by volunteers.

"And there is a great need for our services, illustrated by the fact that we have almost doubled the annual value of goods disbursed to Wayne County agencies, from $138,000 in fiscal year 1981 to $259,000 in fiscal year 1982.

As Lindow stresses, it is impor- 535-1330 or 644-9203.

tant to note that while LINC makes a major contribution to the community, the organization operates on a truly minimal budget.

Of an annual $16,000 in operating monies, over half is used to pay LINC's one full-time employe. Fran Mumma, who handles the daily operations of the LINC office. The remainder covers rent. telephone, insurance, office supplies, postage, professional fees for accountant and attorney. equipment repair, pay roll tax and dues and memberships in professional organizations

A third area of fund raising for LINC is grants. These play an important part in the LINC operation because they cover costs the basic LINC budget is not able to accommodate.

Grants are requested by LINC of private organizations for specific needs. For example: LINC was fortunate to apply for and receive a Community Assistance Grant from the Junior League of Detroit. Inc. The Assistance Grant monies will be used to purchase a slide projector and screen and to produce a slide presentation on LINC to market the organization to the community, potential donors and volunteers.

And, finally, a small portion of the budget is acquired from Friends of LINC, individuals who have befriended LINC financially.

But this year, more than ever, the Monte Carlo party remains as one of the most enjoyable ways for people in the community to help LINC help others. For a modest donation of $15 per person, LINC is offering an evening of games of chance, fabulous prizes, hot and cold hors d'oeuvres, $1 million worth of chips to begin the fun, a Christmas boutique and free valet parking. Tickets and further information about this gala evening may be obtained from any LINC volunteer or the LINC office, 331-

LINC column space is provided monthly by the Grosse Pointe News as a community service. Operation LINC needs your generous contributions and your time. We are a non-profit, volunteer organization which helps numerous Wayne County agencies and depends on your support. To volunteer or to donate usable items, please call us at 331-6700. Our office hours are 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday, throughout the year:

RESULTS

Listed below are just some of the recent results we have produced while dealing in what most professional observers consider a "very difficult" market. The successful marketing of these properties was not luck. On the contrary, each of these sales was the direct result of a marketing program geared individually to the specific strengths and details of that particular property. This attention to detail coupled with our broad experience in "varied" and "creative" financing technique will make the difference for you, too.

Considering a move, but concerned about the narket? . . . Call one of our associates for some straight talk that produces RESULTS.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City Council, meeting as a Board of Appeals under the provisions of Section 5-11-1 of the 1975 City Code will meet in the Council-Court Room of the Municipal Building, 20025 Mack Plaza, on Monday, November 1, 1982, at 7:30 p.m. to hear the appeal of George N. Bashara, Jr., 20601 Wedgewood, who is appealing the denial of the Building Inspector to issue a permit to construct a proposed attached garage to such residence which would create a deficiency in the minimum side yard requirements, as provided for in Section 5.4-2(f) of the 1975 City Code. A variance is therefore needed from the Board of Appeals.

NOTICE OF HEARINGS ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Zoning Board of Appeals will meet in the City Hall at 90 Kerby Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, on

at 8:00 p.m. to hear the appeal of Mr. Peter J. Kauffman, owner of the premises located at 71 Mapleton, from the denial of the Building Department to issue a Permit for the construction of an addition to his existing detached garage located at the foregoing address. Such permit issuance was denied for reason that:

- 1. The property at 71 Mapleton is located in the R-I Dwelling District and under Article XIII Schedule of Regulations, Section 1300, the minimum lot coverage allowed in this district is 35% of lot area. The total building coverage with the new addition would exceed the minimum allowed by 135 Sq. Ft.
- Under Section 1503, Accessory Building, an accessory building shall not be constructed closer than 3 Ft. to the side property line. Mr. Kauffman's plan shows 2 Ft.
- 3. The plan shows the proposed addition to be added to an existing garage with only a 2 Ft. side yard. The existing structure is, therefore, non-conforming according to the Zoning Ordinance. According to Article XV, Section 1502, Item 4a of the Zoning Ordinance, no such structure may be enlarged or structurally altered unless a variance is granted.
- The plan shows the proposed addition to the existing garage to be located in the present side yard. Under Section 1503, Accessory Buildings, Item 2: Accessory buildings in residential districts shall not be erected in any required front or side open space.

