True Love

A very determined couple are Mildred Peters and Fred Thistlethwaite. Mildred, 70, and Fred, 76, who both lost their spouses a few years ago, met in Florida, courted and decided to get married.

The date set for Nov. 26, in Mildred's hometown of Milwaukee, when fate stepped in and took the form of emergency surgery for Mildred. Undaunted, the couple figured "why wait?" and decided to get married the transport that what they ... and that's just what they did.

It's true the wedding party was cut down from its original 150 member size to about 15 or 20 persons, but it really didn't matter to them.

"We only had about seven persons in the room," said the new Mrs. Thistlewaite. "The minister, best man and maid of honor, Fred and myself and two of my nieces. It was just wonderful." The hospital staff threw the newlyweds a reception complete with punch and cookies, cake and candy. Staff nurses loved it and kept popping in and out. Mildred's surgeon even showed up to help with the festivities.

Fred, of Grosse Pointe Shores, was delighted with the wedding and the flexible atti-tude of his new wife. "She's just wonderful," he said. "She took it all in stride. She's a real pro you know. She's performed for years as an operatic soloist. Pressure doesn't bother her.

Mr. Thistlethwaite was rather surprised by all the publicity the marriage generated after the story was initially broken in the Milwaukee Sentinel newspaper.

"I was in Milwaukee a few days ago and I think I received more publicity in five days than I did during my entire 42 years at Parke-Davis," he said with a laugh. Mr. Thistlethwaite is a retired pharmaceutical execu-

Mildred was released from the hospital a few days ago and is doing just fine, thank you. She'll be joining Fred in his Shores home in a little while. Immediate plans call for celebrating the holidays here then heading back down to Florida where they both own condom-

The age factor never really bothered them either, said Fred. "We both like each other and love each other and we're going to have fun" he said. "I hope we've got a few good years together ahead of us. I'm looking forward to it.'

If it hadn't happened at the Mt. Sinai Medical Center in Milwaukee, it might have been created for St. Elsewhere in Boston.

Almost true love

And now here's the other side of the coin. From the books of the City Police department last week comes the report of a car on St. Clair Avenue with a broken windshield

The car belonged to a young woman who had recently broken up with her boy friend. Police found a brick on the auto with a note attached that read: "You broke my heart, so I broke your windshield.

The note was unsigned but police think they know who might have thrown it.

Tougher high school standards proposed

Trustees vote next Monday on program

By Susan McDonald

It may take a bit more work to earn a diploma from Grosse-Pointe schools if the Board of Education agrees next week with a proposal to revamp the high school program of studies.

Supt. Kenneth Brummel has recommended a broad series of changes aimed at beefing up core curriculum and graduation requirements. His plan calls for classes and cutting electives; and pushing graduation requirements from 20 to 21 units.

The switch to a seven-period day will let 3,000 kids take one more class and may cost the school system as much as $400,000 next year. Brummel said funds regularly allocated to capital improvements at the schools may have to be reduced to finance the

He said the proposal was prompted by his concern that requirements in Pointe schools aren't on par with those in schools switching from a six-period day to seven periods at North and South; increasing the number of required sities. And, he said the enrollment decline in the high schools has weaken their programs. The number of high school students has dropped almost a third since

"Courses have been eliminted over time, not because we wanted to, but because there just were not enough students to justify them," Brummel said. His proposed curriculum changes will allow the administration, not attrition, to dictate what students will be studying.

The new program of studies was developed by a committee including teachers, department heads, parents and students. The school board, which initiated the study in 1981, has reviewed the plan for more than seven hours in recent weeks. It is scheduled to vote on it at its Monday, Dec, 12 meeting.

The proposal to switch to a seven period day was among the most controversial aspects of the plan among teachers. Gordon Morlan, a North High science instructor, told the board some teachers object to the seven period day because the length of classes will be reduced to just 48 minutes, "not enough time to complete some projects.

But the South High Mother's Club, which has been represented in the discussions by Cynthia Warner, is supportive of the

"With a six period day, kids are really strapped for time," Mrs. Warner said. "There are too many conflicts in scheduling, especially for college-bound kids and those who are involved in music. They often have to drop one good class just to get all their college prep classes in.

Brummel's proposal will also increase the number of classes students are required to take from the current 10 units to 14.5. (A unit is a full-year course.) Electives would be cut from the current minimum of 10 to 6.5.

42 pages

Among the new required units in the plan are four years of English, two years of math, two of science and added semesters of social studies, health and a fine or practical arts. Now, students are required to take only three years of English, one of math and one of science.

Brummel's proposal also pushes the number of units required for graduation from 20 to 21. A Detroit Free Press survey of tricounty area schools in September. showed that a dozen districts already require more than 20 units for graduation, including West Bloomfield, Bloomfield Hills and Southfield.

If the plan is approved next Monday, the seven-period day will begin next fall. The new 21-unit graduation requirement will take effect with the class of 1986 (this year's sophomores), and all other requirements will take effect with

Woods offers 6%

Police pay dispute goes to arbitrator

By Mike Andrzejczyk

An arbitration panel will meet Dec. 15 to hear both sides of the long-standing wage dispute be-tween the Woods and its public safety officers and corporals.

Both sides have filed their briefs and final offers with the Michigan Employment Relations Commission, union and city officials said. The panel will hear both sides of the matter an issue an opinion sometime in January, they said.

The binding arbitration hearing stems from a months-long dispute over the third-year base salary for public safety officers and corporals. A contract signed last year, retroactive to 1981, gave Grosse Pointe Woods Police Officers Association a 9 percent salary increase over two years. The third year was open to negotiation on base salary only. A mediator failed to bring the two sides together during wage negotiations earlier this year leading to the call for binding arbitration.

Union officials said they have asked for a 7.7 percent increase in the base wage while the city's last best offer was 6 percent. The union's request would bring Woods officers up to the pay level in other Grosse Pointes with public safety departments, union officials said

Under the contract that expires June 30, 1984, officers received a 5 percent base salary hike in 1981. to $25,200. A corporal's salary increased to $26,964. In the second year of the contract, officers received a 4 percent increase in base salary to $26,208. Corporals received the same percentage increase, receiving $28,042.

Both sides said they are ready to begin bargaining for the next contract Feb. 1.

Their goal: 50,000 toys

Alright, listen up people. The Marine Corps needs your help for their annual Toys for Tots Campaign. The Marines are hoping to secure 50,000 new toys in the Detroit area for needy youngsters. Enlisting Santa's help at Grosse Pointe Cable recently were: (far left) Gunnery Sergeant Roger Redmond, Sue Davis and Chris, (lower left), Jimmy Davis (on Santa's lap), Santa and Lt. Col. Jim David, coordinator of the event and inspector-instructor of the Marine Contingent at the Brodhead Naval Armory. Grosse Pointe Cable is also offering free installation of cable television to residents contributing a new toy valued at 85 or the cash equivalent, up until Friday. Dec. 16. Local drop off points for toys include any Marine Corps Recruiting Sub-Station; Midas Muffler shops; Dy-Dee Diaper Service (pick-ups); the War Memorial and Lumen-Essence, 15129 Kercheval, in the Park. Old fire engine is hot stuff the truck and donate it to the Detroit school.

By Harriet Nolan

It turned out to be a hot time in the old court house Monday, Nov. 28 when Grosse Pointe Park City Council auctioned off a 32-year-old fire truck whose next stop, until that evening, appeared to be the scrap heap. The 1951 American LaFrance fire truck had served the Park fire department well through the years. However, the time had come to put it out to pasture because, according to Fire Chief Phillip

Costa, its get up and go had gone. Ads had been placed in the newspaper offering it for sale by bids, but none had been received. So when the Cornelius L. Golightly Technical Center on East Jefferson in Detroit asked for it, Costa recommended it be donated to the vocational

According to Golightly director Claude J. Triplett, the truck would be used to teach students the basic techniques of fire fighting.

But when you're hot, you're hot and interest was heating up for the truck. Box 42, a non-profit organization of amature fire buffs, represented by Anthony Isaac of Pemberton Road also wanted it.

In a letter dated Nov. 28, Isaac said his group was dedicated to assisting the fire service and preserving antique and unusual fire apparatus. He offered to give the LaFrance a good home and the

That's when the problem began. What's a city to do, go for the money and disappoint the vocational school or lose $600?

When Park businessmen Willie Patmon of Patmon Oldsmobile, Mike Maher of Maher Chevrolet and Diamond Phillips of the Old Place offered to buy the truck it appeared the problem was solved. But then Dutch Henricks of Maryland, who said he represented Box 42, joined in the bidding.

Wallets were opened wide and bids shouted before the smoke cleared proclaiming Patmon, Maher and Phillips the proud new owners of the truck and the city $700 richer.

Rather than fight over who gets the use of the truck as a rather large conversation piece at their businesses, they donated it to Golightly, which seemed to make a lot of people happy.

Medical Center is Cartmill's legacy sonalized responsibilities and now

By Harriet Nolan

Nostradamus had been around to have prophesied Grosse Pointe Farms resident George E. Cartmill's future he would have said look no further, the key to success can be found at Harper Hospital.

And true enough, what began as a year fulfilling a residency requirement in hospital administration in 1946 evolved into a career which will end when Cartmill, now the president of Harper-Grace Hospitals, retires December 31.

"I came here for one year and through a series of fortuitous circumstances have been here 36 years," said Cartmill, who played a substantial role in directing Harper Grace Hospitals and the Detroit Medical Center through its burgeoning growth.

The results of last spring's millage election are hitting Pointers in the pocket book this week. December tax bills have gone out in the mail, reflecting a 9.8 percent increase in school taxes, along with levies from county government, the community college and Huron-Clinton parks.

With a narrow, 225-vote victory, the school board won authority to levy a tax of 35.3 mills in last March's election. Owners of cottages in Michigan question." The bill state under the recently proposed Senate Bill 520 that would exempt owners of residential recreational property from paying school taxes to districts where they don't live. The bill, introduced last month by State Sen. Gilbert DiNello, D-East Detroit, and co-sponsored by Sen. John Kelly, D-Detroit, has been sent to the Senate Finance and Municipalities Committee. No hearings have yet been scheduled on the proposed legislation, according to Sen. Gary Corbin's office. Corbin is chairman of the committee.

DiNello said the bill was introduced to see what kind of support it could get and response has been better than expected.

'We've received about 800 letters to date in favor of the bill,' DiNello said. "That's more than we received on the income tax

The bill is aimed at starting discussion of the inequities of the current way of funding schools, DiNello added. Funding schools by a one or two percent increase in the sales tax can lower millages for school districts across the state while not affecting the fiscal needs of the local schools, he add-

The bill presently would exempt the owners of residential recreational property from paying local school, intermediate district and community college taxes on the property, Kelly said. "You wouldn't have to pay for the education of children in a com-munity in which you don't live," he added.

