Spared

At least there's a little good news coming out of Beirut. Navy Hospital Corpsman 3rd Class Mark T. Hacala, son of Martin and Carol Hacala, of Stanhope Avenue, has been reported safe and sound by his father.

Mark is currently serving as part of the multi-national peacekeeping force in Beirut and is a member of the First Battalion, 8th Marine Regiment, 24th Marine Amphibious Unit from Camp Lejeune, N.C.

That's the very unit that was decimated by a terrorist attack two weeks ago. According to his father, Mark was living in barracks at the other end of the airport when the attack occurred. While Mr. Hacala said there were some anxious moments until the family was formally notified that Mark was safe, they felt he was okay because Mark never bunked in the headquarters.

Thank God.

The mating game

There's been some pretty good items in the classified section of our paper the last few weeks. For instance, in this edition, under the "Pets for Sale" section, you'll find the following ad: "Bride wanted - handsome German Shepherd gentleman seeking lady of his breeding and disposition. Object: puppies." How cute!

Just listen to all those sighs out there! The ladies in the classified section weren't sure where to place this ad since our paper doesn't carry a "Stud Services" section.

How about "Situation Wanted"? You make the final decision.

Is He out of work too?

Going hand in hand with that story was the response our paper received to an ad which ran in our paper two weeks ago.

In the "Help Wanted-General" section, someone placed an ad seeking an assistant proof reader. The ad read: assistant proofreader, requirement is for an individual with an excellent background, to proof balance sheets, financial statements, proposals, and special reports. Applicants should also have good organization abilities, be willing to accept additional responsibilities, such as reconciling bills, binding and distributing special reports and relieving on the switchboard, reception desks. Please send resume."

It would probably also be helpful if they had six arms and could fly. Anyway, one response to the ad (sent to the News P.O. box), came from an individual with a sense of humor who said they really needed the job, would like to have the job, but felt they probably couldn't meet all the requirements.

It was signed "God".

The rainbow knows

The News received more than a few phone calls about the beautiful rainbow that appeared over the lake last week. It was a double rainbow actually, a rather rare occurrence.

What made it even more beautiful was the way it was posed before a dark thundercloud gathered over Canada. From what the callers told us, the rainbow(s) ended at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

Somehow, that seems appropriate.

New group says it will support board

By Susan McDonald

A new group has jumped into the fray over school closings, this one in support of the Board of Education's efforts.

"I'm concerned about the lack of logic that's dominated discussions so far. If we've lost 45 percent of our students, it's time to close schools," said Joseph Callahan, one of the group's organizers. Callahan, of the Woods, is editor of Automotive Industries Magazine and a regular WJR commentator.

He met Sunday with a few dozen "parents, senior citizens, realtors and teachers" who plan to pass petitions, purchase newspaper ads and attend the school board's meetings.

"We want to inform the community of the facts without fear and hysteria. We want to show the school board that it is supported. And we want to show the 400 to 500 vocal elementary parents that there are plenty of people out here who support the board," Callahan said.

Elementary parents have lobbied strongly and loudly to stop Supt. Kenneth Brummel's proposal to close Barnes Elementary School, on Morningside Drive, and transfer sixth grade students into middle schools. The proposal is the third solution to the system's sharp enrollment decline that has been studied by the school board this year. Other plans called for closing four schools next fall. The board is scheduled to vote Nov. 14. It will meet once before then, at 8 p.m. Nov. 7 at South High School.

Callahan's group, calling itself Citizens to Support the Grosse Pointe Board of Education, has filed as a formal political action group with the county elections office and hopes to raise more than

$1,000. Its petition reads "I support the Board of Education and its role of providing educational leadership."

The elementary parents' group, called Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools, earlier presented to the board 6,525 surveys signed by residents. The group said 93 percent wanted elementary schools left open. A Free Press survey last month showed that two-thirds of the residents do not want schools closed.

Callahan said the elementary parents represent a relatively small segment of the community and that some persons who support the board are "afraid to go public."

"There's intimidation," he said. "Some people have been threatened with business failures. This is becoming a matter of principle. We're not going to run and hide on this."

Voters have given the school board three clues that they want some kind of consolidation, Callahan said: the 15-1 defeat last year of a proposal to build a swimming pool at South High, the slim margin by which last spring's millage question was approved, and the strong victories of two proponents of school closings in the board election last June.

"We have 216 elementary classrooms and only 99 are needed to educate school children. Forty are used for auxiliary purposes," Callahan said. "That leaves 77 unnecessary classrooms. There's no reason for that."

The opposition group, Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools, is as resolved as ever to stop the school reorganization. This week, the committee accused the school board of "misappropriation and mismanagement" of the school system in a newspaper advertisement.

The committee also filed a statement of organization with the election commission this week that indicates it will work for a recall of school board members who vote to close an elementary school or transfer sixth graders to a middle school, according to David Easlick, Jr., chairman of the recall group.

Easlick said in a press release that filing the statement of organization is just a preliminary step but it is "necessary to have a vehicle available in the event the school board should adopt the latest school closing plan."

If the group should succeed in recalling four board members, Gov. Blanchard would have the authority to appoint replacements, according to the state school code.

Shores cable franchise sold to ComCast

By Mike Andrzejczyk

ComCast Cablevision, Inc. and Cox Cable are expected to sign contracts this week closing the deal for Cox' sale of its St. Clair Shores, Grosse Pointe Shores and Fraser franchise for a reported $19 million to $23 million.

The two companies reached an agreement in principle last month for the sale of the franchise, a ComCast spokesman said. The final purchase documents are being prepared for the approval of both companies sometime this week, he added.

ComCast spokesman Abe Patlove said he was not at liberty to comment on the purchase price for the four-year-old franchise, but local cable observers put the price-tag at between $19 million and $23 million.

Cox was forced to begin looking for a buyer for its local franchise after reaching a definitive agreement for the purchase of WKBD Channel 50, Cox spokesman David Andersen said. Under Federal Communication Commission cross-ownership rules, a company cannot own more than one form of mass media in a given coverage area.

The sale of WKBD to Cox is not final, either, but is awaiting final approval from the federal commission, Andersen added.

ComCast representatives will appear before the Shores village council in November to ask for the formal transfer of the franchise, Village Superintendent Michael Kenyon said.

Under the franchise agreement between the cities and Cox, all three must give their approval for the transfer of the franchise, Cox Cable, St. Clair Shores general manager Mike Zimmer said. He noted that approval of all three communities was expected.

ComCast currently operates cable franchises in Warren, Sterling Heights, Utica, Mt. Clemens and Clinton, Shelby and Macomb Townships. ComCast operates about 70 cable systems in seven different states.

Grosse Pointe Cable made overtures to the three cities to join with the Group W system that serves the other four Pointes and Harper Woods, president John Rickel said.

Rickel said he approached Cox officials as well as community leaders about the joining of the two systems. He added he was "sorry Grosse Pointe Shores did not join our system."

"I believe, basically, the cities just decided not to become involved in the direction in which their franchise went," Rickel said. "We're sorry they took that position."

No formal bidding was involved in the purchase of the franchise, Rickel said. Grosse Pointe Cable may have had to consider another bond issue to purchase the Cox franchise at the reported sales price, he added.

Zimmer said ComCast will maintain the same services now provided by Cox. He added the same staff would most likely be kept on at the Cox offices in St. Clair Shores.

The only difference Cox subscribers will notice when the transfer is completed will be making out their monthly check to a different name, Zimmer said.

City council candidates use soft-gloved approach

By Harriet Nolan

Candidates for Grosse Pointe City Council appear hard pressed to find an issue on which to disagree. They all give high marks to the current council, and the city's administration and services.

But challengers know that one power has to give way to make room for another.

"I'm looking to replace John Youngblood," says Thomas J. Guthat, 44, a consumer affairs manager for the Ford Motor Company.

"I've been involved in this city's civic and community activities for years. This, combined with my work experience in cost accounting and consumer relations, gives me a good background."

Guthat says some residents have felt that their voiced concerns were taken as complaints by the council.

"City government has some responsibility to listen to residents," he says. "It's a two-way street."

Guthat is the city's Marina Watch Chairman and he would like to see a similar program expanded in the neighborhoods.

"I'm willing to organize it myself if I have to," he says.

The only candidate to come out against serving any kind of liquor in the City, Guthat worries that residents don't understand the full ramifications of a move in that direction.

"The city would lose control over the types of business, and its hours, and would have increased costs for additional police protection."

Musical opens theater season

Grosse Pointe Theater will open its season with the hit Broadway musical "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever" at the Fries Auditorium, Wednesday, Nov. 9.

"On a Clear Day . . ." focuses on the life — or lives — of Daisy Gamble, a young woman gifted with extrasensory perception who is susceptible to falling into hypnotic trances. Her uncanny abilities are revealed when she undergoes psychiatric treatment to break her smoking habit. Under hypnosis the 20th-century cigaret addict transforms into a beguiling 18th-century incarnation of herself, the mystifying Melinda Wells. Dr. Mark Bruckner, the psychiatrist who discovers her amazing talents, soon finds himself intrigued and in love, not with Daisy, but with the 18th-century Melinda.

The show opens Wednesday, Nov. 9, and runs Nov. 10 through 13 and continues Nov. 15 to 19. Performances will be in the Fries Auditorium of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road.

Pam Courtney and Ron Otulakowski have the starring roles of the patient and doctor with a centuries-spanning romance.

Dan Castle and Frank Greenia portray suitors in Daisy's 18th-century life, and Richard Granger plays her 20th-century benefactor and pension-seeking fiancé.

Also in the cast are Dean Erskine as the psychiatrist's colleague, Pat Varga as the doctor's secretary, and Laura Granger as Daisy's bubbly girlfriend. The cast is completed with a multi-charactered chorus consisting of Kevin Campbell, Patricia Ellis, Judith Gieseking, Molly Johnson, Diane Manko, Jim McHugh, Karyl Morris, Kristin Ordefer, Tom

In conjunction with Arbor Day 1983, the Grosse Pointe Park Beautification Commission planted an English Oak at Patterson Park last month. The planting was part of a procedure designed to secure the Park's designation as a "Tree City USA" by the National Arbor Day Foundation. On hand at the planting were (left to right) Jerry Abbs, organizer of the Park's tree sale; Al Mazur, vice-chairman of the Beautification Commission; Nancy Pilorget, chair of Arbor Day ceremonies; Mayor Douglas Graham and Doris Miller, chairman of the Commission. Order forms for trees being offered by the Commission during its fall sale are available now at the Park Municipal Building. Trees offered are a red flowering crab, white flowering crab, white flowering crab; flowering cherry, Red Oak and an Amur Maple. Residents of surrounding communities are also welcome to purchase trees through the Park Beautification Commission. Trees are also available for memorial plantings in Patterson Park in honor of special persons or occasions, the commission said. Individual trees would be identified by memorial plaques.

Shores man accused of mail fraud

The former director of out-patient psychiatric services at a Detroit area hospital was indicted last week by a federal grand jury on charges of allegedly submitting $25,000 in fraudulent claims to Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan and Medicare for services supposedly not provided.

Dr. Hubert Chang, 45, of Bellmeade in Grosse Pointe Shores, was alleged to have committed 25 counts of mail fraud in the submitting of claims for psychiatric counseling sessions which did not take place and treatments which were not provided, a Blue Cross spokesman said.

The bulk of the allegedly fraudulent bills were submitted over a 14-month period from July, 1980 to September, 1981 while Dr. Chang was director of outpatient services at Waydott General Hospital, a position he left last January. He also conducted a private practice in Trenton, a Blue Cross spokesman said.

William L. Smith, director of Blue Cross' Corporate and Financial Investigations Division, said his unit began looking into Dr. Chang's claims after receiving a tip on its toll-free hotline.

"We turned our findings over to U.S. Postal Inspectors, the Department of Health and Human Services and the U.S. Attorneys Office," Smith said.

Smith said the company would seek restitution should the allegations be proven.

Each count of mail fraud is punishable by a fine of $1,000 and a maximum five years in prison.

Hospitals will hold free tests for diabetes

Free blood tests to help detect diabetes will be offered by 180 Michigan hospitals and health centers during Diabetes Detection Week, Nov. 6 to 12. The statewide testing program is co-sponsored by the American Diabetes Association, Michigan Affiliate and is open to persons over 18 years of age who have not previously been diagnosed as diabetic.

Three local hospitals will take part in the program. Bon Secours will offer the tests from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m., Monday through Friday, Nov. 7 to 11. The hospital will test persons 18 years and over. Those under 18 must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. Report to the laboratory for the tests.

Cottage will offer the tests from 9 a.m. to noon that Monday through Friday. Participants should report to the Laboratory Waiting Room.

St. John will hold the free tests from Tuesday to Thursday, Nov. 8 to 10. Testing will be in meeting room A, Nov. 8, from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. in the Lower Education Center. Testing will be in meeting room D Nov. 9 and 10, from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. in the Lower Education Center.

An estimated 240,000 persons in Michigan have diabetes and don't know it. Persons most likely to develop diabetes are over 40, overweight, and have a family history of diabetes. They should be checked once a year for diabetes, advises Nancy Caputo, detection chairman.

Diabetes is a serious disease that is a major cause of heart attack, kidney failure, blindness and death. The symptoms of diabetes, when present, may include frequent urination, abnormal thirst, unusual hunger, rapid weight loss, itching, fatigue, blurred vision, and slow healing of cuts and scratches.

For best results, a meal high in carbohydrates with large amounts of starches and sugars should be eaten two hours before the test. Breakfast could be fruit or juice, cereal with milk and sugar, two slices of buttered toast with jam, and coffee or tea.

A person planning to take the test after lunch could have soup, a sandwich, cake or pie, and a glass of milk. The meal should be eaten within a 15-minute time period and nothing else except water should be taken before the test.

If the test indicates that a person may have diabetes, he will be advised to see his own physician for further evaluation.

This screening test and the recommended high carbohydrate meal are not appropriate for persons who have been told that they have diabetes.

More English language words start with "S" than with any other letter. Next comes "C." Then, "P."

St. John goes to the public

St. John Hospital began the second half of its $6 million fund-raising campaign last week by announcing it will go to the community for contributions to the hospital's $117 million renovation project and construction.

The campaign, titled First Fund, is the first time the hospital has gone to the public to secure voluntary funds, the hospital said.

First Fund began last March, when the hospital asked employees and medical staff for donations. The hospital's men's and women's auxiliaries also made contributions, the hospital said.

Pledges from the staff totalled more than $4.5 million. The hospital will now go to the community for the $1.5 million needed to reach its $6 million goal, a hospital spokesman said.

The funds will be used to supplement the sale of $111 million in tax-exempt bonds used to construct a Trauma and Concentrated Care facility as well as a 500-car parking deck. In addition, the hospital building will be renovated and remodeled, a hospital spokesman said.

General Chairman for the First Fund campaign is Sharon Bruke, of the Farms. Honorary general chairman is David Easlick.

Punch will show Britannia Hospital

"Britannia Hospital," described as the M*A*S*H of socialized medicine, will play from Friday, Nov. 11, to Thursday, Nov. 17, at the Punch and Judy Theater, 21 Kercheval.

Set in a 500-year-old hospital in London, England, the movie satirizes everything from television journalism and modern bureaucracy to the Royal Family and high-tech medicine. The cast includes Malcolm McDowell, star of "A Clockwork Orange" and "Time after Time."

Pointer picked for Legal Services post

By Susan McDonald

Senate confirmation hearings began yesterday in Washington, D.C. on President Reagan's nomination of Pointer W. Clark Durant III to the board of Legal Services Corp.

Legal Services finances aid for poor Americans in such civil actions as divorce, landlord-tenant disputes and Social Security benefit cases. Reagan has asked Congress to abolish the corporation.

Durant, 34, acknowledges his appointment will thrust him into the middle of Reagan's dispute with Congress over financing Legal Services, but says he's going in with "an open mind."

"There's a lot to be done. I don't have any preconceived notions and I'd like to listen, first, to what everyone has to say."

Durant was appointed in March as Trustee of the Michigan Interstate Railroad Co., the former Ann Arbor Railroad, by U.S. Secretary of Transportation Elizabeth Dole. He is in a general law practice with his father, Richard Durant, in downtown Detroit. Durant said he is often appointed by local judges to represent indigent clients in the Detroit area.

He is a graduate of Tulane University and Notre Dame Law School. He worked as assistant to the president and vice-president of Hillsdale College before entering law school.

Durant is a native Grosse Pointe and attended Richard School and Grosse Pointe University School (now University Liggett). He resides in the Park and his wife, Susan, is president of the Women's Republican Club of Grosse Pointe. They have four children, Hope, 7, Maggie, 5, Thomas Clark, 3, and John Lothrop, seven months old.

Durant worked on President Reagan's 1976 and 1980 presidential campaigns and has been active in local Republican politics as a precinct delegate and representative to state conventions.

Ex-coach organizes teens against drunk driving

By Kip Monahan
South High

Spreading a SADD word, Robert Anastas spoke to about 200 Grosse Pointe students at University Liggett last week about his organization — Students Against Driving Drunk. The group listened intently as Anastas gave the reasons for the creation of the program and his concern for teenagers who sometimes, "mix drinking and driving."

Anastas first realized the problem when he coached a hockey team, and two of his players were killed in separate accidents only four days apart, in July of 1981. He explained them as, "needless deaths." The weeks after the accident he watched kids at the funeral, friends of the athletes. He wondered what he could do about the problem. His solution was SADD, which he has promoted throughout the country.

Since the introduction of SADD, it has blossomed to over 6,000 chapters throughout the country, with a few in Michigan. SADD involves more than 3 million high school students across the nation, and through a contract that the parents and children sign, is trying to reduce the number of alcohol related car accidents.

The contract is very simple, and Anastas calls it "the contract of life." The student part of the contract states: "I agree to call you for advice and/or transportation at any hour, from any place, if I am ever in a situation where I have had too much to drink or a friend who is driving me has had too much to drink."

The parents also sign a contract of their own, stating: "I agree to come, and get you, at any hour, any place, if requested, and no argument at the time, or I will pay for a taxi to bring you home safely. I would expect we discuss the issue at a later time. I agree to seek safe, sober transportation home if I am ever in a situation where I have had too much to drink or a friend who is driving me has had too much to drink."

"Without the agreement," Anastas says, "students may try to avoid a hassle, and probably would not call home. Then they would try to drive home, trying to challenge death, and when you challenge death, you lose."

In his one-hour presentation, Anastas gave his thoughts on why there were so many teenage traffic deaths involving alcohol. The major reason he said, "is the lack of communication between kids and their parents. The kids are afraid to share their lives with their parents and don't think they will understand if they call them in the middle of the night and tell them they are too drunk to drive."

The statistics are staggering on the number of teenage deaths, nearly 8,000 to 9,000 a year. He also pointed out that there are more than 3.3 million teenage alcoholics in the U.S.

To conduct the affairs of SADD, Anastas was forced to make great personal sacrifice, giving up his job as a high school teacher, counselor, and coach which he enjoyed for 22 years in Marlboro, Mass. Anastas said "The real problem is with students, so it should be solved by the students, with my help."

To point out the success of the SADD, Anastas referred to an area of New York, where one boy had died for the past four years, and on the fifth year, no teenagers died in alcohol related car accidents, and the only thing different in the area was the "introduction of SADD."

"The page in the school's yearbook that had been dedicated to students who died the last four years was dedicated to SADD," he said.

For more information on SADD, interested parties can write Anastas at: Students Against Driving Drunk, 110 Pleasant St., Corbin Plaza, Marlboro, Mass., 01752. A copy of the contract can also be requested at this same address.

Panel delays rezoning issue

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Two zoning proposals will have to wait until next month for a final decision by the Woods Planning Commission. The commission deadlocked 3-3 on changing the zoning classifications, then tabled the action until November.

The areas considered for rezoning are a section of Mack between Brys and Old Eight Mile on the east side of the street and a section of property on Vernier from Vernier Circle to Fairway.

The Mack property, currently zoned for commercial use, was proposed to be changed to restricted office district at the commission's September meeting. The Vernier property was proposed to change from one-family residential to planned multiple family residential.

Both changes would reflect present land uses in the areas, planning consultant Brandon Rogers said.

Three commissioners were absent and excused from the Tuesday, Oct. 25 meeting.

Also that night, commissioners rejected a recommendation from the city's Community Development Block Grant Advisory Commission to put the city's North Mack storefront plan guidelines into ordinance form.

The CDBG commission made the recommendation as part of a proposal to offer incentives for the storefront renovations. The other parts of the recommendation, which were sent to both the planning commission and council, were to offer a tax freeze on city taxes for a five-year period for those who complete their storefronts in conformance with the plan, and the request for studying the possibility of a revolving loan fund to help businessmen pay for the renovations.

Commissioners instead accepted the principle of the renovations in order to insure colonial construction along Mack instead of codifying the plans in guideline form. The commission felt it was more important the spirit of the proposals be followed, rather than the letter of the proposals, city officials said.

The council could decide to ask for the drafting of the ordinance, since it was also asked to act on the CDBG commission's recommendation, city officials said. There were problems with adopting the drawings as well as the guidelines as part of an ordinance that would have to be resolved, officials added.

for MAYOR of GROSSE PTE. PARK

Authors come to town
Joan Woodhouse (left) and Gail Kaess (right), are the co-chairs of this year's War Memorial's Book and Author Luncheon. The luncheon, which will feature authors Hillel Levin, "Grand Delusions: The Cosmic Career of John DeLorean," Ronna Romney, "Giving Time a Chance: Secrets of a Lasting Marriage," Willie Morris, "The Courting of Marcus Dupree," and Pamela Kaufman, "Shield of Three Lions," will be Wednesday, Nov. 9, at noon. Tickets are $10. For more information call 881-7511.

Social worker will discuss issues

The second in this year's series of "Issues of Our Times" programs, scheduled by the Department of Community Education of The Grosse Pointe Public School System, will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 10, in the library of Brownell School.

Howard Hush, a retired administrator in mental health and social work who now plays an active role in contemporary affairs, will speak on "The Coming of Age in Our Time."

The presentation is open to the public free of charge.

The department of Community Education has recruited among retired local residents to encourage them to share their knowledge and experience with others.

Upcoming speakers include Woodburn O. Ross, who will talk on "A Personal Perspective on Education" on Jan. 18 and Alexander Moore, whose topic will be "What Charles Darwin Saw in the Galapagos Islands" on March 22.

For further information contact the department of Community Education at 343-2178.

Cancer and diet to be discussed

Back by popular demand, Norman Nigro, M.D., will present his research findings on prescribed diets and their relationships to cancers of the digestive tract on Thursday, Nov. 10 at Cottage Hospital. The program will be held in the Boardrooms on the lower level of the hospital from 7 to 9 p.m.

Nigro, a member of the medical staff at Cottage Hospital and the department of surgery at Wayne State University's School of Medicine will offer practical suggestions for altering dietary habits to promote health.

Recently, health care professionals have become increasingly aware of the relationship between diet and some cancers, such as those connected with the cancer colon, rectum, breast and prostate.

Studies of the geographic distribution of cancer have made it clear that in some cultures certain cancers occur rarely or not at all. Scientific research shows that the dietary habits of these people play a significant role in preventing the development of these cancers.

There is no charge to attend the lecture. Reservations should be made in advance by calling the Cottage Hospital Education department at 884-8600, extension 2390.

Bon Secours to build new Park facility

By Harriet Nolan

The Grosse Pointe Park Planning Commission unanimously approved a plan for an Internal Medicine outpatient facility for Bon Secours Hospital at its meeting Tuesday, Oct. 18.

The 5,000 square foot, one story building is expected to be completed by June 1984, according to Kenneth Carruthers, design partner of Prevost, Tracey & Partners, Inc. who designed the building.

The building will be built on Kercheval Avenue at the corner of Lakepointe on a former gas station site.

Candidate accused of distorting issues

By Harriet Nolan

The audience of about 35 people who listened to the candidates for Grosse Pointe Park City Council Wednesday, Oct. 26, at Pierce Auditorium heard name calling, rehashing of old issues along with a few new ideas.

The meeting got off to a rousing start when incumbent councilman Anthony Spada accused the current administration of "blunting, tampering and altering the truth." It ended when Mayor Douglas Graham called Spada "an absolute zero" as a member of council.

Spada continued throughout the evening to attack the present administration. He hurled charges that the council gave him and Park citizens evasive answers and misleading information regarding the zoning ordinances.

He said the council had pushed for high-rise building and the sub-division of Three Mile Park. It was only through his own efforts, said Spada, that the people were alerted and the plans dumped.

Attorney David Gaskin, a challenger for one of the three council seats, got a rousing round of applause from the audience when he responded to Spada's remarks regarding the controversial zoning issue.

"I'm sick and tired of having people distort some of the issues," said Gaskin.

"The fact of the matter is, you go through an extremely complex process of considering a lot of things when changing an ordinance. Although it's taken a while, the council has come up with a good ordinance," Gaskin added.

Two issues that brought general agreement from the contenders involved housing for senior citizens and representation on the council by district.

Mayor Douglas Graham, challenger Palmer Heenan, incumbent councilman John Prost, and challengers David Gaskin and Vernon Ausherman were against districting the council seats. Some of the contestants' decisions were based on the small size of the city and the risk of splitting it into small groups.

Incumbent Spada was undecided and Challenger John Ryan said it would bring a broader representation of people to the council.

All of the candidates expressed sympathy for the plight of senior citizens who wanted smaller, maintenance, free homes in the Park, but said there just wasn't any room left in any of the Pointes available for that specific use. The forum will be aired tonight at 9 p.m. on Grosse Pointe Cable channel 19.

Baha'i's to discuss civil obedience

The topic for discussion at the Baha'i Fireside on Tuesday, Nov. 8, will center around obedience to government and service in the military.

The discussion will begin at 7:30 p.m. at 1390 Whittier, in the Park. Refreshments will be served and the public is invited to attend.

Park to reclaim Lakepointe lot

By Harriet Nolan

Effort Inc., a Michigan non-profit agency, isn't living up to its agreement with Grosse Pointe Park and the city wants the land back, the council unanimously decided at its meeting on Monday, Oct. 24.

Council instructed city attorney Herold Deason to initiate forfeiture action because H. Ford Prince, president of Effort Inc., has not complied with the conditions of the land contract.

Some of the conditions include installing and maintaining a 60-foot greenbelt facing Lakepointe Avenue, and constructing a solid masonry wall along the Jefferson and Lakepointe Avenue side of the parking lot.

Agreement on the land contract dated Oct. 15, 1981 stipulated that all applications for the necessary building permits for the construction with respect to the vacant lots would be completed "forthwith." It further agreed that all exterior work with respect to the office building and parking lots would be completed within 12 months of the issuance of the permits.

"It's been two years and Ford never applied for a permit," said city attorney Herold Deason. "Forthwith means immediately."

At the Oct. 24 council meeting, city manager John Crawford read a letter from Prince, which stated "some of the extenuating circumstances which has greatly affected our ability to move along on this project."

These included costs incurred to relocate a home for the handicapped in Poletown which delayed him from making the Park property improvements.

"My only reason for telling you all of this is that we were going ahead on the Jefferson program in good faith and everything changed, of which we had no control," wrote Prince.

"In regards to the Jefferson property, at the time we purchased the building we knew that we would have to make some improvement, but did not realize how extensive, until we started renovation of the apartments," he added.

He asked that the council consider the improvements that he has made to date. The list dealt with updating to the building, not the vacant land in question.

When reached at his office, Prince said he had not ignored the problems, but had had to make a definite and defined choice of what to do first.

"I really haven't too much to say until I discuss it with my attorney," said Prince.

The lots were purchased for $20,000.

For Farms council

While no major issues have surfaced during the Farms election campaign, the fact that two incumbents are retiring and four challengers are competing with two other incumbents for four council posts adds more than ordinary interest to the Nov. 8 balloting.

All of the candidates are long-time Farms residents, are interested in maintaining or improving services, favor further upgrading of the Hill shopping district, express concern about the lack of maintenance of Lakeshore Road and deplore what is happening to the estates that once lined that thoroughfare. The interests of the individual candidates vary but not even the challengers are finding much fault with city government in the Farms.

UNDER THE CIRCUMSTANCES, the Grosse Pointe News believes the reelection of the two incumbents, Mayor James H. Dingeman and Harry Echlin, would best serve the interests of Farms residents. Choosing among the challengers is more difficult but after interviewing them and reviewing their background and experience the News expresses a preference for Mary Anne Ghesquiere and Bruce Rockwell to succeed the two retiring council members, Jack M. Cudlip and Lloyd A. Semple.

Leading the list of candidates in experience is Mayor Dingeman who has served on the council for 17 years and as mayor the last eight. Earlier he had served as mayor pro tem for four years. Both posts are filled in the Farms by the council from its own members.

