It must be admitted that this year's Christmas parade in the Village was the best one seen so far. There were plenty of marching bands, fresh snow, rosy cheeks and happy kids to make the event a winner.

Special crowd pleasers included a dignified kilted bag pipe band from Birmingham, a drum and bugle corps, Grosse Pointe Theater's 50-foot green inchworm and of course, old St. Nick himself.

Grosse Pointe Cable TV looked very professional, with one cameraman working the street and another suspended above the parade in a cherry picker.

Also busy video-taping the event was Jim Bologna, of the Magnetic Sight and Sound Shop. After Santa accepted the key to the city, Jim served up coffee and an instant video replay of the festivities to dozens of frozen parade goers who stopped in to see themselves on TV.

AFTER GIVING a round of applause to the parade, let's hear a "bah humbug" for the Farms police officer who showed very little Christmas spirit at the start of the parade.

While the parade was forming at South High School, Officer "Scrooge" gave out a terse lecture and a ticket to a driver from Pointe Dodge for not having a dealers license plate on his vehicle.

"Guilty" said the driver, "but with extenuating circumstances." He explained the four wheel drive vehicle was a replacement for another truck that was acting up and due to pull a float in the parade. In fact, Pointe Dodge had donated five vehicles to pull floats. How about a break, officer? No deal.

To top it off, the same cop then wrote a ticket and delivered another lecture to Dr. Joseph Spagnoli, principal of South High School, when he drove up to catch up on some work in his office.

It's true the good doctor temporarily obstructed traffic while his son stopped to let him out of the car, but still, did it call for a ticket? Isn't justice often tempered with mercy?

Guess who's not on Dr. Spagnoli's Christmas card list this year?

WELL IT'S progress of a sort, we suppose. Martin J. "Hoot" McInerney, chairman of next year's auto show has announced that applications are now being accepted from women who would like to compete for the title "Ms. Detroit Auto Show."

"Hoot" said the title has been changed from the "Miss Detroit Auto Show" to reflect a growing preference by women for the designation Ms. instead of Miss or Mrs.

Application forms are available by phoning or writing the Detroit Auto Dealers Association, Suite 126, 3209 West Big Beaver Road, Troy, 48064. The phone number is 643-0250. Contestants must be 18 years or older and live in Michigan full time. The winner receives a $500 U.S. Savings Bond and must agree to appear at the show and make other appearances for publicity and promotion purposes.

Applications must be submitted with a 5 by 7 inch photo taken within the last six months. Deadline is Friday, Dec. 10. This could be your big chance. Don't miss out.

Community mourns Justice Moody

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Flags flew at half-staff at all state offices in Michigan Tuesday, Nov. 30, as funeral services were held for state Supreme Court Justice Blair Moody, Jr. at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Presbyterian Church.

Moody, 54, of the Shores, died Friday, Nov. 26, at St. John Hospital of heart failure after suffering an apparent heart attack the day before.

He is survived by his wife, Mary Lou; three sons, Blair III, Brian and Peter; and two daughters, Diane and Susan.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Michigan Heart Fund, the Michigan Cancer Fund and the Moody Family Scholarship Fund. He was interred in Woodlawn Cemetery.

According to reports, Moody complained of chest pains and nausea after raking leaves and cutting grass earlier Thursday. He was taken to St. John Hospital where he died the next morning at 3 a.m.

First elected to the high court in 1976, Moody had just won reelection to an eight-year term beginning in January. Before that, he served 11 years as a Wayne County Circuit judge.

Born in Detroit, Moody graduated from Calvin Coolidge High School and received his law degree from the University of Michigan in 1952. After serving in the U.S. Air Force during the Korean War, Moody returned to Detroit and worked as a trial lawyer for 13 years with the law firm Sullivan, Eames, Moody and Petrillo.

A former officer of the Michigan Judges Association and past member of the Executive Committee of the Wayne County Bench, Moody was also past chairman of the Special Corrections Committee of the Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice Planning Agency.

A FREQUENT lecturer on criminal justice, Moody was contributing author to the book, "State Trial Judges Book."

As a Supreme Court Justice Moody authored opinions that prevented drilling of oil wells in the Pigeon River Country State Forest. He had also served for two years as chairman of the Sentencing Review Committee, which devised a system for uniform sentences for crimes involving the same offense and circumstances. Supreme Court Clerk Harold Hoag said.

"I think he was proudest of his Pigeon River decision that preserved that pristine wilderness area for the enjoyment of the people of the state," fellow high court justice and Shores resident G. Mennen Williams said. "As a result, subsequent oil drilling has been conducted with greater respect for the environment."

Williams, in a prepared statement, said "in Blair Moody, Jr.'s death, the state has lost an eminent jurist and I have lost a close personal friend.

"He had a keen and analytical mind and balanced all the facts before making a decision," Williams said, adding Moody brought the most trial court experience to the high court bench.

"MY PERSONAL loss is great and intense," Williams said, adding he and Moody frequently commuted together to their Detroit and Lansing offices. He and Moody shared a "common philosophy of government and law," voting more often with each other than with any other justices, Williams said.

State fails to locate infestation

By Mike Andrzejczyk

State Agriculture Department officials said no gypsy moth egg masses were found during a walk-through search of Grosse Pointe Shores and Harper Woods early last month. But, they were quick to add that the number of moths trapped here last summer does point to a problem in the area. The state may return next year with more traps in a larger area to determine whether there is an infestation, regional supervisor Carl Dollhopf said.

"After two years running (of finding moths in traps), there's no doubt there's a problem," he said. "But we've been unable to pinpoint it. It's kind of frustrating."

GYPSY MOTHS have defoliated millions of acres of forest along the U.S. eastern seaboard and have been discovered in several areas of Southeast Michigan. The moths next in dark, unexposed areas and literally eat the leaves from many types of trees.

The state scheduled the walk-through search for moth eggs in Grosse Pointe Shores and Harper Woods after traps set last summer yielded 45 moths. Traps in Grosse Pointe Woods caught three moths, which officials said could have flown over from other areas.

"We are going to have to put more traps in the area and expand the area we trap," Dollhopf said. This year no traps were set in either the Farms or the Park. Five traps set near the Farms-Shores boundary yielded 21 moths.

The traps are very efficient, Dollhopf said. They use a pheromone stick in a triangular shaped box that can draw moths from a large area. The moths enter the trap and stick to the sides which are lined with adhesives.

Other areas trapped this year in southeast Michigan have yielded both moths and egg masses, he said. A walk-through search of Highland, where 211 moths were found in traps, yielded 100 egg masses, Dollhopf said.

The center of infestation was traced to an aluminum shed brought from New Jersey five years ago by a man, he added.

"We're dealing with relative numbers here," Dollhopf said, pointing out that one trap yielding 15 or more moths signals a probable infestation. Grosse Pointe traps in some cases yielded seven or eight moths, he added.

Because the state had no way of pinpointing where a nest may be, Dollhopf said talk about spraying the area with pesticide is premature. The Agriculture Department has funds to double-spray about 3,000 acres statewide, officials said. The searches are used to pinpoint the area of infestation to make sure there is enough spray to go around.

The most common pesticide used for gypsy moths is Sevin. While it can wipe out all the moths in the area, care must be used when spraying near water, officials said.

DOLLHOPF said the state still has time to find the center of in-

Guess what Erin Bland and daughter Kristen are waiting for? If you said the annual Village Christmas parade held the day after Thanksgiving, you're right. Once again, as in times past, thousands of persons lined both sides of Kercheval Avenue in the Village to see floats, marching bands, baton twirlers and Santa Claus himself. Schools fear cable cut

By Susan McDonald

The saying is "use it or lose it." But local educators are complaining they haven't had enough time to make good use of the educational access channel provided for them by Grosse Pointe's cable television system. And they're very worried they may lose it—soon.

The educators, from public and private schools, are protesting a proposal that would turn their cable space over to Channel 56 for a 24-hour college course series. The proposal is being considered by the Grosse Pointe Cable advisory committee, made up of representatives from five cities.

The College Cable Channel is supported by the U.S. Department of Education, Channel 56 and eight nearby colleges and universities. It's already being carried by cable systems in dozens of metropolitan area communities, according to Joann Condino of Channel 56. It offers credit and non-credit classes in business, humanities, natural and social sciences.

The local educators like the idea of college cable classes, but not on the schools' channel. They were upset last year when one of two channels on the system designated for educational access was taken over to air U.S. House of Representatives proceedings. They say the Channel 56 proposal may bring an end to all opportunities for school use of the system.

"THE LAST time they switched the channels, they didn't give us a chance to speak out about it," said Don Sloan, principal of Our Lady Star of the Sea High School. "This time, we're going to let them know what we think. I've already sent them a letter protest-

Park postpones restaurant law

By Susan McDonald

Furious residents stormed out of a Park meeting promising to remember their city leaders at election time after the council voted 4-2 to postpone the effective date of a new ordinance limiting business hours of restaurants.

The residents, less than a dozen in number, all live in the neighborhood of the Steak 'n Egg Kitchen, a 24-hour shop on East Jefferson near the city limits. The ordinance was adopted last month by the council in response to their complaints about noise, drunks and other unsavory characters at the kitchen. The new law was to take effect, Dec. 1, and would have forced all Park restaurants to close down between 2 and 5 a.m.

The neighbors were almost out-numbered at the Park's Monday, Nov. 29, meeting by representatives of Dobbs House, a Memphis-based corporation which owns some 200 Steak 'n Egg kitchens across the country. Dobbs promised to renovate the kitchen by painting, installing larger windows to open it up and increase lighting in exchange for a six-month postponement of the new ordinance. Dobbs legal counsel Diane Spears said 24-hour operation was "essential" to the economy of the restaurant. She added limiting its hours would not stop problems of disruptive behavior at the restaurant, but "changing the decor and opening the restaurant up can change the way people behave inside."

It was not the renovation, but the threat of a legal challenge to the new ordinance from attorneys representing two restaurants that apparently swayed the council. In addition to Dobbs House lawyers, an attorney for Mama Rosa's Pizzeria, on Mack Avenue, told the council the new ordinance would reduce the pizza parlor's weekend business by as much as 20 percent. Mama Rosa's is now open until 3 a.m. on the weekends.

The attorney said the ordinance "would cause an economic problem" for his client and result in "substantial loss" of revenue. Brian McMahon, of Honigman, Miller, Schwartz and Cohn, representing Dobbs House locally, said his clients "are seriously concerned about the constitutionality of the ordinance."

The council voted 4-2 to grant the extension on a motion made by Anthony Spada and seconded by John Prost. Carroll Evola and Mark Valente, III, dissented. Mayor Douglas Graham said he was concerned about the possibility of an expensive legal fight over the new law which, he said, would center around the threat to neighborhood security caused by the restaurant and the degree to which that ordinance will solve the problems.

Councilman Prost said "I don't want the city to be sued and I don't want to close Mama Rosa's down. But at the end of six months, if there are any problems remaining there, we're going to have to move."

The council's own attorney, Herold "Mac" Deason, said he was unaware that Mama Rosa's would also be affected by the ordinance when he drew it up and that fact "changes the nature of the law."

The neighbors present at the meeting were not satisfied with Dobbs House's proposed solution to the noise and disruption at the (Continued on Page 3A)

Farms meter vandalism skyrockets

By Tom Greenwood

A depressed economy and the allure of video games are apparently taking their toll on parking meters across the country. Locally, Farms Chief of Police Robert K. Ferber recently confirmed that 1982 has seen a 100 percent increase in theft and destruction of meters in the city owned parking lot behind Kercheval Avenue businesses on the Hill.

"We've had some problems with street meters, but very little compared to that lot," said Ferber. "Meter theft and destruction are up significantly for two reasons. First, people see it as an easy way to get a few bucks, maybe enough for a tank of gas. Second, kids break into meters for money for video games. Some meters are 'quarter only' machines. These incidents are on the rise all across the country."

Farms records show that since February, 1982, the city lot has had at least 55 meters damaged, stolen or destroyed. Direct repairs costs have cost the city at least $2,500 so far, according to city records. Figures on man hours spent repairing and replacing the meters were unavailable.

"The types of persons destroying the meters generally fall into two categories," said Chief Ferber. "First are local juveniles who do it for money, for kicks or to show off. Second are out of towners who specifically select the lot as a target."

Police reports also show the thieves and vandals are diverse in (Continued on Page 3A)

Group offers help for asthma victims

Families with asthma can get help coping with chronic lung disease at the American Lung Association's Family Asthma Program scheduled Thursday, Dec. 2, at 7 p.m. in the auditorium of Eastland Shopping Center located on the concourse level.

The meetings held the first Thursday of every month feature guest speakers, films, discussions, exercises and games to help children with asthma, their parents and adult asthmatics learn more about their lung disease and how to cope with it in everyday living.

At the December meeting, Bruce Dubin, D.O., will lead discussion with parents and adult members about common drugs used in the treatment of asthma, their side-effects and proper usage.

Young members will learn how to cope with the problems asthmatics often encounter during the winter months. The children will see a slide presentation on asthma and work on "Superstuff" self-help games, puzzles and riddles to reinforce the lesson.

For more information on the Family Asthma Program, or for help with any lung problem, call the American Lung Association at 961-1697.

an excellent jurist who was very fair and very patient.

"I never met a man who applied himself so fully to every task without regard to his health," Dunn said. "It's a tragedy to lose a man like that. He certainly had the respect of the trial judges."

One of the first tasks facing the court when it returned yesterday, Wednesday, Dec. 1, to Lansing was the division of Moody's caseload among the other six justices.

Another question the court may be asked to decide is who can appoint Moody's successor to the high court and how long the appointee will serve.

Gov. William Milliken has not yet announced a replacement for either Moody or Chief Justice Mary Coleman, who will retire this month. Lansing press aides said. Milliken has said he will appoint a replacement to Coleman's seat before leaving office, they added.

According to area legislators, Milliken may appoint state Appellate Court Judge Dorothy Comstock Riley to the high court. Mrs. Riley lost to Thomas Cavanaugh in November for the one open seat on the Supreme Court.

Mrs. Riley, 57, of the Farms, has served on the Appeals Court since 1976. She was reelected to a second term in 1978.

Born in Detroit, Judge Riley attended Wayne State University where she received both her bachelor's and law degrees. Following her admission to the bar in 1950, Mrs. Riley practiced law until 1956 when she became an attorney for the Wayne County Friend of the Court. She worked there until 1968.

Mrs. Riley returned to private practice with the law firm Riley and Roumell until receiving an interim appointment to Wayne County Circuit Court in 1972. She was appointed to the appeals court in April 1976, and won election to the balance of an unexpired term in November that year.

THE MOST frequently mentioned name for the other high court seat, according to area legislators, is Lt. Gov. James Brickley. How long Brickley would serve, however, is up in the air.

The term could last until the end of this year, according to some, or until November, 1984, when the appointee would run for election to the rest of the unexpired term.

Schools may face cable cut

cable television said he, too, is concerned the schools may "be forfeiting some of their time." He and the others plan to attend the advisory committee's next meeting Wednesday, Dec. 8, at 8 a.m. at GP Cable's offices in the 7-Mack Shopping Center.

Cable television officials say the proposal is under consideration because the local schools aren't using their channel and they think the college courses may be a community service in keeping with the "educational" designation of the channel.

"WE'D LIKE to see something on that channel," said Mike Reynolds, district manager for Group W Cable, which holds the Grosse Pointe franchise. "The decision will rest with the advisory committee, though. They'll judge which best serves the community."

Local educators grant that the channel isn't being used much, but also point out all the schools aren't even tied into the system yet. As of last month, four public school buildings, including North High School, did not have cable hook-ups, Schoessel said. Sloan said four of the 13 private and parochial schools still do not have cable links. University Liggett was hooked-up just last week, according to Kefgen.

"I'll admit, we haven't done much yet, but it won't improve until someone gets a chance to work on it," Kefgen said. "(This proposal) may help the colleges and Grosse Pointe Cable's pocketbook, but I think not the Grosse Pointe community. I think the community deserves one channel for the educational system."

Sloan echoed those comments. "We just haven't had enough time to develop programs. We didn't have the expertise or any equipment. We're just getting started on it and now they're talking about taking it away."

Sloan said he'd like to get students involved in making programs for cable, but that requires education of the staff and students. Kefgen envisions programming that would feature the school's dancers and dramatists and special projects and guest speakers. "In time, we will learn to develop sophisticated programs," Kefgen said.

The educators were notified of the proposed college channel in a letter from advisory board secretary John Nicholson. The franchise agreement signed by cities with Group W Cable promised to provide one educational access channel for use by area schools. The cable company also agreed to provide one free hook-up to each school building. The schools also have access to lights and a camera to make productions, but the equipment must be shared with other community access programs, according to Sloan of Star of the Sea.

No moth eggs found in area

festation before serious defoliation can occur.

The moths came to Michigan in 1972 attached to a trailer belonging to a sailor who was stationed in Connecticut, officials said. Since then, the moths have defoliated hundreds of acres of land in Michigan, they said.

Dollhopf said the infestation in the area was too light to cause defoliation in the coming year. The Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods have large stands of hardwood trees — oaks, birch and maple — which are the moths' favorite food.

The walk-through search was slated after leaves fell in November because egg masses, usually laid by the flightless female moths in late July or August, are more easily spotted. The buff-colored egg masses resemble pieces of felt attached to the undersides of tree limbs, wood piles, lawn furniture and building eaves.

Female moths favor laying eggs in dark, unexposed places, state officials said. Each egg mass, which hatches about mid-May, can contain from 100 to 1,000 eggs, they added.

Meter vandals plague Farms their methods. Some meters are attacked professionally with pipe cutters, picks and special tools used to try and pry them open.

Others are muscled out, usually with the aid of chains and four wheel drive vehicles. Once torn from their moorings, the meters are loaded into the car to be opened elsewhere. The thieves can also be amazingly brazen. One night in September, 19 meters were attacked and damaged by thieves. Of the 19 vandalized, only six collection cans were stolen. Damages paid by the city totalled $500.

"Occasionally we catch someone red-handed," said Chief Ferber. "Recently, one of our cars was on a run to Cottage Hospital, when the officer heard some noise in the lot. He cruised in with his lights off and saw two girls hurrying from the area."

"Stopping to talk with them, he noticed a meter lying on the ground, with cement still attached to the pole. The girls said three boys did it and gave the vandals' names. We brought them in and they admitted their guilt. They said they did it to impress the girls. Their parents agreed to make restitution. I understand the boys are working it off themselves. That's good, but still the damage was done."

In an effort to curtail the thefts, police are increasing their surveillance of the lot. Police are also considering putting brighter lights in the area to discourage midnight visits from would-be thieves.

"We're also adopting a tougher attitude towards vandals," said Chief Ferber. "We'll be pressing for full prosecution and restitution. This has to stop."

Christmas sing-a-long at Punch

The Motor City Theater Organ Society will present Herb Head at the console of the two-manual, six-rank Wurlitzer Organ at the Punch and Judy Theater this Sunday, Dec. 5, at 10 a.m.

The program is another of the society's free mini-concerts given the first Sunday of the month at the Punch and Judy, 21 Kercheval Avenue. This concert will feature a Christmas carol sing-a-long.

Organist Head has played many concerts at the Royal Oak Theater, Michigan Theater in Ann Arbor and the Redford Theater in Detroit. He also is well known for accompanying silent films. His specialty is playing a callopie in parades and each year he appears in Washington, D.C. for the Smithsonian Institute's annual circus tribute.

The Punch's Wurlitzer organ was originally installed in the Wurlitzer Building in downtown Detroit and later sold and installed in the Grosse Pointe Theater by Steve Bodman in 1930, according to the society. It was seldom used until 1967 when it was restored by the Motor City Chapter of the American Theater Organ Society.

The theater itself was built during the Depression by 32 prominent Grosse Pointe families, including Edsel Ford. Architect was Robert O. Derrick, the same man who blue-printed much of Greenfield Village and other early American buildings.

The Punch is still under restoration, and the society is trying to help by keeping the organ in good condition and is currently restoring the console to its original finish. Robert Mills is in charge of arranging concerts. Interested organists may contact him at 371-4027.

GPT announces Deathtrap cast

Grosse Pointe Theater's production of "Deathtrap" has been cast and is now rehearsing, with shows scheduled for mid-January, the theater announced.

Director Mary Lou Mantho said Sal DeMercurio will appear as Sidney Bruhl, Darlene Haselwood as Myra, Bob Montgomery as Clifford, Barbara Roney as Helga and Joe Rice as Porter.

Filling positions back stage will be Katherine Morris, producer; Jean Bowles, stage manager; William Heimke, technical director; Jacqueline DiSante, set designer; Jan Dall'Acqua, costumer; Francis Dall'Acqua, makeup committee chairman; and Harry Albertson, lighting director.

Set dressing, the theater said, will be handled by Sue Petz, while Don Lockwood will handle sound and Dorothy Kotcher is directing the production.

Because "Deathtrap" requires many unusual props, the theater asks the community to help the production locate an attache case, men's tennis racket cover, lantern, needlework bag, small oriental or rag rugs and assorted weapons like handguns, daggers, still-tos, axes, maces and other medieval weapons.

