We give it three stars

The latest edition of the Detroit Guidebook will be out shortly and, like its predecessors, it's a dandy. The 475 page publication covers just about everything you could ever want to know about Detroit, Windsor and the suburbs that surround them.

Chapters are divided into reviews and descriptions of restaurants (further divided into types of food and location). Points of interest include Farina's Grainery, Le Cafe Francais, Original Pancake House, Pirate's Cove, Sierra Station, Sparky Herbert's and the Wooden Nickel, bars, food and drink, (farmers markets, specialty stores, etc.), shops, sites to see, theater and dance, cinema, etc. The list goes on and on, you get the idea.

An additional bonus is $200 worth of discount coupons to a large selection of restaurants in the back of the publication. The book even takes a humorous side swipe at the Grosse Pointe News, (on page 78 for those of you who buy the book.)

The Detroit Guide book will cost you $8.95 and is written by John Grant, Dick Parker, et al.

Where's my machete?

Okay out there, listen up. It seems a lot of you have been in violation of Ordinance 93, according to the Farms Police Department. Ordinance 93, for those of you not in the know, concerns "fences, walls, hedges, bushes, shrubs, trees or plantings" near street intersections and/or public or private driveways.

In other words, your bushes are too big for people to see around, under, over or through thereby causing concern for those walking, riding or driving by.

The police ask that residents take a look at their greenery and cut back if necessary before someone gets seriously injured. Thank you on their behalf.

The Hill Association has announced plans for its first annual Hill Picnic for all employees of the Hill plus their families.

The picnic is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 20 from 6 p.m.-12 a.m. at the Farms Pier Park. There will be complimentary beer and entertainment with pop for the kids. Food must be provided by individual families.

The Hill Association has requested that all those interested R.S.V.P. to Jim Dodd at Hamlin's by Friday, Sept. 9. The number is 885-8400.

A Pointe poster: it's about time

By Tom Greenwood

"The idea is a natural," said Dr. Edward Kane, sitting on his backyard deck. "I don't know why nobody else did it before."

"It" is a giant colorful poster of Grosse Pointe, replete with 144 photos mounted in a collage-like effect highlighting some of the highlights of Grosse Pointe.

The 30 by 40 inch poster is a collection of shots culled from more than 600 photographs taken by Dr. Kane while on various jaunts and jogs through the Pointe over the last year. Among them are all the churches in Grosse Pointe; the Edsel and Eleanor and Henry Ford II estates; "Over the Rainbow" Ice Cream Parlor; golfers; soccer players; ducks at the Farms Pier Park; homes on Lakeshore; the Central library; Dr. Kane's office and, of course, the office of the Grosse Pointe News.

"I have two hobbies — running and photography," said Dr. Kane. "While running during the early morning hours I started taking photos as mementos of the community. They started to accumulate, then I put them on an easel where they formed a collage. I added and subtracted, changing the design around."

"Members of my family wanted a copy, so I took a photo and had it blown up big, but it didn't look very good, plus it was very expensive," added Dr. Kane. "I bought a similar poster of Detroit and studied it. I contacted the guys who put it together and they gave me some tips. After discussing the idea with friends and patients, who assured me the idea was interesting, I went ahead and had 5,000 of the posters made up."

If Dr. Kane makes the creation of the poster sound easy, he's just being modest. Before the poster went to print came a lot of scut work. Permission had to be obtained from all the homes, businesses and cities highlighted in the poster. About 95 percent were cooperative, reported Dr. Kane.

Then the doctor and his family approached a number of Grosse Pointe businesses and institutions about selling the posters. Was there any interest in the business community?

"We received a lot of encouragement from merchants in Grosse Pointe," said Dr. Kane. "Pat Reynolds of the League Shop backed us up as well as Mrs. Frank Sladen, of the Bookshelf and Clarence Wascher, of Jacobson's." All three businesses agreed to market the posters, as well as about seven other businesses and institutions in the area.

If you think this poster of Grosse Pointe looks pretty snappy, then you've made Edward Kane a very happy man. Dr. Kane, who created the 30 inch by 40 inch full color poster from more than 600 photos he personally shot, feels the results of his handiwork reflect the diversity of the people and places in the Pointe. The posters, at $13 each, will soon go on sale at 10 different stores and institutions in town.

With that out of the way, Dr. Kane selected a printer, then oversaw the production of the poster. "Research has shown that about 10 percent of the population would be interested in a poster about the Pointe," said Dr. Kane. "I figured the area at about 70,000, then decided to go conservative on the number of posters printed."

"I hope there's an interest in this," he said with a smile. "Otherwise I'm going to have to eat 5,000 posters."

The project took Dr. Kane about a year from beginning to end. He started shooting and collecting photographs last July, and finished up the collage this past June. All the persons, places and businesses highlighted on the poster will eventually receive a complimentary poster for posterity.

"I understand other persons have had this idea before, but no one really had the time or interest to put it all together," said Dr. Kane. "I had a lot of fun creating the poster and meeting the people of this community. This city is so diverse in its dress, work, views, attitudes and interests."

"We've got this image of fashionable, stuffy, snobby Grosse Pointe and it's just not like that," added the dentist. "People out here are involved in so many things. The arts, business, sports, civic organizations and each other. It's not just the historical or physical attractions of this area, it's the attitude of the people who live here. People here have a sense of pride and self assurance. That's self assurance, and not arrogance, that they live in the best city around."

According to Dr. Kane, the posters will be delivered to various stores and institutions in Grosse Pointe beginning Thursday, Sept. 15. The cost of the unframed posters is $13.

Mayor, council, judge

Woods election deadline near

The deadline for filing nominating petitions for city council candidates in the Woods is Monday, Sept. 12, at 5 p.m., according to Deputy City Clerk Louise Warnke.

Candidates for the office must be at least 18 years old, registered voters and not in default to the city or any other local governmental body in the state. Candidates must file an affidavit to that effect with a nominating petition containing at least 100 valid signatures.

Although 11 candidates are listed at municipal offices as having picked up nominating petitions, only four have filed so far for spots on the Nov. 8 ballot for the council, mayoral and municipal judge races.

Mayor George Freeman has filed for re-election as mayor, seeking a third term. Judge Patricia Schneider will seek her first elected term as municipal judge, and incumbent Frederick Lovell and contender Paul Beaupre have filed for spots on the council.

Incumbent councilmen William Wilson and Robert Novitke, whose terms expire this year, have picked up nominating petitions but have yet to file them with the city, according to Woods officials.

Candidates who filed, at a glance, are:

PATRICIA SCHNEIDER, of Canterbury Road. Judge Schneider was appointed by council to the judgeship last September following the June death of J. Patrick Denis, who was found dead in the courtroom.

Mrs. Schneider has served as a deputy defender in the Wayne County Legal Aid and Defenders Office prior to her appointment. She also spent 10 years with the Grosse Pointe public schools as a substitute teacher and adult ed. (Continued on Page 2A)

Teachers report to work under tentative pact

By Susan McDonald

Marathon bargaining over the Labor Day weekend produced a tentative agreement early Tuesday morning between the Board of Education and the Grosse Pointe Education Association, averting a strike scheduled to begin Tuesday, Sept. 6.

As a result, school began on time for some 7,400 students yesterday morning.

Neither school board nor union representatives would release details of the tentative, two-year pact until its terms have been presented to some 500 teachers and school board trustees. A controversial management proposal to increase teachers' workday by 45 minutes was reportedly dropped from the final package.

Teachers were scheduled to meet at 4 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 7, to hear the terms of the agreement. A ratification vote will be scheduled within a few weeks, union president Curt Lange said.

The school board and union leaders began bargaining in June and, as of last week, 40 unresolved issues still separated the groups. Among the major disputes were the increased workday proposal, school board efforts to achieve cost containment on fringe benefits, and language protecting teachers if the board should decide to close certain school buildings. Neither team released any specific information about economic proposals.

Teachers met last week and voted to authorize a "job action," or strike, to begin Sept. 6 if a contract settlement was not reached before teachers were scheduled to return to work. About 78 percent of the teachers approved the job action by a vote of 282 to 81, according to Lange.

With the threatened strike in mind, negotiating teams met all day Thursday through Sunday at school board offices on St. Clair Avenue to hammer out a settlement. They resumed bargaining at 10 a.m. Monday morning and initiated an agreement at 6:30 a.m. Tuesday morning, according to school board spokesman Bruce Kefgen.

The last time Grosse Pointe teachers walked a picket line was in 1969, when they struck for one and a half days.

Grosse Pointe teachers are members of Local I, an umbrella organization of the Michigan Education Association including school districts in Macomb County and Grosse Pointe. Officials of Local I were scheduled to review and okay local teachers' tentative agreement late Tuesday afternoon.

Work begins on Park streets this week

By Susan McDonald

At least five streets in the Park will be resurfaced during the current construction season as part of a $1 million street repair program funded with a loan from the state. The other eight streets scheduled for resurfacing under the program will probably not be worked on until next spring, according to Public Service Director James Ellison.

He declined to specify last week which streets would get attention first, saying that workers need to study the condition of streets and their bases before a determination is made. He said the city is aiming to do the worst first.

A citizen committee headed by John Fildew and including Charles Roarty, a civil engineer, and bond attorney John Axe, last week recommended the contract for resurfacing be given to Thompson-McCully, a Belleville, Mich., firm. Thompson was the lowest of five bidders on the "alternative" process, which the committee said may be used on many streets. The alternative procedure involves milling the road surface, as opposed to stripping the existing surface, and laying a thicker top, Fildew said. It is substantially cheaper than the usual resurfacing technique, but will not be applicable to all the Park's roads.

Thompson's bid was almost $785,500, which compared to a high bid from Ajax of $861,392 for the alternative method. Bids for the usual type of resurfacing ranged from Ajax's high of $1,390,345 to Stolaruk's low of $992,391.

All the bids are estimates and the cost of the project may rise before it is completed, the city's Ellison cautioned. "We are not sure what conditions exist under some of these streets," Ellison said. "Some have solid concrete base. Others are brick streets that were resurfaced years ago, and some are wood block."

Streets included in the program are Beaconsfield, Bishop, Somerset, Grayton, Kensington, Yorkshire, Devonshire, Audubon, Windmill Pointe Drive, Cadieux, Maumee, Charlevoix and Vernor.

The state funds are a loan with an interest rate to the city of 9.65 percent, to be paid from gas and weight tax revenues that the Park receives from the state. Payments will be about $128,000 a year.

While the city hopes to make substantial improvements to roads in the Park with the program, it will fall far short of resurfacing all the streets that are in poor condition, according to city surveys. The city estimated that 19 of its 36 miles of roads are in poor condition and, at a recent council meeting, Mayor Douglas Graham reminded administrators that "we definitely must do more." To that end, the city has applied for a Economic Development Administration grant from the federal government. The Department of Commerce notified the city recently that a decision on that $1 million award will be made by Sept. 19.

The road repairs were a major issue in the primary campaign for city council last month. City Manager John Crawford received notification that the state loan and been approved on election day. The city's streets have been neglected for several years as the municipal budget became strapped, gas and weight tax revenues declined, and costs of maintaining and protecting the trees that line city streets increased.

Closing plan dominates tax hearing

The Board of Education's controversial plan to close schools because of enrollment declines dominated its hearing last week on a proposed 9.9 percent tax increase for the 1983-84 year.

Residents jammed school headquarters and demanded to know why the system is proposing such a large tax hike when school closings are also on the agenda.

Under state law, the district is required to hold a public hearing if taxes will increase in the coming year. The board is expected to adopt its proposed 30.88 mill tax rate at a meeting on Sept. 12, at 8 p.m. at South High School. (A mill equals $1 for every $1,000 of state equalized valuation of property). A typical homeowner's tax bill will increase about $140 next year if the new rate is adopted.

The tax hike is necessary, school officials maintain, because there was no increase last year. The system used up its reserves and now needs new money to operate the district through 1983-84.

Christian Scientists face parents' lawsuit

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Hearings began this week in Wayne County Circuit Court in a three-year-old lawsuit filed against the First Church of Christ, Scientist and two of its practitioners by the parents of a 16-month-old child who died after unsuccessful treatment by the church's practitioners.

Attorneys for Douglas and Rita Swan, former Park residents whose son Matthew died in 1977 of spinal meningitis, say the case against the Christian Scientist Church may be the first of its kind ever filed.

The lawsuit stems from the death of the Swan's child in June, 1977. The Swans, life-long Christian Scientists, called on the services of two church practitioners after their son contracted what was later diagnosed as spinal meningitis.

The Christian Science faith holds that healing is not miraculous intervention but the natural result of spiritual awakening, according to church literature. This view shares with modern psychosomatic medicine an insight into the relationship between the mind, body and spirit, according to the church.

An illness is treated by practitioners, church members who have devoted themselves fully to a ministry of Christian healing, the church said. A practitioner completes a two week course of intensive theological or spiritual instruction before being listed by the church.

Exceptions to Christian healing include the setting of broken bones, having doctors present at childbirth, dental care, optometric care and relief of temporary severe pain through use of hypodermics.

In a June, 1982 interview, the Swans contended that their lifelong involvement with the Christian Science Church prevented them from seeking medical help for their child because the church emphasizes spiritual rather than medical treatment.

After 12 days and the services of two practitioners, the Swans said they took their son Matthew to St. John Hospital on the pretext the child may have a broken neck. After emergency neurosurgery to relieve abscesses in the child's brain and a week in intensive care, Matthew died.

The Swans broke away from the Christian Science faith and later decided to file suit against the church along with fighting for legislative changes that would require both parents and non-medical practitioners to seek medical attention when a child is involved in an illness.

Michigan law now reads that in response to a complaint alleging a child is without medical care "necessary for the minor's physical health," parents can say they are seeking non-medical treatment recognized or permitted under the state law in the "legitimate practice of religious beliefs." This exempts the parents (Continued on Page 2A)

Greek parishioners set blood drive

The Detroit area Greek Orthodox community is banding together for the first time to sponsor a community blood drive organized by one of its parishioners.

A member of the St. George Greek Orthodox Church in Bloomfield Hills whose son requires blood products on a regular basis, decided to plan a blood drive after learning of a blood shortage earlier this summer.

According to Chris Jones, Southeastern Michigan Red Cross Blood Services regional representative, "instead of blaming the system, she decided to get involved."

The drive is open to the public and will be held on Monday, Sept. 12, from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. at several locations including, Assumption Greek Orthodox Church, 21800 Marter Road (779-6111).

Children's Theater auditions begin Friday

Grosse Pointe Children's Theater will launch its very special 30th anniversary season on Friday, Sept. 9, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore.

Enrollment for new students of grade school age will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. in the Veteran's Room of the center. Interviews for junior high, high school and college age students will be held on Saturday, Sept. 10 from noon to 2:30 p.m.

Sally Reynolds, director and producer of Grosse Pointe Children's Theater for the past 30 years, has her Bachelor's degree in theater from Michigan State University and her Master's from Wayne State University. Hundreds of students of all ages have been a part of the history of the Children's Theater and many have gone on into professional careers in theater with two, Ed Hermann and David Scala, now appearing in Broadway productions. Aside from appearing in full-scale productions students have the opportunity to appear in workshop shows and to travel with presentations. Students, aside from appearing on stage receive training in the backstage elements of theater.

Classes are for beginning and advanced students and are arranged according to age and experience. Sessions last an hour and a half each week for 12 weeks and include training in creative drama, mime, stage movement, singing, voice and diction, creative dance, characterization, monologues and preparation for auditions for professional theater and television including compiling a resume.

The season will be made up of four major productions with mini-shows. Two of the full-scale productions include musical versions of "The Wizard of Oz" and "Annie."

Mrs. John Mazer is musical director. She has her Master's degree in music from Wayne State University.

Many special functions will be a part of the 30th anniversary year. This will include a reunion and dinner dance along with professional entertainment.

Anyone interested in assisting in production work such as choreography, choral, scenic design and painting, set construction, costuming, assistant directing, publicity and promotion may send information to Grosse Pointe Children's Theater, Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore, Grosse Pointe Farms, 48236. For further information on Children's Theater call 881-7511 or 885-6219. The theater is also looking for rehearsal space. To help, call 885-6219.

Closing plan dominates hearing

ing. "(The money) will maintain the school system this year."

Maire school PTO president Bill Brownscombe asked the board to break down the 9.9 percent tax increase for residents. Maire school is one of three elementary schools targeted for closing under a new, revised school reorganization plan.

Schools' business manager Christian Fenton pointed out 5 percent of the 9.9 percent hike will retire bonds for improvements to the school system, which were approved by local voters in 1965, 1966, 1971 and 1978. Fenton said those improvements included construction at North High School, an addition to South High School, and swimming pools at Parcels, Pierce and Brownell.

Fenton added the biggest part of the school system's budget goes to salaries for teachers and other school personnel.

"Sixty-eight percent of our budget is for salaries," Fenton said. "The hike is necessary because of no tax increase last year."

A Park man accused the board of "giving away the store to the teachers," apparently unhappy with past settlements between the board and educators.

"I want to know how much of the 9.9 percent tax increase will go to teachers," the man asked.

"We have quite adequate salaries and quite adequate fringe benefits," the Park man continued. "Some of us here don't even have those (salaries and fringe benefits)." His comments drew applause from the audience.

Supt. Brummel said there had been "some money" set aside for an increase in teachers' pay this year, but declined to say what the figure may be. Business manager Fenton earlier said that for every percentage increase given to teachers this contract year, taxpayers can also expect an additional six-tenths of a percent increase on their tax bills this December.

Although it is a millage roll-back, the proposed tax hike will bring about $3 million more into the school system, leaving the district with about a $1.2 million surplus next June. It will cost the average taxpayer about $100 more.

nacon instructor. The mother of four and a 20-year resident of the Woods, Mrs. Schneider is a member of numerous professional and community organizations.

GEORGE FREEMAN, of Briarcliff, is seeking his third term as mayor. Freeman, 58, recently left A.J. Obie & Associates of Southfield to join Offerman & Co., Inc. of Mack Avenue in the Woods, as a financial consultant.

The father of five and a grandfather, Freeman also holds a position with the Michigan Municipal League.

FREDERICK LOVELACE, of Hawthorne Road, is seeking reelection to his second term on the council. Lovelace has served as chairman of the city's Finance Committee for the last two years and also was chairman of the city's Historical Commission.

Married and the father of two sons, Lovelace, 34, works for CNA Insurance. He has been a resident of the city for six years.

PAUL BEAUPRE, of Oxford Road, will make his first try at elected office. A native Pointer, Beaupre, 33, is secretary of Plum Brook Land Co. and general manager of Plum Brook Golf Club. The father of two sons, Beaupre has lived in the Woods since 1976.

His candidacy for council is "a chance to give something back to the community," Beaupre said. "My family, the Beaupres, have been in the Grosse Pointes for more than 100 years."

Warmup entertainers who get the audience ready for the star tend to work to the women. Make the ladies giggle, they say, and you'll soon put the whole crowd into a laughing mood.

from proceedings against them.

The Swans said they will contribute a majority of the award should they win the case to a charity in Matthew's name.

While this is the first such case to be filed against the Christian Science Church, attorneys for the Swans say the issues involved are no different from those raised by recent incidents of child deaths caused by their parents' belief in cult religions.

Attorneys Sharon Lutz and David Christensen, partners with Charfoos, Christensen, Gilbert & Archer, will argue the case, which alleges the church and practitioners showed negligence and misrepresentation by discouraging the Swans from seeking medical attention that might have saved the child's life.

