Futurist tells teens where the jobs will be

By Joanne Gouleche

By the 1990s there should be about 2.5 million jobs to fill in the area of industrial laser technology. At the low end of the future job scale, about another 150,000 persons will be needed as genetic engineering technicians.

Back up a bit to the 1980s and you'll see a big explosion in "information-knowledge workers."

Dr. Albert Goldberg told parents and students at a recent South High School career forum that jobs in information, biological and material technology are the career paths to follow in the future.

Goldberg, an educational consultant to the Wayne County Intermediate School District, said the high technology jobs are not just in computers and robotics, either.

"THE MORE YOU look at high technology ('artificial intelligence'), the more jobs you will find opening up," said Goldberg, who is a member of the World Future Society.

Goldberg spoke on "The Outlook on Careers in the Future — Emphasizing Change." The third annual career forum was co-sponsored by North and South High Schools, along with the Grosse Pointe South Mothers' Club.

Upcoming high tech jobs include careers in automotive technology, construction, energy, genetic engineering, information and communication, medical technology, military/aerospace technology, the office of the future, personal computers, robotics, space technology and transportation, Goldberg said.

Over the past 10 years, information jobs, such as investigators, reporters, printers and computers, for example, have soared while careers in agriculture have declined, Goldberg said.

WITHIN THE last eight years, the following areas, Goldberg said, have grown at least 50 percent: food service and fast food preparation, employment interviewer, tax preparers, correction officers, architects, dental hygienists, physical therapists, child care attendants, travel agents, nurses, fiber optics workers and those in geriatrics.

In "predicting" the jobs of the future, Goldberg and futurists only "look at things now and tell us where they're moving."

After Goldberg's talk, parents and students were invited to visit experts in 46 career areas ranging from accounting and architecture to radiology and robotics. Each session lasted about 30 minutes and focused on job responsibilities, educational requirements, salary potential and the employment outlook.

In a session on robotics, research engineer Lawrence Ford told prospective job candidates a four-year degree in engineering will yield an annual income of between $24,000 and $34,000.

Ford, director of robotics at Macomb County Community College, said robotics is really part of a bigger area called "flexible automation" or automation controlled by intelligence or computers.

He added robotic technology is very old, pointing out the first robot was put together in 1960.

"BUT THEY are popular right now and they are not at all very difficult. They are a very small part of what we call flexible automation," Ford said.

A two-year degree at a community college would only produce skills used by technicians to repair and install robotic equipment, Ford said. Starting salary is usually about $14,000 with an average maximum level of $24,000.

Ford said there is no such thing as a robotics engineer, but stressed the field is made up of knowledge of computer science, mechanical engineering and industrial engineering.

"The field is equally open to women and it would be extremely helpful not to have any math phobia," Ford told students.

The outlook for robotics is limited, Ford said, while the "sky is the limit" for a career in flexible automation.

"The field is not for everyone who walks off the street. Everybody would like to be in it, but not everyone is cut out for it," Ford said.

Dr. Albert Goldberg

If your freshman son or daughter has ambitions of becoming a marine oceanographer, they should maybe think again.

That's the advice from Thomas Janacek of the University of Michigan's Department of Atmospheric and Oceanic Studies.

At a career session on oceanography, Janacek said cutbacks in federal funds have created a glut of marine oceanographers, who study marine life forms, including whales and micro-scopic organisms in the water.

Three other areas of oceanography, chemical, physical and geological, offer more promising careers, Janacek said.

OCEANOGRAPHY itself is more than Jacques Cousteau voyages, said Laurel Phlaun, also of U of M. "In actuality, it's not like that at all. Oceanography studies water and the sentiments at the bottom of the ocean."

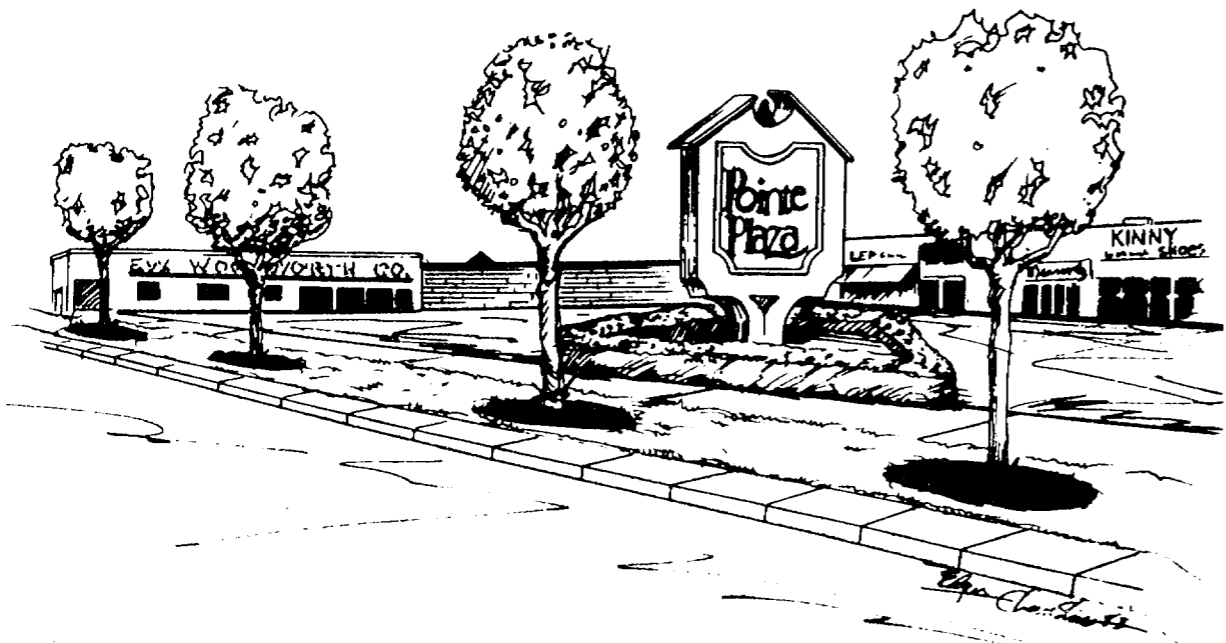

Janacek advised students to take several math courses, along with science, biology, physics and computer science. "And don't forget English. You won't be a good scientist if you can't communicate your findings to the public."

Starting salaries vary in each area of oceanography, Janacek said, with industry (oil companies and mining firms) paying anywhere between $40,000 to $50,000.

Along with industry, the government (Navy labs, the Environmental Protection Agency and fisheries labs) and the academic world are other places to use an oceanography degree.

A bachelor's degree in oceanography is useless without a master's degree, Janacek said. "So count on at least eight years of school."

Benefits of the job? "You get to travel to a lot of exotic places," Janacek said.

St. John's depiction of what the former Seven-Mack Center will look like after completion of landscape projects.

Mack-Moross will get $85,000 face-lift

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Anybody want to buy a sign, cheap?

It's a nice sign. It says Seven-Mack, the old name for the Seven-Mack Shopping Center.

The new name for the center is the Pointe Plaza, L. Michael Smith, St. John Hospital vice-president, corporate development, and Professional Association of Mack Avenue. The name will "more realistically reflect its new, improved appearance," he said.

The appearance of the area will undergo a number of changes beginning the third week of April, when a joint beautification project by the Woods, Farms and Detroit is scheduled to begin. Smith said the hospital's project at the Pointe Plaza will begin about the same time.

The Woods city council, which is coordinating the estimated $85,000 project, signed contracts with Wayne County and named landscape architect John Grissim and Assoc., Inc. to handle the development at its Monday, March 21, meeting. Smith announced the name change at the business and professional association meeting the next day.

The redevelopment will include Moross to Allard on the east side of Mack Avenue, the Detroit-Woods border north of Moross to Bournemouth on the west side of Mack and the Mack medians. In addition, Detroit's Mack side south to Gageshead will be part of the project.

THE PROJECT, will include landscaping, tree plantings, sidewalk developments and maintenance in the area. A Community Development Block Grant discretionary allocation of $64,331 will fund the public sector's part of the project. St. John officials estimate their contribution will cost between $25,000 and $35,000.

Grissim was chosen as contractor by the city without competitive bids because he has done work in the north Mack area, Woods City Administrator-Clerk Chester Petersen said. Choosing Grissim will insure continuity between the north and south end of the city, he added.

The landscaping, beautification and new sign at the center will be paid for with shopping center revenues, Smith said. The hospital, as previously announced, will exercise its option to buy the center in 1987, but plans to maintain it as a shopping area through the rest of the decade, he added.

"ST. JOHN Hospital has no intention to do anything with the shopping center except to improve it," Smith said. "The project... represents a long-term commitment on the part of the hospital in providing a more pleasing environment for the center's shoppers."

In a resident survey commissioned by the Woods last year, seven of 10 of the 500 respondents said they shop at the center. Respondents also said they would like to see a clothing store, grocery store or restaurant in the Pointe Plaza. The lack of variety and high quality stores was given as reasons for not shopping at the center, respondents said.

The project is scheduled for completion by the end of June, according to contracts.

Pianists picked for competition

Entrants in this year's Grosse Pointe Music Festival Piano Competition offer the highest qualifications seen in the contest's brief three-year history, according to founder Alex Sucek. Ten "highly promising" young artists were accepted for the competition last week. The pianists will meet at the War Memorial April 9 to perform before the public and a panel of judges.

"While the group accepted this year is small, it is easily the most qualified we have seen," Sucek said.

"We can look forward to a very competitive event, difficult to judge, with some of the most exciting performances we are likely to hear on any stage."

The annual contest, which offers more than $2,000 in awards plus performing engagements, will be held on Saturday and Sunday afternoons, April 9 and 10, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, sponsor of the event. The contest is made possible by a grant from the Michigan Foundation for the Arts, the support of the Grosse Pointe Symphony and the participation of a prestigious jury of pianists and conductors.

"Without singling out any individual entrant in advance," Sucek said, "I am terribly pleased to report that the biographies show a remarkable level of artistic achievement." The average age of contestants this year is higher. Entrants are all between 24 and 30 compared to an average of less than 24 in the past.

Entrants this year have degrees or certificates with honors from the Juilliard School (New York), The Chopin Conservatory (Poland), The Yale School of Music (Connecticut), The Salzburg Mozarteum (Austria), the New England Conservatory (Boston), The Peabody Institute (Baltimore) and Bowdoin College (Maine). Many are graduate students at the University of Michigan School of Music and Interlochen.

They have won coveted awards including the American Chamber Orchestra Competition (Chicago), the Tuesday Musicale Scholarship (Detroit), the Bolzano Piano Competition (Switzerland), the Tokyo Piano Competition (Japan), the Chopin Society Scholarship (Poland), the International Piano Competition (Switzerland) and a National Merit Scholarship.

Many of their teachers and coaches are world famous. These include John Browning, Mischa Dichter, Rudolf Kolisch, Claude Franke, Renzo Silvestri, Lillian Kallir, not to mention Leon Fleisher, Theodore Lettvin, Eugene Bossart and Georgy Sandor who currently coach several of the entrants at the University of Michigan.

The entrants are also rich in performing experience. They have played in major cities of Europe, Japan and North and South America on concert series and with orchestras of leading stature.

The names and places of origin of the competitors are:

- Leszek A. Bartkiewicz of Bielsko-Biala, Poland and Royal Oak
- Robert Conway of Tulsa, Okla. and Ann Arbor
- Deborah Ann Dewey of Spokane, Wash. and Ann Arbor
- Emily Lu of Lakewood, Colo. and Troy
- Peter Maleitzke of Grosse Pointe
- Akiko Matsuo of Tokyo, Japan and Ann Arbor
- Fernando Garcia-Torres of Mexico and Ann Arbor
- Mariko Sato of Tokyo, Japan and Ann Arbor
- Kirsten Taylor, Pittsburgh, Pa. and Ann Arbor
- Laura Kargul, Redford.

They will be judged in the contest by pianists Sylvia Raim, Mischa Kottler and Flavio Varani, violinist/conductor Felix Resnick of the Detroit and Grosse Pointe Symphonies, and conductor Kenneth Jean of the Detroit Symphony.