The Hearing will be public, interested property owners or residents of the City are invited to attend.

whose own musical career was halted in its very early stages. But Malcolm Denise still has exactly what it takes to make a president of the Grosse Pointe Symphony Society: a love of great classical music and the desire to make such music part of life in Grosse Pointe.

1,100 hardy souls near Kalamazoo") native has a very definite background in music and some equally definite ideas on the subject. He built up his musical background at home. And his ideas on the success of a symphony in The Pointe are dispersed in the straightforward manner one would expect from a former vice president in charge of Labor Relations at Ford Motor Company.

"I was brought up in a musical environment. My mother was a musician and she attended music conferences all over the state. She was president of the Lansing Symphony Society from 1938 through 1940 . . . and she's delighted to see me back in the

He is back in that fold as a consumer rather than a producer of music. "Primarily, I play the phonograph," Denise laughs. "I used to play an instrument in high school, but my family convinced my mother that my ineptitude

Denise's love of music would not be overcome, either. He is about to complete his sixth year on the Grosse Pointe Symphony Society's board of directors. This is his second one-year term as the Society's president. And during that period, Denise has not been particularly satisfied with the success of the Society in attracting a new Sym-

In Denise's opinion, the Grosse Pointe Symphony isn't as well known and appreciated within the community as it should be. "We'd like to have as many people come as could. Public awareness of the Symphony right now is rather lim-We're trying to change our publicity process in this, our 30th

"If more people were aware of us, they'd come to hear us."

While Denise doesn't hide his disappointment at the way the Symphony is often received in The Pointe (he says Parcells Auditorium is generally only 75 percent full for Symphony performances), he maintains that the failure to attract new people is the problem not the Symphony itself or the very active Women's Association for the Grosse Pointe Symphony. Denise has great praise for both.

'Number one, the Symphony's music is excellent and well-performed. The soloists are always excellent. And I don't think there's a better bargain any-

And those musicians, as Denise describes them, are just regular people . . . who happen to love good music. "In the Symphony's origin and backbone are professionals and business people who, when they were younger, loved music and love to play it. It's as close to a community orchestra as you could come. Conductor Felix Resnick and four or five others are first chair professionals. The rest are amateurs, and most of them are from The Pointe," De-

THIS "COMMUNITY" symphony orchestra has another plus in its favor: according to Denise it is one of a very few orchestras in the state which operate in "the

"And that's primarily because of our Women's Association and their many fine fundraising ef-' Denise says. He adds that the 465-member Women's Association, second in size in the state only to the DSO's Women's Association, raised approximately $15,000 last year, making a $12,000 gift to the Symphony Society. The Women's Association is also responsible for handling season ticket mailings and sales and sponsoring post-performance receptions and fund raising events like the annual Swing Into Spring dinner dance and the Symphony Under the Stars at Jacobson's.

"These are some of the things the Women's Association does for us. I think it's a tremendous achievement," Denise says.

Denise would agree that tremendous is a perfect word to describe the driving force behind the Symphony itself: Conductor Felix Resnick, Resnick, musical director of the Grosse Pointe Symphony for 23 years and assistant principal second violinist with the DSO, IS the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra.

"Everybody involved in the Symphony would have a hard ence. There's always a reception time visualizing the Symphony

"He's uniformly admired and respected, patient but exacting, pleasant and cooperative where the Society is involved. I once went to a first rehearsal for a performance and thought there was no way he'd ever get the orchestra in shape — but he did. "He takes pride in his perfor-

he's done an excellent job," Demance.

As Denise tells it, there's plenty to be proud of where the Grosse Pointe Symphony is concerned especially in this 30th anniversary

"WHAT'S SO SPECIAL about our lineup? Primarily, it's the quality of our soloists. We operate on a small budget — no high soloist fees — so most of our soloists are those who have a kinship with our Symphony," Denise says.

One such soloist, he adds, is pianist Ralph Votapek, who will open the 30th Grosse Pointe Symphony season on Sunday, Nov. 7. Votapek is a musician with national and international recognition," Denise says. That Votapek feels that "kinship" to the Symphony must certainly say some thing about the organization.

