Local girl makes good

The News received word this week that Elsa Frohman, a 1969 graduate of South High School, has just had her first romantic novel hit the stands.

It's titled "Elusive Paradise" and is written under Elsa's nom de plume of Eleanor Frost. The novel is set in the town of Paradise, Michigan (believe it or not I've actually been there), located on the shores of White Fish Bay in the U.P.

This puts Paradise a long way away from Hell, Michigan, which as we all know is located very close to Toledo.

Anyhow, this is Elsa's first novel and she has two more in the works, according to her mother, Evelyn Frohman, of Brys Drive. The second, due in May, is titled "A Public Affair" and her third novel, "Love's Language" is due out the following September.

When she's not busy making hearts flutter, Elsa works as the society editor of the Bellevue Gazette in Bellevue, Ohio, located just south of Sandusky.

We're also proud to note that Ms. Frohman, a graduate of Wayne State University, did her journalism internship here at the good old Grosse Pointe News, home of romance and intrigue.

Tall Paul

FYI would like to be the first to trumpet the news that Paul McCarthy, publisher of "The Pointer," was recently selected as the 1983 "Person of the Year" by the Grosse Pointe Business and Professional Association for his "civic involvement, promotion of community events and fundraising efforts." Last year's winner was Erv Steiner.

Actually it was a double honor, because Park Mayor Palmer Heenan also proclaimed Jan. 28 as "Paul D. McCarthy Day." McCarthy was congratulated in person and by proclamation at the association's annual dinner dance at the Hunt Club, where he received the accolades of Gov. Blanchard, Senators Donald Riegle and Carl Levin, Congressman Dennis Hertel, Bill Lucas, Mayor Coleman Young, State Senator John Kelly and the mayors and police chiefs of the five Pointes.

We feel free to tell you all this because you probably won't get to read it in "The Pointer" for quite some time yet, since they publish once a month.

Way to go Paul!

Off duty

It's time to bid a fond farewell to Charles Paquette, 59, one of the original mailmen from the Grosse Pointe branch office. Charles dropped his last letter on Friday, Feb. 3, in the Merriweather, Lothrop, Stephens road area he has served the last 18 years.

He's retiring after 39 years with the Post Office, starting in downtown Detroit unloading trucks just after he was discharged from the Army after The Big One Part II.

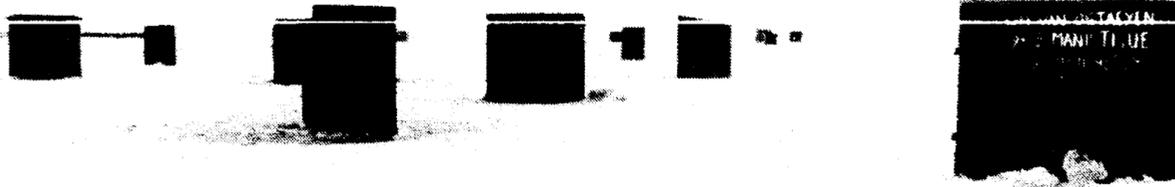

He helped open the Mack Post Office in 1951 and also worked in the Kercheval station.

Thanks, Charles, for all those deliveries during rain, sleet, snow and humid Michigan summers. For walking gingerly on icy sidewalks unshoved for weeks, for dodging rabid dogs and bringing those pension checks to retirees.

Take it easy and soak those tired feet.

Fishing shanties dot Lake St. Clair near the Farms Pier Park. All you need to set one up is an $8 license.

Time spent in Shantytown

It seems ironic that if you want to live by the lake, you'll find that Lakshore Road contains some of the most expensive property in the world. But, if you want to live on the lake, even if it's for a few short months in a small, cold, drafty fishing shanty, all you have to pay is $8 for a fishing license. Because of the extra cold winter we're having this year, a regular community of fishing shanties has sprung up on Lake St. Clair by the Farms Pier Park. Like some communities though, there's always a few bad neighbors. The ice is littered with hundreds upon hundreds of dead fish that lie near a few of the shanties. A veteran fisherman decried the practice, saying it descended from sport into slaughter. Most of the killing is done by youngsters, he said, who consider the fish, most of which are Shad, to be "trash not worth eating." Of course, that's what they once said about the Passenger Pigeon, too.

Hundreds of dead fish were left by some un-neighborly sportsmen.

Court gives Crane three years probation

By Tom Greenwood

Farms resident Stuart R. Crane, who in December was found guilty of 15 counts of tax fraud, last week was sentenced to three years probation by Recorder's Court Warfield Moore Jr.

While his wife Barbara looked on in a nearly empty courtroom, Crane was also ordered to make restitution in the amount of $1,046 in disputed taxes, turn over all books and records pertaining to his businesses to the U.S. Treasury Department and was ordered to pay a $500 fine for each of the 15 counts of tax fraud.

Under state law he could have been fined up to $5,000 on each of the counts. Crane was also ordered to pay the state's probationary department $200 for his first year's probation and $200 for each year thereafter. Crane's probationary period is a non-reporting one.

The sentencing brought to a head nearly three years of legal maneuvers between Crane and the state officials who raided Crane's Cloverly Road home in December, 1980, and confiscated $150,000 in currency and merchandise.

After his arraignment in 1982, Crane claimed that the state had reneged on paying for the housing of welfare recipients, ex-mental patients and ex-cons at two motels (the Pallister, on Woodward, and the Riveria, on McNichols) he owned in Detroit during 1978 and 1979.

Crane said he withheld taxes to deduct what was owed him, which led to the seizure of his property. State officials still have a lien on Crane's home, which he purchased on a land contract for $295,000.

At the sentencing, Assistant Attorney General Paul Bricker indicated that the state would also try to collect $242,000 in back single business, use taxes and interest on Crane's properties.

Bricker said the state believed that Crane's businesses were grossing in the area of $15,000 to $30,000 a month" at that time. Bricker also urged Judge Moore to sentence Crane to "at least one year in jail in the Detroit House of Corrections."

Talking newspaper helps the blind

By Harriet Nolan

Visually handicapped residents of Grosse Pointe will soon be able to read the Grosse Pointe News with their ears via a talking newspaper.

The proposed bi-weekly recording of selected local news articles is the brainchild of Friends of Vision, a local volunteer group that pledges support to those who have lost their vision. They will also be assisted in this project by Helen Leonard, outreach librarian at Grosse Pointe Central Library, and members of the Grosse Pointe News staff.

"We've been searching for a true purpose and now we've found it," said Marleine Ricca, president.

"Previously, our members were more of a social group. We would assist The Detroit Institute of Ophthalmology (DIO) in whatever way they needed help and serve coffee to the patients."

Mrs. Ricca credits the new direction of her group to Katherine Gee, a former social worker with the Detroit school system.

"She came to us last spring. She had recently experienced the trauma of blindness and felt that our group might be helpful to others in coping with similar experiences," said Mrs. Ricca.

"With this as our impetus, we

'Barnes not for sale'

By Susan McDonald

As hundreds of recall-minded petition carriers continue their sweep of Grosse Pointe neighborhoods, rumors about school closings are growing. In the face of them, school board president Joan Hanpeter this week reiterated the trustees' promise not to sell any buildings.

The board met Feb. 6 to review proposed new policies relating to the use of "excess space," new attendance areas and transfers between one Grosse Pointe school and another. The policies will be adopted next month.

Mrs. Hanpeter responded to the "rumors around the school district" that include the allegation the school board has secretly accepted an offer to purchase Barnes Elementary School, on Morningside Drive in Grosse Pointe Woods. The school is slated to close its doors to students next fall as part of a reorganization plan approved Nov. 14 by the trustees.

"Barnes School is not for sale. We, under no condition, would accept an offer to buy," Mrs. Han-peter said. She acknowledged that realtors have walked through the school building and have showed it to potential occupants who may be allowed to lease all or part of the building. Among the groups showing interest in the 1950s-built single story school are the Food and Friendship program, which offers meals and social activities to senior citizens in the area; a group of Woods senior citizens; a local music school and hospital.

Parents in the audience of the board's Feb. 6 meeting objected that the school was being shown during the day, causing students some emotional distress. The trustees agreed that was a bad idea, but said such arrangements were being handled by the school principal Jack McMahon.

The new attendance areas considered Feb. 6 by the board pertain to Barnes students only. About two-thirds of them will be transferred to Monteth Elementary School, on Cook Road, and the remaining will be reassigned to Ferry, on Roslyn. All Barnes students will be slated to

Fire union boycotts PSO talks in Park

By Harriet Nolan

Grosse Pointe Park firefighters unanimously voted against having a public safety department in the Park and decided to call it quits on future talks with the city at a committee meeting held Jan. 28.

"We're not going to attend any more meetings," said Joe Biak, president of Firefighters Union Local 553. "But we will listen to anything the city has to say."

"We are totally against public safety. It's not for the good of the people, whether it saves the city money or not," added Biak, a 15-year veteran of the department.

Breaking off talks with the administration committee, headed by John Crawford, city manager, leaves only representatives from all ranks of the police department to give input on the pros and cons of such a transition for city employees. A public safety department would combine police and firefighter forces into a single unit. Policemen would assume firefighting duties and vice versa.

Crawford said he wasn't surprised at the firefighters' stance. "They want to be on record as being opposed, but this doesn't change anything. I expect to have my report ready within 30 days," Crawford said.

Crawford formed the committee Jan. 18 with the hope of getting input from both the police and fire departments. He noted that contract negotiations three years ago called for participation by these groups on any future study committees on public safety.

A few days later, Park Mayor Palmer Heenan appointed his own citizen committee "to contribute some outside and objective input into the situation." He also expressed the hope that both committees could work together and give council the support and information it would need to make a learned decision.

"We always like to do things with a minimum amount of difficulty," said Heenan, learning of the firefighters' recent decision. "When we develop new plans for the city, it's best for those who are affected to have input. But you can't be discouraged when you run into problems, you have to keep on working to resolve them."

Stephen Wasinger, attorney with Honigman, Miller, Schwartz and Cohn, and chairman of the mayor's committee, said he would assume that people have a substantial interest in matters that concern them.

He added that the union's decision would not have any effect on his committee's progress.

Farms '83 crime up slightly

By Tom Greenwood

There was both good news and bad news in the annual crime report presented to the Farms City Council by Chief of Police Robert K. Ferber last month.

The good news was that the nation as a whole saw an overall drop in index crimes of almost 6 percent. The bad news was that the Farms experienced an almost 2 percent increase in 1983.

In his report, Chief Ferber said the national crime decrease, which began in the middle of 1981 and continued to accelerate during 1983, was due basically to "additional personnel available for police service during 1983."

In his 1982 annual report, Chief Ferber said he expected crime to increase in the Farms during 1983 and in this year's report, added that he expected the trend to continue in 1984. Ferber listed a number of reasons for the Farms crime increase including variations in composition of the population, particularly age structure; economic conditions, including job availability; climate; effective strength of law enforcement agencies; attitudes of citizenry towards crime; crime reporting practices of the citizenry and the resources a community is willing to commit to meet its crime problems.

Crime up in the Farms

In the part one index of crimes reported by the Farms, homicide, rape, robbery and aggravated assault all showed a decrease in 1983 over the previous year.

Specifically, there were no homicides in 1983, the same as in 1982. There were no rapes, down one from 1982; eight robberies, down by four; 10 cases of aggravated assault, down by three incidences and there was one case of arson, down by two.

However, according to the report, the largest increase in crimes during 1983 stemmed from motor vehicle thefts which were up by 34 percent, with 51 cars reported stolen last year, an increase of 13.

Larceny in the Farms increased by 1.6 percent, and has historically been higher in the city than state and national occurrence rates. Chief Ferber said the reason behind the unusually high larceny rates has been the large number of bicycle thefts in the Farms. Added to that in 1983 was a 144 percent increase in shoplifting offenses, with 46 occurrences recorded.

The Farms Police Department recorded a 60 percent increase in felony arrests for 1983 over 1982. According to the report, nearly one third of those persons arrested for felonies were juveniles in 1983, compared with 30 percent in 1982. Only a fifth of the juveniles arrested for felonies in 1983 resided in the Farms.

Of the adults arrested for felonies during 1983, only 12 percent held residency in the Farms. "Continuing a trend first noted in 1980, the City of Detroit was the place of residency for 46 percent of all persons arrested for felonies during 1983," reported Chief Ferber.

In the portion of the report devoted to accidents, the chief noted that once again the intersection of Mack and Moross Roads was the most dangerous in the city with 20 recorded accidents.

The next most dangerous intersections, in order of occurrence were: Hall and Kercheval (nine); Mack and Kerby (seven); Chalfonte and Moross (six); Fisher and Grosse Pointe Boulevard (six); Grosse Pointe Boulevard and Kerby (six); Kercheval and Kerby (six); Kercheval and McMillan (six); Mack and Calvin (six) and Moross and Kercheval (six).

The Farms also added to its work force in 1983 with the appointment of Jack S. Patterson as a police officer and Linda Ann Hutton and James E. Kulman as civilian clerk dispatchers.

Within the department, Police Officer Mark J. Brecht, a nine-year veteran of the force, was promoted to the detective bureau. Police Officer Donald L. Dewey, a 16-year member of the force, was appointed traffic safety officer.

The Farms Police Emergency Support Unit (auxiliaries), under the direction of Corporal Johannes Winter reported spending more than 1,000 hours in training the 19 man unit on such police activities as indoor and outdoor firearms shooting, firefighting techniques, use of the breathalyzer and other related activities. The unit was called into action for such events as the Free Press Marathon; Grosse Pointe Fun Run, Cottage Hospital Fun Run and other activities.

The Communication Support Unit, headed by Sgt. Joseph E. Miller, listed 95 hours of donated time to the Farms in support of police activities. They bolster the regular police on high incident evenings such as Devils Night and Halloween.

Two newly-elected Children's Home of Detroit trustees were incorrectly identified in the Jan. 26 edition. Elected treasurer was Russell McNair. Mrs. Gerard Mooney was elected assistant recording secretary.

stating that the withholding of taxes was a "blow against civilization."

Judge Moore firmly denied the request, stating that Crane "obviously wasn't a violent man or a threat to society" and that the jails "were overcrowded already and room was needed for persons who should be kept away from society."

Bricker had no comment after the sentencing.

Grosse Pointe attorney John Carlisle, who represented Crane, said his client "absolutely intended to appeal the trial and would definitely win."

"The $242,000 figure used by the state was plucked out of thin air," said Carlisle. "They send out assessments all the time based on their information. Recently we received assessments on properties that burned down three years ago."

"The state didn't prove anything," continued Carlisle.

"Basically they're just trying to collect by scaring my client with threats of going directly to jail. I told the prosecution that if Mr. Crane spent one day in jail I'd send my license directly to the bar association. And I've still got it."

attend Parcels Middle School, although Supt. Kenneth Brummel noted the administration will be flexible on middle school assignments, "because there's plenty of room at both Parcels and Brownell," which is also nearby.

The school reorganization plan also includes switching sixth grade students from elementary to middle school next fall. The plan was the third one considered by the board in light of the district's greater than 40 percent decline in enrollment. A group called Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools - Recall is currently working to remove from office three of the six board members who supported the plan. Their recall drive was launched Jan. 21, but leaders couldn't say this week how many signatures they had gathered on petitions.

asked her to speak at our meeting and the group enthusiastically accepted her challenge," she added.

A steering committee was then formed. After meeting with John Crews, of the Michigan Commission for the Blind, to discuss the social and legal problems incurred in providing independent rehabilitative services, specific goals began to take shape.

The Grosse Pointe News will be read by volunteers onto cassette tapes and then mailed to blind residents who will later be polled as to preferences and needs. The 72-member volunteer group also plans to ask local physicians for referrals for this service, hopefully branching out to other cities once the project gets off the ground.

Future goals include getting the news distributed through local cable television stations and developing a support group using volunteers who have expertise in social work and orientation and mobility training and developing a referral and resource file for the DIO and others.

Anyone interested in helping Friends of Vision can call Mabel Bristol, past president at 885-9150.

Pathfinders don't let closed doors stop them

By Nancy L. Solak

"Behind the reputation of affluence Grosse Pointers enjoy," author Gail Sheehy began, "there are struggles that may not be so easy to see."

In her talk last week, co-sponsored by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Woman to Woman forum and the Detroit Free Press, Ms. Sheehy acknowledged to the sell-out crowd of 500, that no matter how well-cushioned people are financially, no one is immune to the predictable crises of life, nor do they live in a bubble of security, free of life's accidents.

Briefly, she reviewed the predictable crises as defined in her book "Passages," and life's unpredictable accidents, like illness, loss of a loved one, being fired, going bankrupt, or having to move, as described in her sequel, "Pathfinders."

"So many people slip backwards at these crossroads," Sheehy said. "They blame others, try some frantic escape, or they simply give up, and join the walking dead."

In her lecture entitled "Turning Passages into Pathfinding," Ms. Sheehy described pathfinders as self-created people who possess a sustained sense of high well-being, even in the face of a crisis.

Pathfinders are people who:

- learn to let go of their emotional dependence upon institutions, drugs, alcohol, their parents and their jobs
- anticipate and take advantage of obstacles and are willing to take educated risks
- have twice as many close friends as the average person

- Had at least one mentor, and in some cases two
- Had come back from losses of love, dead-end careers, or have broken out of old roles
- have a sense of purpose beyond themselves

In most cases, pathfinders incorporated the primary characteristic of their sexual opposite, Ms. Sheehy said. For example, men were comfortable with intimacy and women had aspirations.

Roughly half of the Pathfinders had failed in a major personal or professional endeavor and subsequently almost every one of them felt they were better off for it, she added.

Even if a person does not have these characteristics when young, Ms. Sheehy maintains that the opportunity to develop them increases during the second half of life.

In fact, the turning point for most people comes around age 40. Sheehy's own turning point occurred in late 1972 when she was 35, at the threshold of her own mid-life. She was in Northern Ireland, covering a civil rights march for a New York magazine. She was talking to a young boy on an exposed, outdoor balcony.

"All of a sudden, from nowhere, a bullet ripped into his face and tore it apart," she said, her voice beginning to shake. Slowly, as her eyes moistened with the memory, she continued.

"I stared at him, and tried to think how I could put him back together because, up until that point in my life, I had always been able to put things back together."

Moments later, caught in a crossfire between paratroopers and snipers, a stray bullet passed a few feet in front of her nose and for a second it seemed to her to be suspended in mid-air before embedding itself into a brick wall.

"At that moment," she recalled, "that whole bubble of self-protection we carry along from childhood . . . burst. I was naked. I was alone, and I knew for the first time, that no one would always take care of me."

After the experience, Ms. Sheehy viewed everything differently. She came to look at that day as more than being a life-threatening situation. It had become the turning point in her life, having to confront the spectre of her own death.

"One way or the other, as we move into the mid-life years, each one of us is faced with the reality of our own perishability." This realization can come, as it did for Ms. Sheehy, in a life accident, or the message can come through in hundreds of more subtle ways. She gave the example of how people start to notice how old their friends are beginning to look.

"This realization of our mortality can become the catalyst that lights a fire under us, causing us to hurry up and make the most of the time we have left," she said. "This should prod us to take the risk of change, to be all that we can be."

She went on to describe another person's mid-life crisis. In 1978, Ms. Sheehy asked Lee Iacocca, then the president of Ford Motor Company, "Is there any such thing as job security at the top management level?" He admitted that Ford leaves on its executives to retire in their mid-50s.

"What happens to those men when they are cut off prematurely?" she asked. "Do many of them find a new purpose?"

"Few," Iacocca replied. "It's a real shame. I personally did the axeing of some of those guys, and I didn't feel a thing at the time."

Well, the president himself was then 53. He said, "It looks a lot different to me now. If an organization brings its people along as effective managers, what better gain is there on their investment than to tap the experience and expertise they've accumulated by the time they are in their 50s?" Clearly, Lee Iacocca wasn't about to give up his throne in his mid-50s.

"A few weeks after we talked, he was sacked," Ms. Sheehy said.