A low-key official, Dingeman tends to deprecate his accomplishments except to say he had tried to bring the troops together. And he believes he has done so with respect to such matters as efforts to upgrade the Hill shopping area, Mack Avenue and Pier Park. The Farms Foundation was basically Dingeman's idea and he now points with pride to the new community building erected in the park in large part with foundation funds.

The mayor also says that the Farms council, by sticking to principle, won at least "a modicum of success" in its long controversy with the Wayne County Road Commission over the resurfacing of Lakeshore Road. He emphasizes that if the council had gone ahead to improve the road on its own, as recommended by some residents and by this newspaper, it could have jeopardized the several hundreds of thousands of dollars the commission is committed to spend on other county roads in the Farms.

While some people have criticized the Farms council for not working more closely with Hill merchants, Dingeman believes relationships are good. He says Richard Solak, city clerk, regularly attends Hill Association meetings. And he thinks Pat Reynolds, head of the association, does a good job of cooperating with city government. While there has been talk of an ordinance mandating that new Hill businesses on the first floor must be retail establishments, Dingeman says nothing is under active consideration now. He expressed hope, however, that the new office building being planned would house retailers on the first floor and thus improve the area's shopping appeal.

Henry Ford's development of 18 cluster housing units on his Lakeshore property, Dingeman believes, was the "next best thing" to having Ford continuing to occupy his home. He thinks the project will work out in view of the current demand but points out the Farms doesn't have many estates left for any similar developments.

Dingeman praises the level of services, including police and fire protection, traffic control and trash pickup, and is proud of the council's record of having kept a lid on city property taxes. He conceded the Farms will need to replace its sewer system which now is 50 to 60 years old but he says the system is constantly being monitored for possible breaks.

If this account gives the impression of a council which keeps a close eye on costs and taxes, maintains a careful watch of services and wants to continue upgrading commercial and residential property in the Farms, then it's a fairly accurate one, not only in the mind of Mayor Dingeman but with the other candidates as well. Disagreements tend to be on minor issues in the Farms campaign.

ECHLIN, A LIFE-long Farms resident, who is completing his first four-year term, feels, as Dingeman does, that the council made a major accomplishment by achieving "a zero increase in taxes" and maintaining the Farms' debt-free status. But he disagrees mildly with the tax abatement voted for the proposed office building and parking deck on the Hill. While he feels nobody should get such a tax break, he thinks the new deck should make the Hill more pleasant for shoppers. And he hopes the Hill also can attract an elite store to draw more customers to the shopping area.

Echlin thinks it might be necessary to enact an ordinance to require the new first-floor business on the Hill to be retail establishments although he hasn't heard much reaction to the proposal which is only in the discussion stages. As for future problems, Echlin says unifying the fire and police departments, expansion of the tree replacement program, residential property improvement and resumption of the sidewalk replacement program, held in abeyance during the recession, are other matters for consideration.

Echlin, a lifelong Farms resident who is a regional governmental affairs manager in Michigan for Ford Motor Co., is proud of the fact he has attended all but five of 82 council meetings during his term. In addition, he has attended many other meetings as commissioner for the police and fire department retirement system and the same system for other employees.

MRS. GHESQUIERE, a resident of the Farms for 14 years and of the Pointes for 30, is administrator of the St. Anthony Mead Retirement Residence. If elected, she promises to resolve the issues and problems of Farms' residents in a fair and equitable manner. She would respond, she says, to residents' concerns about keeping taxes down, improving the condition of the community's sidewalks and upgrading the Hill shopping area as well as residential areas.

She also believes streets, trees and housing in the Farms ought to be well maintained and that services and aesthetic values ought to be continued at a high quality level to improve the overall character of the Farms community. She thinks further upgrading of the Hill is necessary and favors limiting the first floor fronts of new businesses to retail establishments. She says such a move would increase the Hill's attractiveness for retail business and serve residents better.

With respect to the Farms' squabbles with the Wayne County Road Commission, she believes the council should explore alternative methods of improving the roads either through legislation, the courts or self-help. She opposed any reciprocal agreements with the road commission that would diminish the Farms' authority over local issues.

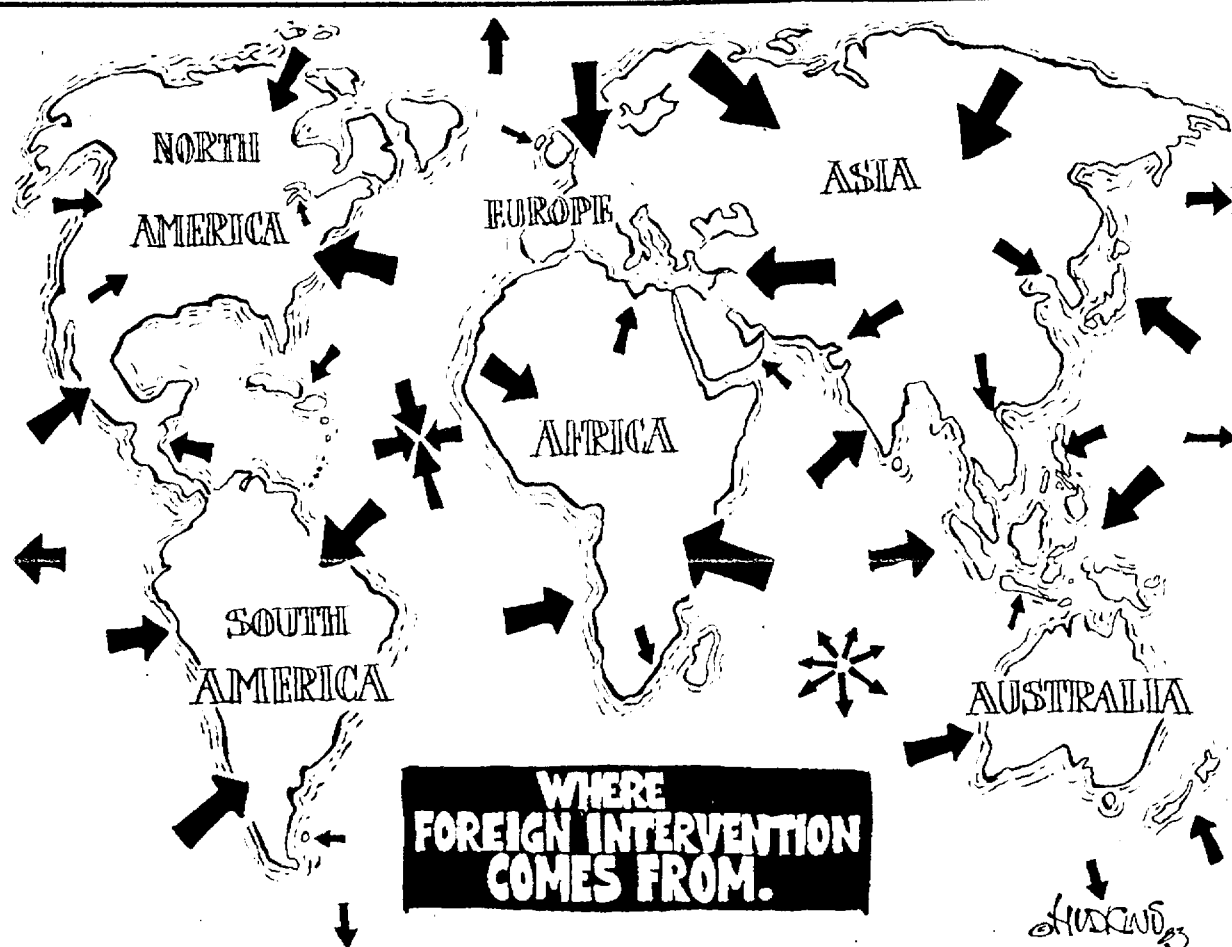

ROCKWELL, A FARMS resident for 15 years who has lived in the Pointes since 1945, is an executive with a firm that underwrites municipal bonds, and also serves as director of several other publicly-held corporations. He feels his decision-making experience in business would serve the Farms government well, too. He praises the council's record in avoiding tax increases, in keeping the city debt free and in tackling other problems.

He also favors upgrading of the Hill business district but thinks it needs to be marketed to attract high-quality retail merchants. If the zoning ordinance under discussion could be put into effect without undue hardship, he thinks it would benefit both owners and tenants on the Hill.

Rockwell believes that the change in people's lifestyles means that cluster housing like that planned for the Ford property, may be the trend of the future. He points out that with an aging population, the Farms also might have to study alternative housing, not high rises but perhaps the conversion of existing structures into turnkey residences for older people who want to remain Farms' residents.

On Lakeshore maintenance and repair, Rockwell would work for a permanent solution with the road commission on all county roads in the Farms. He thinks if the county is not using the Farms' share of state revenues to maintain roads in the Farms, the council may have to propose some other solution, perhaps including city participation in maintenance.

As this account indicates, there really isn't all that much difference among these four candidates, nor, in fact, do the two other candidates, Milena Raynal and Rick Rutan, express viewpoints that are far removed from those of the four endorsed. It is on the basis of their experience and background and their interviews with the News that we support Dingeman, Echlin, Ms. Ghesquiere and Rockwell. Some residents no doubt will prefer one or both of the other candidates who would serve the community well, too. Voters have a right to their views just as their newspaper has an obligation to provide information and express its views for the guidance of voters when they go to the polls Nov. 8.

Volstead revisited

Ever since the passage of the Volstead Act on Oct. 28, 1919, it has been illegal to sell beer, wine and intoxicating liquor by the glass in the City of Grosse Pointe but now, 64 years later, the continuance of that sales prohibition has become a mild political issue in the Nov. 8 city election.

After the 21st Amendment to the Constitution on Dec. 5, 1933, repealed the 18th Amendment, a referendum in the City maintained the prohibition against the sale of beer, wine and intoxicating liquor by the glass. It has become a mild issue now because of the council's rejection of a request by four business places for tavern licenses to serve beer and wine by the glass.

Instead, the council said it wanted more time to study the issue and its ramifications. But it did say it would consider putting the matter on the ballot in November, 1984, a move which did not satisfy the petitioners who had wanted an advisory referendum on Nov. 8.

THE THREE COUNCIL incumbents seeking election — Arthur S. Fettes, Jr., Jeanette H. Duffield and John E. Youngblood — supported the action to delay a decision for a year. While the two challengers take somewhat different positions, Thomas O'Rourke, a food broker, approved of the council's action, while Thomas J. Guthat, a Ford Motor Co. executive, opposes the issuance of licenses. He thinks the people will, too, when they learn about the possible loss of city control and other ramifications of the licensing.

Yet none of the candidates indicated the issue had stirred up much reaction except from those directly involved in applying for the licenses. Ms. Duffield pointed out, however, that the issue also involves the question of whether the City should permit Class C (bar) licenses for the sale of liquor by the glass. That possibility persuades her that the council should act "with extreme caution" before granting any tavern licenses.

None of this makes liquor a very exciting or controversial issue, but it still appears to be the only one that arouses much general interest in the campaign. Even the challengers agree that the level of municipal services is excellent, that taxes and spending seem to have been kept under reasonable control despite inflationary pressures and that the public appears to be well satisfied with the way in which the city business is being run.

All five candidates for the three council seats are well qualified, responsible citizens but in view of the incumbents' performance and the lack of complaints, even from the challengers, the Grosse Pointe News really sees no reason for a change. So we endorse the return to the council of the three incumbents — Fettes, Ms. Duffield and Youngblood — without denigrating the capabilities of the challengers.

Youngblood, it is true, has only recently been appointed to the council to fill a vacancy for which O'Rourke also was nominated. But Youngblood, a practicing lawyer, had previous experience in city problems by representing the city in its contracts with the police department. His business counseling experience also should serve him in good stead on the council.

Fettes, a veteran of 12 years of service, obviously knows the City's problems well. He helped carry out the consolidation of the police and fire departments into the Public Safety Department which he feels has worked out well and has made the best use of city personnel. He believes the City has kept a good handle on taxes and that its services have remained at a high level.

Ms. Duffield, who also has given 10 years of service since her appointment in 1973, has been active in the Michigan Municipal League and has served on its legislative committees in Lansing, an assignment that has made it possible for her to keep abreast of state and federal laws and regulations that affect the City. She also feels services have been maintained at a high level.

As the first and only woman ever to serve on the council, she emphasizes that gender should not be a condition of election by itself but she thinks it is appropriate to ask voters to consider she is the only woman in the race.

IN THE CITY, as in the other Pointes, the Grosse Pointe News makes recommendations for the council after interviewing the candidates and reviewing their records and their backgrounds. Some residents no doubt will disagree with us and that is their right, just as it ours to express our choices. Whatever decisions the voters decide to make when they go to the polls, we hope that they will try to obtain as much information as possible before making their judgments.

Letters to the Editor

Singles invade the library

To the Editor:

The decline of the American educational system is alive and well and living in the Grosse Pointe Library on Sunday afternoons. After a two year lapse, I decided I would again endeavor studying for an afternoon in the library which my tax dollars support. Much to my chagrin, nothing has changed and the library must still be the singles hang-out for the Pointes on Sunday afternoons.

While seated at a table in the research section, I was joined by a group of young adults who found discussing their previous night's activities more important than doing research. It didn't appear to me that this required their presence in the library. I hardly think that their party made the New York Times.

When I asked these industrious types to cool it, they most graciously moved to the next table and their whispers became a dull roar. At no time did they discuss anything more than the amount of Stroh's they had at the party.

While all this was going on the librarian made no attempt to quiet them or better yet ask them to leave. Though libraries have been pick up joints for years, librarians have generally been able to stem the fluctuation of hormone and testosterone levels and channel them into more productive routes like utilizing brain cells. I don't know if librarian assertiveness is on the wane or what — but I know that when I was that age, librarians were more willing to restore order and keep the library quiet.

Perhaps part of the failure of American schools stems from the inability of those in charge to assert discipline and impose upon self centered adolescents the fact that they aren't the only people who use the library, or for that matter any other type of institution.

To say the least I am disappointed that such a fine library system can not promulgate and enforce rules which outline appropriate behavior. If these most disruptive types can't contain themselves then they don't belong there. If the librarians can't enforce quiet then open the library at 9 a.m. on Sunday so that serious users can accomplish their purpose before the kids wake up. From the way they talked they probably would not recover from their hangovers until noon.

SEMTA cuts are unfair to kids

To the Editor:

I am very disappointed at the decision SEMTA has made to cancel many of the bus runs to all of the Grosse Pointe schools.

Students who depend on the buses taking them to and from school will find it especially hard in the winter months. It will be even harder on middle school students who don't drive. Most families who have both parents working rely on public transportation.

SEMTA must realize that it is a public service. Let it solve its financial problems in a different area. Getting students to school is too important to eliminate.

Reader asks, why Barnes?

The reasons for the closing of Barnes School as stated by Supt. Kenneth Brummel have been studied and analyzed by Barnes parents and members of the community at large. We do not feel that we have been given answers that apply to specific known criteria for school closings to help us understand why one school is slated for closing and why that school is Barnes.

Quality of education in terms of the educational performance of Barnes students cannot possibly have been a criterion for closure. A review of students' test scores from 1978 to 1981 was obtained from the office of Roger McCaig, director of Research and Development. The incoming (kindergarten) class in 1977 did not have a choice of two sections per grade. Barnes students and this class consistently scored among the top three Grosse Pointe elementary schools in the test samplings that were reviewed.

In Dr. Brummel's stated Reasons for Closing Barnes School of October 10, the following statement is made: "Barnes area families are less dependent on their facility than other parent groups. At the present time, 35 percent of school students in the Barnes district attend private and parochial schools. This is a greater percentage of private and parochial attendance than in any other elementary district."

I find it difficult to accept this statement as a reason for closing a school. Sixty-five percent of Barnes area families are dependent on their facility and 100 percent of the Barnes area families pay taxes which are allocated to the public school system, regardless of where their children attend school.

Barnes and two other elementary schools were studied by Ellis, Naeyaert, Genheimer Associates, of Troy regarding the feasibility of converting one of these facilities to administrative offices. The study did not recommend Barnes School. "... Mason, Maire and Barnes are the schools that were selected by the administration for investigation ... Barnes' major disadvantage is that it is a relatively new and well equipped school and should be utilized as such." The Excess Space Committee in its final report determined that Barnes School was not ideal for alternate use. Excerpts from that report and meeting minutes say "Factors to be considered: New building, small size, isolated, residential area, difficult alternative use, has good shared use potential, structure in good shape, land is heavily utilized, access to school on two streets, not centrally located and sometimes hard to find, excellent elementary facility."

What makes this proposed closing difficult for the Barnes community to accept is that there have been no positive attempts by the administration to study approaches to maintain Barnes' viability. If redistricting has been suggested to "maintain a fine educational program at Trombly," why wouldn't the same option be appropriate for Barnes? Strategies such as re-districting, adding a full-day kindergarten program or perhaps looking into the possibilities of a state licensed pre-school program would increase numbers at Barnes and assure the continuation of its fine educational program.

The Barnes community is not in favor of a K-5, 6-8 reorganization. We, along with 7,000 other citizens, support the status quo: K-6 in 10 elementaries. If one examines school enrollment figures now and after the sixth grade is moved to the middle schools, the percentage of capacity in the remaining elementary schools will be reduced. The viability of the elementary school system as we now know it is at great risk. The community has not won with only one school targeted for closure. This precedent-setting proposal paves the way for future consolidations and school closings.

In three plans, six schools (four at any one time) were slated for closure. It is interesting that in the final analysis a symbol or sign be given in the best interests of the community. The closing of one school will provide negligible savings. We have only to conclude that to demonstrate visible evidence to the community that the school board and administration is concerned with fiscal accountability Barnes School becomes the "sacrificial lamb."

More support for closings

To the Editor:

After reading both sides of the issue of school closings in your Oct. 13 paper, I cannot see why the debate continues. The school board includes businessmen, educators and parents who are personally affected by any changes. They have considered the issue from all angles for several years, and have had citizen input through advisory panels, numerous public meetings, board members speaking to small groups, and more discussion, exploration and revision of the subject than any other issue in my memory.

They are intelligent, caring people, giving freely of their time, and duly elected by the majority of the voters. They have a long-term view, and are acting in the interests of the total community, not just a few whose children may have to walk a little farther or who may have difficulty in adjusting to new situations.

The argument of lowering real estate values or moving out of the Pointes is emotional blackmail. There is no comparable city where you can move that has not already closed some of its schools. Real estate values reflect the quality of the curriculum and staff, not the number of buildings, and other things such as parks, marinas, shopping tree-lined streets, churches and public services, to name a few. If our academic standards are automatically lowered because a few brick buildings are closed, then we must have had a very low standard back in the 1950's, when many of these buildings didn't exist, which, in fact, is just the opposite — they were higher then than now.

The costs of such wastefulness as maintaining schools with partial enrollment are two-fold. First and financially, I, and many others, object to spending any monies that are not used in the most prudent and judicious manner commensurate with the best educational policies.

Second, and politically, voters will take a dim view of future millage increases in the face of such profligate actions. Those who want a private school atmosphere have several in the area from which to choose, but the public school system is not one of them. All our buildings are well maintained. Our skilled administrators would perform as well in any of them. Our excellent teachers would teach as well in any one of them. The problem lies elsewhere.

I totally support the school board and Supt. Kenneth Brummel in restructuring and consolidating schools in the face of declining enrollment and rising costs.

One View from the Capitol

What to do with surplus?

The state budget surplus from the year ended Sept. 30 will be the focus of Republican analysis, discussion and, hopefully, recommendation in the next few weeks.

The surplus, made possible by the size of the Blanchard tax increase and the strengthening recovery, is variously set from $50 million to $150 million.

We have been attempting, as Republican legislators, to watch closely to prevent the Governor from spending or using bookkeeping gimmicks to reduce the apparent size of the surplus.

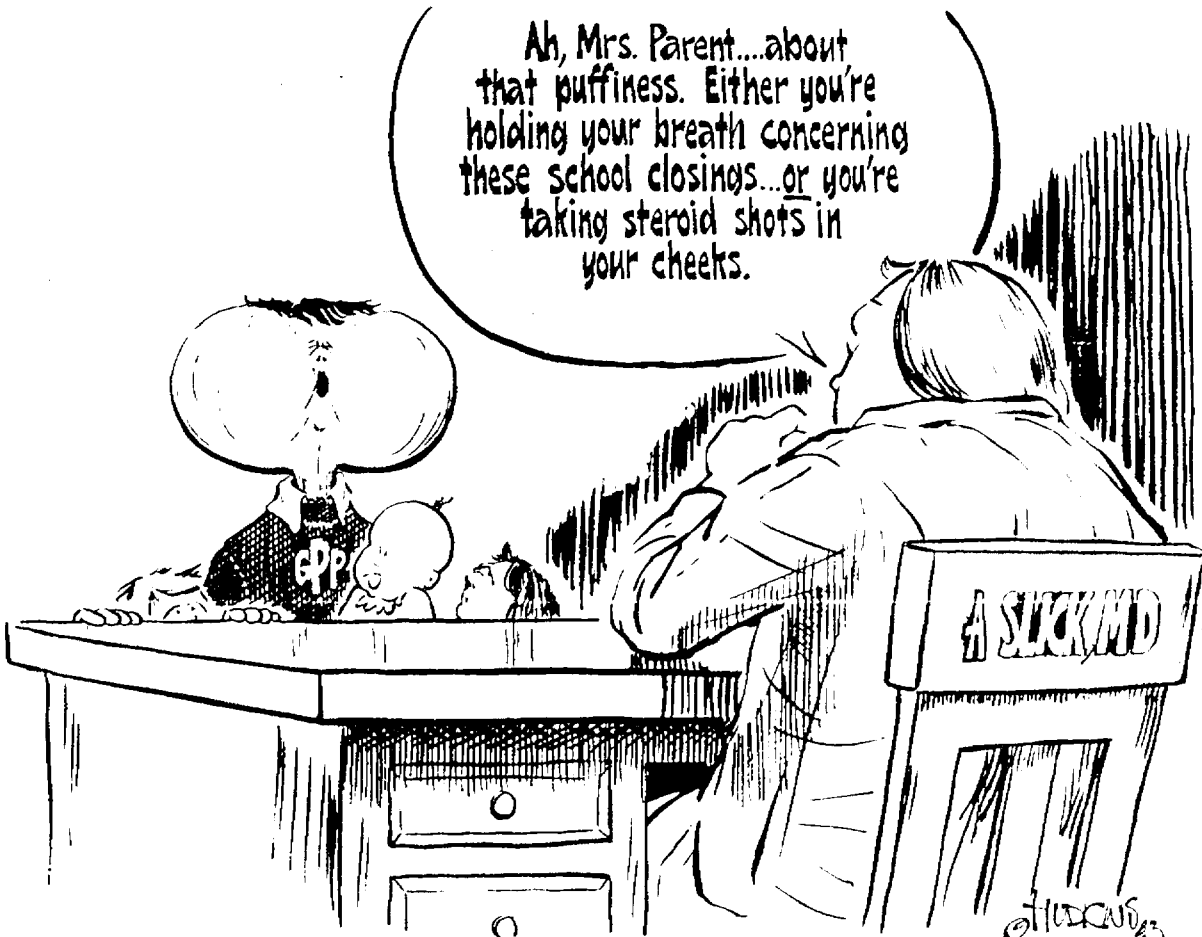

Suggestions or proposals have already been made by some legislators for use of the surplus. Some advocate a rebate: some say reduce the tax increase by an amount equal to the surplus; others say getting state aid payments to schools and local units back on schedule would be best; still others say pay it to schools and local units to bring the state into compliance with the Headlee Amendment as to the portion of state spending which must go back to local government.

Another possibility may be to use the surplus for the critical capital expenditure program needs of our three major research universities. It is argued this money could accelerate the building and equipping of the laboratories and other projects needed to keep us in the forefront in high-tech research.

As usual, it may be very difficult to get our very independent Republican Caucus members to agree on which proposal is best.

It would be easy to propose a tax rebate or tax cut. I doubt, however, we will find any appreciable Democratic willingness for either. While either of these would be our preference, we must be prepared, therefore, to advocate something further or be left out of the question.

We will oppose, however, any use of the surplus to bolster social service programs. Of that I am quite certain.

Heenan scares residents

To the Editor:

In the October issue of The Pointer, Palmer Heenan, mayoral candidate, states that "the foremost concerns of Grosse Pointe Park's residents have been lost in the decision making process of city and school board officials." He goes on, in a circular distributed to Park homes over the weekend, to charge that citizens have been "frightened" by various proposals, including school closings and zoning.

These accusations point only to Mr. Heenan himself. Rather than directing his campaign to the concerns of Park residents which can be acted upon legitimately by responsible city government, he has chosen to ride on the coattails of school controversy and to play on ungrounded fears.

Mr. Heenan has implied that Mayor Graham does not place the welfare of Park residents and their children first. This is yet another disturbing example of the depths to which communication in this community has sunk. Disagreement these days is a rallying point not for dialogue, but for name-calling and innuendo.

Mr. Heenan's logic — that public servants are conspiring to act in the worst interests of their community — escapes me.

Yes, there were taverns in City

Mrs. Lucille Feldman was so right when she said that there was a tavern on Kercheval between St. Clair and Neff roads.

This tavern was owned and operated by Joe Naeyaert. In addition, there were two others; one called the White Front at Notre Dame and Mack and the other on the west side of St. Clair.

Since I was a police officer in the village and later the City of Grosse Pointe from 1925 to 1963, I do not remember any more trouble with those businesses than any other business in the City.

Thomas V. Trombly
Grosse Pointe City

Heenan defends his position

To the Editor:

The letter above is a perfect example of those tactics the writer tries to lay at my doorstep. Her grasp of my logic is as misguided as her insensitivity to the many serious issues facing Park residents.

Issues such as proposed zoning changes, school closings, road repair financing and crime prevention were not fabricated out of nothing. Rather, they represent the legitimate concerns of many Park residents. These concerns developed when it appeared that our local government officials were taking positions inconsistent with a growing segment of our community.

My candidacy and those of several other council candidates arose out of our sincere belief that the views of these Park residents were not well represented.

Municipal elections are not a dialogue. They are a refreshingly selective process where local issues are openly debated and the record and statements of each candidate are reviewed.

I stand by my campaign statements, circulars, pamphlets, and letters to the editors of various newspapers.

I wish to continue the conversation on Public Safety in Grosse Pointe Park. Lt. William F. Hunt's letter in your Oct. 27 issue provides the opportunity to do so, as do the articles on pages 5 and 8A on the growing crime problem in Grosse Pointe Park.

It is not my intent to question the training or qualifications of any particular policeman or fireman. The issue is the most effective and economic use of police and fire personnel. Both Grosse Pointe City and Grosse Pointe Woods have public safety programs in which specific duties of the police and fire department personnel overlap. It is my understanding that both programs are working well.

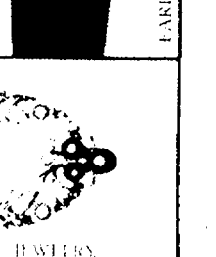

I am sympathetic with the individual firefighters and policemen in Grosse Pointe Park who object to the combining of their departments. However, as an elected official, it is my responsibility to do whatever is necessary to get the most efficient use of our public safety forces at the least expense to the citizens.

These are the practical matters that have not been explored in Grosse Pointe Park. It is imperative that the new mayor and council do so, especially in the light of a perceived increase of crime among a growing number of residents. It is time for the mayor, council, and city officials of Grosse Pointe Park to show some initiative and leadership on this most important issue.

Senior discussion group meets in Park

The Grosse Pointe Park Library will host a senior citizen discussion group twice monthly beginning Nov. 9.

It will meet the second and fourth Wednesdays in the Park branch, in Pierce Middle School, at 2:30 p.m. Phyllis Huxley and Helen Leonard will lead the discussion.

George M. Holley, Jr.

Services for Mr. Holley, 69, of Grosse Pointe Shores, were held Saturday, Oct. 29, at Christ Church, Grosse Pointe.

He died Wednesday, Oct. 26, in his home.

Born in Detroit, Mr. Holley attended Detroit University School and was graduated from Pomfret School and Cornell University, class of 1938. He joined Holley Carburetor Company, founded by his father, George M. Sr., and uncle Earl Holley.

Mr. Holley was vice-president in charge of research, executive vice-president and general manager. He became president in 1953, then chairman of the board in 1965. When Holley Carburetor merged with Colt Industries in 1968 and became the Holley Carburetor Division of Colt, Mr. Holley continued as consultant until 1973. Under his presidency, Holley Carburetor went from a single source supplier to a multiple source supplier to all major automotive and truck companies. He was also instrumental in instituting the company's international operation, most particularly, Holley Europe S.P.A., a joint venture with Fiat of Italy.

Mr. Holley was a prolific developer of auto and aircraft fuel-related products, which earned him wide recognition. He pioneered the first aircraft fuel control utilized by Westinghouse Turbine Engines. During the 1950s, Holley directed design and production of fuel controls used by Pratt and Whitney and supplied to the U.S. Army, Navy and commercial jet planes.

