While doing so, a few neighbors drifted over to help, and the next thing you know it turned into an informal male coffee klatsch. Recognizing a good thing when he saw it, George decided to have a dirty party every year, minus the dirt.

According to Mrs. Tilton, the male only entourage gathers early in the a.m. on Memorial Day, Fourth of July and Labor Day for coffee, cake and some serious "lie swapping.

The wives have had a few parties of their own, but aren't quite as intense about it. Mrs. Tilton said the parties have been such a hit that neighbors who've moved away have made an effort to come back just to

By the way, in case of bad weather the men just move their lawn chairs into George's garage, or that of neighbor Tom Clark. The first party of 1983 is scheduled for this coming Monday morning.

Halloween IV

In a rare display of unanimity, members of the Park Council voted Monday night to suggest limiting hours of trick-or-treating for up coming Halloweens to between the hours of 6 and 8 p.m.

The idea of limiting the hours, thus providing more safety for the kiddies, was brought before the council by Diane Marston, of Balfour Road. Ms. Marston, who first presented the request to the council last April, said she hecked with PTO's at Maire, Pierce, Defer and Christian Day schools and all said it was 'good'' idea. While there were no problems in the Park last year, there have been instances in the past where kids were mugged for their candy.

Incidentially, absent from Monday's night's meeting were Councilmen Tony Spada and Roger McNeill.

MADD seeking members, will monitor courts

By Tom Greenwood

North and South students attending senior proms this year will find something extra in the pockets of their rented tuxedos or in their corsage boxes.

They'll be receiving cards from the Wayne County chapter of MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Drivers) urging them not to drink and drive at prom and graduation

MADD, which has established a branch organization in the Pointes, is getting aggressive in its drive for members and its fight against drunks who maim and kill.

"MADD has grown so fast throughout Michigan that the Wayne County chapter is establishing a separate sub-group for the eastside, including all the Pointes, East Detroit, St. Clair Shores and Harper Woods," said Debbi Gryn, vice-president of the eastside branch organization.

"Each county is allowed only one chapter, and Wayne County is so big we had to establish four different regions to handle the large numbers of persons interested in MADD. We held a meeting a week ago attended by 50 persons. In that group, about 30 had been victims of drunk drivers, having lost someone in an alcohol related accident.

Mrs. Gryn got involved with MADD for two reasons: first as the mother of four little boys who will be adult drivers someday and as a emergency room nurse.

"The problem with my sons will crop up some day in the future," she said. "They'll drive, they'll probably drink and will be on the road with drunk drivers. I want to teach them right now.

MADD believes there are many people out there needing their help. According to their information approximately three persons die daily in Michigan in alcohol related accidents; in the nation as a whole, one person is killed every 23 minutes in such crashes.

One out of every two Americans will be involved in an alcohol related accident in their lifetime, vet only one of every 2,000 drunk drivers is ever arrested, and the chance of receiving a severe penalty is mathematically insignifi-

"Death caused by a drunk driver is the only socially accepted form of homicide," said Sue Landis, vice-president of the Wayne County chapter of MADD.

Sue and her husband Lee, president of the chapter, lost their youngest son to a drunk driver in October, 1981. The 20-year-old driver served four months of a six month sentence in the Detroit House of Corrections, five years of probation, lost his drivers license for two years and had to attend an alcohol awareness program.

"It was a good, fair sentence. A stiff one," said Ms. Landis.

Citizen group puts candidates on the hot seat

By Joanne Gouleche

A group of local parents called Quality Education Coalition (QEC) is taking an active interest in the June 13 school board election.

According to spokesman Susan Glass, the group has sent questionnaires to each of the seven school board candidates, polling the contenders about their views on Supt. Kenneth Brummel's tentative school consolidation plan. One of the questions asks candidates if they feel current enrollment projections warrant school closings in Grosse Pointe.

The two board members elected in next month's election will vote on the superintendent's plan this November.

Last week, Mrs. Glass said some candidates have returned the questionnaires and added the QEC is considering endorsements before the election, which is only two weeks away.

"We're in effect trying to elect the best candidates who are sympathetic to our point of view," she

The QEC was formed last month to urge the Board of Education to delay its vote on Supt. Brummel's plan to close four elementary schools by next fall. That controversial vote was to have taken place on June 13. But at the board's May 9 meeting president Dorothy Kennel announced trustees decided to delay their vote until Nov. 14.

The delay was requested to allow for more community input and to give trustees an opportunity to study the proposed K-5, 6-8, 9-12 grade plan more carefully, Mrs. Kennel said.

Dr. Brummel has now called for community groups concerned with the future organization of the school system to come up with alternatives to his plan by an Aug. 1 deadline. By late summer or early fall, the school board and administrators are expected to sit down with the community groups, down with the community groups, including the QEC, to discuss alternatives to the Pointe's declining enrollment problem. The administration will present its final plan to the board on Oct. 10.

The superintendent has asked concerned groups to "prioritize" issues in developing alternative proposals for school consolidation, including issues of maintaining including issues of maintaining the neighborhood school concept, the three middle school atten-dance areas and the two high schools.

"That list of priorities is not nearly an adequate list," said QEC member Mrs. Glass, whose group includes representatives from every school district. "It's difficult to prioritize. If you prioritize, you have to understand all the facts. We're not satisfied with that."

The Board of Education is considering a plan to close down these four elementary schools (clockwise, beginning top left) Kerby, in the Farms, Defer, in the Park, Barnes, in the Woods, and Mason, in the Woods. The proposal is designed to bolster curriculum and save the school system money in light of its more than 40 percent decline in enrollment over the last decade.

Mrs. Glass added the QEC will be contacting senior citizen groups and local realtors "to initiate some kind of dialogue" between the group and school administrators. The group also has organized a fact-finding committee and a speaker's bureau and is accepting donations. Those in-terested in donating should send contributions to 97 Moran Road, Grosse Pointe Farms 48236.

"We hope that we may provide a conduit for information and ideas from every segment of Grosse Pointe," Mrs. Glass said. "We plan to work with many organizations, not only the various response committees from each of the schools, but also with other groups not directly involved in the schools, because we feel this issue affects us all.

We plan to establish a dialogue with the administration and the board, hoping that cooperation will result in maintaining the academic excellence of our present system.'

The QEC has so far been critical of Supt. Brummel's tentative plan on several points, including the claim that the superintendent's proposal provides negligible tax savings; that the plan will affect property values; and that the plan "diminishes the concept of the neighborhood school, tradionally at the heart of the Grosse Pointe community," according to the group's literature.

The QEC also states the proposed K-8 program was not recommended by a citizens advisory study of the declining enrollment problem in the Pointe's public schools.