With the wound still smarting, Iacocca agreed to talk to Ms. Sheehy again. He was stunned and rational answers escaped him.

"I always wanted to be a surgeon, but now I'm too nervous," he told her. He considered government service but dismissed it saying, "I'd get killed politically. I haven't got the temperament to wait eight years to see if we could pass an energy bill." With no answers to the confusing questions filling his head, he was very worried. Ultimately, he decided the only thing he could do was run a major auto company.

To that Ms. Sheehy responded, "As we all know, Mr. Iacocca made one of the great personal and industrial comebacks of the modern era at Chrysler. But, if I had to pin my entire identity, and my financial continuity, and my career dream, and my sense of meaning and direction in life, all on the chance that one of four companies would always have a place for me at the top, I'd have a bit of trouble sleeping at night. Lee Iacocca is a star, and a lucky star, but most of us need to have more realistic expectations."

When people faced with a career crisis learn a new skill, train for a new career, or try a new balance of roles within the family, daring to strike out on a new road, it may break them. "But, if it doesn't break you, it can make you a pathfinder," she asserted.

Ms. Sheehy also spoke of "transcendent pathfinders," referring to those who see a larger vision, or a goal that may even run counter to their immediate self-interest.

"But, in committing to that larger purpose, they can make a powerful ethical or moral impact on their times. They don't even have to win. If they merely raise the level of our thinking, they make us all more confident to know what is right."

"Anwar Sadat," she said, "knew the secret. That to exist fully is to change, to recreate oneself endlessly." Having talked with Sadat for two hours after the Camp David talks, Ms. Sheehy became convinced that "the openings toward peace today will not be found by men locked into seeing all the world's problems and aspirations as secondary to the struggle between two super powers . . . men who are engaged right now in what Emerson called an 'epidemic insanity.'"

"The openings will be found and pursued by men and women like you," she said. "Liberty is you. If you can find the strength within yourselves to become pathfinders in the service of your own lives, you can also transcend that self-interest. You can help put the skills of pathfinding to work to revitalize the core values of our society, to include all its members, and to preserve our freedom without war."

She concluded her address by reciting Robert Frost's poem, "The Road Not Taken." The lecture was followed by a question and answer period in which she revealed her current preoccupation, working on a book about survivors of long-term life-threatening experiences.

Following the lecture, one observer commented that Ms. Sheehy's address was the kind of speech that was good by itself, but with time, like a stew simmering on the back burner, would steadily improve in flavor and content. Another member of the audience said she had made a rare find: Ms. Sheehy was not only a gentle woman, but one who exuded great inner strength.

Future Woman to Woman events include a lecture by Dr. Elliott Luby on the self-starvation disease, "Anorexia Nervosa," Tuesday, Feb. 21. On Wednesday, Feb. 22, Free Press columnist Nickie McWhirter will give a lecture entitled "Beyond Sugar and Spice." In April, Dr. Joan Israel, a clinical psychologist and a panel member of Mort Crim's Free 4 All program will be the featured speaker, addressing the issue of "Valuing Yourself While Supporting Others." Ms. Sheehy's lecture launched the newly-formed forum.

League will see Scotland

The Grosse Pointe Cinema League will present "Scenic, Serene Scotland," a super-8mm movie by Richard Eoff, when it meets in the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium, 32 Lakeshore Road, on Monday, Feb. 13, at 8 p.m.

The film is a record of a three-week trip, and contains views of Loch Lomond and the nearby countryside.

The famous old city of Edinburgh is photographed with its Royal Mile. The Edinburgh International Festival is shown, with the famous Military Tattoo, staged by the Scottish army each evening on the floodlit castle esplanade, and is one of the city's most spectacular events.

Stirling Castle, which dates from the 15th century, was occupied by six of Scotland's Jameses. The last, James VI, transformed the castle into one of the most luxurious dwellings in Scotland.

The port of Mallagi, the Isle of Skye and Strathpeffer are shown.

Wagner at Fort Street

Organist's childhood dream comes true

When Dave Wagner sits at the organ console Sunday afternoon at Detroit's Fort Street Presbyterian Church, he'll realize again that he's fulfilled a childhood dream.

He'll be like the kid who went to Tiger Stadium dreaming of a baseball career and grew up to be a major-league player.

Wagner, best known as the afternoon music host on Detroit's classical music station WQRS-FM, heard his first organ recital when he was 9 — at Fort Street. It was an all-Bach program played by the late, great organist and conductor Karl Richter.

"Boy, it would be great to be able to play something like that," Wagner, now 34, recalled having said to himself.

Now, he not only plays, but divides his time between the radio, supervising a music program at St. Paul-on-the-Lake Church in Grosse Pointe Farms, teaching and bringing up a son and daughter.

Despite the hectic schedule, Wagner tries to fit in about 15 recitals a year. And he's always glad when that schedule takes him to Fort Street.

"It's the kind of organ you can listen to all day," he says, adding that it's "kind of a warm, rich" sound especially suited to 19th century music.

"It's also such fun to hear an organ in such a great acoustical setting," Wagner says of the 1855 Gothic Revival sanctuary.

The church's soaring interior is supported by the second-largest set of hammerbeam trusses in the world, the largest being at the Houses of Parliament in London.

The sanctuary, with its lavish use of solid walnut woodwork, is dominated by the Gothic pipe case, holding upwards of 3,000 pipes ranging in size from about an inch to 16 feet.

"Everyone's favorite classics" is how Wagner describes his program. Music will include the "Concerto in a minor" by Bach-Vivaldi and "The Crown Imperial" by William Walton. The latter work was written for the 1936 coronation of England's King George VI. The second half of the program will feature works of Franck and Gigout.

Tickets, available at the door, are $5. Reservations can be made by calling the church at 961-4533. The recital is at 5 p.m. at Fort Street Presbyterian Church, Fort and Third streets in Detroit.

Surgeon's topic is uplifting

Miquel Lorenzini, M.D., will discuss plastic and reconstructive surgery and new surgical techniques and procedures related to face-lifts, eye, ear and nose reconstruction next Thursday, Feb. 16, at 7 p.m. at Cottage Hospital.

For reservations for the free program, call the Cottage education department at 884-8600, extension 2390. The program will be held in the boardrooms on the hospital's lower level.

Editor begins media series

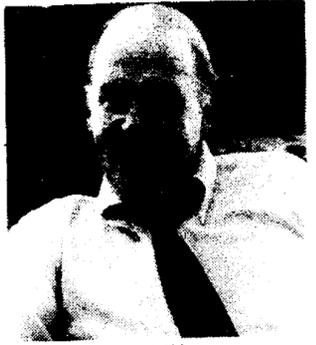

Newspaper executive and television personality Neal Shine will open a four-part series of classes about journalism at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 14, at Brownell Middle School.

Shine, a resident of Grosse Pointe Park, is senior managing editor of the Detroit Free Press, which is co-sponsoring the series with local public schools' department of Community Education. He also hosts a weekly television show.

Shine's topic will be "The Daily Newspaper — Today and Tomorrow." The fee is $2.25, payable to the department of Community Education.

The second program is the series, Feb. 21, which feature the Free Press' Macomb/Grosse Pointe editor Peter Gavrilovich with an "Update on Detroit Metro Area Journalism."

"Perspectives on Business 1984" will be marketing expert David Munch's topic on Feb. 28. The series will end with "Parents Can Help: The Daily Newspaper and Your Child's Reading Skills" on March 6.

Neal Shine

The talk will be aimed at parents of pre-school through eighth grade students who will learn how a newspaper can be used as an instructional tool. Gail Lobanoff will be the speaker.

Chamber Music at Ford House

Violinist Linda Sneed and pianist Muriel Kilby will be featured soloists on Sunday, Feb. 12, at 3 and 7 p.m. when Renaissance Concerts resumes its chamber music series at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House, on Lakeshore Road.

Tickets for the performance are $8 and include a tour of the house and wine and cheese reception as well as the concert. Call 62-MUSIC for reservations.

Renaissance Concerts announced

Literature classes begin this week

The department of Community Education of Grosse Pointe public schools provides three non-credit evening classes for adults in its winter roster of offerings.

"An Adventure in Literature: The Flowering of New England," which began on Tuesday, Feb. 7, is a mentally stimulating investigation of the works of such great American writers as Emerson, Thoreau, Fuller, Whitman, Dickinson and Frost. This new-for-winter, five-week class has been designed for those who wish to become better acquainted with America's unique literary heritage.

The second in the series is "Modern Poets and Their Visions," a single-session class scheduled for Tuesday, March 6. A repeat of the successful fall class, it consists of an introduction to the styles, themes and visions of four great modern poets: Eliot, Lawrence, Yeats and Rilke.

last week that it will create a full-time resident chamber orchestra called Renaissance City Chamber Players. Among the local residents who serve on Renaissance Concert's board of directors are Madeleine M. Phillips, chairperson of the Friends of Renaissance Concerts; S. Gary Spicer, Sr., who is also director for 21 corporations in Michigan, Tennessee and California; and Richard Sheppard, who also serves as general sales manager for WQRS-FM.

The third in this winter's literary offerings is "Potential Patterns," a three-week class, beginning on Tuesday, March 13. New-for-winter, it is offered in response to those who wish to understand better the forms, themes and techniques of poetry.

Frank A. Hall, an instructor in humanities at the Waldorf School of Detroit, who has also taught at North Carolina State University, Wayne State University and Mercy College, and who inaugurated the successful "Plato on a Platter" class for the department of Community Education in the fall, will teach these classes.

Full information on these and other offerings may be found in the blue Community Education flyer available at the public library and its branches, as well as at the office of Community Education, located at Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte. Call 343-2178 for further information.

Hertel will back Lucas on road commission

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The Michigan Supreme Court will decide the fate of three Wayne County Road Commissioners who appealed to the high court to stay their firing order issued last week by Executive William Lucas.

The court overturned Monday a Circuit Court judge's order giving the three road commissioners until Thursday to obtain a stay of their firing from the justices. The Supreme Court said the commissioners could retain their seats until it makes a ruling.

The high court was actively considering the case, a court employee said.

The road commission directors were fired last Thursday by Lucas after the Michigan Court of Appeals ruled he had the power to remove the three from office. The court removed all stays it had issued in the matter, allowing Lucas to fire the incumbent directors — Claude Dukes, Grace Hampton and Harold Bondy — and present the Board of Commissioners with his three nominees.

The high court's ruling will end a running battle between Lucas and the road commission that began the day the new county executive took office last January. Lucas took office on a Saturday and promptly announced the firing of the three directors and his appointment of Brownstown Township supervisor Curt Boller, Romulus councilman Mary Ann Banks and Janice Frazier, now a Lucas staff consultant.

The ensuing court battle stretched on in Circuit and Appellate courts until last week, when the Appeals Court ruled Lucas indeed had the administrative authority under the charter to remove the three incumbent directors, according to Lucas press secretary Bill Johnson.

Lucas' appointees were referred to the commission's general government committee last week for its approval, but the commission refused. First District Commissioner John Hertel said the matter will be taken up again in two weeks.

Hertel said he had no problem with the referral to committee. Lucas had originally asked the three be given emergency consideration and approval.

The two weeks will accomplish three things. It will allow the court situation to be cleared up completely. Hertel said When the matter was put before the commissioners last Thursday, there was still a question of whether the directors would appeal, he added.

The two weeks will also allow the general government committee to review and scrutinize the three candidates, he said. It will also give him time to ask Lucas to keep incumbent Harold Bondy as one of his appointments, Hertel said.

"My number one concern with the road commission was they didn't serve the east side," Hertel said. "Finally we have a commissioner, Harold Bondy, who has worked to create a relationship ...with the east side."

Hertel called Bondy a "proven quantity" on the board for his work to save money and improve services to out-county areas. Also supporting the retention of Bondy is Commissioner Milton Mack, a vociferous critic of the Road Commission.

"He has stuck with Bill Lucas and me on the (Wayne County General) hospital issue, but he is very impressed with the work of Harold Bondy," Hertel said.

Lucas last week blasted the commission's refusal to approve his road commission nominees.

"My three appointees have appeared before committees, have received full scrutiny and are all three eminently qualified to make the necessary changes," Lucas said. "It is irresponsible, now that the courts have acted, to fail to approve these appointments, and it stands in the way of necessary reform."

Hertel questioned the vehemence of the attack, pointing out that the commission five minutes before blocked the override of the executive veto of the Wayne County General Hospital ordinance. The action effectively killed some commissioners' efforts to continue operating the facility out of the general fund budget.

The administration overlooked the victory on the hospital issue and went right to work on its appointees for the road commission, Hertel said. The action was "not prudent" as a way of keeping open the lines of communication between the legislative and administrative branches, he added.

"You can't hold them down by the throat when you're winning," Hertel said. "You just don't beat them to a pulp."

Were Lucas to reject Bondy, Hertel said he would still support the executive's plans for the reorganization of the road commission. He noted that Bondy's record justified his reappointment, however.

"When you've dealt with bureaucracies as long as I have, to find someone who has responded the way Harold Bondy has...it's pretty unusual," Hertel said.

Lucas also revived a proposal he made when seeking the CEO's office to bring the road commission under direct control of the county executive.

Lucas said he will ask voters in his State of the County address next week to begin circulating petitions to force a referendum to amend the charter and dissolve the road commission, Lucas' press office said.

In his county reorganization plan, approved early last year by the county commission, Lucas proposed bringing the offices of road and drain commissions and the public works department into a single public services department. The reorganization would require amendment of the charter to eliminate the three offices, however.

Still dragging their feet

The old order is fighting a bitter and often nasty battle against change in Wayne County despite the fact that the people of the county by an overwhelming majority adopted a reform charter more than two years ago.

AFTER BEING DEFEATED in Wayne County Circuit Court and the Court of Appeals, the three members of the Wayne County Road Commission last week appealed to the Michigan State Supreme Court in their battle to retain their jobs. Under the charter, County Executive William Lucas claims he has the authority to fire the old commission and appoint a new one. And so far the score is Lucas 2, old road commission 0.

Unfortunately, the majority of the board of county commissioners also is dragging its feet against change. Even though Lucas nominated three successors to the ousted road commissioners months ago, the county board last week referred the nominations to a committee and took no other action.

What is at stake here, of course, is the reform in the charter that for the first time authorized election of a county executive with administrative powers to run the county. The road commission, loaded with political appointees and often guilty of nepotism and featherbedding, represents the old order that is resisting change.

The holdover members of the county board and some of the county unions have also been guilty of delaying tactics. So even though Lucas and the charter have been operating for more than a year, the county still has not fully benefitted from the reform demanded and approved by the voters.

The old road commission, according to a Free Press account, said it believed it should not be replaced because of "the probability that a new set of road commissioners will summarily terminate numerous highly qualified and experienced career county road commission employees and replace them with inexperienced friends and political supporters."

WHAT IRONY THERE is in such a statement. It is a case of the pot calling the kettle black. A careful reader will note that the statement contains the assumption that runs through the policies of many county offices that are sticking to the old order. It is that the county exists to provide jobs for county employees rather than to provide services to taxpayers and the public.

In its own defense, the old commission unwittingly explains why it must go, if not by action of the Michigan Supreme Court, then by legislative action in Lansing.

Cooperation or stalemate?

Michigan last week saw new evidence that the recall movements tend to reflect the will of militant minorities rather than the wishes of responsible majorities. The evidence came from the senatorial elections in Oakland and Macomb counties in which voters overwhelmingly elected Republicans to succeed recalled Democrats — but with fewer than one-fourth of the eligible voters going to the polls.

THE ELECTION RESULTS that gave the Republican Party control of the state Senate for the first time since 1970 were hailed by Republican leaders as well as by the winning candidates, former state Rep. Kirby Holmes of Utica, victorious in Macomb County, and state Rep. Rudy Nichols of Waterford, the winner in Oakland County.

In both senatorial districts, the issue was the temporary 38 percent increase in the state income tax which had cost the two Democratic senators their jobs. Recall supporters claimed jubilantly that the recall movements against other legislators who favored the income tax hike will now be mounted with new enthusiasm. Yet for all their publicity campaign they could get less than 25 percent of the voters in the two districts to go to the polls. That hardly shows widespread public support even though both Republicans won by large margins.

It is also clear that the Republican Party tacitly supported the recall movements even though it earlier had indicated it would remain neutral. In a letter seeking GOP contributions last month, GOP chairman Spencer Abraham called on people to join the Republican Party in order "to stop this tax-and-spend madness," and then went on to state "there are at least 17 separate voter-initiated campaigns to recall Democrat legislators who supported the increase in your taxes." In the context of the letter, that statement implied support for such actions.

In addition, Abraham's appeal was mailed in an official-looking envelope which bore across its face the words, "Notice of tax increase," and the words, "state administrative office" and "official business," along with the Michigan Republicans' return address in Lansing. At the very least the wording was misleading. At the worst it was dishonest since taxes had begun to decline in Michigan on Jan. 1, 1984. And it did nothing to cool the heated relations between the parties on the tax issue.

But now that Republicans control the Senate, they will have to assume part of the responsibility for whatever happens in the Legislature. They can either seek to cooperate with the Democrats on needed measures or force stalemate. If they concentrate merely on further cutting taxes, or speeding up the income tax rollback that is already under way, they may even obtain some short-term benefits. But in the long run they will gain only if they can help produce legislation to benefit all of the people of the state, and that includes not only the business interests but the poor who need help, the mentally ill and others unable to care for themselves, and the students in the schools and colleges of this state.

The Democratic governor and the Democratic House have the same responsibilities and they now need cooperation from the Republicans. If they had sought it last year on the tax issue, the Democrats would not now be in the trouble they face. Perhaps they will be chastened by their recent defeats and will make concessions of their own to ease cooperation. Such moves would be better late than never.

UNFORTUNATELY, THE Republicans in their current buoyant mood do not appear to be as much interested in cooperation as they are in the 1984 House election. After their enthusiasm over their recent victories has waned, however, perhaps they will declare a political truce with the chastened Democrats. In the long run, stalemate will not serve either party or the majority of the people of Michigan.

Young's campaign cliches

Detroit Mayor Coleman Young last week repeated a couple of his popular cliches about the suburbs in general and the Grosse Pointes specifically when he defended his efforts to widen the city's control over the Detroit Institute of Arts and other city institutions in a wide-ranging interview with the Detroit Free Press editorial board.

"I THINK THAT TOO often the demand on the part of the suburbs for control can be traced to the fact that the same people who left Detroit, many of them for racial reasons, still want to control what they left," the mayor said.

He was responding to a question whether financing and control of the institute, the zoo and other institutions should not be shared with the suburbs or some regional body, since the city is having trouble financing them.

When he was asked a question about the "great anxiety" felt by people "who feel a proprietary sense" about the art institute, Young responded this way:

"I can say there's no basis for such a proprietary sense. The Art Institute historically has belonged to the people of the city of Detroit. The Founders Society is certainly welcome. Its contributions are needed. But the Founders Society is really a most undemocratic organization.

"It is not what many people conceive it to be, a clutch of wealthy Grosse Pointers who pour in millions of dollars. I think the Founders Society consists of about 40,000 donors, mostly small donors, just average people out here who contribute because they love the arts and they love culture. But they're not asking, they never have until just recently, asked for control.

"What's so different about an institution of culture that the people can't handle it? It's got to be controlled by some group of elite people from Grosse Pointe? That's where some of the Founders are coming from. I don't think that's true."

When criticized about the way he runs the city, the mayor customarily resorts to the

"racism" and "elitist" cliches rather than responding to the very real concerns expressed by many people over the future of the art institute and other city institutions when the mayor broadens his political control of them.

He does admit the city needs help. But if the city can't afford to finance the operation of the art institute and other city institutions and has to rely so heavily on state aid and private contributions, it can hardly expect to run these institutions as political arms of the city government. Instead, the city ought to consider some form of joint control or a regional body to raise the money and run them.

But the mayor flatly rejects that possibility, telling the Free Press he is "unwilling to seek alliance or coalition with the suburbs on the basis of surrendering the jewels of the city of Detroit." Nobody has suggested the city entirely bow out of its role but the recent threat to the professionalism of the staff of the art institute now that many staffers will be transferred to city employment rolls and required to conform to residence requirements offers an explanation of suburban concerns about the future of that institution.

