A PAT ON the back and a tip of the hat this week goes to RUDOLPH R. EDENS, 51, of South Oxford Road in the Woods. Seems he was depressed over the loss of several large trees on his street to disease, and decided to do something about it.

Mr. Edens sent a letter around to his neighbors asking them to mark spots on their lawns where they'd like a new tree. He then drove to a farm he used to own in Richmond, dug up and transported a dozen Red Maple trees back to the Pointe.

Once home, he transplanted the Maples onto his neighbors' property, all at no charge. Daughter Sandy describes her father as a "real nature lover" who feels the trees symbolize Grosse Pointe Woods.

After planting the trees, Mr. Edens keeps an eye on them, making sure they stay healthy. The neighbors love it. Some even asked if he worked for the city. Actually, he owns a tool and die business.

In honor of this deed, perhaps South Oxford should be re-named "The Garden of Edens."

"MAKING A list and checking it twice." Farms police paid a bit more attention to the mail they received last week after being sent a holiday catalog from a company called "Tickle Your Fancy" specializing in exotic and erotic giftware just in time for the holidays.

While urging the recipient to host a home party that no one would ever forget, the company also offered mail order gifts like Man-T-Hose, Gold Love Dust, adult connect-the-dot-puzzles, Honey Dust and X-rated wrapping paper. Believe us when we say these are the milder items offered by the Wyandotte-based firm.

We can say three things for sure about the Farms police department. They did find the catalog funny, they didn't order anything (we think) and they were very happy the catalog wasn't addressed to any one of their officers in particular.

IT'S NICE to know that business is good somewhere in the Detroit area. Apparently the Neighborhood Thrift Shop has been very, very busy of late and is looking for more high quality consignments and donations.

Anyone looking to get rid of those old tuxedos, gowns, furs (and other more down to earth clothing) should give the shop a call at 885-0773 for more information.

They're located at 17154 Waterloo, if you feel like dropping by.

Seen on the marquee of Christ Church in downtown Detroit: "One nuclear bomb explosion can ruin your whole day." So true, so true.

SEMTA threatens deep cuts in bus service

By Craig Van Vliet

The Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) will cut back its bus service by more than 60 percent by the first of the year in Grosse Pointe and surrounding metropolitan suburbs unless it wins increased funding from the federal and state governments. The cuts were announced by SEMTA spokesmen at a Nov. 16 press conference.

Under the proposed cuts SEMTA would eliminate bus routes along Kercheval (Jefferson), Charlevoix (Harper) and reduce bus service on Kercheval (Little Mack), Charlevoix (Marter) and on East Jefferson.

Hundreds of Grosse Pointe businessmen, shoppers and school children ride the SEMTA routes that may be eliminated or reduced. The public school system's director of support services, Ben Zenn, said SEMTA buses transport students to and from Brownell Middle School and North and South High. The school system does not provide any transportation for students.

"We'd definitely like the service to continue," Zenn said. He added the school system is sending letters protesting the proposed cuts to the agency.

SEMTA is awaiting a decision by the Michigan Court of Appeals to release $23 million that is held in escrow from the Comprehensive Transportation Fund (CTF). The agency is also looking for help from a package of bills that include a fuel tax, vehicle weight tax and a sales tax that would allow SEMTA to continue this year's level of service.

ACCORDING TO SEMTA General Manager Gary Krause the fuel tax will change from a flat rate of cents per gallon to the "Ohio Formula," which takes into consideration highway maintenance costs and changes in the number of gallons of gasoline sold.

The vehicle weight tax would increase the registration fee on cars by 15 percent and on commercial vehicles by about 30 percent.

"Driving less in more efficient cars," said Krause, "has cost the state money."

The sales tax would give a higher percentage of taxes to the state from auto related sales for non-road purposes than is already allowed by law.

The percentage of the state's share allowed to the CTF would be increased to 35 percent the first year, 50 percent the second year, 75 percent the third year and 100 percent for each fiscal year following.

"The sales tax will establish a base of revenue for the state transportation system," said Krause.

"A problem with the sales tax is that we are in an anti-tax climate in Michigan. If you increase the auto sales percentage of taxes from the general fund you have to make up the dollars that were taken away."

KRAUSE SAID that the Governor has proposed a nuisance tax to make up for the loss out of the general fund.

"The traditional sources of revenue are falling in Michigan," said Krause. "The simplistic allocation of its existing taxes cannot keep up with the CTF."

The package also includes an amendment that will give more money to local and regional transportation authorities from the CTF.

Krause doesn't believe SEMTA will get much help from the federal government. "The government is taking the approach that it is not the responsibility of the federal government to subsidize transportation operating cost but the responsibility of the state.

"It's an unfortunate shift in federal philosophy. I think this country lacks a national transportation policy with some consistency.

"If action is not taken now by the legislature," said Krause, "Michigan will be unable to match the federal program and be eligible for federal money."

"Michigan would leave federal dollars on the table for lack of matching funds," said Krause.

If the state legislature does not act in the "lame duck" session the issue will go to the new legislators when they take over in January.

"To avoid service cuts the courts and legislature must act within the next 45 days," Krause said.

Bryant named House GOP leader emeritus

By Susan McDonald

The first thing State Rep. Michael Busch did after he was elected House Minority leader in a caucus meeting last week was to turn to his predecessor, Grosse Pointe's William R. Bryant, Jr., and appoint him "leader emeritus."

"I did it for a number of reasons," said the 36-year-old representative from Saginaw. "First, it certainly is in recognition of what he has done as Republican leader for four years and House floor leader four years prior to that."

"Secondly, Bill is a very intelligent and articulate individual. I'm going to rely on him for his input and counsel. He's invaluable to the caucus."

Bryant announced before he was swept to his seventh term in the November election that he would not seek a third term as minority leader, keeping a commitment he made when he took the office. Earlier this month he said he was considering making a run for the minority caucus chair, but decided against that after he and Busch discussed the leader emeritus post. It's a non-elected position, but one that will allow Bryant to be a fully active and participating member of the chamber's leadership group.

IT WILL ALSO give Bryant a chance to pursue some other interests. He said in an interview last week he is considering sitting on the House education and taxation committees in 1983. "principally so I can work on both ends of the state's education financing problem."

And he also wants to spend time on a new project — developing good and innovative human resources training programs for the leadership, its staff and possibly the entire legislature.

And he's keeping his options open in 1984, too, and a possible run for House speaker if the GOP wins a majority in that chamber. He says the GOP has a good chance of doing just that two years down the road.

"Right now (state government) is Democratic, from the governor on down. They're not going to be able to point their fingers two years from now at the Republican governor and the nasty Republican budget director and blame them for everything," Bryant said. "It will be much easier to place accountability where it belongs."

Bryant pointed out the GOP has gained seven seats in the House during his term as minority leader, going from 40 to 47. Democrats hold the majority of 65 seats.

1984 is a long time away, however, and Bryant has plenty to think about in the meantime. As minority leader until the end of the year, he's working toward House action on three major issues — a deficit of between $100 and $200 million in the state budget that began Oct. 1; an unemployment compensation debt with the federal government on which interest alone is almost $88,000 a day; and transportation funding.

Attention was focused on the latter issue last week when SEMTA (Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority) announced it will be forced to cut service by more than 60 percent if increased funds are not generated. If enacted, the service cuts would have a severe effect on Grosse Pointe and would include

Council okays Sunday business in City

By Joanne Gouleche

Grosse Pointe City's new ordinance allowing shops and restaurants to remain open on Sunday isn't attracting many merchants to the idea, according to a survey of businesses in the City.

A majority of those merchants, especially owner-operated businesses, say opening their doors on Sunday would be exhausting and expensive.

City fathers unanimously amended a city ordinance concerning Sunday hour operation at their Nov. 15 meeting at the request of Henry Feys, manager of the Damman Hardware store in the Village.

Feys said he has many requests to open his store on Sunday.

"I'M HERE on Sunday working on the floor. You would be amazed at the people looking in the windows and rattling the doors, thinking we are open," he said.

Feys added he also has discovered other local hardware stores will be open on Sunday during the holidays, cutting into his seasonal profits. "We had to look at it from the business end of it."

The Village store is the only store in the hardware chain that is not open on Sunday. Feys said he will open his store from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday beginning Nov. 28.

"We will keep a low profile, and we will be doing what we're doing now," he said. "It will be so quiet around here people won't know we're here."

Times have changed. I think people are going to like it. But I also know I'm going to get static from some people."

Prior to the city's action last week, only businesses up to 3,000 square feet could conduct business on Sunday. Drugstores, restaurants and service stations were also allowed to open Sunday. In amending the city code, the council lifted the size restriction and established specific hours of Sunday operation.

Businesses in the City can now open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday. Restaurants, drug stores and service stations can open to the public from 7 a.m. to midnight.

The City's biggest retailer, Jacobson's, last week said it will not open on Sunday.

"We're not objecting to it, but we won't be open," said Jacobson's general manager Clarence Wascher.

KROGER'S, the City's largest food dealer, has not quite made up its mind, according to the chain's media spokesman Chris Beseler, who added the Village Kroger store is the only chain store in Michigan not open on Sunday.

"At this point we have not made a decision one way or the other," Beseler said. "We're still investigating it." Kroger's store in Grosse Pointe Farms is open noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Kresge manager Berry Jones said his Village store will be open on Sunday through the Christmas season, but it's "questionable" whether the store will continue to operate on Sunday beginning in January.

Proprietors of smaller businesses in the City say Sunday is their only day of rest from a six-day grind.

"I need the rest," said Gwen Samuel of the Book Village. "I'm not planning (to open on Sunday) unless it's absolutely essential."

"With a small store like this, it's the owner who has to do it all. A lot of us are owner-operated," she said. The Book Village will be open on Sundays before Christmas, Ms. Samuel said.

George Young, owner of Village Records and Tapes, also is cool to Sunday hours: "We discussed it and with families, we are not crazy about the idea because of our lifestyles.

"With five or six employees, myself, my partner and another person, Sunday is the only day we have off. But if someone could prove to me my business would go up 8 percent, I'd do it in a second."

When asked whether he would open Maskell Pro Hardware on Sundays, manager Tom Charbeneau said, "No, six days a week is enough. It's not feasible to work seven days."

NOT ALL the City's merchants wince at a seven-day business operation. Ed Hickey of Hickey's said he will remain closed on Sunday, but added: "I think it's a significant and very good move. The community needs it, especially when stores like the Damman's and others are anxious to open. It will stop people from running all over the city to take care of business."

Santa arrives

tomorrow

Seven marching bands, clowns, floats and groups from all around Grosse Pointe will line up to parade Santa Claus into town tomorrow, Friday, Nov. 26, beginning at 10:30 a.m. in front of South High School on Fisher Road. The parade will proceed down Kercheval Avenue through the Village in Grosse Pointe City. The event is sponsored by the Village Merchants Association under the direction of Mae Gallagher, Rik Selke of The Courtyard Salon and Beverly Leinweber.

Mack: Diverse means to same end

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Things are happening along Mack, representatives from the Farms, City, Park and Woods told the Grosse Pointe Business and Professional Association of Mack Avenue at its Nov. 16 meeting.

Park City Manager John Crawford, Grosse Pointe City Manager Thomas Kressbach, Farms City Clerk Richard Solak and Woods Mayor George Freeman outlined what each of their cities is doing about blight prevention along Mack Avenue and pointed to obstacles each city faced that made a unified program for Mack improvements difficult to put together.

"Each city has a different program," Crawford said, pointing out that unifying a facade or median program for the four cities would mean changing one city's architectural design or trying to boulevard one city.

There are areas where the cities could get together, Crawford said. A joint program for parking, lighting or security improvements would be beneficial but, he added, each city would still have to tailor the program to its community.

While the Woods is developing a "spot-zoning" plan for off-street parking behind stores, according to Freeman, Crawford said using lots behind businesses may not be the answer for the Park.

Another problem the cities face in developing joint projects, Solak said, is the procedure for getting funds from the Community Development Block Grant program's discretionary unit.

Projects are funded on a competitive basis, he said. That is, a city develops a project that it submits for funding. It is considered with the projects from other cities throughout the county and is approved for funding based on standards set by the CDBG program.

Cities take diverse approaches to Mack

EACH CITY is competing for funding, Solak said, making the development of a unified plan for Mack hard to put together. However, the Farms has entered into a joint application with the Woods, Detroit and St. John Hospital to improve the three cities' corners at Mack and Moross, Solak said. Joint applications are the exception, though, not the rule. While each city has begun facade, sidewalk and median improvements, they have applied for money separately. Problems faced when working to upgrade the business community are numerous. Businesses have an image problem, Ann Midgley, president of the business and professional association said. While some businesses would like to increase parking by purchasing homes, they remain sensitive to residents, who frequent the businesses, she said.

to keep up store fronts, and the area continues to decline.

As the commercial strip declines, residents in nearby homes move away. The declining residential base spurs business failure, continuing a downward spiral.

While facade and sidewalk improvements only address part of the problem, they can help to make the area more desirable for stores looking to relocate, city planners said.

The Nordhaus survey found that 56 percent of Woods residents view urban blight as a problem in the city's future. Older persons, according to the study are more concerned with blight than younger residents.

AS PART of its plan for off-street parking, the Woods will continue spot-zoning lots when they are brought before the city's planning commission and city council, Freeman said. Woods residents, according to a recently completed survey done by Nordhaus Research, Inc., said they were against rezoning of residential property in the north end of the city for off-street parking.

However, according to the study, among people who view urban blight as a future problem for the city, 38 percent favored rezoning while 23 percent opposed it. The study added that rezoning was still opposed by those who see blight as a problem and by those unconcerned about blight.

The association of Mack would like to set up liaisons between business groups throughout the Pointes, Midgley said, hoping that through collective strength, that some of the image problems of businesses can be overcome.

Another problem businesses face is the perception of urban blight. Residents often used the argument that blight begins in neighborhoods and spreads out to surrounding areas when they were fighting the P-1 zoning proposal. But, city officials say blight travels from the commercial strip to the surrounding residential area.

A business strip in decline has a high turnover and a number of marginal businesses. Marginal businesses don't have the money

THAT IS A problem of education Woods Administrative Aide Gerard McNamara said. The city is hoping to put together an education program to alert residents to the problem, he said. "I think we can make a good case for blight prevention."

Meanwhile, each city continues its programs. The Farms, Woods and Detroit have their Mack-Moross improvements, while the Park is considering buying property along Mack for off-street parking. The City is looking into easing some traffic flow problems, while the Woods Planning Commission was scheduled to hear a preliminary report on store front renovations for the north end of the city at its Tuesday, Nov. 23, meeting.

"It really takes interest, effort and money on the part of businesses, local governments and residents" to put together working programs for blight prevention, Kressbach said. "If you drive up and down Mack now, you see some very positive signs in the area."

City okays Sunday business

Andrew Moquin, manager and owner of The Merry Mouse, agreed. "I'm considering it. You have to go along with the times. People are working more and more and want evening, Sunday and other convenient hours to shop."

The only people shopping on Sunday will be those who need the necessities, said Susan Radtke, owner of The Mole Hole.

"I think it won't affect my business too much. I think people in Grosse Pointe don't shop on Sunday too much, maybe only for the necessities. My store items are impulse. The people who shop on Sunday are going to come right in and out of stores."

elimination of Kercheval and Charlevoix routes and reduction of East Jefferson routes which carry many local businessmen downtown each day.

BRYANT SAID he thinks it's important that SEMTA's program be maintained.

"One of the principal assets of Grosse Pointe is its proximity to downtown and the bus service," he said. But, at the same time, the representative said "if there's one can of worms among state departments it is in the transportation department.

"A lot of us would like to know more about what they're doing with their money before we hand them any more. They seem to blissfully continue along building more highways when we doubt if there is any more need for most of them." He said he does support approval of some kind of transportation package. Several bills which would increase sales, fuel and vehicle weight taxes to bolster the budget, are currently before the legislature.

Woods uses zoning to limit liquor sales

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The Woods city council approved two ordinances Monday, Nov. 15, aimed at giving the city control over the issuance of state licenses to businesses to sell beer, wine and carry-out liquor.

The ordinances, passed by a unanimous vote, make selling beer, wine and liquor for off-premises use a special use in the city and subject to zoning regulations.

Businesses requesting new Specially Designated Merchant (SDM) or Specially Designated Distributor (SDD) licenses from the state Liquor Control Commission would be required to come before the city's planning commission for approval under the ordinances, which take effect next month.

The planning commission, after a public hearing, would not approve a new SDM or SDD license for a business if it is within 500 feet of a church, school or existing licensee, according to the ordinance. The distance would be measured using Michigan Liquor Control Commission rules.

AN SDM license allows a business to sell beer and wine for off-premises use. An SDD license allows the sale of beer, wine and liquor for off-premises use.

The ordinances, amendments to the city's zoning law, will not affect businesses that now have SDM or SDD licenses, City Attorney George Catlin said.

The ordinances are patterned after those in several other Michigan cities, including Detroit and Flint, and will give the city some control over the number of SDM and SDD licenses issued, Catlin said.

Under current laws, the Michigan Liquor Control Commission will deny a request for an SDM or SDD license if the business does not meet local zoning regulations and building codes or the owner has a criminal record, Dan Sparks, supervisor of the hearing and appeals section of the MLCC said. A city cannot deny the license because there are too many within its boundaries, he added. Court cases have upheld the right of the MLCC to issue licenses over that objection, Sparks said.

THE ZONING requirement may be grounds for denial, because the commission can't approve a license for a business that doesn't meet local ordinance requirements, according to Sparks.

Although the distance requirement has been used in several cities, Sparks said the question of zoning to limit the number of SDM and SDD licenses has been and still is before the courts. Flint is currently fighting a lawsuit brought by a party store denied an SDM license because of distance requirements, he said. "As far as I know, it's always been upheld in court," Sparks said.

The MLCC measures the distance between license applicants and nearby churches, schools and other licensees by looking at the two closest points between the buildings, and projecting a straight line out to the center line of the street.

In a related item, the Woods Council tabled a request for a transfer of a recently approved SDM license from the former owners of the Grosse Pointe Woods Market to the new owner, Fadyla Kasyonan.

The council asked the MLCC to delay a decision on the transfer until after the city can make sure the store meets building codes. Attorney Catlin told the council the new ordinances will not be applicable to the market because it is a current license, not a request for a new one.

THE COUNCIL considered suing the state liquor control commission last July to stop what it considered the proliferation of SDM and SDD licenses in the city. After research, Catlin told the council it could not win the case since the state's right to issue the licenses had been upheld before in court. The council then passed on to the planning commission a recommendation to draw up the ordinances.

There are now about 23 businesses licensed to sell liquor in the city. About 13 businesses in the Woods hold either SDM or SDD licenses, city officials said.

Park vetoes liquor license

The Park City Council refused to endorse granting of a new liquor license to the owner of Picadilly Deli on Jefferson Avenue earlier this month, but it's doubtful if the action will have any effect.