Scout car hit by drunk driver

A 34-year-old Roseville man was issued a ticket for drunk driving after the car he was driving rammed a Grosse Pointe Woods scout car in Harper Woods last week.

Woods public safety officers John DeLora and Paul Schuster were unhurt. The Roseville man was taken to St. John Hospital for a blood sample and observation because of a bump on his head.

According to reports, DeLora and Schuster were on patrol early Wednesday morning, Aug. 31, along westbound Vernier. The car turned onto southbound Canton, intending to head back into the Woods when DeLora spotted two cars stopped along Vernier just west of Canton.

One car pulled in front of the scout car, and the driver said, "I think something's wrong with the driver of that car," reports said.

The Roseville man, driving a 1977 Ford two-door, then pulled away from the right curb, cut over to the left lane and jumped the median, accelerating toward the Woods scout car. Because of the car in front of them, Schuster and DeLora were unable to pull out of the way of the oncoming car, reports said.

The car struck the right rear side of the scout car. DeLora and Schuster got out of their car and pulled the other driver from his vehicle. A scuffle ensued, and the two officers, with the help of Harper Woods police, were able to handcuff the man.

The Roseville man was taken to St. John Hospital, Harper Woods police said. A blood sample was taken, but no blood alcohol content level was released. The man was released at 4 a.m. pending observation because of a bump he had on his forehead, Harper Woods police said.

St. Paul locates founder's grave

Dozens of persons gathered under overcast skies last week as efforts got under way at St. Paul Cemetery to locate the gravesite of Father John Elsen, founder and builder of present day St. Paul Church on Lakeshore. Church officials at St. Paul decided to locate the grave to properly honor the man who built the church, which will celebrate its 150 anniversary next year. Efforts to locate the grave were hampered by rain initially, but archaeologists Charles Martinez and Karen Krepps, who contributed their time to the project, did locate the grave later the following day. Here, St. Paul Sexton Joseph Belanger oversees the intensive search into the consecrated soil of St. Paul Cemetery. Exchanging a word with Monsignor Francis X. Canfield, Pastor of St. Paul, is Wilbert Champagne who was born in a house located at Ridge Road and Moross. Champagne reported seeing Fr. Elsen's grave as a boy marked by a white, wooden picket fence and a wooden cross. Among the onlookers were several children who didn't know what exactly was going on, but felt it was worth a look-see. The funeral service for Fr. Elsen, who died in 1899, were the first formal services held in the church he built but never lived to see completed.

Man shot to death in Woods

A 29-year-old Warren man died Sunday night of a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the head in what Woods police are calling an unfortunate shooting accident.

Armed in the rear yard a short distance from the house, bleeding from the right side of his head. Other guests at the party were administering CPR, reports said.

According to witnesses, Zmudczynski was joking with friends and toying with the weapon. He reportedly cocked the weapon and placed it to his head when the weapon discharged.

Woods police are still investigating the shooting, saying there are conflicting reports from witnesses about what happened just before the accident occurred. The incident is classified as an accidental shooting, they said.

Woods police were called to a party on Pear Tree on a report of a shooting. Arriving officers found Zmudczynski lying on the concrete in the rear yard a short distance from the house, bleeding from the right side of his head. Other guests at the party were administering CPR, reports said.

Michael L. Miller, D.O., of Grosse Pointe Farms, has been appointed to the staff of the department of pathology at the Harper Hospital Division of Harper-Grace Hospitals.

Dr. Miller, a native of Mansfield, Ohio, will be responsible for developing all aspects of immunohistochemistry and will also direct the coagulation laboratory.

"Chinese Symbolism" will be the topic of Mrs. Garvin Bawden's lecture Thursday, Sept. 15, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the War Memorial.

Mrs. Bawden, an interior designer, will give her audience a basic and workable understanding of oriental symbols and how they came about in Oriental philosophy, religion and daily life. The purpose of the class is to give people a greater appreciation for Oriental art, furnishings, porcelains, rugs and fabric design.

"Chinese Export Porcelains" will give area residents an opportunity to see first-hand the finest collection of porcelains in Michigan, as well as extraordinary English, Oriental and Dutch antique furniture. Those who register for this gallery visit will meet at Mildred Friedman's Gallery at 300 S. Main in Royal Oak, Thursday, Sept. 22, at 10:30 a.m.

Mrs. Friedman will give the group a personal tour through the gallery. She will discuss various pieces and encourage questions. This lecture is limited to 30 people.

The lectures are $6 each or $10 for both.

Uplift the basement with the new Pella Sunroom Walkout.

Perhaps the ultimate remodeling challenge is the basement. There's nothing basically wrong with basements - it's just that they're too dark, gloomy and stuffy. Here's the solution. It's the new Pella Sunroom Walkout that combines energy-efficient Pella Skylights and, as shown here, Pella Contemporary French Sliding Glass Doors. And what was once almost a dungeon has now been uplifted into a place that's actually liveable! Properly oriented, insulated, and ventilated, the Sunroom Walkout could have considerable passive solar benefits as well.

Crisis in the schools

These are the times that try the souls of school board members, teachers, parents and other residents of the Grosse Pointe School District.

As the Labor Day weekend approached, the district was wrestling with three major problems affecting the school system: the threat of a teachers strike that would delay the opening of school, the proposed 9.9 percent increase in the property tax levy for the current year and a final decision on closing several school buildings in 1984. They add up to a feeling that this is a time of crisis in the school system.

THE TEACHERS ARE unhappy with the school board's proposal to increase the teachers' workday by 45 minutes and by the board's failure to spell out in the contract the provisions for teachers who would be displaced by any school closings. Altogether, at the weekend there were still about 45 outstanding issues on the bargaining table, according to Curt Lange, president of the Grosse Pointe Education Association. They include both economic and noneconomic issues, although Lange said the latter were among the most important.

With the teachers claiming little or no progress on the issues, the teachers' union voted by a 282 to 81 margin not to report for work this week unless the contract disputes were settled. The teachers were scheduled to report Tuesday and classes were to resume Wednesday but whether the strike would take place could not be ascertained in advance.

Serious as the strike threat was, the proposed 9.9 percent increase in property taxes posed a major problem for the school board, too. It was clear at last week's public hearing on the issue that many taxpayers found it difficult to understand the reason for the increase, in view of the continuing decline in enrollment and the board's plan to close several elementary schools in 1984.

The board's response was that the levy being considered will raise revenues for the current fiscal year which runs from July 1 to June 30, 1984, and that no schools are scheduled to be closed even under the tentative plans being discussed until the fall of 1984. So any potential savings from school closings would not be realized until the 1984-85 fiscal year starting next July 1.

In addition, the board said that because there was no increase in the school tax last year, the district's surplus was almost exhausted, a 9.4 percent increase was needed to keep pace with increases in salaries and supplies, and another one-half of a percent was required to retire bonds issued for school improvements.

Some members of the audience were concerned about school closings and especially by the threat to property values they see resulting from any abandonment of the neighborhood school concept. This argument is popular with parents whose children attend the schools targeted for closing.

IT IS OBVIOUS there are no easy answers to any of these problems. Yet it is also obvious that they are interrelated. For example, one of the sticking points in the board's negotiations with the teachers involves the union's request for contract language to protect teachers in schools designated for closing. Another example is the concern of residents about a proposed 9.9 percent increase in the school tax even as enrollment continues to decline and the plans move forward for closing school buildings. The fact that none of the proposed closings would occur in the life of the current budget is a difficult one to get across to the public.

Overall, however, the board already has made a decision to close some schools next year on the grounds that it is uneconomical and detrimental to quality education to operate schools and classes at minimal levels or below. Some parents are banding together to oppose any closings for fear they will destroy the neighborhood school concept. But Grosse Pointe is still dedicated to the neighborhood schools, as it was when it had fewer school buildings and a higher enrollment than it has now.

The board is making its best efforts to solve these major problems and it deserves the sympathy and the support of the public. The Grosse Pointe News has supported the concept of quality education as well as the tentative plan to close four elementary schools. Despite the criticism by some parents, those concepts are not contradictory, in our view, and, indeed, closing of schools can be and has been justified by school administrators to protect and preserve quality education.

WHILE SOME PARENTS scoff at the savings to be made by school closing, such actions ought to help control and possibly even reverse the upward trend in school taxes that is being resumed this year with the operation of a full complement of schools. And while it is disappointing that the teachers and the board were not able to settle their differences without the taking of a strike vote, we can all hope for an early solution that the teachers, the board and the taxpayers can live with during the coming year.

Postscript: While it is encouraging that, since this was written, the teachers and Board of Education have reached a tentative contract agreement that apparently will avert a strike, these two other issues will continue to threaten the schools.

Hope for Michigan's future

Always alert to the opportunity to share accounts of how others see us in the Pointes, we call your attention this week to an excerpt from "The Book of America," a kind of sequel to John Gunther's "Inside U.S.A.," which offers the following profile of the Pointes:

"Curving along the shore of Lake St. Clair northeast of the city (of Detroit) in a compact strip of privilege are the Grosse Pointes, five locales (total population 52,009) for the creme de la creme of Detroit society. Home to the 'autostracy' and other 'old money' families, the Pointes in recent years have opened the door enough to admit lesser corporate executives along with young professional families."

THAT DESCRIPTION perpetuates the stereotype of the Pointes to some extent, but, to the credit of authors Neal R. Peirce and Jerry Hagstrom, it also indicates that the Pointes are changing. In their 24-page chapter on Michigan, appropriately headed "An industrial behemoth falls on hard times, the authors suggest that the state, too, will have to change to meet the challenges of the future.

"With its riches and opportunities, Michigan never should have let Detroit 'happen,' or for that matter let Lansing or Flint happen quite the way they did," the authors wrote. "In race, housing, regional governance, Michigan is a disappointment. For too long, men of much wealth but little sensitivity held the ultimate power in Michigan. They lacked foresight and left it to the 1980s for all Michiganders to suffer the bitter consequences."

However, the authors see some hope for the future, contending that "Michigan may provide a more inspiring model in adversity than it did in prosperity." It finds reason for optimism in "Coleman Young's impressive outreach to find allies, within and without, to help rescue Detroit in its time of testing," in the state's efforts to formulate long-term economic revival strategies, the "unprecedented mutual survival pacts" between auto managements and unions, and other moves to speed research, improve government, and find strategies for job creation, resource development and economic diversification.

"IN TIMES PAST, nature and luck had endowed Michigan with sufficient riches to prosper as a world model of the adversarial economic system, a system brought to a fine science in the tensions of UAW-auto company negotiations," the authors went on. "The test of the future would be whether Michigan's leaders could cooperate as well for survival as they had previously clashed to see who would be richest. Should the new cooperative model succeed, there was even a chance, albeit one only hazily glimpsed from the vantage point of the early 1980s, that this state could one day be more than the sum of its parts."

Board puts burden on the Park

To the Editor:

I write to alert the citizens of the Pointes and particularly the citizens of Grosse Pointe Park as to the adverse impact I believe will result from the latest plan of the school board which provides, among other matters, for the closing of Maire Elementary and Pierce Middle Schools. I write as a former co-president of the Pierce PTO, a Park resident and candidate for Park council.

If these schools are closed it will mean as to the Park that two out of four schools which serve Park children through the eighth grade will be closed. In the present Maire district of the Park no child will have a "neighborhood school." Furthermore, in all areas of the Park if a child remains in the public school system through the eighth grade and resides at the same address in the Park he or she will probably ride a bus to school at either the elementary or middle school level or otherwise will have to obtain transportation from a parent or carpool.

The concept of the neighborhood proximity to a public school is seriously eroded and a significant number of children will be exposed to the inherent dangers of public (or private) transportation. I do not believe that the concept of quality education is enhanced by such a change.

The current plan rests upon the assumption that SEMTA will provide (or continue to provide) a new series of buses and routes to the area and charge a student fare. At a time when SEMTA is having serious financial difficulties and curtailing services elsewhere, it is difficult to imagine SEMTA making any commitment to the Pointes — let alone the long term commitment which would be necessary. The Board should not base the closing of any school upon the precarious assumption that appropriate public bus service will become or remain available.

I was disturbed to learn from Bruce Kefgen, spokesman for the school system, that the Board has no plan or commitment from SEMTA to provide any additional service prior to publication of this latest plan.

Assuming for the moment that bus service is available, the economic costs to the parents affected far outweigh the savings to the system and simply amount to a hidden tax. If the cost to ride one way is 50 cents (at current student rates) the cost to ride both ways for 180 school days is $180. The savings of the entire new program to a homeowner whose house is valued at $100,000 will be only $37 per year (based upon official school system figures) and this saving is predicated upon the school system totally divesting itself with the costs of the closed buildings. If those buildings remain on the school system's books, the cost savings are far less. We are being asked to trade, in essence, the concept of neighborhood schools for $37 per year!

The impact of these changes adversely affect every homeowner in the Park regardless of whether the homeowner has children in public or private school or no children in school. Every area of the Park in particular and the Pointes in general which will now require transportation of children will suffer to the benefit of those areas where neighborhood schools are preserved.

There are public meetings on this matter which I urged Park citizens and all other concerned citizens to attend. The meeting for Pierce Middle School is scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 15, at 7:30 p.m. at Pierce and the meeting as to Maire Elementary is scheduled for Monday, Sept. 19, at 7:30 p.m. at Maire.

I trust that the Board will give this matter its careful and earnest consideration.

School plan called 'devastating'

To the Editor:

As a fairly new resident of the Pointes, having moved here in 1977 because of, among other factors, the perceived superior quality of the Grosse Pointe schools, I am amazed at what I see taking place under the banner of "quality" education. Forgive me if I missed something but it seems to this casual observer that early in the summer the superintendent of schools proposed closing certain schools which he perceived to have inadequate student population and invited comments from concerned groups in the community.

Apparently the criticism of the plan to the administration and the school board was loud and shrill from the groups whose ox was being gored, for the next thing we learn is that a new better plan has emerged from a two day "retreat" of the board at the St. Clair Inn.

This new plan, which only a politician could say did not result from the community protest, gerrymanders school districts at the elementary level to close full neighborhood schools in favor of having 5 year olds walk more than a mile to presently half-full "anchor" schools. I am afraid that I just cannot understand this action. It seems to me that the potential effect on the property values in the central areas of Grosse Pointe is devastating. In rebuttal, the board cites examples of Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills. A thousand pardons, but I grew up in Birmingham Hills and work in Bloomfield Hills and the one essential factor that is missing in this equation is that those districts have school busses.

Certainly Grosse Pointe schools have a population problem. One real problem is that in the very near future, we will have two half-full high schools. One derivative problem from that is the middle school problem in that you have 7th and 8th graders rattling around in buildings designed to house 7-9. Rather than face these facts, the board has taken the path of least resistance and pitted the parents of the little kids against each other in a giant face off, with the winners taking all, and the losers facing the hard decisions as to what to do rather than have their children walk over a mile to school.

Surely the elected school board can do better than this. David K. Easlick, Jr.

Mack merchants thank county

To the Editor:

The officers, directors and members of the Grosse Pointe Business and Professional Association of Mack Avenue, Inc. want to express our appreciation for the care and attention being given to the grass in the median on Mack Avenue between Cadieux Road and Grosse Pointe Woods.

We expressed our concern in a recent letter to the Wayne County Road Commission. It is our intention not only to draw attention to concerns of ours but to express appreciation for "getting the job done."

In the name of public safety, prevention of accidents, and injury along Mack Avenue, we say "thank you!"

Dr. Edward G. Kane,
President,
Mack Avenue Business and Professional Assoc.

Thanks for the memories, Park

To the Editor:

I take this way to say "thank you" to all the people of Grosse Pointe Park and especially to the people in the Berkshire and Balfour area for their kindness to me and my family since 1962.

It was my pleasure to serve you and yours. I tried to take care of your mail as though it were, mine and I hope I did a good job at it.

I am retiring as of Sept. 2 after 35-and-a-half years of service with the Post Office. It was my privilege to know you and hope that I shall always be remembered.

Take tough stand in teacher talks

To the Editor:
I note in the Aug. 25 Grosse Pointe News that teachers feel that increasing the work day by 45 minutes and the work year by two days is "unrealistic." Isn't it time that the teachers woke up and entered the 20th Century?

I will admit that 20 years ago, teachers were underpaid. However, they have made great progress in the past 20 years. Even if they worked 52 weeks a year they would be adequately paid and, considering that they only work 36 weeks with 16 weeks paid vacation, they are more than adequately paid. In fact, in many cases, they are overpaid. In addition, they have benefits that are second to none — dental, optical, prescription drug plan and retirement.

In your June 23 edition, union president (Curt) Lange laments the fact that over the past two years teachers only received a 17 percent increase instead of the possible 20 percent, due to a decrease in the cost of living index. Isn't that a shame. Most people in this community were faced with reduced wages, wage freezes or, if they were lucky, maybe a three percent a year increase. It appears that the teachers are not even aware that we are just coming out of a depression.

I, for one, feel that teachers should work year around. I resent the fact that anyone in this community should have to pay to attend night classes or summer school. If the schools were staffed year around there would be many benefits to the community. There is an old saying that you shouldn't be forced to perpetuate your mistakes. Employing teachers for 36 weeks and paying them for 52 weeks is a mistake. Just because it has always been done this way, doesn't mean it must be continued.

I am sure that there are many dedicated teachers; I am equally sure that there are many in the education field because they enjoy the 10 days off at Christmas, the week off at Easter and the three months off in the summer.

I strongly suggest and hope that the negotiators for the school board stick to their guns. It is time to take a tough stand in teacher negotiations.

Letters

The News welcomes letters to the editor from our readers. Letters should be signed with a name, address and telephone number at which the writer can be reached during the day in case there are questions. Names of letter writers will be withheld under special circumstances only.

Address letters to Editor, Grosse Pointe News, 99 Kercheval, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. 48236.

The past is prologue

By Senator John Kelly
The rich history of the Grosse Pointes is a binding element to what could otherwise be an easily atomized residential community. A sense of history provides esteem, identity, a recognition of previous contributions and a timelessness to dwellings where families raise their children and live out their lives. Without it, our municipalities would be indistinguishable utilitarian units without personality or civic pride.

The problem is compounded, however, in a city like Detroit. Even though it shares its history with the Grosse Pointes in terms of early settlers, previous township affiliations and mutual heritage, this sense of history has been minimized in recent years. To rekindle that spirit and to continue building upon our recognition that the future of the Pointes and Detroit are intertwined, was one of the prime motivations behind the organization of the Eastern Wayne County Historical Society.

Citizens who are interested in joining this fledgling society can look forward to an exciting, activist organization. The EWCHS will be organized around the particular subcommunities that lie within the area east of Woodward as well as functional groups dealing with historic designations, artifact and photographic collection, oral history and restoration of historic sights. The society will focus its suborganizations around committees like the old Grosse Pointe Township (much of the eastside of Detroit), and the little villages of the eastside like Fairview and Leesville.

The first meeting was held at the Park Place Cafe and drew an avid core of dedicated historians who readily volunteered to get the EWCHS on its way. Tentative officers were selected and will begin an organization drive shortly.

Individuals who have a contribution to make to these or other topics may direct a letter outlining their interests to the organizing committee care of: Vera VanDeGraaf, EWCHS, 16723 East Warren, Detroit, Mich. 48224. The next general membership meeting will be held in October and a notice will be provided through this newspaper.

