Here are bumper stickers we've seen, but not quite understood in the area lately.

Just kidding. Actually, the reverse is the real question.

Thanks, FYI

Remember the "Felony Fryers?" That was the story of the two City chickens that were chased and finally captured by cops in the Maumee-Notre Dame area last September.

Well, guess what? I received a letter and an autographed picture from the fryers Monday morning. The letter read as follows:

The letter was signed with the imprint of two chicken feet. The accompanying photo was signed "Love to Tom - Felony Fryers," and showed two relieved looking chickens. (I believe one is a Rhode Island Red.)

It's always nice to receive mail.

Time for yet another "do you remember" story Do you remember the story we ran a month ago about the elderly lady who had her 1982 Cadillac stolen from a local supermarket parking lot?

The woman, a former resident of the Shores. was on this side of town conducting business, part of which was cleaning out her safety deposit box. After cleaning out said box, she placed common stock certificates worth $250,000 in the trunk of her Caddy, only to have the car stolen.

Well, there is a honor among thieves, apparently. The Woods police report the woman has received her stocks via the U.S. Mail. Apparently the thief heard about the bonds and mailed them back to her at her old Shores address. The Post Office forwarded the mail to her at her new home on Grosse Ile.

The goods apparently came wrapped in a brown supermarket bag. Police say there's no chance of finding fingerprints since everybody and their brother has handled the wrapper.

Incidentally, the car was never recovered. Police have little hopes of that being mailed back.

Park mayor ousted by Heenan

er than usual ballotting in the Tuesday, Nov. 8 municipal elections.

In the Park, veteran Republican party politician Palmer Heenan ended incumbent mayor Douglas Graham's 16 years of municipal service with a narrow 160-vote win. Incumbent councilman Anthony Spada was also removed from office. Ballotting for Park council was led by newcomer Vernon Ausherman with 1,957 votes, followed by incumbent John Prost with 1.828 votes and another newcomer, David Gaskin, with 1,802. The three winners and the new mayor will take office on Nov. 14.

School closing debate heats up

The school board Monday threatened legal action against a group that accused the trustees of misappropriation in a flyer widely distributed in the community.

The charge of misappropriation made by the Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools 'goes beyond the bounds of decency and is actionably defamattrustee Jon Gandelot said. The seven board members voted unanimously to send the committee notice of defamation, the first step in a libel suit.

The move was made on the eve of the trustees' vote on plan to reorganize the school system. Their vote on the plan to close Barnes School, transfer sixth graders to middle school and change the Trombly-Defer boundary is scheduled for next Monday. Nov. 14, at North High.

This week's meeting at South High was attended by about 300 citizens, some in support and some opposed to the superintendent's reorganization proposal. The meeting was moved into South's gymnasium because a "School boards cannot be libeled or defamed, individuals can be," Easlick, an attorney. said. "If they're spending school system money to take action on behalf of an individual board member it's inappropriate.'

The misappropriation charge was made in a flyer distributed door-to-door and stuffed in children's Halloween bags during the last two weeks. It demands an explanation from the board and superintendent on a number of issues, including the need for a staff of three persons in the super-intendent's office and the addition extracurricular programs which have "overburdened" the school system. #### The Woods

Incumbent councilmen Frederick Lovelace and William Wilson lost their seats to newcomers Paul Beaupre and Ted Bidigare while another incumbent. Robert Novitke, won re-election in the Woods.

No one seemed more surprised than Beaupre at his strong sweep of the election.

"I certainly never expected to win so handily," Beaupre, general manager of Plumbrook Golf Club, said. He attributed his win not to issues, so much as "one tremendously effective campaign committee."

Bidigare, a district manager with the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority, said he was elated with his four-vote-win over incumbent Wilson.

"You hear the saying 'every vote counts.' Well, here it is. Four votes. You can't get much closer Beaupre led the winners in the Woods with 1,708 votes, taking 10 of 12 precincts, followed by Novitke's 1,516 votes and Bidigare's 1,131. Unsuccessful candidates were Wilson, with 1,127 votes. Lovelace with 1.052 votes, and Douglas Munro with 650.

Woods officials said 2,565 people went to the polls. about 19 percent of the eligible voters.

The Farms

Mayor James Dingeman was top vote-getter in a six-way race for four council seats in the Farms. He'll be joined at city offices by incumbent Harry Echlin and two newcomers. Bruce Rockwell and Mary Ann Ghesquiere, who'll push the number of women on the council up to three, the highest of any Farms officials said 1,737 voters, or about 20 percent of those registered, cast ballots.

The City

Incumbents won all around in the City election. Councilman Thomas Youngblood, who was appointed to fill a vacancy two months ago, led the ballotting with 865 votes. He was followed by Jeanette Duffield, who won return to office with 771 votes, and incum-

Unsuccessful challengers for council were Thomschool board meetings, to attack as Guthat, with 508 votes, and Thomas O'Rourke, who won 480 votes.

> A more lively race in the City which attracted four candidates was for the $3,500-a-year municipal judge seat held by Stan Kazul. The incumbent won re-election by a 22-vote margin over George Coticchio, who has sought the office twice before. The unofficial tally showed Kazul with 481 votes. Coticchio with 459, Matthew Rumora with 162 and Stephen Kinsley with 152.

> A ballot proposal that amends the city charter by establishing a $5,000 limit for purchases that can be made without council approval, won approval from City voters, 501-205. City Manager Thomas Kressbach said the amendment will reduce overhead costs, permit timely purchasing and require less paperwork for suppliers.

> He said 1,275 voters, or 28.8 percent of those registered, came to the polls Tuesday. Only 20 percent of the City voters cast ballots in the last municipal election in 1981.

After the pipe is lit, the matches are collected and the contestants can do anything they want to keep the tobacco going as long as they don't relight.

The world record (according to the Guiness Book of World Recors), is two hours, six minutes and 39 seconds set by Schwartz Creek, Mich. resident William Vargo. First place in the world contest this year was earned by Robert Impullitti, from Mt. Clemens, who nursed his tobacco along for one hour, 20 minutes and 30 seconds.

Second place went to Paul Strong, also of Mt. Clemens, whose pipe went out at one hour, 19 minutes, 22 seconds.

"Many women smoke pipes, and cigars too," said Simon, who looks a bit like Hal Linden. "But mostly they smoke only in their homes. I'd say I've got at least 40 women customers here at the shop. In fact, one of the contestants in this year's world contest did quite well. Judy Strong, wife of the second place finisher, kept her pipe going for 47 minutes, and 59 seconds. She came in 17th."

While the rules of the contest are simple, entering the competition is even simpler. It's open to anyone. All you have to do is show up. While the Chicago affair charged a $5 entry fee, most world and regional contests are

"We're very democratic," said Simon, with a smile. And how does one train for the contest? Does the smoker put in miles of jogging to build up endurance? Does it call for tears and toil, sweat and muscle?

"Not at all," said Simon. "Basically, you practice when you have lots of leisure time. At least two hours to sit down in an easy chair where you won't be bothered. Light up in one minute and just keep it going. You should train using the official tobacco though."

How civilized.

And the competition itself. Does one eyeball his opponents, trying to gain a psychological edge?

"My goodness no," said Simon, looking slightly shocked. "This is gentleman's sport. Think about it. Have you ever seen a pipe smoker in a hurry, running around? Can you even think of one villian in literature or history who was a pipe smoker?