Mrs. Glass said her group has not come up with any solid alternatives yet but there are plans for a couple of month's hard work

33 foot strip of land on Detroit's eastern border actually belongs to the Park. But the Grosse Pointe city is having to fight inch-by-inch

The latest round in what has become the Wayburn Road legal epic was decided May 5, when Circuit Judge Irwin Burdick or-dered Detroit to repay some $35,000 in 1982 property taxes that it billed to residents. The homeowners have until June 5 to pay up without penalty to Detroit, which has been ordered to turn the money over to the Park.

But city officials are doubtful when they'll receive the funds and there are still other questions in litigation arising from the de-cade-long boundary dispute. The residents of west Wayburn and Barrington are fighting a separate action in circuit court over return of thousands of dollars of income taxes they have paid to the city. And Detroit officials are threatening again to appeal Burdick's decision to higher courts; according to Park attorneys.

The old border line between the city and suburb was thought to run through the center of homes spections. Opinions & letters

The best for the board

ciety in these words:
"If the country is to be governed with the consent of the governed, then the governed must arrive at opinions about what their governors want them to consent to. How do they do this? They do it by hearing on the radio and reading in the newspapers what the corps of correspondents tells them is going on in Washington and in the country at large and in the world. "Here we perform an essential service . . . we do what every sovereign citizen is supposed to do but has not the time or the interest to do for himself. This is our job. It is no mean calling and we have a right to be proud of it and be glad that it is our work."

THOSE WORDS EXPLAIN why the Grosse Pointe News is covering the school board election campaign in its news and editorial columns. For even in a small community such as the Pointes, there are people who have neither the time nor the interest to obtain the information about the qualifications of the candidates that is required to arrive at a meaningful decision when they go to the polls. The News does its best to provide that information for them.

All seven candidates are qualified to a degree. All seven live in the Pointes. All have had experience with the school system as parents or teachers or both. All want to preserve quality education. And all have opinions about the reorganization plan that has become the No. 1 issue in the school board campaign.

As we have said before, the Pointes are fortunate that so many qualified and interested citizens are willing to run for the board. It is a somewhat thankless task in a time of reorganization. And it takes a good deal of time and effort to become acquainted with all of the problems and facets of the school system. So the community owes a debt to the seven candidates who have filed for the two positions to be filled in the June 13 election.

Having said that, however, we still think several people have outstanding qualifications to serve on the school board. We think that Dorothy Kennel deserves to be reelected because of her service during the past four years, because of her experience as a kindergarten teacher in the Grosse Pointe schools, and because of her continuing interest in maintaining quality education in the system.

WE THINK HER responses to several of our questions during our interview were especially meaningful. When asked why she was running again, she replied that she was doing so for two reasons: She felt that that a second term could be more productive because she had learned as she served her first term. And she said that having been a part of the board that brought Superintendent Kenneth Brummel to the Pointes, she felt it would be wrong to saddle him with two new members at this time. We felt that those were honest and important answers to that question.

Asked whether she supported Brummel's tentative reorganization plan, she said she did so in part but that she had become convinced that some changes would have to be made. That is why she and the rest of the board had decided to postpone a decision on the superintendent's original proposal until next fall and asked him

Walter Lippmann, the distinguished columnist who died a few years ago, once described the role of the journalist in a democratic socontinued to show initiative of her own in developing school policies. We think that is part of the responsibility of a good school board

Asked whether she favored a public referendum on the school closing issue, Mrs. Kennel said she did not. She feels the board should stand up and be counted on such an issue but points out the board is still listening to the community reaction to the tentative reorganization plan proposed by Brummel. She does think there is a need, however, for school reorganization because the declining enrollment means that some schools are operating on a less than viable basis.

Recommending a second candidate is even more difficult. None has ever served on the board although one, Sharon Vasher, made a strong race four years ago. But among the six remaining candidates, we think that Vincent LoCicero would serve as the most effective board member on the basis of his experience and background.

A LAWYER WHO has been involved in community affairs, including the parent-teacher organizations in the schools attended by his children, LoCicero served on the citizens advisory committee and chaired the subcommittee on school facilities which dealt with the future use of the buildings. Perhaps because of that experience, he feels that what happens to any closed school buildings is important, not because of its effect on the quality of education directly but because of its effect on the community in general.

LoCicero is convinced the schools will have to be consolidated but feels that the superintendent's original reorganization plan should be revised. He also feels that the recent election in which the three-year millage levy was renewed for three years by only a small margin reflected community concern. He thinks the voters were sending a message that they wanted something done to consolidate the schools but that they still wanted strong schools.

LoCicero believes that Brummel has been an excellent superintendent. He saw Brummel in action during his service on the citizens committee and approves of the way the superintendent handles himself in public and makes himself available to'the community.

While LoCicero does not support a public referendum on any school closing plan, he does think it was wise for the board to postpone its decision on Brummel's tentative proposal. He feels that the community did not get much involved in the school reorganization issue during the citizens committee hearings and that there should be more public input before any reor-ganization plan finally is approved by the school system and the quality board. While we have said that we recommend Mrs. serves have been of the high-Kennel and LoCicero because of their outstand- est possible caliber. He's running again, isn't he?

As the economy improves, so does the prospect that President Reagan will run for reelection next year. White House aides, encouraging that kind of talk, called together a group of 1980 campaign workers last week and told them, "All of us think he'll run again." It's to the staff's advantage to have him do so, of course.

Reagan himself remains equivocal. He pointed out to one audience last week that it is too early to declare his intentions either way but added that if he announces he's retiring, he's a dead duck for the rest of his term and if he ington Post poll finds Reagan ahead, 45 to 42 announces he's running, everything he does from then on is regarded as political. BUT THE SAME poll shows the president running behind Sen. John Glenn of Ohio, a recent addition to the ranks of the Democratic presidential hopefuls, by a 42 to 45 margin. A similar result emerged from a Gallup Poll which showed Glenn leading Reagan 54 percent to 37 percent among registered voters, as contrasted with a Glenn lead of 45 to 40 percent in February. To the Editor:

This letter is written because our families have been Grosse Pointe residents for several generations and we feel that the planned reorganization of the schools would be most detrimental to our community and its children. We most recently resided in St. Clair Shores and made a conscious choice to return to Grosse Pointe (Woods) expressly because of the excellence of the school system and the affording of opportunities that were not available to our three children in the previous district. The Grosse Pointe public school system has been in the business of educating its citizens for over 60 years. For all people return to Grosse Pointe their families, so that they, too, can enjoy the quality life style not available to most people. Property values have douvalues have remained at a level far higher than any of of the pride of the citizens in stockholders cording to community standards. A shining example is Pointe realize that one of the

While it is true that Grosse Pointe has experienced declining enrollment in the past share the problems of other school districts which lead ultimately to school closings. Passage of the recent school millage is proof that people in Grosse Pointe realize, that we must pay for what we want and we are willing to do it. They realize, also, that the amount they pay for what they receive is a bargain compared Pointes. Who knows how many new students will be enrolling in the next few years?