Since arthritis is one of the most prevalent ailments that afflict older people, it seemed that it would be profitable to give some time and study to it.

After perusing various books on arthritis, I found one of the clearest and most concise book on the subject was "Arthritis, A Comprehensive Guide," by James F. Fries (Addison-Wesley).

It is a paperback that is arranged in an encyclopedia style that makes it easy to dip into and find illuminating discussions of particular types of arthritis, the benefits and side effects of certain drugs and the value of exercise in relieving arthritis.

Each chapter is divided into subject paragraphs, clearly defined in bold-faced type which again is helpful if the reader is checking on a particular aspect of the disease.

Dr. Fries knows his subject. He is director of the Stanford University Arthritis Clinic and Director of the American Rheumatism Association Medical Information System.

While he admits that arthritis cannot be cured, he also assures the reader that it can be helped. He has no patience with those who contend that little beyond the relief of pain can be accomplished.

He tells the reader that it is crucial that each individual assume greater responsibility for their health. He also contends that the medical consumer has a right to know and that dependable sources are needed.

As for exercise he believes that the body lasts longer when it is used and ages more rapidly with disuse. This is just as true of joints as it is of cardiac and muscular fitness.

He writes that there is a parallel between arthritis and pathological aging. If arthritis is regarded as continual pain and decreased function, it can cause people to retreat from independent life and social interaction.

Within the framework of these points, Dr. Fries proceeds to discuss the different kinds of arthritis and what kind of treatment works at home.

The author begins his book on an optimistic note by telling readers that they have more control over their arthritis or rheumatism than they thought.

He writes; "Probably more progress has been made against arthritis than in the struggle against cancer, heart disease and diabetes. You can benefit from these advances."

He goes on to assure us that the battle against certain forms of arthritis is nearly won. We are told that rheumatoid arthritis is under attack from a number of promising new treatments.

Gout now yields readily to treatment. Systemic lupus erythematosus is now successfully managed. New surgical advances, such as joint replacement, often prove dramatically helpful. Genetic factors have been identified for many kinds of arthritis and our understanding of the molecular basis for joint disease is increasing rapidly.

The important point that we should recognize is that every arthritis patient is different. A patient looking for help should not be discouraged easily. Many patients undergo several kinds of treatment before the right one is found.

Although there are something like 109 kinds of arthritis, actually they fall into eight categories which are described and shown in charts and tables in such a manner that makes it easy for readers to identify which type they have.

It should be mentioned at this point that Dr. Fries does not say that this book takes the place of seeing a doctor. Instead he writes: "It will help you to understand your arthritis and your doctor's treatments and it may provide you with more detailed explanation than your doctor has time to give."

After describing the eight major categories of arthritis, the author writes a detailed description of the symptoms, possible relief and prognosis.

He then goes on to methods of managing your arthritis because much of the patient's treatment depends on their own willingness to combat the disease.

In arthritis a defense mechanism is pain. Pain can tell you that you are overusing an injured joint. Animals do very well with arthritis because they let pain guide their arthritis.

If pain becomes worse with exercise, you are overusing an injured joint and you should discontinue the activity. Another caution. Don't blunt the pain sensation with pain medication, if possible. You need the advice of this unpleasant sensation. Another defense mechanism is fatigue. It also can advise you on what activity to pursue.

There are benefits and drawbacks to exercise. The bones react to exercise and to weight bearing by growing stronger. The body absorbs more calcium deposits in the bones and creates thicker and sturdier support structures. It builds muscles and creates muscle tone. The tendons and ligaments get stronger when they are used.

The other aspect is that the patients with inflammation will make it worse with exercise. In that instance exercise should be limited to levels that do not increase pain and more inflammation.

Along with exercise, rest is also advised by doctors. This is not a contradiction of terms. The point is to exercise but rest when you are tired or it hurts.

When it comes to diet, Dr. Fries contends there is no special diet for arthritis except in cases of gout. "Think about it," he says. "You didn't eat any differently before you had your arthritis." He recommends a balanced moderate diet.

When it comes to the subject of drugs, the book goes into detail on various medications, what they can do and the side effects which some may cause. It is a very useful discussion because, as Dr. Fries writes; "The interview with your doctor is an intensive experience. All too frequently discussion of the prescribed treatment serves as a quick end to the encounter — too little time for such an important subject. In this chapter, the discussion you have been having with your doctor is repeated. Reread if you forget."

As far as surgery for arthritis, Dr. Fries advises that it is a major step and a decision should be made between the patient and the doctor. But he does offer guidelines to sort out issues. Hip replacement, he believes, is a marvelous operation in the hands of an experienced surgeon but other joint replacements are a little more complicated.

He offers guidelines as to when and how often tests for arthritis are advisable as well as warnings against "ducks who quack," i.e. practitioners who promise a quick easy cure for arthritis. The best advice, according to Dr. Fries, for those who are interested in preventing arthritis is to, "Keep fit, control your weight, and protect your joints."

Discussions of general problems, such as stiffness in the morning, and specific problems, such as allergies, are included as well as an Arthritis Status test that is used by Arthritic centers.

Dr. Fries' book is a valuable source of reference to anyone who suffers from arthritis. It also provides the incentive and encouragement that patients need.

Pointers appointed to age committee

At least four Grosse Pointes have joined a 27-member committee to develop materials, provide technical assistance and consultation techniques in services to the aged in Wayne County, according to Grosse Pointe City resident James P. Curran, director of the Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Board.

The project, called "Building Ties," is a joint effort of the Michigan Offices of Services to the Aging and the Area Agencies on Aging Association in Michigan. Funding comes through a 12-month federal research grant and is spread over 13 pilot agencies in Michigan.

The committee, appointed by Curran, includes Margherita Allardice, director of Adult Service Centers; Edward Allardice, executive director of Wel-Being Services for Aging; and Jonathan York, director of the Northeast Guidance Community Mental Health Center.

Members of the committee represent a cross-section of professionals working in mental health, aging, social services, hospitals, universities and substance abuse programs. They will work to raise

Television host opens Baha'i series

The Baha'is of Grosse Pointe are planning a series of informal discussions centered on the teachings of the Baha'i faith. Each meeting will feature a guest speaker followed by a question and answer session.

The first fireside is scheduled for Friday, Sept. 9, at 7:30 p.m. at 316 Kerby in Grosse Pointe Farms. Christa Suggs, hostess of the weekly cable television program, The Baha'i Faith, Something to Believe In, will be guest speaker. Refreshments will be served. The public is invited to attend.

'Men Are Just Desserts'

Sonya Friedman to speak at Center

Do you believe in love at first sight, that you're no one until somebody loves you, that you can marry a man to protect him from himself, to cure him, or to change him?

Then, according to Dr. Sonya Friedman, you have adopted society's myths without fully considering them.

Learn photography

A photography course for beginners, taught by James Gibb, will be held at the War Memorial Tuesdays, from Sept. 13 to Nov. 15. The class will meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., and costs $60, which includes field trips.

Students will learn camera handling, lens openings, shutter speed, composition, depth of field, direct flash and time exposure.

Dr. Friedman will discuss these myths and other points made in her book "Men Are Just Desserts," Thursday, Sept. 15, at 7:30 p.m. at the War Memorial. Tickets are $8 each.

Dr. Friedman is a clinical psychologist known coast-to-coast for her television and radio shows and her extensive lecture circuit. She has been a correspondent with ABC-TV News and now hosts her own daily TV show, Sonya, on USA Cable, as well as a three-hour daily radio talk show for ABC in Detroit.

"In a world where women often feel they must make a choice between being themselves and being wives and mothers," Friedman contends, "you can have it all — yourself, your family, your career and your man."

The title of her book, "Men Are Just Desserts," was inspired by Friedman's philosophy that men are the "delicious final course at the feast of life for a woman who knows that she herself is the main course." Men, according to her book, are just desserts for a woman who has earned adult status, has the courage to be herself, to make her own choices and act upon them. Only through independence can she create a loving interdependence with the man who is right for her.

Tickets may be purchased in person or by mail at the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road in the Farms, 48236. The War Memorial requests that a self-addressed, stamped envelope be enclosed with reservation requests. For further details, call 881-7511.

Y-Indian sign-up next week

The 300-member YMCA Indian program has moved from Eastside jurisdiction to the Lakeshore district, which sponsors most other Grosse Pointe programs. The facilities will now be closer to home, at 9 Mile Road and East Jefferson in St. Lucy's Church, where many sports activities are offered and a weight room is open to members.

Linda Beakman, a Indian program leader, said the Eastside YMCA, located at 10100 Harper, will still welcome Pointers, but will no longer offer specific programs for the area.

Local youngsters between the ages of 5 and 9 interested in joining the Indian program are invited to register next Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 19 and 20, at 7 p.m. at South High School.

Indian program meetings are held once every two weeks for an hour. The meetings stress parent-child participation in crafts, games and field trips. During the course of a year, the program also offers optional events such as weekend campouts at nearby YMCA camps in heated cabins. Horseback riding, canoeing, fishing, archery, games and hikes are among the activities offered at the camps.

The cost of basic YMCA membership is $47, with a 20 percent discount for new members.

Four programs have organized: Indian Guides, for fathers and sons; Indian Braves, for mothers and sons; Indian Princesses, for fathers and daughters; and Indian Maidens, for mothers and daughters.

Sewer troubles anger Lochmoor residents

By Mike Andrzejczyk
A group of Lochmoor residents appeared before Shores trustees Tuesday morning, Aug. 30, with a two-quart jar of sludge and a request: Do something about the Lochmoor sewer so it doesn't back up into basements.
Residents complained they were plagued with the overflow from the combined storm and sanitary sewer line during the heavy rains last month. They asked the council to either clean the pipe and install stop valves on home leads or investigate the replacement of the current line with a larger pipe.
Howard Willett, who presented the jar of sludge to the trustees, said it has been a number of years since the Lochmoor sewer line has been cleaned out. In addition, he chided the trustees by saying that although all village workers know about the trouble with the line, the council has done little to alleviate the problem.
While other cities, most notably the Woods, have undertaken "aggressive" repair and maintenance programs for its streets, sewers and sidewalks, the village "is not taking care of the problem" on its streets, Willett said.
While Lochmoor residents have done what they could to ease the problem, it was time for the village to take some action, he added.

Representatives from the village's engineering firm of Hubbell, Roth & Clark, Inc. said they inspected the Lochmoor line in late July. They found that for most of its length, the sewer was partially obstructed by tree roots which could have contributed to the line backing up.
The sewer line, set between eight and 10 feet deep under a number of large trees in the area, is still structurally sound, company representatives said. One sink-hole was found around the line which probably represented a leak that would need to be repaired, they added.
The engineering company recommended the cleaning of the line to remove the tree roots which had grown into the line at seams in the pipe. The line should also be inspected for breaks and necessary repairs made, the company said. The cost of cleaning out the pipe would be about $6,800, they added.
The village could also consider putting in a new sewer which would be laid down the middle of the street to keep it clear of tree roots for at least a while, representatives said. Cost for the new sewer and street replacement would be about $90,000 they added.

There are a number of other contributing factors to the back-up of the sewer line, trustees and engineering representatives said. The Lochmoor line empties into the Lakeshore Interceptor, which carries the combined storm and sanitary sewage through a series of pumping stations to the Detroit Waste Water Treatment Plant downriver.
When the interceptor fills to capacity, it begins dumping directly in Lake St. Clair. It also causes sewage that is traveling from feeder pipes in streets to back up, Hubbell, Roth & Clark representatives said.

In addition, because of the high water table in the area and the depth of some of the basements in the area, the rising of the water can cause the flow in the sewer lines to reverse, trustees said. The installation of stop valves, that close when the flow begins to reverse, may not stop the problem because the hydraulic pressure that builds up in the line can force the valve open, reversing the flow into the home, trustees added.
After an hour of discussion and questions and answers from residents, the village council voted unanimously to have the Lochmoor sewer line cleaned and inspected, repaired if necessary as well as looking into the adequacy of the size of the present line.

Sign up for bridge today

The starting date of Beginners Bridge at the War Memorial has been moved up to today, Sept. 8, contrary to what is printed in the Center's activity card. The class will meet from 8 to 10 p.m. and is $30 for ten weeks.
According to Frank Welcenbach, instructor, the beauty in a game of American Standard Bridge lies in the "infinite variety of challenges which require fresh analysis and judgement with each hand. No two hands are ever the same."
Refresher Bridge will meet from Monday, Sept. 12 to Nov. 14, as scheduled, also from 8 to 10 p.m. This class will provide an hour of advanced instruction in the fine points of contract bridge, and one hour of play.

If a person has the rudiments of the game, Welcenbach advises that they sign up for the refresher course. However, he emphasizes that players should go into the class in which they feel the most comfortable. Transfers from one class to another once classes have begun are no problem.
Welcenbach adds, "The instructor will never scold a student. The purpose of the class is to provide instruction, encouragement and friendship."
Those who wish to attend tonight's beginners class may sign up at the front desk of the center prior to 8 p.m.

Clown Corps sets fund-raiser

If you missed last week's efforts by the Grosse Pointe Clown Corps to raise funds for muscular dystrophy at activities in Harper Woods and Grosse Pointe, you still have a chance to get in on the group's honey and jelly sale to benefit the Ann Arbor Burn Center.
The honey and jelly sale will be held Saturday, Sept. 24, at J.C. Penny's in the Pointe Plaza, according to Corps chairman Arthur Kuehnle.

The Corps is in desperate need of new members to replace those who have been graduated from high school and moved on to college. Anyone between the ages of 5 and 17 interested in joining the club can attend a new member registration Wednesday, Sept. 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the basement of the Woods Public Safety Building, 20025 Mack, or call Kuehnle at 881-8186.

Square dancing begins Sept. 12

A full complement of classes offered by the Department of Community Education of the Grosse Pointe Public School System begin on Monday, Sept. 12 and run for 10 weeks. The include a new, pay-as-you-go, simplified "Aerobic Dancing Workout" by Jacki Sorensen and a special class, "Vital Options 'Over Easy' Ages 55 and up."

Again this year the Department of Community Education will co-sponsor classes in "Square Dancing" and "Round Dancing" with the Grosse Pointe Council of Square Dance Clubs. These activities begin the week of Sept. 12.

A class in "Racewalking," conducted by Frank Alongi, has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 19, at North High School. The class will meet twice weekly for 10 weeks.

In addition, other sports, dance and exercise classes are slated to start in the early fall. These include an eight-week class in "Ballet" on Sept. 22, "Basketball" on Sept. 20, "Gym-Swim" on Sept. 14. Other popular classes which will be repeated this fall are "Tap Dancing," an eight-week class beginning Sept. 22, "Volleyball" offered on Monday and Thursday beginning Sept. 12, as well as two sections of "Yoga" on Tuesday and Thursday.

Another activity scheduled this fall is "Boating Safety," co-sponsored with the Grosse Pointe Power Squadron, beginning Sept. 19.

Tennis classes, co-sponsored with the Grosse Pointe Indoor Tennis Club start the week of Sept. 19.

An offering of special interest to those afflicted with arthritis is "Exercise for Arthritis" which will be held for eight weeks beginning Sept. 26.

A series of single-session dance classes, co-sponsored with the Derenosky Dance Quarter, will be held at Barnes School beginning Oct. 6. Offerings include sessions devoted to brush-up and review, the basics of the fast and slow waltz, jitterbug, foxtrot and polka.

Full information on enrollment procedures and fees is listed in the green flyer from the Department of Community Education which was delivered to residences in the school district in late August.

Call 343-2178 for further information.

Help for mental health care workers

A trio of mental health specialists from the Northeast Guidance Center will conduct a workshop this month to help health care managers face up to the problems of 1983; budget cuts, low employee moral and short-handed staffs.

The trio, Jonathan L. York, executive director; Norman P. Dwaihi, psychologist and administrator; and Rosie B. Raglin, program director of community services, will conduct the sessions at Mercy College of Detroit. The workshop, "Survival Skills for Managers in Health Care Settings: Practical Approaches," will be held Monday, Sept. 26, from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Supervisors of hospitals, nursing and convalescent homes, home health agencies and mental health facilities are invited to learn how to handle conflicts between patients' goals and management objectives; what kind of leadership style works best; and how stress can disrupt the organization and reduce productivity.

The workshop is approved for seven-tenths of a continuing Education Unit. The $95 fee includes registration, material and lunch. For information call 592-6100.

The Northeast Guidance Center is a private mental health center with offices on Mack Avenue in Grosse Pointe.

Auditions open for boy choir

The boy choir of Christ Memorial Church is presently recruiting boys from Grosse Pointe, regardless of their religious background, and is interested in auditioning boys from age 8 to 11.

Anyone interested should call the church office for an audition with the choir master at 885-4841. The choir, which begins its 54th season this week is under direction of Frederic DeHaven, and recently returned with the girl choir from a performance at the Air Force Academy in Colorado.

The boy choir, which is known throughout the country and England, will perform with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in March and in two performances of Benjamin Britten's "War Requiem" with the Grand Rapids Symphony.

Broughton joins LSSM

A new Grosse Pointe Woods resident, W. David Broughton, has joined Lutheran Social Services of Michigan as director of program development for the agency, which is based in Detroit and has programs in 14 cities in the Lower Peninsula.

Broughton formerly was assistant secretary of social service agencies and institutions for the division of mission in North America for the Lutheran Church in America. He was deployed to serve the northeastern Pennsylvania synod.

Before that, Broughton was program administrator for the Pierre, S.D., Department of Social Services in policy and program development. He was also executive director of the Sioux Falls Voluntary Action Center.

Broughton earned his master's degree in social development from the University of Chicago in 1978. His bachelor's degree in history is from Augustana College in Sioux Falls, S.D.

Broughton and his wife Jane have a daughter, Johannah.

Astrologer visits single parents

Astrologists and newspaper columnist Marcello will be guest speaker at the Friday, Sept. 9 meeting of the Grosse Pointe Chapter of Parents Without Partners. Marcello will speak on "Your Future Is In The Stars" to give PWP members and guests a glimpse into what their star signs have planned for the future.

The Grosse Pointe PWP Chapter meets every second and fourth Friday of the month at the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road. Coffee and conversation begin at 7:30 p.m. and general meeting and speaker at 8:30. An afterglow follows at the K of C Hall, 10 Mile and Little Mack at 10 p.m.

Parents Without Partners is a nonprofit educational organization. Local chapters provide members with a low cost program of educational family and social activities. There are 49 PWP chapters in Michigan. For more information about the Grosse Pointe chapter call 881-5892.

Historic site open for tours

The Selinsky-Green Log House began its autumn hours Sept. 3, and will be open from 1 to 4 p.m. on Wednesdays and Saturdays during September, October and November.

The log house, located behind the St. Clair Shores Public Library at 11 Mile and Jefferson, was built about 1870 by John and Mary Selinsky who were Polish immigrants. They settled and farmed in Erin Township, which is now St. Clair Shores. Their home has been restored and furnished in the style of the 1880s.

There is no admission charge. Groups are welcome, but are asked to make advance arrangements. Groups can visit the house anytime with prior arrangements, not just during the public open hours. For more information or to book a group tour, call Mary Karshner at 771-9029.

The sign is suggestive. It's claimed a public speaker can get a whole audience to start sighing unconsciously just by saying the word "sigh" a few times.