"We do it because we love pipes," he added. If ever there was a man born to tobacco, it would seem to be Jim Simon. He bought his first pipe (a corn cob) and a tin of Prince Albert tobacco when he was 14 While other kids hung around the ball diamond, pool halls or the library, Simon would hang around tobacco shops in Detroit.

"I originally wanted to be a dentist," he said "Then I got sidetracked. I started working for a man who bought a shop, but didn't know too much. Soon I was doing all the buying and ordering for him. By the time I was married I had a degree in psychology and it was time to go to work.

'My wife asked what I wanted to do. All I knew was tobacco and pipes, so here I am." Apparently Simon is doing best what he knows best. He's since added three other shops to his original store in the Pointe.

For his efforts as third place finisher, Simon earned himself a $175 Dunhill Pipe and lots of tobacco. Next year's world contest takes place in August and will be held at the Strohhaus in Detroit.

What's the secret for keeping a few grams of tobacco going for an hour or more?

"Personally, I blow gently into the pipe rather than draw," said Simon, sinking back into his easy chair. "You feed oxygen to it to keep it lit. Does anyone have a match?

While the application was being reviewed by a variety of local and state medical agencies, the city proceeded in training five paramedics and nine basic emergency medical technicians. The program involved about 5.000 hours of classroom and clinical training. police and hospital officials said.

In addition, the city added a building last year behind its municipal garage to house the EMTs while they were on 24-hour call. The city began working with the equipment for the ALS at the beginning of the 1983-84 fiscal

The goal of the ALS system is to provide necessary life support measures at the scene and in the ambulance before the patient reaches the emergency room, hospital officials said. Using the radio and telemetry communication links, doctors are able to recommend treatment measures.

The paramedics are able to administer drugs, perform intubations and administer intraveneous fluids, and other life-saving techniques on orders from the emergency room doctor. For patients experiencing heart troubles, the paramedics are able to transmit electrocardiograms and, if necessary, perform cardiovision, or the administering of electric shocks to the heart.

Police estimate that ALS will be used in from 10 to 12 percent of the calls the ambulance handles. Police and hospital officials credit a number of doctors at both Detroit Receiving and St. John hospitals, the city administration and ing and education of the public about the system.

Farms woman robbed by trio

A 48 year-old Farms woman was robbed of her purse by three men while standing in her front yard Thursday afternoon, Nov. 3.

According to police reports, the woman and her husband had returned from a short trip and had parked their car in their garage. The woman said she noticed three young men walk past their drive-way, stop, return and call to her asking for directions.

As she was about to respond, the three men charged her, running across a neighbor's lawn and grabbed her purse. The victims resisted, but were knocked to the ground.

The three men ran off, chased by the victim's husband, who was quickly outdistanced. The two residents said they heard the sound of a car racing away.

The suspects were described as three black males, 17 to 19 years old, 5 feet 11 inches tall, 150 pounds, with dark clothes, including dark, waist length jackets.

Park fire officials report that any person who sets fire to any woods, praries or grounds belonging to another, deliberately or not, shall be guilty of a felony. Permitting any fire to spread to the injury or destruction of another per-

Government by committee?

With the municipal elections out of the way, the next major decision on the immediate horizon in the Grosse Pointes is the board of education's action on the school closing issue which is now scheduled for next Monday, Nov. 14. Whatever decision the board makes, it is unlikely that is the last we will hear of the closing issue in the immediate future.

The Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools already has warned that it will start recall proceedings against any board member who votes to close any elementary school or to transfer sixth graders to a middle school to create a sixth-seventh-eighth grade school. In effect, this group arrogates to itself the right to make decisions that the community presumably elected the school board to do.

Under the law, of course, the group has the right to try to carry out recall of the board members. But whether it is the wise thing to do is another matter. This newspaper doubts that it is. As in the case of the state senators facing recall elections in Oakland and Macomb counties later this month, the school board members will be accused of having cast a single vote - assuming the board goes through with its expected approval of the latest closing plan that the recall supporters do not approve of. Yet the board members have been doing what they were elected to do: make decisions about the schools that they believe are in the best interests of the entire community.

Nor can the recall committee claim the two candidates for the board who were elected last spring tried to fool the voters. They made no secret of their position on the closing issue but both said that they would consider input from citizens before making their final decision. Now the Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools says no schools are to be closed and that the board members who vote for such an action or to transfer sixth grade elementary students into middle schools will be recalled. Where were those committee people during the election compaign last June?

If the board's action on Nov. 14 precipitates a recall effort, the sponsors will require 6,130 votes to put the issue on the ballot. The Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools already has presented to the board surveys signed by 6,525 residents. But even if the proponents succeed in putting the recall to a vote, they are not necessarily assured of victory. The peti-swimming pool in the south end of the district last year obtained more signers than the proposal did votes when it was put on the ballot.

BUT ASSUMING THE committee succeeds in its effort and the recall is approved, what will the committee's next step be? Will it be an attempt to persuade the school board to fire Supt. Kenneth Brummel, an action called for by at least one speaker at a recent meeting and demanded by letters to the editor? What other decisions does the committee wish to make on behalf of the citizens of the community? Does it wish the board to act in the future only in response to public opinion polls taken by interested parties?

Now another committee has been organized under the name Citizens to Support the Grosse Pointe Board of Education in order to show the community that there is backing for the board's position. Its spokesman accused the opposition group of intimidation and offered an analysis of recent developments which he said had given the board at least three clues that the voters favor some kind of consolidation: the defeat of the swimming pool proposal, the slim margin of victory for last spring's millage question and the victories of the two board members favoring school closings last June. True, other factors contributed to the outcome of these votes but this committee's interpretation is not without some validity.

DESPITE THE CRITICISMS and the controversy over the closing issue, this newspaper still has confidence in the board and the superintendent. We hope the board will endorse the superindentent's latest plan which includes the closing of Barnes and the transfer of sixthgrade elementary students to middle schools. Even these changes are now controversial but we are convinced they are sound moves to support the quality education everyone wants for the Grosse Pointes.

And since some people seem to have forgotten a major reason for consideration of school closings, we remind them that enrollment in the Grosse Pointe public schools declined again this fall to 7,517 students, down 289 from last year and down 6,012 from the peak of 13,529 in the 1971-72 school year. If no schools are to be closed with this kind of a decline, would the Committee for Neighborhood Elementary tions asking a vote on a proposal to build a Schools ever favor any reorganization?

Don't close Barnes now

To the Editor:

After reading the front page article on Nov. 3 about Joseph Callahan and his newly-formed group of Citizens to Support the Grosse Pointe Board of Education, I am compelled to write once again to voice ny concerns.

I have two children in the Barnes School district. I am also the Barnes PTO president and a member of the Excess Space Committee. People such as Mr. Callahan (and the Grosse Pointe News) have painted a picture of those opposing the school reorganization plan as hysterical, uncompromising parents, few in number, who do not want any changes. If you do feel this way about us, you are so wrong. We do not oppose change, just unwarranted

We are not just mothers or fathers. We are, in many cases, professionals, lawyers, doctors, teachers and social workers, who care about our children and our community. We are not hysterical and certainly not uninformed. We have our children's best interests at heart and honestly do not feel these changes will improve their education.

I truly resent people who get on the bandwagon during the final stages of a long, tiring process and present themselves as informed citizens. There is a great deal of information out there and it can not be consumed in a few short

Recent studies by the Excess Space Committee and Ellis, Naeyaert, Genheimer, Associates, both viewed Barnes as an excellent facility. Yet the administration has not wavered in its preference to close Barnes and has now followed the suggestions of shared use. Rumor is it will be used as an Instructional Materials Center and a center for the special education teachers. Both of these could be housed in an existing building.