The present school administration, after months of study, and with little regard for the results of the study or of the wants of the citizens, has arbitrarily decided that four elementary schools will be closed within the next year and a half. These closings will result in a possible savings of less than 2 percent of the current budget. How many healbled in the last 10 years. Kenhomes for sale in the Grosse nel, current president of the school board. He owns no property in Grosse Pointe, therefore pays no property taxes and has no vested interest in the long term property values. If experience can be our guide, he will likely not be here more than a few years, moving on to greener pastures and leaving Grosse Pointe residents with what is left of the school system. In closing the schools, he will have built a personal reputation quite attractive to school systems not as fortunate as Grosse Pointe, at our expense.

> The Grosse Pointe News states that we elected this school board to make the decisions and we should live with them. If we had adhered to that philosophy, Richard Nixon would still be president. It is imperative that, on June 13, citizens of the Grosse Pointes see to it that those incumbents responsible for the program to close schools, not be around to see this program implemented.

One school can't hold two groups

I am writing to express my opposition to the consolidation plan being offered by the administration. I am the parent of two children who are in the Defer district; one is now in the first grade and the second will be entering in 1985.

My particular concern relates to my perception that the plan fails to maintain the integrity of an elementary education program. My first response to the plan was positive

Rumors scare Park citizens

In regard to the Grosse Pointe Park City Council meeting on May 16, it was disgusting! I thought Grosse Pointers considered themselves to be, at least, average in intelligence, to have good manners and civic pride. Because of "scare" letters put out by one councilman, the council room was filled with citizens who were scared. However, these people came, it seemed, not to listen, learn discuss the proposals, but to act like idiots.

How can these scared citizens be so guillible as to believe that our council - who also reside in Grosse Pointe Park — would plan proposals which would not maintain and/ or upgrade our city in the future?

I suggest that these "scared" citizens study the proposals and go to more council meetings with an open mind to listen and discuss plans in a rational manner. It is wrong for these people to boo and condemn the council when they refuse to learn the facts about the issues.

elementary and junior high school - until I read Brummel's plan and visited Pierce.

1) Pierce School cannot accommodate the two programs. Where is the unique elementary library? How can the integrity of an elementary program be maintained when it is considered feasible to house the elementary art program in the junior high woodshop at Pierce? The school I attended had two principals, two gyms, two libraries, etc., but one heating plant and related staff to save on facility expense. The physical layout of Pierce will make it difficult to maintain a separate — and I believe separate is a key to quality - elementary prog-

2) I have lost confidence in the "philosophic" underpinnings of this plan. I have heard a lot of motherhood talk about quality, but nowhere have I seen a strong statement about the value and role of an elementary program as an ingredient of quality. Brummel's first release called for the elimination of each closed elementary school's principal; how can an elementary program be maintained under a principal whose loyalties are divided?

Therefore, I support a delay. First, Pierce is not ready to have a downsized Defer squeezed in. Second, I cannot favor a plan that does not demonstrate a philosophic commitment to a separate elementary program supported by adequate facilities. Finally, I am suspicious of the long range vision this administration has for the education system in Grosse Pointe. Will on request Brummel ultimately recom-

RetireBrummel, school closings

I have become increasingly concerned about two implicit assumptions which underlie statements made by Supt. Kenneth Brummel regarding proposed school closings in the Pointes.

First of all, he seems to assume that he came here with a mandate to close schools and has a missionary responsibility to convert people to that point of view. Secondly, he appears to assume that the only proper role of the ordinary resident is to accept whatever decision he and the Board (of Education) members make.

I would suggest that the only valid reasons to close schools in Grosse Pointe would be to enrich the academic program and enhance the community. I have not read or heard any arguments that support such viewpoints. The most convincing argument is that closing schools would save money. That breaks down, however, to a few paltry dollars per taxpayer.

Any board members who vote for the school closings against community wishes should be recalled and replaced by board members who will send Mr. Brummel and the idea of school closings into early retirement.

One view from the Capitol

By William R. Bryant Jr. State Representative

The governor has made his speech on jobs and made some proposals, as I commented on last week.

Others, including our House Republican Caucus, have set forth proposals.

Senator Kelly, for example, has made proposals, two in particular. He has taken over past House sponsorship of a bill for Enterprise Zones. The bill is now in House subcommittee to see if we can change the Senate version to make it workable.

The other Kelly proposal is for a new legislative joint committee. Kelly says it is a critical corner-stone that will strengthen our economic future. In a recent article the senator said his proposal would "bring together all Standing Committee Chairpersons in order to assure that all bills and proposals are evaluated for their consequences and are part of a coherent and directed policy.

Senator Kelly bemoans the fact that former Gov. Milliken "overlooked" this proposal. If it had plains it then perhaps it would not hire consultants have been overlooked. However, the actual language of the proposal bears no relationship to his explanation of it.

Kelly's proposed new committee, the language says, would not involve committee chairs nor would it evaluate bills for economic impact.

It would "review the rule (role?) of state government," "executive polices," full employ-ment plan, and federal and local programs relating to full employment. It would have an advisory council and would hire 'consultants and institutions" to do research and "for services."

It sounds like it was better it was "overlooked" by Milliken. I suggest the same approach by our new governor.

House Republicans, before the governor's speech, set forth our Economic Development Agen-

It contains 38 separate, specific proposals.

One is similar to what Kelly now says he wishes his resolution said. We have proposed it for years. It would not set up a new been explained as the senator ex- committee, nor take trips, nor

It simply would require, by statute, that any bill or proposed department rule have attached to it an economic impact statement.

Our proposals on regulation run from repealing prevailing wage laws, to sunset legislation, to "buy Michigan" and noncompetition by the state with private enterprise. We support deregulation of interest rates.

To reduce costs to business we advocate strong health care cost containment, tightening the workers' compensation disability definition and reduction in the single business tax.

In the area of job development we support partial forgiveness of student loans to engineer and science graduates who take jobs in Michigan and easing of restraints on consulting by university professors. We support implementation of incubator space concepts for start-up businesses and help in greatly expanding agricultural processing businesses in our state.

This is a partial recitation only, of the proposals we have made. For anyone interested we would be pleased to send you a copy of the entire proposal.

Report from Wayne County

By John Hertel

The citizens of Wayne County demanded major changes in their government through an overwhelming vote supporting the new home-rule charter. Clearly, the voice of the people was heard and Wayne County government began the slow, painful process of reorganization.