After his retirement, he designed and developed marine navigational equipment, on which he acquired several patents. He was a director of Detroit Edison from 1958 and served as chairman of the Energy Resource Committee and trustee of the Power Reactor Development Company. He also was a director of Manufacturer's National Bank of Detroit and served as chairman of the Trust Audit Committee.

Mr. Holley was a past president of the Michigan Colleges Foundation and president of Holley Foundation. He was a member of the Detroit Club, the Country Club

Jail suicide attempt fails

A Grosse Pointe Park man, arrested by police for drunk driving, tried to hang himself in the Park jail on Tuesday, Oct. 18.

According to officials, Officer Gerry Kolakowski heard strange noises on the sound monitoring device coming from the jail holding area. Investigating, he found the man attempting to hang himself with his clothing. He was removed from the noose, with strong vital signs, and then transferred to Cottage Hospital for psychiatric care.

Police make four arrests

Officers from the Grosse Pointe Park and City Police Departments discovered that two arms of the law can indeed make for more muscle.

It all started on Friday, Oct. 21 at 4:49 a.m. when a man called police to report that he saw three men carrying objects from a neighbor's driveway in the 800 block of Loraine, said Henry Coonce, Park police chief.

Park police responding to the call for assistance helped capture the car strippers who had fled to neighboring backyards in an escape attempt, according to police. Police arrested Robert Plumber, 21, of Artesian, and Romel Clark, 18 and Darryl Clark, 20, of Archdale Streets in Detroit.

Police said they found 25 hubcaps the trio had stolen before being spotted and apprehended.

On Saturday, Oct. 22 at 5:29 a.m., Park police stopped at a light at Waterloo and St. Clair saw a speeding car approach them, said Bruce Kennedy, City police chief.

According to Kennedy, the man, identified as Samuel Lee Nelson, Jr. of Hancock Street in Detroit, tried to back around the corner to Waterloo.

A check of the car indicated that it had been stolen during a robbery the day earlier. City police then charged him with driving a stolen car during a robbery.

City asks for amendment to charter

A proposal to amend the Grosse Pointe City Charter will appear on the ballot Nov. 8. This proposal would update and modernize procedures for the purchase of supplies and materials, particularly directing the council to establish, by ordinance, the dollar limitation above which it must approve all purchases.

On Oct. 19 the council adopted an ordinance to establish a $5,000 limitation to be effective with adoption of the proposed charter amendment. The present limitation is $1,000.

"The proposed new limitation will reduce overhead costs, permit timely purchasing and require less paper work for suppliers," said Dennis Foran, finance director. "The higher limitation follows the pattern of newer charters and updated ordinances, and the concept is also supported by the independent City auditors."

"Purchases below the limitation would continue to be made on a competitive but informal basis (i.e. telephone and written quotation basis) to insure prudent expenditure of City funds," he added.

The Soviet Union takes in about $35 billion or more a year on its sale of liquor. That's as much as it purports to spend on national defense.

Farms man robbed in front of home

Farms police are on the look out for two men who robbed a 73-year-old Farms resident at his Mt. Vernon Road home.

According to reports, the victim was sitting in his car at about 3:30 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 19, when the two thieves walked up and pulled him from the auto, throwing him to the ground.

One man demanded money and took $82 from the victim's wallet. The suspect threw the wallet back at the prostrate resident, then both men ran off down the street.

Shaken up by the incident, the victim was unable to tell police in which direction the suspects had fled, or what type of vehicle was used in the robbery.

The robbers were described as two black males, in their early 20's, six feet tall, with thin builds wearing dark jackets and pants. Both men were clean shaven.

Shores takes up sewer projects

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Residents of Lochmoor in the Shores might get a Christmas gift from the village this year: a new sanitary and storm sewer.

The village council voted Tuesday, Oct. 18, to undertake the project, which will cost approximately $195,000. The work, according to trustees, will be done in two phases. A new sewer line will be laid from Lakeshore to Morningside. A second pipe, to be used as a storm sewer, will be put in from Lakeshore to Sunningdale.

If bids were to be taken and approved promptly for the work, the Lochmoor project could be completed by Christmas, trustees said.

The council opted for the program after the village's engineering company said the cost of putting in both pipes the entire length would be $255,000. By running the second line only to Sunningdale, where the divided street begins, the village can complete the project at a later time without again tearing up the street, they noted.

The storm sewer will be run under the Lakeshore interceptor, which carries combined sewage to the county treatment plant, and be dumped directly into the lake. The decreased flow through the metered interceptor will lower the village's charge for sewage treatment, the engineers said.

Trustees said the village would like someday to completely separate its sanitary and storm sewage system.

In addition, the council authorized work to begin on repair of the current Hawthorne combined sewer. After a cleaning and televising of the pipe, the village learned about 360 feet of the sewer was damaged and in need of repair. The cost of the project will be about $39,000, according to trustees.

The projects will be financed through use of the village's current and accumulated surplus, president Gerald Schroeder said. The village will use $200,000 from its budget stabilization fund as well as 40,000 from its current operating surplus to fund the project, he added.

The use of the budget stabilization funds and current surplus might mean some difficulties down the road, Schroeder said. Because the village ends its fiscal year three months before its tax bills are sent out, the village effectively runs for three months without incoming revenue, he noted.

"We may have to fund our extra spending in the end of our fiscal year with tax anticipation notes," something the Shores has never had to do before, Schroeder said. "But if we operate efficiently through the next five months of our fiscal year, we should be able to do without the tax anticipation notes."

Schroeder, a certified public accountant, expressed confidence the village will not have to borrow against next year's tax receipts through the sale of the tax anticipation notes.

While the sewers will be repaired, engineers warned that because of the location of the homes, flooding cannot be eliminated.

The water level in Lake St. Clair is nearing record height, the engineers said. Because the system operates to lake level, flooding will always be a problem.

Water tends to seek its own level. When the water table is high, flow through the pipes is slowed. A continuous or heavy rain can force them to back up into homes, the engineers said.

In addition, by separating the storm and sanitary lines, the city decreases the amount of water flowing to the interceptor, engineers said. When the interceptor's capacity is exceeded, it dumps raw sewage into the lake, they added.

Since storm run-off is about eight times the amount of sanitary sewage handled by the interceptor, lowering the amount going in will ultimately reduce the number of dumps into the lake, trustees said.

Seniors cancel

The Thanksgiving luncheon that was scheduled for Nov. 17 by Grosse Pointe Woods Seniors has been cancelled.

A business meeting of the group will be held at North High today, Nov. 3, at 3:30 p.m.

Meningitis reported in Pointe

By Harriet Nolan

Three cases of aseptic meningitis have been reported from the Grosse Pointe area during September and October, according to Donald Lawrenchuk, M.D., medical director of the Wayne County Department of Public Health.

Aseptic or viral meningitis is caused by a virus, according to Lawrenchuk. It is not the same type nor does it have the serious implications as the bacterial form of meningitis.

The people with the greatest susceptibility to viral meningitis are the very young and old, according to Lawrenchuk. Often the patient will complain of a stiff neck, the inability to turn it and high fever.

It can be treated with bed rest, fluids, and pain or fever relievers and generally runs its natural cycle, said Lawrenchuk.

He urges anyone who is suspicious to consult their physician to rule out the bacterial form of meningitis which can bring more serious complications such as bacterial convulsions, coma and even death.

William Hall, chief of disease surveillance for the Michigan Department of Public Health, said a large number of mild forms of meningitis are being reported in Michigan and other Great Lakes states, but that there is always a potential for increase throughout the summer.

Parents should use plain common sense in reporting it to their doctor, he said.

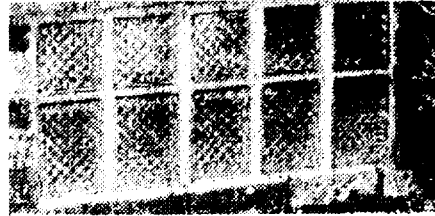

He stressed that bacterial (spinal) meningitis is completely different and the rates for outbreaks in Michigan are normal.

FLEC launches '84 fund drive

FLEC, the Family Life Education Council, launched its major fund raising drive for 1984, with a community-wide membership appeal for its FLEC '86 Club, according to FLEC President J.D. Owens.

The '86 Club asks for a $1 contribution — $18, or more — for each year that FLEC has been in business since it was founded to meet the community's needs in a crisis atmosphere in 1966.

To give momentum to this year's fund drive, Grosse Pointe residents Mort Crim, the leading anchor newsman at WDIT-TV (Ch. 4), Cal Worrell, a pediatrician and a founder of FLEC, and others, have taped a series of public service announcements which are being produced and broadcast as a contribution to the community by Grosse Pointe Cable TV.

The television spots call on the Community to get behind FLEC, Grosse Pointe's own volunteer social service agency, with a contribution to the '86 Club.

"FLEC was born in a crisis atmosphere, and we continue to live in one. I guess it goes with the territory," Owens said. "Our latest crisis is the apparently erroneous impression in some circles that, because of the splendid job the Friends of FLEC has done in raising money on our behalf, we are in good financial condition."

"Quite the contrary is true. As always, we are twisting in the financial winds, waiting for that grand benefactor to come forward, or the smallest contribution to come in. Nowhere is the morning mail more eagerly awaited than at FLEC."

FLEC is funded by several sources, including Friends of FLEC, the '86 Club memberships, service clubs, charitable foundations, churches, individual donors, bake sales and car washes. The students at North and South High Schools have been very supportive and modest sums from clients at the Medical Clinic and the Legal Center. Those services are given freely, but contributions are accepted.

FLEC has announced a goal of $85,000 for its 1984 fund raising efforts according to Owens, down from previous year's goal "due to some belt tightening."

In commenting on the fund drive — to run through 1984, Barbara Hoffman, FLEC's executive director, said: "Most of us have heard of FLEC. Some of us may have an appreciation for its programs. But few of us have realized what a vital role FLEC plays in our community. In our most recent 12 month period, we served 9,000 members of the community one way or another."

FLEC's services and programs include the Medical Clinic, offering a wide range of services to an average of 15 to 20 clients each Tuesday night from 7 to 8:30, and the Alcohol Education program which now serves the elementary, middle and high school levels.

FLEC also offers the Center Point youth counseling program; a Legal Center, open on Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9:30, offering consulting services to people in the community who may be seeking advice on legal problems; Family Life forums, an educational series of seminars or lectures on various topics of interest to the general public; and a speakers bureau, films and literature on various topics.

Anyone wishing to contribute to FLEC's 1984 fund drive may do so by sending a check to FLEC, 18412 Mack Avenue, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. 48236.

Park citizens help police catch man

Citizens on Buckingham Road gave a rousing show of support as they helped Park police officers capture a robbery suspect in the 1300 block of Buckingham on Friday, Oct. 21.

The suspect, identified as William Berry, 17, of Springwell in Detroit, was allegedly spotted at 12:21 p.m. grabbing a 56-year-old Park resident's purse at the corner of Vernon and Buckingham, said Police Chief Henry Counce.

When police arrived, they saw citizens chasing him down the street. Patrolman James Armbruster arrested Berry on charges of larceny from a person. He was arraigned before Judge Beverly Grobbei and released on $5,000 personal bond.

Police reported the Park woman was unhurt.

Recital will benefit Waldorf

Pianist Sylvia Traey will perform a recital of works by Mozart, Beethoven, Ravel and Schumann at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House in Grosse Pointe Shores, Wednesday, Nov. 16, at 8 p.m. Guests may arrive at 7:30 p.m. to view the house. The performance will be for the benefit of the Detroit Waldorf School.

Ms. Traey was born in Antwerp, Belgium in 1950. She is a winner of the prestigious international Queen Elizabeth competition and has elicited enthusiastic press reviews for her concerts in France, Belgium, England, Germany, Holland and Japan. Ms. Traey is a graduate of a Waldorf School in Belgium. This will be her first performance in the metropolitan Detroit area. She has performed for radio and television audiences in Europe, and on records.

Waldorf is a rapidly growing independent school movement throughout the world. Its approach is not confined to schools but extends to the renewal of the cultural arts. The Metropolitan Detroit area has become a major U.S. center of Waldorf education with four facilities.

WSU graduate joins City P.D.

Lyle Reece, 26, of Detroit, was the first police officer hired under new, more stringent, employment criteria established by Grosse Pointe City police department.

Chief Bruce Kennedy says his city is one of only a few southeastern Michigan departments which require new police officers to hold a Bachelor's degree.

Reece, a criminal justice graduate of Wayne State University, joined the department last month. He was graduated from the Detroit Metropolitan Police Academy and with the class of 1975 at Denby High School. He is single and resides in Detroit.

The City requires police candidates to pass written, oral and background examinations before they are considered for employment. Kennedy said Reece was "the number one man in the selection process" from a field of about 25 candidates.

Kennedy said the added requirement of a Bachelor's degree is an "indication we're trying to upgrade the profession."

Eastern religion lectures at War Memorial

Sherwin Wine, director of The Center for New Thinking, will present a three-part lecture series on oriental religions at the War Memorial.

Because the West has adopted so many aspects of oriental philosophy, Dr. Wine will stress the importance of understanding the ways of the East as part of our own cultural training.

On Thursday, Nov. 3, he will focus on "Confucianism," considered to be a guide for dealing with the living and the dead, which draws on three thousand years of Chinese culture.

"Buddhism," the religion of intense self-discipline and supernatural fantasies, will be discussed on Thursday, Nov. 10.

America has many religious sects that derive their origins from Eastern mysticism and worship. On Nov. 17, Dr. Wine's emphasis will be on the "American Varieties": transcendental meditation, the Sufi fraternities, Hare Krishna, the Zen Centers, and the ashrams of Muk tenanda. Many Americans view these groups as cults, while others see them as the beginning of an important religious development.

All of the lectures will be from 8 to 9:30 p.m. The fee for the series is $19, or $8 for a single lecture. Students are half-price.

For registration information call 881-7511.

Alternative asthma cures discussed

Non-traditional and alternative forms of asthma treatment will be discussed at the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan's (ALASEM) Family Asthma Program, at 7 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 3, in the Concourse Auditorium of Eastland Shopping Center.

Bruce Dubin, will lead discussion at this monthly meeting for asthmatics and their families. The program meets the first Thursday of each month. Call the Lung Association at 961-1697 for details.

Woods vetoes Dial-A-Ride

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The Woods city council last month voted against joining Harper Woods' Dial-A-Ride program. The Woods instead will work to improve its subsidized taxicab program to meet the needs of its senior residents, the council said.

The council had tabled action on the proposal two weeks before to allow time for officials from Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority, Harper Woods and Grosse Pointe Woods to put together information for the council concerning the costs of the program, projected ridership and details of the services offered through the SEMTA-subsidized program.

Harper Woods was told by SEMTA that the transportation authority would no longer fund the operating deficit of the program because of SEMTA's current budget woes. SEMTA's subsidy would be cut from about $90,000 to $7,500, the amount of that city's municipal credit from SEMTA.

SEMTA did say it would provide Harper Woods with $30,000 were the city to find another city willing to begin offering the program. The base of operations would remain Harper Woods.

The city joining with Harper Woods in the Dial-A-Ride system would have been expected to fund half the operating deficit, however, SEMTA said. The transportation authority would offer an additional $30,000 in fiscal 1983 to cover part of the loss, and increase the supplement to $40,000 the following year, transportation officials said.

Had the Woods opted to enter into the program, the city would have been expected to pay about $21,000 as its share of the nine-month operating loss, Woods officials said. That would have kept the Woods in the program until June, 1984, when the city could again review its decision to offer the service officials added.

It was the cost of the program and the uncertainty of funding from SEMTA that turned the council away from the project, however. Figures from SEMTA showed the city would have to supplement the Dial-A-Ride in fiscal 1985 with $36,000 from its general fund. The projection is based on SEMTA's ability to help subsidize the program with $40,000 in fiscal 1985, something the transportation authority admits is not certain.

According to SEMTA, its fiscal year begins July 1. However, notification of state and federal aid has been delayed in the past few years until January, six months into the authority's fiscal year, SEMTA said. While the authority could not guarantee it would be able to provide the $40,000 subsidy, SEMTA officials said they would make every effort to provide it.

Because of the cost of the program and the uncertainty of the funding, several councilmen expressed reservations about getting into the system. In addition, they pointed out that the amount of money being spent on the Dial-A-Ride would not return the same benefits as funds now being spent on the city's subsidized taxi-cab program.

The council sent the matter to the Senior Citizens Commission asking it to come up with a better program for the subsidized cab program.

Currently, the Woods runs subsidized taxi cab program for its senior citizens through East Side and Shamrock companies. A resident aged 65 or older who calls either of the companies for a cab receives $2 off the fare on a one-way trip. The same subsidy applied for the return trip, city officials said.

According to a survey of about 360 of the city's estimated 4,600 seniors, almost three-quarters of those polled had heard of the Woods' program. Only 9 percent had used it, however.

In addition, 69 percent of those polled said they preferred to drive themselves and will continue to prefer personal transportation, according to the survey. The program could potentially serve 30 percent of the city's seniors, but a more realistic figure is between 15 and 20 percent, the survey concluded.

The program, however, seems to have support in the community, the survey said. Of 292 seniors asked, 280, or 96 percent, said they would recommend the program to a friend.

In addition, the program seems to have few problems, the survey said. While there were complaints of dirty cabs, and discourteous drivers from those who had used the service, all the respondents said they would use the service again.

The Woods council recently rejected proposals that would have expanded the number of people potentially able to use the program. The Senior Citizen Commission recommended the age limit be lowered to 55, and that the program be made available to the mentally and physically impaired.

Harper Woods will continue to operate the Dial-A-Ride service through the end of 1984, City Manager Clerk Elinor Cramer said. The city will pay for the program's operating losses with its current budget, she added.

While she didn't eliminate the possibility of coming back to the Woods for a merger request, Mrs. Cramer said the city is working on "several other plans that we're not ready to talk about."

Harper Woods is committed to continuing the program, however, Mrs. Cramer said. "We're just not going to give it up," she said. "It's a service the city likes to offer its residents."

The Dial-A-Ride is especially beneficial to the city's senior citizens, Mrs. Cramer said. The small-bus service allows them to remain active in the community by offering the transportation, she added.

They'll travel in style

With the recent donation of this 30-foot handicapped van, patients at the Rehabilitation Institute of Detroit will be able to take any number of community trips to shopping malls, Frankenmuth, Tiger baseball games, plus longer jaunts to locations such as Sea World or Cedar Point. The van was donated by Chester and Vicki Blanton, of the City. Mrs. Blanton was a patient at the 175-bed facility for four years while her husband was a member of the board of directors for about 15 years. On hand to accept the van were (left to right) Dr. Leonard Bender, director of the Institute; Melinda Conway, director of therapeutic recreational services and J. Kay Felt, chairman of the board of directors. Vicki Blanton is seated. The Institute is the largest adult physical-medical rehabilitation hospital in the country, offering services to patients with physical impairments such as stroke, amputation, cerebral palsy and spinal cord injuries. The Institute helps them become more independent through a variety of therapies, including physical, recreational, psychological and social work.

Tell me about your high gas heating bills...

THE PROBLEM

You have a hole in your roof.
The hole?

Your furnace vent.

Every time your furnace turns off, the warm air in your home is quickly lost up in the furnace vent, and on goes the furnace again, heating the air and running up your gas bill.

When a furnace, boiler or water heater shuts off, warm air in your home is quickly lost up the furnace vent. Energy escapes, but you still end up paying for it. People want to save as much as they can, so I tell them to keep heat inside with an Ameri-Therm® Vent Damper.

THE SOLUTION

Close the hole in your roof with an Ameri-Therm® Vent Damper.

The heat of your furnace opens the Ameri-Therm® Vent Damper. When the furnace turns off, the Ameri-Therm® Vent Damper closes your furnace vent and the warm air you paid for stays where it belongs, inside your home.

The Ameri-Therm® Vent Damper is...

SIMPLE

- Easy to install
- Requires no electrical hookup

SAFE

- Proven in millions of locations worldwide
- Five-Year limited warranty

SAVES MONEY

- Eligible for 15% tax credit
- Based on a study of 400 homesites done by the East Ohio Gas Company, some people saved as much as 20%* on their gas heating bills. This study showed an average savings of 12%. Your individual savings may be higher or lower depending on climate, living conditions, and home insulation.

Available for gas furnaces, gas boilers and gas water heaters.

Abuse council calls community to action

The Substance Abuse Community Council of Grosse Pointe will hold a town meeting and panel discussion at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 9, in the Woods council chambers, 20025 Mack, in conjunction with the showing of "A National Call to Action," the second of two programs on substance abuse.

More than 15,000 brochures have been distributed to public, private and parochial schools, urging parents and children to attend the showing of the program at 8 p.m. on Channel 56, WTVS.

"A National Call to Action" will show how communities have worked to prevent young people from being tempted by chemicals and will be used as a catalyst for the panel discussion which will follow the airing.

The panel will be moderated by G. Bruce Feighner, retired principal of Grosse Pointe North High School. Panelists will be Kenneth Brummel, superintendent of Grosse Pointe Public Schools; Reverend David Antonson, Grosse Pointe Memorial Church minister; Roger LaRose, 32A District Court judge; Suzie Decker, SAC; School Team Coordinator; and Vernon Auscherman, legal advisor for SAC.

The town meeting and panel discussion will be videotaped by GrossePointe Cable, Inc. for televising at a later date, according to SAC.

"We hope to make this a very positive meeting, focusing on the progress our community is making the areas of substance abuse and alternative activities," Christine Dodds of SAC said. "We hope you will come with some information you plan to share with your friends and neighbors... and a desire to put yourself and your community organization wholeheartedly behind the efforts of our task force to combat this epidemic."

The second program of a two-part series, "The Chemical People," "A National Call to Action" will offer guidelines to communities on how to form a task force to prevent and combat youthful abuse. A blending of documentary and drama will establish and illustrate the opportunities.

Experienced resource people will detail programs of community information, prevention, intervention and treatment. Hosted by First Lady Nancy Reagan, each segment will be introduced by entertainment stars and sports personalities. The program will lay out how communities can form groups or use existing alliances to take specific actions, an approach which has worked in the past in other communities.

Music for A While at Ford House

Music for A While will present its second chamber music concert of the season, Sunday, Nov. 13, at 3 p.m. in the Great Gallery of the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House.

Pianist Virginia Shover, a Pointer and co-producer of the concert series, will be joined by harpist Patricia Terry-Ross, violinist Peruz Zerounian and cellist Betty Musser in a program of piano trios by Beethoven, Lotti and Rowley as well as music by Salzedo and Pischetti.

Mrs. Terry-Ross holds Bachelor's and Master's degrees from the University of Michigan and has done post-graduate work with Lucille Lawrence of Tanglewood Institute in Massachusetts. She is currently harp, piano and vocal instructor at Cass Technical High School and instructor of harp at Wayne State University.

Mrs. Terry-Ross is harpist with the Michigan Opera Theater and the Dearborn Symphony. Michigan Chamber Orchestra and Oakway Symphony.

Mrs. Zerounian was born in Istanbul, Turkey, where she received her formal training in violin, before immigrating to the United States in 1956. She was a member of the Istanbul State Symphony and soloist with the Istanbul Radio Orchestra.

Mrs. Zerounian has served as concert master of the Pontiac-Oakland and Warren symphonies, Michigan Chamber Orchestra, Oakway, and Center symphonies.

Cellist Musser recently returned from a tour of Jordan with the Renaissance Chamber Orchestra. Formerly principal cellist with the Toledo Symphony, she has been a resident of Detroit since 1982. Mrs. Musser has been a substitute with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra since 1980 and is currently principal cellist with the Michigan Opera Theater Orchestra.

Tickets at $7.50 are available from Music for A While, 806 Lorraine, Grosse Pointe, 48230, or by calling 882-9127 for reservations. The concert will be followed by a wine and hors d'oeuvres reception.

Golden Lion Gay 90's show

"Gaslight Gaieties: A Musical Celebration of the 1890's" will premiere Friday, Nov. 4, at the Golden Lion Restaurant and run Friday and Saturday evenings through Friday, Dec. 23, with a special New Year's Eve showing.

The musical production will feature sing-alongs, monologues, old-fashioned mellerdrammers and other assorted fun from the 1890's, including six variety performers doing such material as "Casey at the Bat," "She was Somebody's Mother," George M. Cohen's "Mary," and an authentic mellerdrummer titled "The Great Bottleneck Diamond or The Sha of Shush." Sing-alongs include "I've Been Working on the Railroad," and projections will display scenes from the Gay Nineties.

Gaslight Gaieties is under the direction of Grosse Pointe Theater's Best Actor in 1976-77 and Best Choreographer in 1979-80, Don Ross.

Tickets are $19.50, and include dinner, show, tax and gratuity. A prime rib dinner is featured with a fish alternate available if requested at time of reservation. Cocktails begin at 7 p.m., with dinner at 7:30. The show follows dessert.

Group rates are available. Groups of 13 receive a $1 discount per person. Groups of 21 or more receive a $2 discount per person. Gift tickets are also available. The restaurant is located at 22380 Moross. For more information, call 886-2420.

Woman robbed and assaulted

Farms police are on the look out for three young men who robbed and sexually assaulted a 79-year-old Farms woman Monday night, Oct. 24.

According to reports, the woman drove into her garage and was trying to retrieve her cane from the back seat of the auto when she was grabbed from behind and thrown to the garage floor.

A second male knelt on the woman's chest and took her diamond ring. He then proceeded to fondle the woman. Another male stole $23 from the woman's purse.

All three men then fled down the drive way and headed toward Mack Avenue. During the assault the woman's glasses and a necklace were broken.

The victim was taken to Cottage Hospital for treatment of minor cuts and bruises. A police search of the area was negative.

The woman described the suspects as three young black males in their mid-20's, with a thin build, clean shaven and wearing dark clothing.

Detroit Edison announces a refund to qualified past and present electric service customers. You may be eligible!

If you were a Detroit Edison customer between October 1976 and January 1978, you may have a deferred fuel expense surcharge refund due you as a result of a Michigan Public Service Commission order.

If you are an eligible customer, you may have already received your refund, including interest and taxes, in one of two ways—in the form of a refund check, or as a credit on your October 1983 electric bill.

If you have not received a refund but you were a Detroit Edison customer between October 1976 and January 1978, it will be necessary for you to fill out and mail the application below. This applies to customers now living inside or outside the Detroit Edison service area.

All refund checks will be issued in the names of customers as billed during the 1976-78 period.

If you have any questions regarding your eligibility, or need additional applications, please call your nearest Detroit Edison Office or write to:

German parish celebrates

Historic St. Joseph's Church in downtown Detroit will celebrate 127 years and 150 years of the Archdiocese of Detroit, with a Commemorative Dinner on Nov. 6.

Featured speaker will be Monsignor Francis X. Canfield, pastor of St. Paul's Parish in Grosse Pointe Farms. Father Canfield, an Archdiocesan Historian, will give a talk titled "150 Years ... And More."

Beginning as a German Parish in 1856, St. Joseph's still has strong ties to its ancestry. Every fourth Sunday of the month there is a German Mass. Accorded both city and state landmark designations, its distinctively central European gothic structure was built in 1863.

The dinner will take place at the Sentinel Center, 2215 East Jefferson at Chene Street in Detroit from 3 to 6 p.m. Tickets are $15 per person. For information call 393-8212.

It's an elimination contest

The annual Miss America beauty pageant always starts with lots of contestants, but through a gradual elimination process, the number is reduced until there is only one left and the contest is over.

The stock market appears to be taking on some of the same characteristics, as evidenced by the diminishing number of stocks able to keep up with the new high marks for the leading averages. Witness the following table of new highs made by individual stocks, correlated against the Dow Jones industrial average peaks:

Date Highs	DJIA	New
Oct. 11, 1982	1013	653
Nov. 4, 1982	1050	585
May 6, 1983	1233	388
June 16, 1983	1248	306
July 26, 1983	1244	161
Sept. 26, 1983	1261	98

Obviously, this game cannot go on much longer, or soon there won't be anyone left to play. From a technical market analyst's point of view, this narrowing leadership is distinctly unfavorable and suggests that some sort of general retreat to a new, broader upward base is quite possible. Thus, instead of heralding a big new leg, the latest new high episode for the DJIA may instead be just the tail end of the old first upward leg.

Such a train of reasoning leads inevitably to the thought that a full-scale correction is yet to come. This thought isn't very comforting, especially to those who were scared out of the bull market early but just got back in when the interest-rate push seemed over. No one is sure if a full-scale correction will develop in this way, but to avoid it, I would like to see more participants appear quickly in the form of new individual stock highs. Barring that, maintenance of the 20 percent cash reserves advocated in previous columns still seems appropriate.

Another factor that will have an impact this entire process is interest rates. A talk with economic and investment strategists at Dean Witter in New York produces their forecast of a full two point decline in long-term government bond rates over roughly the next six months. In addition to the overall effect on the market of such a decline, electric utility stocks should be particularly sensitive to the lower rates. Normally, this would be very favorable for the electric stock prices. However, such does not seem to be the case according to these same analysts. It seems first that earnings on the part of the electric utilities have not generally kept pace.