MANY SUBURBAN residents not only contribute to Detroit's cultural institutions and pay membership fees to the supporting organizations, such as the institute's Founders Society and the Friends of the Public Library. They also pay income taxes to the city of Detroit if they work in the city and they pay state taxes that help fund the state's huge aid package to Detroit.

Under the circumstances, one would think the mayor would take a more conciliatory approach to the suburbs. Of course, he doesn't run in the suburbs and he is gearing up for another reelection campaign. So out come the tired cliches about "the elite" and "racist" suburbs seeking desperately to take the jewels of Detroit away from the city. Those accusations may play well south of Alter Road but they do not do much to guarantee the future of the cultural institutions in question.

Recall group cares about GP

To the Editor:

If the purpose of the Citizens Against the Recall Effort (CARE) is one of accurately educating the community, then it has failed. The reason: a very misleading statement in their handout entitled "We Care About Grosse Pointe."

The statement reads: "If these people who are attempting a recall truly cared about our community, they would have called for a referendum instead of attacking individuals." Anyone who attended any of the public school board meetings last fall or cared to research the matter would have known this statement to be a blatant disregard of the truth.

Requests for a community vote on the school reorganization proposals have been repeatedly denied by the members of the school board. A referendum on this issue was verbally requested at the Maire School Public Hearing on Sept. 19, at the Mason School meeting Sept. 26, and at the Jan. 9, meeting at Richard School. The board's own agenda for the Oct. 10, meeting contained the following item for Information/Discussion: "Proposal to conduct a referendum of school system reorganization."

The board indicated that interested citizens could seek a referendum. If the board members had agreed to abide by the referendum results thus making it a binding referendum, a recall would not have been necessary. Since they refused to do so, a recall was the only and last resort. This could all have been avoided.

The purpose of the recall has never been to attack individuals. The goal of its advocates has been to obtain a majority on the school board in June who wish to preserve the concept of neighborhood schools. The newly elected Dorothy Kennel and Vincent LoCicero were ineligible for recall by law since they had not occupied their offices for the necessary six months at the onset of recall proceedings. Joan Hanpeter's term of office expires in June at which time a regular election will occur. Therefore, it is not necessary to recall all members for the controversial decision.

Contrary to the implication of the CARE pamphlet, those involved in the recall are not punive, hysterical people. They are truly concerned about the community and feel strongly about preserving the neighborhood schools, promoting quality education, maintaining property values and attracting new families to the area.

Since the CARE handout may be the first or only source of information a person faced with the recall issue has at hand, it behooves those dispensing the pamphlets to be accurate. If this group really "cared" about Grosse Pointe, they would have taken the time to express the truth.

Grosse Pointe deserves the facts and a public vote on this issue which is of such vital importance to the community.

CARE flyer is false

To the Editor:

Seldom, if ever, have I encountered outright lies in political fliers. Half-truths, misinformation, omissions and "putting-best-foot-forward" are what one usually finds in such material. Much to my surprise, an outright lie appears in material put out by the Committee Against Recall Effort (CARE). It makes the statement, "If these people who are attempting a recall truly cared about the community, they would have called for a referendum, instead of attacking individuals."

It is public knowledge, as reported in the Grosse Pointe News, the Detroit Free Press, and the Detroit News that such a referendum was requested by parents who said that they would abide by the outcome. Their request was nixed by the school board.

I would like to know where the Committee Against the Recall Effort was during all this. Obviously, they weren't attending school board meetings or reading the various newspaper accounts. It is incumbent on the Committee Against Recall Effort to retract and apologize for this fallacious charge, if for no other reason than it makes it look like a bunch of ill-informed political amateurs.

Please stop!

Please stop telling this community that the Citizens for Recall are trying to undermine the integrity of Grosse Pointe. We should be proud to have a group of citizens who are sincerely interested in the fate of their school system.

Please stop telling us that we do not have the right to question the policies of our school board and administration. They have a bigger budget to administer than the cities of Grosse Pointe. That is our money. We are their employers. If we made a mistake in some of our electing and hiring, then we have an obligation to correct that mistake.

Please stop telling us that it is only a small vocal minority who are interested in saving our neighborhood elementary schools. Don't you know that it is always the minority in any organization who get the job done.

Please stop telling the community that the Committee for Neighborhood Schools is not interested in consolidating schools. That's absolutely not true. We are only trying to convey the message that there are more efficient and effective ways of consolidation, other than eliminating neighborhood elementary schools.

To CARE, please stop telling this community that we have not asked the school board for a referendum. They have been asked time and time again and have refused to put this school issue to a public referendum. This has been documented on the tapes of our public hearings.

Please stop telling us that a recall is fine for Warren or Pontiac, but not for Grosse Pointe. We also have the right to a perfectly legitimate democratic process. You say "but this has never happened in Grosse Pointe!" Well, someone was passing along a bit of Grosse Pointe history the other day and told of the Grosse Pointe citizens' vigilante group who, some years ago, ousted the superintendent of schools and then found a suitable replacement for him. This community named a school after that suitable replacement — Brownell.

Please stop insinuating to this community that the recall committee is some kind of subversive organization who have no right to question those in authority.

We must support the board

To the Editor:

There is an old saying, "If you build a better mousetrap, the world will beat a path to your door." Grosse Pointe, in the late 1920s and 1930s, built a good educational system and the world not only beat a path to Grosse Pointe, they moved here and took up residence.

It is the late arrivals, who do not know that Grosse Pointers were transported to elementary school and our one high school by bus, who are calling for the recall of Board of Education members in panic.

Nobody worried about going on those old green buses which got us there. The concern then was to get to the school where the good teachers were. That was the main concern of everyone in the community. The Board of Education then worked to make sure we had the best.

The current Board of Education is also following in that tradition. A half-empty school building does not teach children. It is spunky, loving, creative teachers who move children. This school board is facing reality. The money we have must be put into teachers who can inspire children to develop to their maximum potential. Walking to school does not educate. Teachers educate.

A good education is not a touchable thing. You only see the changes for better that it produces. A good education makes a difference. The chauffeur's son who was educated in the Grosse Pointe school system is now a top scientist in thermo-nuclear physics. The plumber's son is a physics professor at the University of Wisconsin. The carpenter's daughter with the Master's degree in education is teaching children in Detroit. All three received scholarships. All three were elected to the National Honor Society. They are just the tip of a giant iceberg.

As a person who has lived in this community since 1923, I am shocked by the lack of insight and judgement of this little group of parents who are asking for the recall of three of our Board of Education members who are trying to serve the children and the whole community.

I have talked to each of these board members and Supt. Kenneth Brummel personally. I appreciate their sense of reality and I have faith in their judgement. We must keep them on the board.

Recall drive is capricious

To the Editor:

I have lived in Grosse Pointe for more than 30 years and have had two children go through the public school system. My original reason for moving to Grosse Pointe was the reputation of its school system.

I am now appalled to find that system being threatened by attempts to capriciously recall certain school board members.

The process of recall is expensive to the citizenry, both monetarily and in terms of personal time consumed. It is disruptive to governing a system and historically was meant as redress for heinous crimes and not for influencing administrative policy.

We are a country ruled by law which allows for an orderly process of elections in which choices are made. It is at election time that the citizenry decides as to which policy-makers represent their views: they vote them in or out.

Unless we are to be reduced to being a "banana republic" with continuous disruption of administrative rule, I suggest that the recall process be taken more seriously and used only for draconian situations. The first step in this direction is not to sign any school board recall petition whether one agrees or disagrees with the board's decision.

I personally agree with the board's decision. The school board is composed of thoughtful people who have had to evaluate a changing population base with diminishing financial resources. I commend them for making decisions based on reality and not on popularity.

The simple way to quash the "know-nothing" recall attempt is by not signing the petitions and urging your friends and neighbors to do likewise.

Billy unfairly defamed

To the Editor:

We found Peggy O'Connor's column Sports Week, printed on Feb. 2, to be in indescribably poor taste.

In her column, Ms. O'Connor referred to an incident involving South swimmer David Bailey. Although Bailey's name was stated as "David Billy," by a South student, we saw no excuse for the scandalous misuse of Bailey's name in Ms. O'Connor's column.

To quote the column: "Now, David Billy sounded like a pretty good name to me (I mean, for a guy with a name like that, what future looms other than that of a hairdresser or kids' TV show host?)"

How can you consider yourself a professional journalist after this senseless defamation of the name, David Billy? We happen to know that a David Billy does indeed exist. He is not a hairdresser or a kids' TV show host, he is a hospital dietary expert.

As a newspaper columnist you are entitled to your opinion, but we feel that a man's name should not be hindered for the possible future he may have. After all, isn't America the land of opportunity?

Thank you

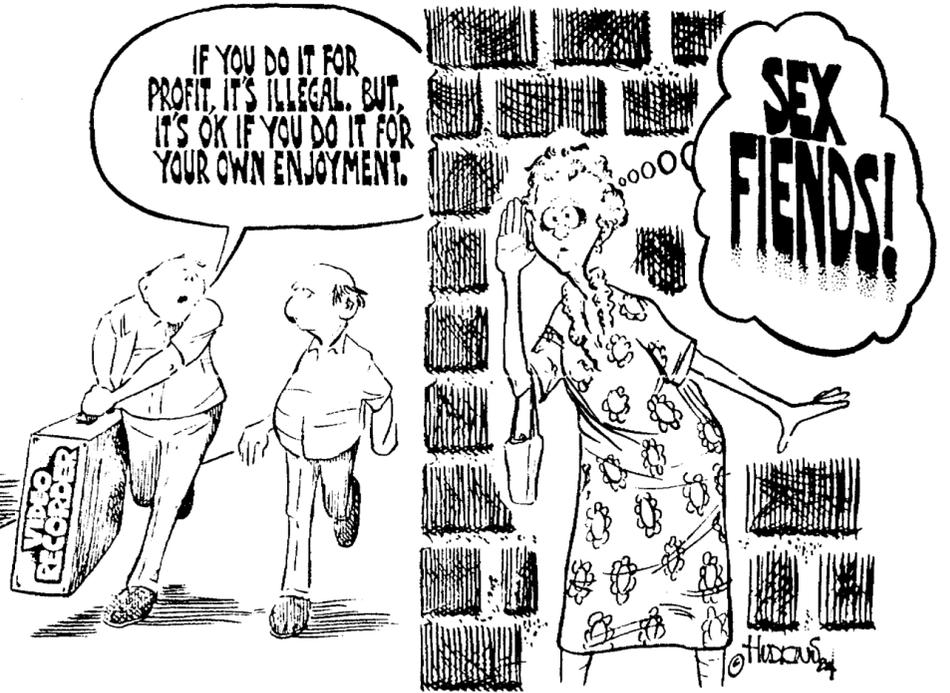

To the Editor:

It is with sincere appreciation that the Defer PTO acknowledges the financial and professional support for the very successful student fingerprinting program on Jan. 30 in accordance with the guidelines of the Missing Child Act.

Supporting the PTO were the Grosse Pointe Park city council, Richard Beach of the South High School Key Club, Sgt. Randall Cain, Park school safety director, Park patrolman James Smith, Deputy Aaron Vincent, of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, Defer principal Jay Flowers and Defer parents group.

We sincerely hope that our efforts in this project will encourage the leadership and concern of other community sponsored groups and schools to continue this youth safety program community-wide.

One view from the Capitol

More tax cuts may be on the way

By William R. Bryant, Jr.

The hoped for debate over how much and when the Legislature should further undo part of the tax increase adopted last year may be starting. It is too early to tell, however, whether we can expect serious negotiation.

It is pretty well agreed because Governor Blanchard has proposed it himself, to return at least the "surplus."

While Republicans disagreed with the spending levels adopted last year and this, and called for more cuts, we are trying to be politically realistic in pursuing return of whatever that "surplus" figure is.

We do disagree with the Governor as to the extent of the surplus and, as I have stated in this column, call for debate to start at $130 million as the minimum and $426 million as the maximum.

Part of the computation of surplus for this current year depends on what "supplemental" appropriations may be made to do something not in the original budget or pay for something now estimated to cost more than originally anticipated.

The Governor, to date, has requested $53.7 million in supplemental spending.

Of that amount, $20 million would be for a Summer Jobs

Program like the one adopted for last summer, designed essentially for unemployed youth and heads of household. Another $12 million is requested to provide state money for cleanup of Velsco toxic waste dumping.

A State Police pay contract was recently negotiated, for which $5.8 million is requested over and above what was budgeted.

Settlement with the feds on various criminal justice program grants and federal monies is said to require that the state pay the feds $7 million.

The Corrections Department seeks $2.9 million for various purposes over and above their budget allocation.

For additional costs in the final phase of the P.B.B. cleanup program $2 million is sought.

Costs to meet a school desegregation case court order are estimated at $0.5 million.

Another $0.5 million each is sought for three other items, for Berlin and Farro toxic waste cleanup costs, for Wayne County air pollution control efforts and for projects related to armories.

The total requested, so far, is $53.7 million.

Two questions must be answered directly relating to these requests. First, are they needed and of a higher priority than enlargement of a tax roll-back? Second, can all or some of the cost of those which should be funded be found within the already adopted appropriations?

The overall question of surplus for this year, the overall revenue and expenditure level, must also be examined to assure accuracy of those basic figures.

News was 'flip' on fingerprints

To the Editor:

It upsets me that your reporter chose to portray the recent fingerprinting program at Defer Elementary in such a flip manner.

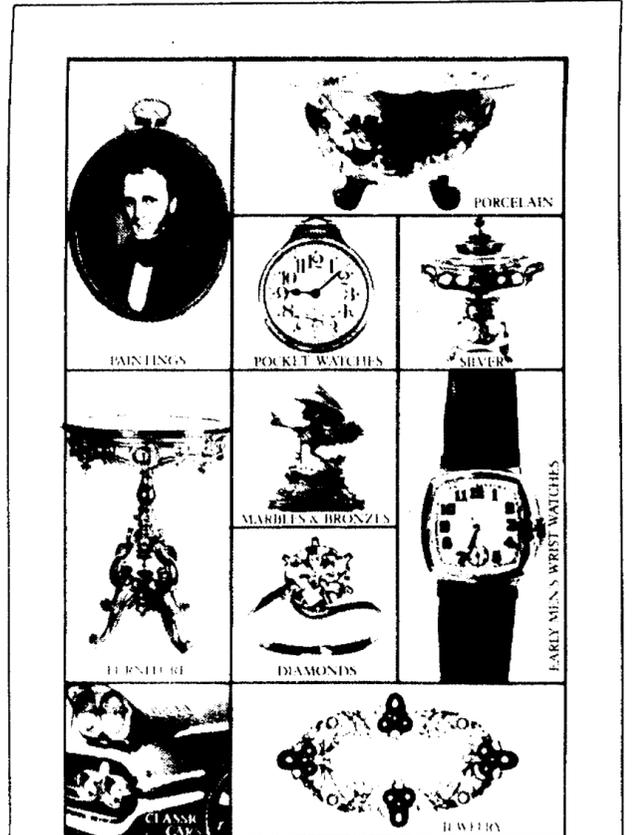

At a time when the well-being of children of all ages is threatened in many ways, our school chose to participate in this program, which is being used nationwide as an extra and most important safety precaution.

The Grosse Pointe News, however, treated the topic lightly and from the many pictures taken, selected one of an infant and one of three children who barely speak English to add "human interest" to the story.

Security is a partnership between parent and child. Many of us discussed the fingerprinting procedure carefully and openly with our children, doing our best to promote security without creating fear. Yet the comments chosen for the article were humorous — the entire matter was trivialized.

Finally, I would like to thank the Park police for their support and help, but also the 16 volunteer parents who gave their time to the project. Their motives were not to see their names in print, but to give their assistance to an undertaking which benefits not only their families but all families in the Defer community.

Korean church is growing

The Protestant Church in Korea is not only alive and well but is thriving, says the ecumenical minister for the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

Dr. Chung-Hyun Ro, who is spending several weeks in Grosse Pointe actively involved in the life and ministry of Memorial Church, is an elder in the 97-year-old Saemoonan Presbyterian Church in South Korea.

"To give you an idea how strong Christianity in general is in Korea," he says, "the church has grown to eight million Protestants and two million Catholics in just about 100 years. This adds up to 25 percent of our 14 million population."

Japan, on the other hand, which has received missionaries for more than two centuries, has only a seven percent Christian population.

Dr. Ro attributes the more dramatic growth of Christianity in Korea to the technology and education brought primarily by U.S. missionaries and the more open-mindedness of the Koreans.

"Missionaries established schools and hospitals and were responsible for producing leadership for social change," he says.

Having received both moral and material support from stronger churches in other countries, Dr. Ro says the Presbyterian church in South Korea is now ready to face new challenges.

With 40 subjects emerging from the Saemoonan Presbyterian Church, achieving unity is one of its top priorities. Another element of the new mission of the Saemoonan Church, he says, will be to provide a greater degree of service to others, not only to the needy in Korean communities, but particularly in third-world countries.

Dr. Ro, who is chairman of the Mission Council for the Saemoonan Church, says his church has sent its first missionary this year to Taiwan and next year expects to send one to Africa. The goal of the church is to send one missionary each year until 1987.

For the past 12 years, the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church has hosted foreign ministers and church leaders for several weeks each year to provide an intimate exchange of culture and philosophy between churches of different nations. These church leaders participate fully in the life of Grosse Pointe Memorial, not only in the pulpit but through educational classes, council meetings and social interaction.

Shores man admits he defrauded Blue Cross

By Susan McDonald

Grosse Pointe Shores psychiatrist Dr. Hubert Chang last week pled guilty in Federal District Court to a charge of defrauding Blue Cross/Blue Shield, according to U.S. Attorney Leonard Gilman.

Dr. Chang, 45, of Belle Meade, has been indicted by a federal grand jury and charged with numerous counts of mail fraud after an investigation by U.S. Postal inspectors and representatives of Blue Cross/Blue Shield, Gilman said. Chang was former director of outpatient services at Wyandotte General Hospital.

Gilman said the Shores psychiatrist was accused of submitting false insurance claims to Blue Cross in which he indicated he had provided psychiatric services to patients. He pled guilty to one count of mail fraud on Tuesday, Jan. 31, in the middle of his trial, the attorney said.

Chang also agreed to make restitution of $23,028 to Blue Cross/Blue Shield, Gilman said. The rest of the charges against Chang will be dismissed at the time of sentencing before Federal Judge Avern Cohn in about six weeks.

Gilman said his office will ask the judge to sentence Chang to some period of incarceration. He could receive two years in prison and a $1,000 fine.

Hobnob with the Emporer

A day trip, hobnobbing with tuxedo-clad Emperors, Kings, Rockhoppers and little blues — penguins all, has been planned by the War Memorial for Saturday, Feb. 11, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Specifically, it's a day at the Detroit Zoo's Penguinarium, escorted by William L. Thompson, Ph.D., professor of biology at Wayne State University and renown "penguinologist."

One grandfather who has gone on the excursion said it was a gift from his granddaughter who wrote on her card, "For the man who has everything." Reportedly he sighed after sharing the information, and

UM Glee Club to sing here

The University of Michigan's Glee Club will be heard in concert on Sunday, Feb. 12, at 7:30 p.m. at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. A reception will follow the concert.

Directed by Patrick Gardner, the Glee Club will offer works by Randall Thompson, Tschesnokoff, Holst, Schubert, Mendelssohn and others. Michigan songs will also be a part of the program, and a smaller group, The Friars, will present a medley of music.

University Carillonneur, William De Turk, will add to the festivities with carillon music preceding the concert. Grosse Pointers in the Glee Club are Tony Alcantara, William Flom and Robert Swaney.

The U of M Glee Club, organized in 1859, is the second oldest glee club in America. The club has won national and international recognition, having appeared in concerts from Helsinki to Leningrad, Tokyo to Bombay. The club has made five trips to Europe and in 1967 circled the globe in celebration of the University's sesquicentennial year. It has also made professional recordings in recent years.