Cellist Marcy Chanteaux, mezzo-soprano Kathleen Segar and pianist Brandt Fredriksen, winner of the Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival Piano Competition, round out the Symphony's season. Performances are Sundays, Nov. 7. Jan. 23, March 6, and May 1, at 3:30 p.m. in the Parcells School Auditorium.

One should not miss these Symphony performances. Take the word of Malcolm Denise, who has learned never to mince words as an attorney, labor relations expert and Symphony Society president:

"The Grosse Pointe Symphony is very important to a lot of people in Grosse Pointe. It's a cultural asset good for the community something one would hope to find in any community.

ELEGANT EATING

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth presenting, this week, a pair of TASTY RÉLISHES.

FRUIT RELISH

Especially delicious with chicken, ham or pork.

11/4 cup ginger root, coarsely chopped

1 cup water

7 Bosc pears (about 312 lbs.), not quite ripe

3 large Greening apples (about 1½ lbs.)

1¼ lbs. hard red or blue plums 2 cups red wine vinegar

1 cup light honey 1/2 cup packed light brown sugar 1 cinnamon stick, broken into small pieces ½ to 1 tsp. ground allspice

2 tsp. kosher or pickling salt Wash and coarsely chop ginger. Combine with water in a small pan and simmer covered for 30 minutes. Cool. Pour into cheesecloth-lined strainer set over a bowl. Peel and core pears and apples; chop coarsely. Pit plums; cut into thin slices. Combine fruits in non-metallic bowl. Combine vinegar, honey, sugar, cinnamon, allspice and salt in a saucepan and bring to a boil. Pour over fruits. Squeeze ginger bits in cheesecloth to extract all the liquid: discard solids and pour liquid over fruit mixture. Stir thoroughly and let stand at least 5 hours to hlend flavors.

Pour into an enameled or stain-less steel kettle and bring to a boil over high heat, stirring. Reduce heat and boil gently, stirring often, about 20 minutes or until fruit is tender but not mushy and still a little juicy.

Ladle into hot, sterilized jars leaving 1/2-inch headspace and seal according to manufacturer's directions. Process 5 minutes in boiling water bath for 1/2 or 1 pint jars. Test seals and store for 4 weeks before serving. Makes about 10 cups.

Finish Dorati fall DSO series

Conductor Laureate Antal Dorati concludes his series of fall concerts with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra with subscription programs tonight, Thursday, Oct. 21, and Saturday night, Oct. 23, in Ford Auditorium. Guest artist is renowned cellist Janos Starker, who will give the DSO premier performance of Dorati's Cello Concerto.

Maestro Dorati also has programmed the Strauss tone poem MacBeth, Opus 23, and Dvorak's Symphony No. 8 in G, Opus 88.

Tickets, ranging in price from $8 to $17, are on sale at the Ford and Bess.

Auditorium box office and all CTC outlets. MasterCard and VISA charge card customers may order them by phone at 567-1400. Following these subscription concerts, Maestro Dorati and the DSO move to the United Artists Theatre for recording sessions beginning Sunday, Oct. 24. They will record three discs on the London label. Repertoire for the albums includes Stravinsky's Firebird, two Strauss works, Also Sprach Zarathustra and MacBeth, and Grofe's Grand Canyon Suite, plus selections from Gershwin's Porgy

It doesn't matter how many dialects the Chinese language has. And I don't care how difficult it is to learn Russian, or Hebrew, or old Gaelic . . . none can be as difficult to master as the language now spoken by more than nan the American population. Sportsese

Sportsese, in its most complex form, encompasses such offshoots as Stengelese, Sparkyese and Cosellese. In its simplest form, it is the language of sports. And while it is spoken almost universally, for those who attempt to learn Sportsese as a second language, it can be heartbreakingly difficult

This was made abundantly clear one day, when a co-worker, not skilled in the intricacies of Sportsese, piped up with, "No wonder hockey players lose so many teeth — they spit the puck into the net!" She then explained that that was what she had derived from the term "goal mouth scramble."