I plead with the board to really consider the purpose of our elementary buildings, to educate elementary children. And I plead with Mr. Callahan's new group to research the data. Barnes is a nice facility and should remain viable for the cities of Grosse Pointe Woods and Shores. I invite Mr. Callahan to tour our facility.

News' views don't reflect public's

To the Editor:

Over the past several months, I have read with considerable concern the editorials which have appeared in the Grosse Pointe News regarding the subject of reorganization of the Grosse Pointe public schools.

Initially, the editorials in support of school reorganization made me question my own feelings of strong opposition to any change in the status quo. I thought, in reading your editorials, that your views reflected the position of the community and I questioned whether there was reason to challenge the proposals.

However, I found that I was wrong to question my initial judgment just as you have found that neither the community nor the school board accepted your judgment.

Your editorial of Oct. 20, aligns your paper firmly behind the latest proposal of the superintendent. I suggest to you that your views on this proposal also do not reflect the views of the vast majority of the community which you represent. I suggest that your analysis of the recommendations of the Citizens' Advisory Steering Committee ignores the concern of that committee that the reorganization proposal receive strong communtiv support and acceptance.

The people of the Grosse

Jogging dogs

To the Editor:

My son was out jogging through Grosse Pointe Shores Sunday evening, Oct. 23 when a large brown dog started chasing after him. M ran the dog after the chase went on for more than a block.

When he got home and told us of the incident, we went back to see if we could find the dog. And we did. It was in front of 29 Hampton. We then went to the Grosse Pointe Shores police station to file a complaint. The Shores police sent a car over to the address and found the dog running loose. The officer stated that the dog belonged to a Circuit Court Judge. The officer talked to the judge and the judge stated that the dog was not vicious but very playful. The officer came back to the station without the dog. The officer suggested that instead of signing a complaint, we should go back and talk to the judge. We declined.

While nothing seriously happened in this incident, the procedure used seems not in the best interest of the jogger but very good for the dog.

We are angered and disappointed. Seems to be very poor police work.

Community doesn't want Barnes closed

To the Editor:

I would first like to compliment the Board of Education and the superintendent on the degree of responsiveness to the community exhibited at the October board meeting at Parcells.

Having so said, however, I must strongly urge the board to reject Supt. Brummel's final recommendation on school closings and every part of this recommendation.

The most impeachable feature is the proposed closing of Barnes School. Without impugning the good faith of the Citizens Advisory Steering Committee, I cannot accept. nor believe that most reflective citizens would accept, the inviolability of its keystone principle that every elemen- it another way, it is simply not

To the Editor:

In the past five months I have attended all of the Board of Education meetings and all of the public hearings concerning school closings and system reorganizations.

The Board of Education and Supt. Kenneth Brummel have been very polite and patient in listening to citizens and parents opposing their views.

tary school must be able to rational to close a school merely because it fails to enjoy the marginal benefits of two sections per grade.
In particular, from everything I have heard about Barnes and from having viewed its outstanding facilities for the first time recently at the community meeting of Oct. 19, a decision to close it based upon present or projected enrollments would be a

Because it is logically relatrare, unresolvable instances ed to the rationale for closing Barnes, I would next address the transfer of a group of Defer students to Trombly. But I still see a value, in- There is, of course, no quarrel with the concern not to close Trombly. But like Barnes, Trombly simply need not be able to support two sections per grade to remain a viable school. Hence, there is no sufficient reason to transfer students to meet this end. Trom-Mr. Mourad denounced the bly's numbers are well above Barnes' and both are ample to support at least single sections for each grade at a class-size level that is not prohibitively

The last main feature of the more afraid this June when his final recommendation involves moving the sixth grade out of the elementary schools into the middle schools. From the Grosse Pointe Park Parcells' meeting the board cannot help but be keenly aware of the grave suspicion, widespread in the community, that this move, whatever its educational raison d'etre, will be used as a later justification for further school closings.

I am open-minded about the possible advantages of a 6-8 middle school. But based upon a member 65 or over are below some of the concerns expressed solely on educational grounds at the Oct. 19 community meeting at Barnes (at which, shamefully, only one board member and no administrative spokesperson appeared), I wonder whether sufficient sounding of knowlwould suggest that to show its include a senior. ood faith on this matter the board should be willing to have further study and input on this issue and vote on it perhaps a year from now.

Best of all, I feel, would be for the board to articulate in some written form the circumstances necessary to resurrect the school closing issue. I propose the following:

 Whenever one or more elementary schools cannot support a single section, perhaps 18 or 20, per grade with a certain minimum number of students (even then, before proposing closings, the magnet school concept and redistricting are two options that should be seriously considered);

· Defeat of a school millage; Significant drop in school population well below present projections for declining enrollments through 1987-88.

I realize that the board should not be able to bind, and probably could not bind, any future board through such pronouncement, but an expression of a present intent along the above lines would go a long way toward making any decision on 6-8 middle schools more palatable. It would also go a long way toward reaching out to the concerns of this community which does not relish having to deal with school closing proposals on an annual basis.

The board must appreciate from the Parcells meeting that feelings run high against Dr. Brummel's final recommendation. It is, of course, perceived as a preliminary step to further closing attempts. I hope the board will not divide this community by voting in favor of the final recommendation. There is no "face saving" that the board need indulge in. It will be respected for its responsiveness if it rejects the final recommendation as well as the two earlier plans.

THINK YOU AND ALLAH SHOULD GET TOGETHER ON THIS. One view from the capitol Insight from the 1980 census

By William R. Bryant, Jr. State Representative

The census data are always fascinating, even if not always all that enlightening. Wayne State has been kind enough to provide some analysis of the 1980 census for the Grosse Pointes. It makes interesting reading, so I thought I'd share some of it with you.

For instance, 2 percent of our Grosse Pointe households are on public assistance, and another 2 percent have income below poverty level. Viewing female heads of household only, a rather alarming 19 percent of them are below poverty level income. Of our seniors, 6 percent of households with poverty level.

Reflecting the sizable senior population, 30 percent of households include someone 65 or over and only 1 percent of those do not receive social security.

Hopefully indicating a sizeable number of extended, multiple generation families, it is interesting to note the senior citizen popuedgeable elements of the lation is 15 percent, while, as I community has been made. I said fully 30 percent of households

A quite large 19 percent of households are 1 person house holds, indicating a real danger of loneliness unless we pay attention to community activities for adult singles.

Surprisingly, only 4 percent of households in the Pointes are a female head of household with children.

Minor children constitute 25 percent of the population. And 87 percent of children live in two parent households, 9 percent in single parent households. The total population of all Pointes in 1980 was 51,989 of which over 1,000 were minority group. In 9 percent of the homes other than English is spoken in the home, 8 percent of the population is foreign born.

Of the total population, 69 percent were born in Michigan and 23 percent are from another part of the Country. In the income and work areas, there are some particularly interesting figures. If you or those outside the area think Grosse Pointe is the man working and the woman at home, think again. For one thing, as we know, even most of the wives who are not employed are heavily engaged in civic and other voluntary duties nearly dai-

But did you realize that 45 per-cent of all Grosse Pointe females who have minor children are in the work force? And that doesn't count some who may be in the armed services.

Those are really amazing figures, I think, for this stable, tra-ditional middle class community. Not surprisingly, farmers constitute zero percent of our population. But 49 percent of those employed are managers or professionals.