The SDM license would allow the deli to sell beer and wine for consumption off the premises. Application to the Michigan Liquor Control Commission (LCC) was made by Shaker Quandah, owner of the deli, at 15023 East Jefferson.

City Manager John Crawford recommended the council reject the license because a similar license is held by a store just a block away from the deli and "there are a substantial number of licenses in our city already."

But City Attorney Herold "Mac" Deason pointed out there are no quotas on the number of SDM licenses that can be granted in a city and no requirement for the city to approve such licenses.

While the council cannot unilaterally reject issuance of SDM licenses, it can notify the LCC if the business in question is not in compliance with appropriate building, plumbing, zoning, fire, sanitation and health laws, according to the commission.

The LCC said last week it is still investigating the application.

Shoemaker speaks from the sole

By Barbara Greenough Acker

At Pointe Shoe Repair on the corner of East Jefferson and Maryland, craftsman Peter Mazzola will repair and restore your shoes for a very reasonable price — and a little philosophy or thought for the day may be included at no additional cost.

Whether a person is an immigrant new in the United States or born here and just looking for work, Mazzola says the most important question to ask is "What can I do?" and then go out and try it, even if it's not what you really want to do.

BORN IN Sicily in 1905, Mazzola came to this country in 1922 as a young man skilled in the art of shoemaking. Unfortunately, Americans were already purchasing factory-made shoes so Mazzola went to work digging sewers and working as a carpenter until he opened his shop in the Park.

Mazzola admits that being a shoemaker is a profession out of the past, but he stresses the importance of the small businessman in the community.

"Word of mouth is very important for tradesmen like me," he said. "You have to trust the person you hire or know who to talk to if something goes wrong."

Today, he says, Americans buy 34 million pairs of shoes a year and they are made in Brazil or Taiwan or Italy. Where do we go when these shoes wear out or a heel breaks off after only a few months' wear? The answer is found in his shop, cluttered with shoes from every corner of the world — shoes with paper insoles that he replaces with leather, shoes with once glued-on heels that he firmly reattaches with small nails.

A college education is necessary, Mazzola insists, but if college isn't possible, he advises finding a trade. There will always be a need for plumbers and painters. Learning more than one's native language is helpful, too, he added. In today's world you never know where you will end up or who you will be dealing with. It doesn't hurt to learn "thank you" or "may I help you?" in two or three other languages.

ALWAYS A man to face up to reality, Mazzola knows that one day he will close his shop. The rent, the cost of leather and utilities have risen sharply in the last quarter century and, as Mazzola comments, "being a shoemaker isn't the same as selling bananas. You need the machinery, you need the supplies and, most of all, you need the skill."

Mazzola voices concern over the fact that if he, and others like him, close their few remaining shops, eventually it will put some farmers, leather processors, tanners and cutters out of work. Not many, by today's corporate standards, but for the families of the unemployed, the loss will be deeply felt.

And what will people do with their shoes that need to be fixed? "I guess they will have to throw them away," Mazzola sighs. And with the loss of a pair of shoes will come the loss of some neighborhood philosophy.

Council seeks house for disabled

The small group of residents meeting regularly at the Central Library is determined Grosse Pointe will have a group home for at least some of the 35 developmentally disabled persons now living in the area.

"People are accustomed to thinking in terms of 'if' group homes are established," said Virginia Knoblauch, a member of the group. "It is far more realistic to think in terms of 'when' group homes are established. We know that as soon as funding is available, six-person group homes will become a reality."

Mrs. Knoblauch is spokesman for the 15-member Group Home Advisory Council of Grosse Pointe-Harper Woods which meets on the fourth Wednesday of the month at the library, 10 Kercheval Avenue. (December's meeting has been cancelled.) The public is included to attend.

"It's paramount that the community be involved with and have influence on the important decisions ahead in the establishment of group homes," Mrs. Knoblauch said. Her group acts as liaison to the community-at-large on the issue.

Group homes are seen by many as a more humane method of treating developmentally disabled or retarded persons who may end up in large institutions when parents die or become unable to care for them. The homes generally house six persons in addition to staff members, and their operation is patterned after normal family life.

The advisory council is currently trying to find a site for Grosse Pointe's first group home. It is seeking donation of a house which meets Department of Social Service licensing requirements, so the group can avoid using state funds to purchase a site.

"Local control is far more possible when local resources are used," Mrs. Knoblauch said. State funds would be used for programming regardless of whether or not government money is used for purchasing a home, she added.

According to Bruce Maters, treasurer for the Grosse Pointe Association for Retarded Citizens, which works closely with the advisory group, donation of a home would be tax deductible. He said a separate, non-profit corporation would be set up to operate the home if one is donated.

Individuals who are interested in the group or have a home to donate may contact the advisory council in care of ARC, 17150 Waterloo, Grosse Pointe City, 48230.

Tell me about your high gas heating bills and I'll tell you how you can save up to 20%* with Ameri-Therm.

For years I've talked with people who are tired of wasting fuel and money. Gas rates keep going up, so they come to me for advice.

Every day, for homeowners like you, I correct the money-wasting problem of gas energy loss with Ameri-Therm® Vent Dampers.

The problem is very common: When a furnace, boiler or water heater shuts off, warm air is quickly lost up the chimney. Energy escapes, but you still end up paying for it.

People want to save as much as they can, so I tell them to keep heat inside with an Ameri-Therm Vent Damper.

Ameri-Therm is the thermally actuated vent damper that's:

- Proven in millions of locations.
- Saves up to 20%* on fuel bills.
- Popular choice of American homeowners.
- Five year limited warranty.
- Thermally actuated to operate efficiently with no wires, electricity, or other power source.
- Eligible for 15% tax credit.
- Available for gas furnaces, boilers and water heaters.

It's exercise—on the rebound

By Tom Greenwood

There are, probably, dozens of clever ways to start this story, but perhaps this time simplicity is best.

Mike Zapytowski is a certified reboundologist. Moreover, he has been certified as such by the National Institute of Reboundology and Health, Inc., of Edmonds, Washington.

What you may wonder, is a reboundologist? "A lot of people ask that," said Mike, of Blairmoor Road. "The word really throws them. I help people on the road to better health through exercise on a 'rebounder,' known to most people as a trampoline. Actually, a rebounder is a small, portable trampoline, although we like to stay away from that word."

Mike, 25, explained that technically trampolines are used for tricks. A rebounder is used for exercise.

"We really discourage people from using them for tricks," continued Mike. They're not built for that purpose. They're not the type of unit used by cheerleaders either. These machines are capable of providing total exercise, physically and aerobically to the body."

HOW DOES one become a reboundologist and what is the National Institute of Reboundology?

"First, let me say I've always been interested in physical condition, for myself and others," said Mike, a muscular 200 pounder.

"I've taught with the Grosse

Pointe Department of Water Safety, the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities and as a Red Cross Swimming Instructor at Parcels School.

"I was searching for new concepts in exercise," he continued. "The maximum benefit in the shortest amount of time. Someone sent my name to the institute and they invited me to come out. I did, skeptically, and was amazed at what I learned. Rebounding is one of the most effective and efficient means of exercising, but few know about it."

Mike added that the concept has been utilized by the American Heart Association as an effective means of strengthening the heart and lungs at the cellular level, reducing stress and helping promote better circulation.

"The Dallas Cowboys and Kansas City Chiefs utilize rebounders," said Mike. NASA did research and in a article said rebounding was more efficient and effective than jogging, with greater levels of heart rate and oxygen consumption with much less stress to the body."

Mike said the NASA study revealed that gravitational forces on the ankle and knee were uniform while rebounding, but doubled over the rest of the body while jogging.

"It's the constant pounding on the joints and ligaments from jogging that causes shin splints and knee problems," he said. "Rebounding eliminates that while more efficiently stimulating the muscles and cardio-vascular system."

Mike rebounds at least two or three times everyday, usually on his parents' back porch. "Another nice thing about this is it can be done anytime, inside or out, no matter what the weather," he said. "Ever run in the rain or cold? You can do this watching TV or listening to the radio. You can bounce on it, jog, skip rope, do calisthenics, work your body with light weights, dance and if you're a skier try slaloming back and forth like this. It's great for the balance, coordination, eyesight, plus it slims the waist and works out the waist, stomach and legs. Try it!"

The rebounder is square, about 4 feet on a side. Unlike the trampoline, the resilient material is very taut, almost tight as a drum. The unit stands about 9 inches off the floor, with a low center of gravity, making it difficult to flip over.

Admittedly, the gentle bouncing effect is relaxing. There's little exertion to bounce two-three inches off the mat, but the body feels loose with a floating feeling. Ten minutes of jogging produced a light sweat, deep breathing, but no feeling of great fatigue. The body felt very heavy and the floor jarringly hard after stepping off.

"IT'S AN effective way of losing weight too," said Mike, bouncing up and down again. "I do it about 20 minutes before dinner. The exercise burns calories and raises the glucose level in the blood. With a higher sugar level, I'm not as hungry, so I eat less. One of my customers reported losing 12 pounds in two weeks. I believe it. It's very relaxing. Like a cellular massage for the entire body."

Speaking of massages, how much do the units cost? "I'm glad you asked that," said Mike, with a smile. "I sell only a top-of-the-line rebounder. I have two models. One sells for $110 and the other for $139. People can find them much cheaper, but they won't last as long because the construction is cheaper."

"Rebounders all look alike from the top, but turn them over and there's a difference. This one is solid, with reinforced stitching. There's no grommets here to tear after a few months of use. The center portion is 'Perma-tron,' the same material they use to make bullet proof vests."

Mike admitted he's not getting rich from selling the units, devoting only 15 to 20 hours a week to the rebounders. He works full time for financial service.

"I'm going to start approaching the high schools about these units," said Mike. "Also civic groups and senior citizen centers. They're great for seniors because they can work out their own speed, plus the unit comes with a handle for them to hold on to so they don't lose their balance. If people are interested, they can contact me and I'll arrange for them to try the unit for a week, free of charge. That's how much I believe in them."

There are only 270 reboundologists in the U.S. Mike Zapytowski admits it's a wide open field and that his work is cut out for him. But he also believes he's up to it.

What can you say about a well-dressed man bouncing in a business suit? Meet Mike Zapytowski, one of only 270 "reboundologists" in the country. Mike, of Blairmoor Road, believes rebounding is good for what ails you, providing more "bounce to the ounce."

Shipwreck diving is PWP topic

The Grosse Pointe Chapter of Parents Without Partners will meet Friday, Nov. 26, at 7:30 p.m. at the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road, to hear Bruno of Bruno's Dive Shop in Mt. Clemens, discuss shipwreck diving. He will also present a 10-minute slide presentation of Great Lakes shipwrecks.

Parents Without Partners meets every second and fourth Friday of the month at the War Memorial. The coffee, conversation hour begins at 7:30 p.m., orientation of new members at 7:45 with the general meeting and speaker at 8:30. An afternoon follows at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 10 Mile Road and Little Mack, at 10 p.m.

Give thanks at St. James

The people of St. James Lutheran Church, 170 McMillan Road near Kercheval, invite the community to join them for worship on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 25, at 9:30 a.m. Holy Communion will be celebrated.

The sermon by Pastor George Scheller will focus on the theme "Contentment." Special music provided by the Chancel Choir under the direction of Pastor Robert Rimbo will include "As Men of Old Their First Fruits Brought" by Sateren.

The Lay Reader and Assistant will be Ron Wortman, of Rivard Boulevard.

Alzheimer's support group meets in GPW

This week is National Alzheimer's Disease Week, designed to increase public awareness of the disease that reportedly afflicts more than 1.5 million people in the U. S. and some 50,000 in the metropolitan Detroit area.

The disease strikes the young as well as old, but more than 50 percent of nursing home patients are believed to be afflicted. Its cause and cure remain mysteries. Alzheimer's gradually robs an individual of his mental capabilities and is considered progressive and irreversible. Its symptoms often include memory dysfunction, lack of judgment and concentration. Death usually occurs within four to 14 years of its onset.

To help victims and their families cope with the disease, family support groups have been formed by the Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders Association. One such group meets regularly at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, 19950 Mack Avenue.

Contact Gretchen Serra, 884-2506, after 4:30 p.m., for information about the local chapter.

Detroit Bank & Trust and each member of its family of banks are now Comerica Banks.

You might ask us, why change the name of the oldest bank in Detroit? Especially when it's the same friendly people, delivering the same friendly service with the same professional efficiency.

There are good reasons, and we think you'll agree.

For decades we serviced Detroit exclusively. Our name described exactly what we were and where we were. A Detroit bank serving Detroiters.

However, as we grew we expanded our services to cities with names other than Detroit. Today we have 26 affiliates, including 17 banks with more than 190 offices located throughout the state, the country, and even the world.

The time is right to put our widespread family of banks under one name, Comerica.

And it means that just as we have served your professional and personal banking needs for the past 133 years, we can now serve all your expanding financial needs in the future.

Comerica Bank. Our new name for growth... the sign of things to come.

Day care is another option for elderly

By Mike Andrzejczyk

As families across the nation decide to keep aging parents home instead of in hospitals or nursing homes, problems of care arise. For a person whose sight and hearing are failing and who is not as agile as before, being left alone during the day while family members work or go to school can be lonely, dangerous or fatal.

To meet the needs of older persons who find themselves alone during the day, adult day care centers have begun forming. In 1975, there were only 20 such centers nationwide, but currently there are more than 700, with 15 of them in Michigan.

THE CALVARY Service for Aging Adult Day Care Center opened its door last September. According to the program coordinator Rita Gallagher, the day care center at 4950 Gateshead in Detroit now has six regular participants ranging in age from 69 to 91. Most of the participants are in their late 70s and early 80s, Ms. Gallagher said.

"There has been a greater emphasis on trying to keep older people in the home," she said. But, she added, there's a need for programs that offer social, physical and nutritional care. The adult day care center, Ms. Gallagher said, is the answer to the problem.

The doors open at 7:30 a.m. Participants are treated to coffee and can relax watching "The Today Show" to keep up on the world.

At 9 a.m., the active adult day care program begins with an arts and crafts program. Because working toward a goal makes the activities more interesting, Ms. Gallagher said the group is working on Christmas ornaments for an upcoming Christmas bazaar.

A more structured current events discussion follows, she said. Participants discuss headlines and news over one of the two snacks offered during the day. The group then breaks for lunch, which is followed by a rest period before an exercise period.

Exercise is followed by another arts and crafts period, Ms. Gallagher said. An afternoon snack is then served, after which participants prepare to leave for the day.

Although it may not sound like much, the day care center offers support to those whose only other alternative would be institutionalization, Ms. Gallagher said. The guidelines of the program say that a person to be eligible must be over age 60, have one or more chronic illnesses or medical disabilities, and be under the care of a physician.

Participants also receive help from a staff social worker, Ms. Gallagher said, who works one-on-one with both group members and their families.

ONE OF THE future plans for the program is a support group for families with older parents, which will try to relieve some of the guilt and onus associated with making the decision to institutionalize one's parents and the ambivalence one might feel toward an aging family member, Ms. Gallagher said.

Fees are based on the ability to pay so that eligible persons won't be turned away, she added.

For Woods resident Marilyn Markey, whose mother, Mary McQuillan, is the oldest group member at 91, the program has been a boon.

"We find the program has provided her the happiest moments since the onset of her infirmities," Mrs. Markey said. Mrs. McQuillan was 89 and very independent before illness forced her into a three-month stay at a nursing home. After Mrs. McQuillan was released two years ago, she came to live with her only daughter, who was raising a 10-year-old autistic child, a nine-year-old handicapped son and a 6-year-old daughter.

THE LAST TWO summers were the worst part, Mrs. Markey said, because she was preoccupied with raising her family and caring for her dependent children. Her mother was too healthy to be put into a home and not ambulatory enough for an independent cooperative program.

"She doesn't fit the categories," Mrs. Markey said. "When you have the physical disabilities my mother has, you can't fit into a cooperative program. You just don't fit into the other systems."

Mrs. McQuillan suffers from macular degeneration, her daughter said, a condition common among older people. The retina of the eye disintegrates, leading to loss of sight.

In addition, her mother's hearing is becoming impaired and she also suffers from bone deterioration which limits her mobility, Mrs. Markey said. The combination of loss of hearing and sight could have hurt her mother without the stimulation of the program, she said.

"When you put that combination

Council topic is treatment

The Grosse Pointe Substance Abuse Community Council has scheduled a series of educational programs for its members which are open to the public on two successive Tuesday evenings at South High School.

On Tuesday, Nov. 30, the council will discuss treatment for chemical dependence. The effects of chemical dependence on family members will be the topic on Tuesday, Dec. 7.

Meetings begin 7:30 p.m. in South's Cleminson Hall.

together, it's very difficult to keep your faculties," Mrs. Markey said. "The loss of hearing and sight could trap an older person inside themselves, making them deteriorate faster."

The program means a lot to Mrs. McQuillan, her daughter said. "She enjoys being out with other people in the same circumstances. She no longer feels isolated and has begun to enjoy the program," Mrs. Markey said.

The extra time she has because her mother is at the program is devoted to the rest of her family,

Mrs. Markey said. "A handicapped child or a handicapped adult means a handicapped family," she said. "The center has allowed me time to spend with my children."

SHE DOESN'T know how she would have coped without the program, Mrs. Markey said, adding her mother has been happy during her two months in the program.

"I think there are a lot of people out there who aren't taking advantage of the program," she said, adding that without daily stimulation of conversation and care, an older adult who suffers from loss of sensory ability could begin to deteriorate.

The Calvary Services for the Aging Adult Day Care Center is accepting applications for participants. To be eligible, a person must meet age and health requirements set by the center. They must live in an area bounded by Gratiot on the west, Eight Mile on the north, and Conner on the south.

Appointees to review subdivision

A proposal to build a 24-home subdivision on the Sheldon Estate, 131 Lakeshore Road, will be discussed by the Farms Mayor's Advisory Planning Committee at an open meeting Monday, Nov. 29, at 7:30 p.m. at city hall on Kerby Road.

Developers are Edward J. Russell, Inc., and Roger G. Knopf, who presented plans to the Farms council earlier this month. The council referred the matter to the mayor's commission.

Edward J. Russell, III, said the firm plans to develop the land as a public subdivision with a cul-de-sac running off Grosse Pointe Boulevard. The subdivision will not require any zoning variances, Russell said.

The estate belonged to the late Elizabeth Buhl Warren Sheldon, a patron of the arts. In September its contents, including more than 300 pounds of silver, fine porcelains, crystal and furniture, were auctioned off. Russell said if his plans are approved, the home may be demolished early next year.

The Mayor's Advisory Planning Committee meets periodically to advise the council on many matters. Its members, appointed for one-year terms, include Emil Berg, Hal Messacar, Barbara McLeod, Gari Kersten, Melvin Rousek, James Mast and Robert Chope.

Democratic Group views election

The Grosse Pointe Democratic Women's Discussion Group met Nov. 15.

The program included an analysis of the state election returns given by Nell Barbour, the group's state legislative reporter. The national returns were presented by Joanne Murphy. Susan Boynton reviewed an article by Chrysler president Lee Iacocca on Japan, automobile and trade.