Any assistance with these items will be appreciated by the theater. To loan a prop, write Dorothy Kotcher, Grosse Pointe Theater, 32 Lakeshore Road, 48236.

Tickets for upcoming shows are available. The shows are: "Deathtrap," Jan. 19 to 23 and 26 to 29; "The Miser," April 6 to 10 and 13 to 16; and "Brigadoon," June 8 to 12 and 14 to 18.

For more information regarding the shows and ticket prices call or write Grosse Pointe Theater, P.O. Box 36598, Grosse Pointe City, 48236, 881-4004.

Motor City Theater Organ Society...

Motor City Theater Organ Society, a non-profit corporation, is a group of more than 400 area residents. Its purpose is to preserve and restore the theater pipe organ, in its original setting where possible, and to foster interest in its music. The society purchased the Redford Theater in order to preserve the Barton three-manual, 10-rank organ permanently in its original setting and to provide a home for the society.

All work at the theater is performed by volunteers from the membership who spend countless hours maintaining organs at the Royal Oak Theater, where the organ is owned by the society, the Punch and Judy and the Michigan Theater in Ann Arbor. Membership in the society is open to all interested individuals.

Grunyons earn radio salute

The enlightened attitude toward the arts demonstrated by the far-reaching programs of the Grunyons has been saluted over the air this week by Timeless FM-105.

The salutes will take the form of 30-second announcements throughout the day during WQRS' classical music programming. The announcements say Grunyon members have earned "A Special Place in Time" because of their activities.

Grunyon members are Dick Bourez, Ron Frederick, Bill Gard, Wood Geist, Steve Hauser, Monte Jahnke, Doug Krieger, Joe Lawrence, Jim Leese, Sandy McMillan, Charlie Parcels, Norm Perrin, John Prost, Roland Sharette, Phil Skillman and Bob Wollard.

"Special Place in Time" salutes are the result of a survey taken of the cultural assets of southeastern Michigan by Timeless FM-105. Almost 500 separate musical, dramatic, dance, painting and other artistic endeavors have been identified. These groups, and individuals within the groups, will be given "Special Place in Time" recognition over WQRS-FM Detroit.

Reporter looks at Jordan on film

"Jordan and the Desert Kingdom," filmed and narrated live by Middle Eastern correspondent Hal McClure, will be the next presentation on World Adventure Series at The Detroit Institute of Arts, Sunday, Dec. 5, at 12:30 p.m.

Jordan is the land of Lawrence of Arabia, with rugged mountains, vast deserts and nomadic Bedouins. It is a land where mighty empires have flourished and vanished, leaving behind majestic legacies such as rose-red Petra, the lost city of the ancient Nabateans, and Jerash, the Pompeii of the Middle East. There are Crusader castles and Umayyad palaces, and Mt. Nebo where Moses viewed the Promised Land.

McClure, as correspondent for Associated Press, covered this region for 13 years.

Tickets for all performances are $3, available at the door, or reservations can be made by calling ticket office at 832-2730 any day between 9:30 a.m. and 5:15 p.m.

Neighborhood Club plans Bible talk

The Neighborhood Club Biblical Literary Group will hear a lecture Monday, Dec. 6, from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. by Dean Boeck who will present an overview of the Book of Genesis. The club is located at 17150 Waterloo.

Boeck has taught courses in Biblical literature and addressed meetings of the Eden Book staff at church gatherings throughout the Detroit area. He will use visual aids during his talk, which will include the different interpretations of scripture and various tools available for the study of Biblical literature.

Coffee and doughnuts, priced at 35 cents, will be served at the end of the meeting. Reservations are recommended and may be made by calling 885-4600.

Choir members plan reunion

Alumni of the Grosse Pointe North Concert Choir (from 1971 to 1975) are planning a possible holiday reunion.

Interested alumni should contact Bill Atkinson at 881-7991 after 6 p.m. for more information.

Wigilia benefits Polish art fund

The Polish Wigilia, dinner and sharing of the Oplatek, are rituals which will be repeated in many Polish-American homes this Christmas Eve. The Friends of Polish Art are holding their annual "Wigilia" on Thursday, Dec. 16, at the Polish Century Club, 5181 East Outer Drive.

The menu consists of 10 courses including the traditional mushroom soup, pierogi, dilled potatoes and poppy seed cake. A wine punch will be served at 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 7 p.m.

There will be an exhibit of amber and a "Gifts from Poland" sales booth. The program will end with a sing-a-long of American and Polish Christmas carols. Tickets are $16 for adults and $11 for students. Proceeds benefit the Fine Arts Acquisition Fund.

For reservations call Caroline Szymanski, 922-0505, or Frances Polak, 383-5241, after 6 p.m.

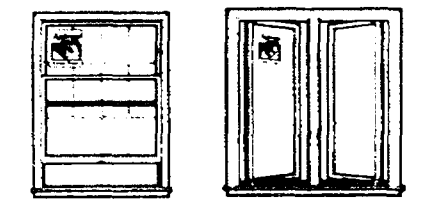

African artifacts are library topic

On Thursday, Dec. 9, at 7:30 p.m., Mrs. William Adams, of Grosse Pointe, will lecture and present more than 400 color slides about African artifacts in the Exhibition Room of the Central Library, 10 Kercheval. Several pieces of jewelry and beadwork will be displayed as Mrs. Adams describes the regions from which they originated.

Last year, Mrs. Adams displayed many of the artifacts in the library showcase. Some were crafted by early Cameroon women. Mrs. Adams will interpret what the pieces represent to their respective tribes.

Residents are welcome to attend the free lecture. A question and answer period will follow.

Capital life suits Joan

By Tom Greenwood

It was at her high school's 10-year class reunion that Joan Rashid made an interesting discovery. All her girl friends were married and still living in the immediate area.

She was single, living in another city and pursuing a career. Home is now in Washington, D.C. and she cheerfully toils in the State Department for President Ronald Reagan.

Specifically, she works in the Agency for International Development in the Foreign Aid department. She was appointed to the position last April, after working hard for the President's election.

"WHEN HE called I was more than ready," said Joan of Edmonston Road. "I've always wanted to work in foreign policy. That's what I obtained my degree in."

The daughter and granddaughter of Lebanese immigrants, Ms. Rashid attended Dominican High School and graduated from the University of Detroit. She also studied at the Sorbonne in Paris and at the American University in Beirut.

Joan works in the Near East Bureau of the State Department, dealing with countries such as Yemen, Oman, Syria, Jordan, Liberia, Tunisia, Israel, Portugal, Italy and Turkey.

Because of her background and training, Ms. Rashid is ideally suited for her job. She speaks French and Arabic fluently, and has many relatives in Lebanon.

She has visited the area several times and has a first-hand knowledge of the conflict there. "I was in Beirut in 1978 when the Syrians were shelling the city," said Joan.

"It was very, very bad. People were being killed before my eyes. I realized then what most Americans take for granted -- the peace and security our country provides. Here we can walk down the streets and not be worried about being bombed. We have security in an insecure world."

Shutterbugs meet

Members of the Grosse Pointe Camera Club will sing Christmas songs around the piano and view Sue McClain's slides of oil wells in Coalinga, Calif., before the meeting Tuesday, Dec. 7, at 7:30 p.m.

Visitors are welcome to join the group at Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte Avenue.

"I wanted to work in government as a tribute to my parents and grandparents who immigrated to America," she said. "They, and millions of others like them, entered this country pursuing the American dream. They built this land. They made the American dream come true."

Sitting in the Rashid's blue and beige living room, decorated with oriental rugs, paintings and fresh flowers, it's hard to imagine this friendly and assured young woman dodging bombs in the streets of Beirut.

"I really believe in President Reagan and his plans for dealing with the problems of the Middle East," said Joan. "He's the first American president who's really has American interests in the Middle East in mind. I think his okay for AWAC sale to Saudi Arabia over Israeli objections showed that. He wants to see all foreign troops out and then will concentrate on giving support to rebuild the area. Lebanon is an important country. It's the crossroads between the East and West."

Ms. Rashid originally moved to Washington a few years ago and worked for the Justice Department. She was also working as a lobbyist for Bendix and the Hughes Corporation when she started campaigning for President Reagan.

After she was appointed to her position, she often found herself explaining and defending the role of foreign aid to her fellow citizens.

"MOST AMERICANS get really worked up when they hear those words," she said with a smile. "What they don't realize is that most foreign aid works for this country. Only a few countries receive direct cash aid. Most obligations for foreign aid are in the form of contracts in that country with American firms. By directly handling the work over there, we're indirectly building our own economy over here."

"Most of our work deals with commodities and technology. We're building good will through development. We help them to educate and rebuild their economies."

Joan finds Washington life exciting and a real learning experience. She enjoys seeing diplomats from other countries coming to the capital and having their eyes opened to America.

"The exposure is phenomenal."

she said. "You meet people from all over the country and the world." In the course of her duties, she has met the President and treasures a photo taken of her with Vice-President George Bush.

"I enjoy being a part of it all," said Joan. "Sometimes it's disappointing when you realize how slowly change comes, or that sometimes decisions can only be made at the very highest levels of government. But when progress is made, it's a nice feeling to know I've been a part of it."

Ms. Rashid believes the President will run for re-election and win, of course. In that case, she'll stay on in her present position.

If things turn out differently, she'd like to continue her career in politics in some capacity. Just what capacity, she isn't sure.

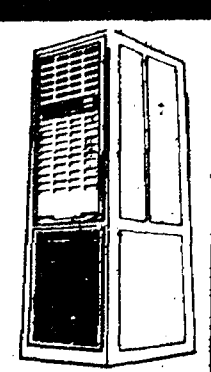

Another dream, though, is to return to Lebanon and open a children's clinic to help the orphans of the Lebanese conflict.

"I worked in that capacity when I was there earlier," said Joan. "It was a very rewarding experience. Whatever I do though, I do as an American first, last and always. I'll always do whatever I can to help my country."

Local talents combine for Christmas opera

The Christmas opera by Gian Carlo Menotti, "Amahl and the Night Visitors," will be performed at Christ Church, 61 Grosse Pointe Boulevard, Saturday, Dec. 11, at 8 p.m. and Sunday, Dec. 12, at 4:30 p.m., under the musical direction of Frederic DeHaven. Tickets are $7 for adults and $3 for students.

For further information and ticket reservations call 885-4841. Roma Riddell, leading soprano and Grosse Pointe Farms resident, will be featured. She is accomplished in the role of Amahl's mother having previously performed it with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Born in St.

John's, Newfoundland, Mrs. Riddell has been a leading soprano with the Canadian Opera Company, The CBS Opera Company, The Michigan Opera Theatre and The Detroit Opera Theatre. She has sung various major roles for stage, radio, and television. Mrs. Riddell has appeared with numerous symphonies including the Toronto Symphony and the Detroit Symphony. Opening the DSO Meadowbrook Festival in 1980, Mrs. Riddell appeared as the soloist with Neville Marriner conducting. As an accredited recitalist, she is known throughout Canada, the U. S., Great Britain and Austria.

Joining Roma Riddell in the cast will be Kevin Doss, Alan Brown and Robert Daniels, who will play the Three Kings, and Steven Mattar as their page.

Twenty-five members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra will accompany the cast. Amahl, the crippled boy, will be played by Jonathan Hill, a head chorister with the Christ Church Boys' Choir. Forty-eight members of the Men, Boys' and Girls' Choirs will fill the remaining roles as shepherds, shepherdesses and villagers.

The Christ Church Men and Boys' Choir had the honor of singing the Evensong Service at St. Paul's Cathedral, London, England, the day after the Royal Wedding of Charles and Diana. Following this European debut, the choir was in residence at Winchester Cathedral, singing all the services at that historic monument. During their European Tour, other performances included Evensong at Shakespeare's Holy Trinity Church and two cathedrals in the Netherlands. This choir along with the Girls' Choir of Christ Church, has been featured at the National Cathedral in Washington D.C., St. James in Toronto, and Christ Church, Lexington, Kentucky.

A painter of landscapes and portraits is Bob Watts of Mandan, N.D. He has been earning his living in his art for 21 years now. To apply the paint, he uses not a brush nor a palette knife, but a small wrecking bar.

Allergy Assoc. plans program

The Allergy and Asthma Information Association, in conjunction with St. John Hospital, has slated a Holiday and Christmas Allergy Program on Thursday, Dec. 9, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the St. John Hospital Education Center.

Dr. Peter Nickles will discuss allergies which are especially prevalent during the holiday season.

Children 5 years and older are invited to participate in the activities, which will include games and refreshments. There is no registration or admission charge for this meeting. For further information contact St. John Hospital's Respiratory Therapy Department at 343-3769.

This special session is one in a series presented by the Allergy and Asthma Information Association in conjunction with the hospital. If you have any other questions on allergies and asthma, the programs are presented regularly. The next meeting will be Wednesday, Jan. 12, for adults only. Please feel free to join us.

Seals support Lung Association

The first Christmas Seal was the brainchild of a Danish postal clerk in 1904. Three years later, Emily Bissell brought the idea to the U.S. to help her keep open a small tuberculosis hospital in Delaware. Emily, a social worker, designed and produced the seal hoping to raise $300. Her drive netted $3,000.

The American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan hopes to top that, and raise $635,000 this year from its Christmas Seal campaign. The seals have already been sent to more than 900,000 Detroit-area homes. This year's version depicts Santa and a little scottie pup doing their gift-giving duties.

This year the seals also feature matching gummed gift tags for Christmas gifts and mail packages. If you haven't received yours yet, call the Lung Association at 961-1697.

The seals have been helping the association for 75 years. Among the programs funded by the voluntary health agency are Family Asthma, which meets the first Thursday of each month at 7 p.m. at Eastland, and the Breathers' Club, which gathers at Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church on the third Monday of the month at 1 p.m. Other programs are "Cigarette Send-Off" smoking clinics, Camp Sun Deer for asthmatic children, and school, community and occupational services.

Community chorus sings Dec. 12

The Grosse Pointe Community Chorus will present its 31st annual Christmas Concert on Sunday, Dec. 12, at 3 p.m. at Parcels School Auditorium, at Mack and Eight Mile.

Tickets are $2 for adults, 75 cents for children and students and may be purchased at the door. A reception for audience and chorus members follows the concert.

The program will be balanced with something for all ages. Included will be the "Twelve Days After Christmas," a humorous song by Frederick Silver, Bach's "Now Let Every Tounge Adore Thee!" and Harry Simeone's "Sing We Now of Christmas."

Cottage laboratory wins accreditation

The laboratory at The Cottage Hospital of Grosse Pointe, 159 Kercheval Avenue, has been awarded a two-year accreditation by the Commission on Laboratory Accreditation of the College of American Pathologists (CAP), based on results of a recent on-site inspection.

John K. Duckworth, commission chairman, advised J. D. Langston, laboratory director, of this national recognition and congratulated him and his staff on the "excellence of services you are providing patients and their physicians." The laboratory at Cottage Hospital is one of the 3,000 CAP-accredited laboratories nationwide.

These cookies draw global fans

By Joanne Gouleche

Dickie Wendell and Pat McCarthy believe the world is ready for yet another chocolate chip cookie... the thin, crisp, kind, please.

So far, persons in Bogota, Columbia and Oxford, England agree with them. There, some natives can't wait until they nibble on a shipment of the ladies' hand-dropped chocolate chip cookies, which are attractively packaged in an old-fashioned silver tin and topped with a red-checked bow.

Other addicts in Boston, New York, Seattle, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Santa Barbara and Grosse Pointe will vouch for the same.

"I someday want to become competitive with Famous Amos," Mrs. Wendell said. "Famous Amos" is another very popular gourmet chocolate chip cookie. "The world needs another chocolate chip cookie. I think his cookies are good, but mine are better."

Mrs. Wendell began her mail order Conomo Cookie business last February after she conducted an extensive search for a partner who loved chocolate chips. The cookies are named after Mrs. Wendell's seaside summer home in Massachusetts, where she spent many days as a child.

HER SEARCH didn't take too long. Through a mutual friend, Mrs. Wendell met up with chocolate chip lover, Pat McCarthy. The two are now packaging and selling more than 5,000 cookies across the country a week.

"Initially, I got more than 16 percent response to the (direct mail) ad," Mrs. Wendell said. "That's very good for direct mail. We get a lot of repeat customers. That's proof of the pudding you have a good product."

One happy customer wrote Mrs. Wendell: "I have to put mine in the freezer (in the garage). I was going on them."

This fall, Mrs. Wendell and Mrs. McCarthy toured the "champagne circuit" of specialty store displays at several fairs around the country and made a good impression with their chocolate chip cookie, selling about 2,500 of them at such a fair in Birmingham.

So, what's in these chocolate wonders that even prompted a little girl to write, "I'll starve without them?"

Mrs. Wendell isn't telling, but says: "It was my daughter's recipe when she was 13 years old." Mrs. Wendell changed a few ingredients here and there and began sending the cookies to her children in college. It was they who encouraged her to market the cookies.

"But my main reason for getting into the business is to make money," Mrs. Wendell said. "This is strictly a business with my main objective to eventually build it up for someone to invest in."

"I want to be competitive with Famous Amos. One of the reasons I started was to make a better cookie than his."

The secret cookie batter is handdropped onto cooking sheets each week at a Detroit bakery. After baking, Mrs. Wendell picks up the cookies for packaging at a St. Clair Shores bakery where six high school students help wrap them individually and put them into the silver tins (each hold between 50 and 60 cookies).

"We use all fresh ingredients," Mrs. McCarthy said. "When they are baked, they are packaged immediately." The cookies are available in Grosse Pointe at Hamlin's and the Farms Market or tins ($16.95 each) may be ordered by writing Conomo Cookies, P.O. Box 36112, Grosse Pointe Farms, 48236.

Dickie Wendell and Pat McCarthy admit they both don't bake, but have managed to put on a few extra pounds since going into the cookie business.

"I told Dickie it's too bad we don't sell jump ropes," Mrs. McCarthy said.

Anti-freeze is danger to pets

Dogs and cats like to consume antifreeze because of its sweet taste, but it is deadly, according to the Michigan Veterinary Medical Association. The group reports that the incidence of ethylene glycol poisoning increases significantly in the fall when radiators are being drained.

The treatment of such poisoning is difficult, the association says. Symptoms are vomiting, progressive depression and coma. Death is due to uremic poisoning.

Dickie Wendell (seated) and partner Pat McCarthy look over orders for their famous chocolate chip cookies.

Eastland hosts vision forum

The Friends of Vision of the Detroit Institute of Ophthalmology in conjunction with the Greater Detroit Society for the Blind presented "Magnify Your World" Oct. 23 at the Eastland Shopping Mall.

Fair material from publishers of large print books and manufacturers of optic aids is still available, a spokesman said, at the Detroit Institute of Ophthalmology.

For more information, call 824-4710.

More than 100 visually handicapped persons attended the fair, which the Friends of Vision hope to make an annual event, a group spokesman said. Exhibitors included the Detroit Radio Information service, WDET, the Eastside Lions Club, the Greater Detroit Society for the Blind, the Grosse Pointe Braille Club, the Kresge Eye Institute and the League Goodwill.

More exhibitors included the Macomb Subregional Library for the Blind, the Michigan Commission for the Blind, the Outreach Program of the Grosse Pointe Public Library, under the direction of Helen Leonard, the Readers Digest Large Print Books and the Wayne County Library for the Blind.

Friends of Vision volunteers from Grosse Pointe who assisted at the fair included Mrs. Clare Bristol, the Shores; Mrs. G. P. Dara, the Farms; Mrs. Wallace Gasiewicz, Mrs. Philip Hessburg, Mrs. Charles Miller and Mrs. A.J. Ricca, all of the Park; and Mrs. Frieda Moehn of the City.

The Friends of Vision met Nov. 18 at 11:30 a.m. at the Detroit Golf Club, the fifth anniversary of the organization's founding. The program included election of officers for the coming year. For more information, call 885-5327.

St. Clair home care service vital link to area seniors

St. Clair Ambulatory Corp., Home Health Care Services announced last week it has joined the national celebration of Home Care Week, Sunday, Nov. 28 through Saturday, Dec. 4.

The week has been set aside to pay tribute to the dedicated individuals throughout the country whose efforts allow some four million elderly, infirm or disabled individuals to receive the health and social services they need in the comforting surrounding of their home.

"We are committed to serving the elderly and those needing care in the home, and it is gratifying that home care is being given recognition as a vital link and component of the health care delivery system," Roberta Humphries, R.N., director of Home Health Care Services said.

President Ronald Reagan signed into law the joint Senate and House Resolution creating National Home Care Week on Thursday, Oct. 14. The primary sponsors of the resolution were Senators David Pryor and Orrin Hatch and Congressmen Claude Pepper and Leon Panetta.

Senator Roger Jepsen captured the spirit of the resolution when he said: "There are thousands of families who are caring for elderly or disabled relatives who deserve this recognition. We in the Congress should take this opportunity to praise these hard-working individuals."

"In addition, we should take a moment to thank the thousands of health care professionals who provide the support services so essential to enabling families to remain together. Without this cooperative effort, many elderly and disabled individuals would be needlessly forced into a nursing home or hospital."

