Panic attack a physical fact, studies show

By Harriet Nolan

Do you ever feel pressure or pain in your chest and Mr. T isn't standing on it; get numb or ting-ling when the love of your life is nowhere around; break out in a sweat without jogging around the block? Then you could be experiencing a panic attack.

'A panic attack is a feeling or state of discomfort, nervousness or tension that usually lasts 30 minutes," says John Rainey Jr., M.D. Ph.D. of Grosse Pointe Park. "As the attack gets more severe, it begins to be accompanied by physical symptoms that could include feelings of dizziness, choking, smothering, losing con-trol, going crazy or even dying.

"A person may also experience hot and cold flashes, feel his body isn't right, or like he's sitting outside himself," adds Rainey.

Rainey, who is assistant pro-fessor of psychiatry at Wayne State University's Medical School and co-director of the Anxiety Disorders Research Program at Lafayette Clinic, estimates that five percent of the population suffers from panic disorders. And that one-third to one-half are prime candidates to develop accompanning Phobias such as agoraphobia, which is the fear of going out and being in crowds and

He notes that people get into trouble when they attempt to treat the panic attack based on pinpointing a change in their lifestyle, such as the loss of a spouse, an operation, illness or problem at work. When it's a physical problem that usually returns only to have the people try harder to control it with will-power.

"Trying to get control of an at-tack is like having an open gas pipe in a burning building," says Rainey. "Until you eliminate it, it's hard to put out the fire. Medical treatment is very effective."

Studies show that scientists dealt briefly with treating panic attacks as a medical illness rather than a psychological problem related to stress during the 1930s.

Then scientists discovered that giving Adrenalin intravenously to patients who suffered panic attacks and to those that didn't produced symptoms of panic only in the patients who had a history of attacks and not in the oth-ers, according to Rainey.

Those findings were not pursued at that time because scientists were trying to develop a model for anxiety and didn't realize they had instead a model for panic attacks, says Rainey. So they ignored the results and continued to treat it as a continuous psychological disorder.

"Since 1980 studies have begun to show there are specific disorders associated with panic attacks and that it can be inherited making children of two-parent panic suffers expecially vulnerable," says Rainey. "It also occurs in three women to every two men."

Renovation blends old with new

By Mike Andrzejczyk You wouldn't recognize the place if you saw it today, Albert. Then again, you just might.

Contractors working on the Al-bert Kahn-designed Shores municipal offices have tried to match the color and design of the original 67-year-old building. They've use the gone so far as to type of copper gutters, roofing tiles and roof support beams in the addition as in the original building, village officials said. And, although it may not look like it, amid the scaffolding and clutter, the renovation of the building is on schedule, officials said. Municipal workers should be ready to move back into the building around the first week of April. What workers will return to is two floors of modern office space with additional public safety offices and work space. The first floor of the building, with its new side entrance on the north side of the building, will include new pub-

Three trustees recall targets

By Susan McDonald

The committee formed to recall school board members who voted to close Barnes school has dropped Joan Hanpeter, Vincent LoCicero and Dorothy Kennel from its hit list and decided to target just three trustees - Jon Gandelot, Ernest Buechler and Catherine Brierly.

Committee chairman David Easlick, Jr., said his group plans to begin its campaign against three board members this week by filing a petition question with county election officials. All six of the trustees voted last week to close Barnes School and move all sixth graders into middle school. Roger Mourad was the lone dissenter.

Mrs. Hanpeter, board president, was dropped from the list because she earlier announced she'll retire at the end of her third term this June, Easlick said. Lo-Cicero and Mrs. Kennel were dropped because they're not eligi-ble for recall under statute until Jan. 11, when they will have served six months in office, Easlick said.

But Gandelot took a different view of the committee's selection of recall targets. He pointed out that the signature-gathering process necessary to put the issue on ll_undoubtedly the hallot wi pass the Jan. 11 date. And he ac-cused the committee of trying to turn the issue into a "popularity contest" by dividing the board.

Jon Gandelot (top), Ernest Buechler, and Catherine Brierly (not pictured) will be targets for a recall campaign by a group opposing the closing of Barnes School

If this sort of thing keeps up, the next thing you know, Gor-die Howe will probably retire. Grosse Pointe merchants have gotten together with the Free Press to kick off the Ohristmas season in a big way with their "Get to the Pointes' campaign set to run from Thursday, Dec. 8 through Sat-urday, Dec. 10.

Shoppers will enjoy free parking, Dickens characters on the streets, shuttle service to and from the Hill, Village, Park and Mack Avenue, plus some lucky shopper will win a $1,000 shopping spree, according to project co-ordinator Kim Tom-

There'll also be an assortment of area service organizations such as FLEC, Kiwanis and Lions Club offering popcorn, hot cider and donuts and coloring books for the kids at street side booths. Some area stores will also showcase musical talent with offerings of string quartets and opera singers.

Incidentially, just to make sure the drawing for the $1,000 gift certificate is on the up and up. Santa himself will draw the winner in the D'Hondt Court, behind Jacobson's, at noon on Saturday.

Recount called for in Woods

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The Wayne County Board of Canvassers last Thursday authorized the first recount in election history in Grosse Pointe Woods.

Acting on the request of former councilman William Wilson, who fell four votes short of retaining his council seat, the Board of Canvassers set Monday, Dec. 5 as of canvassers, county officials the date to conduct the recount.

In the Nov. 8 tabulation, Wilson placed fourth in the best of three race for the council seats. He garnered 1,127 votes to 1,131 for Ted Bidigare, the third-place finisher.

The recount, one of four approved by the board of canvassers, is not aimed at getting anyone on the council, Wilson said. It was to clear up possible mistakes made in the tabulation of absentee ballots, which were of the punchcard type, used for the first time this year in the Woods, he added.

THE MACHINES that record the absentee ballots can sometimes miscount a ballot if it is not aligned properly in the machine, Wilson said. In addition, if the punch-card tab is not removed completely from the ballot, the machine may not record the vote, he said.

Wilson conceded his campaigning may have had some effect on the outcome. He noted his low-key campaign tactics were in sharp contrast to those of other candidates' campaigns which in one case included two direct mailings as well as a number of newspaper advertisements.

Wilson filed his recount request Monday, Nov. 7, with the county clerk's elections division. As with requests from Ecorse, Garden City and Lincoln Park, the letters were forwarded to the county corporation counsel and then to the board said.

COUNTY WORKERS will come to the city on Dec. 5 to retabulate the totals from the back of the voting machines and recount the absentee ballots.

The purpose of the recount is to correct any errors in the original tabulation or to substantiate those findings, county officials said. Results of the recount can be challenged in Circuit Court, they added

Several marching bands, clowns, floats and groups from all around Grosse Pointe will line up to parade Santa Claus into town tomorrow, Friday, Nov. 25, beginning at 10:30 a.m. in front of South High School on Fisher Road. The parade will proceed down Kercheval Avenue through the Village in Grosse Pointe City. The event is sponsored by the Village Merchants Association.

Gandelot said he's ready to fight the recall. "As I've said before, I must represent all of the people who voted me into office," Gandelot said."Dave Easlick didn't elect me. He's never voted in a school board election, or a millage elec-

When asked about his voting record, Easlick said he can't remember if he has voted in school board elections and added, "why don't you write that Jon Gandelot missed three school board meetings because he was at University of Michigan football games?'

Mrs. Kennel, although not a recall target, said she'll "fight it every inch of the way.

"We have been willing to compromise on this," she said, in reference to the fact that the board earlier rejected proposals to close four schools after parents protested.

"I don't understand why they're picking on just three of us. If those three did something wrong, then all six of us are guilty of the same thing.

Easlick's Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools -Recall must first get approval of its petition language from the Wayne County Election Commission. Then separate petitions for each board member to be recalled must be circulated and signed by about 6,700 registered voters in a 90-day period. The election commission and local city halls would then verify signatures, a two-week process, according to an election worker. After that, the county clerk would have 60 days in which to schedule a special election. A simply majority is needed to recall the trustees.

If they are recalled, the remaining board members will appoint citizens to fill the vacancies until the annual election in June. Since the committee is not trying to recall a majority of the board, it will not be necessary for the Governor to make interim appointments if it is successful.

Easlick said his recall committee is the "loose alliance of thousands of Grosse Pointers" who were involved in the Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools. Bill and Judy Brownscombe, who headed that group, are not officers in the recall committee, although Brownscombe said he will work on the campaign to remove trustees.

Easlick, in a press release, challenged the school board to make the recall contest a referendum on the issue of school closings. When asked why the group isn't collecting signatures to force a referendum on the issue, which is also its right, Easlick responded that a referendum would not be binding. 'This is a much cleaner choice and represents a direct and final referendum on the issue," he said.

A citizen group called CARE (Citizens Against the Recall Effort) also plans to enter the recall fray, according to its leader Henry Clay, of the Farms. Clay, administrative partner in the law firm of Dykema, Gossett, Spencer, Goodnow and Trigg, was a member of the board of education in his former home in southeastern Pennsylvania when the school system decided to close several schools because of enrollment declines similar to Grosse Pointe's.

"My former community, which measures up in every way to Grosse Pointe, went through the same process we're facing here. We lost 50 percent of our students and ended up closing several schools. The quality of education there did not decrease ... and there were significant savings.'

Clay said his group is planning a campaign to urge people not to sign recall petitions if they are circulated by the Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools — Řecall.

The renovation of the historic building was the least expensive of a number of options, including the construction of a new building and the splitting of office space between the Vernier School and the Village Hall.

Public safety facility changes include improvements in the am-bulance and fire truck garages to increase working space, village superintendent Michael Kenyon said. Also, the village will add a state-approved lock-up, office space for detectives and interrogation rooms.

The trustees voted Nov. 14 to close Barnes Elementary School, on Morningside Drive in the Woods, in the fall of 1984 because of the severe drop in enrollment the school system has experienced in the last decade. The number of students attending the 15 public schools has declined from about 13,500 in 1971 to about 7,500 this year and is projected to decline to 6,287 in 1986. Board members have argued that educational pro-grams will be improved if schools are consolidated and that overhead costs will also decline.

Parents and others opposing the closing of Barnes, which has enrollment of 191 this year, say it will depress real estate values in the area, inconvenience students with longer walking distances and destroy the neighborhood elemen-

"All the medication can do is stop the attacks, if you want to get it under control you have to treat the problem on a daily basis, adjusting the medicine periodically," he adds.

It can take up to a year and in some cases even longer for the family and patient to get their lives untangled so they can feel better and get more out of psychological counseling says Rainey.

The diagnostic criteria for panic attacks would be to experience at least four of the 11 mentioned symptoms three times during a three-week period or six times during a six-week period, accord-ing to Rainey. These symptoms could occur all in one day or as a cumulative total during that period. For more information call Lafayette Clinic at 256-9814.

Noted authors come to town

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Looking for something to do on those long November evenings when it's too cold or late to go out? Try buying a book, something only 2 percent of the population did last year, publishing house representatives said.

Four authors of recently published works came to the War Memorial Nov. 9 for the second annual Book and Author Luncheon to talk about their research and writing and, yes, to sell books.

Featured were Hillel Levin, author of "Grand Delusions; The Cosmic Career of John DeLorean," Willie Morris, author of "The Courting of Marcus Dupree," Pamela Kaufman, author of "Shield of Three Lions" and Ronna Romney, "Giving Time a Chance; The Secret of a Lasting Marriage.''

. Levin, former editor at Monthly Detroit, first met DeLorean in 1979 while doing a free-lance article about the man, he said. The article was never published, something Levin said he was not sorry about, since it seemed to be another piece of the DeLorean mystique.

In 1981, Levin, then senior editor at Monthly Detroit, published a piece titled "John DeLorean; The Öther Side of the Myth.

The article looked at DeLorean's personal finances and business dealings, Levin said. It pieced together a paper trail of business failures, law suits and horror stories from partners and investors with DeLorean.

· The story about DeLorean was never picked up by the local media, something Levin bemoaned. "It really took him being caught with $20 million in cocaine in December 1982 before anyone picked ' he said. "His understandit up.' ing of image was so important to his business and personal life. No one ever looked behind the fas- one of the cultural links between cade."

