While the entire world seemed to go slightly crazy with the "wearing of the green" last Thursday, (St. Patrick's Day), one Grosse Pointe court clerk unaffected by it all showed up for work dressed completely in purple. Gasp!

As the day wore on, well meaning questions about "why aren't you wearing something green today?" began to grow a bit wearisome.

Finally, to make everyone happy (and get some work done), the lady reached into her purse, pulled out a crisp $100 bill, shaped it into a flower and pinned it to her lapel.

Now that's what can really be called the "wearing of the green."

Grosse Pointe bussing

This is the kind of bussing story everyone can smile about. Sisters Mary Jo and Diana Mangiarelli decided they'd like to do something special for their dad Tony Mangiarelli, co-owner (with Don Duchene) of the Bronze Door.

So Tuesday evening, the girls loaded 35 of their friends into a bus adorned with big "Bronze Door or Bust" banners and drove in from Ann Arbor to pop in on the Farms restaurateurs.

"We wanted to surprise our dad and his partner and show the restaurant off to our friends," said Mary Jo, 28. "They've heard us talking about it enough."

Mary Jo works as a cosmetologist while Diana, 24, is following in dad's footsteps by working as manager of the Cottage Inn restaurant in A².

No word yet whether the girls could get dad to pop for 35 free meals.

Do you have Ripple?

It may take some time, but it appears customers may someday be able to pick up some wine along with hot fudge Sundaes at Sanders, down in the Village. Apparently, the company, long known for its ice cream, candy and top-of-the-line hot fudge sauce, hopes to obtain a beer and wine license.

Before anyone becomes upset, a company spokesman stressed the sales would not be for consumption on the premises, nor would cases of beer be "stacked all over the store."

They do hope to sell small splits of champagne and dessert wines in the gift baskets the store makes to order. Company officials said the licensing process is a lengthy and involved one. If the license is granted, the Grosse Pointe Sanders store would be the first one in Michigan offering such a service.

Liquor lawyer

Apparently, more than a few persons are taking the new drunk driving laws quite seriously.

After downing more than a few brewskis at Sparky Herbert's last week, one prominent local attorney was overheard saying (half jokingly, it's hoped) that he intended to beat the new law by hiring himself a chauffeur to squire him around town during Happy Hour. Come to think of it, that might not be a bad idea. Booze control instead of cruise control.

The new drunk driving laws go into effect at 12:01 a.m. March 30. For more information on the laws and the stiffer penalties that accompany them, see page one of this week's Grosse Pointe News.

An old idea draws fresh attention from six cities

By Mike Andrzejczyk

A single community of 75,000 people running from Kelly Road to Lakeshore, from Old Eight Mile to Alter? It sounds far-fetched, but think of funding only one government instead of the six in the Pointes and Harper Woods.

The six communities have thought of that, too, and have applied for money for a study by Metropolitan Affairs Corp. to see if certain services can be combined, which could mean both efficiency and savings for the cities.

Harper Woods, Grosse Pointe Woods, the Farms and the Shores have passed resolutions expressing interest in the study. Grosse Pointe Park's council tabled the action at its March 14 meeting, asking for more information about Metropolitan Affairs and the cost to the city.

THE CITIES are asking the company to see whether they can save money by combining such services as police and fire dispatching, water meter reading, jail facilities and prisoner transportation, tornado warning system, purchasing, propane fuel, burglary protection and grant applications.

"We're all sort of interested in saving money," Harper Woods City Manager-Clerk Elinor Cramer said, a sentiment echoed by Pointe city managers.

"We're looking at the areas to save money," Shores Village Superintendent Michael Kenyon said. Central purchasing could mean buying in larger volumes and lower unit prices for each community, he added.

Metropolitan Affairs Corp. is a private, non-profit company whose board of directors represents business labor and government, MAC administrative manager B. David Sanders said. The company is supported through the contributions of business and labor organizations, but is looking to foundations for grants to continue its work, he added.

The study would bring visits from company representatives to the communities to assess a variety of needs and determine which can be combined at the greatest savings in dollars and manpower.

Educator in June school board race

By Joanne Gouleche

The June 13 school board election turned into a three-way race after the announcement last week of a third candidate for one of two trustee seats.

Candidate Thomas R. Peters of Grosse Pointe Farms said some "crucial decisions" will be facing the Board of Education in the coming months and he believes he has the background and experience to offer the educational system.

"INFLATION IS stretching the taxpayers to their limits, while never before was it more important for parents to give their children a solid educational foundation with which to go on to college or face the adult world," Peters said.

to the cities, Woods Administrative Aide Gerard McNamara said.

THE SIX communities already have a number of joint ventures going, he added. They all belong to the Grosse Pointe-Clinton Refuse Disposal Authority, which has operated an incinerator along with Mount Clemens and Clinton Township since 1972.

Five of the six communities signed a single contract for cable television service with Grosse Pointe Cable, Park City Manager John Crawford pointed out. Consolidation of services doesn't mean a loss of local authority, he added.

The five Pointes also considered forming a single district court to replace the five municipal courts. That was scotched after an audit report by Coopers & Lybrand said the cost would be prohibitive.

The six communities became the sixth coalition of southeastern Michigan governments to ask for a study of intergovernmental ventures, Sanders said. MAC has received requests from five coalitions representing 48 municipalities so far, he added.

The idea of consolidating at least some of the Pointes has been discussed since 1958. The Farms, Park and City city councils that year received a report they commissioned from Citizens Research Council of Michigan that detailed the savings of combining the three communities.

On Jan. 31 of this year, Farms police received a report to be on the look-out for a drunk driver on Lakeshore Road.

Officers spotted the man straddling a traffic island, trying a u-turn. At the station, a check showed the driver with six prior convictions for drunken driving and also an expired license.

IN POLICE parlance, he blew a 26 on the breathalyzer. His breath registered 0.26 on the breathalyzer test, two and one half times over Happy first day of spring. Monday brought seven inches of snow and a new song called "The Dreaming of a White Easter." It seemed so cold that the Easter Bunny was due to be replaced by a snowshoe hare. Actually, it's not all that bad considering the winters we usually receive. Michigan gathered only 10.3 inches of the white stuff through March 20, 1983, compared to 64.5 for the same time last year. Don't worry too much about those early blooming flowers or trees either. The snow acts as an insulation for the flowers, although it will diminish the productivity of early budding trees and shrubs. An added bonus is the extra moisture the late snowfall brings, plus the fact it helps fertilize the lawn through the nitrogen carried in the flakes. Doesn't that make you feel better?

Stiff drinks bring stiffer laws

the 0.1 legal intoxication limit in Michigan.

"That is incredibly drunk," said the arresting officer. "But believe it or not we've had regular people register in the .30's. When they're that high you have to watch them constantly. They could have to go to the hospital."

Farms police are seeking a felony warrant against the driver asking for a mandatory jail term of one year. They don't know if they'll get it.

One thing that may help them in the future is the new, tough drunk driving laws that go into effect in the state on March 30.

The new laws, which were signed by the Governor last October, include three charges: operating a vehicle while under the influence of liquor (OUIL); operating a vehicle while ability is impaired by alcohol (OWI) and a "per se" law which makes it a violation for a motorist with a blood alcohol content (BAC) of 0.1 percent to operate a vehicle, regardless of the effect the alcohol has on the person's ability to drive.

Actually, the person doesn't even have to be driving the car. A recent Michigan Supreme Court decision upheld an officer's right to arrest a drunken driver waiting in a parked car sitting in a parking lot, or pulled over to the side of the road "sleeping it off."

A MOTORIST convicted of drunk driving under the new laws could pay more than $1,000 in fines, court expenses, attorney fees and for other court ordered treatment, reports the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Other expenses could be higher insurance premiums and lost time on the job after court appearances. The drunk driving laws leave intact current jail and fine penalties for offenses, but impose more severe license sanctions, including a mandatory six month to two year suspension for a first drunk driving conviction.

A second offense within seven years would result in a minimum one year license suspension while a third offense in 10 years could result in a suspension of five years.

The new laws also allow the court to sentence anyone convicted of a drunk driving offense to up to 12 days of community service.

"Drunken driving is a national concern," says Farms Chief of Police Robert Ferber. "These new laws will make Michigan the second toughest state on drunk drivers. Currently, California has the hardest laws. It also shows what one person can do on a national basis."

"A California woman's 14-year-old child was killed by a drunk driver. When officers told her that probably nothing much would happen to the driver, she felt like she wanted to kill."

"Instead she channeled her rage into changing the laws. She founded MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Drivers). That's what it's all about."

THE AAA POINTED out that a key change in the law is that an officer can administer a standard roadside breathalyzer test to determine if a drunk driving arrest is warranted. Refusing the test can result in a $100 fine.

Another provision says refusal to take the traditional breathalyzer test at the police station will result in a mandatory license suspension of six months and six points. A second refusal, within seven years, will result in suspension.

Serious crime is on the decline

By Susan McDonald

The Park's crime rate, usually the highest of the five Pointes, dropped by 6 percent in 1982 according to the police department's annual report. Similar declines in "serious" crimes for the year were reported in the City, Woods and Shores.

Leading the way in the downturn in the Park were burglaries. Residents reported 124 incidents in 1982, down 22 percent from the year before. The number of aggravated assaults, robberies and larcenies also dropped, while car theft showed an 8 percent increase.

PARK POLICE Chief Henry Counce was pleased with the decline, especially in light of the sharp jump in the crime rate reported last year in neighboring Detroit.

He credited it to good police work by his department and more attention to security by residents. Seven percent more calls for help were logged by Park police in 1982, Counce said. People also were more alert about stangers in their neighborhoods and hazards such as unlocked doors in their homes, he said.

"WE'RE GETTING better cooperation from residents and receiving more calls from them about suspicious activity. They're more aware of what they have to do to prevent crime."

Figures drawn from the annual reports issued by all five local police departments show the Park with the highest rate for serious (Part I) crimes, followed closely by the Farms, City, Woods and Shores in that order. The rate was slightly lower than the state average and about half of Detroit's.

The chart (below) shows the number of Part I crimes reported by police departments and a rate per 1,000 persons based on the 1980 census. All figures are from 1982, except for the state of Michigan, which is from 1981. (1982 figures are not yet available). Detroit statistics include only crimes reported through November of 1982. Part I crimes are homicide, rape, robbery, burglary, larceny, motor vehicle theft and aggravated assault.

How city crime rates compare

	Part I crimes	Rate per 1,000 people
Shores	44	14/1,000

Right ON Dave!

This tongue-in-cheek sign has brought a lot of smiles to the residents of Calvin Road in the Farms. The sign stands at the intersection of Calvin and an alley that runs parallel to Mack Avenue. It appeared magically one night about two weeks ago when Kay Moore (mother of the mysterious Dave) was in Florida. According to Mrs. Moore, young Dave has a habit of zigging left at the intersection when he should be zigging right. Dave and Mrs. Moore both swear they don't know who put the sign up but really appreciate the thought. Incidentally, Farms police were equally baffled, but bemused.

Third candidate joins school board race

 a changing curriculum, crucial decisions will have to be made. I think it would be an opportune time for me to seek election so that I could bring some of my experience in education to bear on current issues," Peters added.

The 53-year-old candidate is employed by Blue Cross/Blue Shield in public relations. He is married with three children and has lived in the Pointe for 15 years.

 To be sure, one of those "crucial" decisions is the soon-to-be announced school closings in Grosse Pointe. Peters said he has not read the citizen report on enrollment decline in Pointe public schools and would not comment further on possible school closings, except to say he agrees with the direction the Board of Education has taken so far on the issue.

A former educator in Detroit and at South High School, Peters said he has some "strong ideas" about education, including a belief that "the second most dynamic force in society after the parent in the area of influence, guidance and motivation, is the teacher."

"I BELIEVE that nearly every American, no matter where he or she grew up or went to school, or how old at this time, can recall a teacher who had a profound influence on his or her life or philosophy. The most important person in any educational system after the student is the teacher," Peters said.

He added "cultivating and encouraging excellence in teaching is the first priority of any school system."

Peters left South High as an English teacher in 1969 and joined the Detroit Free Press as education coordinator, where he originated graduate workshops for teachers in cooperation with Wayne State and Michigan State Universities. The following year he became a consultant to the White House Conference on Children after coordinating a project for sociologist Urie Bronfenbrenner. Peters received his Master's degree in secondary education from Wayne. He joined Blue Cross/Blue Shield in 1972.

Peters, who sits on the board of directors of The Friends of the Grosse Pointe Public Libraries, is author of the book, "The Education of Tom Webber." The June 13 candidate maintains the Board of Education is elected to serve the community, but it must also work with educators so their ideas are communicated to taxpayers. Peters says he is ready to take on that responsibility.

"It helps when you have spent 15 years of your life in the field of education and another 15 as parent, community participator and interested citizen," Peters said.

Two other persons have announced their candidacy, Board of Education President Dorothy Kennel and Mason school parent Herbert Reeves. School officials report at least 12 persons have picked up nominating petitions to run in the June 13 election as of Monday, March 21. Candidates have until 4 p.m. Monday, April 11, to file the petitions.

Unlike previous years, school administrators refuse to disclose who has picked up the petitions until after the April 11 deadline.

Low cost health service offered

The Center Pointe Crisis Center provides low cost medical services on Tuesday evenings from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., including birth control information and methods, V.D. and herpes testing, pregnancy testing and cancer screening and marriage blood tests.

On Wednesday evenings from 8 to 9:30 p.m., the center also sponsors a legal clinic. A $10 donation is requested for services, but no one is turned away who can't afford to pay. For an appointment call 885-5222.

The clinic is located at 18412 Mack between Moross and Cadieux Roads.

Stiff drunk driving law

 sion of one year.

A survey by AAA shows that there are about 1.5 million Michigan motorists who drink and drive. A recent drinking driver study, "Under the Influence", states that on any weekend night before midnight, every 10th driver is legally drunk. After midnight, the number soars to one in five.

"In 1978, 48 percent of Michigan's fatal traffic accidents involved alcohol," the study added. "By 1981, the percentage had climbed to 56 percent."

The new laws also call for the creation of a 23-member task force to review all aspects of the state's drunk driving problem. Among items to be studied over a two-year period are proposed and existing legislation, educational efforts, law enforcement and judicial system activities. The task force will make recommendations to the governor and legislature.

the three cities into a single community with a council-city manager form of government would save money, mean better use of equipment and personnel and increase the level of services to residents.

The Metropolitan Affairs study would be of much smaller scope. Instead of cities, only certain services could be combined to mean better delivery to residents and savings for local governments which would maintain their autonomy.

MAC has been around since 1963, Sanders said. About three years ago, the company reorganized and changed its name from the Metropolitan Fund to Metropolitan Affairs.

Because funds are limited, the company's board of directors will review applications from several areas to decide which to fund, Sanders said. Each city involved will be expected to match in cash or in-kind contributions of staff time to support the study team, he added.

Realtors seek 1908 home

The Detroit Board of Realtors is conducting a search to find the most representative local home built in 1908 to enter in a nationwide competition sponsored by the National Association of Realtors.

Board President Craig W. Mercier says the board will use its records and those of the Detroit Historical Society and any other available sources to locate a 75-year-old home in the area which will best represent Detroit in the Diamond Jubilee Homes Competition to honor the finest examples of a 1908 American home. It is sponsored by the realtor organization in recognition of its 75th anniversary this year.

Correction

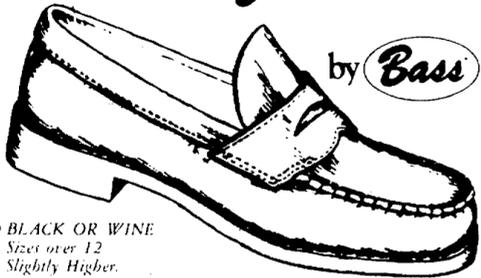

The Brownell Middle School bands and orchestra group will hold a rummage and bake sale on Saturday, March 26, not March 28 as reported in last week's issue.

Mercier said suggestions from everyone in the Detroit Board of Realtors territorial jurisdiction, which takes in Detroit and includes the cities of Hamtramck, Highland Park, Harper Woods and the Grosse Pointes will be welcome.

Anyone who owns a home built in 1908 or knows of someone who does, should contact the Detroit Board of Realtors at 961-6168, or send information to 1980 Penobscot Bldg., Detroit, Mich. 48226. The deadline for nominations is June 6.

The American Institute of Architects will appoint a special panel to judge photographs of 1908 homes nominated from across the country. The panel will choose 10 finalists and the owners will receive Certificates of Recognition from the association. The owner of the winning home will be awarded special recognition.

Assassins

They're stalking our cities

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Assassins have invaded this community and police are worried.

Assassins is a spin-off of a game college students play. Students choose up teams and try to "assassinate" other members with toy dart guns. A recent Detroit Free Press article highlighted some of the trouble Ann Arbor police are having with University of Michigan students playing the game.

The game has spread to North High School and some middle schools, Grosse Pointe Woods police say. At least a dozen reports of suspicious persons or vehicles, and persons armed with handguns have been attributed to the game.

Last Wednesday night, March 16, Woods police answered a call from a woman customer at Telly's Place on north Mack. She reported seeing two youths, possibly armed, wandering around the alley behind the bar and the store next door.

Police responded with two uniformed officers and two detectives, reports said. After searching the area, a detective found three local youths at the Big Boy restaurant across the street. Two were carrying toy dart pistols and told police they were playing the game. After a lecture, the three were sent on their way, reports said.

Although some weapons have been confiscated at North High School, Assistant Principal James Cooper said there have been no incidents reported of "hits" in the halls. One of the rules, he said, is to keep the assassinations out of the school.

The game can be fun and even profitable, but Woods Youth Officer William Desilets said it can also be dangerous.

Recently, a Woods officer confronted two youths in a back yard at night after reports of suspicious subjects in the area. It was dark, and the officer spotted two people wearing black face and camouflage clothing. He ordered them to stop. When one turned, the officer spotted what looked to be a gun. The officer, who had not drawn his side arm ordered the youth to drop his weapon. It turned out to be a toy dart gun.

That incident and others like it have alerted police to the students' playing. Desilets said, but doesn't lessen the danger the youths may really be assassinated by a frightened homeowner or overzealous resident.

"Somebody is going to get hurt," Desilets said. "The game isn't against the law, but technically it is an assault" to shoot someone with a dart. Besides the possible putting out of an eye from injury by the dart, other activities involved in the game have police concerned.

Those involved in the game sneak through back yards at night trying to get their rivals and could get hurt by unsuspecting homeowners, Desilets said. Someone defending their property from what they believe to be a prowler could mean serious injury, he said.

The game is usually played during the day, but had slipped into night playing, Desilets said. The game combines the thrill of sneaking around and "hitting" rivals and can mean a profit for the survivor.