Second, the two point spread between the electric and long term AA utility bonds is wider than appropriate given the industries 4 percent long term growth rate potential. Next, electric utilities are no longer the defensive investment they once were because a cut back in usage can occur in recessionary times. Lastly, the market is beginning to recognize the above factors, as evidenced by the breakdown in the strong day-to-day correlation with the bond market.

For investors overweighted in other areas who desire electric utility investments the guidance is to exercise great selectivity, focusing on those companies for which there is a high probability of a dividend increase in the next two quarters or which have recently gone ex-dividend and have a better probability of higher capital gains in the next few months.

The Author is a broker with Dean Witter Reynolds in Southfield.

Howenstein and FitzSimons move up in company

Two Grosse Pointe Farms residents have been promoted at Copper and Brass Sales, Inc. of Detroit. William K. Howenstein, (top) formerly president and chief operating officer, has been named chairman and chief executive officer. Michael J. FitzSimons will succeed Howenstein. Howenstein attended Dartmouth College and began his career in 1956 with Copper and Brass Sales Inc., before coming president in 1969. FitzSimons is a graduate of Trinity College and holds an MBS in finance from Columbia University. He joined the company in 1972.

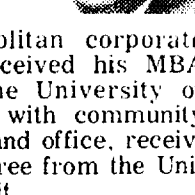

uated from the University of Virginia Law School and joined Dickinson, Wright after graduation.

O'Leary reelected secretary of law firm

The Detroit law firm of Plunkett, Cooney, Watters, and Stanczyk & Pedersen, P.C., announced that John P. O'Leary has been reelected secretary. O'Leary, a resident of Grosse Pointe Park, received his law degree from the University of Detroit and joined the firm in 1965.

Comerica Bank-Detroit, a subsidiary of Comerica Inc. has promoted Marc L. Scheuer (top) of Grosse Pointe Farms, and David J. Dykes of Grosse Pointe Woods, to vice-president. Scheuer will be affiliated with the Macomb County loan group, metropolitan corporate banking. He received his MBA degree from the University of Detroit. Dykes, with community banking, Northland office, received his MBA degree from the University of Detroit.

Hampton named chairman

Verne C. Hampton II, of Grosse Pointe Woods, has been named chairman of the Council of the Michigan State Bar's Corporate, Finance and Business Law Section. Hampton is a partner in the Detroit law firm of Dickinson, Wright, Moon, Van Dusen and Freeman. The Section has ongoing responsibility for reviewing statutes and drafting proposed legislation affecting the Michigan business community. The primary task, according to Hampton, in the upcoming year will be an extensive review of Michigan's Business Corporation Act (BCA) and the proposal of substantial amendments, in an effort "to bring Michigan law more in line with the Model Corporation Act. We want to make it as easy as possible for businesses to conduct their activities under Michigan corporate law." Hampton graduated from the University of Michigan.

WHY WE'RE OPPOSED TO THE 6TH GRADE EXPERIMENT.AGAIN.

The latest proposal by Dr. Brummel, Mrs. Joan Hanpeter, and the other members of the Grosse Pointe Board to shift 6th graders into middle school and to close Barnes has once again left most of us underwhelmed.

It is their third proposal this year and it reflects confusion, disorganization, and a feeling that the Board has lost a sense of perspective.

It also shows that they don't study history.

The placement of sixth graders into the middle schools was tried once before in the Grosse Pointe School System and it failed—badly. (We might point out, if it had been a success, it would still be around.)

In 1965, when Grosse Pointe found it needed another High School, it also found it needed more students to fill it. So it was decided that 9th graders would be moved into high school. It was suggested at about the time that perhaps 6th graders could be moved into middle schools to fill the "hole" left by the departing 9th graders. At that time, most—if not all—the elementary schools were at or above capacity enrollment.

A committee was formed that included administrators and teachers. Their objective was to see if grouping 6th, 7th, and 8th graders together was feasible. A great deal of care went into the selection of the committee. Input from all the P.T.O.s was gathered. The committee proceeded to examine possible middle school curriculum, text books and activities. They visited a number of schools both in Michigan and across the country that were trying the 6th grade concept. Dr. Ann Grooms, a prominent educator from the University of Cincinnati was hired as a special consultant.

Henry Ford II even made a personal donation to help underwrite the costs of a three-day conference at Hidden Valley, near Gaylord, that was attended by the administrators and teachers who would take part in the program. To help implement the program, Dr. Grooms also recruited some academic heavyweights including Dr. Margaret Mead, Dr. Martin Hamberger, Education Professor at N.Y.U., and Dr. Emmet Williams of the University of Florida.

The program was over two years in planning. It had everything going for it. Brains. Talent. Money. Commitment.

But it failed.

We've tried to backtrack and piece together why this experiment didn't work. After talking to teachers, administrators and students who took part in the program the only conclusion we can draw is this: 6th grade level students need a year's "cushion" before they enter middle school.

Were the elementary students of the 60s and 70s different from the students of the 80s? Can today's students succeed, where their older brothers and sisters failed? Last week we decided to ask every Grosse Pointe elementary school teacher if they would take part in an anonymous survey. One of the questions was "DO YOU FEEL, AS AN EDUCATOR, THAT THE SIXTH GRADES SHOULD BE MOVED INTO A MIDDLE SCHOOL ENVIRONMENT?" Of the 75 teachers that responded to the survey... 60% voted that students should not be moved. 35% thought they should be moved. 5% were undecided.

Also, at the October 19th Barnes Town Meeting, Mrs. Lynn O'Connor, a middle school social worker in the Grosse Pointe School System, stated that "because of their immaturity, two-thirds of the sixth-graders would have problems dealing with the middle school situation."

We are not opposed to change. Especially if it will make our children smarter. Or more able to face the challenges of our changing society. That makes sense.

But moving 6th graders into middle school and closing Barnes doesn't make sense.

And on this one, history is on our side.

Fords dedicate new health center

Henry Ford II and his son, Edsel II, both of Grosse Pointe Farms, shared the speakers' platform for the first time Friday, Oct. 14. The event was the dedication of the 78-acre Henry Ford Hospital West Bloomfield site as the Edsel B. Ford Center.

Edsel B. Ford served as vice-president of the Hospital Board from its inception in 1915 until his death in 1943. Henry Ford II, his eldest son, currently serves as its chairman.

The Edsel B. Ford Center is location of two facilities, the West Bloomfield Center, which includes comprehensive outpatient care and 24-hour emergency services, and Maplegrove, a residential center for treatment of alcoholism and other chemical dependencies.

More than 250 invited guests, including many Grosse Pointers, crowded the lobby of the West Bloomfield Center for the dedication and to hear the speakers' remarks. In the dedication speech, Ford said, "My father took his civic responsibility very seriously, and it is fitting that this center should be named after him, but there have been a lot of other people who have helped to make the hospital what it is today. Let us not forget their commitment."

The dedication continues a tradition of the hospital's honoring Ford family members — who have been actively involved with HFH since its founding in 1915 by auto-pioneer Henry Ford — and other major supporters.

Part of the dedication program included the recognition from the podium by Edsel Ford II of several "leadership associates" who have been generous supporters. Among those recognized were Grosse Pointe residents E. Paul Casey, hospital trustee and supporter of Maplegrove and the Eleanor Clay Ford Pavilion, and Carlton M. Higbie, Jr., board president and longtime contributor to the hospital.

Following the ceremony, guests attended a reception, toured areas of the center, and got a close-up look at two Continental automobiles — a 1940 model (Edsel B. Ford originally had the Continental designed as his personal car) and a 1984 Continental Mark VII, which will be introduced to the public Nov. 10.

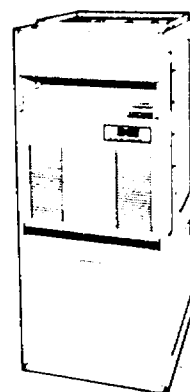

Henry Ford II and his son Edsel II shared the speakers' platform for the first time during the Oct. 14 dedication of Henry Ford Hospital's West Bloomfield facilities as the Edsel B. Ford Center.

Park 'angels' help out

By Harriet Nolan

October 30 turned out to be a hell of a devil's night for Detroit police and fire departments, but Grosse Pointe Park Fire Chief Phillip Costa and his men proved that angels also venture out on Halloween eve.

It all started when Detroit officials reported an onslaught of deliberately set fires which tied up trucks and 911 emergency lines for hours. Many of the fires that were started in dumpsters and vacant buildings spread to adjacent buildings and delayed help.

"I knew from the reports that they were already overwhelmed by calls for assistance," said Costa, describing how he was the one who spotted the flames rising up behind the one-story S & A Auto Glass Company at 15115 Mack Avenue in Detroit at 8:49 p.m.

Because of the intensity of the fire and the vicinity, Costa decided to ask his men to help. He estimated the fire was about 20 minutes old and had started in rubbish piled high at the rear of the building.

His men fought the blaze for 30 minutes before Detroit fire officials arrived on the scene only to say they wouldn't be sending any help for "awhile."

One hour and 20 minutes later, a Detroit ladder pulled up to discover that the fire was already under control.

"We did save the building," said Costa, who also credits Grosse Pointe City officials for providing back-up service during the time his men saved three-fourths of the Detroit building from destruction.

The owner of S & A Auto Glass Co., Morris Lapin of Southfield, said the men did a "terrific job."

Park police also reported that six leaf fires were set on Saturday, Oct. 29 and three on Sunday, Oct. 30.

Here's to a beautiful spring

The Men's Garden Club of Grosse Pointe completed its fifth annual bulb planting at Elworthy Field Garden on Saturday morning, Oct. 29. A beautiful spring is assured at Elworthy Garden as 500 tulips, 100 narcissus and 50 Hyacinths were planted. Helping in the planting are (from left to right) Phil DeMaire, Ken Cary (chairman of community projects), Harold Lee and Gerald Schumaker.

Travel group goes baroque

The Senior Citizen World History and Travel Group of the Neighborhood Club Wednesday, Nov. 9, at 1:30 p.m. will present "In Search of the Baroque," a dual projector color slide presentation by Mary Ellen Tappan.

"In Search of the Baroque" will take the audience on a leisurely automobile tour of one of the most picturesque parts of Europe. Starting in Munich, the camera will explore Mad Ludwig's palaces of Wypfenburg and Lindenhof. The by-ways of the Bavarian Alps, the Austrian Tyrol, great baroque abbeys and hidden alpine villages are also visited.

The tyrolean cities of Innsbruck and Salzburg open the gateway to the past for a visit to the roccoco empire of the Austrian Hapsburgs. The tour will follow the Danube through the Wachau Valley, before the trip ends with a view of the Hapsburg palaces of Schonbrunn and the Hofburg and a trip to the most baroque of all cities: Vienna.

All seniors are invited to the weekly programs at the Neighborhood club, held free of charge.

We should take stock of ourselves as a community. We should recognize that we are in serious competition for new families with other communities and do all that we can to meet such competition. New families are the life blood of a community through the purchase of our homes and the filling of our schools and churches. The Park should vigorously promote its wonderful schools, lake, recreational facilities and variety of housing for new families.

Ex-mayor faces grievance hearing

By Susan McDonald

The Securities and Exchange Commission's embezzlement case against David Robb was "for all practical purposes" resolved last week, when Robb agreed to repay more than $350,000. But the ex-mayor of Grosse Pointe City now faces hearing before the Michigan Supreme Court's attorney grievance commission which could result in his disbarment, a commission spokesman said.

Without admitting or denying guilt, Robb's attorneys consented to a judgement that will require him to pay back $350,565. The money is to cover $196,358 he was accused of taking from the account of Financial House, Inc., the bankrupt securities firm of which Robb was trustee. The judgement also covers $49,601 he was paid as trustee and more than $100,000 in interest charges.

The hearing was held Oct. 25, before U.S. District Court Judge George Brody.

Mark Loush, an attorney for the Securities and Exchange Commission, said Robb's action will probably bring an end to his agency's case against him. "There's not much more we can ask for in court," he said.

Robb's hearing before the attorney grievance commission is scheduled for Dec. 13, in the commission's offices on West Fort in Detroit. Administrator Michael Schwartz said a complaint against Robb charges he has embezzled money, that he caused a certificate of deposit to be forged, and caused a bankruptcy judge's name to be forged. "Disbarment, or revocation of his license to practice law, will probably be considered," Schwartz said.

"We're not talking about minor misconduct here. This is serious," Schwartz added.

Robb, 53, served as mayor of Grosse Pointe City from 1979 until last August, when he resigned because of the publicity surrounding the SEC charges civil against him.

Terminally ill

Medicare will pay for hospice care

Hospice care is now available under Medicare to terminally ill patients with six months or less to live. Proposed regulations implementing the provisions of the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982 authorized the new benefit beginning Nov. 1, said James T. Moslener, district manager of the Social Security office at 17420 Mack Avenue.

The regulations describe eligibility requirements, covered services, reimbursement procedures and the conditions a hospice must meet to be approved for participation in the Medicare program. The new Medicare benefit is scheduled to end on Sept. 30, 1986, absent further legislation by Congress, Moslener said.

The goal of hospice care is to help terminally ill individuals continue life with minimal disruption in normal activities while remaining in the home environment. Inpatient hospice settings are used primarily when the individual's pain and symptoms must be closely monitored in order to be controlled or when the family needs a rest from the stress involved in caring for the individual (respite care).

Under the regulations, a patient must be certified as terminally ill by the attending doctor and a hospice doctor and must elect to receive care from a hospice instead of standard Medicare benefits for the terminal illness. A plan of care must be established and, to be covered, services must be reasonable and necessary for the management of the terminal illness.

Moslener said medical services covered under the hospice benefit include:

- Nursing care provided by or under the supervision of a registered nurse.

- Medical social services provided by a social worker under the direction of a physician.

- Physician services.

- Counseling services provided to the terminally ill individual and the family members or other persons caring for the individual at home.

- Short-term inpatient care provided in a hospice or hospital, skilled nursing care facility, or intermediate care facility, including respite care.

- Certain medical appliances and supplies including drugs and biologicals used for the control of pain and other symptoms related to the terminal illness.

- Home health aide services furnished by qualified aides which are provided under the general supervision of a registered nurse and homemaker services.

- Physical therapy, occupational therapy and speech language pathology services to enable the patient to maintain basic functional skills and activities of daily living.

- Hospital insurance can pay for a maximum of two periods of 90 days and one period of 30 days of hospice care. The hospice is required to continue care if the patient needs it beyond the benefit period, unless the patient requests otherwise.

During a hospice benefit period, Medicare pays the full cost of all covered services for the terminal illness. The patient pays no deductible or co-payment, except for part of the cost of outpatient drugs, or $5 toward each prescription, whichever is less. For respite care, which is short term inpatient care designed to relieve the person who regularly cares for the patient, the patient pays five percent of the cost up to a specified level.

Hospice care originated in Europe and has appeared in the U.S. only in the last 10 years. A recent survey has identified more than 1,200 organizations that consider themselves hospices, Moslener said. Because of the rapidly growing interest in hospice care, the Health Care Financing Administration established a demonstration project in 1980 for two years using 26 hospice programs. Preliminary cost data from the demonstrations have been used to develop the reimbursement methodology contained in the regulations.

More information about hospice care can be obtained by contacting the Social Security Administration office at 17420 Mack Avenue or by calling 493-1111, the general information number.

MAYOR DOUGLAS GRAHAM

Candidate

for Re-ELECTION

IN

GROSSE POINTE PARK

With A Record To Be Proud Of...

14 Years As A Councilman — 2 As Your Mayor

- Taxes — down 3.39% this year, and still a balanced budget.
- Crime — down 10% overall in major categories, burglaries down 35%.
- Streets — secured financing and started a street repaving program to be paid for with gas and weight taxes from the state.
- Zoning — opposed high rises and construction of any multi-family dwellings.
- Schools — G.P.P. was the first community whose Mayor and Council passed a resolution opposing the proposed closings.
- District Court — opposed because it would take Court out of control of local government. Other Pointes refused to participate and GPP is too small to do it alone.
- Commercial Areas — worked effectively to upgrade Kercheval-in-the-Park business district. Work is now starting on Mack Avenue.
- Trees — initiated a tree replacement program, and tree sales to local residents.
- Community Involvement — established Citizen Advisory Committees to use local expertise in planning improvements in parks, streets, and neighborhood beautification.

With the recent cutbacks in federal subsidies to the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA), many Grosse Pointe students will have to find another way to get to and from school.

SEMTA announced the cuts would go into effect on Monday, Oct. 17, to try to eliminate a $16.6 million budget deficit, caused by a cease of federal aid. Not only is Grosse Pointe hit by these cuts, but the whole tri-county school area, including Dearborn, Royal Oak, and the Roseville school districts.

Other cutbacks aimed at reducing the deficit are the discontinuation of the commuter train service between Pontiac and Detroit, and all of the regular bus service has been cut by about 30 percent.

In Grosse Pointe, all of the bus service to Parcels and Brownell Middle Schools has been discontinued indefinitely. Service to South High School will be two trips in the morning, and two trips in the afternoon, cutting one of the afternoon trips. North High's morning trip has been terminated, and one of the three afternoon trips has been discontinued.

Gary W. Krause, SEMTA's general manager, said, "we regret having to make these service reductions, but we must be financially responsible."

The SEMTA administration also has raised its basic fare for youths age 6 to 18, from 50 cents to 75 cents, plus any applicable zone charges.

"The reduction of the bus service has come at an especially bad time, with winter coming up," said one school official. "The deep snow makes it hard for the kids to walk or ride their bikes to the school. The bus cuts actually mean that the parents of the students on the cut routes will actually become substitute bus drivers, or part-time drivers if they can form a car pool with the other involved families on the block," the official said.

SEMTA's Krause said, "by taking this action, making significant cuts in administration and cutting other expenses, we have balanced our budget. We have significant monies available to operate at the current level until 1985. In the meantime, SEMTA must gain the support of the people of southeastern Michigan for a dedicated source of local funding for public transit. Only with that local commitment can we regain lost service and put in place the framework for a comprehensive transportation system."

Although the cuts to the Grosse Pointe area are quite severe, many school districts have been nearly completely wiped off of SEMTA's route maps. The cuts in service are not classified as permanent, but SEMTA does not plan to restart the discontinued service until the deficit has been made up, and there are sufficient funds to run the routes without getting back into debt.

Officials at the Grosse Pointe public school administration building, said, "the school system appealed the cuts, but it's just bad business for the SEMTA people to lose money on running routes that very few students ride."

With all of the new cuts in service to the entire southeastern Michigan area, SEMTA has tried to keep most of the cuts involving schools primarily to those in the morning. SEMTA officials feel that parents, even those who are working, can drop their child off on their way to work, but those who work probably cannot pick the kids up after school. This prompted the transportation authority to try to preserve the afternoon service to the schools. The SEMTA officials were fairly successful at doing this.

Many Grosse Pointe residents feel that most schools are within walking distance of most homes, but this is not always the case. Many South students live further than three miles from the school, and some junior high school students are nearly as far from their schools.

One of the many students affected by the cuts and fare raise,

Pierce racks up a third award

For the third consecutive year, "Inklings," the literary publication written, edited and illustrated by Pierce Middle School students, has won a first place award in a nationwide competition sponsored by Columbia Scholastic Press, of Columbia University, New York.

The magazine contained 88 short stories, poems, essays and book reviews plus illustrations by 14 Pierce students. The staff worked under the direction of Mary King, editor in chief, and Heidi Dauphin, art editor.

The sponsor was Rae Kuhn, who worked in cooperation with the Pierce English and art departments.

Orientation Nov. 4 at Lutheran High

Eighth grade orientation at Lutheran High School East will be held Friday, Nov. 4. This day is designed to give eighth grade students (and their parents) the opportunity to tour Lutheran East, meet representatives of the student body and faculty, and gain insights into the Lutheran East academic and extra-curricular programs.

The day's activities will begin at 9 a.m. in the school gymnasium and the program will last until noon. Any students contemplating enrolling at Lutheran East next year are invited to attend. Registration materials for the coming school year will also be distributed at this time.

Lutheran High School East is a coeducational Christian school with an enrollment capacity of 650 students located at 20100 Kelly Road between 7 and 8 Mile Roads. For more information call 371-8750 during school hours.

Investigation shows those three municipalities wherein the women tend to have the largest bustlines are Los Angeles, Buffalo and Detroit. Bra makers who turned up these statistical averages said the Slavic immigrants in Buffalo and Detroit evidently contributed to the condition there, but they couldn't explain the endowments of Los Angeles.

Judson to conduct EMU symphony

Nathan Judson, instrumental music director at North High School, will guest conduct Eastern Michigan University Symphony Orchestra in a concert honoring the 50th anniversary of Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association (MSBOA) on Saturday, Nov. 5. Judson was invited to conduct by Russell Reed, director of the Eastern Michigan University Symphony Orchestra. Reed was Band and Orchestra Director at South High School for several years.

Judson has chosen to conduct Glinka's Overture to "Russian and Ludmilla." Other selections will be Holst's "Brook Green Suite," "Great Gate of Kiev," from Pictures at an Exhibition by Moussorgsky and Sibelius' Symphony No. 2.

The concert is given in conjunction with the High School String Workshop, an annual clinic for high school students sponsored by Eastern Michigan University. Several Grosse Pointe students will participate.

MSBOA is an organization of over 1,600 music educators in Michigan Schools. Founded by a small group in 1934, MSBOA has grown to include almost every band and orchestra director in Michigan schools. Judson has served in several MSBOA offices, including the state presidency. Pease Auditorium, Ypsilanti, is the site of the free concert, which begins at 7:30 p.m.

Punch offers Shakespeare for children

Dennis Wickline Productions' Theater for Children continues with "A Child's Midsummer Night's Dream" beginning Saturday, Nov. 5, with performances at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. at the Punch and Judy Theater, 21 Kercheval.

Running each Saturday in November at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m., the classic fantasy tale by William Shakespeare has been shortened and updated to make it a production for children.

The story takes place in an enchanted forest where fairies make their home. In the forest come four lovers, a tongue-tied actor and Shakespeare himself. Slapstick confusion, magic spells and mystical merriment follow.

The production features five area high school students in apprenticeship roles as the two pairs of lovers and Puck, the mischievous fairy. They are Tyson McNamara of Grosse Pointe City as Lysander, Bary Wilkinson of the City as Demetrius, Cindy Pencak of Harper Woods as Hermia, Sue Wloddek of Warren as Helena, and Kristin McKee of Mt. Clemens as Puck. Director is Ed Guay.

Tickets are $2.50. Groups of 20 or more receive a 25 cent discount per person, groups of 50 or more receive a 50 cent discount per person. For more information or group booking, call 773-3076.

Regina High dads host gambling party

Admission is $5 which includes $2 worth of chips.

For advance tickets, please call Mike Kenley at 527-3654 or the Regina High School office at 526-0220.

The event is sponsored by the Dads Club. Regina is located on Kelly, just south of Eight Mile Road.

ULS sixth graders dig into the past

University Liggett School sixth graders became archeologists for the day, Monday, Oct. 17, when Middle School history classes took to the fields for some practical experience in excavation.

Digging on a former farm site in Mt. Clemens, the students turned up such "finds" as a button shoe, a toy cowboy figure and an old green enamel roasting pan. "One great find was the sole of a leather shoe — size 11," said amateur digger John Gordon.

Gordon's classmate Chad Kotlarz was excited about discovering an old anchor, while his friend Eric David was philosophic. "I wonder what this site would have looked like when the buildings were here," he said.

Parent volunteers Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chilingirian helped the class secure the dig site at Union Lake Road and Metropolitan Parkway, formerly the Berschbach Farm. The property originally supported the old family home, a barn and two small outbuildings.

Following the dig, students will clean, label and assemble their finds for display. The archaeology experience is a part of the ULS sixth grade unit on ancient civilizations.

This year's dig was the ninth annual expedition for ULS amateur archaeologists.

Dominican High sets open house

Dominican High School invites seventh and eighth grade girls to come to an open house on Tuesday, Nov. 8, at 7 p.m.

Attention focused on South

By Kip Monahan
South High

The recent nationally recognized academic excellence of South High School has brought several distinguished visitors to the school from around the state. Groups from Lansing, other schools and interested people have visited since the recent announcement that South was one of the best high schools in the nation.

Under the official U.S. flag, given to Principal Joseph Spagnoli by Ronald Reagan for the outstanding achievement of South, visitors come to see just what makes South so much better than the thousands of other schools in the U.S. There is little doubt that this has come from a combined effort of the administration, faculty and students.

The award also played a part in the selection of South as the subject of WXYZ's, (channel 7) special on quality education. The special also includes Detroit's Southwestern High School and will be aired sometime between mid-November and Christmas. The special's purpose is not to compare the two schools, but to show what makes the education level so high in these two schools, even though they come from two completely different socio-economic backgrounds.

Other visitors to South include students, teachers, administrators and parents from other high schools. These are normally representatives of the school and come mainly to see how and if they can raise the caliber of education in their respective schools. They are sent as a type of ambassador and South students are sometimes sent to other schools such as University Liggett, to look at the quality of more expensive, private schools that are also recognized for academic excellence.

Kiwanis Foundation elects Robert Weber

Pointer Robert F. Weber, director of Standard Federal Savings and Loan Association and president of Weber Family Enterprises, has been re-elected trustee of Kiwanis International Foundation for 1983-84.

The Foundation is a not-for-profit corporation which financially supports the programs of Kiwanis International, including activities to meet needs of youth, the aged and disadvantaged.

Prior to his re-election as trustee Weber served as president.

elect, treasurer and vice-president. He has also been president of the Detroit No. 1 Kiwanis Club, lieutenant-governor and governor of the Michigan Kiwanis District and chairman of several district committees.

Weber has also been a member and chairman of the Kiwanis International committees on support of churches in their spiritual aims, public and business affairs for the U.S. and programs and music. He is a Life Member of Kiwanis International.

By Marian Trainor

Close to 100 friends gathered at the Country Club of Detroit last month to pay tribute to a special person who had quietly and without fanfare served his community for 50 years. Everyone there had his own reason for honoring this man who had played an important role at some point in each of their lives. They spoke of him as a treasured friend, a valued advisor, a caring citizen and an outstanding lawyer. His wife, Frances, his daughter, Barbara, and his grandchildren, Anne Marie, Jim and Paul, paid loving tribute to him as a devoted husband, father and grandfather. He was not only praised with words, but also was presented with written testimonies. It took two large leatherbound books to hold them. The State Bar sent a certificate marking his 50 years as an attorney.

It was a fitting occasion to honor a man who had, among other civic contributions, served on the Grosse Pointe Woods City Council, headed up a beautification project on the Mack block between Renaud and Lochmoor, built an imposing building that houses the Manufacturers Bank Trust Offices and his law firm. He also was president of the Grosse Pointe Farms Foundation, assisted Cottage Hospital in obtaining grants for expensive equipment, and donated four hospital rooms. He has served as commodore of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club and is currently a member of the Grosse Pointe Club, the Country Club of Detroit and the Detroit Club.

The question might well be raised — why did it take so long to honor Paul Marco and to acknowledge the contributions he has made to his profession and community? The answer is, he is a person who works quietly and efficiently. For him, the satisfaction of seeing a job well done is rewarding in itself. He has never sought public recognition or personal aggrandizement. Last month's party was arranged in utmost secrecy because his family and law partners were sure that if he had known about it, he would have demurred. It took six months to put the party together, but the results were worth it.

Some of the guests had known Paul Marco for 40 years. Seeing Opera records are featured as well as the usual array of fiction, non-fiction, magazines and some paperbacks. Materials will go for 10 and 25 cents for books and 50 cents per record disc.

Prime Time for senior citizens

They brought back memories of good times shared. It was a cosmopolitan group. They came from all areas, many from out of state. One arrived in his own helicopter. It was a gala, memorable evening and one that marks a wonderful success story, a success story based on diligence and hard work.

Marco worked as a gas station attendant when he was 15. He was a little embarrassed when, after being held up at gunpoint, he had to admit he had fibbed about his age. During summers he sold celerery out of the trunk of his car and worked on a Chrysler assembly line. While attending college, he played in a dance band in the evenings.

On entering night law school he became a law clerk for Robert M. Brownson who had a law firm in the Free Press Building. After graduation, Marco joined the firm and stayed on for a while after Brownson's death before going on to establish his own law firm in the Penobscot Building. In 1976, after building the Manufacturers Bank Building in Grosse Pointe Woods, he moved his law firm there.

The building is an attractive two-story brick structure, beautifully landscaped. It merited a plaque from the city of Grosse Pointe Woods which read, "A Special Award to Mack-Renaud Building and Paul Marco for Outstanding Contributions to Beautification." The outside of the building is imposing, but to truly appreciate it the viewer should go inside. It has the elegance of another era with its polished and buffed wood paneling, crystal lights and traditional furnishings.