Tickets are available in the church office at $5 for adults, $1 for students. Call 882-5330 for more information.

pulled his fur collar up against the brisk wind which was whipping across the zoo's snow-laden parking lot.

Later, he and others learned about the evolution of penguins, that penguins mate for life, and it is impossible to distinguish the males from the females. The latter point makes it difficult to supply zoos with pairs of penguins.

After this day trip, participants will know more about penguins than anyone they are likely to meet, and may find the information useful for those awkward moments at cocktail parties.

Penguins are dumb and smell awful according to Carolyn Kraus, who wrote an article about Dr. Thompson's tour for "Monthly Detroit" back in 1981. "How come," she asks, "so many people find them charming?"

There is no clear answer. All that is known is that Dr. Thompson's special outing continues to be extremely popular. Area residents can take advantage of this one-of-a-kind day trip for $30. The fee includes bus transportation to and from the War Memorial, coffee and doughnuts, an exotic box lunch, and the knowledge of Dr. Thompson.

Kids want to offer a 'safe ride'

By Kip Monahan
South High

The South High chapter of "Safe Ride," a group attempting to combat the problem of high school drinking and driving, will hold a general information meeting for anyone in the Grosse Pointe community interested. The group would especially like to see high school students and their parents. The meeting has been planned for Wednesday, Feb. 15, in the South High Auditorium.

"Safe Ride" members will speak on what they have accomplished and the future plans of the organization. The members and temporary sponsor Berne LeMieux, assistant principal plan to have the program in full swing by the end of February, if all goes according to plans.

The members are trying to model their plans after a similar plan in Princeton, N.J., which has noted a substantial drop in teenage drinking and driving incidents. The group in Princeton also has boasted that nearly 30 students a night call their program and request a ride, because they are intoxicated, or their date or friend driving them is. However, "Safe Ride" member

Melissa Peslar is quick to point out that "we're not condoning high school drinking, but it is something that's going to happen. If it does happen there should be a way for the students to get home without killing themselves or others."

The meeting's agenda includes a discussion of the group's purpose and future plans. Adult members will also be recruited, and the film "Epidemic" will be shown to depict the graphic problem of drinking while under the influence of alcohol. "Safe Ride" now encompasses about 80 members from South and

North, and plans to grow extensively after the program gets rolling. LeMieux has appointed a 15-person committee to work out the details of the program.

The committee members are checking on legal and insurance matters and talking to local police on the complications involved in a program such as this.

"Safe Ride" member Laura Westfall concluded, "We really need both student and adult participation to make this program work. The meeting is the first step in finding that help."

GPHS January '59 class sets reunion

Twenty-five years ago Grosse Pointe High School held its last January graduation. It was a small class of 122 students. A class reunion committee is planning a dinner-dance to celebrate at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club, on March 31, at 7 p.m.

"We expect a large turn-out because the January 1959 class was unique. Being so small made us a very close class," said Diane Besert Heavner. "We have already had great response."

Others on the reunion committee are Joan Austin Teetzel, Ardy Anderson Jones, Joyce Andrews Williams, Bonnie Browne Lock, Donna Metry Muawad and Judy Monterosso Harrington.

There are a dozen class members the committee has not been able to locate. Anyone from the January, 1959 class that did not receive an invitation letter should call 886-8853 for information.

Shores hires woman officer

The Shores public safety department hired two new officers last month, including the first woman officer in the department's history. The hirings were announced at the Jan. 24 meeting of the village trustees. Public safety director Joseph Vitale said the two were hired to replace officers who retired. A clerk-dispatcher was also hired, he said.

Joining the department in March will be Jacqueline Renard and Larry Catanzaro. Renard, 21, of Sterling Heights, was hired by the department in 1982 as a clerk-dispatcher. Catanzaro, 23, of East Detroit, has a Bachelor of Science degree in fire science at Macomb County Community College.

Both officers are undergoing training and should join the department near the end of March, Vitale said.

Hired to replace Ms. Renard as clerk-dispatcher was James Baker, Vitale said. Baker, 19, from Utica, was a member of the Macomb County Community College public safety department. He is working for his two-year degree at the school and began work Monday, Vitale said.

The department has undergone a number of reshufflings during the last few months, with the hiring of clerks and the appointment of shift commanders for the three, six-officer shifts. The latest were touched off with the retirement of Harry Hamilton and Ronald Klotz.

Also at the meeting, Vitale released his 1983 crime statistics which showed no change in the number of serious crimes committed in the village last year compared to the year before.

Incidents reported to police totaled 45 for both years, according to statistics. Increases were reported in burglaries, larcenies and auto thefts. Assaults fell last year compared to the year before. No armed robberies, rapes or murders were reported in 1983.

Robert W. Goulet, Grosse Pointe Park. Incumbent Wally Kozlowski was re-elected for another term.

Executive secretary George A. Sylvain, Crisis secretary A. Jay Louwers, special events chairman William A. Schultz, and editor-in-chief John L. Marley, all past-presidents, were re-elected for one year terms.

South students in math competition

Twenty-six South High School students advanced to the finals of the 27th annual Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition.
 They are William M. Adloch, Scot R. Allen, Chris J. Bardeen, Dover M. Bell, Louis H. Charbonneau, William B. Colwell, Ranya Dajani, Karen M. Emery, Amy S. Gaskin, Katherine D. Hein, Jennifer A. Hoeting, Nicholas J. Holland and Lynne A. Jones.
 Other South qualifiers were Matthew W. Lane, Amy M. Leverenz, Eric P. Loudermilk, Michael R. McFarlane, Scott R. Miller, Chris E. Mohlan, Helen Ollison, Lydia L. Pallas, Brad G. Peterson, Gerald J. Rebeschini, Kathleen M. Reid, Jason E. Smith and Martin J. Woodrow.
 The competitive examination, based on the subject matter of the high school curriculum, is in two parts. The first part, a multiple-choice exam is designed to test general mathematical background of the contestants. The second part is of a written character and is designed to measure the mathematical ingenuity of the students.
 Only about 1,000 students or about 5 percent of the more than 20,000 students who took Part I have qualified for the finals.
 About 100 winners of the competition will be honored at the awards program to be held at Alma College on Saturday, Feb. 25, with half of the winners receiving college scholarships. These scholarships totaled $15,425 in last year's competition. The competition funds include contributions from the Burroughs Corporation, Michigan Bell, the Kuhlman Corporation, and the Michigan Council of Teachers of Mathematics.
 This competition is sponsored by the Michigan Section of the Mathematical Association of America and is designed to foster a wider interest in mathematics, to focus attention on the necessity for mathematical training in most professions and trades, and to identify and provide scholarships for capable mathematics students in Michigan.

A winning team

The eighth grade boys at Our Lady Star of the Sea Elementary school recently competed against eighth graders from 27 area schools in a Scholastic Olympics hosted yearly by Notre Dame High School in Harper Woods. The competitors were required to demonstrate skills in math, English, forensics, history, science, music, art or religion. Winning awards for the school and helping place Our Lady Star of the Sea in the first place category among the competitors were (left to right), Bat Seymour, David Bourbeau, Greg Mills, Mark Piccirelli and Robert Hall. Behind the boys are their teachers, Pat Carsley, Jean Guillaumin, Peggy Miller and Lorraine Brosteaux.

Young author sees her work on stage at ULS

It's not often that the playwright is a member of the audience when her play is performed. But that's just what happened at University Liggett School Friday, Feb. 3, when Anne Wiese of Brooklyn, N.Y., the young author of "Coleman," watched ULS drama students present her prize-winning play.
 ULS drama instructor Phillip Moss discovered "Coleman" and Ms. Wiese in a publication of winners of the Young Playwright's Festival, a competition sponsored by the Dramatists Guild.
 "The play was perfect for our student-directed project," said Moss. "Not only was it about young people and their struggles, it was written by one of their contemporaries." It seemed reasonable and exciting to invite Ms. Wiese to talk with students about her intentions as author and their interpretations as director and actors.
 Ms. Wiese, who is 19 and a junior at Amherst College in Massachusetts, was delighted to come. An English major, Ms. Wiese plans to teach rather than aim for Broadway status as a dramatist, but she came "because it's so important to encourage students to try new things. I never would have written this play if a teacher hadn't stimulated and supported me."
 What did Ms. Wiese think of the ULS performance? "It's exciting to communicate an idea and then see others interpret it and add new dimensions," she said. Ms. Wiese spoke to about 100 patrons who came early to Friday's performance to discuss aspects of the drama with the playwright and student director, Brion Fox.

 The author's visit to ULS was a part of a series of visiting artists sponsored by the Creative and Performing Arts Department. Other residencies this year have included dancers, poets, potters and painters.
 Ms. Wiese's weekend hosts in Grosse Pointe were Mr. and Mrs. Richard McBrien of Colonial Road.

Montefalco takes the trophy

St. Clare of Montefalco School in Grosse Pointe was named team winner of the sixth annual Scholastic Olympics sponsored last month by Regina High School in Harper Woods.

Eighth grade students from St. Clare won first, second or third-place medals in five out of nine areas of competition.

First-place winners included Rebecca Cho in science, Elizabeth Nelson in English and Tami Tsampikou in math. Melissa Petersmarch took a second place award in religious studies. Third-place award winners were Kelly Smith in science, Sara Wasinger in English and Lila Wajeeh in forensics.

Some 362 eighth grade girls from 23 metro-Detroit Catholic schools participated in the event. The purpose of the Olympics is to encourage and give recognition for academic achievements from area Catholic elementary schools.

"This is an academic as opposed to athletic competition. We follow a similar type of Olympic awarding by giving gold, silver and bronze plaques to first, second and third-place winners. All entrants receive a 'Certificate of Participation,'" said Sister M. Leanne, principal of Regina.

This is the third time St. Clare has won the team trophy in the six-year history of the Regina Scholastic Olympics. The school also won in 1980 and 1982. St. Anne School in Warren missed this year's team trophy by one point.

Other individual first-place winners included Barbara Erfurt from St. Anne in dance; Lisa Horwath from St. Anne in current events; Nicole Cooper from St. Clement in art; Nicole Didur from St. Joan of Arc in forensics; Roxanne Rempala from St. Matthew in religious studies; and Jean Werthman from St. Peter in music.

This gang from St. Clare of Montefalco School answered questions about science, math, English and forensics to win the team trophy in the sixth annual Scholastic Olympics, sponsored last month by Regina High School.

One-act plays on stage at SH

By Laurie Smith
South High School

South's Pointe Players will present something for audiences of all kinds on Feb. 15 and 16 with student directed one-act plays.

"Between Time and Timbuktu" by Kurt Vonnegut Jr. is the story of a scientist who wins an award for a space invention which enables one to travel between the centuries and into the future. The play is being directed by senior Marshall Stalker and assistant Lydia Pallas.

The all-time classic, "Moby Dick" by Herman Melville is the second play, directed by Holly Villegas and Allison Neely.

"The Zoo Story" is a psychological look at two men who meet in a park and are trying to straighten their lives out. It was written by Edward Albee and will be directed by sophomore Greg Roach. The two actors are James Kaliardos and Christine Eskilsen.

The final play is "The Frog Prince," a classic children's story. Stars are Pat Selby, Wendy Flynn, Martha Meagher and Jeff Bosley. It is directed by Julie Johnson.

Each of the plays is short and covers a different area of acting. They will be presented in South's Auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

She helps South students adjust

By Wendy Honstain
South High

"With adolescence comes problems; it's all part of the growing process," said Lucile McIntosh recently, resident social worker at South High. She deals with any problem that affects a student's ability to concentrate in school.

According to Mrs. McIntosh, there are two age groups in high school that experience common problems. Kids 14 to 16 sometimes have trouble adjusting to high school. There are special problems built into their age group. They are experiencing growth in all ways; physically, emotionally, and mentally.

Kids who are between the ages of 16 and 18 are worried about problems of a different nature. They are making a lot of decisions during this time. "Am I going to college?" "Where am I going to college?" "What will I do with my life?" All questions that confuse teenagers. There's also a tremendous pressure to excel academically or in sports.

"Surprisingly enough," said Mrs. McIntosh, "the use of drugs is down considerably at South since I've been here." Mrs. McIntosh began working at South in 1971, a bad period for drug abuse. It was a time when teenagers rebelled against any form of authority. In the last 10 years there has been a growing enthusiasm and resurgence in school spirit.

"We know there is still too much drinking and pot smoking, but the attitude of the school as a whole is tremendous," said Mrs. McIntosh.

The proverbial "good ol' days" parents talk about can present many real problems for teenagers today. But every problem has a solution. "I'm here to help kids through a tough time. Eventually things work out for the best," she said.

Teens may explore at Wellesley

A special meeting for students, aged 12 to 17, and their parents has been scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 18, from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. at the War Memorial to explain two separate Exploration Summer Programs which will be held on the Wellesley College Campus again this summer.

The senior program is for students entering grades 10 to 12, and the intermediate program is for students entering grades 7 to 9.

Last summer more than 950 participants attended Exploration's residential and day programs. About a third came from Greater Boston, the rest from more than 35 states and 10 foreign countries including France, Italy and Germany.

According to Ann Singal, executive director of the non-profit program, "Exploration is neither a summer school, nor a camp. Some of the senior program participants come to explore future career fields or deepen interests in academic and enrichment areas. Some of the intermediate program participants will seek to broaden their ideas scholastically and socially. Most come to meet new people and form additional friendships and this is made easier through the flavor of the college campus."

Each participant in the senior program attends two workshops selected from a range of fields including law, architecture, film, drama, art, dance, psychology, mathematics, physics, philosophy, computers and SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test) preparation. Recreational schedules during the remainder of the day include mini-courses, field trips, guest lectures and sports such as tennis, softball or soccer. There is swimming and boating on Lake Waban, located on the campus.

Intermediate program workshops are planned in most cases to be "hands on" experiences. Among the many offered are photography, astronomy, drama, writing, computers, dance and business.

South writers visit Free Press

By Kip Moanah
South High

The journalists of tomorrow met those of today when South Journalism classes toured the editorial offices of the Detroit Free Press recently.

The beginning classes, Tower, South's weekly newspaper, and Newpointe, writing for the Grosse Pointe News, took the field trip with teacher-advisor Bob Button.

The students took the trip to expand their knowledge of journalism and get a taste of what a large newspaper is like.

Free Press tour guides took the group of about 40 through much of the building, including the art and photography studios, the newsroom, design and layout room, and the Free Press information library.

In the photography studios, the Free Press' Pulitzer Prize-winning photographs were on display. The art studios had a much more hectic pace with cartoonists finishing editorial cartoons and fashion artists drawing for the fashion pages.

The newsroom was the most interesting. National Editor Alex Cruden and Larry Olmstead, assistant city editor, talked to the group on the skills and education it takes to become a journalist, and the pressures on the news reporter.

Button knew many of the editors and writers after spending last year on a sabbatical at the Free Press to learn more about the high-tech world of journalism.

In the news room international news was handled. In addition to wire services, the Knight-Ridder Company, which owns the Free Press, Philadelphia Inquirer, and Miami Herald among others, staffs bureaus in major cities all over the world, and the papers share stories.

Laurie Smith, a student on the trip concluded, "The tour guides and Mr. Button noted many facts that gave us an insight on the world of journalism."

Woman voters support nuclear freeze

The Grosse Pointe League of Women Voters has joined chapters from across the nation in endorsing a bilateral, mutually verifiable freeze on testing, production and deployment of nuclear weapons...

U.S. relationship with other countries. Continuing the second part of the national security study, the Grosse Pointe League will meet at the home of Leila Lynch on Wednesday, Feb. 15, at 7:30 p.m. to talk about military force strengths, first use of nuclear weapons and military spending...

conensus before taking action on issues. The national and local chapters began studying the arms control issue in May, 1982. Responses to a national questionnaire were tabulated and analyzed and a final position on the weapons question was announced in December.

The league's position paper states that "arms control measures are essential to reduce the risk of war and increase global stability. Toward that end, the U.S. government should give the highest level of importance to arms control efforts that limit or reduce the quantity of weapons; limit proliferation and prohibit first use of nuclear weapons; prohibit first use and possession of chemical, biological and radio logical weapons; and reduce tensions in order to prevent situations which weapons might be used."

The national league noted that it supports some efforts of the Nuclear Weapons Freeze Campaign, such as pressing the President to pursue bilateral efforts to achieve a comprehensive freeze. But it does not support unilateral initiatives, such as congressional suspension of funds.

AFS seeking host families

Each year more than 3,000 foreign exchange students come to the U.S. to study in high schools across the country and share the lives of American families under the auspices of AFS International/Intercultural Programs, the oldest and largest foreign exchange organization for high school students.

AFS students live as members of the family, sharing their triumphs and problems as they learn about their new country, their new culture and develop their English skills. They attend regular classes and have an impact upon other students as well as their host families.

"Our AFS student is as much our son as any of our other children," one host mother said. "He will always have a very special place in our lives. The year that he was here was just the beginning of a very special relationship."

The Grosse Pointe South Chapter of AFS is looking for more families in Grosse Pointe to host students for the coming year, according to Ann Nicholson, chapter chairman.

"The requirements are simple: openness to new ideas, an interest in people and a place for the student to sleep. AFS has all kinds of families as hosts. Although most AFS families have teenage children, families with young children or no children are welcomed and encouraged to apply," Ms. Nicholson said.

Host families are not asked to make special expenditures for the AFS students, but they do pay food costs and incidental expenses as they would for any child of their own. Under the provision of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, host families are eligible to take a $50 per month deduction. AFS extends medical coverage to its students as well as sending them monthly allowances. All AFS applicants have been carefully screened by the national office of their home country as well as at AFS international headquarters in New York, according to Ms. Nicholson.

Families interested in this opportunity to build international understanding should write Ms. Nicholson at 222 Cloverly, Grosse Pointe Farms, 48235, or call at 884-4637.

Southeast Asia since the fall

John K. Whitmore, professor of Southeast Asian history from the University of Michigan, will speak about Indochina after the fall of Saigon, Thursday, Feb. 9, at the War Memorial. His lecture will be from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

1975, with particular attention given to the role the U.S. government is now playing there. He will also discuss the large emigration from Indochina which has taken place since then.

In 1975 Communist troops marched into Saigon, bringing a decisive end to the long Vietnam conflict that divided Americans during the late 1960s and early 1970s. For many years now, Americans have ignored developments in Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, preferring to forget about it, altogether.

Junior high and high school teachers are invited to incorporate this, and the following lecture, into their study plans.

The final lecture of this series will be Feb. 16, and will feature Michael Cullinane, lecturer in Asian Studies. He will speak about the U.S. and Philippines: The Special Relationship Reconsidered.

Professor Whitmore will review some of the developments which have occurred in Indochina since General admission to each lecture is $5. Students and teachers will be admitted for $2 each. For more information, call 881-7511.

A year of growth for Cottage

Robert E. Valk, chairman of the Cottage Hospital board and Cottage Health Services Corp., characterized 1983 as a year of progress at the annual meeting held at the hospital, Jan. 23. He cited the hospital's commitment to people and its preference for action as valuable qualities in the changing economic environment which surround health care providers today.

"At Cottage Hospital, high standards of care mean continually measuring current performance against a long tradition of excellence," he said.

Reviewing several of the highlights of 1983, Valk cited the completion and opening of the new 20-bed psychiatric unit in September as important in helping to reduce the chronic need for mental health beds in the community. The addition now has brought total hospital capacity to 196 beds. He also noted that Cottage Hospital enhanced its ophthalmic surgical services last year through the addition of new equipment and advanced procedures in eye surgery, in addition to laser and microsurgical equipment now being used in the hospital's operating rooms.

Valk congratulated trustees for their leadership and dedication and thanked members of the medical staff, administration and hospital employees for their fine efforts and personal commitment to achieving a high quality of care.

In his remarks before the annual meeting of the Cottage Hospital Corp. Executive Ralph L. Wilgarde described the challenges of coping with a new cost per case method of payment for Medicare patients, which went into effect for the hospital on Jan. 1, 1984.