"Grand Delusions" traces Delorean's life from a tough Detroit neighborhood to the creation of the DeLorean Motor Company, a true Horatio Alger story, Levin said. What emerges is a pattern of good ideas gone sour, a less than ethical streak in business and associations with less than reputable people, Levin said.

The book explores DeLorean's association with General Motors and his contributions to the development of the youth-oriented "muscle cars" of the 1960s. His flamboyant life-style and image was codified when he wrote "On A Clear Day You can See General Motors," a book that blew the whistle on the board rooms of the nation's biggest car maker, Levin said.

The book, called a definitive biography of DeLorean and published by the Viking Press, is priced at $15.95.

"The Courting of Marcus Du-pree" is more than a biography about one of the most exciting running backs in college football and more than a story about football, author Morris said.

The book is both a tragedy and celebration, according to Morris, former editor for Harper's Magazine. "This is more than a book about football and more than a book about the South. It's about changes, women, whiskey, cheerleaders, the whole phenomenon of adolescence," he said. "In the South, football is looked at as an act of religiosity. The book is about so many of the extravagances of American society.'

It's also a bit of a going home story, Morris said. As a native Southerner himself, Morris pointed out that Truman Capote once said "All Southerners eventually go home, even if it's in a box." The same love of the land is just the author, a middle-aged white, and a teenage black, Morris said. Finally, the book is a chronicle of Dupree as a metaphor for the new South whose success on the field helped draw a racially divided town together, Morris said. The book, published by Doubleday, is priced at $15.95. "Giving Time a Chance" was co-authored by Mrs. Romney, daughter-in-law of former American Motors Co. president and Michigan Governor George Romney. A Bloomfield Hills resident, Mrs. Romney has been married for 16 years and is the mother of five children.

Mrs. Romney and co-author Beppie Harrison interviewed 250 couples for their book. Three things they found most common among those they interviewed was love and a commitment to marriage as well as humor, she said.

There were only two criteria used by the authors in the couples they selected, Mrs. Romney said. They had to be married at least five years and be happy, although those interviewed averaged about 15 years of marriage.

The idea of the book, described as one of good news and seriousness of purpose, is that marriage has to be worked at, Mrs. Romney said. It is also the ability to get past the "white horse" myth and move on to daily living, she said. "One thing we asked was, "When did you know the honey-moon was over?" " Mrs. Romney said. "One woman we interviewed said, 'It was my wedding night. We were honeymooning in the Carribbean and the band was playing below and the gentle breeze was wafting through the window and we made love again and again. It was wonderful. I got up to go to the bathroom and fell in. He had left the seat up.'

Grosse Pointe Woods Mayor and Michigan Municipal League President George Freeman commended the state Legislature for passing legislation that requires the state to pay interest to local governments if state revenue sharing payments are ever de-layed in the future.

Freeman also praised the work of three legislators who were the sponsors of the three-bill package, Rep. Vincent Porreco of Trenton, Rep. James Docherty of Port Huron and Rep. Lloyd Weeks of

One of the outgrowths of the delays was a change in the way the state shared revenues from sales, income and single business taxes were used by the cities. The Woods cut its state shared monies out of its general fund, using it instead of fund capital improvement programs.

The MML said the payments deferred had been made as of the end of September, the end of the state's fiscal year. The state's im-proved cash flow because of the 38 percent increase in income taxes and the improving business climate and economy were cited by the League as contributing to the timely payments.

The legislation, which passed the House and Senate last week, was expected to be signed by Gov. Blanchard. Blanchard voiced his support of the legislation last September at the annual MML meeting in Grand Rapids, the League said.

Blanchard also told village and municipal officials that he never intends to again order the delay of the payments now the that state is overcoming its cash-flow problems, the League added.

"I hope that local governments will never again face the payment delays they had to live with dur-ing the past two or three years," Freeman said. "However, if the national economy again plunges the state into another recession and payment delays become unavoidable, at least there will be a statutory procedure for delays and the state will have to pay interest when it borrows local gov-ernment monies through payment delays in the future."

Cities share plans for Mack Avenue

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Mack merchants from the Pointes and Detroit spent last Wednesday evening at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club grilling munici-pal and county officials about their plans for Mack.

The Hunt Club was the site of the annual meeting of the Grosse Pointe Business and Professional Association of Mack Avenue. After electing officers, approving minutes and talking briefly about upcoming programs, the merchants settled in for presentations by representatives from the Woods, Farms, City, Park, Wayne County government and the county road commission.

And, although sparks flew between representatives of the road commission and County Executive William Lucas, there were no great surprises for the evening.

While deputy executive Frank Wilkerson reiterated Lucas' wish to bring the road commission into the fold of county government, traffic and maintenance engineers John Kinville and Gerald Dresselhouse from the road commission pointed out that drops in revenue from state gasoline and weight taxes had forced the road commission to cut services.

One of the first things to go when money got tight was "aesthetics," Kinville said. While mowing once a week would keep lawns in the medians looking good, the county would go broke doing it, he said.

For the best possible maintenance of medians, businessmen can either do it themselves or ask the city, Kinville said. A number of cities have negotiated equitable

St. John will end First Fund on Nov. 29

When St. John ends the community portion of its First Fund $6 million fund-raising campaign next week, it will mark a couple of firsts for the hospital.

This is the first time the hospital has gone to the public for vo-luntary funds. It's also the first time the hospital has hired a public relations firm to help it coordinate a program, First Fund chairman Sharon Burke said.

The campaign has already gone over the $4.5 million mark, Mrs. Burke said, adding the pledges came from the hospital's medical staff and auxiliaries. The monthlong public drive should easily net the rest of the funds, which the hospital hopes will supplement its $111 million bond issue.

Mrs. Burke said she was "very encouraged by the amount of support we are receiving. We're over $4.5 million so far and the campaign seems to be going very well."

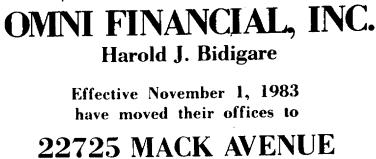

The hospital hired a public relations firm to help them plan the event, Mrs. Burke said. While auxiliaries have held fund-raisers, the hospital itself had never gone to the public for voluntary funds, she said, adding St. John was one of the few hospitals that didn't regularly go out for public contributions

Mrs. Burke, of the Farms, has been active in voluntary organizations with the hospital for a number of years. One of the functions

she has helped put together is the White Christmas Ball, she said.

While fund-raising isn't as hard as she thought it might be, Mrs. Burke credits the work of vicechairmen for the event in making things work smoothly. Vice-chairmen include Frederick Cody, Alfred Fisher, Jr., Vernon Glendening and Mrs. Emmet Tracy. Senior division chairmen are W. Peter McCabe, M.D., medical staff; James Dingeman, trustees; James Flanegin, employes; and Edmund Brady, Jr., community.

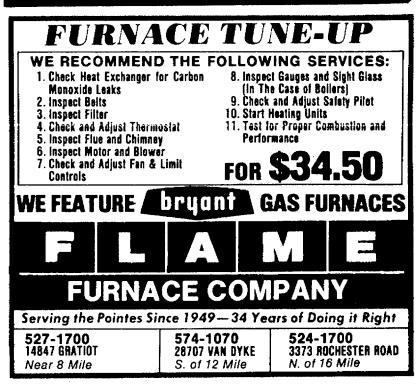

To contribute, money can be sent to the First Fund Development Office, St. John Hospital, 22101 Moross, Detroit 48236, Mrs. Burke said.

Difficult, but necessary

Now that the Board of Education has voted be a small price to pay for a stronger school by a 6 to 1 margin in favor of closing Barnes system." elementary school and moving sixth graders into the middle schools in 1984, the opponents of any school reorganization have announced that they still plan to go ahead with a recall against three members of the board. Under the state Constitution, they have a right to do so, of course, although this newspaper does not agree with their proposal.

It is disappointing that these foes, after asking the board for more time for community input and getting it, now take the position that there should be no reorganization. It makes one wonder whether they would ever agree to reorganization, even if enrollment in a specific school should drop below 100, which would be a possibility if the decline continues as forecast. The Barnes enrollment this fall, incidentally, is 191 compared with 488 at its 1971 peak.

ON THE POSITIVE side, the board last week distributed to all homes in the district a quarterly report outlining the final reorganization recommendations, providing background information on the reorganization, and offering answers to questions raised about the plans considered. It is disappointing that the foes ap-parently did not read or pay much attention to the report and especially to the repetition of Supt. Kenneth Brummel's comment at the Oct. 10 board meeting:

"Let us again realize that no plan can satisfy all parts of the district or these citizens living in areas which would be affected by reorgani-zation. To change the status quo of any com-munity's school is a difficult task no matter how sensitive we are or how cautiously we proceed. But we must also realize that if that ad-

In a press release from the recall committee, the group said it would target Catherine Brierly, Ernest Buechler and Jon Gandelot for re-call. It added that it would not seek the recall of the two members elected last June, Vincent LoCicero and Dorothy Kennel, because they are exempt by law from recall until they have served six months. But that explanation may not tell the whole story.

The fact is that the recall is unlikely to be implemented before the six-month period of service for Ms. Kennel and LoCicero has passed because of the complexity of getting the issue on the ballot. The county elections com-mission first must approve the petition language and then the committee will have 90 days to collect the approximately 6,700 signa-tures needed on the recall petitions. There then must be additional time for local community verification of the signatures before the election can even be set.

Thus it is highly doubtful that the election could be held before the expiration of the sixmonth period of service in January. But it may well be that the recall supporters prefer to seek the removal of three board members who have not been in the public eye as much as Ms. Kennel and LoCicero who ran for school board last June and publicly favored reorganization at the time.

WHATEVER THE motives of the foes, it is encouraging that the recall committee now says it "challenges the school board to make the recall campaign a referendum on the is-sues, rather than a personality contest or a mudslinging event." That would be a change from some of the comments expressed in rejustment leads to a better school system as we know it will, the hours and months of toil will editor by reorganization foes.

Cahallan: We all have a stake in system

To the Editor:

Having received a couple of brickbats in recent issues of the Grosse Pointe News, I feel compelled to write you in order to make a couple of points.

First of all, contrary to a couple of reports that were verbally given to the News, our two children did attend Grosse Pointe schools and did graduate from North a couple of years ago. Also, I am in-deed the Editor of Automotive Industries, not its "Detroit Editor."

Jim Okonoski, in his rather rude letter, makes a couple of charges that can't be supported. But, surprisingly, he also asks a good question — where was I and the Citizens to Support the Grosse Pointe Board of Education during the past months of this controversy.

Well, I guess we were being lethargic, naive and possibly too logical. A great many of us, plus scads of other people who have contacted me in re-

Neighborhood Elementary Schools are threatening to recall the members of the board. This will be wasteful of tax dollars (at least $10,000), disruptive to the community and be troublesome in several ways.

What I find overlooked in this potential move and also overlooked throughout this whole controversy is that the Grosse Pointe school system is not the property of these elementary school parents, or the teachers or even the school administration. It belongs to the 52,000 people who live in Grosse Pointe and to other taxpayers who must foot the bill that will soon hit $36 million.

I am also curious of the lack of involvement of the Grosse Pointe Woods Council. The Woods will suffer the greatest negative impact by the Barnes closing. At least the Park stood by their residents in presenting another plea proclamation to the board to postpone the reorganization. Grosse Pointe Woods was silent. I for one intend to assist the promoters to reverse this disastrous decision. There does seem to be something to the protest lodged lobbying law that finally has gone into effect by a Detroit resident, James Wilkins, that makes it necessary for more lobbying opera-"more and more lobbyists are getting rich" at the expense of bus riders.

We are not saying that SEMTA does not need help. Of course it does because it is running in the red with its $100 million operating budget for Detroit and suburban service. And SEMTA does need additional sources of revenue. And so it is seeking legislative permission to conduct a

Wrong target?

Four Michigan students must be thinking these days that they were asked to take aim at the wrong target when they entered and won prizes in an essay contest sponsored by Wayne State University on the topic, "A Blueprint for Revitalizing Michigan's Economy.'