The beer in England is about the same as American beer in alcohol content. But in two ways it's different. It's served at cellar temperature, not chilled, and it contains far less carbon dioxide.

Political appointees in the Federal Government only last an average of 22 months in such jobs. But supergrade officials in the Civil Service rack up from 17 to 25 years in their departments.

Fire chiefs issue warning on heaters

Fire department chiefs from the five Pointes and Harper Woods issued a warning recently against the use of portable heaters which use gas, oil and electricity.

"Information is now becoming available that shows fires are being caused by misuse and device defects," the fire chiefs said in a press release. They suggest anyone desiring auxiliary heating devices purchase a unit approved by the Underwriters Laboratory and call local fire officials for tips on how to use them safely.

Because the heaters are relatively new to the market, no statistics linking them to increased numbers of home fires are available, according to Jack Patterson, director of public safety in the Woods. But Patterson said the Michigan State Police Fire Chiefs Commission is conducting a study to determine if there is a correlation between heater use and fires.

Chris Birg will perform a varied program of classical guitar music on Sunday, Nov. 28, at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House in Grosse Pointe Shores. Although the 3 p.m. performance is sold out, tickets are still available for the 7 p.m. show. Tickets are $7 and must be reserved in advance. A wine reception in the formal dining room follows the performance. Call 62-MUSIC to reserve tickets. VISA and Mastercard are accepted.

Cinema League visits Hungary

The Grosse Pointe Cinema League will present two 16mm films by Leo Tallieu when it meets in the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium, 32 Lakeshore Road, on Monday, Dec. 6, at 8 p.m.

"Land of the Magyars" visits one of Eastern Europe's most charming and prosperous countries, Hungary. In the twin cities of Buda and Pest astride the Danube there are views of parks, churches, historical buildings and the Hungarians at leisure.

Also photographed are the delightful baroque town of Szendendre and central Europe's largest body of fresh water, Lake Balaton.

The former Turkish city of Pecs is shown, and Kecskmet, a lovely town on the great Hungarian Plain. Of special interest is a horse market and the trading and selling of farm animals.

The second film "Romania" begins near the Hungarian border with a drive through remote rural areas. Native costumes and Sapinta, a small village with the "Merry Cemetery," are shown.

The Carpathian mountains are crossed to visit famous monasteries of Putna, and Suceviza near the Soviet border.

A drive is made through the Transylvanian Alps to see the city of Brasov and Bran Castle, the legendary home of Count Dracula.

The movie shows Bucharest, called the Paris of the East, border towns near the Bulgarian border, and ends in luxurious resorts of the Black Sea.

The program is open to the public without charge. The social hour following is limited to Cinema League members.

P & J presents 'Forbidden Zone'

Dare you enter the "Forbidden Zone"? The door opens on Friday, Dec. 3 at midnight. Beyond lies the surreal, Hellish (and wacky) subterranean world of the sixth dimension.

Yes, "Forbidden Zone" is a movie — but "Rocky" or "An Officer and a Gentleman" it isn't. An insanely chaotic musical fantasy, "Forbidden Zone" features witty animation, tongue-in-cheek scatological humor, massive cartoon-like cardboard and plaster sets and grandiose production numbers. The music includes everything from French ballads to Latin Salsa to new wave rock.

Classic Film Theater will present the Detroit premiere of "Forbidden Zone" at the Punch and Judy Theater in Grosse Pointe Farms. The film will play every Friday and Saturday at midnight during December.

Would you believe Herve Villechaize ("Tatoo" of "Fantasy Island") as the horny monarch of a debaucherous kingdom? Not to be overlooked are obese maidens in bikinis, a dancing frog, robot-like boxers and other degraded beings running wild in the sixth dimension.

"Forbidden Zone" appears destined to follow in the crazed footsteps of "The Rocky Horror Picture Show," according to the Los Angeles Herald Examiner.

Exercise for the 50-and-up set

Has your doctor ever suggested exercise to you? Have you thought of joining an exercise program but were hesitant about the current "aerobic craze"? Would you like to learn about a program that works regardless of your weight, age or sex?

If you answered "yes" to any of these questions, read on. The Grosse Pointe War Memorial is offering a class in aerobics for persons 50 years old and over. The class will run from Nov. 29 to March 9, twice weekly on Mondays and Wednesdays from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Alice Belfie, President of Dynamic Energie, Inc., is the instructor. She is a graduate of Wayne State University with a Master's degree in Recreational Therapy. The "Dynamic Energie" program is a safe, fun and effective, fitness program for all ages, according to the War Memorial. It begins and ends with static, slow, safe stretches. These two components are as important to prevent muscle soreness and injuries and to increase flexibility and muscle tone. Participants work within their own limits without competition or urging to keep up.

Enrollment in the class may be made at the War Memorial from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday or by check payable and mailed to the War Memorial.

Obituaries

Mrs. Mildred E. Allen
Services for Mrs. Allen, 57, of Lakeshore Lane, were held Friday, Nov. 19, at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club. Arrangements were made by the A.H. Peters Funeral Home.

Mrs. Allen died Tuesday, Nov. 16, at Cottage Hospital. A graduate of the University of Illinois, Mrs. Allen was a member of the Windmill Pointe Garden Club, the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club and served on the Grosse Pointe Garden Center's Board of Trustees.

She was an avid gardener and skier and also a member of the Michigan Judges Association and Lawyers Wives of Michigan. She was employed by Jacobson's in the Village in the costume jewelry department.

Mrs. Allen is survived by her mother, Mrs. Sue Vidakovic; her husband, H. Rollin; and a daughter, Tracy Lee.

Memorial tributes may be made to the charity or church of one's choice.

Cremation was at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Marsha Lemmerman Kearney

Services for Mrs. Kearney, 58, of Grosse Pointe City, were held Saturday, Nov. 20, at Iroquois Avenue Christ Lutheran Church.

She died Wednesday, Nov. 17, in Cottage Hospital. Mrs. Kearney was a graduate of Bowling Green University, obtaining both a Bachelors and Masters Degree from that institution. She was a teacher at Mason School beginning in 1950 and began the reading department for the Grosse Pointe Board of Education in 1955. She was a member and speaker for the Wayne County, Michigan and International Reading Associations.

Mrs. Kearney was a member of the Alpha Mu chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Sorority.

She is survived by her husband, Frank; three sons, Shawn, Brian and Thomas; two sisters and two grandchildren.

Interment was in Port Clinton, Ohio.

Sarah Bartlett Hibbard

Private services were held recently for Ms. Hibbard, 26, formerly of Grosse Pointe Farms, late of Chatham, Mass. in Chatham. She died Thursday, Nov. 18, in Chatham.

Ms. Hibbard is survived by her mother, Jane Howarth Yost, a brother, John, and a sister, Ann H. Wells.

Walter A. Bresser

Services for Mr. Bresser, 89, of the Park, were held Friday, Nov. 19, at the Verheyden Funeral Home and St. Clare of Montefalco Church.

He died Monday, Nov. 15, in Bon Secours Hospital.

Mr. Bresser was owner, publisher and founder of the Bresser Cross Index Co., with nearly 500,000 listings used for reference by police departments, hospitals, newspapers, real estate agencies, colleges and businesses across the nation.

The index utilizes a zip code guide, identifies multiple dwellings, trailer parks, apartment managers and home owners, lists the homes and businesses on particular streets along with phone numbers, and gives the wealth and incoming ratings in trading areas.

Mr. Bresser was involved in the real estate business when he first became aware of the need for a directory. He produced his first directory with 100,000 listings in 1946. Mr. Bresser was also founder and first president of the International Association of Cross Reference Directory Publishers.

He was a veteran of World War I and was a member of the Detroit Yacht Club, Grosse Pointe Yacht Club and Senior Men's Club of Grosse Pointe.

Mr. Bresser is survived by four sons, Jerry, Allen, Jim and Bill; a daughter, Maryanne Frederick; 20 grandchildren; and five great-grandchildren.

Interment was in Mr. Olivet Cemetery.

John Furtaw

A Mass of Resurrection was said in St. Clare of Montefalco Church Saturday, Nov. 20, for Mr. Furtaw, 25, of the Farms.

He died Thursday, Nov. 18, in Bon Secours Hospital.

Mr. Furtaw was well known in the Detroit area for his community and civic work with the aged, mentally retarded and in political life. He was listed in the 1982 edition of the Outstanding Young Men of America.

Mr. Furtaw became director of Calvary Services to the Aged, a unit of Lutheran Social Services of Michigan, in 1981, leading the center into an expansion program which added Adult Day Care in cooperation with Bon Secours Hospital.

While carrying on that full-time job, he was also a fourth year law student at the University of Detroit. He was a political science graduate of Michigan State University and during college worked as legislative aide to the House minority leader and was a legislative assistant to the representatives.

Mr. Furtaw was also a member of the Grosse Pointe Jaycees and Grosse Pointe Exchange Club where he was serving as education chairman.

Mr. Furtaw was also on the Advisory Council for the Detroit Area Agency on Aging; was chairman of the Metro Council for Community Awareness of Developmental Disabilities; belonged to the National Council on

John Furtaw

Aging; was executive vice-chairman of the Michigan Council of Associations for Retarded Citizens and was on the Board of the Michigan State University Alumni Association.

Mr. Furtaw is survived by his mother, Mrs. Sharon Furtaw; grandparents, John Wilson and Mrs. J. Furtaw; three uncles and an aunt.

Mr. Furtaw was cremated.

First English is 25 years old

Members of First English Evangelical Lutheran Church, at Vernier Road and Wedgewood Drive, will celebrate the 25th anniversary of their church building on Sunday, Dec. 5, at 9:10 and 11 a.m.

The congregation dedicated its present place of worship on Dec. 15, 1957, after leaving its home for 61 years at Mack and Mt. Elliot in Detroit. A three level addition for Christian education was constructed in 1964.

To celebrate the anniversary improvements and renovations have been made in recent months, including repainting and refinishing woodwork, addition of a new 16-foot chancel sculpture called "Exaltation," new lighting and carpeting.

Rev. Paul F. Keppler, pastor since 1950, will preach at the service of celebration and rededication. Also participating will be Rev. Mark Hirt, assistant pastor.

After the 11 a.m. service a luncheon will be served, for which reservations are needed.

President of the congregation and chairman of the renovation committee is Dr. Arthur Ulmer. Co chairman is Ralph Ford. Other committee members are David Crang, Samuel Douglas, James Elison, Lois Erickson, Gerald Ewart, Eileen Francis, Ruth Galster, William Hennessy, Kenneth Horn, James Jevons, James Jobitt, George P. German students avoid U. S. stereotypes

By Wendy Honstain
South High

"Surprisingly enough, German teenagers are very similar to the ones in America," said Bill Dorman, a South High School student who recently returned from spending the summer in Germany.

Although he had been there the year before performing with the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp Traveling Band, this was his first trip as a foreign exchange student.

"This time I really got to know the people, especially kids my own age," he said.

Bill and another Michigan resident, a girl from Dearborn, left Detroit in late June and arrived in Frankfurt three days later. Through American Field Service, a host family was chosen and was there to greet Bill upon arrival. The family included five girls, a boy and a mother and father. He said he received a warm welcome and soon became just another member of the family.

School began in August and Bill attended Schillerschauer Gymnasium, the equivalent of an American high school, except it included grades seven through 13. An average school day began at 7 a.m. and ended at 5 p.m. He attended classes in Belgian, biology, art and English, to name a few.

The school's campus was open and discipline very lenient, he said.

The major difference Bill noted was the lack of stereotypes. At South, the student body is composed of different groups — freaks, jocks, preppies and punkers. In Germany, it's all one crowd, he said.

Fashions are the same, he said. Girls wear mini-skirts and baggy pants, while boys dress in jeans and tee-shirts. "Kids don't judge each other by the way they dress. It's nice for a change," Bill said.

Bill noticed more differences on the weekends. There are no school-related social activities, he said, and few people date on a one-to-one basis. Instead, everyone goes out together and "like the U.S., everyone loves a good party."

Although the legal drinking age is only 16 in Germany, the age for driving is 18, which practically accounts for the low number of alcohol-related accidents, Bill added.

The American dollar is wiping out Germany currency, he said. The country is suffering from economic difficulties and unemployment has reached an unusual high of 6 percent. Prices have skyrocketed with gasoline up to $4 a gallon and an average movie matinee running $6 per person, he said.

Bill doesn't have much trouble communicating since he had three years of German to his credit. He said the program was "an excellent way to spend the summer. I'd do it all again in a minute."

North Pointe wins top award

The Columbia Scholastic Press Association recently awarded a Medalist honor to North Pointe, the student newspaper of North High School as part of Columbia University's 59th annual contest.

Medalist ranking is granted to publications selected from the first place category. It is the association's highest rank and is based on those intangible qualities evident to the judges that could be characterized as the "personality" of the entry.

Issues judged were those for the 1981-1982 academic year.

Major categories for evaluation were content, coverage, writing, editing, design, display and creativity.

Publications that show exceptional merit are named for All-Columbian Honors. The purpose of this rating is to encourage work in selected fields and to call attention to worthy effort within the publications.

All-Columbian awards were given to the North Pointe for writing, editing and creativity.

"North Pointe is an interesting, well planned paper which attracts and holds the readers' attention. The number of papers produced on a yearly basis suggests excellent organization and dedication on the part of both the staff and advisor. The paper is an asset to the school and one the students, faculty and community should be very proud of. Keep up the good work," the judge said.

Editors-in-Chief of the 1981-1982 North Pointe were Angela LoVasco, Terri Palmer and Glenn Rayos.

Ron Clogg served as news editor and his assistant was Natalie Saffron.

Opinion editors were Angela LoVasco and Joseph Serwach.

Feature editor was Bonnie Balcerzak.

Sports editor was Ted Coutilish and his assistants were Craig Stafford and Paul Regelbrugge.

Business managers were Terri Palmer, Pamela Kozik and Kathy Donahue.

In-depth editors were Glenn Rayos and Bonnie Balcerzak.

Photographic editor was Ted Coutilish and assistants were Wendy Bunnell, Tim Frederick and Darren Plante.

Santa breakfast at Mason Dec. 11

The Mason School PTO will ring in the Christmas season by sponsoring a "Breakfast With Santa" on Saturday, Dec. 11, in the school cafeteria at 1640 Vernier Road.

Breakfast including pancakes, sausage and beverages, will be served at 9 and 10 a.m. Santa's workshop, filled with gift items priced for small budgets, will be open until noon for guests 12 years and under only. Santa will be available for pictures.

Taxes, taxes, taxes, taxes

A common task for many Americans at this time of year is reviewing their income tax liabilities to see whether they can do anything in the waning days of the old year to increase their deductions and thus reduce payments that will be due next year.

What many Michigan taxpayers will discover in this search is that figuring income taxes for 1982 will be even more complicated than usual because in the nation as well as in the state two rates were in effect for half of the year. The federal income tax dropped 10 percent last July 1 while the state income tax was increased one percentage point — from 4.7 to 5.7 percent — for the six months from April through September. Changes in withholding showed up on wage earner's checks, of course, but those with additional income have had to refigure their estimates of taxes due.

Another increase that became effective last Jan. 1 was in the Social Security tax which rose at the maximum from $1,975.05 for each employee and his employer to $2,170.80. Still another increase in that tax will be effective Jan. 1, 1983, with the maximum annual tax rising to $2,391.90 which will come from the taxpayer's first $35,700 of income.

The Social Security tax boosts, the state increase and last year's hike in the city of Detroit's income tax on residents and nonresidents earning income in Detroit have wiped out the federal income tax savings from the 5 percent cut in 1981 and the 10 percent cut in 1982. While the Reagan administration is considering the possibility of advancing the effective date of the third cut, a reduction of 10 percent scheduled for July 1, 1983, that proposal seems unlikely to pass in view of the opposition from Democrats and even some Republicans who are worried about further increasing the nation's huge deficit.

THE 1982 TAX shifts will not cause as many worries for taxpayers, however, as a new system for paying estimated taxes that the Internal Revenue Service expects to put into practice next year on income not subject to withholding. The Wall Street Journal reports that people subject to this tax will make their quarterly payments to Federal Reserve banks, commercial banks or other authorized banks or thrift institutions. Taxpayers will be able to pay in person and in cash on the due date but a mailed payment will have to be postmarked two days before the due date.

Under this plan, Federal Reserve banks will accept any check but otherwise taxpayers must use postal money orders or checks drawn on the depository bank where they pay. The estimated tax declaration has been dropped and the IRS, instead, will send each current estimated-taxpayer a packet of payment cards.

A further complication next year is the new law that will require withholding of taxes on dividends and interests, subject to certain exemptions. While this law is expected to bring in additional billions from income not now being reported, it also will put a new burden on banks and corporate dividend payers which will have to withhold the federal taxes. Banks have protested against this task as well as the burden of collecting the quarterly payments from taxpayers having income not subject to withholding.

If there's any consolation in all of this for the average taxpayer, it is only that he can sympathize with the banks, thrift institutions and corporations that will be required to withhold new taxes or collect estimated quarterly tax payments. After all, misery does love company... especially when it comes to paying taxes.

Thanksgiving from the Spauldings

To the Editor:

My husband, Al Spaulding, was permanently disabled in a diving accident last Aug. 5. Since that time, there has been an overwhelming outpouring of love and support from our family and friends in this community.

A fund-raising party on Halloween day was successful beyond our expectations. To see our friends from school, community and church all band together as one for our cause provided a wonderful show for this great town and a base of support from which Al and I can continuously draw to face our future.

Not many individuals receive such a testimonial of friendship. Thank you all from the bottom of our hearts. Grosse Pointe is a grand place to grow up in and to raise one's family in. Halloween Day was surely a great showing of the community's love and caring for one another.

Warning signals for the GOP

Nationally and in Michigan, voters turned out in relatively high numbers in the 1982 elections and reversed the 20-year trend of declining participation in midterm elections. Yet in the nation only about 41 percent of the eligible voting-age population went to the polls and in Michigan the figure reached only 45.7 percent. Those are shockingly low figures but in both cases they are higher than they were four years ago.

What happened in 1982 to reverse the declining trend that set in after the 1962 election in which 48.8 percent of the national eligible population voted?

Loyal opposition

In comparison with Michigan and the nation, the Pointes reported an exceptionally high percentage of voter participation in the recent election. This result was no surprise because Pointers traditionally take seriously their responsibility to go to the polls. Yet in at least one respect, the Pointes run counter to national trends with respect to voter turnout. It was a true in 1982 as in previous years.

Nationally, a large vote benefits the Democratic Party but in the Pointes the reverse is true. A large vote here simply means a larger vote for the Republican candidates. Overall 66 percent of the eligible voting age population went to the polls in the Pointes as contrasted with only 41 percent in the nation and 45.7 percent in Michigan. Yet Grosse Pointe Park, the community that normally provides a larger proportion of Democratic votes than any one of the other four Pointes, reported the lowest percentage of eligible voters, 58.6 percent, among the five Pointe communities.