Technicians, sales administrative support claims 32 percent of those employed. Service is 8 percent, skilled trades 6 percent and machine operators and laborers 5 percent.

Of the 40,926 total population 16 and over, 24,560 are in the work

Showing the strong tie of the Pointes with downtown Detroit, 45 percent work in the central city. The median household income in 1980 was $33,490. Only 11 percent of those 25 or older have not been graduated from High School. High School percent, 21 percent have some college and 42 percent were graduated from college.

Of school age children in 1980, 76 percent attended public school and 24 percent parochial or private school.

The stability of our neighborhoods shows from the figures that 47 percent of the population have lived at the same address at least 20 years, and 87 percent of the housing is owner occupied.

That we are an older area is shown by the fact 37 percent of our housing is pre-1940, 22 percent built in the 40's and 27 percent in the 50's, so a rather large 86 percent of all housing is pre-1960. Lastly, and no surprise, we have lots of cars. Only 4 percent of households were without a car, 31 percent had one car, 48 percent had two and (lucky teenagers and car buffs) 17 percent had three or more cars.

We are a very interesting community. But we knew that, didn't Speaker for the event will be Dennis Papazian, professor of History at the University of Michigan Dearborn Campus. Papazian studied in the USSR under an official US/USSR exchange program. The lecture is free and adults are welcome.

Dr. Linthicum's church is one of 12 institutions in the Jefferson-Chalmers and Grosse Pointe area which have joined to form "People in Faith United" (PIFU) in order to respond to the human problems and needs in the Jefferson-Chalmers community. In a recent computer ranking of the nation's congressional districts, the 13th Congressional Districts, the 15th Congressional 51strict in Michigan won the dubious distinction of being selected the poorest district in the U.S.

Temporarily on leave from his duties at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, Dr. Linthicum is presently acting as interim director of the People in Faith United Housing Corporation, de-dicated to the transformation of one of the most impoverished, abandoned areas in the U.S., to a supportive, self-determining,

You've probably heard about the sweeping changes taking place in the telephone industry, and maybe you've been wondering just how they'll affect the telephone service in your home or in your business.

As a matter of fact, when you pick up your phone on January 1, you may be very surprised to learn that your service has changed very little. For one thing, you will be able to dial your local and long distance calls exactly as you did before. About the only immediate change will be how your calls are billed. That's where IATAs come in.

LATA is a new word to all of us. It stands for "Local Access Transport Area." In Michigan there will be five LATAs (which happen to closely approximate our Area Codes — see map). For now, the important thing about LATAs is this:

Starting January 1, 1984, whenever you place a local or long distance call within the LATA in which you live, you will be billed for that call by Michigan Bell. When you place a call from your LATA to another LATA in Michigan or elsewhere, you will be billed by another long distance carrier. Some carriers may elect to have Michigan Bell include their charges in the bill Michigan Bell sends you. Others may not, and will bill you directly. We'll be telling you more about IATAs and other calling information as the details unfold.

Is solar heat the answer?

By Jamie Cook

Solar energy as a home fuel energy source can provide longterm savings to homeowners, but heating from the sun has not caught fire among Grosse Point-

Three Grosse Pointe houses are listed with the State Energy Administration as containing solar heating. One home had the system installed two years ago and the owner now has no regrets about investing $12,000 for a somewhat extravagant active system.

An active system consists of a collector, a storage tank, pumps, controls and a heat extraction grate for the fireplace. It can heat part of the home's water and air while a passive system warms only the air by the sun shining through a window and the home retaining the warmth.

Robert Beyer, of Norwood Road, had the system installed by his heating and air conditioning company. After installation, his company placed advertisements in the newspaper for solar heating installation, but prospective customers were turned off by the initial cost. He said operating a system in Grosse Pointe had advantages and drawbacks.

Being in a northern climate, he said, the sun can only heat the air and water a lot when it is clear outside. Even then, another source of fuel must assist.

"When there is a nice, bright sun, you can do good with a system," he said. But even with a bright winter sun, the system needs help with air heating.

"The winter sun is not as good because it is lower in the sky," he

A publication by the Energy Administration called "Solar Home Heating in Michigan" said most active systems in beating. To 75 percent of a home's heating. To build a system providing 100 percent heating would be too expensions.

Ron McGarvey, an official from the Michigan Consolidated Gas Energy Conservation Department, said customers interested in solar heating often look to solar heating as "the answer" to high heating costs instead of merely looking to reducing other fuel costs.

"I would encourage people to use solar heating. We offer to help finance customers to cut gas use,"

McGarvey said.
He added he would rather have customers use solar heating to cut gas use so they will be charged less money for gas use and have a better chance of being able to pay their bill.

Since southern states have a warmer climate and more new home construction, solar heating is more prevalent there. But Michigan still ranks fifth in number of solar heated installations behind California, Florida, Arizona and Colorado. Beyer said he suspects most systems in Michigan are passive. Since Grosse Pointe has so little new home construction Beyer said another reason for few solar homes here is the expense of placing a new system in the old house compared to installing a system while building the house.

"Most houses in Grosse Pointe are not ideally set up to add solar heating," he said.

He said for a passive system someone can pay as little as

"It depends how far you want to go," he said. "There are so many different ways to do it."

Still, Beyer said many positive reasons exist for installing a system here.

The tax credit for installing a system is significant.

For 1983, state law allows a 10 percent credit on the first $10,000 spent and five percent on the next $8,000. The legislation for this cre-dit expires after this year, but new legislation, which has passed through the House of Representatives, has been initiated to extend the credits. It must now pass through the state Senate. Federally, the tax credit is 40 percent on the first $10,000 spent. This law runs to Jan. 1, 1986.

If someone is in a high enough tax bracket, the payback period of eight to 10 years can be cut in half, he said.

Although some people may think adding solar heating to a house is unattractive to the exterior, Beyer's front roof contains window-like collectors enclosed with wooden trim that can be painted the color of the roof. Two vertical pipes also run along the side of the house next to the

"We had to sacrifice some efficiency for appearance" since the front of the house is facing the sun, he said.

If the less visible back roof faced the sun, the collectors could have been raised to directly absorb the sun, he added.

He said people in the country, where there is a lot of space, can place the collectors onto or closer to the ground.

A type of solar heating which is becoming more popular, Beyer said, is for swimming pools, because the only time the heat is needed is during the hot summer.

Solar heaters for swimming pools are the most efficient type of solar heaters in Michigan, he

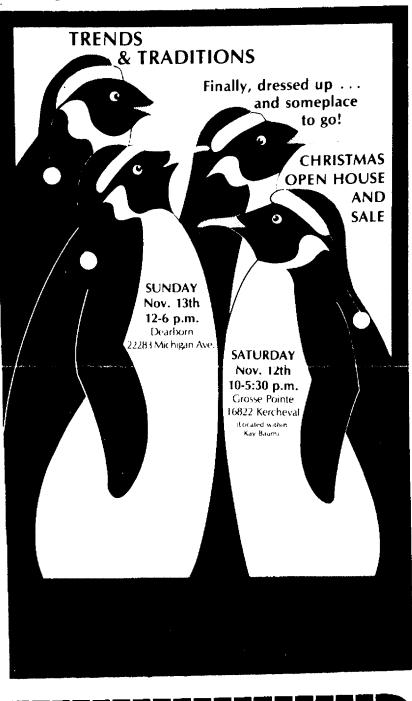

Overall, Beyer said solar energy has not become as popular as he thought a few years ago.