Physician heads workshop

Grosse Pointe Park's Dr. Jose Russo will direct Detroit's first workshop conducted by a distinguished faculty of pathologists in the use of electron microscopy for tumor diagnosis. The two-day meeting in October is co-sponsored by the Michigan State Medical Society and the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Russo, chairman of the Michigan Cancer Foundation's department of pathology, said use of state-of-the-art diagnostic techniques can greatly help physicians diagnose and treat tumors.

The workshop is expected to attract physicians and researchers from throughout the midwest.

BBB issues warning on Republic letters

The Better Business Bureau recently cautioned area businesses to watch their mail for advertising solicitations from Republic Funding Corporation of Grayslake, Ill.

In the alert, the bureau said numerous reports from area businesses in metropolitan Detroit suburbs indicate receipt of advertising solicitations from Republic Funding Corporation alleging that the company is involved in an advertising program with the area high schools. The accompanying letter alleges that Republic Funding Corporation and the area high schools are working together on an advertising program to be used for the school's athletic department.

A BBB investigation of the solicitations which have come to the bureau's attention revealed that none of the high schools mentioned have any relationship with Republic Funding Corporation, nor have any knowledge of any fund raising or advertising program being conducted with the company. The letters may be violating U.S. Postal laws, the BBB said.

The solicitation letter is requesting the company purchase a business card size ad for $50 and includes a billing statement carrying the name of the company and the name of the local high school or schools.

The BBB suggests that any company who has received such a mailing forward it directly to the bureau. The BBB is asking that the U.S. Postal Inspection Service review the matter.

Shine speaks to CPA group

Pointer Neal Shine, senior managing editor of the Detroit Free Press, will be among the three speakers highlighting the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants (MACPA) Leadership Conference on Tuesday, Sept. 20.

Shine, the luncheon speaker, will speak on "The Media's Role in Leadership." The conference will be held at the Sheraton-Southfield Hotel in Southfield.

Paul J. Otte, CPA, vice-president for business at Macomb Community College in Warren, will give the keynote address entitled, "Excellence in Leadership."

The featured speaker the morning of the conference will be Frank S. Moran, CPA, chairman of Plante & Moran, Southfield. He will speak to CPAs attending the event on the topic of "Reflections about Leadership."

The day long conference will include 11 workshops including, "Creative Leadership," "Making Effective Management Presentations," "Team Building" and "The One Minute Manager."

Halbert teaches financing course

"Personal Financial Planning and Tax Advantaged Investments" will be taught by William C. Halbert, in cooperation with The Financial Institute of America, Mondays, Sept. 12, 19 and 26 at the War Memorial. The three classes will meet from 8 to 10 p.m. and cost $30.

The course is designed for those who want a practical understanding of such topics as federal tax returns, tax shelters, IRAs and Keoghs, mutual funds, insurance, real estate, stocks, and estate planning. The class is structured to offer advice which can be put to immediate use, and it will be informal so students will be encouraged to ask questions.

For registration information call 881-7511.

Cinema League picks leaders

The Grosse Pointe Cinema League will start its 29th year on Sept. 19 with a new set of officers and lineup of programs. The organization, which is sponsored by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, usually meets on the second and fourth Mondays of the month, at 8 p.m., in the Fries Auditorium, 32 Lakeshore Road.

New members are welcome, and the league is especially seeking movie photographers to join the organization and provide future programs.

Annual dues remain at $8 per person, which entitle members to attend programs and the social hour. But this year, due to rising costs, non-members must pay a token admission fee for each performance.

On Sept. 19, Ray Walk will present a color slide program "Tulip Time in the Netherlands," and on Oct. 10, Dr. Vollrad von Berg will show a movie on Africa's Kruger National Park and Red Sea scuba diving.

Kenneth Kettlewell will take the group to "Merrie Old England" on Oct. 24, and then on Nov. 14, Dorothea and Ross Bush will present color slides taken on a "Journey to the Middle East." George Primeau will show slides on "Some of the Best in the World" on Nov. 28, and on Dec. 12, Leo Tallieu's 16mm movie will cover "Treasurers of Eastern Europe."

Officers for the 1983-84 season are Esther Peters, president; Gerald Pearsall, vice-president; Evelyn Stuart, secretary; George Coury, treasurer; Elfrida Palmentier, historian and publicity. Beverly Pearsall is hospitality chairman, and members-at-large are Dorothea and Ross Bush, Marilyn and Roger Bacon, Lily Coury, Catherine and Paul Duker, Irene Delp, Camilla and Ray Duffy, George Fullerton, Betty and Harold Lee, Dorothy and Sid Newhouse, Walter Pattee (badges) and Alfred Taylor (badges), Jean and Morton Pearson, Lorraine Primeau, Margaret and Roy Scharfenberg, Dorothy and Arthur Schmidt, Inge and George Vincent, and Stewart Werbach.

Cottage series offers help for cancer victims' families

Caring for the Cancer Patient, a series of four free workshops for cancer patients, their families and friends, will begin Monday, Sept. 12, at 6:30 p.m. in Boardroom B on the lower level of Cottage Hospital, 159 Kercheval Avenue.

The program will continue on the next three Monday evenings, Sept. 19, 26 and Oct. 3. The series is open to everyone who cares for a cancer patient at home.

Aspects of patient care, chemotherapy and radiation therapy, prescription management, nutrition, pain control and respiratory problems are presented by experts in their fields. Participants learn how to lift and position the patient, as well as cope with emotional problems related to care for the cancer patient. The goal of the program is to provide basic information and act as a support group to provide participants with a framework for healthy dialogue and an exchange of ideas.

Cottage Hospital is also seeking men and women, 18 years and older, to work with the families of terminal patients. Hospice volunteers act as support persons who telephone or make personal visits to the home. They help family members make adjustments to the care and needs of the terminally ill person and reinforce the instruction received in the Caring for the Cancer Patient workshops.

Persons interested in training as hospice volunteers should attend the four sessions of the Caring for the Cancer Patient workshop plus four additional training sessions, Oct. 10, 17, 24 and Nov. 7, to prepare themselves for work with individual families. Prospective applicants need not have previous medical training, but should have a caring attitude and a willingness to act as a friend to the family.

For more information and to register for the Caring for the Cancer Patient workshop, call Sondra Seely, R.N., at 884-8600, extension 2356.

If you would like to learn more about the hospice volunteer program, call Julia Arango, hospice volunteer coordinator, at 884-8600, extension 2419.

Alcoholism talk set Sept. 15

Just who is the person society calls the alcoholic? What causes a social drinker to become an alcoholic?

Dr. Dan Guyer, a psychiatrist who has worked extensively with alcoholics, will answer these questions and others in an informational session on alcoholism, on Thursday, Sept. 15, at Cottage Hospital, 159 Kercheval Avenue, Grosse Pointe Farms.

Dr. Guyer, will discuss why alcoholism is considered to be a disease, and how effective are treatment programs. The program will be held from 7 to 9 p.m., in boardrooms A and B, on the lower level of the hospital.

Anyone interested in learning more about alcoholism is urged to attend the program. There is no fee, but reservations are requested. Call the Cottage Hospital Education department at 884-8600, Ext. 2390.

Academy appointment for Kurt

Congressman George W. Crockett gives a congratulatory handshake to Pointer Kurt W. Allen after announcing that the former South High School graduate has been appointed to the United States Naval Academy as a member of the class of 1987. Allen, who will pursue a career in mechanical or aeronautical engineering, was an avid sportsman at South and was the recipient of the 1982 Eastern Michigan Conference League "Tight End" award. Sharing in the news are Allen's father, James, grandmother Helen Allen, and his mother, Doretha.

Weather leaves tree plantings high and dry

Someone once said there is nothing as lovely as a tree. The word delicate should have been in there someplace.

A series of delays caused by the weather and an accident during shipping coupled with pressures from the Woods to complete a Community Development Block Grant project at Mack and Moross have resulted in some poor quality trees being delivered at the site.

According to the project's landscape architect John Grissim, heavy rains delayed the contractor's digging of the trees. The high temperatures that followed then delayed the plantings further, he said.

When the trees were finally ready to be shipped, the flatbed they were being transported on was involved in an accident on the highway, Grissim said. Some of the trees were dumped from the truck, he added.

The trees went into severe shock and began dropping some of their leaves. The contractor then asked that some of the less severely drooping trees be planted and given a chance to make a comeback, Grissim said.

The city, Grissim and the contractor were to meet at the Mack-Moross site and decide which trees were to be replaced Tuesday morning last, Grissim said.

The plantings are part of a joint CDBG project between the Woods, Farms and Detroit that includes median and sidewalk plantings in the three cities. In addition, St. John Hospital has undertaken a beautification project at its Pointe Plaza, including landscaping and a new sign for the shopping center.

The contractor who is handling the landscaping at the Mack-Moross site is the same contractor who supplied part of the plantings for the Woods' north-end project, Grissim said. His company recommended the contractor because it has never has any trouble in getting replacements for defective plantings, Grissim added.

"If there's any problem here with the contractor, it's that he's too nice a guy," Grissim said. "I could tell you some bad stories about other contractors, but this guy has just bent over backwards for us."

St. John sets free testing

St. John Hospital of Detroit will offer free blood pressure screening tests on Friday, Sept. 30, from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m., in the hospital's Lower Level Conference Room. No appointment is necessary.

A film will be shown about the dangers of high blood pressure or hypertension. Health counseling and literature also will be available. Screening is open to the general public. No reservations are necessary.

Camera Club begins year

The Grosse Pointe Camera Club, now in its 46th year, will meet on the first, third and fourth Tuesday of each month at Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte Avenue, at 7:30 p.m., in Music Room 11. Visitors are always welcome.

Because of the Labor Day holiday, September is an exception, with meetings scheduled for Sept. 13, 20 and 27. Two of the monthly meetings are devoted to a judging and critique of members' work in prints and slides, both in pictorial and nature. Mini-programs on photography techniques precede each of the competitions. The third meeting of the month may include a program by a guest expert or a workshop on some phase of photography.

Since 1964, the club and the Grosse Pointe public schools Community Services Department have co-sponsored evening classes in photography. Carroll Dennis, of Grosse Pointe Park, is coordinator of the program. Members of the Camera Club lecture on their special interests, including print making, lighting techniques and portraiture. The first class of the new term will be held on Monday, Sept. 19, at Brownell Middle School.

The club is part of the Greater Detroit Camera Club Council and is also a member of the Photographic Society of America.

The Sept. 13 meeting will include both monochrome print and pictorial slide competitions.

Just a little off the top

When we grow hedges in Grosse Pointe, we grow hedges. Our roving photographer spotted Bill Tory astride a scaffold along Lakeshore Road last week, doing his best to trim the 10 foot high hedges. The day was hot, the hedges high and our photographer grateful he could go back to a nice, cool darkroom. If those hedges were any higher, Bill would need an oxygen mask as well as a pair of clippers.

Family Night winners named

Grosse Pointe City held its first mixed adult/child race were Mary Neff Park family fun night on Aug. 16. There were games for all members of the family.

The evening began with a marshmallow roast. The first winner of the night was Ben Carter for the longest softball toss. The next winners were in the wheelbarrow race. Crossing first in the children's race were Tim Raynal and Tim Kazul. The first to reach the finish line in the Continuing the event was a three-legged race. Winner in the children's category were Ben and Lisa Trombley, and in the adult category were Chris and Bill Lorenz.

The last two events of the evening were the cotton pick won by Natalie Bommarito and the balloon toss won by Chris Lorenz and Ben Trombley.

Classes for all ages are scheduled at Assumption Center

Just because summer is over doesn't mean leisure time fun has to stop. The Assumption Cultural Center, located at 21800 Marter Road, St. Clair Shores, will offer a wide variety of classes to the community this fall. Pre-registration is recommended for the classes which begin in September.

Kalosomatics will be held for men, women and children at all skill levels. In addition to beginners and advanced classes, there are also Teen Kalo, Kiddie Kalo and Kalosomatics in Moderation classes. The nine-week progressive program incorporates aerobics, calisthenics, isometrics, brisk walking, jogging and yoga. Classes are designed to music and provide a head to toe workout. Running shoes and exercise mat are recommended. Check with Assumption to find the nearest location where Kalo is offered, beginning Sept. 12.

More fitness classes are: Fun Runs held at the Center, on the first and third Saturday of each month; Kalo nutrition seminars conducted by Mary Busse of Diet Center, who will improve eating behavior and help with weight loss; and Lawrence Powers, Ph.D., Director of the Metabolic Center in Southfield, who will teach proper eating habits and nutrition in an evening seminar on Friday, Oct. 14. The Detroit Institute for Health and Fitness will conduct a health risk appraisal with recommendations for reducing your overall health risks. Weight Watchers meetings are held at Assumption every Wednesday. Yoga is also offered this fall. Total Runner businessman, Charlie Blanchard comes to the Center Nov. 2 with video tapes of his competition in the World Ironman Triathlon in Hawaii.

Metro Detroit Ski Council "Class A" skier Pam Wong will provide you with background needed to meet the challenge of skiing in the ski class. Proper warm-up exercises, techniques and equipment care and purchase advice will be given on Wednesday, Nov. 9.

Dancers of all disciplines will find happiness at Assumption. Learn the basic rules of square dancing with experienced caller, Doug McKinnon. You need not have a partner to attend the class

Calling all actors

Auditions for "Gaslight Gaieties, A Musical Celebration of the 1890s," to be performed at the Golden Lion Restaurant, 22380 Moross, Nov. 4 through Dec. 23 and New Year's Eve, will be held at the restaurant on Saturday, Sept. 10, at 11 a.m.

Performances are Friday and Saturday evenings in dinner theater format. Three men and three women of various ages are needed. Readings will be from the script. Performers must be able to move.

for singles. Couples square dancing is also offered at the plus two level. Ballet is offered for beginners and advanced beginners with Diana Lazarowitz. Modern dance is also given with emphasis on contemporary dance movements. Alyce Allen will teach Tap I and Tap II for those who would like to learn how to do a time step to music.

Sports enthusiasts can also remain active this fall. Tae Kwon Do Karate and Self-Defense is offered for men, women and children at all levels by accredited ITKF Black Belt instructors, the Panagos Brothers. Join Assumption's volleyball group under the direction of Val Kotsonis, or take tennis lessons from Joan Knapp. W.S.U. Hall of Fame golf coach Joel Mason, will teach fundamental golf swing and basics.

For Arts and crafts enthusiasts former Grosse Pointe art teacher Lorraine Christy offers classes in needlepoint for all levels. Cathie Brierly will hold a workshop on pillow finishing. Block and finish your favorite needlepoint or crewel project, on Wednesday, Nov. 16. Paint your own sweatshirt in the new fashion painting on fabric class.

Instructor Carol Novak will teach students to knit and crochet. Trenna Ruffner will bring the European art of lace making to beginning and continuing students. Jan Duster will teach weaving using basic loom techniques: quilting and advanced quilting will be offered by Shirley Neumann.

Betty Beebe of Dec-O-Craft will demonstrate how to do fabric and wall stenciling on Wednesday, Oct. 19. The early American art of metal crafting will be taught by Merle Davies with various projects. Learn how to preserve rose petals in the potpourri class on Wednesday, Nov. 2. Learn to make a Williamsburg wreath in one easy lesson using authentic materials on Wednesday, Nov. 9.

Under the direction of Paolo Coppini, discover artistic talents in a multi-media class in drawing and oil painting; or master the art of calligraphy with Margaret Falone. Classes for beginners and advanced students are offered.

Christmas workshops are a popular way to have fun and prepare for the holidays. You can make items for your home or for gifts in the many classes at the Center. New this year is a Christmas macrame class, where students can create a holiday angel decoration while learning the popular art of knotting. Lorraine Christy will teach two basic knots along with an introduction to fibers.

Create delightful Christmas dough ornaments from a salt/flour dough recipe in a one night workshop on Thursday, Nov. 10 and Thursday, Nov. 17. Stitch a colorful angel to your tree with a potpourri of stitches and a variety of fibers or make holiday silk floral arrangements for your home or for gifts. Choose from centerpieces, baskets or tree trims. Learn to make your own Christmas cards in calligraphy at the one night workshop introducing aspects of paper selection, design and technique. Some calligraphy training is required for the workshop offered on Wednesday, Oct. 5. On Tuesday, Nov. 8, Irene Rousos will conduct a workshop on holiday candy making.

Assumption will offer a hair color consultation on Tuesday, Sept. 27. Professionals from the Lamia Salon will explain how to add depth and dimension to ordinary hair. Daniel Harris of Emile Salon Beverly Hills, will show you how to handle your hair with confidence and demonstrate hairstyling techniques on Tuesday, Oct. 4. Teens and adults can learn the art of French braiding, taught by Suzanne Deacon on Thursday, Oct. 20. Margaret Akers teaches make-up techniques and skin care on Tuesday, Oct. 11. Save money on manicures by learning to groom your own nails properly as tools will be provided for the one-session classes offered Thursday, Sept. 22 and Tuesday, Oct. 25.

Learn the fundamentals of bridge from one of Michigan's Life Masters, Bill Linto. Vivian Massa teaches basic Italian for adults. Get out your old mantle clock and learn how to repair it yourself with Herbert Ralph or bring your electric guitar and practice basic rock and roll with Chuck Semarjian. This center's organ class includes rhythm, chords arrangements and counter melody. Music will be available from instructor, Stella May, of Smiley Brothers. For those who have had musical training, or already play the organ, a class in continuing organ playing will be offered.

Assumption again presents a CPR class free of charge. Learn this lifesaving skill from the St. Clair Shores Fire Department on Wednesday, Oct. 19. Merrill Lynch account executive, Ed Williams, conducts an investment seminar where you can learn about taxes, bonds and stock options. Learn how to do estate planning from attorney George M. Malis.

Computer awareness for beginners will be taught in two week sessions. The course includes actual programming for all microcomputers. Instruction on programming with BASIC commands is also taught by experts from Texas Instruments.

Culinary craft classes abound at Assumption. Classes in salads, soups and hors d'oeuvres will be taught by Grosse Pointe cooking teacher Helen Huber — you'll never go back to chopping or mixing once the McCullum's' introduce you to the food processor and the microwave. Recipes will be given in this course. Discover Greek cooking with Irene Rousos and learn how to prepare Baklava and more on Thursday, Dec. 1.

The Assumption Center is affiliated with Assumption Greek Orthodox Church and an ideal place to learn about Hellenic culture. Beginner and intermediate courses in conversational Greek are offered for adults and children with instructor Rodothea Kavadas Alexis Malis. Explore the history and culture of Greece with W.S.U. graduate instructor of Greek Archaeology Donald Haggis. Slide presentations accompany the lecture and discussion of this exciting course. All dance levels are accommodated from child to adult, under the direction of Sandra Koukoulas.

Ace Driving for Teens is offered in three separate sessions. Depending on individual needs, classroom study and behind the wheel training are given. Students can also learn the way computers work through computer awareness for beginners. Certified teachers from Texas Instruments will familiarize you with computer parts and programming in BASIC. Programming concepts through the implementation of sound, color, graphics, music and speech can also be learned. A workbook and newsletter are included with this class.

The center's organ class for beginners has students playing at the first lesson. Work at your own level in this course taught by Stella May of Smiley Brothers.

Metal crafting will be offered for ages 8 to 14. Children can learn the early American art of tinsmithing. Swedish "Huck" weaving stitches are also easy to learn in the class for ages 9 to 14. A hand towel will be made the first week and a project of the student's choice will be finished during the second week with instructor Carol Novak.