The four were awarded second and third prizes in the high school and college divisions of the essay contest but the prizes of U.S. savings bonds have not yet been delivered. Because Congress had failed to raise the nation's debt limit last week - and did so only in its closing session — the bonds could not be purchased for delivery to the prize winners.

Perhaps the winners now should be asked to direct their attention to the national economy and a subject such as, "A Blueprint for Revitalizing the U.S. Economy" or even a more mundane topic such as "How to Collect a Prize After Winning It."

More and more of the work of lobbvists is coming out into the open in Michigan as the lobbying law that finally has gone into effect tions and expenditures to be made public. The law also will make it easier for the public to learn which legislators benefit from spending by lobbyists, if they received more than $25 apiece in food or drint umo any month or $150 in the course-10 p313818. That is an appropriate requirement because it enables the public to learn more about the benefits legislators receive from lobbyists.

SEMTA is not the only public body using lobbyists. We recall that the Grosse Pointe Board of Education has even engaged lobbyists to help protect its interests in Lansing. But the question that continues to haunt us is why our elected officials cannot adequately represent the public interest without the aid of lobbyists paid for by other public agencies.

ULTIMATELY, THE funds spent by public agencies for lobbying come from the public either in the form of taxes or, in the case of SEMTA, from farebox revenues as well as taxes that finance state and federal subsidies for transit agencies. Once an agency gets into one of these state or federal permanent revolving doors it feels it must spend more money with lobbyists to convince state and federal authorities to continue providing the public funds for the services being offered. The fact that this practice is so widespread is no justification for its continued use in dealing with problems that ought to be resolved by our own officials.

Hats off to the school board

To the Editor:

The Grosse Pointe Board of Education deserves to be complimented for its great restraint and professional manner exhibited in its performance at the Nov. 14 meeting at North High.

The compromise proposal passed should be the first step in the solution of the longfestering problem of reorganization of our outstanding school system toward the maintenance of quality education.

It is to be hoped that the opposition will now cooperate in the implementation of this new program and not further fragment this community by indulging in a highly emotional and impulsive recall effort, which can only result in the degradation of our excellent program.

superiority of the board.

Our children attended North High in the 1970's. Even then alcohol and drugs were prevalent in the school. The board informed us a substance abuse program will be instituted to deal with the problem -10years later. Perhaps if the problem had been addressed at the appropriate time, two of our son's classmates would not be serving a prison term for a drug related offense now. We were told that the problem exists in the middle school also. Yet the board has elected to further compound the issue by sending sixth graders to middle school. They can ma-quicker. A novel remedy. Joan Hanpeter spoke of computer accessibility for the sixth graders. That is no goodie. Barnes students and parents held successful socials to buy their own school's computers without taxpayers' money. Ambitious and enterprizing - the American wav of life. Denying access to their accomplishments will only instill distrust in the minds of little children. Elementary school children are struggling to learn coping mechanisms of trust vs. distrust. The board has presented them a fine example. Has the board considered the added traffic congestion at Monteith where it is most dangerous to drive or walk during school opening and closing hours? Even with the reduced enrollment at Monteith, traffic is compounded by the increased growth of University Liggett School. I pray no child will be hurt, but if one is, someone will have to deal with a conscious problem. Indirectly, their decision had an effect. This was erroneous decision.

Where did all the traffic go? Roslyn

Canten

Helen

It is to be hoped that the recent action taken by the Grosse Pointe Woods City Council in connection with the northwest Grosse Pointe/Old Eight Mile Road traffic problem does not exemplify its problem solving ability. Faced with hundreds of cars using residential streets (primarily Brys) to reach Mack Avenue from Harper Avenue while avoiding the congested Vernier intersection, the Grosse Pointe Woods Council erected a series of one-way and no-left-turn signs to prevent through traffic from using this "shortcut." Many local residents and merchants along Mack Avenue protested the inconvenience and circulated petitions to remove all of the signs until a better solution could be worked out. The residents along Brys naturally opposed their removal. Council solution take down all the signs except leave Brys one-way to prevent cars entering from Harper Avenue.

Does a city council often sideration of the consequences? Where did they think all of the traffic would go? Predictably, the traffic goes down the first unobstructed some-odd cents. Two years or street — Roslyn Road. Presome time later, my pre-miums are now $36.16. viously, Roslyn accomodated a portion of the shortcut traffic since it also dead-ends into Old creases without my consent. It Eight Mile near Harper Avwould seem to me there must enue. (See diagram.) Presently Roslyn services 1) that ulate and/or govern the rate same shortcut traffic as before, 2) all of the shortcut traffic formerly accomodated by intention to cancel this ser. Brys, and 3) Brys residents enroute to Mack Avenue (since but discussion was not solicitfamily seem to enjoy certain Brys is one-way going from Mack).

This "solution" creates a steady flow of traffic, often traveling in excess of posted speed limits, down a narrow residential side street. Area residents, many of whom have young children, can no longer enjoy their front yards or cross the street without fear of serious injury. In addition, this situation transforms the simple act of backing out of one's

Mack

In response to protests council first indicated that the Roslyn residents really "didn't mind" the effect of their "solution." A petition was circulated among those residents and the results indicate that we do mind very much. In addition, several residents appeared at a council meeting prepared to voice their opinion ed by the council. The petition asked for a change in the situation and was read to the council after which they still remained unwilling to deal directly with the problem they created.

Rather, they made vague al-lusions to the creation of committees and traffic studies. Exhaustive studies done in the past have failed to come up with a workable solution other than to state that the problem is one that developed over a period of time and will not be resolved by any simplistic approach. Council made reference to a current traffic study it undertook. This "traf-fic study" consisted of the placement of a traffic counter on Roslyn Road for part of one day. Even this action was taken only after a protest was lodged at an October council meeting.

No one questions the seriousness or complexity of the problem but council's choosing to transfer rather than confront the problem was somewhat irresponsible and certainly inequitable. Is this a typical example of how our local government is supposed to function?

Brys residents may be con-fused as to who or what was responsible for their past hazardous traffic problem. Ros-lyn residents know exactly who is responsible for theirs their own city council.

This five-part series is designed to provide an interesting insight into the Detroit Symphony's sea-sonal repertoire. The featured pieces will be performed this weekend under the baton of resident conductor Kenneth Jean.

This informal review will cover the histories and personalities of the composers and their work. Questions will be answered by Ms.

Malitz after the program. Future previews at Village Rec-ords, will be highlighted by such notables as John Quinn, Jim Keeler and Ruth Kaiser-Scherer. The program is free with parking provided. For more informa-tion call Village Records and Tapes at 886-6039.

Widows' group holds membership drive

The Widow and Widowers Club of Harper Woods is opening membership up to residents of other cities, according to club president Amy Hubert.

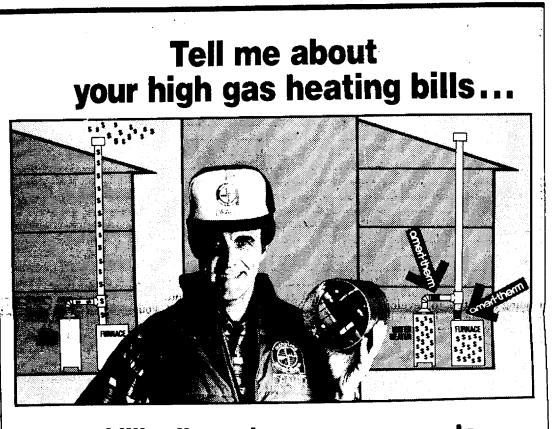

For more information about the group's meetings, call Mrs. Hu-bert at 881-7646.

Belgium sweets

Belgium Vice-Consul Don DeSeranno (right) brought his four young daughters along to the ribbon-cutting ceremony at Vintage Pointe Fine Wine Shop on Kercheval in the Village last weekend. The ceremony celebrated the store's designation as national distributor of Jamar chocolates, which are made in Liege, Belgium, and are flown in by Sabena Airlines exclusively for Vintage Pointe. Also pictured above are Alan Thiry, (left), co-owner of the shop and a native of Liege, and DeSeranno's daughters, (in front, left to right) Celia and Aline, and (back, left to right) Maria and Suzie.

THE PROBLEM

You have a hole in your roof.

The hole?

Your furnace vent.

Every time your furnace turns off, the warm air in your home is quickly lost up in the furnace vent, and on goes the furnace again, heating the air and run-ning up your gas bill. When a furnace, boiler or water heater shuts off, warm air in your home is quickly lost up the furnace vent. Energy escapes, but you still end up paying for it. People want to save as much as they can sal tell People want to save as much as they can, so I tell them to keep heat inside with an Ameri-Therm' Vent Damper.

THE SOLUTION

Close the hole in your roof with an Ameri-Therm Vent Damper.

The heat of your furnace opens the Ameri-Therm Vent Damper. When the furnace turns off, the Ameri-Therm* Vent Damper closes your furnace vent and the warm air you paid for stays where it belongs, inside your home.

Great Lakes confab convenes

A Roman Catholic archbishop, half-a-dozen mayors, farm leaders, U.S. Congressmen and a university president have become players on the same team. They are among the more than 200 leaders from six Great Lakes states who were scheduled to sit down, roll up their sleeves and try to hammer out from their diverse interests a single set of strategies at the Congress on the Economic Future of the Great Lakes States in Detroit this week.

"These leaders — from both private and public sectors — met to address issues and problems that are common to the six Great Lakes states and explore the possibility of united action to improve the conditions of our depressed area," said Walter J. McCarthy, Jr., chairman of Detroit Edison, who originated the Congress and serves as its general chairman.

The Congress opened at the Westin Hotel in downtown Detroit with a plenary session Monday morning, Nov. 21, and concluded Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 22.

Among the participants were Archbishop Edmund Szoka, Stroh Brewery Chairman Peter W. Stroh, National Bank of Detroit Chairman and President Charles T. Fisher III, Mayor Thomas Brush of Cincinnati, Ohio Farms Bureau President David Miller, Indiana Farm Bureau Representative Don Villwock and University of Detroit President Reverend Robert A. Mitchell, S.J.

Robert A. Mitchell, S.J. Congressmen expected to participate included U.S. Representatives James Oberstar, Carl Pursell, Howard Wolpe, Sander Levin, Don Albosta, Robert Carr and David Bonior.

Additional participants among the more than 200 attending the Congress included Kellogg Company Vice Chairman Robert L. Nicholas, former Michigam Governor George Romney, Continental Steel President Thomas Sigler and Motown Record Corporation Senior Vice President Esther G. Edwards.

The leaders from the six Great Lakes States — Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Wisconsin — met for two days of intensive workshops to discuss economic and social issues that affect the entire region. The issues include federal allocations, interstate teamwork, agriculture, stimulating new investments, energy resources, human resources, infrastructure and natural resources.

Speakers at the opening plenary session were McCarthy, General Motors Chairman Roger B. Smith, and U.S. Under Secretary of Agriculture Frank W. Naylor, Jr., Mayor Coleman A. Young of Detroit welcomed delegates.

In a recent speech, presented before the Minneapolis Downtown Kiwanis Club, McCarthy proposed that representatives of the six Great Lakes states meet to develop comprehensive economic guidelines for the region. The suggestion prompted a flood of encouraging responses from a broad cross-section of leaders in all six states. As a result, McCarthy went ahead with plans for Congress.

Congressman John H. Dingell of Michigan has strongly endorsed McCarthy's actions to spearhead the development of recommendations for improving the economic conditions of the Great Lakes region.

Dingell brought McCarthy's remarks to the attention of his colleagues in the U.S. House of Representatives and submitted his commendation and endorsement to the Congressional Record.

In an Executive Declaration, Governor James J. Blanchard of Michigan declared Nov. 21-22 as Congress on the Economic Future of the Great Lakes States Days.

The Congress has been endorsed by the governors of all six states. More than 50 organizations from throughout the six-state region are sponsoring the Congress.

With the SAT and ACT tests arriving for college-bound students, the Grosse Pointe School System held its annual College Night Wednesday, Oct. 26, at North.