Students can form families and buy memberships. They then either try to wipe out the rest of the family, or fight rival families. The survivors pick up the pot. Rules can limit the time and place assassinations can take place.

South High School officials said they have had no reports of incidents related to the game. "We haven't even heard of it," one school official said.

Cooper said the game was probably a spin-off of other group games that have come and gone, like Dungeons and Dragons. Parents are invited to come in and pick up confiscated weapons, he said, but "there haven't been too many takers."

While police are aware of the game's popularity, they still fear that confronting a dark shape in a back yard at night and spotting a hand gun could lead to a fatal mistake, Desilets said.

"We don't have that type of incident here. We've been very lucky in that respect," Desilets said. "But officers know you always get it when you least expect it, so they are always on their guard."

Biggest show in town

People flocked to take a last look at Henry Ford II's Lakeshore Road home (above) before wreckers finished the work they began last week. The home, built in 1927 for Roy Chapin and purchased by Ford in 1956, is being demolished to make room for development of 18 cluster homes to be built on the eight-acre site. If you haven't seen it yet, don't rush. Demolition reportedly will take up to six weeks.

Foam insulation removal problem is focus of a new local group

By Michael Raveane

A grassroots movement has been formed to get government action on the problem of urea formaldehyde insulation and other toxic substances in area homes.

The group, Citizens Engaged in Removal of Toxic Substance (CERTS), was founded on Jan. 27 as a non-profit organization to get legislation passed for direct money to homeowners for the removal of formaldehyde insulation. Some doctors have said that gas from the insulation may cause cancer and other health problems. More than 500,000 Michigan homes have been insulated with urea formaldehyde, according to CERTS.

CERTS, aside from seeking government money to remove the insulation, also wants tax assessments reduced because they claim the values of their homes have declined because of insulation. The group wants government standards established to deal with the problem.

A similar group in Canada was able to get homeowners up to $8,500 from the government to cover the removal costs of insulation. A bill passed in the Canadian parliament late last year that took effect on Jan. 1, also grants tax breaks to people with the insulation.

Rebecca Edwards, a Farms resident who is active in CERTS, said that a construction company recently said that it would charge her $11,000 to remove the insulation from her home. Her home was tested for formaldehyde gas recently. The test showed that there was a high level of the gas in the air. She blames the gas for some benign cysts on her dog.

"We can't sell our homes with that stuff in it," Mrs. Edwards said. "It's terrible. The government knew it was wrong and that there were health hazards."

CERTS is urging people concerned with the problem to write to Michigan's political leaders on the state and national level to force action. Aside from wanting money to remove insulation, CERTS would like to see government standards established for the insulation and reduced property taxes.

Mrs. Edwards said that officers have not been elected to CERTS as yet. About 30 people showed up for the first meeting in January, she said. Currently, she added, the amount of people expressing interest has "run into the hundreds."

LWV will hold defense forum

The Grosse Pointe League of Women Voters, as one of the 16 leagues which make up the Detroit Metropolitan Area LWV, will sponsor a program on national security today, Thursday, March 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the Southfield Civic Center Library Building. Special guest speakers for the forum are Col. Otis Bryan, deputy director of Air Force Issues Team, Air Force headquarters, and Dr. Maurice Walters, professor of political science at Wayne State University and associated with the Wayne State Center for Defense Matters.

The meeting will include a question and answer period following 30 minute presentations by the speakers, focusing on simplifying military armaments, facts and figures, and an in-depth look at conventional and nuclear weapons since World War II. This presentation is the first in a series to fulfill the scope and focus of the LWV national security study. The two-year study evaluated national security policies and their impact on domestic programs and relationships with other countries. The study looked at military policy, arms control and defense spending. The first segment for which LWV will be looking for consensus on from its members is military policy; the theories and strategies, the role and capability of weapons and the impact of U.S. foreign and military policy on other nations. All LWV meetings are open to the public.

Daffodil Days launch Cancer Society drive

Thousands of bright yellow daffodils will be delivered to schools, homes and businesses in Grosse Pointe and across Michigan next week by the American Cancer Society fundraisers. The daffodils, first flowers of spring, symbolize the beginning of Cancer Control month in April.

Among the local businesses which have signed up for buckets of flowers are Bon Secours Hospital, which bought 300 to pass out to patients on Easter Sunday; Cottage Hospital, where hospice volunteers will sell them to visitors; and Hill Merchant Association members. Other participating businesses are Hamlin's, the Diet Center, Sweetheart Bakery, Farina Granary, The Pappagallo Shop, Devonshire Drugs, Lochmoor Village Hardware, Ireland's, Jacobson's and Moehring Florist. Local doctors G. S. Jauakar, Foster Redding, John Bradford and Frances T. Day are all participating. Students at South High, Regina and Harper Woods schools also purchased flowers. The Harper Woods branch of the American Association for Retired Persons has volunteered to deliver the daffodils.

Individuals and businesses may join the drive by ordering a bucket of 100 daffodils for $40. Call JoAnn Pepe of the American Cancer Society, 557-5353. The flowers will be delivered March 30 or 31.

Funds raised from Daffodil Days will support American Cancer Society programs of research, education and service.

Vandalism costs both cities and offenders

By Mike Andrzejczyk
It was Halloween night. A 17-year-old Woods youth smashed a jack-o-lantern that was sitting on a neighbor's porch. It cost him $615 in fines, court costs and restitution.
Last January, Woods police reported 29 separate incidents of vandalism, almost double the number for the same time the year before. In addition, property losses totalled more than $2,500, almost 30 percent of the total losses last year to vandals in that city.
Vandalism, officially called malicious destruction of property, causes thousands of dollars of damage in the Pointes yearly. In 1982, the Farms reported 115 acts of vandalism with damages totalling $6,880. The year before, 157 acts were reported with a damage price tag of more than $14,000.
IN THE WOODS last year, 270 acts of vandalism cost $8,668. The year before, 355 acts were reported, but the damages cost $6,352.
The most common act in the city is shooting out car windows with a pellet gun, Woods police said. Damages to lawns after cars drive over them, commonly called "lawn-jobs," run a close second in frequency.

Vandalism isn't a seasonal crime, but it does seem to come and go, police said. Typical offenders are high school students who live in the area who may or may not have been drinking "out for what they call fun," Woods Youth Officer William Desilets said. Lawn-jobs and driving over lawns tend to be grudge-settlers, he said.
"It looks like a grudge offense," Desilets said. "Kids pull lawn-jobs on friends, or other students they have fights, arguments and so forth, with."
THE COST OF replacing a lawn after a lawn-job can vary, Desilets said. Depending on the severity of the damage, a small re-sodding bill may happen. A "good" lawn-job can mean the replacement of a lawn, he added.
Shores Public Safety director Joseph Vitale said the most common act in the village was the lawn-job, which he called a "plain cowardly act."
"They do them at night, when there's no one around," Vitale said.
While there is very little residents can do to protect themselves from vandals, there is something they can do to help police catch the criminals, Vitale said. Residents who see a car run over the lawn or a car speeding away from the scene of the crime should note down a description of the vehicle and its license number and call police, he said.

While it may seem like fun, vandalism is still a crime, punishable by 90 days in jail and a $500 fine, not including possible probation and curfew limitation, restitution and paying of court costs. Fines and costs can vary depending on the judges' sentence.
Juveniles might find themselves in juvenile court, while vandals 17 and older end up in municipal court. "Anybody we catch we would like to prosecute," Desilets said, a sentiment echoed by other police officials.
JUDGES SAY they look at the individual when passing sentence, looking for the cause of the act as much as the seriousness of the offense.
"What does happen is judges in the area look at the person," Park Municipal Judge Beverly Grobbel said. "They don't walk in and out with a sentence. Whatever might have caused the behavior is dealt with. The judges here are concerned about the situation behind the act."

While offenders may not get a jail sentence, they can expect to either repair the damage or pay restitution for the damage, Judge Grobbel said. Most offenders are repentant for their act, she said, adding that doing the work themselves to repair their damage has a lasting effect.
Woods Municipal Judge Patricia Schneider said vandalism is an offense she looks at with great concern. She considers the individual's character and the circumstances behind the act before passing sentence, the judge said.
While treating the causes behind the act, Judge Schneider pointed out that offenders should still be shown they have done wrong. Curfews, probation and restitution are "hopefully the best way to let them know that their life style will be somehow restricted," she said.
Both judges point to the Grosse Pointe Voluntary Probation Program as an effective tool for treatment and payment of restitution. "What I'm after is making the law effective," Judge Schneider said.

European summer trip offered

In conjunction with American International, Larry and Patty Kearney, of the Woods, are organizing a group of high school and college students for a tour of England and central Europe this summer.
The 28-day trip will visit Frankfurt and Munich, Germany, the Tyrol area of Austria, Venice, Rome and Florence, Italy, the Lake Geneva area and Paris, France, London, England, and Amsterdam.
The Kearneys are experienced travelers. They have camped throughout the U.S. and Canada, including Alaska and Hawaii. In 1981, the couple took a camping trip through Eastern Europe, visiting cities in the USSR, Poland, East Germany, Hungary and Czechoslovakia. Their latest trip ended two weeks ago, when the Kearneys returned from a six-month tour of the Far East.

Any students interested in the trip to Europe leaving July 4 and returning July 31 can contact the Kearneys at 886-2133.

To get his players ready for the season, Coach Rudy Hubbard of Florida A & M gathered his players daily in the college cafeteria for a brisk session of poetry recitations.

World Travel visits Amazon

Fern and Rip Zwickeys will present their film "Amazona" Wednesday, March 30, at 1:30 p.m. to the Senior Citizen World Travel and Geography Group of the Grosse Pointe Neighborhood Club.

Following a flight from Panama, the Zwickeys visit the primitive natives of the San Blas Islands off the coast of Panama. A flight into the South American interior shows the world's largest falls, the Iguassu Falls, with its 175 cataracts, that forms the border for three countries. Also visited is Brasilia, the modern capital of Brazil.

The film also travel along the Amazon, the world's largest river, which flows 4,000 miles from its source high in the Andes of Peru, spanning six countries and 3,000 miles of rain forest and jungle before reaching its delta. Iquitos, Peru and its environs near the source of the Amazon will also be visited. The Zwickeys then travel to Manaus and down to Belem, near the mouth of the Amazon.

Surinam, formerly Dutch Guiana, and its capital Paramaribo will be visited. A five-day trip into the jungle with a guide and three natives is also featured.

The island of Caracao in the Netherland Antilles is shown. Willemstad, the capital, with its pontoon bridge and Dutch-Caribbean houses painted in pastel shades is visited.

All senior citizens are invited to attend the free travel programs on Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at The Neighborhood Club, 17150 Water-

Insofar as is known, the world has not yet beat a path to the door of two Michigan men who recently were granted Patent No. 4,216,606 for their invention of a better mousetrap.

Venture capital is critical for recovery

"Emerging growth companies" are critical to southeast Michigan's future economic growth but their emergence may be hampered by problems in the state's venture capital supply system, according to a report recently released by the Metropolitan Affairs Corporation, a private non-profit regional affairs organization.

"This 'emerging growth' economic activity is extremely important to southwest Michigan because it is a source of rejuvenation and revitalization, based as it is upon entrepreneurial exploitation of innovative products and services," according to the report's author, Dr. David J. Brophy, Associate Professor of Finance in the University of Michigan's Graduate School of Business Administration.

Noting that some strides have been taken, Dr. Brophy said the area's current venture capital supply system is inadequate to meet future needs if emerging growth companies are going to play a role in the region's economic rehabilitation.

The report lists six steps to increase local access to venture capital and stimulate formation and development of emerging growth companies.

Those six steps are:

- Actively encourage local sources of institutional capital to establish venture capital investment outlets, on a profit-oriented basis, as their peers have done elsewhere.

- Build upon and improve the existing local venture capital network to facilitate the flow of information and investment.

- Encourage mechanisms to stimulate the flow of innovations — such as "incubator space" for new firms.

- Support the local educational system in providing a higher level of educational quality.

- Provide specific training and guidance for inventors and entrepreneurs.

- Establish a vehicle for monitoring the impact of legislation upon emerging growth companies.

With regard to those recommendations, the report urges that such efforts "be forcefully led in a coordinated fashion" in Southeast Michigan and the state.

A qualifier was added to the report by committee member Waterston, who commented that "The report tends to unnecessarily stress the inadequacies of the Michigan venture capital supply system, even though there is ample evidence presented that great strides have been made in recent years toward making venture capital available."

Woods seeks CDBG funds

The Woods council approved a Community Development Block Grant application for funds for minor home repairs, the resurfacing of Ridgmont Road and continued facade improvements in the north and south Mack business areas. Funding for a proposed urban plan of the north Mack area was eliminated from the application.

At a public hearing Monday, March 7, the council decided which projects it will fund with its basic 1983 CDBG grant of $99,000. The application was sent to the Wayne County Office of Intergovernmental Affairs and Management for review.

The council decided to seek $14,250 for minor home repairs for low income families through Services for Older Citizens, Inc. (SOC), Francis Schonenburg, president of the group, told the council that in 1982, the project funded 318 minor home repairs for 244 homes. Almost 84 percent of the home repairs were owned by families with less than $10,500 yearly income, she said, adding 186 of the 244 homes repaired were headed by women over 60 years old.

The council is also seeking $38,285 for the resurfacing of Ridgmont

Road and $38,515 for facade zone improvements in the north and south Mack Avenue area.

The Community Development Block Grant Advisory Commission had earlier asked the council to include $14,250 for an urban plan of the north Mack area in its application for funds, but the council rejected the request.

The study would have provided individualized plans for remodeling all the facades on north Mack, City Administrator-Clerk Chester Petersen said.

Councilman Robert Novitke said he thought the city was "overplanned" in that area and perhaps the money could be better spent in other areas. The council decided to leave $3,000 in the application to pay for a study done last year by Gerald Luedtke and Associates of land use in three areas of the city.

The city had budgeted $11,600 for the study in last year's application, but signed a contract for $14,000. The $3,000 was needed to pay off the study.

The council shifted the balance of the study allocation into facade improvements. That money will be used in the north and south business strips on landscaping and blight prevention programs, Petersen said.

Council for retarded seeks group home

By Chris Kuskowski

The need for group homes for the handicapped in this area is not new. But recent cutbacks in the state Mental Health Department are turning this need into a deep concern on the part of parents and families of disabled persons.

Community housing, in the form of group homes, was the topic of discussion at a forum held last

The beginner class for adults will meet on Monday evenings beginning March 28, and will focus on basic vocal skills. An advanced class will begin Wednesday, March 30 with emphasis on the month at South High School. Sponsored by the League of Women Voters, the forum was highlighted by a panel discussion with Virginia Knoblauch, chairperson of the Group Homes Advisory Council of Grosse Pointe; Dr. Anne Weinstock, supervisor of psychology at the Southgate Regional Center; Ellen Rapkin, manager of the St. Ambrose Project, and Marty Cope, to meet Friday

The PWP chapter meets the second and fourth Friday of each month at the War Memorial. Coffee and conversation begin at 7:30 p.m., followed by the orientation of new members. president of the board of Housing for Exceptional People.

Ms. Knoblauch, of Grosse Pointe, indicated that currently there are about 35 families in this community who need group home service.

"These are young adults, ready to go out on their own," she said. "The advantage of the group home is that they are geographically close to mom and dad, yet not under the same roof."

Ms. Knoblauch said the Grosse Pointe community has certain obligations to the law and the parents. There are legislative standards for treatment and rehabilitation to maximize these people's potential, she said.

The community also has an obligation to support and understand disabled people. They, too, need to become involved in their community.

"We need to change the attitude that the disabled are less than normal individuals," Ms. Knoblauch said.

Ellen Rapkin, manager of the St. Ambrose Project near Alter Road, agreed that group homes are very instrumental in the advancement of the disabled.

"The group home experience is very powerful and positive," she said. "The clients gain confidence and learn interaction. They're just like any other child who's reached adulthood, they want to move out."

The same positive feeling was portrayed by the Southgate Regional Center representative, Dr. Anne Weinstock, Psychology Supervisor.

"The group home allows children to grow with themselves," she said. "Group homes are less restrictive than institutions and give clients more opportunity for exposure. They are allowed to participate in the community, go to movies and visit neighbors."

At the Southgate Center clients attend workshops and those who are highly functional hold down their own jobs, Dr. Weinstock added.

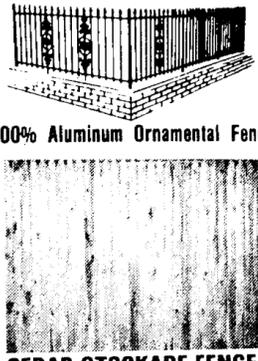

But despite all the positive feelings and community exposure that the disabled may gain from the group home, Cope, of Housing for Exceptional People, indicated that some communities still fear the idea of such a home in their neighborhood.

However, Cope argued, there is no need to worry about property value or crime.

"It just has not been proven true that property value decreases when a group home moves into the neighborhood," he said. "And the crime rate among these people is less than one percent."

"These are not dangerous people," he added. "They are people waiting for an opportunity."

Ms. Knoblauch indicated, there are 35 families in the area waiting for that opportunity. She asked that if anyone is interested in volunteering to serve on the Group Homes Advisory Council, or in donating a house for use as a group home, write to the Grosse Pointe Advisory Council, c/o The Association for Retarded Citizens of Grosse Pointe, 17150 Waterloo, Grosse Pointe, 48230.

Spring program of classes begins in April

The spring program of the public schools' Department of Continuing Education, which begins the week of April 11, will offer 44 new classes from mid-April until June 1. Many of these are of the popular single-session ("one-night stand") variety.

New classes include how to make a kite for spring flying, new twists on gourmet cooking and summer entertaining, getting in shape for summer fun and stretching your mind in a new intellectual pursuit.

"One of the biggest bargains and most interesting programs available can be found in the community planetarium offerings at North High School," according to Dr. George Eddington, supervisor of continuing education. "Tim Skonieczny, the director, does a fascinating job with his weekly presentations on Tuesday evenings. All at a cost of $1.50."

Spring term classes will be available in six areas: arts and crafts, careers and vocations, cooking, foreign language, special interest, and sports and exercise.

Most of the exercise classes begin the week of April 11, with other six-week classes scheduled to start the week of April 18. A variety of single-session classes also has been planned for May.

An alphabetical listing of new-for-spring classes includes "American Red Cross Stress Management Training Program," "Bartering," "Bicycling for Health," five offerings by master cooking teacher Charity Sucek: "Echoes of Italy," "Low Sodium in High Style," "Meringue,"

"Pates" and "The Art of Making Sauces."