For information on the competition and on gaining admission to the performances, contact the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

CERTS group to meet

An organization formed to deal with problems caused by urea formaldehyde insulation in many Michigan homes will hold its next meeting at the Berkley High School cafeteria on April 16. The school is located at 2325 Catalpa near Coolidge Road in Berkley.

Citizens Engaged in Removal of Toxic Substance (CERTS) is a non-profit organization that is trying to get government assistance for the removal of the insulation from homes.

Some doctors have linked gas from the insulation to various health problems.

For further information on CERTS, call the group's acting president, Susan Carlson, at 548-3371. The group's east side representatives, Nick Saputo and Ken Bobrobetski, can also be contacted for further information. Call Saputo at 777-2944 and Bobrobetski at 774-1475.

CERTS' May meeting will be held on the east side, but a site has not yet been decided.

Muggers strike in the Park

An 80-year-old Park man and young woman from Detroit were victims of unarmed robbers last week in Grosse Pointe Park.

The man was knocked to the ground by two men who stole his wallet containing $2 and identification, police said. His hand was slightly injured in the fall, but he refused medical attention. The incident occurred at about 2:45 p.m. on Wednesday, March 23, behind the victim's Maryland Road home, according to police reports.

The 22-year-old Detroit woman was accosted just two hours later in a parking lot on Mack Avenue. She told police she became so mad as she struggled with the thief trying to rip the gold chain from her neck that she threw her purse at him.

The thief picked up the purse, containing $10, a wallet and identification, and fled on foot down an alley, police said. The woman chased him until he turned around and threatened to kill her. She kept the chain.

Woods hikes appeal fees

The Woods council last week adopted an amendment to its city code which provides for a 25 cent charge for every notice over 30 mailed out for an appeal of the city's zoning ordinance.

The amendment, which takes effect Sunday, April 10, continues the present $75 fee for publishing notice of the public hearing and contacting residents within 300 feet about the request for zoning variances.

Under the amendment, however, an additional fee of 25 cents will be charged for each notice over 30 mailed by the city. The fee will be payable after a hearing date is set by the council but before notice of hearing is published.

Failure to pay the additional fee will result in forfeiture of the $75 appeal to the city, according to the ordinance.

Another new provision allows the Board of Appeals to waive the fee on request of the petitioner and the filing of an affidavit that the petitioner meets low-income standards as set by the federal government.

Slide show to focus on Africa

The Grosse Pointe Cinema League will present "Kenya Safari Adventure," a color slide show by George and Inge Vincent, in the Fries Auditorium of the War Memorial at 8 p.m. Monday evening, April 4.

The presentation visits some of Africa's most fascinating game parks, with close-ups of elephants, rhinos, lions and buffalos. The presentation will also feature a visit to exotic Nairobi.

The show is open to the public at no charge. Cinema League members will enjoy a social hour following the presentation.

Reorganization plan gets the okay

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners last week approved a revised reorganization plan for the county, giving County Executive Officer William Lucas the go-ahead to reshuffle county government.

The commissioner's approval came two weeks after they tentatively extended the 90-day deadline set by the charter for passage of the reorganization plan. In a committee-of-the-whole meeting Thursday, March 10, the commissioners rejected the original plan submitted by Lucas to give them 90 more days to consider revisions.

Grosse Pointe-Harper Woods Commissioner John Hertel was very supportive of the plan, a legislative aide said. Hertel said it was time "to quit nitpicking and get on with it," the aide added.

THE MAJOR difference in the revised plan approved by the commission Thursday, March 24, and the original submitted by Lucas was the provision for a legislative auditor general who would be appointed by and work for the board of commissioners, board public information director Lieto Durley said.

The original said an auditor general may be appointed by the commission, while the revised plan strengthens the language to insure the formation of the position, Durley said.

Under the reorganization, the office of the county executive will hold rein over all county departments, except the county clerk, registrar of deeds, treasurer, sheriff, and prosecutor's office. An office of Public Services will be formed that will oversee the Road and Drain commissions and the Department of Public Works.

Lucas ultimately would like to split the functions of the road commission into separate departments, but faces two hurdles. The first is voter approval of a charter amendment to give him power over the Road commission. The second is a lawsuit filed by the two road commission directors to block their firing and replacement by three Lucas designees. The case may be heard next month in Wayne County Circuit court.

Lucas appointed three new road commission directors as one of his first actions after taking office Saturday, Jan. 1. The current commissioners claim their terms are inviolate and replacements can't be named until their terms expire.

THE LONE dissenting vote on the reorganization plan came from Taylor Commissioner Joseph Jurkiewicz, who opposed the dissolution of the Soldier's Relief Board, which coordinated benefits for veterans. That department will ultimately be merged into the Office of Health and Community Services.

Under the final reorganization, the current 22 departments will be reduced to six, while most boards and commissions will be eliminated. Those slated for elimination include the boards of health, retirement systems, county institutions and public works. Their functions will be taken over by other divisions of the six major departments.

The county will also get a cash management committee, part of the department of management and budget, whose principal responsibilities will be the administration of county finances. The committee will provide communication of cash management information and assure that county investments and cash disbursements are coordinated.

Last week, Lucas announced Fred D. Todd as his appointment for county chief financial officer. Todd, whose appointment doesn't require commission confirmation, will control a department whose principal function is the administration of county finances.

Todd was hired after a nationwide search. He has been controller and chief administrative officer of Ingham County for the last five years.

Drug truck theft nets $17,000

A pharmaceutical truck containing about $17,000 worth of drugs, narcotics, medical supplies and other items were stolen Wednesday afternoon, March 23, from behind the Hollywood Pharmacy, 20853 Mack in the Woods.

The light blue step-van was recovered the next day by Detroit police from the 16th Precinct, near Pitcher Elementary School on the city's west side. The truck was empty except for some liquid medical bottles, Woods police said.

The driver of the truck, owned by Leaseway Pepline Trucking Co., told police he had pulled up behind the store to make a delivery. He turned off the engine, but left the keys in the ignition and the doors unlocked, reports said. He told police he went into the store for about a minute and returned to find the truck gone.

According to one witness, three men, who police described as black, in their late teens or early 20s, with short hair, came around the side of the building and approached the truck. The two jumped in and drove the van away, heading south on Mack, a witness told police. The third man returned to a car the three had been driving and drove away.

The van was making a regular delivery to pharmacies in the area and was carrying prescription and non-prescription drugs, narcotics, syringes, medical supplies and sundries such as rubber gloves, towels, muscle and rectal ointment and cough medicines, Woods police said.

Among the drugs and narcotics taken were an undetermined number of Percodan tablets, 500 ml. of a liquid morphine solution, 100 half-grain codeine tablets and a number of pain relief and cold medicines containing codeine, police said.

No warrants have been issued, but one arrest has been made in Detroit by police of that city and Woods police in connection with the incident, Woods Public Safety Director Jack Patterson said.

work by Grosse Pointe Park Sgt. James La Pratt, who spotted the suspects car in the Ashland-Jefferson Avenue area.

After confirming the car's license plate number, Sgt. La Pratt pulled the car and its two occupants over and arrested them. He was joined moments later by Detroit police officers who took the pair into custody.

According to police reports, Holloway has a record of three felony and three misdemeanor convictions, including a 90-day sentence in the Detroit House of Corrections for cruelty to animals.

Further aid was given to Detroit police by the discovery of the murder weapon, Sgt. Bossuyt's own .357 magnum, in Lake St. Clair at the foot of Lakeland Avenue.

The weapon was discovered by Grosse Pointe City Ptl. Donald Prystup. A further search of the lake in that area for Sgt. Bossuyt's missing two-way radio was fruitless.

Pay freeze proposed

makes its decision to close schools this June, Skomski said lame duck members Ronald Dalby and Dorothy Kennel should not cast their votes until after the trustee election.

"BOARD MEMBERS should be accountable. (Dalby and Kennel) should not be allowed to make decisions on school closings," Skomski said.

The board candidate also said he would be in favor of a public vote on school closings in Grosse Pointe.

Skomski said this month's positive millage vote "showed people are willing to give kids a good education and pay the taxes for it."

"The millage request was excessive," Skomski added. "The anticipated surplus for the year ending June 30, 1983, is $1.3 million. This puts the board in a vulnerable position when negotiating a new teacher contract this summer.

"I feel a one-year extension of the current contract with no increases is fair," Skomski said.

This year's school board race is drawing a number of potential candidates, according to school officials. At least 12 persons have picked up nominating petitions at board offices, school officials say. The last time a local school board race sparked such interest was in 1979 when 11 candidates ran for two seats. Last year, trustee Jon Gandelot ran unopposed.

Candidates have until 4 p.m. Monday, April 11, to file petitions.

Assumption dedication set

The Parish of the Assumption Greek Orthodox Church is preparing for an historic event during the month of April. The "Opening of the Doors" (Thyranoixia) of their new house of worship will take place on Sunday, April 3, with Bishop Timothy officiating.

The new structure is Byzantine and designed in the shape of a cross with a 50-foot dome and seating capacity of 600.

The following weekend, the Dean of the Holy Cross School of Theology, Brookline, Mass., the Rev. Dr. Alkiviadis Calivas will perform the salutations on Friday, April 15, and give a lecture on Orthodox worship. He will meet all the Orthodox clergy of this area on Saturday, April 16 at 11 a.m. at the Assumption Center and celebrate the Divine Liturgy at the newly erected church on Sunday, April 17. This is his first visit to the Assumption, where his former classmate, Fr. Demetrios Kavadas, has been pastor for the past 21 years and presently is National President of the Holy Cross Alumni Association.

For further information call Father Demetrios Kavadas at 779-6111 or 881-1322.

DIA will offer heavenly films

As part of its series "Angels of the Silver Screen" the Afternoon Film Theater at the Detroit Institute of Arts will show this week "Strange Cargo," a 1940 film, at 1 p.m. today through Sunday, April 3, in the recital/lecture hall.

The film, starring Clark Gable, Joan Crawford, Peter Lorre and Iran Hunter, tells the story of Devil's Island convicts whose lives are touched by a mysterious stranger with supernatural powers.

The theater's "Angels of the Silver Screen" series features fantasy films from the United States, Great Britain and Italy, which deal with both serious and comic views of spiritual redemption and the confrontation with the after-life. Tickets, priced at $1, are available at the door. All films are shown at 1 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday.

The complete schedule includes:

- April 5-10 — "Here Comes Mr. Jordan" — This 1941 U.S. film spawned 1978's "Heaven Can Wait." Starring Claude Rains, Robert Montgomery and Edward Everett Horton, the film tells of a man summoned to Heaven before his time.
- April 12-17 — "Cabin In The Sky" — Eddie "Rochester" Anderson does dream battle with angles of the Lord and the Devil over possession of his soul. The film stars Louis Armstrong, Cab Calloway, Ethel Waters and Lena Horne.
- April 19-24 — "The Horns Blows at Midnight" — Jack Benny stars as a jazz-age angel to herald the end of the world by playing his trumpet at midnight.
- April 26-May 1 — "Blithe Spirit" — Noel Coward's play is adapted in this British film starring Rex Harrison as a husband whose second marriage is besieged by the playful spirit of his first wife.
- May 3-8 — "Stairway to Heaven" — David Niven stars in this British film about a crashed bomber pilot whose life is held in the balance on an operating table as he meets historical long-dead figures in an anesthesia-induced dream.
- May 10-15 — "The Bishop's Wife" — Cary Grant plays an angel sent to rekindle the spiritual lamp of a young bishop, David Niven, whose drive to build a new cathedral alienates his wife and parish.
- May 17-22 — "Miracle in Milano" — This Italian-made allegorical fantasy tells the story of vagabonds who outwit an oil-hungry millionaire with the help of their fairy godmother.
- May 24-29 — "Heaven Above" — Peter Sellers stars in this British film as an honorary angel who turns the country upside-down in his efforts to right every wrong.

Shores bonds are sold out

Shores village trustees last week awarded the sale of $1.3 million in general obligation municipal bonds to Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc. and Comerica. The money will be used to renovate the village's municipal offices.