Some of the changes, automatically, went into effect on Jan. 1 of this year. We now have a Chief Executive Officer who is responsible and accountable for the administrative duties of Wayne County. The commissioners have been reduced in number from 27 to 15 and their role is now that of Merle Brouwer a legislative body. A system of Grosse Pointe Woods checks and balances is in place and, the parameters of authority are defined.

It is a beginning, but only that. There is a natural resistance to change, particularly on the part of those who believe their position or challenges on the wording and intent of the charter have resulted in lawsuits and court cases that waste taxpayer dollars and impede the process of necessary reform. Certainly, these obstacles to the changes mandated by the charter are frustrating and timeconsuming, but they are not surprising.

However, as an elected commissioner in this new era of county government, I am surprised by the lack of active interest and input on the part of the citizens. For example, under the charter it is required that at the end of a Wayne County Commission meeting — a call must go out to the audience, permitting anyone in attendance to speak on any topic. In all of the meetings held since Jan. I, only one person has taken advantage of this opportunity to address the commissioners. That means that in the third largest county in the United States, with a population of 2.5 million people, only one citizen has participated in this new system of government.

The new charter also requires that the commission is to hold open meetings at various locations throughout the county and, thereby, offering residents a more convenient opportunity for attendance. Recently, the first such meeting was held in the city of Dearborn, however, only 14 citizens chose to attend.

In the near future, the Wayne County Commission will meet in the 1st District. I will make certain that the date, time and location are published well in advance of that meeting. Hopefully, the residents of the Grosse Pointes, Harper Woods and northeast Detroit will demonstrate by their presence, an on-going interest in the reorganization and reform of Wayne County government.

Until this time, please consider attending a formal commission meeting which is held every other Thursday at 2 p.m. in the 13th floor Auditorium of the City-County Building.

Closing delay makes sense

By Dr. Kenneth Brummel Supt. of Schools

Earlier this month, Board of Education trustees announced that they would delay their decision on the future organization ly. Even a casual observer of the of the school system from June 13 community and the school system

That action was taken so that residents, the board and staff members could study the administrative recommendations for future organization more thoroughreadily can see the community interest that the future organization issue has brought about, and since power is diminished. As expected, many people thought that more "heat" than "light" was being generated as a result of the discussions on this topic being conducted throughout the community, a short delay in the decision-making process makes sense. However, lest anyone misinterpret the board's responsiveness to the people who think they need additional time to study the adlatione ministrative recommend future organization of the school system, it should be emphasized that, as Board President Dorothy Kennel noted, "The board remains firm in its resolve to form a plan for coping with declining enrollment. In order to use this delay in a productive manner, I am soliciting suggestions from representatives of various community groups which have expressed interest in the problem of declining enrollment and specific plans for school reorganization. I am requesting that the suggestions be submitted to my office no later than Aug. 1, although it would be helpful to the deliberations of the administration and the board trustees if the suggestions and supporting information were submitted as soon as possible. One specific request that I am making is that those interested in the future organization question rank order major issues that are related to decisions about his matter. The ordered lists are to be submitted for the board's review in determining what the community considers the most crucial issues in the future organization of the schools. Those issues are: · Maintenance of the neighborhood elementary school concept • Maintenance of the three middle school attendance areas

• Maintenance of the two high

· Avoidance of the need for a transportation system • Cost efficient operation for the school system and taxpayers

Park adds penalty to overdue bills

It must be a sign of the times. More Park residents than ever before are delinquent paying their bills to the city and will be included in a special assessment roll that was approved May 9 by the city council.

City Comptroller Nunzio Ortisi said residents owe $90,000 on water bills alone, almost double the figure for last year. In addition to water bills, unpaid tree spray, tree removal and sewer repair bills will be added to the special assessment roll. A 15 percent interest charge will be added to the amount owed when the special assessments are mailed out with summer tax bills.

People who have not paid for the new mobile trash toters recently delivered to homes adjoining alleys also will receive a notice from the city, but no interest will be added to that charge because the toters were delivered just last month, Ortisi said.

Architect Bob Roney joins Shores council

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Robert Roney has his chance to continue his family's tradition of public service to the area.

Roney, 49, was one of the top three vote-getters in the Tuesday. May 17, Shores election, earning him a two-year term as a trustee along with Elizabeth Kuhlman and Daniel Beck. Frank Colombo, a trustee for almost 16 years, came in fourth in the voting tally.

The trustees took their oath of office at the Tuesday, May 24, village council meeting. Roney becomes the first new trustee since 1980, when Patricia Galvin won a seat on the council.

"It was an exciting day," Roney said. "I think it really shows what happens when four people run for three seats. It brings people out to support for the hall from the community," Roney said. When the renovation bond question was put before voters last year, the question "barely squeaked by," he pointed out.

During his campaign, Roney said some residents asked that the village council hold some evening meetings to allow more people to attend.

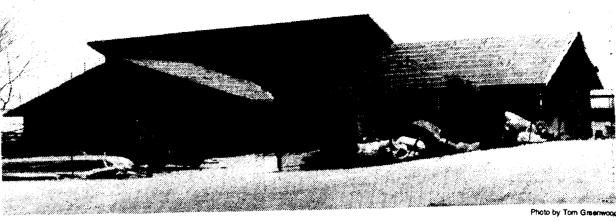

In addition, he said he would like to "continue and enhance the friendly feeling that I found in the community. People in the village have a strong feeling for their heritage.'

Grosse Pointe Township is the last corner of a township first founded in the 18th century. Roney's great-grandfather, Michael Greiner, represented the township as state senator. His grandfather, David Trombley, served as treasurer and trustee for the township.

The original township stretched as far south as Detroit's Water Works Park, Roney pointed out. Traditionally, townships were 36 square miles in area, but as separate seats of government were formed, the township government was unsurped.

His father, Edward, served as water commisioner for the district, Roney said. Another namesake, William Roney, who served as trustee and village clerk, is unre-the village's renovation of its 67- made payable to Grosse Pointe vear-old municipal building, so could not say whether the project would come in at the $1.3 million price tag.

Boathouse nearing completion

Members of the Farms Foundation are hoping the new boat house at the Farms Pier Park will be completed and ready for occupancy by Aug. 22 of this year. Construction of the new structure began last February with the demolition of the old wooden boat house which had been located at the park since before World War I. This newer structure will feature a 100 person recreation room complete with fireplace and spectacular view of the lake. There''ll also be a maintenance area, small office and small kitchen in conjunction with the recreation areas. City officials plan to install a corner stone in the building at a later date containing such items as the names of the members of the Farms Foundation, city council, minutes and papers of council meetings dealing with the planning of the new boathouse and all references pertaining to Benjamin Long, who left $400,000 to the Farms, thus underwriting the construction of the boathouse.