Statistics from U.S. General Accounting Office (GAO) indicate that nearly 12 million people over the age of 65 currently reside in nursing homes and other institutions, at an annual cost of $10 million. GAO suggests that fully 25 percent of these people could be equally well cared for in their homes at a substantial savings. Estimates are that home care costs about one-quarter of institutional care.

Home care, however, is a great deal more than an alternative to institutional care or a cost effective form by treatment. As

Congressman Pepper noted recently in an address to the members of the National Association for Home Care, the providers of home care service place "dignity and the meaning of human life, and human health and happiness, as their primary goals."

Home care has become an increasing force in the United States health care system since the enactment several years ago of legislation providing for Medicare and Medicaid coverage for many home care services. Today, home care agencies number nearly 5,000.

St. Clair Ambulatory Care Corporation, Home Health Services provides an example of the kinds of services offered to local residents. In addition to the five Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods, it serves residents of southeast Detroit and several suburbs in Macomb County. It provides a full range of services to the homebound patient including skilled nursing, physical therapy, speech therapy, occupational placement, medical social services, nutrition consultation, enterostomal therapy, electrocardiogram (EKG), and laboratory services. Additional services can also be arranged in coordination with other affiliates at the St. Clair Health Services Corporation.

In completion of its second year of operation in July, the Home Health Care Services provided care to more than 700 different patients during the year, with staff making close to 10,000 home visits to these patients.

Mary Auty-Daiuba, of Grosse Pointe, will perform a lecture-demonstration along with other members of the Detroit Dance Collective on Sunday, Dec. 5, at Wayne State University. The company performs exclusively in schools, colleges, theaters and art centers throughout the state. Tickets for the performances are $5 and may be reserved by calling 545-8055 or 546-4949. The lecture will be held in the University's Matthaei Building (Lodge at Warren) at 1 and 3 p.m.

Farms Boaters plan Yule fete

The Grosse Pointe Farms Boat Club will hold its annual Christmas party Saturday, Dec. 4, at the pier boathouse. Festivities will begin at 8 p.m.

Hot hors d'oeuvres and a night buffet will be offered. In addition, each member is asked to bring a White Elephant gift, the more outrageous the better, the group said.

Music will be provided by Walter Klein, Stelene Mazer and Gary Vasher. Hosts for the evening are Betty Anne and Ray Dresden assisted by Marsha and Gary Dysert, Billie Jacoby, Mildred Koeplin, Jean and Ed Smith, Norma and Tom Stevenson and Joyce and Bruce Cox.

Obituaries

Walter A. Wilson
Services for Mr. Wilson, 73, of the Farms, were held Wednesday, Dec. 1, at the Verheyden Funeral Home and St. James Lutheran Church, Grosse Pointe.
He died Monday, Nov. 29, in Bon Secours Hospital.
Mr. Wilson was a former vice-president of City National Bank of Detroit and a former official of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.
He was a past member and director of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club and was a member of the Crisis Club of Detroit, Grosse Pointe Lions Club and the Senior Men's Club.
Mr. Wilson is survived by his wife, Marguerite; a son, Mark; a daughter, Mrs. Judith W. Prince; one brother; two sisters and four grandchildren.
Interment was at Glen Eden Memorial Park, Livonia.

Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, in connection with the creation of articles for the Paris Table.
She is survived by two sisters, Elizabeth S. Coan, and Mrs. Harrison T. (Lucile) Watson.

Junior League hears Romney

Former Michigan Gov. George Romney and his wife Lenore spoke to a joint meeting of the Junior Leagues of Detroit and Birmingham last Wednesday, Nov. 17, at the Book-Cadillac Hotel.
The Romneys talked about senior citizens and volunteerism, both areas of concern for the Junior Leagues. Some 200 women attended the meeting.
Romney said volunteerism is in a new phase and that a combined effort is needed from the government, individuals and corporations to address the nation's problems. He added that senior citizens don't want things done for them that they can do themselves.
Mrs. Romney said that "one of the advantages of growing old is finding out how marvelous life is." She noted that seniors want to be useful, and should be given the opportunity to feel important.
"It's not what you can get out of life, it's what you give," she said.

Mrs. Marion D. Dettlinger

Services for Mrs. Dettlinger, 78, of St. Clair Avenue, were held Wednesday, Nov. 24, at the Verheyden Funeral Home and Christ Episcopal Church, Grosse Pointe.
She died Tuesday, Nov. 23, in her home.
A native Detroitier who graduated from University of Michigan in 1926, Mrs. Dettlinger was also a member of the Grosse Pointe Symphony Women's Association. She was a member of Chi Omega sorority.
Memorial contributions can be made to the All Saints Fund at Christ Episcopal Church or the Friends of the Grosse Pointe Library.

She is survived by her son, Frederick W. Jr.; a daughter, Mrs. Marion Stetson and six grandchildren.
Cremation was in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Mrs. Charlotte Schroeder Hoag

Private services were held recently for Mrs. Hoag, 82, of Neff Lane, a longtime resident of Grosse Pointe.
She died Friday, Nov. 19, in Bon Secours Hospital.
Widow of the late Frank Stevenson Hoag, Mrs. Hoag was active for many years in the affairs of

Swift punishment key to drunk driving laws

Alcohol involvement in Michigan highway deaths should continue to increase despite new state drunk driving laws unless police raise arrest rates and prosecutors and judges properly punish offenders, according to a study released recently by the Automobile Club of Michigan.
The study — "Under the Influence" — points out that the percentage of fatal traffic accidents involving alcohol in Michigan is increasing an average two percent annually and estimates that 917 persons could be killed by drinking drivers in 1982.

We do not believe that alcohol-related traffic deaths will decline until flaws in the present system are corrected to ensure that drinking drivers receive swift and certain punishment," stated Auto Club President Jack Avigone.
The 55-page report suggests more effective ways police, prosecutors and judges can handle the drinking driver problem. Copies are being sent to legislators, judges, prosecutors, law enforcement agencies and others who deal with this problem.
Recommendations include increased use of police selective enforcement, more enforcement of laws against selling alcohol to minors and less use of plea bargaining by prosecutors in repeat offender cases.

The study also recommends that judges use a driver's blood-alcohol content (BAC) in determining sentencing and or treatment, and it calls for the establishment of a statewide computerized court records system.
In 1981, Michigan's 24,000 police officers issued 55,000 tickets for drunk driving, or only 2.2 per officer. At that rate, it is estimated that only one in 2,000 drunk driving offenses is ever detected.
Selective enforcement teams would concentrate at high-accident areas on weekends and between 9 p.m. and 3 a.m. when most alcohol-related fatal accidents occur. A special selective enforcement program in Oakland County in 1980-81 resulted in a 30 percent increase in the number of drunk driving arrests over the previous two years.

The study further recommends that prosecutors eliminate the practice of allowing repeat alcohol-related offenders to plead guilty to lesser charges.
Of the 1,273 drunk driving cases the Auto Club studied, only 21 percent resulted in convictions on the original charge, while the remainder were allowed to plead guilty to lesser charges.
A statewide link-up would enable other courts and police to know if a person has a similar case pending elsewhere and would provide a clue to a driver's drinking habits.
Michigan's new drunk driving laws are expected to take effect in April 1983. They create a 23-member task force to recommend further legislative changes.
Those legislative recommendations include: administrative confiscation and suspension of a driver's license, with right of appeal, if an arrestee registers a BAC of .10 percent or more, and allowing on-site breath test results to be used as legal proof of BAC.
Other recommendations are a requirement that drunk driving charges not be reduced to less than driving while impaired; that an original alcohol-related charge be noted on a person's driving record if convicted of a reduced charge; requiring Alcohol Highway Safety Classes to be taught by certified alcohol counselors, and requiring mandatory BAC tests for all drivers in fatal accidents.

Local artists show their work

Among Grosse Pointe Artists Association members who took part in the recent open house and student show at the Center for Creative Studies were Wanda Warezak, whose drawing was selected for display, Carol Sinclair, whose drawing and painting were chosen, and Heather Bokram, who demonstrated painting techniques.
Ms. Sinclair previously won third place in painting at the Michigan State Fair where she exhibited with Pat Penoyer, Mary Louise McCarroll and Zena Carneghi.
Local artists who exhibited works at the Scarab Club's 39th annual water color show, juried by Reader's Digest artist Lita Engle, were Edna Bakewicz, George Howell and Jerry Crowley.

When we think of family holidays, we think of Thanksgiving and Christmas. A card for a birthday, a call on Mother's Day, a plant at Easter — that's okay. But on Thanksgiving and Christmas, we want our family with us. These are the two holidays when family ties are renewed and we once again become whole. We relive the times we were together in one house sharing the joys and problems of family life. We remember how each of us took such an interest in the affairs of the other and when one had a problem, we operated as a unit.

Laughing and talking and sharing experiences, we realize that while we may be separated, we rejoin into a circle of oneness on these occasions. Only now the circle has enlarged to include wives and husbands and grandchildren and that makes it even better.

As we look around we are warmed and strengthened by the love and loyalty of those who are forever a part of our being. Their presence assures us that we are never alone. Even when they depart to go to their own homes until we gather again, we know that although they may be a distance away, they are standing by.

HAVING A family come home for Thanksgiving is a wonderful event. It is a joy to revert to the role of chief cook. Small utensils are put away and out comes the roasting pan big enough for the biggest turkey available. Super-sized kettles are brought back into service to cook potatoes by the peck and halfcans of vegetables. And don't forget to bring up the giant mixing bowl from the basement and a large bag of onions to make the dressing. Dig out the special recipes for the never-to-be surpassed mince pie with a secret ingredient and the one for the creamy pumpkin pie made from a family recipe. The cakes are frosted and batches of cookies are brought out from their tin where they have been stored.

You want them to eat it all. "Don't leave a crumb," you pray. "Show me that I haven't lost the touch."

Well, they don't eat it all. "It's just one family," they quip. "We're not an army."

When the dinner is over, the children excuse themselves to go to play. "Quiet games please," we suggest. The grownups stay on at the table, exchanging reminiscences, bringing us up to date on their "happenings," throwing out feelers on future ambitions. Gradually family talk veers off to all kinds of discussions — politics, the state of the world, football.

THERE ARE others who are alone who would be happy to share a holiday with you. It may not be on the day itself but it will be close enough to put you in the spirit of it. Churches and organizations throughout the area schedule dinners and parties not only for those who are alone but for everyone. By attending them, if you have a family you get to celebrate the day twice. You can't have too much of a good thing.

Over at St. Clare for instance, there were two parties for members of the Senior Citizens Club. One was a chicken dinner which the club had catered and served in the Social Hall. The other was sponsored by the parish. St. Clare has an active senior citizen group according to Vera Pashy, president. They meet every Monday for cards and refreshments in the Parish Hall. When they come together for special occasions, they know each other well because they have spent so much time together. Occasions for them are almost like family gatherings.

Such gatherings as these are actually more in keeping with the spirit of the first Thanksgiving. That was a family gathering, yes, but not just one family. There were many who had become bound together by hardship as they made their way across the perilous ocean to the wilds of the unknown. And there were strangers present who were there before them, people different from any they had known, frightening at first but later valuable allies in wrenching a livelihood from a land that was to be their home and that of their children.

THE WINTER of 1620 when the ship Mayflower brought the Pilgrims to Plymouth was bitter. They knew hunger and sickness carried away half of the band of 100 settlers and this was after a long hard trip.

Governor Bradford in his account of the voyage wrote: "In several storms, the winds were so fierce and the seas so high that they had to drift under very short sail for a number of days."

He continues with the story of their long journey by sea, how they fell among dangerous shoals and roaring breakers before they finally arrived in good harbor where they fell upon their knees and "Blessed the God of heaven, who had brought them over the vast and furious ocean to set their feet on the firm and stable earth."

He goes on to write about how lacking houses and comforts, sick with scurvy and other diseases, half died. Of the 50 who stayed alive, barely seven were well at one time. These few got wood, made fires, cooked food, dressed and undressed the sick. They did all this willingly and cheerfully, showing their true love for each other.

As we read Bradford's story, we realize that Thanksgiving is more than food and family. It represents a spirit of caring and sharing with others besides those who are part of our immediate family.

Thanksgiving can be a day also, to rekindle confidence in ourselves and our country. We think times are hard now and the future is bleak, consider the hardship that those who settled this country endured and how they triumphed over hunger and sickness.

FACED WITH almost insurmountable odds, they made life better. They sowed seeds, they built houses, they made friends with the Indians. In 1621, just one year after they landed, they succeeded in making a wilderness a home and a holiday was decreed — the first Thanksgiving.

After that first New England Thanksgiving the custom spread throughout the colonies but each region chose its own date. In 1789, George Washington proclaimed November 26 a day of Thanksgiving.

But it was many years before Thanksgiving became a legal holiday and it took a woman to bring that about. Sara Josepha Hale, editor of Godey Lady's Book was responsible. For more than 29 years she wrote letters to the governors and the presidents asking them to make Thanksgiving Day a national holiday. President Lincoln issued a proclamation calling on the "whole American people wherever they live — north, south, east or west — to unite with one heart and one voice in observing a special day of Thanksgiving. With this proclamation, America became the first country in the world to designate that day a national holiday.

Setting apart the last Thursday of November for the purpose, President Lincoln urged prayers in the churches and homes to "implore the Almighty hand to heal the wounds of the nation and to restore it — to the full enjoyment of peace, harmony, tranquility and union."

This plea for peace was made at a time in history when countries were isolated and not interdependent as they are now. In today's shrunken universe there is a need for unity as there was then within our country, if we are to survive.

As we gathered with our family or friends or both, there was certainly much to think about and to be grateful for.

Investor's guide to a happier April 15

By Dean W. Crowder, III

"Anyone may so arrange his affairs so that his taxes shall be as low as possible," decreed Judge Learned Hand. "He is not bound to choose that pattern which will best pay the Treasury; there is not even a patriotic duty to increase one's taxes."

Taxes have been the subject of debate, jokes, concern and consternation for as long as they've been reluctantly paid. April 15 has earned a place in the consciousness, if not the hearts, of Americans since the 16th Amendment was ratified in 1913. And yet, with all the experience and knowledge that people have acquired since that infamous date, many of us continue to pay more taxes every year than are required by law.

Many individuals have heard of tax advantaged investments but somehow believe they're for other people whose financial acumen is exceeded only by their battery of lawyers and accountants. All are losing money every year. It is money that could be put to better use — especially in times of inflation.

Death and taxes, while certainties, do not necessarily have to be synonymous. The government established our tax laws with certain provisions that encourage investment in areas deemed beneficial to our country. So, what are those investments?

MUNICIPAL BONDS reward those who purchase them by paying income exempt from all federal taxes. And municipal bonds also offer safety that's generally considered second only to that of U.S. Government Securities.

QUALIFIED UTILITY STOCKS, under the 1981 tax legislation, present the opportunity to avoid paying income taxes on up to $750 a year ($1,500 if you file jointly) of newly issued stock acquired through the dividend reinvestment plans of qualifying utilities.

TAX-DEFERRED ANNUITIES enable you to avoid paying taxes on the returns they provide until you choose to spend them. They also provide a steady stream of future income that cannot be outlived by their owners. Annuities also provide a guaranteed rate of return that's declared annually, with no immediate income tax.

IRA'S (Individual Retirement Accounts) now allow every working American to set forth money toward his retirement whether or not he or she is covered by his employer. IRA's set a maximum contribution limit of $2,000 ($2,250 for a non-working spouse) per year that is a straight deduction against ordinary income.

TAX SHELTERS offer income, growth and tax deductions. Whether you're seeking long-term capital gains, tax-favored income or an immediate reduction of your tax liability, there is a tax-sheltered limited partnership that's right for you. Many real estate partnerships offer very high tax free income coupled with excellent growth potential as an inflation hedge.

So, make a conscious effort to reduce your tax burden this year by readjusting your own investment portfolio. Perhaps you have the bulk of your money tied up in certificates of deposit or money market funds which are both 100 percent taxable investments. Remember, diversify your holdings into safe tax advantaged investments which will offer you the highest after-tax income available. Make an effort to increase your income through tax-advantaged investments and rest better next April 15th.

Dean W. Crowder III, is an Account Executive with E.F. Hutton & Co. in Detroit and is available to answer your questions either by mail or phone. 259-8500.

Santa on Parade

It must have given old Santa a pretty warm feeling inside to see everyone turn out to see him last Friday. While he was warm inside, it was hard to tell with the crowd and marchers striding through the year's first snowfall. Among the more popular participants in the parade were a Celtic bagpipe band from Birmingham and a 50-foot green polka-dotted inchworm sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Theater. Traditionally bringing up the rear, Santa Claus waved to all the kiddies and accepted the key to the city from City Mayor David Robb. Incidentally, there's only 23 days until Christmas!

Woods Survey

Residents are worried about blight

By Barbara Greenough Acker

Recently released results of a Nordhaus Research, Inc. survey revealed that the majority of Grosse Pointe Woods residents are concerned with "urban blight" along the Mack Avenue corridor.

In addition, more than half of the residents surveyed would like to see additional stores in the Seven Mile and Mack Shopping Center.

A lack of store variety, as well as a lack of high quality stores, were cited as reasons for not shopping at the Seven-Mack Center.

Approximately half of the city's residents feel there is a lack of adequate parking in the north Mack area and one in four respondents said they shop elsewhere partially because of the parking problem, according to the survey.

However, only three out of 10 said they wanted to see some of the residential area rezoned for parking in the north end area. But of those who do shop elsewhere, 62 percent replied they would favor a rezoning of the area.

What does all this mean to residents, city officials and St. John Hospital, which announced last spring that it will exercise its option to buy the Seven-Mack Shopping Center over the next five years?

The survey was requested by the Woods Community Development Block Grant Advisory Committee to evaluate some of the projects initiated on Mack Avenue and to select future projects for the area. The committee views any improvements done to the Seven-Mack area to be considered a "blight prevention project," according to Gerard McNamara, Woods administrative aide.

FUNDS FOR the survey and community improvements are provided by the Community Development Block Grant Program, which is administered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

A total of 500 telephone interviews were conducted among Woods residents from Sept. 22 through Sept. 24. A quota sample was obtained to insure demographic representation according to such factors as age, sex and ethnic makeup of the Woods.

Citing a four part commercial study to test the market for possible developers at the Seven-Mack area, McNamara said that urban blight has been progressing for 30 years. "In order to halt the blight, you have to present to the public that things are constantly changing along Mack Avenue," said McNamara.

The rezoning of the area as a high density city center district is the first step in preventing blight, he added. The new zoning allows for commercial retail and office buildings, including restaurants, bars and service industries.

McNamara said that too much space is being taken up by ground level parking. A visit to the area revealed a crowded rear parking lot, but fairly empty stores. Since the Nordhaus survey revealed a desire for additional parking by residents who do not shop at Seven-Mack, but would if parking were available, a parking structure would solve the limited space and parking problem he added.

ALTHOUGH St. John Hospital would need to indicate a willingness to somehow contribute to the structure, McNamara said that a multi-level parking structure would pay for itself and leave more ground space available for future development.

L. Michael Smith, vice president, corporate development at St. John Hospital, had not seen the survey results, but said that the hospital's current construction plans were on schedule. A parking structure under construction on the west side is due to be completed in February and will take some of the pressure off the parking situation for Seven-Mack shoppers. It has not yet been decided if the garage will be open to the public, Smith added.

SOME OF the desires expressed in the survey are currently being met, according to McNamara. The facade zone improvement program, involving Detroit, St. John Hospital, the Farms and the Woods has already begun and is evidenced by the newly-planted trees in front of the Sears building. The beautification of the area from the front of the building to the curb will extend along Mack Avenue from Gateshead in Detroit to the AAA building in the Woods. Funds will be provided by the CDBG program and the hospital.

CITY OF Grosse Pointe Farms MICHIGAN NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING AMENDMENT TO ZONING ORDINANCE

WHEREAS, it is hereby given that the Council of the City of Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan, at its regular meeting on Monday, December 20, 1982, at 8:00 p.m., in the City Hall, after a public hearing concerning the adoption of Ordinance No. 192, as amended, and the City Council's intent to amend the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan, as amended, is as follows:

THE CITY OF GROSSE POINTE FARMS ORDINANCE:

Section 1. Article V of the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan, as amended, enacted July 16, 1973, is hereby amended to read in its entirety as follows:

ARTICLE V

RC ONE-FAMILY ATTACHED RESIDENTIAL CLUSTER OPTION

PURPOSE:

The RC One-Family Attached Residential Cluster Option is intended to provide design flexibility for those areas where the conventional one-family lot subdivision approach would otherwise be restrictive. It is the intent of this Section to provide an option for the development of areas where natural features would be destroyed from conventional subdividing of property. It is the further intent of this Section to introduce a housing form which will be compatible with the low-density single-family pattern throughout the city.

SEC. 500:

One-family attached residential clusters are permitted on parcels of 5 acres or more located in the R-1-AA District when the City Council determines that such development has advantages over a single family subdivision development. Property located in the R-1-AA may be approved for cluster development, if the City Council finds that at least one of the following conditions exists:

- 1. The depth and/or width of the property makes normal subdividing difficult.
2. The parcel contains acute angles which make normal subdividing difficult.
3. The parcel contains natural assets which could be preserved through the use of cluster development.
4. The cluster option will allow flexibility in the design and placement of open space for a sound physical transition from adjacent major thoroughfares.