CONVERSELY, Grosse Pointe Farms, which normally provides one of the largest proportions of Republican votes in the Pointes, reported that 72 percent of its eligible voters cast their ballots in November, 1982. Figures for the other Pointes were 69 percent for the City, 66 percent for the Woods and 64 percent for the Shores. As usual, the Republican candidates ran well in all of the Pointes.

True, there are positive correlations between voting and such factors as education, age, income and standard of living, all of which help explain the high percentage of voting in the Pointes. But perhaps national GOP leaders could learn something through in-depth studies in the Pointes that would help them counter the national trend that a big vote usually means gains for the Democrats.

Unfortunately for the Republicans, the GOP trend in the Pointes this year merely represented a minority opinion in the state of Michigan, which meant that the majority of Pointers voted for losers in November. Yet on the basis of pre-election polling and the economic situation, most of them expected the Democratic sweep — but went to the polls anyway to express the view of "the loyal opposition." Which is what most of them remain.

The private nonpartisan Committee for the Study of the American Electorate offers three major reasons for the rise in the 1982 vote: rising partisan rivalry in the South, an increased black vote nationally and polarization over the administration's economic policies and especially over rising unemployment. Spokesmen for both the Republican and Democratic parties agreed with this analysis, which is hardly comforting to GOP leaders assessing the election outcome.

"TURNOUT WAS UP because the Democratic base vote had been activated as I haven't seen in activated in 18 years," Vince Breglio, director of the National Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, told the New York Times.

To that extent the election was a referendum on Reaganomics, even though the Republicans did hold their present margin in the Senate. The Republicans lost 26 House seats, a higher than usual setback in the first midterm election for a party holding the presidency. In addition, the GOP lost seven governorships to the Democrats and control of one or both houses of legislatures in additional states.

In Michigan and nationally, another election result should be disturbing to GOP leaders. The various exit polls conducted at polling places on election day showed a distinct "gender gap" that hurt the Republican cause. By and large, the polls indicated that women expressed stronger support than men did for Democratic candidates.

In Michigan, of course, many feminists were outraged by certain features of the campaign run by Richard Headlee, the GOP nominee for governor, and some Republican women even staged a public walkout to emphasize their dissatisfaction with Headlee's lack of sensitivity on issues of special concern to women. But some evidence of the "gender gap" also showed up on a New York Times/CBS poll with respect to President Reagan's economic policies.

When asked, "in the long run, do you think Ronald Reagan's economic program will help the country's economy or hurt the country's economy?" most men were optimistic, with 54 percent answering "help" and 39 percent "hurt." But women went the other way, 47 percent saying it would hurt and 43 percent saying it would help. And, according to the Times, the negative judgment was expressed particularly by women in the 45-59 age group, the age bracket in which the polls disclosed the largest voting difference between the sexes.

SO IN BOTH the size of the vote and in the "gender gap" the election poses some significant questions for the Republicans. If a big turnout tends to benefit the Democrats, doesn't that indicate the Republicans need to broaden their appeal? And if women are voting Democratic in increasing numbers, doesn't that offer evidence that they are expressing dissatisfaction with the policies and campaign tactics of some Republican candidates? Party leaders will ignore such warning signals at their own peril.

Don't forget Star of Sea

To the Editor:

Star of the Sea School's sports also deserve recognition. Many Grosse Pointe residents, as does Rev. G.E. Andrews (letter of Nov. 11.), also applaud our high school athletes for the recognition they have brought to our community. However, as a Star of the Sea High School supporter, it saddens me that people in the community do not include Star's athletic achievements as being part of Grosse Pointes'.

During the past year Star has achieved numerous awards in tennis swimming, basketball and volleyball. The catalogue of Star's championships and recognitions is most impressive.

Star may be smaller in size than her neighboring schools, but she is huge in spirit, and her numerous admirers are dedicated to her fine sports program. We are justly proud of our teams and their many successes.

It should be remembered that Grosse Pointe has four area high schools (Star, North, South and Liggett), and that they ALL should be given recognition for achieving numerous athletic accomplishments.

Cops warn of bogus checks

Farms police are warning local merchants to be on the lookout for scam artists using counterfeit cashier checks to pay for large amounts of merchandise.

According to police reports, one local furniture store was taken for $3,000 in merchandise earlier this month. Police say three persons entered the store and selected the furniture, saying they were from Ann Arbor, but the merchandise was to be delivered to a home in Detroit.

Leaving a $100 cash deposit, the trio departed. After calling a number left by the thieves, the furniture store later delivered the furniture and received a cashier's check for payment. The check later proved to be counterfeit.

"I'm not going to say how they did it," said Farms Det. Earl Field, "but at first glance the check looks good. Under close examination, a knowledgeable salesperson could spot it instantly. The lines didn't match up and the check number was missing, among other things."

Det. Field went on to say that Detroit has been experiencing a rash of these crimes lately, with 10 reported in the last six months.

"One big name furniture store was taken for $15,000 in merchandise," he said. "The thieves didn't bother having the stuff delivered. They drove a truck up to the warehouse and loaded it themselves. These scams pop up periodically. Merchants should contact us for more information."

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

Christmas is perhaps the most festive of holidays, and the Detroit Historical Society plans to herald this happy season next Wednesday with cocktails and hors d'oeuvres in the Streets of Old Detroit, downstairs at the Detroit Historical Museum, and dinner surrounded by clowns, balloons and circus animals in the museum's Dodge Hall which currently features an exhibit of Big Top memorabilia.

There'll be after-dinner dancing around a live, 25-foot Christmas tree in the museum's rotunda. There'll be entertainment by musicians during the cocktail hour.

Mrs. Joseph A. Vance Jr., Mrs. William L. Mitchell and Mrs. Roger B. Smith are coordinating the black tie benefit committee, which also includes Mrs. John C. Griffin, Mrs. Elliott Hunter Phillips, Mrs. Thomas R. Cunningham and the Mesdames Norah C. Dingle, Harold L. Frank, Ralph L. Polk Jr., George G. Jerome, Frederick S. Strong III and Morton Zieve.

Tickets are $100 per person, limited to the first 250 reservations — and based upon the success of last year's Christmas Night at the Historical Museum, the committee anticipates an early sellout. The Historical Society may be contacted at 833-7935 for reservation information.

Open House at The Art Studio

Next Wednesday, Dec. 1, is also the date for The Art Studio, 11149 Morang, to hold its Second Annual Christmas Open House. The Studio will be open that day from 11 a.m. until 8 p.m., offering refreshments and demonstrations of silk screening, weaving and watercolor. Nancy Propit and Bette Prudden will be doing on-the-spot quick portraits in oil, charcoal and pastel, for Christmas giving.

Grosse Pointe's Brenda Brady will be giving a weaving demonstration. The Art Studio, a co-op maintained by Nancy, Bette and Chloe Boehm, all of The Pointe and all past "Pointers of Interest" (so is Brenda Brady), with Peg Sauer, of Detroit, and Beverly Richards, of Sterling Heights, sponsors classes and workshops throughout the year. Many items, from pottery and weaving to paintings, will be available at the Christmas Open House.

Bette, by the way, will be sandwiching in preparations for The Art Studio Christmas Open House between on-the-spot portrait commitments during the first five days of Holiday Fair '82 at The Art Center in Mount Clemens. The fair opens the day after Thanksgiving, Friday, Nov. 26, and will run through the day before Christmas, Friday, Dec. 24. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday, 1 to 4 p.m. Sundays.

Bette will be at The Art Center, located on Macomb Place, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 26 and 27, and Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 29 and 30. If you'd like to arrange a portrait sitting, call 469-8666 for a time.

Incidentally: this Holiday Fair features special luncheons, at $6 per person, next Monday and Tuesday only... and opening day hours Friday are expanded, running from 10 a.m., when the Mount Clemens Christmas Parade be-

MARITIME HISTORY IN ART EXHIBITION BY JIM CLARY NOVEMBER 29 TO DECEMBER 24 STORE FOR THE HOME, GROSSE POINTE,

Visit us during our informal maritime art exhibition of works by artist Jim Clary. Growing up near the Detroit River and later along the St. Clair, Clary's lifetime fascination and love of ships and ship lore inspires his work. He has combined natural talents with extensive self-study to create an accurate and pleasing style. The exhibit will include his most recent work, "Close the Enemy," shown above.

Mr. Clary will make personal appearances in our store every Tuesday and Friday through December 24.

Carol wins — and wows 'em!

All of you who've been down to the Fisher to see "Pump Boys and Dinettes" know that the second act opens with a raffle, the winner determined by seat number location, said winner escorted on-stage to receive "your choice of a novelty car air freshener" (it's THAT sort of raffle) . . . and all of you who've been down to the Fisher to see "Pump Boys and Dinettes" know that there's NO WAY that raffle could be a put-up job . . . and all of you who've been around The Pointe long enough to know Carol DeGaetano know that if, by some quirk of fate, her seat number were called, the Fisher audience (not to mention the actors) would be really in for something!

You got it. Last Wednesday night (Nov. 17) there was Carol, in the Fisher audience, and her number came up, and up she came, on-stage, and picked her prize, and THEN asked if she could do a number . . . and the cast, not knowing what they were getting into but willing to get into anything (it's THAT sort of show), said "Sure . . ."

Well, now: if you know Carol, you know that her rendition of "You Made Me Love You" brought down the house; we don't have to tell you it brought her a standing ovation. That lady can really belt out a song when she has a mind to. Everyone, from the Pump Boys to the Dinettes to the lady in the last row of the balcony last Wednesday night, can tell you THAT's a true fact . . .

By the way: did you know that one of the producers of "Pump Boys and Dinettes" here (it continues at the Fisher through Dec. 5) is a local boy, Michael David Toby's son? Now you do . . .

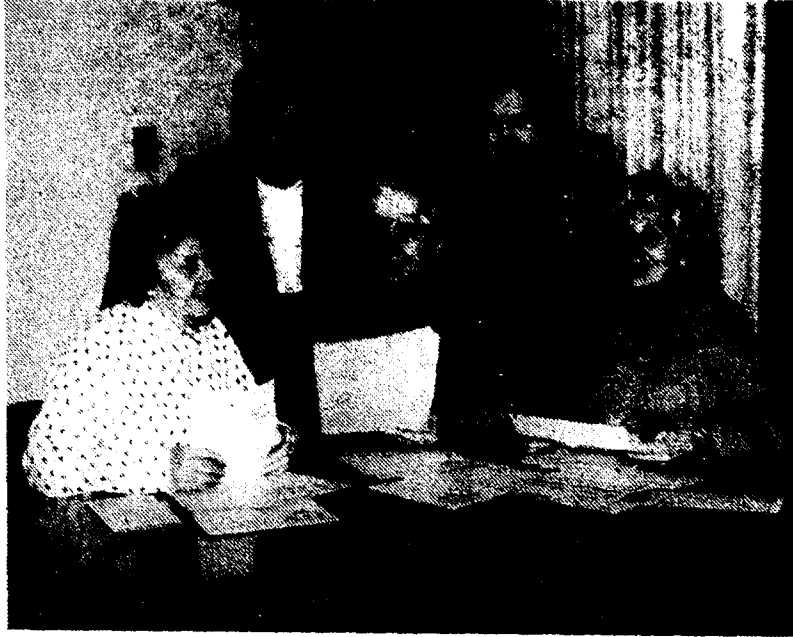

Set Valparaiso Guild's party

Valparaiso University Guild's East Side Chapter invites members and guests to its annual Christmas tea, to be held this year on Monday, Dec. 6, at 11:30 a.m. at First English Lutheran Church on Vernier Road.

The party, chaired by Mrs. Arthur Ulmer, traditionally features a very popular sale of gaily-packaged, homemade Christmas cookies. Mrs. Arduin Arthur heads the cookie committee.

Presiding at the tea tables will be Mrs. Lester Bates, Miss Vera Beck, Mrs. Lester Cushnack and Mrs. Franklin Quale, the chapter's current president. Hostesses are Mrs. Clarence Broecker, Mrs. Anton Jehn, Mrs. Erwin Sattelmeyer and Mrs. Karl Trautman.

The Reverend Robert A. Rimbo, associate pastor and director of music at Saint James Lutheran Church in the Farms, will present a Christmas program of organ music, with Mrs. Harry Gieseking as soloist.

Christmas brunch concert . . .

Bonstelle books Christmas Carol

"A Christmas Carol," Charles Dickens' immortal classic, opens Friday, Dec. 3, at 8 p.m. at Wayne State University's Bonstelle Theatre and will run there for the first three weekends of December, with Friday and Saturday evening performances at 8 p.m. and Sunday matinees at 2 p.m.

Two additional matinees have been added, on Thursday, Dec. 9, and Wednesday, Dec. 15, both at 2 p.m. Tickets are available at the WSU Theatre Box Office, Cass and Hancock, 577-2972, and at most Detroit area colleges and universities, and may be purchased at the Bonstelle Theatre one hour before curtain. For group reservations and information, call 577-3010.

The 19th century story, adapted for the stage by Barbara Field, has been revived with a new cast following the successful Bonstelle productions of 1979 and 1981.

Leading roles are played by Thomas Sizemore Jr. as Ebenezer Scrooge, Patrick Callahan as Charles Dickens, Robert E. Lambert as Bob Cratchit, Artis L. White as Jacob Marley, Sheri Nichols as The Ghost of Christmas Past and Thomas M. Suda as The Ghost of Christmas Present.

The play takes place on Christmas Eve when Scrooge is visited by four spirits, that of his late partner Jacob Marley and the Ghosts of Christmas Past, Present and Future, who move the cold-hearted miser to change his "Bah, Humbug!" attitude and to honor the Spirit of Christmas.

Co-directing the production are Robert T. Hazzard and Russell Smith. Scenic design is by Blair Vaughn Anderson, choreography by Nira Pullin, lighting by Randall Presswood and costumes by Marilyn Renaud.

The Community LINC

While hundreds of youths are writing to Santa this Christmas to ask for an Atari video game, Apple home computer or battery-operated PacMan, there are others whose simple wishes for a new doll or hat and mittens will not be granted . . . unless, of course, they are the fortunate recipients of area-wide charity drives to see that "no child is without a Christmas."

Operation LINC (Linking Individuals to Needs in the Community) has been active for 10 years in making Christmas possible for those less fortunate. This year is no different from those past, though the needs are greater and LINC and the community will have to work harder to see them met.

This year LINC will sponsor two programs for children and adults. The first, The Foster Care Program, coordinated for LINC by volunteer Vicki McCann, involves children in Grosse Pointe elementary schools, both public and parochial. McCann, her volunteer staff and her generous students provide Christmas gifts for children in licensed foster care homes.

Last year more than 1,200 gifts were donated and wrapped by Grosse Pointe school children, who take pride in preparing their own gift packages. Children take their new gifts to school where they are wrapped and later picked up by Operation LINC volunteers who transport them to Wayne County Social Services for distribution to foster care homes.

"Foster care mothers receive an allotment from Wayne County Social Services for Christmas purchases," comments LINC President Gabriele Pluhar, "but it is not enough to purchase more than one or two small gifts. We like to augment their ability to give."

An offshoot of The Foster Care Program "because the need was so great," says Pluhar, is LINC's Christmas Gift and Toy Chest, now in its second year. "After we began our Foster Care Program we were beset by numerous phone calls from other Wayne County agencies asking for help with Christmas, not only for children but for adults. So LINC collected new and used, but in good condition, toys, games, sports equipment, books, stuffed animals, instructional equipment, personal care items and clothing."

Last year Campfire, Inc., of the Richmond area, gathered toys and personal care items for adults in this program. This year Campfire, Inc., has taken on LINC's Gift and Toy Chest as a metropolitan Detroit service project. Hundreds of boys and girls ages six to 17, from more than 122 Campfire Clubs, will participate in the project.

Wrapped gifts and toys, for all ages . . . infants, children, teens, adults and senior citizens . . . new and used (but again in good condition) will be brought to Campfire's November Cluster meetings in time for Christmas giving.

Among the goods collected and sought are such things as children's books, canned goods, kitchen utensils, cold weather outerwear, baby articles, hand crafted items and such personal care items as deodorant, toothbrushes and toothpaste, soap, combs, shampoo, shaving creams, cosmetics and lotions.

Each item will be wrapped and identified as to what it is, the age range it would be appropriate for and whether the gift is for a male or female. Coordinating the project with LINC volunteer Sara Gagen is Campfire area specialist Mary Szymanski.

While Campfire boys and girls and Grosse Pointe school children will work hard to make these programs a success, LINC asks that you too take a little time this holiday season to think of and provide for those less fortunate by contributing to our Christmas Gift and Toy Chest. All donations are tax deductible. And you can call us at 331-6700 Monday through Friday, between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m., to arrange for pick-up or drop-off. Remember: your gift could make just the difference to a child or adult this Christmas.

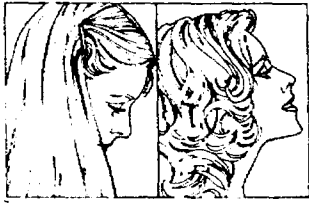

Look for LINC Friday, Nov. 26, in the sixth annual Santa Claus Parade sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Village Association. Our log cabin, which will later be donated, will be surrounded by LINC Pilgrims and Indians carrying the LINC banner: "A Tradition of Giving — Operation LINC." The parade will begin at 10:30 a.m. at Grosse Pointe South High School and will proceed down Kercheval Avenue to The Village. It will last about one hour. Hope to see you there.

LINC column space is provided monthly by the Grosse Pointe News as a community service. Operation LINC needs your generous support of time and contributions. We are a non-profit, volunteer organization which helps numerous Wayne County agencies and depends on your support. To volunteer or to donate usable items, please call us.

The LINC office will be closed on Thanksgiving and on Friday, Nov. 26. The office will re-open Monday, Nov. 29, at 9 a.m.

Eastern Michigan University senior TIM KEENAN, son of RICHARD and SALLY KEENAN, of Hunt Club Drive, will serve as editor-in-chief for the university's student newspaper, The Eastern Echo.

Hubbard-Kosek vows are said

The wedding of Catherine Kosek and John Castleman Hubbard Friday, August 13, in Our Lady Star of the Sea Church was followed by a reception at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, after which the couple left to visit New England and the eastern seacoast. They are at home in Dearborn.

The Reverend Ralph Kowalski, Our Lady Star of the Sea pastor, officiated at the 5 o'clock rites. Gretchen Damm gave a reading from Scripture.

The bride, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leon J. Kosek, of Birch Lane, wore a soft organza gown styled with a high, illusion neckline, bishop sleeves, beaded, Schiffl-embroidered bodice and Venice lace-trimmed skirt flowing into a chapel train.

Her headpiece was a floral wreath of traditional design. She carried a cascade of gardenias and pink Sweetheart roses, with accents of stephanotis and ivy.

Susan Pazgrat, of Ann Arbor, the bride's cousin, served as honor maid and gave a reading from Kahlil Gibran. Bridesmaids were Barbara Isgro, a University of Michigan classmate of the bride, Lynn Kosek, the bride's sister, and Anne Kosek, their cousin.