Elementary students can learn basic tap techniques and routines with Alyce Allen, or move your feet to the latest Broadway tunes in the Jazz class. Children ages 3½ to 5 will enjoy Creative Dancing: a class that focuses on physical coordination and imagination. Instructor Diana Lazarowitz leads the classical ballet class for elementary students.

Be a better babysitter after taking the center's class that offers helpful hints for young sitters. First aid tips, check lists and do's and don'ts are reviewed with Sue Strickroot.

Boys and girls ages 5 to 11 can learn karate in the PeeWee Karate classes taught by the Panagos Brothers. Notre Dame High Gymnastics coach Ken Parent will lead gymnastics for boys and girls aged 7 to 14, accommodating all skill levels. A juniors' version of Assumption popular fitness program geared to 3 to 5 year old's skill levels is Kiddie Kalo.

In "What Should I Do?" children can learn etiquette basics, telephone manners and table settings. A fun after school art class is offered for ages 8 to 12, where the student learns and creates. Each week a new form of art is introduced such as drawing, painting, designing, holiday crafts, printing and sculpture. Lorraine Christy leads the fun. Anthony Sassine, French instructor at W.S.U., will give a basic introduction to French with an emphasis on conversation. Cultural aspects of France will round out the program that includes the use of tapes, records and books.

Pre-registration for all classes is recommended and sometimes necessary as class size is limited. For schedules, dates, fees and program information, contact Assumption Cultural Center at 779-6111 or drop in at 21800 Marter Road.

Woods woman board chairman

Grosse Pointe Woods resident Dr. Mary C. Sengstock recently was elected chairman of the board of trustees at Holy Cross Hospital in Detroit.

Dr. Sengstock, a board member since 1977, is professor of sociology at Wayne State University. She received her Master's degree from the University of Michigan and a Doctorate from Washington University in St. Louis, Mo.

A history lesson

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

It's a bit early, we admit, to begin thinking Christmas . . . but we can't resist ringing the silver bells this early in the season to announce that the Planned Parenthood Holiday Mart is now a quarter-century tradition.

To celebrate this Great Occasion, the 1983 Holiday Mart Committee will honor Special Friends of the Mart, including ALL past chairmen, at a 25th Anniversary Luncheon next Wednesday, Sept. 14, at the Oxford Road home of Mrs. Verne C. Hampton II who, with Mrs. Gilbert E. Gove, co-chairs this year's edition of the project that brings specialty stores from all over the country — live, in person! — to the Christmas shoppers of metropolitan Detroit.

The '83 Mart will run Thursday and Friday, Oct. 20 and 21, from 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., and Saturday, Oct. 22, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. You might want to mark your calendars now, so you don't forget about it: you know how fast fall dates fill up, and you wouldn't want to be committed-to-something-else on all three of those days.

There's a $2 admission charge . . . but think how much you'd pay in airfare or the cost of gasoline consumption if you went to visit these shops on their home ground. All proceeds, of course, go to Detroit Planned Parenthood.

The Collectors to Share

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial Council of Sponsors opens its fall season next Wednesday with a very special evening. Andrew Camden, W. Hawkins Ferry and Anne Spivak have agreed to share their knowledge, their interests and their collections of art at 8 p.m. in Fries Auditorium.

The Camdens' collection consists of contemporary art after 1970 from all over the country, much with a sculptural orientation. Many of their wall pieces have dimensional qualities. Mr. and Mrs. Camden are strong supporters of Detroit art. Both serve as board members of the Founders Junior Council, Detroit Institute of Arts, and the Detroit Artists Market; in addition, Mr. Camden serves on the board of the DIA's Friends of Modern Art.

Architectural historian W. Hawkins Ferry, author of the definitive "Buildings of Detroit," began collecting art in 1948. Most of his collection, which consists of post-World War II paintings and sculptures, with emphasis on American Abstract Expressionism and the School of Paris, can be seen in the Contemporary Galleries of the Detroit Institute of Arts, where this Collector sits on the board of the Founders Society and has chaired the Friends of Modern Art since 1964.

Anne Spivak, raised in a very traditional environment, began collecting the art of her own time, mostly from the 1960s and 1970s, about 20 years ago. She has an excellent background in Art History. Her marriage to Peter Spivak, a collector of Egyptian and Greek art, (Continued on Page 4B)

Sounds of music to resound in Pointe . . .

Blowing his horn (actually, it's a tuba) to announce that the finest in music instruction will be available this fall to East Side residents through the cooperation of the Detroit Community Music School, CHRISTOPHER ABIRAGI (far left) joins fellow young music aficionados ROBERT SCOVILLE, REBEKAH INGALL and ALEXANDRA WEHMEIER (left to right) in expressing delight that University Liggett School's new Creative & Performing Arts Wing (background) will be the site for private lessons and group instruction conducted by the DCMS staff. You don't have to be in the age group pictured above to take advantage of this musical opportunity. You don't have to be super-talented. The DCMS program is open to the musically curious as well as the musically advanced, ages 3 to 83. Classes begin in mid-September, and will be held on weekdays in the late afternoon and evenings, and on Saturdays. Private lessons will be offered in Piano, Strings, Woodwinds, Brass, Percussion, Voice and Harp. Group instruction will be given in Orff, Suzuki Strings and Piano. The classes are for a 32-week period. Registration begins tomorrow, Friday, Sept. 9, from 4 to 6 p.m. and continues Monday, Sept. 12, from 4 to 7 p.m. at the ULS Creative &

Performing Arts Wing, 1045 Cook Road. Mrs. Laurence Scoville, Miss Bethine Whitney and Mrs. William Gard, volunteer coordinator, will be on hand to help welcome prospective students. The Community Music School, now in its 57th year, currently serves approximately 1,800 students. It is a private, non-profit school accredited by the National Association of Schools of Music and the National Guild of Community Schools of the Arts. Its faculty totals 70 teachers, selected not only on the basis of proficiency and education but also for the ability to develop musical skills in their students. Many faculty members have advanced degrees. Many are well-known performing artists as well, including several who are members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. DCMS is located on East Kirby Street in Detroit, and is a member of the University/Cultural Center Association, but offers instruction in several other metropolitan area locations. "This new East Side location (ULS) will make music instruction more accessible to East Side residents of all ages, and is designed to parallel a similar program offered at Cranbrook School in Bloomfield Hills," says Nancy Gard. Additional information may be obtained by calling DCMS, 831-2870.

Short and to the Pointe

Among students who received Bachelor of Arts degrees from Simmons College at the school's 78th commencement exercises held May 22 is SUZANNE GEROW, daughter of former Pointe residents GORDON and KATHRYN GEROW, of Grandville, Mass. Suzanne, a Grosse Pointe South High School alumna, will enter the executive training program at the Harvard Cooperative Society in Cambridge, Mass.

CHRIS J. CHAMPANE, of Cloverly Road, received a Bachelor of Arts degree in marketing from Olivet College May 8.

SARAH A. JOOS, daughter of DR. and MRS. THADDEUS JOOS, of South Oxford Road, was one of 512 seniors to receive an A.B. degree at the 146th commencement ceremonies of Mount Holyoke College. An economics major with a concentration in Asian Studies, Sarah will hold a one-year position as an English teacher in Japan. She was active at Mount Holyoke as a member of the golf and swim teams, synchronized swimming and rugby clubs, head of the Lecture Committee for the Student Business Association and a student travel representative.

Architects tour Sunday

The Detroit Chapter of the American Institute of Architects will hold its annual home tour this Sunday, Sept. 11, from noon to 5 p.m.

The starting point for the tour of six significant Grosse Pointe area homes will be the Grosse Pointe War Memorial at 32 Lakeshore Road. After a tour of the historic Alger House on the War Memorial grounds, viewers will board buses and be transported to the other homes.

This year, the featured homes are noteworthy for their diversity, from a large, gracious residence designed in the 1920's by Detroit architect Hugh Keyes, to a recently completed, lake-oriented, contemporary design by Bloomfield Hills architect, Robert Saarinen Swanson.

Tickets for the tour are $8 per person and will be available by mail prior to Sept. 11, by sending a check and self-addressed stamped envelope to: Detroit Chapter, AIA House Tour, 553 East Jefferson, Detroit, Mich. 48226. A limited supply of tickets will be available on the day of the tour. For more information, call (313) 965-4103, 9 to 5, Monday through Friday.

One of the homes on the tour was designed and built in 1938 by architect Louis Rossetti for his own family. The home is in the international style and features strong interrelated masses and is devoid of excessive detail. Exterior wall openings are planned with privacy in mind. A few small windows face the street while larger glass areas open to the rear yard. A number of ideas considered to be modern in 1938 were incorporated into the design, such as a sunken living room, split floor levels, whole-house power ventilation, and built-in lighting and furniture.

Another of the homes on the tour was designed by architect Hugh Keyes. Keyes was one of a large group of young university educated designers attracted to Detroit during the pre-World War I building boom days to work for architects such as Albert Kahn; Smith, Hinchman & Grylls; and George D. Mason.

The home included on the tour is a good example of Keyes at his dramatic best. All is conceived as a backdrop for the huge fetes and glittering parties the wealthy owners were known for hosting.

From the low arched entrance door, past intriguing retiring rooms, with a glimpse of a curved tower staircase, along a cloister-like passage to the main hall, all spaces were carefully contrived. The choice of early Italian style, with odd bits of details from Moorish Spain and North Africa, allowed freedom in the plan. Great advantage was taken of the gently sloping site to allow for landscaped courtyards and fountain terraces.

Another of the homes, designed by Raymond Carey, was built in 1928 on land formerly owned by The Religious of the Sacred Heart, a semi-cloistered order of nuns whose convent is now utilized as the administration building of the Grosse Pointe Academy. The double row of maples on the front lawn are part of a nun's walk which can be followed back to the convent.

The owner chose the Tudor style which was very popular in the boom of the Twenties. The home has many of the design elements which are commonly found in Tudor expressions: steeply sloped roofs, half-timbered walls, ornamental brick chimneys, and stone trim. The interior features a large living room and foyer. The highlight of the entrance foyer is a beautiful wood staircase. In the rear of the house is a charming cloistered courtyard.

Robert Saarinen Swanson, son of J. Robert F. Swanson and Pip-san Saarinen Swanson, designed another of the homes on the tour. In his early years he was exposed to the strong family tradition of architecture which strengthened his early desire to pursue a career as an architect. Prior to his professional schooling, obtained from the University of Denver, University of Michigan and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, he worked for the firm of Saarinen, Swanson, Saarinen. After graduation he continued his career with Swanson Associates, eventually becoming its President. Swanson's projects include the Art and Architecture Building at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, The Kresge Library, Oakland University; and several residences in Harbor Springs.

The home on the tour, located in Grosse Pointe Shores and completed in 1981, is similar to other homes designed by the architect in the Harbor Springs area.

Chili Cook-Off benefits Lung Association

Approximately 30 of Michigan's finest chili cooks and thousands of chili fans are expected to converge on the Wayne County Fairgrounds, I-94 at Belleville Road, at 11 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 10, for the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan's International Chili Society-sanctioned Chili Cook-Off.

It's a whole day of country fun, featuring country rock bands, food and beverages, arts and crafts, hot air balloon rides, square dancers and chilis ranging from Polish to Texas style.

The first place chili cook will receive a trophy, $100 and a chance to compete in the Michigan State Championship Chili Cook-Off. The state winner goes to California in October, to compete for more than $40,000 in prizes at the World Championship Chili Cook-Off.

Admission to the fairgrounds is $2 for the day. All proceeds from the event, co-sponsored by Stroh Brewery's Old Milwaukee brand beer and WWWW Radio, Country 106, benefit the Lung Association and its more than 40 free community services. The Lung Association may be contacted at 961-1697 for further information.

Texas claims that chili con carne originated around 1824, and probably began as the inspiration of a cattle ranch cook. But to many chili experts, this claim is just a Tall Texas Tale.

More likely, chili was introduced in America to wealthy San Antonio area residents by their Mexican culinary workers, who stirred diced cubes of meat and peppers together... and chili, Texas style, was born.

But meat, beans, peppers and herbs were known to the Incas, Aztecs and Mayan Indians long before Columbus and the Spanish Conquistadores. Chili peppers were used in Cervantes' Spain. They show up in the great cuisines of China, India, Indonesia, Italy, the Caribbean, France and the Arab states.

Some say that "real" chili uses no tomatoes, others that tomatoes, cultivated very early on in Peru, Ecuador and Bolivia, are always used in chili. Then there are the questions of whether or not to add beans (red, kidney or pinto)... thick versus thin sauces, and the classic ingredient of masa, the finely ground Mexican maize (corn).

According to The World Atlas of Food, 'purist' Mexicans across the border disclaim any responsibility for chili con carne — a native Southwestern contrivance conceived from Mexican influences and flavored to varying degrees of sharpness, depending either on taste preference or recklessness — which obviously belongs to the category of cooking known as "Tex-Mex."

"Real" chili, as defined by the International Chili Society, contains no beans. Instead, it's only good, western beef and varieties of specially flavored hot liquid to cook it in. Many chiliheads even sneer at using onions and tomato sauce. Others have been severely chastised for even mentioning ketchup.

"Good chili is more than good food," says Bill Ray, a governor of the ICS board and host of a cook-off in Florida. "It is a euphoric experience. Real chili has a satisfying brownish red color, a consistency that is smooth, with substance, and an aroma that should unclog the nasal passages, cause a mild sweat and increase the heartbeat."

Choose Pre-Natal or Lamaze class

Expectant mothers can select either a Pre-Natal Informational and Fitness class or a Lamaze Prepared Childbirth course offered by the Macomb YWCA at Saint Gabriel's Church, located on Stephens in East Detroit, this fall.

Pre-Natal Caring, a five-week Wednesday program running from 10 a.m. to noon, begins Sept. 14.

Fee is $20 for YWCA members, $25 for non-members.

Lamaze classes, running from 7 to 9 p.m., begin Thursday, Sept. 15. Fee for this six-week program is $25 for YWCA members, $30 for non-members.

Registration information for both programs may be obtained by calling 772-4435.

A perfect Sociable Scoundrels' picnic

The Grosse Pointe Sociable Scoundrels gathered at the Shores Park in August for their 27th annual picnic. The weather was perfect. The picnic planners, under Ellie and Jack Schwartz, scrubbed tables, lit lanterns and candles and packed in provisions for a turnout of 60 members.

Bob Shaffer, president of the group, suggested a repeat of the August date and weather for next year. Serving on the Schwartzes' committee were Doris and Fred Lattin, Harriet and Paul Reed and Mildred and Ken Davis.

A new season for Slimnastics

Pointe area residents will have the opportunity to shape up for fall via an eight-week series of aerobic dance classes sponsored by Dance Slimnastics Ltd., scheduled to begin the week of Sept. 12.

Classes will be held at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, located on Mack Avenue, Mondays and Wednesdays at 6:45 p.m., at Christ the King Lutheran Church, also located on Mack Avenue, Mondays and Wednesdays at 9:30 a.m. and Tuesdays and Thursdays at 6:45 p.m., and at St. Michael's Episcopal Church, Sunningdale Park, Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4:45 p.m.

Sitter service will be available during the Christ the King morning program. A class also will meet at the J.F.K. Library on Harper Avenue in Harper Woods Mondays and Wednesdays, at 7 p.m. Information on all classes may be obtained by calling 886-7534 or 885-4706.

Dance Slimnastics' fall session, "Let's Go Dancin'," gives participants the chance to work out aerobically as many times per week as desired via the club's unique Open Class policy. The class fee covers the cost of two one-hour sessions per week and as many additional days as desired.

Students need no previous dance or athletic experience. The routines, set to a variety of upbeat, popular and classical music, are easy-to-learn. The class spirit is non-competitive, with each student encouraged to dance at a personally comfortable level.

PIME grape festival is this Sunday

The Auxiliary Guild members of the PIME missionary fathers will sponsor their Fourth Annual Grape Festival and Spaghetti Dinner this Sunday, Sept. 11, from noon to 7 p.m. at PIME promotions Center in Fraser, 35750 Moravian Drive, one block west of Utica Road.

Highlighting the festivities is the dinner, which is $3.50 for adults and $2 for children under 12. Other attractions include the Polish Rzeszow Dancers, Korean Karate artists, Las Vegas games, bingo, a 50-50 lottery, beer tent, bake sale, farmers' market, games of fun and skill and rides for small children.

Proceeds from the event go to support the work of the PIME missionaries overseas — helping to educate, feed, clothe and house youngsters, caring for the sick and aged, conducting schools and hospitals.

Co-chairing the benefit are Dick Rogers of St. Clair Shores, Mrs. Barum, of The Woods, and Mrs. Wanda Stodalak, of Roseville.

Shores garden club to meet

The Grosse Pointe Shores Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will hold its first meeting of the season at noon tomorrow, Friday, Sept. 9, at the Lewiston Road home of Mrs. William Champion, who will be assisted by Mrs. Arthur Colton and Mrs. Stanley Dolega.

The program, which follows the luncheon, will include slides and a discussion of roses of Deanna Stephens. Mrs. Colton, of Moross Road, will serve as branch president for the coming year. Mrs. Robert Chope is the first vice-president and Mrs. Champion, second vice-president. Other officers are Mrs. Robert King, Mrs. Jack D. Rowe, Mrs. Max L. Gardner, Mrs. Robert Ireland and Mrs. Robert Rouseau.

Phase I will open season

Phase I, the group for single people 20 to 39 which meets at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, will close out the summer and get ready for a new season in September.

On Wednesday, Sept. 14, the group will take an early evening sail on Lake St. Clair. There's no charge for this evening of relaxation, but reservations must be made by calling Bruce at 893-5399. Phase I's year of Sunday night meetings begins Sunday, Sept. 18, at 7:45 p.m. The group's first kick-off Square Dance of the season offers everyone a chance to meet new faces and become acquainted with old friends. Caller John Korwin will lead the dancing.

Venture Club is just that

A new venture sponsored by the Soroptimist Club of Grosse Pointe is aptly named. It's the Venture Club and it was chartered for the purpose of developing leadership ability, awareness and involvement in community affairs and friendship with other business women of similar interests, ages and goals.

Club officers are Sue Savage, president; Marcie Carbone, vice-president; Christine Pulos and Monique Baczewski, secretaries; Debra Brady, treasurer; Marte Ollis and Mary Frances Lilly, Board members.

Set Progressive Artists' exhibit

The Progressive Artists Club's 37th annual juried exhibit opens Saturday, Sept. 11, in the Coach House Gallery on Van Dyke Place, Detroit, with a 2:30 to 5 p.m. reception. The public is invited. Refreshments will be served. The show will continue at the Coach House through Sept. 30.

The Venture Club, consisting of almost 30 charter members, has chosen the Foundation for Exceptional Children as beneficiary of its first community project. A fund-raising rummage and bake sale to benefit the foundation will be held Saturday, Sept. 17, from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. behind the Mack Avenue Drapery Shop at 20099 Mack Avenue in the Woods.

Anyone interested in donating items for the sale should contact Monique Baczewski at 886-5338.

A 1983-84 membership drive is also underway. A Venture Club tea for potential new members is scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 2, from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club. Young business and professional women in the metro Detroit area between the ages of 18 and 33 are invited to attend.