Other new classes are "Cheese-cake Workshop," "Confections for Bridal Showers," "Confections for Mother's Day," "Consumer Awareness: Guide to Mental Health Services," "Creative Parenting" and "Crewel Embroidery II."

Still more new classes are "Effective Stepparenting," "Games for Children," "Genealogy — An Introduction," "Go Fly a Kite," "Health Care for Your Cat," "Health Care for Your Dog," "Home-Based Business," "Hypnosis Weight Clinic: New Summer Shape-Up Program," "Improve Your Vocabulary" and "Issues of Our Times: Research, Engineering and Development."

Other new spring classes are "Macrame — Outdoor Plant Hanger," "Marriage: Are You Ready for It?" "More Games and Parties for Family Fun," "More Vegetarian Cooking," two offerings in Moroccan Cooking: "Summer Entrees and Desserts" and "Summer Hors d'oeuvres and Entertaining Ideas."

Also included in the spring roster are "Patchwork 8-Point Star and Variations," "Photography: Basic Elements," "Photography: Techniques for Portraiture," "Planetarium Program: The Universe Game," "Still More Vegetarian Cooking," "Sweatshirt Design" and "Swedish — Phase III."

Four new-for-spring classes in gardening will cover "Chrysanthemums," "Geraniums," "Planning an Herb Garden" and "Strawberry Culture." For further information, call 343-2178.

Garden show comes to cable

One program included in the kick-off of Community Cable Television's 1983 season yesterday, Wednesday, March 23, was "The Garden Show," put together, like many of the others, by members of the Grosse Pointe Cable Club.

Pat McMahon-Eichenlaub and Rick Singer are hosts for the show, which contains useful tips on indoor gardening. The show covers topics such as equipment used in gardening, transplanting, the forcing of bulbs and more.

Viewers are also able to send in gardening questions to the show's hosts.

The program was put together by the cable club for use on public access television. The club is sponsored by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial and is open to all residents of the Pointes and Harper Woods. The group is meeting tonight, Thursday, March 24, at 7 p.m. at the War Memorial.

For the time and channel of community cable television, check this week's cable listings.

Family Fun Night is tomorrow

A Family Fun Night will be held on Friday, March 25, at North High School from 7 to 9 p.m. The special evenings offered by the Neighborhood Club and the Department of Community Services of the Grosse Pointe public schools are for the entire family. Badminton, basketball, ping-pong, swimming, tumbling, volleyball, and movies are on the agenda.

Admission is $3 per family, or 50 cents per person, with a charge of 50 cents for crafts. Children must be at least 3 years of age to participate and those 16 and under must be accompanied by at least one adult.

"I Can Cope," co-sponsored by the American Cancer Society and Upjohn Corporation, will emphasize the cancer patient's role in the management of the disease. Other topics will include physical anatomy, the disease process, potential side effects of treatment, requirements for maintaining nutritional balance, improving communication skills, making the most of one's own capabilities, information about community resources, as well as dealing with problems of self-image and personal relationships.

For further information and registration, call the hospital's Patient Education Center at 343-3870. Registration is limited and participants are expected to attend each session.

Woods hikes traffic fines

Drive carefully in Grosse Pointe Woods, or you'll pay the price. And that price just went up.

A new schedule of fees for parking and moving violations went into effect Monday, March 7, in the city. The Woods council passed the revision of fees as an emergency ordinance the week before.

The fees cover the costs of violating the state's uniform vehicle code. Increases range from 200 percent for equipment violations to 500 percent for parking in a handicapped parking space without authorization.

Defective equipment violations — burned out headlights, tail lights or turn signals, noisy mufflers, excessive smoke, unsafe steering equipment, defective tires or failure to maintain equipment — now cost $30, up from $10.

Fees for certain defective equipment will be waived upon repair. The court can waive the fines and cost upon receipt of certification from a police department that repair of the defective equipment has been made before the court date.

Violation fees that can be waived include defective windshield wipers and washers, defective or improper headlights, tail lights or turn signals and unlighted registration plates.

Violation fees for driving without license or registration, no plates or failure to change address on a drivers license increased from $10 to $35. These fines can also be waived if the license and registration violation is cleared up before the court date.

Illegal passing fines increased two-fold. Improper passing on a hill, curve, or failure to give way when passed will cost $30, up from $15.

Speeding tickets will also cost more. Tickets for one to 10 miles over the posted speed now cost $35, up from $20. Eleven to 15 miles over now cost $45, up from $30. Speeding 16 to 25 miles over increased from $50 to $60, while 26 to 35 miles over the posted speed now cost $85, up from $75. Speeding over 35 miles will cost $110, up from $100.

Not having a child restraint system will cost $20, but fees can be waived if the person supplies the court with evidence of purchase or rental of the equipment that meets state law.

Failure to provide proof of insurance when stopped now cost $25. However, the court will waive the fine if a person can show proof that the car was insured on the date the ticket was issued.

The increases do not affect the cost of city-issued parking tickets for meter violations.

Enlightenment at Ford House

The Baroque Music Ensembles will present a concert, "The Legacy of J. S. Bach," in celebration of the great master's birthday on Saturday, March 26, at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House in the Shores. The concert will begin at 8 p.m.

Thomas Curtin and Daniel Jencka will perform the music of Bach and his most gifted sons and students as part of their popular series, "Music from the Age of Enlightenment."

The music will be performed with a recorder, baroque flute and a harpsichord, all replicas of baroque originals.

The concert will be repeated on Saturday, April 2, at the Birmingham Unitarian Church on Woodward at Lone Pine Road in Bloomfield Hills.

Tickets cost $5 for adults and $3 for children under 12. Complimentary wine will be served at the Bloomfield concert.

For advance tickets and further information, call 656-1574.

Hamilton Choir sings Tuesday

The 80-voice Hamilton College Choir, from Clinton, N.Y., will present a concert in the sanctuary of Our Lady Queen of Peace Church, 20955 Bournemouthe Road, on Tuesday, March 29, at 8 p.m.

Joining the choir in a program of works by Sweelink, Brahms, Wilbye, Necchi and Hindemith, will be Hamilton's Brass Choir and the College Hill Singers.

The concert is free and a reception will follow.

AARP will hear history lecture

Grosse Pointe Chapter No. 2151 of the American Association of Retired Persons, AARP, will meet Monday, March 28, at 1 p.m. at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore Road.

Mrs. Fern Freeman of the Detroit Historical Society will speak on "What's in a Name?" dealing with street names in Detroit and the people for whom they were named.

A social hour and card-playing will follow the meeting.

North PAC, the new action arm of the North High School parents' club, is off and running in high gear. North PAC is the activities committee formed last fall when the board decided to actively pursue ways to help enrich the lives of North students.

The early focus was containment of drug and alcohol abuse; however, the scope was quickly broadened to include communication, education and creative expression as positive outlets for reaching the high school student. Sub-committees of North PAC were developed in late December and are now expressing themselves with solid recommendations and programming.

The parents' club acts as the catalyst and approval forum for these active groups, providing counsel and sometimes a sounding board for the implementation of the activities.

To provide meaningful programs under the umbrella of student enrichment, the common need is money. The North High Parents' Club employs a myriad of creative ways to raise funds to support the programs. Membership dues, trash bashes, geranium sales and special auctions all provide the money to support the scholarship programs, dances and guest speaker appearances. We ask them to "contribute time and money to our fund raisers and we will contribute back to your kids through enrichment activities."

According to Tom Capps, parents' club president, creating the proper environment for adolescent development is of utmost importance. The developmental process is supported by the school and home environments to a large extent. Creating an activities bridge with both the student and parent participating, brings the school and home closer together. North PAC is fostering activities that ask, perhaps demand, parent and community involvement. The payback is obvious to both. The North PAC committees meet at least once a month to pursue targeted goals and then communicate intentions and plans at the monthly parents' club meeting. Whether you are a parent of a North High student or simply an interested community member, you can help. Come to the monthly meetings the third Monday evening of each month at the high school or better yet, serve on one of the committees. You don't need experience, you just have to care. Call any of the committee chairmen listed below. Ask them about their activities.

Substance Abuse Committee — Chaired by Bob and Sheila Roney (881-3821) — The Substance Abuse Council of Grosse Pointe is a non-profit organization of citizens from the community who are aware that a problem exists and want to do something about it. The North PAC committee is joining forces with the council to provide focused and consistent work between the two groups.

Activities and Organizations — Chaired by Dick and Sarah Flynn (881-9075) — To better assess the market they serve, this committee distributed a questionnaire to all students at North High. They learned firsthand from more than 1,000 respondents what the students thought about staging an activities night. The first activities night is set for Saturday, April 23, with dancing, movies, sporting events and food.

Parents Awareness/Involvement — Chaired by Dom and Marie Palazzo (885-8017) — Communication with parents and getting them involved is the charter of this committee. Media outlets will continue to be the Northern Lights student paper and this column. A soon-to-be-published parent directory, along with a series of in-home and school format parent discussion groups, will provide better understanding of what the kids are doing and how we can help. The first session will be for parents of ninth and 10th grade North students and will focus on "You and Your Teenager and the Law" on May 5, at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium. Guest speaker will be Woods Municipal Judge Pat Schneider. Volunteers are needed to contact parents about the meeting.

Teen Center Feasibility — Chaired by Karen Tobias and Roma Hess (886-5135) — Substantial work has already taken place in finding a permanent teen center for North High students. Such a location would stage dances and provide other recreational activities.

Special Fund Raising —

Chaired by Dick and Joan De Ronne (886-3454) — How about an "action auction" as a way to increase your tax deductions this year? New merchandise and services will be sold at the auction by local media celebrities on Friday, April 15, in North's cafeteria. Proceeds will help fund the student enrichment and scholarship programs. To donate, call 886-3961 or 886-1321.

City of Grosse Pointe Park Michigan ORDINANCE NO. 99

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE CODE OF THE CITY OF GROSSE POINTE PARK, CHAPTER 48, TRAFFIC, TITLE X

THE CITY OF GROSSE POINTE PARK ORDAINS:

Section 1

Sections 5.15, 5.15a, 5.15b, 5.15c, 5.15d, 5.15e, and 5.15f of Chapter 48, Title X of the Code of the City of Grosse Pointe Park are repealed in their entirety.

Section 2

The following sections are hereby added to Chapter 48, Title X, of the Code of the City of Grosse Pointe Park:

Section 5.60 (1) A person, whether licensed or not, who is under the influence of intoxicating liquor or a controlled substance, or a combination of intoxicating liquor and a controlled substance, shall not operate a vehicle upon a highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, within the state. A peace officer may, without a warrant, arrest a person when the peace officer has reasonable cause to believe that the person was, at the time of an accident, the driver of a vehicle involved in the accident and was operating the vehicle upon a public highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, in the state while in violation of this subsection or of subsection (2).

(2) A person, whether licensed or not, whose blood contains 0.10% or more by weight of alcohol, shall not operate a vehicle upon a highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, within the state.

(3) The owner of a vehicle or a person in charge or in control of a vehicle shall not authorize or knowingly permit the vehicle to be operated upon a highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of motor vehicles, within the state by a person who is under the influence of intoxicating liquor or a controlled substance, or a combination of intoxicating liquor and a controlled substance.

(4) Except as otherwise provided in this section, a person who is convicted of a violation of subsection (1), (2), or (3) is guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment for not more than 90 days, or a fine of not less than $100.00 nor more than $500.00, or both, together with costs of the prosecution. As part of the sentence for a violation of subsection (1) or (2), the court shall order the secretary of state to suspend the operator's or chauffeur's license of the person for a period of not less than 6 months nor more than 2 years. The court may order the secretary of state to issue to the person a restricted license permitting the person during all or a specified portion of the period of suspension to drive only to and from the person's residence and work location; in the course of the person's employment or occupation; to and from an alcohol or drug education program or treatment program as ordered by the court; to and from the person's residence and an educational institution at which the person is enrolled as a student; or pursuant to a combination of these restrictions. The court shall not order the secretary of state to issue a restricted chauffeur's license which would permit a person to operate a truck or truck tractor, including a trailer, which hauls hazardous material. The court shall not order the secretary of state to issue a restricted license unless the person states under oath and the court finds that the person is unable to take public transportation to and from his or her work location, place of alcohol or drug education or treatment, or educational institution, and does not have any family members or others able to provide transportation. The court order and license shall indicate the person's work location and the approved route or routes and permitted times of travel. For purposes of this subsection, "work location" includes, as applicable, either or both of the following:

- (1) The specific place or places of employment.
- (2) The territory or territories regularly visited by the person in pursuance of the person's occupation.

(5) A person who violates subsection (1) or (2) or a local ordinance substantially corresponding to subsection (1) or (2) within 7 years of a prior conviction may be sentenced to imprisonment for not more than 1 year, or a fine of not more than $1,000.00, or both. As part of the sentence, the court shall order the secretary of state to revoke the operator's or chauffeur's license of the person. For purposes of this section, "prior conviction" means a conviction under subsection (1) or (2), a local ordinance substantially corresponding to subsection (1) or (2), or a law of another state substantially corresponding to subsection (1) or (2).

(6) A person who violates subsection (1) or (2) or a local ordinance substantially corresponding to subsection (1) or (2) within 10 years of 2 or more prior convictions, as defined in subsection (5), is guilty of a felony. As part of the sentence, the court shall order the secretary of state to revoke the operator's or chauffeur's license of the person.

(7) As part of the sentence for a violation of subsection (1) or (2), the court may order the person to perform service to the community, as designated by the court, without compensation, for a period not to exceed 12 days. The person shall reimburse the state or appropriate local unit of government for the cost of insurance incurred by the state or local unit of government as a result of the person's activities under this subsection.

(8) Before imposing sentence for a violation of subsection (1) or (2), the court shall order the person to undergo screening and assessment by a person or agency designated by the office of substance abuse services, to determine whether the person is likely to benefit from rehabilitative services, including alcohol or drug education and alcohol or drug treatment programs. As part of the sentence, the court may order the person to participate in and successfully complete 1 or more appropriate rehabilitative programs. The person shall pay for the costs of the screening, assessment, and rehabilitative services.

(9) Before accepting a plea of guilty under this section, the court shall advise the accused of the statutory consequences possible as a result of a plea of guilty in respect to suspension or revocation of an operator's or chauffeur's license, the penalty imposed for violation of this section, and the limitation on the right of appeal.

(10) The operator's or chauffeur's license of a person found guilty of violating subsection (1) or (2), shall be surrendered to the court in which the person was convicted, and the court shall immediately forward the surrendered license and an abstract of conviction to the secretary of state. The abstract of conviction shall indicate the sentence imposed. Upon receipt of, and pursuant to the abstract of conviction, the secretary of state shall suspend or revoke the person's license and, if ordered by the court and the person is otherwise eligible for a license, issue to the person a restricted license stating the limited driving privileges indicated on the abstract. If the license is not forwarded to the secretary of state, an explanation of the reason why the license is absent shall be attached. If the conviction is appealed to circuit court, that court may, ex parte, order the secretary of state to rescind the suspension, revocation, or restricted license issued pursuant to this section.

Section 5.60(a) (1) The amount of alcohol or presence of a controlled substance or both in the driver's blood at the time alleged as shown by chemical analysis of the person's blood, urine, or breath shall be admissible into evidence in a criminal prosecution for any of the following:

(a) A violation of section 5.60(1), (2), or (3), or 5.60(b).

(b) Felonious driving, negligent homicide, or manslaughter resulting from the operation of a motor vehicle while the driver is alleged to have been impaired by or under the influence of intoxicating liquor or a controlled substance or a combination of intoxicating liquor and a controlled substance, or to have had a blood alcohol content of 0.10% or more by weight of alcohol.

(2) If a test is given, the results of the test shall be made available to the person charged or the person's attorney upon written request to the prosecution, with a copy of the request filed with the court. The prosecution shall furnish the report at least 2 days before the day of the trial and the results shall be offered as evidence by the prosecution in a criminal proceeding. Failure to fully comply with the request shall bar the admission of the results into evidence by the prosecution.

(3) Except in a prosecution relating solely to a violation of section 5.60, the amount of alcohol in the driver's blood at the time alleged as shown by chemical analysis of the person's blood, urine, or breath shall give rise to the following presumptions:

(a) If there was at the time 0.07% or less by weight of alcohol in the defendant's blood, it shall be presumed that the defendant was not under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

(b) If there was at the time in excess of 0.07% but less than 0.10% by weight of alcohol in the defendant's blood, it shall be presumed that the defendant's ability to operate a vehicle was impaired within the provisions of section 5.60(b) due to the consumption of intoxicating liquor.

(c) If there was at the time 0.10% or more by weight of alcohol in the defendant's blood, it shall be presumed that the defendant was under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

(4) A sample or specimen of urine or breath shall be taken and collected in a reasonable manner. Only a licensed physician, or a licensed nurse or medical technician under the direction of a licensed physician and qualified to withdraw blood acting in a medical environment, at the request of a peace officer, may withdraw blood for the purpose of determining the amount of alcohol or presence of a controlled substance or both in the person's blood, as provided in this ordinance. Liability for a crime or civil damages predicated on the act of withdrawing blood and related procedures shall not attach to a qualified person who withdraws blood or assists in the withdrawal in accordance with this ordinance unless the withdrawal is performed in a negligent manner.

(5) The tests shall be administered at the request of a peace officer having reasonable grounds to believe the person has committed a crime described in subsection (1). A person who takes a chemical test administered at the request of a peace officer, as provided in this section, shall be given a reasonable opportunity to have a person of his or her own choosing administer 1 of the chemical tests described in this section within a reasonable time after his or her detention, and the results of the test shall be admissible and shall be considered with other competent evidence in determining the innocence or guilt of the defendant. If the person charged is administered a chemical test by a person of his or her own choosing, the person charged shall be responsible for obtaining a chemical analysis of the test sample. The person charged shall be informed that he or she has the right to demand that a person of his or her own choosing administer 1 of the tests provided for in subsection (1), that the results of the test shall be admissible and shall be considered with other competent evidence in determining the innocence or guilt of the defendant, and that the person charged shall be responsible for obtaining a chemical analysis of the test sample.

(6) The person charged shall be advised that if the person refuses the request of a peace officer to take a test described in this section, a test shall not be given without a court order. The person charged shall also be advised that the person's refusal of the request of a peace officer to take a test described in this section shall result in the suspension of his or her operator's or chauffeur's license or operating privilege and in the addition of 6 points to his or her driver record.

(7) This section shall not be construed as limiting the introduction of any other competent evidence bearing upon the question of whether or not the person was impaired by or under the influence of intoxicating liquor or a controlled substance, or a combination of intoxicating liquor and a controlled substance, or whether the person had a blood alcohol content of 0.10% or more by weight of alcohol.