The biggest reasons, he said, are the lack of sun and more efficient gas furnaces, but the number of solar heated "could take off. It depends on what happens with other sources of fuel.

The list included a parking meter, boat trailer, license plate from a police vehicle, snow-mobile, three cats, a Mercedes Benz hood ornament, a political sign, an exit sign from a school, three feet of picket fence, the same book from all Grosse Pointe library branches, a motorized two-wheeled vehicle, a menu from the Pancake House, a "no parking" sign, two square feet of sod from a police station, a Cadillac hubcap, a road barricade and a

Residents join new committees

The Shores recently named residents to the Financial Development and Beautification Advisory committees that were formed in July.

The financial development committee is chaired by Kurt Tech with George Bashara, Thomas Candler, William Dahling, Edward Deeb, Marvyn Gaskin and Peter Bogas serving as members. President pro tem C. Bradford Lundy, Jr. serves as council representative.

The committee allows residents to make tax-deductible contributions to the village in order to build a fund to use for occasional capital improvement programs. The fund would help the village keep down tax rates and stay out of long-term debt obligations, according to village officials.

The committee also gives residents an opportunity to remember the village in wills or trusts for estate plannings.

The Beautification Advisory committee is chaired by Robert

Lovisa and is composed of Ruth Truhol, Joyce Blumenstock, Jane Brock, Daniel Young, Nena Dahling, Ethele Zolad, Pat Nicholl and Marilyn Counen. Trustee Elicated Pat Nicholl and Marilyn Counen. zabeth Kuhlman serves as council representative for the committee.

The committee will assist the administration in improving and maintaining the appearance of the Shores. Anastas added.

The motto of SADD is "Friends don't let friends drive drunk,' Anastas said. "When you drink and drive, you challenge death.
And when you're dead at 17, you are dead at 17.

Anastas provided each student with two pamphlets. The first explained SADD and its goals, which include eliminating the drunk driver and saving lives; alerting high school students to the dangers of drinking and driving; conducting community alcohol awareness programs; and organizing programs to help those who have concerns about alcohol.

The pamphlet also contained the SADD "Contract for Life" that states the teenager will call home if the need arises for safe transportation. The parent agrees to provide that transportation and discuss the situation at a later

The second pamphlet provides three ways to prevent someone from driving while under the influence of alcohol. They are driving your friend home; having your friend spend the night; and calling another friend or a cab.

In closing, Anastas asked how many students recognized the dangers of drinking and driving and if they would help solve the problem. When he asked them to rise if they pledged to do some, the entire audience stood up.

A SADD chapter is being formed at North, sponsored by students and Tom Teetaert, chairman of the physical education department.

School board adds, revises publications

Residents of the Grosse Pointe school district will find that an old friend has taken on a new look when the latest edition of Emphasis" arrives at their homes this week.

The change in the format of "Emphasis" coupled with the pub-lication of the new bi-monthly newsletter "To the Pointe" gives residents more information about their schools and libraries, according to the school board administration.

The new "Emphasis" is a more colorful, down-sized report. Published quarterly, each issue will have a different theme and all the stories, photographs and graphs will be directed to that theme.

The first issue will deal with the school reorganization proposal currently before the Board of Education. In the coming editions, 'Emphasis" will look at guidance and counseling, middle school and summer school programs.

The new community newsletter, "To the Pointe" is designed to give each resident of the district a brief report on events, issues and thinking in the school system, according to the administration. Unlike "Emphasis," the newsletter will give straight coverage of different activities and projects in the schools.

'We feel that these publications better fulfill our pledge to the community that we would keep them better informed about school matters." said Trustee Catherine Brierly. "We expect 'Emphasis' to provide greater coverage of our programs and goals while 'To the Pointe' will help each resident receive news of the school system in a more timely manner.

Questions or comments concerning "Emphasis" or "To the Pointe" should be addressed to Bruce Kefgen at the Office of the Superintendent. The number is 343-2012.

community care."

Community mental health entered a new era in 1963 when President John F. Kennedy sent a message to Congress calling for a 'bold new approach" to the problems of mental illness. Congress responded by passing the Mental Retardation Facilities and Community Mental Health Center Construction Act of 1963 which the President signed into law on Oct. 31, 1963. The law, which authorized federal grants for construction of public or nonprofit community mental health centers, led to the development of more than 700 of these agencies.

In subsequent legislation Congress expanded the federal role from strictly a "bricks and morapproach to facilitating growth of community mental health centers through funds for staffing and other grants for service delivery. The culmination of this legislative approach was the Mental Health Systems Act, passed in 1980 in response to the recommendations of the President's Commission on Mental Health.

"The development of the community mental health system was a major step to remove the mentally ill from the isolation of mere custodial care of earlier decades to a less restrictive, more humane treatment setting," she said. #### Plan one was the board's best

To the Editor:

Having set out upon the stormy seas of reorganization in search of the land where increased quality and decreased expenses dwell, the school board now finds itself captaining the ship entrusted to its care between the Scylla of those who threaten to reject millage proposals if schools are not closed and the Charybdis of those who threaten to do so if they are closed. If either peril proves as formidable in fact as it appears to be at this distance from a millage proposal vote, then the ship is likely to founder. Without rmancing, the quest for quality comes to an abrupt halt and the ship of schools plunges to the bottom of the sea.

The fate of the ship of schools does not affect only board members, it affects every member of the school district. The board's responsibility is to chart a course to safety, but it cannot do so without the cooperation of the community. Compromise is called for, not only on the part of the board as it tries to formulate a plan which is fair and which therefore deserves the support of the community, but also on the part of community members who must acknowledge that they live in a community composed of disparate elements, each as entitled to accommodation of his divergent opinion as the

Those who approve of closing schools either on the assumption that doing so will diminish costs or on the assumption that doing so will advance quality, must be aware that either end can only be effected by exacting considerable sacrifices from redistricted residents. Residents in areas where schools are closed, in addition to being disappointed in their reasonable expectations of school proximity and suffering the dimunition of their property values would, under any except the original plan proposed by Supt. Kenneth Brummel which consolidated adjacent elementary and middle schools, have to provide transportation to the new schools. Thus if any plan other than plan one were implemented redistricted residents would lose, and lose and lose yet again in order to advance the amorphous aim of improving quality and fund the

Those who anticipate that quality would be improved by reorganization ought to be willing to finance the improvement which they believe to be of such great value. If they decline to undertake improvement if they have to pay its true cost, then they can hardly expect others, who prefer the present quality and convenience, to be willing to finance the venture.

Those who want decreased costs of course would desire to ity would benefit if the truth avoid the expense of providing were known for this paranoia transportation. They must un- prevents an honest statement of derstand, however, that redis- the grievance which redistricted individuals do not wish to tricted individuals and those provide transportation either. sympathetic to their plight per-Redistricted residents rightly ceive. expect assistance with the burden of transportation from the system as a whole when they Court, in Milliken v Bradley, have already borne the drastically disproportionate nonshareable burden of losing their neighborhood school.