The bonds sold "almost immediately," a Merrill Lynch spokesman said. The bonds offered 8 percent interest over their 15-year maturity that is tax-exempt.

The companies, bidding jointly, offered the lowest bid of four. Merrill Lynch's 8.0034 percent interest offer was almost a half percent under the nearest competitor.

The bond issue was approved by voters in a December, 1982 special election.

Negotiations for the printing and delivery of the bonds can now begin, bond attorney George Stevenson said. They should be in brokers' hands by the second week of April.

The village bond issue was given a AA rating by Standard & Poor's Corp., the second highest rating the bond company offers.

Home ownership series begins next month

The popular "Home Ownership in the Pointes" series will be offered for the fifth time this spring. The first session will be held on Monday, April 18, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., in the cafeteria at Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte Avenue. Other sessions are scheduled for April 25, May 2 and May 9.

The free programs are a public service offering, co-sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Real Estate Exchange and the continuing education division of the Grosse Pointe Public Schools. Reservations should be made by calling 884-5700.

Topics to be covered include:

- "Income Taxes" and how they are affected by home ownership and the sale of property.
- Financing A Housing Purchase, including information on land contracts and today's mortgage picture.
- "Real Estate Law," for every homeowner.
- Certificates of Occupancy as they apply to residents of Grosse Pointe.

There has been great interest in this series over the recent years," said Thomas Youngblood, president of the Grosse Pointe Real Estate Exchange. "We are pleased to offer an updated version for the spring '83 series, since the picture changes constantly."

"Where But Grosse Pointe" can you hold a meeting in a mansion, attend quality entertainment near home, enjoy the shade of century-old maples and sail on a great lake at your door?"

The Grosse Pointe Real Estate Exchange hopes to convince persons outside of the community about such luxuries in its new brochure called "Where But Grosse Pointe."

According to Exchange president Thomas Youngblood, the purpose of the brochure is to promote the community for potential residents. With 15,000 copies in print, the colorful publication also is being used by corporate relocation firms, Youngblood said.

The brochure explains the "romantic past" of the Pointes and guides the reader through life today in the community, focusing presenting the most current information, and very highly qualified speakers for all four programs," Youngblood added. "Any homeowner, or prospective homeowner, could benefit from this series, and all are welcome."

on sailing, boating, fishing and the area's private clubs. The publication also gives a rundown on shopping in the area, municipal services and Grosse Pointes "cultural cornucopia."

The brochures are not for sale, Youngblood said. They were prepared by CECO Publishing Co. under the direction of Pointer Alex Sucek.

HOW TO MAKE A TAX DEDUCTIBLE CONTRIBUTION TO YOURSELF.

Open a Standard Federal IRA plan.

Every working person with earned income from performing personal services is now eligible for an Individual Retirement Account. Contributions to this account are TAX DEDUCTIBLE each year and earnings are also TAX DEFERRED until retirement (age 59½). A working person may contribute up to a maximum of $2,000.00 per year. A husband and wife who are both working may EACH contribute up to a maximum amount of $2,000.00 (total $4,000.00). A working person with a non-working spouse may contribute up to $2,250.00 per year.

You actually save money two ways:

1. Tax Deduction

A $2,000 annual contribution to your IRA can mean real savings right NOW.

For example, even though an actual cash contribution has been made in the amount of $2,000, it will cost the tax payer (in the 40% tax bracket) only $1,200 in actual dollars because of the $800 tax savings incurred.

TAX BRACKET	20%	30%	40%	50%
IRA ANNUAL CONTRIBUTION	$2,000	$2,000	$2,000	$2,000
ANNUAL TAX SAVINGS	$ 400	$ 600	$ 800	$1,000
YOUR ACTUAL YEARLY NET CONTRIBUTION	$1,600	$1,400	$1,200	$1,000

2. Tax Deferral

3½-year certificate account Current rate 10.00% 10.38%
per year—paid and compounded quarterly effective annual yield

A $2,000 annual contribution to your IRA also means tax-deferred savings until retirement when tax brackets are usually lower. Here's what you'll earn with our 3½-year fixed rate certificate at 10.00% if reinvested at the same annual interest rate.

YEARS OF CONTRIBUTION	10	20	30	40
IRA ANNUAL CONTRIBUTION	$2,000	$2,000	$2,000	$2,000
FUNDS AVAILABLE AT RETIREMENT	$35,833.61	$132,049.13	$390,393.95	$1,084,066.29

2401 West Big Beaver, Troy, MI 48064
(313) 643-9600

Many other savings plans are also available for IRA.

Call or visit us today to learn how Standard Federal Savings can help you save TWICE for retirement.

Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal from certificate accounts, and withdrawals from your IRA prior to age 59½ may result in tax penalties. When you withdraw the money in your IRA Account at retirement after age 59½, your withdrawals will be taxed as ordinary income at a time when your tax rate is likely to be lower.

IRA Accounts are insured separately to $100,000 by the FSLIC.

Park jobless rate declines

Unemployment in Grosse Pointe Park dropped to its lowest point in more than a year in January, according to Michigan Employment Security Commission figures released this week.

The Park's jobless rate stood at 7.5 percent in January, down considerably from the 12.2 percent the community recorded last December.

The unemployment drop in the Park followed a decline in state jobless figures, according to the MESCC. Unemployment in Michigan dropped to 17 percent in January, the lowest since August 1982. MESCC Director S. Martin Taylor attributed the decline in January to a loss of holiday job seekers.

The City, the Farms and the Woods also showed jobless declines, the MESCC said. Local unemployment rates follow:

	Percent	Persons out of work
City	3.5	100
Farms	3.8	175
Park	7.5	525
Woods	5.8	525

St. John asks employes for contributions

By Mike Andrzejczyk

St. John Hospital has mounted an in-house campaign for contributions to its $117 million renovation and construction project.

Speaking to the Grosse Pointe Business and Professional Association of Mack Avenue at its Tuesday, March 22, meeting, L. Michael Smith, vice-president, corporate development at the hospital, said the voluntary contributions by full- and part-time staff, physicians and the auxiliaries was to supplement the sale of $111.7 million in bonds last year.

The hospital asked employes to donate an hour's pay every two weeks if they are full-time, half-hour's pay every two weeks if they are part-time. Pledges were sought from the medical staff.

The men's and women's auxiliaries have also made pledges, he said.

The construction work includes addition of a two-floor parking deck for more than 500 cars, and a Concentrated Care Building which can be seen on the west side of the present hospital.

Of the $111.7 million raised through the sale of bonds last year, only 68 percent, or about $76 million, will go into "bricks and mortar," Smith said. The rest is used to pay for administrative costs, architect fees, insurance costs, attorney fees as well as interest on the bonds, he added.

The contributions from staff go to carpeting and other furnishings at the hospital, Smith said.

The next phase of the contribution campaign will be community solicitation, he added.

Average per patient day cost may rise by as much as $100 a day after the project completion, but the facility will still rank in the middle of medical cost care of 10 hospitals, he said.

The Concentrated Care Building, when completed, could mean as many as 200 new jobs for the area, Smith said. In addition, about 25 beds will be added, bringing the hospital up to about 575. The hospital is licensed to operate as many as 607.

To relieve some of the parking problems around the hospital, St. John will soon open its parking deck to visitor parking. Because of the difficulty in dodging construction machinery, the deck is currently restricted to hospital employes, Smith said.

What the millage vote means
By Dr. Kenneth Brummel Supt. of Schools

In the aftermath of the March 7 public school and library millage election, several persons have given me their analyses of the results of that close election.

Since these people are not expert election analysts, nor am I one, I believe that we have to be cautious in trying to determine exactly what was in the minds of the voters as they cast their ballots on March 7.

I have been told that the closeness of the "yes" and "no" votes indicates that the community is very concerned about the substantial enrollment decline the school system has experienced without any school buildings being closed, that voters were reacting to Gov. Blanchard's proposed income tax increase which was being publicized throughout the time of the campaign leading up to the millage vote, and that people in this community, like so many others across the state, have let their millage votes be influenced by the generally poor condition of the economy.

Others have indicated to me that the close vote showed a concern about the "hefty" salaries being paid to school system staff members, or that it was a reaction to the rapidly increasing costs reflected in school budgets over the past few years.

Who can say for sure which one or more of these reasons, or some others that haven't been mentioned in this column most influenced the voters on March 7? I believe that all of these reasons, and probably others, had some bearing on the outcome of the election, and I want to take the opportunity that writing this column provides me over the next few weeks to explore some of the reasons that have been offered to explain the close vote on March 7.

In order to put the March 7 vote in the proper perspective though, I do want to note that 7,597 votes were cast in this election. That number of votes is less than 19 percent of the registered voters in the school district, and is only 187 votes more than were cast in the 1980 millage election. In considering those statistics, I think it is important to question why the other 80 percent of the registered voters did not come to the polls on election day.

Some may say that people don't believe their votes count, people forgot to vote, or people don't want to be bothered to vote, and those are reasons for the low turnout on March 7.

Others possibly believe that many people found it difficult to go to the polls and vote against schools even though they really were opposed to the millage propositions so they felt that by not voting at all they were expressing their dissatisfaction. Finally, there is the opinion that the "silent majority" is satisfied with the way matters are being conducted in the school system, and just didn't vote.

Of course, no one knows for sure why over 32,000 voters didn't come to the polls on March 7, but I think that is an important question as considering the reasons for the close vote. Unfortunately, I don't have the answer to that question, but I will be explaining some of the other issues raised in conjunction with the millage election in future columns.

Brummel speaks to nat'l board

School Supt. Dr. Kenneth Brummel has been invited to speak at the annual convention of the National School Boards Association in San Francisco on April 23 to April 26.

Brummel will speak on "How to Set Goals for Your School System."

"The convention is a valuable, once-a-year opportunity for public school officials to meet face-to-face and gain a broader perspective on not only local but state and national issues," Brummel said.

"By relating our school district to the national picture and to other districts of comparable size, we are helped to arrive at workable solutions to many mutual problems," the superintendent added.

The NSBA, headquartered in Washington, D.C., is a federation of state school boards associations and serves the nation's 95,000 local school board members.

Temple Israel visits hospital
 Members of the Temple Israel Congregation will spend Sunday, April 3, substituting for Bon Secours Hospital volunteers who will celebrate Easter Sunday.
 This will be the sixth year that 20 Jewish volunteers will offer their time so that Christian volunteers may celebrate Easter with their families.
 The Temple volunteers are mostly Southfield residents and they will assist with patient admitting and discharge, patient meals and menu selection. They also will act as patient/visitor aides, will answer questions at the information desk, and will work in the emergency room lounge, the hospital said.
 "Their kindness will make Easter Sunday a better day for patients, visitors and staff," according to Maureen DuFour, director of Bon Secours Hospital's volunteer services department. "The Temple Israel volunteers are a perfect example of what a Judeo-Christian relationship can be."
City to plant 100 new trees
 The Grosse Pointe City Tree Commission last week detailed its 1982 tree maintenance program for council members and indicated 1,655 elms were sprayed to combat Dutch Elm Disease. According to the commission, 555 public and private trees were injected with the chemical Lig-nansan and 59 trees were pruned of diseased limbs. The City last year lost 71 public elm trees to Dutch Elm Disease, along with 47 private trees.

 The City has plans to plant 100 new trees this fall, according to administrative aide Chris Matthew.

Restoring the merit system

County Executive William Lucas continues to exercise the kind of independent judgment that long has been needed in the administration of Wayne County government.

His latest display of independence and good judgment was his appointment of Barbara Gattorn of Grosse Pointe Shores to the county Civil Service Commission. Mrs. Gattorn long has been interested in county government and served as a member of the Charter Commission that drafted the charter that was overwhelmingly approved by county voters.

MRS. GATTORN also knows something about the politics involved in county government. She was the Republican nominee for county commissioner from the 1st District last year but was defeated by the Democratic nominee, State Sen. John Hertel, in the reapportioned district that gave the Democrats a large voter edge. Since civil service reform was one of her priorities while serving on the charter commission, Mrs. Gattorn is admirably qualified for the position and her appointment gives Lucas another plus in his campaign to improve county government.