Their dresses of daphne rose organza featured high necklines edged in Venice lace and capelets softly draped from their shoulders. Rows of organza and matching lace banded their skirts. Each wore a wreath of roses, statice and baby's-breath in her hair and carried a rubrum lily centered in a miniature cascade arrangement.

Bob Manley, a classmate of the bridegroom at Rose Hulman Institute of Technology, came from Boulder, Colo., to act as best man. Ushering were Steven Kosek, brother of the bride, and Robert and Milton Hubbard, brothers of the bridegroom. They are the sons of Drs. John and Helen Hubbard, of Orchard Park, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Hubbard

The mother of the bride wore a long-sleeved, street length dress of pale peach chiffon, styled with a double-tiered collar and tied with a satin sash. She placed a single Sonia rose in her hair.

The bridegroom's mother selected a long-sleeved, street length dress of ivory crepe de chine patterned on sleeves and skirt with pink and lilac floral clusters, and a cymbidium orchid corsage.

Special guests included the bride's grandmothers, Sophia Kosek, of East Detroit, and Veronica Makowski, of Detroit, and the bride's brother and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. Leon J. Kosek Jr., who brought their son Joseph with them from Chicago.

Brophys make home in Pointe

At home on Lincoln Road are Mr. and Mrs. Drew Sinclair Brophy, who vacationed for two weeks at the Coral Island Club on Bermuda following their evening marriage Saturday, October 2, in the First United Methodist Church of Birmingham.

Mrs. Brophy is the former Sherry Engelhardt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Engelhardt, of Birmingham. Mr. Brophy is the son of the Howard T. Brophys, of Sunningdale Drive.

The 7 o'clock ceremony was followed by a reception at the Village Club, Bloomfield Hills. The bride wore a dress of ivory peau de soie, its fitted bodice, overlaid with Alencon lace, featuring a scalloped, portrait neckline, its full skirt falling into a cathedral train bordered with a deep band of matching lace.

Alencon lace also bordered her fingertip veil, caught by a Juliet cap of lace covered with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of cascading ivy and stephanotis.

Amy Engelhardt came from Boston, Mass., to act as her sister's honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Lisa Wilson, of Ann Arbor, Kathy Lee, of East Grand Rapids, Francie Porter, of Troy, Susan Maher, of Richmond, Va., Sally Chamberlain, of Chicago, and the bridegroom's cousins, Margaret and Kay Brophy, of Bloomfield Hills.

Their floor length dresses of ivory moire featured fitted

Mr. and Mrs. Drew S. Brophy

bodices, portrait necklines and cap sleeves with flat bows at the shoulder. Cascading ivy, ivory roses and stephanotis formed their bouquets.

Best man was Keith Alward, a former Grosse Pointe resident who is now making his home in Fremont, Calif. Ushering were Larry Roth, John Brown, Tom Jerger, Steven Aubrey, of Boston, Mass., John Jacobson, of Irvine, Calif., Denny Austin and Howard Brophy, the bridegroom's cousin.

The mother of the bride wore a floor length gown of soft apricot crepe, its bodice tucked, with a small ruffle around the neck, and carried a stem of apricot roses.

The bridegroom's mother, in a floor length, Empire gown of dusty pink silk, carried a stem of cymbidium orchids.

Plan Welcome Wagon party

The Welcome Wagon Club of Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods will hold its annual Christmas luncheon Thursday, Dec. 2, at 11:30 a.m. in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

The party, open to all members and their guests, will feature a program of international Christmas music by The Pointe Chorale and Girls' Ensemble of Grosse Pointe North High School, accompanied by Vicky Hansen, plus a large craft bazaar, offering work by local artists and club members, and a special chocolate sale.

Reservations, at $10 per person, must be made by Friday, Nov. 26, and may be obtained by contacting Beate Vreeker at 779-8538 or Martha Brosky at 881-9357.

Christmas tradition for Alpha Mu DKG

Members of the Alpha Mu Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society, an international organization for women in education, met recently at the home of Ginny Downs where, under the direction of Mary Jo Dillaman, they hand-made 100 Christmas placemats for the children at the Foundation for Exceptional Children.

This is the 12th consecutive year Alpha Mu has worked on this project, the first of several charitable activities in which the chapter participates during the holiday season.

Women's Advertising focus on Jacobson's

Despite an economy which has many retail outlets closing stores, one local chain has managed to make a profit without losing any of its special services. That chain is Jacobson's, and at the Monday, Nov. 29, meeting of the Women's Advertising Club of Detroit, Mark K. Rosenfeld, Jacobson's executive vice-president, will share some of the unique marketing strategies which keep his stores on top.

The meeting, at Jacobson's store in downtown Birmingham, Maple at Bates, begins at 5:30 p.m. with a wine reception. Rosenfeld's program follows dinner, prepared by Jacobson's chef Bob Mounsey, at 6:30 p.m. Afterwards the store will remain open until 9 p.m. for anyone interested in holiday shopping.

Because space is limited in the Employee's Lounge on the lower level of the store, where the meeting will take place, reservations must be limited. Cost of the evening, including wine and dinner, is $12.50 for members, $13.50 for guests. Reservation information may be obtained by contacting Rita Walby at 775-3221.

Jacobson's, founded in 1888, was a small, women's apparel shop when the Rosenfeld family took over. Its full-service specialty operation now includes 10 stores in Michigan, one in Toledo and six in Florida.

Holiday Happenings at The Ford House

The Women's Division for Project HOPE will hold its annual Christmas event Monday, Dec. 6, at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House. It's a holiday luncheon, starting at 11:30 a.m., with special attractions including a tour of the entire house and a showing of Christmas furs by Bricker-Tunis and Christmas at-home fashions by Saks Fifth Avenue (Fairlane), modeled by Project HOPE women.

Music for the afternoon will be provided by Mrs. Berg H. Haidostian. Each member and guest is asked to bring a pair of children's mittens for The Mitten Tree, to be donated to the Saint Francis Home for Boys. Phyllis Marra is chairing the day, open to all at $16 per person. Reservation information is available from the Project HOPE office, 649-4775. Current president of the Women's Division for Project HOPE is Diane Schoenith.

The Detroit Institute of Ophthalmology's Friends of Vision will hold their annual fund raising party at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House on Tuesday, Dec. 14. It's an evening affair, including a tour of the house with its traditional Christmas decorations, music by the Judélaires, hors d'oeuvres and plenty of holiday cheer. Lawyers' Wives Plan Christmas Tea

Each year, members of the Grosse Pointe Lawyers' Wives celebrate the holiday season by gathering together at a Christmas Tea. It's always held at a member's home, and there's always an "admission charge:" a gaily-wrapped child's gift to place under a sparkling Christmas tree. Gifts collected during the afternoon are donated to the Wayne County Juvenile Home and the D.J. Healy Home.

This year's Lawyers' Wives Christmas Tea will be held Wednesday, Dec. 8, at 1 p.m. at the lovely home of Mrs. John Litch on Windmill Pointe Drive. Invited there to accept the gifts on behalf of the children are James Lee, director of the Wayne County Juvenile Home, Lillie Elmore, supervisor of the D.J. Healy Home, and Judges Gladys Barsamian, James Lacey and Thomas Maher.

Chairman of the 1982 tea is Mrs. James Arnold. Her committee includes Mrs. John Auld, Mrs. David Barbour, Mrs. James Callahan, Mrs. John Huige, Mrs. Robert Malecek, Mrs. Richard Miller, Mrs. Timothy Scanlon, Mrs. Frank Stellingwert, Mrs. James Tucker and Mrs. Stephen Wasinger.

Tuesday Musicales to Sing Noel

Tuesday Musicales of Detroit presents its annual Festival of Christmas Dec. 7, at 10:30 a.m. at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, featuring the Choral Ensemble under the direction of Mary Pardee with Eleanor Peets, accompanist, and Joan Haggard and Jeanne Hurst, organists. Soloists will include Rita Vermilion, soprano, and Johanna Gilbert, mezzo, with Shelley Gilbert and Barbara Dirks, flute, Betty Peterson, violin, Karen Wingert, cello, Dr. Robert Oppelt, viola, and Barbara MacIntosh and Doreen Taylor, accompanists.

Members of the Choral Ensemble are Joan Atkinson, Carolyn Clark, Ann Clock, Phyllis Cortright, Louise Dexter, Edna Gamrath, Jean Ground, Lou Hough, Gertrude Hughes, Lois Johns, Mary Johnston, Margaret Linder, Carolyn Metting, Dorothy Minier, Jane Neil, Pat Nelson, Ethel Riegelman, Jacqueline Simpson, Denyse Singelyn, Ida Tassos, Rita Vermilion, Shirlee Waroe, Donna Weinkle and Bonnie Westoff.

The program includes Pfausch's Fanfare for Christmas, "Where Is The Newborn King of Israel?" by Schutz, Kodaly's "Ave Maria," Kraehenbuehl's "Welcome Yule" and Brahms' "Gestillte Sehnsucht" and "Geistliches Wiegenlied," as well as works by Pessard, Parfrey, Pachelbel, Louis-Claude Daquin and Leo Sowerby.

Chairman of the day is Mrs. Mendel Lucatsky. The Musicales' general program chairman is Mrs. Donald Lahti. The Christmas Festival concert will be followed by luncheon in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Crystal Ballroom overlooking Lake St. Clair, where guests will be greeted by Musicales President Mrs. Russell H. Skitch, M.B.E., and Mrs. Winfield S. Jewell Jr., social chairman, assisted by committee members Mrs. William Bundesen, Mrs. Eugene T. Ignasiak, Mrs. Joseph N. Jennings, Mrs. Arnold W. Lungershausen, Mrs. John T. McMullen and Mrs. Joseph Shaheen, who will also conduct the carol sing-along.

Christmas Walk '82: Basic Information

The Detroit Symphony League's Christmas Walk 1982 will be held Sunday, Dec. 5, from noon to 5 p.m. and Monday, Dec. 6, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Birmingham-Bloomfield area; Sunday, Dec. 12, from noon to 5 p.m. and Monday, Dec. 13, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in The Pointe. Ticket prices for the tours of holiday-decorated homes remain the same as last year: $6 (advance group), $7 (advance individual) and $8 (at the door). Ticket information may be obtained by calling 881-3919 or 885-0583.

Presidents' days at WSU gallery

In honor of the inauguration of and one of David D. Henry by Roy Gamble, plus Clarence N. Hilberry by Robert Wilbert, William R. Keast by Richard Grubola, George E. Gullen by Lennart Andersen and Thomas N. Bonner by John Hegarty.

The gallery has been divided into seven areas, each containing the portrait of one of WSU's presidents and a selection of paintings and drawings which came to the university during that president's term of office.

Works by Sam Gilliam, Robert Natkin, Murray Jones, David Mitchell, Aris Koutroulis, Johann Wolfgang Von Goethe, Karel Appel, Angelica Kaufman and James Audubon are on exhibit, some for the first time. Portraits of WSU past-presidents include one of Frank Cody by Leon Mackielski Herarty and Wilbert are members of the WSU Art Department faculty.

A photograph of WSU's second president, Warren Bow, is also on display, and an exhibit of documents, letters, citations and certificates relating to Dr. Adamany's inauguration, prepared by the University Archives, is on view in the lobby of the gallery, open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday with the exception of the Thanksgiving holiday week dates of Thursday and Friday, Nov. 25 and 26.

SALON PERM VS. HOME PERM: CONSIDER THE FACTS.

A perm can change your life! No more nightly setting, no more struggling to build body, no more limp, boring hair. So why not do it yourself? Consider these facts first:

- Perm chemicals actually break down your hair structure, then put it back together in a new shape. Without training, it's easy to damage your hair.
- Setting your hair correctly is 50% of how your perm turns out. Winding the rods too lightly, too loosely, or at the wrong angle can ruin the look you want.
- The condition of your hair can make or break your perm. Some perms work best on fine hair, some on tinted hair, and some hair shouldn't be permed at all. Do you know enough about the different kinds of perms to make the right choice?
- Only professional hair stylists are trained in the use of perm chemicals, setting techniques, and hair analysis. Our stylists know the do's and don'ts of successful perming. And we use scientifically formulated perms from Redken® to give you the best possible results. So, if you want to change your life with a perm, let us help you change it for the better.

KIMBERLY

The joy of Christmas is best realized when you give a gift that shows you took time to shop for something unique and unusual. Over the years the name Kimberly has come to mean the finest in design and quality.

This year our catalogue is a first in featuring a return to nature and its woodland setting for beautiful, natural wreaths and nests. Our design concept is light and airy — with a natural look.

The materials have been carefully selected from fine European flowers and berries. We have also selected feathered birds and nestled them between twigs and branches in handcrafted nests.

We hope you enjoy the gifts in our catalogue and wish you and yours the happiest of holiday seasons!

P.S. WE SHIP ANYPLACE IN THE UNITED STATES!

Christmas gift to the community . . .

Admission is, as always, free, and everyone is welcome at the Christmas Concert and Tea presented by Grosse Pointe North and South High Schools as their holiday gift to the community. It's set this year for Wednesday, Dec. 1, at 1 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center at North High. Pictured above admiring wreaths that will be sold following the program featuring choral groups from both schools are (seated, left to right): BEVERLY ZIMMERMANN, program (North), and tea co-chairpersons MARCIA WINZER (South) and JOAN De-

Toys on exhibit at Cranbrook this season

More than 40 toys to delight the child in each of us are on display through December at Cranbrook Institute of Science located on Lone Pine Road in Bloomfield Hills.

The new exhibition combines toy selections from the museum's own collections, objects which have amused and educated children of various nations, cultures and times, with toys representing the Golden Age of Playthings.

In contrast to current sophisticated, computerized toys for children and adults, the display shows how children from time's beginning learned as they played. Featured in the museum's Hall of Man and Culture are colorful, noisy and cuddly toys, including varieties of dolls, tops, rattles and hobby horses, intended to amuse and culturally orient.

Also, from the anthropology collection, are toys created for religious, economic, social, political or military purposes, such as bows and arrows, spears and blowguns from hunting societies.

Fine examples of Golden Age Playthings from the Lawrence Scripps Wilkinson collection are on exhibit in the astronomy lobby. Prominent among these are modes of transportation, such as trains, popular from the mid-19th century to World War 1, plus soldiers, mechanical toys, German and French dolls and miniature replicas of pieces of adult life.

Also on view are toy miniatures loaned to the Institute by Mrs. Florence B. Beresford, daughter of Cranbrook founders George and Ellen Scripps Booth. They represent the cherished remembrances of her own childhood at Cranbrook.

The toy exhibition is included in the regular museum admission of $2.75 for adults, $1.75 for students and senior citizens. Museum hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, 7 to 10 p.m. Friday evenings, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturdays and 1 to 5 p.m. Sundays.

Open Madonna Festival Dec. 2

The Madonna Festival, conceived by Mrs. John Purcell to sharpen awareness of the place of art in religion and its contribution to our lives and to serve as a significant beginning to the Advent and holiday season, opens next Thursday, Dec. 2, with a 6 to 8 p.m. reception for the artists and awards ceremony in Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church's Fellowship Hall, located on Moross Road.

The juried exhibit of original art on the Madonna theme, in a variety of media, continues on display at the host church Friday and Saturday Dec. 3 and 4, open to the public at no admission charge (the reception is also admission-free and open to the public) from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days.

Mrs. Warren Moore is the festival's general chairperson. Assisting her are Mr. and Mrs. William Montgomery, Mrs. Charles Semerad, Mrs. Howard Draper, Mrs. Charles Veenstra and Mrs. Eugene Chosy. Mrs. John Frakes is publicity chairperson. Mr. and Mrs. Pieter van Horne are hosting the reception.

Under the aegis of a hospitality committee headed by Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Oila, many members of the church will be welcoming festival guests and participants.

Deck Moross House's halls

Windmill Pointe Garden Club members will meet at historic Moross House on East Jefferson Avenue, headquarters of the Detroit Garden Center, next Wednesday, Dec. 1, at 10:30 a.m. to "deck the halls" for the DGC's open house the following Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 4 and 5.

They'll have made the decorations at a special club workshop to be hosted this Monday, Nov. 29, by Mrs. C. Richard Abbott. Hostess for Wednesday's luncheon and meeting is Mrs. Elton Turner.

War Memorial is a festival at Christmas

Grosse Pointers are invited to join their friends and neighbors in Christmas celebrations at their own, beautiful community center, the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, this holiday season.

The annual Christmas Ballet Recital featuring the War Memorial's Corps de Ballet, under the direction of Mary Ellen Cooper, ushers in the holly-and-ivy month Friday, Dec. 3, at 8 p.m. in Fries Auditorium. Admission is $2.50 for adults, $1.75 for children 12 and under.

Everyone's invited to bring an ornament as contribution to the community tree and join in traditional Family Night Around the Christmas Tree festivities Thursday, Dec. 9, in the Fries Ballroom. Shopping will begin at 5:30 p.m. in a bazaar of unique and delightful Christmas gifts provided by Grosse Pointe South High School students.

Trimming the tree, a delicious holiday supper and entertainment combine to make this a perfect evening for the entire family. South High's Pointe Singers, under the direction of Charles Gleason, will raise their voices in holiday song, and a very special guest, Santa Claus, has promised to attend.

Charge for Christmas Tree Night is $8 per person, $3.50 for children 12 and under.

The lilting strains of Strauss waltzes will fill the Crystal Ballroom Friday, Dec. 10, when the War Memorial presents its annual Viennese Christmas Ball. Music for dancing in a holiday-decked setting overlooking Lake St. Clair will be provided by the Johann Strauss Orchestra, under the direction of Allen Warner.

Once again, there'll be an interlude of Austrian Christmas carols presented by Alexander and Maribel Sucek, founders of the Viennese Ball evenings for which black tie is suggested and reservations are requested in advance.

Tables may be reserved to accommodate any size group. Admission is $9 per person.

Also on the War Memorial's Christmas calendar is a Tour to Frankenmuth next Wednesday, Dec. 1 — but it's wait-listed. Those lucky and smart enough to get their reservations in early will leave the War Memorial on a chartered bus at 9 a.m. and return, visions of a Bavarian Christmas dancing in their heads, at 6 p.m.

Reservations for all these events may be made at the War Memorial, 881-7511, between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Offer holiday sales art in Birmingham

The Holiday Sales Show featuring hundreds of moderately priced (most under $50) handmade gift items by approximately 100 artists opens at the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association, located on South Cranbrook Road in Birmingham, on Monday, Nov. 29, and will continue there through Saturday, Dec. 18.

Sale hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday evenings. There is no admission charge and everyone is welcome.

A preview reception Sunday, Nov. 28, from 2 to 5 p.m. will feature Tidbits by Chef Duglass as well as an opportunity to get a headstart on Christmas shopping. Charge is $5 per person, $6 at the door; reservations should be made by Wednesday, Nov. 24. Further information may be obtained by calling 644-0866.