The proposed legislation would not exempt the property owner from paying the operating millage for local and county services, though, Kelly said. Cottage owners still receive the services from the local and county governments, including police and fire protection, garbage collection and sewage treatment, he added.

Some state education lobbies are opposed to the bill, because it may result in a loss of operating funds for school districts. Members of the Senate seem to be in favor of the legislation, Kelly add-

Since the language of the final legislation hasn't been settled yet, there is room for compromise on certain issues, Kelly said.

One of those issues may be the expansion of the school aid formula to help compensate rural districts with a high percentage of cottages for the loss of revenue. While the current formula does offer some compensation, there has to be a "more equitable" way to fund schools, he said.

The egg masses deposited in July will winter until the following spring, when the cycle begins again. Assessment scores drop in some areas

By Susan McDonald

'Grosse Pointe students didn't join the suburban Detroit trend of improving scores on this year's state assessment program. But results show the local system is still scoring among the top three in the tri-county area, according to a school official.

The 1983 Michigan Educational Assessment program gauges students' mastery of basic math and reading skills. The test results 'show us some areas of curriculum that may need improving and specifically point out individuals who need catch-up and remedial service," according to Roger McCaig, director of research and development for Grosse Pointe schools.

The tests are given in September each year to fourth, seventh and 10th grade students. Scores tell the percentage of students who mastered at least 75 percent of the objectives on each test. See the chart for Grosse Pointe's $cores.)

The only area in which Grosse Pointe students showed improvement this year was in fourth grade reading, where 92.8 percent of the students mastered at least three-quarters of the objectives. The highest score in the tri-county area in fourth grade reading, re-cently reported in a Detroit News survey, was 95.7 earned by Novi students.

Local scores were down slightly in all five other categories. Throughout the Detroit metropolitan area, suburban school districts reported scores were up about 1 percent, on the average.

About 93.6 percent of Grosse Pointe students mastered 4th grade math, compared to the high score reported by the Detroit News of 96.7 percent, again in Novi. The Pointe's seventh grade math score was 85.3 percent, compared to a high of 87.5 reported in Bloomfield Hills. The local seventh grade reading score of 94.9 was a close second to Bloomfield's top score of 95.7, reported in the Detroit News.

The Pointe's 10th grade math score of 80.3 compared to Bloomfield's high of 90.2; and 10th grade reading mastery of 90.8 percent was topped again by Bloomfield's McCaig said the decline in Grosse Pointe scores should not be a matter of alarm. "The last two years, we were in the top two (school districts). This year, we're in about third place in the tri-county area," McCaig said. He also pointed out that about 20 percent of the test items were changed by the state this year to curb cheating on the test. "I looked at our attainment on the unchanged items, and we were virtually identical to past years on most items," he said.

'We really remained about the same, other districts made some improvements. We did not," he

Which way did she go?

Grosse Fointe Park ponce report a modern-day Romeo was arrested on a Maryland apartment roof for supposedly trying to find a woman he thought lived there.

Police report that the man, a 23-year-old resident of Yorkshire Road in Detroit, told them he had arranged to meet a woman at a bar the evening of Wednesday, Nov. 30. Evidently, he amused himself by drinking when she didn't show up and he even left the bar for awhile only to return and discover she had called looking for him.

He then tried to rack his brain and thought he remembered her saying she lived above a barbershop in the area. When other patrons suggested the Maryland location because it housed a barbershop on the main floor and apartments on the second he went there. Police arrived in response to an occupant's complaint and found him tapping on a resident's window at 3:59 a.m. Thursday, Police charged him with prowling, accepted his guilty plea and fined him $100, they said. They still don't know if he ever found the mysterious Lady X.

To the uninformed, 'all Curlys' are Three Stooges films featuring the original Curley Howard who died in 1952 and was replaced by other comics. Curly is by far the most popular of the group, and when other comics appear in his place, they are frequently booed.

Minding the county store

As the first year of Wayne County govern- sponsible and accountable audit procedures. He ment under its charter nears its end and obser- admitted there have been growing pains convers begin to assess the government's performance, it is significant that most of the complaints emerge from special interest groups aligned with the old power structure in the

The other day, for example, the Detroit Free Press reported that William Lucas, the county executive, is under "mounting criticism from Democratic Party activists, labor union officials and one of Detroit's most influential black political organizations.

Well, what are their specific complaints?

One complaint is that Lucas appointed as his chief of staff Dennis Nystrom, who has three strikes against him as far as the critics are concerned. He is a Republican, he is from Oakland County and he is hard nosed in his efforts to help Lucas bring some order out of the fiscal chaos that long has characterized Wayne County government.

LUCAS, HOWEVER, disposed of such criticism by telling the Free Press that he hired people on the basis of "competence," and he wanted his own performance judged on that Another major complaint is that Lucas has been trying to transfer Wayne County General Hospital to another operating agency and cut down on county funding of medical care for the indigent. That complaint comes chiefly from some county commissioners, labor union leaders and black organizations representing hospital employes and defending the current services which are costing the county betwen $30 million and $40 million a year.

To that criticism, Lucas responds that the county's medical care costs were running out of control when he took over and that he now is working on ways to regain control of them. Thus he has reached tentative agreement with state officials on sharing the costs of the indigent health care program, with the county picking up $12 million of the tab and the state $20

In meeting these issues as well as other problems, Lucas appears to have made significant progress toward putting county government on an efficient basis. He also has revived the merit system, eliminated the cronyism that was traditional in county government, and in general cut down on the waste, inefficiency and duplication that led to huge shortfalls in county financing. But, naturally, the people who benefitted from the old system didn't like the new

one. And so now they're complaining.

But not all Democrats are complaining. John C. Hertel, the county commissioner whose constituency includes the Pointes, wrote in the Grosse Pointe News last week that "we have changed the direction of Wayne County and the change is definitely for the better.

HERTEL CITED with approval the appointment of an auditor general who under the charter is an independent member of county government and who is putting into place readmitted there have been growing pains connected with setting up a new county government of two branches, one executive and one legislative, to replace the old system under which the county board served in both capacities. But then he added:

"I strongly support the executive concept be-cause it is the most efficient way for a government to be run. The legislative branch provides the necessary checks and balances that prevent an abuse of executive power as well as introducing ordinances that will improve the functioning of government. As both branches gain a clear understanding of each other's role, inter-nal disagreements will decrease and progress toward workable solutions to long-standing problems will be accelerated. We have come a long way and I am confident of a brighter future for Wayne County."

On the same day on which the Free Press news story reported the complaints of the special interests about Lucas' role in county government, a Free Press editorial gave Lucas high marks for his efforts to put a lid on health care costs and to revamp the old cost-plus basis on which less acute care was billed at Detroit Receiving. It would up with this tribute:

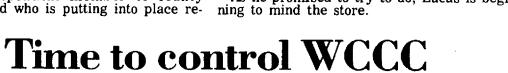

"By stubbornly managing the county, even when it has meant terrible personal abuse, Lucas is getting the job done. He has surprised us with his tenacity and we salute him for it. We hope the state will continue to cooperate in getting the problem defined and solved."

Lucas now has restored normal operations to county offices after having put employes on a four-day week which saved the county government an estimated $4 million. That effort produced another dividend. It showed most county employes that Lucas was serious about trying to cut back on county spending and that county employes would be expected to earn their pay. Unfortunately, some have not yet received the message that a new day has dawned in county government.

ONE, FOR EXAMPLE, appears to be one of Lucas' assistants, Jamil Akhtar, who is personally going to profit from a special early retirement program that he worked out for county employes. The overall program does appear to be a good one for the county but the special deal Akhtar apparently cut for himself that will enable him to start drawing hefty pension at age 43 is the kind of thing that went on in Wayne County for years and that we hoped Lucas could stamp out.

The county is not yet back on its feet but it is moving in that direction, thanks to Lucas and those who support his efforts. So when complaints are aired about the charter and Lucas, the public ought to look at the sources. For the most part the complaints come from those who benefitted from the old system and who want to keep the special relationships and perquisites that cost county taxpayers so much for so long.

As he promised to try to do, Lucas is beginning to mind the store.

It is understandable and commendable that a was fired by the college for refusing to change special state House of Representatives committee should recommend tighter control of state funds going to support Wayne County Community College in view of the college's new administrative and bureaucratic controversies. After all, the state pays about $16 million of the college's $33 million annual operating budget.

BUT CITIZENS OF the Pointes who have just received their December tax bills also have reason to complain about the WCCC along with the rest of the taxpayers in Wayne County. The property tax to support the college is less than a mill — actually 0.86 of a mill — but any tax is excessive when there is evidence of the kind of waste and worse that is still going on at WCCC. Wayne County citizens in effect are taxed twice to support the college, first through their state taxes and second through the special property tax imposed in the county. So they have two reasons to complain.

If the recent appointment of Thomas Waters as provost of the college can be regarded as a change in the high command — as perhaps it can in view of the fact the nominal president, George Bell, has been relieved of his administrative duties — it would mark the eighth shift in the school's top leadership in its 14-year history and the sixth in the last three years. The latest reshuffling, incidentally, will add another salary in the vice-presidential range, which presumably will approach Bell's $70,000 a year. Publicity about the administrative shakeup ordered by a sharply divided board - was followed by stories about another controversy. The director of an emergency medical technician program filed a lawsuit contending he the failing grades of a college trustee's sister. Whatever the outcome of this dispute, it tends to reinforce public distrust of many of the board's actions.

In the report issued last week, the House committee that was appointed in February to investigate conditions at WCCC said the college borders on inability to manage its own affairs." It criticized the board of trustees on grounds it "takes lightly the responsibility of attending to the leadership of the college." And, perhaps most important, it urged the Legislature to make Phillip Runkel, state superintendent of schools, a monitor of the college's operations to review actions of the board, audit the college's finances and review its programs and operating structure.

None of this would be particularly meaningful, however, unless the Legislature also authorized the implementation of the committee's additional recommendation that further state funds should be released to the college only with Runkel's approval. That really might tighten the purse strings, assuming the committee now can muster enough support to enact the legislation.

AT A TIME WHEN higher education in Michigan generally is starving for funds, it is shocking to permit Wayne County Community College to operate as loosely as it does in the spending of its appropriations. It is a disservice to the state, its taxpayers, and worst of all, to the students who are trying to get an education at the college. The Legislature ought to act promptly on the House committee's recommendations.

Recall is tool of willful minority

To the Editor:

I take exception to the Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools' statement, repeated continuously over the past few months, that over 93 percent of the com-munity is opposed to any school reorganization in Grosse Pointe.