Parents and students had an opportunity to talk to representalives of prospective colleges and were offered information and registration forms on these schools. Financial aid offered by the schools was also discussed in the three, 15-minute talks by re-presentatives from several schools.

Students representing almost all the Grosse Pointe high schools, both public and private, were in attendance. "It's a great oppor-tunity to get information on colleges and to learn more about financial aid offered to the stu-dents," Kathy Harrington, a jundence, Kathy Harrington, a Jan Many of the colleges in atten-dance gave presentations about college life and the housing available to incoming students. Also, many of the schools were open to set up appointments for visitations so the students can get "a taste of the school," as Patty Leavenworth, a representative from Grand Valley State College put it. Perhaps the most important topic to most juniors looking at schools are the entrance requirements. The representatives went over the requirements thoroughly but were careful to point out that these are not definite and can be lowered if the student has dra-matically raised his or her grade point average in the past year or if they do very well on the SAT or ACT tests.

"None of the school's requirements are etched in granite," Ms. Leavenworth said. "We take the student into consideration and like to have an interview with them. If we think the student had been improving or has a strong desire to be successful in college, we may take someone below our require-

Professor says single-sex colleges are best

University Liggett senior girls and their parents met Oct. 25 for a breakfast meeting during which John Saverese, professor of humanities at Sweet Briar Col-lege, and Mrs. George E. Bush-nell, an alumna of Smith College, discussed current research re-garding the benefits of all-female colleges. According to Saverese, the 116 women's colleges left in the U.S. have experienced a 25 percent in-crease in total enrollment over the last several years. Other statistics indicate that women in "Who's Who" are twice as likely to be graduates of single-sex colleges, and that of women with science degrees, twice as many come from women's colleges.

Saverese said studies also indicate that women from single-sex colleges are verbally more forthright and tend to aspire and Anyone interested in a specific achieve higher than women who attend co-ed institutions.

Mrs. Bushnell, also a Grosse Pointe Country Day School alumna, addressed the ULS students' questions about social life, emphasizing the proximity of male colleges to both Smith and Sweet Briar. "Social activities are abundant for women at single-sex colleges," Mrs. Bushnell said, "but remain matters of choice." Social freedom can be actually restricted in situations such as enforced co-ed dormitories, she maintained.

"Our graduates tell us that the camaraderie on a women's college campus, the bonding with other women, is one of our prime advantages," said Mrs. Bushnell. ### Symposiums open to students

Kip Monahan South High

With the 1983-84 school year into its second quarter, two youth symposiums have been planned for high school students.

Every year high school students from the tri-county area gather to learn about the Nazi Holocaust. This youth gathering is its fifth annual, and is put on by the Greater Detroit Round Table of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. It will be held on Wednesday, Dec. 7. The Youth Symposium will try to assure that the youth of America will learn of the tragedy, and are taught about it so it can never happen again. The involved students will have a chance to meet survivors of the Holocaust, and hear their stories. Also, educators and clergy (both Christian and Jewish), will be on hand to try to better explain what happened and why. The caucus provides an exper-ience of all religions, races and Chambliss at 874-4900.

The other youth meeting is the Crockett Youth Caucus, sponsored by Geo. W. Crockett, U.S. Congressman for the 13th District, which includes Grosse Pointe City and Park. Any high school student living in the 13th District is welcome to come, and is eligible for membership in the caucus.

The purpose of the caucus is to develop leadership skills, political awareness and promote community involvement. Last year the group explored such issues as the nuclear freeze, safety in De-troit public schools, student civil liberties and rights, and national unemployment.

This year's clothing fashions are as versatile as ever. Styles from the 50s, as well as the more modernistic punk look are considered to be in fashion at South.

There is a feeling that anything goes with styles at South as students can wear just about anything and get away with it. Everything from purple hair to pearls and Gucci handbags is acceptable apparel.

Memories of Homecoming '83 will remain

Bif Ream South High

As the halls of South High return to their normal hustle and bustle, Homecoming is just a memory. But who will soon forget the excitement of Homecoming 1983?

Hours and hours were put in by each student to prepare for this major event. Homecoming pre-parations started at the end of September with each class holding pom-pon parties for their floats, hoping they would be awarded the best float prize.

It wasn't until the week before, though, that one could feel the tension and rivalry that was present between the four classes. This week is referred to as Spirit Week, a week set aside each year to allow students to show their spirit for their school and class. Each class has a certain day that they decorate the halls and, during the three lunches, march and cheer in their class color. Seniors led off the week by decorating the halls with red flags and banners. Tuesday belonged to the juniors, and everywhere one looked they saw green. Wednes-

Members of the 1983-84 North High School DECA and BOEC Clubs assembled at the North auditorium Tuesday, Oct. 25, for the formal installation of club officers and the initiation of new members. Mary Martin, 1978-79 DECA president, officiated at the evening. Also in attendance were parents, former members, school administrators, and Co-op program employers.

BOEC (Business Office Education Clubs of America) is a state or-ganization open to all interested students in the business and office program. Its major role is to stress skill and leadership development and social and civic responsibilities.

DECA (Distributive Education Club) is a nation-wide organiza-tion run for and by students participating in the Distributive Education programs. Its key role is to develop leaders for marketing, to exploring, expressing and shar-ing the richness of West African through various educational activities.

day was sophomore spirit day, and South seemed to take on a yellow hue. Last but not least were the freshmen who were dressed in blue and white.

To top off Spirit Week, the traditional pep rally was held in the gym on Friday. Tom Vick, Homecoming chairman, said of this year's rally: "It was excellent, one of the best pep rallies ever."

During the rally, the girls' tennis team was awarded their state championship trophy and a varsity letter jacket was given to George Bekeart, a long-time custodian and friend to South students who retired earlier this year. Along with the traditional cheers and chants led by the cheerleaders, the class advisors had a tricycle race that was won by sophomore advisor Richard Alexander. To bring the assembly to a close, the cheerleaders performed a dance.

Homecoming Day started off bright and early with a pancake breakfast. At 11:30 that morning, the parade started with floats from all four classes along with the band and orchestra and the SAE/KEY Club floats.

The undefeated Blue Devils took on the Mt. Clemens Bathers. Although the game was scoreless at halftime, the Devils were victorious in the end, winning 140 and keeping their state playoff hopes alive as well as capturing the EML crown.

Halftime was the moment the students had been waiting for. The award for best banner, float and spirit jugs were announced. The students were quiet for the first time that day as they waited to hear if their hard work had paid off. A clean sweep of all the honors went to the seniors, along with the best dressed and most original theme that were announced at the pep rally.

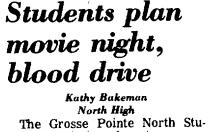

Next came the crowning of Homecoming Queen Ann Schulte. The band also put in an excellent performance, playing, "Zing! Went the Strings to My Heart" and "What I Did for Love." The band also won the Club float award.

To bring the day to a climax, many students and alumni attended the dance with music by the Gerry Ross band.

Homecoming '83 will not be soon forgotten.

Farms man heads research team

Farms resident Joseph D. Shore, Ph.D., has been named director of Henry Ford Hospital's Department of Research.

and a second second

As director, he will oversee the work of more than 100 scientists and medical-surgical specialists currently involved in more than 200 research projects in more than 30 laboratories. Studies include methods of detecting certain hereditary cancers, the role of hormones on high blood pressure, lasers and hyperthermia (heat generated by microwaves) for cancer treatment, and neuroscience research using the new technique of nuclear magnetic resonance.

Dr. Shore will continue his duties as head of the HFH Division of Biochemical Research of the Department of Pathology. Findings of his own lab could lead the way to clinical applications for patients with problems ranging from insufficient blood clotting follow-ing surgery to over-abundant clotting, which may lead to heart attack or stroke.

He has been with the HFH Department of Research since 1966, having become head of Biochemical Research in 1979. He received his B.S. degree from Cornell University in 1955, his M.S. from the University of Massachusetts in 1957, and his Ph.D. from Rutgers University in 1963. From 1964-66, he was a postdoctoral fellow with the late Professor Hugo Theorell at the Nobel Medical Institute in Stockholm, Sweden.

As research director, Dr. Shore will focus on HFH's traditional commitment to integrating research with its caring for patients and concern for education. According to Dr. Shore, "The HFH patient mix includes a large portion of high-risk patients and unusual histories which continually challenge research teams and lead to medical 'firsts.'

"The setting provides greater impetus and a larger data base for research than is usually available at the community hospital, university laboratory or independent research facility. It also includes some of the most advanced technological equipment comple-mented by a highly qualified staff," he said.

Dr. Shore's appointment is effective immediately. He has been acting director for a year.

Thanksgiving is here, and that means that Christmas is coming up fast ... and that means that it's time to begin thinking about such things as getting your tickets for the Second Annual Nutcracker Ballet Benefit for Children's Hospital of Michigan. It will be held on Thursday, Dec. 22, at 7:45 p.m. at Ford Auditorium.

It will feature the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Michael Krajewski conducting, and Dance Detroit, Iacob Lascu, director and choreographer. Honorary co-chairmen are Judge and Mrs. Ira G. Kaufman and Mr. and Mrs. Emmet E. Tracy, of Provencal Road.

It's all in a very good cause: last year's benefit raised $27,000 for the hospital's Apnea Identification Program which pinpoints, evaluates and treats infants who have had breathing stops of 20 seconds or longer or who, because of personal or family medical history, are judged to be "at risk" from Sudden Infant Death Syndrome.

This year's proceeds are earmarked for development of Children's Nuclear Medicine Department. Upon completion, Children's Hospital of Michigan will have the most complete radiological services available to pediatric hospitals in the United States, and will be the first pediatric hospital in the state to offer three phases of radiology: Ultrasound, Whole Body CAT Scanning and Nuclear Medicine.

Nutcracker Ballet Benefit '83 ticket information may be obtained by calling 494-5400.

Circumnavigators' Christmas Dance

The Michigan Circumnavigators gather Friday, Dec. 2, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club for their annual, formal Christmas "bash," featuring dinner and dancing to Art Quatro's music. Approximately 200 members, including local women recently approved for membership, and guests are expected by Dr. Donald McIntyre, chairman. The Michigan Chapter of the English-Speaking Union a group which always seems to be traveling — has been invited to join the party; President Malcolm Denise will lead his group.

The local Circumnavigators Club, headed by President Lester M. Elliott, is a branch of the international organization, founded in 1909, of travelers who have completed at least one continuous circuit of the globe. President Ronald Reagan is Honorary National President.

In New York a week from Saturday, Dec. 3, at the Princeton Club, Sir Edmund Hillary will receive the Circumnavigators Club Order of Magellan Award, honoring "individuals who are dedicated to advancing peace and understanding in all parts of the world." He follows President Herbert Hoover, General Douglas MacArthur, Lowell Thomas and a distinguished list of others who have been so honored.

Holly Mart returns December 2 and 3 . .

Looking for something special this holiday season . . . some-thing to bring a sparkle to the eyes of a favorite friend, delight a young child or please an entire family? BARBARA KARLE (left) and MARIANNA MANION, co-chairs of the Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice's Ninth Annual Holly Mart, promise a grand array of gifts that convey the "you are important to me'' feeling, creations by more than 50 artists and craftspeople, old and new exhibitors, displayed in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Ballroom and spilling over into Alger House Friday and Saturday, Dec. 2 and 3. Mart hours this year are noon to 5 p.m. Friday, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday. Admission donation is $1 (children under 12, free). The Holly Mart's Terrace Cafe will return, with its mouth-watering assortment of baked goods, gourmet sweets and cheeses. Gingerbread houses will be for sale, and luncheon will be available. Returning exhibitors include Esther Kirshenbaum, Ron Scarbrough, The Toy Tree and Detroit Hmong Women, with their intricate needlework. Following on the heels of last year's innovation, an extremely popular Pottery Gallery, is a first-time Gallery of Quilting, offering a wide range of items, from patchwork animals to luxurious jackets. Detroit Free Press cartoonist Richard Guindon is among the newcomers to the Mart, along with printmaker Elizabeth Henderson, whose drawings have appeared in the New Yorker magazine, glass blower Albert Young and weaver Burnelle De Greudel, currently showing at the Carol Hooberman Gallery. Among the prizes in the '83 Mart raffle is entertainment at the historic Holly Hotel's acclaimed dinner theater. "Friday Night Live!" runs from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Dec. 2, back by popular demand. This evening program is a special chance for Inter-Faith Center members and friends to meet the Mart artists and view their work in a relaxed, afterhours atmosphere. Admission donation is $5, including a complimentary drink served by one of a corps of celebrity bartenders, among them Neal Shine, senior managing editor, Detroit Free Press, WDIV-TV's Jennifer Moore, Mike Duffy, Free Press TV critic, WXYZ-TV's Ven Marshall and WJR News' Barbara Porter. Reservations for "Friday Night Live!" may be made by calling 882-6464. Serving on the Manion-Karle '83 Holly Mart committee are Joyce Sanders, Peg Upmeyer, Susan Bryant, Susan Page, Kathy York, Jessica Katz, Sandy Lowden, Helen Peters, Mary Jo Schuster, Julia Skiles and Cynthia Warner. The Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice, Mart sponsor, is a non-profit group working locally to promote racial understanding, challenge all forms of prejudice and establish equal opportunity for all, regardless of race, religion, sex or ethnic background.