(8) If a jury instruction regarding a defendant's refusal to submit to a chemical test under this section is requested by the prosecution or the defendant, the jury instruction shall be given as follows:

"Evidence was admitted in this case which, if believed by the jury, could prove that the defendant had exercised his or her right to refuse a chemical test. You are instructed that such a refusal is within the statutory rights of the defendant and is not evidence of his guilt. You are not to consider such a refusal in determining the guilt or innocence of the defendant."

(9) If after an accident the driver of a vehicle involved in the accident is transported to a medical facility and a sample of the driver's blood is withdrawn at that time for the purpose of medical treatment, the results of a chemical analysis of that sample shall be admissible in a criminal prosecution for a crime described in subsection (1) to show the amount of alcohol or presence of a controlled substance or both in the person's blood at the time alleged, regardless of whether the person had been offered or had refused a chemical test. The medical facility or person performing the chemical analysis shall disclose the results of the analysis to a prosecuting attorney who requests the results for use in a criminal prosecution as provided in this subsection. A medical facility or person disclosing information in compliance with the subsection shall not be civilly or criminally liable for making the disclosure.

(10) If after a highway accident the driver of a vehicle involved in the accident is deceased, a sample of the decedent's blood shall be withdrawn in a manner directed by the medical examiner for the purpose of determining blood alcohol content or presence of a controlled substance or both.

Section 5.60(b)

(1) A person shall not operate a vehicle upon a highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, within the state when, due to the consumption of an intoxicating liquor, a controlled substance, or a combination of an intoxicating liquor and a controlled substance, the person has visibly impaired his or her ability to operate the vehicle. If a person is charged with violating section 5.60(1) or (2), a finding of guilty is permissible under this section.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in this section, a person convicted of a violation of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment for not more than 90 days, or a fine of not more than $300.00, or both, together with costs of the prosecution. As part of the sentence, the court shall order the secretary of state to suspend the operator's or chauffeur's license of the person for a period of not less than 90 days nor more than 1 year. The court may order the secretary of state to issue to the person a restricted license permitting the person during all or a specified portion of the period of suspension to drive only to and from the person's residence and work location; in the course of the person's employment or occupation; to and from an alcohol or drug education program or treatment program as ordered by the court; to and from the person's residence and an educational institution at which the person is enrolled as a student; or pursuant to a combination of these restrictions. The court shall not order the secretary of state to issue a restricted chauffeur's license which would permit a person to operate a truck or truck tractor, including a trailer, which hauls hazardous material. The court shall not order the secretary of state to issue a restricted license unless the person states under oath and the court finds that the person is unable to take public transportation to and from his or her work location, place of alcohol or drug education or treatment, or educational institution, and does not have any family members or others able to provide transportation. The court order and license shall indicate the person's work location and the approved route or routes and permitted times of travel. For purposes of this subsection, "work location" includes, as applicable, either or both of the following:

- (1) The specific place or places of employment.
- (2) The territory or territories regularly visited by the person in pursuance of the person's occupation.

(3) A person who violates this section or a local ordinance substantially corresponding to this section within 7 years of a prior conviction may be sentenced to imprisonment for not more than 1 year, or a fine of not more than $1,000.00, or both. As part of the sentence, the court shall order the secretary of state to suspend the operator's or chauffeur's license of the person for a period of not less than 6 months nor more than 18 months. The court may order the secretary of state to issue to the person a restricted license as provided in subsection (2), except that a restricted license shall not be issued during the first 60 days of the suspension period. For purposes of this section, "prior conviction" means a conviction under this section, section 5.60(1) or (2), a local ordinance substantially corresponding to this section or section 5.60(1) or (2), or a law of another state substantially corresponding to this section or section 5.60(1) or (2).

(4) A person who violates this section or a local ordinance substantially corresponding to this section within 10 years of 2 or more prior convictions, as defined in subsection (3), may be sentenced as provided in subsection (3), except that as part of the sentence the court shall order the secretary of state to revoke the operator's or chauffeur's license of the person.

(5) As part of the sentence for a violation of this section the court may order the person to perform service to the community, as designated by the court, without compensation, for a period not to exceed 12 days. The person shall reimburse the state or appropriate local unit of government for the cost of insurance incurred by the state or local unit of government as a result of the person's activities under this section.

(6) Before imposing sentence for a violation of this section the court shall order the person to undergo screening and assessment by a person or agency designated by the office of substance abuse services, to determine whether the person is likely to benefit from rehabilitative services, including alcohol or drug education and alcohol or drug treatment programs. As part of the sentence, the court may order the person to participate in and successfully complete 1 or more appropriate rehabilitative programs. The person shall pay for the costs of the screening, assessment, and rehabilitative services.

(7) Before accepting a plea of guilty under this section, the court shall advise the accused of the statutory consequences possible as a result of a plea of guilty in respect to suspension or revocation of an operator's or chauffeur's license, the penalty imposed for violation of this section, and the limitation on the right of appeal.

(8) The operator's or chauffeur's license of a person found guilty of violating this section shall be surrendered to the court in which the person was convicted. The court shall immediately forward the surrendered license and an abstract of conviction to the secretary of state. The abstract of conviction shall indicate the sentence imposed. Upon receipt of and pursuant to the abstract of conviction, the secretary of state shall suspend or revoke the person's license and, if ordered by the court and the person is otherwise eligible for a license, issue to the person a restricted license stating the limited driving privileges indicated on the abstract. If the license is not forwarded to the secretary of state, an explanation of the reason why the license is absent shall be attached. If the conviction is appealed to circuit court, that court may, ex parte, order the secretary of state to rescind the suspension, revocation, or restricted license issued pursuant to this section.

Section 5.60(c) (1) A person who operates a vehicle upon a public highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, in the state is considered to have given consent to chemical tests of his or her blood, breath, or urine for the purpose of determining the amount of alcohol or presence of a controlled substance or both in his or her blood if:

(a) The person is arrested for a violation of section 5.60(1) or (2) or 5.60(b).

(b) The person is arrested for felonious driving, negligent homicide, or manslaughter resulting from the operation of a motor vehicle and the peace officer had reasonable grounds to believe that the person was operating the vehicle while impaired by or under the influence of intoxicating liquor or a controlled substance or a combination of intoxicating liquor and a controlled substance, or while having a blood alcohol content of 0.10% or more by weight of alcohol.

(2) A person who is afflicted with hemophilia, diabetes, or a condition requiring the use of an anticoagulant under the direction of a physician shall not be considered to have given consent to the withdrawal of blood.

(3) The tests shall be administered as provided in section 5.60(a).

Section 5.60(d) If a person refuses the request of a peace officer to submit to a chemical test offered pursuant to section 5.60(a), a test shall not be given without a court order. A written report shall be forwarded to the secretary of state by the peace officer. The report shall state that the officer had reasonable grounds to believe that the person had committed a crime described in section 5.60(c)(1), and that the person had refused to submit to the test upon the request of the peace officer and had been advised of the consequences of the refusal. The form of the report shall be prescribed and furnished by the secretary of state.

Section 5.60(e) (1) A peace officer who has reasonable cause to believe that a person was operating a vehicle upon a public highway or other place open to the general public, including an area designated for the parking of vehicles, in the state, and that the person by the consumption of intoxicating liquor may have affected his or her ability to operate a vehicle, may require the person to submit to a preliminary chemical breath analysis.

(2) A peace officer may arrest a person based in whole or in part upon the results of a preliminary chemical breath analysis.

(3) The results of a preliminary chemical breath analysis shall be admissible in a criminal prosecution for a crime enumerated in section 5.60(a)(1) solely to assist the court in determining a challenge to the validity of an arrest. This subsection does not limit the introduction of other competent evidence offered to establish the validity of an arrest.

(4) A person who submits to a preliminary chemical breath analysis shall remain subject to the requirements of sections 5.60(a), 5.60(c) and 5.60(d) for the purposes of chemical tests described in those sections.

(5) A person who refuses to submit to a preliminary chemical breath analysis upon a lawful request by a peace officer is responsible for a civil infraction.

Section 5.61 All proceedings pending and all rights and liabilities existing, acquired, or incurred at the time this amendatory ordinance takes effect are saved and may be consummated according to the law in force when they are commenced. Pointe Players perform comedy

For their third production of the year, the Pointe Players have chosen the comedy "The Man Who Came to Dinner," to be performed on March 24 to 26 in South High School's auditorium.

The comedy, written in 1939 by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, is the story of a family whose house is turned upside down by the famed journalism broadcaster, Sheridan Whiteside. Whiteside, on his way to dinner at the home of the Stanley's, slips on a piece of ice on their doorstep, breaking his hip. Confined to a wheelchair, Whiteside and his faithful secretary end up having to stay with the Stanley family for a month.

The eccentric Whiteside, played by Chuck Daas, succeeds in disrupting each of the Stanley's lives, in between visits from his strange friends and threats of a lawsuit. He encourages daughter Jane, played by Julie Johnson, to get married, and tries to get son Richard, played by Tom Buda, to become more independent. Both Mr. and Mrs. Stanley, played by Bill Dorman and Tara Sendelbach dislike Whiteside's ideals and manners.

Wendy Flynn plays Whiteside's secretary, Maggie Cutler, and Dave Millar plays Bert Johnson, the reporter with whom Maggie falls in love. Paul Corbett plays an actor friend of Whiteside along with Katie Gracey who is an actress friend of Whiteside. Another friend of Whiteside is the odd scientist Metz, who is played by Jim Kaliardos. The two-hour production will begin at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, March 24. Friday and Saturday performances will begin at 8 p.m. Tickets are $2.50.

Farms man pleads guilty

A Grosse Pointe Farms man, charged with manslaughter in the Jan. 15 death of a friend, last week pled guilty to negligent homicide before Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Charles Kaufman.

Last month the man, 20-year-old Edward W. Caulkins, was bound over to trial by the City Municipal Judge Stan Kazul on the manslaughter charge stemming from an automobile accident which killed Todd Elvidge, 21, of Grosse Pointe City.

Police said Caulkins was legally intoxicated while driving with Elvidge and another friend on Jefferson Avenue at a high rate of speed. Caulkins lost control of the car and it overturned, instantly killing Elvidge, police said.

Caulkins will be sentenced later this month.

Letters to the Editor

Support for Sister Mansour

To the Editor:

It would like to share some thoughts on Archbishop Szoka's request for Sister Agnes Mansour's resignation.

I totally believe in social responsibility, but where is consistency in our Catholic Church? As the whole is made up of all the parts, so do the major and minor actions of all Catholics represent the whole church.

With every law, there is both a letter of the law and spirit of the law. There also is the predicament of old laws still existing, while new problems never cease. This is where the spirit of the law in any organization is tested. It is concern for others that should cause us to arrive at our decisions.

I suppose the Catholic Church is like any other organization in that when rules are made they are made to be kept. But circumstances change, the world is answering its call to social responsibility. And Catholics are becoming involved as well as all other religious and social organizations.

We have Sister Mansour appointed by Gov. Blanchard to serve the poor. As a Sister of Mercy, we all understand her philosophy. As a former college president, we know she has ability. If her opponents would just draw back and allow her to perform, would quit singing the conflict-of-interest song, would stop asking Sister Mansour to be an enigma, she then could address the social responsibility of both the church and the state. If you were to intelligently write the job description of the Social Service Director of Michigan, it would contain exactly the criteria that she possesses.

Social progress is a slow process, but how much time do we have to prove our worth? Currently, Sister Mansour's religious provincialate is firmly endorsing her position. Nevertheless, it does not indicate that the problem is solved. It is very possible that this controversy will be referred to the Vatican, and therefore it is even more urgent that you communicate to her superiors.

I can only hope that Sister Mansour will take a "defend and hold strategy." She can only do this if she is not the only one fighting this cause. I cannot give you God's address, but I can give you His Holiness the Pope's address, His Excellency's address, and the Provincial Administrator of the Mercy Sisters address.

His Holiness, Pope John Paul II, 00120 Vatican City Europe. Your Excellency, Most Reverend Archbishop Edmund C. Szoka, 4234 Washington Blvd., Detroit, Mich. 48226. Reply from Dorothy Kennel

To the Editor:

Just before the school millage vote, you printed an advertisement containing a letter which had been addressed to me, as president of the Board of Education.

The bottom line stated that I had not responded to the writer's questions. The explanation for this is that I did not receive the letter, because I was on vacation in Colorado. Upon my return home, I did answer the letter. Unfortunately, that was after it was printed in the newspaper.

I welcome letters with educational concerns or questions. However, if a prompt "turn-around" reply is desired, it would be better to write to the superintendent's office, as he and his staff are available daily to provide information to the community.

Impressive rescue by JAWS

To the Editor:

On Monday night, March 7, I was among a small group of people who witnessed the dramatic aftermath of a serious single vehicle accident on Chalfonte Avenue in the Farms. My friend and I arrived on the scene just behind the first Farms patrol car. What followed in the ensuing 40 minutes was an exceedingly praiseworthy and efficient performance by Farms police officers, Grosse Pointe Woods paramedics and a detail of firefighters from Harper Woods who operated a piece of equipment called the "Jaws of Life."

Without the immediate cooperation from all these units, I cannot imagine how the driver would have survived. Perhaps these well-trained men regard the incident as a routine life-saving procedure as they are confronted by ghostly mishaps as part of the job. For this inexperienced bystander, however, the ordeal was frightening and one I'll not forget. What I saw was a mass of twisted, crushed metal from which no escape seemed possible.

I want to suggest to all of you who read this letter that the possible consequences of not having had the cutting power of the "Jaws" may have proved fatal to the man trapped inside. What is continuing to plague me is the fact that only two of these "Jaws" are available to serve the entire Grosse Pointe community. The most sophisticated belongs to Harper Woods and the other to Grosse Pointe Park, thanks to the generous gift of Grosse Pointe Rotary Foundation.

Farms Police Chief Robert Ferber told me that one or more of these power tools would certainly insure a more efficient rescue operation. The cost per unit is $5,000. Is this too much to spend for the potential preservation of life?

In my opinion, it would be nice if more of our community service organizations would consider allocating some of the funds they raise for the purchase of this specialized equipment.

Reagan trails in early polls

Pollsters are now beating the ears of the public from coast to coast trying to find out whether President Reagan is gaining or losing in popularity. The intention, of course, is to learn what kind of a race the president would make if he decided to seek reelection.

To date, however, the returns are not exactly encouraging for the president. Last week both Time and Newsweek published the results of their own polls which showed that less than half of the voters wanted him to run again. Newsweek reported 57 percent of its sample said they hoped he would not run, while Time's poll found that 51 percent of its respondents expressed the same hope.

NEWSWEEK, however, did find that the percentage of those approving the way the president is handling his job rose from January to February from 38 to 42 percent. But Time concluded that only 45 percent of the voters now place Mr. Reagan in the upper half of a scale from 1 (poor) to 10 (excellent) on handling his job while in November a majority gave him a favorable appraisal.

Perhaps most damaging to the president, however, was the finding of both polls that he represents the interests of the rich rather than the average American. Among Time's respondents, 70 percent voted that way. In Newsweek's poll 82 percent of the respondents came to the same conclusion.

Normally an incumbent president does not make the decision about retiring or running for reelection until he has to do so. If he announces retirement early, the president immediately becomes a lame duck and loses much of his political influence. If he delays too long, however, and then retires, he also makes it tough for any leader of his own party to make the intensive campaign needed not only to win the nomination but to be elected in the fall.

So far Mr. Reagan appears to be playing it coy. The odds — based on opinions of his friends, his family and his closest aides — indicate he'll run again. But his aides and some of his friends are expressing what they hope will be a self-fulfilling prophecy. They have influence and positions at stake in Mr. Reagan's presidency, and so they naturally promote conditions that will extract a positive answer from the president.

Mr. Reagan's indecisiveness hurts potential GOP candidates such as Vice President George Bush and Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker who can't start their campaign engines unless or until the president announces his retirement, but that is par for the presidential political course. And with the economy now beginning to perk up nationally, the president may wish to see how the recovery continues before he decides whether to seek another term. Improving economic conditions certainly would improve the president's chances.

FORMER VICE President Walter Mondale appears to be leading the Democratic race for the presidential nomination but Sen. John Glenn of Ohio still appears to be his strongest challenger. Some Democrats are uneasy over Mondale's identification with the Carter administration because of its reputation as a loser. Mondale is also regarded as too liberal by conservative Democrats, a factor that might help Glenn or a more conservative candidate.

It's far too early to make any hard and fast predictions about what is going to happen next year but if it turned out to be Reagan vs. Mondale, it could be a rerun of 1980. That would hardly be a happy prospect for American voters except for those still supportive of the president.

Serving whose interests?

Does Wayne County government exist for the benefit of county officials and county employees and their friends or does it exist to serve the citizens of the county?

We all know what the answer should be to that question but as County Executive William Lucas seeks to carry out the reforms called for by the county charter, it is increasingly apparent that the officials and employees wedded to the status quo are still dragging their feet on any proposed changes.

THERE WERE two more instances of foot-dragging last week. In one case, the Wayne County Board of Commissioners rejected a reorganization plan proposed by Lucas. In the second, the board objected to a Michigan Senate-passed bill to authorize Lucas to abolish the Public Works Board and take over its functions.

In the talk last week, Edward Cushman, a Wayne State University vice-president who chaired the committee that drafted the reorganization plan for Lucas, took a conciliatory position with relation to the commissioners' actions. He saw the two actions as political moves to give the county board greater leverage in negotiating with the new county executive.

But he also blamed citizen apathy for the county's plight. As the Detroit Free Press reported, Cushman said county government "has been ineffective and irresponsible" because it has no clear constituency. Citizens tend to relate to their cities but not to the county in which they live. The result of citizen apathy, however, is that the special interests — those people directly involved such as the appointed officers and employees — are flourishing.

Some of the current legal and other battles within the county may be necessary to clarify the roles of the county executive and other county officials under the charter but real change is unlikely to occur unless the public retains the interest in reform that it expressed with its strong support for the charter in the 1981 election.

IF CITIZENS don't get the kind of government they expected by adopting a charter, they will have to assume part of the blame themselves. The special interests that profit from the status quo — and especially the current officials and many employees — can be expected to keep fighting rear-guard and foot-dragging actions against any change that limits their powers or perquisites. Only by showing evidence of their continued support for charter reforms can private citizens help keep the entrenched interests in check and force county officials and employees to serve the public interest rather than their own.

