Tag your dog

Okay all you law breakers, listen up. The Farms Police Department has announced it's going to start getting tough with all you dog owners out there who haven't yet acquired new licenses for your four-legged friends.

According to Pd. John Farley, the Farms will soon begin to issue tickets to those violating the ordinance.

We don't know about you, but the sight of all those dogs walking around with their legs in handcuffs is just going to be too much to bear.

TV at BD

The Bronze Door played host to a TV celebrity last Friday when "General Hospital's" Tristan Rogers stopped in for a bite. According to a restaurant spokesman, Rogers was a real nice guy who ordered the swordfish, talked briefly with four lady fans and charmed the socks off the female help at the restaurant.

Rogers, who plays an Australian heart throb police commissioner named, believe it or not, Scorpio, on "General Hospital", was in town to participate in the Renault, Facom Cup Support Race in Detroit. He didn't do too well, having crashed his car during Saturday's qualifications.

Hmmm, wonder if we could get Police Chief Robert Ferber to change his name to "Aquarius"?

Bits and pieces

For those of you interested in contacting MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Drivers) directly, the phone number for the local branch organization is 882-0790. The person to ask for is Cindy Boeneman. The phone number was inadvertently left out of the May 26 front page story on the organization.

Some 15 young people from the Ebenezer Baptist Church, 21001 Moross Road, Detroit, are planning on going on a 24-hour "Planned Famine" starting at 6 p.m. tomorrow night.

The junior high school kids are undergoing the hungries to raise $1,500 to help feed families or perhaps an entire village somewhere through the auspices of an interdenominational Christian humanitarian relief agency called World Vision.

Anyone interested in sponsoring a kid with a big heart (and growling stomach) should call Phil or Karen Johnson at 465-0586 or Dale or Colleen Goncalves at 882-2728.

Lastly, a reader called this week to let us know that the Wisteria in front of the War Memorial (in the Trial Gardens) are in full bloom and soooo wonderful looking that she wanted all of Grosse Pointe to know.

We checked it out and she's right, they are. That's the Chinese White Wisteria to be exact. Hiking over to the War Memorial may be a pain, but it's a small price to pay for beauty.

This is just one-third of the smiles being flashed around town this week by members of the University Liggett School varsity tennis team. The ULS Knights, including from left to right, Steve Pack, Frank Crociata and coach Bob Wood, have plenty to grin about: they won the Class C-D state tennis championship in Kalamazoo last weekend. The victory was ULS' 12th consecutive title — setting a national record. It has also made Wood, co-captains Pack and Crociata, and the rest of the Knights very, very popular. A story is on Page 1C.

Emergency

How would the Pointes cope with a disaster?

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The aftermath of last month's tornado in St. Clair Shores is still being felt in the Pointes and Harper Woods. Police, fire and public safety department representatives are meeting to decide ways to better coordinate relief efforts should a disaster strike the area.

The departments hope to compile a "master disaster plan" that will complement current department operating procedures, officials said. Part of the program includes a comprehensive list of personnel and heavy equipment that may be needed for clean-up and rescue as well as a regional warning system.

The master plan would complement the local emergency preparedness plans as well as streamline the efforts for mutual aid from other departments, Woods Public Safety Director Jack Patterson said. In the case of a tornado or serious fire, each department would know the procedures for the city in which they are forced to operate, he added.

For example, should a building collapse in the Woods, other departments answering the call for mutual aid would know the Woods' emergency procedures, Patterson said. In addition, rescuers would know immediately where they could get the necessary equipment to begin rescue efforts and clean away the rubble, he added.

"What brought this about was the recent storm in St. Clair Shores," Patterson said. "Once this is done, it should streamline our efforts in dealing with an emergency."

While the tornado last month was not the deciding factor, it did spark more interest in the regional plan and warning system, Harper Woods Fire Chief Howard LeFevre said. The six communities have been discussing the idea of combined efforts for a few years, but the tornado "pushed it off the edge and got us talking about it again," he said.

"This will complement the mutual aid pact already in effect among the Pointes and Harper Woods," he said. "Pooling will help us to overcome difficulties. It would just make for a better, smoother operation."

The six-community committee is now studying placement of tornado warning sirens for the area, officials said. Harper Woods has the most extensive warning system with three sirens, while the Woods has one. The Shores is investigating the purchase of an oscillating warning siren, but is waiting for the committee to determine the most strategic placement, Public Safety Director Joseph Vitale said.

While there is no timetable for completion of the work and the placement of the siren system, which could be triggered from any one of the five departments and sound simultaneously throughout the area, LeFevre said it could be done within a year.

The communities will also make application to the state and federal governments for matching funds to cover the purchase of the sirens when locations are determined, LeFevre said.

Park Fire Chief Phillip Costa said it may take as many as nine sirens for the regional warning system. "We're all thinking about sirens," he said. "The warning system is needed."

Although last month's tornado didn't determine what the cities are now doing, it did add a sense of urgency, Costa said. "When a tornado hits close by, people tend to get hyped up about it, but afterwards, things cool down," he said.

The compilation of procedures and equipment lists would allow police and fire officials to control the collective effort from one location, eliminating some of the confusion, Costa said.

City election deadlines near

By Susan McDonald

Have you heard that Defer School is going to be demolished to make way for a high-rise apartment building? Or how about this one: the city of Grosse Pointe Park is buying up lakefront property for a federally-funded low-income housing project.

Both statements are false, but both are typical of the type of rumors that have circulated through the Park in recent weeks.

Cudlip drops out of race

Farms residents intent on running for one of four seats on the city council have until 4 p.m. Tuesday, June 14, to file nominating petitions at the Farms City Hall.

Council seats open for election are those of Mayor James Dingeman, Mayor Pro Tem Lloyd Semple and Councilmen Jack Cudlip and Harry Echlin. Dingeman, mayor for the past eight years, is a 17-year member of the council and has indicated he will run again.

Mayor Pro Tem Lloyd Semple, an eight-year veteran of the council, has not said if he will run for reelection. Councilman Jack Cud- lip, a 10-year member of the council, has confirmed he will not seek re-election. "Ten years is enough," he said, adding it's time for someone else to represent the city.

Councilman Harry Echlin, a member of the council for four years, will run again and is the only member of the council at the present time to have filed his petitions.

According to the Farms City Charter, any voter age resident of the city may run for council after filing a petition at city hall containing the names of 50 to 75 registered Farms voters ferred to Pierce under Brummel's tentative recommendations. Mrs. Kennel said that move would be a physical impossibility after her recent tour of the school.

The remaining five candidates, Vincent LoCicero, Thomas Peters, David Russell, Frank Stellingwerf and Sharon Vasher concede declining enrollment is a problem to be dealt with in the Pointes, but not necessarily in the way Brummel has proposed.

The five contenders generally criticize the superintendent's plan, saying it would threaten property values, disrupt the neighborhood school concept and leave no provisions for future uses of vacant school buildings.

Citizen interest in the board race peaked early in the campaign, particularly at several public hearings held at schools targeted to close. At one such hearing, parents demanded to know how board president Dorothy Kennel intended to vote on Supt. Brummel's recommendation.

By Susan McDonald

John S. Kastran, Mt. Clemens High School principal, will take over the top job at North High School July 1, replacing retiring principal G. Bruce Feighner.

Kastran's appointment was approved June 6 by the Board of Education on the recommendation of Supt. Ken Brummel. He was one of more than 100 applicants for the post.

Kastran and his wife Connie, art coordinator for Mt. Clemens Community Schools, live on Bishop Road in the Park but are relocating to the Woods, he said Monday in an interview. The 52-year-old career educator holds four degrees from Wayne State University, including a Ph.D. in leadership in curriculum. He has taught math and science, and worked as a counselor and principal in Detroit and Warren public school districts. He has been in Mt. Clemens for 10 years.

Kastran said Monday he is excited about the "marvelous challenge" before him in the $52,000 a year North High position. "It's an outstanding facility, with outstanding students and faculty. I look at it as a great chance to listen to the ideas of teachers and students and experiment with curriculum."

Kastran said the key to a successful high school is "lots of visibility and lots of contact" with students and parents on the part of the principal.

Last month, when the council met to review a proposed new zoning ordinance, more than a hundred citizens showed up to boo and hiss at council members who, they are convinced, have a secret plan to build high-rises in the community.

Don't look now, but it's election time in Grosse Pointe Park and the mayor and three councilmen will soon be fighting for their seats.

No one knows where the rumors start, but most people agree they relate to someone's plans for office. Mayor Douglas Graham, who plans to seek re-election, laments the fact that many people in the community are frightened by the persistent rumors.

"It's discouraging to be up there, trying to debunk the same wild accusations week after week. I wonder how many really good council candidates out there decide not to run after they come to a council meeting or two and see what goes on."

Graham's likely opponent in the election is Anthony Spada, a councilman whose term of office expires this year. Spada ran against Graham two years ago for the mayoral post and lost. He has not yet filed petitions for any office this year and did not return a reporter's phone calls about his plans.

The council terms of John Prost and Roger McNeill also expire this year. Both men have said they plan to run for re-election.

The deadline for filing petitions to run for office is next Tuesday, June 14, at 4 p.m. If more than two candidates file for an office a primary election will be scheduled for Aug. 2. The general election is in November.

Board of education election is Monday

By Joanne Gouleche

Monday's school board election will end one of the most closely-watched campaigns in recent memory.

The election has stirred considerable citizen interest largely because of Supt. Kenneth Brummel's now delayed proposal to close four elementary schools next fall, an issue that dominated the campaign from the start.

Whoever is elected to the two board seats on Monday will ultimately vote on the superintendent's plan in November, something that will most likely trigger a larger than normal voter turnout at the polls for a local school board election.

The race has attracted seven candidates, some of whom have made no secret about where they stand against Supt. Brummel's proposal. One of the most vocal in his opposition has been candidate Anthony Skomski, who described the superintendent's recommendation as "irresponsible" and showing an "extreme lack of administrative ability and sensitivity to the Grosse Pointe community" in a recent News interview. If elected, Skomski has vowed to vote "no" on Brummel's plan, calling for all schools to remain open in the community.

On the other side of the issue, incumbent Dorothy Kennel endorses the superintendent's proposal, but with some reservations. While acknowledging that some schools must be closed, Mrs. Kennel said she has some doubts about the Brummel plan, particularly when she visited Pierce school. Students from Defer school would be trans-

Last month, a group of concerned parents calling itself the Quality Education Coalition threw its support to candidates Peters and Stellingwerf on their stands on the school closing issue. QEC spokesman Jane Nutter called Peters and Stellingwerf "the darkhorses in this race" but insisted the group would "hit the bricks" just the same in getting the two contenders elected.

The candidates themselves have been conducting quiet campaigns, attending coffees and distributing flyers door-to-door. While one, Vincent LoCicero, intends to spend in the neighborhood of $3,000 to $4,000 to get elected, candidate Anthony Skomski said he will spend a modest $25 to run his campaign.

Below is a brief look at the seven candidates vying for the two four-year seats on Monday.

• Dorothy Kennel, 61, of Middlesex Road, in the Park. Mrs. Kennel, a former kindergarten (Continued on Page 2A)

Park man is named North High principal

"Administrators have a tendency to say 'no' too often. I think it's important to listen to people's ideas and give them a try."

Kastran said he'd also like to talk to South High Principal Joseph Spagnoli about developing more cooperation between the two schools. "A joint advisory council with kids, parents, teachers and administrators from both schools would help bring conformity to our policies and bring the two rival schools together," he said. "There are many possibilities for group activities."

Kastran said he has been informed by Supt. Brummel about proposals to close schools in the district because of sharp declines in enrollment and the new principal said such closings are "inevitable."

He also said the recent National Commission on Education report citing grave deficiencies in U.S. public education "will definitely have an impact on schools — especially at the high school level." Administrators will be forced to thoroughly review curriculum in light of the commission's findings, he added.

Kastran and his wife are the parents of five grown children. They are members of the Assumption Church on Marter Road.

Shores men arrested in cocaine raid

Two Shores residents are free on bond after arraignment Saturday, June 4, on drug charges before a federal magistrate in connection with an incident in northeast Detroit the day before.

Kim Alder and Mark Wayde, both 26, reportedly stood mute at their arraignment and were released on 10 percent cash-or-surety bonds. Alder's bond was set at $50,000, Wayde's at $10,000.

The charges stem from arrests made by U.S. Drug Enforcement agents, St. Clair Shores and Detroit police Friday evening in which a kilogram of suspected high-grade cocaine was seized at a northeast Detroit home, DEA officials said.

DEA area chief Robert DeFauw said the suspected cocaine was worth between $60,000 and $80,000 wholesale. Once "cut" for sale, it could be worth between $300,000 and $500,000, he added.

A third man, identified as Kevin Williams of Clawson, was shot twice during the arrests. DeFauw said Williams was in stable condition with gunshot wounds to the chest and thigh at St. John Hospital.

Alder and Wayde will face preliminary examination in federal court Friday, June 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund T. Ahee

Ahees are parents of the year

They're parents of seven, and still find time to contribute to community and charity groups such as Danny Thomas' St. Jude Hospital in Memphis, Tenn., and St. John Hospital in Detroit. And on Sunday, June 26, the parish of St. Maron's Church will honor Mr. and Mrs. Edmund T. Ahee as Parents of the Year for 1983. The Shores residents were married 35 years ago at St. Maron's. Edmund is owner of Ahee Jewelers in Grosse Pointe Woods and five of his six sons work right along with him, Edward, Peter, Gregory, Christopher and John. There's another son, Lowell, who owns his own store in Troy, and one daughter, Pamela, who's now Mrs. Charles Thomas.

Mrs. Ahee is a member of the board of directors at St. John Hospital and both are active in the Capuchin Monastery of Detroit and United Christian Lebanese Association Scholarship fund. The awards night celebration will be held at the Hillcrest Country Club on June 26, beginning with celebration of the Maronite Mass at 5 p.m. in the Hillcrest Chapel. Dinner begins at 7 p.m.

Fruehauf named a Shavano trustee

Harvey C. Fruehauf, Jr., president of Harvey Charles Fruehauf Enterprises, Inc., has been named one of 16 founding trustees of the Shavano Institute for National Leadership, located in Colorado. Fruehauf, a native of the Farms, is a trustee of St. John Hospital and University Liggett School. He is also a member of the board of trustees of Hillsdale College. Shavano is a public policy educational foundation which conducts a variety of seminars and broadcasting activities for national audiences from its headquarters in Denver. The institute is dedicated to "communicating the fundamental principles of freedom and order on which Western civilization is based."