It is an appropriate setting for Marco. His friends refer to him as a perfect gentleman. He seldom loses control, or is abrupt or impatient. He is meticulously fair. "The only good contract," he once told a client, "is one where both parties are satisfied."

In the course of his law practice, Marco has traveled to Paris in a stratacruiser, to Majorca, where he shook hands with Aristotle Onassis, to Russia, to Yugoslavia, South America, South Africa and Australia.

On one of his journeys he traveled to Johannesburg where he flew to Mala Mala to a famous game preserve. Expecting to find rather rugged conditions, the guests were pleasantly surprised to find that the cabins had all the amenities of a good hotel, including wall-to-wall carpeting. Most of the guests were from the U.S. or Canada. They had come to take pictures of the animals, not to shoot them. Among the guests were Claire Booth Luce and a gentleman from Birmingham, Mich., who knew a very good friend of Paul's formerly from Grosse Pointe. "I asked the gentleman to say hello for me to my friend whom I had not seen in years," Paul said. "The next morning I went out for a ride in a land rover and stopped by the airstrip to watch an arriving bush plane unload passengers. Who should be getting out of the plane but my friend. He was there to develop some computer plans for South African Airlines. It was a most unusual coincidence."

During his career, Paul has handled many important cases. Some were interesting because of the people involved, such as the Reverend Father Charles Coughlin's libel suit against the Free Press for $3 million which was withdrawn after Marco submitted convincing proofs of truth as a defense. Another involved the accidental death of Horace Dodge. The Free Press was being sued for refusing to divulge the source of its story. Marco, as attorney for the Free Press, was able to protect the paper in its refusal.

Cases which must have been a source of great satisfaction to Marco were those which involved young entrepreneurs looking for counsel on all the ramifications of getting started in business. "He has an unerring sense of what steps to take to achieve a goal," remarked one. "He is really good at setting up creative financing," one banker commented, "but always it is financing based on sound collateral."

Because Marco spends so much time and energy on his work and his involvement in community affairs, one wonders if he has any personal interests. He does. He plays a good game of golf regularly and has played at some of the best golf courses in the country, including the Country Club of Detroit where he and a group of regulars get together whenever the weather is right. He has also been an active licensed ham radio operator.

Although it is strictly not what you would call a leisure time activity, Marco has quite a talent for design. Besides designing the building that houses his law firm, he outlined the plans for his home which sets like a picture on the edge of the golf course.

He is a good musician and has been an accomplished singer. Besides playing in dance bands to pay for his education, Paul has spent many musical evenings in his home entertaining guests. He studied voice under two leading voice teachers, Marcus Kellerman and Thaddeus Wronski. He practiced being ecumenical long before that term became popular — by singing in church choirs of all denominations. Also, he sang in musicals and once played the lead in Lohengren's musical version of "A Midsummer — Night's Dream."

With all the professional demands on his time, his civic activities, his interests in building and his enthusiasm for a good golf game, Marco's first and foremost priority is his wife and daughter. They are the focus of his life and they are devoted to him as he is to them.

If it were not for the record, one would never guess that Paul has been practicing law for 50 years. He has the manner and appearance of one much younger than his years. He speaks with an assurance based on knowledge. He is dignified but gracious, authoritative without ostentation. He is a person who inspired confidence and in all ways a truly fine gentleman.

Old west event to raise money

Christ United Methodist Church's Chuck Wagon Dinner is scheduled for Nov. 13 in Fellowship Hall.

The event will include the Pony Express system of raising the church's budget. Instead of making pledges, church members fill out cards estimating what they plan to give for the coming year. Each church family becomes a RouteRider, relaying a Stewardship Saddlebag to one other family.

Officials at the church, located at 15932 East Warren in Detroit, said besides helping raise the church budget to finance needed programs of ministry and service, the Pony Express has enriched the church family by helping members know each other better.

In addition to "old west grub" at the dinner, the program will feature the fellowship singing favorite western songs and well-liked hymns. Special entertainment will precede a presentation of the church's planned program and budget for the next year.

Reservations for the event must be made with the church by noon on Nov. 10. It begins at 12:15 p.m.

Candidates use soft-gloved approach in the City

Guthat was disappointed when council recently rejected a resident's request that it issue a formal statement against school closings.

"They replied they didn't want to stick their noses into the board's business," says Guthat. "But it is the city's concern."

"For many of us, the equity in our houses represents a large investment. We may not lose the quality, but the desirability to live in the City," he adds.

Challenger Thomas O'Rourke, president of Tom O'Rourke & Associates, a food brokerage firm, says the City has served him and his family well during the past 11 years and he would like the opportunity to return the favor.

If elected, he plans to draw on his past experiences organizing and appraising Jaycee activities.

While O'Rourke doesn't have any definite stand on the liquor issue, he stands behind council on its decision to study the issue.

And while he hasn't had any time to attend council meetings over the past several months, he would find the time "if I had to," he says.

Two incumbents hoping for reelection are Jeanette H. Duffield and Arthur S. Feters. Both candidates are running on their past performances and say they wouldn't oppose the selling of liquor after it had been carefully studied and proven not to be detrimental to the community.

Mrs. Duffield, 55, a food tester and columnist for the Detroit Free Press, is the only woman ever to serve on the City's council.

"I never felt gender to be a consideration for election by itself," she says, having always won reelection since first appointed in 1973.

She credits council with keeping a lid on taxes despite inflation, and "for always presenting a united front," which she feels is comforting to the community.

Arthur Feters, 52, a manufacturers representative, says his reasons for wanting to be re-elected haven't changed over the years.

"I'm able to make a contribution, rather than conversation," says the 12-year veteran. "I've already demonstrated my concern for the community by being able to put its needs in proper priorities."

"If I've done a good job, then I merit reelection," adds Feters.

A shift in council seats and a vacancy was created in September when Mayor David Robb resigned after being charged by the Securities and Exchange Commission with embezzling $188,000.

Councilman Lorenzo Browning replaced Robb and John F. Youngblood, 38, was appointed to fill Browning's seat.

Youngblood, an attorney who specializes in business counseling and employee relations law, is seeking to retain his spot. He feels his experience as an attorney, plus the fact he represented the city during its last labor negotiations helps him add a good balance to the council.

He doesn't find any "unique" issues except monitoring the day-to-day upkeep of the fiscal plan.

Youngblood says he's not opposed to selling beer and wine, but reflects council's concern over the possibility of issuing a tavern license only to have it upped to a Class C (bar) license later.

"There are a lot of things people don't know and we're all concerned with having enough time to get that information out to them," he says.

Youngblood says he doesn't represent any interest group and speaks for all residents.

"I haven't had time to screw up enough yet," he says. "I hope whatever the people have determined in this short time would dictate a vote for me."

The most crowded race in the City is for the four-year term as municipal judge currently held by Stan Kazul, who is seeking reelection. The position now pays about $3,500 a year, but is scheduled to increase to $4,125 in three years. Grosse Pointe's municipal courts are part time courts with limited jurisdiction and several times in recent years the state legislature has introduced bills to convert them to full time district court operations.

Brief biographies of the candidates follow:

George Cotichio, is an attorney with Cotichio, Zotter and Sullivan. He's making his third bid for election as City judge against Kazul.

Cotichio received his undergraduate and law degrees from DePaul University, a Jesuit school in Chicago, Ill. He is married, the father of three children, and has lived on Lakeland for 23 years. Cotichio has served as president of the Grosse Pointe Little League, he's been involved in the South High Dad's Club, Grosse Pointe Crisis Club and as an attorney on the Family Life Education Council. In addition he has been chairman for the Michigan Medical Arbitration Tribunal in Wayne County and a defense mediator for the Mediation Tribunal Association.

Cotichio said he wants to be elected judge because he believes that "if there is a strong judge, the chances are less likely that we're going to have a district court. That would not be good for the community for several reasons." He cited the increased costs of such a court and said that holding criminal arraignments in Grosse Pointe "would involve bringing in more people from outside the community."

"I just don't think we need that exposure," he said. "I do not want to be a district judge and I'll do whatever I can to foster the municipal court system."

Stan Kazul, the incumbent, was appointed judge in 1975 by the city council and has won election to the post twice since then. He is a partner in the law firm of Fitzgerald, Hodgman, Kazul, Rutledge, Cawthorne and King.

Kazul was graduated from Michigan State University and the University of Detroit Law School. He is serving his second term as president of the Grosse Pointe Volunteer Probation program and has been active at St. Paul parish in its parent-teacher board and athletic association.

Kazul said the last eight years have seen greater demands placed on police and judges in communities throughout the area. He said he's met those demands by spending more time working on municipal court operations.

"People often can't get to court during the day" to follow through on complaints, he said. "I held court in the evening, just yesterday, to accommodate one resident," he added.

Kazul said he thinks the municipal court system works very well and says it is much less expensive than district courts. But, if the issue of converting local courts to district operations ever arises again, Kazul said it should be put to a vote of the citizens.

"Let the people know how much it will cost and let them decide if it's worth it."

Matthew Rumora, 34 of Fisher Road, single, and an attorney in private practice in St. Clair Shores. He grew up in the Farms, was graduated from South High School and received his Bachelor's degree at Michigan State University. Rumora studied law at the University of Kentucky.

He said in a telephone interview last week that he believes his experience as an arbitrator, referee in Traffic Court, and Circuit Court mediator in domestic relations, qualifies him to be judge in the City.

"Having grown up in the Grosse Pointe area, it's something I've always had in the back of my mind," he said.

Rumora said he has "no real argument" with the incumbent Kazul and indicated he does not support creation of a district court. "Funding is the basic problem. I believe the municipal court is doing just fine now."

Rumora has been active in the Farms-City Babe Ruth League for nine years as a coach and member of its board of directors, and has served as a volunteer probation officer in Grosse Pointe. He is a member of the Jaycees and Grosse Pointe Boat Club.

Stephen Kinsley, of Washington Road, is the married father of two boys, associated with the law firm Conklin, Benham, McLeod, Ducey and Ottaway. A Philadelphia native who's lived in the Pointe for 25 years, he was graduated from Albion College and Detroit College of Law. He's been active in the Farms-City Little League and has donated his time to the Family Life Education Council's free legal clinic.

Kinsley said he does not disagree strongly with the incumbent's performance in office, but has some new ideas about sentencing to community service that he would like to try out. He said he'd take "a hard line on drunk driving, speeding and criminal offenses."

He favors continuation of the municipal court system because of the "personal touch" it provides for residents. "District courts are bigger, you'd probably get into mass processing of cases and plea bargaining," he said.

Kinsley said he's running for judge because he seeks a new experience that would broaden his knowledge and he'd "like to see if I can help the community."

Information Night held at GPA

On Wednesday, Nov. 2, the Grosse Pointe Academy held a High School Information Night for seventh and eighth grade students and their parents.

Representatives from DeLaSalle, University Liggett, Cranbrook, Dominican High School, Kingswood, Academy of the Sacred Heart, University of Detroit High, Our Lady of Mercy High, Notre Dame High, St. Mary's Prep and South presented their programs.

Severn home hit by thieves

A Severn Road home in the Woods was broken into between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 28, according to police.

The homeowner called police to say he had come home about 4:30 p.m. to find the front door of the home open. When he went inside, he discovered someone had taken, a Jensen stereo speaker, valued at $150, reports said.

Also missing were an unknown amount of loose change from two separate containers and a $1,000 woman's wedding ring, reports said.

Police believe the thief or thieves gained entry to the home by breaking through a basement window, after first moving some wood that had been placed in front of it, reports said. The thieves escaped through the front door.

Spanish Club meets at War Memorial

The Grosse Pointe Spanish Club will meet Monday, Nov. 7, at 8 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

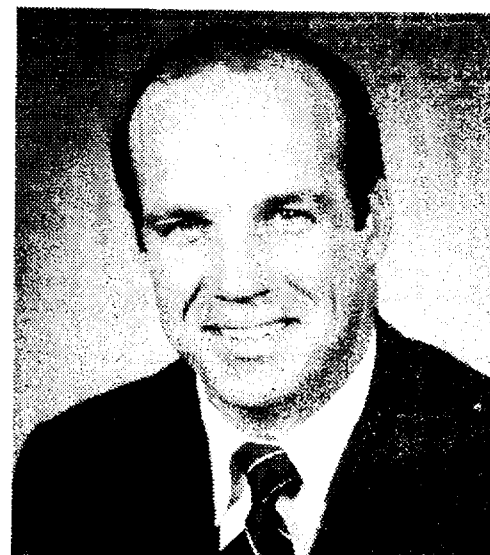

Gustavo Galligor of Madrid will be guest speaker. Galligor, a University of Michigan graduate, will talk about his career experience with General Motors of Spain.

The meeting is open to the public.

Cottage-Belmont Center is accredited

Cottage-Belmont Nursing Center, 19840 Harper Avenue, Harper Woods, has received a two-year accreditation for long term care from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH), according to William Barr, administrator.

"Accreditation means that the nursing home has met, and in some cases surpassed, national standards for care based on its performance, provision of equipment, and staffing by this respected organization."

The accreditation is voluntary and follows an intense survey by a field representative of the JCAH. JCAH's members include the American Medical Association, American Hospital Association, American Dental Association, American College of Physicians and the American College of Surgeons.

Cottage-Belmont Nursing Center provides skilled personal nursing services for the chronically ill, the handicapped, the convalescent patient, and for those with infirmities typical of old age. The 103 bed nursing home provides a comprehensive program of nursing, physical therapy services, and a variety of recreational activities. Since 1968, it has attained a fine local reputation for dignified and dependable care.

Cottage-Belmont Nursing Center is owned and operated by The Cottage Continuing Care Corporation which is an affiliate of Cottage Health Services Corporation. It is also affiliated with The Cottage Hospital of Grosse Pointe.

a lot to upgrade the Hill area and Mack Avenue. I'm also proud that the Farms is currently debt free and hasn't had a city property tax increase for the past three years.

"I guess the thing I'm most proud of is my involvement with the Grosse Pointe Farms Foundation," continued Dingeman. "It's my baby, so to speak. I also feel I helped direct the council in relation to the Wayne County Road Commission and the paving problems of Lakeshore Road.

"We achieved partial success there at least. An important principle was established. It could have cost the city hundreds of thousands of dollars to pave that road. As I said, by myself I haven't done much, but I'm trying to establish an esprit de corps in the community."

Dingeman said he was pleased with the upgrading of the Hill and was happy to see new shops moving into the area. "The Hill has started to show a lot of class in the last two or three years," said Dingeman.

"It's important to establish good communication with the public," added Dingeman. "We've been talking with the school board for some time now about extra parking at Richard School. We're making progress, but the school board has its own problems right now, so the talks are on hold. I now feel Mack Avenue is starting to dress up. All the merchants are cooperative and progress is being made."

The idea of a zoning ordinance on the Hill limiting new businesses to retail only on the first floor and relegating service businesses, (such as doctors, lawyers, real estate agencies, etc.) to the second floor didn't meet with the mayor's approval. "We don't have anything like that in the works now," he said. "We discussed it about two years ago and found it to be unsatisfactory. My real hope and desire is to see the new Bologna building with first floor retail establishments and offices upstairs. That would help bring customers in."

On the question of Lakeshore Road, Dingeman stated that he didn't think there would be very many more new subdivisions in the future.

"I don't believe we'll see too much more of that," he said. "St. Paul owns a lot of property, as does the Academy. Most of the waterfront homes in the Farms are too small to subdivide. My first love would be to see the roadway the way it was in the past, but reality said some type of development had to go in."

"At the time the Ford property came into focus, I sat down with Mr. Ford and discussed it. There's been a lot of proven interest in the subdivision and I believe at least 50 percent of the lots have been sold. I don't visualize high rises on Lakeshore, although I get calls about it quite frequently."

"My main efforts are to get people to think positively about the community, Detroit and Michigan."

Councilman Harry Echlin felt his most important contribution to the council was in helping keep city taxes down. "That's the biggest thing," he said. "We had a zero increase during the last fiscal year, in fact the last three years. The city was also debt free. I doubt you'll find that anywhere else in the state."

"The most controversial vote I ever took part in was the request for the 50 percent tax abatement for the proposed Bologna building. It's the one I received the most phone calls about."

On the subject of the Hill, Echlin feels the construction of the Bologna building will help draw shoppers to the area. "I feel we need a 'lead' store," he said. "The Hill doesn't have the draw of a Jacobson's like they have in the Village. I don't know if the new building will have one, but I'm hoping. We also have a parking problem on the Hill. I'm hoping the new parking deck will make shopping more pleasurable around here."

"There's too many businesses that seem to grab a lot of the parking spots early in the a.m. Although I don't think there's any cooperation problems between the city and the Hill, I feel we may sometime have to pass a 'retail only' on the first floor ordinance for the vicinity of the Hill. We've had no real response yet to the idea of the ordinance. Not a thing."

Concerning Lakeshore Road, Echlin said the city won't see any more subdivisions on the roadway. "There's not too much room for more subdivisions," said Echlin. "The only switch has already taken place. There aren't that many estates left anymore. That seems to be the way it's going. If Henry Ford can't afford to live on Lakeshore, who can? As for the condition of Lakeshore Road itself, I wasn't a party to the Lakeshore paving issue, but I agree with the way it was handled, although it's still only a partial victory."

Echlin said he saw a number of issues facing the Farms in the future. "Among the things to keep an eye on are the maintaining of city services without any drastic changes as inflation eases up," said Echlin. "There's also the issue of P.S.O. — public safety officers. The combining of police and firemen into one unit. I don't know if it's controversial, but it has to be faced. I'd also like to see a citizen tree planting program like they have in the Woods. We have one for tree planting on city property, but we should encourage the citizens to plant also, make it easier and cheaper through mass buying. Another concern is blight in the city. Homeowners should be encouraged to keep their property up. I'd like to see a continuation of the sidewalk replacement program. We didn't push it in the past because of the depression. When someone's out of work, it's hard to make a mortgage payment, let alone $400 to replace some sidewalks."

Mary Anne Ghesquiere said she felt her qualifications included a degree in business administration and psychology from the University of Detroit. She's also enrolled in a Master's program in business administration-health care industry at the University of Detroit.

"I'm also president elect of the Michigan Non-Profit Organization," she said. "I'm used to deadlines. I feel my business experience qualifies me, plus my daily experiences and responsibilities are similar to those facing the council. If elected, I hope to resolve the current issues that exist and hope to deal with problems of residents of the Farms in a fair and reasonable manner."

Ghesquiere said she felt the main concerns facing the Farms was maintaining the character of the community and the upgrading of the Hill area. "Walking door to door I've noticed the condition of the sidewalks," she said. "Many residents have told me how nice the Woods looks. They'd like the Farms to be maintained like that too," she said.

"I feel that further upgrading of the Hill is necessary, perhaps through an ordinance limiting new retail business to the first floor only. I'd like to see a balance of retail and business offices in the area, that would increase traffic for all businesses. The parking problems on the Hill must be resolved. Richard School could be used, but not being on the council I'm not really up to date on it. Many residents have told me they're shopping on the Hill again. It's almost back on its feet. They're just waiting for it to happen."

Like the other candidates, Mrs. Ghesquiere said she "regretted" the building of subdivisions on Lakeshore Road, but understood how it happened. "You have to be realistic. When a great mansion goes down, it hurts everybody. But one must be realistic about economic times we live in. The residents I've talked to have said they're not interested in seeing any more structures on Lakeshore like they're building now. They want to see an end to it. Grosse Pointe won't be the same if it continues."

Future issues facing the Farms include road maintenance and landscaping duties of the Wayne County Road Commission and the job of the council to encourage citizen participation in the community.

"The county is responsible in the way they hold out tax revenues," she said. "It bothered me to see the tall grass on Lakeshore this summer. There's also the problem of potholes and snow removal. I'm open to exploring alternative methods to solve these problems, such as litigation, legislative action or self help."

"I'm for encouraging wider citizen participation in the affairs of our community," she continued. "Residents must be aware that the council is open to their concerns. Local government should inspire trust and integrity in serving the needs of the community."

Bruce Rockwell looks upon his career spent in public finance as a qualification for public office. "I work with municipal bonds, and deal with municipalities, helping them with their debts," he said. "I'm also a trustee of the Municipal Advisory Council of Michigan. It aids good government through the debt side of governmental funding."

"I feel the thought processes brought to bear in business will help me in the council," he continued. "If I'm elected, I'd like to see the city continue its debt free, no tax increase course. That's really hard to improve upon. I'd hope to bring leadership to the council and help maintain the present desirable qualities of the council and enhance it."

Rockwell said he thought the Hill had some problems and referred to a recent marketability study of the area done by planning consultant Brandon Rogers.

"I believe the study points up to the council the property owners want a strong shopping area," he said. "I think an anchor store, hardware store or another restaurant would be attractive to shoppers in the area. I think the parking deck and the Bologna building will be an asset."

"If limiting retail stores to the first floor could be advanced without undue hardship, I think it would be beneficial to retail and real estate trusts as well. It would strengthen the Hill overall, both retail and professionally."

Rockwell said he had noticed a stronger sense of cooperation on the part of the city concerning the Hill in recent months and found it "encouraging."

"That level of intensity must be maintained," he said. "The Hill has a real problem with parking. I've driven through at 8:30 a.m. before all the stores are opened and many spots are already taken. I think two things that can help alleviate it are the new deck and any agreement that can be reached with the school board concerning Richard School. It would alleviate parking problems at the library and the lower part of the Hill. I also think stricter enforcement of the parking meters might be in the best interest of Hill merchants."

Rockwell said he thought the subdivisions appearing on Lakeshore were reflective of the new life style today. "More people are on the move and want smaller homes," he said. "Some have more than one home. Subdivisions like Windemere Place are the trend of the future. If done properly, I don't think they'll detract from the beauty of the area."

"As for the surfacing of Lakeshore, I think this temporary situation is better than none," he added. "I would work strongly toward a solution with the county that would properly maintain all county roads in the Farms. If the county doesn't utilize the funds correctly, we should rescind the funds, and maintain the roads ourselves if that is a viable option. I think it should be pursued."

Rockwell sees a changing community in the years ahead. "It's easy to say 'let's maintain the status quo,'" he said. "But this community is getting older. We've got a larger percentage of our residents in the retirement age bracket. Many widows and widowers in the city would like an alternative way to live without leaving the Farms."

"They don't necessarily want to stay in the big empty houses. The idea of high rises scares people. I know that. On the other hand, how do you interest a contractor or builder when the property can't be any higher than two stories? I think the idea of a 'latchkey' community dwelling will have more appeal in the future. Something like Henry Ford's new subdivision, but at the next level down because how many people can afford to buy there? Perhaps we can utilize existing structures within the community. The idea merits further study."

Richard Rutan feels his interest in civic organizations is one of the reasons he's qualified to sit on the Farms Council. He's been past president of the Grosse Pointe Jaycees and the Exchange Club. He was also the chairman of the board of the Austin Alumni Association and is a former member of the Farms Police Auxiliary.

"I'm also a former, unpaid member of Dick Headlee's campaign committee," said Rutan. "I'm thoroughly experienced with things of a committee nature. I've learned to work with people for the common good. It's a challenge to get people involved in an issue. These are experiences that enable me to run a meeting or organize an agenda."

"I feel the main problem facing us is apathy. The average citizen feels he can't do anything. I also feel fiscal responsibility is important," he continued. "Cost saving measures could be implemented in certain instances. There's great waste at the state level, it's possible that it has trickled down to the local level. Let's look into the consolidation with other cities, such as with a district court and garbage collection. Also the consolidation of police and fire services."

"We can make better utilization of equipment throughout the Pointes. I believe in anticipating the problems. As an example, how about the pipes and sewers in the Farms? They're 50 to 60 years old. Why can't we replace certain sections every year and stop future problems?"

"Parking on the Hill is a problem. The business district on the Hill and Mack needs to be looked at in terms of viability. Let's prioritize it. The business area is a good tax base and a tremendous plus for the Farms. The face lift is a start," he added. "It's an exciting way to keep our image and demand high for retail trade. The new building at Kercheval and Muir has exciting possibilities. I hope the council continues to take a part in it. We need forward planning, not 20-20 hindsight."

Rutan said there was no easy answer about limiting business on the Hill to first floor only establishments. "I know the realtors want the community to grow," he said. "If it becomes a Mecca for just realtors, the area will decline. I'm encouraged by what Michigan National Bank did. That encourages traffic and walk in-trade."

Rutan also said the condition of Lakeshore Road was a challenge. "It's a shame, and I suspect most of the community knows that," he said. "Lakeshore is our showplace. It's the North Avenue of Grosse Pointe. There's a real conflict between the council and the road commission. If we acquiesce and don't remain strong, there's the fear they could take advantage of us. I think we could negotiate a compromise between the city and Bill Lucas. It wouldn't bring financial relief to Wayne County at the expense of the Farms."

"We might have to take more responsibility," he continued, "as long as we get the tax revenues that are going to Wayne County. There's room for compromise, and with Bill Lucas, there's at least a chance. I can understand the fears. If we give in on Lakeshore, what about Moross, Mack and other roads? It'll always be a problem in the future."

Rutan added that he thought the loss of the large estates on Lakeshore was a "sign of the times."

"The loss of the big homes is inevitable," he said. "With the high cost of energy and water, homes like that are no longer practical, even for the rich. I'm in favor of the construction, it's a practical solution. But no high rises, nothing that isn't tasteful."

"And I don't think the new subdivisions will be limited to just Lakeshore," continued Rutan. "There are other streets in the Farms with large lots that might be built upon. In five or 10 years, they might be subdivided."

"As for the future, well, I don't think the city should be in the tree business," said Rutan. "I think it should be in the tree sponsorship-beautification business. I think citizens should pay their own way, but if the city has great buying power, well, trees are an investment."

"I'm also not into city giveaways," continued Rutan. "We can't expect more services without paying more. In the future, we may have to rely more on the services at the end of our own arms. It'll take team effort to get solutions for big problems."

Milena Raynal is a 15-year resident of the Farms and is married to Bill. The mother of four children, Mrs. Raynal is a substitute teacher in the Grosse Pointe School system. She is also a substance abuse counselor.

"I'm a resident of the Farms with no political background," said Mrs. Raynal. "I've always been a concerned citizen. 'I've been associated with the Girl Scouts of America, the Brownies and the PTA. I've never before had the time to run, with four children, but with just one at home now I feel I'd like to try for the election."

"I don't have any real complaints about the community," she continued. "However, I am concerned about our roads. I ride my bike along Lakeshore and there are a lot of dips and bumps there. I'd also like to see year around youth involvement at the Pier Park, or at least more than there is now."

Mrs. Raynal confirmed that she did have some concerns about the Hill. "I love the Hill and I'm disappointed we don't have more personalized shopping there," she said. "I don't know why we can't keep stores here. Are the rents too high? I'll try to find out. I love the proximity of the Hill, but there were more businesses there when I first moved in. We need more business to meet our needs. I know there's a parking problem on the Hill, but I'm not really aware of it since I'm not a business owner, plus I walk to the Hill. I can't understand why more people can't park in the back lots."

As for the idea of limiting new retail business on the Hill to first floor only, Mrs. Raynal said she thought it was a "good idea, but needed study."

"If taxes or rents are too high, people still won't move in," she said. "I like the Village, especially Jacobson's. It's done a lot for the Village. We could use an anchor store, it would be good for Hill business."

"I think the paving on Lakeshore is bad," she continued. "Past the Pier Park, it gets cracks and dips and it's uncomfortable. There's no reason for it. If the council and residents banded together, I think we might have more influence. I think those ladies working out there on the potholes influenced the county a lot. They were very effective."

"The cluster home option is a mixed issue," she said. "The mansions are beautiful, but it's unrealistic in our lives to expect people to support the mansions."

"As for future problems, I believe preventive medicine is more important than repair," she summarized. "It's less expensive to the taxpayers. I'd like to help keep the community nice for the families that will move in and for ourselves."

Eastside cities will study joint ventures

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods last week received preliminary approval for a $20,000 grant from the Metropolitan Affairs Corp. to study ways to share some police and fire services.

The six communities, composing the Eastern Wayne County Communities consortium, were among four consortia to get grants totalling $73,000 from MAC to promote studies of joint public ventures.

The grant will fund the study of joint services in public safety, which could include a joint jail or holding facility, central dispatching and records, mutual gun range usage and joint prisoner transport. City Manager-Clerk Thomas Kressbach said.

New Lutheran church is in the making

Carl E. Thomas, of the Woods, president of Lutheran Social Services of Michigan, has been elected to a task force on social ministry to develop an organizational design for the new Lutheran Church.

Dr. Thomas is one of two social service agency executives named to the 10-member Design Task Force on the Church's Social Ministry Through Homes, Institutions and Agencies.

That group, along with 10 other task forces and five special groups, will come up with the working organization of the proposed Lutheran church scheduled to begin in 1988.