While explaining to this novice (my feelings at that point were not unlike the French teacher who has had to endure years of her students' turning au revoir into "Ow reevywahr, Madam Moisle) that what goal mouth scramble really meant was a gaggle of players, sticks and puck (a gaggle of puck?) around the edge of a goal net — I came to the conclusion that what was needed was a Sportsese handbook

Therefore, in the interests of those who have always wondered what the devil they were talking about on Monday Night Football or Tiger Baseball or Hockey Night in Canada, Sports Week presents the Guide to Sportsese, First Edition, Abridged.

HOCKEY: Buried it — A term often used to describe the force with which a player has shot a puck into the net. More frequently heard in the use: "The coach had a thought that his team might make it into the playoffs, but he buried it.

Icing — As in shooting the puck the length of the ice from one offensive zone to the other; not as in "on the cake."

Rinkwide pass, Slapshot and High Sticking - Terms which describe, respectively, a pass across the ice, a way of shooting the puck and an illegal use of a stick; not as in, "two ways to take care of a hockey-playing Casanova who implements a different kind of 'rinkwide pass.

Ridden off the puck - A term which describes the way a defensive player eases an offensive player away from the puck. Colloquial use: "That's the way we play hockey down here in Houston, pardner, we head 'em off at the pass and ride 'em off the

FOOTBALL: Nickel defense — A term used to describe a strategy employing five defensive backs on a play; also may be used to describe the worth of a team's defensive unit, as in "I wouldn't give you a nickel for the Bears' defense."

Slant right. Quarterback sneak, Quarterback sack - Used primarily in describing three basic football plays or one type of football player: "The playboy quarterback imbibed so much, everything he looked at was slanted right. So he took the quarterback sneak right into the quarterback's sack.

Illegal Chuck - A prohibited defensive maneuver, not an outlawed male human or a disallowed cut of beef.

BASKETBALL: Fouls, i.e., team fouls, technical fouls, personal fouls - Foul describes the use of an unauthorized or illegal manuever. The terms "Team," "personal," and "technical," designate the type of foul and the punishment served for that foul. They do not describe A) the San Diego Chicken (team foul); B) a duck pressed (sorry about that) into service as a personal valet (personal faulty or C) a receipt with a Ph D in mathematics from sonal foul); or C) a rooster with a Ph.D. in mathematics from M.I.T. (technical foul).

Fouled out — Used to describe a player ejected from a game upon reaching the maximum foul limit. Also used colloquially by poultry shop owners, as in: "I'm sorry ma'am, but this is the day after Thanksgiving and I'm all fouled out."

SOCCER: Midfielder, kick, striker, header, pitch - Terms used to describe, respectively, players, type of shot positions, and field of play, as in: "The midfielder kicked the ball the length of the pitch to the forward, who headed the ball into the net.

Depending upon the ability of the soccer team, may also be used as: "The midfielder kicked the ball, striking the forward in the head and causing him to pitch forward into the dirt.

BASEBALL: Strike out — A term describing the fate of a player failing to hit a ball fairly after three tries. Colloquial: What major league baseball players do when they don't think they're getting paid enough.

Shutout - To hold an opponent scoreless. Colloquial: What major league baseball owners usually do to the players' salary

Bullpen - A holding area for relief pitchers; coloquially, what misquoted managers sometimes call sports writers. Coloquially in Detroit: "If Sparky thinks any of those guys he's got down there warming up can get anybody out, that really is a BULLpen."

Throwing aspirins - A colloquial term used to describe the high velocity of a baseball pitcher's pitches, which often makes the baseball look to the hitter as if it were as small and difficult to hit as an aspirin. It is a term rarely heard in these parts, except as in "Better get the bullpen ready, that pitcher is throwing watermelons ... but he's going to need the aspirins."

High fly, pop fly — The former describes the trajectory of a baseball hit into the air; the latter describes the age of the ball by the time the Chicago Cubs' outfield chases it down.

OTHER TERMS AND THEIR SPORTSESE MEANINGS: Runners-Harriers. Volleyball players-Spikers. Tennis players-Netters. Hockey players-Icers. Basketball players-Cagers. Swimmers-Tankers. Spanish Swimmers-Natadores. Bowlers-Pinmen. Wrestlers-Matmen. Baseball Players-Diamondmen. Football players-Gridders.