Rites are read on Mackinac

Historic Trinity Church on Mackinac Island was lit from narthex to chancel by ivory candles in tall, bronze candlesticks for the wedding of Melinda Joy Horn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Armand Horn. of Mackinac Island, and Matthew Chesen Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Porter, of Hampton Road and Mackinac Island

The pews were tied with mauve satin bows, pale pink carnations and trailing ivy. The altar was flanked by bronze candelabra and large, ivory wicker baskets, filled with mauve and white carnations and pale pink roses.

The Reverend James Sorenson, of Bad Axe, officiated at the 3 o'clock, and white roses, burgundy-tipped double ring ceremony Saturday, October 22. Altar boy was Armand Horn II, the bride's nephew. Scripture from the Song of Sol-omon was read by Mrs. Phil Porter, the bridegroom's sister-inlaw.

The former Miss Horn wore the wedding gown and veil the bridegroom's mother had worn at her wedding to the bridegroom's father in 1950 in Grosse Pointe. The exquisite, heirloom dress, over 100 years old, is fashioned entirely of handmade pointe d'aiguile Brussels lace over peau de soie. The elbow length sleeves are edged with Rosepointe medallions. The skirt ends in points of Brussels lace, forming a cathedral train.

The veil, a floor length, Rosepointe lace mantilla, fell from a Rosepointe coronet caught at each side by tiny sprigs of white rosebuds, tiny, mauve carnations and baby's-breath. Honor maid Jodi Brown and bridesmaids Ellen Putnam, Valerie Schwenn and Myla Horn, sis-ter of the bride, all of Mackinac Island, wore identical, Victorian style dresses of mauve satin, handmade by the bridegroom's sister, Julie Porter, and Nancy Nephew. The gowns were styled with elbow length, over-sized puff sleeves, carved, Empire necklines and bodices, pointed in the front, slightly bustled in the back, from which fell full-gathered, chapel length trains.

They carried bouquets of mauve carnations and baby's-breath, and wore streamers matching their dresses, fastened with tiny, pink rosebuds, in their hair.

Best man was Douglas Beardsley, of Mackinac Island. Seating the guests were bridegroom's brothers, the Armin and Phil Porter, and Hugh Ravitz

The newlyweds were driven to their dinner reception at Horn's Gaslite Restaurant, owned by the bride's grandfather, in an antique, liveried carriage, circa 1870, up-holstered in wine velvet and drawn by matching black horses in silver harness. The restaurant's tables, covered with white lace over mauve cloths, were centered with arrangements of pink, white and burgundy flowers. The mother of the bride wore a floor length dress of pale green silk, styled with a soft, cape

Next June, the William Porters will host an afternoon reception at their West Bluff home on Mackinac Island, for their many friends who had left the island by late October.

After a reception at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Alger House, the newlyweds left to vacation in Chicago. They will make their home in Ann Arbor.

The bride selected a traditional, long-sleeved gown of candlelight satin, its Queen Anne neckline and Empire waist accentuated with piping, its princess skirt ending in a sweep train. She wore her mother's lace mantilla and carried a bouquet of calla lilies.

Miss Gillespie speaks vows

Marriage vows were spoken by Patricia Jane Gillespie and James Dean Perry Saturday, October 22, near a waterfall in the garden of the Greenwich, Conn., home of Farwell W. Perry, who served as his son's best man.

The noon ceremony at which Father Gilbert D'Souza, of Saint Catherine Roman Catholic Church, presided was followed by a garden reception under grass-floored, pink and white striped tents, where tables for eight, cov-ered with apple green cloths, featured pink napkins and center-pieces of hydrangeas in fall shades, lilies, violets, roses and Queen Anne's lace imported from Holland.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Gillespie, of Cran-ford Lane and Vero Beach, Fla. was given in marriage by her father. She wore an ankle length gown of candlelight silk chiffon and peau de soie, Victorian in style and trimmed and highlighted with re-embroidered Alencon lace.

Her freeform bouquet and hair crown consisted of roses, dendrobium lilies and violet-tinted, miniature orchids.

miniature orchids. She was attended by Barbara Herzberg, of North Salem, N.Y., in a dress of chiffon over peau de soie, muted grape in color, carry-ing an arrangement of lilies, or-chids, fern and rosebuds in shades of pink and grape, with a barrette of matching buds in her hair. The bridegroom who is also the

of matching buds in her hair. The bridegroom, who is also the son of Mrs. Alexander Schwartz, of Tuxedo Park, N.Y., asked his brothers, Farwell MacNeil Perry, of Tuxedo Park, and Morgan Perry, of Ojai, Calif., to usher. The mother of the bride wore a two pieces of French lilac silk and wool, with motherof-pearl accessories. The bridegroom's mother selected a honey-gold silk and wool knit, with brown accessories.

The newlyweds vacationed via private plane along the eastern coast of the United States. They will make their home in Kent, Wash.

The day after that, Friday, Dec. 2, the annual Holy Cross Hospital Auxiliary Christmas Boutique opens at the hospital on East Outer Drive, near Van Dyke. Wreaths, afghans, tree decorations and toys are among the array of gifts to be offered through Tuesday, Dec. 6. Boutique hours are 1 to 8 p.m. opening day, 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Dec. 3 to 6.

Some special gifts on display will not be for sale: handmade baby dolls and a framed and lighted Christmas tree are among the prizes in a raffle, for which tickets will be available all week at the boutique. The drawing will be held Friday, Dec. 9, at 3 p.m. in the hospital lobby. Proceeds from the sale and the raffle will be used to purchase equipment for the hospital.

And the day after the Holy Cross Boutique opens, Sa-turday, Dec. 3, Saint Ambrose Parish presents its annual Christmas Fair, running from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Parish Hall, Maryland at Hampton in Grosse Pointe Park. Thirty tables of arts and crafts will feature everything from stained glass, brass and costume jewelry to personalized items and imported Polish art.

Children can visit with Santa and find gifts for family and friends in a Children's Only Shopping Corner. Hot luncheons will be available on-the-spot, along with deli foods and baked goods to take home. Continuous raffles (tickets: 25 cents) will punctuate the day. A grand prize raffle (tickets: $1) offers two round-trip American Airlines tickets-to-the-destination-of-your-choice; that drawing will be at 5 p.m.

How ergonomics and Bennett's BioCurve™ make your kitchen work a whole lot easier.

Ergonomics is the study of the interaction of men and women within their total working environment. Bennett's BioCurve is one of the most significant discoveries ever to come out of the study. It's a natural extension of the laws of anatomical design; a principle that maximizes human potential. Or, inmuch simpler terms, it's a work reducing handle—curved precisely at 19°.

Why bend the wrist when you can bend the handle? When you use a straight handle, the wrist must be bent causing stress and tension in the wrist and forearm mus-

THAT REDUCES STRESS AND IMPROVES EFFICIENCY. cles. The range of wrist motion is also reduced. Tests show in a dramatic way that blood pressure (dystolic) is increased due to stress positioning of the tool. By bending the handle 19°, the bent wrist is eliminated. The hand can function in a comfortable and efficient position. More energy can be passed through the unlocked (straight) wrist reducing tension and stress. Tests show that once the bent wrist positioning is eliminated, blood pressure is reduced to the individual's normal level. The 19° angle also enhances hand-eye coordination, strength and control.

Tracy Garred Meyers-Garred rites planned

August wedding plans are being made by Tracy Elizabeth Garred and Jeffrey David Meyers whose engagement has been announced by her mother, Mrs. Thomas A. Garred, of Merriweather Road.

Miss Garred, who is also the daughter of the late Mr. Garred, was graduated from University Liggett School and holds an Associate of Arts and a Bachelor of Science degree in Equestrian Studies from Findlay College, Findlay, Ohio.

Mr. Meyers, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Meyers, of Telford, Pa., is an alumnus of Christopher Dock High School, holds an Associate of Arts degree in Equestrian Studies from Findlay College and was graduated magna cum laude with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Accounting in 1983.

He is an auditor with Touche Ross & Company in Toledo, and a member of the Ohio Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Miss Brown will be wed

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley W. Brown, of Lexington Road, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Deborah, to Dr. Nicol E. McGruer, son of Dr. and Mrs. James N. McGruer, of Murrysville, Pa.

Miss Brown, a 1978 Grosse Pointe North High School graduate, completed work for her Bachelor of Science degree in Psychology at Michigan State University in 1982 and is now working toward a Masters degree in School Psychology, at Florida State University.

Her fiance completed his Doctorate in Electrical Engineering at Michigan State University this year.

Cherie Fleming to be married

Late April wedding plans are being made by Cherie Elizabeth Fleming and Peter James Howard whose engagement has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Turner, of Norton Court.

The bride-elect, a Grosse Pointe North High School alumna, holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Michigan State University. Her fiance, a Grosse Pointe South High School graduate who attended Northern Michigan University, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. James Howard Jr., of Lothrop Road.

Santa's Attic at St. Paul's . . .

St. Paul's Teacher-Parent Guild's annual Christmas Fair, Santa's Attic, will run for one day only, Friday, Dec. 2, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the gymnasium of St. Paul's School, located on Grosse Pointe Boulevard behind St. Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore. LILLIAN TYLENDA (left) is in charge of the raffle for children, for which tickets can be purchased in advance or at the door. SANDY RICCI (right) is in charge of the raffle for adults. SUZE WHYTE (second from left) is general chairperson of the event, which will feature over 40 craft booths. SUE HOBEN (second from right) is this year's Guild president. Baked goods, bagels, live Christmas plants and a Children's Corner will be returning to the Attic this year. Bette Prudden will offer portraits in pastels, oil or charcoal, in a wide price range. Painted sweatshirts, brass objects and scrimshaw on ivory are among the other items in Santa's Attic, and the Assembly Line Sandwich Shop will offer a special meal (submarine sandwich, bag of chips, pop or coffee) from 11 a.m. until 6 p.m.

By Janet Mueller

There'd never been a theme for a White Christmas Ball, but when Maureen McCabe, chairman of the 30th annual holiday extrava-ganza sponsored by the Fontbonne Auxiliary of Saint John Hospital, took a look at the Country Club, where the party will be held this year, the idea presented itself: Christmas in Camelot.

The Great Hall transformed into Merlin's Forest. Strolling minstrels, a flutist and two balladeers, to entertain the guests during cocktails. In lieu of roast boar or stuffed peacock (both items being a bit hard to come by in midwest America), a menu built around Beef Wellington.

And after dinner, dancing to the music of Lester Lanin and his New York Orchestra. On a summer vacation back east, Maureen heard Lanin perform at the Dunes Club in Rhode Island, and decided his would be the perfect orchestra for a Camelot White Christmas Ball.

Programs, invitations, patron letters - all in an Arthurian motif. For colors, why not malachite green, fuschia and magenta? You can create a marvelous Mists of Avalon mood with them . . . and because they're "in" now, they're available. Trust a decorator to look at the practical aspects of the job at hand.