RSVP's for the membership tea should be made to Lydia Nichols at 881-4992 or to Lynn Marlow at 885-3234 no later than Sept. 13. Venture Club meetings are held the second Tuesday of each month at the Assumption Cultural Center, 21800 Marter Road in St. Clair Shores.

added a new dimension to her own artistic interests, and an appreciation of the antiquities. Mrs. Spivak is a trustee of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Each of "The Collectors," all Pointe residents, will speak separately, and present slides. Tickets for their program, at $6, are available now at the War Memorial. Tickets will also be available at the door.

Thanks to Ginny Thibodeau, whose talent as an artist is exceeded only by her ability to charm the birds out of the trees, one of America's leading portrait painters, perhaps the foremost pastel artist in The States, is coming to town to teach a week-long portraiture workshop at the Grosse Pointe Academy.

Daniel E. Greene's work is represented in more than 200 public and private collections, including the Metropolitan Museum of Art. He has received virtually every major award and medal in national exhibitions, and has served on the faculty of the Art Students League of New York where, in his own student days, he was recipient of both the Thekla M. Bernays and Helen Herzberger Scholarships.

He was elected to the National Academy of Design in 1967, and began teaching there as well as serving on the Council. He was elected to full Academicianhip in 1969, and served as treasurer to the Academy. He is the author of two definitive books: "Pastel," now in its sixth printing, and "The Art of Pastel," published world-wide, in French, Italian, German, Spanish and English.

Greene's Grosse Pointe Academy workshop will begin Sunday evening, Oct. 9, at 7 p.m. with a demonstration on the professional techniques of painting a portrait in oils. He'll give a similar demonstration Tuesday evening, Oct. 11, at 7 p.m., on painting a portrait in pastel.

Both demonstrations are open to the public for a $15 fee; workshop participants, who will study six hours a day, Monday through Friday, under the artist's personal supervision, will be admitted free. Models will pose for all workshop sessions, and students may work in either oil or pastel.

Whichever medium they choose, they're sure to have a unique experience. As art critic Maurice De Vinna has said: "Any art student would profit from studying Greene's oil painting. No art student should fail to study his pastels." Information on how to join his workshop here may be obtained by calling the Grosse Pointe Academy, 886-1221.

New season starts for KKG Alumnae

A dinner and meeting at the home of Beverly (Mrs. Harry) Sellars next Tuesday, Sept. 13, will give local Kappa Kappa Gamma alumnae the opportunity to meet new members, renew old friendships and look ahead together to a new season of activities.

KKG's Detroit-East Suburban Alumnae Association will be headed by President Ann (Mrs. Edward) Hathaway during the coming year. Other 1983-84 officers are Lee (Mrs. Richard) Miller, vice-president, Sharon (Mrs. John) Mertz, program chairperson, Betsy (Mrs. Richard) Boynton and Jayne Taylor, recording and corresponding secretaries, respectively, and Margie (Mrs. Frank) Penirian, treasurer.

The Kappa Evening Group, composed primarily of alumnae who have graduated within the past 10 years, will meet Thursday, Sept. 29, at the home of Vicki Kling. Those interested in attending this meeting are asked to contact Debbie Veyser, 886-1538, for further information. Area Kappas interested in attending next Tuesday's meeting may contact Lee Miller at 881-4815 for further information and reservations.

Rose Society will meet

"Doing the most with the least" is the theme of the flower arranging program being presented at the Wednesday, Sept. 14, meeting of the Grosse Pointe Rose Society. The floral artistry of Mrs. Ann Neaton will be featured; she will demonstrate how to arrange with roses.

Mrs. Neaton's horticultural credentials are impressive. She is currently president of the 220-member Garden Club of Dearborn and an active member of the club's Arrangers Guild. She is past-president of both the Detroit Chrysanthemum Society and the Lily Society, and is a member of Ikabana, International, a Japanese flower arrangers' association. She is a member and was Corresponding Secretary for the Detroit Rose Society, is a member of the Great Lakes District and belongs to the American Rose Society. She won the best rose arrangement trophy in the Great Lakes District Show in September 1982.

In addition, Mrs. Neaton has won numerous keeper trophies, certificates, and rosettes in rose society and State Fair competitions. She enjoys displaying arrangements on pedestals and in niches, and creating decorative table settings. She has been gardening all of her life; her mother was her teacher. When it comes to flower arranging, Mrs. Neaton is self-taught. She says she feels she has developed a knack for finding the right items for arrangements. For the Rose Society program she will do one creation with driftwood in addition to other styles.

In a cooperative spirit, Mrs. Neaton and her husband, Joe, grow a wide variety of plants in their garden; among her favorites are roses, mums, lilies, and peonies. She was featured in an article by Betty Frankel in the Detroit Free Press in September 1982 for her interest in chrysanthemums. For the past 12 years she has been chairperson of the Detroit Chrysanthemum Society plant sale and is an accredited chrysanthemum judge.

This special program for the Grosse Pointe Rose Society meeting is to be held at the Grosse Pointe Central Library, Kercheval Avenue at Fisher Road, at 7:45 p.m. Refreshments will be served following the program. Hostesses for the evening are Mary Currie, Dorothy Groehn, and Elsie Gillman. The meeting is open to the public.

DRC's season begins Sept. 14

The Detroit Review Club kicks off its 1983-84 season next Wednesday, Sept. 14, with a luncheon at the Country Club of Detroit and a very special program featuring Helen Southgate Williams, who recently received an award from Switzerland for her work with children and books.

Mrs. Robert Gerisch, DRC president, will be official hostess. Mrs. James Houlihan, the Review Club's social chairman, is in charge of luncheon details.

Mrs. Ernest Cahill will introduce her long-time friend, a popular "Story Lady" who has been profiled in many newspapers, most recently in a three-and-a-half page January, 1983 spread in the Oakland Press' Sunday Magazine.

Mrs. Williams' talk to the DRC is entitled "Whatever Happened to Laughter?" She says she rarely sees children's books on Christmas gift lists anymore... which is a shame. "I don't see much communication in video games. They don't answer in a human voice, or tell stories — and there is no laughter, no elbow nudging or sharing!"

An only child, she treasures the delightful letter her father gave her when she was 5½ years old, with a prism, urging her to make her own rainbows: "Ahead of you are 365 brand new days, bright, cloudy, soft or stormy — no matter. Hang the prism in the window and complete each day by giving of yourself and thinking of others, sharing and loving, reading and growing, observing. "Our days are measured by what we store up in love and kind deeds. Be joyful and make your own rainbows!"

One rainbow in Helen's life is her family, three sons, all raised in Rochester. Another is the scroll in Cranbrook's Brookside School Library, in the area that houses the Helen S. Williams Book Collection. It reads: "There is no substitute for excellence."

Another is a whole chest full of grateful letters from students, teachers and friends who learned from her and believe like her that "each book is magic."

To open Pointe Quester season

A new season begins tomorrow, Friday, Sept. 9, for the Grosse Pointe Chapter of Questers No. 147 with a field trip to the Piety Hill Antiques Show at the Birmingham Community House. Mrs. M.L. Van Dagens, hostess of the day, is arranging car pools. Luncheon will be served at the Community House.

The chapter's slate of officers for 1983-84 includes Mrs. Frank Welben, president, and Mrs. Richard Mertz, vice-president. Secretary, treasurer and historian, respectively, are Mrs. Stuart Crane, Mrs. George Bay and Mrs. John G. Martin.

Committee chairmen are Mrs. Martin, program, Mrs. James Champagne Jr., yearbook, Mrs. Derrill Mannie, publicity, and Mrs. Van Dagens, nominating. Parliamentarian is Mrs. John R. Pear.

Miss Arlington is a June bride

Grosse Pointe Memorial Church was the setting for the Saturday, June 11, wedding of Nancy June Arlington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Vincent, of Lakeshore Road, and John DeGrandis III, son of Mr. and Mrs. John DeGrandis Jr., of Fair Haven.

The 5 o'clock ceremony in which both The Reverend Ray Kiely and The Reverend David Antonson participated was followed by a reception and dinner at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club. After two weeks vacation, motoring through California, the newlyweds returned to Michigan to make their home in Ypsilanti.

Special out-of-town guests included the bride's maternal grandparents, Professor and Mrs. Karl Meister, of Munich, Germany, and her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Rolf Muellegger, and their family, of Chicago.

The bride wore a traditional gown, its high-collared, illusion-necked, dropped-shoulder Sweetheart bodice trimmed with Venise and Schiffl lace embroidered with pearls and sequins. Venise lace also trimmed the full sleeves, which ended in Chantilly lace cuffs. The floor length, A-line skirt, with a modified cathedral train, was trimmed with a Chantilly lace ruffle.

Her fingertip veil, edged with Venise lace around the blusher, fell from a Juliet cap of matching lace dotted with pearls and sequins. She carried a nosegay of white Sweetheart roses, miniature carnations, pale blue bachelor buttons and gypsophila, with picot streamers and butterfly trimming.

Honor maid Wendy Wilgarde and bridesmaids Karen Muellegger, of Chicago, cousin of the bride, and Renee Clark, the bridegroom's sister, selected floor length dresses of organza over taffeta, in two shades of blue. Their A-line skirts featured bustled, ruffled backs. Their fitted bodices featured off the shoulder ruffles.

The attendants' dresses were styled with short, puffed sleeves and natural waistlines. They wore daisies and gypsophila in their hair, and carried nosegays of white miniature carnations, yellow daisies and gypsophila, with picot streamers and butterfly trimming.

Dennis Bulgarelli was best man. Ushers were William Babut and Dane Williams.

The bride's mother chose a floor length gown of apricot chiffon, styled with a soutash-braided camisole and overlay of chiffon bodice, bishop sleeves and a crushed cummerbund accenting a flowing chiffon skirt. White cymbidium orchids formed her corsage.

The bridegroom's mother selected a floor length, two-piece gown of yellow chiffon, and a corsage of pale green cymbidium orchids.

Greive-Bayer vows spoken

St. Paul's-on-the-Lake was the setting for the wedding of Katherine Elizabeth Bayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Bayer, of Grosse Pointe Boulevard, and James Hobbs Greive, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Greive, of Defiance, Ohio. Presiding at the 6 o'clock ceremony Friday, Aug. 12, was the Reverend Albert Hillebrand.

After a reception at the Detroit Athletic Club, the newlyweds left for a motor trip along the New England coast. They will make their home in Defiance.

Beaded Alencon lace accented the bodice of the bride's sheer organza gown, which featured a Sweetheart neckline and princess-style sleeves. She wore her grandmother's heirloom Rosepoint lace mantilla over the cathedral illusion veil which was attached to a Juliet cap. Her flowers were a bouquet of white lilies, stephanotis and carnations.

Honor matron Mrs. Anthony Montague, of Kalamazoo, and bridesmaids Mrs. Charles Bayer Jr., of Boston, Mass., a sister-in-law of the bride, Leigh Purdy, of Houston, Texas, Catherine O'Brien, and Mary Carnelia, a sister of the bridegroom, wore long yellow linen skirts sashed at the waist with apricot fabric, and short-sleeved white eyelet blouses. They carried bouquets of white daisies and Peruvian lilies.

Mrs. James H. Greive

William Greive was best man for his brother. Ushering were Charles Bayer Jr., a brother of the bride, Timothy Walpole, Bruce Johnson and Steven Benson, Hillsdale College fraternity brothers of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother selected a floor length gown of apricot silk, heavily embroidered with sequins. The bridegroom's mother chose a floor length dress of pale blue jersey, featuring a rhinestone buckle at the waist. Each mother carried a single white rose.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Burke gave the scriptural readings during the ceremony. Mrs. Burke is a sister of the bride.

Miss McSorley wed in August

Patricia Eileen McSorley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald V. McSorley Sr., of Kerby Road, and Michael Cesar Canelas, son of Mrs. Diane Alexander-Bieda, of Sunlakes, Ariz., and Fernando Canelas, of Cochabamba, Bolivia, spoke their marriage vows Saturday, Aug. 20, at St. Paul's-on-the-Lake Church.

The 11 o'clock ceremony at which The Reverend Father Robert Morand presided was followed by a reception at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club. The newlyweds vacationed in Florida and the Caribbean and will make their home in Marquette.

The new Mrs. Canelas wore her mother's ivory satin and Gruppere lace gown with a cathedral length train, for her wedding. Her chapel length illusion veil fell from a beaded, seed pearl Juliet cap. She carried a bouquet of white roses and English ivy.

Honor maid Elizabeth Louise McSorley, a sister of the bride from California, and bridesmaids Mrs. Barbara M. Karle, another sister of the bride, Jennifer L. McSorley, a niece of the bride, Erlinda Caragay, Mrs. Karen Germeroth, and Jane D'Hondt, wore long, high-necked, chiffon gowns featuring cap sleeves and pleated bodices; the honor maid's gown was dusty blue in color, the bridesmaids', iris. Miss McSorley carried a Colonial bouquet of pink roses, daisies and baby's-breath; the bridesmaids carried Colonial bouquets of carnations, daisies and baby's-breath.

Flower girls Christine E. Kopp and Kathleen A. Camilleri, nieces of the bride, wore white eyelet dresses.

Rocky Canelas came from Arizona to serve as best man for his brother. Ushering were John E. McSorley IV, and Donald V. McSorley, brothers of the bride, Tony Camilleri, a nephew of the bride, Clyde Cornell, of A.F.B., Ill., and Carlos Canelas, of Huntington, W.V., a cousin of the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride selected a street length dress of dusty rose chiffon with push-up sleeves and a V-neckline. The bridegroom's mother chose a street length dress of pearl grey chiffon; and wore a matching jacket over the spaghetti-strapped gown. Each mother wore a wrist corsage of white gardenias.

The bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. May Wilson, wore a long-sleeved gown of green chiffon.

Among the guests were Mrs. Judy McSorley, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Daly, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Camilleri, Robert Karle, Trudy McSorley, of Adrian, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel MacLellan, of California, Sister Betty Jean Calvert, of Bolivia, S.A., Mrs. Fernando (Martha) Canelas and her children, of Bolivia, Frank Alexander-Bieda, of Arizona, Marcelo and Bernardo Canelas, of Huntington, W.V., Mr. and Mrs. Allen Kopp, of Sterling, Va., and Mrs. Heloise Blommel, of Arizona.

The bride's three nephews, Jack McSorley, Stuart Daly and Jerome Kopp, served as acolytes for the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael C. Canelas

Rooks, program chairman for the season, has already lined up some interesting events for the coming months: Oct. 24, a lecture in English by Fern Freeman of the Detroit Historical Society on "French Families of Early Detroit"; Nov. 7, an old-fashioned bingo to raise funds for the Alliance's annual student scholarship for summer study in Paris; and Dec. 7, a Christmas concert of French music, played by the Cambini Woodwind Quintet.

Lectures in French, a trip to Chicago to view French Impressionist paintings and an exhibit of contemporary French art in Grosse Pointe are in the planning stages.

The 1983 winner of the Alliance Scholarship was De La Salle Collegiate student Charles Raffoul, whose teacher is Alliance member Richard McMullen.

Anyone interested in joining the Alliance Francaise de Grosse Pointe is invited to call 881-7985 for membership information.

Maureen Roach

Tobin-Roach betrothal told

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Roach, of Prestwick Road, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Maureen Therese, to Terrence M. Tobin, son of J. Kelly and Irene Tobin, of New Market, Iowa. A late November wedding is planned, in Our Lady Queen of Peace Church.

Ms. Roach, a 1975 Grosse Pointe North High School graduate, holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Iowa. She is currently Iowa Coordinator for the John Glenn Presidential Campaign.

Her fiancé was graduated from Iowa State University in 1979 and holds a Law degree from Georgetown University. He is an Assistant Attorney General in the Consumer Protection Division of the Iowa Attorney General's Office.

Memorial Church barbecue set

Grosse Pointe Memorial Church will hold its annual barbecue this Monday evening, Sept. 12, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. in the church's fellowship hall. Steak dinners with all the trimmings, including homemade desserts, are just $4.25; hot dog dinners for the children will be available for $1.50.

Classical guitarist Mark Lindquist will provide background music for dinner. Reservations may be made by calling the church office at 882-5330.

Co-chairing this annual event are Dr. and Mrs. Steve Aiken, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Peoples and Mr. and Mrs. Roger F. Mecum.

Pointe Deltas to gather

The Detroit-Grosse Pointe alumnae chapter of Delta Delta Delta will hold its first meeting of the year next Wednesday evening, Sept. 14, at the Touraine Road home of Mrs. Joseph Browne.

In addition to the business meeting and dessert, the group will also finalize plans for its annual sale of Christmas wrapping paper

Proceeds from that project have enabled Tri Deltas to donate $1,000 each year to Children's Hospital for cancer research.

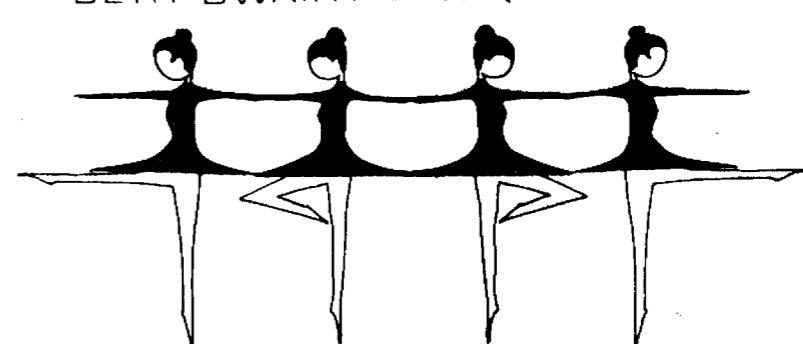

Mrs. Lester Elliott, co-hostess, will take reservations at 886-3317. Any Tri Deltas new to the area will be welcomed to the meeting and are encouraged to call Mrs. Elliott for further information.

Fall retreat for women

Theme of Bethany Lutheran Church's day-long, community-wide mini-retreat for women this year is based on Deuteronomy 30:19: "So choose life in order that you may live." The program will run from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 8, at the church. Main speaker will be Elise Arndt. Music will be provided by Lucia Simmons, vocalist, and Betty Wolfe. A "book nook" and book reviews will be featured. Participants should bring their Bibles. Reservations at $8 per person, including morning coffee, doughnuts and luncheon, may be made by sending name, address, phone number and the name of your church, with a check or money order payable to Bethany Mini-Retreat, to Bethany Lutheran Church, 11475 East Outer Drive, Detroit. Reservation deadline is Saturday, Sept. 24.

DBC to host fashion lunch

The Detroit Boat Club Women's Committee presents "Fall Changes," a luncheon and showing of Walton-Pierce fashions, with commentary by Elizabeth North, Wednesday, Sept. 28. Prizes will be featured. Festivities begin at 11:30 a.m. at the DBC. Lunch will be served at 12:30 p.m.

The committee includes Mrs. Arthur Engstrom, chairman, Mrs. Louis Bridenstine Jr., Mrs. Sheldon Drennan, Mrs. Winfield Jewell Jr., Mrs. John Psihas, Mrs. Leo Romzick, Mrs. Saxton Voecker, Mrs. Robert Wandschneider, Mary Durocher, Glenn Eilan Rubright and Marilyn McCafferty.

Mary Beth Tapert is a July bride

A bicycling trip through the New England states followed the July wedding of Mary Beth Tapert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tapert, of Kensington Road, and Dennis Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, of Southfield.