Chicago, Ill. - A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of one of the smallest Beltone aids of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

It's yours for the asking, so send for it now. It is not a real nearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. The actual aid weighs less than a fourth of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. These models are free. so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. All hearing problems are not alike and some cannot be helped by a hearing aid but many can. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 32641, Beltone Electronics Corporation, 4201 W. Board candidates discuss issues

(Continued from Page 1A) tain them. You can't go off the deep end though. You have to look at what others are paying, too. I think our teachers are well-compensated.

Q. What specific ideas do you have to improve the quality of educational programs in Grosse Pointe public schools?

The national education study that just came out would apply to Grosse Pointe as well as other school areas. The superintendent has indicated he feels that education in Grosse Pointe is declining educationally on a quality basis if we don't do anything. That is why the administration is studying the curriculum. I don't think kids are being pressed too much. Graduation requirements should be strengthened across the state.

Q. How would you evaluate Supt. Brummel's performance over the last two years?

Excellent. I have had quite a bit of contact with him through the advisory committee. He handles himself very well. He is public. He doesn't hide in his office. He gets out and talks to the community.

Q. Do you think Supt. Brummel's tentative school consolidation plan should be put to a vote in the community?

No. The board members are elected to make those kinds of decisions. I think a vote on this issue could be even more divisive in the community than what is going on already. If people don't like what the board does, go after it.

Thomas Peters

This will be the first school board race for Peters, of the Farms. The former South High School English teacher is author of "The Education of Tom Webber." Peters is employed by Blue Cross/Blue Shield in public relations and is on the board of the Friends of the Library.

What made you decide to run for a board seat?

Two things. Community service and I have an extensive background in education that I am not using right now, and I thought I could put it to work in the community. I think there should be a couple of educators on the board and not all lawyers and doctors. I am campaigning with flyers, attending coffees and seeing people throughout the community.

SPECIAL PRICE

tion plan? How do you read the opposition to the proposal?

I think the superintendent did what was charged him. The committee report he used was really excellent. I think he's on the right track and doing the right thing by tabling this issue a little longer. I'd like to see it tabled even a little longer and use a little more creative thinking. There's a lot of good creative thinking in this community. Fiscally, though, we have to face up to empty class-rooms. I think a lot of concerns are directed toward elementary school children. That's a very common, human feeling. I can sympathize with that. Anytime you disrupt the neighborhood school you are going to get emotional parents.

Q. The administration has proposed a $33 million budget to run the school system through the 1983-84 school year. Assuming the course of past budgets, should the district operate on a million dollar surplus, especially in light of declining enrollment?

There are reasons to have a surplus. Nobody is going to operate right to the wire. Any strong school system is going to have a little (left over).

Q. The last millage election was voted through by only 225 votes. Do you think that slim margin says anything about the mood of the school community on school

I think a lot of people are in tight straits. I don't think it's telling the schools something personally. It just expresses that there is a limit on how much taxes the community is going to pay.

Q. This month teachers will begin negotiations on a new contract. What specific issues need to be considered in determining whether teachers should or should not be given salary increases?

Grosse Pointe teachers have an excellent salary scale. I think if we are successful in hiring, training and keeping teachers doing their jobs, than they are getting what they earn. I think teachers are extremely valuable. They take our kids for 13 years. No way should you short-change teachers. They deserve the salary they are getting. You can never pay a good teacher too much.

mei's tentative school consolida- educational programs in Grosse Pointe public schools?

You're only one board member. You have to deal with the budget, the curriculum and the pressures each year. One board member's ability to change the curriculum is difficult. But if I could, I would. I think we should mandate speaking, verbal rhetoric. I would like to see articulation, timing and expression and a lot of things that would carry students further than their ability to write.

Q. How would you evaluate Supt. Brummel's performance over the last two years?

I think he is a true, professional administrator. I think he's mature, wise and I think he has brought some virtues to Grosse Pointe to our good fortune. He knows about kids, he knows about teachers, administration. He's a solid guy. I think it's too bad some persons are getting personal with him about the school closings. That's his job.

Q. Do you think Supt. Brummel's tentative school consolidation plan should be put to a vote in the community?

The expertise between the board and the administration should come up with a plan to address the issue. But we should also hear from the whole community, too. I don't think a vote would be a responsible way to do it. The biggest issue in the whole aspect of this is what you do with an empty school. That plan should be as concrete as the (school closing) plan itself.

David Russell

Active in several PTO groups over the years in the Pointe public schools, Russell, of the Park, is a retired senior pharmacologist with Parke Davis. The board contender is a member of the Friends of the Library, the Michigan and Grosse Pointe Historical Societies and the Detroit Physiological So-

Q. What made you decide to run for a board seat?

I really do have an interest in PTOs. I actually have not done a great deal of campaigning other than word-of-mouth. I have a few coffees to go to. It would be nice if this campaign didn't become a single-issue thing.

Q. Do you support Supt. Brummel's tentative school consolidation plan? How do you read the opposition to the proposal?"

No. It seems to me there has to be a better system. I think he's right. We have to consolidate schools. I personally feel you have to depend on the board and Brummel — they are the experts. Certainly there is a vocal group against closing elementary schools, which is not surprising. But I think there is a great deal of feeling out there to do something.

Q. The administration has proposed a $33 million budget to run the school system through the 1983-84 school year. Assuming the course of past budgets, should the district operate on a million dollar surplus, especially in light of declining enrollment?

Not having a business background, my first impression is that there is nothing wrong with having a surplus. It seems to be good business practice.

Q. The last millage election was voted through by only 225 votes. Do you think that slim margin says anything about the mood of the school community on school

I think it really does. The community is saying something about how they want the school system run. They want some assemblage of good business practices. Q. This month teachers will begin negotiations on a new contract. What specific issues need to be considered in determining whether teachers should or should not be given salary increases? I don't think teachers are paid too much. I think teaching is very hard. I'm sure they want more money like everyone else does. I think we might be able to give them more money if they are willing to make some concessions.

Q. What specific ideas do you have to improve the quality of educational programs in Grosse Pointe public schools?

If we use the SAT scores as a criterion, the curriculum could certainly be approved, like English, and writing. I would like to see more foreign languages, too.

Q. How would you evaluate Supt. Brummel's performance over the last two years?

I think I would agree with some others who have said he has given a superior performance. He seems to be anticipating our problems early on.

Q. Do you think Supt. Brummel's tentative school consolidation plan should be put to a vote in the community?

No. That's a board-superintendent responsibility.

Anthony Skomski

A former teacher in five school districts, Skomski, of the Farms, owns a local accounting business. Skomski is a member of the Grosse Pointe Historical Society and has campaigned for former senator Robert Griffin. Although he has never run for the Grosse Pointe Board of Education, Skomski has been elected a precinct delegate.