An application for a cluster development shall not be approved by the City Council if:

- 1. The City Council finds that the proposed development would be contrary to the health, safety and general welfare of the developed and established residential areas in the immediate vicinity; or
2. The City Council finds that the proposed development would be contrary to the purpose of the cluster option, which is to maintain natural areas, topography, and open space characteristics in a given area.

If the City Council finds that a parcel qualifies for cluster development, the minimum yard setback, lot sizes and side yard areas may be permitted subject to the regulations incorporated in Article VIII and the following:

- 1. The units may be attached only through a common party wall which does not have over common wall abutting dwelling wall, or by means of an architectural wall which does not form an interior room space or through a common party wall in only the garage portion of the abutting structure. No other common party wall is permitted.
2. The maximum number of units attached in any cluster grouping shall not exceed four (4).
3. The City Council shall find that all proposed projects are adequately served by all public utilities or shall require that all proposed projects be provided by the developer with adequate service of all public utilities.

SEC. 501. SITE CONSIDERATION

The cluster development shall comply with the following provisions:

- 1. A landscaped greenbelt, at least 50 feet in width, shall be provided on those sides abutting One-Family Residential Districts for a physical transition. Where necessary, a berm or decorative screening shall be erected or maintained in this greenbelt area. Said greenbelt may be used in area computations in establishing density. The design of the berm and the accompanying landscape plan shall be prepared by a Registered Landscape Architect.
2. No structure shall be less than 50 feet from a perimeter lot line and off-street parking shall not be permitted within 50 feet of such perimeter lot lines.
3. Access roads and service drives may be developed as private roads. Where the City Council finds that a road through the development area is required to be dedicated to the public to provide continuity to the municipality's street system, such road shall be dedicated as a public road. All public roads shall be excluded from the land area used to compute density.
4. No unit in a cluster abutting an existing recorded subdivision zoned as a One-Family Residential District shall be less than 100 feet from the property line of the One-Family Residential District.
5. Two fully enclosed parking spaces within buildings constructed of the same material as the cluster units shall be provided for each unit.
6. To the extent possible, all natural features of the property such as large trees, natural groves, watercourses and similar assets that add attractiveness and value to the property and will promote the health and welfare of the community shall be preserved.
7. At least 2 trees per unit shall be provided. Said trees shall have at least a 3 inch caliper measured 1 foot above the ground.
8. Sidewalks shall be provided along all roads and in any areas where the City Council finds necessary to insure pedestrian safety.

SEC. 502. PRELIMINARY PLAN

The sponsor of a cluster development shall submit copies of a preliminary plan with a written application to the Building Department. The preliminary plan shall be drawn to scale and show the arrangement of dwelling units, streets and open space. Dimensions of these elements shall be shown but may be approximated. It is the intent of this section that the preliminary plan be done in sufficient detail to permit planning review and yet not require precise engineering plans. The Building Department of the City Council may require alterations to be made in the preliminary plan if necessary to carry out the intent of this section. The preliminary plan shall include the following:

- 1. An overall map showing the parcel and surrounding property within one-half (1/2) mile of the parcel including major and secondary streets.
2. Property and lot lines and public and private streets of adjacent tracts of subdivided and unsubdivided property within 100 feet of the proposed development.
3. Location of existing sewers, water mains, storm drains and other underground facilities within or immediately adjacent to the proposed property.
4. Topography drawn at 2 foot contour intervals, preliminary landscaping plans, and all computations relative to acreage and density.
5. The Building Department and/or City Council may request typical building elevations and floor plans and any other details which assist in reviewing the proposed plan.

The sponsor shall submit a written statement regarding the following with his preliminary plan:

- A. The identity of persons who will hold title to open land
B. The identity of persons who will pay taxes.
C. The proposed method of regulating the use of open land and the persons or corporations responsible for maintenance.
D. The proposed financing for the maintenance and development of the property.

3. Upon receipt of all the necessary material and plans, the Building Department shall review all the details of the proposed plan to determine compliance with the zoning ordinance. The Building Department shall submit a report to the City Council stating the manner, if any, in which the proposed development does not comply with the provisions of the zoning ordinance.

Upon completion of the Building Department Analysis, the Plan shall be submitted to the City Council for review. After reviewing the preliminary plan, the City Council may require the sponsor to submit detailed plans showing detailed building locations, final topography drawn at 2 foot contour intervals, all computations regarding acreage and density, further details relating to proposed berm and access areas, landscaping, typical building elevation and floor plans, driveways and parking and all other items which the City Council deems necessary for its final review.

If the City Council is satisfied that all necessary plans and materials have been submitted, it shall set a public hearing to determine if the parcel may be developed as a cluster.

SEC. 503. Public Hearing

After a public hearing is scheduled, a notice of the application shall be published in a newspaper with general circulation in the City of Grosse Pointe Farms and shall be certified mail to the owners of the property subject to the application, to all persons to whom real property is assessed within 300 feet of the boundary of the property in question, and to the occupants of all structures within 300 feet. The notice shall be given not less than 5 and not more than 15 days before the application will be considered at a public hearing. The party making the application shall cause this notice to be given. The notice shall set forth:

- A. The nature of the development, use, structure, or activity for which the application has been made;
B. The property which is the subject of the application;
C. The time and place of the public hearing to be held to consider the application;
D. The time and place written comments will be received concerning the application.

2. After considering the application at a public hearing, the City Council shall approve the request if in addition to meeting the requirements of Sections 500 and 501, it finds that the proposal complies with the following standards:

- A. The proposed cluster development will be compatible with adjacent land uses, the natural environment and natural resources, and the location of public services and facilities affected by the proposal;
B. The proposed development will promote the use of land in a socially and economically sound manner and maintain the character of the area;
C. The proposed development is consistent with the public health, safety, and welfare of the residents of Grosse Pointe Farms.

3. The City Council may approve with conditions the application. The City Council's decision shall contain a statement of its conclusions and shall specify the basis for the decision and any conditions imposed. Conditions imposed shall be reasonable, and shall be designed to insure that the standards set forth in this article are met. These conditions may include but are not limited to increasing the required lot or required yard sizes, limiting the height of buildings, controlling width, increasing the number of off-street parking spaces, and requiring fencing, screening and landscaping to protect nearby property values.

To insure compliance with this Ordinance and any conditions imposed hereunder, the City Council, Board of Zoning Appeals or Director of Public Service may require the posting of a cash deposit, letter of credit, or surety bond, covering the estimated cost of improvements, to be deposited with the City Clerk to ensure completion of the improvements.

4. The developer shall record a statement of restrictive covenants, including all conditions imposed by the City Council, with the Register of Deeds for Wayne County. The developer shall submit the statement to the City Attorney and City Council for review prior to recording. Upon approval by the City Council, the restrictions shall be recorded and become binding upon persons owning lots in the development. Said restrictions shall include but not be limited to:

- A. A specified time period for development. Failure to begin construction within 12 months of approval of the development by the City Council shall make the approval null and void unless an extension is requested, in writing, by the applicant and the request is granted by the City Council.
B. A provision that the property owners shall pay annually their pro rata share of the cost of maintenance of common areas, private roads, streets, sewage and water systems, if any. Such annual assessments shall accrue for the benefit of all owners and may be enforced jointly and severally by other property owners in the development. A provision requiring each property owner to maintain and keep his or her home in good repair and in conformity with standards established for the development.

5. A fee shall be paid at the time an application is filed with the Building Department, in the amount established by the Building Department and approved by resolution of the City Council.

Section 2. Article XIII of the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Grosse Pointe Farms, being Ordinance No. 192, enacted July 16, 1973, is hereby amended by changing the maximum percentage of lot coverage for all buildings in the RC District from 35% to 25% and by revising the minimum floor area dwelling units in the RC One-Family District as incorporated in section (g) to read in its entirety: "shall conform to One-Family Residential District", and by revising sections (c), (d) and (e) to read in their entirety as follows:

- (c) The density of the total development shall not exceed 4 dwelling units per acre, excluding public roads.
(d) No cluster unit shall be nearer to a street right of way than 25 feet. If the unit abuts Lakeshore Drive the setback shall be equal to at least 75 feet.
(e) Each cluster of attached dwellings shall be located at least 20 feet from every other cluster of attached dwellings, measured between the nearest point of said groupings. No cluster unit shall be located less than 50 feet from a one-family residential boundary, provided, however, that if the cluster abuts an existing recorded subdivision zoned as a one-family residential district, it shall not be less than 100 feet from the boundary. No cluster unit shall be located less than 30 feet from a non-residential district boundary.

Section 3. Except as amended herein, Ordinance No. 192, as heretofore amended, shall remain in full force and effect.

Section 4. This Ordinance shall take effect twenty (20) days after its enactment or upon its publication, whichever is later.

Such Public Hearing shall be held in the Council Chambers of the City Hall, 80 Kirby Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan (telephone 885-6600). The hearing will be Public. Interested property owners or residents of the City are invited to attend.

Liggett hosts open house

University Liggett School will host an open house on Sunday, Dec. 5 from 2 to 4:30 p.m. for members of the greater Detroit community. Both campuses will be open - pre-kindergarten (ages 3 and 4), lower division and upper division, at 1045 Cook Road, and middle division (grades 6 to 8), at 850 Briarcliff Drive.

Activities will include visits with students, faculty, administrators and parents. Refreshments will be served.

Students attending ULS come from metropolitan Detroit areas (as far away as Port Huron, Windsor, Ontario, Dearborn and Southfield) and transportation is available for communities including Mt. Clemens, St. Clair Shores, Palmer Woods, Steving Heights, Fraser and downtown Detroit, according to the school. Financial assistance programs also are available to enable students to attend ULS. An extended day program is offered for lower school students, primarily to assist working parents.

University Liggett School is a co-educational, college preparatory, day school located in Grosse Pointe Woods with students enrolled in pre-kindergarten through 12 grade. Curriculum is designed for students of average and above average ability, also providing learning opportunities for students to progress at their own rates, according to a spokesman. Classes average 15 in number, and there is a one to 10 teacher student ratio.

ULS admits students of any race, color, national and ethnic origin to its programs and activities, the school said.

For further information, contact Ethel Burwell, admissions coordinator, at 884-4444.

Novice debaters capture title

The University Liggett School novice debaters ended their Chippewa Valley Novice Debate League season with a very strong record of 11 wins and three losses, earning them the first place trophy and league championship, the school said.

North math students compete

Nineteen North High School mathematicians qualified to participate in Part II of the Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition on Dec. 8, according to the school.

The competition is sponsored by the Michigan Section of the Mathematical Association of America and is designed to foster a wider interest in mathematics, to focus attention on the necessity for mathematical training in most professions and trades, and to identify and provide scholarships for capable mathematics students in Michigan.

Competition funds include contributions from the Burroughs Corporation, Michigan Bell, the Kuhlman Corporation, and the Michigan Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

Students qualifying this year include William Aro, Douglas Bastianelli, Eric Cholack, Thomas Cobau, Amelia Dugan, Steve Dunn, Elizabeth Graf, Joseph Haas, Bradley Heavner, Michelle Krembel, Jennifer Kuzel, David Loren, John Panourgius, Ronald Pascoe, Mark Przelawski, Alex Rothis, Lucinda Sartor, Michael Skaff and Matthew Ward.

Nine of North High School's top mathematicians recently participated in the 25th annual Santa Clara Mathematics Examination. The examination is open only to regularly enrolled students in high schools of the United States and Canada or American schools abroad, who have not received a high school diploma.

The examination tests general mathematical potential and ingenuity. An attempt is made to keep the amount of formal knowledge required for this test as small as possible so that all interested students, regardless of their year in school, have an opportunity to compete successfully. Prizes are awarded to the top two entrants, and an honorable mention list is also published.

Students participating from North High School this year include Greg Browning, Suzanne Francis, Elizabeth Graf, Bradley Heavner, Jennifer Kuzel, Ronald Pascoe, Alex Rothis, Kemal Saglik and Michael Skaff.

Parcels Yule bazaar Dec. 4

Parcels Middle School will sponsor its ninth annual holiday bazaar on Saturday, Dec. 4, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The bazaar will feature two floors of handicraft in needlework, ceramics, jewelry, paintings, flower arrangements and baked goods. More than 150 dealers from southeastern Michigan, Ohio and Florida will display their wares. Also featured will be a selection of holiday gifts in all price ranges.

A light lunch will be available beginning at 11:30.

Funds raised by the PTO sponsored bazaar will be used to supplement and enrich educational programs.

Parcels Middle School is located at the corner of Mack Avenue and Vernier Road in Grosse Pointe Woods just east of I-94. For information call 343-2104.

Board accepts $8,000 in gifts

The Board of Education recently accepted more than $8,000 in gifts from Maire and Monteith school parent teacher organizations.

The Maire PTO donation of $6,505 will be used to purchase, among other items, two Commodore PET microcomputers for $1,950 and literature books for grades one and two for $500.

The Monteith PTO donation of $2,100 will purchase carpeting for small areas within several classrooms at the school. The carpeting will achieve the effect of a room partition within the classrooms for use by a small study, readings, language or study group, according to administrators.

The school board must approve gifts to the school system if they are more than $500.

Choral Society sings Handel

The University Liggett School Choral Society as part of traditional Christmas festivities, will perform Handel's "Messiah" on Wednesday, Dec. 8, at 8 p.m. in Kresge Auditorium, Middle School campus, 850 Briarcliff.

The society including 45 parents, students, faculty and alumni, directed by Frederic De Haven with guest soloists and chamber orchestra, will present Part I and choruses from Part II, with the well known Hallelujah Chorus as a finale.

A special part of the celebration this year is an invitation to the audience to join in singing the "Hallelujah Chorus," and those interested are asked to bring their own scores. A reception will follow in the Middle School dining room.

Tickets may be reserved in advance, and patron tickets are $25 for two tickets with reserved seating and program listing. General admission for adults is $5, and $2 for students. Orders may be sent to Lynn White, University Liggett School, 1045 Cook Road, or by calling ULS at 884-4444.

City police urge tighter home security

Grosse Pointe City police are asking residents to take a little extra precaution when they leave their homes during late afternoon or early evening hours.

The city has been plagued by a rash of burglaries within the last few weeks, and while the police have caught up with one suspected burglar, another thief appears to be hitting homes during those hours on Lakeland and University, police said.

On Sunday, Nov. 21, police received two reports of burglaries on Lakeland. One resident told police someone entered his home through an unlocked side door while his son was upstairs and took a $500 silver serving dish. Another Lakeland resident told police he found his rear door open when he came home about 7 p.m. Police also found two upstairs bedrooms ransacked. Some jewelry of unknown value was reported missing, according to reports.

When a resident in the 700 block of Lakeland returned home Sunday, Nov. 28, she discovered all the lights in the house turned on and heard noise upstairs, police said. While standing in the kitchen, the resident observed a man suddenly run downstairs and open the door, fleeing in between houses, police said. Reports said the thief entered the home by cutting the screen on an outside door.

The fleeing thief, who escaped with $15, was described as a white male, about 19 or 20 years old, six feet tall, slim build and brown hair with thick eyebrows. The thief was wearing all black, police said.

A University resident reported to police someone stole jewelry from her home on Nov. 28. When she came home, she discovered a rear bedroom window wide open and all the lights in the home turned on, police said.

Rehearsing their fa-la-las

Grosse Pointe PTA/PTO Council President Edward Deeb (far left) helps some council officers brush up on a few holiday carols before the community's fourth annual Christmas Sing-A-Long on Sunday, Dec. 5, on the front lawn of South High School. The event is sponsored by the PTA/PTO Council. Local government officials will lead the community in singing Christmas carols, including State Sen. John Kelly (far right) and State Sen. Gilbert DiNello (not pictured). Free hot beverages will be served. Rehearsing their fa-la-las are (left to right) Dr. Kenneth Brummel, school superintendent, Sharon Carlsen, council vice-president, Joy Williams, treasurer, Vincent LoCicero, secretary, and Sen. Kelly. The carolling begins at 6 p.m.

North band 'Battles' to the top

More than 1,000 youths came to listen to music and cast ballots for the best band at the War Memorial's annual Battle of the Bands on Nov. 20.

Students voted for the band of their choice after hearing six compete. The winner was Rio-2 from North High School. Members of the band are Mark Anderson, John Nyquist, Steve Waundless and Mark Summers. In second place was Ascension including Paul Cazabon, Jeff Briggs, Bob Briggs and Steve Antonson of South High School. In third place was The Dave Adams Band. Members of the band from North High School are Dave Adams, John Roberts, Dave Simon and Pat Haggerty.

Other bands competing were The Last Clean Shirt from University Liggett School, and Caribide and The Riff from North High School.

Mark Anderson and Mark Summers, seniors at North and members of Rio-2 said. "Audience response was great! The more they cheered, the more we wanted to play. It was a great feeling. We could have played all night!"

Summers, who has written much of the original music for Rio-2 said. "The evening provided the bands with experience, exposure and lots of fun."

Jack Dotson, youth activities co-ordinator at the War Memorial said everyone went home a winner, including the six bands, the staff, parents and volunteers.

CODE NO. 11-01
BUILDING CODE ORDINANCE
ORDINANCE NO. 258

AN ORDINANCE TO REGULATE THE CONSTRUCTION, ALTERATION, ADDITION, REPAIR, REMOVAL, DEMOLITION, USE, LOCATION, OCCUPANCY AND MAINTENANCE OF ALL BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES WITHIN THE CITY OF GROSSE POINTE FARMS AND TO PROVIDE FOR THE ISSUANCE OF PERMITS AND COLLECTION OF FEES THEREFORE; AND TO REPEAL ORDINANCE NO. 107.

THE CITY OF GROSSE POINTE FARMS ORDAINS:

Section 1. Adoption of Building Code. The BOCA Basic Building Code, Eighth Edition, 1981, as promulgated and published by the Building Officials and Administrators International, Inc., is hereby adopted by reference as the Building Code of the City of Grosse Pointe Farms (herein "Building Code") and shall regulate the construction, alteration, addition, repair, removal, demolition, use, location, occupancy, and maintenance of all buildings and structures in the City of Grosse Pointe Farms; and each of the provisions, of such Building Code, is adopted and made part of this Ordinance subject to the additions, insertions, deletions and changes set forth in Section 2 of this Ordinance which control and supercede certain provisions of such Building Code.

Section 2. References in the Building Code to "jurisdiction" shall refer to the City of Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan. The Section numbers set forth below shall supercede like numbered sections of the Building Code.

Section 101.5. Other Ordinances. If the provisions of any other ordinance and the provisions of this ordinance conflict, the most rigid requirements or either ordinance shall apply.

Section 14.3.1. Fees and Deposits. A fee for plan examinations, building permits and inspections shall be paid in accordance with the fees established by the Building Department and approved by resolution of the City Council.

Before receiving a building permit the owner or his agent shall deposit with the City an amount determined by the Building Department, in accordance with directives received by resolution of the City Council, to be adequate to protect the City against the cost of any expenses which the City may incur as a result of the work covered by permit, including, but not by way of limitation, the cost of further permits, removal of debris, restoration of ground levels, use of unmetered water, repair of damaged sidewalks and other property, and charges in connection with establishing and disconnecting water connections.

Section 117.4. Violations. It shall be unlawful for any person to violate a provision of this Ordinance or fail to comply with any of the requirements thereof, or to erect, construct, alter or repair a building or structure in violation of an approved plan or directive of the Building Department or of a permit or certificate issued under the provisions of this Ordinance. Any such person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not more than Five Hundred ($500) dollars or by imprisonment for not more than ninety (90) days or by both fine and imprisonment for each provision of law that is violated. It shall be the responsibility of the offender to abate the violation as expeditiously as possible, and each day that a violation continues shall be deemed a separate offense.

Section 118.2. Unlawful continuance. Any person who shall continue any work in or about the structure after having been served with a stop work order, except such work as that person is directed to perform to remove a violation or unsafe conditions, shall be liable for a fine of not less than One Hundred ($100) dollars or more than Five Hundred ($500) dollars.

Section 3. This Ordinance shall take effect twenty (20) days after its enactment or upon its publication whichever is later.

Take a bite out of crime

By Det. Dennis Van Dale

Operation Identification could best be defined as a positive action program for home and business that will substantially increase the recovery of stolen property and may even help reduce the risk of theft.

Every year, millions of dollars worth of recovered, lost or stolen property is auctioned off by law enforcement agencies across the country. The problem: lack of identification. When unmarked stolen property is recovered outside the area in which the theft occurred, the chance of having it traced back to you is extremely small. Operation Identification allows state and national law enforcement or computer networks to trace it in a matter of seconds.

What makes this form of crime prevention even more appealing is that it is basically cost free except for the time involved in marking your valuables. The Grosse Pointe police departments can provide you with electric inscribers, window stickers, inventory lists and instructions, all free of charge.

In trying to determine what you should mark you may ask yourself this question: Would the items be attractive to a thief? If the answer is yes, then you should give serious thought to marking it. Smaller items such as watches and photographic equipment can be neatly engraved by a jeweler without detracting from cosmetic value. Whenever possible mark your items in the most prominent place you can make it less attractive to the thief.