Paste this handy guide on your bathroom mirror and review terms each morning, so when Monday Night Football's Howard and Dandy Don stop speaking English, you'll know right away.

And take heart, you struggling Sportsese students, learning this new language is easier than deciphering the Rosetta Stone and not as tough as figuring out why Spanish swimmers are called Nata-

BLUE DEVIL fans have plenty to cheer about these days -South's varsity football team is ranked No. 3 in Class A Region 4 according to the Michigan State High School Athletic Association's football playoff rankings of Oct. 14. South sports a 6-0 record and its point average, based on won-lost record, class of opponents played and opponents' won-lost record, is 84.4 (as of Oct. 14). The top two teams in each region will qualify for state playoff action.

St. Paul's girls' tennis team won its share of the championship through the efforts of team members, from left to right, (front row) Torrey Ollison, Theresa Molloy, Marcie Blake, Cappy Echlin, Cathy Wachter, Megan Butterly, Kathy Rajt; (top row) Nicole Lehman, coach Tom Katchmark, Patti Molloy, Beth Blake, Michelle Nault, Laura Gagnon, Sue Stedem, Andrea Gagnon, Maureen Taylor and Kelly Bartsch.

They make movies about guys like Ken Stockwell. The twotime South High All-State defensive tackle spurned an offer from a small college and attended a prep school to prove he could play big time football - only to see that school drop to a lower division. Stockwell's father convinced him to tryout as a walk-on at Michigan State University. The rest, as they say, is history. Stockwell was transferred from his familiar linebacker spot to play center for the Spartans. He filled in at that position last weekend for injured All-Big Ten center Tom Piette and faced Wisconsin All-American Tim Krumrie. And, just like in the movies, home town boy Stockwell made good. He did not allow a quarterback sack and played well enough to earn Spartan of the Week honors in MSU's heartbreaking loss to the Badgers, 24-23. MSU Coach Muddy Waters spent the weekly luncheon extolling his walk-on's virtues. It's only a bit unusual for an offensive lineman to earn honors like that, but as MSU spokesman Nick Vista said, "For a walk-on like Kenny, it's

North wins soccer title

By Paul Regelbrugge

The Norsemen clinched the Macomb Area Soccer League championship when they battled Utica Stevenson to a 0-0 draw, and then thrashed Roseville Brablec, 7-0. North is 11-0-2 overall and they will play at Notre Dame on Friday, Oct. 22, for the first round of the state championship, and on Saturday, Oct. 23, they will meet University Liggett in a battle of the undefeated.

Dave Loren recorded his eighth shutout against Stevenson, and a share of his ninth with Steve Knope in the Brablec game. Marc Tirikian scored three goals in the latter match to boost his overall total to 28, Mark Kreuter scored twice and Paul Regelbrugge and Scott Orhan added a goal apiece. North is the No. 2 rated team in the state, according to the Michigan High School Soccer Coaches Association.

Aggressive play by the fullbacks and halfbacks allowed only two attempts at goal. This enabled forwards Catherine Johnston, Kerry Edwards, Beth Edwards, Casev Steffes and Nancy Schutes to keep the pressure on the Furies. The forward passing led to two goals by Beth Edwards.

In Sunday house play, the Grosse Pointe Cougars played the Strikers to a 1-1 tie. Julie Gayman scored the Cougars' goal and center-fullback Bridget Harrington was the most valuable player. Peggy Storen and Kathy Gayman played excellently at wing positions.

Later, the Stallions met the Mustangs for a 2-0 victory. One goal was scored by Melissa Cavenaugh and the other was kicked in by Shanna Sine. Brooke Snella played a tremendous game. For the Mustangs, Heather Heidel was everywhere on defense and played a great game. Megan Foley, Beth Mozena and Alissa Heidel played strong games on the forward line.

In the under 14 division the Mustangs beat the Juniors, 2-1, Sarah Leadbetter scored for the Juniors on an assist by Katie Harrison Mary Ellen McCarty and Julie Forester also played very well. For the Mustangs. Cameron Yates scored the winning goal.

Up and down week for Brownell

The Brownell eighth grade girls' basketball team lost to Chippewa Valley Algonquin, but whipped L'Anse Creuse South last week. Brownell lost to Algonquin, 27-26. "It was a close game to the end, but we made too many mistakes, coach Al Devine commented after the loss. Julie Cook led all scorers in that game with 12 points.