Library to air candidate forum

The central branch of the Grosse Pointe Library, Kercheval at Fisher, will show a cable television rebroadcast of the Grosse Pointe League of Women Voters school board candidate forum panel tonight, Thursday, June 9, at 9 p.m. in the Founder's Room. Those attending are asked to use the rear door of the library off the parking lot. Residents with Grosse Pointe Cable service can watch the forum at home on channel 17 at the same time.

School election is Monday

• Vincent LoCicero, 41, of Barrington Road, in the Park. Attorney LoCicero was a member of the citizen advisory committee studying enrollment decline in the public schools.

• Thomas Peters, 53, of Moselle Place, in the Farms. Peters is a former English teacher at South

High School. Currently he is employed at Blue Cross/Blue Shield in public relations.

• David Russell, 61, of Harvard Road, in the Park. A retired senior pharmacologist with Parke Davis, Russell has been active in several local PTO groups.

• Anthony Skomski, of Cloverly Road, in the Farms. The candidate owns an accounting practice in the Farms, but also has teaching experience in five school districts.

• Frank Stellingwerf, of Van Antwerp Road, in the Woods. Stellingwerf is senior staff attorney at Detroit Edison and president of Mason PTO.

• Sharon Vasher, 39, of Moross Road, in the Farms. The president-elect of the Assistance League to the Northeast Guidance Center, Mrs. Vasher is making her second bid of office on the school board.

On election day polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the school system's 10 voting precincts.

Emergency

fusion and duplication of effort that accompanies rescue procedures, he added.

A 1976 state law called for formation of local emergency preparedness plans, but cities have been slow to formulate and update procedures, he said. The Park has an emergency preparedness plan now in place, Costa added.

Having a master disaster plan and regional warning system is not going to grant instant security to the communities, LeFevre said. One problem is informing residents what type of action they should take when they hear the steady wail of the tornado siren.

Sirens are sounded when tornadoes are sighted, not when conditions exist that are favorable to the formation of tornadoes, LeFevre said. When residents hear the siren, they should seek shelter and turn on either a radio or television to keep posted on the progress of the weather, he added.

The most common response to the sound of tornado sirens is the calling of the police or fire department to find out what's going on, LeFevre said. Jamming a department's switchboard does nothing to help either residents or police respond to the situation, he said.

Because tornadoes tend to bounce around, sirens are sounded when a sighting is made, he said. Last month's tornado touched down in three widely separated spots before blowing itself out, LeFevre pointed out. The more warning residents are given to take shelter, the better the chance of limiting injuries, he added.

City adopts '83 budget

The Grosse Pointe City Council has adopted a $2.8 million budget for the 1983-84 fiscal year, raising typical tax bills for residents about 1.2 percent.

Under the new budget, a homeowner with a state equalized valuation of $40,000 can expect to pay about $7.74 more in property taxes, according to administrators.

The budget calls for a tax rate of 16.72 mills for both general operations and debt retirement. (A mill equals $1 for every $1,000 of assessed valuation). That mill rate will be applied to a 2.8 percent decline in assessments in the City, leaving residents with about 1.2 percent increase in tax bills, administrators said.

Spending in the City is up 3.6 percent and includes expenditures of $1.3 million for public safety, $732,685 for public works and $140,305 for the city's parks.

During the 1983-84 fiscal year, the City expects to collect $1.9 million in property taxes or 71 percent of its revenues.

State jobs still available

Unemployed teens in Grosse Pointe still have a shot at some of the Michigan Youth Corps jobs, but they'll have to hurry. Applications must be filled out and turned in by tomorrow, Friday, June 10, by prospective job-seekers.

Applications for the public works jobs which pay a minimum wage of $3.35 an hour are available at the Michigan Employment Security Commission offices, community colleges and North and South High Schools, officials said.

To be eligible a person must be between 18 and 21, unemployed and a Michigan resident. Jobs are not handed out first come-first serve, but will be filled on a priority basis. Those applicants whose family head is out of work will be chosen first and older applicants will follow, officials said.

Those hired under the state program will do most outside jobs that can include painting, cleaning and other public works oriented jobs. The Department of Natural Resources has jobs available in water and soil conservation projects, officials said.

Local governments and non-profit corporations can apply to state agencies for a number of positions to be filled. The Park has already made such a request for workers to do jobs such as painting buildings, trimming bushes and trees along Jefferson and cleaning Mack, Kercheval and the parks, Public Works director James Ellison said.

Local high school officials said there had been good response to the program. Both North and South have applications available, officials said, because there are no MESC offices nearby. Applications are also available through the Wayne County Intermediate School District and the county Manpower offices.

The Departments of Education, Natural Resources, Transportation and Agriculture are acting as contractors for the jobs, Thomas Kage of the Wayne County Intermediate School district said. The Department of Education has allocated 539 jobs for the out-county area, he said. Detroit was allocated about 500 jobs, Kage added.

Positions available through the Department of Labor and the intermediate school district are based on unemployment formulas for the area, state officials said. Other departments have other job allocation formulas, they added.

The state departments should begin notifying eligible applicants about positions starting next Monday, officials said. Many jobs will begin in late June.

Autistic child admitted to school park program

By Mike Andrzejczyk

It took a couple years of fighting and a trip to the state Civil Rights Commission, but the parents of an 11-year-old autistic child have won him the right to participate in the Grosse Pointe schools Community Services Division Summer Recreation Program.

Francis and Marilyn Markey of the Woods have tried since 1981 to have their son John included in the program for trainable mentally impaired (TMI) students. After a complaint to the Michigan Civil Rights Commission, the school system re-evaluated John and decided to allow him to participate on a conditional basis, school officials said.

"It took three years, but we got him in," Mrs. Markey said, adding the problem with John's eligibility in the program was something that should "never, never have happened."

The battle, before culminating in a fact finding hearing before the state civil rights commission, began in the summer of 1981 when the school system first turned John down for participation in the program.

In a June, 1981, letter, school officials said that "... based upon John's classification of an autistic child rather than a TMI student ... we cannot accept him into this particular program ... The staff in this program are not prepared to deal with your son's type of handicap."

John was again denied access to the summer recreation program the next year for the same reason, according to letters from school officials.

The Markeys say their son can function under the definition of trainable mentally impaired. Although his speech is unintelligible, John has full receptive language, they said.

Ms. Hempsted's farm is gaining a national reputation and is supplying chefs from all over the country with fresh herbs. Woods wants control of Mack Avenue

By Mike Andrzejczyk
Ending months of discussions at the committee-of-the-whole level, the Woods council earlier this month decided to ask the Wayne County Road Commission to turn jurisdiction over Mack Avenue back to the city.

The council voted unanimously to send the Road Commission a request for the turn-back and sent copies to the Farms, State Sen. John Kelly, County Executive William Lucas and the State Highway Administrative Board.

THE RESOLUTION from the Woods asks the county "to perform necessary pavement repairs to upgrade the condition of Mack Avenue to comply with the provisions... of the State Highway statutes and to relinquish jurisdiction over such roadway... upon the completion of such roadway repairs."

City Administrator-Clerk Chester Petersen said the Woods decided to ask for the turn-back of the county primary road because the road commission was not interested in any kind of a maintenance agreement for lawn-cutting and snow and ice removal.

The Woods battle parallels one Grosse Pointe Farms and the road commission carried on in court for several years over the paving of Lakeshore Road. The issue received national attention when a group of Farms women organized as Mothers Against Potholes donned work clothes and began filling Lakeshore potholes themselves. The road commission resurfaced the road months later in the summer, 1982.

Lou Sugo, director of public information for the road commission, said the board has yet to receive a copy of the Woods resolution and was unable to say how it would be received.

TRADITIONALLY, THE county has rejected turn-back agreements, Sugo said. "Basically, we look at a county-wide system of roads. If you start getting into turn-back agreements, it becomes a hodge-podge of roadways.

"We're quite zealous in maintaining jurisdiction over the county-wide system," he said.

The county receives money from state and federal gas and weight taxes to maintain its road system. It would be tougher financially for a city to maintain a road like Mack Avenue because cities receive less for maintenance of their major streets than counties do for their primary roads, Sugo said.

NO HEAVY maintenance or resurfacing is scheduled for Mack for at least two years, he said.

The Woods tried to negotiate a maintenance agreement with the road commission for Mack as far back as 1977, according to city officials. The fight over cutting the lawn, street sweeping and snow and ice removal escalated during the blizzard of 1982 and the following spring and summer.

The city billed the road commission in March, 1982, for snow removal during the blizzard. The commission refused to pay the $2,907.58, saying no maintenance agreement existed between the Woods and the county. The Woods claimed the commission's lack of responsibility forced it to clean Mack for emergency traffic.

In June that year, the council considered taking legal action against the road commission to force to cut the grass in the medians on a regular basis. The next month, the council began deliberating at the committee-of-the-whole level the turn-back of Mack.

In a memo sent to the council last July, Administrative Aide Gerard McNamara pointed out that the amount of money the city would receive would not be sufficient to make up for the added cost of maintaining Mack.

"In view of the revenue involved, a turn-back would not provide the maximum benefit to the city," McNamara wrote. The city instead should try to negotiate a maintenance agreement, he added.

This was the scene in April, 1982, when Mothers Against Potholes donned hockey helmets for protection and began patching the crevices on Lakeshore Road to draw attention to the county road commission's refusal to maintain the street. The county said it was Grosse Pointe Farms' responsibility to pave the county-owned street. At left is Alexandra Mackey, one of the mothers. Now, Grosse Pointe Woods is continuing its fight with the road commission over another county road, Mack Avenue.

Chisholm sees a conservative backlash

By Nancy Solak

Shirley Chisholm spoke ironically of the "good old days" last Friday night, referring to the dark decade of the 1960s, when "at least there was hope for social justice." On the basis of her nationwide travel during the past six months, there is no doubt in her mind that there is "a terrible polarization and alienation which is taking place, once again, in this country."

Mrs. Chisholm was the keynote speaker at the annual awards reception of the Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice held in University Liggett's new Center for the Performing Arts. She addressed a capacity crowd of 400, comprised of Inter-Faith Center members, as well as interested community residents.

"I do not expect all of you to agree with what I say tonight," the former New York congresswoman began, "but I do expect to provoke your thinking... to make you cognizant of the Rip VanWinkle syndrome which has caught our nation sleeping on the issue of civil rights."

"While we were too busy, or too fatigued," she enunciated in her distinctive West Indies accent, "a tornado swept across our country which has shoved all the civil rights gains we have made under the proverbial rug."

She reminded the audience of the blood and tears shed by Viola Liuzzo, "the courageous white woman," and Martin Luther King, Jr., the "selfless leader." Her voice rose, and became indignant as she asked, "did they, and others like them, die for only a decade's worth of justice? No. They died so that 15, 20, even 100 years later the same old battles wouldn't have to be fought again. "Were we marching on a conservative quicksand that would eventually engulf us? Are the pages of the civil rights laws yellowing and crumbling in our fingers?"

Frequently the federal government is charged with intruding too much into people's lives.

"Federal intrusion," Mrs. Chisholm maintained, "would not have been necessary if those in authoritative positions in city and state governments had followed their consciences and carried out the responsibilities spelled out in our Constitution that were vested in them as leaders."

"The federal government has HAD to become 'Big Daddy,'" she argued, "because the 50 states do not act alike, are not monolithic. Some states are traditionally icebergs of indifference and are not going to suddenly become bulwarks of compassion. Black people in this country would never have gotten their civil rights had we depended on Mississippi or Alabama."

"Yes, we are different from each other," she said to the largely white audience. "But you remove that outer covering, and we are all alike underneath. Don't tell me we have to be disproportionately afraid of countries abroad. One of our greatest enemies lies right here within the borders of this country. R-A-C-I-S-M," she spelled out, "depletes our resources. We need human beings who can give us their God-given talents and abilities; humans who can bloom to their fullest, without being psychologically upset, paying money to psychologists and psychiatrists because they can't do what they FEEL they want to do, because they don't dare move beyond the traditionally prescribed roles that have been given them in America," she said, as she raised up on her toes and rapped her fist on the podium for emphasis.

She said the conservative climate in this country can be characterized by these examples:

- In the decision of the President to grant tax exempt status to racist schools;
- In the fact that the administration will only give individual relief to "identifiable victims of racism," no longer accepting class action suits;
- In the President's opposition to the Equal Rights Amendment; and
- In the need for such artificial mechanisms as affirmative action so the governments of our nation will do what they were supposed to do in the first place.

"These kinds of moves not only betray equality and racial justice, but, in fact, promote racism," Chisholm stressed. "With the threat of nuclear holocaust which overshadows each one of us, regardless of race or gender, we need our collective talent more now than ever before."

"It is time for Americans to no longer be complacent recipients of everything which is handed them. We must rejuvenate the movement, and reawaken from our Rip VanWinkle syndrome."

Mrs. Chisholm concluded her address by saying, "If you don't understand me remember, you and your experiences are the sum total of your thinking," and then she smiled and said, "as I am of mine."

Preceding Mrs. Chisholm's speech, four awards were presented to people who had demonstrated outstanding service in the area of human justice.

Father James McLaren, Director of Crossroads East, at Jefferson and Manistique, accepted one of the distinguished community service awards for the agency's team. Since opening its doors, over 20,000 old and new poor have been served. Crossroads is more than a food depot. In one day their workers may act as ombudsman with a utility company, negotiating a compromise for a client to avoid heat or electrical shut-off. As a funds dispenser, a volunteer may provide a young student with textbook money to continue in his nursing program. A young mother is given bus fare to visit the premature baby she had to leave behind at the hospital. Right now the number of 100 volunteers fluctuates as does the food and money supply. On a difficult day, when bills are high and cupboards are bare, Father McLaren's admonition is remembered: "We are not called to be successful, but to be faithful."

Larry Simmons, executive vice-president of administration for the Detroit Urban League, and WDIV panelist on "Mort Crim's Free For All," also received recognition.

Now it's up to the voters

In normal times, school board elections in the Pointes and other communities tend to be quiet affairs with only a few hundred people showing up to endorse the candidates of their choice. In many years, there is not even a contest and the whole campaign could be described as a big yawn.

But not this year in the Pointes. With seven candidates running for the two positions, to be filled in the June 13 election, and with all of them focusing their attention in varying degrees on the school reorganization issue, this has been one of the most active school board campaigns in recent memory. Candidates have distributed literature, canvassed house to house, attended coffee parties and fund raisers, and campaigned in other ways.