The best identifying number you have which is available to a law enforcement agency is your driver license number. When using your driver license number always use the full number and prefix it with M.I. indicating the state of Michigan. As you mark your belongings you might use the inventory sheet to make a list of both the description of the article and the serial number if available.

The use of Operation Identification stickers tells the burglar that you are concerned about protecting your belongings and he may feel that you may have taken other security measures as well. To the burglar this means increased risk.

In summary, I should add that if you do fall victim to a burglary, refer to your inventory sheet and give the police a complete description and list of the serial numbers that you have specifying items you have marked and the location of the markings.

A list of common expressions that came into the language from particular professions would include: "Stick to your guns" from soldiering, "strike while the iron is hot" from blacksmithing and "hit below the belt" from prizefighting.

Police clear two burglaries

Grosse Pointe City police last week said they have cleared up two burglaries, and possibly two others in their city, with the arrest of a Detroit teenager by Grosse Pointe Park police on Nov. 10.

City Det. Dennis Van Dale said he questioned 19-year-old Roy E. White about burglaries to homes on Lakeland and Washington on Nov. 5 and 6. Van Dale said White admitted to at least two of the burglaries, but none of the more than $500 in items was recovered.

Park police discovered White asleep in a Park home after the 70-year-old resident was awakened by his snoring. Police said the youth gained entry into the home by breaking a window, but got sleepy after he searched a purse.

White was later arraigned on charges of breaking and entering and receiving and concealing stolen property before Municipal Judge Beverly Grobbel. Det. Van Dale said White was not charged with the City burglaries.

Cancer talk at Cottage

Cottage Hospital will present the program "Women and Cancer" on Tuesday, Dec. 9, from 7 to 9 p.m., in the hospital boardrooms.

Eudoro Coello, M.D., oncologist, will speak on the risk factors, diagnosis and surgical techniques related to breast cancer and cervical cancer.

Cancer is a threat to women of all ages and the danger becomes greater with advancing age. Cancer can be treated and cured but only if spotted early enough. Education on the subject is vital as more than 90 percent of the breast cancers are detected by the women themselves through self-examination.

Dr. Coello will discuss breast self-examination, pap tests, surgery and risk factors for cancer of the breast and cancer of the cervix.

There is no charge for this program, but reservations should be made in advance by calling 884-8600, Ext. 2390.

Setting a bad example

Sheriff William Lucas, whose words and deeds have been so frequently praiseworthy since he was elected county executive in November, now seems to have stubbed his political toe.

Appearing before the county Elected Officials Compensation Commission, Lucas advocated salary increases of up to $10,000 a year for other county elected officials and a rate of pay for his own new office that would be comparable to that received by Mayor Coleman Young of Detroit and Oakland County Executive Daniel Murphy. Both get more than $70,000 a year.

At the same time, however, Lucas reiterated his intention to ask concessions from Wayne County employees after he takes office as part of his campaign to balance the county's budget. Despite that pledge, Lucas told the commission he didn't believe county workers would complain about pay increases for the politicians because "union members realize that elected officials have stood fast for many years" and "know there have been great (pay) inequities."

However, it is clear that county employees would be much more likely to make concessions in their bargaining if they knew in advance that their bosses were going to share in their sacrifices or at least not get a raise. Instead, Lucas is saying, apparently with little recognition of how human nature works, that the county workers would understand if they were asked to make pay concessions at the same time their bosses were granted handsome increases.

If Lucas read the papers, he quickly learned how wrong he was as far as the unions were concerned. James Glass, president of Michigan Council 25 of the Association of Federal, State, County and Municipal Employees, a union that represents 2,500 county employees, called Lucas' statement stupid and added, "There is no way we can ever talk about concessions with him if he gives raises to these officials." Then he said that employees had believed Lucas would support fairness and equality of treatment for all and now felt "betrayed."

LUCAS APPARENTLY never has heard about the influence of a good example. That is what he could set if he vowed to hold the line on salaries for county department heads and also said he'd be willing to accept a comparable salary for his own new office. With Wayne County still wallowing deep in debt, this would not appear to be the time to raise anyone's salary. In addition, a county reorganization plan is in the works and until the public learns about the new duties and responsibilities of the county department heads, there ought not to be any pay increases.

The sheriff's attitude toward this problem is understandable, or course. He wants his own salary as county executive to be set as high as possible and he believes that if the pay for other department heads is raised substantially, he would have a better chance of getting a much higher salary himself. That logic overlooks both the county's desperate plight and the need to crack down on the pay and other benefits received by county employees, many of whom are the highest paid in the nation for their job categories.

Lucas also complained about his own pay as sheriff, which amounted to $45,000 a year. He said he had felt "grossly underpaid and taken advantage of." If he felt that way about serving as the county sheriff, he didn't have to run for reelection term after term, of course. Now he is recommending a $10,000 a year increase for that office, as well as for the county prosecutor, who gets $53,000 in salary and cost-of-living allowances, and comparable pay improvements for the county clerk, treasurer, drain commissioner and register of deeds.

IN NORMAL times, Lucas' request would make sense only after the county reorganization is completed. In these times, it makes no sense at all. But the public should not be surprised if the compensation commission approves Lucas' request in view of the favorable reaction from the chairman of the panel, Roman Ulman. He said, "You can't expect first-class performance on second-class pay," and then added, "All the evidence indicates the officials are receiving second-class pay."

True, county pay ought to be related to job performance. But on the basis of past performance, county officials simply do not deserve any pay increase. The new method of boosting public officials' pay through the use of compensation commissions is increasingly popular at all levels of government, from the county to the state to the federal. This method tends to insulate the officials from the actions giving them pay boosts and presumably makes the hikes more palatable to the public, but it does not necessarily follow that such increases are deserved. In Wayne County, there is little evidence that they are deserved or needed.

Sheriff Lucas set a bad example in asking for big pay increases for county officials at a time when the county is broke and its government is being reorganized. As for himself, he ought to recommend and accept a modest increase over what he now receives as sheriff when he takes office as county executive.

Another hike in 'user fees'?

Now that the Reagan administration has decided to seek a five-cent-a-gallon increase in the federal gasoline tax, the pressure is building in Michigan to impose a comparable boost in the state gasoline tax to assure the state and federal reimbursement of the costs of repairing its roads and bridges.

SINCE TAX increases of any kind are regarded as anathema in Washington, the Reagan administration has adopted the euphemism of "user fees" to describe the gasoline tax and explains that its support is for a form of "revenue enhancement." Perhaps Michigan will have to adopt the same kind of double talk to describe its actions if it goes ahead with the proposed program.

Otherwise, Michigan may be deprived of the opportunity to collect federal funds to which it would be entitled for work that it plans to do on state roads and bridges. As John Broder of the Detroit News explained, that would happen because the federal rules require the state to pay for the highway and bridge work performed before seeking reimbursement from the federal government. Since the state now lacks adequate funds to make payments in the first place, it would run the risk of being deprived of the federal reimbursements to which it would be entitled.

Michigan's gasoline tax at 11 cents per gallon already is one of the highest in the country and the hike to 16 cents over a three-year period, as now being proposed, would no doubt increase the "smuggling" into Michigan of gasoline from states with lower gasoline taxes. That becomes important chiefly in the communities bordering on states with lower taxes. But that factor also might reduce the expected take from any new taxes.

So might the overall increase of 10 cents a gallon if both the state and federal tax hikes were approved. That would bring the total federal and state tax to 25 cents a gallon which might cause additional reductions in driving and gasoline consumption.

Yet there is not much dispute about the poor condition of Michigan's highways, roads and bridges. With revenues from the state gasoline and weight taxes declining because of lower gasoline consumption and the trend toward lighter cars, the state already has cut back its expenditures on road and bridge repairs. So something has to be done.

A good highway network is important not only to our own residents but also to business, industry and tourism. If Michigan fails to keep pace with neighboring states in its maintenance of its highway infrastructure, it will face even more difficulty in rebuilding its economy. While motorists will complain about any higher gasoline taxes, they will complain even more if the state's highways and bridges are permitted to continue to deteriorate.

THE STATE and federal gasoline tax boosts also would provide new jobs in the road construction industry which has been hard hit by the depression. State officials estimate the state program would raise $100 million over three years and create 1,600 jobs in the construction industry, plus an equal number in related supplier businesses. State officials estimate the state would get about five times as many dollars and jobs from the federal program over a similar period.

As is so often the case these days, Michigan residents have to consider the trade offs involved. In view of the benefits, the state would seem to have little choice but to go ahead with some kind of increase in gasoline taxes — or "user fees" if you prefer — so that it would have the opportunity to get back in federal funds a fair share of what Michigan motorists will have to pay in additional federal gasoline taxes.

SEMTA, we need you!

The proposed cutback in bus service provided by the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) would have a severe impact on Grosse Pointe businessmen, shoppers and school children. Yet without early action in Lansing or Washington, the reductions seem likely to go into effect by the first of the year.

The best chance of saving the current service appears to be in the package of transportation bills in the state Legislature. But in view of other demands on state funds, there is no certainty that SEMTA will get additional state support that it needs to avert the major service cutbacks.

Under its proposed reductions, SEMTA would eliminate bus routes along Kercheval (Jefferson) and Charlevoix (Harper) and reduce service on Kercheval (Little Mack), Charlevoix (Harper) and on East Jefferson. Brownell Middle School and North and South High schools would be especially hard hit because many of their students ride the buses.

At a time when the United States still has to rely heavily on imported fuel and prices are threatening to rebound again, it appears to be short-sighted national policy to fail to provide adequate support for public transportation. Yet without increasing public subsidies, public transportation in Michigan seems fated to decline despite the continuing need — unless public protests stir remedial action in Lansing or Washington.

Leaves — let's bag 'em

To the Editor:

Anyone who lives in the city of Grosse Pointe Park does not need a picture to see how the leaves look every fall sitting on the curb waiting to be picked up.

Recently, we had a pick up for leaves at about 6 p.m. By this time of day, most of the people in our neighborhood are home from work. Some of us have company and many cars are on the street. We heard the sweeper coming and everyone starts jumping to try to move their cars. Where should we move them to? Is there an open driveway? Maybe at the neighbor's, but they will be home shortly, too. There's no more room in our drive for any more cars.

Why couldn't the sweeper come around during the day, when most people are at work and not many are on the street? To top it all off, when the sweeper breaks down, they bring in a plow which scrapes the cement and makes an even bigger mess than we started out with.

I think everyone should bag their own leaves in plastic bags. They could be put out with the regular trash for pick up. I'm sure if you figured this out, it would have to be better as far as expenses are concerned. The city will not need the extra manpower, the extra trucks or sweepers, or all the overtime our men are putting in. Even if the city gave the plastic bags to people who couldn't afford them, it would still be saving money. The city would also look cleaner and the leaves wouldn't be blowing all around the streets for a week while they sit on the curb waiting for the sweeper to come around.

State, students lose a friend

To the Editor:

Justice Blair Moody, Jr. spoke many times to my American Government classes at North High School. My students and I were always the richer for his visits, whether he was contrasting the Soviet judicial system with our own or simply discoursing about the individual and the law. We were always impressed by his scholarship and touched by the fact that he was a caring, concerned human being — a good and gentle man.

It was obvious that he liked young people and enjoyed being with them. The people of Michigan have lost a fine jurist, the students of Grosse Pointe a good friend. We will miss him.

School closings beneficial?

To the Editor:

In your Nov. 11 issue you published a story dealing with the possibility of school closings due to decreasing enrollment.

School closings could be beneficial to Grosse Pointe. It could save money for taxpayers, and the old buildings could be used by the physically-handicapped.

Most importantly for the students, new classes could be offered such as cable TV and Russian, with increased enrollment.

If school closings do happen, it probably will be beneficial for Grosse Pointe.

We all need day of rest

To the Editor:

It's gratifying to read that many of the Village's merchants, when interviewed about a change in the City ordinance allowing Sunday shopping, report that they continue to believe that a day of rest is important.

They should like the same kind of family-oriented people who have contributed to making this community what it is.

Times certainly have changed, but the need for a day of worship and rest for both merchants and shoppers was foreseen long before the latest round of debate in defense of the almighty dollar — foreseen by a different Almighty.

J.V. deserves kudos, too

To the Editor:

I am a regular buyer of the Grosse Pointe News. But on reading your paper for the week of Nov. 11, I was deeply upset. There was not a word about the Grosse Pointe North vs. South junior varsity football game.

Both teams played a high-spirited game, and I feel the boys deserve some credit.

But is the varsity North vs. South rivalry game more important than the junior varsity? I think not.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

A lovely holiday tradition is continued this Saturday, Dec. 4, when the Jenny Lind Club of Detroit celebrates the Lucia Festival at a dinner dance, chaired by Park resident Mrs. Edward Genberg, at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club. Lisa Swanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swanson, of Holly, is this year's Jenny Lind "Lucia."

After dinner is served, the room will be darkened. It's the signal for Lisa Lucia, wearing a long white gown, a crown of seven lighted candles on her head, to enter. A procession of seven attendants, also dressed in white, carrying lighted candles, follows her. The "Santa Lucia" music will be played as they walk among the guests, presenting coffee and cookies to the assembly.

There is a deep religious significance to the Lucia Festival, celebrated for centuries in Sweden on Dec. 13, where it marks the beginning of the Christmas season. The name Lucia means "light." Lucia herself lived hundreds of years ago in sunny Sicily. She and her mother would go at night to bring gifts to the poor. As Christians in a then-pagan land, the pair were subject to persecution; they therefore made their visits in the dark, in great secrecy, and Lucia put a candle on her head to light their way and free her arms for carrying gifts.

Discovered, she died a martyr's death on Dec. 13 — a date which had a special meaning for the Norsemen, for Dec. 13 was the first day after the longest night of the year in Sweden, the day when light began to return to the northland, and was celebrated there as a Festival of Lights. As Christianity spread to northern Europe tales of Lucia's goodness found their way to Sweden, and her lovely legend was woven into the old midwinter festival. She became Sweden's Queen of Light.

She still is. Today, her festival is celebrated not only in Swedish homes but in hospitals, schools, offices, hotels, restaurants, factories . . . wherever people gather. Each town selects its Lucia, and every year in Stockholm the Lucia Queens participate in a special parade culminating in a coronation ceremony performed by that year's Nobel Prize winner in literature at the Town Hall.

Her festival is also celebrated worldwide by persons of Swedish descent, like the members of the Jenny Lind Club, who keep alive this tradition of their Scandinavian homeland and welcome the Queen of Light each year as the herald of Christmas.

Circumnavigators to Dine and Dance

The Michigan Chapter of the Circumnavigators Club will celebrate the season at a black tie dinner dance Friday, Dec. 10, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, with Art Quatro furnishing the music. This event follows the 80th anniversary celebration of the founding of the international organization, which drew many local members.

Curphey-Klemm rites celebrated

Marriage vows were spoken Saturday, November 27, at a 5:30 o'clock candlelight ceremony in Zion Lutheran Church, Kalamazoo, by Barbara E. Klemm, daughter of the LeRoy Klemms, of Kalamazoo, and The Reverend John R. Curphey, assistant minister at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church.

The rites at which The Reverend Allen Hellwege, The Reverend Robert Klemm and The Reverend James Wilce presided were followed by a reception at The Birches in Kalamazoo.

The bride wore a gown of ivory knit chiffon, accented with silk Venise and Schiffl lace and styled with a chapel length train. Her headpiece was an ivory Juliet cap. Her flowers were fresh, white roses, baby's-breath and stephanotis.

Cheryl-Lynne E. Boott, honor attendant for her sister, and bridesmaid Karen E. Klemm, their cousin, a Massachusetts resident, wore floor length dresses fashioned with bodices of ivory lace and skirts of burgundy knit chiffon.

Their headpieces were wreaths of baby's-breath and small, silk flowers. They carried bouquets of pink and white roses and baby's-breath.

James D. Curphey was his brother's best man. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Curphey, of Toledo. William Vöggesang, of Cleveland Heights, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, ushered.

Mrs. Klemm chose a dusty rose lace dress and a corsage of roses and baby's-breath for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother selected a ruffled dress, dusty blue in color, and a corsage of white roses and baby's-breath.

The newlyweds will return from a southern vacation to make their home on Haverhill Street in Detroit.

Pair at home
in The Pointe

At home on Edmondton Drive in Grosse Pointe Woods are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Thomas Cracchiolo, who vacationed on Saint Thomas in the Virgin Islands following their marriage early Friday evening, October 29, in Saint Hyacinth Church, Detroit.

Mrs. Cracchiolo is the former Camille Tomaszycski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Tomaszycski, of Nottingham Road. Mr. Cracchiolo is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Cracchiolo, of Lakeshore Lane.

The 5:30 o'clock ceremony, celebrated by The Reverend Hector Saulino and The Reverend Ralph Barton, was followed by a reception at the Gourmet House. Vocalists were Mary Tomaszycski, the bride's sister, and Clara Tomaszycski, the bride's mother.

The bride's gown of white embroidered silk organza featured a Queen Anne neckline, bishop sleeves ending in deep-set cuffs, an A-line skirt with a double-tiered, wide, scalloped hem, and a cathedral length train. Her long veil, accented with embroidered silk appliques matching the gown, fell from a headpiece of embroidered silk.

She carried a cascade of white silk roses, azaleas, baby's-breath and pink forget-me-nots.

Mary Tomaszycski, honor maid for her sister, and bridesmaids Mrs. David Stevenson, who resides in Texas, and Bernadette Tomaszycski, two more sisters, and Susan Munaco, the bridegroom's cousin, wore wine-colored dresses with pointe d'esprit neckbands, yokes and bishop sleeves, high-rise waists and soft skirts.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cracchiolo

Junior bridesmaids Kristina and Rebecca Gibbons, the bridegroom's nieces, wore dresses identical to those of the senior attendants, but in a soft pink shade, and, like the senior attendants, carried nosegays of rose-toned silk roses, azaleas and forget-me-nots.

Best man was Harold D. Tucker, Michael Purcell, Timothy Johnson and Wayne Steyer ushered.

The mother of the bride wore a long-sleeved, formal length gown of blue Qiana, styled with a cowl neckline, to which she pinned a corsage of pink silk roses and blue forget-me-nots.

The bridegroom's mother, in a long gown of grey chiffon and overblouse of grey lace embroidered with silver threads, wore a wrist corsage of silk tiger lilies in pale rose tones.

Out-of-town guests included the bridegroom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cracchiolo, of Boca Raton, Fla.

Miss Dominick
wed in August

The Grosse Pointe Academy Chapel was the setting for the late summer wedding of Leslie Ann Dominick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.M. Dominick, of Lochmoor Drive, and Michael Thomas Kishler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Kishler, of East Lansing.

The Reverend Andrew Czajkowski presided at the noon rites Saturday, August 28. A reception followed at Monsignor Vismara Knights of Columbus Hall.

Venise lace trimmed the bride's gown of white silk organza, which featured a cathedral length train, and pearls edged her double-tiered, fingertip length veil. She carried a crescent of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Honor attendant was Rane Kubacki, like the bride a graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School, Class of 1978. Bridesmaids were the bride's former Michigan State University roommates: Jeri Kennedy, of Grand Blanc, and Paula Taylor, of Okemos.

They wore floor length dresses, Empire-waisted, styled with pleated skirts and dusty rose in color, and carried free-form bouquets of rubrum lilies.

NANCY HINES, daughter of MR. and MRS. DONALD HINES, of Littlestone Road, played half-back for the Wittenberg University field hockey team this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael T. Kishler forget-me-nots and baby's-breath. Best man was Thomas Shingleton, of East Lansing. Mark and Bill Kishler, the bridegroom's brothers, ushered.

The mothers of the bride and bridegroom both wore long dresses, the former's eggshell in color, the latter's periwinkle blue, with corsages of phalaenopsis orchids and Sweetheart roses.

The newlyweds are both Michigan State University graduates. She holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Social Work/Psychology. He holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Packaging. They vacationed on Nassau in The Bahamas following their wedding, and are at home in Warren.

Fall wedding date is made

The engagement of Kimberly A. Mathews and Jonathan P. Olsen has been announced by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Barbara A. Mathews, of Lochmoor Boulevard. The wedding is planned for next September.

Miss Mathews, great-granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred T. Wilson, and Mrs. Olsen, son of Dr. and Mrs. John Olsen, of Williamsville, N. Y., both expect to be graduated from Valparaiso University in May.

She is working toward a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration and affiliated with Phi Beta Chi sorority. He also is working toward a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration, with a major in Accounting. His fraternity is Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Stalker-Goode vows spoken

Under a grape arbor in the gardens at the Lakeland Avenue home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Stalker II, Peter Stalker III claimed Anne Sheldon Goode, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Goode, of Hanover, N.H., as his bride at a late summer ceremony.

Presiding at the 4 o'clock exchange of vows Saturday, August 28, was The Reverend Ralph Parks, rector of All Saints Episcopal Church, Detroit. A reception followed, also in the gardens.

The newlyweds vacationed in Portugal. They are at home in a townhouse in Old Town, Alexandria, Va., where Peter works for a consulting firm, Strategic Planning Associates, and Anne for a computer company, Burroughs Corporation, in the customer education department.