The other two appointees to the new civil service commission, Levi Jackson, a retired Ford Motor Co. executive with labor relations expertise, and Henry Kozak, a member of the old commission, also bring to the new board the kind of experience and continuity it needs to do a good job.

The new commission now has three members who ought to be able to restore merit to the county's civil service system which too often in the past has been used as a political football by the appointing authorities.

A new county miracle man?

If Fred D. Todd is able to do for Wayne County what he is given credit for having done for Ingham County over the past five years, he will be a political and financial miracle man.

Todd is the county's new chief financial officer who earned his appointment from County Executive William Lucas because of his record as controller and administrative officer for Ingham County. In that county, Todd is credited with having streamlined county government, wiping out its multimillion-dollar deficit and ending up last year with an $8 million surplus.

In Wayne County, he faces a much bigger challenge in designing a fiscal policy to wipe out this county's $130-million deficit as quickly as possible. However, even if it takes him as long as the five years he needed in Ingham County to bring Wayne County back to a surplus, he would certainly be worth all of the $82,000 a year Lucas has promised him.

True, the Wayne budget is six times bigger than Ingham County's, but his Ingham County colleagues contend that Todd did "an incredible job." A graduate of Detroit College of Business who also holds a master's degree in finance and served as finance director and treasurer of Novi, Todd is no stranger to the Detroit area, a fact that should stand him in good stead as he tackles Wayne's deficit.

TODD'S DESIRE to streamline county government got additional support when the Wayne Board of County Commissioners finally approved the reorganization plan submitted earlier by Lucas. The plan, adopted by a 14-1 vote, will reduce the number of county departments from 22 to six, eliminate a host of county boards and commissions, and establish a cash management committee to improve investment earnings, keep better track of funds and make long-range financial plans. The reorganization plan also calls for elimination of the elected offices of drain commissioner and register of deeds and the appointed three-member road commission, although this part of the reorganization will be subject to voter approval. Overall, these changes ought to improve accountability, eliminate duplication and otherwise help achieve substantial savings in county government.

In an interview with the Detroit News, Todd said he would do "whatever is necessary" to bring Wayne County to a sound financial condition. He conceded that it would take time to achieve his aim but insisted that while "it's a tough job, it's doable."

LUCAS SAID he had picked Todd after a nationwide search. If Todd lives up to his press notices, he not only will be a miracle man but might become a potential rival for Lucas' own elective job as county executive as well. Lucas should be given credit, however, for picking a man who appears to be highly capable with a proven record of success.

The county taxpayers wish Todd well. Each of us has as large an investment in Todd's success as Lucas does.

Accentuating the negative

Now that the Legislature has approved a 38 percent increase in the state income tax, with only a single Republican vote in support of the measure, it is clear that a tax issue has been created for the 1984 legislative election as well as the 1986 gubernatorial contest.

When the chips were down, Democrats in both houses supported Gov. James Blanchard's program almost to a man. The lone Democratic dissenter was Sen. Gilbert DiNello of East Detroit. And the only Republican to vote for it was Republican Harry DeMaso of Battle Creek who contended he was putting his state first and his political future second by breaking ranks with his GOP colleagues.

TRUE, THE Senate bill that was finally accepted was slightly more moderate than the House bill, but it still retained the 38 percent increase in the income tax that the governor had recommended. The rate will go from the present 4.6 percent to 6.35 percent, retroactive to Jan. 1, but will be no higher than 6.1 percent on Jan. 1, 1984, and no higher than 5.35 percent starting Jan. 1, 1985, and into 1986.

An increase of one-quarter of a percentage point, included in the overall hike, will expire Oct. 1, 1986. If the state's average jobless rate falls below a fixed percentage, the decline in the tax hike could be greater. While the unemployment rate would have to dip to 9 percent or less for all of the tax increase to expire, there are no guarantees it ever will.

It is disappointing that a bipartisan agreement could not have been reached on the tax increase and the further cuts in state spending that will be required. Now it appears the Democrats, both in the governor's office and the Legislature, will be determined to prove that all of the revenue sought by the governor was needed, while the Republicans will try to prove that it wasn't.

If economic recovery comes more rapidly than anticipated, then the Republicans should have an easier time proving their argument.

It is true that all of the additional revenues will not immediately flow into the state's treasury but some of it will start rolling in as soon as new withholding tables and new quarterly reporting forms are distributed. So taxpayers will have to start gearing up to meet the new and higher taxes.

TRUE, THE STATE needed additional revenue. But passage of the Democratic governor's program by a Democratic Legislature still does not prove that the Democratic tax increase package was the right one for the times. Instead, it almost certainly increases the prospects that battles over taxes will become major issues in the 1984 and 1986 state elections.

"We're passing an extremely expensive tax increase which ignores economic realities and economic competitiveness," Sen. John Engler, Mt. Pleasant Republican, said after last week's vote. "Michigan runs a very grave risk of losing out on its share of the (economic) recovery."

If that really occurs, the GOP will have additional reason for accusing the Democrats of accentuating the negative on the tax issue.

Is closing schools the answer?

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to articles and letters published in the last few issues of this newspaper relating to school millage and school closings.

I first would like to identify myself. I am Catherine Brierly, secretary and trustee, of the Board of Education. I would further say that I am speaking for myself alone, not for the rest of the board.

Articles, editorials and letters in your last issues cite the need to close schools, the need to close schools soon, the need for budget cuts, the need to tighten belts, and the need to freeze salaries. I missed reading about the need to give children a quality education.

I grew up and went to school in Grosse Pointe. I received an excellent education here. I believe our children and their children need that same excellent education. Grosse Pointe is a "quality" community and a desirable place to live due mainly to its fine record of excellence in education. Ask any realtor.

In response to all the "needs" stated above, I would say we are very cost conscious. We have an energy saving program in our buildings, we did not replace the last two administrators who resigned, we have reduced staff as enrollment declined, we have switched to a self-insured insurance program, we have voluntarily reduced our millage levy, to name a few.

When I ran for election to this office, I promised quality education while watching our tax dollars. I continue to strive to meet that goal. I guess I am

Woods must deal with meter maids

To the Editor:

I wish to bring to the attention of all of the Grosse Pointe communities the ludicrous Grosse Pointe Woods parking meter fines which have caused Bill Anton to discontinue serving luncheon at his excellent establishment.

Mr. Anton commissioned a study that determined that tickets were issued behind his restaurant in such great numbers that it set a record.

It is an observable fact that the meter maids in the Woods are overzealous to say the least. They virtually speed around making certain not to miss anyone in the entire community who may be parked at an expired meter.

It is tragic to think that anyone wishing to have a business lunch must turn to a fast food outlet or drive a great distance if he wishes to remain in Grosse Pointe.

In my opinion, it is absolutely ridiculous for this situation to continue. Needless to say, the value of lost salaries and revenues generated at the only "outstanding" restaurant in Grosse Pointe Woods far exceeds the money collected from the meters.

I commend Mr. Anton for the stand he has taken. It is incumbent upon Mayor George Freeman and the Woods City Council to take appropriate action immediately to bring this nonsensical situation to an end.

disappointed that the Grosse Pointe News and many citizens are putting pressure on the board to close schools and do it fast! Closing schools may be the answer, but as I search through all the possibilities and solutions to this complex question, I am aware of the need to be thorough, sure and deliberate. Our decision will impact on the quality of education and the quality of life in Grosse Pointe for many years to come. Therefore, as we search for the proper solution, we need your support and ideas, not criticism and pressure to make a quick decision.

We have set a timetable for discussion and action for school reorganization with June 13 as the recommended date for our final decision. This timetable has been publicly reviewed and is evidence that we plan to make our decision on schedule.

Lucas on county reform

To the Editor:

I have watched and read a considerable number of television news stories, newspaper articles and editorials related to county reorganization since I have taken office. Most of these news spots are reactions to single events which are elements of the overall reform effort.

Rarely do I read an editorial that attempts to deal with the entire picture as did the editorial in the March 17, edition of the Grosse Pointe News. While I am confident that you and I do not agree on every single issue, I certainly admire the way you have captured the most meaningful aspect of the conflicts that have emerged since the charter was enacted.

The voters could hardly have been more clear in their demand for reform. Every obstacle that has been thrown upon the road to fiscal responsibility and sound management practices seems to be a selfish demonstration of blatant disregard for the will of the people.

Your analysis of this state of affairs was a pleasure to read.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

The Honorable Martha Griffiths, Lieutenant Governor of Michigan, is serving as honorary chairman of "Swing into Spring Celebrates Michigan," a black tie benefit for the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra. The party, sponsored by the Pointe Symphony Women's Association, will be held Saturday evening, April 16, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

Lieutenant Governor Griffiths will be there, wearing her Inaugural ballgown designed by John Mijatovich, a member of Design Alliance Detroit, the group of accomplished men and women who have elected to practice their couture skills right here in Michigan rather than head for the East Coast or California.

During the cocktail hour, which begins at 6:30 p.m., there will be a fashion parade of original creations by members of Design Alliance Detroit, with commentary by Detroit Free Press Fashion Editor Linnea Lannon, a great believer in Michigan designers.

A London Broil dinner, served at 8 p.m., will be followed by dancing until midnight to the Big Band sounds of Chet Bogan's orchestra. Chet promises mellow music: arrangements made famous by the likes of Artie Shaw, Tommy Dorsey and Glenn Miller.

Masterminding all these festivities are co-chairmen Maureen Allison and Georgia Balog, with assistance from fellow Pointe Symphony Women's Association members Marjorie Fahim, mailing; Sandra Drettman and Patricia Young, patrons; Ann Lazar, reservations; Carol Ann Cavazos, decorations; Lenore Marshall, publicity; Marilyn Coticchio, prizes; Susan Flanagan, hostesses; and Rose Marie Szymanski, raffle.

"I was at last year's 'Swing into Spring,'" says Felix Resnick, longtime director of the Grosse Pointe Symphony. "It was great fun, and Mrs. Resnick and I hope to go this year."

"It seems appropriate that the Women's Association, whose support helps make it possible for the Grosse Pointe Symphony to provide a platform for outstanding musical talent in the community, should also, at this benefit, be giving a boost to creative talent in the fashion line. And, of course, Lieutenant Governor Griffiths' interest and presence is a real plus."

Tickets are $37.50 per person general admission, $50 per person patrons. The latter group has something special in store for them: a "Swing into Spring Celebrates Michigan" champagne party, offering a chance to visit with some of the designers, running from 6 to 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 13.

The numbers to call for further information on what promises to be THE super event of the spring season in The Pointe are 881-4655 or 886-6039 (Village Records & Tapes).

Auction daze! . . .

It's countdown time, with blastoff for "the hottest video game in town," the 15th annual Channel 56 Auction, scheduled to take place a week from tomorrow, Friday, April 8, at 7 p.m. — and, as might be imagined, down at the public television station studios on Second Boulevard, the joint is jumping! Auction volunteers like Grosse Pointe's LOIS WATERMAN and DORIS ERICKSEN (left and right, flanking the video game above) and ROSE BELL (right), wheeling in the 10-speed one of her get-geters went and got, and general auction chairman DOTTI DOERER, on the phone (she's begun to think of it as a virtual extension of her ear) while auction producer HAL EWING waits for her attention, are busier than a barrel of bees with final preparations for the nine-day public television sell-a-thon of donated goods and services. After opening night, the auction begins daily at 1 p.m. and will run through 12:30 a.m., or later, live on WTVS/Channel 56 through Saturday, April 16. WCZY's Marc Avery will continue his long-standing tradition of opening the auction. This year's official host, WJR's Jimmy Launce, will also be on hand for the fun. Honorary Chairman Robert Stone, vice-president of Materials Management at General Motors, and General Chairman Dotti will play important roles in the Triumphant Cross Lutheran Church, St. Clair Shores, was the setting for the evening wedding of Julia Anne Krueger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert James Krueger, of Kenwood Court, and William David Dunkelberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Axtell Dunkelberger, of St. Clair Shores.