All of that is fine. The proposal to reorganize the Grosse Pointe schools has become controversial and, in fact, the incumbent board members agreed that the time of decision should be postponed to permit more input from the public and to enable the board itself to consider alternatives to the administration's original proposal. So it was appropriate that the candidates for the board outline their own views on school reorganization and the possible closing of elementary schools.

Now as the election approaches it is up to the voters. It is not enough for people to simply go to the polls June 13. Before they go, they should inform themselves to the best of their ability about the qualifications of the candidates and the problems involved in school reorganization. The key to the election should be the informed voter, which means the person who bases his conviction on facts, not emotion or sentiment or simply tradition.

The Grosse Pointe News has endorsed two of the candidates, Dorothy Kennel and Vincent LoCicero, in the belief their qualifications are superior to the other five candidates. But other organizations and other individuals have different views and prefer different candidates. That is not surprising in a democracy. Our views simply reflect our responsibility to provide our opinions as well as news reports on the campaign.

IN THE RECENT millage renewal election, 7,581 Pointers voted but that still was only a small percentage of the registered voters in the Grosse Pointe district which left the outcome subject to varying interpretations in view of the close vote. In the June 13 election, we hope the vote will be even larger and more decisive in order to leave no questions about the meaning of the outcome.

The message of the recall

The sudden popularity of the recall as a means of expressing opposition to the recent 36 percent increase in the state income tax is surprising. According to one account, no fewer than 12 Democratic senators, including Sen. John Kelly whose district includes the Grosse Pointes, have been targeted for possible recall campaigns along with Gov. James Blanchard.

While the recall is authorized under the Michigan Constitution, it is essentially a negative action. It calls for the removal of an official, usually because of a single issue, as in the current cases arising from opposition to the income tax hike. But it offers no remedy except for the recall of the official named. Apparently the theory of those supporting the current recall campaigns in Michigan is that they are sending a message to the legislature and the governor on the tax issue. But what is that message?

IS IT SIMPLY that people don't want any tax increases? Or is it that they do not want an income tax hike? And if they do not want any tax hike, does their support for a recall mean they want to cut state services even more deeply? And if that is so, just what services do they wish to cut? Is it education from kindergarten through high school, for which state aid already has been heavily slashed? Is it higher education, already cut so deeply that Michigan's Big Three universities are now charging among the highest tuition fees in the country? Is it welfare, where the rolls have been rising because Michigan's unemployment rate is the highest in the country?

The current recall campaigns don't offer specific answers to any of these questions. Instead, they reflect a kind of mindless objection to paying taxes with little or no regard to what citizens get in the way of services for the taxes they pay. And the recall offers no plan for consideration of alternative ways of balancing the state budget, which is required by the Constitution.

Michael Bush of Saginaw, the House Republican leader, has said that he opposes legislative recalls except for malfeasance. Spencer Abraham, the state GOP chairman, has denied the party is behind the attempted recalls, even though some Republicans have been supporting recall campaigns against both legislators and the governor. Those GOP officials are expressing sound party positions on the recall movements based on single issues. Under different circumstances, GOP officials might become the targets of recall movements based on other unpopular votes.

If one vote for higher taxes is going to be regarded as a form of official misconduct, justifying recall, public services are going to be in trouble in Michigan. Such a policy would lead to poorer schools, less law enforcement, lower payments to the needy and poorer care for the institutionalized. That's hardly the route to a recovery that would make this state a better place in which to live and work.

Delaying the housecleaning

It turns out that those of us who thought the end had come for the old road gang—the three incumbents on the Wayne County Road Commission—were premature in our celebration of their official demise. A Circuit Court judge gave the old commissioners a stay of "execution" after Judge Irwin Burdick had upheld County Executive William Lucas' right to fire the incumbents and name his own commissioners instead. So at last word the old gang was still in office and conducting business in the same old way while pursuing an appeal from Judge Burdick's order.

One of the old commissioner's first acts after winning new life was to negotiate a new contract with the eight lawyers employed by the commission. The contract will raise the annual wages of the attorneys by between 25 percent and 43 percent. In dollars, that amounts to about $1,000 for the period retroactive to Feb. 1 with an additional $9,000 to $14,000 a year starting July 1. According to the Detroit News, the new schedule will bring seven of the lawyers to $51,871 a year and the eighth to $45,387.

One of the lawyers explained that the increase puts their salaries close to other county lawyers who were awarded pay hikes earlier by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners. He conceded, however, that the lawyers didn't look at salaries in private industry but only at other governmental agencies. Nor, obviously, did they look at the state of the county's finances before they sought and obtained increases ranging from 25 percent to 43 percent at a time when the county is still running in the red and the county executive is seeking concessions from the unions with respect to pay levels and fringe benefits.

This huge increase in the lawyers' salaries is, however, illustrative of the way matters have been handled in the past in Wayne County and especially in the road commission. The emphasis has been on preserving employee's prerogatives and pay at the expense of the taxpayer. The road commission itself acted in a way consistent with its past practices in currying favor with its employees. As it was described by David Olmstead, attorney for the county executive, "The road commission was buying the political allegiance of those lawyers by giving them that money."

IN HIS ORIGINAL decision, Judge Burdick ruled that both state law and the new county charter gave Lucas the "power to remove, at will, the incumbent road commission and to appoint their successors." That was certainly the intent of the county charter which was overwhelmingly approved by county voters. Let us hope that the courts eventually will see it the same way and not stand in the way of the long-awaited housecleaning at the road commission.

Cooperation, not confrontation

Cooperation rather than confrontation. That was the theme not only for the recent international economic summit at Williamsburg and the Great Lakes states economic summit at Cleveland but also for the five Grosse Pointe governments and Harper Woods as they consider ways of sharing more services.

Cooperation is not new among the Pointe governments. They now provide mutual aid for police and fire departments, solid waste disposal through the Grosse Pointe-Clinton Refuse Disposal Authority and cable television which crosses municipal lines. All the Pointes, of course, are part of a single school district.

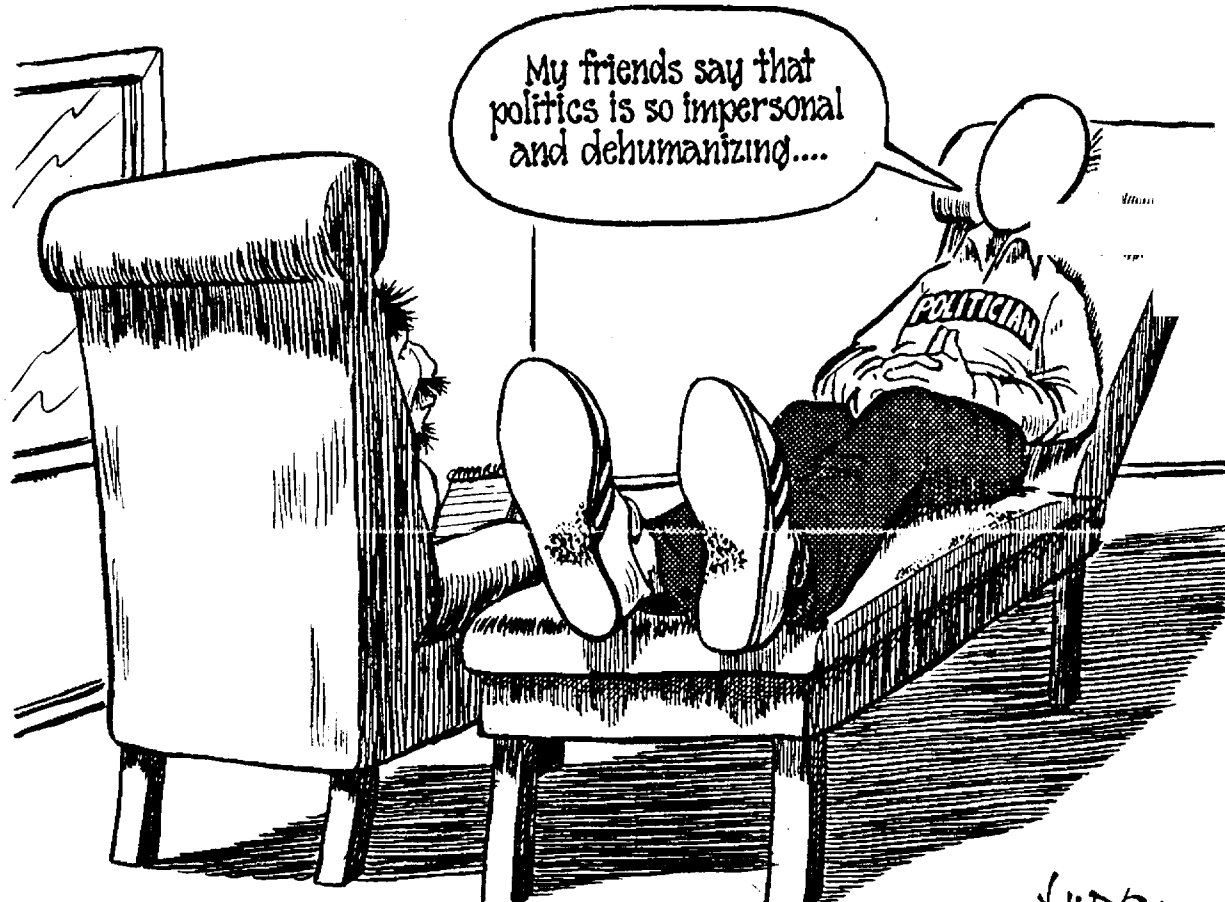

Over the years, there have been many proposals for other forms of cooperation and even consolidation of Pointe governments. But currently the cooperation being proposed is in more limited areas such as central dispatch and prisoner transportation, tornado warning systems and emergency preparedness plans, a pool of specialized equipment, and joint training programs for city employees.

All of these ideas sound feasible for improving efficiency, cutting costs or providing new or better service to citizens. They are now being explored by local government leaders from the Pointes and Harper Woods preliminary to seeking a Metropolitan Affairs Corporation grant to fund an in-depth study into practicalities of these and other forms of cooperation.

In any kind of government service, at least three groups are involved. They are the people who provide the service, the recipients of the service and the taxpayers who pick up the tab for the service. Improved efficiency and economy are necessary at a time when taxpayers are increasingly sensitive to the public loads they are carrying. Even those who provide services on a local level these days know that their programs are in jeopardy unless they can be justified on the basis of need and efficient operation.

IT IS TRUE that cost savings and efficiency resulting from improved cooperation seldom prompt immediate tax cuts. But they can offset rising costs in an inflationary period and thus benefit the entire community. So all of us have a stake in the success of the efforts to win Metropolitan Affairs Corporation support for studies of new joint ventures and other methods of cooperation among the governments in the Pointes.

QEC ads, endorsement are misleading

To the Editor,

As a parent with four children in our public school system, I have been active in our schools, on committees and in school board and millage elections for many years.

The current publicity being accorded the "Quality Education Coalition" is inconsistent with its base of support and this fact, along with its expensive, paid political advertising, is disturbing to me. The Q.E.C. itself is a small, single-issue group. Public campaign records indicate a total number of 21 supporters compared to over 300 supporters of at least one school board candidate.

Their advertisements are, at the very least, misleading. It is not true, as the Q.E.C. asserts, that closing schools lowers property values. Proof is no further away than Birmingham. The Birmingham Public School System has closed seven elementary schools and one middle school since 1975 and property values there have reflected, and continue to reflect, the same trends that we have experienced in Grosse Pointe where no schools have been closed. Birmingham has maintained its high educational standards.

The important thing for property values is the quality of education and not the proximity of education.

The Grosse Pointe school administration, together with the citizens committee and the Board of Education, is primarily concerned with improving and enhancing our educational system in light of drastically declining enrollment. Reasonable people may disagree as to the course we should follow but none can dispute the commitment to excellence in education that our administration and school board have articulated. Anyone trying to come up with simple answers to complex questions is misleading the public.

All except two candidates in the current election have stated publicly that some consolidation of schools is necessary in Grosse Pointe if we are to even maintain our present standards. In addition, all the current school board members and all the candidates have indicated that Supt. Brummel's initial plan is not acceptable. There is still a great deal more work to be done before a final solution is agreed upon.

I believe the time has come for us to face the reality of our situation. Any group that suggests that Grosse Pointe does not have to do what every school system in the metropolitan Detroit area has already done, is misleading the public. We must act soon to improve the education of our children and to guarantee the future of our community.

I have confidence that Grosse Pointers will follow tradition and examine the records and positions of all the candidates in the election on June 13 and that we will elect only those who have the interests of our whole community as their main focus and not just a single-issue in mind.

V.Y.

Enrollment solution: Close high school

To the Editor:

After attending most of the school board meetings concerning the proposed school closings and reading the numerous letters published within this section of the paper, there apparently needs to be some further discussion addressing important facts which the public must know. As an interested and concerned parent these facts must be discussed publicly for all local parents and tax paying citizens to fully understand before opinions are formed.

Why has there been no mention of school capacity of approximately 9,500 and the cost per home to keep an elementary school open? Of the assessed value the small cost is $1.35 per $10,000. When each of us consider safety, well-being, and education of the child, then this figure is a very small amount. This savings does not include the cost of maintaining an empty school, should this situation arise.

There was a projected enrollment, at one time, of 16,000. Now the Board projects enrollment of 6,287. If the enrollment projections were so far off at one time, who is to say they are more reliable now? Interest rates are lower than they have been for some time, and enrollment is on the rise. It would seem the intelligent thing to do would be to leave our schools as they are and maintain the positive attitude that is traditional of our fine community.

If there must be some type of reorganization it is our opinion that the reasonable thing (which is not mentioned by the Board) would be to leave the elementary schools (for the safety of the little children), bring the 9th grade back to the middle schools and to consolidate the high schools. It would not only reduce the rivalry between North and South but would leave a building in which to house the Board offices, a place for our senior citizen activities and adult education.

With approximately 500 homes for sale in the Grosse

Pointes, our superintendent, school board and citizens must realize that the majority of these homes will be purchased by families with children or who will be having children in the future. Where will we educate these children?

Grosse Pointe South High School was rated in the top 10 because of the education those young people have received throughout their school years. We are sure the citizens of this community want the same quality education for the students now attending our schools and for the children who will attend them in the future.

We are not opposed to change. We welcome it when it is needed and or wanted. We do not feel changes in our elementary schools are necessary at this time. To reorganize schools because it seems to be happening all around us is ludicrous.

Know your schools

Staff deserves recognition

By Kenneth Brummel
Superintendent of Schools
As the 1982-83 school year draws to a close, I think it appropriate to emphasize that one of the real strengths of the Grosse Pointe Public School System year in and year out is the dedicated staff which provides instructional and support services for the residents of this community.