The task forces will report to the Commission for a New Lutheran Church by February 1984. Narrative texts, including options, will then go to the spring synod and district conventions and then to the churches' biennial conventions.

After that, the commission will work on the proposals and present them in constitutional form for the 1986 conventions.

The new Lutheran Church brings together the American Lutheran Church, Lutheran Church in America and Association of Evangelical Lutheran Churches. LSSM is affiliated with the Michigan congregations of all three.

Dr. Thomas, who has headed LSSM since 1973, heads an agency with a budget of $13 million, 600 employees and which serves 12,000 people daily. The agency operates 25 units in 14 Michigan cities.

Since Dr. Thomas arrived at LSSM, the agency has increased its service at the average rate of $1 million annually.

He has been involved in the establishment of three national Lutheran organizations and is a consultant to the Lutheran Church in America for agencies and programs needing assistance. The agency now is a consultant for nursing homes in Indiana and Kentucky.

A working group composed of the city managers from the six communities and chiefs of police Robert Ferber, the Farms, and Gary Ford, Harper Woods, will meet later this month to narrow down the five possibilities to one or two, Kressbach said. Because of limited funds, the consortium will have to choose from among the five items to decide which areas are of the most mutual benefit to study, he added.

The grant award stems from actions the six councils took last April and May when each passed resolutions expressing their interest in studying possible joint public ventures with the help of MAC.

MAC is underwriting the joint public ventures study as part of its program to support more efficient use of public funds through the sharing of costs. One of the reasons the application by the Pointes and Harper Woods was accepted was because the completed study might be used as a blueprint by other communities seeking to do the same thing, city officials said.

The working group, when it meets, will have to begin deciding the specific areas for study by delineating the problems and priorities, according to MAC. When the study will be done and who will do it are still undecided, pending the determination of the working group, Kressbach said.

Implementation of the study findings is separate from the study itself, Kressbach said. The communities may find that the benefits they receive are outweighed by the costs of maintaining the programs, he noted.

The cities became interested in the possibility of the joint venture studies when MAC sent letters to the communities saying it would make funding available for the studies. The cities submitted a preliminary application for study areas to MAC, followed later by specific areas of study.

MAC is a private, non-profit company supported through the contributions of business and labor. Staff support for the company is being offered by the Southeast Michigan Council of Government, which receives $10,000 from MAC for administering the joint public venture projects, according to MAC.

Eating disorder self-help groups meet at Cottage

As a result of an Oct. 12 meeting at Cottage Hospital, self-help groups have been formed to help anorexics, bulimics and their immediate family members.

The next meeting of the group will take place at Cottage Hospital at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 16. Weekly meetings will be scheduled for those suffering from eating disorders. Parents and other immediate family members will meet twice monthly.

Professionals treating these disorders are welcome to attend. For more information, call 773-5995.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

'Tis the season of Christmas Fairs, and Grosse Pointe Memorial Church's is going on today, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., on all three floors of the church's Fellowship Hall. But if you must miss this one (a prior commitment, perhaps, or a sudden emergency), take heart: there are enough fairs in the immediate future to suit everyone's styles and schedules.

'Oh, Come All Ye' to Bon Secours

The Bon Secours Assistance League's Fourth Annual Christmas Mart in the Bon Secours Hospital Science Hall opens Sunday, Nov. 6, with a 1 to 6 p.m. preview party featuring gifts to buy, wine to drink, cheese to eat, violin players to hear and the spirit of Christmas' all-pervading presence.

The Mart continues Monday, Nov. 7, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Tuesday, Nov. 8, from 10 to 2 p.m. General co-chairmen are Mrs. C. John Burke and Mrs. James Long. Mrs. Philip Meathe, Gift Shop chairman, with assistance from Mrs. Thomas Madigan and Mrs. Hamilton Kotcher, has been busy for months, searching for and purchasing special Christmas merchandise.

Mrs. George Williams, Mrs. William Young, Mrs. John Leonard, Mrs. Richard Schrage, Mrs. Henry VanderVoort, Mrs. John King and Mrs. Gordon Philip are the chairmen who promise a festive mood for each of their booths. Mrs. Lorenzo Browning is responsible for the tea table. New to the Mart this year is a Bake Sale, chaired by Mrs. Thomas Coulter.

A New Idea: An Idea Mart!

The Women's Association of the Grosse Pointe Congregational/American Baptist Church has come up with a new idea in holiday marts this year: an Idea Mart, running from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. next Thursday, Nov. 10, in the Social Hall of the church on Chalfonte Avenue at the corner of Lothrop Road.

Admission is $2. Everyone's welcome. Mrs. Bernice Bates is general chairman, and many of the church's members and friends are volunteering their time and talents, among them Mrs. Ralph Bressler and Mrs. Benjamin Prescott, who will show how to make cornhusk flowers, and Mrs. Russell King, who will fashion pendants from pill bottles.

Mrs. Leonard Slowin will demonstrate tatting. Turning coffee cans into lanterns is Mrs. Wayne Wiseman's specialty. Mrs. William Reid will share secrets of glass etching, Mrs. Edward Schuler will teach knitting on a knitting machine and Mrs. Harold Rau will be painting sweatsuits and T-shirts.

Mrs. George Polen will teach block printing. Mrs. Howard Price and Mrs. Joseph Dingman are in charge of Food Art (table decorations made from food). Mrs. Alan Wright will demonstrate the making of Armenian appetizers, while Mrs. Steven Christian teaches candy

Busy with plans for the Detroit Review Club's annual benefit luncheon, fashion show and bridge party, scheduled for noon Tuesday, Nov. 15, in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Crystal Ballroom, are DRC Past-President MRS. ROBERT KEFGEN (seated, left) and First Vice-President MRS. JUSTIN EMERY (standing), co-chairmen of the affair which also celebrates the DRC's 92nd birthday in November, and MRS. JAMES MULLANEY, DRC's immediate past-president, in whose dining room the trio is pictured. The yards of orange chiffon netting on the table will be used as covering for the champagne bottles that will be given away as table prizes. At the far left is one of the completed arrangements, ringed in fresh ivy and tied with a yellow ribbon, that will center luncheon tables covered with pale apple green cloths. Mrs. Mullaney and Mrs. Frederic Beddow are responsible for getting the champagne wrapped in the net, and are furnishing the ivy from their own gardens.

Mrs. Kefgen has been busy for weeks, collecting the lovely prizes for which the DRC is noted, with money donated by DRC members. Among them are the popular Money Trees designed and created by Mrs. Joseph Bonino.

Official hostess for the party is DRC President Mrs. Robert Gerisch, of Bloomfield Hills, who has been instrumental in bringing in many new members from the Birmingham-Bloomfield area. One of these new members, Jodi Modell, who joined DRC last year, has selected members and friends to model the fashions that will be presented by Miner's of Grosse Pointe and Bloomfield Hills.

Models from Grosse Pointe include Mrs. Ellwyn Gilbert (Johanna will also be the featured singer at DRC's December program at Lochmoor Club), Mrs. Grace Miles, Mrs. Roger Hermans, Mrs. Alfred Massnick and Mrs. Donald Petrusis. Models from Birmingham-Bloomfield will be Mrs. Paul Nine, Mrs. Robert Pastor, Mrs. Eric Wiltshire, Mrs. John Daniels, Jodi Modell — and possibly Betty Gerisch, if she is needed. Mrs. James Houlihan, of Warren, Carol Fellows, of Dearborn, and Mrs. Paul Howe, of Southfield, will also model.

The fashion show runway will be bordered with large pots of yellow mums, selected by Mrs. Francis Quigley. The mums are a tradition at DRC's fall benefit, introduced during Mrs. Kefgen's presidency.

Funds raised via the party will go to the club's many philanthropic projects. Guests of members are welcome. Reservations at $15 per person (checks should be made payable to the Detroit Review Club Benefit) are being taken by Mrs. A. Edmond Allan, 521-4137, and Mrs. William Howard, 372-3631, former Pointers who now reside in Harper Woods.

Short and to the Pointe

Participating in this summer's Albion College Summer Adventure program were RENE STOKA, daughter of MR. and MRS. MICHAEL STOKA, of Stephens Road; and HEIDI MARTIN, daughter of MR. and MRS. JAMES MARTIN, of Westchester Road.

THOMAS L. FOX, of Canterbury Road, is among spring graduates of John Carroll University, Cleveland, Ohio.

Among University of Denver spring degree candidates was EVAN R. COLLINS III, of Lakeland Avenue. Bachelor of Science in Accounting, Business Administration.

DINA P. DAJANI, of Kensington Road, was named to the Dean's List for the spring semester at the College of Wooster. Students so honored earned at least a 3.5 grade point average.

Among Madonna College students named to the Dean's List for the spring term were ELLEN M. BLOCK, of Bishop Road, a senior majoring in gerontology; and ELIZABETH F. ECKEL, of Audubon Road, a senior majoring in nursing.

Among Wittenberg University students who received degrees at June 11 commencement exercises are DEBORAH ANNE THOMAS, daughter of MR. and MRS. CARL THOMAS, of Balfour Road, Bachelor of Arts in Sociology, cum laude; and JANET SUE VALLEE, daughter of MR. and MRS. ROBERT VALLEE, of Fair Acres Drive, Bachelor of Arts in Elementary Education.

Airman DONALD E. LUDLOW Jr., son of DONALD E. and SARAH LUDLOW, of Nottingham Road, has graduated from the United States Air Force disbursement accounting course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas. The 1982 Grosse Pointe South High School graduate will now serve at Moody Air Force Base, Ga.

To honor Panhellenic president . . .

Detroit Alumnae Panhellenic Association will honor its president, MRS. J. ROBERT MACMILLAN (right), of The Farms, and vice-president, Mrs. Charles Andrews, of Bloomfield Hills, both members of Gamma Phi Beta sorority, at a luncheon next Tuesday, Nov. 8, in the Cadieux Road home of Mrs. Jan Nyboer. Sorority alumnae presidents, national officers and delegates from throughout the metropolitan

Theatre Arts curtain rises

Theatre Arts Club of Detroit opened its 73rd season Friday afternoon, Oct. 21, on a full house at The Players Playhouse on East Jefferson Avenue. The all-woman drama group's Choral Ensemble began the program by singing the club's traditional song, to piano accompaniment by Mrs. Joseph Jennings.

Mrs. Milton Volkens, president, welcomed the audience and introduced the club's scholarship recipient, Kyle Baker, who expressed her appreciation for Theatre Arts' Wayne State University tuition grant.

The play was "Farewell, Farewell Eugene," a three-act comedy by John Vari and Rodney Ackland, directed by Mrs. Paul Koch. Her nine-person cast included Mrs. Donald Keim, Mrs. James Conti, Mrs. Philip Dickinson, Mrs. Charles Turner, Mrs. Carl Quarnstrom, Mrs. William Hawkins, Mrs. Richard Blatchford, Mrs. Gerald Jordan and Mrs. Daniel Kearney in a first performance. Mrs. Edward Johnson held script.

Producer Mrs. Ben Stormes was assisted by Mrs. Blatchford. Mrs. Alexander Blain and Mrs. Robert Jay were in charge of set design. Mrs. Thomas Williams chaired properties. Costumes were provided by a committee headed by Mrs. Orville Kallin, lighting was handled by Mrs. Kenneth Locke, and Mrs. Thomas Rhoades "manned" the sound effects booth.

Make-up was applied by Mrs. Diamond Phillips' and Mrs. Douglas Phillips' committee.

The performance was followed immediately by tea, served by Mrs. George Grenzke and her committee, for the audience, cast and crew.

Auction today for Pettipointe

Mrs. Fred Rogers opens her Middlesex Boulevard home today, Thursday, Nov. 3, to fellow Pettipointe Questers who, after a brown bag luncheon, will bid on items in their "make it, bake it, sew it, grow it, bring it" auction. Proceeds will be used for historic preservation.

Executive board members representing their individual sororities, in addition to Mrs. MacMillan and Mrs. Andrews, are Mrs. Bruce Toch, secretary, Mrs. Michael T. Welsh, treasurer, and Mrs. Ronald E. Launs, cataloguer-historian.

Also attending will be Mrs. William Auch, Mrs. Herschel Bowyer, Mrs. J. Marshall Church, Mrs. J.C. Colling, Mrs. Charles Cusmano, Mrs. Bruce Feighner, Mrs. Anthony Gazdecki, Mrs. William Kamm, Mrs. R.L. Kelly, Mrs. Fred Lewis, Mrs. Joseph Mallek, Mrs. Carl R. Meier, Mrs. David Roman, Mrs. Edward Sarkisian, Mrs. Robert Schuch, Mrs. Nicholas Storm, Mrs. Michael Vierk, Mrs. William Wilson and Mrs. Joseph York, all 1983-84 Detroit Panhellenic delegates.

Panhellenic's activities include extending sorority education information to college women and the community, granting scholarships, promoting community philanthropic projects and acting as coordinator for 18 member sorority alumnae groups. Detroit Panhellenic is also represented on the United Foundation Planning Committee for the Heart of Gold Award Luncheon.

Smith College Club to meet

The annual fall luncheon meeting of the Smith College Club of Detroit will run from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. today, Thursday, Nov. 3, at the Country Club Lane home of Anna Platt. The new club membership directories will be distributed free to those who have paid this year's $5 dues.

Those who cannot attend the meeting may mail their dues to the club treasurer, Ann Williams, 306 Mount Vernon Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. 48236, with a request that the directory be mailed to them.

Today's agenda calls for a social hour with wine, followed by luncheon at 12:15 p.m., after which club business will be discussed.

NAPS schedules business meeting

The Greater Detroit Chapter of the National Association for Professional Saleswomen has scheduled its monthly business meeting for next Tuesday, Nov. 8, from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Michigan Inn, Southfield. Janet Eckoff will present a program on "The Professional Woman." Tickets, at $10 for NAPS members, $12 for non-members, must be purchased in advance by calling 261-0410.

Slate Genealogical Workshop Nov. 12

The Detroit Society for Genealogical Research will hold its annual workshop Saturday, Nov. 12, in the Friend's Auditorium of the Detroit Public Library, located on Woodward Avenue opposite the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Registration begins at 9:30 a.m. The program is open to the public, with genealogical aids and publications available for purchase.

Two groups will meet during the morning, starting at 10 a.m. Genealogy for Beginners, conducted by James N. Jackson, will cover the fundamentals: note keeping, correspondence, organization of materials and basic record sources. Advanced Genealogy, led by Carol Ring, will focus on how to climb the "stone walls" of genealogical research and how to organize a genealogical collection.

The afternoon will feature small group Ethnic Heritage sessions, starting at 2 p.m. Research problems of the various nations and ethnic heritage groups of Detroit and Michigan will be discussed.

Pick favorite holiday draft

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial, with nine holiday craft workshops scheduled in November, has placed a display case containing samples of completed projects in the front hall of Alger House, to aid people in deciding which workshop would best suit their needs and interests.

An afternoon program on how to make Oriental Gift Wrap will be presented next Tuesday, Nov. 8. Five sheets of Japanese thread paper and other painting materials will be furnished by instructor Mary Bowman. Fee for the program, to be repeated Tuesday, Dec. 6, is $36.

Holiday Table Setting, taught by William Herman next Thursday, Nov. 10, includes a talk on how to set holiday tables and a demonstration of formal and informal settings, utilizing materials students may already have around their homes. There will be at least six examples of different place settings.

Christmas Angels for mantels and tabletops will be fashioned at workshops Thursday, Nov. 10, from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and Thursday, Nov. 17, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. The 14-inch angels are decked with lots of lace and trimmings. Workshop fee is $14. Participants are welcome to bring their own antique lace, if they desire.

Eighteenth Century Wreaths will be made Monday, Nov. 14, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Instructor Pat Bentley promises colored slides for inspiration as participants assemble decorative Williamsburg wreaths out of permanent and dried greens and fruit. Fee is $10, plus materials.

Marvin and Helen Marshall will conduct a Miniature Christmas Tree workshop from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 15. Basic materials will be provided. Additional items (lights, handmade toys and unique ornaments) will be available for purchase. Fee is $55.

Basket Weaving workshop participants will fashion an oval basket with round weave in a 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. workshop taught by Mary Herbert. Her program, too, is scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 15.

Decorative weaves and basic rims will be taught. Fee is $25.

A Williamsburg Fruit Tree is the focus of Nancy Passfield's 1 to 3:30 p.m. workshop Wednesday, Nov. 16. Mrs. Passfield will also show how wooden cones can be used year-round as decoration. Class fee, including supplies, is $28.

An adult session for the construction of Gingerbread Houses is scheduled for Friday, Nov. 18, a young adult (ages 10 and up) session for the preceding Saturday, Nov. 12. The techniques of house building will be demonstrated. A kit, including blueprints and a large assortment of trimmings, will be provided for each student. Fee, covering supplies, is $20.50.

Two separate sessions of a Children's Tree Ornament workshop are scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 19. In the morning, children ages 8 to 12 will make a miniature lace angel. Afternoon session participants will make Rudolph the Red-Nose Reindeer.

Further information on any of these workshops may be obtained by calling 881-7511.

Give History of Furniture

A four-week, illustrated lecture series, "The History of Furniture & The Decorative Arts-Part III," presented by Barbara Seichter, begins next Wednesday, Nov. 9, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. The programs run from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

The first lecture will show how the excavations at Pompeii and Herculaneum influenced the furniture of Marie Antoinette and Louis XVI. The Directoire and Empire Periods under Napoleon, and the popular Beidermeier style will be discussed.

The second lecture the following Wednesday, Nov. 16, will cover the classical English decorative arts as interpreted by Adams, Hepplewhite and Sheraton, as well as American Federal and Empire furniture.

The lectures resume after Thanksgiving week on Wednesday, Nov. 30, when the focus will be on what is usually referred to as Victorian furniture. This includes the revivals of Jacobean, Gothic, Rococo and Renaissance designs.

The final lecture, Wednesday, Dec. 7, will cover the Arts and Crafts Movement, Art Nouveau, Art Deco and the influence of the Bauhaus design philosophy upon interior decoration today.

Mrs. Seichter holds a degree in Fine Arts and has taken advanced studies in Decorative Arts at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. She is an interior designer. Fee for her series of four lectures is $20. Single tickets are available for $8. Registration information may be obtained by calling 881-7511.

Pre-holiday craft sale at Dominican

The pre-holiday craft sale at Dominican High School, located on McKinney at Whittier, near Harper, in Detroit, that began yesterday concludes this evening, Thursday, Nov. 3, from 5 to 9 p.m. More information may be obtained by calling 882-8503.

Preview DSO in The Pointe

The second season of a Symphony Preview Series at Village Records & Tapes, Kercheval Avenue in the Village, sponsored by the Detroit Symphony League and WQRS-FM, will be hosted by such musical notables as Antal Dorati, Nancy Mallitz and John Guinn. The programs are free and open to the public.

The series begins next Wednesday, Nov. 9, at 7:30 p.m. when the DSO's Conductor Laureate, Antal Dorati, offers insights into the program he will conduct the following evenings. Included on that program is a suite from Bartok's "Miraculous Mandarin" — of particular interest, because Dorati was a pupil of Bartok's.

Also to be discussed are three pieces by Richard Strauss, including a suite from "Der Rosenkavalier" arranged by the conductor. Nancy Mallitz, music critic for the Detroit News, will report on works by Ruggles, Glazunov, Riegger and Rachmaninoff on Nov. 30. Alban Berg and Gustav Mahler will be the featured composers in the Jan. 11 preview, hosted by Free Press critic John Guinn.

Musicologist and writer Jim Keeler brings his years of experience to an all-Brahms program March 14, and the final presentation will feature Grosse Pointe's own Ruth Kaiser-Scherer, discussing Giuseppe Verdi's "Requiem" May 2.

Seating and refreshments will be provided. There is ample, lighted parking behind the shop. Further information may be obtained by contacting Village Records & Tapes, 886-8038.

Health Education Council to meet

Educating the asthmatic child in the public schools will be the theme of Rachelle A. McFarland's talk at a general meeting of the Health Education Council of Grosse Pointe next Monday, Nov. 7, at 1 p.m. in the Grosse Pointe Central Library, Kercheval Avenue at Fisher Road.

Ms. McFarland, a supervisor of adult and child lung health for the American Lung Association, will discuss the problems of the asthmatic child and how the schools can respond. The program is free and open to the public.

Drop off the kids and shop in peace

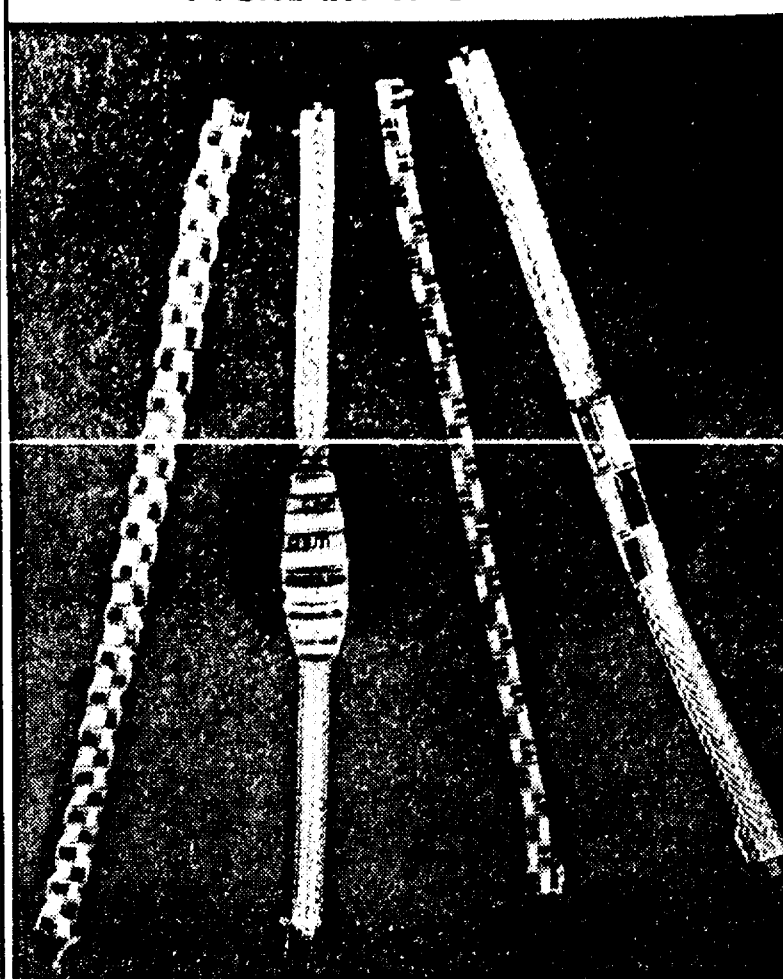

Beginning Nov. 7, the Macomb YWCA will provide babysitting on Monday and Thursday afternoons for parents who need some precious holiday season shopping hours. The service, which features a playroom and complete supervision, will continue until Dec. 22. Cost is 75 cents an hour, or $1 for two children, but parents must make reservations in advance by calling 772-4435.

JENNIFER A. GROEHN, daughter of GILBERT and NANCY GROEHN, of The Farms, has earned a Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree from the Michigan State University College of Veterinary Medicine.

making and Mrs. John Horn creates an array of beautiful petit fours.

Luncheon will be available, as well as babysitting service. Mrs. Richard Allor and Mrs. Frank Turpin head a kitchen committee including Mrs. Herbert Kohls, Mrs. Carl Georgi and Mrs. Edgar Gore. Mrs. Walter Kurtz is in charge of the nursery. Mrs. Thomas Rockwell, Mrs. Alex McNeill and Mrs. Donald Cook will preside at a Craft Sale of items made by the church women.

Harvest Fair at Woods Presbyterian

The Women's Association of the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, located on Mack Avenue, presents its Harvest Fair a week from tomorrow, Friday, Nov. 11. Hours are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Christmas ornaments, straw and herb wreaths, candy, candles, knitwear, shell-circled mirrors and baskets are among the Fair's numerous hand-crafted wares.

In addition, there's Granny's Attic (filled with good white elephants), a greenhouse, bakery, Country Pantry and Apron Patch. Hot dogs, sloppy joes and chili will be on sale at the luncheon counter from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Arts and Crafts at Lutheran East

The Eighth Annual Lutheran High School East Ladies Guild Holiday Arts and Crafts Fair will feature over 70 dealers displaying a wide variety of items at the school on Kelly Road between 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. this Saturday, Nov. 5. Demonstrations will include oil painting, dried flower arranging, woodworking, ceramics and macrame.

There'll be plenty of food, of course, ranging from freshly made doughnuts to a complete, family style turkey dinner.

A World of Wonders Close at Hand

If you like to "shop the world" for your holiday gifts, you might check out the Swedish imports section at the Women's Guild of Immanuel Lutheran Church's Holiday Mart. It runs from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. tomorrow, Friday, Nov. 4, at the church, Chandler Park Drive at Dickerson in Detroit.

You might drop in at the Italian Cultural and Community Center, corner of Winton and Frazho Roads in St. Clair Shores, this Saturday, Nov. 5, when a Christmas Bazaar will run from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m.

You might browse through the large selection of German and Austrian imports featured at the Ladies Auxiliary to the German-American Cultural Center's Christmas Bazaar next Tuesday, Nov. 8. It runs from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. at the Center's clubhouse on East Outer Drive in Detroit.

Or, for a more exotic experience, you might head for Saint George Orthodox Church, East Grand Boulevard at the Chrysler Service Drive (next to the Michigan Humane Society) on Friday or Saturday, Nov. 11 and 12, between 10 a.m. and 7 p.m., when "A Bazaar for All Seasons" will fill the new Church Hall.

Booths will be stocked with unique and unusual items. There'll be a Middle Eastern Pastry Shop; tarot card readings and a tea room. An Arabic luncheon will be available from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. each day. Among the many Grosse Pointe parishioners working on the bazaar are the Mesdames Rose Kardos, Elmas Metry, Claudia Thomas, Wadia Harants and Pauline Swor.

You might also consider a trip out to Southfield this Saturday or Sunday, Nov. 5 and 6, to Saint George Romanian Orthodox Cathedral on West Nine Mile Road. Saint George Romanian's annual Bazaar, Food Fair and Festival runs from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday, from noon to 6 p.m. Sunday, and offers everything from continuous ethnic entertainment to traditional Romanian food to interesting arts and crafts on display and for sale.

And in Conclusion . . .

Saint Matthew Church, Whittier at Harper in Detroit, will hold its Old Fashioned Christmas Boutique Friday, Nov. 4, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 5, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday, Nov. 6, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Among the new-this-year booths and departments is one dedicated to miniatures.

MOT's 'Faust' to open Nov. 4

Michigan Opera Theatre continues its 1983-84 Season of Excellence with a new production of Charles Gounod's "Faust" opening at the Music Hall Center tomorrow, Friday, Nov. 4, and running through Nov. 12 with a dual language cast presenting three performances in French and three in English.

Featured in the French language performances Nov. 4, 6 and 12 will be "Diva" film star and Paris Opera singer Wilhelmina Fernandez as Marguerite, New York City Opera tenor Vinson Cole in the title role and Metropolitan Opera bass-baritone John Cheek as Mephistopheles.

Headlining the English language performances of the Ruth and Thomas Martin Translation Nov. 5, 9 and 11 are New York City Opera tenor Gerald Grahame in the title role, the San Francisco Opera's Ellen Kerrigan as Marguerite and Philadelphia-born James Butler as Mephistopheles.

Single tickets for all performances are available at the Music Hall box office, all CTC outlets and, for charge card customers, by calling 963-7680. Students with valid ID and senior citizens may purchase tickets at half-price on the day of performance at the Music Hall box office. Group sales and available discount information may be obtained by contacting Peg Sullivan at 963-7622.

MOT's Season of Excellence will continue with Cleo Laine starring in a limited engagement of 15 performances of Stephen Sondheim's "A Little Night Music," opening Friday, Nov. 18, at the Music Hall, and will conclude with a June grand opera production of Donizetti's "Anna Bolena," starring Dame Joan Sutherland, at Masonic Temple.

'Wiggle Club' at Youtheatre

Detroit Youtheatre's new "Wiggle Club" season opens this Saturday, Nov. 5, when New York's Storytellers offer a combination of puppetry, dance, mime, music and poems in an hour-long, fast-paced presentation especially designed for families with young people ages 3 to 8.

Performances are scheduled for 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium. Infants younger than 3 will not be admitted to the theater.

Wiggle Club, created as an introduction to theater-going for first-time guests and their families, presents five shows especially selected for pre-schoolers during Youtheatre's October through May "Something Every Saturday" season. Performances are divided into two or three segments, to hold the attention of the younger child. The theater is never fully darkened.

Wiggle Clubbers receive a membership pass card, an official club button, printed programs and, at the close of the season, at the discretion of the attending adult, a complimentary ticket to next season's "big kid" Youtheatre shows, along with a graduation certificate.