They purport to have, as evidence, signatures from 7,000 people. I should like to point out that 7,000 signatures do not represent 93 percent of the population of Grosse Pointe. We have a population of 59,000 in the five Grosse

May I commend Jon Gandelot, Ernest Buechler and Catherine Brierly for their fearless stand on the closing school issue? The crude, venomous conduct of the opposing side was unprecedented in its vicious behavior.

With the future pointing to more declining enrollment, may we reach common sense and close the other three proposed schools.

School system is doomed if we consent

To the Editor:

The worst bumper sticker ever to be glued to the rearend of our cars is the one that reads: "Our Country — Love It or Leave It." It implies that, right or wrong, we're Americans and we should support our government without question. A better sticker would read: "Our Country — Let's Work to Make It Better."

This can also apply to our current controversy over school consolidations in Grosse Pointe. It seems to me that some citizens would rather let the world know that we have a problem to solve in Grosse Pointe. They are more Contrary to popular belief, concerned with the fact that the Quality Education Coali-Grosse Pointe. They are more our children are being exposed tion and the Committee for to bad manners displayed by a Neighborhood Schools are not few adults at public hearings, than they are with the fact that there are too many facets of our school system that are not the quality the administration leads us to believe. One of the greatest lessons we can teach our children, aside from good manners, is to have the courage to fight injustices at every level of their lives.

There are many of us in Grosse Pointe who feel that the recent school proposal passed by the Board of Educasweep this under the rug, than tion is an injustice not only to our school children, but to the whole community.

against school consolidations. They do feel, however, that there are definitely more intelligent and constructive ways to get the job done. The basic reason for closing any school it seems would be to save money. The board has consistently stated that this is not the case. Strangely enough, too many citizens still believe that we will be saving money with this proposal.

Recent Michigan Education Assessment Test scores for Grosse Pointe have indicated a decline in achievement for our students, especially at the middle and high school levels. Is this a trend? Is this quality?

Another misconception the board promotes is that parochial schools in our area have successful middle school programs. Not true. They have kindergarten through eighth grade programs. Our Archdiocese has never looked with favor on the middle school concept. In fact, the sixth graders in the parochial schools in the Grosse Pointe area are neither academically or socially integrated with the seventh and eighth graders, even though they may share the same facility. Further-more, their schools are smaller and the discipline strictly enforced.

If the sixth graders are moved into Parcells, there will be about as many students in just those three grades as there are in the whole K-8 programs in our area parochial schools. Not only that, Supt. Kenneth Brummel does not see any necessity for adding more counselors to our middle schools. Why, they have an overloaded student-counselor ratio now. If the sixth graders are moved to Parcells, the two counselors there will have a student ratio of approximately 325 to 1. Is this quality? Is this even sane?

If the board considers the parochial school program so successful, why not implement it in our system. We may just have enough empty classrooms in our elementary schools to accommodate a K-7 program. We could then initiate a 8-12 program in our Our middle schools. schools would make marvelous facilities to house a wide variety of community interests. They could pay for themselves. If the board is sincerely interested in being fiscally responsible, why has it supported a $50,000 plus high school hockey program. What is the matter with the Grosse Pointe hockey league? They provide enough hockey opportunity for any community. Furthermore, the board has recently approved a $9,000 to $12,000 (per year) expenditure for uniforms for our maintenance crews. Not that they don't deserve them, but is this fiscally responsible? They have managed for years without them. We are a good community, but we need a strong school system to keep it that way. We should be grateful to organizations like the Q.E.C. and the Neighborhood Committee for taking the time and effort to really investigate our school system. It is not the quality you have been led to believe it is. In fact they are responsible for letting a good deal of fresh air into areas that should have been aired-out a long time ago.

If our community consents to the board's recent inadequate school proposal, just because the so-called experts have spoken, then our school system is doomed to be in limbo for years to come. You know, there are many experts who are well educated, but lack common sense.

Dishonest governments, inept administrators and unqualified people remain in office because citizens are afraid to "rock the boat."

Let's create a great community and a strong school system that is really a "quality" one. Stand-up Grosse Pointers and be counted. We would all be wise to support the recall.

Redistricting good for Pointes

By John Kelly State Senator

Under a reapportionment plan approved by the Michigan Senate last Wednesday the Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods will remain whole in both the State Senate and the State House of Representatives. As a member of the Senate Committee on Administration, Rules and Elec-tions which dealt with Senate Bill 3 on reapportionment, I demanded and was insured that the Pointes were kept within one state legislative district prior to voting to send the reapportionment plan to the full senate for action.

I voted for Senate Bill 3, the reapportionment plan, for several reasons. The new reapportionment plan will more closely fit the principle of one person-one vote. The 1982 elections were held under a temporary plan in which there was a significant difference in population between the largest and the smallest legislative districts.

No district is a better example of this uneven plan than our First Senate which was 16 percent larger than the smallest senate district (approximately 20,000 people). The plan which this new reapportionment bill will replace was divised at the direction of the State Supreme Court as a temporary system after the bipartisan election commission prescribed by the State Constitution failed to agree on a plan.

In announcing the system, the court specifically called upon the legislature and the governor to act promptly to devise and approve a replacement plan, as the court of felt uncomfortable with its role of determining electoral districts. It said "The redistricting and apportionment plan resulting from this court's determination will stand until the people act, or it is changed by the collective action of the other two branches of this government, composed of persons who are the most immediate representatives of the people." (Supreme Court decision, March 27, 1982, page 18)

A new district boundary system was required to utilize the 1980 census data. Senate Bill 3 responds to both that need and the Supreme Court's direction, and speaks more directly to the constitutional one-man, one-vote concept. The new reapportionment plan reduces the size variance to less than 2 percent between the largest and the smallest district. Our First Senate District, under this new plan, would now have a variance of less than 1 percent.

tance to have districts of equal size so that each citizen has curately reflect the political balance of the total popular Senate districts and the 16 to 17 Republican Senate districts. Senate Bill 3 does create more the voters of Michigan have a right to expect.

I am pleased that we in the Michigan State Senate have followed the court's dictate

It is of the utmost impor- and brought about a plan that more accurately reapportions our legislative districts to reequal political power and the flect the distribution of popularesults of the elections ac- tion in the state. I am also pleased that the Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods vote. The temporary districts remain in one State Senate devised by the Supreme Court district and one State Repredid not reflect the proper sentative district. I am sure strength of 21 to 22 Democratic Representative Bryant will work to preserve the wholeness of the Pointes and Harper Woods in single legislative disequal electoral districts, which tricts when the new reapportionment plan is taken up by the House of Representative, and I will support him in this endeavor.

Advice from CPAs

Will you pay new Social Security tax?

The new Social Security law has some built-in surprises. For the first time since benefits began in 1940, some recipients will be taxed on their benefits. In addition, payroll taxes for workers and their employers will be boosted on Jan. 1, 1984 with the steepest increases hitting the self-employed.

But the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants says that understanding how the new law may affect you can shield you from some of the surprises and save you money.

The most dramatic aspect of the Social Security Amendment of 1983, which takes affect Jan. 1, 1984, is the new formula for determining if your benefits will be taxed and how much that tax will be. Another new twist is that taxexempt interest from such things as municipal bonds will now be included in calculating the amount of Social Security benefits that will be taxed.

Here's how the new formula works: each individual will have a threshold income of $25,000, below which benefits will not be taxed. For married couples filing jointly, the threshold is $32,000.

To calculate if you are above or below this threshold, simply add these three easy-to-get numbers: take the sum of this year's adjusted gross income, add to it half your Social Security benefits for the year and add to that any taxexempt interest you receive.

If the resulting amount is less than the $25,000 or $32,000 thresholds, no additional tax is due. If the resulting amount exceeds the threshold, however, you will be taxed on half the Social Security benefits or half the excess amount above the threshold, whichever is

Here's an example. Suppose that a 66-year-old retiree is filing an individual income tax return for 1984, the first year of the new law. He received a $12,000 pension, $3,000 in interest and dividends from stocks and bonds, $10,000 from tax-exempt municipal bonds and $6,000 from Social Security. His total 1984 income then, which includes only half of his Social Security benefits, would total $28,000. After subtracting the base amount of $25,000, he'd have an excess income of $3,000.

To determine his new taxable income he would add $1,500 (half the excess above the threshold, which is smaller than half the Social Security benefits) to his original taxable income of $15,000 the sum of the $12,000 pension plus $3,000 in interest from stocks and bonds. From this income of $16,500, he would subtract $2,000 in personal exemptions because he is over 65. His 1984 tax bill on $14,500 would come to roughly $1,901. Without the new Social Security law, he would have paid about $1,601 on a taxable income of

Can planning minimize the effects of the new law? CPAs say yes. When possible, it is generally advisable to shift some income out of 1984, before Dec. 31, and move it into 1983. Perhaps you can take a larger-than-usual withdrawal from your retirement account this year, and a smaller one next year. Or maybe you can sell certain assets now rather than waiting until next year when they will be included in the new tax formula and possibly push you across the

Another strategy involves delaying some expenses until next year, to reduce your gross income. For instance, you may be able to put off some deductible business expenses if you are self-employed. Or perhaps you can delay expenses on some rental property. How you plan depends on your income and your needs, CPAs say.

In addition to taxing benefits, and including tax-exempt bonds in the formula, the new law has another wrinkle: steeper payroll taxes will be imposed over the next six years. While the effects on worker's paychecks will be buffered in 1984 -- because a tax credit will offset the boost — those who are self-employed will feel the pain. In 1984, they will be required to pay a 14 percent self-employment tax. While this will be offset somewhat by a 2.7 percent tax credit, it still represents a sharp increase over the 1983 rate of 9.35 percent. Paris showing for ex-Pointe artist Works by Grosse Pointe native Lisa N. Morphew, a photographer and painter, are on exhibit this month in a one-person show at the Jeffries Gallery in Paris, France.

Mrs. Morphew, 31, who attended South High School and Wayne State University, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert W. Groehn, of Bedford Road in the Park. The artist now lives and studies in Cameron, N.C.

The Paris show will feature her figurative photographs, which the Jeffries Gallery described as "delicately sensual, yet hauntingly representative of the anonymousness of contemporary American life."

Mrs. Morphew says her figures "are an attempt to reclaim the personal sensuality of the human form that has been so battered by the advertising media.

Her paintings have recently been included in The Energy Art Show at the Foothills Art Center in Golden, Colo., and the 1983 Painting Southeast in the Florida Coast Art Center in Belleair, Fla.

Tribute paid to James Steen, All-American

Family, friends and former teammates turned out Saturday, Nov. 26, to pay tribute to James Steen, 70, of the Park. Steen, former all-American and ex-Detroit Lions' tackle, died Wednesday, Nov. 23.