Deacon Donald Dossin officiated at the 5 o'clock ceremony, Friday, July 22, at St. Clare of Montefalco Church, which was followed by a reception at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

The bride wore an organdy gown featuring a sweetheart neckline and chapel length train. A circle of organdy camillas held her veil.

Honor maid Jane Rentz and bridesmaids Dorothy Tapert, a sister of the bride, and Mary Tinney, Amy Brieden and Therese Coughlin wore white pique tops over their magenta skirts, which were sashed with aqua fabric. Each attendant carried a bouquet of purple and magenta flowers. Mike O'Malley was best man. Ushering were brothers of the bride Robert Tapert, and Jeff Tapert, of Dallas, Texas, and Jack Miller and William Miller, brothers of the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Miller

The newlyweds will make their home in Dallas, where Mr. Miller, who is the 12th of 13 Miller children, is a senior systems analyst with University Computer Company.

Newcomers begin a new season

The Grosse Pointe Newcomers will begin a new season of activities with a "Fandango" — a Spanish celebration — Saturday, Sept. 17, at Windmill Pointe Park.

The party will begin at 6 p.m. and will feature a menu of steak and ribs, salads, beans and cake as well as liquid refreshments. Mexican entertainment is also planned.

Party chairmen Gerry and Linda Issac will be assisted by Chuck and Judy Stade, Chuck and Anne Latham, Tim and Carol Stoepker, Dick and Merrie Lynn Ruzzin, Joe and Noreen Dillon, Andy and Cheryl Obester, Dick and Flo Carroll, Don and Mary Lou Coe and Gil and Donna Clark.

Couples new to the Grosse Pointe area are invited to join Grosse Pointe Newcomers. Further information may be obtained by calling 823-3688 or 331-0087.

Year beginning for Pettipointe

Mrs. Henry Cornillie opens her University Place home today, Thursday, Sept. 8, to the Pettipointe Questers, as they begin a new year of studying antiques and promoting historic preservation.

A salad luncheon will be followed by a show-and-tell program during which members will share their antique "finds" of the summer.

Slate Transcultural Nursing open forum

The next bi-monthly meeting of the Michigan Transcultural Nursing Society, an open forum session highlighting the problems, issues and strategies which surface as transcultural concepts are addressed in nursing education and practice, is scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 15, from 4 to 6 p.m. at Cohn Lounge, Wayne State University College of Nursing. Refreshments will be provided.

JIM STELMA, OF PRESTWICK ROAD

Pointer of Interest

By Janet Mueller

By the time he was mid-way through Clark Elementary School, he knew he wanted a career in art. And then, for a brief period, he thought he might be a musician. "But I went back to art because I thought the hours were better — and it turns out I was dead wrong!

"Musicians work from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Then they go home. Artists work all the time, and they're never done."

As a commercial artist, Jim Stelma has worked for just about every big studio in town. He worked for the General Motors Camouflage and War Service Section during World War II. He's done "Ford Times" illustrations for restaurants/inns of America. He's won a Billboard Award for a Lincoln-Mercury poster.

Back in 1932, a student at Cass Tech during its great days ("The greatest art training anywhere in the world," Jim says), he won that school's poster contest. And he took Saturday classes at the Detroit Institute of Arts while Diego Rivera was painting his great mural.

"We copied old masters in the morning. After class, we would go and watch Rivera. It was exciting to be there, up on the scaffold, watching him mix colors."

Both Jim's brothers also went into graphic arts. Al has a studio. Hank worked for a printing company. Their mother was a school-teacher, their father a carpenter who didn't want his sons to follow in his footsteps. The hours are long, the work hard, the working conditions not that good, the pay not that great, the senior Stelma reasoned.

SO DESPITE THE fact that he was very good at his job (he put in the library at the old Dodge Mansion on Lakeshore), he made it a point to teach his sons nothing. Marie Stelma has a husband who is definitely not handy around the house. She's coped, beautifully, with that, and more.

"Over the last 42 years, my wife has been very patient while I worked weekends, nights and holidays to make deadlines." Marry a commercial artist, and "I'll be there if I can" comes with the territory.

The Stelmas have three children. Jimmy — called Pedro by his father, "because when he was born he had black hair, and we're Dutch blonds" — lives in The Park and manages the Union Street restaurant on Mack Avenue. Nancy Stelma Kennedy also lives in The Park.

Lynne lives in Oregon. She was a member of the first graduating class at Grosse Pointe North High School (the others are South graduates), went on to the University of Michigan and spent her junior year in France.

Between them, the younger

Christ Church Seniors open new season

Christ Church Seniors will kick off their fall season with merry-making by the Banjo's East Dixieland quartet next Thursday, Sept. 15, at 6 p.m. An All-American dinner will precede the entertainment.

Reservations, at $8.50 per person, must be made no later than this Monday, Sept. 12, by calling 885-4841.

Stelmas have produced five grandchildren, Lauren and John Kennedy, Allison and James Dean Stelma and Lynne's Carmen, for Marie and Jim. The youngest generation ranges in age from 18-year-old Lauren, starting college this fall, to Carmen who, at nine months, still has a ways to go to reach nursery school.

"I'm a scratchboard artist," Jim says of his commercial work. "I do watercolor mechanical illustration." But he's also always painted for himself, has shown around town, at the Scarab Club and the First Federal Building, for example, and has a painting or two hanging in downtown restaurants.

HE'S NEVER HAD a one-man show. "I've never had time to do more than one or two paintings at a time." He now works mostly in acrylics and watercolors. He used to have a booth once in a while at the Annual Fall Art Festival co-sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Artists Association and the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, but he's given that up. "You can't do two things at once."

Ever since he joined the Grosse Pointe Artists Association, Jim Stelma has been the Fall Art Festival's grounds and information chairman.

He'll be back again at the same old stand, making sure each exhibitor is in the right space in the right place, at the 24th Annual Festival this Saturday, Sept. 10, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is free.

In Jim Stelma's 15-plus years as Festival grounds/information chairman there've been some changes made. Thank God. "When I joined the GPAA back in 1967, exhibitors were assigned space on a first come, first served basis. We had juried the people, so we knew who was coming. But the ones who got there first got to pick the choice spots."

So the exhibitors, not being stupid, began arriving at 5 a.m. for a festival that opened at 10 a.m., in order to secure a good location. And Jim Stelma was there by 6 a.m., because he had to find out where every exhibitor had located. Because he had to map the festival out — literally, on a big map — and take it to the Information Booth. Because the function of Festival Information is to know who and what is where.

"NOW," SAYS JIM, we assign spaces in advance. "There are master plan maps for both outdoor and, in case of rain, indoors. On arrival, exhibitors check in and are directed to their assigned locations. "We may get a bit more fack this way," Jim admits, "but we certainly get less confusion!"

It was a Fall Art Festival that got him back into music. Actually, he'd kept it off and on through the years, from his Jackson Intermediate School days with a traveling marionette show. He played guitar with Ted Urban on Thursdays at the Lido for quite a while. He played with Art Quatro back in the '40s.

Then came the raising-a-family, earning-a-living years, and music took a back seat until... "We had booked the Grosse Pointe Senior Men's Club Music Makers into a festival. I was running the grounds. I said, 'How do you get into this band?' and Frank Seydler, the leader, said, 'You have to be retired.'"

"And I said, 'Well, I AM retired from studio work, although I do free-lance (from his own 30th floor downtown studio with its magnificent view of the city)." And Frank Seydler said, "That's good enough." And I became a Music Maker."

After he got into the band, Jim met alto player Mel Stander, who played with many of the Vaughn Monroe era biggies, including Monroe. "Mel got me a shot at playing the Noel Coward Show at The Players." Jim was one of three on-stage accompanists in that show, under musical director Audrey Jennings. It was the first time he'd done anything like that — and he loved it!

THE MUSIC MAKERS perform all around town. "We played recently for a Grosse Pointe North High faculty party at Selfridge, and a dance at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House." The band will be playing at this Saturday's Art Festival, but without Jim Stelma. What with seeing that signs and canopies are put up, tables put out, information flowing properly in and out, Jim can't quite see himself strumming his guitar on festival day.

He played hockey until he was about 60. When he broke his arm, he (and Marie) figured that maybe it was time to stop. They're both still bowling; in fact, Jim, who served as president of the Graphic Arts Bowling League for a number of years, racked up a 240 game just last season.

His pride and joy is a mint condition 1963 Studebaker Avanti. His favorite place in the world is Niagara Falls. ("But," says Marie, "since we never take long vacations, Niagara Falls is just about as far as we ever get.")

He's hung shows all over town, for the Detroit Women Painters and Sculptors, the Scarab Club, Palette and Brush. He used to hang the annual Grosse Pointe Artists Association shows, and the GPAA's changing exhibit in the lower lobby Fries Theatre foyer.

He says his festival grounds/information chairmanship has become a snap. "The women do everything. They assign the spaces; I just make sure each exhibitor gets to the right space. My job's nothing compared to the one Molly Flintermann does, sending out invitations, cataloguing... or the job Lee McKinley does, directing traffic, ordering cars this way, that way..."

"AND COMPARED TO Corinne Dolega — well, I don't think there's anyone in the GPAA you CAN compare to Corinne Dolega!" She's chaired the Fall Art Festival for the past 16 years. "When I was on the Artists Association board, we discussed the possibility of an Art Wing at the War Memorial," Jim recalls, "but it was Corinne who followed through, started fund raising, got it built."

With a little help from her friends. The same sort of help she's had over the years with the Fall Art Festivals. When you're dealing with 150-plus exhibitors and several thousand patrons, you need all the help you can get. Provided, of course, it's good help.

Like Jim Stelma, who may have batted an eyelid when he found out the sprinklers had been turned on the night before one of the Fall Art Festivals, and the War Memorial's grounds, though sparkling, were soggy... but who coped. Efficiently, and with humor. Beats crying: the grass was already wet enough.

Course to focus on basic sewing

A six-week 7 to 8:30 p.m. course on Basic Sewing Skills, sponsored by the Macomb YWCA, begins Monday, Sept. 12, at Saint Gabriel's Church, located on Stephens in East Detroit. Fee is $20. Additional information may be obtained by calling 772-4435.

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, a trio of CUCUMBER suggestions.

Cucumbers are actually a fruit, but treated as a vegetable. They are believed to be native to Southern Asia, were referred to in the Old Testament and are cultivated today in all parts of the world. The cucumber is delightful raw, in salads and sandwiches, in sauces, pickled, in relishes and cooked, and can be a true gourmet delight as a soup.

THOSE ON SODIUM RESTRICTED DIETS TAKE NOTE: The fresh cucumber has 6 mg. of sodium per cup. The sweet gherkin contains no sodium. HOWEVER, one large sour pickle contains 1353 mg. of sodium, one large dill pickle 1428 mg. of sodium!

Nutrients: Vitamin E, calcium, magnesium, zinc, potassium. Calories: (sliced, with skin): 16. Suggested Seasonings: Onion, tarragon, oregano, basil, celery or dill seeds, chives, vinegar and sugar, dillweed, mint.

SIMMERED CUCUMBERS WITH CHIVES

2 medium cucumbers
1/3 cup tomato juice
1/8 tsp. salt
2 Tbsp. chopped, fresh chives
Peel cucumbers only if skin is tough. Slice lengthwise, 3 or 4 slices to each cucumber. Heat tomato juice; add cucumbers and salt. Cover and simmer until tender. Sprinkle generously with chopped fresh chives. Makes 3 servings. Calories about 17 per serving. Cholesterol 0.

SAUTEED CUCUMBERS

Excellent with fish, and very easy to do.
2 medium cucumbers
2 Tbsp. margarine
Pinch of salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1/4 tsp. leaf chervil, crumbled
Peel the cucumbers. Halve lengthwise; cut in 1/4-inch slices. Saute in melted margarine in a large skillet just until cucumbers begin to soften, about 3 minutes. Sprinkle with the salt, pepper and chervil. Makes 4 servings. Calories about 66 per serving. Cholesterol 0.

MUSHROOM-STUFFED CUCUMBER BOATS

3 5-to 6-inch cucumbers, peeled
1 cup chopped mushrooms
2 green onions, minced
3 Tbsp. margarine
3 Tbsp. flour
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. white pepper
1/4 cup evaporated skim milk
3/4 cup skim milk
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Halve cucumbers lengthwise; remove seeds. Place in shallow baking dish (to steady cucumbers, cut thin slice from bottom of each); set aside.
Saute mushrooms and onions in margarine until tender; sprinkle with flour, salt and pepper and stir until well blended. Add evaporated skim milk and skim milk and stir until thickened, then stuff mixture into cucumbers. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake in preheated 375° oven 20 minutes. Serves 6. Calories about 122 per serving. Cholesterol 0.

Slate Genealogical Society's meeting

The Detroit Society for Genealogical Research will hold its first meeting of the 1983-84 season this Saturday, Sept. 10, at 2 p.m. in the Friends Auditorium of the Detroit Public Library on Woodward Avenue, opposite the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Phyllis J. LaVigne, past-president of the Genealogical Society of Monroe County, has selected "From Springwells to Newport" as her topic. She will report on this compilation of 20,000 burials, obituaries and cemeteries of Monroe County: an invaluable source of genealogical material.

Society members will be available for consultation with personal research problems Saturday morning, in the Burton Historical Collection. Publications and genealogical aides will be sold after the meeting.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

Guaranteed to happen during the fall sports season . . .

• South running back Paul Hawk will dazzle just about everybody with his running, break open a few close games for South and give everybody something to remember again this season, like he did in 1982 when he beat North with his touchdown pass-grab with less than two minutes left in last year's North-South struggle.

• Somebody will ask Chuck Hollosy, Russ Hepner or the Grosse Pointe News sports department why the South varsity football team isn't continuing its traditional rivalry game with Notre Dame.

• Guido Regelbrugge will get more than most people expect from his very young North High varsity soccer squad.

• North High quarterback Chris Bingaman will tear up the old North record book and write a new one — he's already broken most of the q.b. records in just two seasons.

• South High girls' tennis coach Stephanie Prychitko will miss Meghan McMahon at the No. 1 singles spot.

• The play of Madeline Willard and Stephanie Schulte will probably make her feel a lot better.

• I will be able to get to all three varsity football openers this year. I'll be the one with the dazed look on my face and the permanent reflection of field stripes in my eyes.

• There will be a monumental struggle for a spot in the Class A state football playoffs and a local team will be involved.

• I'm not saying which team it will be. (I may be dumb, but I'm not crazy).

• The University of Michigan's football team, ranked No. 1 in the nation by that all-knowing seat of sports omnipotence, Sports Illustrated, will lose one game. Sports Illustrated will immediately plead temporary insanity and never again rank U of M in the top 20.

• Michigan State University's football team will lose two games and the same radio talk show hosts who have been hyping the Spartans all year long will fall all over themselves to be the first to say "I told you so."

• MSU's Ken Stockwell won't have anybody saying that. The second-string center from Grosse Pointe stepped into the top spot last season and played well in the final six games of the season. He looks like he'll keep pushing for the starting spot this year, too.

• If the local gossip columns are correct, Tigers Alan Trammell and Lou Whitaker, the new Lunt and Fontaine of baseball, will be appearing on the top-rated "Magnum P.I." TV show this fall. If they are successful, that will open up the silver screen for Detroit Lion quarterbacks Eric Hipple, Gary Danielson and Mike Machurek, who will make camera appearances on "Three's Company."

• Somebody will call me up and tell me how wrong I was when the things on this list of things guaranteed to happen this fall . . . don't happen.

A tough road for Knights

By Peggy O'Connor

Chet Janiga learned a lot last year — his first as varsity football coach at University Liggett School.

"We learned how to approach the football program at ULS. I'd come from a school where you'd have 60 or 70 kids out for the team. We get around 20 kids here and last year, we just weren't prepared for it," Janiga said.

But Janiga and his staff are well-prepared for this season, one which might prove to be a lean one for ULS's squad of 20. "This year, we've learned to be very basic with these kids, because of their inexperience and just plain lack of numbers."

The Knights were 2-6 last season, and head into this year with the loss of eight starting seniors who "formed the basis of the football program" at ULS.

"We're going to be pretty green, really inexperienced. If we're not young chronologically, we're certainly young in terms of experience. We have three or four seniors who either haven't ever played football or haven't played since grade school.

BECAUSE OF that, Janiga and his staff are concentrating on teaching the players fundamentals. We'll learn as we go along, I think," Janiga said. "I'm not projecting things like win-loss records, I just want them to learn and improve. To that end, we've worked on conditioning, sprint methods, running drills to get them in shape to play both ways," Janiga added.

That's what a 20-man squad has to do — play both offense and defense, and as Janiga says, it takes conditioning.

Among those who will play both ways are captain Steve Georgi, 6-1, 180-pounds, and Tom Giftos, a 5-11, 182-pound junior. Georgi will start at the running back and linebacker positions; Giftos on both the offensive and defensive lines.

Others are Frank Germack, a 6-0, 185-pound junior who will also play on both the offensive and defensive lines, as will Allen Carter, a 6-3, 210-pound sophomore. Senior Jim Kitchen will fill in at fullback and at defensive back. At quarterback, Janiga is still looking for a permanent starter. Right now, he says, his starter is Andrew

All systems go for Norsemen

By Peggy O'Connor

There's one word for how North football coach Frank Sumner feels about his varsity squad's chances this fall: confident.

That's why North has escaped the confines of the Bi-County League and will face the challenges of an independent schedule and possible Class "A" playoff contention.

The Bi-County League includes two class "B" schools and even if North, a Class A entry, managed to go undefeated this season, the Norsemen would not be eligible for Class A state playoff action because of their participation in an unbalanced league. So, Sumner and North have traded away a chance at a league title for a shot at the big time.

"The league voted that North can't qualify as league champion if we don't play the full league schedule. So, we're forfeiting a possible league title and going independent. I've always felt that if we play well and go 9-0, the kids should be rewarded. And we can't do that in the Bi-County," Sumner said.

So Sumner and the Norsemen will go full tilt toward an undefeated record and a chance at the playoffs. If they get there, it will be on the strength of what Sumner calls his five "key" players.

"My key people are the ones

I brought up as sophomores my first year. Fred Schultz, Geoff Tischbein, Chris Bingaman, Cedric Patmon and Steve Wheatley. They've got to do the job."

Those five have been doing the job for Sumner for three years, particularly quarterback Bingaman, who holds most of North's offensive records after starting 18 games in two seasons. And this season, he'll get a chance to get in a few defensive licks, as well. Sumner says he's going to try Bingaman at safety; he'll be one of three Norsemen who'll play both ways this fall.

Sumner's running game will be geared around senior fullback Schultz, who will also play linebacker on defense, and around quarterback Bingaman, who Sumner calls his fastest runner. Schultz, at 5-11, 209-pounds, runs the 40 in 4.7 seconds; Bingaman, in 4.6.

"Hopefully we'll have a well balanced attack," Sumner says. "But I think we'll still let Bingaman run a bit."

Senior Tischbein will also play two ways, at offensive tackle and defensive end. He was an All-League and second team Tri-County selection in 1982 — statistics which should help him fill the big shoes of all-anything tackle Dave Bergeron, who graduated in June.

Sumner admits he was disappointed with the outcome of last season, even though the Norsemen bettered their record to 6-3 and won another Bi-County title.