Board members should acknowledge the debt which the school system would owe to redistricted residents. Board members, although charged with advancing the good of the majority, cannot accomplish that duty by taking advantage of the minority. Even if others were willing to ignore the plight of redistricted persons, the board is precluded from so do-

Those who oppose school closings should acknowledge that sufficient increase in the quality of the education provided and sufficient decrease in the cost of providing it might justify school closings. Redistricted residents should admit that their antagonism to proposed closings is in large measure a result of their belief that they are entitled to educational facilities which are as accessible, as well as excellent, as those which other members of the community enjoy. If Grosse Pointe is to provide a quality educational system without neighborhood schools, then buses are neces-

But providing a school transportation system is a very unpopular proposition, despite the mitigating effects which so doing would have on the inequity which school closings entail. Of course buses are unpopular with those whose conduct is influenced more by their pocketbooks than by their principles, those who would condone any change which would decrease their taxes regardless of the effect of that change on their fellow community members. nell and Parcells, adjacent Also opposed to school system middle schools. This plan did buses are those who resent the allocation of public school monies to providing transportation for private and parochial school students within the district. Even those who would be system transportation because expected to openly advocate no student was redistricted school system buses, those from a school within walking whose schools are proposed to distance to one which would rebe closed and those sympathetic quire transportation. to them whose principles weigh heavier than their pocketbooks, fail to do so. This failure stems directly from concern that intradistrict bussing would constitute the first step down the road leading to cross-district

The board does nothing to dispel this popular paranoia about buses whether because it too suffers under a delusion with respect to the law regarding the circumstances under which a court can order cross-district busing or because the popular misconception runs to the board's advantage when it calculates the costs of reorganization. Either way, the commun-

The United States Supreme

418 U.S. 717, 1974 reversed a Federal District Court deicision which would have compelled Grosse Pointe, and other school districts in the tricounty area, to cross-district busing with Detroit. In doing so the Supreme Court declared: "Before the boundaries of separate and autonomous school districts may be set aside by consolidating the separate units for remedial purposes or by imposing a cross-district remedy it must first be shown that . . . racially discriminatory acts ... have been a substantial cause of interdistrict segregation ... (as) where district lines have been deliberately drawn on the basis of race . . . (W)ithout an interdistrict violation and an interdistrict effect there is no constitutional wrong calling for an inter-district remedy.

That busing could be instituted within the school district without imperiling its autonomy does not make busing an attractive option. It only makes it clear that it is an available option. The fact remains that people prefer neighborhood schools and that they would vastly prefer that their tax dollars be spent to provide a school within walking distance rather than for pay for buses to transport students to non-neighborhood schools. That being so, a reorganization which leaves the schools in the neighborhood is more generally acceptable than one which calls for transportation to another neighborhood. Supt. Brummel's original plan proposed consolidating Defer, Kerby and Mason elementary schools with Pierce, Brownot appreciably upset expectations with respect to school proximity, nor did it affect property values, nor did it give rise to the imperative to provide school

Unfortunately, the plan was premature with respect to the efer-Pierce consolidation, the Defer population being too large allow combination at this time. But Brownell and Parcells would have accomodated Kerby and Mason students, and Defer could have been closed when its population decreased. Those who opposed this plan when it was first suggested should give it consideration now, if the parade of horribles since issued in the name of alternative plans has not already led them to do

Were I at the helm of the ship of schools, a modified plan one is the course I would chart. If such a plan were implemented those who want costs reduced would be satisfied by the good faith effort to do so which the consolidations represent. Those who want improved quality would have the chance to determine whether consolidation really does advance excellence, with the Barnes population serving as a control. Those who want neighborhood schools will have convenient neighborhood schools, albeit different ones than before. Provision of transportation is avoided, with its attendant costs, inconvenience and paranoia. Each segment of the community should be content, for the sake of the school system in which they all profess, and in fact do have, such an overwhelming interest.

The last straw

To the Editor:

Oh where, oh where have you been, Mr. Calahan and others of the Citizens to Support the Grosse Pointe Board of Education group, while all the meetings, research and hard work has been carried on by citizens in Grosse Pointe who are truly interested in quality education?

All of a sudden, as the big day of decision making by the school board rapidly approaches, you come out of the woodwork, armed with "facts" like "... we've lost 45 percent of our students" (at the time that the district's enrollment hovered around 14,000 we were operating at 20 percent above capacity) and " ... the two strong victors in the board election were proponants of school closings." (Vincent LoCicero stated at the Barnes meeting on Nov. 1 that he did not feel his victory mandated school closings or did his platford state such) etc.

Your statement that some persons who support the board are "... afraid to go public" is really the last straw. This is a community of intelligent people who are free to speak up any time they want, for or against an issue. To say otherwise, as you have, is an insult to their intelligence and integrity. The "fact" that you've had zero input, at any public hearing, decide to become the Standard Bearer for the board and manage to become the front page headline of the Grosse Pointe News, all from a position of ignorance of fact and total public involvement, is phenomenal.

Hold off on closing vote

To the Editor:

The Nov. 14 school board meeting is fast approaching. At this meeting the Board of Education is to cast its vote regarding the proposal for school closings.

I have the highest regard for the tremendous investment of time and talent required by members of the school board. Surely they are highly dedicated citizens. This does not prevent me from exercising my right to disagree when I feel they may be misguided on an issue.

Presently only one member of the board has publicly stated that the will of the people dictates that he oppose school closings.

Contrary to the belief that only well-organized and vocal parents oppose school closing, , like many other citizens who do not have children in public school, aslo feel that this action has a negative effect on Grosse Pointe's future schools. Our neighborhood school concept is not to be eliminated when the resulting savings is under 1 percent.

Having lived in many areas of the U.S., I feel that Grosse Pointe is unique in its citizen interest, involvement and commitment to excellence in public education. Surely, we do not have apathy when we feel the future education is threatened. With the fine education my children received in the system, I feel compelled to write this letter and seek to set aside the coming collison of interests if the board accepts Supt. Kenneth Brummel's proposal on Nov. 14.

With emotions running high, a cooling off period is in order. I would hate to see a recall vote and resulting alienation take place with a board which has served so well in the past.

Therefore, I urge that the vote be postponed or rejected until reason reigns over emo-

Let millage vote dictate

To the Editor:

Now that everything has been said, before something is possibly done, let's be clear that whatever way members of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education vote on Nov. 14 pertaining to Barnes School and the fate of sixth graders it will in the current community climate be determined by emotion, by lack of objectivity, and most of all, by board members' collective egos.

The board and superintendent, having read the community wrong on two successive occasions, are still on very shaky ground this third time around. When have any of us been satisfied with a decision that is our third choice?

My strong suggestion for a successful solution to the current dilemma is to put a moratorium on any decision until the next millage election, and let those results dictate future school organization.

Judy Englebrecht Harper Woods

To the Editor: As a junior at South High, I Grosse Pointe City would like to comment on the superb job done on the Homecoming festivities and the involvement of the community in helping out with the students' problems and supporting the Blue Devils to their eighth win in a row and an Eastern Michigan League championship.

The community of Grosse Pointe also makes the homecoming weekend what it is. Alumni of the school come back for the breakfast, football game and dance and the future alumni watch the parade pass on Kercheval.

A special thanks should go to the parents and teachers that helped the students throughout the week putting together floats, hosting pom-pon parties and supervising float parties. Many of these parents stayed up with the students making and fluffing pom-pons until 4 a.m. This was especially true with the parents of the juniors, who kept the construction party going until 3:30 p.m.

The students and alumni of South should be proud of the very successful weekend. The entire community benefits from its success.

Christmas during the Victorian period was a time of great warmth and beauty. Advance preparations were elaborate. Houses were decked with garlands, wreaths and "kissing balls." The spirit and charm of Victorian Christmases Past will come alive in The Pointe a week from tomorrow, Friday, Nov. 18, when the Grosse Pointe Garden Center presents its annual Eska and Raymond Berry Memorial Lecture at 10:30 a.m. in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Auditorium.