Q. What made you decide to run for a board seat?

I decided to run because there is education. I have been involved in no one representing the people with regard to the school closing issue. I'm using a person-to-person campaign (approach), exposing myself at meetings, expressing my viewpoints out in the open. It's a very hard campaign to run. I'm not going to spend more than $25 on my campaign.

> Q. Do you support Supt. Brummel's tentative school consolidation plan? How do you read the opposition to the proposal?

Absolutely not. I feel the suggestion is irresponsible and (shows) an extreme lack of administrative ability and sensitivity. to the Grosse Pointe community.

I see the opposition coming from the mothers of the children. I see myself as a leader of the opposition and a person around whom people can rally. I'm sort of a symbol. Every candidate should take a stand on this issue. Q. The administration has proposed a $33 million budget to run: the school system through the 1983-84 school year. Assuming the course of past budgets, should the district operate on a million dollar surplus, especially in light of declining enrollment?

I feel most of the surplus money should be spent in hiring teachers in math, music, art and foreign languages for the elementary schools. I feel the curriculum in the elementary schools has been badly neglected.

Q. The last millage election was voted through by only 225 votes. Do you think that slim margin says anything about the mood of the school community on school

In a democracy, with any kind of vote, you have someone that wins and someone that loses. The people who want to close schools are complaining that the millage just passed. If there were a referendum on the school closings, I would expect to see as close a vote as on the millage (outcome). I would expect to see people who don't want schools closed to win.

Q. This month teachers will begin negotiations on a new contract. What specific issues need to be considered in determining whether teachers should or should not be given salary increases?

I have been disappointed in the GPEA (Grosse Pointe Education Association) to date for not taking a stand (on the school closing plan). This is a very irresponsible position for teachers. Anyone who doesn't take a stand in my opinion, does not care.

The teachers should get a freeze. There should be a hiring/firing freeze.

Q. What specific ideas do you have to improve the quality of educational programs in Grosse Pointe public schools?

I'm making an extensive study of the curriculum in the elementary schools. In those schools, they should have a full-time mathematics instructor. Mason school only has one. They should also have a full-time arts instructor in the schools.

Q. How would you evaluate Supt. Brummel's performance over the last two years?

I feel that Dr. Brummel, from a technical standpoint, is knowledgeable of the administration in the central offices. His ability to maneuver around the community is quite good. I feel he has the skills of the best politician I have ever met in my life. (But) he is an extremely shrewd, cunning person. His biggest fault is that he doesn't have a feel for the Grosse Pointe community. He seems to completely ignore the fears the mothers have for sending their kids to different schools.

Q. Do you think Supt. Brummel's tentative school consolidation plan should be put to a vote in the community?

Yes. I would favor it in that an issue that is going to affect the quality of life in Grosse Pointe. No matter which way the referendum would go, I would abide by it.

Local Board of Education candidate Frank Stellingwerf was misquoted in last week's issue. The quote should have read, "I am not for an indefinite postponement on the issue (school closings)." Another quote should have read, "I don't think it's appropriate to praise or criticize Dr. Brummel in the press. I don't think he should be an issue (in this campaign)."

Pointers named to judicial

Michigan Republican Party Chairman Spencer Abraham and U.S. Congressman William Broomfield last week jointly announced the creation of a Judicial Evaluation Committee composed of Michigan attorneys, among them three Pointers.

Residents named to the committee include Richard Durant, of Durant & Durant; George B. Bashara, Jr. of Dykema, Gossett, Spencer, Goodnow & Trigg; and Richard Suhrheinrich, of Kitch, Suhrheinrich, Smith, Saurbier &

Drutchas, PC. The committee is charged with helping screen applicants for the U.S. Federal Court posts. Abraham said he was asked by the Republican Congressional delegation to provide political evaluations for the federal judiciary vacancy created by the appointment of former Federal Judge Patricia Boyle to the Michigan Supreme Court.

Others named to the committee include former state Supreme Court Chief Justice Mary Coleman state high court Justice John Fitzgerald, former justice Thomas Brennan and University of Michigan Law School professor James W. White.

"It is our view that the panels we have designated are comprised of individuals who can make a top-flight professional evaluation of applicants, so that we can be certain that our eventual appointee is a highly qualified and respected choice," Abraham said.

ory positions for working an average of 28 hours a week as aides to a variety of occupational areas.

To qualify, you must be a 30-day resident of Wayne County (excluding the cities of Detroit, Dearborn, Livonia and Downriver communities — each sponsor their own program), unemployed at least seven days or underemployed, and be able to meet other requirements set forth by the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA). Youths who are in school and have not participated in more than two Project Score/SYEP programs will receive priority for jobs. This stipulation will not affect those youth who are between the ages of 18-21 and out of high school. Wayne County ETA's programs are being federally funded at approximately $1.5 million. Wayne County Intermediate School Districts will be responsible for sub-contracting eight separate prog-rams including the county executive parks rehabilitation program. The purpose of the Summer Youth Employment Program is to help youth receive valuable work experience that they can list on future resumes, and to develop good work habits. Other program objectives are to supplement youth family incomes while benefiting the community. The program will serve to teach youths about occupations that are currently in demand as well as job search/retention skills, through a labor market orientation component that is built into the program. To apply, in-school youths should check for SYEP notifications posted at their local high schools or seek the assistance of their high school guidance coun-selors. Out-of-school youths should contact Wayne County ETA at 224-7175 to make an appointment. Those individuals who are between the ages of 18-21 and interested in working in parks and road projects in conjunction with the county executive's program (approximately 200 positions) should call Jay Parker at 224-7240 for further information.

A two-week course in photographic portrait design will be held at the War Memorial June 4 and 11 from 2 to 4 p.m.

Students will learn to take informal portraits under a variety of lighting conditions. The course will cover subject, background, camera techniques and critiques.

Chester and Helen Kowalczyk filed the civil suit late last month, alleging the city and the involved officers were "guilty of gross and extreme negligence in that they failed to take the minimal actions necessary to protect the life and well being of Jeffrey Kowalczyk," according to the case brief.

Jeffrey died last Jan. 5 after spending five months in a coma following his attempt to hang himself with his jacket in August,

He was arrested at least three times that day by Woods police. His first arrest came at 2:45 a.m. Jeffrey was charged with tumultuous conduct. Reports said he had an altercation with his girlfriend at Mack and Oxford.

Senior volunteers receive honors for 10 year service

Two Grosse Pointe residents were honored for 10 years of community service work with the Retired Senior Volunteer Program on Friday, May 20. Tributes were presented to Grace Belfi, of Grosse Pointe Woods, and Marguerite Barton, of Grosse Pointe Farms, at the 10th anniversary Recognition Luncheon held at the Fairlane Manor in Dearborn.