"We lost two games to football teams who really weren't worthy of beating us. Sterling Heights beat us and they hadn't even won a game the year before; and we lost, 3-0, to Warren Cousino. After that, we came on like gangbusters until that last game against South . . ."

North fans will remember that the Norsemen led in that game, 10-7, with just two minutes left when South back Paul Hawk pulled down a pass and sprinted 40 yards into the endzone to give South the win and leave a bad taste in Sumner's mouth.

It also left him with a firm resolve for 1983, one he patiently explained to his recruits this season. "When I talked to the kids on opening day, I gave them the reasons why we lost three games . . . and what we had to do to correct things," Sumner says.

"We have to eliminate turnovers. We coughed up the ball eight times in the South game. We have to stop giving up the big plays. We allowed only 55 first downs last year — a school record — but then they'd beat us with the big plays. We also have to stop talking foolish plays, missing assignments, improve our kicking game and cut down on lost yardage."

South wants EML title

By Peggy O'Connor

South High's varsity football squad is a good, talented football team capable of winning the Eastern Michigan League championship this season. The only problem is, so are five or six other EML teams on the Blue Devils' schedule, which opens this Friday, Sept. 9, with Utica Eisenhower.

Coach Russ Hepner will return nine of 11 starters on defense and four out of 11 on offense from the team which went 9-0, won the EML crown and captured a spot in the Class A regional championships. But even that might not be enough to fight off the fast-developing teams in the EML.

"The teams on our schedule are all much improved, and that's not just blowing smoke," Hepner said. "Mt. Clemens feels it has one of the better ballclubs in recent years and L'Anse Creuse North is much improved and they were good last year. Port Huron only lost one league game last year — to us — and that was a team of sophomores."

"We have the talent, but in a league like this, you can be as good as we were last year and still not win the championship."

Hepner said South is strong in the talent positions — backfield and ends — but added that he was concerned about his weaknesses up the middle, where graduation might have taken something out of the defending EML champs. Hepner is looking at 6-2, 227-pound senior John Mikesell and 6-3, 217-pound junior Tim Keller to fill in at the defensive tackle spots. He's also had to move 6-2, 218-pound Tony Tocco the middle linebacker position and that, coupled with the shift of Mikesell, an All-League offensive tackle in 1982, might weaken things a bit. Mark Fikany, at offensive tackle, and offensive guards Rick Suhrheinrich and Dan Edgar round out the offensive line.

John Williams, who served as backup to Bill Crow in 1982, will start at quarterback for the Blue Devils. Junior halfback Rick Waugaman and senior fullback Paul Hawk are back to lead South's running game. Dale Graham also returns; he was a valuable part of South's excellent kicking game last season, hitting on three of three field goal attempts and converting point after attempts.

Pointe came through in '82; what'll it be in '83?

By Peggy O'Connor

Sports-wise, 1982 was the year of the Pointe. Grosse Pointe sports teams combined to win 11 league championships, seven regional titles and five state championships. At South, the football Blue Devils went undefeated and ended up in the playoffs for the first time. At North, the three-year-old soccer team surprised everyone by capturing the No. 2 ranking in the state; and a bunch of North cross country players wound up with a state title. Over at University Liggett School, the Knights won an amazing three state championships and kept up that school's fine winning tradition.

Now it's 1983 and time for another fall sports season. Following are brief assessments of the upcoming season from each coach of the championship and near-championship teams we could reach before press time.

South minus McMahon; can girls win 8th?

Stephanie Prychitko's girls' varsity tennis team had to struggle to win its seventh straight Class A tennis championship last year — they were just able to draw even with Birmingham Seaholm in the state finals and grab a share of that Class A title.

But Prychitko can explain why, despite the presence of a state champion singles player like McMahon, the lady Blue Devils had such a tough time in 1982.

"Other teams in the state are beginning to have more depth. We've always had it, what with Grosse Pointe being the hotbed of tennis it is, and all. Before some of these other teams, we were the ones people looked to to supply the talent."

Now the Birminghams and the Bloomfields are beginning to spawn their own tennis generations and the Grosse Pointes are feeling the effects of it.

"Bloomfield Hills Lahser and Birmingham Marian, they look like they should be strong. And Liggett is going to be very, very strong," Prychitko said.

To combat the improvement of other teams, Prychitko will look to her eight returning players from last year's title team. At press time, the girls were still playing challenge matches to determine their positions, but Prychitko was positive about one thing: Madeleine Willard will step into the No. 1 singles spot vacated by McMahon. Willard moves from the No. 2 singles position.

"Right now, I don't really know what the other schools have ... but I do know that we look pretty good," Prychitko said last week. "I've just told the girls to play each match as it comes and we'll be in it when it comes to the regionals."

South opens its season Monday, Sept. 12, at Mt. Clemens.

Fierce battle for top ULS net spots

University Liggett School girls' varsity tennis coach George Andrews has plenty of problems this year. The other coaches in Class C-D should have such problems.

"I've never seen such a fierce battle for singles and doubles spots," Andrews said in a telephone interview last week. "Let's just say it's been very competitive."

Andrews lost his captain, Anng Sherer, and his No. 1 and No. 2 doubles stars Julie Quigley and Lisette Wolfe to graduation; but his list of candidates for the No. 1 singles spot on the defending Class C-D state champion squad more than makes up for the loss.

"Right now, we've got Paula Mighion, Leslie Mackey, Charu Nautiyal, Windy White and freshman Amina Ali and her sister Marie Ali all playing challenge matches for the top singles spots. And competing for doubles are Maria and Paul Rodriguez, Jenny Peck, Laurie Evans, Susie Andrews and Merritt Meade.

"I'll tell you what tough competition this is. Charu Nautiyal played at No. 3 doubles last year.

She was in tournaments all summer and now she's in there for No. 3 singles," Andrews said.

"All I can say is, that we've got wonderful potential. The girls have been working extremely hard. Our goal is to win that fourth consecutive championship.

"We're looking forward to matches against Grosse Pointe South and Birmingham Seaholm (co-champions in Class A) ... and Bloomfield Hills Lahser will really be strong," Andrews added.

"We're just really looking forward to the whole season."

The lady Knights begin their season tomorrow, Friday, Sept. 9, when they host Ann Arbor Huron.

Tough going for ULS kickers?

ULS soccer coach David Backhurst was named coach of the year in Class C-D in 1982, players Larry Van Kirk, Marty Wittmer and Robby Wood earned All-State recognition ... and ULS won a state soccer championship.

But Backhurst lost three players to graduation this summer and this fall, he'll be heading into the soccer wars by moving up a class in competition.

"We've got good potential, it just depends on how well we can use it," Backhurst said. "For state tournament play, we'll be competing against much bigger teams like Cranbrook and Hamtramck and that will make things doubly difficult."

Stepping into the hot spot as the team's big scorer will be Rick Roberts. And Wood, a second team All-State forward in 1982, may play some at center half-back.

"Our goalie Jeff Lucas looks sharp and we've got guys like Jimmy Lambrecht, a senior we're hoping will help us out, and Walter Connolly, a football and hockey player, to help.

"We're definitely not writing anything off. We want to get back to the state finals. But to do that, we'll have to keep improving because it's not what you do in the season that counts, it's what happens in the state playoffs.

Backhurst said he felt the Knights' toughest regular-season competition would come during the month of October. "I think it will be a great playoff tune-up for us. We play Detroit Country Day, Cranbrook, North and South.

"The main thing is that we just go along taking one game at a time and supporting each other on and off the field."

ULS opened its soccer season Tuesday, Sept. 6, against Inter-City Christian (after press time).

A surprise in '82; an enigma in '83?

North High's varsity soccer team didn't win a state championship in 1982 ... but then again, nobody expected them to. They surprised just about everybody by winning a league title and a regional championship and placing two players on the Class A All-State team.

Guido Regelbrugge's squad may not surprise many people this year, after the loss of eight starters, including all-State midfielder Paul Regelbrugge who is now plying his trade at Kalamazoo College. But even Guido Regelbrugge won't venture a guess on the outcome of this season.

"We have a very young team after losing eight starters. It's just a question of how the kids who have moved up from the junior varsity will do, a question of if they are ready to play some of these big guys," Regelbrugge said.

"It's a totally new team, so it's hard to predict what will happen. We're not as good as last year when we were 16-1-2. Now does that mean that we're around 8-8 or 10-9?"

It means, as Regelbrugge answered his own question, that North will be capable of surprising any team, but not able to consistently beat the "big guys." And he'll have to do it behind the efforts of his young players and three returning starters.

"Marc Tirikian is my top goal scorer and he's just coming off a bad injury. Mark Kreuter will be my top man in midfield and Dave Waldeck will have to come through. They're going to have to carry us," Regelbrugge said.

Sterling Heights Stevenson and Utica Eisenhower are the favorites in North's division, but Regelbrugge says he's giving the edge to little-known Chippewa Valley. "They're got a one-two punch — Gus Tanos and Timmy Busch — I've followed him for years and he can score goals. They can beat us. And South will be very good this year, too."

"These young kids, if they are ready to take the knocks from the seniors, we'll be all right. But I look at it as a challenge, like I do every year," Regelbrugge said.

"We'll hang in there and give it the best we've got," said Regelbrugge, whose North teams have earned a 45-5-4 record in three years, losing just two games by more than one goal.

"If we have to make it a learning year, I will. But I think we've got the kind of team that will give everybody a run for their money."

The Norsemen opened their season Sept. 5 against Mt. Clemens (after press time).

A matter of concentration for ULS golfers

Paul Butler's ULS golf squad won a state championship last season and despite losing two seniors from that title team, Butler seemed confident that the Knights might be ready for a return engagement as the top golf contingent in Class C.

"If anything, we should be a little bit stronger in Class C. We've still got our top four, Sean Thomas, Dain French, John MacLeod and Jim Valice. And now we're in a new league which involves Detroit Country Day School and North, so we'll be competing with the best in the tri-county all year long," Butler said.

"Looking at the teams, I only see St. Stephen as being as good as us ... and that's a maybe.

"What will we have to do to get back in the finals? Well, we've got three seniors and at that stage of the game for a golfer, it's just a matter of concentration.

"If they apply themselves mentally, we could stay up in the top five or even the top three in the state."

ULS's first match of 1983 was at Lochmoor Country Club against Bishop Gallagher, Sept. 7 (after press time).

Graduation dims North cross country hopes

North cross country coach Dave McEvers isn't kidding when he says he lost a "terrible amount" of his 1982 Class A state championship team to graduation. Ten out of 12 starters traded in their cross country shirts for graduation robes this summer, and that doesn't leave much for McEvers to work with.

"This is definitely not Grosse Pointe North's year. We've only got two seniors and you very seldom win a state championship without seniors," McEvers said.

Only Joe Carroll and Pete Strek return to the defending state championship Norsemen. "From there on, it'll be wide open. In the time trials we've been positioning freshmen and sophomores ... that'll tell you how young this team will be.

"But, you never know what's going to happen. It's just that you don't win big with freshmen ... unless it's a Joe Schmidt."

Schmidt led the Norsemen for three years, setting school records and winning All-State honors in 1982 ... but he graduated in June and McEvers has yet to find another freshman in the Schmidt mold for his 1983 squad.

Hockey sign-up is Saturday

The Grosse Pointe Hockey Association wants to remind parents that registration for players 5 to 20 is set for this Saturday, Sept. 10, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Community Rink on Canyon Road.

Participation in the G.P.H.A.'s 1983-84 season gives youngsters a chance to skate for fun, learn teamwork, make new friends and discover how to win and lose gracefully, according to a G.P.H.A. spokesman.

Thursday night races conclude

The Grosse Pointe Farms Boat Club held its final race of the season Aug. 18, with 48 boats participating. The Aug. 11 race was canceled due to high seas and winds gusting out of the north to 47 miles per hour.

Following are the top three finishers.

PHRF A: PEF, Paul Franks; Windwalker, Bill Srigley; Sonset, Sonny Gorenflo.

PHRF B: Rugger, Matt Patterson; Bandit, Mike Bamford; Persistence, Larry Walter.

PHRF C: Sirius, Gene Bertelsen; Yellow Jacket, William Macnaughton; Fluffy, Gary Dysert.

JAM A: Gung Ho, Neal Bauer; Toots, Joe Schulte; Usury, Ralph Watkins.

Grid starters . . .

Inter-Club net champs crowned

The Grosse Pointe Men's Inter-Club Tennis League completed its season recently, with the Country Club of Detroit taking the tennis racquet trophy for its overall winning efforts.

In the "A" bracket, CCD took first place and tied with the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club in the "B" bracket to earn the championship. CCD had 29 season wins, followed by Indian Village with 24, the Hunt Club with 22 and the ULS Racquet Club with 20. Bringing up

As for North's main competition ... well, Sumner says we'll have to wait and see about that.

"It'll be a challenge. Six out of nine of the schools we play will be new to us or will have new coaches. Only Lakeview, South and Clintondale are coming back with the same coaches. But I think we've filled in with a good schedule. We'll play Dearborn, which has been 6-3 for the last five years, Waterford Mott and Waterford Kettering, which were both 7-2 last season."

Sumner is hard-pressed to spot the weaknesses on his ballclub ... provided the Norsemen can correct the problems of 1982. He's even looking ahead at the great group of ninth graders North will field in 1983. But the job at hand for Sumner and his Norsemen is the challenge of a new schedule and the elimination of some old difficulties. Sumner thinks the Norsemen are up to it.

"We've got the numbers, enough guys coming back in key positions and the kids' attitude is great. And as for the independent schedule, well ... when you put in time like these kids have, I don't see what we're getting playing games and winning 40-0.

"If we can play a very competitive schedule, then get into the playoffs, then that will be great."

Tough road

(Continued from Page 1C) Ottawa; but since Giftos has one of the squad's finest throwing arms, Janiga says he might look at him in that spot.

Janiga said he thinks Detroit Country Day School will pose the biggest threat on the Knights' schedule. "They're very strong and our biggest rival," he said. The Knights open up tomorrow, Friday, Sept. 9, against Carsonville, and despite the ULS' squad's lack of numbers and experience, Janiga says his squad looks forward to the season.

"I'm very impressed with the kids' attitude. They've responded very well to the learning situation and we're very satisfied with that," Janiga added.

"I'm just keeping my fingers crossed that we don't get too many injuries, teaching them the best we can ... and hoping."

South wants EML

(Continued from Page 1C) Rathsburg and Jim Arnold also add strength to the South lineup. Both are capable of playing on offense and defense again this year, with Arnold at split end and safety and Rathsburg at halfback and safety. Linebacker Steve Carrier, defensive end Steve Reynolds and running back-defensive safety Jim Corbett round out the cast. Hepner hopes will be able to defend the EML crown.

"Most of these guys were juniors last year and they were a big part of the undefeated season. They want success this year too, in the very worst way. We're looking to them for sound leadership," Hepner said.

"Our goal is to win the EML, it's as simple as that. We've never won two in a row and we'd like to do it this year. As for anything after that, it's all going to be tough. Utica Eisenhower is one of the top teams in the state and the North game is always a big one ..."

Following the Blue Devils' 17-7 loss to Milford Lakeland in the regional finals last November, Hepner said he thought South had a good start on a championship year in 1983 — if his team wanted to work for it. His opinion, especially in light of the general improvement in the EML, hasn't changed.

"I'm confident that we'll be hard to beat, but we're going to have to work for it. Everybody else has been practicing since Aug. 15, too."

Swim Club holds open meeting

The Grosse Pointe Swim Club will hold an open meeting to discuss the operation of the club, including the objectives, costs, problems and other information pertinent to the program, Monday, Sept. 12, at 7:30 p.m. at the North High School.

Registration for the G.P. Swim Club will be at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 14, at the North pool.

Walk or swim to these classes

The Grosse Pointe School System's Department of Community Education will offer plenty of opportunities for exercise this fall, in the form of race walking and swim programs.

The swimming program, which consists of both recreational activities and instructional classes, and is slated to begin in mid-September.

In addition, there's an age-group competitive swimming program cosponsored by the Department of Community Education and the Grosse Pointe Swim Club. The recreational programs, beginning the week of Sept. 26, consist of open swims, family swims, and adult swims. No advance registration is required for recreational swims.

The instructional programs include classes for pre-school, children, and adults. Fees for all swimming instructional activities, which must accompany appropriate enrollment forms, are payable in advance at The Department of Community Education.

Ten-week classes for pre-school children (six months to three years) are slated for Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday beginning the week of Sept. 19. A parent orientation is scheduled for 7 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 15 at Brownell Middle School.

Other 10-week pre-school classes are slated for four and five year-olds on a similar schedule. They also begin, as will "Beginner and Advanced Beginner" classes and "Intermediate and Swimmer" classes the week of Sept. 19. Other offerings slated to begin Sept. 24 include "Basic Survival Swimming" and "Advanced Lifesaving."

Instructional classes for adults include "Beginner" and "Beginner/Advanced" classes start the week of Sept. 19, as does a "Sunrise Swim" and Swim and Stay Fit" activity.

Other offerings include "Swim and Exercise," "Swimnastics for Seniors," "Senior Citizen Swim," and a "Special Needs Swim." The roster includes "Diving" and "S.C.U.B.A. Diving," "Beginning Competitive Swimming" for children and "Masters' Competitive Swimming" for adults start the week of Sept. 19.

Among the many classes and activities in "Sports, Dance, and Exercise" offered this fall to residents of the school district is a 10-week class in recreational Racewalking.

"Very few individuals have done more for the relatively little known sport of racewalking or track and field than Dearborn Heights resident Frank Alongi who teaches the class beginning Sept. 19," said Lorrie Schulte, assistant in the Department of Community Education.

Fee for Racewalking, which meets Mondays and Wednesdays from 6:30 to 8 p.m., is $30. Those interested in registering must send a check to The Department of Community Education, 260 Chalfonte, Grosse Pointe Farms, 48236, prior to the first class.

For more information call Community Education at 343-2178.

Pointers play for Kalamazoo

A number of Grosse Pointe athletes — including an All-State soccer player — are ready to star for Kalamazoo College fall sports teams in 1983.

North High graduate Barbara Haug returns for her second year as a member of the Kalamazoo College women's field hockey squad. Pointers Tom Molitor and Jim Prevot will line up for the Hornet varsity football team which tied for third in the MIAA last year with a 5-2-1 record overall. Molitor, a De La Salle graduate, is a 6-2, 195-pound senior offensive guard. Prevot, a graduate of North High, is a 5-11, 185-pound junior linebacker.

Kalamazoo's men's soccer squad was 10-7-0 overall and finished third in the MIAA. Aiming to help improve the Hornets' record this year are North High graduates Paul Regelbrugge, Mirko Mikelic and Michael Azar, and University of Detroit High School alumnus Larry Bauer.

Azar, Bauer and Mikelic are fullbacks. Azar, a junior, Bauer, a sophomore and Mikelic, a freshman. Freshman Regelbrugge, who earned All-State honors in 1982 at North, will play at the midfield position.

Safe boating classes set

The United States Coast Guard Auxiliary, Flotilla 12-01, will offer boating safety and seamanship classes — a 12-week course for powerboaters and a 12-week course for sailboaters — at Kelly Junior High School on Kelly Road between 9 and 10 Mile Road.

The classes, which will meet each Wednesday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. began last night, Sept. 7. Fees for the ongoing classes are $14 for the first family member; $7 for each additional member.

Further information may be obtained by calling 775-8359 or 759-4384 (evenings).