Julia Krueger speaks vows

The 6 o'clock ceremony Saturday, February 12, at which Pastor Joseph Ekeberg presided was followed by a reception at Gourmet Manor. The newlyweds vacationed in northern Michigan. They are at home in East Detroit.

The bride's ivory silk gown featured a fitted bodice, styled with a ruffled, drop shoulder, and a long, full skirt extending into a cathedral train. Silk bows caught her illusion veil. The bow motif was repeated at the veil's hem.

The former Miss Krueger, who carried a cascade of white orchids, stephanotis and trailing ivy, was attended by her sister, Rebecca Elizabeth Krueger, as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Cheryl Reesa, the bridegroom's sister, Jeri Krueger, the bride's sister-in-law, Kathy Andre and Marianna Furbush. They wore floor length dresses of burgundy taffeta, long-sleeved, V-necked and fashioned with wrap skirts, and carried stems of white and burgundy cymbidium orchids.

Edward Charles Dunkelberger acted as best man for his brother. Ushering were Jim Miller, Brad Felsner, Bill Duerk, of Defiance, Ohio, and Dave LaPorte.

Flower girl Cheri Andre, in a long gown, ivory in color and trimmed with burgundy ribbon, carried a basket of rose petals. Ring bearer was Steven Andre.

Mrs. Krueger wore a dark blue, printed velvet jacket with the full length, princess style gown, green in color, she selected for her daughter's wedding. Ivory and gold were the colors of the bridegroom's mother's full length, embroidered gown.

Each mother chose an orchid corsage, Mrs. Krueger's purple, Mrs. Dunkelberger's white.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Dunkelberger

Mr. and Mrs. Reynold W. Semmler III

Special guests included the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R.F. Macieak and Zeida R. Krueger, of Sioux Falls, S.D. and the bridegroom's grandmother, Marge Redwood, of Detroit.

Macomb Medical Assistants to meet

John D. Taylor, professor and chairman of the Department of Biological Sciences, Wayne State University, will speak on Metastasis at a meeting of the Macomb County Chapter of the American Association of Medical Assistants, Inc., Wednesday, April 13, at J. Ross Browne's Whaling Station on Van Dyke.

Reservations for the program, open to all medical office personnel including assistants, technicians and managers, must be made by contacting Anne Fratantelli, 778-4419 (home), 939-6640 (office), no later than noon Monday, April 11.

The evening begins with cocktails at 6 p.m. followed by dinner featuring a choice of four items at $9 per person. The guest speaker's talk starts at 8 p.m. Officers for the coming year will be elected during the business meeting, scheduled to begin at 9 p.m.

Pair exchange vows in fall

A reception at the Perry, Mich., home of Reynold William Semmler III followed the Saturday, October 16, ceremony in United Methodist Church at which he and Carol Dawn Meyers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson E. Meyers, of Lansing exchanged marriage vows.

Attending the bride at the 2 o'clock rites, at which Pastor Jeffrey Hales presided, was Katherine Kazenko, of Lansing.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. R.W. Semmler Jr., of St. Paul Avenue, asked his father to act as best man. Ushers were W. Charles Bridges, of Marblehead, Mass., and Douglas L. Taylor, of The Farms.

The newlyweds are at home in Perry.

Central Michigan University senior MARY LILLY, daughter of GEORGE and DOROTHY LILLY, of The Woods, acted as a free consultant to a local business during the fall semester under CMU's Small Business Institute program.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald H. Ebel, of Cedarburg, Wis., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jenny Lynn, to Bruce Anderson Seeber, son of former Woods residents Mr. and Mrs. John T. Seeber, who now make their home in Rochester. A September wedding is planned.

Miss Ebel, an alumna of Cedarburg High School, is enrolled at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, where she is affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and Phi Upsilon Omicron honor society. She is completing her study of fashion design at the Fashion Institute of Technology in New York City.

Her fiancé, a Grosse Pointe North High School alumnus, holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Marketing from Michigan State University, where he is affiliated with Psi Upsilon fraternity. He is employed as a sales specialist with Kroy, Inc., in New York City.

Miss Turner is engaged

Mrs. Robert A. Smart, of Palm Harbor, Fla., formerly of Grosse Pointe, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Patricia Jane Turner, of Brys Drive, to Dennis M. McKenna, son of former Birmingham residents Mr. and Mrs. Sidney McKenna, who now make their home in Farmington, Conn. A late May wedding is planned.

Miss Turner, who is also the daughter of the late David C. Turner, holds an Associate of Arts degree from Immaculata College of Washington, D.C., and a Bachelor of Science degree from Michigan State University, and is a Master of Arts degree candidate at Wayne State University. She is a member of the Junior League of Detroit and Alpha Xi Delta.

Villagers enjoy January dance

Over 100 people gathered at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club on the last Saturday evening in January, to dance to music by the Dave Henning Trio and dine on Delmonico steak at the Villagers' third dance of the 1982-83 season.

Guests included Dick and Dawn Ernst, Florestine and Werner Schmidt, former Villagers' members Len and Nels Walton, Marian Carey, Albert and Alice Fleming, Bob Goodman, Albert Garmhaus, John and Joanne Chonka, Jean Schrader, Sam and Shirley Douglas, Dick and Sharon Amluxen, Bill and Shirley Rutherford, Gary and Jackie Rupert, Roger and Jean VanBever, Bob and Ardith Brown and George and Gerri Kasper.

The Blue Note Quartet will provide the music for the dinner dance group's next party — which will be at the Detroit Boat Club, NOT at the location originally scheduled at the beginning of the Villagers' year. This is the members' pre-paid dinner dance. Guests are still welcome.

More information on the Villagers and their party schedule may be obtained by contacting the president couple, Dick and Betsy Boynton, at 343-0570, or the membership chairman, May Thompson, 886-4454, or board members Ed and Flo Kliber, Charles and B. J. Dowd and Ken and Joyce Bratt.

Project HOPE Luncheon

A special spring luncheon and program await the Women's Division for Project HOPE on Wednesday, April 20. The setting will be the Renaissance Club. Its assistant manager, Karen Berry, who is also a new member of Project HOPE, is making the arrangements for the day.

The program will feature a musical interlude by Lynda Weston Berg, singer and teacher, regular performer with the Piccolo Opera Company — and daughter of Project HOPE member Roxie Weston.

The day's agenda calls for a board meeting at 10:30 a.m. and a general meeting following the luncheon, which is open to Project HOPE Women and their guests. Sue Nine is chairman of the day. Diane Schoenith is current president of the Project HOPE Women. Further information may be obtained by contacting the Project HOPE Office, 649-4775.

'Artists in America' Premier

Another special event scheduled for Wednesday, April 20, is a premier screening of the "Artists in America" television series, documentaries produced on location in Detroit, New York and Chicago by the Archives of American Art, a branch of the Smithsonian Institution.

"Artists in America" filmmakers Linda Abramsky and Charles Cigrenski have captured in three sensitive portraits the unique approach to creating works of art and the distinctive lifestyles of sculptor Richard Hunt, painter Roger Brown and portrait painter John Hegarty. The series is hosted and narrated by Dennis Barrie, midwest area director of the Archives of American Art.

The screening will take place at 7:30 p.m. in the Detroit Institute of Arts' auditorium/theater. Tickets are available at $10 per person general admission, $35 per person patrons. Patron ticket holders are invited to a wine and cheese reception, with an opportunity to meet the artists featured in the films, following the screening.

Tickets and further information may be obtained by contacting the Archives of American Art, 226-7544.

Andover Dinner in Detroit

Metropolitan area alumni, alumnae, spouses and parents of Phillips Academy, Andover, Me., and of Abbot Academy, which merged with it in 1973, are invited to meet Andover Headmaster Donald W. McNemar at a reception and dinner this Monday, April 4, at the Detroit Club.

William D. Dahling, an Andover alumnus, and his wife Nena are hosting this first visit by Dr. McNemar to the southern Michigan constituency of the coeducational New England boarding school. Andover is independent, integrated and non-sectarian, providing full or partial scholarships for 32 percent of its students.

Dr. McNemar, a former Dartmouth College Dean and History and Social Sciences professor, is in his second year as the school's 13th headmaster since its founding in 1778, during the American Revolution.

With him in Detroit will be his wife, Britta McNemar, Academy Secretary Joseph C. Mesics, Class of '53, who heads Andover's Alumni and Development Offices, and Dean of Admissions Joshua L. Miner. Additional details on the reception and dinner may be obtained from Bill Dahling's office, 343-0246.

Project HOPE Luncheon

A special spring luncheon and program await the Women's Division for Project HOPE on Wednesday, April 20. The setting will be the Renaissance Club. Its new assistant manager, Karen Berry, who is also a new member of Project HOPE, is making the arrangements for the day.

The program will feature a musical interlude by Lynda Weston Berg, singer and teacher, regular performer with the Piccolo Opera Company — and daughter of Project HOPE member Roxie Weston.

The day's agenda calls for a board meeting at 10:30 a.m. and a general meeting following the luncheon, which is open to Project HOPE Women and their guests. Sue Nine is chairman of the day. Diane Schoenith is current president of the Project HOPE Women. Further information may be obtained by contacting the Project HOPE Office, 649-4775.

'Artists in America' Premier

Another special event scheduled for Wednesday, April 20, is a premier screening of the "Artists in America" television series, documentaries produced on location in Detroit, New York and Chicago by the Archives of American Art, a branch of the Smithsonian Institution.

"Artists in America" filmmakers Linda Abramsky and Charles Cirgenski have captured in three sensitive portraits the unique approach to creating works of art and the distinctive lifestyles of sculptor Richard Hunt, painter Roger Brown and portrait painter John Hegarty. The series is hosted and narrated by Dennis Barrie, midwest area director of the Archives of American Art.

The screening will take place at 7:30 p.m. in the Detroit Institute of Arts' auditorium/theater. Tickets are available at $10 per person general admission, $35 per person patrons. Patron ticket holders are invited to a wine and cheese reception, with an opportunity to meet the artists featured in the films, following the screening.

Tickets and further information may be obtained by contacting the Archives of American Art, 226-7544.

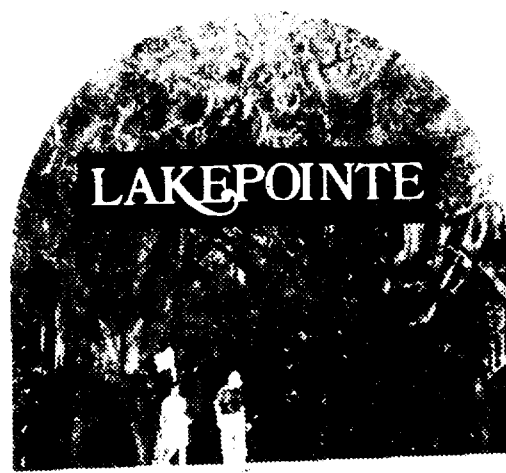

Andover Dinner in Detroit

Metropolitan area alumni, alumnae, spouses and parents of Phillips Academy, Andover, Me., and of Abbot Academy, which merged with it in 1973, are invited to meet Andover Headmaster Donald W. McNemar at a reception and dinner this Monday, April 4, at the Detroit Club.

William D. Dahling, an Andover alumnus, and his wife Nena are hosting this first visit by Dr. McNemar to the southern Michigan constituency of the coeducational New England boarding school. Andover is independent, integrated and non-sectarian, providing full or partial scholarships for 32 percent of its students.

Dr. McNemar, a former Dartmouth College Dean and History and Social Sciences professor, is in his second year as the school's 13th headmaster since its founding in 1778, during the American Revolution.

With him in Detroit will be his wife, Britta McNemar, Academy Secretary Joseph C. Mesics, Class of '53, who heads Andover's Alumni and Development Offices, and Dean of Admissions Joshua L. Miner. Additional details on the reception and dinner may be obtained from Bill Dahling's office, 343-0246.

"At the rate I was going, in ten years I'd have about $2000 saved."

I have a pretty good job. I've never been out of work. I've received regular promotions. The only thing I've never been able to do is save money.

One day I overheard my secretary talking about how much she'd saved buying U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. I was astounded.