For several of our staff members, this year has special significance because they have chosen to retire, and last month the Board of Education honored them at a special ceremony. The 25 persons retiring this year collectively have contributed over 517 years of service to our schools and spent several more years in the field of education in other communities.

Listed below are the names of these 25 employees and the positions from which they have retired or will be retiring at the end of the school year:

Mary T. Abdullah — Cafeteria, Pierce
Eugenia R. Assessor — Cafeteria, Brownell
Robert L. Beaujean — Skilled Maintenance, Administration Building

Ruth A. Bentzen — Mathematics Teacher, South

Frank L. Bozarth, Jr. — Mathematics Teacher, Brownell

Alice D. Brown — Kindergarten Teacher, Trombly

Willis D. Brown — English Teacher, North

Grace Ciaravino — Cafeteria, North

Arthur E. Colby — Head Engineer, Trombly

Ethel R. Cote — Secretary to Principal, Parcels

Marion G. Defer — Secretary to Principal, Pierce

Joseph R. Devine — Counselor, North

Carol Droeger — Kindergarten Teacher, Poupard

G. Bruce Feighner — Principal, North

Mary Florkey — Assistant Custodian, North

Alice Gardner — Librarian, Parcels

Bonnie Garr — Counselor-Career Education, North

Viola Hadjiyanis — Secretary to Director of Secondary Education

Carol W. Kaloger — Second Grade Teacher, Richard

Yvonne G. Maxon — Circulation Clerk, Woods Library

Julia L. Meighan — Art Teacher, South

Florence Owens — Cafeteria Cool/Manager, North

A. Elizabeth Page — Fifth Grade Teacher, Defer

Vivian Putrycus — Fifth Grade Teacher, Defer

James L. Webers — English Teacher, Parcels

These 25 individuals have spent an average of nearly 20-¾ years each as members of our staff. During that time they have amassed a most impressive record of accomplishments, had contact with countless numbers of residents, and influenced the lives of thousands of young people.

We certainly appreciate the stable and effective service which these retirees have given to our school system over the years and hope that members of the community join us in that appreciation. Readers of this column are encouraged to communicate good wishes to any of the retirees, as I'm sure they will enjoy hearing from past students and acquaintances.

One view from the Capitol

Blanchard-style fiscal integrity

By William R. Bryant, Jr.
State Representative

It is budget time. The House and Senate have initially passed budget bills which will be written in final version in conference committees.

The major issue is the question of spending level.

The Governor had said, before the tax increase, that he would seek only a "continuation" budget. After the tax increase passed he submitted a 12.7 percent increase budget with inflation now running between zero and four percent.

Well there are some needs, some programs, especially education, which were really hurt in the last few years. Mental health is another such area.

These areas needed more than a continuation budget.

But the $5.3 billion Governor's budget is too large. It is too large because it cannot be sustained. And if it cannot be sustained, it threatens to keep our state in fiscal chaos, at an even higher level of spending than before.

Our new Governor pledged, in his campaign and since then, that he would rid our state of fiscal irresponsibility. To do that he proposed his tax increase and got it.

But he now seeks spending which the fiscal experts in the House Fiscal Agency say could lead us to a deficit of over $500 million in the following budget year.

Fiscal responsibility would mean proposing much more increase in education than in welfare. The Governor presented a budget in April in which welfare would have been increased to the same degree as education.

Fiscal responsibility or integrity would mean meeting the Constitutional requirement to provide local units and education with at least 41.6 percent of state expenditure. Instead, the Governor is considering transferring state responsibility for $110 million worth of teacher retirement onto our schools and counting payment as expenditure to local units.

Fiscal integrity, the Governor said over and over, certainly meant never using accounting gimmicks or cookie jar games to fund programs.

Milliken used those tactics to save existing programs in a severe recession. Blanchard wants to do worse.

Blanchard proposed to use such tactics to fund new programs, as we emerge from recession and after his tax increase.

Parts of the jobs program touted by the Governor extensively use such gimmicks.

First the Governor wanted to rob the Kammer Recreational Land Trust Fund. We largely beat him on that one, but it was close.

Next, he proposed to take future revenue and count it now, by taking money now which would escheat to the state over the next three years. He succeeded on that one.

Fiscal integrity, like beauty, may be in the eyes of the beholder. But I don't think so. Fiscal integrity should be objectively definable.

And however one might define it, it is not yet happening in our state government.

Letters to the Editor

Chin verdict was unjust

To the Editor:

The Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice is an organization dedicated to promoting human rights and human relations in our community. A shared concern for the fair and equal treatment of all individuals unites our membership, which consists of 18 area churches and many individuals.

The Vincent Chin case has come to our attention. Vincent Chin was beaten to death by two men outside of a Highland Park, Michigan bar. The two men pled guilty to manslaughter and were sentenced to three years' probation and a $3,000 fine each.

It is entirely possible that the race of the victim, Mr. Chin, may have been a motivating factor in the defendants' action. Furthermore, it is possible that the race of the defendants and the race of the victim may have been factors in the fact that the prosecutor, William Cahalan, failed to appear or send a representative to the sentencing.

We urge that the U.S. Department of Justice vigorously pursue its investigation of this case to assure that justice will eventually prevail.

Chisholm speaks at Inter-Faith

(Continued from Page 5A) Graduating as president of his high school class, Simmons became active in the Civil Rights Movement. He helped form the Association of Black Social Workers and worked in a variety of grassroots civil rights organizations.

Later Simmons became the Model Cities Program Coordinator for the City of Highland Park, where he monitored a variety of human services programs.

Robert K. Ferber, police chief of the Grosse Pointe Farms Police Department, received the first Police Officer Humanitarian Award from the Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice. It is the conviction of the center that police and public safety officers can foster either positive or negative human interaction and that the concept of "good police work" should involve a balanced, unbiased and sensitive treatment of all citizens.

Ferber is a member on the board of directors of the Wayne County and Michigan Associations of Chiefs of Police. He is also a consultant specializing in human relations, personnel and organization to the International Association of Chiefs of Police, as well as to the Michigan Municipal League. He has been a research consultant to the Police Foundation of the University of Washington, on a grant research project on "Institutional Racism Within Law Enforcement," and is a board member and Police Task Force Chairman for the Inter-Faith Center.

Carrie I. Peebles, a founding member of the Inter-Faith Center and current member of its board of directors, was this year's "Eva Fillion Award" recipient. Among her achievements are a 22-year volunteer participation with the Service League of Detroit Receiving Hospital where she served as its president five times, and has been involved with United Community Services. For her outstanding community service, in 1970, Mrs. Peebles received the "Heart of Gold Award" and was listed in the first edition of Marquis' "Who's Who of American Women." In the early 1960's she was a member of the Grosse Pointe Human Relations Council, a group of concerned citizens who organized to oppose the discriminatory practices in real estate in the Grosse Pointes during that time.

Woods honors war dead

Despite threatening weather, the Woods held its first Memorial Day ceremony at the Veteran's Memorial Parkway Circle of Honor at Mack and Vernier Roads.

The ceremony began at 9:55 Memorial Day morning when a U.S. Marine contingent entered the Circle of Honor followed by the Edwin Denby High School R.O.T.C. Color Guard and Rifle Team.

As the Grosse Pointe Senior Men's Club "Music Makers," directed by Frank Seydler, played the National Anthem, a ceremonial flag, provided by Congressman Dennis Hertel, was raised by members of American Legion Post No. 303.

Master of ceremonies was John Hammel, chairman of the city's Historical Commission, who delivered a short speech on the history of the circle of honor, dedicated in 1961 to those Americans who have served their country to insure all Americans may continue to enjoy peace and life.

The Circle of Honor was designed by Dr. Albert Howe, co-chairman of the event, which officials hope to hold annually. The circle consists of a central flag pole ringed by nine smaller poles designating major military engagements in American history.

Reverend Stanton Wilson, associate minister at Grosse Pointe Memorial Presbyterian Church, delivered the invocation. Mayor George Freeman welcomed the crowd to the ceremony with a few remarks, and the keynote address was delivered by G. Bruce Feighner, retiring principal at North High School.

Girl Scouts, Brownies, Cub Scout and Boy Scout troops made up the "Display Your Flag" Guard of Honor. A rifle salute, taps and a ceremonial wreath placement by Girl Scout Troop 327 rounded out the event.

"It was especially gratifying to see so many children with their parents participating in this tribute to America's war dead," Howe said. "Patriotism is alive and well and will continue to live as long as people take time to care."

The event was sponsored by the city's beautification Advisory and Historical commissions.

A wreath, placed by Girl Scout Troop 327, stands before the Woods Veteran's Memorial Parkway Circle of Honor after Memorial Day ceremonies in that city.

Single parents to meet Friday

Laura Ginn of Bee-Kalt Travel will be the guest speaker at the Friday, June 10, meeting of the Grosse Pointe Chapter of Parents Without Partners. Ms. Ginn will speak and show slides of Alaska. She recently returned from an extensive tour of the area.

A "Moonlight and Roses" dance will be held at the German American Cultural Center on June 17, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Guests as well as members are welcome. Guest tickets are $5, members $4.

A full calendar of discussions in members' homes, bowling for teens and other varied activities are planned during the summer months. For more information, call 881-5892.

The Grosse Pointe Chapter of Parents without Partners meets the second and fourth Friday of each month at the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road in the Farms.

Suminski is first Lake scholar

The John Lake Scholarship committee has selected its first winner, 17-year-old Steven Suminski, a June graduate of South High School, who has been awarded a $1,000 tuition scholarship and will start his studies at Michigan State University in the fall.

"All the applicants we interviewed are superior students and we wish we could have given grants to all of them," said committee chairman Mrs. Perry L. TeWalt. "We were especially impressed, however, by Steve's leadership qualities, his seriousness of purpose, as well as his academic record."

John Lake, for whom the scholarship was named, in honor of his nearly 30-year tenure as director of the War Memorial, echoed Mrs. TeWalt's sentiments and added, "we also liked the idea that Steve has been working and saving ahead for college."

The recipient, who was presented an official scholarship certificate at South's recent National Honors Society Induction ceremonies by committee member John Rinkel, graduates with a 3.5 average. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Suminski of Grosse Pointe Park, he attended Defer and Pierce before South, where he played varsity football, as well as softball and basketball, was a member of the Latin Club and Honor Society and took an advanced placement course in math.

His counselor Gerald Morrison said Steve's well-rounded personality and variety of interest make him "a fine young man and an excellent student. He's had the ability to combine playing on the football team for four years with maintaining good grades in a strong academic program."

The John Lake Scholarship was established at about the time of Lake's retirement from the War Memorial in autumn 1981, and the committee, which includes friends and community leaders, aspires to develop a fund sufficiently large to permit it to give two awards annually, to graduating students from both North and South High Schools.

To that end, a benefit recital, featuring internationally acclaimed concert pianist Flavio Varani, a native of Brazil and presently artist-in-residence at Oakland University, will be played in the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium on Saturday evening, September 24. This cultural event will, of course, be open to the public.

Seventeen-year-old Steven Suminski (right), a June graduate of Grosse Pointe South High School, who has been named the first winner of a John Lake Scholarship, receives congratulations from Mr. Lake, while scholarship committee members look on. Left to right, they are Mrs. Alger Shelden, Mrs. Wilber M. Brucker, Jr., and Mrs. Bruce Bockstanz. Steven, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Suminski of Grosse Pointe Park, received a $1,000 tuition scholarship and will start his studies at Michigan State University this fall.

Board seeks volunteer nominees

The Grosse Pointe Public School System is soliciting nominations for its 10th annual awards program for distinguished volunteer service.

The Volunteer Awards Program is designed to recognize individual persons, not groups of persons or organizations.

Youth-related activities such as Little League or Boy or Girl Scouts will not qualify a person for an award.

Deadline for submitting nominations is Friday, July 15, and a statement summarizing a nominee's volunteer activity must be included with the nomination form, available at school board offices, 389 St. Clair, school offices and the public libraries.

Volunteer awards will be presented by the Board of Education at its Oct. 10 meeting.

The Board of Education established the Volunteer Awards Program to recognize service by unpaid, interested citizens in various programs and activities sponsored by the public schools and public libraries.

Nominating criteria include:

- Volunteer service performed between July, 1982 and June 1983.
- Volunteers must be 18 years or older who work on behalf of the public schools and libraries without receiving remuneration. Employees of the public schools and libraries who donate time beyond their usual work requirements also are eligible for recognition.

NEW AUTOMATIC HEARING AID

A truly advanced and innovative sound amplifier.

The AUTOMATIC SOUND PROCESSOR (ASP) was developed especially for those people who have difficulty in hearing speech in noisy environments. For years, hearing aid wearers have avoided restaurants, theaters, church and parties because of the inability of an ordinary hearing aid to control back-ground noises.

The A.S.P. is simply and uniquely designed to normalize background noise so that speech is more easily understood.

If you do not believe that the A.S.P. will let you understand speech more clearly in noise: take advantage of our 90 day trial and prove it to yourself.

Consolidation backed by Brummel

By Susan McDonald

Supt. Ken Brummel last week reiterated support for his plan to close schools, but acknowledged it will be a bitter pill for the community to swallow.

The superintendent said his plan for dealing with enrollment declines "is stacking up well in comparison to alternatives" presented by the opposition because it will preserve neighborhood schools and strengthen curriculum, particularly at the middle school level.

An consolidation plan he

Hartway makes 'monumental' debut

There's a reason most symphonic composers aren't usually appreciated until long after their deaths. It takes more time for a classical melody to catch on than it does for a quick commercial jingle. And it's tough to break into the repertoire of major orchestras with a new piece when there's such a wealth of tried-and-true classics to please an audience.

Jim Hartway knows all that. And that's why, at age 39, with three Detroit Symphony Orchestra premieres already under his belt, he's darned proud of what he has accomplished.

Well... almost three under his belt. Sunday, June 26, is the big date for his third — "Monuments," to be played for the first time ever by the DSO at Meadow Brook.

The piece was commissioned by Meadow Brook director Stuart Hyke, the Michigan Council for the Arts and American Music would come up with would meet with criticism from some, he said. His consolidation plan will be voted on by the school board in November and then it will be "up to the Board of Education to decide what the 'poison' is going to be."

Brummel made the comments at a June 1 meeting with the school board and members of the citizen Committee to Study the Future Organization of the School System.

Parents from the four elementary schools Brummel has proposed closing have lambasted his plan, saying it will weaken curriculum, break up long-established neighborhoods and devalue property. They have jammed a half-dozen public hearings held since the plan was announced in April and organized to endorse two anti-closing candidates in next Monday's school board election.