Frightening the pheasants

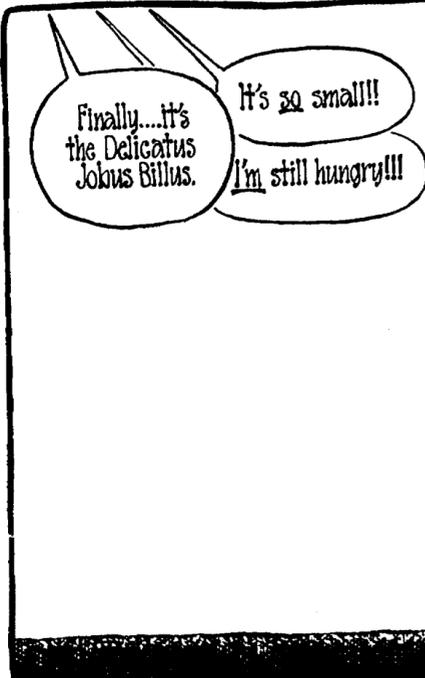

Grosse Pointe Farms has a new tourist attraction: The demolition project at the Lakeshore home of Henry Ford II.

Visitors and Pointe residents are creating traffic jams along Lakeshore and Provencal Road as they slow their cars to a crawl in order to peer into the remnants of the Ford home as it tumbles down under the relentless hammering of the wrecking crew's bulldozer. It is estimated it will take as long as six weeks to reduce the mansion to rubble and so the demolition project will continue to serve as a tourist attraction for several more weeks.

Among Pointe residents, sadness at the wrecking of another of the great Lakeshore mansions is now beginning to give way to anticipation about the start of construction of the first of the 18 cluster housing units that will dot the Ford property.

There is another feeling, too, among the neighbors. It is sympathy for the flock of pheasants which has been living on the Ford property for several years and which so far seems to be still roaming the grounds, although with increasing trepidation. Neighbors who have been feeding the big birds during the winter hope the Pointe pheasants adapt as well as the Pointe peasants, er, residents, to the new environment being created on the Ford property.

BCBSM doesn't practice age discrimination

To the Editor:

In a recent letter to the editor, an official of the Detroit Area Agency on Aging argued that Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan should not use age and geographic location as factors in setting rates. She claimed this would be unfair and smacks of age discrimination.

In fact, using age and area in setting rates is a long accepted insurance practice which many commercial insurers in Michigan follow with the full concurrence of the state insurance bureau.

Recently, several large group customers asked BCBSM to incorporate these factors in their rates. If we had not done so, these customers would have taken their business to another insurer. In Michigan's highly competitive marketplace, BCBSM must be flexible enough to respond to customer demands or lose business.

However, those individual senior citizens who have our complement to Medicare coverage are not affected by this action. BCBSM does not rate its complementary coverage by age. However, many commercial companies do and at rates up to twice as high as BCBSM's without objection by state regulators.

With some 4.6 million people in Michigan depending on BCBSM for their health insurance, we must address the needs of all our subscribers. Many young unemployed families who depend on BCBSM to pay for their health service can only get affordable coverage through age rating.

Affordability of rates in the impetus behind using age and/or geographic location as rating factors. They do not add to profits as the letter writer suggested. Far from seeking profits, BCBSM's objective is to be able to charge rates that cover the costs of the benefits used by subscribers.

Participation agreements with professional providers of care is one more way rates can be kept more affordable. It's a concept we've advocated since we began doing business in 1940.

Election on school closings?

To the Editor:

I am still waiting for a reply to Edwin McCollister's advertisement containing a letter in the Feb. 17 issue, which is directed to Board of Education President Dorothy Kennel.

Mrs. Kennel, I have waited almost a month in the hope that you would publicly answer his statements on how school expenditures are out of control. In the meantime, I have been doing a little homework on school closings in neighborhood communities.

I note from reading the local papers that every school district in the radius of 25 miles has closed schools and are in the process of further closings. I also noted the Grosse Pointe school system has had no closings and their only feeble attempt has been the so-called "public hearings." Other school boards in this area have found the only people who attend these meetings are people who do not want the school closed in their immediate area. Is this why the board chose this weak approach?

Is the board as a whole afraid of the heat these special interest groups would generate by school closings? If so, and if the board is unwilling to face the situation or unable to make a decision, why not call for a special school election with all the facts and figures fairly presented. You don't seem to have any problems reaching a decision calling for an election when a millage proposal is presented.

Parents say many thanks

To the Editor:

Our son Mike, who goes to Parcels Middle School, choked while eating lunch on Monday, March 7. It was only because of the alert thinking by members of the staff and physical education teacher Margaret Van Eckoute who used the Heimlich method to dislodge the food and save his life. It was a very close call.

We would like to thank all those who came to Mike's aid and especially Ms. Van Eckoute.

We feel, after this experience, that one or more persons in each school should be trained in the Heimlich method.

We will be forever grateful that Ms. Van Eckoute knew this method and used it successfully.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

It's not in Spain — but a week's exclusive use of a castle is not to be sneezed at. And Italy has its own special charm. Of course, there are those who prefer to vacation in a more casual, but equally elegant, milieu; a week at Las Brisas in Acapulco might suit them very well.

If neither of these get-away packages catches your fancy, how about a week at Ponte Vedra, Indian River Plantation, L'Arbre Croche, the Grand Traverse Hilton. . . or, if a week's too long a time to be away, how about a Kentucky Derby '83 weekend with many privileges?

All these, and more, dream vacations go on the block Saturday, April 30, at the Detroit Athletic Club, when the Grosse Pointe Academy's Action Auction '83 gets underway at 4 p.m. For the next two-and-a-half hours, guests will feast on cocktails and hors d'oeuvres while submitting silent bids to a computerized system.

The live auction of 70 items begins at 7 p.m., under the experienced gavel of Lawrence DuMouchelle. An optional dinner dance follows in the DAC's main ballroom.

Vacations aren't the only things Action Auction '83 guests will have a chance to bid on. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne C. Inman, acquisitions coordinators, head a team of 100 Academy parent volunteers who have been active since fall, collecting a wide variety of items, ranging in value from $50 to $10,000, which will be subject to silent and live bidding.

They run the gamut from bronze urns from the Henry Ford II Estate on Lakeshore Road to a chance to act as Academy Headmaster for a Day. . . from a carousel horse to an Adolfo dress. . . from an Orrefors decanter to an Atari 800 computer to a white wicker chaise lounge. They include yachting parties, celebrity dinners and Academy-sponsored summer adventures.

Action Auction, the Grosse Pointe Academy's major fund raiser, has been held annually since 1969. It is one of the most successful events of its kind in the nation, and last year raised $180,000. This year's general chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Norman V. Cure. Honorary chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. William K. Howenstein.

The Grosse Pointe Academy, located on a 22-acre campus overlooking Lake St. Clair, was founded in 1883 as a boarding school for girls, conducted by the Madames of the Sacred Heart. It is still operated under the same charter, but became an independent, co-educational day school in 1969. It currently has an enrollment of 402 students, ages 2½ to 14.

The school, a pioneer in individualized education, has been designated as an historic education complex by the Michigan Historical Commission. Action Auction '83 reservations and further information may be obtained by (Continued on Page 4B)

ABT and 56 join for benefit performance . . .

CYNTHIA and EDEL FORD have once again been named to chair a committee of WTVS/Channel 56 supporters sponsoring the American Ballet Theatre's opening night benefit performance at Masonic Temple. Proceeds from the evening featuring three ABT Detroit premiers — Mikhail Baryshnikov and Gelsey Kirkland in Jerome Robbins' lyrical "Other Dances," Marianna Tcherkassky and Fernando Bujones in an all-new production of August Bournoville's romantic "La Sylphide" and Cynthia Gregory and Kevin McKenzie in a new ballet created by John McFall especially for the 1983 ABT season — will benefit both the ABT's touring program and Detroit's public television station. A limited number of prime seats for the Tuesday,

April 5, event are available at $150 per person, including a sit-down dinner with the principal dancers following the performance. Tickets priced at $60 per person, including a reception with members of the cast, are also available on a limited basis. "Cynthia and I are delighted to serve a second year as chairmen for this joint benefit, because it represents an opportunity to help two deserving institutions," says Edsel Ford. "Public television has long been a tremendous outlet for televised dance," says Cynthia Ford. "This benefit is a wonderful way of showcasing both quality television and outstanding dance."

The Community LINC

National Volunteer Week is slated for April 17 to 23. During it, LINC (Linking Individuals to Needs in the Community) volunteers will join more than 100 metropolitan Detroit volunteer organizations in making the role of volunteers a visible one.

Thanks to the Volunteer Network of Metropolitan Detroit, LINC volunteers will sport red, white and blue ribbons during National Volunteer Week. Together with hundreds of other Detroit area volunteers, they ought to make a colorful statement: look for them.

LINC's annual meeting was held Thursday, March 17, at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club. More than 30 volunteers enjoyed a luncheon, followed by speaker Elaine Pochmara's talk on how color can enhance one's personal appearance. The volunteers also met LINC's incoming board.

A recent letter to LINC from Naomi Williams, coordinator of Faith Community School, dramatically illustrates the dire need of many, many Wayne County residents. Ms. Williams writes, "We need paper. It can be used paper, (and) we can use the back."

Faith Community School, a grass roots organization working to improve and develop good relationships in families through providing goods and services such as tutoring, was approved for assistance by the LINC board of directors last November. Since then, with the community's invaluable support, LINC has been able to provide Faith with a copy machine, a washing machine, dishwasher, wooden doors, clothing, linens, draperies, carpeting and electric and gas appliances.

But needs are still unmet. "Thank you for being helpful and making many people happy these past few months," Ms. Williams writes. "However... we have mothers and children without stoves, refrigerators, food and clothing. They do not dream of a toy. We need rugs. We need biology books and others."

LINC delivered boxes and boxes of books to the community school

Boll-McGuire rites in July

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. McGuire, of Wonderlake, Ill., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Catherine Mary, to Peter Mark Boll, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Boll, of Devonshire Road. A mid-July wedding is planned.

Miss McGuire attended Western Michigan University. She is a graphic artist with Biggs/Gilmore Advertising on Hilton Head Island, S.C.

Her fiancé, who also attended Western Michigan University, is with Paramount Developers, a residential and commercial construction company in Beech Mountain, N.C.

to assist in the development of its lending library, so parents can read to their children.

"We need plaster board, paint, brushes and tools," Ms. Williams writes. "We need dishes, curtains, drapes, lawnmowers... whatever we can use to help combat crime in our community and give our people hope."

LINC gave hope to Faith Community School. As it does each day, each month, each year. But need remains. And our broken record plea for help keeps playing.

According to Fran Mumma, LINC office coordinator, the needs for linens, beds, clothing, appliances — life's basic necessities — are critical, as are those for other agency requests: a tape recorder, projectors, file cabinets and transportation.

LINC volunteers poignantly sense these needs on an ongoing basis. Their job is made easier by the generosity of members of the community, some whom remain anonymous.

"Just this week we received a Kinney Shoes gift certificate valued at $20 with a note attached," said Mumma. "Please donate this to someone who can use it. Thanks. No signature. It is this kind of donation to LINC that is so heartwarming, so special... yet to the agencies in need no more special than the generous citizen who cleans closets, donating used but in good condition goods."

While LINC is busy filling the critical needs of others, it has a critical need of its own: cash to keep the organization going. A successful as well as thoroughly enjoyable Palettes and Canapes silent art auction and buffet dinner held March 5 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Albright raised more than $1,000 toward LINC operating expenses.

"But we still require additional financial support if we are to make our budget this year," said LINC President Gabrielle Pluhar.

For one month LINC has been in the trash bag business. The organization hopes this fund raiser will be ongoing. Large, heavy duty trash bags are being sold by LINC volunteers and through the LINC office, (331-6700). Bags come in packages of 100, 1.5 mil for $10 and 2.0 mil for $12. Delivery is FREE.

"With everyone anticipating spring clean-up both indoors and out," said Pluhar, "the need for our bags is certainly there. We are counting on the community to support us."

The World's Their Oyster

Grosse Pointers Lester M. Elliott and Dr. Don McIntyre have been elected president and vice-president, respectively, of the Michigan Chapter of the Circumnavigators Club, and local residents John Rickel, Don W. Miller and George C. Vincent have been elected directors. Paul Moreland, of Harvard Road, continues to head a committee which will select the 1983 recipient of a World Study Tour scholarship.

The club is an international association, headed by Ronald W. Reagan as Honorary President, of persons who have circumnavigated the globe. Until this year, they were all male persons. This year, the by-laws have been changed: women are now welcomed to membership. And I, for one, MUST write what well-traveled women all over town are saying: "It's about time..."

Actually, I must also admit that the Circumnavigators were a delightful, interested, interesting group even when they restricted their membership to male persons. Their loss, not ours. Just think how much more delightful and interested and interesting they'll be now that they're going coed! Take my word for it, you fellows who cast dissenting votes: a year from now, you'll wonder why you didn't welcome women years ago. If, that is, the qualified women who were excluded from membership for years are interested in joining. (Not to worry: female persons are resolved not to hold grudges over such matters. It would take up all our time.)

The Circumnavigators Club periodically honors noted explorers, and annually awards scholarships to one or more university students for a World Study Tour.

Well, Hello, Dolly!!

Each spring for the past seven years, the Saint Ambrose Community Players have offered this community song, dance and a little bit of Broadway in seven consecutive musical productions. They're hard at work now on their 1983 show, described by its producer, Robert Jogan, as the group's biggest and most elaborate production to date.

It's "Hello, Dolly,!" based on Thornton Wilder's play "The Matchmaker," starring Merrie Gay Ayrault as the indomitable Dolly. It will run April 22 to 24, Friday through Sunday, at the Grosse Pointe Center for the Performing Arts at North High School. Tickets are priced at $.55 general admission, $3.50 for senior citizens and children under 12. Further information may be obtained by calling 822-2814.

Pointers taking part in the service are Ann Maters, of Kenmore Drive, Lee and Marieke Allen, of Moross Road, Donald Littlefield, of North Renaud Road, George Ryckman, of Rivard Boulevard, and Barbara Hawksley.

Malcolm Johns, of Rivard Boulevard, will conduct the Old Christ Church Choir and Orchestra, with guest soloists, in a performance of "The Seven Words of Christ on The Cross" at 8 p.m. on Good Friday, April 1, in Old Christ Church. The program has Michigan Council for the Arts support.

Cleo Is Coming to MOT

Fans of Cleo Laine (of whom I am definitely one) are delighted by the news that she'll be coming to Detroit next fall to appear as Desirée Armfeldt in Stephen Sondheim's "A Little Night Music," third production in Michigan Opera Theatre's 1983-84 Season of Excellence. The Tony Award-winning musical will be conducted by her husband, John Dankworth, during its limited run at the Music Hall Center Nov. 18 to 26.

Subscription orders for MOT's new season which will conclude with two June, 1984, performances of Gaetano Donizetti's "Anna Bolena" at Masonic Temple, starring Dame Joan Sutherland in the title role with her husband, Maestro Richard Bonynge, in the orchestra pit, are available now, at special discount rates, through the MOT Subscription Department, 963-3717.

The MOT season opens in mid-October with Giuseppe Verdi's "La Traviata," starring The Met's Benita Valente as Violetta, at the Music Hall. The Paris Opera's Wilhelmina Fernandez will be featured as Marguerite in a re-mounting of MOT's famous 1977 production of Gounod's "Faust," also at the Music Hall, opening in early November.

OSCAR LABADIE, of The Farms, celebrated his 85th birthday Feb. 22 with a luncheon at the Bronze Door as the guest of his sister MRS. CEIL KALKHOFF.

GARY WILSON, son of MR. and MRS. ROBERT WILSON, of Lakeview Road, was named to the fall semester Dean's List at Michigan State University, where he is a junior pre-law major. Wilson is a graduate of Grosse Pointe South High School.

State officers for the 1983-85 term were elected, with Mrs. Palmer passing the gavel, pin and sash of office to her successor, Mrs. Weaver, a Monroe resident. Mrs. Howard J. Reed, of The Pointe, was installed as chaplain.

Mrs. Palmer was unanimously elected honorary state president, and it was announced that she would be presenting an antique lion pressed glass, covered bowl to the National Colonial Dames Society, in honor of her state board.

Subjects for the post-luncheon speaker, Mrs. John Martin, of The Pointe, were the historically and architecturally fascinating homes of Romeo, Mich.

The conference featured the objectives of the National Society, which include the preservation of records and historical shrines of America, aid in education to American youth and aid in the establishment of a College of Heraldry, plus development of a library specializing in 17th Century American Colonial data and encouragement of Colonial research. And, of course "preservation of the high principles of virtue, courage and patriotism which led to the establishment of the United States of America."

Compact disc honor to DSO

France's Academie Charles Cros has awarded the Grand Prix Du Disque to the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and its Conductor Laureate, Antal Dorati, for their compact disc recording of "The Rite of Spring." This is the first time this prestigious international award has been presented for a compact disc, one of the newest advances in audio technology.

The disc, 4 3/4 inches in diameter, stores up to 60 minutes of continuous music. Its surface, covered by a layer of clear plastic, contains a series of reflective pits arranged in a simple, digital code. When inserted in a player, these pits are read by laser beams which translate them into sounds.

"The Rite of Spring," Igor Stravinsky's revolutionary ballet score written in 1913, was recorded on the London-Decca label by Maestro Dorati and the DSO in May of 1981 at the United Artists Theater in Detroit. This compact disc was introduced in Europe, but is not expected to be released in the United States until this summer.

Mothers of Twins will conduct sale

The Eastern Bi-County Mothers of Twins Club will conduct its spring clothing and equipment sale this Saturday, March 26, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at St. Peter's School on Anita in Harper Woods, just east of Eastland Center, off Vernier Road.

Infants' and children's clothing, furnishings and equipment, toys and maternity wear will be featured.

The sponsoring organization, formerly known as the Eastern Wayne County Mothers of Twins Club, was founded in August, 1981, to serve the needs of area multiple-birth mothers. The club encourages friendship and mutual support and provides an opportunity for the exchange of ideas and experiences in raising twins.

It offers assistance in resolving the special problems that may arise because of the unique relationship between twins and between twins and their siblings.

It recognizes that caring for twins, while having a special appeal, can be a source of stress and anxiety for parents, due simply to the extra demands presented by two babies born at the same time, each requiring a full measure of love, attention and nurturing.

The club features a clothing and equipment exchange at its monthly meetings. Speakers, programs and outings are scheduled throughout the year. Further information may be obtained by contacting Jan Monforton at 881-8333 or Debbie Wrobel at 527-6889.

Les Papillons 'Passion'...