As a member of RSVP, Mrs. Barton has volunteered her time over the years by visiting and shopping for residents at The Detroiter Residence. She also aids the Michigan Cancer Foundation by transporting patients for treat-ment. Mrs. Barton, a retired teacher, became a volunteer because she wanted to continue to serve others after her retirement.

Mrs. Belfi's volunteer work has consisted of registering blood donors at American Red Cross and serving as a receptionist at St. Joseph Home for the Aged. Mrs. Belfi is also a retired teacher and member of our Lady Queen of Peace Church.

Mrs. Barton and Mrs. Belfi were among 96 10-year service volunteers recognized. All received congratulatory letters from President Reagan and Gov. Blanchard.

Met Week '83 poster offered

The Detroit Grand Opera Association, sponsor of the Metropolitan Opera Company's annual Detroit visits, is offering a full-color, limited edition poster commemorat-ing the Met's Silver Anniversary Season in Detroit throughout Masonic Temple during the Met Week performances there which end Saturday, May 28.

The 18x24-inch reproduction of the 1983 Met Week Souvenir Program Book cover, featuring a Paul Revere silver teapot from the Detroit Institute of Arts American Collection, sells for $7.

The DGOA has featured a major artwork from the DIA on Souvenir Program Book covers for the past 24 years, but this is the first time for a commemorative poster as

"Naturally, we wanted to offer opera goers a special keepsake in honor of Detroil's 25th Met Week season," explains Melodee A. Du-Bois, the association's vice-president and general manager. "This year's Program Book cover design evoked such an enthusiastic response from all who saw it that it only made good sense to produce a commemorative poster.

"We are most grateful to all of the individuals whose collaboration effected this beautiful poster/cover design, and we parti-cularly wish to thank the Institute of Arts for its cooperative efforts with our Program Book covers over the years.'

She's bringing a large assortment of herbs, both culinary and decorative, including a few of her really big beauties, such as some very large Rosemary plants, to The Pointe June 2. Most will be in three-inch square pots, with a well-developed root system.

She can't, of course, bring all the 150 items listed in her brochures for shipment. But she'll bring the brochures, and she'll take orders.

Years ago, when Marilyn was first starting and The Persnickety Pedlar was new, she came here for a sidewalk sale . . . but she has never done an herb sale in conjunction with a garden club. Aren't we lucky she's agreed to, and agreed to do it on-the-Hill? I, for one, will be working with open windows next Thursday, to savor the bouquet.

Wanted: Used Books

It's spring cleaning time, and the Grosse Pointe Branch of the American Association of University Women reminds everyone to bring out (not throw out!) unwanted novels and non-fiction, cookbooks, children's books, records, sheet music, paperbacks and hardcovers, mysteries and encyclopedias, and drop them off in an AAUW Used Book Barrel.

The collected materials will stock the annual autumn Grosse Pointe Branch AAUW Used Book Sale, to run this year Oct. 4 through 9.

The Book Barrels are located at Kroger's on Marter Road, Colonial Federal Savings on-the-Hill, Mr. Mc-Court's in-the-Village and two Farmer Jack Stores, one at Harper and Moross, the other on Mack near Vernier. If you have more books than you can easily take to a barrel, you can arrange for personal pick-up service by calling 882-4659 or 884-0210.

In addition to pick-up, there's another special service provided by Pointe AAUW Book Sale volunteers. If you've been trying to locate a particular book for years, call 772-0605 and let AAUW know what you're looking for. Collectors and markers will keep a "search" eye out for your book as they go about their regular business. There's a $2 finder's fee charged in addition to the price of the book — but only if the book is found.

Guests gather at noon Monday, June 6, to dine on-stage at Detroit's Music Hall and take an in-depth look at the backstage machanies that are part of the magic of dance. Joe Wilson, Music Hall's managing director, will conduct a tour of the Performing Arts Center, sharing some of Music Hall's history, and Lisa Nowak, Harbinger's artistic director, will talk about her company and the art of dance.

Videotapes of Harbinger performances will be available for viewing. It's a multi-media happening in itself, well worth the $25 admission, for that admission includes, in addition to the luncheon, tour and tapes, charter membership in "Bravo Harbinger!" And that membership includes periodic problems. bership includes periodic newsletters, early notification of Harbinger performances and discounts at the Harbinger boutique.

Interested? You can make luncheon reservations and become charter members of "Bravo Harbinger!" now by calling 477-7014.

Right On, Chet!

Let's hear it for our own Wolverine Jazz Band, one of nearly 100 from across the nation and around the globe participating in the Sacramento, Calif., Dixieland Jazz Jubilee's 10th anniversary celebration this Memorial Day Weekend!

Let's hear it for the leader of the band, Chet Bogan, who, when he's not drilling (on teeth, not for oil; he's a dentist), pursues his avocation as trumpetman with dedication and pizzazz!

Chet's played with the best of them, from Pee Wee Hunt to Tex Beneke. In fact, most of his band — Tom L. Saunders, tuba, Hugh Leal, banjo, Ken Everts, drums, Greg Nielsen, trombone, Fritz Moore, clarinet, and Dixie Belle, vocalist - have done time in what might be called The Big Time.

The Wolverines have been a Tuesday night mainstay at Lido on the Lake "just across the border" in St. Clair Shores for seven years. They've played in numerous jazz showcases, from the Bix Festival to the Central Illinois Jazz Fest where they were the only group ever to have the audience petition for an extra performance.

This will be a return Sacramento Dixieland Jazz appearance for the Wolverines, who played in the 1980 Jubilee. You say it's a long way to go for a weekend gig? Weil . . . consider the distance covered by some of this year's other Jubilee participants — the Milano Jazz Gang led by Helmut Schlitt, for instance, who come all the way from Italy — and a half-plus continent hop doesn't seem so bad.

Address older woman's world

The Northeast Guidance Cen- from your environment. ter's Community Education Program has created a series of programs, "The Older Woman: Double Jeopardy," to help women understand and anticipate the dual issues of being female and being older, explore the options available to them and develop the skills they need to make the transition from age to age a smoother

The six-week series uses a support group format to discuss the stereotypical view of women and look at how women view themselves. Topics include:

• How to control your own

· How to enhance self-expres-

• How to direct life changes towards self-growth.

Overall goal of the program, which incorporates a number of techniques (behavioral graphing, assertiveness training, goal planning and implementation, acknowledgement of strengths and stress management, e.g.), is to facilitate change for women who are interested in taking charge and changing their lives. The premise is that a desire for change need not in-dicate unhappiness — but can enhance happiness through enhancing self-awareness and control.