Brummel, who has been heckled at some of the meetings, is well aware of opposition to his plan, but he's not sure how to read it.

"I can't determine if what we've heard from the community is not opposition to my plan, but a call to do nothing at all," he said last Monday.

The board was scheduled to vote on Brummel's plan next Monday, but postponed its decision until November because of community response. In the meantime, the administration is responding in writing to questions and objections raised by the public and will present an analysis of the alternatives to the board in August, the superintendent said.

Enrollment in the 15-school system has dropped from 13,400 in the early 1970s to 7,300 this year and is projected to decline by another 1,100 students by 1986-87. The administration has warned that the shrinking student body will cut severely into the curriculum if some kind of consolidation plan is not adopted. In three years there will be a substantial loss of electives and special programs at all levels, according to their studies.

Brummel's proposal would, first, expand the middle schools to include grades 6-8 in order to bolster academic offerings at that level and improve the continuity of experience for children in their early teens. Principals and teachers complain that the current two-year stay in middle school doesn't provide students enough time to develop relationships with each other and their teachers or encourage parents to become involved in the schools.

The superintendent's plan also would move three elementary school programs from their current buildings to near-by middle schools, as separate schools-within-schools. Those schools are Kerby, which would move to Brownell, Mason, to Parcels; and Defer, to Pierce. Barnes would be closed and its students split between Monteith and Ferry elementaries.

Among the most popular alternative plans supported by parents and one elementary principal, is creation of a K-7 grade structure in all 10 existing elementary buildings.

The school administration has rejected the proposal because of the limitations it would put on the program for upper classes. Such an organization "would come at a serious educational expense to middle school students and would not resolve the enrollment decline problem at the elementary level," the administration said in a published report. "The plan is not based on contemporary research related to child growth and development."

Center to mark the Meadow Brook Music Festival's 20th anniversary season.

Hartway wrote the piece with Meadow Brook in mind of course. His working title was "Men and Mansions," and the piece reflects the strength and force of the men and women who've made 20 seasons of the festival a success.

"I tried to write a piece with strength and substance... a piece accessible on first hearing for the general public. It's not something so far out people will go out scratching their heads about it," the composer said.

"It's a big thick piece, with a lot of instruments playing a lot of the time."

"Monuments" was written for a large orchestra and has plenty of percussion. At the podium on June 26 will be former DSO conductor Sixten Ehrling.

Hartway, an associate professor of music at Wayne State University, writes music and runs (six miles a stint) from his home on Bishop Road in the Park, just up the street from his childhood home. His dining room has been cleared to make way for a big writing table and a bigger ballroom grand piano. When he's working on a project, he's writing 24 hours a day, with breaks to spend time with his two children, Daniel, 14, and Kathleen, 12.

"Monuments" will be the sixth DSO performance of his work and his third DSO premiere. First came "Cityscapes," a concerto for jazz quartet and orchestra in January, 1982, and then his "Fanfare for a Sacred Occasion," commissioned to celebrate the recent 150th anniversary of the Archdiocese of Detroit.

Hartway's won several awards for his writing. The Young Musicians Foundation of Los Angeles gave him the Composition Award in 1975 for his "Seven Ways of Looking at a Blackbird." He took the 1977 Probus Club Award for Academic Achievement in Humanities, a Presidential Citation for outstanding achievements in 1977 at Wayne State, and the 1978 Michigan Arts Award in Music.

But all those accomplishments don't make it any easier on the nerves when a composer hears his major piece played for the first time before an audience, as Hartway will on June 26.

"Sure I'm nervous," he said. "You fear that you've written the piece correctly, that there's the right balance, that it's performed properly. But I'm confident about those musicians."

What's up next for the composer? A vacation, for starters. Hartway says he hasn't had a summer off for six years, so he's taking off soon — for the Aspen Music Festival, perhaps.

GP Academy

Summer trips provide learning experience

The Grosse Pointe Academy has announced a new summer program called "Academy Adventures" geared to the 11 to 15-year-old student.

"Bicycle Adventure," (July 11 to July 22) will go by 10-speed bike to Northern Michigan. The co-ed program will be under the direction of Henry Miller, a physical education instructor from Middletown, Conn., who has 20 years of biking experience. Students will tent camp, keep a journal and be expected to average about 80 miles per day.

During the trip an emphasis will be placed on the environment and the geography and history of the lower peninsula. Students will be taught to care for their bicycles and for themselves. The group will visit several sites along the way and swimming will be a daily routine.

"Canoe Adventure," (Aug. 14 to 19), a program for boys only will be directed by Dr. Sidney I. DuPont, headmaster of the Academy. DuPont has 15 years of canoeing trip experience. The adventurers will go down the Au Sable River, one of Michigan's most popular canoeing rivers. Emphasis will be on wilderness living, water safety, the geology and geography of the area, canoeing skills, map reading and cooking. Boys will be required to keep a journal.

"Backpacking Adventure" (June 19 to 25 and July 31 to Aug. 6), will be under the direction of Mike Fultz, experienced outdoor educator and environmental education instructor. A backpacking experience to the back country of the Great Smokies on the Tennessee/North Carolina border awaits the backpacking adventurers. The campers will visit wilderness waterfalls, hike on the Appalachian Trail and climb Clingman's Dome 6,640 feet and the 6,590 foot Mt. LeConte.

Academy Adventures will supply back-packs, tents, sleeping bags and ponchos for all of the trips. Call the Academy 886-1221.

VOTE FOR

VINCENT F. LOCICERO

- A PARENT WHO CARES
- A TAXPAYER WHO BELIEVES IN FISCAL RESPONSIBILITY
- A CITIZEN WHO IS DEDICATED TO HIS COMMUNITY

Vincent F. LoCicero is a citizen who cares. His dedication to this community has been consistent and his leadership qualities have been appreciated by many.

- Grosse Pointe resident 30 years.
- 14 years practicing Attorney.
- Past President, Trombly PTO
- Grosse Pointe PTA-PTO Council 4 years, Secretary, '79-'83.
- Grosse Pointe Continuing Education Advisory Council.
- Chairman, Facilities Group, Committee To Study The Reorganization of the School System.
- Chairman, Administration and Finance Commission, St. Ambrose Catholic Church, and elected member of Parish Council.
- Chairman, Recreation Commission, City of Grosse Pointe Park.
- Past Commander, Grosse Pointe Power Squadron.

AS A TAXPAYER & VOTER YOU SHOULD KNOW

Although Vincent LoCicero does not support the Administration's plan, he does believe that in order to maintain and improve quality education in the years to come — and to be fiscally responsible to all taxpayers — some form of reorganization and/or consolidation will be necessary. He believes we must address the demands of the whole community by preserving as best we can the concept of neighborhood elementary schools, while making the most responsible use of the tax dollars.

We must be sure that our curriculum and graduation requirements are strong enough to prepare our children for the challenges of the 21st Century.

We must work with our administrators and teachers to improve methods of teacher evaluation.

The Grosse Pointe News in its endorsement of Vincent F. LoCicero said, "WE THINK THAT VINCENT F. LOCICERO WOULD SERVE AS THE MOST EFFECTIVE BOARD MEMBER ON THE BASIS OF HIS EXPERIENCE AND BACKGROUND."

A VOICE FOR QUALITY EDUCATION

In case the International Home Tour (see story to the right of this column) isn't enough for you, here are some other suggestions on how to occupy your time this Sunday:

- Drive down to Historic Moross House, located on East Jefferson Avenue near Riopelle, where the Detroit Garden Center is holding a special, noon to 3 p.m. open house. Members of the Grosse Pointe Men's Garden Club will be in the garden, to share their expertise on all phases of outdoor cultivation. Docents will be conducting tours of the house. Admission is free. The public is invited. The number to call for further information is 259-6363.

- Drive out to Historic Fort Wayne, located on West Jefferson Avenue at the foot of Livernois (two blocks from I-75), where the Detroit Historical Society is sponsoring its annual flea market from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Hundreds of items offered for sale range from antique collectibles to contemporary arts and crafts. Homemade baked goods and refreshments will be available. Guided tours of Detroit's authentic Civil War Era fort will be conducted throughout the day. Admission is free. Sale proceeds help support the Detroit Historical Department. The number to call for program information is 557-7450.

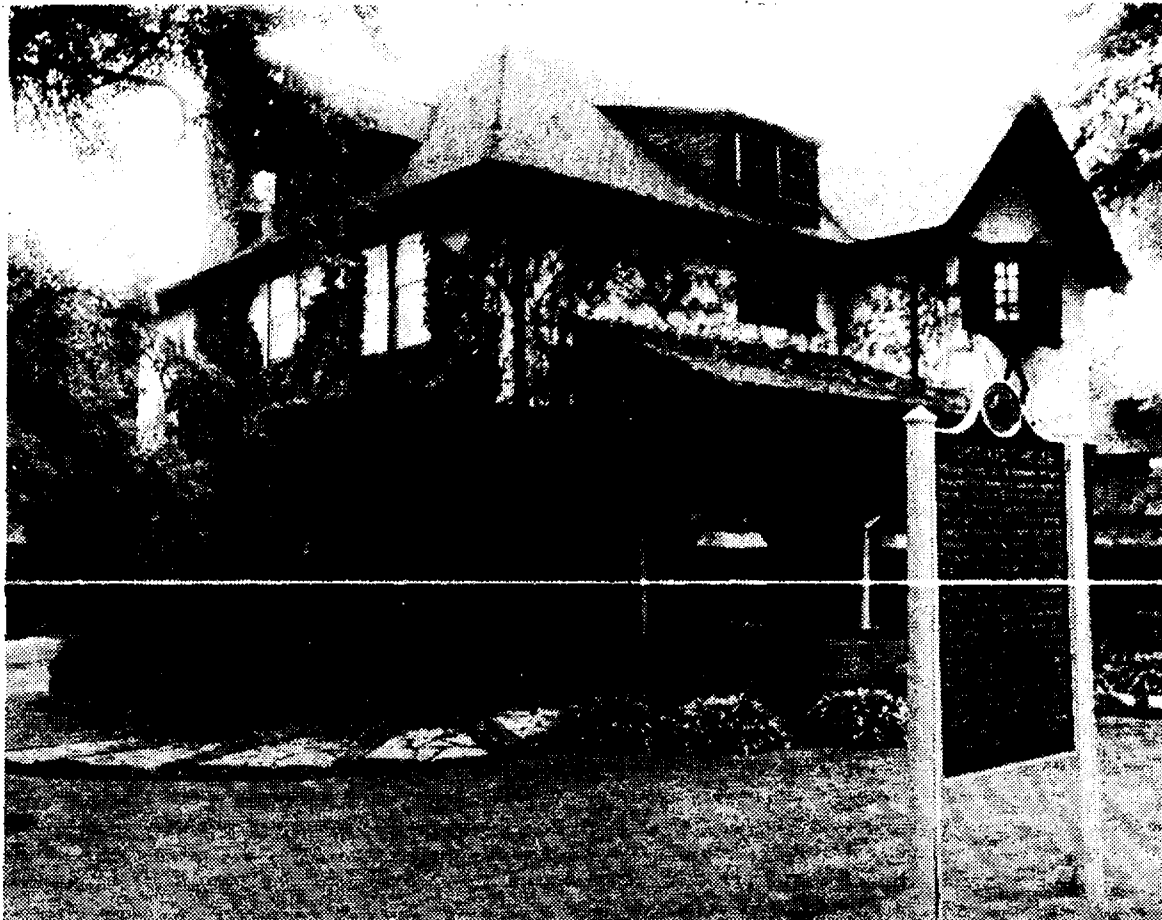

- Drive over to the Lothrop Road home of Dr. and Mrs. Edward J. Shumaker, where the Rehabilitation Institute Auxiliary is hosting a donation reception from 5 to 7 p.m. The Rehab Institute, a non-profit hospital located in the Detroit Medical Center, also functions as the Wayne State University School of Medicine's Department of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation. The institute offers programs and treatment for patients with arthritis, rheumatism, spinal cord injury, stroke and neuromuscular disorders. Its auxiliary provides gifts which encourage the patients to recover and resume normal lives.

Auxiliary members planning the reception include Mrs. Thomas Coulter, of Briarcliff Drive, Mrs. Frederick Keydel, of Kenwood Road, Mrs. Russell Peebles, of Bedford Road, Mrs. Joseph C. Smith, of Lakepointe Avenue, Mrs. Fred M. Lewis, of Lincoln Road, Mrs. Charles Insley, of Lakeland Avenue, and Mrs. Robert Weber, of Lakeshore Road. Mrs. Stanley Smith is the group's president.

June 12: What A Day!

And if you're STILL stuck for something to do this Sunday, consider making a day of it at the Lutheran School for the Deaf, located on East Nevada near Van Dyke, which has held its annual festival on the second Sunday of June for the past 110 years.

This year is no exception. A beef dinner ($4 for adults, $2 for children) will be served in the gym from noon to 2 p.m. The school will be open for tours to anyone in (Continued on Page 4B)

Five Grosse Pointe homes, including the historic residence of Ms. Marie McCluskey, pictured above, and the beautiful Lakeshore Road residence of Mrs. Anthony A. Vermeulen, at right, will open their doors from 1 to 5 p.m. this Sunday, June 12, for the second annual International Home Tour sponsored by the International Institute of Metropolitan Detroit.

The International Institute will provide guided tours and unique ethnic attractions — entertainment, cooking demonstrations (with samples) and refreshments — at each house, for $6 in advance, $7 at the door.

An added feature of this year's tour is the opportunity to tour Assumption Greek Orthodox Church and Cultural Center on Marter Road.

Chairperson Helen Kappaz, of The Woods, and her committee of volunteer hostesses, Helen Berns, Marianna Sterr and Joan Stewart, of The Woods, Virginia McNamara, of The Shores, and Doris de Groot and Grace Puia, of St. Clair Shores, will tell the history of the homes, their furnishings and the families presently residing in them.

They will be assisted by costumed volunteers, who will demonstrate the ethnic cooking, serve the refreshments and provide the entertainment.

"This is not just a walk-through tour," explains Mary Ball, executive director of the International Institute. "Each home will have an added ethnic attraction, to enhance its already ethnic flavor and that of its family."

This year's tour features the historic home of William Voigt, a German immigrant who is famous for his support of Compulsory Education Laws. Voigt became a successful butcher in Detroit and built his summer home in 1889 on the Trombley family's French strip farm.