Speaker is Sunny O'Neil, nationally known authority on Christmas customs, who has addressed audiences at the Smithsonian Institution and around the country and comes to Grosse Pointe from a recent lecture tour of England

Her Christmas ideas have been featured in Better Homes and Gardens, House and Garden and Woman's Day magazines. The Washington Post and The New York Times have written about her and her work. Her book, "The Gift of Christmas Past," is in its third printing, and is considered the bible of Victorian Christmas decorating for historic houses.

She is the editor of The Flowerletter, a newsletter for those interested in flower arranging and floral arts and crafts. In her richly illustrated slide lecture for the Pointe Garden Center, she will describe Victorian holiday traditions and lore and discuss how to create an authentic American Victorian Christmas with present-day materials.

Sunny's "Gift of Christmas Past" will be available, autographed, for purchase after the lecture, to which admission is $3.50 for the general public, free to Garden Center members. There will also be a Victorian Bazaar of handmade gifts and flowering plants.

As always, the Berry lecture will be immediately followed by a subscription luncheon in the Fries Crystal Ballroom. Reservations, at $6.50 per person, are required for the luncheon. They may be made by calling the Garden Center, 881-4594, any Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

From Another Pointe Of View

This year, the DSL has decided to try something different. Instead of Christmas Walks on successive weekends, in Grosse Pointe and Birmingham-Bloomfield, there'll be one "Walk through the Woods" on Sunday, Dec. 11, from noon to 5 p.m. and Monday, Dec. 12, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in historic Palmer Woods.

Preview participants at the GPYC got a peek at pictures of the six architecturally unique homes to be featured. They got to hear some of the music the League's Choraliers will present during the Monday Walk. They listened to committee reports, and exclaimed over samples of items from the League's Holiday Craft and Music Box Boutiques.

Both boutiques will be setting up "Walk through the Woods" branches. Grosse Pointe's Linda Williamson, Music Box Boutique WTTW chairman, is also making Raggedy Ann and Andy Dolls and Sleepy Santas, by popular demand of last year's DSL Christmas Walk patrons.

Since Linda's gone public at the preview, we feel free to let the cat out of the bag. Or perhaps we should say the Sleepy Santa out of the closet: seems that Mrs. Williamson, having promised her husband to cut down on her activities this year, had been hiding all evidence to the contrary (Anns, Andys and Santas) in the sewing room closet — and praying that Mr. Williamson wouldn't take it into his head to sew on a button when she was not at home!

Advance sale tax deductible tickets for the 1983 Walk, at $6 per person for groups of 10 or more, $7 general admission, may be obtained by contacting members of a committee headed by Jean Halat, East Side ticket and Member ticket chairman, at 886-0098, 822-1257 or 881-4838. Tickets will be $8 at the door on Walk days.

A Thanksgiving Tradition

On Thanksgiving Eve, Nov. 23, at 6 p.m., alumni and active members of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity will gather at the Detroit Club for their 111th annual banquet. This Omicron Literary Association (University of Michigan Deke Alumni Corporation) stag dinner has been a revered tradition since the organization was founded to build the fraternity's mysterious temple, or "Shant," at the Ann Arbor campus in 1873.

Detroit Club Maitre d' Calvin Young promises a splendid traditional repast of hearty roast beef and many accompaniments. International Deke President George Payne will be on hand to address the audience. Remarks drafted by Grosse Pointer R.T. Johnstone will be delivered to the assembly.

As always, the evening will be marked by singing, rounds of toasts and clouds of post-prandial cigar smoke. Active and alumni members of all Deke chapters are welcome at the black tie optional feast. Undergraduates are admitted free; tariff for alumni is $35. Details and reservations may be obtained from Dave Easlick, 646-7555 (days), 343-9123 (after 6 p.m.).

Both the undergraduate and alumni ranks of the fraternity are liberally sprinkled with sons of Grosse Pointe. Undergraduates include U. of M. Chapter President John Hurley, Treasurer Matt Howell, Secretary Mike Buhler, Social Chairman George McKean, Steward Dick Roland and House Manager Rob Kost.

Alumni officers include President David K. Easlick Jr. and board members Marco Garavaglia, John Lambrecht and Ray Ploughman. Richard Kost and R.T. Johnstone, Fraternity Foundation trustees, are also Pointers, as is Martin Oetting, a Gilchrist Loan trustee.

In addition to actives from the Ann Arbor campus, George H. Zinn III, a new member from Bowdoin, will join proud father George H. Zinn Jr. at the banquet table. A crowd of nearly 100 is anticipated.

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, SWEET POTATO TREATS.

Sweet potatoes and yams are members of the Morning Glory Family. The yam is actually grown only in The Tropics, but common use has made its meaning interchangeable with that of the sweet potato, which is believed to have originated in the tropics of South America. For best nutritive value, sweet potatoes should be boiled or baked with the skins on, then thinly peeled and prepared as desired.

Calories: One baked, average -161. Canned, one cup — 216.
Nutrients: Carbohydrate, Vitamin A, B-complex, sodium, potassium, calcium, iron, copper. Suggested Seasonings: Marjoram, mint, nutmeg, cinnamon, ginger, sesame seeds, citrus peel, nuts, citrus juices, brown sugar.

APRICOT SWEET POTATOES

2 lbs. sweet potatoes 1/2 lb. dried apricots

Water 34 cup brown sugar 3 Tbsp. margarine 1 tsp. grated orange peel

Drain well, reserving 14 cup liquid. Layer sweet potatoes and apricots into 10x6x2-inch baking dish, sprinkling each layer of apricots with brown sugar. Mix the reserved apricot liquid, margarine and orange peel and pour over pota-toes. Bake at 375° for 45 minutes, basting two or three times with liquid in baking dish. Sprinkle with nuts and bake 5 minutes longer. Makes 8 servings.

Bits and pieces . . .

- A kid who showed up for South varsity hockey tryouts at the Grosse Pointe Community Rink last week is a dead ringer for Denis Potvin, All-Star defenseman for the Stanley Cup champion New York Islanders. South coach Tim Zimmerman wouldn't mind it a bit if the kid played like the high school version of Potvin.
- I can hardly wait for the first North-South varsity hockey game.

Speaking of North versus South . . .

- Why can't every game on the North and South football schedules be as exciting as the annual North-South matchup even when the game ends up with a lopsided score, like last week? (Probably because North and South are worlds better than teams like Anchor Bay and Roseville Brablec, two of the Norsemen and Blue Devils' less-than-memorable opponents of recent seasons.)
  - I missed Paul Hawk and Fred Schultz.
- I like how the North and South bands play together at half-time of the big rivalry game.
- South won the half-time tug-of-war, too. (Even the North tug-of-war participant with the green face couldn't do much against South.)
- Last Saturday's win over the Norsemen was Russ Hepner's 100th coaching victory at South.
- It was still a good football game; even with a 23-point difference.
- How about Friday night football in Grosse Pointe? North coach Frank Sumbera wouldn't mind it. And why not? University Liggett School plays its home games on Friday afternoons and many local teams play Friday night football. It's conducive to drawing better crowds, Sumbera says, since most local football fans like their high school football on Friday, college games on Saturday and pro fare

The only problem, of course, is money — for lights. And money for football lights is not exactly numero uno on the schools' list of expenditures, if you catch my drift. But picture this: North vs. South under the lights with 5,000 people in attendance. A little chilly, night football in November, but a classy setting for a great traditional rivalry, don't you think?