Maureen works full time as an interior designer in her own firm. She didn't plan it that way: a grad-uate of the Academy of the Sacred Heart (now the Grosse Pointe Academy), she majored in English at the College of St. Elizabeth in New Jersey. She mar-ried W. Peter McCabe, M.D., whom she met in New York. Their first child, Christopher, was born in California, when Peter, in the army, was stationed at Fort Ord.

BY THE TIME MICHELLE came along, the McCabes were Michigan residents. Michelle was born at Saint John Hospital. When she was 11/2, and Chris 4, their parents packed them up and took them off to England.

Dr. McCabe, a graduate of Har-vard College and Cornell Medical vard College and Cornell Medical School, is a plastic surgeon. He had an opportunity to take a year's head and neck cancer reconstructive surgery at St. George's, Hyde Park. Maureen spent her first weeks in London backing for bousing leaving her ooking for housing, leaving her children in the care of an excellent nanny service with which her son had only one problem. He liked his nannies, but: "I can't understand them," mourned Chris. "They all speak ENG-LISH!"

weeks. All of them, one (Michelle) still in diapers, in a Volvo. Not only did they survive, they laughed. It was a wonderful time.

MAUREEN HAS ALWAYS enjoyed traveling. She describes herself as "the fastest packer in this hemisphere," ready to take off at the drop of a hat. She went to China last fall when she was five months pregnant with Brian, who made his appearance, at Saint John Hospital, last Valentine's Day.

Peter, past-president of the Mi-chigan Academy of Plastic Sur-geons, present secretary of the Wayne County Medical Society, and Maureen continued across the Pacific after a stop in Hawaii for the National Plastic Surgeons' meeting. They visited Hong Kong and Japan as well as China, where Dr. McCabe gave a talk to the Chinese Academy of Medical Sciences in Beijing.

Among the new Fontbonne members is Mrs. Patrick J. Crow-There came a point in Mauley, who happens to be Maureen's reen's life when she decided there was no point in not using her own talents professionally. "I was al-ways helping friends decorate their homes. I thought it was time I had some formal training in the field." So she want back to school mother. Alice Crowley and Evelyn field." So she went back to school, to Wayne State University, and got a degree in Interior Design. Which makes for a busy schedule.

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featur-ing, this week, CHRISTMAS FRUITCAKES.

Traditionally, fruitcake is an integral part of the holiday season, and Christmas just does not seem as festive without one or two varieties. To be at their very best, fruitcakes should be baked 4 to 6 weeks prior to serving, so that the flavors of the ingredients have time to blend and mellow. If you like an alcoholic flavor, wrap the completely cooled cake in rum-, brandy - or wine-soaked linen, then in heavy foil, and store in an airtight tin in a cool place.

FRUITCAKE

2 large eggs

- 2 cups water 1 pkg. Pillsbury Date Bread mix
- 1 pkg. Pillsbury Nut Bread mix
- 1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
- 2 cups coarsely chopped
- pecans*
- 1 cup candied red cherries, cut in half*
- 1 cup candied green cherries, cut in half*
- 1 cup candied pineapple, cut in small wedges
- 1 carton (16-oz.) chopped fruit and peel mix

Grease well bottom and sides of large tube pan or 2 loaf pans (91/2 x 51/2 inches). In large mixing bowl, combine eggs and water. Add remaining ingredients by hand; stir until combined. Pour into prepared pan or pans. Bake in preheated 350° oven until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 15 minutes, loosen edges and remove from pan to rack. Wrap tightly in plastic wrap, then in aluminum foil.

*If desired, reserve enough pecans and cherries to form an atour already spectacular group. We have about 80 new members in tractive design on the top of cake or cakes before wrapping. Cool Fontbonne this year, and four or wrapped cake to room temperature before refrigerating; wrap-ping while warm helps to retain talents as White Christmas Ball the natural moisture in the cake. Will keep indefinitely in refrigerator.

McIntyre (1982-84).

Christmas in Camelot ticket information may be obtained by contacting the Fontbonne Office, 343-3675. Proceeds from this year's ball will go to the hospital's Concentrated Care Building cur-rently under construction. The new building will provide facilities for critically ill infants, children and adults and will feature new surgical suites as well as a new Emergency Center. Obstetrical suites will also be added.

Karen Epstein, M.S.W., Medical Social Worker, Internal Medicine and Pediatric Neurology, University of Michigan Hospital, Ann Arbor, will report on "Herpes — The Simple Facts and More," at a meeting of Phase I, the organization of single, young adults, ages 20 through 39, who gather regularly for Sunday evening program meetings at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, this Sunday, Nov. 27, at 7:45 p.m.

She will cover such subjects as recognizing oral and genital herpes, who gets it, prevention, diagnosis, symptoms and course of infection, treatment and where help is available. A film will be part of her presentation.

6 large eggs

1/2 cup molasses

4 cups all-purpose flour

1 heaping tsp. baking powder

2 tsp. ground nutmeg 1 lb. raisins

1 cup candied pineapple, chopped 1 cup candied cherries, chopped 1 cup orange marmalade 2 lbs. pecans, coarsely chopped

1 large cup bourbon Apple slices

> Cream margarine and sugar; add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add molasses and mix well. Sift together flour, baking powder and ground nutmeg. Put fruits, nuts and marmalade in large bowl; add about 1 cup of flour to this mixture and stir to coat fruit. Add remainder of flour to creamed mixture alternately with bourbon. Stir in fruits and nuts.

Grease 1 large mold or 2 smaller ones (2 large loaf pans are just the right size); line with heavy brown paper which has been greased. Spoon batter into pans and cover with greased brown paper. Bake in preheated 250° oven until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean (about 21/2 to 3 hours).

Wrap cake in cloth which has been dampened with bourbon, place in tin container, Add apple slices and cover container. Let sit until cake has ripened — a month is really not quite long enough.

WHITE HOLIDAY FRUITCAKE

Thanksgiving thank-yous . . .

It's Thanksgiving and time once again to say thanks to all the people who make this column possible.

• To coaches like North's Frank Sumbera and Guido Regelbrugge, South's George Petrouleas and University Liggett School's Bob Wood and George Andrews, each of whom never ceases to be helpful, informative, patient, funny and very, very quotable.

• To coaches like South's Russ Hepner, St. Clare's Larry Hines and former North basketball coach Ray Ritter ---intense students of their respective sports who impart a fresh understanding of the game to those around them.

• To athletic directors like Wood, Tom Gauerke, Chuck Hollosy and Steve and Rick Zaranek, who care very much about the quality of the sports programs they direct.

• To publicity persons like the Grosse Pointe Soccer Association's Mary Busse, the Grosse Pointe Hockey Association's Dave Cass, Babe Ruth's Al Hillenbrand and the many others who take on this thankless task and do a great job with it.

• To other interested coaches, parents, students and players who work hard at publicizing their favorite team or sport ... people like sailing's Will Schulte, the Neighborhood Club's Greg Brynaert and Al Devine, Rick Semack, Brad Tisdale, Paul Pellerito, Sister Cathy Owens and many, many others. You know who you are - thanks!

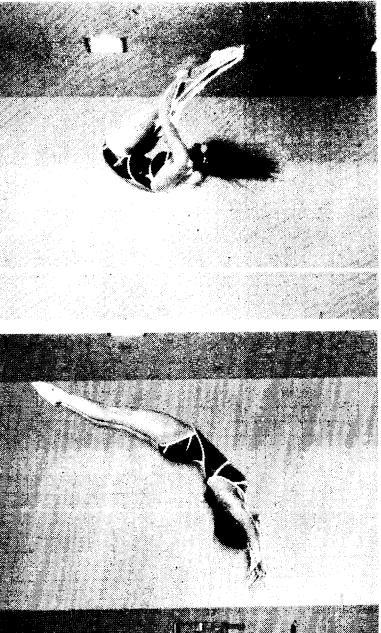

• To student reporters like North's Rick Markel and South's David Loffredo. Couldn't do it without you, guys.

And lots more thanks for lots more things ....

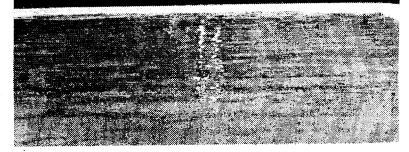

• For great sports programs like the ones at University Liggett School, North, South, St. Paul, St. Clare, the Academy and Our Lady Star of the Sea . . . not to mention the Neighborhood Club. I can't be interesting if I don't have interesting things to write about . . . and these programs supply plenty.

• For getting a chance to work in the toy department of the newspaper world: sports. It's a dirty job having to give up covering tax hearings, police beats, council (yawn) meetings and city elections like other reporters; to cover state championships, go to football games all fall, baseball games all spring and hockey games all winter ... not to mention sports banquets and awards nights. But some-body's got to do it ... I'm just glad it's me.

North, South taking dives at top spots

By Peggy O'Connor

It should come as no surprise that the diving teams at North and South High share the same coach, the same pool and the same winning record. For when they aren't diving for their re-spective high schools, the girls at North and South are diving together. And according to coach Don David, the divers that swim together, win together.

The six girls who comprise the diving portion of the North and South swim team North's Annie Attar, Ellen Nelson and Cammy Mader; South's Kris Campbell, Allison Crissman and Marsha Miller ---also dive year-round for Da-vid's United States Diving Club team. There, they face a competitive diving situation not many of their high school opponents ever see.

"They get to compete with the best divers in the nation," David says. "The girls get a lot of exposure most of the other divers don't have. Plus, they're diving all year, not for just three months during the season. And we try to keep them involved in diving as much as possible.'

And it's paid off. Three divers, ninth grader Crissman, and seniors Attar and Campbell, have qualified for the state diving competition at Eastern Michigan University Dec. 2 and 3. And according to David, each has added a great deal to the diving programs at North and South.

Crissman already holds the new South varsity diving record with her 249.80. She's South's hope for a gold medal, David says. South's Campbell also broke South's previously-held record by more than 35 points; she has a high score of 235.55 this season. And North's Attar, undefeated in dual meet competition this year, is the Norsemen varsity record holder with 239.95 points. She finished 12th in the Class A state finals last season and has won the Bi-County meet two years in a row. (Continued on Page 2C)

McMahon is top tennis qualifier

South High graduate Meghan McMahon, 18, of the Park, is one of two top collegiate tennis players from the east to qualify for the N.C.A.A. Indoor Championships set for February in Provo, Utah.

McMahon, a freshman at Yale University, and Elizabeth Evans, of Harvard, were the finalists in the 64-draw I.T.C.A. Grand Prix Regional Championships Nov. 11 through 13 at Robert Levy Tennis Center at the University of Pennsylvania.

Meghan McMahon

McMahon advanced through the tournament by defeating Jan Shelburne, of Princeton in the round of 16, and topping Katie Molumphy, from Boston College, in the quarterfinals. In the semifinals, she won a difficult match over Kathleen Vigna, of Harvard, 6-2, 4-6, 7-5, before losing to Evans in the final, 6-3, 6-4. Vigna had upset the first seed, Joy Cummings, of Princeton, in an earlier round.

In 1983 sectional rankings released last month by the Western Tennis Association, McMahon was ranked fifth in the 18 and under singles. She is coached by Joe Shaheen of the Wimbledon Racquet Club in St. Clair Shores.

Super Seniors still playing terrors of the tennis court are still at it ... tearing up the Super Senior Tennis circuit all around the country. Grosse Pointe Super Senior member Walter Cavanaugh traveled to the Hall of Fame Club in Newport, R.I., to participate in the first grass court senior tournament. He teamed up with George Reynolds, of New Jersey, to win the doubles, but lost out in the singles finals in three sets to William Dugan of New York.

Cavanaugh was also asked to represent the east in No. 2 singles University Liggett Middle School's J.V. soccer team battled undefeated Cranbrook to a 1-1 tie Nov. 2. The tie partially avenged an earlier loss to Cranbrook. "This was our best game of the year," said Coach Chuck Wright. With this tie, Coach Wright's team finished its season with a 5-1-2 record.

through April. Grosse Pointe's William McBrearty played in the Age 80 National Clary Court Championship at Charlottesville, Va., but lost out in the first round to one of the top national players. Cavanaugh reached the quarterfinals of open hard court play at Santa Barbara, Calif., in his other action this year. Another Pointe Super Senior, Otto Pongracz, didn't play this year, but hopes to be back in action in 1984, Cavanaugh said.