He played football when helmets were made of leather and the men who wore them were made of iron. He had a president for a teammate in two games in 1934 and played for the Lions when they made the championship game in 1935.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y. in 1913, Steen attended Syracuse University, where he received his degree in mechanical engineering. He was also captain of the football team, earning All-American honors in 1934 as well.

Also that year, Steen was named to the All-East team and played in the East-West Game as well as with the College All-Star team. One of the teammates was former President Gerald Ford, who then was playing football for the University of Michigan.

the University of Michigan.

Later that year, Steen turned down a Rhodes Scholarship to pursue a professional football career with the Detroit Lions. At less than 200 pounds, he remains one of the lightest left tackles ever to play professional football. In his two years with the Lions, Steen was part of the squad that took the Lions to the 1935 league championship game.

championship game.

He continued his affiliation with the Lions and sports, serving for 11 years as secretary-treasurer of the Lions Alumni Association. He also coached various sports in the area and was one of the commissioners for Grosse Pointe area football. He also spent many years as a Junior Achievement counselor as well as serving as president of the Grosse Pointe South Dads Club.

In 1970, Steen was named Letterman of Distinction by Syracuse University.

In 1978, Steen retired from Chevrolet after spending almost 40 years with the company. He started in 1939 as an hourly employe at the Detroit Gear and Axle plant as a mechanic. In 1942, he was transferred to Chevrolet Tonawanda where he was promoted to a salaried position as a service representative.

In 1944, Steen took a two-year military leave. He received his naval indoctrination at Princeton University and served in the Navy as a lieutenant junior grade.

Returning from the Navy, he was promoted to senior engineer. In 1948, he was transferred to Indianapolis, where he was promoted to superintendent of inspection Steen moved up steadily in the company, becoming assistant manager-quality control and finally manager, product assurance-manufacturing, a position he held at retirement.

The photographer travels by motor through the countryside to visit the prehis-toric settlement of Biscutin, the Polish Pompeii, and Cracow, where Pope John Paul II was Cardinal before being elected to the Papacy.

There are scenes of reconstructed Warsaw, the city of Cop-ernicus and Mme. Marie Curie. Also shown is the Heroes of the Ghetto Memorial, the site of the former Jewish ghetto. In Czetochowa the camera films the religious shrine of Our Lady of Czetochowa, and quaint villages with views of haying, milking, and old wooden windmills.

In Czechoslovakia the camera visits the scenic countryside in the

GP Cable plans reorganization

By Jan. 1, you can expect to see some changes in programming and channel numbers on Grosse Pointe Cable.

One of those changes will be moving the local access programming from its current channel 17 to channel 3, company general manager Gerald DeGrazia said. As well as having a new spot on the converter, the local channel will have a new motto and logo designed by a local high school student, he added.

The move is part of a realigning of channel space to open up other channels for additional programming to be included in the basic cable package, DeGrazia said. He added he couldn't be more specific about the additions to the basic package since the company is still negotiating for program-

Families may choose from more than 480,000 trees at the 63 cutyour own tree farms on the Auto Club's 1983 guide.

Prices for the state's most common variety, Scotch pine, start at $3.50 cents more than last year's lowest price. Trees which are large or difficult to grow in Michigan, including Colorado spruce and Douglas fir, cost up to $40. $5 more than last year's top

Santa Claus will visit with children during weekends at farms near Mayville, Otisville, Grand Blane and Brighton. Visitors also can combine choosing a tree with shopping for Christmas trims at several farms.

Cutters can reserve trees at 17 farms on the Auto Club's list 'Because supplies go fast at many plantations, those looking for trees after Dec. 15 should call to check what's available before visiting farms," advised Drury.

The Auto Club offers these tips to those planning trips to cutyour-own Christmas farms:

• Take a hand saw. Most farms lend saws, but taking your own saves time if all are in use. Axes are banned.

• Cut the tree close to the ground. Shake trees in the field to remove old needles. Ten farms on the Auto Club's guide will mechanically clean trees.

• To help them hold their needles while displayed, cut Norway, white and black spruce and Balsam fir trees at temperatures above 40 degrees. At colder temperatures those varieties drop needles more easily than pines and Douglas firs.

• Take twine to tie trees to cars, although most farms have rope. To help the tree withstand wind while being transported, tie its base at the front of the car. Thirty-tree farms will wrap trees for easy transport.

• At home, cut an inch or two off the bottom of the tree and immediately place it in a stand filled with water. Check water level

 Keep trees in a cool area, away from flames and heating ducts. Before decorating, check tree lights for bare wires. Take care not to overload electrical out-mainstream of the community.

In that context, individuals and their employers will decide whether older workers will continue to work or to retire. Schools, churches, senior centers, libraries, clubs and other community organizations will decide whether to create places and times for people to learn and to teach. Families will decide whether they will shelter and care for their aged or frail parents or whether they will rely on institutions for the care.

Those expected to attend the conference will be workers in the field of aging and all others con-cerned with the well-being of older persons. They will listen to debates, attend demonstrations, training sessions and caucuses all geared toward improving the lot

People are calling and complaining about the increase, Fenton said, and many appear to be confused about recent publicity about school closings. "They call and ask, 'Why are taxes going up so much if you've closed schools?' "Fenton said. "The fact is, we're not scheduled to close any until the fall of 1984."

Besides local school taxes, the December bill includes levies from Wayne County (7.07 mills), the Intermediate School District (1.11 mills), Wayne County Community College (0.86 mills), and the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Park Authority (0.25 mills).

That all adds up to 41.14 mills, or a tax of $2,468.40 on a home whose assessed valuation is $60,000. (Assessed value equals half of true market val-

The decline ranged from 5.6 percent in the Farms, to 4 percent in the Woods, to 3.6 percent in the Park to 2.8 percent in the City. The program's theme is: "1984 and Beyond: Options for an Aging Society." The meetings will focus on how society can enhance the lives of those who are older today and tomorrow.

In the advance notice, NCOA President Arthur S. Fleming points out that this July, people more than 65 years old outnumbered teenagers for the first time in U.S. history. There also are post-conferences planned. One immediate following the Washington conference is a study mission to Vienna and Budapest to explore the field of gerontology in two vastly different societies.

Another study mission will take participants to Britain in October. There will be a meeting there with the Ministry of Health and they will have the opportunity to talk with professionals working in London.

To see how Britain provides services to the elderly in rural areas, participants will travel to Cirencester, a historic market town serving a large rural area. Local specialists will speak to the NCOA study group and there will be visits to local programs and facilities.

Out of such meetings as this annual NCOA conference come suggestions that will help to insure the good life for older citizens. It takes a bit of cooperation from the individual. The govern-ment, social workers, health experts and gerontologists can work to improve conditions and opportunities but much depends on the will and spirit of each individual.

B.F. Skinner, the well-known behavioral psychologist, known for his work with children, points this out in his book in collaboration with Harvard Associate Margaret Vaughn. The book is as direct as its title; "Enjoy Old Age, A Program of Self-Management." The thesis is: "Attack old age as a problem to be solved."

Skinner, who is 79, discusses problems as only a person writing for his contemporaries can. The book is, as the authors admit, not a scientific treatise. It is more like friendly advice. The friendly advice runs from hints on how to remember names to warnings against turning into a bore or a backseat driver. The overall point is typical Skinner. From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

Looking for something special in the way of Christmas gifts? Ever thought of giving your someone special a "January break:" a mini-vacation for the mind and body after the bustle and flurry of the holidays? Consider the four day (Jan. 26-29) trip to New York that has been planned by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Council of Sponsors — not to see Broadway productions although, with their evenings free, tour participants may choose to take in one or two, but to meander through the city's most prestigious antique galleries.

This trip, first that the Council has sponsored, will be fully escorted by interior designer Barbara Seichter, instructor of the War Memorial's popular "History of Furniture" seminars. Barbara, who holds a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree, has taken advanced studies in the decorative arts at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The first stop will be Kent Shire Gallery, largest antique gallery in Manhattan, open only to the trade. After touring Kent Shire's six floors of English, French and Oriental art and antiques, the group will move on to Hyde Park Antiques, Ltd., an estate re-sale shop that specializes in English antiques.

At William Doyle Galleries, Inc. where the "old money look" can be bought (estates of Mellons, Morgans and Rockefellers have all gone on the block here), Mr. Doyle has extended a private invitation to the War Memorial visitors to join him for refreshments, an informative talk and a personally conducted tour of his establishment.

And that's just the first day's schedule. Other stops over the next two days will include Florian Papp, Inc., where gallery director Melinda Papp will give a lecture; E. & J. Frankel, Ltd., New York's top gallery for Oriental art; a visit to the Armory for the New York Antique Show and a tour of the American Wing of the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Every night, it's back to the Plaza to rest up for the next day's activities. Sounds like a dream of a "January break," doesn't it? Mrs. Gordon T. Ford is chairing the tour on behalf of the Council of Sponsors. Cost is $660, including air fare and transfer to and from Metro airport to the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, a definite plus, because who wants to drive to and from Metro under blizzard conditions? And that CAN happen at the end of January, you know! For additional details, call 881-7511.

Visit Vienna, Tomorrow Night

If you can't wait to take a break at the end of January — in the midst of the bustle and flurry of the holidays, you need a break RIGHT NOW! - consider waltzing the night away in Old Vienna at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial tomorrow evening. Two new attractions have been added to the program at this month's presentation of the War Memorial's traditional Viennese evening: the Austrian Society dancers will perform a group of their native folk dances at each intermission, and a Viennese style midnight supper in Alger House will follow the ball. Deck the halls of Detroit's Historical Museum.

It was a family affair for Farms residents EARL and LE-NORA STOETZER, who recruited daughter SHIRLEY FOR-TUNE and Shirley's son, JACK, to lend a hand in decorating the Detroit Historical Museum for the holidays. The Stoetzer clan is pictured at left putting final touches on its trees while, in the right hand picture, Pointer SUE JACKSON (right) joins the mother/daughter team of MARY and EILEEN McGRAW to deck a tree in one of the museum's Rooms of Tradition. Each year for the past 20, Detroit Historical Society Guild members, their relatives and friends have descended upon the Detroit Historical Museum on a Sunday in late November, to "deck the halls for the holidays." The museum's Christmas season began officially last Thursday, with the Detroit Historical Society's third annual December First Party which attracted a capacity crowd to the Streets of Old Detroit exhibit hall, where cocktails were served prior to an evening of dining and dancing around a 50-foot Christmas tree in the museum rotunda. Highlight of the dinner was a revolving dessert table, its tiers laden with everything from banana splits to popsicles. Proceeds from the dinner dance benefit will be used for museum improvements.