The house at 16004 East Jefferson Avenue in The Park was a symbol of success to its owner, who made his fortune in America. A 125-year-old pear tree, its golden fruit signifying prosperity, stands in front of the Voigt Home, which is distinctly German in construction and features several built-in window seats, storage cupboards, bay windows, heavy railings and archways, all trimmed in honey-oak wood.

Five-stop home tour lets you go 'round the globe in Pointe

The Voigt House is set at an angle to Jefferson and Bedford, so that both front and back seem to be facing a street. Ms. Marie McCluskey, who presently lives there, is especially fond of the French flavor the land still has. The Trombley family's original horse trail is the driveway, and original fruit and flowering trees including an 80-year-old lilac give the backyard a parklike atmosphere.

In celebration of the tricentennial of German immigration to America, the Voigt backyard will feature a German style beer garden offering Stroh Dark Munchen-er Bier, lemonade and German music. German artifacts and gifts will be on display and for sale there during the tour.

The French Colonial style house of Dr. and Mrs. Steve Tsangalias, 17 Oxford Road in The Shores, has a truly international personality. Dr. Tsangalias is an American civic leader of Greek origin who emigrated to The States from Alexandria, Egypt. He has collected unique and exotic treasures from Hong Kong, Greece, India, Australia and Africa on worldwide travels with his wife and three daughters.

As always, Metropolitan Opera Week in Detroit was a dazzling affair, beginning with the Opening Night Dinner Monday, May 23, hosted by the Detroit Grand Opera Association, sponsor of the Met's annual visits to the Motor City, in Masonic Temple's Crystal Ballroom, preceding that evening's sold-out performance of "La Boheme." Among the dinner guests were The Honorable G. MENNEN WILLIAMS and his wife NANCY, of Tonnancour Place, pictured at right. Above, at the DGOA's Tuesday, May 24, luncheon at the Strohhaus and tour of the Stroh Brewery for members of the Metropolitan Opera Company and DGOA benefactors, are three more Farms residents, ERIC STROH, LOIS (Mrs. Wilber H.) MACK and HENRY LEDYARD, the DGOA's retired general manager (left to right) sharing opera conversation — and, of course, a Stroh's.

Adams Castle to be setting for DRC's tea

Beautiful Adams Castle, the Bloomfield mansion, built in the '20s, that is one of Oakland County's most impressive residences, will be the scene this year of the Detroit Review Club's annual Friendship Tea. Adams Castle is open to DRC members and their guests at the invitation of its owners, Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Bortz Jr., next Wednesday, June 15, from 2 to 5 p.m.

DRC President Mrs. Robert Gerisch will be the official hostess. Chairing the affair are Grosse Pointers Mrs. Robert Kefgen and Mrs. James Mullaney, DRC past-presidents.

Among those assisting the Mesdames Kefgen and Mullaney will be fellow East Siders Mrs. A. Edmond Allan, Mrs. Justin Emery, Mrs. Fred Gies, Mrs. Harry Graham, Mrs. Gilbert Guymer, Mrs. William Howard, Miss Wanda Lee, Mrs. Robert Lucas, Mrs. Arthur Olechowski, Mrs. Francis Quigley, Mrs. Irving Tuttle, Mrs. Dorothy Turner, Mrs. Frank Weicenbach and Mrs.

Aaron E. Wilcox.

DRC members from Allan Park, Birmingham, Bloomfield, Farmington Hills, Detroit and Canada will also be attending.

Adams Castle, symbol of an Age of Affluence now past, was originally owned by the Harry Stormfelztes, who hired eminent architect Richard Marr to build their home. Marr made many trips to Europe to find artisans to work on the castle and fireplaces and mantels to put in it.

Marble and slate floors, crystal and silver chandeliers, a travertine marble room and a vast, curved travertine marble staircase leading to the second floor are among the castle's features. An immense, hand-carved wood and brass chandelier, suspended from a 40-foot cathedral ceiling, highlights the stairwell.

The tile work throughout the house and gardens is Pewabic. The grounds boast terraced gardens, lilac hedges, beautiful trees and shrubs, a Pewabic fountain and a circular fountain centering the front drive.

When the Bortzes took over the house, it was unfurnished. They have been in it for four-and-a-half years now, and continue to be on the lookout for works of art and furniture appropriate to a castle setting. An antique, hand-carved mantel, six-and-a-half by six-feet, purchased from Stonehurst, the Schlotman Estate in The Pointe, is now incorporated in the Adams Castle library.

The solarium was completely re-done by a European craftsman in 1980. Its dome ceiling is covered with gold, bronze, copper and two types of variegated gold leaf: one French and one Italian. Because Mrs. Bortz's favorite flower is the rose, her husband requested the artisan to incorporate roses in the painting which highlights the room.

The grandeur of Vienna is reflected in the diamond brilliance of the dining room's Maria Theresa chandeliers and Waterford crystal sconces. Blue velvet and mirrored walls and blue draperies are a perfect setting for this room's Louis XV furniture.

Pointer Bridge Girls to meet on Wednesday terested in inspecting its facilities. A combined children's program and Festival Service begins in the grove at 2:30 p.m.; diplomas will be awarded to those children who have completed their prescribed courses, and all speaking parts will be "signed" for the deaf by The Reverend Clark Bailey, pastor of Our Savior Lutheran Church for the Deaf, which holds services every Sunday in the school chapel.

Picnic food and refreshments will be available in the pavilion during the entire afternoon. If the weather is inclement, the program will move from the grove to the gym.

The school, operated by an Association of Lutheran Churches, receives no funding from any public or private organization. Its annual budget of approximately $1 million is raised entirely by gifts and tuitions — but no child is ever turned away because of lack of money. Deaf children comprise less than one-third of the present enrollment of approximately 120; the balance of the student body is made up of children who have special educational needs, particularly in the areas of reading and math. Instruction is also provided for exceptionally gifted children.

And Now: A Saturday Suggestion

Now that we've taken care of your Sunday for you, here's how you can make June 11 a Very Special Saturday, visiting seven gracious homes, three lovely gardens, the Waldorf School, Iroquois Avenue Christ Lutheran Church and Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian Church between 10:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. as a participant in the 11th Annual Indian Village Historic House and Garden Tour.

Just pick up a tickets ($5 general admission, plus $2 if you'd like a guided walking tour — but you're welcome to go it alone, if you wish) at the Iroquois Avenue Church, Iroquois at Vernor, any time during tour hours... and you're on your way.

This year's tour presents a cross section of Detroit's rich and varied architecture circa 1904-24. A special display, "The Lost Indian Village," will be on exhibit at the Charles Terrance McCafferty Building on East Jefferson Avenue. A pastry shop will be featured at the Waldorf (School) Cafe. The tour goes on rain or shine. Tickets are not refundable, but there's a special break for senior citizens: 20 percent discount on general admission.

St. Ambrose Last Senior Prom

Sometime late this summer, the old St. Ambrose School Building will be torn down, and there'll probably be more than a few tears in more than a few Grosse Pointers' eyes when that happens. On the other hand: why weep at a wake when you can dance at a really lively party?

That's just what "St. Ambrose Last Senior Prom" promises to be. The call is out for all St. Ambrose graduates, past students and former clergy, faculty and parishioners to gather for a special liturgy at 4 p.m. Saturday, June 25. After mass, there'll be a tour of the school and a sale of memorabilia — floors, doors, clocks, et al. Refreshments will be available.

And after that, there'll be St. Ambrose Last Senior Prom, a dinner dance beginning at 7 p.m. at the German-American Cultural Center on East Outer Drive. Prom tickets are limited. Reservation deadline is this Saturday, June 11.

To get your tickets, send a check ($25 per person, including dinner, dancing and an open bar), payable to St. Ambrose Last Senior Prom, to Dick Landuyt, 731 Grand Marais Boulevard, Grosse Pointe Park, Mich. 48230. To get more information, give Dick a call at 832-5605. Or contact Phyllis Garvey Chesney, 882-1025, or Terry Gardner Pfaendtner, 821-6196.

And dry your eyes: remember, St. Ambrose Elementary (pre-school through grade eight) is alive and well and living on Alter Road.

A Detour Leads to Her Main Road

Back in 1972, heading out on one of their family camping expeditions, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling P. Berry, of Lakeland Court, and their five daughters stopped by the National Music Camp at Interlochen. They never got farther north that year.

Julia Berry and her sisters were totally fascinated, spent three weeks sitting in on classes and rehearsals, and sold their parents on letting Julia and her next youngest sister, Ginna, attend the National Music Camp the following summer. Julia enrolled in the Drama and Chorus Sections, but also took a course called Music Talent Exploration. And that was that; she's been in love with the viola ever since.

After picking up Grosse Pointe South High School's Outstanding Musicianship Award, she went on to DePauw University on a four-year Music Honors Scholarship, then to Texas Christian University Graduate School of Music, where she received the Sid Richardson Memorial Scholarship. She is now over halfway to a Master of Music, currently hoping for full-time employment as a violist while finishing up the degree on the side. She has applications in to Toledo, Toronto and — would you believe?! — Hong Kong.

If you were lucky enough to catch her recital last Monday evening at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House, you know how talented she is. If you missed it, not to worry: you'll be hearing from her.

Eventually, Julia attended Interlochen for five years as a camper, her sister Ginna for four years and her sister Martha for one year. "So much," says their mother, "for saving money by camping out!" Anne Berry adds that "we are getting a little of our own back, however, because by last year those three were all employed at Interlochen."

The Berry girls will be back at Interlochen, on a paid rather than paying basis, again this summer: Julia as a string practice supervisor, Ginna as a Unit Leader in the Girls' Intermediate Division and Martha as a High School Girls' Counselor.

For the very lucky birds . . .

MRS. JULIAN HAYDON and MRS. WILLIAM COLE (seated, left and right), co-presidents of the Grosse Pointe Garden Center, and MRS. JAMES SCHUELER and MRS. GEORGE MALLEY (standing, left and right), members of the Center's board of trustees, display the beautifully sculptured lead birdbath which will be awarded to the winning ticket holder during the Garden Center's annual Membership Garden Party, to be held July 13 at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Birdbath tickets, at $1 each or six for $5, may be purchased on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays at Garden Center headquarters in the War Memorial, or from officers of any of the area garden clubs. The birdbath, in a graceful shell shape, measures 15 inches across. Perched on its curving rim are two beautifully sculptured birds. Extra tickets or additional information may be obtained by calling 881-4594.

Concertmaster's June wedding date is made

Mrs. Henry Ford II introduced the evening's featured guest, Detroit Symphony Orchestra Concertmaster Gordon Staples, at a special "thank you" reception for members of the DSO Concertmaster's Club last Monday, June 6, at Cranbrook House in Bloomfield Hills.

The party honored individuals who donate a minimum of $1,000 annually to the DSO. Hosts included club members Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hennessey, of The Farms.

Staples performed several selections on the violin and explained his role as concertmaster of the orchestra to the assembled guests.

Late June wedding plans have been made by Valerie Ruth Chichester and Jack E. Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Porter, of Blairmoor Court, whose engagement has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Win Edwards, of Kewadin.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Traverse City High School. Her fiancé, a Grosse Pointe North High School alumnus, received his Bachelors degree in Wildlife Management from the University of Wyoming in 1979.

He is a first lieutenant in the United States Army, currently stationed with the United States Army Reserve in Traverse City.

League of Catholic Women convenes for annual meeting

The 73rd annual meeting of the League of Catholic Women of Detroit on Wednesday, May 25, at Casgrain Hall was followed by a Victory Luncheon celebrating the culmination of another successful LCW membership drive.

The celebration at this first annual meeting of the LCW since it returned to its newly-renovated offices last September also recognized through prayer the Holy Year as proclaimed by Pope John Paul II, and the 150th anniversary of the Catholic Diocese of Detroit.

Casgrain Hall renovation and the recent beautification of Parsons Street, on which the hall is located, were also acknowledged in the program.

This yearly gathering was the forum for the bi-annual LCW election of officers. Returned to office as president was Marilyn (Mrs. C. Bradford) Lundy Jr. First and second vice-presidents for 1983-85, respectively, are Kay (Mrs. Joseph) Vieson and Barbara (Mrs. Ralph) Rays.

Corresponding and recording secretaries, respectively, are Dorothy (Mrs. M.J.) Sweeney and Marge (Mrs. Vincent) Giandomenico. Marge (Mrs. Alex) Motter was re-elected treasurer. Her assistant treasurer, Barbara (Mrs. Gerald) Gattorn was also re-elected.

Over 150 LCW members were in attendance for this annual event, which also honored several parish directors, among them St. Paul's Sue Mengden, for their efforts in the 1983 membership drive.

DIA displays Matisse books

"I do not distinguish between the construction of a book and that of a painting," wrote Henri Matisse, who designed 11 books between 1930 and 1952, late in his career.

An outstanding selection of illustrated books, including both versions of "Jazz" (with and without the handwritten text) and "The Legend of Pasiphae" with poetic text by Henri de Montherlant, show Matisse's achievement in this medium in an exhibit running Tuesday, May 10, through Sunday, Aug. 14, in the Detroit Institute of Arts' Schwartz Graphic Art Galleries.

Along with the artist's books, 36 prints from the DIA's permanent collection, fine examples of Matisse's graphic work in various techniques such as etching, aquatint, lithography and linocut, will be exhibited.

Highlighting "Henri Matisse: Prints and Illustrated Books" are 90 linocut illustrations for "Pasiphae," shown in Detroit for the first time. These variants of the illustrations Matisse selected for "Pasiphae," were only recently discovered, according to Ellen Sharp, the museum's curator of Graphic Arts. They were printed in 1981 by Fequet-Baudier, printers of the original edition in 1944.

The Matisse exhibit is open to the public without charge during regular museum hours: 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday.

Joanne Tsangalios likes to garden. She is especially proud of the Dwarf Beech hedge, one of only two authentic Dwarf Beech hedges in the United States, at the back of her yard. The original bushes were brought from England.

Modern layout and design make the Tsangalios house elegant and practical. The spacious living room, decorated in shades of grey, has glass doors opening onto a large wooden deck in the backyard. Glass doors off the garden room, decorated in bright shades, also open onto the backyard. Between these two rooms there is an island kitchen, where Irene Rousos will be making Greek salad. Samples will be served in the garden.

The Norman French Country house at 121 Vendome Road, on the corner of Kercheval Avenue in The Farms, is new, completed in 1981, but was designed by its owner Dan Clancy to look like an old house. To complete the "old" feeling, Clancy included a five-foot brick wall and thick shrubbery bordering the Kercheval side of his land.

The Clancy home is furnished with antiques and imported designer furniture. A few of its spectacular features are handpainted

Chinese wallpaper in the dining room, authentic French corey tile flooring in the kitchen and genuine Chin printed upholstery and drapes in the library.