The former Miss Goode made the bodice of her bridal gown, its lower section and cuffs decorated with Alencon lace and covered with pearl beads. It was chiffon-sleeved and finished with a high collar of Schiffli lace in a floral pattern.

Her floor length, lace skirt was cut in a double layer pattern, each layer hemmed with a four-inch ruffle, the top layer curving up in back to create a bustle effect.

Her floor length veil and blusher of nylon tulle were caught by a cap, decked like the veil with Alencon lace and pearl beads. She carried a cascade of gardenias, stephanotis, baby's-breath and spider plant greenery.

Joyce Rowan Goode was honor maid for her sister. Bridesmaids were Katie Goode, another sister, Debby Stalker, the bridegroom's sister, Linda Bourque, a former co-worker of the bride at Xerox Corporation in Lexington, Mass., and Penny Kurr, of Houston, Tex., the bride's former Dartmouth College roommate.

Each wore a light blue Gunnie Sax dress, its full, floor length skirt ending in a 10-inch ruffle, with white satin ribbon and white, ruffled lace decorating the gathered seam. Matching lace and ribbon covered their bodices and cuffs. Back-tied sashes accented their high waists.

Yellow Sweetheart roses, cream-colored miniature carnations and snow crystal chrysanthemums, baby's-breath and spider plants formed their cascade bouquets.

Peter Stalker II was his son's best man. Guests were seated by John Early, of Rosemont, Pa., a Princeton University friend of the bridegroom, by former Grosse Pointe resident Matt Ray, who now resides in Dover, N.J., by Marshall Stalker, the bridegroom's brother, and by Geoffrey Walne, of Atlanta, Ga., a friend of the bridegroom from Phillips Exeter Academy.

The bride's mother wore a street length, long-sleeved, silk dress patterned with blue flowers on a greenish-blue background. Her high, ruffled neck was accented like her waist, with a tie of matching material.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Stalker III

The bridegroom's mother's intermission length, halter-necked dress of organdy featured lavender, yellow and green silk-screened flowers on a white background.

Mr. and Mr. Frederick Charles Kaess III entertained members of the wedding party, their friends and families, at luncheon at the Kaess home on Irvine Lane the Friday before the wedding. Peter's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. David D. Stalker, of Putnam Place, hosted the same group at brunch on the morning of the wedding day.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the bride's parents, was held at the Country Club of Detroit.

Moran-Gramer rites are read

At home in Ann Arbor are Mr. and Mrs. John Francis Moran who vacationed in Aspen, Colo., following their marriage Saturday, September 25, at Weller's Carriage House, where a reception followed the 5 o'clock ceremony.

Mrs. Moran, the former Peggy Jo Gramer, daughter of Annabelle Drury, of Farmington Hills, and Henry Gramer, of Clawson, selected a formal length gown, ivory in color, for her wedding.

Her honor attendant, Laurel Fraser, of Ypsilanti, and bridesmaids Penny Monti, of Farmington, Jerrie Gray, of Ypsilanti, and Pam Briegel, of Hell, wore rose-colored dresses and carried roses.

Mr. Moran, son of Mary Ann Danaher and Frank Moran, both of The Pointe, was attended by Mark Dodge Moran as best man. Ushering were Rich Ahola, Leo Pydyn and Paul Gramer.

The mother of the bride wore a lace-accented dress, pastel rose in color. The bridegroom's mother was in pink chiffon.

The bride works at UPS. She is an exercise instructor in aerobics. The bridegroom operates his own machine shop, catering to the auto research industry in Ann Arbor and specializing in prototype machine work.

Hours are 1 to 8 p.m. Sunday, 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. weekdays. Proceeds from this annual event will be donated to purchase equipment for the hospital.

to New York a few weeks ago, and an October ethnic dinner at the Grecian Gardens. The Summer Safari was, as always, a highlight of the chapter's warm weather activities.

The Circumnavigators Foundation recently announced that a second student from a Michigan university will be awarded the 1983 around-the-world student study tour. Mary Lou Masko, then a junior at the University of Michigan, received the 1981 grant, named The George Pierrot Memorial Scholar Award.

Grosse Pointe On-Stage in December

Thomas Morrell, of The Park, will perform in the FIM Dance Repertory Company production of The Nutcracker with the Flint Symphony Orchestra and principal dancers from the National Ballet of Canada at Flint's Whiting Auditorium tomorrow, Friday, Dec. 3, at 8:30 p.m. and Saturday, Dec. 4, at 2 and 8:30 p.m. He appears in Act I as the Harlequin Puppet who dances for Clara and her guests at the Christmas party and as the Nutcracker Prince who defends Clara in the battle against the evil mice. In Act II, he'll perform the Arabian dance "Coffee" and the Spanish dance "Chocolate." Information on tickets, ranging in price from $5 to $12, may be obtained by calling 238-9651.

Nearly 200 children and adults attended open auditions at the Birmingham Theatre Oct. 1 and 2, hoping to make their professional stage debuts in "Oliver," and among the gang of 13 workhouse boys and pickpockets selected for the production which opened the day after Thanksgiving and will run through Jan. 2 is Doug Sutherland, of The Farms. Alternates include John Cavanaugh, Jeff Pegg, Michael Schoenith and Brian Vick. "Oliver" ticket information may be obtained by calling 644-3533.

"Dead Ringer," a mystery drama set in Grosse Pointe and written by Hal Youngblood, opened yesterday at Detroit's Attic Theatre and will run there through Dec. 19. Directing the world premier of the thriller, a product of Youngblood's fascination with a series of studies he made on the subject of twins and mental telepathy, is Nicholas P. Calanni, who worked with Youngblood earlier this year while directing "The Subject Was Roses" at the Music Hall. Special performances of "Dead Ringer" are at 8 p.m. Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays, with Saturday and Sunday matinees at 2 p.m. Tickets ($7 for the evening performances, $6 for the matinees) may be reserved by calling 963-7789.

Another Pair of Holiday Fairs

You think, now that it's December, this year's holiday fair season is all wrapped up? Wrong! If you're still looking for unique, handmade/homemade gifts, here are a pair of Christmas bazaars you might want to check out:

The Episcopal Women of Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, present their second annual Greens of Christmas Sale and Fair tomorrow, Friday, Dec. 3, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Miller Hall behind the church. It's a repeat of last year's very successful greens sale, and chairperson Mrs. Fred Guertler promises the latest in natural creations — fresh hydrangea, grapevine, eucalyptus and candy wreaths, plus the "live partridge" wreath from New Hampshire, plus cedar garlands and poinsettias.

Vermont cheddar cheese, hot pepper jelly and mustard made in the Christ Church kitchens will be featured, too, along with an all-parish bake sale, boutique gifts created by the Paris Table, pecans, hand-painted aprons and custom ribbons and bows. Refreshments will be served throughout the day.

The Sisters of Saint Joseph and the Fontbonne Auxiliary of Saint John Hospital have scheduled a Christmas Fair and Tea for next Wednesday, Dec. 8, from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. There will be more than 20 booths featuring homemade creations both edible and non-edible, many made and donated by Fontbonne members, the Sisters, volunteers, Saint John employes and interested friends. Chairman of the event, which is open to the public, is Sharon (Mrs. James W. Jr.) Snyder

Saint John's own Gift Shop will have a booth. Others include Caroline Bommarito's Christmas Baked Goods, Homemade Candies by Rose Regner, Sweaters by Lisa, Trapunto Pillows, Puppets and Crafts, Two's Company, Golden Moments, Fontbonne Auxiliary Cookbooks, Art by Grosse Pointe Artists, Prints from The Detroit Free Press' Jon Buechel, Dough Creations, The Silk Petal, Betty Nelson's Creations, Treetop Studios, The 10 O'Clock Scholar and Elegant White Elephants.

Special note to Fontbonne members: this is also the day of your auxiliary's general meeting, which is slated for 1 p.m. at the GPYC and will be followed by entertainment by The Noteworthy.

Christmas at The Moross House

"A Joyful-Toyful Christmas" is the theme for this year's holiday open house at historic Moross House on East Jefferson Avenue, headquarters of the Detroit Garden Center, to be decked this year with wonderful fresh floral and greens displays created by members of the Grosse Pointe Farm and Garden Club, the Grosse Pointe Shores, Grosse Pointe Park, Windmill Pointe and Trowel and Error Garden Clubs.

The Detroit Historical Museum will have a large collection of antique toys and dolls on display in the pre-Civil War home during open house hours: 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. this Saturday, Dec. 4, and noon to 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 5. There is no admission charge, and ample free parking is available.

Communications Women to party

Reservations for the Detroit Chapter of Women in Communications' "Night of Holiday Mirth" Friday, Dec. 10, featuring a Detroit Symphony Orchestra Christmas Pops concert, must be in by tomorrow, Friday, Dec. 3.

The program includes a 6 to 8 p.m. pre-concert reception at DuMouchelle Galleries, featuring a cash bar, hors d'oeuvres and Detroit News music critic Jay Carr with an explanation of how he critiques a concert and tips on what to listen for at the Christmas Pops.

Tickets are $15 for the reception and balcony seats, $20 for the reception and main floor seats. The concert, in Ford Auditorium, begins at 8:30 p.m. Further information may be obtained by calling 962-7225.

Gus and Marco 'Race for Life' — and win

The Health Education Council of Grosse Pointe, Inc., has completed teaching a fall "Race for Life" course at Grosse Pointe North High School. The course, consisting of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, cardio-pulmonary resuscitation and care for a conscious choking victim, was taught to 10th grade physical education classes by an all-volunteer staff of American Red Cross-certified instructors, people like Park resident GARY "GUS" GALLAGHER, pictured at right with North High "Race for Life" student MARCO LA CHAPPELLE.

The volunteers are all busy members of the community; many are men and women who distinguish themselves by taking time off from full-time jobs to give several hours to this valuable life-saving program.

Gus, for instance, is a salesman of medical and professional computer systems and owner of Gallagher Consultants, a national leasing company. Jim Robson is a police officer at Detroit Metro Airport. Ann Dodge is the owner and operator of an office equipment company. Ann Crane an architect, George Crane a general contractor and Rita Harrington a nurse at Saint John Hospital.

Other volunteers who gave many hours to teach CPR to the North High students are Ann Berschback, Cecile DesRoberts, Kathy Frakes, Judy Huntington, Helen McKnight, Eleanor Pugleisi, Faith Remter, Barbara Schwartz and Colleen Stanczak.

Chairpersons for the Health Education Council's CPR program at North High were Pat Dinka, Kathy Frakes and Ann McQueen. The program will be repeated for South High School 10th graders in the spring — IF, says Kathy, South High CPR chairperson, enough new volunteer instructors can be found. "The program is in danger of being cancelled if more people aren't recruited to teach," she explains. "Some of the volunteers at North High worked six hours a day for two weeks because we had so few certified volunteers available to help."

"The people we want most to recruit are the parents of high-school students; they, their children and their families will benefit most from the course."

Anyone interested in taking a course to become a CPR instructor, an aide or a refresher course (for those already certified in CPR) is urged to contact Kathy at 882-4779. The course to become an aide only takes a few hours. Those busy persons who may be debating whether or not they can afford the time to train in and teach CPR are reminded that a full-time job is not necessarily an excuse to turn one's back on an opportunity to give a much-needed volunteer service to one's community — and at the same time, learn a life-saving technique that may someday save the life of a member of one's own family.

Healthy time for Phase I

Phase I, the organization for single, young adults, ages 20 through 39, who gather regularly for Sunday evening program meetings at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, has planned an evening of "walleyball" at the Warren Racquet Club starting at 8 p.m. tomorrow, Friday, Dec. 3.

Space is limited, so those who want to play are advised to arrive early to insure space on the court. After two hours or so of a healthy workout, everyone should be ready to adjourn for refreshments. John Mueller, 775-5016, may be contacted for further information.

The Phase I program meeting this Sunday, Dec. 5, at 7:45 p.m. will feature Adelaide Klingbeil-Wilson, M.S., counselor in Human Relations, speaking on "Holistic Health: Meeting Your Inner Healer."

Her presentation will include experiential techniques that can provide both relief from acute anxiety and palliative care for pain.

MARITIME HISTORY IN ART EXHIBITION
BY JIM CLARY
NOVEMBER 29 TO DECEMBER 24
STORE FOR THE HOME, GROSSE POINTE,

Visit us during our informal maritime art exhibition of works by artist Jim Clary. Growing up near the Detroit River and later along the St. Clair, Clary's lifetime fascination and love of ships and ship lore inspires his work. He has combined natural talents with extensive self-study to create an accurate and pleasing style. The exhibit will include his most recent work, "Close the Enemy," shown above.

Mr. Clary will make personal appearances in our store every Tuesday and Friday through Dec. 24. And this Saturday, Dec. 4, he will autograph copies of his book "Ladies of the Lakes" in our Stationery Dept. from 11:00 to 2:00.

Santa's Attic coming to Saint Paul's . . .

Thirty-five rented craft booths, Christmas trims, ribbon and gift wrap, candles, ornaments et al. will be among goods featured in Santa's Attic, the annual Christmas fair sponsored by the Saint Paul's School Parent-Teacher Guild. It will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. a week from tomorrow, Friday, Dec. 10, in the school's gymnasium. SHIRLEY CALLAHAN (left) is in charge of the raffle, for which tickets may be purchased in advance by calling 885-5087, or at the door the day of the fair. MARY RUSSO (second from left) is craft chairman. ANDRIENE PAPALEXIOU and PEGGY LIENS (second from right and far right, respectively) are general co-chairmen. Santa's Attic also will stock baked goods and live Christmas poinsettias, and will contain a special Children's Corner.

Woods Garden Club to meet

The ladies of the Grosse Pointe Woods Garden Club will gather next Tuesday, Dec. 7, at noon at the Roslyn Road home of Mrs. Donald Marshall for their annual Christmas party. Co-hostesses are Mrs. Frank Dettmer and Mrs. Frank Bromley.

A complete luncheon will be served. There will be an inexpensive gift exchange among members, who also will be bringing canned goods et. al. as Christmas donations to Crossroads.

Pewabic hosts Christmas sale during December

The annual Christmas sale at Pewabic Pottery, the nationally renowned ceramics learning center, museum and gallery located on East Jefferson Avenue across from Detroit's Waterworks Park, is underway, with more than 50 Michigan potters each displaying up to 50 handcrafted works ranging in price from less than $10 to more than $100.

Sales areas are restocked continuously throughout the sale that runs through the first week of January. A wide variety of functional and art pots, including such items as casseroles, tea sets, covered jars, planters and vases, is available for purchase.

A portion of the proceeds from all sales will be used to help support the educational and cultural programs at Pewabic, owned and operated by the non-profit Pewabic Society and funded in part through grants from the Michigan Council for the Arts and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Admission and parking at the pottery, celebrating its 75th anniversary this fall, are free during the Christmas sale. Special holiday hours run from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday, with evening hours Thursdays until 9 p.m. Pewabic is open Sundays from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Founded in 1907 by Mary Chase Perry Stratton and Horace Caulkins, Pewabic Pottery earned an international reputation over the next half-century for its hand-made architectural tiles and iridescent-glazed ceramics. The Pewabic Society is now in the early stages of reinstating the architectural tile practice to help make the pottery more self-sustaining.

Learn wreath craft at Macomb YWCA

The Macomb YWCA, located on East 10 Mile Road in East Detroit, will hold a one-time workshop designed to teach the construction and decoration of a grapevine wreath this Saturday, Dec. 4, at 1:30 p.m.

Instructor is Delores Stevens. Fees of $12 for YWCA members, $14 for non-members include all materials and decorations. Advance registration is necessary; further information may be obtained by calling 772-4435.

KIMBERLY

The joy of Christmas is best realized when you give a gift that shows you took time to shop for something unique and unusual. Over the years the name Kimberly has come to mean the finest in design and quality.

This year our catalogue is a first in featuring a return to nature and its woodland setting for beautiful, natural wreaths and nests. Our design concept is light and airy — with a natural look.

The materials have been carefully selected from fine European flowers and berries. We have also selected feathered birds and nestled them between twigs and branches in handcrafted nests.

We hope you enjoy the gifts in our catalogue and wish you and yours the happiest of holiday seasons!

Christmas Walk offers boutique

The Detroit Symphony League's Christmas Walk 1982 will offer "branches" of the DSL Boutique in both Birmingham-Bloomfield and The Pointe while the Walk is in progress in each area.

The Birmingham-Bloomfield Boutique location is Christ Church Cranbrook, where seasonal music will be performed this Sunday, Dec. 5, and the Choraliers will sing at 12:30 and 1:30 p.m. Monday, Dec. 6; Birmingham-Bloomfield's Christmas Walk days.

The following week the Walk moves to The Pointe, the Boutique to Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, which will feature seasonal music Sunday, Dec. 12, and the Choraliers performing at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Monday, Dec. 13. Each church will be open to Walkers from 1 to 5 p.m. on its Walk Sunday, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on its Monday.

Information on tickets ($7 advance sale, $8 at the door) may be obtained by calling 881-3919 or 885-0583.

The DSL Boutique, open in Ford Auditorium before concerts and during intermissions, stocks a variety of unique items, including the exclusive "Detroit" scarf at $15 and wrapping paper, note cards and gift enclosures in a new and exclusive design, sweat and sleep shirts with the DSO logo, aprons, windchimes, 14 karat gold musical note earrings at $18 and Sue Bolt's limited edition Symphony Tile at $12.

Elizabeth Cass DAR to look at Detroit Fair Lane to host Christmas dinners

Mrs. Urban F. Borech will be assisted by co-hostesses Mrs. H. Sanborn Brown and Mrs. Marvin R. Putnam when she opens her Kercheval Avenue home to members of the Elizabeth Cass Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution next Monday, Dec. 6, at noon.

History is the meeting's theme. Mary Grace Wilbert, Detroit Edison Marketing Services Representative, will present a color slide program, "Detroit: Renaissance of a City," a report on the economic and cultural development of the metropolitan area.

Each monthly meeting of the DAR chapter includes devotions, patriotic exercises, a message from the DAR's President General and a national defense report.

To present small business seminar

A workshop designed to give current or prospective small business owners information to help them plan a sound structure for the maintenance and growth of their businesses will run from 8:15 a.m. to 3 p.m. this Saturday, Dec. 4, at Wayne State University's Northeast Center on Schroeder in East Detroit.

Fee for the program directed by Albert Spalding, attorney, CPA, of Detroit Associates, and co-sponsored by Wayne State University's College of Lifelong Learning and the United States Small Business Administration is $35 plus a $3 registration fee, including materials and refreshments.

Topics to be covered include structure of a business, compensation, buy/sell arrangements, fringe benefits and insurance. Further information may be obtained by contacting Nancy Grose or Karen Leigh at 577-4710.

Victorian day for Fox Creek Greet Christmas at Historical Museum Dec. 4

Members of the Fox Creek Chapter of Questers will experience a Victorian Christmas starting at noon next Thursday, Dec. 9, in the Rochester home of their hostess, Lucille Tucker, who will prepare special confections for the occasion.

Lucille is a member of Quester's Stony Creek Chapter No. 203. Co-hostesses for the salad luncheon are Carolyn Stekete, Joan Millinger, Marlene Harle and Ruth Chosy.

"Christmas Happening" at the Detroit Historical Museum is scheduled for this Saturday, Dec. 4, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. It's an annual event: a free, fun-filled day for kids including:

- Greetings, in person, from Mona, star of TV's Hot Fudge Show, to all museum visitors.
- Santa Claus, in person, on hand to hear Christmas wishes and have his picture taken with any and all Christmas wishers.
- One of the museum's newest exhibits, "Sawdust Memories — Detroit's Circus History," coming alive with clowns performing on a continuous basis.
- The Renaissance Brass Quintet entertaining with Christmas songs.
- Christmas Ornament Workshops scheduled at four times during the day, at 10 and 11 a.m. and 1 and 2 p.m. Capacity in these workshops is limited. Free tickets will be available, on a first come, first served basis, upon request the day of the program.

Additional information may be obtained by calling the Education Department at the museum (833-9721), which is open from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Pointe AAUW officers . . .

December meeting for Pointe ABWA

The American Business Women's Association's Grosse Pointe Charter Chapter will welcome guest speaker Dennis Sebthorpe, just three weeks after he has directed Hudson's Annual Thanksgiving Parade, at a meeting Tuesday, Dec. 14, at Lochmoor Club. Reservations are necessary, and may be obtained by contacting Suzanne Klester, 371-5223, after 6 p.m. or Dianne Wollesen, 965-1540, during the day.

An orientation meeting, without speakers, followed the five-month-old ABWA chapter's mid-November dinner meeting at Lochmoor.

'Amahl' featured during December

"Amahl and The Night Visitors." Gian-Carlo Menotti's classic Christmas opera, will be presented jointly by the Theatre Company of the University of Detroit and the Music Department of Marygrove College at 8 p.m. on three successive weekends in December — Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays, Dec. 3, 4 and 5, 10, 11 and 12 and 17, 18 and 19 — at The Theatre on the Marygrove campus.