"This is not a holiday bazaar or boutique but an art show with emphasis on quality," explain Suzanne Velick and Elaine Boruso, co-chairmen. "There will be old favorites as well as exciting new items."

Action Auction '83 . . .

Work on the Grosse Pointe Academy's 15th annual fund raiser, Action Auction '83, to be held at the Detroit Athletic Club on April 30, has already begun, with this season's acquisition chairmen, AMELIA and WAYNE INMAN, hosting a kickoff meeting at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House at the end of October. The Inmans entertained a group of nearly 100 Academy parents who will be soliciting donations for the '83 Auction, one of the most successful in the nation due to its wide variety of unique and exciting items.

Experience Yuletide Medieval splendor

You can step back in time over 500 years and be guests at Yuletide festivities in the tradition of an English Country Manor House on Friday, Dec. 3, at a Medieval Yuletide Feast presented by The Herb Study Group for the benefit of Matthaei Botanical Gardens in the Gardens' Great Hall, located on North Dixboro Road in Ann Arbor.

Cost per person for the evening program, which begins at 7:30 p.m., is $20. Ticket information may be obtained through the Botanical Gardens, 764-1168.

Each dish on the menu is from an authentic Medieval recipe and will be served on a bread trencher, in the manner of the period. Whole roast sucking pig, golden glazed chicken, beet-root tart, leeks and mushrooms are among the featured foods, along with nuts and spices, breads, interesting appetizers and rich desserts, accompanied by three different wines.

Guests will be greeted by the host and hostess and announced — by the blast of a horn — to the Lord and Lady of the assembly and other honored guests.

Auction Detroit hotel nostalgia

Some frankly questionable — but interesting — stuff from the recesses of the historic Book Cadillac Hotel will be offered as-is to the public in a preview auction sale benefit for the Detroit Police Athletic League, conducted by DuMouchelle Galleries with local celebrities assisting, on Tuesday, Nov. 30, and a public sale Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 1 and 2.

Information and tickets for the black tie optional preview at $25 each (and a bargain $35 per couple) may be obtained by calling the PAL office, 935-3314, between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

"We're selling nostalgia," explains William C. Anton, general manager of the Book Cadillac. "We have a great selection of things from the Book's past that we have no plans for but feel would be of value to others. It should be both fascinating and fun for the public to see so much of the hotel's history on sale."

The Book Cadillac's doors will be open from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on the two public sale days, Dec. 1 and 2. Admission of $1 at the door grants browsing and buying time in two ballrooms holding rummage sale items. Auctions will be held periodically throughout the sale.

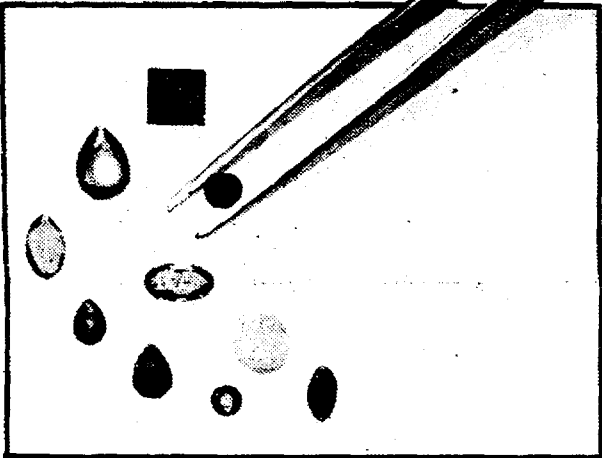

Tucked away among the sale goods are barber chairs in which seven presidents have had their hair cut, bar stools and large, Tiffany type overhead light fixtures from the former Clip Joint, dishes representing several eras, kitchen goods, seven-foot chandeliers, lamps of all kinds, bedsteads, drapery and bedspread fabrics, thread, desks, decorative artifacts and just plain "if you can describe it you may have a use for it" items.

Detroit. Corsages and boutonnieres are made and donated by several garden clubs. Candy rolls are made by local Brownie and Girl Scout troops. Santa will, of course, pay a visit to each party and greetings will be extended by Junior League of Detroit President Ann (Mrs. Ronald K.) Dalby. Junior League volunteers will serve the meal at the Handicapped-Goodwill Industries party, where featured entertainment will include Les Cochons Bleus of the Detroit Police Department as well as Joe Vitale and his quartet. Les Cochons Bleus will also perform at the Adult Service Center party, where Junior League volunteers will be assisted by the ASC staff who will also provide punch and music at a reception prior to the main event. The seniors themselves will produce a fashion show and additional entertainment. The Detroit League for the Handicapped, now combined with Goodwill Industries, was founded by the Junior League of Detroit in 1921 as a means for utilizing the skills of Detroit's handicapped citizens and providing them with meaningful employment. Adult Service Centers, Inc., formerly known as the Senior Center, was established in 1953 by the Junior League to provide recreation and rehabilitation for the elderly.

Ladies Auxiliary End Suburban for Deaf plans a holiday lunch

Women Golfers 1982 season

Service begins at 11:30 a.m. at the Lutheran Ladies Auxiliary for the Deaf's annual Christmas luncheon, to be held this year Tuesday, Dec. 7, in the gymnasium of the Lutheran School for the Deaf located on East Nevada Street in Detroit.

Reservations for the day, at $3.50 per person donation, may be made by contacting Clara Manske at 882-4683 or Ruth Haase at 527-8824.

The afternoon will feature a special Christmas program planned by the auxiliary's program committee, Mrs. George Schudlich, chairman, with some of the school's children participating.

Each of the 140 children enrolled at the school will be remembered with a gift of Christmas treats.

The luncheon is open to anyone interested in the work of the school. The auxiliary's regular business meeting will follow the program.

Suburban Women Golfers held their fall medal-play tournament at Partridge Creek Golf Club on two successive Wednesdays, Sept. 8 and 15. Winners and runners-up, respectively, were Mary Lou Pascoline and Fran Fox, A Flight; Cheryl Nelson and Patricia Kimel, B Flight; and Dorothy Schmidt and Ruth Schatzberg, C Flight.

Husbands were guests Saturday, Sept. 25, at a twilight golf invitational and potluck supper, featuring delicious hors d'oeuvres and desserts prepared by the Women Golfers, at Partridge Creek.

The season's final league event was a mid-October brunch at Lochmoor Club, arranged by Marian Bockstanz, at which September tournament prizes, special awards and weekly prizes were distributed.

Bridge Group meets Dec. 1

The Grosse Pointe Woman's Club Bridge Group will open the holiday season with a Christmas bridge and luncheon next Wednesday, Dec. 1, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Mrs. William Kabbush is hostess of the day. Charge is $4.75 per person; all reservations must be paid and in to Mrs. William Hayduk by this Saturday, Nov. 27.

Happy 100th! . . .

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial Senior Ladies Club helped EDNA (Mrs. Roy R.) McDANELD celebrate her 100th birthday at a meeting early this month, with Senior Ladies President HELEN (Mrs. James R.) MASTEN presenting the cake and flowers and Dr. MARK WEBER, executive director of the War Memorial, gifting the birthday girl with a lifetime Senior Ladies of Grosse Pointe membership. Born Nov. 14, 1882, in Sedalia, Mo., Edna moved to the Detroit area in 1919, to Grosse Pointe in 1956 and has been a member of the War Memorial's Senior Ladies Club, an active participant who enjoys playing pinochle twice monthly and, until recently, drove her own car to the pinochle sessions, since 1957. Edna currently resides on Shorecrest Circle with her daughter Mildred (Mrs. Lyle E.) Eiserman, who is also a member of the Senior Ladies Club. Mrs. McDanel also received birthday greetings from Governor William Milliken and President Ronald Reagan.

Help children cope with TV violence

Helping Children Cope with Television Violence is the subject of a Wayne State University colloquium designed for parents, teachers, social workers, caregivers, health professionals and those preparing to work with families, to be held next Thursday, Dec. 2, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. in the Hilberry Lounge in WSU's Student Center Building.

The colloquium, sponsored by WSU's Council on Early Childhood, Center for Urban Studies, is the first in a series which will deal with children's encounters with violence. It is open to all without charge.

Moderator will be Dr. Sharon Elliott, WSU College of Education, chairperson of the Council on Early Childhood. Panelists will be Elaine Saum, director, Committee for Children's Television, Metro Detroit; Jerry Lesz, Department of Broadcast Standards, WJBK-TV; and Dr. Eli Saltz, director, Merrill-Palmer Institute for Family and Human Development and professor of Psychology, WSU.

Beta Epsilon DKGs to host an auction

Beta Epsilon Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society will meet Thursday, Dec. 9, at 7:15 p.m. at the Carlson School in Warren for a business session and social during which Mary Julian, Finance Committee chairman, and Lee Stepanovic will serve as auctioneers for the group's annual Christmas fund raiser: an auction of handcrafted items donated by members.

Joanne Saucier, vice-president, is in charge of an ornament exchange among members. Featured guest Nicholas Nahat, of Severn Road, a Grosse Pointe North High School freshman, will play a medley of Christmas carols on the violin.

Thanksgiving Fest at Detroit Library

Young people out of school on the Thanksgiving weekend are invited to come down to the Main Branch Detroit Public Library on Woodward Avenue, opposite the Detroit Institute of Arts, this Saturday, Nov. 27, for the library's Thanksgiving Vacation performing a mini-musical, "America Works and Sings," accompanying themselves on the autoharp and guitar.

Festival programs in the Friends Auditorium featuring Jamey Clark and Eva Siarkowski Depa

CINDY BELTZ, of The Woods, was recently graduated from Southeastern Academy after extensive training in Travel Tourism. She is now qualified for an entry level position in all areas of the airline, travel or tourism industry.

KENNETH MacDONALD, of The Woods, has been elected to serve a three-year term of office on the executive committee of the University of Michigan Presidents Club.

Light Up Your Hair For The Holidays

Scintillights

REFRESHING HAIR MAKEUP
Have you ever wondered what your hair would look like if you added some color here? A highlight there? Or just plain experimentation — knowing the color would come out when you shampoo?

Make Waves!

In the midst of all the holiday festivities, the last thing you want to worry about is your hair. Keep it under control with a perm. A perm can give you the versatility you want, and the carefree maintenance your busy life demands. Ask your stylist about the holiday looks you can create with the Redken perm that's right for your hair. And make glorious waves!

Charity cards help spread holiday cheer

There are many ways to say Merry Christmas to friends and relatives each year, but a greeting card from a charitable organization can add special meaning to your holiday greeting.

Most of these cards can be ordered imprinted with the name of the sender and also can be ordered with engraved envelopes.

The News will print holiday cards from other charitable organizations as space permits. If your group is selling cards that you would like to see in future issues, send a copy of the card, price and order information to News Editor, Grosse Pointe News, 99 Kercheval Avenue, Grosse Pointe Farms, 48236.

Lung Association

This Christmas card is one of seven offered this year by the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan. Cards are packaged in boxes of 25 and range in price from $7.50 to $14.50 per box. For a brochure showing all cards, call 961-1697.

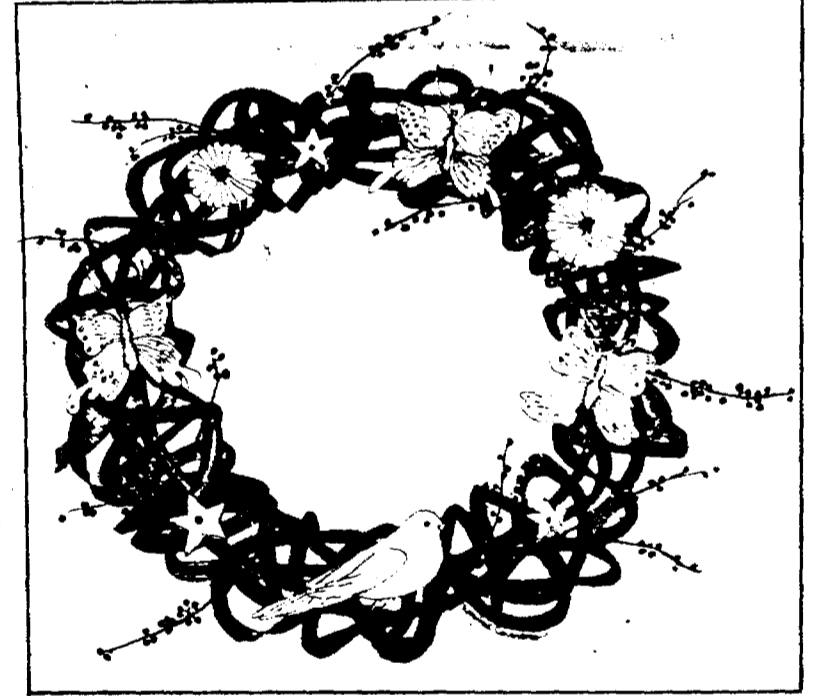

St. Jude Hospital

Proceeds from this buff-colored card will benefit St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. Cards come 10 to a package and are priced at $4.50 per package. There is a $1 handling and shipping charge per package. To order, write to the Greater Detroit Chapter, 9339 West Fort Street, Detroit, 48209.

National Asthma Center

"Seasons Greetings and Best Wishes for the New Year" is the holiday message inside this card from the Detroit League of the National Asthma Center. Twenty-five cards are priced at $10.25. For ordering information, contact League President Lucia Robiner at 535-5257.

Inter-Faith Center

Holly green with red berries on a white card is the season greeting this year from the Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice. Cards are $3.50 per package of 10. Checks should be made payable to the Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice, and mailed to 17150 Maumee Avenue, Grosse Pointe City, 48230. For more information, call 882-6464.

Michigan Heart Association

This muted green and brown Currier & Ives winter scene is available from the Michigan Heart Association for $6 in boxes of 25 cards. Cards may be ordered plain or imprinted with the sender's name. An assortment of 25 Christmas postcards are available for $4. For ordering information, call 557-9500.

Exceptional Children

This warm winter scene comes in packages of 25 cards for $15 from the Foundation for Exceptional Children, located at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. Samples can be obtained by calling 885-8660 between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. or by writing to the church at 16 Lakeshore Road, Grosse Pointe, 48236.

Pointer of Interest

By Jane Mueller

"You really don't relax until you get the book in your hands. But working with our printer, Jon Motschall, who knows the hospital (Saint John) and the program book (White Christmas Ball), makes my job a lot easier. It's also been a pleasure working with Virginia Thibodeau, the book's cover artist.

"And I really appreciate the support of my co-chairman, Denny Summers, my committee, the community and hospital personnel. It's thanks to them that, in spite of the poor economy, we have exceeded last year's advertising sales."

This is Justine Staub's third year at the head of the White Christmas Ball Program Book Committee. The first year she served as co-chairman. She's been chairman of the book for the last two years.

The ball, to be held Saturday, Dec. 11, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, is sponsored annually by Saint John's Fontbonne Auxiliary. Justine describes herself as a "quiet participator" in the auxiliary, but don't, by any means, equate "quiet" with "minimally active." In addition to the program book, Justine has chaired one of Fontbonne's card parties.

It's just that she prefers to work — hard — behind the scenes, where's she's a demon when it comes to details. That figures: she was trained in finance, and worked for Beecher, Peck and Lewis as supervisor for Accounts Receivable. She also worked for Al Green's, then the Bronze Door, on Accounts Receivable and Payroll.

JUSTINE'S PRIMARY personal orientation is family. She enjoys an open door policy with her children's friends ("They are all like family to me"), and spends at least one or two days each week taking care of her 84-year-old aunt, Margaret Dixon, who lives in Windsor, and checking on her husband's father, Ralph, who is 90 years old and also lives alone. She is looking forward to this year's Christmas season which will, like last year's, be geared toward these senior members of the family.

Justine has been married to John F. Staub, administrator at Alexander Blain Hospital before he accepted his current position as executive vice-president and chief operating officer for Saint Clair Ambulatory Care Corporation, for 22 years.

John's memberships include the board of trustees for Hospice of Southeastern Michigan, the board of trustees for the Michigan Catholic Health Association, the board of FLEC and the Michigan and American Hospital Associations.

He's a native Detroit, who attended Saint Martin's and the University of Detroit High School, and comes from a family of five. By Justine's lights, that's a small family. Her parents had 12 children. "But ours didn't seem a large family," she maintains, "because each person was different: an individual."

Very much like the Staubs' own four daughters. There are the twins, Heidi and Kristine, 17½ and seniors at Grosse Pointe South High School, and 16-year-old Jo and 14-year-old K.C., a junior and freshman, respectively, at South High.

HEIDI AND KRISTINE are both working, the former as a Nurse Assistant, the latter at Winkelman's, to help pay for their college educations. "We feel it's been good for them," Justine says. "Besides: there'll come a time when we have four children in college. That would put an economic squeeze on any family."

Heidi and Kristine both were Candy Strippers, and both have coached girls' softball teams (all four girls and Justine were actively involved in Camp Fire and all four girls have played softball), but they are very much non-identical twins, in looks and ambitions.

Heidi, 11 minutes older than Kristine, plans to study Physical Therapy at Wayne State or the University of Michigan. Heidi is a member of the National Honor Society and received an award for outstanding contributions to the community from the Lakeshore Grosse Pointe Optimist Club during Youth Appreciation Week. She's pitcher for her young women's softball team.

Kristine, a member of the Distributive Education Club of America (her younger sister Jo is also a DECA member), plans to major in Business at Central Michigan University. She hopes to become an executive secretary. She's a member of the Grosse Pointe Ski Club.

The twins are adopted. Justine and John had been waiting for a baby for some time when Justine received a call on a Friday — and was told she could pick up twins on Monday! It was quite a scramble over the weekend, getting together two of everything, but friends rallied to the cause. "Everyone was so kind to us and excited for us," Justine recalls. She and John wouldn't have cared if they'd been told they could pick up quintuplets. They wanted a baby; a second baby was a bonus . . . and when Justine discovered, very shortly after she and John took Kristine and Heidi home, that she was pregnant, she was delighted.

NOBODY TOLD HER what it would be like having three children under a year-and-a-half.

But she survived beautifully, and happily. She's a member of the Grosse Pointe South High School Mothers Club board and was very actively involved in this year's Homecoming, very impressed by the community members, adults and young people, parents and students, who gave their time, enthusiastically, to the project.

The Staub home was the scene of three Homecoming pom pom parties. All the cookies, et al., for the Homecoming dance were dropped off there. Float supplies were stored there; supplies for next year's floats still are. It's the sort of check-and-balance job Justine, with her financial background, does well and delights in doing.

Perhaps the most fun for the Staubs was their tour, with Mothers Club President Susie Decker and her husband Paul, of all the floats at all the different homes prior to the Homecoming parade. "That was delightful."

Justine and John met at a religious discussion, after which "we ended up playing pinocle, and winning." The church is still an important part of their family life. They belong to Saint Paul's Parish.

They've lived on Fisher Road for 20 years, with one move — eight houses down the block. "We like the neighborhood." Newest member of the family is Chessie, latest in a line of Staub poodles, and possibly smartest: Chessie, believe it or not, rings a bell attached to the door knob when he wants to be let out!