Susan Gmeiner wed October 8

At home in Harper Woods are Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Marvin Vandenbroeck whose wedding Saturday, October 8, in Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore was followed by a candlelight dinner and dancing at the Detroit Yacht Club. The former Susan Colleen Gmeiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gmeiner, of McKinley Avenue, selected a gown of white satin, styled with a slightly elongated bodice and a skirt which extended into a chapel train, for the 2 o'clock ceremony.

Her open, ruffled neckline and tulip-shaped sleeves were outlined with pearled braiding. Her head-piece was a pleated, white satin pillbox with a short face veil, gathered high in back to emphasize the detail of her plunging, V-backed dress, accented with a long, satin bow.

She wore opera length gloves, and the diamond earrings designed and given her by the bridegroom's mother, and carried an arm bouquet of white roses, gardenias and ivy, with baby's-

Papa Stout, a retired tinsmith turned woodcarver, has built six castles and five dollhouses for his 11 grandchildren in the past decade. Children who visit his workshop can watch him build a stage. coach.

Reservations (the $4 charge includes a gift) are needed for these, half-hour workshops, and for Breakfast with Santa this Saturday, Dec. 10, between 9 and 11 a.m. ($3.50).

The Austrian Society Dancers, under the direction of Karla LaGodna and Jim Daniska, give authentic performances of the dances of the various Austrian provinces. Their program tomorrow night will include the laendler and other country waltzes, polkas, courting dances and the lively Hungarian Czardas.

At one intermission, Alex and Maribel Suczek, organizers of the event, will continue their own War Memorial Viennese Christmas Ball tradition, leading the singing of two Austrian carols and a Viennese song. The dancing music is provided by a Johann Strauss style salon orchestra led by Dr. Robert Warner, former Dean of the University of Michigan School of Music.

The midnight supper is by advance reservation only, at $7.50 per person. Persons holding tickets for the ball, which begins at 9 p.m. Friday, Dec. 9, and ends at the witching hour, should, if they wish to stay on for the supper, contact the War Memorial, 881-7511, as soon as possible.

A World of Table Treasures

Grosse Pointe travel buffs Diamond T. and Marge Phillips will share some of their international treasures to help celebrate the Diamond Anniversary of historic Cranbrook House in Bloomfield Hills as participants in "Holiday Magic," an annual event combining the splendor of elegant, around-the-clock table settings created by area notables with a traditional tea and an old-fashioned boutique and pastry shop.

Vacations at an English estate in The Cotswolds and a castle in France, a 150-year-old farmhouse and other historic, exotic locale have allowed the Phillipses to indulge their fancy for purchasing treasures that now accent their penthouse home above The Old Place, one of Diamond's three restaurants, and in the restaurants (Little Harry's and The Golden Lion, in addition to The Old Place) themselves.

They've selected "Sentimental Heirlooms" as their Holiday Magic theme, and will adorn their Christmas table with accourrements from England, Ireland, Belgium and Hong Kong. They'll feature hand-fashioned runners of antique Belgian lace, both the long runner, of Torchon lace, and the shorter, Bruges lace runner distinguished by the drawn work known as "a-jour," with English Wedgwood and Royal Crown Derby china, Irish crystal fruit bowls, gold leaf service plates from Hong Kong and a French, hand-blown and decorated Green Lustre centerpiece.

Holiday Magic at Cranbrook House runs for three days: Sunday, Dec. 11, from noon to 4 p.m. and Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 12 and 13, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Admission is $5, payable at the door. Pre-sale tickets, at $4, are available by calling 645-3149. Guest musicians will s are treated to an elegant English tea. and visitors will have a chance to win an original Marshall Fredericks plaque.

Christmas Walk in Palmer Woods

The Detroit Symphony League's 24th annual holiday home tour, "A Christmas Walk through the Woods," will take participants house-hopping through six architecturally unique, festively decorated homes this Sunday, Dec. 11, from noon to 5 p.m. and Monday, Dec. 12, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The residences on display range from a magnificent English Tudor with an elegant, marble staircase in the front hall, jesso ceilings, carved moldings and panelling and a Pewabic tile-floored solarium, to a modern split-level (five stories of living area) featuring a multi-windowed, redwood-panelled family room/indoor pool

Special features are a Holiday Craft Boutique offering unique, handcrafted gifts, and a Christmas Walk "branch" of the DSL's popular Music Box Boutique, newly-stocked with seasonal decorations, gift wrap, stocking stuffers and other holiday goodies. There'll be seasonal music by the Symphony League's Choraliers throughout the Monday Walk.

Ticket prices remain the same as last year: $6 for advance group sales (10 or more), $7 for advance individual tickets and $8 if purchased at the door. All are tax deductible, for Christmas Walk proceeds go to the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's Annual Fund. On our side of town, ticket information and reservations may be obtained by calling 886-0098, 822-1257 or 881-4838.

WJBK-TV and WNIC Radio Weatherman Chuck Gaidica, honorary chairman of the Walk through the Woods, will be on hand Sunday to inaugurate the home tour. He promises "crisp, clear weather, with just a sprinkling of snow," but even if it's sunny and dry, visitors will be asked to remove their shoes when they enter the houses. It's a good idea to tuck a pair of non-skid slippers in your purse or pocket.

And PLEASE — no children under 10! For obvious reasons . . . besides: you'll enjoy your Christmas Walking so much more if you leave them at home.

A new setting for Papillons

Les Papillons Liturgical Dancers constantly display their ver-satility in adapting the dances in their repertoire to the different sizes and dimensions of the many churches at which they appear. The troupe is pictured above performing "Let All The Earth Praise The Lord," to Scripture reading from the Apocrypha, at their sponsor church, Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian — but this evening, Thursday, Dec. 8, from 7:30 to 8 p.m., they will face a new challenge, appearing in a program in a very different setting: the second level of Jacobson's-in-the-Village.

They will dance "Praise God for the Body, Praise God for the Son," a circle dance expressing the Unity of God with His Church and with Mankind, and "The Light of Christ has Come into the World," a lyrical dance appropriate to the Christmas season. This number follows and merges with a poignant rendition of "The Annunciation," danced to a reading of the story of Gabriel's appearance to Mary in St. Luke.

The program concludes with a performance of the troupe's newest dance, "Gloria:" an act of praise and thanksgiving using ballet techniques and lifts.

Performing to the accompaniment of taped readings from Scripture as well as music will be Lizzie Bolden, Jenny Eshleman, Steve Honkanen, Becky Engelbrecht, Mary Lee Strother, Janet Miller, Ellen Probert and Eunice Whitaker, Les Papillons' director and choreographer.

The troupe, although sponsored by Woods Presbyterian, numbers among its dancers Catholics, Episcopalians and Lutherans as well as Presbyterians.

Lucia to reign at Immanuel

A traditional Lucia Festival will be celebrated this Sunday, Dec. 11, at 5:30 p.m. in Immanuel Lutheran Church, Chandler Park Drive and Dickerson in Detroit, "home church" of the area's Swedish-American community.

This event is a high point in the lives and memories of congregation members who are of Swedish heritage, but it is meaningful and interesting to non-Scandinavians as well and Immanuel welcomes all to its festival. Among Grosse Pointe residents involved in presenting it this year are Mrs. Carl Ohman, Mrs. Carl Thomas, Mrs. Marvin Peterson, Mrs. Andrew Unger and Mrs. H.T. Ward.

In homes throughout Sweden early on the morning of Dec. 13, the eldest daughter, robed in white, a crown of lighted candles set in lingonberry leaves on her head, wakes her parents, offering them coffee and fancy currant buns known as "lussekat-ter." Sweden's Christmas season begins on this Lucia Day.

The legend of the lovely Sicilian maiden adopted by the Swedes as their Queen of Lights will be re-told at Immanuel's Lucia Festival. As "Santa Lucia" is sung, Immanuel's Lucia processes down the candelit church aisle, escorted by her attendants. Until her appearance, no one knows who the year's Lucia will be. She will be introduced by last year's Lucia, Lorna Rose, of Harper Woods. Swedish and American carols will be sung by the guests and the Scandia Women's Chorus, and Immanuel's Lady of the Year will be intro-duced by Pastor William Heil.

Following the pageant, Lucia will serve coffee in the church Fellowship Hall, where a refreshment table will feature Christmas cookies. Swedish coffeebread and spicecake. There will be demonstrations and workshops on how to make traditional Swedish Christmas tree candies and ornaments, nut baskets and potato sausage. Julto-mte, the Swedish Christmas gnome, will distribute candies to

There is no charge for the program, but donations will be accepted at the refreshment table to supplement the Food Closet: Immanuel's community service to people in need of food for their

Nutty tour for Questers

A special Christmas treat for members of the Grosse Pointe Chapter of Questers No. 147 will take them to the Variety Nut and Date Company, located on Chicago Road in Warren, tomorrow, Friday, Dec. 9. Mrs. James Champane Jr., who will hostess the group, promises car pools will be available.

NANCY WILLIAMS, of Roland Court, completed 75 hours of study by becoming an American citizen in late July. Mrs. Williams, a native of Windsor who grew up in Toronto, has lived in Grosse Pointe for several years.

Mrs. Champane will conduct a tour of the facilities and give a brief talk on the history of the company, family-owned for over 75 years, which features candies from various countries; nuts roasted on the premises and selections of gift-boxed cookies, ship-ped by order throughout the Unit-

The meeting begins at 10 a.m. and will end after Mrs. Champane serves luncheon on the premises and a group of members presents a "Christmas Past" program, describing decorations of Colonial times, preparation of foods and early traditions.

View Islamic textiles at DIA

More than 80 well-preserved examples of rare early Islamic fabrics known as "tiraz" are displayed at the Detroit Institute of Arts through Sunday, Jan. 8, in the first showing of these 10th through 13 century textiles from the museum's permanent celled the museum's permanent collec-

The term "tiraz," from the Persian word for embroidery, refers not only to the decorative bands of script on the clothing material, but also to the workshops in which the material was woven and decorated. The fragments on display, although produced in many countries, were found in the burial grounds of Fustat (Old Cairo) and sites in Upper Egypt, where they were preserved by the dry climate. All date from a period when Egypt was part of the Islamic domain.

The tiraz factories were either private, creating robes for royalty and the court, or public, fashioning robes for wealthy merchants who frequently exported them. Quality control of all the workshops was supervised by the ruling caliph's officials.

The earliest examples date to the Abbasid Caliphs, who govern-ed Islam from Baghdad; at this time, tiraz fabrics were being produced in Egypt, Iraq, Southern Arabia (Yemen) and Persia. The Abbasid pieces are adorned only with elegant, angular Kufic script embroidered in silk, sometimes painted or gilded.