Based on diagnosis related groups (DRGs) the system sets payment for services before care is given. In some cases payments will be below actual hospital costs.

"On one hand, we must retain our high standard of patient care and services. On the other, we must maintain financial stability, despite prospects of reduced income, to plan and build appropriately for the future," Wilgarde said.

Wilgarde described administration's efforts to work closely with the medical staff to monitor admissions and promote other appropriate modes of hospital care. He added that all hospital services are being evaluated for cost effectiveness and all hospital expenditures and inventories are being examined to reinforce efficiency. Through a vigorous cost containment campaign among Cottage Hospital employees last year, more ideas were identified to control costs, he added.

"Today we recognize that the protected financial status once accorded to the hospital industry is a thing of the past. We are developing a new attitude toward productivity to compete effectively with other hospitals," he said.

Wilgarde noted that the hospital had begun computed tomography services in May as well as the Cottage Hospital Athletic Medicine Program (CHAMP) to address the need for attention to sports injuries in the community.

In his remarks, David H. Barker, M.D., chief of staff, lauded the high level of excellence in diagnostic radiology now available to Cottage Hospital patients since the opening of the CT scanner, which is jointly owned with Bon Secours Hospital.

"The extent of disease can be identified, often obviating other more invasive examinations, while at the same time producing important information never before obtainable," he said.

Among other subjects, Dr. Barker noted the opening of the renal hemodialysis unit in July in conjunction with the Fairlane Health Services, and the continued exemplary work being carried on by the staff and volunteers involved in the hospital's hospice program.

On the subject of the cost per case method for payment of Medicare, Barker said, "Under the traditional value system of medicine, all that is necessary is provided for the care of each patient. It is possible under the DRG system that there will be a reduction in access and quality of care to more severely ill patients. The Cottage Hospital medical staff will strive to deliver services as efficiently as possible and prevent erosion of the value system."

In her report to the corporation, Mrs. William F. Streit, president of the Cottage Hospital Auxiliary, reported that there are 413 current members in the auxiliary. Volunteers contributed 61,163 hours of service to the hospital in 1983.

Mrs. Streit cited the many Auxiliary sponsored events held throughout 1983 to benefit Cottage Hospital including a dinner theater in March, the third annual FUN RUN/WALK and a legislative brunch with featured speaker, State Rep. William R. Bryant, Jr., both in May, and the traditional fund raiser, the Holiday Mart in October.

Mrs. Streit announced that the Auxiliary had donated $30,000 to the hospital to support various projects in 1983.

The following persons were elected officers for the Cottage Health Services Corp. for 1984: Valk, chairman; Robert P. Lambrecht, president; Ralph L. Wilgarde, executive vice-president; Earl I. Heenan, Jr., treasurer; Cleveland Thurber, Jr., secretary; and Mrs. Elliott H. Phillips, assistant secretary. Elected to the board of trustees of the Cottage Health Services Corp. for a three-year term were William C. Rands, III, and John B. Vanderzee, II.

The following persons were elected as officers for the Cottage Hospital Corporation or 1984: Valk, chairman; Lambrecht, president; Gordon T. Ford, first vice-president; John B. Vanderzee, II, second vice-president; Heenan, treasurer; Mrs. F. James Robinson, II, secretary; and Mrs. Sterling E. Graham, Jr., assistant secretary.

Elected to the board of trustees of the Cottage Hospital Corp. for a three-year term were Keith E. Crain, William E. Baubie, Ford, Heenan, Richard Huegli, W. Merritt Jones, Jr., Mrs. Phillips, William C. Rands, III, and Wilgarde.

Woods considers new zoning map

By Mike Andrzejczyk

It took four years, but the Woods may finally have a zoning map that reflects reality, city planners say. The Woods council, meeting as a committee-of-the-whole Monday night, Jan. 30, recommended approval of a zoning map that uses some of the city's new zoning classifications, allows commercial development on the only undeveloped piece of Mack frontage and rezones several businesses.

Planning consultant Brandon

County board will meet in Harper Woods

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners will meet next Thursday, Feb. 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the Harper Woods Municipal Building, 19617 Harper at Allard.

The formal meeting of the commission will provide time for comments by residents of the First District, which includes the Pointes, Harper Woods and northeast Detroit.

Under the other county charter, the commission must hold at least eight meetings in communities around the county. At least four of those have to be held outside the county seat of Detroit.

In an interview last month, First District commissioner John Hertel said Harper Woods was chosen for the meeting because of its central location in the district.

The meeting is open to the public.

Park robbers take guns

Grosse Pointe Park police report a home in the 1400 block of Harvard was robbed of three guns valued at $1,400 on Monday, Jan. 23. Entry to the home was gained by breaking a rear door window.

On Tuesday, Jan. 24, a resident in the 800 block of Lakepointe discovered at around 11 p.m. that someone had entered his home by breaking the kitchen window glass. Items taken included a double barrel 20 gauge shotgun, rifle and jewelry.

Around 8 a.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 25, a woman reported her purse was taken as she entered her home on Wayburn near Charlevoix. The robber, described as a black male, six feet tall and extremely slim, ran away with her purse containing $6 and credit cards. Police said she was unharmed.

In all cases, Park police have no suspects.

Rogers said the proposed map reflects current uses in the city and is a step toward achieving the city's land-use goals. Eight or nine businesses will be rezoned from commercial to restricted office, he added.

Rogers said he and a planning commission sub-committee as well as city officials reviewed each of the businesses on Mack and developed the planned rezoning based on predominant uses in a block.

The rezoned businesses are sometimes the only commercial use in a block, Rogers said. The rezoning would turn the businesses into non-conforming uses, he said.

Commercial property rezoned to restricted office can remain commercial and can be used for a similar business if sold, Rogers said. But such non-conforming uses can't expand, he added.

John Cobau, an attorney representing an affected property owner, said the changes offer no immediate benefit to the city, don't reflect the city's long-term land use plan and could adversely affect property values and tax revenues.

Commercial property sells faster than office space, Cobau said. A number of vacant office buildings on Mack could hurt the surrounding areas, he added.

Cobau also pointed out the zoning didn't bring the city much closer to its envisioned land-use, when office use is centrally located in the city.

Two of the affected properties are on Vernier, where commercial development was recommended, he said.

"It makes little sense to implement a plan whose means bear little resemblance to the objectives sought," Cobau said.

Planner Rogers pointed out that Vernier is predominantly residential from Beaconsfield east. The change in classification for the two Vernier businesses reflects that character, he said.

Rogers also warned the council against "spot-zoning" commercial businesses in restricted office areas, saying such a policy would leave the city defenseless against requests for rezoning.

North-end residents argued against the zoning of the eastern corners of Mack and Aline for commercial use, saying such a classification would allow development the city could not control and damage the surrounding neighborhoods.

Brys resident Thomas Sullivan said the property wasn't large enough to allow commercial development without council waiver of parking requirements. Such action would further exacerbate parking problems in the area, he said.

Chuck Harwood, also of Brys, said the commercial development on the property owned by Dr. Matthew Fontana, could mean a commercial development the city has no control over, a point reiterated by Sullivan.

"With all due respect to the present owner, to hang your hat on the present developer's plans is to hang your hat on a long limb," Sullivan said. "If it remains commercial, you have no control."

Sullivan also pointed to a 1957 land-use study which recommended against further commercial development on Mack.

Councilman Thomas Fahrner made the motion for the recommendation to adopt the map. The action passed 6-1, with councilman Paul Beaupre dissenting.

The zoning changes, as originally envisioned, were to deal with traffic congestion and parking problems in the city, Beaupre said. The proposed map didn't address either of those concerns, he said.

Beaupre said the "heart and soul, the nuts and bolts of this plan have already been deleted. I'm not really sure what we are accomplishing with this zoning map in terms of any clear-cut resolve... to relieve traffic noise and make parking available."

Rogers said the zoning map was an attempt to update the city's current map, which he characterized as being "hopelessly out-of-date."

US-Philippine ties are topic

The War Memorial's lecture series focusing on South and Southeast Asia will conclude next Thursday, Feb. 16, when University of Michigan Asian Studies lecturer Michael Cullinane discusses "The U.S. and the Philippines: The Special Relationship Reconsidered."

Since Admiral Dewey steamed into Manila Bay in 1898 to destroy the Spanish fleet during the Spanish-American War, the U.S. has maintained a so-called "special relationship" with the Philippines.

This relationship began with a bloody war between Filipinos and Americans from 1899 to 1906, passed through 40 years of colonial rule that ended when the U.S. granting Philippine independence in 1946, and emerged in the post-war world as one of America's greatest success stories in Asia.

In light of recent developments in the Philippines, Cullinane will examine this relationship in an effort to reconsider some of its critical aspects, in particular the special interests of both countries that sustains this relationship, on the one hand, and contributes to its demise on the other.

This Council of Sponsors lecture will be held from 10 to 11:30 a.m. General admission is $5 and the special student rate is $2. For information call 881-7511.

Abuse series continues

The drug and alcohol abuse program that was launched last month by former First Lady Betty Ford at South High School continues throughout February with a series of follow-up discussions. The programs are sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Substance Abuse Community Council.

All meetings are free and held at the Neighborhood Club, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

On Feb. 15, Lynne Kingsbury and Judy Norwood will talk about "Adults Who Grew Up in An Alcoholic Home." The women head the Children of Alcoholic Parents program in Royal Oak. They will discuss alcoholism as a family disease.

On Feb. 22 Thomas Francek, director of occupational services at the Oxford Institute, will provide information for employers, employees and their families about alcohol treatment programs.

The following Wednesday, Feb. 29, Henry Ford Hospital intervention specialist Renee Gerger will talk about how friends and family members can turn their concern and caring into a force that will bring about change in the alcoholic.

Diabetic group will meet Monday

Diabetic Support Groups, for diabetics and their families, meet the second Monday of the month from 7 to 9 p.m. in the conference room on the fourth floor of Cottage Hospital, 159 Kercheval in the Farms.

Group participants conduct the informal discussions which may include comparison of varieties of testing equipment, medical treatment and recent advances in the field. Information on medical insurance, social security, Medicare and Medicaid coverage is also shared.

New members are welcome. For more information about the support group, call the education department at 884-8600, extension 2390.

Looking ahead... to Kerby Karnival

Prime Time for senior citizens

Marian Trainor

February is a month when everyone begins to look forward to spring and summer. We have had enough of grey, leaden days and long frosty nights. Only the promise of cheerier days ahead sustains us.

Unlike the do-little, stay-at-home days of winter, the arrival of spring and summer brings with it such joyous events as graduations, weddings and perhaps a new grandchild.

In addition to these happy events there will also be those who are looking forward to a milestone in their personal life — retirement.

They will be leaving the work force and with it a way of life they have known for most of their adult years. Their days have been structured around their work hours. Work has been a source of their livelihood and a place where they have made many friends. They have enjoyed the camaraderie and common interests that prevail among those who spend long hours together in the same office or in the same pursuits.

They will miss it, but they will also be relieved to leave behind the time clocks and the pressures. Their life is now their own. They can relax now and enjoy their family and friends. They will have time to play golf, or cards or spend hours pursuing a hobby. They can live wherever they choose whether it be in Florida where it never really gets cold or in a more invigorating part of the country where the seasons change with the prevailing winds.

There will be some considerations to ponder. Some retirees do not want to move away from their children, their grandchildren or their friends, but there will be those for whom this will not be a problem because their families have already relocated because of their jobs and their friends because they have retired.

Then there are those who can't wait to move to a smaller community to escape the problems of big city living, and there are others who want to stay because they enjoy the momentum and excitement of the city.

There are no common answers but, if the decision has not already been made, the uneventful days and nights of February provide ample time to think ahead and plan for that day when the options are yours.

City oriented people will want to remain close to the good things that only a large metropolis offers.

They enjoy going to the major exhibits at the Detroit Institute of Arts, live theater at the Fisher, dance recitals at Music Hall, the symphony concerts at Ford Auditorium and opera at the Masonic Temple. They want to go to Joe Louis Arena to see major sporting events and live concerts and out to the stadium to cheer the Tigers. They like to try the cuisine in elegant restaurants and sample the fare in ethnic eating places. They think it's pretty neat that we can go international by crossing over to Windsor. Once there, they take a certain pride in looking across the river at Detroit's skyline. These are truly city people at heart. They treasure the city for what it offers and have faith that in time it will resolve its problems.

Another option open to retirees who enjoy the cultural advantages of a big city but would rather live away from its environs, is retiring to a college town.

Many of the college activities are open to the general public in these small towns. They include series of plays, concerts, ballets, chamber music and other performances by visiting artists, touring companies or their own faculty and students. Many colleges schedule programs and classic films — and force the local movie houses to show quality films to compete with them.

At some colleges, such as Michigan State, membership in the faculty club, including the use of the bar, golf course and swimming pool is offered to people who are not faculty members.

State universities are usually liberal also in the extent to which they open their educational facilities to townspeople. State residents are entitled not only to use the library for reference but also to consult faculty members who are experts in horticulture, home economics and other practical subjects. At state universities enrolling in regular courses is open to residents, which is not always true at private colleges.

City people will argue that these same advantages are available at our local college. However if you want to live in a comparatively small community and still enjoy many cultural advantages, a college town could be a good choice.

Beyond what it has to offer in the way of cultural opportunities, a college town has other pluses. Housing values remain stable because colleges, although they are not recession proof, don't go bankrupt or move out leaving a ghost town behind. They are usually well run because elective offices are often held by professors of urban planning, public finance and other relevant specialties. Facilities and amenities are usually of high quality because college faculty members demand excellent parks, libraries, museums and adult education programs. Medical and dental care is good because of the need to train students in the best medical and research facilities.

In addition to all of these features, those who opt to live in Ann Arbor can boast that, according to a recent survey, they have settled in one of the most desirable places to live in the country.

There are other options if one wishes to be near but not settle in a college town. For instance, Manchester with a population of 2,000, a small town in the far southeast corner of the state, is midway between Ann Arbor and Jackson. It is also close to the Irish Hills, an extremely pretty region. It is a town right out of the 1920's, well suited to someone looking for a small town atmosphere, but still close enough to a college town to take advantage of the opportunities afforded there.

If none of these are important to you and you just want to retire to peace and quiet and the pursuit of your own favorite pastimes it is possible to find what you are looking for within the broad expanse of your own state. Unless you have already found a Shangri-la that meets all your requirements such as climate, proximity to your children, the cost of living and the kind of recreation both you and your spouse enjoy, why not spend some time travelling about the state? You will have fun scouting the areas and even if you decide to locate elsewhere, you will have some memorable sights to recall.

If you are water-oriented, and most people who have lived around the Great Lakes are, there are 11,000 inland lakes and 100 miles of Great lakes shoreline to explore. There are 67 harbors of refuge around the state offering launching and boating anchorage for pleasure boaters. There are another 1,000 public boat launching sites around the state for Michigan pleasure-boat fleets.

Every lake area has activities such as Venetian boat parades, boat races and waterfront art exhibits. There are salmon derbies which follow game fish up the shores of Michigan and Huron.

But Michigan has much to offer besides its lakes and beaches. There are woods to hunt in and slopes in winter to ski and wide expansive fields to enjoy the fun of snowmobiling.

In order to really appreciate the diversity of what the state has to offer, it should be travelled at different seasons of the year but particularly in the fall when the trees burst forth in glorious colors. Its forests become aglow with brilliant red, bright oranges, waxy yellows and soft pastels as the tress changes from faded green to burnished beauty.

From Ludington to Standish, from Muskegon to Port Huron, it is possible to view a panorama of unsurpassed beauty.

Whether you decide to stay in Michigan or decide to settle in Florida, Arizona or any other of the retirement areas, the sights you see as you travel about the state will remain in your memory. As you wake up to each predictable day, perhaps you will think of the first, soft snowflakes drifting over the city streets and little towns back home in the Wolverine state. You will miss the freshness of spring breezes, the bliazing brazen display of fall colors and even the solitude and time for reflection that the long winter nights afford.

You can give $2 for kids

Michigan taxpayers will again have the chance to donate $2 of the state income tax refund due them to the Children's Trust Fund by checking box 33a on their state tax forms.

The check-off box can make the difference in hundreds of children's lives, according to state Rep. William Bryant, of the Farms. The Trust Fund is used to help prevent child abuse and neglect by making money available on the local level for after-school "latch key" programs, drop-in centers, prenatal and pregnancy programs and other programs aimed at preventing child abuse, sexual abuse and neglect.

Last year was the first that the check-off was available and the Children's Trust Fund received $678,000 which was distributed to 23 programs through the Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

If you wonder why traffic is very light in The Pointe this morning, why you can't raise anyone by phone, be advised that this is a Grosse Pointe Celebrity Series morning . . . and that means that the Esquire Theatre is chock full of Grosse Pointers who are having a wonderful time listening to James H. Boren, Washington, D.C., publisher, political satirist and former government bureaucrat, author of "When in Doubt, Mumble" and three other books with equally intriguing titles.

For 30 years, the Bon Secours Hospital Assistance League has been bringing columnists and commentators, film stars and financial analysts, Somebodies who have Something to Say to Our Town. There's still one more speaker to go in the current series — Edie Adams, stage, screen and television personality, closes the 1983-84 season March 8 — but it's not too early to begin thinking about next year's Celebrity Series.

Now, in fact, is the time to get 1984-85 season tickets, for the series is offered at $25 until May 1, when the price goes up. Tickets may be purchased at the Esquire before this morning's program, and before Ms. Adams' program, or from Mrs. Ernest G. Moeller, ticket chairman, 801 Lakeland Avenue, Grosse Pointe, Mich. 48230. All proceeds, of course, benefit Bon Secours Hospital.

What you're buying in 1984-85 is the opportunity to hear Loretta Young report on "The Star in The Woman" Oct. 11, and F. Lee Bailey tell how "The Defense Never Rests" Nov. 8. The new year brings "Fun with Music" featuring Leonid Hambro, concert pianist and co-performer with Victor Borge, Jan. 10. The series closes March 14 when Judith Viorst, humorist, author, poet and Redbook contributing editor, offers advice on "How to Survive Love, Guilt and Other Dilemmas."

They'll be speaking in a new Celebrity Series setting: the Parcels School Auditorium in Grosse Pointe Woods. Chairman of the 1984-85 season is Mrs. Thomas H. Mercier. Co-chairman is Mrs. Walter V. Bernard.

Congratulations Are in Order

Congratulations to . . . Sylvia Mitchell, of Lakeview Avenue, whose "Feminine Form from the 40s" captured fourth prize in Michigan Ceramics '84, the Michigan Potters' Association seventh annual statewide juried exhibition, which opens tomorrow, Friday, Feb. 10, with a 5 to 7:30 p.m. reception for contributing artists at the Detroit Artists Market. The show will run there through March 2.

Grosse Pointe exhibitors, in addition to Sylvia, are Helene Drolet, Ken Thompson and Scott Wilcher. They're among 71 artists whose 104 pieces were selected from 337 entries by juror Ann Christenson.

Woman's Club President's Day Tea is Feb. 15

The Grosse Pointe Woman's Club has scheduled its annual President's Day program for next Wednesday, Feb. 15. Members and guests will gather for tea at 12:30 p.m. in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Crystal Ballroom.

This is the day on which the club traditionally honors its current president, who this year is Mrs. Milan J. Alexander, and presidents of other clubs affiliated with the Federation of Women's Clubs of Metropolitan Detroit, plus presidents of Grosse Pointe organizations and the Woman's Club's own past-presidents.

Mrs. Alexander will introduce the speaker, Detroit News columnist Eleanor Breitmeyer, a fourth-generation Detroit descendant from a pioneer German family that settled in the area in 1846. Her father's first cousin was Philip Breitmeyer, Mayor of Detroit in 1909-1910. The Breitmeyer School, Cameron and Marston, stands on the site of the original Breitmeyer farm.

Eleanor is a Northville High School and University of Michigan graduate. She worked at the Northville Record, a weekly, for a few years before joining the Detroit News in 1952.