Brownell bounced back to win, beating L'Anse Creuse South, 44-10. Brownell's Cook again led all scorers with 14 points. Mary Wachter scored 10, Marcia Wright and Amy Weidig each scored six and Lisa Fromm added four points. Eleanor Allen and Jenny Brownell then suffered a set-Austin put in two each for the victors. Brownell's record now stands at 4-2.

The Brownell seventh grade girls' basketball team beat Algonquin, 30-13. Captain Barb Denler paced the scoring attack with nine points in a game that saw seven of 10 Brownell players score. Laura Linder scored five points, Katie Hoisington, Nicole Giummetti. Brownell then suffered a setback, losing a close game to L'Anse Creuse South, 21-16. Leading by two points at halftime, Brownell was unable to overcome a strong South team. Giummetti and Kelly Buchanan led the scoring attack for Brownell with four points each. Denler and Fromm added three points. Debbie Miller played a strong defensive game rounding out the scoring with two points. The Bullets' record is 4-2.

Any boy or girl ages 12 to 14 who has little or no organized hockey experience but has a strong desire to learn the basic fundamentals of the game of hockey.

WHAT IF MY CHILD HAS NEVER SKATED BEFORE?

The emphasis of this new league will be on teaching skating as well as the basic techniques of hockey in an atmosphere which is conducive to basic instruction. It is anticipated that many of the participants will have little, if any, skating experience.

WHAT ABOUT SUPERVISION, COACHING AND SAFETY?

This new league is being developed to allow this age group to participate in organized hockey with other players of the same ability and experience. The coaches are both experienced and skilled in teaching the fundamentals of hockey. Safety continues to be of utmost importance.

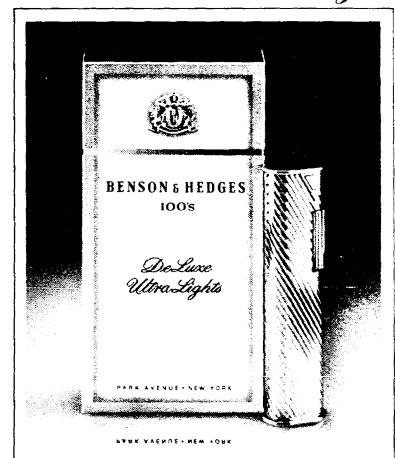

HOW DO I REGISTER?

If you are not currently registered with the Grosse Pointe Hockey Association for the 1982-83 season, contact either Julie Bourke at 885-0574 or Brian Bessert at 881-4117 for complete details.

and political problem but when it comes to members of the older generation, it seems to be in good supply.

Not too long ago, it was unusual to read of an older person launching a successful business venture or winning in an athletic event. Now it is almost commonplace to read of older people who take life by the reins and gallop onto higher achievements.

It is rewarding and inspiring to read of their accomplishments and victories. It can be an inspiration for all of us to try to make some of our wishes become realities. Take, for instance, Evelyn Havens of Manhatten who started running four years ago at age 66 to combat a severe case of arthritis. Since then she has completed 90 races and seven marathons and this year was named the "Senior Woman of the Year" by the New York Road Runners Club.

Another example is Althea Jureidini, 64, who became interested in running after her six daughters were grown. Because of weak knees, she settled for racewalking and has won more than 75 awards in that category.

Adrienne Salamini, 66, is a retired nurse. She started running four years ago. Today she has a room in her home that has been reserved for trophies she has won.

HAS IT ALL been blood, sweat and tears? Not at all. As these three women view it, running has been one of the best things that ever happened to them. They view running as an excellent way to control weight and appetite. They feel good and their friends say they look 15 years younger.

In spite of the crowds that marathons attract, there are those who could care less about that activity. But there are other sports that can be enjoyed and result in the same degree of satisfaction and good feelings.

One of these is golf, a sport that can be played almost from the cradle to the grave.