Michigan senior players hope to schedule an open tournament in Michigan this year; no definite plans have been made, however.

Grosse Pointe North's varsity cheerleaders won first place in the National Cheerleading Championship North Central Regional at the University of Detroit Oct. 30. With the win, North became the first Michigan team eligible to vie for the top spot at the National Cheerleading Championship set for Sea World, Orlando, Fla., in March. Winners of the 13 regionals, plus 10 at-large winners will compete. Ten of this year's 12 squad members were on the team last season which placed eighth in the Ohio Regional, fourth at the Pistons The open senior tennis tourna- Competition and fourth in the state. ### This time, Nort beat South . . .

By Kathy Bakeman North High

This wasn't your typical everyday football game, it was the girls' powder puff game between North and South, at South's field Nov. 6

South's girls wore yellow jerseys with nicknames printed on their backs and North's team donned white jerseys with green numbers and their names on their backs. Each participant had two flags around her waist, and some wore knee pads and painted black marks under their eyes.

Officiating at the game were North Principal Dr. John Kastran and teacher Art Weinle and South Principal Dr. Joe Spagnoli and teacher Dr. Walter Mackey.

North took the lead early with two touchdowns, one by Stacie Williams, the other by Amy Treder. Throughout the game, North fans were entertained by their very own "cheerleaders." They weren't the most polished group, but their support and encouragement seemed to be appreciated as North dominated the second half of play.

Kristen Lehman and Stacie Wil-liams each added another touchdown to North's 28-point total.

The Norsemen defense held the Devils off until the final four seconds of the game when South went in for its lone touchdown,, leaving the final score at 28-6.

South honors fall athletes By Bif Ream South's fall sports awards night

Nov. 9 brought an end to the major portion of the Blue Devils' fall sports season.

Tennis, golf, soccer, and girls' and boys' cross country teams were all honored at the awards ceremony.

The girls' tennis team, with its eighth State Championship under its belt, awarded best sportsmanship award to freshman Mary Wachter, and most improved to senior Amy Leverenz.

The successful girls' cross country team, undefeated in league competition, gave Sue Sparling the honor of most improved, and sophomore Nancy Solterisch most valuable player award. A special "rookie of the year award" was presented to Renuka Uthappa. South's golf team finished the season with two members making first team for EMLs, Jud Kotas and Kurt Liebold, and freshman Scott Staford made second team. Kotas also made the All-State team.

Langs back at center for BU

Stark Langs, the 6-10 junior center from Grosse Pointe who wasn't a starter until his senior year at South High, is back in the pre-season line-up for Borwn University this year, going after his third varsity basketball letter. Langs saw limited action in his freshman year at Brown, playing 43 minutes. But after spending the summer of 1982 playing in the North Providence Summer League and working on a weight program, he built himself into a formidable player, starting all 26 Brown games, playing over 794 minutes and averaging in double figures in both scoring and rebounding.

He shot .527 from the floor — sixth best in Brown history - and .672 from the foul line. His 10.5 rebounds placed him 16th in the nation in that category. Langs finished the year with Honorable Mention

All-Ivy League honors. The son of Stark and Carol Langs of Lakeland Avenue. Langs majors in economics at Brown.

DAVID, who began coaching diving at North three years ago and took on the South divers when it was decided to combine the diving program two years ago, says that the divers' performance this season is the best since the schools' began diving as a varsity sport.

"And I think that's because the girls dive competitively all year. Also, there's that team rivalry. Once you get a couple that are good, you end up with the girls pushing each other to do better ... and that helps everybody," David says. Team members Ellen Nelson, a ninth grade record holder who is a regional qualifier with a 167.75 high score; and freshman Marsha, Miller, from South, are good examples of that Miller has the potential to be an excellent diver, David says. She was sidelined much of this year with ear problems, but he hopes she will benefit from the teamwork and winning attitude. It wouldn't be a surprise if she did.

• For such unusual and interesting stories to cover: dressage at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club, gold-medal winning cyclists and rowers and skateboarders who build ramps in their backyards.

• For all the weird photographs, sports catalogs and other sources of amusement which cross my desk daily via the U.S. Mail. It's not every job in which one gets fan letters from God, sports schedules from Ball State, pen pal notes from Indiana State Penitentary and photographs of Shamu the Killer Whale kissing Reggie Jackson.

For not having to cover bowling.

• For the people who understand why we can't print everything they'd like us to, when they want it.

• For insult-proof ears to deal with those who don't.

• For the nice people who call us up, just to tell us they liked a story.

• For Joe Louis Arena: a nice place to watch a hockey game, even when the Red Wings don't win and the fans get a little rowdy.

For Super Seniors tennis players like the 70 and 80-plus William McBrearty, Walter Cavanaugh and Otto Pongrace, proof that there's always hope ... even for 20-plus players like me who can barely hold a tennis racquet.

• For getting to write a sports column.

Center Ice in the GPHA

Mite House

The Crain Communication Seals began the season with three exciting games. Chris Crain scored three goals and Paul Huebner scored once in the season-opening, 4.4 tie with the Black Hawks. Matt Kramer, Joe Sucher, Chris Amsden and Mark Best had assists. Peter Anthony Brown played strong defensively while Jeff Huebner made many saves in goal.

SEALS-BRUINS

In game two, the Seals came back from a one-goal deficit to defeat the Bruins, 4-3. Geoff Kimmel scored twice during the opening period with Peter Spivak, David Ferguson and Behi Rabanni drawing assists. The third goal was scored by David Collins after passes from Paul Huebner and Joey Berger. With just 2:05 to go, Crain converted a Kramer pass for the game-winner. Bobby Rabanni led the defense and Peter Blake was in goal for the win.

SEALS-KINGS In third game action, the Seals came back again to earn a 2-2 tie with the high-flying Kings. Tom Best played superbly in goal. Collins opened the scoring; Berger and Paul Huebner assisted. After the Kings scored twice, the game was tied by Crain with assists from Kramer and Jeff Huebner.

MAJOR MAGIC-BLACK HAWKS Major Magic has proved again this season to be a strong con-tender in GPHA's Mite Division. An unassisted goal by Matt Spicer tied the game for the Magics against a strong Black Hawk team during the second period of action. Magic's goalie Chris Fox made several brilliant saves Squirt House against the Black Hawks' aggressive A-line. Omar Sawaf is noted for pretty passing plays and strong defense this season.

MAGICS-DRAGONS

In the second game of back-toback contests, Major Magics again proved to be the domineering force over the Blue Dragons, 1-0. Scottie Wieczorkow- for the Oilers. His team took shot ski scored in the first period, assisted by Carl Rashid, and that proved to be the game-winner. C-liners Kevin O'Malley, Lucien Hudson and Ricky Gokenbach fought a tight defensive battle against the strong Blue Dragons.

Dragons' goalie Phil Descamps and Magics' Robbie Wieczorkowski made unbelievable saves as both teams tried, without success, to make this a high-scoring game. Brothers Bryan and Bill Cass played a strong defensive game for the Dragons, as did Todd Dunlap, George Christensen, Nicholas Zeidler, Timmy Tracy and Tommy Waldron.

All the excitement one would expect from a hockey game happened between Grosse Pointe's Joe Ricci's AMC Renault Oilers and St. Clair Shore's Sharks. The Oilers played their most exciting game so far this season tying the Sharks, 3-3. Teddy Hanawalt made some terrific saves in goal after shot on net until finally, after brilliant goaltending by the Sharks' goalie, Mark Schweitzer scored twice and Billy O'Keefe once to tie the score. Jeff Osborne of the Oilers had three assists, just one short of a playmaker patch, as he played a fine game.

PENGUINS-CANUCKS

The Squirt Penguins, even though they lost to the Canucks, 5-0, are a team to watch this season. The Penguins' defense of Collin Fitzsimons, Beau Dossin, Peter Megler and Mike Pitters are sure to improve with every game. Forwards Richie Harder, Bart Kocik and Jeff Torrice worked very well together and are players to watch out for in the future. Great hussle by the line of Jeff Everham, Nate Eriksen, Gabe Eriksen and Paul Slusser will prove to be a big offensive threat.

Penguin goalie Danny Lefebvre, known around the league as "Danny O," made many spectacular saves among the 29 shots that the Canucks threw at him. Danny is looking forward to a short rest before returning to his playing between the pipes.

Pee Wee House

The North Stars, Grosse Pointe's sleeper team in the Pee Wee Division defeated the St. Clair. Shores Flames, 6-1. Jimmy Alderton of the Stars led the way with two goals and was matched by linemate Jamie Osborne who also scored two. Jackie McSorley notched his third goal of the sea-son, while Kevin Nugent drilled a hot shot past the Flames' goalie into the upper corner of the net for his first goal. Assists were awarded to Ösborne, Alderton, Brad Hea, Aaron Groce, Derek Smith, Kelly Reed and Nugent.

NORTH STARS-FLYERS

Even though the North Stars lost this game to the Flyers of St. Clair Shores, they gave everything they had to make a game of it. Each North Star line had great scoring opportunities, but the Flyers' goalie couldn't be beat. The Stars' defensive unit of Ronnie Sables and Billie Chave were outstanding in their position even though the final score was 5-0. Derek Smith, who celebrated his 12th birthday, worked hard for a goal, but it just wasn't there.

Pee Wee

Center Mike Torrice took a pass from defenseman Paul Bogos and scored with just 13 seconds left to give the Grosse Pointe Pee Wee Sabres a 4-4 tie with the St. Clair Shores Jets last week.

It was the second time in a week that the Sabres pulled their goaltender Anthony Slusser to put six skaters on the ice and salvage a last-minute tie. Torrice, Bogos and winger Rob Phillips had scored earlier for the Sabres.

The only actor ever to receive an Academy Award for a horror film was Fredric March after "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Thursday, December 8 from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m. shoppers will have an opportunity to participate in prize drawings and shop in the spirit of olde England.

This total merchants associations event includes Kercheval in-the-Park, Kercheval in-the-Village, Kercheval-on-the-Hill, Fisher Road plus the entire Mack Avenue shopping strip.

Vendors along the way will present tasty food treats, free candy canes and balloons will be distributed. On-street caroling will set the tone for an evening of shopping excitement.

Individual stores will have special attractions which include food treats, mimes and musical entertainment.

Plan to shop Thursday, December 8 from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m. for the fun of it.

And, remember to take a chance on the wonderful prizes! Winners will be drawn by Santa himself on Saturday, December 10 at 12 noon in d'Hondt Way.

Remember these Special Events

Local scene artist JANE ANDERSON will be at the Mole Hole December 8-10.

CLAIRPOINTE will feature all-you-can-eat specials on Saturdays from 3 to 9 p.m. for busy, hungry shoppers.

KRESGE'S will be open on Sundays during the holiday season.

FLAVIO VARIANI will be at Village Records and Tapes signing albums the first week in December.

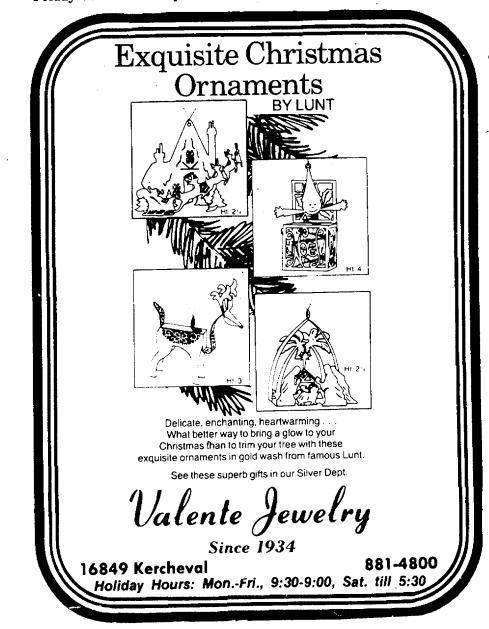

Santa arrives in Grosse Pointe Friday, November 25. He is preceded by a colorful, musical parade that involves the entire community. A total of nine marching bands and ensembles including those from Grosse Pointe North and Grosse Pointe South will set the pace for Scout groups, Campfire Girls, Indian Guides and Princesses, and St. Michael's Episcopal Church Junior Choir.