Tickets are priced at $6 regular admission, $4 for students, with special group rates available. Further information may be obtained by calling 927-1130 between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. daily.

Carl J. Wenz to take bride

Mid-March wedding plans are being made by Ann Marie Alexander, daughter of R. Baker Alexander, of Kalamazoo, and the late Joyce Garrett Alexander, and Carl J. Wenz, son of Mary L. Wenz, of Bedford Road, and the late Dr. James A. Wenz.

Miss Alexander was graduated from Wayland Academy, Beaver Dam, Wis., attended Western Michigan University for three years and is presently enrolled in Kalamazoo Community College's Dental Hygiene Program.

Mr. Wenz, a Grosse Pointe South High School graduate, holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Accounting from Western Michigan University. His fraternity is Alpha Kappa Psi. He is employed by Dearborn Management Company, in the Chicago area.

May wedding date is made

Mrs. John Louisignau, of Wedgewood Drive, announced the engagement of her daughter, Jane Ann, to John F. K. Brown II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. K. Brown, of Sunningdale Drive, at a cocktail party for family and friends in mid-October. The wedding is planned for next May.

The bride-elect, who is also the daughter of the late Mr. Louisignau, was graduated from Our Lady Star of the Sea High School, holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Denison University and studied at Wroxton College, Wroxton, England, a branch of Fairleigh Dickinson. Her sorority is Kappa Kappa Gamma.

She is currently employed at Michigan Bell Telephone Company as a Communication System

Her fiancé, a Grosse Pointe North High School alumnus, received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Denison University, studied at Michigan State University and is currently enrolled in the Wayne State University School of Medicine. His fraternity is Sigma Xi. He is a member of the American Medical Association.

Lamberti-Geist troth is told

M. Patricia Geist, of Neff Road, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Carole M. Geist, to Frank P. Lamberti, son of Beatrice Lamberti, of Detroit, and the late Henry Lamberti. A mid-April wedding is planned.

The bride-elect, who is also the daughter of the late Louis Geist, is a graduate of Grosse Pointe South High School and Central Michigan University. Her fiancé is a graduate of Servite High School.

Poirier-Stricker rites planned

Dr. and Mrs. E. Ray Stricker, of South Duval Road, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Kimberly Anne, to Peter Tomlinson Poirier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Poirier, of Radnor Circle. The wedding is being planned for early February.

Miss Stricker, an alumna of Grosse Pointe North High School who received her Bachelors degree in Economics and Business Administration from Hillsdale College, where she affiliated with Chi Omega sorority, is general supervisor, Public Relations Department, American Automobile Association.

Her fiancé, a Grosse Pointe South High School alumnus, received his Bachelors degree in Political Economy from Hillsdale College.

Merry-Go-Rounders to dance in season

The Merry-Go-Rounders and their guests will get together Friday, Dec. 10, a week from tomorrow, for a festive Christmas dinner dance at Lochmoor Club. It's a black tie affair, starting with cocktails at 7 p.m.

Dinner will be served at 8:30. Dancing, to music by The Blue Notes, starts an hour later.

Welcoming party-goers as they arrive will be host couple John and Ann Lazar, assisted by Al and Dottie King, Marc and Trudy Alan and Ralph and Mary Jane DeCender. A limited number of openings are available for couples who would like to join the Merry-Go-Rounders; information may be obtained by contacting the group's secretary at 886-9675.

Wilson-Timm betrothal told

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis J. Timm, of Sarasota, Fla., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Joan, to Brad David Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don D. Wilson, of Buckingham Road. A mid-May wedding is planned.

Miss Timm, an alumna of Sarasota's Riverview High School, holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing from the University of Florida. Her sorority is Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Her fiancé, an alumnus of Grosse Pointe South High School, is majoring in Management at Western Michigan University's College of Business where he is a member of the Management Club.

That word "shivaree" — the noisy serenade of newlyweds — comes from words that literally mean "headache."

Meadow Brook Christmas days

"The Twelve Days of Christmas at Meadow Brook Hall" began yesterday and will continue through Sunday, Dec. 12, offering the public a chance to tour the holiday-decorated 100-room mansion on the grounds of Oakland University daily between 10 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

Admission is $5 weekdays, $6 Saturdays and Sundays. Adults over 64, students and children under 19 and Oakland University affiliates have reduced rates of $4 on any of the Twelve Days. Groups of 20 or more will be admitted at $4 each, by advance reservation.

Knole Cottage, a six-room, mini-mansion playhouse nestled in the woods near the hall, is also decorated and open for tours, with Santa in residence daily through Dec. 12. Knole Cottage tours are $1 for all ages.

The Meadow Brook greenhouse may be toured, too, at 50 cents for all ages. Food service is offered in the Carriage House, and gift boutiques are open in the Staff Quarters as well as the Carriage House loft.

Reservation-only Patrons Dinners are open to the public, on a first come, first served basis, tonight, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 2, 3 and 4, at $75 per person, of which $50 is tax deductible. Further information may be obtained by calling 377-3140.

Grosse Pointe residents serving on this year's Meadow Brook Christmas Walk committee are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Goodyear and Mr. and Mrs. David P. Williams. All proceeds from the Twelve Days will be used for preservation of the hall, one of the world's finest examples of residential architecture, completed in 1929 at a cost of $4 million by Alfred and Matilda Dodge Wilson and containing many of the Wilson's original furnishings and art works.

Orchestra Hall Piccolo dates

The third offering in The Friends for Orchestra Hall's series of free, daytime performances for school age children, senior citizens and handicapped persons is "Hansel and Gretel," performed by the Piccolo Opera Company at Orchestra Hall today, Thursday, Dec. 2, at 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m., with a third performance set for tomorrow, Friday, Dec. 3, at 10:30 a.m.

A few seats remain for the performances, each of which lasts approximately one hour with the audience requested to arrive 30 minutes in advance of curtain time in order to allow for proper seating. Further information may be obtained by calling 833-3702.

Piccolo's version of "Hansel and Gretel" has been adapted by James Limbacher and director Marjorie Gordon from the Engelbert Humperdinck original. Its dialogue is more conversational, parents more loveable and the witch less cannibalistic, evoking more sympathy from the audience.

View Lamaze film at Cottage

The movie "Nan's Class," illustrating the Lamaze method of childbirth, will be shown at 8 p.m. tomorrow, Friday, Dec. 3, in Conference Room A at Cottage Hospital. No fee or reservation is required; the film is presented as a public service by Childbirth Information Service, Inc., a non-profit, volunteer group which provides childbirth preparation classes to expectant couples in the northeast metropolitan Detroit area.

Information regarding the CIS classes may be obtained by contacting Nancy Todorovich, registrar, at 731-0277.

Colonial lunch for Pettipointe

Mrs. Eugene Freitas opens her home today, Thursday, Dec. 2, for a Pettipointe Chapter of Questers' luncheon meeting featuring traditional Colonial foods. The program, a talk on Christmas during America's early days, will be given by Mrs. William Nagel.

Questers is a national study club formed in 1944. Its objectives are the appreciation of antiques and the preservation of historical landmarks.

Slate Scandinavian Symphony concert

The Scandinavian Symphony Orchestra, Douglas Morrison, conductor, will celebrate Beethoven's 212th birthday with an all-Beethoven program at the second concert of its 33rd season Saturday, Dec. 11, at 8:20 p.m. in the Southfield High School Auditorium, 10 Mile and Lahser Roads.

Tickets for a Beethoven Birthday Festival featuring the composer's Symphony No. 3 in C minor, "Leonore" Overture No. 3, Septet in E flat and "Wellington's Victory" are $4.50 for adults, $2.25 for students at the door or in advance by calling 535-1330 or 644-9203. Special rates are available for senior citizens.

The Scandinavian Symphony's members come from communities throughout the Detroit metropolitan area. It is the oldest continuously performing orchestra in the metropolitan area.

Five Pointes Club to meet

Mrs. Edward Weber will be hostess for Five Pointes Garden Club's Christmas party, to be held at Lochmoor Club next Wednesday, Dec. 8, at noon. Mrs. James R. Lindsay will give a talk on The Legend of the Poinsettia and a demonstration on how to make the Christmas flower.

Saint Jude Singles will host a dance

The Saint Jude Singles Club's Christmas dance, featuring a live band and a cash bar, will run from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., Saturday, Dec. 11, at the Monsignor Vismarra Knights of Columbus Hall, Harper at Eight Mile Road. Admission donation is $6 per person.

HUNTER FAN SALE

CHOOSE BETWEEN A BETTER AND A BEST.

When you're shopping for a ceiling fan, choosing Hunter™ is easy. Making a choice of which Hunter you want may not be, though.

The Hunter original ceiling fan is the most popular and finely crafted ceiling fan in the world, and is the only leading ceiling fan backed by a limited lifetime warranty.

The Hunter Comfort Breeze ceiling fan is made to the same standards of excellence, offers a reversible motor, 2 fan speeds, and a warranty of 5 years, but costs less than the Hunter original.

American Cancer Society

"Wishing you Love . . . Now, and for all Seasons" is the holiday greeting inside this Christmas card from the American Cancer Society. The 25 cards per box come with bright red envelopes and are lithographed in full color on coated stock. Card and envelope imprinting is available at an additional charge and deadline is Dec. 10. For more information, call 557-5353.

And His light was for all times and His love was for all men

Arthritis Foundation

Six holiday greeting cards, including the one pictured above, will raise funds this year for the Michigan chapter of the Arthritis Foundation. The Christmas cards range in price from $8 to $11.75 for a box of 25. For ordering information, call 561-9096.

Charity cards
yule greeting

The Christmas cards pictured on this page not only send a holiday greeting, but help support worthy organizations like the Michigan Cancer Foundation. The MCF has been selling Christmas greeting cards for the past 20 years to further cancer research. The sale of the cards helps support 46 different programs of research at the Foundation's Meyer L. Prentis headquarters in Detroit.

Most of the cards on this page can be ordered imprinted with the name of the sender. Engraved envelopes also are available. Ordering information can be obtained by calling the organizations.

Myasthenia Gravis

The purchase of this muted brown card will support patient care and research into the cause and cure of myasthenia gravis, a neuromuscular disease. The cards come with matching envelopes and are available in boxes of 25 for $7.50. Notecards also are available this year. Call 342-5939 for more information.

Wishing you everything wonderful

Reye's Syndrome

This brown and tan yule scene is the 1982 Reye's Syndrome Christmas card, available in boxes of 25 for $5. Twenty post-cards for $3 also are available. Call Sharon Phillon at 626-4335 or Don Cassidy at 338-1942 to order.

Michigan
Cancer Foundation

These five Christmas cards from the Michigan Cancer Foundation mark the 20th year the MCF has been selling greetings for the holidays. The cards are available at all local MCF offices, including the Detroit-East branch office at 15932 East Warren. Card styles range in cost from $6 to $9 per box of 25. For more information, call 294-4434.

More yule cards. . .

Other charitable organizations selling Christmas cards this year include:

- The Detroit Symphony League — Two designs in packages of 24 cards. They may be purchased at the Detroit Symphony League Boutique at Ford Auditorium before concerts and during intermissions. Phone orders may be placed by calling 548-7560.
 - Kidney Foundation of Michigan — Six designs are available in boxes of 25 cards each. To order, call the Foundation's toll free number at 1-800-482-1455.
 - Leader Dog School for the Blind — Three designs are available for $7.50 per 25 cards. Order blanks are available from the Leader Dog Card Committee, Box 27, Rochester, Mich. 48063.
 - Michigan Humane Society — Christmas cards and T-shirts are available from the Michigan Humane Society this year. Cards are being sold in boxes of 20 for $6 and may be purchased at the shelter's central office, 7401 Chrysler, Detroit, 48211 or call 872-3400 for more information.
 - Muscular Dystrophy Association — Cards are available for $7 a box and may be ordered by calling 779-7860.
 - National Multiple Sclerosis Society — Six holiday greeting cards are available and range in price from $7.50 to $10. For information concerning price and selection, call 967-2211.
 - Scoliosis Association of Michigan — Twenty-five cards at $7 a box can be ordered by calling 288-7221 or 280-0575.
- Note: In last week's display of holiday cards, it should have said the Foundation for Exceptional Children is selling 25 greeting cards for $5 a box. The correct number to order cards from the National Asthma Center is 535-5247.

Children's Hospital

This colorful card from the Children's Hospital Auxiliary comes in packages of 20 cards with envelopes for $6.50. To order, call Virginia Olechow-ski at 776-4704.

"I've travelled the globe entertaining U.S. troops in need of a boost in morale. And wherever I go I see The Salvation Army at work, offering spiritual guidance, material assistance, compassion and understanding to the world's people.

"This special brand of Christian outreach can also be found close to home. The Salvation Army operates day care and corps community centers, rehabilitation programs, clubs for senior citizens, recreation for all age groups, and emergency disaster services, to name just a few of its year-round activities.

"Perhaps you are most familiar with The Salvation Army's seasonal efforts. During the Christmas holiday period alone over 3 million men, women and children in this country are in some way aided by the Army.

"Won't you help? Your gift to The Salvation Army will be put to work immediately and will keep on working to ensure a brighter new year for those less fortunate."

Looking for a Smurf candy house to complete your holiday decorating this year? How about a Snoopy abode? Or a Woodstock shack?

Peg Upmeyer has them all — not to mention Garfield houses, Strawberry Shortcake houses and just about every type of gingerbread house known to man. Peg Upmeyer has to have them. She's the chairman (or mayor, if you will) of the gingerbread village at this year's Holly Mart. A whole gingerbread village? Let Peg tell you about it.

"The first year, we did one gingerbread house as an experiment and raffled it off. Last year, we did 10 — and sold out in one hour. This year, we figured the demand was worth upping production, so we did 50. We think they'll sell."

She only THINKS a completely edible house of handmade chocolate, candy and gingerbread will sell? Hopefully, the gingerbread village will be set up near a door so there'll be lots of space for the crowds which surely gather to buy one of these confectionary gems.

Peg says the gingerbread houses should sell for $15 — a mere pittance considering that an average house takes about four hours to construct. The chocolate houses and decorated chocolate sleighs are a bit less at $10.

PEG GOT INTO the candy house construction business about three years ago when a friend taught her the secrets of the trade. Although she is involved in the rest of the house-making production, she steers clear of the gingerbread part of the assembly line.

"I don't really like gingerbread. Dee Steinman bakes the gingerbread ... I'm the chocolate lady," Peg says.

And as the chocolate lady, Peg buys her chocolate from her best supplier, Joan Timmons, at the Cake and Candy Cupboard, molds her own candy, constructs chocolate houses and sleighs and oversees the actual construction of the gingerbread houses.

"We had four workshops scheduled before the Holly Mart to assemble the houses. Both beginners and pros get together to construct these houses ... and we have fun," Peg says.

Although she handles chocolate daily and most people would be sick of the sight, taste and smell of it by now, Peg says she isn't. "What you get sick of is the pressure of having to have it done. The rest of it (minus the gingerbread) is fun ... it's just sitting and putting around.

"I love detail work like that."

Peg says she times the chocolate work in naps ... daughter Julie's naps, that is. Because naptimes for Julie, 2, are getting a little more erratic, and because Julie isn't old enough to enjoy the candy, Peg says she has done little other chocolate making — except for what she has done getting ready for the Holly Mart.

PEG'S GINGERBREAD village will be just a part of the gustatory pleasures which can be found at the Holly Mart this weekend. Peg says there will also be a bake sale, featuring cider and special fancy holiday cheese.

Just thinking about it is fattening, not to mention what will happen when it's discovered that what Peg Upmeyer says about her houses is true: "They taste good."

If there are any gingerbread houses left after the day hours, they'll still be on sale at the Holly Mart's special "Friday Night Live" set for 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Dec. 3. Tickets may be purchased for $2.50 at the Inter-Faith Center or at the door the night of the event. Further information may be obtained by calling 882-6464.

And once you get past the gingerbread village (that's assuming, of course, you are able to get past the gingerbread village), the usual creative delights of the Holly Mart will await you.

Pen and ink drawings, hand-blown glass ornaments, gold and silver jewelry, watercolors, wood toys, pottery and much, much more are the products of such participating artists as Pointers Ken Thompson, James Webers, Nancy Prophit and dozens of others who return to the War Memorial for this eighth annual event.

ELEGANT EATING

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, two DELICIOUS BREADS to have on hand when company comes during the holiday season.

TEA RAISIN NUT BREAD

This is one of the most wonderful breads to have in the freezer when unexpected guests drop in. If made in the smaller size pans, it defrosts very quickly and looks lovely on a tea plate. The flavor and texture are marvelous. Do make a note to have it especially during the Christmas holidays, because it is a close cousin to fruit cake.

- 1/3 cup margarine
- 2/3 cup sugar
- 2 tsp. grated lemon peel
- 1/4 tsp. cinnamon
- 2 eggs
- 3 Tbsp. skim milk
- 1 tsp. lemon juice
- 2 cups flour
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. baking soda
- 1 1/2 cups peeled shredded apple
- 1/2 cup chopped raisins
- 1/2 cup Sultana raisins
- 1/3 cup chopped English walnuts

Cream together margarine, sugar, lemon peel and cinnamon. Beat in eggs until light and fluffy. Beat in milk and lemon juice. Sift together dry ingredients, add to creamed mixture, stirring until moistened. Fold in apples, raisins and nuts. Spoon batter into 3 greased miniature loaf pans, about 3x6-inches. Bake in preheated 350° oven 40 to 45 minutes, or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Makes 3 loaves. Each loaf will cut into 12 slices, 1/2-inch thick.

Batter may also be baked in 5x9-inch loaf pan. Increase baking time by one hour.

Calories per slice about 74. Cholesterol 13. NOTE: A delicious spread for this bread is Neufchatel cheese with finely minced preserved ginger, thinned to spreading consistency with yogurt. Try it ... you'll love it!

BANANA-ORANGE LOAF

- 1 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
- 2/3 cups sugar
- 1 tsp. double-acting baking powder
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. baking soda
- 1/2 cup margarine
- 1 cup mashed bananas
- 1/2 cup Egg Beaters
- 1 tsp. orange extract

Preheat oven to 350°. Grease and flour 9x5-inch loaf pan. In large bowl, with fork, mix first 5 ingredients. Cut in margarine with pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in bananas, "eggs" which have been beaten until light and lemony colored and orange extract just until blended.

Spread batter evenly in loaf pan. Bake 1 hour or until it tests done. Cool in pan on wire rack for 10 minutes; remove from pan; cool. Makes 1 loaf of 27 slices. Calories per slice about 92. Cholesterol 0.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

Lots of team owners do it. Most players can do it. Many coaches can do it. Every sports broadcaster can do it.

"It" is sports doubletalk... or the amazing ability to speak clearly and distinctly out of both sides of one's mouth. It is, I have concluded, a talent which comes easily to members of the sports world.

The difficult task falls to those not skilled in sports doubletalk, since trying to understand people who say one thing and mean another isn't easy. I have only just begun to get the hang of it myself. For example:

WHEN A PROFESSIONAL sports team's owner says: "We have every confidence in Coach Joe Blow. We know he's the man to turn this team around." He really means: "If that idiot doesn't win a game soon, he's gone."

When a frustrated fan says: "I'll never spend money to see those guys play again." He really means: "I hope I have enough cash on hand to buy tickets for the next game."

When a baseball manager says: "Wait 'til next year, we'll get 'em then." He really means: "Boy, these knuckleheads don't even know what a bad team they've got. I hope I can get another job during the winter."

When a sports broadcaster says: "Stay tuned for more exciting game action." He really means: "I know it's 49-0 at the half, folks, but please, for our sponsors' sake, stay tuned. I can beg if you like..."

When a player's agent says: "I don't foresee any problems with Billy Bob signing a new contract." He really means: "Billy Bob ain't running one play until this club signs over at least 50 percent of the gross."

WHEN A GENERAL manager says: "This trade will be good for both clubs." He really means: "We really robbed those suckers."

When a coach says: "We have the nucleus of a great team." He really means: "We've got one halfway decent center and if he gets hurt, we're in trouble."

When a manager says: "That kid gives 110 percent, all the time." He really means: "The guy's got no talent, but the fans really love him, so I've got to play him."

When a free agent athlete says: "I love this city and I really want to finish my career here." He really means: "I'll be on the first plane to Los Angeles in the morning."

When the college football coach says: "It should be a close, well-played football game. These guys may be 0-11, but they'll still be tough." He really means: "If my team doesn't blow these losers out of the stadium, it's going to be double drills in full gear for the next week."

When a guy everyone in the world knows is going to be a team's next manager or coach says: "I've never been contacted about that job." He really means: "I'm signed, sealed, delivered and looking for a house in town."

When a sports broadcaster says: "This crafty veteran is finishing up a great career." He really means: "The old clown has lost his touch — it's time to hang 'em up and retire."

When an athlete's lawyer says: "I wouldn't want to comment on Jim Billy Linebacker's case. He really means: "I haven't the foggiest notion of what is going on."

WHEN THE WINNING coach of a poorly officiated game says: "The referee may have missed a call or two, but after all, he is only human." He really means: "That ref really called a brutal game... I'm just glad he didn't call those 14 penalties against us."