Memberships, at $12.50 for young people and accompanying adults, may be purchased in advance through the museum's ticket office, 832-2730, and at the door.

Woman's Club to raise Dollars for Scholars via fashion lunch

Another year... another "Dollars for Scholars" fund raising luncheon and fashion show for the Grosse Pointe Woman's Club. Wednesday, Nov. 16, is the date when members and guests will gather in the Crystal Ballroom of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, early-comers enjoying a social hour around the punch bowl beginning at 11:30 a.m.

This benefit party has been an annual event since 1954. In early years, club members opened their homes for a sandwich and dessert luncheon and an afternoon of card playing. Party proceeds provided then, as they do now, funds for awards to local high school graduates.

These Achievement Awards, based on high academic rating, character, citizenship, leadership and, in latter years, need for financial assistance in order to attend college, are presented each year to a member of the graduating classes of Grosse Pointe North and South High Schools.

This year's "Dollars for Scholars" party will feature a showing of fashions from Grosse Pointe's Maria Dinon, with commentary by Mrs. Dinon. Woman's Club member Mrs. Lampton J. Cardwell, in charge of arrangements for the show, has asked fellow members Mrs. Milan J. Alexander (she's the club's current president), Mrs. Chester S. Bogan, Mrs. Martin Daher, Mrs. Horst K. Jensen, Mrs. Alexander J. King, Mrs. Walter Lesinski, Mrs. Robert E. Trinklein and Mrs. Michel A. Skaff, the party's general chairman, to model. Musical accompaniment will be by Robert M. Brent Jr.

Assisting Mrs. Skaff with overall arrangements for the day is Mrs. Ralph F. Urso. Ticket and reservations chairman is Mrs. John J. Kelly. Mrs. Jon S. Cook is responsible for the printing of the tickets. Mrs. Harold Bates, Mrs. Charles R. Williams Jr. and Mrs.

Mrs. Harold B. Lee will welcome members and guests as they gather round the punch bowl. Mrs. Raymond J. Duffy, hostess chairman, has asked the Mesdames Lloyd A. Beemer, Michael J. LaRocca, Harold C. Nobel, Dallas E. Newkirk and Philip J. Skillman to serve with her.

Mrs. Stuart Micklethwaite has planned the decorations, and Mrs. William W. Hayduk is in charge of the post-show bridge arrangements. Benefit tickets and table reservations are available from Mrs. Kelly, 881-7683.

Workshops slated by Macomb YWCA

The Macomb YWCA will be offering Christmas workshops at St. Gabriel's Church in East Detroit in November. A four-week series on Holiday Candies begins Monday, Nov. 7. Classes run from 1 to 2:30 p.m. Techniques of molding and painting chocolates will be covered, as well as how to make hard candy.

Creative Expressions will conduct a Christmas Ornaments class Wednesday, Nov. 9, from 7 to 9 p.m. Silk flower pieces, stems and holiday decor will be arranged in a wicker basket and taken home by participants in the Holiday Centerpiece class scheduled for Monday, Nov. 21, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Pre-registration is required for all classes. Further information may be obtained by calling 772-4435.

Progressive Artists present exhibition

The yearly juried exhibition of the Progressive Artists Club will run from Tuesday, Nov. 8, through Thursday, Nov. 17, at the Rainy Day Company Gallery on Mack Avenue in The Woods.

On to the good life...

When she first became a full time employee of Grace Hospital, Grace had its own bake shop and butcher right on the premises. The year was 1947, and PAT NAVINS, a Cass Tech graduate who had earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Foods and Nutrition from Michigan State University the year before, completed a dietetic internship at Shadyside Hospital in Pittsburgh, Pa., that September. Two weeks later, she began work as a "corridor dietitian" at Grace. The hospital was surrounded by wide open spaces. Tall grasses blew in the wind. Grace had about 200 beds, not many employees, and dietary aides made $82.50 — a month! It took Pat two years to become the hospital's chief dietitian. She held the top position in dietary for the next 30. She retired this September as director of nutritional services, after 36 years at Grace. Along the way, Pat earned a Masters degree in Foods and Nutrition from Wayne State University and served as president of both the Detroit and Michigan Dietetic Associations. At her retirement tea, she received a lovely gift, the Waterford crystal lamp she's pictured unwrapping above (the shade is in the box). The dietary department provided a huge centerpiece of flowers and a big "36" carved out of ice. The flowers have wilted now, the ice melted, but the lamp is at home on Cadieux Road with Ms. Navins, whose good life includes more time for swimming, tennis, painting and "attempting to cross-country ski."

Woods Garden Shores Garden Club convenes Club to meet

Co-hostess Mrs. Cecil Hastings assisted Mrs. Donald Marchal when she opened her Roslyn Road home Tuesday, Nov. 1, to members of the Grosse Pointe Woods Garden Club. After a noon sandwich luncheon and a business meeting, Mrs. Clara Finnerty presented a demonstration on matting and framing dried flowers. Each participant was asked to bring a small, suitable frame and matting tweezer.

The Grosse Pointe Shores Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will hold its regular meeting tomorrow, Friday, Nov. 4. The ladies will be guests of Mrs. Windsor S. Davies in her home on Lakeshore Road. Co-hostesses are Mrs. Richard Huegli and Mrs. Jack Rowe. Luncheon, served at noon, will be followed by Jane Kohring's slide program on "The Beauties of Michigan."

Plan Parliamentary Procedure seminar

The Detroit Unit, National Association of Parliamentarians, is sponsoring a workshop, "Know Your Parliamentary Procedure," running from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. this Saturday, Nov. 5, at the Federation of Women's Clubs on Fenkell Avenue in Detroit. Registration deadline is today, Thursday, Nov. 3. Fee is $7.50, including lunch. Further information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. William Hermann, registration chairman, 937-8298, or Mrs. Nathaniel Banks, president, 332-7345.

Lynn Prisk

November rites for Lynn Prisk

Lynn Dianne Prisk and Phillip Sa, whose engagement was announced earlier in the year by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Prisk, of South Rosedale Court, are making plans for a late November wedding.

Miss Prisk is a Grosse Pointe North High School graduate who received her Bachelor of Science degree in Electrical Engineering from Michigan Technological University. She is affiliated with Eta Kappa Nu electrical honorary society, Alpha Phi Omega national scouting fraternity and the National Honor Society, and is employed by IBM in Owego, N.Y.

Mr. Sa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Sa, of Danbury, Conn., is employed by IBM in Burlington, Vt. He is a graduate of Danbury High School, holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Chemical Engineering from the University of Connecticut and is affiliated with Tau Beta Pi national honorary engineering society and the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Star of the Sea is benefit site

Tickets are available at the door for the Detroit-Grosse Pointe Area Council of Catholic Women's annual benefit card party this evening, Thursday, Nov. 3, at 7:30 p.m. at Our Lady Star of the Sea Church. A fashion show sponsored by the League of Catholic Women Boutique, prizes and dessert will be featured.

Thanksgiving food drive is underway

Barat Human Services began its annual Thanksgiving Food Drive to collect canned or bottled goods for families who otherwise might not have a holiday dinner last Tuesday, Nov. 1. Canned fruits, vegetables and juices are being collected at Barat House on John R, behind the Detroit Institute of Arts, through Tuesday, Nov. 22. Further information may be obtained by calling 833-1525.

To offer pubs, clubs, private dining series

The first in a series of "Pubs, Clubs and Private Dining" adventures at historic landmarks in the Detroit/Windsor metropolitan area will take place Friday, Nov. 11, when the Detroit Historical Society hosts a dinner at Willistead Manor in Old Walkerville, Ont.

The evening begins with cash bar cocktails at 6:30 p.m. and concludes with a talk by R. Alan Douglas, curator of the Hiram Walker Museum, and a tour of the Tudor style mansion designed by Albert Kahn and built by Edward Chandler Walker, son of Hiram Walker, founder of the distillery which bears his name.

Construction began in 1904. The manor was ready for occupancy by the Walkers in 1906, and remained in the family until 1921 when the house and surrounding 15 acres were deeded to the Town of Walkerville. It has since been used as civic offices, a library and Windsor's original art gallery. Now, after extensive renovation, it is an historic house museum.

Advance reservations for the Willistead Manor dinner are required, and may be made by sending a check for $35 per dinner ($30 for Historical Society members) to the Detroit Historical Society, 5401 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich. 48202.

Series chairman John L. Booth II, vice-president of the Historical Society, has arranged to hold the second dinner at Greenfield Village's Eagle Tavern. The pre-holiday evening will feature a sleigh ride and an 1850 style menu.

The series continues with a dinner tour of Pewabic Pottery Jan. 20 and an evening at the David Whitney Mansion Feb. 16. All programs, designed to acquaint Historical Society members and friends of history with the area's historic landmarks, their development and the service they continue to provide the community, are open to the public.

Further information on "Pubs, Clubs and Private Dining" and the Detroit Historical Society may be obtained by calling 833-7934.

Preview night honor is paid to Understudies

The Wayne State University President's Preview in mid-October at the Hilberry Theatre honored the 187 past and present members of The Understudies, the association of metropolitan area women who have helped to support the Hilberry Repertory Company for the past 20 years.

Four charter members who are still active, among them Grosse Pointe's Mrs. Emmet E. Tracy, Mrs. James Merriam Barnes, of Detroit, Mrs. Leslie R. Schmier, of Birmingham, and Mrs. Isadore Winkelman, of West Bloomfield, received certificates of appreciation from Leonard Leone, director of the University Theatres. All except Fran Tracy were present to accept the awards in person.

Gregor Memorial Conference Center chaired by Mrs. Mack and Mrs. Paul W. Czamanske Jr., vice-presidents of The Understudies, and followed by a reception with the cast in the theatre foyer. The Understudies have once again broken all past records by raising $77,550 for the Hilberry company this year. The funds came from some 150 Golden Chair holders and over 350 Sponsors, 82 of them new.

It is funds raised by The Understudies, along with box office receipts, that have supported the Hilberry Repertory Company for the past 20 years. During this period, The Understudies have raised approximately $1 million for this purpose.

Among Understudies and their husbands in attendance were Grosse Pointers Mr. and Mrs. Bogdan Baynert, Mr. and Mrs. Wilber M. Brucker Jr., Dr. and Mrs. C. Jackson France, Dr. and Mrs. Carl W. Lohmann, Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Hadley Mack, Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Tutag, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Vinci and Justice and Mrs. G. Mennen Williams.

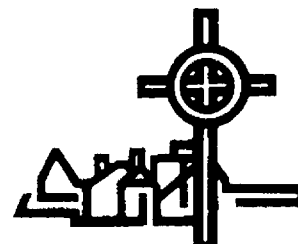

The preview performance, "A Voyage Round My Father" by John Mortimer, one of seven productions to be presented in repertory by Hilberry's graduate company during the 1983-84 season, was preceded by a dinner at Mc-

Lunch & cards at Bon Secours

The Bon Secours Hospital Guild presents its fall luncheon and card party next Wednesday, Nov. 9, at noon in the hospital's Science Hall. Prizes, including a money tree, will be featured. Beef & Bingo smiles . . .

Smiling in anticipation of St. Paul on the Lake's 11th Annual Beef & Bingo Party, which begins at 7 p.m. Friday, Nov. 11, are TOM and LINDA SULLIVAN (left), publicity chairmen, and JIM and SHIRLEY CALLAHAN, general chairmen. This year's Beef & Bingo will feature three complimentary drinks for each guest, a dinner built around roast beef carved to order from large rounds by Chef Extraordinaire John Cortez, a fresh salad bar with a wide variety of condiments and garnishes, bingo with steaks, roasts, hams, turkeys and cash as prizes, "bottles of cheer" door prizes and dancing to the music of the Changing Times Band. Tickets, at $18 per person, must be purchased by next Wednesday, Nov. 9, from ticket chairmen Mike and Berdean Smith, 885-4806. Special reservations may be made for groups of four or more. Committee chairmen in addition to the Callahans, Sullivans and Smiths are Tom and Mary Ellen Bayko, Jim and Patti Bologna, Jim and Marcia Bonahoom, Ray and Peg Colby, Tony and Mary Fisher, John and Dona Imesch, Jay and Chris Kaiser, Dan and Ellen Krease, Paul and Kit Louisell, Joe and Mary Russo, Jack and Elaine Ryan and Jim and Sharon Tucker.

Center to offer two day trips

Two day-long excursions, a Holiday Treasure Trip and a Meadowbrook Christmas Walk, are on the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's upcoming agenda. The Treasure Trip, on Tuesday, Nov. 8, will take participants to Materials Unlimited in Ypsilanti, which houses the largest collection of antique building parts in the Midwest. Browsers and buyers alike will be fascinated by carved mantel pieces, beveled glass doors, stained glass windows and hundreds of salvaged antique materials from all over the world. The treasure seekers will lunch at the Gandy Dancer, then continue their hunt at Schmidt's, an exclusive shop stocking collectible oriental rugs, Limoges china, 18th and 19th century household furnishings and other antiques. Cost, including lunch and transportation, is $30. The walking tour of Meadowbrook Hall is scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 6. This year's Christmas theme at Meadowbrook is "Memories of Matilda," a celebration of the 100th anniversary of Matilda Dodge Wilson's birthday. Florists will commemorate her in flowers and holiday decorations throughout the 100-room Tudor style mansion. Meadowbrook Christmas Walk participants will be able to visit with Santa at Knole Cottage, the quaint children's playhouse on the grounds of the estate. Lunch at Oakland Center is included in the $20 excursion cost. Both day trips leave the War Memorial promptly at 9 a.m. Further information may be obtained by calling 881-7511.

Phase I focus on single man

Terry Adams, free lance writer and lecturer, will speak on "Sex in the Single Man" at a meeting of Phase I, the organization of single, young adults, ages 20 through 39, who gather regularly for Sunday evening program meetings at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, this Sunday, Nov. 6, at 7:45 p.m. A question and answer period follows his talk.

"If it weren't for Linda, I couldn't live at home."

Home health care workers like Linda help thousands of people who prefer to be cared for at home, rather than in an institution. Sometimes home health care may help you or someone you love.

We're the local office of Upjohn Health Care Services, the nation's leading private provider of home health care. We provide nurses, nurse assistants, home health aides, homemakers and companions. Our services help elderly people who want to stay at home to maintain their independence. We also help people who have long-term illnesses, those recovering from surgery, and many others.

Offer Dance Slimnastics class series

Dance Slimnastics Ltd. will offer residents a new series of aerobic dance classes scheduled to begin the week of Nov. 7 in Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods. Classes will meet at Christ the King Lutheran Church on Mack Avenue in The Woods Mondays and Wednesdays at 9:30 a.m., with baby sitting service available, and Tuesdays and Thursdays at 6:45 p.m.

Classes also will meet at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church on Mack Avenue Mondays and Wednesdays at 6:45 p.m. and at Saint Michael's Episcopal Church on Sunningdale Park Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4:45 p.m.

EasyFit, a basic program, will be offered at the JFK Library on Harper Avenue in Harper Woods Mondays and Wednesdays at 7 p.m. Information on any of these classes may be obtained by calling 886-7534 or 885-4706.

The new session, "Swingin'," will give fitness minded individuals the chance to work out aerobically as many times per week as desired, for under the club's unique Open Class Policy extra workouts are available at no extra cost. A fee of $32 covers the cost of two one-hour sessions per week, plus as many additional sessions as desired.

Dance Slimnastics is a safe and effective program utilizing scientifically designed choreography and instructors who are trained in aerobic principles. Proper format is followed, with warmup, workout and cooldown phases. Students are monitored closely. Choreography is designed to avoid ballistic or jerky movements, to protect participants from injury. All muscle groups are worked in the proper sequence.

DSO features Dorati, Mintz

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Conductor Laureate Antal Dorati, presents concerts tonight at 8 p.m. and Saturday night, Nov. 5, at 8:30 p.m. at Ford Auditorium, plus a concert tomorrow, Friday, Nov. 4, at 8 p.m. at Orchestra Hall. Guest soloist Shlomo Mintz will perform Mozart's Violin Concerto No. 3 in G major, K. 216. The program also includes Mahler's Symphony No. 9 in D major.

Tickets, ranging in price from $9 to $18 for the Ford Auditorium concerts, $9 to $20 for the Orchestra Hall concert, are on sale at the Ford Auditorium box office and all CTC outlets, including Hudson's. Tickets for the Orchestra Hall concert may also be purchased at the Orchestra Hall box office. Master Card and VISA charge card customers may order by phone (567-1400).

MRS. FREDERICK G. RUFFNER (left), OF LEWISTON ROAD, AND MRS. SHELDON L. DRENNAN, OF LAKECREST LANE, EAST SIDE CHAIRMAN AND ASSISTANT CHAIRMAN OF THE PANTRY SHELF AT THE 36TH ANNUAL ANTIQUES SHOW AND SALE SPONSORED BY THE JUNIOR GROUP OF THE LEAGUE FOR THE HANDICAPPED-GOODWILL INDUSTRIES.

Pointer of Interest

by Janet Mueller

When they first joined the Junior Group of League for the Handicapped-Goodwill Industries, they worked in the kitchen, canning and preserving the home-made Pantry Shelf delicacies for which the Juniors' Annual Antiques Show and Sale is famous. Chili sauces, pickles, jams, jellies, pepper and corn relishes. Apple butter and dilly beans. It's a tradition: the first year you work on the Antiques Show and Sale, you work in the kitchen.

Well . . . this year, here they are, back in the kitchen again — but this time in a management capacity, as East Side chairman (Mary Ruffner) and assistant chairman (Ruth Drennan) of the 36th Annual Antiques Show and Sale pantry items.

There are hundreds of those items, but if you want to make sure of getting what you want, be advised it's wise to visit the Country Store as soon as you can. The Antiques Show and Sale is a three-day affair, open to the public ($3.50 per person admission donation) tomorrow and Saturday, Nov. 4 and 5, from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Sunday, Nov. 6, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Over 56 of the most prestigious dealers in the country will be exhibiting a huge variety of articles, from toys to Tiffany desk sets, American, French, English and Oriental furniture to Rose Medallion porcelain, at Dearborn's Fairlane Manor.

In addition to this, there's Goodwill's own booth offering, among other "items of quality donated to Goodwill during the year," two pianos: a Rosewood and a Baby Grand. And there are American Country Craft demonstrations, Friday afternoon (1 to 3 p.m.) antique appraisals by David Stalker of Stalker and Boos. Candy Cane Cafe refreshments (light lunches, dinners and snacks, all prepared by Junior Group members) available throughout show hours.

THERE'S A BOUTIQUE, stocked with unique holiday decorations and gifts. There are homemade baked goods and candies. And there's the Country Store, its pantry shelves bursting with jars similar to the ones Mary and Ruth are labeling in the picture above. At least: those shelves will be bursting at 11 a.m. tomorrow morning.

But unless you've shopped the Country Store at a League-Goodwill Juniors' Antiques Show and Sale before, you have no idea how soon that pantry will be bare!

This is the first year in a good many that Ruth Drennan has not been on the League-Goodwill Juniors' board. She joined the Junior Group back in 1961, thanks to a fellow Detroit Book Club member who thought the Juniors were the sort of group that would appeal to Ruth. Right on . . . and right on through the family, for Ruth's late husband also became interested in helping the handicapped help themselves, and eventually went on the "big" League-Goodwill board.

"It's a happy Group, and a WORKING Group," Ruth emphasizes. She's a case in point, a typical League-Goodwill Junior who's held job after job. Her Antiques Show and Sale assignments have ranged from "babysitting" booths (so that dealers can take a break) to co-chairing Patrons last year with Mary Ruffner.

Ruth has been involved in the Juniors' volunteer as well as fund raising aspects, helping out at the St. Ambrose resident facility and with the Jolly Cheers, a social program for League-Goodwill clients.

She has one daughter, Nancy, credit manager at Jacobson's in Rochester, married to Nick Cameron, who owns his own manufacturing company. They have two children: Bonnie, 13, and Andy, 10.

RUTH DRENNAN HAS been active in the American Association of University Women for years. The Pointe Branch AAUW Annual Used Book Sale remains one of her pet projects; when you're in at the beginning of something, you never lose a mother's fondness for it. Over the years, she's worked for her church, Grosse Pointe Memorial, and her sorority, P.E.O., and the Girl Scouts. She's a member of the Grand Marais Garden Club.

Last winter, in Florida, she collected over 100 pounds of seashells. "I'm making plaques now," she says (for a while, it was candlesticks). "When I'm bored, I go down in the basement and do some." She's also managed to make two dozen suncatchers for the Antiques Show Boutique.

Mary Ruffner has done some needlepoint for the Boutique this year. Sewing and needlepoint are among her favorite free-time activities, and she enjoys decorating.

Mary joined the League-Goodwill Juniors in 1980, in much the same way Ruth did, through a friend, and was, like Ruth, immediately put to work. She's a member of the Juniors' current board. Her past assignments have included a year's House and Hospitality chairmanship. Her future is open, for the Juniors try to assign members to a different job every year. It keeps the Group fluid, and provides back-up in emergencies.

The Ruffners have two sons. Rick, 26, has his own business, publishing notecards and postcards under the Avanti name. Peter, 23, is working out of the New York office of his father's reference book publishing company, Gale Research, and planning to go to graduate school.

The League-Goodwill Juniors' are Mary's major community service commitment. "I have done things for my church, United Methodist (Warren and Haverhill), and I've helped at the Detroit Public Libraries. Fred is on the board of the Boy Scouts; occasionally, if the Scouts need help, I've volunteered."

BUT LEAGUE-GOODWILL gets most of Mary's volunteer time, "because," she says, "of what they are doing for handicapped people." League-Goodwill's sheltered workshops have to be competitive with the business world, and that takes some subsidizing. "Our little bit," says Mary, referring to the funds raised by the Juniors each year, "helps a lot."

Actually, it's not such a little bit. In the past 50 years (the Group, founded in 1933 by Grosse Pointe's Jean Taylor Bodkin, is celebrating its Golden Anniversary), the Juniors, with the fine support of the community, have raised and contributed almost $2 million to Goodwill Industries and its successor, League-Goodwill.

For the past 35 years, the Group's major fund raising project has been the Antiques Show and Sale. Its proceeds are directly used to meet the vocational and rehabilitation needs of disabled individuals who are seeking to become self-supporting, contributing members of society. Antiques Show monies also purchase equipment for sheltered workshops and fund capital improvements to League-Goodwill building facilities.

This year, League-Goodwill has had a $650,000 cut in funding, so this year, a successful Antiques Show and Sale is more important than ever. This year, the League-Goodwill Juniors are going all out.

They always do, of course, and their Annual Antiques Show and Sale is always one of the metropolitan area's best-run, most enjoyable events. But be warned: though the Juniors' canners and preservers have exceeded themselves in 1983 and the Country Store's pantry shelves are filled to bursting, it's wise to get to that pantry as soon as possible.

No matter how much the Juniors put up, their Antiques Show pantry would be a sell-out with twice the stock.

Supper and bazaar at Charity Lutheran

The Ladies Society of Charity Lutheran Church, located on Kelly Road in Detroit, will hold its annual bazaar, opening at 1 p.m., and harvest supper next Wednesday, Nov. 9, at the church. Reservations are required, at $4.50 for adults, $2 for children ages 5 to 12 (children under 5 are free), for the supper, to be served from 5 to 7 p.m. They may be made by calling 527-4337 or 527-0484.

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, BRIGHT IDEAS for POTATOES.

The potato, a member of the Nightshade Family, originated in South America. It was taken from Peru and introduced to Europe in the 16th century by the Spaniards. It was the middle of the 18th century before it became the main crop of Ireland.

The nutritive value of the potato lies just under the skin, consequently the potato should be cooked with the skin on as often as possible. The calorie content is less than is popularly believed, and the potato is lower in nutrients than popularly believed.

Calories: One medium, boiled, with skin — 76. One large, baked, with skin — 145. Dehydrated flakes, cooked, one cup — 195. French fries — 10-50 per fry.

BLEU CHEESE STUFFED POTATOES

This gourmet version of the ever-favorite baked potato may be prepared ahead of time and refrigerated until ready to bake.

4 large baking potatoes (about 4 inches long)
Margarine (optional)
1 cup plain low-fat yogurt
¼ cup skim milk
¼ cup green onions, chopped
2 Tbsp. bleu cheese, crumbled
1 tsp. Dijon mustard
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. white pepper
4 strips cholesterol-free bacon strips, sauteed, blotted with paper towel to remove grease, and crumbled

Wash potatoes and pat dry. Rub skins with oil and prick with fork. Bake in preheated 400° oven about 1 hour, or until done. Cut each potato in half lengthwise, and scoop out pulp, leaving ¼-inch thick shell. Mash potato pulp until smooth. Beat in yogurt until well blended, adding a little margarine, if necessary. Add milk to desired consistency. Stir in green onions, bleu cheese, mustard, salt and pepper. Mound mixture back into potato shells and sprinkle with bacon bits. Arrange in baking dish and refrigerate until ready to serve; reheat at 400° for 15 to 20 minutes, until piping hot. Makes 8 servings.

Calories about 117 per serving. Cholesterol about 4 mgs.

BAKED POTATO SKINS

2 medium-sized baking potatoes (about 8 oz. each)
1 Tbsp. melted margarine
1 tsp. Parmesan cheese, grated
Rinse and scrub potatoes thoroughly. Pierce once with fork so potatoes will not burst during baking. Bake in preheated 350° oven about 1 hour, or until soft and cooked thoroughly. Remove from oven and cover with damp paper towel to cool without skins drying out. Cut potatoes in half lengthwise. Scoop out insides, leaving about ¼-inch potato next to skin. Brush skins with melted margarine, sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake at 375° about 35 minutes, until crisp and brown. Makes 4 servings.
Calories about 50 per serving. Cholesterol about 1 mg.

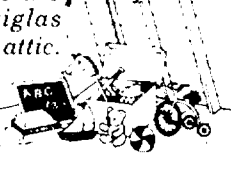

OVEN FRENCH FRIES

A French-Belgian friend of my mother's taught her how to make oven french fries some 75 years ago, and I still feel they are far superior to those fried by immersing in deep fat — and so much more digestible!

3 baking potatoes (about 8 oz. each), peeled and immersed in icy water
3 Tbsp. fresh vegetable oil
¼ tsp. Hungarian paprika
Have oil at room temperature and place in electric blender with paprika; blend until oil is well colored. Place in small jar and keep for future uses.
Drain potatoes; carefully dry with paper toweling. Slice into julienne strips. Toss in a bowl with 1 Tbsp. of the oil mixture until well coated all over. Place strips in one layer on a baking sheet or jelly roll pan. Bake 15 minutes in preheated 400° oven; remove from oven, turn with a metal spatula and bake 15 minutes longer, or until potatoes are beautifully brown and crisp. Makes 4 servings.
Calories about 120 per serving. Cholesterol 0.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

Nobody does it better . . .

If St. Clare of Montefalco School could bottle and sell its formula for athletic success, it probably wouldn't need to charge tuition anymore. There are always enough buyers for a formula like that . . . and never enough formula to go around.

The ingredients are simple: good coaching, adequate financial support and a winning spirit. The problem with cooking that recipe up is that every "chef" is different; up until now, only St. Clare does it best. In a world that puts a premium on winning, tiny St. Clare comes up big every time. Take the past five years, for example:

Coach Larry Hines' volleyball squad has won the city CYO (Catholic Youth Organization) championship five times in seven years, captured league, regional, east-side and tournament championships this season and racked up an amazing five-year won-loss record of 183-5.

St. Clare's 1983 football squad went through its seven-game schedule undefeated — scoring 185 points and holding opponents to just 30 before losing a heartbreaker in the playoffs, 6-0.

The combined boys' and girls' track team is undefeated in dual meets since 1979, including four city championships for the girls and three for the boys. St. Clare's opponents can't even run away from the tough Falcons, it seems.

In all, St. Clare teams have captured 40 divisional titles in football, tennis, volleyball, basketball, cheerleading, softball, baseball and track and field — just since 1979. It's no wonder most of the CYO teams are wondering what they feed those kids at St. Clare.

According to St. Clare Athletic Commission vice-chairperson John Bruce, it's a high-caliber diet.

"For an elementary program, St. Clare has a high-caliber coaching staff. Secondly, St. Clare supports its programs financially — many schools aren't able to do that — providing good equipment, good resources. And also, St. Clare families are very supportive, very interested in maintaining this high quality," Bruce said.

But with all that winning, that excellence, must come the pressure, the absolute standard of nothing but success. Right?

Wrong. Bruce admitted that the tendency to look for that pressure is there, but he hasn't been able to find much evidence of it.

"I find the parents to be very reasonable. People at St. Clare seem to have a great perspective on winning. I don't see it getting ugly if the teams lose two or three games. The expectation is there that the teams will just do well . . . whether they win or not.

"There's no pressure and the sense of purpose doesn't seem to be out of proportion."