Watch for the fanciful Disney Heads and the "Bug" from Grosse Pointe Theatre, the U of M Wolverine, the happy Clown Corps of Grosse Pointe, the special Northeast Guidance Clinic float, the J Board elves, plus floats from the Village Association and Grosse Pointe North's homecoming celebration.

The parade begins at 10:30 a.m. from South High's parking lot on Grosse Pointe Blvd., travels up Fisher Road to Kercheval, then onward to the Village, ending at Cadieux Road.

Santa takes up residence at the climax of the parade at Jacobson's where he will hear children's wishes from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday, Saturdays 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. beginning Friday ... after the parade.

Gingerbread house is simple to make using a microwave oven

GINGERBREAD HOUSES can be charmingly simple, beautifully elaborate. You can even make one to look like your own home, with little ginger bread figures to represent each family member.

GINGERBREAD <sup>3</sup>⁄4 c shortening <sup>3</sup>⁄4 c sugar

- 1 egg 1 c dark molasses
- 1 T vinegar 5 c sifted flour
- 1 t baking soda 1 T ginger 1 t cloves
- t cinnamon 1/2 t salt

Cream shortening and sugar; beat in egg, mo-lasses and vinegar. Sift remaining ingred-ients together and stir into creamed mixture one cup at a time, until evenly mixed. Chill dough uncovered for two hours. Pinch off enough dough

Pinch off enough dough for each shape (see gin-gerbread patterns, assem-bly and decorating in-structions) and roll  $\frac{1}{8}$  inch thick on lightly floured waxed paper. Cut out shapes and re-move excess dough. Slide sheet of cardboard underneath waxed paper.

underneath waxed paper. Cut out necessary doors and windows as desired. Cook each piece on med-ium power (50%) for 4-6 minutes, depending on size of piece.

A charming little gin-gerbread house makes a delightful holiday table centerpeice. Maybe you've received one made by a creative friend or relative that you've tried to preserve.

Home economists say, "This year don't store it — eat it." In fact the recipe and directions for making gingerbread houses in the microwave oven are so easy you'll want to make some extras for your some extras for friends and family.

It is completely edible and the old-fashioned gin-gerbread is such a deli-cious treat that you'll want your family and friends to savor every crumb.

Cool completely and as-semble with ornamental icing.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Grinch! There's nothing quite

There's nothing quite like the holiday season. Friends, family, parties, presents. The fun and the sharing. The giving and the getting. Days of energy and excitement remembered for years.

But, for some, holidays are just an especially good time for making what's ours, theirs.

They are the burglars who ransack a home every 13 seconds. The thieves who steal $3.5 billion from us every year.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Grinch. In fact, there are lots of them. And they can gain access to our homes and steal our cash, jewelry, holiday presents and our holiday.

our holiday. The holiday season puts most of us in a very friendly and festive mood. Our defenses are down. We're easy pickings for the professional burglar.

The following common-sense precautions can help keep a Grinch from getting into our homes and stealing our holiday.

• Lock all doors and windows before leaving your home.

Dashing through our homes Whenever we're away O'er our rooms they'll roam Grabbing all the way Our jewelry and our cash Will make their spirits bright A burglar's happy hol-i-day Is guaranteed tonight. .OH... Jingle bells, jingle bells A thief is on his way Every 13 seconds he will Steal our stuff away-aye Chanukah lights, Christmas sights The holidays are here Oh what fun those crooks can have in Taking all our gear! *****

• Leave a car in the driveway to make your home look occupied.

• Keep lights on, controlled by timers automatically turning them on and off when you're away.

• Cut off all mail deliveries if you'll be away for an extended period. (A pile of mail at your door advertises your absence.)

• Advise local police and trusted neighbors of vacation plans. • Invest in an electronic home security system connected to a central security station. These systems can provide you with burgularly, holdup and fire protection, and the central station staff will relay any emergency the system detects to appropriate authorities. For a free home security booklet, write: ADT, Home Protection Dept., One World Trade Center, New York, NY 10048.

Holidays and music seem to go together. Ever since a plain reed pipe was given the Christ child by a shep-herd, holiday gift-givers have put musical instruments on their lists.

While nothing is available for a song these days, there are hundreds of inexpensive musical gifts to please beginners and virtuosos alike.

The American Music Conference offers these low-cost gift ideas to help you put music into someone's life.

· Small, easy-to-play instruments make perfect stocking stuffers. Harmoni-cas, recorders, flutophones, tonettes, triangles and other rhythm instruments can cost less than $10, often less than $5.

Educators suggest that children be given "real" musical instruments rather than toys so they will learn to appreciate good tone.

 Accessories are a hit with any musician. Guitarists can always use an extra set of strings ($7 to $10) and a string stretcher (about $4).

A pitch pipe ($6 to $15) will help vocalists stay in key and a metronome ($30 #### to $50) is an essential piece of practice equipment for any serious musician.

MUSIC IS THE ONE GIFT that everyone will love, from baby sis to great grand-dad.

Trumpet, trombone and French horn players will be delighted with a new mute ($6.50 to $40). Woodwind players always need reeds ($.60 to $1.50) and should appreciate a reed trimmer ($25) to extend reed life.

 Another musical gift that won't wind up in the at-tic is sheet music. Available as individual pieces ($1.75) or collections in book form (up to $30), sheet music is always well received.

• Budding young musi-cians or adults who want to brush up on their musical skills will be happy with a gift of music lessons (prices vary). Check with local music stores, private teachers or community groups.

Christmas trees: After the glitter

Ever symbolic of the Christmas season, a decorated tree is the center of family celebration.

From the moment when the first ornament is hung to the hour when young and old alike are captivated by its glistening beauty on Christmas Eve, the tree evokes a mood of genial holiday spirit and tradition.

Once the holidays are over, the magic fades and all too often, once majestic trees are fated to lie disheveled along side the weekly garbage.

However, a Christmas tree actually has many uses once the holidays are over, some of which may include:

• Placing the Christmas tree in the garden or backyard and using it as a bird feeder. Orange slices will attract the birds and they can sit in the branches for shelter.

• A Christmas tree is biodegradable, its branches may be removed and used as mulch in the garden, the trunk can be used for fuel or chopped for mulch.

• Fir tree foliage can be stripped from the branches and snipped into small pieces for stuffing into aromatic fir needle pillows, for sofa or bedroom.

CHRISTMAS SPLENDOR — The evergreen stands majestic, the center of family fun and celebration, as the tree is decorated in accordance with each family's own traditions.

Since 1919

• Large quantities of used trees make effective sand and soil erosion barriers, especially at beaches.

• Sunk into fish ponds, trees make excellent refuge and feeding areas.

• Woodworking hobbyists can make a multitude of items including buttons, gavels, and candlesticks from the trunk of a used Christmas tree.

Help someone you care about to build a karat gold jewelry wardrobe. Not only is this one of the most beautiful and personal ways to say "Merry Christmas," but it's a gift that lasts ... and lasts ... not just for the coming Christmas cases but for Christmas season, but for every season of the year.

Gold jewelry is designed in so many forms that you can find something perfect for everybody," comments Michael D. Roman, Chairman of Jewelers of America (JA), the nation-al association offering consumer information about fine jewelry.

"Gold jewelry is suitable children ... and it's available in prices to fit virtually every pocket-book."

Versatile investment Helping someone build a karat gold jewelry ward-robe is helping that person build his or her own lasting investment in beauty and versatility, according to Roman. Roman.

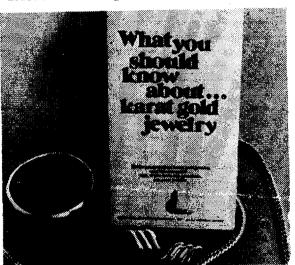

When you give a classic gold jewelry item, you're giving a gift that can be mixed and matched with other gold jewelry. It fits any and every occasion and makes a fashion statement for the person wearing it.

Neckchains are the most basic type of karat item in a gold jewelry wardrobe. A collection of neckchains should include a choker-length chain (15 - 16 inches long) and a medium-length chain (18 - 20 inches long). Earrings — No one has too many earrings — The basic karat gold jewelry wardrobe should include bracelets, worn aide of m multiples, with or without charms...and I.D. brace-lets, whether delicate or bold. Gold bangles also enjoy steady popularity. See your local jeweler for just the right piece to say "Merry Christmas" with several pairs of earrings, suitable for work or play, and long lasting love beauty.

Gift that children will grow with — a preschool library

Tired of giving your children Christmas gifts they discard after playing with them once or twice? If so, why not give them something really worthwhile this year which they'll enjoy and grow with for a long time. The gift that's sure to computers. The "Challengers" comprise a revolutionary software series, designed by educators, that will help both you and your children to expand your learning potential to the fullest. All PDI's programs reflect the philosophy that children as well as adults learn by working with learning programs that build on each other, starting with progressively through the different stages of learning skills.

The gift that's sure to shine long after the holiday season is over is the "Challenger" line of games and skill builders created by Program Design, Inc. (PDI), a publisher of educational soft ware for home computers.

To get your child off to a fast start, begin with PDI's Preschool Library package. It includes four individual programs that help three to six year-old children develop the critical skills needed when they start school. They include Sammy the Sea Serpent, The Adventures of Oswald, Preschool IQ Builder 1 and Preschool IQ Builder 2.

PDI's Preschool Library is designed for use in ATARI 400/800 computers. It consists of four cassettes and the User's Guide. It requires a minimum memory of 16K and retails for $59.95. A disk version (24K) retails for $69.95.

Each of the four titles in the package is also available individually, on either cassette or disk. The cassette versions of each title require 16K of memory and retail for $18.95. Disk versions require 24K and retail for $23.95.

CHILDREN ENJOY WORKING WITH COMPUTERS, especially with the PDI Preschool Library of fun-filled learning programs. PDFs cheerful characters and colorful graphics used in the home environment make learning and fun synonomous.

After a party, lift all furniture cushions and look for live cigarette ashes. A hidden cigarette butt can lead to a smouldering cushion that bursts into flames hours later. Don't empty ashtrays directly into the trash. A partially lit cig-arette can ignite wrapping paper or other trash, resulting in a house fire. Wet down ashtrays before emptying. Re corrected with condles and other decorations

Be careful with candles and other decorations.

Be sure not to overload household wiring.

Christmas list, you probably realize the wealth of "catty" gift ideas presently on the market. In fact, the cat-alog of feline gifts ranges from purrfectly wonderful to downright cat-astrophic.

Books and figurines and pillows aplenty leer and grin and smile shyly sometimes slyly — from shelves and display counters in stores across America, leaving potential purr-chasers figuratively "up a tree" as to which, if any, has that special charm and allure which attracts people to cats in the first place, and which ailurophiles therefore expect to find in any "catabilia" which finds its way into their collection. (What cat-lover have you ever known whose house isn't "littered" with evidence of their grand passion?) Well, the solution to this gift-giving dilemma (Heathercliff book or Garfield bank or perhaps a Kliban apron?) may not be found in a store, at all, but in a newsletter which is creatlover, and which is available by subscription only. PURRRRR!, which is published bimonthly, is filled with charming, amusing and informative articles on cats, and their

the year. This way, you can keep the recipes long after the calendar's last page has been turned, and 1984 is only a pleasant memory.

Another group of calendars whose small size belies the great amount of pleasure they're bound to give are The-Page-A-Day Wall Calendars.

For 1984, they include The 365 great quotes-a-year calendar, The 365 Bible Verses A-Year Calendar, The 365 new-words-a-year calendar and The 365 Sports Facts-a-Year Calendar, plus a special Shoelace Calendar for children: 365 new words for kids calendar.

They're a terrific teamup of pleasure, practicality and information, making them perfect presents at holiday time.