Les Papillons Liturgical Dancers have appeared at a number of Grosse Pointe churches during this Lenten season. Last evening, March 23, they participated in a portion of the Journey through Lent to Easter series which has been a weekly event at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. A discussion of the meaning and history of Liturgical Dance was followed by a demonstration of two dances, Psalm Twenty-Three and As A Mother Bird Gathers Her Young (illustrating a text from St. Matthew), from the troupe's extensive repertoire. Dancers were JoAnne Spencer, Ellen Probert and Jenny Eshleman. On Maundy Thursday, March 31, Les Papillons will appear as part of the Worship Service at the First Christian Reformed Church of Grosse Pointe, with Eunice Whitaker, director and choreographer, and Lizzie Bolden dancing As A Mother Bird Gathers Her Young, performed to the accompaniment of a very haunting Hebrew melody, presented by special permission of the choreographers, the Festival Dancers of Southfield. On Good Friday evening, April 1, the entire company will present "The Passion in Kaleidoscope," with STEVE HONKANEN (left) dancing the role of Jesus and CHRIS KIROUAC portraying Judas. at Les Papillons' sponsor church, Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian.

This dance-drama offers a fast-moving series of vignettes of the events of Passion Week, culminating with the Crucifixion, against a background of traditional music. The dancers recreate moments from the Conspiracy of the High Priests with Judas, the Last Supper, the Betrayal in the Garden and the Arrest and Trial. All the Papillons will dance several roles, their frequent exits and entrances creating the impression of many people rushing through a series of momentous events toward an inevitable and shattering conclusion.

"The Passion in Kaleidoscope" was presented last year at Woods Presbyterian and is being repeated this Good Friday by request of the congregation. Eunice Whitaker will dance the role of Pontius Pilate. JoAnne Spencer will portray Barabbas. Ellen Probert, JoAnne Spencer and Jenny Eshleman will dance the roles of the three Marys. Robert Neveux will appear as the Roman Centurion.

All the dancers will also appear in background roles, as disciples, soldiers and citizens.

Les Papillons have appeared in churches of all denominations throughout the Detroit metropolitan area during the past four years, presenting episodes from the Life of Christ, psalms and hymns, and interpretive dances to the accompaniment of Scripture reading as well as to music.

They utilize forms found in classic ballet, modern and interpretive dance, and both ancient and modern Israeli dance. They are scheduled to appear in several other Grosse Pointe area churches later this spring.

'Salute Days' at Youtheatre

To encourage interest and active participation in youth-oriented service and community organizations, the Detroit Institute of Arts' Detroit Youtheatre regularly offers special Salute Days honoring young people's groups in the metropolitan area.

Two such Salute Days remain in Youtheatre's current Something Every Saturday October through May season: Videosyncrasies on March 26 for Cub and Boy Scouts; First Lady on April 23 for Campfire members and Blue Birds.

Videosyncrasies focuses on the influence of television from its early days through video games of the future, and is recommended for families with young people six years of age and older. First Lady is a musical tribute to Eleanor Roosevelt. It is suggested for audiences aged seven through adult.

Two performances of each Salute Day presentation will be given, at 11 a.m. and again at 2 p.m. in the DIA's auditorium/theater. General admission tickets at $2.50 for children and adults ($1.75 each in groups of 10 or more) may be obtained in advance by contacting the museum's ticket office, 832-2730, and at the door.

Troop leaders wishing to participate in Salute Days may call their council offices for suggestions regarding social studies, drama or theater awards. Youtheatre's live, musical presentations are open to the public as well as to organizations and groups.

In addition to musicals, Youtheatre offers concerts, plays and puppet shows to family audiences on Saturdays and to student groups, in the auditorium and in communities throughout the state, during school hours.

Among Saginaw Valley State College students named to the President's List for the 1982 fall semester was CATHERINE SCHMIDT, of Edmund-ton Drive. Students so honored earned a 4.0 grade point average. DAVID FERRIS, of Beaconsfield Road, achieved excellent standing status during the fall, 1982 semester in the Developmental Skills Institute at Grand Valley State College.

CRATE, of Manor Road, received a Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing from Saginaw Valley State College during the fall semester.

Pointer of Interest

by Janet Mueller

He wasn't happy. "I was bored a lot. I didn't get a wide enough range of experiences and people. The same old things were irritating to me." He was also very bright, but he didn't smile very much.

In fact: at one point Jack and Amy Rowe, concerned about their third son's mental/emotional well-being, took him to a psychiatrist. Who said: "There is nothing wrong with Scott." (Thank God! Reassurance from a professional is wonderful!)

Who added: "He just needs to be at Roeper." (Okay. If that's what he needs, we'll see what we can do about it, give it a try.)

What does 17-year-old Scott Rowe think his life would be like now if he hadn't transferred to Roeper City & Country School at the beginning of his junior year at University Liggett?

"I can't believe I would have as many friends as I do now. I probably wouldn't be doing as well in school; I might be failing courses. I don't think I would have gotten involved in so many free-time activities and projects."

Roeper, located in Bloomfield Hills, is not for everyone. Its students are "gifted," young people with special talents in one or more fields and the intelligence to hone those talents. Its philosophy rests on the belief that young people should participate in the shaping of their own destinies, that the imposition of authority does not produce responsible, creative, humane adults.

"WE EXPECT STUDENTS and teachers to work together to make decisions based on mutual respect," Roeper's Upper School Handbook explains. "We encourage students and teachers alike to set and seek to meet rigorous personal and academic standards, to ask and seek to answer good questions, to make and fulfill commitments to themselves and to each other . . ."

"We seek to create a community in which differences are valued and rights are respected."

Roeper is exactly the right school for Scott Rowe. "The teachers listen to what students have to say," Scott says. "Things get done. There's better quality and more for each person, rather than concentration on the big group. You can really relate to the teachers and talk to any of them, even about very personal things."

"I like Roeper because you can choose your own goals, and people will help you with that."

From the time Scott was walking, he was inventing things. He's devised a system for opening his school locker, using a calculator keyboard electronic system on the outside of the locker.

"When you type in the code, it unlocks the door. I used an old Comp IV game, shaped like a calculator." He rebuilt it so it uses the calculator and does not reset the number unless he wants it to.

He has rebuilt the inside of his electric guitar by installing an on-board pre-amplifier and equalizer. He designs and builds stereo system speakers. He's designed lighting, sound and special effects for school dance and play productions.

AND TECHNOLOGY IS by no means the only thing this National Merit Scholarship finalist is interested in. His favorite class this year is Advanced Placement Biology. Last year, his favorite was Chemistry. He says he has enjoyed his Roeper English classes: "Anger and Rebellion," "American Renaissance" and "Modernism." He's also developed an interest in history, much to his mother's amazement; Amy Rowe remembers Scott "fighting history like mad."

Since he began at Roeper, he's developed an interest in art. "I like pastels and ceramics, mostly abstract color. I don't think I'm good at form; I haven't really learned how to sketch." He exhibited at Somerset Mall in the 1982 Inter-Scholastic Art Competition.

He taught himself photography, with the emphasis on processing and darkroom techniques, then taught his brother and several friends how to develop film and make prints. He earns money to support his projects by doing lawn work, painting and other repair work for neighbors.

Last summer, Scott was one of 60 Detroit metropolitan area high school juniors selected to participate in Lawrence Tech's six-week Summer Science Institute. He worked in Advanced Physics, Chemistry, Math and Computer classes. Two previous summers he studied electronics and computers at Michigan Tech.

A very special experience came in the summer of '81, when Scott did volunteer work in Tennessee with his Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church Youth Group, through Group Magazine's Appalachia Mountain Workcamp. The Woods Presbyterian volunteers raised their own money to go to Tennessee. Once there, Scott worked with a group of 11 other people, none from his area, on a family's house.

"THE COUPLE WERE separated at the time. The husband had left about a year before, due to his frustrations with the declining condition of the house." Scott's group tore down a large shed which housed a pump, built a new concrete block pumphouse, poured a front porch and built a roof over it, rebuilt the back porch, re-sided one wall, re-supported and did extensive interior work.

In the middle of the project the husband showed up, chainsaw in hand, to help. Scott spent two days working with him personally. Then the husband moved back in.

The Tennessee workcamp was

an extraordinary experience for Scott, physically and emotionally. "I had the experience working on a house in the hot sun in the Tennessee mountains, which is an achievement in itself — and I actually helped put a family back together, which is an experience beyond words."

Scott reads a lot. Newspapers, magazines, books on all kinds of subjects, Science Fiction to Science Fact to "whatever happens to be lying around the house." He enjoys creative writing and poetry.

He likes sailing, biking, skating, and skiing; plays soccer at Roeper and assisted his father, who was manager, as a Little League baseball coach.

He hopes to attend either Princeton or Syracuse University. He thinks his future lies in the engineering field, most likely in electronics or computer science . . . or possibly in architecture.

TEN YEARS FROM now, he sees himself working on "something really exciting, some type of research probably, something on the frontier of what's going on." Preferably, he'll also be involved on a physical frontier. "I've always wanted to build my own house. I'm very interested in solar energy. I'd like to build in the desert, in New Mexico, for example."

Scott's oldest brother, Drew, is a computer analyst and systems expert, married to an analytical chemist. Drew, the first National Merit Scholarship finalist in the family, is a graduate of Grosse Pointe South High School.

Todd Rowe, also a South High graduate, is studying Packaging Engineering at MSU. Michael Rowe attended Richard through the fifth grade and is now a student at the Grosse Pointe Academy. Scott, who attended Brownell before University Liggett, would like his little brother at least to take a look at Roeper.

It may not be the school for Michael (and the Rowes are firm believers in fitting the child to the school; not every child needs, wants or flourishes in the same academic environment, no matter how bright he may be), but Scott would like Michael to have the Roeper option.

Scott, and his parents, would like people to know there IS a Roeper option.

Michigan Mothers to make awards

The Michigan Mothers Association of the American Mothers, Inc., will hold their annual awards luncheon tomorrow, Friday, March 25, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Information on reservations, which are required, may be obtained by contacting Mrs. John Brackett at 646-6449.

The Michigan Mother of the Year will be named, and there will be an arts and crafts display with the winning entries scheduled to go on to New York to compete with entries from the 50 states at the annual conference of American Mothers, Inc., to be held at the Waldorf Astoria.

It's expensive: $3,500 (pre-school) to $5,400 (Upper School) tuition. But scholarship money is available, "and Roeper works very hard to find the resources in order to include any student who should be at it," Scott says.

ROEPER ALSO WORKS very hard at getting its students into classes that are right for them. There are 36 members in Scott Rowe's Roeper graduating class, and he and his parents are amazed at the variety of courses available in an Upper School with a graduating class of that size.

"It's kind of like a small college," Scott explains. "Roeper follows the state requirements, but you can sort of major in what you like. You can be good in one subject — art, for example — and weak in another, and still be Roeper material."

Jack and Amy Rowe are holding an Open House in their home, 360 Lincoln Road, at 7:30 p.m. tonight, Thursday, March 24, for area residents who may be interested in learning more about Roeper's academic year programs for gifted students from pre-school through grade 12, and its summer day camp program.

A bus to provide transportation from the Pointe area to the day camp has already been scheduled. Scott Rowe will be counseling at the camp, teaching computers. He may also be driving the bus.

A major reason Scott didn't get to Roeper earlier was transportation. He had to wait until he was old enough to drive the 55-minute route himself. Next year, if there is sufficient interest and enrollment from the area, Roeper will provide bus transportation for students in the Pointe and surrounding areas during the school year.

Both school and camp representatives will be present at the Rowes' tonight. If you have any questions, Amy would be delighted to answer them. Her phone number is 884-7664, and she answers with a smile.

Pointe Garden Club convenes

Mrs. H. Robertson Brinker, new first vice-president of The Pointe Garden Club, opened her Roslyn Road home to members last Monday, March 21. Luncheon was served at noon, with Mrs. J.C. Hurley and Mrs. Paul Hostetter assisting the hostess.

The program, "Deanna and Her Roses," was presented by Mrs. John Stephens following a business meeting. Deanna Stephens, a Pointe Garden Club member, specializes in miniature roses but also grows many other varieties in the garden at her Clairview Road home.

Park artist MARY LOUISE MCCARROLL will exhibit her painting, "Floating Rainbow" in the Michigan Fine Arts Competition, sponsored by the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association, through April 9. Ms. McCarroll teaches painting and drawing at the War Memorial and exhibits her work nationally.

CHANEL HAUTE-COUTURE COLLECTION

To adapt the timeless and legendary style of Chanel to the life of the moment; to make the classic new, modern; is the challenge.

Elegance, like Chanel, does not submit to fashion, but follows its evolution.

The line designs the body, elongates, refines, sculpts and insinuates sensuousness.

Lots of navy and black contrasted with white, one of the great creations of Chanel.

The lightness and spiritual elegance of the collection is the idea we have of Paris.

Long, lean designs take center stage

The Grosse Pointe News Spring Fashion '83 presents selected designers as well as retailers offerings for one of Grosse Pointe's most beautiful seasons.

According to the trend-setters, spring '83 focuses on the body beneath the clothes. Micro-minis with hems creeping ever upwards feature long, lean legs. Lacy, patterned or brightly colored sheer stockings complement the skirts and complete the head-turning silhouette.

Dresses that drape gently over the shoulders, scoop at the neck and dip in the back reveal smooth, delicate skin. Sashed below the waist in a coordinated fabric, all eyes drop to the hips.

Skimpy flats flatter the feet and legs this season. Follow your whim and choose from among the various designs in canvas, leather and other materials — all perfect play-clothes companions.

For evening glamour, slinky sandals are unbeatable. Comfort makes good fashion sense and will keep you in stride, no matter what style you choose.

Exercise outfits still make fashion headlines. Well-toned thighs and calves look great in short shorts. Bold and bright tops are cut to show a little extra curve such as a weight-trained forearm or a tennis elbow.

Spring suits consist of narrow skirts to the knee and blazers or jackets which skim the hip. Again, attention is on the leg but could be drawn towards the face with a silky scarf, fanciful necklace, or chunky earrings.

Accessories rise in importance as the same outfits get a whole new look with a twist of a sash or an eye-catching piece of jewelry.

Things to look for this season include primitive jewelry styles of hammered metal and antique-looking gems as well as sculptured geometric pieces.

Hats, too, are a fashion plus. For a sophisticated edge or a fanciful statement, a hat may add just the right touch. Wide brimmed, cowboy-style, bowlers, berets, pillboxes, netted and ribboned, there's a hat appropriate for every occasion.

Evening wear begins with a simple ball gown. Draped and slinky chiffon wraps the body closely emphasizing a slim figure.

Organza gowns flounce from the waist and are usually coupled with a tight-fitting bodice. Shimmery fabrics in pastel shades compete with classic black and knockout brights.

Short hair and bright make-up complete the facade. Hair, the crowning glory, is best kept short and wispy in the hot months ahead.

Pink is the newest favored shade for '83 and highlights every facial feature as well as nails on fingers and toes.

One last note: everything looks good on a well-cared-for body. Supple arms and legs grace even the sportiest clothes. The hems are up, the shapes are pared and the look is long and lean.

Attention can be drawn away by outstanding facial features or fascinating accessories but, why draw an audience away from the mini-skirts, play-clothes, tapered suits, lusciously draped gowns and, above all, a super-looking you!

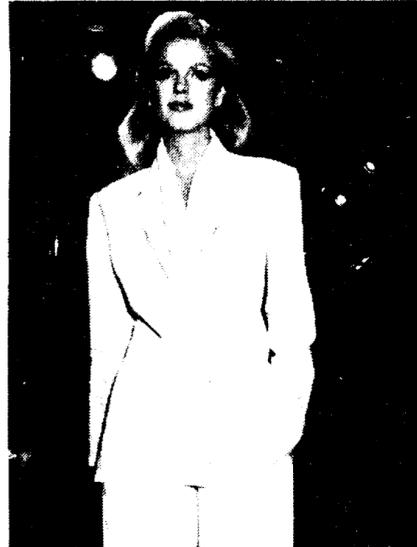

DINING, DANCING, OR PARTYING, this dress serves every night-on-the-town affair. Navy crepe pleated below the asymmetrical waistline, is adorned by a white linen Madeira yoke. Designed by Morton Myles.

A GAZAR EVENING JACKET with gold embroidered Kufic calligraphy combines with a silk plaid organza jacquard evening pantaloons. A "marii" pleated turban adds to the look. A string of gold pearls and interlace drop earrings cast in hand forged brass. By Mary McFadden.

1983 FASHION HIGHLIGHTS

from Judy Simonds,
Sales Promotion Manager,
Jacobson's Grosse Pointe

If any word could be used to describe the "spring" season, then feminine has to be it! This femininity is often thought of in terms of flowing, soft pastel images. Pauline Trigere is one who adheres to this point of view. Albert Nipon, with his tucking and pleating, cap sleeves and bows, is another example of this genre.

But there is another school of femininity at work this season. It is the military influence. This may sound like a conflict of terms, but it is just this conflict that is at work here. Women are in the process of re-examining their roles, both professionally and personally. Their purpose is to integrate their inherent quality of femininity into their new masculine roles. This accents their independence as well as their sense of style!

The use of traditional military themes helps a woman to bridge these new roles. Double-breasted jackets that are cropped at the waist (ala Eisenhower), with military brass buttons, are literally a trademark with Bill Blass and Calvin Klein this Spring. Wide shoulders and detailing, from cuffs to the high contrast of white and navy, are further examples. Suits and coattresses appear in almost every designer name, all with these influences.

The accessories that go along with this trend are wide brimmed hats, oversized pocket handkerchiefs and wide belts. All of these add to a woman's expression of herself and her new individuality.

In summation, the by-words of Spring are: fitted, flared, sharply tailored, the military influence, all with over-size accents. This is the season of high style!

Accessories play an important part in a woman's wardrobe for Spring '83. Legs and feet show the newness with hosiery playing an exciting role. The color palette for spring shows soft candy colors in light sheers as well as crocheted and textured. With the color range available, there is no excuse for bare beige legs anymore. Shoes are very colorful this season. Also with black and white being the strong favorites. Spectator looks are available in every heel height and color combination while the ever popular espadrille is stronger than ever in new colors and toe variations.

Black and white is the most important color story for spring while pink and grey is the newest. You will see these new colors not only in shoes and hosiery but in jewelry, handbags, hats and belts as well.

One of the freshest and most feminine looks to emerge this spring is lace. Lace neckwear and waist wraps can create new looks out of old favorites as well as change the look of new pieces.

If you don't want a lace waist wrap there will be plenty of other fabrications to choose from. Soft sashing and novelty waist treatments are definitely in this spring whether they are striped, solid or bold prints. A touch of contrast color at the waist is a wonderful accent to update last year's wardrobe.

A great addition to one's wardrobe this spring will be a cotton sweater, either short or long sleeved. Available at every price point in a myriad of colors, stripes, and patterns, cotton sweaters have really caught on as a year round item but definitely a must for spring and summer.