Then I looked at my bankbook. I figured out how much my average yearly savings had been since I'd been working. And I almost cried. At the rate I was going, in ten years I'd have about $2000 saved.

Oh, some years I'd save three or four hundred (nine hundred one year), but it didn't last long. Something would always come up and I'd take it out and spend it. I always figured one of these days I'd bear down and build up a nest egg.

Since nothing else seemed to work, I decided to give the Payroll Savings Plan a try. I should be able to save as much as my secretary. If it worked for her it should work for me.

It turned out to be very easy. They take a little out of each paycheck toward Bonds, so that's a portion of your pay you're not tempted to spend. Not only is it easy but it's safe. The Bonds are piling up and so is the interest. And, by the way, the interest is guaranteed.

I never thought much about Bonds before but it's hard to find a better return on such a small, initial outlay.

When I get enough saved I may look into other things. But as for right now, it's the best, easiest way I know of to save. Actually, it's the only way that works for me.

I started late, but better late than never.

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, an ELEGANT EASTER DINNER entree and dessert.

CROWN ROAST OF LAMB

1 12-16 rib crown of lamb roast
¼ tsp. pepper
Fresh chicory greens or bibb lettuce leaves for garnish
Request butcher to remove backbone and french ribs.

Let roast stand at room temperature 1½ to 2 hours. Preheat oven to 325°. Wrap each rib end in aluminum foil. Place roast, rib ends up, in a large, shallow roasting pan and rub with black pepper. Insert meat thermometer between 2 ribs, not touching bone. Fill crown with Mushroom Walnut Bulgur Stuffing. Cover stuffing loosely with foil. Roast meat uncovered, and remove foil over dressing at least ½ hour before removing roast from oven.

For rare, roast 12-15 minutes per pound (130-135 degrees).

For medium rare, roast 15-17 minutes per pound (140-150 degrees).

For medium, roast 18-20 minutes per pound (150-160 degrees).

For well-done, roast 20-25 minutes per pound (160-170 degrees).

For this special recipe with the Mushroom Walnut Bulgur Stuffing, allow about 5 minutes longer baking time per pound.

Transfer roast to hot platter and let rest 15 to 20 minutes. Remove foil from rib tips and replace with paper frills.

Garnish roast with crisp green chicory or bibb lettuce leaves and surround with glazed baby carrots. Makes 8 servings.

Calories about 445 each for 8 servings, including stuffing, using 16 rib roast.

Cholesterol about 125 mgs per serving.

MUSHROOM/WALNUT BULGUR STUFFING*

1 medium onion, peeled, diced
¾ cup minced celery
¾ lb. thinly sliced mushrooms
4 Tbsp. unsalted margarine
1 cup medium grind bulgur
1¾ cups chicken broth
¼ tsp. salt
1 tsp. poultry seasoning
¼ tsp. pepper
1/3 cup finely minced parsley
½ cup chopped walnuts

Saute onion, celery and mushrooms in margarine in a heavy skillet over moderate heat 5-8 minutes until pale golden. Add bulgur and stir fry 2 to 3 minutes. Add remaining ingredients except walnuts, cover, and simmer ½ hour until liquid is absorbed and bulgur is tender. Mix in walnuts, taste for seasoning and adjust as needed. Makes 8 servings.

Calories about 30 per serving.

Cholesterol — a trace.

*If desired, stuffing may be baked separately by placing in greased casserole and baking for 20 minutes in preheated 350° oven.

FROSTED MERINGUE WITH FRESH STRAWBERRIES

3 egg whites
¼ tsp cream of tartar
½ tsp. vanilla
¾ cup superfine sugar
2 cups whipped topping
2 Tbsp. sugar
1½ cups fresh strawberries sliced in half

Preheat oven to 325°. Line bottom of round layer pan 8 or 9 x 1½ inches with brown paper cut to fit. Beat egg whites and cream of tartar until foamy; add vanilla. Beat in ¾ cup superfine sugar 1 Tbsp. at a time; continue beating until stiff and glossy. Spread in pan. Bake 1½ hours. Turn off oven and let meringue stand with door closed 1 hour. Finish cooling meringue at room temperature.

Loosen edge of layer with a knife. Invert onto plate. Remove paper. (Meringue will be crumbly on bottom and around edge.) Beat whipped topping according to package directions and fold in 2 Tbsp. sugar. Frost sides and top of meringue, building up edge slightly. Arrange strawberries cut side down in any pattern you desire. Cut into 8 wedges to serve. Calories about 125 per serving. Cholesterol 0.

Seek donations for 56 Auction

The 15th annual WTVS/Channel 56 Auction, "the hottest video game in town," hits the airwaves April 8 through 16, but the search for merchandise is on now. Over 8,000 items, brand new and valued at $50 or more, are needed for the nine-day sellathon fund raiser.

Sale of these items to viewers will help raise nearly $800,000 — or about 15 percent of the public television station's budget.

Merchants receive on-air credit for each donation over $50. For example, if a merchant contributes 20 radios, his business will be mentioned 40 times during the auction; once each time one of his radios is first shown, again when it's sold to the highest bidder.

Merchants also are eligible for federal tax deductions to the extent permitted by law. For more information, call Auction Central at 873-7200.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes once wrote: "Men do not quit playing because they grow old. They grow old because they quit playing."

William J. McBrearty, tennis star and semi-retired attorney, doesn't intend to quit playing. William J. McBrearty is 81 years old. "I enjoy tennis and I enjoy the exercise. I don't like getting out and jogging — that's Dullsville," McBrearty says. McBrearty is certainly not a resident of Dullsville.

He won the United States title in doubles rowing in 1930 with his partner John Hutton, and followed that up 20 years later with a Canadian Open singles title for men 45 and older. "I'm a big shot because I won it, but just between you and me, the competition wasn't too tough," McBrearty says.

More than 30 years later, McBrearty is still having a hard time finding decent competition, but he keeps hanging in there.

"Competing, that's the joy of it for me. God gave me a lot of energy and I use it up doing things I like. And I happen to like tennis."

The only problem is, there aren't enough men who "happen to like" tennis and who happen to be around 80 years old to go around. Those who are belong to the Super Seniors, a tennis organization devoted to promotion of tennis for players 55 to 85. Players like McBrearty.

Getting better, not older . . .

McBrearty and fellow Pointe Super Seniors Otto Pongrace and Walter "Pudge" Cavanaugh, spend their time off the court convincing older players of some tennis ability to join their group. It seems super senior competition in the Pointe (a tennis Mecca if ever there was one) gets a bit thin at times.

"Some guys might be vain, maybe that's why they don't want to play. Many people don't want to be beaten, they don't want to go up against guys who might be better than them. But then, those are the people who don't have the crazy desire to get in and compete. I guess I'm just one of those people."

And lest anyone gets the idea that the Super Seniors are players whose better tennis years are behind them, McBrearty sets them straight. "These guys are in good shape, they play all year round. Maybe if people know they'll just get a chance to play good tennis with active players, they'll come out of the woodwork."

"And they shouldn't worry about getting beaten," the 13th ranked McBrearty says. "People might learn that they're better than they thought they were. The only reason I got ranked was because I showed up," he laughs.

McBrearty is going to keep on showing up, this year at the big Super Seniors tournament in Charlottesville, N.C. "It's like being an alcoholic — I just take one year at a time."

And quitting tennis? "I'll play until I'm 110. Then I'll take my one medal, put it on my chest and say: 'look what I did 90 years ago.'"

And maybe that's when William J. McBrearty will decide it's time to grow old.

Power, pitching key for North

By Peggy O'Connor

If power, pitching and intelligence win baseball games, North High hasn't got much to worry about this season, according to varsity baseball coach Frank Sumbera.

The 1983 version of the Norsemen will battle Bi-County opponents with a combination of top pitching, home run capability, and a team grade point average of 3.0. Team grade point average?

"Our championship team of 1980 had a 3.10 grade point average. Intelligence is important — it really helps out. Especially in something like baserunning. We're going to have to be intelligent running those bases because we don't have the speed to get to the bases without being smart," Sumbera laughs.

Speed may be the only thing lacking on this 1983 North team, according to Sumbera. "We're pretty much returning our whole team, (which had a 29-4 record), we've got the complete outfield back and we returned seven out of nine starters — that has to help."

Among those returning lettermen is 1982 All-State second team choice Marty Mitchell, who tied the North High home run record last year with 10 round-trippers. Mitchell returns to his spot at first base.

CENTERFIELDER DAVE WALDECK leads the list of all-lefthanded outfielders on Sumbera's squad. Waldeck, a singles and doubles hitter, will assume the leadoff position for the Norsemen. Dennis Cyr will play left field and sophomore Dan Kopitzke will be Sumbera's rightfielder.

The infield line-up will vary with the starting pitcher. If Dave Babcock starts for North, Mike Hall will start at third, John Menzo will play short and Shawn Dowden will fill in at second base. With Menzo on the mound, Joe Haas will move in as utility infielder. Kevin Dundon returns as catcher.

Menzo was 6-2 as a pitcher last season, and contributed six home runs offensively. Cleanup hitter Babcock clouted three home runs and chipped in with three wins on the mound. "Bob Wujek, our big righthander, Menzo and Babcock will be our big three out on the mound. And Hall should help out, too," Sumbera says.

North may be able to make up for lack of speed with what Sumbera calls "home run power." But it won't be an easy task to win that fourth consecutive Bi-County crown.

"Lakeview's got a nice ball club and Lake Shore has a lot of returning players — we expect a lot from them. Then, we've got that Alpena tournament again this year and that will be interesting."

"But the squad's been working hard this spring, and we're way ahead of schedule. We've come along so well, I've had to switch things around a little so the guys don't get bored. Really, though, I've got a good feeling about this team," Sumbera says.

If his 1983 Norsemen are half as smart and powerful as he thinks they're going to be in their march towards a Bi-County championship and a state playoff berth, North's baseball season is going to be anything but boring.

North was down and out here, as they lost to Bishop Gallagher, 3-0, in the 1982 state district baseball playoffs. But things are looking up this year for Coach Frank Sumbera (above, right), watching catcher Kevin Dundon make the tag. Sumbera's 1983 Norsemen are packing power and a pitching punch.

South gets older, better

By Peggy O'Connor

South's varsity baseball team is getting older AND getting better. And baseball coach Jon Rice couldn't be happier.

He returns six starters from the 1982 team which finished second in the Eastern Michigan League and compiled an 11-9 record — mainly behind the efforts of four sophomores and two freshmen.

"We started those sophomores last year and they did fairly well for a young team. The best part is, now they've got the experience," Rice said.

Bringing that experience to the 1983 edition of the baseball Blue Devils are returning sophomore first baseman Mark Brooks, sophomore pitcher/outfielder Kurt Maunz, junior catcher Jim Arnold, junior centerfielder Brian Rathsburg, junior catcher Steve Carrier and junior third sacker Tony Tocco.

"That experience, coupled with our hitting and speed, will be our real assets this season," Rice said. "We're a good contact club and we're going to have to make that count because right now, our pitching is the real question mark."

Rice says the Blue Devil pitchers are accurate, but they aren't the type of pitchers who can blow batters away with blazing fastballs. "We'll have to keep the ball in play and let the offense take care of the rest," Rice added.

Times meet, (6:12 - one mile).

The clinic will begin with a general introduction to fitness and walking, then break into two workshop sessions. Each session will consist of two concurrent workshops to address the specific interests of participants from beginner to advanced walker.

There will be an application session at 5 p.m., for all groups at the South High School track near Fisher Road and Grosse Pointe Boulevard where participants can receive individual attention and instruction. Participants should come in workout clothes.

McCoy in numbers game

University Liggett School graduate Todd McCoy is listed as either the No. 2, 3, 4 or 5 singles position starter for the 1983 Bucknell University varsity tennis team.

Coach Craig Reynolds hasn't decided which of the four positions McCoy, a freshman from the Park, will fill for the Bucknell squad, which earned an 8-7 record last season.

Langs is an All-Ivy man

Brown University sophomore Stark Langs earned All-Ivy League honors last week for his contributions to Brown's varsity basketball squad.