She was the recipient in 1976 of the Headliner of the Year Award presented annually by Women in Communications, a national honorary fraternity for persons in journalism. She received a certificate of appreciation from the late Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh for her efforts in supporting charitable and social groups.

Her talk for the Woman's Club is entitled "When the Party's Over."

Mrs. Henri Gelders and Mrs. Phil Saverino, Woman's Club social chairmen, will use a presidential theme for the tea table where Mrs. John W. Griffin, honorary member, and Mrs. John W. Murphy, Mrs. Jon Cook and Mrs. Vene Whims, past-presidents, will preside. Assisting on the tea committee are Mrs. W.L. Bedard and Mrs. Herbert Ralph.

Members planning to invite guests are requested to make reservations by contacting the club's hospitality chairman, Mrs. Lloyd Beemer.

Hunger is topic for Memorial Church Women

"Hunger at Our Doorstep" will be the subject at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church Women's Association meeting next Tuesday, Feb. 14. The program begins at 9:30 a.m.

After a short business session conducted by Mrs. Fred Adams, association president, and devotions given by Mrs. Ralph Bleich, Mrs. Donald Keim, newly-elected second vice-president and program chairman, will introduce the morning's guest speaker, Father James McLaren director of Crossroads.

The presentation begins with a video tape of a panel discussion dealing with the problems of hunger on Detroit's East Side and in Grosse Pointe. Panelists include Maureen Dufour, director of Volunteer Services at Bon Secours Hospital, State Senator John Kelly, Elenor Josidus, co-director of Focus HOPE, and Father McLaren.

Following the "Hunger at Our Doorstep" tape, Father McLaren will talk about Crossroads' outreach program and answer questions.

Visitors are welcome, both at the meeting in the church lounge and at the noon luncheon, for which reservations may be made by calling 882-5330. Child care is available. Mrs. George Brand Jr. and Mrs. Amelia Sanders are co-chairmen of the kitchen committee. The dining room is under the direction of Mrs. Gust Jahnke.

Hunt Collection comes to DIA

Wealth of the Ancient World: The Nelson Bunker Hunt and William Herbert Hunt Collections of Greek and Roman antiquities, including 15 painted vases (two by Euphronios), 38 small-scale bronzes and a selection of 112 rare gold, silver and bronze coins, opened Wednesday, Feb. 1, at the Detroit Institute of Arts, and will remain on view there through Sunday, March 25.

The 166 objects in the exhibition span more than 1,000 years, from approximately 700 B.C. to 400 A.D. The period encompasses archaic Greece and Etruria, the Hellenistic kingdoms and the Roman Empire: the epoch that witnessed the shift in political power from Athens to Rome and the establishment of a new eastern capital in Constantinople in 330 A.D.

The Greek vase collection of Nelson Bunker Hunt comprises select specimens of Corinthian, Attic and South Italian manufacture. Its centerpiece is the calyx-krater signed by the most renowned of all Greek vase painters, Euphronios, exhibiting his virtuosity in depicting complex anatomical poses.

William Herbert Hunt's bronzes include both pure art and utilitarian objects of refined design. Among the subjects are typical decorative motifs, copies and adaptations of famous large-scale masterpieces and powerful original portraits.

The Greek and Roman coins on view at the DIA are only a sampling of Nelson Bunker Hunt's splendid collection. Most were chosen for an artistic quality or iconographic interest which links them to other works in Wealth of the Ancient World; others have been included because of their renown or historical importance.

Nucleus of the coin collection is the celebrated "Athens Decadrachm" (467 B.C.), traditionally associated with the Greek victory over the Persians in 480 B.C. It depicts the city's patron goddess, Athena, wearing three olive leaves on her helmet as a token of victory and peace. Athena's owl decorates the reverse.

Wealth of the Ancient World is open to the public without charge during regular museum hours: 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday.

Planning will begin for the local chapter's delegation to the convention. Nominations for 1984-85 officers will be open. The evening's agenda also calls for a report on the recent Delta Alpha Chapter of Sigma Kappa (located at Eastern Michigan University) rush period.

Any area Sigma Kappa is welcome to join the group at Wednesday's meeting, but should contact the hostess at 881-1042 or the co-hostess, Beatrice Raatz (Mrs. Frank H.) Budd, at 1-791-5353 before Sunday, Feb. 12.

retaries International as Secretary of the Year. Phyllis works for Frederick McDonald, an attorney in General Motors Domestic Tax Counsel Division. She's a Certified Professional Secretary, proud of her profession and her career in it . . . and successful in her private life as well, a very happy wife (of a retired Navy captain), mother and grandmother.

Congratulations to . . . Martha R. Wylie, the new executive director of The Travelers Aid Society of Detroit. When Martha lived in The Pointe — she's back in the area now, you'll be glad to know, a resident of Harper Woods — she was a member of the board of directors of the Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice, the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association and a member of the Grosse Pointe Human Relations Council and Committee on Open Housing.

Among her numerous involvements and accomplishments are two appointments as a Commissioner of the Michigan Department of Civil Rights, from 1965 to 1972. She served as president of the department from 1972 to 1973. She was both its first woman commissioner and first woman president.

She's a founder and director of Project START, Detroit (1973-1978), and served from 1966 to 1980 as member, president of the board of directors and executive director of Detroit's Legal Aid and Defender Association. She's currently a member of the Advisory Committee of the Michigan League for Human Services.

Her contributions to these and other organizations have earned her many honors, including the State Bar of Michigan's Liberty Bell Award (1967), the Detroit Urban League's Equal Opportunity Award (1970) and the Detroit City Council's Spirit of Detroit Award (1977). In 1978, Governor William Milliken issued an Executive Declaration in Observance of the Contributions of Martha R. Wylie.

Now she heads the United Foundation agency which serves persons in crisis caused by or related to mobility. Travelers Aid seeks to strengthen these persons' skills in coping with such situations, thereby preventing further crises. Its services are provided via a unique interstate network of 67 Travelers Aid offices, plus 660 cooperating agencies, which assisted 2.7 million people nationwide in 1982.

A Night to Raise The Spirit

Alex Suczek will conduct a Connoisseur's Tasting of the Spirit World, a sampling of fine Cognac and other fruit brandies, a week from tomorrow, Friday, Feb. 17, at 8 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. It's an after-dinner affair — and, due to the strength of the spirits to be sampled, participants are urged to fortify themselves with full stomachs before they begin raising their glasses.

"Liquid Sunshine" and "The Essence of The Fruit" are the most popular ways to describe spirits distilled from the wines of various fruits. They are not liqueurs, and are not sweet. Brandy, made from the grape, is the oldest and best known, but there are subtleties to discover between fine Cognac and the more robust distilled grape spirits extracted from the pressings of almost every winery.

Included in the tasting will be other fruit spirits, elixirs distilled from the fermented juices of raspberries, strawberries, golden and purple plums, apples and cherries, palate-tinglingly reminiscent of the fresh fruits they come from. Names such as Kirsch, Framboise, Mirabelle and Slivovitz reflect the diversity of their ethnic origins.

Participants will learn how to distinguish and enjoy these spirits, how to use them to add depth to the flavors of food and drinks. The tasting begins with Cognac, Calvados and Armagnac of the finest quality, and will culminate with the prized Poire William. Admission is by advance reservation only, at $45 per person. Reservation information may be obtained by calling 881-7511.

Another War Memorial Date for Alex

Alex Suczek will be back at the War Memorial Thursday evening, Feb. 23, for the Center's second Symphonic Supper. The evening begins at 5:30 p.m. with cocktails, followed by a dinner of "popular Russian specialties punctuated with Imperial overtones" planned by his mother, Grosse Pointe's culinary mistress Mme. Charity deVico Suczek.

After dinner, it's Alex's turn to regale the group as they head down to Ford Auditorium by bus for that night's Detroit Symphony Orchestra concert, featuring pianist Yuri Egorov performing the Rachmaninoff Variations on a Theme of Paganini. Alex promises highly personalized program notes, focusing on the soul of Russian musical art and the story of a piano competition iconoclast.

Reservations for the supper, transportation and performance at $30 per person (those who already hold symphony tickets may subscribe for the dinner and transportation only at $20) may be made in person at the War Memorial office, or by mail — but they must be made by next Wednesday, Feb. 15.

Attention, Downtown Working Mothers!

Did you know that the Cathedral Church of St. Paul offers a Pre-Kindergarten and Kindergarten Program in the Cathedral Diocesan Center, Woodward at Warren Avenue, or children ages 3 to 6, with optional before-school care starting at 6:45 a.m. and after-school care running until 5:15 p.m.? Tuition tax credits and scholarships are available. The school calendar is the same as that of the Detroit Public Schools. The numbers to call for more information are 832-4404 or 831-0623. A first grade may be added next year, if interest is sufficient.

Hottest video game in town

CKLW's MARC AVERY, Grosse Pointe's DOTTIE DOERER (center) and SANDY STARK, of Farmington Hills, are looking forward to "the hottest video game in town," the 16th annual WTWS/Channel 56 Auction, airing April 6 to 14 on Detroit's public television station. They head a team of approximately 3,000 volunteers who help make possible the nine-day fund raising sell-a-thon of donated goods and merchandise. Avery, this year's official auction host, has been involved in charitable activities for more than 20 years, including many years as chairman of the St. Jude Celebrity Golf Classic. Dottie, a seven-year auction volunteer veteran, is responsible for the success of the Fifty-Six Collection of fine art and the live art auction at Somerset Mall. She co-chaired the TV auction in 1982, chaired it last year and this year co-chairs it once again, with eight-year auction veteran Sandy, responsible for the growth and popularity of the auction Travel Board over the past three years. This is Sandy's first year as auction co-chair. Auction representatives are busy now securing the more than 8,000 items needed. Merchandise must be brand new and valued at $50 or more. Donations can range from art to appliances; information on how to donate can be obtained by calling Auction Central, 873-7200. Last year's auction raised $818,225 or some 17 percent of the station's operating funds, helping to keep such programs as "American Playhouse" and "Sesame Street" and locally produced programs like "Video Detroit" and "Arts Illustrated" on the air in the metropolitan area.

Installed as committee heads were Mrs. Herbert Kohls, Spiritual Life; Mrs. Ralph Bressler and Mrs. Paul Weber, Friendly Service; Mrs. Bernice Bates, special projects; Mrs. Lewis Slater, publicity; Mrs. Steven Christian and Mrs. Walter Kurtz, culinary; Mrs. William Adams, Martha; Mrs. William Reid, social concerns; and Mrs. Edward Schuler, Crossroads.

The church women will visit the Planetarium at Grosse Pointe North High School next Tuesday, Feb. 14, then return to the church for luncheon, served by the Lydia Group, and a business meeting. All are welcome, but luncheon reservations should be made by noon Monday, Feb. 13, at the church office.

Miss Krickstein wed in Florida

Exchanging marriage vows Thursday, December 29, in Temple Beth Shalom, Sarasota, Fla., were Kathryn Elizabeth Krickstein, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Krickstein, of Glen Arbor Lane, and Michael Jon Pressel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Pressel, of Fraser.

Rabbi Max Roth officiated at the 4 o'clock ceremony. Bonnie Caplan, harpist, and Ken Scutt, flutist, provided music before and during the rites. Tracey Lynn Goldblum, of New York City, the bride's cousin, read a poem she wrote for the occasion. Marcie Zakroff, of Skokie, Ill., also gave a reading.

The bride's traditional, white gown featured a sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice and straight sleeves of beaded Alencon lace accented with pearls and iridescent sequins. Its chiffon skirt, flowing into a chapel length train, featured crystal pleating and repeated the bride's Alencon lace motif.

A tiara of matching lace, pearls and sequins held the former Miss Krickstein's chapel length, illusion veil.

Her maid of honor was her oldest sister, Rachel Krickstein. Bridesmaids were Renee Krickstein, their youngest sister, and Laurie Pressel, sister of the bridegroom. They wore floor length dresses of magenta taffeta, and carried sheaves of white lilacs.

Best man was Aaron Krickstein, brother of the bride. Ushers were the bride's cousins, Philip and John Goldblum, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The mother of the bride wore a long-sleeved, floor length gown featuring a fitted bodice with beading, sequins and pearls. The bodice of the bridegroom's mother's floor length gown of silver-grey crepe was accented with narrow diagonal double folds. Pleated wristbands caught her full, flowing sleeves.

A reception and dinner dance at the Island House at the Long Boat Key Club, Long Boat Key, Fla., followed the wedding. Among the many out-of-town guests were Pointers Mr. and Mrs. Charles Busbey, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kahle, Mr. and Mrs. George Van Wallegem and Dino Valente.

The newlyweds vacationed in

Mrs. Michael J. Pressel

Hawaii and are at home in Bradenton, Fla., where the bride, a Grosse Pointe North High School graduate who received her Bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan, is employed at the Nick Bollettieri Tennis Academy.

The bridegroom is attending the University of South Florida and is also employed at the Bollettieri Tennis Academy.

St. Paul's rites for Miss Ternes

Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore was the setting Saturday, January 14, for the wedding of Suzanne Ellen Ternes, daughter of Robert Ternes, of Oxford Road, and the late Barbara Ternes, and James McKenna V. son of Dr. and Mrs. James McKenna, of Windmill Pointe Drive.

The 2 o'clock ceremony at which The Reverend Francis X. Canfield, S.J., of the University of Detroit, presided was followed by a reception at the Gourmet House.

Lisa Dugan was her sister's honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Jeanne McGregor and Camille Ternes, two more sisters of the bride, and Bonnie McKenna and Audrey Alison McKenna, the bridegroom's sisters.

Patrick J. McKenna acted as best man for his brother. Ushering were John Ternes, brother of the bride, Robert Toole, of Livingston, N.J., the bridegroom's cousin, former Pointer Sean Brophy and Michael Cole, of Ann Arbor.

Out-of-town guests included the Misses Anna and Ellen McKenna, of Polk City, Fla., Mrs. John McKenna, of Huntington, Long Island, N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. J. James McKenna, of Fort Sumner, Md., Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCullagh, of Rockville, Md., Mr. and Mrs. John Moss Toole, of Livingston, N.J., and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mullington, of Ottawa, Ont.

The newlyweds are at home in Farmington Hills. The bride, a Dominican High School graduate who holds a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from Michigan State University, is planning a career in accounting.

The bridegroom, a graduate of University of Detroit High School and the University of Michigan-Ann Arbor, is a computer and aerospace engineer with Williams International in Walled Lake.

Brock-Johnson vows are said

Marissa Turull Johnson, daughter of Patricia and Howard B. Johnson, of New York City, was married Saturday, February 4, to William Justus Brock, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Brock, of Renaud Road. The Reverend Thomas D. Bowers presided at the ceremony in Saint Bartholomew's Church in New York.

Get out your goatskin, it's Valentine's Day!

If you were celebrating Valentine's Day in ancient Rome, there would be a lot more to it than sending lacy hearts and flowers. The forerunner of Valentine's Day, according to Dr. James Callow, director of the University of Detroit Folklore Archive, was a holiday called Luper-Callia, celebrated on Feb. 15 instead of Feb. 14.

On this unique day, the young men of Rome, clad in nothing more than goatskin belts, ran around the outskirts of the city whipping the palms of the young women who wished to have fertility beat into them.

"I guess we should all feel relieved that such mid-February rituals have been refined to the Valentine's Day we know," Dr. Callow says. Actually, fertility is an important aspect of Valentine's Day rituals even today. For example: in Ohio it is believed that you should plant lettuce and peas in hotbeds on Valentine's Day. And in the Ozark Mountains, Valentine's Day is considered mating day for rabbits and birds.

The idea," explains Dr. Callow, "is that Valentine's Day looks forward to spring in the midst of winter's doldrums."

The University of Detroit Folklore Archive is the world's first computerized folklore collection. It includes thousands of items collected every semester. Since 1964, informants have been steadily enlarging and refining the archive with folklore from all over the world.

Many countries, including England, have the tradition that you will marry the first person (or the first single person) you see on Valentine's Day. Guarding against an unwanted match, girls in England walk to school blindfolded on Feb. 14—until they get to a young man in whom they're interested. Then friends help them take the blindfolds off.

Birds are a popular Valentine's Day motif. If you see a blackbird, you will marry a clergyman. A goldfinch means your spouse will be a millionaire... but a bluebird spells a life of poverty, because your future mate will be far from rich.

If no birds are in sight, drop three balls of clay into a bucket of water. Each should contain the name of a likely prospect, on a sheet of paper. The first one to rise will be your valentine.

Dreams are an important part of Valentine's Day lore, according to the archive. They have a magic of their own, and if you want to spend a night with your true love, follow one of these dream-recipes before going to bed:

- Put three hay leaves under your pillow. You're sure to dream of the person you will marry.

Wayne Women set conference

"Women in Action" is the theme of the Women of Wayne State University Alumni Association's 1984 Conference, set for Friday and Saturday, Feb. 17 and 18, at the Meadow Brook Hall Conference Center on the campus of Oakland University in Rochester.

Participants may reserve dinner and overnight accommodation at Meadow Brook Friday night, and attend an evening workshop on mastering the art of moving up the career ladder.

Beginning Saturday morning, experts will conduct workshops on interpersonal communication, taking a look at your "stuff," the Empowering Pyramid and women players in the management game. Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Claudia Morcom, keynote speaker, will discuss the role of women in the struggle for human and civil rights.

A resource center, offering books and other literature, will be available. The program concludes with a complimentary tour of the Hall.

Cost of the Saturday sessions is $19.50 for Women of Wayne members, $22 for non-members, including lunch. Cost of the complete Friday/Saturday package is $68 for Women of Wayne, $80 for non-members. Reservations may be made and additional information obtained by contacting the WSU Alumni House, 577-2301.

Boil an egg in salt water. Then eat the whole thing, shell and all. If that doesn't conjure up your future spouse, it might help to add some audio-appeal. Try reciting this piece of folk-verse: "Good Valentine be kind to me, in a dream let me my true love see."

Eggs are widely recognized around the world for the important roles they play in the serious business of courtship and marriage. Unmarried Polish and Hungarian girls gave eggs, sometimes by the dozens, to their boyfriends. In Macedonia, engaged couples exchange eggs as gifts. Russians and Indonesians used eggs at their marriage ceremonies.

If you're hounded by an unwanted valentine, relief may be only a salt shaker away. Salt, according to folk wisdom, can quiet a storm, bless a new house, cure an earache—and get rid of unwanted visitors.

"Just throw some salt under the chair of an unwanted suitor," says Dr. Callow. "Or better yet, stand a broom upside down in the doorway. This might be a more direct approach."

It was on Valentine's Day, 1961, that New York's famous Barbizon Hotel for Women opened its doors to men for the first time, breaking a 54-year-old tradition.

February eggs are no bargain

The hottest news in the February food report is that retail egg prices are double what they were a year ago. Prices are expected to remain strong through late spring.

Analysts cite four major factors pushing egg prices to record highs. First: the nation's laying flock is

Paintings by Parish are on view at WSU

An exhibition of paintings by Tom Parish, 10 large oils painted in Detroit during the Wayne State University associate professor of Art's 1982-83 sabbatical, is on view now through Feb. 27 in the WSU Community Arts Gallery, Cass at Kirby. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Offer movement skills for kids

Kids will be kids, and kids love to move—in fact, studies show that over 80 percent of all children's activities involve movement—so it's no wonder that the Northeast Guidance Center's Movement Skills Workshop for Children has been a tremendous success.

The workshop offers kids many exciting ways to increase muscle coordination and awareness of the body and how it works. A new session begins Wednesday, Feb. 22, with a demonstration class. Registration will follow for the six-week series which begins the following Wednesday, Feb. 29.

The classes, held at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, lo-ated on Mack Avenue, are limited in size and specialized for age and ability. Additional information may be obtained by contacting Linda Lane at 884-7775.

Broiler prices are also at relatively high levels; this market behavior is somewhat inconsistent, given the low beef and pork prices. The three percent smaller supply of broilers is one market-strengthening factor. Another big determinant is the demand created for white meat when a national fast-food chain put chicken on its menu several years ago. Dark-meat chicken quarters are a low cost alternative in some supermarkets.