When the losing coach of a poorly officiated game says: "XO!# X!!## #!!!!!!!" He really means: "XO!#Y!####!!!!!!"

When a ticket seller at a baseball stadium says: "These are the best seats in the park." He really means: "They're behind a post, but whaddy want for $9, a seat in the dugout?"

When a coach who was fired after his team completed its ninth consecutive undefeated season says: "Well, that's the way it goes. I just wish I could have brought this club a winning season." He really means: "What, me worry? The management still has to pay me for the 16 years left on my long term, guaranteed contract."

When a quarterback says: "That team's defense did a great job — my receivers were covered all day." He really means: "If some of my butter-fingered receivers had held on to those great passes I threw, we might not have lost 49-0."

When a member of the management says: "We don't plan on making any changes in personnel; we'll stick with the players we have." He really means: "We'll trade the waterboy away if it'll win a game for us."

These are just a few examples of sports doubletalk encountered by sports fans each day as they watch games and sportscasts or read sports sections of their newspaper.

And while such doubletalk may be confusing enough to us, consider the beleaguered, bilingual Canadian sports fan. He/she has to listen to that jibberish in English and French-Canadian. That combination would be enough to make even the most ardent fan say: "I give up!" And mean it.

Bruins win turkey tourney

The Grosse Pointe Midget Bruins won their second consecutive Thanksgiving Tournament at Fraser Hockeyland last weekend. The first two Bruin victories were by a 6-0 score over Lakeland and a 5-3 score over league-rival Sterling Heights.

The third game saw the Bruins notch a 5-2 win over the Toronto Royal Nationals. After the visitors opened the scoring, Tom Davis slid a shot along the ice to tie the game. The Bruins then rattled off four consecutive goals. Tom Madden scored on a pretty passing play from Chris Luongo and Marty Sanclemente. Rankin Barker scored next, converting a Stacy Rickert pass from the corner. Mike Brykalski and Sanclemente scored the fourth and fifth goals to close out the scoring.

The Nov. 28 championship game saw the same two teams square off for the finals. Grosse Pointe went ahead on a shot from the point by Luongo. Sanclemente next set linemate Madden up for the second goal. Toronto rallied with a goal to cut the Bruin margin to one, but late third period goals by Bob Nelson and Barker iced the victory, 4-1.

The Bruins now prepare for the opening round of the Silver Stick Regional Tournament opening this weekend at the St. Clair Shores Civic Arena.

North: 'shooting' for top in '82

By Peggy O'Connor

Ray Ritter may have done his job too well.

Ritter, North High's varsity basketball coach, wanted to fill his squad's 1982-83 non-conference schedule with some tough teams — and that's just what he's managed to do. North will play such top east side teams as Sterling Heights and Sterling Heights Ford, then face Highland Park and River Rouge — two of the state's top-10 ranked teams — on the road.

"We tried to go out and get good teams to prepare for tournament play... maybe we've done too good a job," Ritter laughs.

But Ritter is used to doing a good job at North. He took a team which finished 6-15 in 1980-81 and turned it into a 14-8 winner which finished third in the Bi-County and beat South in district tournament play before losing to Bishop Gallagher in the district finals.

And while that 6-15 team of two years ago lost all of its non-conference games to the same tough teams North will face this year, Ritter feels that this year's squad will be able to stand up to such a challenge... even better than last year's team could have.

"I really think we have more potential than last year. We may have been bigger last year, but I think we'll be a better shooting team this year," Ritter says.

NORTH'S STARTING five isn't quite set yet because of an injury to 6-6 senior center Mark Davey. If Davey can come back quickly, Ritter will move 6-3 senior Bob Wujek to the big forward spot. Dries Van Landuyt, at 6-2, would play the small forward spot and 6-1 junior Mike Hall would move into a guard position. If Davey isn't ready to start the Dec. 3 opener at Sterling Heights, Wujek would be at center, 6-0 senior Bill

McEnroe would man one guard position, and either Rich Pelt or John Menzo, each at 5-10, would fill the other guard spot. Hall and Van Landuyt would serve as forwards.

North lost a center, two guards and a forward from last year's squad, but Ritter doesn't sound too worried about the prospect of breaking in that new starting five. "We lost a lot, but I feel good about the kids we have coming back."

"We'll have a good shooting team and I think we'll play well on defense. We don't have the great team speed or the size... but I'm convinced we'll shoot better than last season," Ritter says.

Ritter thinks North will join L'Anse Creuse ("they're awfully big"), Lakeview and Clintondale as the four top teams in the league. The Bi-County league championship is one goal Ritter and his team have set for themselves this season. "We'd like to win the districts, too, and that's going to be difficult because there are some really good ballclubs in this district."

Ritter says the key to North's hopes this season is its shooting game... and not letting its size and speed disadvantages get the best of the Norsemen.

"If we can get people back so we're not exploited on the fast-break, and if we don't get hurt on the boards, we should be all right."

And if North can keep its shooting game going and get past those non-conference tough guys Ray Ritter did such a great job scheduling, the Norsemen might just achieve a few of those goals it has set this season. And evidently, Ritter thinks they can.

"I'm looking forward to a good season."

South hopes a little spirit goes a long way

By Peggy O'Connor

South varsity basketball coach George Petrouleas knows his Blue Devils have a tough act to follow when they begin their season this week — just a short three weeks after South's football team concluded its exciting, 9-1 season with a playoff appearance.

But Petrouleas is counting on the momentum generated by the football team, plus some help from four of his players who were part of that winning grid squad, to help patch a few holes in his graduation-riddled basketball team.

Despite the fact that those four football players (including two who will start for Petrouleas) will need about one month to make the transition to basketball, ("and frankly, we don't have that much time," Petrouleas says) the coach feels that the basketball picture isn't quite as gloomy as it looks.

"I'm semi-optimistic," Petrouleas says, "considering that we're starting from scratch as far as a starting unit goes."

That "semi" in the semi-optimistic is because Petrouleas has only six returning lettermen — none of whom were starters last year when South compiled a 10-4 league record and finished 14-7 overall. The Blue Devils were eliminated from state playoff action by North, 54-43, in the first round.

The optimism comes from the fact that Petrouleas thinks that prospective starters Jim Arnold and Brian Rathsburg will bring some of the "magic" with them from South's winning football team.

Petrouleas says he also knows it will take a lot more than a winning attitude to come close to achieving what the Blue Devils did last year — not to mention what they did in the 19-3 "dream" season of 1980-81.

To do that, Petrouleas will need a maximum effort from each of his starters: forward/center Chris Cruthis, a 6-6 senior; 6-0 guard Ted Aurelius and 5-11 junior guard Brian Rathsburg; 6-2 junior forward Jim Arnold; and 6-5 center Pete Toenjes. Guard Eric Loudermilk will fight it out with Rathsburg for one guard spot — if Loudermilk can return from an injury. Another Rathsburg, 6-1 senior Bill Rathsburg, is also pushing for a spot at guard.

"This year we have a lot of question marks in terms of whether the kids can play as a unit... with only four seniors returning, that may be a problem," Petrouleas says.

Size-wise, the 1982-83 Blue Devils should be about average. The squad's strength will lie in its quickness and overall shooting ability, according to Petrouleas. He also expects the fine play of his guards to be a key to the team's success.

Petrouleas sees the always-competitive teams from Mt. Clemens and East Detroit as stumbling blocks to South's conquest of the Eastern Michigan League. Of the remaining EML teams, only L'Anse Creuse North emerges as a dark horse candidate for the league title.

"Once again, our first five games will be very tough. We open with Highland Park, a team recognized as one of the best in the state. Then we have Notre Dame, Utica Ford, North and Sterling Heights — four of the top teams on the east side," Petrouleas says.

Despite the question marks inherent with a young starting squad, Petrouleas has set some lofty goals for this year's Blue Devils.

"Our first goal is to win the league title; our second goal is to at least win the district title and get to the regionals; and our third goal is to win as many ballgames as we can. I think the kids are realistic. It's just a question of how badly we want it."

"And after those first five games... we'll know."

ULS tries to stay on top

By Craig Van Vliet

The University Liggett School basketball team may not have the edge in height but it will be tough to dethrone as Michigan Independent Athletic Conference (MIAC) champions when the Knights open their basketball season at Harper Woods High School Dec. 3.

The ULS Knights, coached by Tony Gallaher, will have four returning seniors in the starting line-up from last year's 18-4 season.

The Knights will start 5-11 guard senior Jeff "JT" Parks; 5-7 guard, senior Larry Van Kirk; 6-1 center junior Brian Hunt and 6-1 forward, senior Dave Chamberlain. Fighting for the fifth starting position are 5-10 forward senior Steve Jackson and 5-10 forward senior John Polizzi.

Coach Gallaher realizes that he doesn't have much height in his starting line-up. "We don't have much height but we make up for it by having strong kids and a senior-dominated team with speed and experience."

Returning as a four-year starter is J.T. Parks who was the first team all league and honorable mention all state last year. "J.T. is an experienced aggressive guard," Gallaher said. "He can drive the ball down the court and shoot."

ULS will have to face a new entrant in the MIAC league — Bethesda Christian. "Bethesda should be a tough game for us," Gallaher said. "They supposedly have a 6-8 center who grew from 6-5 from last year. We're also looking out for Southfield Christian. They have the potential to be strong."

"We'd like to repeat as league champions," Gallaher said, "but my main goal is to get the boys playing together as a senior group. That is all I can ask of them."

The University Liggett School varsity ice hockey team opened its regular season on Saturday, Nov. 20 with a come-from-behind, 4-4 tie. The Knights fell behind by two goals within the first minute of the game before power play goals by Tom Dow and Brian Valice 24 seconds apart tied the score. The opponents from Cabrini scored again before the period ended to take a 3-2 lead. Marty Wittmer scored an unassisted goal right from the second period face off to tie the game at 3-3. Cabrini scored late when a player slipped the puck behind ULS goalie Todd Blake with 28 seconds left in the second period. John Kulka finished out the scoring when he lifted a Dan French rebound over the Cabrini goalie. Other assists went to Wittmer and Walter Connolly. ULS outshot its opponents, 21-19.

The following weekend the Knights traveled across Ontario to play in an Early Bird Tournament at Ridley College in St. Catharines, Ontario. In three games the Knights scored 17 goals and gave up only eight, beating Ridley College, 4-3, Nichols School, 5-2 and Appleby College, 8-3.

ULS placed three players on the seven-man Tournament All-Star team, goalie George Zinn, defenseman Valice and forward Wittmer.

The scoring was spread out among the team members. Jim Raymo led the team with four goals; Dow found the back of the net three times; and Valice, Wittmer and Bill Scarfone each scored twice throughout the tournament. Single tallies were added by Rick Roberts, Connolly, Jim Valice and Kulka.

It was a great start to a very promising season. ULS had some key injuries early this year, but the team members are playing the best hockey they have played in three years.

The next game is on the road against Jackson Lumen Christi this Saturday, Dec. 4 at 7 p.m. The Knights' first home game is next Saturday, Dec. 11, against Lakeview High School.

Panthers lead Pointe

The seventh grade Parcels Panthers won the Pointe middle school championship this month, defeating Brownell, 32-16, and finishing with a 9-2 record. Led by scoring leaders (above) Robin Wheatley and Helen Mikelic, the Panthers also included Andrea Tryloff, Amy Brennan, Christina Fleming, Nancy Woods, Laura Bingaman, Kristen Gast, Jenny Czerniakowski, Julie Koerber, Pam Benson and Andrea Gustafson.

Parcels eighth grade basketball team also finished the season on a high note, compiling a 7-5 record. Led in scoring by Missy Preston, with six points per game, and Leslie Talos, with five points per game, the Panthers also included (above) Kristina Selmo, Beth Nixon, Jenny Wyels, Sue Haskell, Chris Kutscher, Hillary Hall, Beth Keys, Beth Trupiano, Debbie Thiede and Mary Beth Seagram.

Marlies tie three games

The Grosse Pointe Bantam AA Marlboros played some of their best hockey prior to the Thanksgiving holidays, earning ties against St. Clair Shores, Royal Oak and Port Huron before dropping a league game to Lakeland.

Grosse Pointe fought back from 2-0 and 3-2 deficits as they outskated St. Clair Shores to earn the 3-3 tie. Joe Sullivan led the Marlies with two goals and one assist and linemate Kevin Tisdale set up two Pointe tallies. Tom Ugval added the third Marlie score on a pass from defenseman Brian Hien.

Port Huron journeyed to Grosse Pointe and was dominated by the home team, even though the final was a 3-3 tie. Marlie wingers Ugval, Jamie Parker and Richard Pesogna provided the scoring punch with Eric Warezak, Bill Alcott and Parker getting credit for assists with their setup passes. The Marlies saw their 3-2 lead erased in the final minute of play when Port Huron scored the equalizer on a power play.

The Marlies' Ugval provided all the Marlie scoring against Royal Oak with his two goals. Ugval's linemate Tisdale set up Ugval's first goal when he pounced on a loose puck in the corner and fired a perfect pass to Ugval at the goal mouth. Ugval's second goal came when he redirected Scott Neid's slap shot. Royal Oak rallied in the closing minutes to tie the contest at 2-2.

The Lakeland Hawks were the Marlies' most recent opponent and they handed Grosse Pointe a 5-2 loss. Lakeland broke out on top with two quick goals before Marlie center Donahue closed the gap on a picture goal after taking a centering pass from Parker. Tisdale tied the game after forechecking by Donahue and Rob Koehler set up the play.

The Marlies will resume play this week.

NH cheerleaders are finalists

North High's varsity cheerleading squad took a finalist spot in the Ohio Region-National High School Cheerleading competition held at Miami of Ohio University on Nov. 20. The competition was North's fourth and marked the second time North has finished in the top 10.

Attending the competition were North seniors Sue Dickenson and Kathy Gowen; juniors Kelley Brady and Tina Parmentier; and sophomores Chrissy Jara, Kathleen Mazey, Liz Minnella, Rosemary Mualum, Sue Roland, Pennee Tsangalias, Karen Turnbull and Linda Valice. The squad was accompanied by coach Linda Ritter.

North's three minute routine consisted of a cheer with a four-high mount and a pom-pom routine to the music "Climbing" by Kool and the Gang.

The 27 competing high school squads came from Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee. Teams were scored on projection, fundamental skills, group techniques, crowd appeal and overall effect. The first place squad, Greenup, Ky., has also won the nationally televised National Championship in Miami, Fla., the past two years.

Caulkins tops squash novice

Pointer Chuck Caulkins defeated Bob Carl, of Toledo, Ohio, last weekend to win the Michigan Squash Racquets Association 15th annual Novice Tournament at the Detroit Tennis and Squash Club in Farmington.

Caulkins, a member of the Detroit Racquets Club, went through the draw without losing one game. He topped Carl in three games, 15-4, 15-7, 15-9.

Grosse Pointe Hockey Association

CENTER ICE

The Grosse Pointe Hockey Association's Squirt division earned its Thanksgiving holiday break after a week's worth of hard-fought games. Results from some of those games follow.

NORTH STARS-HUSKIES
Dave Hea's high-flying North Stars prevailed as Stars Richard Harder and Pete Cueter scored twice to lead the team to a 6-5 win. Scott Partridge scored twice for the Huskies. Jeff Giacobbe had three assists for the North Stars.

ISLANDERS-NORTH STARS
The outcome was never in doubt as the North Stars scored in every period to take a 4-0 win over the Islanders. Darren Burt registered his first shutout of the year behind the defensive support of Rami Hanna and Dan Henry. Charlie Stumb scored three goals and Johnnie Morreale added another for the Stars.

HUSKIES-OILERS
In the best game of the season so far, the Huskies defeated the Oilers, 1-0, behind the shutout goaltending of Brian Dennis and a Geoff Antonenko goal with less than eight minutes remaining. Each team played well on defense in a close-checking game.

NORTH STARS-OILERS
The league-leading North Stars ran their record to 5-0, handing the Oilers a 5-3 setback. Matt

Moroun scored twice. Stumb added a pair of goals and Jackie McSorley added the other Stars' goal. Renato Roxas, Greg Semack and Kevin McCracken fired in goals for the Oilers.

OILERS-ISLANDERS
In earlier Squirt action, the Oilers and Islanders played to a 2-2 tie. Paul Bogos put the Oilers on the board with his unassisted tally, but the Islanders' Bob Cass tied the game with 23 seconds left in the first period. Billy Schervish put the Islanders on top with his first career goal before Jeff Osborne tied it up for the Oilers. Islander goaltender Kevin Bai preserved the tie when he skated 30 feet out of the net to stop Semack's breakaway.

ISLANDERS-HUSKIES
The Islanders overpowered the Huskies to gain a 5-1 win. Sreedhar Samudrala, Toby Wolff and Steve Bai notched goals before Derek Smith scored the Huskies' only goal late in the second period. The Islanders' Schervish added a goal in the third period before Nick Lorenzini scored into an empty net.

Meghan makes net semifinals

Meghan McMahon, 17, of Whittier Road, was the only unseeded player to reach the semifinals of the National Girls' 18 Indoor Championships in Overland Park, Kan., Nov. 24 through 29.

McMahon was defeated in the semifinal round by the No. 7 seed, Michelle Torres, of Illinois — but not before she made her mark on the national tennis scene.

McMahon defeated the No. 16 seed, Stephanie Savides, of Los Altos, Calif., 6-1, 6-3, in the first round and topped the No. 6 seed, Amy Holton, of Sarasota, Fla., 6-1, 7-6, in the round of 16. To gain the semifinals, McMahon had to stop the momentum of Anne Grousebeck, of Weston, Md., who had previously upset the No. 1 seed, Leigh Ann Eldredge, of California. McMahon's other victims included another Californian, Maria LaFranchi, and the talented Michaela Washington, of Schwartz Creek.

McMahon, who won the Class A, flight one state high school tennis title in October without losing a match, is coached by Joe Shaheen of the Wimbledon Racquet Club.

North cagers end season

By Paul Regelbrugge
Bishop Gallagher ended the Norsemen's season on a losing note last week, 40-27. The loss left North win an 11-9 overall record. Judy Thams led North's scorers with eight points in what was an excellent defensive effort for the girls.

Earlier, Seagram's nine points paced North's girl cagers to a 33-28 conquest of the Lakeview Huskies. The win concluded the girls' regular season with an 11-8 overall record, and 8-4 in the Bi-County League, good enough for a third place tie.

The JV also finished 11-8, while placing second in the Bi-County with victories over L'Anse Creuse, 36-29, Dearborn Edsel Ford, 28-25, and Lakeview, 33-22.

Dawn Cartwright excelled against L'Anse Creuse with 12 points. Sandy Kiers and Kelly Brennan led the way with five points each at Edsel Ford.

A regular shift

Taking a regular shift at center for the Ferris State College Bulldog hockey team this season is Grosse Pointe North High School graduate Scott Seaver. Seaver, a Ferris freshman, played the center spot in seven of the Bulldogs' first eight games. He played last year for the Redford Royals, scoring 86 points in 43 games.

Crescent Sail gets facelift

Crescent Sail Yacht Club is about to undergo a major renovation and addition. The club, housed in the gambrel-roofed boathouse designed by the late Albert Kahn, will receive a second story and a larger galley. The changes have been designed by architect Michael H. Trautman.

"In the renovating, we kept the exterior compatible with Kahn's work," Trautman said. In an interior characterized by exposed timber beams and trusses, Trautman used some passive solar techniques for providing natural ventilation and control of the summer sun. "At the same time, roof windows allow winter light to penetrate deep into the building."

"In working out the design, we were careful to plan removal of the old galley so we could design the new portion to be compatible with Kahn's design, even though the new structure is two stories," Trautman said.

The new construction is about 1,500 square feet. Space allows for a second floor bosun's apartment and enlargement of the galley adding an increased seating capacity of about 25 people.

The boat house was part of the Henry Joy estate built around 1910 and since destroyed. The house is full of history, including nostalgic points like the "crow's nest." Not much bigger than a tree house, the crow's nest overlooks the interior waters of the boat house — which itself is situated on a peninsula jutting out into Lake St. Clair off Lakeshore Road.

Runner-up spot for Blue Devils

The Squirt A Blue Devils earned a team trophy for their runner-up finish in the Grosse Pointe Hockey Association Thanksgiving Tournament. Sponsor Emmet Tracy Jr. accepted the trophy for GPD, Inc.

Blue Devil coaches Lou Suvak and Jeff Nacu were pleased with the performance of the newly-established Blue Devils as they downed Windsor Club 240, 6-2, and topped the Toronto Royal Nationals, 11-0. Tripp Tracy got his fourth shutout of the season in that game.

The Blue Devils lost the championship to a strong Southgate team.

The Grosse Pointe Blue Devils will meet Wayne in the first game of the 13th annual Michigan Silver Stick Invitational Tournament regionals tonight, Thursday, Dec. 2, at 8 p.m. at the St. Clair Shores Civic Arena.

Five professional athletes ran for public office in recent times, and won. Bob Mathias, Venegar Mizell, Bill Bradley, Jack Kemp and Ralph Metcalf. Five professional novelists ran for public office in recent times, and lost. Gore Vidal, Bill Buckley, Norman Mailer, James Michener and Jimmy Breslin.