Bill Campbell of West Virginia started playing golf when he was three years old. He is now 60: years old. In between those vears he has played in 37 United States Amateurs tournaments. In 1964 he finally won the United States Amateurs on his 21st try. In 1979 and 1980, he won the United States Senior Amateur championship. These accomplishments are all the more remarkable when we consider that Campbell is just a weekend golfer. His weekdays are taken up with a prosperous insurance business, political activities, swimming and recently, Nautilus

Cycling is another activity that can be enjoyed at any age. Fred Knoller, who is 85, is the oldest registered bike racer in the world. He was the guest of honor at the 1981 Coors Classic in Boulder, Co., the most pretigous and difficult bike race in America. He has been invited to compete all over the Energy may be an economic world. Last year he competed in a 47 kilometer race through the Tyrolean Alps in St. Johan, Austria. He finished second, just 13 minutes behind an 81-year-old German rider who had spent his life cycling through those treacheorous mountains. This is all the more remarkable when one considers that he has artificial joints in both of his arthritic hips. Knoller's itinerary calls for a program of at least 75 miles a week of cycling.

Such a strenuous regimen has maintained him as a winner. Last August he won the silver bowl as he has done in previous years at the National Time Trial Championships in Bear Mountain, NY., in an event that was harder than the race in Austria. He was the only 80-plusser in the race and finished 10 minutes faster than the time posted by a 75 to 79 age group. At 52 Gail Roper is younger than the examples cited but her's is such a remarkable story that it merits being told. Although she didn't start swimming until she was 18 (old for an aspiring swimming champion) she merited a place on the 1952 United States Olympic team at Helsinki. A year later she was the top breast stroker in the world. She then stopped swimming for 20 years. In 1970, she entered the Masters swimming races in Los Angeles and won.

Gail owns national age-group records in all 33 Masters swimming events. At the National Short Course Championship in California in 1981, she won the maximum six gold medals.

Besides her swimming, Gail is a full-time student in Environmental Studies at Sonoma State University. After classes she has a full-time inspector's job with the Pacific Marine Fisheries Commission. About her activities she "I found out I could do all the things I couldn't do when I was young. And I'll do them. In fact, I am.

IT'S GOOD philosophy and one that is subscribed to by others who enjoy the active life.

Clarence Chaffee is 81. When he cetired in 1970 as the Director of Athletics of Williams College, he decided to concentrate on tournament tennis. In that short time he has won 41 national titles. Symbolic of each title is a goldplated minature tennis ball. It takes two Christmas trees to display all he has won.

In 1981 he suffered a heart attack. A few months later he was back on the courts thanks to a pacemaker. That same year he won the Grand Slam of Senior Tennis, all four national championships, indoor, outdoor, grass or just to maintain a reasonable routine of exercise.

However it seems to be worth the effort. What appears to be gruelling, they firmly state is pleasurable and pays off in good health and mental acuity.

The United States Surgeon General in his Report on Health Promotion and Disease Prevention agrees. That report reads "People who exercise report that they feel better, have more energy, require less sleep. Regular exercisers often lose excess weight as well as improve muscular strength and flexibility. Many also experience psychological benefits including enhanced self-esteem, greater self-reliance, decreased anxiety, and relief from mild depression.

If exercise has never been an important activity in your daily program, it is never too late to begin a program for healthful and vigorous living.

WITH PROPER guidance and ags medical approval, most people can remain physically active. 10 Being in good physical condition of can open many doors, not just those that lead to medals and recognition in athletic events, but in 119 other fields as well.

The best known example of a -vigor sustained by daily exercise is President Ronald Reagan. Putting aside approval or disapproval of his policies, there can be no argument regarding his youthful appearance at 71 or his physical endurance. Even after his severe wounding by a would be assassin's bullet, he returned to his favorite pastime of horseback riding and wood chopping. There is also not much doubt that his quick recovery was partly due to his excellent health.

Another person of our time and, a local resident who was physical-, ly active until his death at 84 was: Henry Ford. Although he founded a car company he didn't spend all of his time as a passenger in his' product. He was a walker and a bicyclist.

ULS soccer squad stays undefeated

The University Liggett School varsity soccer team maintained an undefeated record last week, tying Ann Arbor's Greenhills School, and beating Southfield Christian, to end the Knights' regular league season.