Beef and pork prices continue at relatively low levels; you can expect the forecasted price increases to escalate more quickly as the economy improves. Salad lovers can put lettuce back on the menu. Shoppers will see features as low as three heads for $1 this month. Bell peppers, cucumbers and tomatoes will also be quite reasonable for this season. Supplies of green beans, cabbage, carrots, celery, corn and onions are down, prices up. Dry onions will likely continue to increase in price.

Ama Deus to host a card party lunch

Bill McCourt joined Rotary in 1954. In December of this year, he will have a 30-year perfect attendance record. It wasn't hard.

"I'm proud of our service to the community," says the president of the Grosse Pointe Rotary Club. "That's a tremendous source of satisfaction. But frankly, what brings people out to Rotary meetings is the camaraderie, the fellowship... It's getting away for an hour-and-a-half each week in the middle of the business week to relax with people you enjoy."

Bill was born in Detroit, and has been a Grosse Pointe resident since 1948. There's a definite Horatio Alger flavor to his life. His father died when he was eight; shortly after, his mother entered a TB sanatorium, and Bill and his sister were placed in separate orphanages.

Bill was at St. Francis Home for Boys for four-and-a-half years. He left St. Francis at 13, found an apartment for his mother and sister and went to work to support the family.

Came World War II, and Bill enlisted in the Navy. He served two years in the Pacific, during which he witnessed the flag raising on Iwo Jima. He has a photograph of that event — not the famous Rosenthal photo, which was posed, but an earlier one, by and signed by photographer Lou Lowry. Actually, that, too, was posed. Bill's own photo of the flag raising shows the Stars and Stripes waving over Iwo Jima on a boat hook. That's how it really, originally, was.

HE WAS AMONG the first troops to land in Japan, 23 days after Hiroshima. He spent several months there, and spent his leaves traveling by train throughout the country on his own, getting to know Japan and its people. He couldn't speak the language. But he could smile, he could gesture... it's amazing how much can be expressed, and understood, without words.

Bill returned from the service to marry his childhood sweetheart, and returned to school to study accounting. His involvement in the shoe business came about through a serendipitous favor. A friend, a shoe clerk, asked Bill to cover for him while he was on vacation. When the friend returned two weeks later, the store owner kept him on part-time — and hired Bill McCourt full-time.

Bill eventually became partners with his first boss, and arrived in The Pointe when they leased the shoe department at Peter Pan in the Village. Bill eventually bought Peter Pan, bought out his partner and, after two more moves, constructed his own building on the corner of Kercheval and Notre Dame. Mr. McCourt Shoes has been going strong there since 1972.

One of his three sons is in business with him. One works in San Francisco, the other in Tampa, Fla. Bill was active in Scouts and Little League when the boys were growing up. He was in on the groundwork of the Village Merchants Association. He's a practical, competent man, with his feet firmly planted on terra firma.

BILL MCCOURT, OF ROSE TERRACE, AND HIS WIFE, LAURA

chants Association. He's a practical, competent man, with his feet firmly planted on terra firma.

Now just hold on a minute! Let's take another look at Mr. McCourt: the romantic Mr. McCourt, whose elements are water and air.

"I STARTED DREAMING about world cruising when I was a boy. And I'm going to do it."

Bill McCourt lives for sailing. He has crewed in 20 Mackinac Races and is Past Commodore of the Grosse Pointe Sail Club. He was involved in the junior sailing programs when he was a member of Crescent Sail Yacht Club and when he was a member of the Detroit Yacht Club.

He loves cruising. He and Laura (his first wife is deceased) were married last March in the Virgin Islands, and spent two weeks island hopping under sail there. Just after they were married, Laura was certified as a Scuba diver. That's another thing Bill loves.

Actually, he just plain loves to move, to travel, especially with Laura to their Fort Lauderdale condominium. He's not a "sit still, stare-into-space" sort of person. Send him to the basement for a few hours (Bill could have stayed upstairs while Laura was entertaining ladies at lunch, but it was an option he did not care to exercise), and he surfaces with his first oil painting. "It's something I've always wanted to do."

And it isn't bad — Bill paints a pretty mean apple — but just wait until he moves on into pears!

He's a hot air balloon enthusiast. He used to soar. He recently joined a fellow Rotarian in Florida for a ride on the Goodyear Blimp. Now he's a blimp enthusiast.

THE GOODYEAR BLIMP ride was one of the items offered at last year's Grosse Pointe Rotary Auction. It's on this year's list of Pointe Rotary Auction goods, services and adventures, too.

This year's auction will be held Saturday, Feb. 18, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. It's a complete evening, featuring cocktails and hors d'oeuvres and dinner before the bidding begins. Tickets, at $40 per person, may be obtained from any Rotary member.

The auction is Pointe Rotary's single fund raiser of the year, and it's big, and it's successful: more and more popular every year. So popular, in fact, that, thanks to the funds it raises, Rotary has been able to expand its local scholarship program to include Our Lady Star of the Sea and University Liggett as well as Grosse Pointe North and South High Schools.

A large part of the auction's success is due to the items it offers. You can bid on everything from services (plumbing, landscaping, e.g.) to luxury get-aways like a weekend in a two-bedroom condominium on the 70th floor of Chicago's Hancock Building. Some items are unique. How do you place a value on three bottles of vintage bourbon, bottled in 1916 and distributed under the American Medicinal Spirits Company label during Prohibition?

"I quite frequently will donate a gallon of McCourt's Famous Salmon Bisque Soup," Bill says. You can't find that on the supermarket shelves. Nor can you find a pie-a-month baked by Mrs. Steve Tsangaias, wife of one of Pointe Rotary's past-presidents.

JUST SEEING/HEARING what's going up for bids is half the fun. For virtually every one of the 120 members of Grosse Pointe Rotary contributes something special. It's a shared project — and sharing of self, along with service to others, is what Rotary is all about.

"I remember," says Bill, "when I was very early in Rotary — before I split from Peter Pan — being in New York on a buying trip, and going to a Rotary meeting... and the man sitting next to me was Mr. J.C. Penney... and the man on my other side was the president of American Airlines.

"And we were all equal as Rotarians, fellows in an organization for everybody, shoe clerks to corporate presidents. That impressed me." It still does.

In addition to Rotary, Mr. McCourt is a member of Lochmoor Club and a member and past-president of the Yrator Investment Club. What's Yrator? Look at the word for a while, study it... it will come to you.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

Thank heaven for hockey moms . . .

Call them angels in down coats, purveyors of peanut butter sandwiches (the life's blood of a 6-year-old hockey star) or call them crazy. Just don't forget to call them when they take the wrong kid home from the ice rink.

Whatever you call them, they're hockey moms and they're God's gift to any youth hockey program. If you don't buy that, just picture an ice rink full of tiny hockey guerillas hell-bent on taking over the arena in a bloody coup — that's what it would be like without hockey moms. Just ask Cindy Cass.

Mrs. Cass is the mother of not one, not two, but three, of the Grosse Pointe Hockey Association's finest. Over the years, she has compiled a list which, for lack of a better title, one might call "The Most Common Warning Signs of Turning into a Hockey Mom." It's sort of a "you know you're a hockey mom, when . . ." kind of list.

"Yeah, I knew I was a hockey mom when I wore my booster button one day and had somebody come up to me and say 'Oh, you're one of the crazies.'" Cindy says. "And I guess I am."

Cindy is one of the millions of "crazy" hockey moms who give up their winters, springs, falls, mornings, weekends and sanity to make sure that youth hockey programs run right by seeing to it that every kid gets stuffed into the proper jersey. Even Mother Gretzky isn't immune to the life of a hockey mom.

"My favorite story is the one about Wayne Gretzky's mother. When Gretzky played in an NHL All-Star game, his dad was there to see him play, but his mother wasn't. She was at a younger son's youth hockey game. That's the way it is: dad gets to go to the 'big games' and mother gets the leftovers," Mrs. Cass laughs.

Among the things Mrs. Gretzky and Mrs. Cass and the whole rest of the sorority discovered when they got into this hockey mom business are:

- It takes 20 minutes to dress a Mite . . . unless he happens to be watching TV at the time. Then make it 40 minutes, or pull the plug on the set.

- What coaches tell fathers and what one hockey mom tells another are entirely different. Contrary to coaches' beliefs, a hockey player can indeed live on grilled cheese sandwiches and tomato soup for three months. (Although the aforementioned player should be examined often for rickets.)

- Hockey moms are in charge of refereeing off-ice fights, driving, cheering, driving, baking team treats, driving, tying skates, driving, fundraising and driving.

And for all that work, what thanks does a hockey mom get?

"Well, if her husband is the manager, mom does all the team errands. Mom's name also goes on the ice bills and dad's on nice things like invitations to team parties. And mothers get the graveyard shift when it comes to transportation, too. We do all the driving if practices are at 5 p.m. and dad isn't home yet. Or when he's on business trips. Or whenever Monday Night Football is on," Mrs. Cass says.

Still, most of them say they wouldn't give it up for anything. (Except maybe a hot meal or maybe a pair of thermal socks). At least that was the general consensus of the hockey moms in attendance at a recent Saturday afternoon Mite game.

The crowd was about half tense hockey mom, half excited dad. And you could spot the hockey moms in a minute.

They were the ones doing all the leaning. That's right, leaning. For some reason, hockey moms do a considerable amount of subconscious leaning — toward the goal they want their children's team to score on, away from the one their kids are trying to defend.

Then there are the nailbiters and the hat twisters, otherwise known as goalies' mothers.

You have to admire a woman who can stand there without sobbing, watching her barely-out-of-diapers 5-year-old stop pucks with various parts of his well-padded little body. Goalies moms go to the ladies' room a lot.

One hockey mom said it best. "It's a life of eating at Burger King because not only don't you have time to cook, but you don't have time to eat, either. You spend a lot of the day trying to get the right kid in the right clothes to the right place at the right time."

Then the universal hockey mom question has to be: why do you do it?

And the universal hockey mom answer: "I love it. It's so much fun, you don't want to miss out on any of it."

Coming from a hockey mom, that isn't surprising.

Hockey win streak at eight

By David Loffredo
South High

South's newest team is one of its hottest.

The Blue Devil varsity ice hockey team has an eight-game unbeaten streak after beating Lakeview and Southfield-Lathrup last week. South began the week with a 4-0 white-wash of Lakeview, goalie Bill Tecos' first shutout. Scoring for South were Rich Suhrheinrich, Phil Pitters, A.J. Gibson and George Krappmann.

Last Saturday, South downed Southfield-Lathrup, 4-2, as Suhrheinrich and Pitters had two goals each for South. In all, there were 35 penalties in the two games.

The two wins raised the Devils' overall record to 10-4-2, while they are still unbeaten at home with a 7-0-2 record.

The North-South rematch will be this Friday, Feb. 10, at 7:20 p.m. at home. South will try to preserve its unbeaten home record against an equally strong North squad.

Cagers in second place

All of a sudden, the varsity basketball team is in second place in the Eastern Michigan League.

The Devils got there by knocking off two EML opponents last week: Roseville and previously-undefeated EML leader L'Anse Creuse North. South began the week with a 60-48 win over Roseville. Mike Williams sparked the offense with 30 points and Brian Rathsburg was hot with eight assists.

Later in the week, the Devils edged L'Anse Creuse North, 58-55. Al Ament led the scoring with 20 points and six rebounds; Eric Loudermilk had 19 points.

South hosts another EML rival, Port Huron, this Friday, Feb. 10, at 7:45 p.m.

The JV team is also hot, coming off a 2-0 week after beating Roseville, 62-46, and topping L'Anse Creuse North, 58-46.

In the Roseville game, Gordie Langs led the attack with 17 points and 15 rebounds. Tim Hudson and freshman Sean Bruce each added 11 points in the victory. In the L'Anse Creuse game, Hudson again led South with 18 points and eight rebounds, while Langs poured in 11 points and 10 rebounds.

The JV Devils play Friday, Feb. 10, at home. Game time is 6 p.m.

The freshmen weren't as hot this week, losing both of their games and watching their record slip to 7-5. The frosh began the week with a 46-43 loss to Bishop Gallagher as Brad Kraushaar led the Devils with 18 points.

Later in the week, L'Anse Creuse North topped South, 73-61. Peter Droste led South with 15 points and Scott Stafford added 12 in a losing cause.

The frosh play Tower today, Thursday, Feb. 10, at 4 p.m.

Spikers are hot

South's varsity volleyball team is on its way to an EML title after beating previously-undefeated EML leader L'Anse Creuse North, 15-11, 15-12.

Leading South were Sue LaPlae with 12 spikes and one kill; Pam Pillsbury and Karen Fellows with Rematch!

Here's a scene North hockey fans would like to forget: South forward A.J. Gibson scoring the winning goal on goalie Rick Lass in the Blue Devils' exciting 3-4 win over the Norsemen Jan. 11. North's ready for an equally-thrilling rematch, though, as each team enters Friday night's game ranked in the state's top 15. Summaries of both North and South's most recent hockey action can be found on this page.

eight spikes and three kills each; Ann Schwartz with eight spikes and two kills plus two blocked shots; and Tina Maher, with eight serving points.

Earlier in the week, South's girls beat Roseville, 15-10, 15-4, as Schwartz led with eight spikes and one kill. Bruce and Maher each had five serving points.

South now sports a 7-0 EML record; 9-0 overall. The girls travel to Port Huron Feb. 10 for an 8 p.m. match.

The JV team is also undefeated at 9-0, thanks to wins over Roseville and L'Anse Creuse North. In South's 15-0, 15-2 win over Roseville, Mary Ann Montagne led the attack with 15 points in the first game; Noel Berry had 12 in the second to lead the squad.

Later in the week, South edged L.C. North, 15-7, 15-12, as Charlynn Carrier led the team with 11 points. Berry had eight. Theresa Schulte and Carrie Rentz led South with five spikes each; Schulte had three blocked shots.

South plays at Port Huron Feb. 10 at 4 p.m.

Three wins last week raised the freshman volleyball team's record to 6-4. The spikers began the week in a tri-match against Lapeer East and West. Against East, South lost the first set, 15-12, but won the next two, 15-7, 15-3. Cindy Tewes led with 18 serving points.

Against West, South had little trouble, winning 15-4, 15-13. Tewes again led the attack with 15 points serving. Later in the week, the frosh traveled to Richmond and came away with a 15-10, 15-9 victory. Wendy Oates led South with 11 points.

Swimmers split

South's boys' swim team saw its winning streak ended last week with a 105-77 loss to Birmingham Seaholm.

The meet had one bright spot as Jack Nelson qualified for the 500 freestyle with a time of 4:57.77. Also winning for South were Ken Bachulis in the 200 individual medley and 100 freestyle and Hans Brieden in the 100 breaststroke.

Earlier in the week, South outpointed Mt. Clemens, 103-62. The score would have been 127-38 if the Devils hadn't swam the last two events in exhibition. Winning for South were Nelson in the 200 free, Dickie Clarke in the 200 IM, Rich Soltis in the 50 free, Sean Joye in the 100 butterfly, Scott Frame in the 100 free, Ryan Hoeh in the 500 free, Bachulis in the 100 back, and Brieden in the 100 breast.

The swimmers will host Dearborn this Saturday, Feb. 11, at 2 p.m.

Gymnasts win

South's girls' gymnastics team raised its record to 2-3 on the year by beating Lakeview, 103.55-90.95.

Patti Leppala finished second on the vault with a 6.85 and took second on the bars with a 6.4. Ashley Laricy was third on the bars with her 6.15 and Karen Howe finished second on the beam with a 7.05. Martha Young was third on the beam with a 6.9. In the floor exercise, Young's 7.35 was good enough for second place, while Howe finished third with a 7.25.

February clinic will focus on women runners

Are you tired of running alone? Looking for someone to run with, not behind? Want to improve your running but are unsure of where to start?

Those who answered yes to any of those questions might want to attend the "Focus on Women's Running" clinic at the Total Runner store on Mack Avenue. Kathleen Wood and Marilyn Morehead will host the free clinic Saturday, Feb. 11, at 9 a.m. at the store, 20641 Mack Avenue.

Wood is an experienced marathoner, race walker and bicyclist. In addition to her many running accomplishments, Morehead is currently pursuing her doctorate in exercise physiology.

The clinic is intended to be an open forum for discussion on all aspects of running as they relate to women. There will be an opportunity to exchange information and develop a network of running partners for female runners in the area.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served and those who attend the clinic may want to come prepared to participate in the optional fun run following the event.

Brown qualifies in NCAA diving

Michigan State University fifth-year senior diver Mike Brown, of the Woods, has qualified for the NCAA diving regionals on both the one-meter and the three-meter spring board. Brown qualified with a point total of 316.5 on the one-meter and 324.22 on the three-meter.

Last season, the 5-9, 160-pounder garnered All American honors by finishing 10th on the one-meter at the NCAA championships.

Brown, who was red-shirted his freshman year, is in his third year of medical school at MSU. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brown.

Cottage Fun Run/Walk date set

It's only early February, but Cottage Hospital's plans for its fourth annual "We're Up for Health" Fun Run/Walk are already well underway. This year's run is set for Sunday, May 6, at 1 p.m.

Over 300 novice and experienced runners, racewalkers and pedestrian walkers are expected to enter the 5 kilometer (3.1 mile) race. More than 50 trophies will be awarded in a variety of categories.

Meade Leasing Inc., has signed as the major sponsor of this year's "We're Up for Health" event. "We are very pleased to be involved in this exciting and worthwhile event," said Ken Meade, president of Meade Leasing, Inc. "And I urge the community to come out and support Cottage Hospital on May 6. It promises to be a truly fun run." The run will begin on Fisher

Entry forms will be available March 1 at the Cottage Hospital information desk, Meade Leasing, the Grosse Pointe Public Libraries and from local merchants. Completed entry forms and the $6 entry fee may be mailed to the hospital through May 2.

Woods/Shores Little League ready for 1984

The Woods/Shores Little League had a very productive annual meeting recently, welcoming new and returning officers and setting dates for 1984 registration and tryouts.

Registration of all ballplayers, ages 7 through 12, will be at Ferry School Wednesday, Feb. 22, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. and Saturday, Feb. 25, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Registrants must bring an official birth certificate.

To qualify as a 7 year-old registrant, players must have been born between Aug. 1, 1976 and July 13, 1977. To qualify as a 12 year-old, birth date must be between Aug. 1, 1971 and July 31, 1972. Any boy born before Aug. 1, 1971 qualifies for the Babe Ruth program.

Any 9 through 12 year-old player who wishes to try out for the major league teams must report to the North High School gym Saturday, March 24 and Saturday, March 31. An outdoor tryout will be contingent upon the weather; players will be notified in advance. Each age group will be assigned a specific time slot.

This year's opening day ceremonies and parade are set for Saturday, May 6, at 1 p.m. Little League parents and friends should also set for Saturday, June 26, for the second annual Las Vegas Night sponsored by the Woods Little League and Babe Ruth programs. Proceeds from this event have been used for field maintenance and improvements.

Last year, the Little League program spent $5,000 to improve the four diamonds at Ghesquiere Park. Sod was replaced in certain areas, all skin parts of the diamond were raised with slag and automatic sprinklers were installed on all four diamonds.

The 1984 Woods/Shores Little League officers are Werner Lueckhoff, president; Dr. Jerry Rochon, vice-president; Mike Ghesquiere, treasurer; and Robert Waldeck, secretary. Ed Bilkovic will remain Umpire-in-Chief for the league.

Newly elected to fill two-year posts on the board of governors are Bud Engel, Ghesquiere, Lueckhoff, Bob Rini, Jim Rini, Rochon, Connie Sorguloos and Len Ulatowski. Returning for their second year on the board are Don Cook, Chuck Dale, David Kopitzke, Bill Lindeman, Bob Marshall, Rick Moore, Ken Straske and Waldeck.

Legislature honors ULS

University Liggett School received word last week of yet another honor for coach Bob Wood's boys' varsity tennis team. The Michigan State Senate voted for a "resolution of tribute to honor the ULS team for capturing a national record 12 consecutive state championships (1972-1983).