Clancy's collection of blue and white Chinese porcelain is displayed on antique tables. Some of his most prized pieces came from the estates of the Dodge, Seyburn and Merkel families, and from Rose Terrace.

The sunken living room, where Maribeth Simon, of The Shores, will be playing classical music on a Steinway grand piano, has a 15-foot ceiling and glass doors leading to the brick patio in the backyard where wine will be served.

The view from the home of Mrs. Anthony A. Vermeulen, 693 Lakeshore Road in The Shores, is exquisite. French bay windows frame the lake from the living room and den. A large Czechoslovakian crystal chandelier lights the two-story foyer.

Dorothea Vermeulen, a retired teacher and native Detroit, is an active civic leader: involved with the Alliance Francaise de Grosse Pointe and the Grosse Pointe Symphony.

French quiche will be made at the Vermeulen home by Kathy Jeanne McPhail and Martine Salane, with samples served in the backyard which has a French style brick wall border.

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Choon S. Rim, 89 Lakeshore Road in The Farms, offers several views of Lake St. Clair: from front, back and side rooms, upstairs and down. Long strips of windows around the whole upper floor show off the lake continuously.

An open spiral staircase with a beautiful spindle railing in a brightly lit, split-level foyer emphasizes the elegant layout of this truly ethnic home. Dr. Rim has brought Korean tables and gold-trimmed dressers home with him from some of his trips. Korean wallpaper in metallic and pastel prints is the perfect background for silk embroidery, ceramic artwork and original prints.

In the living room, look for a Korean coffee table, finished in dark red enamel, with mother-of-pearl inlaid dragons and bonzai trim. The Rims have invited a Korean dance troupe to perform during the tour, and will be serving Korean rice cakes and iced tea in the garden.

Father Demetrios Kavadas will welcome visitors to the new, Byzantine style Assumption Greek Orthodox Church, with its 48-foot dome, and Cultural Center. The parish, founded in 1929, has moved over the years to several different sites, always serving the Greek Orthodox people in their new neighborhoods.

The Cultural Center serves thousands of area residents weekly, offering programs that range from fitness to self-improvement to arts and crafts. The Assumption Greek Dancers will perform, and ethnic crafts and foods will be available for purchase.

International Home Tour tickets are available in advance at Assumption, at Carl Sterr Men's Wear on-the-Hill, at the Sign of the Lion in-the-Village and during business hours at the International Institute (871-8600).

Tickets may also be purchased at the homes, which may be visited in any order, during tour hours. A map will be provided with each ticket.

The International Institute, founded in 1919, is a Torch Drive-supported agency that provides social services to new immigrants and foreign speaking people, and offers educational and cultural programs focusing on the more than 60 different ethnic groups surviving in the metropolitan Detroit area.

Slate Ketchum Yachtswomen Group meeting meet tonight

The Elizabeth Ketchum Group of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church will honor Martha Meister Kiely, wife of the church's senior minister, at a luncheon tomorrow, Friday, June 10, at 12:30 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. Mrs. Arthur O.A. Schmidt, chairman of the group, and Mrs. Alfred S. Warren will act as hostesses. Mrs. Raymond Eddy will give the devotions.

Yachtswomen meet this evening, Thursday, June 9, at 7 p.m. at the St. Clair Yacht Club to wish one another a safe boating season. Hostesses for this potluck party, the group's last gathering until September, are Claire Johnston, Grace Janik, Roberta Jurkiewicz and Florence Westby. Marie Michaelsen, club historian, will bring memorabilia of past years to the meeting.

Redman plays at DIA Friday

Saxophonist Dewey Redman will perform at 7 and 9:30 p.m. in Kresge Court, the Detroit Institute of Arts' indoor continental garden, tomorrow, Friday, June 10, as part of the museum's Jazz at The Institute series.

Tickets at $6 per person per set are available through the DIA ticket office, 832-2730.

Fort Pontchartrain DAR seats officers

Fort Pontchartrain Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will hold its annual meeting tomorrow, Friday, June 10, at the Detroit Boat Club. Mrs. Frank S. McKinnon is accepting reservations for members and guests.

A business session conducted by the new regent, Mrs. William E. Garrett, will precede luncheon, to be followed by an afternoon of bridge. Newly-elected chapter officers from The Pointe area include Mrs. Paul Honderick and Mrs. Bernard L. Seitz, corresponding and recording secretaries, respectively, Mrs. F. Killeen, registrar, Mrs. Leonard L. Jensen, financial secretary, and board of directors members Mrs. Bruce K. Reynolds and Mrs. McKinnon.

Honor CPR volunteers . . .

JERRY HUMMEL, of the American Red Cross, is flanked at left and right above by PATTIE ADLER and GINGER DINAT- ALE at the Health Education Council of Grosse Pointe's annual May meeting. Hummel appeared at the meeting to honor those who have served as Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation instructors at the Grosse Pointe high schools during 1982-83. In a turn-about, Kathy Frakes, chairman of the HEC's CPR program, presented Hummel with a donation to the Red Cross in his honor.

The volunteers were honored as contributors to a program that is unique. Although CPR is offered in some other Michigan high schools, Grosse Pointe is the only known community where it is taught by an all-volunteer group.

During the past school year, HEC volunteers certified over 800 10th graders in the Red Cross "Race for Life" course: a combination of mouth-to-mouth breathing and one-man CPR.

Grosse Pointe citizens, in addition to Pattie, Ginger and Kathy, who received Red Cross Certificates of Appreciation were Maureen Anthony, Ann Berschback, Donna Bramlage, Ann Crane, George Crane, Cecele DesRoberts, Ann Dodge, MerryJo Eleczko, Gus Gallagher, Rita Harrington, Eula Hoover, Judy Huntington, Suzy Kazul, Ellen Kerfoot, Marian Kuntzman, Helen McKnight, Sheila McNamara, Anne McQueen, Gerri Plankner, Eleanor Pugliesi, Carolyn Raham, Faith Remter, Jim Robson, Barbara Schwartz, Carole Schortmann, Colleen Stanczak, Betty Strzempke, Pat Tapper and Margaret Thompson. Most were trained by Hummel to be CPR teachers.

Earlier in the day, out-going HEC President Jan Dahl was honored at a luncheon by her board members, who cited her for her excellent leadership, particularly in establishing the new Scoliosis Screening Program in the middle schools.

Mrs. Dahl announced the new HEC officers for 1983-84. They are Madeleine Phillips, president, Eula Hoover, vice-president, Sharon Tucker and Lynn Millies, recording and corresponding secretaries, respectively, Carole Schortmann, treasurer, and Colleen Stanczak, co-treasurer.

Among Albion College art majors who displayed their works in a spring art show on campus were ELIZABETH CLEM, daughter of MR. and MRS. GENE CLEM, of Putnam Road, a Grosse Pointe High School graduate, and CYNTHIA SINGELYN, daughter of DR. and MRS. THOMAS SINGELYN, of University Place, a Grosse Pointe South High School graduate.

Sigma Kappa slates elephant/ham night

Gerry Matthews' Fairholme Road home will be the setting for the Grosse Pointe Alumnae of Sigma Kappa's third annual white elephant auction and honey baked ham dinner next Wednesday, June 15, at 6:30 p.m. Reservations for the dinner must be made by contacting Carole Peters (Mrs. A.W.) Lombardini, 881-2818, by this evening.

Each person attending the Sigma Kappa Alumnae group's final meeting of the 1982-83 year is asked to bring at least one clean, usable item for the auction. Proceeds will help finance a delegate's expenses to Denver next June for the sorority's national convention.

The local chapter will also be celebrating the 20th anniversary of the signing of its charter, and is trying to locate all Sigma Kappas who signed that charter in June, 1963, for a special ceremony in honor of the occasion. Any charter members are asked to contact Carole as soon as possible to make arrangements to participate in the ceremony.

Area Sigma Kappas, including collegiates home for summer vacation, interested in attending this very special gathering are encouraged to call Ruth Saur, vice-president/membership, 331-5812, or Maryn Horn, 884-3018, today for reservations and more information.

Artists Market features Pointe pair in its 'Six'

Nobili's work is included in many private and corporate collections, among them those of Comeria, Blue Cross/Blue Shield and Detroit General Hospital, Steelcase in Grand Rapids and California's Mellus Girol. She retires as professor of Painting at Wayne State University at the conclusion of the current semester.

Pallas earned both his Bachelor and Master of Fine Arts degrees at WSU. His sculptures have been featured in one-man shows at the Detroit Institute of Arts and the Allan Stone Gallery in New York City. His commissioned work includes "Century of Light" on Washington Boulevard and "Senate Piece" for the Washington, D.C., offices of Senator Carl Levin.

David Barr, John Glick, Hughie Lee-Smith and Carol Wald are the other four artists represented in this final exhibition of the Market's 50th anniversary season.

"They are among the most accomplished of the artists who have exhibited at the Detroit Artists Market," says Mary Denison, the Market's artistic director. "Each is asking serious questions about personal meaning, using personal expressions."

Gallery hours at the Detroit Artists Market are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, SUMMER ASPARAGUS SUGGESTIONS.

Asparagus, a member of the Lily Family, is a native of Europe and has been cultivated for over 2,000 years. California is the leading commercial producer, but asparagus is grown successfully in many private gardens. It is a low-calorie, low-carbohydrate vegetable, delicious prepared many ways, especially good served cold, in salads.

Asparagus nutrients include Vitamins A and C, potassium, niacin, B-complex and calcium. Six medium sprouts equal about 18 calories. Suggested seasonings include tarragon, thyme, nutmeg, garlic and prepared mustard sauce.

BAKED ASPARAGUS AU NATURAL

1 - 1/2 lbs. fresh asparagus
Pinch of salt
Pinch of pepper
2 Tbsp. margarine

Preheat oven to 300°. Break off ends of asparagus, trim scales and rinse. Place in 8-inch square baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper; dot with margarine. Cover tightly with foil and bake 30 to 35 minutes. Makes 6 delicious servings.

Calories per serving about 50. Cholesterol 0.

VARIATIONS:

Frozen - Place one package (10 oz.) asparagus in 1-quart casserole, add 1/4 cup water, 1 Tbsp. margarine; cover. Bake in 350° oven until crisp-tender. Makes 3 servings.

Calories per serving 55. Cholesterol 0.

Steamed - Place steamer basket in saucepan or Dutch oven over about an inch of water. Bring to boil. Add cleaned asparagus. Steam until crisp-tender. (Young, tender shoots take only a short time, older spears a little longer.) Garden fresh asparagus is so delicious that seasonings are gilding the lily! Makes 3 servings.

Calories per serving about 22. Cholesterol 0.

ROQUEFORT ASPARAGUS

2 boxes frozen asparagus
4 Tbsp. margarine, heated
2 Tbsp. tarragon wine vinegar
3 - 1/2 Tbsp. Roquefort cheese

Cook asparagus in steamer until just tender. Melt margarine in small saucepan, add other ingredients; stir until smooth. Serve hot over hot asparagus. Serves 4.

Calories per serving about 116. Cholesterol about 7 mgs.

MUSHROOM AND ASPARAGUS STIR-FRY

3 Tbsp. vegetable oil
1 lb. asparagus, trimmed, washed, cut in 2-inch slices
1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms, ends trimmed, T-sliced
1 Tbsp. soy sauce
1 thin slice fresh ginger
1/2 cup chicken broth
2 tsp. cornstarch
3 Tbsp. cold water

Heat oil in skillet or wok until very hot. Add asparagus and stir-fry for 1 minute. Add mushrooms and stir-fry for 1 more minute. Add soy sauce, ginger and chicken broth and bring to a boil. Cover and reduce heat; simmer until asparagus is crisp-tender. Mix cornstarch and water; add to contents in skillet, stirring until the mixture thickens. makes 4 servings.

Calories per serving about 145. Cholesterol 0.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

Look who's winning . . . again

Don't look now, but those pesky high school athletes are at it again . . . winning everything in sight.

It wasn't enough that the three Pointe high schools got together last fall and won an amazing total of 11 league championships, seven regional titles and five state championships.

No, they had to come right back in the spring sports season and start running up all those championships again.

The girls' soccer team at North started it, surpassing even the most optimistic of expectations folks had for the first year team and going all the way to the regional soccer finals before bowing out. Coach Guido Regelbrugge had nothing but the highest praise for his squad, calling this inaugural soccer season at North "one of those things in life I can look back upon with great happiness."

North's baseball team took up where the girls left off, winning the Bi-County crown and the district baseball title and advancing to the regional finals. North's "big-three" on the pitchers' mound — Bob Wujek, Dave Babcock and John Menzo — haven't discovered the meaning of the word "lose" yet this year. Neither have the rest of the Norsemen.

At South, Lynn Pellerito specialized in no hits — holding her opposition to no hits, that is. Pellerito fired two no-hitters this season in leading the South varsity softball squad.

South's Meg Moisen, Barb Giroux, Val Stone and Danielle Varga chipped in with their performances in the state track finals last weekend. Moisen earned a second place finish in the state 1600 — just two seconds behind the champ and four seconds off the record.

At ULS, the tennis team held back a bit during the season, letting the successful varsity baseball squad get all the attention. But the netters hit stride just in time for the state finals, winning their 12th straight state tennis championship and setting a national record for most consecutive titles. Best of all, the Knights did it without Aaron Krickstein, currently playing the junior circuit in Europe, and despite singles' star Frank Crociata's broken ankle. Now that's a winner.

I just don't know about all this winning, winning, winning. It could get very (ho-hum) boring around here . . . Fat chance.

Soccer versus Little League?

There is a strange battle brewing in Grosse Pointe — between soccer fans and baseball boosters. Oh, war hasn't officially been declared; in fact, many of those sports fans devoted to both baseball and soccer probably don't even realize such a conflict exists.

I myself didn't notice there was such a battle until last week, when talking with a member of soccer's legions. The soccer supporter told me, in no uncertain terms, that soccer was getting so big, it was pushing "Little League right off the map."

Really? Why? This town is more than big enough for the "both of them." Officials of both sports have long been working together on arranging adequate field space and better field conditions for soccer leagues, Babe Ruth leagues and Little League teams.

Perhaps if some of these soccer and baseball fans would take a page from that book — the one on working together

ULS sets record

By Peggy O'Connor

Nothing but the best for ULS.

That might well serve as a permanent motto for the University Liggett School varsity tennis team — now that it has won the state Class C-D tennis championship for the 12th consecutive year. Last week's championship victory at Kalamazoo gave the Knights the national record for consecutive championships, breaking the three-way tie ULS shared with Hamtramck High School and Cherry Hill High School in Denver, Colo.