- One thing they should do with the computerized state high school football playoff ranking system: change it. Lots of times, 8-1 teams make it into the playoffs ahead of teams with better records, just because they finish on top of a geographic region (which might contain a group of weaker teams). Add that to the mess that is the rule covering forfeiture, which North found out, does not cover situations concerning bonus points awarded in case of forfeiture and you've got more than one inequity in the playoff sy-
- Don't look now, but boys' varsity basketball season is just around the corner.
- My biggest surprise: the impressive operations of Grosse Pointe's grade school sports programs. I'm always amazed at the way these fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth graders handle themselves in competition. St. Paul, St. Clare, Star of the Sea, Parcells, Pierce and Brownell schools always seem to field very competitive teams in every sport.

Maybe that's why coaches like Sumbera and South's girls' basketball coach Al Devine were so happy with their freshman teams this season.

- St. Clare, by the way, is even better than I thought. In the Nov. 3 column. I gave the Falcons' five-year volleyball record. Coach Larry Hines did a little research and found out that from 1973 to the present, St. Clare volleyball squads have racked up a won-loss mark of 245-23. Amazing.
- I don't know if anybody else cares, but I'm glad that Grosse Pointe Cable TV is part of the cable TV package which will carry University of Detroit basketball games this winter, according to the university. (And I'm not just saying that because I'm an alumna who still owes the university money, or anything like that.) U of D has been picked to finish near the top of its Midwestern City Conference and Titan basketball might just be the best sport on local television this season.
- Frank Sumbera take heart: only 150 days until North's varsity baseball season opens.

On to the playoffs

South's drive to start the second quarter failed and the Blue Devils punted. North's Tim Monahan grabbed the ball at his own 45, made a great move to the sideline and scampered 55 yards for the touchdown. The extra point was no good and South still led, 7-6.

The Blue Devils failed to take advantage of several scoring chances in the second quarters most notably when South recovered a George Kasza fumble. South couldn't move the ball and Rathsburg punted the Devils out of trouble, with Jim Corbett downing the ball at the North 5. On third down and eight from the 5. South's defense pounced on North quarterback Chris Bingaman for the two-point safety to give South

North threatened just before halftime when Kasza got 13 yards on a draw play in a third and 14 situation. North coach Frank Sumbera decided to go for the first down on fourth down, but the handoff to Wheatley didn't get the first down yardage.

South broke the game open in the third quarter when Rathsburg hit split end Jim Arnold with a 57-yard halfback option play. Arnold just beat Norseman Brent Roose to the pass. Graham's kick gave South a 16-6 lead with 4:59 left in the quarter.

Quarterback John Williamson was successful with his handoffs to Waugaman and McDonald, especially to start the fourth quarter. Then, on a third down and 19 pass to Arnold, North's Joe Weidrive from the Blue Devil 30 that denbach wrapped himself all over Arnold and was called for interference. With a first and goal at the 14, McDonald took the ball, squirmed through the defense and gave South a 22-6 advantage.

Several of North quarterback Bingaman's passes were in and out of the hands of his receivers, frustrating North's attempts to get back into the game. South's Steve Reynolds added to that frustration when he blew through the offense and sacked Bingaman.

North 19 and on fourth down and 2, Williamson hit Arnold who fell into the endzone for the Blue Devil's final score.

"I think that halfback pass from Rathsburg to Arnold was definitely a turning point. Up until then, I felt we had had opportunities to move ahead further than 9-6," Hepner said.

North's Frank Sumbera had to substitute for fullback Fred Schultz and tailback Cedric Patmon; that, plus effects of North's struggle with the state athletic commission, aided the Norsemen's downfall.

"We played pretty well. South is just a very good team. With our injury problems, we just couldn't overcome them to match as good a team as South," Sumbera said. Senior halfback McDonald has played well filling in for injured fullback Paul Hawk. And that's something South's Hepner hopes he'll continue to do, in South's quest to remain in the playoff picture.

varsity soccer team completed a fantastic season by defeating Richland Gull Lake, 3-2, in the state championship Class B-C finals in Flint Nov. 5. The win gave the Knights an unprecedented second consecutive state championship, accomplished in the larger school bracket!

The tempo of the game was set early as ULS' Rick Roberts took a pass from Johannes Homan and scored just minutes into play. Gull Lake came back four minutes later with a beautiful goal by all-stater Chris Keenan. The Knights then pressed the attack, domi-nating the midfield and creating schools continue to participate in numerous scoring opportunities. With four minutes to go in the half, fullback Kirk Haggarty scored his first goal of the season and gave ULS a 2-1 halftime lead. Although the Knights were only able to score twice, the team controlled the game with 18 shots on goal and eight corner kicks.

In the second half, after a scoreless 15 minutes, Homan again slipped a pass to Roberts who scored Liggett's third goal. The cushion did not last for long. Just two minutes later, Keenan retaliated with Gull Lake's second goal. Moments later the lead and the ARNOLD INTERCEPTED a game appeared to be in serious Bingaman pass and South had the jeopardy, when Roberts was given ball, first and 10 on the south had the property of the Three consecutive rushes by game for rough play, forcing his McDonald brought the ball to the removal from the game. Goalie Jeff Lucas, fullbacks Haggarty, Dan Bowen, Jamie McMillan, Harold Colby and Steve Vreeken, midfielders Rob Healy, Rob Wood and Walter Connolly, and forward Homan, refused to crack and the minutes ran out. ULS clinched its second state title in as many vears.

Knights could only field 10 players

The state tournament began Oct. 15 with 30 schools in the B-C class. ULS defeated Lutheran North, 2-1, Royal Oak Shrine, 4-0, Bishop Foley, 2-1 in overtime, Detroit Country Day School, 1-0, and Okemos, 5-4, in overtime. ULS finished with a 14-2-2 record.

Knights' coach David Backhurst remarked, "This team had some-thing very special. Call it heart, desire, will, tenacity - they had it! There were no superstars. It was truly a team effort. In the sense that it was totally unexpected at the beginning of the season, this Rick Roberts ended the season as the team's top scorer with 22 goals and 12 assists.

Although only 10 Michigan schools continue to participate in the very popular team sport of field hockey, it is a very demanding, highly skilled game that is played throughout the United States at the secondary, college and club level with state and national tournaments finalizing the season.

The University Liggett School varsity field hockey team completed the 1983 season at 8-3-1. Play was against the nine Michigan league schools and three Ohio schools.\

ULS captured the league championship for the 10th straight year. The success of the ULS team was due to the unified skilled teamwork of Amy Rasimas, co captain, Katie Thibodeau 2 co-captain, Amy Ottaway, Nancy Georgi, Lisa Van Dellen, Andra Hirt, Marge Barron, Suzy Thibodeau, Angela Navarro, Susan Edwards, Mary Hoyos, Anne Ciaffone, Barry Hamilton, Debby Lubera, Hamilton, Debby Lubera, Michelle Stief and Ruth McCrary. At 3:30 p.m., the championship game, consisting of two 15-minute periods, was played between ULS and the Academy of the Sacred Heart. At the conclusion of regular play and at the end of a five-minute overtime, the score was 0-0. The teams then went into a stroke-off. Five girls were selected by each coach to shoot on the opposing goalie. Each team had alternate players step for-ward. Nancy Georgi of ULS scored first, followed by a score by ASH. With the score tied, the last stroker, a ULS player, Amy Rasimas stepped forward with tension at its highest peak.