So with a new pair of shoes and hose, a belt, a lace collar, and a cotton sweater, you don't need to buy an entire new wardrobe for spring but build on your basics and have fun. Spring '83 is bright, colorful, feminine and whimsical.

As the season of winter shrinks to more manageable proportions, fashioning a summer wardrobe becomes an enjoyable prospect. The practical approach of men's style in 1983 invites the luxurious warmth of summer. Clothes are loose, over-sized, executed in breeze-weight fabrics, and splashed in comfortable neutral and pastel colors.

Much of this season's excitement is generated by tops. They're ample and unconfined in the spirit of the warm weather months, often times worn outside slacks and belted with the tails free. Options include boldly etched stripes and large-sized geometric prints, festive colors in unexpected juxtaposition, and knit collars combined with fabrics like oxford cloth or cotton sheeting. Polo-styled short sleeve knits arrive in colors that span the entire spectrum. Those most likely to make an impact are butter, coral, melon, rose, teal, jade, cornflower, and the more subdued hues of smoke, dove grey, and mint.

The details which set off many of these shirts comprise band collars, cap sleeves (the muscle shirt) boatnecks, asymmetrical closings, fly fronts and bellow pockets. The tops delineate the inverted pyramid silhouette, which has gained rapid momentum in the past several seasons.

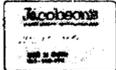

The shape is carried through in the slacks for summer, generously cut in the hip and tapering towards the bottom. The mood is inspired by the uniform with origins in the workplace, the military, and the athletic team.

A Parade of Easter Hats and Hairstyles

This Easter some of the freshest, most charming beauty looks combine luscious wavy or curly hair with a variety of bonnets, boaters and berets. Since the number of possible hat and hairstyle ensembles seems virtually endless, the skin care and hair care experts at Dorothy Gray and Ogilvie have put together a few makeup, hat-choosing and hair-styling tips to help you plan your Easter beauty look.

A long, luxurious mane of curls falling over one shoulder intensifies the appeal of this black on white, low-brimmed cloche. Dipping the hat slightly over one eye adds an element of feminine mystery to this Easter style.

Although hats look wonderful when they top a headful of curls and waves, not all of us were blessed with naturally curly hair.

So if you have a problem with straight, lifeless hair a home permanent might be just the solution for you to achieve a hairstyle with lots of curls and body. A protein conditioner that helps put your hair in its best possible condition gives extra body and manageability to fine, dry, limp, color-treated, as well as normal hair. To add extra color and glow to your Easter look, you may decide to accentuate your features by using a bit more makeup. Dorothy Gray suggests Hydro Light Shimmer Creme, an ultra sheer cream touched with a gleaming bronze color. It can be worn over makeup along cheekbones, browbones and at the temples to highlight, or alone for a fresh, sun-bronzed glow.

New leggy looks stride into spring

Polished, dashing and leggy! These are the words that best describe spring fashions and the way women are going to look in them.

Deceptively simple and very American, the best designs reflect a new-found lady-like refinement. Slim coat dresses, Chanel-inspired suits, skinny sweater/skirt combos unbuttoning to the thigh — all are designed to show off American women's well-exercised bodies and their justly famous long, lean legs.

With almost no pants in sight, women are going to have to think seriously about what to put on their legs. The hosiery manufacturers knew the fashion outlook long before anyone else and have been working for the past two years to create a myriad of beautiful leg looks.

So many styles abound that deciding the color, texture and weight of one's legwear this year will be like choosing dinner from a smorgasbord. If there's one accessory that will play a major role in fashion this spring, it's legwear. In a carnival of colors, patterns and weaves — this spring's pantyhose made with the Lycra fiber feel like silk and fit like a second skin.

A pretty approach to the cocktail-dinner hours in a dress from La Strega Boutique.

Energizing Your Hair for an Active Life

There's no doubt about it, hair sets the tone, the image, the feeling for the way a woman wants to look now according to Glemby International. The modern approach to hair care eliminates a vocabulary of "do's" and "must's", while words like energy and attitude define what counts today.

'Energic' hair can be long or short, with or without volume, offering different options for different moods. What does matter: A texture that signals hair at its healthiest, most vibrant. And it comes from hair that is styled to have the energy and fashion impact you want and need.

The Key Attitude

starts not with changing your look, but correcting it!

- With the skillful shaping of a razor cut
- With the 'energizing' action of a perm set
- With the glistening finish of halo highlights and glossing

FOR SHORT HAIR: WHAT IT TAKES
A razor cut to assure a fresh, relaxed softness.
A root perm to give the hair's roots the energy, direction, ease we want.
Color, for blondes, the enhancing finish of hair gently highlighted at tips only to set up a shimmering 'halo effect'. For brunettes, the needed punch that comes from a three-minute application of "color wash", to give hair the gloss, the polish you want now.

FOR MEDIUM LENGTH OR LONG HAIR: WHAT IT TAKES
The freedom of new layers cut with a razor.
The line and shape you get from new perm wraps, the modern combination of roots permed and 'energized' with ends left free. It's what makes the set! (The How To: Hair is permed in the direction opposite of the way you'd normally perm, tips of the hair left natural, protected during the process by a plastic bag.)
The finish of a new gloss of color: all it takes is a three-minute application of color wash in one's own color if you're a brunette, blondes go with highlighted tips, for a very special 'halo effect.'

News from Paris...

Slim is IN for spring

From head to toe, the key word from Paris is narrow.

- Hair is short and simple, close to the head to follow the fitted fashion feeling. Styles are cropped at the nape, spill over the forehead to cover eyebrows; ears are exposed to reveal chunky earrings.
- Pruned layers are body-permed, fluffed for volume, gelled for spiky height. It's a soft, free-spirited look, and it's the newest statement from Paris, where wild, frizzy, full styles have reigned in recent years.
- Two major fashion shapes: the fitted, form-defining, waisted look, especially popular in daywear suits; and the long, lean lines of dropped-waist casual and evening fashions.
- Suits are dressier than ever, with their structured, fitted forms, and glove and hat accessories.
- Hemlines range from ankle to mid-thigh. Flat heels are still right with short, casual skirts, but high heels are required to complement dressier day and evening wear.
- Colors are earthy: copper, bronze, khaki, sage, milky peach, deep sand, and sweet pea. Browns are paired with royal or navy blue. (Keep these in mind for your hair color choices!)
- Two-toned looks are popular. Dresses, suits, casual wear all combine black and white, tone-on-tone (violet and red, khaki and chocolate). Two-toned shoes, hats, belts, earrings are right for spring.
- Big bows accessorize the head... or decorate the flat-brimmed little hats popular in Paris.
- Fabric patterns have toned down to narrow stripes, subdued plaids... a far cry from the flamboyant flower patterns of last year.
- Words to remember: fitted... simple... slinky... lean... dressy.

Denim Coordinates

Making headlines this spring is a bold, new live-in fashion. Easy going, comfortable chic characterizes each spring-feverishly familiar, yet excitingly new garment.

The bulletins are coming in loud and clear: denim is afoot on the horizon, the denim coordinates this spring are wearable, anywhere. Bright pivotal pieces are set to race right into the hearts and wardrobes of unsuspecting citizens.

These separates aren't closet clothes; they're meant to be seen and they talk today's language of dashing casual style.

Rewarding your perseverance and persistence in your quest for quality are the clothes that will carry you through every occasion. And, even the most cursory investigation behind the scenes into the remarkable concept, extraordinary control, implementation, follow through and ultimate reception can turn anyone into an instant believer.

Painter's pants, trouser linens, denim beknighted with a mural-like print, a fishing net shirt, bolero-style jackets and vests that vow never to weigh more than one whit... button-downs, zip-ups, pockets aplenty... these are the kind of components that won't compromise.

Stone-washed denims just seem to know their way around. They feel like they've picnic'd, patio'd and pool-sided before (and will again). Denim lovers are notoriously adept at surviving all species of last minute invitations. There's no need for second thoughts when there are clothes you can count on — come rain, come shine, complete.

These effervescent arrivals are the latest in a long and well-loved line of easy, reliable, rigorously rendered have-to-haves.

Coordinating your bridal beauty look should be tops on your list of things to plan ahead for. Select your wedding gown and headpiece as soon as possible because your entire bridal image depends on it. Next, you need to choose a hairstyle that's flattering to you and complimentary to your headpiece. To do this you'll have to experiment with several hairstyles. If you're afraid that your hair might lack the body to hold a variety of styles, give it a "body boost" with a home permanent. Ogilvie Soft Body Wave is salon proven to assure you of the softest, silkiest, most natural looking permanent for today's soft look hairstyles. Make sure to schedule your home permanent at least one month before the big day.

Long, loose curls compliment this traditional veil. To achieve a style like this, set your hair on large rollers. Brush it back from your forehead into smooth waves, then use your fingers to fluff up the curls that fall on your shoulders.

AHEE JEWELRY

Fashion's major silhouette this Spring - the sophisticated dress, elegant suits and costumes, glamorous evening wear - focus renewed attention on the face and neck. Therefore, dramatic and colorful jewelry will be highlighted to make new styles more visible and eye-catching than ever.

Neckwear is best if it's bold, colorful, and adaptable. Diamonds and colored stones are frequently used to highlight this season's neckwear. Most popular forms include larger stones, fancy cuts, and combinations of sizes and shapes in one piece. Men's jewelry is becoming increasingly popular this year. As French cuff shirts are becoming popular again, so are gold cuff links.

With elegant and sophisticated clothing popular this year, dramatic and colorful jewelry will be highlighted for a very fashionable look. As emphasis is placed on eye-catching jewelry, this '83 Spring season is sure to be most exciting for both men and women's designs.

The Store Devoted Exclusively to Children

Top of the ladder fashion from Bill Blass: news... a longer, tubular impression, slightly wider lapels, relaxed yet cosmopolitan. Blass' natty accessories - a foulard print tie and pocket square; the shirt a fine striping with white color and cuffs.

Move over jeans and sneakers...

You'll never coax kids out of their cutoffs and T-shirts during the warm weather months unless it's into the colorful new clamdiggers, walking shorts, drop-waist knit dress, or Merona-style pants that are making their debut on the spring children's fashion scene.

The new silhouettes, pant lengths, and decorative treatments that are making news in the adult market have filtered down to children's wear to add extra fun to warm weather adventures. And the best news of all? These new looks are active and carefree, reflecting a new freedom in children's clothing.

Girls from toddlers to pre-teens will look extra special in dresses in stripes and solids, accented with pretty ruffle treatments at the shoulders, contrasting white collars, and matching belts.

Pant treatments make big fashion news in boyswear with lower zippered utility pockets and Alpine front pockets for modified Safari styling. Worn with neat placket shirts, this is a smartly styled look that has made big news in menswear.

Another popular look for boys this spring is the Merona-style pant, interpreted for boys sizes 4-14 in easy slacks with elasticized waistband and athletic piping at the side seams. Paired up with a hockey V-neck pullover in stripes or solids, or with a bold numeral shirt, it's a perfectly coordinated outfit that doubles for casual wear or dress-up.

Roy Terry Reilly, Manager TOTAL RUNNER

Springtime offers a welcome opportunity to shed the sometimes restrictive winter gear and slip into the lighter weight spring clothing. Running gear has certainly come full circle from the basic grey sweats, cotton gym shorts, and t-shirts. Nearly every manufacturer of running gear has combined highly functional gear with styling that adds a touch of flair sometimes missing from the layered dreariness of winter.

Richard Sterr CARL STERR CLOTHING

"Colors and fabrications are the key note in this summer's sportswear. Sport coats are involved in gentle shades with interesting fabrics complementing the delightful results. Casual trousers are dominated by fresh new bright colors and finish with the classic khakis and greys. Olive has returned to men's suitings providing an additional choice to the otherwise elegant greys, blues and khaki's of course. Our Southwick natural shoulder styling is preeminent in the field!"

Richard Rohrbach, Vice-President, HICKEY'S

Hickey's is showing a substantial sales increase despite the condition of the economy. We feel that our customers have realized the value in traditional clothing — the timeless classic styling rather than a high fashioned garment that might be completely passe in a few short months.

Shep Norton — PICARD-NORTON

"There is much interest in Sport Jackets for Spring 1983. A good assortment of appealing fabrics and outstanding colorations gives a new look for the traditional consumer. Very important among current sport jackets are the luxurious silks and silk looks. Many men are constantly on the lookout for new ideas in the soft shoulder look and this season they can find them."

Kimberly Fergan Manager RODIER PARIS

RODIER, a French firm, quietly continues on its way, manufacturing and selling millions of clothes each year. Though headquartered in Paris, which thrives on revolutionary changes, RODIER chooses not to make headlines each season with radical variations in its styles. But the RODIER label probably is worn by more European women than those of several big-name designers combined.

At this time there are many RODIER stores throughout the United States including Troy. The 1983 spring summer collection's very exciting. The colors for spring start with a striking black and white combination and add accents in the shades of the orient. For summer we see an appealing array of brights. This looks to be one of the best RODIER collections yet

Men's Fashion news is "casual and classic"

The nation's fashion experts report the key to the new spring and summer looks for men is sportswear, but combined with the more formal elements of classic clothing. "The well-dressed man will look authoritative without seeming overly regimented," says Jhane Barnes, winner of the Outstanding U.S. Designer title in the Cutty Sark Men's Fashion Awards.

The winners of these prestigious honors, voted annually by the nation's fashion writers, say the tone for the new season is casual elegance. "Body-oriented silhouettes continue to play a major role, but this year's look is more fluid, with natural shoulders and a little more accent on the waist," says Nino Cerruti, who won the Cutty Sark trophy as the Outstanding International Designer. "The result is more comfortable warm-weather garments."

"Look for quality lightweight fabrics such as linen, silk and wool crepe, and take advantage of the subtle, unexpected use of color in the new fashions," advises another winner, Andrew Fezza.

Designer Barnes says, "My favorite style for men this spring is the yoked linen blouson, which doubles as a lightweight bomber or as a sportcoat. It's as finely tailored as a suit but has a more relaxed sportswear feeling."

Cerruti likes loose-looking, backless vests of different patterns and fabrics for spring. For his 1983 lines he researched new ways to use such classic colors as grey and beige.

"That's the advice of the experts, gentlemen, for the new season. And with the annual awards by the popular Scotch brand, it is inevitable that some of the winning fashions will be in Scotch plaids."

We are offering the luxury of Pier Pointe's 100% cotton knit for Spring and Summer in a rainbow of spectacular colors for men and women.

Sports Week

By Frank O'Connor

Nobody asked me, but . . .

Did you ever notice that when you have a lot on your mind, nobody ever asks you "what's on your mind?" And when you don't really have anything particular on your mind, somebody finally gets around to asking you what's on your mind — but they really don't want to hear about it. Well, I've got a lot on my mind, and nobody asked me, but . . .

• I'd like to know what South High is going to do next year without those Terrors of the Tank — seniors Tom Bartsch and Larry MacDonald. The pair has brought the Blue Devils five, count 'em, five, Class A state swim titles in two years, including two titles each in the last two seasons. Bartsch won his two titles March 12, capturing the 50 freestyle in 21.19 seconds and 100 freestyle in 46.19. MacDonald, who won two championships in 1982, added another with this year's victory in the 100 butterfly. His time was 51.49.

• When it comes to sharp gymnasts, North High's got the jump on everybody. Not only did the gymnastics team turn in its best performance in history in the recent regionals, but the team has managed to develop quite an intelligent, philosophical outlook, as well. Gymnast Karen Willaert attributed teammate Karen McCarthy's gymnastic successes to the fact that McCarthy combined her natural talents with a daily workout. "I worked out every day, too," Willaert says. "But I don't have the natural talent. It's as simple as that."

• If you ask me, the next four years are going to be unbearable. You won't be able to read a newspaper, listen to the radio or turn on the television without hearing the words: Antoine Joubert. I'm already sick to death of hearing about the highly touted, much talented basketball player — and he hasn't even gotten his high school diploma yet. We've heard all about Joubert and his high school year, Joubert and his nickname, Joubert and his college choice and Joubert and the state playoffs. Can headlines like "Joubert and his Ideas on the Middle East Situation" or "Joubert Consoles Liz Taylor" be far behind?

• I'd like to tell people who criticize the USFL, and specifically the Michigan Panthers, a thing or two. What's the big deal? Everybody's been yelling about how boring the Panthers are, how they have no offense, no spark, etc., etc. That's true, but in reality, the Panthers have done wonders for the USFL's efforts to achieve the NFL's image of pro football. The Panthers play just like the NFL's Lions.

Panting over the Panthers . . .

• And I'd also like to know why the Panthers wear those beige-yellow football pants when their colors are supposed to be plum and silver. They should stick to their colors, just like all the real plum and silver panthers out there. (No wonder they call it a jungle).

• Since we're talking about pants, there has been much discussion lately in one of the big papers downtown about why joggers wear shorts over their sweatpants. Folks responding to the columnist came up with answers like "it helps keep the sweatpants from falling down" and "hides embarrassing sweat stains." Now, those are fine reasons, but I can go one better. How about: "because they want to."

• I'm getting awfully tired of settling down to watch a hockey game and seeing a referee take the game right out of the players' hands. I'm talking about those times when referees take the checking out of a game by handing out boarding penalties for good, clean checks. And lots of times, calling a boarding penalty is like calling holding penalties in football — how can they do it? If you don't check a guy into the boards, you knock him to the ice and that's tripping.

• One more thing, speaking of inconsistencies (that's what I was doing, folks. Try to keep up). Teachers may as well give up that never-ending battle to instruct students in the basics of grammar — because it's true, you never do use any of the stuff you learn in school. At least that seems to be the case, judging from two communications I received recently, one from an institute of higher education and the other, from a high school football coaches' association.

Missouri University recently informed me, by way of press release, that one of its basketball players was hurt. The release read: "Missouri center Steve Stipanovich sprained his right foot (just below the ankle) on Sunday . . ." Now, I don't know about you, but I've nearly always known that a person's foot was just below his ankle . . .

And from the coaches' association came a letter addressed to: Sport's Department. Gee, guys, thanks. From one sport to another.

And this sport is beginning to think that now, nobody is ever going to ask, "What's on your mind?"

NH cheerleaders fourth in state

North High's varsity cheerleaders took fourth place in the Michigan Cheerleading Coaches State Competition held at the Alma College campus on Feb. 26. It was North's fourth try at the championship. The squad placed 11th last year.