Okay, okay, I'll admit I may have made a slight "misstatement" when I commented a while back that televised golf — and golf in general — is boring. And I'll also admit that this admission is prompted by the thinly-veiled threats of several area duffers who say that I know nothing about golf ... but they'd be happy to teach me a thing or two.

Sure, with me winding up as a hood ornament on a golf cart or pushing up daisies on the par-three, No. 13 hole. Thanks, but no thanks.

But I realize that since I've never really learned to play golf, I might not have been just a little off base when I called golf boring. (NOTE: This logic may not always apply. I've never had a Drano cocktail, but I know enough not to order one at the country club.)

Anyway, I figured that I'd be safer asking one of my golfing relatives to show me a 'thing or two" about golf. The following is a fairly accurate account of the response to what I had assumed was a reasonable request ... so help me, Jack Nicklaus.

GOLF EXPERT: "Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha . . . "

GOLF NEOPHYTE: "When you stop laughing, will you at least consider teaching me how to play golf?"

GOLF EXPERT: "The hard part is going to be not laughing . . . I don't even want to think about teaching YOU to play. Ha, ha, ha, ha, '

GOLF NEOPHYTE: "If I promise never to tell who it was who took me golfing, will you at least take me to the driving range? You could wear a disguise and no one will know who you are."

GOLF EXPERT: "Yeah, but what are you going to be disguised as? People know a new golfer when they see one. It's hard not to spot someone who goes around yelling 'Fore!' in the parking lot of a Putt-Putt golf course. "And I don't know about your background — are there any golfers on your side of the family? Never mind, I don't want to know. Besides, you'd probably do a lot better than this one guy I know who had a 17 on a par-three hole his first time out. Nobody can be that bad.'

GOLF NEOPHYTE: "Yeah. (Gulp) Nobody can be that

That's NOT why they call it a driving range ...

The Golf Expert and I never did get a chance to "hit the greens." But that may have had something to do with my perception of golf . . . and his perceptions of my perceptions. Or something like that. At least that's what conclusions I drew after an informal session with four dyedin-the-wool golf freaks.

GOLF FREAK ONE: "You mean you actually wrote in a Grosse Pointe newspaper — that golf was BORING??? You've got guts, I'll give you that. In Grosse Pointe, they built the cities AROUND the golf courses.

GOLF FREAK TWO: "And I suppose you made this educated statement after you played a few times?"

ME, THE GOLF NEOPHYTE: "Nope. That's my problem. I can't get anybody to take me out to a golf course ... or even to a driving range. Anybody I ask looks at me like I'm nuts. They could at least take me to the driving range to drive a few balls around the range, or whatever it is they do there."

GOLF FREAK TWO: "Have you ever even held a golf

GOLF NEOPHYTE: "Once, to kill a spider in the garage. I used my uncle's old nine-iron. Does that count?

GOLF FREAK THREE: "Hoo, boy. And she wants to know why no one will take her to the driving range? She'd drive 'em all right - she'd drive 'em nuts!

GOLF FREAK FOUR: "Wait a minute you guys. We're going about this all wrong. If she says golf is boring, we should try to prove to her that she's wrong, instead of talking her out of the idea of considering golf at all. Am I (Grudging okays from the other freaks).

GOLF FREAK FOUR: "First of all, Neophyte, you'll have to adopt the proper attitude towards the sport. Saying something is boring when you've never tried it is not the proper attitude, right? Right.

Golf is not boring. It is exasperating, fascinating, exciting, tiring, confusing, exhilirating, frustrating, thrilling, interesting and time-consuming . . . but not boring. It is delicate, intricate, dramatic, and often anti-climactic. But it is never boring. Got that?'

GOLF NEOPHYTE: "I think so. But how is the correct attitude going to help me to learn to play golf?"

GOLF FREAK FOUR: "Oh, it will. Because if you don't have the correct attitude when we take you out to play, it's going to be mighty difficult to learn to putt with a five-iron wrapped around your tonsils. Right?'

GOLF NEOPHYTE: "I think I understand. So when do we go?'

GOLF FREAK FOUR: "Not so fast. Take one lesson at a time, Neophyte. We wouldn't want you to get bored."

Stay tuned. If I ever learn how to use a golf_club on a golf ball instead of a spider, things could get VERY interesting.

See Meg run.

By Peggy O'Connor What makes Meg Moisen

Her coach says it's her natural desire for competition. Meg says she thinks it's fun.

A better question might be: what makes Meg Moisen win? No matter why she runs, the indisputable fact of the matter is that when she runs, Meg Moisen wins.

The talented South High 10th grader won the state cross country championship last year and this year, she's well on her way to a state championship in girl's track. She set a new state regional record at the regional championships last week, winning the 1600 meter run in 5:12.2. Moisen also earned a state title in the 3200 meter run (11:41.0), set a school record while finishing fourth in the 400 meter dash (59.5), and anchored the second place 1600 meter relay team (4:10.2).

"There's no doubt about it, she's an incredible com-petitor," said Moisen's coach Steve Zaranek. "She has everything in perspective. She sets goals for herself, then goes out and has the drive to accomplish those goals. And Meg doesn't settle for less."

THAT WAS MORE then evident in last Saturday's regionals. Moisen set a school record in the 400 — but didn't meet her goal of a 58.5 time. She isn't going to quit trying, at least not in this Friday's Ann Arbor Huron Invitational.

"The 400 is my favorite. I think there's strategy in the 400 and I've run it since I was in the eighth grade. I haven't been able to get the 58.5 . . . yet. And if I don't, I'll just have to do better the next time," Moisen

Coach Zaranek agrees that Moisen's no-lose attitude is unusual for an athlete her age. "You don't see that kind of perseverance in someone her age. As the season goes along, it just gets stronger with Meg. If you want her to do something, she goes out 100 percent in going after the goal. She just simply refuses to let herself be in the mainstream.'

Zaranek predicts big things, running-wise for Moisen. He believes that she could run a subfive minute mile before she graduates from high school. That's something only one or two Michigan girls have ever accomplished. Unfortunately, Zaranek isn't going to get a chance to find out how much Moisen could achieve for South. Moisen will continue her educational - and athletic - career in Connecticut.

"Her best years are ahead of her . . . she's got such great potential. And what makes it better is that her whole attitude is just so special. She's just the nicest kid in the world," Zaranek said.

South's girls finished with a 6-1 league record and were 8-2 overall. They will compete in the Ann Arbor Huron Invitational May 27, then send representatives to the state girl's track finals at Jackson Saturday, June 4.

Moisen will compete in the 1600 and 3200 meter runs in the state finals, then anchor the 1600 relay which is also composed of Jen Meehan, Barb Giroux and Val Stone. Freshman Danielle Varga and senior Val Stone will also compete in the 800 run in the finals.