The title also marked the 15th time in 18 years that ULS has reigned as a state tennis champion . . . and came at a time when the Knights were struggling.

ULS' No. 1 singles star Aaron Krickstein left the team before the finals to pursue amateur competition in Europe. And a string of injuries, including a broken ankle to No. 2 singles player Frank Crociata, threatened to stop ULS' assault on the national mark — at least in the minds of some ULS critics.

"The kids went through an awful lot in these last few weeks," coach Bob Wood said. "Everywhere they went — even in school — all they heard from people was that there was no way we would win without Frank and Aaron."

"Add to that the incredible pressure with the national television coverage and all the newspaper stories that have been written about the record — and you've got what I told the kids was 'the ultimate pressure.'"

The Knights entered the final day of championship play in a tie with Kalamazoo Hackett. Wood said afterward that before the finals he repeated to the team what had become his philosophy for ULS teams in each of the previous championship seasons. "I told them that no other team was better prepared for this moment than they were. I told them that they'd been through the 'advanced placement' of tennis."

"They believed that and they won."

ULS took four of the seven flights, including victories by John Ekelman at No. 3 singles; John Polizzi and Brian Hunt at No. 1 doubles; George Haggarty and John MacLeod at No. 2 doubles; and Kirk Haggarty and John Birgbauer at No. 3 doubles. Finishing as runners-up were the No. 1 through 3 singles players: Steve Pack, Frank Crociata and Marc Hunt.

Crociata, who hit for the first time in three weeks on June 1, was accompanied to the meet by Rose Synder, head trainer at Henry Ford Hospital. She nursed Crociata through three matches, according to Wood, and although he lost in the finals, his presence at the match was important.

"Psychologically, having him there was the key. He played a major role in winning that championship," Wood said.

The Knights finished in the No. 4 spot overall in the state tennis rankings — that's the 10th year in a row the ULS has finished in the top five in the state and caps a year Wood calls "incredible."

"When you look back and analyze it, this was a trying season. To see those kids handle the pressure, to see how they conducted themselves and how well they performed was one of the highlights of a 22-year coaching career. It was wonderful to watch."

With the 12th consecutive championship tucked away, Wood says he is already looking ahead to the future — when he'll lose just two of 10 players to graduation next year. "But I'm realistic. I know that it'll come to an end. But right now, it's nice to remember what a big day last Saturday was in the history of ULS."

Norsemen advance to baseball regionals

North's varsity baseball squad overcame a slow start to defeat Lake Shore, 9-2, and Bishop Gallagher, 8-6, last weekend and win the district baseball title and advance to the regionals at Hazel Park this Saturday, June 11.

The Norsemen will face Southfield in the first game of regional competition at 12:30 p.m. at Hazel Park High School. Southfield finished in the runner-up spot to No. 1-ranked Royal Oak Kimball in its conference.

North coach Frank Sumbera admitted that the district game against St. Clair Shores Lake Shore may not have been paramount in the minds of his players last Saturday.

"We'd beaten Lake Shore three times this year and I knew it would be difficult to play them four times in a row. The kids were looking ahead to the championship game. But we had to beat Lake Shore and I threw Menzo against them. He'd beaten them twice and he beat them again," Sumbera said.

North started slowly in the title game against Bishop Gallagher, a team which had defeated North in district play last season. "David Babcock had pitched so well 10 days before, but there just wasn't anything to throw him in since. He just couldn't get his rhythm against Gallagher," Sumbera said.

Babcock gave up just four hits but walked nine. The score saw-sawed back and forth before North stopped being what Sumbera called its "own worst enemies" and held on for the 8-6 victory.

Sumbera said Monday that he would stick to the same sort of game plan that got his squad to the state championships in 1980. He'll start righthander John Menzo (7-1) against Southfield, then come back with him in relief in the next game, if necessary. Sumbera used a similar strategy with lefty Bill Babcock enroute to the Class A title in 1980.

"I've got so much confidence in Menzo. I don't think anyone can get too many runs off him. I think the Southfield game will be a close game. There were no run-ways back in 1980 either, those were all well-pitched games. I'm looking for the same thing this time."

The Norsemen sport a 29-6 record, tying a school record for victories. Five players have already earned All-League honors and four have been named to the All-Region team.

John Menzo (who has pitched three no-hitters and earned the Bi-County League MVP award), Marty Mitchell, Kevin Dundon, David Waldeck and Dave Babcock are the All-Leaguers. All Region honors went to Babcock (pitcher), Menzo (shortstop), Waldeck (centerfield), and Mitchell (first base). Mitchell hit his 11th home run against Bishop Gallagher to break a school record.

Mitchell and Menzo have also been selected to the Michigan All-Star Team which will play in Grand Rapids later this month. Menzo is also a member of the Michigan-Illinois All-Star team which will compete in Wrigley Field later this season.

ULS' Kincannon is state champ

Andrea Kincannon, a senior at University Liggett School, competed in the Class C State Track and Field Finals in Bangor on June 4, capturing the 400 meter dash crown with a winning time of 58.9 seconds.

The first place finish earned Andrea All-State honors. She also placed fifth in the 100 meter dash, sixth in the 200 meter dash and eighth in the long jump out of all of the competitors in Class C schools from throughout the state.

During the regular season Kincannon finished first in every event that she ran in. At the Class C Regional Track Meet in Capac, she placed first in the 400 meter dash, 200 meter and long jump and second in the 100 meter dash to qualify her to participate in the four events at the state finals.

Middle school awards

ULS Middle coaches awarded their spring teams' trophies at the closing Athletic Awards Assembly on June 1.

Eighth grader Chris Butler was most valuable player on the varsity baseball team. Junior varsity baseball's most valuable player was Kevin Darby, and the most improved was Bill Jewett, both seventh graders. Reserve baseball's most promising player was sixth grader Bill Lucken. Varsity tennis' most valuable player was eighth grader Ralph Barbier.

Girls' lacrosse's most valuable player was eighth grader, Suzannah Maycock. Kim Wood, an eighth grader, earned most valuable girls' softball player honors.

The Noecker Athletic Award for the best all-around Middle School girl athlete went to eighth grader Susan Jaeger. Eighth grader, Ralph W. Barbier III, won the Peter S. White Athletic Award for the best all-around Middle School boy athlete.

Admissions testing for ULS Middle School will be held on Saturday, June 11 at 8:30 a.m. For registration information, call the school at 884-4444.

for the enjoyment of participants of BOTH sports, there wouldn't be any reason to draw battle lines or push one sport or the other "off the map."

Or maybe they'd like to take a ride with one of dozens of Pointe mothers who spend most days helping their little athlete change from soccer uniform to baseball jersey in the car — and making sure he/she gets to each match or game on time.

Post-prix . . .

Gripping out-of-town journalists and broadcasters have hit the road, the barrels of barriers and tons of tires have been removed and the second Detroit Grand Prix is history. And while almost all of the action was somewhat further down Jefferson . . .

The Pointe did have its Grand Prix say. First, there was that Grand Prix sailboat race on Lake St. Clair the Tuesday before the big race weekend.

Much bigger than that though, was the unexpected visit of "Scorpio" to our fair town. (See FYI on Page One.)

The way local ladies sped through the puddles to catch a glimpse of the Australian-born actor who plays "Scorpio" would have put the Prix pros to shame.

I missed "Scorpio" but not as much as I'm going to miss Grand Prix week itself. When else can a person go around saying things like: "pit entry chicane," or hairpin turn," or even "I like Keke Rosberg, but I'm really a Nelson Piquet fan," except during Prix week? When else do people with names like Keke or Niki or Piquet ever come to town except during Prix week . . . or when a foreign freighter runs aground?

Grosse Pointe Soccer Association News

The Grosse Pointe Foxes continued to forge ahead with a winning season as they defeated two more opponents, both of them shut-outs. In the first game against the Fraser Furies the Foxes slammed in nine goals for the win, with Kim Wood and Beth Edwards each scoring hat tricks and the other goals going to Casey Steffes, Kerry Edwards and Bridget Brierly.

Fullbacks Arabella Black, Sara Wasinger, Amy Lenard and Debbie Wilson were absolutely impenetrable on defense allowing few attempts on goal, Beth Nearhood. In the second game against the Susa Stars out of Utica, the Foxes had their opponents racing around in total confusion as they took the game, 5-0. Scoring for the Foxes were Beth Edwards, two goals, Kerry Edwards, two goals and Kim Wood, one. The Foxes now stand at 5-2-1 for the season.

In the boys' Under 14 division the Grosse Pointe Rovers played their best game of the season when they came up against the Tri-County Travelers. The game was a 2-2 tie, both Rover goals going to John Gallagher. Late in the second half John Drummy banged in the game winner for the Rovers, scoring a fantastic goal from the 18-yard line. The Rovers hosted a visiting team from Findlay, Ohio over the Memorial Day weekend, and took the game 3-1. Two goals went to Frank Karabetsos and one to Matt Weist.

Last weekend, the Rovers met the Grosse Pointe Gunners in a hard fought game that ended in victory for the Rovers, 1-0. Scoring the only goal was Frank Karabetsos. Outstanding players for the Rovers were Kal Attie in goal, Joe Riesterer and Drummy on defense. Steve Trowern and Chris Eschenburg were the players of the week for the Gunners.

At this point in the season the Grosse Pointe Wolverines of the under 14 boys' division hold second place in team standings, with a 5-2-1 record. The Wolverines finally put their act together after losing to the Utica Hustlers, bouncing back with two decisive victories against the two SUSA teams from Utica. In their next game against the Pikes, the Wolverines took the game, 6-1. Goals went to Danny Rashid, Mike Hartnett, Tom and Kevin Mack, John Wack and Jim Ryszewski. In their game against the Chargers, the Wolverines again won the game, 5-1, with fine assists going to Ryszewski, Herman and Mack.

In the Under 12 division, the Falcons finally took a victory against the Sailors in a tough fought game, winning 2-1. Both Falcon goals went to Peter Donaldson, with fine assists from Paul DiPasquale and Joe Trupiano. Chris Hodgman has been outstanding because of his versatility, playing both offense and defense positions. The Falcons tied the Strikers, 2-2, again a closely fought battle. Anthony Durakovic has been solid in goal, with a strong defensive line of Chris DiPasquale, Scott Metz, Sreedhar Samudrala, Michael Shehab and David Smith.

The Express, of the Under 12 division, have had their share of problems, playing tough but often times one goal away from victory. That was not the case in their game with the Strikers as they beat the Strikers, 10-4. Scoring for the Express were Andy Busse with two goals, and one each to Jeff Jogan and Mike Cure, with fine assists from Rick Darke and Mike Metz.

The girls' Under 12 division is represented by the Mustangs, with a 3-2-1 season. They shut out the Fraser Foxes, 2-0, on goals scored by Leslie Braithwaite and Katherine Sick, in spite of a strong Fraser team. In their game against the St. Angela Angels the Mustangs again came out on top, 3-2, as Kerri Kelly and Katherine Sick popped in the goals for the Mustangs. Sheila Profit, Beth Bonanni, Katie Kolp and Jennifer Galvin have played heads up soccer.

In the Under 10 division, Patrick Pesegna was named player of the game for the Grosse Pointe Eagles because of his super play against the Blackhawks in a 0-0 tie. In their game against the Falcons the outstanding player was Jim Bologna, a fine defensive linesman. The Eagles took the game, 4-2.

In the Blackhawks' game against the Twisters the Hawks won 7-0. Goals went to Todd Fredrickson with a hat trick, two to Andy Wallace and one each to Amod Sarnaik and Garrett Ryan. Jeremy Africa was super in goal backed up by consistent play from Blair Gavan, Terry Kavanaugh, Marcelo Madrazo and Craig Williams.

In the Under 8 division, the Cosmos met the Pac Men in a tough match that ended in a 0-0 tie.

A successful season for South's varsity girls' track team ended at the state finals last Saturday when sophomore sensation Meg Moisen raced to a second place finish in the state finals' 1600 run (5:01.8). Moisen holds the 1600 school record, as well as records in the 400, 800, 3200 and 1600 relay. South track team (above) set 11 other records this year, including one earned in the Ann Arbor Huron Invitational last week — when Moisen, Val Stone, Barb Giroux and Nancy Solterisch ran the 4 x 3200 relay in an average 12 minutes each. Steve Zaranek (top, left) coached the girls.

Yankees win Babe Ruth first half

In the Farms-City American League, the Yankees defeated the Padres (Park), 6-1 on May 21. The Yankee offense was paced by Doug Gray's double as teammates Drew Brooks and Ryan Hoeh contributed two and one RBI respectively. Flawless defensive play by Cliff Grabowski and Drew Brooks cushioned the Yankees win. Jerry Joliet, the winning pitcher, held the Padres to 3 hits in his pitching debut. Shaheen, Holley, and Mauk led the Padres attack. The win was the first of three which resulted in a Yankee championship.

On May 21, the Braves (Park) defeated the Red Sox, 11-1. The Braves' attack was led by Cordova and Bedsworth with two hits each; Mac Michael and Benivedez also doubled. Cordova, the winning pitcher, threw a four hitter and struck out 10. The Red Sox' Jason Colegrove had two hits in three trips to the plate. He's hitting .600 for the season with 12 hits in 20 at bats.

The Yankees defeated the Indians, 9-4, on May 23. Jim Reynolds had four hits and four RBI and Steve Kinsley had three hits and one RBI to pace the Yankees' offense. Eric Doelle's triple and RBI led the Indian attack. Tim Kirchner and Jeff LeFebvre also contributed to the offensive attack. Winning pitcher Steve Kinsley, allowed only three hits and struck out 10.

On May 24, the Tigers defeated the White Sox, 7-3. Base-running and strong pitching was the key to victory. Rick Leonard, the Tigers' winning pitcher, tossed a no-hit shut out for four innings before being relieved by Rusty Knowles. Rookie Tim Fellows, normally a Tiger infielder, showed his versatility by making two very difficult catches in left field to squash White Sox rallies. Dick Clarke had two of the White Sox five hits, including a double; Don Del Place pitched well for the White Sox.

The Yankees defeated the Tigers, 2-1, on May 26. The Yankee offense was paced by Reynolds, Kinsley and Ryan Hoeh. The Tigers attack was led by Mike Hennessey and Chris Krogh. Hoeh made a great catch in centerfield to end the seventh inning with the Tigers tying run on third base. Winning pitcher Jerry Joliet, made a number of fine defensive plays. Rick Jungwirth pitched well for the Tigers.