And that's due mainly to the efforts of coaches like Hines, a disciplinarian who demands total effort from his players . . . yet tempers that with the realization that he's dealing with fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grade girls. With five losses in five years, Hines' approach appears to be the correct one.

Or administrators like Steve Zaranek, director of athletics, and program advisor Rick Zaranek. The Zaraneks are successful, competitive people who are concerned mainly with providing St. Clare students with a quality athletic program, Bruce said.

St. Clare doesn't think winning is everything, like the late Vince Lombardi thought it was. St. Clare teams don't "win ugly" like baseball's Chicago White Sox did this summer when they made talking about winning the ugly thing to do.

St. Clare teams just think winning comes naturally to a sports program where coaches do their jobs and do them well, kids have fun and learn to build sports skills, and the emphasis is on the sport, not on winning as a sport.

That's one formula they ought to patent.

Falcon gridders bounce back

St. Clare of Montefalco's football squad defeated Livonia St. Michael, 20-0, Oct. 30, to run its season record to 7-1.

Coach Tim Gonyeau's Falcons will meet the same club in a 20-minute exhibition game, this Sunday, Nov. 6 at 10:40 a.m., at the Pontiac Silverdome, as part of the Catholic League and CYO's Prep Bowl day.

GPHA garage sale Nov. 4-5

The Grosse Pointe Hockey Association Mother's Club will hold its annual Garage Sale tomorrow, Friday, Nov. 4, and Saturday, Nov. 5, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day at the Grosse Pointe Community Rink on Canyon between Warren and Mack Avenues.

The public is invited to stop by and shop the hundreds of bargains on books, clothes, household goods, furniture, games, toys, etc. Proceeds from the event help support the Grosse Pointe hockey program.

Cash sales only and all sales are final.

St. Michael took the opening kickoff at its own 20, but was forced to punt four plays later. A short punt gave the Falcons possession at the 35. They were stopped seven plays later at the 20, but a first down St. Michael pass was picked off by Lou Dobbs and St. Clare had the ball again at the 19.

Four plays later, fullback Doug Lucas plunged in from the two. Lucas' conversion attempt was wide and the Falcons had a 6-0 lead. St. Michael took the ensuing kickoff and drove to the St. Clare 29 where it fumbled. Mike Calcaterra's recovery took the Falcons out of trouble.

The teams traded punts a couple of times and the half ended with St. Clare in possession at the St. Michael 19. The third quarter was scoreless as the teams again exchanged the ball a few times.

Early in the fourth quarter, tailback Mike Paull sprinted 30 yards for another Falcon marker. Lucas' conversion made it 14-0. Jad Pablo completed the scoring for St. Clare with a 34-yard run to make it 20-0.

'The Game' is Saturday

By Peggy O'Connor

From the moment South quarterback Tom Bailey fell on the ball to kill the last seconds off the clock and insure South of a victory in the first "intercommunity gridiron classic" Nov. 8, 1969, the annual North-South football game has been referred to simply as "The Game" in Grosse Pointe sports circles.

It may not be as well-known a contest as Michigan-Ohio State, but a look back at 14 years of crosstown rivalry shows that more often than not, the color of those Grosse Pointe games was more like black and blue than pink and green.

1969: 3,000 fans witnessed a defensive struggle as South takes a 7-6 victory to begin the crosstown rivalry. After a scoreless first period, North's Dave Hertier picked off a Tom Bailey pass and returned it to the South 1 where Joe Puleo scored on a quarterback sneak. South trailed until midway through the fourth quarter when a 35-yard Bailey to Jim Parker pass and an interference call on the Norsemen gave South the ball on the Blue Devil 10. Tom Reghanti sprinted in for his first high school touchdown and Jack "Automatic" Gardner kicked the extra point for the tiebreaker. North had good field position with less than two minutes to go, but Mark Saber jarred a Puleo-Steve Schleicher pass loose and Bailey ran out the clock.

1970: South scored first when quarterback Bailey hit George Massu with a 15-yarder, but North went on to post 26-6 win in the first meeting at North field. The Norsemen held South to just five yards total offense in the second half and North junior fullback Duane Johnson scored three second half touchdowns to break the tie and give North its first win in the series.

1971: The Norsemen became the first team to win two games when they came out on top of an offensive show, 35-21.

1972: North was unbeaten and ranked in the state's top 10 — until South upset North to earn the Blue Devils their first winning season in two years, 14-7. South's Jim Whims rushed for 168 yards and two touchdowns as the Devils held the Norsemen to just one touchdown. A 34-yard Jeff Humes to Mark Gregson scoring pass with 39 seconds left in the first half spoiled the shutout.

1973: A predicted defensive struggle erupted into an offensive circus as unbeaten North knocked off unbeaten South, 36-21, before 4,500 fans at South. North quarterback John Puleo passed for three touchdowns and added two more on the ground as he accounted for 321 yards of North's 434-yard offensive total. Puleo collected 190 yards in 11 carries and 131 yards in the air, including scoring passes of 51- and 70-yards to Doug Ulmer.

1974: South took an early lead in this one when Pete Fraser and Dave Wyborski converted interceptions into touchdowns, but North scored two touchdowns in less than two minutes to win the contest, 19-15. The Norsemen dropped South to 5-4 on the year when they scored on Fritz Lehmann's 20-yard draw play, recovered an on-side kick and notched the winning touchdown on Mike Stafford's one-yard plunge.

Red Barons top Shelby

The Red Barons faced the Shelby Lions in football action last weekend, winning two of three close games — all of which ended in shutouts.

The freshman squad ran into a tough Shelby defensive unit in their 7-0 victory. The game saw a back-and-forth defensive struggle until the second quarter when the Barons drove to the Shelby 2. On fourth down and goal, Brandon Cromar handed off to Drew Woodruff who dashed into the end zone for the score. Woodruff added the extra point to give the Barons a 7-0 lead at the half.

Cromar's passing, Woodruff's running and Jim Kutscher's key pass receptions led to the touchdown.

The second half was a repeat of the first half as both squads moved the ball but couldn't score. Late in the game, the Barons drove again, but lost the ball on a fumble. Shelby began a drive of its own, gaining lots of ground until Kutcher and Tom Dinverno stopped the Lions runner trying to earn a first down on the Barons 23.

The outstanding play turned in by the defensive unit was led by John Jungwirth, Rob Robertson, Kutscher, Paul Straske and Matt Swikoski.

The JV Red Barons weren't as lucky as their freshman counterparts, losing 13-0 to Shelby. Shelby started the action with a long scoring pass called back because of a penalty. The Lions continued their drive, only to be stopped by Brendan Henry's fumble recovery. But the Red Barons could not take advantage of the turnover and when they punted, the Lions blocked the punt and got excellent field position.

A Red Baron interception stopped that drive, but Shelby finally scored and led 6-0 at the half. Brian Letscher's pass was intercepted and returned for a touchdown to start the second half and give the Lions the win.

Cam Pyle had a great day on both offense and defense, breaking off the longest run of the day only to be stopped by the last Lion defender. Shelby drove again late in the game, and was stopped by the fine tackling of Jason Bedsworth, Steve Craporatta, and Mark Zoltowski. Offensively, Steve Shumerski ran well behind the blocking of Bryan Ford, Bedsworth and Matt Mogk.

The varsity's 12-0 win was another hard-hitting affair, with both squads killing long drives by losing the ball.

Pointers are top SVSC netters

The Saginaw Valley College's women's tennis team participated in tournament action this week, after clinching a share of the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference title last week.

The Lady Cardinals earned a 6-1 league mark this year; they were 9-2 overall, the best finish ever for the three-year-old team.

The squad's success is due in part to the fine play of junior Nancy Koehler, a North High graduate who played No. 1 singles; and sophomore Laura Hackman, a South alumna who filled the No. 6 singles position.

1975: The Blue Devils capped what coach Russ Hepner called his "most satisfying season" to date by beating North, 20-12. Wyborski racked up 114 yards, and three touchdowns in 26 carries as South netted 260 yards on offense. The Devils finished at 8-1 and in a three-way tie for the EML championship.

1976: South's Rick Baker was a one-man wrecking crew this November Saturday, intercepting two passes and punting the Blue Devils out of trouble several times enroute to a 6-3 South victory. Tom Nihem's touchdown pass after Al Jones' recovery of a North fumble was the only touchdown of the day. One of Baker's punts was a remarkable 64-yarder.

1977: North was 6-2 and South unbeaten at 8-0 when the Norsemen traveled to Fisher Road and Kercheval for the 9th annual game. South took an early 7-3 lead when John Hartmann picked up a fumble and ran 44 yards for a touchdown. The Blue Devils continued to threaten but North took the lead for good when quarterback Harry Gemuend scored on a five-yard keeper. A fake punt and several fine running plays put South inside the North 20 with less than three minutes to go, but the 7-2 Norsemen held on for the 10-7 win that spoiled the Devils' perfect record.

1978: South used two Ted Formanczyk touchdowns to take a 21-15 win and finish the year with a 7-2 mark. North quarterback Bob Brown came back with two touchdown passes to John Long to give the home-team Norsemen a 15-13 lead but John Gammert's touchdown capped a 66-yard South drive and iced the game for the Devils. North committed six turnovers.

1979: North finished its season with an 8-1 record by winning this game, the 11th annual match-up, 17-12. The Nov. 3 contest was penalty-filled and marred by numerous turnovers by both sides. South ended the year with a 5-4 mark.

1980: South went into this contest with a 7-1 mark and playoff hopes and came out with a 24-7 win over North. The Norsemen took an early 7-0 lead, but the combination of Dean Graham and John DeBoer was too much as Graham hit "All-Everything" split end DeBoer with 25- and 58-yard touchdown passes enroute to racking up 428 total yards on offense. North was 4-5 in coach Jim Krucki's last season; South, 8-1.

1981: The series was tied at 6-6 and each team sported a 4-4 season record when the Norsemen and Blue Devils met at South Nov. 7. A one-yard drive by senior fullback Dave McCarron in the first quarter was all North needed to take its seventh win in 13 meetings. 7-2. Sophomore quarterback Chris Bingaman led North with 14 yards on the ground and 48 in the air. North finished the year at 5-4, handing South its first losing season in 10 years.

1982: North led 10-7 at home with less than two minutes to play when South fullback Paul Hawk pulled down a pass and sprinted 40 yards into the end-zone for a touchdown. The 14-7 South victory gave the Blue Devils a perfect 9-0 record and insured a state playoff berth.

RUSS HEPNER has coached South in every North-South contest. He says he'll always remember that first game, the Blue Devils' 7-6 victory, because it came early in his coaching career and was the first of the series. But another game stands out in Hepner's mind.

"I think probably that 1973 game, when both teams were 8-0 and had given up under 20 points. North beat us 36-21 when everybody expected a defensive game. That one stands out as a big ball game."

While fans, cheerleaders and students get ready for this traditional rivalry, Hepner says his squad approaches the North-South game just like it does the other eight games on the schedule, particularly this season.

"After fighting so hard for the league championship and having Port Huron, L'Anse Creuse and Mt. Clemens in the last three weeks, it's just our job to prepare for North... just like we've been doing all season."

North, on the other hand, has been preparing for this Saturday's game a lot longer — since last year's loss with less than two minutes to go in the game. That contest ranks as North Coach Frank Sumner's least fond memory when it comes to North-South classics.

"We were in control the whole game and then one big play beats us. We managed to snatch defeat from the jaws of victory. We've carried that in the backs of our minds for 365 days," Sumner says.

Sumner says he plans a few adjustments on defense to prevent the sort of play that gave South its seventh win in 14 meetings. Other than that, Sumner expects the 1983 installment to be every bit as exciting as the previous 14 games.

"I'm really looking forward to it. Russ does such a great job. I just feel badly that this area's two best runners, Paul Hawk and our own Fred Schultz, won't be playing."

Schultz and Hawk, who have powered the Norsemen and Blue Devil offense for three years, are out for the year with leg injuries. Like the rest of us, they'll have to sit on the sidelines and watch what promises to be yet another in a long time of North-South gridiron classics.

North wins; looks ahead

By Rick Markel

The preliminaries are over. North was able to defeat Lake Shore, 20-7, last week and set up the showdown with South. It wasn't easy as the Shorians gave North all it could handle, but it wasn't quite enough as the Norsemen ran their record to 7-1.

Two first half turnovers greatly hampered North, while Lake Shore's defense put the clamps on the Norsemen. George Kasza did manage to ramble in from two yards out in the second quarter to provide North with its only first half points. Norsemen Coach Frank Sumner commented on the shaky first half: "... We really didn't play well in the first half, either offensively or defensively."

With the score tied 7-7 in the third quarter, North got its biggest break of the game when defensive back Dan Kopitzke picked off a Shorian pass and returned 24 yards for what would prove to be the game winning score. Kopitzke's interception, in addition to being the turning point of the game, was one of four North interceptions of the day. Kopitzke and George Kasza each picked off two Shorian passes.

An 11-yard scoring strike from quarterback Chris Bingaman to Steve Wheatley in the fourth quarter put North out of danger.

Coming up this week is the main event against undefeated, highly ranked and traditional rival South. This year's game will have a new twist for North. It's possible that if the Norsemen should prevail, they may gain a state playoff berth. North has never been to state playoffs, thus the reasons for Sumner's statement. "This game will be the biggest in North's history." For South, a victory would pretty much assure the Blue Devils of a playoff berth.

North's chances depend on two factors. One, the defense, as it has for much of the year, will have to play really well. Secondly, North will have to avoid the costly turnovers which have given the team problems at times.

Coach Sumner said his team is looking forward to the game. His belief is that if North plays to its highest capabilities, it can beat South. One other interesting fact is that the last team to defeat South during the "regular" season game was North. But that game was two years ago; the only thing that matters now is the present.

JV, frosh win

Raising their record to 5-3, North's JV gridders shut out Lake Shore enroute to a 6-0 victory. Greg Guest scored on a seven-yard touchdown run for the only points in the game.

Down 7-0 at the half, North's freshmen football team came back to defeat Marine City, 8-7. Chris Rodriguez scored on a 40-yard touchdown romp for the Norsemen victory.

Cagers turn it on

The season has really turned around for North's varsity girls basketball team. After struggling through the early part of the season, things have finally fallen into place.

Last week, North crushed Brablec, 49-23, then topped South Lake, 48-29. The wins increased their record 8-6, with a league record of 6-2. L'Anse Creuse leads the league with a 7-0 record but North has every hope of catching L'Anse Creuse.

Against Brablec, Celeste Sartor lifted North as she had an outstanding all around game, scoring 18 points, and grabbing 17 rebounds. Paula Harms led the way against South Lake as she poured in 10 points along with 18 rebounds.

Sartor and Michelle Witt are the big guns for North, but teammates Harms, Pam Boesiger and Dawn Cartwright have all helped the Norsemen to big wins.

Mite House

The Art Van Kings beat the Rangers, 6-3, in Mite House exhibition play last week. The first period saw the Kings get off to a strong start on goals by Danny Bombich, Matt Van Elslander and Evilasio Covacha; with Pete Morgan, Mike Ugval, Ali Bararsini, Augustin Yofre, M.J. Morris and Jacob Thomas drawing assists.

The Rangers got on the board in the second period with Adam MacDonald's unassisted goal. Third period play saw action at both ends of the ice as MacDonald and Greg Ryan scored for the Rangers and Morgan scored twice for the Kings. Mike Hendrie, Eric Kisskalt, Ugval and Bombich drew assists.

Morris ended the final Kings' goal on a pass from Bobby Rahaim. Ranger goalie Galen Dossin played well while newcomer Brian Holiday recorded his first win in the nets for the Kings.

Pee Wee

The Grosse Pointe Hockey Association's Pee Wee Division started the season with a contest between the U.S.A. Olympians and the North Stars, with the Olympians taking a 4-2 victory.

Ron Sable opened the scoring for the North Stars on a pass from Kevin Nugent, but the U.S.A. team countered with a goal by Jim Pappas from a Jonathan Davis pass. Three third period goals by U.S.A.'s Blake Crawford, Davis and Nancy Alcott offset Soule's goal for the Stars and gave the Olympians the win.

Alcott, Jason Erbecker, Pappas, Raphael Elledge and Crawford were credited with assists in the scoring barrage. Turning in strong goaltending performances were U.S.A.'s Jim Bunn and the North Stars' Jeff Blum.

Bantam Titans

The Bantam Titans (13 and 14 year olds) have started the 1983-84 season at 5-1. The team has been led in scoring by Jim Ryszewski, Taras Gracey and Tom Stephenson. Excellent defense has been the key note to the successful start with goal tender Scott Flemming and defencemen Mike Irwin and Roger Romine leading the way. David Hall, Jeff Berger, Ruben Ascencio, Chuck Weiss, Scott Adhloch, Jeff Dossin, and Dominic Vitale round out the squad.

Playing a combined schedule with St. Clair Shores, the Titans bested the St. Clair Shores Spitfires, 4-1, as Taras Gracey had the three goal "hat trick" and Jim Ryszewski notched his sixth goal of the season.

In a game with the St. Clair Shores Spitfires, Ryszewski scored the lone Titan goal and the visitors scored with 26 seconds remaining in the game to gain a 1-1 tie.

In the four previous games the Titans beat the Red Wings, 4-1, as Ryszewski had two goals and Taras Gracey and Tom Stephenson had one each. On Oct. 23, the Titans again prevailed over the Red Wings, 5-3, as Stephenson and Gracey each had two goals, Dominic Vitale had the other.

The Titans opened the season with a 2-1 win over the Blues as Ryszewski and Vitale scored. The second game with the Blues was also a 2-1 victory as Ryszewski and Ruben Ascencio scored. Rookie Goalie Scott Flemming has an outstanding 1.33 goals against average to lead the league.

Marlies are on the move

The Grosse Pointe Marlboro Midget A travel hockey team completed a successful week of Adray League play last week with two wins and one tie as the team showed a return of the scoring punch that marked their tremendous exhibition season.

The Marlies opened the season with a 2-2 tie in the home encounter with Avon. Joe Sullivan started the Marlie scoring with an unassisted tally in the second period to tie the game. Defenseman Mike Amore scored the go-ahead goal in the third period on a nice pass from Jim Barr before Avon tied the game in the final minute.

Then the Marlies trounced Taylor, 5-0, Oct. 29 at the GPCR. Winger Kevin Tisdale led the Marlie scoring with three goals. Tisdale opened the scoring on a nice pass from Tom Ugval early in the first period when he circled the net to stuff the puck into the corner.

Defenseman Eric Warezak scored Grosse Pointe's second goal when he sent a drop-pass to John Hirschfield, then pounced on Hirschfield's rebound in front of the Taylor goalie. Barr set up the next Marlie goal, feeding Tisdale who split the Taylor defense and beat the goalie. Center Sullivan then stole the puck in Taylor's end and scored an unassisted goal. Tisdale finished the scoring when he and Peter Guzzardo completed a two-on-one play with a neat series of passes. Robbie Davis registered his third shutout.

On Sunday, the Marlies traveled to Livonia and skated away with a hard-fought 5-4 win. Livonia jumped on top early and the contest seasawed back and forth until the Marlies put it away late in the third period.

Guzzardo played a tremendous game and scored the first of his two goals to tie the game late in the first period after stealing the puck and handcuffing the Livonia goalie. Jamie Parker finished off a pretty passing play with Bobby Rogers and Hirschfield by drilling a 20-foot wrist shot.

Ugval put the Marlies on top when he skated right in and scored after being set up by Tisdale and Chris Valicevic. Guzzardo tied the contest early in the third period when he blasted a slapshot past a surprised Livonia netminder; Barr assisted on the play.

All Pointes in fall practice

The All Pointes Swim Club has started its fall practice schedule and is looking forward to its first meet with Clarenceville.

All Pointe is a competitive swim group which offers swimmers a chance to improve swim technique and to compete in dual and AAU meets — yet gives them enough time for other activities.

Interested swimmers should call Judy Higel at 882-0184.

It's donkey basketball time

Lutheran East will host its annual donkey basketball game Friday, Nov. 11. Saddle-up time will be 7:30 p.m.

The game will feature faculty members from eastside Lutheran elementary schools opposing the Lutheran East faculty in what promises to be a hilarious evening full of thrills and spills for the enjoyment of sports fans of all ages. Advance ticket prices for this event $2.50 for adults and $2 for grade school and high school students and are available at the Lutheran East office at 20100 Kelly Road and at eastside Lutheran elementary schools. Tickets the night of the game are all $3.

A spaghetti dinner will be served from 5:30 until 7:30 p.m. that evening.

DeBoer honored

Central Michigan University junior John DeBoer was selected "Player of the Week" based upon his performance in the CMU Chippewas' 12-7 loss Oct. 22.

DeBoer, a 6-4, 185-pound split end who graduated from South High, caught four passes for 128 yards and one touchdown. One of his receptions from quarterback Ron Fillmore was good for a stadium-record 78 yards.

DeBoer is the Chippewas' leading receiver this season.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT

Holy Spirit, you who make me see everything and who shows me the way to reach my ideal. You who give me the Divine Gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me and you who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen.

Thank You for your love towards me and my loved ones. Pray this prayer 3 consecutive days without asking your wish, after third day your wish will be granted, no matter how difficult it may be. Then promise to publish this prayer as soon as your favor has been granted. P.C.M.

CHRISTMAS CRAFT!
news business, but at the Colonial Shop the older the better. In fact, even though Halloween is over, the vast selection of exciting, unusual, antiques, gifts, and collectibles, Wacky Jack and Miss Kitty have on hand out here will bewitch you all year long. You'll find a lot of treasures but no tricks among the pair of cherry wood Duncan Phyfe corner china cabinets, the many additions to an already extensive collection of Fiesta ware, the hand blown Craquelé glass pitcher, the Cloisonné vase, the Mt.

Devils win EML title

By David Loffredo

The South Blue Devil varsity football team clinched the Eastern Michigan League title by beating Mt. Clemens, 14-0, in front of an appreciative homecoming crowd.

The game began as a nightmare of missed chances for South. In the first quarter, the Blue Devils marched to the Bathers' 23 line, but a field goal attempt was thwarted when the snap was dropped.

In the second quarter, the Devils wasted another scoring attempt. South moved to the Bathers' 4, when Jim Arnold caught a touchdown pass in the endzone. But the score was called back on a holding penalty. South then failed to put the ball in the endzone from the 9 line so they tried another field goal. As luck would have it, the Bathers blocked the kick and recovered it on the 15 line. South went into the half tied 0-0, but the score could have been 10-0.

In the third quarter, bad luck haunted the Devils again. South got the ball to the Bathers' 18 and set up for a field goal. This time, kicker Dale Graham got the ball off the ground, but it was wide to the right. It looked as though South would never score.

Then in the fourth quarter, the Devils came alive. On the first drive, South marched to the Bathers' 8 before Brian Rathsburg ran in for the score. Graham added the extra point and South finally led, 7-0. Two drives later, Rathsburg put the Devils up 14-0 with a 30-yard touchdown run.

South's offense can't be the only ones credited with the win. For the fifth time this year, the defense shut out its opponent. In this game it was especially effective, for when the offense was having its troubles in the first three quarters, it was the defense which kept the Bathers from scoring.

The Devils end their EML season with an 8-0 record and a first place finish. Both the offense and the defense were ranked first in the league for the season. South's last regular season game will be this Saturday, Nov. 5, against North at 1 p.m. If South wins, it will advance to the state playoffs for the second consecutive year.

Frosh fall

South's freshmen football team lost to L'Anse Creuse North, 45-16, to lower their record to 2-4-1. Brian Stratton and Jeff Metry scored touchdowns for South and Dave Arnold and Scott Tucker added two-point conversions. Eric Nord led the defensive attack with 11 tackles.

Ups and downs for Cagers

Last week wasn't kind to the varsity basketball team as it lost twice and saw its record slip to 2-13. The team began the week with a 54-25 loss to East Detroit, then lost to Port Huron, 44-38.

The JV split its games last week, losing to East Detroit, 67-23, then beating Port Huron, 27-11. The two teams will be at home tonight, Nov. 3, against Anchor Bay. The JV will play at 6 p.m. and the varsity at 7:45 p.m.

The girls' freshman basketball team won both of its games last week, to increase their record to 10-1. The girls began the week by beating L'Anse Creuse North, 38-24. Anne Connell had eight points, Stephanie Purdy had six points and 16 rebounds, Cindy Tewes and Marcia Wright had six points each, and Erin Kershaw and Chris Connor each had five points.

Two days later, the girls beat East Detroit Kelly, 28-14. Tewes had 15 points and Connell had six. The team's next contest is tonight, Nov. 3, in East Detroit Oakwood, at 4 p.m.

St. Paul takes CYO tennis title

St. Paul School's girls' tennis team posted its second straight CYO league championship last month, finishing its 1983 season with a 6-0-2 mark.

With a possible eight victories per match in an eight-match season, St. Paul tacked up an impressive 51 victories in the five-team league for an 80 percent winning mark.

Outstanding season performances were submitted Cathy Wachter at No. 1 singles (4-0), Theresa Molloy at No. 4 singles (6-0), No. 5 singles Cappy Echlin (6-0), No. 6 singles Kelly Bartsch (6-0) and Marcie Blake in singles and doubles (6-0). Turning in key performances were Kathy Rajt at No. 2 singles (6-2), Michelle Nault at No. 3 singles (4-2), and singles and doubles competitors Andrea Gagnon (6-2), Kristen Youngblood (5-2), Michelle Francis (6-2) and Megan Butterly (3-1).

The St. Paul's squad consisted entirely of seventh and eighth graders, eight of whom will return for the 1984 tennis season. St. Paul coach Tom Katchmark noted that one indication of the team's strength is the high caliber of experienced players, among them No. 1 and 2 singles starters who are active in area tournament play. Because of this, St. Paul's looks like a contender for league champ again next season.

The University Liggett School soccer team traveled to the Detroit Country Day School to play the Regional Class B-C Semi-final Championship game, Oct. 26, and won the tough game, 1-0.

Thirteen minutes into the first half ULS forward Brian David scored the only goal; Rob Wood assisting. A highlight of the game was the defensive performance of Dan Bowen, Kirk Haggarty, Jame McMillan, Harold Colby and Steve Vreeken. Jeff Lucas played an outstanding game in net, collecting his sixth shutout of the season. Halfbacks John Birgbauer, Walter Connolly, Rob Healy and Wood played an aggressive midfield game, keeping the pressure on DCDS. Forwards Rick Roberts, Brian David, Johannes Homan and Jim Lambrecht put together a well-organized attack. With this win, Coach David Backhurst's Knights advanced to the Regional Championship game.

On Oct. 29 in Lansing the Knights played the regional championship game, their most emotional game of the season. With a 5-4 overtime performance, the Knights narrowly beat a tough Okemos team that was ranked No. 2 in the state at the time. The Knights jumped out to a 1-0 lead as Bowen scored on a headball from a throw-in by Colby. Then Okemos scored two consecutive goals before fullback Jamie McMillan scored on a throw-in by Colby that bounced around inside the six-yard line. Okemos answered this goal, and the Knights were down 3-2 at half-time.

goal by Roberts. Okemos took the lead again on a goal by Dan Trohan, his third of the game. The Knights tied Okemos halfway through the second half on another goal by Roberts, assisted by left winger Rob Healy but the play that saved the game for the Knights was by goalie Lucas. With two and one-half minutes left in regulation play and the score tied 4-4, the Okemos team was awarded a penalty kick. When the ball was kicked, Lucas dove to the lower right hand corner, making a spectacular save.

Lucas' save motivated ULS going into a tough overtime period. With five seconds left in the first of two five-minute overtime halves, fullback McMillan scored his second goal of the game, and the deciding goal of the game. The assist went to Colby.

Ups and downs in GPA soccer

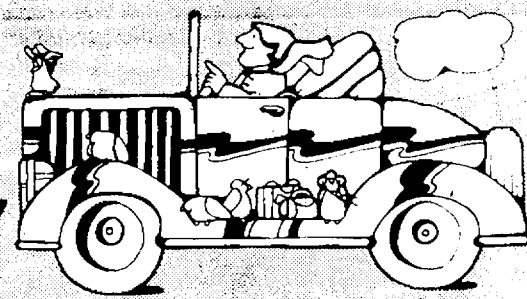

On Oct. 21, Grosse Pointe Academy's 4th and 5th grade boys' soccer team played a co-ed soccer team from Friends of Detroit, winning 3-1. Scoring for GPA were Russell Inman, two goals, and Dan Friedel.

On a cold, rainy Oct. 22, the boys' soccer team traveled to Maumee Valley School and lost 3-0. GPA's Jim Johnson was the field leader. GPA's girls' soccer team also lost 5-0, to St. Angela's. Good defensive play was turned in by GPA's Danielle DeLuca and fine offensive play by Beth Mercier.

GPA's sixth, seventh and eighth grade boys' soccer team lost to St. Peter's, 3-2, in a hotly contested and very aggressive game, Oct. 25.