CHESSIE'S MISTRESS is an avid bridge player. She enjoys gardening and needlepoint and all sorts of sports, from bowling (her Lochmoor Ladies' League Team is — again, believe it or not — known as "The Tidy Bowlers") — to ice skating and skiing. She's planning to take cross country skiing and tennis lessons this winter. "I've come to terms with my own athletic ability," she says. "I know I'll never be great in sports, but I want to enjoy them: to be a decent participant."

"Take tennis. I've played, and taken lessons, but I'd like to improve, to hold my own on the court — and (with a wicked smile) play to kill!"

Justine and John like to do their own home decorating and their own furniture refinishing. Now that the children are fairly well grown, the parent Staubs have begun to indulge themselves with a bit of travel, trips to New Orleans and Manhattan, but the favorite family vacation destination remains "the cottage" at Black River on Lake Huron, near Alpena, Justine's home town.

Actually, it's a favorite family-and-friends destination. "We never go up with just the six of us," Justine explains. "The children always take friends. One weekend, in the van, we had 10 children in the back and John and myself in the front." All the front asked the back, during the drive north, was to keep the music level down to semi-reasonable proportions: since neither Justine nor John is deaf, it's to be assumed that the back responded reasonably to this reasonable request.

JUSTINE STAUB begins work on a White Christmas Ball Program Book in mid-May. She and her committee receive bids from the printer, coordinate ads and plan the other material that will go in the book. Justine sits down with the printer, selects paper and type and lays out the book her- always keeping an eye on cost. She does all the proofreading.

"I have a very hard working, efficient committee that is responsible for ad sales. Without them, without the ads they bring in, there would be no Program Book. I have the support of everyone at Saint John, and it's a great hospital, and I have the support of the community because Saint John IS such a great hospital."

"Of course, putting the book together is work, but it's work I enjoy. It's fun. It's a learning experience — and I'm still learning."

Honorary chairmen of the 29th Annual White Christmas Ball are Mr. and Mrs. C. Bradford Lundy Jr. General chairman and co-chairman, respectively, are Sarah Fisher Dingeman and Maureen (Mrs. W. Peter) McCabe. Party proceeds will be used to purchase equipment for the care of critically ill patients at Saint John.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

Tomorrow is Thanksgiving. (And yes, I do think it's quite a coincidence that TURKEY day falls on the same day as the Lions' first home game of this patchwork, post-strike season.)

Anyway, since tomorrow IS Thanksgiving, and most of us have something to be thankful for, I thought that in Sports Week this time around, I'd run down my list of things for which I am thankful.

Thanks . . .

— For the people who make the sports section of the Grosse Pointe News possible. People like Stu Dow, Earl Duignan, David Hea, Al Hillenbrand, Ann Rice, William Schulte, Rick Semack, Brad Tisdale and Steve Zaranek — and all those people who supply Little League results — who care enough about the kids who participate in sports in Grosse Pointe to take time to write about these kids' accomplishments and get them into the News.

— For the wives and/or secretaries of many of the above, who take the time to type and/or deliver those articles.

— For Paul Regelbrugge, who does such a fine job contacting coaches and athletes each week as the sole reporter to the News for North High sports. It isn't easy to be a good writer, or a great athlete or a well-mannered teenager, but Paul manages to be all three.

— For coaches like Al Devine, Paul Pellerito and Greg Brynaert, who not only coach teams and run athletic programs, but are concerned enough about their players to make sure each gets his/her name mentioned in each week's game summaries.

— For people like Bob Waldeck, who take the time out to call and say thank you.

— For athletic directors like Chuck Hollosy, Tom Gauerke and Bob Wood, who are patient with persistent questioners and truly interested in maintaining quality sports programs for their students.

— For coaches like South's George Petrouleas and Russ Hepner, with whom it is always a pleasant experience to talk.

— For the opportunity to get to know an athlete like Chicago White Sox pitcher Bill Babcock. If this quiet, unassuming athlete doesn't make it to the majors, something's wrong.

. . . and more thanks — For the blessed eight weeks of freedom from that torture chamber sometimes known as Monday Night Football. (The only problem is: Howard the Terrible will be even more insufferable than before the football strike.)

— For late-night broadcasts of the Detroit Red Wings' west coast hockey games . . . on nights when you're driving home late, it's great to have hockey to listen to. (Those games are also better than Somnax on nights when you have trouble falling asleep.)

— For all those full-color, beautifully-packaged sports media guides and directories which colleges and universities send through the mail. I can almost never use them, but they're great to look at. Thanks, guys!

— For those "classic" sports movies Hollywood made in the 1940's and '50's. A year wouldn't be complete without watching William Bendix' sensitive portrayal of Babe Ruth, or Ronald Reagan's dramatic role as pitcher Grover Cleveland Alexander. Now that's entertainment.

— For all the times Red Wing broadcaster Sid Abel says to his radio guests: "Thanks ever so much for stopping by." It's hilarious how he makes it sound like they just popped in for a chat. Most of Sid's guests had to get to his radio booth by running up flights of stairs or hurrying across an arena catwalk suspended 10 stories above the ice surface.

— For all those exchanges between Tiger TV broadcasters Al Kaline and George Kell. It's fun listening to them argue over which position was tougher to play: right field or third base. Neither one of those spots posed much of a problem for those two.

— For growing up in a house where people talked about the stories on the front page as well as the sports page . . . and in simple, understandable English.

— For getting to write a sports column.

Grindler makes team

Detroit's Lisbeth Grindler, with her top-10 ranking among the best amateur archers in the country, has earned herself a berth on the 1983 National Archery Team.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart, of Balfour Road.

From the ranks of the National Archery Team will very likely come the six Olympic team members to compete in the 1984 Games. Grindler is one of 10 men and 10 women who serve on the 1983 team in this last year of preparation before the Los Angeles games.

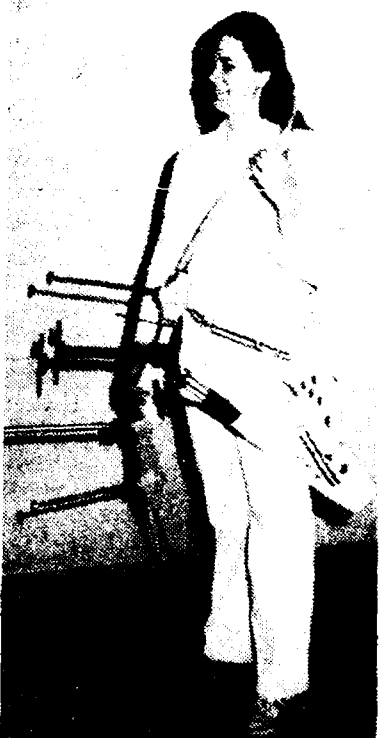

As a member of the National Team, Grindler will have the opportunity to travel to Colorado Springs for testing and training at the new Olympic Training Center. Among other duties, she will be expected to teach at instructional programs in her area and help beginners learn the sport she loves.

For the past four years, Grindler has held the Michigan State Championship title to herself. She is a past Midwest Champion and Brown County Open Champion.

The 28-year-old Grindler took up archery only three years ago. Her bowhunting brother-in-law first interested her in the sport, and later she was coached by Charles Nicholas, owner and operator of the Starlight Archery Center in Warren. She credits much of her success to Nicholas and his wife, professional archer Marilyn Nicholas. She presently averages 20 hours a week in training.

Grindler is a departmental analyst for the Michigan State Civil Rights Department. She graduated from Northern Michigan University with a bachelor's degree in Political Science in 1976 and Battle Creek Central High School in 1971.

Star's Tunas come close . . .

They had a fine season, earning a 14-3 record and a division championship, but Our Lady Star of the Sea High School's Tunas could only come close to the Catholic League's C-D title at Calahan Hall recently, losing to Redford St. Agatha, 50-21, in the finals. The varsity Tunas included, from left to right, (kneeling) Nancy Monahan, Colette Elie, Maureen Boyle, Marisa Ventimiglia, Theresa Liccardello; (standing) coach Warren Gravelin, manager Kim Mascar, manager Kathy Burns, Cindy Winiarski, Lisa Kady, Chris Bourgoin, Mary Unti, manager Debbie Parzych and coach Margaret Spindler.

ULS icers are ready

The University Liggett varsity ice hockey team has started its 1982-83 season by setting its roster at 18 players. This includes 12 returning lettermen — 10 of whom are back for a third year.

The team captains are senior goalie George Zinn and senior forward Marty Wittmer. They are ably assisted by seniors Tom Dow and Brian Valice. Other senior members of the team are Ramsey Gouda, Jim Raymo, John Kulka, Bill Scarfone and John Fern. Returning junior lettermen are Rick Roberts and Dan Bowen. The lone returning sophomore is Jamie McMillan.

Some new faces on the team are junior forwards Dan French, Jim Valice and junior goalie Todd Blake. Walter Connolly steps in from the sophomore class, while Costa Papista and Robby Wood add the very much needed youth to the program.

Although the team was riddled with injuries early in the season, it put on a fine showing in a pre-season scrimmage with St. Clair Shores Lake Shore High School and Centennial Secondary School of Windsor, on Nov. 13.

The Knights have been on the ice only two weeks and many of the boys have missed a good portion of those practices due to the extension of the soccer and golf seasons, both ending with state championships. Eight members of this year's varsity team were members of either the golf or soccer state championship team, a fact of which Coach Jay Peacock is very proud.

Assisting Peacock this year is Jim Kosak, who headed the Middle School program for the past two years. He also coached high school hockey in the east prior to coming to ULS.

The team opened its regular season on the road at Allen Park Cabrini High School last Saturday evening, Nov. 20. The first home game is Monday, Dec. 6 against Lakeview.

Girls' cage mark at 4-2

The University Liggett School girls' basketball team raised its record to 4-2 with two convincing wins last week. On Nov. 15 the Knights defeated Bloomfield Hills Roper, 26-10. ULS was led by Samantha DeSmet and Ruth McCrary with eight points each.

On Nov. 17 the Lady Knights, behind McCrary's 12 points and Andrea Kincannon's eight points and 11 rebounds, defeated Academy of the Sacred Heart, 36-23. With the win, the Knights remained in first place in the Michigan Private School League with a league record of 2-0. The Knights' next home game is Tuesday, Nov. 30, against Kingswood at 4:15 p.m.

Faculty stunned

The University Liggett School faculty was stunned by the ULS senior class on Wednesday, Nov. 17 as the teachers were shut out 2-0, in the annual ULS faculty-senior soccer championship. With barely enough players to field a team, the mature kickers were dominated by the seniors' complete first, second and third teams, which often fielded up to 16 players in a squad.

Through icy cold and despite brilliant defense, seniors Larry Van Kirk and J. T. Parks scored the goals necessary to rout the ageless teachers. Faculty coach Peter Joel (who regretted that he could not remain for the second half) stated, "Wait till next year — once more into the breach, dear friends."

Senior Murray Sales said of the victory, "Awesome."

Just like his brother

On Nov. 13, ULS fifth grader Doug Wood scored an overtime goal to lead the Stringers to a 2-1 victory over the Headers in the Neighborhood Club championship soccer game.

Just one week earlier Doug's older brother, Robby, a ninth grader at ULS, scored what proved to be the winner as ULS defeated Western Michigan Christian, 2-1, to win the state soccer championship.

Girls open season

Girls' basketball at ULS has a very short season, as ULS plays girls' basketball from Nov. 1 to Dec. 11.

The Knights opened their season just after two days of practice and lost a very close game to Lutheran Northwest. However, the next two games saw the girls rebound and defeat Ann Arbor Greenhills, 27-10, and Southfield Christian.

South, ULS take honors

The Michigan High School Tennis Coaches Association last week released its All-State Girls' Tennis Team and Coach of the Year lists — and South High and University Liggett School took both All-State and Coach of the Year honors for their 1982 performances.

Five girls were named to the All-State teams, including South High's Madeleine Willard and Meghan McMahon, Class A All-State; and University Liggett School's Paula Mighion, Ann Scherer and Windy White, Class C-D All-State. ULS won the Class C-D state championship and South tied with Portage Northern High for the Class A title.

The All-State voting was based primarily on the girls' individual performances in the state championships Oct. 22 and 23. South's McMahon won the No. 1 singles title in Class A.

South coach Stephanie Prychitko shared Class A Coach of the Year honors with Portage Northern's Sandy Peterson and Ann Arbor Pioneer's Theo Shepherd. Prychitko previously gained coaching recognition from the MHSTCA in 1979.

Prychitko's teams have captured seven consecutive state Class A titles. Her accumulated 115-9 won-loss record is unequalled in the state. The seven titles, coupled with eight Eastern Michigan League conference championships and nine regional titles, were key factors in her Coach of the Year selection this season. She will be formally honored at the annual coaches clinic on Feb. 11.

All Pointes drops opener

By Earl Duignan

As season swim openers go, this one was no piece of cake. Recent season opening meets have found the Pointes' All Pointes Swim Club matched with Michigan Metro Winter League second division teams with favorable results. This year, however, the Pointers traveled to Edsel Ford High to match strokes with the perennial league runner-up Dearborn Dolphins — and the results were not so pleasant.

Dearborn's 260-215 victory avenged its dual meet loss to All Pointes during the 1981-82 season at North High. This year, Dearborn took victories in all age brackets except the 10 and under group, where All Pointes won five of the nine events contested. Dearborn enjoyed its biggest victory margin in the 18 and 14 and under brackets, where All Pointes was able to touch first in only four of 18 events.

The Dolphins opened the meet with a win in the 8 and under 100-yard mixed free relay. The All Pointes quartet of Mike Bucciero, Denise Vittiglio, Lisa Williams and Ed Sutor (2:12.32) countered with a win in the 10 and under 200-yard event to even the score. From that point on, however, the home team pulled away for the meet victory.

In the fly events, All Pointes got off to an impressive start as first Charley Roddis (24.87) and then Becca Sutor (17.21) recorded victories in the 8 and under competition. Dearborn came back to capture five of the remaining fly contests. Only All Pointes' Jeff Williams (30.12) in the 12 and under group, Bucciero (42.07) in the 10 and under bracket and John Bourget (29.50) in the 18 and under class emerged with wins.

In backstroke competition, the visitors captured four of 10 contests. Roddis (21.74) recorded his second 8 and under victory. In 10 and under action, Kelly Duignan (42.93) and Amy Osborn (48.77) finished one-two for the Pointes. John Ledyard (36.24) touched first in 14 and under competition, while Jim Vogler (40.41) captured 18 and under honors.

All Pointes had three victories in the 10 breaststroke events. Eddie Sutor (38.68) captured the 10 and under competition, while Nora Brooks (38.56) and Bourset (35.70) won 12 and under and 18 and under events, respectively.

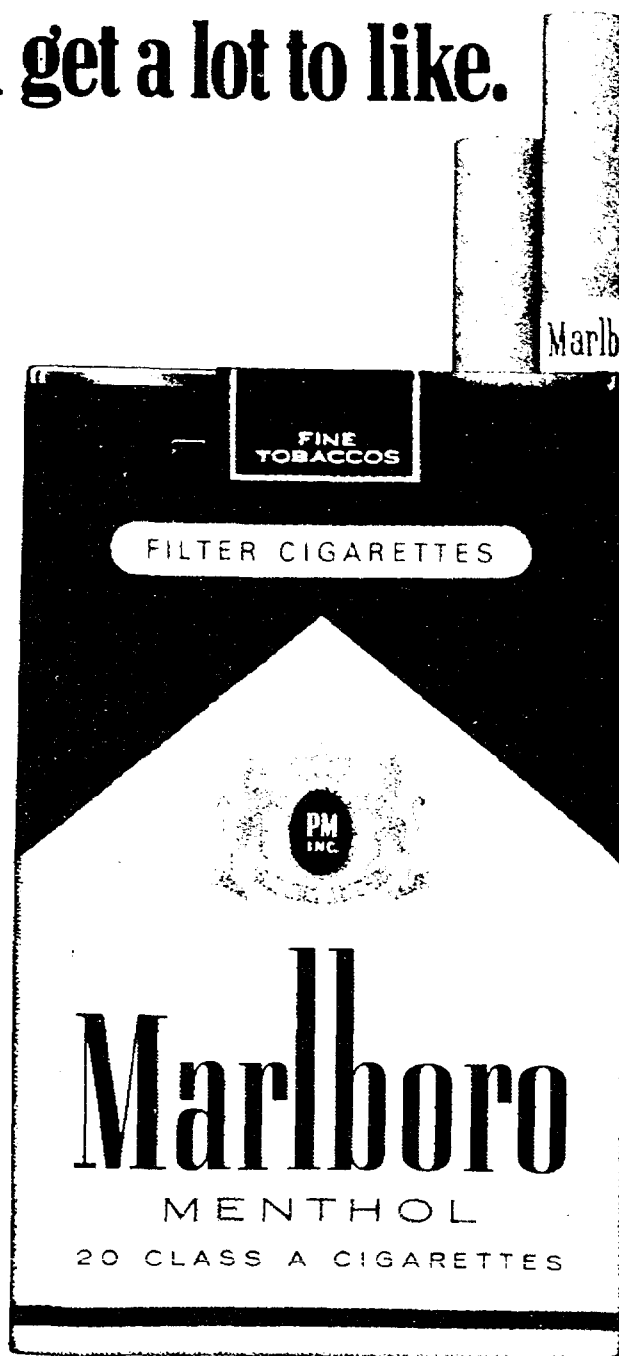

All Pointes also won three freestyle events. Becca Sutor (15.85) recorded her second win in the 8 and under age group. Lisa Williams (34.95), and Helen Mikelic (Continued on Page 3C)

All Pointes completed the meet on an upbeat note by recording wins in the two age group medley relay races. In the boys' event, the quartet of John and Jim Ledyard, John Bourget and Craig Winingier turned in a time of 2:29.39, while the girls' team of Brigid and Nora Brooks, Ann Llewellyn and Heidi Cartwright covered the 200-yard distance in 2:31.34.

ALL POINTES NOTES: For their performance in the Dearborn meet, as well as in practice during the weeks before, Craig Winingier and Tina Higel were selected by All Pointes coaches as Swimmers of the Week.

Sign up for ski trip now

Reservations for the Grosse Pointe Adult Ski Club's popular annual weekend trip to Boyne Highlands will be cut off as of Dec. 1, according to George Petersen, Club President.

"There are just a few places left," Petersen said, "and it will be first come, first served for those who want to come along."

The trip departs Friday, Jan. 7, from the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center at 6 p.m. and returns at about 10:30 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 9.

Participants will have two full days of skiing Saturday and Sunday, with a traditional wine and cheese party on Saturday evening.

"It's a great way to relax after a week of hard work," Petersen said. "We just settle back in our comfortable motor coach and break out the refreshments as soon as we're on the freeway. In fact," he added, "the whole trip is a party from start to finish. Anyone who doesn't want to miss out on the fun should call the Grosse Pointe War Memorial at 881-7511 right away."

Cost of the trip is $161 per person for double occupancy at the Boyne Highlands Lodge and includes lift tickets, round-trip transportation, hearty breakfasts on Saturday and Sunday and a delicious Saturday night dinner.