The informative inscription usually begins with the "Basmala" ("In the name of God the Compassionate, the Merciful"), followed by the name and titles of the ruling caliph, pious wishes, the name of the vizier (the caliph's principal minister) and frequently the names of the governor and supervisor of the tiraz treasurer of the Founders Junior factory. Another phrase, designa- Council.

ting the factory as public or private, identifying the city and date of manufacture, often follows.

By the 11th century, the power of the Abbasids had waned and Egypt was ruled by the Shiite Fatimid Caliphs who continued the tradition of tiraz production, gradually introducing a rich and varied decorative repertoire. Tapestry-woven bands of floral forms, scrolls, bird and animal designs and short phrases re-placed the lengthy calligraphic motifs.

Linen tiraz fabrics were woven in Egypt. Those originating in Iraq and Persia were made of cotton, silk or mulham (silk warp, cotton weft). Textiles from the Yemen were made of cotton.

The exhibit, organized by the DIA's Department of Ancient Art, is free, open to the public during regular museum hours: 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. A free Masterwork of the Week talk presented at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 7, will be repeated Friday, Dec. 9, by Elsie Peck, associate curator of Near Eastern

Pointer of Interest

By Janet Mueller

It was, originally, her mother's idea. Mary Belle Moesta collects Royal Copenhagen; it was she who steered her artist daughter, Beth, toward a series of limited edition (200 annually, numbered and signed) Grosse Pointe Christmas Plates.

"At first we wanted to make a mold, make so many plates, then break the mold." But that proved financially prohibitive, so Beth turned to decals. "I do the original drawings, then have the decals made in New York. Then I rim the plates in gold and have

Her first subject, in 1981, was Saint Paul's-on-the-Lake, her second, in 1982, the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. This year her focus is Cook School: the quaint building, with its little, pointed steeple, that housed eight grades of children in one room from 1890 subjects thoroughly, at the library and via personal interviews. Each all her 30 years in The Park. "My great-great-grandfather of her fine porcelain china plates comes with a short history of the landmark depicted. St. Paul's was selected because of its "beautiful Gothic architecture and significant history," because, after 100 years, "neither time, nor storms, nor mists blowing off Lake St. Clair have dimmed its beauty."

The War Memorial was an obvious choice. Alger House began its life as one of the most magnificent of Grosse Pointe's magnificent private lakeside mansions and remains the nucleus of a community center that, for the past 34 years, has been Grosse Pointe's educational, social and cultural heart. "It shall remain an essential part of community life for generations to come," Beth predicts at the conclusion of her War Memorial Christmas Plate his-modern facilities were built. The children moved into them, and Cook School became the Church of Christ Mission for a time, then, in the mid-1940s, the studio of John Sweeney, pianist for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

The school stood empty after Mr. Sweeney left Detroit, until it was purchased in 1967 and meticulously restored by Marc and Gertrude Alan. Mr. Alan, a financial advisor and investor, now uses it to house his business.

This year, the Grosse Pointe Historical Society officially dedi-cated the lovely little building as an historical site. Beth was introduced to - and fell in love with -Cook School through a secretary who worked there, had seen the Christmas Plates and invited the artist to come in, have a talk, take a look around . . . which the artist did, and departed not only with the subject for her 1983 Christmas "HOUSES ARE fascinating," Plate, but a part-time job!

"They were looking for part-time help at the time," Beth ex-plains. Typically, she seized the opportunity at hand.

Beth Moesta is a sixth generation Grosse Pointer who has lived owned a strip farm that ran from Mack Avenue down to the lake on what is now known as Somerset, which is where I presently live in a house built by my grandfather.' It's just a few doors away from the house where she spent the first three years of her life.

> THE NEXT-DOOR duplex was once a field in which she played as a little girl. Defer School was once a rhubarb patch on her great-great-grandfather's

> Her parents live on Grayton Road, with the cat Beth left behind when she moved out about five years ago. "An indoor/outdoor cat, who wouldn't be happy in an apartment," Beth explains. So she makes do with two cats who do very well in an upper flat, and visits the third when she visits "Studio East" at her parents' home. That's where she works on the Christmas Plates.

does. There's a lot of that Every-

She attended St. Clare School

She's written a children's book, which she hopes to have published after she's completed the illustrations. She does house portraits in watercolor. The house portraits pre-date the Christmas Plates, for Beth did her first ones in 1979 as Christmas presents for her parents and two sisters. She's done a number of Grosse Pointe houses, she believes. "Each has its own characteristics, reflects its owners, present and past." And sometimes, you can glimpse the future. "One woman wanted to add shutters to her house, so she had me paint them on to show her husband how nice they would look!"

She'd intended to donate her Ford House to the Ford Estate, but was persuaded to put it up for bids at last year's Grosse Pointe Jaycee auction. It was bought by a man from Ypsilanti. As a new member of the Jaycees, who only recently began accepting women "The state organization says we have to be called Jaycettes. We prefer Grosse Pointe Jaycee Women."). Beth was delighted to make a contribution to the group. But she was sorry to see her Ford House portrait leave The Pointe.

She's tinkering with a new idea, an item for young teens. Ultimately, she'd like to get more into fine arts, devote more time to serious painting. And she'd like to do more traveling. "I was in Paris in '81. I'd love to go back. I've been to Hawaii . . . The truth is: every six months I get the 'itchies'." If she can't hop a plane or train, she works off the urge to get going by working out at Vic Tanny's. It is, at least, movement.

Beth's not sure about the subject for her 1984 Christmas Plate, but in 1985 it will be Grosse Pointe South High School. "Because that's when my oldest niece — the first one I diapered - graduates." Beth has three nieces and four nephews, children of her sisters, Maureen and Anne. They all live within a mile of each other, Anne in their grandmother's old house on Balfour Road.

Christmas is Beth Moesta's busiest season. There are house portrait commissions in addition to the Christmas Plates, available this year at Bon Secours Hospital Gift Shop and Persnickety Pedlar on-the-Hill where Beth is available today, Thursday, Dec. 8, to sign and number them.

It was, originally, her mother's idea, and Beth is grateful to her mother for having it. For it has been, for Beth, a learning experience. Through the research she must do on each building, she has become aware of the community's roots, and her own roots within the community. Through the plates themselves, and their accompanying histories, she is able to share that awareness with the community.

Beth Moesta's Grosse Pointe Christmas Plate Series is dedicated to her mother, Mary Belle Hey, hockey head! Yeah, you!

Okay, all you crazy hockey heads out there. We're going to turn our attention to your favorite sport this week . .

- So, a National Hockey League record crowd of 21,019 people showed up at Joe Louis Arena the day after Thanksgiving to see the Red Wings play the Pittsburgh Penguins. I'd expect that kind of crowd for the Pittsburgh Steelers, yes; maybe even the Pirates, if they're playing the Dodgers. But the Penguins? There aren't 21.019 people in the whole state of Pennsylvania who would come out to see the Pittsburgh Penguins . . . not even if the pope played goal.
- Boy, the floor in Joe Louis Arena sure gets wet and slimy when there are 21,019 people in the seats. (Next time, they ought to keep those messy Penguins on the ice and out
- I'll bet the C-line on any Grosse Pointe Hockey Association Mite House team could get a couple of goals against
- I'm seeing more and more GPHA teams in the stands at Red Wing games. I'm sure they pick up a lot of pointers from the resurgent Wings, but I think the real advantage for these little guys is all that off-ice training they get at games: running up and down the stairs, dodging coaches and chaperones, wrestling with their buddies, breaking speed records in getting from the hot dog stand and back 30 times per period. And I'm sure that the ones sailing paper airplanes through the arena are goalies, just trying to pick up a little added hand-eye coordination, right guys? I think I get a bigger kick out of watching them than I do at watching the game.
 - Thinks I like about Red Wing games:
- Parking in the Cobo Hall garage instead of that six-story nightmare they call the Joe Louis Arena Parking Garage. That Louis garage is the kind of place they should look for Jimmy Hoffa in: spooky.
- Watching JLA ushers trying to direct drunks to their seats while everybody already seated is screaming "Sit Down!" It's better than the on-ice action, sometimes.
- Hearing fans laugh hysterically when the JLA scoreboard shows a graphic of a skater knocking down a goalie with a scoring shot. Come on, people, that dumb graphic is about two years old; but from the crowd reaction you'd think the Beverly Hillbillys just got into town. Talk about
- Things I Don't like about Red Wing games:
- When people chant obscenities at the drop of a hat. It was funny at first, but not so humorous anymore.
- When they pick the "three stars" at the end of the game. I almost never pick the same three and that worries me. I mean, I know what I'm doing, so they must be wrong, right? I hope.
- When everybody gets up and starts filing out of the arena — with three minutes to go in the game, no matter with the score. I wouldn't care if they'd just get up and leave, but they keep turning around, stopping and standing in front of those still seated, everybody gets mad and youknow-who ends up missing a goal.
- I think I'm going to like high school hockey.

There's a certain excitement to the high school game that's missing from the pro contest; at least from what I've (Continued on Page 2C)

Pointe products set sail for the 1984 Olympics

By Peggy O'Connor

Glenn and Bruce Burton know all about the history of Olympic sailing. They know that one brother combination won the 1981 World Championships and another took the Olympic gold medal in sailing in 1976. And now the Olympic sailing gold is up for grabs in Long Beach, Calif., in 1984 . . . and the Burtons want to be the brother team that wins it.

The Burtons are Michigan's best known and most successful sailing brothers and if any brother combination can win the gold medal, it's the Burton Connection: Glenn, 25, and Bruce, 28. Each has been sailing for as long as he can remember, starting very early in the waters around Grosse Pointe.

"We've been racing seriously since I was about 13 and Glenn was around 10," Bruce says, "But we really started going for the Olympics in 1973."

That's when crew Glenn and helmsman Bruce rose to the top of their class sailing "470s." The Detroit River Yachting Association named Bruce Burton "Junior Sailor of the Year," and the Burtons were on their way. They moved up to the Etchell 22 class when their combined weight made it impractical to keep sailing 470s. "You've got to be a little weasel to sail those and win, 'the well-built Glenn says, laughing.

Back then, the Burtons were still living in Grosse Pointe. South High graduate Glenn lived on Somerset Road until last year, when he moved to Detroit. Bruce now lives in Marine City; he was graduated from University Liggett School.