Langs was Brown's second-leading scorer with 12.2 points per game. He also led the Bruins and the Ivy League with 10.5 rebounds per game.

Mental Health Center celebrates twentieth anniversary

Out of the Darkness of Large Asylums

Into the Light — with Community Mental Health

Two decades spawn changes in mental health

Nearly twenty years have passed since President Kennedy first spoke to Congress, in 1963, about the need to intensify our nation's commitment to mental health services.

At almost the same time as Kennedy was speaking, a small group of committed volunteers had an idea, and that idea became the Northeast Guidance Center. In many ways the changes at Northeast Guidance Center over the last twenty years have paralleled the changes in how our society has viewed our mental health.

A big part of this change is the shift of care away from large institutions to the community. In the past twenty years, the number of persons in Michigan's mental institutions has been cut by almost 75%. We all know of the bad side, the problems created by some people being placed unprepared in the community; but do we know as much about the potential for an enhanced quality of life available for people who can partake of their community's resources.

Also important as evidence of our changed attitude is increased availability of counseling and support services to all persons. Until the development of Centers such as Northeast Guidance, outpatient, individual, and family counseling was available only to the very wealthy who could afford extended private care. While improved coverage under health insurance has changed some of this, the majority of persons still do not have adequate mental health protection in their insurance package. Therefore, Northeast Guidance Center has provided thousands upon thousands of hours of service to people of middle income and below, who can take advantage of our sliding fee scales for the same quality of service they would receive elsewhere.

A third and perhaps most vital element of the community mental health movement is its emphasis on prevention and education. While these activities are rarely as lucrative as direct service treatment, they are critically important to the long-range health of our community, and, therefore, we allocate a great deal of our time and energy to such activities.

Even if we have succeeded in fostering the reforms noted above, we are far from a success in one area: public support for, and recognition of, mental health services. We will never succeed in that area until we all abandon the stigma associated with getting help for our problems, with this supported admission of "weakness." We will only succeed when we each accept the responsibility for maintaining our own and our neighbor's mental health. That must be the ultimate goal.

—By Jonathan L. York, Ph.D.
Executive Director

ANATOMY OF OUR CENTER

Recipe for community-help success

By Chinyere Neale, M.A.

In 1963, the United States Congress authorized $150 million in Federal Aid to the States for construction of comprehensive community mental health centers. Definition was "a program of mental health services in the community under a unified system of care."

By December of that year, the Northeastern Wayne County Child Guidance Clinic was founded to provide mental health services to children and their families. Incorporated as a private, non-profit organization, the clinic began as a tiny operation in donated quarters with only one full-time professional, a secretary and a few part-time workers.

An early brochure read: "The NWCCG Clinic provides diagnosis and treatment for children with emotional and behavior problems. Diagnostic services are also available to mentally retarded children."

"Any child under 18 . . . living in the Grosse Pointes, Harper Woods and Northeastern Detroit is eligible to receive services at the Clinic."

The Community response was so great that within a year, additional space was needed. The building at 17000 East Warren was purchased in May, 1965 with privately donated funds and a gift from the Ferry Foundation.

By 1967, the Clinic newsletter stated:

"If the proof of the pudding is in the eating, the Clinic may consider its recipe for community help to be a success. Services now offered are used as fast as they are made available. The Clinic had 463 interviews this January compared to 244 in same month in 1966."

The Board of Directors Housing Committee began to look for supplemental facilities while staff increased. Dr. Eli Rubin was appointed the Clinic's first full-time Director in 1968.

The Clinic Board and staff planned with hospitals and other agencies for the development of an Eastside Community Mental Health Center. The name was changed to Northeast Guidance Center to reflect the Board's intent to provide service not only to children, but to their families as well.

By Spring 1970, the building at 17000 East Warren had been expanded by the addition of a second story. The Kresge Foundation was among the generous donors to that project.

A satellite was opened at the Keating Elementary School (south of Jefferson) helping many area families. The Child Day Treatment Program opened in October '72 and moved to a building on Camden in 1980, just north of the Ford Freeway.

In 1973, the Comprehensive Mental Health Services Plan was initiated. By then there were three service units: Mack near Alter, Jefferson near Conner, and the Warren Avenue unit at 17000 E. Warren. They provided counseling services to children, teens and adults. They dealt with substance abuse counseling; day treatment; youth services; consultation, education and prevention; partial hospitalization. The Center employed nearly 100, and was involved in training of students from area Universities.

By 1974, client interviews had more than doubled since 1970, to approximately 13,500. Many served had annual incomes under $6,000. In addition, over 500 education presentations were given to students in training.

In '76 an income-based fee schedule was established, so no person could be denied services because of inability to pay.

During the next two years, the Center served thousands, including providing Crisis Intervention to 912 face-to-face and 6149 telephone cases! Consultation and Education provided 1050 presentations in that same period.

At the end of '79, after many years of success and growth for the Center, Dr. Rubin decided to step down from the Directorship to pursue other goals. Jonathan York, Ph.D., was selected as his replacement. He immediately faced shrinking economic support for mental health. The Center was preparing to "graduate" from federal funding and the Board of Directors and Executive Director had the formidable task of planning for that "graduation."

The Center was forced to consolidate programs and locations in 1980, as well as to adjust to the changing community, family structure and definitions of mental health. NEGC continues to provide full spectrum of services, and is still growing in spite of financial losses. Contemporary problems, such as unemployment, substance abuse, the changing family, and chronic mental illness are, of necessity, integrated into the program.

The Center benefits from strong community support, successful fund-raisers and many committed volunteers. Services continue to expand to meet needs. In the words of the Center's Deputy Director, Marlene Archev-Crim, "Northeast Guidance Center is your community mental health center, and as it serves you and your families in the coming year, it continues to be a testimony to a long-lasting partnership between community and agency."

National Council meets in Detroit

Unemployment, family stress and related problems were among the topics discussed when over 1600 mental health experts converged on Detroit for the National Council of Community Mental Health Centers' 14th Annual Meeting in early March at the Detroit Westin Hotel, Renaissance Center.

Northeast Guidance Center was well represented. Of the 200 papers presented, 12 were from NEGC. Included were "Futurepsyche: Mental Health Issues and Practice in the Year 2000" by Jonathan York, Ph.D.

"Parenting With Love: A New Direction for Teenage Mothers" was the subject of a roundtable led by Colleen Reynolds-Reed, M.S.W.

"Depression Among Older Women: Issues and Barriers to Treatment" originated by Mary Ann Collinson, R.N., M.A., and Carol Zielinski, M.A.

A Workshop by NEGC Board members Ed Egnatios, Creighton Lederer, Lois Scott, Russell Straith, Vickie Hertel, and Cheryl Waldeck, recommended strategies for long-term plans.

Many of the lectures and workshops addressed issues related to funding and quality assurance in a tight economy. Some other topics covered during the four day conference were "Preventing and Treating Eating Disorders," "Shoplifting Diversion," "Post-Vietnam Stress," "Domestic Violence."

Northeast Staff also participated in local planning and arrangements, as well as conference public relations.

CENTER ESTABLISHED ON FAR EAST SIDE

A Time for Remembering

By Jamie Coy Wallace

Sitting comfortably in her glass-walled living room, looking out at the snow and rain mixture sprinkling Lake St. Clair, Betty (Mrs. B. Courtney) Rankin laughingly remembered the "good old days" with "co-conspirator" and friend, Anne (Mrs. George C.) Crane. As founders and members of the Northeast Guidance Center's first Board of Directors, Betty and Anne recalled their years of fund-raising, administrative paperwork and long-range problem solving.

Listening to Betty and Anne discuss the beginnings of the Center, it's evident that enormous dedication and time were involved in the organizational planning, the research, the endless phone calls and "arm-twisting" required to start the mental health facility. Betty ruefully admits, "When my friends saw me coming down the street, they'd try to avoid me because they knew I'd get them to commit money or time ... something ... to the cause. I was absolutely shameless!"

Interestingly, the Northeastern Wayne County Child Guidance Clinic, as it was originally called, evolved from a League of Women Voters study presentation on "The Exceptional Child," done in 1962. Both women were immediately "hooked." In February 1963, a public meeting, co-sponsored by the Junior League of Detroit, was held to see what could be done to help Eastside Detroit children with problems. "There was nothing on this side of town at the time," concur Rankin and Crane, "so a steering committee was formed at that meeting, and we were on our way."

In the beginning, the Clinic was a branch of the downtown Children's Center. Within a year, the City County Mental Health Board was formed, which enabled the Clinic to apply for state financial aid, and its independence was assured.

When the connection with the Children's Center was severed, the largest task facing the Board, after locating sufficient funds, was finding an Executive Director. Carolyn Wheeler, a psychologist for the Grosse Pointe School System, became the first, followed by a dual leadership of Wheeler and psychiatrist Dr. Douglas Sargent. Dr. Eli Rubin served the Center as Director from 1968 to 1978. He wrote the first grant proposals for Federal funds to expand as a full-service mental health facility for adults as well as children. In 1969, the name of the agency had changed to Northeast Guidance Center to reflect the change in client services.

Fund-raising was a priority for the early Board members. "We really loved those parties," laughs Betty and Anne, "because so many people became involved."

"One year," Betty remembers, "we had three Fords on our committee, and they donated a jazzy new Mustang to raffle off. It was the year the Mustang came out and everyone wanted it. Another time, we rented the Masonic Temple for a Robert Goulet concert, with an afterglow at my house. We had so many reservations, I had to hire a company to move all the downstairs furniture out the morning of the party, then move it all back the next day. I think there were still people here as the movers were carting everything back the next morning!"

Although Betty avoids talk of the myriad details and tremendous work involved in such an undertaking, she admits that through such successful fund-raisers, the Center was able to buy its own building on East Warren and Cadieux in 1965. Anne, a busy architect who once worked for world renowned Taro Yamasaki, led the search for the right building to purchase. Once found, she redesigned the interior space. Since then, the Center has purchased other properties, including the present administration site at Lakeview and East Warren. Anne later served two years as President of the Board of Directors.

It was Betty, the indefatigable President of the Center's Board for ten years, who came up with the idea of forming an Assistance League to take over much of the fund-raising.

"I was so convinced it could work. Barb (Mrs. Webster B.) Knight organized a group of women and before long they were doing a fabulous job raising money," Betty relates. To date over $395,000 has been raised by the Assistance League, and membership has grown to over 200.

Both Betty and Anne were on the Search Committee to hire an Executive Director when Dr. Rubin expressed a desire to return to private clinical practice in 1978.

"Everyone on the Board was impressed, with Dr. Jonathan York," comments Anne. "His enthusiasm and administrative abilities have enabled the Center to operate, despite a climate of severe government cutbacks and economic doldrums in Detroit's

1973 federal grant to Northeast Guidance

Reception at Northeast Guidance Center ten years ago featured dignitaries celebrating $500,000 grant from the National Mental Health Institute, to be used for expansion and improvement at that time. private sector." Anne Crane and Betty Rankin see the opening of the branch on Mack Avenue in Grosse Pointe as a positive sign of mental health awareness in the community.

"Back in the early 60's when we were starting out, nobody in Grosse Pointe would have admitted having problems. Now we're reaching out to each other." Reaching out is what Betty Rankin and Anne Crane have been doing all their lives, and the Northeast Guidance Center is fortunate to have them in its corner.

Reflections on a Fine Design

Anniversaries are times to remember the past and look to the future. Celebrating the Northeast Guidance Center's 20 years of serving our community presents an opportunity to reflect on how time brings change. But does it really? Or are some things perceived as good, resistant to change?

True, the affects of Neil Armstrong's walk on the moon to the re-shuttling of Columbia has brought us into the age of computers, of satellite communications, robotics, instant foods. Unlocking the mysteries of DNA; and the need to look further into outer space has affected our school curriculum in sciences and math. The historic heart transplant by Dr. Christian Barnard to the routine triple by-pass has generated a new emphasis on physical well being. These events and many others have shaped our lives, especially in the last two decades.

The state of the economy has changed the traditional role of the female as homemaker. From forerunners such as Clara Barton, Clare Boothe Luce, and Eleanor Roosevelt, we now find women running corporations and holding esteemed board positions ... and still running a household. Or friends are leaving a tennis or bridge game, and going directly to a computer class.