In the resolution, the senators commended the team members for their athletic talent as well as their "dedication, diligence and determination."

Wood, athletic director and tennis coach, is looking forward to another strong season at ULS this spring. His returning lettermen include John Birgbauer, Frank Crociata, George Haggarty, Kirk Haggarty, Brian Hunt, Marc Hunt, John MacLeod, Steve Pack and Henry Woodhouse.

Hunt Club hosts 11th Western Open

A number of local junior ranked and professional players are among the entries coming in for the 1984 Western Open Indoor Mixed Doubles Tennis championship scheduled for March 7 through 11 at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club on Cook Road.

The 11th consecutive tournament offers a $3,000 purse and trophies in the memory of James T. Barnes Sr., to players from Michigan, Ohio, Illinois and Wisconsin.

"This tournament is very special for young players, as there are very few mixed doubles tournaments in the country," said Tobey Hansen, GPHC professional. "The tournament has been a stepping stone for local nationally-ranked players like Susan Mascarin, Aaron Krickstein and Lisa Bonder."

Preliminary matches will be held

Wednesday through Friday from 6 to 11 p.m. Tickets are $3 per day through those matches. Tickets for the Saturday, March 10 quarterfinals are $4 during the day and $5 after 5 p.m. The semi-finals and finals are set for Sunday, March 11. Tickets are $6.

Further information may be obtained by calling the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club at 884-9090.

ULS cagers take two

The University Liggett varsity basketball team won two games handily last week, raising their record to 8-5 overall and 6-3 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference.

On Tuesday, Jan. 31, the Knights defeated Plymouth Christian, 67-50, at home. ULS jumped to a 12-4 lead after one quarter and stretched that to 20-5 in the second quarter before going to the bench. Senior center Brian Hunt led the way with 20 points and 17 rebounds. Junior forward Harold Colby followed with 14 points and 10 rebounds, while senior forward Kurt Schneider added 11 points.

Hunt also sparked the team with 26 points and 16 rebounds on Friday, Feb. 3 at Lutheran Northwest. His 16 first half points enabled ULS to take a 33-22 lead. Northwest cut that lead to 5 early in the third quarter before timely shooting by sophomore guard Kirk Haggarty reestablished control for ULS. Haggarty finished the game with 13 points.

Coach Tony Gallaher commented that "Brian Hunt is now playing consistently well; he gives the entire team confidence. We now play skillfully in stretches, but too frequently lose our concentration after only a few minutes. I believe that the team is just about to put it all together and play well for the remainder of the year. Consistency and concentration must improve, but we are steadily getting better."

Icers win one

The varsity ice hockey team of University Liggett School traveled to Milwaukee last weekend. Coach

Rich Lacca's Knights lost to a tough St. Mary Springs team, but split with host University School of Milwaukee (USM).

After a tiring seven hour bus ride, ULS lost a close contest on Feb. 3 to USM, 5-4. Jamie MacMillan, Steve Georgi, Rob Wood and Rick Roberts tallied the ULS goals.

On Saturday, ULS was topped 8-5 by a strong team from St. Mary Springs. Goals were scored by Jim Valice (two), Roberts, Wood and MacMillan. Roberts and Wood picked up two more goals apiece in Saturday's 7-6 defeat of USM. The other tallies came from Valice, Georgi and Dain French.

ULS takes to the ice again on Wed., Feb. 15, hosting Catholic Central.

JV at 9-5-1

The University Liggett School junior varsity ice hockey team also traveled to Milwaukee for a three game series last weekend. The Knights topped St. Mary Springs, but lost twice to host University School of Milwaukee (USM). ULS' record is now 9-5-1.

On Friday, Feb. 3, ULS hopped right onto the ice after a seven-hour bus ride. The Knights skated surprisingly well, but could not generate enough offense to offset three first period goals by the University School of Milwaukee. Michael French notched the two ULS goals in the 4-2 loss.

French added two more goals in the 3-1 defeat of St. Mary Springs on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 4. The three assists of Mike Fozo helped the Knights cruise to the easy victory. Sophomore John Petrilli tallied one. But by Saturday evening Coach Jim Steiner's JV Knights were exhausted before the game began. French and Branden Pelok scored in the 4-2 loss.

The JV Knights return to action on Wednesday, Feb. 15 when they face the Grosse Pointe All-Stars at McCann Rink.

Spikers win

The ULS varsity volleyball team defeated Oakland Christian, 15-7, 16-14 and 15-11, 15-4, Feb. 2.

Spikes by Biz Renick, Kim Wood and Barb Roman ensured the win. Steady setting came from Gerri Ocampo, Kathy Bianchi and Cindy Paul. Laurie Khelokian and co-captain Laurie Evans are still out due to injury.

On Wednesday, Feb. 15, the Lady Knights take on Kingswood at home.

Team ice skating event is Feb. 11

A spectacular precision team skating event, the ninth annual Tri-State International Precision Team Competition, is set for this Saturday, Feb. 11, from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the St. Clair Shores Civic Arena, 20000 Stephens Drive.

Precision teams from Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Canada have applied to compete in the event, sponsored by the Tri-State Council and hosted by the St. Clair Shores Figure Skating Club.

Pointers among those representing the S.C.S. Figure Skating Club at the competition are Alexis DiNatalie, of the Farms, and Tanya Erickson, of the Park, in the junior division; Kelly Diem, of the Woods, and Melissa Ryan and Tiffany Tracey, of the Farms, will compete in the juvenile division.

The public is invited to attend the full day of entertainment. Admission is $1.50 for those 12 and over; 50 cents for senior citizens and children under 12.

North icers split pair

North High's hockey Norsemen split their contests last week, losing a cliffhanger to Class B Power Allen Park Cabrini, 4-2, then coming back to outclass Ecourse, 12-0, Feb. 4.

The Cabrini contest was a dandy with a big, tough-checking Allen Park breaking out to a 3-0 lead before the Norsemen came storming back with two goals to set up the exciting finish. Cabrini finally iced the contest with a power play goal late in the game.

Senior Mark Young provided all the Grosse Pointe scoring as he broke in on the Cabrini goal all alone, first on set-ups from John Spitz and Bob Nelson, later on a pass from Frank Vento. "Allen Park is one of the best teams in the state and we gave them all they could handle," said North coach Mike Manzella.

The Ecourse contest was actually no contest as North started quickly and beat its opponents in every phase of the game. Senior left wing Craig Cappas led the North attack with a great four-goal performance. Young also had a fine night with his three-goal hat trick.

Single tallies came from Vento, John Russell, Marc Tirikian, Dave Lester and Don Nicol. The Grosse Pointe passing and corner work were unrelenting, with Tirikian and Kevin Tisdale leading the play-making with four and three assists, respectively.

Other Norsemen drawing assists in the contest were Bob Rogers (two), Young, Cappas, Vento, Mike Phillips, Joe Cueter, Mark Bierly and Brad Heavner.

North is idle this week until the return clash with rival South High. The game begins at 7:20 p.m. Friday, Feb. 10. It is suggested that fans arrive at least one-half hour early since many fans were turned away from the first North-South contest because of the huge turnout.

Up and down month for GPA

January was an up and down month for Grosse Pointe Academy sports teams, with each squad playing well but losing some close contests. The girls' volleyball team under coach Elaine Cadigan opened its season Jan. 13 at Southfield against Southfield Christian. Although it lost the first game, 15-4, GPA rallied winning the next two games of the day. Leading scorers were Liz Prus and Danielle DeLuca.

The girls lost the next two games played at home to Kingswood Jan. 19, 15-7, 15-4. Leading scorers for GPA were DeLuca, Reba Uthappa and Jamie Robinson. The next contest found GPA on top in two straight wins 15-3 and 15-3 over Southfield Christian as Robinson, Maureen Taylor and DeLuca led scorers.

On Wednesday, Feb. 1, playing against Detroit Country Day, GPA won the first match 15-4, 15-9, 8-15. All GPA players, including leading scorer Lisa Walker, played exceptionally well. GPA, however, fared less well in the second match losing 2-1.

The Academy's seventh grade basketball team coached by Tom Kelly opened its season Jan. 10 with a 27-2 loss to Detroit Country Day as Trent Hankins scored the Academy's two points. GPA's 8th grade basketball team also suffered a loss

Jan. 12 falling to JAC Baptist, 29-11. Leading scorers for GPA were John Ledyard, four points; Jim Johnson, two points; Trent Hankins, three points and Erich Schneider, two points.

The team bowed again on Jan. 20 in two games to Harper Woods, 21-12 and 46-13. On Wednesday, Jan. 25 all GPA's boys' basketball teams traveled to Kingsbury for two games. The fifth and sixth grade team, coached by Dr. Sidney I. DuPont, won 8-4. Fifth grader David Darby and sixth grader Michael Bucciero had four points each for the Academy.

GPA's eight grade varsity lost a close contest, 36-28. Scoring for the Academy were Johnson with 10 points; Hankins, eight points; Schneider, six points and O'Rourke, four points.

On Jan. 30, the Academy's fourth, fifth and sixth grade teams lost two hard-fought contests to University Liggett. Team A fell, 36-4, as Mike Bucciero and David Darby each had two points for GPA. Team B lost 20-12; Kenny Prather had eight points for the Academy. On Jan. 31, GPA's eighth grade boys' team lost a heartbreaker to ULS, 35-34. Leading all scorers was GPA's Johnson with 16 points. Other scorers for GPA were Schneider, eight; O'Rourke, four; Steve Sanchez, four; Ledyard, two.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT
Holy Spirit, you who make me see everything and who shows me the way to reach my ideal. You who give me the Divine Gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me and you who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen.
Thank you for your love towards me and my loved ones. Pray this prayer 3 consecutive days without asking your wish, after third day your wish will be granted, no matter how difficult it may be. Then promise to publish this prayer as soon as your favor has been granted. Wish granted. L.B.S.

Center Ice in the G.P. Hockey Association

Mite Division

The Mite Black Hawks came out flying and never stopped in this 6-0 shutout over the Bruins. Jimmy Andary scored twice, on assists from Stephen Wesley, before Nate Weid made it 3-0 on a pretty play from Andary.

The Bruins came close in the second period as Jimmy Bufalino and Bryan Belanger put Hawk goalie Andy Brewer to the test. And "Canonball" Baskel took over, scoring three straight goals to cap the win for the Hawks. It was Baskel's first-ever hat trick. The win put the Hawks' unbeaten streak at five.

BLACK HAWKS-SEALS
The Black Hawks continued to dominate the league and stretched their streak to six with a 4-1 win over the Seals. Baskel opened the scoring after taking a pass from Mark Waterman. Mike "The Hammer" Anway made it 2-0 when he connected on a Brewer rebound. Ryan Meier then scored on a fine pass from Chris Leimback.

The Seals got on the board when Mark Best scored from a scramble, but Andary put the icing on the cake when he drilled the puck past goalie Huebner. The Hawks' Wesley played brilliantly in the nets; Ryan Scofield, Johnny Solobodowski and Cliff Czerwinski also played well.

KINGS-BLUE DRAGONS
The Art Van Kings topped the GPD Dragons, 3-2. Blue Dragon Tony Marl scored in the first period, Steven Steckel assisting. In the second, the Kings tied it up when Eric Kisskalt combined with Pete Morgan and Mike Ugval to score. The Kings took the lead in the third period when Ugval scored on assists from Kisskalt and Morgan.

The Dragons came back with Marl's second goal, Jason Chute assisting. Morgan then took a pass from Ugval and scored to give the Kings the win. Goaltenders Paul Megler for the Kings and Bryan Cass for the Dragons each made outstanding saves.

KINGS-MAJOR MAGICS
The Kings came from behind to edge the Magics, 4-3. Major Magics had jumped out in front when Brad Klein scored on a pass from Carl Rashid. The Kings tied the score when Danny Bombich fired in a shot after taking a pass from Kisskalt. The second period saw end-to-end skating, but goaltenders Bobby Rahaim of the Kings and Scottie Wiczorkowski of the Magics stood their ground.

The Major Magics took a two-goal lead in the third period when Matt Spicer scored twice. Robbie Wiczorkowski and Justin Braun assisting. But the Kings closed the gap on a breakaway goal by Jacob Thomas. Agustin Yofre assisting, then won the game with two goals in 30 seconds. Kisskalt drew two assists on the winners, scored by Morgan and Ugval.

Pee Wee Division
Some fancy skating and shooting by John Olmsted led the Pee Wee Islanders to a 4-3 win over a scrappy Warren team in the opening game of the district playoffs in Fraser.

Olmstead earned a hat trick in the Feb. 4 game which saw Warren take a 1-0 lead, but fall behind, 4-2, and finally lose. Assisting on the Islanders' goals were Alfred Fisher, Frankie Lucido and Shannon Nowiecki. Nowiecki also scored an unassisted goal.

Chris Stebbins played well in goal for the Islanders, drawing strong defensive support from Juan Ganum, Peter McDermott, Fisher and Billy Wilson.

NORTH STARS-SABRES
Both teams looked a little ragged in this 5-3 North Star victory. Paul Bogos moved through the Stars' defense and opened the scoring for the Sabres, but Kevin Nugent responded by beating Sabre rookie goalie "Fast" Eddie Barbieri; Scott Soule assisting.

Robbie Phillips scored on a sharp pass from Cecil Lepard to give the Sabres a lead, but Nugent's unassisted goal tied the game just before the buzzer. Nugent earned a hat trick with help from Aaron Grose and Soule, then followed with his fourth goal, Soule assisting.

With just seconds left in the se-

NORTH STARS-ULS KNIGHTS
Skating, passing and teamwork accounted for this 2-1 North Star win over the Knights. Osborne, Grose, Kevin Loehm and Tre Morgeson played well.

Derek Smith accounted for the first goal; Jimmy Alderton and Will Chave drew assists. In the second period, Nugent combined with Brad Hea and Kelly Reed to score. With 39 seconds left, ULS spoiled Blum's shutout when Scoville tipped in a pass from Sreedhar Samuorala and Jason Bucko.

SABRES-NORTH STARS
The Sabres and North Stars skated to a 4-4 tie in a game which saw lots of action, including goals scored by eight different players. After a scoreless first period, Eric Shellum started the wide-open second period with his unassisted goal for the Sabres. Phillips made it 2-0 from Barbieri and Bogos before Nugent responded for the Stars. Soule evened the match with his goal from Morgeson, but Smith gave the Stars a 3-2 lead when he converted a Kelly Reed pass.

Hard work payed off for Red when he notched his first goal of the year; Smith and Hea drew assists. Late in the third period, the Sabres tied the game on goals by Bogos and Barbieri. Kris Rust and Lepard earned assists.

Squirt House Division
The Canucks played outstanding hockey in the mid-season tournament, but lost to the Huskies, 4-2, in the final game.

In their tournament opener, the Canucks fell to the Oilers, 4-1, as Oiler goalie Teddy Hanawalt turned back 17 shots. The Oiler offense was led by Mark Schweitzer's two goals and goals by Gary Corana and Alexander Olmsted. Jay Berger and Matt Moroun, scored for the Canucks; George Petersmarck drew the only assists.

The Canucks bounced back in Game Two, beating the Penguins, 4-0. Berger earned the "play-maker" patch with four assists and Kevin McCracken notched his second hat trick of the year. Canucks' goalie Greg Semack got his third shutout of the season as outstanding defensive play by Jeff Jensen, Moroun and Garrett Ryan got the win. Petersmarck also scored, on assists from Scott Partridge and Jeff Giacobbe.

The Canucks got another fine effort in a rematch with the Oilers, taking a 3-1 victory. Berger had two goals and one assist to lead the offense. Mark Schweitzer scored for the Oilers, Billy O'Keefe assisting. Giacobbe had one goal and one assist and Moroun, McCracken and Petersmarck drew the other Canucks assists. The win set the stage for a two-game final showdown with the Huskies.

Peter Gracev's big third period goal carried the Canucks to a 3-2 win of Game One. Assists were to Jeremy Church and Everett Covacha. Scott Nesom scored for the Huskies. McCracken, who had two assists, was injured in the third period, and the Canucks had to hold off the Huskies without him.

The Canucks' Semack and the Huskies' Brian Dennis were outstanding in goal. Berger and Giacobbe scored the other Canucks goals; Petersmarck assisted.

In the final game, the Huskies proved to be too much for the Canucks as they took a 4-2 win. The Huskies' Pat Pesegna and Billy Bufalino, and the Canucks' Ryan, Tim Kazul, Moroun and Jensen were superb on defense. Huskies' goals came from John Morreale, Patrick Alle and Bogos (two). Defensemen Moroun and Ryan scored for his Canucks with an assist from Church.

Squirt AA
The Grosse Pointe Blue Devils are the 1984 Little Ceasar Squirt "AA" League champion. The Devils finished first after winning their last five games in the league. On Jan. 17, the Devils journeyed to The Ice Box to play the Chargers. Chad Ackerman opened the scoring on an unassisted goal before John Ferguson converted a pass from Donny Deseranno for a second score. The Chargers came back with a goal by Brian Cornan assisted by Kevin Hilton and Chris Rennie.

The game remained close until the third period when Devil defenseman Chris Butcher made a fine move around the defender and fired in a 30-footer. The Chargers countered with a goal by Kit Mastrotterlo, assisted by Kevin Hubbard and Ray Amigoni. Defenseman Jay Auld foiled a breakaway threat with seconds remaining and the game ended as a 3-2 Devil victory.

On Jan. 23, the Devils beat Northwest at home, 2-1. Timmy McConnell celebrated his 11th birthday by having perhaps his strongest game of the season. He was in perfect position to score the opening goal on a setup from Johnny Ugval and Ferguson.

There was no further scoring in the first period but early in the second stanza Dana Sparks evened the score on an unassisted fine effort. Both teams played hard throughout and Mike Janish was strong in the nets for the Devils.

Grosse Pointe's leading scorer Deseranno got the winner late in the second period. Assists on the play went to Ackerman and Mike Johnson.

On Saturday, Jan. 28, the Devils entertained the Toledo Oilers. The Blues jumped out to a 3-0 lead on a goal by Ackerman from Jay Auld and Deseranno and two from McConnell, who had another strong game. Johnson, Ugval and Ryan Redd collected assists.

Aaron Cannon put the Oilers on the board assisted by Jeff Behler, but this was offset by Scott Dockett's goal from Deseranno and Peter Bourke. Toledo closed out the scoring on an unassisted goal by Chance Petimoe and the final was 4-2.

On Jan. 29 the Devils clinched the league championship with a 5-2 win over the Grand Rapids Rockets. Devil goals were scored by McConnell, Dockett, Johnson, Deseranno and Ugval. Grand Rapids had an unassisted goal from Waybright and a goal by Mark Ostrander assisted by Eric Preston. The Devils finished the season with a game with Windsor 240 Monday, Jan. 30. In perhaps their best effort in two months, Grosse Pointe skated to a 4-1 victory over the second place team. Windsor opened the scoring on a goal by John Hanson, while the Devils were two men short. Jason Schneider and Dan Ceman assisted on the play.

The Devils tied the score in the second period on a goal by Ugval assisted by Butcher and Deseranno. Deseranno scored in the second period, Ugval and McConnell in the third. Ackerman and Deseranno each racked up two assist. Tripp Tracy was outstanding in net, making a dazzling save in the last minute.

The league championship is a great credit to the coaching staff of Lou Suvak, Jeff Nacu and Scott Bocquet, who started this team a year ago, after other teams had completed their tryouts, and made the Adray finals.

This year the coaches assembled the squad after the other contenders had been picked and by hard work and expert direction have won the Silver Stick Regionals and the league championship.

BRUINS-SEALS
The Mite House Bruins played the Seals to a 2-2 tie. Dave Ferguson put the Seals on the scoreboard first, but David Gracey came back with his goal on an assist from Shanth Enjeti.

Mike Owens put the Bruins up 2-1 after taking passes from Chuck Schervish and Jamie McMillan. But in the third period, Pete Spivak tied things up with his goal from Geoff Kimmel, getting past the tough defense of Andy Scott and Mike Weyhing.