One day in 1977, the Burtons were dining with Bayview Yacht Club member Sherman Handy, a world class coach. Handy convinced the brothers to begin sailing in the Flying Dutchman class. They thought about it in 1977, the Burtons say, then did something about it in 1978; they set their sights on the 1984 Olympics in Los Despite being relative newcomers to the Flying Dutchman, the Burtons discovered that they were way ahead of schedule for the 1984 Olympics — about four years ahead. "When we started out, we figured that 1984 would be our goal. Realistically, we knew it would be tough to beat guys who had been preparing for the 1980 Olympics longer than we had. We just decided to concentrate on '84,'' Bruce recalls.

since the Burtons haven't sailed in any ranked regattas, they can only estimate that they would be ranked at around the No. 3 posi-

As confident in their ability as the Burtons are, they admit that in general, the road to the Olympies may not be that smooth. Financial problems are quite real, the pair say

"Our total expenses are never covered. We work and then sail as much as possible. A lot of competitors are completely sponsored. Glenn and I are amateurs in the true sense of the word," Bruce

The Burtons got some help in that area when the Detroit Yacht Club sponsored a benefit dinner for them Nov. 17. More than 400 of the brothers' supporters showed up to give financial and emotional assistance. Area sailing fans can vantage in both the still contribute to the Burtons' effort—and the Olympics through the USISA, P.O. Box 209, Newport, R.I., 03540.

Then there's the problem the Burtons have had against European sailors, one which Bruce awards set says may have been responsible for two 12th place finishes in the last two world championships after their top ranking in 1981. we've had a problem with European sailors. I think it's a typical problem of American sailors -- a lack of practice in heavy winds. Despite the number of regattas we've sailed, we haven't had the practice European sailors get in those high winds," Bruce says.

Even California sailors come closer to the Europeans in practice time than midwesterners like chairman of the event, the Burtons. "It's a problem. The advantage tends to go to the people who get to sail all year,' plans ... until the 1980 U.S. boy-cott of the Olympics changed them back, and the Burtons again were on track for 1984. And along the way, they've earned two national championships, were ranked the No. 2 boat in the 1981 world championships and earned a silver medal in the 1983 Can-

''The way we're moving right now in our training program . . . well, we leave nothing to chance, Glenn says. "There's just no doubt that our training program is better than the others'. I say to myself: 'I've beaten all these guys' (in training regattas) and I've beaten them badly,' "Bruce adds:

Training-wise, the Burtons think they're set. They've managed to iron out a few minor problems with their new 19 foot, 10-inch Fly-ing Dutchman. They'll go to Eur-ope Dec. 17 to begin sailing aix (Continued on Page 2C)

In one of the most exciting games of the Mite season, the Rangers skated to a 2-1 victory over the undefeated Art Van Kings. The Rangers tallied late in the first period on an unassisted goal from Kenny Holman and the Rangers increased their lead when Adam MacDonald, tipped in his own rebound.

But the Kings broke through early in the third period on a goal by Pete Morgan, assisted by Eric Kisskalt. Both teams battled hard but fine goaltending of Kings' Paul Megler and Rangers' Galen Dossin prevented either from increasing the score.

The defensive play of Rangers Sam Hartson and Amy Kendall, as well as strong back-checking of Nate Bayko helped the Rangers to their well-deserved first win.

The Magics scored a late third period goal on a fine individual effort of Scottie Wieczorkowski who split the defense to bring the game within one. But with only 28 seconds left in the game, Ranger Sam Hartson put the game out of reach by scoring his first goal of the season. Assists went to Rangers' Kendall, Galen Dossin, Hartson and MacDonald. Magics' Carl Rashid assisted on his team's only goal while serving double duty due to injury and illness of teammates.

Third period action saw the Kings' Morgan complete his hat trick with Kisskalt earning the playmaker award. The Black Hawks closed out the scoring with a goal from Stephen Wesley assisted by Andrew Baskel. Goaltender Brent Kuhar recorded the victory for the Kings.

BLACK HAWKS-BRUINS

The Black Hawks defeated the Bruins, 3-1, as the Hawks scored first on a pretty passing play by Andy Baskel to Steve Wesley who made no mistake for his first goal of the season. Both teams skated hard in a scoreless second period and Bruin goalie Chuckie Schervish made several key saves.

An exciting third period saw Hawks' Andy Baskel score an unassisted goal at 13:44 and Bruin James Bufalino, assisted by David Gracey, bring his team within one goal for a tie. But Nate Weid spoiled that chance by driving a hard shot into the upper righthand corner of the net to give his team a well deserved victory. Assists on the goal were credited to Baskel and Andy Brewer. Jonathan Romine was outstanding in net for the Hawks, while Bruins C-liners Frank Zimmer and Bryan Belanger played well.

BLUE DRAGONS-BLACK HAWKS The Blue Dragons and Black Hawks played to a 2-2 tie. The Dragons scored two goals in the first period, one by Pat Brennan and the other by Tony Marl, assisted by Brennan, to take a quick lead. But the Hawks scored one in the second, Ryan Meir, assisted by Mike Anway, and again late in the third period. Nate Weid, as-sisted by Andy Baskel and Ste-phen Wesley, tied the score. After a scoreless first period, U.S.A. surged ahead on two second period goals by Renato Roxas who converted two passes from Jonathan Davis and Jim Pappas.

Outstanding goaltending by U.S.A.'s Jim Bunn, combined with strong defensive work of Andy West and Jason Erbecker, stymied the Flyers until the third period when the Shores team was able to score.

The victory put the U.S.A. Olympians into the lead of the Grosse Pointe teams in this current series of contests with the St Clair Shores Pee Wee League.

The Grosse Pointe Blue Devils returned from their successful trip to Deerfield, Ill. to beat Easy Electric Chargers, 3-1. This victory kept the Devils in first place in the Little Caesars League with a record of 12-1-1.

The Devils played their opening game of the Michigan Regional SilverStick Tournament on Dec. 2 at St. Clair Shores. The Devils found Westland gave them all they could handle. Early in the first period with Tripp Tracy in goal, Shawn Flack took a pass from Mike Taurianen and broke in alone to score giving Westland a 1-0 lead. Midway in the period the Devils got on the board on a goal by Donny DeSeranno from Scott Dockett and John Ferguson. Shortly thereafter, Jonny Ugval scored on a pass from Chris Butcher. Early in the second period the Devils went up 3-1 on a goal by Mike Johnson, who converted a pretty pass from Timmy McConnell. Chad Ackerman also got an assist on the play.

Late in the period Jason Archibald of Westland received credit for a goal that was inadvertently tipped in the net by a Devil defenseman. In the third period with Mike Janish tending goal for the Devils, Westland tied the score on a short-handed goal by Bobby Stordeur. Westland then took the lead at the seven minute mark of the period on a goal by Brian Short from Sam Mosher.

The Devils met the challenge however, coming back to tie with less than two minutes remaining, Ackerman led the Devils' last Shores Arena.

The Bandits beat a strong, Livingston team, 3-1, Nov. 23. Michael Kuna, Brad Warezak and Kevin Watson scored; Watson (two), Brian Crane, Mark Sliwinski, Kuna and Scott Berger drew assists. On Friday, Nov. 25, the Bandits topped Wayne, 6-1, as Warezak, David Auld, Watson, Patrick O'Brien, Andrew VanDeweghe and Crane each had a goal. Kuna, Watson, Auld, Todd Frederickson and Stefan Teitge drew assists and Jason Hall got the victory in goal as the Bandits reached the semi-finals.

Playing Wayne Nov. 27, the Bandits skated away with a 5-0 victory, as Dustin Kolodge posted the shutout. Goal scorers were VanDeweghe, Sliwinski, Kuna, Crane and O'Brien; with assists credited to Auld (two), Teitge, Bob Cass and Brian Michalik. The win placed Grosse Pointe in the finals against St. Clair Shores.

The Bandits played well, but lost in the finals to a very determined St. Clair Shores squad. O'Brien and Kuna scored, with assists going to Teitge, Cass, Warezak and Watson.

This week, the Bandits will compete in the regional Silver Stick Tournament as some of the state's best teams will vie for the tournament crown at the St. Clair

Good South hockey start

By Mark Froelich South High

Rodney Dangerfield might not be getting the respect he wants, but the Grosse Pointe South Blue Devil hockey team certainly is.

In their first-ever varsity hockey game against the Bloomfield Lahser Knights, the Blue Devilsfought to a 3-3 tie. It was definitely a tremendous first game for South, which featured a Keith Kovalcik goal to tie Bloomfield with just 12 seconds remaining in "Everyone took a man, and I was right in the crease," said Kovalcik, "when Rich (Suhrheinrich) took the shot, the rebound came out to me. I saw their goalie was down, so I just lifted it over him and scored."

The tie was almost as good as a win for South, as an enthusiastic crowd of over 850 fans cheered for the Blue Devils.

"At first the crowd was a little intimidating, but after we got used to the noise, we were able to get settled into the game," said George Krappmann, who scored South's second goal on a slick

South played very well in the opening period, ending it with a 2-1 lead. But the second period was a little different. Bloomfield came out strong in the second period and, as a result, tied the game on a power play goal.

Bloomfield's aggressive and brutal style of hockey won it another goal very early in the third period. But it was going to take a lot more than that to dampen the fans' spirits.

The crowd never quieted down, even after the Blue Devils pulled goalie Bill Tecos with just oneminute left in the game to get an extra attacker on the ice.

"The whole team was tired toward the end of the game," said South's coach Tim Zimmerman. So I called a time-out, pulled Bill and then we scored on that goal by Keith.

South's 3-3 tie was even more impressive because Bloomfield Lahser was ranked in the state's Top 10 last year.

On November 23, South played an exhibition game against Livonia Franklin, which South also played very well. "We all felt that we played much better in our exhibition," added Zimmerman.

Norsemen win opener; top ULS, 6-5

North won its inaugural varsity hockey game and took the first step to obtaining Grosse Pointe bragging rights by beating University Liggett School, 6-5, last Saturday before more than 500 fans at Grosse Pointe Community Center Greg Henchel opened the scoring for North after taking set up passes from linemates Kevin Tisdale and Craig Cappas and beating the ULS goalie from in close. The Knights took over the game at that point, jumping on North for four quick goals before the Norsemen added two goals late in the period. Two penalties to ULS gave North the power play and the Norsemen responded with goals from co-captains Marc Tirikian and Mark Young; defense-men Bob Nelson and Bob Rogers

North tied the contest midway through the second period when senior defenseman Brad Heavner hit left wing Frank Vento with a and beat the goalie. The Norsemen took the lead with just 18 seconds left in the period when Rogers fired a shot from the blueline. Young set up the play with his nice corner work and drew an assist on the goal.

Tirikian's second goal of the night halfway through the final period gave the Norsemen a short-lived 6-4 advantage; that goal turned out to be the winning tally. Vento set Tirikian up and his quick shot from 15 feet out got by the ULS netminder. But the goal brought the Knights back to life as they scored and kept up steady pressure on North for the final five minutes of the game. Only some fantastic saves by North netminder Rick Lass preserved the victory.

boys' basketball team opened the 1983-84 season with a convincing 52-30 win over Harper Woods in the Liggett gym on Dec. 2. The Knights saw an early 5-0 lead fade to one point, 7-6, at the first quarter mark, as both teams were hesitant on offense. Liggett increased the lead to 10 by halftime, however, and steadily drew away in the second half.