Participating in the competition were North seniors Sue Dickenson and Kathy Gowen; juniors Kelley Brady and Tina Parmentier; and sophomores Chrissy Jara, Kathleen Mazy, Liz Minnella, Rosemary Mualem, Sue Roland, Pennee Tsangalias, Karen Turnbull and Linda Valice. The squad was accompanied by coach Linda Ritter. The 21 Class A squads competing were finalists in the regional competitions held recently throughout the state. Three of the top five schools were from North's Region Number 1, Wayne County. The state champion, as well as regional winner, was Bishop Gallagher. Second place went to East Detroit, third place to Sterling Heights Henry Ford II and fifth place to Detroit Osborn.

Teams were scored on floor mobility, jumping ability, leadership, face expression and voice, precision and creativity.

When the Grosse Pointe Marlboro Bantam AA travel hockey team completed its season recently, it marked the end of what could be termed an inconsistent year for the squad of 14 year-olds.

The Marlies did not enjoy the successful win/loss record achieved by Marlie teams of the past — still, the season was a good, fun year, according to Marlie coach Gene Donahue. At times, the Marlies ranked as one of the state's better teams . . . and at other times, the Marlies' aggressive style led to penalties and defeats.

During the special invitational tournaments the Marlies participated in several times this season, they would often upset the higher-rated clubs, only to fall to lesser caliber teams in semifinal play. Typical of this type of performance was the Marlboros' visit to South Bend, Ind., where they competed at Notre Dame. Playing the same team on consecutive days, the Marlies opened with a 7-1 victory and lost, 6-4, in the rematch.

Looking back, the Marlies had several new faces this season, which may have hindered the development of "automatic" team work which comes with years of competing and playing together. Despite that, the Marlies possessed great team speed, which helped throughout the season.

Many of the Marlies have skated competitively for eight or nine years, including five or six years of intensive travel hockey competition. Those hockey years included schedules beginning with August tryouts and running through March league and state playoffs.

No hockey team would be competitive without its sponsor and the Masco Corporation was instrumental in assisting the Marlies with generous contributions. "To compete at this level requires substantial financial support to help defray the ice costs," team manager Tim Sullivan said. "We are indebted to our sponsors for their generous support."

Here are the members of the 1982-83 Marlboros:

Bob Alcott-Defense: Alcott competed as a 13 year-old with his "older" teammates and more than held his own. One of the team leaders in assists, Alcott is a big, smooth skater with a blistering slap shot.

Heath Cloin-Goal: A tough, agile netminder who formerly played in Sterling Heights. Cloin had several key wins during the season and played well during the Marlies' January resurgence.

Coley Connolly-Goal: One of the quickest goalies in the state, "Coley the Goalie" finished the year with an outstanding 2.12 goals against average. He led the team with four shutouts.

Tourney loss for ULS

University Liggett School's basketball season ended at Lutheran East High School on March 8 as Lutheran East eliminated ULS in the first round of the State Class C tournament, 83-66.

The second period proved to be the ULS' undoing as the Knights were outscored, 27-14, to fall behind by 19 points at halftime. The Knights rallied to start the third quarter and cut the margin to 10 points halfway through the period, but were unable to get any closer. The margin was 14, 62-48, at the third quarter mark and 12 with two minutes to play before Lutheran East pulled away to the final margin.

Senior guard J.T. Parks, ULS' most valuable player for the season, ended a fine year with an outstanding performance to lead all scorers in the game with 28 points. Junior center Brian Hunt followed Parks in double figures with 14 and added a team-high nine rebounds. ULS ended the year at 17-4 and as co-champion of the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference.

Icers are honored

The ULS varsity hockey team finished its season with a 15-7-4 record, ranked third in Class B and fifth overall in the State.

George Zinn was voted to the first team as all-league goalie, while Brian Valice was voted as first team all-league defenseman. Marty Wittmer made the second all-league team and Tom Dow was on the third team as a forward. Dan Bowen, John Kulka, Costa Papista and Robby Wood were named for honorable mention.

At the annual winter awards assembly on Thursday, March 10, Zinn, Dow and Wittmer were voted by their teammates as the most valuable players on the team. Jim Raymo was awarded the most improved player award.

Golf clinic is April 15

The St. Clair Shores Country Club will sponsor a Golf Teachers and Coaches Clinic on Friday, April 15. Carol Johnson, Eastern Educational Director of the National Golf Foundation, will conduct the clinic at the Lakeview High School Auditorium in St. Clair Shores.

The clinic will have two sessions.

Among those invited to the clinic are Harvey Richardson of South High School and Richard Didin of North High.

For more information regarding the clinics, contact Jerry Comeau, manager, St. Clair Shores Country Club, at 294-2000.

Coach Peacock thanked all support personnel for their effort on behalf of the team and awarded letters to the 18 players and two managers.

Peacock praised

ULS varsity hockey coach, Jay Peacock, has been presented the Eddie Jeremiah Memorial Coaching Award by the Michigan Metro High School Hockey Coaches. The trophy was awarded Monday, March 7 to the "coach judged by fellow coaches to be outstanding in coaching ability, sportsmanship and contribution to the league and to hockey in general."

Peacock, a member of the Michigan High School Hockey Coaches Association, is a founder of the 12-team Varsity Michigan Metro High School Hockey League and the Wolverine Junior Varsity Hockey League.

The ULS varsity hockey team, under Peacock's direction, ended its regular season with a 13-6-3 record. The team proceeded to the regionals where it was victorious over South Lake but then was eliminated by Cranbrook. Season highlights included a seven-game winning streak, and victories over Class A powers Ann Arbor Huron, Fraser and last year's state champion, Trenton.

Metro-Macomb will race with bunnies

The Metro-Macomb Runners will stage 4.0 mile and mile Easter Bunny races Saturday, April 2, at 11 a.m. at Metropolitan Beach in Mt. Clemens. Registration fee is $7, or $8 on race day.

The GPHA's Mite championship went to the Flyers, who won the title and both halves of the regular season thanks to the efforts of, from left to right, (front row) Danny Bombich, Marc Primeau, John Okray, Jason Chevalier, Ty Telegadas, Jeremy Church; (second row) Mike Ugval, Marcel Chagnon, Mike Hendrie, Geoff Kimmel, Chris Nancarrow, Jim Andary, Ryan Meier; (top row) assistant coach Doug Primeau, Matt Smith, coach Chris Chagnon, Pete Morgan, assistant coach Don Smith and Shawn Phillips.

Flyers win Mite house championship

The Grosse Pointe Hockey Association's Mite Flyers this season became the first team in GPHA history to win a playoff championship — and win both the first and second half-seasons of regular play.

The Flyers went into the playoffs undefeated in the second half and won the first four games of the championship series. Then on March 13, the Flyers topped the Black Hawks, 6-1, to win the championship and the coveted James and Patrick Costello Trophy.

After a scoreless first period in the final game, the Flyers came to life in the second period on goals by Matt Smith, Shawn Phillips and Danny Bombich. Mike Ugval, Pete Morgan, Jim Andary and Mike Hendrie drew assists in that period.

The Flyers also dominated the third period, with Marcel Chagnon scoring twice and Andary adding one goal. Ty Telegadas, Ugval, John Okray, Hendrie and Smith earned assists. The Hawks scored their lone goal when Tim Weidner converted passes from Billy Robb and Tim Kazul.

Runner-up spot for Mite Blues

The Grosse Pointe Hockey Association's Mite Travel Blues ended the season as runners-up in the Adray Community Hockey League playoffs, losing 3-2 to a tough Allen Park team.

The Blues had goals by Kevin Watson, assisted by Cullen McMahon and Andy Van Deweghe, and Todd Frederickson, assisted by Tom Rajt and Brian Crane, and strong defense by Scott Berger, Jeff Jensen and Brad Warezak.

The Blues' season record of 25-9-4 included a second place finish in the regular season, as well as a 3-0 record against Canadian teams from Belle River, and Windsor, Ontario, as most of the boys had their first taste of international competition. The Blues also split their season series against ACHL champion, Allen Park, outscoring them 21-17 in the process. The Blues were also the only mite team anywhere that managed to play .500 hockey against the Compuware team, winners of the Wheatfield, N.Y., tournament against top mite teams from the Eastern United States, Ontario and Quebec.

Goaltenders Jason Hall and Peter Antonenko earned shutout awards for the season. Brian Crane, Tom Rajt and Kevin Watson received the hat trick (three goals in a game) award and David Auld, Brad Dunlop, Todd Frederickson, Jody Hartingh, David Tucker, Rajt and Watson each earned the playmaker (three assists in one game) award.

The Blues sent thanks to their coaches Ron Warezak, Mike Rajt and John Hall, and their manager, Wanda Warezak, and to sponsors John and Kami Auld, Dr. Dick and Connie Dunlap, Dr. George and Mary Jane Frederickson, Dr. John and Joan Hall, Mike and Gail Rajt, Norm and Betty Tucker, and Ron Warezak and Michigan Truck Spring Service, Inc.

Inconsistent Marlies

tough checker, DiGiuseppe was the most aggressive of the Marlie forwards and possessed the hardest shot on the team. He chipped in with 13 goals during the 50-game season.

Craig Donahue-Center: A spectacular skater who loved to go in the corner after the puck, Donahue was second on the Marlies in assists and added 12 goals, as well. He lives in Rochester and made the trip to the Pointe several times each week.

Mike Fulgenzi-Defense: A small, tough hitter who has played nine years in the Grosse Pointe program, Fulgenzi is an excellent skater who can lead the breakout as well as skate an opponent off the puck.

Rob Koehler-Center: Another of the 13 year olds in the squad, Koehler was also one of the fastest Marlies. As an excellent playmaker, he was particularly effective when used as a penalty killer.

Brian Hein-Defense: The smallest — and most aggressive — Marlie. Hein is described by team officials as a tireless skater who loves to protect the area in front of the Marlie net.

Scott Nied-Defense: A solid, two-way player, Nied led Marlie defensemen with seven goals and 17 assists.

Jamie Parker-Wing: A versatile, hard-working forechecker, Parker served as the Marlies' best defensive winger. He also contributed nine goals and 17 assists to the offense.

Richard Pesegna-Wing: As a tough forward, Pesegna found the net eight times with his effective play in goal mouth scrambles and deflections.

Joe Sullivan-Center: Captain and team leader Sullivan constantly rallied the Marlies with his two-way play. A solid scorer and playmaker, Sullivan turned on the scoring light 21 times this season.

Kevin Tisdale-Wing: A speedy, slick-skating playmaker, Tisdale led the Marlies in scoring points (43), mainly because of his passing skills and assists. He also chipped in with 20 goals.

Tom Ugval-Wing: A big, tough, tireless worker, Ugval led the Marlies in goal scoring with 22 tallies. Because of his skating and checking ability, Ugval was equally effective in shorthanded situations.

Eric Warezak-Wing/Defense: Warezak, the fastest Marlie, also displayed versatility — playing defense and the forward position with equal ability. (Marlie summaries are compiled by Brad Tisdale.)

Pointe's Brown keeps winning

Michigan State University diver Mike Brown just keeps on winning.

Brown, of the Pointe, has finished first in each of the four one- and three-meter spring board contests he has competed in this season. His high total on the three-meter, 354.15, qualified him for the NCAA regional meet. His high total on the one-meter board is 283.2.

Last season, Brown was third on the MSU team in scoring and finished ninth on the three-meter board at the Big Ten championships. Brown, who was an all-state and All-American pick as a prep diver, is a pre-med major at MSU. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brown.

AAA predicts good trout runs

Fishermen frustrated by low 1982 catches can expect an earlier and more productive steelhead season this spring, the Automobile Club of Michigan reports.

Ice-covered rivers reduced last year's spring runs and steelhead that did not surface should run in fairly large numbers this year. State fisheries biologists estimate that up to 20 percent of the 1.7 million three-to-seven inchers planted in 1980 and 1981 will run as five-to 12-pound fighters, and immature "skippers" planted in 1981 will run one to three pounds in the 40 streams listed on the Auto Club's guide.

West Michigan anglers should plan on peak steelhead runs in early to mid-April while East Michigan runs should be best from mid-April to early May. Prime time in Southeast Michigan is from mid-to late April and from late April to mid-May in the Upper Peninsula.

Lake Huron's most consistent areas should be the Cheboygan River up to the dam and the East Branch of the Au Gres River. Early April marks the start of pier fishing on Saginaw Bay at Caseville in the Thumb, with runs peaking at month's end. Lake Huron harbor fishing also should be good on the Pinnebog River at Port Crescent State Park near Port Austin and at Port Sanilac and Lexington.

Steelhead will run this year for the first time in St. Clair County's Belle River in Southeast Michigan. The 50,000 fish planted the last two years will return as three to five-pounders. The best fishing spots should be from the Gratiot Avenue Bridge upstream to Memphis.

The Auto Club suggests that steelhead anglers check the Department of Natural Resources Michigan Fishing Guide for regulations on rivers, since parts of some are restricted to fly fishing only. Other rivers are open year-around and some open April 1 or April 30, when the general trout season begins.

Among the nationwide designated weeks in March which may have escaped your notice was Older Workers Week.

To some of you that proclamation may not have been relevant. But some appreciated the opportunity to focus on the message that some older people want to work and deeply resent the arbitrary designated retirement age of 70.

THE VIEW THAT older workers have much to contribute to society was reinforced by Jack Ossotsky, executive director of the National Council on the Aging, when he appeared before some 2,800 persons attending the council's 33rd annual convention at the Westin Hotel.

While he agrees that there are those who are ready to call it quits at 65, such as steel workers, miners and others engaged in exhausting physical work, there are others who would choose to work rather than retire.

"Work after retirement age should be an option not an obligation" he said. "Older people are individuals and should not be lumped together, surrounded by the myths of age."

Ossotsky said even those who have become worn down by hard manual labor can stay in the work force if they are retrained. Why talk about retraining older workers in an economy where the employment rate is high? Although it is hard to believe, by 1990 there will be shortages in our labor force.

In a study by Kurt Gorowitz, of the East Lansing based Private Sector, predicts that Michigan, one of the hardest hit states with high unemployment, will have a serious labor shortage in 1990.

"BUSINESS AND labor will then have to call on the wealth of skills older workers possess," agrees Julie Jackson, older worker program manager for the Bureau of Employment and Training the Michigan Department of Labor.

"As the median age increases in the state, older workers will become a valuable commodity in the workplace because they possess the skills and experience industry needs," Ms. Jackson contends.

She also believes that older workers will be able to provide business with an important training tool as they pass along good work habits and experience to younger workers.

Ossotsky said the same thing but in a different way. "The elderly are on America's new frontier. Those people are a massive resource for the country which needs to be tapped." The older worker is a dependable worker, he said, citing the success of a five-year experiment the council conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in Portland, Me. Older workers with the cooperation of private business were placed in jobs which fit their physical and mental strengths. There were no workmen's compensation cases filed by any of the 4,000 workers before the project ended eight years ago, he noted.

If we look at statistics we can see how important it is for society to learn now to use those who have reached retirement age. In 20 years the population over 65 will double. In Michigan alone this will account for 30.9 percent of the population as the state's average age rises to 31.4 years. Not only will there be more older people but, with improvements in health care, they will be healthier, more alert and more productive. We will not be able to ignore what such a large segment of experienced people have to offer. It is a small beginning, but there's at least one new program being instituted which could set the pattern for providing help for older workers of retirement age and laid-off older workers.

FOR THE FIRST time older laid-off workers will be guaranteed access to training programs under a provision of the new Job Training Partnership Act which replaced the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA). The new act specifies that three percent of the state's job training funds be set aside for older workers.

This is an important step in light of recent unemployment figures for older workers. There are 26,800 people at least 55 years old in Michigan who are jobless and looking for work, according to the state Employment Security Commission. This doesn't include thousands of discouraged older workers in the state and estimated at 334,000 nationwide who have quit looking for work and are no longer counted in the labor force. The U.S. Department of Labor estimates that 70 percent of today's displaced workers are older workers.

Being dispossessed is never a happy situation. The only circumstance more wracking is being let out of a position arbitrarily without any inducements and with little hope of finding work because of age.

No matter what your age is now or how secure you may feel in your position, it is important to give some thought to these considerations.

Forum's focus is drug abuse
A parent forum on substance abuse will be held at Parcels Middle School on Tuesday, April 19, 8 p.m., in the school gymnasium, 20600 Mack.
Youth detective William Desilets will discuss and display various drug paraphernalia and will answer questions. The evening also will be allowed for parent peer groups to meet.
The public is invited to attend.

Aging and work expert Harold Sheppard, of the Displacement Corp. of America in Washington, D.C., says that older workers who become unemployed are out of work for much longer periods of time than younger workers. He said older men are especially vulnerable to unemployment and are much more psychologically damaged by it because of their social roles. Of the unemployed older Americans who do find work, two-fifths of them take jobs at much lower status and pay than their previous jobs, leading to "worse psychological problems than those who remain unemployed."

This leads to a problem which older workers who are still employed also face. Some companies now offer incentives to older workers if they agree to retire early. In personal jargon, an inducement to retire early is called the golden handshake. It is a far cry from golden parachutes, those generous employment contracts that compensate executives who lose control in mergers, takeover and stockholder battles.

GOLDEN HANDSHAKES are used to step-up employe attrition and to forestall plant closing and layoffs. One company saved $300 million over a three year period by retiring 900 employes.

Since it is the law of the land that you cannot be forced to retire until age 70, should anyone wish to work until that age worry about retirement? Maybe. If you are really on the list of those whom management wishes to leave, the company can exert subtle pressures, such as lesser responsibilities. If you notice that a group invited to retire is composed of just older workers, you could sue but it might be a costly and possibly losing battle.

Some of the inducements offered to encourage early retirement are severance pay, comprehensive insurance coverage or a pension higher than you would get under the usual early retirement terms.

Such inducements should be carefully considered. The salary earned now probably would be higher if you put in more years. If your pension is based on salary and years of service, early retirement might not be for you.

Another consideration in early retirement is family status. If your wife is still working and you could add her income to yours, you might want to think about it. However if you plan to have her retire at the same time you do so that you can relocate or travel, that is another story.

Perhaps you are counting on another career. Unless you have some special skill that is in high demand, it is unlikely that you will be able to move into another position in an economy where there are so many displaced workers.

If you have some idea that an early pension or severance pay could provide capital to start a new business, it is important to consider the risks. Bankruptcies are at an all-time high.

Will your pension, your social security and income from investments cover your expenses? Remember to include the inflation factor.

FOR SOME, THE pluses will outweigh all the negatives. The leisure, the ease, the freedom from stress will be worth every cent sacrificed to early retirement. Others, particularly those who have made their work the center of their life or those who are not financially able, will want to continue on the job. Hopefully whatever the case, retirement or choosing to stay will remain an option.

Being dispossessed is never a happy situation. The only circumstance more wracking is being let out of a position arbitrarily without any inducements and with little hope of finding work because of age.

No matter what your age is now or how secure you may feel in your position, it is important to give some thought to these considerations.