Skiers who are not now club members can become eligible for this and other club trips by filling out a membership application at the War Memorial and including the annual membership dues of $11 with their trip payment.

Brownell ends girls' cage year

The seventh grade girls' basketball team ran its season record to 9-3 with three wins before closing the season with a loss to a powerful Parcels team, 32-18.

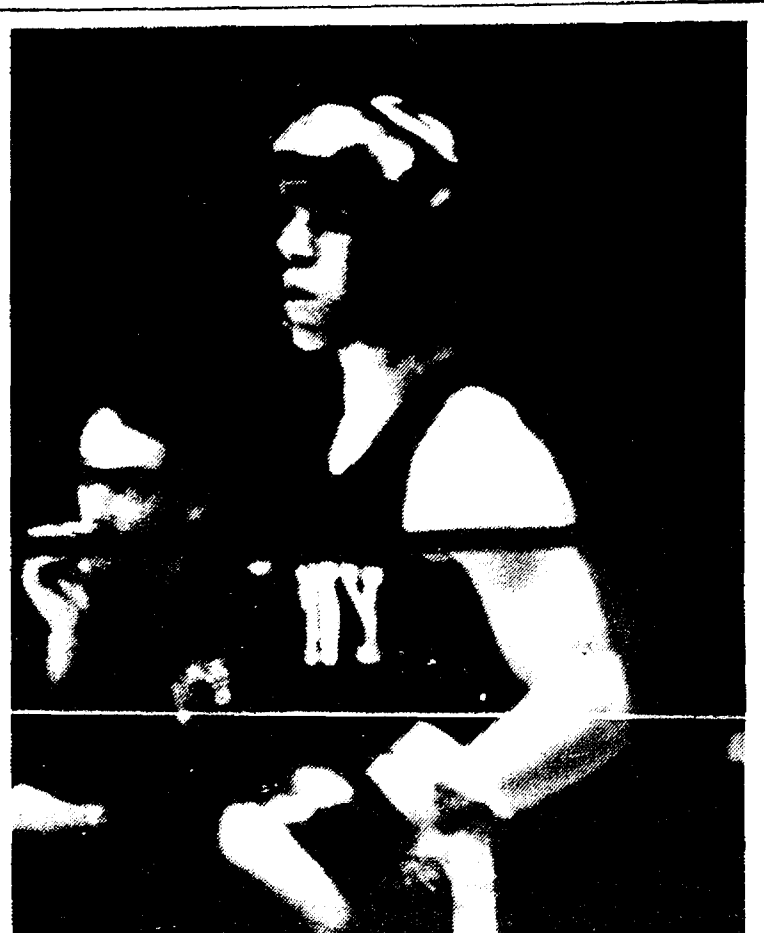

In earlier action, Brownell routed New Baltimore, 25-5, as Lisa Fromm lead all scorers with 12 points. Kelly Buchanan scored seven points, Nicole Giumetti added four and Laura Linder chipped in with two points.

The team continued its winning ways at Pierce, 28-10. Buchanan led the way with 10 points; Fromm had six. Giumetti, Debbie Miller and Linder added four points each.

The Bullets then defeated Wyandotte, 52-25, setting two school records in the process. The girls broke the previous mark for total points by any Brownell team (49) and Fromm scored a record-setting 26 points to pace the Brownell attack. Buchanan added a season-high 18 points, Linder had six points and Miller, two.

"I'm especially happy because every team member played in every game and made a contribution," Brownell coach Paul Pelterito said of the season.

It's Ensign Valente, now

That's Ensign Frank E. Valente in the boxing gear. Not only is Valente, 22, a 1982 graduate of the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., who has been commissioned to the Naval Aviation School at Pensacola, Fla. — but Ensign Valente is a pretty fair boxer as well. He won the Brigade Boxing championship in his weight class in 1980 and 1981, and was runner-up in the National Collegiate Boxing Championships in 1980, losing only to a two-time champ in the finals. Valente, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Valente, of Roslyn Road, was graduated from Notre Dame High School in 1978 and holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Engineering from the Naval Academy. His collegiate boxing experience also includes victories in the 1980 and 1981 annual "Salute of Boxing Greats" in New York City's Downtown Athletic Club. He defeated Jose Felieu, of Syracuse, in 1980 and Steve Phillis, of the Air Force Academy, in 1981. Valente's proud father says that when Ensign Valente gets his "wings" he should achieve the rank of lieutenant junior grade. (With his fine record, Ensign Valente has already achieved the rank of home town boy who has done very, very well).

Pointe netters reunite to help UNH tennis team

Grosse Pointe may not be entirely responsible, but it's one reason why the University of New Hampshire (UNH) women's tennis team has gone undefeated in the first five matches of the season. With four players in the lineup from Grosse Pointe, UNH has become an overnight hotbed for transplanted Pointe tennis players.

There's freshman Amy Walsh, technically from Birmingham, but a native of the Pointe. There are the Robinson sisters — Lee, a junior, and Julie, a freshman. And there is freshman Shelley White. These Pointers may be young, but they know their tennis. Walsh, so far the No. 1 singles player, and White, have 5-0 records. Lee Robinson is 4-1 in singles and sister Julie has combined with freshman Chris Stanton for an undefeated mark in doubles.

In five matches, UNH cruised to easy shutouts over Bowdoin and Maine. A recent 7-2 triumph over Massachusetts rates as a minor upset for the Wildcats who lost to UMass last year.

Though not from the same high school, all four Pointers knew each other through family connections and high school and club tennis competition. The exodus to Durham was not preplanned as Lee Robinson points out. "I was kind of surprised all of us ended up here," she says. "It's a real treat to have all of us here."

White calls it coincidence. After visiting with Lee last year, she made the decision to attend UNH. "I didn't realize Julie or Amy were going until I got accepted," she says.

Of course Julie was subjected to some influence. When she paid Lee a visit, Lee explains, "She just loved the school. I kind of neglected the studies and showed her a good time." Evidently the sales job worked.

In all cases, location and UNH's academic reputation were the non-athletic drawing cards. All four were anxious to leave their Midwestern environment. Lee, who's majoring in business administration, says of her precedent-setting decision, "I'd wanted to come East for a long time. I came out for the school. UNH is known in Grosse Pointe as an outstanding school."

Lee and Julie graduated from Grosse Pointe South High School. During Lee's tenure, her team won four state tennis championships. Lee played mostly doubles in high school and it wasn't until this year that she shifted to singles. "This is the best I've ever played," she says. "I took a break from tennis over the summer. Now I'm playing singles and I love it. It's more of a challenge."

Ironically, Julie was a swimmer in high school and competed in tennis only as a freshman and during the summer in club competition. She took first in the 100 breaststroke in the 1980 state meet.

Walsh was a Pointer for seven years before moving to Birmingham and attending Kingswood-Cranbrook School. Her team won its class in the state championship three years and she won the state singles championship three consecutive years.

White played four years of varsity tennis at University Liggett School where she won two state singles titles and a state doubles title.

Lee attributes UNH's initial success to a week of preseason training and the influx of new talent. "Coach McCurdy got us in shape. Plus, the new kids are definitely a factor. We're surprised with them, but this is the caliber of tennis they've been playing all along," she comments.

"Our veterans are playing very well," McCurdy indicates. "They played a lot over the summer. The freshmen have played steady so far. Over a four-year period, they're going to be very good intercollegiate tennis players."

A swim record for Robichaud

North High School sophomore swimmer Sarah Robichaud, 15, set a North record last week by swimming the 100-yard butterfly in 1:03.28 against Ann Arbor Pioneer.

Sarah, who is the daughter of Hamilton and Loretta Robichaud, of Ford Court, wasn't satisfied with her record setting time — she went on to lower that mark to 1:02.08 in a meet against Roseville Braltec.

Sarah has been swimming at the Grosse Pointe A.A.U. level for about six years. She works with swim coach Scott Teeters. Sarah is one of four North girls who will compete in the state swim meet at East Lansing the first week in December.

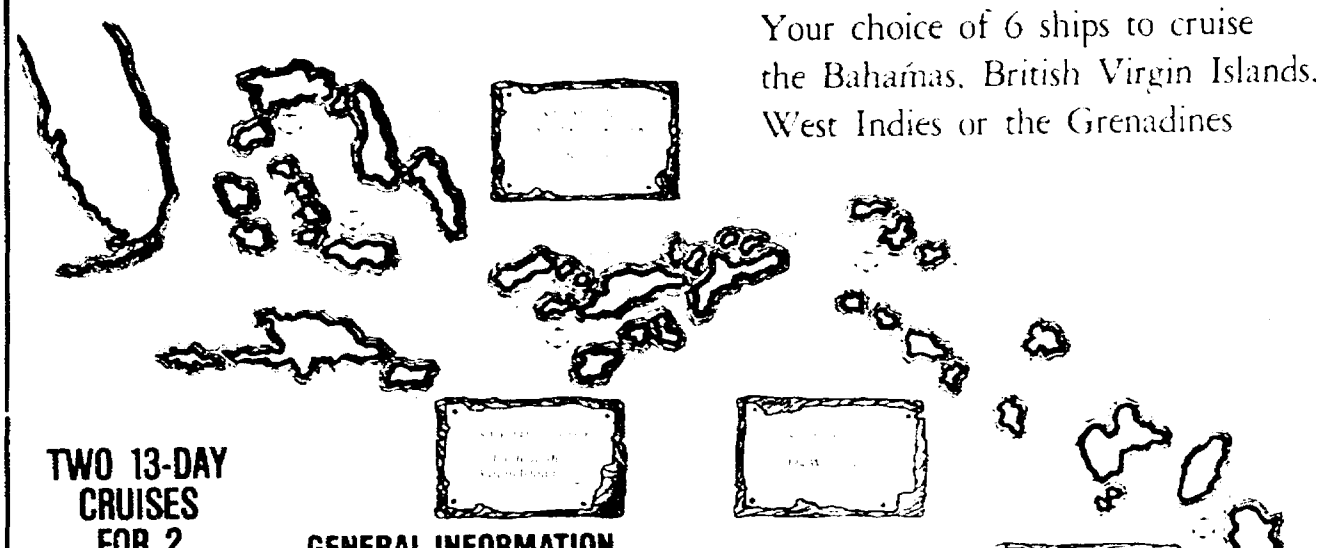

Roby is Sweet Briar star

They take their field hockey seriously at Sweet Briar College — the team placed second in the Old Dominion Athletic Conference Field Hockey Championships and was ranked 19th nationally, finishing the regular season at 6-1-0, 10-4-0 overall.

Pointer Patricia Roby takes her field hockey seriously, too. The Sweet Briar junior defender and team captain was cited by coach Jennifer Crispin for her solid defensive play. "Patsy's best season to date was instrumental in the success of this year's team."

GENERAL INFORMATION

CRUISE RATES INCLUDE: Shipboard accommodations as reserved and paid for, one class service; ocean transportation and all meals, services and entertainment as provided aboard the vessel, the ship is your hotel for the entire cruise; unlimited baggage allowance; free use of deck pads

NOT INCLUDED: Air transportation; ground transfers or conveyances ashore; gratuities; items of a personal nature or any other items not specifically stated as included in the cruise rate.

DINING & LIQUOR: Pastries & coffee for early risers; breakfast, lunch buffet or beach picnic; family-style dinner and late-night buffet. On-the-house liquor service includes morning Bloody Marys, afternoon rum swizzles and dinner wine. Popular drinks are available at ships bar at moderate prices. We regret that special diets cannot be accommodated due to limited shipboard facilities.

EMBARKATION: Board from dawn Tuesday. All ships depart mid-day Tuesday. Passengers should be on board by 11 a.m.

DISSEMBARKATION: All ships return to homeport early Sunday morning. Please arrange to disembark by dusk. We regret we cannot accommodate passengers after the cruise due to ships maintenance with the exception of old salts.

STOWAWAY NIGHT: Passengers may board at 5 p.m. Monday and "stowaway" in their cabin. A ration of grog to help you get your sea legs; dinner, accommodations, a Welcome Aboard Party with local entertainment, Bloody Marys & breakfast Tuesday are included in special Stowaway Night rate of $25 per person. (Group discounts for 12 or more.)

ITINERARY: There is no fixed schedule. Captain will adjust itinerary to take best advantage of wind & weather conditions and to insure best possible cruise. Windjammer Barefoot Cruises, Ltd. shall not be liable for any loss whatsoever to passengers by reason of any cancellation, advancement, postponement or substitution of any port of call at the uncontrolled discretion of the Ships Master, Owner, Operator, Charterer or Ships General Agent.

INSURANCE: Baggage & travel insurance is recommended. For complete protection and coverage in case of unforeseen delays, the policy should extend from date of departure from home to a minimum of two or three days after return.

VISITORS: To maintain your safety & security, visitors are not allowed on board once passengers have embarked. Your cooperation is requested on behalf of other passengers, crew and ship.

ELECTRICITY: Current on board is 110 volts AC, sufficient to accommodate electric razors.

ATTIRE: Informality is the norm aboard ship. Casual attire and/or swimwear is the uniform of the day. Dressing for dinner means putting on a shirt! Comfortable clothing & shoes are a must for going ashore, but swimwear and abbreviated shorts should be limited to the beaches.

PERSONAL FUNDS: It is recommended that passengers carry travelers checks and U.S. currency in small denominations. Personal checks cannot be cashed or accepted on board. Larger shops in port accept American Express, Visa & MasterCard.

You will receive 52 weekly issues of the Grosse Pointe News AND a chance to win a wonderful winter vacation.

SUN., NOV. 28

9-11PM NBC (8 Central/Mountain)

NORMAN MAILER'S THE EXECUTIONER'S SONG
TOMMY LEE JONES

THE EXECUTIONER'S SONG Part One. Tommy Lee Jones portrays Gary Gilmore, the convicted slayer who fought efforts to prevent his execution and met his death by a Utah State Prison firing squad in January, 1977. Based on the Pulitzer Prize-winning book by Norman Mailer, who seems to hold a great fascination for crime, punishment and violent criminals.

9-11:30PM ABC (8 Central/Mountain)
THE ELECTRIC HORSEMAN A terrific movie with Robert Redford as a city shy rodeo cowboy superstar who abhors the spotlight. Jane Fonda as a spotlight-seeking TV newshen who wants him almost as much as she wants a scoop, and Willie Nelson as, well, Willie Nelson. There is also one of the most beautiful pieces of horse-flesh seen on screen since The Black Stallion.

MON., NOV. 29

9-11PM NBC (8 Central/Mountain)
THE EXECUTIONER'S SONG Part 2

TUES., NOV. 30

9-11PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain)

MAGY'S THANKSGIVING DAY PARADE

The New York City Pageant with a colorful procession of floats, marching bands and giant balloons, a sure sign that the Yule season has arrived.

9:00AM-Noon CBS (8AM Cent./Mt.)

ALL-AMERICAN THANKSGIVING DAY PARADE A salute to the start of the holidays, with Larry Hagman and Linda Grey. Pomp and parade highlights from The Big Apple, Toronto, Philadelphia, Detroit and Hawaii.

2-4PM NBC (1 Central/Mountain)

NCAA COLLEGE BASKETBALL Live coverage of an exciting game between highly ranked North Carolina and Louisiana State University, from the Meadowlands Arena in East Rutherford, New Jersey.

3:30PM-7 CBS (2:30 Cent./Mt.)

NCAA FOOTBALL The Longhorns of Texas take on the Arkansas Razorbacks in Austin, Texas, in a fierce Southwest Conference rivalry. Texas, 14-12 winners over Alabama in the Cotton Bowl last year was ranked second in the final AP poll on the strength of its 10-1 record, but the solitary loss came at the hands of Arkansas in stunning 42-11 upset that left little doubt as to the unpredictability of outcomes in this highly competitive conference.

SAT., NOV. 27

12 Noon-7 ABC (11AM Cent./Mount.)

NCAA FOOTBALL The Tigers of Auburn take on bitter rivals Alabama in a traditional match from Birmingham. The Crimson Tide's famed Bear Bryant last year clipped the feisty upstarts led by his former student Pat Dye, 28-17, for his 315th victory and thus became college football's all time winningest coach.

3:45-5PM ABC (2:45 Cent./Mount.)

BOXING U.S.A. vs. the World

3:45PM-7 CBS (2:45 Cent./Mount.)
NCAA FOOTBALL The University of Southern California Trojans host the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame in a match-up of perennial national powers, though this year the West Coast team is on probation that precludes post-season bowl appearances. USC, which holds a strange indian sign over the Irish, will be seeking their fifth consecutive victory in this inter-sectional rivalry that dates back to 1926.

4-5:30PM NBC (3 Central/Mountain)

SPORTSWORLD World Pro Figure Skating Championship featuring Dorothy Hamill, Linda Fratianne, Tai Babilonia and Randy Gardner on tape from Capital Centre in Maryland.

WIDE WORLD OF SPORTS

SAT., DEC. 4

12:35PM-7 CBS (11:35AM Cent./Mt.)

NCAA FOOTBALL For the 83rd time the midshipmen from the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland will meet the cadets from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, New York on the gridiron in the neutral territory of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania's Veterans' Stadium. Navy leads the series 38-37-7 and will attempt to avenge Army's upset 3-3 tie of a year ago. It was in this game 19 years ago that the "instant replay" was introduced to sports television.

2-4PM NBC (1 Central/Mountain)

A great year for Pierce . . .

Led by co-most valuable players Cindy Tewes (87 rebounds) and Katy Turner (74 points), Pierce's eighth grade girls' basketball team closed the season with a 12-0 record, including two victories each over Parcels and Brownell. The team, which according to Pierce is the first to complete an undefeated season in three years, included, from left to right, (front row) Linda Gaglio, Patty Hess, Christine Eskilsen, Katy Turner, Margie Naughton, Shelly Kritzman, Erin Kershaw, Donna Leal; (back row) manager Don Berg, manager Don Berg, Chrissie Corno, Sue Griffin, Sarah Leadbetter, Cindy Tewes, Barb Van Wingerden, manager Jeff Mtry and coach Richard Benoit.

Estate Jewelry

CAN BE AS MUCH AS

80% Free!

Incredible savings this Christmas on beautiful, one-of-a-kind pieces of Estate Jewelry, starting at $150.

No matter how modest or extravagant your budget, Charterhouse has something just right for you.

After you see our Estate Jewelry, you'll understand why. The savings is so great. These pieces are made with beautiful gemstones that cost very little, and priced consistently charged very little.

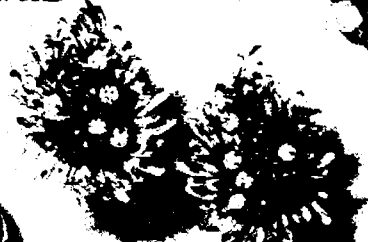

We have thousands of Estate Jewelry originals that would be very difficult and costly to duplicate today. In some cases it would be impossible.

Compare the Duplication Cost to our Estate Price and you'll find that a good percentage of each piece is free.