ULS sophomore guard Kirk Haggarty led all scorers with 14 points. Senior center Brian Hunt followed closely with 13, and junior forward Harold Colby con-tributed 10. Hunt also led all rebounders with 14 and blocked three shots, as well.

Coach Tony Gallaher commented, "We played good, sound, team defense for the entire game. This defense, and our ability to control the boards (Liggett enjoyed a 46-23 edge in rebounding), spelled the difference, as neither team shot well. Haggarty did a remarkable job of handling the ball in his first varsity game, and Brian Hunt gave the team confidence with his play inside. Overall I was very pleased by the effort of the entire team.

HOME: Friday, Dec. 9, against River Rouge; Friday, Dec. 16, perfect pass behind the ULS de-The state finals are March 7 fense and Vento skated in alone . North cagers don't fare as well

By Rick Markel North High

Too big!

Forget other reasons, height was the main factor in North's defeat as the varsity boys' basketball team opened up its season against Sterling Heights. The Stallions, featuring a front line that North coach George Olman referred to as "a college front line," overmatched North and won 61-38, to spoil North's home opener.

Paced by the fine shooting of Art Szymanski, the home team was down by only six points at the end of the second quarter. But the Stallions were able to use their height to the greatest advantage as they shut down North's offense and controlled the boards. "We played all right but they were just too big," stated Coach Olman. North never gave up and fought all the way. However, it was an uphill battle throughout the game. Sterling Heights is a good club and like a good club it didn't make many mistakes.

Without any breaks, North frequently substituted to try and get back in the game in the last two periods. This strategy worked well for a while as Tim Sheridan and Kevin Weidinger each had six points off the bench for North. But it wasn't enough. Neither were Szymanski's 13 points as he led North in scoring, playing in his first varsity game.

North will get another chance at its first victory as it visits
L'Anse Creuse tomorrow night,

Dec. 9. North will host South on Tuesday, Dec. 13 at 7:30 p.m.

Wrestiers take two

Also opening up their season last week was North's varsity wrestling team. In a trimest, North finished at 2-1, defeating Dearborn, 42-35, and Roseville, 42-35, before losing to L'Anse Creuse, 51-19.

GP Swim Club hosts meet

Over 2,035 entries representing 35 clubs from Michigan and Ontario will participate in the Grosse Pointe Swim Club's second annual "A" meet set for North High Friday through Sunday, Dec. 9 through 11. The meet, open only to swimmers who have achieved "A" times as approved by the Michigan Swim Committee of the United States Swimming Committee, Inc., is an officially sanctioned meet.

Fifty of the Swim Club's members (and six others from All Pointe Swim Club), will compete in the meet, which will consist of 96 events spread out over five sessions. The Friday session begins at 5:15 p.m. and features the longer events of each age group, including the Open 1,650 yard freestyle, the 13-14 400 yard I M., and the 11-12 and 10 and under 200 I.M.s. The Saturday and Sunday morning sessions begin at 8:30 a.m. and will contain the remaining 44 events in the 11-12 and 10 and under age groups. The afternoon sessions begin at 12:45 p.m. Saturday and Sunday and will feature the 44 events for the 12-14 and

"open" age groups.

The meet is the culmination of several months of effort by many workers, headed by meet directors Victoria and Pierre Canu. Principal organizers include "clerk of course" Art Colton, Dick and Cathy Williams, who wrote and will operate a computer program to help handle seeding and results, Karl Kish (entries); Augie and Carolyn DeLuca (timing); Karen Cooksey (scoring and results); Jean and Bryan Thompson (concessions); Mary Margaret Eckel and Sam Ellis (facilities); Lucy and Jim Smith (awards); Jim Boutrous (advertising); Virginia Benoit (program); Marie and Andy Llewellyn (admissions); Ned Stedem (marshalling); Bruce Bartsch and Denis Woods (announcing); and G.P. Swim Club coaches Scott Teeters and Liz Stavale.

G.P. Swim Club medals will be awarded for first through sixth place finishes in the 88 individual events and for first through third place finishers in the eight relay team events. The public is invited to attend; admission is $1 per day for adults, free for children under 12. Hot and cold refreshments will be available at the concessions

Ski buffs get set for their time of year

By Kip Monahan South High

With the cold weather and snow on its way to Southeastern Michigan, the ski clubs in the Grosse Pointe area are again starting their recruiting drives. Groups from Blizzard Ski Club to the South Blue Devil Ski Club are competing for skiers of all ages in the Grosse Pointe area.

· Many of the ski clubs gear their programs to the younger skiers, giving them a chance to ski without their families. The clubs attract many of the younger students, because they offer a ride out to the slopes, and offer lessons to improve the ability of the skier.

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial Ski-Hi is one of the larger groups, and involves students from seventh to 12th grade. Ski-Hi members leave on Fridays at 4 p.m., and return around midnight. There are normally two or three buses full of students, and the prices normally range from $16 to set up in Grosse Pointe for adults.

All the ski clubs have some sort of program to promote the skill of the skier. In cooperation with the ski resort, the members of the ski club must earn patches to show their ability. Patches ranging from "novice" to "advanced," allow a skier to ski particular hills. The students must earn their patches by taking lessons; if they pass, the instructor awards them with the patch they earned.

Other clubs in the area are Blizzard Ski Club, which is a nationwide organization, and Ski-Baum, Another is the Grosse Pointe Ski Club, which is also out of the War Memorial, for adults.

Burl VanAilmon, the South Blue Devil Ski Club advisor, said, "The club gives students a chance to ski without driving, and spend time with their friends." The Blue Devil Ski Club also will take a trip to Blue Mountain, in Collingwood, Ont. Ski-Hi has also planned a trip to Blue Mountain, and both clubs will stay for three days and two nights. The trips to Blue Mountain offer a chance to get away for the weekend, and offer much more challenging terrain for the better

The ski clubs of Grosse Pointe offer a wide variety of slopes for all skiers. The clubs travel to such places as Pine Knob, Mount Holly and Alpine Valley. The ski clubs of Grosse Pointe offer a great chance for skiers of all ages to enjoy the sport. As Nicole DuPont, a member of South's ski club, concluded, "The Thursday night trips are a great chance to have some fun with other friends who also enjoy ski-

Ski Club trips still open

A few openings remain for the Grosse Pointe Ski Club's weekend trips to Boyne Highlands (Jan. 6 to 8) and to Blue Mountain, Collingwood, Ont., (Feb. 3 to 5).

Further information and reservations may be made by calling the War Memorial, 881-7511.

Suggestions for selecting the perfect camera present

With the holiday season upon us, thoughts are turning to finding the ideal items with which to fill in your gift list. A camera will be appreciated by the recipient for years to come as a source of fun as well as a vehicle for artistic expression. And, just as important, advances in technology are making quality cameras easier to use while, at the same time, less expensive to buy.
According to expert Jim

Bigam, senior product manager for Konica cameras, the ways in which the cam-era will be used should determine whether you purchase an SLR (single lens reflex), autofocus, fixed focus, or disc camera.

SLRs are used by pros and amateurs alike who want the advantage of inter-changeable lenses. The others, which fall into the leaf shutter or disc camera categories, are ideal for the onelens snap shot photogra-

SLRs

"For the photographer who wants the option of complete creative control in a camera that also can be set for fully automatic operation, the 35mm SLR category offers the widest range of cameras, many of which can be purchased at your local camera store for under $200," explained Bigam.

Today's SLRs are also eras, meaning that they can perform a variety of func-tions employing a variety of lenses and accessories," he continued.

The Konica FT-1 MO-TO R, for example, is a compact 35mm SLR with the built-in autowind and autoload systems pioneered by Konica. Its built-in auto-winder and quick and easy autoload system, and unique accessories such as Remote Control Shutter Release Switch and Interval Timer for time lapse photography make the Konica FT-1 MOTOR ideal for sports, nature and candid photography as well as travel photography.

"But for most people, it's the option of interchange-able lenses, such as an 80-200mm zoom for shooting close-ups at various focal lengths from far away, or a 28mm wide angle lens for architectural or landscape photography, employ SLR capability at its best and make SLRs a must,"noted

35MM autofocus

Bigam noted that if the recipient of your gift will not take advantage of the lens options of an SLR you can still give the benefit of the large 35mm film format by purchasing an autofocus or fixed focus camera.

The 35mm autofocus

spread popularity since its introduction by Konica some six years ago, as evidenced by the many other manufacturers that followed its lead," he continued. "The most popular and con-venient to use are those with built-in autowinders, auto-load systems, and auto-matic pop-up flash such as the Konica MF.

"For those who would prefer the most compact 35mm autofocus camera possible, the Konica AF-3 is the smallest on today's market with a built-in auto-matic flash."

35MM fixed focus

The simplest of the 35mm cameras on today's market is the fixed focus camera. These extremely compact cameras, such as the Konica POP, can take color prints or slides.

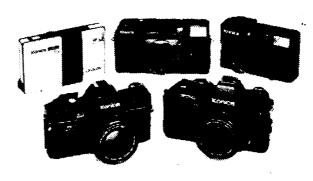

These cameras are comparable in ease-of-use and price to the popular 110 cameras, but offer the advantage of the 35mm film format, with a negative 1 times larger than the 110 negative," said Bigam.

Disc cameras

Disc cameras are also hot as gift items this year, val-ued for their slim design and simple operations. Konica has improved disc picture results by combining its autofocus experience with disc technology to produce the Konica Autofocus Disc 15, the first disc camera to employ autofocus technology for sharp pictures from 13-inches to infinity.

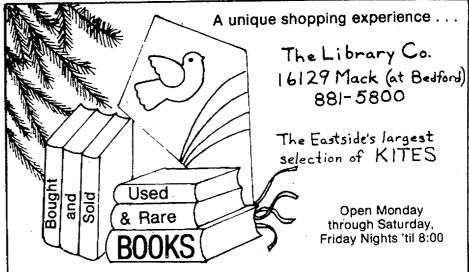

After you select the camwhere to buy it. Bigam recommends purchasing your choice from a local photo dealer who will explain how

For more tips on selecting a camera, ask your dealer for the free booklet How To Click With The Right Camera or send your request directly to the Konica Buying Guide, P.O. Box 1102, Woodside, NY 11377.

A SOURCE OF FUN and a vehicle for artistic expression describe a camera's qualities. Whether an amateur or professional photographer will be the gift recipient, there is a wide selection of cameras with a variety of features available.