On Oct. 12, the Knights traveled to Ann Arbor to play the Greenhills' varsity squad. Larry Van Kirk was still sidelined due to illness and the Knights' per-formance during the first half was not sterling. Goalie Brian David let two shots pass him as the Knights remained scoreless the entire half. The second half the Knights tightened up, scoring two goals to match Greenhills. Unfortunately the Knights did not score again, and the game ended

The second game last week was played against Southfield Christian on Oct. 15 at ULS. The game also marked the return of center !halfback Van Kirk who set up Marty Wittmer for a first half goal.

The second half saw the Knights pull away from the Southfield team in ball control and organization. Rick Roberts passed off to Wittmer for an additional goal, ending the scoring as the game ended 2-0.

Wittmer's second goal was his 28th for the season, breaking the ULS record set in 1974. The victory over Southfield Christian clinched the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference league championship as the Knights remained undefeated in their league for the second year in a row.

The Knights have two more regular season games, against Grosse Pointe North and Hamtramck and they have already started state finals competition. North and ULS square off on Saturday, Oct. 23 at 1:30 p.m. on ULS' home field on Cook Road.

Gridders get it together

The ULS varsity football team finally put things together on Oct. 15 and clobbered Marine City Holy Cross, 34-8.

The Knights got untracked in the second quarter, scoring 21 unanswered points. Four seniors shared in the scoring before the of the third quarter. Jeff Parks once again led the offense, running five and 11 yards for scores and throwing 11 yards to senior tight end David Chamberlin for another tally.

Senior running back Steve Jackson, healthy for the first time since the Knights' opening game, slammed over the middle for two one-yard touchdowns. Jackson, an all-purpose back, also caught two passes and ran over 50 yards. John Polizzi, senior co-captain and place-kicker, booted two extra points.

The University Liggett varsity squad now stands 2-4 with two games remaining. The next game is Friday, Oct. 22, at Ubly under the lights. The final contest against arch-rival Detroit Country Day School is Friday, Oct. 29 at

Golfers earn title

The ULS linksters turned their season around last week by de-feating Detroit Country Day School, 168-174. Medalists for ULS ice each with a 41. The victory was a boost to ULS as it went on to Concord Hills Golf Course in Jackson to win the Michigan High-School Athletic Association Regional championship.

In a field of over 65 golfers representing 13 high schools, ULS golfers took the top three medalist positions. Murray Sales was medalist with a 79 followed by Dan French's 80. John MacLeod and Sean Thomas tied for third medalist each with an 81.

Coach Paul Butler was obviously pleased with the results and is looking forward to the state finals at Burr Oak Country Club in Jackson, this Saturday, Oct. 23.

Netters are hot

On Oct. 12, the ULS girls' varsity tennis team traveled to Ann Arbor to face a strong Class A team, Ann Arbor Huron, sinking the River Rats, 6-1.

No. 4 singles Jenny Peck was hot as she lit the fuse by defusing her opponent with some hot tennis, 6-3, 6-3. The heat spread rapidly to winning No. 2 singles, Windy White, and No. 2 doubles, Paula Rodriquez and Charu Nautiyal.

No. 1 singles Paula Mighion, No. 2 singles captain Anng Sherer, and No. 1 doubles, Julie Quigley and Laurie Evans took a bit longer to thaw out, but after losing their first sets with chilly tennis they all got "fired up" and "smoked" their opponents in three sets.

Unfortunately, the Lady Knights' fire was extinguished the next day as they were soaked by Kingswood, 6-1.

Friday is fun for the family

The first Family Fun Night for the 1982-83 school year is scheduled for Friday, Oct. 22, at North High School from 7 p.m. These special evenings offered by the Neighborhood Club and the Department of Community Services of The Grosse Pointe Public School System are for the entire

Badminton, basketball, pingpong, swimming, tumbling, volleyball, and movies for all age Rigups and crafts for younger children are on the agenda. This year, the Neighborhood Club and Community Services will take turns featuring a program or class that they offer. An instructor or supervisor from that program will be available to instruct, demonstrate and or answer questions about their specialty.

On Oct. 22, Community Services' diving instructor Don David will be on hand at the diving well in the pool area

Admission is $3 per family, or 50 cents per person, with a charge of 50 cents for crafts. Children must be at least three years of age to participate and those 16 and under must be accompanied by at least one adult.