Grosse Pointe has been influenced by national and international events, just as any community has been. Amidst sweeping transitions in the social and economic network of our nation, we find Grosse Pointe is still a community in which the traditional families thrive. It is still the stalwart resistance to drastic change, but openness to progress that has made Grosse Pointe unique!

Lakeshore has a new look with joggers, cyclists in droves. Our mansions are being torn down, but we are rebuilding more efficient homes. Our stately elms are falling prey to disease, but we are replanting. Each generation maintains the deep-seated traditions of Grosse Pointe. It has proven to be a "fine design" for family living. Residents still enjoy good schools, lake sports, lovely sunrises and sunsets. The Neighborhood Club, Village and Hill shopping, the War Memorial and its myriad activities, our parks, good city services are yet prevalent.

Volunteer service organizations that contribute so much to those in need, and to our cultural life still abound. Women volunteers nowadays, even though many have careers outside the home, are still supporting not only local groups, but also cultural and civic activities in Metropolitan Detroit; the Symphony, Art Museum, Friends of Belle Isle, Soup Kitchen, Salvation Army, and many more.

These writers reflect on Grosse Pointe as the community with the warmth and comfort of Campbell's Soup, yet with the class and confidence of vichyssoise! We're happy to have walked this way the past 20 years with our families. How about you?

The idea of giving good value for the money is nothing new at General Motors. Since more people buy GM cars and trucks than any other make in the world, we must be doing some things right.

But giving "good value" isn't good enough at GM. We're out to give you more.

There's a new spirit and growing dedication to excellence that runs through our entire company. And it's showing up where it counts—in the cars and trucks you drive.

We have applied the latest scientific disciplines to dramatically improve overall fuel efficiency, quietness and corrosion resistance.

Quality control, fit and finish, and attention to detail are at the top of our priorities list. And we won't be satisfied till they're the best there is.

We're using more and more advanced technology to help us build better products. Robots. Lasers. Gamma rays. Truly the stuff of science fiction only a few years back.

Yet we have not rushed in at the expense of human involvement. Only people can care about doing things better ... and our people do.

Today, General Motors offers you more for the money than ever before.

And we're not stopping there. The way we see it, our number one goal is to pursue excellence and pass it on in greater value with every new car and truck we build.

The proof of this is at your GM dealer's now.

CONVERSATION WITH THE PARK BENCH

Judge says today's teens get conflicting messages

Judge Beverly Grobbel of Grosse Pointe Municipal Court, assesses today's young people and their so-called independence as a more complicated problem than it was for teens 20 years ago.

JUDGE BEVERLY GROBBEL

"I see them handling themselves far worse, because of the conflicting messages from society. What I deal with as far as independence is concerned, usually translates to a young person on his own being able to pay the rent! That's the small part. Being able to relate to people, to have a stable job, to get your aims together, is what it's all about."

The Judge feels the difficulty with teen independence is that it is compounded in the youth trying to figure it out! Fewer people are really promoting stable ideas because we're a generation that tells them, "If you feel good about doing something, do it!" "That's the most horrendous, incorrect statement that anyone could make!" she states emphatically. "Statements like that bring about emotional distress! The kids find out eventually that it wasn't ok, and that they must pay the price."

An example cited is that of a high school student who decides to quit school... to get into the gang hanging around arcades during the day. Her Honor points out the price they pay a few years later is that they cannot get a job! "We're not teaching them discipline. No matter how many new things come along, the basis of any generation is its discipline. We have not done them any favors by being so permissive."

Question: Then perhaps what we need is more education for parents?

"Absolutely," she continues, "I think the most important aspect is to educate parents. They need to know that it is ok to do what their gut-feeling tells them is right. But parents don't know that, because neighbors or friends will tell them, 'Oh, you're too hard on your children!' That's conversation... party talk. We are misled by our own friends sometimes."

Judge Grobbel talks about the man who tells her that he is so lucky that he doesn't have any problems with kids.

"I know his kids do have serious problems," she retorts. "And by denying this, by not being honest, by not talking to me about it... how can we help each other to find solutions to his problem... which might be a neighborhood problem?"

She encourages parents to talk about what troubles them with their children. We all have them and should not be ashamed to admit it.

The Judge praised visits by Toma and Dr.

Upton to our community, as a very worthwhile experience. "They really lay it where it belongs — on the parents who are not facing the fact that young people need discipline to help them deal with life."

"Toma was really intense. Because you will repeat the outrageous things he says, they make an impact as you repeat them! He talks about parents here who say, 'My children don't have that problem. We come from a different ethnic background, or we don't have big city problems.'"

"You stupid people, he says, 'you have it and you have more money to have more of it!'" Her eyes light up with the excitement of Toma's words.

She reiterates that parents have got to know it's ok to take a strong stand with their children. "That's exactly what the child wants! The reason we have to emphasize this is because Mom and Dad have been bombarded with all this about children's rights."

"We've got this rights of children thing confused with the obligations of parents!"

The discussion turned to common problems with teens, of parents banded together to make enforcement more consistent.

From the Judge, "Your youngster wants to go to a beer party and all his friends are going... what do you do... what do you say? The parent says... help me... NOW... give me suggestions... help my community! How many times we parents have been confronted. A mother says 'My son says he can't have a party because I won't let them have beer, and without beer the kids won't come!'"

"Ahh, there is the law... it's against the law! But you want their friends to come to your house and feel welcome. You don't want a beer-bash everytime they get together. Now, how do you do it? Obviously the answer is with all the parents. Which is the most effective way to resolve this? If all the parents say no beer, it can be controlled... And caring parents must be home and circulating during parties. If you stay up in your bedroom and think it's ok... that's wrong. You can't just sit up there... something may go wrong!"

In conclusion Judge Grobbel adds, "This is the kind of guidance and counseling that can help parents. Discussion in groups, at PTA meetings, at Northeast Guidance... parents need neighborhood and community support!" (Northeast Guidance Center offers several programs on Parenting throughout the year. Assistance League to the Northeast Guidance Center

History of the Assistance League

"The difficult we can handle... The impossible may take a little longer... But we can do it!"

On May 22, 1964, in the Founders Room of the Grosse Pointe Library, Mrs. Barbara Knight and a group of twelve interested women met to form the Assistance League to the Northeastern Wayne County Child Guidance Clinic (as it was then called). She was asked to organize a group by Betty Glancy (now Mrs. B. Courtney Rankin), president of the Clinic's Board of Trustees. Mrs. Knight became the first president of the Assistance League. Fourteen have followed in her footsteps, able leaders all.

The first projects were a series of fashion luncheons. Familiar fund-raisers throughout the years have included Lobster Bakes, publishing "The Happy Hostess" Cookbooks (3 editions), a Santa Haus, annual Follies starring members and friends, "Nite Flight to Nevada" millionaire parties, and many more original ideas.

Yearly fund-raising projects have increased in number and scope since the early years. Donations to the Northeast Guidance Center to date have been over $395,000!

Membership has grown to well over 200 and may be active or associate. Their purpose is not only fund raising. It is also to offer individual service to the Center as tutors, aides, in secretarial and clerical and hostess duties.

Information on membership may be had at 824-8000.

JONATHAN L. YORK, Ph.D., has been Executive Director of Northeast Guidance Center since January 1979. He is a graduate of Yale University and received his doctorate in psychology from Michigan State University. He came to Detroit from Lansing where he had been associated with St. Lawrence Hospital Community Mental Health Center. Upon his arrival, Dr. York commented, "What has impressed me the most is the excellent reputation of the (NEGC) Center for the services it has provided thousands of (eastside) residents."

In spite of hard economic times and cessation of Federal funds, Dr. York has pressed forward. Not only have excellent services been continued, but he has introduced innovative programs. Last year a service location was opened in Grosse Pointe to better serve that area and Harper Woods residents.

Thus, it is urgent to attract more financial support from the community, if these much needed mental and emotional care facilities are to remain available to those who can pay and to those who cannot!

Video Games... Are They Harmful?.....

U.S. Surgeon General C. Everett Koop stated in a speech delivered Nov. 10 that video games have an adverse mental and physical effect on children and teenagers.

He felt that the non-educational video games produced aberrant behavior and caused tension, sleeplessness and disturbing dreams in children who are committed to the games. "Everything is eliminate, kill, destroy... [and] let's... do it fast," he said of the games. They may also help children accept or copy real violence.

On the other hand, some people feel that the fast pace of video games promotes the development of eye-hand coordination. Some might say that it is better to be narcotized by games than the drugs that so plague our communities.

The recording industry has blamed the video arcade business for drastic losses in record sales.

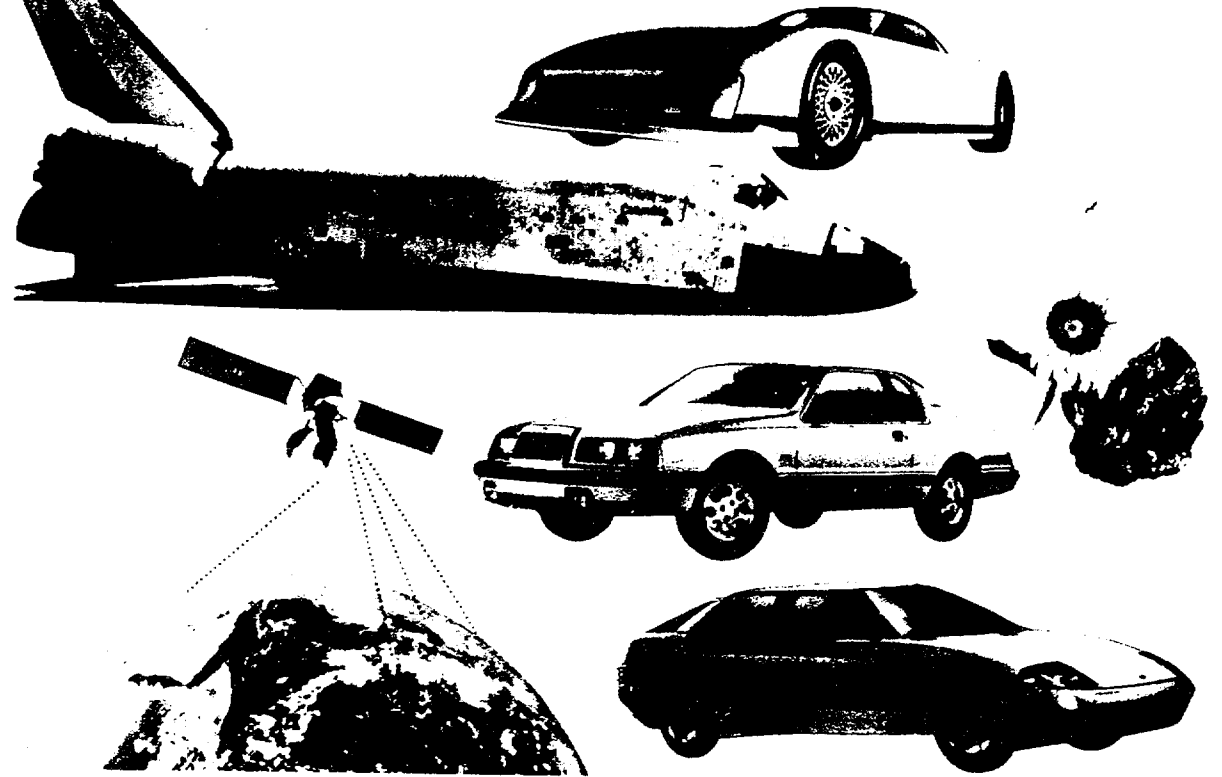

National Public Radio interviewed dozens of teenagers who claimed to spend 30 to 50 dollars per week in video arcades! Some area residents complain of crime, vandalism and loitering.

Do the arcades serve some recreational purpose for the community?

How do you feel about video games and arcades?

We'd like your comments on video games. Please send your cards or letters to VIDEO GAMES, c/o Northeast Guidance Center Newsletter, 13340 E. Warren, Detroit, MI 48215.
